There's winter beauty in a visit to the zoo

People who like winter outings—and those who have decided they might as well like them because there's a lot of winter left—could find unexpected pleasure in a jaunt to the Detroit Zoo on a snappy, snowy day.

"It's a beautiful time of year, especially when there's snow on the ground," said Dr. Robert Willson, retired zoo director who now makes his home in Livonia.

"It's less crowded, and many of the animals love the cold weather. It's wonderful to see the bison with snow on their winter collars."

The tigers, Willson pointed out, are among the best exhibits for those who travel to the Woodward and Ten Mile location during the winter months.

"Our tigers are all Siberians rather than the warm-climate Bengals," he added. "They're used to Siberia where the weather gets really cold, and they just love to romp in the snow."

Charles Choinard, office manager at the zoo, agreed. "Many of the animals are more active in the winter," he said.

These include the polar bears, always at home in the icy elements. The same is true of other bears who in winter have their full coats of fur.

Winter hours at the zoo are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. The cost is $1.50 for persons over 13, and 50 cents for children 6 to 13. Those under 6 are admitted free.

There also is a special rate of 25 cents a person for supervised groups like school classes, said Choinard, "and for those who come on a bus, the charge is $7 for all occupants plus $3 for parking the bus."

The zoo's famous train doesn't run in the winter, but Choinard said the management puts priority on keeping the walks free of snow.

"We have just one refreshment stand, the one located in the center of the park, open all winter," he added. "On nice weekend days we sometimes open up a second one."

Winter visitors, Willson insists, miss only a couple of summer features, such as the giraffes and some exotic birds.

"But the new $2-million birdhouse is open, and that's a marvelous place to visit for exotic birds," he added.

Willson still spends a good share of his time at the zoo he served as director for seven years. He is assistant to the president of the Detroit Zoological Society and thus is on hand regularly two afternoons a week.

Bundarin represents cop suspended for dirty words

In a little more than a week's time, Canton attorney Peter Bundarin has gone from boarding a woman in his home to defending a client against that same woman. The woman claims the Canton police officer defamed her character in the aftermath of a fight at the Bundarin home.

Bundarin's client, Ptl. Leonard Bush, is still carrying six stitches in his head for breaking up a fight between the woman and her ex-boyfriend.

Ortner kids get $1,000

Brian and Mark Ortner, of Garden City, the orphaned children of traffic victims Thomas and Penny Ortner, have more than $1,000 held in trust for them at the First National Bank of Plymouth following a story in the Observer detailing the existence of the special fund.

"The majority of this is the result of the story," said bank vice-president Bob Butler, who added that about $50 was in the trust fund account prior to the Observer stories.

Butler said donations to the trust ranged as high as $100.

Thomas and Penny Ortner, who was six weeks pregnant, were killed the day after Christmas when a man police say was legally drunk allegedly ran a stop light at Ford and Middlebelt roads in Garden City, striking the Ortner car and killing the couple, who were front-seat passengers.

Brian, 2, and Mark, 4, were back-seat passengers, but were saved from serious injury by special protective seating.

Ptl. Bush has been suspended from the force for 30 days by Police Chief Walter MacGregor because of a complaint filed with the department by Ms. Maureen Filarecki, 21, the former houseguest of Bundarin.

Canton Police were called to the Bundarin home Dec. 29 by Bundarin, who said Ms. Filarecki was being kicked, punched and spit on by her ex-boyfriend, Robert Lee Simmers of Livonia.

Ptl. Bush responded to the call on a back-up run after the two officers who arrived first—Ptl. Kathy Petres and Reserve Officer Sam Natoli—became embroiled in a scuffle with Simmers, according to the police report. The report of the incident states Simmers hit Bush on the head with a police-issue flashlight that he took from Ptl. Petres.

IT IS ALLEGED by Ms. Filarecki that after the fight at Bundarin's home, Ptl. Bush cast aspersions on her moral character inside the Rusty Nail Lounge while he was off-duty. She claims he used an obscene sexual term to describe her.

Ms. Filarecki worked at the bar until early December.

Bundarin said that kind of language never embarrassed Ms. Filarecki in the past and says that Bush denies making that statement publicly.

In making a formal request for an appeal of the suspension, Officer Bush notes that there is no procedure at present for appeal.

Chief MacGregor responded by letter:

"Inasmuch as there is no procedure for an appeal, as the merit system board has not been set up, it is my intent to advise the three-member police commission of your request."

"If the police commission wishes to hear your appeal, a date and a time will be set for the hearing."

Canton connector road will be built

The Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) has made a legally-binding commitment to build the long-awaited Canton Center-Sheldon connector road, first proposed in 1969 as a way to divert traffic from the vicinity of the Centennial Educational Park.

Although the road commission is not required to begin constructing the road for seven years under a consent judgment expected to be signed Thursday, Canton officials say they're pleased with the promise that the road will definitely be built.

The proposed road will start at Canton Center north of Warren, stretch diagonally in a northeast direction and intersect Sheldon south of Joy. The road is expected to alleviate traffic congestion near the Joy and Canton Center intersection.

THE WCRC'S PROMISE to build the road is contained in a consent judgment between Rescom Development Corp., Canton Township and the WCRC.

Under terms of the agreement, Rescom will deed the eight-acre strip needed for the road's right-of-way to the county in return for the township's site plan approval of a single-family residential subdivision on the east side of Canton Center. The proposed con-

Ethics of 'anti-rape charity' questioned

CRAIG PIECHURA

Calls are being made to women in Wayne and Oakland counties by phone solicitors—hired by a new non-profit group called Citizens Against Rape, Inc. (CAR)—who try to sell the women "marked-up" rape prevention equipment and a booklet, "What You Had Better Know About Rape."

Last week solicitors were canvassing Canton Township and some of the people contacted complain that the approach used by phone salespeople employed by the D. D. Advertising Co. of Detroit is "hard sell."

Two women who talked to this newspaper also wondered if the non-profit group is legally registered as a non-profit organization with the Michigan Department of Commerce.

It is. But officials in the Southeastern Michigan Anti-Rape Network state the materials being offered can be obtained at a much cheaper price, or free; and charge that Citizens Against Rape encourages "profiteering" on women's fears.

CYNTHIA KLEINER, of Southfield, president of Citizens Against Rape, Inc., said some of the "misunderstanding" may be that people misinterpret the purpose of the "rape prevention education group."

"We've gotten a lot of inquiries wondering if we were a crisis center or a rape counseling center," Ms. Kleiner said. "We are nothing of the sort. We are a rape prevention education group. We do not have anything to do with rape counseling or referral. And, we are not in charge of marketing."

Ms. Kleiner cancelled a personal interview with this newspaper late Thursday, after being interviewed by phone Tuesday night. Seven subsequent phone calls went unanswered.

But, on Tuesday, Ms. Kleiner said the Dale Corp., a public relations and publishing firm in Warren, was responsible for publishing the 56-page booklet that is being sold by phone solicitation and is also responsible for handling public relations for her "non-profit charity."

A paperback-sized booklet entitled, "What You Had Better Know About Rape," written by Cynthia Skalsky-Clothier, is being offered to women over the phone for $15 along with a number of other products. Funds received above the cost of paying for the booklet, the phone solicitors and the public relations firm, will go to provide rape prevention education, Ms. Kleiner said. Nobody on the board of CAR receives any money, she said.

