Canton wants into the Plymouth Fund

By CRAIG PIECHURA

The United Foundation's loss may become the Plymouth Community Fund's gain.

Although it will have no effect on this year's United Foundation-sponsored Torch Drive, Canton Township board members voted unanimously Tuesday to notify the United Foundation that Canton wishes to be released as a member community.

Secondly, the Canton Chamber of Commerce has appointed Harold Fischer and Clifford McClumpha to represent the township in talks with Plymouth Community Fund officials about Canton's possible entry in the Plymouth fund.

If those talks are unsuccessful, Canton Supervisor Harold Stein said Canton Township will set up its own community fund. The reason for the move, according to Stein, is that United Foundation monies "aren't coming back to this community. That's the criticism I'm hearing from the people in the community."

UNITED FOUNDATION officials in Detroit said the organization had not received official notification of Canton's withdrawal intentions and it would withold comment "until we're confronted with it or told we can't solicit in the township."

Lynn Anderson, United Foundation spokesman said that even if Canton goes with the Plymouth Fund—or sets up its own community chest—Canton residents could use UF-supported agencies.

"We've never had a community withdraw since we formed in 1949," said Mrs. Anderson. "The trend is in the opposite direction."

Mrs. Anderson took exception to Stein's comments that UF monies weren't benefitting Canton residents.

Although none of the 140 UF-funded service agencies are located in Plymouth or Canton, Mrs. Anderson said many people in those two communities are using UF-funded services such as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Legal Aid, Michigan Cancer Foundation, Catholic Social Services of Wayne County, Children's Hospital, Boy's Club, Merillac Hall for unwed mothers and Family Services of Wayne County.

"I have names of Canton or Plymouth people using all of these agencies," said Mrs. Anderson.

United Fund spokesmen said the organization must set up a meeting with representatives from Canton and the Plymouth Community Fund before it can be known what effect Canton's broposed withdrawal will have and the procedure for withdrawing as a UF member community.

THE PRESIDENT of the Plymouth Community Fund, L.D. Evans, said that until the question of Canton's entry is decided by the fund's board of directors "we are neither encouraging or discouraging Canton Township from joining.

"It's a matter of sitting down, weighing the pros and cons of what it means to both communities," said Evans. "It's a serious step. Organizing a drive isn't the easiest thing in the world to do. But the Plymouth Community Fund board must be the one who speaks on this issue, not me."

United Foundation spokesmen said they would not try to talk Canton out of withdrawing, but the timing of Canton's announcement disturbed them.

"This is a difficult time for both the Plymouth Fund and the United Fund," said Mrs. Anderson. "We are both at the beginning of our torch drives. I think (Canton's announcement) will just confuse people."

Supervisor Stein said if had had his way the UF withdrawal decision would have been made by the township board months ago.

If Canton joins the Plymouth Community Fund, Stein says the organization must agree to take the entire township, not just the portion in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District.

Furthermore, Stein said echoing an old concern, the name of the fund drive should be changed to the "Canton-Plymouth Community Fund."

Lance would not last here, local banker says

By MIKE SCANLON

Metropolitan Detroit-area bankers unanimously deny—some of them vehemently—that Bert Lance used "standard" financial procedures in operations of the Calhoun National Bank in Georgia.

C. Boyd Stockmeyer, chairman of the board of Detroitbank Corporation,which owns Detroit Bank and Trust Company, said, "I don't know from what I read about (Lance) if he could pass an accounting test."

"If he were employed here and resorted to any one of about six practices he's alleged doing, well, for one or two of them he might get a first warning, but generally speaking he'd be fired on the spot," Stockmeyer said.

"This peanut farmer seems to be defending him, and that scares me," Stockmeyer added.

Stockmeyer, who said Lance's defense of his actions before a Senate committee Thursday "didn't really mean very much," added, "When Mr. Lance says this is a common practice that every bank follows, if I was a depositor, I'd get scared."

Stockmeyer said Lance "isn't capable" of advising President Carter. Lance is the Carter administration's budget director.

Lance is accused of a number of banking irregularities, chief among them his self-admitted overdrafts from his personal accounts at the Calhoun National Bank of some $400,000 while he was president and major stockholder of the bank.

HE ALSO HAS been accused of using the same 14,657 shares of bank stock as collateral on two separate loans from two different banks. Lance is alleged to have used an airplane owned by the Calhoun bank and the National Bank of Georgia for personal reasons. That charge is under investigation by the justice department.

Referring directly to the overdrafts, a spokesman for the National Bank of Detroit said, "That is a very big no-no around here. As a matter of fact, an officer of this bank who overdraws his account gets a stern warning and his supervisor gets one, too, and it says, 'this won't happen again, will it?'"

The spokesman said Lance's defense of the allegation—that he had sufficent funds in other accounts at the Calhoun bank to cover most of the overdrafts, and repaid the rest with interest—would be a matter for consideration for a large bank depositor who was not a bank officer, "but no way, for a bank officer."

Bernard Lund, a vice-president of Manufacturer's Bank, said, "I do support the fact that, one, he needed his day in court. (However) I do not think that any banker in the world, and I'm sure Mr. Lance would agree with this, should use his position with the bank for personal gain."

Overdrafts, Lund said, "are not common. Bank officers just do not overdraw their accounts."

Stockmeyer, chairman of Detroit Bank and Trust, said, "We're dealingwith about 15 parts of the public's money for every one part of our own, and we operate on trust. I don't think (Lance) understands that."

Stockmeyer added that it was his understanding from stories published in a banking trade newspaper that while Lance was effective in expanding the number and size of Calhoun bank depositers, "he didn't exhibit much knowledge or experience in the field of loans."

"We very much object to what Jody Powell (Carter's press secretary) said about this being standard banking procedure," said Stockmeyer.

Hire engineers, surveyors—Stein

Salaries of Canton's own planner engineer and grant coordinator may partially replace the per-item expenditures now paid to various consulting firms. Supervisor Harold Stein proposes to create a community development department.

Although the township would still use the services of their planning, engineering and grant consultants for major projects, Stein says the new employes would perform small "day-to-day" tasks at a cheaper cost than the amount consulting firms are now paid.

Stein hopes to hire a new engineer as the proposed deparrtment's first employee within six weeks. Because of a lack of space at township hall, the planner, grant coordinator and department's secretarial help could not be hired until the new township hall is complete sometime next year.

TOWNSHIP BOARD members last week gave tentative approval to Stein's proposal when they directed the supervisor to devise an organizational chart, salary levels and budget for the proposed department.

Stein says he hopes to have that information ready within the next three weeks.

"Right now, we're relying on a lot of outside people to do work we can do ourselves," the supervisor said. "we need people here to handle these things on a day-to-day basis."

Stein has recommended that the township board hire an engineer to inspect the grading of subdivision lots as the proposed department's first employee.

According to chief building inspector Chuck Thompson, Schroeder & Porter, Inc. of Livonia currently inspects lots to make sure the grades comply with the subdivision's grading master land use plan.

The company receives $30 for every lot it inspects. The builder pays $25 for the inspection, and the township pays the rest.

Thompson agrees that a township engineer should do the work.

"We're all for it," Thompson said. "Bern Schroeder is a good engineer, but it's not like having your own engineer sitting in township hall who can handle the day-to-day complaints and questions from residents."

According to Stein, enginer Dale Townsend of Wade, Trim & Associates would still handle major engineering tasks for the township.

THE SAME WOULD hold true of major planning tasks. George Peek of Wade, Trim would continue to work on a revised master land use plan and other projects while the township planner would "address problems of zoning on a day-to-day basis," Stein explained.

"If someone came in with plans for

Kee criticizes unit

School secretaries upset

By GLENN BUNTING

A group of disgruntled non-union secretarial employees have charged the Plymouth-Canton Community School District with discrimination and unfair labor practices in negotiations over a new contract.

Approximately 65 school secretaries have been working without a contract since June 30 and are not even close to reaching a settlement, according to Louise Gates, president of the Plymouth Secretarial Association (PSA).

Norman Kee, school board chief negotiator, called the charges "ridiculous" and said the school district may also file charges of unfair labor practices against the PSA.

"Negotiations are supposed to be discussed at the bargaining table, not through the media," Kee said. "I'm surprised they're refusing to bargain in good faith because a couple of their people have been through this before."

The charges of unfair labor practices by the secretaries stem from a clause in their previous contract which says an adjusted wage increase should be made consistent with current economic conditions, and in comparison to the area salary schedules for educational secretaries.

THE SECRETARIES RECEIVED no pay raise last year other than a 6 per cent cost of living increase. Their bargaining unit is demanding a 3 per cent adjusted increase, retroactive to July 1, 1976.

But Kee claims the secretaries' current pay scale is consistent with those of surrounding school districts and that together with the cost of living raise, no additional wages are due the PSA.

The schools' latest package, however, includes an offer of 1 per cent retroactive pay, contingent upon the PSA accepting a new contract calling for annual increases of 20, 23 and 25 cents per hour over the next three years.

The PSA has not officially rejected the offer, not has it forwarded counter-proposals, according to Kee. Mrs. Gates says the secretaries' association will not begin bargaining a new contract until the retroactive pay issue is settled.

The secretaries also claim they were discriminated against four years ago when Kee took six secretaries from their association and promoted them to executive positions with increases in wages and fringe benefits.

"We were told the reason the secretaries were promoted was because they dealt with matters of confidentiality," said Fran Ardonowski of the PSA bargaining unit. "We handle students' psychological records, family divorce problems and payroll accounts."

KEE SAID HE ASKED the PSA for permission to release the secretaries from the association.

"This is an unfounded claim. That was four years ago. Besides, these girls are no longer part of the bargaining unit. It's like comparing apples and bananas," Kee said.

"What they're saying is that they should get the same things as teachers and administrators. That's ridiculous. If this is discrimination, then there's a helluva lot of it going around."

The PSA's current demands call for a 3 per cent retroactive raise, an 8 per cent across-the-board pay increase, a dental plan and cost of living allowances.

Negotiations between both sides remain at a standstill. Both parties continue to meet twice a month, but little is accomplished, Mrs. Gates said.

State to let bids for M-14 paving

Bids will be let for paving 5.1 miles of the M-14 freeway in western Wayne County Sept. 21. The Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation has estimated this part of the freeway will cost $5 million.

