New master plan study under way

By RICHARD GOLD

CANTON—Recognizing that land use is a "top priority matter" all township officials have started a coordinated effort to develop a new master land use plan.

The planning commission and township board met Tuesday night to hammer out the "all important" new plan, and for the next several months one half of each planning commission meeting will be devoted to this end.

TOWNSHIP PLANNER Mike Manore led the meeting, proposing a calendar for the development and implementation of the land use plan and the zoning ordinances necessary to institute it.

He suggested the land use plan be adopted by July 1975 and the zoning ordinance by October 1975. He underlined the importance of quick action by saying "it is essential the land use plan be completed as soon as possible because when this economic slump is over we can anticipate even more building activity than in the past."

As Manore explains the situation, two documents must be developed. A master land use plan, which would detail the desired use of the land and a new zoning ordinance to carry out the intent of the plan.

Each document must go through several steps before ratification. First, goals must be established, then a rough draft, then a recommendation by the board or commission, then a public hearing and finally a vote.

Manore suggests rough draft work could take until the summer with a public hearing for the land use plan in June and possible ratification in July. The hearing and ratification of the zoning ordinance would then follow.

TWO MASTER land use documents have to be drafted, Manore says, one for a long range projection of 25 years, and one for 5-10 years.

The planning commission will be asked to adopt the shorter version, and the township zoning ordinance will also be fashioned from that.

The long term land use plan is more "hypothetical" because, as Manore says: "we just can't predict or see that far into the future. For practical reasons we'll have to work with a shorter plan."

However, he claims that with the development of two plans the township will have "staged growth" to result in "better planning."

Manore also strongly recommends developing an entirely new zoning ordinance, rather than a thorough amending of the old version which would be "too complicated." The zoning ordinance would be composed of both a written text and a map of the township.

Bart Berg and Flossie Tonda of the planning commission were the first to voice concern over Manore's tentative completion dates. Said Berg: "I think we can do this a lot faster and we ought to." Most members of the board and the commission were in agreement.

Supervisor Robert Greenstein suggested "a weekend retreat" to hash out particulars of the plan and formulate a goal and policy statement. This "retreat" may take place in February so development of the plan can be expedited.

MANORE EMPHASIZES the first order of business is development of a goal statement.

Without goals he cannot work on the land use plan or the zoning ordinance. He suggests using recommendations from the Citizens Advisory Council as a foundation for a policy statement, with input coming from both the board and planning commission.

The final version of the land use plan will be voted on by the planning commission, while the township board will decide the fate of the zoning ordinance. This is one reason why both groups are jointly engaged in developing the new plan.

Manore hopes to add a third party to the discussion. He wants to develop a fulltime citizen council, somewhat like the old advisory council to help draft and discuss land use possibilities. He will meet with interested residents Dec. 12 at 7:45 p.m. in the township fire hall.

Until the new master land use plan is completed, however, several zoning changes will be considered by the board and commission so that according to Manore, "the intent of the new plan won't be violated before it is even finished."

Tax bills streamlined for township residents

CANTON—Yes, it's that time of year again, time to fork the money over to Santa and your smiling local government. Property taxes for Canton residents are due no later than Feb. 14 without penalty.

Checks should be sent to Carl Parsell, township treasurer at the township offices, 44508 Geddes Road. Tax bills can also be paid at local branches of National Bank of Detroit, Wayne Bank, and Detroit Bank and Trust.

Bills not paid by Feb. 15 will automatically be subject to a three per cent penalty and an additional one half of one per cent carrying charge will be added for every month thereafter. After March 1 all property taxes must be sent to Louis H. Funk, Wayne County Treasurer, 208 City-County Building, Detroit, 48111.

This year's tax statement features a newly computerized system, and each bill is itemized for the property owner. Individual dollar amounts are given for the county, the township, the schools, the community college, special education for the county, and where necessary, for street lighting and water.

The property tax is based on a mill system, where one mill represents a dollar for every $1,000 of assessed value. The assesses value of property is one half the total appraised cash worth of the property.

—7.07 mills for Wayne County.
—5 mills for Canton Township.
—36.01 mills for the Plymouth Community School District, or 44.68 mills for the Wayne-Westland School District (The highest in the state).
—1.09 mills for Wayne County Intermediate Schools (special education)
—2 mills for Schoolcraft Community College, or .73 mills for Wayne County Community College.

Canton residents pay for either the Plymouth schools or the Wayne-Westland schools depending on where they live. Similarly, residents living in the Plymouth School District pay for Schoolcraft College, while residents living in the Wayne-Westland district pay only for Wayne Community College. All other taxes are paid in common. Total millage for Canton residents in the Plymouth School District is 51.17 mills, while residents in the Wayne-Westland School District will pay 58.54 mills.

Lighting bills are assessed for residents in subdivisions where there is street lighting. This is done on a user fee basis and no millage is involved. Overdue water bills are also added on to the tax bill, and residents who are delinquent in paying their water bill can expect to see it on the tax statement.

This year's bill will feature a new charge. Residents of the township will be asked to pay an additional one per cent of their bill to cover administrative costs incurred by the township in collecting the tax. The change results from state law, and according to most township officials is "more equitable" because everyone in the township pays on an equal percentage basis. Previously, bills had been "rounded off" to pay for the administrative costs.

This year's biggest taxpayers will be the utilities with Michigan Consolidated Gas paying $31,577 and Detroit Edison $18,966. Rounding out the top 10 are Kresge's, Meijer's Thrifty Acres, Sterling Homes, Deer Creek Apartments, Tens Development Corp., Republic Land Development Corp., Dominic Moceri, and Richter Construction.

Snowstorm delayed us

Because of this week's snowstorm, the publishing schedule of Observer & Eccentric newspapers was delayed a day. Your usual Thursday edition is being delivered on Friday. Your next Monday edition should arrive on schedule — barring another snowstorm.

Snow lengthens long weekend

Buried cars, broken awnings, and the wonderful sport of "shoveling out" welcomed area residents Monday morning as the worst snow storm in nearly a century dumped 18 inches of the wet stuff on southern Michigan.

While most residents opted for staying home, a few brave souls ventured onto the roads, only to find their forward progress limited or completely blocked by the snow-clogged paths.

Residents in Plymouth fared the best, as city crews began work late Sunday afternoon to begin removing the first 6-8 inches of the fluffy stuff. By 5 p.m. Monday, city crews had put a plow to every street in town, making roads at least passable.

In the townships of Canton and Plymouth the situation was not quite as good, as county road crews were kept busy just keeping state and county roads open to traffic. Secondary roads and local streets took a back seat to the main routes, leaving many streets untouched by anything larger than a snow shovel until Wednesday.

One of the few serious incidents resulting from the storm was a reported heart attack by a 33-year-old Plymouth Township man on Monday. Plymouth firefighters also transported a 20-year-old man to St. Mary Hospital on Tuesday morning after the snow removal vehicle he was working to repair slipped into gear and ran over his arm.

Following a pumper truck into Windsor Park subdivision, the Canton fire department ambulance picked up Mrs. Elaine Pilar Sunday evening for a quick trip to St. Mary so she wouldn't miss her appointment with the stork.

No other serious incidents were reported and both Plymouth Police and Fire Departments said the situation was "calm" in the city both Sunday and Monday.

"If I had my way we'd have snow every day," noted Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford. When asked if it acted as a deterrent to crime, he said, "No, I just like snow."

As a result of the snow storm, the Canton Fire Department has added another vehicle to its fleet. Through the generosity of Supervisor Robert Greenstein, the township will have a snowmobile at its disposal for emergency rescues. "I wasn't using it that much," noted Greenstein, "so I thought I'd leave it where it was really needed."

Plymouth Township Supervisor J.D. McLaren said he had few complaints about the storm other than "a few sore muscles that I didn't know I had."

Plymouth Fire Chief George Schoenneman asked residents to take one step of precaution because of the snows and uncover fire plugs that may be buried. "It will make them easier for us to find if we have to use them," he said.

At its regular Monday meeting, the Plymouth City Commission and City Manager Fred Yockey praised the work of the DPW crews for once again doing a fine job of snow removal.

Water bill problem resolved

CANTON—"It was just a failure to communicate." That is how Supervisor Robert Greenstien characterized the problem of high water bills for residents of Holiday Park subdivision.

An attorney from the Wayne County Consumer Protection Agency, Robert Essick, who had also investigated the matter agreed. "I didn't unearth anything that would lead me to believe legal action is necessary. Most claims were, in fact, unsubstantiated, but the matter is still under investigation."

ESSICK, Greenstein, treasurer Carl Parsell, trustee Bob Myers, and Clerk John Flodin met with Paul Haremski, one of the irate residents of Holiday Park, and they discussed at length the problems and allegations concerning water bills.

Records were examined and Essick received a copy of the 1973 audited report. "The whole thing wasn't quite what it seemed to be at first, there weren't any shady practices," he explained later.

Greenstein elaborated on the problem by explaining that most people with complaints had been sent from one official to another, and the information provided them was inconsistent.

"There were two or three people handling the problem and they all had different answers—it was an administrative problem— and it's one that we will try to correct in the future."

Essick was "most encouraged" by his talk with the new township administration. "They were very open and seemed to want to get to the heart of the matter. I think that we will probably seek a solution together— we'll join hands rather than the county seeking a suit against the township."

However, Essick was quick to add: "If they weren't interested or if they were inaccessible, we probably would have had to take some legal action."

AS FOR the 10 per cent penalty fee imposed on residents who don't pay on time, Essick was a little more reserved. When asked if he thought the charge legitimate, he replied, "no comment."

The county attorney also mentioned that the Detroit Water Department would assist the township, if need be, in making administrative changes to open communication lines to the public.

Greenstein indicated that when all the answers are in he may give a press conference.

RICHARD L. DUNCAN (left) of 14954 Gary Lane, Livonia, and Leon J. Sawicki, 9305 Florida, Livonia, are helping persons to better themselves by improving personal, communicative and public speaking skills offered through Toastmasters International. These Toastmaster officers will participate in the annual fall conference Saturday, Dec. 7, in the Sheraton Woodhaven, (I-75 at Woodhaven exit). Highlights will be the district humorous speech contest with each of 12 contestants entertaining with a five to seven minute speech. The contest will begin at 8 p.m. and all are invited to attend.

Scouts will collect clothing for Goodwill

On Saturday, Dec. 7, 10,000 Boy Scouts and their leaders from the Detroit Area Council will be collecting filled clothing bags in the annual Good Turn for Goodwill Industries.

The bags were recently distributed to 300,000 homes in the metropolitan area. Purpose of the drive is to provide a backlog of material to provide employment opportunities for the handicapped workers of the Goodwill Industries division of League-- Goodwill.

The Scouts are requesting householders to have their filled bags on front porches by 10 a.m. They will be taken to large trucks stationed in each area for transport to the Goodwill warehouse. The vehicles were loaned by trucking and business firms and the drivers are volunteers from the Teamsters' Unions.

The drive is vital to the handicapped workers because collections of useable materials are traditionally at a minimum during the winter months. Materials collected by the Scouts keep the production lines rolling. Collections have also fallen off due to economic conditions.

Scouts ask material in their collection be confined to clothing and small items. Pick up of large items such as surniture may be arranged by calling for a Goodwill truck pick up at a later date.

Leaders, citizens needed

Big chance for transit input

The economic impact of rapid transit will be stressed by local speakers at a special western Wayne County meeting aimed at getting changes in the 1990 plan of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

The meeting — not legally a public hearing but having the same impact — is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 17 at 8 p.m. in the Forum building auditorium at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) arranged the meeting after several local officials complained that this section of Wayne County was eliminated from SEMCOG's rapid transit plan and had inadequate opportunity for comment.

Co-sponsoring the session is Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. Pursell will open the session. Tim Richard, Wayne County editor of the newspaper group, will be moderator.

SEMCOG OFFICIALS have orally accepted an invitation to present their justification of the plan. Expected to attend are either Michael Glusac, SEMCOG executive director, or John Amberger, his deputy, along with Gary Krause, a member of the planning staff.

Krause indicated they will make much the same presentation they did at a series of public hearings around the region. The closest one to this area was in Taylor and was attended by only one local public official and a handful of citizens.

The City of Livonia is expected to present figures on the number of persons working in the Schoolcraft-Plymouth roads corridor. That corridor is shown as a rapid transit line in the old Transportation and Land Use Study.

Pursell will arrange to get a representative from the state Department of Transportation.

Invitations are being sent to chief executives in the cities of Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth and Westland and the townships of Canton, Northville, Plymouth and Redford.

THUS, THE MEETING will have much the same arrangement as the SEMCOG hearings with copies of any written presentations and notes on oral presentations being forwarded to SEMCOG.

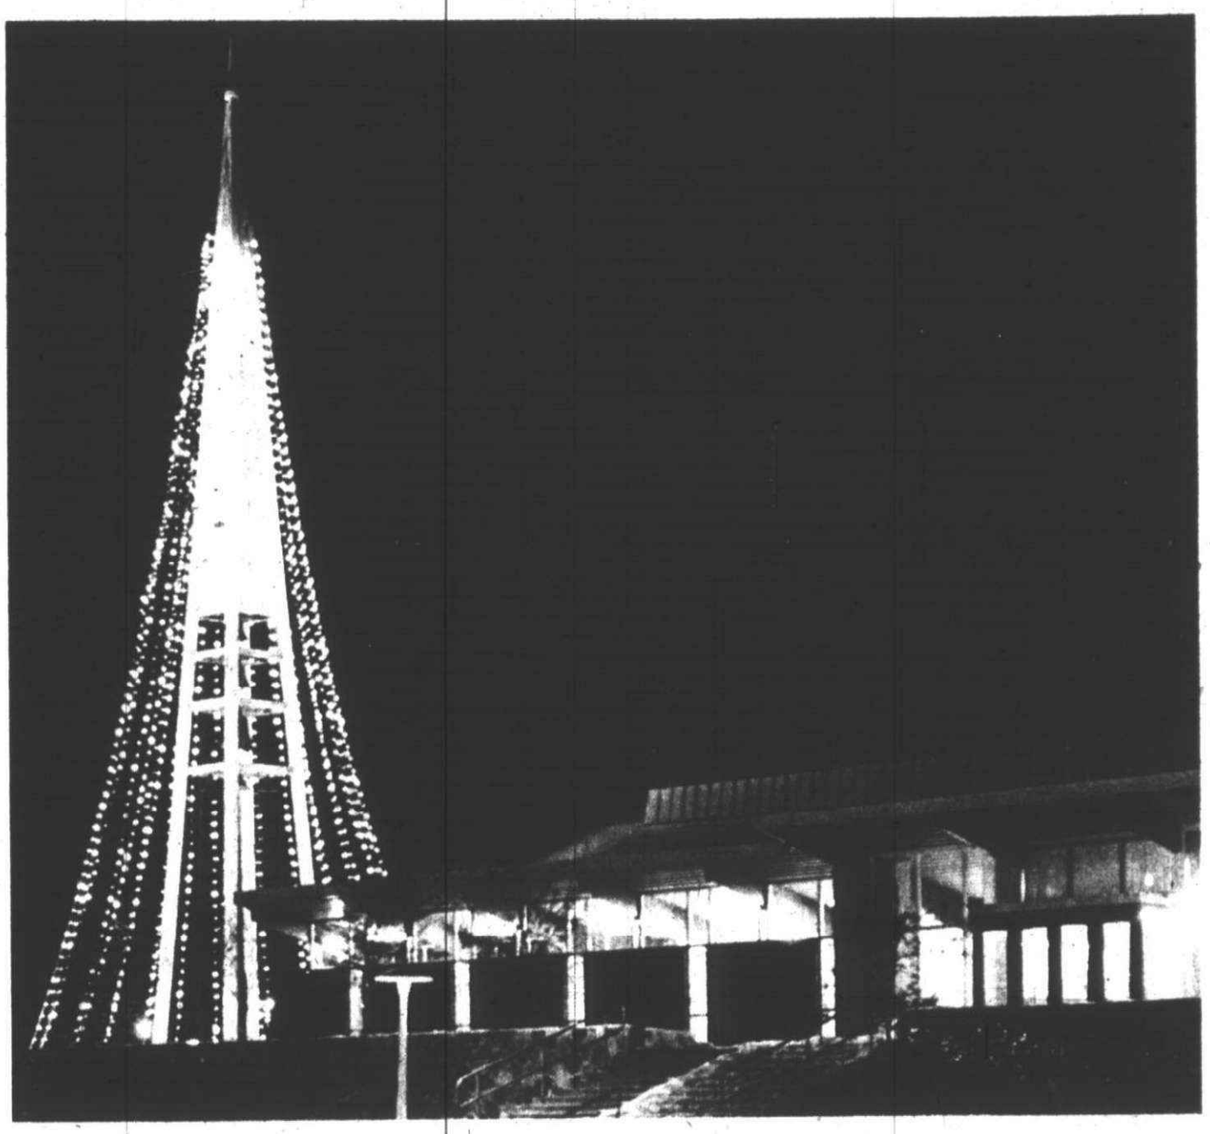

It will not, however, be an official hearing because legal notice requirements aren't being met. Nevertheless, the impact will be the same as a hearing because it is known that SEMCOG officials are paying close attention to the western Wayne County complaints.

Chief point of attack is likely to be SEMCOG's first criterion for being awarded a rapid transit line — that there be a congested freeway. The I-96 Jeffries freeway in the Schoolcraft corridor is still under construction and cannot therefore qualify as "congested."

Pursell said that criterion "isn't planning." He said SEMCOG should consider developing a rapid transit line as the area develops rather than waiting for the freeway to become congested first.

He likened the criterion to the habit of building a subdivision, then busing children to a distant school because no neighborhood school has been built yet.

After the formal presentations, local officials and the public may make their comments. It is suggested persons who wish to comment put the details in writing to assure their views will be conveyed, and then keep their oral comments to a brief outline so everyone may be heard.

For whom the bells beam

THE BELLTOWER at Schoolcraft College will be lighted for the holidays this year from Dec. 12 through New Year's Eve. The lights will be on from dusk until midnight. For best viewing, use the horseshoe drive near the visitor's parking lot in front of the campus, Haggerty Road south of Seven Mile.

Storm leaves a few stranded

By STEVE BARNABY

WESTLAND—Lt. Dave Wilson sits at his desk bemused, and somewhat amused, at the stack of bills piled high in front of him.

The bills, amounting to more than $1,200, are the results of last weekend's snow storm which stranded more than 150 persons, compelling them to stay overnight in the center.

The marooned group of Christmas shoppers included persons from as far away as Windsor, who found themselves trapped in the shopping area at about 5 p.m. Sunday. Also trapped were residents from Livonia, Garden City, Westland, and Canton Township.

Officials at the center decided to close at 5:30 p.m. rather than 7 p.m. because of the snow, but realized by 4:30 that shoppers were going to be stranded, according to Wilson.

"We knew we were in trouble so we implemented impromptu emergency procedures. The first thing that had to be done was to collect shoppers who were stuck in the parking lots and just wandering around the center, not exactly sure on where they were going."

ALTHOUGH THE night's escapade took on a generally humourous tone, the ten security personnel also came to the rescue in some situations which could have been fatal.

In one case, a 62-year-old woman was found laying unconscious in the parking lot. She was revived, outfitted with a dry set of clothing and joined with the other shoppers gathered in the auditorium.

Realizing the group would have to be bedded down and fed for the evening, a confiscation squad was formed to perform a mission which can only be described as a shopper's dream. Wilson and his colleagues were quick to reassure the temporary residents the bill would be on the center.

"In a case like this when people are afraid and unsure of themselves, money doesn't really mean much. I was really glad we could help out these people."

Among the items collected for the night's bivouac were eight pounds of coffee, ten pounds of corned beef, six color televisions, ten pounds of ham, gallons of pop, swiss chess and checker boards.

"We figured it would be good to have some entertainment. There was even an all-night checker's tournament," says Wilson. "Some young girl won, but I can't remember her name.

"Some of these items are a bit strange," Wilson laughingly admits as he looks at bills for a package of cigars, breath mints and two bars of soap.

Also included on the list were air mattresses, blankets and pillows. But, the coup d'e tat was a bill for $50 for the purchase of ten pizzas.

It wasn't long before a sign was erected welcoming new refugees to the "Westland Hilton." Some persons stranded on the surrounding streets also sought refuge in the center, according to Wilson.

"THE BIGGEST morale booster was when our guests saw on television those persons stranded on I-94. Everyone, all of sudden, felt grateful."

As in all good "hotels" a presidential suite was erected which required a vote of the occupants to determine who would be the lucky person to use it. The suite, in reality the only cot available, went to a youngster by a voice vote.

Meanwhile on the outside, maintenance men worked with four trucks plows for 10½ hours to clear the parking lot. A bill of $600 was racked up in towing fees.

At 7:15 a.m. on Monday the guests began to filter out in hopes of getting home.

"I'm glad the night turned into fun for those folks. It could have been grim. One thing for sure, though, I'm glad I stopped the raiding party from invading the wine cellar at the center. We might still be here," Wilson laughingly comments.

AA members help others through District Court

By CRAIG PIECHURA

PLYMOUTH—Jim A. of Detroit used to spend six or seven nights a week drinking at the bar. Now he belongs to Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) and attends AA meetings six and sometimes seven nights a week.

"Call AA another drug or a crutch but the program works for me," Jim A. said. "I used to think I made good friends at the bar. But through AA I found what true friendship is.

"When I was drinking I couldn't give any love so I couldn't receive love. Slapping barflies on the back and believing their lies wasn't caring or sharing."

Jim A. related his experiences at the 35th District Court's Alcohol Awareness series. He was joined on a panel with Jim M., another AA member, and Pat and Kathy, members of Al-Anon, the group for wives of alcoholics.

J.C. Hanna, of 42211 Brentwood, Plymouth, a voluntary probation officer for Plymouth's 35th District Court, and a former alcoholic himself, set up the Alcohol Awareness program and plans to repeat it the end of January.

The AA panel was the third in a series of four meetings on alcoholism.

Last Wednesday was the eighth anniversary of Jim A.'s sobriety. He attends the meetings nearly every night of the week out of choice. There are no rules in AA demanding meeting attendance. He feels at AA he can find people who share what he calls "our disease" and says he finds no greater satisfaction than seeing a new member "pick his head up off his chest and start to talk with confidence and look people in the eye."

Most of those at last week's meeting were curious members of the community but nine persons in attendance had to sign a roster at the end of the meeting.

These nine were sent to the meeting by the district court for alcohol-related offenses.

But the AA didn't lecture these people with an attitude of evangelistic temperance. Hanna explained that AA grows by attraction not conversion.

The only thing we can hope for," Hanna said, "is that maybe we can scratch the surface, disturb people who may have this problem and don't know what it is that's bugging them."

The panel also made a distinction between heavy drinkers and alcoholics. They are not one and the same.

Alcoholics, they explained, suffer from a disease which makes them unable to control their drinking. But unlike some skid-row drunks who are not alcoholics, they do not accept their situation. They feel remorse and guilt over the consequences of their drinking.

But as long as they continue to drink, their problems accelerate.

Hanna explained that an alcoholic is also different from a drunk in that the alcoholic often experiences blackouts triggered by the combination of guilt and drink.

This phenomenon is not to be confused with passing out, "which can happen to Aunt Mary after two glasses of Christmas brandy."

In a blackout, the alcoholic goes into something like a trance, blocking out sound and memory. It may not even be noticeable to people in the room.

Two wives of alcoholics spoke about how Al-Anon has helped them deal with their own lives and that of their alcoholic husbands.

Kathy M. belonged to Al-Anon nearly three years before her husband, Jim M., decided to join AA. She said she attended her first Al-Anon meeting thinking the women in the group would tell her how to straighten out her husband.

"It didn't work that way," Kathy M. said. "Al-Anon taught me to cope with and not add to my husband's problem. And it helped me solve some of my own problems.

"When I came into Al-Anon I couldn't talk to my family without assuming the martyr role," said Kathy. "When I learned to let go, he entered AA."

Kathy's husband spoke after she did and explained that he first made a vow to quit drinking after he was released from the hospital with half of his liver remaining. But he went back to drinking, he said, because he tried to quit for all the wrong reasons.

"I tried to quit for my wife, my children and my job," Jim M. told the group at the Alcohol Awareness program. "And eventually I went back to the bottle. I didn't kick until I decided to quit for myself. I got sick and tired of being sick and tired and realized my next step would be six feet underground."

Jim M. says he attends AA meetings three or four nights a week now and has been sober for 14 months.

While AA and Al-Anon meetings may not be for everyone, the people they have helped swear by them. Hanna, the moderator of the program, was asked why he felt it necessary to go to so many meetings and why willpower wasn't enough. He replied, "That's like asking somebody with diarrhea to use willpower."

Firemen finally get big chance to assist stork

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP— The wail of a baby greeted township firefighters Charles VanVleck and Robert Caloia last week, as the duo delivered the first baby in the fire department's 23-year history.

With a little help from Mrs. Judy Heath, 31, of 9224 Elmhurst, the pair delivered a three-pound, half-ounce baby boy, who was born feet-first and three months premature, en route to the University of Michigan Hospital.

"We've had a lot of close calls," said Fire Chief James Gignac, "but we never had the actual thing before. It's quite an emotional thing to be part of. The guys just did a fantastic job. I have nothing but praise for them. The baby, the mother and the two 'foster fathers' are doing quite well."

The delivery was a first for VanVleck, 36, and Caloia, 23, Gignac said. The two are enrolled in an emergency medical technician program at Washtenaw Community College.

Band concert canceled

PLYMOUTH—As happened to so many events planned for the past few days, the concert that had been scheduled by Centennial Educational Park symphony, concert, varsity and stage bands for Saturday evening, Dec. 7, has become a storm casualty.

Bandmaster James Griffith said the interruption in rehearsals caused by the cancellation of school Monday and Tuesday, coming on the heels of Thanksgiving vacation, has led to an indefinite postponement of the concert.

While the concert probably will be rescheduled for a later date in the school year, members of all four of these high school bands also are at work already on the program for the "Variety Is" show to be presented Friday and Saturday, Jan. 17 and 18.

JOHN H. GOURLAY

Killeen selected as county clerk

James R. Killeen has been named to become Wayne County Clerk, effective Jan. 1 when Clerk Joseph B. Sullivan assumes a circuit judgeship to which he was elected in November.

Killeen, a personnel supervisor with the U.S. Department of Justice in Detroit, was named clerk by a majority of the 28-judge circuit court bench.

nn another county appointment, John H. Gourlay has been named to complete the unexpired term of retired Auditor Arthur A. Sumeracki. He was appointed by a three-member panel.

KILLEEN, 53, is the brother of County Commissioner George F. Killeen (D-Detroit) and a resident of Grosse Pointe Farms.

He was among 21 candidates for the clerk's post which pays $32,000 annually. Two years remain on the four-year term of office to which Sullivan was elected.

Killeen says he will work to eliminate the record-keeping problems in the clerk's office which stimulated a letter in which the president of the Detroit Bar Association urged the new clerk be chosen on a basis of "professional competency."

Killeen has been with the justice department for 25 years, the last 15 of them in Detroit.

GOURLAY, secretary-treasurer of the Metropolitan Detroit AFL-CIO Council, was sworn into office Nov. 29.

As provided by state law, he was appointed by a panel consisting of Willis Ward, presiding judge of probate court, William L. Cahalan, prosecuting attorney, and County Clerk Sullivan.

Sumeracki, 58, retired two years short of completing his six-year term after 26 years on the three-member Board of County Auditors.

Gourlay, 47, was born in Detroit and now lives in Trenton.

