Hockey players seeking help

Buttons, buttons, who has the buttons? Members of some Plymouth, Canton area hockey teams have more lapel buttons than they know what to do with, 3,000 of them actually. The teams are going to Sweden next month and purchased the bicentennial buttons as a fundraising project to help pay for the trip. Now the boys find they are having a hard time getting rid of them. Mrs. Ralph Kennedy, of 44057 North Umberland Circle, Canton, said the buttons go for 50 cents each but if any group would like to puchase the entire lot, the boys will sell tham at cost for 30 cents each. "At least they would get back their investment," she said. Persons interested in purchasing the buttons are asked to contact Mrs. Kennedy at her home. Pondering over their problem are: (from left) Jeff Campbell, 15, of Plymouth Canton High School; Bill Kennedy, 14, of Plymouth Salem High; Mike Michalek, 14, of Plymouth Salem High; and Barry Snyder, 14, of West Middle School. Schools to file suit on state financing

By DARLENE STINSON

Plymouth Community School District officials hope to join hands with district officials across the state to regain lost state aid money and carve a precedent-building pathway through the courts.

Plymouth school board members Monday unanimously agreed to enter a lawsuit against the State of Michigan and the Michigan Legislature, designed to recover a possible $70,000 in lost state aid money and ward off future reductions through the formula currently used by the state.

THE PROPOSED lawsuit would name the Plymouth, Wayne-Westland and Livonia school districts as plaintiffs in the case as well as other districts levying more than 27 mills which care to participate.

The plaintiffs plan to cite the unconstitutionality of the state's formula for reducing state aid allocations, based on 0.6 of one per cent of a district's combined state aid and local property taxes, according to Plymouth School Supt. John M. Hoben.

Under the formula, Hoben says, districts with "high tax efforts" lose out in state aid funds. That, he says, is not fair to taxpayers who approve millage issues.

The Plymouth School District has already lost more than $95,000 in state aid funds through the reduction formula and could lose an additional $50,000 in a second proposed cutback.

"We haven't really decided on the specifics yet," Hoben said of the lawsuit, "but the direction we're headed is to challenge the legality of using local property taxes to reduce state aid allocations.

"Basically, we feel, the state has no right to dip into the pockets of local taxpayers and their efforts. We feel all districts which receive state aid should have the same percentage of money taken from their state aid instead of taking more from districts with higher tax efforts."

The Plymouth School District, Hoben said, could "potentially" gain $70,000 in lost state aid funds through the lawsuit and reduce the $50,000 the district could currently lose in a second proposed cutback.

THE LAWSUIT, he added, may also challenge the state's formula for issuing state aid funds.

Under the formula, a district receives $42.40 per pupil for the first 20 mills ($20 per $1,000 state equalized value) of local tax base. The state allocates $38.25 per pupil for the next seven mills of local tax base but cuts off additional funding to districts levying more than 27 mills.

For districts like Plymouth, with a local millage of 29.01, that means a loss in funding. The loss is even greater for districts like Wayne-Westland (37.05 mills) and Livonia (33 mills).

"There's two basic inequities," Hoben said. "We don't feel the state has a right to use local property taxes at all. It's wrong for taxpayers to pay on one basis and lose out on the next.

"It's not a question of the rich and the poor either. It's a question of effort. Local taxation effort isn't being brought into this at all."

HOBEN, Wayne-Westland School Supt. Timothy Dyer and Livonia School Supt. George Garver will meet with an attorney this Friday to solidify the districts' position on the lawsuit, first suggested by Plymouth school board Vice President Marcia Borowski at a recent meeting of the Michigan Association to Improve School Legislation (MAISL).

The superintendents, Hoben said, plan to issue invitations to all Michigan school districts levying more than 27 mills to join the class action suit. Cost of the suit would be prorated on a per-pupil basis and kept at a minimum for each participating district.

School officials hope to file the suit in a court outside Wayne County to assure prompt action and hope a final decision will come from the Michigan Court of Appeals.

The superintendents will discuss an attorney selection this Friday.

Canton may require paved-bottom drains

Canton residents, who purchase new homes in the township in future years, may not have to cope with the weeds and muck of open storm drains, plaguing some of the township's current residents.

To eliminate problems of erosion, weeds and muck, township officials may demand the construction of concrete "sidewalks" at the bottom of all future open drains, constructed by developers in natural drainage areas.

Township officials may incorporate the concrete requirement, already included in two agreements with subdivision developers, into Canton's new master land use plan, according to Carl Parsell, township treasurer and a planning commission member.

THE CONCRETE construction would replace the former drainage requirement, under which developers constructed open ditches in natural drainage areas.

Erosion has widened the former-style drains, often constructed on easements at the rear of residents' properties, from two feet wide and one foot deep to six feet wide and several feet deep in many areas. Weeds have transformed some of the drains into swamp-like areas.

"We call them a necessary evil," Parsell said of the drains. "Great erosion takes place, and the weeds start growing on the bottom. Then people start dumping the trash in."

England has required stones on the bottom of its open drains for years, Parsell said. Concrete bottoms, lining some storm drains in Livonia, have prevented erosion and weed problems there for years.

UNDER CANTON'S proposed drain requirement, six-foot concrete V-shpaed "sidewalks" would slant from the edges of the drain to its bottom.

The drains would hold several feet of water during stormy seasons and could serve as an attractive asset to residential yards during drier spells, Parsell said. Residents could plant and maintain lawns to the edge of the "sidewalk."

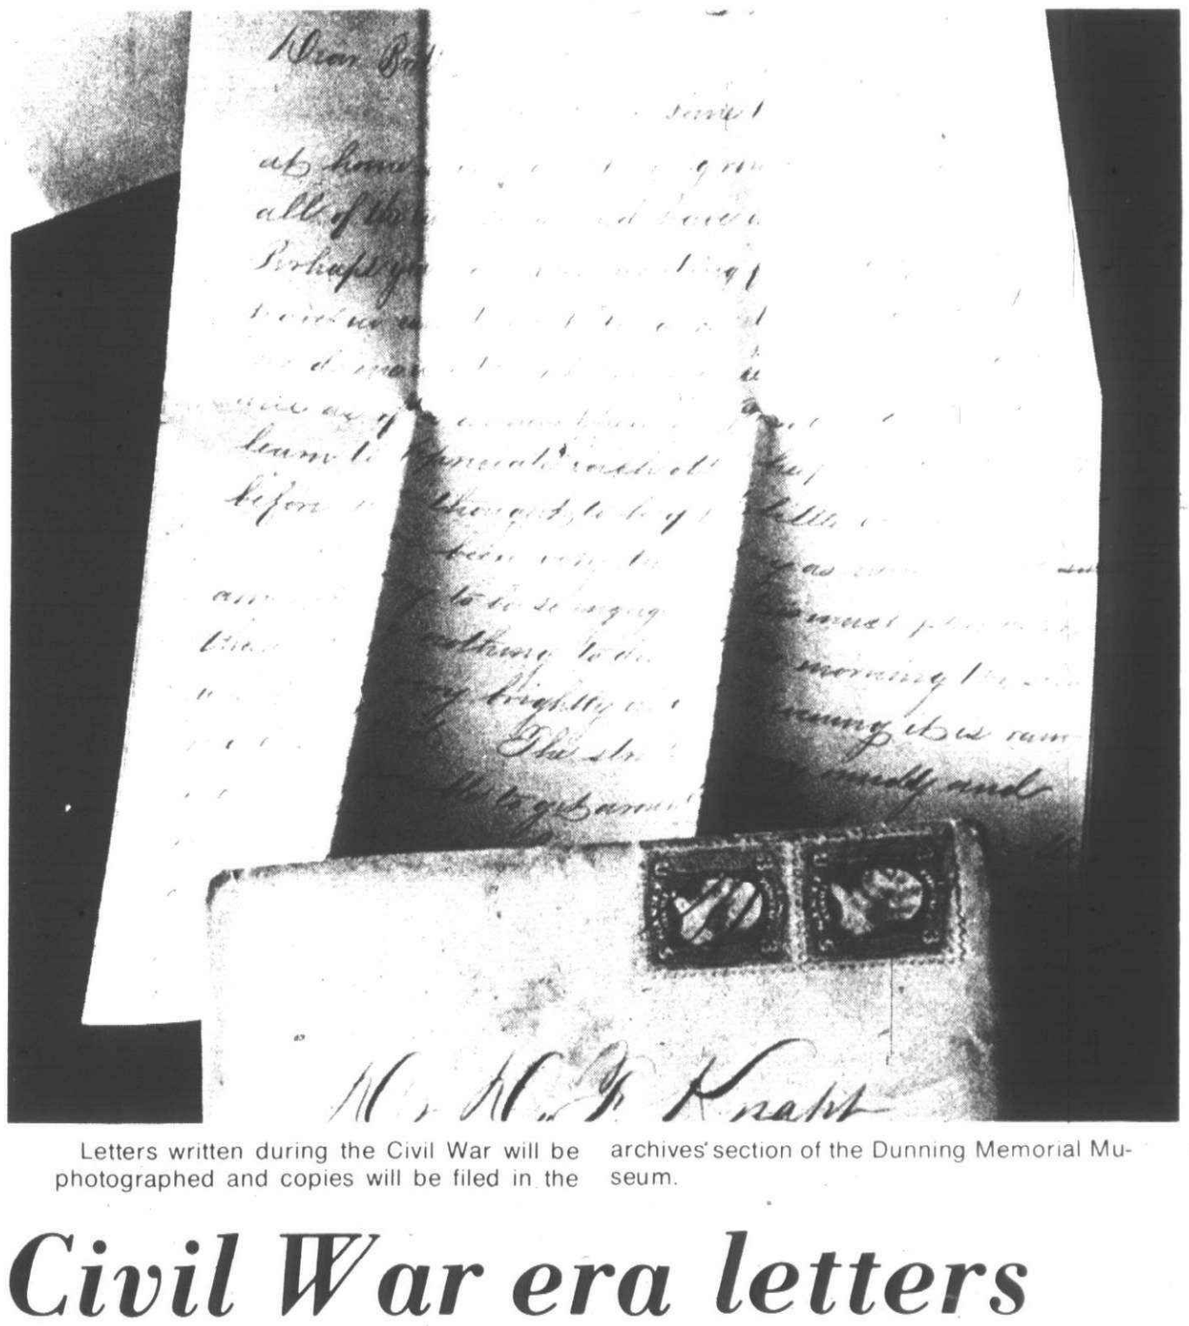

"They could use the 'sidewalks' for anything at all," the treasurer said. "It would be an attractive addition to people's yards.

"A lot of people have gone to great expense doing things with their drains now, but it's not a community effort. I think this approach would be much more inviting to people coming in."

Harvey Deutch, developer of a subdivision near Sheldon and Joy, has already agreed to construct concrete drains in his development. The construction of concrete drains are one stipulation of the agreement between the township and developer Dominic Moceri.

Jean MacCurdy (left) and Elizabeth Folger read one of the letters written by Jean's great-grandfather while he a member of the Union Army during the Civil War.

Letters written during the Civil War will be photographed and copies will be filed in the archives' section of the Dunning Memorial Museum.

Civil War era letters rescued for history

Correspondence between a Civil War soldier and his family is a recent acquisition of the archives committee of the Dunning Historical Museum. Future generations of area students will be able to read the letters in the fine Spencerian script of the 1800s, describing the day-to-day events in the life of a Union soldier stationed with his unit in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Owner of the letters is Jean MacCurdy, former Plymouth resident and Plymouth High School graduate. Miss MacCurdy lives in Los Angeles and works for NBC in Burbank, Calif.

The letters were written by Albert Knapp, whose daughter was the mother of William C. Knapp, Jean's father. Albert Knapp was also the grandfather of Bill Knapp of the restaurant chain.

When Albert returned from the Civil War he became a Methodist minister, and the tone of his letters reveal his wish to enter the ministry.

Writing from Headquarters District Central Kentucky on Feb. 19, 1863 he spoke of the muddy streets of Lexington, making passage almost impossible. "But," he adds, "our fire is warm and seems to burn much brighter for the storm outside."

He describes a hanging in Lexington in a letter dated Aug. 4, 1963: "He was driven to the place of execution, which was about a half mile from the city, in an old express wagon, sitting upon his coffin which was made of pine and painted black, the rope coiled about his neck and his arms tied behind him.

"The funeral escort was the crowd of the city which lined the road upon either side for some distance, all eager and many anxious to see him atone for his most inhuman crime."

He had explained that the murderer had killed his wife "in her bed, five months ago."

The letter continues, "We came at last to the place of execution which was nothing more than two posts, set firmly in the ground over a crossbar, under which they drew the wagon."

"The criminal spoke for about 20 minutes, but in a voice unheard by all except those few within three or four feet of him. He warned others not to do as he had done."

On Nov. 1, 1864, writing from Knoxville, Tenn., he says, "Now and then the report of some great victory, like one gained lately by Sheridan in the Shenandoah Valley, comes to gladden our ears and to tell us the great work of human redemption goes bravely on."

The letters will be carefully photographed. They will be returned intact to Miss MacCurdy. The photographs will be coated with a plastic film, making them permanent copies which can be handled by students without fear of damage.

