

Rocks, Chiefs, finish with a win

By FRED DeLANO

It's fun to be a winner.

The elation of victory swept through the varsity basketball squads of both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton High Schools, as well as among their followers, this weekend and it won't end until elimination finally comes — if it does at all — in the state tournament.

For the 17-2 Rocks of Salem, a 79-51 romp on their own court over Redford Union meant a second successive Suburban Eight outright championship, the fourth time in eight years they have held the league crown.

The Canton Chiefs, who went 10-10 in the regular season after winning only four times last winter in their initial campaign, turned Friday night's 57-46 victory at Livonia Churchill into sole possession of second place in the Western Six.

No one can possibly quarrel with that sort of a finish for a school which only now has its first senior class.

NOW IT'S ON to the state tourney for both the Rocks and Chiefs. What's more, both will play in the same district tourney at Southfield High School, Ten Mile and Lahser.

When Athletic Director John Sandmann took part in the draw at Southfield, he came up with a first round bye for each of his Plymouth teams. So tonight it will be host Southfield against once-beaten Northville, the Western Six champion, and Livonia Bentley vs. Farmington. Wednesday night, at 7 p.m., the Plymouth Rocks — talked of in some quarters as a potential state champion — will meet the winner of the Southfield-Northville battle. Thursday it will be the Plymouth Chiefs against the Bentley-Farmington winner — and, yes, you guessed it, the championship Saturday at 7 p.m. could conceivably be Plymouth vs. Plymouth!

THE HOME crowd in the Salem gym Friday sensed early that the Rocks were headed for triumph and another league title, with emotions heightened by special attention for senior basketball players, and their parents, senior cheerleaders and senior Rockettes. To put it mildly, the mood was festive.

Within two hours Rock Coach Fred Thomann (all six feet nine of him) was to be carried off the floor in triumph on the shoulders of his boys — the main shouder being that of Eric Agardy, still a growing lad at 6-10 and 215 pounds.

With the chant of, "We're No. 1," "We're No. 1," still ringing in his ears, it was into the shower for the fully clothed Thomann. But as a former Michigan State basketball star himself and coach of a state high school championship team before he came to Plymouth, Thomann took it with a willing smile. It sure does beat losing.

His troops had completed their first major goal before a screaming home crowd, that of repeating as league champions. How far can either the Rocks or Chiefs go in the tournament? One week will hold many answers.

Moceri, board will attempt settlement

TROPHIES FOR THE ROCKS seem to be an annual event, as Plymouth Salem took first place in the Suburban Eight League Friday by dumping Redford Union 79-51. It was the second basketball championship in a row for the Rocks who rolled up a 17-2 overall season

By RICHARD GOLD

CANTON — Another chapter in the long history of the Moceri project was written last week when Supervisor Robert Greenstein announced that negotiations were under way to settle the matter out of court.

Developer Dominic Moceri went to court last summer seeking a rezoning of a 65 acre parcel of land at Joy and Sheldon after the rezoning was denied by the township board.

The court suit asked that the land, currently zoned R-1C (single family), be changed to CS (planned shopping) so that Moceri could erect a regional shopping center on the site. The proposed commercial complex would have covered more than 500,000 square feet.

MOCERI owns a total of 195 acres at the corner of Joy and Sheldon, and the remaining 130 acres were scheduled for a residential planned unit development (PUD). Although the previous township administration approved the plan in May 1974, a contract was never signed and subsequent action by the new board sent the matter back to the planning commission on Jan. 28.

The first round of talks got under way Feb. 18 and the negotiations will determine the use of the land. Once both parties and the court agree on a definite use for the land, the consent judgment will have the same effect as if decided in the courtroom.

According to Greenstein, once the court agrees to the decision reached by negotiations, "the matter will be permanently settled."

"The decision will be binding and permanent," he said. It will not matter who owns the land, once the consent judgment is agreed to, it will follow the land forever.

"What is nice about this arrangement is that we are not constrained by zoning laws. We can decide on any use for the land." He added the township is demanding substantially larger lots, elimination of multiples, and a saving of as much of the 40 acre woods on the site as possible.

ED DRAUGELIS, trial attorney for Moceri, agreed "preliminary discussions were under way." "As of right now," he said, "there is no indication of what agreement will be reached. We had a lengthy meeting and we will attempt to reach agreement."

"The township has a different version for the land than we do. They have made stringent demands, and as of right now, it would be premature to speculate on the outcome. But we do have a heavy financial commitment to the land."

Greenstein explained that Moceri had agreed to the talks primarily because "it was evident after the treatment they received by the board on Jan. 28 that their future in Canton Township was in substantial jeopardy."

THE TRIAL, originally scheduled for April 1, has been postponed for at least three months so the talks may proceed. Greenstein says that while this is to the benefit of the township, Moceri will get a piece of land that would be free of all zoning problems because of the consent judgment.

He said, "As soon as the judgment is reached, someone can begin building on that land. All they have to do is get site plan approval to see that they meet the provisions in the judgment. They will avoid any prolonged action by the board and the planning commission."

THE HISTORY of the Moceri Project is a long, involved and somewhat confusing one. It began when Moceri purchased the 195.4 acres from residents Ralph Burch and his sister, Henrietta Burch and Mildred Foege in December 1971.

He hired architect Victor Schrem who arrived at the concept of a massive regional shopping center incorporated into a PUD.

The plan provided for a shopping and entertainment complex on 65.5 acres of the property. The rest of the land would be designated residential and would incorporate several kinds of multiples and single family dwellings.

The plan was submitted to the planning commission formally in March 1972. The next half year was spent conferring with township planner Mike Manore.

IN AUGUST 1972 Manore sent a letter to the planning commission explaining the talks and recommending the project on a tentative basis. He said further changes were necessary and the matter was tabled.

A public hearing was scheduled for Jan. 3, 1973. Windsor Park residents and other new subdivision residents appeared en masse to protest the regional shopping center. After hours of discussion the planning commission sent the matter to the Wayne County Planning Commission without ruling on the issue themselves.

In February 1973, the county planning unit advised the township they were against the project, citing among other things, the traffic problems that would be generated.

On Feb. 27, the township board approved a moratorium on multiple housing. A citizens advisory council

Pursell proposes closer look at kids' sports

PLYMOUTH—Citing what he terms a "win at any cost" philosophy that exists in kids sports, State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) has called for a study of organized amateur sports.

Pursell has introduced a proposal to set up a bi-partisan Senate-House committee to investigate possible abuses in youth sports programs, and to question the purpose of youth sports programs beyond the training of professional athletes.

A former coach in the Plymouth Hockey Association, the senator said he wants a thorough "top-to-bottom review of the sports programs to make sure it fulfills a positive, rather than destructive, influence on developing young lives."

"Obviously I wouldn't be asking for this investigation if I wasn't fairly sure a problem exists which might be dealt with in some meaningful way by the legislature," Pursell said he was not trying to place blame on individuals or groups, or try to break up leagues. "My entire focus in this investigation is to preserve and expand athletic participation for all young people."

AREAS THAT Pursell suggests should be looked at closely include:

- That encouragement and even glorification of violent action and physical intimidation are pervading some sports programs, with a concurrent decline in the teaching of skills and sportsmanship.
- That undue pressure and influence by adults may tend to undermine the essential values of athletic competition, instead of encouraging them.

- That the need may exist to require training clinics for coaches in youth sports programs because they have the most profound effect on the competitive attitudes and values of young athletes.
- That every effort should be made to provide meaningful participation for all kids, including girls, in a variety of sports.

Pursell also suggested physical demands placed on young sports participants may be damaging, and that perhaps more emphasis should be placed on the fun and socialization aspects of sports for kids.

REACTION BY many coaches in the Plymouth area has been supportive of Pursell's inquiry, although all coaches view the problems in a slightly varied manner.

To one coach, it is the lack of tougher officials, while another blames the quality of coaching on the strong "win" attitude. One former coach suggests the study is long overdue, while another complains a greater emphasis on training requires more funds, which are not easily obtained.

In an area close to Pursell's heart, the Plymouth Hockey Association, involves close to 320 kids, including two Pursell sons from age seven to 20. PHA president Bob Myrtle feels many of the criticisms Pursell has lodged apply to a small percentage of the organized youth sports throughout the state.

"There's no win at any cost attitude in the PHA," Myrtle said. But he noted a cause of that attitude may be fostered by poor coaching.

Pursell was also critical of the number of games many leagues play, particularly in hockey where he noted that "One woman told me her boy was invited to play on a team that plays 96 games a season. That's league games, not counting exhibitions."

Myrtle said that situation does not exist in any of the Plymouth teams, and that most teams play a 40 game season, including exhibition games.

"I'm not sure the number of games is even that important," Myrtle said. "A kid isn't on the ice more than 12-15 minutes out of a 45-minute game. The maximum might be 20."

THE PHA includes seven "A" Division teams which travel and play in leagues that include teams outside of Plymouth.

These teams play around 50 games each season, according to Dick Randazzo, who coordinates scheduling for the PHA. The remaining teams are "house teams" which play a maximum 40 game schedule.

Randazzo explained that limits on the number of games which can be played have been set by both the PHA bylaws and the Michigan Amateur Hockey Association.

MAHA also recognizes another classification which it reserves for its "cream-of-the-crop" players—the open division. Kids aged 12 and under in this category are limited to 75 games per season, five less than the NHL, while open division teams for kids over 13 are allowed to play an unlimited number of games.

Some coaches in the PHA feel these leagues are more representative of the "win at any cost" philosophy that Pursell has complained of. There are no open division teams in the PHA.

But a former coach, Bill Murphy, feels the attitude exists through all age levels in all divisions. "There's too much of a win at any cost atti-

Madonna classrooms are filled to capacity

Soaring student enrollment has caused Madonna College in Livonia to survey the campus for additional classroom space and to plan expansion of the college parking lot facilities.

With 1,786 students now enrolled, there are times when every classroom is in use, says Sister M. Danatha, president. "And we have converted previous storage space and a former science reading room into classrooms."

THE COLLEGE recently purchased 420 chair-desks to accommodate the influx of students.

Madonna enrollment is 57 per cent higher than in the fall term of 1973, and 27.6 per cent higher than last term.