His oath-taking had the air of a homecoming because he had served eight years as an appointed member of the former county board of supervisors. His service ended when the elected county board of commissioners replaced the former board on Jan. 1, 1969.

Gourlay became the top financial officer of the AFL-CIO Council in 1969 after holding the same post with Gas Workers Local 80 for 15 years.

The Board of Auditors and its staff recommends the annual county budget to the board of commissioners, then administers the budget adopted by the commissioners. This year's budget totals $304 million.

"I believe my 20 years experience in handling union financial matters and my previous experience in county government will be assets to the Board of Auditors," says Gourlay. "They will help me understand the problems faced by the auditors and countydepartments." The auditor's position pays $28,000 annually.

SC readies for registration

Registration will be held Jan. 2 and 3 in the auxiliary gym of the physical education building for the winter term at Schoolcraft College.

Students should see a counselor before attempting to register. Counselors are in the Student Affairs Building and will be available for appointment the entire week of Dec. 16, and Monday, Thursday and Friday of Christmas week, and the following Monday.

Winter semester graduates and sophomore day students will register from 8:30 until 11:30 the first morning. Freshmen are scheduled that afternoon between 1-1:30. Remaining freshmen will register the next morning with open registration following during the afternoon. Evening students can register either night between 6:30 and 8:30.

Individuals planning to take any one of the 14 day, 33 evening or three Saturday classes scheduled at the college's center in Garden City can register on campus according to the above schedule. Students can also register at the center on these days.

Resident tuition is $11 per credit hour with out-of-district students paying $22 per credit hour. All students are charged a 50 cent per hour activity fee.

Child Development recommendation due next month

Sixteen groups in Wayne County, with ideas including a farming project, an art academy and a university campus, have submitted proposals for future uses of the old Child Development Center in Northville Township.

A committee evaluating the proposals is expected to reportits recommendations to the Wayne Counyy Board of Commissioners in January.

Once a facility for mentally retarded children, the center was closed in October and the board of commissioners established a special citizen's committee to recommend best new uses for the800-acre complex.

Francis Bennett of the county planning commission; M. H. Ashley, buildings division of the County Auditors; Mrs. Modesta Gamble, Michigan League of Women Voters; and Eugene Guido, Local 1659 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFSCME).

Also: Olga Madar, UAW-Coalition of Labor Union Women; Joseph Seavey, State Department of Natural Resources; Norman Stockmeyer, Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce and outgoing member of Wayne State University Board of Governors; Mrs. Mary Williams, Detroit Depa:tment of Recreation; and Lawrence Wright, supervisor of Northville Township.

Proposals either to buy or lease space or buildings were invited from all county agencies, educational institutions and all 43 municipalities in the county.

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE in Livonia and Wayne State University would like to form a consortium and use the center as a campus extension, offering degrees from both schools.

One plan would grow low-cost food for a cooperative of residents in the Jefferson-Chalmers neighborhood in Detroit. The idea is in a plan of the Jefferson-Chalmers Citizens District Council and Project Redirection, which wants to establish a "model rural community," including vocational training and cultural exchange programs.

Another plan submitted by the State of Michigan proposes a year-round arts academy, "similar to Interlochen," for poor children. Currently the program operates in summer only and needs a permanent location, according to the proposal.

Other proposals for school uses were submitted by Northville School District, which wants vacant land for future buildings; The New Morning School, a private elementary school in Northville, and the Plymouth Montessori School.

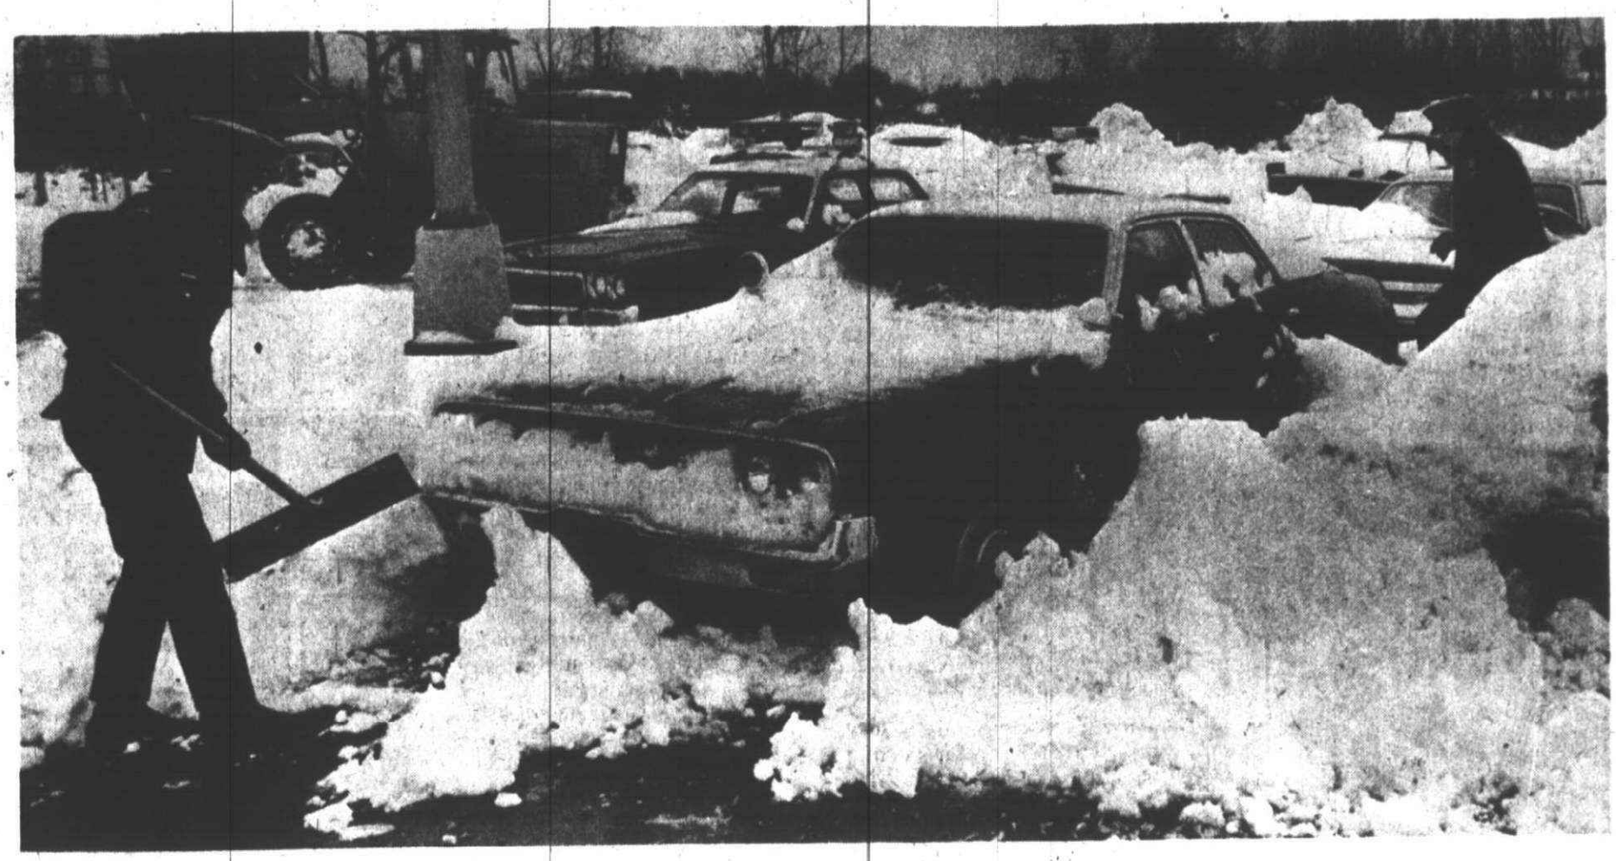

The City of Northville proposes to lease the center's recreational facilities which include gymnasium and swimming pool, and Northville Township is asking for one building to house a library.

THE COUNTY PLANNING commission proposed a variety of uses for the center, among them being a Juvenile Court branch and detention center.

Also among the proposals is a plan from the Sheriff's Department to use one building as headquarters for the Metro Narcotics Squad and a chemistry laboratory.

A plan from the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Services (Act 54) Board would provide recreation for handicapped children and adults.

Another plan from SILCOM, a nonprofit housing corporation funded by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority, would construct facilities for housing and educating the deaf.

Madison Heights joins SEMCOG

In an unprecedented move, Madison Heights has voted to rejoin the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

This is the first time a governmental unit has voted to rejoin SEMCOG. The city withdrew in 1970 after one year of membership.

Year's hunting is successful

By LEM MESEE
Outdoors Writer

Golfers and tennis players are heading indoors, but these days are some of the best of the year for hunters.

As of today, we don't have a count on the deer kill in the season that just ended, but conservation officers say success was higher than average in Michigan's prime areas.

You may think of the northland as the place to hunt, but once again the southern counties are producing the biggest deer. Hunters who got permission to work on private farmland got some big bucks in Livingston, Ingham, Jackson, Calhoun, Branch and Hillsdale counties.

RABBIT HUNTERS were doing very well around Holly and Rose townships in Oakland County, even before the Thanksgiving Day snow.

Wayne County rabbit hunters, too, are beginning to report some success.

Although the regular duck season has ended, hunters with deep-water rigs will be able to take advantage of the bonus scaup season on designated waters. The Detroit River below Grosse Ile has large rafts of lesser scaup. Many canvasback and rehead ducks are still around Michigan, but only scaup are legal in the late season, so hunters should take care in identifying their targets.

Esch supports bill to attack unemployment

In an effort to fight unemployment in several ways, U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) is urging Congressional and union leaders to join in a bi-partisan push for legislation before the Christmas adjournment.

Esch has asked Speaker Carl Albert and labor leaders George Meany and Leonard Woodcock to support the attack.

ESCH, ranking GOP member of the House manpower subcommittee, proposes speedy congressional action on a program to pay up to 13 weeks of benefits to unemployed workers who have exhausted their state unemployment benefits and up to 26 weeks to other qualified workers lacking state unemployment insurance protection.

In letters to Albert, Meany and Woodcock, the congressman said: "We must provide major additional funds for public service jobs during the next two years. Whether this is done through separate authorizing legislation or merely through additional funds channeled through Title II of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973, we must provide relief for the unemployed."

Noting suggestions that unemployment compensation programs may be delayed due to a jurisdictional dispute involving the Ways and Means Committee, Esch said: "We certainly cannot let our unemployed languish while committee chairmen fight about jurisdiction. Our nation's unemployed deserve much more than that."

"THE HOUSE Education and Labor Committee and the Appropriations Committee can move now on more money for public service jobs.

"Moreover, I personally do not care whether the Ways and Means Committee or the Labor Committee moves on increased unemployment compensations, but action certainly must come before Christmas.

"If Chairman Wilbur Mills of the Ways and Means Committee is not going to push for this unemployment assistance program in the pending legislation, then our Labor Committee must assume the task."

Saying that Congress could act affirmatively and effectively on the problem before Christmas, Esch expressed his belief the administration is ready to work cooperatively to assure American workers can face the new year without the current degree of uncertainty.

We've got to hand it to you...

Manufacturers Bank of Livonia is happy to hand you a high rate of interest on your savings . . . on everything from regular passbook accounts to high yield certificates of deposit.

5% Regular Passbook Account earns interest daily, paid and compounded quarterly. Maintaining a minimum balance of $500 entitles you to no service charge checking.

5½% Special Time Passbook Account with a minimum deposit of $500, earns interest from day of deposit compounded and paid quarterly.

6% Certificates of Deposit yield an even higher rate. A minimum of $500, with a maturity period of 1 to 2½ years, earns interest compounded quarterly or quarterly interest checks available.

6½% Certificate of Deposit earns interest with a maturity period of 2½ to 4 years. Interest is compounded quarterly or quarterly interest checks available.

Federal Law and Regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless 3 months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate.

Economic bright spots indicate recession shift

By EMORY DANIELS

Although the economy in seems to be growing gloomier as each week passes, there are some bright spots to be found and some indicators of a speedup in 1975.

With the current rounds of auto company layoffs, the economy in the metropolitan Detroit area is apt to remain gloomy during December. But forces now at work may lead to growth beginning in January. If so, then the recession will bottom out before Christmas and then begin its recovery.

INDICATORS CHECKED by the Observer & Eccentric were new car dealers, mortgage availability for the housing industry, and fluctuations in the classified advertisement use of thesenewspapers.

Traditionally, classified ads begin to decrease in volume at the inception of a recession and converesly pick up in volume before the recovery process begins. Classifieds, thus, are a signal of a looming recession or good times to come.

An analysis of the classified section of this newspaper shows the total number of ads remained stable between 1969 and 1970 when the national economy was in a "mini-recession." The classified total jumped upwards by about 20 per cent in 1971 over 1970, but increased by only 7.5 per cent in 1972.

Total classifieds remained below 1971's boom with a 12½ per cent increase from 1972 to '73 with the recession creeping upon us. Between 1973-74, total classifieds increased by 5½ per cent. The '73-74 increase was computed after making adjustments for the merger of the Observer Newspapers and Eccentric Newspapers during the past year.

What is occurring within segments of the economy can be observed by studying individual categories within the classified section. There has been an increase, for instance, in the number of garage and rummage sale insertions. Used car listings has also increased with more "sale by owner" ads. There has been a significant increase since last spring in the "home for sale by owner" ads.

NEW CAR DEALERS in the suburbs are optimistic 1975 will be a better sales year than last year once potential buyers overcome the current shock of temporary plant shutdowns and layoffs.

The dealers point out that now is a good time to buy a new car because it can be obtained at a lower price as higher trade-insare being offered for 1971-73 models in good shape.

Now is a good time to buy because dealers have cars in stock ready for immediate delivery, says Lou LaRiche, Chevrolet dealer in Plymouth.

If the used car is clean and in good condition, he adds, it is worth more now than it was six or seven months ago.

"There is a tremenduous market now to buy used cars which gives the dealer a greater incentive (and ability) to offer a better trade-in deal. We know the used car will move faster on our used car lots and will sell for a profit. With the nature of our business, it is natural then we will offer more to buy a used car on a trade-in."

LaRiche says the pattern has been for prior year cars to drop $1,000 in value as soon as the new models are introduced. "But this hasn't taken place this year, which is a situation we've never faced before."

He adds that an upturn in consumer confidence won't occur until the inflationary spiral is cut into, and automobile dealerships are now doing this.

ED BROWN of Bill Brown Ford, Livonia, reports the same situation exists at his dealerships — the higher trade-in value of '71-73 cars has offset the increased price for 1975s.

"Used cars are at a premium now and so it costs less to finance a new car then at any time in the past two years — especially with the medium and larger-size cars of model years '71, '72 and '73.

"There is a little upswing in new car sales now. But people need jobs to buy new cars and a layoff of one person scares another 10."

He adds there is also a demand for 1970-72 compacts. "The premium demand is for cars in the $2,000-$2,500 price range, and it doesn't really matter what kind it is."

Brown has an added incentive to potential car buyers in that he has about 120 "new" 1974 models whose prices have dropped with the introduction of the '75 models. "Here's where some real bargains are."

DOMINIC MARINO of Colony Chrysler-Plymouth in Plymouth joins his GM and Ford counterparts in offsetting higher prices for new cars by offering higher trade-in value.

Money is tight, he adds, which prevents a buyer with a $200-$300 down payment from financing a loan for a new car. But the buyer with a two-year-old car worth $2,00-$2,500 has a large enough down payment to secure a bank loan.

Another advantage today in financing new cars, Marino saysis that the buyer can now obtain a loan for 48 months instead of the previous maximum of 36 months. "Dealers in the City of Detroit are having problems. But my dealership, and most of the dealers I've talked to in the suburbs, have had a better new car sales month in November then in October."

He believes this pick up is due to the better trade-ins which dealers can offer.

Marino added that he has about 30 '74dusters in stock. "That's surpising because we expected the Duster to sell better than other models because of last year's energy crunch."

EVEN MORE promising are drops in the home mortgage rates the week of Nov. 18.

Conventional home loans took a half per cent drop with savings & loans dipping to 9½. On Nov. 26, Michigan Bank lowered its home mortage interest rate to 9½ per cent.

Mike Samonek of United Northwest Realtors Association, Farmington Hills, predicts the home mortgage rate will continue to decline until next spring when it will level off at 8½ per cent. The drop will be much faster in savings & loan institutions, he added, because 90 per cent of their loans are home mortgages.

"If people keep on saving money, and deposits in savings & loans increases, the rate will continue downward and more mortgage money will become available."

Samonek says he expects "points" charged to obtain a home loan will remain the same, and might come down a bit. "Money is loosening up. Nationwide, the recession has hit bottom although it hasn't yet in this area. Money will become more available during 1975."

Samonek said Realtors and home lenders have been taking a hard look at the point system and will keep points down to the extent the money supply allows. "Points are controlled by the demand for money. The higher the demand, the more likely points will rise. Unfortunately, savings and loans take it on the chin because of government requirements."

NEW CONSTRUCTION of homes can be expected next year, he added, because the federal government will be pumping money into both into new home construction and used home mortgaging and rehabilitation.

The money to rehabilitate used homes is especially vital in Detroit, he said, where HUD has 16,000 homes costing the taxpayer about $120,000 a day just to maintain.

New money pumped into the used house market would, Samonek says, help the economy by getting more people into houses, get rid of the $100,000 a day maintenance drain for HUD houses, and encourage homeowners to sell their houses and purchase either new homes or more expensive used houses.

In summary, Samonek expects 1975 will be a much better year than '74. "Our economic policies will begin to pay off if people don't panic. If you look hard enough, you can see spooks behind every corner. But you can also see cause for hope and all indicators now point towards an economic recovery."

ON A LARGER SCALE, optimism is also expressed by Thomas A. Murphy, vice-chairman of General Motors Corp.

An an example, Murphy points to inflation. "World market prices for copper, aluminum, textiles, lumber, steel scrap, lead, zinc and other industrial materials are declining — and have been for some time.

"Domestic prices have already begun to reflect this trend. The Bureau of Labor Standards' index of 13 industrial materials, for example, has registered a 15 per cent decrease since mid-July

"Regarding world oil prices, I think we can look for some stability, if not improvement. Certainly, there is no reason to expect a repetition of the four-fold increase which was such a significant factor in raising ALL costs during the first nine months of this year."

County eyes ticket settlement by mail

A resolution permitting motorists to settle defective equipment tickets by mail was recently approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and forwarded to the State Legislature.

The proposal, recommended by the General Government Committee whose members include Richard E. Manning (D-Redford) and Brian G. Arrowsmith (D-Canton Township), urges the waiver of the fine be mandatory upon receipt of proof of repair.

Commissioner Edward K. Michalski (D-Detroit) who introduced the resolution said, "Usually, when the motorist appears on his court date and reports the repair has been made, the judge waives the fine. But it might be necessary for the motorist to return to a place hundreds of miles from his home for the court appearance. I believe the whole thing could be handled just as well by mail, and help unclog our crowded court dockets in the process."

IN ORDER to continue the present Juvenile Facilities Network (JFN) program which is a countywide series of programs that encompass not only crime prevention, but rehabilitation of those who have been adjudicated. In addition to maintaining three centers, Highland Park, Inkster and the East Side, the program has 26 separate projects including films,presentations in the Livonia schools and a Saturday academic program at Madonna College.

To maintain the program, the Board of Commissioners recently authorized the JFN to submit a grant application to the Department of Health Education and Welfare (HEW) for $400,000 for the period from Dec. 1, 1974 to June 30, 1976. It requires county matching funds of $133,334. Commissioners also authorized the JFN to revise a previously approved Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) grant from $1 million to $1.05 million for a year beginning Dec. 1.

The first grant application of $400,000 will be used to support four current projects, two new ones and seven youth workers, a planner, five youth service workers and a gang worker on the east side. These are currently financed from a LEAA grant which expires the end of November.

COMMISSIONER Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) says of the grant application situation: "Right now, we are in a 60-day hold on the extension. We are trying to get $500,000 back in the budget which the Criminal Justice Coordinating Council took out. We've got to find ways to find $500,000."

One of the problems she mentions is that the majority of the Criminal Justice Coordinating Council, of which she is a member, are from Detroit.

"Our hassle," Mrs. Dumas says, "has not been with the Board of Commissioners, but the Criminal Justice Coordinating Committee because we do want to see greater program money going into overall countywide programs."

ALONG WITH THIS recommendation from the Human Resources Committee, another was given final approval, an assistance program for troubled county employes at a first year cost of $55,407.

Taylor cited the savings in employe absenteeism due to emotional problems and substance abuse as justification for the expenditure.

The board also approved a formula for the distribution of $2.5 million in Title II funds for the public service intern program among 40 cities and communities in the county.

Other local portions of the grant are: Westland, $153,541; Canton Township, $25,497; Plymouth Township, $40,943; Plymouth, $31,257; Garden City, $97,146 and Redford Township, $179,827.

The funds were made available by Congress through a supplemental appropiation requested by President Gerald Ford. One of the provisions of the program is the hiring of local residents for the training program at an $8,000 a year salary each and help with job placement once the training is completed.

Freon dangers may evoke ban on aerosols

Aerosol sprays and other household products which discharge fluorocarbon gases or Freon, a trade name, may become tomorrow's antiques.

Representatives Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) and Paul G. Rogers (D-Fla.) are drafting legislation to permit the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to ban the products, if studies by the National Academy of Sciences and others, substantiates the suspected danger. Esch represents the 2nd District which includes Livonia and Plymouth.

THE LEGISLATION would amend the Clean Air Act and require manufacturers of any product which in normal use discharges fluorocarbons to obtain a certificate of safety from the EPA if the health hazard is established. Refrigerators and air conditioners use fluorocarbons for cooling, but normally don't discharge the chemical.

The two congressmen said in a joint statement: "The warnings from the National Academy of Sciences and other scientists who have conducted independent research indicate a potentially dangerous situation.

"We feel that hearings should be held to determine the severity of the situation and what steps should be taken," Rogers and Esch said. "We have not called for an immediate and total ban. That would be pre-judging on the basis of limited evidence. But there is little doubt that if the evidence does hold up, a ban may be necessary."

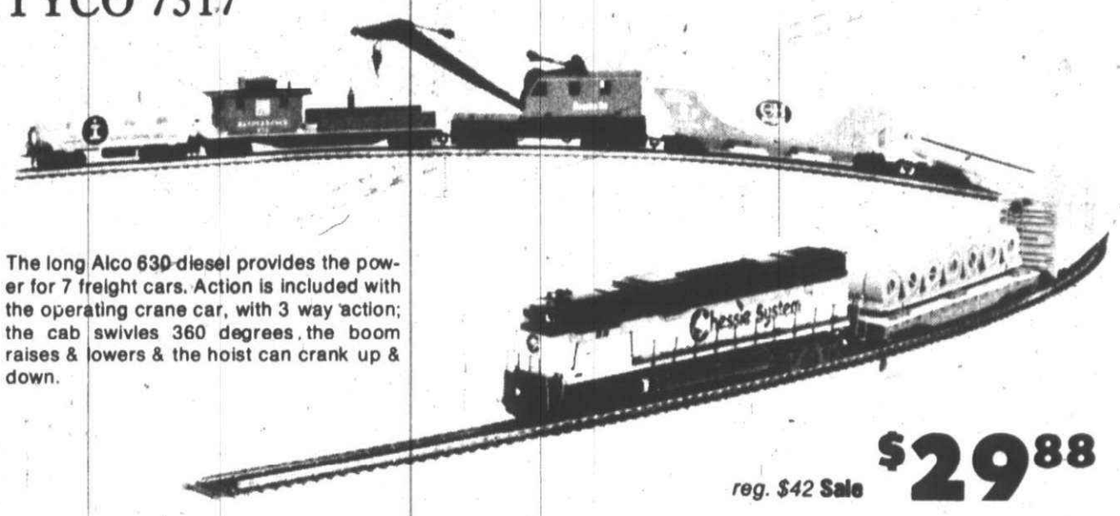

HEARINGS ARE tentatively scheduled to start Dec. 11 before the House Subcommittee on Public Health and Environment.

Studies indicate that fluorocarbon gases rise in the atmosphere and partially destroy the ozone layer which shields the earth from cancer-causing ultraviolet rays. The fluorocarbons broken down by radiation in the stratosphere form free chlorine atoms which will increasingly destroy ozone and trigger an increase in skin cancer due to the increased ultraviolet radiation which the ozone normally would absorb.

Esch said: "We are drawing no conclusions about the warnings of risk to health at this time. However, we are calling upon the scientific community to provide Congress and the public with the facts so that if a risk is proven we can take the proper steps."

An estimated 2.9 billion aerosol and pressurized products were manufactured in the United States in 1973, but it is not known precisely what percentage of aerosols contain fluorocarbon gasses.

Activities planned by Chamber

PLYMOUTH—There will be plenty of entertainment and special events, including a circus and a golf outing, for the residents of Plymouth to attend if the plans now being studied by the luncheon committee of the Chamber of Commerce are realized.

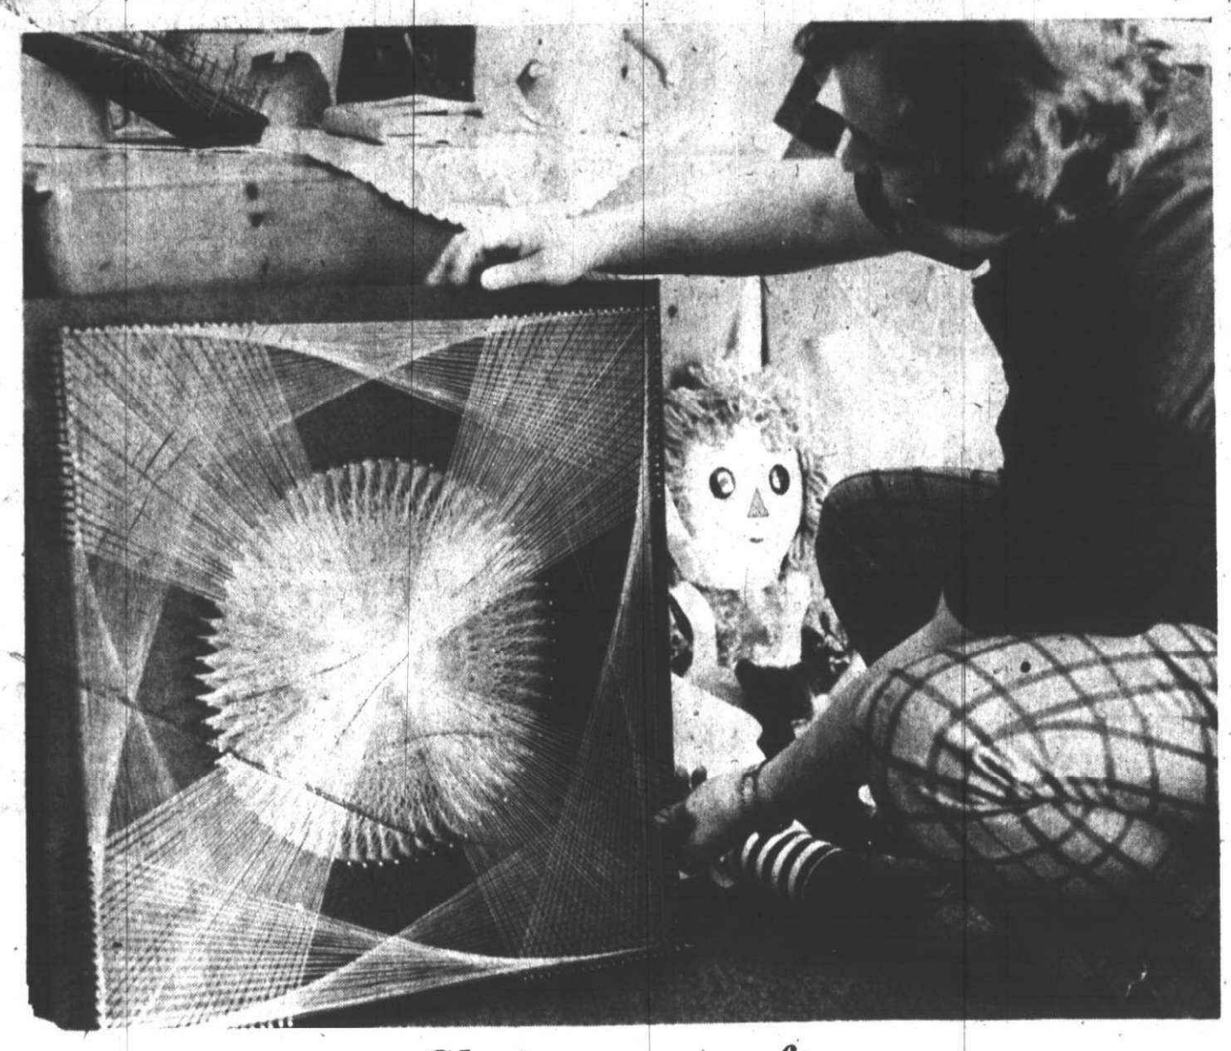

A complete program for the entire year would include a circus at the Cultural Center in May, the golf outing in July, and the annual dinner in November.

