Police manual now covers Canton's 'regular officers'

By CRAIG PIECHURA

Close on the heels of the recent lawsuit seeking to stop the police reserves, the Canton Board of Trustees Monday night voted to apply the regulations governing the reserves to the two "regularly-employed police officers."

According to the majority of the board and Supervisor-Police Chief Robert Greenstein, Canton Township's regularly-employed police department consists of Carl Silvers and Greenstein.

All 30 reserves and reserve instructors operate under the direction and authority of these two men.

"The question of power of the reserves is not something we're discussing tonight," Greenstein said. "We're saying that although by implication the regularly-employed peace officers were covered by the manual, we will make it explicit and apply it to the whole police department."

Greenstein is a recent graduate of the Michigan Police Reserve Training School, where he took 100 hours of training.

Normally, this only qualifies a graduate for reserve duty. But, because of a state loophole which stipulates that municipalities with less than three "regularly-employed peace officers" do not need police certification, Greenstein is chief of police in Canton.

There were three separate motions concerning the police reserves on Monday night's special board meeting agenda. All three were recommended by Bert Burgoyne, Canton Township's legal counsel.

The first reserve action applied the police reserve manual guidelines to the regularly-employed officers.

Next, the board members were asked to confirm Silvers as a regularly-employed peace officer. And finally, they voted on the appointment of six new men to work with the reserves.

Trustee James Poole voted against all three motions. Trustee Robert Myers was absent and Trustee Brian Schwall voted against two of the three motions. Schwall joined the administration slate by voting to confirm the appointment of Silvers as a part-time regularly-employed peace officer.

"By passing these motions, you're recognizing what's already been done by this board," Burgoyne said. "We're clarifying things so that the police reserve manual not only applies to the reserves, but to the whole police department."

"I'm not going to kid you," Burgoyne added. "It'll help our case in court. But we might as well clarify the situation before someone says it's not clear."

Burgoyne was referring to a lawsuit filed in circuit court by Leonard Waszczenski, who is represented by Noel Culbert, an unsuccessful trustee candidate and supporter of Harold Stein (Democratic Supervisor candidate).

THE COURT DATE of the lawsuit has been changed from Sept. 1 to 2 p.m. Sept. 13 in Wayne Circuit Judge Thomas B. Sullivan's courtroom.

In all its legalese, the third section of the second motion passed Monday night states: "The rules set forth in the Canton Township Police Reserve Manual adopted June 22, 1976, applies to the Canton Township Police Department except that with respect to regularly-employed members such rules apply only to the extent that such rules are not inconsistent with the duties of regularly-employed members."

Trustee Poole said after the meeting that he knows of an old U.S. Air Force term for the recent motion.

"We used to call it C.Y.A.A.F.," Poole said, "which means cover your ass after the fact."

Poole said his biggest objection is "the expansion" of the reserves from an eyes-and-ears patrol "to a full-police power, heavily-armed unit."

"The whole thing was done so covertly with the intent to subvert," Poole said. "They sucked in me, Brian (Schwall) and Myers."

Poole, Myers and Schwall have said they assumed Greenstein would be a police chief "in name only."

On Monday, Poole was most vehement in denouncing Greenstein and the reserves.

"Six months ago I was the one who called the Canton reserves Bob Greenstein's private army. Now look at how far he's taken it."

Greenstein says that he hopes all his critics keep up the criticism.

Responding to a statement from township watchdog, Carrie Young, he said, "Keep it up. I win more support every time you people open your mouth."

Opposition seeking Greenstein's ouster due to 'incompatibility'

Two Canton Township citizens have asked the state attorney general to remove Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein from office for accepting the second job of police chief in Canton Township.

The letter to Frank Kelley is signed by Carrie Young, 44844 Michigan, Canton. She says Attorney Noel Culbert "helped her" in preparing the request for "quo warranto action."

IN THE LETTER, Ms. Young claims that Greenstein "vacated the office of supervisor" when he was appointed "by the township board to the incompatible office of chief of police in Canton Township" and therefore should be removed from his position as supervisor.

Ms. Young says the job of police chief is incompatible "because the office is appointed by the supervisor, subject to board approval; the office is created by the supervisor; the board can set the salary of the police chief; the board can enlarge or diminish the powers of the police chief; and the office is subject to the supervisory authority of the board and is therefore subordinate to the board."

"It's a crazy request," commented Greenstein. "I still say there's no conflict."

Greenstein, who is also an attorney, said Tuesday that he checked into the legal precedent and found it faulty. Ms. Young cites the decision in Weza v. Auditor General for her precedent.

"Evidently, in that case, the city charter says no elected officer can hold two jobs, Greenstein said. "Our charter doesn't say that."

Peter Bundarin and Harold Stein, both official candidates for the supervisor's spot in November's election, said Monday that if elected they would not assume the role of police chief and supervisor.

Bundarin, another attorney, said even if it turns out that Greenstein could legally hold both offices, "morally, I would think there is a conflict of interest."

Copies of the quo warranto request were presented to the press and the township's council at Monday night's special board meeting. Treasurer Carl Parsell jokingly referred to it as "this Quo Vadis attempt."

Bert Burgoyne, attorney for Canton Township, said since he had just been presented a copy of the legal request he could not yet comment on its impact.

Culbert said he was confinced that the quo warranto request was legally sound. He said "the element of control" by a supervisor who was also police chief is the strongest example of incompatibility."

School bus plan is re-shuffled

Adjustments and shifts are being made in bus transportation plans as Plymouth Community School District prepares for the opening of elementary buildings next Thursday.

Some bus stops have been removed and others added, with starting times depending on the outcome of today's millage vote.

Dorrin Bianco and Johnie Belcher, co-chairpersons of the School Safety Committee, also announced this week that comments or questions about changes in bus routes should be sent in writing to the School Safety Committee, 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth 48170.

The safety committee cannot act on the basis of telephone calls, they point out. All matters of fact or opinion must be submitted in writing before any action can be taken.

The co-chairpersons also point out that the path to Eriksson Elementary in Canton has been completed. Safeties will be posted along the path to assure the children walking through the woods that they are not alone.

The changes made in the bus routes were made in school district policy and safety factors. The routes which have been added are for safety reasons and those removed because of the change in busing policy that students won't be bused unless they live 1½-miles or more from school—a limit set by the state. The district doesn't receive state funding for any students bused who live within the 1½-mile limit.

The following stops have been added: at 776 Haggerty, 8:35 a.m. (with millage) or 8:50 a.m. (without millage) to Field Elementary; Bedford Villa and Haggerty, 8:35 a.m. (with millage) or 8:55 (without millage) to Eriksson Elementary; Baywood and Turtlehead, 8:30 or 8:55 a.m., to Smith Elementary and the Catholic School; Pilgrim Village and Lilley, 8:15 or 8:25 a.m., to Hulsing Elementary.

The following high school bus stops have been removed: 11610 McClumpha, 9260 McClumpha, 45511 Warren, Warren and Memorial, Warren and Chichester, Joy and Gregory, and the Greenmeadows (Sheldon-Main-Joy-Ann Arbor Road).

Also removed have been the stops for Bedford Condominiums, off Lilley, and for Franklin Square, off Lilley, to Eriksson School. Starkweather Elementary bus stops which have been removed from the schedule are: Riverside and Lindsay, 259 Ann Arbor Trail, Hamilton and Ann Arbor Trail, Hamilton and Roe, Roe and Union.

Starting times for all schools will depend on whether the millage passes today as 50 to 55 minutes will be cut from the school day at all levels if the tax is defeated. Watch future editions of the Observer & Eccentric for updated information on school starting times.

Red tape cutter hunts for grants

Consultant Ron Linton Wednesday officially began his job as Canton's link to Washington D.C. and the federal funds that lie beyond the capital's piles of red tape.

Township officials hope the Washington-based consultant, who has helped Wayne County, the City of Westland and other Detroit area communities obtain federal funds, will keep an eye out for any federal funds Canton Township could receive.

Canton Treasurer Carl Parsell believes the township's contractual arrangement with Linton, approved by the township board last month, will keep Canton officials informed of all pending legislation affecting township government and all newly-approved grant programs.

"Most places only have some red tape," Parsell said. "Washington is tied together with red tape. It takes an expert to get a piece of paper from one desk to another.

"Linton's an expediter—one who has expertise in federal red tape and federal regulations. We'll use him to keep us informed, and we'll apply for every penny that's around. Now we'll have some inside information on what's available."

Under the one-year contract with the Washington consultant, township officials will pay Linton $250 each month in return for information on all federal regulations and programs affecting township government. Either party may terminate the contractual arrangement upon adequate notice, Parsell said.

Although Linton's contract with the township was not effective until Sept. 1, Parsell said the Washington consultant was studying Canton's background and demography in August to acquaint himself with the township's needs.

In addition, Parsell said, Linton was studying the Greenstein administration's controversial master land use plan. Canton officials have asked the consultant to discover any possible federal funds they could use to buy land developmental rights from the farmer.

Opponents of the land use plan fear the reservation of thousands of acres west of Canton Center could deal fatal economic blows to the farmer. Although officials have proposed taxing farmland according to its agricultural rather than potential, developed use, they have outlined no formula to reimburse the farmer.

Linton was scheduled to meet with township administrators this week to discuss the availability of federal funds and help officials outline priorities for nearly $5 million in hoped-for federal public works monies.

Anticipating a Congressional override of President Ford's veto of a $3.9 billion job bill, Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein compiled a request for a $5 million piece of the federal pie several months ago. Congress overrode the President's veto in July.

"But I don't believe Canton will get $5 million," Parsell said of the township's application. "We have to get a feeling of priorities. This is going to be a highly competitive thing with each municipality competing with each other."

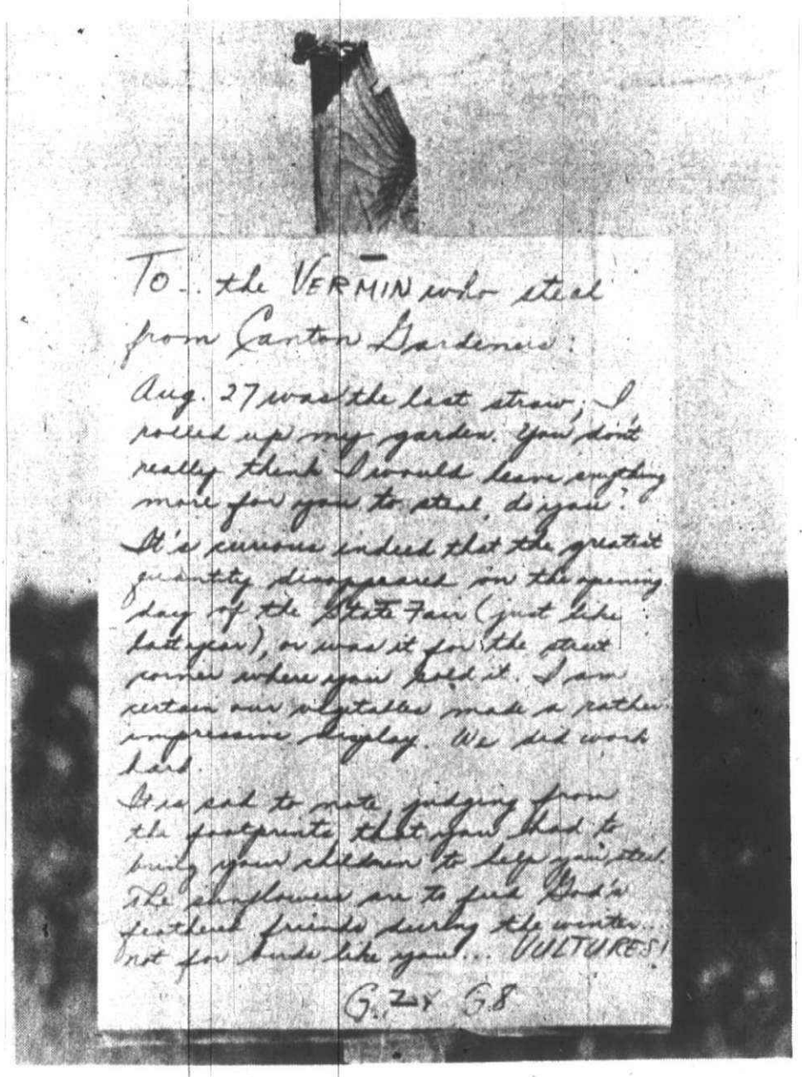
Greenstein proposes township officials apply for funds to construct a new township office complex; an addition to the township's second fire station; sanitary, commercial and industrial sewers; a water main extension; bicycle paths; and parking lots at the township firehall and recreation building.

"It almost takes a full-time person to understand all the regulations involved in grant applications," Parsell said, referring to Linton. "Different grants have different regulations. The situation in federal grant money is getting very technical and difficult to understand."

Parsell claims he "discovered" Linton, last spring when the treasurer and other township officials attended Congressman William Ford's (D— Taylor) annual Washington seminar.

The congressman's aides recommended Linton, Parsell said.

"The urgency at the time was that the jobs bill veto was about to be overriden," he recalled. "Linton came highly recommended as one who knows his way around Washington and red tape."



One Bad Apple?

The sign tells the whole story. This person's garden plot in the township-maintained field at Warren and Lilley has been wiped out for the second straight year. The pilfering has caused this person to "roll up my garden, and go home." Her parting comments show her disgust at the "vermin and vultures." (Staff Photo by Gary Caskey)

Trailer trash letter is being investigated

By DARLENE STINSON

The Wayne County Prosecutors office is still investigating a complaint filed by Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein, charging violation of state election laws in the township's primary election.

Central to the investigation is the context and mood of Greenstein's reference to mobile homeowners as "trailer trash" at a joint study session of the township and planning commission last summer.

Although Greenstein says the statement was jokingly directed at Canton Trustee Robert Myers, a mobile home resident and president of the Michigan Mobile Homeowners Association, the statement was distributed in a letter to mobile homeowners the day before the election.

Addressed to residents of the Royal Holiday Mobile Home Park, the letter referred to the joint township board and planning commission meeting.

"Mr. Robert Myers, trustee of Canton, felt mobile homeowners should be given the opportunity to own their own property and that it should be taxed as on-site realty," the letter stated.

"Mr. Robert Greenstein, supervisor, stated that Canton has too many mobile homes now and does need any more trailer trash in Canton."

Greenstein says false accusations in the

Padgets own landmark

The farm owned by James, Frederick and Marion Padget of 48185 Geddes, Canton Township, has been designated as a Centennial Farm by the Division of Michigan History.

The farm has been in the possession of the Padget family since Jan. 12, 1869, when it was purchased by John Padget, grandfather of the present owners. Padget purchased the home from William and Lucy Winter.

The Centennial Farm program was inaugurated in 1948. Since then, more than 3,000 Michigan farms have been certified as Centennial Farms. The farms are marked by large metal markers provided by Detroit Edison and Consumers Power companies. Certificates are presented to the family by the Division of Michigan History.

Designated Centennial Farms must be in the continuous possession of the same family for 100 years or more.

The Michigan History Division considers a farm to be either 10 or more acres having estimated farm product sales of more than $50 yearly, or less than 10 acres having estimated sales of at least $250 yearly.

A Centennial Farm comprises only the land, not the farm buildings which may be remodeled or even new.

Applications for Centennial Farm recognition may be obtained by writing "Centennial Farm Program, Division of Michigan History, Michigan Dept. of State, Lansing, Mich. 48918.

Pair learning economic lessons with candy trade

By ELINOR GRAHAM

Doug Montgomery and Curtis Hann, two young full-time college students, have taken over the Corner Candy Store, Mill Street at Spring in Old Village.

Hann is a sophomore at Hillsdale College, and Montgomery is in his second year of pre-dental training at Schoolcraft Community College. Both are members of the Old Village Association and Solidarity for Economic Education and Development (SEED).

THEY HAVE PLANS to further the country store atmosphere of the candy shop.

"We bought an old pot-bellied stove," Montgomery said. "We haven't got it assembled yet, but we intend to cook fudge on it.

"We have also bought an old marble slab to knead the fudge on."

Customers will be able to watch the walnut, chocolate or peanut butter fudge being worked to the proper consistency on the marble slab.

"We haven't decided on all the flavors yet," Hann said. "But we will have those three."

Hann's grandparents converted the old house to a candy shop in 1968. Since then it has changed hands several times.

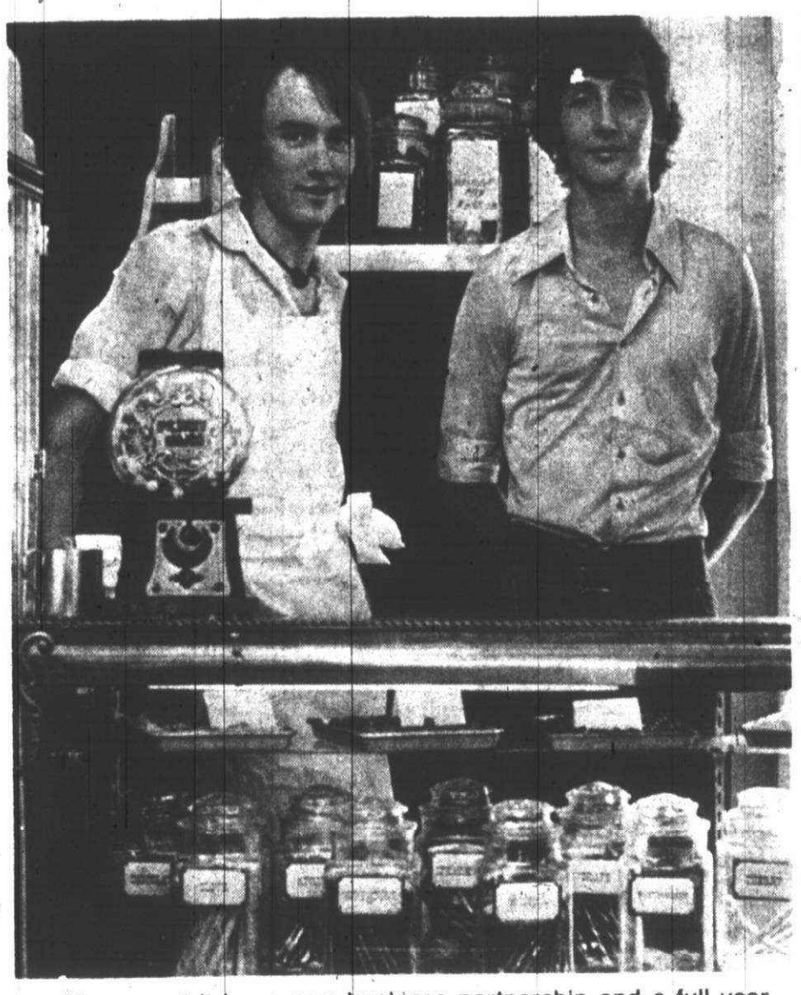
This is Hann's second business venture. He already holds an interest in The Fish Barrel, located behind Bill' Market.

