Police mount slick campaign with funds from businesses

Home builders, business people and police officers themselves are bankrolling a slick publicity campaign to bolster support for the police protection question on the Aug. 27 special election ballot.

Star Advertising, a Livonia ad agency, has been hired by the Canton Police Officers Association (CPOA) to produce professional-looking posters and bumper stickers. The campaign materials urge support for the local proposal to establish a township-wide special assessment district levy for an expanded local police department.

Presently the department operates on evenings during weekdays and most of the day on weekends. The posters and stickers read: "Support 24-hour Canton Police Protection Vote Yes August 27."

"At last reliable count" the CPOA spent $1,763 on campaign materials, according to John Longridge, the association's president who holds the rank of reserve patrolman.

Two Canton building companies, Dembs Builders and Starlight-Woodbury Homes donated a combined total of $125, according to Longridge.

Cyprus Gardens Restaurant, a favorite haunt of members of the department, donated $100 to the police campaign. Another $100 donation came from Honeytree Apartment complex.

OTHER BUSINESSES who have contributed include Dennis' Market, Welderaft, Plymouth Rubber and Tire, Harvard Book, Floor Fashions, The Rusty Nail Bar, Big Boy, Harvard Square Jewelry, Kmart, Boyer's Market and the Star Stop party store.

Hazen Duclo, owner of Harvard Book, said he donated $25 to "give the people a choice on police protection, not the politicians. It'll give people a say. You hear scare tactics from people about voting either way. But I feel we need more (police protection) than what we've got."

The biggest contributors to the police expansion campaign drive has been the officers themselves.

Asked what the police millage would do for the residents of Canton Township, one officer smiled and said, "Well, it will help this family directly."

At present, Canton's part-time police department is comprised of reserve and certified police officers who rarely work more than one night a week.

Canton's new police chief, Walter MacGregor, is working on a budget this week to determine how many officers will work full-time and how often, if the police proposal passes. If voters say YES to the township-wide police protection assessment, board members will levy up to two mills to their tax bill.

It is the contention of the CPOA that a YES vote will enable the township to provide adequate 24-hour protection. But even the CPOA will not say how many officers can go full-time if two mills are added to the budget.

The above poster and bumper sticker are part of the Canton Police Officers Association's ultra-slick publicity push for the police millage question on the Aug. 27 local ballot. Pro-recall literature and campaign materials have been practically non-existent.

Song for the sad soldier

Singer supports Mrs. Slovik

By CRAIG PIECHURA

A bar is not a place known for expanding people's social consciousness. But a Canton Township watering hole is the place singer-guitar player Steve Pichan has chosen to sing his heartfelt song to Eddie Slovik's wife.

If you haven't kept up with the national news this summer, Mrs. Antoinette Slovik of Detroit was just denied an appeal for her husband's G.I. life insurance benefits. In dismissing Mrs. Slovik's appeal, the U.S. Army released the following statement on the only American ever to be executed for treason:

"The record clearly reflects that Pvt. Slovik deserted to avoid combat duty. The law covering the payment of National Service Life Insurance benefits precludes payment in the case of individuals who are convicted of desertion."

That terse dismissal "bummed me right out" said Pichan, an entertainer at the Rusty Nail on Ford Road in Canton. Pichan has also performed at the Side Street in Plymouth.

"I've been keeping up with the Eddie Slovik case ever since the TV movie a couple years back," he said. "So, instead of just getting mad, I decided to put it all down in a song. I think if middle class people hear it, it will go.

"I guess what griped me the most was that a complex moral issue could be neatly decided by an army regulation."

PICHAN IS PROMOTING his new song through the news media but he says his intention is to attract the attention of President Jimmy Carter, not to make the hit parade.

"If I could play it to Carter, that'd just be great," said Pichan. "Or if that can't happen, I'd love for him just to read the lyrics. That's why I finalized the song with a direct plea to Carter, asking him to intervene."

President Carter's stand on human rights has encouraged Pichan, and he thinks the president's quotes from singer Bob Dylan during the campaign are a good sign.

"People don't really talk to their congressmen," Pichan said. "I honestly haven't given a thought to approaching this issue politically. I'll do it though my music."

Once Pichan got the idea from the morning newspaper, he was finished with the tune and lyrics in less than an hour.

"I don't know about anyone else, but if I've got a song and it's going to be a good song, it's right there. It flows out as you're writing it, there's no meditation.

Pichan would also like to contact Mrs. Slovik, who is confined to a wheelchair and reportedly living in a Detroit nursing home, to sing the song to her.

"The song is just as much for his wife as it is for him."

THE SINGER PLAYS the tune on a beautiful 12-string Guild guitar in a full-bodied voice. The message is strong, but the song is not bitter.

"They called Eddie Slovik the sad soldier because he always wanted to go home to his wife. In the article Mrs. Slovik said Eddie 'couldn't hurt a bird or bee'—that line stuck with me and I used it in the song.

"The most ironic part of the whole affair is that they killed Eddie with the thing he hated most."

Plea for Eddie Slovik

Cold day in January 1945
A man named Eddie Slovik saw his last day alive
Vowed to never kill a soul, couldn't hurt a bird or bee
Now Eddie's wife is forced to live her life in poverty

(REFRAIN:) So it was in January 1945
Eddie tied up to a stake, while gunmen took his life
So it was his only crime
The sound of guns made Eddie Slovik cry

So the word came back that Eddie lost his life in war
The truth about it wasn't known till 1954
So it's told desertion is the crime that took his life
40,000 did the same, thank God they're still alive

(REPEAT REFRAIN)

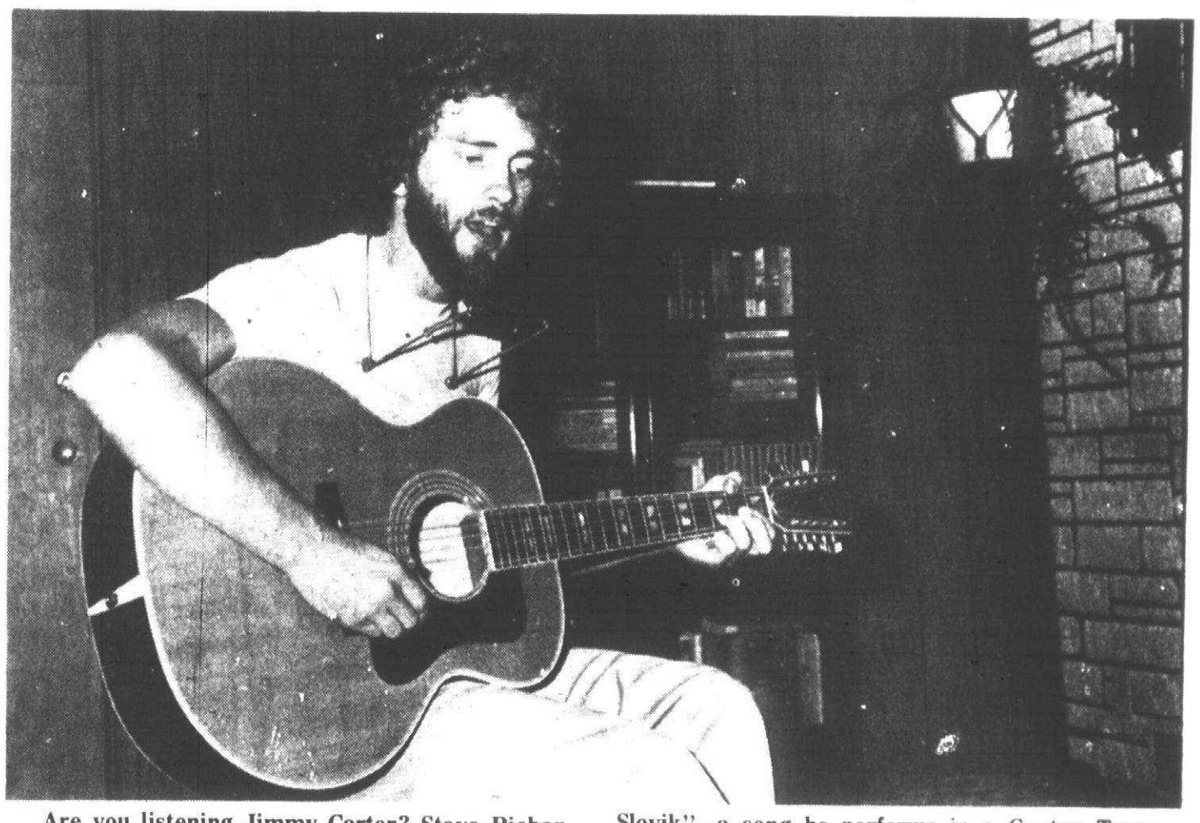

Sympathy is hard to find and never from the top
The courts have ruled that army regulations call the shots
Eddie's wife is ailing, yes she's stricken to a chair
The life insurance Eddie bought; she never got her share

(REPEAT REFRAIN)

Eddie's wife has gone to D.C. for the final stop
Jimmy, won't you shed some sympathy down from the top
I won't deny the stand you take on human rights
Such obvious injustice must be tearing at your guts

So it was in 1945
Eddie tied up to a stake while gunmen took his life
So it was his only crime
The sound of guns made Eddie Slovik cry

Heroin behind son's crimes

By CRAIG PIECHURA

What does a home that a heroin addict came from look like?