The committee also is looking forward to the country's bicentennial and is planning a special bicentennial dance in March.

Aside from these events the committee has taken under advisement a projected program modeled after the Town Hall meetings. Under this procedure there would be an outstanding speaker and a noon luncheon on alternate months.

In the past the committee has attempted, with varied success, to sponsor monthly luncheons. With that experience it is now felt more emphasis should be placed on these sessions with hopes for the involvement of the entire community.

The golf outing is a new venture and plans will make the program citywide at Hilltop Golf Course which recently was purchased by Plymouth Township and will be developed as part of its recreation program.

Christmas crafts

DAVE HARGREAVES looks over a three-dimensional art form which will be displayed this weekend at the Cultural Center's Christmas Arts & Crafts Show. The annual affair, sponsored by the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department, will be held today through Sunday at the center, 525 Farmer Street. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. today and Saturday and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is free to the displays and exhibits of more than 30 exhibitors.(Cultural Center photo)

International scouting fund to honor 12

REDFORD—A new international living program for Girl Scouts was introduced recently to 30 troop leaders, service directors and staff of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council by Lucy Young, director of the International department of the Girl Scouts of the USA.

The new program will award 12 Girl Scouts year-long visits abroad, partially funded by Girl Scouts of the USA. Currently 150 Girl Scouts from the United States travel abroad for shorter stays each year and the new program will be an addition to that number.

All are partially funded by the Juliette Low World Fellowship Fund, which three million Girl Scouts contribute to each year.

Named to PCDC board

PLYMOUTH—Mayor Beverly McAnich has recently appointed Alfred "Tex" Thoman to the board of the Plymouth Canton Development Commission.

Thoman has been a resident of Plymouth since 1961 and is one of the engineers who designed the Forest Place Mall, the Secretary of State's building and the Wayside Gift Shop, of which he is co-owner.

He was formerly with Cox Instruments in Detroit and will represent the city on the PCDC board of directors.

No Strings Attached, Absolutely Free Checking.

(It isn't all you get with our new All-In-One Account.)

Our All-In-One Account. One convenient way of banking that combines the kind of services you use most and want most—day in and day out.

Overdraft Protection. (Just in Case). Bouncing a check can be an embarassing—not to mention costly—experience. Now—when you qualify—the All-In-One Account covers every check you write up to your credit limit with full overdraft protection. This protection is there when you need it and it doesn't cost a cent until you use it. That's nice to know.

No Strings Attached, Absolutely Free Checking. (When you want it). No minimum balance. No mandatory savings account. No $3 monthly charge. With the All-In-One Account your checking is absolutely free with no strings attached. It's for real, and so is the $26 service charge the average family saves each year.

The Highest Bank Interest in Town on Regular Savings Deposits. (When you want it). 5.20% to be exact. That's the effective annual yield of regular 5% savings deposits. It's compounded continuously—not just quarterly or even daily like ordinary banks—so it keeps on working, earning money for you, every second of every single day of the year.

Bennett urges aerosol ban

State Rep. John Bennett (D-Redford Township) is among three cosponsors of a bill to stop production of Freon gas commonly used in aerosol spray cans and other products.

Other sponsors of the bill introduced in the House are Rep. Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor) and Rep. Warren Goemaere (D-Roseville).

CITING THE RECENT scientific discovery of the potential health and environmental hazards of the gas, Bullard introduced the bill which would ban production and sale in Michigan of such products.

Simultaneous findings by several scientific teams indicate the gas may be destroying the protective ozone layer of the earth's atmosphere at a rapid rate.

The ozone layer filters out the dangerous ultraviolet light rays. Depletion of this ozone filter would lead to enormous increases in skin cancer, some scientists report, plus worldwide destruction of crops, and major changes in weather and climate conditions around the world.

Bullard says his bill and other moritorium actions would be strongly opposed by the corporations which produce and use the gas in their products.

"They claim the evidence isn't all in yet. However, the problem is that scientists say by the time the evidence is conclusive, if they are right and the current rate of production has continued, it will be too late to prevent the disasterous effects.

"For example, a worldwide increase in skin cancer of possibly 15 to 20 per cent would be expected.

"This is a clear case of the public interest being opposed by the corporate interest in more profits and it is past time for us to start putting people above profits in our priority system."

The bill has been referred to the House Committee on Conservation and Recreation.

IN A RELATED action in Michigan, the Clean Air Movement (CAM) has announced in Detroit a call for a boycott by consumers of spray cans and other products so as to reduce the market demand and thus the production of Freon.

Bullard urges concerned persons to contact CAM at POB 05036 for ways to help in the contact.

Similar legislative action is being considered in other states — notably New York where the attorney general's consumer division is looking into the possibility of sponsoring state legislation.

On the national level, the Natural Resources Defense Council (a private group of 13,000 members) has filed a petition with the federal Consumer Products Safety Commission asking for a national ban on spray cans which use Freon.

33 initiates join PTK

Membership in this national honorary society for two-year colleges is the highest academic award a student can achieve. New members are selected by a faculty committee. To qualify, students must have completed two fulltime semesters and maintained a minimum 3.0 grade point average.

From Plymouth: Laura Macqueen, George Mainville and Gary A. Wiener.

Also: Jeffrey Kobman of Farmington, Fred Stanton of Dearborn, and Denise Luze, Rosemarie Stellini, Cynthia Weber and Jerome Westerman of Detroit.

Administrators, faculty, students and parents were present in the Waterman Center to observe the intiates being sworn in by present Phi Theta Kappa members Kent Lawless, Kathy Wilson and Margaret Chatham.

Dr. Robert Keene, vice-president for instructional affairs, was also present to congratulate the initiates and welcome them into the Schoolcraft chapter.

Sign language is new class

A course on learning the sign language of the deaf and hard of hearing is being offered by Madonna College, Livonia, beginning in the winter term.

"Manual Communication: American Sign Language" will be offered for four semester hours of credit or on a non-credit basis beginning Jan. 8. Students can receive credit in speech or special education.

Cost for the credit course will be $35 per credit hour plus fees and $35 non-credit for the entire course.

Registration is now under way for the course to be cosponsored by Madonna and the Detroit Hearing and Speech Center. The course, which will help others understand the language of the deaf, will be on Monday and Thursday from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Cash film

"The Gospel Road," a film produced by Johhny Cash and his wife, June Carter Cash, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 8 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 20805 Middle Belt, at the corner of Eight Mile in Farmington.

The movie is a blend of scripture-based narrative, specially written songs and a series of character portrayals.

Q. With words like "inflation" around, do words like "luxury, performance, and economy" mean anything?

These days the word luxury is almost as inflated as the dollar. The fact is, the Audi 100LS actually is a luxury car at a reasonable price. Because of German engineering and craftmanship the Audi handles easily and rides smoothly.

It's luxury because of the orthopedically designed seats that help prevent fatigue. And because of the legroom and headroom for a person well over 6 feet.

It's economy, 24 miles to the gallon*

"Luxury, performance and economy," in times like these?

The answer is Audi

Malpractice settlements drive out doctors

R. T. Thompson writes

Thousands of ailing persons in southeastern Michigan may find it impossible to find a doctor within a year and perhaps sooner unless major steps are taken to ease the pressures caused by the medical malpractice lawsuits.

More and more doctors are finding the constant threat of a malpractice suit hanging over their heads a bit more than they care to bargain with.

The only answer to the situation, which has mushroomed to astronomical proportions in recent months due to huge payoffs ordered by courts and juries after lengthy, costly trials, is to hike the malpractice insurance premiums. Practically every doctor faced with this prospect very candidly admits he can't afford the costs and can't afford not to have insurance.

Therefore, he has to drop out of private practice to less risky fields, one where he has protection provided by large corporations or by forming groups of doctors who have large enough and lucrative enough practices to share the costs.

DISCUSSING THE SITUATION with a few doctors at a Livonia hospital recently, we discovered that many in the specialty fields believe the premiums will go as high as $30,000 to $50,000 if lawsuits are decided in favor of the patient.

And when that day comes -- and many think it isn't far away -- then doctors have only two alternatives...hike fees to cover the costs of the insurance or drop out of private practice.

If the latter happens, then area hospitals are going to find themselves in a real bind for top specialists. Most certainly there will be well trained MDs available, but they won't be able to practice due to the high costs of operation.

This was brought to mind in a convincing manner a few days ago when we visited a large General Motors complex in the Livonia area and learned a neuro-surgeon had been hired as the plant medical doctor.

Imagine a highly skilled, highly trained person with all of the knowledge of this doctor handling cut fingers and legs and similar accidents. Imagine what a loss it is to some hospital, which has been trying for months to induce a neuro-surgeon to join its staff, to learn such a man is available but can't afford to go into private practice because he can't afford the costs of malpractice insurance.

THERE WAS AN incident a few weeks back where a teener from the Flint area suffered critical head injuries in an accident. None of the neuro-surgeons in that area would examine him, and he had to be rushed to one of the hospitals in the Ann Arbor area.

He died within hours of admission and probably wouldn't have survived had he been treated in Flint. Reports from there were that no doctor cared to handle the case because of the possibility of a malpractice suit. It seems that several have been burned lately, and none wanted to become a new possibility.

The crisis worsened recently when Shelby Mutual Insurance Co. announced it would stop providing medical malpractice insurance to some 2,000 generally high-risk Michigan physicians during the next three years.

More than half of the 2,000 surgeons and specialists reside in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Genessee counties. These are the doctors most frequently sued and few of the state's other insurance companies have been willing to sell them policies.

It is reported that those who can get insurance from other firms, are finding their $5,000 annual premiums increased to $20,000. Only a scant few would continue practicing without adequate insurance. Very few could continue practice without increasing fees to patients to take care of the higher premiums.

"MEDICAL MALPRACTICE" is when a doctor injures his patient through negligence. Although doctors are humans just as you and I, the majority of patients and their families believe he is like God and can't make a mistake.

Of course this is not true. A doctor is trying to the best of his ability to cure the patient, to mend his injuries and wounds and to get him back to normal as quickly as possible. But oftentimes, things don't work out that way, and the doctor takes all the blame. He is the marked man...the one to accuse of malpractice and take into court.

Forgotten entirely are the hundreds of others he has brought through serious situations and returned to normal life. He is accused of making a mistake, and too often recently juries have ruled in favor of the plaintiff. Some verdicts have been for hundreds of thousands of dollars, and up goes the cost of malpractice insurance.

The doctors are scared, the insurance companies don't feel they can continue making large financial settlements and want to raise the rates so high the doctors can't pay.

That's the situation we are in right now, and it's going to get worse. We wonder how long it will be before doctors start leaving private practice. It means hospitals will be understaffed; top surgeons and specialists will take more comfortable posts with large industrial plants.

It's something that should have the attention of the medical associations, the insurance companies and the State Legislature immediately. It's a problem that can't wait too long for an answer or the sick and ailing in every nook and corner of this state are going to suffer even more.

editorial opinion

Fred DeLano writes

You may not notice it but we change

Within only a few weeks, it will be just 14 years since the then newly appointed public relations director of the Detroit Race Course suggested to the track's hierarchy that the 1961 thoroughbred racing season be given the added opening day fanfare of a parade through downtown Livonia.

"Good thinking," mocked the DRC president and the general manager and the Lansing lobbyist. "And after you've set it up with all your bands, floats and public officials, let us know what you call downtown Livonia. You'll be the only one who knows."

ONLY ONE WEEK ago, this same idea guy was thinking out loud at the dinner table, suggesting that in only the last six years since the clan had moved into its home in Plymouth many changes in the face of the community had crept into being, so silently as to be mainly overlooked.

"My goodness, how you've grown," said a doting aunt of the lithe lass who outreached her for a turkey drumstick. What she didn't realize was that her words had far greater meaning, if one chose to apply them beyond the walls of a single abode.

Some of us who report and edit the ongoing input of suburbia frequently make light of the fact that in our several sectors there are some civic debates which seem to go on ad infinitum without decisions, thus establishing ready-made issues on which our grandchildren can take their political stands.

But all about us new things are under way—some of them sociological, but most of them physically apparent if only we would take the time to see them.

THE BEST EYES to examine a community are those of a former resident who hasn't been back in the old home town for at least 10 years, preferably at least 20. In brief, someone who moved away from Livonia, Plymouth, Redford Township, Westland (then Nankin Township) or Garden City as early as 1954.

After he has asked of his old buddies, "What's new?" and has been answered, "Aw, nothin' much," his eyes will move around, inquisitively asking, "Where's this, where's that, where are those?" And of course, you, who were there all the time, will hedge a bit and confess that you really didn't pay much attention; it all seemed so slow.

"You can't go back," they say—and many of your elders who have sought to recapture a moment from the past will tell you it's true. But please don't ignore the even so slight changes that today has brought. Accumulatively, they are your tomorrow.

Housewives' salaries: A modest play proposal

Tim Richard writes

I have this terrific idea for a drama. Trouble is, I'll never have time to write it. So I'm passing on the idea, free of charge, to anyone who wants it.

It's like that terrific idea I had for a novel of suburban lust and passion to be entitled "Hot Wind over Livonia." That never got written either, but the royalties and movie rights should be worth a million bucks to anyone who can write the novel to fit the title.

Anyway, my idea for a drama was inspired by that Greek play "Lysistrata" about the women who opposed war and who (hrrumph!) withheld their favors from their husbands until the men quit fighting.

IN MY DRAMA, the housewives of Communityville get inspired by this women's liberation thing. They figure they have low self-images and no power because they don't get paid. So they demand salaries.

Now, there's a federal government study which shows a housewife is worth $162 a week for basic household services—cooking, cleaning, and like that. But the liberationists figure they're worth even more as professionals—dietitian, interior decorator, child psychologist, tutor, barmaid, fashion coordinator...you've heard the litany, I'm sure.

The housewives bring up their demand for both basic and professional salaries at a public meeting, and lo and behold! the men agree to pay.

THERE IS, of course, a catch, and it comes in the second act. The catch is that the men are going to apply the same job performance standards on the wives that their bosses apply to the men at work.

All wives will undergo a 90-day probation period; if "things just don't work out," the wife can be summarily fired. No divorce, no annulment, no alimony. She's fired.

If the meals aren't good—if there are spots on the gentleman's beer stein—if the colors in the house are bilious—if the kids do poorly in school, the wife can miss out on promotions in class, be demoted, have her salary cut, be suspended or be fired.

And none of this "Oh, no, I have a headache" stuff. If a man has to be on the job every day, the housewife has to be performing all the time, too. And if the housewife can't measure up to the standards of "The Sensuous Woman," she's in the same kind of trouble as the man who falls behind on the assembly line or doesn't make his sales quota.

And if the wife wants a new sofa for the living room, she's got to prepare an elaborate cost-benefit analysis, or else the purchasing department (the husband) says no dice.

How's that for the plot of a drama?

MY PROBLEM is that I don't know how to end it.

One version is for the women to give up and ask to go back to the old method. The leader of the wives would make a humble speech like Kate's in the final scene of "Taming of the Shrew."

In the other version, the system actually works, and there is a marked improvement in the quality of housewives to the great benefit of domestic relations.

I don't know which ending to pick. Either way, I'm in a helluva lot of trouble with a helluva lot of people.

It doesn't matter because I'll never write the play. Even if I hit the million dollar lottery and could retire at 39, I'd use my copious free time to write cello and banjo sonatas, not political dramas.

Being snowbound brings out best

No more will we have to sit back and listen to stories of the big snowstorms "way back when" as told by uncles and aunts, mothers and fathers.

We are still struggling to get out of the throes of the granddaddy of this century and know what our grandparents meant when they told of being snowbound for four and five days in the good old times of country roads, country living, sleighs pulled by horses and very few automobiles.

We can doff our hats to the various road crews for an excellent job under trying conditions, but this time the elements had the upper hand.

DURING CRISES like this, there are always things that come to your attention and make this a wonderful world to live in. We know how hard and long the road crews worked to get the major roads open again. We know because the television screen showed the progress of the workers.

But the most wonderful thing is the way neighbors join together to make things easier for all...the way they help dig out those who are ailing and ill and thus unable to as much as lift a snow shovel let alone get out and use it...the way they open up driveways so that a neighbor across the road could back all the way across into their drive before making a turn to go up the road.

Then there are those communities where the crews always take pride in getting the streets cleared as quickly as possible. Such as Plymouth where traffic was moving Monday morning and in Livonia where many sidestreets were cleared and passable by Monday afternoon.

We're glad that a community or group of communities has to face an emergency such as this. It brings out the best in most of us, the worst in some, but makes all of us realize there's a heck of a lot to be gained by lending a helping hand.

Sense And Nonsense

The announcers on short-staffed radio stations did long and yeoman service during the recent snowstorm, but occasionally it got the better of them. One broadcaster announced that a college's exams would be held a few days later — "some time, some place. . .Er, make that same time, same place."

Don't judge a name or car

Have you ever noticed that when a person mentions the name of a boy or girl, you visualize how the person looks in terms of other people with the same name?

When you think of the Nancys, Johns, Sheilas and Harrys, each one becomes the personification of a person you know by that name.

Sometimes it is a great shock to finally meet the person because all along you have fantasized what that person looks like in terms of your name association.

I REMEMBER WHEN our first child was expected, its first name was going to either Linda, if a girl, or Michael if a boy.

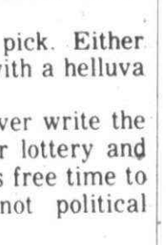

It turned out that the first progeny was a girl with a head of thick black hair. Lindas are supposed to have blond hair and blue eyes, so out of the blue our first child became Patti.

I think this same association syndrome is true of automobiles.

There is a great buyer loyalty in America. People seem to buy the same type of car year after year, so that you have a tendency to associate certain types of cars with specific people.

If a friend happens to have a distinctive car such as a little red sports car, every time you see a little red sports car tooling down the street you tend to look to see if your friend is driving it.

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

Sometimes it's very disappointing to find that a person completely opposite from what you expect driving the car.

A LIST AT the back of the dictionary gives the meaning of names. Nancy means "grace," but there are some large and clumsy Nancys, so that your visual image of a name usually varies tremendously from its definition.

Cars are the same. Have you ever noticed that usually the smaller the car, the larger the person who drives it?

Association is a quick way to make a judgment without really having to think about it.

Because it has no relationship to fact, as we have seen, people who rely on "association" very often end up being wrong.

Livonia schools stress basics, collegian finds

EDITOR:

As a new member of the community and a future teacher who is now working on certification, I would like to take a moment and acknowledge the Livonia School District which is dedicated to the basic principles of learning and helping.

There were times when I floundered in my projects because I could not find what was desperately needed to finish the work. There were times when a simple answer was hard to come by. There were times when the other communities closed their doors without explanations.

With the help of the school board, members of instructional centers and administrators, teachers and students, I have found a school district that truly gives of itself. There is a dedication in their endeavor to provide knowledge in all forms to all who seek.

Feed all the hungry

EDITOR:

If we do not stop from time to time to remove the barnacles of life that attach themselves to our consciences, soon they harden and are next to impossible to remove.

This might explain why so many leaders from affluent countries can shake their heads, say it is a shame that so many human beings are starving in South America, Africa and India, then walk away planning their own Thanksgivings and Christmases.

I think the saddest comment I heard was made by an American representative at the recent World Food Counference in Rome. This individual's biggest worry was that the other countries, such as the USSR, would not give their shares! If the USSR or some other country does not give what they are able, that is their disgrace.

One of the more frequently used arguments for not feeding the hungry of other nations is that we should "take care of our own first." Why should people be classified as "our own" and "their own"? We all belong to the human race.

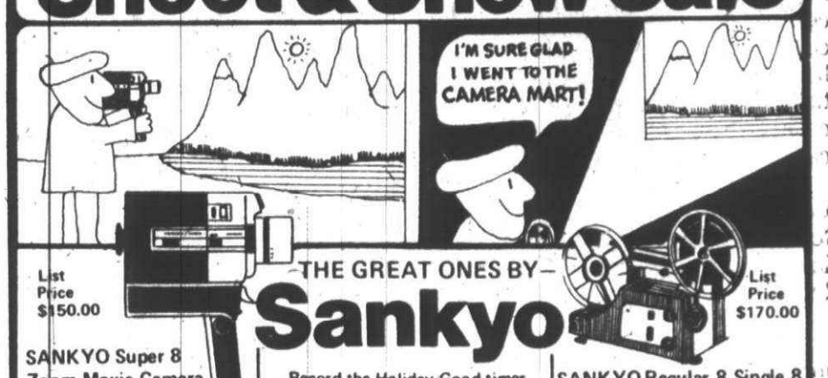

If by chance a picture of an American Indian child on a reservation in our country were shown in a newspaper, and if this child were skin and bones with a hunger-bloated stomach, someone would see to it that the child was placed in a hospital whether the parents had the finances to pay for the child's care or not. This is as it should be. Though not always adequate, dozens of charitable institutions and agencies are available to the needy in our country.

If a similar African child were pictured in an African newspaper, nothing could be done because there are thousands of such cases. My point is that, on a scale of real need, our fellow human beings in foreign countries cry out to us for life.

The Stroller

The Goodfellow tradition

By W.W. EDGAR

One evening more than a half century ago, Burt Thomas, one of the leading cartoonists of his time, was sitting at his desk in the Detroit News building groping for an idea.

Like many of his profession, he was hard pressed at times to come up with a suitable cartoon each day and he sat there letting a thousand thoughts go through his mind.

Outside the wind was howling and the icy blasts from the north made life miserable on Lafayette Boulevard, and especially that part of newspaper row that was home to the News and The Detroit Free Press. It was in this short stretch of Lafayette that the young and old newsboys came for their papers and began their sales. But on a night such as this they were a sad sight.

And while the wind was howling, Burt Thomas sat there, virtually "doodling," as he explained several times. Suddenly, the thought and the sight of the young news hawks trying to seli their wares on the various corners gripped him.

In no time he outlined a cartoon in which a young tattered newsboy was hailing a well-to-do gent, walking along with packages (possibly Christmas gifts) asking him to buy a paper.

Little did Burt Thomas think at the time when the cartoon appeared in the Detroit News that it would inspire a heartwarming act of charity and a tradition that has lived through the years.

But that is exactly what happened.

One of the men who saw the cartoon, little Jimmy Brady, himself a former newsboy, conceived the idea that it would be a great thing if the former newsboys would take over their old corners again, relive some of the days of their youth, and sell papers for charity—one day each year.

With this idea he organized the Old Newsboys and they gladly agreed to carry on with the slogan "No Kiddie Without A Christmas." Came the day of the gale and what a sight it was to see some of these former newsboys, now grown men, in all walks of life, standing at their favorite corners in downtown "selling" their papers again.

Nothing like it ever had been attempted before, and right there was born the tradition of the Old Newboys and the annual "Goodfellow editions" of the newspapers.

The early sales were a bit different than those of today in that each of the old newsboys (doctors, lawyers, judges, business and industrial leaders) had their own followers and these groups came back to their former newsboy to make the purchase in the name of charity.

For instance, Al Day, a druggist who was one of the area's best boxing referees, handled the corner of State and Griswold Streets, and the sports groups drove for miles to help him boost the fund. It was a common sight to see Frank Navin, owner of the Detroit Tigers, and Jack Adams, general manager of the Detroit Red Wings, come to the corner along with many of their players. Newpapers sent special reporters to cover the corner, both with the printed word and pictures.

Sports Corner became a real tradition. When Al Day moved on to his reward, "Spike" Briggs, son of the late Tiger owner, and Judge John P. Scallen, took over. What a job these fellows did for charity!

Herman Leiberman, the veteran tobacconist, took over at the corner of Woodward and Michigan where the former Majestic Building stood. He too became one of the real traditions of the day.

So strong had this tradition become that when the rush came from the city to the suburbs, the Goodfellows came with them and every township and city in the metropolitan area now has a Goodfellow paper sale with the slogan, "No Kiddie Without A Christmas."

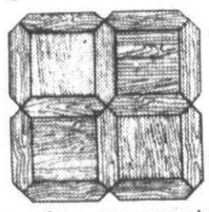

Livonia was one of the first to pick up the tradition with the organization of a Goodfellows group in 1937. Then, one by one, the others followed.

The old newsboys of the early days are gone now. In their places have come the firemen and police of the various communities to conduct the sale.

Overcrowding increases

State asked for jail funds

The chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has urged the new leaders of the Michigan Legislature to approve his request for a loan to finance new jail facilities.

Robert E. FitzPatrick made his plea by letter as the crime rate, increasing in tandem with the unemployment rate, sent the prisoner-population of the Wayne County Jail soaring.

His letter went out on the eve of a meeting at which a three-judge circuit court panel demanded to know what was being done to bring the jail population in line with the 799-prisoner limit set by the panel in 1971.

IN RECENT MONTHS, the jail population has risen into the 800s and 900s.

FitzPatrick emphasized that the entire $29.8 million loan sought for jail construction wouldn't be needed in a lump sum.

This was in response to a reported feeling among key legislators that the requested loan couldn't be made because the state will lose $200 million in revenue due to repeal of the sales tax on food and prescription medicines.

FitzPatrick cited a loan schedule presented to the House and Senate appropriations committees last July by Dr. John Dempsey, Gov. Milliken's urban affairs specialist.

The schedule calls for an outlay of only $971,250 this fiscal year and $1.7 million for the state fiscal year starting July 1. Those funds would be repaid within 12 months.

The major state outlays would come in 1976-77 and 1977-78, with $12.5 million being required in each of those two fiscal years. A final advance of some $2.1 million would be needed in 1978.

The county would repay the total amount plus interest by Jan. 1, 1981.

His letter went to the four men who, by vote of their colleagues, will lead their parties in the House and Senate after Jan. 1.

These are Reps. Bobby D. Crim (D-Davison) and Dennis O. Cawthorne (R-Manistee). House majority and minority leaders, respectively, and Sens. William B. Fitzgerald (D-Detroit) and Robert W. Davis (R-Gaylord), Senate majority and minority leaders, respectively.

FitzPatrick proposed the state loan last year. A majority of voters turned down proposed jail millage in 1972.

The money would finance additional jail facilities for 350 prisoners in downtown Detroit and a 400-inmate facility in western Wayne County.

