

9 seek appointment to school board

By EMORY DANIELS

Nine residents have applied for an appointment to the Plymouth Board of Education to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation Jan. 5 of Gary Mirto.

The school board will meet with each of the nine Sunday for personal interviews and is scheduled to make a decision at its Jan. 26 board meeting.

The nine are: William L. Brown of 4478 Albert; Rev. David L. Cox, pastor of Plymouth Wesleyan Church; Earl J. Demel, attorney in Plymouth; E.A. "Betty" Hamann of 42816 Saxon; Kenneth S. Nelson of 11486 Haggerty; Clarence Partin of 49920 Hanford Road; Lawrence A. Schendel of 9250 Oakcliff; Flossie Tonda of 39846 John Drive; and Billie Whiteley of 4147 Leeann Lane.

Three—Mrs. Tonda, Mrs. Whiteley and Schendel—have been unsuccessful candidates for the board of education. Of the nine, four are Canton Township residents.

Among the best known are Demel, Mrs. Hamann, Partin, Mrs. Tonda and Mrs. Whiteley. Board President Marda Benson, however, stresses there are no favorites at this point and all candidates will be given a good look by the school board.

Whoever is chosen will serve until June 1976.

BROWN, who has lived in Plymouth Township for 2½ years, works as a shift commander for the Michigan State Police in the Ypsilanti post.

He now serves as president of the school board of St. Peter Lutheran School in Plymouth and has worked for the state police for 20 years. In 1972 he graduated from the Criminal Justice Institute at Michigan State University. He is a sergeant.

Brown is married and has three children—two of whom are students at Plymouth Salem and one who is a police officer in Las Vegas.

COX, a resident of Plymouth Township for the past two years, is pastor of Plymouth Wesleyan Church at 42513 Five Mile.

He had worked 14 years with the Salvation Army and has pastored churches throughout the midwest for 17 years. Cox is president of the Plymouth Evangelical Ministerial Association.

He is a graduate of Western Illinois University with a degree in theology. He is married with three children—one attending Marion College, one in Central Middle School and one in Tanger Elementary.

DEMEL retired from his law practice Jan. 1 after practicing in the City of Plymouth for more than 15 years.

During that time, he was Plymouth Township attorney for 28 years and Canton Township attorney for two years. He has lived in Plymouth Township for 35 years and is married to a native of Canton.

Earlier in his career, Demel served as the first mayor of Centerline, and was mayor of that town when Russell Isbister, former superintendent of Plymouth schools, began his teaching career there. He served one term as a judge in Warren Township in Macomb County and also served as a trustee of Madonna College in Livonia for 10 years. He is a graduate of University of Detroit Law School.

MS. HAMANN has been an active leader in Windsor Park homeowners association and Canton Township affairs.

She is a member of the Canton Citizens Advisory Council, is involved in a study to seek a millage election for fire department services and works as a volunteer teacher aide at East Elementary School.

Ms. Hamann is a co-founder of Total Citizens Power, a citizens lobby. (Continued on page 4A)

Residents brave storm to fight cheaper homes

By RICHARD GOLD

Despite blizzard-like conditions Tuesday night, it was standing room only and more at township hall as angry residents from three subdivisions came en masse to complain of proposed low-cost housing in their neighborhood.

Irate homeowners packed the meeting hall and some were forced to wait outside as they asked the township board what could be done to prevent low-cost row housing in their subdivision.

The residents from three subdivisions—Camelot West, Parkwood and Westbrook—were concerned that 16 houses, considerably smaller than the ones they owned, would be erected on one side of Manton Road, while another 19 would be built on the other side of Manton.

Tom Quinn, a spokesman for the group, commented "These proposed houses are not in conjunction with the rest of the neighborhood. They are all aluminum—we don't even know if they meet the building codes—and we are opposed to row housing. We don't want to see 16 identical houses in a row."

"I think it's appalling and it's lowering the value of our homes. We want the builder to add brick facing, a garage and a family room on the back of the houses and if the the builder won't do it, we're asking the board not to grant building permits."

ONE BUILDER, Sandy Pearlman of Huntley Homes, appeared at the meeting at the request of Supervisor Robert Greenstein. Following a lengthy exchange among the board, himself and the homeowners, he said he will "unequivocally" not build the smaller house in the neighborhood

"People who make less money should be afforded the right to live in Canton."

under consideration.

The area is bounded by Ford Road, Lilley, Rainier, and the Detroit Edison power lines.

The homes Pearlman had proposed were 960-square-foot, two-story colonials, selling for about $35,000, from $10,000-15,000 less than homes currently occupied in the three subdivisions.

A second builder has 19 houses proposed for the other side of Manton. Although not the same model, they are the same size as the ones Pearlman agreed not to build.

On Sunday, homeowners in the area had picketed Pearlman's model, and the builder told the crowd Tuesday night that was the first he knew of the problem.

"We're not trying to cheat anyone," Pearlman said. "And I acknowledge we're at fault. At this point the house will not be built on Manton Road."

"But I think you should realize that a builder does have a right to put a home up for sale that accommodates people for less than $45,000."

"People who make less money should be afforded the right to live in Canton—people like teachers who don't make as much money but would be an asset to the community. This kind of house is well built and there should be a place in Canton for it—but they shouldn't be put up in a row."

"These houses are quality built and the only way you can bring down the cost of a house in on square footage—leaving out the 'gingerbread'."

"All people coming into Canton today can't afford expensive single-family housing. If they don't want to rent or buy a condominium, someone has to give them the opportunity to have a decent home in a decent area."

One homeowner responded "People who can't afford houses don't have to buy here. Let them go elsewhere."

BOB SICORA, another resident, added "We all moved to Canton for a bit better life, but if we put up these kinds of houses we'll be doing a disservice to Canton, ourselves and the builder. People will stop wanting to move to Canton."

Tom Simms, another homeowner, agreed with Sicora. "I don't have anything against someone who lives in a $20,000 house. They keep them up just as we do and they make good neighbors. But they should buy what they can afford."

"Let them do it like me. When I wanted to move out on North Territorial, I didn't have the money—and I had to wait to move to Canton."

Pearlman, homeowner representatives, and Greenstein agreed to meet later to see how problems could be avoided in the future.

Motorized snow removal

Plymouth and Canton residents were out early Wednesday morning to remove the half-foot of snow which fell within a few hours on the day before. The worst of the snow hit just before the rush hour, immobilizing traffic on local roads and leaving a large snow-removal chore before residents could become mobile again the next day. Things were back to normal Wednesday, though, with traffic moving at close to normal speeds. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Auto Club traffic survey completed

Canton board members should have more leverage in their dealings with the Wayne County Road Commission in the future as a result of a just-completed traffic survey conducted by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The survey, an in-depth report of traffic patterns, accidents, and problems in the township will be presented by auto club members to the township board at a regular meeting of the board Jan. 27.

The study, more than three months in the making, is based on accident reports from 1974, and a three-week in-the-field survey by members of the auto club safety and traffic engineering department in the spring of 1975.

While the report does not cover all traffic flow in the township, it does analyze the worst spots, according to township trustee Jerry Cheske, an employee of the auto club.

"Basically it is a report and analysis of the township's 11 worst intersections in terms of accidents. It also includes recommendations for reducing accidents and congestion in the township," said Cheske.

ACCORDING TO THE report, the worst intersections were (in descending order):

- Michigan—Canton Center.
- Ford—Lilley.
- Ford—Canton Center.
- Joy—Lilley.
- Ford—Sheldon.
- Michigan—Sheldon.
- Michigan—Haggerty.
- Joy—Sheldon.
- Joy—Canton Center.
- Joy—Haggerty.
- Michigan—Lotz.

Michigan and Canton Center was the worst intersection with 27 accidents, while all 11 accounted for more than one third of the township's 628 accidents in 1974.

Although the report included accidents on Michigan Avenue, it concentrated most heavily on township roads north of Cherry Hill, south of Joy and from the eastern boundary of the township to Canton Center. All of Canton Center was included in the survey.

ALTHOUGH THE report offers recommendations for solutions to the traffic problems of Canton, most of the solutions cannot be made by the township board.

"There are five suggestions in the report," explained Cheske, "and the board really can only act on one. The rest is up to the state and county road commissions."

"The best we can do is forward the information and recommendations to the county and state road commissions and the various police agencies in the township."

The report, which totals 38 pages including diagrams and suggested improvements, was requested by the township board early in 1975.

It is provided free of cost by the auto club as a public service to communities requesting a survey. So far, more than 200 such surveys have been handled by the auto club.

Budget issues split school board

Decisions are expected at the Jan. 26 meeting of the Plymouth Board of Education on how best to cut $321,000 from the district's operating budget.

The board, in a series of motions, attempted to take a stab at the cuts Monday night but failed when trustees split 3-3 on major votes.

A compromise motion provides that the cuts recommended by the administration will return to the board table Jan. 26. At that time, trustees may offer alternative cuts to trim the same amount of expenses. The recommended cuts from the administration will be adopted as presented, unless the board votes to approve an alternative.

THE RECOMMENDED cuts were listed by the administration after a Jan. 8 general administrative meeting. The recommendations were listed in priority and discussed at a special study meeting of the board on Saturday.

The recommended cuts are divided into two groups: those which could be made effective immediately, or by Jan. 26; and those which could be acted upon after the first group has been implemented.

The first group of expense cuts totals $335,000 and the second group adds up to $52,000. The recommendations are higher than the present fund imbalance of $321,000 because the administration is fearful of yet another state aid cutback this spring.

The district already has ordered a freeze on all school building operating accounts—a step which could save $100,000. These non-salaried accounts were frozen effective Jan. 7, except for expenditures on an emergency basis and expenditures for which the district is reimbursed by another governmental agency—in such areas as special education or transportation.

Some individual school buildings which have already spent their operating accounts for this year may receive a loan of up to $1,000 for emergencies and then have next year's account charged for that loan and any other expenditures over budget.

THE ADMINISTRATION has met with employe unions and discussed the possibility of employes voluntarily agreeing to one or two payless work days.

One payless day proposed is a date when students won't be in school and teachers would be present for in-service training. The district could save $50-$60,000 for each payless work day. Because this step must be voluntary, it wasn't included among the recommended cuts discussed Monday night.

The employe unions listened to the proposal and agreed to take it back to their memberships to see if the idea is acceptable.

AFTER A BRIEF discussion of the recommended cuts, Trustee George Lawton made a motion to approve the cuts as recommended by the administration, except for one in group two which is a negotiable item.

Lawton's motion asked for a report from the administration no later than Jan. 26 on any cuts which hadn't been implemented by that time. Trustee Joe Gray supported his motion which was defeated by a 3-3 vote with E. J. McClendon voting yes, and trustees Marda Benson, Marcia Borowski and Tom Yack voting no.

The three dissenting members spoke against a blanket approval of the cuts and argued in favor of approval after the board had deleted specific objectionable recommendations.

"There's no way I can support a blanket approval like that. There were too many things we discussed Saturday that we don't understand completely yet," said Ms. Borowski.

McClendon said he was prepared to vote to implement all the recommended cuts and then vote later to restore or change any cuts if possible in the future.

"Some situations probably will be unbearable and cannot be lived with," commented Gray, "and I'm sure the

Committee prepares for hunting ban hearing

The chance of hunting being banned in section five of Canton improved tremendously Tuesday when Bruce Andrews of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Lt. Fay Johnson of the state police and Lt. Russell Gregory of the Wayne County Road Patrol accompanied township clerk John Flodin for an on-site inspection of section five.

More than 80 per cent of the residents in section five, a one-square mile section, bounded by Joy, Beck, Ridge, and Warren petitioned the township board for a hunting ban in November 1975.

Since then, the wheels have been turning slowly preparing for a public hearing on the matter.

A hearing is likely in February, said Flodin.

Currently, 19 1/2 of the 36 one-square mile sections in Canton are closed to hunting. All land east of Canton Center, the Centennial Education Park site, and land in the southern half of section six, a region bounded by Warren, Ridge, and Napier, is off limits to hunters.

The procedure to get hunting banned in township sections is long and complicated because townships, unlike cities, don't have the power to impose the bans themselves.

Final jurisdiction lies with the state Joint Administrative Rules Committee, a legislative body composed of three state senators and five representatives.

All preliminary work on the ban, however, is done by the DNR.

The first step, forming a Hunting Area Control Committee of one representative from the county sheriff, the state police, the DNR, and the township board, has been completed, and township residents must now await the scheduling of a public hearing.