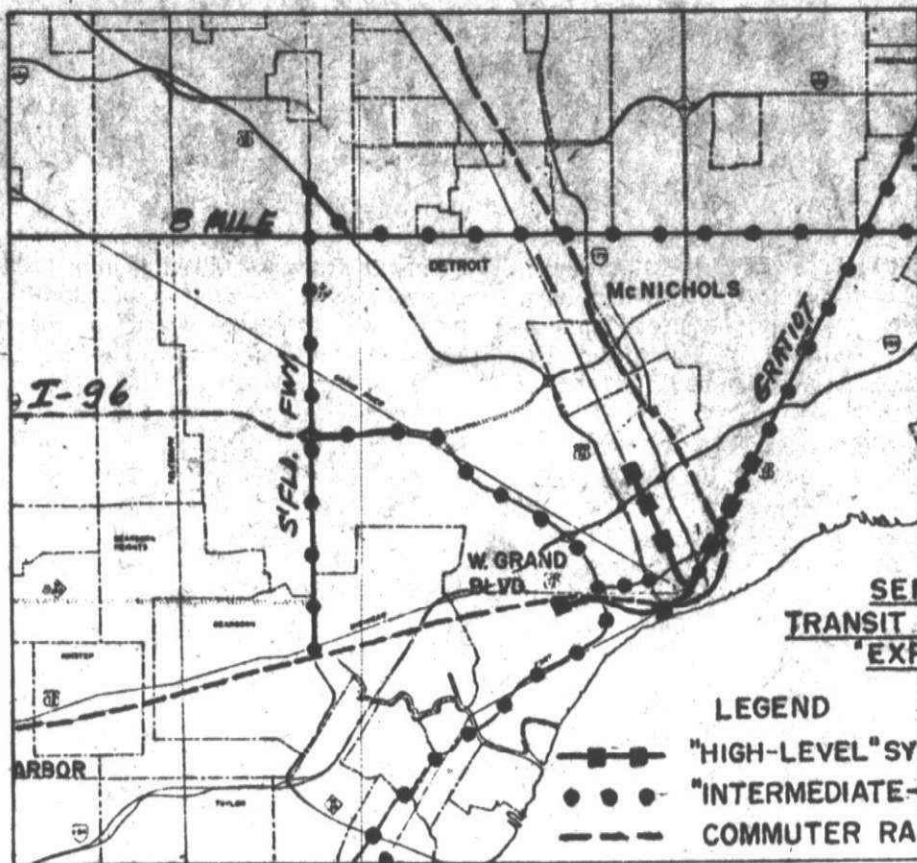

Peak periods of attendance are

Tuesday and Wednesday evenings when large numbers of commuting students are in class.

"We have had to allow parking on the grass and have hired a private guard to direct traffic on those evenings," says Sr. Danatha. Specifications are now being prepared to expand the parking lot from its current 500 spaces to 700.

THE PARKING lot expansion alone will represent a capital expenditure of about $175,000.

Sr. Danatha also confirmed that the college buildings are currently being air conditioned — a project to cost more than $600,000 and scheduled for completion in July. Madonna has a summer term which extends through May, June and July.

THE "BALANCED transportation" plan envisioned in the $1.1 billion bond issue Michigan voters rejected last year has been scaled down to this proposal for the metropolitan Detroit area. (Source: SEMTA consulting engineers)

New transit plan is 'scaled down'

By TIM RICHARD

The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) will emphasize "intermediate level" rapid bus service and get a modest start on rapid rail transit if it gets the split it wants of Gov. Milliken's proposed $175 million bond issue.

Where possible, buses would use exclusive lanes, and bus stops and turnouts would be in freeway medians.

SEMTA's board has asked the governor for $100 million of the revenue bond issue which Milliken proposed in his budget message several weeks ago. Milliken's budget didn't detail a breakdown, but he promised to do so in a special transportation message, due possibly today.

K. ROSS CHILDS, acting general manager of SEMTA, said the six-county agency has an $812 million, six-year program in mind.

It would be a scaled-down version of Phase I of what the region would have received if voters last November had approved a proposed $1.1 billion state transportation bond issue.

If the state approves a $100 million share of the proposed bond issue, said Childs, the SEMTA region could expect to put up $72.5 million as its local share, and the federal government would be the source of $640 million.

Childs said SEMTA would like to start on three segments of the rapid rail system: (1) Woodward corridor from the central business district to Grand Boulevard; (2) the Michigan Avenue corridor from downtown to W. Grand Boulevard; and (3) the Gratiot corridor to Burns.

Such a system would measure 10.68 miles in total length and carry an estimated average daily ridership of 22,380 by 1990.

In 1975 dollars, assuming a nine per cent rate of inflation, those three segments would cost $637 million, according to SEMTA's engineering consultants.

The state plan had envisioned four commuter rail lines—Detroit to Pontiac, Detroit to Ann Arbor, Detroit to Mt. Clemens and Detroit to Rockwood. SEMTA recommended scaling these down and implementing only the segments to Pontiac and Ann Arbor.

Inter-city bus service to Mt. Clemens and Rockwood is contemplated.

"INTERMEDIATE" level bus lines of 46.6 miles are proposed in four corridors:

- Eight Mile Road—a 15.9 mile segment from Northland Center to Harper Woods. An engineering report accepted by SEMTA suggests that "the left lane of both east and west bound roadways is assumed to be allocated for the exclusive use of buses and left turn traffic. Bus stops and turnouts are proposed in the median; pedestrian bridges, spanning Eight Mile Road, connect the median with sidewalks and new parking lots at all stops. Preferential bus signaling will be provided at intersections."
- Jeffries Freeway—an 11.3 mile segment from the Southfield Freeway to downtown Detroit. (The bond issue defeated by voters in November would have extended this segment westward to Telegraph Road.)
- Southfield Freeway—a 10.3 mile segment from Nile Mile Road in the Northland complex to Michigan Avenue in Dearborn. But engineers note that "this six-lane freeway is heavily used and so balanced in both directions during peak periods that there does not appear to be an opportunity for contra-flow operation of buses; hence, the operation is assumed to operate along service roads with preferential treatment at intersections."

• Gratiot Avenue—from the rail terminal at Burns to the Macomb County suburbs. Engineers note Detroit "has already developed a proposal to operate buses on exclusive lanes during peak periods. The recommended approach is to expand upon the city's proposal by providing preferential treatment at intersections and by acquiring parking facilities and bus shelters."

HOW THE local share of $72.5 million for this program would be raised is still an open question. SEMTA has no taxing authority of its own.

Childs recalled the State Finance Committee once noted that a split of the sales tax on gasoline would yield about $54 million.

A rider on the income tax, applied in the three metropolitan counties, is another possibility. Indeed, such an option is proposed by consultants for the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

Childs says SEMTA opposes dipping into the half-cent of the state gasoline tax earmarked for public transportation because that amount was to be used for operating subsidies rather than capital equipment.

Kinnick knocks election results

CANTON—"I'll be chairing the next meeting," declared former chairman of the planning commission, Joseph Kinnick.

Absent Feb. 18 when Gus Matzo and Bob Miller were elected chairman and vice chairman of the advisory body, Kinnick claims the vote was improper.

"It wasn't on the agenda," he said, "and if it isn't on the agenda you can't act on it. Neither the vice chairman, Bob Simmons, or myself was at the meeting. They shouldn't have conducted the election."

"I DON'T CARE who they elect, that's their business, but I don't like the way it was done.

"Just because there's a new administration doesn't mean they can do what they want. It just isn't proper."

Kinnick added he had been ill for the entire week preceding the meeting. "I had a 104 temperature and was in bed all week. I lost 22 pounds."

Supervisor Robert Greenstein responded to Kinnick's charges of impropriety by noting that Kinnick at the meeting preceding the vote had informed the commission elections were due.

"I am surprised and amazed at his reaction," said the supervisor. "He announced the elections and set the date at the study session and there was a quorum present."

"The agenda is for the public. A vote for officers is a private function of the planning commission and doesn't have to be put on the agenda, although I don't know why it wasn't added."

Greenstein said, "If he had called and said he was sick and asked that the elections be postponed, I'm sure they would have. All he had to do was pick up the phone."

THE SUPERVISOR said that Flossie Tonda, who was reelected as secretary of the planning commission, was the presiding officer present at the meeting.

"Flossie was the one to bring up the elections," Greenstein said. "If he should try to chair the next meeting, the board might ask for his resignation."

The supervisor labeled Kinnick's charge that the election is part of the new administration's effort to rearrange the township as "pure poppycock."

The vote to elect Matzo was 4-1 (over Simmons), while Miller was elected by a 3-2 margin. Tonda won reelection unanimously.

Kids' sports probe proposed

tude," Murphy says, despite bylaws in the PHA which seek to place the emphasis on equal participation and learning skills.

"Hockey should be a recreation program for the kids and not an ego trip for some coaches," Murphy said he resigned from the PHA last year because he felt inadequate as a coach and "partially because of the win at any cost attitude."

BACKING UP Murphy's feelings is Dave Geddes, a scorer for the Midget A League (15 and 16-year-olds), who says, "Most coaches have a tendency to drive the kids to no end. Nobody likes to be a loser."

"Hockey's no different than the Roman days, except now we send out a lot of young bodies on the ice to beat each other up. Geddes scored a game played in Wayne last week in which a fight broke out in the last two minutes of the game and six players drew penalties and blood.

"I like to win like anyone else," Geddes said, "but in the fundamental stages of hockey it's not the time to go out and win, it's the time to go out and learn."

Geddes did note that a solution is not as simple as it sounds. "You need a lot of ice time to train a good team and when you have only one or two hours a week to work with the kids you almost have to beat it into them."

"I think it's the wrong approach. Maybe we should look at the way hockey is taught in Czechoslovakia, Russia and Sweden."

One former little league baseball coach, Russell Maxwell, said he agrees with Pursell in part. "When the kids get mixed up in these little league sports their school work slacks off."

"I agree with the idea that we're burning these kids out. By the time they get to high school they've seen everything in sports and they're completely burnt out."

"I agree with winning, but some of these coaches go completely ape over winning. Kids have to learn how to take defeat too. I think it's more important to have a good time and learn to play together."

Maxwell said his sons, Rick and Bob, both played hockey in the PHA. While admitting he wasn't much of a hockey fan he said his youngest son, Rick, 17, dropped out of the Midget B league play because he was continually benched.

"The coach told him he wasn't aggressive enough and he wanted someone who could hit harder. So he just paid his fees and wasn't able to skate." He said Rick was now skating in the over 30 league.

RUSS BIDDINGER, a coach in the midget league, said he agreed with Pursell's main idea and said part of the fault lies with the referees.

"The kids watch the pros and try to emulate them. With the dilution of the National Hockey League, we're seeing poorer hockey by the pros and the kids are copying it. The referees overlook a lot of bad hockey on the part of the kids."

Biddinger also suggested the MAHA should take a stronger stand against coaches who allow their players to continually drop their gloves and masks.

While he says he still thinks kids' sports are a healthy outlet, he says that with hockey the fun may be leaving the game. "It's supposed to be a fun-type game, but there's no fun left in it."

Moceri, board may settle

was formed to study land use in the township and one of their topics for condominiums was the Moceri project.

THE PROJECT lay dormant for six months and in August, the day before the advisory council released its final report, Moceri attorney Gil Franklin announced the regional shopping center was dead.

He said "forces in the community are responsible" for the Moceri company's change and added, "I guess this is democracy in action."

Instead, Moceri drew up a drastically altered plan calling for a local shopping center with 200,000 square feet of commercial and entertainment facilities. The residential part of the complex was significantly increased, although the multiples were included.

A school site also was included in the plan.

In September Moceri informed the township by letter that he wanted the regional shopping center plan formally withdrawn.

In October 1973 the planning commission considered the new plan. But the sentiment of the commission members was that they liked the old plan and would accept nothing less than a regional shopping center. They said that they had never voted on the old plan and asked that it be resubmitted.

IN LATE OCTOBER and early November, a series of three joint meetings of the board and the planning commission resulted in the resubmission of the original plan with certain alterations. An informal poll of the board was taken at one of these meetings and based on that vote, Moceri proceeded with the original plan.

At the second of the three meetings on Nov. 1, the PUD and the shopping center were separated at the request of Manore.

On Nov. 19, Franklin sent a letter to the township formally indicating that the original shopping center plan with some minor changes had been formally resubmitted.

AGAIN OPPOSITION in the community began to form and a planning commission public hearing was scheduled for December and then rescheduled for Jan. 15, 1974 following complaints by residents that the hearing would be poorly attended due to the holidays.

