Road patrol suit to be appealed again

By RICHARD GOLD

To pretty much no one's surprise, supervisors from seven out-county townships agreed to appeal once more for continued protection by the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol.

Supervisors from Canton, Plymouth, Northville, Sumpter, Van Buren, Huron and Brownstown met Wednesday to discuss a course of action with their Detroit-based attorney Bert Burgoyne.

The conclusion by the supervisors to have one more go at retaining the sheriff's patrol at no ostensible out-of-pocket cost came in the wake of a March 25 Michigan Appeals Court ruling stating that while the sheriff was responsible to answer complaints and maintain "vigilance" in the 200-mile area that comprises the seven townships, he was not obligated to patrol.

The townships and the county have been at odds for the last five years over the sheriff, with the county arguing that the townships should share some or all of the costs of the patrol, estimated at about $450,000.

The townships have responded that the county is obligated to provide the service and that they already pay the county 7.07 mills.

The townships lost round one of the court battle more than a year ago when Wayne Circuit Judge Thomas J. Foley ruled in favor of the county.

That decision was upheld by the three-man appeals panel less than a month ago.

Despite the first two-round losses, the supervisors decided to keep the court action going by a unanimous vote of 6-0.

Northville Township chose to withdraw from the first appeal because of financial problems, according to Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein.

It will, however, remain in the suit but will not be asked to pay its share.

"WE VOTED to keep going as far as possible," Greenstein commented. "Burgoyne read and explained the Court of Appeals ruling to us, and it was his opinion that the appeals court did actually overrule Foly on the most important part of the case.

"The appeals court said the sheriff was obligated to respond to calls from the citizenry in the unincorporated areas. That's exactly opposite from what Foley said."

Foley's opinion, while stating that "no mandatory requirement is anywhere to be found requiring the sheriff as the chief conservator of the peace to patrol the county roads," does not deal with the question of answering complaints.

"The important thing to note is that the appeals court did say the sheriff has an obligation to answer complaints, and the judges just got hung up on the name of the road patrol.

"Since the road patrol is the only policing and investigating agency of the sheriff, the appeals court decision is contradictory.

"On the one hand they say 'yes there is an obligation to answer calls and on the other hand they say no the road patrol doesn't have to be maintained.'"

"You aren't going to get deputies from the Wayne County jail to police the townships— the road patrol is the only unit. We think the court didn't understand that."

Greenstein termed the appeals court ruling a "complete misunderstanding" and said Burgoyne has been instructed to petition the appeals court for a rehearing.

Greenstein added, "Now that I realize that that the appeals court said there is an gation on the part of the road patrol, I'm switching my position on the ruling.

"As far as I am concerned, I am saying we won the case. It's the first time ever in this state that it has been established that the sheriff has an obligation to enforce the law in the townships."

IF THE APPEALS court doesn't accept the petition for a rehearing, however, Greenstein said Burgoyne has been instructed to take the case to the state supreme court. "Our township board voted to support the litigation to its conclusion and that's what all the supervisors agreed to," he said.

Plymouth Township Supervisor J.D. McLaren, who had said earlier that he wanted to appeal further, commented, "I'd like to go one more mile with this thing—and certainly this is the last mile.

"The chances are good that the final decision will affirm our position."

In the event the townships lose at the supreme court level, however, McLaren said, "I don't like to speculate on losing and we don't plan to, but if we do we have two alternatives.

"We can form our own police department or we can contract with the sheriff."

"But faced with the probability of an additional school millage this summer, I don't think we can go to the voters for additional millage for our own police force. But it's a situation we'll have to face, if we lose and are denied services by the sheriff's department."

According to Greenstein, however, it is unlikely the sheriff will be withdrawn until all litigation is finished. Should the case go before the state supreme court, the end of the lawsuit may be more than a year away.

"It's my understanding that they intend to keep the road patrol going until the case comes to a conclusion," Greenstein said.

Presently, the patrol is funded through the rest of the county's fiscal year which ends Nov. 31.

$21,000 in housing funds

Canton receives bonus

Canton Township has received a "bonus" federal grant of more than $21,000 which it plans to use to rehabilitate old homes badly in need of repair.

The allocation was decided at a meeting Wednesday night of Wayne County block grant advisory committee of the 21 municipalities which applied through the county for federal Community Development Act funds.

The county had withheld some $78,000 of its 1975 allocation to be distributed this year only for housing rehabilitation programs. Only five of the 21 applied and Canton received the largest grant.

The allocation of $21,556 will be used as direct grants to qualifying homeowners to repair and bring up to code unsafe residential dwellings, says Supervisor Bob Greenstein.

CANTON WAS the only one of the five applicants to go the route of providing direct grants, he adds, with the other four choosing to establish revolving funds for low-interest loans for home repairs.

"But when a man is burdened with economic hardships, the last thing he needs is another loan—no matter how low the interest.

"Canton has many homes that are old and need repair to bring them up to code," explains Greenstein. As part of its application, the township submitted a survey of housing stock in need of rehabilitation.

That survey indicated Canton has 646 residential structures in need of extensive repair, 263 which need major structural improvements, and 235 which are structurally unsound and need to be removed.

To be eligible for a direct grant, a resident must be the owner—occupant of a one-family, detached dwelling in a single-family zoned area. The gross annual income must not exceed 60 per cent of the median family income, or about $12,500.

The grant to the homeowner will be $4,000 or less and can be spent only for the cost of eliminating violations of township building or construction codes.

"This will help the homeowners with the greatest needs," says Greenstein, "particularly the elderly."

THE ONLY payback which might be involved would occur if a family moved out of Canton within two or three years after receiving a grant, in which case the money would have to be paid back.

"It may sound like $21,000 is not a lot of money to go around, but the important thing is that we can use this money to show what we can do. In 1976 the housing assistance program allocation is expected to be $400,000 compared to the $78,000 available ,this year," Greenstein says.

"By proving we can use the money in a feasible, meaningful manner, Canton stands to get a good share of the 1976 funds.

"ANYONE WHO thinks they might qualify for a grant can contact the township administration now."

A list of applicants will be kept, and the houses will be inspected.

"We want to get the program started right away," says the supervisor. "By compiling a lengthy list of applicants we can include that information in our next application to better prove our need for housing rehabilitation funds."

Greenstein stresses that residents shouldn't be afraid to have their houses inspected. "We won't come back to anyone who doesn't get a grant and insist the violations be corrected. There's no way that will happen. I personally guarantee that the information we receive won't be used against anyone."

OTHER COMMUNITIES receiving part of the $78,000 allocation were:

City of Plymouth, $20,000; Allen Park, $16,166; Brownstown Township, $10,778; and Sumpter Township, $10,000.

To determine how the funds should be allocated, the advisory committee had devised a point system based on feasibility with the Wayne County planning department staff studying the applications and assigning points.

The City of Plymouth received the highest points with 75, followed by Canton with 65, Allen Park with 60, Brownstown with 55, and Sumpter with 30.

"Even though Plymouth scored higher," explains Greenstein, "Canton got more money because it asked for more. Plymouth only asked for $20,000 and that's what it received. Canton asked for $29,000."

Canton Firechief Mel Paulun made the rounds with inspectors from the Michigan Office of Insurance Services last week, helping the survey crew determine the shape of the township's fire department and water system. Millage fate decided tonight

The amount of new operating tax to request on the June 14 ballot is expected to be decided tonight by the Plymouth Board of Education.

The board is expected to place on the ballot a proposal seeking five additional mills or two proposals asking for 2½ mills each.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the cafetorium of Plymouth Canton High.

The board also is expected to approve 1976-77 school year attendance boundaries, with some recommended changes advised by the attendance and boundary committee and to discuss the resignation of the head varsity football coach at Plymouth Canton High.

THE BOARD met Saturday morning, April 10, to discuss alternative millage proposals which could be placed on the ballot June 14.

Although other alternatives could come up, the two expected to receive the most attention are one proposal for five mills ($5 per $1,000 state equalized valuation), or two of 2½ each.

The administration estimates that to maintain current programs, without layoffs, an additional 5.3 mills would have to be levied. If the state aid bill introduced by Sen. Jack Faxon passes, the district would need five new mills to maintain programs.

The second proposition would be a two-part question splitting the five mills. The thinking is that the first 2½ mills would allow for staff hirings close to what exists now. If only the one issue were approved, and the second 2½ defeated, the district would continue its plans to layoff about 120 teachers and continue with its administration and noncertified cuts.

If both 2½-mill proposals were approved by voters, the district then could return to the school program it began last September.

THREE CHANGES being recommended for adoption before approving the middle school boundaries are:

That East Middle boundary be extended to include all of the Field Elementary attendance area in Canton;

That Pioneer Middle boundaries be extended to include the entire Eriksson Elementary attendance area in Canton; and,

That the boundary line between West Middle and East Middle running along

Berg offers alternate land use plan

See related story on 3A

Good planning and politics don't mix, according to Bart Berg and that is the reason he has introduced an alternative to the master land use plan currently before the Canton planning commission.

Berg, a charter member of the planning commission, and former Canton chamber of commerce president, has introduced a plan he says will help save agricultural land without alienating those who own the land.

"You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink," Berg commented, "and what we need is to involve the people in the western half of the township in the implementation of the plan."

Berg said none of the farmers in the western half of the township, the area designated for commercial farming under the proposed plan, were consulted while it was being developed.

In a cover letter explaining his alternate plan to all the board members and planning commissioners, Berg said, "As a member of the Canton planning commission, I have steadfastly stated the past year and a half that I believe in the concept of preserving agricultural land, providing it is good agricultural land and and providing no property owners in the area are hurt in the transition of preserving the land in an agricultural status.

"I also believe that the owners of the land that can be classified as good agricultural land should be able to really have some say in any plan that affects his or her holdings.

"WE HAVE ACCEPTED and respected seniority rights in industry, government, civil service, and educational systems, why not long-time owners of property?

"At least they should have more input into any plan that affects them more than anyone else."

Berg's plan, a rather complicated land banking system, involves a series of steps.

He suggests first talking to the farmers whose land would be affected by any agricultural district. If they are not willing to farm even with a tax break as presented under the proposed plan pushed by Supervisor Robert Greenstein, Berg suggests "going no further."

If however, the farmers respond they would like to farm if they receive a tax break, Berg suggests a multipoint plan involving banking of development rights and remuneration for those rights in hardship cases.

The steps he suggests are:

- Establish a five-member commission to adminster a developmental rights bank. The committee would be composed of "an executive of the township, an executive of the county, an executive of the state and two selected owners and operators of an active farm within the boundaries of the agricultural district."
- The commission will have the power to hear appeals about hardship and determine if the township shall buy developmental rights.
- The commission will recommend if, when, where and how big any development in the farming district shall be.
- The recommendations of the commission must be approved by the township electorate.

UNDER BERG'S plan, participation in the developmental rights bank would be voluntary, but only those participating would receive the agricultural tax break.

He suggests:

- Place by consent deed restrictions on all property within the defined agricultural district for a specified time (10-25 years).
- All residents of the agricultural district who now own three- and five-acre parcels would be assessed as small farms with a rate that would reflect the fact that they don't have water, sewer or paved roads.
- Farms larger than five acres would be taxed at a special rate for commercial farming, but that rate would apply only to land in excess of five acres.

After the agricultural district was determined by the five-member commission, value of the land would have to be agreed to.

Once the value is determined, development rights would be deposited in a development rights bank and in some instances compensation would be awarded.

Hardship cases would have first priority for remuneration of development rights and Berg suggests an appeal procedure to decide who is in need of help.

Payment for developmental rights could come in many forms according to Berg.

They could be:

- Paid through monthly supplements to farmers.
- Yearly payment of taxes.
- Total payment of development rights as established at time of effective date of plan.

Once banked, the only time the development rights could be removed from the bank would be when the land was transferred and no payment has been received for the rights.

Speculators owning land would be encouraged to sell their land to farmers and the township would negotiate with those speculators for the development rights.

Berg said the heart of his plan was to "remove the politics" and get the farmers involved in the planning process.