FitzPatrick notes the recent suicide of a Dearborn youth, 17, who was being held in the overcrowded jail while awaiting state psychiatric examination.

"There are no funds available for jail construction in the normal flow of revenues from county tax funds," FitzPatrick declared in his letter. "Therefore, in order to meet this compelling need, we appeal to you and to the State Legislature to arrange for the advance of the required funds."

THE LOAN would be repaid from payments due the county from Detroit for a county water treatment plant which the city purchased, and from revenues made available by the anticipated state takeover of the costs of court probation services.

In meeting with FitzPatrick and other county officials, the panel of circuit judges requested that a number of possible approaches be explored with a view toward reducing the present jail population.

The panel - judges Victor J. Baum, John D. O'Hair and Richard M. Maher -- said they would ask the Michigan Supreme Court immediately to review bail bonds of prisoners awaiting trial in Detroit Recorder's Court, the source of most of the jail's population.

In meeting with FitzPatrick and other county officials, the panel of circuit judges requested that a number of possible approaches be explored with a view toward reducing the present jail population.

The panel—judges Victor J. Baum, John D. O'Hair and Richard M. Maher—said they would ask the Michigan Supreme Court immediately to review bail bonds of prisoners awaiting trial in Detroit Recorder's Court, the source of most of the jail's population.

Presiding Recorder's Court Judge George W. Crockett Jr. cites bonding practices of some of his fellow recorder's judges as a major cause of jail overcrowding. He advocated wider use of personal bonds which don't require that any cash be put up, rather than surety bonds.

PARTICIPANTS IN the meeting with the panel of judges said there is a conflict between Crockett and some of his fellow judges on the matter.

Richard T. Kelly, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Auditors, urged defendants be brought to trial more quickly to reduce the jail population. The jail population consists mainly of persons awaiting trial.

The judicial panel asked county officials to inspect, and report back on the feasibility of using as jail facilities, the vacant former Oakland County jail and vacant psychiatric buildings at Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

Sheriff William Lucas told the panel he felt it would be more humane to have prisoners sleeping on floors in the Wayne County Jail than housed in the Oakland County jail.

The 799 limit on prisoners was set by the judicial panel after the panel ruled in favor of a suit brought against the county on behalf of a number of jail inmates. The suit charged the rights of the inmates were being violated by the crowded conditions and structural shortcomings of the jail.

In meeting informally with the county officials, the judicial panel adjourned a hearing at which the officials were to show cause why they shouldn't be held in contempt of court for exceeding the limit.

Engineering aptitude tests slated at SC

Special engineering aptitude tests will be given on the second floor of the Waterman Center, Schoolcraft College on Haggerty north of Six Mile at 8 a.m. on Jan. 18 and Feb. 22.

Applications are available from Paul N. Rick, 41336 Crestwood Drive, Plymouth, and should be returned no later than Dec. 18.

With the supply of engineering students expected to fall short of demand for the next few years, says Rick, now could well be the time to consider a career in engineering.

C. P. Clements, chairman of the engineering preparation committee of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers (MSPE), says the job market for current engineering graduates is bright in spite of current trends.

The overall sagging job market presents a challenge to continue to increase engineering enrollment of highly qualified students, Clements adds.

Thus, to promote engineering as a career for pre-college young people, and to help them determine if they would find satisfaction as an engineer, MSPE and some of its local chapters are sponsoring the aptitude tests.

There is no charge for the test, says Clements, which is designed to help students make curriculum choices which could lead to a degree and future as an engineer.

Julian Bond set to speak at WCCC

Georgia State Legislator Julian Bond will be the second speaker in the Wayne County Community College 1974-75 Lecture Series at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 11 in the college's Rosary Center, 8551 Greenfield.

The lecture is open to the public and admission is $1.

Bond, an early civil rights leader, has announced his intention to run in several 1976 presidential primaries.

A former communications director of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) from 1961-1965, he was elected at the age of 25 to the Georgia House of Representatives.

Sky-high sugar changes habits for holiday cooks

By SHERRY KAHAN

The enticing smell of freshly-made cookies, cakes and candy that makes so many homes an aromatic paradise during the holiday season may be considerably diminished this year.

There's evidence of a hardened determination to stop buying sugar until the price stops pushing toward $3 for a five-pound package.

"Sugar I don't buy — period," said Irene Pearson of Westland, who won't be pulling the usual 150 cookies this year from her oven.

"I may try to bake a little using corn syrup or honey," she added. "We did this during World War II."

For the most part the other women interviewed felt they too, would try to cut out using sugar entirely or at least cut down considerably.

Many even felt a refreshing surge of power after their feeling of helplessness during the rise in the cost of gasoline. There are, after all a number of ways to counteract the rising price of sugar.

"IN OUR HOUSE we use artificial sweeteners," said Barbara Babcock of Redford Township. "We are using very little table sugar. Last year I made about 300 cookies during the holidays. But this year I'll make only 100 using sweeteners."

Most of the those questioned declared they felt they could afford to pay more money for sugar, but they were purposely boycotting it because of their indignation at the cost.

Some were changing their baking habits and seemed to be enjoying the challenge of finding recipes asking for less sugar.

"To have things taste really good you can't substitute or skimp," said Mrs. Fred Gennara of Livonia. "But you can choose your recipe carefully. I have a butter cookie recipe which uses one cup of sugar to four of flour."

Some had become convinced that price was not the only reason to stop buying sugar.

"It doesn't have any nutritional value," said Pat Cousins of Westland. "Giving it up will help a lot with dentist bills."

DEE CZACH OF GARDEN CITY differed with most of these women, maintaining that she will continue to use sugar "because it is important to have it."

"I used to buy 10 pounds every two weeks," she said. "I do a lot of baking and I make everything from scratch. The kids like to bake cookies and cup cakes for their lunches.

"I won't cut down on the Christmas cookies or the fudge because it means a lot to the kids. I'll just holler when I pay my bill. I hate paying that much but I wouldn't boycott it. Just because things cost more doesn't mean you should boycott them."

Mrs. Czach is compromising, however, to the extent that she now buys half as much sugar every shopping day, supplementing this artificially.

MRS. VIVIAN BRADBURN of Plymouth also hesitates to change her baking habits during the Yule season. "It wouldn't be Christmas if the kids didn't have cookies to make and cut out and decorate," she said. "We'll do that part at least."

Mary Papalardo, Livonia, also plans to keep baking this year "because if I didn't it wouldn't be Christmas."

"I do bake a lot of fruitcakes for my dearest friends and that is going to be a problem this year," she said.

Mrs. Papalardo has found a recipe for fluffy egg white frosting which uses two egg whites to three cups of corn syrup.

"We've started using honey in our house," she noted. "We still have desserts but they are the kinds that take less sugar, like cheese cake."

Diane Mallow of Plymouth said she is thinking twice about the amount of baking she is going to do. "But when you're planning to entertain, what can you serve?" she said. "More crackers and cheese, I guess."

Kathryn Miller of the same town is lucky. "I have a five-pound bag of sugar left over from when it was 87 cents a pound," she said. "We usually make seven or eight kinds of cookies and candy to give the neighbors but it will be less this year."

Mrs. Joan Engelhardt, another Plymouth resident, is also going to have to cut down on the number of cookies she bakes for her neighbors.

EILEEN REDDINGTON of Livonia has been dropping into bakery thrift shops where she has found decorated cookies that are not too expensive.

"I usually do a lot of baking, but this year I'll keep it low key," she said. "I'm going to use Sugar Twin chocolate chip recipe which uses three-fourths of a cup of Sugar Twin to a little over a cup of flour."

Another recipe was offered by Molly Krueger of Redford Township who is passing over recipes that call for sugar.

"I buy pound cake and cut it into four layers," she said. "Then I take mix instant pudding, Dream Whip and milk and frost all four layers. It comes out beautifully."

GERRY LIBLANG, also of Redford, used to bake about 200 cookies this time of year, some of which she sent to the office with her husband.

"This year I'm not going to because I think they've gotten out of hand with sugar," she said. "I feel that what I'm doing is a boycott and I feel strongly that it is the thing to do."

Barbara Babcock was one of several agreeing with her. "If enough of us refrain from buying, the price will come down," she said. "This is as good a way as any of protesting."

Mrs. Anthony Rosati of Westland also is boycotting and has "no intention of buying any sugar until the price becomes more reasonable."

Mrs. Pearson also hopes a boycott will do the trick. "It's a matter of everyone getting together and doing it," she said. "If no one bought for a while, the price would have to come down."

BONNIE CORNWELL of Garden City said she was following the advice of the Great Scott grocery chain when she began her boycott. "I wouldn't pay the price," she stated.

Nancy Sielski of the same city said a boycott "absolutely will have an effect."

"If no one buys sugar, it will just sit there," she said. "It will back up to the refinery and they will have to lower the price."

She didn't seem to regret not buying sugar. "This is a good way of breaking the sugar habit," she said. "We get enough of it in fruit."

The outcome of this informal boycott vs the steady price rise is uncertain, but a Plymouth woman voiced her own expectations, "I keep expecting sugar to be rationed."

AN UNCERTAIN CONSUMER speculates about whether to buy a bag of white gold. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

"I'm doing less baking this year--that's for sure. "Sugar is something we can get along without."

SALLY WALDENMYER of Livonia shows her daughter, Kerri, that sweetener doesn't have to come in a bag. (Staff photo by Sherry Kahan)

m.m.memos

The price of sugar is going to make a few inroads in our family's celebration of Christmas, but maybe not as many as changing life styles have done.

Christmas cookies have been part of the scene for all our family years, of course.

In Decembers past, we've made quantities of gingerbread men—I cut and the girls decorated—and batches and batches of shortbread, again heavy with decorations in red and green sugar, and rolled dozens and dozens of rum balls. Then always I've had to come up with a few recipes of refrigerator cookies to fill up the boxes we give away.

BUT ALL THIS has changed a bit over the years as time has shortened at holiday time and interests have widened and we've all counted our calories a little more closely.

"We'll cut back more on the cookie baking this year," I told the girls as we got together briefly at Thanksgiving. "Sugar just costs too much."

"No shortbread?"

Well, yes, we really couldn't do without that Scottish-style cookie that was made by my mother and her mother and the various ladies in and near our family for a lot of years.

We're still trying to turn out some shortbread that the man of our house rates as good as that baked by the best cook of former days. And anyway, shortbread takes only half a cup of sugar to a cup of butter and two cups of flour.

THE GIRLS FIGURED maybe we could cut back on sugary decorations. But then they insisted it wouldn't be Christmas without rum balls.

Well, maybe a few of them. They rely quite a bit on vanilla wafer crumbs and nuts and corn syrup and of course the alcoholic flavoring.

We hit it finally. We'd stop making gingerbread men.

I FIGURE two sisters-in-law who make candy more than cookies at Christmas have a problem much greater than mine.

And for them, as well as Christmas cookers all over the area, I pass on some advice from a university home economist that came to my desk this month.

She says you can cut down the amount of sugar in a cookie recipe and it may not brown as well but still will taste good. But don't tamper with the amount of sweet stuff in candy, she says, or you may have a whole batch fail. And be sure to use special recipes for artificial flavorings.

This holiday, it's indicated in the survey on this page, may be considerably less sugary. The evidence also is strong that it doesn't have to be any less sweet.

Family Yule party set by YW

The annual Christmas party at the Northwest YWCA, 25940 Grand River, Redford Township, will be held Sunday, Dec. 8 from 3 to 5 p.m. and will feature activities for the whole family.

Tree trimming for pre-schoolers is planned this year. That activity will go on in one part of the building, while in another section the rest of the visitors watch performances of "A Classical Christmas" by the ballet classes of the YW.

Also on the program will be Christmas caroling, the arrival of Santa Claus and refreshments.

The Christmas party, an event open to all in the community with no Y membership required, brings to a close the fall classes in the Northwest branch. Registration for new classes will begin the first week in January.

Mrs. Douglas Christiansen of Detroit is general chairman and her committee includes Mrs. Arnold Hanson of Livonia.

WWARC slates annual fair

Western Wayne Association for Retarded Children will sponsor its annual Christmas fair from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 6 and 7 at the WWARC building, 27250 Michigan, Inkster.

The fair will include homemade baked goods, a white elephant booth, boutique items, cake walk, coin and stamp collections and Christmas cards.

Garden City couple celebrate 50 years

MR. AND MRS. HENRY STELLER

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steller, Garden City residents since they built their home on Balmoral Avenue in 1927, will be honored at a golden wedding anniversary dinner reception at Roma Hall in Livonia Dec. 7.

On hand for the party will be the families of their three sons and daughter. The Stellers also have 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Henry and Maybelle Steller were married in Romulus on Christmas Day 1924.

Mr. Steller worked 45 years in the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Co., retiring nine years ago. During World War II Mrs. Steller worked for Industrial Wire Products in Wayne.

For many years, the couple owned and operated the Garden City Meat Market, located on Ford Road near Middle Belt.

Mr. Steller is a long-time Mason, having been affiliated with lodges in both Belleville and Garden City. One of his sons and his son-in-law also are Masons.

Women on the GO!

Two young women who first knew each other as Junior Girl Scouts now are leading their own troop of senior scouts.

"Because scouting can be so much fun" is the reason both Patricia Doherty, better known as Trish, and Carolyn Bamford, now Mrs. Richard Penderel, give for making time in tight schedules to lead a group of 20 girls.

Trish and Carolyn are leaders of Troop 1181, now officially a senior troop although about half its members are ninth-grade Cadettes.

It meets in the Doherty home in Redford Township every Tuesday evening, and the girls also have taken bike trips, hay rides and camping excursions and are hoping to make plans soon for some more extended traveling.

THAT'S WHAT their young leaders want, too.

"Our troop did a lot of traveling and camping," Carolyn said. "We went to Washington and to Chicago and to New York City and Cape Cod and Boston.

"We were lucky to have good leaders, and we hope we can pass on to these girls the benefits we've found in scouting."

CAROLYN AND TRISH both were brownie scouts, but not in the same troop. "Both our mothers were leaders," explained Trish.

But they got together in Junior Troop 2010, led by Mrs. William Wilson and Mrs. Donald Bamford, and stayed together in both scouting and in their schooling in the South Redford system.

"Our troop was 2010 all the way," Carolyn said. "The system is different now, but it used to be that the troop number stayed as the girls advanced through Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes and Seniors."

By MARGARET MILLER

THE TWO SCOUTS also had many classes together and used to double-date often during their years at Thurston High School and later at Wayne State University. As college students they were associate members of Troop 2010.

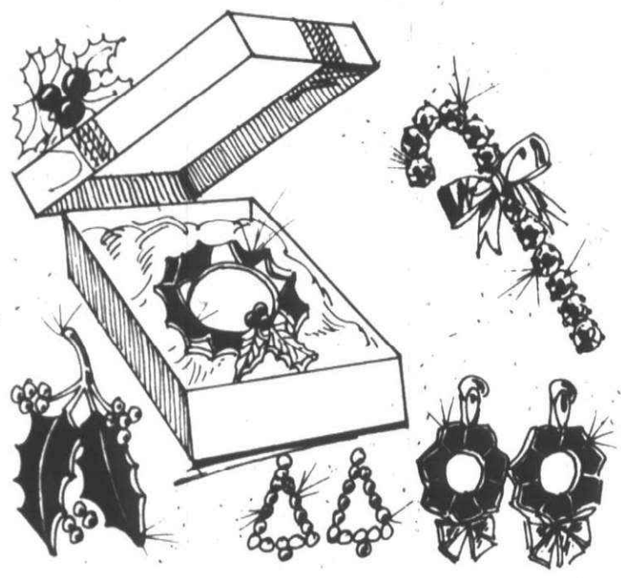

They graduated from WSU in 1973, Carolyn with a degree in pre-school education and Trish in medical technology. Carolyn and Richard Penderel, a Ford Motor Co. technician, were married last August and are living in Westland.

Until recently, Trish was working full time with long commuting necessary and taking evening classes three nights a week. She kept Tuesday evenings clear for Girl Scouts, though.

Recently, during a Court of Awards for Troop 1181, the two leaders received pins showing they've had 15 years of active scouting.

Both take considerable pride in the pins as symbols of an activity they consider both important and enjoyable.

And I know it's developing me while developing them."

Joyce Mazzoni is bride

MR. AND MRS. PERRY STEVE PAPPAS
(Joyce Anne Mazzoni)

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Mazzoni Sr. of Florence Street, Garden City, and is bridal consultant for Orin Jewelers in Garden City.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Eva Pappas of Fountain Boulevard, Westland, and the late Steve Pappas, is coowner of the American Book Center in Livonia.

Her gown was floor-length silk organza and satin with crystals and pearls on the lace trim. Her veil fell from a satin and lace cap and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis with an orchid in the center.

Caroline Bishop of San Pedro, Calif., was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a pink floral print jacket dress and carried pink roses and baby's breath.

The bridesmaids were Tina and Linda Mazzoni, both of Garden City and both sisters-in-law of the bride, Theresa Pavlich of Dearborn, the bride's cousin, and Carole Pappas of Wheaton, Ill., sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Gus Pappas of Westland assisted his brother as best man. The ushers were Milt Pappas of Wheaton, another brother, Orin Mazzoni Jr., and Mike Mazzoni, brothers of the bride, and Allen Bishop Sr. of San Pedro, the bride's brother-in-law.

The bridegroom's niece and nephew, Michele and Steve Pappas, served as junior bridesmaid and junior usher, and the bride's niece and nephew, Michelle and Allen Bishop, were flower girl and ring bearer.

After a reception for 500 guests in Roma Hall of Garden City, the couple spent a week in Acapulco. They are making their home in Westland.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD JAMES MARTIN
(Carol Ann Sherman)

Ronald Martins living in Redford

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald James Martin have a home on Norborne Avenue in Redford Township following their recent marriage in Redford Baptist Church.

Mrs. Martin is the former Carol Ann Sherman, daughter of Mrs. Bert W. Petsch of Howell. Mr. and Mrs. James Charles Martin are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Gordon H. Schroeder officiated, and the bride was given in marriage by a family friend, Vernon Walters of Pinkney.

Mrs. Sharon Woods of Benzonia was matron of honor and Vickie Peach of Brighton was bridesmaid. Both wore yellow print dresses with daisies in their hair.

Attending the bridegroom were Andrew Woods of Benzonia as best man and Chuck Mcdonald of Redford Township as groomsman.

Lawyer wives plan dance

The Lawyers Wives of Livonia, in conjunction with the Livonia Bar Association, will hold their annual dinner dance Saturday, Dec. 7 at Dun Rovin Golf Course, Livonia.

Cocktails will be served at 7:30 p.m. to be followed by dinner at 8 p.m. For further information contact Mrs. Wallace Green, 25853 Livingston Circle, Farmington Hills.

Andrews-Burleson

Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews of Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Janis, to Harry A. Burleson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Burleson, also of Plymouth. The bride-elect graduated from Plymouth High School in January 1974, and is employed by the American Community Insurance Co., located in Plymouth. Her fiance is a 1969 Plymouth High School graduate and employed by Tower Plaza in Ann Arbor. They plan a Dec. 14 wedding.

Thurston grads marry

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Saint of Inkster Road, Redford Township, announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Robin Lee Kushida, to Charles Koelbel III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Koebel of Appleton Avenue, Redford Township.

The rites were performed in Mayflower Congregational Church of Detroit, with a reception following in the church parlor.

The newlyweds are living in Ypsilanti, where the bridegroom is completing his senior year at Eastern Michigan University. The new Mrs. Koelbel is employed by Michigan National Bank. Both are 1968 graduates of Thurston High School.

Chapel is setting

The Martha-Mary chapel at Greenfield Village was the setting for the recent wedding of Debra Nunnery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nunnery of N. Territorial, Plymouth, and David Eberhart.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eberhart of Northville.

The Rev. Dale Miller of the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth officiated, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a white polyester and lace gown with venise lace trim on the yoke and flared sleeves. Lace also trimmed her veil, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and yellow roses.

Mrs. Ed Wall of Plymouth was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Cathy Nunnery and Carol Eberhart, sisters of the bridal pair. All wore hot pink gowns and carried white roses.

The best man was Jonathon Eberhart of Beaverton, Mich., brother of the bridegroom. Jim Shaw of Hartland, cousin of the bridegroom, and Walt Nunnery of Plymouth, the bride's brother.

A dinner reception for 200 in Lovett Hall, Greenfield Village, followed the candlelight rites. The couple went to northern Michigan for their honeymoon.

The new Mrs. Eberhart, a 1971 graduate of Plymouth High School, is a legal secretary for Draugelis, Ashton and Scully in Plymouth. Her husband graduated from Northville High School in 1966 and is a cement contractor.

(Debra Nunnery)

Diedrick-Regan

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Diedrick of South Harvey Street, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Pamela Jane, to Ensign Francis Weldon Regan of the U.S. Naval Reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Weldon Regan of Benton Harbor. The bride-elect is a senior at the University of Michigan and a member of Chi Omega sorority. Her fiance graduated in 1973 from U-M and is a naval officer based at Norfolk, Va. A June 21 wedding is planned.

Hutchings-Tworek

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Hutchings of Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Sheryl Lynn, to Richard M. Tworek, son of Mr. Jozef and Dr. Tiasja Tworek of Plymouth. The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Plymouth High School and is attending Schoolcraft College. She is employed as a nurse aide at Beyer Memorial Hospital. Her fiance also attended Plymouth High School and is a student at Eastern Michigan University. He is employed by Ford Motor Co. Their wedding date is Dec. 21.

Koehnke-Herter

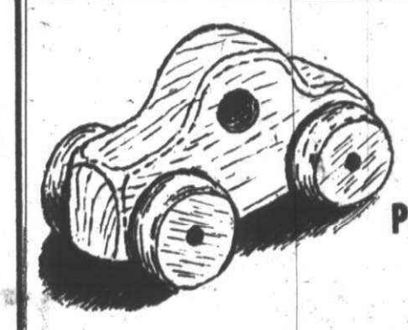

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Koehnke of Morgan Avenue, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Michele Marie, to Lawrence Edward Herter, son of Mrs. Carl R. Herter of Arthur Street, Plymouth, and the late Mr. Herter. Both are 1974 graduates of Plymouth-Salem High School. The bride-elect is employed as a cashier by Farmer Jack's supermarket and her fiance is serving in the U.S. Air Force, working in ground radial control and stationed at Keesler Air Force Base in Mississippi. They plan to be married Dec. 27.

Secretaries plan dinner

The judging and selection of the secretary of the year will be the highlight of the dinner of the Town and Country Chapter of the National Secretaries Association Tuesday, Dec. 10 in Dearborn Inn, 20301 Oakwood, Dearborn.

Gifts will also be presented to the Leukemia Foundation.

The social hours will start at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:15.

Feminists will speak in E. Lansing

Margaret Sloan, writer and founder of the National Black Feminist Organization, and Sylvia Roberts, attorney from Baton Rouge, will be featured speakers at the second statewide conference for women sponsored by the Michigan Women's Commission Saturday, Dec. 7 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

To be held at Kellogg Center on the Michigan State University Campus in East Lansing, the conference will have as its theme "Equality: Women and the Law."

Experts in a wide variety of areas will lead workshops on such subjects as Michigan's new rape law, insurance practices, laws on marriage and divorce, employment, education, adoption and special areas including mental health and problems of the female offender.

Ms. Sloan began her career of activism at the age of 14 when she worked with a Chicago organization to combat lead poisoning in homes on Chicago's west side.

Active in open housing marches, she later served as co-ordinator of the Hunger Task Force Team of Operation Breadbasket. She has had articles published in the New York Times and Ms. magazine and is writing a book on black feminism.

Ms. Sloan specializes in cases involving sex discrimination in employment and serves on the Twentieth Century Fund Foundation's task force on women in employment and as well as other organizations.

Franklin graduates take vows

St. Robert Bellarmine Church was the scene of the recent wedding which united Ann Patricia Galea and Lewis Harvey Daughtery III in matrimony, the Rev. Walter Lezuchowski officiating.

They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Galea of Livonia and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Harvey Daughtery Jr., of Westland.

The bride chose a gown of white silk organza and a fingertip lace mantilla. She carried white orchids, stephanotis, pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Best man was David Tabor of Westland. Brother of the bride Timothy Galea of Dearborn and Edward Hackman of Westland served as ushers.

Paul Arsenault married

MR. AND MRS. PAUL ARSENAULT
(Janice Kay O'Brien)

Paul John Arsenault, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Jean-Paul Arsenault of Grenada Avenue, Livonia, claimed Janice Kay O'Brien as his bride in a recent ceremony in Westphalia, Mich.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Brien of Westphalia. The Rev. James Schmitt officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory organza gown with a bodice of reembroidered lace and a cathedral train. A juliet cap held her long veil and she carried white fugi mums and roses.

Four attendants wore aqua jersey dresses and carried wicker baskets of autumn flowers. Sharon Ann O'Brien was maid of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were Marlene Cusin of Farmington, Carol Trombley of Satinaw and Beth Mowett of Ionia. Flower girl Dona Darin of Plymouth also wore blue.

Assisting the bridegroom were James Dillon of Livonia as best man and, as ushers, Denis Darin of Plymouth, a brother-in-law, William Hamilton II of Livonia and Jeff Flint of Warren.

After a reception in St. Mary Hall in Westphalia, the couple left for a Toronto honeymoon. They will live in Dearborn.

The bride is a graduate of Madonna College and a registered nurse at Mt. Carmel Hospital in Detroit. Her husband has a biology degree from the University of Michigan and is a student in Mt. Carmel's respiratory therapist program.

Carol Foley wed to Victor Corts

Carol Lynn Foley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Foley Jr. of Westfield Avenue, Livonia, became the bride of Victor LeRoy Corts, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Corts of Redford Township, in a recent ceremony in St. Damian Catholic Church, Westland.

Sue Zakrzewski of Southgate, maid of honor, wore a satin gown in a dusty rose shade and carried pink roses. Wearing pale turquoise satin and carrying white roses were bridesmaids Marie Foley, sister of the bride, and Patricia Foley of Crystal, Mich.

Dave Burrows of Battle Creek was best man. The ushers were Bill Corts, brother of the bridegroom, Dave Foley, brother of the bride, Tim Fox and Ernie Nanos.

The newlyweds both are 1974 graduates of Michigan State University.

They will make their home in Lindenwold, N.J., where the bride is employed as an assistant buyer by Gimbel's of Philadelphia and the bridegroom works for Mutual Life Insurance Co.

MR. AND MRS. VICTOR CORTS

ROBERT E. PASSAGE

Development center retiree is honored

Robert E. Passage, Livonia resident, is retiring this month after 18 years as chief engineer of the Wayne County Child Development Center power house.

He completes his work Dec. 6 and a party in his honor will be given Saturday, Dec. 7, in his home at 14096 Ellen Drive. Among those honoring him will be his wife, Marion, and daughters Rita Passage and Carolyn Kleinsmith, as well as Mrs. Kleinsmith's husband, Edgar, and their sons, Douglas, Jeffrey and Erik.

Mr. Passage became an employe of Wayne County in 1949 after serving in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Nursery pupils may register

Mt. Hope Cooperative Nursery, 30330 Schoolcraft, Livonia, is accepting applications for 4-year-olds. The pre-schoolers may be registered for a two-day morning session or a three-day afternoon session.

Interested parents may contact Mrs. Michael Harrison, 9610 Arden.

Newlyweds have home in Northville

Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Lyons are making their home in Northville following their recent marriage in Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church of Livonia.

Mrs. Lyons is the former Patricia Buckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Buckman of Livonia. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lyons of Westland are the bridegroom's parents.

