Student meal prices hiked 5¢ a lunch

The rising cost of living has finally reached the height of the hip pockets of students and teachers attending Plymouth Community School District.

When they reach for their wallets, or dip into purses, for lunch money, they will have to come up with an extra coin to pay for the meal.

For students, lunches will be five cents more and for teachers 10 cents more. Prices for senior citizens using school cafeterias will remain unchanged.

THE LUNCH price hike was approved 4-0 at Monday night's school board meeting, with trustees George Lawton, Gary Mirto and Tom Yack absent.

The action followed a report from Raymond Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, who said the hike was needed to keep the cafeteria fund solvent.

Precipitating the hike was a decision made this year by Hoedel to charge to the cafeteria fund direct costs which had previously been drawn from the general fund. These costs include utilities, fringe benefits for for service employes, and equipment repair or replacement.

LUNCH PRICES will rise from 45 to 50 cents for elementary pupils, from 50 to 55 cents for middle school students, from 60 to 65 cents for high schoolers, and from 80 to 90 cents for adults excluding senior citizens.

Last year, Hoedel explained, the cafeteria fund was charged with fringe benefit, utility and equipment expenses which lowered the fund's balance from $80,000 to $50,000. The fringe benefit expense alone was $21,000 and $46,000 was spent this past year for equipment replacement.

This year, the increase for wages and fringe benefits for food service employes is expected to increase by some $20,000 to $25,000 or by five per cent.

The cost for food last year was $334,000, and this is expected to increase by $16,000 (five per cent) or more.

"We can repair or replace equipment from the cafeteria fund if the fund has a balance (surplus) to work with, but we need that balance.

"This past year, for instance, our auditors recommended that we provide cash registers at the middle schools and high schools. These could cost $1,000 apiece," Hoedel added.

THE INCREASE would add about $46,000 to the cafeteria fund, based on 620,000 lunches served over 180 days.

With the lunch price increase, Hoedel says, the cafeteria fund balance will drop from $50,000 to about $35,000. Without the price hike, he estimates the balance would drop to about $5,000.

This might be enough to purchase the cash registers but wouldn't leave any balance to take care of equipment maintenance or any unexpected major equipment break down.

THE BOARD also adopted a new policy for the coming school year to provide free milk, free lunches and reduced-price lunches for students from needy families.

Last year, Hoedel says, the district served some 42,000 free lunches but didn't have anyone sign up for reduced-price lunches. Those who qualify under reduced-price guidelines may buy lunches at 20 cents.

The change in policy was necessitated by new federal guidelines defining who is eligible for free lunches. Last year, a family of four with an income of $5,640 was eligible. The income level has been raised this year so that the same family of four must have an annual income of $6,260 to qualify for free lunches.

Residents who qualify are encouraged to take advantage of both the free lunch and the reduced-price lunch programs.

Canton offices expanding

A NEW OFFICE has been added to Canton Township's town hall. This room formerly was used by senior citizens and for meetings. It will now house about 10 township officer workers. (Additional photos on page 3A)

Canton High stands to lose basketball all-state prospect

By EMORY DANIELS

With school opening less than a week away, it is still unknown for certain whether David Agardy will be playing basketball for the Plymouth Salem Rocks or the Plymouth Canton Chiefs.

Agardy, younger brother of two all-staters produced by the Julius Agardy family of 39920 Warren, Canton, had been scheduled to attend Plymouth Salem as a freshman this fall until the attendance boundaries were changed earlier this year.

This summer, Agardy has been working out with the Salem cagers for the summer basketball program and has had his hopes set on playing for the team that brother Eric helped push into the state Class A semi-finals last year.

The board appeared to be ready Monday night to suspend rules and allow the younger Agardy to attend Salem. But trustees ran into a parliamentary snag which requires advanced written notice before rules can be suspended.

If the action the four trustees seemed prepared to take Monday holds, Agardy could officially become a Salem student at the Sept. 1 board meeting — three days before school opens.

If the board is unable to muster a quorum, however, for the Labor Day meeting, then action could be postponed until the Sept. 8 meeting. This would be four days after the opening of school, so Agardy might have to enroll as a student at Canton High and then transfer to Salem.

THE AGARDY CASE has been simmering behind scenes all summer and reached the board level in public Monday night when the Agardys appeared with an attorney.

Representing the Agardys was Maurice M. Breen, attorney with offices in the City of Plymouth who lives in Plymouth Township.

Breen repeatedly urged the board to allow David Agardy to enter Salem by adopting a board resolution Monday night. Carefully choosing his words, Breen said a delay by the board put him "in a very delicate" position — an indication he is considering asking the courts for an injunction if the board doesn't act.

The Agardy basketball success story began with the oldest brother, Greg, who enjoyed an all-state season with Allen Park High as a seven-foot center.

Last year, 6-10 Eric Agardy helped propel the Rocks' basketball team to a league title and into the state Class A semi-finals. Eric also set an all-time basketball scoring record at Salem.

The Salem coach already has included David Agardy in his plans for the 1975-76 season as a forward — possibly as a freshman starter — with hopes of moving him into the center position as he grows taller.

The coach of the Canton Chiefs wouldn't object to having David Agardy on his squad. He already has a couple good players on his team and the addition of Agardy could sew up a title.

THAT PLACES the school board in a touchy position for several reasons.

Trustees are faced with having to decide whether this potential all-stater should play for the Chiefs or Rocks — a sticky problem because the district is trying to build up the total athletic program at Plymouth Canton High.

Another consideration of concern to Supt. Mike Hoben is whether the Michigan Athletic Association might look upon a "transfer" of Agardy to Salem as a violation of MAA recruiting rules.

Hoben and trustees are also worried that allowing Agardy to attend Salem might set a precedent and open a can of worms in which several parents will start requesting transfers for all kinds of reasons.

It is one of those situations administrators and trustees often find themselves faced with in which any approach taken will have both negative and positive ramifications.

BREEN told the board that before the Agardys moved here they carefully investigated coaches throughout the metropolitan area to find one who could best develop their sons' talents.

They decided to purchase their present house, Breen explained, because they wanted Salem basketball coach Fred Thomann to guide their sons' athletic futures. Thomann, who once was starting center for Michigan State University in the 1960s, coached Willow Run to a Class B championship before coming to Salem.

"When they purchased their home it was in the Salem attendance area and that's the exact reason why they purchased that house," said Breen. "They had heard of this coach through the media and relied on the attendance area set then."

"The parents' concern is that they would like to see David well-coached so he has a chance for an athletic scholarship as his brothers have earned."

Trustee Joe Gray asked how many other families might be in a similar situation, noting that enrollment was presently high at Salem and low at Canton.

Hoben said he would have to research that further. "We have had other requests for high school transfers," said Hoben, adding that one girl wants to transfer to Canton to play on the Chiefs girls' basketball team.

BREEN ARGUED that this wouldn't set a precedent but that claim was strongly argued by Ms. Borowski.

"We cannot minimize the issue that this would set a precedent. There are other families who move into a particular attendance area and these areas may be changed again in the future.

"I'm not moved by the fact somebody wants to play on a winning team," Ms. Borowski admitted, "but I am moved that these parents want their children to attend the same school."

"I'd be hesitant to vote for a policy change on this matter without first exploring all ramifications," said Trustee Dr. E.J. McClendon.

Trustee Joe Gray said he favored exceptions to allow members of a family to stay in the same school.

"I don't think we should leave it to a computer to kick out the names of those students your children should attend school with."

Traffic jam relief may arrive by 1977

Residents of the Plymouth-Canton community may avoid traffic jams at the corner of Canton Center and Joy by 1977 and zip from Sheldon to Canton Center Road on a proposed shortcut route.

Only 1.9 acres of land remains to be dedicated to Wayne County to construct the proposed Sheldon-Canton Center cutoff, according to Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein.

THE WAYNE COUNTY Board of Commissioners, Greenstein said, has promised to start construction of the cutoff within one year after dedication of the land.

Proposed as a way to diminish traffic problems near the Centennial Educational Park and the corner of Joy and Canton Center, the road would link Canton Center and Sheldon on a northeasterly route.

The cutoff would probably begin at Canton Center north of Warren and reach Sheldon south of Gallimore Elementary School.

According to Greenstein, three out of four land owners along the proposed cutoff route have already promised dedication of their land parcels.

LATEST TO give tentative agreement to the right-of-way dedication are landowners Nelson Dembs and David Sakwa, who want to build multiple family dwellings on their 40-acre parcel, the supervisor said.

If Dembs and Sakwa dedicate the land, Greenstein said the township will drop a proposal to rezone the land back to single- family residential. A previous township board had rezoned the land from single family to multiple, when Dembs and Sakwa promised dedication of the right-of-way, a yet unfulfilled promise, Greenstein said.

In other proposed agreements with the township, developer Dominic Moceri has promised dedication of a sliver of his land for the right-of way in addition to a donation by developers of the Brookville Planned Unit Development.

Township officials believe the remaining 1.9-acre parcel needed for the cutoff route was recently sold to developers and hope the land can be obtained.

CANTON 1776 1976

A 'Revere family' needed for 1976

"Listen, my children, and you shall hear of the midnight ride of Paul Revere. . ."

The legendary horseman, who warned his countrymen of the marching British in Revolutionary times, may rise from the grave with his family in future weeks to usher in the bicentennial and Canton's upcoming celebrations.

The search for Revere and a Mrs., Miss and junior is under way in Canton Township with nominations being accepted in township hall.

Qualifications for the Revere posts include Canton Township residency and ownership of a horse stabled in the township.

A panel of judges will select members of the Revere family at a still unscheduled horsemanship show, according to Charles Zazula, a member of the Canton Bicentennial Commission. Judges will select two adults to fill the roles of Paul and Mrs. Revere and two teens to fill the roles of Miss and junior.

The "Revere family," according to Zazula, will herald and promote the bicentennial commission's projects and add a touch of drama to the township's bicentennial events.

Bicentennial commission members hope to dress the family in revolutionary garb and enlist the services of volunteers for the sewing projects.

Persons may volunteer to sew and nominate themselves or others for the Revere family posts by calling Rennie Kirkwood at Canton Township offices, 44508 Geddes.

Members of local 4-H Clubs need not call because 4-H Club leaders have already submitted their names.

THE PROJECT HELP van, sponsored by National Bank of Detroit, will be at Main and Penniman Saturday, Sept. 6, from noon to 9 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 7, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The van is filled with information on crime prevention for residents and businessmen.

NBD will once again offer Project Help crime tips

National Bank of Detroit will once again bring the Project Help van to the Plymouth Fall Festival to give assistance to residents and businessmen in crime prevention.

The van will be located near the downtown Plymouth NBD office at Penniman and Main from noon to 9 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 6, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 7.

Aim of the Project Help GMC mobile van is to help reduce the losses caused by crime. Project Help is presented by NBD as a community service project for residents.

DURING ITS FIRST year of operation, including a 1974 visit to the Plymouth Fall Festival, some 12,000 persons visited the van which made more than 70 appearances throughout the Detroit metropolitan area.

The project was the winner of the 1974 Public Relations Society of America's silver anvil award for community service.

This year, Project Help will visit scores of NBD bank branches, shopping centers, and neighborhoods. The 26-foot vehicle contains more than 100 tips and hardware suggestions for fire prevention, auto theft, burglarly and protection for small businesses.

The Detroit Police, Wayne County Sheriff, State Police, FBI and numerous suburban police departments have cooperated with NBD to acquaint citizens with ideas to help reduce crime losses.

THE DISPLAYS in the van include door and window locks, a variety of home protection devices priced under $10, and burglar prevention suggestions.

Help also has information for merchants stressing store protection measures and suggestions to prevent bad check passing.

Among the suggestions is that residents and merchants make use of "Operation Identification" stickers and electrical engravers. To date, NBD has donated more than 3,000 engravers to community groups for use in Operation Identification so residents can mark valuables.

THE UNIT is available to community groups, shopping centers, and civic affair fuctions by contacting NBD's public relations department in the central office in Detroit.

Also available are two films — "Woman, Beware" and "The Bunco Boys" — plus eight slides on self-protection, burglarly prevention, crime and the citizen, bad checks, shoplifting, robbery, crime prevention and auto theft. These slides are also available for use from NBD's film library.

Gardeners needed for produce exhibit

The produce exhibition and competition during the 1975 Plymouth Fall Festival will feature an array of products from the area's farms and gardens.

This year the exhibit will be sponsored by the Fall Festival Committee.

Organizers say farmers in the Plymouth-Canton area, commercial retailers, and residents of all ages are encouraged to enter the competition.

Commercial and home-grown categories will be judged separately, stresses Ed Page, Festival general manager.

All entries must be Michigan grown.

THE CATEGORIES are:

Flowers: dried; old-fashioned fresh flowers; miniature arrangement; juhior age arrangement (participants under 14 years of age).

Vegetables mixed: commercial — arrangment must be attractively displayed in a wheelbarrow; non-commercial — a collection of vegetables attractively displayed, no wheelbarrow necessary.

Tallest stalk of corn: entries are measured from the ground to the tip.

Sunflower: the tallest sunflower; the sunflower with the widest blossom.

Ribbons for first, second, third and fourth places in each category will be awarded.

Entries must be placed under the exhibit's tent in Kellogg Park by noon Sunday, Sept. 7. Ribbons will be awarded to winners about 4 p.m.

Another category in produce competition will be pumpkins, with prizes given for the largest and for the heaviest.

Dyer sizes up schools; W-W feeling recession

By MARILYN FITCHETT

"The recession has come home to roost on education."

That's the belief of Wayne-Westland Schools Supt. Timothy Dyer, delivering his annual state of the school message to his administration Tuesday.

Dyer referred to the district's precarious financial picture clouded by a state aid formula, which Dyer believes hurts residential districts. The district is beginning to feel the effect of the loss of the bond issue put before the voters in June, Dyer said.

"We're facing the worst recession since the Depression," Dyer said. "This is not fiction. It's here and we're fortunate to have come out of its so far as well as we have.

"We have experienced no layoffs, and we're the only business that can say that. Compared to industry, we've suffered only minor inconveniences."

Although Dyer had hoped for a better break in the state aid formula, he defined it by saying it "was not a bad state aid formula in light of the times."

"Overall we'll be receiving an 11 per cent increase in revenues. But you have to realize that our contractual commitment calls for 10 per cent raises to our employes. So we'll be actually getting a minimal amount of increase."

Dyer theorized that Westland and Canton Township do not fall into the image some legislators have of suburbs.

"If you live in the suburbs, the consensus seems to be, you're well off. But that is not the case here where the suburbs supply the work force for industry. People who live here are of average income. But there is no recognition of this.

"The theory is that communities should have $40,000 worth of wealth behind each child. In reality Wayne-Westland has only $20,000 worth of wealth."

DYER'S MAIN objection to the state aid formula is that it penalizes districts which levy more millage than those districts where millages are not supported, he said.

Under the current formula, the state does not credit the district with state aid beyond the 27 mill levy. Wayne-Westland levies 37.65 operational mills.

"Even if we received $5 or $10 for each of those additional mills, it would be helpful," Dyer said.

ANOTHER MYTH PLAGUING school districts like Wayne-Westland is the belief that school systems are reimbursed 100 per cent for their special education programs.

"The district spends $2,579,000 in special education. Under the basic state aid formula, we receive $750,000. From the county we also receive $400,000 from the county for Morris Center.

"Our total special ed revenues total $1,700,00. We pick up the balance. In no way are we home on special education."

DYER POINTED TO school roof repairs and the heating system at the central office buildings as examples of how the defeated bond issue is hurting the district.

"The bond issue, unlike a millage defeat, does not reveal immediate consequences," Dyer said. With a millage loss, program cuts are made, layoffs are begun and in some cases school days are cut in half.

"The people know that because they have their children home for a half a day they used to spend in school. But they don't see that the roof leaks in some of our buildings. Some of the serious problems are hidden because parents never enter our buildings.

"We're paying for $200,000 in roof repairs from the general budget," he said. "That's just patchwork and not the job that should be done. But if you don't have the money for new clothes, you patch up the old ones and wear them."

Dyer called the central office building an "inadequate facility."

"By comparing ratios, we're paying 75 per cent more to heat this building which is one-third the size of a building like Adams Junior High.

"The repairs keep eating away at our budget. And it will get worse and worse and worae. We'll have to win that bond issue. Just how, we'll have to assess."

•

CURRICULUM PROGRAMS HAVE suffered as a result of the bond issue defeat, Dyer said.

"Vocational education at John Glenn is inadequate. And we're deficient in special ed at the secondary level. Our recreation and physical education could have been greatly improved with the swimming pools and extra space we sought.

"But it's not all doom and gloom. We have took a look at the total prospective of what's happening in this country."

Dyer listed methods the district has employed to curb spending. They include:

- Teachers have been hired for the opening of school on a substitute basis in order not to obligate the district if enrollments fall below expectations.
- All budgets have been held at 85 per cent of expected revenue.
- Programs have been held to last year's levels or modified to fit within the budget.
- A more rigid program of scheduling in the secondary schools has allowed staff reductions of nearly 13 teachers.There have been no layoffs but teachers who are leaving the district have not been replaced.
- Dyer's reorganization of the administrative staff is aimed at saving the district $175,000.

Programs which have been added to the curriculum are new reading management systems, expanded special education programs, expansion of athletics and co-curricurular, activities particulary in women's sports.

"In difficult times, we have managed to be more diligent and more masterful in the control of what we have to work with. We are going to use this time to evaluate and assess. Hopefully, when the economy improves, we will be able to use our assessment for the advancement of our programs," Dyer said.

County OKs farm zoning

The Wayne County Planning Commission has recommended the "downzoning" of two Canton Township land parcels to agricultural from more intensive land uses and maintaining the status quo of a third.

The township board of trustees will examine the recommendation and the "no-position" vote of the township planning commission before taking action on the matter.

The absence of three township planning commission members at a recent commission meeting brought a stalemate and split vote on the rezoning matters.

LAND PARCELS considered for rezoning are:

- A total of 226 acres, located north of Geddes on both sides of Beck, from single family residential to agricultural. Wayne County Planning Commission members voted in favor of the rezoning, while township planners cast a 2-2 vote on the matter.
- About 80 acres, located at the southwest corner of Geddes and Beck from single family residential to agricultural. Wayne County planners voted in favor of the rezoning, while the township planning commission cast a 2-1 vote in favor of the matter.
- About eight acres, located at the southwest corner of Ford and Ridge from general business to agricultural. Wayne County Planning Commission members voted against the county urban planner's recommendation to approve the matter. The township planning commission voted 2-2 on the matter.

THE LAND parcels would conform to the township's proposed master land use plan, if they were rezoned agricultural—their original designation.

The parcels were rezoned to more intensive uses by a previous planning commission and township board in preparation for a land use plan proposed last fall. That plan has been discarded, and a new plan soon will be unveiled.

The split vote on the rezoning matters at the township planning commission level was caused by the absence of commissioners Augustin Matzo, Flossi Tonda and Tom Timbario.

Planning commission members Carl Parsell and Robert Miller voted in favor of the rezoning in all cases. Commissioner Bart Berg voted against the rezoning matters. Commission member Robert Simmons voted against the rezoning but abstained in cases when he knew the developer.