"REALLY IT'S JUST a way to get people to work together to solve their problems. Citizen participation is the key to it."

Berg said those paid off for their developmental rights would be paid in full with the guarantee that the value of the land would never drop below current levels.

"The main thing is to see that no one gets hurt and then if it doesn't work, we can revise back," he said.

Greenstein's reaction to the plan was that it would not work.

"No one would do it," he said. "The only thing that keeps it from being unconstitutional is that the developmental rights banking is voluntary.

"But the whole plan would never get beyond the first step because the people you talked to wouldn't buy it. The way to handle developmental rights is for the township to buy them as soon as possible, either by federal or state grants or when the township raises the money.

"You purchase the rights as soon as you

On Schedule

Construction of Geneva United Presbyterian Church on Sheldon near Ford is right on schedule, according to Pastor Jeffrey Goldsmith. Carpenters are putting on the finishing touches and only heavy rains delaying completion of the parking lot could delay the planned mid-May opening. The worship area, which will double as a community area, will accommodate 250 persons. There are two offices and five classrooms, one of which also will serve as a kitchen. The church owns a house on the property which now contains offices and three classrooms. Plans are to refurbish the house and continue to use the classrooms. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

Plymouth Canton student attitudes surveyed

A survey taken at Plymouth Canton High shows student attitudes are generally positive, although there are some areas where improvement by the school is needed.

The school attitude survey was conducted in December, explains Principal Kent Buikema, and was conducted by the DARTE (drug abuse reduction through education) Project—a federally funded project under the direction of the Wayne County Intermediate School District. The project is primarily concerned with school climate and communications as a method to reduce drug abuse.

BUIKEMA REPORTS the results of the survey "were quite positive—yet, they did point out areas where improvement is needed."

The survey was given to 408 randomly selected students, about 100 at each grade level, and 70 per cent of the staff. The results were tabulated and analyzed by Dr. Al Goldman of the DARTE Project.

Ninety-one per cent of the students agreed with the statement: "Most teachers I know around here seem willing to give some of their own free time to help students."

About 77 per cent of the students disagreed with the statement: "Education in this school is usally boring." Ninth graders weren't as strong in their disagreement as the other students. A related statement, "I enjoy coming to school," received agreement from 70 per cent of the students. There was a range of agreement with this statement from 59 per cent by senior boys and 60 per cent by ninth grade boys to 86 per cent by 10th and 11th grade girls.

"It is interesting to note that boys were more positive in their reaction to the first statement but girls were considerably more positive in their response to the I enjoy coming to school statement," says Buikema.

Some 71 per cent of the students disagreed that "Teachers in this school seem to get upset easily," and 66 per cent agreed that "Most adults in this school are pretty honest in their dealings with kids."

AN ITEM OF CONCERN relates to the size of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

Some 59 per cent of the students agreed that "I'm just one of a big crowd in this school." The staff has been made aware of this response, says Buikema.

Another 73 per cent of students agreed that "Most adults in this school really seem human" and 63 per cent agreed that "Students are encouraged to say what they think, about what is going on in this school." Some 62 per cent agreed that "Discipline problems in this school are usually handled fairly."

There were a total of 18 items on the survey and the results have been distributed to staff members. Buikema says Dr. Goldman has indicated that the Plymouth Canton survey, compared to other schools in Wayne County, was very positive—indicating a good school climate.

Colonial Kiwanis gets festival nod for 'Italian Night'

The Colonial Kiwanis Club of Plymouth has been picked by the Plymouth Fall Festival Board to sponsor the Thursday night dinner, previously handled by the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club.

The Kiwanians will be changing the traditional "German Night" on Thursday for the Fall Festival to an "Italian Night," serving a spaghetti dinner complete with salad, beverage and hard roll.

Ed Page, manager of the Festival, explained that two other applications couldn't be considered because of the written board policy which states that the primary food dinners shall be handled by major service clubs in the community. Also applying were a fraternal lodge and a church.

AT ITS APRIL meeting, the Fall Festival Board presented its formal written policy establishing guidelines for the selection of participants in this year's Festival and on permissible activities of participants.

Participants must be non-profit organizations within the boundaries of the Plymouth Community School District—except prior participants, based on board approval, and after inception of the policy.

Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday are days reserved for the community major service clubs for the purpose of operating the "primary food concessions," or major dinner.

No application for an activity will be considered by the board for approval after the first board meeting in July.

Prohibited from the Festival are: games of chance such as raffles, lottery, or drawings; alcoholic beverages; political activity; and, distribution of circulars.

The first draft of the policy was approved by the board on Dec. 10, 1975, and final approval was given April 3.

Planning commission to act on plan April 20

With a vote on the proposed master land use plan probably eight days away, members of the planning commission and the township board met Tuesday to iron the remaining wrinkles in the plan.

Areas of contention included zonings on Michigan Avenue, and on Canton Center between Ford and Warren as well as the entire problem of the agricultural-industrial farm district.

The planning commission is expected to meet once more before considering action on the plan Tuesday, April 20.

Mike Manore, township planner, made a detailed report to the commissioners and board members Tuesday, saying that implementation of the agricultural-industrial district would not be a very expensive prospect for the township.

Manore's figures show that the district—reduced from an estimated 6,300 acres to 5,665—would cost the township about $30,000 in taxes annually, and would eliminate $6.8 million in state equalized value in the township.

Under the plan, farmland in the agricultural-industrial district, now appraised at $2,500 and taxed at half, that would be appraised at $500 and assessed at $250.

NET TAX LOSSES to the three school systems in Canton would be even less significant, said Manore, because most the money lost to the schools would be recouped through state aid under the present formula.

Net loss to the Plymouth schools, the largest district in the township, is estimated at $3,800, with Wayne-Westland and Van Buren schools suffering much smaller losses.

If the money were not recoverable through state aid, the total loss to all three school systems would be approximately $185,000 with the Plymouth schools picking up most of the tab at $132,000.

However, Manore said those costs compared favorably with estimates of what it would cost taxpayers to fully develop the western half of the township.

Full urbanization in Canton would result in a total population of about 200,000 with that total divided evenly between the east and the west.

Manore estimated the cost of providing municipal and school services to 100,000 people at $25 million annually for operation and an additional capital outlay of $65 million, interest not included.

PURCHASE OF DEVELOPMENT rights in the agricultural-industrial district, perhaps the key to the plan, would cost the township about $9 million, Manore estimated.

Manore's estimate is based on three assumptions.

- There will be 5,665 acres in the agricultural district.
- The land is worth $2,500 an acre.
- Property owners will be reimbursed at a rate of $1,600 an acre.

The $1,600 figure was arrived at by subtracting the value of the land as if it had no development potential and paying 80 per cent of the difference.

Manore estimated land with no potential for development at $500 and 80 per cent of the difference equalled $1,600.

According to Supervisor Robert Greenstein, historically the highest figure paid for development rights was 80 per cent, a figure he said Canton would probably not exceed.

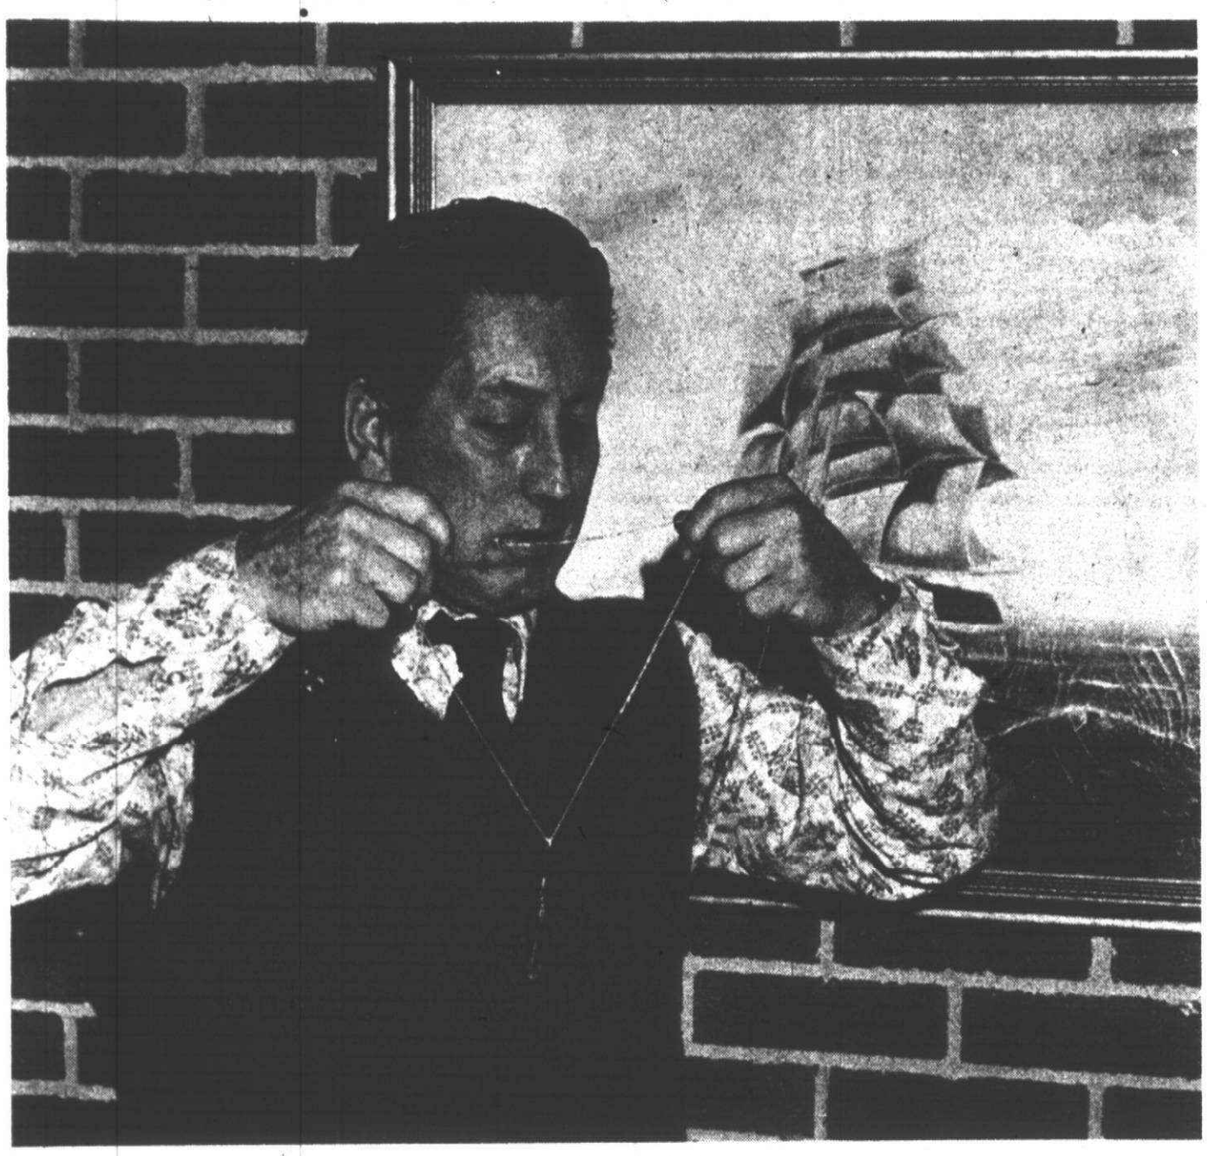

"The 80 per cent is for discounting to present value," the supervisor said. "We'll be paying in lump sums and the money won't be strung out over a number of years and that's why traditionally there has been a discount."

Greenstein said the township would consider levying additional millage if money could not be raised from the federal or state government.

"We hope to get a grant to cover it," the supervisor said, "but if we can't we'll have to go the community.

"This is a situation like drains. We all pay for it if we want it."

Greenstein said application for federal money would take about a year after approval of the plan. "There's is money available for this and there's a chance we can be one of the pilot programs."

Tonight in closed session

Board to hear Muneio

By BILL COLLINS

The resignations of Plymouth Canton football coaching staff members will be discussed at a special personnel session, closed to the public, following tonight's Plymouth Community School District Board of Education meeting.