After the hearing, the committee will meet to discuss the information it has received before making a recommendation to the township board which must then be approved, rejected or amended.

The final recommendation goes to the Joint Administrative Rules Committee where it is either approved or rejected.

W-W budget $470,000 in red

By DENNY COFFMAN

Wayne-Westland School Supt. Timothy Dyer Monday revealed plans that will save the school district about $40,000 by curtailing use of energy and by using administrative personnel in place of substitute teachers.

Even if such cost-cutting measures are successfully implemented, the district would still have to find ways of reducing expenditures by an additional $470,000.

"I've prepared a shopping list of potential cuts," Dyer told the school board during its meeting Monday.

Though the list so far includes only savings of $40,000, Dyer indicated he would introduce additional cuts during this (second) semester.

He said he would seek input from the "family" of administrators, board members, and concerned residents.

In recent months, the district has received three financial setbacks: the defeat of a proposed $25 million bond issue; a change in the state formula used to compute aid to local districts; and an executive order by Gov. William Milliken that will trim more than $500,000 from the district's share of state aid.

"We must conserve," Dyer said. ONE OF HIS two conservation measures is a reduction in the use of utilities. It will save the district $25,000, according to Dyer.

Dyer said he ordered his staff to immediately begin the removal of 20 per cent of the district's telephones; the rest of the phones will be used more sparingly, he said.

He said he would curtail the use of lights by 50 per cent and lower thermostats in school buildings as part of the energy reduction measure.

Night custodians have been instructed to maintain overnight school building temperatures at 55 degrees; the same setting will be maintained over the weekend.

"Last year, our utility bills went up by 44 per cent," Dyer told the board.

DYER'S SECOND cost-cutting procedure involves the use of administrators in place of substitute teachers. Each administrative staff person will be required to substitute teach five days during this semester.

The 500 days of substitute teacher pay saved will be $15,000.

"But we still must come up with the remainder of the cuts," said Dyer. "Maybe these cuts will help us get through our financial crisis."

Dyer indicated he would have the rest of his "shopping list" ready by the Jan. 26 meeting of the board.

"These cuts have been reviewed, debated, massaged, turned around and analyzed," he said. "They have taken an inordinate amount of time, but they are inordinately important."

DYER COMPLAINED that neither he nor the board was certain of the exact amount of aid the district will receive from the state.

"We don't know our revenues," he said. "We don't know seven months into the fiscal year. "We don't know our special education payout and we don't know what we'll be getting for transportation costs (from the state)."

But Dyer said the district is certain of one thing. "We're $469,000 out of balance," he said.

Sign ordinance due for review?

Businessmen in the township eager to understand the reasoning behind Canton's tough sign ordinance will get that opportunity Jan. 20 when the planning commission presents a film at the township firehall showing the effects of sign legislation.

The film, one of several planning resources used to design Canton's ordinance, was presented to board members, planning commissioners and planners at a seminar at Walden Woods last year.

"The film was to some degree responsible for the sign ordinance," explained chamber of commerce president and planning commissioner Bart Berg. "I think it will provide a chance to show businessmen what went into that decision to make the ordinance."

"It should remove some of the sharp edges of the stringent sign ordinance."

Treasurer Carl Parsell, also a planning commission member, commented, "It's just a short little film, but it shows that signs are truly a blight on the community. It shows how people take all these signs for granted—but once you see the film, you become aware of just how many signs there are."

Parsell said the film presented one side of the story and the other side was "the needs of the private sector for direction, business and commerce."

"Reality and our ordinance are somewhere in the middle," he said.

BERG SAID he hoped the film might prompt a review of the ordinance, one he says many consider too strict.

"When this ordinance was passed, a lot of businessmen had no opportunity to respond. They looked to me as part of the chamber to do something."

"We were told when the ordinance was passed as an emergency measure that it would be reviewed—now might be the time, with the spirit of cooperation that has emerged."

"We still get a lot of calls asking us what are we going to do about it. We really can't do anything other than get a review."

"The business community is faced with big setbacks off the road, no signs, and high berms and we fear this may cause new businesses to shy away from Canton."

"Even if the ordinance is not reviewed, at least businessmen will get a chance to see the other side of the picture."

Parsell said a review of the sign ordinance at this time was unlikely. "It's a bad time because of the master land use plan coming up. Once that's done and published, we can stop and look and maybe apply some first-aid to our ordinances. All our ordinances are always up for review."

utilities. It will save the district $25,000, according to Dyer.

Dyer said he ordered his staff to immediately begin the removal of 20 per cent of the district's telephones; the rest of the phones will be used more sparingly, he said.

Hobby is offered as bicentennial loan

The bicentennial year has prompted Charles Zazula to "go public" with his unusual collection of some 60 cloth banners depicting historic and patriotic scenes from American history. Zazula may very well have the only collection of its type. Certainly he has a rare collection that's unduplicated.

Zazula collects clothing material, such as discarded curtains, with American scenes. He then cuts them to size, sews a hem, and presses the cloth banners.

The collection includes pictures of old railroad engines, antique fire engines, samples of American architecture, a replica of the U.S. Constitution, and scenes from the American Revolution.

"They are clothing items other people don't want, mostly because they lack an appreciation or love for American history," explains Zazula of 1350 Willard in Canton Township. "But, I've always been interested in American history, have read a lot of history, and these scenes have special meaning for me."

"I started out just bringing a few pieces of material home, and then decided to sew them into banners. Now I have quite a collection which I'd like to share with the community during our bicentennial year."

ZAZULA is a member of the Canton Bicentennial Commission and is active with the Plymouth Community Bicentennial Commission.

He has worked some 22 years with Evans Products in Plymouth Township, as a tool crib attendant until being laid off last May.

In 1964, Zazula and his brother, Frank, purchased a piece of land on Willard in Canton and began construction of a house. "We did 98 per cent of the work ourselves. I'd drive by in the morning and work on the house until it was time to go to work. It took a couple years to finish, but in 1957 we moved in."

It was during this period—20 years ago—when Zazula began collecting discarded material. "I find the cloth in laundromats, obtain some from friends, or get it from Good Will, Salvation Army, or St. Vincent De Paul Society.

"I don't know of anyone else who has done this and as a patriotic gesture, in 1976, I'd like to loan it to public groups, such as schools and libraries, for display during our bicentennial year."

He has given some to a member of the Plymouth Community Bicentennial Commission for distribution in public places, took other samples Monday to Canton Township Hall and is willing to loan some to the schools.

"I have 50 cloth banners I am willing to loan to responsible recipients who will display these as patriotic gestures. They are cutups of drapes and curtains which I've been collecting for 20 years as a hobby."

"Paintings on the banners vary from colonial days to the 20th century. Paintings depict scenes of Indians and the white pioneers, the wigwams and the log cabins, soldiers and the patriots, drums and guns, trade-marks and tools, covered-wagons and stage-coaches, cowboys and miners, the pony express and the iron-horse, any many more scenes," he explains.

Any public group wishing to display the banners may call Zazula at his home at 453-9274. The sizes are from 1½-by-2 feet to 3-by-4 feet, with a different picture on each cloth.

ZAZULA WAS also active in the City of Wayne's centennial which was observed in 1969.

He remembers playing the role of Ezra Derb, founder of Wayne, in a pageant put on by the Wayne Centennial Pageant. "I found out later that Ezra had five wives," he laughed, "which wasn't exactly the right role for a single man to portray. But I did it anyhow."

That was but one incident during his life that occurred because of his love for history. "At the time I started collecting the banners, I didn't think much about the bicentennial. I just loved history and these scenes were nice to keep and look at to remind me of our proud national heritage. But now 1976 is here and it's natural to want to share some of the memories of our nation.

Zazula was born on the west side of Detroit, the son of a Polish mother and Ukrainian father. Besides the collection of banners, and involvement in local activities, Zazula has written a piece of prose dedicated to the bicentennial celebration. That he also wants to share with residents:

"If your father takes care of you, that is paternalism; But, if you depend upon your mother, that is maternalism.

If a king rules you, that is monarchism; But, if a dictator dictates to you, that is totalitarianism.

If the state governs you, that is socialism; But, if a comrade commands you, that is communism.

"If you thrive on savagery, that is barbarism; But, if you take good care of yourself, that is Americanism!

Furthermore, if you are a revolutionist, that is terrorism; But, if you love God and nation, that is patriotism!"

Bicentennial projects listed

OFFICES FOR the commission were opened in May 1975, at 859 S. Main, Plymouth, with space for the headquarters being donated by Tom Healy, local attorney.

The commission headquarters is manned by volunteers from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1-3 p.m. Tuesday through Friday.

Objectives of the commission include: to promote projects within the jurisdictional areas of the sponsoring governmental organizations that celebrate the bicentennial anniversary of the nation and contribute to the preservation of its heritage; to coordinate area-wide projects involving two or more governmental bicentennial commissions; to disseminate information about the projects of each of the governmental bicentennial commissions; and, to review local bicentennial projects for endorsement.

The group's first community-wide planning meeting was held in May 1975, with a follow-up gathering held in June. Since then, local organizations have worked with three committees that focus on the themes for the bicentennial celebration—Heritage, Earl Gibson; Horizons, Brian Kidston; and Festivals, Frank Briggs.

These committees have been meeting regularly since September. The commission itself meets on the second Wednesday of each month.

The commission, which has no funds for its own projects, encourages, reviews and endorses appropriate bicentennial projects within the community, explains Mrs. Folger.

GROUPS WHICH have received endorsements to date are:

- Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps—Commission supported the Corps' application to the Michigan American Revolution Commission for a matching grant of $10,000 to cover expenses incurred in performances connected with the bicentennial within the state. Commission arranged for the funds to be administered through the City of Plymouth.

- American Association of University Women videotape—The AAUW produced a 30-minute videotape "Heritage, Happenings and Hopes—a Plymouth-Canton Bicentennial Salute" in cooperation with Plymouth Salem High communications staff and students. Funded by Plymouth Branch of the AAUW with grant money from the Michigan Division of that group. The tape was shown to the public during the Fall Festival, September 1975, and is available for viewing by community groups and schools throughout 1976.

- Dunning-Hough Library Oral History—Under direction of librarian Elizabeth Simescu, memories of local residents and their impressions of local events are being recorded on cassette tapes to be kept in the library, historical museum, and high school. Those producing the tapes will attend a workshop in oral history methods with the tuition for the course partially paid for by the Rotary Foundation.

- Dr. Sam Hudson's "History of Plymouth"—Hudson's history of Plymouth and its environs will be published and released in 1976 in conjunction with the opening of the historical museum.

- Ann Arbor Road Beautification Project—The beautification committee—directed by Mary Childs and the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce—are encouraging city and township merchants along Ann Arbor Road to beautify facades with such things as shrubs, benches and flowers.

- Plymouth Community Arts Council traveling arts exhibit—PCAC has received matching funds from the Michigan Council for the Arts to develop and exhibit a collection of prints depicting the nation's history. Pictures will be rotated in public places every three months and after 1976 will be placed in the PCAC rental gallery.

- Canton 1976 Trees—Canton Bicentennial Commission has started a project to plant 1,776 trees in the township by July 4, 1976.

- Plymouth Symphony Society Ballet—The Society will originate, produce and present a folk ballet, "The Gift to Be Simple" based on the culture of the Shakers.

- Business and Professional Women's Play and Style Show—A historical play based on Norma Casady's memories of Plymouth to be presented along with a style show of old-fashioned dress.

- YMCA and Senior Citizens Hypertension Screening—"Let US ALL Have a Healthy '76" The Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA working with local senior citizen groups has set up a monthly series of free blood pressure screening clinics. Janet Luce and Betty Urquart are coordinating the project and area nurses have volunteered for the testing. In February, residents of all ages will be encouraged to take advantage of screening clinics set up in the fire stations in Plymouth, Canton and Plymouth townships.

- Three Cities Art Club sketch book—A booklet of pen and ink sketches depicting Plymouth area historical scenes is being prepared to be sold in the historical museum. Profits will go to the Plymouth Historical Society.

- Historical Society microfilm reader-printer—Financed by Rotary Foundation, the reader-printer will be used in the museum.

- Restoration of South Salem Stone School—staff and students of Farrand Elementary School are working to refurbish the 1857 building as a historic site elementary children of the school district can visit to spend an "old-fashioned school day."

The commission also is coordinating several other bicentennial events and projects, working with Plymouth Kiwanis, Salvation Army Youth Group, the school district, the Observer & Eccentric, and the Plymouth Historical Society.