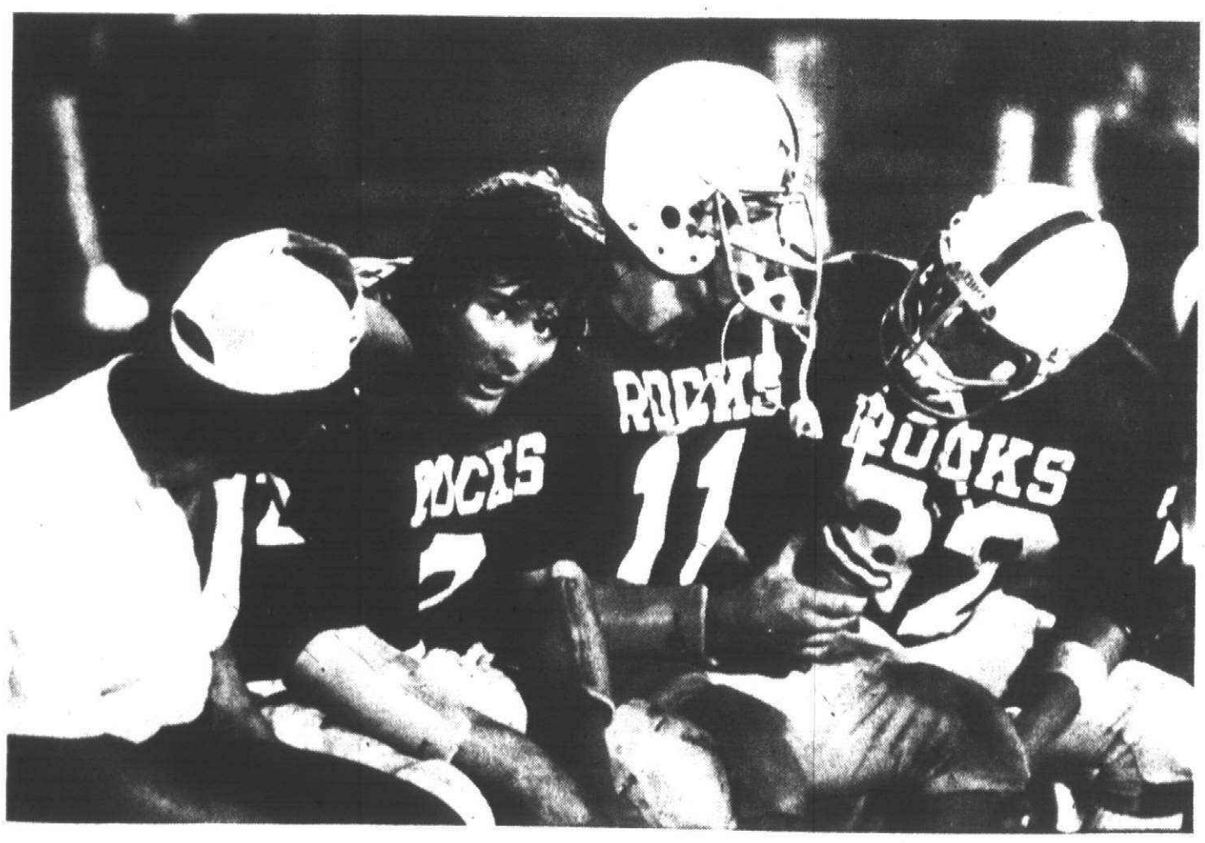

It is the last major contract to be let for the 12-mile freeway.

A spokesman for the state highway department said M-14 will be open "no later than November 1978." He added, however, that project engineers are shooting for an October opening.

The project, stretching across 5.6 miles of western Wayne County and 6 miles of Washtenaw County, will have cost more than $45.8 million. More than $39.2 million will have paid for construction costs alone.

The remaining $6.6 million included the cost of preliminary engineering and obtianing right-of-way.

With the completion of the paving of the 5.1 miles between Napier Road and the C&O Railroad and between Sheldon and Schoolcraft Roads in Plymouth Township, the main roadway will have been completed.

Waisting Aweigh: liquid protein diet's not best choice

By NANCY AUSTIN

The American public, being the do-it-yourself group it is, also has decided that they can do it themselves on the liquid protein diet.

They could, should they decide on this method, be on a direct collision course with dire complications and consequences. Since there is more than one method of dieting the liquid protein way, a glimpse at the different ways Americans are handling this diet follows.

THERE ARE MANY obesity clinics within hospitals in the United States.

This is where the diet originated and this is where it has been and is being administered. This is the method which is the safest. The patient is admitted to a hospital as a regular patient, not as an out-patient. He is under the direct supervision in a medical environment, with 24-hour a day care. This is by far the safest method and surest method of losing weight. While complications are not eliminated, the hospital clinic inpatient, is assured of immediate treatment by expert medical specialists.

The first real obvious signs, apart from competent hospital care, of the latest rage on the American landscape were the appearance of wright loss clinics in shopping centers, building complexes and the like. They have sprung up as rapidly as fast-food franchises. They are franchises, and are profit making corporations.

You have seen the ads in your local newspapers. There is probably at least one near you. They all offer you a free consultation visit, which consists of a sales talk, telling you how the diet program works, what is expected of you, what you can expect from it and how much it will cost (Master Charge and BankAmericard acceptable).

Contrary to what some may think, the consultation does not include the physical examination. You receive that after you have agreed to the terms of the contract. Should you be rejected from the program (few are) following the physical, the clinic will offer a refund, but they keep a portion of that fee that you have paid to pay for the physical exam (about $70). The price quoted for the entire program is usually in a range of $250 and up plus the cost of the liquid protein supplement ($12 a quart). A quart lasts about one week.

What the fee does include is the physical examination, daily (or usually at least three times a week) blood and urine tests. These tests enable the technicians to detect any physical problems that arise and also can tell if you are cheating on the diet. In addition, attendance at the behavioral modification clinic is offered. This is where the claim of permanent weight loss is validated. It is through these clinics that an expert in behavioral modification techniques works with you to help identify and change your bad eating habits.

ONCE YOU HAVE attained your desired goal and have been put through the 're-feeding' regimen and the maintenance program, the terms of your contract are up and you are on your own.

This is not a lifelong contract. You may not go back for additional support during a crisis period or if you have re-gained your weight. You must buy another program, or you are on your own from this point on.

Aside from the weight-loss clinics, many people have chosen to buy the supplement and lose weight under the supervision of their own personal physician. Perhaps this is a safe method. At least your physician can detect any unusual problems that may develop, or help you cope with side effects. But unless he helps you to change your eating habits through a program of behavioral modification, or unless you find these methods out yourself and vow to practice them, you stand a 70 per cent chance of regaining everything you have lost.

Finally, there are those who, as mentioned above, are the do-it-yourself group. They will go to a health food store or pharmacy and buy the complete package of necessary ingredients. This includes Dr. Robert Linn's book ("The Last Chance Diet"), the liquid protein supplement which is available under many different brands, and the vitamin and mineral supplements recommended for the diet. This is a very dangerous method, because the lay person is unable to give himself a thorough medical examination, monitor the heart, kidneys, liver, blood pressure, etc. Therefore things may go undetected too late, complications may arise and the results can range from minor disabilities to near fatal circumstances. Under no circumstance should this method be tried without a physician's continuous medical super-

By W.W. EDGAR

When he served as a high school football coach John "Mike"Hoben was noted for his ability to get the most out of his players and adapt them to various systems.

He seldom missed a coachs' clinic where he was brought up to date with the latest information on rules, new defenses and anythin0 new in the way of bettering the offensive weapons of his team.

Now, as superintendent of the Plymouth-Canton-Community Schools, Hoben is applying the same policy to the conduct of the school district and its 1,700 employees.

During the past year he has attended management clinics to keep abreast of the latest systems and policies of school districts around the country.

As a result of the knowledge gained at these clinics Hoben has been able to keep the system on a stable basis despite the problems of increased enrollment and rising costs of supplies and maintenance work.

Because of the things he has learned at these clinics—the most recent one in Chicago—the management system of the schools is being changed from management by objective to management by results.

Under this new system five concepts have been established with the hope of making better use of the personnel:

Concept No. 1 calls for each person in a management position to write a statement outlining how he or she relates to his or her job.

Concept No. 2 calls for the listing of all activities dealing with the person's job and update of the job description.

Concept No. 3 asks for the identification of key results in the area and place them back in No. 2.

Concept No. 4 asks each person in a management position to write a standard of effectivenes.

Concept No. 5 calls for the writing of an objective around the standard of effectiveness that is measurable or obtainable.

Hoben pointed out that these concepts govern the running of his own office. Under the new plan he also believes that there will be an improvement of all the members of the staff and that many time-saving methods will be introduced. He even has changed his own office so he can have better use of his time.

One of Hoben's first moves was to establish a warehouse for the storage of supplies. This brought about a substantial savings. Next he established a central maintenance plan that saved a considerable outlay.

All this has helped and, as Hoben poiints out, the funds have to be carefully monitored because with the extended school year there is need for 14 additional teachers.

"It is much better to employ additional teachers than erecting a new building that may be a burden on our hands in a few more years," he said, emphasizing his philosophy.

It was through a system of austerity during the past year that the school system was able to return two mills to the taxpayers recently.

"The system is big business," Hoben stated, "and with a budget of $26.9 million and 1,700 people on the payroll, one can't be too careful."

Oppose boost for Edison, board urged

The Wayne County Office of Corporation Counsel is seeking permission to oppose a $122 million rate increase sought by the Detroit Edison Company which would raise the electric bills of county residents for the second time this year.

