Deception charged in payment to treasurer

By RICHARD GOLD

Charges of deception have been leveled against the township administration by several members of the township board of trustees following approval of the bills Tuesday night.

Tucked away as item number 28 on the list of bills, which are routinely approved at the end of each regularly scheduled meeting of the township board, was a bill for $825—payable to Treasurer Carl Parsell who was absent from the meeting.

The money, payment to Parsell for serving on the planning commission, breaks down to $25 for each of 33 meetings attended in 1975.

"It's retroactive pay," said trustee Jim Poole, the only board member of the five present (trustee Bob Myers was also absent) to vote against payment of the bills. "I have nothing against Carl getting paid, but I think they tried to slip it past us and I think that's pretty sorry procedure. That's why I voted against it."

"I just don't see how they can possibly think it's okay to pay him when at the last meeting a resolution to pay officers and trustees compensation for service above their required duties was tabled and then never reintroduced."

AT A MEETING of the board Feb. 10, a motion that would have allowed extra pay for board members when they attended meetings not considered part of their elected jobs was tabled when members of the administration said further study was needed on the matter.

Clerk John Flodin said the motion tabled had nothing to do with Parsell's pay. "We had questions about other kinds of meetings like a trustee going to SEMCOG, or a recreation meeting or an inter-governmental meeting."

"That motion had to do with those sorts of meetings, not the planning commission. The Michigan Township's Association

(MTA) came out with a ruling that said a member of the board of trustees serving on the planning commission can be paid the same as the rest of the commissioners."

Although it had never been done in the past, Flodin said he thought it was a fair decision. "When I served on the planning commission I thought I should have been paid."

Prior to the motion three weeks ago, the township asked counsel William Sempliner for an opinion on whether board members could be paid for extra meetings.

According to Flodin, the answer was nebulous. "Nothing's been done because the opinion said yes and no. There was no clear cut decision on it."

"From what I gather, maybe you can and maybe you can't. Right now we just don't have enough information to make an intelligent decision."

Flodin said a second problem was involved. "It's a matter of degree, really. When is one serving the township above and beyond his required duties? That's a separate issue all to itself."

TRUSTEE BRIAN Schwall, who voted to approve the bills, later admitted he hadn't seen the payment to Parsell on the list.

"I think it was absolutely deceptive," he commented. "The board was never asked whether we wanted to pay Carl—it was never out in the public."

In fact, earlier we asked if Carl was going to be paid and they said point blank he wasn't.

"That was the last we heard of it." Schwall said part of the problem existed because trustees don't see the bills until the night of the meeting, and he suggested either getting the bills a week earlier or tabling the bills at each meeting for further study.

"I really regret I didn't pick it up, but it was under the head of the planning commission which was in bold print, and Par-

Share facilities

Recreation is studied

Efforts are being revised to take a closer look at sharing of recreational facilities among the communities of the City of Plymouth, Canton, Plymouth, Salem and Superior townships.

The Intra-governmental Committee Wednesday night discussed steps to be taken to determine to what extent and how the five communities could join to provide broader recreational opportunities for residents.

The initial step which will be investigated is consideration of a survey to determine community needs for recreation and attitudes towards joint efforts.

NEXT MONTH the Intra-governmental Committee hopes to meet with members of the area recreation committee to discuss alternatives.

The initial step is expected to be to determine, by means of a reliable survey, the extent and depth of the public's needs and desires for recreational service.

An early effort also hoped for is interim coordination during 1976 to avoid needless duplication of offerings to explore sharing of available facilities, and to consider listing programs offered by all units in one joint publication.

In the longer run, the committee hopes methods of equalizing the use of facilities among units will be studied for possible implementation.

The long-range goal is to develop a plan for initiating community-wide delivery of recreation opportunities. Such a plan might include: recommend age groups to be given priority on the basis of unmet needs identified by the survey; estimate the costs of delivering the recreational opportunities identified by the survey; identify facilities needed to provide these opportunities; and, propose a timetable to implement initial phases of area-wide recreation opportunity development.

THE COMMITTEE discussed, but discarded, a suggestion to have a summer class on conducting surveys at the University of Michigan do a survey on recreation in this area.

The survey could be conducted for about $6,000 with student help, although such a survey normally would cost about $30,000. The problem the committee faced was that a request for U-M to do the survey had to be placed very soon, and there wasn't enough time to give the city commission and township boards time to discuss and decide if they wanted to commit money for the survey.

The committee felt a door-to-door survey was preferable to a written survey mailed to residents.

The Intra-governmental representatives felt it would probably be best to have experts on surveys from each governmental unit compile a questionnaire. The committee felt if the survey instrument was properly drawn, then volunteers from the community could be used to conduct the actual survey. Some felt it would be necessary to hire an expert in surveying to train the volunteers.

NORB BATTERMAN, city commissioner, commented that the key to any total community recreation integration will be the balance of recreational facilities among the communities.

"Each unit has, or should have, something of equal recreational value to offer," said Batterman. "The city has an ice arena which the other units don't. But Salem Township has three golf courses, and Plymouth Township one. The city doesn't have enough land to build a golf course or even additional ball diamonds such as Canton is building.

"We must discover what our residents want in the way of recreation and then look at what each governmental unit already has to offer. Then maybe we can work out a real sharing arrangement without getting hung up on a per capita assessment based on capitol investments, which doesn't necessarily line up with what our people want or what the individual governments can provide on their own."

"Instead of only counting dollars invested, we should look at what recreation people want and attempt for balanced offerings. If this question of balanced offerings and equitable contributions cannot be settled, we'll never get a fully operative community recreation program."

"All joint community recreation efforts to date have fallen apart because of the funding question."

IT WAS SUGGESTED that the com-

Land use plan hearing is tonight

A public hearing on Canton's proposed master land use plan is scheduled for tonight (Monday) at 7:30 p.m. in the Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium.

The hearing, to be conducted by the township planning commission is designed specifically for gathering public opinion on the plan, considered by many to be revolutionary.

At the heart of the plan is an attempt to save almost 9,000 acres west of Canton Center as an agricultural greenbelt.

Taxes on 6,300 acres of farmland, called agricultural-industrial will be reduced under the new plan so that commercial farming can become economically viable.

Urbanization in the eastern portion of the township, already fully under way, will continue but at reduced residential densities.

Overall growth of the township, according to the new plan, will stop sometime near 1995, with a final population of 100,000. At that time, when the township is fully developed, about 31,000 dwelling units of differing sizes and classifications will have been constructed in Canton.

While the most affected by the new plan will be land holders with property west of Canton Center, some changes in land use have been proposed for the eastern half of the township, including greater numbers of large lots, and substantial downzoning on Canton Center Road.

"We're encouraging everyone to attend," said Clerk John Flodin. "This plan affects all of us. I hope we have a good turnout."

Summaries and maps of the plan are still available at the township business offices at 44508 Geddes, at the Chamber of Commerce Office in the Harvard Square Shopping Center, and at the Township Firehall, at the corner of Cherry Hill and Canton Center Roads.

If and when the plan is approved by the planning commission, a zoning ordinance implementing the plan must be passed by the township board. That is expected to take anywhere up to six months if approval of the plan is granted by the planning commission.

CEP talents (?) ham it up for charity

The National Honor Society and the Centennial Educational Park art department collaborated on the second annual faculty talent show in Plymouth Salem auditorium. Proceeds of the show fund an art scholarship and a donation to the American Cancer Association.

Plymouth Canton English teacher Brian Schwall emceed the program which, with the prompting of audience response cards, brought appropriate applause, whistles, screams and hisses.

From the opening number to the grand finale, staff members displayed their versatility.

Guitarist (and math teacher) Ken Baloj opened the show with his renditions of "Yesterday" and "House of the Rising Sun." Salem art and business departments presented a patriotic chorus girl routine performed to World War I tunes with Jerry Ramsey, as Uncle Sam, standing center stage and waving American flags in time to the music.

Orlean Baker was featured in "Piano Delights." Wisam Kazaleh, English and television teacher, performed a roller skating number. This was followed by Crespo the Magnificent and his "Depressions," Ned Cooper as "Singer Extraordinaire," Dwight Anderson with a table tennis demonstration, Art Durow on banjo, mandolin, etc., and Baloj and Kroeger, karate experts.

Lt. Martin's Lonely Arts Club Band brought the show to a climactic conclusion. Graham Martin, leader of the group, soloed in a Jimi Hendrix number. Dave Falzett starred in an Elvis Presley skit. Joe Bailey and Paul Urbanski played guitars. The four members of the Plymouth Canton art department were assisted by students Brian Lockhard on bass, Duane Skiba on keyboards, John Kubeshesky on drums and Dave Baumer as sound engineer.