In this case, there are fine antiques in the living room and beautifully-colored prints hanging on the wall.

The mother, who will remain anonymous as a condition of the interview, contacted the Observer after she read a story in a newspaper detailing her son's arrest for two crimes with a handgun.

She wanted to tell "the story behind the story"—the unmentioned fact that her son has been fighting an on-and-off battle with heroin for three years.

A mother tells "the story behind the story" of her son's tangles with the law. (Staff photo)

Committing four armed robberies in two days, her son, who is in his late 20's, made no attempt to conceal his face and drove off in a vehicle registered in his name. Mrs. Jones (not her real name) believes her son committed the robberies out of desperation. At the arraignment her son (whom we'll call Joe) admitted his guilt and said he did it "to get caught."

Mrs. Jones said the crime had an immediate purpose and a long-range one. First, he did it to obtain money to buy heroin, which is scarce and expensive this summer. And, if he was caught, he'd be locked up and, hopefully, treated for his addiction.

THE MOTHER'S STORY is partly a mother sticking up for her son whom she loves. The rest of it is painfully true.

"Behind that nice, colonial facade of Plymouth, there's a bad drug problem," said Mrs. Jones. "People won't admit it until it hits them where they live."

"When we knew (Joe) had this problem he'd been married about six months. We tried private clinics to treat the problem but if he wanted to leave he could just walk out the door. There's no place to be locked up for a heroin problem except jail. And I think they need to be locked up because the need is so overpowering.

"We tried the Woodside Medical Facility in Oakland County, which was recommended through our family doctor. He stayed three days; they gave him some medicine and released him.

"Later, he walked into Wayne County General and they told him, 'You can't just come in off the street'."

After that Joe spent time in a multitude of hospitals, clinics and half-way houses. But, back on the street, the School board expected to officially lower levy

The reduction in school millage will officially be taken at tonight's meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

The board is expected to approve the formal resolution to lower the tax rate by 1.95 mills for a total levy of 38 mills ($38 per $1,000 state equalized evaluation).

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building at 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

THE TAX CUT is being made with a reduction in the debt retirement levy. The tax for operation will remain at 33.76 mills.

The debt retirement tax is levied each year to pay off bond issues borrowed in previous years for new construction and buildng renovations. The debt levy size is determined by the amount of money needed each year to make payments on bond debts.

Debt levies are reduced as bond principles are reduced or when the tax base increases sufficiently to allow payment with a reduced rate.

For fiscal year 1977 the school district's total tax base is $516.6 million. Major revenue contributors from the property tax are: Canton, $8 million; Plymouth Township, $7 million; City of Plymouth, $3 million; Salem Township, almost half a million; Northville Township, almost $300,000; and Superior Township, some $160,000. Property tax revenues for 1977 will total about $19.6 million.

For the owner of a $50,000 house, the 1.95 millage reduction this year will mean an annual dollar savings of $48.75.

IN OTHER BUSINESS Monday night, the school board is expected to hire a new supervisor of special education and a number of new faculty members.

The board will be asked to approve use of school facilities for the 1977-78 season by the Plymouth Community Junior Basketball Association.

The board also is expected to give final approval to a policy changing minimum requirements for high school graduation.

Teen gang did 100 robberies

Police say they have collared a gang of teenage boys who are believed to be responsible for almost 100 burglaries in the Plymouth-Canton area.

According to Plymouth Police Det. Dan Carpenter, all but one of seven gang members, between 13 and 15 years old, have been released to their parents pending further investigation. The alleged leader, 15, is in Wayne County Youth Home in Detroit. Juvenile court hearings have been scheduled for all seven.

Carpenter said the youths have been working the city for the last month and have been implicated in at least 12 breaking and enterings. However, Michigan State Police are clearing the books on more than 80 previously unsolved burglaries in Plymouth and Canton townships, which the police believe the gang was also involved in.

Officers from the state police post in Northville and from the Plymouth Police Department joined forces to nail the youths.

Carpenter said the gang's activities were well-thought out and well-coordinated with bicycles used as get-away vehicles. He said the seven boys involved took orders from the 15-year-old ringleader.

All of the burglaries followed a similar pattern, he said. The youths would break into homes during the day and would take nothing but cash.

"They weren't interested in stereos, televisions, or appliances like professionals would be," he said. "They just wanted money."

THE BOYS WOULD canvass a house by riding up the driveway and

SC offers new service courses

From beginning water color painting to wilderness survival . . . from fixed-income securities to bridging the generation gap . . .

Schoolcraft College is offering nine new continuing education courses and four new community service programs for the fall semester that begins Sept. 22.

Dean Ron Griffith said students have until Aug. 26 to register by mailing the registration form along with tuition and fees to the college at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia 48152.

The forms and course listings were mailed recently to all homes in the district. Persons who failed to receive one or who have questions on offerings may call the continuing education office at 591-6400 ext. 264.

Among new continuing education courses are: Beginning Water Color Painting, Clothing Pattern Making, Fundamentals of Occupational Safety, Practical Animal Care, Wilderness Survival, Gentle Judo, Eastern Religions, Creating Thinking and Problem Solving, and Discovering You.

New community service offerings are: A Study of Fixed-Income Securities, Energy Conservation Workshops, Real Estate Pre-Licensing Seminar, and Bridging the Generation Gap.

Late registration and course adjustment days are scheduled for Sept. 20 and 27 from 2-7 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center. New students claiming residency should bring proof of residence.

Resident tuition is $15.50 per credit hour and non-resident tuition is $26 per hour. Some courses have laboratory fees, which vary from $3 to $25.

Tuition and fees may be paid by cash, check, BankAmericard (Visa) and Master Charge.

Township slates public hearing

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees will hold a public hearing tommorrow night (Tuesday) to get suggestions on how to spend about $108,000 in federal revenue sharing grants.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the township hall on the corner of Ann Arbor and Lilley Roads.

Although the board has no official project it wants to spend the money on, several trustees have made their preferences known.

Trustee Lee Fidge is in favor of using the money to build a storm water retention basin on the township recreation site on Ann Arbor Trail.

She argues that it is needed to help control the water run-off in the western section of the township. Norman Dietrich, township engineer, will present a cost estimate to the board during the hearing.

Supervisor Thomas Notebaert, however, is not sypathatic to the retention basin. He said he would like to see the money used to begin construction on a new township hall or fire station. Although the amount available presently would not be anywhere near enough for either project, Notebaert said it would make a good start and the rest could be bonded.

Clerk Helen Richardson said that while she would like to use the federal dollars for a swimming pool at the recreation site, quite a bit of money has already been allocated to recreation projects.

"The money could be used some place else," she commented. "Besides if I keep bringing up the swimming pool, people will think I have a one-track mind."

Local youth at 4-H fair

A large number of Plymouth and Canton youngsters were on hand for the annual Wayne County 4-H Fair. Also on hand were members of the Van Buren Fire Department who helped Gary Caskey with this aerial shot. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

For many, a fair is a stroll down the midway and a ride down the roller coaster.

But for Plymouth-Canton young people, the Wayne County 4-H Fair last week was spent tending horses, sheep, rabbits, dogs, and arranging produce and other displays.

As in past years, the community was well represented by members of the Towne and Country 4-H Club and of the Plymouth Paw Prints.

For those with livestock, it was a week spent sleeping in lofts or in tents so they could remain close to care for their livestock. A tent was sent up for the girls, and rooms in barns with cots for the boys. Because of the large turnout this year, though, a shortage of cots led a number to sleep in hay in the lofts above the barns.

Deigning over the 1977 4-H fair on Quirk Road in Van Buren Township was Queen Kathy Koster of Plymouth. Eight young girls had competed for the title.