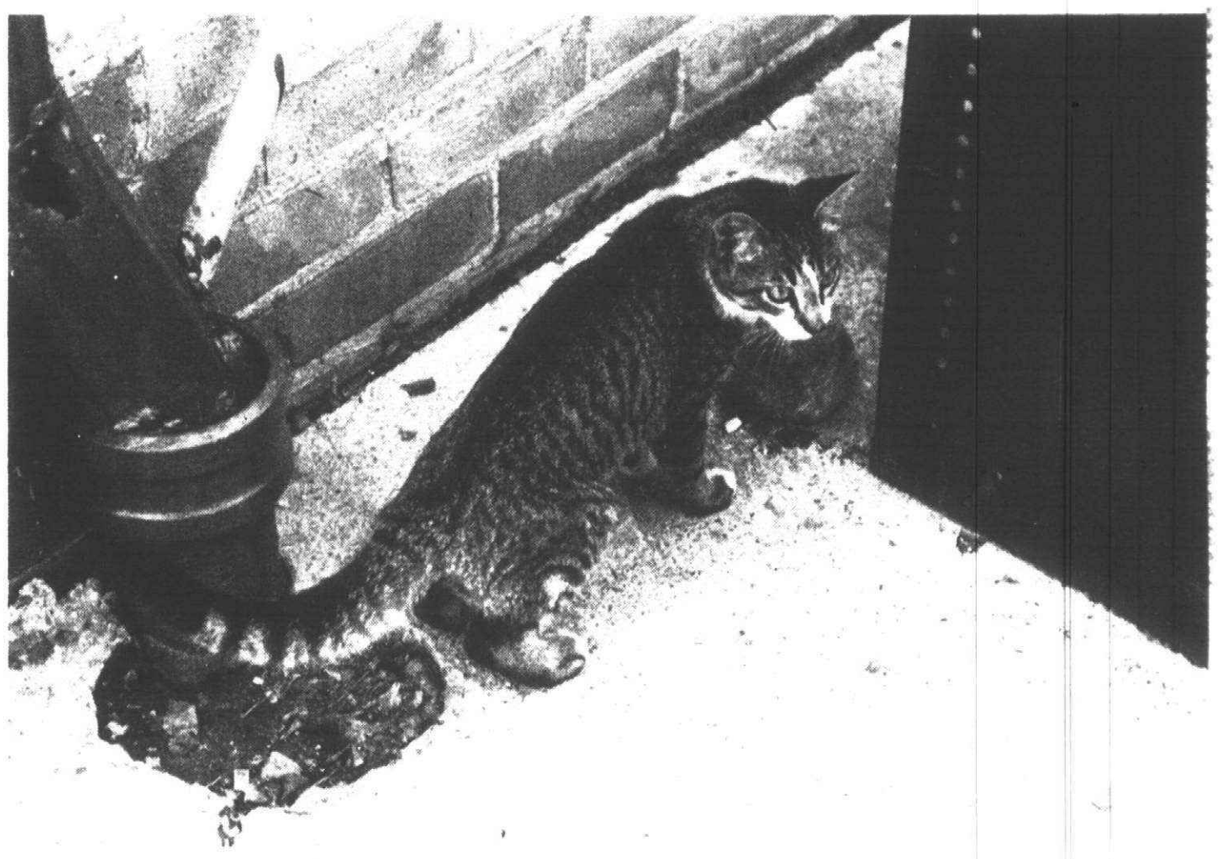

In a letter to the county board of commissioners, the corporation counsel said that Detroit Edison had filed a new application with the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) seeking approximately $122.3 million in annual rate increases.

Teaching plan is not hot air!

Last week two United States balloonists failed in an attempt to reach Europe by hot-air balloon.

Last week two sixth grade classes at Central Middle School were successful in their mass balloon launching which kicked off the W.A.R.M. program in rooms 106 and 107.

W.A.R.M. stands for "We are really meaningful" and team teachers Fred Bersche and Margo Panko explain that an individualized program is used to reach each child in the areas of math, science, social studies and language arts.

"We build the curriculum around the child," said Bersche.

"Our program is 'child-centered,' not subject oriented," said Ms. Panko. "The students have a feeling of being important and belonging which increases their self-concept." They borrowed the "Rocky" theme from Hollywood Thursday in stressing that their students and the balloons would "go the distance" this year.

Sixty-three students meet four periods a day in the W.A.R.M. unit. It will take some time before it is known if the program is accomplishing its objectives but by anybody's standards the students were fired up about releasing the balloons.

The "space message" inside the balloon asks finders of the balloon to fill out a form telling who they are, where they live and how they happened upon the balloon.

A "special prize" is promised to the person living farthest away from the Plymouth-Canton area who responds.

The teachers said they thought the balloon event was an excellent opportunity to combine fun with learning. Talk of air currents, cloud formations and geography was heard among the students.

Pre-flight preparations involve sticking a return address form inside the balloon. Then, team teacher Fred Bersche fills Nancy Gray's stratospheric sphere with helium.

Staff photos by Gary Caskey

No, that isn't Micky Mouse. It's Lori Hoffman holding two giant balloons next to her head with an uplifting attitude.

The tension mounts in the classroom minutes before the launch. A couple kids feign punches, others tie messages to the balloon string. More balloons are being filled with helium.

Keith Lazarcheff and his balloon will "go the distance" in the WARM learning program.

Kevin Bowler looks flabbergasted at all the gas balloons waiting in the wings for the big launch. He's hoping his balloon finds the right breeze to take it farthest.

'Butchers and bakers' want office-condo built

Editor:

In reference to Mrs. Penny Wright's letter printed in the Sept. 5 edition of the Observer: We, the undersigned merchants, who are near the contemplated Jabara Condominium structure, are against Mrs. Wright's protest of the project for the following reasons:

•It is a very costly individual ownership building. Each condominium unit is to have 1,500 square feet and individually owned—not rented.

•The corner of Forest and Wing needs to be improved. Right now it's an eyesore!

•The structure will have an approximate value of $2.5 million, which will greatly add to the tax base of the city and help keep homeowner taxes in line.

•There is a need for a multi-unit building for those who want to live near town and have a low maintenance dewlling.

It is easy to be against something. Mrs. Wright's past record proves this. What is your alternative for this corner?

The merchants of the City of Plymouth have a great investment in this city, and our tax dollars have helped to support the community. Our wishes shouldn't always be ignored just because we may not reside within the city limits.

Plymouth was developed by all its citizens. We are the butchers, bakers and the candlestick makers of Forest Avenue. Plymouth grew with character because those that had faith put their efforts with their money and carved out what we are all proud of.

Why should Jabara tell us what it is we need?

Editor:

In the Sept. 12 issue of the Observer Jim Jabara responded to Penny Wright's letter which was published in the Sept. 5 issue. Mr. Jabara's letter, in my opinion, was little more than childis retaliation and a personal attack on Ms. Wright.

Mr. Jabara accused Ms. Wright of being a "self-appointed spokesperson of the community's desires," and then took it upon himself to tell us what we as a community need and desire. I am a resident of this community, and Mr. Jabara is certainly not qualified to tell me what I "need and desire."

He assumes "that the law is an expression of the desires of the majority of the citizens." This is certainly true—but first, let us make sure that this is the law, not just his interpretation.

Mr. Jabara didn't seem to like the word "footnote" so I will refer to the "amendment" (which happens to be a footnote). This amendment is ambiguous and has been read by different people to mean different restrictions.

Jabara expressed the community's need for a tax base and the ongoing need for city services—true again. But he failed to mention that a structure the size of the one he is proposing will only add to our current costs for refuse disposal, as well as fire and police protection, added traffic, and depreciation of our residential property values in the surrounding area.

I'm not an authority on the subjects of law and physics as Mr. Jabara seems to be, but I do have common sense and this tells me that the kind of heat he is creating is something that we will have to live with for a long time, and we may get "burned" in the process.

If Jabara is sincere in his concern for "the souls risking their limited resources," he will consider the residents who have less to risk, but nonetheless are risking all they have in this community.

9-story building foes' arguments short-sighted

Editor:

It is with great interest that I read the Monday, Sept. 12, issue of the Plymouth Observer, to see what individuals are venting their personal thoughts regarding the suggested advancement of the City of Plymouth. Constant reference is made of the improvements brought about by the foresight and planning of the Jabara Associates who have, in 12 months or more, contributed to the uplifting of Plymouth's merchandising area.

I came to the City of Plymouth in 1936 and since that time I have witnessed quite a few proposed improvements. One of the easiest things to do is to place "thumbs down" on every effort that is proposed to make this city a better place in which to live.

To wit—I recall when the effort was made to have liquor by the glass served in the city. Time and time again this was brought up and placed on the ballot and voted down even though practically every road in and out of the city had its taverns selling liquor. The "do-gooders" set up such a string of falsehoods—there would be much drunkeness,men lolling around the street, lying in the gutters unable to walk, etc.

EVENTUALLY, thinking minds won out and it was voted in. Today you are hard put to find anyone inebriated.

I also think of the opposition put up when the commission entertained the thought of putting flouride in our drinking water. Every dentist was in favor of having it done and today the schools treat the young children with flouride. The opposition brought paid agitators to the commission meetings to shout down the commisssion with their objections.

By good fortune the city had a commission that could see into the future and not gauge conditions by the results of the immediate but by what would exist in future years and at a time the city would be ready for the metamorphosis.

Again, the subject of Main Street was brought up. Many short-sighted members raised the objections, stating it would be too expensive, would be a speedway, and you would never be able to get across the street. Thinking people saw what the future held and the paving went through. Practically the same conditions existed when the commission decided to erect the new city hall. That was built by men with sheer guts and foresight.

We have no room to spread out; consequently we have to go up. Today we need an eight or nine-story building. If the zoning does not permit the building at the corner of Harvey, Wing and Forest, change it to satisfy.

Provisions can be made to handle sewer, water, lights, phones, etc. Where there is a will they will find a way. Rather than spend time trying to pick flaws, why not put our efforts to where they will accomplish a benefit to the population at large?

Dayton-Hudson set to sell 4 stores

By MIKE SCANLON

Dayton-Hudson Corporation officials say revenue from the proposed sale of nine shopping centers—including four of the metropolitan Detroit-area's largest—will be used to finance construction of more shopping centers in western states.

Westland, Northland, Southland, Eastland and Genesee Valley center near Flint, together with four Minnesota shopping centers, are the subjects of continuing negotiations between Dayton-Hudson and the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

No purchase price was available from either Equitable or Dayton-Hudson but local tax records show the four Detroit-area centers alone have an assessed valuation of nearly $150 million, which is half the market value.

State Equalized Valuation (SEV) of Westland Shopping Center is about $10.5 million. The SEV of Northland Shopping Center in Southfield is $22.6 million. The assessed valuation of both centers is half those figures which represent their respective market values.

Dayton-Hudson officials say the sale to Equitable—which already holds the Northland mortgage—will not affect J.L. Hudson Co. stores or certain sections of parking lots adjacent to the stores.

Schools plan workshop

"Goal-based curriculum," the major instructional thrust this year of the Plymouth-Canton community, begins this Wednesday and Thursday with a district-wide community workshop.

Administrators, teachers and citizens are to meet for two full days at Central Middle School to become acquainted with the new teaching approach.

The primary mission of the goal-based approach in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will be to develop comprehensive criteria in 12 major subject areas. Examples of subject areas to be emphasized are language arts, math, and science and environmental education. All 12 content areas stress career application to subject matter.

The workshop has been organized by Dr. Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction. Dr. Homes, who has been with the school district since July, said he has had successful experiences in other districts with the goal-based curriculum approach.

We need today's energy to get us to tomorrow's energy

Our most plentiful energy sources for the future are the sun and the wind. To bring the future closer we are working to make the sun and the wind practical energy sources to one day light, heat, and cool our homes.

The Energy Research and Development Administration has selected us as a finalist for one of four wind-turbine projects to take place around the country. We are monitoring other solar installations around the state, and in the Flint area we are testing a solar heat collector.

