'Keep farms by compensating farmers'

By CRAIG PIECHURA

The citizen's report on land use released last week recommends that Canton Township purchase development rights on farmland if people of the community want to pay to see it preserved.

The committee's task was to explore the feasibility of retaining agricultural land in a community that is experiencing rapid residential growth. "We are of the opinion (that) retention of agricultural land is feasible under certain conditions," the report states.

Sections 16 through 21 of the township and sections 28 through 32 are identified as prime agricultural land in Canton. These areas could be preserved for farm use through a combination of tax relief, strict agricultural zoning and a local compensation corporation to reimburse the farmer at the price he would get for the land if he had sold it to a developer, the report states.

Chairman of the land use committee, Bart Berg, estimates that the compensation program would cost Canton residents $9-$15 million to preserve the agricultural land by compensating farmers actively engaged in food production.

THE OPEN LAND owner who does not farm is another story.

"Certainly, open land contributes to the overall aesthetic rural nature of the township," states the report.

Should tax relief be provided on an equal basis for both farmer and open land owner? Resolution of the open land question is left for the public officials of the township.

The report states that the cost of compensation would be offset by the fact that it would cost more to service and develop the land than it would to keep it farmland.

"The benefit to the local landowner would be that he would be able to remain in farming with a reduction in his tax bill; yet, he would receive an amount equivalent to the gain he would otherwise have realized from the sale of his land.

"The community would benefit from paying landowners compensation in that the anticipated total outlay for development in the agricultural area would far exceed the cost of paying compensation."

A DEVELOPMENT RIGHTS compensation program would have to be voted in by public referendum and any move to remove the compensation would also need a public vote.

"The device is simple" for purchasing development rights, the report states.

"It involves money in exchange for a legally binding conveyance or agreement which restricts the owner's use of his land and prevents its development—either permanently or for a fixed term."

A private commission or corporation, separate from the township government, would determine the value of landowner's development rights. Areas closer to existing development, for example, would probably hold a higher value.

"In order to remove political considerations from the operation of the development rights concept, it is desirable that development rights purchased by the local government be held by a public corporation," is the consensus of the 19 members of the Land Use Committee.

All 19 committee members signed the report, stating that they "substantially concur with the findings" of the document.

Even Richard and Linda LaBell, who previously threatened to submit an alternative land use report, signed the research paper. Two months ago Ms. LaBell accused the committee chairman, Berg, and the majority of the committee as being "pro-growth" proponents.

SEVERAL DIFFERENT plans throughout the nation which seek to preserve farmland were studied by the committee and are cited in the 100-page report.

A repeated claim of the land use group is that tax relief for farmers is not enough—compensation must accompany tax relief.

One of the plans studied by the group was a "demonstration project" being explored in the heavily-pressured state of New Jersey.

Called the "New Jersey Agricultural Preserve Demonstration Act," this voluntary program is run by the state. The more acreage easements offered by a farmer, the more likely are his chances that the state will "purchase" his land and offer compensation.

As long as the land continues to be used for agricultural or horticultural

Air 45-15 opinions tonight at public forum

Residents of the Plymouth-Canton school district will be able to voice their opinions tonight (Monday) on what the board of education should do about this year's school calendar.

The public hearing will be held in the Plymouth-Canton High School Cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

Although the public has never before been invited to offer suggestions on the school calendar, the controversy brought about by the five schools who have scheduled the year-round 45-15 plan have changed that.

The 45-15 plan means students will attend school for 45 days, then take 15 days off.

In an apparent attempt to mollify some of the more vocal parents, school trustees are seeking advice on which calendar to adopt.

The major issue is whether to implement a "staggered" starting program or a "block" starting schedule.

With the staggered start, students in different groups (tracks) would begin and end the academic year at different times of the year. The block start would permit students to begin and end classes on a more uniform schedule with all classes ending in June.

After the public hearing, the board will hold a workshop to discuss increasing the physical education program at the elementary school level and discontinuing seventh grade football and basketball. Also to be discussed is whether a student's editorial on pornography, which the school has already censored, should be published in the school paper.

LAST WEEK the calendar committee recommended two block start schedules for the 45-15 buildings. Supt. John Hoben has spoken in favor of this type of calendar because he feels it would provide more flexibility for students, teachers, and administrators.

But parents and teachers who oppose the block start arrangement claim it is unworkable. They say it would require some students to be in class for only three weeks before going on a three week vacation.

They also maintain it would be disruptive for families. In addition, they charge that some students would end school on one day and on the next they would have to begin a new class in a new room.

Besides trying to pick their way through the pros and cons of the calendar, the board will try to reach a consensus on whether it should concur with a high school principal's stand on a student-written editorial.

Kent Buikema, principal of Canton High, has censored the anti-pornography editorial written by a staff member of New Media, the school paper.

Both the newspaper's faculty advisor and staff feel the editorial should be published. They asked the board for a decision on the issue last Monday, but the board voted to put off discussion until tonight.

The trustees also will discuss a request from the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association (PCJAA) to take over boy's seventh grade football and basketball. The PCJAA feels that because they are offering the same sports, a merger would eliminate duplication.

Also, John Sandman, athletic director, told the board that one of his priorities was to have elementary school students spend more time in physical education classes and suggested hiring additional staff at that level.

According to Supt. Hoben, an increase in the elementary program would mean cutbacks in other areas.

Old feed store's doors reopen

By W.W. EDGAR

Old Charlie Hewer has been called to his reward but the tradition he started with an old country feed store on Canton Center Road will be continued by three young women.

The three women are the Foege sisters who once operated a fruit and vegetable stand around the corner on Joy Road and knew the proprietor of the landmark feed store since they were infants.

"My father purchased the building from old Charlie some years ago," Catherine, the oldest of the sisters, explained. "And when the feed store became available we thought it would be a good idea to carry on the tradition he started."

Admitting that they knew very little about the feed business, the middle sister, now Mrs. Rita Thompson, smilingly told how they are learning about in all kinds of feed for animals.

"We once had a dog and cat and a horse," she said, "but we're learning more and more every day about the feed business."

She recalled that they have been in business ever since they knew how to add.

"We could handle the fruit and vegetable stand because we raised all our own products. But this feed business was something new."

The third sister, now Mary Perlogo, the wife of a contractor, cut in. "We looked at the feed in store when we took over the place. Then when the old customers started coming in asking for brands and varieties we didn't have, we simply ordered them."

Pointing her finger toward the side walls lined with bags and cartons, she said, "Now look at what we have."

Since they took over the feed store the three girls have been doing a thorough job of house cleaning. They ripped everything from the walls and washed them. After that they gave them a coat of white paint. To top off the improvement, they had a new cement floor installed.

"We wanted to start with a clean slate," one of them offered, "and now we are able to show off our stock. We're also going to paint the outside."

"We decided to change the name of the place," Rita confided. "From now on it will be The Country Place. We are going to keep the building just as it is. We want to retain the image of the old time country store—just as old Charlie had it."

Their present task is getting the warehouse in the rear of the building in shape, but as Mary put it, "we're waging a battle with cobwebs a yard long."

Charlie died Nov. 26 and the building was vacant for a time. During that period many of the old customers found other places to obtain their feed.

"One by one they're coming back," said Catherine, store manager. "And with their return, the tradition of the old country feed store will carry on."

In the midst of explaining their new venture, Rita enthusiastically produced a business card that she printed on an old printing press in her home.

"We hope to have a lot of other things available to let the folks know their old feed store is open again."

"We're planning a grand opening as soon as we get the entire place cleaned up."

So, while Old Charlie has gone, his spirit still hovers over the old feed store that had been a part in a storm for many of country folk long before such things as the Plymouth-Canton high school across the street were even dreamed of.

The rural feed store tradition started by the late Charley Hewer will be carried on by three young women who have reopened and renamed the store The Country Place. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Junk food is out in school system

At least some junk food will be removed soon from the reaches of students at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education was told Monday night that vending machines would be removed by Sept. 1 from both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools.

That is but one recommendation which has been made in a study being made of the lunch program at the CEP.

In a recent inspection, noted Joe Gray, board president, the lunch program at the CEP failed to meet certification standards. Some lunches offered are nutritional, he added, but some lunches failed to meet the state's minimal nutrition standards.

The board plans to collect information on lunch programs used elsewhere in the nation to determine if improvements can be made at the CEP. Meanwhile, though, they were relieved to hear the vending machines are on their way out.

One trustee, when hearing the news, was heard to whisper, "Junk food may be popular, but so is marijuana."

Both girls tracks teams enjoyed victories last week as the Plymouth Salem Rocks won their first meet of the year and the Plymouth Canton Chiefs collected victory number three. The girls added glitter to the sports world last week in Plymouth-Canton which otherwise wasn't too sparkling.

Canton graduation activities under way

Graduation activities have started for seniors at Plymouth Canton High with a busy schedule ahead between now and June 10.

The senior prom was held Saturday in the Mayflower Meeting House.

The next scheduled activity is the Senior Honors Assembly at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 31, in the cafeteria of Plymouth Canton High School. The recognition ceremony is being arranged by the senior class honors committee, the guidance department. Parents of students receiving recognition will be notified about one week in advance.

On June 5 churches in the Plymouth-Canton area will be asked to hold a recognition Sunday in honor of the graduation classes of Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salme high schools, in lieu of the traditional baccalaureate services.

Canton High's senior banquet will be 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 8, in the Mayflower Meeting House. Tickets at $7 per person will go on sale beginning May 23. The program has been arranged by the senior banquet committee.

Graduation ceremonies will begin 8 p.m. Friday, June 10, on the athletic field of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park. In case of bad weather, ceremonies will be moved to the gymnasium of Plymouth Salem High.

Each senior will be issued 10 tickets for graduation ceremonies for parents, relatives and friends. In case the ceremony is moved inside, six tickets will be honored.

The Senior Party will be held in the physical education facility at Canton High immediately after commencement exercises and will run to about 1 a.m. Saturday.

The senior party has been prepared by senior parents with chairpersons being Mr. and Mrs. Mert Williams. Tickets are $5 per student in advance and $6 at the door. The party will be open to Canton graduates only.

WC3 no threat to Schoolcraft, trustees find

For a couple of years, there has been bad blood between Wayne County Community College and several suburban community colleges, such as Schoolcraft.

No more, said Schoolcraft board chairman Paul Y. Kadish.

Kadish and other college officials met recently with WC3 President Reginald Wilson and other officials and reported "a good degree of cooperation."

Schoolcraft's worry was that WC3, whose district is Detroit, Redford Township, Westland and several downriver suburbs, would build a series of campuses on Schoolcraft's border, competing for students and offering similar programs.

"They have five target areas for campuses," said Schoolcraft President C. Nelson Grote, "and they're doing some very sophisticated planning."

One site WC3 has in mind, according to Kadish, is in the vicinity of I-275 and I-94, some 13 miles due south of the Schoolcraft campus. "Our only concern was with programs that would be competitive," said Kadish. "The administrations agreed to have meetings to avoid competition."