THE FIRST OF three "packages" offered to women over the phone is the "total package": For $35, buyers receive a hand-held shriek alarm; a red, blinking light powered by battery that can be attached to a car roof in an emergency; a pressure-sensitive doorstop alarm to ward off intruders; the 56-page booklet and an "associate membership" in Citizens Against Rape, Inc.

For $20, women can receive the blinking light and the door wedge alarm; and for $15, the booklet alone.

At one point, bulk garbage bags were sold by phone to raise money for the non-profit group. This item has since been discontinued.

"The first thing they said to me over the phone was, 'Can you help us,'" said a woman who lives on Saxony in Canton Township. "I told them I can't go door-to-door. I have arthritis. But, it soon became apparent all they wanted was money. Rape is a word that strikes fear in the heart of every woman—not only for herself but for their daughters. The whole approach seemed to be a sales pitch. They had an answer for everything."

Barb Wolfe, coordinator of the Southeastern Michigan Anti-Rape Network, said CAR tried to gain the endorsement of that organization before the booklet was published by explaining its goals.

"We were approached by the task force (Citizens Against Rape) and decided that we didn't want to be affiliated because people who are involved with them are making money out of the anti-rape effort."

"Practically all of the things being offered for money can be obtained free or at a much lower price," she said.

ALL OF THE phone soliciting for Wayne County is being done out of an office at 26075 W. Six Mile, Redford Township.

Mrs. Diane Lucas of Canton—one of the women who complained of a "hard sell" approach taken by salespeople—said phone solicitors would only identify themselves as representing Citizens Against Rape, Inc., would not give a return phone number or address and asked her "why" she didn't want to receive the equipment or booklet when she declined the offer.

Richard Cole, an officer in D. D. Advertising was "out of the office"

Grant to be death knell for Dye Brothers sub

A $120,000 federal block grant that Canton officials expect to receive next July will likely be used to convert Dye Brothers Subdivision into an industrial park and relocate the area's 16 families to another neighborhood.

Under guidelines established by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), 51 per cent of the persons who benefit from projects must have low or moderate income.

According to estimates of township finance director Mike Gorman, less than 30 per cent of the township's residents fall into those classifications.

The Dye Brothers project was one of the few programs brought up by township officials Tuesday night that Gorman and planner George Peek felt certain would qualify for the grant money.

Other projects that will probably appear on the township's grant application form as alternative proposals include conversion of the Folker house on the site of the administration building into a family service and counseling center and remodeling the fire-hall on Canton Center and Cherry Hill to eliminate architectural barriers for the handicapped.

"IT MAY BE DIFFICULT to convince HUD that some of these other projects would qualify," said Gorman, referring to a list of possible block grant projects prepared by the administration.

Township board members directed Gorman and Peek to identify alternative projects most likely to win HUD approval. The projects will be announced at the township board's Jan. 24 meeting.

A public hearing was conducted at Tuesday's board meeting to give residents an opportunity to suggest possible block grant projects. The only project suggested—the construction of shelters for school children waiting for a bus—was turned down, however, because Gorman was certain it would not meet HUD's eligibility requirements.

But the Dye Brothers project is a different matter. Low and moderate

Kiwanians offer winter relief

If you are tired of the wintry Michigan weather, relief is just around the corner—on Jan. 25 to be more exact.

On that date the Travel and Adventure Series sponsored by the Kiwanis Foundation of Plymouth will take residents to the mediterranean with Howard and Barbara Pollard as tour masters. They will host a series of films about the sunny area.

The travelogue series, sponsored jointly by the Kiwanis Club of Plymouth and the Colonial Kiwanis Club of Plymouth, will begin at 8 p.m. in Plymouth Salem High School, on Joy Road just west of Canton Center Road.

Tickets for individual performances are $2 and may be obtained at the door or by calling Harold Fisher at 455-5100, Tim Yoe at 453-6280, Joe Crowther at 455-6350 or Jim Case at 455-7938.

THE WEDNESDAY NIGHT travel program is entitled "Isles of the Mediterranean," and features the mountainous Mallorca, hardy farmers of the Balearics, singing, dancing villagers of Sicily, and the fishermen of the Aegean.

The sunbathed island of Rhodes features resort beaches, lazy windmills at the harbor where once stood the giant Colossus—one of the Seven Wonders of the ancient world.

Next the film takes spectators to the island of Santorin, and to the town of Thera perched atop a 1,000-foot cliff which can only be reached by donkeys. Some believe Santorin is the legendary lost continent of Atlantis.

The next stop is Crete, the largest of the Greek Isles. The capital city Iraklion is famous for Knossos—the excavated, partially restored ruin of a 1,400-room Minoan palace built 4,000 years ago.

After Sicily, the largest island on the Mediterranean tour, comes the city of Cefalu to view the fishing fleet, a maker of donkey carts, a puppet show with puppets which are three feet tall and weigh 80 pounds. Then comes a visit to the Catacombs, an underground Christian cemetery.

After a flight over the Spanish island of Mallorca and the town of Petra—birthplace of Father Junipero Serra—the travelogue continues to the rugged mountains of the island. Here will be found the village of Valdemosa and the monastery where Chopin and George Sand spent their Mallorecan winter, and some Spanish games such as log chopping, weight lifting, and the battle of the rams. The evening ends with Flamenco dancers.

HOWARD AND BARBARA POLLARD both have backgrounds which are ideal for their life of travel filming.

Pollard, a native midwesterner, spent the summers of his boyhood in the north country of Michigan where he developed an appreciation for the beauty of nature.

After studying engineering and filmmaking at Lawrence Tech in Southfield, Pollard entered the Army and was issued a movie camera instead of a weapon. After his military stint, he went into his own business of producing television commercials and short subjects which won him many awards.

Mrs. Pollard has studied voice and drama at the Detroit Conservatory of Music and also at the Interlochen National Music Camp in Michigan. She attended the University of Miami where she majored in radio and television acting and theater.

After graduation, her professional appearances included the Detroit Civic Light Opera, the Normandy Players and extensive involvement in summer stock. She also traveled and presented programs for Bell Telephone.

Regional group may bid to manage waste

The Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) is expected to suggest, at a Department of Natural Resources public hearing today, that its seven-county region be designated as a planning area for a regional solid waste unit.

The hearing will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Troy Hilton Hotel at Big Beaver Road near I-75.

The area-wide solid waste management agent would be responsible for overseeing a hazardous waste regulation program, elimination of dumping and technical and financial assistance for planning improved solid waste management programs.

The federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act requires that the governor of each state identify the areas that will make up regional solid waste management units. Final designations will be made by Gov. William Milliken based upon input at a series of public hearings to be held this month.

Random selection may be discontinued

By EMORY DANIELS

The process of using computers to randomly assign eighth graders to high school may be scrapped, altered or affirmed at the Feb. 13 meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Monday night the school board appeared ready to alter the random selection process, but after a 3-3 vote decided to discuss the matter at a Feb. 6 workshop and make a decision, one way or another, at its Feb. 13 meeting.