At the special meeting, school board members will meet with the Canton coaching staff. Members of the press will be present.

Plymouth Canton football coach Jim Muneio made his position official last Monday afternoon when he submitted, in writing, his resignation to Canton High School Principal Kent Buikema. That action followed the resignation of Jim Jarvey, a varsity assistant in the Canton football program.

Buikema has been ordered by the board to refuse resignations from any coaching staff member, pending a discussion of the matter with the board.

"At the board meeting tonight we will reiterate publicly our intention to allow Mr. Muneio to have an audience with the board as he had asked in his letter of resignation," said board chairwoman Marda Benson.

In his resignation, Muneio said it was not feasible to be in charge of a football program that did not have the full support of players and followers, and that certain elements in the community were applying negative pressure on the program.

"The reason for resigning was to get out of a position that was not desirable," said Muneio.

"My reason for asking an audience with the board is to state my side of the story and clear my name of any unjust accusations," said Muneio.

According to Muneio, the reason for inviting the press to the otherwise closed board session is to expose to the community the events of the session, but, Muneio added, asking an open public hearing on the controversy would only add fuel to the already emotional character of the issue.

For those members of the community wishing to voice their opinions on the subject, there is the "citizen suggestion" portion of the agenda which is designed for community input.

Several Plymouth Salem coaches have joined to write a letter expressing their feelings on the issue. The letter will be read before the board.

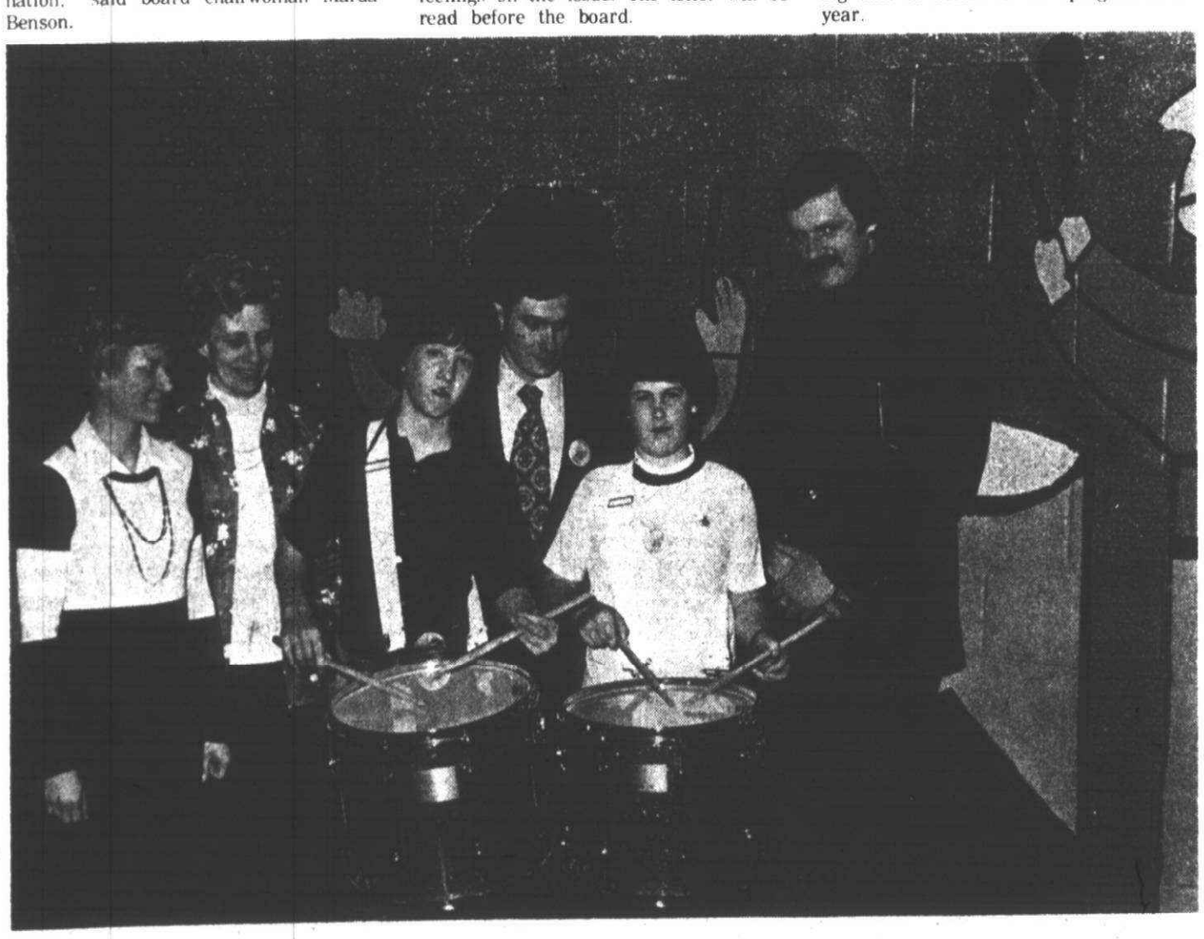

Board president Benson said she hoped the community would come forth with the same respectful attitude it has traditionally shown over the years that she has been a board member—just as, she said, the board has been respectfully attentive to those in the school district who have shown a legitimate interest in matters concerning the school district.

Muneio announced his intention to resign about two weeks ago after pressure was applied by a parent group spearheaded by school board trustee Joe Gray. Gray conducted a private meeting at which parents of Canton football players and athletic boosters voiced their complaints about Muneio's ability to head a solid varsity football program.

Those complaints were tape-recorded and forewarded to Muneio.

Shortly thereafter, he announced his intention to resign.

Since then, however, returning lettermen and other varsity players have given the besieged coach a vote of confidence, asking him to return to the program next year.

He 'nails' crosses from horseshoes for a hobby

By W.W. EDGAR

At this Lenten season, John Davidson of 41856 River Oaks has a most timely hobby.

He spends most of his leisure hours making crosses and, of all things, he makes them with old-fashioned horse shoe nails.

Confiding that he copied the idea from a gift shop in Coventry, England, after St. Michael Cathedral was bombed, he says:

"When they rebuilt the church, they left a lot of old lumber, trusses and the like laying around. A lot of the pieces contained horse shoe nails and the religious folks over there made crosses of the nails for the gift shop.

"When I saw them, I thought it would be a good idea for me to spend time doing when I returned home, and that's how I came about making the crosses. The only trouble I have is finding the horse shoe nails."

IT HAS BEEN quite some time since horses plodded up and down our roads around Plymouth, so Davison must go elsewhere to find his supplies.

"I am able to purchase some of them in a saddlery in South Lyons, but most of mine come from West Virginia.

"I can buy them down there much cheaper than around Plymouth. I pay only $1 a pound and there are quite a few nails in a pound.

"There are some saddlers around here that carry the nails, but they are much too expensive."

He has been making these unusual crosses for more than a year and can't recall just how many he has made. But he has had some pleasant experiences.

At one of the churches the play, "Sound of Music," recently was being presented. To add to the religious spectacle of the play, it was decided that all of the nuns shoudld wear the cross. He made all of them.

AS HE EXPLAINED his hobby, Davison also displayed several types of horseshoe nails, and one that proved interesting was from Sweden.

He and his family are members of the Redford United Methodist church and have lived in Plymouth for the past six years.

A deeply religious man, Davidson has written a pamphlet to explain the use of the seven nails in the cross.

"It was the deadly nails of human nature which crucified our Lord. These same nails are in every human heart, in some degree. They immobilize his life-giving spirit in our world today," Davidson explains.

"For this is not the most important truth: He only lives or dies in my life and in our world, according to what goes on in my heart, everyday."

He decribes the lower two lower nails of the cross as fear and hate with these explanations:

FEAR: We do not think so, but fear fans the smoldering mistrust and suspicion into flaming hate. Fear of change, fear of the unknown and fear of being thought wrong.

HATE: Hate blinds people from the truth. It was a prime factor in the crucifixion of Jesus. It operates the same way today and results in wrong decisions. It not only crucifies the spirit of Jesus, but it can pin anyone to the wall . . . man or nation.

Supporting hate and fear are two other nails—envy and pride.

ENVY: Envy often shows itself in secret hurts, disappointments, bitterness and resentments. False pride is often a cover-up for unrealistic ambitions. It often condones our lust for power, control and attention.

PRIDE: To pull out these nails brings peace that He alone can give. Not the peace that the world gives, the peace of escape and of not facing things, but the peace of conquest over our lower natures.

The two nails which bind the hands of Jesus are apathy and self interest.

APATHY AND SELF INTEREST: Apathy is willingness to do nothing. To close our eyes to the need and the opportunity to be of service. The wishful thinking that all will be well without any help from us. Will we never learn that we are His hands and feet? That would seem to be enough, yet there is one more nail. It is the key nail on which all of the others depend—mediocrity.

MEDICRITY: It sounds innocent enough, yet it is the father of all the enemies of mankind.

It has destroyed more than any disease or plague. For it attacks the very soul. "Where there is no vision, people perish." Jesus put it this way: "Eyes that see not. Ears that hear not." It certainly was an element in the crucifixion of our Lord and it still continues to squeeze into the mold of mere existence, millions who could find their full potential in "real living" by claiming their heritage as a child of God."

Prior to his retirement, Davidson was an employee of Detroit Edison Company and now, aside from making crosses, he also has become interested in painting. He has several of his works on exhibition in the Plymouth Cultural Center.

But from all appearances, his heart work is in the shaping of the crosses. He keeps busy and has as his creed: "A man should retire to something—not from something."

Energy costs sparking power politics in state

By TIM RICHARD

A New Jersey committee says no, you can't. A Michigan committee last week says yes, you can.

The question is whether a state can float tax-exempt bonds to build electric power-generating facilities. The question is important for two reasons:

•Gov. Milliken's Advisory Commission on Electric Power Alternatives recently proposed Michigan go into the electric power manufacturing and wholesaling business. It would require amendments to the state constitution and changes in the laws.

•The frankly socialist Human Rights Party is about to open a major petition drive for a state takeover of Detroit Edison and Consumers Power companies. This, too, would require constitutional amendments and law changes.

IN EACH CASE, one argument is that the state can get a cheaper interest rate on bonds because those bonds would be exempt from federal income taxes.

Impossible, said a New Jersey committee appointed by Gov. Brendan Byrne to study the questions of setting up a state power authority and using state credit to support the bonds of investor-owned utilities.

In a report dated last Jan. 9, Stewart Pollock, New Jersey's commissioner of public utilities, said the study committee found:

"A public power authority cannot sell electricity at a significantly lower rate than a private electric utility. As a practical matter, there is serious doubt whether a New Jersey Power Authority could issue tax-exempt bonds."

THAT FINDING, Pollock wrote, was based on a U.S. Internal Revenue Service regulation. The regulation prohibits use of state tax-exempt bonds unless the proceeds are ". . . used to construct a facility a) not more than 25 per cent of the use of which is sold to a private utility, or b) that provides electricity to a private utility, the service area of which is not greater than two counties, or c) that sells power to electric utilities without the security of a contract."

The New Jersey committee added that for a state power authority's bonds to qualify for tax-exempt status, "It would be necessary for (the authority) to sell 75 per cent of the electricity from a facility financed by the bonds to 'tax-exempt' persons"—that is, to a unit of government or an organization not subject to federal income taxes.

THE MICHIGAN commission's executive director, Lawrence M. Glazer, says there is a way to issue tax-exempt bonds and counters that "our research is more sophisticated (than New Jersey's)."

Glazer relies on a 1975 IRS ruling regarding general obligation bonds (tax-exempt) and industrial development bonds (taxable). He says:

"They (IRS) imply from this ruling that if the state issues bonds, receives the proceeds and then appropriates money to the power authority, these bonds would not meet the industrial development bond test."

In other words, the state could issue bonds at a tax-free interest rate, make a budget appropriation presumably equal to the bonds' proceeds, and give that appropriation to the power authority.