THE DUO are 1975 graduates of Plymouth Salem High School, where their interest in SEED began.

"It is a service club," explained Montgomery, who is president of the group. "We're going to have rides at the fall festival and we always have something at Old Village Dearie Days.

With the candy store, school and other interests, the young businessmen seem to have come up with a time-study plan that accounts for every minute of their day.

"We'll hire extra help to handle the store while we're in school," said Montgomery.



How sweet it is—a new business partnership and a full year ahead for Doug Montgomery (left) and Curtis Hann. (Staff photo)

Phone Power gives tips on collecting bills

By GLENN BUNTING

Michigan Bell still cares for its customers. And despite the allegations recently directed towards the telephone company and its never ending rate hikes, Tuesday's free Phone Power seminar at the Plymouth Hilton was a definite success.

Based on how to collect money over the telephone, the three hour seminar provided 27 businesses with interesting tips. The program was conducted in a workshop manner to get everyone involved with the use of slide projectors, tape recordings and charts.

Directed by Bob Blain of Canton and Conrad Dalkowski of Plymouth, the seminar explored what a valuable tool the telephone is for collecting overdue business accounts.

With the national average cost about $70 for a salesman's visit and $5.55 for a business letter, many firms expressed an interest in using the phone as a means of salesmanship.

When used properly, the telephone can be one of the most effective and inexpenisve sales tools, according to Metrowest Phone Power manager Bill Storer.

THE WORKSHOP provided 33 businesspersons with several effective ways to use the phone. Collection calls are a problem for many of the businesses attending—one that Phone Power set out to eliminate.

A three-step collection call program was given to the businesspersons, who found it to be extremely helpful. The format calls for planning, making and following up phone calls.

"Dealing with deliquent accounts is a major concern for us," said Roy Larson, who represented Larson Fabrics of Livonia. "The emphasis on technique and the examples demonstrated showed a real need for organization over the phone.

"We do a lot of calling and send out informal letters for delinquent accounts. Our technique on the phone sometimes is bad, which is why the session helped us."

Ralph Wenski of Westland represented Designer's Choice Limited, a furniture store once located in Livonia and about to open a branch in Westland. He, too, was excited about the seminar.

"Using the phone gives us a new approach to handling delinquent accounts," Wenski said. "In the past, we relied mostly on sending messages through the mail. I think being able to explore other possible improvements is a tremendous advantage."

In addition to showing its customers how to use the phone properly, the workshop also gave some interesting tips. For instance, when to use the phone when calling certain professions and when not to call others.

A GOOD TIME to call housewives is between 10 and 11:30 a.m., dentists between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m., ministers any day of the week after Tuesday, and accountants any time but between Jan. 15 and April 15.

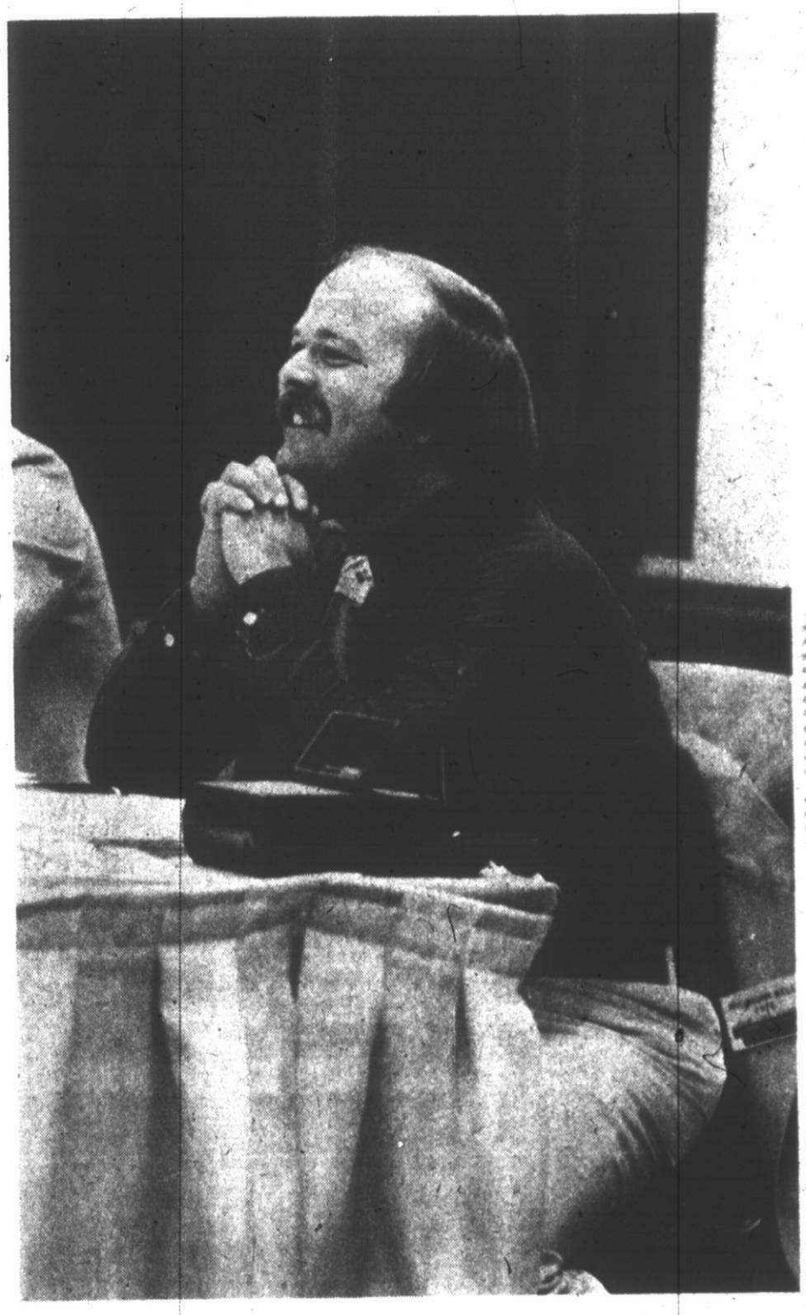
On the other hand, calling at odd hours, repeated calling, dialing places of employment and threatening calls are practices that must be avoided.

Firms attending the seminar included were McGraw Electric, Larson's Upholstery, Lifetime Doors, Robbin's Printing, Livonia Building Materials, General Medical and CBS Electrical.

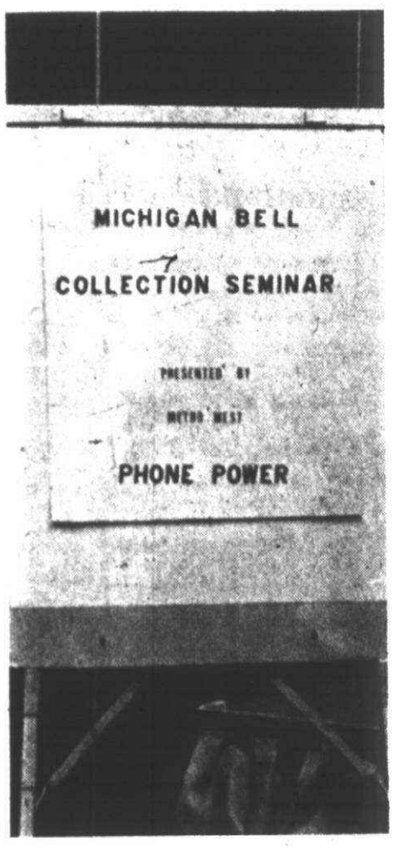
Others included American Shortening, Plymouth-Wyandotte Welding, IPCO Hospital Supplies, Mid-5 Auto Parts, Price Brothers, RCA Service, Awrey's and Reptron Electronics.

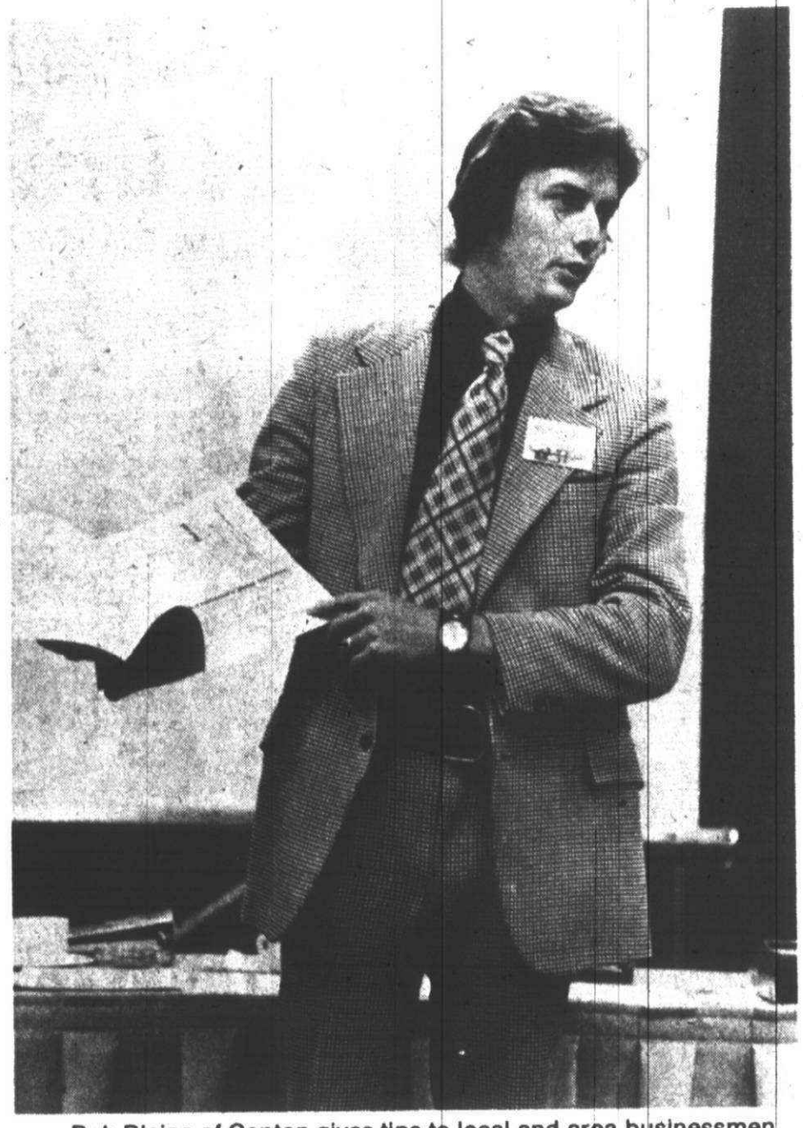
Of the 60 businesses invited, only half attended, which Storer called a fair showing. Seven additional programs are available to businesses with specific sales objectives.

Similar seminars were held earlier this year at the Canton Recreation Hall and Madonna College.



Conrad Dalkowski of Plymouth helped lead the seminar with Bob Blaine for Michigan Bell Telephone.





Bob Blaine of Canton gives tips to local and area businessmen on how to use the telephone for bill collections. The seminar was given this week in the Plymouth Hilton.

Bug sprayer will be bought without advertising for bids

Without advertising for bids, the Canton Township Board Monday night unanimously authorized the expenditure of approximately $3,500 for the purchase of a truck-mounted bug sprayer to combat a possible encephalitis outbreak.

Responding to recent reports of birds in the tri-county region who carry a strain of St. Louis encephalitis contracted from mosquitoes, Treasurer Carl Parsell suggested immediate purchase of the equipment and chemicals.

"These dollars are well spent if anything happens in our area," Parsell said. "The spray, and the equipment is available right now. But if something should happen in our surrounding area every community will be pushing the panic button.

"It's like what happened in early spring with the flood," he said. "When we needed the pumps everyone else needed pumps. If we wait too long we won't be able to borrow, steal or buy this equipment and spray."

After hearing many jokes and a buzzing sound in the board room, Clerk John Flodin said, "This is no laughing matter."

Flodin said the next question in his mind is "what will we do with the equipment?"

Parsell said the poison and equipment would most likely be stored until they were notified by the county health department that there was an immediate danger.

"Only when something is happening do you do it right then," Parsell said. "Not now."

Other board members and people in the audience expressed doubt about the wisdom of waiting.

Upon learning that it takes two weeks for the disease to show up, one resident said, "What if you don't spray tonight, I get bitten tomorrow by a mosquito and everyone else in the township will be exposed because we won't know I've got this disease until two weeks?"

Was 'trash' remark a joke, or serious?

letter cost him the Democratic nomination to the supervisor's post in the August primary. Greenstein lost the nomination to Harold Stein by 132 votes.

UNDER STATE LAW, knowing publication of false or malicious information about a candidate for public office is a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum 90 days in jail and $500 fine.

Myers, who broke his affiliation with the Greenstein slate last fall, has admintted his role in the distribution of the letter. Planning commission member Tom Timbario has admitted signing the letter.

According to the Michigan State Police (who investigated the incident before turning the matter over to the prosecutor's office) some of the persons who attended the joint township board and planning commission meeting last summer have testitifed to the accuracy of Timbario's statement in the letter.

Others, police say, have testified to the joking manner of Greenstein's statement and reference to mobile homeowners. Some of the eight persons interviewed do not remember the remark.

"We were unable to ascertain definitely whether the statement (contained in the letter) was truthful or not," said a spokesman for the Michigan State Police. "Everything depends on hearsay evidence, and the people interviewed seemed divided up in two camps.

"We couldn't make an accurate determination of the truth of the allegations."

John Yakush, investigator for the prosecutors office who is continuing the investigation, said he has interviewed officials who attended the planning commission meeting but declined to divulge his findings.

"MY INVESTIGATION is not complete," Yakush said. "There is always two sides to every story."

Yakush said he has submitted handwriting samples of Myers and Timbario to the Michigan State Police for analysis.

Although Timbario has said he signed the letter, Greenstein claims the signature does not match the planning commissioner's writing on township documents.

The supervisor feels Timbario is "covering" for someone else.

Yakush, after completing his investigation of the matter, will turn his findings over to Richard Padzieski, deputy chief of screening and trial preparation, who will dismiss Greenstein's complaint or issue a warrant for arrest.

Yakush said he has no idea when his investigation will be complete.

Until recently, the prosecutors office and Michigan State Police were conducting investigations of the matter simultaneously.

The State Police, responding to a complaint submitted by a Greenstein supporter, dropped the matter when they learned of the prosecutors office investigation.

Police later reopened their investigation at the request of the prosecutors office only to drop the matter again because of the prosecutors' continuing investigation of the matter. The prosecutors office, police note, would only re-examine evidence submitted by the State Police.

Balloon race boosts the city

The Optimist Club of Plymouth will sponsor a balloon race again this year at the Plymouth Fall Festival.

Balloons cost 35 cents each and come with a post card addressed to the club's headquarters. In past years the balloons have floated all the way to London and Hamilton, Ontario and Cleveland, Ohio.

The balloon that travels the longest distance will determine who wins the prize. Both the sender and receiver of the balloon will receive $5.

On the bottom of the card is an invitation telling people who catch the balloon "We invite you to attend the Plymouth Fall Festival held every year on the second weekend of September."

Not a good reason to defeat millage

Editor:

I was recently presented, because of four years of service on the school board, with a life-long pass to all school activities for which a fee is charged, i.e., football, basketball, etc.

It would have been more meaningful to me if it had been a life-long pass to learning that could have been awarded to the children of the community which would have included a guarantee of:

- A media specialist in each school;
- Reading support for the children who need it;
- Enrichment activities for grades K-12;
- A full school day;
- Options for children and parents;
- Sufficient special education services; and
- Small class size.

I, like so many other voters in the school district, am disappointed in the athletic priorities which have been set by the present school board by a 4-3 vote. They have guaranteed that I will be able to use my pass every Friday night all fall whether the millage passes or fails. Only we, the voters, can guarantee children the life-long opportunity for education. I urge you to join us and vote yes on the millage. Disagreement with a board of education is not a mandate for a "no" vote.

Reserves are political

Editor:

Carl Silvers, a member of the reserve police force in Canton, stated in the Detroit Free Press that he did not want the reserves to be mixed up in politics. What a naive statement.

If Mr. Greenstein is the supervisor—which means he's the head of the legislative branch and chief of the law enforcement agency—then the doubt is inherent that the force cannot possibly remain non-political.

Why for heaven's sake, from the very beginning it was political.

What's more, if Greenstein works more than 60 hours a week, like he stated in his campaign literature, and works five nights a week as a junior cop, in a month he won't be able to tie his shoes, let alone conduct and head two strenuous jobs.

Finally, we must note that too much power concentrated in one man's hands only leads to a tyrannical atmosphere.

If it was a movie, this whole primitive situation would be hilarious. But it is not. It is real and it is frightening.

Invitation to thieves?

Editor:

On Monday July 26 and Wednesday July 28, on channels seven and two, respectively, Mr. Greenstein made it clear to all Detroit area citizens that Canton Township does not have adequate police protection.

I don't believe that the people of our township deserve this type of open invitation to criminals.