Evelyn Edgar, chairman of the archives committee, Lauren Buerle, of Canton Township, Pat Whitsell and Elizabeth Folger hope to add more letters to their vertical file in the historical museum.

Anyone having old letters with historic interest can share the contents by contacting a member of the committee.

No commitments yet

New league being considered

Although some school districts in this area would like to form a new athletic conference, Plymouth Community School District isn't ready yet to commit itself.

Monday night, a discussion was held at the Livonia Board of Education about the possibility of organizing a western Wayne County league which could involve high schools from Livonia, Wayne-Westland, Plymouth, Garden City, Redford Union, South Redford and Farmington school districts.

The Livonia board's response was it would study the matter at next Monday night's study session. The request for a new league was made by a parents group Monday night, although it has been discussed informally between area school officials.

JOHN SANDMANN, athletic director of Plymouth Community School District, said the matter is strictly in the investigative stage as far as Plymouth is concerned.

"No decision has been made on my part and I haven't talked with nearby athletic directors about this for some time, although I plan to discuss it with some in the near future.

"We have certain commitments with the conferences we are now in. We have very good relations with the schools in our conferences and should we decide to make a change would give our league schools ample notice.

"From my standpoint, the move won't be made unless we feel it advantageous to students, athletics and the community."

PLYMOUTH SALEM is a member of the Suburban Eight conference and Plymouth Canton is a member of the Western Six league.

"The investigation, at this point, is very informal," stressed Sandmann. "It's just an idea, but it is being pursued."

Arguments made in favor of the new league is that it would save money by cutting travel expenses and would increase students' and parents' participation through game attendance.

From Livonia's standpoint, the key to the new league would be to have Livonia's Bentley and Stevenson high schools only play schools in adjacent school districts, such as Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem.

More persons could attend road games which would be closer to home and more convenient to reach, argues Ted White, a Livonia backer for the new league.

White cites a study which shows that there is a sharp drop of attendance by students at road games which are more than 10 miles away. The attendance generally increases when road games are within 10 miles.

The closer-to-home games would save costs through lower payments to school bus drivers who sometimes are paid overtime for long trips.

At the Livonia meeting Monday, it was disclosed that a memo was sent June 2 from Plymouth Salem Principal Bill Brown to Plymouth Supt. John M. Hoben suggesting that Salem pull out of the Sub 8 and form a new athletic conference.

The memo was acknowledged by a Plymouth official who said it was just a beginning move and isn't near any decision point yet.

This year, Salem's away games include trips to Bloomfield Hills, Trenton, Livonia, Dearborn and Belleville in football. Canton's football away schedule calls for trips to Dearborn Heights, Farmington, Dearborn and Waterford.

Canton man faces sentence in assault

Lawrence Stone Franklin Jr. 32, of 7631 Kingsbridge, Canton Township, has pleaded "no contest" on the charge of criminal sexual conduct, first degree, against a Westland woman.

He faces sentence on the charge Nov. 18 and is free on $10,000 bond.

Police said that on May 28, Franklin was arrested at his home following a complaint by a Westland woman who said she was forced at gunpoint to commit a sexual act in creek area near McKinley and Ann Arbor Roads three days earlier.

She claimed she had parked her car on McKinly because she had trouble turning off the car's interior lights.

Police said the woman was approached by a man who asked her what the trouble was. At that point, the man pulled a gun, shoved it into her side saying, "I've got a gun. You're not going anywhere."

He forced her to the ground. When a car drove past, he ordered her "not to make a sound" and grabbed her by the throat.

He then forced her to the bridge where the alleged sexual act took place, police said.

He is then reported to have gone back to the woman's car saying, "OK. I'll try to fix it." In the attempt to repair the lights, the man broke his ignition key in the car's fuse holder. He left on foot saying, "I'll see you later."

The victim ran to a house and called police.

Plymouth Police Chief Timothy Ford said at the time it was thorough investigation by a task force headed by Lt. William Guldner and made up of Det. Robert Commire and officer Ralph White of the Plymouth police, along with Det. Sgt. James Collins and Trooper Charles Hoover of the Michigan State Police, which led to the arrest.

Motorist killed by freight train

A Ypsilanti man was killed Sunday evening when his car was struck by a freight train at the railroad crossing on Beck Road between North Territorial and Five Mile roads in Plymouth Township.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital was Robert Marshall Austin, 24.

Michigan State Police said there were no witnesses to the accident which occured at 8:40 p.m. A police spokesman said there is no flashing signal or gates at the crossing. Police assume Austin tried to cross the track in an attempt to beat the train which was reported traveling at 35 miles-an-hour.

Austin was traveling south on Beck, the train was westbound, police said.

Parents organizing to air CEP problems

A group of parents concerned with problems they see as being related to modular scheduling at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) has organized to investigate problems at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools.

Calling themselves Concerned Parents, the group had about 50 residents attend their initial meeting to voice complaints about modular scheduling.

In response to that turnout, the group has scheduled a second public meeting on Monday, Oct. 13, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of West Middle School, Ann Arbor Trail at Sheldon Road.

MODULAR SCHEDULING at the high schools provides students with unstructured time for independent study with the school week being similar to a class schedule of a college student.

Each school day is divided into 20 "mods" or periods of 20 minutes each. Classes are scheduled over a six-day cycle.

For most of the subjects, large groups such as lecture classes will last no longer than two modules (40 minutes) one or two days each cycle.

For most small groups, the period will be three modules (60 minutes) two days each cycle. For most laboratory classes, at least three and perhaps four modules (80 minutes) are scheduled.

The modular scheduling is part of an education system at the CEP which utilizes team teaching, resource centers, independent study, small and large group classroom situations.

Educators stress the entire system is to help the student learn how to learn. Literature put out by the Plymouth Community School District explains:

"If today's student is to become an active, productive and integral member of our society, he must be given the means by which he can continue to leearn after his formal schooling ends. He must become a lifetime learner and to enable him to do so the school must teach not only the what of learning but also the how."

PARENTS ORGANIZING Concerned Parents seem to agree with many of the philosophical goals of the school district but feel, in practice, the ideals aren't being met and the education of many children may be suffering.

Spokesman for Concerned Parents is George Merchant. Others working with him include Mrs. Frankie Johnson and Mrs. Robert Olson.

"There seems to be a number of parents in the community who are dissatisfied with the school system," says Merchant. "And I hope many attend our Oct. 13 meeting. But I must wonder why the administration and school board is stubbornly holding on to modular scheduling, and acting as if there were no problems, when so many parents seem to be unhappy."

A major concern is the lack of attendance, according to Merchant. "It's not truancy because the kids are inside the school buildings, but they are just milling around the hallways and commons areas. They are in the building but they aren't in classes when scheduled and there doesn't seem to be a method that's working to keep kids in class."

The administration has no control over attendance, says Merchant, which is pretty much left up to teachers to enforce. "Some teachers care and do a good job. Others either don't care, lack the time, or don't want to be bothered.

"Modular scheduling may work some places, but you cannot control the large number of students that attend the Centennial Educational Park. Once a kid begins skipping classes, his achievement level drops and he begins losing his feeling of self-worth. It goes downhill from there."

AS AN EXAMPLE, one mother mentioned one block in Plymouth with 10 homes on it. Of these 10 homes, three families have pulled their children out of the CEP and put them in private schools and one student dropped out of school.

"Children cannot be expected to be self-motivating in the ninth and 10th grades," added Merchant, "They will take the path of least resistance.

"Most ninth graders may begin by accepting modular scheduling and making good use of their unstructured time. But as they proceed, they find out they can beat the system and get away with things. It's become a country club atmosphere out there."

The group spoke of malicious destruction of property in and around the CEP, children left free to run the halls, cutting of classes constantly, children in school that cannot be found, a serious problem of drug abuse, and frequent card games in school.

The parents don't see the validity of polls the district has taken in which 90 per cent of the students indicate they like modular scheduling. "How can you poll students to decide if modular scheduling works?" asks Merchant.

"We are losing a number of our good students and losing a number of students who really need help," commented one mother. "The option of traditional scheduling is offered, but there's a stigma attached to it among students and peer pressure almost dictates that students remain on modular scheduling."

Another commented: "It is a super education for the self-motivated child but it's being done at the expense of other students who are less motivated.

"Another problem is discipline at home. It's counter-productive for us to maintain discipline at home and then send our children to school where there is so much freedom and so little discipline."

Merchant stresses: "What we really want is accountability. As parents, we feel the school should be accountable for our children when they are in the building, and know where they are."

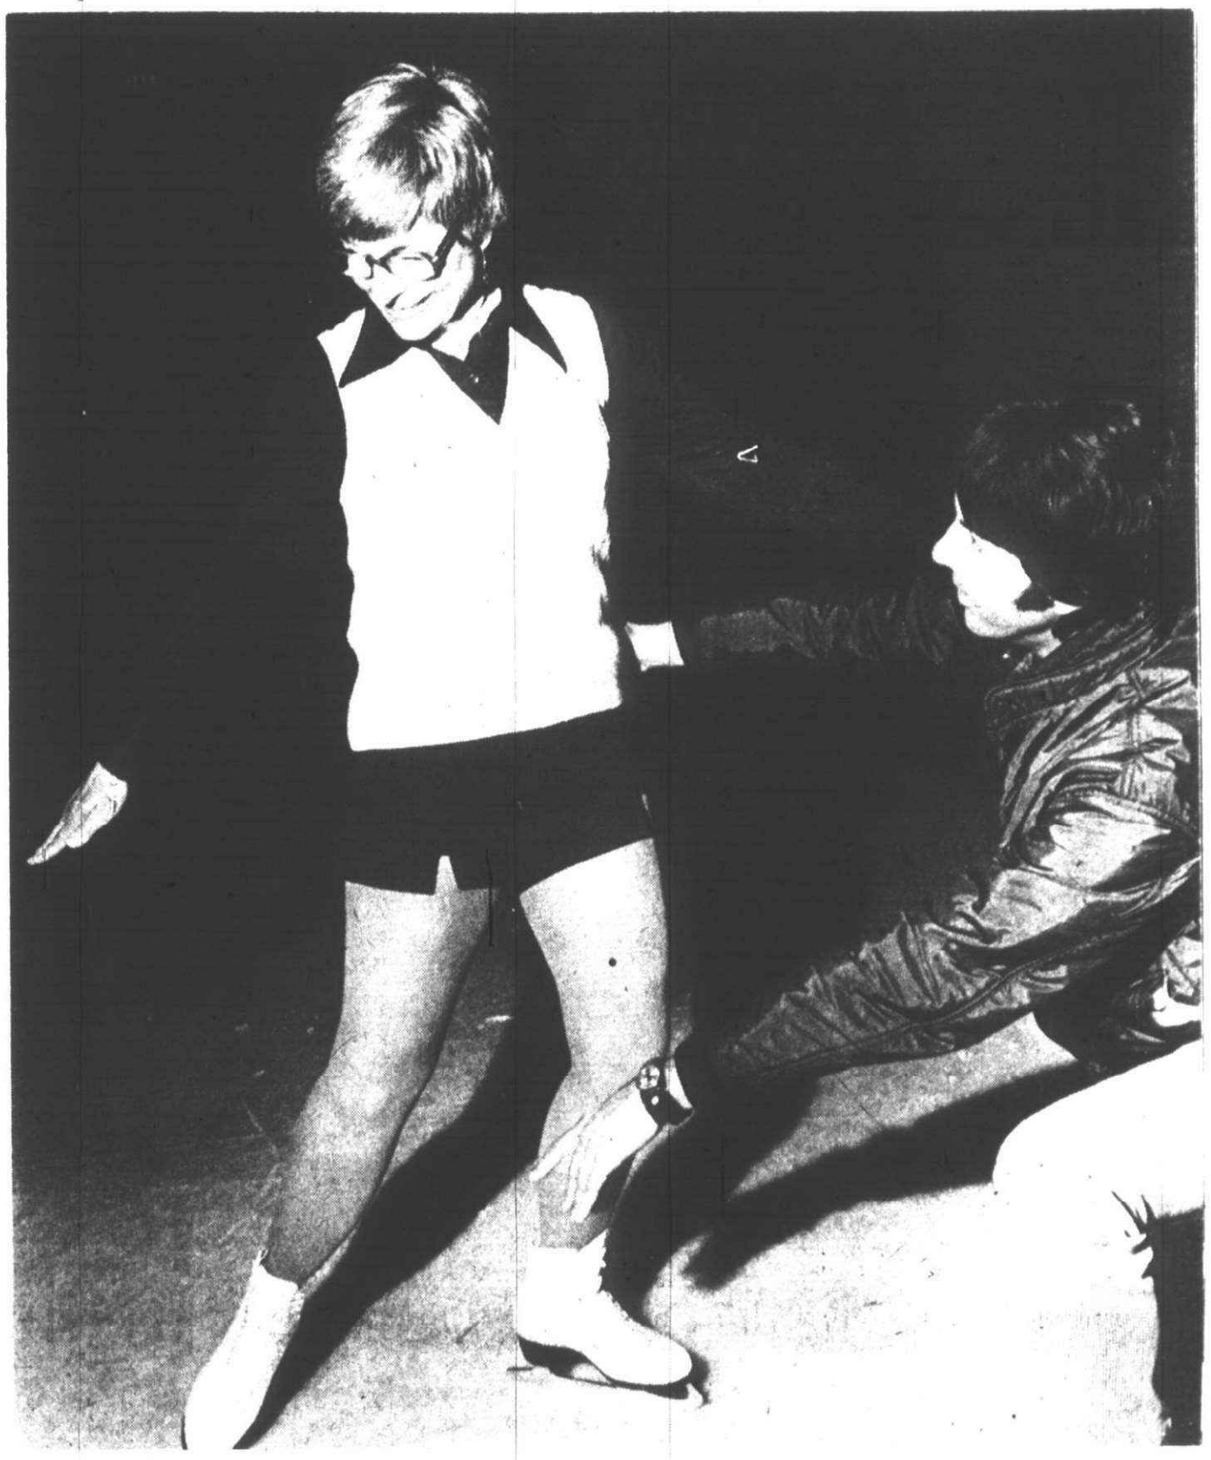

He said Concerned Parents is preparing a survey which it hopes to have ready for distribution at Monday's meeting.

