Parsell lost by 59

Primary recount reveals no change

The primary election recount requested by Treasurer Carl Parsell conducted Tuesday showed no difference in the township board of canvasser's tally conducted Aug. 5.

Fifty-nine votes still separate the loser, Parsell, from the Democratic candidate for treasurer, Anne Bradley.

The official vote total stands at 1,582 votes cast for Parsell in the primary and 1,641 votes for Bradley. On the night of the election, a pollworker mistakenly wrote down Parsell's total as 1,549, 33 votes shy of the real figure. The following day the board of canvassers noticed the discrepency.

Clerk John Flodin said the error appeared to be caused by weariness and not intentional.

But even when the 33 votes were added to his tally, Parsell claimed the results still didn't add up. Parsell demanded a recount because approximately 500 Canton residents did not vote for the office of treasurer or supervisor when they voted for other offices.

He said he hoped the recount would show "where those 500 votes went to."

Parsell paid $50 out of his pocket to check the 10 precincts.

THE TOWNSHIP will have to pay the county for the labor and services of the election inspectors.

"I'll make a guess that we'll have to pay in the area of $500 for the recount," said Flodin.

Joe Martina, head of the elections department of Wayne County, was present during the recount, along with three workers from the county election commission, four employees of the Wayne County clerk's office and an attorney for the county.

"Mr. Parsell mentioned to the election commission his concern about the fact that many of the people who voted did not vote for the offices of treasurer and supervisor," said Flodin. "Joe Martina said this is frequently the case. People often vote only part of the ballot."

Flodin said the recount inspection revealed the possibility that one more vote could have gone to Parsell "but before that could be explored, Carl (Parsell) withdrew his petition for a recount."

The recount petition withdrawal came after nearly a full day's work by members of the county clerk's office.

Phony meter readers bilking area's elderly

By DARLENE STINSON

Con artists, posing as representatives of Detroit area utility companies, are focusing on senior citizens in the Plymouth-Canton area, in efforts to slip away with the residents' cash reserves.

The rip-off artists last week stole at least $50 from an elderly Canton couple and unsuccessfully tried their trickery on at least four senior citizens in the City of Plymouth.

An 83-year-old Canton woman reportedly lost more than $500 to rip-off artists about two months ago.

IN EACH CASE, the thieves posed as representatives of Consumers Power or Detroit Edison Co. and informed senior citizens of a cash rebate they had coming.

Although the thieves' trick failed in each of four cases reported last week in the City of Plymouth, the con artists Friday walked away with at least $50 belonging to a 63-year-old Canton woman and her 71-year-old husband.

According to Det. Roy Allen of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, one of the three "Detroit Edison representatives" who came to the couple's home rummaged through the woman's purse and belongings, while his co-workers "inspected" the residents' "faulty" electrical meter with the couple at his side.

After completing their "inspection," the thieves left the couple's home without paying the "rebate."

According to police, the couple described one of the three men as about 6 foot 3, 300 pounds and about 40 years old. The other two, according to the couple, were in their late teens or early 20s. All three, the couple said, were white and "dirty-looking." The thieves drove a late-model, red pick-up truck.

Police requested that the couple's name not be published.

IN THE CITY of Plymouth, two men, described as about 20 and 40 years old and driving a blue pick-up truck, reportedly attempted the same trick last Thursday on four senior citizens.

But, according to Sgt. Carl Berry of the Plymouth Police Department, residents became suspicious for one reason or another and called police.

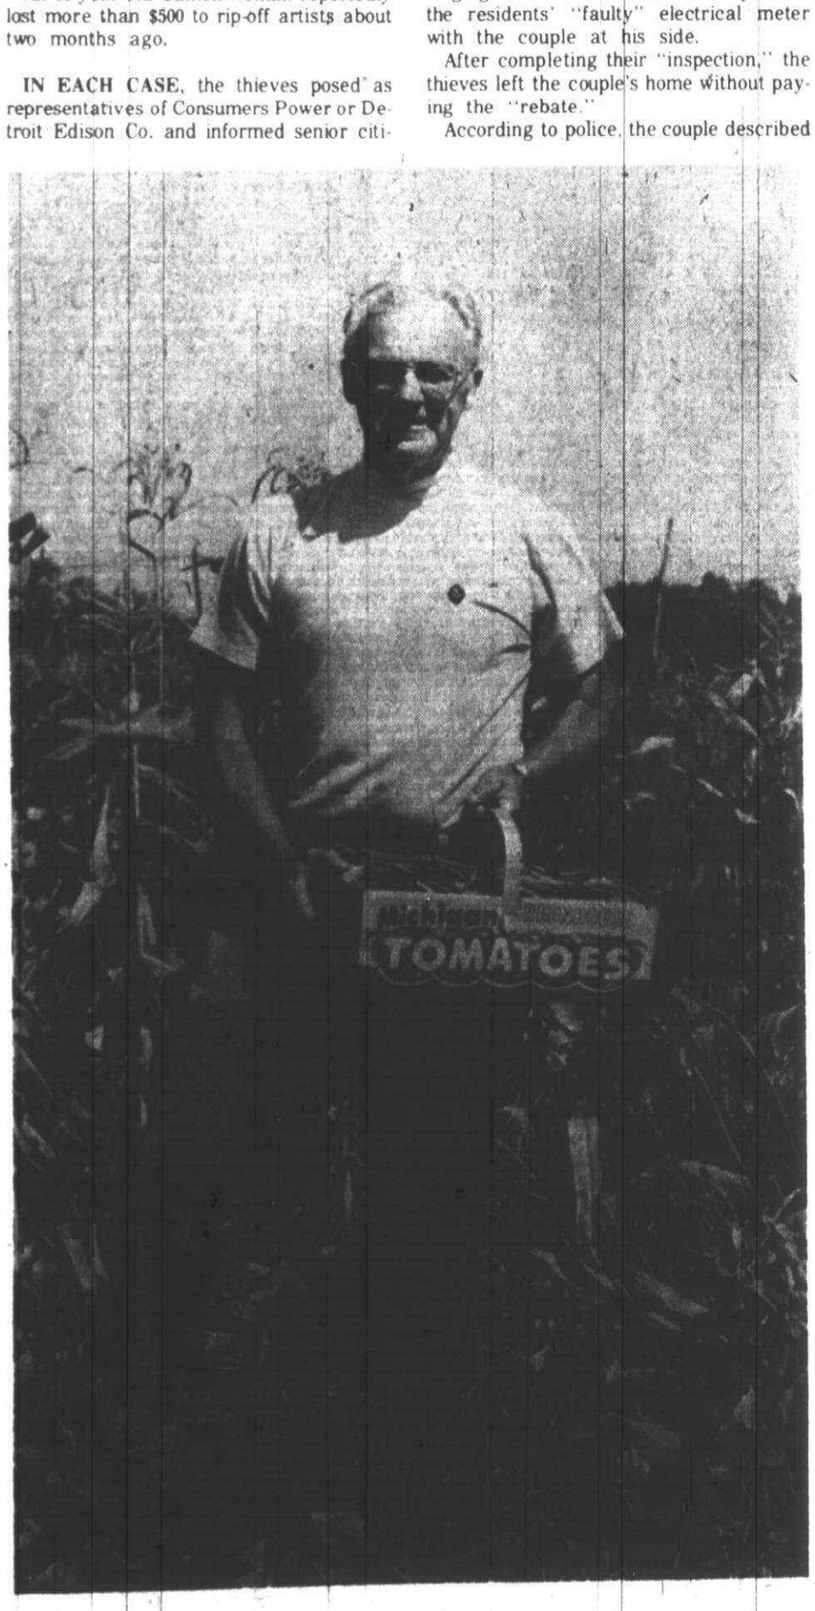

Although details of attempted "con jobs" vary from case to case, a spokesman for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department says the trickery pulled in the Plymouth-Canton area last week matches rip-offs pulled throughout Wayne County during the last few years.

Police believe the same group of men are responsible for the flurry of rip-off tricks, despite residents' vague descriptions of the thieves and different vehicles they drive.

"Basically, it's a rip-off for older people who are unsuspecting," said Allen, the officer investigating the incidents for the Sheriff's Department. "We believe two men are going all over the county to senior citizens' homes."

Allen, who cited reportings of similar incidents in Plymouth Township, Taylor and Trenton, said an 83-year-old Canton woman lost more than $500 to rip-off artists posing as utility company representatives about two months ago.

The thieves, Allen said, typically pull out a $100 bill for a "rebate" of $50 and ask senior citizens for the change. After observing residents and the place they keep their money, one of the thieves typically takes the couple's cash and valuables, while his co-workers show residents their "faulty" meter.

Beans runneth over

Another dry Michigan summer failed to harm Bob Bowman's crop this year as his farm yielded a surplus of goods. Shown here picking as many lima beans as this bushel can hold, the Canton farmer grows beets, peppers, Brussel sprouts, zuchini, squash and radishes. Come harvest time, one can be sure there'll be plenty of vegetables stored away for the Bowman family. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Bradley cited for blight; Twp. wants yard cleaned

By CRAIG PIECHURA

George and Anne Bradley will be in 35th District Court Sept. 15 to fight a blight ordinance violation written against them June 25, 1975. Mrs. Bradley is a candidate for Canton Township treasurer.

Bruce Phillips, Canton's ordinance officer, says Bradley's backyard at 6438 N. Canton Center is littered with tires, "inoperable tractors, scrap metal, grocery shelves and the cab and back section of a truck."

George Bradley owns B & K Lawn and Garden Service which is also at that address. Bradley says he has tried to cooperate with the township by removing "some of the junk cars I'd accumulated along with a lot of other things."

But Bradley claims he is not being treated fairly by the township ordinance officer.

"You can't feed one person pork and another beef," Bradley said. "The violation is not valid because I've been in the machinery business for 20 years and there's never been a problem. What might be junk to someone else might not be junk to us."

Phillips, the ordinance control officer, said that under the ordinance all inoperable equipment and vehicles must be removed from view. A shed or closed semi-trailer for parts storage would be acceptable to the township, Phillips said.

The very nature of the machinery repair business demands that "inoperable equipment" be on hand to be used for replacement parts, said Bradley. In court, Bradley said he will produce photographic evidence of many other businesses and residences which violate the terms of Canton's blight ordinance "but are not the subject of violation. Why?"

"I just sold a tractor that was not running for $400," Bradley said. "So what's a piece of aluminum to one person might be gold to another."

Two previous court dates on the Bradley blight violation were cancelled when Bradley asked the court to give him time to comply with the order.

"We tried to handle the matter in the most reasonable, fairest way," Phillips said. "Now we have to go to court; an attorney's involved and I have to go back and tell the judge that it is not true, that Bradley didn't clean up his property like he said he did."

Vaughn McLean, an attorney with the firm of Sempliner, Thomas and Guth, will represent the township in court.

Bradley doubts that a resident made the complaint.

"I talked to everyone behind my property," Bradley said. "They told me, 'George I hardly can see your house from way back here.' So, I want to see who the complaintant is."

Speeding suspect crashes

A 20-year-old Belleville man reportedly led Livonia and Plymouth police on a 100 mph chase early Sunday morning before landing his car on Mettetal Airport in Canton Township.

Plymouth police arrested Lee F. Haguewood of 40838 Tyler on a high misdemeanor charge of fleeing and eluding an officer.

Plymouth Ptl. Richard Scoggins said Livonia police wrote out a couple traffic tickets against Haguewood when they finally caught up with him.

Driving his brother's purple, 1971 Barracuda, Scoggins said Haguewood first attracted the attention of Livonia police. But at the intersection of Ivywood and Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia police lost sight of the alleged speeder.

Scoggins said he and Sgt. William Fletcher were at the Mill-Ann Arbor Trail gas station when the Barracuda whizzed by them. Scoggins estimated the vehicle was traveling more than 80 mph on Mill and "100 plus on Lilley."

Lilley ends at Joy Road but apparently Haguewood had other ideas. Scoggins said after the man passed a vehicle on Lilley, he spun out into the Mettetal Airport property, ending up 30 yards away from the road.

Three people in the car ran towards the woods west of Joy, said Scoggins. Two were immediately arrested and one person was picked up later in the night.

Modular abuse prompts STP period

"STP," a well-known lubricant which claims to help an engine run more smoothly, is also a set of initials for a program to be implemented this fall to help the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) run more smoothly.

At the CEP, "STP" stands for Student-Teaching Planning. Each Monday morning, students will meet in their assigned STP period and plan the use of their unscheduled time for the week. The plan will be placed on a three-part form.

The student will maintain one copy, the STP teacher retains another, and the third form is forwarded to the student's area coordinator. Periodic checks will be made to see that students are adhering to the plan which they developed.

"The system has a further benefit in that the area coordinator's office will have a record of where the student is to be each mod of the day," explains Kent Buikema, principal of Plymouth Canton High.

THE FIRST REACTION of some students, says Buikema, has been:

"You are taking away my freedom; isn't that one of the advantages of modular scheduling?" Freedom is an advantage of mod scheduling, says Buikema, but, when that freedom is abused, it is not longer an advantage—rather it's a liability.

"Students should keep in mind that a good deal of that freedom will still exist because the student is making the determination of what area he will go to on his unstructured time. Some limits will be placed on students. For example, no more than three mods a day are to be spent in non-academic areas.

"The facilities, schedule, and staff at the CEP provide every student the opportunity for an excellent education. The schedule permits variable time and variable group size in accordance with the learning task. It also creates unstructured time during which students may choose from more than 47 areas to study or confer with staff members. The use of this unstructured time is essential to the student's success in the program."

STP WILL ASSIST the student in the selection process, adds Buikema, and help him develop a habit of proper use of unscheduled time.

"The motto of the school—'Freedom is the right to exercise self-discipline'—is certainly applicable in this situation."

Parents are encouraged to become involved with their students in the STP process. Students will be expected to bring the STP form to their Monday morning meeting. Parents should review the plan the weekend before and be involved in the student's decision-making process.

Three groups will have to cooperate if STP is to help the CEP's engine run more smoothly, says Buikema: students, staff, and parents. Parents who have questions about STP or other concerns are encouraged to call their child's area coordinator or counselor at 453-3100.

Instructor is Susan Norton and fees are $10 for 'Y' members, and $15 for non-members.

Rare collection

One of the three complete sets of Bing & Grondahl Christmas plates is on display in Hugh Jarvis Gifts on Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth. Marlene Garde, salesperson in the store, says the collection, which dates from 1885, will be there until Sept. 15. The plates with white and Copenhagen blue scenes were designed by Danish artists. The Stroller:

On feasts

By W. W. EDGAR

Perhaps it was because the Rotary chicken barbecue in Plymouth and the ethnic feast in Garden City were near at hand, but the conversation turned to outdoor feasting and some of the treats we have enjoyed in the good, clean open air far removed from the sophisticated dining rooms.

In recent years the chicken barbecue has come to the fore and now many of the communities stage these feasts as a means of giving a helping hand to charity. For instance, the Plymouth feasts staged in Kellogg Park have brought about such things as the kidney dialysis unit at St. Mary Hospital and the fountain that is enjoyed by hundreds on their visits to the park.

Before the chicken barbecue became so popular, ox roasts provided the main treat for the gourmets who liked to dine in the open. The ox roasts still are favored in many places and Farmington carries out the tradition at its annual founders festival.

But, as our conversation progressed the other night, we got to teling about the most unusual of these outdoor feasts—and many of them were quite unusual. For instance have fish fry on the edge of the ocean?

THE STROLLER well members his first trip to Bridgeport, Conn. when he was invited N down to the dock shortly after daybreak to watch the fishing boats come in and have breakfast. Never had he seen the big boats come in from the Atlantic and it was quite a thrill.

On this particular morning the big boat unloaded its catch at the dock and the customers were allowed to select any fish they wanted. Our group selected a large one that still was wiggling and The Stroller figured we were going to take it home for breakfast.

"We're going over to the beach," our host said. And no quicker said than done. It was a real treat out there on the beach to build a fire and then prepare the fish in the crisp morning air. It was a most unusual breakfast.

But the outdoor meal best remembered by The Stroller came on his first trip to Hawaii two decades ago. When he checked in at the convention headquarters he was reminded not to miss the luau on the final night. This was to be a treat as the luau is the official dish of the Hawaiians who wanted to leave us with fond memories. They did.

On the night of the luau we were taken to a stadium at the Queen's Surf Hotel. Imagine that—a stadium built just for feasting.

We watched as the pigs were placed on the wire stretchers and lowered into a hole in the ground over a hot fire.