THE GOVERNOR'S Advisory Commission on Electric Power Alternatives, headed by Eastern Michigan University President James Brickley, split 8-5 over the proposal to set up the power authority. The commission has 14 voting members and several "governmental advisors."

A Detroit Edison official denounced the proposal, predicting the result would be higher taxes.

Under the proposal, a Michigan Power Authority (MPA) would compete with investor-owned electric companies for the right to build new, electric-generating capacity. The state Public Service Commission (PSC) would award a "certificate of convenience and necessity" to whichever entity—MPA or the investor-owned utility—could demonstrate the ability to build and operate the most efficient plant.

If MPA won the certificate, it would act as manufacturer and wholesaler of electricity; the investor-owned utility would retail it to its customers.

THE UNDERLYING thinking has been stimulated by the utilities' frequent requests for rate increases to boost income.

With additional income, they could either 1) reinvest it in additional generating capacity or 2) have an attractive enough rate of earnings to sell new shares of common stock.

A state power authority, on the other hand, could take the issue of building additional generating capacity out of the rate question. Edison and Consumers Power could ask only for rate increases to cover costs, not to build new plant capacity.

Politically, there has been much argument about the need for generating capacity. Specifically, the power companies have been charged with planning to build unneeded plants and asking the public to pay higher rates to build what isn't needed.

Detroit Edison's reply: "Based upon current load growth forecasts, the company estimates that the reserve margins of generating capability over peak loads will drop from 32 per cent of the summer peak load in 1975 to about 10 per cent in 1977, with no reserve margin at all in 1978."

Thus, Edison is saying that in two years it will have no reserve generating capacity, and the result could be brown-outs.

The governor's commission will hold public hearings around the state somewhere between April 21 and May 21.

Restaurants host May 16 coffee day

On Friday, April 16, you can sit in a local restaurant drinking coffee for free and help crippled children and adults at the same time.

But first you have to buy a "Buck-A-Cup/Brace-A-Child" button for $1 from a restaurant participating in a program launched by the Wayne County chapters of the Easter Seal Society and the Michigan Restaurant Association. The buttons are on sale at these restaurants now through April 16.

Participating restaurants are: Sherwood Inn and Daly Drive-In in Livonia, Mayflower Hotel, Daly Drive-In, Plymouth Hilton Hotel and Colonial Chef Restaurant in Plymouth; Leright's in Westland; and Merriman Drive-In in Garden City.

All White Castles and Red Barns in the area are also participants.

All proceeds realized from this project will remain in Wayne County to provide services to handicapped children and adults.

UNRA opposes more transfer tax

The United Northwestern Realty Association (UNRA) is urging public opposition to a bill in the state senate which would increase property transfer taxes 10 times in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

The proposal, SB 1375, would increase the present tax of $1.10 per $1,000 of sale price to $11.10 so that transfer taxes on sale of a $30,000 home would rise from $33 to $333. Under terms of the measure, the funds would be used to finance a rapid transit system for southeast Michigan.

Calling the measure patently unfair, Conrad Jakubowski, UNRA secretary and chairman of the 3,400-member organization's civic and legislative committee, said:

"If enacted, the bill will seriously retard home building and retail home sales just as these critical areas of the economy show signs of emerging from the recessionary slump.

"The continuing rise in costs for a new or existing home already is reducing the number of families who can afford to move up to home ownership. Statistics released by the federal government last year indicated that only 15 per cent of the population had sufficient annual income to purchase a medium-priced new home and only 20 per cent to buy a medium-priced existing home.

"The extra burden imposed by increase of this property transfer tax could only serve to further limit these numbers particularly when coupled with rising property tax rates in many communities."

JAKUBOWSKI POINTED out that last year UNRA members aided in the sale of property, primarily family residences, valued at some $391 million. Transfer taxes amounted to an estimated $430,000. If the proposed tax had been in effect, the total would have been more than $4.3 million.

"While such figures might suggest a windfall to proponents of the bill, the tax would have singled out the sellers of property to support mass transit, while those not in the real estate market would have contributed nothing, but shared equally in its benefits," he said.

"In our view, any specific tax to raise funds for mass transit should be equitable, non-discriminatory and be directed on all who will benefit. The present proposal certainly does not meet such criteria."

HE SAID that each year approximately 20 per cent of the population changes residences. Addition of the tax each time a home is sold would constantly inflate its price and, in time, could make it unsalable or bring substantial loss to the seller.

"While purporting to aid the three-county metropolitan area, the increase in property transfer taxes could have an opposite effect," he added. "It could well abet further deterioration of older areas by stifling sales of homes and businesses which presently represent only marginal values."

Your signature can help control health-care costs.

Malpractice suits are a major reason for soaring health care costs. As a result, next time you visit your doctor—or if you are admitted to a hospital as a patient—you may be offered an Arbitration Agreement Form that you can sign if you choose. This form is the result of a new Michigan law and the Michigan Medical Arbitration Rules, as approved by the Commissioner of Insurance. Your signature on the form means that you agree to settle disputes about your health care—except disputes about fees—through arbitration, instead of going to court.

Through arbitration, these problems can be settled faster than with a jury trial and at less cost. Widespread acceptance can contribute to controlling rising insurance rates.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan urges all of our members to lend a hand in helping to hold down health care costs. Your signature on an Arbitration Agreement Form can be a big help.

The Stroller

Hail the dandelion

— By W.W. EDGAR

Every year about this time The Stroller feels obligated to come to the defense of the much-maligned dandelion.

It won't be long until the tiny plants will be coming up out of the ground, and folks will begin to condemn them as enemies—the chief spoilers of lawns or other grassy areas and the curse of the roadside when they break into their golden bloom.

The Stroller's close affinity with the dandelion dates back to the days when he was a lad experiencing his years in school. It came about in two unusual ways.

It started when The Stroller's mother, lacking the wherewithal to provide meat for the table with five hungry mouths to feed, turned to the dandelion she found in the yard and the vacant field close to home.

Now, The Stroller admits, that dandelion seems like a strange substitute for meat, but she had a way of preparing the jagged leafy plant that made it tasty, especially when served with mashed potatoes and what she called a German sour dressing that was a concoction of the Pennsylvania Dutch. It tas t?is dish that we grew to like, and to this day The Stroller longs for one of those old dandelion dinners when spring comes around.

THE STROLLER has another reason for this close affinity as it gave his first insight into the business world.

Our little town had a population of about 3,500, and it wasn't much of a walk into the farm country, only a mile or two. In the spring the grassy slopes along the country roads abounded with dandelion.

Many a time, on his return from school, mother would suggest that he go out and pick what she called a "mess" of dandelions. A "mess" amounted to what would fill a 20-pound bag one finds in today's supermarkets. This amount would feed our family with a wholesome meal.

One day it occurred to The Stroller that maybe some of the other families could use dandelions if someone picked them. So he sauntered forth and picked about a half dozen "messes" and found he had no trouble selling them for 15 cents each.

With this opportunity to make money he induced several companions to pick along with him, paid them 10 cents a "mess" and sold them for 15 cents. Many a time his mother laughed at the young business man, but it forever endeared him to dandelions.

WHEN HE LEFT home and settled in the city—far from the old home town—one of his neighbors came to the fence one day and asked, "What do you do with the damned dandelions?"

"Eat 'em," The Stroller answered, and the neighbor walked away as though he had been the butt of a joke.

Came a day, not long after, The Stroller's mother paid a surprise visit.

When she stood in the doorway on her arrival, he said, "Mom, if I had known you were coming I would have asked you to bring a 'mess' of dandelion with you. I sure am hungry for one of those old-time meals."

The following night when he returned for dinner, mother was in the kitchen humming and smiling. When she served dinner, there it was—a fine plate of dandelions, mashed potatoes and the German sour dressing.

How to relieve congested courts

In the few short months since his retirement from the Wayne Circuit Court bench after 19 years of service, Plymouth attorney George Bowles has had an opportunity to look back at the problems and has offered recommendations for the relief of crowded dockets

In a letter directed to both Austin G. Anderson, director of Institute of Continuing Legal Education at the University of Michigan and Prof. B.J. George, director of the Center for Administrative Justice at Wayne State University, he has recommended that thought be given to establishing a committee on arbitration that could settle many cases before they come to court.

In his letter, Bowles cited the fact that former Chief Justice Earl Warren of the U.S. Supreme Court repeatedly urged the use of devices and techniques that would avoid full-dress trials in court.

He also called attention to the statement made by Justice Thomas Giles Kavanagh of the Michigan Supreme Court in his address before the state Legislature, that many of the disputes could better be settled by arbitration, mediators and consiliators than by judges.

"Of course, it is conceivable that legislation soon will limit the 'intake' of cases, but the courts themselves without such legislation are in no position to control the 'intake.'"

WHAT BOWLES suggests is the formation of a group to work out systems and personnel for the handling of those cases which should be handled by informal settlement tribunals.

"Perhaps it will be some time before the problem is shaken down to the point where it can be learned just what type of controversies can better be handled outside the court by informal techniques." Bowles then added that it may be well for the bar associations to experiment with programs of their own invention.

He also asked that both the officials at U—M and Wayne State take the lead in training a cadre of professionals highly skilled in dispute resolution.

Bowles points out that there is a strong complement of arbitrators in the membership of the National Academy of Arbitrators whose regional chairman is Arbitrator Al Walt. Others whose services would be valuable are the American Arbitration Association, whose regional office in Detroit is headed by Harry R. Payne II.

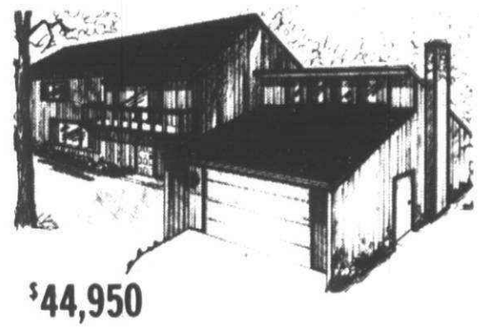

ALONG WITH these two groups, according to Bowles, there are many persons in the area who are experienced in labor relations and all types of problems where mediation would be helpful.

He also pointed out that there are many lawyers and non-lawyers who would be available on a per diem basis.

By use of such persons and groups, Bowles firmly believes the action in the courts could be speeded up and the dockets reduced.

" Fundamentally" the former judge said, "the general public–the people who have the disputes--will determine whether such a plan as I have proposed, is going to be acceptable."

Education should be for everyone

Editor:

In Readers Forum on March 22 there appeared a very good article, written by an articulate Wheaton College freshman, on the advantages of modular scheduling in our schools. I agree with this young man—up to a point.

He says "scheduling cannot change attitudes. Those who desire to learn will take advantage of any system; those who don't will abuse any system." Also, he asks, "Will forcing a student to attend classes . . . increase a student's motivation?" He concludes with a question as to whether a community should gear an educational program toward equipping motivated students or should some of their (the motivated students') benefits be sacrificed in attempting to force knowledge on undisciplined students.

Obviously, young McKenny is a bright, mature, motivated student. As he said, those who desire to learn will take advantage of any system. I'd bet, though, that for every one of his type there are four or five 16-, 17-, and 18-year-olds who aren't as mature, as motivated. What of their right to public school education?

I am acquainted with a few college freshmen whose vocabulary amounts to little more than a grunted, "Man, it don't make no difference," who read very poorly and who have a very difficult time with simple math. Hopefully these young people will mature soon and "catch up."

It seems to me that if education must be "spoon fed," then so be it. Perhaps forcing a student to attend classes will not increase his "motivation" when he is still immature; however, it just might increase his education, inspite of himself.

As to "sacrificing" the benefits to already-motivated students to force knowledge on undisciplined students—that's where the "public" in public school education comes in. The not-as-yet mature, "unmotivated" student has a right to as much public school education as can be made available to him through everybody's taxes.

Save for your retirement and enjoy a special tax break, too.

You may have missed an important tax-saving opportunity last year. But it's not too late to start providing a guaranteed income for your retirement and a tax deduction for next year—and for every year after that until you retire.