Mike Skinner was program chairman. Glenda Haut designed the program, and Grace Light and the Canton media staff were responsible for the printing.

Campaign '76: Greenstein slate takes on new look

By RICHARD GOLD

With the New Hampshire primary still fresh in the nation's memory, national politics are beginning their long and arduous chase for congress and the presidency.

Locally, incumbents and hopefuls are beginning to prime the pump for a run at the township offices.

Meetings are noticeably longer, and great deliberations are taken by members of the board of trustees to explain their individual votes on almost all issues that come before the township board.

Recent developments, however, are changing Canton's political picture.

A rift on the 1974 Canton Democratic Club slate is becoming more apparent, and it appears a new member has been added to Supervisor Robert Greenstein's team for 1976.

Township Clerk John Flodin announced he will run with Greenstein's team, while Bob Myers, who won a four-year trustee seat in 1974 and is not up for election this year, is considering withdrawing his support of the slate.

Recent votes at township meetings are ample evidence that Myers is dissatisfied with fellow slate members Greenstein, Treasurer Carl Parsell and Trustee Jerry Cheske.

What once seemed an assured block of four votes on almost any given issue, is no longer a sure bet, although Flodin is voting more often with the slate.

"I AGREE WITH many of the policies of the administration," explained Myers, "but I don't like the means of implementation. I agree with a lot of things they are doing, but I don't like the way they are doing it."

Myers listed the master-land use plan and the hiring of Edward V. Ott as labor negotiator as two examples of dissatisfaction with the administration.

"More of what goes on behind closed doors has to be made public," Myers said.

"In the hiring of Ott he flat out lied to the people saying that Egnor (Myers choice for the job) represented Ann Arbor."

Myers said he intended to act as an overseer, rather than as a member of the slate in the future.

"Before, I more or less decided that what Bob said was right, but the man has

TCP has new board, view

Total Citizen's Power (TCP) has a new board of directors; and according to Bruce Young, president of the organization, a new direction, too.

Young, and Frank McMurray, vice-president of the citizens' organization, said following a long meeting with Doug Ross of Common Cause, the group elected to become a political vehicle.

Before, both had claimed the organization was not only non-profit, but non-political as well.

"We've been dealing in the political arena," said Young, "and we were naive enough to think you can do that without being political. Now we realize that we have to be political."

Young stressed, however, that TCP would remain non-partisan.

"We're encouraging all to join," he said. "Those who wish to run for office won't be allowed to join the board of directors, but they can be associate members."

McMurray and Young said the organization will serve as a public utility to be used by the public for gathering and dispersing information.

In a letter to members of the township board announcing its board of directors and officers, McMurray wrote, "We are reminding you of the continuance of the services of this organization as a public service neutral vehicle, for the utility of all political aspirants and year-round political activists."

"However, we must remind you, we will not be a part of the political franchisement versus disenfranchisement scene."

According to the charter of the organization, all board members and officers will not be allowed to run for political office in the township.

"If someone wants to run," Young said, "they will have to step down."

Young added that TCP will continue to host forums on issues that affect township residents.

The new officers other than Young and McMurray are Russell Sturtevant, secretary and Elizabeth Variot, treasurer.

McMurray will also serve as chairperson of the board.

Members of the board and alternates are: Fritz Lobbstaal, Esther Sprengel, Robert L. Ritter, Jame Bridenthal, George D. Hall, Ronald C. Oswald, Carol Young, Adam Barbu, Eldon J. Thomas, Woodrow Sturtevant, Sonja Bridenthal, James Blanchard, Bonnie Berg, Janet McMurray, Randy Ritter, Martha Wierzbicki, Lois Zilka, Lucille Antonini, Andy Smith and Elsie Young.

no qualms about lying to the public. I intend to ask more questions and function more as an independent.

"This is not a case of politics, but good government."

Myers said he would not withdraw from the slate publicly at this time and added that he did not know who he would support in 1976.

He is purported to have strong UAW backing.

GREENSTEIN RESPONDED that the slate was a team, and that all four members had always voted their conscience. "If you look at the last six meetings, I think it is eminently clear we are four individuals voting our minds.

"As far as his charge that I lied about Egnor, I made a simple mistake. It was not Ann Arbor, but Ypsilanti, and I got the two confused. The point is that he is a tiger and Ott is a gentle refined man, the kind we need for the first contract.

"We were not considering friendships and I think Bob is just mad his friend wasn't picked. He's like a little kid—he picked up his toys and went home.

"As far as his charge that I am willing to lie to the people, I think that's a pretty

KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR?

A survey released this week by Growth Works indicates there's a lot of residents in the Plymouth-Canton area who don't really know their neighbors. Most residents keep an eye on their neighbors property while away but don't feel they relate that well on a personal basis. That is just one aspect of the survey aimed at taking a close look at the quality of life in the community. Page 8A.

Schoolcraft seeks tax hike

By TIM RICHARD

Voters in the Schoolcraft College district will be asked June 14 to raise the property tax limitation by 0.53 of a mill. The new limit would total 2.3 mills.

Trustees, meeting last Wednesday, had reservations about a millage request when local school districts were also making requests. But as board Chairman Paul Y. Kadish summed up:

"We have held off for a couple of years to help Livonia in one case, Plymouth in another, Garden City in another. We can't hold off any longer."

THE COLLEGE district includes the K-12 districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth.

The vote to make the millage request was 7-0 with Trustee Arch Vallier absent.

A mill equals $1 per $1,000 of a property's state equalized valuation. The owner of a house with a market value of $30,000 would see his tax bill rise a maximum of $7.95; of a $40,000 house, $10.60.

Voters approved one mill for both operations and debt retirement when they founded the college in 1962. In 1966 they increased it by 0.77 mills to a total of 1.77. A third proposal was rejected in September 1971.

"THIS WILL BE an all-purpose millage, adequate for five years," said Kadish of the new proposal.

As college officials have seen it, Schoolcraft is almost a victim of its own popularity. Early students were largely in liberal arts or general studies and planning to transfer to four-year colleges as juniors. In recent years, the majority has registered in more expensive vocational-technical programs, and increasing numbers are coming in for community service programs.

In the meantime, some buildings have begun to show the effects of age and tight maintenance budgets. "The need for replacing obsolete equipment" and "the ever-increasing demands of maintaining the physical plant" were cited in the trustees' resolution setting the election.

WHAT SCHOOLCRAFT is actually getting in property tax revenue is confusing to the public—and embarrassing at times to trustees.

The college has 1.77 mills for all purposes, meaning operations and debt retirement. But court decisions since the college's founding established that trustees need not ask the voters for millage to retire bonds.

Thus, Schoolcraft has actually been levying 0.36 of a mill over the 1.77 voted mills—a total of 2.13 mills. Even though it's perfectly legal, trustees sometimes confess to having a gut feeling it's not nice to levy taxes without polling the voters.

The new request, if approved, would raise the voted limitation to 2.3 mills. But by using its authority to raise debt retirement taxes, the board will actually levy 0.29 of a mill beyond the voted limit for a total of 2.59.

So while voters will be approving a 0.53 mill increase, college financial officers figure the actual increase will be 0.46 because the non-voted levy will be cut from 0.36 to 0.29.

THE NEW 0.53 mill will raise $983,150 in revenue and increase the total property tax yield to $4.8 million.

College Vice-President Kenneth Lindner expects Schoolcraft's SEV to remain at $1.85 billion when tax bills come out next December. This is because new growth in valuations, which have averaged eight per cent a year, will be offset by an eight per cent loss in the personal property taxes paid by business under the state's new "single business tax."

Board Vice-chairwoman Rosina Raymond was pleased the election was set for June 14, the same date as regular K-12 school elections. "We should make it when the most people vote. Our last turnout (on a millage vote) was nine per cent," she said.

"THERE'S NO DOUBT in my mind that this is a timely and needed millage issue," said Trustee Gerald Cox. "I hope we have a very aggressive campaign."

Trustee Leroy Bennett insisted President C. Nelson Grote prepare a list of what programs would be cut if the millage bid fails. "I want the public to know what we're going to do if we don't get it," he said, adding that the board should actually go through with the cuts and not simply threaten them.

Bennett and Treasurer Nancie Blatt called it unfortunate the Schoolcraft request was coming on the heels of 17-mill renewal and 3.5 mill new requests in the Livonia School District, but agreed with Kadish that Schoolcraft had restrained itself long enough.

4-H dog show winners told

The third annual winter obedience match for dogs was held recently in the Northville Shopping Mall by 4-H members in Wayne County.

The first place winners, including some local 4-H members, are: Sub-novice A, Diane Lattin of the Plymouth Paw Prints 4-H Club; Sub-novice B, Mary Kinsler of Paw Prints; Novice A, Tim Brusseau of Paw Prints; Novice B, Betty Kaiser of Dearborn Dogdaze who also received a trophy for highest scoring beginning dog.