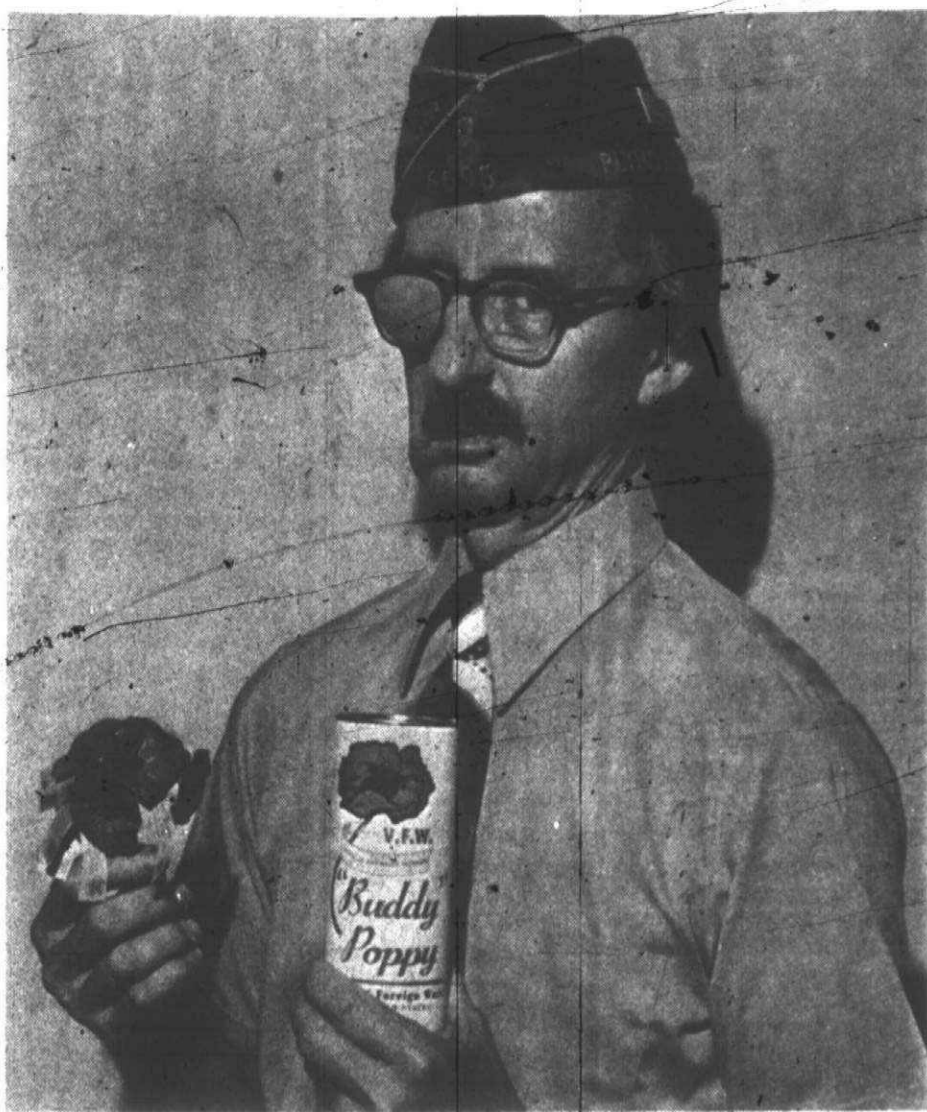

"There was a spirit of cooperation that was absent in the past. It's changed. Even Henry Ford Community College came out of the meeting pleased, although WC3 is building only a stone's throw away," said Kadish.

McGhee, both of Arkansas; and eight grandchildren.

Poppies on sale

Plymouth VFW Post and Auxiliary 6695 will hold its annual Buddy Poppy Day sales Thursday in the Plymouth Community. The sale of Poppies prior to Memorial Week is the VFW's only direct appeal to the public for aid to the needy veteran and his family, and all monies collected are used for that purpose, points out James McKindles. Buddy Poppies are made by disabled veterans in VA hospitals. The Buddy Poppy is the VFW's symbol to the world that "We honor the dead by helping the living." (Staff photo)

Handicapped students ask Dad for car keys

In just a few weeks, Kathy Daniels and Kelly Klick will graduate from the driver's education program at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park.

So what, you say. Lots of kids have graduated from driver's education. However, Kathy and Kelly are somewhat special. They are the first handicapped students in the history of the school to complete the training.

They were able to do so because of the recent acquisition of a specially outfitted automobile.

The car, furnished by Bob Jeanotte Pontiac of Plymouth, was constructed so the girls can operate both the brake and accelerator pedals by using a hand control located on the left side of the steering column.

"The hand control is very easy to operate," said Carmelo Crespo, the driver training instructor. "And once the girls got the hang of it, they had no problems."

So far, Crespo said, Kathy and Kelly have driven on expressways and in city traffic in downtown Plymouth, and they are currently preparing to negotiate the heavier traffic in Ann Arbor.

"They have gone through the same driving exercises as every other student," Crespo said. "I've been teaching this for 14 years, and I'd say they will be better than average drivers."

Aside from getting used to working the control, Crespo said, the girls have no more difficulties and are no more nervous than any other beginning driver.

However, he almost can't make the same claim for himself. "I think I was more nervous than Kathy and Kelly were when we first started. But now I think we are all relaxed and comfortable."

"They have a sense of humor, and we all joke about mistakes to keep ourselves together."

Black cat turns 19 Fri. 13th

A lot of people who believe in superstition made a point of avoiding ladders, the paths of black cats and sidewalk cracks on Friday, the 13th of May. Not Marion Moore.

You see, Marion and his wife Virginia, of Plymouth, have been crossing the path of a black cat for nearly two decades and don't think a thing of it.

The Moore's black cat, Nubbins, turned 19 on Friday the 13th. Born on May 13, 1958, Nubbins' presence has initiated many conversations concerning superstition in the Moore household.

Neighbors and friends tend to make a bigger deal of the coincidence than the Moore family, which isn't really fazed by the whole deal. Marion does admit, however, that a handful of Fridays the 13th in May haven't passed by in the last 20 years without some mention of the event.

Marion can't recall any unlucky instances that have occurred as a result of the cat's jinx since her birth, but says she's a special pet all the same. "We had an old cat many years ago who gave birth to Nubbins and we've raised her ever since."

Out of the litter of five, the Moores felt Nubbins was the cutest and decided to keep her. "We fell in love with her instantly; she was cute and playful," Marion said.

"THAT'S WHY we named her Nubbins, because she was so small." Asked what a nubbin was, Marion said, "If you were an old farmer, you'd know. A nubbin is a small ear of corn."

Marion admits that Nubbins does have some peculiar traits. "We have a dog, but Nubbins rules the nest. She generally gets her way when there is a conflict between the two."

This is one reason why the Moore cat has lived so long, according to Marion. "The dog keeps her active; she's still in good shape. I imagine it'll be a few more years before Nubbins kicks over."

About the only strange Friday-the-13th related tale Marion can tell is about the time the Moores went on vacation four or five years ago around Nubbins' birthday and left her with a neighbor like they always do.

Upon returning, the Moores noticed a change in Nubbins' personality. "She fussed for three or four days after we came home; like she was pouting," Marion says. "Now she fusses every time we leave her home. Think it was because we left her on her birthday?"

Business Briefs

Surety Federal Savings on Sheldon Road at Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth celebrated its fifth anniversary here last month.

To commemorate the anniversary, Surety has installed a 25-foot time and alternating Celsius, Fahrenheit temperature sign. The sign is controlled by a mini-computer and is the only one of its type in the Plymouth area.

David Collins, executive vice-president of Surety, comments: "Surety Federal wants to be as helpful as possible during the confusing transition period to the metric system."

Collins adds that in conjunction with the new metric sign, metric slide conversion tables that convert liquid, weight, area, volume and temperature to the metric system, have been made available to Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

These conversion charts also are available to groups of Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, local clubs, or on an individual basis. Interested persons may contact J. Beecher Todd, the Plymouth branch manager of the bank.

Surety Federal specializes in home mortgages and savings accounts and also has offices in Redford, Southfield, Detroit and East Detroit.

BARNEY M. WITKOWSKI of Plymouth, territory manager in Shell Oil Company's Detroit north district, has been selected a member award winner in the Laurel Society—the marketing organization's employee recognition group.

The member award is the highest level of achievement in the society and is dedicated annually to recognize superior performance both on and off the job, including community service. Selection is limited to four per cent of the eligible employees.

Witkowski was presented an individual personalized plaque and a custom designed contemporary ring reflecting his achievement. He joined Shell in 1959, after receiving a BS in marketing from Ferris State College. He has held several marketing positions in the Detroit district.

DICK VARNELL has been promoted to store manager of the new Meijer Thrifty Acres store in Taylor.

Varnell joined Meijer in 1974 at the Thrifty Acres center in Grand Rapids. He has held several management positions with Meijer including his most recent post as foods manager at the Carpenter Road Thrifty Acres in Ypsilanti.

Nubbins, the 19-year-old black cat, crossed Marion Moore's path last Friday the 13th. But Moore didn't kick up a superstitious fuss because he didn't want to make trouble for the cat on its birthday.

Growth Works is funded

Growth Works Inc. has received financial assistance from Canton Township for the second year in a row to bolster the counseling, tutoring and recreational programs used by Canton teens.

Township board members last week granted Growth Works' request for $4,000—10 per cent of the agency's total budget—to support the programs offered by Our House and the Youth Center.

The township last year contributed its first donation of $3,000 to the youth-oriented agency. This year's monetary request was based on the number of Canton teens who participate in Growth Works' programs, according to Bill Henry, director of Our House.

About 11 per cent of the teens who used the Our House and Youth Center facilities last year in the City of Plymouth lived in Canton. Another 125 youths have participated in the Growth Works program at the Canton Commons apartment complex and Field Elementary School.

Safetytown wasn't built in just one day

Construction has already started on buildings for the innovative Safety Town, to be set up this summer on the parking lot of Central Middle School.

The construction class in the industrial education department of Plymouth Canton High has finished one building and is working on another.

Meanwhile, enrollment for the morning class of the first session of Safety Town has already been filled—as of May 12—according to Mary Papay of Canton, project chairwoman.

SAFETY TOWN is being built for pre-kindergarten students in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools to teach safety to 4 and 5-year-olds.

The town, when finished, will include miniature buildings, pedal cars, streets, sidewalks, and pedestrian cross-walks. The goal of the program is to prepare children to cope with and understand the ever-increasing safety hazards.

Safety Town is a two-week program which includes instruction in all areas of safety a pre-kindergardner will encounter. The professional instructor for the program is Leslie Gingell, who will be assisted by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Michigan State Police, Plymouth Police and firefighters from Plymouth, Canton and Plymouth townships.

Sessions will be from 10 a.m. to noon, and from 1-3 p.m. from June 20 to July 1, July 5-15, and July 18-29. There is a $5 fee for the sessions.