The public hearing took place at the UAW Local 735 hall and more than 600 people voiced their dissatisfaction.

Principals in the fight against Moceri at that time were Greenstein, then president of the Federation of Homeowners, and Carl Pursell, then President of the Windsor Park homeowners.

An informal vote held at the public hearing showed more than 90 per cent of those in attendance were against the regional shopping center.

But the planning commission voted unanimously to recommend the plan to the board.

THE WAYNE COUNTY Planning Commission followed with its approval, reversing an earlier recommendation.

Feelings against the project were still strong and homeowner groups vowed a "militant fight."

After several postponements, the matter came before the township board on April 9, 1974.

After a short discussion, the board voted on Trustee Jim Poole's motion to deny the rezoning for the huge shopping complex.

Trustees Poole and Brian Schwall and clerk John Flodin voted in favor of the denial while treasurer Grant Campbell and trustee Don Korte voted against the denial. The final vote was 3-2 as supervisor Philip Dingeldey and trustee Robert Griffin were ill and could not attend. The project again appeared dead.

MOCERI later took the matter to court alleging in his suit against the township that the public hearings had prejudiced the board members.

The complaint called the action of the board "capricious, totally arbitrary and not based at all upon sound rezoning principles."

While the shopping center question ended up in the court, the PUD trailed behind, virtually unnoticed.

On Feb. 15, 1974 the PUD plan for 130 acres of residential development was submitted. On April 2, a public hearing was held and the planning commission subsequently voted to recommend the plan approval to the board.

The county planners agreed and on May 14, 1974 the board approved the project.

But the contract for the PUD was never signed and the new board took office.

GREENSTEIN refused to sign the contract. In the interim the plan had to be altered because the Plymouth school board informed Moceri that the elementary school planned for the development had been scrapped.

The PUD site plan was altered and Franklin went before the board on Jan. 28, 1975 asking that the site plan be approved and a contract be signed.

Greenstein criticized the developer citing "previous shabby work" in the Pickwick subdivision. Franklin was told to see the planning commission about changes in the plan.

GREENSTEIN then announced the hiring of Burt Burgoyne, "a super land use lawyer" as trial lawyer for the Moceri case and stated that as an expert witness he had retained Professor Robert Hotaling of Michigan State University.

At the same time he announced, "Canton Township is declaring war on builders that seek to rezone, develop and build in the township through the court system rather than normal channels."

Negotiations between the township and Moceri began last Tuesday and the PUD site plan was removed from the planning commission agenda pending the outcome of the talks.

Murder suspects bound over

By RICHARD GOLD

PLYMOUTH—Following more than eight hours of testimony, 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis Feb. 21, ordered defendants Barry L. Provov, his wife Leslie, and Robert Umney bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court for arraignment in the Jan. 28 slaying of Canton resident Terry L. Buchman.

The exam followed the Feb. 8 arraignment of the three defendants on charges of first degree murder after a complaint had been signed by Lloyd Cash, 20, and a warrant issued for their arrest.

THE PRELIMINARY examination precedes a trial and is designed for the prosecution to show a "probable cause that a crime was committed and that the defendants were responsible for the crime."

County assistant prosecutor Joseph Costanza fulfilled that requirement when Davis ruled the defendants be bound over to circuit court.

Calling it "an easy case and a gang-type execution," the judge said there was reasonable cause to assume that a murder was committed and the three defendants were responsible.

Davis said, "Terry Buchman was killed either by a rifle shot through the heart or a shotgun blast to the head, either of which separately or in conjunction was fatal."

He continued, "As for intent (which would prove first degree murder), reasonable people don't go visiting friends with guns." Quoting from star witness Lloyd Cash's testimony he added, "Mr. Umney's statement that dead men don't drink beer is evidence of intent."

Cash had stated that while the defendants, he and Buchman were driving in Umney's car, Umney had replied to Buchman's request for a beer by saying, "Dead men don't drink beer."

Cash also said that Umney said of him, "He's mine; you can have the other one (Buchman)," inferring that Umney wanted to kill him personally, while Buchman was, to be Provov's victim.

DURING the preliminary exam, the prosecution called four witnesses. They were Cash, an alleged eyewitness to the events that directly preceded the murder; a medical examiner, Dr. Sawati Kanluen, who performed the autopsy on Buchman; and two Wayne County sheriff's officers, Det. Robert C. Pond and Patrolman Herbert Lutz of the identification bureau.

Of the four witnesses, Cash received the most attention and vigorous cross examination from the three defense lawyers.

Defending Barry L. Provov, 27, was Michael Pantel, a former member of the Oakland County prosecutor's office. Robert Delaney, a Plymouth attorney, defended Umney, 22, while Gerald Davis, a former assistant attorney general, defended Leslie Provov, 18.

ALL THREE defense attorneys took turns vigorously cross examining Cash in an apparent attempt to discredit his testimony. They tried to show discrepancies between his original signed statement to police and his testimony.

The cross examination brought out apparently contradictory evidence, and on several occasions Cash remained silent, using his fifth amendment right, when asked if he had ever taken LSD or had "business dealings" with certain other individuals mentioned in the testimony.

Cash, however, did admit he had consumed at least 11 beers during the late afternoon and evening preceding the murder.

Under intensive questioning, he also admitted splitting a "hit of acid that Barry gave us (Cash and Buchman)."

UNDER cross examination by Delaney, Cash admitted he told sheriff's deputies he had laid face down in the mud and pretended to be unconscious. But when questioned further by Delaney, he said he had lain on his right side and had, in fact, seen Buchman run. Provov shoot, and Buchman twitch when hit by a shot.

Cash also said that several shots were fired, by Provov, but investigators at the scene of the crime were unable to find any spent .22 cartridges.

Patrolman Lutz, assigned to take a picture of the body, said it was "pitch dark that night," and he was unable to get a good picture even with a flash bulb.

He said that Buchman was shot in the back, but the medical examiner revealed that the bullet entered Buchman's body from the side, prompting Delaney to ask Cash if "Buchman was running sideways."

Cash's testimony also revealed that he owned one handgun, a .357 magnum and two rifles—"all legal," he claimed.

All three defendants will appear in circuit court on March 25 for an arraignment on the information presented at the preliminary examination. The pretrial examination and trial will follow at a later date.

Dinner boosts youth agencies

PLYMOUTH—Ford Motor Co.'s Sheldon Road Plant, a long-time supporter of Our House and the Youth Center, two youth-oriented social agencies in the City of Plymouth, will sponsor a dinner to stimulate community support and interest in the agencies on Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the Youth Center, 271 S. Main.

Ford has given financial support, donated supplies and manned fund raising teams in efforts to aid the organizations.

The efforts of plant manager John McCray, main organizer of the support dinner, have been prime factors in developing a broad base of support in the industrial-commercial community for the organizations.

Ford's interest in the Youth Center was first expressed by former plant manager Robert Gerrity last summer.

School principals may be organizing

PLYMOUTH—An advisory vote by building principals in Plymouth School District seeking formal recognition of the Plymouth Congress of Administrators by the board of education has been approved by a 27-3 margin.

PCA President Carl Taylor explained that the vote does not mean administrators have organized as a bargaining unit. "It only means that we are considering that as one possibility."

"Our goal at this point is to sit down and talk with the administration and the board. Right now there are no serious problems that building administrators are experiencing."

Taylor repeatedly said that the vote was only "advisory" in nature, adding "there is nothing definite at this point."

The vote was taken with 30 of 35 building administrators present at a meeting of the PCA. Taylor said a similar vote has been taken in other school districts in the Detroit area.

"They did the same thing in Allen Park two years ago, and it has been hanging fire since then. The issue could be delayed indefinitely as far as I'm concerned."

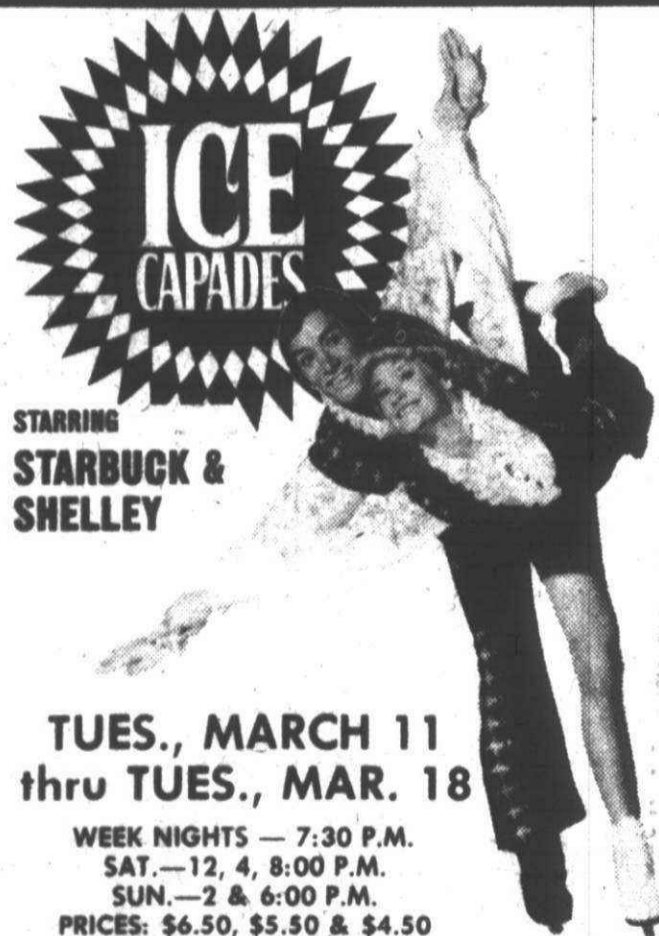

He said the advisory question has been discussed several times over the past two or three years by PCA, but this is the first time the advisory question has come to a vote. The PCA executive board will meet in mid-March, according to Taylor, and some-ting "more definite may come out of that meeting."

Taylor suggested that the main concern of PCA members at this time was greater involvement in what's happening within individual buildings. "There's no gross unhappiness; we're just seeking more input from the building level."

A tasty subject: wildlife by Thom

By PATRICIA BEACH SMITH

"One vanishing species stalking another" is how wildlife artist Robert Thom described a safari he recently subjected himself to in order to obtain necessary data for one of his latest art endeavors.

The contrasts encountered on that safari still seem to amaze Thom.

"During the day we risked our lives bouncing around in a Land Rover, chasing giant animals, fighting off the tse-tse flies and avoiding snakes and crocodile while fording swollen rivers," Thom said.

At night, he said, the highly civilized English life took over and lavish game dinners were served by waiters in tents. Tea was always served in the afternoon, too.

"IN THE CAMPS, men toiled all day to prepare the day's meals. Bread was baked fresh daily and animals brought back from the hunt were skinned, cleaned, dressed and prepared for dinner," he said.

His own hunting was confined to camera and sketch pad, recording minute details of animals he saw and their environments, to be used in his authenticated, world record big game animal lithograph series.

The first exhibition of the original paintings from which the lithographs are made, opened Sunday at The Robert Thom Gallery in Birmingham.

The finished product can't possibly tell everything about Thom's adventures. The paintings and companion lithographs show fairly benevolent and passive life studies of magnificent animals, who in reality were shot as world record takes.