Mr. Greenstein got better coverage than if we had erected signs saying rob Canton, we're easy.

I know that this is an election year and that politics can be rough, but I can find no excuse for Mr. Greenstein using the safety of our people as a political tool.

As far as the statement that this is strictly a political issue and that the "people" are content with the reserve force, I disagree.

The people of Canton do have opinions and I suggest Mr. Greenstein gets in tune with them prior to November.

I for one do not enjoy becoming a pawn in a political war.

Reserve's critics can consult the dictionary

Editor:

I have read with interest and listened with attentive ear to the self-acclaimed critics of Canton's reserve police. Yet the only logical alternative offered begins and ends with a capital dollar sign.

Perhaps the Greenstein opponents believe that crime in Canton could be cleaned up by running it through a car wash. Then too it may be possible to get professional help from the properly-trained law enforcement experts that are reducing gangs and crime in the city of Detroit.

"Greenstein's Vigilantes"—a fitting name. Vigilante is defined as: "Ever awake and alert; keenly attentive to detect danger; wary; a vigilant sentry or guardian."

Accounts in the history of our country show that crime was reduced by vigilantes that were police, judge, jury and hangman. None of these men were given extensive professional training yet most of the undesired element was eliminated.

History has the faculty of repeating itself; Canton is not excluded.

Instant perfection from the reserve police and good law enforcement by the regular boys in blue cannot take place until a motor and wheels are put on the desks of the political police hierarchy. Then they could protect the critics who should put their brain in gear before putting their mouths in motion.

Canton loses if Greenstein slate loses?

Editor:

It troubles me that lately so much negativism has been seen in the paper about the recently-defeated Greenstein team.

The fact that Canton is growing so rapidly should say something for our present administration. Not only are we growing, but the value of homes in Canton has increased remarkably. People are proud to live here and business is encouraged to settle here under the watchful eye of a quality-conscious township board.

To say say that the present administration deserves no credit for this and much, much more is naive. To lose the Greenstein Team means that only Canton loses in the end.

Why Austin was beaten

Editor:

I just read Philip Power's column about voters showing a hardening attitude (Observation Point, Aug. 19).

I was angered by his allegation that Richard Austin—black man—was defeated in his race for the Senate because of his blackness. He stated that Austin was defeated not solely by "unfavorable publicity about 'gifts' from his branch managers."

True, this was not the sole cause of his defeat, but it was, in my opinion, the major cause. These little gifts like an air conditioner and money contributions are really called graft, and if Austin thinks I want another corrupt senator, the answer is No.

If we know he is dishonest as secretary of state, can we trust him to be honest in Washington? I voted against his corruption, not against his blackness. I do not like to be be called "racist" when I vote against a man who openly acknowledges payment of gratuity.

Huff bows out of MSU race

"He's not very effective. You hear it from students. You hear it from other trustees. The party hasn't seen him. He doesn't participate.

"He's a very nice elderly gentleman. I don't want to see mud thrown at him, but he has served his time."

When a party leader in your home congressional district talks that way, your chances of getting a state convention nomination are slim.

And so Warren Huff, 67, of rural Plymouth, got up sadly before the Democratic state convention in Detroit Sunday and announced he would withdraw as a candidate for renomination to the Michigan State University Board of Trustees.

WARREN HUFF

"LONG LIVE the cause of youth," Huff said, and he put his finger on source of political ferment on the MSU campus.

Dr. Blanche Martin, 39, East Lansing dentist and onetime Spartan football star, won the convention's nomination to a second term without a floor fight, though there was some open grumbling about his chairmanship of the MSU board.

Scott Barns, MSU senior from Westland and a Democratic precinct delegate, summed it up: "The board has held its meetings at inconvenient hours for students—like 9 a.m. on a school day."

Barns, son of a Westland councilmember, told of the time students wanted to be heard on a placement office issue: the board reacted by passing six agenda items in a single motion, without discussion, and then adjourned into "executive" (secret) session.

"And Dr. Martin allowed it to happen," said Barns.

THE SECOND nomination went to Michael Smydra, 27, who with his wife and siblings conducted an impressive handshaking campaign.

Smydra, raised in the upper peninsula village of Ontonagon, is a student at Cooley Law School in Lansing and an organizer for the Democrat-leaning National Farmers Organization.

He defeated Carole Lick, the choice of MSU students active in the 6th Congressional District organization. Mrs. Lick is a junior high teacher in the Kalamazoo suburb of Portage.

Mrs. Lick's student supporters published a long list complaints about MSU's administration and board: "Restrictions on First Amendment rights, the declining value of MSU's diplomas," weak lobbying for funding, a housing policy and bus program that aren't coordinated with the City of East Lansing, no gynecologist at the health center.

With that kind of pressure building up, it was inevitable one trustee, at least, would bite the dust. It was Warren Huff.

"A CLASSIC confrontation" was the way another Plymouthite, Irving Rozian, described it.

"Huff has been around and worked with the administration and knows what compromises need to be made. Then Smydra comes along and says that as a consumer he wasn't satisfied."

Huff operates a farm at 5400 Curtis Road in eastern Washtenaw County, not far from Plymouth. An "agribusinessman," he is a manufacturer's representative and manages personal holdings in oil leases and real estate.

Huff estimated he put in 20 hours a week and made nine trips a month to the East Lansing campus on MSU business. He was first elected to the old State Board of Agriculture in 1959 and renominated to the new MSU board in 1966 but lost in the Romney landslide. But he was renominated and re-elected in 1968.

Huff earned a bachelor's degree in agricultural economics at Texas Technological University and a master of business administration degree from Harvard. After years as a federal agricultural statistician in Omaha, Huff came to Michigan to work in the state civil service office and during World War II was an official in the Office of Price Administration.

Charter challenged by clergyman in 1967

(Part I)

PLYMOUTH—PAST AND PRESENT
by
Sam Hudson

It happened on a cold day in January, 1967—the year Plymouth observed the 100th anniversary of its incorporation as a village.

The Rev. Peter Schweitzer, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Church in Plymouth, handed a nominating petition to City Clerk Eugene Slider, signifying his intention to run for a seat on the city commission.

Slider, who also was chairman of the election board, told Schweitzer that he wasn't eligible to run for the office. A provision in the city charter stipulated that a candidate for the commission must be, for a period of two years prior to the date of election or appointment to office, the owner of property located within the city and assessed for taxes by the city. Schweitzer, a young bachelor, was not a property owner; he lived in an apartment provided by his congregation.

Based on a ruling from City Attorney Thomas Healy, Slider told the same thing to Charles C. DeVelder, for whom petitions had been taken out. DeVelder wasn't eligible for the same reasons given to Rev. Schweitzer.

THE MATTER MIGHT have ended there. City charters are not etched in stone. They can be amended, but the average citizen does not go to the time, trouble and effort necessary to challenge provisions in municipal charters. The Rev. Schweitzer was the exception; he took his case to Circuit Court, asking the bench to determine the legality of section 4.4 of the charter.

Shortly thereafter, City Attorney Healy asked the commission for permission to withdraw from the suit. He explained that (1) as a member of the election commission, he was a defendant in the lawsuit, and (2), he thought Schweitzer had a good case.

In the verbal storm that followed, Healy was criticized by some for voicing an opinion that might be detrimental to the city's case. Others agreed with Healy, saying that the taxpayers had a right to know why he felt impelled to withdraw from the case. The commission granted Healy's request. It assigned Municipal Judge Edward Draugelis to represent the city in the case. Abdeen Jabara was the counsel for Rev. Schweitzer.

SCHWEITZER, holder of a BA degree in history from Western Michigan University, had his theology degree from Wesley Theological Seminary, Washington, DC.

At the local Methodist Church, he was in charge of youth and Christian education. His activities in the community included volunteer work for the Plymouth Fire Department—he drove a truck for the aerial ladder unit.

The round-face cleric, with the crew cut and the horn-rimmed glasses, had his critics as well as his defenders. Many said that the 28-year-old native of Flint didn't stand a chance in court. The city's home rule charter had been approved in 1952 by the State Attorney General and by Governor G. Mennen Williams. It had been adopted by the voters. The provision Schweitzer objected to was in the charters of cities throughout the state. The young pastor was "an ingrate" for attempting to upset the charter that the people had accepted.

Among those who discouraged Schweitzer's candidacy for a seat on the commission was his bishop, Dwight E. Loder. Bishop Loder told Schweitzer, in January, that he could go ahead if he wanted to, but that he would not be guaranteed a reappointment to the First Methodist Church in Plymouth when his term here was up. (It should be pointed out that young ministers can usually expect to be transferred after three or four years.)

THOSE IN THE community who supported Schweitzer's action commended him for his "moxie," saying that his willingness to fight for what he believed to be right would work in his favor with the voters if the court upheld his right to run.

The court's ruling came on March 7. On that day, Wayne Circuit Judge Victor A. Baum rendered what the Plymouth Mail called "the most important court decision concerning the City of Plymouth in modern times." Baum ruled that portions of the city charter were unconstitutional and that Rev. Schweitzer had a right to be a candidate for the commission.

In his opinion, Judge Baum made these points:

- Plymouth residents who were without property not only were prevented from running for public office, they were prevented from electing representatives who, like themselves, were unpropertied.
- Poor people were not the only ones who felt the bite of the Plymouth charter. All residents of Plymouth—rich, poor, or in-between—were deprived of a free choice of public representatives.
- Even people of substantial property, other than real estate, were denied the right to run for office. Many forms and kinds of property are not subject to assessment or taxation by municipalities.
- The people and their legislators may enact unwise laws, as long as they do not deprive citizens of constitutional rights. It was not the wisdom of the Plymouth charter, but its constitutionality that was being reviewed.

(Part II will conclude the Schweitzer case and its effect on the city charter.)

Livonia undercover narcotics agents arrested a Plymouth teen-ager for selling heroin

John James Bradbury, 18, of 7444 Irongate, is charged with violation of the state narcotics law involving delivery and sale of heroin. He will face a pre-trial exam in Livonia District Court on Sept. 14. He stood mute at his arraignment and was released after posting a $10,000 bond.

Livonia narcotics bureau officers said Bradbury was arrested when an officer paid $1,000 for a one-quarter ounce of heroin in a parking lot on the northwest corner of Inkster Road and Schoolcraft.

The bureau said the street value of the heroin was $2,500 and the drug was intended for local usage.

The arrest came after a two-week investigation of Bradbury with police given information by an anonymous tipster, the bureau said.

The bureau added that the amount of heroin is an "an unusally large amount" for the Livonia department.

CASE NO. U-4717

TO THE GAS CUSTOMERS OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY:

NOTICE OF GAS RATE INCREASE HEARING
and
NOTICE OF HEARING ON REVISIONS TO RATES AND REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO CENTRALLY METERED AND RESALE GAS SERVICE

As part of the continued hearings in Case No. U-4717 being held on Consumers Power Company's November 27, 1974 application for a gas rate increase, the Michigan Public Service Commission on July 30, 1976 granted Consumers Power's motion to present for Commission consideration additional evidence concerning the cost of rendering gas service based on a test year ending December 31, 1975, adjusted for known changes in 1976. Prior testimony and exhibits in this proceeding had been limited to a test period of the 12 months ending June 30, 1974, adjusted for certain known changes in 1975. In addition to considering the current cost of rendering gas service, the Commission will also consider the issues of: (1) gas rate design and charges and (2) the appropriate treatment for ratemaking purposes of the Michigan Single Business Tax.

Consumers Power has indicated that its additional evidence concerning this later test period demonstrates a need for additional gas rate relief in the amount of $18,948,000 over and above the interim rate relief previously authorized in Case No. U-4717 pursuant to orders of the Commission issued on June 2, 1975 and March 8, 1976. Moreover, the additional gas rate relief being requested by Consumers Power is exclusive of any additional revenue requirement which may result when a final determination is made by the Commission in Case No. U-4717 as to the proper amount of Marysville Synthetic Natural Gas Plant costs to be included in Consumers Power's gas rate base.

As a part of its consideration of the issues of rate design and charges in Case No. U-4717, the Commission has indicated that it will consider revisions to the rates, rules and regulations, service standards, and procedures pertaining to centrally metered and resale gas service now being provided by Consumers Power Company specifically including issues relating to rate design and classification as defined in Phase III of Case No. U-4985 which need to be resolved as they pertain to such gas business. Proceedings in Case No. U-4985 began in December 1975 on the Commission's own motion to inquire into the regulations and procedures of gas and electric utilities pertaining to centrally metered customers, including reselling customers, and to provide for appropriate standards and rates for centrally metered gas and electric utility service.

The Michigan Public Service Commission has scheduled hearings on the matters referred to herein as part of the continued proceedings in Case No. U-4717 and has ordered that notice be given of this expansion of Case No. U-4717 to include Consumers Power's request for the additional gas rate relief in the amount of $18,948,000 and the Commission's decision to include the issues defined in Phase III of Case No. U-4985 as they pertain to Consumers Power Company's gas business.

Notice is hereby given that:

A. A public hearing in Case No. U-4717 shall be held at 9:30 AM on September 22, 1976 in the offices of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan, which hearing shall be in the nature of a prehearing conference and shall be held for the purposes of exploring and, if possible, agreeing upon matters which will expedite this proceeding including, but not limited to, the following:

1. Determining the parties to the proceeding, the nature of their appearances and the positions they are taking in the proceeding, as well as the facts they intend to controvert or give evidence of, all in accordance with the provisions of Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission.
2. Simplifying and defining the issues in this proceeding.
3. Obtaining admissions as to, and stipulations of, facts not remaining in dispute, the authenticity of documents, and matters of public record.
4. Determining the number and identity of witnesses.
5. Specifying the schedule for the exchange of proposed exhibits and written testimony, and the reduction of oral testimony to written form.
6. Establishing procedures for the hearing.
7. Specifying a further schedule of dates of hearing.
8. Considering any other matters that may aid in the orderly conduct of the hearing and the disposition of the proceeding.

B. Further public hearings in this matter shall begin at 9:30 AM on October 5, 1976 in the offices of the Commission, Mercantile Building, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan, for the purpose of commencing cross-examination of the Company's witnesses and such further proceedings as may be necessary or appropriate. Public hearings shall continue thereafter from day to day or on such adjourned dates as the presiding officer may set until the matter has been fully heard.

C. ANY PERSON NOT NOW A PARTY TO CASE NO. U-4717 WHO SEEKS TO INTERVENE IN ACCORDANCE WITH RULE 11 OF THE RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE BEFORE THE COMMISSION, SHALL FILE WITH THE COMMISSION AT LEAST FIVE (5) DAYS PRIOR TO THE INITIAL HEARING OF SEPTEMBER 22, 1976, AN ORIGINAL AND 12 COPIES OF A PETITION TO INTERVENE, TOGETHER WITH PROOF OF SERVICE UPON CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY, LEGAL DEPARTMENT, 212 WEST MICHIGAN AVENUE, JACKSON, MICHIGAN 49201.

Subparagraph (2) of Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission (R 460.21) provides as follows:

> "(2) A petition to intervene shall set out clearly and concisely the facts supporting the petitioner's alleged right or interest, the grounds of the proposed intervention, and the position of the petitioner in the proceeding, SO AS FULLY AND COMPLETELY TO ADVISE THE PARTIES AND THE COMMISSION OF THE SPECIFIC ISSUES OF FACT OR LAW TO BE RAISED OR CONTROVERTED."

The Commission will require strict compliance with the above-quoted rule.

D. Consumers Power Company, on or before September 22, 1976, shall serve upon each person seeking to intervene a copy of the proposed testimony and exhibits as filed with the Commission which serve as the basis for its request for additional gas rate relief of $18,948,000. In addition, the Company shall serve upon each such person a copy of the Company's Motion for Expanded Hearing, as supplemented, and of the Commission's July 30, 1976 Order Granting Motion to Expand Hearing in Case No. U-4717. Proof of service shall be filed with the Commission on or before October 4, 1976.

E. THE GAS RATE INCREASES DESCRIBED IN THIS NOTICE HAVE BEEN REQUESTED BY CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY. THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION MAY EITHER GRANT OR DENY THE REQUESTED INCREASE, IN WHOLE OR IN PART, AND MAY GRANT A LESSER OR GREATER INCREASE THAN THAT REQUESTED. MAY AUTHORIZE A LESSER OR GREATER RATE FOR ANY CLASS OR CLASSES OF SERVICE, OR PORTION THEREOF, OR MAY ORDER CHANGES IN EXISTING OR PROPOSED RATE STRUCTURES OR DESIGNS OR CUSTOMER CLASSIFICATIONS.

Jurisdiction in this matter is pursuant to 1909 PA 300, as amended, MCLA 462.2 et seq; Section 4 of 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 460.54; Sections 4, 6, 6a and 6b of 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.4, 460.6, 460.6a and 460.6b; Section 3 of 1923 PA 238, as amended, MCLA 486.253; Chapter 4 of 1969 PA 306, as amended, MCLA 24.271 et seq; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R 460.11 et seq.

Was court nomination a gubernatorial test run?

By TIM RICHARD

Was it as simple as Alpena's Joseph P. Swallow beating Oakland's Richard Kuhn for a Republican State Supreme Court nomination?

Or was it a test run for the 1978 Republican gubernatorial nomination between Rep. Dennis O. Cawthorne of Manistee and Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson?

There were undercurrents of things to come at last weekend's GOP state convention in Grand Rapids. The immediate purpose was to nominate candidates for the high court and eight education posts in this November's election, but there was already some quiet wonderment at who will succeed William G. Milliken when he yields the reins two years from now.

CAWTHORNE, who makes no secret of his ambition to be governor, gave the nominating speech for Swallow, 42, a circuit judge and former state representative.

Cawthorne made a couple of digs at Kuhn, saying Swallow was "electable in November" and was prosecuting crooks "long before it was popular to be tough on the criminal element." (Kuhn has won two elections—for constitutional convention delegate in 1961 and Oakland circuit judge in 1972—and lost two—for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 19th District in 1966 and for prosecutor in 1968.)