If you are self-employed or not covered by any retirement plan, you can open an Individual Retirement Account at Detroit Bank & Trust and start enjoying the benefits of a tax-sheltered retirement plan.

You are eligible for an I.R.A. if you're not currently participating in a retirement plan.

An Individual Retirement Account, or I.R.A., may be opened by any employed or self-employed person not currently covered by any other retirement plan. Even if you are already enrolled in a retirement plan, but have a working spouse who is not, he or she is eligible.

A tax-shelter makes your money worth more now...and when you retire.

All contributions to your I.R.A. are fully tax deductible. What's more, even the interest earned on this account is exempt from income tax until it is withdrawn. And when you finally begin making withdrawals, you pay taxes only on the amount you withdraw each year. Like savings accounts, however, I.R.A.'s offer a range of plans paying annual interest rates from 5½ to 7½ percent and are insured to $40,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. These are the highest interest rates that any bank can pay.

Make deposits as often as you like—up to $1,500 annually.

Regulations only permit you to save a maximum of $1,500 a year, or 15% of your annual wages, whichever is less. You can open an Individual Retirement Account with just $25, then it's up to you when and how much you want to deposit, in amounts of $25 or more, up to your maximum each year. You can add to your account each payday and when your savings reach $1,000 or more, they can be converted to 6-year 7½% Investment Certificates; or if you make your annual deposit in one lump sum, you can put it into 6-year 7½% Investment Certificates at that time. The money must remain on deposit at least until you reach age 59½, unless you become permanently disabled. Should you withdraw prior to that, Federal regulations for Investment Certificates require that you pay substantial penalties on the amount withdrawn, and I.R.A. regulations impose further penalties for premature withdrawals.

Tax-sheltered savings in an I.R.A. accumulate much faster than other savings plans.

This chart shows what you could accumulate if you invested $1,500, before taxes, at the beginning of each year.* The first column shows how your interest accumulates with the help of a tax-sheltered I.R.A., the second shows how your interest accumulates without the help of a tax-sheltered I.R.A. and the third shows the difference.

At the end of	7½% Interest with help of a tax-sheltered I.R.A.	7½% Interest without help of a tax-sheltered I.R.A.	You gain with an I.R.A.
10 years	$ 23,090	$15,528	$ 7,562
20 years	71,633	42,780	28,853
30 years	173,688	90,603	83,085

*Table assumes taxpayer is in a 25% tax bracket and that the total contribution is deposited at the beginning of each year.

It's easy to start an Individual Retirement Account.

It's as easy as opening a savings account. Just let your DETROIT BANK-er know you want to open an I.R.A. and as little as $25 will get you started. Establishing a useful tax-shelter is another good reason why you ought to know a DETROIT BANK-er better.

Rocks top RU for number 2

By BILL COLLINS

Plymouth Salem won its second game in as many outings Friday afternoon by virtue of a closely contested 3-1 verdict over Redford Union. Brian Wolcott earned his second win of the year and Mitch Symons drove in a pair of runs.

"This was a key win for us because RU is the type of team that will knock off our teams in the league. We needed the win because it works to our advantage in the league," said Salem coach Brian Gilles.

Redford Union committed five errors in the contest, and they were directly responsible for two of Salem's runs.

The Rocks drew first blood in the opening inning when John DenHouter walked after two were out. He moved to third base when Charlie Johnson doubled up the alley in right-center and came in to score when a Mitch Symons ground ball to third was booted.

Salem increased its lead to 2-0 in the third inning after two hitters were retired. Once again Charlie Johnson came through with an extra base hit, this one good for three bases to the opposite field, putting him in position to score the second run of the ballgame when Symons laced a single to center.

Redford Union left five men on base in the first three innings, leaving the bases in the third on two walks only to have the rally arrested when Jerry Thom grounded out to first base.

RU pitcher John Gaeley struck out five Rock batsmen and retained good control throught the contest, but his cause was damaged most by the inept defensive work of his teammates. "It was a bad day defensively for us, that's what killed us," said Redford Union coach Bob Atkins.

The Panthers cut the Salem deficit to one run with a score of their own in the fifth inning, due to the individual efforts of Gary Stafford.

With one out, Stafford cracked a single to center, stole second base and galloped home on a double by Ted Ackerman.

Ackerman advanced to third on the throw to the plate, but the next two hitters went down on a strikeout and lineout to second basemen Dave Pierce to lift Wolcott out of the jam.

WOLCOTT WORKED five innings and did not allow an earned run, extending his string of innings without allowing an earned run to 10. He also sent down five RU hitters on strikes.

Tom Chiatalas came in to releave Wolcott and faced only seven hitters in the final two innings he pitched.

"Chiatalas let the batters hit the ball, and when he needed a strikeout he got two hitters on a pair of good curveballs," said Gilles.

Plymouth added an insurance run in the top of the seventh. With two out, Dave Pierce picked up his second hit of the day by blasting a double down the left field line.

He scored when Wolcott hit a routine grounder to short, but the ball was mishandled by the RU shortstop and the throw to first was late, all this time Pierce had been running full tilt around the bases and was able to score when Wolcott was declared safe at first.

"With two out you've got to send that man in," said Gilles.

Salem's line totals were three runs on six hits and two errors while Redford Union had one run on four hits and five errors.

Salem continues its league schedule with a home game tomorrow again against Trenton with Brian Wolcott scheduled to take to the hill against the Trojans at 4 p.m.

In The Pocket

By W. W. EDGAR

When the manufacturers decided some years ago to insert several arrows on the lanes as a guide to the newcomers, they didn't realize the confusion they would cause.

For a time, the novices profited by the use of ther arrows, but got into trouble when they tried to place their ball over the same arrow in each establishment.

As a result, the newcomers are having a terrible time just trying to find out which arrow to use in the different houses. Now, between counting boards and watching the arrows they are confused—and until they learn to adjust their targets, they'll remain puzzled.

All of which recalls the system Joe Norris, rated one of the all-time greats, used when he captained the Stroh team. In the days before the arrows, Joe used to arrive early at the lanes to throw a few practice balls.

After each throw he'd stand stiff at the foul line and watch the position his body was in. When he got a strike he paid special attention and never varied more than a quarter of an inch the rest of the night. It might be well if some of the newcomers tried the same method.

The old song, "Old Bowlers Never Die," should have been the accompaniment to Dick Preston last week in the Wonderland Classic.

One of the real veterans among the all stars, Dick found the range for games of 243, 233 and 276 for a 745 series and a renewed membership in the 700 Club.

Dick had company as he broke the 700 barrier. Just a few lanes away, Rich Hughes was putting together a 703 series. Meanwhile Mel Margozian's Dun Rovin squad set the team pace with 3169.

THERE WAS GOOD REASON for the big smile on Midge Poshka's face at Westland Bowl. The ever-popular counter attendant had the best series of her season. She opened with 160, followed with 204 and closed with 231 and the remark, "I finally hit a 500 series, but look at that final game. I don't know how I did it."

Another lady at Westland Bowl had a great thrill, too. Nancy Shaffer, who carries a 129 average, went 91 pins over in the Thursday Ladies League with a 220 game.

THE SENIOR CITIZENS got into the good scoring this week at Plymouth Bowl when Andy Zeith paced the men with a 603 on games of 208, 226 and 169. A few lanes away Emma Aleman, after bowling games of 151 and 156, finished with a 228 for 535.

TRIPLICATES are becoming quite the style around the area. The latest to join the club is Sandy Mayer who rolled identical scores of 145 in the Wednesday morning league at Merri-Bowl.

One of the oddest series of the year was fashioned by Randy Smith in the Livonia Municipal League at Merri-Bowl.

He started with a 162, then went wild with a 289 before faltering to a 198 and a 649 series. His 289 was his best single game of the season.

SCORES WENT SOARING in the Bel-Aire Senior House League where Bernie Ambowitz barely missed a 300 game and settled for counts of 196, 298 and 235 for 729.

Others among the sharpshooters were Terrell Smith with 678, Doug Kubiut with 665, Lee Putti with 652, Mel Partovich with 649 and Ray Wark with another 649.

In the women's Salad Bowl league, Nancy Hubenschmid was high with a 230 in a 598 series.

LARRY BRANDT was the big gun in the Garden Lanes Classic. He posted a 692 and was followed by Roger Thorpe with 678. Others who bettered double century figures were Bob Patterson with 622 and Bill Montgomery Jr. with 615.

Salem tennis outlook good

By ROBIN WAGNER

Optimism's steadily mounting this spring on the Plymouth Salem High School tennis team with 11 of 13 lettermen returning and three fine freshmen straining to display their tennis talents at the varsity level, the Salem team seems certain to improve on its 5-7 dual meet record and fourth place Suburban-Eight league finish of one year ago.

Coach Jim Stevens' buoyant optimism is justified. Co-captains Greg Andrews and Ken Bloom lead the long list of returnees, all competitively stronger with the added year of experience. Bloom and sophomores Curt Schultz and Bill Cook are strong candidates for three of the singles positions for Salem.

Filling the fourth singles spot and the three doubles combinations throughout the season should be an enjoyable dilemma for coach Stevens. Besides Andrews, Stevens can choose from seasoned juniors Chris Saxton, Matt Schroeder, Kurt Olson, Steve Nickoloff and Jim Larson and returning sophomores Jeff Bearup and Ed Koza.

Stevens struggled to conceal his championship visions when discussing his three outstanding freshmen, Robert Braun, Ed Thomas and Craig Stevens.

Adding to the depth of the team and definite contenders for playing spots are Dean Jabara, Curt Lewis, Skip Larson, Phil Coosaia and Mark Thomas. Jeff Ashton admirably serves as manager for the Salem team again this season.

The tennis season for Salem commences April 10, with a three-team meet at Ypsilanti High. Three consecutive home dual meets against Trenton, Northville and Edsel Ford follow on April 13, 14 and 27 as Salem begins its quest for the Suburban-Eight crown.

Chief netters lose opener

By ROBIN WAGNER

Taking an unsteady first step into their tennis season, but flashing signs of brilliance and promise, Plymouth Canton netters dropped a close 4-3 decision Thursday to Riverside High.

Canton utilized an unusual combination of veterans and youth in the match. The four singles players are all returning lettermen, and the three doubles teams exclusively are composed of newcomers to the varsity level.

Coach Jim Hayes remarked following the match, "I'm really pleased with the way our singles players performed. Due to our limited practices, I'm not certain our best doubles teams have yet been determined."

With expected excellence at first singles, Canton's Steve Prueter tortured Riverside's Dan Wysocki, 6-1, 6-2.

At third singles, John Herron produced Canton's second victory, defeating Vince Baseleto, 6-1, 7-6. According to Hayes, "John played as well as he has ever played for Canton."

Sophomores Paul Ardonowski and Tim Wise, pleasantly debuting for the varsity at first doubles, captured a "thrilling victory" 7-6, 6-3, assuring themselves a secure varsity position in future meets.

At second singles, Steve Pasley fell 6-2, 7-5 to Don Hale. Chris Davio, playing fourth singles for Canton, also lost 7-5, 6-3.

A slim Canton advantage dissolved in the two final doubles matches. Newcomers Don Faulkerson and Dave Schmaltz struggled at second doubles and finally dropped a 6-2, 6-4 decision.

The final doubles tandem of Doug Hetu and Dan Schmidt succumbed 6-4, 6-3.

Combining the leadership of Preuter, the welcomed excellence of the Ardonowski-Wise duo, adept revamping of the remaining doubles teams and seasoned improvement, Canton should produce successful results in their upcoming meet Tuesday against Livonia Stevenson.

Salem scores close one over Panthers

In what was described as a good contest by Redford Union Coach Robert Atkins, Plymouth Salem successfully pulled out a close victory over the Panthers Friday night by a 3-1 score.