"KILLING THEM is a senseless thing, I think, but I have to admit that there is something primeval which takes over when you're out there tracking them and going in for the take," Thom said.

"I hunted when I was young but stopped shortly after I started because it was abhorrent to me. I always liked skeet shooting better, anyway."

However, he philosophizes in saying that the plight of the remaining wildlife will never be remedied as long as the hunters and anti-hunters continue to waste their energies fighting each other.

He hopes his art series on the endangered animals will help create a middle talking ground and possibly build new sensitivity to the animals.

THE SAFARI and last year's extensive trip to America's west have yielded more than artistic material for Thom. He could get fat from the rest of his material—recipes garnered from African cooks and big game hunters and their wives.

His kit bag full of recipes includes goodies like roast impala leg, jellied elephant trunk and sasaby or kudu steaks.

He explained that most African game meat tends to be dry and needs larding—with small onions, fat or fat bacon.

He collected 153 recipes on the safari alone. He plans to produce a big game cookbook with Douglas E. Miller, his partner in the Wilderness World Limited endeavor.

"ALSO MAKING the safari easy to take were the three wines served at dinner," he said.

Gourmand Thom suggested that South African white wines were not as good as the reds and the roses, but they were nonetheless good.

Just in case you happen to get a hold of some warthog, impala, sasaby or zebra, consider the following modes of preparation:

JELLIED ELEPHANT TRUNK
Put portion of trunk in large kettle of scalding water, parboil 45 minutes. Remove and cool in cold water. Remove skin and hairs and wash thoroughly.

Put trunk back in fresh water with onion, a little garlic and pickling spices. Boil gently until tender. Cool overnight in same juice.

In the morning take the meat out, remove any cartilage, and slice meat thinly. Pack in jars covering with the juice. This jells and when chilled can be sliced for serving cold. The meat may be also pickled in vinegar if desired.

SAND GROUSE PIE
(or guinea fowl may be substituted)

Warthog pie served to Thom in the bush

Several sand grouse (or 1 guinea fowl)

1/2 cup raisins
2/3 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
4-5 apples
Flour to thicken
Pastry for topping

Cook sand grouse until tender. (A pressure cooker may be used to hasten this process). Remove meat from bones and cut into pieces. Salt meat lightly. Add remaining ingredients and put in a casserole. Make a regular pie crust and put on just like a pie. Bake at 350 degrees until done. You will love this pie!

IMPALA CURRY
Cut impala steaks into 1" cubes and fry in butter with onions. When browned, add 1/2 tsp. of curry, 1/2 tsp. of hot chutney, 1 tsp. of vinegar and simmer for 10 minutes. Sprinkle 1 tbsp. of flour to gravy. Thin sparingly with water. Serve over rice. Side dish — Raisins and chopped onions. Chutney.

BUFFALO TAIL
Chopped onions, fried in butter until brown, put in sections of tail and fry until brown.

Salt and pepper; add 1 tsp. of Bovril or marmite.

1 quart of water 2 to 3 hours or 5 hours (depending on how old the animal is)

Put peeled potatoes in for 20 minutes

Make thin paste of flour and thicken gravy.

"Killing them is a senseless thing, but I have to admit that there is something primeval which takes over when you're out there tracking them and going in for the take."

--artist Robert Thom

editorial opinion

Are suburbs ducking spirit of open housing?

Emory Daniels Writes

Some findings of the Coalition for Block Grant Compliance back up what many believed about our suburban communities: Our suburbs are reaping benefits of industrial tax base without assuming the social responsibility to provide housing for workers.

The coalition is a group of volunteer watchdogs investigating where communities applying for federal funds under the Community Development Act (CDA) are complying with requirements of the act — particularly those requirements to provide housing for low and moderate-income persons.

LIVONIA, for example, has a total work force of 40,630 with only about half (19,472) living in the city. Of the 3,162 blacks working in Livonia, only six reside in the city.

Westland has 8,708 workers with half (3,907) residing outside the city. Of the 370 blacks working in Westland, only 66 live in the city.

Figures reported were sketchy for Garden City. But it was reported there are 28 minority workers eligible for federally backed housing in Garden City. A HUD official reports there are 356 persons in Garden City suffering from inadequate housing. In 1972, Garden City had 61 minority workers, but at best has only 10 blacks as residents and would have difficulty finding only 10 blacks as residents classified as minorities.

THE POINT is that suburbs are quite willing to welcome industry and large retail centers to enrich the tax base but are very slow at finding housing for the workers whom without the tax enrichment would be impossible.

No government official would admit it publicly, but in some suburbs the problem isn't that the community is unwilling to provide housing for workers. Rather, they are unwilling to provide housing for blacks. I will give some credit to Westland, however, which is more integrated than Livonia, Garden City, Plymouth area, Canton Township or Redford Township.

I find this particularly ironic in the case of Garden City which is a bedroom community of primarily white automotive employees. The community sorely lacks tax base with residents paying comparatively high millage rates to support education and city services.

Garden City educators, quite correctly, will argue against the inequity of an industrial-rich school district like Dearborn being able to spend many more dollars per student. By accident of geography, Garden City lacks a railroad track and cannot attract industry easily.

Yet, Garden City is riding the same train as Dearborn when it comes to keeping blacks out. If Ford Motor Co. were to locate a plant in Garden City, it is almost certain that city would have the same ratio of blacks working in the city but living elsewhere.

THE PROBLEM is not merely compliance with the civil rights legislation or recognition that the U.S. Constitution exists.

The problem is that our communities are asking for federal funds for local projects, without coming up with specific plans to house minorities working in their city.

Livonia is applying for $5 million. Westland for $2 million. Garden City is asking for $585,000. Do cities "skirting" social obligations, on the brink of violating civil rights legislation, have a right to federal tax receipts?

The Detroit busing case, as it now stands, has left the suburbs with an assurance black children won't be bused to suburban schools. This ruling shouldn't result in suburban governments ignoring their obligation to provide equal housing opportunity and a social responsibility to find housing for those who make their tax base possible.

The Stroller

How we remember our past presidents

By W. W. EDGAR

The discussion at the luncheon table was about the double celebration of Washington's birthday in one week.

There is the historical date of Feb. 22 and the political date of Feb. 17 this year, brought on by organized labor's request for three day weekends.

The talk eventually led to discussion about the unusual things people remember about former presidents.

We are reminded annually that George Washington never told a lie and, at one point in his youth, admitted cutting down a cherry tree.

The other story often told is Washington throwing a silver dollar across the Potomac River. The story usually ends with the punch line, "A dollar went further in those days."

The tale was given a new twist this year when a TV comedian said: "The dollar was only worth 38 cents when it landed."

THE STROLLER chuckles when these tales are mentioned.

The cherry tree story was concocted in the fertile mind of "Parson" Weems, who was known as the world's greatest liar.

His grandson, Ted Weems, nationally known band leader, laughingly recalled his grandfather's story on his annual visits at Westwood Gardens.

It was amazing to Ted that Parson's word became part of American lore.

The same must have been true of the dollar throwing tale. At least that is what The Stroller came to believe the afternoon he stood on the lawn at Mr. Vernon, Washington's home, and looked across the Potomac. The opposite shore seemed too distant for any one to reach with a silver dollar.

The Stroller always had a hard time believing the man who was to be called the father of our country stood up in a rowboat for the ride across the Delaware River the night before the battle of Trenton.

If he did, then why don't we view that as proper instead of warning everyone never to stand up in a rowboat.

YET IT IS BY such things that Washington is best remembered when his birthday comes around.

With other presidents, no such myths have been woven. But they are remembered for the little things they did.

For instance, mere mention of Abraham Lincoln often is accompanied by the story that he was a railsplitter in his youth and he studied by the light of the logs in the fireplace.

In the telling of these tales the fact that he became the Great Emancipator by freeing slaves, seems secondary.

Remember William Howard Taft, the stout Ohioan who was president in 1908-1912? What is he best remembered for?

Would you believe that his name has gone down in history—baseball history—as the first president to toss out the ball for the opening of the baseball season.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who instituted many welfare programs, is best remembered for one single statement. When he was inaugurated in these days of gloom, he told the nation, "We have nothing to fear but fear itself." Those words should live forever.

Who can forget "Silent Cal" Coolidge and his famous statement "The reason for the unemployment problem is the fact that so many people are out of work."

It is interesting that we best remember our great men by little things—even by such myths as admitting chopping down a cherry tree or the throwing a silver dollar across the Potomac.

Praises teachers

Editor:

Although there are problems between teachers and school administrations in some districts, I don't think this should detract from the fine work many teachers are doing for students.

My children are enrolled in the Plymouth school district, and home tutoring has been necessary for my son who has been unable to attend school until the end of January because of a brittle bone problem.

During all these months, his home-bound teacher, Mrs. Labile, from the Plymouth schools, brought his assignments, explained them and discussed their meaning with him.

Also, his teachers at Plymouth Salem High School extended their cooperation to an exceptional degree in preparing his assignments (his Latin teacher, Mrs. Geddes, even recorded cassette tapes for him) and fitting him into their classes when he was finally able to attend school.

I don't think we should forget that there are hundreds of teachers who put the education of their students first.

Thanks offered to Greenstein

Editor:

Within the next week, I will become a new resident of Canton Township. I express my thanks that this community has officials with the sensitivity and knowledge to answer the needs of its people.

For several months, construction on my new home had been at a standstill. It was only through the personal efforts of the township supervisor, Robert Greenstein, and his staff that the home is near completion.

I am grateful that the present residents of Canton Township possessed the foresight to elect responsible people to deal with the problems and desires of their township.

She's a Girl Scout cookie mom despite illness

By MARIE MCGEE

The last thing in the world Charlene Stotsbery needed was to be "cookie mother" for her daughter Stephanie's Brownie troop.

But she is—and with the full consent and encouragement of her husband, Ron, who will probably wind up doing most of the work.

What set Mrs. Stotsbery's offer to help apart from those of other mothers is the fact that she has multiple sclerosis and often has difficulty getting the family laundry done, much less getting cookie orders ready for 19 scouts and their mothers.

And while she isn't completely confined to a wheelchair yet, she does have a difficult time getting around the house because of her weakened legs.

Her wheelchair sits in a far corner of the living room.

THE WHEELCHAIR, she explains, is reserved strictly for outings away from home. "I don't want to start using it around the house too soon. I've been told that you can become too dependent on it, and I don't want to do that just yet."

It's that determination, coupled with her husband's cooperation, that keeps the spunky Livonia housewife from surrendering to the disease that attacks the central nervous system, leaving its victim in a highly weakened condition.

A FALL from a neighbor's porch while doing a babysitting "favor" four years ago resulted in a leg injury that was later diagnosed as multiple sclerosis.

Since then, it has brought many adjustments in the active family's life-style, with Ron and the children assuming more and more responsibility as Mrs. Stotsbery fluctuates between periods of extreme weakness and remission when "things aren't so bad."

She's in a period of remission right now. "Thank goodness for that," she smiles as she looks at the cookie order list.

THE STOTSBERYS are determined to keep their family life as normal as possible, particularly when it comes to activities affecting the children.

"That's why I volunteered to be cookie mother," Mrs. Stotsbery said. "I knew it was something that I could do at home." She also serves as the troop's telephone mother.

Area women discuss film

Marriage relationship seen most changed in recent years

By MARGARET MILLER

Listen to the voices of women in these parts and you have to believe that a new view of the marriage relationship is for them a most significant result of women's liberation.