Although all of the results weren't compiled yet at press-time, the Observer did receive news of the showings of members of the Paw Prints. Peggy McMullen and dog Corkey placed first in subnovice, Patty Huff and Sheba second in subnovice, Carrie Kinsler and Burnie first in novice, Cindy Head and Charlie, first in grad novice, Peter Kinsler and Shep, first in advance novice, Carol Terry and dog Bonnie, second in open, and Peter Kinsler and Shep high scoring advanced dog. Carol Lamb is trainer and Edna Terry leader.

Lynne Wisniewski, 13 of Canton, entered in 30 classifications from sewing to pottery. Here she shows off a second place rosette and first place ribbon for a planter and ornaments.

Liz Campbell, 11, (left) won three ribbons including first place junior heifer and brother Dave, 14, won five ribbons and a trophy for first future dairy. Both live in Plymouth Township.

Joe Kinnick, 13 of Canton, puts the bridles back in place.

Daniels Den

By EMORY DANIELS

I began to feel my age when the news of Elvis Presley's death hit the airwaves Tuesday.

I was around when the King of Rock and Roll wasn't king, but just a pauper trying to become prince. It was in my early teens when Elvis made his first wave, and the memories are enduring.

His impact varied depending on where you were at in life and what part of the country you lived. Despite the eulogies now being sung, Elvis wasn't an instant hit when he made his appearance on Ed Sullivan.

During those early years, I was not an Elvis fan by any means. Quite the contrary. Mostly it was because I had been raised in a rural setting where morals and attitudes were a lot different. I recall how shocked I was on visting my cousin in the city to realize some boys actually wore tee-shirts and bluejeans in public. Tee-shirts were underwear and not to be worn in public. Bluejeans was okay for picking pickles or weeding beans but not to wear in public.

My first introduction to the guitar was in Uncle Willie's living room. Relatives would get together on a Saturday night and Uncle Willie would get out his guitar, dad his harmonica, and Aunt Jane her accordion. Those with instruments played, and the rest of us sang.

THE EARLY ELVIS was more remembered for his shock value than his musical ability. For me, at least, "Hound Dog" and "Jail House Rock" wasn't good music.

As I kid, I remember in those mid-50s reacting to Elvis as a some kind of sissie. After all, here's a guy dressed like a jerk shaking his hips and body around in public. No wonder the TV cameras only showed him from the waist up.

Furthermore, he dressed like a member of a motorcycle gang and talked and acted like a hillbilly. We just weren't used to that kind of look. Oh, the girls went for it alright and some guys, too. But most of us guys looked at Elvis as being a sissie and jerk. If the girls wanted to get excited, okay; but, we were men and men weren't supposed to act like that. Right?

After a couple years, the thinking shifted. The boys began to wear their hear like Elvis, grow sideburns (if they could), and try to be cool. That was the beginning of an entire change in life style for my generation.

As far as music went, I came to appreciate Presley a couple years after his initial smashes on the charts. About the time "Return to Sender" came out, his music could be taken seriously—as far as I was concerned. After that, of course, he turned out a number of good songs.

As far as movies went, there never was a Presley flick I cared for. They all seemed maudlin and junky. But his music was good.

TO SAY ELVIS was the originator of Rock and Roll, and the King, has a lot of meaning for us who were around before the man made it. We lived through the "revolution" and know, firsthand, what the man's impact was.

My older and younger sisters are avid Presley fans, and have been for years. My younger sister, especially, never missed a Presley appearance any time he showed up in Michigan.

A few months ago, he made two appearances in Saginaw and she was at both. She told me then how bad he looked, and speculated he would die a young man. I passed it off as the musings of a fan whose idol was getting older. But those who followed him closely weren't that shocked. She would have given him three or four years, so Tuesday's death wasn't that much of a shock.

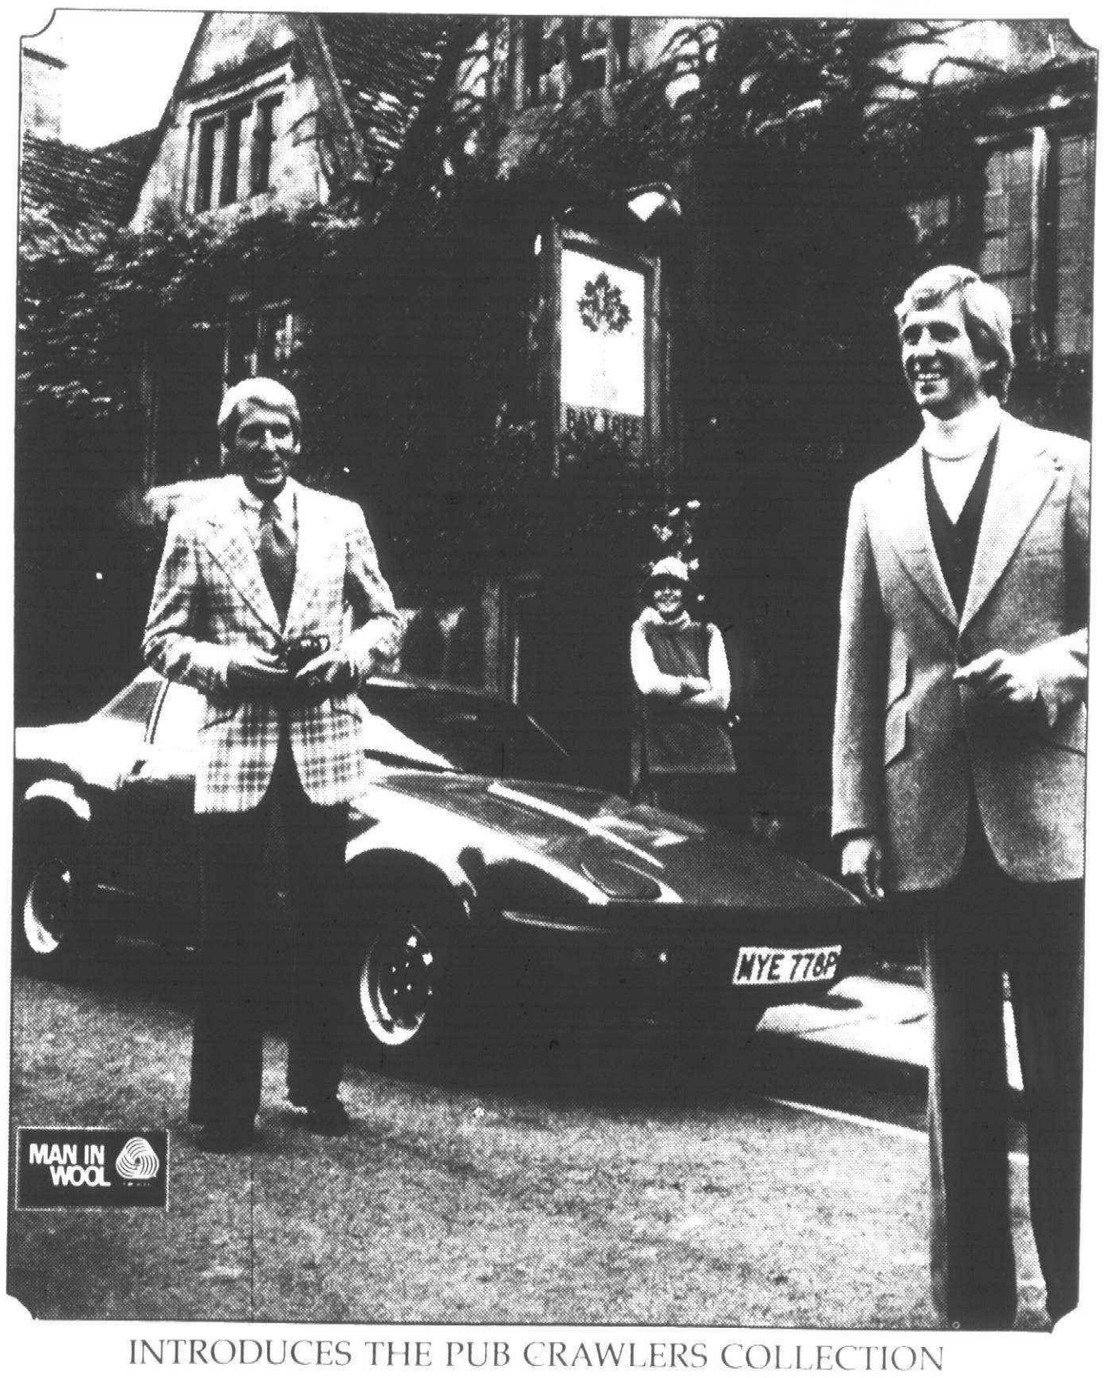

But it was an awakening experience. I remember thinking how an era in history had passed following the deaths of Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin and Truman. In that same sense, another era passed Tuesday. An entertainer who revolutionized popular music and changed the lifestyles of millions is gone.

