Public reacts favorably to deal negotiated on Moceri development

By DARLENE STINSON

A proposed settlement concerning the controversial Moceri site at the southeast corner of Sheldon and Joy could calm some ruffled nerves in the Canton-Plymouth community.

Eyes of about 50 Canton residents focused on the corner and proposed agreement with apparent satisfaction Wednesday night, as township Supervisor Robert Greenstein revealed terms of the proposed settlement.

The agreement with developer Dominic Moceri is earmarked for a possible consent judgment in Wayne County Circuit Court, if residents voice favorable reactions toward the plan at an upcoming public hearing and a "semi-private" session between township officials and residents of the Windsor Park Subdivision, whose properties abut the Moceri site.

"This was such a hot issue for so long that we're gratified we've come up with a solution you seem to like," Greenstein told the seemingly pleased residents at last week's meeting. "You're the ones who will judge whether this solution is good."

MAIN POINTS of the proposed settlement between the township and Moceri include:

- Less land zoned for commercial use. Original plans showed a 65-acre regional shopping center at the corner of Sheldon and Joy. The proposed agreement shows less than 24 acres of commercial use and nine acres of office.

- Sale of the land to developer Richard Lewiston of Practical Home Builders, Lewiston—not Moceri—will develop the site.

- No multiple family dwellings, high-rise buildings or duplexes on the site, as originally proposed.

- The developer will construct the half-mile of Morton Taylor Road, which dissects the Moceri site.

- Donation of about 25 acres of wooded land to the township for a park site. The land abuts the Windsor Park Subdivision.

- Larger lots and less density on the portion of the land earmarked for single-family use. Original plans showed 768 houses on 60-foot lots. The proposed agreement outlines 464 houses on lots ranging from 65 to 100 feet in width.

- Donation of four to six acres for the Canton Center-Sheldon cutoff road.

- Elimination of a residential street, originally proposed to provide access into Windsor Park Subdivision.

"The only thing that's hanging is the actual descriptive verbiage," Greenstein told the residents, many of whom had been invited to the special meeting as heads of homeowner groups or other township organizations.

"Before this is brought to a judge, the language will have to be worked out. The township could even go so far as architectural control."

THE PROPOSED out-of-court agreement is an alternative to a long court battle with Moceri, who filed suit last summer over the township board's refusal to rezone 65 acres from single family residential to planned shopping. Moceri planned construction of a regional shopping center on the site.

Residents of Canton and Plymouth townships, particularly those from the neighboring Windsor Park Subdivision, strongly protested the 65-acre regional shopping center concept.

Under the proposed agreement, about 33 acres would be used for commercial and office use. A bank, credit union or medical facility is proposed for a five-acre parcel at the southeast corner of Sheldon and Joy.

An 11-acre entertainment complex, similar to Westland's Quo Vadis complex, is proposed for the southeast corner of Joy and the proposed Morton Taylor Road. A four-acre parcel south of the entertainment complex would support commercial and office buildings as well as a 12-acre parcel at the southwest corner of Joy and Morton Taylor.

Greenstein hails the developer's agreement to construct a half-mile of Morton Taylor, proposed as an extension of Main Street, as a major victory for the township.

Construction of the half-mile segment could prompt the Wayne County Road Commission to construct a quarter-mile section, needed to hook the Moceri piece to the existing Morton Taylor north of Warren. Greenstein says, Township officials estimate road construction costs through the Moceri piece at $356,000.

ENGINEERS OF Lewiston, a well-known developer in Canton Township, drew the proposed blueprints for the Moceri-township agreement, Greenstein noted. Lewiston has agreed to all terms of the proposed settlement.

"In this township, the public sentiment feels we have had problems with what Moceri does," Greenstein said. "Dick Lewiston has never broken his word to this township, and everything he has developed has been of quality."

Under a consent judgment, owners of the land must comply with the use outlined in the judgment, unless the township agrees to change use of the land.

"The only way a consent judgment can be broken is by a mutual mistake," Greenstein explained. "If the owners of the property would ask for a change, it's up to the township board to make a decision. If the township agrees, it would be presented to a judge."

RESIDENTS AT last week's meeting expressed favorable reactions toward the plan.

"The things that impress me are the absence of a regional shopping center and high-rises and multiples," said one resident. "The park is a definite positive factor."

Another added: "This is a 1,000 per cent improvement over the original proposal."

Township officials hope to reap reactions of more residents at a public hearing and special meeting with Windsor Park residents, scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 13, at 7 p.m. in the township firehall. The public hearing is not yet scheduled.

Greenstein hopes the reactions expressed last week are an indication of those to come.

"The response from the community leaders is gratifying to me that we're on the right track in solving a very thorny issue."

Canton High expands

WORK HAS STARTED on Phase III construction—music and physical education facilities—at Plymouth Canton High. While dirt is being moved outside, the school board tonight (Monday) will be meeting inside Canton High to discuss music programs and varsity hockey-intramural programs—both linked to the new construction. (Staff photo by Maurie Walker).

Board might act on sports, music

The Plymouth Board of Education has on its agenda for tonight's (Monday) meeting action on the music program and varsity sports-intramural programs at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Plymouth Canton High.

The board may also take action on administrative salaries and discuss the future of the Plymouth-Canton Development Commission (PCDC).

A STATUS REPORT on the varsity hockey and intramural programs will be presented at the request of new school trustee Joseph Gray.

For the hockey program, some 12 games have been scheduled to date and preliminary commitments have been made to coaches for the teams at Canton and Salem high schools.

The board will be asked to adopt the administrative recommendation of April 1975, for the music program at the CEP.

Trustees will be asked to adopt the administrative program for the coming school year and then consider changes for school year 1976-77. The board, however, may respond differently.

THE FUTURE of the PCDC will also be discussed because of concern that the development commission might be doomed.

The school district's membership in the PCDC runs out in October. The administration has advised: "If the Plymouth-Canton Development Commission is to be disbanded, it is hoped it will come as the result of action taken by all four groups and no singular group will be solely responsible for its demise."

Part of the discussion is whether Thomas Turner, former school trustee, ought to continue representing the school district should he be elected to the Plymouth City Commission in November.

The board will also adopt a resolution commending Carl Berry for his past services as a member of the board of education.

Canton couldn't respond to crisis

Recent disturbances over the fatal shooting of a black youth in Detroit has touched a sore spot with Canton Township officials.

Because of the township's recent population explosion and lagging fire department size, township officials were forced to overlook a mutual aid pact with other Detroit-area fire departments and deny a request from the Detroit Board of Fire Commissioners for standby aid during the disturbances.

"I think this highlights how inadequate we are," said township Treasurer Carl Parsell. "With only one fire house and 30,000 people, our firefighters just can't leave here and go down into Detroit."

"We need more people here to protect the people in Canton, but with the facilities we have now, we just can't fit any more people in."

In a telegram to the Detroit Board of Fire Commissioners, township Supervisor Robert Greenstein explained the township's request denial:

"It is almost impossible for us to cover our own 36 square miles with the men and equipment we have at our disposal. Because under normal circumstances this township often finds itself almost unable to meet local demands upon its fire service, there is no possible way for us to honor your request to send units, if needed, to downtown Detroit."

Parsell estimates construction and equipping costs of a new firehall at about $600,000.

Some homeowner groups within the township are organizing a petition drive for a fire-protection millage election.

Our House snaps to aid youth, but needs help

By ELINOR GRAHAM

Monday night is usually a busy one in Our House, the crisis center on the corner of Fralick and Harvey in Plymouth.

Pregnancy tests are given between 6:30 and 9 p.m. By 9:30 or so the results of the tests are known.

Dr. John Brown is on his way home to Northville, or back to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. Bill Henry, director, and Ann Lindamoot, nurse, have time to sit down with glasses of iced tea and discuss the plans and achievements of the house.

HENRY'S APPOINTMENT as director became official Aug. 1. He had served on the staff for more than a year and was volunteer director for a time.

After graduating from Plymouth High School in 1963, he attended the University of Miami. He spent five years in New York City working in marketing research and attending classes at New York University.

Mrs. Lindamoot has been a staff member for more than a year. An RN with three children at home, she gives several hours a week as a volunteer at the crisis center.

The center serves between 100 and 125 persons a month. A few years ago the emphasis was on drug abuse problems. This has dropped to just six in July, four drug information, one drug identification, and one counseling.

"We don't get the older ones on hard drugs," said Henry. "We get calls like 'I have a pill. It's pink on one side and white on the other. It's about half an inch long and has such and such on it. What is it?'"

MRS. LINDAMOOT says they average four to six pregnancy tests each Monday evening. The UCG test they use is 97 per cent accurate and it takes two hours to get the results.

The center has six patient advocates. These are trained counselors who have undergone an extra 40 hours of study which includes anatomy.

"They are trained to read all the vital signs—temperature, weight and so on," said Mrs. Lindamoot. "They work with the patient on a one-to-one basis—helping them fill out forms before the tests are taken and generally lending moral support."

The patient advocate is an innovation of Our House. Mrs. Lindamoot and Henry said this is not done in other centers.

The counselors do not give advice to persons who take advantage of the pregnancy tests. They do tell them what options and referral agencies are available. They furnish the background information to enable them to make their own decisions.

The clinic also acts as a referral unit for venereal disease patients. In cases of VD they do give advice. They tell the patient where to go and suggest they get there as soon as possible.

PLANS FOR fall include a Parent's Anonymous group.

Eight local parents are waiting for the sessions to begin and they have been told to expect an overflow from Livonia and Westland groups. The child abusers use an Alcohol Anonymous method. When they reach a pressure point where they might hurt their children, they call a member of BILL HENRY, director of Our House crisis center, Plymouth, received a check for $500 from Bill Carlson, (right) first vice president of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club. The directors of the club and the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation voted to give the money after Henry and a co-worker described their program to the club.

Rising welfare costs revealed to Rotarians

By W.W. EDGAR

Michigan is slowly being strangled by its costly welfare program and unless something is done to bring about reform the time is not far distant when it will follow in the steps of New York and go bankrupt. This is the message that was brought to the members of the Plymouth Rotary Club Friday afternoon by Martin Rouscher of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce a forceful plea for welfare reform. "At the present time, there are 920,000 persons on welfare in the state. That means that one out of every nine persons you meet on the street is sharing the benefits at a cost of $2 billion to the state"

TO EMPHASIZE his point, the Chamber officer stated that if the $2 billion was reduced to $1,000 bills they would be piled from the basement of the capitol building to the top and down again.

There is so much fraud and abuse in the present system, according to Rauscher, that 100 to $200 million a year could be saved with proper reform --and it must come before it is too late.

"Officials of the Health, Education and Welfare," he continued "visited the state a year ago to make a study. At its finish it was said that the state could save at least $76 million during the remainder of the fiscal year. "The State legislature appropriated an additional $73 million to carry the load the rest of the year."

AS AN EXAMPLE of how the reform could be brought about, it was pointed out that Michigan pays the highest cash benefit of any state in the Union.

For example, a mother with three children living in the southwest section of the state can collect $408 per month, while only a few miles away in Indiana, the same mother could collect only $225. And if she lived in Illinois, another short distance away, her check would be $273. And in Alabama it would be a mere $93.

The high rate in Michigan is what is attracting more and more persons to settle here and at the same time is boosting taxes to the point where industry after industry is moving elsewhere.

In the past year, the Chamber official stated, more than $23 million was lost in tax base. "And this meant the loss of more than 300 jobs.

The State Chamber has evidence that major corporations are moving elsewhere because of the tax burden and that many more have cancelled plans for expansion and that the loss of the smaller shops amounts to about 200 to 300 jobs a year.

A RECENT study shows, according to the Chamber, that eight per cent of the persons now receiving welfare are ineligible. Reduced to figures it means that 65 to 75,000 persons get welfare checks who are not entitled to them.