Parents may register with the Continuing Education Office in Room 117 of Plymouth Canton High, 8415 Canton Center Road. Deadline to register is June 8. Continuing Education is the sponsoring agent for the program.

THE PLYMOUTH KIWANIS Club has agreed to gather at Central Middle School the evening of May 24 and provide the manpower to paint the streets of Safety Town.

The Colonial Kiwanis Club of Plymouth will assemble the cars at Central Middle on the afternoon of June 11.

Traffic signs for Safety Town has been donated by Stan Gross, director of transportation, City of Detroit. The traffic signals are courtesy of Cliff Haynes and Don Way of the public lighting commission, City of Detroit.

Les Tinson and Russ Kaiser of the school district's maintenance department will direct installation of the signals.

Other community groups and businesses which already have donated equipment or services include: Plymouth Jaycees and Auxiliary; Plymouth Knights of Columbus; Plymouth Lions; Unistrut Corp., Telespar Division, Wayne; Lou LaRiche Chevrolet; Leo Calhoun Ford; Colony Chrysler; Bob Jeanotte Pontiac; Wayne County Sheriff's; Sesi Lincoln-Mercury; and First National Bank of Plymouth.

Mrs. Papay says children attending the sessions will be served drinks, and it would be beneficial for the youngsters if senior citizens volunteered to prepare and serve drinks. Any senior citizen wanting to volunteer may call Larry Masteller at 459-1180 or call Mrs. Papay at 459-1278.

Members of the committee planning Safety Town include: Mrs. Papay; Masteller; Bob DeCorte, traffic engineer for AAA; Trooper Dave Suss of the State Police; Ptl. Joe Kahanec, Plymouth Police; Sgt. Ron Brown, Sheriff's; Lt. William Tomaczak, State Police Northville post commander.

Assisting the committee have been: George Schoenneman, Plymouth fire chief; Mel Paulun, Canton fire chief; James Gignac, Plymouth Township fire chief; Allen Matthews, Plymouth fire-fighters; School Supt. John M. Hoben; Sam Ulsaker, administrative assistant for the schools; Brian Kidston, assistant principal, Central Middle; Mike Gallmeier, Heinz Dittmar, William Doughty from the Centennial Educational Park.

Who's partisan in SC contest?

Two candidates whose names have been mentioned in partisan politics arguments in the Schoolcraft College race say there's no room for partisanship on the board of trustees but ample room for different philosophies.

The flap was created when Schoolcraft trustee Mark McQuesten sent a letter to several hundred Democratic Party contacts endorsing three candidates including Karl Sjogren.

In an interview with the Observer, McQuesten said he had real philosophical differences with several candidates, including Leonard Wozniak.

SJOGREN called the injection of partisanship "inappropriate and potentially detrimental to the future of the college."

The Ford cost analyst said in a letter to the Observer: "If a trustee is to decide issues on the basis of what is politically expedient, both the college and community in the long run may suffer." He promised to seek "broad-based support" but didn't reject McQuesten's endorsement.

WOZNIAK said: "Since I am supposed to have 'philosophical conflicts' with this individual (McQuesten), I would like to explain what some of my basic philosophies are."

"Number one is a belief in personal integrity. Number two is fiscal responsibility. I maintain fiscal responsibility in my personal finances, my employer's finances, and the financial affairs of organizations which I have been elected to serve in the past and which I will be elected to serve in the future."

"Another philosophy I have is making a 100 percent effort toward honoring the trust that people place in me. Part of honoring this trust is to intelligently listen to both sides of an issue, investigate thoroughly and document decisions pertaining to issues."

The Stroller
Commencement oratory

By W. W. EDGAR

Over the years The Stroller has been in attendance at many college and university commencement ceremonies. He has seen many relatives, friends and folks from many walks of life step across the stage to receive their diplomas.

And through the years he sat and listened to all types of orators. He has set spellbound with some of the orators who delivered their messages with considerable gusto. And he has been bored to death by others.

Out of this army of orators only one left a lasting impression as they spoke of the great challenges that confronted the graduates as they entered a new phase of their lives.

The lone exception, until the other night, was Boney Reiter, one of the great orators whose efforts usually were saved for the pep rallies on the night before the football games at Lehigh University back in the foothills of old south mountain in Pennsylvania.

Boney was a "character." He served in the capacity of athletic director and no official ever was more respected than him.

He had graduated from Princeton and early in his life had won several bicycle races. He would never speak of them, but he had the odd habit of wearing his pants guards at all times during the day.

The pants guards were his trademark. He even wore them to church on a Sunday morning. But when he took his place at the podium he was an orator who would have given William Jennings Bryan a run for his money—and Bryan, with his "Cross of Gold" speech, was rated one of the best.

The Stroller has some fond memories of Boney and he never will forget the sight of him talking to the Lehigh graduating class when he was drafted to make the commencement address. The students had asked him to forego his athletic background for a m time and give them their send-off into the business world.

With a broad smile he began very slowly with the usual pleasantries and the time-worn phrases used by most commencement day orators.

Then he left the podium and started to pace the stage from one side to the other, pants guards tightly gripping his trousers. He was a sight to behold.

Finally, he started to talk in a fatherly vein and wound up by reciting his favorites poem "Only the Game Fish Swim Upstream."

Everyone sat spellbound. He put more advice and memorable comment into his words than all those before him. He dramatized the words by explaining that one should never flinch at misfortune or queer twists of fate, but to face the problems with all the courage at their command because "only the game fish swim upstream."

It was an unforgettable moment.

Until the other evening this was the top bit of oratory The Stroller had heard. Then he sat in on the commencement exercises at Madonna College, attending mostly to see Congressman Carl Pursell receive an honorary degree.

As part of the price, he thought, he would have to listen to another boring

Final Concert's Thursday

The Plymouth Centennial Educational Park symphony orchestra and guitar ensemble will present their final full length concert of the 1976-77 school year Thursday, May 19. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth Salem High auditorium and admission is free.

Opening the program will be a solo violin group performing two movements of the "Vivaldi Concerto for Violins" featuring violinists Rebecca Nichols, Cheri Neal, Ann Kaziak, Jean McMenamin and Gail Lieberman.

Symphony orchestra selections will include "Rumanian Rhapsody" by Enesco, "Rondo" from "Piano Concerto No. 3 in C Minor" by Beethoven, featuring senior piano soloist Karen Kan, and "The Unbegun Symphony" by Peter Schickele (P. D. Q. Bach).

The orchestra also will perform highlights from "Jonathon Livingston Seagull" by Neil Diamond. Both the orchestra and guitar ensemble are directed by H. Michael Endres of the high school music staff.

Included in the guitar ensemble's presentations will be "Raindrops Keep Falling On My Head," "By the Time I Get to Phoenix" and "Show Me The Way."

Township nets bucks on junk

Plymouth Township is nothing if it isn't frugal.

Instead of throwing their junk away, township officials rounded up the stuff and hauled it to Detroit and put it up for sale.

The township was one of the few western Wayne County municipalities that took advantage of the Detroit's invitation to participate in its "World's Largest Garage Sale" last month.

For its trouble, the township received $313.50.

"We got rid of things that were of no use to us," said Supervisor Thomas Notebaert. "It wasn't really junk, but it wasn't that good either."

He said the township sold, some old chairs and typewriters, a bumper from a jeep and a lawnmower.

"I suppose the chairs were the best buy. They needed to be upholstered, but they were substantially built."

The proceeds from the sale will be divided up among the departments which supplied the items.

WHY SOME PEOPLE HAVE ALL THE LUCK and how the College Board can help you do something about it.

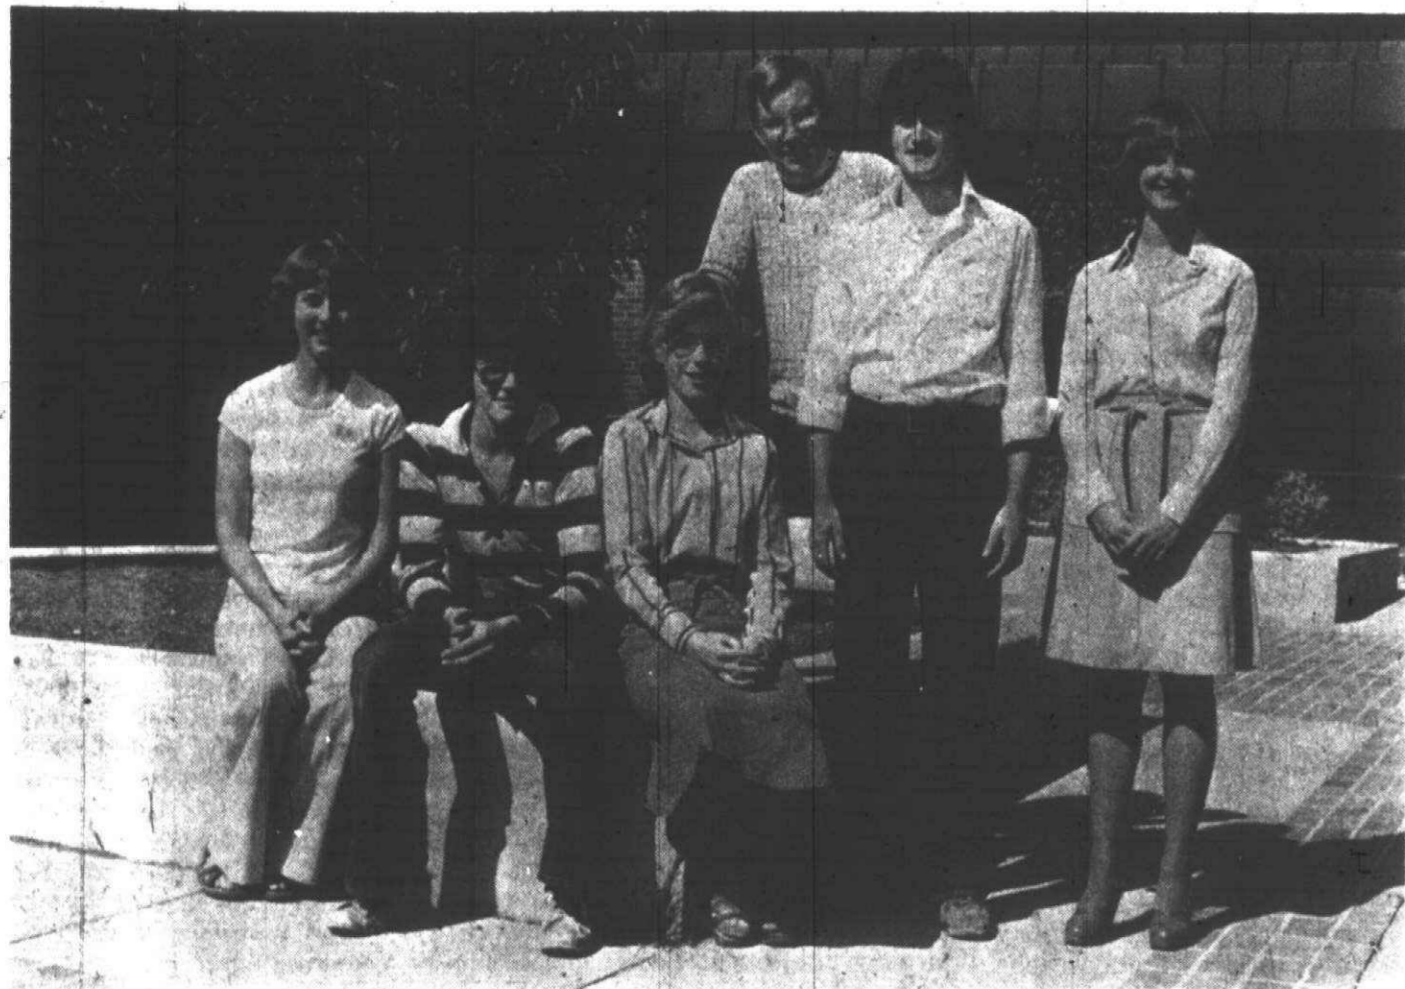

While most people struggle with indecision, some people always know exactly what they want — and usually, they get what they want, too!