The county's recommendations will be sent to township planning commission members for their acknowledgment and to the board of trustees for final action.

THE WAYNE COUNTY Planning Commission submitted recommendations on other township rezoning matters:

- Recommended approval of a rezoning application, submitted by the Geneva Presbyterian Church, to rezone seven acres on Sheldon north of Ford from highway oriented business to single family residential. A church is a permitted usage under the single family designation. The township planning commission recommended approval of the matter.
- Recommeded denial of a rezoning application, submitted by Brookville Associates, to rezone 20 acres south of Joy and west of Sheldon from restricted office and multiple to general business. Township planners also voted against the rezoning.
- Recommended approval of a township proposal to rezone 83 acres, located between Canton Center and Sheldon and Cherry Hill and Palmer from single family residential on 60-foot lots to single family on 80-foot lots. Township planning commission members cast a 2-2 vote.
- Recommended approval of a township proposal to rezone 49 acres, located north of Geddes between Canton Center and Beck, from single family residential on 60-foot lots to single family on 100-foot lots. The township planning commission recommended approval.

School board to hold meeting on Labor Day

Members of the Plymouth Board of Education will have only a partial holiday on Labor Day.

School trustees decided Monday night, by default, to hold a regularly scheduled board meeting on the evening of Labor Day, Sept. 1.

The meeting on a holiday evening resulted because only four trustees were present Monday night when votes were taken to reschedule the holiday meeting.

WITH FOUR members present, any motion introduced needed a "yes" vote from all four.

When the rescheduling motion came before the board, however, trustees found they couldn't come up with four votes on two separate motions.

Absent were trustees Gary Mirto, George Lawton and Tom Yack. This meant unanimous agreement had to be reached among Marcia Borowoski, Marda Benson, Dr. E.J. McClendon and Joe Gray. That proved too big a task for the board to handle.

THE FIRST attempt was to cancel the Sept. 1 meeting with theboard's business waiting until the regularly scheduled meeting on Sept. 8.

That motion was made by McClendon and supported by Gray. It was defeated by a 2-2 vote with Borowski and Benson on the negative side.

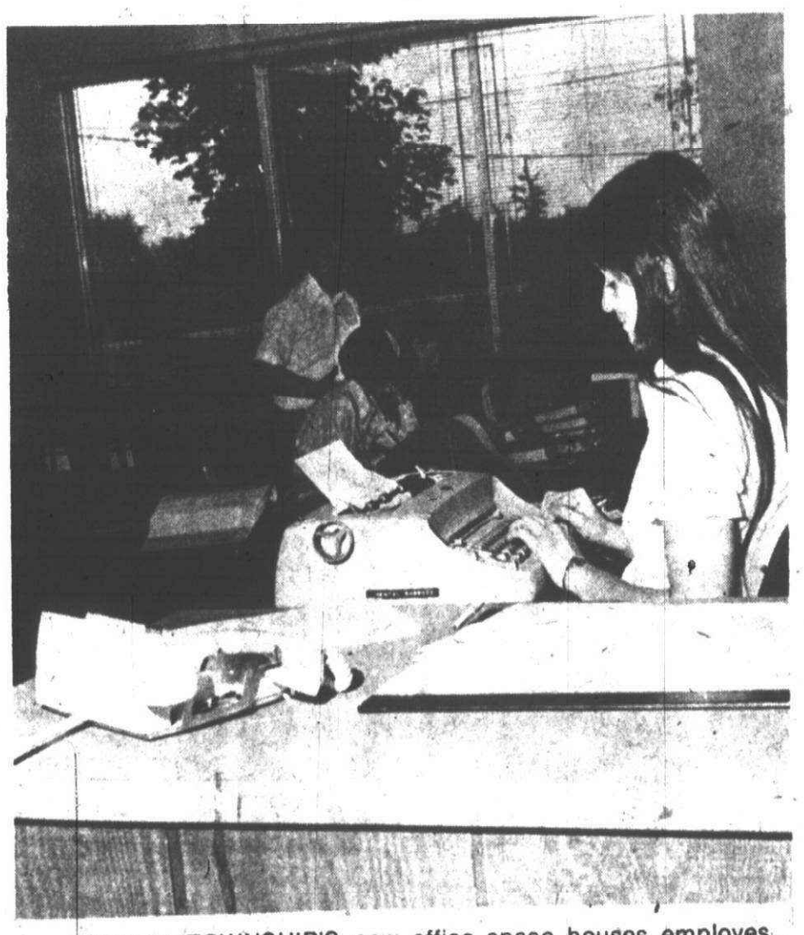

Then Ms. Borowski introduced a motion, supported by Gray, to reschedule the Labor Day meeting to Sept. 2. That motion received a 3-1 vote with McClendon voting "no."

McClendon explained he couldn't make the Sept. 2 meeting and added: "I cannot, in good conscience vote to hold a meeting on a date I know in advance I cannot attend."

Ms. Borowoski and Ms. Benson were against cancelling the meeting because the board had business to take care of, such as approving contracts for additions to the teaching staff, before school opens Sept. 4.

But after two tries, and an inability to obtain four votes, the end result was that the meeting would remain as scheduled—at 7:30 p.m. in Plymouth Canton High cafetorium on Monday, Sept. 1.

Gray has already reported he will be absent and some school officials doubt that the board will be able to gather a quorum for the Labor Day meeting.

One guilty plea in slaying

Circuit Judge Thomas J. Roumell may decide by Sept. 2 the fate of Barry Provow, whose murder trial in the shooting of Terry Buchman ended Tuesday.

In a surprise move, the attorney for Provow's wife, Leslie, filed a plea of guilty to a charge of manslaughter in the same Jan. 28 slaying. Attorney Gerald Davis of Livonia entered the plea for Mrs. Provow at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Judge Roumell decided she was innocent of premeditated or deliberate murder. She will be sentenced Sept. 17 and faces a maximum 10 to 15 years in prioson.

KEY WITNESSES in Barry Provow's trial had testified before Judge Roumell on Mrs. Provow's actions the night of the shooting.

Cheryl Voss had quoted her as saying, "I hope Barry doesn't bring guns. I don't want him back in Jackson."

Cassandra Field had said, "Leslie didn't know what was going on," and Lloyd Cash had testified, "I don't think she wanted to harm me."

Robert Umney, a member of the trio apprehended Jan. 31 near Laramie, Wyo., was scheduled to go on trial Wednesday.

Umney's trial by jury was transferred to Circuit Court Judge Horace W. Gilmore. His attorney, Robert B. Delaney of Plymouth, asked for a postponement because of the death of Umney's mother.

The trial is expected to begin Sept. 8.

BARRY PROVOW took the stand Monday in his own defense. His testimony was interrupted by medical witnesses for the defense and prosecution.

Dr. Joel S. Dreyer of Southfield said the defendant was in a psychotic trance and didn't know right from wrong at the time of the shooting.

Dr. Irving Edgar, testifying for the prosecution, said Provow was a "strongly anti-social type," but not psychotic.

Provow testified that the last thing he remembers the night of the shooting was trying to get a car started outside Cash's apartment.

His next recollection is waking up in a car "somewhere in Kentucky."

'Y' transports senior citizens

A trip to the doctor's office or grocery or drug store is a cumbersome task for senior citizens who cannot drive—especially when the cold winter winds are blowing or the hot noonday sun is steaming down.

Senior citizens of the Plymouth-Canton area can throw away their transportation worries when it comes to such essential tasks and ask the Canton-Northville-Plymouth YMCA for a free ride.

BEGINNING Sept. 19, the YMCA will offer free transportation on the third and fourth Fridays of each month from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. to senior citizens who cannot drive.

The service, offered through the Wayne County Office on Aging in a 12-person SEMTA van, will take senior citizens to doctor offices and grocery and drug stores in the City of Plymouth and back home again.

Senior citizens living close to the YMCA office at 271 S. Main, Plymouth, will be asked to walk to the office for bus pick up purposes, according to YMCA director Janet Luce. The bus will pick up other senior citizens in the City of Plymouth and Canton and Plymouth townships at their doorsteps.

ALTHOUGH the service is mainly limited to doctor offices and stores in the City of Plymouth, the bus may take out-of-town trips to doctor offices, if the bus schedule is not filled.

"We want people who really need transportation help," stressed Mrs. Luce. "There's always that need for older people in any community. They're reluctant to call or ask for help. We hope senior citizens can start relying on us and start making doctor appointments for Fridays."

Senior citizens needing transportation to doctor offices or grocery or drug stores should make an appointment for bus transportation one week in advance, Mrs. Luce said.

Seniors may make appointments by calling the Canton-Northville-Plymouth YMCA at 453-2904 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

THE YMCA is planning another free program for senior citizens, under which testing for high blood pressure will be administered. That program is scheduled to begin in October, said Mrs. Luce.

Tuition fees from classes, sponsored by the YMCA, make such free programs possible.

2 girls killed in crash

A Livonia driver was scheduled to be arraigned yesterday (Wednesday) in District Court on a charge of manslaughter following a two-car crash in which two Canton Township teenage girls were killed.

Charged by Livonia police is James Deamud, 20, of 8832 Linville, whose car struck another at the Wayne Road-Ann Arbor Trail intersection early Saturday morning and resulted in the deaths of Cynthia Conrad, 16, of 6946 Harvard Lane, and Victoria Hunter, 16, of 6956 Harvard Lane.

Witnesses said that Deamud ran a red light while speeding up to 70-80 miles per hour, officers said.

TRAFFIC Safety Bureau patrolmen Jesse Bartlett and William Corcoran appealed for another possible witness to contact them.

They said that a 1972 burgundy Mercury was stopped for the traffic light at the intersection and the driver could have seen the accident. The officers urged the driver to contact them in Livonia police department headquarters.

Officers said the two victims were passengers in a car driven by Glen McLean, 21, of 15035 Norman, Livonia.

The auto was northbound on Wayne Road and was struck while making a left turn onto westbound Ann Arbor Trail about 1:40 a.m., police said.

Deamud, southbound on Wayne Road, told police the light had been green for about 20 seconds, although a witness said the light was red.

Deamud's car landed 120 feet from the point of impact, officers said.

INJURED IN the collision were McLean; Gerald Wagner, 21, of Detroit, a passenger; Deamud, and Alex Nagy, 24, of 36255 Dover, Livonia, a passenger.

Officers said Wagner was thrown 25 feet from the car after the impact.

Officers said Miss Hunter was dead on arrival at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, while Miss Conrad died of injuries about 20 minutes after being rushed to the hospital.

The two girls were next door neighbors, both living on Harvard.

Cindy Conrad was in the tenth grade at Ladywood Catholic High School in Livonia. She had attended Plymouth Salem High previously. The girl turned 16 on July 20. She is survived by her mother, Dianne E. Draper, of 6946 Harvard, her father, Michael John Conrad; two sisters, Marianne and Kathleen, and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Draper of Northville and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Conrad of Dearborn.

Funeral services for Miss Conrad were Tuesday in Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church. Burial was at St. Hedwig Cemetery.

Victoria Hunter was a ninth grader at Plymouth Salem High. She lived at 6956 Harvard Lane in Plymouth. Her father, Bobby Lee Hunter, is employed at the Ford Transmission plant in Livonia.

Her funeral services were Tuesday in Memorial Funeral Home, Westland, with burial at Glen Eden Cemetery. Other survivors include brother, Robert and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Barney Lee Hunter and James Wisner.

PCJB seeks adult members

Members of the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League (PCJB) are already planning for next spring's thaw.

To prepare for the 1976 season, PCJB members will sponsor an open meeting Wednesday, Sept. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 128 of Plymouth Canton High for all adults interested in obtaining board of director positions.

PCJB members hope to fill 20 positions on the board next season and spur adult involvement in the league. Only three persons served on the board during the 1975 season.

"We're in dire need of help," said Jean Goodrich, PCJB secretary-treasurer. "We just have to spread all that work around."

Plymouth school board prepares to OK goals

A management-by-objectives system being initiated in the Plymouth Community School District will take another step forward when the board of education formally adopts goals for the district.

The board was expected to adopt the goals at Monday night's meeting, but with only four members present, the board couldn't adopt a motion unless all four voted in the affirmative.

Trustee Joe Gray's "no" vote prevented passage Monday and will delay adoption until Sept. 1 — if a quorom is present — or until the Sept. 8 meeting.

GRAY SAID he voted no because he objected to priority given some of the goals.

Board President Marda Benson commented that all trustees had different opinions about priority but that a consensus of the board had been reached during a two-day workshop in July. She suggested the four members present Monday night vote according to the consensus reached earlier.

But Gray wasn't impressed with the consensus argument and cast a negative vote on the motion to approve. Absent were Tom Yack, Gary Mirto and George Lawton.

AT THE WORKSHOP, July 18-19, the board agreed on and ranked in order of priority a set of goals for the district.

The first goal is to pilot the Plymouth Evaluation and Planning System for Improving Instruction (PEPSII) — the formal title for the management-by-objectives program.

Although PEPSII is a "management system," in this instance management includes all teachers and administrators. In addition, students, teacher aides, parents, consultants from outside the district and others can work to help improve the district.

Emphasis in the PEPSII system is on performance of the program, as contrasted to the performance of the teacher, administrator, or method of instruction.

PEPSII was designed specifically for Plymouth Community School District by: John M. Hoben, superintendent; Dr. Earl E. Hogan, deputy superintendent; and Samuel D. Ulsaker, administrative assistant for research, program planning and federal projects.

A workshop was held on Aug. 21 to introduce the concepts of PEPSII to all principals and administrators.

Workshop participants have a deadline of Oct. 15 to prepare their own performance objectives and criteria for evaluation.

These objectives, which will be reviewed at least four times this year, will relate specifically to the school board's goals for the district — once adopted.

Leaders of the Plymouth Education Association (PEA) — bargaining agent for teachers — met with Hoben Aug. 25 to discuss teachers' participation in the program once school starts.

MANY OF the concepts and processes aren't new to the district, but this "systems model" pulls them into a more logical relationship.

The coordination and involvement of all phases of the system are expected to take from three to five years.

Among the advantages expected to be derived from PEPSII are performance accountability at all levels, cost analysis and shared decision-making based on valid and reliable data.

The ten sub-systems of PEPSII are: analyze school system in its environment; philosophy and goals; needs assessment; communications; budget-cost analysis; personnel; professional growth-inservice; student information system; conduct instruction; and evaluation.

The goals the board wanted to adopt Monday involved general areas such as: self-worth; equality of educational opportunity; citizenship and social responsibility; creative, constructive and critical thinking; social skills and understanding; basic skills; physical and mental well-being; preparation for family life; pre-school education; parental participation; community participation; occupational skills; sciences, arts and humanities; allocation of financial resources; education of the exceptional person; environmental quality; economic understanding; continuing education; rights and responsibilities of students; career preparation; morality; preparation for a changing society; and education of the non-English speaking person.

BPW German dessert will be authentic

There will be a change in desserts at the Business and Professional Women's German dinner, the first major eating event of the Plymouth Fall Festival.

When the club begins serving at noon on Thursday, Sept. 4, diners will be able to top off their meals with authentic cherry and apple kuchen.

For years the BPW members have baked dozens of German chocolate cakes for the festival. For the first time they have turned the cooking chores over to the Plymouth German Club which has taken a purist attitude toward the menu. They deem the German chocolate cake an American concoction and will prepare the kuchen instead.

Sandra Davis, BPW president, says the recipe is a treasured secret of the German Club.

Proceeds of the dinner will provide scholarships to two Plymouth area high school seniors. The BPW also supports local charities and benefits and has contibuted to Youth, Inc.

Water quality management system— WHAZZAT?

By TIM RICHARD

How do you explain a "management system for controlling non-point pollution" to a conservation clubman who wants to know when he'll be able to catch rainbow trout in the lower Huron River?

How do you explain "ongoing activity throughout the 208 planning process" to a lakefront cottage owner who wants to know when his kids will be able to swim in water instead of watching the algae floating?

That's the kind of communications problem facing leaders and planners of the Southeast Michigan Council of Government (SEMCOG) when they hold a required public hearing at 7 this evening (Thursday) on the water quality management process they are designing for the seven-county region.

The hearing, heavily advertised in the media and by direct mail, will be conducted in the conference center of Mercy College, 8200 W. Outer Drive (at Southfield freeway) in Detroit.

"IT WILL BE geared to the average citizen with commentary and slides," said Michael Glusac, executive director of SEMCOG. Glusac frankly admitted he was stunned by the jargon in the "Detail Study Design" which is actually the topic of this hearing.

"We'll make it sing to the general public," promised Gary Krause, SEMCOG's planning director.

Glusac said 3,000 letters had been sent to technicians in industry, local politicians and special interest groups. About 200 had promised to attend. (Krause said tonight's presentation may even be too simple for technicians.)

HERE'S WHAT Glusac considered significant about the abstractly written water quality management plan system:

•SEMCOG rather than the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) was picked to conduct the two-year water quality management system project. "We'll get better input from local officials than if DNR did it," he said.

•It's a cooperative effort rather than the often-feared "metro government." For example, two leaders in the SEMCOG process are Conrad Mallett, a black Democratic county ommissioner from Detroit, and Fred Houghten, a white Rebublican from Rochester who is chairman of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners. Mallett is SEMCOG chairman; Houghten is chairman of SEMCOG's Council on Environmental Strategy.

•Houghten's group will "blaze new ground in dealing with non-point sources of pollution," Glusac said. Non-point pollution means such things as fertilizer runoff from lawns and farms, salt runoff from roads in winter, feed lot runoff with animal wastes and parking lot runoff into storm sewers and streams—even the contributions of dogs walked in the streets. Little or nothing has been done about wrestling with the complex problems of non-point pollution, Glusac said.

•The public will be involved throughout the planning process—a new requirement of the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). As Houghten put it, "Planners won't crawl into a cubbyhole and emerge two years later with a water quality management plan." Many public hearings, meetings and educational sessions will be conducted.

•This is a management plan, designed to pinpoint which agencies will do what to make all waters swimmable and fishable by 1985. The plan will be enforced, beginning with the inherent police powers of the governor. "We're not in research for the sake of research," said Glusac.

IT CAME ABOUT under terms of the 1972 federal Water Pollution Control Act.

Under it, SEMCOG was allocated $5.1 million to produce a water management plan in two years—by the middle of 1977.

The work will be done largely in Houghten's Council on Environmental Strategy (CES), comprised of equal numbers of technical experts, elected officials and citizens.

Once approved by CES, the plan will go up the SEMCOG ladders through the executive committee and general assembly, and finally to the State Bureau of Water Management, the governor and the EPA before being returned to the governor for implementation.

The tough part will be explaining it to Joe Citizen.

Area legislators OK state budget

By MARTHA MAHAN

Area legislators generally went along with the majority in approving provisions of Michigan's tight $3.04 billion general fund budget.

With Democrat Thomas Brown of Westland not voting, the five remaining House members voted in favor of a $319 million revenue sharing package increasing aid to local units of government by about 12 per cent.

The 90-6 vote by the House during its hectic Aug. 14 windup sent the measure on to the governor.

Voting approval were Reps. John Bennett (D-Redford), Robert Geake (R-Northville), William Keith (D-Garden City), John Markes (D-Westland) and Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti).