Along with this the survey showed that 27 per cent of the ineligible were overpaid by at least $80 million.

It was stated that unless these figures are reduced, and quickly, that the federal government will cancel matching grants that would cost the Michigan taxpayer another $50 million.

"Meanwhile," Rauscher said, "the State Legislature has taken no action to bring about reform.

"Write your senator or representative in Lansing," he urged, "and tell him of the trouble we are in before it is too late."

Some residents may apply now for flood insurance

The City of Plymouth is now officially eligible to participate in the federal flood insurance program.

This week the city received official notification from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) that its request for flood insurance eligibility has been approved.

The next step will be a final survey by the Army Corps of Engineers of flood plain areas to come up with a final map of which areas are eligible for flood insurance within the city.

A preliminary survey indicated that the eligible area included a few homes along Hardenberg that back up on Hines Drive, a small corner of the Mayflower complex, the north end of Parkview Drive, and a couple of offices along Plymouth Road near Hines Park.

Homeowners or other property owners may apply now to a private insurance carrier for flood insurance, says City Manager Fred Yockey, and they will be notified later when the final survey is completed.

Under the federal program, those eligible may apply for coverage of up to: $70,000 for single-family; $200,000 for multiple; and up to $200,000 for non-residential.

Property owners have until Dec. 31, 1975, to apply for flood insurance.

The federal law requires owners of property in flood-prone areas to purchase flood insurance if they are to benefit from financial assistance for their property from the federal government or from any federally insured, regulated, or supervised lending institution.

The law replaced insurance with disaster loans to alleviate the financial burden of a disaster victim. Before the law, damage from floods was covered either by a loan which the victim had to repay or by a grant which was a burden to taxpayers.

Can you help identify old team?

Help! Help!

Calling all the old timers. With the rivalry between the old time Plymouth and Northville baseball teams being revived as a feature of this year's Plymouth Fall Festival, the Observer and Eccentric has come across a photo of the old-time Plymouth team. Unfortunately, not all of the players can be identified.

So, take a good look. If you can identify the "unknowns" your contribution will be appreciated.

The picture was given by Gil Perry, 703 Karmada, who claimed he was at a loss for identifications.

This was not the case with Frank Henderson, who recently retired from his Plymouth Plating Co. at Amelia and Farmer Streets.

"It's ironic that you should ask me to name those players," he said. "They played right here on this very ground and I remember the games very well."

There on the top row is E.L. Riggs, who owned the department store. Next to him is Louie Reed who ran a popcorn stand. Fred Kaiser was the second baseman and Homer Williams was the catcher."

He was quick to pick out Charles Rathburn and remembered him as the township supervisor.

"We had some great games," Frank smiled, "and they were great days. The fact that my office has been on the site of the old baseball field often stirs many memories."

Frank failed, to identify only four players in the picture.

Maybe you can help.

WITH THE BICENTENNIAL in mind, the Ed Kleinsmith family spent seven days with a wagon train, living as the pioneers did. Jeff,

(from left) Erik, Doug, Carolyn and Ed felt they had relived a part of American history. (Staff photo by Maurie Walker)

Family learns pioneer spirit while vacationing

Mile after mile in a mule-drawn wagon.

Day after day on the prairie, sleeping on the ground, cooking over open campfires.

Two Plymouth families recently returned from such a journey—seven days and 100 miles in a wagon train. And they all agree it was one of the best vacations they ever had.

For Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoeprich of 1133 Sutherland, it was a three-generation, family affair. Their daughter and her husband, the Charles Fergusons of Westland, and sons Andrew, 8, and Eric, 5, went along.

Ed and Carolyn Kleinsmith and sons Doug, 12, Jeff, 11, and Erik, 9, wanted to share a bicentennial experience as a family.

The trip by covered wagon and horseback out of Fort Seward (James-town), North Dakota was an opportunity to relive a part of American history.

THEIR WAGON was drawn by four mules, Jenny, Jack, Joe and Jim. The children learned to hitch and unhitch the horses and mules.

They took turns walking, riding horseback or in the wagons. Sometimes they all had to pitch in and push the wagons through mud holes.

There were seven wagons and 50 riders in the train which traveled in a circle northwest of Fort Seward.

Every evening the trail driver called a halt and the wagons formed a circle.

"He wheeled his horse in the center of the circle and called to the wagons by number. The space between each wagon had to be just right," said Hoeprich.

Everybody worked. Children and adults took their turn serving food and cleaning up the dishes.

"WE WERE ON the way by 6 to 8 a.m. every morning. Our 'ramrod' had a powerful voice. He was up at 5, yelling and getting everyone organized for the day.

"It rained only a little one morning," Hoeprich continued. "There was always threat of rain. The rims of the hills would be dark and we would see lightning beyond the hills.

"Those prairie winds were blowing like mad all day. Then in the evening the wind just stopped. It was 115 degrees out there one day, but it wasn't like the heat here, there was no humidity."

"Most of the time we were on the open prairie," said Mrs. Kleinsmith. "We rarely saw a road or a house."

"They have 10,000-acre spreads out there," said her husband. "You can go for miles without coming near civilization."

Sometimes the farmers came out and had dinner with the group. They would bring enough sweet corn for everyone in the train. All wore pioneer clothing and television crews tracked them down a couple of times to photograph the train.

"Hoping for a glimpse of pioneer life, we came away with the fellowship of many new friends from all over the United States," said Carolyn.

"The surprise of the trip for us was being picked as 'gung ho' family on the trail, portraying the spirit of the pioneer on the plains."

Oldest person in their train was a 70-year-old man. The pioneer trips began in 1969 and there are two a year. One takes a southwest circle and the other to the north.

Kleinsmith kept a diary and took pictures along the way. He hopes to share the experience with the students at Pioneer Middle School where he is an assistant principal.

"It was a nostalgic thing for me," said Hoeprich. "I was raised on a farm. It gave us a chance to relive the pioneer feelings."

Our House needs help

Help from professionals is an ever-present need at the center. Currently Dr. Brown is their sole volunteer and their gratitude to him is immeasurable. Just one hour a month of a lawyer's or a psychiatrist's time is at the top of their current "wish list."

The Plymouth Community Fund is now their main source of income. The City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Plymouth Rotary Club and the Plymouth Kiwanis Club have made donations.

Our House staffers consider Judge and Mrs. Dunbar Davis as their benefactors.

"You know Judge Davis gave us the house. He pays the taxes and when we couldn't pay our phone bill he just took out his check book and took care of it," said Henry. "Mrs. Davis came to our open house and is very interested in what we are doing."

"He's helped us other times too," added another volunteer. "he does it so quietly, no one realizes all he has done for us."

SINCE YOUTH INC. and Our House have merged as Growth Works, their advisory boards have been combined as one.

"The two centers always cooperated," the director said. "They refer people to us and we send our people over there."

The board members include: Anne Tillotson, William McAninch, Dave Smith, Bonnie Schweitzer, Dr. Karl Van Newkirk, Richard Mrofka, Jack Bologna, Michele Dean, Fr. Bob Kellar, Marilyn Jeffries and high school students Brian Elliott, Bonnie Lindsay and Ann Arthur.

Henry is looking forward to a new Parent Experience Exchange (PEE) group this fall. The one they had earlier this year was very successful. "We put ourselves out of business," said Mrs. Lindamoot, "as soon as they are ready to be on their own."

Housing, legal, economic and medical problems are usually one-stop referrals as are the many telephone calls.

On-going projects include family relationship, PEE and the new Parents Anonymous groups.

Our House phones are manned with trained volunteers from 7 to 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The telephone number is 455-4900. The center serves Plymouth, Plymouth and Canton townships, Northville and the surrounding area.

"We also have had persons from Novi and South Lyon," said Henry. "The other day we had a call from Flat Rock. They must have called information to get our number for that one."

Pre-school tasks scheduled at CEP

Dates on which students can pick up schedules, register or talk to counselors have been set at the Centennial Educational Park.

Students may pick up their schedules from Aug. 20 to Aug. 27 in their respective high school buildings.

The pick-up schedule is Monday, Aug. 25, from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. for seniors; Monday, Aug. 25, from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. for juniors; Tuesday, Aug. 26 from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. for sophomores; Tuesday, Aug. 26, from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. for freshmen whose last name begins with letters "A" through "L"; and Wednesday, Aug. 27, from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. for freshmen whose last name begins with letters "M" through "Z."

Students unable to pick up their schedules at those times may do so on Wednesday, Aug. 27, from 12:30 p.m.