Budget cuts split trustees

board will reconsider those areas and make adjustments."

Yack commented: "I'm sensitive to the fact that these cuts should be made as soon as possible but there are some recommendations we need more information on." President Benson echoed the same comment.

Lawton said the intent of his motion wasn't to cause any specific cuts to be enacted but to remove a total amount of money from the budget to bring it into balance "and keep us out of the situation of spending our fund equity."

"For each month we wait to make cuts, we must cut 15 per cent more to reach a balance," Lawton continued. "Each trustee still can present alternative cuts with dollar amounts to keep the district in balance. Otherwise, we are knowingly forcing the district into insolvency."

A motion was then made by Ms. Borowski and supported by Yack to consider the recommendations item by item. That was defeated with Ms. Benson voting yes and McClendon, Lawton and Gray abstaining.

WHEN ASKED by the chair to explain his abstention, Lawton said the issue involved whether the board was going to approve policy or assume the role of administrators.

"If the board is to assume what I believe is its proper role as policy-makers, we would vote to approve the cuts as recommended. If the board goes item by item, and makes individual decisions and judgements, we are then acting as administrators which I see as being improper."

Yack responded: "Two minutes ago we were so intent to make these cuts now because every minute lost meant more dollars lost to the district. Now we are going to wait two weeks before approving cuts. That doesn't make much sense to me."

Benson then commented: "We are proceeding the same way on these cuts as we did three years ago when Mr. Lawton was board president. I'd like to know, George, what's the difference?"

Lawton answered: "We are dealing with 21 items here which the administration and principals spent hours going over each one. How this board feels it has the educational expertise to decide on each one is beyond my comprehension."

"But, three years ago, the cuts were made precisely UO in this manner," Ms. Benson said, "What is the difference?"

"Three years ago, we asked the administration for a list of budget cuts and the board participated jointly with them on prioritizing. This year, the board has asked the administration to prioritize with the board then voting to approve those recommendations."

"If we intended to give carte blanche approval to these recommendations," asked Ms. Benson, "why would we spend five hours Saturday in debating whether these suggestions were good or bad?"

YACK THEN moved to approve the recommended cuts excluding two items in group one and excluding group two entirely.

Ms. Borowski then called for an amendment to start girls' golf in the spring at the secondary level. Among the recommendations was a $6,000 cut in athletics including the decision against starting up girls' golf.

"We have a moral and legal commitment to equalization of opportunity regardless of sex. There are no cuts suggested here for boys' tennis, golf or anything else. We are still a long way from equity, even with girls' golf."

"If this board agrees to cutting girls' golf, I can't wait to get the ACLU (American Civil Liberties Union) or NOW (National Organization of Women) on the phone to get what legal assistance I can to sue the school district."

Gray said that the athletic cut included eliminating the tennis program for girls in the middle schools. "There are many more kids who can participate in the tennis program than in girls' golf where there are only four on a team. I'd like to see sports kept which have more participants. If we are to restore anything, maybe it should be girls' tennis in the middle schools."

Borowski suggested both activities could remain and other areas in the sports budget cut. Her motion failed 5-1.

She then made another attempt at an amendment—to delete the recommendation to reduce library aides and secretaries by two hours per day. This amendment also failed 5-1.

Yack then sought an amendment to cut the entire $8,000 budget for the Junior Athletic Association instead of the $4,000 cut recommended. His motion died for lack of a support.

Lawton's motion, which finally passed 5-1 with Ms. Borowski voting no, will result in an expected immediate savings of $104,000 with the balance to be picked up after the Jan. 26 meeting.

At that same meeting, the board is expected to pick names for two of the new elementary buildings—the third to be named after Esther Hulsing—and to make an appointment to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of

School board prepares list of cuts

The recommended budget cuts being considered by the Plymouth Board of Education range from those with immediate effect such as reduction of health services to longer range cuts such as closing Geer School.

Among those cuts which wouldn't have immediate effect, some of which would be done only if necessary, are closing Geer School with the single teacher being reassigned for a savings of $4,000.

Another cut without immediate effect (group two) is a suggestion to reassign the newest additions to the staff (9½ teachers) to classroom vacancies as they occur. This step would save about $30,000.

Another group two alternative would be to close down the schools during the two weeks between semesters and extend the school year into June. This step, which would save $5,000, is a negotiable item which cannot be done without consent of the teachers' union.

A final group two alternative is to save $13,000 by reassigning five librarians to classroom vacancies or as substitutes. There are now 10 librarians in the high schools, four in the middle schools, and two for the elementary level.

THE BOARD must make decisions on cuts totalling at least $321,000 to bring the budget into balance and may make cuts totalling $387,000 to provide for a fund equity and in anticipation of further cutbacks in state aid this spring.

Among the cuts recommended which would take effect immediately are: cancel all film rentals at the high schools, $2,000 savings; reduce health service budget, including cutting of vision and hearing testing for the balance of the school year, $5,000;

Reduce paid teacher aides from 4½ hours per day to three at the elementary level and from 14-20 hours per day at the middle schools, $13,000; reduce board office travel and conference expense and reduce clerical costs, $4,000; reduce curriculum study budget by $3,000;

Reduce special education budget by $10,000 with two-thirds of this cut being for travel and inservice expenses; reduce athletic budget by $6,000 by eliminating all coaches clinics, reduce equipment reconditioning, not starting girls golf, eliminate middle school tennis and freshmen baseball at Salem and Canton high schools, and reduce spring sports schedule slightly;

Reduce driver education program by $11,000 by not starting any new classes until the summer session; reduce maintenance and custodial budgets by $76,000 by eliminating all contingencies; reduce allocation to Plymouth Community Junior Athletic Association from $8,000 to $4,000.

The district will meet tomorrow (Friday) with the Wayne County Intermediate School District to discuss a cut of $15,000 in the local district's commitment to the CASTLES inservice training program.

The district has already ordered a freeze on individual school building operations budgets, a step which could save $100,000.

Among the other cuts recommended for immediate effect are: no air conditioning in buildings except for Miller Elementary which operates year-round classes, $15,000 savings; reduce the hours worked by library aides, nurses, and secretaries for a total possible savings of $19,000; and reassign eight reading positions, $42,000 savings.

A decision on the reassignment of the eight won't be made until at least Jan. 26. These eight would be reassigned as teacher consultants or teachers in the learning disabled program with part of their salaries reimbursed by the state.

Plymouth center library opens

The new resident library at the Plymouth Center for Human Development opened officially Jan. 8.

The Wayne County Federated Library System provides a part-time children's librarian, Nancy Beets is on hand Tuesdays and Wednesdays. She goes to the wards where she tells stories, gives puppet shows and uses other audio-visual aids.

"The children love her," said Blanche McNamara, former medical librarian and now library consultant at PCHD. "She is enthusiastic and out-going."

Mrs. McNamara said they are hoping to extend the service to two full days with the assistance of Ellen Kendall, supervisor of the project.

THE WAYNE County Federated Library System received a federal grant to work with institutions. "We hope hope one of these days, we'll have a fulltime librarian," said Mrs. McNamara.

"Library service is more than books," she added. "It includes records, film strips, slides, pictures and all the media used in a teaching program."

So far the children have not been brought to the library for regular story periods by the librarian. Foster grandparents have brought individuals to the library.

Mrs. McNamara said future plans include an experience table for the blind patients where they will be able to feel softness and hardness. Small figures of dinosaurs and other animals would assist the blind in realizing shapes.

Since the Wayne County Intermediate School District has taken over the responsibility of educating the patients, arrangements must be made with the new teachers and teaching aides to coordinate use of the new facility.

Schools to fight aid formula

By DENNY COFFMAN

Wayne-Westland School Supt. Timothy Dyer Tuesday met with officials of the Livonia and Plymouth school districts, in order to work out a course of action to force the state to change its formula for doing out and retracting state aid to local school districts.

The three districts had indicated last fall that they would explore legal avenues to prevent implementation of the new formula, which was passed by the Michigan Legislature last summer.

The three districts have claimed the formula is slanted against high-millage-effort school districts, such as Wayne-Westland, which assesses its residents at a rate of 44 mills.

The formula, they claim, has a cut-off point—27 mills—and does not provide adequate compensation to those districts raising more than 27 mills.

BUT THEIR PROSPECTS for a favorable outcome in court were dimmed during the final week of 1975, when State Attorney General Frank Kelley ruled that Gov. William Milliken did not violate the state constitution when he ordered reductions in state aid to education.

Conceivably, Kelley could issue a similar ruling regarding the state aid formula, the three districts fear.

"Unfortunately," Dyer told the W-W school board during its meeting Monday, "the attorney general ruled against us on the issue, though he did not specifically address himself to the question of the 27 mills."

"This issue (of the state aid formula) must be resolved in the courts," said Dyer.

"OUR CAUSE is right," He said, "and we will recommend our course of action to the board."

The W-W District school taxes are the highest in the state—44 mills. A formula that had been used previously under the "Bursley Bill" allegedly would have provided more state aid to such districts as W-W.

Other area school officials have expressed dissatisfaction with the new formula, including those representing the Garden City District.

They claim the formula tends to favor such districts as River Rouge and Dearborn, which have high state equalized evaluations (SEVs) because of their high concentration of industry.

Such industries pick up a part of the bill for school financing, and local residents of such areas are taxed at a lower millage rate than are those of Wayne-Westland.

W-W residents are taxed at a higher rate because the area is less industrialized.

Nine hopefuls to seek board spot

bying organization she and Bruce Young organized in 1975 to improve resident input in Canton government.

NELSON IS an assistant principal at Taylor Junior High in the Taylor School District.

He has been in education since 1954 when he graduated from Northern Michigan University in Marquette. He taught junior high for seven years, and high school for eight years for Taylor schools before being named assistant principal two years ago.

He earned an MA degree in 1965 from University of Michigan and a specialist in the arts degree in 1975 from Eastern Michigan University. While earning on his specialist degree, Nelson worked on an intern program in the Plymouth Board of Education office, assisting the personnel department develop procedures for substitute teachers.

Nelson has lived in Plymouth Township for the past nine years.

PARTIN earned a BS degree in 1961 and a MS in 1971 from Eastern Michigan University, majoring in industrial arts and vocational education.

He taught industrial arts at the junior high level for three years before entering business. For the next six years he worked in the custom home sector of the construction industry as a professional builder. During that time he was chief administrator and owner of the Partin Building Company.

He now is serving as a member of the Canton Bicentennial Commission.

SCHENDEL has been a Wayne County Road Commission staff attorney since 1952 and has lived in Plymouth Township since 1959.

He was an unsuccessful candidate for the Plymouth Board of Education in 1961, was elected Plymouth Township Justice of the Peace in 1963 and served until 1966.

Schandel was appointed and served as president of the Plymouth Township Civil Service Commission. He was once an active member of the Plymouth Jaycees. This past year he was a member of the Centennial Educational Park committee of the Plymouth Community School District. He earned his law degree in 1954 from Wayne State University School of Law.

MRS. TONDA is chairman of the safety committee of the Plymouth Board of Education and a member of the Canton Township Planning Commission.

She has been a resident of the school district for eight years and has served as president of the Plymouth Community Schools Council, representing PTOs within the district.

She ran unsuccessfully for the Plymouth Board of Education in 1975 and has continued to serve as chairman of the safety committee. She is a graduate of Darlington High School in Indiana.

MRS. WHITELEY was an unsuccessful school board candidate in 1974, running for a one-year term.

She earned a BS in education from Oklahoma State University, was a teacher in St. Louis County, Mo. and taught piano and pre-school for non-English speaking children in Texas.

Mrs. Whiteley served for two years on the safety committee for Plymouth schools and was also a member of the Miller School 45-15 steering committee.

MONDAY NIGHT the school board passed a formal resolution accepting Mirto's resignation and commended him for his service on the board.

Negotiating teams named by board

Negotiating teams to represent the school district have been approved by the Plymouth Board of Education.

The board Monday night appointed administrators to negotiate with the Plymouth Education Association (PEA), sole bargaining agent for teachers.

Teachers are winding up the end of a two-year contract expiring this year. The board team and PEA team are scheduled to sit down for the first time officially on April 1.

REPRESENTING THE board at the bargaining table will be chief negotiator Norman Kee, administrative assistant for personnel, and Samuel Ulsaker, administrative assistant for research, program planning and federal grants.

The back-up team to negotiate with the PEA includes Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, Deputy Supt. Earl Hogan, and a labor attorney on an as-needed basis.

A proposal will be presented to the board on the cost and advantages of contracting with a labor attorney to sit in on all negotiations with the PEA.