These "lucky" people make decisions that work for them. They carry choice into positive action, to achieve a variety of personal and professional goals.

Nelle Scholtz, consultant for the Decision-Making Program of the College Entrance Examination Board, has found that people of any age can quickly learn to make all kinds of decisions without anxiety — choices that are likely to produce positive results, based on a proven, time-tested process of self-searching, situation analysis, decision-making practice, and planning for individual action.

Dr. Scholtz, Coordinator of Career Counseling at the University of Georgia, will be teaching the Decision-Making process at a one-day workshop open to all on May 21, from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the Detroit Cadillac Hotel. The full cost for the workshop will be $30, including tuition, coffee, lunch, and materials.

Register by calling the Decision-Making Program today at (212) 582-6210, or writing to Improve Your Decision-Making Skills Workshop, College Entrance Examination Board, 688 Seventh Avenue, New York, New York 10019. Learn how you can become a better decision-maker, direct your own life more effectively and help others learn to make choices as well.

Canton's select scholars

These six juniors at Plymouth Canton High are in an academically select group. They scored among the top five per cent in the nation in test scores for National Merit scholarships. From left are Mary Riffe, Mark Bartlett, Ann Lattin, Glen Liston, Jeff Parrott and Linda Bartalsky. Canton Principal Kent Buikema says this is the first time Canton has had six students selected for National Merit scholarship competition. The previous high was two. Each student now will be considered for recognition in the 1978 National Merit scholarship competition, either for finalists, semifinalists or commended students. They will learn this fall if they advance to semifinalist competition. This is only the second year in which the competition has been opened to students in the spring of their junior year. Federal grant help eyed

Although Plymouth Township officials are not quite ready to act, they are thinking about hiring a federal program coordinator to make sure they get their share of the federal pie. Trustee Frank Millington brought the matter up for discussion last week, but board members could not reach a consensus. They put off a decision on the matter until it could be studied in more depth. Millington felt that even a part-time employee, who did nothing but keep up on the grants available and fill out the necessary papers, could pay for himself by getting the township more money. "As of this date, there are any number of grants in Washington," Millington said. "Some of them are worth millions, maybe even billions we should know what's available. "The school district and other governments have their people," Millington continued. "Why don't we?" Millington also noted the township's failure to get federal money to build a new township hall and fire station complex near the recreation site on Ann Arbor Trail.

partisan politics involved. Next time we'll know better and push a little harder," Gornick said.

What would be the possibility of using the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments or the Michigan Township Association to keep the township up to date on grants, asked Trustee Maurice Breen.

Millington did not buy that idea, though. "We need a strictly local person to look out for us," he maintained.

Supervisor Thomas Notebaert said he had talked to the township's accountant and for less than $100 a month he would keep them apprised on available grants.

Breen wanted to know if the accountant would fill out the forms for that amount. Notebaert said he didn't know and suggested that the board make a decision after more information had been gathered.

'Compensate farmers'

purposes it will be taxed as farmland, not potential development land.

However, the New Jersey demonstration project is not geared for farmlands located near urban areas. According to New Jersey's agricultural advisors, "land values are so high near built-up areas that our limited funding will prohibit the acquisition of easements on such lands."

Canton's group consensus more closely resembles New York's Suffolk County Plan to Preserve Agriculture."

THIS PLAN FEATURES development rights purchase by the county, rather than a fee title acquisition by the state. Preserved farms are bounded by existing roads or open space to provide a buffer zone between farms and residential or industrial areas.

Canton's land use study group has designated sections 5-9 and section 33 of the township as buffer zones to separate the "prime agriculture" areas from more heavily populated sections.

Farmers in the buffer zones who till on five acres or more would qualify for the same agricultural tax reduction and compensation considerations as farmers in the "prime agricultural" areas, under Canton's report recommendations.

State Rep. Tom Brown (D-Westland) recently introduced a bill which would provide tax reduction for farmers with 20 acres or more who live within 25 miles of a major urban area. Under the bill, farmers would put their land into an escrow account for at least 10 years where it could not be developed. In return, the farmers would be taxed as agricultural land, not potential development land.

Brown proposes that the state pick up 80 per cent of the difference between the full property assessment and the agricultural assessment and that local government pay the 20 per cent remaining.

Brown's bill has been sent to the Towns and Counties Committee which will schedule a series of public hearings throughout the state.

BERG SAYS HE will campaign on the state level for Brown's tax relief bill and push locally to provide preservation of green space for all the township residents through a Canton compensation program.

"This objective can be realized only through definite action by the township board and strong support from Canton residents," Berg says.

A questionnaire will be sent out soon, according to Berg, to allow Canton residents the chance to express their views on public funding for farm relief.

The land use committee is expected to meet with the township board later this month to set a course of action.

"We don't want to see this work die on the vine," said Jack Suddendorf, a part-time truck farmer who lives on 47095 Saltz.

"Canton Township does not have the greatest farmland in the state," Suddendorf said, "but it's all we've got and we should try to preserve what we still have."

Suddendorf worked on the report along with Linda and Richard LaBell, Robert Padget, Carrie Young, Gary Sands, Ralph Alloway, A. Todd Ehrhart, Stan Gill, Richard Humberger, Michael Mack, Alfred "Fritz" Lobbestael, Catherine Prince, William Gilmore, Michael Wallace, Suzanne Barrie, and Ed and Mary Hauk.

Daniels Den

By EMORY DANIELS

The last regular meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education was a milestone of sorts in that every single trustee who was present had something of substance to say.

Now, don't get me wrong. Every trustee has something of substance to say, at one time or another. But it's not often every board member says something worthwhile at the same meeting.

It was almost as if a script had been written, although we all know that didn't happen. But because it was unusual, the Den will offer a short sampling of what each had to say to be recorded for posterity.

MARCIA BOROWSKI

In a discussion on the problems of providing hot breakfasts in schools, Ms. Borowski noted that providing breakfast in school isn't a duplication of the food stamp program. Nationally, she argued, about half the persons eligible for food stamps never receive them. Thus, there's a good chance that half the children who should be receiving breakfast before going to school, don't.

FLOSSIE TONDA

One trustee had asked if a study shouldn't be made on requiring seat belts in school buses. Mrs. Tonda reported that seat belts, based on reports she has read, can actually be a danger to children in buses. Unfortunately, I forget the reasons why but she did explain it quite well Monday night. So many good things were said, I guess, that my mind could only absorb so much.

E.J. McCLENDON

Back on the breakfast kick, McClendon referred to studies in school districts which had served students breakfast which point out the students performed better academically. If the school district is interested in academic performance, McClendon suggested, the idea of breakfast in school shouldn't be ignored just because it costs money.

RICHARD ARLEN

In reciting his problems with modular scheduling at the CEP, Arlen did admit that the system has some value to some students and shouldn't be eliminated entirely this year. He expressed satisfaction that modular scheduling could be preserved for those who can benefit from it and that further reforms can be made at the Park without gutting the good along with the bad.

JOE GRAY

Gray was arguing the schools and Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association ought to get together to see if they can eliminate unnecessary duplication in seventh grade athletic programs. The association offers a sound program for seventh graders outside of school, and the schools could save money in the budget, or spend it better elsewhere (maybe on girls' sports), by eliminating the duplication. Gray noted that when things get tough, like when a millage fails, athletics are among the first things to get cut and seventh grade sports would be on top of the list. Instead of offering a program endangered by the budget knife the first time a millage fails, why not let this age-group be serviced by a private group which will offer activity regardless of any votes on taxes.

TOM YACK

(With a last name like that, you know he's got something to say.) Yack was on his favorite subject—what he feels is uncontrolled growth in the townships, especially Canton. Yack argued that this population growth is placing a financial burden on the district to build more schools and hire more teachers for the new students moving in. As the tax demands continue to mount, and taxpayers revolt, the backlash will be felt by the townships as well as the schools. The townships should be more concerned about slowing the rate of growth, or some day this backlash will be felt in the defeat of tax request for police, fire or other township services. Yack also waxed eloquently when he said the schools were only dealing with the solutions, the townships were causing the problems.

Some said other things which were more important, maybe, than what I've quoted above. But, than again some things were said that will never be quoted.

The one trustee who isn't quoted above hasn't been left out because he doesn't have anything of substance to say. George Lawton happened to be absent last Monday, thereby missing the opportunity to be included in the Den's quotable quotes today. I know, George, if you were there you would've said something that would've been worth my writing down—if not committing to memory.

Newborn kittens find adopted home

Lights flick on in the Timmerman's home every morning at 2 a.m. as Barbara Timmerman and her husband, Denny, drag themselves out of bed to feed five newborn babies.

They heat the formula in five sterilized bottles, then rush off to the room where five motherless kittens rub their sleepy eyes and whimper with pangs of hunger.

"I feel like I'm the mother of quintuplets," gasped Mrs. Timmerman as she prevented 18-month-old Gina from hugging one kitten too tightly. "It's just like having a baby all over again. They need to be fed every three hours, and they get up for a feeding in the middle of the night."

The newborn kittens were discovered by Mrs. Timmerman's sons, Jeff and Gregory, at a house construction site near the Timmerman's Canton home in the Olde Plymouth II Sub-division.

After waiting to see if the mother cat would return, Jeff and Greg brought the newborns home as a gift on Mother's Day.

Then it was off to the vet, who estimated the kittens' age at one-day-old. On the way home, they stopped at a pet store for a supply of kitten formula and some bottles that could be sterilized.

Although the family has never owned a cat or kitten before, Mrs. Timmerman says she's sure at least one member of the furry litter will take up permanent residence in her home.

"I guess we'll give the rest away to a loving home—if we can part with them," said Mrs. Timmerman, who believes the kittens' mother is dead. "Everyone in the family has their own favorite kitten."

CMU radio picks Sincock

Paul J. Sincock of Plymouth has been named to the position of program director for the fall semester for WMHW-FM at Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant.