Patterson, also known for his ambition, made Kuhn's nominating speech and poured on the rhetoric:

"I want to nominate a man who is a lawyer and not a social planner. I want to nominate a man with common sense and not a common name. I want to nominate a man who will interpret the law and not rewrite the law. I want to nominate a man to whom the rights of victims of crime are as cherished as the rights of criminals. . ."

GEORGE KUHN, the judge's brother, a West Bloomfield resident and county drain commissioner, acknowledged Swallow had "a head start because he's been running for weeks.

"Dick got into it Wednesday (three days prior to the convention). We wanted to make sure the governor OK'd it (Dick Kuhn's candidacy) because he (Milliken) can slice up the ticket.

"We read what (Chief Justice) Kavanagh said about legalizing pot, prostitution and pornography and said, 'Somebody's got to run against him.'"

George Kuhn said Oakland County Chairman Arthur Elliott "played power broker, trading votes with other delegations."

Judge Kuhn's other selling point was that he would have faster access to the metropolitan area for campaign purposes than Swallow would.

SWALLOW WON the nomination, 1,010 to 468, carrying 14 congressional district delegations to Kuhn's five.

Swallow carried the 2d District, 47-32. Livonia conservatives were happy to support Kuhn, remembering the days when he ran a hard-fought battle with Jack McDonald for the GOP nomination to Congress in the old 19th District, but party moderates recalled that race with distaste.

Swallow carried the 12th District (eastern Greater Rochester and much of Macomb County) by 43-29.

Kuhn took the normally moderate 15th District, 29-22, after Party Chairman Ernest Fackler made a seconding speech for him.

Swallow easily won the 17th District 61-9. The 17th includes Redford Township and the Farmington community, which were parts of the old 19th that were loyal to Jack McDonald.

Most of Oakland County is in the 18th and 19th congressional districts, and Kuhn easily won those, 55-6 and 79-7, respectively.

KUHN WASN'T overly disappointed at his defeat. "We got the message across," he said, referring to the " pot, prostitution and porno" theme.

Patterson, whose wife was "nine months and eight days" pregnant, was visibly fidgety all day. He didn't take the convention's rejection of Kuhn's candidacy personally.

Nor did he see any problem with his supporting the advancement of a judge before whom he may try future cases. "A prosecutor has got the same constitutional right to support a candidate as any other citizen," Patterson said.

MILLIKEN MEETING

Livonia School District officials are planning to meet with Gov. William Milliken this week or next to change his thinking on state aid for districts with declining student enrollments. The governer last month vetoed an amendment to a state aid bill which would have provided extra funds to such districts.

POLICE RESERVES

Canton Township's controversial full-power reserve police force is now officially working under the direction of a two-man police department, according to a township board ruling. Canton has established a "regularly-employed" police department consisting of Canton Supervisor-Police Chief Robert Greenstein and Cmdr. Carl Silvers, who is a federal postal inspector during the day. LSilvers is a retired Detroit police sargeant. The board decided Monday night that the manual for reserve officers should also apply to the "regularly-employed peace officers." A hearing on a lawsuit started by Canton residents opposed to the present system is scheduled Sept. 13 before Wayne Circuit Judge Thomas B. Sullivan.

LINTON CONTRACTED

Ron Linton has been hired as a Washington consultant for the Canton Township in hopes he can help the township snare federal grants. Linton, who works as a lobbyist for many surrounding communities, will be paid $250 per month.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE

The South Redford and Redford Union school districts' teacher contract negotiations are going down to the wire with both sides miles apart on economic issues. Negotiators for school boards claim they aren't in a position to discuss economic proposals because the districts are uncertain about their financial futures.

2D MILLAGE TRY

Voters are at the polls today in the Plymouth Community School District for the second time this year to decide on a request for and additional 4.75 mills property tax levy for operations. Interest in the election is running high. More than 1,000 absentee ballots had been cast by this morning. If the millage fails, 70 teachers wil' lose jobs and the student-teacher ratio will increase by five.

SHAPING UP?

Suburban customers and a discharged employee feel that the Vic Tanny health club in Livonia is not in the best of shape. Patrons circulated a petition to complain about bad conditions, which the company's management now says have been corrected.

Candidate hopes 'go with top of ticket'

Beginning the middle of this month, the Republican Party will be demanding a lot of time from Florence (Jo) Saltzman.

"I went down to the basement and rummaged through some old boxes and found my 1974 October schedule. Morning, noon and night," said Mrs. Saltzman, whom the GOP nominated Saturday to run for the State Board of Education.

Mrs. Saltzman, Franklin Village resident and former president of the Birmingham Board of Education, is making her second run on the state ticket.

"Those posts go with the top of the ticket. Last election was a Watergate year," said Mrs. Saltzman, who with running mate James O'Neil of Livonia was defeated in 1974 by about a quarter-million votes.

THIS YEAR, after a lot of hesitation, she decided to run again. Her fellow candidate will be Clarence Dukes, president of the Ann Arbor Board of Education. With Michiganian Gerald R. Ford heading the ticket, Michigan Republicans are more confident about November than they were in '74.

Norman O. Stockmeyer Sr., current member of the state board and "Uncle Norm" to Republicans in Westland and the metropolitan area, nominated Mrs. Saltzman at the convention. Stockmeyer said the job requires "time, integrity and credentials" and praised Mrs. Saltzman as "a team player."

She and Dukes were nominated without opposition.

"ART WAS MY campaign manager," she said, referring to her husband, who is chairman of the 19th Congressional District GOP organization.

"We made an effort to reach a lot of statewide groups that weren't politically based—the library association, university professors, the AAUW (American Association of University Women). A man on our board of education contacted all the school boards in the state.

"I attended a lot of regional meetings of administrators and got the endorsement of the school administrators," she said, adding that she also had support from the Republican Educators Caucus and from some regional groups in the Michigan Education Association.

"I get very stimulated by a campaign and enjoy meeting people. I was dazzled by the numbers of strangers who took me into their homes during the campaign.

"Art had been Michigan director of the Economic Opportunity Program, and he had generated good will there."

AS THE GOP state convention droned on in the Grand Rapids Civic Center auditorium, Mrs. Saltzman chatted merrily about her impressions of the state board of education seat and the campaign it would take to win it.

"People don't know the powers and duties of the state board of education, which, according to the constitution, are 'leadership and general supervision' of K-12 education and general planning and coordinating for higher education, with advice to the legislature on funding," she said.

"I found a lot of interest in the newspapers outstate," said Mrs. Saltzman, who hereself was a reporter and copy editor for a weekly and daily papers in Syracuse, N.Y.

A farmer from the Muskegon area was in favor of returning to the 19th century McGuffey Readers until Mrs. Saltzman fired back an obscure quotation from McGuffey which the farmer didn't recognize. She chuckled: "A lot of people take positions without knowing about them."

WHAT DIFFERENCE is there between Republicans and Democrats running for the State Board of Education?

"Gee, that's a hard one. My impression is that once you're on the board, a lot of partisan issues disappear.

"Both Democratic candidates last time were knowledgeable about the field of education. Barbara Roberts, who had an MEA affiliation, did raise a lot of concerns about the danger of a strong special interest on the board, even though she herself might be a person of integrity.

"As a Republican, I would tend to be more fiscally responsible. I have a strong commitment to local control. And I think it's hypocritical for the legislature to mandate programs with no intention of funding them."

MRS. SALTZMAN has mixed feelings about whether state board members should be elected or appointed and on whether it should be through a partisan or non-partisan process.

"The League of Women Voters felt the current system (partisan elections) was the least effective at representing citizens, but they couldn't come to a consensus about what was better.

"In the nominating and electing process, the people can have great input. But they don't exercise it."

The non-partisan idea has appeal, but she notes that political parties play an important role: "The parties can do the kind of screening (of candidates) that the voters can't do."

Volunteers are needed for school clothing bank

The opening of school and the approach of autumn are reflected in a flurry of activity at the Plymouth Community School District clothing bank.

Co-chairwomen Marie Hopper and Flossie Tonda have sent out a call for clothing for all ages, especially pants and coats. They also are lining up workers for fall.

"If each school could supply three workers for a Tuesday or Thursday every alternate month, our sorting and folding worries would be over," said Mrs. Hopper.

Clothing can be left at the school maintenance warehouse at Central Middle School. Warehouse hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

CLOTHING BANK hours are 9:30 a.m. to noon Tuesday and Thursday in a portable classroom behind Central Middle School. In cases of emergency, the clothing bank will be opened at the request of school representatives.

Donations of clothing may be made at the schools. The bank stocks wearing apparel for preschoolers and adults as well as students, kindergarten through grade 12.

A year-end statement prepared for the school district revealed 101 children and 18 adults were served. With 1,613 articles provided, it averaged out to about 15 items per person.

CONTRIBUTIONS from schools were listed in the report.

They were: Isbister Elementary, $50; East Elementary, $20; West Middle School, $15; Bird Elementary, $25; Miller Elementary, $25; Allen Elementary, $25; and Tanger Elementary, $75.

The Plymouth Jaycettes gave $50.

The bank provides new shoes, taking the children to the store for proper fitting. Last season $47.49 was spent for shoes and socks and $36 for underwear.

The clothing bank has been set up with a selective process of distribution. To avoid persons who use clothing banks as a source of items for garage sales, recipients are recommended by their local schools.

Purpose of the bank is to fulfill the neighborly role of dispenser of good, clean outgrown clothing to the school family. There is hrage no charge for the items and all the workers are volunteers.

Harvest bounty at festival produce show

Categories have been announced for the annual produce show on the Sunday of Plymouth Fall Festival by co-chairpersons Bob Richardson and Daisy Proctor.

Four ribbons in each class will be awarded:

Fresh flower bouquet, fresh flower miniature bouquet, dried flower arrangement, and fresh flower bouquet in junior division (15 and under).

Mixed vegetable display in wheelbarrow or suitable container, two categories—commercial or individual; tallest stalk of corn; tallest sunflower; widest sunflower blossom.

There will be prizes for the largest pumpkin, the largest squash, and the best bunch of Indian corn.

The show is sponsored by the Fall Festival Board of Directors. Entries will be accepted from 9-11 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 12.

Judges will be representatives of the Michigan State University extension service.

Balloon race boosts the city

The Optimist Club of Plymouth will sponsor a balloon race again this year at the Plymouth Fall Festival.

Balloons cost 35 cents each and come with a post card addressed to the club's headquarters. In past years the balloons have floated all the way to London and Hamilton, Ontario and Cleveland, Ohio.

The balloon that travels the longest distance will determine who wins the prize. Both the sender and receiver of the balloon will receive $5.

On the bottom of the card is an invitation telling people who catch the balloon "We invite you to attend the Plymouth Fall Festival held every year on the second weekend of September."

editorial opinion

No short cut to protection

Seldom have so much attention, emotion and newsprint been devoted to an issue in Canton than in the current dispute over the police reserve unit. For the benefit of those who moved in late, the reserves are being investigated by the State Police, the Wayne County sheriff and the attorney general's office. A lawsuit seeking to stop the reserve patrols will come up Sept. 13 in Wayne County Circuit Court before Judge Thomas B. Sullivan.

Certainly the 30 persons on reserve force do not deserve some of the verbal and vandalistic abuse they've been receiving lately. Civic volunteer work is rare these days and is usually to be commended.

But the current practice of allowing well-intentioned men and women to patrol the streets in marked (dual-purpose) police vehicles without a certified police officer present disturbs us greatly. The reserves go beyond the "eyes-and-ears of the community" concept they were conceived in. These people carry full police powers and a .357 magnum when they are on duty.

COMMANDER Carl Silvers' promise to "control their learning experience" fails to alleviate serious reservations about the reserves.

It's difficult enough to tell how a fully-trained, certified police officer will react under heavy stress. But what happens when the a part-time reserve officer earning $2.25 an hour and undergoing a "controlled learning experience" has his life threatened by a criminal?

A lot is at stake for both the reserves and the populace. Canton residents should ask themselves if they wouldn't rather pay for professional police protection.

Many possibilities can be explored. One is joining a Plymouth community police force incorporating the city and Plymouth and Canton townships. Detailed cost breakdowns must be done. Contracting with the sheriff's department or state police are other possibilities. Good law enforcement in a growing, modern community like Canton cannot be found in a bargain bin.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE to mention the reserves without mentioning Canton Township Supervisor-Police Chief Robert Greenstein.

It is unfortunate that any criticism of reserves is taken as a personal affront by Greenstein. He is correct when he says that the reserve issue is being exploited by many factions for political purposes. But the fact remains that Canton is attempting to take a short-cut to provide protection for the community. Treasurer Carl Parsell has called the reserves a "stop-gap measure" before a better system can be funded.

Stop-gap measures are insufficient when we're dealing with something so important as law enforcement.

Election interest runs high

At 8 o'clock tonight, the polls will close and the counting of ballots will begin. Within a couple of hours, we will know the fate of the proposed property tax increase of 4.75 mills for operating Plymouth Community Schools.

Interest in this millage election has run very high, as evidenced by the large number of absentee ballots cast in advance and the increased letters to the editor. A large turnout can be expected.

With interest so strong, it is unlikely this millage question will be decided by only one vote, as it was last June. But did you expect last June's proposal to lose by one vote?

The lesson we all learned in June—that every vote counts—is still before us, and you have until 8 o'clock tonight to make sure your vote is counted. About 26,000 persons can vote. Don't be among the missing.

THE OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC recommends a YES vote because we feel the community will be harmed if the results are negative.

It is a decision each resident must make after closely examining the facts and balancing the pros and cons. There are reasons to vote no—life isn't that clear-cut and simple. You task is to balance individual needs against what is best for the community—which in the long run is best for you—and vote.

For those of you who are still undecided—and polls indicate there are a great many—some of these clarifications might be helpful:

A GOOD PORTION of the additional revenue will cover the expense of new growth in the Canton Township portion of Plymouth Community School District.

This year, the entire school district must serve more than 800 additional students, open three new elementary buildings in Canton and open an addition to Plymouth Canton High. Plymouth residents may jump to the conclusion that benefits will go to Canton alone while the tax burden goes to Plymouth. That is a fallacy.

First, Canton Township contributes about 40 per cent of the total property tax revenue. Plymouth Township generates about 40 per cent, the City of Plymouth some 20 per cent.

So, Canton residents are financially supporting the school district and have been for years—long before there was a population boom there. And Canton property owners pay the identical school property tax rate that Plymouth city and township owners pay.

Second, if classroom space and teachers aren't provided, Canton schoolchildren must continue to be bused to schools in the city and Plymouth Township. The result will be overloaded classrooms in existing buildings and a loss of quality education for all children—including yours.

THIRD, THE OUTCOME of the millage vote will have little effect on any settlement reached by the school district with the teachers union.

The Plymouth Education Association stated last June that the millage outcome wouldn't have a direct bearing on the settlement. Rather, the union is concerned about the 70-some teachers who will be without jobs if the millage fails. The union is concerned that the remaining teachers receive salaries which at least keep up with inflation.

This newspaper is certain that some type of pay raise, probably in the area of five per cent, will be negotiated even if the millage fails. It is inconceivable that any union will sign a contract with no pay raise. And if the millage passes, it still won't provide enough money for any exorbitant salary hikes.

Likewise, the outcome of the millage election has no bearing on such issues as school crossing guards or busing policy. If it passes, the school district won't be blessed with any abundance of funds. The budget will still be tight, and prudent spending will still be the order of the day.

Within a decade, the school district's population is expected to double from this fall's 14,000 to almost 30,000. Things won't be rosy if you vote yes today, but the future will be bleak if you vote no. Give education a chance. Vote yes.

School bargaining intense as Labor Day draws near

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

Next Monday is Labor Day—a bittersweet time.

It's the end of the hot, restful summer; the start of the cool, busy fall. It's the beginning of harvest season for farmers and the end of model changeover time for auto workers.

It's also the back to school season—a boon for busy mothers and a return to books and work for the kids.

And increasingly, it has been the time for intensified labor negotiations between local school boards and teacher unions.

WHAT'S INTERESTING about Labor Day 1976 is that the climate surrounding teacher bargaining is much cooler than it has been in past years.

In part, the relative absence of flaming rhetoric may be due to the maturity and experience local boards and unions have gained since collective bargaining became common a dozen years ago.

Both sides of the bargaining table have come to feel the pressure of the parents and taxpayers, who, if there's a strike, get sore and turn down property tax requests no matter who is at fault.

Teachers are realizing they can no longer expect the 10-15 per cent settlements they won in the period of 1967-73. The economy has gone through a jarring recession, one that inflicted grievous damage on even the supposedly safe profession of education.

LOCALLY, FIVE school districts are in the second or third years of multi-year contracts. Birmingham, Troy, Southfield, Farmington and Livonia can expect to open classes on schedule next week.

In Farmington, a millage request was defeated earlier this year, but there was one hopeful sign. Teachers, parents and administrators were working together on the project in a district that had once been the scene of bitter animosity.

Rochester Community School District had to hire a new superintendent this year, so the board reached a settlement with the union in June, leaving itself free to devote the summer to the personnel search.

Avondale settled last week. Its contract leaves base pays about the same, but teachers will get step increases for seniority and cost of living allowances. There has been an improved atmosphere in the past few years.

AS THIS IS written, Plymouth is awaiting the outcome of a second millage request. The outcome will help both sides settle the matter promptly—we hope.

Progress is being made in talks at Clarenceville (rarely a scene of battle), Bloomfield Hills (a mediator is there), Redford Union, Wayne-Westland and West Bloomfield.

If there are any trouble spots in the fall of '76, they could be South Redford, Garden City and Schoolcraft College.

There is strike talk in South Redford, although that may be only part of the maneuvering. SR was almost in the same position as Crestwood in 1974-75, but SR teachers went back to work when they saw the court settlement of the Crestwood firing case.