Also: Graduate Novice, Cindy Flora of Paw Prints; Advanced Graduate Novice, Mary Kinsler of Paw Prints who also received the trophy for highest scoring advanced dog; Brace Class—with two dogs and one handler—won by Kim Flora of Paw Prints.

The Team Class that has four members working together was won by Kim Flora, Carol Terry, John Magnussen and Patty Schneider with three Shelties and a Miniature Schnauzer.

Best handler went to Donna Figi of Grosse Isle. Showmanship winners were Carol Terry of Paw Prints, Konrad Knell and Margie Prybyski of Dearborn, and Donna Figi of Grosse Isle.

Plymouth Paw Prints is starting its fourth year as a club with 25 active members. "Right now the club is without a space to train the members' dogs," says Mrs. Edna Terry of 7025 Napier, Plymouth Township, leader of the club.

"Without an indoor room or hall that the club can use, the largest, most active club in the county will have to discontinue classes. Anyone desiring to help us locate one can call me at 453-6760."

Potluck in Park is royal fare

"Who's been hollering for cups?" asked Elsie Currin. "We've plenty of cups."

A Tuesday night dinner in the Park clubhouse is truly royal fare.

The Royal Holiday Park Senior Citizens Club schedules an evening potluck dinner every other month so the men who work can join the fun. Everyone brings a dish to pass and their own table setting. The kitchen detail is set up for a period of one month. Once they have served their stint, they are through for the year.

Club President Walter Fluegge called the members to the lounge before last week's dinner. As well as the announcements, he had a special assignment—the presentation of a wedding gift from the club to members Mr. and Mrs. Mordy Papo who were married a few days before.

Brenda Pollock, recreation director for Canton Township, told of new crafts workshops at the recreation center and discussed an upcoming jaunt to Mackinac. Her news that a Canton restaurant would give seniors a 25 per cent price reduction when they displayed their club membership card was greeted with approval.

Bicentennial silver dollars were awarded to several lucky winners before the party moved to the upstairs dining room.

The serving line led past tables laden with casseroles of scalloped potatoes, vegetables and baked beans, relish trays, tossed salads, molded salads, meat balls, rolls, cakes and pies. After all were served, there was enough left to feed another group of the same number. And there was still the Papos' wedding cake to be sampled.

With serving dishes, bowls, pans and serving utensils reclaimed, it was time for games—euchre for some, and bingo for others.

The club, which was formed in January 1972, has 145 members. Regular meetings are at 2 p.m. Tuesdays.

Judging from last week's potluck, the membership roll includes some of Canton's finest cooks.

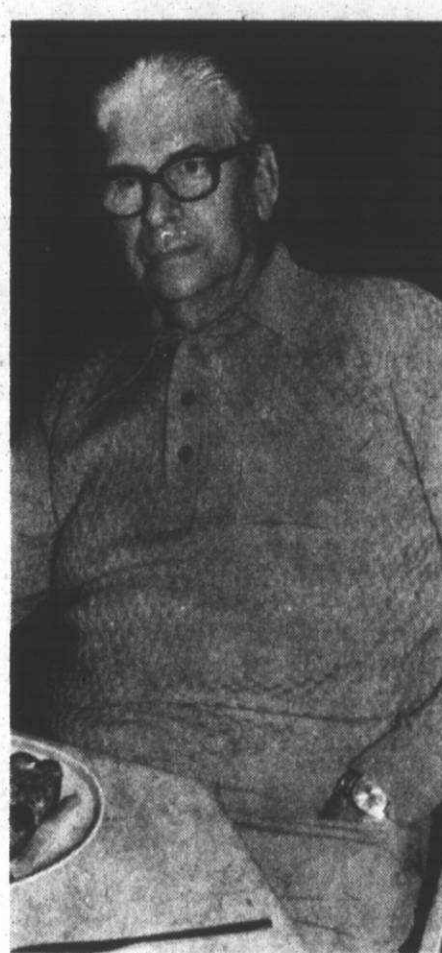

Club President Walter Fluegge presents newlyweds Mordy and Verna Papo with gift from members.

Members of the kitchen detail (from left) Helen Cobb, Margaret Morris and Verna Crawford didn't have to spend all their time in the kitchen.

Most parents would back tax to avoid program reductions

According to a telephone survey conducted by the Plymouth Community School District, almost half the respondents would rather vote for increased millage than be faced with reduced programs.

Of those surveyed, some 45 per cent felt the schools were doing a good job using its money.

When asked if they could improve one thing, what it would be, the top responses were modular scheduling, discipline, transportation and buses, home-school communication and teachers.

Those features in the district considered to be the best or outstanding were teachers, music programs, modular scheduling and athletics.

The survey also indicated that residents get most of their information about schools from the newspapers, followed by school newsletters, friends and neighbors, children, district newsletters, teachers and other staff.

THE TELEPHONE survey was conducted from Jan. 23-30 as part of the needs assessment and communications effort of the Plymouth Evaluation and Planning System for the Improvement of Instruction (PEPSII).

A sequential random sample of about 600 phone numbers was drawn from the West-Northwest phone directory. The calls were made by 17 volunteers from the American Association of University Women (AAUW) and the League of Women Voters (LWV). Results of the survey were analyzed with a computer program of the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

In analyzing the results, Florence Beier, community relations director, says there is reason to doubt the validity of the questions on the outstanding features and least desirable aspects of the district.

On those two questions, the responses of everything, nothing, don't know, other and blank equaled 68 per cent which leaves 32 per cent statistically unaccounted for.

"This survey has been useful for preliminary information regarding community attitudes. It has been of greatest value, however, in laying the groundwork for future surveys," says Mrs. Beier. The district plans to conduct one or more phone surveys before the June millage election.

OF THE 436 respondents, 186 had children in the school and 242 didn't.

Some 74 per cent of those with children in school felt they were well-informed about the schools, while 57 per cent without children in school felt they were knowledgeable about the schools.

Following are the sources of information about schools: newspapers, 31 per cent; school newsletters, 15 per cent; friends and neighbors, 13 per cent; children, eight per cent; district newsletters, seven per cent; teachers and other staff, five per cent.

Parents of students got more information from school newsletters (34 per cent) and children (13 per cent). Respondents without children in school were informed of schools as follows: 44 per cent by newspapers, two per cent by school newsletters, 17 per cent by friends and neighbors, three per cent by children, and nine per cent by district newsletters.

WHEN ASKED if they would choose reduced programs or increased millage, 51 per cent of parents of students opted for millage while 27 per cent favored reduced programs and 22 per cent didn't respond.

Among the group without children in school, 46 per cent would vote for increased millage, 28 per cent for reduced program and 25 per cent gave no response.

The rating of how the district uses its money for parents of students was: excellent, eight per cent; good, 53 per cent; fair, 22 per cent; poor, six per cent; blank, nine per cent. For the "no student" group, the rating was: excellent, five per cent; good, 41 per cent; fair, 15 per cent; poor, six per cent; and blank, 31 per cent.

THERE WAS A wide range of responses for what was considered the best or outstanding feature of the district.

The ranking of parents of students was: other, 29 per cent; don't know, 19 per cent; teachers, 15 per cent; music programs, four per cent; modular scheduling, two per cent; athletics, one per cent; open classrooms, three per cent. In this group, two per cent responses were given for home-school communications, 45-15 school plan, and principals, and one per cent for vocational education, transportation and buses, volunteers, reading and science programs.

Of the respondents without children in school, there was zero per cent for: open classrooms, home-school communication, 45-15, principals, vocational education, transportation and buses, volunteers, reading programs and science programs.

Those without students in schools supplied these ratings for best features: 56 per cent, don't know; 15 per cent, other; five per cent blank; teachers, three per cent; music programs, three per cent; modular scheduling, two per cent; athletics, two per cent; buildings and facilities, two per cent.

ON THE ITEM asking respondents what needed improvement, answers from parents of students were:

Other, 26 per cent; don't know, 23 per cent; modular scheduling, 16 per cent; nothing, eight per cent; transportation and buses, four per cent; discipline and home-school communications, three per cent for each; and teachers, two per cent.

Responses for those without children in school were: don't know, 53 per cent; other, 18 per cent; modular scheduling, six per cent; discipline, four per cent; blank, four per cent; nothing, two per cent; and one per cent for transportation and buses, home-school communications, teachers; special education programs, buildings and facilities.

Overall, 39 per cent didn't know, 21 per cent was other, 10 per cent modular scheduling and four per cent for discipline, nothing and blank.