Once lowered they were covered with earth. It seemed odd to the uninitiated so we just sat and watched the ritual.

AFTER A TIME the natives came out of the wooded area and, following the scent, finally found the area where the smoke was coming out of the ground. Once they found it they removed the smoking earth and got down to the pigs, which were well roasted and falling apart.

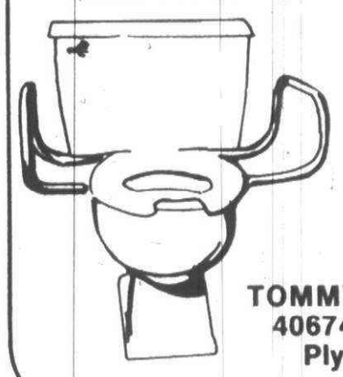

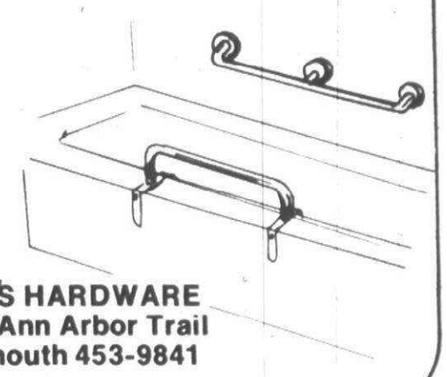

Quickly they lofted the stretchers and carried the pigs over to the dining tables at the edge of the stadium and started the dinner. That was supposed to be a real Hawaiian treat.

Well, we of the uninitated group were shocked when the old timers reached for the portions of pig and the poi along with the other delicacies. It all looked so appetizing. But when we took a taste of the poi and watched the old timers stick their index fingers into the bowl and then lick them (that's the proper way to eat it), we had enough.

The members of our group, including The Stroller, shrugged our shoulders and, almost in chorus, said, "Let's get out of here and go up to the American restaurant and have a steak."

That's what we did and no steak ever tasted better.

It was a rich experience, but The Stroller will take the old style eastern shore clam bakes for his treat. Just thinking of that night in Hawaii will make the chicken taste all the better at the Rotary barbecue Sunday.

'77 Canton budget jumps

Treasurer Carl Parsell has presented an itemized breakdown of the 1977 Canton budget which shows at least a $220,000 increase over this year.

A complete, itemized list of the proposed budget may be viewed by residents at the meeting hall (fire station) at Canton Center and Cherry Hill and also at Canton's general office at 44508 Geddes.

The 1977 budget total is $1,692,867 compared to a $1,471,439 total last year. Supervisor Robert Greenstein said it should be noted that "$80,000 in federal revenue monies are expected to be available to the township in 1977."

Under township law, the proposed budget must be delivered to the trustees by Sept. 1. Parsell had copies of the proposed budget ready for the rest of the board at Aug. 30's special meeting. Final approval of the 1977 budget is due Nov. 1 after the required public hearing.

AN INCREASE of $53,600 is revealed in the law enforcement section of the budget for 1977. This year $272,981 was set aside for law enforcement and $326,581 is earmarked for that item in 1977's budget.

"One item we haven't budgeted for, and will have to watch out for, depends on which way the lawsuit goes in circuit court concerning the sheriff patrols," Parsell said. "If the circuit court rules that the sheriff must maintain the patrol in the townships, then there will be no additional cost to us and we'll get by in that department.

"But if they don't—and say we have to pay $600,000 for two patrol cars—we're in trouble. You can see that $600,000 will not fit into the budget."

Parsell and Greenstein claim their political opponents have misled the public on expenditures for both the second fire hall and the police reserves.

"It was stated, during the election, that the township has spent the $300,000 carry over from the previous administration," Greenstein said. "This cannot be further from the truth.

"The carry over from the previous administration was not $300,000, but actually $593,745. And even though we completely remodeled three separate buildings—the recreation hall, township meeting hall and the township offices, purchased land and several expensive pieces of equipment—we have in our bank accounts, as of Aug. 1, $1,024,000.

Parsell says that while Canton will pay out an estimated $17,000 in reserve-related salaries in 1976, "the price of the five new (dual purpose) cars is actually much less than regular cars could be bought for."

The 1½-mill assessment for the second fire station is not included in the 1977 budget, said Parsell.

"And if any money is left over the following year, the people's assessment will be less," Parsell said. "That extra money does not go into the general fund or into a party fund like some people think."

Wage hikes and benefit increments make up the biggest increase, according to Parsell.

The budget for employee hospitalization jumped $14,000 over last year's budget—from $25,000 to $39,000. General insurance itemization shows an increase of $10,000—from $15,000 to $25,000.

The pension fund outlay has more than doubled in the 1977 budget. Last year $32,000 was set aside in the pension account and in 1977 the administration has earmarked $75,000. John Hancock is the agent for pension insurance for the township.

Crossing guard issue heats up

The question of school crossing guards came up for discussion by the Plymouth Board of Education at a workshop study session recently. But that's all that occurred--discussion.

The school board decided to hold fast to its decision last spring to eliminate the funding for crossing guards this year for any municipality which doesn't agree to share half the expense.

The result is that when school opens for elementary pupils Sept. 9, there won't be any crossing guards paid by the school district in Plymouth Township.

"There will be no crossing guards in Plymouth Township whatsoever unless they are totally voluntary," states Supt. John M. Hoben. "The school district, by direction of the board, won't fund crossing guards in Plymouth Township this year—based on the township's refusal to share in the expense."

HOBEN BROUGHT UP the topic of crossing guards to the school board Monday night just to make sure that trustees were still behind the decision made last spring.

During the discussion, Hoben said the school district is unwilling to go along with a suggestion made by Plymouth Township Clerk Helen Richardson that the schools go for a millage to finance crossing guards and borrow money from Plymouth Township until that tax can be collected.

In discussing options left, Hoben commented: "We could tell Canton and the City of Plymouth that we are getting out of the crossing guard business. We could then spend the money Canton and the city have given us until it's gone, and then get out."

The superintendent added that he is working on the possibility of state legislation being enacted that would require crossing guards be provided on a shared basis. This option would take time, however, and wouldn't answer the problem facing the school district this month.

DICK ARLEN, trustee, said the school district should take the money it has now for crossing guards, spend it where it does the most good, and then let municipal units pay for guards if they are wanted.

"Parents will take steps to make sure their children cross streets safely if it's necessary," commented Marcia Borowski. "We just cannot afford to pay for crossing guards."

Trustee E.J. McClendon commented: "I supported the resolution last spring with no intention of changing my mind unless new data surfaces, and there is no new data. The problem is still that Plymouth Township won't pay its share. I believe implicitly that providing crossing guards is a police function and belongs to the municipalities, not the schools. The schools shouldn't even be in the crossing guard business, but if we are, the costs should be shared."

Flossie Tonda commented: "Once the school district started putting guards out we accepted that responsibility. There are parents in Plymouth Township with only one car, who cannot walk their children to school, who have supported school millage requests, and who have did what they could. What will we do to them?"

George Lawton asked whether alternatives could be provided for residents of Plymouth Township, such as raising money to pay the township's half for guards at partitcular intersections.

Hoben said this was a possibility and the school district would work with any organized group which contacted administration with a plan.

Annual event starts today

Eats and antiques at festival

Thousands of persons will be coming into Plymouth starting today for the four-day Plymouth Community Fall Festival.

And while much of the activity will be centered in Kellogg Park, Ann Arbor Trail and Main, events of the festival are being staged throughout the city.

The arts and crafts show, for instance, sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council, will be in Central Middle School at Church and Main. The antique mart, sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony League, will be in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer west of the railroad tracks at Theodore.

As in past years, the booths will be set up along the South Main side of Kellogg Park. Serving line for the major dinners will be along Penniman between Main and Union in front of the theater, except for the pancake dinner which will be in the Masonic Temple on Penniman near Union.

The costume contest, entertainment and other activities will be at the stage, Penniman and Main corner of Kellogg Park. The produce exhibit will be at Union and Ann Arbor Trail, with a flea market and homemade baked goods in the Grange Hall on Union north of Penniman.

IN AN EFFORT to maintain the community atmosphere of the fall festival, a special reminder has been issued by the Plymouth Fall Festival Board.

The board asks area merchants and political advertisers to respect the non-profit, non-partisan policies maintained by the board. Special sales and political leafleting is contrary to the spirit that the board is trying to preserve for the four-day celebration.

Ed Page is general manager of the festival. Board members are: Doug Blunk, president; Gene Kafila, treasurer; Elaine Kirchgatter, secretary; Robert Bake, Scott Dodge, Nancy Sharp, Ron South, Bob Richardson, Sandy Davis and Norm Kee. Assistant manager is Carl Glass and Cheryl Nicholas is in charge of publicity.

ACTIVITIES TODAY begin at 11 a.m. with the primary feature being the spaghetti dinner of the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth lasting until 9 p.m. Serving line will be next to the Penn Theatre in Kellogg Park.

Other activities on Thursday, to be repeated Friday, Saturday and Sunday, include: stage makeup demonstration, Greek foods, hot dogs, pizza, drinks, ice cream cones and floats, homemade pie, blood pressure check, games, photography, simulated tintypes, dunk tank, flea market, cotton candy wagon, moon walk, kiddie rides, carmel apples and chocolate-covered bananas, fudge, candy sticks, pie throwing, balloon sales, dab art, decals and T-shirts, Indian corn and cider, Yaki-Tori, and photo button booths. The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce and Schoolcraft College will have information booths. The festival today, tomorrow and Saturday will run until 10 p.m. with the festivities ending 6 p.m. Sunday.

Thursday night entertainment, from 5-10 p.m. on the bandshell, will feature: emcee Jim Jabara, Amethyst, Matt Watroba on guitar, organ music, the Stan Skylar Orchestra, Salem Rockettes, and Sawdust & Co. Clown Act.

THE MAJOR EVENTS Friday include the fish dinner of the Plymouth Lions Club from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Penniman and the antique mart of the Plymouth Symphony League from noon to 9 p.m. in the Cultural Center.

Friday's entertainment on the bandshell from 5-10 p.m. features emcee Dick Schwaler, the Suite Fury seven-piece band, Bunny's School of Dance, Michigan Consolidated Grass Co., the Suburban Chorale, Gay Nineties-Roaring '20s Review, Sawdust & Co. Clown Act, and the Plymouth Community Chorus.

The festival will begin early Saturday with the pancake festival offered by the Plymouth Kiwanis Club from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the Masonic Temple. Another major dinner on Saturday is the rib (barbecued beef) dinner of the Plymouth Jaycees from 5-10 p.m. on the serving line next to the Penn.

The Plymouth Optimists Club's pet show will begin at 9 a.m. behind the bandshell in Kellogg Park. The PCAC arts and crafts show will continue from noon to 9 p.m. in Central Middle School, and the symphony league's antique mart from noon to 9 p.m. in the Cultural Center. A cake walk will be held by the Woman's Club of Plymouth from noon to 10 p.m.

Saturday's entertainment on the bandshell begins at noon and continues until 10 p.m. Groups include the Mugsy rock band, Bunny's School of Dance, Sum-One Jazz Band, Canton Chiefettes, Destinations rock band, Four of a Kind Barbershop Quartet, Coldwater High Balladeers, Harmonica Men and the Livonia Civic Chorus.

ON SUNDAY, the dinner will be the Rotary Club of Plymouth's chicken barbecue from noon to 6 p.m. on the serving line by the Penn.

The Three Cities Art Club will have an art exhibit from noon to 7 p.m. in front of the Masonic Temple. The fall festival board's produce exhibit will be from noon to 6 p.m. in front of the rock at Union and Ann Arbor Trail. Continuing will be the arts and crafts show, antique mart and cake walk.

The Sunday entertainment, from noon to 6 p.m., features emcees Arnie and John Williams, the Plymouth Centennial Park Marching Band, Canton Chiefettes, Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, Rip Collins and Riverboat Companions, Plymouth Community Chorus, Barbershop Quartet Society and the Plymouth Community Band.

Judging for the costume contest will be behind the bandshell from 1:55-2:55 p.m. with the winners announced from the stage at 3 p.m.

During the festival, the Plymouth Historical Museum will offer special exhibits, rates and hours all four days. Hours are 1-4 p.m. today, 1-5 p.m. Friday, 1-9 p.m. Saturday, and 1-7 p.m. Sunday. During the festival rates have been reduced to $2 for family, 75 cents for adults, 40 cents for children 13-18, and 20 cents for children 5-12 accompanied by an adult. A special exhibition "Home Arts of the Nineteenth Century" will be shown during the festival.

Produce show site changed

Sunday's produce show in the Plymouth Fall Festival is changing locations. It will be held on the lawn of Central Middle School on Main Street instead of the Wilcox House across from Kellogg Park as originally announced.

Voter apathy a major concern

Editor:

The August primary and the recent millage election a couple of months back only serves to point out some serious weaknesses in our society and, in particular, here within our Canton borders.

Apathy still remains the number one problem. Why is it so many folks register yet so few vote? Voting is considered by all (envied by other countries not so fortunate), to be a treasured right of the people, yet the majority of those registered still find some sort of rationalization for not attending the polls when necessary.

In essence, the majority rules but the majority never votes.

I really wonder what the nature of this apathetic problem is. Could he or she be the one who complains the most? Or possibly the one who says: "What difference does my one vote make?" (Seems it would have made a big difference in last millage election).

I guess everything boils down to an individual's responsibility. Granted, we must think first of family and job. Here is where we draw the line. This is the furthest extent of involvement and is where the line is drawn and the phrase "I have done my share" is used.

In this day and age, individual responsiblity entails more than what was just described. We are affected individually more these days by the events of the world than say our grandparents were.

I THINK, without too much rhetoric, many people fall under the two well worn statements: "Can't see beyond your nose" and "Can't see the forest for the trees." Our primary here in Canton is a case in point.

If one could see below and in between the issues of this last election and attempt to find out what kind of progress has been made in our township this past year and a half under the leadership of Bob Greenstein—Canton has finally been moving in a constructive direction.

The direction has been well planned and designed for constructive changes in the future. These men have vision. If you don't know them personally, then I suggest you do so, because you will find it a most rewarding and pleasant experience.

All governments have problems and will continue to have them. The need is for men and women to meet these problems head on and attempt to solve them, keeping in mind you, the citizen of the community.

I am afraid the persons we are voting for in November for Canton political positions are not people capable of doing this job. Without the Greenstein team, I see some dark clouds on Canton's horizons.

Foust believes there's conflict

Editor:

I wish to reply in support of a recent letter seeking Mr. (Robert) Greenstein's removal or resignation from either the office of Canton Township supervisor or Canton Township police chief.

I feel it is clearly a conflict of interest with regards to the separation of powers—executive (police chief) and legislative (supervisor of township board of trustees).

The office of police chief to which Mr. Greenstein was appointed by his "side" of the township board is a subordinate position to that of the board. I am now wondering how decisions regarding policies and practices of the police reserves in Canton can legally, ethically or morally be made.

For example, was Greenstein acting as police chief or township supervisor when he recently met the township's "federal grant seeker" while dressed in his full police chief dress uniform?

I support Ms. Carrie Young and her seeking of a more truly more democratic local government.

Poison pens blinded voters

Editor:

It seems if you're not attacking Mr. (Robert) Greenstein and his team or the reserves, your chances of having a letter printed are slim.

There has been many things bothering me since reading the lies of some people. First of all, if I'm wrong in what I'm going to say, please let me know. I certainly don't want to be categorized with Young, Hamann, Bretzlaff and anyone else who spreads lies.

When Mr. Greenstein was elected two years ago with other board members, he made many promises to the voters. As far as I can see, he has kept almost all of them.

To name a few: The people of Canton now attend a meeting without worrying that someone on the board will tell them to sit down and be quiet if they choose to speak. You see, before Mr. Greenstein was elected, a person could not speak their mind at a township meeting. Mr. (Phillip) Dingleday saw to that.

By the way Mr. Dingleday was also the biggest single contributor to the (Harold) Stein campaign fund. That tells you on what lines Mr. Stein will be conducting the meetings.

Another thing Mr. Greenstein has done is slow down the population growth of Canton. I'm grateful that he has. We certainly couldn't afford the taxes if he hadn't. Heaven only knows what this township would be like if Dingleday was still in office.