Garden City school officials describe their negotiations as at "an impasse." When the board revealed the union's economic demands, people attending the meeting threatened union president John Melchor. It may be significant that the Democratic Party, always sensitive to labor and teachers, last weekend nominated for the Michigan Supreme Court the same circuit judge who sent Melchor to jail in 1975 for defying a court order.

AT SCHOOLCRAFT College, the board told the Faculty Forum two years ago that productivity would be an issue this time around. The board appointed a task force on productivity, with faculty representation.

But the faculty is back at work without a new contract. And since schedules for this year are fairly solid, it may be impossible for them to bargain about productivity—days worked, hours worked, maximum and minimum class sizes or weighted work loads—in time to effect change this year.

The community college took a strike in 1970. Despite a board that is more liberal today, the scuttlebutt is that the faculty is more solid and unified than six years ago.

Despite the scuttlebutt, however, it stands to reason that all sides have learned a few things about economics and law since 1970.

Officials blasted

Editor:

Being a professional full-time police officer and a resident of Canton Township, I wish to express my disappointment—and that of fellow police officers residing in Canton Township—in Mr. Greenstein's decision to allow a part-time, uncertified police force to to take to the streets of Canton.

Canton's residents deserve more than what the Greenstein administration has to offer. Only a full-time, qualified, professional police department should be organized.

Citizens should remember that the word "reserve" or "auxiliary" is just what it implies: to supplement, additional.

Professional police officers are also deeply disturbed about Mr. Parsell's actions as an administrator in Canton and a director of a professional police association. Mr. Parsell can only be for one: police professionalism or police amateurism.

Esch and Riegle still look a lot alike

Tim Richard

I got a laugh at the Republican state convention Saturday when I saw U.S. Senate nominee Marvin Esch try to put as much distance as he could between himself and his Democratic opponent Donald Riegle, and to liken Riegle to New York's firebrand Bella Abzug.

I got another laugh on learning that Riegle, addressing the Democratic state convention, failed to mention Esch by name and told reporters he wouldn't during the campaign. Actually, he has mentioned his opponent in an earlier speech—"I don't want Marv Esch in the senate" were his exact words.

The truth is that there are far more similarities than differences between Esch and Riegle.

BOTH WERE elected to Congress in 1966, running on Republican Gov. George Romney's coattails and bumping off incumbent Democrats.

They got similar scores for years from the conservative Americans for Constitutional Action (ACA), which rates congressmen from zero (radic-lib) to 100 (true blue constitutionalist)

Esch and Riegle were consistently in the 30s and 40s on the ACA scale. One year, Esch was even three points to the left of Riegle, 43 to 46.

Both voted against Nixon administration policy on the Vietnam war. The difference was that Riegle made more noise about his nays, while Esch gave the surface appearance of a team player. Esch still freely breaks ranks with the GOP on overriding some of President Gerald Ford's vetoes.

Both are strong in the suburbs.

Neither is a lawyer, and neither cares for the lawyer-ish way Congress is run. Lawyers think in terms of adversary proceedings—two opposing sides. Lawyer-congressmen run committee meetings like courtrooms.

Esch, a former speech professor, prefers a synthesizing approach, where experts and staff start a round-table conversation, with congressmen joining in later. Riegle, one-time capital analyst for IBM, levels a brief but withering attack on legalistic adversary proceedings in the July 7 entry of his book "O Congress."

RIEGLE ALSO began a drumfire of attack on his own party before switching to the Democrats in 1973. Esch stuck with the GOP system.

Riegle's book makes the sly observation that "there are so many old men in Congress that we actually have a lot of emergency medical gear just to keep them alive. We have our own ambulance . . . In the cloakrooms, just out of sight of the galleries, we have stretchers and oxygen tanks. Doctors are always on duty whenever the house is in session."

I can't imagine Esch blurting out something like that publicly, although I suspect he believes it privately.

Both men are vigorous campaigners, though Esch uses his oratory more sparingly. Be it academic discussion or stump oratory, Esch and Riegle are two of the best wordsmiths Michigan has ever seen.

THE CHIEF DIFFERENCE may turn out to be this:

Riegle is a combative type, a fighter. His blood boils and he wants the senate to bubble.

Esch's most interesting comment Saturday is one most of the broadcast oafs missed: "He (Riegle) has been in Congress for nearly a decade now and still cannot point to a single bill of any consequence which he personally authored and got the congress to enact."

Esch claims authorship of the "only anti-busing legislation Congress has ever passed," authorship of the Education of the Handicapped Law, and prime authorship of the CETA jobs law.

Folks who are unhappy with traditional politics, the far left and the far right are going to be pleased no matter who wins that senate seat Nov. 2.

Who are the handicapped?

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) is going to the public for suggestions on how to administer a law affecting the rights of the handicapped.

"The federal Vocational Rehabilitation Act has already been passed so there's not much to argue about there. But HEW has been holding public hearings throughout the country to collect suggestions on how to carry out the law," says Davis Sanders, deputy director of HEW's Office of Civil Rights.

According to Sanders, the department has held 10 preliminary regional hearings and is now in the process of holding final hearings at 22 individual cities.

"We call this the comment period. We have to turn in a list of regulations for the act by Sept. 15, and these hearings will help us compile them," he says.

One of the cities chosen for a hearing was Detroit. The hearing was scheduled for Sept. 2, from 1-4 p.m. in the McGregor Memorial Building at Wayne State University. "We would like the general public, handicapped persons, agencies and school representatives to attend," Sanders says.

Sanders adds that the law will be explained and public comment invited at the hearing.

"The proposed regulations contain provisions that forbid schools from giving tests to classify children by ability without parental permission, requires schools to give a series of tests rather than just one test that may not have been intended to do what people want it to and redefines the term 'handicapped' to include people like drug addicts and alcoholics," he explains.

The law also strengthens requirements that public institutions provide areas of access for handicapped persons.

"Public reaction to our proposed regulations has been pretty good. The most concern has been displayed about cost and the definition of a handicapped person," Sanders says.

He adds that no money was appropriated by the congress to carry out the act, "and probably the reason people have objected to the law's definition of a handicapped person is because it is so broad."

Sanders continues. "Anyone who can't attend a hearing but would like more information or to make suggestions about regulations can write to us. We want as much public reaction as we can get."

The adress to write to is: Office of Public Affairs, HEW Office of Civil Rights, Rm. 3132, 330 SW Independance Ave., Washington, DC 20201.

Kavanagh gears for tough election

By TIM RICHARD

"That's difficult but not impossible." said Michigan Supreme Court Chief Justice Thomas G. Kavanagh when asked how he'll raise money for a campaign when he doesn't have a partisan nomination.

"Last time out I spent about $37,000, he said, adding that the Democratic Party and organized labor provided two-thirds to three-fourths of his 1968 campaign treasury. How he will raise campaign funds this year is still undecided.

Kavanagh, of Troy, spoke good-naturedly from his Detroit office Tuesday, two days after the Democratic state convention took the rare step of denying an officeholder renomination.

UNDER MICHIGAN law political parties nominate high court candidates who then run on a non-partisan ballot, but an incumbent supreme court justice also has the option of renominating himself by filing an affidavit.

Kavanagh has filed such an affidavit, but with party money and individual contributors backing convention nominee Roman S. Gribbs. Kavanagh may have a tough road to reelection.

Yet $37,000 or even $50,000 is not out of reach. A gubernatorial campaign costs $1 million, and a winning congressional campaign in a "swing" district takes $100,000 or more.

"My son, Thomas is acting as campaign manager," the chief justice said, "but I may have to get a full-time manager."

The court will not be hearing oral arguments until October, but there are administrative chores to be handled. That's what Kavanagh was doing in his Detroit office Tuesday.

Campaigning, he lamented, takes "much, much, much too much time. You're on it every few seconds at the same time you're trying to do your work."

TWO THINGS got Kavanagh, 59, in trouble with Michigan's majority party: His attitude towards campaigning and some of his judicial decisions.

"I do not think it seemly or appropriate for a sitting member of a collegial body to appear to support or oppose the candidacy of his colleagues" was the public statement which led Democrats to conclude Kavanagh wouldn't help other Democratic supreme court candidates.

"As long as I've been on the court, I've told anybody who wanted to listen, for as long as they've wanted to listen, that I believe this," he said.

"Almost all of my colleagues agree with that."

It's true. For example, Justice James Ryan, a Republican appointee and now a nominee for the high court, has declared he will run on his record, not against any other candidate. The GOP accepted Ryan's stance.

KAVANAGH ADMITTED getting some party criticism for his court votes:

"Doug Fraser (UAW vice-president) said he couldn't agree with my stand on apportionment. The teachers were unhappy with my position in the Crestwood case, where I signed the majority opinion which held the school board could fire teachers . . .

"I told the teachers I didn't like the law, but that is the law. They seemed to be satisfied, and they endorsed me."

Former Oakland County Prosecutor Thomas Plunkett, placing Kavanagh's name in nomination before the convention, declared: "Lawyers concerned with economic rights and justice will tell you Chief Justice Kavanagh is a progressive vote . . . He's been a Democrat all his life as was his grandfather and father before him."

BUT GRIBBS, now a Wayne County circuit judge and best known to the public as the former mayor of Detroit, easily won the nomination, 2,068 to 905.

Locally, only Kavanagh's home congressional district, the 18th, supported him, 92-91.

The 2nd (including Livonia and Plymouth) backed Gribbs 87-69. The 12th (eastern Rochester, Macomb County) backed Gribbs 130-27. The 15th (Garden City, Westland, Canton) was for Gribbs 133-21. And the 19th (western Oakland County) backed Gribbs 120-21.

U.S. REP. Lucien Nedzi (D-Detroit) placed Gribbs' name in nomination, calling him "an adornment to the good reputation of the Democratic Party . . . a man who does not strike the posture of being above the dust of battle."

Gribbs told the convention he would run for the high court "with the same pride" with which he was "a Democratic precinct delegate, a Democratic precinct captain, a board member of the 17th District, a member of the Century Club, a member of the 500 Club and the nominee of the Democratic Party for sheriff of Wayne County."

OF THE PARTY nomination process, Kavanagh said, "I'm confident there's a better way."

He had no suggestion on what that way might be except to say, "I've been giving it a lot of thought for a long time. We should experiment a little—don't get locked into one system for a thousand years."

How will he campaign? "You've put your finger on the difficulty," he said. "A judge can't go around making promises on cases he has yet to hear. I can only say I'll give each case my best attention, my best judgment."

And with that, the independent Kavanagh began his uphill fight for reelection against Democratic nominee Gribbs and Republican nominee Joseph P. Swallow.

JUSTICE T.G. KAVANAGH

Geake starts campaign early

State Rep. R. Robert Geake, although unopposed in the Aug. 3 Republican primary in the 35th House District, took no chances. He spent $665 and collected $675, according to an expense form filed with the Wayne County election office.

Jerome Harris, of Livonia, unopposed in the Democratic primary, spent $479 and had no contributions.

Geake of Northville listed five contributions of $100 each from the Michigan Doctors Political Action Committee, Dentistry Investing in Action on Legislation, the Michigan Psychologists Political Action Committee and two Lansing men listed only as W.H. Kouts and R.E. Clark.

The district generally includes Northville and the portion of Livonia north of Six Mile and east of Farmington roads.

Four-footed foundlings find Wanda Nash

By DANA FELMLY

Wanda Nash is an animal lover. It's just as well, since she lives in a household where pets outnumber kids, 4-3.

Make that 5-3 since the roster in the Nash family's Plymouth home currently includes a foster feline, 6-month-old Carlton.

Mrs. Nash has proved her devotion by means other than adoption, namely, by getting involved in the work of animal centers, first in Calhoun County and now in nearby Northville.

Before she and her husband Jim brought their family to Plymouth last winter, they lived in Marshall. She was active in the Calhoun Animal Center program, doing such things as selling pencils for a spaying program and helping bring the first cat vaccine to the county.

SO, AFTER THE move, the search for another group of concerned animal lovers brought her to the Northville Animal Aid society. She now is serving as its vice-president.

The society was organized by Ron Bodner, editor of the weekly Northville Broadsider, to aid stray animals.

Its members have as their primary goal the providing of foster homes for stray animals until they can be placed in good permanent homes. This is done through personal contact and newspaper ads.

The emphasis, Mrs. Nash said, is on finding a home for the animal rather than waiting a short time then "putting it to sleep."

That feature makes this group special, she thinks, "because it leaves no room for destruction."

The society, she added, also works with veterinarians to place stray dogs and cats brought to them.

"That gives us a chance to work with the vets as well as others interested in animals," Mrs. Nash said. "We've all got to work together."

WHEN SHE'S not busy with her duties as an officer of the NAA, Mrs. Nash usually is occupied with her three children—Dusty, 7; Wendy, 6, and Aaron, 3—three cats, Cryin Sharlie, Bluberry and Gypsy—and one dog, Bear.

Add, of course, husband Jim, who puts up with the menagerie and is liberated enough to give his wife a day off each week to do what she wants. She said she found herself spending that new free time caring for strays.

What does her husband think of all the boarders?

"Oh, Jim grew up on a farm—he's used to them," said Mrs. Nash. She spent her early years in Kalamazoo, in quarters too small for any pets.

WHEN WANDA and Jim were first married, they adopted a stray long-hair cat they named Cryin Sharlie, a feline version of Bill Cosby's Cryin Charlie. Next came Sharlie's kitten Bluberry, and then a calico cat Gypsy.

Mrs. Nash met Bear, their Irish setter, at the Battle Creek animal shelter.

"When Jim held him in his arms, I knew we had a dog," she laughed.

The only real problem she's found yet in having a houseful of pets came on the occasion when she was entertaining for bridge and found out two guests were allergic to cats.

Since then, guests are checked out before they venture into the house.

On the other hand, she feels that having many pets has helped her children respect animals and teach their friends how to treat them.

"Just the other day," she said, "I heard Dusty telling his friend not to step on Bear's tail. I hope they'll all grow up with the kind of respect for animals that is badly needed today."

And growing fast

Local Social Security office one year old

Adele Durnell of Livonia, service representative for the local social security office, talks to a couple of clients. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

By CAROLINE PRICE

It will be a long time before Livonia's Social Security office is as old as many of the people it serves.

The office is now celebrating its first birthday, and it has doubled in size since it opened Sept. 2, 1975 with a staff of eight. "The office was designed for a staff of 16, and we're already there," said Charles Anderson, manager.

"Our growth," he added, "is probably due to the convenience of the location (on Middle Belt north of Five Mile), ease of parking and the fact that everybody figured that we wouldn't be busy."

But the office is busy. According to Anderson, the office takes in an average of more than 300 claims per month and about $3.5 million in social security benefits go to over 18,000 persons in Livonia, Plymouth, Northville and Canton.

"The office has a staff trained to help the public apply for social security retirement, survivors, disability and Medicare benefits as well as Supplemental Security Income claims for the aged, blind and disabled individuals with limited income and assets," he added.

ANDERSON SAID Supplemental Security Income, which is based on need, gives the staff the most trouble. "People move; have a change in income or living arrangements and don't report to us. We have redeterminations each year for the clients and find the change caused us to overpay them. That's the hardest thing, getting people to report to us."

Although the manager says most of the overpayments are not deliberate on the client's part, they are responsible for repaying the administration if they are able to. "Many of the problems come from cases where clients at another office were converted to ours," he said.

THE OFFICE has had cases of attempted fraud, although many are more pathetic than criminal.

Josephine Jackson, a field service representative, told of a case where a mentally unbalanced woman filed two applications with only the last name different. She had the same birth date and address on both applications.

"When I went to see the lady, she would wear a wig and say she was one of the women, and that the other applicant was out," she related. But if I came back to see the other applicant, the woman would come to the door without the wig and tell me the other one was out.

"The woman even went to two different doctors."

"Another problem we have is not fraud, but it is even more confusing. Sometimes applicants have names, addresses, and birth dates exactly the same," Anderson continues.

"Once, when I was working at the Detroit office, we had a case where a institutionalized man and a deceased man whose wife was applying for survivor's benefits had identical applications.

"Their names were the same, they were both born in Poland, and both of their mothers and fathers had identical names.

"It was very confusing."

ANDERSON POINTED OUT that the office has client who come nowhere close to retirement age. "We've issued social security cards for newborn infants who had bank accounts established for them, and pay out survivor's benefits to children," he said.

"In fact one of our programs is at the Plymouth House of Correction for inmates with parents receiving benefits. The inmates can get either a high school or vocational degree by taking classes at the institution. The classes are sponsored by Plymouth High School and Schoolcraft College.

"As long as the inmate is under 21, a full-time student and eligible for benefits we will pay them."

ANDERSON EXPECTS to see the office grow even more during the next year. "The population of older people in our area is increasing, and more senior citizens' homes are being built," he said. "I guess we'll just have to push our desks closer together."

People who get disgruntled about the forms and procedure necessary to obtaining benefits should remember that "We're going to be paying them thousands of dollars over the coming years.

"They would go through more to buy a house."

Ms. Jackson agreed, "They call it red tape in government, but in private business it's called a system."

Livonia, Northville town hall series begin soon

The annual love affair with the celebrity begins anew next month as Livonia and Northville Town Halls launch new seasons.

The Livonia Town Hall will kick off Oct. 20 with the renowned news commentator and traveler, Lowell Thomas.

Oscar winning musician Marvin Hamlisch will inaugurate the Northville Town Hall Thursday, Oct. 14.

Other speakers for the Livonia series are author Barbara Howar, who will speak on Nov. 17; psychologist Sonya Friedman talking Jan. 19 and photographer Phillipe Halsman appearing March 16.

The talks will be given at 10:30 a.m. in the Mai Kai Theater, Farmington and Plymouth, Livonia.

Computer expert Robert Farr will be behind the rostrom Nov. 11 for the Northville series. Humorist Mary McBride will speak March 10 and comedian Peter Lind Hayes on April 7. Lectures start at 11 a.m. in the Plymouth Hilton Inn, 14707 Northville Road, Plymouth.

The purpose of each series is fund-raising. The Livonia Town Hall uses its proceeds to support the international scholarship program of American Field Service.