The measure grants $262 million in revenue-sharing funds to cities, townships and villages under a formula that rewards units of government which levy a high rate of taxes. The figure is $31 million more than last year.

Counties will receive about $57 million, or $1.5 million more than last year.

BROWN WAS the only area lawmaker to cast a dissenting vote as the House passed, 81-17, a $1.37 billion state school aid measure. Bennett refrained from voting.

The Senate approved the school aid bill, 21-7, with both Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) and Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) voting with the majority.

The bill is designed to narrow the gap between high and low income school districts.

THE AREA'S two senators split as the chamber voted, 20-4, for a bill appropriating $472.8 million for Michigan's junior and community colleges. Sen. Pursell voted against the measure, and Sen. Faust for it.

Brown again refrained from voting as the House passed the same measure, 57-39. All five remaining area House members voted in favor.

The $472.8 million is up from last year's $449.8 million.

BOTH PURSELL and Faust voted "yes" as the Senate gave final legislative approval, 22-3, to a bill increasing property tax relief for the elderly and farmers by $8 million a year under the Homestead Property Tax Credit.

The bill would increase the maximum credit permitted under the act from $500 to $1,200 a year.

Budget Director Gerald Miller said about $6 million would go to farmers and $2 million to the elderly, with about 90 per cent of the extra relief for the aged going to taxpayers in Detroit.

Kresge grants aid to Madonna

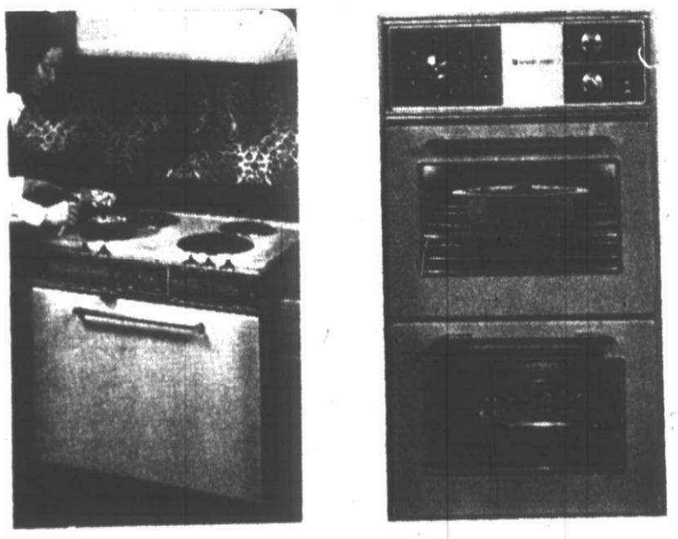

Madonna College in Livonia has received a $97,000 grant from the Kresge Foundation, Troy, to assist with ventilation and air conditioning of the administration building and classroom wing. The contribution was announced by the Kresge Foundation on July 21 and is part of $26,249,446 in Foundation funds appropriated this year.

Air conditioning of classroom, administrative, and student activity areas, which is expected to cost more than $650,000 before completion, was initiated last May. Completion is scheduled for September. Additional funds for the project are being solicited from alumni, college friends and local industry.

Flying club status is left up in air

The question whether the Flying Pilgrims club will be able to finish its current season is still up in the air.

The club had been practicing flying model aircraft at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) until neighbors objected to noise and trespassing.

At an earlier school board meeting, trustees ruled only junior members could use the CEP site in preparation for competition.

School officials, the flying club, and neighbors represented by the Northwest Homeowners Association of Canton Township agreed at a meeting that the club could practice at the CEP site for the month of September with gliders only, but could not use power-drive aircraft.

The board has agreed that the club can use a 15-acre school site in Canton Township on Proctor Road near Folker's Nursery. The site is surrounded by 63 acres owned by the township and is far removed from any residential areas so that the noise won't be a problem.

At the Aug. 19 meeting with Supt. Mike Hoben, the Flying Pilgrims and Northwest Canton Homeowners representatives, the club asked permission to fly power craft during restricted hours on weekends. Neighbors objected to restricted hours for power craft, but agreed to the flying of gliders during September.

The club's president, Bud Carrow, explained that the season concludes towards the end of September except for a few avid flyers who like to practice in the middle of the winter.

A PROBLEM with the alternate site is that there is no access road, said Carrow, and the weeds are too high for club activities.

John Cojei, representing Northwest Canton Homeowners, said his group wanted gliders only at the CEP and said he would contact township officials about making arrangements to clear the Procter Road site for the club.

Of the six neighbors closest to the CEP, three voted against power flights, two in favor, and one abstained.

Marcia Borowski, school board vice president, said she would like the club and homeowners to reach a compromise among themselves instead of the board imposing stringent regulations which would please neither side.

On a motion by Borowski, supported by Joe Gray, the board decided to allow gliders only at the CEP site and have the club and homeowners report back Sept. 1 on whether a compromise can be reached.

District hires 19

Nineteen persons have been hired by the Plymouth Community School District to begin in September.

Their hirings were approved Monday night by the Plymouth Board of Education. The board also approved five resignations.

Those hired include: Margaret Abbott, who has earned a BS degree from Eastern Michigan University, for a learning disability teacher at West Middle; Donna Aveck, BA from EMU, to teach business education at Plymouth Salem; John Bulmer, MA from EMU; John Campbell, BS from University of Michigan, biology at Salem; Joseph Dakoske, BA from EMU, industrial arts at Plymouth Canton;

ALSO: Marcella Dodes, an RN with degree from Mercy School of Nursing, staff nurse; Michael Gorzen, BA from U-M, science at Pioneer; Marsha Hoff, MA from U-M, math at Centennial Educational Park (CEP); Laurie Howe, BA from Michigan State University, business education at Canton; Janine Kateff, BA from EMU, art, math and industrial arts at Pioneer;

Eileen Knesper, MA from University of Chicago and BS from Miami University, to teach math; Bill Bearson, BA from Central Michigan University, sixth and seventh grades at Pioneer; Deborah Robertson, BA from U-M, foreign language at Canton; Vivaleene Rush, MA and BA from Western Michigan University, elementary at Smith;

And: Shelly Rybarsyk, BA and MA from WMU, English and social studies at Pioneer; Jean Schroeder, MA and BA from U-M, to teach at Ibister; Stanley Towers, MA and BM at U-M, instrumental music at East Middle; Debra Wade, BA from EMU, English at Canton; and, Jennifer Westheuser, BA from WMU, sixth grade math and science at East Middle.

RESIGNATIONS were accepted from: Pat Gorman, who had taught industrial arts at Canton; Mary Nehrling, Salem; William Sands, who had been on a leave of absence for study, from East Middle, to remain in Japan; Mary Ann Thorne, Ibister Elementary; and Anthony Vadino, who had taught biology at Salem.

Local percussionists tour Europe with MYI

Heidi Foster, 18, and Diane Harder, 17, were among the 114 high school students from Michigan and Ohio who spent five weeks this summer with Musical Youth International.

Both girls are percussionists and two Saturday practice sessions each month with the MYI, which started last October, meant they had to give up marching band and a trip to the Orange Bowl with the Plymouth Centennial Education Park Band.

HEIDI WAS a June graduate of Ply4outh-Salem High and Diane will graduate in January.

They left for Europe June 30 and flew to Amsterdam. From then on they traveled by bus. They spent 14 days in the Netherlands where their high school German assisted them in communicating with their host families.

They spent the next three days in Germany and two 15-hour bus rides took them to Italy with an overni!ht stopover in Austria.

They gave concerts every night durin! the seven-day stay in Italy.

"We had good food all over Europe," said Dianei "but the coffee in Italy came in soup bowls and it was so thick."

"And the rolls were so hard you could bounce them off the wall," added Heidi.

THEY RETURNED to Germany with a side trip through France. They visited both East and West Germany.

"It took us about two hours to get through the Berlin Wall," said Heidi. "They had mirrors under the bus and over it so they could see if anyone was hanging on the bottom or roof of the bus."

"Our driver told us to be calm and not smile; just be serious and answer all their questions."

After seven days and as many concerts in Germany they went to Denmark where they spent four days in Copenhagen. They arrived home Aug. 4 and after two more concerts, the final one in Hill Auditorum, Ann Arbor, the group disbanded.

Heidi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Foster of Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth. Diane's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harder of Warren Road in Canton Township.

Miss Foster went to Australia last summer with MYI which is an offshoot of the Person to Person project founded by General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

She will attend Michigan State University in the fall.

No more harassment!

Michigan residents no longer have to tolerate harassment from debt collectors.

The Collection Practices Act (1974 PA 361), which became effective July 1, is a comprehensive act requiring licensing of both a collection agency and its agents.

It prohibits a number of debt collection practices, including:

•Communicating with a debtor in a misleading, deceptive, harassing, oppressing, abusive or profane manner.

•Relating information regarding a debtor's indebtedness to an employer or his agent unless specifically authorized in writing by the debtor.

•Identifying collection agent other than by his legal name or the assumed name registered by the individual with the director, or identifying the agency other than by the name appearing on the license;

•Causing expenses to the debtor for long distance phone calls, telegrams or other charges.

•Using or threatening to use physical violence in connection with a collection of a claim.

The act also establishes a collection practices advisory board within the state Department of Licensing and Regulation and stipulates that it shall meet at least twice a year.

The attorney general and the Department of Licensing and Regulation are authorized to enforce the act.

The act provides for both civil and criminal penalties. The department or the attorney general may recover, on behalf of the State, a penalty not exceeding $500 per violation.

Deliberate failure to obtain a license by either a collection agency or the manager of a collection agency is punishable by a fine of not more than $5,000 for the first offense. Second or subsequent offenses are punishable by a fine of not more than $10,000 andor imprisonment for not more than one year.

The court may also award a petitioner actual damages, or $50, whichever is greater. In the event that the practice was a willful violation of the act, the court may give a penalty of three times the actual damages, or $150, whichever is greater and shall award attorney's fees and court costs to the petitioner.

Business workshop set in Sept.

A two-day seminar-workshop, "Small Business Ownership—Reducing the Risk," will be conducted Sept. 20-21 by Wayne State University's Managerial and Technical Career Programs, a division of the College of Lifelong Learning (CCL).

Sessions from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. will be at CLL headquarters, 2978 W. Grand Blvd. Fee for the program is $70.

Those actively involved in business, as well as those considering such a venture, are invited to attend.

The presentation each day will be by a nationally known expert in small business, with the remainder of the day devoted to small group sessions on such topics as legal problems, keeping records, credit and collections.

Water plan unveiled

At a public hearing at 7 p.m., Aug. 28, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) will reveal its proposed two-year project that will produce a water quality management plan for the seven-county region. The hearing will be in the Mercy College conference center, Outer Drive at Southfield, Detroit.

2 principals at workshop

Two principals in the Plymouth Community School District recently attended a summer leadership workshop of the Michigan Association of Elementary School Principals.

Attending the workshop in Kettunen Center near Tustin were George Dodson, principal of Gallimore Elementary, and Tom Workman, principal of Allen Elementary.

The workshop dealt with problems of making administrative decisions and involved an exchange of ideas among principals from all parts of Michigan on a wide range of topics.

Topics covered included involvement, consulting service, school law and the elementary principal, tips for new principals, teacher evaluation and documentation, behavior modification, staff motivation, transactional analysis, self-defeating behavior, and value of counselors and how to use them.

Section 1. Section 2.133 of Chapter 24, Water and Sewer Rates, of the Code of the City of Plymouth is hereby amended to read as follows:

2.133 Sewage Consumption Charge. Sewage consumption charges shall be levied in addition to the connection charge and debt service charge set forth above, on each lot or parcel of land, building or premises now or hereafter having any connection with the System, on the basis of the quantity of water used therein or thereon, as the same is measured by the water meter installed therein.

Schedule of Sewage Consumption Charges:

Minimum quarterly charge (18,000 gallons of water) $5.15
Balance of water consumed $0.286 per 1,000 gallons.

Section 2. This ordinance shall be declared an emergency ordinance and shall become operative and effective on the 1st day of September A.D. 1975.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, this 18th day of August A.D. 1975.

HEAD NURSE Sue Stillings of Westland takes a phone call at the admitting-reception desk in the WCGH intensive care unit. Behind her is a monitor showing a patient in a private IC room.

JUANITA BRANNOCK, area supervisor of the WCGH intensive care unit, checks a patient's chart as monitors and oscilloscopes keep her informed of each patient's present condition. Digital clock, at center, reading "000," marks the elapsed time after heart failure occurs.

JOANNE LERN RN of Canton Township checks a dual cardio-tracer which gives a detailed EKG profile.

Wayne County General intensive care unit battles crises

Nowhere in a hospital is the thread of life more fragile or close to the breaking point than in its intensive care (IC) unit.

To keep life's fibers intact, Wayne County General Hospital (WCGH) has brought together man, medicine and machines to form "the most technologically advanced intensive care unit to be found anywhere," according to WCGH administrators.

The newly remodeled IC unit draws many of its patients from what WCGH Assistant Executive Director Ted Martin calls "the busiest emergency ward of any hospital in Wayne County, including Detroit General."

"OUR SINGLE room set-up is different from that of any other hospital," says Juanita Brannock, IC area supervisor. "We have a one-to-one nurse-to-patient ratio, and each nurse assigned to IC is specifically trained in intensive care techniques."

In addition, the hospital maintains a "trauma team," a special group of doctors and nurses who are ready at a moment's notice to perform emergency surgery in crisis situations.

In fact, everything in intensive care is geared to a crisis situation and a series of contingencies that could otherwise prove disastrous.

There is an emergency power generator that takes effect if the hospital experiences a power failure; operating rooms also are connected to the special power source. There are battery backups, too, if that fails.

The safeguards are necessary because of the severe damage that can be done if the heart stops beating for just a few seconds. It only takes a few seconds, for example, for extensive brain damage to occur.

Story: DENNY COFFMAN

MRS. BRANNOCK is quick to answer what is the worst possible thing that could happen to a patient in IC.

"Cardiac arrest," she says, listing a series of activities swiftly set into motion when a patient's heart stops.

"An alarm goes off at the desk of the head nurse," she says. "Then a digital clock is activated to record the number of seconds that have elapsed since the heart stopped."

A "code blue" is activated, alerting the head nurse and the trauma team, and sending a nurse to the patient's side with a portable "cardiac cart." If necessary, the heart is given "defibrillation" to shock it back into activity.

The trauma team can perform operations right in the patient's room, if necessary, because each IC room is large enough to accomodate operating personnel and paraphernalia.

But if time is not critical, the patient can be wheeled to an operating room just a few feet down the hall. Special medication is ready in the hospital pharmacy, located at the other end of the hall.

EVERY HOSPITAL facility—manpower, machine or medication—is within easy access to the patient and his team of doctors and nurses.

The intensive care lifeline is a group of television monitors in the reception and head nurse area in the IC lobby. Each monitor is connected to one of 12 rooms and is on at all times to provide a view of the patient, who can communicate with the nurse by intercom.

The desk can obtain an instant blood pressure reading for each patient on a digital counter and can read his electrocardiogram on an oscilloscope located below the monitors.

EACH IC room has an open, uncluttered appearance, mainly because all instruments and testing devices are recessed into a wall panel near the patient's head.

Oxygen is readily available from a wall outlet, as are gases used for anesthetics.

Another wall outlet provides suction to remove body fluids.