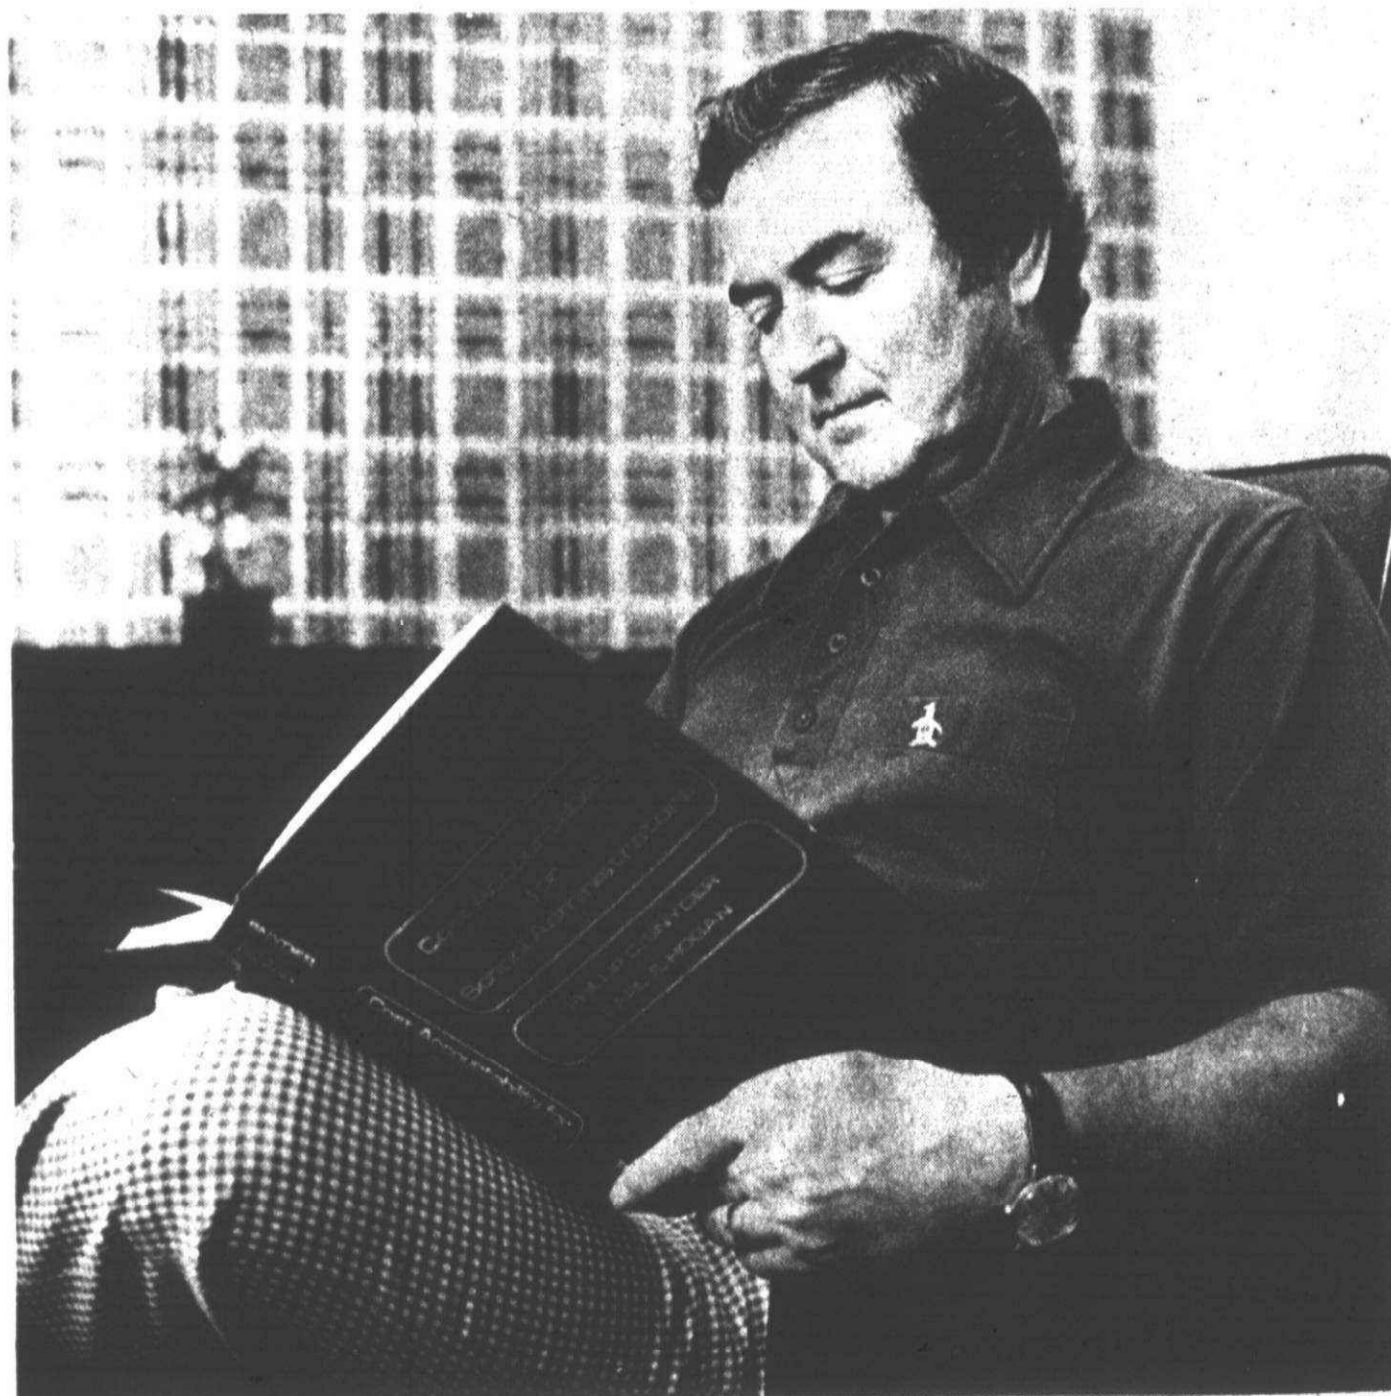

to 3:30 p.m. Band members participating in band camp during the week of Aug. 25 may pick up their schedules on Tuesday, Sept. 2.

New students who have not yet registered are requested to do so before Aug. 20 at Plymouth Salem High School. Students unable to register before that date should do so during the week of Aug. 25, when a counselor will be available every day.

Counselors will be available for registration purposes on Tuesdays and Thursdays during August.

School district policy requires ninth graders to have a physical examination before entering Plymouth Salem or Plymouth Canton high schools.

For further information about the schedules, contact the Centennial Educational Park between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Teacher helps save thousands of dollars

By DENNY COFFMAN

Norm H. Logan, music teacher in the Wayne-Westland School District, has been instrumental in helping the district save thousands of dollars that would have gone toward replacing defective musical instruments.

Logan, who says he doesn't want to "toot his own horn," recently convinced the Yamaha Co., a Japanese manufacturer, to replace 100 clarinets with faulty tenons, or joints.

The tenons connect the various pieces of a clarinet to one another, so that the instrument can be disassembled for storage.

Each clarinet was purchased from the company for $68, representing nearly a $7,000 total investment in 1970. But about three years after the purchase, the faulty tenons became apparent.

A LOCAL DISTRIBUTOR of the clarinets shrugged off attempts by Logan to get the instruments, still under their five-year warranty, replaced.

It appeared as though the district would have to be content with the clarinets, which would have cost $25 each to repair, until Clarence Hewett, a Dearborn music dealer, intervened.

Hewett, who had been offered a dealer franchise by Yamaha in the area, refused the franchise unless Yamaha made good on its warranty to the Wayne-Westland district.

This summer, Yamaha apparently reasoned that Hewett and the Wayne-Westland district were too important, and so the manufacturer offered to replace all of the clarinets, defective or not.

"They moved real fast," says Logan. "We got the new instruments in July. Ordinarily, a deal of this kind, in which the manufacturer exchanges defective instruments at no charge, would not have been consummated. The Yamaha organization was very helpful."

THE DISTRICT stands to benefit in two ways from the exchange. It will receive completely new clarinets which will not have to be replaced for years, and the replacement clarinets are valued at about $100 each, whereas the old defective instruments were worth only about $70 apiece.

According to Logan, clarinets have a life expectancy of seven to nine years, depending upon whether they are used in elementary schools or in the high schools.

Logan says that the clarinets, which are made of a hardened plastic material, are far superior to band instruments that were being manufactured just 10 years ago.

"They're made much better than they used to be," said Logan. "Today's tooling is more delicate than previously. Band instruments of 10 or 15 years ago cannot even compare with today's quality."

The most expensive instruments are oboe, bassoon, sousaphone and xylophone, according to Logan.

"Music students usually have their own instruments by the time they are in junior high school," says Logan, "at a cost of about $190 to $300 per instrument."

Those who do not have their own borrow school instruments, such as the Yamaha clarinets.

AT THE END OF each school year, each school instrument is sanitized by dipping the mouthpiece in an alcohol-based cleaner. "We haven't had an epidemic yet," says Logan.

After the instruments have outlived their usefulness to the district, they are sold for junk metal. Brass instruments generally have the highest junk value.

"An instrument is like furniture," says Logan. "You just can't trade them in."

But the Wayne-Westland district has done the next best thing, apparently. It has "traded in" $7,000 worth of clarinets for $10,000 worth. It got five years' use out of the old ones and can expect about seven more years' use from the new ones.

Though Logan concedes that Yamaha has lost a little of its "credibility" in the transaction, he concedes: "They did good by us. It's just like getting all new instruments."

STEVENS JUNIOR HIGH music teacher Mike Logan holds one of 100 new clarinets the Wayne-Westland School District has received in exchange for 100 defective clarinets. Logan, formerly instrumental music coordinator for the district and now a music teacher, convinced a Japanese manufacturer to take back their faulty instruments and provide new ones. Canton buys land for recreation use Canton Township officials may soon add 10 acres to the township's existing recreational field, located on Canton Center north of Cherry Hill.

Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein Thursday signed final papers with Detroit Edison officials for the purchase of 10 acres of land north of the company's transmission corridor between Canton Center and Sheldon.

Cost of the land was $4,500 per acre, according to Greenstein, who noted a price tag of $7,500 per acre on land adjacent to the township's purchase.

The township will probably use the land for recreational purposes and develop baseball diamonds on the site, according to current plans.

The township now owns land north and south of the Detroit Edison corridor between Canton Center and Sheldon. The township's existing recreational field is located south of the power lines.

Negotiations with Detroit Edison officials concerning lease of the land beneath the corridor are still under way, according to Greenstein. Township officials hope to maintain and rent the land for a nominal fee. The township would use the land for bicycle and bridle trails and other recreational purposes.

Berm exchanged for site plan OK

Developers of Harvard Square Shopping Center's second phase have conceded to the demands of Canton Township officials and have agreed to construct a berm along the center's frontage on Ford and Sheldon roads.

The board of trustees last week approved site plans of the shopping center's second phase by a 5-0 vote in return for the berm concession.

Township Clerk John Flodin and township Treasurer Carl Parsell were unable to attend the special meeting, scheduled to solve the berm and site plan problems.

Board members had tabled the site plan issue at their July 8 meeting, when township officials and developer Edward Boutrous, managing partner of the Harvard Co., were unable to reach agreement on the extent of berm construction.

Boutrous had proposed construction of a four-foot-high berm across the front of the addition. Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein had requested another berm at the front and side of the shopping center, located at the northeast corner of Sheldon and Ford.

Boutrous has now agreed to construct the berm across the center's entire frontage with 280 plantings, according to Greenstein.

Boutrous hopes to begin construction of the 23,500 square-foot addition, proposed to house commercial stores and office space, sometime in August.

Schools award contracts

The Plymouth Board of Education has awarded contracts, totaling $89,510, for: renovation of the administration building's second floor; the purchase of band instruments and plumes; and the patching and paving of four school district parking lots.

School board members unanimously agreed to award the contract for renovation of the administration building's second floor the low bidder, Dan Durst Construction Co., for $37,869.

The company will partition the current open space on the second floor into separate offices for various school district departments.

The conference room in which school board members sometimes meet will remain open, while folding doors on office space adjacent to the conference room will offer more seating area.

Board members unanimously agreed to award contracts for band instruments and plumes for the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) Marching Band to the low bidder, Hammill Music, Inc., for a total of $6,481.

The district will purchase eight alto clarinets, one oboe, three tenor saxophones, one baritone saxophone and three bass clarinets at a cost of $5,983 for students enrolled in the district's music program. The school district often provides expensive musical instruments for its students' use.

The board awarded another contract to Hammill Music, Inc., for the $1,398 purchase of 200 red, white and blue plumes for the CEP marching band. The eight-inch plumes represent the blue and white school colors of Plymouth Salem High and the red and white colors of Plymouth Canton High.

In other action, the board unanimously agreed to award a contract for asphalt paving and patching work at Plymouth Sakend High and Gallimore, Smith and Tanger elementary schools to the low bidder, J. Boyle Co., for $45,160.

The paving project and renovation work at the administration building were projects outlined in the school district's 1974 bond issue. Funds for the purchase of band instruments and plumes will come from the Plymouth Canton Phase Three equipment budget.

From time to time the public prints feature public opinion polls that run the gamut from how President Ford is doing his job in the White House to how the various potential candidates would fare in a race for the presidential nomination. They even go so far as to tell how the sitting president would run against the various men now mentioned for the opposition tickets.

These are fine. They help to keep the entire public informed of what the thinking is across the nation. But there is one poll The Stroller wishes could be taken. This is a bit of research to learn what people do with their education and how how many paths they have taken before hitting the one on which they are travelling for life.

The Stroller got to thinking about this on a recent weekend when a friend of long standing paid a visit.

IT WAS THE FIRST time they had

The Stroller... Thoughts on a new poll seen each other in two decades, or thereabouts.

"How are you doing?" The Stroller asked, remembering that when they last met, the old-time friend was a young assistant to a maintenance man in one of the city's public buildings.

"I'm doing just fine," the old friend answered.

"What are you doing for a living?" The Stroller asked.

"I'm in photographic medicine," he answered with a sort of a smile. "And I'm moving right along in one of the Detroit Medical Center hospitals."

From assistant to a maintenance man to photographic medicine!

What a jump and what a contrast! But is it so strange? Many are those who have traveled a strange road, in a direction far removed from the one on which they started life's journey.

The Stroller had only his own case to recall. Forced to leave school at an early age, he obtained a "job" as a clerk in a grocery store. Then, on the urging of his mother who claimed: "Just because you had to stop school doesn't mean that you have to stop learning. You should learn a trade."

On that advice he began an apprenticeship in a machine shop back home. At the end of the four-year course, he started out as a journeyman mechanic.

FOR SOME REASON or other he never felt comfortable in the shops, especially on those long hours on the night shift.

So, came a morning when he made a decision. He closed his tool box, opened the window and threw the box into the river, vowing never again to set foot inside a machine shop. And he never has.

From there he moved, quite by accident, into journalism, and later, to an executive role in business administration before returning to the river of printer's ink.