Mr. (Peter) Bundarin proposes a part-time supervisor of Canton. He apparently feels there isn't enough work. Then I ask myself why he wants to appoint a superintendent. It seems that Mr. Bundarin has been a practicing lawyer for just over a year, which hardly qualifies him for the job of supervisor. Perhaps if he becomes our part-time supervisor he can then keep his law practice. This would seem to be a conflict of interest. I'm sure Mr. Greenstein would like to be a part-time supervisor but he must feel it's impossible.

I hear he puts in 60-80 hours a week trying to solve the problems of Canton. That's how you can tell if a person has the people of Canton and their interests at heart.

I could go on and on but I don't think it would do much good. The people working for Stein and Bundarin have made sure that the voters of Canton have been poisoned by their lies.

If this letter opens even one person's eyes as to what we are in for, then it was worth the time it took to write it.

School lawn job defended

Editor:

In response to school board member Marcia Borowski regarding lawn maintenance cost on the Plymouth Community school office. She referred to this as a "dumb expense."

We received a call from the Plymouth Community School office to landscape the office in July 1975. I proposed trimming existing trees and bushes rather than replacing them. We planted only two new trees and maintained the grounds for the balance of '75 as well as repairing the sprinkler system. We did the job only after receiving a purchase order number from the school board.

WE THEN received a new purchase order number early this year from the Plymouth Community School office to maintain the grounds. We received many compliments from the townspeoble, who thought it was about time the grounds were repaired.

This year's purchase order included fertilizer, weed killer, mowing, trimming bushes and hand watering extensions of lawns twice a week, if necessary. As a result of this hot, dry summer, the hand watering extensions were needed.

We also had to do more repair work on the sprinkler system in early spring. Our water hoses were destroyed as a result of automobiles running over them while we were watering lawn extensions.

WE HAVE been selling, discounting and donating flowers, shrubs and trees to the Plymouth school system and PTA groups for more than 20 years. My father and I donated and planted an eight-foot spruce at Allen school on a cold December day in 1956 in time for the children's Christmas program.

I suggest that Ms. Borowski get all the facts when she talks of monthly fees before making rash accusations against Good's Nursery. We too have been experiencing inflationary costs.

Think it over Ms. Borowski.

'Pot of gold' misrepresented

Editor:

A treasurer's job is to take charge of funds or revenues. Hence, our present treasurer of Canton Township, Carl Parsell, is authorized to manage the taxpayers' "pot of gold."

Keep in mind, though, that Canton has hired a Certified Public Accountant as deputy treasurer (Mike Gorman), to keep the accounting of money matters in a business-like manner. He is the actual bookkeeper.

In light of this observation, it would seem logical that when any questions concerning monetary spending or intake arise, they be directed to Mr. Gorman.

Instead of the logical route, however, questioning citizens are misguidingly referred to Mr. Parsell—a man who is by no means an accountant. Thus, to exemplify a colorful exchange of questions and answers between Parsell and a group of citizens (of which I was a part of) is appropriate.

Mr. Parsell was asked, "How much did the township spend for the taping system?" His unhesitant reply was $100. I could barely contain myself from a spasm of uncontrollable laughter. Did he not know that $1,450 was spent for a new public address system, tape recorder and microphones?

AND WHAT ABOUT the entire building construction that called for proper acoustics for taping the meetings. It may be noted that Mr. Parsell did not mention the township board failed to approve the appropriations for the refurbishing.

In fact, as trustee Brian Schwall once said in the papers as protest: "Greenstein is confusing approval of bills with approval of future expenditures. We have approved bills in order to pay them, but we have not approved the spending."

Next, an inquiry was made in reference to the cost of the reserves. Parsell said they cost less than $11,000. Again, I could barely keep a straight face. Why, the uniforms alone ran nearly $10,000.

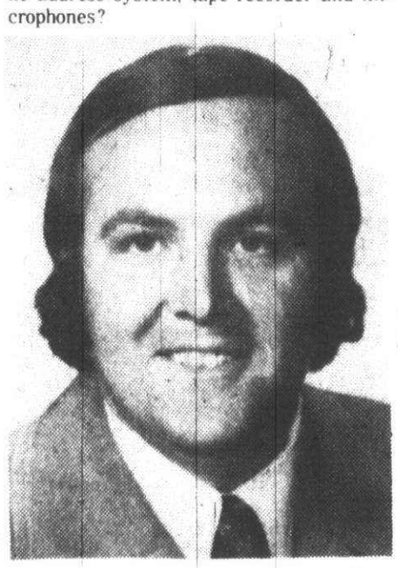

Had he forgotten about the pursuit cars (five), radio equipment and the reserve headquarters costing $4,000 for transferring the location? How about the dome flashers, ticket books; training program, liability insurance, controversial guns and so on?

With Mr. Parsell's apparent lack of knowledge or lack of deliverence in the truth department, I've become highly suspicious of caretakers who watch over our little "pot of gold."

If Parsell intentionally or unintentionally continues to hide the truth and bury it under the political grounds, it will grow and gather such explosive power that the day it bursts, it will blow up every ounce of political untruths that gets in the way.

I feel this day is approaching in the near future.

For strength of heart, try a pinch of marigold

Witch Watch by GUNDELLA

One of the last lovely flowers of summer is the marigold. Many years ago, they were used principally for making dye from their bright yellow petals.

They were also used to hide the smell and taste of meat that wasn't fresh.

They have been lauded for their medicinal value since early times. In 1373 they were said to "distroie the pestilence be it ever so fell."

Around 1600 the flower was popular for making a concoction to improve eyesight, so that one might see fairies and spirits.

NICOLAS CULPEPER, a 16th century herbalist, wrote: "Marigold is of the sun, and under Leo, and therefore strengthens the heart." It was used in broths to comfort the heart.

The flower has also been used for female discomfort, toothache and inflamed eyes and in medicines for the plague, melancholy and other ills.

In America, marigolds were used in great quantities during the Civil War to treat wounds and injuries.

Marigold has also been used as a remedy for convulsions, typhoid and jaundice. It was recommended for its cooling, soothing effect as a tincture for sprains, bruises, cuts, burns and poison ivy.

It has been said that marigold will also remove warts.

IN THE 1500s there was an amulet made from marigold petals and a bit of laurel wrapped around a wolf's tooth. If a woman wore this amulet, no one would speak ill of her. If a man carried it, he would be protected from physical dangers.

If one were robbed, he would wear the amulet at night and would see who the robber was in his dream. And if the amulet were hidden in a church where a couple was originally married, all marital conflicts and troubles would cease.

In England it was customary on Oct. 18 (St. Luke's Day) for a young woman to take marigold flowers, marjoram, thyme and a little wormwood, dry them before the fire, and grind them into a powder. This powder was then sifted through a piece of lawn and simmered with a small amount of virgin honey and white vinegar.

With this, she would anoint her stomach, breasts and lips before retiring at night in order to bring dreams of the man she would eventually marry.

How to fight encephalitis

There is a lot more to think about in the yard besides weeds, flowers and grass as the summer weather stretches on. That wonderful weather also means that new crops of mosquitoes ape on the way.

Outbreaks of mosquito-borne encephalitis in 13 states reached epidemic proportions last year in the worst outbreak of the disease since 1964. There were 655 reported cases involving at least 41 deaths. Mississippi is the first state to report cases in 1976 and Windsor, Ontario, has reported two cases.

Michigan health officials are prepared for a massive spraying program to kill mosquitoes that transmit the deadly illness.

So a continuing program to attack mosquitoes on your property should be a must in many states for more reasons than comfort.

What may seem to be inconsequential amounts od stagnant water could well be the breeding ground for thousands of mosquitoes at your home, reports Sandra Conrad, a consumer information specialist.

"ONE OF the first things to do is to clean out rain gutters and downspouts to make sure no water is pooling there," she said. A child's sand pail, bucket or other container forgotten in a corner of the garden also can collect water and become a mosquito breeding ground.

Bird baths and wading pools should be drained and refilled at least weekly, she said, and low-lying areas where water collects and stands after rains or lawn watering should be drained when possible.

All of this will help control mosquitoes on your property by eliminating their breeding grounds, she said, but it won't climinate all mosquitoes.

Backyard barbecues, lawn and pool parties and the like can best be made bug-free by using a spray product that not only kills the mosquitoes already there, but also acts as a repellent to others.

But for the best insurance against insect bites whenever you're outdoors, Mrs. Conrad recommends using a quality insect repellent. When applied properly to clothing and exposed skin, it provides effective protection against both mosquitoes and biting flies.

IT IS FAR too early to say how much of a threat encephalitis will be in the United States this year. Health experts hope that any outbreak can be kept well below last year's levels because of increased public awareness of how serious the problem is.

The encephalitis virus is carried bw birds such as sparrows and blackbirds. Mosquitoes pick up the disease from the birds and pass it on to humans.

The disease causes stiff necks, headaches! vomiting, drowsiness, fever and in the most serious cases, coma and death. The very old, the infirm and the very young are generally most susceptible.

Kronich to speak

"The Social and Emotional Aspects of the Learning Disabled Teenager" will be the topic chosen by Mrs. Doreen Kronich, director of the Integra Foundation for the Learning Disabled when she speaks at 7:30 p.m, Monday, Sept. 20 in Waterman Center of Schoolcraft College.

Mrs. Kronich, mother of three, was founder of the Ontario Association for Children with Learning Disabilities in 1963, which expanded into a national association.

She is past president of the Ontario and Canadian ACLD, contributing editor of Academics Therapy and member of the professional advisory board of the Journal of Learning Disabilities.

She is also author of two books, "They Too Can Succeed" and "The Learning Disabled Adolescent," both of which will be on sale at the meeting..

Insulation is the greatest protection your home can have from the needless waste of energy and money. It keeps the cool in your refrigerator—the heat in your oven. Installed in your home, it provides a double benefit. It keeps the warm air in during the winter and the hot air out in summer. Insulation is the key to saving scarce energy and dollars on your heating and cooling bills.
How much insulation should you have? At least six inches of quality insulation in the ceiling of your home. Also, to increase your savings of energy and money, install storm doors and windows, weather-strip and caulk cracks.
* For more ideas on how to save scarce energy and heating and cooling dollars, call or stop in for our free booklet, "Why Insulate?"

Schweitzer topped field in '67 commission race

(Part II)

In his ruling in the Schweitzer case in 1967, Judge Baum also made these points:

• The government of Plymouth, including its city commission, must be instituted for the equal benefit, security and protection of all the people of Plymouth—regardless of wealth.

• When the City of Plymouth takes from one class of citizens the opportunity to select persons like themselves for their representatives in government, it dilutes the voting power of this class of citizens.

• This is a case in which a minister has no real property because he pursues a leadership role in a church which generally furnishes him with a residence. As a practical matter, the City of Plymouth is telling him that if he lives the customary life of a Methodist minister, he cannot run for office.

• The Plymouth charter is not saved from its constitutional infirmities by the fact that a majority of the electors of Plymouth adopted it and can amend it. Constitutional rights are guaranteed to individual citizens. Such rights cannot be taken away by a majority, or even by a vote which is one short of being unanimous.

• The fact that many cities in Michigan committed the same constitutional error as Plymouth does not save Section 4.4 of the City Charter of Plymouth.

• The property ownership requirement as a prerequisite for public office is an undemocratic relic of a bygone age. It is time to relegate it to the historical museum.

THE CITY COMMISSION, with James McKeon and Robert Smith dissenting, decided to take the case to a higher court. The commissioners made it clear, however, that they were not attempting to keep Rev. Schweitzer's name off the ballot.

Judge Draugelis, who had represented the city in its case before Judge Baum, cautioned the commission about the ramifications of its actions. "If you appeal the case and lose," he told the commission, "there are about 75 other cities who might become mad because their charters would be damaged."

PLYMOUTH—PAST AND PRESENT
by
Sam Hudson

Meantime, while the city's suit was pending, Schweitzer's entry into the race livened what had appeared to be a dull election. Those seeking the four posts were all incumbents: James Jabara, George Hudson, George Lawton, and Arch Vallier. At first, it seemed that they would be unopposed. Now, Schweitzer was in the race, and Albert Johnson and George Hunter also entered the field.

The Plymouth Observer endorsed Schweitzer, declaring that "he has shown an ability to fight and win. He took up what appeared to be an impossible situation—bucking a city charter—and he won the respect of many citizens in Plymouth at the same time."

When the results of the April 3 election were announced, Rev. Schweitzer's name topped the list. He was elected to the commission by 591 votes—ten more than his nearest opponent.

REVEREND SCHWEITZER served on the city commission for two years while the city's appeal was pending.

On April 24, 1969, the Michigan Supreme Court, in a 4-2 ruling, overturned the 1967 opinion by Judge Baum. But Schweitzer had resigned his seat on the commission two weeks before the higher court announced its decision.

The court case, the election, and the resulting publicity strained Schweitzer's relationship with his church. Shortly after his election, he learned that he was being transferred from the Plymouth parish. He decided to stay in Plymouth and took a voluntary leave from the church. In August, he took a job in Detroit as director of the Coleman School—a private institution for the education of the emotionally disturbed and mentally retarded children.

In October 1967, Schweitzer explained his viewpoint to Haley H. Ward, religion writer for the Detroit Free Press. "The church has to be involved in the world. We've got to stop talking about only bringing in the kingdom of God by donations and pledges. I wouldn't want to be a bishop. I wouldn't want a problem like me."

ALTHOUGH THE CITY eventually won the battle with Schweitzer, it lost the war.

Today, a person doesn't have to own property, or even been a resident of the city for two years, to be eligible to run for a seat on the commission. Schweitzer's suit was the forerunner of several more like it, both in Michigan and in other parts of the nation. As a result of these cases, the controversial provision in the Plymouth Charter is no longer operative.

In 1973, Mahlon Green, a former resident of Plymouth, filed a lawsuit in U.S. District Court in Detroit charging that the Plymouth Charter was discriminatory. During the time which had elapsed since the Schweitzer case, the political and judicial climate had shifted toward more emphasis on individual rights. The court found in Green's favor, ruling the two years residence and the property requirements were invalid. The city appealed to the federal court in Cincinnati, but lost. Green ran for a seat on the city commision but was not elected.

The city considered appealing to the U.S. Supreme Court. After weighing the cost against the chances of success, the commissioners decided to let the matter drop. Since that time, numerous suits in various states have ended with rulings in favor of the individual, demonstrating the wisdom of the city's decision.

BREVITIES FROM THE MAIL

K-C ALUMINUM DRIVE

Sept. 9-12—The Knights of Columbus post in Plymouth is collecting aluminum to raise money to help combat muscular dystrophy. Aluminum items will be collected at 15 cents a pound with a check made out to the Muscular Dystrophy Association as a donation. The collection point will be open from noon to 8 p.m. Sept. 9-12 at the K-C grounds, 150 Fair Street at Lilley, Plymouth.

EXNEWCOMERS BOWLING

The new Plymouth Exnewcomers Club is still taking reservations for its fall bowling teams. The women's league will meet every Friday at 9 a.m. starting Sept. 10. The couples' league will meet every other Sunday at 4 p.m. starting Sept. 19. Both leagues will bowl at Plaza Lanes. Anyone interested may call Joan Leary at 455-5138.

GROWTH WORKS

Growth Works is running a training program for volunteer counselors, youth workers, and tutors through Our House Crisis Center. People who wish to go through training need to arrange for an interview. For information or an interview contact Bill Henry at 455-4900 before Sept. 10.

ISIA COMPETITION

Sept. 11—Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department will sponsor ISIA Competition in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer, starting 9 a.m. Saturday and continuing throughout the day with finals in the evening. Some of the best young figure skaters in the area can be seen for admission of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Dr. Frank Hollingsworth will discuss the progression of alcohol and the disease concept. Program is open to the public.

Egloff to start as Badger end

University of Wisconsin football coach John Jardine has named ex-Plymouth High School star Ron Egloff as his probable starting tight end on offense when the Badgers meet Michigan Saturday in the Big Ten opener at Ann Arbor.

The 6-4, 230-pound Egloff is now a senior at Wisconsin and is making a comeback after lettering as a sophomore and then slumping off last season when the Badgers won only four of 11 starts.

A sellout throng of more than 100,000 is expected for the 36th gridiron meeting between the Badgers and Wolverines, with Michigan gunning for its 10th straight victory in the series.

Egloff graduated with the Plymouth class of 1973 and in his career here was a standout both in football and basketball, gaining all-Suburban Eight honors in both sports.

Freeway will help

Noise, traffic destroying our suburban garden

As we were driving along Plymouth Road the other night, with window down, enjoying the balmy air and the relative quiet of the relatively quiet suburban area of Livonia, out of nowhere came a thunderous roar that must have registered 10 on the Richter Scale and easily surpassed the threshhold of pain.

