WHAT'S INSIDE CANTON

Tom Hulce of Plymouth has been selected for the leading role of Freddie, a retardate who is helped to learn how to cope with society in "Emily, Emily"—a Hallmark Hall of Fame original drama special to be shown 8 p.m. Feb. 7 on channel 4. Today's Life section reports on the hometown actor made good on Page 1B.

Readers speak out

Our readers are opinionated about what is happening in the Plymouth-Canton community and the Observer offers space for readers' views as expressed in letters to the editor on Pages 11A, 13A.

Jack Dean shows one of the muskets popular with gun collectors. The Dean family of Plymouth Township owns the Powder Keg and has involved about every member of the family in the enterprise. Page 9A.

No choice yet on 2 hall sites

By CRAIG PIECHURA

While Canton officials are already interviewing prospective "construction management" firms to build Canton's $2.7 million federally-funded administration building, they haven't yet decided where it should be built.

Groundbreaking must begin by April 14, 1977 under federal stipulations.

One site being considered is on the east side of Canton Center, north of the existing fire-meeting hall at Canton Center and Cherry Hill. The second site is the old Folker's Nursery property the township is purchasing.

Mike Manore, a planner employed by Wade, Trim and Associates, evaluated both sites in a report which weighs physical considerations, price and aesthetics.

After hearing the planner's review, trustees Lynne Goldsmith, Bob Myers and Brian Schwall all questioned the wisdom of "opening up the western half" of the township to sewers and further construction.

"Once you run sewer lines down west of Canton Center, you are obviously not just benefitting our municipal building," said Schwall.

"It seems to me that if we do that, we're ready to open up the entire western half of the township to development."

Treasurer Anne Bradley objected to fellow board members' complaints about locating the municipal building on the west side of Canton Center, the east-west dividing line of the township.

"YOU PEOPLE talk like the people on the west side are dead," Bradley said, "like they're not human beings. It's just across the street and you're acting like it's another country."

After the meeting, Clerk John Flodin said he hadn't made up his mind yet on which site is preferable.

"I haven't made up my mind, but at this time I'd say I tend to lean toward seeing the administration building built near the fire hall," Flodin said.

The decision to purchase the old Folker's Nursery site was made by the previous township board, although it was intended to be turned into a municipal park. The township is currently negotiating with developer Dick Lewiston of Practical Homebuilders, for the purchase of a remaining 12-acre parcel to the north of the Edison power lines and the fire hall.

Board members say Lewiston has offered "a very fair price" of about $89,000 for the sale of all 12 acres.

THE IMPACT STUDY report prepared by the planning firm makes no recommendation on which site would be most advantageous.

But planner Manore notes that Lewiston plans to build a subdivision on property between Sheldon Road and the site east of Canton Center which is being considered as the site for the municipal center.

"The township, by making a participation agreement, could get Dick Lewiston to build a half mile of 12-inch sewer from Sheldon to Canton Center Road along the Saltz Road frontage," Manore said. "At that point, a 10-inch sewer line would be required to get the sewer line to the property boundary of site A."

Because of the builder's participation in the sewer project, Manore said "site A (north of the fire hall) would cost the township anywhere from $19,000 to $38,000" to install sewers, "while site B (the Folker's property) would cost $36,900."

"At best, site A has a slight advantage and at worst, the two are very equal," said Manore.

Supervisor Harold Stein said the planner's report says the Folker's property could be aesthetically superior to the site north of the fire hall, which is marred by a background of Edison power lines.

Long-range development on the site west of Canton Center would afford a greater opportunity for Canton to create a recognizable, "community identity," according to Manore.

"If the township is able to create a community center node, it will be one of the most unique communities in the metropolitan area."

"There is a potential to direct the development of this area into something more than the continuous suburbia common in the Detroit area," he adds. "Canton Township could purchase an additional 160 acres of land in Section 21 (north of Proctor)."

"There is the possibility that this land can be held and sold to developers who can build major regional facilities such as shopping centers, post offices, hospitals, and community colleges. It does require that the township make a large commitment to this area if such a plan is ever to be realized."

Manore said the site east of Canton Center would be surrounded by subdivisions, so a sprawling complex is not likely. But since it is near the fire hall and recreation field, Manore said the concept of a "downtown" Canton could be carried out.

Ice scoot

Jeff Zarow harnessed Canton's west wind to provide entertainment. Last Monday he rigged a make-shift sail to his ice skates by attaching the bottom corners of a table cloth to each skate with a safety pin. As soon as he'd grab the top two corners of the sheet, he'd quizz away behind a billowing sail. Jeff, 10, is a student at Eriksson Elementary and lives at 4173 Fair Oaks, north of Cherry Hill and east of Sheldon in one of Canton's new subdivisions. Jeff says his dad Andrew suggested the experiment. The new residents of Fair Oaks Drive flooded a couple backyards to make a long ice rink. With the wind blowing almost directly west-to-east, the youngsters had a lot of room to build up speed while sailing. Jeff took turns using the sail with brothers, Kevin, 7, Tim, 8 and Dan, 9. ## 3 management firms hawk for hall bid

Canton officials may forego the traditional route of hiring a general contractor to oversee construction of the township's $2.7 million administration building in favor of the relatively new construction management method.

Although township board members will ultimately decide which route to go, Canton Supervisor Harold Stein says he personally favors the construction management method as a way to retain control over the building's cost, design and quality.

At Monday's special township board meeting, representatives of three construction management firms—Construction Coordinators Inc., H.F. Campbell Co. and Barton Malow—outlined advantages of the construction management method and of their firms in hopes of receiving the contract.

Stein said he chose the firms to make presentations after contacting numerous construction management firms with offices in the Detroit area. Those firms "seemed the best," said Stein, a former president of a sewer and water main construction firm.

UNDER THE CONSTRUCTION management method, the township would pay a lump sum equaling only a small percentage of the project's total cost to the construction management firm. Although representatives of the firm would supervise and coordinate work of subcontractors, township officials would hire subcontractors themselves and purchase the needed materials free of sales tax.

In sharp contrast, the township would pay a general contractor for the entire cost of the building—in this case, $2.7 million. The general contractor would hire subcontractors and purchase materials.

If the cost of materials or labor rose after the township awarded a $2.7 million contract to a general contractor, Canton would be forced to take the extra money out of township coffers, explained Stein.

But, with the construction management system, the township would retain constant control over cost.

In addition, construction management firms work with the architect in the building's preliminary design stage to identify areas where costs could be reduced. Money saved in one area could be used to improve the building in other areas.

That, Stein says, is particularly important for Canton's proposed administration building, since the project is funded by a $2.7 million federal public works grant. Any grant money not spent on the building must be returned to the federal government. "We have a one-shot building here," the supervisor said, "and we want to make it the best. If we can save some money in one area, we should put it back into the building. I feel we would have better control over this large administration building, if we hire a construction management firm."

IN EFFORTS TO WIN a contract for his company, Bud Decker of Construction Coordinators told board members that his firm has completed 68 projects (primarily schools), worth $71 million, since the company was founded six years ago.

Construction Coordinators, he claimed, is the only construction management firm in Michigan that does not perform general contracting or architectural work.

Barton Malow's marketing director Thomas Brady said his company offers construction management and general contracting services. The Detroit-based company last year won the "Build America" award for the most outstanding project in the country, Brady said. Local Barton Malow projects include the City of Wayne's $2 million recreation building.

H.F. Campbell Co., founded in 1929, offers construction management, general contracting and architectural services, according to corporate sales manager Donald Reynaert.

Projects the company has supervised include a GM plant in Westland, a Chrysler plant in California and an IBM office building in Flint.

All three companies said their fee for overseeing construction of the township's administration building would be based on how long it takes to build the project, the building's cost and man hours needed.

Stein told representatives that township officials would formulate a list of specifications on which the companies could bid.

All of the companies offer the same basic construction management services, including:

- "Value engineering" in the building's design stage. Costs are estimated for each stage of work.

- Breaking the project down into numerous units of work and encouraging a large number of subcontractors to submit bids on the project.

- A full-time supervisor to oversee construction work at the project's site and serve as the township's agent.

School forum talk is diverse

By PATRICK TOUHEY

Although the status of teacher contracts was the scheduled topic Monday night, audience members peppered school board trustees with questions about 45-15 programs, increased school operating costs and textbook shortages.

About 50 people attended the informal citizen's concerns meeting in Plymouth Canton High School to question board members about school operation and policy. And from the tenor of the comments, contract negotiations were not the prime concern.

There was some anger expressed by several teachers present when they stood and charged that the PEA had been denied access to a 96-page budget report. However, trustees said they had no knowledge of the denial and asked Superintendent John M. Hoben if he had any information.

"The information is public," stated Hoben. "I was not aware the PEA had been denied the report. They can have my copy if they want."

AUDIENCE MEMBERS IN general, though, were less worried about the specifics of contract bargaining than they were about the effect of no agreement on other school policies.

The first question was from a woman who wanted to know what would happen to the proposed 45-15 year-round scheduling if there was no contract by the end of the school year.

Board President Joe Gray answered there was no clear-cut plan, but indicated one option would be to extend the length of the school day.

Hoben also addressed himself to the woman's question, saying a number of things were at issue when talking about 45-15. "It's not just contract, it's millage," he commented. "If there were difficulties with the schedule, we could try split schedules or busing arrangements, or other less desirable alternatives."

Another woman asked the board how much notice the community would have if the 45-15 schedule was extended to other schools in the fall.

"Your guess is as good as mine," remarked Hoben. "We are budgeting to pair schools, and we will let people know as soon as we can." He emphasized the importance of the bond election in April for defining options.

"We can't operate a program on $2.5 million less."

A man wanted to know if new schools would be built with the same construction deficiencies as the elementary schools which were opened last year. Gray said they would probably hire different architects.

"I'm disappointed in the physical size of the classrooms," added Trustee Marcia Borowski, "and in the acoustics. And while I'm not pleased, I'm not convinced they are a disaster. But the new schools won't be thrown up in the same way."

Other questions concerned the number of pupils in classrooms and how the board planned to handle student overflow. One woman wanted to know if there was any truth to reports that

State tests indicate

Student achievement continues rise

Fourth and seventh graders in the Plymouth Community School district scored well above the statewide average on the 1976 educational assessment tests administered by the state.

That was the report given to the school board Monday night by Sam Ulsaker, administrative assistant for research, program planning and federal projects. Ulsaker gave a brief summary to the board of this year's Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP).

All fourth and seventh graders throughout the state were given the annual state assessment tests in reading and mathematics as part of a state project to test all public school students.

IN ANALYZING the results, Ulsaker indicated that Plymouth-Canton students not only improved on the scores again this year, but have shown improvement for three consecutive years.

Supt. John M. Hoben complimented students and teachers for their achievement on the tests, stating that the students deserve recognition for their pursuit of academic excellence in the classroom. "Through the dedication and hard work of the teachers, our students are scoring well above the state average in basic skills," he said.

Ulsaker added, "The board of education's strong emphasis and consistent support of basic skills—reading and math—has resulted in yearly improvement in the test scores of students."

"The test results are certainly encouraging and indicate that the school system is moving in the right direction," added Hoben. "However, the growth of the district dictates immediate attention be directed to maintain, develop and improve the curriculum to continue the beneficial effects on student learning."

"Through continued community support and working together with a dedicated staff of teachers and administration striving for the common goal of academic excellence, we can look to continued gains in the future."

THE FOURTH GRADE students were tested on 19 reading objectives and 30 math objectives.

Of the 48 total objectives, local students scored higher than the state average on 100 per cent of the objectives.

Seventh grade students were tested on 20 reading objectives and 40 mathematics objectives and scored better than the state average on 59 of the 60 objectives, which placed them higher than the state average on 99 per cent of the objectives.

Some 67 per cent of fourth graders ranked in the upper 25 per cent in reading achievement level while 89 per cent upper quarter percentile in mathematics. The state average for high achievement in each area is 56 and 80 per cent respectively.

Only 10 per cent of the fourth graders placed in the lower quarter percentile in reading, and zero per cent in the lower percentile in mathematics compared to 19 per cent and two per cent respectively statewide.

Some 70 per cent of the seventh graders ranked in the top quarter percentile compared to 56 per cent statewide in reading, while in mathematics 67 per cent were in the top quarter compared to 53 per cent statewide.

At the other end, 11 per cent of local seventh graders scored in the lowest 25 per cent in reading compared to 20 per cent statewide, and three per cent in the lowest quarter percentile in mathematics compared to five per cent statewide.

For both grades, students compared better to the state averages in mathematics than they did in reading achievement level.

Plymouth-Canton OBITUARIES

Mr. Rose, who died Jan. 30 in Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills, was a retired welder for Evans Products. Survivors include: sons, Ronald of Canton, Clarence James of Grass Lake; brother, Thomas of Ypsilanti; and seven grandchildren.

Academy pupils raised $3,500

Students of the Plymouth Christian Academy recently raised more than $3,500 in a candy sale fund-raising effort in the community.

The profit from the sales will be used by the academy to purchase audio-visual equipment and materials for use in the school's curriculum. The academy, sponsored by Calvary Baptist Church, is located at 43065

Joy, Canton.

The sale, which lasted 10 days, resulted in the students averaging more than $50 in sales per student. Robert Ollar's fifth and sixth grade class sold the most candy on a per student basis. The top three salesmen were Doug Lax, first grade, Don Burrow, second grade, fourth grade, and Ron Caderet, sixth grade.

Nankin Transit considers Canton's entry

By DARLENE STINSON

Canton officials have requested membership in the Nankin Transit Commission in hopes of providing economical dial-a-ride bus service to senior citizens and handicapped residents.