There are many more like him. But how many? What is the ratio of men sticking with the career on which they started? How many are following the path they chose when entering college? These are the things that would be interesting to learn from a public poll.

There is one case. The Stroller recalls, where a friend graduated from the University of Michigan and was a struggling young businessman. Then, one night he stood on a platform selling Liberty bonds, during World War I. So effective was his work that he caught the eye of the founder of the J.L. Hudson Co., who offered him the insurance contract for the company.

He accepted and went on to become a "million dollar man" each year for the rest of his life and he never opened an office.

His personality was enough to carry him to the top.

How many others have had similar success—by walking in paths they never planned for a livelihood. A poll would furnish some interesting cases.

Chuckhole confession

The Wayne County Road Commission admits now there was a bad chuckhole on Joy Road in Plymouth Township but still refuses to pay for the $68 in damages to the car of Richard Hoffman.

"Hoffman of 39822 John Drive, Plymouth, has been attempting to get the road commission to pay for damages to his car he claims was caused when it hit the chuckhole.

Previous communication between Hoffman and the county included a reference by Richard B. Jones, commission attorney, to the "alleged" chuckhole.

"I apologize for the use of the word 'alleged,'" Jones recently wrote Hoffman. "You are quite right, of course. There was a chuckhole and you struck it."

"Again, we must deny your claim because this board had no notice of the chuckhole prior to you striking it."

Jones points out that Hoffman waited for five hours after striking the chuckhole to call the Wayne Yard of the road commission to file a report. "A repair crew was sent out immediately and it was repaired."

In The Pocket

When Ray Williams, the auto salesman, was named captain of the All-City team by the Greater Detroit Bowling Association he added another unusual chapter to his bowling career.

Just a year ago he wrote his name indelibly in the records of the American Bowling Congress by rolling the first 300 ever bowled in the team event of the big tournament.

With this history making performance he added further proof that while he carried a very respectable average each year, he is at his best in the major tournaments.

It was his performances in the major tournaments during the past season that earned him the captaincy of the all city team.

The members are selected on a point basis which points being earned in the various tournaments around the area and the ABC.

Here is what he did to earn 64 points and tie the previous high mark established by Bob Kwolek in the 1968-69 season: He finished eighth in the GDBA Masters; teamed with Tom Vallone to win the city doubles; took third place in the city all events; won the state doubles with Dick Beattie; landed second among association bowlers in state singles and all events and boasted a 213 average in the Bonanza Classic.

Named to the first team with Williams, are Fred McClain with 54½ points; Dick Beattie with 36½ points; Dick Pokriefka with 33½ points and Rocky Graziani with 31 points.

The second team included Mike Totsky, Bob Chamberlain, Chuck Sunseri, Ted Bakattselos and Bob Hart.

Most of the all city selections are well known in the western suburban area and have bowled in both the Westland and Wonderland Bowl in past seasons.

JUST AS THE FINAL curtain was about to be brought down on the best ball doubles tournament at Merry-Bowl Lanes, Chuck Evans and Kerry Holly, who had paced the event almost from the start, saw the championship drift away from them.

The drifting away came when Ken Nickila and Hawk Miller teamed for games of 235, 300 and 200 to go with a "spot" of 108 pins for an 843 series. This gave them the lead by a two pin margin.

More than 250 couples competed in the event that started at the close of the league season.

IT DIDN'T TAKE Ray Williams and Fred McClain long to gain recognition for being names to the Detroit all-city team. They immediately were signed to bowl with the strong Goebel team for the coming season.

WHILE THE FINAL figures have not yet been compiled, membership in the Greater Detroit Bowling Association, which includes the western suburbs, has reached an all-time high.

The figure has passed the 130,000 mark and Tom McKay, secretary of the association, figures it might surpass 133,000 when the late summer league rosters are tabulated.

THE FIRST SIGN that the new league season is not far away came with the opening of the secretaries schools this week by the Greater Detroit Bowling Association.

The first of the five sessions was held at Eastland Bowl and the second is set for Pampa Lanes on this Thursday. The others are scheduled at Satellite Bowl Aug. 18, with a fourth at Airway Lanes on Aug. 20 and the final at Thunderbowl Lanes on Wednesday, Aug. 27.

Rezoning is advised for church

Residents of Canton Township's Carriage Hills Subdivision may one day view a church instead of a commercial development on the vacant field adjacent to their property.

The Canton Township Planning Commission has unanimously agreed to recommend rezoning of a 7.6-acre parcel, located adjacent to the subdivision on Sheldon north of Ford, from commercial to single family.

The single family zoning, if approved by the board of trustees, would allow construction of the Geneva United Presbyterian Church on the site.

George Peek, a staff member of the township's planning and engineering firm of Wade, Trim & Associates, recommended the zoning change. A church would provide better transition between the existing K-Mart and subdivision than a commercial development, he said.

The Rev. Jeffrey Goldsmith hopes to begin construction of the church this October.

Top-quality produce has that scrumptious look.

Marge Deibele and daughter Dawn of Farmington Hills shop for fresh fruit and vegetables.

4th family generation provides deluxe produce

By ETHEL SIMMONS

Joe Tocco flipped through the pages of Gourmet Magazine.

"This magazine just came today," he said. "It's got a beautiful article on fresh figs. I think we're going to sell some figs here."

Tocco, a Troy resident, is the fourth generation of his family in the produce business. On the wall in his office at Farmington Fruit on Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills, are old photos of his grandfather, with a pushcart in Detroit and later, when business improved, selling from a horse-drawn carriage.

Farmington Fruit, which Tocco opened two years ago, is a specialty shop for fruit and vegetables, cheese and wine, and gourmet dried items. "WE CATER a lot to—if it still exists—the carriage trade," Tocco said.

On a recent afternoon customers included a man who asked for two different cheeses, not by the ounce but by the cup—for a recipe his wife was making—and a woman shopper in a tennis dress who stopped by to ask how many watermelons and fruits she would need for a salad to serve 100 guests at buffet luncheon.

Tocco translated the amount of cheese needed, in answer to a request from his young clerk. The shop grates and shreds cheese as a customer service.

He discussed with the woman how much watermelon would be needed to serve as fruit bowls and promised to have her entire order ready to pick up the day of the party.

Several area cooking teachers—including Nell Benedict of Lathrup Village, Charity Sucek who teaches at Birmingham's Community House and Fred Morganroth who teaches at Franklin's What's Cookin'—select fruits and vegetables from the Farmington store.

"If a dish has something unusual, we will provide it for them to use in their demonstration," Tocco said. "Then we will bring it in for a period of time for their students."

ACCORDING TO Tocco, "We probably have the most complete line of fruits and vegetables in the area the year round. We have both in and out-of-season items."

He ships directly from California twice a week by air. Other produce comes from South America, New Zealand and Australia, during the winter which is their growing season. Tocco also buys from Detroit's Eastern Market.

Right now the more unusual fruits include white peaches from California. Tocco sliced a peach that lay on his office desk.

"The bruised fruit winds up on my desk—and waistline," he said. Another rare fruit available is the elephant heart plum, reddish gray and ugly on the outside, deep red and delicious inside.

There are also papayas, with little black seeds, and mangos, which have a large pit like an avocado, from Hawaii and Mexico.

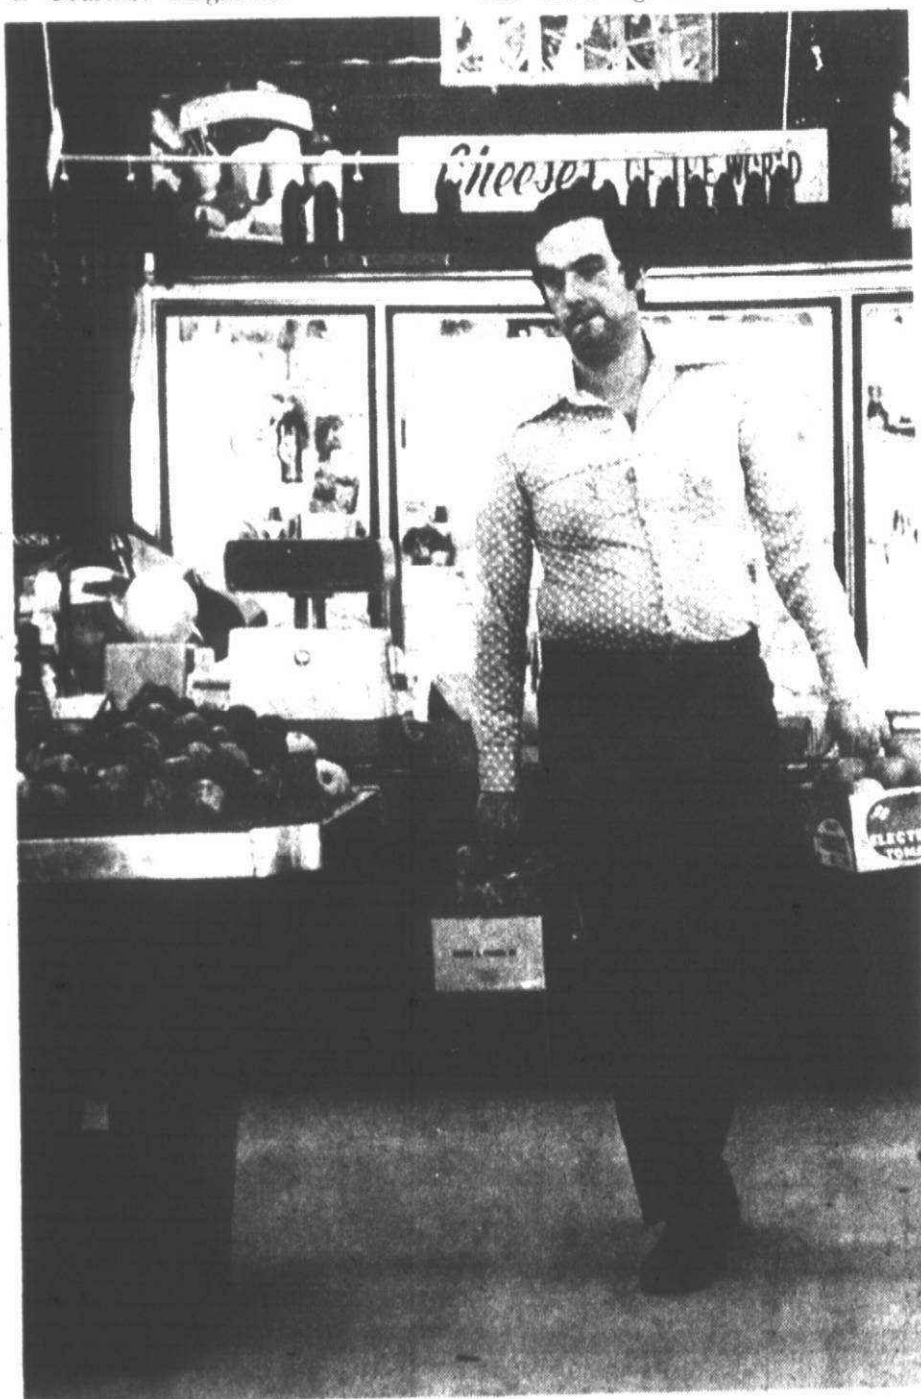

"This is the peak of the summer fruit," Tocco said.

Counters are filled with raspberries and strawberries, peaches, pears, plums and nectarines.

Wines are displayed along with fruits they complement, champagne and sauterne with fruits, red wines with sautee vegetables.

ALL YEAR there are fresh spinach and mushrooms. For salads, you can choose from lettuce, including bib, boston, watercress and romaine, and endive.

Kiwifruit, or Chinese gooseberry, comes from New Zealand 10 months of the year and from California the other two. The Orient provides fresh ginger, celery root, bean sprouts, water chestnuts, peapods and black dried mushrooms.