In the case of the Northville Town Hall, half the proceeds go to Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Northville, and the rest is divided among charities in Northville, Plymouth, Livonia, Farmington, Novi and South Lyon.

THE NAME Lowell Thomas has been a household word in this country for most of the 44 years since Livonia's first guest speaker started radio broadcasting.

Author of 52 books on exploration and adventure-biography, Thomas has circumnavigated the globe and visited both poles several times.

Barbara Howar's book, "Laughing All the Way," is sharply critical of the Washington she knew well as a member of the Lyndon Johnson staff.

This book was recently followed by "Making Ends Meet." She is said to have shocked, amused, outraged and hobnobbed with every level of power, social and political.

Sonya Friedman is resident psychiatrist and wit of the Detroit area, who has frequently appeared on TV. She earned a Ph.D from Wayne State University, has a private practice and is consulting psychologist for the Rochester Community Schools.

She has written "I've Had It, You've Had It."

Logistics—the science of knowing who has to be where, when and how—is one we deal with on a continuing basis.

But in the last couple of weeks the problem has really taken over our lives.

CONSIDER, as comings and goings:

Two high school daughters of the family, heading for a week of marching band camp, with one of them playing a major role in arrangements for about 50 other people to get to marching band camp.

One head of the household, taking off on a rare business trip to the east coast.

And one college graduate, topping us all for travel. She returned from a camping jaunt to the west, cleaned out her university town apartment and sandwiched in a trip home to see her family.

Then she went west again, this time by plane, for a job interview. Getting the job, she traveled around town to find a place to live, and then returned home for a short week of work-training, sorting, packing and car-hunting.

In between all this, she's been been busy telling us all about the city where she'll live, the newspaper she'll work for and the people she'll work with.

And she has to keep taking time out to explain to others outside the family that yes, she likes cold weather, and she's sure she'll manage just fine in North Dakota.

MEANWHILE, I get my share of logistics work. The trip to the high school to deliver the younger girls was short, but in the past fortnight it's been three times to the airport, twice to the university town and a lot of milage in and out of used car dealerships as we hunt for wheels to roll westward.

And those of us at home struggle mightily with the logistics of suitcases, boxes and bags, located all over our house while our new journalist decided what goes and when and what stays.

Things are bound to settle down before long, I keep telling myself. Wonder if I'll know how to act then.

No gimmick

They washed cars for free

By MARGARET MILLER

Driving his van out Farmington Road, Jim Capen of Livonia was amazed to see a sign that read "Free Car Wash" as he approached the corner of Six Mile and Ward United Presbyterian Church.

He didn't believe it and drove on, then turned around a block and returned to find a line of cars in the church parking lot and a bunch of kids armed with hoses, pails, detergent and rags—even a couple of vacuum cleaners.

"I had a blind date and that van was really dirty," said Capen as he watched the teen-agers degrime it.

"I figured there would be a donation, but it would be worth it. But they wouldn't even let me give them anything.

"That's really something—a free car wash. And the van's never been so clean."

INSTEAD OF ACCEPTING money, the junior and senior high school members of the Ward Youth Group had a little slip of paper to give their customers.

Its message explained the young people were offering to wash cars that day because of "the simple fact that Jesus Christ changed our lives and we don't want to just say we are Christian but we want to show it with action."

Ward youth leader Terry Prisk explained a bit more as he directed the teams of kids who converged on the cars driving in.

"We've talked in our youth group meetings about how we could best show what Christ means in our lives," he said.

"Some kind of a service project seemed to be the answer, and we started thinking about a car wash. Then we decided 'We've talked about it; let's do it.'"

ABOUT 100 young people, most of them youth group members, participated in the project, Prisk said. They worked in hour-long shifts for the six hours of the project, "but a lot of them took more than one shift," he added.

Each car got a thorough cleaning, from dusting and vacuuming the interior to a thorough drying at the end of the line.

Many motorists shook their heads in disbelief as teens waved signs and shouted at the entrance to the parking lot but many drove in.

"A lot of them were vans—the kind you can't get into car washes," Prisk said. "They were the ones especially appreciative."

"We meet for Bible study Wednesday nights," said Lisa Anderson of Redford Township, "and we just decided we wanted our study to lead us to something that would help the community.

"Besides, this is a lot of fun. We may get more water on us than the cars, but when you see one come through the line good and clean, you really feel you've accomplished something."

ONE SATISFIED customer mailed a check to the church the next day since the young people refused his offer of a donation.

"The young people were very kind and sincere in their devotion to something greater than self," wrote John Webber in an attached note.

"Their attitude was most refreshing."

Church Bulletin

BETHANY BAPTIST CHURCH, 34541 Five Mile, Livonia, will resume its weekly Thursday Bible Study Class at 10 a.m. Sept. 9.

The continuing study, begun two years ago and led by Dr. Bert Kreller, pastor, will begin in the book of Judges.

The class is non-denominational and open to all.

NEWBURG UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia, will hold its annual chicken barbeque and corn roast, sponsored by the church men's club, from noon to 5 p.m. Sept. 12.

Tickets are $2.75 for adults and $1.25 for children.

Medical ethics, death topics for OLS courses

The mystery of death and medical ethics will comprise two new courses this fall at St. Mary's College, Orchard Lake.

"Issues in Medical Ethics" will run every Thursday 3:30-5:20 p.m. starting Sept. 2 at the College, Orchard Lake and Commerce Roads in West Bloomfield Township northwest of Detroit.

"Death and Dying in the 70's" will be offered every Thursday 8-10 p.m. for six weeks beginning Sept. 23.

For registration information, contact the College's director of continuing education, 682-1885.

The Rev. Anthony Kosnik and Carl L. Middleton, Jr., both faculty members of SS. Cyril and Methodius Seminary, also at Orchard Lake, will teach the medical ethics course. Middleton will handle the other course himself.

Fr. Kosnik, dean of the seminary, is a nationally renowned theologian who is a member of numerous local and national theological commissions.

Middleton has lectured extensively in the United States on medical-moral issues. He serves on the medical-moral task force for the corporation of St. Joseph Hospitals in the Detroit area.

The medical ethics course will explore the various systems of medical-ethical decision making, the Christian vision of humankind and its impact on morality today.

According to Fr. Kosnik, the course will give the "Christian approach" to decision making in such issues as contraception, sterilization, abortion, genetic counseling, genetic manipulation, euthanasia, organ transplantation and human experimentation.

The "death and dying" course will delve into the clinical, legal, psychological, and theological perspectives.

A psychological analysis of dying and grieving, a reflection on death, and how-to's for communicating and ministering to dying persons will be some of the areas covered in the course.

St. Mary's College is one of the three academic institutions which comprise the Orchard Lake Schools, the others being SS. Cyril and Methodius Seminary and St. Mary's Preparatory.

Celebrities join telethon

Joining Jerry Lewis and over 100 national stars slated to appear on the 11th annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon for Muscular Dystrophy will be Detroit-area personalities from TV, radio, sports, the press and civic life.

The telethon will originate live from Del Webb's Hotel Sahara in Las Vegas and will be broadcast locally by WJBK-TV, Channel 2, starting at 9 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 5, and continuing non-stop until 6:30 p.m. Monday Sept. 6.

In Las Vegas, Jerry and his anchorman Ed McMahon wil be introducing Charlton Heston, Gregory Peck, Debbie Reynolds, Donald O'Connor, Kirk Douglas, Julie Harris, Tony Bennett, Carol Burnett, Glenn Ford, David Hartman, Gena Rowlands and John Cassavettes.

These stars join a celebrity roster headed by Frank Sinatra, who will stage three "mini-specials" with Jerry, and includes such names as Marvin Hamlisch, Joey Heatherton, Mary Tyler Moore, Donny and Marie Osmond, James Franciscus, Vikki Carr, Virginia Capers, Florence Henderson, Tony Martin, Cyd Charisse, Estelle Parsons, O.C. Smith, Lola Falana, Sally Struthers, Lloyd Bridges, Bobbie Gentry and Lainie Kazan.

Also scheduled to appear are the casts of "Bubbling Brown Sugar," "Chicago," "Guys and Dolls" and "My Fair Lady," who will perform musical numbers from the current hit shows.

FOR 15 MINUTES each hour, WJBK-TV will "break away" from the show to feature local celebrities, labor and civic leaders and dystrophy youngsters in their Southfield studios.

The local segments will be hosted by Joe Glover, who will stay wih the telethon all 21½ hours, assisted at various times by Robbie Timmons, Vic Caputo, Jerry Hodak, Ray Lane, Beverly Payne and other TV-2 personalites.

Also scheduled for personal appearances as "guest hosts" are Bill Bonds, Don Haney, Jack McCarthy, Sonny Eliot, Dave Whitman, Sande Drew, Doug Morison, Lou and Jackie Gordon, Dick Purtan, Deano Day, Bob Hynes and astrologer Cleo Aubin.

Additional local celebrities, who will read pledges and introduce contributors, include Marilyn Turner, John Kelly, Bob Allison, Jimmy Launce, Tom Dean, Dave Diles, Jerry Chiapetta, Hugh Copland, Jerry Whitman, Bob Charlton, Ron Rose, Tom Jeffries, "Miss Detroit" Catherine Canu, columnists Chuck Thurston and Jackie Kallen and Red Wing Eddie Jiacomin.

Special guest appearances by Mark "The Bird" Fidrych and national singing star Frankie Valli have also been slated for the Detroit segments.

CKLW radio personality "Super Max" Kinkle will again serve as the tireless "toteboard tout" for the entire production. The toteboard, showing minute-by-minute totals of telethon pledges, is featured constantly throughout the local breaks.

IN ADDITION to the studio portions of the telethon, WJBK-TV will also have cameras in front of the station, where residents will be depositing telethon contributions into two giant fishbowls beetween 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Labor Day. Hosting the fishbowls will be Bozo the Clown, Mr Whoodini, Sir Graves Ghastley, the Hot Fudge group, and the Banana Splits.

During Channel 2's hourly breakaways from the Las Vegas show, other celebrities will join contributors and models in answering phones "on camera". Also, more than 3,000 volunteers will answer phones for dystrophy at special phone centers located in the Northland, Eastland, Westland-Dearborn, Mt. Clemens, Pontiac and Detroit Areas.

The telethon raised $18,868,499 nationally and $1,136,480 locally last year. Proceeds from the telethon provide diagnosis, clinic treatment, therapy, wheelchairs, braces and other services free of charge to dystrophy patients. Funds raised also support vital research into muscular dystrophy which is as yet incurable.

Mercy plans religion studies

The religious studies department at Mercy College of Detroit is offering a broad spectrum of theological courses this fall.

Bishop Thomas Gumbleton will lecture on "Liberty and Justice" 7-9:30 p.m. Thursday evenings, focusing on local, national and international issues.

George Alscer will hold two sessions on the "Reality of God." One class will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2:30 p.m. and another on Mondays from 7-9:30 p.m.

Registration for all classes including allied health, law enforcement and all areas of liberal arts is now open with the final week of registration scheduled from Monday, Aug. 30 to Friday, Sept. 3.

Marygrove begins co-op education

A new educational option will be available to Detroit area students at Marygrove College this fall. Dr. Raymond A. Fleck, president of the college, has announced that a grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare will enable Marygove to initiate cooperative education in September.

In making this announcement, Dr. Fleck said. "We expect that with co-operative education at Marygrove we can develop better linkage between educational programs and the requirements of business and government."

Under this new option, Marygrove students will attend school full time for four months and work in related jobs for four months, alternately. It is possible for a co-op student to complete work for a bachelor's degree in less than five years.

The cooperative education system enables students to explore career opportunities in their field while building valuable work experience. It will also given them an opportunity to make a real contribution to their community while they earn money for their education.

It its first phase, the co-op option will be open to students in the urban studies program, which combines economics, history, political science and sociology. It is ideal for people interested in social issues or community service who are looking for direction in channeling that interest into a career.

Students will be placed in consumer education, research, town management, and community service agencies.

By fall, 1977, this cooperative arrangement between Marygrove College and the southeastern Michigan business and civic community will be open to students in business, science, human ecology and other social science areas.

Interested people are urged to apply now for the limited fall openings. For information cantact Chris Russell, Admissions Office, Marygrove College, 8425 W. McNichols, Detroit 48221, or phone 862-8000.

Rock cagers eye 2d title

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

The Plymouth Salem girls' basketball team begins its defense of the Suburban Eight League crown it won last year with three returning starters. But it will also have to overcome the loss of eight players that would have been valuable bench strength.

Last vear's Rocks finished with a perfect 12-0 season in league play along with a 13-3 record overall. The only senior starter lost from last season's squad is Linda Agardy who was voted the team's most valuable defensive player. Another starter lost is Carol Crissey who was counted on as a starting guard this season but transfered to Ladywood High School in Livonia.

Other seniors lost to graduation were captain Dorothy Spitz and Ann Schwaller, both members of last year's bench. Cheri Levielle, Laurie Jacobson, Bobbie Davis, Laurie Szabla and Cindy Richards were other members counted on to play this season.

The loss of these girls leaves only six players returning from the varsity squad, but three of them are starters. The only senior expected in the starting lineup is Peg Moore who was the squad's leading rebounder and scorer in 1975.

"She has great desire for a rebound and gets them," said Rock coach Debbie Hatcher. "She is a strong leader and an emotional spark to the team."

KATHY DILLON, last year's most valuable player, is returning for her junior year and is expected to be the squad's floor leader. According to Hatcher, Dillon is the best all-around player on the squad with the skill of rebounding as well as scoring from her outside position.

"She has by far the coolest head on the court," Hatcher said.

Another starter returning is sophomore Diane Goodrich, who as a freshman last season gained valuble varsity experience. Goodrich's strong point is offense where Hatcher is expected to use the five-foot nine-inch center the most. "Offensively, Diane is our best inside tool," the Rock coach said. "She has matured a lot over the past season."

Another varsity returner who has a good chance of breaking into the starting five this season is junior Donna Goodrich, sister of sophomore Diane. "She was the only player who shined in the Mercy game last year," Hatcher said. Mercy High was the squad that defeated the Rocks last season in the district opener. "She has shown steady improvement all season long."

Another junior expected to a see action is five-foot nine-inch Patrice Cunningham who is an aggressive rebounder on the defensive boards. Sophomore Erin Moore is the other varsity returner who has been impressive as an offensive forward.

OTHER VARSITY PLAYERS who played junior varsity ball last season are Debbie Pitera and Brenda Davis. Both are seen as as active varsity members.

Moore and Dillon are both first team Sub Eight players and Diane Goodrich was a third-team member.

Hatcher sees this year's squad as a small, quick and aggressive group of players all battling each week for the starting positions.

"It would be nice to have a six-foot-two superstar but it's not good for our team concept," she said.

"Our philosophy is perfect for this kind of team. I like to see balanced scoring and aggressive play with everyone on the court. The high school experience is the best place for the team concept—beyond that it's the dedication of the girls to work and cooperate with others to be successful athletes.

"We play pressure man-to-man defense and the girls like it. That's the way I believe we are going to win and the girls think so too."

The big question mark Hatcher sees in this year's squad is the limited varsity experience on the bench, but she said she is prepared for this through the conditioning drills she gives her squad each day.

"A lot of games we won last year were in the fourth quarter because the other teams got tired and we didn't."

Hatcher sees the Suburban Eight League the same as last year with Trenton and Redford Union being the Rocks' toughest competition for the title. Last season, Redford Union beat every squad in the league except Salem.

Canton sparked by hustle

A great turnout of more than 30 girls has highlighted the Plymouth Canton High School girls' basketball program coached by Mike McCauley.

This is only the third senior varsity season Canton has had in this sport and McCauley has seen improvement every season. Last year, the Chiefs finished with an overall record of 14-5, includingg a district final appearance in Farmington which saw the team lose the championship to Mercy High. The Chiefs finished second in the Western Six League to a tough Walled Lake Western squad which should prove to be the toughest competition again this year.

THE MOST IMPRESSIVE aspect of the Chiefs this season is that they lose only one senior starter and two seniors overall from last year's winning squad. Six of the present 10 varsity players were on the varsity last year.

Cindy Kreig will be the squad's biggest loss. She was the team leader last year and the high scorer. She is attending Michigan State University and has a possibility of playing for the Spartans.

Carolyn Rumberger, who was important bench strength, is the other senior lost to graduation. She will play basketball at Grand Valley.

Added experience from the returning players will be an asset to the Chiefs this season. Six of the varsity members attended camps and clinics over the summer to improve on their basketball skills for the fall.

Ellen Doran is a returning senior who was a varsity starter last year. She is an excellent scorer and aggressive player. Kim Zoladz is the other Canton High senior who returns to the varsity.

Only two juniors, Kathy Sochacki and Sue Rekuc, come back to the varsity. Sochacki was a starter last season as a sophomore.

A solid core of sophomores could be the key to success for the Canton season. Center Evie Pasek and Kathy Peck head the list. Both Pasek and Peck were starters as freshmen last season. Other varsity members who will play as sophomores are Kelly Heaton, Melinda Burns, Laura Butler and Dawn Melek.

McCauley sees each of these girls as having the opportunity to play during the season.

"We have more depth and more talent than last year," McCauley said. "We are going to try to have the girls compete against each other. We are big believers in everyone playing. The girls get along well with each other this year and it makes for healthy competition."

DESPITE THE ADDED depth, McCauley's philosophy toward playing remains the same because of the kind of team he has.

"We are looking for a better season but we are going to have to hustle, show spirit and handle the ball well. We are small and we are going to have to pressure the opponent."

The main weakness of this year's Chiefs is their rebounding ability. Because of the lack of height, Canton will have to battle for every rebound.

McCauley says there are still five open spots on the varsity squad and he would like to see more girls out for the team. Practice is in the morning at the Salem High gym. A no-cut policy of all the girls who try-out is a goal of McCauley's so all interested girls will get a chance to learn.