It was a pair of motorcyclists, going at least 60 miles an hour in a 40 mph zone; the pair of bikers was followed by yet another pair, equally loud and equally fast.

They all darted in and out of traffic, playing the odds that made it unlikely that a Livonia or Redford traffic cop would pull them over.

THE INCIDENT sort of shattered our momentary illusion of immunity from the noise pollution that characterizes larger cities, such as Detroit.

Redford, Livonia, Westland, Garden City and now even Canton and Plymouth are becoming increasingly subject to the daily slings and arrows many the residents formerly had to endure only in Detroit or Dearborn; Wyandotte or Pontiac; Warren or Highland Park.

Though western Wayne County noise has not reached the point of no return, nor "progressed" much beyond the nuisance level, it's clear that life in these areas is not entirely the sheltered, ordered or even safe existence sought by the persons who moved here.

SIT IN your car in bumper-to-bumper traffic waiting to enter a department store in Canton; try to turn onto Wayne Road as you travel either west or east on Plymouth during rush hour; or attempt to make good time through Garden City during rush periods.

But getting from the western suburbs to the eastern suburbs is even more difficult than traveling within each community.

EVENTUALLY commuting from the northwest to the northeast and vice-versa will be expedited if the I-96 Freeway ever reaches completion. The completion will make it more convenient to drive from one suburb to another, but it will also add to the amount of traffic in each community, as drivers go back and forth.

Redford, Livonia, Westland and Garden City are located in a kind of devil's triangle of hinterland expansion. Redford already is a doormat for commuters traveling from Detroit to more outlying areas; but Livonia will become one, too, as Novi undergoes a population explosion. So will Garden City and Westland, as Canton Township erupts in the next decade.

Noise and traffic will increase, security will decrease, as each community finds its police departments too short-handed to take care of even the routine matters of handing out traffic tickets for excessive noise or excessive speed.

We're still light years ahead of Detroit and other declining areas in terms of quality of life. But the suburban rose garden we promised ourselves will have a few thorns in it, as we will discover, perhaps sooner than we think.

Bottles aren't paper

Litter Lobby's outrage

We expected the litter lobby would conduct a campaign against the Nov. 2 ballot proposal to ban throwaway containers that would be an outrage to common sense. Regrettably, we were correct.

The litter lobby—the people who make money on throwaway cans and bottles—has issued a pamphlet declaring litter would be reduced only 10 or 12 per cent by banning throwaways.

What the litter lobby does is equate all kinds of litter, which is blatant nonsense. You've heard of a child or dog cutting itself on a broken bottle someone threw onto the roadside, but have you ever heard of a gum wrapper cutting someone?

You've heard of discarded cans jamming a farmer's machinery, but have you ever heard of a discarded Kleenex doing the same?

You know a candy wrapper will decompose in the rain, snow and wind, but will a discarded aluminum can decompose?

You've seen the famous photo of the Au Sable River trout that was deformed when a pull tab from a can was caught on its body, but have you ever seen a picture of a paper cup deforming a fish?

All litter is regrettable and deplorable. But the litter of non-returnable pop and beer bottles and cans is plainly far more dangerous than than the paper kind.

We can't stop all littering, but we can help get rid of the bottles and cans by giving people an economic incentive to recycle those containers. Support the Nov. 2 ballot proposal to ban throwaways.

Greed and the government fracture fable of red hen

Eccentricities

by HENRY M. HOGAN, JR.

Once upon a time, there was a little red hen who scratched about the barnyard until she uncovered some grains of wheat. She called her neighbors and said, "If we plant this wheat, we shall have bread to eat. Who will help me plant it?"

"Not I," said the cow.

"Not I," said the duck.

"Not I," said the pig.

"Not I," said the goose.

"Then I will do it myself," said the little red hen, and she did.

THE WHEAT GREW tall and ripened into golden grain. "Who will help me reap my wheat?" asked the little red hen.

"Not I," said the duck.

"Out of my classification," said the cow.

"I'd lose my seniority," said the pig.

"I'd lose my unemployment compensation," said the goose.

"Then I will," said the little red hen, and she did.

AT LAST, IT came time to bake the bread. "Who will help me bake the bread?" asked the little red hen.

"That would be overtime for me," said the cow.

"I'd lose my welfare benefits," said the duck.

"I'm a dropout and never learned how," said the pig.

"If I'm to be the only helper, that's discrimination," said the goose.

"Then I will," said the little red hen. She baked five loaves and held them up for her neighbors to see.

They all wanted some—in fact, demanded a share. But the little red hen said, "No, I can eat the five loaves myself."

"Excess profits!" yelled the cow.

"Capitalist leech!" cried the duck.

"I demand equal rights!" shouted the goose.

The pig just grunted. Then they hurriedly painted "Unfair" picket signs and marched around, shouting obscenities.

THE GOVERNMENT AGENT came and said to the little red hen, "You must not be greedy."

"But I earned the bread," said the little red hen.

"Exactly," said the agent. "That is the wonderful free enterprise system. Anyone in the barnyard can earn as much as he wants. But under government regulations, the productive workers must divide their product with the idle."

And they lived happily ever after. But the little red hen's neighbors wondered why she never again baked bread.

It's an old fable borrowed from many different places.

School boards, teachers frustrated at bargaining

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

It's easy to understand the frustration of both local teachers and school boards as they try to negotiate labor contracts this fall. Both sides are caught in identical binds.

School boards, seeing inflation driving up costs of running school districts, find themselves unable to give the kinds of salary increases teachers want. Teachers, finding their living standards eroded by inflation, demand salary increases they may realize the school system cannot afford.

Both sides realize that if they cannot bargain to a contract and a strike results, the public will be very, very unlikely to vote future property tax increases.

TAKE THREE LOCAL examples.

In Garden City, where a long teacher strike two years ago has left a seething residue of suspicion, teachers this week voted to go back to work without a contract and little prospect of agreement in the near future.

The reason? Both the teachers and the school board realize very well that the bulk of the district's operating millage is up for renewal next June.

There's a similar situation at Schoolcraft Community College, where 150 teachers got up and walked out on a speech by President Nelson Grote during an orientation meeting a week ago. The teachers went back to work this week, again without a new contract, in large part because they realize that the college's board intends to ask the voters for increased tax support this coming January.

In Plymouth, where voters passed (the second time around) a 4.75 mill tax increase last week, the teachers have agreed to go back to work without a contract. Why? Because everybody involved feels that to have a strike just now would be a slap in the face of the community which just voted to increase its support for the schools.

TEACHERS—and, to some degree, school boards—also face another frustration. The state law prohibiting strikes by public employees is still on the books, and last year in the Crestwood School District everybody discovered that courts were willing to let a school board fire a lot of teachers under that law.

The teachers have a legitimate beef, in my view. They say that state law allows them to be represented by a union and to bargain collectively with school boards. But how, the teachers ask, can they bargain collectively when the weapon of the strike is not available to them?

The teachers then conclude that the solution to this dilemma is to change the state law that forbids them to strike.

The practical difficulty is that the legislature huffed and puffed last fall for what seemed like endless hours of debate in trying to pass legislation giving teachers a limited right to strike. Partisan politics spoiled that effort, together with ferocious opposition from the public.

With an election coming up in November, you don't hear many state legislators talking about trying to get back into that can of worms again.

SO WHERE are we?

It might be that all the intense aggravation of teacher negotiations is a sign something is basically defective with our present system.

Currently, state law provides that teachers (and other public employees) have the right to join unions and that they shall bargain collectively with their public employers regarding wages and other working conditions. The theory is that collective bargaining between public employees such as teachers and public employers such as school boards is analogous to the classical negotiating situation between unions and management in a private company.

This theory, I believe, is defective.

Why? Because in the usual case of collective bargaining between management and unions, no other party is needed to sit at the bargaining table in order to participate in a settlement. If the settlement results in an increase in the price of the goods the company makes, the marketplace will reduce demand and the company will have to lay off employees.

These factors simply do not apply in the case of collective bargaining for public employees.

First, many of the services provided by public employees are essential; sure, you can lay off teachers, but only up to a certain point.

Second, and most important, the notion that school boards or city councils represent the public at the bargaining table is simply not so. The history of labor relations for public employees over the past 10 years is filled with examples of school boards or city mayors making clearly absurd settlements with public employee unions just to get a settlement and get on with the real issues of running for re-election.

IN SCHOOL BOARD-TEACHER negotiations, do the kids attending school sit at the bargaining table? Do the parents of the kids whose education will be impaired by teacher layoffs or delays in school openings? Where at the bargaining table is the seat for the taxpayers who are expected to pay up?

Maybe the system demands a more complete examination than has now been produced. Maybe all the troubles teachers and school boards are having in getting contracts settled and millages passed are symptoms of a more basic problem than passing laws to allow strikes by public employees.

Maybe, in fact, we need to completely rethink the way we handle those employees who provide essential services to the public, who deserve a decent salary and working conditions, and who are now frustrated and angry.

ene on the freeways

When state police began patrolling freeways in Detroit late last month, it not only made the concrete ditches safe again. It restored a little fiscal sanity to Detroit and Michigan.

Almost everywhere in Michigan, state police patrol freeways. The notable major exception was Detroit, which patrolled its own freeways (a state job) with no state reimbursement.

As Detroit was facing its umpteenth and worst financial crisis last spring, city officials again asked for state aid because city police were patrolling freeways. The state approved $28 million for cultural services and the city hospital, but none for freeway patrols.

It has now been revealed in the public prints that from July 1 to Aug. 27, Detroit was virtually without any freeway patrols except for routine traffic checks. The reason was that the Detroit police force was reduced by layoffs.

The state should have stepped in with freeway patrols the first of July, but no action was taken until the Detroit youth gang catastrophe reached public attention. So on Aug. 27 the state police were dispatched to patrol the 62 miles of freeway in Detroit to relieve Detroit police to hunt down young gangsters.

We hope the state police freeway patrols will be permanent. Detroit shouldn't have to—or be allowed to—perform state services, and the legislature shouldn't have to be bombarded with requests to aid the central city because it's performing state services. Those are state freeways, and the state police should patrol them.

Moreover, it's probably cheaper, car for car, to have state police there. Any legislator can tell you Detroit is notorious for high costs in city government, and we are probably getting a better bargain having the state police do state work than paying Detroit to do it.

Pierce raises most

Diverse contributors mark 2d Congressional battle

What do a Dexter party store owner, the president of Eastern Michigan Univeristy and the head of Coors Brewry have in common?

They all contributed to the campaigns of candidates in Michigan's 2nd Congressional District.

And if you want an even stranger contribution, consider the Michigan Doctors Political Action Committee. It contributed to the winners of both the Republican and Democratic primaries.

THAT DATA is among the nuggets you'll find in dozens of pages of campaign expense reports which candidates must file with the Federal Elections Commission (FEC) in Washington.

Additional copies of the reports must go, in time, to the Michigan Secretary of State Elections Division office in Lansing.

As of Sept. 2, Edward C. Pierce, the Ann Arbor physician who won the Democratic primary, reported he raised $38,006 and had spent $35,831, leaving him a balance of $2,175.

As of Aug. 23, State Sen. Carl Pursell of Plymouth, winner of the Republican primary, had raised $35,132 and spent $31,701, leaving a balance of $3,430.

Ron Trowbridge, Ann Arbor councilman who lost the GOP primary to Pursell, showed receipts of $8,803 and expenses of $6,977, leaving a balance of $1,825. But Trowbridge's last report filed in Lansing was dated July 26, a week before the primary. A later report, if filed, is expected to show he spent more.

There were no reports in Lansing from former State Rep. Marvin Stempien of Livonia, who lost the Democratic primary to Pierce. The FEC in Washington confirmed Stempien had filed a report there July 27 but would give no details over the telephone.

Other candidates in the Democratic primary either spent small amounts or failed to file.

PIERCE HAD strong support from academic and professional persons, mostly in Ann Arbor. Here are the persons or groups which contributed $100 or more:

W.H. Locke Anderson, University of Michigan professor, $100; Peter Darrow, Ann Arbor attorney, $100; Elizabeth Douvan, Ann Arbor professor, $100; Johann Eliot, Ann Arbor professor, $100; George Peroos, Ann Arbor instructor, $100; Robert Sauve, university administrator, $200.

Eugene Douvan, Ann Arbor attorney, $300; Gerald Lipnik, Ann Arbor attorney, $425; Theodore Newcomb, Ann Arbor retiree, $300; William J. Davis, Ann Arbor musician, $200; Joan Priestly, Ann Arbor medical student, $150; Harold Shapiro, Ann Arbor professor, $300; 0aul Endicott, Plymouth CPA, $300.

Ann Arbor Street Fair, $1,389; 1976 Democratic Campaign Committee, $5,000; Ned Duke, Dexter party store owner, $500; Florence Fraser, Monroe, $197; David M. Goldstein, Ann Arbor, $500; John D. Hatch, Ann Arbor dentist, $500; Elizabeth Kaufman, Ann Arbor social worker, $100; Ann L. Kolars, Ann Arbor, $110.

David Spaan, Grass Lake contractor, $500; Health Workers Ball, $530; Livonia cocktail party, $450; Walter Baisch, Brighton retiree, $200; John W. Conlin, Ann Arbor attorney, $300; Philip Converse, university administrator, $120; Burleson Fitzharris, Ypsilanti retiree, $200.

Joel Gottlieb, Ann Arbor, RDS consultant, $100; Albert J. Logan, Ann Arbor dentist, $125; William McAninch, Plymouth, Ford supervisor, $250; Michigan Doctors Political Action Committee, $300; Sarah Power, UM regent, $200; Sally Reames, Ann Arbor, hospital administrator, $100; Albert Schneider, Ann Arbor physician, $200.

Lloyd T. Williams, Ann Arbor attorney, $120; Dominic DeVarti, Ann Arbor restaurateur, $200; Marcie Slater, Livonia, $100; Peter Darrow, Ann Arbor attorney, $225; Lavinia Bennett, Northville teacher, $200; George Bennett, Northville, community college instructor, $200.

Robert Delaney, Plymouth attorney, $200; Marc Ross, Ann Arbor, university administrator, $100; Julia Lewis, Ann Arbor, nurse at Pierce's Summit Medical Center, $194; Robert P. Sauve, Ann Arbor, universtiy administrator, $2,000.

In addition, Pierce listed loans from the following persons in these amounts:

Joel Gottlieb, Ann Arbor, $1,000; Robert J. Grace, Ann Arbor, $100; Elizabeth Kaufman, Ann Arbor social worker, $1,200; Harold Shapiro, Ann Arbor professor, $150; W.N. Locke Anderson, Ann Arbor professor, $285; George Hastings, Plymouth, $420; and Steven J. Pinney, Ann Arbor, $155.

PURSELL'S CONTRIBUTORS were mainly long-time business friends, special interest lobbies, and a number of nursing home administrators. Here are contributions of $100 or more:

Milton Nathanson, Detroit, nursing home director, $200; John Blodgett Jr., Grand Rapids retiree, $1,000; James H. Brickley, EMU president, $225; Leo Calhoun, Ford dealer in Plymouth, $100; Lee Draper, nursing home director from Farmington Hills, $200.

Margaret Dunning of Plymouth, $1,000; George Kolb, Lincoln-Mercury dealer in Plymouth, $200; Edward C. Levy, Detroit Lime Co. chairman, $800; Ivan Ludington, news service owner from Detroit, $1,000; Joan Moskovitz, West Bloomfield housewife, $150; Jean Richert, New Boston housewife, $200.

Forum extends pact 3 days

Members of the Faculty Forum will be in their classes at Schoolcraft College, at least until the end of this week, as negotiations continue on a new contract.

The two bargaining teams met for about seven hours Tuesday, and college President C. Nelson Grote reported "negotiations are progressing satisfactorily. We are not at an impasse. We have received and are reviewing the Forum's economic proposals."

The Forum, bargaining agent for 160 full-time faculty members and an undetermined number of part-timers, has scheduled a membership meeting for Sunday evening. Forum President Richard Arlen reported growing unrest among instructors at the two-year community college.

Arlen said the Forum has filed unfair labor practice charges against the college with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission.

One is over the definition of the bargaining unit. There is disagreement between the college and the Forum over whether "regular" part time faculty or all part-timers are included. He estimated the number of part-timers at "upwards of 200." Thew college estimate is 150-200.

The others are over what Arlen said was a lack of bargaining power on the part of the college's team. "They tell us they can't make counter-proposals because the board hasn't given them one," Arlen said.