The position of program director is the highest position that a student can hold in any CMU radio activity. Sincock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sincock of Plymouth. His father is a former Plymouth mayor and city commissioner now serving as president of the Rotary Club of Plymouth.

SINCOCK plans on adding an adult contemporary format for the evenings.

The station in a recent audience survey is currently in second place in the Mount Pleasant area—six percentage points behind the leader.

Among local business stores the station is number one and has 20 percentage points in front of the second place station. The Broadcast and Cinematic Arts Area of CMU credits these high ratings to Sincock because of the many pro-

During the 1976-77 school year, he was the community relations director for university-run station.

Aside from golf, local courses offer peace of mind. And although walkers are rarely allowed on the premises, Carl Morton, owner of Fellows Creek Golf Club in Canton, takes a pleasant ride across one of the course's many water bridges.

Giving golf lessons is a part of every course pro's job. It takes patience to tolerate some students, but Dick Osborne, pro at Salem Hills Golf Club in Salem Township for seven years, manages a cheerful smile with this golfer, who happens to be his wife Eileen.

No shortage of public courses in Plymouth-Canton area

One thing the Plymouth-Canton area is not short of is public golf courses. The community may need money for its schools and additional public services to accommodate its rapid growth, but recreation outlets for public use is abundant at local courses.

There are seven public golf courses in the immediate area, discounting Arbor. All are reportedly in better playing condition than last spring, despite the unusually cold winter.

The local courses have also been busy making improvements on the terrain, including new tees, faster greens and neatly-kept fairways. Rates have increased this year at a majority of courses.

Here's a rundown of the local courses:

• Fox Hills Country Club, 8678 North Territorial, Salem Township, 453-7272.

Fox Hills is a regulation par 72 course, and plays 6,328 yards. Rates are $3.75 for nine holes and $5.75 for 18 on weekdays, $4 for nine holes and $7 for 18 on weekends and holidays, $4 after 4 p.m. on weekends.

• Hilltop Glen Golf Course, 47000 Powell, Plymouth, 453-9800. A nine-hole course, Hilltop is a par 35 and 2,846 yards long. Rates are $3.50 for nine holes and $5 for 18 on weekdays, $4 for nine holes and $6 for 18 on weekends.

• Brae-Burn Golf Club, 10860 Five Mile, Plymouth, 453-1900. A par 70, 6,320 yard course, Brae-Burn's rates are $3.50 for nine holes and $5.50 for 18 on weekdays, $4 for nine holes and $7.50 for 18 on weekends and holidays.

• Salem Hills Golf Club, 8810 Six Mile, Salem Township, 437-2152. One of the longer courses in the area, Salem Hills measures 6,538 yards and is a par 72. Its rates are $3.75 for nine holes and $6 for 18 on weekdays, $7.50 for 18 on weekends and holidays, $5 after 4 p.m. on weekends, $3 after 6 p.m. on weekdays.

• Fellows Creek Golf Club, 2936 Lotz, Canton, 728-1300. A 6,210 yard, par 72 course, Fellows Creeks' rates are $3.75 for nine and $5.50 for 18 on weekdays, and $5.50 for nine and $7 for 18 on weekends, $5.50 after 4 p.m., and $3.50 after 6 p.m. Unlimited weekday play after 6:30 p.m. is $2.50.

Other courses in the area are Dun Rovin Golf Club, 16377 Haggerty, Plymouth, 453-8440; and Oasis Par-3 Golf Course, 39500 Five Mile, Plymouth, 453-9836. Most courses offer special rates for senior citizens on weekdays. Call ahead of time to avoid conflicts with league play.

Sam Moore must catch a lot of flack from his peers for running around Brae-Burn Golf Club in Plymouth with a Knollwood Country Club golf hat. Despite the beauty of Brae-Burn's course (backpeers for running around Brae-Burn Golf Club in Plymouth with a Knollwood Country Club golf hat. grounds?)

Sandy Mateja, part-owner and manager at Fox Hills Country Club, signs-in an early golfer in the club's pro shop. Other top personnel at Fox Hills are Alexander and Estelle-Dul and Kathleen Simon.

Tom Ross, golf pro and manager at Hilltop Glen in Plymouth, puts the finishing touches on the course's new, elevated tees by placing the tee-mark-

The picnic tables are up, the sun is down, it begins to rain and a strong wind prevails, but some diehards are never discouraged. This brave couple tees up at Fox Hills Country Club in Salem Township and was never to be seen again. But there are some advantages to playing in this, like not having to worry about slow play or yelling "Fore." But what about lost golf balls (priced at $1.25 apiece) or warped clubs? There must be an explanation. How about "Old golfers never die, they just keep on duffing."

Lose to Mott Chiefs clout Harrison, 5-1

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Who says Friday the 13th is an unlucky day?

As far as the Plymouth Canton baseball team was concerned, nothing could have been sweeter than Friday. The Chiefs bounced Western Six League front runners Farmington Harrison, 5-1.

And wouldn't you know it—this was Canton's 13th overall victory of the season.

The Chiefs saw their 10-game unbeaten string and perfect conference record, all go down the drain against Waterford Mott Wednesday afternoon with a 4-2 loss, only the second Canton setback of the season.

So Harrison came to the Central Middle School diamond with an unbeaten record and a chance to grab a two-game lead on the Chiefs.

But Canton wasn't about to let that happen.

"This was a crucial game for us," said Chiefs coach Fred Crissey. "It's a mark of your kids to win a game like this."

"I've never seen a group of Canton kids up for a game like we were for this one. I really think out kids intimidated Harrison."

The turning point of the game came in the second inning with Harrison holding an early 1-0 lead. The Hawks were threatening to increase their lead when the Chiefs pulled off a triple play that ended the rally.

Harrison had runners on second and third with no outs when a Hawk batter hit a shot down the third base line. Third sacker Craig Lee grabbed the ball on a line for one out, touched the field to force that runner for a second out and whipped the ball to second baseman Kevin Randazzo to force the third out.

From there, it was all Canton, as the Chiefs picked up single runs in the third and fourth innings and three more in the sixth to ice the game.

Mark Perkins went all the way on the mound to record his sixth victory against no defeats. He now has given up only three earned runs in 47 innings.

The Hawks currently hold a 5-1 league record and the Chiefs are only one-half game back at 4-1.

Against Mott, three crucial errors led to the Chiefs first defeat since the opening week of the season. Canton lost 4-2 and all four opponents' runs came because of errors.

Doug Smith was the hard-luck pitcher for the Chiefs.

Scott Collins led the Chiefs' hitting attack with three hits, but also committed two of the fielding errors.

"I don't mind losing if we get beat but if we beat ourselves—that's what annoys me," Crissey said.

White strides to record

Plymouth Salem thinclad Walt White broke his own school record in the two-mile run at Thursday's dual meet against Allen Park. White won both the two mile and one mile. His record time in the two mile was 9:39. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Rocks blasted out of race

It wasn't just another loss. It was a loss which more than likely ended Plymouth Salem's two-year reign as the Suburban Eight League champs.

The Rocks simply were not ready to play baseball Friday afternoon against the Belleville Tigers as they fell by 10 runs, 12-2. This loss was the second straight league setback the Rocks suffered.

Salem currently holds a 7-9 overall record (not including Saturday's non-league doubleheader against Wayne Memorial).

The Rocks went into the second round of conference action only one-half game out of first place. But the latest losses, combined with three straight victories for league-leading Benley, places the Rocks three games behind the front-runners with only five games remaining. Salem's league record is 5-4.

"We're out of it," admitted coach Brian Gilles. "We're just not playing good baseball right now. The last two games we played had a lack of enthusiasm."

Belleville jumped on the Rocks from the start, scoring twice in the first, once in the second, five in the third and the final four in the fourth. The Tigers clobbered 12 hits in those first four innings.

"Our kids just thought they had to show up," Gilles said. "We weren't ready to play a ballgame. It was embarrassing. We played horrible."

The bulk of the Tigers' offensive attack came on three damaging home runs in the first, third and fourth innings.

The Rocks scored their only runs in the fourth inning on back-to-back solo homers off the bats of Bob Smith and Bruce Piper.

Smith and Pat McKendy each registered two hits to lead Salem's meager five-hit attack.

The bright spots in the game included the defensive play of reserve Bill Kral at second base and the relief pitching of Piper during the final three innings.

Rock thinclads win 2d meet

By MICHAEL BLEDSOE

Plymouth Salem's girls' track team embarrassed Allen Park 97-39 last week at Allen Park.

"We took firsts in everything except two events," said Coach Scott Kurtz.

The 880-relay team of Cindi Leveille, Sue Jenkins, Polly Richards, and JoAnn Lankgabel scored a 1:54.1 first. Sarah Marks scored a second in the two mile with a 13:46.8 clocking and Lisa Miyazaki came in fourth. Kathy Zielke placed first in the 880 with a 2:36.4 time. Kim Brown and Beth Hoerner followed second and third.

"I was really impressed since most of these girls are freshmen," said Kurtz.

Polly Richards placed first in the 100 with a :12.8 run. Anne Meixner came in third. JoAnn Lankgabel ran a :16.8 in the hurdles followed by Erin Lucas and Mary Brown finishing second and third.

"Now we have two meet victories under our belt," said Kurtz. "The girls are improving every meet." Salem won a triangular meet three days ago.

In the 440 run Cindi Leveille scored a :65.7 first. Sue Jenkins followed with a second. Kathy Sample scored a new school record in the mile with a 5:48.9 first place time. Jennifer Devenney finished fourth.

"I hope the momentum will stay until the regionals," said Kurtz.

The 440-relay team of Sheryl Place, Sandy Ezzo, Lisa Morris and Holly Richards placed first with a time of :56.2. JoAnn Lankgabel scored a first in the 220 with a :28.2. Julie Milz finished third. In the mile relay, Cindi Leveille, Kathy Zielke, Kim Brown, and Sue Jenkins finished first with a 4:33.5. Lisa Morris jumped to a first in the long jump with a 15 feet, 5 1/4 leap while JoAnn Lankgabel and Diane Perpich finished second and fourth respectively.

Erin Lucas placed first in the high jump with a four feet eight inch leap. Kim Brown and Diane Perpich came in second and fourth. In shot put Julie Prehlik hit a 30 feet 4 1/4 inch throw for first. Lisa Morris took third. Sharon Radionoff placed second in the discus with a 76 feet 4 1/4 inch heave. Mary Brown placed third and Diane Perpich came in fourth.

Lights will be late

The start of the 1977 men's and women's softball leagues begin tonight in both Plymouth and Canton communities.

But some of the late games scheduled for Plymouth's Massey field during this first week will have to be rescheduled at later dates because the new lights are not completely installed.

The lights should be ready for full use next week.

Softball districts set

Both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton softball teams avoided play in qualifying action, advancing to pre-district competition in the state tournament after drawing first-round byes among the 11 teams.

Canton will travel to Adrian for a pre-district game which is scheduled for May 27 at 4 p.m.