Dropout comparisons need cautious look

Because Plymouth-Canton is a relatively transient community, the student dropout rate compiled by the state cannot be taken at face value without some analysis.

In fact, dropout rates can be particularly misleading when compared to other school districts unless differences between districts are known, says Frederick Libbing, counselor at Plymouth Canton High School.

"Unfortunately, to many people the term 'dropout' is to be taken literally—someone who abruptly leaves his warm custodial environment and takes on the hard impersonal world on his own," says Libbing.

"This is true in some cases, but certainly not in enough cases even to begin to use this as the sole basis for defining 'dropout,' let alone to say that school district 'X' must be better than district 'Y' because its dropout rate is considerably less."

ONE OF THE REASONS why raw data should be very suspect, and in many cases even totally discounted, he adds, is because of "fallacious procedures" used by the state for providing the input which forms statistical rates and tables.

"As an example, it is no particular secret that Plymouth has developed into a very changing community. Positive terms to describe this would be 'growing, prospering, innovative,' and so forth. But to a school district it may be a 'transient' community—a term not well-liked by real estate people, but accurate nevertheless.

"People are coming and going continuously. We record this growth officially on the 'fourth Friday count,' the total enrollment on that day in September which is then recorded with the State of Michigan and used, among other purposes, as a basis for figuring state aid to the education program."

The other aspect of the transiency factor, however, is recorded throughout the year, Libbing points out. "Because of the transient nature of our community, the recession, hard times for individual families and other factors, we may count Johnny on the fourth Friday in September, see him leave to get a job, and then take him back when he is laid off only to see him leave again during the spring 'upturn.'"

"Well, Johnny has been officially recorded as a one-person increase in our school population in September but also has been recorded as a two-or-three-person decrease (dropout) in the same population throughout the remainder of the year.

"This doesn't happen in isolation. It is an increasingly important phenomenon, and it does have a notable impact on many statistics."

THE PERCENTAGE of dropouts can be affected by this philosophy, Libbing states.

"For example, suppose we have a school population of 10 and in November Johnny decides he isn't making it and drops out. We now have a dropout rate of 10 per cent. Statistically, however, our enrollment remains at 10.

"In January, Johnny has been unable to find a job so he decides to return to school. He is enrolled and we now have an enrollment of 11. In March, Johnny decides to throw in the towel again. We now have an enrollment of 11 and a dropout of two for a rate of 18.2 per cent. We could continue to enroll Johnny and have him drop out. If he did it again, we would be up to a 25 per cent dropout figure, and this has occurred many times at the Centennial Educational Park.

"Thus, the true dropout rate is difficult to determine," Libbing continues. "Has a student really dropped out or has he chosen a different way to continue his education or his life?"

sen a different way to continue his education or his life?"

"Perhaps much more important than ruminating about relative dropout rates, inaccurate though they may be, is a consideration of what is done for the potential dropout—the person who is turned off, or for some reason not successful in the regular day school program.

"Naturally, everything feasible is being done by school officials to try to help the person adjust to, or be accommodated by, the school program.

"But if this fails, we begin to deal with alternatives. It may be possible to place the student on a reduced program, accompanied by a job. We may investigate the possibility of attending strictly or temporarily the adult-education program (night school). There are several other possibilities.

"It is important to note that we don't close the door on any student," Libbing concludes. "Some programs might be more beneficial than others to a given individual at a particular time in his life, but we don't just say that because Johnny isn't making it in a certain prescribed way, that he is automatically a 'dropout' with all the negative feelings and characteristics usually ascribed to that status."

sell's name was next to it in smaller print. If I had known I would never have approved it."

Parsell, who was at a meeting in Lansing, contended the whole thing was a mistake. "I asked the office to do a complete tabulation on how much I was owed and I guess they went ahead and put it on the bills.

"I guess they took it for granted that if it was to be totaled, it should be placed on the bills. But I think it's a legitimate expense anyway."

Parsell said there had been considerable discussion over extra compensation for board members and the board was undecided.

"Some felt we should be paid, some felt we shouldn't and some thought we should be paid, but not retroactively.

"It's an issue that has to be raised because as we expand our general services, we have to join more committees and spend more time. Some of this work is beyond the call of duty and some of us think we should be paid for that work."

GREENSTEIN AGREED the matter was a mistake. "If I had seen I would have mentioned it. Carl got called away suddenly to a meeting in Lansing, and I'm sure it was intended to call it to the board's attention."

Greenstein said there were no legal problems involved in paying Parsell for planning commission meetings. "It's not retroactive pay. Carl just said put the money aside and let it accrue until a decision is reached. Then when the MTA ruled it was proper, he told them to add it up."

Greenstein said retroactive pay would be illegal. "You can't get paid for what you did in the past if you didn't make a claim on it. That's why I can't get paid for the Zoning Board of Appeals.

"As far as getting paid for other meetings where there is no set fee, like bloc grant or civil defense meetings, we are waiting on an opinion from the MTA. Trustees can be paid per diem for meetings they attend, but it's not clear whether salaried officers can—even if attending a meeting is not a fundamental part of the job."

As for the campaign this year, only one non-slate board member, Republican Jim Poole, is up for election and he said he is presently undecided about running. Poole, who as a trustee with a four-year seat ran against Greenstein for supervisor in 1974, said he "had no plans or ambitions right now."

Trustee Brian Schwall, who currently holds the other trustee seat not up for election, said he would not seek any other township office in 1976.

ugly allegation in light of my record of the last year and a half."

Greenstein said Myers' argument against the master land use plan concerning lack of lower income housing was contrary to the platform the slate ran on.

"ALL INCOME segments are fully and fairly represented under the master land use plan. We had more than sufficient low income housing prior to our assuming office and I sure as hell don't intend to add any. I have dealt with HUD over the bloc grant, and we have met their standards. Myers just doesn't know what he's talking about."

Greenstein added, "As far as I am concerned, he's turned 360 degrees since he ran on the slate—but I intend to keep the promises we ran on."

The supervisor said Myers had slacked off in his work for the township. "He used to always be at the township offices—three days or more a week—now we never see him.

"But if there's a rift in the team, I don't think it is too important. John Flodin said he's going to run with us this year, and I think if we lose Bob and gain John with his 25 years of experience, we are way ahead.

"Anyone who can make a judgment can see that."

WHILE MYERS growing dissatisfaction with the slate has been more apparent of late, Flodin's decision to campaign with Greenstein this year came as a surprise to many township observers.

"I think it's down to Republicans and Democrats," said Flodin, "and I joined the Canton Democratic Club.

"I've always been a Democrat, even at a time years ago when they were hard to find in this township."

Flodin, who ran as an independent Democrat in 1974, added, "There's no question it's a political move on my part, but I am comfortable running with these people. I assume Jerry, Carl and Bob will be running, and I agree with them on most issues.

"I didn't know them two years ago, but since then I have come to understand and agree with many of their stands.

"That doesn't mean I will always vote with them because I'm sure I won't

A happy group of Salem cagers and coach Fred Thomann enjoy the fruits of their 19-1 season, a third consecutive trophy for winning the Suburban Eight crown.

3 years in a row!

Rocks dump Dearborn, take Sub 8

By FRED DeLANO

For the third game in a row, when they figuratively asked if there was a doctor in the house, a specialist came forward and loosened up Plymouth Salem's Rocks so that the offense charged to a 21-9 fourth-quarter advantage over Dearborn Friday night. The Rocks now go into state basketball tournament competition with a 19-1 record.

The Rocks also will carry with them the knowledge that they have won their third consecutive undisputed Suburban Eight League championship, a record unmatched in the league.

The Rocks are overwhelming favorites to win their first tourney game, which will be against their friends from Plymouth Canton. They will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Southfield High School gym at Ten Mile and Lahser. Nothing in the brief Canton athletic history would perk the Chiefs up as much as an upset over Salem.

It's unlikely to occur, but if the Rocks stutter and stammer through the first three quarters as they have against Edsel Ford, Allen Park and Dearborn, anything can happen.

WHEN THE ROCKS started to pay attention to the task at hand in the Edsel Ford game, they rode a 30-11 spurt to victory in the last six minutes. At Allen Park, it took a 25-6 blast in the final period to do the trick. Then, in the last home game Friday, a close battle with Dearborn's slowdown troops turned into a runaway when Plymouth stormed to a 21-9 edge in the final period.

Coach Fred Thomann expressed no dismay at the Dearborn outcome which gave the Rocks their title and one of the best won-lost records in the state, but the tight-lipped mentor wasn't all that happy because only four men had put the ball through the hoop on shots from the floor.