The Forum president said that of the three contracts he has negotiated, this one has been the most difficult because the college bargaining team must continually get instructions from the board.

ARE YOU TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THE MUSICAL OPPORTUNITIES IN PIANO PLAYING
OFFERED YOUR CHILD?

LEARNING TO PLAY THE PIANO IN GROUPS IS AN IMPORTANT FIRST STEP IN LEARNING MUSIC BECAUSE:
• The piano is perhaps of all instruments the one most frequently found in homes, schools, churches and often the most appealing to the young child. • Piano playing, taught and learned in the group way, is fun and a natural play-life for groups of children. • Piano playing experience gives the essential musical background for later activity in band, orchestra and chorus. • The piano is a good medium for home entertainment. • The piano provides the rhythmic, melodic and harmonic background which is so necessary for the understanding of music.

Beginning the second week of September, Hammell Music Inc. will be offering group piano lessons to boys and girls ages 6-12. Lessons will be offered on Mondays and Tuesdays from 3:30-8:30. The piano classes will be taught by MORRINE POMISH, A GRADUATE STUDENT IN MUSIC AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN.

Plymouth musicians lead parade

The City of Marshall's annual historic home tour has become so popular that other Michigan towns are contributing to the event in what was almost the state's capital.

The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps is scheduled to be the lead band in the parade Saturday that will wind through the streets of Marshall as thousands of visitors tour 13 historic houses and buildings.

Sponsored by the Marshall Historical Society, the event will be from 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Saturday and 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Sunday.

Six of the homes on display have either never been shown before or are being shown for the first time in several years.

MARSHALL IS located south of I-94 about 65 miles west of Ann Arbor. A picturesque town of 7,250, it has avoided the industrialization of other Michigan cities and has preserved buildings dating back to the territorial days.

In the series of political logrollings that took place in the early days of statehood, it was supposed to become the state capital, while other cities were to get a prison, a university and an insane asylum. But at the last minute, the legislature gave the capital designation to Lansing, and Marshall stayed the same.

Tickets at $5 for adults and $1 for children under 12 are available at easily-found booths. Maps and literature are provided there. A shuttlebus cuts down walking from parking lots.

Besides the home tour, there is a parade each day at noon, along with bake sales, antique sales, an arts and crafts fair, ice cream social, Civil War-type encampment, barbershop quartet singing and other old-time pleasantries.

BUILDINGS ON TOUR this year include:

•C.E. Brooks House (1838), a Greek revival structure that may be the oldest brick residence in Michigan.

•C.W. Brooks House (1841), an outstanding example of the Greek revival "cottage temple" in the U.S.

•Creighton Sherman House (1857), an outstanding Gothic revival farmhouse embellished with two bay windows and conversion of an old shed into a family room.

• Sullivan House (1858), Gothic architecture with an Italianate tower.

•Machek House (1868), a Gothic revival home with lacey bargeboards, previously covered with unsightly shingles which were removed during the summer.

•Swift House (1892), with many Romanesque revival features.

OPEN AGAIN to the public will be 1839 house that was to be the governor's mansion, the little red Capitol Hill School and the town's landmark, Honolulu House.

An unusual feature this year will be exhibition of four structures that are in the process of restoration. These are: National House Inn (1835), one of the oldest hotels in Michigan which will be reopened in fall as an operating inn; the Joy-Bryant House (1844), with its Italianate tower; George House (1886), a highly ornate structure designed by the architects of the Ann Arbor railroad station that is now the Gandy Dancer restaurant; and Kinter House (1886), a Queen Anne house by the same architects.

All profits from the tour are used for maintenance of the Marshall Historical Society's properties and historical markers.

Here are some general hints for greater enjoyment of the tour:

Come early. • Saturday is somewhat less crowded than Sunday. • Wear comfortable walking shoes. • Use the shuttle bus to get from the free parking lots to the buildings you want to see. • See the most popular buildings early, before the crowds arrive.

Oldest brick residence in Michigan, this 1838 Greek revival home will be featured on the Sept. 11-12 Marshall historic homes tour.

LT. GOV. DAMMAN

Police grads to hear Damman

Lt. Gov. James Damman will be the keynote speaker at graduation ceremonies for 112 reserve police officers at Schoolcraft College on Sept. 16.

The class represents men and women from 23 police departments, nine of them local, who have completed a 30-week training program at the college.

The largest contingent graduating this year is the 26 officers from Canton Township. Other area communities represented are Farmington, Farmington Hills, Garden City, Livonia, Redford Township, Rochester, Troy and West Bloomfield Township.

The program is jointly sponsored by the Michigan Police Reserve Training Council (MPRTC) and Schoolcraft's community services division. MPRTC's executive director is Capt. Albert Stewart of Redford Township.

Eric Malzkuhn came to help Madonna College's staff learn sign language to begin a new integration process for deaf students. (Staff photos by Christopher Chagnon)

Sister Mary Angeline, head of the art department, goes for total communication.

Madonna's president, Sister Mary Francilene, concentrates on the language of the deaf.

INTEGRATION

Deaf and hearing brought together at Madonna

By MARGARET MILLER

Integration is a major aim this fall on the campus of Madonna College of Livonia, where classes in the new semester got under way this week.

But it's not the kind of integration usually discussed—this integration is the kind planned, bring to students who can't hear into full participation in campus life.

"We want to make Madonna a place where deaf students can get the services they need for a liberal arts education and where there's real integration of the hearing, the hearing-impaired and the deaf," said Sister Mary Francilene, Madonna's new president, as she took over her post this summer.

And, with the aid of a major Federal grant, the school is well on its way in this program.

Already many faculty members and staff persons have the beginnings of understanding of manual communication, the result of attending last week the first of two projected workshops on sign language.

A total of 150 students are signed up in five sections of a sign language course, being offered tuition-free.

A special counselor to help the deaf students work out problems they may face on campus has joined the Madonna staff.

Several special services are being offeredd. A crew of note-takers will be paid to attend classes and lectures and offer a set of notes to deaf students, hearing persons will help deaf persons with class work, deaf tutors will instruct the hearing in sign language and interpretors will use sign language during lectures so the deaf can understand.

Finally, a deaf library has been acquired, including a teletype machine that, combine with a specially-equipped telephone, provides communication for the deaf on campus.

ALL THIS activity is a great gratification to Kenneth Rust, who came to Madonna last year to teach classes in interpreting for the deaf and now is heading up the new program made possible under a grant from the Fund for Improvement of Secondary Education (FIPSE).

"Education," he said, "has to be the key to a fuller life for those who lack hearing. That means education for both the deaf and the rest of the community."

Pointing out that Madonna now will be able to offer both a major in interpretation for the deaf and a minor in manual communication, Rust said these make the school a leading center in the nation for deaf education.

And, he added, it's probably the only institution in the country with the particular integration of deaf and hearing persons.

The FIPSE grant, Rust said, amounts to $85,000 in its first year, then $72,992 for the second year and $57,000 for the third.

After that, it's hoped the college can continue its program on a self-supporting basis.

THE FIRST SEMINAR for bringing faculty and administrators into the world of the deaf featured a special instruction team, Edward Carney of the National Association of the Deaf and Eric Malzkuhn from the Model Secondary School for the Deaf in Washington.

In two sessions several hours long, they taught the manual alphabet and words in common usage, distributed workbooks and had the educators practicing the new language.

Malzkuhn, who teaches English and drama as well as sign language, kept the group laughing—and working.

"Keep your hand turned around so I can see you," he told the staff members at one point. "I get the impression you're talking to yourself."

Sr. Francilene, who has had a little longer exposure to sign language, made a speech with both hands and voice when the workshop was completed, telling the two deaf visitors "we promise to practice every day and we want you to come back again and again."

Rust told the workshop participants there would be a second seminar—"deeper and more intense"—and that on many fronts the program to integrate the deaf would continue.

"And while we're working here, we'll be glad to have access to the National Association for the Deaf," he added.

Malzkuhn promised he and Carney would be back to assist the Madonna program. "We come back," he said. "We want you to be able to tell us off in sign language."

THE SUPPORTIVE features of the Madonna program offers a major strength, according to Rust.

Michael Meldrum, who studied with Rust at Eastern Michigan University and earned a master's at Gallaudet University, a school that is only for the deaf at its undergraduate level and accepts hearing students in its graduate program.

Meldrum, besides his counseling work, will share with his wife, Sharon, as well as Rust and George Gaerig the work of teaching the beginning courses in sign language.

"The five sections we scheduled filled up right away," Rust said. "We didn't want to add any more now, because our schedule is already very crowded as we set up this program in all its aspects, but there will be opportunity later for others to take the class.

"Hopefully, every student at Madonna will eventually get at least the first course in sign language, although no requirement is being made."

The idea, he explained, is that in a campus situation the learning doesn't come just at the feet of the instructors.

"Learning also takes place in the interaction of the students, and the discussions outside the classrooms, and for a deaf student to participate fully he must be a part of that too," Rust went on.

"We want the deaf to be able to do everything from asking the location of Room 101 to participating in a philosophical discussion."

RUST, THE SON of deaf parents, has been doing interpreting for many years and he and Meldrum both believe in total communication, the use of both vocal training for the deaf and the use of sign language.

"It's my feeling that the deaf person has a right to whatever communication we can offer," Rust said. "And part of that is the positive approach of helping hearing persons to learn to communicate with him."

Soon to be ready for distribution at Madonna are buttons that will be printed with the words: "Working towards an integrated hearing-deaf community."

That, in the feeling of the Madonna pioneers, says it all.

Kenneth Rust, director of the major integration program, demonstrates the sign for knowledge.

Safety project

Jaycettes will rent car seats

The best place for a baby to be is not in his mother's arms—at least not while traveling in a car. But infant car seats that give real protection can be a big investment, especially when the child grows so fast.

The Livonia Jaycettes have a solution that will keep an infant safe at minimal expense to the parents. A program called "Buckle Up Babes," sponsored by General Motors Corp. with an assist from the Jaycettes, will soon enable parents to obtain the company's Loveseat from the Jaycettes for only $6.

"The $6 plus a $6 deposit, will rent the carseat until an infant outgrows it at 22 pounds," said Kathy Van Buren, who is also heading the program. "That's usually at about nine months, she added.

According to Mrs. Van Buren, the Jaycettes hope to obtain the carseats and begin operation by Oct. 1. "We're going to solicit local GM car dealers for donations of seats, and welcome contributions of used Loveseats from individuals," Mrs. Van Buren said. "The rental fees will be used to buy more seats."

"We're running the program to keep people from putting the child on the seat or holding the infant," Mrs. Van Buren said. She added, "A Loveseat is especially safe because it faces the backseat rather than the front and can be secured with a seatbelt."

Mrs. Van Buren said the carseats will be available by writing the Livonia Jaycettes, 9427 Houghton, Livonia 48150.

"We feel a need for this program in the community, and we hope parents will contact us," she added.

Lamaze group starts fall program

The Lamaze Childbirth Education Association of Livonia, Inc. will host a Sept. 14 coffee reunion for all women who have taken its childbirth classes.

The event will be held from 9:30-11:30 a.m. in Newburg United Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia. Topics for discussion will include breastfeeding, caesarian-section and postpartem experiences. Mothers are urged to bring their babies and pre-schoolers.

For further information contact Mrs. Vicki O'Reilly at 459-0008.

The organization has also completed its schedule of childbirth classes for October and November to be held in various locations in the area.

The six-week classes are taught by registered nurses and should be taken eight to 12 weeks prior to delivery.

Series of classes are underway in St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, while other series will start Sept. 13, Oct. 25 and Oct. 29 in Henry Ford Junior High School, 8075 Ritz, Westland.

Schoolcraft College will host a series commencing Oct. 2, as will Novi Middle School, Novi, beginning Sept. 15 and Oct. 27. Others will start on Sept. 21 and Oct. 20 at Oakland Community College, in Farmington.

A series will also begin Sept. 16 in Clifford Smart Junior High School, Walled Lake.

To register or obtain further information on the classes contact Mrs. Kathy Gray at 427-1040. Register as soon as possible as enrollment is limited to 10 couples per class.

National defense DAR topic

National defense will be the opening theme of the activities of the Three Flags chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for the 1976-77 season.

A veteran member of the Michign State Police, Det. Lt. Philip Asiala of Redford Township, will speak regarding organized crime in Michigan at the chapter's meeting at 7 p.m. Sept. 13 in the home of Mrs. Morley Foster, 33501 Argonne, Farmington Hills.

National defense has been among the primary concerns of the DAR and the organization now has its national defense committee to assist members in fulfilling their patriotic, historical and educational purposes.

The committee has advocated the adequate defense of the nation to preserve the priceless heritage of freedom. Articles are contributed to each issue of the DAR Magazine on various phases of national defense.

Mrs. Foster will be assisted in serving dessert at 7 p.m. by Mrs. Robert Hanneman of Southfield and Mrs. Roland Sprague of South Lynon.

Pediatrician WCC speaker

Dr. Elaine Tan, pediatrician, will speak on "Insight for All Seasons" at a luncheon meeting of the Dearborn-Plymouth Women's Christian Club at 12 noon, Thursday, Sept. 16 in the Mayflower Meeting House, Main and Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Heishi for craft show

Beryl Ehrhardt, who fashions Indian jewelry using the popular Heishi beads, will be among some 50 craftsmen displaying and selling their work in the Northwest YWCA Country Fair, scheduled from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. The free event also will include refreshments and a flea market and is designed as a show for the whole family. The YW branch is at 25940 Grand River, west of Beech-Daly in Redford Township. How do you send your first child off as she really, really leaves home—no more of this nearby university town stuff?

Well, if you're anything like me, all you can think of to say at the moment of driving off is to tell her to be sure to lock the car with all her worldly possessions when she stops for the night enroute.

I didn't say it, though. I for once had the sense to know it didn't fit at all with a projected 1,000-mile trip to a first newspaper job.

IT DIDN'T FIT, anyway, with the week that had preceded that moment. Our daughter, with such a short time to get her belongings and her affairs in order, had accomplished the task with a dispatch that amazed me.

For one who has always tended to live in a world of ideas and ideals, she suddenly came up with a supply of common sense and efficiency to get everything—well, nearly everything—done in the week.

And if she was worried as she started off, she didn't show it.

A great deal more apprehension was evident the day she climbed onto the kindergarten bus, the day she set off for high school and the day we dropped her at the dorm for her freshman year in college.

HER MOTHER ran true to form, though. I had made her promise to call when she reached her new home, no, on second thought, at the end of the second day of driving, regardless of whether she was all the way there.

So when that evening came and the call didn't, I was pacing the floor exactly as I did the first time she took the car out alone.

The telephone finally rang; she'd had a car trouble delay but it was fixed and she'd be a couple more hours on the road. She'd let me know when she got there.

And the next morning her youngest sister wanted to know if she'd reached her destiny. I said I thought she meant destination, and she had.

But maybe the first word wasn't all that far off.

PARASOLS & Galoshes

By GAE McCORD

The calendar, tradition, and those noisy late parties may still indicate that the beginning of a new year is Jan. 1. But, Dear Readers, 'tain't necessarily so! The authentic fresh start is the week after Labor Day.

It's not the middle of winter when freezing cold winds and woolen clothes have become a bore and the fireplace is full of ashes and the sniffles are rampant.

The proverbial clean page is really turned on those first nippy days when the children have returned to school, gavels are turned over to new officers and the latest hem lines and hairdos in "Vogue" offer a whole new YOU.

It's the time when summer activities wind down and returning vacationers come back to the fold, ready to face life with renewed vigor.

IT'S ALSO the time of year when our population rapidly dwindles as a large segment of young people head for colleges and universities all over the country.

The mass exodus to campuses has been almost completed. The stereos, stuffed animals, tennis rackets, sweaters, cameras, scrap books, and typewriters once again have been transplanted, leaving in their wake vacant beds, unnatural silences, and occasional sighs of relief.

Among the many upper classmen who have returned to "dear Ann Arbor Town" and the University of Michigan are Mark Olson, Sherryl Nicholas, Janet VanScoit, Sue Owens, Richard Newton, Chuck Davis, dental student Don Davies, and Ann Wehmeyer, who will begin work on her doctorate.

The Robert Cooper household has seemed strangely silent since daughter, Patricia, left for her sophomore year at Central, and son Tom has resumed dormitory living on the campus of Western Michigan. Also firmly ensconced in Kalamazoo are Kathy Jender, Sally Theme, Billy Gibson, Rob Crieg, Karen Davies, Mike and Brian Kenny, Mary Beth Whittiker, and Cathy Campbell.