While we search for tomorrow's energy needs we must rely on nuclear power today. It's proved itself here in Michigan. On July 5, 1977 the Big Rock Point Plant set a world operating record by generating electricity for 326 consecutive days. In 1976, the Palisades Plant generated 2.8 billion kilowatt hours of energy.

I'm excited thinking about what tomorrow's energy sources might be. But, I'm very grateful for what nuclear energy is providing us right now.

There's still time to join the Big Leagues.

It's still not too late to get in on the fun of league bowling. And because we're talking about mixed, men's, women's (evening and daytime with free nursery service), and Saturday youth leagues, we're talking about you, you and your spouse, or your entire team.

We still have several choice openings, for example, during the week for individuals, couples and teams.

Magnificent cocktail lounge and restaurant, free nursery and plenty of free parking.

So, gather up your friends, Call us and join the fun - bowling in the Big League of your choice.

Off the Walls —by Nancy Walls Smith

No talcum trails for child no. 2

Finally, Baby can walk. We're all so thrilled about it. (Excuse me, I have to go put the lamp back on the table.)

As I was saying, it's quite a wonderful thing (I wish he'd quit pushing the typewriter keys $&((;??lrggt&) and it's a day that we've been awaiting for months. (Sounds like someone is getting towels out of the linen closet.)

Even though this is a major achievement for Baby Jimmy, being the second-born he hasn't received quite as much fanfare for his troubles as his older Jason did. By the time the second offspring makes his appearance in the family circle, the raging idealism of motherhood has usually dwindled down to basic survival.

Firstborns can usually be distinquished by the clouds of talcum that follow in their wakes and the slipperiness of their little bodies from the multitude of good-smelling lotions that Mommy applies several times a day.

The second-born is lucky if he gets his diapers changed, let alone be perfumed. Mommy's Johnson and Johnson obsession usually fades considerably.

A few other fads have somehow gone out of style by the time No. 2 son or daughter joins the family. Little things like sterilizing everything that touches baby's precious lips somehow seem passe by now. (I never could figure out how to sterilize a teddy bear anyway.) And Gerber's usually takes over at mealtime in place of the homemade squishy delicacies that Mommy used to spend hours preparing.

I remember in the olden days (about three years ago) when I was young and vital (before children), I would expound forth with my philosophies on child rearing—especially pertaining to letting children set their own sleeping schedules.

I was of the opinion that no child should be forced to go to bed. "The little tykes will go to bed when they're sleepy," I would say. It's embarrassing to admit to having made such an ignorant remark, but I was naive and knew no better.

Now that I know the truth—children are sent to bed when their parents are tired—I can see the wisdom behind this ancient custom. Either they go to bed or we go insane.

I sometimes get the distinct feeling my boys are teaching me more about life than I'm teaching them. They set the priorities around here. I'm just the referee. They seem to prefer a messy house and I'm slowly becoming inclined to agree with them. (It's easier that way.)

SO WHAT IF we have a few pots and pans laying around on the floor along with cookie crumbs, dirty socks, mutilated magazines and a zillion toys. I'm not expecting royalty to visit and if the Queen happens to show up I'll just tell her to watch her step.

As I was saying, Jimmy's walking now and I'd better draw this epic to a close. I think I just heard him put something that sounded very big into the toilet. I'm pretty certain it doesn't belong there. Sigh

In The Pocket

Although she has been named Bowling Queen four times in the metropolitan Detroit area and was honored with the captaincy of the All-City team last season, Mary Mohacsi is off to the best start of her bowling career.

She has been pacing leagues since the season opened and last Wednesday reached her peak when she linked games of 246, 213 and 248 for a 707 in the Ladies Major League at Crown Lanes.

For the past several seasons, the 700 barrier has been broken by only one or two women each year. Now, Mary is assured of a place at the top and also will be certain to reach a high position on thr national honor roll.

While rolling her big series, Mary was crossing lanes with Marion Saunders. They put up quite a battle, but Marion bogged down near the finish and had to be satisfied with a 642.

Mary's count also helped her Goebel team to post a 2925, a high mark for the season thus far.

THE 700 BARRIER was broken for the second time during the week when Al Michnick, bowling in the Fisher Body League at Wonderland Lanes posted a 711 series on games of 259, 244 and 208.

Meanwhile, Jerry Hay showed the way in the Wonderland Classic with a 684 that included a middle game of 266.

His closest rival was John Trotter, who closed with a 232 for 668.

ONE OF THE FINEST performances of the season was the work of Al Crawford, an 81-year-old, who posted a 565 in the senior citizens league at Garden Lanes. He opened with a 204, came back with a 194 and closed with 197.

IN THE LADIES CLASSIC, Mary Koss was the leader with a 615 and Nacy Bartlett was right behind her with a 595.

THERE WAS a battle royal at Westland Bowl for top honors in the ladies classic and Joanne Nanke finally finished in front with the second 600 series of her career. Included in her winning count was a 224 game.

Among the other finishers Pat Mills had a 224 in 587; Louise Taylor a 200 in 580 and Shirley Gray with a 224 in 578.

There was another close finish in the Wednesday morning league where Bonnie Murray posted a 598 to beat Annette Rudd by four pins.

IN THE MEN'S LEAGUE at Plaza Lanes, Joe Barbee showed the way with a 635 gained on games of 234, 220 and 181. In the Pin Busters circuit, Tony Collins opened with a 267 and added counts of 184 and 221 for 672 to earn the pacemakers role.

GAIL GRIWICKI, who was a candidate for the U.S. team in the international tournament, took over the lead in the ladies classic at the Super Bowl as she linked games of 207, 200 and 226.

Haze Wilson, Community Relations Manager, Livonia, offers you this telephone tip:

"How can you tell if the person at your door is really a Michigan Bell Employee?"

As you may have noticed, our employees do not wear uniforms. They dress in the way they think is most appropriate to get their jobs done. While this permits them to look like the individuals they are, it really doesn't help you identify them as Bell employees. But, there is a way. Every Michigan Bell employee is required to carry a Michigan Bell identification card giving his or her name, photograph, and signature. For your protection, be sure to see this card before you admit them into your home. They'll be happy to show it to you.

MISCELLANEOUS

Summer ends and fall begins at 11:30 p.m. Thursday, marked by the autumnal equinox, when the sun, on its apparent yearly trek, crosses the equator on its way south. Sol actually is above the horizon for 12 hours and is visible for 11 minutes longer, if it doesn't rain.

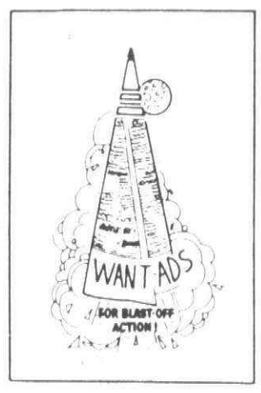

Look for a harvest moon to enter penumbral eclipse Sept. 27. Full moon is dimmed slightly when earth, once again, gets in way of sun and casts partial shadow on moon. The celestial orb will reach penumbra at 2:19 a.m., peak about 4:30 a.m. and then return to normal until 6:41 a.m.

SOON

"Hats Off to Oklahoma," barbershop harmony production at 8:15 p.m. Nov. 11, 12, 18, 19 in Our Lady of Mercy High School auditorium, Eleven Mile at Middlebelt, Farmington Hills. For tickets and information, 398-2629.

Marine artist James Clary exhibits here

The marine paintings and collector prints of James Clary will be exhibited, along with scrimshaw and marine artifacts at The Art Gallery Inc., 459 S. Main, Plymouth, through Sept. 30. A champagne open house held yesterday launched the show.

On Sunday, Sept. 25, Clary will unveil his pen and ink drawing of "The Mayflower" (symbolic of Plymouth) which was especially commissioned for this show. Clary has contributed 100 prints of this piece, the proceeds of which will be donated to Growth Works, a community youth service organization.

Michigan's highly respected marine artist has created two fascinating marine historical collections. These limited editions, signed and numbered fine art prints are created with ardent affection and respect for the sea, for its ships and those who sailed them.

The Great Lakes series is based on those vessels whose legends have created the remarkable history of the Great Lakes.

When the Plate VII, Great Lakes History in Art original painting, "Commodore Perry Breaks the British Line" was delivered to the Baldwin Wallace College of the Arts, in Berea, Ohio, it seemed as though the artist was leaving an old friend behind, and tears came to his eyes.

The Feared Lost series portrays the compelling mysteries of the sea through imaginative paintings. A historical sketch is available with each piece, including the special release, "The Edmund Fitzgerald."

A third series, entitled, "Classics of the Sea," is in progress and will include famous clippers, battles, racing events and other major historical classics.

ABOUT FOUR YEARS ago when Jim Clary realized that a major event involving the Tall Ships would take place for the Bicentennial, he started sending requests for passage on the United States Coast Guard Training Barque, Eagle. He knew that to be aboard during Operation Sail, was probably a far-fetched dream and that any voyage, in any year would be absolute enrapture.

Plans for OPS Sail were being finalized, and Jim was beginning to figure that his chance of sailing on the Eagle was truly just a dream. Then it happened. A large brown envelope embossed with the Coast Guard seal was received.

"Even before I opened it, I knew what it was and screamed for joy." Sure enough, Jim was invited for a week's voyage from Alexandria, Va. to New London, Conn.

The voyage began on Memorial Day, and that in itself was an experience never-to-be-forgotten. "In the early morning fog we sailed down the Potomoc to Mount Vernon. The ship's bell was tolled every four seconds while the Navy Sea Chanters sang, "Eternal Father" an episode he relates, "that will guarantee a goodly-sized lump in yur throat." Afeter disembarking the many visitors, sail was set for New London.

"We encountered every possible type of weather during the voyage," Jim stated. "There was 90-degree heat, fog, good fresh winds for grea' sailing, two spectacular storms, anc heavy seas."

HAVING THE RUN of the ship, Jim photographed a complete essay of the voyage. In an attempt to capture the lads silhouetted against the lightening shrouded skies during the worst storm, his camera became drenched. And so he was given permission to assist steering the vessel, on one of the ship's wheels.

Jim is planning to paint the Eagle, but admits, "the real dream was to be aboard her and be able to pass down to my children's children the thrill of sailing in 1976 as in the days of old."

Clary developed his interest in nautical lore during childhood years spent along the Detroit and St. Clair rivers. Relying on extensive reading, research and experience, he brings to his work the most accurate possible interpretation of each ship. His dedication to detail and accuracy has earned Jim Clary renown among collectors and historical institutions throughout the country.

James Clary's marine paintings and collector prints are on display in The Art Gallery Inc. until Sept. 30.