The Nankin Transit Commission, which currently serves senior citizens and handicapped residents of Westland, Garden City, Wayne and Inkster, would provide the dial-a-ride service at a relatively inexpensive cost, according to Canton recreation director Brenda Pollack.

Township officials researched the cost of providing the bus service on their own. Mrs. Pollack explained, and found the cost of joining the Nankin system much cheaper.

Commission members recently tabled Canton's request to join the transportation authority, but are expected to reconsider the matter at their next meeting on Feb. 10.

UNDER THE DIAL-A-RIDE service offered by the commission, Canton senior citizens and handicapped residents would telephone the commission's Westland office and schedule a bus ride to any location within Canton, Westland, Garden City, Wayne or Inkster 24 to 48 hours in advance.

Cost to seniors or handicapped persons would be 25 cents per one-way ticket. Glenn Shaw, chairman of the commission, says residents' requests for bus rides are evaluated according to priority and destination. Trips to doctor offices or grocery stores receive top priority, while trips to club meetings or county-sponsored hot lunch programs are second.

"Anything that is a 'glamour' item—like going to the beauty shop is at the bottom of the list," he explained. "We'll take care of those requests only if the schedule is slow." The commission offers the bus services Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

If Canton's participation in the program is approved, the commission would lease two of the township's four recently-purchased vans for $1 a year under a tentative, short-run financial arrangement. The commission would maintain and service the vehicles.

In addition, the township would have to pay the salaries of two full-time bus drivers, Shaw said. Federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds could be used.

BEFORE CANTON RESIDENTS are entitled to the dial-a-ride service, however, the eight-member Nankin Transit Commission must approve Canton's membership in the group.

According to Shaw, some commission members are concerned about doubling the commission's territory and the way Canton would finance its share of the cost.

The commission's current territory encompasses about 36 square miles in the area formerly known as Nankin Township. If Canton, a 36-square-mile township, joins the commission, the authority's territory would double.

But according to Shaw, the major hurdle blocking Canton's admittance to the group is financial.

Although the commission currently receives all of its annual $200,000 budget through CETA and the South-eastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMATA), Shaw said commissioners are looking toward the day when those state and federal funds will cease.

If and when that day arrives, commissioners have proposed distributing the authority's operating costs among the participating municipalities on the basis of population.

Commissioners are wondering, however, if Canton should be forced to contribute more, since Canton played no part in establishing the dial-a-ride service. Municipalities currently participating in the authority have offered non-financial assistance to the group, Shaw noted. The City of Westland, for example, provides office space.

Canton was an original member of the Nankin Transit commission when that authority was established about three years ago. But the township dropped out of the group before dial-a-ride service got off the ground about 1½ years ago.

The township dropped out of the group, Canton Clerk John Flodin recalls, "because they (the other municipalities) seemed so remote."

SHAW SAID he favors Canton's admittance to the Nankin Transit Commission, but other members of the authority must be swayed to his point of view.

The commission is composed of two representatives from each of the participating municipalities, one of which must be a municipal legislator.

"I feel we're in the business of giving transportation to whomever needs it," Shaw said. "I'm inclined to believe that Canton would be an asset to our commission. But they'd have to contribute their fair share, and I don't know how much that would be."

"We're a social service agency," he continued, "and that's very expensive. Our bus drivers will even help the handicapped out of bed."

If the commission rejects Canton's application for membership, Mrs. Pollack said township officials may investigate ways of establishing a Canton-only dial-a-ride service.

That alternative, she added, would probably be much more expensive than joining the Nankin Transit Commission, since the township would have to hire personnel to schedule bus trips as well as purchase the necessary office equipment.

"If we're not accepted, we'll just have to do something," she said. "But I don't know what."

Bricklin not obsolete for Noga

By GLENN BUNTING

Most persons who are laid off because their employers have gone bankrupt are walking the streets in despair hunting for a job. But not Ray Noga of Canton.

When Bricklin Motors of Canada declared bankruptcy in 1975, Noga, owner of Tri-on Exotic Car Specialists, 41910 Joy Road in Plymouth, probably never envisioned the chain of events to come.

Instead of moaning about the length of unemployment lines, Noga set out to pick up where Bricklin left off. Today, he's one of only three expert mechanics in the country who repairs Bricklins.

Advertised as the safest car on the highway, the Bricklin was conceived in late 1973 by Malcolm Bricklin, who intended to manufacture a safe, quick and well-designed auto for mass production in the U.S.

According to Noga, the Bricklin was built to compete with Chevrolet's sporty Corvette. Its sticker price was $6,500; no car was built without a downpayment. The demand was so high that after 10 orders the price rose to $8,000 and then to $10,950 after a year.

SO WHY DID Bricklin file for bankruptcy? "Just pure bad luck," Noga said. "Production couldn't keep up with designer improvements and Bricklin lacked the real big money to get off the ground. It was supposedly tied up in the Canadian government and a few banks."

So while a group of businessmen fled to Scottsdale, Ariz. to head up Bricklin Motors Corp. and develop reciprocal engines, Noga started servicing the 3,000 Bricklins on the road.

"No one else does what we do," Noga said. "Once you take the Bricklin apart, it's like opening Pandora's Box—nobody knows what to do with it."

Noga gained his expertise on the Bricklin as a master mechanic troubleshooter for General Vehicles, Inc., a Plymouth-based plant that tested and redesigned Bricklin parts. He was the company's senior mechanic.

Bricklin owners have driven from as far as Florida to Noga's small Plymouth shop for reconstruction. "When the company went bankrupt, the oldest Bricklin had 15,000 miles.

Because of the high demand, the cars were never fully inspected," Noga said.

"THE BRICKLIN'S biggest faults are water leaks through the doors and a poorly designed interior. There have been other breakdowns and parts are available, but technique, craftsmanship and expertise aren't."

Which leads to Noga's success story. Coupled with brother Doug, the twosome form what may be the country's most efficient Bricklin repair team. In most cases, the Noga brothers will tear Bricklins apart to the frame and reconstruct them, making the replacement parts. The price is $3,000 in labor plus parts.

Noga points out that he's not building an empire with his profits—they're not that big. "I love this car and I'm in the business of preserving it. For my money, there isn't a better automobile on the road."

The Bricklin has been driven off 100-foot cliffs and into walls at 50 m.p.h. with minimal damage. The reason for such stability is a plastic and fiberglass compound that is nearly indestructible and the sturdiest bumper put on wheels.

To date, no one has ever died in a car accident while driving a Bricklin, Noga said. Only two deaths have been reported and they were a result of driver carelessness. "The Bricklin cannot be totalled."

A NEW CANTON resident, Noga is also building a Bricklin from scratch. When Bricklin folded, the company agreed to give Noga two bucks (small, rectangular frames) in exchange for a couple of bounced paychecks. A third was given to Plymouth Salem High School.

The Noga brothers have accelerated construction of the Bricklin and hope to complete it by mid-February. The car will be a replica of the original Bricklin with one exception—a redesigned exhaust system.

When finished, the Bricklin will be placed in the Wayne Bank showroom, visit a few auto shows and then auction it for an estimated $25,000 which would yield Noga a profit of roughly $8,000.

If successful, Noga said he has the potential to build two more Bricklins with the two bucks remaining in the area. The one donated to Salem High has been sitting in the snow for the last few months because no one knows what to do with it, said Noga.

He has put a $500 bid on the buck, which went for $1,500 when it was in good shape.

Noga isn't worried about his offer being topped.

"There are three reasons why someone would buy a Bricklin: 1) styling; 2) high resale value and 3) performance," Noga said. "I can't think of any reasons why someone would purchase a frame."

Wayne-Westland renews 8 mills

Taxpayers showed their confidence in the Wayne-Westland School District Monday by approving an eight-mill renewal by nearly a 4-1 margin.

The renewal will give the district $4 million for general operating expenses such as:

- Instruction—including teacher's salaries, supplies and books.
- Operation of school—custodial salaries and maintenance costs.
- Fixed charges—insurance rates, transportation and school lunch programs.

Last September, residents approved a $19.6 million bond issue earmarked for renovations and construction of buildings in the district. Voters also approved a 21-mill renewal last March.

Supt. of Schools Timothy Dyer explained the district's total operating millage is 37.65 mills for the next four years.

Dyer said that combining the eight-mill renewal with the 21 mills that were previously approved will give the district 29 operating mills. An additional 8.65 mills is allocated to the school district by the county.

"This election married all the millages together so that we will have another election for the total 29 mills in 1981.

"Our problem has been that we've had small millages that expired in a short time."

Dyer said that if the district receives the support of the legislators and government officials, the school district will be financially secure for the next four years.

Dennis O'Neill, deputy superintendent for instruction, explained that another seven mills is allocated for debt retirement.

"These seven mills have been on the tax bill for 15-20 years," said

Senior teas held for early birds

Senior teas were held last week at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park for Salem and Canton high school students who completed graduation requirements early. The early birds ended their school careers at mid-semester but will return for graduation ceremonies in June. Some 37 seniors at Plymouth Canton and 30 at Plymouth Salem were honored at the teas held in each school. At left Patti Mrowka, a Canton junior, pours punch for classmates ending their school careers mid-year. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

An ongoing process

School board evaluates progress towards goals

The Plymouth Board of Education not only sets goals, but takes a close look periodically to see what progress is being made in reaching those goals.

The establishment and evaluation of goals for the school district is part of a management-by-objectives system instituted a couple years ago.

For the 1976-77 school year, for instance, the school board on Sept. 17 set as top priorities these areas: organizational chart, financial, minimum requirements for graduating seniors; curriculum direction; equity; and community support.

THE ADMINISTRATOR who assists the board in the process of determining priorities, and in evaluation goals, is Sam Ulsaker, administrative assistant for research, programming planning and federal projects.

A table of organization has been presented to the board, defining the flow of decision making authority. Also presented to trustees is a definition of the relationship between the superintendent and board. Being developed is a description or job responsibilities within the school district.

In the financial area, a process has been developed to monitor budget modification and will be implemented once a controller is hired. A monitoring process is being maintained, however, by the business office and budget calendars are given to trustees.

The board has defined a process to update curriculum development and plan for budget development—a process which will proceed when the new assistant superintendent for instruction is hired.

A workgroup has met three times to discuss minimum competency requirements for graduation. The current focus is on graduation requirements in the areas of reading, problem solving, writing, speaking, computing, and practical skills. The workgroup consists of members from the high schools' staffs, middle and elementary schools, and central administrative levels.

THE CURRICULUM coordinating council is preparing guides outlining program or project level instead of at the student performance level.

A fifth grade testing program in the spring is planned with the California Achievement Test being used at the three new elementaries—Field, Erikson and Hulsing—and the Metropolitan Achievement Test at the other elementaries as part of a May to May evaluation.

In the area of equity, the board in the near future will receive a school facilities utilization study. Also being prepared is a cost study on school curriculum and building site.

A PLAN FOR gaining community support has been implemented, reports Ulsaker, with this goal being integrated throughout the district to become a concern of all administrators and staff members.

Each building principal has a community relations program for his or her attendance area.

The effort includes work being done by the PTO organizations, school newsletters and handbooks, parent volunteer committees, principal's coffees, fundraising functions, and similar joint school-community activities.

METRO DETROIT CONSUMER FOOD COUNCIL™

"We rated sirloin steaks from all five supermarket chains on color, fat trimming, texture and marbling, overall appearance and lowest price. Here are the results."

Actual test results are available by writing to Consumer Food Council, 2300 E. 10 Mile Rd., Warren, Michigan 48091.

CHATHAM BEATS COMPETITION IN TEST OF STEAK QUALITY AND VALUE.

(Winner in 3 categories, tied in 1, second in 1.)

All 12 Consumer Food Council members bought a sirloin steak at each of Detroit's five major chains for a total of 60 steaks. They rated their purchases on a scale of 1 to 10. The results were averaged, and Chatham steaks came out best overall for quality and value. No wonder Chatham sells more meat per store than any other supermarket chain in town.

If you would like to be a Council member, write: Metro Detroit Consumer Food Council, 2300 E. 10 Mile Rd., Warren, MI 48091.

The Stroller... How Eddie got his name

By W. W. EDGAR

As he nonchalantly ripped the page from the calendar. The Stroller's eyes focused on Thursday, Feb. 3. There was a good reason. It marked the 53rd anniversary of his arrival in Detroit for his adventure into what was then termed "big time" journalism.

It was a day that will live in memory for many reasons. Not only did his arrival mark the start of a really colorful career, but it also provided a new twist in his journey down the trail and christened him with a new name.

Never shall he forget the morning he arrived in Buffalo to make train connections. It was snowing and blowing, and the papers carried big headlines telling of the death of former president Woodrow Wilson.

As he walked outside the station and into the storm, he was certain that he was facing a cold world, and one that would be filled with surprises.

THE FIRST OF these came when the ticket agent in Buffalo pointed out to him that if he would take the 8:30 a.m. train into Detroit instead of the 7:30 a.m. he would arrive there a full hour sooner.

This sounded strange—leave an hour later and get there an hour sooner. But that's what happened.

The biggest surprises were yet to come. They started when the late Edgar A. Guest, the Free Press poet who had invited The Stroller to Detroit, met him at the entrance of the Free Press building (now the Transportation Building), and took him up to the ninth floor and to the sports department. After introducing him all around Mr. Guest left with a handshake for well wishes.

"Just take a seat at one of these desks," Harry Bullion, the sports editor, said, "and read this morning's paper. That will give you a chance to study our style and the make-up of the paper."

This was strange. Just being asked to read while the five other lads were busy getting out copy for the first edition. Then The Stroller learned what kind of a journalistic whirlpool he had entered.

There were seven editions, with a new edition every hour starting at 7 p.m. Imagine that, he said to himself, getting a morning paper the night before. How strange.