Central administration had assumed the random selection process, approved by an earlier school board, was policy of the school district. Thus Monday night's vote came as a surprise and left the administration without any indication of whether the process could be continued.

UNDER RANDOM selection the names and addresses of eighth graders are placed into a computer which then randomly assigns them to begin the ninth grade at either Plymouth Salem or Plymouth Canton high schools.

The only exception to the random draw is students who have an older brother or sister in high school. Students with siblings in high school, by vote of a previous school board, may elect to attend the school of their sibling or to have their name placed in the computer for a random draw.

Purpose of the process is to achieve, over four years, a balanced population between Salem and Canton. One of the advantages of the random draw is that it eliminates the possibility of high school athletic coaches "recruiting" promising athletes from the middle schools. Another purpose is to avoid any possible accusations of de facto segregation by using a random process which doesn't allow for human bias.

The random selection procedure had been approved by the school board last year, after much controversy by some citizens. At that time, the "breakup of neighborhoods" was the major issue as students living on the same street could be assigned to either Salem or Canton.

The move Monday night to reconsider random selection came as a surprise. The series of votes followed a progress report from administration on the number and disposition of appeals made by parents.

Eighth graders received their high school assignments last month. Of the total 1,300 assignments made, some 41 (or about three per cent) appealed. Of the 41 appeals, only one was granted.

Supt. John M. Hoben reported that of the 41, some 25 were assigned to Canton and wanted to go to Salem and 16 were assigned to Salem and appealed for Canton High.

IN PRELIMINARY discussion, Hoben said that from the time of the inception of the Centennial Educational Park it was assumed a random selection process would be used to assign students.

"A population split between the schools developed because of the lateness in constructing Canton High, because it was developed in phases. That's why the imbalance between student populations has occurred," Hoben said.

Salem has exceeded its capacity of 2,100 and Canton has about 1,800 students. Of the incoming ninth graders, 576 have been assigned to Salem and 523 to Canton thus far. Any new students, however, will be assigned on the basis of 80 per cent going to Canton and 20 per cent to Salem. With 200-400 new students expected before fall, Canton will end up with the largest number of freshmen when school begins.

Trustee Flossie Tonda began the criticism of random selection by challenging the fairness of the sibling exception. "The first child going to high school has no choice, but is assigned by computer. Why should special treatment be given children with older brothers or sisters in high school? I think that's unfair. We should treat all our students equally and eliminate this privilege on the sibling exception so no one has a choice."

Hoben interjected that one of the reasons for random selection was the interest of the state athletic department, which wants to make sure Plymouth-Canton doesn't gerrymander its boundaries to create a super athletic team at one of the schools.

"The state does not want to allow us free choice in assigning students," he said.

CAROL DAVIS said she was disturbed by random selection because it disturbed residential patterns. "Why can't the computer sort students by streets so those in the same neighborhoods can attend the same high school?"

Hoben said that if assignment is made by streets then the desired geographical balance will begin to break down.

Trustee Joe Gray said he originally was opposed to random selection and still is because it breaks up neighborhoods. "Kids attend the same school up to high school. Why should we change at this point? I think we need a better assignment procedure to correct this situation."

Hoben said there would be balancing problems if the district reverted back to its feeder school system whereby East and Central middle school students went to Canton and West and Pioneer students to Salem. West and Pioneer have larger student bodies and will continue the imbalance.

"Under the feeder system, the boundaries changed so much from year to year, students had no choice where they'd attend," Hoben said.

Gray suggested balancing is being achieved without random selection because half the students attend classes at both schools.

TOM YACK, board president, noted that community acceptance of random selection must have been good as only three per cent appealed, meaning 97 per cent were either satisfied with or could at least tolerate the process.

Trustee Steve Harper, supported by Richard Arlen, made a motion to accept the administration's report on the results of the appeals made on random selection. Yack commented that acceptance of the report would imply reaffirmation of the process, and a denial of requests for appeals made by three parents.

Mrs. Tonda said she couldn't vote to reaffirm random selection because it isn't fair to all students. She then made an amendment, supported by Harper, that all students would go into the computer for assignment (a move eliminating the sibling exception).

She questioned the 97 per cent success rate claim, noting: "Some people have the courage to come to the board and complain. Other people don't have that courage."

"I think random selection is wrong," responded Gray, "but I don't believe two wrongs make a right. I can't support splitting up families by eliminating the sibling exception. Many families, including my own, want to keep brothers and sisters in the same school so they can attend events together and stay united."

Hoben commented it was possible to eliminate the sibling exception, but it would evoke a lot of controversy in the community.

"If 40 or 60 parents register complaints next year about random selection, for other reasons, will we change the process again?" asked Yack.

Harper commented he felt the 41 appeals merely represented the tip of the iceberg. "I think there's a lot more people who don't like it but didn't come forward. I don't like the random selection we now have: Lansing people running athletics may like it but as far as I'm concerned we should tell Lansing to soak its head."

Arlen argued that the district doesn't have neighborhood high schools now. "That's part of the problem. We have two large buildings on one site, but not neighborhood high schools."

"If you really think this is the tip of the iceberg," commented Yack, "then eliminate random selection, assign everyone to Salem and pay no attention to family lineage. Then you'll hear from plenty of people."

Mrs. Tonda said she understood how the administration felt when random selection was approved and now is being challenged. "But if we have made a mistake then I'd rather see us correct it now than let it grow from year to year."

The amendment to eliminate the sibling exception was defeated 5-1 with only Mrs. Tonda voting yes.