SUPT. JOHN M. Hoben, board members upon the call of the board chairman, and chairmen of subcommittees will be available as resource persons to the bargaining committee.

This year the administration is forming working committees of middle management to study specific aspects of the contract. The committees also may be called to the bargaining table, and may make proposals and counter-proposals.

Kee will also be chief negotiator in talks with custodial, transportation and cafeteria employees. Administrators assisting Kee with these units are: James Symonds, director of maintenance-custodial operations; Robert Houghton, transportation department supervisor; and Hoedel, to help with cafeteria employees.

Besides negotiating contracts for the four employee groups, negotiating teams also will be establishing guidelines for crossing guards, nurses, security guards and unclassified employees.

PUBLIC NOTICE

By authority conferred on the Hunting Area Control Committee by Sections 2 and 3 of Act No. 159, Public Acts of 1967, a public hearing will be held in the Plymouth Township Hall Meeting Room, 42350 Ann Arbor Rd., Plymouth, on Thursday, February 5, 1976, at 7:00 p.m. At this hearing the Hunting Area Control Committee will present proposed rules for local area hunting controls within areas of Plymouth Township, Wayne County. These rules will become effective 15 days after filing with the Secretary of State. All interested persons are invited to attend and offer comments orally or in writing.

Tips on paying less in taxes this year

First in a series

By: Samuel E. Vitale
President, Michigan
Association of
Certified Public Accountants

How can you decrease your income tax payment this year?

The same way you can, and should, do it every year: make full use of the four basic tools for reducing the income subject to taxes, for lowering the rate at which the tax is levied, and in some cases for having part of the tax forgiven. The four are: adjustments, deductions, exemptions, and tax credits.

Adjustments, such as sick pay and moving expenses, are attractive because they reduce gross income, leaving "adjusted gross income," a much smaller target for the tax collector to aim at.

Deductions (for taxes and interest paid, contributions, medical costs, etc.) are nice, too; they, and the exemptions we get for ourselves and our dependents, reduce adjusted gross income still further—to "taxable income."

BUT TAX CREDITS (on low incomes, new home purchases, retirement income, political contributions, etc.) are best of all, because they can be deducted, dollar for dollar, from the taxes owed.

In subsequent articles, each of these four basic tax-reducing devices will be reviewed in some detail, to help readers avoid paying a penny more in taxes than is required.

In the meantime, what new tax-saving opportunities are available this year? The big changes over the 1974 tax picture are:

- If you use the standard deduction instead of itemizing, you can now deduct 16 per cent of adjusted gross income, with a maximum of $2,300 for single persons, and $2,600 for couples filing joint returns or surviving spouses. For a married person filing a separate return the maximum is $1,300.

- There is also a new minimum standard deduction of $1,600 for singles, $1,900 for married couples, but you do not have to compute it because it is built into the tax tables.

- The level of gross income below which you do not have to file a tax return has been raised to $2,350 for singles, $3,400 for joint filers, $2,650 for a surviving spouse and $750 if married and filing separately.

- Because of efforts last summer to stimulate the lagging economy, all taxpayers, regardless of their tax bill, can subtract $30 from what they owe, plus another $30 for each dependent.

- Qualified low-income taxpayers, with adjusted gross income under $8,000, are eligible for a credit of 10 per cent of earned income, up to a maximum credit of $400 on $4,000 of earned income. They lose the credit at the same 10 per cent rate as their income rises above $4,000 so the credit is lost when income reaches $8,000. If the credit exceeds taxes owed, the excess is paid to the taxpayer like a refund. To qualify, you must have maintained a household in this country with at least one dependent child.

Mirto's departure is midwife for change

Monday night the Plymouth Board of Education officially accepted the resignation—given orally one week earlier—of Gary Mirto as a trustee of the school district.

Gary resigned because he realized his health problems had reached the point where he can no longer allocate the time necessary to get the job done. We first congratulate him for reaching the decision to place a desire for community service above any personal wish to remain in office.

Mirto's presence will be missed on the board and his departure certainly marks the end of an era. Regardless of how you felt about him personally or about his contributions as a trustee, Mirto could be relied upon to make his position known in a frank manner.

His frankness sometimes stirred controversy but often forced fellow trustees to narrow down the issues at hand in a public discussion. There could be no lethargy when the stakes were high as long as Mirto was present. We had wished him to be present more often, and now understand why he wasn't.

We wish Gary well as he turns his endeavors to private pursuits. We know Gary won't be the same because of his service to the board and feel the community has been affected by that service.

MIRTO'S RECENT departure brings to mind that a number of local governmental officials have made similar decisions in the past couple years and the community will certainly not be the same when the sum of these departures is realized.

The exit began a couple years ago when Phil Dingley decided to retire from public life as supervisor of Canton Township. Dingley's retirement was a point in time around which will evolve Canton's history. He already is missed.

About a year ago, Carl Berry decided to step down from the Plymouth Board of Education by not seeking election last June. History may well look at that departure, and subsequent election, as the point in time when membership on the school board began to shift to Canton residents.

Last November an era certainly ended in the City of Plymouth with the departures of Harold Guenther and Robert Sincok from the city commission. Both had served the city well for a number of years and it will be hard for anyone to match their service to the community. When both left, history shifted in the city.

The early reports indicate a similar shift will occur in Plymouth Township when its general elections are held. If so, that change also will cause a shift in that government's history.

Reflecting on these changes, we are reminded that America is a government of the people, for the people and by the people. And whenever a person steps down from a governmental position, the dynamics change and we all are affected. It is people who make our history and change our fate—for better or worse.

OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC

A new political scenario: major party in the center

The smooth workings of the two-party system in the suburbs were substantially jolted last week by developments in Birmingham and Redford Township.

In the overwhelmingly Republican Birmingham, Oakland County Commissioner Mary Mead Dearborn caused a sensation by dramatically switching her life-long party affiliation from the GOP to the Democrats.

Her switch, coupled with a similar one by Robert A. Button of Oak Park, gave Democrats control over the county board for the first time since 1970.

She is prepared to face the tough job of getting re-elected in the thoroughly Republican 22nd District, where she defeated her Democratic challenger in 1974 by a 4-1 majority.

As anybody who knows her realizes, Mrs. Dearborn is an independent cuss (the feminine of "cuss") who makes no secret of her views and is prepared to act on them. "I found myself becoming more and more of a maverick as the years went by," Mrs. Dearborn said.

"I've found the Democrats to be a more constructive force," she added, pointing out that the reasons for her switch were in part because of national developments in the GOP. "When the time came that Gerald Ford was not conservative enough for the Republican Party, it was time to get out," she explained.

IN REDFORD Township, an internal fight in the Republican local organization threatens it with dissolution—just at the time when it appeared to local observers that it was on the threshold of gaining sharply increased power.

Events came to a head a couple of weeks ago when the election of new party officers. At that time, a group of older party members defeated a slate of younger men who had controlled the party during 1975. Matt Eineman, 20, was defeated in his bid for re-election as chairman by Eldon Funk, a long-time GOP worker who has run for township offices several times and is a member of the civil service commission.

Eineman says he will stay active in the group, although a number of young Republicans are dropping out because they resent the older group capturing the leadership. Funk says that he will work hard for the first few months of this year to build up membership in the local party. "I'll have to make up my mind in the next couple of months if there is any interest. If I can't build up the membership, I'm not going to waste my time either."

With all the bickering, speculation is rife in Redford that—for a time, at least—there will be only

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

one party in what used to be a two-party system.

STIRRINGS in the local winds are the forerunner of national trends, or at least so the political wise men say.

And what is going on here in the suburbs may be the first signs of the fundamental alteration in the American two-party system that has been foreseen by political scientists for some time.

Consider the following scenario:

1) Ronald Reagan, with the enthusiastic backing of rock-ribbed conservatives in the Republican Party succeeds in overthrowing President Gerald Ford's bid for nomination.

2) The Democrats, with their habitual instinct for unerring self-disembowelment, nominate either a rightist (Sen. Jackson comes to mind) or a leftist (Rep. Udall comes equally to notice), thereby alienating a substantial sector of whichever side loses out.

3) Reagan loses the election, probably by a substantial margin, thereby giving ammunition to the liberal Republican cry that an extreme conservative cannot win enough center votes for the GOP to make up for the party's minority position in registered voters.

4) Republican liberals, seeing their party dominated by what they believe to be a rump of conservative activists, reach out to Democratic moderates, ranging from center to right wing, who in turn are fed up with dealing with what they regard as ultra liberal left-wingers who are constantly threatening the party with McGovernite disaster.

5) The result is the creation of a new alignment in the center of the nation's political spectrum, joining liberal Republicans with moderate Democrats, leaving on the right wing the rump of the GOP and on the left the liberal elements of the Democratic party.

Don't get me wrong; I'm not advocating such a chain of development nor am I predicting it. But I am saying that it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that it could happen, and that if it does it would be one of the biggest changes in the way Americans pursue their politics since the Revolution we made 200 years ago.

"IF YOU SEEK A PLEASANT PENINSULA LOOK ABOUT YOU... IF YOU SEEK INDIANS, BUT NOT COWBOYS—LOOK ABOUT YOU"

Why they won't film story of our local Indian giant

One hates to sound like Spiro Agnew with his fulminations against an imaginary committee of liberal snobs who control television news out of an office in New York.

Yet the evidence is there, in the recent TV film about Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce and his pitiful effort to avoid the reservation. The inescapable conclusion is that Hollywood filmmakers have a blatant bias in favor of western Indians.

In their bias, the TV boys overlook one of the greatest political and military leaders—of any race—the nation has ever produced. They overlook him because he was a Midwesterner. In fact, he came from the suburbs of Detroit. I refer, of course, to Pontiac, the Ottawa chief who masterminded the most successful Indian uprising in American history.

WHEN THE BRITISH defeated the French and won empires on two continents, Pontiac and other Indian leaders saw an end to their playing off one white nation against the other in the fur trade.

The Indians also resented the Britishers' haughtiness, their prices and the gut-rotting rum that was so inferior to French brandy.

In March of 1763, Pontiac called a convention, on the banks of the Ecorse River south of Detroit, of Indian leaders from the vast region north of the Ohio River. He convinced them all to make a concerted attack on every British fort—a dozen—in the region, a stupendous undertaking when you have no written language and only moccasins and canoes for transportation.

"Every Indian nation north of the Ohio had taken to the field with a unanimity which they had never exhibited when urged on by the French," wrote Dale VanEvery in "Forth to the Wilderness."

Organizing the Indians, VanEvery continued, "was a task to be exceeded by a military commander each of whose soldiers was a predisposed mutineer." Yet Pontiac pulled it off and "dominated half a continent."

ON MAY 16, the Wyandots took Fort Sandusky by surprise. On May 25, Fort St. Joseph, south of modern Niles, was taken by surprise. On May 27, Fort Miami, near modern Fort Wayne, Ind., fell when the commander was betrayed by his Indian mistress.

On June 1, Fort Ouiatonon, near Lafayette, Ind., was surrendered. On June 4, the Chippewa staged their famous lacrosse game and took Fort Michilimackinac in Michigan. On June 21, Fort LaBaye, near Green Bay, Wis., was surrendered after a siege by the Sauk, Fox, Winnebago and Menominee.

On June 18, Fort Presqu' Isle at Erie, Pa., surrendered to Detroit Ottawas, Senecas and Delawares. On June 19, the garrison escaped from burning Fort LeBoeuf at Waterford, Pa. Also on June 19, the Iroquois took Fort Venango at Franklin, Pa.

Only the forts at Detroit, Niagara and Pittsburg held out—and Detroit had some scars. Pontiac's forces inflicted casualties at the rate of 10 to 1. Every British trader was cleared out of the Great Lakes area.

BUT INDIANS had to get their ammunition from the British, so in time they accepted peace terms.

The British forbade seaboard colonists and speculators to enter the hinterland—one of the causes of our Revolution. Drained by the long war with France, the British couldn't maintain many troops in these parts, and so white settlement was retarded for years.

It would make a dandy movie except for the scenes around Detroit where the Ottawas boiled and ate white captives, or toasted them alive, or where the squaws obscenely mutilated bodies. That would have to be cleaned up, but TV is experienced at that, as shown by the anti-American bias of the Chief Joseph film.

Chief Joseph, fe! Geronimo, fi! Chochise, fo! Sitting Bull, fum! Our Pontiac was the giant.

Representation without taxation

We have all heard the words of our ancestors, "Taxation without representation is tyranny." But have we considered the consequences of the converse phrase, representation without taxation?