Owner Joe Tocco carts tomatoes in his gourmet grocery shop. (Staff photos by Douglas Bauman)

With outdoor cookery assuming the status of a national sport, experimenting with new food ideas for the grill becomes a fascinating part of this summertime diversion. Selecting the meat, a special basting sauce and the various menu components is as much a part of the "game" as firing the grill and cooking the meal.

This popular at-home sport called the cookout requires a bit of teamwork. Dad often plays the starring role when it comes to the actual grilling, but usually it's mom who selects the meat and readies it and other foods for the grill. The whole family can be on the cookout team. Teenagers can build the fire and younger children are eager to assist when dining moves outdoors.

Most often basic cookout play features steak or burgers. But other versions of the grill game also offer eating enjoyment. Pork chops, for example, are an excellent cookout choice.

Pork is ideal for broiling, and both rib and loin chops are appropriate selections for the grill. It is important, however, not to cook pork chops at too high a temperature nor for longer than needed to reach well done. So allow the charcoal briquets to burn until covered with gray ash before placing chops on the grill.

Although no marinade or special attention is required to provide delicious tender and juicy chops, a spicy sauce including hot sliced peaches and raisins makes a delicious accompaniment and brush-on. The recipe for Peachy Pork Chops does, in fact, make for a great grill "game." This tasty dinner treat also can be prepared in the kitchen broiler.

Peachy Pork Chops
6 to 8 rib or loin pork chops, cut 1 to 1½ inches thick
1 can (16 ounces) sliced cling peaches
1 teaspoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup raisins
Salt
Pepper

Drain peaches and reserve syrup. Combine cornstarch, cinnamon and nutmeg in saucepan. Stir in syrup and raisins, bring to boil and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add peaches and cook over low heat 5 to 10 minutes.

Place chops on grill as far as possible from heat and broil at moderate temperature 10 minutes on each side. Season with salt and pepper. Continue broiling about 20 minutes longer until chops are well done, turning and brushing with sauce occasionally. Serve with peach sauce. 6 servings.

How to have a great family vacation without going too far.

Stay right in your own backyard. Chances are, there are plenty of exciting things to do as a family that aren't that far away. Like visiting a national park. Go fishing. Or camping. Or taking a short trip to the nearest big city or point of interest. And remember. If you're a little short of money for your vacation, see HFC about a Traveloan. You may borrow up to $1500 from Household Finance to pay for your next family vacation. And that'll go a long way. Even if you don't.

editorial opinion

Only you can make this newspaper excel

As a community service institution, your hometown newspaper must continually keep its ears tuned to what readers are saying they would like to see in their local paper.

Our over-riding purpose is to provide stories and services our readers need and desire, twice-a-week, in a manner that is entertaining as well as meaningful to them.

This is ever important because a hometown newspaper, after all, is a personification of all the residents. Each reader is a "stockholder" because he or she, more than anyone else, helps mold the content of this newspaper.

THIS HAPPENS by our staff listening closely when people call or drop in with news items. We take seriously every comment that is made and weigh it carefully against how we do things now.

An editor is not merely a professional journalist who in some mysterious way has entrapped in his mind a blueprint for his newspaper that he forces insensitively on the readers. An editor is, instead, a funnel through which readers make their wishes known. These wishes, through journalistic skill and experience, are then transformed into changes in each edition.

This does not mean that an editor is a wizard who can please all people at all times. But he can do many things, to satisfy the needs of most people, much of the time.

A MAJOR reason newspapers sometimes don't reflect what a community desires is that readers mistakenly keep ideas to themselves because they feel the editor and his staff knows all the answers.

In case it needs to be said, we don't know all the answers and encourage you to help. Your comments, no matter how trifling they might seem to you, are needed and welcome. Others, by their position of leadership, will automatically give advice. We will listen to them also, but we especially want to hear from you.

It would be foolish for a newspaper not to listen to community leaders. But it would also be folly for a newspaper to ignore that 90 per cent of its readership who don't hold a governmental position, own a business, or have "great influence."

So give Emory, Ellie, Darlene, or Maurie a call, or drop into our office at 461 S. Main for a cup of coffee and a short visit. Share your comments with us. It is your newspaper and you want to make it the best.

Listening to a band

I listen to a band the same way I look at life — by focusing on the individual contributions of each participant. My ears tune in on the saxophone. This is one of the finest instruments there is, and it makes beautiful sounds which are solo noises as well as a harmony with other instruments.

SOMEHOW, the overall sound of the music being played is heard. But my ear focuses on each saxophone and listens intently to each note.

Occasionally my ear also drifts toward the coronet and trumpet section, because I played both those instruments in junior high band. The sound isn't as creative as the sax, but it's nice to dream that maybe you could be blowing out those tones if you had stuck with band.

Seldom does my eye rest on the conductor, even though his role is vital. The musicians will keep their eyes on the baton; I prefer to watch the players. The conductor's role is similar to a head coach in sports, and most of us watch the players on the field when play is in progress. The coach isn't seen unless he comes storming from the bench.

AND THAT'S the way I look at life. You can take any group as an example, and the key to that group's success is the achievement made by each individual member.

Throughout history, a group has accomplished very little. But individuals, working together on a team, have done much. Each of us has a sound to make, a note to play, and a step to march. Without individual commitments, and individual confidence and hope, society would come to a standstill.

From my viewpoint, sociology is a wasted "science" because it concentrates too heavily on group interaction, relationships, and movements. It's a discipline which believes the cow gives milk, without recognizing that the udder has anything to do with it.

Psychology, on the other hand, is a science which contains a great deal of truth on human behavior because that discipline knows that milk comes from the udder. Sociologists will die of thirst studying the relationship of the cow's digestive tract and diet with the milk she produces.

Keep your eye on any group, be it a band, athletic team, school board, city commission, club or bridge team. The chance of its success is directly linked to the contributions each member makes. Keep your eye on each person and you will know which direction society is headed. You are life in a capsule.

Signs defended

EDITOR:

I fail to understand why the Township Board of Canton, supported by the Observer & Eccentric, tries so vigorously to squelch business growth in this community. No township or city can survive on revenues from residents alone.

Certainly it is the availability of all business conveniences that helps attract new residents to a community in the first place. Yet an ordinance like the new "sign" ordinance is passed by the board and now applauded by the Observer & Eccentric in the Thursday, July 10 issue.

When driving down a busy road, I like to be able to see, well in advance, the place of business I am looking for. Yet, businesses in this community cannot now have easily visible signs. I am, therefore, forced to hold up traffic, perhaps even cause an accident, while I search for some way to recognize my destination.

How can signs on buildings which are set well back from the roads and are surrounded by the trees and shrubbery now also required by the township board, be visible to passing motorists? They are simply not enough.

There is nothing that defaces the beauty of any community in a McDonald's Golden Arches sign. It is clean and tastefully executed, recognized the world over, looked for by travelers, yet outlawed in Canton Township. How absurd!

Business growth depends on drawing in people from neighboring areas as well as within the community. Canton seems to make it as difficult as possible for strangers to the area to locate its businesses.

Canton is no longer a quiet rural area of only farmland and a few scattered homes. We are a growing, thriving community, perhaps well on our way to becoming a city in our own right. Let us welcome all businesses and encourage their growth and the community's growth with our support. Passing ordinances of this kind and applauding their enactment at the expense of our businesses is no way to keep Canton on the move.

Antique show set for Fall Festival

The Plymouth Symphony League will rendezvous with the past at the 1975 Fall Festival, when it presents the 13th Annual Antique Mart at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The show will feature antiques of 22 dealers and craft demonstrations, according to Antique Mart organizer Linda Leavitt.

Visitors to the show will view a wide array of antiques, including handcrafted quilts, china dolls, historic Staffordshire china and clocks that echo periods gone by.

Proceeds from the show are earmarked for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

The show is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 5, and Saturday, Sept. 6, from noon to 9 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 7, from noon to 8 p.m. Donations are $1.

'It's all in the wrist' at Michigan tournament

By RICHARD GOLD

Groans, grunts, bulging muscles and popping veins were all part of the scene Sunday at Rochester Adams High School as the strongest arms in the state convened for the Michigan Wrist Wrestling championships.

Despite the relatively small turnout, (there were only 55 participants), the competition was stiff, and several of last year's champions found themselves emptyhanded at the end of the day.

FIVE NEW champions were crowned, as only Rocky O'Shaughnessy repeated in the women's division. Ron Gentry of Rochester unseated Joe Mikulec of Milford in the finals to take the heavyweight crown, while Joe Rairick of Ypsilanti knocked off Rich Charniga of Livonia in the early going en route to the lightweight title. Charniga, an impressive performer, won the lightweight crown last year.

Two of last year's champions, Butch Boucher and Ed Bond, did not compete. Bond's middleweight title went to Todd Muncie of Highland Park, while Boucher's featherweight crown was lifted by Barry Jocque of Royal Oak.

"I don't know why the tournament drew so few," said Gentry, newly crowned heavyweight champ and newly elected president of the Michigan Wrist Wrestling Association. "We had lot's of publicity, maybe we should hold the meet in a big city."

He added, "But only the toughest turned out. It was good competition. There were 188 competitors at the Pontiac Mall tournament, but they weren't as tough as the ones that showed at Adams."

Gentry, who disposed of Mikulec in about 30 seconds, said he had his doubts about capturing the crown. "I wondered about Joe. He just slammed me. I couldn't budge him on the start, so I had to just wait until he got tired before I could put him down."

Mikulec finished fifth in the world competition last year at Petaluma, Calif.

This year's competition is scheduled for Oct. 11, and it presents a problem for the new Michigan champions.

The tourney proceeds were to go towards sending the new titlists to Petaluma, but the turnout didn't come close to raising the $1,500 necessary to send the Michigan champions out west.

"I am going to try and find a sponsor," explained Gentry. "I intend to check with ABC Wide World of Sports and see if they will let us wear T-shirts with product names on them. I think someone would sponsor us. If we did well, the sponsors' name would be on the screen the whole time we were wrestling. That's pretty good advertising."

One of Gentry's major disappointments of the tournament was the fact that the Lions, who are practicing just outside of Rochester, didn't send anyone to compete.

"Where were they? I wonder if maybe they were afraid they might hurt their arms?" he said.

He added, "I am issuing a challenge to the Lions. I want them to send someone to wrestle me. Besides, if they're better that'll help me prepare for Petaluma."

Until Oct. 11, however, Gentry will continue to work out with weights and practice with anyone who will arm wrestle with him.

RICH CHARNIGA of Livonia was the defending lightweight champion but last out in the early goings to Joe Rairick of Ypsilanti, the eventual champion.

JOE TROMBLEY of Garden City competed in the heavy-weight division in the recent Michigan Wrist Wrestling Championships in Rochester.

East's Murphy dominates field

Teaching is best done by example but Brian Murphy is carrying the adage almost to the ridiculous.

The 34-year-old Murphy, who coaches track at Garden City East High School, virtually tore apart the 30-34 year age bracket at the recent midwest regional masters track and field championship held at Evanston, Ill., winning seven of the 10 events he entered and picking up a second and two fourths in the other three events.

"I really didn't have time to train like I should have for this event," Murphy said. He said that he put in a total of only five hours in workouts getting ready for the meet.

Murphy's forte was the field events where he took firsts in the pole vault, long jump, high jump, shot put, discus throw, hammer throw and 56-pound weight throw. His second came in the javelin throw with the two fourths coming in sprint events, the 100 and 200 meter dashes.

Murphy picked up his expertise in some of the less common field events while participating on the University of Wisconsin track team and later on the Milwaukee Track Club.

"There really aren't a lot of people around who are familiar with the 56-pound weight throw. In fact, I hadn't even touched one since 1970 when I went to the meet," Murphy said.

Nevertheless, his toss of 27 feet, eight inches was easily the best of the day in his class.

Murphy was a member of the All-American AAU National Track and Field Team for five years and won the all-around title three times and was second once in younger days. He finished third in the nation in the grueling AAU pentathlon in 1970 and was fourth in the event in 1969 while still competing on a regular basis.