BILL BROWN, principal of Plymouth Salem, and Kent Buikema, principal of Plymouth Canton, say they encourage any parents with concerns to call the CEP and arrange for a tour of the schools and for a talk with them or an assistant administrator.

Both said they would be happy to meet with any group to discuss how modular scheduling works, controls in the system, and the responsibilities of parents and students.

Buikema says the size of the student body at the CEP can create an "optical illusion." At any one time there may be 800-900 students in the cafeteria or resource centers, he added, but there will be 2,400 students in classrooms who will be "less visible."

Brown added that he has taught in and managed traditional schools and that the ratio between instruction time and study time is the same for traditional and modular scheduling.

Figure skating booms as sport for area

Tuesday night is dance night for members of the Plymouth Figure Skating Club Inc. Skaters skim across the ice of the Plymouth Cultural Center arena to the strains of waltz and Spanish dance tunes.

For two hours housewives, business men and women, students and professionals become part of a graceful ice ballet. That they are enjoying every minute of it is very obvious.

The figure skating club opened its third season Sept. 22. Last year it became a sanctioned member of the United States Skating Association and the Tri-State Council of Figure Skating Clubs.

Figure skating has increased in popularity in the area with more than 600 persons of all ages involved in the Plymouth Recreation Department classes at the arena on Farmer Street.

"THE CLUB WAS formed for the serious skater who wishes to test and compete," said Norine Scott, club treasurer. "For the pleasure skater, there is good music, exclusive ice and the fraternal feeling the club promotes."

The club offers all forms of ice for its members who range in age from 13 to 60. There is patch, free-style and dance. Ice time for members and guests is contracted on a seasonal basis from the Plymouth Community Center.

Doug and Gladys Lock of Canton Township are members of the club. For them, skating is a family affair. Mrs. Lock began skating three years ago when their daughter Julie started to take lessons. Julie now is 7 and skates with the recreation department group.

Son Christopher, 13, is a member of the Plymouth Bantam travel hockey team. The young right winger is going to Sweden with the team over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Doug Lock is an assistant coach for the team so parents plan to accompany Chris on the 11-day trip. The Bantams are scheduled to play six games in a town near Stockholm.

A YOUNG COUPLE who danced with almost professional skill were from Birmingham. Lynna Lanham and Bill Eddy were practicing for their first competition as a team on Nov. 19 in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Miss Lanham had come from Wheeling, W.V. to skate with Eddy whose home is in Columbus, Ohio. For them, the attraction of the Plymouth club was the ice time and instructor Jim Pennington.

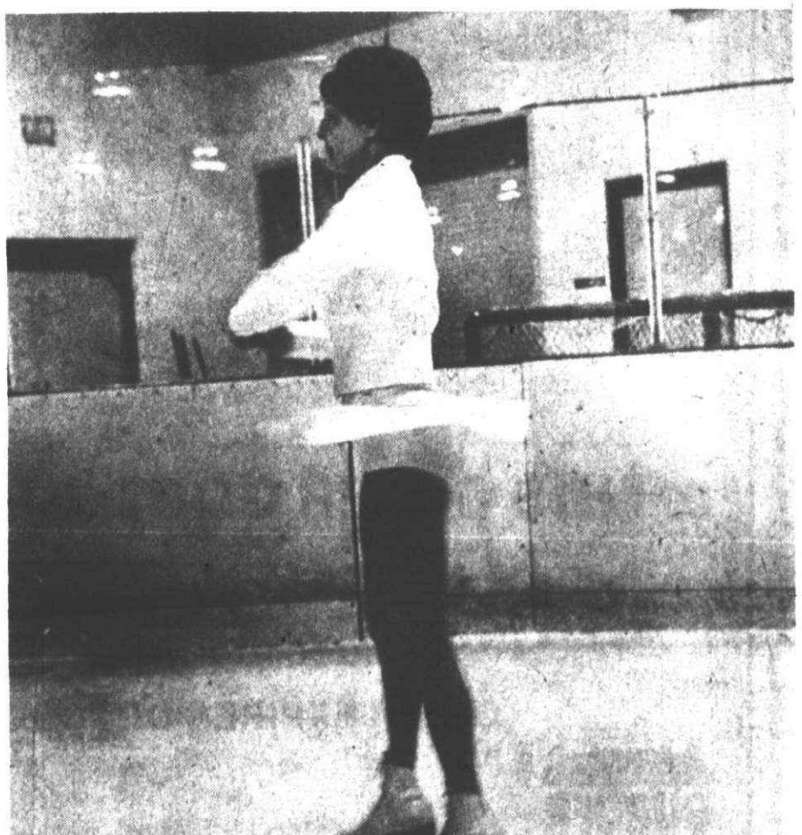

Pennington is a multi-gold medalist who was a member of the World Figure Skating Team. His specialty is ice dancing and he has performed in Europe and Canada. He has been teaching for five years but this is his first season with the Plymouth club.

Other instructors are Jeanie Young and Tom Caribardi who teach dance, free skating and low figure, and Sandy Magneson, a double gold medalist, who teaches high figure, freestyle and dance.

Club officers are: Bob James, president; Sharon Brod, vice president; Norine Scott, treasurer; Marian Wiles, secretary; and Barbara Biallis, membership chairman.

District clarifies attendance policy

Plymouth School Board members Monday reinforced the district's "feeder school" concept while clarifying the district's attendance area policy.

A pupil who moves from one location to another within the district during his eighth-grade year must attend the high school fed by the middle school from which he was graduated, school board members said.

The policy stands, even if a student's new address lies within a different feeder school's attendance boundaries.

The policy question arose from the case of a ninth grade student at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP), who moved from the Central to West middle school attendance areas during her eighth-grade year.

The student completed her school year at Central, a feeder for Plymouth Canton High School, despite her residence in the West Middle School attendance area, a feeder for Plymouth Salem High School.

When school officials placed the student in Plymouth Canton High, her parents requested a transfer to Plymouth Salem.

School Supt. John M. Hoben Monday brought the case to the board for a confirmation of the Canton placement and received the unanimous support of school board members.

The district's attendance area policy places a student in Plymouth Salem or Plymouth Canton high schools, according to the middle school they attended.

"It's just a procedural type thing," Hoben said. "The middle schools are the feeders—that's been the policy for two or three years.

"Kids move in the eighth grade—how do you treat them? Once they establish their residence, a move doesn't mandate transfer."

Use overpass, students urged

The pedestrian overpass bridging Joy Road near Fiegel School was constructed for the use of elementary, middle and high school students.

That's the message the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, the Michigan State Police and school officials would like parents to relay to children, who are not using the overpass on their way to school.

Middle and high school students, who catch buses at Fiegel Elementary School, are crossing Joy Road instead of the overpass, according to Flossie Tonda, chairperson of the Plymouth Community School District's safety committee.

Students caused a near-collision on Joy last week, Mrs. Tonda said, as drivers swerved to avoid crossing students.

"The little kids shove their bicycles up that overpass," Mrs. Tonda said, "but the older children can't carry their bodies over it. When the device is there, the kids should use it. It's not really fair to motorists either."

A. Square makes many real points

Witch Watch by GUNDELLA

"One touch of Nature makes us all akin."

—a spaceland poet

Several years ago I attended a Saturday afternoon auction in rural Monroe County. After bidding only $1, I found myself to be the owner of a box of old yellowed books, all bearing the copyrights of 1889 or earlier.

Among these was a copy of the second edition of Flatland, with illustrations, by the author, "A. Square." It was published in 1884 by Seeley and Co., 46, 47, and 48 Essex St., Strand, London.

I have spent countless afternoons at such auctions where I have purchased rare treasures of every sort, ranging from pewter and butter churns to bustles and buttonhooks. But none has ever pleased me as much as that copy of "A Romance of Many Dimensions."

RECENTLY, I WAS pleased to discover that Flatland is now being published in paperback by Dover Books, and by Barnes and Noble, Inc., New York, and is available in most bookstores.

THE HERO of the tale, "A. Square" is exactly that—a square. He lives in Flatland, where all things are seen in only two dimensions. Through a strange and startling encounter with a circle that grows larger and smaller, enters closed rooms without the aid of doors or windows, and vanishes at will, he is introduced to Spaceland, where three dimensions exist. He learns that his new friend is, in reality, a sphere, and in this strange new land he, an ordinary square, becomes a cube by moving "upward, but not northward."

He is also privileged to view Lineland, where the inhabitants know only one dimension, and cannot see to the left or to the right; and Pointland, the abyss of no dimensions, where he beholds a point, a being like himself, but confined to a non-dimensional gulf.

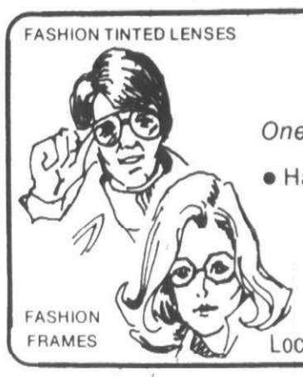

The point is in himself, his own world, his own universe. He can form no conception of any other than himself. He knows not length, breadth or height. Our hero, the square, expresses the thought that to be so self-contented is to be "vile and ignorant" and that "to aspire is better than to be blindly, and impotently happy."

THE SQUARE, however, is banished from Spaceland when he expresses a desire to see the fourth dimension, and whatever lies beyond. Naturally, the inhabitants of a world limited to three dimensions cannot contemplate anything so ridiculous.

There had been reports of the descent of beings, of a higher order than theirs, who entered closed rooms, though not through doors and windows, and vanished at will. Most people said these visions arose from thought. The intelligent cube, sphere or pyramid would never admit such a vision if he had one. Such ramblings would cause others to doubt his sanity.

After being banished from Spaceland, the square returns home and tries to enlighten his fellow men as to the existence of a third dimension. He is condemned for "perverting the minds of people by delusions." He is considered heterodox, if not downright treasonable, and is eventually locked up in a place set aside for lunatics, where he can do no harm to the minds of his innocent grandchildren.

Ed Pierce running for Congress again

Dr. Edward C. Pierce, Ann Arbor physician who finished second in a cliff-hanger Democratic primary in 1974, will run again for Congress in the 2nd District in 1976.

Pierce announced in a letter he would seek the seat held since 1966 by Republican Marvin Esch of Ann Arbor. Esch is currently preparing to run for the U.S. Senate.

So far, Pierce is the first candidate to announce in the 2nd District, which includes Livonia, Plymouth and Northville in Wayne County; eastern Washtenaw County and most of Monroe County. Usually a group of Democratic candidates can be expected, with the name of Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara heading the current list.

DR. ED PIERCE

PIERCE HAS added sexism and massive federal help for southeastern Michigan's economy to the list of issues he campaigned on.

"The women in my last campaign and elsewhere have made me better understand the discrimination they have suffered," he said. "The largest group of people in my medical practice who are up against it economically are women who are heads of single-parent households. . .The only way they can catch up is through a continued program of affirmative action and quotas."

On economics, he said, "I am firmly convinced the auto industry will not return to its 1973 employment levels as long as the energy shortage exists, and I believe the energy shortage will be here indefinitely.

"The auto companies need to be given economic incentives to diversify their products and provide new jobs."

Pierce's other issues will be the growing defense budget (against), economic justice ("redistribute income"), balance the power of the presidency (Congress as an equal partner), an integrated society (for) and national health insurance (for).

AFTER SERVING on the Ann Arbor City Council (1964-66), Pierce ran unsuccessfully for mayor.

Pierce, 45, graduated from the University of Michigan School of Medicine in 1959 and has been in family practice since 1960. In 1968 he opened Summit Medical Center to serve Ann Arbor's 'lower income' persons.

While the close 1974 primary between himself and John Reuther was being recounted, they campaigned together and have reportedly become close friends. Reuther won the nomination by 81 votes out of more than 40,000 cast.

Tax credits still available

Senior citizens and others who qualify for 1974 property tax credits but failed to claim them before the June 30, 1975 deadline may still obtain them.

This privilege is extended to any person who is an eligible paraplegic, quadriplegic, senior citizen, widow or blind person.

A bill the Legislature passed this summer extends the period for claiming refunds to two years after the end of the tax year.