Roger Freeman, a former senior fellow at the Hoover Institution at Stanford University, examined the growing trend toward this reversal in the November 1975 issue of "Imprimis," published by Hillsdale College.

In a paper titled "Tax Loopholes: The Legend and the Reality," Dr. Freeman said that for close to 20 years, so-called loopholes in the federal income tax have been the subject of lively controversy.

IT IS THUS NOT surprising that the Congress has taken repeated action to close loopholes in the income tax—in 1969, 1971 and again in 1975. What may be surprising is the fact that every time Congress enacted a tax reform bill, the amount of untaxed income was larger afterward than it had been before, and the percentage of total personal income exempted from the federal income tax, as well as the number of Americans paying no income tax, had substantially increased.

In other words, whenever Congress tightened or closed some loopholes, or acted as if it had, it always opened or widened others more extensively. That strongly suggests that the real aim of the "close the loopholes" drive is not so much to subject more tax-free personal income to the tax as to shift the burden of taxation from some economic groups to others—to tax some more lightly and others more heavily.

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

To be specific, the real goal and purpose of the campaign to close loopholes are to redistribute income from some less favored groups—presumably from groups with less voting power—to some with more votes and, therefore, greater political appeal to office holders and office seekers.

FREEMAN CITES statistical evidence to refute popular misconceptions about our present tax structure.

Consider, for example, the following: The plain fact is that most of the $563 billion in untaxed income is in the middle and lower income brackets and is broadly distributed through all sections of the American public, with only a tiny percentage accruing to the high-income persons.

Tax vote tactics stir legal battle

The vote was so lopsided that there seemed to be little controversy over the Michigan Legislature's decision to delay some of the senior citizen property tax exemption for a year.

The House passed the $14-million money-saving bill 61-26 with nine Observer & Eccentric area representatives supporting it and two absent—Mel Larsen (R-Oxford) and Sal Rocca (D-Sterling Heights).

But Rep. R. Robert Geake (R-Northville) and several outstate Republican conservatives cried "foul" at the parliamentary tactics used as the House prepared to adjourn late in December.

And Geake said recently that two of the minority members are "requesting an opinion from the attorney general regarding the constitutionality of all this." The opinion has not yet been received.

EARLIER in 1975, the Legislature had passed a bill to give rebates to persons whose property taxes exceed 3.5 per cent of their total incomes, allowing rebates up to $1,200. Farmers and the elderly were expected to benefit.

When the state budget got into trouble, legislative leaders sought to roll back the top amount to $500, thus saving the state coffers $14 million.

Ordinarily, bills take effect April 1 of the following year unless the Legislature musters a two-thirds majority to give the bill immediate effect.

If property tax rebates were to be reduced, the bill had to have immediate effect, and so the two-thirds vote question became all-important. In the House, that meant 74 votes.

GEAKE CHARGED the bill had only 61 votes and that opponents had enough signatures on a petition to require a roll call vote.

But in what opponents called a "fast gavel" tactic, Chairman James O'Neill (D-Saginaw), filling in for Speaker Bobby Crim, said there was a two-thirds voice vote in favor of immediate effect and declared the motion passed.

Geake and the minority contend O'Neill and the majority acted unconstitutionally. "Michigan property owners were cheated out of $14 million in property tax relief," said Geake. "Passage of the measure will be especially hard on senior citizens, farmers, veterans, the disabled, eligible widows and all others who have relatively low or moderate incomes but high property taxes."

Speaker Crim accused the minority of using the exemption battle as an election year gimmick. "All of a sudden this is an emotional issue. People are saying we haven't done anything for senior citizens," Crim scoffed.

Supporting the rollback were Reps.

John Bennett (D-Redford), Thomas Brown (D-Westland), William Keith (D-Garden City), John Markes (D-Livonia), Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti), W.V. Brotherton (R-Farmington), James Defebaugh (R-Birmingham), Joseph Forbes (D-Oak Park) and Ruth McNamee (R-Birmingham).

Nursery rhyme: only for kids?

The very term "nursery rhymes" implies these little verses were for children, and many are indeed nothing more than simple riddles, counting songs or jingles to accompany the games and dances of little children.

But the song-rhythm of the nursery rhyme easily lends itself to teasing chants, and it seems quite safe to say that many of these rhymes were not originally written for children.

In fact, research has shown that in their original wording, some were downright unsuitable, unsavory and beyond the comprehension of young children.

IN THE DAYS of King Henry VIII of England, there were some dishonest dealings taking place.

It seems that a steward named John Horner was sent to London with a pie for the king's Christmas dinner. Baked in this pie were the title deeds to several estates in Somersetshire. John (Jack) Horner "stuck his thumb" in the pie before he got to London. In other words, he stole the king's "plum" which was the land in question. This is the tale that is told in the following rhyme:

Little Jack Horner sat in the corner
 Eating his Christmas pie;
 He stuck in his thumb
 And pulled out a plum,
 And cried, "What a bright boy am I!"

This legend becomes more believable when one understands that jewels, letters and all sorts of unlikely things often were baked into pies in those days. It was a favorite trick to hide surprises in pies.

A RARE, OLD recipe book tells how to make a pie with live birds in it so that they may fly out when the pie is cut. This probably accounts for the famous rhyme:

Sing a song of sixpence, pocketful of rye,
 Four and twenty blackbirds were baked into a pie.
 When the pie was opened, the birds began to sing.
 Wasn't that a dainty dish to set before the king?

Listen to this one:

Oh, Pearl Jean,
 Oh, Pearl Jean,
 She haunts the house,
 She haunts the green;
 And glowers at me
 With her wid-cat een.

"Pearlin" refers to either the wearing of making of lace. Can't you just picture this ghost with her "wild cat eyes"?

Some rhymes are actually witchcraft incantations or chants to change the weather, protect loved ones, or, as in the following churning charm, to turn the butter.

Come butter, come;
 Come, butter, come
 Peter stands at the gate,
 Waiting for a buttered cake
 Come, butter, come.

Prosecutor warns of bogus ticket sales

The Wayne County Consumer Protection Agency, a division of the Prosecutor's office, warns area residents not to buy $5 tickets to a supposed benefit for the "Wayne County Christian Nuns Society for Cripple Children." The tickets are being sold by telephone solicitation directed by a Detroit man named Edward Kaye, also known as Edward Krystoforski and Tarzan.

A warrant for Krystoforski's arrest charging a violation of the Charitable Solicitations Act, a misdemeanor, was recommended last Wednesday.

The tickets promise a "star-studded stage musical" by the Osmond Brothers and Julie London at Detroit's Olympia. Originally the show was scheduled for Dec. 15, but recently the date was changed to Feb. 2.

The Wayne County Christian Nuns Society for Cripple Children is not licensed to solicit for charitable events and is not to be confused with the non-profit association, the Metropolitan Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

A spokesman for the bona fide society said she has received calls for the last two months regarding the legitimacy of the supposed benefit.

Detroit Police report another outstanding warrant for Krystoforski's arrest stemming from his alleged sale of counterfeit tickets to the 1974 Detroit Police Lieutenants and Sergeants Association picnic.

OU offers real estate preparation

A range of real estate courses including preparation for the state salespeople and brokers license examinations will begin the week of Jan. 19 through the Division of Continuing Education at Oakland University.

The first real estate salespeople license preparation will be held Jan. 19-22. Other sessions are scheduled for Feb. 16-19, March 22-25, April 19-22 and May 17-20.

The first real estate brokers license preparation is scheduled for Jan. 26-29. Other sessions will be held Feb. 23-26, March 29-April 1, April 26-29 and May 24-27.

Both sales and brokers license preparation courses meet from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and are instructed by the real estate education faculty.

Real estate education is headed by William E. Booth, who was appointed to the post of director on Dec. 2.

Brochures detailing the courses and registration information may be obtained from the Continuing Education office, 377-3120.

WOMEN'S RESOURCE CENTER

The first voice you will hear when calling the Women's Resource Center will probably be that of Marge Lynch of Plymouth, the center's secretary.

In home-like surroundings, Sharon Etelamaki looks for names of volunteers.

BY SHERRY KAHAN

Bursting at the seams in its location in Bradner Library, the Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft College has picked itself up and moved down the street.

Now in a red brick house, just south of the campus on Haggerty, it has opened its doors, its arms and its services to members of the community.

Look for a sign that says "Community Services Center." Go inside. You'll find the hub of women activities at the college run by Jean Christensen and the center of the cultural affairs program run by Midge Ellis.

"It is a homier atmosphere," claimed Mrs. Christensen. "The women seem noisier here than they were in the library, so I think they are more relaxed."

Waving her arm around the large room that once served as a living room for the house, she added: "There is more room here for books and materials."

LINING THE WALLS are reference materials in which a visitor can quickly find information on general employment, financial aids for attending college, child care, feminist questions, and even interesting recreation areas in Michigan and YWCA programs.

"Most of the women who drop in are interested in information about career planning and employment," said Mrs. Christensen. "Others seek volunteer activities or just something to add interest to their lives."

A profile of the average visitor reveals a woman who is married, 34 years old and looking for work.

Whatever the search, there are volunteers on hand to aid them.

"In this building we have a private area that can be used for counseling by our volunteers," stated Mrs. Christensen. "It is also used by the Schoolcraft counselor who is assigned to this building for a half day each week."

MRS. CHRISTENSON'S office is at the north end of the building. In it she keeps tabs on the farflung activities of the women's department.

Two of the women involved in women's activities maintain offices on campus. They are Betty Andrews, like Mrs. Christensen an assistant to Dean Ron Griffiths of the community services department, and Peggy Price, now busy developing a widow-to-widow program.

Yvonne Cassidy is stationed in Schoolcraft's Northville Center in Cook High School, where she works on part time placement for retirees.

Sharon Etelamaki of Livonia is the new supervisor of volunteers, paid by federal funds under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA). Her headquarters can be found in the house on Haggerty.

THE WOMEN'S programs will become even more far flung with a listening center planned for the Garden City Center of Schoolcraft College from January through April.

There, a trained peer counselor will be assigned to talk to women about how the college can assist them with their various concerns.

"We plan to open a modest branch of the Women's Resource Center there in September," noted Mrs. Christensen.

Ms. Etelamaki is one of those women who just happened to drop in on one of the center's activities and stayed to take a fulltime job.

"I was new to the community and interested in meeting new people," she said. "I wanted to get involved in something. So I came to the lectures the center sponsored last fall in honor of Women's International Year and signed up to become a volunteer."

"I have a teaching degree, but with the difficult job situation in my field, I was looking for new career possibilities. I thought volunteering would give me a chance to find out if I were interested in the field of human behavior and counseling."

Like other volunteers, Ms. Etelamaki took a class on empathy training given by Linda Schaber, a trainer of volunteers. She also worked as a volunteer.

"I've had a good experience with the people I've met here," she said. "The training was great. We learned to communicate with people and help them bring out their feelings."

Her job is to recruit volunteers and schedule their training and orientation as well as their working hours.

ONE OF THE BEST places to find recruits to help in the women's resource center is through the many programs the center sponsors.

The calendar of events is full and varied and will start Monday, Jan. 19, with afternoon and evening sessions called the "Self-guided Career and Search Program." If you are serious about getting a job, this is the class for you.

Other programs during January, February and March will involve such subjects as "Divorce and Your Church," "Where to Go for Help," and "Single Parenting." Also on the agenda will be discussions of social alcoholism, coping with depression, and feminism: threat or promise.

An open support group for the returning student at Schoolcraft is scheduled to meet on Tuesday mornings beginning Jan. 20 from 9-11 a.m. in room B210 of the liberal arts building.

This is a chance provided by the WRC to take your frustrations, pleasures and anxieties as a student to other students like yourself who are recycling themselves through school.

Ron Griffiths is pleased that the WRC will be able to expand at the new location.

"It used to be in a room about 10 by 10 in the library, so this is a great improvement," he said.

He also noted that Mrs. Christensen, whose office used to be in the administration building apart from the center, will now be closer to the volunteers.

Mrs. Christensen is pleased that the center continues to grow in popularity as it faces a new year in a new location.

"Our attendance logs show that more people used the center on one day this December than used it during the whole month last December," she said.