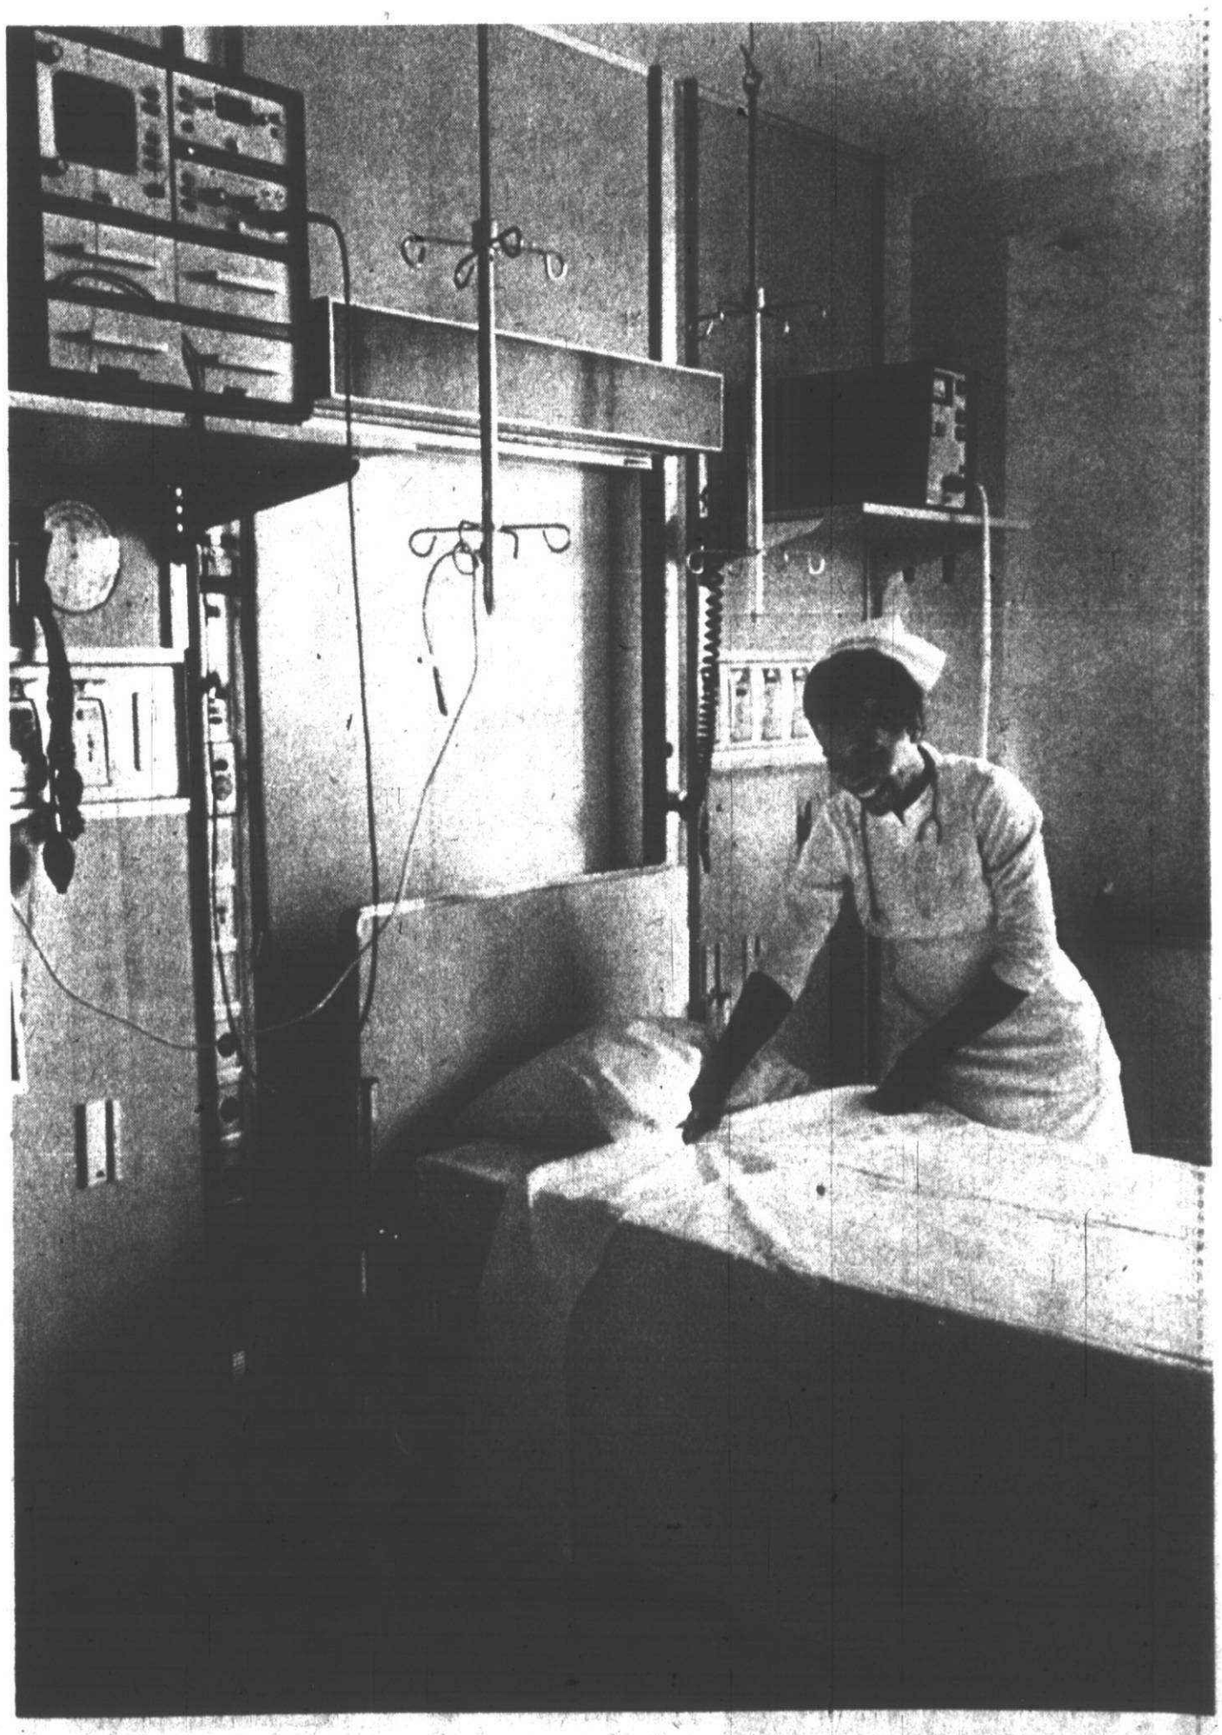

Confidential conversations between doctors and relatives of patients can be held in a lounge outside the IC unit; according to Mrs. Brannock, few if any IC units in other hospitals have such a facility.

Hospital plans call for a special infant section to be located near the existing facilities, where newborn and very young children who require intensive care can be treated.

A representative from American Optical Co., which installed the monitoring system, claims the hospital IC unit could become even more sophisticated.

He pointed out that a charting system could free nurses from the chore of maintaining medical charts on each patient. A doctor would be able to obtain an instant readout of his patient's current condition and medical history.

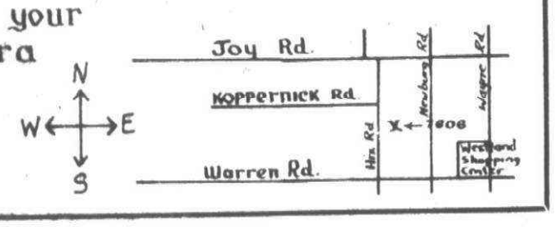

That and other improvements will be next at the county general hospital, if funds can be obtained from the budget-conscious Wayne County Board of Commissioners, who govern the hospital, administrators say.

SHIRLEY WILLIAMS LPN of Westland makes an IC patient's bed. The panel of wall outlets provides oxygen, suction, light, temperature control and electricity.

Social Security branch to open in Livonia soon

Charles Anderson, a Garden City resident, will be the office manager of the new Livonia branch of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security office.

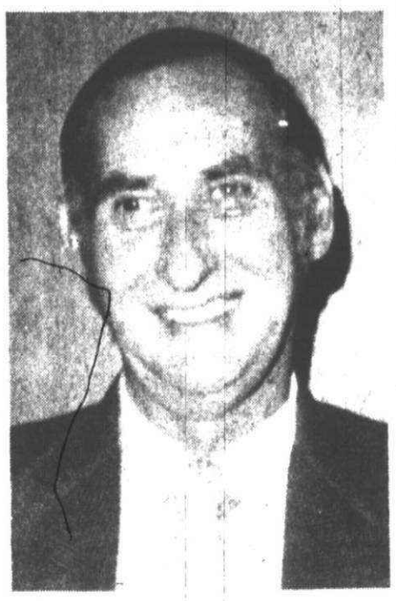

The office, to open Sept. 2, is located in the Hillside Plaza Office Building at 15435 Middle Belt near Five Mile. It will be open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

It is installed as a convenience for residents of Livonia, Plymouth and Northville.

"Although the Livonia office will be a branch of the Detroit- Northwest office, it will be able to take care of all types of claims, retirement, death, disability, medicare, as well as the supplemental security income claims," said Stefan Gasparovic, manager of the Detroit-Northwest office.

The Livonia staff will be experienced persons from the Northwest office.

Anderson has been with the Social Security Administration for over 20 years and has previously been associated with the Detroit-Northwest, the Highland Park and Dearborn Social Security offices.

SC dinner set Sept. 20

Roast sirloin of beef flambé and much more is in store for guests at the second annual dinner dance scheduled for Sept. 20 by the Schoolcraft College Foundation.

Tickets for the 7 p.m. to midnight event in Waterman Campus Center are on sale now. Priced at $12.50 per person, they may be purchased from Joyce Ludwig at the College and from other Foundation members.

Red and white wines are included with dinner and will be available for a nominal additional charge throughout the evening.

Foundation President Armen Barsamian of Garden City said all proceeds from the dinner dance have been earmarked for scholarship funds. He noted that $800 was raised for this purpose at last year's initial event.

Space considerations in Waterman Center limit ticket sales to a maximum 240 persons. "That's why those wanting to go should place their ticket orders early," Mr. Barsamian added.

Mail orders are now being accepted by Ms. Ludwig at the College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia 48151. Checks or money orders should be made payable to Schoolcraft College Foundation.

Foster care training set

Schoolcraft and Wayne County community colleges will offer training to adult foster care facility operators this fall.

Both were among 32 selected by the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS) to provide the training required under Michigan's law for licensing of adult foster care facilities for aged, blind and disabled persons.

A three-member team in the area served by each college will plan the training. The team will include an instructor from the college, a DSS representative and a staffer from the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

Training courses will be offered each year, and adult foster care providers must participate in training to meet licensing renewal requirements.

DSS will pay all tuition costs during the first year for persons in charge of adult foster care facilities. Although courses will be available to the public and other staff members in each facility, they will have to pay a tuition charge.

Further information is available from the adult services workers at the Wayne County Department of Social Services.

State OK's hospital expansion

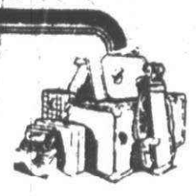

A proposal by Wayne County General Hospital to relocate and expand certain of its service departments has been approved by the state.

The hospital plans to spend $217,800 to expand the electrocardiogram, nuclear medicine and radiology departments. Work is scheduled to be completed by July 1976.

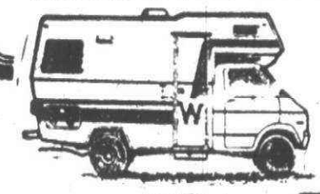

The project has been approved by Michigan Department of Public Health, Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan and the state administrators of the federal Hill-Burton program.

Membership call issued for talented helping hands

Summer is fading fast and with fall comes a new season for area orchestras, theater groups and art associations.

Aspiring musicians, artists and thespians in the Observer & Eccentric area may be surprised and pleased to discover they don't have to look beyond their own communities for the chance to develop creatively or enjoy the talents of others.

Most community arts groups welcome members anytime, and others are literally begging for community support either in the form of participation or attendance at concerts, plays and other activities.

Several groups have announced auditions and casting calls for upcoming fall productions, urging anyone interested to come and at least give performing with and for fellow residents a try.

Among the talent recruiters are Suburban Chorale, an all-woman chorus comprised of members from the metropolitan area. The group is sponsored by the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department and rehearses on Wednesday evenings in Clarenceville High School. It performs primarily for hospitals, nursing homes and other organizations.

Community theaters, if not casting a show, always need helping hands. In several area theaters the lead performer can often be found painting scenery, sewing costumes and doing other menial but important tasks. Area groups with their doors always open to new members are Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford, Plymouth Theater Guild, and Westland Civic Players.

For the musically inclined, orchestras are located in Plymouth, Westland, Redford Township and Livonia.

The Westland Civic Symphony blossomed last season under the direction of H. Michael Endres and Norman Logan. Endres says he's constantly searching for members, especially adults who have few other commitments and are available for evening rehearsals.

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra begins its 30th season and its 25th under Wayne Dunlap. A bicentennial concert highlights the group's 1975-76 season, with a variety of musical programs scheduled throughout the year.

The Oakway Symphony Orchestra, under Francesco DiBlasi, opens its third season, sporting a larger and more varied schedule than last year. As an incentive for musicians in this group, five area colleges are offering credit to musicians in Oakway.

For brass enthusiasts, the Metro West Big Band, headquartered in Garden City, invites musicians to dust off their horns and play tunes popular in the big band era.

Several art clubs are preparing exhibits and sales in the months ahead. Livonia's new Visual Arts Association is busy coordinating the activities of all art-oriented groups in Livonia and making them known to residents.

The Plymouth Community Arts Council, as in the past, is concentrating on making the arts more accessible and convenient to Plymouthites, and, like other groups, is eager for input from new members.

It's fresh ideas and leadership and community participation that has kept these groups solvent in the past and has helped inaugurate new ones. Most of these organizations are non-profit and self-sustaining, but they need the community's support. It's the interest by a majority of residents that has kept them viable extensions of the arts.

If you're looking for a new interest this fall, try exploring the creative outlets around you marked COMMUNITY. They are challenging and, as veteran members have found, enjoyable.

Kickoff at Ponmet sets everything right

By CORINNE ABATT

Saturday was a day to remember. The excitement began to build as we drove north on Opdyke. A mile from the new Pontiac Metropolitan Stadium, the traffic was three lanes crawling north, bumper to bumper. Helicopters circled overhead. Radios were blaring with continual updates on the traffic situations—Telegraph and Woodward were moving, I-75 was jammed, Opdyke was slow, but steady.

Unless you had reserved parking in the stadium, you could forget it. Either leave the car and hop a shuttle bus or use the $3 lots along the way.

There were blue uniforms and police cars at every corner. Whistles were blowing, radios blaring, 'copter motors whirring—the weather was muggy and a slight mist was falling.

The expected didn't happen. Tempers didn't flare, feet didn't hit the accelerators to impatiently rev motors. There were smiles and laughter and a good deal of banter between those in the stopped cars and the crowds of walkers along the road shoulders.

Sort of like all of metropolitan Detroit and most of lower Michigan, 62,000 strong-friendly, hanging loose, out for a good time.

Down in the dip, then up the hill for a first view of the stadium which just two years ago was a hotly debated vision, now miraculously cemented into place in time for last Saturday's game.

Sure, there is still some mud around the edges, the ceiling bubble is yet to be inflated, the press booth lacks carpeting, and some plumbing needs help, but the structure was operable enough to undergo a successful baptism.

And like it or not, those who predicted it would further add to the decay of the city may have to eat their short-sighted predictions.

A SENSE OF ONENESS prevailed. Instead of creating a wider chasm between city and suburbs, the stadium appears to be a unifier—a voluntary busing project—where willingly the people of Southfield, Farmington, Birmingham, Ann Arbor, Flint, Detroit, Bloomfield Hills, Livonia, Plymouth and St. Clair Shores, will gather, and rub shoulders (or at least peer through the glass at each other) family room style.

When avante garde philosopher-architect Paolo Solari spoke to a sparse audience in Southfield several years ago, his giant beehive concept of future life was as far out as a Mars landing.

But a Mars landing is slated for next year, and the beehive is upon us. Not just one, but a whole series of hives—the silver Triangle project in Southfield where one can live, work, eat, shop and be entertained without leaving the complex.

The enclosed shopping malls are subsidiary hives providing food, entertainment and an opportunity to keep the money in circulation. The new stadium is still another—32 food booths, entertainment, 80,000 unobstructed seats, an elegant dining room for those who have $400 to toss into the membership pot, glass-enclosed, boxlike living rooms for those who want to pretend it's a second (third or fourth?) home with a giant color TV and a bandy bar.

PERSONS WHO PRESSED noses against the glass seemed more curious than resentful about how the other half lives. And those inside, with all the poise that comes with an extraordinary bank account, remained unflappable in their rented fishbowls.

Saturday was the first and most noteworthy example of the megalopolis at play.

Remarkably it was Dennis Franklin, rookie wide-receiver, Lion sixth draft choice from University of Michigan, who provided the second half spark for the Lions. The agile ex-quarterback moves like the wind. His pass receiving and interceptions by Lem Barney and Charlie Weaver turned on the lights and brought the cheering crowd to its 124,000 stomping feet.

A pity the glassed-in spectators couldn't experience the electrifying sounds of the cheering crowd—as loud as a rock concert, but sweeter, much sweeter, at least to these ears.

Michelangelo said the sculpture was already in the slab of marble waiting to be released. The acreage at Featherstone and Opdyke, former haunt of cycle and dirt bike riders, was surely a piece of ground waiting for someone to build an 80,000 seat stadium on its surface.

If you believe in something being right when it feels right, then the Pontiac Metropolitan stadium is just where it should be—a brand new, colorful, family room for the metropolitan community.

Maybe if we can play together, we can live together.

Suburb-city contrast is paradox of perception

By TIM RICHARD

Walter Lippman, the journalist and social philosopher, used to insist there was an important difference between the objective truth and what some folks saw as the truth—in other words, a difference between reality and perception.

That lesson came through loud and clear when the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research (ISR) made its happiness survey. ISR interviewed a cross-section of nearly 1,200 persons in the tri-county metropolitan area to find out how we like our neighborhoods, our schools, our local governments and our lives in general.

To put it bluntly, you get the impression that sometimes folks don't know what the heck they're talking about.

TAKE THE LOCAL government segment.

About 44 per cent of us give satisfactory marks to the "overall" job our cities, villages and townships are doing. But there are differences between Detroit and the suburbs, namely:

"Residents of the inner suburbs—those communities on the fringes of Detroit which are somewhat older and more developed than the outlying suburbs—are clearly the most satisfied on nearly every dimension we examined in this area; those in the outer suburbs were intermediate in their satisfaction; and residents of Detroit were consistently lowest among the three groups."

No matter what the question was—government services, responsiveness or taxes—the pattern was the same: Residents of the inner suburbs were most satisfied, the outlying suburbs intermediate, Detroiters least happy.

ISN'T THAT paradoxical? ironic? just plain strange?

Detroit is the one with the Art Institute; suburbia has commercial galleries.

Detroit is the town with the historical museum; suburbia's museums pale in comparison.

Detroit has the zoological park; even Birmingham and Plymouth have nothing.

Detroit has the main library that is comparable in depth to a university's; Westland has none, and some other communities have little cause for pride in their bookishness.

Detroit has Belle Isle; Farmington Hills and Plymouth Township have barely scratched the surface in the recreation area.

Detroit has its ethnic festivals; Plymouth has a Fall Festival, Livonia an annual Spree, Farmington a dandy Founders Festival—but the suburbs don't do it every single weekend like Detroit does.

Detroiters ought to be getting a lot of services, considering what they're paying. Detroit taxes to the 20-mill property tax limit and imposes income taxes. No suburb has an income tax, and few tax property beyond 10 mills.

Detroit runs its own prison; Detroit patrols its own freeways; Detroit has its own crime lab. The suburbs must look to the state for those services.

AND YET Detroiters are no happier—in fact, a bit less happy—with their local government. It's illogical but true. Why?

Is it because Detroit has more blacks? No; blacks and whites in the same neighborhood rated their services about the same.

Is it because we suburbanites, like the cowboys of yore, are more independent and self-reliant out here in the wide open spaces? Was Jefferson right about the teeming urban masses being an inferior species? Only a snob would make that argument.

The paradox remains, and even the boys and girls at the Institute of Social Research, armed with PhD degrees and statistical sophistication, can't come up with an answer. Yet the fact of life is that Detroit's government provides far more in the way of social services (not to mention political amusement) than do suburban governments, but the people don't give it credit.

AGE 40

A time to review life decisions

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

They say that life begins at 40.

It's not clear whether this means you haven't lived until you have reached this glorious age, or that up to this point you haven't thought about living.

People use the expression to indicate that one is entering into the joyous part of his life when, in reality, he or she is entering the serious part of his or her life.

Somewhere after the age of 35, people realize that half of their lives are gone and that they are not immortal.

THEY BEGIN to think seriously about where they have been in the world and where they are going, and what is important in life so they won't waste the last half of their lives.

It's a medical fact of life that during this period women face change of life. But there is also a psychological "male menopause."

Men are affected by "life begins at 40" because of their business relationships.

At that period of their lives, they can see whether or not they are going to make it and have to decide that if they aren't, whether they should change occupations before it is too late.

MEN'S ATHLETIC prowess starts to slow down, and many have great need to prove their virility by flirting with members of the opposite sex.

Life probably does begin at 40, because people start to set goals and budget their energies.

When people take themselves seriously, they make every effort count, become more productive.

On the other hand, there are many people at 40 who, in analyzing their life styles, feel that they have been too serious and that the goals they had set earlier in life were artificial because they were based on self-importance and materialism.

THERE IS A question as to whether these people can get off the merry-go-round and try to develop a life style that is less material. We all know of people who decide to give up everything to go around the world in a sailboat with their families, but appear about three months later looking for a job.

Life does begin at 40, but it is a psychiatrist's boon helping people cope with it.

Drum and bugle beats most bands

Editor:

I've read your editorial on vandalism and other problems, and I share your alarm. I've also read where some of the youth in our community are concerned that musical organizations are not being supported. Here is a clue as to what can be done to give our young people something that will allow them the opportunity to expend all the energy they can muster, and they will have an experience they will remember all their lives.

I've just recently watched Channel 56 bring the International Drum & Bugle Corps Championship Contest from Philadelphia to us on TV. There is absolutely no doubt that this type of music, enthusiastically played, as only youth can, is far superior to anything any marching band can produce, including our university marching bands.

What musical organization can match this spine-tingling method of bringing beautiful sounds to our ears? The young people really dig this on the east coast and in many areas of the middle-west and in Canada.