Michigan's service top-rated

The Michigan Office of Services to the Blind ranked first among 29 states surveyed in the percentage of handicapped persons employed by blind agencies, a recent U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) report revealed.

According to the report on "Handicapped and Older Persons Employed in State Vocational Rehabilitation Agencies Fiscal Year 1976," 33.7 per cent of the Michigan blind services personnel were handicapped.

Idaho was second with 32.1 per cent handicapped employed. Iowa was third with 28.3 per cent while the average was set at 18.1 per cent. New York had the lowest proportion of 4.1 handicapped.

The name of the game is reading skills

"It was really neat," said one of the game inventors on the way back to Pioneer Middle School. "I shared my brain and my ideas."

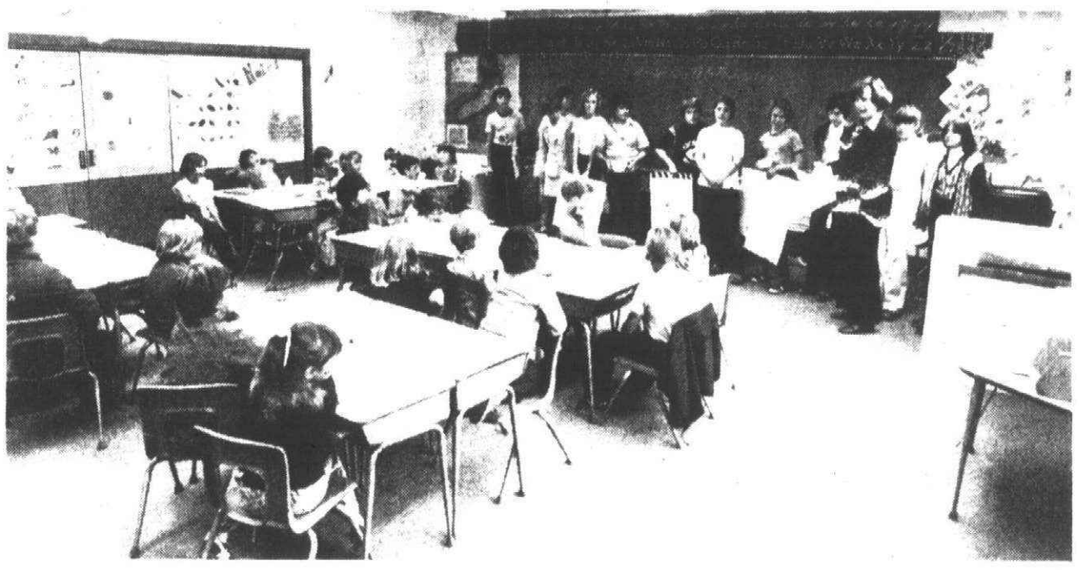

Fourteen members of the reading skills elective class at Pioneer had spent 45 minutes with a third grade class at Isbister Elementary School.

The seventh graders had invented games which would improve reading skills. They took them over to Isbister to try them out and left them there—a gift to all the third graders in the school.

Marlyn Finch teaches the reading skills class which is an elective. Her students showed a great deal of imagination in planning their games. The fact that the third graders thought they were fun and interesting was a rewarding experience.

Seventh grader Laurie Prudham passes out pieces to third graders Martha Suddendorf, (from left) Kelly Kushida and Heidi Cooper.

Mrs. Finch and her seventh graders arrive at Isbister Elementary School with their reading skill games.

THERE WAS a football game which resembled "Go Fish."

Purpose of the game was to teach the use of "blends." The cards had been cut out to resemble footballs with sets of four of each blend—bl, sl, sp, tr, etc.—handprinted on the them.

Besides trying to collect books of four of the same kind, the students had to think of words beginning with the blend.

One seventh grader had a Roman numeral game. A cube—like a die—had Roman numerals on each surface. It was a dice game where they rolled the dice and then moved their "men" on a board the number of squares designated.

But they had to be able to read the Roman numeral before they could make the move.

A SPELLING game used a calendar.

The number of spaces (or days) the player could move depended on the difficulty of the word they spelled. There were "sweet days" with no homework and some with requests to say words beginning with a given letter or other problems.

Another game which tested spelling skills was a trip to Mars—aboard a spaceship.

Small racecars were used in a noun-verb game. Each card had two words—a noun and a verb. One word was underlined and player had to judge whether it was a noun or a verb. They moved their cars according to the correct answers.

WHILE THEY WERE at Isbister, each of the young inventors had time to introduce his game to two groups of third graders.

When they left, the youngsters were still playing.

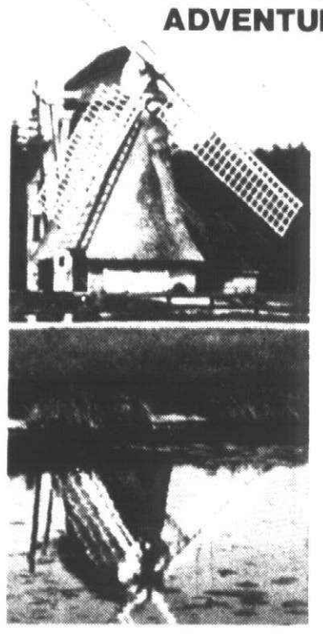

Those who made up the games were Star Freeman, Patty Johnson, Trina Stevenson, Randy Woodring, Mary Schorkey, Tom Ford, Frank Portell, Jeff Welling, Laurie Prudham, Karl Weheheim, Fred Bauer, Mike Smith, Cheryl Smith and Andrea Wakeham.

Fred Bauer explains his "To Reach Mars" game to third grader Catherine Barlage. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Hewlett leads way

Rocks rip AP, 35-14

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

If Plymouth Salem's junior quarterback Rich Hewlett has an injury, he sure didn't show it last Friday night against Allen Park.

Hewlett's return to the line up, after missing last week's opener with Livonia Franklin because of a a concussion, was the perfect ingredient for the Rocks' wishbone offense as they rolled over Allen Park 35-14.

The home and Suburban Eight League opening triumph raised Salem's undefeated record to 2-0. Allen Park saw its mark drop to 1-1 after its surprising opening win over Westland John Glenn.

Hewlett played only 2½ quarters in leading the Rocks to the easy win. But in this short time he was an awesome element to an awesome Rock attack.

Personally, Hewlett rushed for 89 yards in nine carries, including a 47-yard burst that set up the Rocks first score. He also threw one touchdown pass, his only completion in two attempts, which covered 36 yards.

But more importantly, he guided Salem's attack with expertise one doesn't normally find in a junior. He read Allen Park's defense perfectly, helping running backs Chris Ritchey and Doug Rowe gain 124 yards and 40 yards respectively. Ritchey scored two touchdowns.

The third member of the Salem wishbone, co-captain Doug Agnew, cannot be overlooked either, as he teamed with the interior line to spring

Fumbling Chiefs bow to Annapolis

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Somebody forgot to put glue on the hands of the Plymouth Canton running backs.

And somebody also forgot to tell the Chief quarterbacks to pitch the football to a teammate in a red jersey, and not to an opponent wearing a dark blue shirt.

What was the result of these two lapses of memory, you may ask?

Simple. Eleven, count them 11 fumbles, nine of which were lost. Add one intercepted pass, and that totals 10 turnovers.

Now you know the reason why the Chiefs bumbled and fumbled their way to an 18-6 loss at the hands of Dearborn Heights Annapolis in non-league action Friday afternoon at the Cougars field.

The setback dropped Canton to an overall mark of 0-2 after the first two weeks of the early season. And with

Anderson cops O&E title

By DOUG FUNKE

Meg Park, a teacher who resides in Redford, held off a challenge from Andrea Hodel of Bloomfield Township last week, to successfully defend the Championship Flight title in the women's portion of the Observer & Eccentric Open Golf Tournament.

Park, who carded a 39 on the front nine at Whispering Willows Golf Course in Livonia, needed a par on the 340-yard par 4 17th hole to edge Hodel by one stroke.

Putting problems hampered Park on the back nine, where she recorded a 44 for a total of 83. Hodel, after touring the front nine in 43 strokes, settled down and negotiated the back side in 41 to finish with 84.

Hodel last year was the Flight 1 champion.

Cathy Andersen, a 16-year-old Plymouth resident and a junior at Canton High School, nipped Cathleen Merritt, from Canton, 95-96, for the Flight 1 championship.

Sandy Raymond, from Livonia, bettered runner-up Carole Corredino, from Westland, by eight shots to reign as queen of Flight 2 competitors. Raymond totalled 107, Corredino, 115.

"My putting deserted me and saved me, alternately," said Park. "I three-putted four greens on the back nine and one-putted four greens on the front nine. I chipped and putted well on the front."

Hodel said she had trouble with her putting because she spent too much time in the practice area before the competition. "The practice green was much slower than the regular greens," said Hodel in explanation of her slow start.

Park said she was aware that Hodel, a playing partner, was steadily gaining ground on the back nine. "It's not me to play the course and forget about your opponents," said Park.

After Hodel eventually caught up, Park dropped a four foot putt into the left side of the cup on 17 to regain the lead for keeps. Hodel bogeyed 17, and both matched scores on the final hole.

Andersen, who has been a serious golfer only two years, said that pressing too hard in the early-goings hampered her score.

"I tried too hard at the beginning and that didn't help much," she said. "I got messed up and tried even harder."

After having trouble on the greens on the front nine, like many of her counterparts, Andersen said she hit her drives longer and her chips better so that putting wasn't much of a factor.

Raymond said she also pressed initially, but changed her thinking as she warmed up. "I got tired and said 'to heck with it,'" she laughingly said. "I kind of relaxed after a while."

Following are complete results of the Observer & Eccentric women's golf tournament, contested Sept. 15 at Whispering Willows in Livonia.

Rocks edged by RU

By ANDY MELIN

The Plymouth Salem girls varsity basketball team lost a heartbreaker to an improved Redford Union Panther squad 54-50 Thursday night at Salem.

The contest featured numerous fouls and turnovers committed by both teams.

Salem had a hard time executing its offense in the first half, as its sloppy play included many bad passes. Redford Union led the Rocks 24-20 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Redford took advantage of Salem defensive breakdowns, utilizing a fine fastbreak to take a five-point lead into the final quarter.

In the fourth period, Salem made a couple of good charges at the Panther lead, but bad shot selections hampered its attempt to overtake the Suburban Eight League rivals.

Rock senior captain Kathy Dillon led all scorers in the game with 18 points. Dillon was mainly responsible for keeping the Rocks in the ball game until she fouled out with 24 seconds left.

The Panthers outrebounded Salem, now 1-1 on the year, and made many key free throws in the late stages of the game when the Rocks got into foul trouble.