Persons who need additional information or assistance can contact State Rep. Robert Geake (R-Northville), whose district includes most of Livonia, at Box 119, State Capitol, Lansing, 48901.

This Christmas, take time to remember them

Madonna to grant honors on Oct. 12

Honors for academic achievement will be granted Madonna College students during Community Day activities at the Livonia college, Sunday, Oct. 12, at 3 p.m.

Recognition will also be made of students named to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, and to those who have been awarded scholarships for the current school year. Certificates will be presented to 44 students who completed the one-year child care training program.

Presentation of awards will take place after a performance by the Oakway Symphony of "Peter and the Commissar" by Allen Sherman, a comic spoof of "Peter and the Wolf." The orchestra is directed by Francesco diBlasi, a Madonna faculty member, and will be augmented by the Livonia Civic Ballet.

A message of welcome will be extended to participants and their guests by Sr. Mary Danatha, Madonna president, and the Rev. William Allen, campus chaplain, will give the invocation.

Academic awards to 136 students will be announced by Sr. Mary Francilene, dean, and the director of financial aid, Chris M. Ziegler, will announce scholarship recipients. Sr. Danatha will present the child care certificates.

The program has been arranged by Sr. Mary Emeline, director of student development.

County sets budget hearing Oct. 14

A public hearing on the proposed Wayne County budget for next year will be held Tuesday, Oct. 14, by the County Board of Commissioners.

The hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in Conference Room A on the seventh floor of the City-County Building, Detroit. The session will be a meeting of the ways and means committee which consists of all 27 commissioners.

Subject of the hearing will be the $331.6 million general fund budget recommended to the Board of Commissioners by the three-member County Board of Auditors.

Predicting a $3.1 million budget deficit for this year, the auditors have recommended a general belt-tightening plus elimination of a number of programs. These are programs established with now-expiring federal grants and which the county is not required to provide by the state.

The commissioners' own fiscal advisor has estimated that revenues actually will fall $10 million short of needs in the fiscal year beginning Dec. 1.

The board of auditors recommended 10 programs be eliminated. These include (with the savings that would be realizes in parentheses): Organized Crime Task Force ($540,000), Consumer Protection Agency ($296,000), Sheriff's township patrols ($565,000), and Sheriff's helicopter patrols ($207,000).

Navy celebrates

J. William Middendorf III, secretary of the Navy, will be guest of honor at a dinner celebrating the Navy's 200th birthday. Sponsored by the Metropolitan Detroit and Oakland County Councils of the Navy League of the United States, the Oct. 10 dinner in the Raleigh House, Southfield, is open to the public. Tickets are available from C.L. MacDonald at First Federal Savings of Oakland, 761 W. Huron, Pontiac.

Young, McNamara play to their local voters

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

Last week's words of wisdom concerned the hope that Detroit and the suburbs could work out a win/win model of resolving their differences rather than a win/lose battle. It was coupled with the pessimistic observation that this was not likely to happen as long as the object of city/suburb encounters was the mystical notion of control.

The very day that column was published, Detroit Mayor Coleman Young upped and fired Livonia's Mayor Edward McNamara from his seat on the Detroit Water Board, thereby providing the only instance in my memory of a public figure illustrating the point of my column before the paper was even delivered.

It sounds amusing, but the facts of the matter are not.

Young and McNamara are both capable, tough politicians, trying their best both to represent their separate constituencies and to provide a vital service to the wider public of the region served by Detroit water. Neither man is bigoted, yet neither could maneuver his relationship away from the win/lose conflict model.

LISTENING to what the principals in the dispute are saying about the other is like listening to musical counterpoint, with suspicion and conflict the themes of the piece.

Young: "Mayor McNamara has been a leader in trying to pit the suburbs against Detroit, and dividing the long standing unity between us."

McNamara: "Two weeks after Mayor Young told a meeting of suburban leaders there would be no water rate increase, he held a private meeting with Detroit Water Board members to decide an increase, and then the Detroit members of the board rammed it through after the suburban members left."

Young charges that McNamara, far from being ripped off by water rates, is in fact buying water at wholesale for 10 cents a gallon and re—selling it for 40 cents a gallon. He adds that Detroit has sunk millions of dollars in capital facilities for the water system, dollars that are in effect a gift to the suburbs.

McNamara alleges that Young's Water Board is hiding millions of dollars in unnecessary fees and costs in the system's books and that Detroit is trying to solve its budgetary problems by ripping off the suburbs on water rates.

BOTH ACCUSE the other of playing politics.

Young's people say that McNamara is raising the city/suburb issue over water rates to help his candidacy for Congress and to get his name better known outside his own city.

McNamara's people charge that Young plans to run again in two years and wants to get a sewerage rate-increase through now, well in advance of the election, as well as to look like a hero in balancing Detroit's stretched budget.

(Cynics on this newspaper speculate that Young in fact has cut a deal with McNamara to help give him lots of ink just now in return for McNamara's silence on Young's rate increase when it happens.)

Young's people add that McNamara was fired because he was not playing the game straight; he brought his own city auditors in to see the Water Board's books, they charge, and then he turned around and rapped the board and Young.

McNamara's people claim that the Livonia number men never saw all the numbers; the Water Board is just a pawn of Young and his instinct for survival, they add.

AND SO ON. And so on.

And so's your old man.

Westland's Mayor Eugene McKinney, a friend and ally of McNamara, offered an interpretation of the dispute which gets to the heart of it: "When Young talks about suburban cooperation, he wants everything in his own terms. The suburbs want to get along with Detroit, but we want to have some say in what's going on."

That's the suburban view; there's no doubt that Young would look at it in the exact opposite way.

Young and McNamara both have their own constituencies, diverse and requiring their own representation and political stroking. And when the object of an encounter is control, and the subject is two politicians with separate contituencies, the inevitable result is conflict.

Strict theory says the only way to resolve that problem is to create one constituency—i.e. a regional one—that both Young and McNamara could relate to. But both men would fight that well before they would fight with each other.

Eccentricities

Jimmy's good for business

During the investigation of the disappearance of Jimmy Hoffa some interesting things have been uncovered.

It seems that there was a farmer out in Waterford Township who decided to put some property into cultivation, but it had a lot of trees and rocks on it, and it would have been very expensive for him to clear the land.

So, he got a bright idea and called a senator in Washington, claiming that Hoffa was buried on the land.

Immediately, the state attorney general and the state police brought out all sorts of equipment and cleared and cultivated his land for him.

IN THE MEANTIME, several restaurant owners around town, who apparently were jealous because the restaurant from which Hoffa supposedly disappeared had been getting so much publicity, began calling in tips. Most of the tips indicated that Hoffa had been seen around their establishment on the day of his disappearance.

There was one who slyly insinuated that his restaurant had a huge trash compactor that was accessible from the private dining rooms and suggested that it was very possibly the way Hoffa had disappeared.

THERE WAS a young man who had lost a $500 bill behind the back seat of his car. He didn't want to go to the expense of ripping up his car to get the bill out, so he passed a tip that this was the car which had been used to transport Hoffa. The federal authorities did the work for him, finding the money when they took the car apart.

The salmon industry on the west coast decided that they had to go into a midwest promotion because the Coho salmon was taking their business away from them. Someone in the organization got the idea of shipping a 40-pound salmon to the metropolitan Detroit area, because this size fish is much larger than any of the Coho being caught around here.

They allegedly timed the shipment so that the fish could be discovered during the Hoffa disappearance.

THEN THERE was a man who had a limousine service which wasn't doing as much business as he wanted. He notified the authorities that Hoffa had dropped in to visit his establishment before going to his appointment for lunch. This allowed the whole wide world to know that he was, in fact, in the limousine rental business.

When the publicity died down after a couple of days, he rekindled it by announcing that his memory had been faulty and that Hoffa actually called him on the afternoon of his disappearance an hour later than he had originally said, which then got the business back into the spotlight.

The investigation will continue because we have not uncovered in its totality all of the businesses that have profited from this newsworthy occurrance.

Rich can live with disclosure law

By TIM RICHARD

It depends on whose ox is gored.

A candidate for the local city council distributes a brochure with a picture of his wife and brood of kids, the purpose being to depict him as a solid family man.

In 1974 the favorite campaign gimmick, when you were broke, jobless and had no contributions, was to make a big show of revealing your finances and challenging your opponent to do the same. Livonians are already tired of that one.

On the other hand, there's the Southfield City Planning Commission, whose members threaten to resign en masse if they are forced, under a new state law, to reveal their and their immediate families' sources of income, property holdings, creditors and gifts.

The Southfield planners are the latest in a list of serious persons who fear that rich but honest folks (there are such people, you know) will be hounded out of public service by having to reveal so much of what they consider private matters.

They're not alone. A judicial figure from the Birmingham area fears being the target of robbers if his finances become public information.

BE CALM, advises State Rep. Joe Forbes (D-Oak Park), himself a liberal, a businessman, a long-time politician and a level-headed guy in general.

Forbes speaks with some expertise. He was a prime sponsor of HB 5250, the so-called Campaign Reform Act that embodies many of ideas of Common Cause.

Forbes has two answers: "No dollar amounts are required to be reported." And: "The fear that good people will leave public service because of the financial disclosure provision hasn't proven to be the case in other states."

To the argument that school trustees (among others) serve for token salaries or none at all, Forbes replies: "They are involved in major decisions on property purchases and awarding contracts. . ."

Why must family members' financial sources be disclosed— especially when (say) a father actually disapproves of his son's principles? We all know the answer to that one: it's too easy to disguise ownership by putting something in a spouse's name.

THE LAW would apply, locally, to judges, county board members, county executives, mayors, city managers, councilmen, planning and zoning board members, township board members, village council members, sheriffs, elected constables and appointed members of college governing boards.

They would be required to reveal:

- Business interests where one is a partner, director, officer, stockholder of more than $1,000 or five per cent equity, or employe.
- The identity and nature of a business from which they received $1,000 or more income (except for confidential relationships—e.g., attorneys, psychiatrists).
- Real estate holdings worth $1,000 or more (including nature, location and size).
- Creditors to whom they owe $1,000 or more (except for retail installment credit, loans from financial institutions or loans from relatives).
- Security given for debts and terms of repayment (this would be kept confidential).
- Names and addresses of persons from whom one received a gift of $100 or more and the circumstances of the gift.

Again, the bill requires only sources, not dollar amounts.

FOR CENTURIES civilized governments had laws restricting the holding of public office to the nobility or property owners.

Today the pendulum may be swinging in the opposite direction: profit and property are such dirty words politically that we run the risk of government by the poor and inept, for the poor and inept.

Whatever discomfort the disclosure law causes, however, it must be remembered that the public is entitled to confidence in government officials; that many abuses have been uncovered; and that many other abuses are known but can't be reported because what is known can't be formally proven.

Perhaps State Rep. John Markes (D-Westland), a former city councilman before going to the Legislature, summed it up best:

"Although the bill is a compromise between what Common Cause originally had wanted and what elected officials would prefer, it still has great merit and, as approved, probably will be the most far-reaching reform measure in the country. . .The measure not only can benefit the residents of this state, but can serve as a model of reform for the rest of the nation."

Sense And Nonsense

The chief national officer of Daughters of the American Revolution has a more exalted title than Jerry Ford.

Mrs. Wakelee Rawson Smith is "president general" of the national society.

Well, maybe she deserves the extra verbiage. The American Revolution, which began in 1776, is 11 years older than the Constitution which established Washington's and Ford's jobs.

Why are retarded nameless?

Editor:

I am writing to protest a matter of policy I have observed over the years in your newspaper. I am referring to the fact that whenever a photo of a mentally retarded person appears in your newspaper, this person is never given the distinction of being named.

For instance, an excellent article was printed a couple of weeks ago on the new facilities at Ashcroft School (in Redford), complete with photos. None of these children was given the honor of having their names printed in the paper.

However, last week, an article with pictures of "normal" children was printed, and they were named.

I am the mother of a retarded child who once had his picture on the front page of the Observer, but he was not named. I resented this at the time because I wanted everyone to know he was my child.

Possibly you feel that parents would not want their special children identified for the world to know, but this is archaic thinking. We are proud of our children, and I do not want to take away their identities and personalities.

By not identifying MR citizens, you are helping to further the old thinking that they are second-class citizens. I hope you will seriously consider changing this policy in the future.

Your newspaper will be improved, and you will win the respect of those of us blessed with a very "special" person.

SYLVIA J. KLOC, Redford

EDITOR'S NOTE: Observer & Eccentric policy is to publish names of identifiable persons. The institutions for the MR, however, tell us that only those children may be photographed and identified whose parents have sighed a "release" form. To us, a kid is a kid. Retardation is neither a crime nor a cause of shame. Unfortunately, many parents don't share Mrs. Kloc's and our point of view.

Governor needed more than ever

Editor:

I was glad to hear Gov. Milliken say he would not run for any other office in '76, for the way things are today we need him more than ever. He has been honest with us and has done many good things for Michigan. The senior citizens thank him for the property tax refund which was a great help to us.

I had the pleasure of meeting him in Livonia. After he left, the group all passed the same remark—that he was one of the best governors Michigan has ever had, and most of all, he is a gentleman.

Thank you, Gov. Milliken.