His ability to perform at some of the less common field events will be a definite asset in his coaching work according to Murphy.

"Next year, the discus throw will become a regular high school event. I don't believe that there are many other coaches in the state who are as familiar with that event as I am," he said.

"Also, many of the other principles of these less common events are applicable to other high school events," Murphy said.

Major Metro softball tournament play slated

The Major Metro Travel League's second annual Tournament of Champions will be held Friday, August 15, through Sunday, August 17, at Homer P. Howard Park in Southgate.

In addition to teams from the Major Metro, one of the nation's strongest slowpitch softball leagues, the field will include clubs from New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Wisconsin.

Snyder's Softball Club of Redford, a member of the Major Metro loop, is the defending champion.

The teams will be competing for $2,500 in travel expense money. First place is worth $1,500, second $700, and third $300. Since the tournament also qualifies as a Class A Regional of the United States Slowpitch Softball Association, the winning team and the runner-up also will earn berths in the USSSA national tournament to be played over the Labor Day weekend in New York.

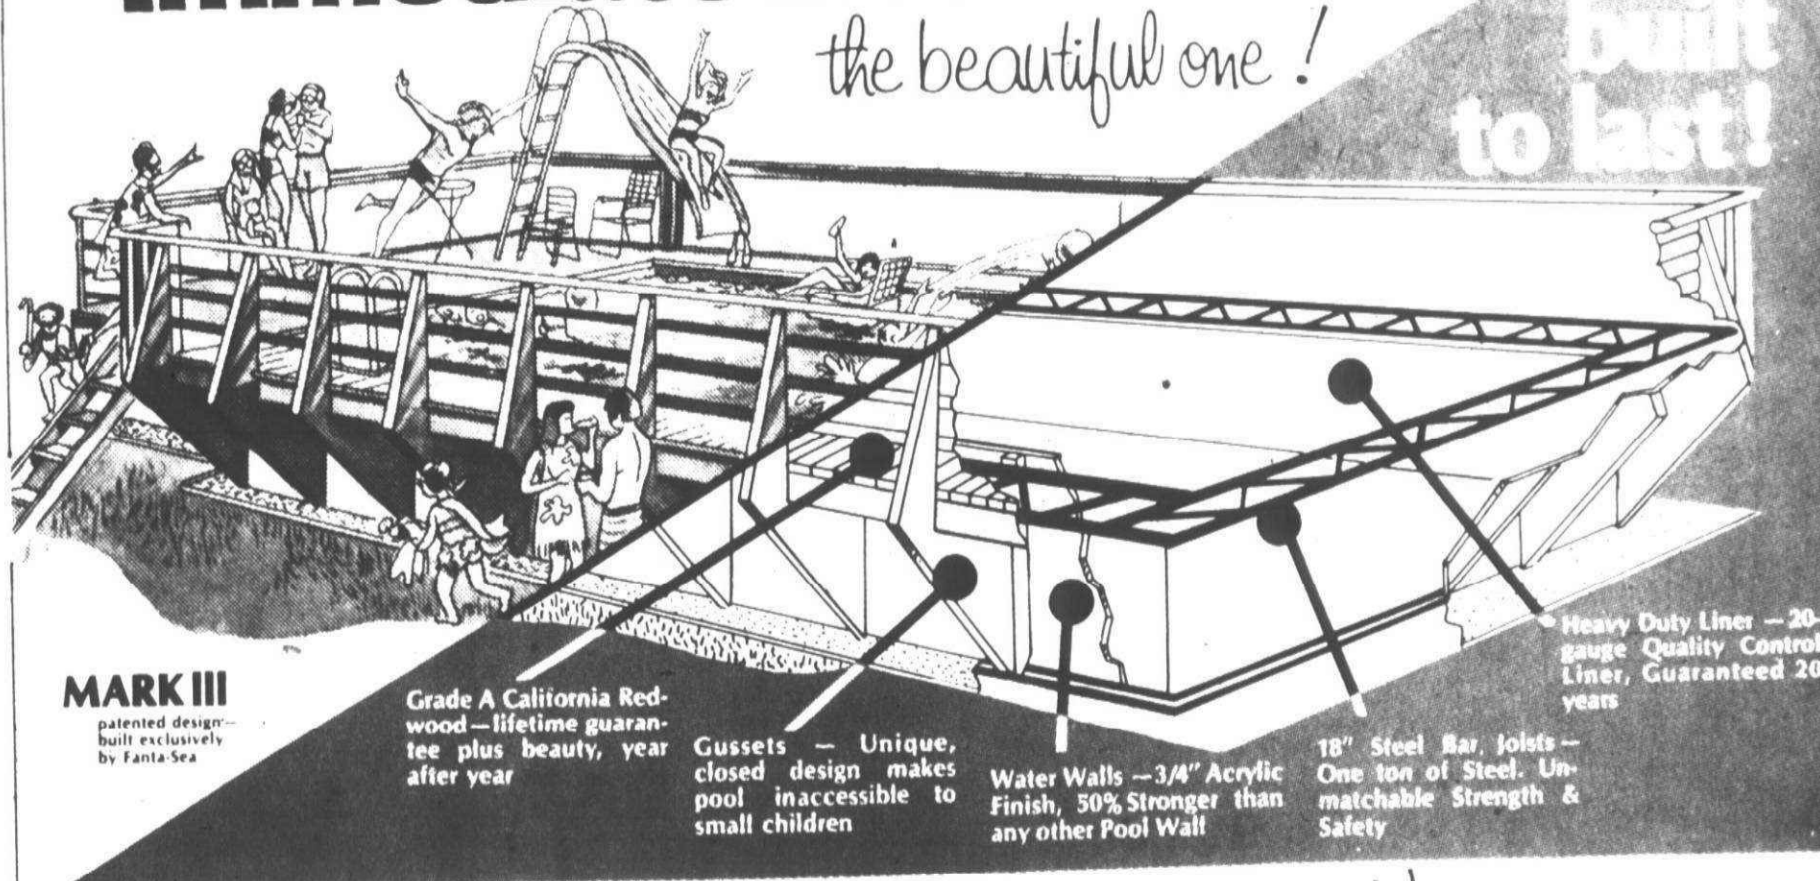

There are still some openings for local and out-of-town teams. Entry fee is $100 for USSSA-sanctioned teams, $110 for non-sanctioned clubs. Further information can be obtained by calling the Southgate Recreation Department, 284-7615.

The games will be played on three fields in the Howard Park complex, located on Dix Road between Eureka and Northline. Daily admission is $1.

On Sunday, Aug. 24, little Adrian, Michigan, population 23,000, will be the harness racing capital of the world as it hosts the $100,000 Michigan Breeders Futurity for trotters and pacers.

For that Sunday the Lenawee County Fair will be devoted exclusively to the standardbred, with the race being followed by a chicken and ham dinner, also open to the public. In the evening candidates for next year's race, will be sold at public auction.

There will be no betting on the races, thus making this event ideal for family entertainment. After the races the barn area will be open and the public will have the opportunity to see the horses close-up and speak with the participants. Also available for inspection will be the yearlings that will be sold that evening.

This is the first time that this race which features Michigan Bred or Sired two year old trotters and pacers will have been held. It is expected that this will be a yearly feature of the Lenawee County Fair and that in addition to the two year old races there will also be three year old divisions.

This year there will be four divisions for the two year old trotters and pacers with the colts and geldings racing in separate divisions from the fillies. Each of the four divisions will go for $25,000.

WHEN THE RACE was announced over a year ago, over 600 yearlings were nominated. This is more than had ever been eligible to any Michigan race at that stage. This spring owners of over 300 of these kept their horses eligible by paying $50. It is anticipated that over 50 owners will pay the $250 entry fee required to start.

The races will begin at 1:30, the dinner will follow promptly after the races at 3:30 and the sale will begin at 6:30.

The favorite in the pacing colt division has got to be Shiaway Chatham, sold at this same auction last year for $8,000 to a syndicate that races under the name of the Gas House Gang, which includes his breeder, Shiawasee Farm, Inc. Chatham earned this distinction by a brilliant win in the Geers Stake at Hazel Park where he beat some of the best in the nation. Since that time Chatham has been racing well, but not well enough as he has been beaten on three occasions in the Michigan Colt Stakes by Dreammaker (Dick Oldfield, Adrian), Nutzi Too (Sacco and Rosengerg, Oak Park and M. Dokey, Westland), and Shiaway Hornet (Irv Johnson, Brighton). Other leading contenders include Shadow Don Time (Paul and Jim Felice, Pontiac), who had a third in the Grand Circuit race at Goshen, Titan Knox (C. M. Saunders, Perrysburg, Ohio), Painter Five (M. A. Benson, Jr., Pontiac), and Hy Wings (Waldo McIlmurray, Novi).

In the pacing filly division, it looks right now that Betty Skipper owned by Paul Jensen of Pontiac, Mary Graham of Birmingham, and Adolph Silverstein of Detroit, has the race all but locked up. She has had 5 consecutive wins, one more impressive than the other. She is by this nation's leading stallion, Meadow Skipper who stands for the highest stud fee in the history of the sport, $15,000 and is the seventh consecutive winning foal of the good Friscoway mare, Frisco Gold.

The competition is expected to come from Classy Sample (Ada Ackerman of Galien), Nell's Satin Doll (Judith Heslip of South Lyon), Dristina Maria (Norm Forsyth of Millington), Beppy Knox (Robert Leithner E. Nottle of Battle Creek), and Augusta Wind (George Horan of Allegan).

IN THE TROTTING COLT division, this might just be a replay of the race at Adrian four years ago, when hometowners, Oldfield and Boring went head and head for most of the mile and then faded as Arbor Count, owned by The Three Guys from R.P.I., Inc. won in 2:09h, the fastest mile ever recorded by a two year old trotter on any of the country fair tracks in the state. This year, the Boring's champion is Chris' Colt, who so far is the winningest trotting colt in the Michigan Circuit, Dick Oldfield's is Kinda Big, who has already beaten most of Ohio's best, and The Three Guys have Arbor Prince, who has won two of his four starts. In that field four years ago there was a Scotch Valley colt, Mr. Colwell, who showed tremendous speed, but didn't stay trotting very often. When he did, however, he beat the Hambletonian winner Super Bowl and established himself as one of the best in the nation. This year, Bill Brown, Livonia Automobile dealer, who raced Scotch Valley has a grandson of his, Pine Ayres, who is showing the same attribute. In the one race where he stayed trotting, he sat outside for the whole mile and had no trouble beating a field which included Chris' Colt. Additional competition is expected from Reveries Taps owned by Lexington restaurateur Gene Oldford.

In the trotting filly division, Spanish Carlotta, owned by Sacco and Rosenberg, Oak Park automobile dealers and her trainer, Merrit Dokey of Westland, looks like the solid choice. However, plenty of competition can be expected from Parvenue, owned by trainer Clyde Snook, Bells Freight owned by her drive Norm Forsyth,

The Lenawee County Fair Board has scheduled three other days of racing, including Wednesday Aug. 20.

Ballerina Holly Doty joins German opera company

By ELINOR GRAHAM

Cranko Ballet School at Stuttgart. Before leaving for home, she did a little job-hunting, and received three offers to join ballet companies.

After talking it over with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Doty of Lakewood Avenue in Plymouth Township, she made the decision to go to Dusseldorf. Mrs. Doty engaged the services of a translator to interpret the fine German print in the contract and it met with their approval.

Miss Doty said she spent a short time in Dusseldorf, but not long enough to really become acquainted with the city.

"It is a very modern city," she said. "They say it is the fashion capital of Germany and that appeals to me."

Holly Doty's dancing career began as a first grader in Louisville, Ky. when she was enrolled in a recreation department dance class.

Since then, ballet has been an important part of her life.