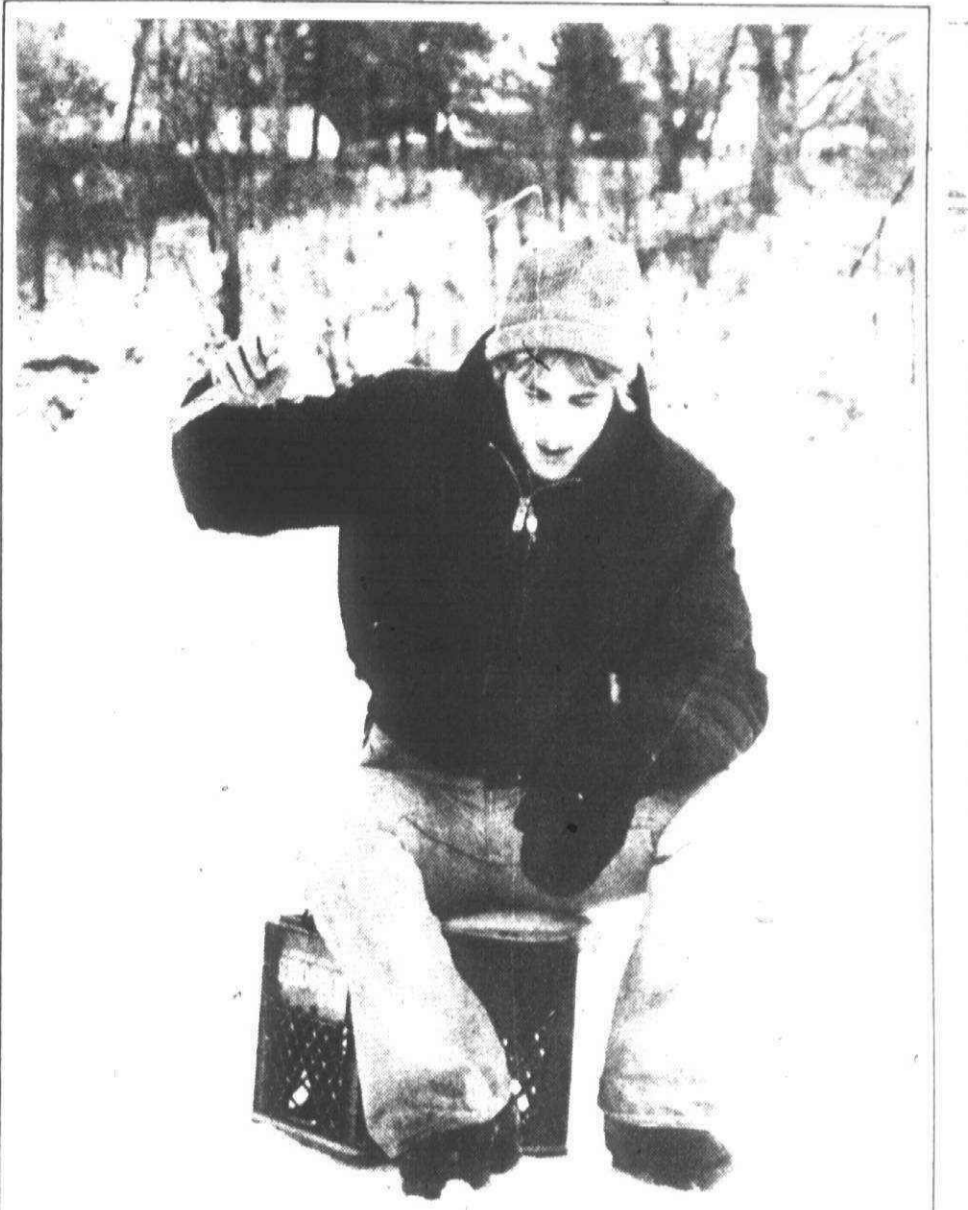

have the issue on the Feb. 6 workshop agenda with a decision to be made Feb. 13. That motion passed 5-1 with Yack voting no.

The interpretation of Monday night's action is that random selection will continue as is until at least Feb. 13. Depending on the board's discussion, the process could then be eliminated, altered or left as is.

Among the options would be eliminating sibling exceptions, altering the selection process to keep neighborhoods intact, or switching to some kind of geographic boundary procedure to use to assign students with the aid of computers. Another option would be to allow random selection to continue for this year and direct a new study on whether a better assignment process can be found.

WHEN THE VOTE was taken on accepting the administrative report, the board split evenly at 3-3. Voting yes were Yack, Mrs. Davis and Arlen, while Gray, Harper and Mrs. Tonda voted no.

Harper then made the motion to Debate squad eyes state title

Chalk up another banner year for the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park debate team.

For the third year, the team en route to the state championships which will be held in Grand Rapids Feb. 9, 10 and 11.

After a rigorous season debating against other Class A schools, the CEP team compiled a 4-2 qualifying record in the district meet last week at Belleville, clinching its berth in the state tournament.

"It was a tough season all right," said Patrick Barry, director of debate for CEP. "There are about 200 schools in our class, and there's a lot of good ones."

Class A, Barry said, is comprised of the largest and most competitive schools in the state. To get to the state level, the CEP debaters had to take on such powerhouse teams as Westland John Glenn, Detroit Catholic Central, Ann Arbor Huron and Farmington.

"We've had close to 400 debates this year," said Barry. "But the kids came through brilliantly. They worked like crazy."

Practice sessions for the debaters sometimes ran as long as three or four hours everyday after school. Saturdays were reserved for tournaments.

"The athletic teams usually get all the glory," observed Barry, "but the debaters have to work just as hard if not harder."

In addition to nightly practices, the 14 members of the team attend a summer debate workshop which lasts two or three weeks. The debate season begins in September and ends in February.

Barry's debaters piled up an impressive team record for the year with 165 wins and 84 losses. To qualify for the state meet, the team had to turn in at least a 4-2 series, which they did by beating Bishop Borgess, Dearborn, John Glenn and Thurston high schools.

Barry attributes part of the team ability to assistant coach Al Helmkamp. A Livonia attorney, Helmkamp volunteers his time and experience helping to prepare the teams.

"Al was a debater in high school and college," Barry said. "And he still loves it. His coaching is responsible for a lot of our success."

Grant may be death knell

income families live in the homes, most of which are old and deteriorating, in the subdivision south of Michigan and east of Sheldon.

If the subdivision is converted into an industrial park, more jobs would be created, Gorman maintained. The township would use some of the grant money to purchase vacant lots in the comparable McIntyre Manor Subdivision near Ford and Sheldon.

Peek said the 16 families living in the Dye Brothers Subdivision would be given an opportunity to build a new home in McIntyre.

Under federal regulations, the township would have to offer Dye Brothers residents a fair price for their homes. In addition, the township would have to pay residents the difference between their homes' selling price and the cost of building a comparable home elsewhere.

CONVERSION OF THE SUBDIVISION into an industrial park and relocation of residents would cost far more than the $120,000 the township expects to receive through the block grant program this year.

Peek said the township would have to commit federal block grants for the next three years to the project. HUD and Wayne County, which administers the block grant program locally, look favorably on a multi-year project, he said.

Durkin digs job as SC coordinator, hopes to involve all kinds in college

Susan Durkin, recently appointed continuing education/community services coordinator for Schoolcraft College's Garden City Center, took the liberty of adding to her new title—just a bit.

She privately and jokingly refers to herself as "Susan Durkin ND—no degree but no dummy."

"I've always had to contend with not having a degree. My husband has a Ph.D. and people are always asking me about my background," she says with a smile.

Mrs. Durkin, who lives in Canton Township, assumed her position at the Garden City Center late last year. She's technically a liaison for the college with emphasis on Garden City and Canton.

"I'm here to find out what the community needs and wants and to help people become more aware of the Garden City Center," she said.

Although her position is part-time and experimental, Mrs. Durkin is plugging full speed ahead planning programs and knocking on doors in the Garden City and Canton communities.

She's currently planning a Wednesday preview in the Garden City Center of coming attractions for the winter semester. The preview is free with sessions slated throughout the day.

Morning sessions are slated each half hour beginning at 9:30 a.m. and will cover Hatha Yoga, arts and crafts, basic college skills and "discovering you."

The afternoon session begins at 1 p.m. with eliminating math anxiety, medical office management, personal income tax and creative writing.

Wednesday evening, double sessions are planned for each half hour beginning at 7:30 p.m. They include memory improvement, self-defeating behaviors, pre-retirement planning, parent effectiveness training, alone again: focus widowhood, human potential, coping with your recreational vehicle and introduction to transactional analysis.

The preview sessions are scheduled in Rooms 18 and 10 of the center, 6701 Harrison, between Cambridge and Maplewood in Garden City.