Flower boosters deserve thanks

Editor:

On behalf of the Livonia Garden Club, I would like to publicly thank the City of Livonia, the Historical Society of Livonia, the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, their photographer and Margaret Miller for helping to make our first flower show such a tremendous success.

Also, many thanks to all the people who took the time to visit our show and last but not least, the Livonia DPW for its swift action on our request to improve driveway and parking conditions.

Ready in November

Weldon Clark (left), owner of 1st United Weldon Clark Realtors, discusses construction of his firm's new office at Five Mile at Foch in Livonia with Ronald Fron, company general manager, and Edward Orr, builder. The new building, of early American design, will replace the present office where the firm has operated for more than 10 years. Occupancy is expected by the end of November. Clark, active in Livonia real estate for 20 years, is president of 1st United Realty, a franchise group of eight offices.

County civil service comes under scrutiny

Wayne County commissioners have authorized a special compliance and review committee to examine the hiring, promotional, and job transfer procedures of the civil service system.

The board decided Oct. 2 to establish the committee for a 90-day period, when it would hold public hearings and solicit testimony from employes and citizens.

Committee members will be drawn from each of the board's five standing committees, the labor relations board, and the board of institutions, which is governing body of the County General Hospital.

Criticism from the National Civil Service League, which studies government personnel practices, spurred formation of the committee, after calling the Wayne County system inefficient, fragmented and unfair to both employes and taxpayers.

"In virtually every major function, the personnel system fails to meet general standards of acceptance and effectiveness," the league's report said when it was released in May 1972, after a six-month study.

The county's three-member civil service commission "is almost universally distrusted" by county administrators and officials, employes, unions and job applicants, the report said.

Further, the report continues, "the personnel system is generally perceived as uncoordinated and confused. The lack of credibility of the civil service commission creates conflict with nearly every agency with which it has to deal."

The league study began at the request of the County Board of Commissioners, and corrective recommendations in the league's report were endorsed by the commissioners in December 1972.

The committee will review the examination, promotional and job transfer procedures and other past and present employment policies mentioned in the league study.

Recommendations on the committee findings will be reported to both the board of commissioners and the State Legislature because some of the league's recommendations cannot be implemented without changes in state law.

The public hearings, which will be held days and evenings in various parts of the county, are an important aspect of the committee assignment.

The commissioners' resolution provides for protection against retribution because of any testimony. Part of the resolution reads:

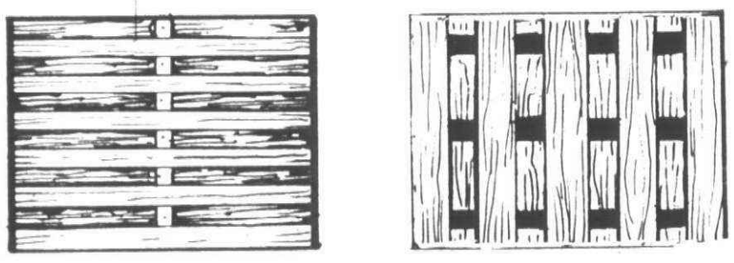

"Employes and the citizens will be granted complete immunity from any harmful administrative action that could be taken, and testimony taken will not in any way become a part of an employe's personnel record, or be used against any citizen upon application for employment with Wayne County."

Quartet from Colombia fills house and heart for Redford couple

By MARGARET MILLER

Life is a lot different for six people and five dogs since a memorable evening just two weeks ago when Ray and Mary Rodriguez of Redford Township drove to Metropolitan airport.

They were a childless couple when they headed for the airport, and they came home the parents of two sons and two daughters, ranging in age from 7 to 13.

The four dark-haired, Spanish-speaking children who flew in from Bogota, Colombia, by way of Miami, went home with new American parents and new American names.

And as for Fritzie, Heidi, Gretchen, Pebbles and Sausage, they've had their placid dachshund world enlivened by four new playmates and they're wiggling with excitement most of the time.

IT'S LESS than six months since Ray and Mary Rodriguez first considered an adoption through Colombian-American Friends, Ind., but already their new family is at home in the pleasant ranch house that used to be largely dachshund domain.

Christopher Ray, 13; Michael James, 12, Rhonda Kay, 9 and Rayanne Marie, 7, are busy getting acquainted with relatives and shopping centers, learning English and teaching Spanish and even beginning classes in the Fisher school in the South Redford district.

The story of this remarkable adoption begins, really, with a story March 31 in the Observer & Eccentric telling about Michael and Marilyn Clayton of Livonia and Paulina Joy, the tiny daughter they had just adopted through the CAF agency.

MRS. RODRIGUEZ' mother, Mrs. Fay Gould of Redford Township, saw the story and showed it to her daughter because the Rodriguez couple had been considering adoption.

"Agencies in Michigan wouldn't even take our names unless we would accept a handicapped child," Mary Rodriguez said, "so we thought it would be worthwhile to check into Colombian-American Friends."

Mary took time out from her dachshund-raising to call the Claytons and then write to the organization in Bogata.

"We said we would take an older child, and we started going to the meetings of CAF parents and prospective parents," she went on.

AT ONE of those meetings Mary and Ray saw the picture of four lively youngsters whose mother was nearly blind, impoverished and deserted by her husband.

The children were in foster homes at the time. Ray and Mary learned. Their mother hated to give them up, but she couldn't care for them and she had agreed to adoption if they could stay together.

The Rodriguezes looked at the pictures and thought about their plans to adopt one child. They didn't have to think long.

"We said we would take all four," Mary related.

THEN BEGAN what turned out to be one of the agency's fastest investigating jobs.

"They did our home study in three weeks," Mary said. "No one believed things could move so quickly.

Letters flew back and forth between Bogata and Redford Township. Pictures were sent, too. The American couple began to learn a little more about the personalities of their new clan, and, at the children's request, they selected American names.

And then, on Sept. 26, came the ride to the airport.

"That was a night to remember," Mary recalled later.

"We'd had several disappointments, so we didn't tell ANYBODY, not even our families, what we were doing.

"So as it worked out, when we got the call to go to the airport, it was the evening we were hosting a road rally party for our church, Temple Baptist.

"There were about 60 people coming to the house, but we told them to make themselves at home and we'd be back in a little while."

AT THE AIRPORT, the plane was on time and everything else went well.

The pictures that had gone before served well, and everyone recognized everyone else immediately. "The children ran right up shouting 'Mama, Papa,' and they came hugging us right away," Mary said.

Then the ride home, with everyone talking at once in English and Spanish, and the shock-producing introduction of the new family.

"I think the children still think all those people who were at the house that night are relatives," Mary laughs.

BUT IN THE two weeks since then, communications have advanced a lot.

Ground rules have been established at home. There have been visits to real relatives and getting acquainted with new cousins, and chances to go to church.

For the children, it's been a kalaidescope of new experiences, shopping for clothes, pushing carts down the supermarket aisles, clowns at the circus, enjoying American food, especially chicken.

And this week came the first day at school. The children were put in four separate classes and the Fisher staff is making ready for some very special teaching. "They started off very well and seem to like it," reported Principal Frank Block. "We may have to make some adjustments of class assignments after they learn the language better, but the've made a good start."

ON THE HOME FRONT, the young parents are dealing with their new situation one incident at a time.

"Really, our only problems seem to be with communication," Mary said. "It's hard to know how to discipline when you get two stories in Spanish and can't really understand either one of them.

"But that will work out as we learn each other's languages. The children are loving and affectionate, and they are very polite and have been well brought up by their mother. We plan to keep in touch with her."

Mary and Ray are sure they wouldn't go back to having a guest room and a sewing room. Fritzie, Heidi, Gretchen, Pebbles and Sausage aren't about to return to life without romping companions.

And as for Christopher, Michael, Rhonda and Rayanne, you need only to look at four smiles to feel sure life in Redford is "mucho" to their liking.

Rhonda is "papa's girl."

Who can you talk to if your child's retarded?

Parents who have gone through the heartbreak of accepting that a child is retarded will join with a physician and an educator who understand the problem in an open forum on retardation tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

The discussion will be presented by the Western Wayne Association for Retarded Citizens, which is beginning a counseling service for parents of children diagnosed as retarded. The hospital is located at 33155 Annapolis, at the corner of Venoy.

Carol Butzow of Westland, who with her husband, Greg, is heading the association's new counseling service, said the purpose of the forum is "to introduce ourselves as a service available to parents who have recently been informed they have a retarded child.

SPEAKERS WILL BE Dr. Ernesto Ledesma, Garden City pediatrician, and Liz Cromwell, special education supervisor in the Wayne-Westland school district.

Joining them in a question and answer session will be the Greg Butzow and Mrs. Mary Ingalls, both parents of retarded children.

Mrs. Butzow said that when her son was born three and a half years ago "I suspected something was wrong because of a couple of looks I caught in the delivery room."

But it was quite a while before she and her husband could get definite information that the problem was Down's Syndrome, or mongolism, she said, and added:

"Then I felt I was not told as I should have been."

She said they struggled alone with their problem for about a year while tests were being made and "then we asked if there was someone we could talk to."

That was when they joined the Western Wayne association.

"After that things were better," she said.

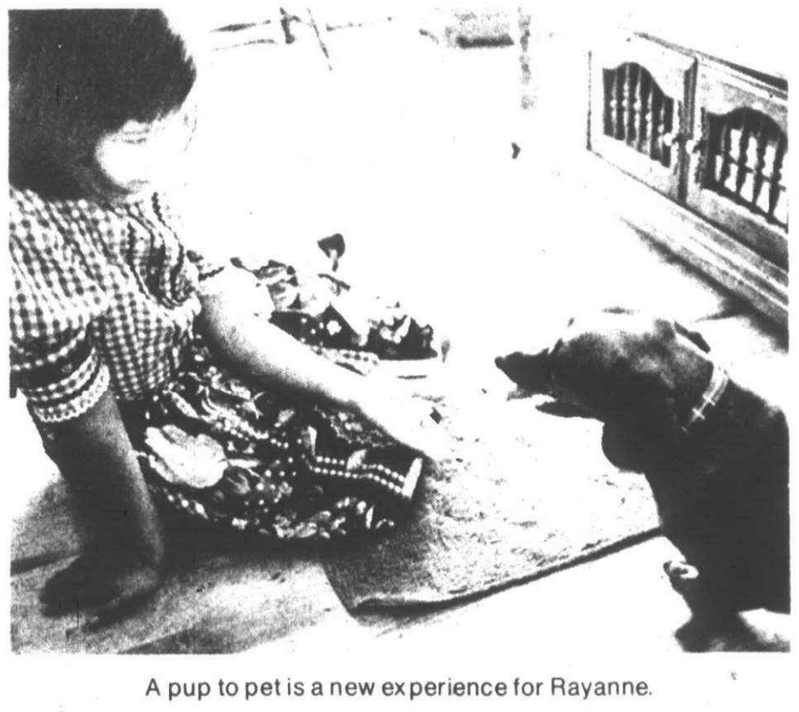

BESIDES SPONSORING the forum, the association distributes pamphlets telling of its counseling service in offices of area pediatricians.

Members ready to talk to parents who need a sympathetic ear or information are Mr. and Mrs. Butzow, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ingalls of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. James Weeks of Garden City, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowden of Westland, Mr. and Mrs. William Marciniak of Wayne and Mrs. Marianne McHugh of Wayne.

The association covers the areas of Wayne, Westland and Garden City. Another branch of the organization, the Northwest Communities Association for Retarded Citizens, offers a similar counseling service.

Town Hall tickets still available

Tickets to the series of four celebrity lectures sponsored by the Livonia Town Hall are still available.

Scheduled to kick off the series is Lynda Johnson Robb, who will speak on life in the White House during the administration of her father, President Lyndon Johnson.

Her lecture will be Wednesday, Oct. 15, at 10:30 a.m. in the Mai Kai Theater, Livonia.

Mrs. Robb will be followed by film critic Rex Reed on Nov. 19, and Dr. Barbara Brown, who will discuss on Nov. 19 the method by which man can help to control his own biological and mental functions.

Phyllis Kepler will come to Livonia March 17 to tell about her world travels.

FUNDS FROM the lecture series are used to support the American Field Service in its efforts to send American students abroad and to bring foreign students to this country.

One of the students from a foreign country attending school in Livonia is Alison Mary Telford. Ordinarily, she would be attending classes in Cheshire, England, but instead she is enrolled at Bentley High School, and living with the Kenneth Brown family.

Another student in Livonia from a distant land is Per-goran Carlsson from Sweden, also studying at Bentley. She is living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Briggs.

Studying at Stevenson High School is Serja Kirsi Ruhkanen of Finland, who is residing with Mr. and Mrs. Merle Weiss.

The only Livonia student abroad this school year is Debbie Zold, who exchanged classes in Stevenson for classes at a Japanese School.

Livonians who were abroad last summer under AFS auspices are Barbara Clark, who went to Norway, and Mike McChesney, who visited Ghana, West Africa. Both attend Bentley.

Churchill students going overseas during the summer include Stanley Hills, a visitor to Germany, and Chuck Lindstrom, who journeyed to Italy.

SEASON TICKETS for the lecture series which funds this international student program may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Richard Dahler, 32284 Allen. They will also be available at the door of the Mai Kai on the day of the lecture.