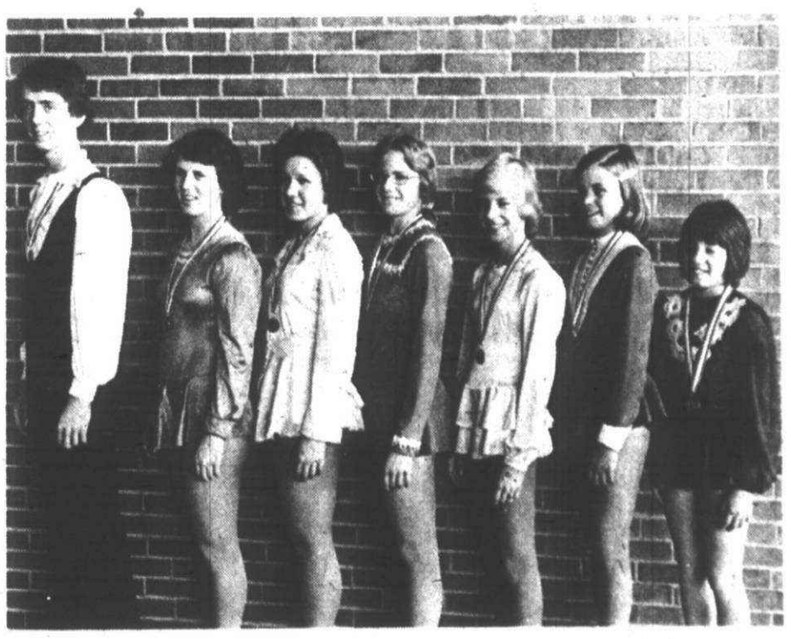

The Rocks started the scoring in the first inning when John Denhouter walked and Charles Johnson doubled, putting men on first and second. Mitch Symonds was then declared safe on an error, driving in the first run of the game.

With two outs in the third inning, Johnson blasted a triple to right field and crossed the plate on a single by Symonds.

The Panthers finally broke the ice in the fifth inning thanks to excellent individual effort by Gary Stafford. With one out, Stafford singled, stole second and came in on a double by Ted Ackerman.

In the final inning, the Rocks again scored. Dave Pierce scored a run on an error.

"We just couldn't get the big hit," Atkins commented. "It was a bad day defensively. That's what killed us."

Harness meet opens

With upwards of 1,300 harness horses completing their spring migration into Detroit Race Course over the weekend, the 84-night Wolverine Harness race meeting is ready to open tonight (Monday) on the highest note of optimism.

Calling the track's colony of pacers and trotters "the best overall quality in the 27-year history of Wolverine," vice-president Dick Wilson freely predicted still another record-breaking season for the big mile racing plant at the corner of Schoolcraft and Middle Belt in Livonia.

"For the past few years harness racing has been growing into the Detroit area's hottest sport," Wilson said. "It's been almost six months now since major league stables have raced in Michigan, and I think harness fans are really ready to see them again."

The Wolverine executive chief also pointed out that this is the first time in three years that his track has enjoyed the spring and early summer harness dates and that historically, these nights on the calendar are the best.

Few will challenge Wilson's statement concerning the stable quality in the Wolverine barn area as tonight's 8 p.m. post time approaches.

During the past week, horses have been flown in from California and vanned in from such other distance points as New York and Florida. Canadian speedsters have arrived from as far away as Quebec and the Maritime Provinces.

Among the nationally known stables present and accounted for are those of Jim Dennis, Delvin Miller, Jim Crane, Greg Wright, Ted Taylor, Bobby Williams, Archie McNeil, Merritt (Butch) Dokey, Chris Boring and Harold Fisher.

"We produced a record 57 race miles in two minutes or less last year and broke eight individual track speed records," Wilson continued. "With the horses and drivers we're getting this spring, the sky's the limit."

The Wolverine boss also believes that his revised betting mix will be an added appeal to track patrons.

Besides the standard wagering windows for win, place and show, the new pari-mutuel lineup consists of a nightly double in the first two races, a perfecta in the third event and trifectas in the fifth, seventh and tenth races.

As a warm welcome back to its customers, Wolverine will give away free gifts of T-shirts, lithographs and children's coloring books to the first 1,000 grandstand arrivals Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, respectively.

Wolverine, which has established new all-time attendance and business records in each of the last four years, will race every Monday through Saturday from now through July 17. Post time each night for the 10-race card is 8 p.m.

Stevenson edges RU

In spite of breaking or tying three school records, the Redford Union's girls track team last week suffered a bitter defeat to Livonia Stevenson when its 440-relay quartet was disqualified in the final event of the meet.

Panthers were disqualified for passing the baton outside of the exchange zone. What was even more disconcerting to RU was that Stevenson dropped its baton in the same race, but recovered, properly negotiated all the exchanges and was able to win.

The final score was 58-56.

In spite of the loss, three Panthers performed exceptionally well. Linda Kosovac broke the school record in winning the long jump, tied the RU mark in placing first in the high jump and nearly missed the school record in topping the field in the hurdles.

Diane Lozon broke the Panthers' two-mile run mark by 20 seconds with a first-place finish, and Cathy Anderson, while shattering no records, won both the shot put and discus.

The Spartans didn't have any double-winners, but Carolyn Booth placed first in the quarter mile and second in the high jump. Stevenson also took all three relays.

"We had good times, especially in the distances," said Stevenson coach Liz Embree. "In the first meet of the year, some of the girls' times were down almost where they were late last year."

Spartans' jets ignited by pair

Mark Niemchak and John Lokar, each finishing first in three individual events, combined for 30 points last week to lead Livonia Stevenson to a 75½-56½ track meet victory over Redford Thurston in the first taste of competition this spring for both teams.

Niemchak won the high hurdles, the low hurdles and the 100-yard dash, while Lokar scored victories in the long jump, the 220-yard dash and the quarter mile.

The Eagles had a double-winner, Bob Zichichi, in the discus and the shot put.

One of the closest races of the meet, surprisingly, occurred in the two-mile run, where Stevenson's Bob Opsommer lunged at the tape to nip Lou Maceratini of Thurston. Larry Wilkin, a teammate of Opsommer, was also with the pair near the finish in what Thurston coach Ray Williams termed "an excellent race."

The winning time was 10:16.1.

RESULTS

880-yard Relay—1) Stevenson 2) Thurston 1:35.3.

Long Jump—1) Lokar (S) 2) Scriver (T) 3) Raymond (T) 19 feet five and three quarters inches.

Glenn net crew stops Chargers

Showing strength in the singles competition, Westland John Glenn last week slipped past Livonia Churchill in a non-league tennis duel, 4-3.

Three Rockets—Dave Cook, Dave Terwilliger and Ralph Cabildo—handily won their singles tests to provide the necessary cushion of victory when the Chargers came back to take two of the three doubles matches.

The triumph was the second straight for the Rockets this spring, while the loss occurred in Churchill's initial outing of the campaign.

The victor

With the expression of a champion, Mark Koltunchik breaks the tape in the half-mile run. Unfortunately for Redford Bishop Borgess, though, Livonia Churchill won the meet, 70-62. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

Rockets thrust past West girls

Flexing their powerful track muscles, the Westland John Glenn girls proved last week they are a force to be reckoned with this spring by dumping Garden City West in a non-league dual meet, 77-37.

The Rockets finished first in all three relays and placed a pair of girls in the top three places of nearly every individual event. Each squad had a girl who particularly shone during the meet.

Glenn's McDougall finished first in both the 100-yard dash and the 440-yard run and second in the long jump. Lenna Muncy, West's outstanding performer, won the 220-yard dash, placed second in the hurdles and earned the show position in the long jump.

Muncy's time of 27.9 in the 220 established a new school record. To illustrate exactly how much strength the Rockets have this season, the Tigers' half-mile relay team set a new school mark with an effort of 1:55.3, but still finished a full five seconds behind the Glenn quartet.

"I was satisfied with our performance," said West coach Pam Bylica. "We're much better than last year. Unfortunately, Glenn's really tough. They're one of the best if not the best team in the area."

Bylica said she was most impressed with Glenn's sprinters. She also singled out the work of West tracksters Audrey Ozorio, Beth Fackler, Stacy Renner and Muncy.

RESULTS

Long Jump—1) Everly (G) 2) McDougall (G) 3) Muncy (W) 15 feet 7¼ inches.

Discus—1) Couboy (G) 2) Renner (W) 3) Fackler (W) 89 feet 9½ inches.

High Jump—1) Ozorio (W) 2) Frederick (W) 3) Swanson (G) four feet seven inches.

Shot Put—1) Fackler (W) 2) Renner (W) 34 feet 6½ inches.

880-yard Relay—1) Glenn 2) West 1:50.3.

880-yard Run—1) Murphy (G) 2) Dickson (G) 3) Schmitt (W) 2:43.4.

Hurdles—1) Lanel (G) 2) Muncy (W) 3) Kneeland (W) :16.4.

Mile Run—1) Dickson (G) 2) Gwizdak (G) 3) Holton (G) 6:16.4.

100-yard Dash—1) McDougall (G) 2) Williams (G) 3) Ozorio (W) :11.9.

440-yard Run—1) McDougall (G) 2) Chicky (G) 3) Taylor (G) 1:04.0.

Two Mile Run—1) Sylvester (W) 2) Lear (G) 3) Laing (G) 14:55.4.

220-yard Dash—1) Muncy (W) 2) Wintersteen (G) 3) Williams (G) :27.9.

Mile Relay—1) Glenn 2) West 4:29.9.

East overpowers Tigers

Garden City East stymied Garden City West Thursday, and streaked to an 8-3 victory in a non-league baseball contest.

Action started in the second inning for the Panthers when Greg Emery put the bat on the ball and hit a single. Emery then came in on Steve Matthews' triple to right field.

Garden City West followed the Panthers' lead in the second inning. Jeff Rutter tripled and later scored on a sacrifice to center by Roger Foley.

East came back in the third inning when Bradd Lackey singled and Bob Hudson tripled to right field.

The Panthers continued to show their stuff in the fourth inning when Matthews cracked a triple to right field and Jeff Edgar was safe at the plate on a fielder's choice. This was followed by the Tiger pitcher walking both Lackey and Hudson. On a wild throw to first base, two runs scored.

West came back in the fourth inning with one run. Jeff Rutter came home on a double by Gene Gorczyca.

Pinch hitter Brian Sorenson singled in the top of the fifth inning and crossed the plate on Edgar's single. Matthews followed Sorenson home on an infield error.

West made a last inning effort to come back but was unable to get more than one run. Tim Nutt walked, Jerry Smith singled, and Tom Poole singled driving in Nutt, for the last run of the game.

West coach, Robert Dropp remarked after the game, "All in all both teams did real well considering the weather."

can because that's when it will be cheapest and you handle the hardship cases first and the sensitive land (that closest to urbanized land) next.

"Under our plan, you don't have to give up anything to get the tax break. With this plan, you have to give up your developmental rights.

"It's my sincere hope that anyone with any problems with our plan will come in and talk to me. I promise if they will just come in and sit down with me, we can work out the problems.

"There's no point in participating in this senseless fighting— the problems can be worked out. We don't want to see anyone hurt."

Berg commented, "I just hope this will be given some consideration. It needs more work and I don't know if it is the answer, but it's another approach that may be helpful."

Fife and drum corps D.C. bound

The tricorn hats were somewhere in Ohio due to the Teamsters' strike. But even without them, Plymouth Fife & Drum Corps members were 1776-immaculate as they tried on their new uniforms for the first time.

The corps left Wednesday for Washington, D.C. to represent the State of Michigan as its only marching unit in the capital's Cherry Blossom Parade Saturday, April 10. They also will perform on the steps of the Capitol Building, and the Jefferson and Lincoln memorials.

THE BAND ROOM at Plymouth Salem High School had a department store atmosphere as the fifers and drummers donned their authentic new outfits.

Trim knicker-length pants are beige double-knit—a fabric which would have been a miracle in Revolutionary times. The bright red half-vests were tied in place and the line led to the stocking corner—white stretch knee socks. Stacks of shoe boxes were sorted out with plain black oxfords to fit every foot.

Ruffled lace dickies were pinned in place before the coats were distributed. The blue and beige uniform coats are tailored of a knit fabric and trimmed with gold. Lapels and cuffs are beige, and the tacked-up tails reveal the beige lining.