Those interested in registering for classes may do so that day, says Mrs. Durkin. All you need is your class fee and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Durkin, 32, the mother of three children ranging in age from nine to five, is no stranger to Schoolcraft College or the Garden City Center.

"I enjoy the Garden City Center because the residents here are much more open and honest about the goals they're setting. I've been exposed to both the Garden City and Canton areas and I really enjoy the people here."

Mrs. Durkin attributes her self-confidence to a human potential class she took at Schoolcraft.

She's self-assured, confident, determined and enthusiastic. She adds, however, she wasn't always this way.

The Durkins previously lived in Dayton, Ohio. They also lived in Buffalo before settling in Livonia when Mrs. Durkin's husband was hired as a chemist for the Michigan State Police Crime Lab.

"My youngsters were in diapers at the time and I was going bananas. I was new in the area and didn't have anyone to talk to. I thought my brain was dissolving."

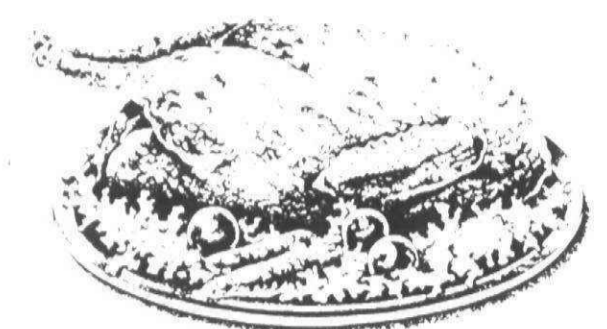

SHE TOOK THE human potential course offered at Schoolcraft's main campus. The course is geared to a positive approach toward self-development.

"Before taking the course I was afraid to go to college. I was afraid to drive to the main campus."

"I took other classes, but with a family and home to take care of I decided full time college wasn't for me. So I got involved in other ways and became a spokesperson for the Women's Resource Center."

Since her introduction to Schoolcraft four years ago, Mrs. Durkin's been a teacher as well as a student. She's been a leader for the human potential seminar for three years and designed a class "Discovering You," which uses the bestselling paperback "Your Erroneous Zones" as a reference book.

See circus

The Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring trips to the Shrine Circus for students who attend school year-round.

Track C students will have the opportunity to go Feb. 8. Track D students are scheduled for Feb. 15. The cost is $2.35 per person.

Reservations need to be made by the end of the month. Call 397-2777.

State offers fuel subsidy for seniors

The Michigan State Department of Social Services is offering to help senior citizen's pay their winter fuel bills.

The state will pay up to $200 of individual home heating costs for persons 62 years or older. The exact amount will be determined by level of income.

Seniors who wish to apply for the fuel subsidy program can call the toll free number 1-800-292-5930 for application forms.

Anti-rape calls rapped

and unavailable for comment on the conduct of the phone solicitors, according to a spokesperson for the firm.

Dale Jablonski, president of the Dale Corp., which printed the booklet and handles the group's public relations, readily admits that his firm and D. D. Advertising are being paid a "standard retainer fee" but refused to reveal what that was, calling the release of that information a violation of the "client-retainer relationship."

"There's definitely a mark-up with the materials," Jablonski said. "It's a fundraising effort."

Admitting that the account was a "headache," Jablonski said funds raised by sale of rape prevention materials will enable CAR to hire speakers such as Dr. Bruce Danto to address the public and the CAR membership.

Danto, a well-known psychiatrist from the Lafayette Clinic, will give a CAR-sponsored lecture 7:30 Feb. 16 at Marygrove College, according to Jablonski. "Psycho Prints," a method Dr. Danto claims may help identify rapists, is the topic.

"Give us til the end of February and we will give you some people who will blow your mind," Jablonski said. Part of the problem and reason for the confusion about the organization is the fact that it's just started. See if the organization isn't really something by this February. We've got some awfully good-looking people lined up—peers of the industry."

Jablonski said he isn't particularly surprised at the criticism leveled at CAR by the Southeastern Michigan Anti-Rape Network. He called some of the leaders of that organization "man-hating" feminists who object to the fact that CAR hired a man to publish the booklet and direct its public relations.

"Mr. Watson, come here, I want you!"

It's been over 100 years since Alexander Graham Bell unknowingly immortalized his assistant in the first intelligible words transmitted by telephone. Today, of course we use the phone for all sorts of things.

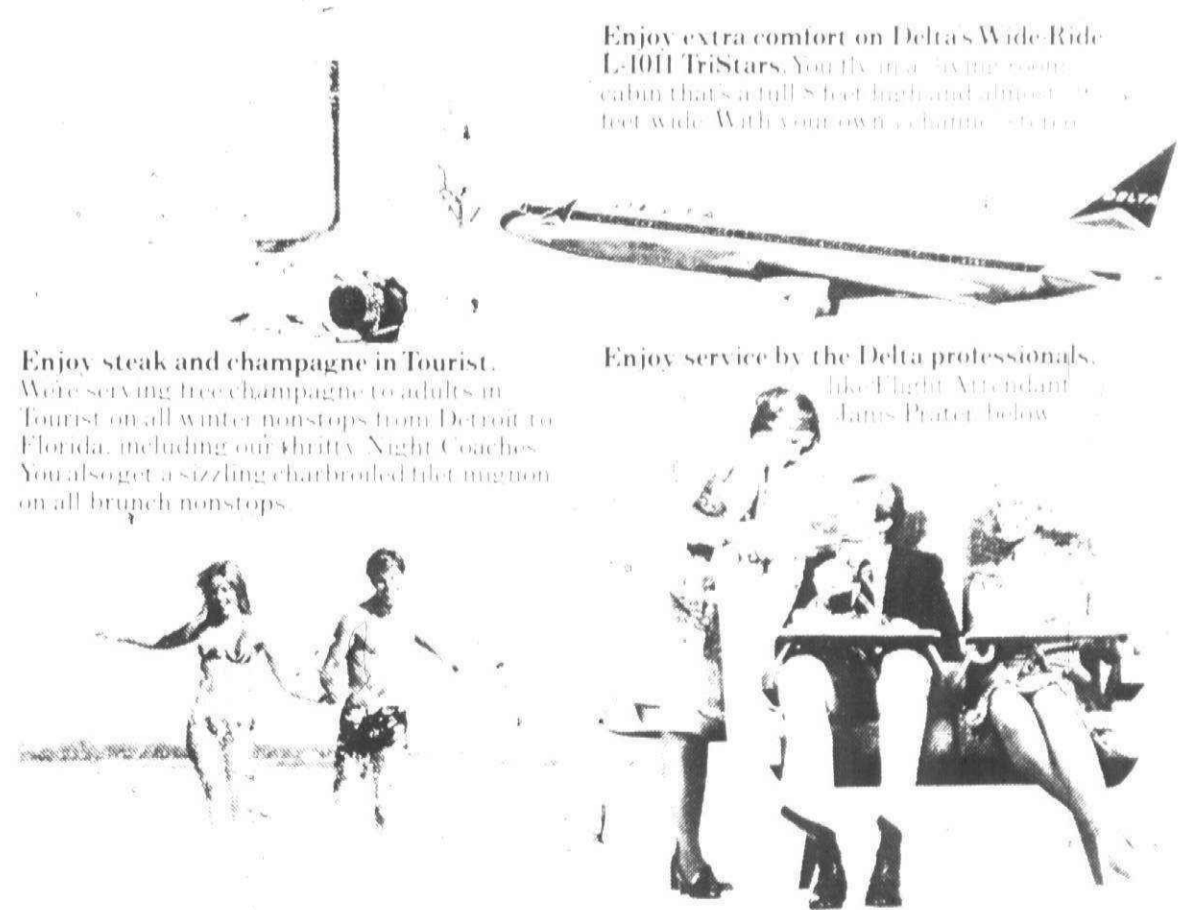

As a service, the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers provides you with this list of helpful phone numbers. Some will be useful for emergencies, others will sooner or later prove to be handy sources of information, and some will just provide an interesting diversion.