BUT THE REAL twist in The Stroller's life came after he had been invited to join his new companions at lunch just around the corner in the first "Greek" restaurant he ever had been in.

When we arrived back at the office the sports editor walked over to The Stroller and asked, "What does the W.W. stand for?"

Told that it stood for Wilson William and that it was a family name, the editor, whose face and cauliflower-ears were evidence that he had come up the hard way, laughed and said:

"Listen fellows, his name is Wilson. Well we won't have anything that sissy around here."

He even smiled when he noted that The Stroller was wearing a gold medal for 20 years of perfect attendance in Sunday school.

"What will we call him?" the boss asked for all in the sports room to hear.

The Stroller was flabbergasted. His name wasn't good enough. Too sissy for a sports writer. Then he sat at the desk and listened as all manner of names were suggested.

Bill, Will, Bud, Joe, and many others were offered. Then a chap named Lloyd Northard, out of Jackson, came up with Eddie.

"Eddie Edgar," he repeated. "That has a fine ring."

People quiz school board

Central Middle School was going to be turned into a high school.
Trustee E.J. McClendon answered that there were all kinds of rumors and plans. He said the board was considering a number of alternatives. The woman then asked if voters would have some knowledge of the board's plans before the bond election this spring.
Trustee Tom Yack said he hoped the board would take some concrete action before the vote, so people would have an idea how the money would be spent.

A WOMAN ASKED what percentage increase in salary was being offered the teachers.
My teacher friends tell me the board is offering them a three per cent increase. And I keep reading that the board is offering 30 per cent. That's quite a difference in figures," she said. "What's the truth of the matter?"

Before the trustees could answer, however, Judy Hays, a teacher at Bird School came to the microphone and demanded that the trustees tell her where they got their knowledge of the money available to the school district.

Yack answered that he received his information from Norm Kee, Ray Hoedel and Hoben. Trustee Flossie Tonda indicated she got her information from the same people.

McClendon, however, expressed anger that the percentage question had been pushed aside. "We have a question before us, and I think we should answer it. But we all get our information from a number of sources.

"We are audited by an outside CPA firm. The state department of education audits us, as does the Wayne County Intermediate School District. Let me assure you we have a wide variety of good sources."

When the original question was returned to, Yack told the woman that with the salary increase, retirement, and standard of living figures, the teachers were being offered a 30 per cent raise over the next three years.

"We are telling taxpayers," added Trustee Richard Arlen, "that in the next three years we are paying out 30 per cent more new dollars."

Another person wanted to know if the board was stalling on contract settlement and when the last offer was made. Arlen said they were not stalling. And Hoben said the last offer to the PEA was made on Dec. 13.

Another area of concern was the lack of textbooks for some classes. Both teachers and parents wanted to know why there were text shortages and why the board didn't know about them. One woman referred specifically to a chemistry textbook shortage which was discussed at the last board meeting.

"As soon as the shortage was brought to our attention," replied Borowski, "it was remedied within 12 hours." The woman agreed but said there were other shortages and wanted to know why there wasn't a curriculum coordinator to keep the board informed.

"I agree with you," replied Gray, "that is a very important position. I don't know why we are short in this slot." Arlen said there were 80 applicants for the job and screening took some time.

Ms. Borowski said even a coordinator would not solve the problem completely. She said money would still be a factor. "There is never enough money to keep everybody happy. We are paying more for pencils, notebooks and textbooks. The schools, just like everybody else, have been hit by inflation."

W-W votes in 8 mills

O'Neill. They are used to pay off property and building purchases.

School Board President Robert Reichard was pleased with the overwhelming support of the community. "It looks like people here have realized we have a helluva school district," said Reichard.

Dyer said that 78 per cent of the voters supported the millage renewal which was "utterly fantastic."
"This is the most financially secure position we have been in for 25 years," said Dyer. "Our people have stuck it out for years. The fruits of their tenacity have paid off."

Board Treasurer Dr. Vincent Petitpre said this election showed the school board that the community has faith in their ability to develop a good educational system.

"This is one of the finest systems in the state," said Petitpre. "Everyone knows our children are important in our community."

Support will continue in the future for this district as it has in the past, he added.

Vice president Thomas Barrett was surprised at the size of the vote relative to weather conditions.

"We won't have to worry about finances for a while," he said, "and the district will save money by not having so many elections."

Trustee Gerard McGrath was confident that voters would support the millage, saying that it exemplifies the confidence people have in the school district.

Jack Dean says operating a gun shop does invite break-ins but the Powder Keg doesn't have that problem, probably because its located across the street from the Plymouth Police Department. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Powder Keg now a family enterprise

The fear every gun shop owner shares is the threat of a break-in. With enough supplies to form a small army, gun stores are often a thief's favorite target.

But the Greg Dean family, Plymouth residents for 17 years, were not worried about the crime factor when they purchased the Powder Keg Gun Shop on 186 S. Main.

No deterrent beats having the local police station located directly across the street. "We're the only gun shop in the Detroit area that hasn't been broken into," said Jack Dean, who along with brother Rick and sister Michelle run the store.

"We figure it would take the police three minutes to get here after the alarm sounds. And with all the trains passing through the area, who'd be foolish enough to break-in?"

THE DEANS took over the Powder Keg Gun Shop from Chester Gregory of Livonia. He converted the former Michigan State crime laboratory into a gun shop three years ago.

Gregory recently retired and turned the store over to the Dean family on Dec. 27. Mr. and Mrs. Greg Dean are the primary investors along with daughter Janet.

The Deans have only slightly altered business operations by cutting back on the collecting end and pursuing reloading, something Gregory didn't want to be bothered with.

It takes a lot of capital to stock collector's items and while the Powder Keg has its share of antiques, the Deans are focusing on black powder guns and supplies.

Black powder guns are muzzle loaders that date back to the civil war. They went out around the turn of the century in practical use, but are still enjoyed by many hunters.

The Powder Keg is the area's largest dealer in black powders and is also the most experienced in its use, according to Jack. A black powder revolver runs from $60 to $125 and do-it-yourself kits are available at $35.

THE DEANS have been hard at work increasing the store's inventory. When purchased, the Powder Keg was stocked with $120,000 worth of equipment and is presently at $160,000 worth—a 25 per cent increase in two months.

Jack Dean is finding the gun market an unpredictable business. "One day we'll be swarmed first thing in the morning and the next there won't be any business until closing," he said.

"Because of the nature of the business, a lot of guys just want to come in and talk. You have to be set up to accommodate them, but it makes guns a pleasant business to be in."

With guns dating as far back as the 1830s, Jack has taken a great interest in the history of the guns—how they were made and for what purposes. He recently gave a one-hour lecture to West Junior High history students, demonstrating various antiques and explaining their heritage.

Kadish knocks spending

State senate candidate Paul Kadish criticized the legislature for its "insensitivity to the financial needs of our public schools and community colleges" during a meeting in the home of Wayne Parsons, 38167 Ross, Livonia.

Kadish is seeking the Democratic nomination in a special primary scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 23, and the right to get on the special general election ballot on March 23.

Winner of the special vote will succeed former senator Carl Pursell who resigned this month after being sworn in as the new 2d District congressman.

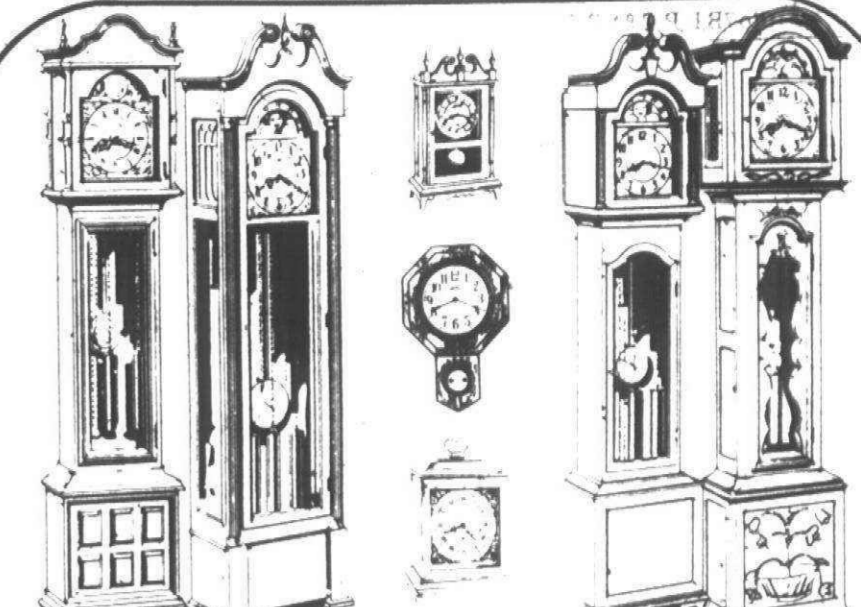

Kadish, Schoolcraft College board of trustees chairman, said the legislature "had total disregard for the mature school district with declining enrollments when it passed the school aid formula last year."

He said the state "has now recognized the error of its ways and passed amending legislation, but only after our local school districts lost millions of dollars."

He said another example of the legislature's "lack of understanding of school finances is the rapidly passed single business tax, which many now recognize as being disastrous to the revenue needs of our public schools and community colleges."

He said that by eliminating inventories of industry from the school district's property tax base, the districts and colleges have lost additional funds.

"Part of the problem is that many legislators aren't doing their homework," the candidate said. "Only after the passing of the legislation did they realize the punitive result on education," he added.

Anti-growth policy called exclusionary

Editor: The attempts of some residents of Canton Township to stop residential construction in Canton Township, as reported in your Jan. 17 issue, raise some interesting questions. I wonder if the supporters of a development ban realize the implications of their proposal.

Vast portions of Canton Township are, as yet, undeveloped. But Canton is in the path of urban growth. The expressways, the acute shortage of housing and the desire of people all over the metropolitan area for decent housing in a decent environment make it impossible for Canton Township to pretend that it is not a part of the urban region.

The people who have been lucky enough to move to Canton Township in the first wave of immigration were beneficiaries of our American way of life. By hard work and saving and because they derived the benefits of living in the urban region, they acquired the mobility and affluence which permitted immigration into Canton.

They should seriously ask themselves whether it is now fair to build a wall around the township and prevent other people from benefitting from that same mobility and affluence, which they too have justly earned. Just because a prospective newcomer to the township managed to save enough money for a new house a little later than the people who have already moved into the township within the last few years, shouldn't be a basis for excluding the newcomer.

Put another way, I wonder how the supporters of the development ban would feel if they were on the other side of the line: i.e., if they were now just about to look for a home in Canton. I am reminded of the definition I recently heard of a "supporter of agricultural lands" as a person who bought his house in the township last year.

One further implication of a development plan should be seriously considered by the residents of the township. They, like all urban residents, expect and demand certain amenities of urban life: such as sewer, water, good roads, police and fire protection and good schools.

While some of the costs of providing these essential urban services are variable—that is they increase with increases of population—substantial portions of these costs are fixed. With fewer residents to share the cost of these present residents of Canton will undoubtedly have to pay more for these services.

FINALLY, YOUR ARTICLE quotes

a proponent of the residential development ban as being at the same time in favor of industrial development which would improve the tax base. It would be hard to find a better example of "having one's cake and eating it too."

In other words, it is fine to have industry in Canton, as long as the workers in the plants have to drive to Canton from other parts of the metropolitan area.

I wonder if proponents of such a scheme would be candid enough to favor posting signs at Canton's boundaries saying, "Industrial workers are permitted in Canton, but not after sunset."

Before deciding whether to support programs designed to exclude their fellow citizens, I believe the residents of Canton Township should seriously ask themselves whether such exclusion is fair, consistent with their own ideals and consistent with the ideals of the system which gave them the mobility to become early settlers of the township.

Recognize Canton now

Editor:

It's ironic that the old cliché, "stupidity and assninity," is the essence of intelligence to the dissidents on the prestigious Plymouth Community School District Board in their refusal to change the district's name to the Plymouth-Canton School District.

One can rest assured that Canton has no desires or intentions to enter the educational field since the Plymouth School District controls most of the school land and it would be foolhardy for Canton to infringe upon it.

Canton residents are only interested in having a sound educational system for their children to attend and become educated citizens. And a name is only for identification purposes.

Since the majority of students reside in Canton, it is only logical for the Plymouth School District, out of due respect and courtesy, to add the name of Canton to make it the Plymouth-Canton School District. Canton will have to support these schools in the long run, and not board members.

The Plymouth community is already developed to its capacity, with no room for any expansion whatsoever.

To the dissidents: How "childish, foolish and absurd" can you get?

Consensus: Scrap the single business tax

(First of four editorials)

Gov. William Milliken and the Michigan legislature must get credit for trying to do the right thing when they concocted the single business tax in 1975.

"Equity, revenue stability and capital expansion" were the goals—and quite proper ones—as the governor said in his State of the State address. Until SBT went into effect in 1976, Michigan businesses were paying seven different taxes, and the biggest one—the corporate profit tax—was producing roller coasting revenues over the course of the business cycle.

Milliken said SBT has moved the state closer to those goals. That is a super-cautious statement for its chief architect. As we see it and hear business people talking about it, however, SBT has failed to move Michigan far enough toward those goals.

SBT ought to be scrapped. We point no finger of derision in saying this, and we again give the governor and legislature credit for trying. But SBT still ought to be scrapped.

"EQUITY," the first goal, has not been achieved at all, apparently.

The governor's task force on SBT, headed by Lt. Gov. James J. Damman, is reportedly split over the question of revision versus rewriting. Nine want to retain it, nine want to dump it, and four said they couldn't decide.

Business people, especially those involved in small businesses, seem overwhelmingly against it. Now it's theoretically possible they could be wrong, but it's a fact of life that if people feel oppressed or put upon, then government had better change things in a hurry or suffer a loss of confidence. Michigan can ill afford a revival of the widespread feeling it has an anti-business climate.