Hockey to fight leukemia

A hockey game scheduled Saturday, Jan. 17 at 8 p.m. on the ice of Livonia's Ford Rink will raise funds to support work of the Children's Leukemia Foundation. The game, second annual event for the West Suburban chapter of the foundation, will pit members of the Franklin High School Interact Club, a student organization sponsored by Rotary, against members of the Livonia police and fire departments. Tickets at $1 will be sold at the door of the arena, on Lyndon west of Farmington Road. Pictured are Becky Sheppard (left), Interact president, Dennis Dallape of the Livonia police and Don Harris, co-president of the local chapter. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

New look in cultural office

MIDGE ELLIS

Midge Ellis, who is in charge of the cultural affairs program at Schoolcraft College, has decked her new office in the Community Services Center with posters and pictures of musicians and other performers.

She is particularly fond of jazz, so that many of the pictures are of musicians who have made a name for themselves in this idiom.

Ms. Ellis is the one who brings to the college musicians like Stan Kenton or speakers like Eric Van Danikin, whose talk on UFOs, she recalled, was the most well-attended event at the college since she came on the job.

"We had to turn 500 people away from the gym," she said.

To plan for the cultural and public affairs programs offered by the college, she usually sits down each spring with her advisory committee of students, staff members and members of the community.

However, sometimes that is not early enough.

"Say we wanted to get Alvin Toffler, author of "Future Shock," said Ms. Ellis. "It would be difficult to get him even if we tried for three years."

The programs brought to the college are funded partly by attendance fees and partly by the college.

"I love the job," said Mrs. Ellis. And no wonder. She often has the opportunity to meet and chat with psychologists, musicians, ballet dancers, authors and other celebrities.

"I like my new office," she added. "Students drop by and that is nice. They feel comfortable because it is just like a house."

Bio-feedback Town Hall topic

Can your mind help relieve physical distress?

This will be one of the questions discussed by Dr. Barbara Brown in her talk on bio-feedback at the Livonia Town Hall Wednesday, Jan. 21, at 10:30 in the Mai Kai Theater, Livonia.

Former chief of experimental physiology at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Sepulveda, Calif., Dr. Brown believes that the future of bio-feedback includes voluntary control over most automatic internal body processes: relief of medical problems from asthma to chronic heart distress; help in cases of psychosomatic illness and emotional distress; control over sleep and the possibility of the voluntary control over death.

Dr. Brown has been a lecturer in the department of psychiatry at the UCLA Medical Center. As a research pharmacologist in the pharmaceutical industry, she developed a number of drugs used in medicine and initiated basic studies in the physiology of behavior.

She also authored a book, "New Mind, New Body."

Tickets for the lecture may be bought at the theater door for $5. A ticket for both this lecture and the Rex Reed speech on the movies scheduled for March 17 may be bought for $8.

The purchase can be made at the door or by mailing a check to Mrs. Richard Dahler, 32284 Allen.

Tickets for the celebrity luncheon after Dr. Brown's talk can be secured by mailing a check for $4 to the Livonia Town Hall, Box 2143, Livonia 48150.

SC offers career search program

Women will learn career decision-making in the self-guided career search program. The program, sponsored by the Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft College, will be held during January and February.

Three sections are scheduled to meet for five sessions each. Volunteers from the resource center will facilitate the programs.

Starting Monday, Jan. 19, Jeanette Bickham will direct the section meeting 1-3 p.m. Dorothy Swanson will direct the one from 7-9 p.m.

A morning program will meet from 9-11 a.m. starting Tuesday, Jan. 20. It will be directed by Betty King.

Pre-registration at the resource center will take place through Thursday, Jan. 16 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Enrollment is limited. The $4 fee covers materials.

Sybill chapter plans Jan. 17 dance at Hyatt

The new Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn will be the setting for the annual dinner dance of the Sybill chapter of Armenian Relief Society, scheduled Saturday, Jan. 17, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

"Hai Time at the Hyatt" is the theme of the gala that will raise funds to help the Armenian people preserve their heritage and culture.

The dance is expected to attract members and friends from throughout the metropolitan area including Livonia, Plymouth, Northville, Dearborn, Farmington Hills and Bloomfield Hills.

Tickets, priced at $16 per person, will include hors d'oeuvres of Armenian delicacies including cheese beuregs, sarma, lakmajoon, meat balls and paklava.

Armenian music will be furnished by the Johnites and American music by the Joe Tricoff band. Special tickets for youth, to be used after 10 p.m. are being sold for $5.

Reservations should be made with Mrs. Onnig Hachigan, 14664 Ronnie Lane, Livonia.

Orchid society begins year

The Michigan Orchid Society will begin its new year with a meeting Sunday, Jan. 18, at 2:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church of Royal Oak, 529 Hendrie.

Dr. Kenneth Wilson of Purdue University will speak on orchid pests and diseases.

5 churches set unity week

Five churches, all located in the western part of Livonia, are joining forces in special observance of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, Jan. 18 to 25.

Cults will be discussed

Cults will be the subject of a meeting Sunday, Jan. 18 at 2 p.m. of the Citizens Freedom Foundation, a group founded to oppose the practices of certain religious cults.

To be held in St. Olaf Lutheran Church, 15701 James Couzens, Detroit, the meeting will feature talks by ex-cult members, a deprogrammer, hypnotist, members of the clergy and counselors.

The five are St. Edith Catholic, Holy Trinity Lutheran, Livonia Christian (Disciples of Christ), Timothy United Presbyterian and the Church of the Savior (Reformed Church in America).

The program for the week includes some exchange of pulpits on the two Sundays and a combined service Thursday, Jan. 22 at 8 p.m. in St. Edith, 15089 Newburgh, south of Five Mile.

That service will feature the Covenant Players, a dramatic group, and a social evening will follow. All in the area are invited to participate.

Plans for the week were finalized at a recent luncheon meeting of the five clergymen involved. They are the Rev. Jerome R. Fraser of St. Edith, the Rev. Fred W. Balke of Holy Trinity, the Rev. William H. Hass of Livonia Christian, the Rev. William H. Hass of Livonia Christian, the Rev. Ron VanDerWerff of Church of the Savior and the Rev. E. Dickson Forsyth of St. Timothy.

Mr. Forsyth, president of the Livonia Ministerial Association, said the clergymen hoped "many people will see this as an opportunity to share in the common heritage that we have as Christians."

"There are too few occasions when we can pray together," he added.

Fr. Fraser commented: "Whatever our differences be, there is much that we have in common. Many are surprised when they find out that beliefs are shared, for false ideas about each other have a way of hanging on.

4 Newburg programs ask 'Where are we going?'

World hunger, personal privacy and energy—nuclear and otherwise—are the topics for a series of four adult education programs scheduled Sunday evenings beginning Jan. 18 by Newburg United Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia.

The programs are grouped under a theme: "Where are we going?" Explained a spokesman for the church's adult education committee, arranging the series:

"This is a remark made after hearing or reading a brief news clip on something unusual or of personal concern—just enough information to arouse curiosity but not enough to answer many questions or to clear up a misconception or misunderstanding."

In the series, the spokesman added, "a guest speaker with particular knowledge on four separate topics will permit us to dig a little deeper, understand a little better just where it is we are going."

ROYAL SYNWOLT, a member of the staff of the Detroit Conference of the United Methodist Church, will lead the first meeting, scheduled at 7 p.m. Jan. 18.

The topic will be hunger and world food problems, viewed in the context of suburbia's overflowing grocery stores and the shortage of food in other parts of the world.

The second program, scheduled Jan. 25, will deal with privacy and personal data, especially the keeping of records on private citizens.

The speaker will be Jerry Chubb, University of Michigan faculty member who works on data collection in the university's Institute for Social Research.

NUCLEAR ENERGY and its alternatives will be the focus of the last two sessions.

On Feb. 1, the speaker will be Chihiro Kikuchi, Ph.D., of the University of Michigan department of nuclear engineering. He will discuss developments in nuclear power, review some of the findings from some of the plants in operation and present his possibilities, along with conservation of fuel, make nuclear power unnecessary. A question-and-answer period and discussion will follow all the talks, and all the programs are expected to be completed by 9 p.m. A free nursery will be available each evening.

ISRAEL BORN TO DESTINY
The Time To Favor Zion Has Come

The right of the Jew to have a homeland as do all people, has been a matter of debate and issue during much of this century.

Whatever basis for claim the Jew may have upon Israel, is supported by scriptures which foretold that this land was divinely decreed to be his possession. A look at past history proves the futility of man's attempt to solve world problems by pacts, however when God's time for peace on earth is come, it will be accomplished.

Brunch raises funds for deaf

A benefit brunch will be served at Madonna College Sunday, Jan. 18, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., to raise funds for deaf students enrolled in the college interpreting for the deaf program.

"Other sources of tuition are not available to some of our adult deaf students," explained Sr. Mary Francilene, Madonna dean, "and in some cases we have more than one person in a family enrolled."

The brunch, which is open to the public, will be served in the Residence Hall dining room on Madonna Court, off Levan Road north of Schoolcraft. The "all you can eat" menu includes fruit, scrambled eggs, sausages, spaghetti and meat sauce, hot rolls and donuts, and a choice of beverages for a donation of $3 for adults and $1.75 for children under 10 years of age. Reservations are not necessary.

Church Bulletin

CHURCH OF THE SAVIOR, 38100 Five Mile, Livonia, will celebrate its 10th anniversary Sunday, Jan. 18, with a congregational dinner following Sunday school at 9:15 a.m. and morning worship at 10:30.

Many charter members and former members who have left the area are expected back for the occasion. The program following the dinner will include slides of the church's growth from 1966 to 1976, special choir music, and talks by the Rev. Kenneth Hesselink of Cleveland, field secretary for the Reformed Church denomination, and the Rev. Ron VanDerWerf, pastor of the local church.

AUGSBURG LUTHERAN CHURCH, 24801 West Chicago, Redford Township, will present baritone Mark Watson in a concert Sunday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. The concert is the second in a series designated to raise money to renovate the church organ, and admission will be $1.

Accompanied by Todd Gresick, minister of music at Augsburg, Watson will perform works by Mozart, Mendelssohn, Poulenc, Vaughan Williams, Rachmaninoff and Rogers and Hammerstein.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Six Mile and Farmington Road, Livonia, will install the Rev. William C. Moore as an assistant pastor in services Sunday, Jan. 18, at 7 p.m.

The Rev. Bartlett L. Hess, senior minister, will give the charge, and other Ward participants in the service will be the Rev. L. Edward Davis, Jerry J. Smith, director of music, and elders John Baird and John Cotner.

The Rev. E. Dickson Forsyth of St. Timothy Presbyterian Church of Livonia will give the invocation and Lord's Prayer.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH, Six Mile west of Farmington Road, Livonia, will present the Gospel Echoes, a group of Detroit area gospel singers, in a concert at 7 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 18.

Vocalists Bill Kidwell, Cal Wilson, Garry Mudge, Ron Fleming and Gary

leagle, have sung together four years and are heard regularly on radio stations WEXL and WMUZ as well as being featured on several records.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE, 41550 E. Ann Arbor Trail, will present a program with the Rev. Wendell Hansen and his Gospel Birds.

His performance involves birds collected from all over the world in acts like roller skating, talking, singing and riding an airplane. Mr. Hansen is former president of Great Commission Schools in Anderson, Ind.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF PLYMOUTH, 701 Church, will welcome the Rev. Henry J. Walch, minister emeritus, to its pulpit for both 9:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday, Jan. 18.

His topic will be "The Dawn of Day." Mr. Walch served the congregation from 1943 to 1971.

ST. JOHN BOSCO CATHOLIC CHURCH, 12170 Beech Daly, north of Plymouth Road in Redford Township, plans an evening of reparation to pray for an anti-abortion constitutional amendment.

The date marks the third anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court decision restricting the power of states to pass anti-abortion laws. The service, beginning at 8 p.m., will include rosaries and holy hours and will end with midnight mass.

NANKIN MILLS BAPTIST CHURCH, 32430 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland, plans a potluck dinner Thursday, Jan. 15 at 6:30 p.m. in the church hall.

BETHEL BAPTIST TEMPLE, 29475 W. Six Mile, Livonia, is beginning a class for young marrieds Sundays at 10 a.m. with Robert Powers as the teacher. Those wishing more information about the class may call the pastor, the Rev. H.L. Petty, at the church.

Plant party

The Detroit West Suburban alumnae of Alpha Phi sorority will hold a plant party Monday, Jan. 19, at 8 p.m. in the home of Joyce Gorman, 710 N. Waverly, Dearborn. Reservations should be telephoned to Mrs. James Page, 2445 Glenview, Royal Oak.

St. Michael plans building

St. Michael Lutheran Church of Canton is progressing on plans for a new worship home, with hopes to have it completed by Fall 1976.