Salem will face the winner of the Brighton-Ann Arbor Huron qualifying game. The date and time for this pre-district battle has not been set.

The Rocks and the Chiefs find themselves in the opposite brackets this season. For both teams to meet each other in the districts, each would have to advance to the finals.

Other teams involved in this district include Wayne Memorial, Belleville, Adrian, Temperance-Bedford, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor Pioneer, John Glenn, Brighton and Ann Arbor Huron.

Canton tops Mustangs

By MICHAEL BLEDSOE

Plymouth Canton's girls' track team destroyed a weak Northville team 104-31 last week in Northville to bring its record to 4-3.

"I was kind of disappointed in the times today," said coach Barb Winn. "But it was a slow track and the team was slower bringing our times down."

Sue Vitoratos placed first in the shot throwing 30 feet three inches. Jill Pedersen finished first in the long jump with a 14 feet two inch leap. Kathy Kiefer followed in second. Veronica Gray took a first in the high jump with a soaring four feet inches. Lynne Bigelow placed second. Meagan Ford set a new school record, throwing the discus for a 89 feet seven inches first place. Freshmen Geri Shufeldt took a first in the two mile with a 14:06.5 run.

"It was a good meet since girls could try running different events," said Winn. "And that can open new possibilities for the girls."

The 880-relay team placed first with a 1:54.6 clocking. Kathy Kidston scored a first in the 880 run with the time of 2:44.5. She was followed by Bigelow who finished second. Meagan Ford ran a :12.1 100-yard dash to take first. Annette Piethe placed second. Jann Pedersen ran 19.1 in the hurdles placing first, and Veronica Gray came in second in the 440-yard run. Katy Heaton ran for a first in the mile with a 6:40.5 clocking. Kathy Kidston scored a second. The 440 relay team placed first with a :57.3 time. Meagan Ford placed third in the 220 run, and the mile relay team won.

"We're looking forward to our next meet," said Winn. "The meet will be with Churchill and they are close to us in many events. This will help us bring our times up as we approach the regionals."

Rocks rip Belleville

It was no contest from the beginning as the Plymouth Salem softball team demolished Belleville 22-0 in Suburban Eight League action Thursday afternoon.

This victory gives Salem a 7-2 conference mark, only one game behind league-leading Edsel Ford.

Salem lost a non-league battle to Redford Thurston on Thursday, 6-2.

dropping its overall record to 7-3 for the season.

The Rocks mowed down five different Belleville hurlers in their romp. Salem's offense included 15 hits.

The bombardment started in the first inning as the Rocks scored six times. Salem increased their lead in the third inning with five more runs.

The game turned into a true laughter with five tallies in the fifth stanza.

The final Salem runs came when two batters crossed the plate in the sixth and four more scored in the seventh.

Freshman Nan Horwood, playing shortstop for the injured Donna Goodrich, went two-for-three and scored four runs. Catcher Kathy Dillon had three hits for the day, one of which was a home run. Second baseman Kathy Lehmann also recorded three hits and Lynne Stone added two.

Debbie Pitera had a good day on the mound, going the distance for the victory. She struck out 14 batters and walked eight.

Against Thurston, Pitera lost a close pitching duel, but the Rocks were hampered with four key injuries.

"I had to juggle the line up," said Salem coach Livy Way. "If we had our starting line up, we would have been OK."

Stone and Goodrich, the left side of the Salem infield, and outfielders Becky Crespo and Cindy Cindrich did not see action because of injuries or sickness.

Golfers improve at Willow Run

Good golfing efforts by both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton teams highlighted play at the Willow Run Invitational Friday.

Saline won the seven-team tournament for the second time in a row, shooting a team score of 423. The Rocks placed second with a 441 total, 65 strokes better than last year's finish.

Canton finished fifth in the tourney with a 475 stroke total, 82 strokes better than a year ago.

The Rocks finished third last season and the Chiefs placed seventh.

One of the top performances for the Rocks came before the actual golfing competition when Lori Erickson won the pre-tourney putting contest.

JoAnn Szilagyi led the Rock attack with a score of 107. Anne Arthur was close behind at 108. Betty DeLano finished with 112 and Erickson shot 114.

Canton's scoring saw Peggy Visser shoot a 112. Kathy Anderson followed with a 119. Charlene Rodden shot 124 and Kelly Heaton came in at 120.

The tournament medalist was Saline's Terri Larson who shot a 100.

Rock golfers avenge only loss

Matching the school's team scoring record with a 208 total, Plymouth Salem's girls' golf squad Thursday avenged its only loss of the season with a 208-238 victory over Brighton at the Hilltop Glen Golf Club.

Salem's four qualifying scores were exceptionally strong and were led by senior Anne Arthur who shot a 50 for the nine holes and was medalist for the day.

Lori Erickson followed Arthur's scored with a 52, and Meg McGee, a freshman, had 53. Another 53 was notched by senior Nancy Grotz with the help of a birdie on the par-four third hole when she chipped in from 15 feet off the green.

Brighton scores included a 51, 59, 63 and a 65.

"I couldn't understand how we could lose by one stroke earlier in the season at Brighton (227-228) and then beat them by 30," said Salem coach Bob Waters, whose Rocks are now 6-1 in dual competition.

Mott mauls Chiefs

Plymouth Canton's crucial girls' softball contest against Waterford Mott turned into a disaster Wednesday afternoon as the Chiefs were creamed by their Western Six League opponents, 22-7.

Mott wasted no time in this contest as it jumped on Canton for 14 runs in the top half of the first inning. Chief fielding errors helped the Mott attack.

The Chiefs got two runs back in the bottom of the first but Mott maintained that 14-run margin with two tallies in the second to make the score 16-2.

The Chiefs scored once in the third but another Mott rally, this one resulting in six runs in the fourth inning.

turned the game into a joke, 22-3. Canton scored four times in the bottom of the fifth inning to narrow the margin to 15 runs, but the game was ended at that point because of the mercy rule.

Jeanne Krasovetz was the only Chief player to get two hits on the day.

"Mott really walloped the ball but we just got off to a bad start," said Canton coach Joan Ryan. "I've never seen so many errors in the first inning."

The Chiefs travel to Northville and Churchill this week and host Harrison for a doubleheader on Friday afternoon.

Thinclads record best performance

The Plymouth Canton boys track team put together its best team performance of the season scoring 48 points in its loss to Northville. The Mustangs won this Thursday afternoon Western Six League dual meet, 110-48.

Heading the list of Canton accomplishments were two record performances, by Bill Murphy in the two-mile run and Andy Lewis in the shot put. Murphy ran a 10:12 for the two mile win while Lewis hurled the shot 41 feet 8 inches for second place.

The mile relay event saw Canton score first and second places. Cliff Norris, Mike Mowry, Rich Fleischer and Murphy won the event with a 3:42 clocking. The combination of Brian Pijanowski, Arron Tomolak, Martin Hinckley and Brett Butler grabbed second place.

Pole vaulter Scott Gray was the other first place finisher with a vault of 11 feet six inches.

Randy Rienas had a good day with two second place finishes in the long jump and the high jump. Steve Barnes also placed second in both sprints—clocking :10.7 seconds in the 100-yard dash and :24.3 seconds in the 220-yard dash.

Pijanowski and Tomolak placed third and fourth respectively on the 120 high hurdles. Brian Kiefer, back from an injury, placed fourth in the 220-yard dash.

The Chiefs travel to Churchill Wednesday afternoon to face the powerful Chargers in a dual meet.

Canton netter win 3 league matches

The Plymouth Canton tennis team evened its record to 5-5 last week with three impressive dual match victories against Western Six League opponents.

The Chiefs downed Waterford Mott 6-1 Wednesday afternoon after taking back-to-back victories over Walled Lake Western on Monday and Tuesday.

"They were all close matches but we won the three setters," said Canton coach Jim Hayes. "You've got to be our kids a lot of credit for staying in there and winning. That was the difference."

The only loser in the Waterford Mott match for the Chiefs was first-singles player Steve Pasley. Pasley came up flat against Mott after two victories against Walled Lake.

beat his opponents, 6-2, 6-1. Third-player Dave Keene won 6-3, 6-3, while fourth-single Chris Davio won in split sets, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

The Chiefs won all the doubles matches led by the first combination of Tim Wise and Don Schimidt. Paul Ardanowski and Dan Perchard won at second doubles, and the steady play of Matt Norris and Stuart Sobczynski continued with a 6-1, 6-2 win.

The Chiefs beat Walled Lake on Tuesday 5-2, after topping the same team on Monday 6-1.

Pasley, Keene and Davio won singles matches on Tuesday, while the double combinations of Ardanowski and Doug Hetu, and Norris and Sobczynski were victorious.

The only loser against Western in Monday's match was third-singles Keene in split sets.

Lady exec was willing to work

There are plenty of opportunities for women who want careers, but they have to be willing to work hard and make sacrifices, said a successful corporate executive.

Burroughs Corp.'s corporate secretary Ella Mantek spoke of the role of women in the business world last week at a Plymouth Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel.

"When it comes to business, it's still very much a man's world," Ms. Mantek said, "but we have made some very encouraging progress."

Her advice to would-be careerists? Simple. Prepare yourself through education, look for opportunities and be ready to compete.

"Women who want to succeed in business have to have the same qualities as men. They need to be willing to go through an apprenticeship. They have to have dedication. They have to be willing to work long, hard hours and give 100 percent."

In short, she said, women have to want a career and not just a job.

WHILE MS. MANTEK admitted marriage and family can make conflicting demands on a career woman, she strongly maintained those conflicts could be handled by remaining adaptable.

She also said that being a successful career woman does not mean giving up all feminine qualities.

In tracing her own career, Ms. Mantek noted that after World War II there were not many women in responsible positions because companies did not encourage it.

Instead, working women were relegated to jobs as secretaries, receptionists, stenographers and other "functionary" roles.

That trend, she said, has continued in the '70s and has been followed by state and local governments.

"Today there are more opportunities for women than in any time in the last 30 years. But women should not seek special privilege just because they are women. They have to give their best effort and be judged on that."

Citing Burroughs as an example, Ms. Mantek said that it employs women in many top positions which were formerly occupied by men.

"Women are coming into business," she concluded. "Prepare for those of us who can and want to do the job."

Author's visit marks Michigan Week at Bird

Students at Bird Elementary School will meet one of the state's outstanding authors of children's books during Michigan Week.

Martha Bennett Stiles of Ann Arbor will spend Tuesday at the school, sharing her books and writing experiences with the children.

Bird PTO is sponsoring the full day of student sessions with the writer. Mrs. Stiles will meet with small groups in the school library from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

With the younger children, she will read from her picture books, such as "Dougal Looks for Birds."

Working in her own home, Mrs. Stiles has been writing professionally for 20 years. She has traveled to many parts of Michigan to talk about writing and often speaks to school groups.

The author was born in the Philippines during her father's Navy career. She grew up in Smithfield, Va. and graduated from the College of William and Mary. Her husband teaches at the University of Michigan.