For those, like myself, in their 30s and 40s, there remains only memories. The legend of the 1950s no longer breathes. For those of us in that age group, his death brings an end to whatever misgivings we had about our youth. That part of us remains in Memphis.

By the time Cynthia Rodman of Plymouth arrived, the Plymouth Record and Tape shop was all sold out of Elvis singles, LPs and tapes. John Thompson, manager, says he sold out by noon Wednesday with Elvis sales totalling about $350. Diane Gilbert, employee, recalls one girl—the first customer Wednesday morning—who purchased 57 Elvis singles, eight LPs, and three eight-tracks, totalling $135. (Janine Kateff photo) pattern repeated. Some of the places he went for treatment are Northville State Hospital, Odyssey House, Synanon, The Harbor Light Center. He even spent a short stint in Brighton Hospital before it was discovered that Joe was an addict, not an alcoholic.

"(Joe's) not a drinker," said Mrs. Jones. "But last May he wanted help so bad he took wine, gin and something else, drank it all down and called the Wayne County Alcoholism Clinic from my house, asking them to help him. This time they agreed to take him but he was released in about a week and it wasn't long before he was back on heroin.

"They can treat a heroin problem physically in about a week with medicine. But it's the mental thing—the addiction personality—that's toughest to kick."

MRS. JONES believes that the sinister reputation of heroin and heroin addicts is partly responsible for the lack of facilities to treat these people.

"There are plenty of places to treat alcoholics but try to find a good place to treat heroin addiction," she said.

One of the places her son stayed in for treatment was located on Cass Ave. in the heart of Detroit's dope and prostitute center—the Salvation Army's Harbor Light Center.

"Two blocks away you can get all the drugs you want," she said. "And patients are permitted to leave the facility during the day. Tell me, does that make sense?"

Mrs. Jones does not say her son should be excused for the crimes he committed because he is an addict. But she does maintain that the government has a responsibility to treat any addict who wants help.

Joe's recent felony arrest was not the first time her son has been in trouble with the law. He was booked for possession of a joint seven years ago and possession of a non-narcotic barbituate last year when police found him sleeping in his car.

Mrs. Jones has high praise for some police officers who have tried to help her son in the past. But she's bitter about the work of some local police officers.

"AT TIMES IT seemed like they were anxiously waiting for him to do something so they could arrest him, rather than trying to stop the crime from happening."

Asked to give an example, she says she called the local police telling them her son was driving on a suspended license.

Canton joins in forum

In an effort to close a "municipal communication gap," Canton officials have agreed to join a newly-formed organization that will attack problems plaguing all Wayne County communities.

Township Supervisor Harold Stein, a member of the organization's steering committee, recently urged township board members to join the Wayne County Association of Local Government Officials to close the communication gap between the county's townships, cities and villages.

"We're not being discriminatory," Stein jokingly told other board members. "We've even allowing the City of Detroit to participate. However, Detroit only has one vote just like all the rest of us.

Each community my appoint one representative to the association. Representatives will receive voting power after their communities pay the annual membership dues. Amount of the dues has not been determined.

1 pro-recall resident resents 'poor loser' tag

Editor:

I feel that I must comment on the circulars distributed by the Stein Slate this past weekend.

First, it was a slim and questionable margin by which the Stein Slate was elected last November and I do not consider myself a poor loser, but merely a concerned citizen.

I must also challenge the statement that the politics have been weeded out of the police department and the zoning board of appeals.

The recent selection of the new police chief suggests a tinge of politics as does the dismissal of the previous ZBA appointment of a new ZBA, and the legal battle that followed.

The citizens of this township have always had a say in their future. Twice they have gone to the polls on the basic concept of an agricultural western half of the township and twice they have overwhelmingly supported the idea (scarcely the basis for a study commission.)

Are they as enthusiastic to the idea of overpaying for a golf course? (Something I personally don't feel is vital to the township's needs.)

I do agree, however, that Canton Township does need a "responsive, responsible and motivated government" but I do not feel that the present administration represents those ideals.

My vote on Aug. 27th will be YES to the recall for all three members of the Stein Slate.

knocking on the front door, Carpenter said. If someone answered they would ask for a fictitious person. If the house was empty, several of the youths would post themselves as lookouts while one went to the rear of the home and broke in.

"Very seldom did they destroy anything, and they almost never made a mess," Carpenter said. "They were quick and neat. Sometimes they would only stay in the house for four or five minutes."

One of the gang's victims, Carpenter said, was an elderly woman who lived alone. Several of the youths gained entrance to her house by asking for a glass of water.

Once inside, however, he said they rummaged through drawers and took $900 in cash from her purse.

But that wasn't the end of it. The very next day the same youths went back to the woman's house, used another pretext to get in and made off with another $1,000 in cash.

"They really took advantage of her," Carpenter said. "She hoenestly didn't know what was going on."

Carpenter said the break in the case came when one of the gang members was discovered with an unusually large amount of money.

When questioned about where he got it, he started implicating other gang members in a number of burglaries.

Festival antique mart opens Sept. 9

Members of the Plymouth Symphony League have starched their prim Shaker aprons and caps, selected 20 distinguished antique dealers, and planned the booth layout for the 17th annual Antique Mart.

The three-day show and sale will open at noon Sept. 9 in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 325 Farmer street during the Plymouth Fall Festival.

Dealers this year and their specialties are:

•Country Cousin Antiques of Garret, Ind.,back for the fifth year,—primitive furniture and accessories.

•Marjorie Kulifay of Livonia—second year in show, mixture of all types of antiques.

•The Red Sled of Union Lake—Ruby Morrison's fine primitive furniture and accessories have been a standby at the mart for all 15 shows.

•Viola Borget of Taylor—longtime favorite at the mart with antique jewelry, glass and china.

•Pandora's Box of West Bloomfield—Ron and Joan Hochstein bring their collection of antique dolls and many fine coins.

•Highland Antiques of Highland—has the reputation of owning the finest tool collection in the state.

•Bayberry House Antiques of Dearborn—fine furniture and accessories.

•H.E.R. Antiques of Detroit—exceptionally fine collection of glass and china.

•The Collectors of Ann Arbor—Joan and Clyde Nixon, who are new to the show this year, will bring furniture, accesssories and old English water colors.

•Rae Choma of Detroit—another new feature of the show. Mrs. Choma will give verbal appraisals of antiques for $1.

•Pauline Work of Farmington Hills—returning for her 14th mart fine jewelry and silver.

•Gloria Siegert of Livonia—second year at show, mixture of furniture and accessories.

•Ruth Heilman of Livonia—back for third time, all kinds of antiques and collectibles.

•Dobson's Antiques of Pittsburgh Pa.—coming to the show for five years, they'll have jewelry, silver, china, crystal an small furniture.

•Tic-Wick Antiques of Rochester—new this year, primitives and accessories.

• Susan Hill of Northville—new idea for this show, furniture.

•Dorothy Thompson Antiques of Farmington—Dorothy and Jack Thompson are noted for their0worgeous English accessories. Kehoe of Plymouth—specialize in antique clocks and trunks.

•Thimble Farms Antiques of Orchard Lake—new to the show this year, early American-made furniture.

THE CANDLEMAKER, Richard Wells, will be back with his Williamsburg-type candles and accessories.

Traditional Handcrafts of Northville will demonstrate spinning and weaving in the lobby of the Cultural Center.

Admission to the mart is $1. Hours will be noon to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and noon to 7 p.m. on Sunday.

Those who wish to visit more antique shops, can travel by covered wagon to the Plymouth shops in Old Village. The wagon will leave the Cultural Center every 30 minutes and fee for the round trip will be 50 cents per person or $2 for a family.

SYMPHONY LEAGUE members have worked for months preparing for the show. Proceeds from the mart will go to support the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. The first 25 per cent of the net profits goes to the Plymouth Fall Festival Board to help defray general festival expenses.

Fran Lang and Joyce Kelly are co-chairing the mart.

Others involved in the planning are: Jean Sigmon, treasurer; Helen Merrill, dealers; Mary Smith and Miriam Waterhouse, hostesses; Carol Pastori and Sue Knapp, dealer signs and decorations; Wanda Nash and Alice Smith, publicity; Judy Dahlberg, setup and cleanup; and Ruth Paul and Evelyn Funk, posters, fliers and programs.