And don't be surprised if some guy named Watson answers.

Union unhappy--Arlen

SC faculty sits on millage fence

By TIM RICHARD

The mood of the faculty is on the fence," said Richard Arlen, president of the Faculty Forum at Schoolcraft College, about officials' dream of winning a property tax increase at the polls.

"Some will support it. Some won't," said the blunt-spoken head of the union that represents some 160 full time and other part-time instructors at the two-year college.

Several members of the board of trustees expressed disappointment, when they voted to cancel plans for a Feb. 27 millage election, that Arlen and the faculty had showed so little enthusiasm for pumping new money into the college. Arlen had skipped that meeting on Jan. 4 because the agenda gave no indication any real action would be taken.

IN HIS SMALL office in the Applied Sciences Building one day after classes last week, the accounting instructor spoke of his unhappiness with the role he and the faculty had been called on to play in the unsuccessful 1976 and '77 millage campaigns.

Of campaign planning, Arlen said: "You're invited, but it's a left-handed invitation. You're told what's going to happen."

"Larry VanderMolen and myself have quite a bit of political experience. We had things to offer in analyzing the situation and designing literature. Whatever we offered was basically ignored," said Arlen.

(Dr. VanderMolen, of the political science department, is an active Democrat who has run for office in Northville and elsewhere. Arlen is an active Republican and an elected member of the Plymouth-Canton school board.)

THE FACULTY sees different needs for the college from what the administration is trying to sell the public, Arlen went on.

"The public doesn't see a salable product. The fine arts auditorium—the public won't buy that."

"One real need is replacing and updating equipment. There's always a struggle to get updated equipment. We've only slowly started to replace some equipment."

"The microscopes are going to pot. If you'd had a regular program, you wouldn't need to replace 60 microscopes at once."

"The alignment machine in the auto shop is old. Even the brochures have pictures of 1950s cars on them. They (the administration) were discussing equipment replacement, but was it instructional equipment? Or was it data processing equipment and a new snowplow? There's no degree of clarity of purpose."

"OUR PRIORITIES and their priorities have been in reverse order," said Arlen.

"We need full time faculty. We have a large part-time faculty. Full time faculty has never been a priority item until recently."

News-wise, he said, the college relations office appears to concentrate on sports and community services programs. "Its work is misdirected," Arlen said. It should be telling the public the story of what's going on educationally, how students are benefiting from what they learn at Schoolcraft College.

To a board member's statement that the faculty should support a millage because it would be the chief beneficiary, Arlen replied: "We're not gonna get that. (President C. Nelson) Grote's gonna hire three more administrators and put in more maintenance."

Faculty members feel so uninformed in the college's direction, he said, that "most of the faculty has pulled off college committees."

Orphans' trust fund grows

Brian and Mark Ortner, of Garden City, the orphaned children of traffic victims Thomas and Penny Ortner, have more than $1,000 held in trust for them at the First National Bank of Plymouth following a story in the Observer detailing the existence of the special fund.

"The majority of this is the result of the story," said bank vice-president Bob Butler, who added that about $50 was in the trust fund account prior to the Observer stories.

Butler said donations to the trust ranged as high as $100.

Thomas and Penny Ortner, who was six weeks pregnant, were killed the day after Christmas when a man police say was legally drunk allegedly ran a stop light at Ford and Middlebelt roads in Garden City, striking the Ortner car and killing the couple, who were front-seat passengers.

Brian, 2, and Mark, 4, were back-seat passengers, but were saved from serious injury by special protective seating.

Donations to the trust fund may be made by sending checks payable to the "Brian and Mark Ortner Fund" to the bank at 535 S. Main, Plymouth, 48170.

Wednesday is deadline for trustee application

The deadline to apply for the vacant seat on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is 5 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 18.

Residents interested in serving on the school board should contact the administration office as soon as possible so they have time to submit the necessary written materials by the Wednesday deadline.

The vacancy occurred with the resignation of George Lawton. The board hopes to interview candidates and make an appointment at a special meeting on Jan. 30. The term will expire in June 1978.

Those interested in serving on the school board are asked to apply by letter. The letters of interest should include reasons for wishing to be appointed. Applicants must be registered voters and should include their current phone number and address. The letters are to be delivered to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

The school board will formulate a list of questions to ask each applicant. The interviews, to last about 25 minutes each, will be held on Jan. 25, 26 only.

Applicants who were interviewed at the time the last vacancy was filled aren't required to be interviewed again.

Mediocrity bags the megga bucks

THE YEAR 1977 stands as one of the most paradoxical in American movie history. In terms of overall quality, it was more mediocre than memorable. Of the 226 films by major American companies and independent producers, fewer than five per cent (perhaps only two-three per cent) can lay claim to excellence.

In terms of profits, however, it was a fantastic year. The film industry grossed $2.3 billion to set a new record. "Star Wars," which seems to be a sociological phenomenon as well as a movie, easily led the big box office draws for 1977.

With more than $127 million in domestic film rentals accrued to the distributor, 20th Century Fox, "Star Wars" is at the top of "Variety's" list of all-time film rental champs, although it was released only last May.

Another mind-boggling thought is that the return from foreign market rentals generally equals or surpasses the domestic.

Playing catch-up with "Star Wars" is "Close Encounters of the Third Kind." This is another sci-fi film which has made a fast impact at the box office and done wonders for the stock of its producer, Columbia Pictures.

GEORGE BURNS

IN CONTRAST TO these two films where fantasy, robots and razzle-dazzle steal the show, 1977 also will be remembered as the first year since the '50s when there were more major, challenging roles for actresses than actors.

Among the memorable performances are Lily Tomlin as the kook in "The Late Show," Shelley Duvall and Sissy Spacek for their compelling interpretation of characters in

Robert Altman's "Three Women," and Kathleen Quinlan who was devastating as a teenage schizophrenic in "I Never Promised You a Rose Garden."

Further, there were the breathtaking performances of Jane Fonda and Vanessa Redgrave in "Julia," Anne Bancroft and Shirley MacLaine who created dramatic fireworks in "The Turning Point," and Diane Keaton who scored twice this year, first in "Annie Hall," then in "Looking for Mr. Goodbar."

Many of the Vietnam films anticipated in 1977 haven't been released yet, including the long overdue Francis Ford Coppola film, "Apocalypse Now." Of the two which were distributed, "Heroes" fostered a sympathetic view of the Vietnam veteran, but was too cutesy, and "Rolling Thunder" was a vicious revenge film.