It's that change they discussed most after viewing a University of Michigan film designed to compare life styles of women 20 years ago and now.

Groups of viewers, both at the Family Y in Livonia and in a meeting of the American Association of University Women in Plymouth kept getting back to the changing roles of husband and wife, mother and father, as they discussed the film and its implications.

"I LIKED THE TERM 'partners' as they used it in the movie," said one young mother from Plymouth. She was referring to a scene in the film, "Two Women, Twenty Years," in which a graduating U-M senior says she's sure, if she has children, that she'll share child-care arrangements with her "partner."

"I used to think in terms of my lord and master," the Plymouth woman went on, "but I'm sure now that wasn't good for either my husband or me.

"We've learned that a daddy can do all the home things a mommy does, and it's good for the children to know this.

"We do have a partnership now. When there's something quite important for me to do, my husband sometimes arranges time off so I can do it."

A NURSE who had viewed the film at the Livonia Family Y suggested it looks as though in the few years more and more companies are going to be granting men maternity leaves when new babies are born, as well as sick leaves when their children are ill.

"That will mean fathers will be able to share in more family life situations, and I think that will be better for everyone," she said.

Another Livonian mentioned that she and her husband had decided early in their marriage he'd work full time while their children were small, then would go into a business he could run from the home and she would go out to work.

"We were talking about waiting 10 years before I started working," she said. "The economic situation has

'Women Alone' course to begin

A course designed to help women cope with living alone again after loss of a spouse will begin March 3 at Schoolcraft College.

Titled "Women Alone—Focus Widowhood," the course will be taught by Karen Morrison, staff member and certified social worker with the Family Service of Detroit and Wayne County.

Mrs. Morrison has worked for eight years in individual, marital and family counseling. She is senior caseworker in the family service's out-county district.

Topics for discussion during the eight sessions will include understanding the normal grieving process, finding a new identity as a single person, raising children as a single parent and developing new skills.

The class, sponsored by the women's programs and services department, will be held Mondays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Newman House, 17300 Haggerty, just south of the Livonia campus.

Registrations will be taken in the Schoolcraft registrar office from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, Feb. 24 to 26.

DISTRIBUTION of Girl Scout cookies will be a family project for the Stotsberys of Livonia. From left are Ron Stotsbery; daughter

Her husband, employed by a Detroit printing firm, works nights and is able to help her a great deal during the day.

He will probably be the only male to pick up cookies from the massive cookie "drop" on Feb. 24 when several thousand cases of Girl Scout cookies will be dispensed to 70 troops in Livonia and parts of Westland from two semi-trailers parked at St. Matthew Church on Six Mile Road in Livonia.

THE "DROP" signals the start of the Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit 1975 cookie sale that officially opens Feb. 28 and continues through March 9. Profits benefit individual troops as well as help with operating expenses and help with maintenance of the Detroit council's three year-round camps.

The Stotsberys, with help from Stephanie and Mike, 11, will then re-group the 40 cases to fit the individual orders.

Four-year-old Lawrence already has his job picked out—he says he will be the "sampler" along with Dandy, the family poodle, who loves peanut butter patties.

EXTENDING a helping hand to others is nothing new for the Stotsberys. Three years ago, on their own, the couple decided to help the less fortunate youngsters at the Plymouth Center for Human Development. They began collecting items for individual Christmas packages to help brighten the lives of the children in the facility.

"The first year the packages were small with not too much in them," Mrs. Stotsbery recalled. The next year was better as word got around that the couple needed items for the gift packages.

"And the third year, we had so much stuff we hardly had time to get it all wrapped. Ron took a day off from work and we wrapped all day and we still didn't get it done," she chuckled.

THE FAMILY didn't attempt the project this past Christmas because of Mrs. Stotsbery's health.

"But somehow it didn't feel like Christmas to us, so we've decided to go ahead and do it again this year, regardless of how I feel," she said.

Anyway, the Girl Scouts at Adams School where Stephanie is a third grader, have promised to help when the time comes.

Meanwhile, there are 40 cases of cookies to get ready for distribution.

Livonia LWV will sell plants

The greening of Livonia will begin Sunday, March 16 with a plant sale sponsored by the League of Women Voters in St. Andrew Episcopal Church, 16360 Hubbard.

The sale, on from 2 to 4 p.m., will feature a talk on exotic plants by Lanie Anderson, an experienced amateur horticulturist. It will include information on the care and propagation of plants, pest control and the selection of the proper plant for home and office.

Her speech will begin at 2:30 p.m. A resident of Birmingham, Miss. Anderson became interested in tropical plants four years ago, becoming a self-taught expert specializing in growing these plants under Michigan conditions.

Currently she appears at five or six plants parties a week imparting botanical wisdom and selling plants, which she carries with her in a van.

She also will take orders. In addition to tropical and flowering plants, terrariums will be included in the sale. Prices will range from $2 to $45.

Pots in sizes from three to 14 inches may also be purchased.

First state hockey tourney brings regionals to Livonia

Livonia's Bentley and Stevenson high school hockey clubs will have the advantage of home ice at Ford Arena when the first stateprep tournament ever held in this sport opens at eight regional sites next week.

However, the area's two other high school sextets—Livonia Churchill and Livonia Franklin—have been assigned to the regional to be played in Yack Arena, at Wyandotte.

Bentley, which is the host school for the eliminations at Ford, has drawn Ann Arbor Huron as its first round foe on Tuesday, March 4. Stevenson has a first round bye and won't go until Friday, March 7 when the Spartans will meet the winner of an earlier game between Ann Arbor Pioneer and Jackson Lumen Christi.

At Wyandotte, the first round opponents for Franklin and Churchill will be Trenton and Allen Park respectively. Both of those games will be March 4.

Bentley Athletic Director George Fefles said double headers have been scheduled for Ford Arena both March 4 and March 7 but tickets will be sold separately for each game. The arena will be cleared between games, and tickets will be $1.50 per contest.

Fefles also said he will welcome calls from any doctors who may wish to volunteer their services and be present on the night games are played at Ford.

Regional champions will advance to a second round to be played the following week and the state championship will be settled on the University of Michigan ice at Ann Arbor a week later.

Pairings:
AT FORD ARENA: Tuesday, March 4—Ann Arbor Pikeer vs. Jackson Lumen Christi, 6 p.m.; Li-vonnia Bentley vs. Ann Arbor Huron, 9 p.m.

Friday, March 7—Detroit Country Day vs. Bentley-Huron winner, 6 p.m.; Livonia Stevenson vs. Pioneer-Lumen Christi winner, 9 p.m.

Saturday, March 8—Championship game between Friday's winners, 2 p.m.

AT WYANDOTTE: Tuesday, March 4—Livonia Franklin vs. Trenton, 6 p.m.; Livonia Churchill vs. Allen Park, 8 p.m.

Thursday, March 6—Wyandotte vs. Franklin-Trenton winner, 6 p.m.; Ecorse vs. Churchill-Allen Park winner, 8 p.m.

Aggies go on 'scoring binge'

St. Agatha's biggest scoring spree of the season brought the Aggies their third February basketball victory in the form of an 82-41 rout of Marine City Holy Cross.

It also meant that at 4-16 the Aggies in Jim George's first year as head coach have matched their win total of the last two campaigns when they went 2-18 and 2-16. Tonight they make their state tournament bow against St. Frances Cabrini at 7:30 on the St. Andrew court.

The Holy Cross game saw St. Agatha roll to leads of 25-6 and 48-19 at the quarter and half, and before it was over George used all 11 of his players, eight of them scoring.

Five of the Aggies were in double figures: Gary Beyrand, 17; Greg Sipus, 14; Mike Campo, 13; Pat Ruvo, 11, and Steve Clor, 11.

"We're making progress," said George. "We've improved a lot and the attitude is good. Our jayvees were 11-9 this year and there's good material coming up."

Aquinas spurt beats Borgess

Bishop Borgess ended its regular season basketball schedule on a losing note when Southgate Aquinas came up with a hot hand in the fourth quarter to beat the Spartans, 49-27.

"We were in the game much of the way, trailing only 17-13 at halftime and 25-18 after three periods," said Coach Mike Guza. "But in the final period they shot real well off their fast break. They were hitting and we weren't."

In that final, fatal quarter Aquinas piled up a 24-9 edge and the defeat left Borgess with a 2-18 pre-tournament record. Dave Priebe led Borgess scoring with 10 points.

Guza's club will face Detroit Kettering at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at Ferndale High School in the first round of the state tourney.

Glenn wins title

After posting a perfect 5-0 dual meet record against league opponents, Westland John Glenn's wrestlers have added the Northwest Suburban team title to their laurels for the season.

The Rockets piled up 114 points in the league meet to 87 for second place North Farmington. Trailing in this order were Garden City East, 57; Franklin, 55; Thurston, 48, and Oak Park, 4.

Individual champions included Jerry Hensley, 108 pounds, John Glenn; Garon Vasha, 115, John Glenn; Bill Ficyk, 129, John Glenn; Jeff Mathene, 135, Thurston; Fred Shoemaker, 141, John Glenn; John Thome, 148, GC East, and Steve Spigarelli, 158, Garden City East.

Gym meet is set

Clarenceville High School will be the site of the Wayne-Oakland League's girls gymnastics meet at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 27 with the host Trojans a favorite for the team title.

The Clarenceville girls concluded their dual meet schedule by defeating North Farmington, 109.75 to 107.70.

Firefighters used bucket brigade

(Part I)
 "A little fire is quickly trodden out; which, being suffered, rivers cannot quench."
 —Shakespeare

Tonquish Creek, piped underground in downtown Plymouth as a nuisance many years ago, was once the city's chief source of water for fighting fires.

During the great fires of 1856 and 1893, when the business block on Main Street opposite Kellogg Park was twice destroyed, countless buckets of water from the Tonquish were used in attempts to stop the flames from spreading.

Before volunteer hose companies were organized, residents and shopkeepers were required to keep buckets, ladders and barrels of water available. When the fire bell rang they had to form bucket brigades from the nearest stream, pond or well to the scene of the fire.

Ironically, the village had already taken steps to establish a more sophisticated fire-fighting system just before the 1893 fire, which occurred in April. On March 15, a month before the conflagration, fire hose had been ordered. Water mains had been installed in 1892.