Dr. Richard Dunkelberger officiated for the evening ceremony, and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

Her attendants wore yellow and orange flowered dresses and carried baskets of daisies and baby's breath. Lura Beynon of Detroit was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Jane Swanson of Manistee, Nancy Carey of Mt. Pleasant, Jane Sutfin of Alma and Sarah Lyons of Westland, sister of the bridegroom.

Doug Smith of Grand Rapids was best man. The ushers were Dave Buckman and John Lyons, brothers of the bridal pair, Rick VanderLind of Holland, Pat Welch and Pat Shelley of Livonia and Jeff Winne of Lansing.

The couple received guests at a Botsford Inn reception and went to San Francisco for their honeymoon.

Get Rid Of Gray Hair Some Of It Or All Of It
1st day 6th day 12th day 18th day
Time-lapse photographs show how gradual action of Lady Grecian Formula lets you control just how much gray you slowly get rid of - some of it or all of it.
WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (Special)—Thousands of women all over the country are discovering a remarkable new product specially developed and tested for women's hair. It not only takes the guesswork out of hair coloring but also eliminates the gray roots problem that has for years been a thorn in the side of all women who color their hair. Lady Grecian Formula is not a dark messy dye. It is a colorless liquid as easy to use as water. There is no mess, no complicated instructions, no strand tests, no clock watching. Simply brush Lady Grecian Formula through your hair every day and you will see the gray slowly 'fade away.' You are in complete control. You can get rid of as much gray as you want—some of it, or all of it. When your hair reaches just the lovely natural-looking color you want, weekly use thereafter is all that's necessary to keep your hair just the way you want it with no gray roots problem ever. Esch, Ford vote against GI aid veto Area U.S. Reps. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) and William Ford (D-Taylor) voted with the majority Dec. 3 to override the President's veto of a 22.7 per cent increase in most GI education benefits.

The congressmen cast their votes with 392 others to solidly block the President's denial of the benefits to seven million Vietnam-era and four million post-Korea veterans. Only 10 congressmen backed the veto.

In the Senate, Michigan's Robert Griffin was the only one to support the veto. Griffin, a long-time Gerald Ford supporter, is assistant Republican leader.

Neither Esch nor Ford were available Wednesday to comment on their votes. Esch represents the 2nd District which includes Livonia and Plymouth and Ford represents the 15th which includes Westland, Garden City and Canton Township.

The increased GI payments are retroactive to September and those veterans now enrolled in school will receive their checks this month. The first regular checks with the increase will go out Jan. 1, according to the Veterans Administration.

The bill extends eligibility from 36 to 45 months and increases monthly payments for fulltime institutional training from $220 to $270 for a single veteran; from $261 to $321 for a veteran with one dependent and from $298 to $336 with two dependents. The rate for each dependent over two is raised from $18 to $22.

A new $600-a-year loan program for veterans is also established for veterans who can't get help from other federal programs.

Verdict is inconclusive

The dispute over a 55 mph speed limit

By EMORY DANIELS

A definitive conclusion has yet to be reached on the impact of the 55 mph speed limit on the reduction of automobile injuries and fatalities.

The experts disagree and the statistics often tend to cloud the issues rather than lead toward consensus. Most agreed reduced speeds have had some effect, but many are unwilling to cite this as the major factor.

ONE SNARL in the statistical jungle is the most recent report of the Down River — Western Wayne Safety and Traffic Committee of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

An accident summary for the communities of Westland, Taylor, Ecorse, Allen Park and Lincoln Park shows a 19 per cent reduction in the persons injured to date in 1974 but a 57 per cent increase in fatalities.

There is a definite trend, which matches national traffic reports, of less severe accidents involving pedestrians and bicyclists.

Of the total 19 per cent decline in injuries for these selected communities, there was a 22 per cent decline in pedestrian injuries, a 10 per cent drop for bicyclists and a 20 per cent reduction for motorists.

Of the 57 per cent increase in fatalaties, 90 per cent were motorists and only 30 per cent pedestrians. There was only one bicyclist killed from January to September 1974.

THE STATE POLICE have cautioned against reaching the conclusion that the lower posted speeds are responsible for reduced fatalities and less severe injuries. This agency says more data should be compiled and studied before a scientific determination can be made.

State Police records show that traffic deaths in Michigan have shown reductions in each of the last 15 months compared with the same months a year earlier.

Factors affecting this reduction cited by State Police are the lowered speed limit, cost and availability of motor fuels, some decline in traffic volume, and a slowdown in some phases of the economy.

In October there were 177 traffic deaths in Michigan, 15 per cent less than the same month in 1973. The October deaths brought the 10-month accumulated toll to 1,522, or 20 per cent below the same period last year.

TRAFFIC ENGINEERS from the Highway Users Federation for Safety and Mobility, Washington, D.C., question the safety effects of 55 mph limits, claiming more attention should be given to the impact of travel, driving patterns, pedestrians and speed.

The federation argues, for instance, that fatal accidents are down almost as much on city streets (unaffected by the 55 mph law) as on higher speed rural roads that had posted speeds reduced to 55.

Furthermore, engineers argue, fatal accidents on under-55 rural roads are down 75 per cent as much as on over-55 rural roads.

Although speeds are below 1973 levels, the federation reports, most vehicles aren't going 55 mph. "They never did slow down to that speed," says John Jennrich of the federation, "even in early 1974 just after the federal law was passed, and now they're averaging at least two-to-four mph faster than in January when average speeds ranged from 55 to 60.

"Right now the bulk of the motorists — more than 70 per cent — are driving in the range of 55 to 65 mph. Despite the 55 mph signs and despite increase law enforcement, speeds are going back up."

This is indicated also by a national survey of speeds monitored by state highway patrols in early fall which showed averages ranging from 60 to 68 mph. There was found widespread speeding in the range of 60 to 65 mph but very little of the 70 to 80 mph speeds of 1973.

"There is no question speed is a factor in causing or increasing the saverity of accidents. But it is only one factor among many which affect what happens when driver, vehicle and roadway get together."

Engineers estimate at least 52 per cent of fatal accidents occur at speeds less than 55 mph. National Safety Council statistics show in 1973 only 25.2 per cent of the fatals involved vehicles driven "too fast or too fast for conditions."

TRAVEL VOLUMES are almost back up to 1973 levels, rising from much lower volumes earlier this year.

For the first eight months, volume was down 3.8 per cent from the same period in 1973. Cumulative travel for main rural roads, which would reflect recreational travel more accurately, was down 4.6 per cent. The figures, however, were down even more during the most critical driving times.

As an example, weekends are generally high-risk times for highway travel. Nationwide, 36 per cent of fatalities occur on Saturday or Sunday with extremely dangerous times being late Friday night, late Saturday afternoon and night, and early Sunday morning.

Translated into hours, this accounts for 8.3 per cent of the week. But 16.1 per cent of the fatalities occur during these times.

Therefore, engineers observe, a reduction in travel with its subsequent reduced exposure to accidents, could be expected to have a greater effect during weekends than any other time.

"And there's no question about travel being less during these crucial times," asserts Jennrich. An indicator is that in early 1974 long distance car travel on Interstate freeways was down as much as 40 per cent in some locations as compared to 1973 — and no location had a drop less than 20 per cent.

The biggest part of the drop was on weekends with travel on Saturdays and Sundays down about 50 per cent more than travel on weekdays.

IN 1973, pedestrian deaths accounted for almost 19 per cent of the total motor vehicle related deaths.

Although this category is unaffected by the change in speed laws, Jennrich argues, there has been a startling decrease in deaths during 1974.

The federal government reports for the first seven months pedestrian fatalities were down 24.7 per cent. Broken down, it was a 22.9 per cent drop in rural areas and 26 per cent in urban areas.

In brief, pedestrian deaths nationwide generally are running about one-fifth of total deaths. "If they're down by a quarter, that would contribute to a five per cent reduction of the total.

"The impact of pedestrian deaths on the total is a simple arithmetic calculation. In contrast, volume changes can have geometric effects on total traffic fatalities — a slight change in overall volume can have a whopping effect on deaths."

NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL, for example, reports that for five national holidays in 1971-73, travel was up four per cent while deaths rose 24 per cent.

Similarly, it is reasonable that small decreases in traffic volume — overall and during high-risk weekends — will correspond with proportionately greater decreases in traffic deaths.

"It is worth noting," observes Jennrich, "that traffic engineers have found more drivers are moving at about the same speed. During 1974 the number in what engineers call the 'pace' increased from less than 50 per cent to more than 70 per cent."

The pace, or general speed of traffic, is important because it is the 10 mph speed range driven by the greatest number. In this respect, the raw speed takes a back seat to the fact that most of the vehicles are moving uniformly at that pace speed.

Engineers believe the increased number of drivers in the pace is a significant factor in the greater reduction in rural fatal accidents involving two or more vehicles than in single-vehicle accidents.

With more drivers in the pace, there is less overtaking and passing. And when one car does pass another, the speed differential is less.

Jennrich concludes: "Although accidents have declined substantially since speeds were reduced, traffic volumes and patterns of travel have also changed.

"These changes and other factors — perhaps an immeasurable change in attitude — apparently have influenced traffic operations and, in combination with reduced speeds, resulted in safer roads."

BACK IN MICHIGAN, the Traffic Safety for Michigan agency is urging legislation which would assess penalty points for drivers ticketed for violating the 55 mph limit.

The legislature argued earlier that previous speed limits were set for safety reasons and drivers shouldn't be hit too hard for violating a lower limit set for gasoline conservation. State Police admit that a problem in enforcing the 55 mph limit is the absence of penalty points.

"The police comment bears out findings that the only traffic penalty drivers fear is loss of their license, to which penalty points contribute," says Jack Green, mananging director of the agency, "whereas fines present no serious problems to errant drivers.

"One problem facing Gov. Milliken is that some legislators want to junk the 55 mph limit immediately and would welcome opening the issue if the penalty point boost is presented to them."

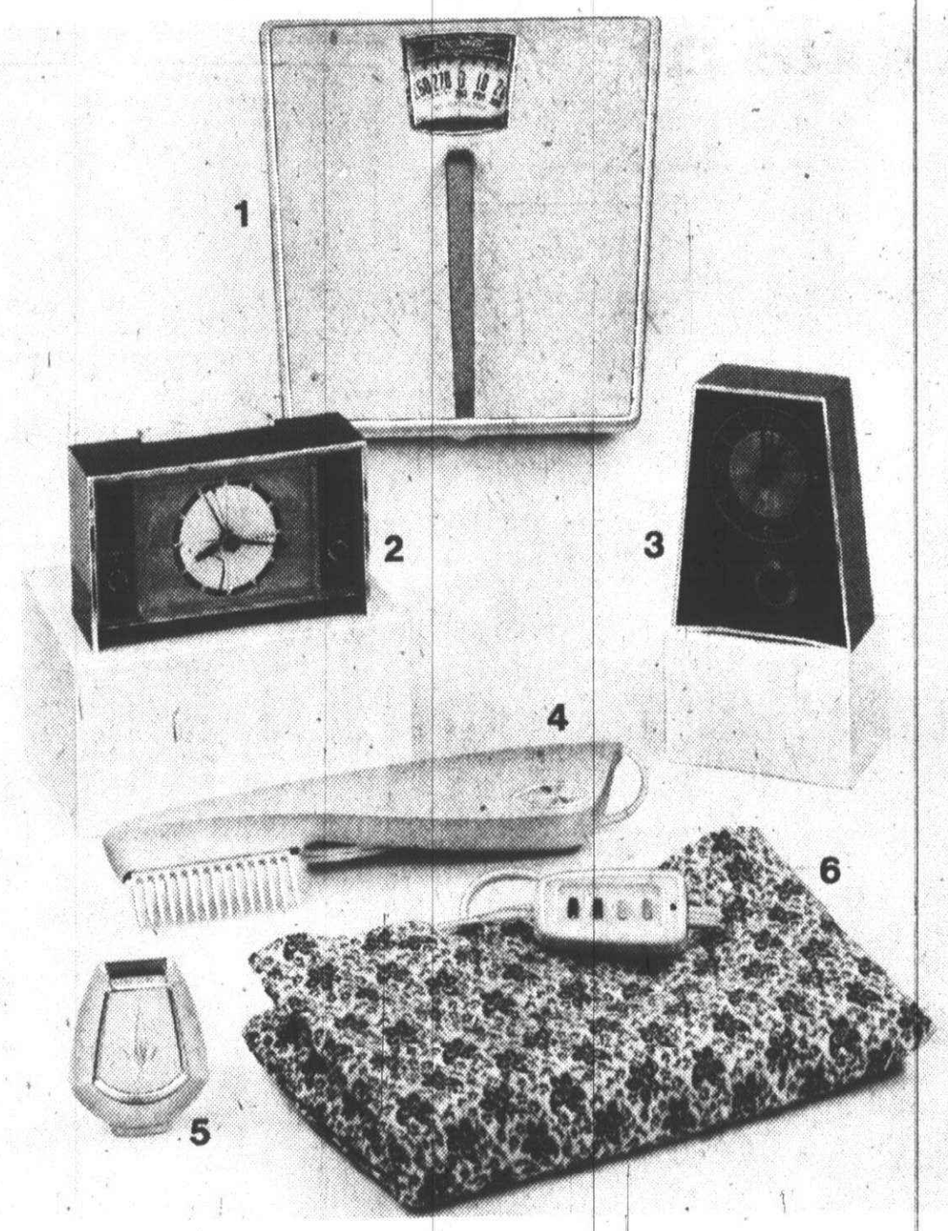

The argument remains unsettled but it may be decided during the 1975 terms of the Michigan Legislature or U.S. Congress.

Rev. Hodges new pastor of Norwayne

The Rev. Douglas N. Hodges has taken over leadership of the Norwayne Baptist Church, 32747 Grand Traverse, Westland.

He was installed Nov. 3 in a special service in which the Rev. John Sundquist, director of the southeastern area of American Baptist Churches of Michigan, delivered the installation sermon.

Presenting the charge to the congregation was the Rev. Joseph Bogar, director of the Michigan Baptist Home and a former interim pastor of Norwayne Baptist.

Rev. Hodges is a recent graduate of Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia.

While studying there, he founded and directed a successful coffee house for the Philadelphia area. He also has been involved in volunteer overseas church work.

Boar's Head Festival set for repeat in St. Paul

JOHN GAITHER (left) and Richard Roderick are among 200 members of St. Paul United Presbyterian Church planning to participate in the Boar's Head Festival Dec. 14 and 15.

The Boar's Head Festival and Feast, an old English pageant presented last year for the first time in St. Paul Presbyterian United Church of Livonia, is scheduled for a repeat performance Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 14 and 15.

Both days the ceremony will take place at 5 p.m. in the sanctuary of the church located at 27475 Five Mile and the dinner will be served at 6 p.m. in the church hall.

The Boar's Head and Yule Log ceremony probably is the oldest continuous festival of the Christmas season.

It was presented at least as early as 1340 at Queen's College, Oxford, England.

At St. Paul church, the pageant involves a cast of more than 200 church members under the direction of Klair Kissel.

There is no charge for the festival, but tickets should be reserved for the feast that follows. The price is $3 for adults and $2 for children, and reservations may be made by calling the church office.

St. Paul church is located a block west of Inkster Road.

UNICEF total

A total of $348.43 for UNICEF was collected by the youth fellowship groups of the Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church in their costume march the weekend before Halloween.

The figure represented a new record in the traditional effort.

Hospital asks help in feeding the sick, aged

In the process of organizing a program under which hot meals will be delivered to homebound aged or disabled individuals, Martin Place West Osteopathic Hospital, 19535 Schoolcraft, Detroit, needs volunteers.

"We are in need of volunteers who would be willing to donate their time, perhaps only one hour a week, to delivering hot meals at lunch time," said Mrs. Sarajane Beyer, social service director.

"They would work between 11:15 a.m. and 12:15 p.m.," she continued. "They would take two coolers, one hot and one cold, to the person's home and then remove the plastic containers with the food. The program is very small and probably there would be only two meals to deliver at a time."

Mrs. Beyer pointed out that the boundaries of the area they would serve are Beech Daly, Seven Mile, Joy and Meyers.

"As a social worker, I see examples of hospitalization of patients that could possibly have been avoided had they received proper nutrition," said Mrs. Beyer. "Meals for the homebound is an unmet need in our community."

Those interested in further information about this program may contact Mrs. Beyer at the hospital.

Church Bulletin

ST. MARY CHURCH OF LIVONIA, currently holding services in Mt. Hope Congregational Church on Schoolcraft, will hold a holiday bazaar in Bentley High School Saturday, Dec. 7, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

An array of Mid-Eastern food including baklava, ghirybee and sesame seed bread will be featured during the sale, and maurice salads and snack foods will be available.

For Christmas shoppers there will be holiday ornaments, crocheted items, stained glass art and decoupage, as well as a large variety of brass objects.

Proceeds from the sale will go to the church's fund, to build a new church home on the property recently purchased at 18100 Merriman, Livonia.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia, will present its 180-voice combined choirs in John Peterson's cantata "Joy to the World" Sunday, Dec. 8 at 7 p.m. Dr. Jerry Smith will direct the concert.

UNITY OF LIVONIA, 28660 Five Mile, will have a program presented by the children of its church school and youth groups Sunday, Dec. 8 at 4 p.m. The presentation, "What Child Is This?" will feature the Christmas story in verse, song, pictures and prayer, with members of the teen group giving insights into Christmas.

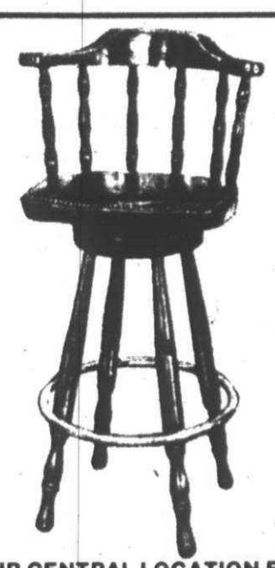

FAITH LUTHERAN CHURCH, 30000 Five Mile, Livonia, will install the Rev. David Hodgson as its associate pastor in a special service Sunday, Dec. 8 at 4 p.m.

MT. HOPE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, 30330 Schoolcraft, Livonia, has begun a Pioneer Girls Club for junior high girls.

The group meets Tuesdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. for Bible study, crafts, song fests and social times. Camping trips also are planned. Leaders of the group are Mrs. Jill Neal, Mrs. Margaret Moon and Mrs. Lynn Kneisel, and more information is available from Mrs. Cynthia Kelly, 6947 Moccasin, Westland.

New program on faith

OLGC offers GIFT

BY MARGARET MILLER

"The whole idea is to grow in faith, and the great thing is that you do it together,"

That's how the Rev. Kenneth MacKinnon, pastor of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth, views the GIFT program his parish has pioneered in the Detroit Archdiocese.

The letters in GIFT spell out Growth In Faith Together, and Fr. MacKinnon feels that since fall OLGC has accomplished a great deal of growth in three stages—research, reflection and response.

NOW IN PROGRESS is the last of these phases, a series of sessions with Catholic leaders in this area on the aspects of faith the parish has deemed most important.

The Most Rev. Walter Schoenherr, auxiliary bishop of Detroit, and the Rev. Anthony Kosnick of Orchard Lake Schools addressed parish meetings this week, and visitors on Dec. 11 and Dec. 12 will be the Rev. Robert Hurnitz, Archdiocese head of religious education, and the Rev. Patrick Cooney, head of the Archdiocese worship committee.

Each speaker is taking up a different topic from the list of 10 given top priority in the parish program that was in preparation in the first half of this year and put into action beginning in September.

GROWING IN FAITH Together is a program developed in the Baltimore area and adopted by the Plymouth parish.

"We saw it as an attempt to meet some of the questions that have been raised since Vatican II began to change the direction of the church," Fr. MacKinnon said.

"Some of these questions are put into words—people wonder, for example, about the different terminology their children are learning.

"Some are not voiced—in fact, they may be unrecognized until a program like this focuses thinking on matters of faith. So this project has given people a gracious vehicle for thinking about their faith, talking about it, voicing questions where they turn up and giving support to each other."

THE PASTOR EXPLAINED how GIFT has worked as put into motion in Our Lady of Good Counsel.

As a first step, seven parish leaders spent two days in Baltimore in June, undergoing intensive training with developers of the GIFT program. Parish members were informed of plans being made.

Then, in September, questionnaires went out to all Catholics in the area. They provided for computerized responses so parish members could agree, disagree, strongly agree or strongly disagree with 60 statements involving faith.

These dealt with topics like belief in God and life after death, evaluation of the spiritual value of the Bible, mass, sermons and sacraments, and questions like papal authority, abortion, birth control and marriage for Catholic clergy.

Those who answered indicated their age, sex and occupation and family status, so that the computer tabulation gives a quite complete picture of the beliefs parish members in all walks of life.

"AFTER PEOPLE started thinking about the various aspects of their faith," Fr. MacKinnon said, "we began the reflection phase of the program.

"This involved meetings in homes—about 50 of them—for discussion of the questions raised.

"I made it a point to get to many of these meetings, and it's been beautiful to see one parishioner help another resolve a problem—and to see the people in our parish who have a faith so strong that they can use it to help others."

THE RESPONSE PHASE of the program began with a meeting that drew some 500 members of the parish to vote on top priority questions.

That session involved reports from the reflection groups and then comments from people in the parish at large, then a vote.

Religious education, then adult education, then birth control were given top priority in the matters of concern, Fr. MacKinnon said.

Then came, in order of the number of votes received, church authority, Bible studies, liturgy-mass, homilies, penance, morality and conscience and social activities.

WHAT HAPPENS now that the GIFT program has been completed?

Definitely, says Fr. MacKinnon, programs of Our Lady of Good Counsel will be geared to reflect these top concerns.

But more important, he added, is the fact that "we came to grips with the idea that faith has to be reflected in the things that you do."

He said he expects more emphasis on community service, mission work, help in drug programs and other like matters "because we saw that these would be a way to get into the faith concept and develope the faith of our people."

"When you understand your faith better, and understand that questions about faith are good, then these other things will be easier," he added.

"I think that's how it's going to work out."

REV. KENNETH MacKINNON

Lutheran Singers concert set

The Detroit Lutheran Singers, a choral group of vocalistsfrom all over the metropolitan area, will present a Christmas concert Sunday, Dec. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in Redford Lutheran Church, 17129 Boosworth Court, near Grand River and Lahser, Detroit.

The 48 singers are directed by Eric Freidigman of Southfield, with Frank Kuhlman of Ann Arbor as accompanist.

The group includes Joyce Bigelow, Joyce Schack, Matthew Schack, Barbara Teachout, Darlene Hutchison and Stanley Wickman, all of Livonia, and Robert Hermann and Leon Beckendorf, both of Redford Township.

Included in the Dec. 8 program will be "In Dulci Jubilo" by Dietrich Buxtehude, "This Day a Child is Born," by the contemporary Berlin composer Heinz Werner Zimmermann, Anthony Vivaldi's "Credo," Benjamin Britten's "A Boy Was Born" and a West Indian spiritual, "The Virgin Mary Had a Baby Boy."

There is no charge for the concert, which will be open to the public. A free will offering will be taken.

You can sing along with 'The Messiah'

If you've ever sung in G.F. Handel's Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah," Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church of Livonia is inviting you to join in a "sing-along" presentation of the work Sunday, Dec. 8 at 7 p.m.

It sounds a little undignified, but that's what it is," said Mrs. Shirley Harden, the church's music director who will conduct the informal performance.

Mrs. Harden said members of any church choirs in the area or any interested persons in the community are invited to join in the singing in the sanctuary of the church located at West Chicago and Hubbard.

Part of the sanctuary also will be designated for those who want to just listen to the great choral works, she added.

"WE WANT THIS occasion to be a time for everyone to renew appreciation of the work," Mrs. Harden said.

The idea for the event came from the Edinborough Festival in Scotland last summer, Mrs. Harden said.

"I was attending the festival and went into a church where they were trying out an informal chorus like this. My companion and I went and joined in and I wouldn't have believed it would work out so well.

"With just 15 minutes' rehearsal to get signals straight everything went fine."

STEVEN SPOON will serve as organist for the unusual concert, and the soloists, most of them members of Rosedale Gardens church, will be sopranos Helen Thomas, Marilyn Hirtzel, Jane Suarez and Mary Morgan, contralto Joan Marshall, tenor William Dunphy and baritones Mahlon Kiscaden and William Elsey.

Those who want to sing may bring their own music, or the score may be rented for 35 cents.

Mrs. Harden said the chorus would not perform the total work—"that hardly ever is done"—but there would be selections from both parts of the oratorio.

"I really have no idea how the whole thing is going to work out, but I know I enjoyed this experience tremendously last summer and I hope people in the community will feel the same this Christmas season."

St. Agatha hosts entrance test

St. Agatha High School will serve as a test center for the Catholic High School Entrance Test at 9 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 14 at the school, Beech Daly at Pembroke between Grand River and Eight Mile Road.

Students from any school who wish to enter any Catholic high school, including St. Agatha, are eligible to take the test. Cost is $3. For more information contact the school office.

COME OUT AND SEE 2 EXECUTIVE HOMES WITH PRIVACY. Spaciousness is the key word in describing our quad-level home in Pine Knob Estates. All bedrooms are large and the roomy family-dining areas in kitchen are plenty big enough for your family. Meticulously kept, this home is carpeted and most drapes are included. Upstairs laundry room, oversized garage and a large, pine tree covered lot.

A four bedroom colonial is an ideal home for the young executive with a growing family. Family room with fireplace and formal dining. The whole family will enjoy the recreation room with built in stereo and padded bar. Both homes have too many extras to name. So come out Sunday and be our guest. Your hosts: John Hale, 338-1432; and Bill Paulson, 681-1641. Directions: I-75, Sashabaw Exit, right on Sashabaw to right on Clarkston Rd., left Coberfae, left on Stowe Trail. VILLAGE SOUND
IS HAVING ITS OWN PRICES
The people at VILLAGE SOUND are curious to know how the people who started the Hi-Fi price war expect to win when they have all the overhead to deal with like rent, and all those people who work there. Things which have to effect their prices. At VILLAGE SOUND we own our own building and have a highly effective 4 man staff, things which effect our prices.

GET DOUBLE EXPOSURE WITH DOUBLE ACTION FAMILY WANT ADS AND SAVE $2.00!!

A double exposure can ruin a photograph . . . but double exposure in The Observer & Eccentric Classified section can develop into a double quick response and a savings of $2.00.

Double Action Want Ads are family want ads placed in two consecutive issues — Monday and Thursday or Thursday and Monday — with no changes in copy and no cancellations. When you place a Double Action Family Want Ad you save $2.00 off the regular cost of placing an ad in two issues.

The Observer & Eccentric Classified Want Ad section focuses on more than 155,500 families in Oakland and Wayne Counties. This includes households in Birmingham, Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Canton Twp., Farmington, Farmington Hills, Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth, Redford Twp., Rochester, Avon Twp., Southfield, Troy, and Westland.

ACD

Have you called the Observer & Eccentric to place a classified ad, and gotten a "busy" signal? If you have, we're sorry. We don't like to keep our customers waiting. But it happens sometimes, because we do business with more than 155,500 families. That's why we installed a special Bell Telephone System. It's called the Automatic Call Distributor, and it's designed to promote smoother and faster handling of calls to the classified advertising department.

It means that when you contact us to place a classified ad, your call will automatically be directed to one of the 19 friendly advisors who handle classified ads for the 11 Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. The "A-C-D" system will put you in direct touch with an ad-taker who is available, allowing you to do business quickly and efficiently.