The new church will be located at 7000 Sheldon, south of Gallimore school where the congregation, led by the Rev. Robert Schacht, now is worshipping.

Dick Kinsey, president of the building committee, said the architectural firm of Tkacz-Nashlen has been selected to design the church and will submit preliminary drawings soon. Groundbreaking is scheduled for early spring.

Best-known local writer was Russell Kirk

(Part II)

One of the most prolific and best known of the authors born in Plymouth is Russell Kirk.

Kirk was born here near the railway station in 1918. In his book, "Confessions of a Bohemian Tory" (1963), Kirk describes the house he was born in—a bungalow of a scale most majestic, built in 1913 by my grandfather, Frank Pierce, the leading spirit of the North End, or Lower Town." Kirk's father, a railroad engineer, married Pierce's daughter, Marjorie.

Kirk, a nationally-known conservative critic, biographer, novelist and syndicated columnist, has published 18 books; several hundred essays, short stories and reviews; and a newspaper column, "To the Point," which is syndicated to nearly every state of the union.

DR. KIRK attended school in Plymouth. He earned a bachelor's degree at Michigan State University, master's at Duke University, and Doctor of Letters at St. Andrews in Scotland.

Since 1948, he has been professor or visiting professor of history, politics, literature or humanities at several universities in the United States.

Kirk's first books, "St. Andrews" and "A Program for Conservatives," were published in 1954. His latest, "The Roots of American Order," is in its second printing this year. "The Conservative Mind, from Burke to Eliot," a widely-reviewed work of political theory, went into its fifth edition in 1972.

Kirk's book, "Eliot and His Age" (1972), is about the celebrated poet T.S. Eliot who won the Nobel prize for literature in 1948. In another vein, Kirk also has written three works of Gothic fiction.

A frequent traveler on the lecture circuit, Kirk has debated many nationally-known speakers including Hubert Humphrey, William Buckley, and Malcolm X. A few years ago at Boston College he debated the left-wing lawyer, William Kunstler—"whom fire follows, as Mary Stuart said of John Knox."

KIRK NOW LIVES with his wife and four children at Mecosta, Mich., a small town west of Mount Pleasant.

"We have been busy restoring (in an archaic Italianate fashion) my ancestral house of Piety Hill, ruined by fire last Ash Wednesday," he writes.

"In the new building, we are incorporating all sorts of pleasant things snatched from the jaws of the urban renewers of Grand Rapids: Two vast terracotta lion's heads from the vanished Isis Theatre, one travertine lion's head from the Morton House Hotel, much oaken paneling from a demolished Anglican church, more paneling from the destroyed Big Rapids courthouse, eight bronze griffins from a demolished bank, etc. Perhaps we should rename our house Nightmare Abbey."

ANOTHER PLYMOUTH author, Charles Root, has written a novel, "Storm Wrack," which was published by Dorrance and Company in 1970.

Root is a descendent of one of the earliest families to settle in this area. His book traces the life of a boy after his body is inhabited by the spirit of a lecherous and intransigent old sinner. The protagonist, John Morgan, drifts from woman to woman and from job to job.

Plymouth's youngest author, Ann Elizabeth Sulkowski, wrote a book, "The Witch Who Used a Six-Shift Vacuum Cleaner," which was published in 1970, when Ann was 12. It was originally turned in as a fifth-grade story assignment at Pioneer Middle School.

Mrs. Donald (Betty) Urquhart published her remembrance of life with father in her 1973. Entitled "Dig Weeds My Son!" it is a biographical profile of her father, W.A. Betts, a southern Methodist minister who cultivated gardens, planted trees and improved the property of parsonages from North Carolina to Texas ("with slave labor" his boys complained). The area's latest author is township resident Don Wilson whose book,

"Our Mysterious Spaceship Moon," was issued by the Dell Publishing Company in October 1975. In the book, Wilson, a high school history teacher, projects the idea that the moon is a spacecraft occupied by intelligent beings from outer space.

PLYMOUTH ALSO HAS had a number of writers of articles and pamphlets.

Nettie Dibble's 35-page "Plymouth History" was published in pamphlet form by the Plymouth Mail as a public service in 1931. Mrs. Dibble, wife of Fred Dibble, who owned a clothing store on Main Street, was asked to write the history by the Plymouth Woman's Club. She was assisted by Ada Murray, who was in charge of the public library at the time.

Mrs. Donald (Marian) Sober, well-known art and crafts teacher, has written a number of booklets on traditional crafts including basket patterns, chair seat weaving, nautical knots and braiding.

Patrick Butler, a local resident who is director of the library at Schoolcraft College, has written many humorous articles for the Saturday Review.

There are undoubtedly many more Plymouth authors who have given birth to books of which I am unaware. Those who know of any I have omitted will do me a favor by calling them to my attention.

Authors deserve all of the recognition they can get because, as Thomas R. Coward wrote, "the writing of books is a precarious profession at best, and the rewards must always lie in the intangible joy and pain of creation."

Rotarians told of oil needs

AL VAN NICE

An expanded search for oil and gas fields on the U.S. outer continental shelf is urgently needed because three-fourths of the nation's 1985 oil and gas needs will have to come from either imports or U.S. fields not yet discovered.

That was the message from Al Van Nice who told the Plymouth Rotary Club Friday that the urgency for an early beginning is evident because of the lead time involved—from four to more than 10 years—from the time the government initiates an offshore lease sale to when actual production of oil or gas begins.

ager of Mobil Oil Corp., told Plymouth Rotarians that U.S. consumption of oil and gas will continue to rise—even with strong conservation efforts, a one per cent per-year population growth and "substantially more" coal and nuclear power becoming available.

He said the United States now consumes 28 million barrels of oil equivalents each day, and this will increase to 32 million barrels per day by 1985. At the same time, he said, production from proved domestic reserves will drop from 21 million to only nine barrels per day.

"That means 23 million barrels per day, or three-fourths of what we need, will have to come either from increased imports or increased domestic production."

TO INCREASE domestic production and reduce the nation's dependency on foreign oil, Van Nice said "the vast and little explored offshore areas of the outer continental shelf offer the largest and most significant potential."

"Oil and gas there could equal almost half as much as the U.S. has produced in its entire history. Of course, there is simply no way to know how much oil and gas may exist in an area until it is extensively explored and drilled."

Van Nice said there are three areas off the East Coast which appear attractive for exploration: the Georges Bank east of Cape Cod; the Baltimore Trough off the Mid-Atlantic Coast; and the Blake Plateau off the southeastern states.

But, he emphasized, "it is unlikely that wells would be drilled within 30 miles of Long Island, or 50 miles off Cape Cod."

He said opinion research indicates that the public is generally in favor of offshore drilling because most persons recognize the need for more oil and gas in the future. In a nationwide survey last fall, he noted, Opinion Research Corporation found 74 per cent "strongly" or "mildly" in favor of offshore drilling.

"The search for gas and oil offshore is very active around the world, and right now one-fifth of all the oil used comes from beneath the sea. Nations bordering on the North Sea, for example, are less dependent on imports than they used to be.

"Britain expects to be self-sufficient in oil in the 1980s and Norway soon will be able to export.

"For our country, we believe that prompt and orderly development offshore will achieve the proper balance between utilizing a resource we all need—and protecting the environment.

"The industry has drilled more than 19,000 wells off U.S. shores and produced some seven billion barrels of oil and 33 trillion cubic feet of gas. In all that activity, there have been only four major spills—and there is no evidence that any of these caused long-term environmental damage."

Fun, adventure in Kipling tale

"The Man Who Would Be King" is being billed as "Rudyard Kipling's epic of splendor, spectacle and high adventure." Expectations of that magnitude can prove a real handicap to a generally entertaining film such as this one.

"The Man Who Would Be King" teams Michael Caine and Sean Connery in a sort of "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid Find Lost Horizons" with "Gunga Din" overtones.

Director John Huston adapted the film from a Rudyard Kipling tale about two scapegrace British ex-soldiers who decide to make their fortunes by conquering the remote country of Kafiristan, untouched by civilization since it was last visited by a white man — Alexander the Great in 325 B.C.

Through an odd combination of events, the Kafiristanis come to regard Connery as a god — the son of Alexander — which brings him a trove of gold and jewels left behind by his "father" 2200 years earlier. But the sacrilegious pretense eventually leads to ruin for the conquerors — Kipling's allegory for the fate of the British colonial effort.

HUSTON SETS the tone for the bizarre story in the opening moments of the film when the audience is led through a marketplace whose merchants are the snake charmers, scorpion taunters and other showmen of Eastern mysticism.

Here the film is impressive. The semi-delirium of the inescapable yellow Indian heat is transferred to the whirling showmen and to the staggering, sinister figure of Caine, who has come to relate his story to an astounded and somewhat frightened Kipling (Christopher Plummer).

Connery and Caine carry the main portion of the film with a mixture of humor, sentiment and backs-against-the-wall camaraderie in the Newman-Redford mold.

"The Man Who Would Be King" is certainly no epic, nor is it particularly splendid or spectacular. It is an absorbing and entertaining retelling of an excellent story that, offered without pretensions, is well worth an evening.

4 soloists appear on Oakway program

The Oakway Symphony Orchestra will perform at 4 p.m. Jan. 25 in the Mercy High School Auditorium, Eleven Mile and Middle Belt roads, Farmington Hills. Francesco DiBlasi will conduct the orchestra.

Verdi's "Requiem" is the entire program. Soloists are Katy Wolff, soprano; Anne Jaffe, contralto; Edward Kingins, tenor; and Conwell Carrington, bass.

The Kenneth Jewell Chorale will be supplemented by the Oakway Symphonic Choir, a group of selected singers from Birmingham Seaholm High School, Bentley Concert Choir, Northern Chorale from North Farmington High and Southfield-Lathrup Madrigal Singers.

The concert, which features a total of 190 voices including the Jewell Chorale, is made available in part through a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

"Requiem" is a theatrical piece Verdi wrote in commemoration of Manzoni, famous librettist in Italy. It calls for eight extra trumpets.

Conductor DiBlasi said of the program, "We've been rehearsing this since Dec. 1. This is one of the big choral works of all time, ranking with Beethoven's Ninth or Kodaly's 'Te Deum.' The solo parts are more demanding than grand opera."

Tickets priced for adults and students are available at Hudson's, Royal Music in Royal Oak, Hamill Music in Livonia, Madonna College in Livonia, and the Southfield Parks and Recreation office.

Musical "Godspell" is being presented at student cabaret theater.

Cabaret theater does 'Godspell'

Schoolcraft College will present its student cabaret theater production, "Godspell," in four performances this month.

The musical will be staged on consecutive weekends of Jan. 16-17 and 23-24 in the Waterman Campus Center.

The production, described as a "joyous interpretation of the Gospel according to St. Matthew," is carried out by a band of clowns who sing, dance and mug their way through the parables.

Jesus is portrayed by Phil Shargraw of Plymouth. Judas is played by Jerry Westerman of Ann Arbor.

Other performers include Rhonda Bocaroussa, Steve Doud and Julie Rotary of Livonia; Charla Baird of Plymouth; Dennis Saltarelli of Northville; Helen Slaven of Garden City, and Sue Kruk of Detroit.

Lewis Kaplan of Livonia Stevenson High School directs the play. Bob Gregory of Clarenceville High serves as technical director.

Jean Newell, a Livonia dance instructor, directs the choreography, and Laurie Wiselogle of Livonia, a Schoolcraft student, is the production prompter.

Prior to the performance, a French cuisine is served of Quiche Lorraine, bowls of mixed cheeses and fruits, French bread and red and white wines.

Tickets are available Monday through Friday at the campus bookstore.

Additional performances are planned for February and March.

ent Garden debut.

The role of Lucia's lover, Edgardó, will be performed by tenor Neil Shicoff, whose most recent success was the title role in the Cincinnati May Festival production of "Ernani." Shicoff has performed with the opera companies of Santa Fe, Washington D.C., and later this season is scheduled for the title role in the Houston Grand Opera's production of "Faust."

'Lucia' opening at Music Hall Center

Michigan Opera Theatre (MOT) announces its third production of the 1975-76 season, Donizetti's tragic love story, "Lucia Di Lammermoor," opening Friday at Music Hall Center in Detroit.

Performance dates and times are: Friday at 8:30 p.m., Sunday at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday at 1:30 p.m., Jan. 23 and 24 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the Music Hall Center Box Office.

963-7680, and may be charged to BankAmericard or Master Charge.