Tickets for the celebrity luncheon, held following the lecture in Mayflower Meeting House, may be purchased individually at $4 per lunch or $16 for the season.

For lunch tickets contact Mrs. Dale Flohr of 15954 Edgewood.

New 'financial rights' are coming soon for women

By JANAN GHANNAM

Speaking on the role of women in finance, at the Schoolcraft College sponsored International Women's Year conference, was a panel of four women who broke the barriers of the world of money.

Dorothy Knecht, assistant treasurer of Plymouth Community Credit Union, moderated the discussion.

"With the new Equal Credit Opportunity Act coming into effect Oct. 28, women should become aware of their new financial rights," Ms. Knecht said.

This landmark act, she said, will back up recently enacted laws in several states. These prohibit discrimination against women who apply for credit.

Mary Perna, Canton branch manager of Security Bank and Trust, stated that women should avoid "economic ignorance."

"Most women don't know of their husband's financial affairs, insurances, or even how much they are worth," Ms. Perna said.

THE INEQUITIES of social security, especially under divorce laws, was a hot issue among the women in the audience.

Several said they found through experience that due to sex discrimination they suffer more financially than their husbands do.

When asked if any discrimination was encountered from their male colleagues, Irene Lyke, manager of Plymouth First Federal Savings and Loan office, said that 20 years ago a woman would have never reached her position.

But she said she still finds some discrimination.

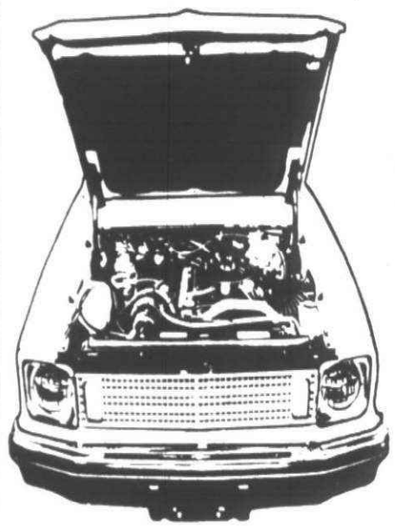

"After 17 years," she said, "there have only been three women managers in 36 offices and only three women have reached the position of vice-president."

Leone Todd, stockbroker for the E.F. Hutton Co. in Ann Arbor, said that when she started her job, she was the only woman stockbroker among 100 men.

"That no longer is true," Ms. Todd said, "The field is very receptive to women now."

The panel agreed that with 65 per cent of the nation's wealth controlled by women, it makes sense that women rid themselves of "economic ignorance" and start looking out for their financial well-being.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

When the Stroh team rolled its 3526 series last week in the Bonanza Classic at Orchard Lanes it sent a lot of folks scurrying to the record books to learn if the total was high water mark in the metropolitan area.

While it is high for the current season it still is below the 3671 count the Stroh team rolled on Nov. 9, 1971. It is the third year that Stroh compiled a series above 3500 early in the season. Last year the 3519 rolled the first week in the now defunct Michigan Open, stood up for the entire season and earned the Detroiters a high place on the national honor roll.

The most famous of all Stroh performances, however, was in a match with the old time Pfeiffers team when the Beavers rolled a 3562 and lost by two pins.

The match came in the Michigan Major Classic and stands as one of the greatest battles ever waged on Detroit lanes.

IT WAS BOUND TO HAPPEN. And this week it did. The All-Star girls finally found the range in the Bowlerettes at Motor Lanes and set high marks for the season.

Kathy Springs, one of the younger members, fired a 244 in 651 and paced the Jac-Ro team to a 3026 series on games of 974, 1082 and 970.

High honors for the night, however, went to Rene Curtis with 265 and Gerry Ritter turned in a 243.

BOB VANVALKENBERG drew another frown from Lady Luck this week at Merri-Bowl. He fashioned a 243 and was on his way to a 700 series when he chopped the No. 2 off the No. 5 and had to settle for a 693.

The previous week he had a 276 middle game only to falter in the final and settled for 693.

Bill Bose Jr. also turned in two fine performances in separate leagues. He had a 254 in 655 as the Junior House League opened the season and a 253 in 615 to help the Odds and Ends loop start its campaign.

Among other peak performances John Kroll had games of 224, 233 and 234 for 691, while Bill Griffith had a 276 in 615 and Fran Anderson fired a 242 in the ladies league.

ONLY SEVEN bowlers bettered double century figures in the classic at Garden Lanes.

When the firing stopped Ray Thorpe was out in front with 657. Behind him, in order, came Kirk Dinoian with 642 and Milan Rulich with 641. The others were Harvey Wilson with 626, Chuck Norman with 612, Don Radtke with 606 and Jim Maai with 600.

In other skirmishes Frank Kindra showed the way in St. Norbert's league with a 634 and Mary Albers paced the women's classic with a 592.

JAY DISHONG returned to the winners circle in the senior house league at Westland with a 627 that included games of 220, 228 and 179. His nearest rival was Don Emmett with a 612.

MILLIE BERTATT won a place in the bowling records at Plymouth Bowl when she converted the "impossible" 7-10 split. And she still doesn't know how she did it.

Judy Schneid also took a share of the honors with a 255 in 509 in the Thursday league and Enoch Wacker lead the seniors parade with a 213 in a 544 series.

DARLENE MARROW had good reason to celebrate at Livonia Lanes. She took top honors in the ladies classic with 598-45-643.

This included high singles of 197-15--212 and 211-15--226. The odd game went to Gerry Zande with a 200-43--243.

THE SPLIT CONVERSION CLUB was active again at Mayflower Lanes. Mary Hayes started it by converting the 4-7-10 and Eleanor Trombley followed with a 3-6-7 conversion while Tony Kazlakian toppled the 2-7-10.

In the actual scoring competition Judy Parker showed the way for the ladies with 588 and Maisie Krause placed her name high on the honor roll with a 134 triplicate.

JAN VANDERWILL regained her winning ways at Farmington Lanes with a 213 in 582 that paced the ladies classic. Her closest rival was Jan Schoenberg with a 222 in 557.

In the Thursday mixed league Karl Krueger was the big gun with 224 in 640 and Ted Gulaszewski showed the way in the junior house loop with a 246 in 631.

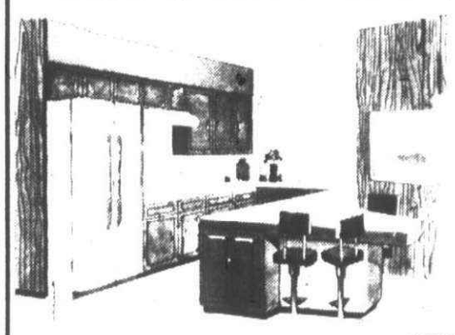

AFTER A POOR START of 136 Barb Rowe added games of 236 and 222 for a 594 to take top honors in the Forest Park league at Country Lanes.

Meanwhile Carol Caulla, a 110 average bowler, surprised all concerned with a 230 game. And Bobby Gooding, a 180 average bowler, continued her torrid pace with games of 223, 131 and 213 for 567 in the Greenfield circuit.

When it comes to unusual performances, Bob and Jean Dembeck would be difficult to beat.

Bowling in the Thursday mixed classic at Farmington Lanes Bob turned in a 222 in 608 and Jean, his wife, followed right along with a 222 in 604 in Ladies Classic.

Soprano highlights symphony program

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will open its 30th season with a substitute conductor Sunday, Oct. 12 at 4 p.m. in the Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium, Joy Road west of Canton Center Road.

Emil Raab, an accomplished violinist and faculty member at Bowling Green State University in Ohio, will fill in for Wayne Dunlap, who is recuperating from a heart attack. Dunlap expects to return to the podium in December to resume his 25th season at the helm.

Raab and the 90-member orchestra will be joined by mezzo-soprano Leslie Eitzen in "Les Nutis d'Ete" ("Summer Night"), a collection of songs by Hector Berlioz.

Mrs. Eitzen, who holds degrees from the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia and the University of Iowa, has served on the faculty at Schoolcraft College and the University of Michigan. She has performed "Noah's Flood" with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and other works with the Michigan Opera Association.

Being heard for the first time in Plymouth will be Randall Thompson's Symphony No. 2. Thompson, an American, composed it in 1931, and Dunlap calls it "a substantial work. It's a shame we wait until a bicentennial year to do it."

In the centennial year of Maurice Ravel's birth, the orchestra will be heard in the second suite from his ballet "Daphnis and Chloe," a pastoral love story that ends in a joyous tumultuous dance.

A second American composer on the program will be Robert Ward, who wrote his "Jubliation" overture during the naval campaigns Leyte and Okinawa in World War II when he was a band leader.

Guest conductor Raab directed the Plymouth Symphony in 1953-54, when Dunlap was studying in Vienna on a Fulbright Scholarship. He has taught at the University of Michigan, where he was a member of the Stanley Quartet. Raab has conducted the Ann Arbor and Jackson symphony orchestras.

Raab is affiliated with the Brevard Music Center in North Carolina, where he serves as concertmaster of the Brevard Music Center Orchestra, head of the stringed instrument division, and conductor of the Transylvania Symphony Orchestra.

Tickets for Sunday's concert are $3.50 for adults and $1.75 for senior citizens, and are available at the door. Students are admitted free. Girl Scouts will babysit free with children ages three to five. During intermission, women of the Plymouth Symphony League will serve coffee.

Marionettes perform in Wiggle Club opener

Television's famed Bob Brown Marionettes of "Mr. Rodgers Neighborhood" open the second annual Wiggle Club series of the Detroit Institute of Arts Youtheater Satruday, Oct. 18.

The performance, suggested for youngsters ages three to eight, is offered at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the institute.

The variety show, "Thw World on a String," features a collage of puppets—hand, rod, string and shadow.

Inspired by Youtheater Director Mickey Miner's pre-show warmups, the Wiggle Club provides a series of programs selected for "first-timers." The hour long show is composed of three to four 20-minute segments designed to hold the attention of youngsters under five years old.

Wiggle Club memberships and guest passes are $6.25 each for five shows. General admission tickets for all Youtheater shows are $1.75, groups of 10 or more are $1.25 each.

MOT's 'Porgy' demonstrates talent

By PATRICIA BEACH SMITH

"It only takes $1.50 to change a woman to a lady," said the lawyer in "Porgy and Bess," but it'll take more than $1.50 to make a lady out of the Michigan Opera Theatre's production of Gershwin's classic.

The MOT opened its '75-'76 season with this ambitious project. From the outset, it appeared that the director, Ella Gerber, was worried about the ability of her cast members.

As a result they appeared overdressed and over staged in most scenes. Only in spots where they could give rein to natural acting instincts did the production reach a full measure of sincerity.

This overabundance of staging — every gesture must have been assigned — gave the singers a self-conscious aura, something which did not add to the opening night jitters of some.

Despite these drawbacks, however, the production is filled with genuine emotion and some remarkable talent.

LEONA MITCHELL is a talented actress as well as a marvelous singer. She was in step all the way, especially with her co-star Robert Mosley.

Mosley is absolutely what a Porgy should be. This piece of casting is right on the money.

Show stoppers (although Detroit audiences don't know yet what to do with them) were also a part of this production.

The picnic scene was especially indicative of show-stopping technique well executed. The divorce scene, during which Porgy buys Bess a "divorce" from the evil Crown, was well done by C. Cass Hudson in the role of lawyer Frazier.

"Rollin,' Rollin,' Rollin' " and "Can't Sit Down" were also very enjoyable and well-done episodes.

BERNADINE L. Oakley sang her "Summertime" warmly, without affectedness, and Bess returned the compliment later in the action.

Sporting Life was better danced than sung by Robert Monroe.

The orchestra was entirely too loud during a great deal of the production and many times coordination was weak between the stage and the pit.

The first trumpet wailed away to the consternation of this reviewer and the percussion section was also distractingly loud. In general the accompaniment sounded more like early Charleston brothel than Catfish Row.

There were too many obvious attempts at stylization, like the complete color changes from one scene to another. After the second of these, the notion became hackneyed.

THE USE OF tableaus was effective, however, and an interesting touch. Less predictable blocking might have made the production more intriguing.

Emotionally, one can only react to "Porgy and Bess" positively. It is filled with idiomatic American music. The ragtime is there; so is the jazz. It is a fitting musical start to a bicentennial season and one which should be appreciated by many.

Perhaps the most amazing thing about the MOT's production is that it utilizes so many talented Detroiters who should be well praised for their efforts as a chorus and individual characters in an exceedingly difficult production.

Northville Charley's

A pleasant change among Muer offerings

By WYLIE GERDES

If you're dining in one of the booths at the new Northville Charley's restaurant, don't be surprised if a fellow customers leans over your table to have a closer look at what's hanging on the wall.

The restaurant, on Seven Mile west of Haggerty in Northville, features among its decorative items pictures of the graduating classes of Northville High School.

The lastest addition to Chuck Muer's growing family of restaurants won't remind diners of the Gandy Dancer or Charley's Crab restaurants which have popularized Muer's operations.

Northville Charley's is a new "tavern concept" which the Muer group has been thinking about for three years, said Bill Kruse, division manager for C.A. Muer Corp. Northville Charley's is the first of the taverns in the Detroit area.