So -- be ready for prompt service, because our new telephone unit can handle up to 28 simultaneous calls. And, if you should happen to be caller number 29, the ACD will hold your call for a moment, and then give it to the first available ad-taker. The classified advertising numbers -- 522-0900 in Wayne County and 644-1070 in Oakland County -- will remain the same.

We like ACD, because it means that our classified service to you will be improved. When you have pets to sell or homes to rent, our ad-takers will now be able to reach you faster, and offer you the greatest possible courtesy and efficiency. With our new, high-speed equipment, we'll be able to meet the needs of special situations ... your needs ... when you're calling us. And that's what quality service is all about.

ACD...Helping us to help you.

7 at Diesel get certificates

Seven employes of General Motor's Detroit Diesel Division in Redford Township recently received the Schoolcraft College "Employe in Training Certificate of Achievement."

The certificates are awarded to employes who have successfully completed an average of 230 clock hours of related instruction.

Presentations were made by Thad Diebel, dean of applied sciences; Fernon Feenstra, director of technology, and Jerry Wale, apprenticeship coordinator.

Schoolcraft offers a program of related instruction for indentured apprentices who become journeymen upon completion of an approved program.

Approval is granted by the Joint Apprenticeship Council according to Department of Labor and Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training Standards.

Besides related instruction for apprentices, the college offers similar services to management and supervisory trainees, employes in training, self-employed persons, and the upgrading of journeymen and other tradesmen.

Metroparks open for winter sports

Two area Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority metroparks will offer facilities for winter recreation when freezing weather arrives.

Kensington Metropark near Milford and Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville have facilities for tobogganing, skating, sledding, cross-country skiing and winter self-guided hikes on nature trails.

Kensington also offers winter fishing for bluegills, crappies and pike on Kent Lake for intrepid fishermen. Seasonal natural science exhibits are also on display at the nature center from 1-5 p.m. on weekdays and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekends.

Skating on the rinks in front of the Kensington boat rental building weater-permitting is from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. daily. There are five toboggan runs and a separate area for sledding.

Three natural skating rink surfaces in interconnected ponds are available at Lower Huron, as are moderate slopes for sledding and tobogganing.

Park hours are daylight to 11 p.m. for sports permitted by the weather. Winter sports conditions can be obtained by calling the park office in Belleville.

$15 million may be lost by county

A plea to Congress for renewal of federal revenue sharing has been made by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The county is receiving about $15 million in federally-shared funds this year.

"Failure to continue the revenue sharing program could result in a virtual collapse of public services in urban areas throughout the nation," said Robert E. FitzPatrick, board chairman, whose resolution urging renewal was unanimously adopted by the board Nov. 21.

"Adoption of the revenue sharing program in 1972 was one of the most important federal actions of the 1970s. It returned to those closest to the problems — local elected officials — some ability to deal with those problems. It is vital that the program be continued.

"Without these funds, we would be unable to maintain needed public services in fields such as health and medical care, law enforcement and child care because that money represents at least 20 per cent of the county payroll of some $90 million."

Revenue sharing goes into the county general fund and is allocated along with other funds to support all county services. More than 56 per cent of the budget is devoted to health and related programs.

The five-year revenue sharing program established in 1972 expires in 1977. Some congressmen want to drop the program and return to the earlier federal system of categorical grants which, says FitzPatrick, imposed rigid restrictions on how the money could be used.

SC budget snowed under

The reason the two parking areas are so difficult to clear of snow is their size: one lot is 401,000 square feet, the other 448.000 square feet— or nearly 10 acres each.

The college had to seek outside help from highway construction contractors and a Livonia independent excavating contractor to remove the mountain of snow.

The cost might have gone higher, if the snow were hauled away; instead, road levelers and bulldozers simply pushed it to the far reaches of the parking lots.

BENTLEY'S LARRY JACKSON

Look out Suburban Eight.

A new team has emerged, not in name but in personality.

"Get it down and get it up!" is the cry around Bentley this season and under the direction of first year varsity Coach Larry Jackson, this is exactly what the Bulldogs did to Farmington High.

After a slow 8-5 first quarter in favor of Farmington, the Bulldogs exploded for 25 points in the second quarter, 26 in the third and finished off with 14 enroute to an impressive 70-48 non-league victory.

"It was all defense and ball control under George Fefles and John Farrar," stated Jackson who stepped up from junior varsity when Farrar was forced to resign because of medical reasons.

"Things are different now around Bentley. We score first and then worry about stopping the opponent.

"I know already that this is the best basketball team Bentley has had in the last three or four years.

"Other than that first quarter, we had Farmington all the way," added Jackson. "I had this senior group while coaching the ninth grade and we went 12-0 at Frost. I really have to believe in good things this year."

Field goals by Don Kegley and John Miller and a free throw by Dan Dinsmore was all Bentley could muster in the first quarter as Farmington took an 8-5 lead.

The Bulldogs settled down in the second and fast-breaked their way to a seven for 14 showing from the floor and 11 for 15 performance at the free throw line. Kegley pumped in eight points and Dinsmore seven and it was 30-16 at the half, Bentley.

It was all over but the showers in the third as Farmington went five minutes without scoring while Dinsmore popped in 15 of Bentley's 26 points in that quarter to make it 56-27 with eight minutes remaining.

Bentley wound up 25 of 68 from the floor for 37 per cent and Farmington 15 for 45 for 33 per cent. Dinsmore was high man in the scoring column with 23 points while Mitch Thomas paced Farmington with 17.

Now comes Allen Park Friday (Dec. 6) in the Suburban Eight opener with Plymouth Salem (Dec.10) and Edsel Ford (Dec. 13) on tap next week.

Spartans maul RU, 73-53

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

After bouncing past Thurston 55-42, the 2-0 Spartans humbled Redford Union, 73-53.

"We have been playing some pretty good defense," said VanWagoner whose squad jumps into Inter-Lakes play Friday (Dec. 6) at home against Waterford.

"It is still too early to tell just how good this team is but I have learned quickly that we possess probably one of the best benches in the area. I can sub freely without hurting at all.

For Redford Union and coach Carl Andrews, the 20 point setback was just that.

"We played some bad ball but it was our opponent (Stevenson) that did it to us. We just couldn't get the ball in the hoop."

RU opens Sub Eight play Friday (Dec. 6) at home against Belleville and travels to Dearborn on Tuesday (Dec. 10).

The shooting tells the story as Stevenson hit 29 of 58 from the floor for 50 per cent while RU floundered around, 17 of 56 for 30 per cent.

As in the Thurston win, the Stevenson gym was filled with posters relaying messages to the opponent and the one that VanWagoner has to be high on is "B-B-B-B-Baby, you just ain't seen nothin' yet."

The Spartans jumped to a 16-5 first quarter lead but saw their margin sliced to 10, 30-20, at the half when Greg Wood picked up a hot hand for RU and pumped in three quick buckets.

The 10 point lead held true to the midpoint of the third quarter when Rob Rose hit a two-pointer and George Herman made good a three-point play.

Jim Gilland then tipped in a rebound and the lead was up to 17 but back to 15 at the end of three quarters, 49-34.

The final quarter saw both clubs fast break and again Stevenson came out on top, 24-19. Ron Colone sinking two free throws for the Spartans at the buzzer.

Thurston wins, 67-49

After an impressive season opening victory over Woodhaven, Plymouth Canton basketball coach Casey Cavell thought he had something going.

But that proved to be ray of sunshine when it came down to playing a Class A opponent.

It was Canton 57-39 in its opener against a Class B foe but Belleville 67-60 in game No. 2.

"We made all sorts of silly mistakes and for an experienced ball club, it was bad," commented Cavell whose Chiefs were 4-17 last year.

Canton hit only three of 10 from the floor in the first quarter and fell behind, 12-9 and 30-19 at the half.

The first four minutes of the second half saw Belleville of the Suburban Eight loop get off to a 25 point margin and wind up with a 51-32 lead with eight minutes remaining.

FOULS - Thurston (19), Churchill (22).

The Tigers went with their subs in the fourth quarter and Canton took advantage of this and sliced into the difference.

Canton moved to within five with one minute left on the clock and Belleville came back with its first team to thwart off any ideas the Chiefs might have had about a comeback.

Canton did hit seven of 16 from the floor in the fourth quarter. Joe Waid tallied 10 points and Ron Lack eight as the Chiefs scored 28 points to Belleville's 16.

The Plymouth team hit 18 of 54 from the field for 33 per cent. Waid was high scorer with 16.

Racing the Belleville attack was Mel Abraham with 22 points, Walter Easley followed up with 18 and his brother Dennis added 14.

Canton travels to Northville Friday in the Western Six opener before hosting Riverside and Waterford Mott next week.

Belleville Tigers pummel Plymouth Chiefs, 67-60

"We were physically in better shape for this one," was the comment by Thurston cage coach Bill Croteau after his first win as an Eagle coach.

It was Thurston 67-49 over Churchill in a different style of Eagle attack that had fallen to Livonia Stevenson the night prior, 55-42.

It was also a turnover-ridden contest for Churchill in its opener for 1974-75 doubling Thurston in that department with 26.

This was a 32 minute contest rolled into two as Churchill jumped to a first quarter, 16-9 lead and remained on top at the half, 32-26.

Then came game No. 2 as Thurston won the third quarter, 17-8, and the fourth, 24-9.

"We started playing aggressive that second half," commented Croteau. "We just didn't carry it to Churchill the first half."

The difference in the score column came at the free throw line where Thurston made good 23 of 33 and Churchill just nine of 18.

Thurston wound up 22 of 63 from the floor for 35 per cent and Churchill 20 of 51 for 38 per cent.

The battle under the boards saw Thurston take it, 52-35, with Gary Bireta hauling in 13. Dennis Graff was second for the Eagles on the boards with 12 grabs and all coming in the second half.

The sparkplug in the Thurston second half surge was the performance of 5-foot-8 Jeff Krzywada, who came off the bench to score 15 points and collect 10 rebounds.

Franklin dumps Brother Rice

Trailing 5-2 early in the third period, Livonia Franklin exploded for six goals in the final nine minutes to top Brother Rice in a non-league hockey clash, 8-6.

It was Franklin's first win against a loss to Catholic Central. It was a costly one for the Patriots, who lost the services of Captain Mike Garbutt.

He broke his wrist and will be out for four to six weeks.

Tigers roar, 65-54

GC West bounces Thurston

A basketball team without a home court found one to its liking. Even if that liking was for only 16 minutes, it was enough for victory No. 1.

Chris Babler and Garden City West, which has been locked out of its home court now for four weeks because of the teacher's strike, lost to Thurston in the first 16 minutes, 31-19, but bounced back in the second half in 46-23 fashion.

That second 16 minutes gave West a 65-54 win after dropping the opener to Wayne Memorial, 61-60, and having a contest with Glenn cancelled.

"After watching that first half, I would have pitted my kids against Northwestern," commented the first year Thurston coach.

"We did everything right but then lost our composure the second half and got beat by a better ball club."

Thurston jumped off to a 13-10 first quarter lead and upped that to 31-19 at the half.

The Eagle press caught West and Babler went to the drawing board before the third quarter.

Free throws became the key in the second half for West. After making good just five of 13 in the first 16 minutes, the Tigers converted on 20 of 24 the second half.

Jay Gooch, Mike Susko and Dave Niles pumped in six points each for West in the third. West turned the tables at the end of three, outscoring Thurston, 25-10, in that quarter to lead, 44-41.

West stuck to the free throw the final quarter and outscored the sputtering Eagles, 21-13.

The contest was close in the field goal department, Thurston hitting 18 of 46 for 39 per cent and West, 20 of 46 for 44 per cent.

The difference was at the charity line where West popped in 25 of 37 and Thurston 18 of 30.

Thurston hosts another Garden City club Friday in the East Panthers, another team that is without a home court. It is the Northwest loop opener with Oak Park on tap next Friday, Dec. 13.

The West Tigers are at Riverside Friday in the Tri-River opener and journey to Livonia Churchill on Dec. 10 and Cherry Hill on Dec. 13.

Churchill bombards Grand Blanc, 11-3

Adam Mitchell's Churchill hockey squad exploded into the 1974-75 season in overpowering style over Grand Blanc, 11-3.

Kevin Kardos and Jeff Traux accounted for seven of the Charger scores with forward Kardos slapping in four goals and collecting three assists and Truax scoring three.

Churchill outshot Grand Blanc, 58-30, and it was Phil Rose that turned away 27 Bobcat shots. The Chargers struck for four goals in the first period, added three in the second and banged in four in the third. Grand Blanc tallied two in the second and one in the third.

Dearborn cagers smother Churchill, 53-44

It was Dearborn 53-44 over the Chargers.

"I haven't been able to find a leader yet but we did play a better team this time and gave it a better show," added the Churchill coach whose club was clobbered by Thurston in its opener, 67-49.

"We have lost both games at the free throw line. We have been outscored by only four points from the field but have been clobbered at the line, 53-36.

"I really believe things will change for us Friday against Mott," explained Montagano. "We are going to win this one."

Churchill hosts Waterford Mott Friday (Dec. 6) in the Western Six loop opener, hosts Garden City West on Tuesday (Dec. 10) and Farmington Harrison on Friday (Dec. 13).

Dearborn bounced back to take a 14-12 lead after one quarter and 26-23 margin at the half.

After trailing 36-33 heading into the final eight minutes, Churchill closed to within one, 40-39, with 4½ minutes remaining.

Then came and went four scoring chances for Churchill on two bad passes, one traveling call and one three second call on a fast break.

Cherry Hill stops Glenn, 66-62

After a one win and one loss showing in non-leaguers of the Tri- River league, it will be Glenn against North Farmington at Glenn.

Glenn opened with a 71-59 victory over Taylor Kennedy but slipped against Bob Fowler and Co. of Cherry Hill, 66-62.

"I am never pleased with a loss but our kids showed they can do the job and we are ready for the league now," stated Glenn Coach Gordie Davis whose Rockets were 15-6 last year and split in the North Farmington matchup.

"Cherry Hill's board strength really hurt us and we didn't contain Fowler as much as I wanted to," added the Glenn coach.

Cherry Hill danced to a 17-16 first quarter edge but Glenn fought back to take a four-point lead late in the second quarter. Fowler blocked a shot and tossed to Don Barnes to score at the buzzer and make it 35-33 Glenn at the half.

It was then tied at 35-all and 48-all in the third and Cherry Hill led heading into the final eight minutes, 51-50. It was nip and tuck in the fourth with four free throws by Cherry Hill breaking open a 59-59 clash in the final minute.

Glenn made 25 of 62 from the floor for a 40 shooting per cent.

A good deal for you
Winter is when most batteries fail.
If you need a battery, buy one now when you still have a choice.

A good deal for us
If you need a battery, we'd like to sell you one. We have good quality, and a full line.
Service calls are part of our business, but we'd rather help our customers before they have trouble—it's good for our reputation.
If we show you your battery might fail, we have a chance to sell you a new one rather than see you be forced to buy somewhere else when your present battery is dead.
The more batteries we sell before winter comes, the more we can order to take care of customers who will have to buy later on in the dead of winter.

SALE-PRICED BATTERIES WORTH THINKING ABOUT NOW!

You may never have to buy another battery for your car!

Ski Heil

By

BILL CAMERON

The Ski Rockies resorts are Aspen, Aspen Highlands, Breckenridge, Crested Butte, Jackson Hole, Park City, Snowbird, Snowmass, Steamboat, Taos, Vail and Winter Park, with their characteristic sunshine, powder snow and sophistication gained considerably in the 1973-1974 season in their bid to become the center of world Alpine Skiing.

The dollar devaluation made skiing in the United States more attractive to Europeans, and the fuel shortage convinced many Americans that one trip to the Rockies was a better idea than several to a nearby ski area.

Business boomed, causing the Rockies to boast of record seasons with five per cent to eight per cent gains over previous record highs. And booming business doesn't mean long lift lines. These resorts have miles upon miles of ski terrain and more than ample lift capacity to serve it.

They call it "crowd dispersal," the art of having the skiers on the mountain not even realize there is such a thing as a crowd anywhere in the vicinity.

Now that the word is out—the resorts are expecting increasing numbers of Americans and Europeans to come to the Rockies to sample the slopes, service and snow that have become internationally as superlative. In preparation — the resorts are all working on their trails, grooming them to permit better skiing with less snow, widening them to allow snow grooming vehicles access to control moguls, and many are building new trails and lifts.

The Aspen Skiing Corporation will spend a million dollars on Capital Improvements on Aspen Mountain, Buttermilk and Snowmass. They will cut a new trail for experts on Aspen Mountain, and several on Snowmass for 1975-1976. Breckenridge will have a new restaurant on Peak Nine, as well as trail improvements.

Jackson Hole is installing a new triple chairlift opening one square mile of new terrain for intermediate skiers and connecting Rendezvous and Apres Vous Mountains, to make a five chairlift complex.

Vail has cut two new trails and installed a new chairlift in the Northwest bowl and cut another trail in Game Creek bowl and one at Lionshead. They are also replacing two surface lifts with a chairlift in the beginner-novice area on Golden Peak.

Snowbird is adding a fourth lodge, the Iron Blossom with 181 luxurious rooms, and is grooming and widening several slopes.

Winter Park will do trail work, and has announced plans to expand by 65 per cent over the next two years by developing the Mary Jane area with 18 new trails, four new lifts and a second base area.

Taos has completed a second double chair lift up the north face of the mountain and has doubled the capacity of the Kachina Basin chair lift. It has added a new run for beginners and novices as well as one for the experts.

Racquetballers bag turkeys in tourney

Every trade and profession got in on the act in Racquetime's turkey tournament. The winners received turkeys for their efforts.

Taking open singles was Tom Carpenter, an accountant out of Warren; and placing second was Jim Easterling of Taylor who is a manager with Nicholas George Theaters.

Winning the B singles was Westland's George Tessman, an architect; and second was Oak Park's John Tollo, an apprentice carpenter. Westland's Rob McKinney, a student at the University of Michigan, finished third.

Capturing first in the women's singles was Mary Wells of Pleasant Ridge. Ypsilanti's Weenie Blikken was second and Amy Gierak, a senior at Redford Union High, was third.

Stevenson '73 grad sparkles at Oakland

Oakland compiled an 8-2-2 record and its most valuable player and all-American potential is center fullback Richters. His defensive abilities and long clearing passes allowed the Pioneers to play an offensive game.

Clarenceville gives awards

Austin tops Stevenson

Austin High skated off to a two period 6-1 lead and sailed in with a non-league hockey win over Stevenson High, 6-3.

We advertise these products because they're new and convenient for you. And because they bring added revenue that helps keep the cost of your basic telephone service down.

They're versatile. Use new Trimline Touch-Tone extensions for sharing calls (carrying on 3- or 4-way confabs with family and friends, for instance). Or as your own personal phone for private conversations.

They're attractive. High-fashion Trimline phones in table or wall models come in these handsome decorator colors: beige, blue, green, ivory, red, white, yellow and basic black. They can match or complement the decor in every room, basement to attic.

They're handy. Trimline phones nest neatly in one hand, have illuminated touchbuttons for anytime-anywhere use. Available in desk or wall models.

Just call your local Michigan Bell business office and say you want a new Trimline Touch-Tone Extension. Do it now!

You can have rotary dial Trimline phones in areas where Touch-Tone service is not yet available.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

Mary Mohacsi, Livonia's bowling school teacher, realized one of her life ambitions last week when she took top honors in the world championships in Caracas, Venezuela.

Competing against stars from six nations she won four medals—more than any other contestant—and topped the field-in scoring.

To gain the medals she won a gold one as a member of the American team that captured the 5-main events with a six game count of 5821. Of this total Mary contributed 1193 on series of 619 and 574.

After the gold medal she won second in all-events, losing to Olga Gloor, of Chicago, by 13 pins with an average of 193. This entitled her to a silver medal and she added bronze medals (third place) in the doubles and the four-women team event.

Mary was the third woman from the metropolitan area to play a star role in the world event. Several years ago Helen Shablis won the all-events in Mexico, and two years later, Helen Weston topped the all-events field in Finland.

"It was one of the real great thrills I have enjoyed in bowling," Mary said on her return. "We waited almost two years for the lanes to be built—but the wait was well worth it.

ALL RECORDS for the Old Timers were shattered Saturday at Thunderbowl Lanes when 546 competed in the annual tournament and the winner was decided by a single pin.

Harold Bardell paced the field with a 667 when Bill Guid's explosive finish fell one pin short and he had to be content with a 666 on games of 222, 211 and 237.

FRED McCLAIN and Dick Preston are locked in one of the tightest duels in the entire area. They are deadlocked at 217 for top average honors in the Wonderland Classic and it is the highest league average in the southeastern section of the state.

ANOTHER GREAT finish marked competition in the Westland Classic when John Watkins and Bob Goike Jr. finished only two pins apart for the pacemaking role.

Watkins linked games of 238,196 and 242 for 675, while Goike opened with a 198 and followed with games of 228 and 247 for 673. Not far behind came Ed Marzka in third place with a 656.

SCORING IN THE Moose League at Garden Lanes soared this week when Bill Montgomery turned in a 666 to lead the parade and Joe Schiezer took runnerup honors with a 629.

LOIS MERRIMAN took over a familiar role in the Livonia Ladies Classic when she set the pace with a 546-66—612 that included a single game of 215-22—237. In other single games Madelyn Donehue won the opener with 164-42—206 and Ellie Wilkins won the second with a 201-19—220.

A NEW NAME appeared on the honor roll at Mayflower Lanes when Janet Dunlevy posted a 618 series to far outdistance the field. Other high scores included a 573 by Helen Posseet, a 537 by Sandy Huyck and a 530 by Linda Beard.

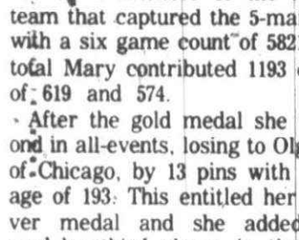

Two new members were added to the split conversion club. To gain membership Marge Stubben toppled the 5-8-10 and Jeanne Le Masters made the 4-7-10.

THE A.B. Contractors showed the way in the Elkettes loop at Plymouth Bowl with a 2506 series that included games of 838, 810 and 858.

Two members of the ladies league at Woodland bettered double century figures. Marilyn Syne had a 220 in 529 and Nancy Kowalski a 211 in 494.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

It had to come sometime or the capricious Michigan weather wouldn't have lived up to its reputation. Thus it wasn't that much of a surprise when the Sunday blizzard convinced the Hazel Park management it would be better to go dark until weather conditions improved.

Seems like every year about this time of the season the weather acts up and the tracks lose a couple of days and nights. The race tracks can overcome all other problems but they haven't been able to beat the elements.

Since most of the major stadiums are now being built with a roof overhead, we wonder how long it will be before some track in the blustery north decides to cover the racing surface.

It doesn't sound very feasible to enclose an area as large as that covered by the big mile track at the Detroit Race Course...but then strange things have happened in these modern days.

NOW THAT Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley is involved in a court suit filed by Northville Downs over the 1975 allotment of harness racing dates, one wonders when Gov. Milliken will announce his new appointment...if he plans on making a change.

Milliken can't move in any direction until he has been sworn in to a new term. Then he can announce his appointments. It's a certainty that he won't replace an appointee if that department is involved in any kind of legal matters.

Our information is that the Northville Downs suit will come up before the Appeals Court in Lansing within another week or 10 days. It is a case that must be decided quickly since Northville Downs has the opening dates for 1975 beginning on Jan. 1.

The suit contends the commissioner acted capriciously in not awarding any summer dates to Northville Downs. Executive Director John Carlo points out Northville Downs, which pioneered parimutuel wagering on night harness racing, has traditionally had summer dates since it opened in 1944 and now has been awarded only winter dates beginning Jan. 1.

It will be interesting to see how the court rules when it finally starts to hear arguments from both sides. As indicated above, it must start soon and not carry into the new year or else Michigan's harness racing season will be delayed until a decision is made.

IT TOOK a long time for lighting to strike, but it finally did at Hazel Park when the track management announced it will start working on improving the paddock and Roaring '20s areas as soon as the present meeting ends.

It was rumored in these columns some months ago that improvements were slated for the two areas but the track management moved so slowly that we thought our information was wrong or at least the work would be delayed until sometime next year.

The paddock and Roaring '20s will be glass enclosed, heated and air conditioned. In addition, an enclosed overpass leading from the clubhouse to the grandstand will be constructed and lighting and seating in the grandstand will be improved.

Construction of an overpass from the clubhouse to the grandstand will be a boon for patrons. No longer will they have to walk downstairs, through the paddock to reach the grandstand. They'll be able to walk straight across without going outside.

And for those who like to have a soft drink or hot dog during the afternoon, they'll be able to walk to the grandstand, make their purchases and return to the clubhouse. There isn't anyplace but in the Roaring '20s area where one can buy a drink and sandwich in the clubhouse.

CAN BILL BROWN'S Erlana's Valley go all the way in the rich pacing series at the Jackson-Northville meeting? That's what folks are wondering after the mare won her fifth in a row last Saturday and became the heavy favorite in the championship finale the last week of the year.

Kimber R. Range and Banner Ranger battled it out in the first division of Saturday's fifth leg of the series with the former hitting the wire in 2:06.2 for the victory.

Then came Erlana's Valley, with Mal Phillips up in the second division, and the mare just stepped away from her competition to enter the winner's circle after a 2:04.3 mile. That clocking isn't bad for this time of the year and points out that others eligible for the series have a battle ahead.

FROM THE west coast comes word that Don McFarlane's Keystone Smartie came through with another of those upsets that have marked the four-year-old's career.

Guided by Pete Haughton, son of the famed driver-trainer Billy Haughton, Keystone Smartie burst loose in the stretch to win the $113,350 American Pacing Classic at Hollywood Park in California.

Vikings crush Waterford

Back-to-back lashings against Waterford allowed the Vikings of Livonia to remain on top of the Michigan Junior Hockey loop.

Six goals in the opening period, three by Grant Judd who leads the club with 3[illegible] goals, got Livonia off and skating [illegible] 10-1 rout which was marred by a brawl with just two minutes remaining in the clash.

With the score at 10-1, Livonia's Todd Fenton, Tom Graff and Tom Fenton got into it with Waterford's Jeff Toombs, Chris Kobel, Chuck Wallace and Tim Noble and all seven were handed fighting, misconducts and game misconducts.

Livonia wound up outshooting Waterford, 44-20.

The following night saw Livonia jump off to a 6-0 first period lead, Brian Devlin slapping in two. The Vikings struck for six again in the second and added three in the final 20 minutes.

The Vikings have three home contests this month against St. Clair Shores on Dec. 14, Port Huron on Dec. 21 and Ecorse on Dec. 28. All games start at 8 p.m. at Ford Ice Rink.

Making critters for Christmas

IT'S HOLIDAY TIME. Be whimsical, make cereal candy, then fashion it in critters of all sorts. Use as favors ... or as decorations. The chocolate-fondant filled bars are for more serious eating.

Let the children help

So why not have a few ideas up your sleeve, with the products on the pantry shelf, ready to keep them busy with things they like to do. Here is a cereal recipe with endless possibilities for the holidays.

IT'S SO SIMPLE it can be made by the eight-and ten-year-old with mother's help to make the basic batch. The youngsters can make their own fantastic "critters" or try modeling animals with a favorite puppy or pussy cat.

Or do you have teenagers who can handle more complicated recipes? They should try the No-Cook Fondant and use it to color, flavor, or stuff dates or combine with other chocolate or butterscotch rich candies. Below is a recipe for a candy called chocolate nut bars, rich and chocolaty, with the fondant layer in between layers. Even the littlest one can help wrap these morsels in foil or plastic film.