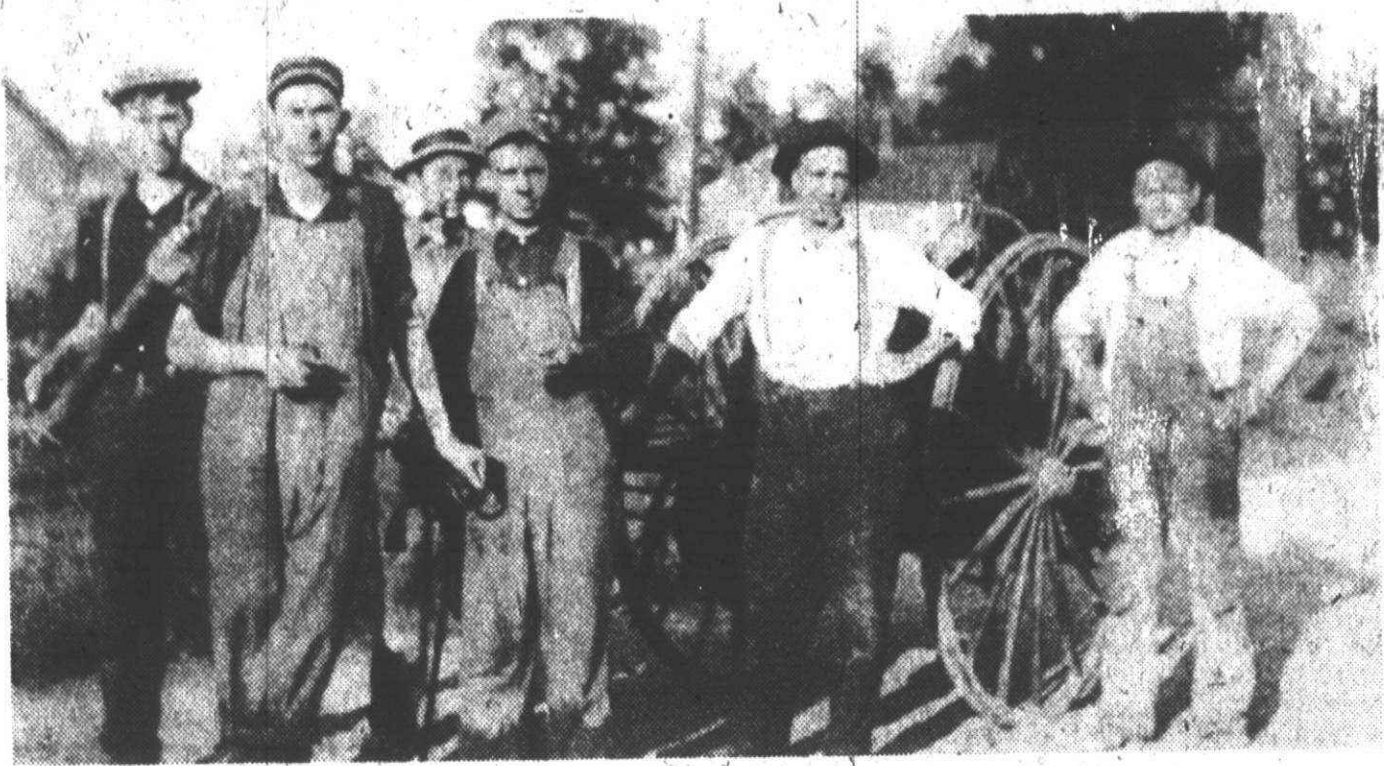

Three volunteer hose companies were established in 1894. The Aetna Hose Company stowed its hose cart under the bandstand in Kellogg Park. The Phoenix Company kept its equipment at Holbrook and Spring. The Royal Company's cart was located on Main Street near Church.

In addition to hose, the carts held rubber boots, coats and hats, an axe, a pike, a pole and a ladder. On hearing the bell, the firemen ran to the fire, some pulling the cart after them. Occasionally a public-spirited citizen made a horse available. Residents whose property had been saved customarily served refreshments after the fire.

Hose company volunteers were usually young men whose family names have become prominent in the political and business annals of Plymouth. The roster of the Royal Hose Company in the 1890s included such familiar Plymouth names as Hough, Bennett, Baker, Mimmack, Passage, Rauch, Roe, Penney, Brown and Chaffee.

Firemen in the 1890s and early 1900s were a clannish lot who often had substantial political influence. E.C. Hough, who was the number one pipe-man of the Royals in 1899, was a member of the Village Council in 1901-02. Robert Mimmack, captain of the Royals in 1899, was president of the village in 1931-32.

THE FIREMEN were also an important social factor in the community.

PLYMOUTH WAS SERVED by volunteer fire departments after 1894. Volunteers kept hose carts stowed throughout the city, many times pulling the carts by hand to the fire. (From "Pictures of Plymouth, Past and Present" with permission of the author)

They visited other cities and, in turn, played host when firemen from other cities came here. The term "visiting fireman"—an important visitor whom it is desirable to show about or entertain impressively—which became part of our language, is evidence of the gala fashion in which fire companies entertained each other.

The minutes ("doings," as the secretary called them) of the Royal Hose Company for June 22, 1899, recorded a motion to hold a social to defray expenses for a trip to St. Marys, where the Royals had been invited to run a racing company.

Sometimes an event was promoted to replenish the company's coffers. On Sept. 19, 1899, a motion was carried to appoint a committee to put on a play for the benefit of the Royal Hose Company. Appointed to the committee were E.C. Hough, C.H. Rauch, Robert Mimmack and Clay Hoyt. On Jan. 4, 1900, the play committee was empowered "to sell the manuscript of the play 'Henrietta,' provided the Royal Hose Company does not put the play on."

Most of the Royal Company's meetings were held at Conner's Hardware Store. Occasionally, one of the officers of the company would invite the volunteers to his residence for a social evening. On March 4, 1902, Captain Mimmack entertained, providing "carron boards" and tables. "For two hours a jolly time was had," wrote secretary C.G. Curtiss. "Mrs. Mimmack furnished so many things to eat that some of us were liable to incapacitate ourselves for duty should an alarm be given tonight."

PLYMOUTH—PAST AND PRESENT by Sam Hudson

A PETTY CASH fund was apparently unknown to the Royals. On Sept. 19, 1899, passage of a motion was required to disburse $2 to pay for eight cigars sent by the company to Chief George W. Hunter while he was on a northern trip. On second thought, $2 was not as petty in those days as it is today.

Grass fires kept the hose companies hopping in the 1890s, as they do the Plymouth Fire Department today. Hot stove pipes were among the other causes of fires. Chicken coops were foremost among the structures often damaged by fire.

On Sept. 8, 1898, the Royals put out a box car fire on the Flint and Pere Marquette Railroad near the Fairgrounds.

On April 27, 1899, they responded to a fire in the Bennett Fanning Mill. The fanning mill, the first factory built in Plymouth, stood at the corner of Main and Union Streets. It was owned by L.H. and C.H. Bennett. L.H. was the father, and C.H. the uncle of Charlie Bennett, who became president of Daisy. On the same day they quenched the fire at the fanning mill, the Royals had to put out a fire in the village jail.

(Part II will tell about the hose battles, and about the controversy in 1946 when all of the volunteer firemen resigned in protest against a new commission policy).

State police sponsor Operation Identification

Operation Identification is coming to the Plymouth-Canton area—perhaps for the first time ever.

The program, which allows persons to engrave their drivers license numbers on their goods of value, is hailed as a deterrent to crime and a way to recover stolen goods.

The Michigan State Police post, 1024 S. Mill, Plymouth, is expecting the arrival of engraving tools some time in March, according to Trooper Michael Garrison. The tools are earmarked for Canton, Northville and Plymouth township residents on a loan-out basis.

PLYMOUTH and Canton offices of Century 21 Real Estate, located at 975 S. Main, Plymouth, and at Ford and Sheldon in Canton, have ordered engraving tools for residents of the city of Plymouth and Plymouth and Canton townships, according to sales consultant Brad Werner, who spearheaded the program in those offices.

The tools, which Century 21 agents have purchased from their own pockets, will become available to residents around March 15, Werner said. Residents may borrow the tools for a 48-hour period and obtain free warning stickers, alerting potential burglars to the marked goods.

In addition, the city of Plymouth's police department is planning to implement a similar program near the end of April.

Sgt. Carl Berry said his department already has the tools, but a lack of manpower has delayed implementation of the program.

"There should be someone available at least one hour a day," Berry maintains.

THE DEPARTMENT should be ready to implement the program at the end of April, Berry said, when officer Joseph Kahanec, the department's newly-hired community services officer, completes recruit training.

Both city and state police departments and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, hail the program as a deterrent to crime.

"If I were a burglar," Garrison said, "I'd want to burglarize a house where the things I took couldn't be readily identified. If I knew there was a number on there someplace, I wouldn't want to touch it."

"Without that number we can't do anything," Garrison said, "even if we know the item was stolen."

Berry said, "It's an extremely good program. We've never had any experience around here with it, but if burglaries happen I imagine it would be easier to return stolen goods."

Although the Sheriff's Department does not lend tools to the public, Inspector Richard M. Novak said his department has urged residents to engrave some identifying number on their valuables.

"It was strictly something we advised people to do on their own," Novak said. "Our advice was to use some number they could identify if they were burglarized and went to court or to act as a deterrent to thieves."

Police departments and service organizations have sponsored Operation Identification programs across the state.

Many police departments, particularly those in Ann Arbor and Lansing, have reported positive results, Garrison said.

"It won't work unless we really work at it here," he said.

"Theft is a community problem, not just a police problem. Police can't do the job alone."

THIS BOY AND THIS GIRL ARE MISSING

This boy and this girl are missing out on a lot of things they could be having as carriers for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. They could be earning such things as money, merchandise prizes and tickets to special events.

But earning pocket money and winning special prizes are just two of the nice things that can happen to carriers. There are bigger advantages. A carrier goes into business for himself. At an early age, he or she learns how to get along with people. They do a bit of bookkeeping. They learn responsibility. They gain additional confidence.

Is your child missing out on these things? If one of your children is 12 years old or more, we suggest you get in touch with us, and hear about our carrier program.

Niles leads Tigers to 79-46 victory

Dave Niles scored 20 points, grabbed 11 rebounds and recorded 11 assists in leading Garden City West past Southgate, 79-46 as the Tigers tied Melvindale for the Tri-River League basketball championship with a 12-2 record.

Running its overall record to 17-3, West had to struggle in the first half before putting the Sabers away. The hosts trailed, 17-14, after eight minutes and 33-26 at halftime.

However, two 23-point quarters back-to-back stunned the upset minded Sabers when West buried them in a 46-20 second half scoring explosion.

Balanced scoring helped West as Mike Susko was the only other Tiger in double figures with 18 points. Regulars Gary Hutnik, Randy Shelley and Ken Chavis all chipped in eight.

Reserve Terry Bradley also fired in nine points for his season high.

Shelley paced West with six first-quarter points. Niles added five and Hutnik four as the Tigers built a 17-14 edge.

In the second period Susko canned six and four each from Niles and Chavis propelled West to its seven-point intermission margin.

Southgate's Chris Jacuk and Joe Sammons' counter attacked with 17 and 14, respectively, and Tim Burnett had 10.

Susko's eight points and Niles' five started the deluge in the third period before Bradley's seven last quarter markers, added to six by Niles, helped to complete the rout.

Perhaps the biggest cheer of the night came when reserve guard Jeff Summers scored two free throws with five seconds left for his first points of the season, thus giving every player a place in the scorebook this year.

Tonight (Monday), West battles host Churchill in the second game of a doubleheader as district play begins in the state basketball tourney. The Tigers beat Churchill, 66-56, earlier in the season.

Final Tri-River standings show West and Melvindale with 12-2 records, followed by Cherry Hill, (11-3), Kennedy (7-7), Southgate (6-8), Crestwood (5-9), Riverside (4-10) and Schafer (1-13).

Dunham salute helps Bentley beat Dearborn

Livonia Bentley turned its final home basketball game of the season into a night of tribute to a hard working substitute and it paid off with a decisive 75-56 Suburban Eight victory over Dearborn.

Not only was Dave Dunham made honorary co-captain by Coach Larry Jackson, but he also was in the Bulldog starting lineup for the first time ever as a reward for his persistence.

Dunham had stuck with the varsity squad this winter for the first time, and as one of the seniors making his final home appearance he was hailed by student banners which helped build team emotion.