A strong antidote to the mayhem was the abundance of music and laughter in 1977's films. Many of the year's best movies were comedies or movies which possessed strong comic elements within their content. These include "Annie Hall," "The Late Show," "Star Wars" and "Close Encounters."

OTHER COMIC MOVIES which were big with the public, if not with the critics, are "The Spy Who Loved Me," (comic-macho-spy adventure), "Smokey and the Bandit" (comic-macho-country western) and "Oh, God" (comic-Everyman).

1977 was the year of the big record/movie hook-up. Movie audiences were exposed to the music and went out and bought the records. Radio audiences heard the records and went to see the movies. Among the top singles in the country were Debby Boone's "You Light Up My Life," Meco's "Star Wars Title Theme," and Carly Simon's "Nobody Does It Better" (from "The Spy Who Loved Me").

I haven't mentioned foreign films because so few have been available for viewing in metropolitan Detroit. Until the Maple 3 theater opened this year, the Detroit Film Theatre at the Institute of Arts was the sole showcase for foreign films and for American films of limited commercial appeal.

Hopefully, between the offerings of these two theaters, there will be an opportunity to see notable movies without attending a film festival in New York or San Francisco.

Glimpses

NEW RELEASES

- THE CHOIRBOYS (R). Joseph Wambaugh's story of big-city policemen who relieve the pressures of their jobs in periodic drunken reveries.
- CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE THIRD KIND (PG). Stephen Spielberg's megabuck epic about contact with extraterrestrial beings. Special effects make this another treat for sci-fi fans.
- EQUUS (R). Intense, realistic film of prize-winning play with Richard Burton as the self-doubting psychiatrist treating a boy (Peter Firth) who has blinded six horses.
- THE GAUNTLET (R). Clint Eastwood as tough cop battling against the mob and other police in reason-defying film.
- THE GOODBYE GIRL (PG). Neil Simon comedy of set-up situation and laughs when an actor (Richard Dreyfuss) moves in with a twice-dumped, actor-hating hoover (Marsha Mason).
- JULIA (PG). Jane Fonda and Vanessa Redgrave excel in Lillian Hellman's deeply moving story of the warm, courageous friendship of two women.
- THE LACEMAKER (R). Sensitive love story of beauty shop assistant and sophisticated university student. Fine acting by Isabelle Huppert. In French with English subtitles.
- LOOKING FOR MR. GOODBAR (R). Judith Rossner's steamy best seller brought to the screen with stunning impact. Diane Keaton scores as woman who teaches children by day, picks up men by night.
- PETE'S DRAGON (G). Combination of animation and live action in Disney adventure about desperate boy helped by friendly dragon.
- SATURDAY NIGHT FEVER (R). John Travolta (of Kotter's sweat hogs) is the main man in film with plenty of disco action.
- SEMI-TOUGH (R). Self-improvement schemes and football take equal lumps in comic but raunchy film with Burt Reynolds and Kris Kristofferson.
- STAR WARS (PG). Serio-comic sci-fi adventure about a rebellion of solar systems in a distant galaxy. Good-time movie with laughs and special effects. Two robots steal the show.

Art Institute shows Turner watercolors

An important selection of 73 Turner watercolors from the British Museum makes a rare American appearance at the Detroit Institute of Arts through Sunday Feb. 19.

Concentrating panoramic subjects in a few inches of space, these are intimate, rapid studies—impressions of scenery and architecture, of country house scenes observed by Joseph William Mallord Turner (1775-1851) on sketching tours in the British Isles and on the Continent.

The works in the exhibition were selected by Andrew Wilton, curator of prints and drawings at the Yale Center for British Art. Wilton was formerly assistant keeper of prints and drawings at the British Museum, the institution to which Turner bequeathed thousands of watercolors and more than 250 sketchbooks. His choices span the whole of Turner's career and his revolutionary achievements in bold, inventive handling of the watercolor medium.

Although Turner is best known for dramatic oil paintings of marine subjects, historical scenes and landscapes, his earliest exhibited works were watercolors. According to Wilton, the two mediums were "interlinked in his mind, and his experience of each played a vital part in the practice of the other."

The exhibition doesn't include the watercolors which Turner offered for public exhibition and sale, but those the artist intended for his private use.

In the exhibition catalogue, Wilton relates comments on the watercolors to the large exhibition of oils and watercolors with which Turner established his reputation, providing at the same time a general survey of his life and work.

The watercolors are presented chronologically, beginning with meticulous youthful drawings done when Turner was employed as a topographical draftsman recording country houses, churches and ruins throughout England and Wales. Watercolors executed after 1796, when Turner also had begun to paint in oil, define shapes by color washes and finely controlled hatchings rather than pencil outlines. Turner might further manipulate the paint by blotting, scatching or smearing it with his fingers.

A watercolor study of the "Pass of St. Gothard," made during Turner's first trip to Switzerland in 1802, conveys his fascination with the awesomeness of nature, a theme of many of his grandest paintings.

Canton gains league lead with pivotal win over Mott

Who says Friday the 13th is an unlucky date.

Certainly not Casey Cavell or his Plymouth Canton basketball team.

The Chiefs gained undisputed possession of first place in the Western Six League standings with a pivotal 73-60 victory over Waterford Mott at the Corsairs' gym.

Going into this Friday night showdown, both squads held identical 2-1 first-place records.

The triumph, Canton's third in a row and fifth in nine starts, gives the Chiefs a 3-1 loop record as they look down on the rest of their opponents.

Friday's action finished the first round of league play. Canton's fifth loop game against Walled Lake Western was postponed by snow. To make matters even more comforting, the Chiefs play only two of their remaining six league games on the road.

Anyone who told Waterford Mott to play Canton's junior sensation Butch King man-to-man must have gotten the wrong scouting report.

King had a field day against Mott, scoring every which way enroute to a 41-point night—his high for the season.

Along with his usual outside shooting from the Canton offense, King also scored on fast breaks, offensive tip-ins, and from charity line where he converted on 13 of 17 free throws.

The Chiefs opened with a five-point first-quarter lead, 15-10, and maintained that advantage at halftime 32-27.

Canton broke the game wide open in the third period, coming out and scoring eight straight points on hoops by King, one by Kurt Herbert and one by Brent Eckles.

The Chiefs continued to pound away at the Corsairs, holding a 20-point margin after three quarters.

Mott scrapped and clawed at the Chief lead throughout the final period, coming within nine points with one minute left in the game. But Canton maintained control the action at the end to record the important victory.

"We said at halftime we wanted to come out and score," Cavell said. "It was a very positive approach and it worked."

"We moved well and played good defense. It was a good game for us down there."

We are gaining confidence and playing better together with each game."

Belleville jinx continues

Salem falls again, 64-58

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Tiger territory continues to haunt Fred Thomann.

Despite the Plymouth Salem mentor's outstanding record since coming to the Rocks six years ago, he still finds it difficult to win at the noisy, orange-colored Belleville gymnasium.

Last Friday night's 64-58 setback to the Tigers not only was the second straight loss for the Rocks this season, but also marked the fourth time in the last five years the Plymouth squad has come home empty from Belleville.