CORPSMEN took their new shoes home with them. They had three days to break them in before their performances at the capital.

They traveled to Washington by bus. Lou LaRiche Chevrolet supplied a van to transport instruments and uniforms.

The corps is directed by Mark and Carol Petty. Their old uniforms, white sailor pants and red-and-white-striped jerseys, are familiar to Plymouth parade watchers. The new attire is part of a bicentennial project approved by the area Bicentennial Commission. Corps members and parents have planned a series of fund-raisers to help pay for the new duds, and organizations have contributed to the uniform fund.

Where dissent came from

Modular, structured modular and traditional scheduling systems should coexist at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP), according to a report submitted to the Plymouth School Board by members of the Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC).

A CAC subcommittee, which reported on scheduling for grades six through 12, voted to recommend the three scheduling systems to the school board, according to subcommittee chairman S.B. Horton.

A minority report, which questioned the number of students successfully operating under modular scheduling, was not submitted by scheduling committee members, as previously reported by the Observer & Eccentric. A CAC member, who did not serve on the scheduling committee, submitted that report.

Members of the scheduling committee approved each of the committee's recommendations by an 80 or 90 per cent majority, according to Horton. None of the committee members submitted a dissenting report.

The scheduling committee recommended the establishment of a structured modular and traditional system at the CEP, to supplement the high schools' existing modular scheduling system.

Millage fate

Main Street be extended to Joy, with the children living on the east side of the boundary attending East Middle and those on the west side continuing at West Middle.

The affects of these changes is to add three single-family residential areas to the East Middle boundaries and relieve that area of one mulitple complex—the Willows. This will leave Deer Creek and Canton Commons within the East Middle attendance area.

Within Pioneer Middle boundaries will be the Willows and Fellows Creek multiple projects.

Other business on the agenda includes: recognition of a union for administrators, for principals on down; recommendations for tenure; non-renewal of probationary contracts; and approval of a summer school location.

Adjusting lace-ruffled dickies was something new for young corpsmen as they tried on their uniforms for the first time. (Staff photo by Elinor Graham)

Wayne Bank opens

Mr. Lawrence Weyand, president of Wayne Bank, announced last week that construction has been completed on the new office at 41652 Ford Road in Canton.

Wayne Bank has provided service in temporary facilities at that location since 1972.

A formal grand opening celebration will be held later in the spring following completion of landscaping at the new facility.

Manager of the Ford Road office is William Tesen and he is aided by assistant manager Joyce Willis.

Established as the first bank in Canton Township, a Sheldon Road office also serves the Canton area at the corner of Michigan and Sheldon.

Currently celebrating its 23rd year of service, the bank's main office is at 35215 Park Street in Wayne.

April 15 marks the beginning of the Easter holidays. WSDP will return to the airwaves Monday, April 26.

One to grow on

A number of elementary classes this month will be treated to the drama, "One to Grow on," by Kathy Kane, which is being presented by Central Middle School students under the direction of Marge Panko. The fairy tale is about a prince who hasn't grown an inch in three years. To find a solution, his supporters capture some children from the United States who are straight A students to form a think tank. Transportation to the seven elementary schools is being provided by the Plymouth Fine Arts Council and parents. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

East Middle exhibit

These are among the items made by East Middle School students which were on display last week in the Plymouth Historical Museum Spotlight on Schools. The display included a replica of a Ben Franklin electric jack, wall candle lamps, replica of the Declaration of Independence, bicentennial calendar, plaques, and patriotic American symbols. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Historians organizing

The first quarterly meeting of the Canton Historial Society will begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 14, in the Canton Recreation Hall, Sheldon at Michigan Avenue.

The society will begin organizing by discussing bylaws and articles of incorporation. For further information, contact Henrietta Burch at 453-6668.

PAID POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

HE WAS ONLY REPRESENTING THE TAXPAYERS — IS THIS WRONG?

When the proper channels have been exhausted, the citizens have the right, in a democracy, to request elected representatives to personally intercede on their behalf for any legitimate or worthwhile cause that affects them or their children.

The proper channels that were taken included meetings held with various individuals including the Head Coach, Athletic Director, Building Principal, Personnel Director and Superintendent produced unsatisfactory results. To determine the extent of the concern and complaints, a meeting was requested by a group of interested Canton parents, however, through word of mouth future and past Canton parents also attended. Mr. Gray was asked to call and co-chair this meeting by the present Canton parents. Marda Benson, Board President, agreed to attend the meeting. All other Board members were advised of the meeting before it was held.

This group of citizens fully support the actions taken by Joe Gray in the interest of the Plymouth-Canton Athletic Program because taxation without representation is how it all started.

Plymouth LIFE

MRS. LEE ROY CLARK, where are you?

A letter from Mrs. E.M. Fletcher of 2 Marlborough Road, Oxbridge, Stockton-on-Tees, County Cleveland, England, asks for help in locating an old friend. Mrs. Fletcher says Mrs. Clark originally lived in Plymouth but she thinks she moved to Livonia. Her maiden name was Mary Dely.

She said they started to correspond when they were about 13-years-old. Now she has an opportunity to visit her friend and would appreciate any help in tracking her down.

"Sorry to have bothered you," she concluded, "but I do want so much to get in touch."

JOHN PLAS of the Community Opportunity House on the corner of Wing and Deer reminds us that their first anniversary is coming up June 15. They recently welcomed their 16th member of the house family, making it a full complement.

The Plymouth Knights of Columbus have adopted the house as a special project and 70 per cent of the profits from their weekend Tootsie Roll sale are being turned over to the center.

MARK AND CYNDY Hunt were surprised at the conclusion of the Plymouth Historical Society meeting last Thursday evening. Museum Director Hunt and Mrs. Hunt were presented with a check from the members of the society. There was even a wedding cake to round out the celebration.

MARK SCHULTHEISS, who will be remembered as a champion diver back in the days when Plymouth High School swimmers were state Class A champions, now is involved in a different sport.

He learned to play rugby when he was in the Peace Corps and stationed in the Fiji Islands. He is a member of the Manhattan Rugby Team, oldest and most prestigious rugby group in the United States.

Mark arranged a tour of France for the team a couple of summers ago. They attracted quite a bit of attention as they traveled around France with a picture of the Statue of Liberty on the the side of their bus. The Lady held a rugby ball instead of a torch.

A bicentennial tour of the United Kingdom is planned for this summer. This time their hallmark will be Uncle Sam, wearing rugby shoes.

THE PLYMOUTH SYMPHONY League is sponsoring a luncheon and fashion show in May with a bicentennial theme. Period costumes are needed to represent the past 200 years.

Dianna Hubbuch asks that anyone wishing to model their costume or loan it to be modeled, call Mrs. Bill Knapp, 43763 Luann Lane, or Mrs. Kimm Kelly, 44586 Nantucket.

The league had to give up plans for a home tour this spring. Six years ago we were told by the publisher of the then Pontiac Press that doing full-page features on the residents' homes were a thing of the past. Homeowners were afraid to let strangers into their homes.

It took a few years, but the same situation has arrived in this area. People do not want to open their homes to the public.

It is a regrettable situation. Home tours were an inspiration to many of the guests who came away with new incentive to improve their own houses. They also were top money-makers for charitable organizations.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB of Plymouth and Margaret Wilson have picked a winner for the club's annual breakfast-theater party.

"Singin' in the Rain" with Gene Kelly is a classic musical.

The story opens in the early 1920s. A romantic team of the silent movies finds that with the advent of talking pictures they must learn to talk as well as act. This creates many funny and sad situations as some silent stars' speaking voices make a shambles of their personalities.

A word of advice—buy your tickets early. They are limited and the party is always a sell-out.

Date of the benefit is April 29; continental breakfast from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. in the Masonic Temple followed by the film in the Penn Theater. Tickets at $3 are available from club members or by calling 453-1909 or 459-2425.

GLORIA KINSEL reminds us that volunteers at the Area Bicentennial Commission office at 859 S. Main Street are taking a little vacation.

No one will be at the office from April 16 to 26, but someone will pick up the mail.

A well-earned vacation, girls!

POSY PARTIES have been the order of the day for Diane Rice of Plymouth and other members of the L'il Devils Square Dance Club.

Club members are making more than 15,000 roses and 18,000 carnations for their float in Detroit's May 2 bicentennial parade.

Mrs. Rice says besides week-night gatherings, the club has had potluck parties on weekends where "We not only get a lot of work done, but enjoy family meals together."

The float is being sponsored by Wilson Dairy which is picking up additional expenses for crepe paper and chicken wire needed to complete the project. Wilsons also is providing the truck and driver to pull the float.

PLYMOUTH—NORTHVILLE girl scouts have a new field director, Barbara Radabaugh of Southfield. She will join the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council staff April 19 from her current position as program director of the Northwest Branch of the Young Women's Christian Association of Metropolitan Detroit. A graduate of Western Michigan University, she was an active girl scout for more than 10 years.

She has been assigned to the 88 troops in the Plymouth-Northville area.

Whatever the century, the ladies were elegant. Lois McAllister in sheer black and a Norwegian blue fox cape, and Millie Blackford in a flowered polyester knit depict the easy-care elegance of 1976. Ellice Kulick (above left) and Teresa Whitten modeled mid-19th century finery.

BPW fashions blend old, new

Story and pictures by Elinor Graham

You've come a long way, baby" was the theme of the Business and Professional Women's fashion show in the Plymouth Cultural Center. Guests were reminded just how far they had come as club members modeled dresses and shoes from the early 1800s to latest styles, handpicked in New York for the show.

Commentator Joan Silver wore an 1850 afternoon dress for the first half of the show. The dress itself had 10 yards of material and under it she wore one tiered and three muslin petticoats. At intermission she changed to a regal striped gown.

"We still can be elegant," said Mrs. Silver, "but with comfortable wash and wear polyester fabrics."

Fashions of the '20s, '30s, '40s and '50s drew chuckles from the audience as many of them remembered the cloche hats, the heavily padded shoulders and fur neckpieces.

The commentator pointed out that good fashion is repeated—it may go for awhile, but it comes back.

JAUNTY STRAW hats were worn with new summer dresses and suits adding a dressy touch after so many hatless years. The versatility of scarves was demonstrated—going from neck to hair to slim waistlines. The T-dress was modeled—knee-length for daytime and floor-length for poolside or more formal evening wear.

Furs by Steve Butcher, Inc. featured leather and let-out mink with the leather in strategic places to take the brunt of wear. Notched collars of Norwegian blue fox and stretch leather belts were used with most of the mink coats of stroller or full length.

"Fox is the high fashion fur," said Mrs. Silver.

AS A GRAND finale, two exquisite gowns were modeled. BPW president Sandra Davis wore a bridal ensemble hand sewn in 1911. Theresa Whitten wore a creamy satin gown which had been worn by a young Detroit lady in 1848 when she was presented at the Court of St. James. The dress belongs to Mrs. Whitten's mother, Ellice Kulick.

Club members who modeled were Dixie Zabell, Connie Fitzner, Ellice Kulick, Jean Davis, Artie Hutchins, Kathleen Salla, Patricia Korte, Judy Johnson, Sandra Bissey, Mary Ellen Knopf and Mildred Blackford.

Hostesses were Grace Rix, Susan Baker, Betty Mende, Sylvia Schell, Daisy Proctor, Jean Wagner, Marge Brillhart and Mary Jane Wagenschutz.

Joan Silver and Judy Johnson were co-chairwomen and Marguerite Ross was in charge of publicity.

Sandy Davis' red suit was reminiscent of the '40s and brought chuckles from those in the audience who remembered wearing the exaggerated padded shoulders.

Teresa Whitten (left) wore a satin, lace and brocade gown made especially for a young lady's presentation at the Court of St. James in 1848. Sandra Bissey waited off-stage in black taffeta blouse and white linen skirt with a front panel of embroidered cutwork.

'Mastectomy Update' planned

Active sports outfits like tennis dresses and bathing suits as well as well as flowing, flattering dresses will be featured for the April 14 "Mastectomy Update '76" show of styles for those who have had breast surgery.