Dunham responded with five points in the Bentley cause and as a whole, the team had one of its best nights, getting excellent scoring balance with four men in double figures. John Miller led the way with 20 points, Dan Dinsmore had 15 and both Don Kegley and Mike McChesney popped in 10.

The Bulldogs took the lead for keeps on a three-pointer by Miller that made it 23-20 in the second period and by halftime Bentley was in front 36-30. The second half saw Bentley pad its lead with a 39-26 margin.

Jim VanderHull, son of the Dearborn coach, was high man for the Pioneers with 22 points, Dale Mason and Dale Wimmer each adding 13. The victory was especially satisfying for Jackson and the Bulldogs for Dearborn led the Sub 8 for several weeks and the outcome put the two teams in a third place tie in the final standings behind Plymouth Salem and Belleville.

Bentley now will carry an overall 11-9 record into state tournament play, facing Farmington in the first round at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Southfield High School.

By FRED DeLANO

It took just three seconds for Plymouth Salem to take the lead over Redford Union, and when the firing range was closed down later in the evening the Rocks not only owned a 28-point victory, 79-51, but their second straight undisputed Suburban Eight basketball crown was well.

At one point Plymouth led by as much as 37 points in the one-sided romp as 10 men shared in the scoring and all 12 on the varsity saw action.

The big gunner was Jim Ellinghausen, the 6-8 junior who already is beginning to bring a gleam to the eyes of college talent scouts. Ten field goals and three foul shots gave "Eli" 23 points, his top output of the season. In Coach Fred Thomann's words, he also played "tops on defense," blocking shots and grabbing rebounds.

SENIOR CENTER Eric Agardy, who already has set a new school career scoring record, chipped in with 16 points and Capt. Dan Moore added 10, although the regulars played less than three-quarters of the game.

Ted Ackerman with 14 points and Gary Stafford with 12 paced the out-manned RU Panthers who trailed 22-8 after the first period, 40-20 at the half and 63-32 after three quarters.

Plymouth's passing offense was particularly sharp, and assists were officially credited on 29 of the team's 31 field goals. Moore leading with eight.

"That says something," smiled Thomann in the locker room after he had been dunked in the shower — fully clothed — by his jubilant charges. "It didn't just happen, and it didn't make any difference which group was in there."

He referred to the fact that besides his starters the Rocks use complete units often on substitutions, turning mop-up chores over to "Maloney's Marauders" and "Gladstone's Gladiators" as John Maloney and Rick Gladstone's combinations have become known.

The Rocks finished the regular season 17-2 and PU 8-12. Final league standings show Plymouth at 12-2, Belleville 11-3, Livonia Bentley and Dearborn 8-6, Edsel Ford 6-8, Trenton 5-9, RU 4-10.

Redford Union will open its state tourney bid at 8:30 tonight, meeting Southfield L'Arup on the latter's court. Salem will be idle until 7 p.m. Wednesday when the Rocks will meet the winners of Tuesday's Northville-Southfield game at Southfield High School.

Spartans top Farmington, 62-58

Livonia Stevenson clinched the 1975 championship of the Inter-Lakes Conference Friday with a 62-58 victory over a scrappy Farmington quintet that fought the champions down to the final whistle.

The win gave the Spartans a 9-1 league record and gave them the crown for the first time since 1970. They have a 15-5 season mark. For the Falcons it was the end of a 5-15 season with a 5-5 record in the conference.

After outplaying the host team in the first half, the Spartans had to fight for their life in the second half when the Falcons pulled within a point of tying the score with a minute to play.

That's when the Spartans got some excellent play from Jim Gilland who hit from the floor and three times from the foul line to put the victory away.

STEVENSON opened an eight point edge in the opening canto, 18-10 and widened the gap to 29-17 at halftime.

The Spartans outscored the host club 18-17 in the third period and it appeared they were headed for a rather easy victory.

Then the Falcons caught fire, gradually slicing the deficit until only one point separated the teams, 57-56, with little more than a minute remaining.

That's when Gilland came through with his five points that made the difference.

"We were in charge all the way until the fourth quarter," explained

Stevenson Coach George Van Wagoner who now takes his club into the district tourney at Stevenson Monday at 6:30 p.m. against Taylor Center.

"Then Farmington started to hit from every angle and erased our lead to a single point. I was real proud of the way our boys came back for the victory. This shows the spirit of a champion and that's what we are in the league."

Van Wagoner picked out George Herman for special mention as one of the big reasons for the triumph.

"George played a super game," said the coach. "He blocked at least six shots and contributed 10 points to our total score. It was his best game of the entire season."

Farmington makes its debut in tournament action Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Southfield when it clashes with Livonia Bentley.

Mitch Thomas was the top scorer for the Falcons with 17 points. Dave Haberman and Bob Beres divided honors for Stevenson with 12 each.

Tourney brings Glenn-East rematch

By JIM BRADLEY

Westland John Glenn and Garden City East tangle tonight (Monday) in an "unofficial" playoff in the district tournament after tying for the Northwest Suburban League basketball championship.

Both won handily in their season finales to wind up with 9-1 records for top honors.

Because of the draw, the two are matched again in the opening game of the Livonia Churchill district tourney at 7 p.m.

Glenn, with head coach Gordie Davis in the hospital, used balanced scoring and a tough defense to trounce Thurston, 58-44. The win gave the Rockets a 16-4 season mark.

Billy Joe Young's Panthers, who created the title tie by knocking off Glenn two Fridays ago, claimed half the championship crown by sailing past Oak Park, 56-44.

At Glenn, Rocket fans watched Jerry Szukaitis, JV coach, step in and successfully take over for Davis who was ordered to the hospital because of back trouble.

A low scoring first quarter saw Thurston lead 10-9, but Glenn broke from a 16-all tie in the second quarter, scoring 10 straight points in assuming a 26-20 halftime edge.

A 20-10 scoring margin in the third stanza gave Glenn a safe 46-30 margin after three quarters and they played even the rest of the way.

Mark Thweatt gave the Eagles trouble by scoring six of his high 12 points in the game clinching third quarter burst. Guard Harry Polovino

Trojans post top mat mark

Clarenceville High School's wrestling team defeated Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 42-9, to complete its best dual meet record in Coach Leo Kinsella's six years at the Trojan helm.

The Trojans had a 12-2 won-lost record; plus one draw, and despite being the only Class B school in the Wayne-Oakland League managed to finish second in the league meet.

West Bloomfield won the loop title with 103 points, with Clarenceville second at 68. The Trojans had league champions in Matt Scott, 126 pounds; Clyde Jokinen, 138, and Mitch Lentovich, 167.

Clarenceville also took seconds in three weights: Jeff Heidelberg, 114; Mike Washburn, 185, and Ed Harrell, heavyweight.

and forward John Jesson each added 10 for Glenn. Terry Johnson and George Roberts had nine each and Kirk Nagle eight for the Rockets.

Thurston's three top scorers were Jim Fazzini with 10, Gary Bireta (9) and Jeff Krzywada (8).

"Everyone was happy about the victory and we're very pleased to tie for the championship, our second in three years," a happy Szukaitis said.

"Tri-captains Polovino, Jesson and Johnson phoned Davis after the game to give him the good news."

Final Northwest Suburban League standings show Glenn and GC East on top with 9-1 records, followed by Thurston (4-6), Oak Park (4-6), Franklin (3-7) and North Farmington (1-9).

MEANWHILE IN Garden City, East had good news of its own.

Powered by Greg Emery's 15 points, eight rebounds and eight blocked shots, the Panthers raced to quarter leads of 16-4, 27-16 and 36-22. Wally Krol earned 12, Ken Tomaszewski scored 10 and grabbed 12 rebounds and Jim Riley added nine.

Pat Sayles was the only Oak Park visitor in double figures with 14 points. The Redskins sank 17 of 50 for 34 per cent, slightly under East's 21 of 50 for 42 per cent.

Standout guard Jim Peter saw about five minutes of action for East but is still hampered by his recent back injury.

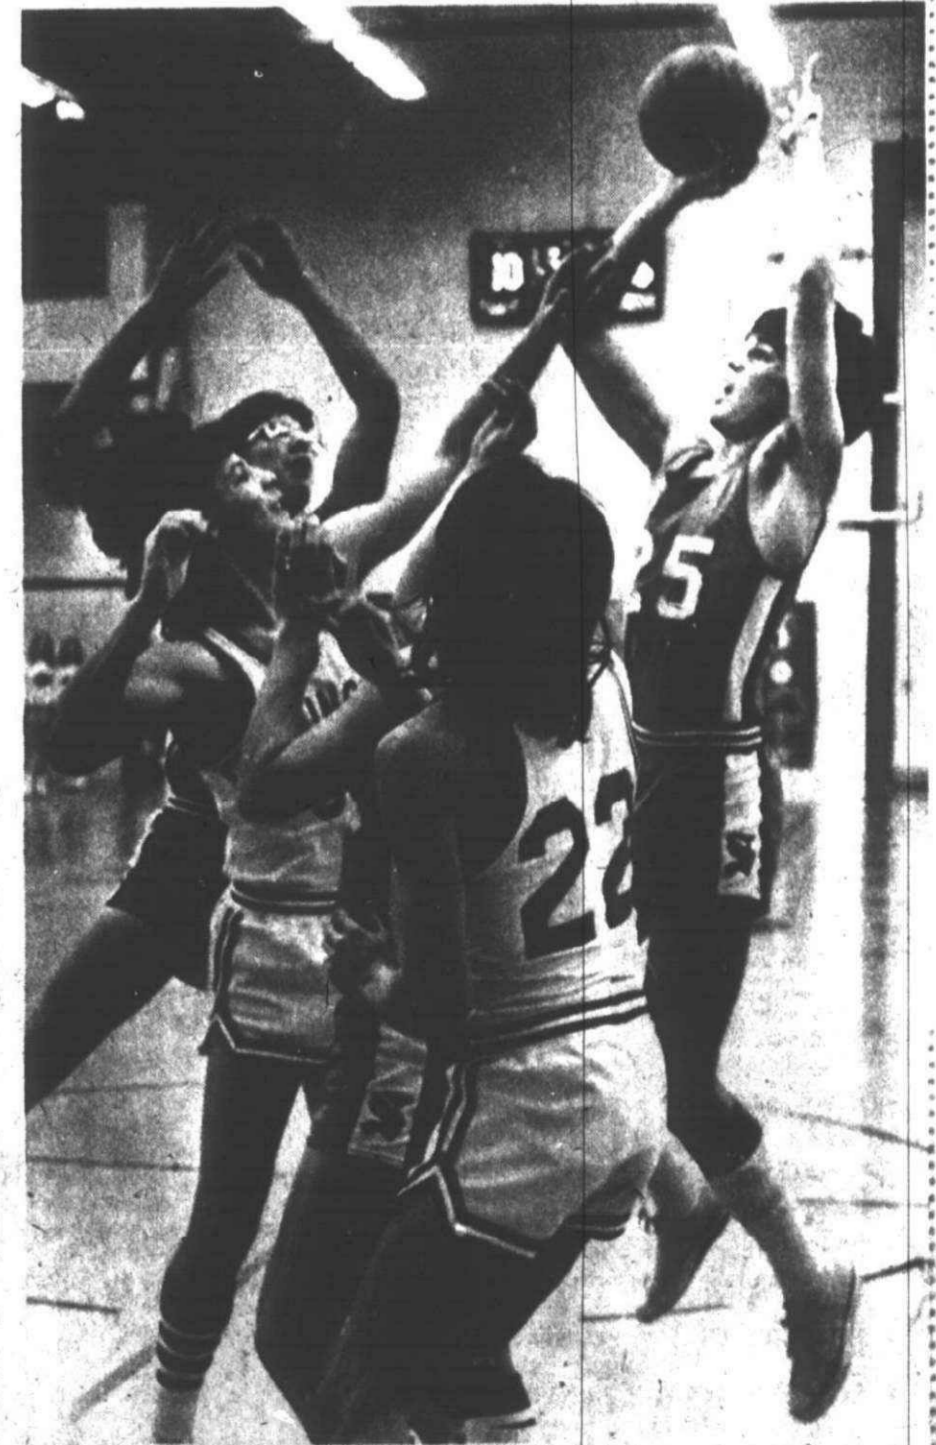

"We're extremely pleased to share the championship with John Glenn," Young said. "Finishing with a season mark of 12-7, Young added, "John Glenn is an excellent team and our clubs will be giving it their all when we meet in the first game of the tournament."