Young netters learn

Although Canton Coach Cyndi Burnstein has some returning players, a host of new and inexperienced netters have hurt the Chiefs' chances for this season.

"We are in better shape than last season and show much improvement, but we just have a lot of inexperienced players that are just learning the game," Burnstein said.

"If we keep the ninth graders, we will be fine in a couple of years."

Only three girls are lost from last year's squad which finished in fifth place in the Western-Six League race. The biggest loss to the Chiefs is Jan Haarer who has graduated from her first singles position of a year ago. She was the second seed in last year's Western-6 meet and will attend Eastern Michigan University this fall.

Other losses are the second doubles team of Kathy McEmeel and Carolyn Schmidt, both of whom also graduated.

Mary Riffe, a junior who played second singles last season, is the Chiefs' best and most experienced player. She more than likely will play first singles this season. Riffe has been active with many tennis lessons through the recreation department over the past three summers.

Other singles players that will more up in position are Teresa Washbu:.. and Connie Freeh, both of whom played singles last season.

THE FIRST DOUBLES combination of seniors Glenda Carney and Laurie Hinkley are back this year and have been working hard over the summer. Another returning doubles player is sophomore Sue Van Gilder.

New players include junior Chris Stylanou, sophomore Sue Kidston and freshmen Claudia Williams, Pam Drayton, Maria Schembri, Kathy Kidston, Janet Roberts and Debbie Beasley. All these girls are in their first season of action, and surprisingly all come from East Middle School.

One of the main problems in building a program is getting enough players who are interested. Burnstein reminds all Canton girls, grades 9-12, interested in playing tennis to come to practice in the morning before school starts or after school starting Monday, Sept. 13, at the Centennial Park courts.

Claudia Williams (left, foreground), Pam Drayton, two freshmen on the Canton High girls' tennis team, watch the action on the court with their other teammates as they learn new skills for the upcoming season. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Salem netter lose 8 seniors

The loss of many key seniors could hurt the chances of the Salem girls tennis teeam of repeating as Suburban Eight League champions, but a host of young, experienced new members could fill the empty gaps.

Last season, the Rocks, coached by Jan Lawson, lost only one Sub-8 dual meet, but won the all-important league meet which gained the Rocks a tie for the crown with Trenton.

Missing from last year's squad are the No. 1 and 2 singles players, Ceci Warwick and Karen Cook, both of whom finished first and second in league play. In regional play, this outstanding duo combined to win the doubles competition before falling in the state meet.

Also lost from the 1975 championship team is the first doubles combination of Suzanne Hartnett and Laura Hastings. Half of the second doubles team is missing, with Cheryl Kordick graduating along with the third doubles squad of Barb Yockey and Kathy Ulbrich. Fourth singles Ann Sulkowski also graduated.

DESPITE THE LOSS of so many key girls, Lawson remains optimistic with the addition of new girls that have had some tennis experience in the past.

"Many of these girls have been involved in summer recreation programs and tournaments," Lawson said. "They are good players but are inexperienced with league play.

"There is a different kind of pressure in a dual meet than in tournament play. That's why we like girls playing exhibition matches before and during the season."

Becky Crespo, who played third singles last season as a freshman, will move to the first position this year. She was the league's best freshman player in 1975.

Courtney Warwick, sister of Ceci, looks like the second singles player despite only being a freshman. She is one of the new girls with previous experience.

Nancy Grotz, a returning senior who played doubles, may fit into Lawson's plan as a single or doubles player this season. The 11th player on last year's squad, Lynne Stone, will also be an asset either way.

Other seniors which saw limited action last season, but could prove as valuable experienced players, are Kathy Lehmann (singles) and the combinations of Laureen Chatterley and Laurene Kirchoff along with Jane McHarris and Janice McQueen as doubles players.

The most promising of all the doubles combinations sees Tamie Crespo, Becky's older sister who swam last year, and Stone combining with much success. Clarise Hartnett and Diane Miller, both first-season players, are another strong combination for doubles.

Terri Lomax and Cindy Cindrich, plus Wendy Webb and Kathy Weber, are younger players that also show promise.

A host of freshmen that will play many exhibition matches this season include Meg McGee, Laura Tod, Janet Mielke and Meg Stocker.

"BE'VE GOT SOME depth this season," Lawson said. "Doubles is as important as singles in team competition, and we're apt to get many points because we will have strong players competing in second and third doubles."

The Rocks' main competition this season will once again be Trenton, who never stops coming up with good talent each season.

Lawson reminds all interested girls who still desire to play on the squad to come to practice every morning at 9 a.m. at the Centennial Park courts, or after school starting Monday, Sept. 13. Lawson has been helped with the coaching duties by Beth Redmond, a 1975 graduate of Salem High, who is attending Eastern Michigan University.

New coaches show interest

Winning isn't the only thing when it comes to high school athletics. A major part of what sports offers to a teenager is the chance to get involved is something that he or she likes.

That's the philosophy the new Plymouth Canton High cross-country coaches have.

Mike Spitz and Dick Goepp, both former graduate of Plymouth High School and former members of the track and cross-country teams, have taken on the duties of rebuilding the Canton High program with enthusiam and desire.

"We could talk about running all day," said Goepp. "These kids all show potential and in two years they will be good. The key for us is the future."

"We are looking forward to this season to build a good and consistent program for the kids," Spitz said. "If the interest is there, the kids deserve a chance."

"We're starting low-keyed and work from there," Goepp added. "Our goal is to keep the kids in shape. We want to have consistent training through September so the mental attitude is right when the heavy schedule starts in October."

Both coaches were hired by athletic directer John Sandmann after the postition was posted to teachers in the district and no one responded. Sandmann said both coaches were qualified to do the job and had all the confidence in them.

While the future for both men remains in doubt when is comes to building a program at Canton High, their enthusiasm continues at a rapid rate.

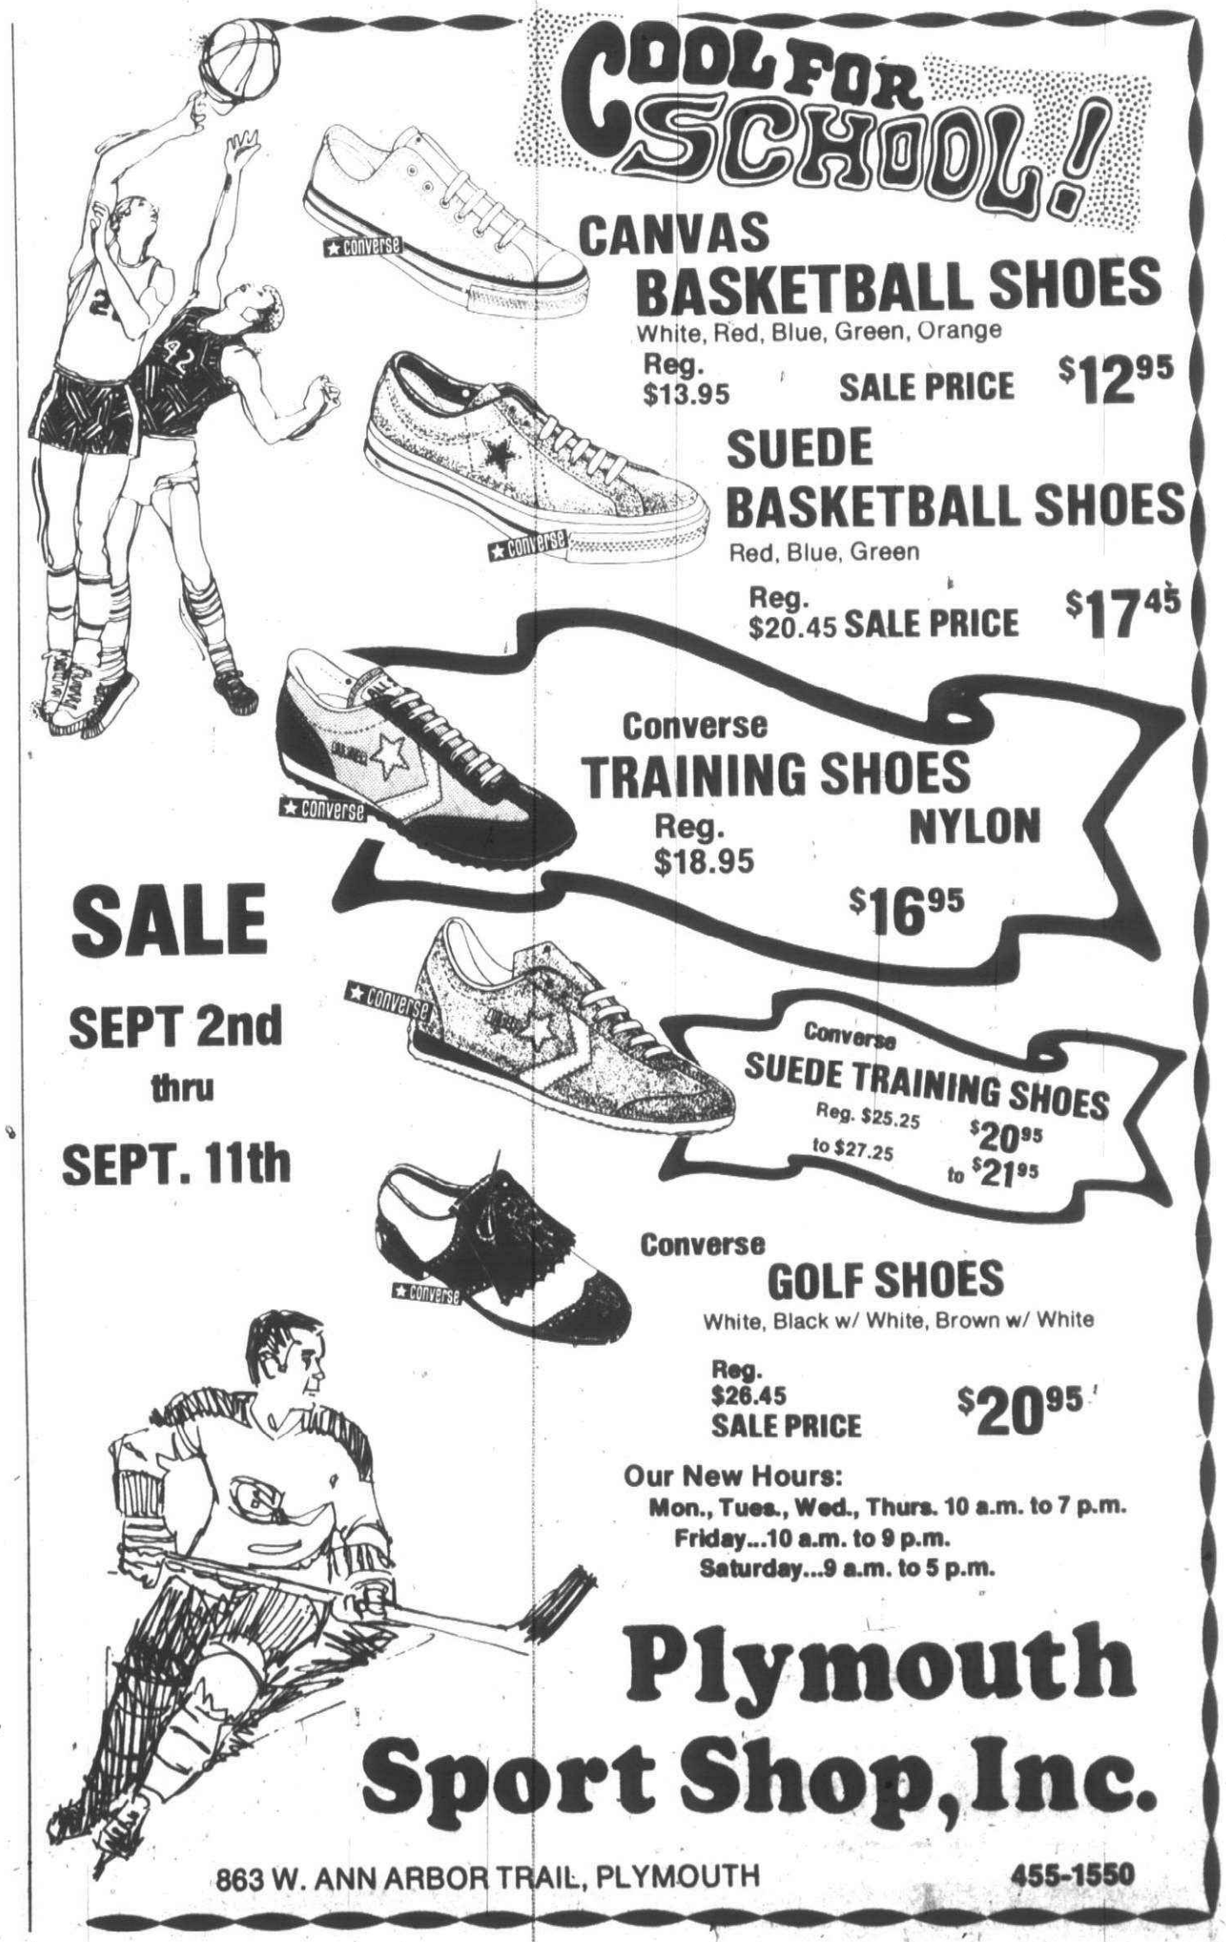
THE ONLY VARSITY senior lost to the team because of graduation is Brian Bennett who was among the top runners in the Western-Six League last season.

Only two seniors, Bill Murphy and Al Sampson, return to the squad this season. Murphy is presently one of the top runners on the team.

Two young runner, participating for the first time, are sophomore Rich Fleischer and freshman Dan McGlinn, who both show great potential for this season. "They (Fleischer and McGlinn) are inexperienced but they are going to be good," said Goepp. "They have a lot of potential and they are eager to do good. Their attitutes are great and were excited about it."

Junior Dennis Henels is another first year runner who trained a lot over the summer.

Among the freshmen fighting for a varsity position are Brain Olk, Dave Spitz, Larry Morin and Ray Blaszak. These boys participated in middle school track last season.



Area coaches asked to help

The Observer & Eccentric sports section is planning to run statistics ofthe top athletes in Observerland this fall.

To accomplish this, the O&E is asking for the cooperation of coaches in the area who are interested in gathering the information necessary to give all the communities an idea of how their athletes compare with others.

The O&E is hoping to publish the best girls swim and boys cross-country times, the top rushers and passers in football, and the leading scorers in girls basketball each Thursday.

Any coach interested in helping provide this information may contact Dennis O'Connor at 459-2700 or 261-8606 for further details.

Jr. baseball sets meeting for board

The monthly board meeting for the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League has been set for 7:30 p.m., Sept. 9, in Plymouth Canton High School, Room 128.

At this meeting, the agenda will focus on nominations of an operating board for the 1977 season. Any adult interested in participating on next year's board is welcome to attend. Parent involvement is strongly urged.

The Junior Baseball League wishes to remind all citizens that limited knowledge of baseball doesn't prevent board participation. Any help is wanted. The general election for officers and board participants is scheduled for Oct.7.

Seeking members

Beverly Whitbeck, a Livonian who assists state veterinarian Dr. Sylvester Graff at Detroit Race Course, is looking for new members to join her 4-H Saddletramps Club.

A meeting has been set at 7 p.m. Sept. 9 at the Buchanan Elementary School, 16400 Hubbard, in Livonia. New members 8-18 years of age and their parents are invited to attend.

Ms. Whitbeck may be reached after 7 p.m. at 464-3065 for more details.

Goodrich prepares to pass

Salem golfers given tryout

Bob Waters, Plymouth Salem's boys golf coach, invites all golfers, grades 9-12, to try out for this fall's team. Practice is held daily from 6:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Brae Burn Golf Course on Five Mile and Napier Roads.

Waters, who coaches both the girls' and boys' squads, was elected this past summer to a five-member boys Golf Rules Committee, which works in cooperation with the Michigan High School Athletic Association. The rules committee was busy this past summer in preparation for this fall's boys season.

Waters has coached the 1973 Salem boys team to a state championship and followed with a regional victory and 11th place finish in 1974.

Pictures near for gridders

Picture day for both the Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem High School football teams takes place this Saturday, Sept. 4. All parents and friends of the players are invited to take pictures at the designated times.

The Canton Chiefs will have their picture day starting at 9 a.m. at Central Middle School, while the Salem Rocks pose for photographers at 4 p.m. at the football practice field behind Salem High School.

Doc's Corner

By DENNIS O'CONNOR
Sports Editor

I'm sitting at a new desk, in a new office and working for a new newspaper. But the most important thing for people in the Plymouth-Canton community to remember is that my sports coverage will remain local.

No longer will Observer & Eccentric readers be subjected to a Plymouth-Canton sports section which is dominated by Livonia or Garden City sports news. The O & E sports sections are turning local for the people in this community, twice-a-week. Fall, winter and spring sports coverage will be focused on all the activities for both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools.

Coming this fall, the O & E will center on both the boys' and girls' athletic events including cross-country, golf and football for boys, and basketball, tennis and swimming for girls.

Along with local game reports on all the Salem and Canton athletic events, the O & E will also offer an exclusive area page in each Thursday's edition that will include statistics and times of individual athletes in the area. This way, the two Plymouth schools can compare their accomplishments with the other squads in the area.

Football squads will enjoy extra coverage with records and league standings of all area teams appearing in the Thursday edition.

To give this detailed local and area coverage of Plymouth-Canton community sports, help from all the coaches is required. I will be at the Observer & Eccentric offices on Tuesdays and Fridays from 3 p.m. to 1 a.m. I can be reached at 459-2700 or 261-8606 to receive reports on all current sports events. With the help of all the coaches in the community, the O & E will accomplish the best sports coverage Plymouth and Canton has ever had.

On another subject—I've finally gotten the straight facts and figures on the athletic budget for Plymouth schools. I just hope it isn't to late for those people who vote in today's millage election on the basis of saving or hurting the athetic program in the schools.