"They beat us on the free throw line," said Salem coach Debbie Hatcher. "Our aggressive defense caused us to over-foul."

Mary Dickey helped Salem's efforts with 12 points. Debbie Pitera and Doris Hoelscher added nine and eight points respectively.

The Rocks host Dearborn Edsel Ford tomorrow night (Tuesday).

Frey & Froozan win

Mary Kay Frey and Sandy Froozen won the Canton Township Women's Golf League Championship Match over Bev Green and Olga Fitzpatrick last week. Frey and Froozan took all three points to cop the title.

Frey shot an actual 50 (net 35 with handicap) to defeat Green's score of 51 actual, 37 net.

Froozan shot a 56 (net 34) to beat Fitzpatrick's 62 (net 40).

Both teams won respective league titles in each of the nine-weeks league competitions.

In men's play, Bruce Watt and Bruce Karen continue to set the pace in the second nine-week Canton league, staying in first place after splitting their match with Gordon Lapierre and Joe Argonis last week.

The second-place team of Paul Oberhelman and Lynn Tetsworth could manage only one point from Dennis Stuebben and Fritz Gerth. Ron Cundiff and Joe Hulack recorded only one and one-half points in their match against Merph Eminger and Charlie Sheets, but gained a tie for second place with Oberhelman and Tetsworth.

MEN'S RESULTS

1) Karen & Watt, 24½; 2) Cundiff & Wolford, 22½; 3) Tetsworth & Oberhelman, 22½; 4) Lapierre & Argonis, 20; 5) Ryan & White, 19½; 6) Valenti & Kraft, 18; 7) Matson & Melling, 17; 8) Stuebben & Gerth, 16½; 9) Eminger & Sheets, 16½; 10) Koers & Koers, 15½; 11) Grahn & Blumenshine, 14½; 12) Wallace & Horrey, 13½; 13) Canning & Young, 12½; 14) Legg & Spinella, 12½; 15) Patalidis & Seewald, 10½; 16) Wilson & Slade, 10; 17) Carrigan & Mattingly, 10; 18) Zelek & Mooney, 8½; 19) Mogelnicki & Riggs, 7½; 20) Hoffman & Rehberg, 6½.

Swim club needs tankers

The newly-formed Plymouth-Canton community swim club is in need of participants for this season.

Any boys and girls, ages 8 years and under, 9-10, 11-12, and 13-14, who live in the school district, are eligible to compete in these different brackets.

The season continues until Dec. 12.

Registration takes place at the continuing education office at Plymouth Canton High School. Fees are $35 for the first child in a family, $25 for the second, and $15 for the third.

Plymouth will compete against teams from Ypsilanti, Westland John Glenn, Belleville, Milan and Willow Run during the season. For more information call the Continuing Education office at 459-1180.

OPEN SWIMMING is now available for all school district members. Open swimming at Central Middle School takes place on Monday and Wednesday nights, 7:30-9 p.m. Students pay 50 cents and adults pay 75 cents.

Canton trounces Franklin

By ANDY MELIN

Continuing its winning ways, the Plymouth Canton girls basketball squad toppled Livonia Franklin 59-25 in non-league action Thursday night at the Patriots' gym.

Canton's strong rebounding and 16 defensive steals were the keys to victory—the Chiefs second of the season against no defeats.

Canton controlled the game from the outset, shooting a very respectable 44 per cent from the floor.

Kelly Heaton and Laura Butler, both juniors, shared the Chiefs' scoring honors with 10 points each. Jill Pederson, a sophomore, also had a good night, scoring seven points and adding five steals.

The Chiefs used a three-quarter court zone press that was very effective in the third period as the Patriots were held to only two points in that eight-minute span.

Canton coach Mike McCauley said the Chiefs played good defense throughout the entire game and showed good hustle.

Canton's junior varsity also won its second game 49-23.

The Chiefs take on yet another non-league opponent tomorrow night (Tuesday) when they travel to Thurston to battle the Eagles.

Rocks' offense rolls, 35-14

open massive holes in the Allen Park defense with powerful blocking.

In total, the Rocks gained 331 yards on the ground.

"WE DID a decent job offensively for the second game," said Moshimer. "If we get better each week we will be in the thick of it (the Sub-8 race).

"There were some bright stops but we've still got a long way to go."

The Rocks jumped into a quick 7-0 first quarter lead and extended the margin to 21-8 at halftime.

The Jaguars came within seven points on an early touchdown in the third quarter, but the Rocks tallied two more scores on their next two possessions to put the game on ice.

All the Rocks played in the contest, with the second and third-teamers playing the majority of the fourth quarter.

SALEM TRAVELED 74 yards in only five plays for its first score when Doug Rowe busted over right tackle for four yards to paydirt. Dave Basierbe converted on his first of three extra point kicks to make it 7-0 at the 2:39 mark.

Hewlett made the score 14-0 early in the second quarter on a nine-yard option run.

The Rocks showed the fans a little razzle-dazzle in their conservative offense on the third touchdown. On a fourth down and five-yard situation, the Rocks ran a tight end reverse with an option as Mike Genrich pitched to Ritchey, who breezed down the right sidelines to give Salem a 21-0 lead.

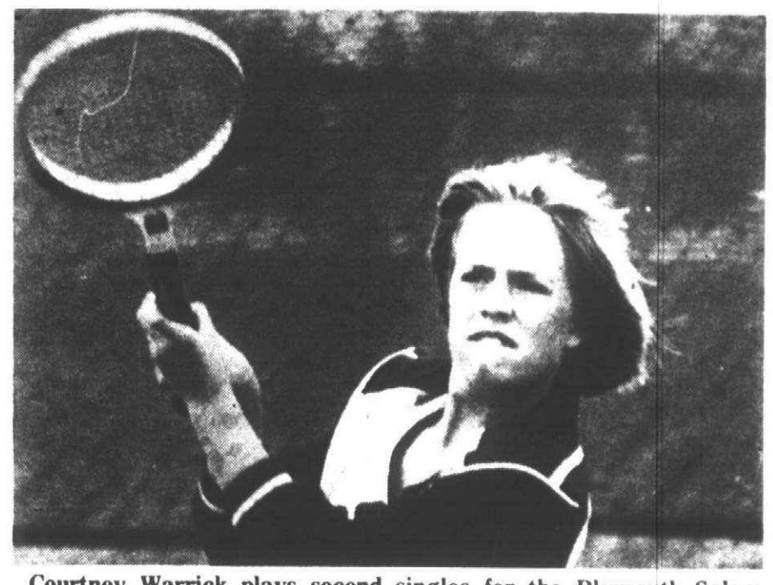

Allen Park finally scored late in the second quarter when Gene Vacca threw an 18-yard strike to Jim Doyle for six points.

The Jaguars capitalized on a Salem fumble on the first play of the second half, and Vacca hit Doyle on the next play, this time for 11 yards to tighten the score to 21-14.

But the Rocks wasted no time in getting back their two touchdown margin when Ritchey broke open a 66-yard run to make the score 27-14.

Salem's final score saw Hewlett hit split end Curt Lewis on a 36-yard bootleg pass late in the third quarter. After a fumbled snap from center on the extra point kick, holder Paul Dillon showed his alertness by hitting Rowe in the endzone for the Rocks final two points.

Allen Park quarterback Gene Vacca had an impressive night, completing 12-21 passes for 154 yards and two touchdowns.

Salem netters topple West. John Glenn, 5-2

The Plymouth Salem girls tennis team won its second-straight match of the fall season with a 5-2 non-league victory over Westland John Glenn Wednesday afternoon.

The Rocks other non-leaguer against Redford Thurston on Thursday was canceled because of rain.

Salem opens its Suburban Eight League today against Livonia Bentley and then faces rival Trenton on Wednesday.

Becky Crespo, Kathy Horton and Besty Moon were the Rock singles winners in the Glenn match. Horton's match was another 6-0, 6-0 shellacking—the second straight time the Rock sophomore has shut out an opponent.

Wendy Webb and Kathy Weber, along with Renee Braun and Lori Smith, were the Rocks' doubles winners in the match.

The Salem junior varsity beat Glenn 5-3. Kathy Somers and Kathie Koosaia were the singles winners. Meg McGee and Vickie Sterling, Ellen Kerney and Cindy Snyder, and Sue Suddendorf and Cindy Karmichael were the three doubles victors.

Fumble-itis plagues Chiefs

the likes of Livonia Churchill, Waterford Mott and Farmington Harrison scheduled for the next three weeks of Western Six League action, it may be a while until the Chiefs put one in the win column—especially after the exhibition they gave against the Cougars.

ANNAPOLIS, last year's champion of the lowly Metro West League, which includes subpar competition from Woodhaven, Clarenceville and Oak Park, took advantage of three of Canton's 10 turnovers to put all its points on the board enroute to its second victory of the year.

With the score tied 6-6 at halftime, Annapolis scored the deciding touchdowns in the third quarter after two Canton fumbles.

Canton had the ball six different times in the second half, but saw its wishbone option offense stopped because of six different turnovers.

"That's the problem with the damn bone," said a discouraged Canton coach Dave Schuele. "We threw the ball on the ground too much. We just can't do that.

"They (Annapolis) gave us the option all night up front, but we had not one but two quarterbacks who couldn't pitch."

Canton moved into Annapolis territory upon receiving the ball after the second half kickoff, but quickly turned over the ball.

The Cougars recovered the Chiefs' fifth fumble of the game on their own 43-yard line and drove in for the eventual winning score 12 plays later. The scoring play was a four-yard wingback reverse run by Greg Salata which made the score 12-6.

The Chiefs fumbled away the ensuing kickoff, and the Cougars captalized two plays later with a 46-yard TD strike from Tony Marijanovick to Salata for the game's final score.

CANTON FUMBLED four times in the first half, but three fine defensive stands by the Chiefs kept the game tied at 6-6 after two quarters.

Canton penetrated to Annapolis' 28-yard line on its first possession of the game before the Cougars picked up the game's first fumbled pitch and ran the ball back to the Chiefs' 29-yard line.

Two plays later, fullback Paul Kroteau burst through Canton's line for a 24-yard run to give the Cougars a 6-0 lead.

Chief linkers lose again

The Plymouth Canton golf team dropped its fourth straight match of the season when it fell to Waterford Mott on the Chiefs' home course, Brae Burn, 210-209.

It was a heartbreaking defeat for the Chiefs as they played their second-straight match in the rain of Thursday afternoon.

Scott McGlone was undaunted by the driving rain, leading the Chiefs with a 39 for the nine holes. Dave Visser shot 40, while Rich Ling and John Matthews both fired 42.