The show is scheduled at noon, Wednesday, in the Roostertail Restaurant in Detroit, with the Reach to Recovery unit of the American Cancer Society supplying models for the fashions from Jacobson's.

Phyllis Morrison, fashion coodinator for Jacobson's in Birmingham, said she had to do a little extra searching for some of the outfits to be used, but found the 32 models from all over the metropolitan area great people to work with.

"These ladies have such a terrific attitude," she said, "I find I want to put on them the kind of things I'd like to wear myself."

THE MODELS' positive attitudes toward their mastectomies is regularly reinforced through the volunteer work they do in the ACS program.

Reach for Recovery members make visits to women who have had breasts removed because of cancer, helping them understand they can lead normal lives and showing them some ways they can do it.

The Mastectomy Update style show is an annual event to let more women know about the Reach to Recovery program.

"Ninety thousand American women will have mastectomies during 1976," said Cindy Nagel, chairperson for the show. "Fortunately for those who have found the cancer early, 84 per cent will survive and lead completely normal, healthy lives."

MS. MORRISON said the show would illustrate that fact through the complete line of styles to be shown. There will be bras and lingerie, swim suits, sports clothes, elegant evening fashions and complete daytime and nighttime wardrobes.

A designer to be featured prominently, she said, is Albert Capraro, who does a lot of the clothes worn by First Lady Betty Ford.

"Mrs. Ford's new fashion image, that of flowing chiffon gowns softly draped and designed especially for her since her mastectomy, has had a decided effect on fashion for all women this spring," she added.

Ms. Morrison said probably her greatest problem in locating fashions for the show had been her quest for a tennis dress with sleeves.

"I found two of them, though," she said, "and we're also pairing boxy shorts with a T-shirt for one of the models."

SPECIAL CARE has gone into planning this show, the coordiantor said, because "for women who have had this surgery, it's especially important to look good."

She said the new prostheses—undergarments used by mastectomies—are so well made that "those who could wear clingy clothes before can still do so, and we'll show a number of that kind of dress."

There will be a large variety of outfits, Ms. Morrison went on, "because we are dealing with a varied socio-economic group, an age range from mid 20s to 70, and a lot of figure differences that don't have anything to do with the surgery."

Besides the fashion show, Mastectomy Update '76 will include a display of the newest prostehses and a panel discussion by physicians on the latest in detection, diagnosis and treatment of breast cancer.

Invitations have been sent to 1,200 women who have been visited by Reach to Recovery volunteers. Patients are visited at their physicians' request.

Women interested in joining the volunteer program may call Priscilla Nye at the ACS Wayne County unit office in the Dearborn Parklane Towers.

Fatima statue coming to Redford

The first International Pilgrim statue of Our Lady of Fatima, on a month-long visit to the Detroit area, will make its first west side appearance Wednesday, April 14, with an all-day stay in St. John Bosco Catholic Church.

The parish, located at 12000 Beech-Daly, will have masses at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., with the sanctuary open all day for prayer.

Later, Fatima will make half-day visits to St. Robert Bellarmine, 27101 W. Chicago, on April 23, and to St. Valentine, 25881 Dow, on April 29.

The statue is wood, hand-painted and often is referred to as the Pilgrim Virgin Statue.

It depicts the virgin Mary as she appeared in 1917 visions near Fatima, Portugal. The statue was blessed by Pope Pius XII in 1947.

The "lady" is to be in the Detroit area for all of the month of April in a program headed by the Blue Army of Our Lady of Fatima.

Elmer W. Skolnik, Blue Army president, has called on parish leaders to "show the world there really is a way to peace" by scheduling movies, slide showings and talks on the Fatima message.

A special feature of the month's visit will be Holy Week programs in the Marian Center, 8901 W. Vernor, headquarters of the Blue Army.

The statue is similar to the U.S. Pilgrim Statue which was given to this nation in 1967 as a "peace link with Fatima." This original, however, is the first of its kind to be taken from the Fatima area.

Cures and miracles have been credited to its appearance.

Clubs in Action

ROSEDALE GARDEN CLUB

Slides of Quaker Acres and the Shaw House will make up a bicentennial program for the Rosedale Gardens branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association on Tuesday, April 13.

The branch will meet at 1 p.m. in the Rosedale Gardens Clubhouse, 9611 Hubbard, Livonia. Mrs. Charles Wagenschultz will present the Historical Society program.

POLONAISE SOCIETY

The Polonaise Society Lodge 3160 will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 14, in the Warren Valley Country Club. A 7 p.m. board of directors' meeting will precede the regular business session.

Plans will be discussed for the society's presentation of young dancers Thursday, May 6, in Crestwood High School, Dearborn Heights, and a 15-day tour of Poland scheduled in June.

New Morning invites parents

New Morning, an alternative, cooperative school, will hold a meeting for interested parents at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 13, in Epiphany Lutheran Church, 41390 Five Mile, Plymouth.

The school, located in the Plymouth church, is fully accredited for grades kindergarten through eight and is in its third year of operation.

Up to now it has been primarily an elementary school, but plans are being developed for a middle school to begin operation in the 1976—77 year. Parents of children in this age group are particularly invited to attend the meeting.

The church is located between Haggerty and Northville Roads.

Neitzels have anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Neitzel of Livonia celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary March 30. They are former residents of Detroit and Wyandotte.

Mr. and Mrs. Neitzel are members of Rosedale Park Lutheran Church and former members of both the Nazareth Lutheran Church of Detroit and the Trinity Lutheran Church of Wyandotte.

Mr. Neitzel is retired.

They have one son, Bert Neitzel of Farmington, a daughter, Mrs. June Ramshaw of Royal Oak, three grandchildren, and one great-grandson.

In times like these, we still give our customers what they want.

A dealership with a natural resource to depend on. People!

Resources can run out. Others become more difficult to find. But, at our dealership, our people are always here. Ready and waiting.

Helping you and your family choose the new car that best suits your needs. Arranging financing. Providing prompt service. And, just making you feel at home.

Even the people you don't see — office personnel, technicians — are here so that when you need service, you'll get it.

We want you to be happy with your new car. And your dealership. Because at times like these, good customers are important.

Ford concept car can be made into four different vehicles by substituting removable tops.

Concept car offers 4 different 'looks'

A new mini-sized Ford Motor Co. concept car can be converted into four different vehicles — from a two-seat sports coupe to a four-seat station wagon.

The Prima is the result of a collaboration between Ford's Design Center and Ford Ghia Operations in Turin, Italy.

In its basic form, the Prima is a two-seat pickup truck. By adding three different removable tops, the Prima is quickly converted into a two-seat sports coupe, a 2+2 three-door fastback, or a four-seat station wagon.

"While this essentially is an idea car," says Gene Bordinat, Ford vice-president-design, "it incorporates technical and design features that make it a highly practical approach to meeting current market demands for an economical, utilitarian vehicle.

"THE PRIMA has a 90-inch wheelbase — 4½ inches shorter than a 1976 Pinto 3-door — but has a transverse-mounted engine and front-wheel drive which eliminates the driveshaft tunnel and makes possible the wide range of body styles we have been able to provide within the same basic vehicle."

The different steel tops are clamped into place using simple latches similar to those used to fasten a convertible top to the windshield. The fastback top includes a hatchback or third door in the rear. The rear of the wagon top lifts, while the bottom can be lowered to provide easy loading and unloading.

The Prima features an all-steel body painted red and forged-aluminum wheels painted white. At 157 inches in overall length, it is a foot shorter than the 1976 Pinto but almost 2½ inches higher at 53 inches. Overall width is 61 inches.

The Prima excels in its aerodynamic properties. Because of its clean lines, the rake of the front windshield and low frontal area, the Prima is designed for fuel economy.

RECESSED, rectangular headlights highlight the front of the car. Three horizontal chrome moldings extending around the front fender corners to the wheel cutaways conceal slots that direct cooling air to the engine compartment. Similar chrome strips accentuate the rear of the vehicle.

The interior features tan contoured leather bucket seats. The rear seat pulls down to form part of the bed floor in the pickup and to provide additional carrying capacity in the fastback and wagon versions.

Powering the Prima is Ford of Britain's Kent 1100-cc four-cylinder engine, mated to a four-speed manual transmission. The spare wheel and tire is mounted in the engine compartment to provide additional utility space in the car's rear.

WE ASKED A CUSTOMER WHY SHE BUYS HER MEAT AT MEIJER....

"Just like you would have it. It's juicy tender."

CAROL LUNDQUIST

TENDER, LOVIN' MEAT PEOPLE

THERE ARE MANY REASONS to shop in Meijer Meat Departments. Our Tender, Lovin Meat People are one reason. Just ring the bell and a knowledgeable, well-trained professional will be happy to help you with any questions on meat selection or preparation.

BUYING MEAT SHOULDN'T BE A MYSTERY. At Meijer, we conform to the Uniform Retail Meat Identity Standards. All our beef labels show the primal cut — the primary portion of the animal from which the cut was taken — and the retail cut — the specific portion of the primal cut. To help you understand further, we display beef and pork primal cut charts in each Meijer meat department.

HAVE YOU NOTICED suggested cookery methods on our meat labels? Our Tender Lovin Meat People want you to know the suggested methods of preparing the meat you purchase. You'll also find booklets on display with recipes and nutritional information to help you make the most of your budget.

OPEN CODE DATING helps us to watch and insure our products freshness and allows you to check too. Open code dating is your assurance of freshness and in perishable items freshness means quality.

THESE ARE ONLY a few of the reasons that make Meijer the place to shop for your meat. We are TENDER LOVIN MEAT PEOPLE because we give our meat operation Tender Lovin Care.

WITHOUT CUSTOMERS, MEIJER ISN'T ANYTHING AT ALL!

Meijer Is...

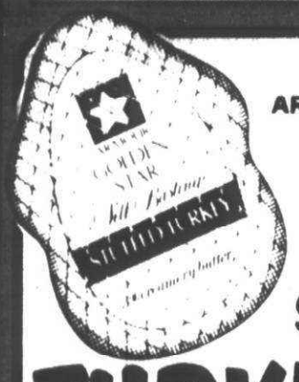

- SUNDAY/MONDAY SPECIALS
- GOOD MEAT BUYS
- A CARTFUL OF SAVINGS
- FRESHNESS
- HAVING A STORE TO TRUST
- A NEW EASTER OUTFIT
- GOOD CUSTOMER SERVICE
- ONE-STOP SHOPPING
- A NEW BICYCLE
- QUALITY AND VARIETY
- TOPCO PRODUCTS
- YOU!

PERHAPS YOU'VE seen the Meijer Is" buttons that Meijer employees are wearing in our stores. They are part of a "Meijer Is" campaign to help remind us of the many different things Meijer is! In order to satisfy you, our customer, there are hundreds of jobs that must be met each and every day. To provide one-stop shopping with the quality, the service, and the friendliness that you expect and deserve, we at Meijer work together — because we all know...

WITHOUT CUSTOMERS, Meijer isn't anything at all!

60 AND 10 PLAN

THE 60 AND 10 PLAN is a plan for senior citizens who have attained the age of 60. This plan offers a 10% prescription discount, and exemption from minimum requirements on coupon purchases. Applications for the 60 and 10 member card may be made at the pharmacy counter at any Thrifty Acres or Meijer Super Market.

HISTORICAL FLAG COLLECTION

YOUR HERITAGE IS WORTH KNOWING ABOUT... AND TELLING YOUR CHILDREN ABOUT..

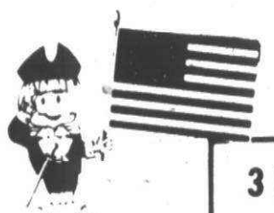

4"x 6" FABRIC MINIATURE FLAGS

Get the Spirit...The Spirit of 76 comes alive at all Meijer stores. For the first time Meijer is presenting an original collection of miniature flags from our American Heritage. Flags with such great historical significance as the Green Mountain Boys. The Bucks of America; The Know Nothing Flag; The Flag of the Union; The Bennington Flag , and many more. Each has its own story of how it presents a part of our history.