The facts, as determined in a survey by the Damman task force, are:

- Nearly two-thirds disagree with the concept, which is a value-added tax.
- Some 80 per cent disagree with the formula.
- Only 25 per cent see features worth retaining.

THE TASK FORCE report attempts to discount those complaints by suggesting the majority who failed to answer are actually satisfied. That's possible, but it doesn't square with what our reporters have heard in local chamber of commerce meetings and at the task force's own public hearings.

Many business leaders told their accountants to dump the survey form when they learned what the accountants would have to charge them to fill it out. Others were plain sick and tired government and questionnaires.

Moreover, there's a factor that no survey can adequately report. That factor is the sense of anger and outrage many business men and women unleash when they talk about the single business tax.

These attitudes alone should convince Milliken and our lawmakers in Lansing to go back to the drawing board and design a new way of raising revenue from the firms which organize the production of goods and services in Michigan.

And there are other reasons, which will be examined next Thursday

editorial opinion

Daley takes cheap shot but sheriff's hand heavy

Anyone with $35 can initiate a lawsuit and it's even cheaper to make allegations.

Last week Jim Donahue, self-described Canton watchdog, was successful in petitioning the federal Civil Service Commission to look into the role the Wayne County Sheriff's Department played in the Nov. 2 election.

If you're keeping score, Donahue is former co-chairman of the Committee to Re-elect the Greenstein Team.

Donahue wants two separate areas investigated. The first part of his complaint asks the CSC investigators to determine if Trustee Eugene Daley violated the terms of the U.S. Hatch Act. The Hatch Act prohibits employees of state, county or municipal agencies from seeking office in a partisan election if their work activity is financed in whole, or in part, by federal funds.

As a lieutenant in the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Daley could have fallen under the provisions of the Hatch Act. But the job Daley holds apparently does not conflict with the Hatch Act, according to interpretations of spokesmen in the civil service office in Washington.

Though they haven't finished their "preliminary inquiry," legal experts at the CSC said last week that if Daley's specific work duty was directly paid by federal funds, there would be grounds for the charge of Hatch Act impropriety. In other words if Daley's desk was in the sheriff's office, but his salary paid by a federal grant, he would probably be in violation.

But Donahue is trying to stretch the act too far to conveniently ensnare Daley in its scope. Many employees of state, county and municipal units of government seek public office even though their employer receives some federal funds.

In fact, other members of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department have run for office. In November, Plymouth Township's trustee race included two unsuccessful candidates who happened to be Wayne County sheriffs—Nathan Frank and Andrew Pruner.

THE SECOND PART of Donahue's complaint asks the Civil Service Commission to conduct an inquiry to determine if sheriff's deputies, who weren't running for office used their official, on-duty position to influence the Nov. 2 election.

It seems that this argument holds a little more water than the first.

While it has never been proven that the sheriff's deputies "swayed the election" for the Stein Slate, it could be argued that the sheriff's department and union made their political preference felt very forcefully.

Many allegations have been made by Donahue, and earlier by ex-supervisor Robert Greenstein, suggesting the county sheriff officers want to gain a stronghold in out-county communities. That way, the department may stand a better chance of being hired in the event the state supreme court upholds the appeals court ruling that unincorporated areas do not receive the sheriff's protection at no out-of-pocket cost.

An investigation into this area by unbiased federal investigators could be beneficial. It could either pinpoint areas of election impropriety or help to clear the air which is fouled with mud.

IT'S "HIGH" TIME WE DID SOMETHING

Legislators play 'Catch 22' with conflicting laws, rules

Up in Lansing, the state legislature is back in session. Down in Washington, Congress is up and running. And the sweetly tragic smell of Catch 22 is once again wafting through the air.

"CATCH 22," as you will recall is the remarkable novel about the guy who found himself absolutely and totally immobilized by the web of self-contradictory and conflicting rules and regulations promulgated by the Air Force.

Local examples of the syndrome abound in virtually anything that has anything to do with any level of government. Remember the case of the crippled man who wanted to marry the nurse who, on the state payroll, had been taking care of him? It turned out that the government rules required that if she married him, she would lose her job, and hence they couldn't afford to get married. Catch 22, in only two moves.

A BROADER and more tragic example of the Catch 22 disease is detailed in two recently published books—The Politics of Neglect and Between the Idea and the Reality—which deal with the famous (or infamous, if you prefer) Model Cities programs of the 1960s.

Realizing that the cities were in terrible trouble, the formulators of the Model Cities program sought to set up in the Model Cities Act a single, coherent, systematic mechanism by which the hash of uncoordinated and often contradictory federal policies for cities would be made rational and effective. In particular, the program was intended to coordinate the single purpose grant programs that had previously been set up to help the cities.

As we all know, the Model Cities programs were failures, especially when measured against the great promises which were trumpeted for them at the start. What happened?

CATCH 22, that's what happened.

When the Model Cities administration staffers began their first attempts to coordinate and rationalize the patchwork of separate grants to the cities administered through numberless federal agencies, they discovered that other federal bureaucrats were perfectly willing to cooperate—where they could.

But when they read the legislation passed by Congress originally setting up the grants, they discovered that the original stipulations laid down by the representatives and senators were so narrow and so specific that in most cases no freedom to coordinate existed, even when the bureaucracy wanted to do so. Even where the bureaucrats had legal discretion over program funds, they felt they could not safely commit them in advance of the yearly congressional appropriation process. And by the time that was over, most of the funds available were committed to specific projects advocated by individual members of Congress to benefit their own districts.

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

Although the original Catch 22 restrictions written into the fabric of legislation by the Congress were not the only reason the Model Cities programs failed, certainly they were the major reason. As a reviewer of the programs concluded, "The institutional barriers that frustrated the Model Cities program were not built by the administrative agencies themselves. They consisted not of the bureaucratic arrogance and caprice celebrated in chamber of commerce luncheon talks, but of specific restrictions written deliberately by Congress into the categorical program laws and zealously enforced by those groups which benefited from the programs."

SO OFTEN legislatures, whether at the state or federal level, feel their job is to legislate.

Perhaps true, despite the facts that in Michigan it costs the taxpayers an average of $600 just to have a bill introduced, and only a small percentage of all bills introduced ever are passed.

The real costs of the legislative propensity to legislate are much, much more than the $600 per bill. They lie in the vast and ever-increasing web of legislation that is really behind the increasing prevalence of the Catch 22 syndrome in our society.

To meet this problem, and in honor of the resumption of work by our leaders in Lansing and in Washington, I offer the following modest proposal:

For every bill introduced into any legislative body, there shall be required a "Legislative Impact Statement." Similar to the famous environmental impact statements, a legislative impact statement would involve a careful study of other, previously existing legislation in the field affected by the proposed bill, together with the construction of specific amendments to this old legislation that would make it consistent with the intent and effect of the new bill.

The results of such a proposal, if adopted, would be two:

1) It would slow down legislatures, which are already passing by far too much legislation for the American public to endure, let alone understand.

2) It just might cut down the web of Catch 22 "Gotcha's", which affect all of us so much of the time.

School board refusing to negotiate — Grimmer

Editor:

The Plymouth Board of Education still does not have a contract with its teachers because it refuses to negotiate in good faith. The board has the mistaken belief that because of the "Crestwood Decision" it no longer has to consider the needs of its teachers. The board would have the community believe teachers are a grasping, greedy lot who would milk dry the educational funds of Plymouth with impossible demands.

This premise, of course, wasn't put forward by the board until after the September millage vote. Plymouth needed this increase in millage at the time to maintain the high degree of educational excellence for which it is known. Before the millage vote, as now, a settlement of a fair contract was and is well within the financial capabilities of the Plymouth Community School District.

Teachers aren't asking for an increase in salary which is even as much as other segments of our society have already settled for. At a time when inflation has eroded the buying power of our earnings we are being asked to accept a contract for less than the increased cost of living. This, of course, means a reduction in buying power.

At this time we are told by the school board that we who teach in the classroom are worth only a 5 1/2 per cent increase in salary despite the fact the cost of living over the past year has risen 5.2 per cent. This is being offered to us at a time when board has granted its minor administrators a 7.8 per cent increase in salary, retroactive to July 1, 1976. The board also has given three of its top administrators raises of from 19.3 to 30 1/2 per cent increase in salary.

How does the board defend the stand it is taking with teachers of the children of this community in light of these increases? We have no argument with this decision by the board to increase administrative salaries, but now why is not a fair settlement forthcoming with teachers?

We know, as you do, that the board offer presented to the teachers is unacceptable. The board is hoping, because the children are in the classrooms and the teachers have been "put in their place" that we will settle for three years of financial depression. This is not so! We may not have a contract, but we will not settle for an unfair one either.

The teachers of Plymouth will not be satisfied with a settlement dictated by the board, but one which is negotiated by both the Plymouth Education Association and the Plymouth Board of Education.

At this time our differences have not affected the education of children. Let us hope to God it will not. If the board meets us at the table in good faith, this confrontation can be settled.

WILLIAM J. GRIMMER
past president
Plymouth Education Association

Name misspelled, words misquoted

Editor:

As a teacher and a political scientist, I have always been a strong advocate of freedom of the press. This is, I am sure, a truly awesome responsibility to the true professionals of your profession. But I feel your newspaper is often responsible for violating the public trust.

I had thought the Observer only guilty of editorializing with judgmental statements on the front page, but...

On Monday night, Jan. 24, I spoke to the Plymouth Board of Education regarding concerns for a teacher contract before the millage campaign. When I read an account of what I said in last night's Observer, I was amazed at the way the author of the article had paraphrased what I said to completely distort my meaning.

Your article said I placed the responsibility for cooperation upon the education profession. This I did not say. I said, "When are school officials, the school board, parents and teachers of Plymouth going to wake up to the fact that the Name of the Game now should not be 'dispute' but 'agreement and compromise'. So, I believe the administration, school board and teachers should enter in real collective bargaining with a true spirit of cooperation and compromise. Stop fighting!"

The school board is not made up exclusively of educators. They may be involved in education, but that does not make them all members of the education profession.

You also misspelled my name in the article. A minor problem, but another example of poor reporting.

ELIZABETH M. ERVINE
Plymouth

(We apologize for misspelling your name. The article paraphrasing your statement, however, didn't refer to educational profession but to educational community, a term which includes parents and school board members—Editor.)

Girl Scouts support ERA

The national board of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. is throwing its support behind the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA), to the complete satisfaction of board member Esther Hulsing of Plymouth.

Back from the board's January meeting in New York last weekend, Mrs. Hulsing reported that the vote to active work for ratification of the constitutional amendment to bar discrimination based on sex was taken Sunday morning.

Although the action marked what a Girl Scout spokesman called the first time the organization ever made an endorsement on a political issue, Mrs. Hulsing called the move "a perfectly natural thing to do."

"I'm surprised we haven't done it sooner," she added.

She pointed out, however, that board members had made it plain that the action is not one that binds local Girl Scout councils, including the Metropolitan Detroit and the Huron Valley councils, which represent Girl Scouts in this area.

'I'm surprised it hasn't happened sooner.'

—Esther Hulsing

"It will be up to the councils to decide whether they want to follow the lead of the board of directors," she explained.

JAN GRIFFIS, public relations director for the Metropolitan Detroit Girl Scout council, said before receiving official notice of the board action that "our council board has not discussed the subject."

"The board action does not necessarily mean every Girl Scout council in the country has to agree," Ms. Griffis added.

"The action is most unusual, and the issue is controversial. We have volunteers on both sides of the ERA debate. I'm sure of that."

Mrs. Hulsing emphasized that "this in no way precludes people in Girl Scout work from being against ERA." "But they should not use the name of the Girl Scouts of U.S.A. in opposition to ERA," she added.

"We talked to our legal people before making the decision, because we realized care needed to be taken since Girl Scouts is a tax-exempt organization."

"They said they thought it was perfectly all right to say to our Girl Scout family: 'This is the way we feel.'"

THE MOTION, as carried by a voice vote, stated: "Resolved, that the national board of directors of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. endorses the ERA amendment."

The board's statement following the action said the motion "was greeted with enthusiastic applause and passed in just 14 minutes."

Mrs. Creighton W. Abrams of Texas, chairman of the special committee on public issues, presented the resolution, pointing out that her committee "is aware that a critical time has come in the ratification process of ERA."

FOLLOWING THE vote, Dr. Gloria Scott, Girl Scouts national president, stated: "The rationale behind the passage of today's motion follows the national board decision of last year that Girl Scouts must be actively involved in current issues which will have impact on the lives of our girls as they mature into womanhood."

Three board members pointed out, according to the announcement, that the resolution in no way precluded one of the organizations primary goals, that of encouraging Girl Scouts to make their own decisions and their own informed choices."

Mrs. Hulsing has been a member of the national board for two and a half years, being appointed to fill a vacancy and then elected to a full term.

Before that she was president of the Huron Valley Council and has been in Girl Scouting over 30 years.

Monday on NBC

Tom Hulce stars in TV drama 'Emily, Emily'

It wasn't too long ago that Tom Hulce had the lead in a production of "Peter Pan" at Smith Elementary School in Plymouth. Next Monday (Feb. 7) at 8 p.m., he will have a lead role in "Emily, Emily" on national television.

"Emily, Emily" is a Hallmark Hall of Fame original drama telling how a retarded young adult learns to function in the world around him. Tom Hulce plays Freddie, the retardate.

Allan Sloane wrote the 1 1/2 hour play which continues the story of Freddie, the central character in his "Teacher, Teacher," a 1969 Hall of Fame special.