Golfers suffer tough loss

By BETTY DeLANO

The best score the Plymouth Salem boys varsity golf team has shot in four years could not get the Rocks a victory as Westland John Glenn won 146-151 Thursday afternoon.

The nine hole round was played at Brae Burn golf course, which is the Rocks' home course. Salem senior Jim Ross earned the honor as medalist. The honor was well earned as the Salem golfer shot an even par of 35 on the front side.

Other exceptional scores for the Rocks came from junior Doug Halloway who shot a 38 and from seniors Ted Kuhns and Jim VanBoven who both shot 39s.

Glenns' scores included a pair of 36s from Gary Whited and Dave Firavich and a pair of 37s from Dan Bateman and Derik Williams. Glenns' final score of 146 is a new school record for the Rockets.

Bob Waters, the Rock coach said that he was very pleased with his team's performance and said if they can shoot like that they aren't going to lose many matches.

"John Glenn shot an incredible 146, and if we are going to get beat, I'm glad it was by a team that set a school record in the process," Waters said.

Ross was able to get a birdie on the par 3, 145-yard second hole and then came out with a bogie on the fifth par 4 for his par round. Captain Kuhns also earned a birdie during his round but it was on the eighth hole, a par 3 at 175 yards.

"The entire team played very well. Five of the six who played broke 40 and the other shot an even 40. If we play like that at every match, I don't know what to do next," said Waters. The Rocks averaged 37½ strokes per man Wednesday and are more than ready for their match Monday afternoon against Allen Park. The match will begin at 3 p.m. at Brae Burn.

Area cross country runners lose openers

The Plymouth Salem cross country team has begun its season. The Rocks lost in their season opener to Thurston 23-32 at Cass Benton last Thursday afternoon, in the rain.

First place went to Brian Hess of Thurston with a time of 16:50 on the three mile course. Second place saw Curt Reynolds of Thurston run a time of 16:51.

Salem's Paul Hess took third at 17:10 and Rock Tom Rubadue, a senior, took fourth with a time of 17:12. Fifth went to Thurston's Bruce Hess at 17:13, and sixth to Salem junior Jeff Econom who ran a time of 17:55. Seventh went to Thurston's Jon Blakely at 17:59 and Tim Roughly went with a time of 18:14 for eighth.

A time of 18:20 for Salem's senior Bob Stiffler took ninth, and Dave Trusdall placed 10th with a time of 18:33.

PLYMOUTH CANTON

The Plymouth Canton cross country team lost its first match of the season to the Bentley Bulldogs, 15-45, on the rain-drenched Cass Benton hills Thursday afternoon.

Nothing went right for the Chiefs as co-captain Dan McGlinn fell down three times during the race to finish 12th.

Canton's other co-captain Dennis Hennells was the first Chief runner to cross the finish line with an overall sixth place mark.

The VIEW from 461 SOUTH MAIN

THOSE WHO MISSED out on the apple and pumpkin pies, the homemade cookies and the fresh doughnuts served by the members of the Plymouth Grange during the fall festival, take heart.

They will be baking up a storm again. Those who call in their orders by this coming Sunday, Oct. 25, can pick up pies, and cookies Oct. 1. They will be at the Grange Hall on Union Street between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. that Saturday. The doughnuts do not have to ordered ahead of time. They will be cooked at the Grange Hall as ordered.

For many persons, the annual pie and cookie sale is an opportunity to stock up their freezers. The Grangers have one regular customer who orders 20 dozen pies.

"Her children are away at school and she sends pies to them. They are special gifts for friends and neighbors," explained Louise Tritten, a member of the Grange.

by ELLIE GRAHAM

The ladies peeled five bushels of McIntosh apples for the pies sold during the festival. Many people said they were the best yet.

"I don't know why," said Helen Eckles. "It must have been the apples. They were freshly picked. I made the pies the same way I always do."

The apple and pumpkin pies are $3 each. The oatmeal chocolate chip, molasses, and sugar cookies are priced at $1.80 a dozen.

Those wishing to place orders can call Mrs. Tritten, 453-6387, or Mrs. Eckles, 459-2274.

FIVE MEMBERS of the Apple Run Garden Club attended the 24th International Tea sponsored by the Michigan Division, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

Sharon Palise, Karen Bober, Sandi Reid, Cheryl Wachlarz and Bobbie Plopan went to "The Acorns," the estate of John and Gladys Nagel in Metamora.

"It is breath-taking," said Mrs. Plopan. "Their Swedish chalet is situated on 160 acres of rolling hills amid apple orchards, towering elm, oak, maple, and blue spruce trees, and flowering gardens.

"We began the day with cordial greetings and handshakes in the receiving line of past and present officers of association. Then we were served coffee, tea, finger sandwiches, and a large variety of delicious tarts and cookies."

As they munched, they met members of garden clubs from all over the state.

"Later, we began our tour of this lavish home. Built in 1931, it is rustic, elegant and historic. The front doors are three-inch thick knotty pine with hand-carved wood and leaded glass openings.

"Each room had a view overlooking the formal gardens which would be lovely in any season. The staircases had hewn log steps and birch handrails. The floors were white oak with walnut pegs.

"THERE WERE hand-carved wooden tulips below each window. We discovered the tulip is Sweden's national flower. Each of the 17 rooms had unique features. There were stenciled red or blue floors, gold and silver leaf wall borders handpainted by a New York artist, closet doors painted by the same artistwalk-in fireplaces which could accommodate five-foot logs, etc. etc. etc.

"The home was warm and magnificent. All the antiques were imported from various parts of Europe."

The tea was a benefit for the 4-H Youth Exchange Program. There was an extensive 4-H craft exhibit on one of the screened porches.

The visitors saw dog obedience demonstartions on the grounds.

"And there were Black Angus cattle," said Mrs. Plopan.

"Truly a delightful and memorable day," was her assessment.

BILL HENRY of Growth Works reports that their fall festival games books yet.

"It should be even better next year," said Bill. "We built all the games this year and we won't have that expense again."

The young people at the youth center constructed the ring toss, bean bag, and fish pond games. Gina Carrington did all the art work on them.

"Everybody got some kind of a prize," Bill added. "There were no losers."

"THE PLYMOUTH THEATRE Guild has heart as well as talent," writes a worker at the Northville Residential Training Center.

"When 24 residents of the center attended the Plymouth Fall Festival, the Theatre Guild saw to it that they were provided with popcorn to munch on while they listened to the music from the bandstand.

"Later on the kids walked around taking in the array of crafts and events. I would like to thank the guild for their generous act and let them know they made our off-campus successful and our kids are delighted.

Pat Hann honored by officials, friends

Plymouth paid tribute Thursday night to Pat Hann, a petite lady who is deceptively mightier than she looks.

City officials, the business community, neighbors and friends surprised Mrs. Hann with a special dinner party in the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

"I couldn't imagine anything like that," she said. "I couldn't sleep a wink all night after the party, just thinking about it."

She went on to say that she felt undeserving. "There were so many others involved. I didn't do that much."

She was referring to the reclamation—or renovation—of the Old Village section of the City of Plymouth. It was Pat Hann's enthusiasm and hard work that spearheaded the miracle of converting Lower Town to the shining, vibrant image Old Village has today.

Plymouth Mayor Joseph Bida presented a testimonail certificate to Mrs. Hann. City Manager Fred Yockey extended his thanks and best wishes along with a red brick award. This was in recognition of the latest Old Village improvement, the red brick alleyways which are only the beginning of a beautification project behind the shops on the block bounded by Liberty, Mill, Starkweather and Spring streets.

Plymouth City Commissioner Mary Childs was one of the guest speakers.

Mrs. Childs recalled the first telephone call she received when she became chairman of the planning commission in 1972: "This is Pat Hann of House of Glamour." Pat's mission was to "bring back dignity to the Lower Town area." The official changing of the name to Old Village on March 8, 1972 was a first step.

"She always saw the possibilities. She never pointed out the bad features." It was "I can see a fountain here. I can see this alley and the backs of the stores . . ." Mrs. Childs said she looked over the Planning commission minutes and every time Old Village was mentioned, so was Pat Hann.

"It is this continuing thread of vision, determination and enthusiasm which rubbed off on so many others. It made a forgotten area come to life and become a credit to the city and Old Village itself. It is a continuing project. But Pat Hahn got the ball rolling."

AMONG THE GUESTS were Margaret Wilson, Julie and Tex Thoman, Nancy Petrucelli, Pat and Erick Carne, Doug and Sally Blunk, Connie Bournias and John Cummings.

Also Lorraine and Bill Waun, Geneva, Torb and Harold Guenther, Doug Montgomery, Roberta and Milton Orr of Bill's Market, Bill Hall of Lent's Custom Clothing, Bill Ruehr of Heide's Greenhouse and Flowers on Mill Street and Chris and Fran Kontos of the Clothes Tree on Mill. Mrs. Kontos, Doug Montgomery and Sally Blunk planned the party.

The Old Village Association gave Mrs. Hann a silver tea service. She also received a bouquet of roses.

After the speeches, presentations, hors d'oeuvres, stuffed shrimp, prime rib, tossed salads, rolls, the special cake and coffee, Pat Hahn's contagious enthusiasm was demonstrated in a dramatic fashion.

The lights in the banquet hall were turned out. There was a small glow of light as Mrs. Hann lit a candle at the head table. One by one, representatives from each table went to the head table and lighted their candles. Each place setting had a candle and these in turn began to glow. From one small light, the whole room was aglow—a graphic example of how the renovation of Old Village grew from the first spark of improvement.

Pat's husband, Bill, daughter, Amanda, and mother, June Wilmet, were there to share the glowing tribute.

Pat Hann didn't settle for daydreams. She worked to restore a community's dignity. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Now it's Northville's big weekend

This is the weekend that all roads lead to Northville when our neighbors to the north present a triple decker—the annual home tour, the Tivoli Fair, and the Handweavers Guild exhibit and sale.

The 11th annual home tour co-sponsored by the Northville Presbyterian Church and the Northville Historical Society is a one-day affair. Six homes will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 22.

A wide variety of decorating ideas and periods will be shown in the homes which range from a three-story Victorian to a condominium.

The three-story Victorian home of David Sicary in the Historical District is the oldest house on the tour. It is being shown for the second time, having been completely redecorated.

The Rohde and Karrer homes in Shadbrook feature spacious interiors with unusual antiques and art work. The Ellison's Gothic cottage, also in the Historical District, is a perfect background for the beautiful needlepoint, draperies and upholstery done by Mrs. Ellison.

John Dugan's English salt box in Northville Commons has a Spanish flare.