WHEN THE DOTYS came to the Plymouth area nine years ago, Holly became a student of Sandra Severo.

The Severo Ballet Company has performed with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, the Detroit Symphony and other out-state orchestras.

Holly has danced Hilda from "Coppelia," the Snow Queen and the Sugar Plum pas de deux in "The Nutcracker." She was the bird in "Peter and the Wolf," and had the lead in Balanchine's "Serenade." She also has performed in the classic ballet, "Pas de Quatre."

Which male ballet dancer would she choose as a partner?

"Eric Bruhn," she replied. "Because he's considerate, yet masculine and a gentleman."

ON AUG. 16 Holly Doty reports for her first day with the Dusseldorf Opera Company. She said her high school German and six months in the country enabled her to converse on day-to-day subjects.

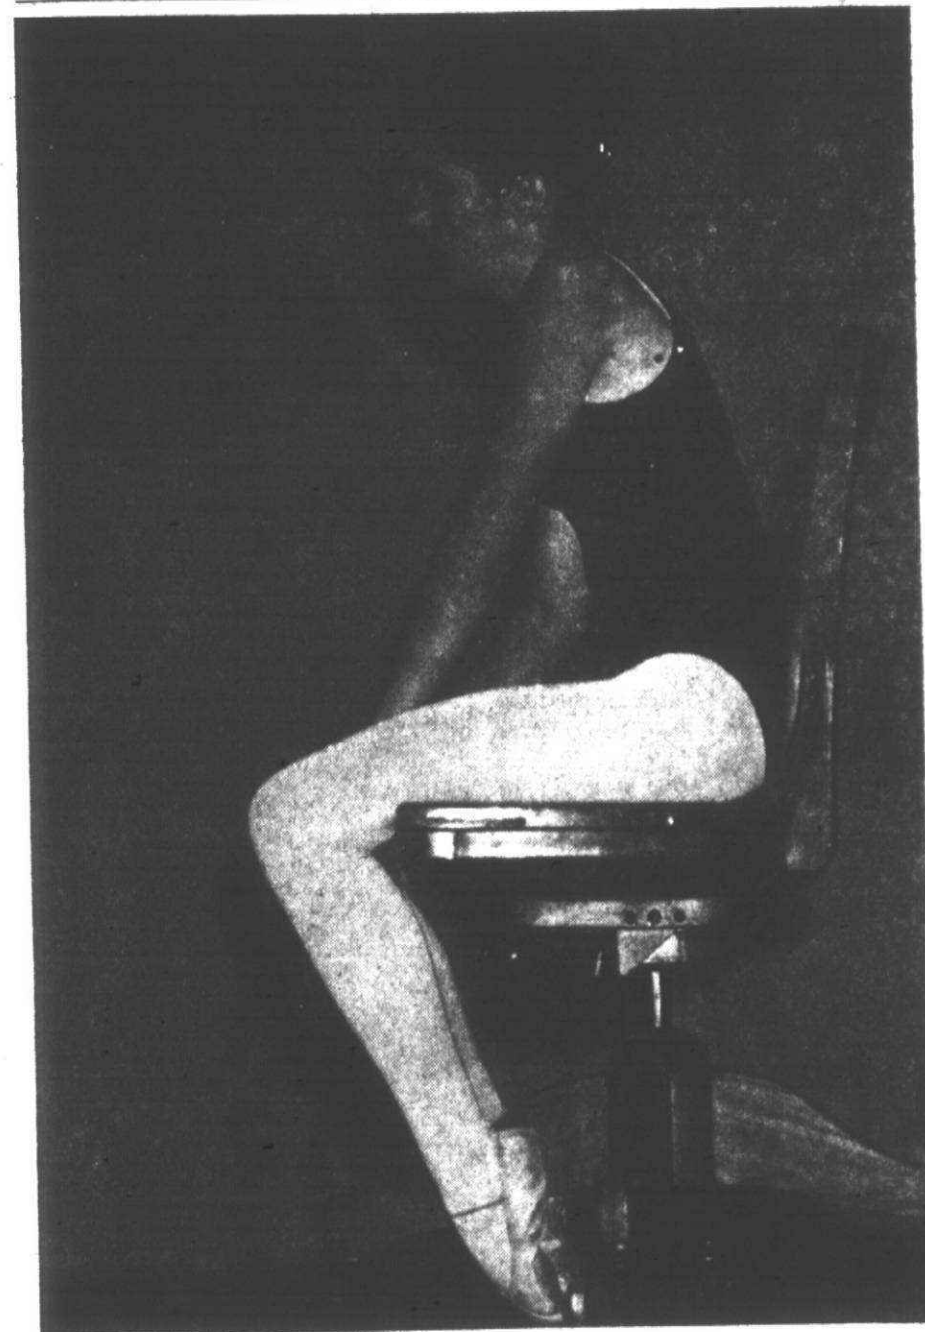

"But I can't discuss ideas yet," she said.

Her parents hope to visit her during the Christmas season.

By then, we predict, this charming young ballerina probably will be "discussing ideas" fluently.

Small fry get immunizations at 2 clinics

BY SHERRY KAHAN
"Now you're all ready for school."
The woman was talking to her young son, who had just survived an immunization session at a free clinic—one of the two conducted recently in the area by the Wayne County Health Department.

It had been held, as it is the first Wednesday of every month, in St. Paul United Presbyterian Church of Livonia, with the county providing the professional services and the Western Suburban Junior Woman's Club supplying the volunteer helpers.

Similar exchanges between mothers and children took place at the county's clinic on Sheldon, open for its first immunization program last week.

Held in the complex formerly used by the Wayne County Child Development Center, it is located north of the Plymouth Center for Human Development on Sheldon and Five Mile.

It plans its next free immunization day on Oct. 14.

THE MOTHER, who rejoiced that all obstacles were cleared away, and that her child was now ready for school, was speaking in response to a state law.

The law says that before a child starts school he must be immunized against rubella, measles, polio, diphtheria, mumps, tetanus (lock jaw) and pertussis (whooping cough).

Up at the county facility on Sheldon Road, Mrs. Joan Goff, RN supervisor of the clinic was saying, "I wasn't sure anyone would come."

The clinic had opened for the first time, but Mrs. Goff need not have worried. The waiting rooms were well stocked with mothers and somewhat nervous youngsters waiting for their turn.

Babies and little ones enjoyed the security of Mom's lap, sucking a thumb and watching the passing scene.

David and Jeff Balaka of Redford Township, members of the older set, passed the time by playing an improvised game of hockey on a table, hitting a puck made out of paper with pencil hockey sticks.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD Eric Racher of Livonia found the whole situation "scary" pointing out, "I don't like to get shots."

Occasionally there would be a brief cry from a distant room which didn't much help the general feeling of unease of the children, but which couldn't be helped.

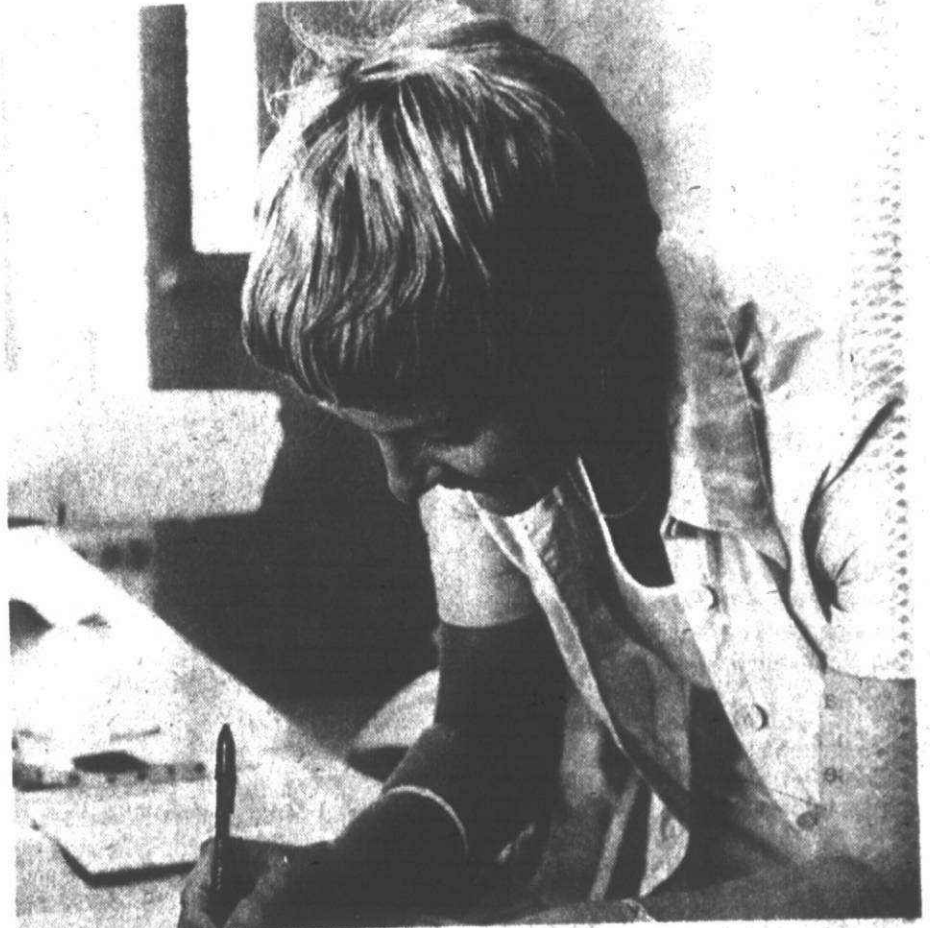

Jeff Balaka said he understood why he was there. "It's to take a sugar cube so I won't get polio," he explained.

"I know they are expecting trouble this year in the area of polio and measles so I brought in the boys and Holly," said Mary Anne Balaka, their mother.

"This clinic is a big help to us because my husband was laid off."

MRS. KATHY ADAMS (standing) of Canton went to the immunization clinic at St. Paul church in Livonia to get shots for daughter Kelly, entering Fiegel school in September, and son Patrick. They are being registered by Mrs. Mary Bengtsson.

MRS. JOAN MUSCH, like Mrs. Bengtsson a member of the Western Suburban Junior Women's Club, registers weights and heights for the youngsters. (Staff photos by Art Emanuel)

June Hansor is honored for 25 years with NBD

June Hansor's 25th anniversary at the National Bank of Detroit was marked by her co-workers with a breakfast at the Mayflower Hotel. Eighteen friends joined the 7:30 a.m. celebration. Among them was Floyd Kehrl who first hired her as a bookkeeper at the old First National Bank.

When First National merged with NBD in 1952, Mrs. Hansor went on to be a teller and then to the note window. She is now bookkeeping manager for the commercial loan department at the Sheldon-North Territorial branch.

Later in the morning she was presented a diamond watch by vice president of the board, Norman Weston who came from Detroit headquarters to congratulate her.