Decor of the restaurants will be based on the geographic location. Moderate prices aimed at attracting the same customers serveral times a week rather than on special occasions is the basic idea.

The Northville class pictures (on loan from the Northville Historical Society), caribou antlers and assorted other local color highlight the decor of Northville Charley's. Top price among the 15 items on the combination luncheon-dinner menu is $6.95 for steak, but King crab costs $5.25.

Northville Charley's will operate continuously, also a change from other Muer restaurants which usually close between lunch and dinner time.

Hours are 11:30 a.m. to 1 a.m. Monday through Thursday, noon to 2 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and noon to 10 p.m. Sunday.

A giant television screen will be part of the promotional campaign for the restaurant, Kruse said. The inevitable sports events will be shown, but with extra atttractions for companions of sports fans. During sporting events, the restaurant will be selling hot dogs from vendor equipment, just like at Cobo Arena.

In addition to catching the big football game on the big screen, patrons also might see "The Ghoul" or an old movie if they happen by the restaurant early one morning.

Kruse has hordes of other local promotions planned, including a special beer night with a chance to get "mugged," a letter sweater night, and special nights for nurses and secretaries. The restaurant wants its name on the uniforms of local sports teams also.

Response so far, Kruse said, has been "beyond our expectations."

Manager is Tom Sechler, owner of the Charley's building when it was known as the Tack Room. Kitchen manager is Chuck Meyers, who also worked at the Tack Room. The restaurant employes about 70 persons.

SC presents 'Cuckoo's Nest'

Schoolcraft College student activities will present "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," at 8 p.m. Oct. 16 in Clarenceville High School Auditorium, 20155 Middle Belt Road, Livonia.

The novel was adapted for stage by Dale Wasserman, a dramatist who is best known for his musical version of the "Don Quixote" story "The Man of La Mancha," and the screen play for the movie "Cleopatra."

General admission tickets for the show are $5. Student tickets are $3.50. Tickets are now on sale in the student activities office in Waterman Campus Center.

Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty Road.

Garage sale to benefit fund

A bake sale will be held Saturday, Oct. 11 at the same address.

Saleable items can be dropped off after 3 p.m. Oct. 9 at the Boyton home. Contributions are needed, and can be sent to P.O. Box 2748, Livonia, 48151.

GLEN POLINSKI

The Redford Township Civic Symphony will open its 1975-76 season at 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 19, in Redford Union High School gym, Kinloch and Curtis roads.

The orchestra, under the direction of John Gajec, will perform the "Coriolan" Overture by Beethoven and Symphony No. 9 by Dvorak.

Joining the orchestra will be pianist Glen Polinski, winner of the Redford Civic Symphony's Young Artist's auditions. Glen will play Beethoven's piano concerto No. 2.

Glen, 17, a senior at Redford Union High School, has won several music awards. He received an Amity Music Club scholarship from the All-State program at Interlochen, and a Detroit Tuesday Musical scholarship for study at the University of Michigan's summer seminar for gifted high school pianists. He also is this year's alternate winner of the Southfield Symphony's Piano Concerto Competition.

In 1973, Glen won the Detroit Music Teachers' Association Junior Piano Competition and was named alternate winner at the state level.

Glen has received high honors for his performances in the Detroit Musicians League, state solo and ensemble festivals, and National Guild of Piano Teachers competition.

He had been studying piano since age six and plans to continue his musical training at the U-M as a performance major.

The orchestra's opening concert is free and sponsored by the Redford Township Music Society. Guests are invited to attend an afterglow following the performanee.

Co-sponsors of the afterglow are Mann Elementary School PTA, Marshall Junior High School Band Boosters, and Roosevelt Elementary School Mothers Club. Flower arrangements will be supplied by the Redford Township Garden Club.

Theater launches 'Sleuth'

"Sleuth," the Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford's first show of the 1975-76 season opens Friday, Oct. 10 in the Guild playhouse, 15138 Beech Daly Road in Redford Township.

The ingenious tale of skulduggery by Anthony Shaffer starred Anthonly Quayle and Keith Baxter in London and New York. Lawrence Olivier and Michael Caine appeared in the movie version. The Guild's stars are Howard Egan and Warren Reinecker, who have worked together onstage twice before in "The Lion in Winter" and "Two by Two." Unlike those shows, in both of which they played father and son, in "Sleuth" Egan and Reinecker are engaged in a deadly but amusing game.

Performances are scheduled for Oct. 10, 11, 17, 18, 19, 24 and 25. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. and 7:30 on Sundays. For reservations call Mrs. Gregory G. Nelson, 30472 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland.

Players set auditions

St. Bede's Players will audition major roles for its Gilbert & Sullivan production "The Gondoliers" Oct. 12 at 7 p.m. and Oct. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

Tryouts will be held in St. Bede Church Social Hall, Twelve Mile and Southfield Roads in Lathrup Village.

Nine major parts include five male voices, one bass, two baritone, and two tenor, and four female voices, one contralto, one alto and two soprano.

Candidates are encouraged to perform from the book of "The Gondoliers." Performance dates tentatively are set for May 20-23.

MACLD sets workshop

A workshop to train parents in their rights and responsibilities under Michigan's mandatory special education law will be conducted Saturday, Oct. 11 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Livonia Parks and Recreation office building (Pierson Elementary School), 32625 Seven Mile, Livonia.

The event is sponsored by the Livonia-Redford Chapter of the Michigan Association for Children With Learning Disabilities, which invites members of MACLD chapters in Farmington, Plymouth, Garden City and Wayne-Westland to share in the session.

"If you feel your child is having difficulty in school and his needs are not being answered, this workshop can help," said Mrs. Mary Messerschmidt, workshop organizer.

"This is true no matter what grade level your child has reached."

The workshop will be led by Fran King, one of the first parents to organize in the state in the area of learning disabilities. She is now state level parent advisor in the organization.

Participants are asked to bring a sack lunch. Coffeee will be furnished.

Cat and his bosses Bruce Guy (left) and John Allmand.

Everything done in one plant

BY SHERRY KAHAN

When Bruce Guy and John Allmand started making rubber and plastic products in their Livonia based Guyall Industries, one of their first staff members was a cat.

The homeless animal walked in one day, adopted the fledgling firm and quickly accepted such fringe benefits as food and shelter, to say nothing of the not exactly creative name, 'Cat.'

Frightened out of his wits by life on the wild side, Cat refuses to leave the building. He spends his days wandering past drawing boards in the second floor engineering department or keeping company with pattern makers.

LOCATED ON Levan Road, Guyall Industries is an offshoot of a sales organization called Allmand Associates, run before his death by John Allmand Sr., his son, John and Bruce Guy.

Deciding to manufacture the products they sold, the younger Allmand and Guy formed a partnership named after themselves, Guyall.

"Not many businesses can boast, as we can, that they do everything in one plant location—from the first drawing to the finished painted part," says Allmand, a Plymouth resident.

"We design and build our own models and patterns. We do our own die casting. We finish zinc molds, and we fabricate products from these molds."

WHAT ISSUES forth is a line of products used mainly by auto companies. However, recently the firm received an unusual request.

A boy in Ann Arbor's University Hospital needed special protective glasses following a cancer operation to remove his eye and the area around it.

"He had one of the men in the mold department cut a special mold to form a sheet made of a liquid form of urethane plastic," recalls Allmand.

"They wanted it opaque, rigig and strong enough to prevent injury to the boy's face.

"We heard about it Thursday. We fabricated the material and mailed it out on Friday."

WHILE NOT all the company's products meet such a dramatic need, they nonetheless have an important role in today's world.

When Guyall sets its machinery in motion, out come auto grills, bumper strips or stone deflector shields for auto bumpers.

Or maybe the product will be a filter for a helicopter's air intake system, or the plastic dashboard section for the Bricklin car.

"We are involved mostly in the automotive prototype business," says Guy, who lives in Farmington Hills. "We make initial experimental parts that automotive companies use to test for what eventually will be the car they put in production.

"We use our creativity designing parts and applying existing methods in a new way to make a new part. Essentially, what we do to produce our products is to heat plastic and squirt it into a cold mold."

THIS MAY sound simple, but it takes a formidable machine— the Van Dorn 700 (tons of pressure) plastic injection press— and 25-50 employes to do it.

"Let's say an auto company wanted a sight shield to place between the bumper and fender of a car," says Allmand, who graduated from Lawrence Tech with a degree in industrial management.

"They would submit a blueprint of the part which would then go to our woodshop. Our pattern maker would build a wooden model of the actual part. A pattern would be made from this and sent on to the zinc casting department.

The pattern would be packed hard in sand and then removed. Into the shape that remained, zinc alloy would be poured. Hardened into a mold, it later would be mounted on old 700 for the final act of shooting in hot plastic or rubber into the mold."

BASIC TO the whole procedure is the work of Tom Winek who chisels, gouges, drills and saws to create the wooden models.

"I took up wood work in high school, but then hired into Ford as a machinist during World War II," says Winek. "But I like it better here.

"The job is always different. It's not the same routine, doing the same thing over and over again.

Salem tankers lose 2 meets

By ANNE SULLIVAN
Special Writer

In a double duel meet against Ann Arbor Huron and Grand Blanc on Sept. 30, the Plymouth Salem Girls Swim team was defeated 45-48 by Huron and 45-36 by Grand Blanc.

The Salem swimmers did "real well" according to Coach Faith Ransom. She was pleased with the results of the Salem swimmers against two teams which she considers to be in the top ten in the state.

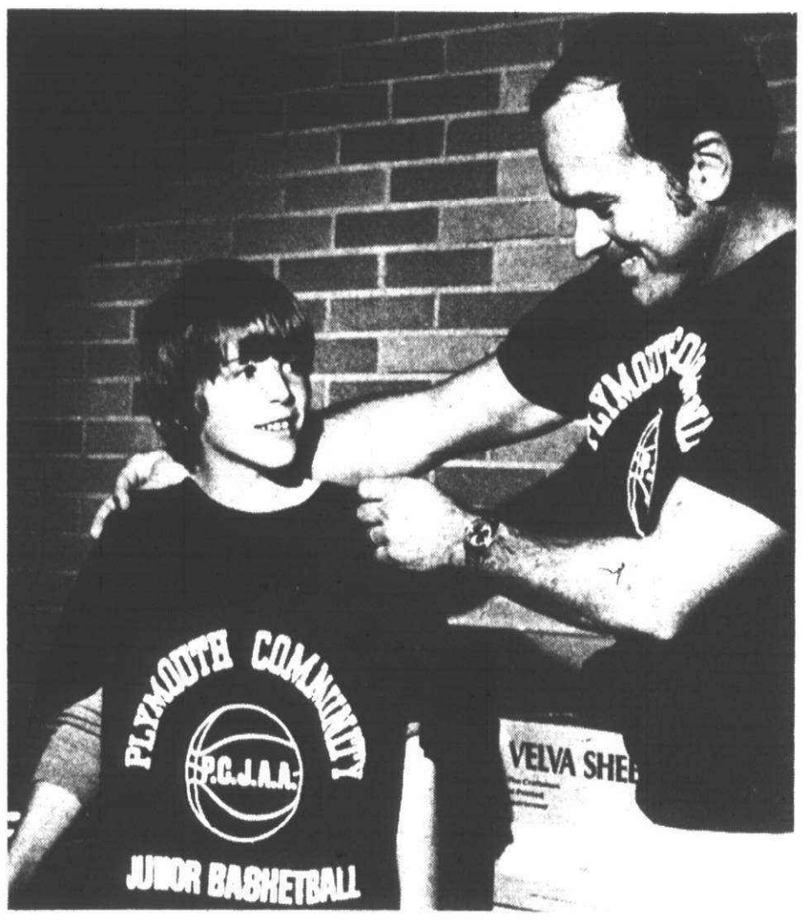

The Rocks took first in three events. Marion Stanwood had two of the firsts— the 200 yard freestyle at 2:08 and the 500 freestyle at 5:35.3. Tamie Crespo took the other first for Salem in the 50 freestyle at 27.4.

Two varsity records were set for Salem. Lisa Lukens set a varsity diving record with 151 points and Jill McCann set the other in the 100 backstroke at 1:10.2.

Salem did quite well in the Redford Union Relays. The 400 freestyle relay team of Stanwood, Crespo, Chris Leclair and Sue Stanwood took first place at 4:00.9—eight seconds below state qualifying time and a varsity record for Salem. The girls took home a trophy in this event.

The 500 cresendo relay team of the two Stanwood girls, Crespo and McCann placed second at 5:08.2.

The diving relay of Lukens and Amy McClumpha placed third at the RU Relays and the 200 backstroke relay team of McCann, Leclair, Kathy Reef and Martha Shearer placed fifth.

Jr. basketball registrations being taken

There are still two Saturdays left for boys and girls to register to play in the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association (PCJBA).

Registrations are being taken from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 11, and Oct. 18 in West Middle School, Ann Arbor Trail at Sheldon Road.

The league is open to boys and girls, grades third through tenth, from the Plymouth-Canton area. Tryouts will be Oct. 25 and league play will run from Oct. 27 to March 20.

More than 500 boys and 200 girls are expected to play in the various leagues this year. For boys, there are separate leagues for fourth and fifth graders, sixth and seventh graders, and for eighth and ninth graders. For girls, there are leagues for fourth through sixth grades and for seventh through ninth grades.