If you want to do something worthwhile for our youth and at the same time bring pride to our community, why don't our Livonia officials, or for that matter, Westland and Plymouth too, get together with our parks and recreation department and bring us a real professional outfit instructed by the fine music teachers we have, for instance, at Churchill and Stevenson. A drum and bugle corps would be a real challenge to their ability. Perhaps we don't have a teacher who has the talent.

State representative deserves high marks

Editor:

I am writing today to publicly thank a man who I really can never thank enough in any way, no matter how hard I try! I am speaking of Rep. John Markes who has done more to restore my faith in my elected officials than I could ever say in words.

The man has shown me, from the very beginning, that he is a man of the people. I have been to Lansing many times for many reasons, but until my introduction to Rep. Markes, none of them seemed worthwhile. He made me feel at home in a place I think we should all feel at home, in the Capitol. After all, it's the home of our government, yours and mine, where all decisions on the future of this state are made!

As I have already said, I can never say enough about this man. So, it will have to suffice, for the time being, to just say, thank you Mr. Markes for a job well-done, and please keep up the good work!

FISH-lines help neighbors

Four FISH organizations—in Livonia, Plymouth, Redford Township and Westland—are in operation.

All provide neighbor-to-neighbor service when it is needed on a short-term basis. This kind of service involves emergency babysitting, transportation to a hospital, a hot meal in a crisis situation and other such assistance.

Each FISH group has a telephone number, and a call to that number will bring referral to one of the volunteers in a position to help.

If you need help, or if you would like to be a volunteer in this program, call the FISH number in your area.

The numbers are:

LIVONIA	255-5225
REDFORD TOWNSHIP	341-3700
WESTLAND	722-3606
PLYMOUTH	453-1110
CANTON	453-1110

Food affects emotions

Tempt your honey with love apples

In these days of fast foods, food fads and womens' liberation, many women are hurrying out of their kitchens in hope of finding more exciting things to do.

This is all right as long as they don't forget that the way to a man's heart (or any other part of him) is always through his stomach.

Some doctors will tell you that there is no food that has any aphrodisiac value. But, when the same experts are questioned more closely, they will admit that food does affect one's well-being. Digestion does affect the emotions, and sexual performance depends on one's emotional and physical state.

If a man is suffering from indigestion, he is not likely to perform well as a lover.

THOUSANDS, perhaps millions, of dollars have been spent in recent months researching vitamins C, E and varieties of B—all to try to recapture and preserve youth and vigor. But a wise woman will learn about foods that contain these vitamins and serve them to her man with romantic talk, rather than a discussion of food values.

It has long been recognized that certain foods do stimulate romance, and there is undoubtedly a deep psychological relationship between food and physical attraction. This is evident in our language. "Honey," "Sugar," "Sweet Potato," "Dumpling" and "Cup-cake" are all terms of endearment. An attractive girl is often referred to as a "tomato" or a "delectable dish."

Here are some recipes for preparing vegetables which are in abundance and quite economical at this time of year. You might wish to prepare a completely vegetarian meal. Or, if yours is a "meat and potato man," at least try to prepare the potatoes in a romantic way, and try to sneak in a side dish of love apples.

ASPARAGUS

The decoction of asparagus boiled in wine and being taken fasting several mornings together, stirreth up bodily lust in man or woman, whatever some have written to the contrary.

—Nicholas Culpepper
Culpepper's Complete Herbal
1652

Madame de Pompadour's Recipe

Dress and cook the asparagus sticks in the normal way by plunging them into boiling water. Slice them obliquely towards the tips into pieces no bigger than the little finger. Take only the choicest sections, and keep them hot, allowing them to drain while the sauce is being prepared in the following manner. Work ten grammes of flour and a lump of butter together, add salt, a good pinch of powdered nutmeg, and the yolks of two eggs diluted with four spoonfuls of water acidulated with lemon juice. After cooking this sauce, drop in the asparagus tips and serve in a covered casserole.

CARROTS AND PEAS

In Arab lands the long slender carrot has long been highly esteemed as a potent aphrodisiac. Arabs spiced their carrots and cooked thm in milk, in the belief that the erotic effect would be doubled.

"Green peas, boiled carefully with onions and powdered with cinnamon, ginger, and cardamon create for the consumer amorous passion..."

—Shagkh Nefzawi
The Perfumed Garden
16th Century Arabian love manual

TOMATOES AND EGGPLANT

Tomatoes, which are believed to have originated in South America, and were introduced to Europe by the Spaniards in the 16th century. They were thought to promote love, and were often called "love apples."

In Haiti, Jamaica, and the West Indies, eggplant is considered an aphrodisiac.

Why not combine the two with onions, also considered good for romance (as long as both partners eat them), and try the following recipe?

Boil and dice one medium-sized eggplant. Saute in butter or olive oil with one diced onion and two peeled and quartered tomatoes. Sprinkle lightly with sugar, salt, pepper and vanilla (just a drop or two).

Madonna gets 2 EMT grants

An advanced emergency medical technician training program will begin at Madonna College this fall.

A $46,719 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare will partially subsidize the competency-based program. The college also will receive $49,384 to continue basic emergency medical technician (EMT) training started last year.

Madonna allows students to apply their EMT training to a one- year certificate of achievement, associate or bachelor of science degrees.

Tuition grants providing a reduction from the usual $35 per semester hour fee will be given qualified inservice personnel by Madonna to enroll in the program.

Students in the basic program will receive grants of $20 per semester hour for a three hour course this fall and a four hour course in the winter term. Students in the 12 hour advanced program, meeting in fall term, will receive grants of $10 per semester hour.

Basic EMT classes are scheduled Fridays from 7 - 9 p.m. or Saturdays from 12:30 - 2:30 p.m. Advanced classes are scheduled Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 - 10 p.m.

Thirty basic and 20 advanced students will be accepted into the program.

The Madonna program conforms to guidelines of, and is approved by, the emergency medical services section of the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Cooperating with Madonna in providing inservice training will be St. John Hospital, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Detroit, St. Mary Hospital inn Livonia and Clinton Valley Center in Pontiac.

Couple's dancing will carry them all the way to Berlin

BY SHERRY KAHAN

The 40 yards of material in her short, pink, formal dress float out as Shirley Karhi of Livonia dances in the arms of her husband, Allan. He is also dressed formally— in white tie and tails.

While many hobbyists have to climb into old clothes or overalls to indulge in their favorite pastime, the Karhis dress in their best.

And no wonder. Their chosen pastime is competing in ballroom dancing contests. Recently they returned from a successful trip to St. Louis, Mo., where they won the Hearts of America dancing championship.

However, dust had hardly gathered on their trophy when they were back in practice clothes facing a tough rehearsal schedule. They have been invited to represent the U.S. in the world's amateur dance championship in Berlin, Germany, in October.

They won the honor by winning the eastern USA amateur dance championship in Atlantic City in July.

The twirling Karhis danced together for many years before they competed. For a brief time at age 13, they were childhood sweethearts in Sudbury, Ont. Later, when they met again in Toronto, part of their courtship was spent doing waltz steps.

"The dancing is a very physical thing," said Karhi, who still has stamina to rehearse after working a full day as Ford Motor Co. engineer.

"It is just like figure skating. It helps us stay in condition. With this kind of workout, we don't have any weight problems. The first year and a half after I took up competitive dancing, I lost an inch and a half from my waist and three inches from my hips without losing a pound."

He said that when he and his wife are competing they have to be well rehearsed.

"A mistake will knock you down," he said. "We often work a year or a year and a half on a routine before using it in competition."

Mrs. Karhi said that, in addition to being judged on their interpretation of music and timing, the dancers are also judged on poise, good posture, and the shoulder line.

"The footwork is very important, very," she added. "It has to be done properly. You are judged very, very harshly."

When the Karhis and other competing couples sweep out on the ballroom floor, they must do four different dances.

First they do a slow waltz, slower than the customary American waltz and calling for more intricate footwork.

Next comes the tango—slow yet staccato. "It calls for a lot of sharp head movements from the woman," noted Mrs. Karhi.

A slow foxtrot follows. As a finale, the dancers do a quick step which is full of little hops, skips and kicks.

"This kind of dancing originated in England," she said. "The English are fantastic dancers. The people in this country don't know that this dancing goes on there, and it's a shame they don't.

"My dancing outfits are made in England, and so are my husband's."

The Karhis learned about competitive dancing about 15 years ago when friends invited them to watch a dance contest in Detroit. From that point it became a compelling interest for them.

In case others might be interested in observing one of these dance contests, Mrs. Karhi said there will be one Oct. 18 in Adat Shalom social ballroom, 29901 Middle Belt, Farmington Hills.

It's called the Michigan Star Ball amateur dance classic, and the Karhis are planning to compete.

But if the dancing is so strenuous and the judging so meticulous, is there any fun to the whole business?

"It's got to be fun or we wouldn't be doing it," said Mrs. Karhi. "It keeps us physically fit. We've traveled and met people from all over the world. It keeps us busy and fills the void made when our children grew up and were on their own.

"It's not just to win that we enter the contests, but to dance well. There are high goals we have to achieve. Both of us are active. After we work on a step a long time, and it comes out well, we feel good.

"It's something you do together as man and wife."

Like Henry and Clara Ford

Fair Lane center is busy, unpretentious place

By MARGARET MILLER

Henry and Clara Ford probably would have enjoyed watching the bustle of activity that fills their old home as the University of Michigan's Dearborn campus moves into its fall schedule.

For Fair Lane, the inviting stone building that was home to the famous Fords for many years, is gearing up for a new year of the kind of use the unpretentious automobile magnate would have liked.

That means educationally-oriented conferences and meetings, a wide variety of cultural events for students and public and continuing moderately-price tours of the 56-room building.

It also means looking forward to formulating plans to make Fair Lane represent still more truly the heritage of this area and serve still better as a center for the kind of activity you find in business and student life.

"WE TRY TO KEEP Henry Ford clearly in mind as we plan activities in Fair Lane," said Shirley Barton, who, as director of auxiliary services on campus, has responsibility for overseeing what goes on there.

"And we think of Ford as essentially a practical man. We don't do much without a lot of thought and discussion."

Thus, people who come to Fair Lane for an educational conference or a student concert or to take a tour of the building find themselves in a setting more homelike than showy.

"We think the house is beautiful, and we try to take good care of it," Barton said, "but we don't do anything really fancy."

FAIR LANE'S operation has several facets, each similar to a small business, said Barton, who coordinates the varied areas.

There's the matter of residents of the building. The Ford Marketing Institute and the U-M Dearborn business offices lease space in parts of Fair Lane.

Then there is the tour business, which, over the coming weekend, will wind up its summer schedule of available tours through the building on both Saturday and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.

After the Labor Day weekend, Barton said, the fall schedule of tours Sundays from 1 to 4:30 p.m. will be in force.

The cost will stay the same, $1.50 for adults and $1 for children under 12 and senior citizens.

Tour guides are volunteers interested in Fair Lane and its place in this community, he said. They are led by an advisory committee of six that reports to him periodically to coordinate plans.

CONFERENCES make up another important part of the use of Fair Lane.

"Our conference business is open to any one interested," Barton said, "with preference given to groups educationally oriented."

School districts have meetings in the building, he said, and the dining room, catered by a food services department, is used almost daily during the school year by university groups.

An auxiliary food service is a patio lunch that has been used this summer by as many as 50 visitors on a single day.

"That too is not fancy but pleasant," according to Barton. "We sort of treat it like a baseball game. If it rains, we close.

A recent addition to the Fair Lane schedule is "the wedding business," Barton said.

"We moved into that about a year ago, largely on demand from the people around here." Most weddings at Fair Lane are of the garden variety.

"EVENINGS AT FAIR LANE," a yearly event sponsored by the Dearborn Community Arts Council, constitute a major event.

Last year, 5,000 visitors came for the two evenings in May when there are presentations of varied music, drama, dance and other art forms.

The Fair Lane Music Guild, an organizations of citizens, students and faculty, also supplies cultural events to the calendar.

It offers six concerts between October and May. Then there are many more concerts by members of the U-M Dearborn music department, both student and faculty.

A NEW ERA for Fair Lane may seen be opening, Barton said.

Results are expected sometime this fall on a survey and planning study undertaken by several experts in the fields of building preservation and landscaping.

"This should tell us," the coordinator said, "not only what we have but also what this property was supposed to be and how we can best go about bringing it to that state, in areas ranging from heating systems to flowers in the gardens."

One thing quite evident, he went on, is that some other conference facility should be built in the area in order to serve larger meetings.

"This survey should show us how best to proceed with plans in that direction," he added.

FAIR LANE was built in the years from 1913 to 1915 at a cost of $2 million. Its Scottish baronial architecture is carried out in the interior through the use of much paneling and carved woods.

Henry Ford, who entertained many of the nation's industrial and political leaders in the home, died in the home in 1947. His wife, Clara, died three years later, and at that time the original furnishings were sold at auction.

It was in 1957 that the 212-acre estate was donated to the University of Michigan Board of Regents, and today most of the property is campus. Seventy acres of gardens and woods surrounding the mansion have been reserved for separate development as Fair Lane.

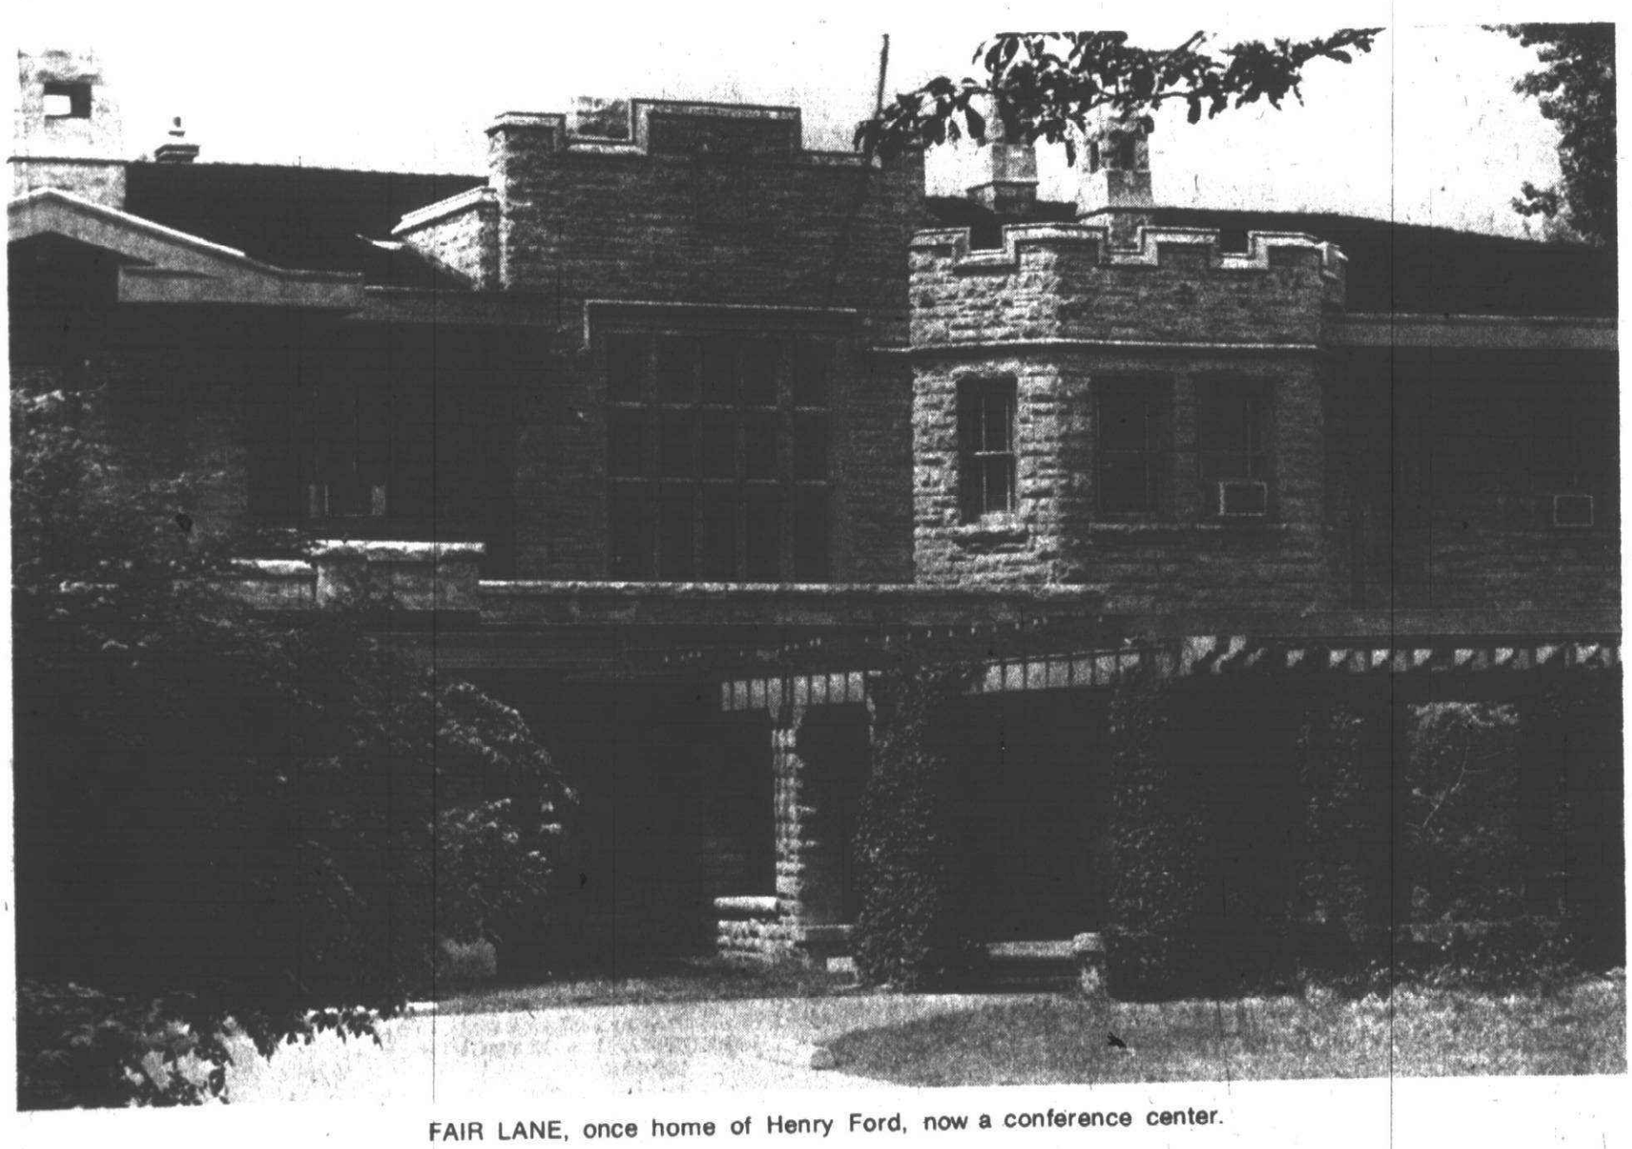

Barton made an exhaustive but essentially unsuccessful attempt to find some of the original furnishings.

"I found an old catalogs of all the Ford estates and got the names of the people who purchased many of the items, but the few I have been able to locate are mainly not interested in selling or giving things back to us," he said.