Thanks to pumping in eight of 11 free throws, Jim Ellinghausen again led the scoring parade with 18 points; but more worrisome was the fact that he hit only five of 17 field goal attempts. Those five were matched by brother Tom Ellinghaussen, a sophomore, and by senior Mike Primeau, while steady Brian Wolcott hit six buckets from his guard post. It was Eli's lowest scoring night of the season, but it boosted him to a state-leading 579 for 20 games and came in the face of being boxed by two, three and four Dearborn players every step of the way.

EXCEPT FOR A 2-2 tie, Salem led all the way, but the offensive rhythm again was obviously thrown off center by the slowdown tactics of a Dearborn team which, for instance, put the ball toward the hoop only five times in the entire first quarter.

Plymouth led after that quarter break, 11-6. But the Rocks' lack of patience was starting to show. They led 23-18 at the half and 40-32 at the end of the third quarter, but it was not until then that the moving offense, the quickness, and the cohesion for which they are noted started to become felt.

A pair of free throws by Jim Ellinghausen at the start of the final period boosted the Plymouth lead to 42-33 and before the quarter was over, there were further points not only from Eli but from Wolcott, Primeau, Kevin Roose, Rich Hewlett and Tom Ellinghausen. In fact, their attack was so annihilating that in the end, Thomann cleared his bench to keep the score down.

DEARBORN WAS on a slowdown course right from the beginning, and the Rocks can't pride themselves on the fact that this was the 100th percent in 20 games that they held to fewer than 50 points. They were many times when the Pioneers didn't even try to score, although finally putting Dan McEachney and Bill Stucky in double figures with 13 and 10 points respectively. In turn, Dearborn's defense was hurt by the fact that Stucky and Jim Heller both fouled out in the fourth quarter.

NO OTHER PLYMOUTH team in history ever has done this well in its first 20 games, losing only one of the eve of the state tournament.

But something is lacking. When the Rocks won the Suburban Eight title with a 19-1 victory at Dearborn in February, the Rocks' success was a static fanfare. The Rocks' success was a static fanfare. The Rocks' success was a static fanfare.

Friday, the 19th-forming third straight championship was received with polite applause and no one even bothered to push the coach into the shower. The Rocks obviously are troubled with what to do for an encore after fighting their way to the state Class A semifinals last winter.

Once-beaten Bloomfield Hills Lahser is waiting in the wings to show their Thursday night what a hungry team can be—that is, if the Rocks get past Canton.

Canton nips Warriors

The Plymouth Canton Chiefs survived another night of mediocre shooting while staving off a fourth-quarter rally en route to a 52-51 edging of Walled Lake Western Friday night in the basketball season finale for the Chiefs.

"We tried to work on cutting down our mistakes and playing better defense," said Canton coach Casey Cavell.

Canton snapped a four-game losing string, giving itself a 6-14 record for this season, the third year Canton has had a varsity basketball team.

The win also supported Canton's fifth place standing in the Western Six league with a 4-6 divisional mark. Livonia Churchill is this season's conference titlist with an 8-2 record, dethroning Northville as league champs.

Tom Close, winding up three years as a varsity player, led Canton in scoring with 20 points and supported the Chiefs' 11-6 first quarter lead with six points of his own.

The second period featured the balance of Close and guard Keith Osborne combining for 14 points, as Canton outscored Walled Lake, 20-19, in an evenly played segment.

Walled Lake, which had won only one game this season, came on strong in the second and fourth quarters," said Cavell. With a 31-25 halftime lead, Canton was not ready to try and sit on its advantage.

The Chiefs came out of the locker room with aggressiveness on their minds, applying a man-to-man press which led to numerous Western turnovers.

All totaled, Canton picked off five Warrior passes and converted them into baskets to keep the Western offense throttled.

As the fourth quarter began, Canton tried to stall and sit on its eight-point lead. It almost worked until the Warriors began chipping away at the deficit with three minutes left in the game.

The Warriors made it 50-49 on a basket with one minute left in the game, as the Chiefs held the edge. Steve Salyer sank a pair of free throws with 30 ticks left on the clock to put Canton up by three, 52-49.

Western came back with a bucket of its own but could not overcome the Chiefs as time ran out.

Steve Salyer led Canton in rebounds with six, and Mike Albright led the team in assists with six. Canton shot 31 per cent from the floor while Western hit for 38 per cent.

The Chiefs open district play at Southfield High School tomorrow (Tuesday) against Plymouth Salem at 7 p.m.

In The Pocket

By W. W. EDGAR

All sorts of bowlers have been seen lately for the last time from the bowlers when they are assigned end lanes. It has remained for Ann Stelock, a former queen of Detroit bowlers and now day manager at Garden Lanes, to come up with one that really makes sense.

"You don't hear the protests any more," she said, "since the bowling establishments have grown in size. In the modern houses, there is a walk down each side between the lanes and the wall.

"In the old days, the bowlers plained because they were fearful of hitting the wall. They were afraid of hitting the wall. They were afraid of hitting the wall. They were afraid of hitting the wall.

IF HE KEEPS up his present pace, Ted Bakafelos, the big Greek, will boast the highest average in the metropolitan area when the season closes.

According to the latest figures in the Bonanza Classic, Ted is bowling at a 222 pace.

year and 209 in the traveling section. This is a mean average of better than 200.

THE PINS were flying at a great rate at Wonderland Lanes during the past week as three more sharpshooters broke the 700 barrier.

Mike Mathis, bowling in the senior house league, was the chief marksman as he fashioned a 783 series. Carrying a 195 average, he opened with a 269, followed with a 284 and duplicated this count in the third game.

Two new bowlers in the Bonanza Classic were: Dan Johnson, who bowled games of 215, 252 and 200; and Larry McShane, who was the first 200 series of his career.

The addition team, captained by John Mc Keever, posted a 3,108 on games of 1,004, 983 and 1,121.

The other big counts came in the junior house league where Bob Butske, a 160 bowler, contributed a 276 and Larry McShane, another 161 bowler, found the range for a 268.

THIRTEEN BOWLERS realized a fond dream when they won the Ladies Classic at Westland Bowl. She always has dreamed of leading the group and this week she did it with a 592.

In the men's competition at Westland, Larry Pratt had a 240 in 630 and Will Wilson a 244 in 600 to set the pace in the 700-800 league.

BARB HOUGHINS has joined the rare bowling society composed of those who have converted the "double pinochle."

At the Ladies Classic at Belvidere, she bowled the 4-7-10 and then converted the "double pinochle" over for a shot she'll never forget.

Another unusual performance, Tom Mason contributed a 202 triplicate in the senior house league, where Joe Ducher was high man with a 669 that included a middle game of 266. Jack Dobbleson was well on his way, too, with games of 237 and 237, but faltered in the final with a 170 for 644.

In the classic, Denny Kahn put in a great final with a 278 to 7 balls his average with a 592, but it netted him only second place as George Berling had a finishing 264 for 690.

Another garrison finish—a 267 enabled Bob Prstonetti to tie Chuck Mayer for top honors in the business men's league, with 635.

RAY BERGERSON got his name in the books for good performances with a 156 triplicate at Country Lanes.

THERE WAS SOME good scoring in the men's league at Plaza Lanes where Jim Rosen finished a 658 that included games of 243 and 243. Larry Stricklin was right behind with one due mainly to a 245 opener.

ONE OF THE BEST showings of the season was the work of Joe Green's four-man team at Plymouth Bowl. The combination put together a 2,459. Joe had a 617 and Grover Bias a 254 in a 668 series, and Jerry Kowalski posted a 653.

The Stroller: Saving heritage

By W. W. EDGAR

The presidential primaries that are monopolizing the front pages of the public prints and cluttering the air waves are not the only activities that are dividing the country into groups fighting each other for an ideal.

With the population explosion of the past few decades and the mass movement to the suburbs, there has been a continuous struggle to preserve some of the land, many of the old buildings and other famous landmarks against the inroads of what is being termed progress.

In almost every community this battle is going on. While not all of the ups and downs are emblazoned in the newspapers and over the air, these struggles of what to save and what not to preserve reach emotional peaks that would make one believe it was a matter of life or death.

We got to discussing this activity at dinner the other evening and turned it into an interesting game: "What should be saved?"

One of the first to voice an opinion was a fellow diner who claimed it would be tragic if the Wilcox home at the tip of Kellogg Park in Plymouth were to be razed and replaced with a high-rise apartment for senior citizens—a plan that is now in the making.

"TAKE A GOOD look at that home and its wonderful architecture," he said. "This is a fine example of the beautiful architecture of another era. And with the emphasis on old things being brought about by the opening of the new historical museum, we should give thought to saving things on the outside, too."

Before anyone could comment, the diner from Livonia countered with the silent campaign that is now going on to raze the old brick building on Five Mile which served as a meeting place for township officials and later as the first city hall.