John Forsythe plays Niles Putnam (a widower who is the protective father of Freddie), Karen Grassle is Putnam's girlfriend, Terry, and Pamela Bellwood has the title role of Emily Ward, a graduate student who instructs Freddie at a halfway house named Midstep. Special guest star James Farentino appears as Joe Crane, a specialist in caring for youngsters. He runs the rehabilitation program at Midstep.

IN "EMILY, Emily," Niles grudgingly consents to send Freddie to Midstep. There he meets persons of his age who are coping with routine living—learning everything from basketball to shopping in a supermarket, opening a bank account, and driving.

Four of the young people who appear in scenes set at Midstep actually are retarded. The triumphs scored by Freddie and the crises he encounters are the focal points of the story.

The drama, which is a Henry Jaffe Enterprises, Inc. production, has been recommended by the National Education Association. Henry Jaffe is the executive producer; Michael Jaffe, producer; and Marc Daniels, director. John Rubinstein composed the musical score.

Hulce termed his portrayal of Freddie "an incredibly challenging experience."

He said, "I wanted to surround the character with dignity because his story is important."

"I wanted to bring across the fact that Freddie, although retarded, could take care of himself and even be helpful to others. What the playwright is saying is that Freddie, and people like him, shouldn't be looked down upon or pitied. They shouldn't be hidden away in a dark corner. They should be helped to become useful to themselves and others."

THE SLIM, 22-YEAR-OLD said a visit to a school for retardates helped shape his interpretation of his role.

"I watched people my age learning a variety of skills, even taking temperature readings and changing bed linens in preparation for future hospital work."

"When I went into rehearsals for 'Emily, Emily,' I asked the director if he felt my speech pattern was okay and if my movements were proper. What I wanted to avoid above all else was exaggerating any physical actions of the character."

"Marc watched me for a while and then said I should continue as I was. I think he felt instinctively that what I was doing was right."

With "Emily, Emily" scheduled for Monday night on NBC, Hulce's first full-length movie, "9-30-55" will be released in October.

The film, completed last fall, is the story of five young people on campus. The title is the date of James Dean's death. Hulce has the role of Richard (John Boy) Thomas' roommate.

Richard Thomas idolized Dean. The film deals with the psychological results of Dean's death on the five students.

TOM HULCE made his first public appearance on stage when he was a kindergartner.

His mother, Joanne Hulce, was singing selections from "Sound of Music" with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra at the annual pops concert. A group of children joined her for the "Do-re-mi" song. Tom was one of them.

His true soprano voice led to "Peter Pan" at Smith and solos in school choirs at elementary and junior high levels.

He attended Interlochen Arts Academy for three summers before he entered high school. He had leads in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas each summer at the music school.

Later, he had the lead in "Oliver," the musical, with the University of Michigan theatre department. He also played in "Camelot" and "Mame."

He still takes singing lessons. Although the boy soprano voice disappeared years ago, someday a musical may come along.

After graduating from the North Carolina School of the Arts in Winston-Salem, Tom Hulce headed for New York.

"My first job in New York City was with the New York Shakespeare Festival—as a shopper," Hulce recalls with a smile. "I was with the costume department and I would go out and purchase items that were needed."

Soon, he auditioned for the original Broadway production of "Equus." He became Peter Firth's understudy in the role of the boy, Alan Strong.

"I went on stage for the third New York preview," Tom said. After the opening, he played matinees and odd days for nine months. When Firth left, an unusual thing happened. Although many "names" wanted the part, it was given to the understudy.

FOR A YEAR, Hulce starred in "Equus" in the Plymouth Theater in New York.

He decided to broaden his acting experience by joining a repertory group. He also found time to do a series with the Long Wharf Players. "Forget-me-not Lane" was shown in the Theater in America series on Channel 56.

At 22, his credits already include leading roles on Broadway, on television, and in the movies. It was 17 years ago this May in the old Plymouth High School gymnasium that Tom Hulce first was exposed to the intrigue of applause.

That could have been the beginning of his career.

Canton chatter

By SHARON STARON 455-5322

When a man has worked for 26 years as a Detroit police officer, retires from the force, and buys a new house in Canton, you may think he now will take life easy and leave his job worries behind him. Not true of one of our truly active citizens. I'd like to now introduce:

CARL F. PARSELL

Carl Parsell is the Executive Director of the Police Officers Association of Michigan. The association has a membership of 7,000.

Parsell was involved for seven years with the Detroit Police Association and realized there was a need for the different cities to come together on a statewide bases. He was one of a group to bring this about.

"We provide full service for police officers," says Parsell. "We are trying to preach professionalism. It became apparent that if we wanted professionalism for police officers it had to come from inside. We want to raise standards and weed non-professionals out. One of our goals is to make it standard for police officers to have more training than they now receive."

The association, now in its eighth year, never was considered a union until a few weeks ago. For negotiating purposes in Lansing, it had to be called a union. They do defend police officers.

Parsell's office is in Pontiac. He travels the state to be informed about different police departments' problems. He then takes their case to Lansing.

He also has served as president and vice-president of the International Conference of Police Officers, which has a membership of 200,000. He is one of the directors of this national organization.

Parsell, his wife Joyce, and two of the couple's five children make their home on Arlington Ave. His son Jamie is a student at Plymouth Salem and daughter Carla is a student at St. Thomas High School in Ann Arbor. Daughter Rosemary lives in Detroit with her husband and three children. Son David is a Detroit firefighter, and the Parsell's other son, Stephen, follows in his father's footsteps as a Detroit police officer.

Stephen and his wife Geri have two children.

Parsell was president of the Windsor Park Home Association for two years, and is now chairman of the founders' drive for Blessed John Neumanns.

Asked what he thought of Canton, Parsell remembers when he and his family used to drive out her to the country on picnics. They would buy milk from a farmer and enjoy the area. "We like Canton," says Parsell. "hopefully we'll be able to preserve some of the country atmosphere we have. I love the stores in this area. Plymouth included, and the people who work there. They make you feel welcomed in their shops not like any other place I've ever been. Canton needs to establish an identity but we can't destroy it after we've identified it."

GALLIMORE ELEMENTARY was the scene of the pinewood derby for Cub Scout Pack 766 Thursday evening. The competition was heavy and all the boys cars were really winners. The judging was tough but for design in the Cubs Jim Mundo took first place and Michael Dunlop walked away with second place. In the Webelos, Steve Agdorny and his car won top prize while Al Ealorevega came in second.

Each of the eight dens in the pack had a first-place winner for speed. The competition was then against the eight cars for a grand winner of the pack. Vincent Esser took first place, making Den 2 proud. Todd Hovey of Den 6 was runner-up.

Other first-place winners of their dens were from Den 1, Mike Garcia; Den 3, Steve Dani; Den 4, David Sandel; Den 5, Mark Tchorzynski; Den 7, James Farrell, and from Den 8, David Seeman.

First place for speed in the Webelos was Al Ealorevega and second place was awarded to Daniel Farrell.

The Camp Fire Girls annual candy sale is now on and runs through Feb.

12. This year they are offering peanut crunch and mint sticks. Their profits from the sale are used for camp.

INSTEAD OF SITTING around complaining about our weather, two couples we've heard of have decided to try and enjoy it.

Bob and Carol Mount and Jan and Jim Clark of Orhan Ave. have been learning how to ski for the last four weeks.

Lessons out at Mt. Brighton were offered as a package deal so the four-some decided to take advantage of it. They thought it might be now or never, so they ventured out to the slopes.

It has been reported a lot of fun was had and the new skiers are doing well. Carol has been seen going backwards down the hill a few times but once pointed in the right direction she does fine.

Despite a few aches and pains from muscles not normally used, the Mounts and Clarks agree that skiing makes winter a lot more fun.

'Vaccinate' against Rh

Rh blood disease in babies can be prevented by "vaccinating" the mother, says the March of Dimes.

Although the vaccine was developed eight years ago, one in five mothers who needs it still is not getting it, according to government statistics.

The voluntary health agency encourages public health education about the importance of the vaccine.

Foreign affairs expert discusses UN rebirth

J. David Singer, advisor on foreign relations to three American presidents, will speak Feb. 9 in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street, Plymouth.

Co-sponsors, the League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Novl and the Plymouth Study Group, have invited the public to hear the lecture. Singers subject will be "The United Nations—Possibility for a Rebirth?"

Following the lecture, there will be a discussion of proposals for changing the United Nations.

Singer is a professor of political science and head of the World Politics Program at University of Michigan. He is the author of several books and articles on international relations and military affairs.

He acted as an advisor to Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson.

Coffee will be served at 7:30 p.m.

J. DAVID SINGER

and the meeting will begin promptly at 7:45.

Club plans disco dance

Members of the Plymouth Newcomers Club have planned a disco dance for their annual gala evening.

Last year it was saddle oxfords and ruffly prom gowns for the club's '50s party.

This year, the fun begins at 7 p.m. with cocktails followed by dinner at 8, and dancing until 1 a.m. Jack Barnes from Napoleon's will instruct the group in the Bump, Hustle, Bus-Stop, Open-Line Hustle and Disco.

Anne DeRoche, publicity director for the Newcomers, says "All Newcomers, ex-Newcomers, and guests are invited to come and dance along with Jack under the mirrored balls and flashing lights."

All ticket sales will be made in advance and reservations must be in by Feb. 10. Admission is $20 per couple. This includes dinner, dancing, beer, setups, and "mountains of fabulous prizes," according to Mrs. DeRoche.

More than 100 women who braved arctic temperatures now have more knowledge about what the Business and Professional Women's Club has to offer.

A five-hour workshop, "What You Always Wanted to Know About BPW, But Were Afraid to Ask" in Roma's of Garden City, explored the club's beginning, its accomplishment and plans for the future.

The workshop was sponsored by District IX of the Michigan Federation of BPW which includes clubs from Livonia, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City, South Redford, Lola Valley, Farmington, Northville, Novi and Wayne.

On hand for the districtwide project was BPW Michigan Past President Joyce Mallory along with members from clubs throughout southeast Michigan.

Geared toward unraveling the many segments of BPW, the workshop was a first in the district's history.

Welcoming the BPW delegation to Garden City was Councilwoman Geraldine Kiessel, president of the Garden City club. Mrs. Kiessel presented District IX Director Maybelle Shon with a proclamation recognizing the efforts of BPW in helping promote the interests of all women.

Workshop topics, presented by panels from district clubs, included club history, cancer fund, scholarships, legislation, membership, public relations, talent bank, awards and competitive programs.

Plymouth BPW members Grace Rix and Connie Fitzner used a skit to trace the club's history from its birth in 1919 to the present. Mrs. Fitzner noted that the BPW has been a long-time supporter of equal rights. "We endorsed it when it was first introduced in the '30s."

Mrs. Rix explained the BPW's emblem, the Nike, the winged goddess of victory which depicts strength, freedom and triumph.

Clara Karr of Livonia explained the BPW's commitment to helping fight cancer. She told members about the club's cancer fund and how members who need help can apply.

Improved training of women who want to enter the labor market is among BPW's chief concerns. Nadine Freeman of South Redford and Mary Jane Prichard of Lola Valley outlined scholarship opportunities available to all women through BPW.

Focusing on the BPW's commitment to the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) were Plymouth members Jean Wagner, Daisy Proctor and Elizabeth Donnelly. The trio illustrated the organization's commitment to legislation in a skit and urged the audience to continue the fight for passage of ERA.

"This is an amendment that every woman should know. We should even carry a copy of it in our purses," said Mrs. Wagner, a Plymouth attorney.

New members are vital to the strength of BPW said Marlene Danol of Northville. "New members are everyone's responsibility," said Mrs. Danol, who added that recruiting from the ranks of local businesses is just one way of attracting new members.

She suggested using membership teas or special programs to acquaint prospective members with the goals of BPW. "Retaining those members depends on program, atmosphere and leadership."

"Program is the product BPW sells," explained Charlotte Adams, who along with Joyce Mazzoni outlined the Garden City club's attempts at appealing to items which interest all members.

Selling BPW and its objectives through the media was covered by Susan Rosiek, editor of the Garden City Observer and Mrs. Kiessel, Garden City BPW president. "The media play an important part in spreading the message of BPW," said Mrs. Kiessel. Ms. Rosiek offered tips on preparing press releases and on what constitutes news.

The BPW talent bank, a list of women eligible for appointment to political and professional posts on a local, state or national level was explained by Mary Samples of Farmington.

Local BPW clubs can give themselves a pat on the back by competing for awards at the state and national level, said Wayne BPW members Gerry Mack and Yoline Smith along with Westlanders Helen Brown and Viola Grassel. They outlined award criteria including the coveted Ann Howard Shaw trophy, an award presented annually at the state convention to the club which presents material substantiating a well-rounded program throughout the year. Those present also learned about the Lola Valley Award, presented each year to the club having the most members in policy-making positions.

Wrapping up the workshop were Dianne Bish of Garden City and Louise Cutler of Northville who outlined the BPW Young Career Woman program. The program highlights the outstanding achievement of young women and introduces them to the ideals and standards of the national federation.

"Many of these young people have so much to offer and it's up to us to get them involved," said Mrs. Cutler. "The young career woman program is one way of rewarding them for

Scouts build barn with cookie funds

Area Girl Scouts are setting out to build a barn when they launch their annual Girl Scout cookie sale Feb. 1.

The board of directors of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council has approved expenditure of $2,500 of cookie sale profits for a 24-by-36-foot wooden pole barn at Camp Linden in Livingston County as a year-round rainy-day shelter for girl campers.

"The barn is an experiment," said camp director William Schief. "The girls have requested a place for outdoor cooking and large group projects on rainy days. If this pole barn proves to be as useful as we expect, we may try to construct others. After all, Michigan weather is not dependable." Girls Scouts 10 to 17 years of age will raise money for the barn in the Feb. 1-14 sale. Offerings will include a new cookie, the peanut butter patty, said Mrs. Jean Spence of Ann Arbor, sale chairman. The patty is a vanilla

Traditional flavors being offered this year are shortbread, thin mint, oatmeal peanut creme sandwich and vanilla creme sandwich. Prepared by national bakery FFV of Virginia, the cookies are wrapped for freezing and range from 18 to 72 counts per box.