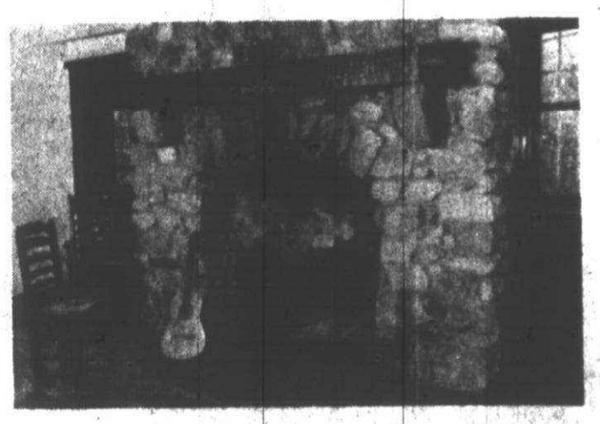

"So now we're looking for period furniture, with particular emphasis on restoration of the Ford bedroom."

Fair Lane, as one U-M administrative staff member put it, "is not a luxurious, opulent place, and it never was."

But it's a self-sufficient scene of plenty of activity that matches its academic and industrial setting.

FAIR LANE, once home of Henry Ford, now a conference center.

INTERIOR FEATURES tend toward the homey rather than the opulent.

Free fitness analysis set

The Livonia Family Y will give free fitness analyses during an open house to be held Sept. 3 through Sept. 7 in the Y, 14255 Stark.

Each analysis includes tests that measure blood pressure, cardiovascular endurance, body measurements, body fat, strength and flexibility.

In addition, the open house will offer free swimming, handball, racquetball and gym. Open tennis will also be available, but will cost $4 per hour.

"The purpose of the open house is to offer an opportunity for the community to come to the Y free of charge and see what is offered in the way of facilities and programs," said Jeff Sadowsky, the Y's fitness director.

"The free fitness analysis is something many people think about doing, but put off. We're hoping to get some men and women on the road to a more healthy, physically fit life."

Open hours hours will be from 6-10 p.m. Sept. 3-5. On Saturday, Sept. 6, hours will be 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. On Sunday, Sept. 7, they will be from 2-5 p.m.

Physical fitness tests for men will be Wednesday, Sept. 3 from 7:30-9 p.m., with women slated at the same time the following day.

Millingtons have golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millington, residents of Plymouth for 26 years, recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a family dinner at the Round Table Club in Plymouth.

They were married Aug. 5, 1925.

Students earn scholarships

PLYMOUTH—Two Centennial Educational Park students have been awarded $300 Russell Isbister Memorial Scholarships by the Plymouth Education Association.

They are Jane Wotaszak of 1408 Sheridan, a Salem High student who will be attending Schoolcraft College in the fall, and Holly Heaton of 71420 Marily, a Canton High student who will be attending Lake Superior State College in the fall.

The scholarships are awarded to seniors who plan to enter some phase of teaching after graduation.

Throwing Frisbee more than pastime for Westland pair

PATRICIA HUNT winds up and releases a hard shot with the flick of her wrist.

Throwing a Frisbee back and forth isn't just an idle way to pass the time for Westlanders Liz Butler and Patricia Hunt. It's serious business.

The two teenage girls, who have been playing Frisbee for three years, had their efforts rewarded earlier this month when they won the women's "guts" championship at the fourth annual Canadian Open Frisbee Tournament held in Toronto.

Liz, 19, and Patty, 18, who both live on August Avenue in Westland, were team members of the "Loose Ends" which also includes former world women's champion Jo Cahow of Los Angeles and two players from Chicago.

Guts Frisbee is a game played with the popular plastic recreational disk in which two teams of five each score points by throwing the Frisbee at each other. A dropped Frisbee costs the errant team a point. Games are to 21.

In the Candian tournament, the "Loose Ends" disposed of three teams from across the country before winning in the finals, 21-12, 21-13.

"A lot of people think girls don't throw hard, but it comes in a lot harder than you'd think," Liz said.

Both estimated that the maximum speed in the girls' competition was around 50 miles per hour.

The two girls have been friends since childhood and became interested in the competitive aspects of Frisbee when they traveled to the International Frisbee Tournament, held annually ay Marquette in Michigan's upper peninsula, three years ago.

"We were used to playing with men on the local team called 'The Mellow Men' and the competition in Canada against women exclusively wasn't nearly as tough," Patricia said.

"The thing is, you have to have guts to play 'guts.' When it's coming at your head at 50 miles an hour, you can't duck away," she said.

The two travel to Frisbee tournaments throughout the country, paying their expenses for lack of a sponsor. They both said that there was a shortage of area women in the sport and are looking for similarly inclined fanatics to participate on a team with them.

On the immediate horizon looms the Oakland County Parks and Recreation tournament, Aug. 20. Then it's on to the "New Jersy Jam" tournament in mid-October and a Rose Bowl event at Pasadena, Calif. over Thanksgiving Day.

"This is a good sport for girls," Liz Butler said. "We're going to be at it for a long time."

Chargers ready for Western Six

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of features on this year's area prep gridiron teams.

By BILL COLLINS

With 16 lettermen returning from last year's squad, Livonia Churchill should make a strong bid for the Western Six football crown and re-establish itself as one of the area's toughest competitors.

Coming off a mediocre 5-4 season and a third-place finish in the conference, head coach Ken Kaestner looks forward to this year's campaign with growing enthusiasm.

"We've got quite a few seniors which is good in some respects and bad in others. For the time being and as far as this year goes, since the seniors will be dominating the lineup, their experience makes them very capable of playing good football," said Kaestner.

The head coach also had definite ideas about which aspect of the game is most important.

"There are a lot of theories concerning that question of whether offense or defense is most important. I believe a solid defense can control a game and force the opposition into mistakes, especially in high school football," he said.

The Churchill defensive unit is directed by assistant coach Roger Frayer, who also is the varsity baseball coach.

You can look for the Chargers to run different variations of the 5-2 defense, especially the invert setup devised at Michigan State University.

Churchill boasts solid strength at both defensive ends with John Curran (6', 180) and Matt Foster (6-2, 200). Jeff Agan and Mike Welch are the linebackers, while Scott Shephard and Bob Barker provide the pass coverage in the secondary.

On the other side of the line co-captain Mike Streicher runs the offense at quarterback. You can expect to see more passing from Churchill than most other teams commented Kaestner.

"We threw 122 passes last year compared to Bishop Borgess who threw only 55 times. We'd like to think we run our offense 60 per cent run and 40 per cent pass but I feel we're closer to 50-50 than we anticipated," said Kaestner.

The halfback tandem of Scott Shephard and Matt Foster line up behind Streicher along with Mike Welch at fullback.

If Churchill does a lot of passing most of the aerial attempts will go towards receivers Jim Wright and John Curran.

The offensive interior line, coached by Bob Armstrong, features Curt Pitcher and Scott Levitan at the tackles. Rod Vaughn is at center, flanked by guards George Bielas and John Cowley.

Kaestner runs his offense out of the "I" formation and will also make use of the wing-T.

For the past three years Kaestner picked the winners of the Western Six. This year he is cautiously optimistic about making any forecasts.

"I feel that Northville and Waterford Mott are the teams to beat in our league. They lost two games last season by a total of seven points, and with a JV team that allowed only a handful of points, Northville looks like the top contender," he admitted.

Although Nothville and Mott seem to be the biggest obstacles between Churchill and the championship, Kaestner did not rule out any other teams in the league.

"Walled Lake Western is a much improved team, and Farmington Harrison is the defending champion while Plymouth Canton was tied with us last year and they will improve. So there isn't a team that we don't respect and really we can't afford a letdown against anybody," explained Kaestner.

Playing in a conference with only six teams leaves four open dates for non-league games.

These contests could be Churchill's most difficult.

The Chargers are scheduled to face Thurston, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Franklin in non-league action. Roger Frayer made an appraisal of the upcoming season when he said "These kids were winners in 10th grade, and last year they got knocked around pretty good. This year they want to win and know that they can. It's a question of how badly they want it."

Women's entries close Tuesday, Sept. 16 at 5 p.m. Call for starting times Thursday, Sept. 18 at 10 a.m.

Open to all residents of Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City, Westland, Redford Township, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Southfield, Birmingham, West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Twp., Bloomfield Hills, Troy, Rochester and Avon Twp.

Entries may be mailed to Tournament Director Gary Whitener, Whispering Willows Golf Course, 20690 Newburgh, Livonia.

Entries for the 1975 Observer & Eccentric golf tournament are pouring in at a record pace and early favorites have been determined in both the men's and women's class.

"The Oakland County entrants are just way ahead of last year's mark," said Gary Whitener, head pro at host Whispering Willows Golf Course in Livonia.

One of the pre-tournament favorites, however, defending champion Bill Curtis of Farmington, will not be factor. A rescheduling quirk in the Michigan Publix Team Championship has left Curtis with a committment for the Sept. 13 and 14 tournament dates and he will not be able to compete.

Thus the role of favorite has fallen squarely on Livonia's Bud Stevens who has won the tournament twice, in its initial year, 1969, and again in 1974.

The 41-year-old Stevens, who admits that his game is "getting shorter" as his years advance, has had a good year in Michigan amateur golfing circles and must be rated the first choice to win the O & E tourney again.

Stevens finished second in the Michigan Amateur held this summer at the Belvedere Country Club in Charlevoix and also took a runner-up berth in the Michigan Medal Play Championship early in the year at the Detroit Golf Club.

"I've had a lot of seconds this year," said Stevens who competed last year and again copped the bridesmaid spot in the Observer & Eccentric tournament.

In the first year of the tournament, Stevens shot a 67 in his first round and went on to take the event with a score of 140. In his first round, he went four under par on the first three holes.

"It was the first time I was ever on the course. I stepped up to the third tee and someone told me it was a dogleg left. I sliced my drive over the trees and landed right on the green and got a birdie," he said.

That kind of shot is crucial to winning a tournament, according to Stevens.

"You need an element of luck," he said.

Stevens said the key to the Whispering Willows course is hitting the ball straight.

"If you get messed up with the trees, you can take a high score," he said.

Meanwhile in the women's division, Juanita Hamel, president of the Women's Michigan Professional Golf Association, is the early favorite.

"She hits the ball pretty well," said Whitener of the Birmingham resident.

The women's event is slated for Thursday, Sept. 18.

With less than two weeks remaining until entry deadline, there is little time to delay in order to get into this year's field.

Quick Rockets on launching pad

(Ed. Note: This is the second in a continuing series of features previewing the 1975 prep gridiron teams in this area.)

By TONY MARDIROSIAN

"I really believe the big improvement on this year's team is the overall quickness the team as a whole possesses," remarked Lloyd Carr, now in his third season as head coach of the John Glenn football team.

Carr feels the team has improved enough to become a serious contender for the Northwest Suburban League title this year.

"We have a lot of the intangible things that are important to a championship team. We have great team spirit, team unity, and real leadership from the seniors," explained the Rocket mentor.

Carr says the morale on this year's team is higher than at any time since he's been here. He thinks that even if you have good athletes, you might not have a good season; especially if your players don't perform as a team.

For the second consecutive season the Rocket gridders attended a conditioning camp before they began practicing with pads.

Carr was pleasantly surprised with the performance of some of the players at camp. Some of the players that he feels had an excellent first week are seniors Todd DeLuca, Rick Bonk, Fred Shoemaker, Mark Coulston, George Roberts, Jeff Cuddeback, and Don Luke (the list goes on, including a few juniors and a sophomore, Bill Lee).

The Rockets have a very tough schedule this season, leading off against the defending Tri-River League champions, Garden City West.

West has 28 lettermen returning this season, as opposed to only 17 for the Rockets.

The Tigers are said to be outstanding on defense and have some very big men in their backfield. Carr acknowledges that Glenn will have to be at their best to win.

The Rockets must also play such perennial football powers as Livonia Churchill, Berkley, Livonia Franklin, and North Farmington, in addition to arch-rival Wayne Memorial.

The team must play six away games this season and only three home games. Carr doesn't see this as a problem, but rather a challenge.

He went on to say, "I think it tells a lot about the kids if they can win on the road. We tell them not to worry about it; just to play their own game."

"Besides, all football fields are the same size," Carr philosophized.

Offense should be Glenn's strong suit this season, as Carr has the following starters returning: Roberts, Shoemaker, Cuddeback, Mike Moses, John Stafford, and Bonk, although Bonk will be slotback this year instead of a guard.

In addition, Carr has quarterback DeLuca, who will be starting this year. DeLuca has two previous years of varsity experience.

Luke, who suffered a separated shoulder last year that required surgery, will step in and play the guard position that Bonk vacates.

Defensively, the Rockets are quite inexperienced, with only three starters returning. Squires, Bonk, and Coulston will be the mainstays of a unit that Carr hopes will come along quickly and be tough early in the season when it will be needed the most.

The captains for this year's team are Squires and Coulston. The two were voted to that position by their teammates. Carr believes both have qualities that will make them good captains.

"They're smart, they're tough, they're real competitors, and both have a great attitude," said Carr.

If Squires and Coulston can instill those qualities into their teammates, this could really be the year of the Rocket.

Wolverine's Grand Circuit to show sulky sport's best

Trotting horses fresh from competition in the Hambletonian in Illinois and pacers prepping for the Little Brown Jug in Ohio will descend on Wolverine Raceway next week as the speedy mile track welcomes the annual Grand Circuit visit with nearly $300,000 in purse money.

North America's finest young 2-year-old and 3-year-old horses will be accompanied, quite naturally, by such driving Hall of Famers as Bill Haughton, Stanley Dancer, Del Miller, Howard Beissinger and Del Cameron. For over 100 years the Grand Circuit has been the most famous "road show" in the world of sports.

Immediately after they had finished 1-2-3-4 in the 1974 Hambletonian, Christopher T, Nevele Diamond, Golden Sovereign and Stock Split were shipped to Michigan for an encore in Wolverine's Matron Stake for 3-year-old trotters.

During the same week last year no fewer than five ultimate Little Brown Jug starters displayed their speed to Wolverine patrons in the $70,000 stake for 3-year-old pacers. Included was the Jug-winner-to-be Armbro Omaha and the runnerup Bret's Star.

Back-to-back in racing dates again this year with Hambletonian week at DuQuoin, Ill., Wolverine can expect to attract not only the super trotter Bonefish but the colt which handed him a resounding upset at the Indiana State Fair last week, Glasgow. Both are paid up and eligible for the Livonia track's $40,000 trot on Friday.

ALSO HEADED straight for Wolverine is the brilliant Meadow Skipper pacing colt Nero, given a record-setting speed potential of 1:54 by U.S. Trotting Association statisticians last winter and so far living up to all such advance billing. Nero, the 2-year-old pacing champion of 1974 Alert Bret and Brets Champ all are among the eligible sidewheelers for Thursday's $50,000 pace at Wolverine.

The prestigious Grand Circuit fires its opening salvo at Wolverine Monday night with a $16,000 filly trot and an $18,000 filly pace and grows in dimension through the rest of the week. On Tuesday comes the $27,000 colt trot for 2-year-olds and the $40,000 colt pace for 2-year-olds, and so it will continue.

Adding further luster to the week this year will be the insertion on Wednesday of the $32,000 Motor City Pace, an annual fixture which attracts some of the most durable and formful pacers in the land. Last year in the Motor City event Braidwood tied the old Wolverine track record of 1:57.4 in winning one division, and the 30-1 shot Run Blue Run staged one of the track's great upsets in winning the other.

No fewer than 19 Michigan owned horses are on the eligibility list for the Motor City, many of them already popular favorites in 1975 with Wolverine and Hazel Park harness fans.

Grand Circuit week kicks off a September that will be one of the most colorful months in Wolverine's 26 year history. The "Lottery Mile," held with the cooperation of Wolverine Raceway and the Michigan State Lottery Bureau, is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 10. More than $17,000 in prizes will be distributed to holders of Michigan's $5 Bicentennial Lottery Ticket that night, and the prize winners will be determined by the finish of the horses in the tenth race.

Two nights later, on Sept. 12, another Good Old Times Night is scheduled with reduced prices in effect on admissions and concessions. It is annually the attraction which draws the largest crowd of the race meeting. Once again on Good Old Times Night admission will be 50 cents to the grandstand with children under 12 admitted free.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

Would you believe that 65 million people across the country bowled at least once during the past year?

That's the figure furnished by the Louis Harris poll just released by the National Bowling Council. The poll shows an increase of 25 per cent in bowlers during the past four years. In 1971 the same poll revealed that 52 million persons took a shot at the headpin.

The poll also showed that more than six million persons bowled at least once a week in regular league play throughout the year.

Among other facts uncovered was that of Americans 18 and older, 41 million (29 per cent)bowled last year. In the group 18 and under, almost 24 million (34 per cent) tried the game during the past year.

Of these, the metropolitan Detroit area furnished at least a quarter million adult bowlers who competed in leagues each week. It is estimated that this number jumped to 400,000 throughout the states.

And junior bowling, growing at a raid rate, hasnow reached the 100,000 mark.

HERE ARE the results of the summer leagues at Westland Bowl, one of the busiest places in the entire area:

Jean and Bob Baker, along with Linda and Charles Staggs, paced The Summer Bunch. Millie Holmes, Darlene Vorley, Jan Michaeel and Char Whiteman won the championships in the Early Birds loop, while Betty Kingery, Jan Olson, Nona Ellsworth and Karen Anderson took the title in the Streakers league. The big winners, though, were Ric Capaldi, Ken Beattie and Maurie Quinlan who captured the Classic Trio crown that was worth $900.

ONE OF THE STRONGEST women's leagues in the state this year will be at Garden Lanes. It is the Friday Night Classic and it has attracted many of the top average bowlers from the Ladies Major League and the Bowlerettes.

Among the stars will be two former Bowling Queens-- Ann Setlock and Mary Mohacsi, the Livonia school teacher who won runner-up honors in the World Federation event a year ago.

Now that the all-star league season is under way it will be interesting to see what the Stroh team will do in the early weeks.

For the past two years the Brewers have rolled high 3,500 series in the early weeks and the count stood up through the year as tops in the area and high on the national honor roll.

By the same token, the Motown Record team rolled a n 1,133 count for a single game last season and it was tops in the nation. This team will bear watching too in the early weeks.

A close watch also will be kept on Wonderland Lanes in Livonia which has gained recognition as one of the highest scoring houses in the state.

Series above 3,200 became common a year ago and it will be interesting to see if the trend holds good this season.

WHILE MOST OF THE regular neighborhood leagues do not get started until Labor Day week, the all-stars swing onto the starting line this week.

The firing starts with the annual Gavie Sweepstakes at Hollywood Bowl on Monday night (tonight), with the Traveling section of the Bonanza Classic opening at Eastland Bowl on Tuesday. The home portion of the Bonanza is set for Thursday at Orchard Lanes.

The All-Star Bowlerettes open the season at Motor Bowl this coming Wednesday.

Late inning rally brings Livonia Class F title

Livonia's Class F Major team Monday came back from an early-inning 5-0 deficit to defeat East Detroit 6-5 in extra innings and win the state championship tournament.

Rich Nutter singled sharply to left with two out in the seventh inning to drive in two runs and knot things at 5-5 to put the game into overtime.