CANDIED CEREAL

¼ c. sugar
¼ c. light or dark corn syrup

Heat cereal in shallow pan in 350 degree F. (moderate) oven four to five minutes. Mix sugar, corn syrup and salt in two-quart saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved and mixture reaches full boil. Remove from heat. Stir in cereal. Shape as desired. (If cereal mixture hardens while working with it, place over hot water.)

Faces or animal shapes: Form mixture into round patties (three inches in diameter, ½-inch thick) for faces, or desired shapes for animals. Insert skewers into one end of patties, if desired. Decorate with candies such as licorice or gumdrops for eyes, mouth, hair, tails, etc. Use for party favors.

Ice Cream Cups: Mold mixture around lightly greased outside of four (five-ounce) custard cups, making sides about one-inch high. Let cool about three minutes. Remove from cups and fill with ice cream.

Dessert Patties: Form mixture into desired shapes, such as hearts, squares, etc., about ½-inch thick. Serve with ice cream.

CHOCOLATE NUT BARS

1 recipe No-Cook Fondant
2-3 c. chopped walnuts
2 c. light or dark corn syrup
¼ t. salt
1 (14-15 ounce) can sweetened condensed milk
3 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate, cut into small pieces

Grease 9x9½-inch pan. Spread half of walnuts in bottom of prepared pan. Mix corn syrup and salt in large saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until mixture comes to boil and boils five minutes. Gradually add sweetened condensed milk, stirring constantly, to boiling syrup. Do not let mixture stop boiling. Cook, stirring constantly, until temperature reaches 236 degrees F. on candy thermometer or until a small amount of mixture dropped into very cold water forms a soft ball which flattens on removal from water.

Remove from heat; add chocolate and stir until melted. Gradually stir in confectioners sugar, then vanilla. Cool without stirring about 20 minutes. Stir cooled chocolate mixture and pour about half the mixture over nuts in pan. Roll fondant between sheets of waxed paper to form a nine-inch square to fit inside of prepared pan. Remove top layer of waxed paper. Invert fondant over chocolate layer; peel off waxed paper and press fondant to fit pan. Carefully spread remaining chocolate onto fondant. Sprinkle remaining walnuts over chocolate and press gently into chocolate. Cool at least four hours. Turn onto board; cut into bars or squares with sharp knife. Makes about four pounds.

No-Cook Fondant: Stir one-third cup margarine to soften; add one-third cup light corn syrup, one teaspoon vanilla and ½ teaspoon salt, stirring until well blended. Gradually work in one pound sifted confectioners sugar, first with spoon, then kneading with hands. Turn onto board and knead until mixture is smooth and well-blended. Cover and store at room temperature. Makes one pound.

Fruitcake Novelty

Fruitcake is traditional during the holidays and traditionally time-consuming to prepare . . . until this one. Gayly decorated with glacé cherry flowers and served from within a ring of holly, Ever-So-Easy Fruitcake features a truly novel use for packaged corn flake crumbs, mincemeat and sweetened condensed milk. Measuring and mixing together the seven ingredients result in a batter to be baked slowly, allowing the flavors to blend. For further "ripening," this fruitcake can be well-wrapped and stored a week or more before bringing it to the holiday table.

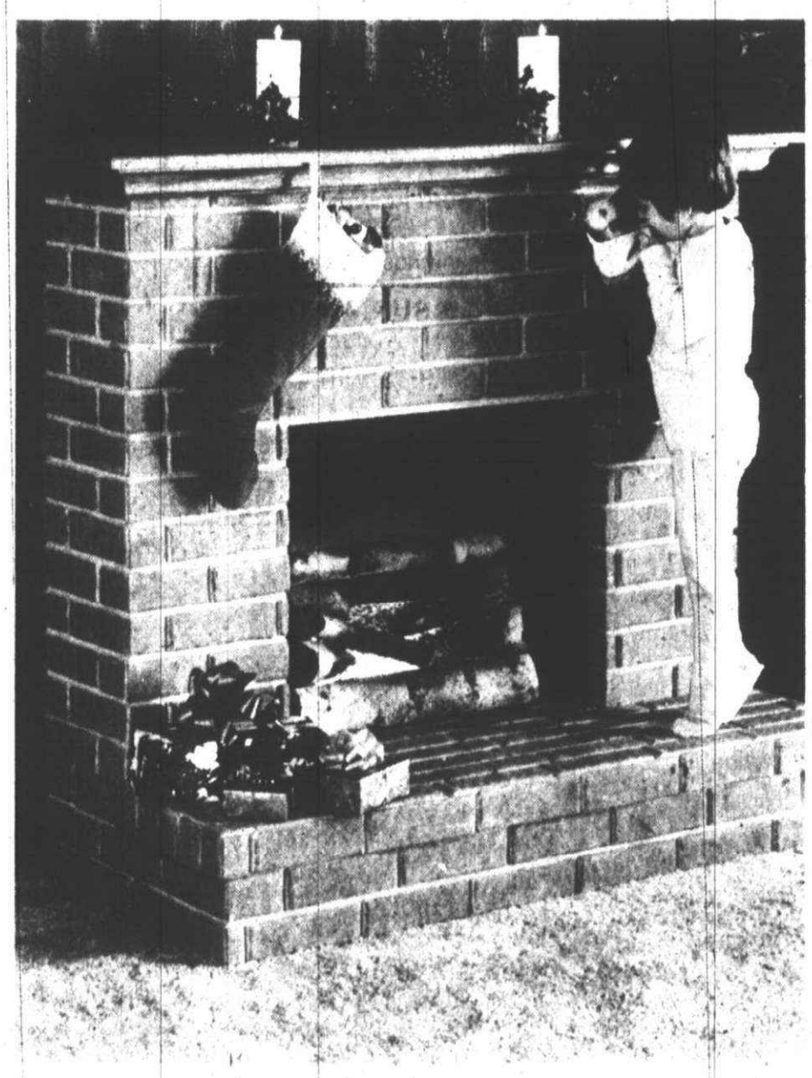

Ever-So-Easy Fruitcake

2 cups packaged corn flake crumbs
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 14-oz. can (1 ⅓ cups) sweetened condensed milk
1 28-oz. jar (2 ⅔ cups) ready-to-use mincemeat
1 lb. (2 cups) mixed candied fruit
1 cup chopped nuts

1. Lightly grease 9-inch tube pan; line with waxed paper. Lightly grease waxed paper. Set pan aside.
2. In large mixing bowl, beat eggs until foamy. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Pour batter evenly into tube pan.
3. Bake in slow oven (300°F.) about 1 hour 45 minutes or until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Remove from oven; cool slightly before removing from pan. Let stand until thoroughly cooled. If desired, decorate with glacé cherries.

Note: Fruitcake may be wrapped tightly in waxed paper and foil and stored in refrigerator for several weeks before serving. For added flavor, wrap fruitcake in liquor-soaked cheesecloth before wrapping in waxed paper and foil.

For holidays only?

THIS LOW-COST fireplace, with its cheery electric log fire, is built completely without masonry and chimney. The fireplace is easily dismantled so you can store it away after the holidays.

Breakfast Is Essential Even During Holidays

Corn flakes or whole wheat flakes and leftover turkey are the primary ingredients for a holiday breakfast that will make a hit with all family members. Breakfast is just as important during the busy holiday season as it is any other time of the year. But with the many extra activities, some people may neglect this meal.

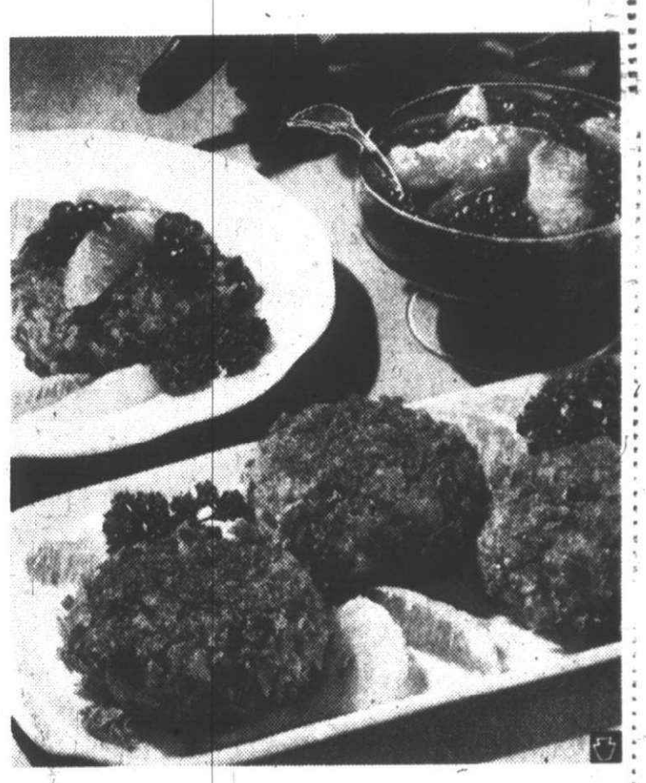

One way to entice the non-breakfast eaters to the table in the morning is to plan breakfast as carefully as any other meal. Breakfast does not have to be elaborate or take a long time to fix. The wide variety of breakfast cereals available offer convenience as well as nutrition. Keep various kinds of juices and fruits on hand to add interest to breakfast.

For a unique breakfast treat combine corn flakes or whole wheat flakes with leftover turkey to make Turkey Cereal Cakes. This is an excellent combination of foods. Many cereals are fortified with eight essential vitamins and also supply carbohydrates for energy. The turkey provides protein.

TURKEY CEREAL CAKES WITH CRANBERRY ORANGE SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
1 chicken bouillon cube
2 cups finely chopped cooked turkey
2 tablespoons sliced green onion with tops
2½ cups corn or whole wheat flakes, crushed to make 1¼ cups coarse crumbs
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons cooking oil

Melt butter or margarine. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk and bouillon cube; cook stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Stir in turkey, onion and ½ cup cereal crumbs. Chill until mixture is easy to handle. Shape mixture into 6 cakes, 2½ to 3-inch diameter. Dip each cake into beaten egg, then coat with remaining cereal crumbs. Brown patties in oil over moderate heat, about 10 minutes, turning patties once. Serve with Cranberry Orange Sauce (recipe below).
Yield: 6 cakes.

CRANBERRY ORANGE SAUCE

2 cups fresh cranberries
1 cup drained fresh orange sections
1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Bring water and sugar to a boil. Add cranberries; bring to a boil. Simmer uncovered until all berries pop, about 5 minutes. Stir in orange sections and orange rind. Cool. Serve with Turkey Cereal Cakes. Yield: About 3 cups sauce.

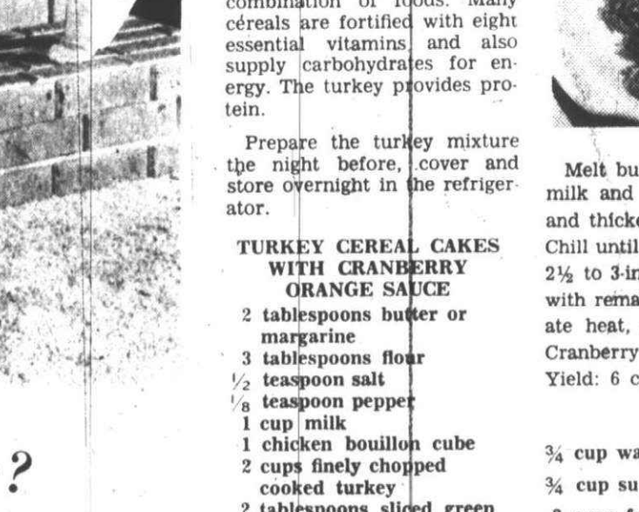

Create Holiday Centerpiece

Table decorations you create yourself or that the children make, are lovely conversation pieces. The snowman and candle holders shown here are fashioned from Creative Clay and can be made by children. It's a good project that will keep the youngsters happily occupied while mother is busy with other holiday preparations.

Creative Clay

1 cup corn starch 1 package (1 lb.) baking soda
1¼ cups cold water

In a saucepan, thoroughly stir together corn starch and baking soda. Then mix in cold water. Heat, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches a slightly moist, mashed potato consistency. Turn mixture out on plate and cover with damp cloth. When cool enough to handle, knead like dough. Shape as desired or store in a tightly covered container for future use. To shape Creative Clay, form with hands or roll out to ¼-inch thickness and cut shapes with a knife or cookie cutter. Trim by moistening shapes or bits of clay and pressing into place. Dry on protected surface at room temperature, allowing up to 36 hours for hardening. Creative Clay may be painted with water colors, poster paints or felt-tip pens. For a glossy finish, brush with clear nail polish or shellac.

Township police patrol studied

A special subcommittee has been formed to recommend a solution to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners by Dec. 31 on whether to continue Sheriff's road patrols in townships.

The subcommittee will consist of Chairman John Barr (D-Dearborn Heights), and commissioners George Killen (D-Detroit) and Mrs. Jarrette Simmons (D-Detroit).

Barr will also invite representation from the Sheriff's department and the deputies union bargaining agent, Local 101.

Although commissioners have appropriated $350,000 for road patrols in townships, questions remain about how long this service should be offered and how extensive it should be if continued.

The allocation in the 1974-75 county budget is $117,000 less than the amount allocated last year.

At issue is whether present services should be curtailed to stretch the allocation throughout a full fiscal year or whether the present level of service is to be maintained until the funds are depleted.

Killeen and Mrs. Simmons are already members of another subcommittee studying the road patrol service, which has been controversial since 1963.

Barr's subcommittee will also make recommendations on the budget of the Sheriff's marine patrol division, which is authorized to maintain present services throughout the year — contingent on two-thirds reimbursement from the state.

In this area, Redford Township has its own police department but Plymouth and Canton townships rely on the Sheriff's patrol for police protection.

In the November election, Plymouth township residents defeated by a wide margin a millage proposal designed to establish a full time township police department. On the same election day, Canton Township voters defeated a public safety millage proposal to build a new fire station and hire public safety officers whom eventually could be used for some police functions.

Madonna Chorale offers Christmas celebration

The Madonna Chorale, a mixed vocal group of 50, will celebrate the coming of Christmas with their annual holiday concert, Sunday, Dec. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in Madonna College, Schoolcraft and Levan, Livonia.

Among the numbers to be performed will be several traditional Christmas carols and "Come Unto Him All Ye That Labor" from Handel's "The Messiah." The group also will sing the "African Noel," which utilizes the accompaniment of a congo-type drum and harp.

A special feature will be the appearance of guest harpist, Andrew Henderson, a member of the Oakway Symphony and a Northville resident.

He will play Bach's "Siciliano" and Handel's "Air in Variations."

The Beauty Shop Quartet will perform "I'll Be Home for Christmas," "Christmas Chopsticks" and "Moments to Remember."

The Women's Ensemble will sing "Let It Snow," "Carol of the Bells," and "A Song in the Air."

Among the soloists will be Ralph Kuenz, Bill Scruggs and Mona Bilski of Livonia and Kay Cosby of Redford Township.

The chorale is directed by Mrs. Patricia Derry and the accompanist is Sharon Cooper.

Area students in UM-D show

The University of Michigan-Dearborn Symphonic Wind Ensemble will present its second annual winter festival concert, Wednesday, Dec. 11 at 8:30 p.m. in Edsel Ford High School Auditorium, Dearborn.

Area students who will perform are Laurette Chiasson, flute, of Livonia; Rena Rudnick, clarinet, of Plymouth; and Deborah Calrymple, flute, and Mark Strickland, trombone, of Redford Township.

Highlights of the conert include Vivaldi's "Concerto in C Major for Piccolo," "Variations on a Shaker Melody," by Copland and "American Variations" by Bilik.

The concert is free and open to the public. For tickets call the University, 4901 Evergreen, Dearborn, 48128.

Teacher enjoys conducting circuit

WILLIAM SAVOLA

William Savola has taught instrumental music in the Livonia School District for more than 15 years. And, although he enjoys introducing youngsters to music and instrument training his first love is conducting.

Savola led his first orchestra as a 15-year-old high school sophomore in Marquette. But, before he stepped to the podium the first time he had to organize an orchestra.

"I wanted to conduct but there was no orchestra in the community. So I started one," says Savola.

He came to Livonia in 1957 and founded the Livonia Youth Symphony. His professional experience includes having conducted the National Philharmonic of the Philippines, Radio Symphony Orchestra of the Finnish Broadcasting Company, Detroit Ballet Company and Michigan Opera Company.

AT ONE TIME he simultaneously conducted three community orchestras in the Detroit area, the Allen Park Symphony, the Scandinavian Symphony and the Women's Symphony of Detroit. He is presently conductor of the Women's Symphony.

Savola says he doesn't approve of the conductor who is constantly flailing his arms and going through "every conceivable contortion on the stage."

"A great part of conducting is thought and empathy with the musicians. It takes a lot of self-discipline. A conductor should not detract from the mood of the music by his stage presence," says Savola.

"After all, the audience comes to hear the music not to see the conductor perform fanatical gestures. The conductor as a leader must strive to represent exactly what is in the musical score without interpolating his own personality above the will or intention of the composer."

Savola, a Plymouth resident, has also played violin with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. He has studied with Eugene Ormandy, Wilfred Pelletier and Wieland Wagner.

He received a bachelor of music degree at Northern Michigan University and earned a masters in music at Indiana University.

Besides music, Savola enjoys traveling and sports cars. He has traveled extensively in Asia, Europe, the Middle East and United States. He is of Finnish descent and speaks several languages.

He recently guest-conducted the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra, in Amarillo Texas and one critic described him as "a dynamo of energy on the podium."

SC groups set concerts

December will provide a number of opportunities to hear the orchestra and choirs of Schoolcraft College in performances on-campus and in Plymouth.

Director Richard T. Saunders will lead the Schoolcraft College Orchestra in a special concert Friday, Dec. 6 at 8:30 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center. Admission is free.

The 45-piece orchestra will be joined by featured guest performers who were students at the college's summer music school earlier this year. On the announced program are Aaron Copland's "Rodeo," and Mussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition."

On Dec. 15 the Schoolcraft choirs will present "A Christmas Celebration" at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth. Both the Symphonic Choir, which includes community members, and the Schoolcraft Chorale will perform under the direction of Bradley Bloom.

Haydn's "Lord Nelson Mass" and Williams' "Nativity Play Called the First Noel" will be performed by the choir. The chorale will present Berstein's "French Choruses From the Lark" and Britten's "Ceremony of Carols" with harp.

Harrison and friends rouse Olympia crowds

By BOB ERICKSON and SUE ROSIEK

Despite George Harrison's rasping voice, the Harrison and friends concerts that began Wednesday night and lingered into Thursday morning at Olympia Stadium were instrumentally a great production.

Joining Harrison was the 15-member Ravi Shankar Family and Friends Band without Shankar, who stayed in Chicago because of illness.

The Indian musicians put on an impressive show. However, because the music was so unfamiliar to many of Harrison's Detroit fans, the nearly 16,000 persons who attended the 11:30 p.m. show were getting restless and noisy before the Easterners finished their act. It was unfortunate because the group demonstrated a good blend of classical Indian and contemporary tunes. Their music represented the variety and vitality of Shankar's compositions.

BILLY PRESTON got the audience moving with "Will It Go Round in Circles," the third number in the first set. He got everyone up and dancing and set the mood that paced the rest of the show. Preston's rock and roll renditions and wild stage dancing to "Nothing for Nothing," in the seond set got everyone clapping for the rest of the concert.

Harrison's voice was hoarse from the start of the second show and got progressively worse.By the end of the night he could hardly talk, let alone sing.

Nevertheless, the rail-thin Harrison (the result of a strict vegetarian diet) appeared to be having a good time and gave his audience everything he possibly could.

Harrison's back-up group soloed in the second set and demonstrated its fine musical abilities. The group included Tom Scott on the sax and woodwinds. Robben Ford, guitar; Andy Newmark, drum; Emil Richards, Willie Weeks, Chuck Findley and Preston on the keyboards.

HARRISON finished the show with a few selections from his new "Dark Horse" album. The title song "Dark Horse" was an interesting piece of instrumentation using two acoustic guitars, three flutes and two woodwind sets.

Harrison's final number "What is My Life," received a 10 minute ovation with the crowd clamoring, dancing and demanding more. The group came back and did an encore of "My Sweet Lord," in which Harrison delivered a few Krishna messages. It wasn't the first time either. In the first set he performed "In My Life," and interjected bits of his Krishna beliefs by often changing the lyrics of the song.

Harrison, never forgot the mood of his rock and roll oriented audience and delivered 2½ hours of what the fans fought the weather and parking lots to see and hear.

SCALPERS were also out in full force. The going price for Harrison tickets, however wasn't as exorbitant as some for recent concerts. Top price was $30 for two fourth row seats, about $10 more than normal.

In spite of the late hour (the second show ended about 2:15 Thursday), the fans left looking satisfied. Harrison's first concert was originally scheduled to start at 5:30 p.m. but was defayed almost two hours because the group didn't arrive in Detroit until 6 p.m.

RUNNING TRUE to his social beliefs Harrison, reminded his audience that proceeds from the sale of programs would be donated to the Appalachian Regional Hospitals Inc.

This tour marks Harrison's first appearance since the Concert for Bangla Desh in 1971 and his first American tour since 1966,then as a Beatle. When the tour ends Dec. 17 in New York, Harrison and friends will have performed 50 concerts in some 27 cities throughout the United States and Canada.

Christmas crafts in Greenfield Village

Traditional Christmas music, demonstrations of holiday crafts and cookery, carolers and sleigh rides (when weather permits) recreate Christmases of the past. Complimentary hot-spiced cider and Christmas cookies are served in the Town Hall on the Village Green.

"The Crafts at Christmas" featuring more than a dozen costumed craftsmen demonstrating the handicraft skills is also offered at the Henry Ford Museum now through Jan. 5.

The village is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. The museum is open from 9 to 5 weekdays and 9 to 6 on Saturdays and Sundays.

A separate admission is required for the village and museum. Adult admission is $2.50, and children, six through 14, $1. Special rate tickets including admission to both are $4.50 for adults and $1.80 for children six to 14. Children under six are admitted free.

Dance program receives grant

"Dance Detroit," the perfroming company of the University of Detroit-Marygrove College dance program has received $7,750 in grants from the Michigan Council for the Arts (MCA) for two dance projects.

A major grant of $7,250 was awarded to the program for its first full-length ballet production, "Coppelia," to be presented during the Christmas season in the Art Institute.

A mini-grant of $500 was obtained last summer to help defray expenses for the residency of Paul Sanasardo from New York's Paul Sanasardo Dance Company, who taught classes in the fifth summer school for the performing arts.

Chorale joins symphony in Christmas production

One of the highlights of the Plymouth Symphony's 29th season will be the performance Sunday, Dec. 8 of Berlioz's "L'Enfance du Christ"—"The Childhood of Christ."

The symphony will perform this Christmas oratorio with the Kenneth Jewell Chorale beginning at 4 p.m. in Plymouth Salem High School, Joy west of Canton Center Road.

A Michigan-recruited group, the Kenneth Jewell Chorale is a virtuoso ensemble which has demonstrated a mastery over the full spectrum of choral literature. It has been compared favorable with the Wagner and Shaw chorales.

Admission will be $3 for adults and $1.50 for students (kindergarten through 12). The charge for students is being made because of additional costs for this performance.

Dunlap recalls the time in 1961 when the orchestra was rehearsing for "The Childhood of Christ." Dunlap remarked to one of the men who auditioned as a singer: "We need a package for choral works that we could put together in one or two rehearsals."

The man took the idea and developed the Grant Williams Chorale, a professional singing group that could produce works like the Berlioz or Handel's "Messiah" with local orchestras around the state.

The 19th century master Hector Berlioz wrote it at the peak of his career, in 1854, while he was working as chief music critic for a French journal. He had contemplated the work for most of his career. It is contemporary with two others of his story-telling works. "The Capture of Troy" and "The Trojans at Carthage."

"It's unusual for Berlioz," said Dunlap, "because he usually went in for big effects. 'Childhood of Christ' is performed by a small orchestra. There is a reverent attitude.

"But it's not dull. It has many lovely spots," added Dunlap.

The work is sung in English and has three parts. The first is the bombastic song of King Herod sung by Conwell Carrington (bass); the second, the flight to Egypt; third, the arrival at Sais.

There are four solo parts. The narrator will be Kenneth Ish (tenor), Joseph is Murray Hulce (baritone) and the role of Mary will be sung by Karen Guettler (mezzo-soprano).

Other singers include John Cole (bass) as Polydorus and Gene Wabeck (tenor) as the Centurion.

A friend of Mendelssohn, Berlioz exerted a strong influence on two other composers of the time—Franz Lizt and Robert Schumann. Besides religious works such as a "Requiem Mass," Berlioz was noted for such program works as the "Fantastic Symphony," "Harold in Italy" and "Romeo and Juliet" symphony.

For younger children, babysitting by girl scouts is available. For senior citizens, free bus rides are available from the Tonquish Creek Manor residence in Plymouth beginning 45 minutes before concert time.

Chorale joins symphony in Christmas production

One of the highlights of the Plymouth Symphony's 29th season will be the performance Sunday, Dec. 8 of Berlioz's "L'Enfance du Christ"—"The Childhood of Christ."

The symphony will perform this Christmas oratorio with the Kenneth Jewell Chorale beginning at 4 p.m. in Plymouth Salem High School, Joy west of Canton Center Road.

A Michigan-recruited group, the Kenneth Jewell Chorale is a virtuoso ensemble which has demonstrated a mastery over the full spectrum of choral literature. It has been compared favorable with the Wagner and Shaw chorales.

Admission will be $3 for adults and $1.50 for students (kindergarten through 12). The charge for students is being made because of additional costs for this performance.

Dunlap recalls the time in 1961 when the orchestra was rehearsing for "The Childhood of Christ." Dunlap remarked to one of the men who auditioned as a singer: "We need a package for choral works that we could put together in one or two rehearsals."

The man took the idea and developed the Grant Williams Chorale, a professional singing group that could produce works like the Berlioz or Handel's "Messiah" with local orchestras around the state.

The 19th century master Hector Berlioz wrote it at the peak of his career, in 1854, while he was working as chief music critic for a French journal. He had contemplated the work for most of his career. It is contemporary with two others of his story-telling works, "The Capture of Troy" and "The Trojans at Carthage."

"It's unusual for Berlioz," said Dunlap, "because he usually went in for big effects. 'Childhood of Christ' is performed by a small orchestra. There is a reverent attitude.

"But it's not dull. It has many lovely spots," added Dunlap.

The work is sung in English and has three parts. The first is the bombastic song of King Herod sung by Conwell Carrington (bass); the second, the flight to Egypt; third, the arrival at Sais.

There are four solo parts. The narrator will be Kenneth Ish (tenor), Joseph is Murray Hulce (baritone) and the role of Mary will be sung by Karen Guettler (mezzo-soprano).

Other singers include John Cole (bass) as Polydorus and Gene Wabeck (tenor) as the Centurion.

A friend of Mendelssohn, Berlioz exerted a strong influence on two other composers of the time—Franz Lizt and Robert Schumann. Besides religious works such as a "Requiem Mass," Berlioz was noted for such program works as the "Fantastic Symphony," "Harold in Italy" and "Romeo and Juliet" symphony.

For younger children, babysitting by girl scouts is available. For senior citizens, free bus rides are available from the Tonquish Creek Manor residence in Plymouth beginning 45 minutes before concert time.

Members of the cast include (from left) Kathy Rabac as Eeyore, Debra A. Harnishfeger as Winnie and Debbie Dick as Christopher Robin. The play will be at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Spotlight

Thursday, December 5, 1974 (S,F) * 1E

For the performers, however, providing the musical accompaniment and dancing the graceful but intricate ballet demands patience, perfection and much practice.