First of all, there are nearly 2,500 students in both the middle schools and high schools who participated in athletic activities last year. According to the figures given to me by Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent of business for Plymouth schools, 1,276 students in the middle schools and 1,175 more in the high schools were active in athletics last year. That totals 2,451 students.

Hoedel said the proposed 1976-77 athletic budget was $155,500 which figures to be only seven-tenths of one per cent of the entire school budget. This proposed figure includes an increase of $20,200 over last year's budget (a 15 per cent increase) to expand the girls' sports programs. A total of 13 new coaches for girls' athletic teams were planned to be hired with the extra money.

If the millage vote fails today, for a second time, 47 per cent of this athletic budget will be reduced. All middle school sports and programs at the freshman level definitely will be cut. The fall varsity schedule will remain in full swing, but the possibility of cuts in the winter and spring varsity activities remain if the millage fails. A passage of the millage increase will mean almost a total athletic budget as proposed.

The choice is yours, but remember that it isn't just 40 kids on a football team who are affected, but actually 2,500 students involved with the athletic program.

Football, skating offered by P&R

Touch football and skating is being offered by the Plymouth Parks and Recreation.

New teams for the adult football league may begin to pay entry fees at the Plymouth Cultural Center between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Only eight positions are available and teams will be accepted on a first-come first-served basis. Entry fee is $125. All the games will be played on Sunday mornings.

Plymouth Parks and Recreation will also sponsor the International Skating Institute of America (ISIA) competition on Sept. 11 in the Cultural Center. The competition will bring some of the best young figure skaters from the area to the Plymouth arena.

The festivities begin at 9 a.m. and will continue throughout the day with the finals scheduled for Saturday night in all categories. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Five members of the Salem cross-country squad prepare to run a course during practice on Monday. The runners pictured are (from left) Scott Kleam, Jeff Mangan, Tom Kindree, Keith Saley and captain Walt White. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

White, Kleam lead way

Salem runners improved

Senior Walt White and junior Scott Kleam head the list of runners for this season's Salem cross-country team.

Rock Coach Steve Rea is laying his hopes on these two racers as the key for success this fall.

Cross-country runners race a three-mile course with the area teams using Cass Benton Parkway (on Edward Hines between Six and Seven Mile Roads) as its home course. Both White and Kleam have broken 17 minutes on this tough course and figure to improve as the season wears on. Both runners have practiced their running all summer in preparation for the fall.

Injuries were nagging White during the latter part of last season, but he still finished 16th in the Suburban Eight League meet, running a 17:04. It was the only time during the season White ran over the 17-minute mark.

Two years ago, Kleam was considered by many the best freshman in the state. Last season, he finished sixth in the Sub-8 and 15th in the state meet with a 15:34 clocking.

"Both have equal talent and I think they will qualify for the state meet," Rea said.

"The big thing this season is that we have our top two runners back plus some needed depth."

THE ONLY VARSITY runner lost from last season is Curt Judd who was the Rocks' number three runner. But a number of returning runners, plus the addition of experienced track members add to the Salem depth that could prove the formula for some dual meet victories.

Jeff Econom and Bill Kennedy, both sophomores, return from a year ago. These runners ran in the mid-17's last year.

Jeff Mangan, a half-miler in track last season, looks very promising along with Dan Lybarger, Bob Stiffler and Tom Kindree.

Nearly 20 boys have tried out for the sport this fall. With this good number of runners, Rea feels he can develop a lot of them that should help the squad in the future. When seniors graduate, the younger runners can fill the gaps.

Rea's main concern now is to continue stabilizing his program this season, and to do that he feels establishing a winning record is the key.

Dearborn is once again the favored squad to win the Sub-8, while Trenton and Belleville also field good squads. Rea hopes by the end of the season, five runners will be in the 16 minute range while nine other newcomers break 18.

O&E golf draws entries

By DOUG FUNKE

Entry forms for the eighth annual Observer & Eccentric Open Golf Tournament have been coming in at a faster rate than last year, when the largest contingent of amateur golfers participated in the 36-hole medal play event, said Gary Whitener, tournament director and club pro at Livonia's Whispering Willows Golf Course.

"We probably have close to 80 confirmed entrants," Whitener said, noting that the great crush of entries has traditionally come the week before the tourney.

"I passed out 100 entry forms during the last week at the course and I'm sure I'll get two-thirds back," Whitener added.

The tournament director indicated that entry forms for the O&E Women's Open Tournament, 18-holes of medal play, have been returned at about the same rate as last year.

The men will tee-off at Whispering Willows (Eight Mile and Newburgh roads) Sept. 11-12, while the women will take to the links Sept. 16.

Entry fees for the competition, to be divided into flights based on handicap, are $22 for men and $8 for women. The fee takes care of greens fees, a golfbag tag, prizes and trophies.

Last year's Men's and Women's Championship Flight winners—Dave Wall and Lynn Waldecker—have definitely committed themselves to defending their titles, Whitener said.

Wall, in fact, reportedly has been attempting to persuade his entire Publinx golf team to enter the tourney with him.

The other members of that crew include Roger Strong, Tim Shelling and Ken Timmons. All are expected to compete in the Championship Flight if they choose to enter.

Bill Curtis, who won the O&E Championship Flight in 1974 has been practicing at Whispering Willows frequently, Whitener said, and is expected to be among the starters next weekend.

So, too, is Bud Stevens, a prominent amateur in the state and 1973 O&E Championship Flight winner.

Another prospect who Whitener gives a good shot at the Championship Flight crown is Rick Goldsmith, a Bloomfield Hills resident and a former club champion at Shenandoah. He is listed as a five handicapper.

"We're getting a lot of entries out of Farmington and a lot out of Westland," Whitener noted. Any amateur golfer who resides in a community in which the O&E circulates may participate.

"I'm now in the process of putting golfers into categories and most of the entries we have received so far are in the Championship and First Flights," the tourney director said. Last year, the field was divided into four flights.

Entry forms are available at Whispering Willows and Idyl Wyld Golf Courses. The latter is located at Five Mile and Newburgh roads. Coupons may also be found in most editions of the O&E. Registration deadlines are Sept. 8 for men and Sept. 13 for women.

Whitener again reiterated that Whispering Willows will be in tip-top condition for the tourneys. "The course is coming along well. We've been pumping a lot of water on it and it's as green as can be," said Whitener.

Pele comes to Pontiac

Soccer fans in the area who wish to see the Labor Day battle between the New York Cosmos and the Dallas Tornado at the 80,000-seat Pontiac stadium can purchase tickets now at the Plymouth Community Cultural Center on 525 Farmer. Game time for the exhibition is 7:30 p.m.

Tickets for the contest are $8 and $6 for adults and $3 for children.

Bowlers sought

Two area bowling leagues are looking for persons to join their ranks for the coming season.

The His & Hers Individual Mixed Bowling League, in which each competitor bowls against his or her average and the league as a whole without teams, will meet Thursday evenings at Beech Lanes in Redford Township.

Contact people are Walter Shapiro, 474-8548 and Edith Furcsik, 425-6244.

The Voyagers, a mixed singles bowling league starting play Sept. 12 and meeting 3-5 p.m. every Sunday at Clover Lanes in Livonia, is looking for participants 25 years of age and older.

Ann Anderson may be reached for registration details at 425-5773.

Getting Around

By ETHEL SIMMONS

Besides the main dining area seating 140, the newly opened Double Eagle Restaurant at Sylvan Glen Golf Course in Troy has a clubroom for golfers, seating 80 to 100.

The clubroom called the One Under offers a limited menu including charburgers and outdoor cooking. Owner Bruce Cameron's Midtown Cafe in Birmingham has a downstairs Downtown Room, while the Meating Place in Orchard Lake has the Down Under.

Overlooking the golf course, as does the main dining room, the One Under features an informal decor with artist Aleksis Lahti's astro turf in the rest rooms.

Rick Harrison of Birmingham, general manager of all restaurant liquor operations for Cameron, said the Down Under also will be used for banquets and as an entertainment room in winter. A cocktail lounge with piano presents entertainment year round.

SYLVAN GLEN is a public golf course owned by the City of Troy. Cameron has a 30-year lease on the restaurant at Rochester and Square Lake roads. Golfers play on the course till dusk.

The restaurant operation was formerly Karpinski's Sylvan Glen for three years and was closed for one year.

Roger Kowalski, director of parks and recreation for the City of Troy, said the 18-hole Sylvan Glen Golf Course is "one of the finest municipal courses. We're proud of it."

He said this year the course is self supporting and the only cost is to the players. Interested golfers can call Sylvan Glen for tee time, or check the pro shop, he said.

The Double Eagle Restaurant is located on farmhouse property that is more than 113 years old and registered with the historical society. The golf course was originally a private golf club owned by the Jim Robbins family.

AFTER ROBBINS' death in an air crash of his Lear Jet, the golf course and clubhouse were sold by his estate in 1970 to private owners who planned to subdivide it. The City of Troy stepped in, purchasing the property for $1.6 million.

You don't have to be a golfer to enjoy the main dining open from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. Monday through Saturday and from 3 p.m. until midnight Sunday.

Brunch begins fall schedule

Detroit Waldhorn Quartet will perform music of Gabrieli, Rossini and Rimsky-Korsakow at Brunch with Bach Sept. 5 when the Detroit Institute of Arts' chamber series returns to its fall schedule offering performances, at 10 and 11:15 a.m.

Lou Jacobs' big red nose, pointed head and outsized grin has appeared on Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus posters for almost 30 years and is probably the most famous and imitated clown face in America. Known for his ridiculous motorized bathtub and the world's smallest motorized car, the veteran funnyman appears with the show during its 12-day engagement at Olympia Stadium.

Yankee Doodle circus

The circus is coming with a rousing salute to the 200th birthday of the U.S., bringing its Yankee Doodle Dandy barrage of performers, animals, jesters and production spectaculars to Detroit's Olympia Stadium from Sept. 21 through Oct. 3.

Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus celebrates the country's bicentennial year with a star-spangled 105th Edition, featuring animal trainer Gunther Gebel-Williams, trapeze artists the Flying Farfans, the Carrillo Brothers who perform on the highwire, young acrobatic bicyclist Barry Lappy and 25 sensational acts, making their American debut.

Highlighted by five productions, the Bicentennial Edition opens with a "Stars and Stripes Salute," inviting children of all ages to a circus jamboree. It's up, up and away in "Supersonic Countdown," a salute to American air supremacy, while the "Circus Spirit of '76" brings 200 years of American history to life.

Gunther Gebel-Williams and his herd of pachyderms star in "Elephant Roundup," a circus sojourn back to the Gold Rush Days, followed by a finale called "Celebration."

Tickets are on sale at Olympia, Olympia Travel and Montgomery Ward stores. For more information call 895-7000.

Chamber music mesmerizes crowd

By PATRICIA BEACH SMITH

You could have heard a pin drop on the lawn at Meadow Brook Music Festival Saturday. Not because there was no one in the audience, far from it, it was jammed.

Everyone was so attentive, that it was amazing. Generally when this reviewer has taken to the lawn for a listen, the experience has been anything but positive. Not Saturday.

The Musica Aeterna Orchestra and pianist Eugene Istomin kept the masses glued to their act. It was an example of saving the best for last with these two accomplished musical forces performing on the same—and Meadow Brook's last—evening.

It was an all-Mozart program, another reason this reviewer was surprised by the rapt attention given the performers. Apparently the pavillion and lawn were filled with Mozart devotees. The way the repertoire was performed had a lot to do with its acceptance, however.

Musica Aeterna is a superb chamber music ensemble. The players seem to be several cuts above the average performer, especially in the excellent string section. Conductor Frank Waldman obviously enjoys his part in the performance, too.

The most outstandingly performed work of the evening was the Sinfonia Concertante, K. 297b for oboe, clarinet, French horn and bassoon.

Each of the players in the quartet played admirably, but clarinetist Melvin Kaplan showed himself to be one of the most skilled and sensitive woodwind players this reviewer has heard.

He outshone the others with his flexible control and clean phrasing. He has well-timed restraint for the ensemble passages and virtuostic spirit for the solo passages. The piece was especially suited to his instrument.

It is not a work for the amateur player and that was obvious from Kaplan and the others' performance. They are clearly professionals. In it are incredibly difficult intervals and arpeggiation for all the quartet and the accompanying ensemble.

Unfortunately the oboist was not up to snuff, but even he managed to overcome his failings enough to save the balance in the end. The French horn was well-played, even if a bit tenuous. The bassoon was fun to hear up front for once. So often does this venerable woodwind get to show its stuff.

Eugene Istomin played excellently Saturday. He was, as ever, technically superb and as sensitive as one needs to be for the fairly unemotional Piano Concerto No. 24 in C minor.

He held the attention of the audience as well as the Aeterna ensemble had.

The first work performed on the program, the Symphony No. 36 in E Major, was well played, but not as elegantly or stylishly as the later works. The string ensemble was fantastic in this work, however.

Sometimes the tempi were sluggish and bogged down the movements. However, everything was working in the Menuetto movement and it was the best of the four.

An entire evening of attention to Mozart is a lot to ask from an audience which is constantly bombarded with "Starsky and Hutch" themes and rock and roll even on WJR. However 'mesmerize' describes what Mozart did to Saturday's Festival audience and it was a fitting tribute to a well-accepted season, for the most part.

Perhaps the smaller ensemble creates decorum not possible with the large orchestra. Chamber music also gives the audience a break from the task of deciphering all a large orchestral work has to offer.

Chamber music, for all people against it, is comprehensible because it is more crystalized.

If presenting more chamber concerts is the direction the Meadow Brook Festival planners are taking, it seems like the right road, as Saturday's audience indicated.

Meadow Brook in Review

Manilow, music meander

By PATRICIA BEACH SMITH

Why were those people clapping?

Crimson-caped damsels (hardly in distress) open Barry Manilow's road show. They are not the sort you'd help across the street, unless you were planning to go on home with them—shades of Bette Midler.

Manilow packed Meadow Brook Music Festival's facilities Friday—a flea wouldn't have been able to find a place to lite. Well, maybe over on Trumbull Terrace, but that was a long way from the action.

And there was plenty of action.

"Lady Flash" those damsels in red, do their thing while Barry does his. He is the ultimate nerve-end, pacing the stage constantly while talking between numbers. He wouldn't have to do it at all if he could just get his act together. Maybe he needs to write a few more tunes before he goes out on the road again.

Don't get me wrong, it was organized—down to a word. Every throw-away line in the business got thrown Friday.

As "Flash" sang "Some day our Prince will come" Manilow ran from the wings like the Olympic torch bearer in Las Vegas sequined drag.

While the mini-Tina Turners ground out their part of the bargain from behind, Barry delivered a few of, as he said, "the new numbers I might keep in the act, if you like them."

Gales of applause convinced him to do so, but I'll never know why.

"Let me go." Manilow's so-called blues number will never make the R & R charts and probably won't win prizes elsewhere, either. Not only were the lyrics of "Lay me down and roll me out to sea . . ." sad, so was the rendition.

Manilow appears to be on a trip which tells him personal pronouns will sell records. If you believe "This one's for you" you'd probably believe the Carpenters if they told you the world was flat.

"City Rhythm" is just okay. It's another of Manilow's formula pieces that sounds like the one before it. Eventually there will be a genuine mutation from his original melodic line, but we'll all be so drowned in gush that we won't know the difference when it happens.

The second half of the program was down to earth, people, I mean, the boy was wearing blue jeans, so he's just got to be okay. Then he dragged out the old palm tree, spinet piano and blue-finned fish number. Only half-way amusing, a genuine attempt at casual nightclub-ism.

One of the best numbers of the second half (Barry would call me "trashy" for this remark) was a medley he did of all the commercial melodies he's composed which have given him enough bread to perform anything he wants to on stage without worrying about what the audience thinks.

Did you know, for instance, that he wrote the "You deserve a break today" theme for McDonald's? Or that "Like a good neighbor" for State Farm Insurance Co. is another Manilow original? There are more.

"I am stuck on BandAid, 'cause BandAid's stuck . . ." you know the rest like a broken record is another of his.

Luckily he got back into some different glad rags and back into his more familiar pop songs to spin some gold, as the DJs say.

"Mandy" was done with some impressive Moog synthesizer improvisations by Manilow's keyboard sideman. "It's a miracle" was close to that.

Manilow's incessant meandering about the stage is unnerving. Why doesn't he just sit down? Perhaps he was in a more proper place for his nerves as Bette's backup man. He never had to say much in those days.

"One of these days" after "Tryin' to get the feelin' again . . ." Manilow will succeed. But it may take awhile to get the Hollywood, commercial, formula veneer off his back.

Animals are at Art Institute

A meanagerie of real and imaginary birds and beasts will form "The Peaceable Kingdom" exhibit opening Sept. 8 at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

More than 100 graphics of animls have been selected to represent the Bible theme:

"The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the young leopard shall lie down with the kid . . ."

Goats, stags, tigers, monkeys, panthers, elephants, cats, bear, antelope, ibex are presented in a variety of technique such as woodcut, lithograph, etching, drypoint, crayon, watercolor and chalk.

Veterans events due

Veterans Day on Saturday at the Michigan State Fair will be highlighted by a presentation of the Veteran of the Year Award, followed by a procession and wreath-laying ceremony at the fair's verterans' monument.

One of several special days at the fair this year, the Veterans' Day program will begin at 11 a.m. at the Music Shell on the fairgrounds.

"We have the largest number of participants than ever before for the Veteran of the Year program," said Harold Arnoldi, special events director. "Veterans organizations nominate cadidates for the award which is judged by contribution to society and community.

"This year we have 21 candidates, and the most we ever had in previous years was eight."

A dozen veterans groups—as well as the Oakland County Mounted Police and the 70th Division Band and Color Gaurd—will participate in a parade which follows the wreath-laying observance.

At 1 p.m. a five-hour entertainment program will begin. It includes vocalists, Irish dancers and the Society for the Preservation and Advancement of the Harmonica.

"We're expecting a great program this year," Arnoldi added. "The applications for Veteran of the Year generally indicate the interest—and we've had so many from all over Michigan."