The Stroller has learned that there are forces at work trying to put pressure on Mayor Ed McNamara and other city officials to demolish the building and remove what they term an "eyesore" in the center of the city.

This hit The Stroller where it hurts, for he long has held a strong feeling for the building. It was there that the Livonia Chamber of Commerce was born and it was there, too, that the first city council held its meetings.

Perhaps the building does look a bit the worse for wear, but it could be made presentable and serve as a monument to the pioneers who had the courage to incorporate the 36 square miles into the City of Livonia as it is known today.

Only too well does The Stroller remember the sad feeling in the area when the old brick school house was razed at Six Mile and Newburgh to make way for a shopping center.

IT WAS THE OLDEST schoolhouse in Michigan and should have been preserved. Now it is only a memory.

The mourning over the loss of the old school could be duplicated in other areas, too, if the moderns who want all the old things torn down have their way.

One has only to look at Old Village in Plymouth to realize that preservation can be an asset to a community. Cities like Westland and Garden City have landmarks, too, that should be saved. The same is true in several sections of Redford Township.

The Stroller often recalls the bitter fight years ago over the razing of the old city hall in Detroit. For months on end the struggle continued until the modern thinkers won and the grand old structure was demolished.

It was not without a bit of humor, however, as the late Harvey Campbell, then the chief executive of the Detroit Board of Commerce and a prime mover to raze the hall, had paper weights made of the crushed pieces of granite. He sent them to those who fought to have the hall saved, with a note, "Inasmuch as you loved the old hall, here is a piece of it you can cherish." Some of these still are in existence.

They are reminders of the continuing struggle of what to preserve and what to demolish.

THERE ISN'T a community that doesn't have some landmark that should be preserved—either open space or buildings—to serve as a link with the past.

Let's suppose that Independence Hall in Philadelphia, the cradle of our democracy, or old North Church in Boston, where lanterns were hung in the belfry to signal "The British Are Coming," had fallen victim to the wrecking ball years ago.

Our bicentennial would be like a boat without a rudder.

Boy Scouts kick off fund drive

Boy Scout leaders in Livonia and the city and township of Plymouth have launched a sustaining membership campaign which will continue through late April.

The Sunset District of the Detroit Area Council of Boy Scouts has a goal of $11,000, which represents a 10 per cent increase over the $10,000 of last spring.

Committee leaders said there are three ways for persons to contribute; through special gifts from businessmen and companies; through civic or service organizations; or through community enrollment in which individuals may enroll as sustaining members.

The committee said each scout family will be asked to become sustaining members.

The Sunset District campaign leaders also said they want to improve their percentage of eligible boys enrolling in scout programs.

By the end of 1975, the district had 47.7 per cent of boys between eight and 10 enrolled in Cub Scout packs and the committee wants to get that figure up to 50 per cent. There were more than 2,700 boys in cubbing last year.

In the older level for boy scouts, the district enrolled 24.4 per cent, or more than 1,000 of those between 11 and 13, and wants to maintain that level this year.

The campaign was kicked off last week with a final steering committee meeting.

Frank Hand of Livonia is finance committee chairman.

Employer loses wage lawsuit

Donald Russ, owner of Fox Meadow Apartments in Plymouth, has been ordered to pay $890 in back wages to two employees in a wage-hour case filed in U.S. District Court by the U.S. Department of Labor. Judge Earl R. Larson in Minnesota also granted the labor department a permanent injunction prohibiting the owner from further minimum wage and record-keeping violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act, which is the federal wage-hour law.

In its original complaint, the labor department charged that Russ had repeatedly failed to pay employees the federal minimum wage and failed to keep adequate records of employe wages and hours.

Youth programs best known

Many unaware of services in Plymouth-Canton

Residents are pleased with the physical community and atmosphere in the Plymouth-Canton area but are either dissatisfied with or unaware of the quality of human interaction, cooperation and services.

That is the initial conclusion drawn by Growth Works, Inc. from its Community Intervention Project survey of seven sections in the Plymouth-Canton community. The survey was designed to gather information about people's perceptions of community affairs, needs and problems. Growth Works is the parent organization of Youth, Inc. and the Our House crisis center.

The more than 240 responses to the survey indicate that residents seem to be saying that on a visible, physical level a good job of maintaining a community is being done but the necessary human ingredients for a "good quality of life" are missing, reports Tom DeMott, Community Intervention Project director.

AREAS COVERED by the survey included: Community and neighborhood conditions, human services, recreation, work and employment, crime and police, education, and health.

"In these areas, people felt the community was best off in the area of community and neighborhood conditions and crime and police," says DeMott, "while the problem areas cited were human services, work and employment."

Survey results will be used by Growth Works to aid in planning for future community needs, explains Scott Levely of Growth Works.

This planning is being done with citizen input with interested residents meeting Tuesdays at 9:30 a.m. or Thursdays at 8 p.m. until March 26 at 711 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

"The major issue we will consider will be quality of life," explains Levely. "We intend to expand this beyond standard of living to include social and environmental concerns. We hope the ultimate achievement, with citizen input, will be to define what quality of life should be available here."

MOST RESIDENTS find the community as a whole and their neighborhoods as pleasant and comfortable places to live, says DeMott.

"Folks are content with their housing and shopping and they feel they can get to and from wherever they wish to go. People did indicate, though, that there isn't enough mass transit. Many people (41 per cent) were discontented with property taxes—the feeling was that they are too high.

"Community and neighborhood relationships are poor. People indicate that while they do watch over each others' property and children, there is no real 'neighborly' quality to their relationships.

"Most answers indicated people don't know or get along with their neighbors, they don't spend time with each other, and they feel others in the neighborhood are not cooperative and friendly."

About 55 per cent of the respondents indicated they didn't know what social services were available to them or others in the community.

When asked if there were adequate services available for specific problems, such as child abuse or emotional problems, the highest percentage of affirmative responses for any area was 31 per cent in the area of youth activities.

"Most people didn't know if programs that are operating in the community are effective or providing adequate service," adds DeMott.

ON RECREATION, some 53 per cent of the respondents felt there are good recreation programs and facilities for children but virtually nothing for other groups within the population.

On work and employment about one-third knew persons who were out of work or were out of work themselves. Many indicated they felt it is now difficult to get jobs and felt more jobs had to be made available.

"Interestingly, 55 per cent of the respondents felt it was the responsibility of industry and government to provide jobs to people out of work," says Levely.

"There was a very low level of response to questions dealing with the causes or reasons for people being out of work—indicating to us that folks are unfamiliar with the nature of existing problems in the area of work and employment."

The overall feeling was that there is good police protection, said DeMott. "Most people also indicated they didn't feel threatened by crime. People feel adequately protected and safe."

ON EDUCATION, reported DeMott, when answering questions of a general tone—children learning necessary basic skills—people gave a lot of positive responses.

"The majority of people said they were aware of what is going on in the schools. But when answering specific questions, such as are schools teaching job skills, people gave 'do not know' or 'no' answers.

On the question of "Schools teach people to function in 'real world,'" the answers were 37 per cent no, 32 per cent yes, and 31 per cent "do not know."

"It seems people think they have a good idea about what is going on in the schools and that schools are doing a good job, but when questioned about specific issues, people were either unaware or disagreed with the school's methods and goals."

Most feel there is adequate medical care in the community although it is not easily accessible and is of high cost. "Many seem unaware of, or did not cite, population groups who had health problems or poor nutrition," adds Levely.

ON SPECIFIC QUESTIONS, 70 per cent felt local stores are good and provide good quality but 45 per cent felt they were not economical.

Although 41 per cent found property taxes too high, another 41 per cent didn't know, and 18 per cent disagreed.

Forty-eight per cent knew the people who lived in their neighborhood while 37 per cent didn't. Seventy per cent said they watched over their neighbors' property.

Residents seem to be least informed about services for child abuse, invalids, legal aid, temporary shelter, nutrition, alcohol abuse, birth control, consumer information, emotional problems, health maintenance, pregnancy, dental care, unemployment, the aged, and welfare. Between 60-68 per cent didn't know about Family Service, Our House, Youth Center, and Pupil Personnel agencies. Stage agencies, such as MESC, ranked even lower.

The groups which respondents feel are most ignored in the area of recreation were couples, single adults, and neighborhood groups.

When asked if they knew persons who lacked basic skills in education, 15 per cent answered yes and 16 per cent no. Yet, some 44 per cent knew neighborhood people without basic skills.

The survey discovered that 15 per cent of the people who have lived in the community for less than five years have had a family member drop out of school.

Sixty-four per cent feel the community has good schools. About 63 per cent feel children are learning basic skills while 13 per cent disagree. Some 43 per cent felt teachers are effective, 25 per cent disagree, and 32 per cent didn't know. Sixty-nine per cent felt neighborhood schools are effective while 18 per cent disagreed.