For the Oakway Symphony Orchestra and the Michigan Ballet Theater, the last three months have been one long rehearsal session in preparation for their joint performance Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 7 and 8 in Harrison High School auditorium, Farmington.

A PERFORMANCE of the complete "Nutcracker" ballet is scheduled for Saturday at 8 p.m.

The ballet theater will perform highlights from the ballet on Sunday at 4 p.m. The orchestra will share the program with Francesco Di Blasi of Livonia conducting the Haydn symphony No. 88. An added attraction will be Vivaldi's concerto for four solo violins with soloists Peruz Zerounian, Alyze Dreiling, Ann Cannell and Margaret Nagy.

The musical production will feature 85 musicians of Oakway, including residents from each of the 12 Observer & Eccentric communities. The ballet theater will offer more than 40 dancers from the metropolitan area and principal soloists from the Joffrey Ballet in New York.

"The tempo has to be exactly precise," says Di Blasi. "While the orchestra is rehearsing the music, can be slowed down, but you must always get back to the dancers' tempo."

DI BLASI'S DIVERSE background includes conducting an orchestra for the ballet. He played trumpet for three years for the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and also served as the group's guest conductor. Di Blasi has conducted the Oakway since it was formed in June 1973. He led the group's first concert in October 1973.

The orchestra and ballet also will perform the "Nutcracker" Friday, Dec. 20 in the Music Hall for the Performing Arts in Detroit.

The Michigan Ballet Theater, designated as a performing company by the Mid-State Regional Ballet Association is now in its sixth year. The company, headquartered in Farmington Hills, has a repertoire of some 15 ballets and has staged performances each year since it was formed.

The dancers range in age from 12 to 21. The "Nutcracker" performance will also feature extras, recruited from North Farmington High School, and many company apprentices.

"OUR VERSION of 'Nutcracker' is a little different from most. We've used our license to change and add to the ballet to feature Clara as a teenager, instead of the traditional young child," says Evelyn Kreason, artistic director of the Michigan ballet.

"Our company has been performing 'Nutcracker' for six years. Although it's a children's show, it has a universal appeal. From the snow scene to each of the character flavors, it has a little bit of every character you can imagine.

"Nutcracker" is the fairy-tale story of Clara and the handsome prince, who takes her on a strange but interesting and colorful journey. The ballet offers the fantasy numbers "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy," "Waltz of the Flowers," "Dance of the Flutes" and the Russian "Trepak."

THE LONG HOURS of rehearsal have passed and so have the problems of scheduling those sessions. The stage is set and dress rehearsal has been completed. Musicians and dancers are anticipating an eager and enthusiast audience.

Performances are slated for 8 p.m. on Saturday and 4 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets for Saturday's show are $3.50 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens. Tickets for Sunday's performance are $3 for adults and $1.50 for others. Tickets for both shows can be purchased at Hudson's and Grinnell's stores. They will also be available at the door.

BUSINESS

How corporations change their 'face'

By SHARON PENLAND-MACE

"What's in a name?" someone once asked.

Apparently that is still a very timely question. It is one that is being asked more and more frequently by business and industry, who are turning to experts for the answer.

The experts in the question of business identity, it turns out, are advertising agencies. They are the new "name" or "image" makers.

These days, when a company has problems, whether it is flagging sales or a poor reputation, it can go to an advertising agency to either increase the sales of the ailing business or to launder their public image with a "new identity" program.

HISTORICALLY, the identity of a company involves a very important ingredient: a company symbol, sign or mark. This mark is referred to as a "logotype," or more commonly, a "logo." It is toward this little emblem, or trademark, that the agencies direct most of their attention.

In common usage, the word logo, or logotype, refers to the trademark, or name, of a company. It is usually a word or two or more letters. It can even be a picture.

In olden days, a business was designated by colorful signs or marks. A shoemaker, for instance, would use a sign of a golden boot to indicate his trade. A grocer might use a picture of loaves of bread.

The two principal functions of a logo or trademark is that of both a mark of identification and a seal or signature of authenticity.

WHEN A COMPANY has poor sales performance and lacks a good image, it is usually because of several specific reasons, according to Tom Pelant, president of Artra associates, a Southfield-based design firm.

"It is either because the logo is poorly designed, or the design is used inconsistently," he said. "Many times there is not a sufficient connection between the product and the idea expressed by the company's logo."

Lately many logos have lost the function of symbolizing the product that is being sold.

"A logo should be informative about the kind of business a corporation is engaged in," said Pelant.

HE SAID that usually the biggest problem with any company's image is that they do not present a consistent "face" to the public. "Their signs, stationary and product images are usually disjointed and unfocused," he emphasized.

"If a real estate company, for example, does not have a consistent image from sign to sign," he explained, "it can and does affect their business.

"You have to have a systematized, modular approach to logos," Pelant said.

As examples of unified modular corporate images, he cited franchise operations such as Howard Johnson's, MacDonald's, Big Boy. "They always look the same, no matter what city they are in," he said.

Local signage codes have let retailers in this area put up a "hodgepodge" of signs that are "visually illegible" to the consumer, he said. "Most local signs do not mean anything and they are not working well.

"Some of the worst examples are even impossible to read, not because there are so many of them but simply because they are so poorly designed."

PELANT CITES the automotive companies having the initiative and foresight to spend a great deal of effort and money to coordinate their images and to make their signs effective and readable.

There is, he explained, a positive and consistent presentation of the Ford logo, for example, on every Ford product and design.

"Ford has a strict, modular form of design which has been redesigned and updated several times to make it more contemporary," Pelant said, "but it still has not lost its original and design aspects."

Seeing the designs used consistently and correctly is a big issue with most advertising and design firms. Kevin Tolman, a graphic designer for Artra, summed up the feeling on this subject.

"It's an ego thing, I suppose, but it sort of hurts your feelings to see a really good image that you designed not being used properly, so the whole look and impact is destroyed."

The fundamental problem, they discovered, was that the name "Buick" had a bad reputation. "It didn't stand for enough of the right things," Ramsey said. The Buick line has traditionally had an unfortunate reputation for being big, expensive "gas hogs."

"Put all these negatives together," stated Ramsey, "and you have quite a problem."

THIS YEAR, the Buick line added two new cars which were unlike the old image: the Skyhawk and the Skylark. They are small, sporty, and economical. Or fairly economical, anyway. They have in other words, contenporary appeal.

Using a hawk to symbolize an attitude of freedom and independence, the agency has attempted to appeal to the sense of individuality and independence they believe lurks in every person's heart.

As a result, the idea of freedom and independence has been linked with the product through the association between a hawk, the idea of a free spirit and the name "Buick."

At the end of every Buick commercial now, instead of hearing the old "wouldn't you really rather have a Buick" line, the viewer sees a beautiful and graceful hawk alighting upon the mundane name of Buick to the inspiring message, "dedicated to the free spirit in just about everyone." The association becomes nearly irresistible.

"We hope the thought of 'free spirit' becomes connected with the idea of a whole variety of Buick products," Ramsey said.

Behind the store fronts

By KLAUS SCHERLER

Gardeners frustrated by the dormant winter season may find solace by visiting the Green Thumb shop, a recently-opened shop specializing in plants and accessories.

The store is at 470 Forest in downtown Plymouth and is operated by two young ladies: Gayle Czubaj and Nancy Petrucelli.

Turning to Christmas thinking we note Toys "R" Us, one of the world's largest chains of toy stores, has opened its newest outlet in Roseville at 32070 Gratiot.

The company's toy operations feature the biggest selection of toys, games, bikes, and juvenile furniture to be found under one roof, with more than 25,000 items offered from nearly 1,000 different manufacturers.

Much of the success of Toys "R" Us can be attributed to its discount merchandising efforts which include no-lay-aways, gift wrapping, credit cards, or fancy fixtures.

With its numerous tores the company can also utilize volume buying and mass distribution techniques, the latter consisting of its own centralized warehouses and a truck fleet.

Says president and founder 20 years ago, Charles Lazarus, "...the expansion program is just beginning with the company's goal being to have 100 stores doing $250 million within a few years."

Special recognition has been given Ruben Advertising agency of Southfield "for superior craftsmanship and skill in pursuit of graphic communications."

The Kimberly-Clark "Mark of Excellence" plaque was awarded the agency for its design and production of a dinner program for the Jewish National Fund's Morris J. and Matilda Brandwing Forest in Israel.

WILLIAM M. WILJANEN of Livonia has been named superintendent of the overhead transmission division of the transmission and distribution department of Detroit Edison. He joined Edison's overhead lines department as a college graduate in training after earning a mechanical engineering from Michigan Technological University.

Higher new car prices coupled with increased gasoline prices are costing the Michigan motorist 20 per cent more to own and operate an automobile than it did a year ago, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The Auto Club computes the cost of driving a full-sized, American made car at 19.8 cents a mile compared to 16.3 cents in 1973.

THE 19.8 cents figure is computed on 5.7 cents a mile for variable costs such as gas, oil and maintennce and 14.1 cents a mile for fixed costs such as insurance, depreciation and license fee.

The Auto Club compiled its figures by driving a 1974 eight cylinder, four-door hardtop Chevrolet with standard equipment including automatic transmission, power steering, power disc brakes and radio. Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager, points out that while some 1975 cars may offer improved fuel economy resulting in slightly reduced operating costs, the cost reduction will be more than obsorbed by the higher prices of new models.

Operating costs will also be governed by the area in which you drive with rural areas offering lower operating costs than urban areas.

Based on annual mileage of 10,000, it costs approximately 12.1 cents per mile to operate a compact, six-cylinder model in a low cost area and 17.9 cents a mile to drive the same car in a high-cost location.

MOTORISTS should also expect to add 20 cents a day in operating costs for air conditioning.

Motorists interested in improved fuel economy should consider weight as the greatest weight penalty, ranging from one to two percent miles per gallon for every 100 pounds.

Motorists wishing to improve mileage should consider buying radial tires which can improve fuel economy from three to 10 per cent with steel-belted radials generally producing the better mileage.

For some Michigan residents, home is where they hang their snowshoes. But residents in southeastern Michigan must plan ahead for weekends of skiing, sledding and snowmobiling.

Planning for winter activities in Michigan involves more than choosing the right winter vacation time, says B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

FOR BUSINESSES catering to winter sportsmen, it is important to know when the right kind and right amount of snow can be expected.

Snow removal programs must be prepared for action when that first substantial snowfall occurs. Some outdoor construction work, such as homebuilding, must be scheduled for completion before bad weather sets in.

The MDA's contribution to winter preparedness is the Michigan Weather Service. Fred Nurnberger, meteorologist for the service, says: "Unlike the National Weather Service, we don't forecast the day to day weather.

"We compile data from more than 200 cooperative weather stations located throughout the state and can tell what has happened in the past and what can be expected in the future."

NURNBERGER said the collection of snowfall data is a challenge to even the heartiest observers and a task made more difficult by the high winds and drifting which frequently accompany snow in Michigan.

Evans Products names Orloff new president

Monford A. Orloff has been named president of Evans Products Co., it was announced, at a regular meeting of the board of directors.

Evans Products, a leading retailer of building materials and a producer of precut homes, has its largest plant in the midwest located on Eckles Road in Plymouth Township.

Orloff assumes responsibilities as president, in addition to his positions as chairman and chief executive officer, upon the resignation of Sheldon Kaplan who resigned Oct. 28.

He indicated that he would continue his new role for an indefinite period and would devote his full energies to the restoration of the company's profitability and strengthening of its financial position.

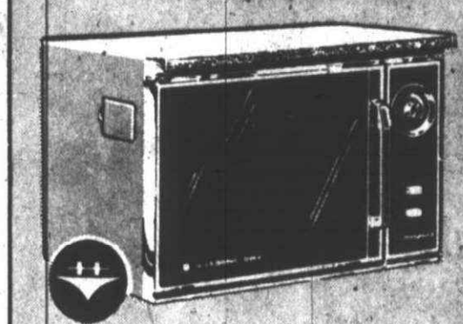

Orloff became president and chief executive officer in 1962 and assumed the position of chiarman of the board in 1964. He relinquished the presidency upon Kaplan's election to that position in 1971.

Sportsmen's dates

DECEMBER 1: Archery deer season resumes statewide, as does put and take pheasant season in southern Lower Michigan. Ruffed grouse hunting picks up again in the Lower Peninsula.

DECEMBER 31: Final day of archery deer season. Trapping ends in the Upper Peninsula. December ruffed grouse season ends. Cut-off date for special extended season on steelhead, brown trout, splake, lake trout and salmon in designated inland streams. Spearing for ciscoes, whitefish, suckers and carp winds up in designated waters.

ITEMS COMPETITIVELY DAY!

MEIJER thrifty acres AND SUPER MARKETS

Some grocery chains have recently announced a policy of freezing prices on a limited number of grocery products. Meijer has always maintained an extremely competitive pricing policy for its more than 7,000 grocery products, and will continue to do so in the future. This pricing policy includes both national and our own store brands.

We want to assure our customers that we will be competitive on all items, not just those that are frozen by other companies. Although we are not advertising or saying that our prices are frozen, our prices on comparable items with those frozen by our competition will not change.

In addition, we do not raise prices on grocery items already on our shelves, with the exception of sale merchandise. To the best of our knowledge, no other company in Michigan is currently operating under that policy.

HOLIDAY ART CONTEST

Dear Kids,

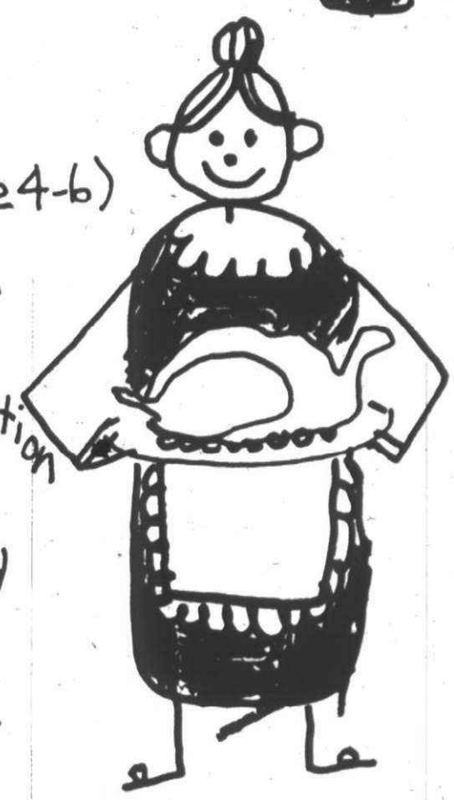

It's holiday time again, and that means it's time for the annual Observer & Eccentric Holiday Art Contest! If you're a boy or girl in any grade between 1 and 6, and if you live in our newspaper circulation area, then you can enter our Holiday Art Contest and maybe win a prize!! All you have to do is create your own work of art. When you do, try to think about the "holiday" theme. Show us, in your own way, how the holidays make you feel, or what the season and these special times mean to you. Show us in any form you like: drawing, painting, collage, sculpture, mixed media, even 3-dimensional creations. But — there is a size limitation. 2-dimensional (basically flat) works can be as big as 11"x14", and 3-dimensional works can be as large as 16"x16"x16".

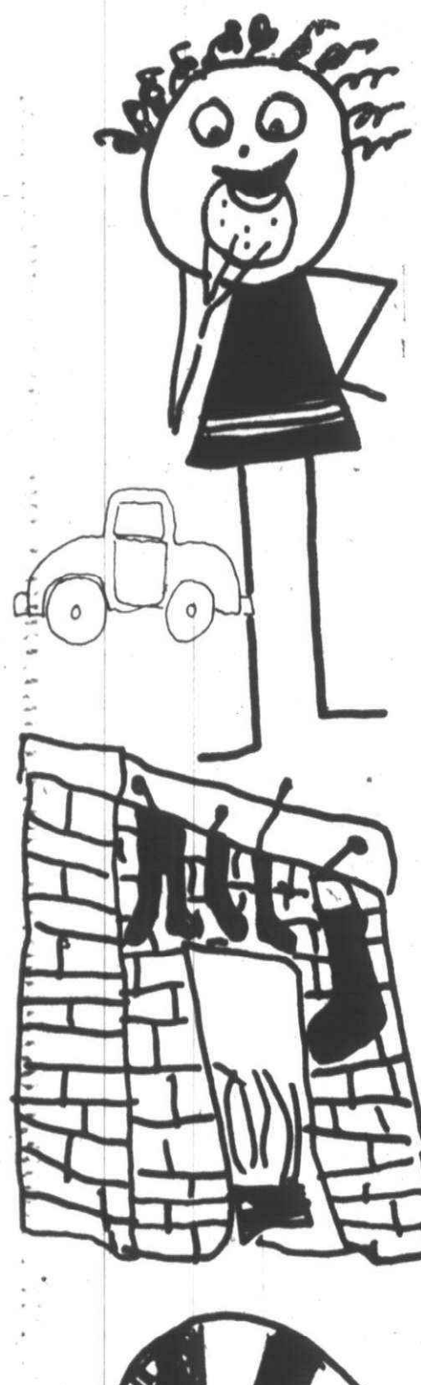

PRIZES!!

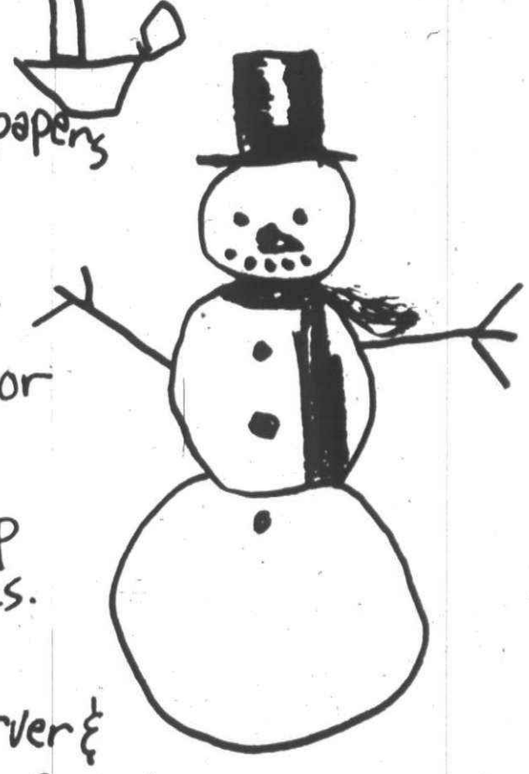

First prize artists in each category (grade 1-3 and grade 4-6) will win a 10-speed bicycle. Second prize winners in each category will receive a $25.00 U.S. Savings Bond. All of these prizes will be awarded on the basis of originality, imagination and interpretation. The decisions of the judges are final.

To Enter, print your information on the official entry blank and make sure it is well attached to the back or bottom of your art. Enter now. The deadline is Dec. 12. So get your pens, pencils, crayons and paints, glue, scissors and other stuff to work! Good Luck and happy holidays!

Sincerely,
The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

Land-use controls suffer setbacks

Environmental land-use controls are suffering setbacks from the voters, from the courts, and from builders and developers, University of Michigan Prof. Karl G. Pearson said this week at a meeting of the Illinois Association of Realtors.

Pearson, U-M professor of business administration and director of real estate education, added that "some appraisers are also viewing land-use controls with skepticism."

The U-M authority noted that in recent elections, California voted by a 3-2 margin against a proposal by environmentalists to halt construction of the New Melones dam by the Army Corps of Engineers; Utah voters by popular referendum rescinded the enactment of land-use planning proposals; Rhode Island voters rejected a bond issue for solid-waste disposal and drinking water treatment facilities.

IN OTHER ACTIONS, he added, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) some months ago was forced to withdraw its proposed taxes on employer-provided parking and on commercial and shopping center parking.

Likewise withdrawn were its proposals for mandating car pooling, and for giving cars with multiple occupants priority lanes on streets and freeways; an Indianapolis area plan to reduce vehicular traffic with parking surcharges has been stalled; opposition currently is mounting against the "coercive" features of land-use controls in flood areas.

Home&Garden

A recent successful suit against EPA asked the court to authorize the use of DDT insecticide to halt the Tussock moth infestation alleged to be threatening 690,000 forest areas in the Northwest, Prof. Pearson continued.

Supporters for construction of Auburn Dam in California overcame in court the opposition of three environmentalist organizations; a judge ruled against Petaluma's (Calif.) anti-growth restrictions on new dwelling units and new residents while a St. Petersburg (Fla.) ordinance to limit population was overturned.

"THE EFFECT of the energy crisis has also served to curb some environmental restraints," Pearson said.

"The North Slope petroleum project in Alaska is moving apace. The dire need for petroleum here was sufficient to overcome environmentalist opposition. Petroleum needs are also making for approval of off-shore oil well drilling projects, with stipulated controls against oil spills.

"The need for coal will give the go-ahead to surface mining in the west, also with proper provisions for land reclamation.

"Some real estate appraisers are concerned, lest new environmental enactments will create an instability in real estate evaluations. If a factory is ordered to stop operations because of alleged pollution, then the factory and the site may become worthless as real estate. If a shopping center has to limit its space for parking, this will cause a decline in sales and profits, and it will be worth less as income property.

"IF A LOW-INCOME housing project cannot be built in a central city area, due to inability to meet noise standards and still comply with cost limitations, then the area may have to be abandoned, with further decline in real estate values.

"In fact, San Diego lenders now require appraisers to assess the effect of environmental controls on value as a mortgage loan determinant. They are in effect echoing a common cry among builders and developers: 'EPA rules are contributing greatly to our increased costs.'

"Some turnabout from federal controls is discernible, however, in the community block grants in new housing legislation, in which the locality will have the say, rather than the federal government, on the mode of grant disbursement," Pearson concluded.

"Instead of the federal government subsidizing the construction of housing per se, the new trend seems to be to subsidize incomes so that families can afford housing. Perhaps this shift comes about because under the old federal housing subsidy programs, the Department of Housing and Urban Development was saddled with some 200,000 defaulted units."

Flowers brighten holidays

If a personalized gift appeals to you as the ideal holiday remembrance, there are many suggestions that include plants and fresh flowers.

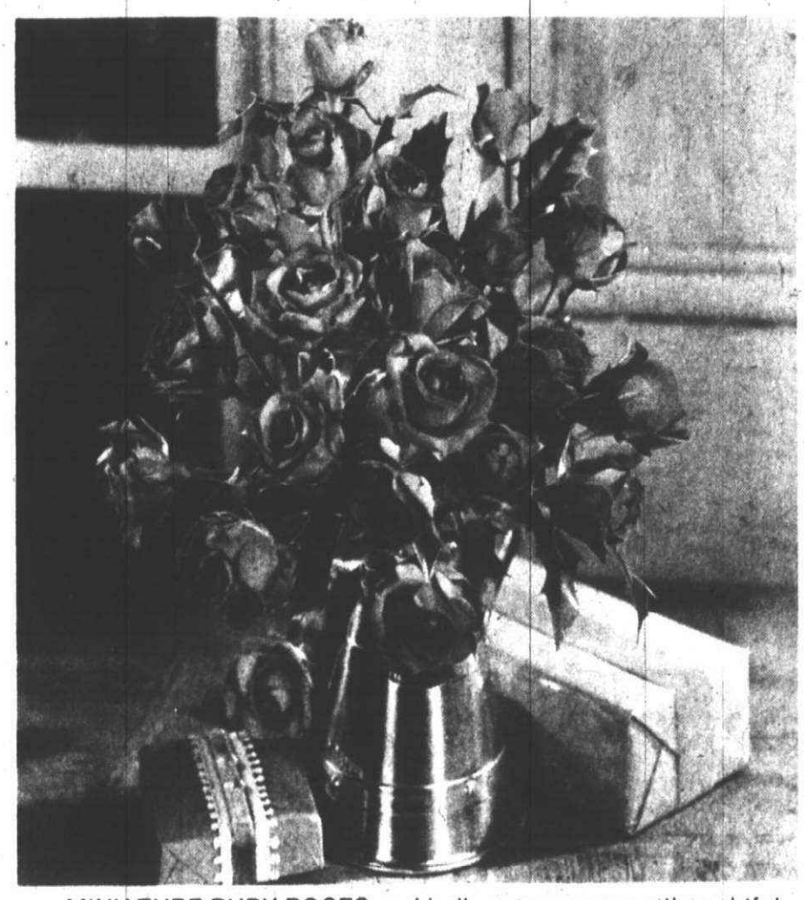

A gift for now or later, a charming bouquet of flowers combined with a keepsake container is an ideal gift that can be personalized in many ways.

For an antique buff, try a bouquet of miniature ruby roses combined with holly greenery and delivered in a shining copper flagon. For a china collector, consider a nosegay of delicate flowers in a charming hand-painted cup and saucer. For someone with a sterling personality: a silver goblet filled with perfect blooms.

Plants and terrariums are highly popular gifts both for home and office. The choice of greenery is wide, ranging from tiny fragrant herbs in thimble-sized containers to ceiling high palms.

PRE-SEEDED planter is easy to wrap and place under the Christmas tree. Available in red, yellow, white or blue containers, they are planted with marigolds, coleus or alyssum.

MINIATURE RUBY ROSES and holly greenery are a thoughtful gift for antique buffs when arranged in a decorative copper flagon.

Corn husk dolls:

As appealing now as a century ago

In the days when all treasures under the Christmas tree were made by hand, corn husk dolls were a favorite gift.

Today, starting from scratch or using a convenient kit, you can make the dolls that delighted children a century and more ago.

Note: Corn husks must be wet for easy working. Soak them in a solution of hot water and two to three teaspoons glycerine until they are pliable.

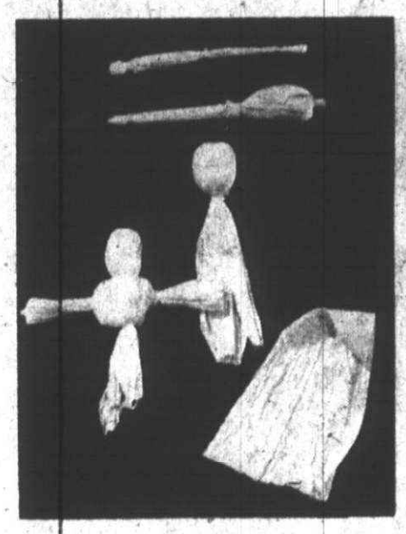

1. Begin your doll by making the arms. Roll up a husk tightly; tie with string at each end to form hands and again in the middle. Then add a blouson sleeve by attaching two corn husks slightly above the tie for the hands; pull these pieces back toward the center, slightly overlapping so the sleeve will be closed; secure with string. Form the head out of scraps of husks. Wrap with husk and tie at the neck with string, leaving ends that are long enough to serve as bodice pieces.

2. To put head and arms together, place the arms between the bodice pieces. Wrap a husk over each shoulder of the doll, crossing in front and back at the waist. Secure with string at the waist.

3. Two or three large husks are used for the skirt, depending on the fullness desired. Attach each husk at the doll's waist in an upward position, then fasten string tightly around the waist to hold in place. Pull husks down to form skirt. Trim bottom of husks so the doll stands straight.

4. Finishing touches are left to your ingenuity. Hair may be added using corn silk or hemp. You also may wish to add a husk hat, or a gingham apron and bonnet.

CORN HUSK DOLLS can be used for holiday decorations or gifts. Mrs. Julia Darian of Farmington created the straw wreath and framed doll. Packages of corn husks with instructions for making the dolls are available at craft shops. Mrs. Darian uses natural materials to complement her corn husk doll decorations.