Co-champ role goes to West

Garden City West and Melvindale emerged as wrestling co-champions of the Tri-River Conference when West offset the point lead Melvindale had built up in dual competition by capturing the league meet.

In this six-school affair Coach Stan Worrell's Tigers led up 128 points, with Melvindale second at 95. Crestwood was next with 68, followed by Inkster Cherry Hill, 42; Taylor Kennedy, 35, and Southgate Schafer, 20.

Individual league championships captured by West grapplers included Brian Kimball at 115 pounds, Ken Miller, 122; Dann Holmes, 141; Dave Rochon, 148, and Scott Renner, 158.

C'ville cagers top Milford in wind-up

Clarenceville ended the regular season schedule on a winning note, downing Milford, 45-38, in the finale at home. Now the Trojans swing into tournament play Monday at Redford St. Mary when they tackle the host team at 7:30 p.m.

It was only the fifth win against 15 losses for Clarenceville which wound up 3 and 7 in final season in the Wayne-Oakland League.

Strange enough, Clarenceville fought an uphill scrap all the way, trailing 13-2 at the quarter and 22-15 at the half. Then it stormed back to rout Milford 18-4 in the third period to move ahead 33-26.

Milford did come back in the last eight minutes but not enough to halt the victory hungry Trojans.

"We went to a full court press at the start of the second half," said Trojan Coach Bob Wolf. "It worked fine. Then George Scholes collected 13 of his 18 points in the big third quarter." Rich Beyer had 11 rebounds and Scholes 10.

Plymouth Canton beats Churchill to place 2nd among W-6 cage clubs

Sole possession of second place in the final Western Six cage standings was Plymouth Canton's reward for whipping Livonia Churchill, 57-46, giving the Chiefs a record of four wins in their last five starts.

With the score tied at 44-all and only four minutes left to play, Brian Stemberger led a surge by the Chiefs that outscored the Chargers 13-2 from there to the wire.

The victory gave Canton, a new school which won only four games all last winter in its first season of competition, a 10-10 overall mark and a 6-4 league record. Churchill finished the regular season 2-6 in the loop and 5-15 overall.

Northville is the new league champion, followed by Canton, then Farmington Harrison and Waterford Mott at 5-5, Walled Lake Western 3-7 and Churchill in the cellar.

"We played good defense in the third quarter, holding Churchill to three baskets," said Canton Coach Casey Cayell. "Then, in those final minutes of the fourth period, our fast break was working well. Stemberger got six of his 14 points in that stretch."

Other Plymouth scorers in double figures were Tom Close and Jay Edwards, each with 10. Dave Nelson was high for Churchill with 11.

CHURCHILL will host one of the state's district tourneys, beginning tonight, and has drawn Garden City West as a first round opponent at 8:45. Canton is in the tourney at Southfield and after a first round bye will go into action at 7 p.m. Thursday against the winner of Tuesday's Bentley-Farmington game.

Franklin wins on free throws

Basketball games have been won by all types of finishes this year but mark one on the board for Livonia Franklin for the most unusual fourth quarter of the season.

The Patriots ended their regular season and play in the Northwest Suburban League at North Farmington with a 44-36 victory.

That sounds normal enough. But can you imagine a team scoring 12 points in the final eight minutes... all from the foul line. That's what Franklin did, outscoring the Raiders, 12-11 to insure the victory.

Six of the free throws were by Joe Pollard who converted on eight of 11 for the evening and that's all the points he got.

Games between North and Franklin traditionally are battles all the way, be it in football, basketball or baseball and this contest wasn't different.

FRANKLIN WAS red hot in the first half, outscoring North, 11-6 in the first quarter and 10-7 in the second for a halftime lead of 21-13.

Then Coach Ken Dean regrouped his raiders during the intermission and it was a tight fight for the second half.

North outfought the Patriots in the third frame but only by a single point, 12-11. Then came the final quarter in which the Raiders checked Franklin's scoring from the field but saw the Pats collect the 12 free throws.

"It was a comedy of errors for us," said North Coach Dean. "It seemed as if each team was trying to out-fumble the other and we succeeded."

MIKE MORROW was the big gunner for North with four field goals and six of 11 free throws for 14 points.

"Our kids were really scrapping for this one," said Coach Bob Visser of Franklin. "We took the lead and then played close to the vest for the remainder of the evening. We only tried four shots from the floor in the final quarter."

North controlled the baskets with 37 rebounds to 32 for Franklin. The Livonians converted on 22 of 32 from the foul line and the Raiders made 14 of 28. Both clubs had 11 field goals.

Here's a healthy choice you can make for your family: Metro Health Plan.

Another great value in health-care protection from Blue Cross and Blue Shield and you can join without belonging to a group.

Metro Health Plan (MHP) encourages you and your family to keep your good health. One way is by providing coverage for ambulatory medical care in a Metro Health Plan Center. Another is by covering hospital care for you and your family at the MHP hospitals.

Metro Health Plan offers a broad range of medical care, with emphasis on preventive medicine. It is a prepaid group practice plan. When you belong, coverage is provided for most of your family's health care needs. Services are available through six conveniently located MHP Health Centers and two modern MHP hospitals—staffed by a full range of medical professionals.

In addition to coverage for all necessary hospital, medical and surgical care, Metro Health Plan benefits, for example, include: x-rays, laboratory tests, electrocardiograms, eye examinations, radiological services (you pay only $2 per type of service), physical therapy, and hearing tests (you pay only $1 per visit). While round-the-clock emergency care is available at the MHP Hospitals, limited benefits are also payable in those emergency cases which require you or your family to obtain care elsewhere.

In-hospital services are covered for up to 120 days. Maternity care is provided on two-person or family contracts after 270 days of coverage. Treatment of tuberculosis and mental disorders is covered for up to 30 days. Physician visits at a MHP center are subject to a $2.00 payment per visit.

Monthly Subscription Rates for 1975

Metro Health Plan—Non Group
One Person	$24.49
Two Persons	44.99
Family	47.93
Young Adults	7.95

Who can belong to Metro Health Plan?

Just about anyone living in the Metropolitan Detroit area who is under 65 years of age can belong. If you have Blue Cross and Blue Shield group health care coverage where you work, ask your employer about Metro Health Plan. If you have individual coverage, or no coverage at all, mail the coupon below and we'll send you details on how you can join.

We'll be happy to answer your questions about Metro Health Plan or other Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans. Why not call now. Or fill out and mail the coupon below and we'll send you complete details. If you want to get more information.

Note carefully: Details on all benefits, waiting periods, exclusions and limitations are fully explained in the MHP Schedule of Services which will be provided to you, upon request, before making your first payment. When you make application for MHP non-group coverage, you will be required to complete a medical review questionnaire for yourself and each enrolled member of your family. Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan reserve the right to accept or reject membership on the basis of that application.

THE TOWN COBBLER

AT THE FRONT of the Store in many of the Meijer Thrifty Acres, a Shoe Repair Service is available for your convenience. The Shoe Repair Shop does all types of repair, from sewing to cementing, to patching; as well as replacing heels and soles. But, that is just the beginning of the many services offered.

DUPLICATE KEYS will be made while you wait or are doing your shopping. Some shops make engraved plastic name plates, magnetic signs, and rubber stamps; sharpen scissors, knives, and ice skates, besides repairing or replacing zippers. Many of the shops also offer free tube testing and replacement tubes are available for purchase. Some of these services can be done within a few days depending on the workload of the specific repair shop. But not all services are available in every location.

IN ADDITION TO THESE many services a complete line of all kinds of accessories is available. The shops carry many types of water proofing and different kinds of polish as well as shoe recoloring in many different colors. A variety of insoles and laces and a line of brushes are available on the display racks.

CERTAIN SHOPS feature leather accessory items such as key cases, coin purses and various leather laces in many different colors and sizes. Some of the stores even feature a Tack Shop, carrying baye back saddles, reins, lead ropes, bridles, brushes, fly repellent, coat conditioners, vitamins and pills, plus other items for horses.

Janice Knight
Ford Road Shoe Repair Dept.

ON YOUR NEXT shopping trip, why not take a few minutes to stop and visit the Shoe Repair and see what services they provide and what items are carried. Then you will be able to complete your shoe repair and accessory needs as part of your one-stop shopping at Meijer Thrifty Acres.

BRITANNICA JUNIOR ENCYCLOPAEDIA

SPECIAL OFFER VOLUME ONE

FREE

with the purchase of Volume Two. Volumes 2-25 only $2.99 each

SEE DISPLAY FOR COMPLETE DETAILS

VOL. IV $2.99 EACH THIS WEEK

The next time you go shopping, pick up something new and extra-nourishing for your family—the world-famous Britannica Junior Encyclopaedia—Now being offered at your supermarket at a fraction of its regular price. Each week you can add to your shopping list another volume of this highly respected reference work, prepared under the supervision of the editors of Encyclopaedia Britannica. You can collect a complete set—25 volumes in all—at a price so low you'll find it hard to believe!

Britannica Junior Encyclopaedia is one of the most interesting encyclopaedias you have ever laid eyes on. It was designed to stimulate the interest of young people while it provides them with information they need on virtually any subject. Britannica Junior contains thousands of illustrations, including some 2000 in full color. It contains twelve different types of maps alone, and includes a complete world atlas. It has many illustrated projects, to help students learn by doing. It has large readable type, short sentences and simplified vocabulary so students can get information quickly and easily.

The content of Britannica Junior has been carefully chosen with the advice of educators, to be relevant to young students. Among the nearly 25,000 different topics are articles on missiles, helicopters, space exploration—major sections, in fact, on almost every important field of knowledge. The articles are written by authorities in their fields, with descriptions and explanations that broaden the understanding and expand interests.

Britannica Junior gives you current information in an easy-to-read format, with everything organized to allow students quick access for answering questions, preparing assignments and increasing knowledge. This is a rare chance to enrich your family by acquiring one of the finest encyclopaedias of its kind. Take advantage of this unusual special offer to purchase the entire 25-volume set of Britannica Junior right at your local supermarket, on the convenient book-a-week plan.

SPECIAL BONUS! GET BONUS COUPON WITH VOLS. I AND II GOOD FOR $1.00 OFF ON VOL. III.