A base hit by Tom Louers with runners on second and third in the eighth won the game for the Livonia team.

East Detroit, playing on its home field, tallied once in the first and four times in the second to take a commanding lead off Livonia started Louers. But Chuck Rudeman came on to pitch shut-out ball from the third to the seventh and Nutter put the East Detroit entrant down in the eighth to set up the game-winning rally.

Nutter and Louers each had two hits in the game and three and two RBIs respectively. The win brought Livonia its first Class F Major, leagues for 12 and 13-year-olds, title in history.

The Livonia team is coached by Lynn Nutter, principal of North Farmington High School.

Rugby tryouts

The Detroit Rugby Football Club is seeking new players for its 1975 fall season.

Tryouts are each Tuesday and Thursday through Sept. 11 on Farwell Field, behind the Detroit Light Guard Armory at Eight Mile and Ryan.

Tryouts run from 6-8 p.m. each session.

Festival hosts 300 old cars

Celebrating its 25th anniversary, the Greenfield Village Old Car Festival will feature more than 300 antique automobiles Sept. 6 and 7.

One of America's first national antique car meets, the festival is known for its field events that include driving contests. Judging of cars dating 1917 to 1925 is Saturday, late 1890s to 1916 on Sunday.

Each day's program begins at 12:30 p.m. with a parade of antique cars, highwheel bicycles and a Dixieland band through the streets of the village. Following opening ceremonies on the activities field each day, festival participants will put their automotive treasures through tests of skill. Cars will be exhibited throughout the weekend on the village green.

Also on the activities field each day, highwheel bicycles from the 1880s will be ridden by members of the Wheelmen, collectors of antique bicycles who will come from several states for the event. Bicycles will be on display Saturday and Sunday outside the Armington and Sims Machine Shop in the village.

Another highlight on the activities field will be a race against the clock by the Canadian Model T Assembly team which will convert a pile of component parts into an operating car in minutes.

Each day of the festival, special guests will be honored by Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum. On Saturday, William E. Burnett, retired chief engineer, Ford Motor Co., who developed the classic 1955 Thunderbird, will be honored.

On Sunday, Richard A. Riley, president and chief executive officer of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., will accept the recognition of the village and museum for the company's contributions to the automobile industry.

Throughout the weekend, visitors may view displays of license plates and other automobile-related collectibles as well as a demonstration of how wooden automobile wheels were made.

There is no additional charge for the festival beyond the regular Greenfield Village admission of $2.75 for adults and $1.25 for children six through 12. Children under six are admitted free.

Colleges give Oakway credit

Five area colleges are offering credit to musicians who play in the Oakway Symphony Orchestra.

Madonna College, Marygrove College, Mercy College, University of Detroit and Oakland Community College (Orchard Ridge campus) will give credit to those who audition.

Further information is available by calling the colleges; Frank Di Blasi, 425-8618; or Andrew Henderson, 348-9525.

Orchestra vacancies still to be filled include all strings, and some woodwinds, brass and percussion.

Exhibit-sale in Dearborn

Members of Dearborn Arts and Crafts will hold an exhibition and sale on the lawn at the Dearborn Inn, Oakwood Boulevard, south of Michigan Avenue Saturday, Sept. 6 and Sunday Sept. 7.

The public is welcome to view the art and talk with the artists from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. each. There is no admission charge. A fall schedule of classes will be availalbe for those interested in the arts.

Bands play park concert

Two Livonia rock bands will perform a free out-door concert Tuesday, Sept. 2 beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Rosedale Park on W. Chicago between Merriman and Farmington roads in Livonia.

Phase 4 and Saga will entertain until 10:30 p.m. sponsored by the Rosedale Gardens Park Summer '75 program.

Piano recital at Eastern

Daniel and Marilyn Eller, pianists, and Erich Goldschmidt, organist, will present a keyboard recital at 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 4 in Pease Auditorium on the Eastern Michigan University campus, Ypsilanti.

The Ellers will play Mozart's symphony No. 38 in D major and Tchaikovsky's symphony No. 6 in B minor. Both works are arranged for four hands.

Goldschmidt will play Bach's prelude and fugue in E minor.

The concert is free.

Antique show in Farmington

The Botsford Inn antique show will be Sunday and Monday, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 in the carriage house at the inn, Farmington at Grand River and Eight Mile roads in Farmington. Show hours will be noon to 10 p.m. Sunday, and noon to 8 p.m. Monday. Admission and parking are free.

Decorative items available include hall trees in oak, iron and walnut. Also cupboards, barber cabinets, fern stands, pottery, china, watercolors, plate tails, ice cream chairs and picture frames.

WSU offers historical fare

Wayne State University's Bonstelle Theatre will offer a bicentennial fare of six American plays for its 1975-76 season. The subjects come from American legend, history and show business, and are treated in a variety of ways—realistic, poetic, epic and musical.

Opening the season Oct. 17 is James Baldwin's "The Amen Corner," a drama of ghetto life that was first produced in 1955 and became a Broadway success a decade later.

"George M!" the season's music comedy offering, is about the life and work of George M. Cohan, one of America's most popular variety actors and all-time showmen. It opens Nov. 28.

The 1925 Scopes trial is the basis of Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee's "Inherit the Wind," which opens Jan. 23.

N. Richard Nash's "The Rainmaker," which open Feb. 27, presents the work of a playwright who is primarily a television writer. This is followed by Howard Sackler's "The Great White Hope," a prize-winning Boradway success based on the tragic story of the first black heavyweight champion of the world. This powerful dramatization of fighter Jack Johnson opens in the Bonstelle April 23.

The season will close with the Smokey Mountain legend "Dark of the Moon," by Howard Richardson and William Berney. A musical folk fantasy written when the authors were graduate students, it won the Maxwell Anderson Award for verse drama. It opens May 28.

Each show will play for two weekends, with 8:30 p.m. curtain times on Fridays and Saturdays and 2:30 p.m. matinee times on Sundays. "George M!" will play for three weekends.

Brochures with complete schedule and ticket information are available at the Bonstelle Theatre, 3424 Woodward and the Hilberry Theatre, Cass at Hancock.

Symphony wants new players

High school musicians throughout the metropolitan area are invitied to audition for the Livonia Youth Symphony Sept. 6 and 13 from 9 to 10 a.m. in Stevenson High School, 33500 Six Mile Road, Livonia.

There are three performing groups available, the string orchestra, junior orchestra and senior orchestra. The groups practice every Saturday beginning Sept. 6 from 10 a.m. to noon in Stevenson. For details, call Mrs. Jeanne Stockman, 35925 Scone, Livonia, or Mrs. Joan Haggard, 33974 N. Hampshire, Livonia.

Students named camp alternates

Steve Takahashi of Westland and Paul Johnson of Livonia have been named as alternates for a National Music Camp scholarship in 1976.

Takahashi has been selected first alternate. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenji Takahashi, 28931 Manchester, and a student at Franklin High School in Livonia.

Johnson is a third alternate. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, 18510 Loveland, and a student at Stevenson High School in Livonia.

The announcement was made recently at the final concert of the summer's all-state session, which Takahashi attended as a drummmer and Johnson as a percussionist.

Both students were chosen from among 250 Michigan students attending all-state activities by faculty, teachers, staff and students on the basis of musicianship, dependability and citizenship.

All-state activities are sponsored by the University of Michigan at Interlochen. More than 1,000 high school and junior high school students from 184 Michigan communities participate in the two-week sessions throughout the summer. Concerts are held every Sunday, with a scholarship winner announced every two weeks.

Labor Day festival features 15 nations

Fifteen nations and ethnic groups will participate in the Bicentennial International Festival on Detroit's riverfront Aug. 29-Sept. 1. The free four-day event will feature a variety of activities.

Festivities begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 29, with a parade of all the queens from this year's ethnic festivals.

Festival-goers at the opening ceremony also will hear 13-year-old country-western singer Karen Kraft and the Kentuckians. Every evening from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Eba and her Belly Dancers International appear. Entertainer George Young emcees the show. The Kolo Group Sumadjia will feature dances from the Balkan nations in Friday's program.

Saturday's entertainment will begin at 1 p.m. with the Irish. Following, Shirley Galanty Group will perform dances from Poland, Germany, Spain, Scotland, Hungary, Austria, Russia and the Middle East. The Ban-Joes of Michigan, a banjo band of 25 musicians will hold a sing-along, followed by the Sumadjia, belly dancing and an ethnic band.

On Sunday, from 1 to 2 p.m. there will be an international religious program under the direction of James Tatum. Tatum will perform his composition "The Contemporary Jazz Mass." Afternoon entertainment will include Tahitian and Polynesian dancers, the Polish Roman Catholic Union dance group, Irish dancers and belly dancers.

At 7:30 p.m. women who have been crowned queens at the summer's earlier festivals will compete for the title 'Queen of the International Festival.'

On Labor Day, Sept. 1, entertainment will be a repeat of Saturday's program.

Multinational booths will sell foods from several nations including India, Italy, Poland,Pakistan, Mexico, Ireland and Greece.

Festival hours are 6:30 to 11 p.m. Friday and noon to 11 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The festival is six blocks west of Cobo Hall.

The Detroit Department of Transportation will operate an ethnic festival shuttle between Cadillac Square and the festival site through Sept. 21. Buses in bicentennial colors will run every 20 minutes. The fare is 15 cents one way.

Riders who take a bus downtown can transfer to the shuttle. On the return trip, they pay the regular 40 cent fare and five cents for a transfer.

The schedule from Cadillac Square is Friday, 6 to 11 p.m.; Saturday, Sunday and holidays, noon to 11 p.m. From the ethnic festival site buses leave Fridays, 6:10 to 11:10 p.m., Saturday, Sunday and holidays, 12:10 to 11:10 p.m.

Madrigal Club recruits singers

Madrigal Club of Detroit, directed by George T. Still, will audition interested singers Tuesday, Sept. 2, at 7 p.m. in the rehearsal room in Calvary Lutheran Church, 28001 Evergreen, south of Twelve Mile Road, Southfield.

Monday rehearsals will begin Sept. 8 at 7:45 p.m. for two December concerts which will feature works by Bach, Berlioz, Brahms, Dello Joio, Mahler and Poulenc as well as traditional Christmas music.

There are openings for all voices in this women's chorus. Applicants must be at least 18 years old and able to sightread. They should bring a prepared selection they are familiar with, such as an aria, hymn or folk song. An accompanist will be provided.

Anyone interested should contact Sue McCallum, 24197 Twin Valley Court, Farmington, or Beatrice Hart, 18501 Huntington, Detroit .

Area students in WMU camp

Students from Livonia and Plymouth were among more than 200 oigh school musicians who recently attended Western Michiga University's two-week summer music camp.

Livonia students are Nancy Delewski and Judy Wheeler, who both participated in voice instruction. Plymouth musicians Laura Haibeck and Sue Pocklington enrolled in the ensemble section.

Bravos for Bach

"Brunch with Bach," the Detroit Institute of Arts' Sunday cafe concerts featuring Detroit-area musicians, will be extended through 1975, said Dr. Audley M. Grossman Jr., curator of theater arts.

Originally scheduled for a seven-week summer run, "Brunch with Bach" has enjoyed such success that the institute will continue the chamber music series.

"We have been overwhelmed by the tremendous response and the continuing demand," said Grossman.

Three seatings for brunch are offered each Sunday at 9:30 and 10:45 a.m. and noon in the museum Italianate Kresge Court.

Reservations for the performance-brunch (main course, fruit, rolls and beverage) will be $4 per person effective Sept. 14. Advance paid reservations for brunch seatings are necessary and can be obtained by mail or in person from the institute ticket office.

A limited number of $1.50 tickets for coffee and pastry are available immediately before each seating.

Scheduled performing groups are Meadowbrook Consort, Aug. 31; Detroit String Quartet, Sept. 7; Universal Brass Quintet, Sept. 14; Jerome Jelinek, cellist and Joseph Gurt, pianist, Sept. 21; and Oakland Baroque Ensemble, Sept. 28.

Passbook offers fun for seniors

Happenings of Detroit, which is in Troy, and the United Auto Workers Community Services and Retired Workers Department are making it easier for area senior citizens to enjoy inexpensive entertainment via a new coupon passbook.

The Retirees' Coupon Passbook offers $200 worth of discounts and two-for-one offers for $1.50. The book contains 92 coupons for restaurants, movie theaters special events and recreational activities throughout the metropolitan area.

Frank Morisette, manager of Happenings, says the initial repsonse to the books has been great. Happenings is wholesaling the books strictly to fund-raising groups for $1. The books will retail for $1.50.

"This way everyone can benefit from the passbook," explains Morisette. "the fund-raising groups earn 50 cents and the retirees and senior citiznes receive an inexpensive book which will help save money."

Morisette credits the existence of the book to the responsoe he received from area businesses who place coupons in the retiree's book. Happenings is accepting orders from fund-raising groups to sell the coupon book. The book has the endorsement of the Michigan Parks and Recreation Department. For more passbook information contact Happenings, P.O. Box 781, Troy.

State Fair closes with car derby

The 11-day run of the 1975 Michigan State Fair will end Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 1, "not with a whimper but a bang," according to Lester Lund, fair general manager.

The added bang will be provided by two demolition derbies to be staged the last day of the fair.

The derbies—each featuring 100 cars—will be at 2 and 7 p.m. Labor Day at the fairgrounds grandstand.

Admission is $1 in the afternoon and $2 in the evening.

Other acts appearing at the grandstand over the weekend include Freddie Prinze and Jack Albertson, stars of the television comedy "Chico and the Man;" Bobby Vinton, and Jay Milligan's All-American Thrill Show, a troupe of precision stunt car and motorcycle drivers.

Prinze and Albertson will appear at 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. Friday, Vinton at 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, and the thrill show at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Starting one-half hour before each feature show, entertainment will be provided by Ben E. King, a former Detroit singer; Captain & Tenille, a husband and wife singing team; and the Sheffields.

King performs at 4 and 8 p.m. Saturday, the Captain & Tenille at 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. Sunday and Monday and the Sheffields 8 p.m. Friday, 6:30 p.m.Saturday and 7 p.m. Sunday and 4 and 7 p.m. Monday.

Daily attractions include Scorpiona, who gives belly-dancing instructions; Michele and Michael, a trapeze act, and Bauer's International Circus.

Saturday, Aug. 30, has been designated Veterans' Day and activities include selecting and honoring the Michigan Veteran of the Year and laying of a memorial wreath at the fairgrounds Veterans monument.

Friday, Aug. 29 is Kids Day, and children under 18 will be admitted free until 3 p.m.

Special contests for children will be held at 11 a.m., Friday, through Monday. Contests include balloon blowing and balloon races, burlap bag races, crab races and football throwing and Frisbee contests.

Horse pulling contests will be held at the grandstand at noon and 3 p.m. Saturday and a tractor pulling contest at 1 p.m. Sunday.

The fair will continue daily exhibits of livestock and products from Michigan farms and home economic demonstrations.

Gates are open daily from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults, 50 cents for children eight through 11 and free for children under eight accompanied by an adult.

Scott receives music awards

Scott Woolweaver, of 33291 Kathryn, Garden City, was among award winners announced recently at the National Music Camp's annual honors convocation.

Woolweaver, principal violist in the camp's World Youth Symphony Orchestra, was a double winner. He received the Joseph E. Knitzer Memorial scholarship, which entitles him to ½ the camp tuition in 1976. He also was granted a four-year tuition scholarship to the University of Michigan school of music, available after he completes his work at Garden City West High School next June.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Woolweaver and has attended Interlochen for three season. Woolweaver plays viola in the Plymouth Symphony Orhcestra and has been a guest violist with several other orchestras in the metropolitan area.

Newcomers club extends welcome

With new residents of Livonia duly welcomed, the community's Newcomers Club is ready to begin the fall activities with a meeting Tuesday, Sept. 9 at 8 p.m. in St. Andrew Episcopal Church, 16360 Hubbard, Livonia.

President Rita Hughes and others in the organization extended a word of welcome to about 30 new Livonians when the club held a tea in the home of Mrs. Charles Williams recently.

She told guests of the work and purpose of the group, reorganized last February as the Newcombers Club of Livonia.

"One of our many goals is to provide an activity to interest every woman possible," she said.

Thus, she added, activity groups will meet this year for yoga and quilting, two new interests, as well as gourmet cooking, bridge, bowling, pinochle, handicrafts and golf, established favorites.

Mrs. Hughes also gave prospective members a rundown of social events planned for the year, including a barn dance Oct. 25 and a family Christmas party.

"In February the Sweetheart Dance will be open to all members and friends," she added.

The president pointed out that "although the club is social in purpose, the group enjoys working on one major philanthropy each year."

Old-time melodrama at festival

Plymouth Fall Festival audiences will have an opportunity to boo and hiss the villain and cheer the hero at an old-time melodrama.

The Plymouth Theater Guild will present "The Lighthouse Keeper's Daughter" in the bandshell as part of the free festival entertainment. The one-act play, which is all in pantomime, runs for about 10 minutes and will be presented a couple of times a day.

Guild members having roles in the play are Tom Hinks, Dennis Whalen, Larry Cook, and the mother and daughter combination of Irene and Pat Toth. Whalen is president of the guild for the 1975-76 season.

Cheap tickets lure moviegoers to second-run films

By SUE ROSIEK

Bargains are scarce these days of rising prices, but they haven't vanished completely. Theater owners in Farmington, Plymouth and Rochester are offering dollar-conscious consumers a chance to enjoy inexpensive entertainment.

Admission tickets at the Farmington Civic, Plymouth Penn and Rochester Hills theaters are $2 or less for all seats, and theater owners say the new low-price policy has been reasonably profitable.

Edward and E. Gregory Hohler, father and son owners and managers of the Farmington Civic and Northville P & A, charge $1.25 for all seats at all times. The Hohlers instituted the reduced-rate admission about three months ago and are "satisfied and encouraged" with the results.

"The reduction is partly a selfish motive," explained the senior Hohler. "We wanted to increase our volume and figured with the high cost of everything else it would be advantageous to us and our audience to reduce prices.

"The Farmington Civic, 33332 Grand River, has 700 seats, many of which were vacant during showtime because of $3 and $4 tickets and are now filled," adds the younger Hohler.

"We're happy with the results and so are our patrons. We plan to continue the policy," he says.

NO FIRST-RUNS

The Farmington Civic does not show first-run films such as "Jaws," explained Hohler. "We deal primarily with subsequent run features-movies that have been out for some time or are being re released."

Although the Civic was never hurting for customers, a few seats were always empty, said Hohler. "And, empty seats never do us any good." Because of the reduced prices, he said the Civic has gathered a previously left-out market-retirees and families feeling the economic pinch.

"Now a family of four can be entertained for about two hours for $5. Compared to other activities and other theater prices, that is fairly reasonable.

"Also, we don't feel we've hurt any of the first-run theaters. Our clientele is primarily persons who can sit and wait to see a picture. They don't have to be the first one in the neighborhood to see a film."

The senior Hohler, who has owned the Civic for more than 40 years, said the Civic always has drawn customers from throughout the metropolitan area, and he couldn't estimate what the $1.25 admission price has done to attract patrons from other than Farmington. But customers are happy with the prices, he said, and often tell him so as they are coming in or leaving the theater.