Fran Lang, who is co-chairing the antique mart, talks antique clocks with Mary Kehoe, a dealer in the show.

Trunk showing is fashion preview

By ELINOR GRAHAM

A trunk showing of autumn go-togethers by Tannerway of North Carolina attracted a steady flow of visitors Thursday to me and mr jones in downtown Plymouth.

Sandy Zaft of New York brought along bundles of slacks, vests, skirts, blouses and knitted tops which went from carton to hanger with nary a wrinkle.

Newest shade for fall is raisin—a brownish burgundy or a rich burgundy brown. Plaids, herringbones and feathersoft cashmere tops are mixed and matched with corduroy. Somehow, each combination is perfect.

But the Chessa Davis Heritage Collection of skirts brought most of the raves.

"There's an interesting history about the first skirt Chessa made," said Zaft. "She and her husband, Ellis Kadison, had been invited to a party and Chessa decided she didn't have anything to wear. She made a skirt out of her husband's old ties—sewing them together vertically.

"That was beginning. She received so many compliments on her creatiothat she made some for her friends."

IT WASN'T the first time a member of Chessa's family had improvised.

Her roots go back to the early 18th century Spanish conquistadores and it was at her grandmother's ranch house (now a museum on the outskirts of Santa Fe) that the idea for the original "Skirt of the Seven Sisters" was conceived.

It was the Christmas season 40 years ago. The Ortiz y Pinos y Davis family was cash short and property rich. Chessa's grandmother decided each of her seven daughters would receive exactly the same present—a long holiday skirt. Each of the girls would do some of the work on not only her own, but on each of her sisters' skirts.

The eldest, Isobel, would make the bodies. The youngest, Anne, would sew the petticoats. Goldie would make the sashes; Helen the lace trim. Lucy, Selina and Mary were put to work, cutting out and appliquing. Grandmother would make the large drum found on the skirt's back, and the large design on the front—a Christmas tree, a stocking, a candle—each one different and a surprise for each daughter.

Each Tinker Frau skirt in the line is accompanied by a small scroll to record days, dates and "joyous informations."

A handmade clay shard identifies the skirt as an authentic Chessa Davis. The skirt is meant to be embellished with memorabilia—baby spoons, thimbles, nameplates, souvenirs, coins, anything.

One size fits all and the dresses can be handed down as family heirlooms. Some are velvet, some are made of velvet, cottons, cotton blends, linen polvesters, laces and velveteens.

Sylvia Mullen, manager of the store, asked Ann Wallace of Just Ann's wallpaper shop to model. "She's a perfect size 8," said Miss Mullen.

Some of the knitted tops had triangles of the same material. These can be worn on the head, around the neck, or brought down and tied in front.

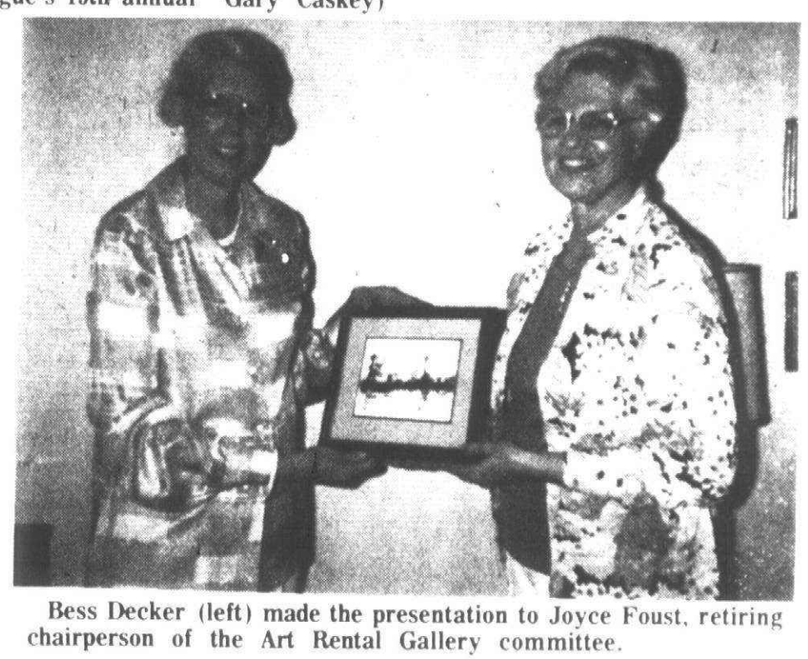

Zaft said the knitted triangles are amazingly popular in New York. "And amazingly expensive," he added. "Some of them are priced $60 and up."

Helen DeJiulio examined the lace and appliques on a Skirt of the Seven Sisters.

Bess Decker (left) made the presentation to Joyce Foust, retiring chairperson of the Art Rental Gallery committee.

Joyce Foust honored by PCAC committee

Joyce Foust was honored recently at a luncheon given by the Plymouth Community Arts Council Art Rental Gallery Committee in the home of Marilyn Whittaker on S. Evergreen in Plymouth. The luncheon was prompted by Mrs. Foust's announcement that she will step down from the chairmanship of the rental gallery, a post she has held since the committee was established in 1974.

Increasing demands by her PEO Board of Trustees membership caused the decision. In September she will become national chairman of the philanthropic organization's International Peace Scholarship Fund.

"It's time for a change, though," Mrs. Foust said. "The gallery has reached its strength and it's time for some new blood." Committee members Clara Camp, Wilma Newton and Nancy Johnson will share the chairmanship until a replacement is appointed by the PCAC board.

"IT'S BEEN A ball," Mrs. Foust said as she accepted the committee's gifts of a necklace and a painting from Bess Decker, special advisor to the rental gallery.

In reminscing abouth her association with the rental gallery which is located on the second floor of Dunning Hough Library on Main Street, Mrs. Foust recalled that the idea for a gallery grew out of the first "brainstorming" sessions at the founding of the arts council in 1969.

"We were all sitting around in Jo Hulce's living room and someone said, 'Wouldn't it be nice if some day we could rent paintings like the Detroit Institute of Arts does?' Because I was interested in the idea, Jo assigned me to look into it."

What followed was nearly five years of research and planning. Mrs. Foust visited established rental galleries, both large and small, to obtain as much information as possible about their organization and funding.

In the spring, of 1974, Mrs. Foust put together a committee of six "interested, enthusiastic women" to help decide on a format for an art rental gallery "that would fit Plymouth."

Tdshe Dunning Hough Library was interested in the project and willing to provide a home for the gallery.

"They have been generous in their support," Mrs. Foust said.

A GRANT of $1,150 from the Michigan Council of the Arts with matching funds from the PCAC made it possible for the for PCAC Art Rental Gallery to finally open its doors March 5, 1975.

"We started out offering 51 pieces to rent. Twenty-eight of them were rented the first day."

"With continuing grants from the Michigan Council for the Arts and strong financial and moral support from the PCAC the rental gallery has become self-supporting through rental fees.

"It's been beautiful because the PCAC board has let us grow the way we want to," Mrs. Foust said. "We have tried to grow with the community interests and demands."

The gallery's current inventory includes well over 100 items which can be rented for $2 a month. Among the items available are paintings, both original and reproductions, wall hangings, sculpture and newly acquired photograph.

Mrs. Foust credits "many helping hands, including the schools" for the gallery's success.

"It has evolved through the support of many friends in the community."

During the summer, the Art Rental Gallery is open every Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. It will be closed Aug. 31 and 7 in preparation for Plymouth Fall Festival.

What do you want in recreation area?

from your house

By Lori Brickman

981-0237

Canton owns 28 acres of land between Canton Center and Sheldon roads north of Cherry Hill designated as Griffin Park. At present, the property contains two baseball diamonds and a tot lot. Soon there will be many additional attractions for the pleasurable pursuits of community residents.

The firm of Raynes and Hill has been employed to develop the park into a multi-use area. Chester Raynes and Thomas Hill have designed most of the beautiful parks in Ann Arbor and come to the township highly recommended.

The park planners need and want your suggestions to create a desirable facility and one that will be used by the community. The proposed first phase will include tennis and basketball courts.

But that is just the beginning.

What would you like to see in Griffin Park and, more specifically, what would attract you and your family to it? Call me or drop a postcard to 1725 Walnut Ridge, Canton 48187, and your suggestions will be printed in future columns.

Take part in making Canton a positive community. Remember, Rome wasn't built in a day but it burned in one day—from neglect.