The inclusion of a condominium on the tour is a first. The Rosenburg's charming home shows an unusual use of antiques.

PAM AND CHARLES Rosenberg's Highland Lakes condominium resembles an old-fashioned townhouse.

"The plan is great. It's very much like a really old home with front parlor and keeping room behind," points out Mrs. Rosenberg.

Focal point of the living room is a handsome Welsh dresser dating about 1780. In addition to books, the shelves display a pewter plate and dish along with a small English Staffordshire dog. Container for the flourishing philodendron on the lower shelf is an old blue and white spitoon.

Other things to look for in the Rosenberg home are the large solicitor's desk and pine church pew in the blue master bedroom, the doll collections in the daughters' bedrooms, and the fine old furniture and paintings in the keeping room.

Tour visitors will want to linger in the Shadbrook home of Midge and Eugene Karrer.

From the tiny heart on the mailbox flag to the caramel and old gold colors chosen for the exterior trim, attention has been given to details. Front lawn decorations include a street cleaner's cart holding a huge iron pot of flowers and a farm cart. The Karrer's hillside setting earned a landscaping award several years ago.

"We bought the house partly because we wanted a first-floor bedroom," said Mrs. Karrer. The spacious room has cream background stencil print wallpaper that gives a mellow, old look. The basket stencil is repeated on drapery and bedspread.

THE HOME OF any collector or needle-woman is bound to be one with changing decor. The white Victorian home of the Elroy Ellisons is no exception since Mrs. Ellison is both a collector of antiques and an accomplished sewer and needlepointer.

"The house is right for what I had," says its owner as she mentions that a Victorian love seat and rocker, along with six side chairs, had been brought to Michigan from Vermont by her maternal ancestors. She dates the pieces of her great-grandparents to the 1850s.

Decorating the wall above the love seat is a collection of butter pats. The white eyelet embroidered curtains and airy swags in the room are Mrs. Ellison's handiwork.

She also has just completed a medieval-looking needlepoint for the fire screen. The rear portion of the living room originally was a bedroom. The wall was taken out when the Ellisons moved in 35 years ago.

Mrs. Ellison's needlework is in evidence throughout the house. A set of four original needlework scenes are in the kitchen where the newest addition is a pie safe.

DURING THE TOUR, buildings in the Millrace Historical Village on Griswold Street west of the Ford plant also will be open to visitors.

Tickets for the home tour are $3.50. They are available in Plymouth at House of Glamour Salon, 630 Starkweather; Baskets 'n Bows, Forest Place Mall; and the Alphabet Gallery, 825 Penniman Avenue, Penniman Avenue Shops.

Tickets will be sold the day of the home tour at First Presbyterian Church of Northville, 200 E. Main Street, Northville, and the Mill Race Race Village.

Again this year, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 201 Elm Street, the Methodist Church, 8 Mile Road, and the Historial Society Docents, Mill Race Village, will serve lunches from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Tivoli Fair opens

The work of over 100 exhibitors will be presented for sale at Northville's annual Tivoli Fair. The arts and crafts show, sponsored by the Northville Historical Society, will be on Sept. 22, 23, and 24 at the Northville Downs Racetrack. The racetrack is at the corner of 7 Mile Road and Sheldon Road. Hours will be: Sept. 22, 12-9 p.m.; Sept. 23, 10 a.m.-9 p.m.; and Sept. 24, 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

The exhibitors will offer the public a great variety of wares to choose from: macrame, pottery, pewter, paintings, wooden toys, ethnic clothes, basketry, jewelry, china painting, sculpture, doll houses, dolls, miniature furniture, Christmas decorations and many more.

Since the fair is of Danish origin, the Scandinavian countries will be represented by Denmark, Norway, and Sweden. Imports will be sold as well as food from their respective countries; such as, Swedish meatballs, Norwegian pancakes or sausages, and Danish open-face sandwiches.

An admission fee of $1.50 will be charged and children attending the fair along will be asked to pay 50 cents. All proceeds from the fair will be used to further the restoration of the Mill Race, Northville's historical village.

Prizes will be given away throughout the three days of the fair.

Free parking and babysitting will also be available.

Handweavers guild begins 3-day show

The Northville Handweavers Guild will celebrate the opening of its new home and preview the up-coming exhibit and sale with a "Wine Preview" Sept. 21. This will be open only to members and their invited guests.

On Thursday and Friday, Sept. 22 and 23 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday, Sept. 24 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., the guild will hold an exhibit and sale in conjunction with the Northville Historical Society's home tour and the Tivoli Fair.

This year the guild will hold its exhibit and sale in its new home, the red and tan Gothic cottage in Mill Race Village.

The display and sale, which is free to the public, consists of many items, both traditional and contemporary. There will be wall hangings, pillows, linens and shawls, to name a few, all of which have been juried previously as to their design, creativity, color, technique, composition and concept.

The cottage sits next to the stream, just over the bridge at the entrance to Mill Race Village.

Paul Folino donated the cottage to the Northville Historical Society, which decided it should be used by the Northville Handweavers. In return the Handweavers restored and renovated the cottage to be used for meetings, displays, workshops and demonstrations.

The restoration and renovation by the Handweavers is being led by Wanda Huber in conjunction with Northville Historical Society member Fran Gazlay. The cottage was built around 1891 and sat on Center Street until 1976 when it was moved to the Mill Race Village.

The guild is a group of people brought together through their common interest in the fiber arts. The group is three years old and draws its membership from the many communities in Wayne and Oakland counties.

President Martha Moses Dollens lives in Plymouth; Vice President Jane Brown is from Northville, Treasurer Eileen Cook is from Plymouth. Recording Secretary Dianne Little is from Livonia, and Corresponding Secretary Julie Stowe is from Walled Lake. Other communities represented are Novi, Orchard Lake, Royal Oak, Milford and Farmington.

The group meets on the third Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in Mill Race Village. The Handweavers in the past have met in the Mill Race Library. This month will bring their new "home" and with it many activities to celebrate the event.

Jaycettes Gong Show is Sunday

Plymouth Jaycettes Gong Show, a benefit for Reye's Syndrome research will be Sunday afternoon from 2-4 p.m. in the Plymouth Cultural Center on Farmer Street.

The audience will have an opportunity to cheer the winners, and groan with the losers as a panel of local and television personalities sounds the gong or marks the score cards.

Local entertainers have been polishing their acts for the occasion—some very talented and others with very little talent. First place winner will recive a $50 prize.

Admission will be $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12.

Proceeds of the show will go for Reye's Syndrome research. The dreaded disease has no known cure and seems to be more prevalent among white, suburban children and teenagers.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Cantonites mark birthdays

LaCharite-Schmieder

Mr. and Mrs. David B. La Charite of Arlington in Canton Township, formerly of Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne M., to John A. Schmieder, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Schmieder of Spring Lake.

The bride-elect attended Central Michigan University where she majored in business administration. Her fiance is on assignment with the Peace Corps. He earned a BS in mathematics from CMU.

No wedding date has been set.

LaCharite-Mikoliazyk

Mr. and Mrs. David B. La Charite of Arlington Street in Canton Township, formerly of Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith M., to Michael Mikoliazyk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mikoliazyk of Saginaw.

The bride-elect teaches in the Harrison School District. She graduated from central Michigan University with a degree in elementary education. Her fiance graduated from Ferris State College with a degree in pharmacy.

They plan a December wedding in Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church, Plymouth.

Birthdays come and birth-days go, year after year with little significance other than marking the passage of time. There are a few exceptions along life's road where a landmark is reached.

A child's first birthday is always cherished in pictures and attended by family and friends. "Sweet 16 and never been kissed," seems outdated today but it has significance for the teenager acquiring their first drivers license.

Not so long ago, reaching 21 was an important achievement. You could vote, sign a contract and legally become an independent person. Most of us found that independence was dampened by its counterpart, responsibility. Today, the 18th birthday carries the same symbolism.

At 40, you're getting better, not older and at 55 you are classified by some organizations as a senior citizen. Social security checks seem to mark the 62nd and 65th birthday.

Seventy and 80 are treated with respect while 90 and up are greeted with awe.

SOME WILL recall other memorable birthdays and a few will realize that this list ommitted those who have reached their 30th year, especially significant in the American culture.

One gentleman greeted his 30th birthday with excitement. He could now join an over-30 hockey league. Another fellow enrolled at a health spa on that day to get back in shape.

Women face their 30th year with fear, resentment, philisophical acceptance or a tiny white lie. After all, there aren't too many over-30 hockey leagues for women.

Well, why was the big 30 left until last? I'll never tell.

The world of birthday celebration has just begun for Andrew Vincent Hillquist, born on Aug. 21, and his parents Cindy and Fred Hillquist of Plymouth.

Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hillquist Sr. of Madiera, Fla. and John Bruer of Geneva, Ill. along with Andrew's brother, Jonathan, are especially pleased with the new family member.

MARILYN AND Kenneth Goff also wish to announce the birth of their daughter, Rebecca Lynn, Aug. 17 in Wayne County General Hospital.

The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Goff Sr., all residents of Bloomfield Hills.

ON SEPT. 9, the Canton Senior Citizens held their first business meeting of the season at the Canton Recreation Center. They honored their membership's August and September birthdays and recognized some special anniversaries.

Those celebrating August birthdays were Helen Maloney, Mike Hayden, Velma Duty, Charlotte Schwartz and Jennie Martin.

The Virgos of September are Veronica Alekson, Grace Proctor, Salley Updike, Claude Truesdell and Myrtle Good.

Marie and Harold Beattie have reached a landmark of their own, 50 years of wedded bliss Sept. 10. They are residents of Bedford Villa in Canton.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Toole of Lilley Road in the township celebrated their 55th anniversary Sept. 6. Congratulations to both couples.

Members of the group who are back from recent illnesses are Russell Cook, Cecilia Graham, John Lustrea, Helen Boettger and Elizabeth DeBacker.

Guest speakers were Carolyn Hall of the United Foundation and Susan Woodrow representing Field Elementary School in Canton. Both ladies were seeking volunteer help for community service.

The seniors also are in the midst of plans for their upcoming trip to Kellogg's Bird Sanctuary and Forest Sept. 29. They have made luncheon reservations for the day at Win Schuler's in Marshall.

CLAUDE AND DORIS Eaton of Canton Center Road attended the Campbell's 61st family reunion in Dexter last month. Doris, a former Campbell, was pleased with the 100 family members who attended the festivities at the home of her aunt, Heloise Dunstan.

Relatives from as far away as Oscoda, Grand Rapids, and the state of Arizona gathered to exchange news and events. Local Plymouth residents Gordon Campbell and Bruce Campbell along with their families enjoyed the potluck supper and reminiscence.