Only 11 per cent knew of groups in the community who show signs of inadequate nutrition, and only 13 per cent knew of population groups suffering from health problems.

New Low Tar Entry Packs Taste Of Cigarettes Having 60% More Tar.

'Enriched Flavor' idea succeeds—increases taste of new 9 mg. tar MERIT without the usual increase in tar.

You can write today for a study conducted by the American Institute of Consumer Opinion for Philip Morris showing new MERIT delivers as much—or more—flavor than five current leading low tar cigarettes.

Brands having up to 60% more tar than MERIT!

The reason is 'Enriched Flavor.' An extraordinary taste find developed and perfected after years of research at our Richmond Research Center.

And it's only in MERIT. At 9 mg., lower in tar than 98% of all cigarettes sold today.

If you smoke—you'll be interested.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, tested at home*.

The results were conclusive.

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette.

MERIT. Unprecedented flavor at 9 mg. tar.

Old Village renovation goes on and on Revitalization has been the watchword in the Old Village area of Plymouth as the old "Lower Town" image gradually has been replaced with a new atmosphere, as refreshing as springtime.

The village provides a wide range of services and wares. There are children's and women's clothing, flowers, bedding plants, beads, carpeting, delicatessen foods, fresh seafoods, baked goods, accessories, groceries and made-to-order furniture. Men, women, children (and poodles) can have their hair styled, their vacuum cleaners repaired, their furniture reupholstered, and their terrariums planted.

With its thrift shop, flea market, resale shop, art gallery, and antique stores, it has become a mecca for those who enjoy browsing for collectibles and necessities.

LATEST VENTURE in renovation has been going on in the old bank building on the corner of Liberty and Starkweather. New owners Mike and Torb Guenther spent weeks painting and polishing the interior. Dee Morgan, who has an antique shop across the street, is manager of the building which will house 10 or 12 antique dealers.

The building was built in 1924, when the old bank building was moved next door. It had become too small to accommodate the business. In 1932 it closed its doors and never reopened as a bank. Bob Lidgard had a grocery store there. He was followed by Lon Dickerson who operated the store until 1968.

Dealers take turns tending store, and their booths represent a wide range of items—dolls, clocks, primitives, furniture, jewelry, Victorian, china, glassware and accessories.

"The young people like the art nouveau or deco period," said Mrs. Morgan. She explained the difference. The art nouveau is early 20th century, fancy brass and gilded figures with intricate designs. Art deco is plainer yet can be garish with its combinations of chrome and colored glass.

Dealer Stan Simler was especially proud of a Tiffany-type lamp he had purchased from a Palmer Park estate.

"It's unsigned," he said, admiring the poinsettia flowers in the glass shade. "If it were signed, I'd be afraid to bring it in here. It would be too valuable."

Alice Kelly was unpacking corrugated cartons and apologizing for the litter as she removed the newspaper wrappings.

"These are from a show," she explained. "Now I have to find room for them."

There are six dealers on the main floor and Mrs. Morgan says there will be more in the basement.

"I have one small room available on the main floor," she said, "and we soon will have the basement shops arranged. But, the painting and cleaning are finished—and we are open for business."

Dee Morgan admires a Victorian caster set with cut glass cruets in one of the areas of the old bank building on the corner of Liberty and Starkweather. Plans are under way to have 12 antique dealers housed in the building which has been cleaned and painted by new owners Mike and Torb Guenther. (Staff photos by Elinor Graham)

Arlyn Reilly describes art nouveau, the fancy, gilded lamp base, as opposed to art deco, the gilded sculpture.

Antique dealer Stan Simler specializes in fine furniture and accessories. The Tiffany-type lamp came from a Palmer Park estate.

Endangered plant life is Woman's Club topic

Members of the Plymouth Woman's Club and guests will receive a close-up view of Michigan wild flowers at their March 5 meeting in St. John Episcopal Church.

Richard Holzman, prize-winning photographer and president of Michigan Nature Association, will present a slide program which will include endangered species of the state's plant life. The association has 38 sanctuaries where rare plants are protected.

The MNA has 700 members and has a record of saving stands of virgin forest and wildlife from the path of bulldozers.

Marion Sober, program chairman of the Woman's Club, says, "Holzman's photographs are breath-taking—the closeups are beautiful."

"Among the threatened wild flowers are trillium and arbutus. Asphalt parking lots have replaced beech forests and lowland mosses and flowers disappear as bogs are drained for housing developments."

West led the eight of hearts. The hand in the diagram is June's favorite hand of the tournament. Edith's response to the opening heart bid is the Jacoby two notrump — a forcing raise of unlimited strength.

June's three spade call showed a singleton spade. Edith checked for aces and bid the small slam.

South won the heart lead in her hand, cashed the two high clubs and ruffed a club. Played the ace of spades and trumped a spade. She ruffed her last club and another spade.

Now June drew the outstanding trump. She led a small diamond and finessed the nine! East won the trick with the ten, but was caught in a hopeless situation. She only had diamonds in her hand and had to lead into dummy's ace-queen.

Recent winners at the party bridge game at the Plymouth Cultural Center were Emily Griffore and Stanley Sherman.

Rob Gordon and Steve Hench were east-west winners and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hench were north-south winners in the Tuesday evening duplicate session in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street. In the 11 a.m. Wednesday duplicate game in the center, Sally Rowland and Sharon Flower, and Lue Garrett and Shirley Sheppard had top scores.

At the Livonia Senior Citizens Building, Robert Skye, Dolores Bright, James Walter and Gabi Ideh were winners of the monthly Swiss team game.

Side game winners were Lue Garrett and Lynn Kovol.

Panel to talk on money

"The Dollars and Sense of the American Scene" will be discussed by a panel of four at a meeting Thursday, March 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Churchill High School, 8900 Newburgh, Livonia.

Sponsored by the Soroptimist International Club of Livonia, the panel will consider the effect of today's economy on small businesses.

Panelists are Richard Boone of Boone Insurance agency, Richard Dickshot of R.J. Dickshot and Co., Rita Radzialowski, administrator of St. Mary Hospital, and Jeanette Oliver, assistant manager, Livonia Public Credit Union.

Moderator is Frances Moore of Moore Furnace Co.

Jewish clubs plan dinner

A tradition of four decades will be renewed Tuesday, March 2, when the Inter-Congregational Men's Club dinner takes place at Temple Israel, 17400 Manderson, Detroit.

The 43rd annual event involving the men's clubs of orthodox, conservative and reform congregations from throughout metropolitan Detroit will be hosted by the Temple Israel Brotherhood. It will begin at 6 p.m.

Dr. Lowell J. Ressler, past president of Temple Israel Brotherhood, is chairman of the evening.

Guest speaker will be Albert Vorspan, vice president and director of social action for the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, the national organization of reform Jewish synagogues.

Vorspan will speak on "Caught in the Middle—Jews in America in the 70s."

A leading participant in the civil rights movement and interfaith activities, Vorspan is well-known as an author and speaker.

He is the author of several humorous volumes. For reservations call Temple Israel.

Hilberry slates classic 'The Miser'

Moliere's neoclassic comedy masterpiece, "The Miser," officially opens March 10 at 8:30 p.m. at the Hilberry Theatre. Previews are Friday and Saturday at 8:30. "The Miser" will continue in the Hilberry repertory until May 22.

"The Miser," one of Moliere's most popular plays, was first performed in 1668 by his own company at the Palais-Royal and is largely based on the Plautus comedy, "The Pot of Gold."

The central character is Harpagon, one of Moliere's most famous stage creations.

Harpagon, or The Miser, is overcome by an insatiable avarice. He allows his miserliness to rule his every action—making him the dupe of those who recognize his all-consuming desire for wealth.

The play includes chases, servant beatings, romance and one hilarious scene in which Harpagon, giving orders to his servants for a party he is planning, carries his miserly tactics to ridiculous extremes.

The Hilberry cast is headed by Wayne S. Turney as Harpagon with David Seder-holm as his son, Cleante, and Diana Lanza as his daughter, Elise. Mariane, pursued by both Harpagon and his son, is played by Deborah Eckols. The role of Valere, in love with Elise, is played by Bruce Matley, with Harper Jane McAadoo as the lovably scheming matchmaker Frosine and Michael Rothhaar as Anselm, the rich old man Harpagon chooses to marry his daughter.

The production is directed by Robert T. Hazzard with setting by Enoch Morris and costumes by Daniel Thomas Field and Helen Markovitch.

Individual and discount-rate tickets are on sale at the Hilberry Theatre Box Office, Cass and Hancock, telephone 577-2972. Individual tickets at the regular box office price are also available through all J. L. Hudson ticket offices.