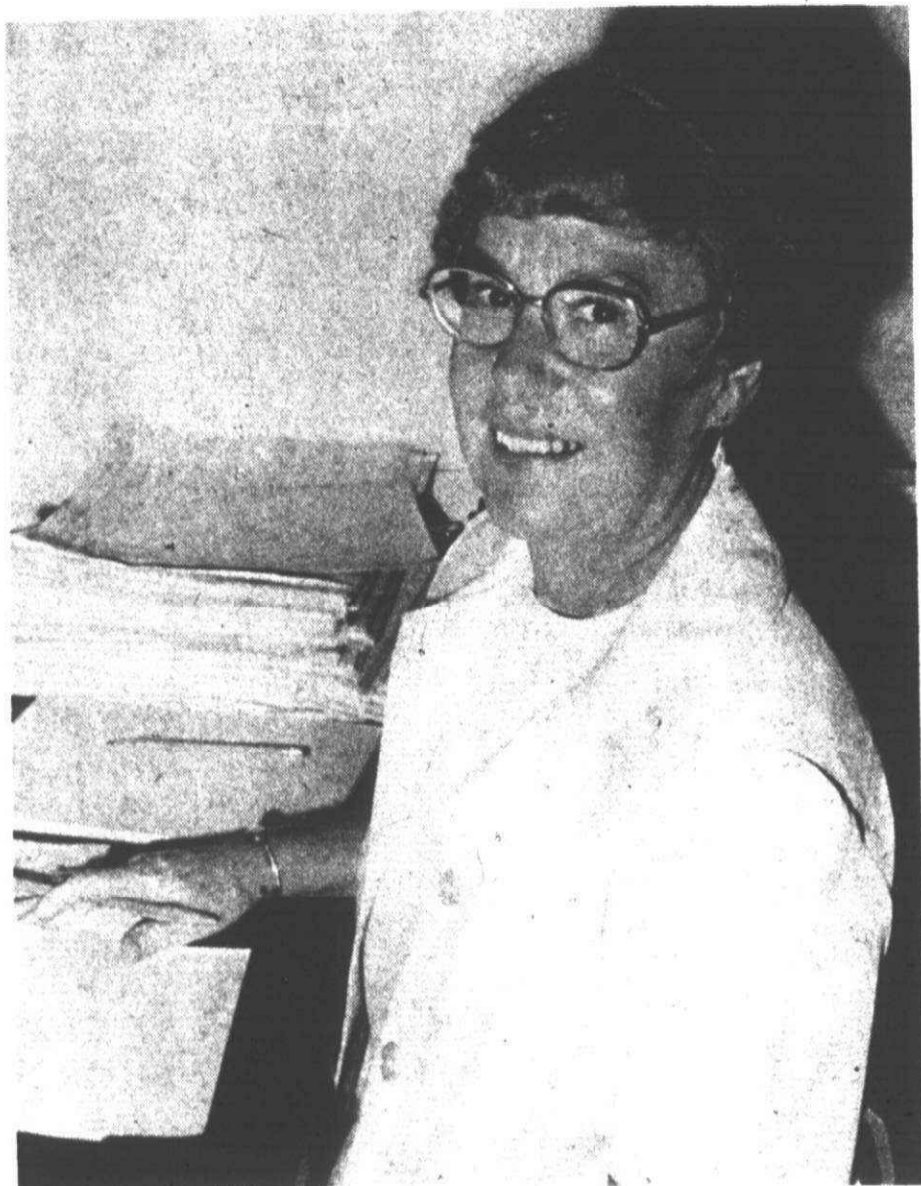

"We started out as a small bank when everything was done manually," said Mrs. Hansor. "Now we are a big bank and everything is done with computers."

"Laws change—I learn something new every week. I have never been bored."

Robert Barbour, area manager of NBD, said, "June and I have worked together for 24 years. She started here a year before me."

"There are constant changes in the workings of the loan department and as head of the bookkeeping department, June handles them all."

"When she received her watch this morning, we told her to take good care of it and we'd give her another one at the end of the next 25 years."

m.m.memos

Someone asked one of my daughters recently if her mother liked plants. She said she thought I liked rocks better.

She's absolutely right. It's probably sacrilege in this day of ecology and nature and all that, but I have to admit I feel no magic affinity with growing things.

In the first place, my thumb is a livid purple and I have no talent for any kind of gardening, though I do a certain amount out of necessity.

THE TROUBLE IS I find house-plants pretty demanding, and I don't even feel it's necessary to talk to them. They have to be watered and put in the right kind of light and they should be washed and maybe repotted. Forgetful homemaker that I am, I've managed to kill even hardy specimens.

I go outside and my woes increase. I plant and prune and fertilize, and just when I think I have everything under control it turns out I lavished all that attention on a crop of weeds and I have to start pulling them out.

ROCKS AND STONES, on the other hand, make none of these demands on me. Mostly, they just lie peacefully on a beautiful Lake Superior shore, waiting for me to see their possibilities.

Then after I select them, they tumble uncomplainingly in my handy-dandy tumbler toy, and they come out shiny and beautiful and really soothing to the touch.

THIS ODE to geological specimens comes because the rampant weeds and crabgrass on lawn and garden make that rocky beach seem even more inviting.

When I make it up there, I hope our neighbors will look away from the overgrowth and maybe even say a little prayer for the African violet and the cactus in the house.

About everybody's house to inquire about my agates.

MRS. LAWRENCE LYONS DANIEL (Diana Marie Burr)

Lawrence Daniel

wed in south

Lawrence Lyons Daniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard I. Daniel of Rogers, Ark., formerly of Plymouth, claimed Diana Marie Burr as his bride in a ceremony in the Open Door Baptist Church in Rogers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Burr of Rogers. Officiating for the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Bill Rial.

White silk organza fashioned the bride's gown. It was trimmed in Brussels lace, and with it she wore a full-length veil, edged in venise lace, and a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. Her flowers were orchids, stephanotis and baby's breath, arranged on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Kenneth Mann, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Jim Bryant, Pam Summers, Kelly King and Mrs. Richard Daniel. They wore mint green organza and carried nosegays of daisies.

Assisting the bridegroom were his brother, Richard Daniel of Baton Rouge, as best man, and, as groomsmen, Andrew Daniel, Kenneth Mann, Jim Bryant and Jed Dawson.

Katherine and Roberta Daniel, the bridegroom's sisters, were candle-lighters.

The reception was held in the Daniel home with Mrs. Robert Wesley, Mrs. Harold Batie and Mrs. Alan Bernash, all of Plymouth, assisting the hostess.

After a Jamaica honeymoon, the couple will live in Fulton, Mo. The new Mrs. Daniel is a student at William Woods College and her husband at Westminster College.

The pre-emptive opening bid is aggressive. With only six cards in the suit, the action is not normal but does reflect the vulnerability.

MRS. MICHAEL HENRY HORTON (Robin Lynn Faber)

Couple write wedding ceremony

Robin Lynn Faber and Michael Henry Horton wrote the nuptial vows they exchanged in a recent ceremony in St. John Episcopal Church of Plymouth.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alan R. Faber of Charnwood Street, Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Horton, also of Plymouth. The Rev. Robert's Beau de soie officiated.

The bride's peach dr. empire gown and chapel-length veil were ivory, and she carried roses, miniature carnations and stephanotis in a cascade arrangement.

Four attendants wore print gowns with pink and aqua flowers on ivory. Their hats were flower-trimmed. Karen Faber, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Janice Sims, Diane Williams and Kathy Horton.

Brothers of the bride pair attended the bridegroom. Curt Horton was best man and the guests were seated by Jeff Horton, John Horton and Alan Faber Jr.

The reception was held in Botsford Inn, Farmington.

The newlyweds will live in Plymouth. The new Mrs. Horton is completing a degree in Accounting from Eastern Michigan University and is employed by National Bank of Detroit in Plymouth. Her husband, a zoology graduate of Michigan State University, will continue his studies at MSU in the fall.

Motorcycle driving tips

There's an increasingly complex mix of traffic on the nation's streets and highways these days. Private motor vehicles have been joined by greater numbers of commercial vehicles, buses and the two-wheeled phenomenon—the motorcycle.

Today there are over five million motorcycles registered for street use in the United States. Ten years ago there were only about a million.

Consequently, we can find on today's highways large numbers of new motorcycle riders and even larger numbers of automobile drivers who do not understand how to mix with motorcycles in traffic.

The Motorcycle Safety Foundation has some tips in providing a safer traffic environment between motorists and motorcycles.

The motorist should be prepared to yield the right of way to oncoming motorcycles. A cycle's small size (which makes it difficult to spot in traffic) requires that a driver keep close watch on traffic developments ahead. Determining the speed of an oncoming motorcycle is not an easy task, so drivers should always search oncoming traffic for motorcycles when turning across intersection traffic.

The motorcyclist should approach intersections with extreme caution. Before riding through an intersection, the rider should check traffic from the right and left and check oncoming traffic for vehicles which may be turning left.

At intersections where vision is limited by buildings, parked vehicles, or shrubbery, traffic hazards may be obscured. The motorist and motorcyclist both should slow down and make double checks of traffic.

Special problems are presented by signal-controlled intersections. Drivers and riders should be aware that cross traffic may be going through the intersection on a yellow light. Also, oncoming vehicles may try to make a quick left turn in front of the other traffic.

Dial-a-ride too good

"Dial-a-ride" has recently been one of the most touted gimmicks developed by mass transit planners to lure local travelers out of their cars and onto buses. But the biggest test of the concept yet attempted in the U.S. has been abruptly dropped; it proved too popular.

San Jose, Calif., started the individualized mass transit experiment last November. Would-be riders were told that a phone call would bring a bus to their doorstep. For 25 cents they would be taken to any nearby destination or deposited at a regular bus stop to go on a longer jaunt. But calls came in at twice the rate San Jose officials had budgeted for, clogging telephone lines to the dispatchers and more than doubling the budget estimates it would take to make the plan work.

One other factor convinced the town supervisors to abandon the test until they could do more planning; it did almost nothing to reduce automobile traffic, since most of the dial-a-riders were those who before either walked to a bus stop or stayed home.

Motorcyclists should be aware that home drive-time present special hazards. Since most of the time automobiles back out of a driveway, the driver may have difficulty spotting an oncoming motorcyclist. Cyclists should make sure the driver sees the cycle before reaching the driveway entrance or be prepared to act accordingly.

Remember, too, that alleys, traffic circles and entrance and exit ramps are intersections also. These require cyclists to exercise the same care as approaching any other intersection.

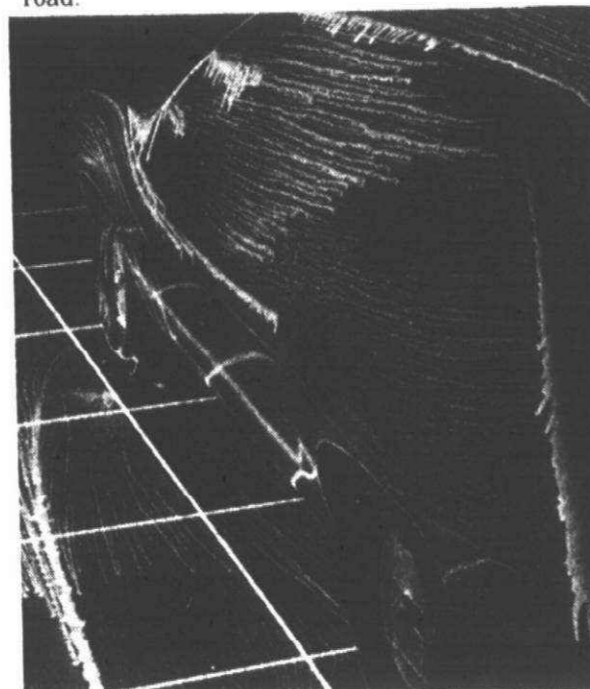

Tailgating—of autos by cyclists, of cyclists by autos—is a particularly hazardous and unwise practice.

The motorist can deter a tailgater by flashing the brake lights, by slowing down to allow the following vehicle to pass, or by accelerating.

The motorcyclist can choose any of the above as well as "waving off" a vehicle following too closely with a hand signal.

On passing and being passed, the motorist, when being overtaken by a cycle, should maintain lane position and speed, allowing the cyclist to complete the pass and assume proper lane position as quickly as possible.

When passing a motorcycle, the driver should allow a full lane to the motorcycle rather than crowding the cycle in the same lane. Drivers should also avoid premature returns to the original lane—a cyclist is extremely vulnerable when an auto forces the cycle to the right or off the road.

Car Wash on a Clean Floor?—No, the "suds" is really oil containing a fluorescent pigment. This coupled with an ultra-violet light source is used as one air flow "visualizing medium" by GM Research engineers in (fuel economy-related) aerodynamic studies of vehicle scale models in the Technical Center wind tunnel.