Of this new production, sung in English, General Director Dr. David DiChiera states: "This will not be the typical, stereotyped, stand-up-and-sing 'Lucia.' Rather its dazzling vocal display will be put to the service of the strong drama inherent in the work."

The title role of Lucia will be sung by 26-year-old New York City Opera soprano Catherine Malfitano, of whom Women's Wear Daily said, "This girl is a super-star in the making, with a glorious voice that matches her youthful beauty."

THE SUBJECT of a recent Opera News feature and Musical America's musician of the month (July, 1975), Miss Malfitano has performed with many of the major companies in this country, and soon will make her Cov-

Rocks bombard Ford to stay perfect

By FRED DeLANO

Dearborn Edsel Ford chose to challenge Plymouth Salem in a run-and-shoot basketball match Tuesday night. When the scoreboard showed a 4-4 standoff after the first few moments it seemed to make sense.

Not so, however, at the final buzzer when Salem possessed an 85-57 triumph to solidify further its status as one of the top contenders for the state Class A championship.

The ease of the 10th straight victory in 10 outings this winter for the unscathed Rocks undoubtedly will keep them in the top trio of teams in Michigan's high school popularity polls. The win also gives Salem a 5-0 mark in the Suburban Eight and undisputed possession of first place in the quest for a third straight league championship.

The victory over Edsel Ford's Thunderbirds was Plymouth's second in a row on a foreign court. The Rocks will return home Friday night to take on Allen Park in a bid to run their winning skein at home to 25 in a row over a three season span.

Senior Jim Ellinghausen led Plymouth's attack against Edsel Ford with 37 points on 15 field goals and a perfect seven for seven from the line. The 6-8 pivot man also paced the board attack as he grabbed 14 of the team's 42 rebounds.

Coach Fred Thomann used all 13 of his varsity players after the Rocks had pounded their way to 25-14, 41-26 and 62-44 leads at the quarter breaks. Brian Wolcott with 12 points and Bob Evans and Mike Primeau, each with 10, added balance to the Plymouth offense.

EDSEL FORD actually took more shots from the floor than Salem, but made only 25 of its 70 while the Rocks hit the cords 36 of the 65 times they put the ball in the air. This 55 per cent shooting mark kept Plymouth in the 53 per cent range for the entire season to date, unusually high for a full squad in high school ranks.

Ellinghausen's 15 field goals against the Thunderbirds came on 25 tries and the Rocks also boasted such performances as Bob Evans hitting on all five of his attempts and Brian Wolcott hitting six for 11.

Wolcott played another fine floor game, leading the squad with eight assists. Howard Inch chipped in with seven and Evans with five.

"We played an all-around good defensive game," said Thomann, "and our motion offense forced Edsel Ford to keep trying different things in an effort to stop our kids. They went from a man-to-man defense to a box to a zone and back to man to man, but none of it worked."

"Our ball handling was exceptionally sharp and we made only seven turnovers, six on bad passes and one on a fumble."

At 10-0 the Rocks are off to the finest start in the school's history, exactly half way to a perfect record for the 20 regular season.

"We'll take 'em one at a time," cautioned Thomann. "It's nice to be rated among the two or three top teams in Michigan, but one defeat could ruin it all. Some mighty tough ball games still are coming up, particularly with Redford Union at home and two on the road against Trenton and Livonia Bentley before we even start thinking about the state tournament."

Chiefs stay hot, drop Riverside

A perfect night at the foul line, some solid defensive play and a tough second half on the boards paced Canton's surging Chiefs to their second consecutive victory Tuesday night as they beat the Rebels of Dearborn Heights Riverside, 56-55.

Four Chiefs entered the double digit column in scoring, as Keith Osborne Close led the attack with 20 while Tom Close chipped in 14.

Waiting for the good shot, and playing a controlled deliberate floor game, the Chiefs were outshot by the Rebels, as the Dearborn squad connected on 23 buckets from the floor compared to 19 for the Canton team.

BUT A VERY TIMELY hot night at the charity stripe staved off defeat for the Chiefs as they hit on 18 of 18 foul shots.

Riverside jumped out to an early lead, as the Canton man-to-man defense seemed unable to contain the Rebels, but a hot second quarter pulled the Chiefs out to a 28-24 lead as the players left the floor for the locker room.

The Rebels came back to outscore the Chiefs in the last two periods by three points; but it was too little, too late, and the Chiefs won by one, 56-55.

Coach Casey Cavell, all smiles after his second big win in a row, commented "The score really gave the appearance the game was closer than it was."

"After the first quarter we were pretty much in control. With two minutes to go we were up by six and with three seconds left we lead by three and we let them score, but it's a good thing we had such a good night at the foul line."

He added "Osborne played a very consistent game and we scored when we needed to. It was a good team effort—we played a well-controlled offense, we were steady and we worked for the good shot."

"The kids are very well disciplined and we didn't make many mistakes. A strong rebounding effort in the second half really helped."

"I'm really pleased with our play—we're playing well and we're playing together."

Wayne takes invitational

Among the 32 schools at the Schoolcraft High School Wrestling Invitational, Plymouth-Salem Rocks placed 11th with 55½ points and the Plymouth-Canton Chiefs earned 19 team points.

Two Rockmen placed in the tournament. Dave Champion was pitted against Earl Holman of Ypsilanti for the 187 division title. In a tough match, Holman was able to keep his lead and won on a 7-5 decision, taking the first place medal. Champion sports a 13-2-1 record and Holman a 19-3-1 record for the season.

The Rocks' Les Hassen came in fifth in the 114 weight class. In so doing, Hassen earned his eighth and ninth falls of this year.

Glenn takes net tourney

A second-place finish for Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton's fourth place in last weekend's invitational eight-team girls' volleyball tournament in the Salem gym brought both camps optimism for winning records in the season that lies ahead.

Sparked by its all-tournament stars Kathy Dillon and Cheri Leveille, Salem swept to seven straight victories in the round-robin phase of the tourney from which semifinalists were chosen.

Back of Salem's 7-0 mark were Westland John Glenn at 6-1, Clarenceville 5-2, Canton and Wayne Memorial both 3-4, Ann Arbor Huron and Oak Park both 2-5 and Taylor Truman 0-7.

In the semifinals Salem won a hard-fought battle from neighboring Canton, 16-14, while in the other bracket John Glenn measured Clarenceville, 15-4.

After beating John Glenn handily in the preliminaries, 15-9, Salem's girls wilted when it came down to the championship and Glenn took possession of the first place trophy with 15-3 and 15-12 wins over the Rocks.

In the struggle for third place Clarenceville whipped Canton, 15-9, but Coach Cyndi Burnstein's Chiefs stamped themselves as definite Western Six title contenders, nonetheless.

For Salem, Coach Brian Gilles obviously has another powerhouse to send forth in an effort to improve on last year's second place finish in the Suburban Eight.

In addition to Dillon and Leveille, the all-tournament team included Mary Hibard of Ann Arbor Huron, Judy Fredericks of Clarenceville, and the trio of DiAnn Gorham, Robin Soave and Kim Wintersteen, all of John Glenn. The most valuable player award went to Gorham.

To reach the semifinals Salem posted successive victories over Huron, 15-4; Canton, 16-14; Clarenceville, 16-14; Wayne, 15-10; Truman, 15-1; John Glenn, 15-9; and Oak Park, 15-7.

Canton whipped Wayne, 15-13; Truman, 15-10, and Oak Park en route to the semis.

Rock JVs win

By THOMAS ZAIBEK

Winning has become a way of life for the Plymouth Salem JVs, as they won their sixth game in a row and eight out of the last nine games they have played.

In routing Belleville 68-49, Plymouth continued its mastery over the opposition again showing superior strength on defense, and an array of offensive wizardry.

Coach Craig Bell substituted freely midway in the second period after Plymouth took a 20-9 first period lead, with guards Doug Agnew and Rich Hewlett contributing six points apiece.

Dominating the boards, along with Belleville mistakes were enough for a 36-20 halftime lead.

Dan Brightbill, scoring 10 points in the third period, gave the Rocks a comfortable 52-37 lead.

Even the reserves, playing most of the fourth quarter, outscored Belleville 16-12.

Dan Brightbill and Rich Hewlett led the Rocks' scoring attack with 16 points each. Doug Agnew had 12 points and Mitch Haas had 10. Stu Roth had three. John Marshall, Dave Menk, Andy Melin, Pat Cavanaugh and Jim Van Boven each had two.

Mitch Haas takes this week's top performer honors with his aggressive defensive and offensive board work. He leads his team in rebounds.

Plymouth hosts Allen Park Jan. 16.

SEMTA expands bus line

Persons trying to reach Schoolcraft College, Hawthorne Child Center and Northville State Hospital will have a public bus system serving them, starting today (Thursday).
 The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) will initiate its new Seven Mile line between Grand River and downtown Northville.

 The line will have stops at Livonia Mall at Middle Belt, Schoolcraft College and Hawthorne Center on Haggerty near Seven Mile, Northville State Hospital, west of Haggerty, and downtown Northville.

There will be 11 round trips daily from 6:15 a.m. to 6:50 p.m. weekdays. There will be no service on weekends and holidays.

SEMTA said the new line will connect with the Detroit Department of Transportation to and from downtown Detroit at Grand River and with SEMTA's Middle Belt-Inkster Road bus line to Livonia Mall.

John Zugich, new Northville Hospital director, said the institution has 670 employees on a round-the-clock basis and about 10 workers and 10 visitors daily would use the bus line.

Zugich said the new bus line will serve as an "important link" for the employees and visitors to the institution.

Zugich said workers and visitors had expressed a need for improved bus service and helped take part in the discussions leading to the bus service expansion.

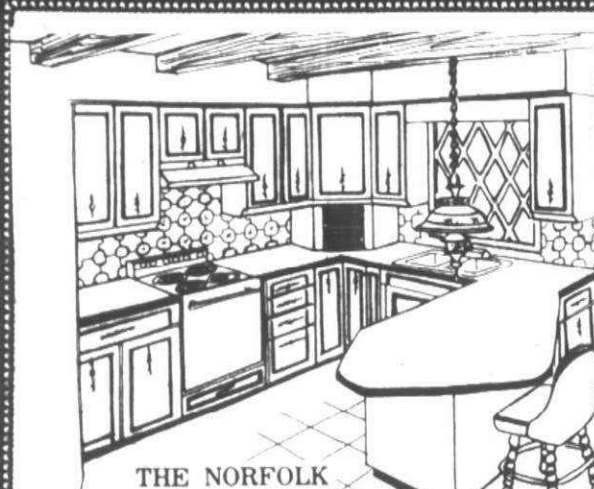

SEMTA ALSO announced changes in its Middle Belt-Inkster route to improve its coordination with the new Seven Mile line at Livonia Mall.

The major change will be south of Michigan Avenue. The buses now travel south along Inkster Road to Carlisle, west on Carlisle to Andover, west to Henry Ruff and then north to Michigan Avenue.

Starting today, the buses will be traveling south on Inkster Road to Van Born, west to Middle Belt, north to Michigan Avenue and then to Wayne County General Hospital on Merriman. The return trip will be just the opposite, SEMTA said.

There will be time changes involved in the Middle Belt-Inkster route and persons may call SEMTA at 962-5515 in Detroit for scheduling and fare information.

INSULATION
The Great Protector

Insulation is the greatest protection your home can have from the needless waste of energy and money. It keeps the cool in your refrigerator—the heat in your oven. Installed in your home, it provides a double benefit. It keeps the warm air in during the winter and the hot air out in summer. Insulation is the key to saving scarce energy and dollars on your heating and cooling bills.

How much insulation should you have? At least six inches of quality insulation in the ceiling of your home. Also, to increase your savings of energy and money, install storm doors and windows, weather-strip and caulk cracks.

* For more ideas on how to save scarce energy and heating and cooling dollars, call or stop in for our free booklet, "Why Insulate?"

Claymoor: It's everything you deserve,

and it's ready.

You're partial to the better things in life. You take a swimming pool and tennis courts for granted. You like a valet to park your car and a doorman to welcome you 24 hours a day. You appreciate a sauna and an occasional massage. As for maid service, that goes without saying.

That's why we built Claymoor, a full-service apartment.

And it's waiting for you. Should you need no more than 1400 square feet, our 2-bedroom, 2-bath apartments are ideal. But should you require 2000 to 3000 square feet, we'll custom design a dazzling suite for you quicker than you can say, "Voluptuous elegance."

Claymoor: It's for people who like to be spoiled... and deserve to be.