MORE INDEPENDENCE

The younger Hohler said operating an independent theater played a part in effecting a price reduction. "We are small and can do a lot of the work ourselves. "For example, dad and I are the managers and do most of the cleaning. In the larger chains they have to hire someone to do this, and it takes money."

"On the other hand, we couldn't compete with the large theaters that offer first-run movies such as "Jaws," because of the sheer expense."

Since the $1.25 ticket price went into effect, the Civic's schedule has included "Harry & Tonto," "Young Frankenstein," "The Sting."

"You could say we play outstanding pictures even if they are not first-run," said the elder Hohler. "We don't allow X-rated films, and we offer matinees on Saturday and Sunday, when a Disney film or other suitable children's movie is playing."

In Plymouth, Penn Theater owner-manager Margaret Wilsonh charges $1 for all persons Sundays through Thursdays, and on Fridays and Saturdays adults pay $2 and children $1.

"We started the reduced-rate admission policy in May and figured the time was right and felt it would mean something.

"In order to do this, we've had to double the number of adult admissions, and so far it's been encouraging. In July we reached the break-even point, and if we can maintain it, we'll keep the low admission rates."

COMMUNITY ROLE

Besides offering patrons a bargain, Ms. Wilson said she is fulfilling her role in the community. "We're now showing good movies to twice as many persons."

Like the Farmington Civic, the Penn, 760 Penniman in downtown Plymouth, shows mainly subsequent and saturation-run movies. "We couldn't imagine having a first-run release. It would cost to much, and we couldn't offer low prices."

In recent months, the Penn has offered "Four Musketeers" "Airport '75," and "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore."

"In September we'll be picking up "Lenny" and "shampoo," but during the summer we try to keep more suitable entertainment for youngsters on the screen."

The community's response to low prices was immediate and very favorable, Ms. Wilson said. "I received many thank you letters, and people would stop me on the street to say how much they appreciated it."

The Penn holds 700 persons and since the price reduction, Ms. Wilson has noticed more families coming to the show. "It's cheaper now to bring the kids rather than leave them home with a babysitter."

An alternative to cutting prices is splitting the screen and offering two theaters, but Ms. Wilson prefers a spacious auditorium and wide screen and has no plans to change it.

MORE PATRONS

In Rochester, residents can view even first-run films for as low as $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Owner-manager Patrick McNeill said he revamped the Hills' price schedule about a month ago because "I felt other theaters were charging exorbitant prices for movies."

McNeill, who bought the Hills, 416 Main St., in downtown Rochester in April, said the reduced prices have worked out fairly well.

"We hope in the long-run it will increase business. It hasn't yet, dollar wise, but it has patron-wise."

McNeill said he has scheduled such first-run flims as "Dove," and the current attraction "Russian Roulette," but he can't compete with the major theater chains which are showing "Jaws."

"After I bought the theater I closed for about a month for cleaning and repairs. I thought "Towering Inferno" would be a good picture to open the new theater. The film company promoting the picture wanted a $10,000 deposit. I can't afford that."

Besides the traditional evening movie, McNeill offers a midnight special every first and third Saturday of All seats are $1.25 for films featuring W.C. Fields, Marx Brothers, the original "Frankenstein," and others.

McNeill, who has been in the theater business for about 10 years, said he'll keep his reduced-rate admission policy and plans to expand and develop his schedule.

REDUCED RATES

Several theaters in the Observer & Eccentric area operated by major chains are offering reduced rates but only at certain times.

The Quo Vadis in Westland, and La Parisian in Garden City, both part of Wayne Amusements Company, offer matinees every Wednesday for $1 and have special senior citizen rates.

The Terrace in Livonia, Village in Birminghan, Northland in Southfield and Abbey I and II in Troy offer special rates for youths 13-15 on PG or G rated movies, according to Bill Markus of Suburban Detroit Theaters Inc.

Theater chains offering first-run movies such as "Jaws" could not afford to operate charging across-the-board reduced admission prices, he said.

Church Bulletin

PLYMOUTH CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE,41550 Ann Arbor Trail, will celebrate a "Homecoming Sunday" Sunday, Aug. 31, with visits of three former pastors, special music and a pot-luck dinner.

The Rev. R.N. Raycroft will speak for the 9:45 a.m. Sunday school service, and the guest speaker for 11 a.m. worship will be the Rev. William O. Welton. The Rev. U.B. Godman is scheduled to speak at 6 p.m. worship.

Special music will feature Mrs. Blaine Ashby of Pueblo West, Colo., and Ray Brodian of Kankakee, Ill., as well as a reuniting of the King's Command quartet. The potluck dinner is scheduled at 1 p.m.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia, will welcome John Crans to its pulpit for vesper services at 7 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 31.

Crans, a senior at Eastern Baptist Seminary and completing preparation for prison chaplain work, will discuss "The Great Awakening in the Prisons Today with the Gospel."

The speaker, son of Mrs. Thelma Crans, Ward administrative assistant, has worked at Delaware State Hospital and as assistant to the chaplain at Chester County Farms Prison in Pennsylvania.

New Lutheran high leases space, registers

Registration of students and an opening service for the new Huron Valley Lutheran High School is scheduled Tuesday, Sept. 2, in St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, 17810 Farmington Road, Livonia.

Registration of freshmen and sophomore students will take place from 5 to 7 p.m. in the church.

The service will begin at 7:30 p.m., with the Rev. Harold Warnke of Fox Valley Lutheran High School, Appleton, Wis., as guest speaker. The luturgist will be the Rev. Winfred Koelpin, pastor of St. Paul.

Classroom space has been leased in St. Mary Catholic School, 34516 Michigan, Wayne, for the first academic year for the new school.

Later the school plans to build its own facilities at a site still to be specified.

The Rev. Karl S. Peterson, principal, said the agreement with St. Mary provides for the use of three classrooms and office space, with Huron Valley students having access to science laboratories and gymnasium facilities.

No joint classes with St. Mary students are planned, Rev. Peterson said.

Huron Valley is sponsored by an association of Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod members and churches. Its classes for the first two years of high school will begin Sept. 3.

A fall fund drive will seek to raise capital to purchase a site somewhere in western Wayne or eastern Washtenaw county.

The principal said three faculty members now have been engaged, the most recent Neil Schroeder of Watertown, Wis. He will teach English and history.

Parents interested in enrolling students may call the principal in Ann Arbor. His address is 3532 Terhune.

Texans' visit brings about church reunion

A wish expressed by some visitors from Texas led recently to a Plymouth potluck reunion for a group that used to workship together at Northwestern Christian Church in northwest Detroit.

The party came about because Bus and Myra Lawrence, who have moved to McAllen, Texas, were back in the area visiting Joe and Nellie Distler of Plymouth.

They went with the Distlers to Dearborn Christian Church, where many former members of the Northwestern congregation now attend services, and saw some other old friends there.

That led to a suggestion that it would be good to get more of the old group together. One telephone call led to another, and the reunion party July 24 turned out to be a big success.

It was 'this year in Jerusalem' for Sue

BY SHERRY KAHAN

The Jews have an age-old saying, "Next year in Jerusalem."

For Sue Margolis of Livonia, this wish to be in the ancient hub of her religion came true this summer. As a member of a B'nai B'rith youth group called Dalyah, she traveled to the ancient city and walked and walked through its historic streets.

"It's the most beautiful city I have ever been in," said Sue, who is 16 and attends Clarenceville High School.

"It is a remarkable city—there is so much to see, the Wailing Wall, the mosques and many different cultures. I saw a lot of the places I had heard about for years.

"The old city is being preserved. Before anything is built in it, there must be years of research done because there is so much underground."

ONE OF THE MOST important Hebrew words, Sue learned before her departure, was the word "moshav." This is the name of a collective kind of settlement on which she would spend 10 days.

It is similar to another kind of communal settlement in Israel, the kibbutz, except that each family has its own home and the children live with their parents rather than in a children's house as they do on most kibbutzim.

The families work on the land, each earning the same amount of money.

It was something of a cultural shock for Sue to have to drag herself from bed at 5 a.m. to work in the fields while the day was still cool.

"We worked until 9 a.m. and then ate breakfast," said Sue. "For the first few days it was exhausting. We picked melons and loaded them on trucks. We climbed trees to pick lemons and then packed them. We also worked with hay."

After breakfast, it was back to the fields until 11 a.m. and then time off to go swimming, have lunch, a siesta and then tea.

"Each of us in the group ate with the same family in their home," noted Sue. "They were very friendly, and we felt part of the family."

THE MOSHAV is in central Israel—the green part, Sue explained. But the tour also included a week in the home of an Israeli family near Tel Aviv, where she again experienced family life.

"They also treated me as one of the family," recalled Sue. "They had a daughter my age, and we walked and talked a lot. Most of the things they do are what we do, except they walk a lot."

But yet another interesting place was on the itinerary. This was a field school called Sedé Boker in the Negev desert.

"I never realized how beautiful a desert can be," Sue said. "We hiked through beautiful canyons. We'd be walking along and suddenly see a small spring which made everything around it green.

"David Ben Gurion, the former prime minister of Israel, was buried there. It was also the site at which "Jesus Christ Superstar" was filmed.

"I WAS AMAZED at how different Israel could be. It has seaports, desert, cities, mountains and green areas."

The daily menu, however, was not always so varied. Like everyone else, Sue ate carrots, cucumbers, tomatoes, cheese and bread for breakfast and about the same in the evening.

"Lunch was the big meal," she said. "We would have something like breaded chicken, potatoes, cole slaw, lots of vegetables and ice cream."

For fun, the Israelis like to walk, swim, play soccer and basketball and go to the movies.

But Sue was also aware that "Their whole life is being ready for war."

"People my age look forward to going in the army because they want to fight for their country," she added.

SUE FELT SHE LEARNED a lot about other people in her visit to Israel.

"You see how a different country is run and what the people are like," she noted. "I think I learned a lot about my own culture by comparing it with another.

"It was a good experience. Now that I'm home, I can't stand sitting around anymore. In Israel we did a lot of walking and working, and I am in good shape. Most Israelis are in good shape. They don't use cars much.

"It was the most worthwhile thing I've ever done in my life."

MEMORABILIA FROM ISRAEL, including a coke bottle with Hebrew writing on it, remind Sue Margolis of her recent trip overseas. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Infants need foster parents

Foster homes are needed for infants, says a spokesman of the Methodist Children's Home, 26645 W. Six Mile, Redford Township.

The children belong to parents who are in the process of making a decision on whether to allow them to be released for adoption.

If you're in business and don't know one of these people, perhaps there are people who don't know you're in business.

All of which means that these are the sales people for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. They are a top-notch team and know that making a profit these days isn't as easy as it once was for a business person.

AND THEY KNOW HOW TO HELP YOU.

If you advertise regularly in your hometown newspaper, you've surely spotted the friendly face that calls on you once or more each week, BUT IF YOU DON'T RECOGNIZE ANYONE, THEN IT'S YOU WE WANT TO TALK TO.

Your Observer & Eccentric advertising team is made up of specialists who are interested in people like you. They can take what you have to sell and put it into an attractive ad and get it in a section of the newspaper where it will get seen — and read.

They can see that you get a whopping circulation of 155,500 or discuss with you just which communities you need to reach. This crackerjack team of experts knows the "ins and outs" of newspaper advertising and you can benefit from this knowledge where it counts — in your cash register.

So, if there's no familiar face shining back at you from among this fantastic sales team, call your Observer & Eccentric Retail Advertising Department and ask for an introduction. You'll be glad you did.

'Woman is chattel of man'

Lawsuit attacked woman judge

PLYMOUTH—PAST AND PRESENT by Sam Hudson

(Part II)

James H. Pound, the lawyer who represented the man found guilty by Judge Phoebe Patterson, was among the best known of the older lawyers in Detroit.

In 1913, he had won national attention by winning a libel case for former president Theodore Roosevelt against an Ishpeming editor who had charged Roosevelt with drunkenness. An arch-conservative, who believed women didn't belong in political office, Pound counselled his client to sue Judge Patterson in a higher court.

The case was tried in Detroit in January 1920 before Judge Henry A. Mandell, dean of the Wayne County Circuit Court. The grounds were that Mrs. Patterson, being a woman, had no right to hold office and to administer penalties.

SUPPORTING Mrs. Patterson were scores of Detroit club women and suffragettes.

The Michigan League of Women Voters, the Business and Professional Women and various women's clubs gave her moral and financial support in the battle to uphold the rights of women.

In his argument, Pound contended, "Woman is, and always has been, a chattel of man and, as such, cannot possibly be qualified to hold public office."

Invoking time-honored and hoary statutes as far back as Edward III, according to a newspaper report of the case, Pound said the law granted women the right to vote but did not give them the right to hold office. A married woman, particularly, couldn't properly hold office because, under ancient law, her services, thoughts, actions and all her other attributes were the possession of her husband and lawful master. Mrs. Patterson's husband, Pound asserted, had a right to exercise a coercive influence over her and was the real brain of the marital partnership.

"Woman is unfit, always has been unfit and has always been recognized as unfit to hold office," Pound declared. "Since the dawn of history, that has always been the prerogative of the male. When the men of America generously decided to let the women have something to say about the selection of their rulers, they did not at the same time give them the right to run the country as its rulers."

REPRESENTING Mrs. Patterson was Paul W. Voorhies, a native of Plymouth, who later became prominent in Michigan legal and political circles.

Born on Penniman Avenue, opposite Kellogg Park, where the Penn Theatre is now located, he was the son of James and Jennie Voorhies. Jennie Voorhies, a leading figure in the Women's Christian Temperance movement, and its district president for 10 years, was a friend of Judge Patterson.

JUDGE PHOEBE PATTERSON

ATTORNEY PAUL VOORHEIS

Voorhies, a graduate of the University of Michigan, was admitted to the bar in 1900. He practiced in Detroit as a member of the law firm of Voorhies, Long and Ryan, with offices in the Penobscot Building. He also maintained law offices in Plymouth with John Dayton. Their establishment fronted on Main Street, where the parking lot of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building is now located.

Voorhies was assistant prosecuting attorney of Wayne County 1912-18. He was prosecuting attorney from 1921-24, and from 1931 to 1933 he was attorney general of the State of Michigan.

Although he made his home in Detroit, Voorhies, who was born in 1875 at the beginning of the wooden sidewalk era in Plymouth, always maintained his ties with the community. He was a director of the Plymouth United Savings Bank. When he died in 1952, he was buried in Riverside Cemetery.

IN 1920, when the Patterson case came to trial, Voorhies hadn't yet assumed the office of prosecuting attorney, to which he had been elected.

He jumped at the opportunity of defending his mother's WCTU colleague, saying he would carry the case to the Supreme Court if necessary.

In his argument to the court, Voorhies brushed aside Pound's ancient statutes and concentrated on the laws currently on the books. The amendment to the State Constitution, ratified as recently as 1918, he pointed out, conferred on women the rights of electors. Section 2162 of the compiled laws of 1915 made electors eligible to hold any elected office. Mrs. Patterson was, therefore, entitled to hold the office of justice of the peace.

The court ruled in favor of Mrs. Patterson. In his decision, Judge Mandell said that because the State Constitution gave the right to any citizen or elector to hold office, women could properly do so, since the Federal Suffrage Amendment made them both citizens and electors.

In rendering his decision, the judge did not touch on Pound's contention that a wife is under the coercion of her master and husband. Nevertheless, the Detroit Free Press headed its Jan. 18, 1920 report of the decision: "Woman Is Held Own 'Property.'." The Detroit News headline was more factual: "Mrs. Patterson, Justice of the Peace, Sticks on Bench Despite Mere Man."

SNOWY-HAIRED, placid, but forceful Mrs. Patterson smiled when asked by reporters whether her husband exercised a coercive influence over her.

"No," she answered. "In fact, he's very proud of me. And he would never think of placing himself in contempt of court."

A dedicated feminist, Judge Patterson was very active in the League of Women Voters. She was president of that organization for two years. She was vice-president of the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's organization and was a member of the Woman's Club, of the Order of the Eastern Star, and of the Women's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church.

She was a charter member of the Plymouth branch of the WCTU, serving the Wayne County district unit as president for two years, and as recording secretary for 25 years. She was first vice-president at large of the WCTU at the time of her death.

JUDGE PATTERSON died at age 73 on Jan. 16, 1931.

Pall bearers included judges from the Wayne County Circuit Court bench, and George Springer, the Plymouth chief of police with whom she had worked closely. She is buried in Riverside Cemetery.

Judge Patterson's daughter, Mrs. Clara Patterson Todd, now 87, recently told me she always thought her mother resembled Abraham Lincoln — they both made the most of their lives with very little formal schooling.

7.98% Effective Annual Yield

Now, the highest interest allowed by law on insured savings —and the highest ever paid by First Federal Savings of Detroit—is yours in our 7¾% per year Certificate Savings Account.
Deposit $1,000 or more for 6 years and we'll pay and compound your interest quarterly for an effective annual rate of 7.98%. Which means an initial investment of $1,000 will grow to $1,584.96 in 6 years.

What's more, your savings at First Federal are insured to $40,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U.S. Government.

So put your money where the high interest and security is. Then sit back and watch it turn into more money.

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate savings accounts.

PRESTIGIOUS NOTTINGHAM
5 BEDROOM COLONIAL

Custom built backing to open commons is this delightful brick 2 story home. Doctor regretfully transferred leaving his many additions behind such as, CENTRAL AIR CONDITIONING, TIMED AUTOMATIC SPRINKLING SYSTEM, CUSTOM INTERIOR AND EXTERIOR DECOR, WITH 3 FORM PATIO, GAS BARBEQUE, CUSTOM LANDSCAPING, THICK PLUSH CARPETING, and PASTEL WINDOW TREATMENTS. Few homes I've seen have so much to offer at any price, however, this is $78,900 with $35,000 owing at 7% interest ... you can move in time for school.

NEWBURGH-5 MILE AREA

WOODVIEW
A PERFECT APARTMENT IN A PERFECT NATURAL SETTING...

Surrounded almost entirely by natural forest area, WOODVIEW is just 100 yards from the entrance to famous Holliday Park. Secluded and quiet are the two best words to describe WOODVIEW. When you desire the services of one of Michigan's prestige shopping areas, it's just a 10 minute walk to Hudson's Westland or the new Kroger Center. You'll choose to live in Westland, because of Edward Hines Park, many nearby golf courses, the schools, public and private, places of worship and the expressways. Like living in-town, but bathed in the beauty of natural woods and scenery. WOODVIEW apartments are new, stunning in appearance inside and out. The rooms are extra large. Here are some of the many wonderful features in wonderful WOODVIEW . . .

■ Fully Carpeted ■ Air Conditioned ■ Refrigerator/Freezer ■ Self/Cleaning Range & Oven ■ Automatic Dishwasher ■ Carports ■ Private Balconies and patios with landscaped terraces ■ Double sliding glass doors ■ Magnificent WOODVIEW CLUB, one of the largest and most complete with private swimming pool, locker rooms, saunas and meeting rooms ■ Nature trails and Hiking Paths ■ No doubt about it, wonderful WOODVIEW in Westland is a natural place for you . . . and your family!