TWENTY—FIVE senior citizens from Royal Holiday Park joined 60 members of St. Theodore Catholic Church Over 50 Club for an afternoon at the races.

Art Harrett of Royal Holiday worked with club president Paul Plante to organize the Aug. 11 Detroit Race Course outing. The trip included admission to the new clubhouse, a cocktail hour beginning at 1:30 p.m. and a delightful variety of foods served at the luncheon smorgasbord.

At 3 p.m. the group moved to reserved seating in the old clubhouse to watch the thoroughbreds line up for the first race.

"Some folks placed a bet or two but most just enjoyed the excitement of well-trained horses in competition," said Harrett.

He organized an equally successful trip to the Wolverine harness races in June. For the past eight years, the track outing has been an annual event for the St. Theodore club and their friends.

Harrett said no one comes home a loser when there is fun, food and good company to be shared.

KARATE CLASSES still are in progress at the Canton Recreation Center every Wednesday from 8:30-9:30 p.m. The form of self defense taught is known as Isshinryu. It is a combination of Korean, Okinawan and other karate traditions.

Instructor Sam Santini encourages participation in this strenuous exercise. He and his advanced students spend time during each session introducing novices to proper techniques and emotional attitudes in Isshinryu.

Several of Santini's proteges entered the World Isshinryu Tournament in Detroit last month. Nine of the competitors walked away with top awards and all found the experienece put a polish on their skills.

FIRST MEETING of the Canton Women's Bowling League will be at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 1 in the Recreation Center, Michigan Avenue at Sheldon road. Those interested in joining should contact Helen McGee, league president, 455-7062. The league will bowl at 9 a.m. on Mondays.

TURKEYVILLE? Yes, according to Walter and Laura Fluegge of Canton, the little town of Turkeyville is alive and thriving near Marshall on M-59.

What does one find in Turkeyville? Obviously, turkeys— raised by the thousands to grace our Thanksgiving tables.

The center of attraction is a large farm which caters to other than tourists interested in gobblers. They sell fresh produce, have a gift shop for browsing, and an antique store.

After the tour, a restaurant with home-style cooking awaits to satisfy hungry appetites. I wonder what the the house specialty is.

If you decide to visit the feathered community, get acquaintd with the local fowl inhabitants. The bird you meet today may be your dinner guest in November.

New Voices

Sally Ann and John Charles Cunningham of Erik Pass, Plymouth, announce the birth of their son, Adam Lee, born Aug. 11 in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Cass Shalla and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cunningham, all of Alpena.

Adam Lee has an older brother, Eric Lee.

Spoutz-Misaras

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Spoutz of Southfield announce the engagement of their daughter Diane to Ronas S. Misaras, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Misaras of Canton Township.

An October wedding is planned.

Shockey-Brueggen

Wendy Shockey of Livonia and Gary Shockey of Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter Karen Elizabeth of Cincinnati, formerly of Livonia, to Gregory Charles Brueggen of Loveland, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brueggen of Dayton, Ky.

The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Bentley High School and a 1976 graduate of Christ Hospital School of Nursing in Cincinnati. She is employed as a nurse at Children's Hospital in the same city.

Her fiance ia a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and is employed by General Electric Corp. in that city.

They plan an Oct. 29 wedding in Village United Presbyterian Church, Redford Township.

Campbell-Lock

Mrs. Bea Kwiecinshi of Holly Drive in Canton Township announces the engagement of her daughter, Barbara Jane Campbell, to David Earl Lock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lock Of Warren.

The bride-elect attends Schoolcraft College. She is a 1975 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School. Her fiance is a pre-law student at the University of Michigan.

They plan a June 1978 wedding.

Mawhinney-Conn

Jorja Conn and Robert E. Mawhinney Jr. exchanged wedding vows July 29 in Shaw Memorial Chapel of First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. Dr. Henry Walch officiated. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Conn of Colony Farms Circle, Plymouth. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Mawhinney Sr. of Drayton Plains.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of cameo ivory silk organzine faille and peau d'ange lace. It had an empire silk bodice, chapel train and long tapered sleeves. Deep scallops of alencon lace trimmed the full-length mantilla veil that fell from a tiny lace cap.

Jolie Conn of East Lansing was her sister's maid of honor and Kathy Wilson, a college classmate, was bridesmaid. They wore long silk polyester mint-colored gowns.

A reception for family and close friends was in the Jacob Room of Hillside Inn. The bride's sister Janan and her husband Richard Dean came from Eugene, Ore., for the wedding. The couple honeymooned in Toronto. They will live in Ypsilanti.

The bride is an occupational therapist. Her husband works for General Motors at the National Distribution Center, Willow Run.

Goyer-Tonkovich

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Goyer, Jr., are living in Ypsilanti following their Aug. 19 wedding in Ann Arbor.

The bride is the former Doreen Tonkovich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tonkovich of Plymouth. She graduated from Plymouth High School in 1968. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Goyer, Sr., of Ypsilanti.

Quick coolers offer hot day refreshment

Hot days call for cool drinks! Make your summer coolers into nourishing, natural refreshers with milk and ice cream. Two tablespoons each, sugar and instant coffee, dissolved in one quarter cup hot water, shaken up with two cups of cold milk and one half pint vanilla ice cream makes a Cool 'n' Creamy.

When the thermometer soars, appetites sag, so smart mothers give the kids real nutrition in one quick and easy drink with Peanut Butter Pleasers. Beat one-half cup peanut butter and one-half cup honey in blender or mixer and gradually add four cups milk. A scoop of butter pecan ice cream on top makes it extra special.

Iced tea goes festive with a scoop of lemon or lime sherbet for garnish and good taste.

Quick shakes can make magic cows. Two teaspoons of sweetened, powdered drink mix with eight ounces of cold milk. Shake or stir for the newest in summer drinks with real nourishment for the kids.

Chocolate and peppermint were meant for each other. Top a glass of cold chocolate milk poured right from the carton with a scoop of peppermint ice cream, or whip one pint of peppermint ice cream with four cups of milk and top with chocolate ice cream.

The Movies

LOUISE SNIDER

Viewers share producer's joke

"Black and White in Color" (PG) is a wryly humorous movie filmed in the Ivory Coast by a French production company. Winner of the 1976 Academy Award for best Foreign Language Film, it mocks human folly by taking universal themes and reducing the scale of events.

Fort Coulier is a sleepy outpost in French West Africa with a handful of white residents. A few shopkeepers and their wives, two missionary Fathers, a geographer and an army sergeant represent French civilization among the natives.

Cut off from European news by a six-month transit time for mail, it is 1915 before they learn that France and Germany are at war. In a burst of patriotic furor, the shopkeepers bully the sergeant into recruiting natives and deploying his untrained men for an immediate "surprise" attack against a small German outpost only a drumbeat away.

The attack is a predictable disaster for the French. From the very beginning of the film, the audience shares a joke with the omnipotent filmmaker about the petty bourgeois colonials and how ineptly they conduct themselves. The movie's opening establishing shot shows the German officer drilling his native troops.

THE BACKGROUND music segues from a martial beat to lyrical sounds as the camera pans across grassland to the French village where the natives are playing cards and cutting their toenails while the French sergeant is guzzling wine.

Knowing jokes shared with the audience account for much of this movie's charm. Conventional sentiments are often reversed or scuttled. In one scene, the native bearers chant a song as they carry the white missionaries on litters back to the village. One Father, ignorant of the language, remarks patronizingly on the beauty of the native song.

The subtitles translate for us: The natives are repeating a chant about fat, heavy white men with smelly feet. Another time, while the Sergeant slaps at flies around him, one black whispers to another, "I told you white men bring flies."

The movie is picturesque, understated and smartly put together. Before the French rout, the fashionably dressed ladies and gentlemen of the village disport themselves at a picnic lunch where they plan to enjoy a Sunday afternoon's pleasantries while observing the blacks battling on behalf of their French and German masters. War provides a diversion from the monotony of colonial life.

The tempo changes when the quiet and standoffish geographer, Hubert Fresnoy (Jacques Spieser), assumes leadership. He is a serious young man, and he regards war as a serious business, not a social diversion.

THE DISPIRITED residents acquiensce as the educated liberal becomes a dictator. Fresnoy, who haughtily tsked-tsked at the shopkeepers for mistreating the natives and the missionaries for deceiving them, wrecks more havoc than any of the others. He impresses distant blacks from the savannah into his army and beats them (not personally, he has someone else do it) to force them to reveal where others are hiding.

At the end, the colonials discover, belatedly of course, that the war is over. There is an ironical twist involving the English; nevertheless, friendships are resumed and it's business as usual.