Additional outlets for student-rate tickets are the WSU Book Store, the Highland Park College Book Store and the Oakland University Ticket Service.

Ice Capades returning

The 36th edition of Ice Capades will open at Detroit's Olympia on March 9. The opening is "Just For You," as silver-robed skaters glide around popping champagne bottles. The finale with the entire cast salutes the nation's bicentennial in a star-spangled explosion of red, white and blue.

Jo Jo Starbuck and Ken Shelley return for their fourth season, performing in various production numbers and in their own pair skating segment. Jo Jo takes up the physical fitness craze in the company's fast-moving "Gym 'n Ice Tricks" number, while Ken is captivated by the beauty of an oriental princess in "The Story of Tsing Tsu."

Comedy is a major part of any ice extravaganza, and the 1976 Ice Capades features a comic from England, Terry Head and his wife, Gisela; along with Canadians Johnny LaBrecque and Bob Mac.

Returning for another year is juggler Albert Lucas. During last year's tour, the 14-year-old displayed his talent for juggling on ice.

Tickets for the 11 performances through March 16 are available at Olympia, Grinnell's and Olympia Travel (Maple and Lahser) in Birmingham. Children (14 and under) are half-price at all weeknight shows and Saturday matinees. Weeknight performances begin at 7:30; Saturday at noon, 4 and 8 p.m., and Sunday at 1:30 and 5:30 p.m.

It pays to know a DETROIT BANK-er better.

"If you make $10,000 or more a year, I can show you how to get a $1,500 income tax deduction and use it to start your own retirement plan."

Recent legislation has made it possible for individuals and self-employed persons to establish their own retirement plan through a special savings account called an Individual Retirement Account. We asked DETROIT BANK-er Robert K. Smith to explain this new service.

Who is eligible for an I.R.A.?

"An Individual Retirement Account, or I.R.A., may be opened by any employed or self-employed person not currently covered by any other retirement plan. Even if you are already enrolled in a retirement plan, but have a working spouse who is not, he or she is eligible."

How does an I.R.A. differ from a regular savings account?

"There are important differences. First, all contributions to your I.R.A. are fully tax deductible. What's more, even the interest earned on this account is exempt from income tax until it is withdrawn. And when you finally begin making withdrawals, you pay taxes only on the amount you withdraw each year. Like savings accounts, however, I.R.A.'s offer a range of plans paying annual interest rates from 5-1/2 to 7-1/2 percent and are insured to $40,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Incidentally, these are the highest interest rates that any bank can pay."

Are there special regulations for I.R.A.'s?

"Yes. Regulations only permit you to save a maximum of $1,500 a year, or 15% of your annual wages, whichever is less. You can open an Individual Retirement Account with just $25, then it's up to you when and how much you want to deposit, in amounts of $25 or more, up to your maximum each year. You can add to your account each payday and when your savings reach $1,000 or more, you can convert them to 6-year 7-1/2% Investment Certificates; or if you make your annual deposit in one lump sum, you can put it into 6-year 7-1/2% Investment Certificates at that time. The money must remain on deposit at least until you reach age 59-1/2, unless you become permanently disabled.

Should you withdraw prior to that, Federal regulations for Investment Certificates require that you pay substantial penalties on the amount withdrawn, and I.R.A. regulations impose further penalties for premature withdrawals."

Being tax-sheltered, savings in an I.R.A. should accumulate much faster, right?

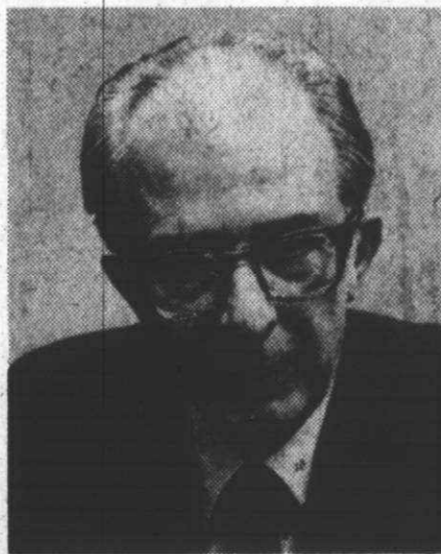

"Amazingly so. In fact, here is a chart which shows what you could accumulate if you invested $1,500, before taxes, at the beginning of each year* The first column shows how your interest accumulates with the help of a tax-sheltered I.R.A., the second shows how your interest accumulates without the help of a tax-sheltered I.R.A. and the third shows the difference."

At the end of	7 1/2% Interest with help of a tax-sheltered I.R.A.	7 1/2% Interest without help of a tax-sheltered I.R.A.	You gain with an I.R.A.
10 years	$ 23,090	$15,528	$ 7,562
20 years	71,633	42,780	28,853
30 years	173,688	90,603	83,085

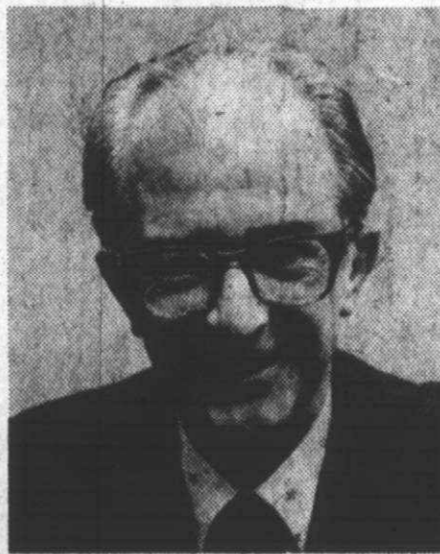

*Table assumes taxpayer is in a 25% tax bracket and that the total contribution is deposited at the beginning of each year.

How can I start my Individual Retirement Account?

"It's as easy as opening a savings account. Just let your DETROIT BANK-er know you want to open an I.R.A. and $25 will get you started. Establishing a useful tax-shelter is another good reason why you ought to know a DETROIT BANK-er better."

"Any employed or self-employed person who is not currently covered by any other retirement plan is eligible for an I.R.A."

"All contributions to an I.R.A. are fully tax deductible. Similarly, interest earned is also exempt from income tax until it is withdrawn."

Mail deadline today

'76 plate deadline nears

Monday, March 1 is a key date for owners of Michigan vehicles who have not yet obtained their 1976 license plates.

March 1 is the final day for sales of commercial and trailer license plates.

It is also the final day for ordering passenger and motorcycle plates by mail. Deadline for passenger and motorcycle plates is March 31.

All commercial and trailer plates must be obtained at license plate branch offices since the deadline for ordering these plates by mail is over.

"We have reports that many of the larger commercial fleets still have not obtained their plates and this could create a crowded condition at our branch offices during the last few days of February and March 1. All commercial and trailer plates must be on those vehicles by March 2. Actually, the deadline was extended one-day since the final day of February falls on a Sunday.

Overall, total plate sales were running ahead of last year's sales, although most of the strong showing was a result of very early buying by persons who wanted to obtain the popular bicentennial plates.

"We seem to have hit a general slump in total sales," said Austin, "even though we show nearly a half-million transactions ahead of 1975, when sticker tabs were issued."

Compared with the 1973, the last year Michigan issued plates, the bicentennial plates are running about 200,000 ahead.

For obtaining passenger or trailer license plates by mail, vehicle owners must provide the following:

Signed, ready-to-use application with a check or money order and send to Secretary of State, P.O. Box 1000, Lansing 48904.

To obtain plates at branch offices, owners must bring in either their ready-to-use applications, or current registration, or vehicle title. Proof of liability insurance is also required as well as check, money order or cash to handle the transactions.

Auto men on the move

L.B. "BRAZ" PRYOR of Bloomfield Township was named assistant general sales manager in charge of the eastern half of the United States with Cadillac Division, General Motors Corp.

Pryor joined GM in the business management department of the Chevrolet Division in 1947.

W.G. "BILL" MASSEY of Bloomfield Township was promoted to assistant general sales manager in charge of central office activities with the Cadillac Division of General Motors.

Massey joined Cadillac in 1953. In 1971, he was appointed assistant general sales manager in charge of the western half of the United States.

WALTER J. VOSS of Birmingham has been appointed director of product group administration for American Motors Corp.

He has been product group controller manager since November 1974.

GILBERT R. BAMFORD of West Bloomfield has been appointed assistant sales manager of the Cincinnati Lincoln-Mercury district office of Ford Motor Co.

He joined Ford in the Detroit area in 1964 as a financial analyst for overseas district operations.

CHARLES VRANIAN of West Bloomfield has been named chief engineer-vehicle development for Ford Motor Co.'s North American Automotive Operations.

A Lawrence Institute of Technology graduate, he joined Ford in 1952 as a product test engineer.