While Steve Robb heads for Albion, Sue Kavisto and Jim Humphries once again will hit the old books at Eastern. Where else would hockey scholarship recipient Ed Dobbs be headed but Northern?

The George Smith family will really scatter as daughter Barb leaves for Miami of Ohio, son Greg returns for his senior year at Central, and Tom becomes a freshman at MSU.

The really big caravan is beginning to form for Michigan State where classes usually are the last to start. Excited freshmen who will cheer the green and white for the first time include Mary Ann Mullen, Sue Pockington, Karen Stinebaugh, Carrie Lamirand, Jim Covington, Durt Judd, and Cathy Coaz. Upper classmen returning to Spartan territory are Donna Phelps, Nancy Wehmeyer, Phil Hilton, Carol Neighbors, Heidi Foster, and Karen Routson.

A CERTAIN sign that it's time to turn in the suntan oil for a phone list or loose leaf binder is when the new fall fashions start to look comfy rather than scratchy. Enjoying the first "reservations only" luncheon and informal style show at the Round Table Club last week was a full house comprised of almost as many interested gentlemen as ladies.

As Bill Decker's wife Carol, Dotty Ward, and Judy Fridley, high school teacher Franky Lamirand eagerly discussed the fall finery they were modeling. Lorainne Barbour and Betty Pint were seen making mental notes on additions to their cool weather wardrobes. A two-generation table of lovelies included Mrs. Clint Etienne and her mother, Mrs. William Ross, Mrs. Chuck Heidt, and mother, Mrs. Robert Bennett, and Mrs. Ned Stirton and her mother, Mrs. Wendell Miller. A super way to ease into the more frantic times ahead.

AUTUMN TASKS have started, however, as Plymouth members of the Portage Huron Yacht Club headed for one last glorious sail before beginning the annual task of readying their boats for dry dock.

Plymouthites who sail for pleasure and competition (they aren't the same thing, are they?) and enjoy almost weekly communal picnics at the club include the Gordon Chapins, Clark and Karen Chapin, the Chuck VanHeests, the John Kenneys, the Marvin VanHeests, Bill and Mary Silvis, the Ned Stirtons, the Robert Coopers, and ex-Plymouthites, Cran and Sue Rogers.

And it's one last anchors aweigh for Gus and Dee Carlson, Earl and Lois Merriman, Tom and Sylvia Mullen, Gene and Marj Fisher, Betty and Bud Harrison and the Silkowskis.

Pulling the plug on Sept. 4 at the Colony Swim Club were Joe and Elinore Shevlin, Jim and Jean Gilbestie, Wayne and Betty Weimer, Jo Ellen and Bill Odem, Don and Ellen Swabon, and Ed and Ruth Judd. One final barbecue and a last chilly dip in the pool and it's all over for another year.

Carolyn Brighton (left) and Audrey Etienne admired the fall ensemble modeled by Judy Fridley. Carol Decker (above right) modeled a suit with soft lines and wide stitched lapels for Leone Bennett (left) and Dorothy Miller. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Katarzis-Schuldt

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Katarzis honeymooned in the Upper Peninsula following their afternoon wedding in St. Kenneth Catholic Church, Plymouth.

The bride is the former Susan Diane Shuldt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel R. Schuldt of Nantucket Street in Plymouth. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Katarzis of Dearborn.

The Rev. John Lombardini performed the wedding ceremony.

Denise Mathis of Detroit was maid of honor and Linda Schuldt, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The bride wore a long-sleeved white dotted swiss gown with an elbow-length veil. Her bouquet was yellow rosebuds, fern, miniature white carnations and ivy. Her attendants' dresses were yellow and they wore yellow picture hats. Their flowers were white and yellow daisy mums with baby's breath and fern.

Greg Kozell of Dearborn was best man and Ron Craddock of Plymouth was usher.

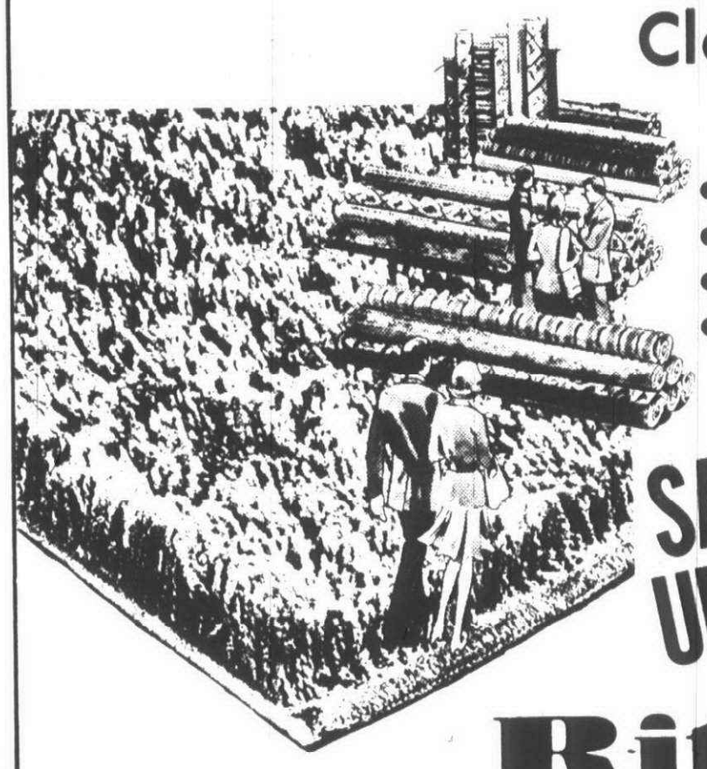

The wedding reception was in the Round Table Club, Plymouth.

They will live in Dearborn where the bridegroom, a graduate of Detroit College of Law, is a city employee.

Margaret Hess teaching

Bible class begins 19th year

The Community Bible Class taught by Margaret Hess will begin its 19th season Tuesday, Sept. 14, in Ward United Presbyterian Church, Six Mile and Farmington Road.

Several hundred women of many denominations and from all over the western suburbs are expected to gather in the Ward sanctuary from 9:30 to 11 a.m. as Mrs. Hess, wife of the church's senior pastor, continues the teaching she began in 1958.

Mrs. Hess' teaching, which applies the Bible to practical problems of everyday living, began in this area in the living room of her home with 13 women present.

Two years later, the classes were moved to the chapel of the fast-growing church, and now the large sanctuary must be used to accomodate the crowds.

These nurseries operate during the sessions.

THE COURSE is interdenominational, prepared by Mrs. C.F. Menninger, whose psychologist sons operate the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kan.

It goes through the Bible in eight years' time, and this year the study will begin with the gospels. Materials covering two years of study will be available for $3 during the 20 minutes before the first class in the series that continues through May.

Last year, membership in the class represented 23 denominations, including Catholic, Greek Orthodox, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopal, Lutheran, Christian Scientist, and Congregational. A total of 112 churches was represented, with the women—and a few men—coming from as far away as Rockwood, Wayne, Milford, Walled Lake and Detroit.

Mrs. Hess has taught Bible classes for 30 years in the Chicago and Detroit area. A similar class in Birmingham is scheduled Thursday mornings.

She also makes many appearances as a speaker at luncheons, banquets and retreats, and this fall she will lead retreats at Jackson and Flint and will conduct two seminars at the Winning Women Retreat at Kalamazoo.

MARGARET HESS and her husband, Dr. Bartlett L. Hess, are co-authors of a book, "How to Have a Giving Church," published by Abington Press.

Articles written by Mrs. Hess have appeared in a number of publications, including Christian Herald, Eternity, Scope, Moody Monthly and Home Life.

She has a three-minute radio spot, "Pointers from Proverbs," on stations WEXL and WYFC three times a week, and she will be named in the 1977 edition of "Who's Who in American Women."

Mrs. Hess has visited Bible lands six times, most recently in the spring of this year. She has traveled around the world and visited the Far East twice as well as traveling extensively in Europe and the United States.

Transcribing for the blind is a volunteer occupation that holds a lot of satisfaction for Lillian Cogsdill (left) of Farmington Hills, and Marge Griep of Livonia. Transcribers called to Braille classes

Tri-County Braille Transcribers will be starting classes in October, and are now seeking volunteers to provide textbooks and a variety of other materials for sightless persons.

Braille books, greeting cards, menus, and knitting patterns are among the materials provided free to blind people by the organization.

Volunteers from Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties work in cooperation with the Greater Detroit Society for the Blind.

The Braille system was invented in 1824 by Louis Braille, a blind man, and it has become accepted as a consistent, universally written language.

Volunteers may learn Braille transcribing and may prepare books, papaers, and other materials at home on their own individual schedules.

Oakland County residents interested in the classes may call Dorothy Girer, of Southfield, at 557-0887. Wayne County residents are invited to call Marge Griep, of Livonia, at 425-0017.

New associate

The Rev. Ron Petty, shown here with his wife, Mary, is the new minister of music and youth at Bethel Baptist Temple, 29475 Six Mile, Livonia. He will work with his father, the Rev. H.L. Petty, senior minister. The young Pettys, who have a son, Eric, both are graduates of Baptist Bible College at Springfield, Mo. The new associate is accomplished on the piano, organ and trombone.

New rector now serving St. Elizabeth

The Rev. David Lillvis is the new rector of St. Elizabeth Episcopal Church, 66431 West Chicago, Redford Township.

He succeeds the Rev. Roy L. Morrell, retiring after 20 years at St. Elizabeth, and conducted his first services and communion Sept. 5.

Mr. Lillvis and his wife, Meridith, come to St. Elizabeth from Hingham, Mass., where he was assistant to the rector of St. John the Evangelist Episcopal Church.

He is a graduate of Cambridge University.

The couple have a two-month-old son, Matthew. Both are natives of Michigan and are pleased to have this area as their first church home.

REFORMED CHURCH IN AMERICA

Pastor marks 25 years in ministry

Special services will be held Sunday, Sept. 12 to mark the Rev. Ralph Fischer's 25 years in the Lutheran ministry at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church in Westland.Rev. Richard L. Schlecht, president of the Michigan district of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, will address the congregation at 10 a.m.

A congregational dinner will follow the service, and there will be a short program in which members of the church, along with friends and relatives, will participate.

1972.

The clergyman is a 1949 graduate of Concordia Seminary. He holds bachelor and master degrees in divinity and sacred theology, and he has completed his work at the seminary for the degree of doctor of theology.

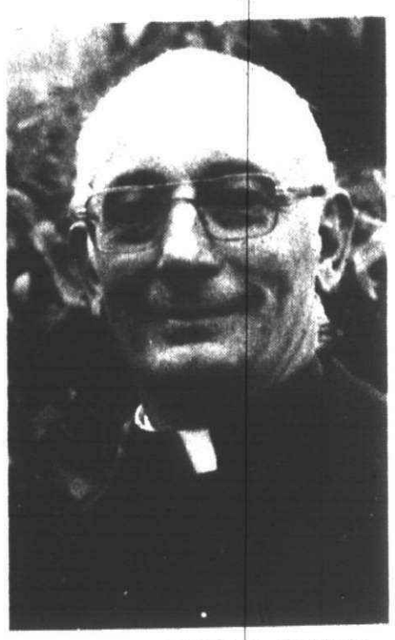

As a vicar, he served St. Timothy Lutheran Church in Detroit and the First Lutheran Church of Van Nuys, Calif., for summer terms.

His full-time vicarage was spent in Zion Lutheran Church of Snohomish, Wash., where he served as assistant to the pastor and day school teacher. He also organized Peace Lutheran Church at Monroe, Wash.

Pastor Fischer served 16 years at St. Paul Lutheran Church at Mountain View, Calif., a congregation that began as a mission church and has increase to a membership of 500.

Just prior to coming to Westland, he served five years at Trinity Lutheran Church in Reese, Mich.

Pastor Fischer and his wife, Erna, have a daughter, two sons and two grandaughters.

THE REV. RALPH F. FISCHER

New church school opens

Enrollment for grade levels kindergarten through nine still is open at Westland Community Church School, 34033 Palmer, between Wayne Road and Venoy.

The new church-supported school opens today (Thursday) with full day classes and an enrollment of 16 students.

The school currently has two teachers plus two aides and plans an eventual student-teacher ratio of 10-1.

Using an Accelerated Christian Education (ACE) program, the school provides individualized instruction. Under the ACE program, students study on their own levels at their own pace. Religion also is taught as part of the curriculum.

A film strip and information packet is now available to interested parents.

Carmel Hall benefits Sept. 11

A millionaires' party and a homemade supper will be held Sept. 11 at St. Mary of Redford church and high school, Mansfield at Grand River, Detroit.

Both events begin at 5 p.m.

Proceeds from the two events will help support social service programs for the 500 residents of Carmel Hall, Michigan's largest non-profit home for the aged and infirm.

Dinners, American or Polish style, are $1.50 and the millionaires' party is $3.

Church Bulletin

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Farmington Road and Six Mile, will began a regular three-service schedule Sunday, Sept. 12, to accomodate its increasing membership and attendance.

Beginning on that date, an 8 a.m. service will be held in the church chapel (entrance on Six Mile) in addition to 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship in the larger sanctuary.

Preachers for the early services will be the Rev. L. Edward Davis and the Rev. James Moore, associates on the Ward staff, with the senior minister, Dr. Bartlett L. Hess, taking an occasional Sunday.

Mr. Davis will lead the first early service with a sermon on the topic: "What! Have Ye Never Heard of the Holy Spirit?" Music will be directed by Terry Prisk, director of youth ministries. Dr. Hess's topic for the later services will be "Why Go to Church?"

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, 1100 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, will sponsor a lecture by James M. McGrew of Boston at 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 11, in the church auditorium.

McGrew, a Christian Science lecturer, will speak on the topic "Your Unlimited Opportunities." He will be introduced by Richard Moore, first reader, and the arrangements for the event are being handled by a lecture committee headed by Gordon Andrews.

The speaker holds BA and MA from the University of Chicago.

LIVONIA CHRISTIAN CHURCH (Disciples of Christ), 36075 Seven Mile, will observe Christian Education Sunday to honor its church school staff during the 11 a.m. service Sunday, Sept. 12.

Those working with the congregation's education program this year include Glenda Distler, Charlene Groce, Nancy McKinley, Mary Lou Bark and the pastor, the Rev. William Hass.

Teachers include Mrs. McKinley, Louise Hass, Wilma Harper, Wanda Morelli, Nancy Rickard, Art Smith and Mrs. Groce.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH OF GARDEN CITY, Merriman, will begin its fall schedule Sunday, Sept. 12, with church school for nursery through adult at 9:30 a.m., and at 10:45 a.m. morning worship with toddler care provided and a children's hour for children from four years through second grade.

The church's education work area will sponsor a lunch following the Sept. 12 worship, and the congregationww and the congregation wvited to attend.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH, 34500 Six Mile, will offer a stereo spectacular, "With Jesus in the Holy Land," at 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 12. The presentation uses six slide projectors and three screens and is shown in color.

In its 9:30 a.m. Sunday School program, the church will add two new classes Sept. 12. One is for young married couples and the other, for individuals, will be called "Pairs and Spares."

ST. BERNARDINE OF SIENA CATHOLIC CHURCH, Ann Arbor Trail and Merriman, Westland, will sponsor its annual fall festival Thursday through Sunday, Sept. 16-19, on the parish grounds.

Rides, bingo, pinball, games, a corn roast, food and snacks will be offered. Hours are 6-10 p.m. Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and noon to 10 p.m. Sunday.

NEWBURG UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia, will hold its annual chicken barbeque and corn roast from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 12.

The Men's Club, sponsor of the event, is selling tickets for $2.75 for adults and $1.25 for children.

ST. ELIZABETH EPISCOPAL CHURCH, 26431 West Chicago, Redford Township, will have booths available for rent by local craftsmen when the church presents its first Crafts Bazaar 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 16.

To reserve a booth, call Mrs. Edith Campbell, 937-2994, or Mrs. Sylvia Kloc, 937-1090.

JOIN THE GROUP

If you're interested in your community and anxious to make some money in your free time, we're interested in you. We want you to become part of our very special team.

It's a group of conscientious young men and women who deliver the Observer & Eccentric. We need students who want to gain valuable experience outside the classroom, experience in the business world and about dealing with customers. We're hoping to find kids who would like the opportunity to earn special prizes, like televisions and radios, for a little extra work. In short, we need you, and your friends, to deliver the Observer & Eccentric to your neighbors every Monday and Thursday.