The French geographer-dictator and the German lieutenant separate themselves from the prattling shopkeepers to talk about their universities and their mutual interest in socialism. Class tells.

If there is any flaw in this film, it is in the implicit moralizing, even though understated. The point of view is weighted heavily on the side of the angels. Who, after all, is going to stand up and defend hypocrisy?

Finlan zaps Massey

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Two six-run rallies sparked Finlan Insurance to a 17-9 upset win over Massey Cadillac to grab the City of Plymouth men's slow-pitch softball playofftitle Friday night.

Finlan, second-place finishers in the Division I standings, got off to a quick start with six runs in the opening inning and were never behind after that.

Massey, the Plymouth city champs which finished the regular season with a perfect 18-0 record, scored once in the first and four more times in the third to pull within one run, 6-5.

But another six-run Finlan spree in the sixth inning stopped any chance for Massey to make a realistic comeback.

The playoffs included the top 12 teams in the Plymouth league competing in the post-season double-elimination playoffs. Finlan won a sponsors trophy for its victory.

Both finalists easily advanced through the winner's bracket. Finlan handed Massey its first loss of the season in the first encouter on Wednesday night, 14-11, sending Massey to the loser's bracket.

In the semifinals, Massey eliminated third-place Garden City Sports and later avenged its first loss to Finlan with a 28-14 stomping to force the deciding championship game.

Finlan, coached by Conrad Vitale, was the hottest team in the Plymouth league during the second half of the season, winning 11 of its last 12 games played.

Finlan won its last six regular season games before taking five of six decisions for the playoff championship.

Daly devastates Century, 16-3

Daly Drive-In turned the women's playoff championship into a laugher early, as it rolled to a convincing 16-3 victory over a shocked Century 21 team last Friday night.

Century 21, winners of the Plymouth Women's League with a perfect 14-0 record never really was in this game as Daly dominated all the way. Daly finished a distant second to Century in regular season action.

The post-season playoffs, which pitted the top four teams from the women's league in double-elimination play, included American Community and Little Caesar in the action along with the top two squads.

Daly and Century breezed past the other opponents in the playoffs. Daly won the first contest between the two teams when Century forfeited. Daly then won the outright title with the 13-run rout.

Daly scored four times in the first inning, two in the second, three in the fourth, one in the fifth and six final runs in the sixth to breeze to victory. Century tallied only two runs in the fourth and one in the sixth.

Jeanne Martin led Daly's awesome offensive attack with four hits, three singles and a double. Pat Rodman added three singles.

Phylis Maycock recorded three singles for Century in the losing cause.

Daly mounted a 15-hit attack which included 10 different batters reaching the plate in the big sixth inning.

Century was held to only 10 hits in the game.

Daly takes home a sponsor's trophy for the playoff victory. Century received individual and team trophies for winning the regular season championship.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

Although the bowling season doesn't open officially until the Labor Day period, Detroit-area women already have proved they must be considered when any laurels are presented.

They proved it last week at State Lanes in Saginaw when they dominated play in the first annual singles invitational by walking away with first and second places.

Jan Pavalla, of Motor Lanes, landed on top in the two-day event to come up with $1,000 and Cheryl Mertz, of Merri-Bowl took runner-up honors and a purse of $500.

What makes their victories all the more important is the fact that neither of these women is listed among the all-stars who compete in either of the women's major leagues.

Other well-known Detroit area bowlers who cashed in the prize fund included Geri Ritter, Penny Behn and Jan Marciniak, while Jeannette Robinson, Flint's top all-star bowler, also made the finals.

One of the ironies of the tournament that was the brain child of Bill Strike is the case of Mary Mohacsi, the Detroit bowling queen and captain of the all-city team. She missed qualifying by six pins.

So successful was the tournament that it now will become a regular fixture to precede the well-established men's singles that are scheduled within the new week.

IT IS GOING to be difficult to tell the women all-stars without a score card when the new season opens, and the reason is a rather odd one.

When the opportunity came for a women's team to get a franchise in the Thursday division of the all-star league, Penny Behn decided to pick a team of stars from the other combinations.

In this manner, she obtained the services of Mary Mohacsi and Cora Fiebig, to round out an all-star combination.

"But we are going back to our regular teams on Mondays and Wednesdays," Mohacso explained. "We never had any thought of breaking up the other line-ups."

There will be a change of sponsors however. Luxury Lanes, sponsor of Fiebig's team last year, has decided to split the sponsoring with Goebels. So the team will be Luxury Lanes and Goebel on Wednesday when the Ladies Major takes residence in its new home at Crown Lanes.

MORE AND MORE, bowling is becoming a major part of recreation department activities in the western suburban communities. The latest to join the ranks is Canton Township, which is sponsoring a women's league at 9 a.m. on Mondays at Super Bowl.

Along with that, the department also will have a senior citizens league that is schedule for 9:30 a.m.

Anyone seeking information on either of these loops is asked to call the recreation department at 397-2777.

Boat rules to be tested

Rules that would prohibit motorized boats on the Middle Rouge chain of lakes will be tested before a public hearing in western Wayne County later this month.

The state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has set 7 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 30 for the hearing in Westland City Hall council chambers at 36601 Ford Road.

The hearing was set by Roger L. Wood, conservation hearings executive in the marine and recreational vehicle section of DNR's law enforcement division.

IT'S THE SECOND step in the long process of establishing boating rules on the lakes. The process is complicated by the fact that the state and Wayne County share jurisdiction over the Middle Rouge chain of lakes.

The first step was taken March 31 with a hearing to establish the necessity for the rules. Lt. Fred Reiman Jr., who heads the Wayne County sheriff's marine safety division, is proposing the following rules for Newburgh, Phoenix, Nankin and Wilcox lakes:

- No swimming on any of the four lakes or connecting river.
- No motorized vessels on the lakes with the exception of small, electric, trolling motors. A special permit could be obtained for an unusual event by a conservation club, a concession paddle-wheeler or other exceptional purpose.
- No nighttime boating.
- No off-road vehicles in the parks or on the ice.

The danger spot is the 104-acre Newburgh Lake, which averages three drownings a year. The dams which form the lakes are other danger spots because youngsters slide down them, cutting their feet or breaking their legs on rocks below.

A DNR spokesman will present the state's proposed rules.

Afterwards, the hearing will be open to the public for written or oral comments.

Persons unable to attend the hearing may write their comments to, or ask for copies of the rules from: Law Enforcement Division, Department of Natural Resources, Box 30028 Lansing, MI 48909.

The final step in the enforcement procedure will be for the local governments—the cities of Livonia and Plymouth, and Plymouth Township—to adopt ordinances implementing the rules. When that occurs, a violation of the rules will be the equivalent of violation of a local ordinance. Standard punishment is a jail sentence of up to 90 days, a fine of up to $100 or both.

Women golfers compete

Ginnie Johnson and Kay Nichols took 2½ points from Estelle Heidt and Irene Karish to remain in first place in the Canton Township Women's Golf League last week.

Mary Kay Frey and Sandy Froozan grabbed all three points from Mary Moore and Nina Messano to jump into a tie for second place with Tiiu Himmelberger and Silvia Dickenson.

Ms. Himmelberger and Ms. Dickenson took three points from Diedra Vesnaugh and Betty Williams to stay tied in the runners-up spot.

Ms. Frey came in with the best round of the week with a 50. Bev Green and Ms. Nichols carded 51 and 52 respectively.

Touch football starts for men

Last seasoon's men's touch football teams which are interested in returning to the Plymouth league this fall are reminded that registration fees are due by Aug. 31.

Any new teams which would like to participate in the league can register between Sept. 1 and Sept. 7.

This year's league will compete on Tuesday and Thursday nights at Central Middle School.

Teams will play once a week starting Sept. 13.

VANS

NEED ZIEBART RUSTPROOFING TOO.

Your van works hard. Hauling. Camping. Long trips. If it rusts, it won't last.

Ziebart Rustproofing protects against rust. It helps your van last longer.

August 27th

Canton Township is one of the fastest growing communities in Michigan, yet we don't have our own full-time police force. The Canton Township Police Department has been operating a part-time, half-certified, half-reserve police force for almost a year.

We need more. Canton needs its own full-time police force. Our 24 hour police service is provided by Wayne County Sheriff Department and Michigan State Police troopers from Northville. These agencies are also responsible for many other communities. They do an excellent job but simply can't devote full time to Canton. Canton needs a full-time police force.

By passing the Canton Police millage, we will provide our community with our own full-time, professional police force.