Price for the cookies is the same as last year, $1.25, which provides a contribution of 20 cents to the troop of the Girl Scout taking the order, and 54 cents to the Huron Valley Council. The goal for the 1977 sale is 350,000 boxes sold.

Cookie orders will be delivered and paid for during Girl Scout Week, March 5-13.

In addition to the barn, cookie sale profits will provide camping scholarships for area Girl Scouts (last year 185 were awarded), maintenance of facilities at Camp Linden, Camp Hilltop in Ann Arbor, and Camp Crawford in eastern Washtenaw county as well as staff assistance, training, and reference materials for the Council's 600 troop leaders.

Cookie sale profits also fund scholarships for area girls attending Wider Opportunities events, career conferences, historic excursions and public service seminars held annually by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. and local councils throughout the country. Last year eight girls attended.

Medicare sign-up open to March 31

People who didn't sign up for Medicare medical insurance when they first became eligible as well as those who have cancelled the protection once, may enroll now through March 31 at any social security office.

Charles Anderson, manager of the office at 15455 Middle Belt, Livonia, pointed out that Medicare is offered automatically at age 65 and to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to monthly social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more.

"Some people decline the protection when they're first eligible," Anderson said, "and some sign up once and cancel later. They may re-enroll during the first three months of any year."

Medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other medical expenses and is the voluntary part of Medicare, funded by individual premiums and federal general revenues. The basic premium is $7.20 a month through June 1977. It will be $7.70 a month beginning in July 1977.

"People who decline Medicare medical insurance at their first opportunity and delay signing up for more than a year will pay a higher premium. People who sign up and cancel later may re-enroll only once," Anderson said.

Persons 65 and over who are not eligible for social security or railroad retirement benefits may apply at any social security office and get Medicare hospital insurance by paying a premium. The basic premium is $45 a month through June 1977. It will be $54 a month for the 12-month period starting in July 1977.

Medicare coverage also protects those persons insured under the social security law and their wives, husbands or children who have chronic kidney failure.

For further information call 493-1111. Residents of Canton, Northville and Plymouth should call 459-9700.

Plymouth Co-op Nursery has fall openings

Applications now are being accepted for the 1977-78 school term at the Plymouth Children's Co-op Nursery, a state-licensed nursery at Warren and Haggerty roads in Canton Township.

The school is open from September to May for both 3- and 4-year-olds. Classes are scheduled in the mornings from 9:15-11:15, and in the afternoons from 12:45 to 2:45.

Empty nest in SC film

"Doesn't Anybody Need Me Anymore?" will be screened and discussed in the final session of the Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center film series, scheduled at 8 p.m. Thursday Feb. 3, in Room B 200 of the college liberal arts building.

In the film, Maureen Stapleton portrays a 46-year-old woman who suddenly discovers her children are grown and her life is empty. Her dilemma and that of others facing changing lifestyles will be the topic of a discussion to follow the showing.

The program is free and open to the community.

High heating bill? Cold weather is just one reason.

As a customer service representative, it is part of my job to answer questions about energy bills. And lately there have been a lot of calls about why bills are so much higher.

One reason is obvious. Weather—over 25 percent colder than normal. Customers are using many more units of gas, so even if fuel costs hadn't gone up, bills would still be higher.

But fuel costs have gone up. The natural gas we buy from pipeline companies costs a lot more than it used to. And these increases are also reflected in your bill.

Because your bills have increased greatly, I think it is important that you understand why they have gone up so much. I'll try to help you if you call me, but the weather and fuel cost increases are beyond our control. Probably the best advice I can give is to take all possible steps to conserve—to save both your dollars and valuable energy.

Don't forget—the bills you receive this month reflect those record breaking cold days of the last month.

CHURCH BULLETIN

To lead tour

The Rev. William D. Gough, pastor of the Grand River Baptist Church of Livonia, will join with his wife in leading a 10-day inspirational tour of the Holy Land and Rome, leaving March 14. The Goughs will show slides of many of the biblical sites they plan to visit in a special program at 7 p.m. Sunday in the church, 34600 Six Mile. Those interested in making the journey that will carry the group to places visited by Jesus and Paul are invited to attend the program or contact the pastor and his wife at 425-1085.

Training set

The Schoolcraft College women's resource center will offer peer counseling training sessions beginning March 1. Designed for women who have a genuine desire to help others discover their potential, the sessions will teach prospective volunteers basic empathic listening skills and problem solving techniques. No previous training is necessary, however, volunteers are asked to interview prior to registering. An appointment or further information may be obtained by calling Joanne Hurley of the women's resource center at 591-6400, ext. 370.

Christian counseling panel topic

"Christians in Counseling: Is There a Difference?" is the topic to be considered at the next meeting of the local chapter of the Christian Association for Psychological Studies at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 15, in Monteth Memorial Presbyterian Church, Detroit. A panel of therapists will compare methods and understandings. Carl Gundersen of family counseling service of the Wayne County Circuit Court will be moderator. The Rev. Raymond Lumley and Alice Rennalls, another representative of the family counseling service, will make up the panel.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Six Mile and Farmington Road, Livonia, will begin a week-long missionary conference Sunday, Feb. 6, by welcoming to its pulpit for three services the editor of Christianity Today, Dr. Harold Lindsell. Dr. Lindsell, former professor at Fuller Theological Seminary, will have messages at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services and the 7 p.m. vesper hour to open the annual conference which will have as its theme, "It's a Small World."

Missionaries supported by Ward Church will participate in various phases of the conference, sharing reports of their work in the United States, France, Trinidad, the Philippines and El Salvador.

All classes of the Wednesday evening School of Christian Education will have mission speakers.

The conference will conclude with an All-Nations banquet at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 11, with missionaries and others dressing in the costumes of various foreign countries represented. Al Kuhnle, director of Voice of Christian Youth, will be master of ceremonies, and each missionary will relate a humorous incident from his experience.

Special music will be provided by the Gospel Troubadours, a group of young people who produce contemporary gospel music with voice, piano, harp, cordovox, flugelhorn, flute and tambourine.

The public is invited to attend any portions of the missionary conference. Reservations are needed for the Friday dinner and may be made by calling the church.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, 13311 Ford Road, Garden City, will present Edward C. Williams, a Christian Science lecturer, in a talk on "Who is Making Your Decisions?" at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 5, in the church.

Williams, a former public relations representative of a utilities firm now devoting full time to Christian Science ministry, will discuss a spiritual basis for making firm decisions.

Introducing him will be Kathryn Schmitt, the congregation's First Reader. The lecture is free and open to the public.

DUNNING PARK CHAPEL, 24800 West Chicago, Redford Township, will present the Gospel Troubadours in a concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 5. The group tours with its standard and contemporary gospel music throughout the year and in the summer is involved in a ministry in Mexico, including giving church services, plaza concerts, child evangelism and penitentiary services. A good will offering will be taken during their performance. The chapel is located between Beech and Telegraph.

BETHEL BAPTIST TEMPLE, 29475 W. Six Mile, Livonia, will celebrate its third anniversary with special services at 10 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 6.

Aiming for an attendance figure of 350 to mark the occasion, the congregation plans to give each worshipper a third anniversary pen.

"Everyone is invited to come and see what the Lord has done for this body of people in three short years," said the Rev. H.L. Petty, pastor.

LIVONIA WESLEYAN CHURCH, 14560 Merriman, will have as guest speaker for its 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

DR. HAROLD LINDSELL Speaking at Ward

EDWARD C. WILLIAMS Lecturing in Garden City

services Sunday, Feb. 6 the Rev. Dale Cuthbertson, director of Huron Valley Youth for Christ.

The day will be sponsored by youth groups at the church to climax a week of youth activities. The young people also will have a Saturday hayride, and will join in a discussion led by Rev. Cuthbertson during the 6 p.m. youth hour Sunday.

Parents' classes planned

A series of six expectant parent classes has been scheduled by the Wayne County Health Department beginning Wednesday, Feb. 23 in the department center on Merriman north of Michigan.

Classes will meet for six consecutive weeks either from 5-7 p.m. or 7-9 p.m., depending upon the response of the registrants. Classes will be led by a public health nurse. Members of the class will have an opportunity to discuss questions about pregnancy, labor, delivery, infant care and other concerns which are of common interest to the group.

Since the size of the group will be limited, interested persons are urged to register as early as possible. For registration or further information, call the Wayne County Health Department, 274-2800 or 729-2211, ext. 390, any weekday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Clubs in Action

CWC LUNCHEON

A Valentine's Day program is planned for the Livonia chapter of the Christian Women's Club, meeting for luncheon at noon Thursday, Feb. 10, in the Mayflower Meeting House, Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Hints on crockery cooking, music by Plymouth soprano Daisy Redmond and a talk by Marilyn Krage, mother of 12, will be featured. Nurserycare is available. Reservations should be made by Feb. 4 by calling Jo Cone, 477-3825.

CATHOLICS CLUB

Separate and Divorced Catholics club will meet at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 4, in St. Columban School, 1775 Melton, Birmingham. The club meets the first Friday of each month. Information on its activities is available from Dorothy Gruse, 541-0076.

ROSEDALE GARDENERS

"Gardens of the World" will be the theme of the monthly meeting of the Rosedale Gardens branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, scheduled at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 8, in the Rosedale Garden clubhouse, 9611 Hubbard, Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Tanger of Plymouth will show slides of famous gardens they have visited and tell about their travels, and members will hold a tea in their honor.

NEWCOMERS' NIGHT OUT

Members of the Newcomers Club of Livonia will have dinner Tuesday, Feb. 8, in Vittorio's restaurant, located in the Sheldon Center at Plymouth and Farmington roads.

Cocktails will be served at 7:30 p.m., followed by dinner, a short meeting and a visit by a representative of Leader Dogs for the Blind, who will accept a donation from the club.

Reservations for members and prospective members should be made with Adair Richardson, 464-7471, by Feb. 3.

SECRETARIES' FASHIONS

The Livonia Town & Country chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) will sponsor a fashion show and luncheon at noon Saturday, Feb. 12, in the Plymouth Hilton, 14707 Northville Road, Plymouth. Tickets are $6.50 and may be reserved by calling June Bogacki, 522-2000, Ext. 231.

Methodist service group 60 years old

Valentine's Day, the Methodist Children's Home Society believes, is the perfect day for commemorating six decades of loving service to children with special needs.

Lenore Romney will be guest speaker at a luncheon celebrating the society's 60th anniversary at 12:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 14, in the Coach House of Botsford Inn, Grand River Avenue at Eight Mile, Farmington Hills.

A special showing of 12 of the presidents' wives' gowns from the Seeley-Deer collection will tie in a review of United States history with that of Methodist Children's Home Society programs over the past 60 years.

The collection has been updated to include a replica of new first lady Rosalynn Carter's black and white gown designed by Dominic Rampolo. It will be modeled by Jean Deer.

Jeanette Weiss, well known for the many volunteer hours she has given to charitable Michigan organizations, will join newscaster Ray Lane in narrating the fashion show.

WEARING REPRODUCTIONS of first ladies' costumes will be Marcia Wilshire, Audrey Lang, Ann Perkins and Sandra Perkins, all of Bloomfield Hills; Betsy Taylor and June McGregor of Birmingham; Lena Nichols of Westland; Kathy Arcure of Ann Arbor; and Pat Polz and Mrs. Mary Louise Ives of Kalamazoo.

'Good News' is YWCA theme

The 84th annual meeting of the YWCA of Metropolitan Detroit will be held in Hudson's downtown store beginning at 9:30 a.m. Friday, Feb. 11. Featured guest for the luncheon that will conclude the program is Linda Wright-Avery, Channel 7 newscaster, who will emphasize the theme of this YWCA meeting which is "Good News."

YWCA members and friends may make reservations at local branch offices or by calling 961-9220, ext. 3.

Representing styles worn by volunteers Children's Home Society and members of the society's auxiliary, the League of Children's Friends, from 1917 to 1977, will be Kay Higby of Birmingham, Ellen Horie of Westland, Fay Zimmerman of Northville, Alice Byers of Dearborn Heights and Joni Culham of Farmington Hills.

Hunt and Dennis Dougherty of Birmingham will present a special Charleston number.

Evelyn Newman of Redford Township will be the pianist for the fashion show. A veteran of the days when the piano was the musical accompaniment for silent movies, Mrs. Newman knew such early Devoites as Henry Ford and Thomas Edison.

FOUNDED IN 1917 by the Methodist Church, the 60-year-old Methodist Children's Home Society evolved from a small home in Highland Park for 10 needy and neglected children to a multi-service agency located at the Children's Village on 65 acres of land in Redford Township and serving over 600 children and their families each year.

Present services include residential treatment for emotionally impaired children, foster home care, adoptive placement, counseling for the single parent, family counseling, a pre-school program and three special education programs in co-operation with Redford Union Schools.

Many prominent Detroit families have participated in the history and growth of Children's Village, agency headquarters since 1929. Among early contributors were the S.S. Kresge family, the Edsel Fords and the Richard E. Webbers.

Joan Guregian of Farmington Hills, chairman of the League of Children's Friends will emcee the program for the Valentine's Day luncheon which is open to the public.

Luncheon tickets are $6.50 each. For reservations, please write Methodist Children's Home, 26645 West Six Mile Road or call 531-4060.

Bible study goes with coffee

By MARGARET MILLER

A Westland businesswoman and her church are teaming up to offer Bible study to singles who may be lonely and not likely to go to church.