Children's books written by Martha Bennett Stiles include: "One Among the Indians," "The Strange House at Newburyport," "Darkness over the Land," "Dougal Looks for Birds," and "James the Vine Puller."

Her husband is a horse breeder and she often writes for equestrian publications. She also has been published in the New York Times and Esquire.

AAUW supports legislative action

Members of the Plymouth branch American Association of University Women attended the recent annual district convention in Kalamazoo. More than 250 AAUW members met in the Kalamazoo Convention Center to determine the organization's goals for the next year.

Representing the local branch were Sally Rowland, Lynn Culotta, Elaine Kirchgatter, Nancy Vernon, Sue Silletti, Linda Osborne, Carol Davis, Holly Hanert and Judy Stone.

Convention delegates approved a legislative program that included support for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, full funding for the Michigan Council for the Arts, adequate handgun controls, reform of public school financing and international policies which stress the inter-relationships of population, food, energy and natural resources.

Delegates gave their unanimous support to a resolution promoting a separate department of state government as a Department of Children and Youth. Michigan Division members are planning to mount a major campaign to persuade the governor and the legislature to designate this department.

An ad hoc committee will be appointed at the direction of the convention to study preventive programs in mental health service.

There are more than 8,000 AAUW members in 70 branches throughout the state of Michigan.

MACLD speakers focus on preschoolers

The Plymouth-Northville Chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD) will meet at 7:30 p.m. May 18 in the cafeteria of Pioneer Middle School, 46081 Ann Arbor Road.

Carol Gimbel, coordinator of Children's Services, speech pathology, William Beaumont Hospital, and Kathy Ventre Roeder, Children's Services, staff speech pathologist, will be the guest speakers. Their topic will be

"Early Detection of Learning Disabilities through Receptive and Expressive Language Output—Focus on Preschoolers."

Ms. Gimbel is a consultant at the neuro-education center at Beaumont. She did her undergraduate work at Eastern Michigan University and received her MA at EMU. She is president-elect of Michigan Speech Pathologists in Clinical Practice.

Ms. Roeder did her undergraduate and graduate studies at Wayne State University. She also is a consultant at Beaumont Hospital.

A disabled learner may exhibit disorders in thinking, talking, listening, coordination, reading, writing, spelling or arithmetic.

The local MACLD chapter seeks to inform parents, teachers and the public on specific problems of children with educational handicaps. The meetings are free and open to anyone interested in learning more about these children and what can be done to help them.

Gypsies head for the hills

Mother's Day was a special occasion in many Canton Township homes. The celebration included dinner at a local restaurant, presents, and simply letting mom sleep an extra hour. Cheryl Schemers of Orhan Avenue was one mother who received a day away from routine chores. Her husband, Don, and the children, Greg and Leslie, took their special lady out to dinner. Don even volunteered for the bath and bedtime hassle.

THE FAMILIES of Canton Senior Citizens were more formal in their observance. They gathered at the Canton Recreation Center where refreshments, prizes, poetry and singing were enjoyed by the honored guests.

Bea Korte was recognized as the mother with the most children—a family of eight. Lenka Microvich was the mother of the oldest child and Ann Raja had the youngest offspring. Each received a houseplant as a prize.

Kathryne Simons, who has lived in Canton 57 years, received a gift for that achievement. Her daughter and son-in-law are Janice and Arnold Williams, owners of Williams Music Store, a familiar landmark on Canton Center and Maben roads.

Members participated in a sing-along of favorite tunes dedicated to mothers, as well as an appropriate poetry selection. Maude Truesdell and Helen Runge were honored for their May birthdays. The group continued the celebration with games of pinocle, bingo and shuffleboard.

THE GYPSIES, a camping group from Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton, spent Mother's Day weekend in the Irish Hills.

The weather, although chilly at night, was perfect for outdoor activities, including a visit to Hidden Lakes Gardens outside the town of Tipton.

The gardens, with their hiking trails, arboretums, wildlife and special outdoor plant exhibits, are open to the public most of the year. The area was donated to the University of Michigan. Although it is now self-supporting through contributions and a minimal park entrance fee, students and staff still maintain the grounds.

Camping families like the Bianchis, Millers, Chandlers, Emerys and Whitelys saw nesting swans and ducks on ponds. The Spencers, Browns, Conways and Kennitizes heard singing tress where hundreds of bees were gathering nectar for spring honey production.

The hiking trails are well marked and so are the rules. Visitors are encouraged to enjoy the park and at the same time are urged to protect its natural beauty.

Hidden Lake's greenhouses are a wonder in themselves. Palm trees tower 30 feet in the air, cacti and orchids bloom in their areas, and the fragrance of gardenias fill the air.

What a beautiful way to spend the day!

It is only an hour's drive from Canton on U.S. 12 in Lenawee County. The information desk provides brochures and answers questions. Groups or individuals may want to call ahead for guided tours provided by naturalists.

While many Gypsy families were wandering through the park, the Henshaws, Mahls and Benois were back at the campground keeping the fire burning.

Later in the day, the group gathered for a potluck supper and vesper service. With night closing in, the children were rounded up from play to roast marshmallows, pop corn and shell peanuts.

Laurie Brown brought out her flute to accompany the evening singalong.

The little ones were put to bed soon after, having succumbed to fresh air and exercise.

The adults sat around the glowing fire exchanging news and chatting about the day's happenings. The older youth discussed politics and the state of the economy.

The Gypsies receive an award at the end of each camping weekend. It is the feeling of closeness with nature and the ability to share that feeling with good friends.

THE CANTON Newcomers elected officers for the new season. The board members, originally from different parts of the country, have the Canton community as their common denominator.

President Karen Cifrodella has been with the club since last July after moving with her family from Nashville, Tenn. She is a native of New Jersey and was formerly reservations chairwoman for the club.

Chris Pilz, vice-president, hails most recently from Madison, Wis. She has been involved with Newcomers for more than two years. Donna Glover, treasurer, also has been in the club two years. She came to Michigan from Ohio.

Marge Mogelnicki is the newly elected secretary. Originally from Roseville, she and her family moved to Canton after a four-year stay in Beverly Hills, Calif.

LOUISE SNIDER

'Three Women' may be provocative pretention

"Three Women" (PG), written, directed and produced by Robert Altman, is a strange, enigmatic film. It opens in the dusty deserts of California where Pinky (Sissy Spacek) has applied for a job at a therapy center for geriatrics. Millie (Shelley Duvall) is the experienced girl who shows her around.

Like the bleached, bare desert, the clinic is very white, stark and severe-looking. Old enfeebled people with black flesh are guided through hot baths and therapy routines by young, blank-faced female attendants. The scene resembles a Last Judgement vision, with a white Hell rather than a fiery one.

In contrast, Pinky, straight out of small-town Texas, is fresh, scrubbed and friendly. She wears a pink eyelet cotton dress and carries a little white plastic purse. To pinky, Millie is the image of sophistication, an idol to be admired and emulated. "You're the most perfect person I ever met," she tells Millie.

Millie accepts the raise stoically. "I'm famous for my dinner parties," she admits. Her dinner parties are a gourmet's nightmare, an Alka-Seltzer high. Almost everything is a convenience food from a can or jar: Pringles, chocolate puddings, shrimp in ugly "reusable" glasses, and the piece de resistance, pigs in a blanket.

HER APARTMENT, where Pinky moves in as her roommate, is all cutesy yellow and white. In its own everything-in-place, color-coordinated way, it's as aseptic as the therapy center.

Self-deception is Millie's script. Socially outgoing, she's a non-stop talker to whom no one ever listens or replies. Yet, Millie rationalizes every slight and ignores every rude remark or action directed toward her. She is the most pathetic character in the movie, but she also proves to be the most resilient.

The third woman, Willie (Janice Rule), is a morose, silent artist. She is the pregnant wife of an aging cowboy stud who was once a movie stuntman. Willie paints frightening anatomical murals on walls and the bottom of a swimming pool. The dialogue and action in the film seem as pregnant as Willie.

The three women, so different outwardly, are united in their isolation and loneliness in a masculine world: authoritative doctors at the clinic, a philandering husband, and off-duty cops who ride dirt bike trails and practice pistol shooting at an "Old West" bar and ranch.

The women's personalities like their names (Pinky's real name is Mildred, which is Millie's name, which rhymes with Willie), seem to interpenetrate and merge. Eventually they become a matriarchal family unit. They live together in a symbiotic relationship in a world where males have mysteriously vanished from the scene.

ALTMAN PRESENTS the characters in a detached, dispassionate way. The dramatic tension arises from within, from the conflict between the women's surface personalities and their strong underlying needs and drives, of which they seem unaware.

Consequently, the movie winds its way through a psychological maze of which we see only a part. A viewer is either caught up in it or doesn't enter at all.

"Three Women" might be pretentious. Certainly, the music is heavy-handed with significance whenever the camera pans across the murals, and the sterile dialogue sets an agonizingly slow pace. Nevertheless, the total creation stands as a provocative film from a highly individualistic and provocative director.

Glimpses

NEW RELEASES

AIRPORT 77 (PG). A disaster film that combines air and sea operations by crashing a 747 into the ocean and then trying to raise the plane or lower the ocean—something like that.

ANNIE HALL (PG). The best Woody Allen film yet. Truth and comedy go hand-in-hand in this touching, contemporary love story. Diane Keaton is also at her very best as Annie.

BLACK SUNDAY (R). Slick thriller of inflated terrorism from a blimp at the Super Bowl. Robert Shaw and Marthe Keller are the capable adversaries. Fine acting by Bruce Dern as the berserk pilot.

ISLANDS IN THE STREAM (PG). Hemingway's post-humously published novel about an aging artist and his reassessment of his life and values is given color but not much vitality in spite of fine performances by George Scott and three young actors who play his sons.

THE LATE SHOW (PG). Comedy and suspense tangle in this melodrama about a kooky girl (Lily Tomlin), a missing cat (identity unknown), and an over-age private eye (Art Carney) who still knows a trick or two.

NASTY HABITS (PG). Screen adaptation of Muriel Spark's Watergate parody set in a convent. Geraldine Page and Sandy Dennis star.

NETWORK (R). Fierce satire attacking the television industry and mass media generally. Top performances by Peter Finch, Faye Dunaway and William Holden in fast-paced, grimly humorous film.

ROCKY (PG). Human warmth and exciting drama combine in this stirring film about a no-name boxer who gets a chance at a title bout. Acting accolades to entire cast and especially Stallone as Rocky.

SLAP SHOT (R). A comic and cutting look at the violence of professional hockey and the shallow lives of the players and their wives. Paul Newman as the amoral player-coach smiles beguilingly as he utters every obscenity in the book.

SWEET REVENGE (PG). Stockard Channing steals little cars to support her addiction to big ones. Sam Waterston, her passive attorney, tries to turn her on to fishing.

Optimistic actress is eyeing the area's theater audience

By ETHEL SIMMONS

When Nancy Gurwin of Southfield decided to form her own dinner theater production company, "People called me and said I'd never get it off the ground."