Hawkeyes advance in state tournament

A combined no-hitter by three Hawkeyes pitchers sparked this Plymouth "F" League (13-years old) team to a district victory in state competition held in Ann Arbor last week.

Keith Braun, Joe Humphries and Greg Chappell shared the mound honors enroute to an easy 14-0 no-hit result over Ypsilanti Monday afternoon.

This victory in the semifinals of the Ann Arbor district, advanced the Hawkeyes to the championship game against Milan.

The Hawkeyes were locked in a pitchers' duel in the finale but outlasted Milan, 3-1, Wednesday afternoon to win the district. The Hawkeyes now compete in to the state quarterfinals, representing the Plymouth-Canton community thid today at 10 a.m. in a contest at Northville.

The Hawkeyes were the champions of the Plymouth "F" League with a 12-2 record.

The second-place Spartans of the "F" League competed in an inter-city tourney at Allen Park last Monday, losing 12-11 to Inkster in the first round.

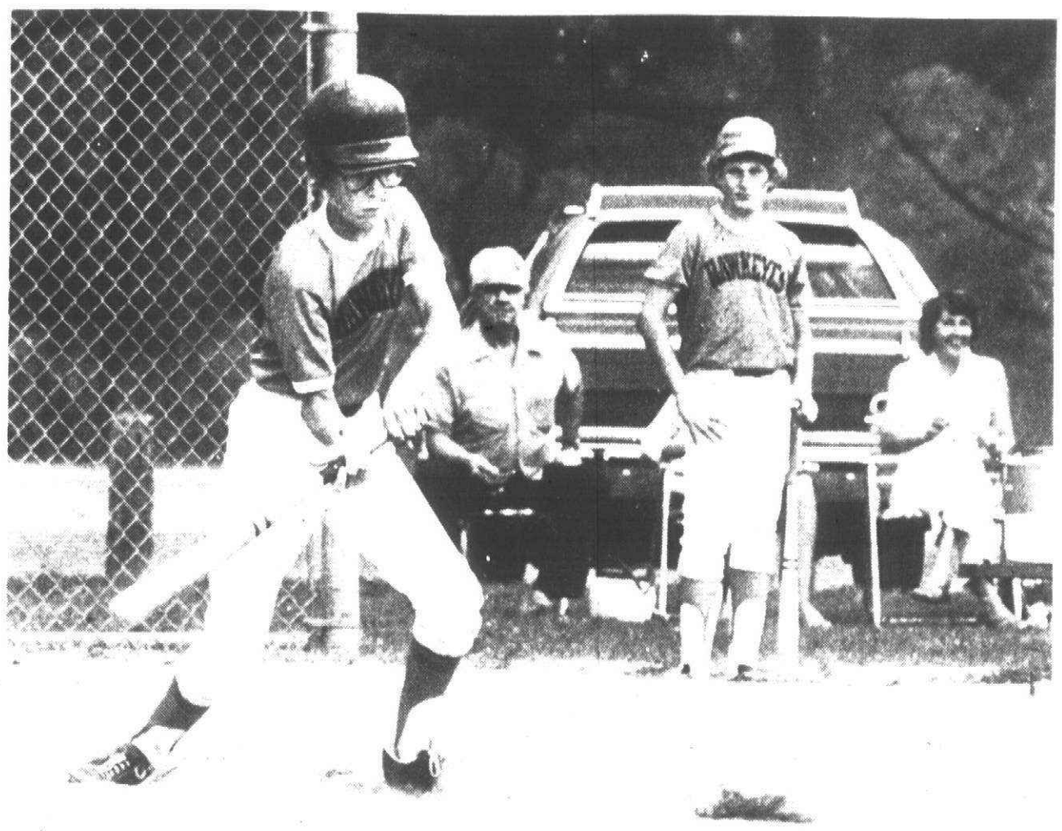

The Spartans were leading early in this game but Inkster rallied in the final two innings to cop the victory.

The Spartans of the "E" League (14-15-year olds) experienced similiar bad luck to their fellow Spartans in the "F" League.

The "E" Spartans, champions of their Plymouth league, went to the state tournament in Dearborn on Thursday and lost 7-2 to Wyandotte.

The Spartans took the lead with one run in the first inning, but Wyandotte scored twice in the second stanza to grab the lead for good.

In the "E" League inter-city tourney at Dearborn, Plymouth's second-place finisher, the Wilcats, lost a heartbreaker to Wyandotte, 7-6.

The Plymouth Hawkeyes won the Ann Arbor district and advanced to the state quarterfinals, thanks to plays like this—a perfect bunt down the third baseline. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey).

Men golfers shine

After three weeks of competition in the second Canton Township men's golf league, Bruce Watt and Bruce Karen have taken over first place by sweeping five points from Jim Young and Jim Ganning in last week's action.

Lynn Tetsworth and Paul Oberhelman, winners of the first Canton golf league, took four points from Pat Zelek and Mike Mooney to take over second place.

Tony Valenti and substitute Don Johnson took all five points from Gary Rehberg and Ron Hoffman to move into third place.

Tony Matson shot the low score of the week with a 37, the best nine-hole round of the year. Ron Cundiff and Valenti followed in low scoring with a 39 and 40 respectively.

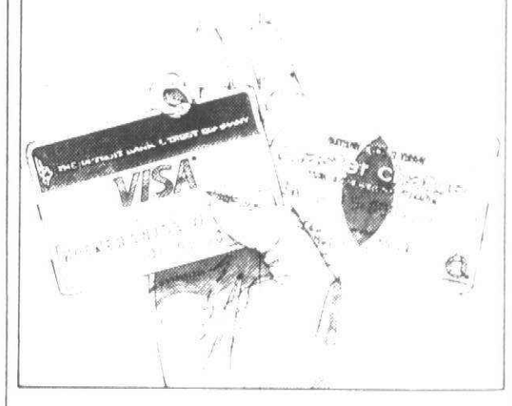

STANDINGS

Emergency van

It's a different kind of van makeover for the Midcontinent Conversion Company these days. Rather than the more common luxury conversion, MCC takes Dodge Maxivans and makes them Type 2 ambulances, complete with all medical support systems. MCC has been turning out ambulances since 1969, producing the specialized fiberglass parts needed to make the vans ambulances.

WHEN YOUR PRESCRIPTION RUNS OUT...

DON'T BE SURPRISED to find a note accompanying your medication advising you that your prescription cannot be refilled again, and that you should ask your doctor for a new one.

IF YOU'RE LIKE most people your initial reaction will probably be one of puzzlement and possibly even annoyance. Under Federal Law, prescriptions for certain medications cannot be refilled at all, while others can be refilled only five times within six months of the date on your doctor's prescription form.

PERHAPS even greater importance to you personally is your Pharmacy service's own voluntary policy of not refilling prescriptions that are more than two years old.

TO UNDERSTAND WHY, consider the following possibilities:

(1) Your doctor may want to change or adjust your medication. Your condition may have changed, therefore your medication may require change.

(2) Continuing research and the frequent introduction of new pharmaceutical products may mean that your present medication could be replaced with something better.

(3) If you have gone to different doctors for different conditions, you may be mixing medications. This can either intensify or diminish the potency of the medication, or even cause undesirable side effects. After all, unnecessary medication might be harmful besides being a waste of money.

SO THE NEXT TIME you receive a note from the Pharmacy telling you that your prescription is about to expire, consider it a valuable service to you in an active role in protecting your health.

ENERGY SAVINGS TIP

WHEN BUYING A CAR, ask your dealer, or write to Fuel Economy, Pueblo, Colorado 81009, for a free copy of the latest "EPA/FEA Gas Mileage Guide." Study the fuel economy figures and the tables that compare specifications. Review mileage test results. Generally, the best fuel economy is associated with low vehicle weight, small engines, manual transmissions, low axle ratio and low frontal area (the width of the car times it's height.)

CONSIDER BUYING the most energy-efficient car of the size and style you want. Don't let the car price alone determine your choice. Your decisions can be made on the basis of the combination of purchase price and your estimated fuel costs.

PURCHASE ONLY the optional equipment and accessories you really need. Air conditioning, automatic transmission, and power steering are all items that require considerable energy, all of which is derived from burning gasoline. Power brakes, electric motor-driven windows, seats and radio antennas, require less energy for their operations, but all accessories add to the vehicle's weight - and this reduces fuel economy. If you have a car air conditioner or other power-draining accessories, use them sparingly. The cooling equipment reduces fuel economy an average of 10 percent, almost 20 percent in stop-and-go traffic.