To that end, Jane Wilkinson and the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene have inserted in the classified section of this newspaper an ad that reads:

"LONELY? DISILLUSIONED? Seeking answers?" Join us for a singles adult coffee fellowship and Bible study. Hyd-gens House Eatery, Ann Arbor Rd at Plymouth Rd Sunday morning, 9:15-10:15.

The Bible study over coffee will begin in the Livonia restaurant's back room Sunday, Feb. 6.

"The real goal," said the Rev. Carl R. Allen, pastor of the sponsoring church, "is to reach those who might have been turned off to church attendance."

"Because of any number of circumstances, they may just not feel comfortable going to church."

But Ms. Wilkinson, who has been a regular church attendee since her teens and has had a lot of experience with teaching church school, feels these may be just the people who need an experience such as the one being offered.

"We are aiming for single people from young adult to middle age," she said. "I my age group, singles tend to be rather out of it."

"And I know from my own experience that help is necessary to meet the perplexities of life, especially when we must face them alone."

MS. WILKINSON said she had chosen the gospel of John "which appeals to a lot of people" as the focal point of study as the group begins.

"It will not be a lecture time but a chance for discussion," she said. The text, she added, will be "Eyewitness, John's View of Jesus," and, of course, the Bible.

Participants are urged to bring their Bibles, but the church will provide them where necessary, and the booklets will be furnished.

The class leader said she is looking on this new kind of church project as a challenge that will help her as much as anyone in the group.

"I offered to do some kind of church school teaching," she explained, "and Pastor Allen and Nelson Bradford, the Sunday school superintendent, asked me if I would try this."

"I know this kind of study will help me in my personal study—I find that I study much better when I'm doing it with a class."

She added that the book of John "is good to introduce people who are doing Bible study for the first time."

"And this is not just for people who call themselves Christians," she stated.

Pastor Allen said the church was trying out the venture of Sunday School away from home base, because a Nazarene church in Kansas City had found it a good way to reach lonely people in the community.

"We won't be trying to get these people to come to church services," he added, "although hopefully some may want to after the study has gone on for a while.

"And the group is definitely not to have a sectarian emphasis. Those of all religious backgrounds will be welcome."

A film find for all from Detroit Film Theatre

The loyal devotees of Detroit Film Theatre (DFT) who pack the auditorium every weekend would prefer that no one else knew about it, but a good thing deserves recognition.

Based in the Detroit Institute of Arts, the DFT recently began its seventh season. A wide range of both modern and classic movies are presented at low prices.

Under the knowledgeable guidance of its director, Elliott Wilhelm, the philosophy of the DFT has been to regard the motion picture as the major art form of the 20th century and to present the best and most interesting examples of that art form to the general public.

Friday evenings are devoted to screening films which are either new to Detroit or have not had sufficient exposure because they weren't "boxoffice."

Saturday evenings feature films which have come to be regarded as classics. These may be proven masterpieces of cinema or pacemakers of the '60s and '70s.

THE SUNDAY series is a romp, something different each season. This time the theme is a "Salute to Warners;" the program of movies produced during the studio's "golden age" include Cagney, Bogart, and the Busby Berkeley musical extravaganzas.

The schedule for the next four weeks follows (country of origin, year of production, and director's name are shown in parenthesis after the title):

FRIDAY, FEB. 4, "Male of the Century" (France, 1975, Claude Berr); Sat., Feb. 5, "Strangers on a Train" (U.S., 1951, Alfred Hitchcock); Sun., Feb. 6, "Casablanca" (U.S., 1943, Michael Curtiz).

Friday, Feb. 11, "Lovin' Molly" (U.S., 1974, Sidney Lumet); Sat., Feb. 12, "The Milky Way" (France, 1970, Luis Bunuel); Sun., Feb. 13,

"Now, Voyager" (U.S., 1942, Irving Rapper).

Friday, Feb. 18, "Idi Amin Dada" (France, 1974, Barbet Schroeder); Sat., Feb. 19, "Senso" (Italy, 1954, Luchino Visconti); Sun., Feb. 20, "Footlight Parade" (U.S., 1933, Lloyd Bacon).

Friday, Feb. 25, "Une Partie de Plaisir" (France, 1975, Claude Chabrol); Sat., Feb. 26, "Throne of Blood" (Japan, 1957, Akira Kurosawa); Sun., Feb. 27, "Mystery of the Wax Museum" (U.S., 1933, Michael Curtiz).

All movies shown are the finest quality 35-mm prints available. Tickets may be purchased in advance or at the door: $2 for adults, $1.50 for students with current I.D. Discount ticket books also are available. To receive a complete 21-week film schedule or further ticket information, call 832-2730 or 833-7942.

SC choir sets try-outs

The Schoolcraft College community choir will hold auditions for the winter semester at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 8.

Auditions are scheduled in Room 310 of the Forum building, and all persons interested are invited, particularly those with previous choir experience.

According to choir director Marilyn Jones, rehearsals will resume Feb. 22 when the choir will begin preparing for its April 17 presentation of Mendelssohn's "Hymn Of Praise."

Persons who successfully complete auditions may register at the first rehearsal Feb. 22. For further information, call Ms. Jones at 591-6400, ext. 311, or community services at ext. 264. The college is at 18600 Haggerty in Livonia.

A bit of comedy at JCC

"Bye Bye Braverman" will be shown by the Cultural Arts Department of the Jewish Community Center as part of its "Like the Good Old Days" film series, at 3:30 and 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 6, in the center's Aaron DeRoy Studio Theatre at 6600 W. Maple in West Bloomfield. Directed by Sidney Lumet and starring George Segal, Godfrey Cambridge, and Alan King, "Braverman" is an off-beat film about five friends who lose one of their number to the grave.

Also showing will be Episode 7 of "Flash Gordon Conquers the Universe," and the Academy Award-winning cartoon "The Crunchbird." Admission is $1.50 and popcorn is 10 cents.

KING KONG (PG). The big ape is back again with his same old destructive but sensitive personality. Jessica Lange plays the love in his life. Revised version with some tongue-in-cheek dialogue.

NETWORK (R). Fierce satire attacking the television industry and mass media generally. Top performances by Peter Finch, Faye Dunaway and William Holden in fast paced, grimly humorous film.

NICKELODEON (PG). Director Bogdanovich recalls the mad-cap, early days of movie making. Ryan and Tatum O'Neal, Burt Reynolds, Stella Stevens and Jane Hitchcock survive the perils and have some fun.

THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES AGAIN (PG). More clowning with Inspector Clouseau (Peter Sellers) who fumbles his way to victory—this time against the demented ex-chief inspector who would destroy the world unless he's given Clouseau, dead or alive.

ROCKY (PG). Human warmth and exciting drama combine in this stirring film about a no-name boxer who gets a chance at a title bout. Acting accolades to entire cast and especially Stallone as Rocky THE SEVEN PER-CENT SOLUTION (PG). Sherlock Holmes and Sigmund Freud join forces to solve an elementary case. However, location photography in Vienna and Robert Duvall's performance as Dr. Watson are excellent.

A STAR IS BORN (R). Long-awaited remake with Barbra Streisand and Kris Kristofferson as rock stars (rather than movie stars) whose careers head in different directions.

Salem tanker stars

Finley fins through water

By BILL COLLINS

They make their celebrated appearance more often than Haley's Comet, but less frequently than leap year. That rare breed of athlete, who distinguishes himself from his peers by his achievements, becomes the standard for all comparison.

Plymouth Salem swimmer Ron Finley is a member of this exclusive category, and he's one aquatic phenomenon whose feats won't be duplicated for many years.

Finley has steadily been coming into prominence over the past two years. But this season he has risen to the most respected heights among high school swimmers.

Currently, Finley is ranked number-one statewide in the 100-yard backstroke with a 55.0 time. That is the same event he finished second in as a state finalist last year.

An apt description of the Observer swimming rankings would be The Ron Finley Show, as Finley leads all tankers in all but one event.

The 50-free (22.8), 100-free (50.1), 200-free (1:48.3), 500-free (4:53.1), 100-individual medley (2:06.4), 200-but-stroke 55.1 in addition to the 100-backstroke are all under his belt among the individuals on 14 teams entered in the listings.

Salem swimming coach Byron Williams points the finger at Finley's love of the sport and his perseverance for his success.

"Ron is one of the outstanding swimmers in the state because he's dedicated and works extremely hard," said Williams. "He's been swimming on a daily basis for the last nine months, and I think you'll see another drop in his times very soon."

This is Finley's fourth year as a varsity competitor at Salem. The 17-year-old senior was voted the Most Valuable Player Award during his sophomore and junior years while leading the team in points in both of those seasons. A final encore of those accomplishments seem inevitable in his senior year.

Finley easily accepts the taxing workload as a means of eventually realizing a couple of personal goals.

"Work has come natural to me because the coach I had in ninth grade

Thursday, February 3, 1977

(Jeff Longstreth) Let me how to work, and I've been doing it ever since," said Finley.

The 6-4 team captain set one school record in his sophomore year, a pair of records last year, and has already established four new standards in the Salem record ledger this year.

His biggest year of improvement has come between this season and last, and Finley attributes his Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) swimming over the summer as the primary cause for his development.

"I swam with the Ann Arbor Swim Club and that helped a lot. I built up my strength in their 50-meter pool and represented them in the Junior Olympics in Memphis where I finished 13th in the 100-meter backstroke in the 15 to 18 age group," said Finley.

Finley's biggest influence probably is absorbed by his younger brother Craig, who, as a ninth grader this year, has broken Ron's freshman marks at Salem in the 200- and 500-freestyle.

The younger Finley is rated as the fastest freshman in the state in those events and could turn out to be a replica of his older brother.

After early morning and afternoon workouts, Finley and his Salem mates can look forward to a curtailing of their intense practices with the major meets coming up.

"Once I start getting my proper rest, I think my times will drop some more," Finley said. "The state record for the 100-backstroke is 53.0 and I'd like to break that mark in the state meet. My other big goal is to make the high school All-American team."

At this point, the soft-spoken Finley will continue to methodically plow through his workload, and accept the plaudits of coaches and competitors.

But Finley will be keeping in mind
the Wayne State meet this Saturday, and the Michigan High School meet a month from now in which he'll face struggles against the cream of prep competition.

Tankers squeak by

The Plymouth Canton swim team edged out an 89-83 non-league meet victory over Redford Union Tuesday night in the Panthers' pool.

The meet came down to the final event, the 400-freestyle relay, where the Chiefs' combination of Mike Gaab, Dave Tanner, Steve Wood and Kevin Harris beat the Redford Union foursome by a 10-second spread.

Canton was led by the one-two punch of Steve Wood and Dave Tanner. Both swimmers finished first and second respectively in the 200-yard freestyle and 100-yard butterfly races.

The Chiefs' Kevin Harris also recorded a double victory in the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard backstroke.

Redford Union was led by sprinter Jeff Lepler who won both the 50-freestyle and 100-freestyle events.

Grapplers prepare for big league meets

Both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton wrestling squads compete in their respective league meets this weekend.

The Western-Six meet will be held at Northville High School on Friday and Saturday.

The Chiefs go into their Western Six League meet with a 1-4 dual meet record. But this mark means not winning the league meet

since team point totals
in the six-team tourney will determine the league champion.

The Suburban Eight League meet will be at Dearborn Edsel Ford
Saturday.

results of tonight's dual meet against Dearborn Belleville currently holds a perfect, first-place record in the league with Salem and Dearborn close behind.

Chief spikers fall to Glenn

By BETTY DELANO

The Plymouth Canton varsity girls' volleyball team lost to Westland John Glenn Monday in two straight games, 15-8, 15-8.

The first game was very close until the last 47 seconds. Both the Chiefs and the Rockets played an extremely tough defense.

John Glenn took a 6-4 lead over Canton, but not until after six minutes of play when the Chiefs came back to tie the score, 6-6.

The Rockets went on to easily win the first game by seven points.

"We had some trouble on our serve reception during the first game and I don't think we were calling for the ball as much as we could have done," said Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein.

The Chiefs fizzled in the second game, letting John Glenn get an early 6-0 advantage. After three minutes of play, the Rockets had a 12-2 lead and had the serve.

The Chiefs got the ball back on a John Glenn net serve with the score at 14-4. Junior Laurie Beck tried to get Canton back in the game with four points, but it wasn't quite enough. John Glenn came back with the winning spike at 15-8.

"Our serving was very good but our reception wasn't. The aggressiveness of the team wasn't as tough as it has been. I don't think we were moving as much as we should have been," Burnstein said.

The Canton junior varsity also lost to the Rockets in two games, 15-10 and 15-7.

The Chiefs gave John Glenn a 7-0 lead in the first game, but then came back after a few points on each side to tie the score at 9-9.

The second game went much the same with John Glenn taking an 11-4 lead after two minutes of play. Canton showed signs of making a comeback, putting the score at 11-7, but Glenn still pulled out the win at 15-7.

Rocks, Chiefs host volleyball invitational

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

The second-annual Plymouth Volleyball Invitational occurs this Saturday in the Plymouth Salem gymnasium as 12 of the areas tops teams meet in this mid-season classic.

Last year, this tourney was an eight-team affair that took place before the season began. But this year called for expansion and a new date as Salem coach Brian Gilles and Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein host this event that hopes to become a tradition in Plymouth.

The format of this tourney includes two six-team division that begin round-robin play within the division beginning at 8 a.m.

Three courts will be in use at all times with six teams competing while the other six rest. Each of the round robin games will be played to 11 points.

AT THE END of round-robin play,
the top two teams from each division, with the best records, will square off
in semifinal action.

These top four teams will compete in cross-division pairings with the first place team of one division playing the second place team in the opposite bracket in a best two-out-of-three match with games played to 15.