Did that discourage Ms. Gurwin? No. "It gave me a little fuel," she said in that breathless, throaty voice of hers.

The pale-haired actress has taken her concept and turned it into a successful run of the Broadway musical hit "I Do! I Do!" at the Botsford Inn Dinner Theatre in Farmington Hills. Not only is she the brains and the money behind the production, she's the co-star, too.

The show, which ran for three months, closed recently but will reopen at a new dinner theater location, Vittorio's restaurant in Livonia.

ACCORDING TO Michael Goodman, Ms. Gurwin's producer, response cards from the audience at Botsford Inn indicated that most of the playgoers were from Livonia.

"There's a real need for dinner theater in that area," explained Dolores Shevlin, who wears many hats including publicity for RG Productions. "There's nothing there."

"I Do! I Do!" with Ms. Gurwin and bearded folksinger-turned-actor Phil Marcus Esser, will open June 16 for a two-month run at Vittorio's.

RG Productions stands for Ms. Gurwin's maiden name (Rovner) and her married name. Husband Don, a lawyer, has helped with the legal end of things, but basically the dinner theater is her baby.

performed upstairs in the ballroom.

Before developing her own dinner theater production company, Ms. Gurwin had worked with two other such companies. When she was associated with the (then) Turgeon & Guest Productions, Pierre Turgeon asked her what show she'd like to do someday and she suggested "I Do! I Do!"

"I talked with Dolores (Shevlin)," she recalls, "and decided to go on my own and do it. I contacted Michael Goodman who had done producing for me before."

Goodman produced her one-woman show "Two Knights with Nancy" at the Jewish Community Center. "It was all told in music and directed by Edgar Guest," she said.

Guest directed "I Do! I Do!" and will direct "Thurber's Carnival." Another key member of the production company is associate producer Donna Zarkin.

PRODUCER GOODMAN continued the story of RG Productions. "She's got guts," he said of Ms. Gurwin. "She came to me and said, 'Here it is,' dumping the whole concept in my lap."

MEANWHILE, AT the Botsford, another production company (not Ms. Gurwin's) is opening with the Agatha Christie mystery "The Mousetrap" in dinner theater format.

Ms. Gurwin hopes the public won't confuse her production company with the other one. Her company will be back at the Botsford, however, July 7, opening "Thurber's Carnival," a series of sketches by James Thurber.

At Vittorio's, on Plymouth Road east of Farmington Road, the enthusiastic manager, theater buff Henry Strong, is planning to knock down walls to expand the dinner theater area.

There'll be kleig lights, a marquee and maybe a black-tie opening night. At Vittorio's, the show will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a sit-down dinner at 7 p.m. and performances at 8:30 p.m.

At the Botsford, "Thurber's Carnival" will run Thursday and Sunday, with dinner at 7 p.m. and show at 8:30 p.m. Botsford Inn owner John Anhut has a long history of presenting theatrical productions at the venerable inn.

DINNER WILL BE served in the downstairs dining room and the show

NIGHTPLACES

Richard's lounge is no longer colonial

Owner Shirley Silber has taken the Colonial Lounge and turned it into a contemporary nightplace with the help of designer Mike Schnitz, who rearranged the atmosphere and re-designed the walls.

The owner now has a nice-looking bar named Richard's, and the designer can take the credit.

In keeping with the current re-designing, the menu has been updated with healthy-sized burgers and deli-style sandwiches. There is chili, corned beef a plenty, ham (grilled and baked West Virginia), cheese and steak. Greens also are there and prices do not exceed $3, except for the steak sandwich. Food is only served until 6 p.m.

Six beer brewers are represented on tap; no pitchers. A welcomed-addition to this more-a-beer-drinking community is a lengthy wine list comprised of California and imported juice of the grape offering a third spirited alternative.

There is dancing to the top 40 and disco music of Love Song, which will continue through the end of May. The juke box retains remnants from its Colonial days, but Daryl Hall and John Oates and Barbra Streisand and her "Evergreen" break into song every now and again.

A new band will be on stage each month, with the June offering being Tommy Good and Plenty.

There is a casual dress code, which means jeans are OK but T-shirts aren't. There is no cover charge and proper ID is required for evening biz.

The interior has been reworked and now sports a lot of pine, mirrored walls opposite each other and earth tones—orange and browns—on the floor.

Portions of the traffic area are set with ceramic tiles, and the dance floor has gotten away from the multi-colored flashing displays of disco establishments. Richard's has brought back the wooden dance floor.

Ms. Silber, one of the former owners of Limbos in Detroit, has installed low-keyed track lighting, which, when mixed with reflecting glass angled between slats of pine, allow naked bulbs to shine yet not be harsh on the eyes.

A fireplace is set in one corner alongside a 4-foot by 4-foot TV screen. The place is comfortable and informal in keeping with the owner's intentions and has the makings of a successful venture.

Richard's is just north of the Seven Mile-Farmington Road intersection, in the green building on the east side of the road.

This car isn't number two because it doesn't try hard enough. No. 2 is the number of the fuel (diesel) you put in its tank. Volkswagen has introduced its diesel into the U.S. market as a basic Rabbit with a diesel engine replacing the conventional gasoline powerplant, for about $300 extra.

Diesel hops into town

Five years ago, the invitation "You're invited to come in and drive a diesel" would have sounded pretty ludicrous. Only uncommon foreign cars and over-the-road trucks had diesel engines.

Today, Volkswagen is selling a diesel Rabbit. Diesels aren't really some new replacement for the internal-combustion gasoline engine. The German engineer Rudolf Diesel ran the first engine that bears his name in 1893. And the German auto maker, Mercedes, has had diesel cars in its line for more than 40 years.

Now VW is selling a diesel-powered model. The automaker set up an evaluation panel to test their diesel Rabbit and their gasoline, fuel-injected Rabbit to get a look at American preferences. They mounted a diesel engine in a Rabbit, without changing interior space, producing a Rabbit comparable to the standard gasoline-powered car.

The diesel version will sell for roughly $300 more than the comparable gasoline-powered model.

The diesel is officially rated by the EPA at 52 miles per gallon of No. 2 diesel fuel on the highway and 39 miles per gallon in the city.

Auto people on the move

RALPH E. DAULTON of Orchard Lake has been promoted to director of material control in the GMC Truck & Coach Division of General Motors.

Daulton started at GMC as a college graduate in training in 1962 and has held several supervisory positions in the service parts distribution and material handling operations.

ANTHONY J. KOSAK of Bloomfield Hills has been named group head of the automobile carrier group of Leaseway Transportation Corp., Cleveland, Ohio.

Kosak joined Leaseway in 1955 as an accounting clerk for Anchor Motor Freight, Inc. His headquarters will be in the NBS Financial Center in Southfield.

RICHARD A. VINING of Bloomfield Hills was elected executive vice-president of Chrysler Corp. Vining joined Chrysler in 1948. He was made vice-president for the stamping and assembly division in 1974.

NEIL W. MCCALL of Farmington Hills has been named purchasing agent at the Chevrolet-Muncie, Ind., plant. McCall has been purchasing agent at Chevrolet's Detroit Forge plant the past four years.

SPRINGTIME SAVINGS!

MAY 14-21
MICHIGAN WEEK

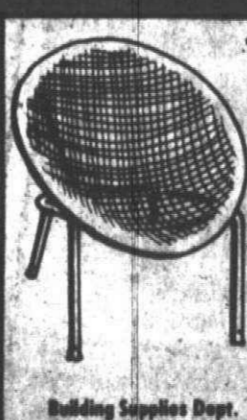

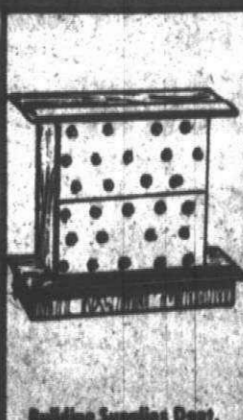

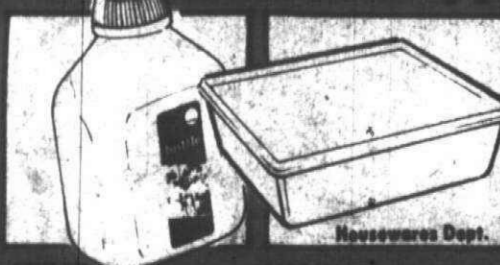

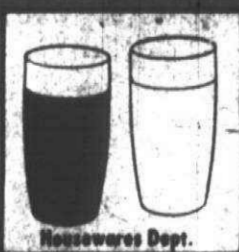

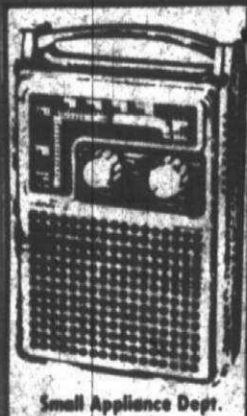

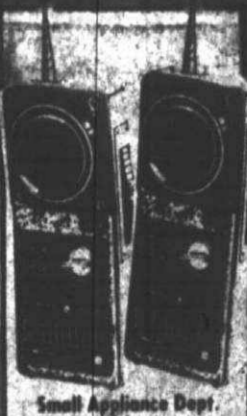

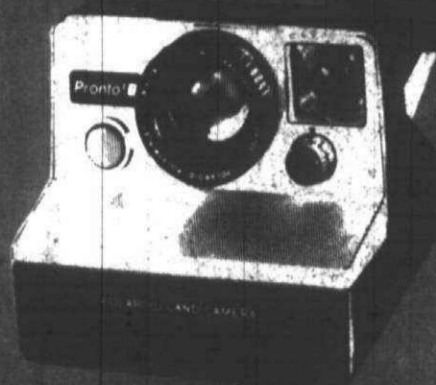

SPRING CLEANING?
WHAT ABOUT THAT JUNK?

TAKE A GOOD LOOK at those items that you are throwing out this spring! Perhaps some of those items can be recycled. During the past several years we at Meijer have made many changes because of the recognition of environmental hazards and the benefit of recycling. Paper, cardboard and trash for instance are now handled differently than they were in the past.

GONE are the incinerators and trash burners which used to accompany our stores. They have been replaced by compactors and balers. Balers are heavy duty crushers which compress recyclable paper and cardboard waste into large bales which are then shipped to paper recycling facilities. About 75% of the waste material at Meijer is paper and we are now recycling approximately 75% of that paper. We have also installed compactors to compact other trash which is then hauled to landfill sights.

IN JULY OF 1971, we started placing glass recycling bins in Meijer Thrifty Acres parking lots. Meijer customers now recycle an average of half a million pounds of glass every month through these containers. Even in these large amounts, glass recycling does not fully pay for itself, it is subsidized by Meijer as a community service and with hope that eventually glass recycling will reach the point where it will become self-sustaining.

AT MEIJER, service is more than helpful employees and good value but includes a commitment to help make each Meijer community a better place to live.