The registration fee remains at $7.50 per participant. The league will sponsor children unable to afford the fee. Those needing sponsorship should contact PCJBA President Larry Arnold of 9279 Caprice.

Salem girls edge Livonia cage teams

By ROBIN NEIMAN
Special Writer

The Plymouth Salem girls basketball team now boosts a 4-1 record after victories over Livonia Churchill and Livonia Bentley.

Salem got off to an 8-5 lead in the first quarter against Churchill. By the end of the half it was tied 18-18 and at the end of the third 30-30. In the last minutes of the game, Salem pulled through with a 45-39 win.

After the Churchill victory, the Salem girls went on to defeat Livonia Bentley 35-34 in a home game.

Moore, the only scorer in the first quarter, got Salem off to a 6-4 start. She earned 13 points for the entire game. Carol Crissey had 10 points for the Rocks.

Salem JVs tame Edsel Ford, 16-8

By TOM ZAIBEK
Special Writer

After defeating Edsel Ford 16-8, the Plymouth Salem JV football squad returns home today (Thursday) to take on Livonia Bentley in a game beginning at 4 p.m.

Against Edsel Ford, it was speedster Greg Davis who opened the scoring for Plymouth in the first quarter on a 23-yard sweep.

Twice Salem was inside the Edsel Ford five-yard line and twice fumbles prevented scoring. The score remained at 6-0 at the end of the first quarter.

BOB WAITE, Plymouth's fine kicker, put one through the goal posts for a 30-yard field goal in the second period for the only scoring on either side to make the score 9-0 at halftime.

Early in the third period, the passing combination of quarterback Rich Hewlett to end John Broderick clicked for ten yards for another Plymouth TD. Waite's conversion was good.

With a 16-0 lead late in the fourth quarter, coaches Craig Bell and Dick Barr sent in their reserves. Edsel Ford immediately took advantage and scored on a 65-yard passing play. Making the two-point conversion, the score became 16-8.

EXIT RESERVES, enter regulars.

With 30 seconds left in the game, Edsel Ford had the ball on Plymouth's 35-yard line. A pass to Plymouth's 15-yard line was intercepted by defensive back Rich Hewlett to save the day for Salem.

Plymouth lost numerous opportunities to score, four times on fumbles.

The defensive unit was outstanding—led by Scott Kappler, Mike Evans, Dave Skone, Mike Hasson, Brian Stout, John Lowelling, Pat Cavanaugh, Brent Eckler and Duane Barsony.

After today's game, the JVs will have another home contest Oct. 16 against Dearborn beginning at 7 p.m.

Canton tankers lose 98-73

By ANNE SULLIVAN
Special Writer

In their first home meet of the season, the Plymouth Canton Girls Swim team lost 98-73 to Farmington Harrison on Oct. 2.

It was an all-out team effort with tremendous time drops and comparative closeness of the scores in many of the events which added lots of enthusiasm to the already high-spirited Chief swimmers.

The 200-yard relay team of Jane Anderson, Cindy Shelansky, Wendy Gray and Tina Dewalt set a varsity record at 2:20.9.

This season there has been great improvements with the Canton swimmers performances, with obvious time drops so far this season and by placing in the finals this year at the Reford Union Relays.

The 200-yard butterfly team of Lori Hogan, Kay Spring, Gray and Shelansky placed fourth at 2:13.8.

The 400 medley relay team of Anderson, Dewalt, Hogan and Shelansky also placed in the RU finals.

Commenting on the Chiefs' performances at the RU Relays, Coach Anne Massey said: "It beats the goose egg we got last year."

Salem frosh gridders win

By TOM ZAIBEK

Sam Merriel's quarterback sneak into the endzone highlighted a 65-yard drive on the opening kickoff as the Plymouth freshmen team scored first on its way to a 28-6 victory over Hilbert.

A Merriel to Bryan Fitzpatrick pass was good for a two-point conversion.

The Hilbert team came right back in the second period with a TD to narrow the score to 8-6.

With two minutes left in the half, Tim Rightler ran 21 yards for the second Rock TD to make the score 14-6.

It was Rightler again in the third period on a three-yard scoring run and on a two-point conversion run.

Jim LaRich closed the scoring in the fourth period on a one-yard run for a final score of 28-6.

Halfback Richtler rushed for 192 yards and a great defensive game was played by Bill Bourniss and Paul Dillon.

The Salem freshmen team will play at Marshall Junior High Thursday, Oct. 16, after meeting Pearson today (Thursday) at home beginning at 4 p.m.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

When it comes to unusual performances, Bob and Jean Dembeck would be difficult to beat.

Bowling in the Thursday mixed classic at Farmington Lanes Bob turned in a 222 in 608 and Jean, his wife, followed right along with a 222 in 604 in Ladies Classic.

As a matter of fact 222 seemed to be the magic number as Teresa Duty, bowling in the same league, also had the triple deuces in a 528 series.

Other fine showings were made by Ross Frasure in the Thursday mixed group with a 222 in 599 and Betty Worcester had a 234 in 566.

In the junior high league Keith Guertin showed the way with a 213 in 517 and Teri Strackan paced the girls with 197 in 503.

The best score of the week in the Farmington house was a 237 in 669 turned in by Ken Hibbs in the junior house league.

MICKEY THORTON posted one of the oddest series of the season in the Westbrook Manor League at Bel-Aire. She earned a place on the honor roll with a 73 triplicate. Meanwhile Buzz Probst turned in a 253 to take the night's scoring honors.

One of the season's closest finishes for high game came in the Briar Hill circuit when only three pins separated the top four bowlers.

Don Hillman led the parade with a 230. Norm Birr had a 228 and Russ Frasure tied with Jim Lock at 227.

THE RAILROAD LEAGUE came into prominence at Merri-Bowl last week when Frank Miller did the unusual--a 190 triplicate. This is one of the highest triplicates in the area this season.

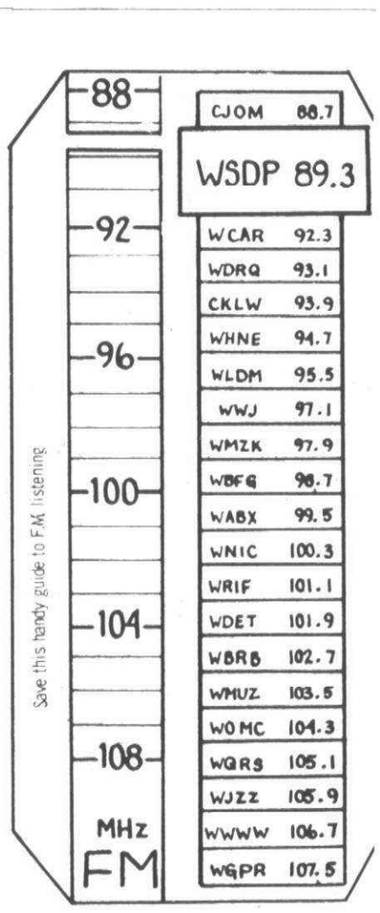

SPEAKING OF UNUSUAL matches, the Livonia Ladies had one of the few deadlocks in the classic Tuesday morning.

Though she didn't win a game Lois Merriman with 508-105-613 tied Dot Fulton at that figure. Dot had a high single of 180-41--221 that helped her to a 490-123--613

In the other games Gerry Zande won the opener with 174-42--216 and Doris Mcacorkindale took the second with 168-42--210.

WES SHASKO posted the top score at Plaza Bowl with a 256 in 628. And in the senior house league at Westland Chet Karan used a 264 opener for a 649 series to lead the parade. Five pins back came Larry Durham with a 234 in 644 and Mark Tazicic landed third with games of 230 and 226 in 642.

FRANK KINDER was top man in the Garden Lanes Classic with a 634, but it was one of the highest scores of the week in the house. Ron Boglen topped the Moose League with 611 and Al Creshy was top man in the junior house league with 598.

Panther freshmen and varsity win

Cracking the win column for the first time this year, the Plymouth Junior Football Panther freshmen and varsity squads nipped the Brighton Broncos 13-0 and 26-0 on Sunday at Central Field in Plymouth.

In the JV contest, the Broncos prevailed 13-6.

AFTER 3½ periods of scoreless ball, the Panther frosh exploded for two fourth-quarter TDs following a fumble recovery by Joe Spitz.

Running back Larry Duty then swept right for 25 yards, setting up a two-yard TD plunge by quarterback Jim Chilcoff. Running back Bruno Genrich converted to give the Panthers a 7-0 lead.

Following the kickoff, the ever-present Duty intercepted a Bronco pass. Grenrich then punched in another six points to put the icing on the cake.

PLAYING without injured quarterback Jim Jimmerson, the Panther JVs made a spirited fourth quarter rally, highlighted by Andy Crook's two-yard TD run.

The visiting Broncos, however, made a 13-point lead standup for a 13-6 victory. The win was the second straight for the Brighton crew, evening its mark at 2-2, while the Panthers tasted defeat for the fourth consecutive time.

Keeping the Panthers in the contest with excellent defensive play were Martin Kazza and Brian Cavagnini.

PACED BY Dave Skone's three TD runs, the Panther varsity exploded for a 26-0 blitz of the Broncos.

Skone scored on runs of 35 and 30 yards as the Panthers jumped to a 12-0 lead in the first quarter. In the second period, Pete Stacey and Joe Bagnasco pounced on a Brighton back for a safety to put the Panthers on the board again.

The second half was highlighted by another twisting 27-yard TD run by the elusive Skone and the scampering of Billy Ward. Ward went 30 yards for a TD and had another one of 22-yards called back on a penalty.

The aroused Panther defense kept the Broncos in their own territory for the entire game. Key defensive plays were turned in by Greg Lucas and Ken McDonald.

Next Sunday, Oct. 12, the Panthers go on the road again to meet the Dearborn Heights Cobras. The Cobra freshmen and JV squads are both winless, while the varsity has a 2-1 record.

Lions swept by Ann Arbor

Playing in Ann Arbor against the Rams, the Plymouth Junior Football Lions were swept by the powerful Ann Arbor teams by scores of 20-6, 12-6 and 32-0.

A 70-yard kick-off return by Mickey Madsen provided the only score as the Lion freshmen fell to the Rams. The defeat squared the Lions' record at 2-2 as they were unable to contain the fleet-footed Ann Arbor runners, despite a superb effort led by Matt Broderick.

A FUMBLE recovery and a blocked punt provided the JV Rams the 12 points they needed to down the Lions in another Lion defensive duel.

Unfortunately, the offense could crack the eight-man Ram defensive front for only one TD. That was an 80-yard jaunt by running back Tom Wennerberg.

The defeat left the Lions with a 1-2-1 mark as they passed the halfway point of the season.

IN THE VARSITY contest, there was just too much Ram offense as they rolled to their fourth consecutive victory.

Despite the one-sided score, John Gray, Mike Bodnar and Craig Champaign turned in noteworthy defensive efforts for the Lions, whose record now stands at 1-3.

This week the Lions return home to host the Brighton Bengals. The Bengals freshman squad is in a three-way tie for first at 2-1, the JV Bengals are in a two-way tie for second at 2-1, and the Bengal varsity in in last place at 0-3.

Salem girls bow to Trenton

By JOE PIERCE
Special Writer

The Plymouth Salem varsity girls' tennis team suffered its first loss of the season Monday as a very strong Trenton team defeated them four matches to three.

Ceci Warrick and Becky Crespo were the only winners for the Rocks in singles play. In the doubles, co-captain Cheryl Kordick and Nancy Grotz were victorious for Salem.

In the Rocks earlier match against Livonia Bentley, the team won 8-0. The loss to Trenton brings the Rocks record to 8-1, right behind undefeated Trenton at 9-0.

The girls will be in the state regionals tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday in Ann Arbor with the state meet following on Oct. 17, 18.

The Rocks will be co-favorites for the championship title with Trenton when the Suburban Eight has its league meet on Wednesday, Oct. 22.

People who buy and people who sell get together in the Observer&Eccentric Newspapers

Buyers and sellers are "strange" people. Strange to each other, that is. People with lots of different needs and wants, people who need to get together. They need to get together in the quickest, least expensive and most effective way possible—the Observer & Eccentric Want Ads.

Say you need a buyer for a bunch of baby basset hounds, or a really good home for a litter of antiques...How do you meet those unknown admirers with an eye for your special goods? How do you keep track of sellers with garage sales, and owners of autos and pets to trade? It's easy -- when you know where buyers and sellers get together best—the Observer & Eccentric Classifieds.

It's easy to get double buying and selling results, too. Double-Action Ads bring people together from all over Wayne and Oakland Counties. These suburban communities include: Birmingham, Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Rochester, Avon Twp., Southfield and Troy in Oakland County; Livonia, Garden City, Plymouth, Plymouth Twp., Canton Twp., Redford Twp., and Westland in Wayne County. Smart buyers and sellers place a Double Action Family Want Ad (non business) of 15 words or less in two consecutive issues, with no changes in copy and no cancellations -- and they pay only $6. That's a savings of $2.00 off the regular cost of placing an ad in two issues.

When you have something to sell...when you have something to buy...you've got a lot in common in the Observer & Eccentric Classified Want Ads.