The winners in the semifinal round will compete in the championship match to follow.

A TOTAL OF 39 trophies will be given out at the tourney with individual and team trophies awarded to the champion and runners-up.

An all-star team of six players, and the most valuable player of the tourney, will also receive trophies.
These players will be selected by the coaches at the conclusion of the tourney.

The invitational is scheduled to last throughout the day with the championship match approximately scheduled for 4 p.m. Admission is set at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Plymouth Salem High School is at the corner of Joy and Canton Center roads.

CONCESSIONS will be served at the school during the action and are sponsored by the Plymouth Salem girls' softball team under the direction of Livy Way.

The invitational finds division one sporting teams from Livonia Stevenson, Ann Arbor Huron, Livonia Franklin, Clarenceville, Oak Park and Plymouth Canton.

Division two finds Westland John Glenn, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Wayne Memorial, Northville, Taylor Kennedy and Plymouth Salem.

John Glenn defeated Salem to win the tourney last season. Clarenceville placed third and Canton fourth.

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

“Detroit Edison unwraps a complete Home Insulation Finance Plan to help you save up to 30% on your heating bills.”

Detroit Edison is a concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation. The wise use of energy plays one of the most important roles in that effort. Because proper home insulation offers great energy and cost-saving benefits, Detroit Edison has designed a plan, in cooperation with the Michigan Public Service Commission, to help you insulate or increase the insulation in your home.

No matter how you heat your home, you can benefit.

If you use gas, oil, propane, coal or electricity as your primary heating fuel and you are a Detroit Edison customer living in your own home anywhere in southeastern Michigan, Detroit Edison's Home Insulation Finance Plan may help you bring your home up to today's energy-saving standards. First, with help in selecting a licensed insulation contractor. Second, with convenient financing.

Even newer homes may be out of date.

It's true. Even newer homes may need more insulation to save the maximum amount of money on heating bills. Homes built before 1940 may have no insulation at all. Those built after 1940 may have some insulation but probably not enough to meet today's higher standards.

Detroit Edison recommendations include R-44 insulation for ceilings and R-13 for walls and floors in homes with electric heat. In homes with gas, oil or propane heating Detroit Edison recommends a minimum of R-19 insulation in ceilings and R-13 in walls. Anything less isn't doing the best job.

Bundle up your home and save a bundle.

More than 50% of the energy you use in your home goes to provide heat. So it makes sense to reduce the amount of energy you use for heating. Depending on when your home was built, and how it was insulated, improved insulation can save you up to 30% on your present fuel bill. If you have air-conditioning, you'll save on cooling costs, too. So you can see how insulation pays for itself. And your home will be quieter and more comfortable all year.

Start with a free home insulation check-up.

Find out how your home measures up. Contact your own licensed insulation contractor, or call your nearest Detroit Edison office for the names of licensed contractors who will examine your home free of charge. They can advise you on the amount and type of insulation your home needs. The cost is probably a lot less than you might think. And the savings will mount up every winter from now on.

Detroit Edison's Home Insulation Finance Plan: the Plan that saves.

Insulate yourself against the increasing cost of keeping your home comfortable. Take advantage of Detroit Edison's Home Insulation Finance Plan one of two ways:

1. Make a down payment to Detroit Edison of at least 15% of the total cost of insulating your home. The company will finance the balance of your cost up to $750 without interest or carrying charges provided the balance is paid within 90 days.* A bill for the balance will be sent to you by Detroit Edison, separate from your regular monthly electric bill.
2. Make a down payment to Detroit Edison of at least 15% of the total cost of insulating your home. The company will finance the balance of your cost up to $750 payable in up to 48 equal installments (a period of 4 years) at an annual percentage rate of 11.13 percent.* A coupon book will be provided for convenient payments.

*You must hold title to your home and have not had your title, service discontinued for non-payment of an undisputed bill within the 12-month period preceding the application for financing.

Pick up a free copy of "Detroit Edison's Home Insulation Finance Plan" at any customer office. Or call Detroit Edison for more information.

Save energy for all it's worth.

Friday's postponements now canceled

Will 10-day layoff affect cage play?

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Sports Editor
It was a relatively quiet Tuesday night on the Plymouth sports scene as both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton basketball teams enjoyed a night off.

This day off came after an unexpected Friday postponement because of inclement weather.

This means that when the Rocks invade Redford Union and the Chiefs travel to Churchill for road games this Friday it will be the first action either club has seen in the past 10 days.

The Plymouth Athletic Department tried vigorously to reschedule the postponed games but Walled Lake Western and Dearborn are both booked up on Tuesday and Friday for the rest of the season. And according to state rules, no high school basketball team can play three games in a week so the possibility of Saturday action no longer exists.

"We are kind of locked in," said Plymouth athletic director John Sandmann. "In the future, the leagues might have to set aside a Tuesday on the final week of the season because of these things happen."
Sandmann has arranged more open dates toward the end of the season but other league teams are all scheduled.

The effect of this problem came Tuesday morning when Sandmann notified the Observer that both games would not be rescheduled. This means that it's conceivable that both conference crowns could be decided on a percentage point basis if two squads finish in a virtual tie for first place.

HOW WILL THIS 10-day layoff affect both Plymouth teams?

Canton probably will feel the effects of the layoff more than Salem. The Chiefs were coming off their biggest victory in the school's short history when they upset Bentley.

Canton played its most consistent game of the season against Bentley and was ready to start the second half of the Western Six League schedule in a good frame of mind.

The Rocks suffered their first loss against Dearborn Fordson in the last game they played. But the cancellation of Friday's Suburban Eight League game against Dearborn High School shouldn't bother the league-leading Rocks at all.

This game was scheduled for the Pioneers' gym—a place where Salem has always had to struggle to win over the years.

Can Plymouth Salem recover from its first loss of the season and go on to win an unprecedented fourth Suburban Eight League title? Rock coach Fred Thomann hopes so. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Boat courses now offered

A series of 10 boating lessons, offered at no charge, will begin at four area sites the middle of next month.

The classes, sponsored by the Dearborn Power Squadron, will begin Feb. 15 in Westland John Glenn, Feb. 16 in Plymouth Canton, Feb. 22 in Dearborn Heights Haston, and Feb. 23 in Westland Whittier.

Classes will be held from 7:30-9:30 p.m. and will include instruction in safety afloat, boat handling under normal and abnormal conditions, watercraft regulations, first aid, required equipment, rules of the road, aids to navigation, compass and charting a course.

The boating class may be attended by anyone 12-years-old and older. Teens must be accompanied by an adult.

Certificates will be awarded to all who compete and pass the course. A sheriff's operating permit will be awarded to the 12-13-year-olds who complete the course.

In The Pocket By W.W. EDGAR

There is a new star in the bowling firmament and it came into view this past weekend when John Bennett, a member of the Bonanza team in the Classic, won the Master's title, the Detroit area's most prestigious event, at Belmar Lanes.

Another surprise came when Patti Schmidt, a former junior bowler as a sub, posted games of 218, 214 and 148 for a 580. And in the Evergreen Sunday loop, Bob Delleau rolled the high game of 277.

In the Friday noon classic, Jean Strickland contributed a 243 but had to yield high game honors to Myrna Hille, who rolled a 255, while Mary Lou Schneider paced the league with a 213 in 586.

Another Vanderwill—this time it was Ray—joined the ranks of top scorers when he accounted for a 228 game in a 629 series in the Thursday mixed classic.

In the women's section, Renee Gunderlock, a 141-average bowler, took the honors with a 196 in 513.

A TIE game featured the competition in the Livonia Ladies Classic. Madelyn Heath with 182-31-213 deadlocked with Marion Heath, who posted a 182-31, for honors in the second game after Lillian Beatty won the opener with 204-35-239.

Dec Briggs won the final with 198-32-230, and Loretta Moersch took series honors with 534-81-615.

IT WAS THE THRILL of her bowling career when Eleanor Stoychoff rolled her first 200 game. It came in the Woodde PTA circuit at Farmington Lanes when she rolled up a 226 game in a 598 series. Not bad for a 135-average bowler.

Jean Essa of Canton reached the highlight of her career last Sunday. Bowling in the famed Petersen Classic in Chicago, she rolled a 1,399, which was 126 pins over her average at Westland Bowl.

She moved to the top of the list and stands to win a tidy sum if the score holds up the remainder of the way.

RICHARD RENCOSK, who carries a 175 average in the Twin Parish League at Westland, put together games of 233, 234 and 212 for a 679 to move to the top in the charities tournament.

The women also had a great time at Westland as Jo Osborne set a record for the tri-city women with a 277 game in a 680 series. Close behind her in the handicap event was Alice Starr with a 672.

Meanwhile, Virginia Stanton, competing in the Bowlerettes at Westland, converted the "impossible" 4-6-7-10 split, and John Hurley joined the ranks of the pacemakers when he topped the Sunday men's league with a 279.

AT MEERI-BOWL, Rose Vickerman, a 129-average bowler, hit her peak for the year with games of 154, 242 and 117 for a 513.

CLOSE FINISHES were the order of the day at Garden Lanes. It started with the senior citizens when Dossin Hedge beat Elmer Squire by a single pin with a 620.

It was the same in the Moose League when Rick Davis gained a one-pin edge on Leo Venclewicz with a 633. Leo rolled a 290 game, the result of the No. 4 pin standing on his first ball. He struck the rest of the way to beat Eark Cawetza by two pins. The high score of the week came in the Sunday mixed league when Greg Bashara, faced games of 289, 188 and 254 for a 731.

Doc's Corner

With the start of the second semester of classes at the Centennial Educational Park, Plymouth Canton's new Phase III facility is now open to gym classes.

While the facility probably won't be in use for two more weeks, teachers are assigning lockers and going over the ground rules.

Phase III is a building addition to Plymouth Canton High School which includes another gymnasium, pool, band room and many other extras.

The importance of Phase III opening probably won't be felt until next year since the winter sports season is only one month away from completion.

Athletic director John Sandmann finished the scheduling conflicts, that go along with having one facility, many months ago. But come next winter, he will lose a lot of headaches that go along with scheduling games and practice times.

Both swim teams and basketball squads will no longer have to share one pool and one gymnasium with late practices that sometimes are scheduled as late as 9 or 10 p.m.

Both volleyball teams won't be forced to share the small upper balcony that's now in use.

And, the Plymouth Canton wrestlers and the Plymouth Gymnastics team won't be forced to share the other balcony side.

Hopefully, the freshmen cage teams won't be forced to practice late at night in Pioneer Middle School.

Observerland swim times

Area coaches are encouraged to contact Plymouth Salem coach Byron Williams, who is compiling the best swimming performances of the season. He may be reached at 453-3100 Friday afternoons and at 453-3151 after 4 p.m.

Plymouth men's cage results

A showdown between Side Street Pub and Wagenschutz highlighted the Plymouth Recreation men's basketball league last week and the result was a dramatic 75-73 overtime victory for Side Street.

A Wagenschutz victory would have put the squad one game behind Side Street in the battle for first place.

At the end of regulation time, the score was tied 67-67. In the overtime period, deliberate offense and tenacious defense resulted in few points scored. Two key players, Rick Neu of Side Street and Steve Robb from Wagenschutz were also out of action in the extra period because they fouled out.

Robb and Neu were former teammates on the 1972-73 Plymouth Salem basketball team.

The difference in this contest was a pair of free throws in the final seconds of play as Side Street maintained its hold on first place.

Bob Blohm paced the winners with 20 points and Mark Falvo of Wagenschutz also added 20.

The Charter Township of Canton, Wayne County, Michigan ORDAINS

Section 2001 entitled Creation of a Board of Zoning Appeals of the zoning ordinance of the Charter Township of Canton, Wayne County, Michigan entitled:

AN ORDINANCE to regulate and restrict the use of land and buildings by dividing the Charter Township of Canton into districts; defining certain terms used therein; imposing regulations, prohibitions and restrictions governing the erection, construction of structures and buildings to be used for business, industry, residence, social and specified purposes; the use of lands; regulating and limiting the height and bulk of buildings and other structures; regulating and limiting lot occupancy and the size of yards and other open spaces; regulating and limiting the density of population; limiting congestion upon the public streets by providing for the off-street parking and loading of vehicles; providing the gradual elimination of non-conforming uses of land, buildings and structures; establishing the boundaries of districts; creating a Board of Zoning Appeals; defining and limiting the powers and duties of said Board, and setting standards to guide actions of said Board and providing the means of enforcing said Ordinance and providing penalties for violation of this Ordinance.

SECTION II

A new section of the said Ordinance to be known as Section 2001 Creation of a Board of Zoning Appeals, is hereby adopted and shall read as follows:

The Board of Zoning Appeals shall consist of five (5) members to be appointed by the Township Board, the first member of which shall be a member of the Township Planning Commission. The remaining members of the Board of Appeals shall be selected from the electors of the Township residing outside incorporated cities and villages. The members selected shall be representative of the population distribution and of the various interests present in the Township. One member may be a member of the Township Board. An elected officer of the Township shall not serve as chairman of the Board of Appeals. An employee or contractor of the Township Board may not serve as a member or employee of the Board of Appeals. Members of the Board of Appeals shall be removable by the Township Board for non-performance of duty or misconduct in office upon written charges and after public hearing. A member shall disqualify himself from a vote in which he has a conflict of interest and failure to so disqualify himself shall constitute misconduct in office.

The term of each member shall be for three (3) years, except that of the members first appointed, two (2) shall serve for two (2) years and the remaining members for three (3) years. A successor shall be appointed not more than one month after the term of the preceding member has expired. All vacancies for unexpired terms shall be filled for the remainder of the term.

The Board of Appeals shall not conduct business unless a majority of the members of the Board are present.

SECTION III

This Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon its adoption by the Township Board.