If you're at least 11 years old and want to know more, return the coupon to our circulation department and learn about carrier opportunities with The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

'The Theatre' sets play schedule

"The Theatre" has scheduled its sixth season of plays in the Marygrove College campus facility. The 1976-77 season, which runs from October through next May, includes three contemporary offerings, two modern classics, and a Shakespearean comedy.

"The Boys in the Band" by Mart Crowley opens the season Oct. 1. Set at an all-male birthday party, this contemporary American adult drama is directed by David Regal. (Dates: Oct. 1, 2, 3; 8, 9, 10; 15, 16, 17).

Bertolt Brecht's classic musical, "Three Penny Opera," will be directed by Dominic Missimi in November. The Brecht-Weill score includes the famous "Mack the Knife." (Dates: Nov. 5, 6, 7; 12, 13, 14; 19, 20, 21).

"A Cry of Players" is based loosely on the life of the young William Shakespeare. It was originally produced at Lincoln Center with Anne Bancroft and Frank Langella. This December offering will be directed by Arthur Beer. (Dates: Dec. 10, 11, 12; 16, 17, 18, 19).

Tennessee Williams' classic American drama, "A Streetcar Named Desire," will feature David Regal as Stanley Kowalski and a Guest Director to be announced. (Dates: Jan. 28, 29, 30; Feb. 4, 5, 6; 11, 12, 13).

John Guare's "House of Blue Leaves," is a zany black comedy set around the Pope's visit to New York. This 1971 Obie Award-winner will be directed by David Regal and will feature a Guest Actor to be announced. (Dates: March 4, 5, 6; 11, 12, 13; 18, 19, 20).

The season at "The Theatre" will close with the Shakespearean comedy, "Taming of the Shrew," a witty and tempestuous battle of the sexes directed by Arthur Beer. (Dates: April 15, 16, 17; 22, 23, 24; 29, 30, May 1).

Season ticket reservations are now being accepted by mail. Season ticket prices are $17.50 each. Curtain times are: Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 p.m.; Sunday evenings at 7:30 p.m. For further information, please call the Performing Arts Box Office at 341-1838.

Genesis 1 to perform

The University of Michigan-Dearborn's improvisation troupe "Genesis 1" will perform Sept. 17-18 at 8 p.m. in room 119 of the Engineering Laboratory Building. Admission is charged.

The improvisation troupe, under the direction of Dr. Susan Flierl of theater arts discipline, will perform two new skits, "Truth" and "Variations on a Theme," as well as favorites including "Lone Wolf," "Dubbing," "Unnoticed Actions," and "Who-What-&-Where." In improvisational theater the audience suggests most of the scenes performed by the actors.

Among members of Genesis 1 is Jan Brinza of Southfield.

A theatrical next

Playing the role of Marion in Terrence McNally's comic play "Next" is Jim Thompson of Birmingham, posing as Lyn Rosen of Farmington writes what's next on her script. Ms. Rosen is a member of the Summer Directing Seminar at Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater in Bloomfield Hills. "Next" will open Friday at Late Night Theatre at 10 p.m. at Will-O-Way. It will be coupled with Pulitzer Prize winning Paul Zindel's "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds" under the direction of Celia Merrill Turner. Performances will continue Friday and Saturday.

Lithuanian history shown in exhibit

Lithuanian-Americans are celebrating the bicentennial with a special exhibit in the Hall of Nations of the International Institute in Detroit.

The celebration will open with a dinner reception and program Sunday in the Hall of Nations. Each item of the menu is being prepared by members of the committee.

The exhibit will feature artifacts brought over at great personal risk to the Lithuanians who fled their country in search of freedom, according to an exhibition spokesman.

An example of this would be the wood sculpture "Pieta" by an unknown artist in the early 19th century; or a collection of evil spirits and devils very characteristic of the folklore and tales of morality. These tales point to the depth of feeling of the people when their God is denied them then evil takes over.

A great number of local Lithuanian artists are showing examples of their work in the exhibition. Among them are paintings of Richard Bilaitis, art professor at Wayne State University; ceramics of Regina Alkeviciene; wood carvings of Viktoras Veselka; delicate straw creations of Antanina Junyniene; weavings of Juozas Jasiunas. There will be many examples of dolls to illustrate the lives of the people, done by Mrs. Kastute Kirvelaitis.

The ancient capital of Lithuania, Vilnius, is found near the geographic center of Europe. From there the distances to the Urals, the Pyrenees, northern Norway and southern Greece are equal.

BECAUSE OF its geographical situation, Lithuania acquired characteristics of western and eatern cultures. Lithuania halted the Teutonic Ordins expansion in eastern Europe and the Tartar invasion of western Europe.

The ancient Lithuanians, called Aists (Aesti Balts), used a language unmistakenly Aryan and related to Sanskrit, their tales bearing resemblance to early Greek and Indian literature. The had accepted Christianity from Rome in 1252

Artists named for Troy concert series

PETER NERO

A line up of performing artists has been announced by the Community Concert Association of Troy to kick off the Association's premier concert season. The first concert is scheduled for Oct. 11 and the five-part series will run through March, 1977.

Performers include baritone Theodor Uppman (Oct. 11), Peter Nero (Nov. 5), the Norman Luboff Choir (Feb. 15) and the Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company (March 9). A fifth concert to be held in January will be announced soon.

Series tickets are $15 for adults; $7.50 for students through high school. Tickets sales have begun and will culminate in a special one-week subscription drive which ends September 17. Concert attendance is by season subscription only.

Association President Michael S. Hedge calls the Troy series "the best bargain in town" and said he expects a quick sell out.

Theodor Uppman will lead off the concert series in October. Uppman is an established star of the Metropolitan Opera and has appeared with many other leading opera companies, as well. Not only an operatic star, he sings Gershwin, cole Porter and Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Peter Nero, pianist, composer, conductor has performed in the world's great concert halls and theaters. His performances reach all ages. For the young fans he might conduct the Overture to "Jesus Christ, Superstar" and for the more mature part of his audience, follow it by a medley of contemporary Bacharach tunes or Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," "Concerto in F" or "Porgy and Bess".

One of most unusual offerings in the Troy Concert series this season will be Bayanihan, "the Philippine Islands' most beautiful dance company."

The 40-member company puts on a stunning performance combining choreography, color and sound. Through folk dance and music, the Bayanihan Company portrays the regional customs of the Islands' past.

The seasons fourth concert will be performed by Norman Luboff and his internationally acclaimed choir. Luboff's artistic range is unparalleled. Nowhere else will one hear a Bach chorale and a Beatle tune sung in the same program with equal artistry and understanding.

A fifth concert to complete the series by an artist or group of equal statue will be announced soon by the Association.

All five concerts will be held in the Troy Athens High School auditorium, John R at Wattles. The 1,800 seat auditorium is new and was designed to professional performing arts standards.

Deadline for ticket purchases is Sept. 17. They may be purchased by writing the Community Concert Association of Troy, P.O. Box 271, Troy, MI 48099 or in person at the Association's headquarter office in the Troy Towers Building beginning Monday. For information phone 689-3760.

Competitive events to feature old cars

Imagine a village green alive with the sounds of pristine pioneer automobiles, a Dixieland band and the excitement of competitive events. That scene awaits visitors to Greenfield Village's Old Car Festival on Saturday and Sunday.

The festival begins each day at 12:30 p.m. with a parade through the village of antique cars and 1880s highwheel bicycles. Featured events on the Activities Field are 1917 to 1925 cars on Saturday, late 1890s to 1916 cars on Sunday. Such contests as cranking and balloon and potato stabbing competitions pit steamers, electrics and gasoline horseless carriages against one another and also test the mettle of the costumed drivers and passengers.

When not performing, the nearly 300 antique cars and about 100 antique bicycles shown by members of the Wheelmen, will be on display in the village.

At 2:15 each afternoon, members of the Wheelmen, a national organization of antique bicycle collectors whose members will travel from several states for this event, will demonstrate the riding of 1880s highwheel bicycles. During Saturday's demonstration, the 23 riders who completed a 750-mile bicentennial highwheel bicycle tour that left Henry Ford Museum July 4 and arrived in Philadelphia, Pa. July 16, will receive recognition medals.

Another highlight on the Activities Field will be a race against the clock by the Canadian Model T Asembly Team which will convert a pile of parts into an operating Model T Ford in minutes.

EACH DAY of the festival, special guests will be honored by Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum. On Saturday, Richard A. Teague, vice-president of automotive styling for American Motors Corp. and recipient of the 1976 Automotive Industries Magazine Career Achievement Award, will be honored. Among his many styling triumphs is the Pacer.

On Sunday, in observance of the 50th anniversary of the Pontiac automobile, Alex C. Mair, general manager Pontiac Motor Division and vice-president, General Motors Corp. will accept the recognition of the village and museum.

Throughout the weekend 1926 Pontiac number one, a 1909 Oakland, forerunner of the Pontiac, a 1932 Pontiac V-8 and a 1975 Pacer will be on exhibit in the center of the Activities Field. Also at the Activities Field will be displays of porcelain license plates, auto emblems, motor meters, hub caps, spark plugs and Pontiac memorabilia and a demonstration of the craft of making wooden automobile wheels.

There is no additional charge for the Old Car Festival on Saturday and Sunday in Dearborn, beyond the regular Greenfield Village admission for adults and for individuals 6 through 12 years of age. Persons under six are admitted free.

Torches, greenery highlight event

Flaming torches and greenery will create a pedestrian mall across Woodward Avenue from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 15, as the Detroit Institute of Arts, Main Library and the Historical Museum launch their fall season with a free public open house.

The popular annual event in the heart of the cultural center is underwritten by Winkelman's for the sixth consecutive year. Last year, approximately 4,500 persons participated in the festivities.

The three institutions plan a full evening of events including the music of the New McKinney Cotton Pickers, a 13-piece Detroit jazz group.

Woodward traffic will be rerouted between Farnsworth and Ferry during the open house.

Also at the Detroit Institute of Arts open house will be Douglas Davis, Newsweek Magazine's art critic. He will talk about videotape as an art form. Talks at 8:15 and 9:15 p.m. in the Lecture Hall.

Videotape monitors showing Doug Davis's work and a half-hour color tape of several artists creating and discussing their pieces for the current exhibition, "American Artists: A New Decade," will also be ongoing.

Pianist Bernie Katz and soprano Suzanne LaCroix will reunite for the evening to create musical and vocal pandemonium as they interpret American music. They will perform forth every half hour from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in Kresge Court.

"American Artists: A New Decade," a visual report on the paintings, sculpture, drawings, environmental and information pieces of 15 prominent moderns who rarely exhibit outside New York and California will be in the South Wing — main floor and second level.

Salem gridders show talent

The Observer & Eccentric SPORTS / Classified Ads

Thursday, September 9, 1976 (P,C)1C

Four Rock quarterbacks battle for a starting position this fall as the 1976 Salem gridders feature a talented squad with depth. Standing from left are Benny Wilcox (10), Steve Maisner (12), Rich Hewlett (2) and Doug Agnew (11). All four of these athletes have so much ability that head coach Tom Moshimer plans on using them all in the starting lineup in different positions. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

A big, strong interior line, talented quarterbacks , some welcomed depth and, most of all, a great attitute, help make Plymouth Salem head football coach Tom Moshimer sing the tunes of a hopeful Suburban Eight League championship in 1976.

"This team has started so well," Moshimer said. "It shows the best attitude ever.

"These are kids you can pat on the back, give them a little ink and it will only maake them perform better."

A most talented team filled with depth is a major key to the Rocks' title hopes this fall. Moshimer says that at this time he feels confident to play as many as 20 players in the starting lineup and 30 overall.

"For the first time in many years we have the depth to consider two-platooning," he said.

AN EXAMPLE OF THIS depth is a four-way fight for the tough wishbone quarterback position, between seniors Benny Wilcox, and Steve Maisner, junior Doug Agnew and sophomore upstart Rich Hewlett.

"All four are a dequate quarterbacks and I wouldn't hesitate to start any one of them. They all possess the ability," Moshimer said. "They are good enough to play, and we will move them to other positions.

"We will put the best 11 on the field and all four of them are capable of starting."

Wilcox is the No. 1 quarterback until someone takes that position away from him, Moshimer said. Wilcox started the remaining six games of the Rocks 4-5 season of a year ago after Maisner and graduated senior Howard Inch were injuried. He improved steadily under a lot of pressure as the season progressed.

Maisner is also fighting for that quarterback job, but is also considered the heart of the Rocks' secondary at the safety position. Agnew looked impressive at quarterback in the intersquad scrimmage last Saturday, but is looked upon as a linebacker where he played a year ago.

Hewlett is an all-around athlete who led last year's junior varsity squad at quarteback as a freshman. He has also been worked out at linebacker and fullback.

The Rocks' interior linemen have the qualities that every coach looks for, size, strength and quickness. Moshimer says this "could be the best line " he has ever coached.

Running the wishbone offense, Moshimer looks for quick, strong linemen. He says his line averages 200 pounds without loosing that quickness.

Senior co-captain Dave Champion heads the list of talented linemen. He is expected to play tackle on offense and defense. Seniors Gary Hees and Reid Albert are other possible two-way players on the line.

The Rocks' offensive backfield is led by returning senior Tim Lilley who serves with Champion as the squad's co-captain. Lilley was the squad's second leading ground gainner in 1975 behind graduating halfback Charlie Johnson. Among the other choices for that second halfback position are Maisner, Chris Ritchey Rich Steele, Bob Waite, John Lewelling, Terry Ward, snd Mike Campbell.

Competing at the fullback position are Hewlett, senior Jerry Kachenko, Doug Rowe, Kevin Price Dave Basierbe and Agnew.

The defensive backfield is led by returning cornerback Dick Bradburn and Maisner. Other defensive possiblities are John Daratony, Scott Kappler , Mike Skone and Waite.

A solid performer at both the split end position and defensive backfield is returning junior Curt Lewis. Jerry Basierbe, Chris Saxton, Rob Stevens and Mike Genrich also play split end and in the defensive backfield.

John Broderick, Bruce Piper, Joe Pryzbylski and Ron Craddock are battling for tight end honors. Craddock also plays the Rocks' outside linebacker position (formerly defensive ends) along with Broderick, Dasher, Nidzgorski and Vitale.

Piper is part of a young and talented inside linebacking crew of Rowe, Hewlett and Agnew. Three of these four players are juniors along with the sophomore, Hewlett.

Moshimer expects constant competition for starting honors during each week of practice, but sights this situation as a healthy competition among his players.

"WE ARE GOING TO do that this year because it perks up the team morale-wise," he said about the competition.

The Rocks will lose 10 seniors from last season's 4-5 season which finished in a fourth place showing in the conference. Backfield personel,both offensively and defensively, are lost to graduation. Howard Inch, Larry Rightler, Kevin Grahn, Johnson, and Joe Scott are missing from the backfield. Linemen Rick Gladstone, John Genrich, Chuck Poteau John Horton, and Dave Kolb are also gone.

The annual toughness of Suburban Eight League football shines again this season making the Rocks chances, no matter how much talent, even harder.

"On paper, Trenton is the team to beat," Moshimer said. "Word from downriver says they are tougher than ever."

Trenton won the title last season and was among the top teams in the entire state with a perfect 9-0 record.

Dearborn and Edsel Ford also prove to be favorites while Moshimer sees Livonia Bentley and his squad as the dark horses of of the race.

Schuele brings new spirit to Canton's football hopes

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

A new hope, a fresh start and a positive coaching staff characterize the 1976 version of the Plymouth Canton football team. But with this new beginning is the problem of inexperience in key positions that makes new head coach Dave Schuele's job of rebuilding the plagued Chief football program even tougher.

One of the major loses to graduation is quarterback Tom Close who was a three-year starter for the Chiefs. Jim Tiller and Mike Ogden, both experienced backfield players, are also graduated.

Randy Urban, Steve Salyer, Jim Williams and Dave Pink were linemen that also played last year as seniors. These seven players all saw action both ways leaving the Chiefs with many positions to fill.

But the always optimistic Schuele refuses to see this problem stand in his way.

"This is my first year and I don't know anything about last year," he said. "We've got a start. This isn't a rebuilding year, this is a building year.

"We are going to load the bus and be there to play. And after we're done people are going to talk with respect about the way Canton played.

"I THINK WE WILL have a respectable season."

Schuele says he hopes to avoid playing a lot of players both ways but he realistically knows he has depth problems in some positions.

Major strengths in the offensive and defensive lines are seen in the center position. On offense, captain John Young is a returning senior who was an all-Western Six League selection at center. He is the squad's leader and shows the ability of keeping the players together in a winning frame of mind.

The only question mark that faces Young this season is a knee operation that he had over the summer after tearing ligaments during last spring's baseball season.

"John is a very fine center and we are pleased with the progress of the knee," Schuele said.

The heart of the defensive corp is spunky Tom Powell who serves as a co-captain . Powell plays nose-guard and has quickness that will make opponent centers worry. To Young's credit, Powell says his fellow teammate is the toughest center he's played against.

The offensive backfield for the Chiefs does show experienced talent in junior fullback Jerry Simons and senior tailback Mark Hutton.

"Jerry is the workhorse type," Schuele said. "If you don't hit him good, he'll keep on going." Simons also plays a solid linebacker position on defense where he was impressive last year.

Hutton looked superb in the inter-squad scrimmage last week and should prove a healty ground gainer. Last season, Hutton missed the entire season with a shoulder separation.

Heading the contenders for the wing back position is co-captain Leo Durocher. First-year player Jim Meadows, Darr Ramseur, Rusty Mandle, and Andy Lewis are other backfield possibilities.

The quarterbacking chores finds the battle between senior Mark Perkins, who played split end last year, and junior Doug Smith who comes from the junior varsity squad. Perkins is expected to play defensive safety and is the team's punter along with the possible quarterback duties.

Returning linemen Matt Norris and Pat Francis join Young at guard and tackle respectively. Norris played tight end last season and was a boost on the Chiefs' speciality teams. Francis didn't see action last year after a hernea operation sidelined him.

The other guard and tackle positions are up for grabs. Mike Nyhus is a promising junior who returns after varsity experience as a sophomore. He can play guard or tackle. First-year player and senior Steve Griffith, son of Plymouth band director Jim Griffith, and Dave Tanner, last year's most valuable freshman, are other candidates for tackle.

Newcomer Dave Post and juniors Kyle Heaton and Pete Hewett are the hopefuls at guard.

Randy Rienas and Mark Miller are both junior tight end prospects. Rienas is expected to play in the defensive backfield. Seniors Ron Craig and Dave McIntosh are the likely split ends.

Surrounding Powell on defense is Nyhus and Norris along with Rick Killar and Mike Kiefer. Jim Hamblin, Ron Craig, Smith, Heaton, and Hewett are at end.

Wesley Craig looks strong at linebacker matched with Simons. Meadows and Tanner are also stationed at this position.

Scott Gray, a returning senior, is the mainstay of the wolf position and should see some action on offense. Miller and Hutton also play wolfman.

Except for Durocher and Perkins, the defensive backfield is young with Rienas, Clifford Norris, Mandle, Mike Gottlieb, Steve Barnes and Ramseur.

Powerful Farmington Harrison is favored to win the Western Six conference again this season and Churchill is expected to have a strong team. Harrison lost the title to the Livonia squad last season, finishing in second place after winning the crown two years before that. Waterford Mott is also seen to have a tough squad.

But for the Chiefs, this season is one of starting all over with a new coach and a new attitude that will lead to success in year's to come.

Grid coaches named

The Plymouth Salem football coaching staff was completed last week with the hiring of Gary Temple and Dan Chrenko to coach the freshman team.

Temple is a former eighth-grade football coach at Pioneer Middle School while Chrenko was a member of the Plymouth Canton varsity football staff that resigned five months ago along with former Chief head coach Jim Muneio.

Gary Grady, another former member of the Muneio staff, was hired in July to head the freshman program but later resigned for another position in the Lansing school district. Salem gird mentor Tom Moshimer heads the Rocks' eight-man staff along with varsity assistants Wayne Sparkman, Gary Balconi and Ron Krueger. Dick Barr and Jim Jarvey, another ex-Canton staffer, run the junior varsity program.

New Canton High head football coach Dave Schuele announced the appointment of Steve Burton to head his junior varsity program. Burton replaces Fred Crissey who will resume his duties as the head man at Central Middle School.

Schuele said that Burton was a "welcome addition" to his staff. Burton is a former football player at Michigan State University and Dearborn Divine Child. He joins the Canton staff which includes varsity assistants Dave Thomann, Mark La Pointe and Ed Scott along with head coach Schuele.

Two freshmen coaches and another junior varsity position remain open on the Canton staff.

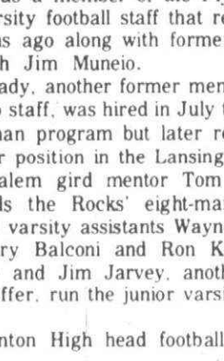

Jr. baseball meets

The regular board meeting for the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Plymouth Canton High School, Room 128.

At this meeting, nominations for candidates of the 1977 board of directors will be taken. Any adult interested in participating in the junior baseball program next season is asked become involved with board proceedings.

The junior baseball league reminds persons that knowledge in baseball is not required to become an active member of the board activities.

Rock interior line best ever?

Rock gridders have high hopes for a successful fall season largely because of a superb interior line. Leading the Salem charges this season include from left, Dave Champion (senior co-captain), Reid Albert, Bob Dasher, Mike Hees, Dave Nidzgorski and Jerry Ottenhoff. The Rock line averages 200 pounds. Chiefettes win awards

The Plymouth Canton Chiefettes, second-place winners of the Fourth of July parade competition, attended summer camp last month at Albion College and received a third-place trophy for their efforts. The team also received a spirit stick which was for overall attitude in getting along with others.

The Canton girls were also judged individually and many received superior ratings which earned a blue ribbon. Bernie Jovanelly received a "super sensational" ribbon for her superb showmanship.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

There was a new division in the ranks when the Detroit Bowling army moved to the front lines this week.

It was not another battalion of sharpshooters, as one might expect, but a group that has opened a campaign for recognition that long has been denied them.

Under the leadership of Helen Weston, a member of the All-Star leagues, the low-average bowlers are being united into a 500 Club that will have its own special events and an annual tournament and awards for over-average performances.

"The low average bowlers make up most of the membership of the women's contingent," Miss Weston said, "and we are now following in the footsteps of the 600 and the 700 clubs that have beeqn prospering for years."

The new group will be limited to WIBC sanctioned bowlers, but with their own organization now, on the sidee they will have new goals at which to aim. It should make the season much more interesting.

THERE IS an old saying that hell hath no furry like a woman scorned. And the same is true of all-star bowlers when they are dropped from a team.

The latest example is Fred Vitali, who was dropped from the Stroh team at the close of last season.

Now, as a member of another team in the all-star loop, he opened the season with a 670 series that paced the entire circuit. He is out to show Stroh that it made a mistake.

It didn't take the all-stars long to get in to scoring stride as the Detroit Bowling Sales team fashioned a 3,349 series at Thunderbowl.

In each of the last two seasons the all-stars came through with series above the 3,500 mark. So, with a start such as the 3,349, it wouldn't be too surprising to hear of another big series before the campaign moves too far along.

The warning already are up, as nine of the 16 teams in the Tuesday classic shot above the 3,000 mark.

THE DETROIT GIRLS made the most of the summer when a group of them journeyed to Ohio to compete in the Village Lanes tournament and came home with $4,002 in prize money.

Heading the list was Anita Cantaline's Jac-Ro team that won the team event and the $1,000 first prize. Jean Roth's team landed third place and $725, while Kathy Haislip, one of the younger stars, fashioned a 699 to lead the actual singles pinfall division.

THE AMERICAN BOWLING CONGRESS answered a lot of questions with the issuance of its annual membership report, released during the past week.

The ABC reported a total membership of 4,504,0194 during the past fiscal year. It was the largest membership total in 11 years. At the same time the Women's International Bowling Congress announced a new membership record with 3,870,947. With a membership of 821,281 in the American Junior Bowling Congress, the number of sanctioned bowlers in the nation now has reached 9,196,247 which lends further proof that bowling is without a doubt the largest participant sport in the land.

The Michigan figures were exciting, too. According to the ABC records, Michigan now boasts 351,146 men, 314,961 women and 37,213 in the AJBC. This gives Michigan 703,320 sanctioned by the ABC. To that figure can be added the 37,000 enrolled in the Michigan Youth Bowling Association and the Michigan ranks swell to 740,320—the fourth largest group in the country.

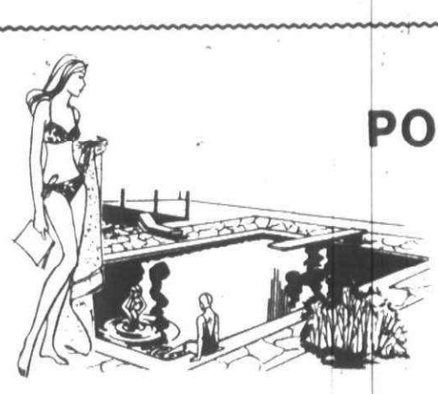

Heading the list for the first time is California with 898,274. New York has dropped to second with 870,516, with Ohio is third with 813,045.

The report by cities has not yet been released, but when it is it is likely to show that Detroit has the largest city associations in both the men's and women's groups.

Meanwhile, all the leagues will be in action this week and the pins will begin to fly in earnest.

DETROIT BOWLING is losing a good friend with the retirement of Joe Grinnan, who has been general manager of the AMF division for more than a dozen years.

The Plymouth-Northville alumni football game, which will be played this Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Centennial Park football field, brings with it a lot of enjoyment for fans young and old, but also a chance for people in this community to help contribute to worthwhile charitable organizations.

Alumni football games are something new to the Plymouth-Canton community. This is only the second-annual contest between the Rocks and Mustangs, renewing an old rivalry that was remembered by all.

The thing that impresses me about the organization of this contest is the work and dedication given by the promoters and the players of the game. The Plymouth alumni football team is trying very hard to project an image to the community. It is an unselfish image of giving of their time and effort for the benefit of others.

The players who volunteer to participate in the contest don't get anything in return for themselves. What they do receive is the satisfaction that they are helping others while having a good time battling the Mustangs for another year on the gridiron.

The alumni team is struggling for recognition from the community to help make this contest an annual event for all to enjoy.

To gain the needed recognition, the alumni needs the community to support them. And the best way to support these players is to come to Saturday's game.

Attending the alumni contest will not only solidify the image of the alumni but it will also help charity at the same time.

Both teams have been preparing for this contest since the beginning weeks of August and both squads are out for blood. Last season's battle was a 14-14 tie.

So in a sense this battle is important for two reasons. The most important one is to see how the people in this community will support its team and the cause they are playing for, and secondly to see who will be the team to record that first mark in the win column.

Alumni set to battle

Plymouth Alumni gridders take the field this Saturday for the second-annual charity battle between the Rocks and longtime rivals the Northville Mustangs. The 8:30 p.m. starting time sets the stage for this renewed grudge match which takes place at the Centennial Educational Park field.

"The game was exciting last year and will be more exciting this year," said 1967 Plymouth High graduate Jim Elias, who is organizing this year's event. Last season, the Rocks and Mustangs battled to a 14-14 standoff before a jam-packed crowd at Central Middle School.

This contest is for the benefit of others and not the players themselves. All proceeds from the game will be given to the Plymouth Opportunity House on Main and Deer Streets and the Plymouth Salem football program. Ticket donations are $2 for the game and are available at the gate.

Four prizes will awarded to the lucky winners at halftime. Prizes include a CB radio, donated by DeVitto Electronics, and gift certificates from March Tire Company, Trading Post Sports Shop and Famous Mensware. Donations for the prizes are seperate from game tickets.

Unlike many fans' images of an alumni football game, this contest is for real. There is hard hitting and true team spirt involved. It's a chance for players to get together and have a good time on the gridiron for another year, but it's also a time where the same goal is made by all the players, and that's to beat the Mustangs. The quality of play is equal to, if not better than, a high school football contest.

O&E golf begins

After several months of concentrated practice, golfers will finally discover who the area's best shooters are this weekend at the eighth annual Observer & Eccentric Open Golf Tournament.

Livonia's Whispering Willows, described in excellent shape by both Gary Whitener, club pro and tournament director, and Tom Sheldon, assistant pro, will be the site of play Saturday and Sunday.

Over the years, the O & E Tournament, organized into flights based on handicap, has blossomed into one of the largest, most competitive for amateur golfers in southeastern Michigan.

Most of last year's champions will be back to defend their titles. A host of former winners along with several outstanding challengers are also expected to compete and make the tourney one of the most hotly-contested in years.

Sheldon, in fact, said that he believes a score of 143 will be needed to win the Championship Flight of the 36-hole medal-play event.

Dave Wall, a Plymouth resident, captured the Championship Flight title last year with an actual score of 147.

Par on Whispering Willows' 6,265-yard layout is 71. The course's seemingly short length belies its difficulty, as narrow fairways on several holes puts a premium on accurate placement.

Trophies and gift certificates will be awarded to the top several finishers in each flight.

While Whispering Willows will be closed to non-tourney golfers until everyone in the tournament has teed-off both days, spectators may watch the proceedings without charge. Championship Flight competitors will be first off the tee both days at approximately 7:30 a.m.

The Women's O & E Tournament, for which registrations will be accepted through Monday, will get underway at approximately 9 a.m. Sept. 16, also at Whispering Willows. The women's tourney will consist of 18 holes of medal play.

Contestants in the men's tournament were reminded by Whitener to call Whispering Willows after 10 a.m. tomorrow (Friday) to obtain their starting times.

The course is located at the intersection of Newburgh and Eight Mile roads in Livonia.

Hilltop golfers honored

By BETTY DeLANO

Winners and runners-up in each of the four flights of the Friday night mixed doubles league at Hilltop Glen Golf Club will be honored Saturday at the league's second annual fun tournament and awards banquet.

Each of the four flights, consisting of 10 teams each, played for 10 weeks during the summer months. Referred to as scotch doubles, each team member hits their own tee shot and from then on alternate shots on the best ball.

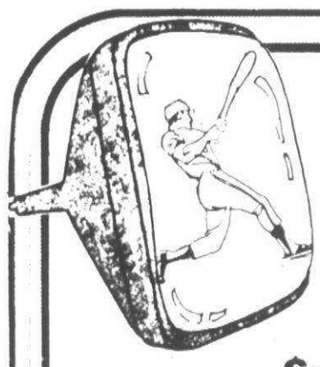

In the A Flight, George and Jane Todd scored 17 points in their final match to finish on top, this being the first time the couple lead the flight all season. The Todds closed with 127 points. Dave Wall and Anne Buie gained second place honors with 123 points.

Gene and Marion DePriest won the B Flight with 138 points. Bob and Bobbie Wolf took second place with 136.

C Flight challenges ended with Lou and Sharon Newmeyer out front with 135 points and Bill and Nancy Lambert in second with 121 points.

Charge It!

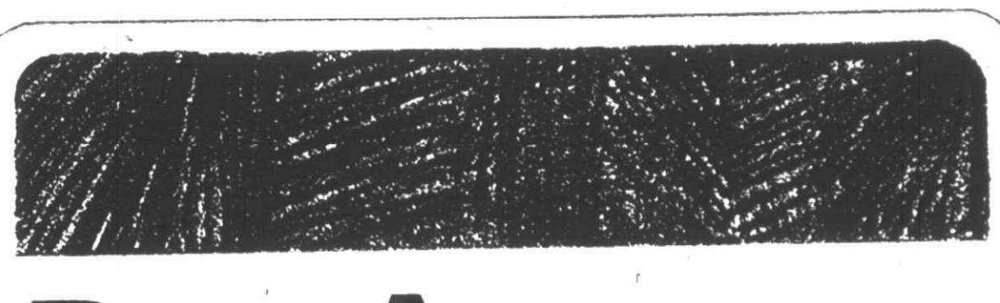

Now it is even easier to advertise in the Observer & Eccentric Classified Section. Just dial our classified department, tell us what you would like to advertise and charge it, to your Bank Americard or Master Charge account.

Whenever you call, be sure to have your Bank Americard or Master Charge ready and give us the account number and expiration date directly from the card. Then the total cost of your ad will be billed directly to your monthly statement, simplifying your record keeping while earning money for you and your family.

You can benefit twice from this bonus by placing a Double Action Family Want Ad. Double Action ads run two consecutive issues for one low price of $6.00, with no changes or cancellations in the second ad. These 15 word ads save you $2.00 off the regular cost of placing an ad in two issues and are so easy to place now that you can charge them.

So arm yourself with a list of unwanted items and your favorite bank card and strike a blow against inflation by calling us today.