The only time in that span that Salem defeated the Tigers at Belleville was in 1976. And that was the season Belleville returned the favor with, yes, a Friday the 13th upset victory over the Rocks at Plymouth—an upset which knocked the Rocks out of the top spot in the state rankings.

"What those guys do to us I really don't know," said a bewildered Thomann who was shrugging his shoulders. "I thought we played hard and well at times—I just don't know."

The Rocks scored five points at the end of the first quarter to break an 8-8 tie. The Rocks continued to hold the momentum in the second quarter, opening up a nine-point lead, 19-10, at the 5:53 mark.

Belleville began to chip away at the Salem lead and closed the gap to four at halftime, 28-24.

Then the roof fell in on the Rocks.

Calvin Patterson, the Tigers' lightning quick blue chip cager, opened the second half with a basket to set the tone for things to come.

Patterson went on to score 14 of Belleville's 22 points that quarter, which more than doubled Salem's output of 10.

The Tigers took a eight-point margin into the final quarter and never let the Rocks within six points as they maintained control of the contest.

Patterson finished the game with 23 points and Herbert Burns added 20. Salem's forward Tom Ellinghausen scored 24 points for game honors but had little support from his teammates.

Rock matmen slug Trenton

The Plymouth Salem wrestling team showed the world why it's ranked 12th in the state with a convincing 52-14 slaughter of Trenton Thursday night at the Trojans' gym.

The Rocks, 13-1 overall and 4-0 in Suburban Eight League competition, had to win this meet the hard way—without two of its starters. Salem found itself behind in many of the initial matches but fought back to the pleasure of coach Ron Krueger.

"We were down," the Salem mentor said. "We had the mid-season blues at practice all week but the way we wrestled against Trenton knocked us out of it."

"We wrestled out of our minds. We were down, had to rally and did rally. This was our best dual meet of the year."

An example of the Rocks' comeback ability appeared in the very first match where 98-pound Jeff Brown was losing to former Romulus teammate Al Bergmooser 4-1 but pinned him in the second period at the 3:13 mark.

Randy Viperman was also behind 5-0 in his match but won by a 10-6 decision. Mark Ross, back from an injury, looked impressive in a 2-2 tie.

Steve Ernst, also behind 11-7 in his 119-pound match, pinned his opponent at 5:37. Rene Leist, winning 20-1 in his match, won by default when Trojan Jeff Lewis was injured in the third period.

Bob Barackman lost at 132-pounds, but Roger Penix followed with a 9-1 victory at 138-pounds.

Joe Piccola fell at 145 pounds, but Wally Brown had an easy time with Trenton's Dennis McIntosh, pinning the Trojan at 2:50.

The two surprise wrestlers for the Rocks were substitutes John Powers and Jeff Powers. John tied a tough opponent 3-3 at the 165-pound mark, while Jeff pinned his competition in only 41.

The Rock rout was completed with Bob Doherty's 2:14 pin at 191-pounds, and heavyweight Bob Dasher's easy 11-0 superior decision over Trojan Dave Hutingson.

The Rocks were without the services of Jim Ross and Bruce Piper. Ross was ill and Piper was at baseball camp.

Randy Viperman rests after a match against a Trenton foe Thursday night. The Rocks defeated their Sub-8 opponents 52-14. (Staff photo).

Rocks win 1st; Chiefs shine

By BETTY DeLANO

The Plymouth Salem girls' varsity volleyball team earned a shaky victory last Wednesday night against the Redford Thurston Eagles, winning the first and second games, 15-13 and 15-11.

First game action saw the Rocks take an overwhelming nine-point lead when the score was 13-4, only two points away from the first win. But something happened to the Rock defense as Thurston rallied for nine straight tallies, tying the score at 13-13. The Rocks then came up with the final two points of the game. "The skill level has improved 100 per cent from everyone on the team," said Salemcoach Cathy Hines. "The problem was when we found we were so far ahead, the mental confidence in the team wasn't picked up enough to realize we could have taken the game by 11 points."

Senior Karen Prikosovits took the first five points in the second game on serves. The Rocks then moved to an 8-3 lead with help from senior spikers Kathy Dillon and Clarisse Hartnett.

The serving percentage dropped for the Rocks in the second game, making it harder for the Rocks to gain the victory. Salem's varsity now stands at 1-1 for the season.

Salem junior varsity lost to the Thurston JV in two games, 15-5 and 15-0.

Plymouth Canton remained undefeated at 3-0 and 2-0 in the Western Six Conference after beating Walled Lake Western last Wednesday night on the Chiefs' home court.

Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein commented that during the first game the Chiefs played well together, and she was pleased with the 15-7 victory over the Warriors.

In the second game, Canton breezed to a 15-10 win. Judy Freiman came through for the Chiefs with her serving. Frieman scored on five serves and Kelly Heaton earned two with aces down the line. In the second game, Heaton came through with a few powerful spikes and Tina Decker added six points on serves.

Gilles talks to boosters

Plymouth Salem's Blue Chapter of the Athletic Boosters' Club will hold its monthly meeting this Wednesday night (Jan. 18) beginning at 8 p.m. in the Salem cafeteria.

Rock varsity baseball coach Brian Gilles will be on hand to discuss his program and answer questions.

Blue Chapter chairman Jack Christie encourages anyone interested in supporting the organization or the baseball program to attend the meeting.

Plymouth Salem will play tonight against Ypsilanti at Salem while Canton will play Waterford Mott at Mott. Both matches will begin at 7 p.m.

WSDP to air Chiefs twice

Plymouth Canton cagers will be featured twice this week on WSDP-FM, (88.1).

Greg Hames, play-by-play, and John Spelich, color commentary, will be at courtside, live, tomorrow night (Tuesday) and Friday night to broadcast Chief basketball action.

Canton battles Dearborn Hts. Annapolis in a non-league game on Tuesday and hosts Farmington Harrison in Western Six League action on Friday.

Both broadcast times for WSDP-FM will begin at 7:40 p.m. with the Casey Cavell pre-game show. Live action of the games follows at 8 p.m.

But Northville wins meet

Canton lowers times

By ANDY MELIN

Even with a 100 per cent improvement in times, the Plymouth Canton boys' swim team came up on the short-end of a 96-77 score in its Western Six League encounter with the Northville Mustangs Thursday night at the Canton athletic facility.

The downfall lowered the Chiefs' overall record to 3-1, and 1-1 in the league.

"There is no doubt that Northville is still the power of the league," said Canton coach Bill Faunce. "Even though we lost, our boys really came through."

The Chiefs took first place in six of the 11 events.

The meet came down to the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay, and the Mustangs took first place to wrap up the victory.

The Canton 400-yard freestyle relay foursome of Mike Gaab, Doug Hetu, Dave Smith and Dave Tanner placed second in 3:41.9.

Paul Petersen turned in another good performance, winning the 200-yard individual medley and the 200-yard breaststroke in times of 2:08.6 and 1:03.9, respectively.

Junior tri-captain Dave Tanner set a pool record in the 500-yard freestyle, swimming the distance in 5:22.6. He placed second in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:54.4.

The Canton 200-yard medley relay team of Bob Cline, Petersen, tri-captain Steve Wood, and Smith recorded their best time of 1:47.6.

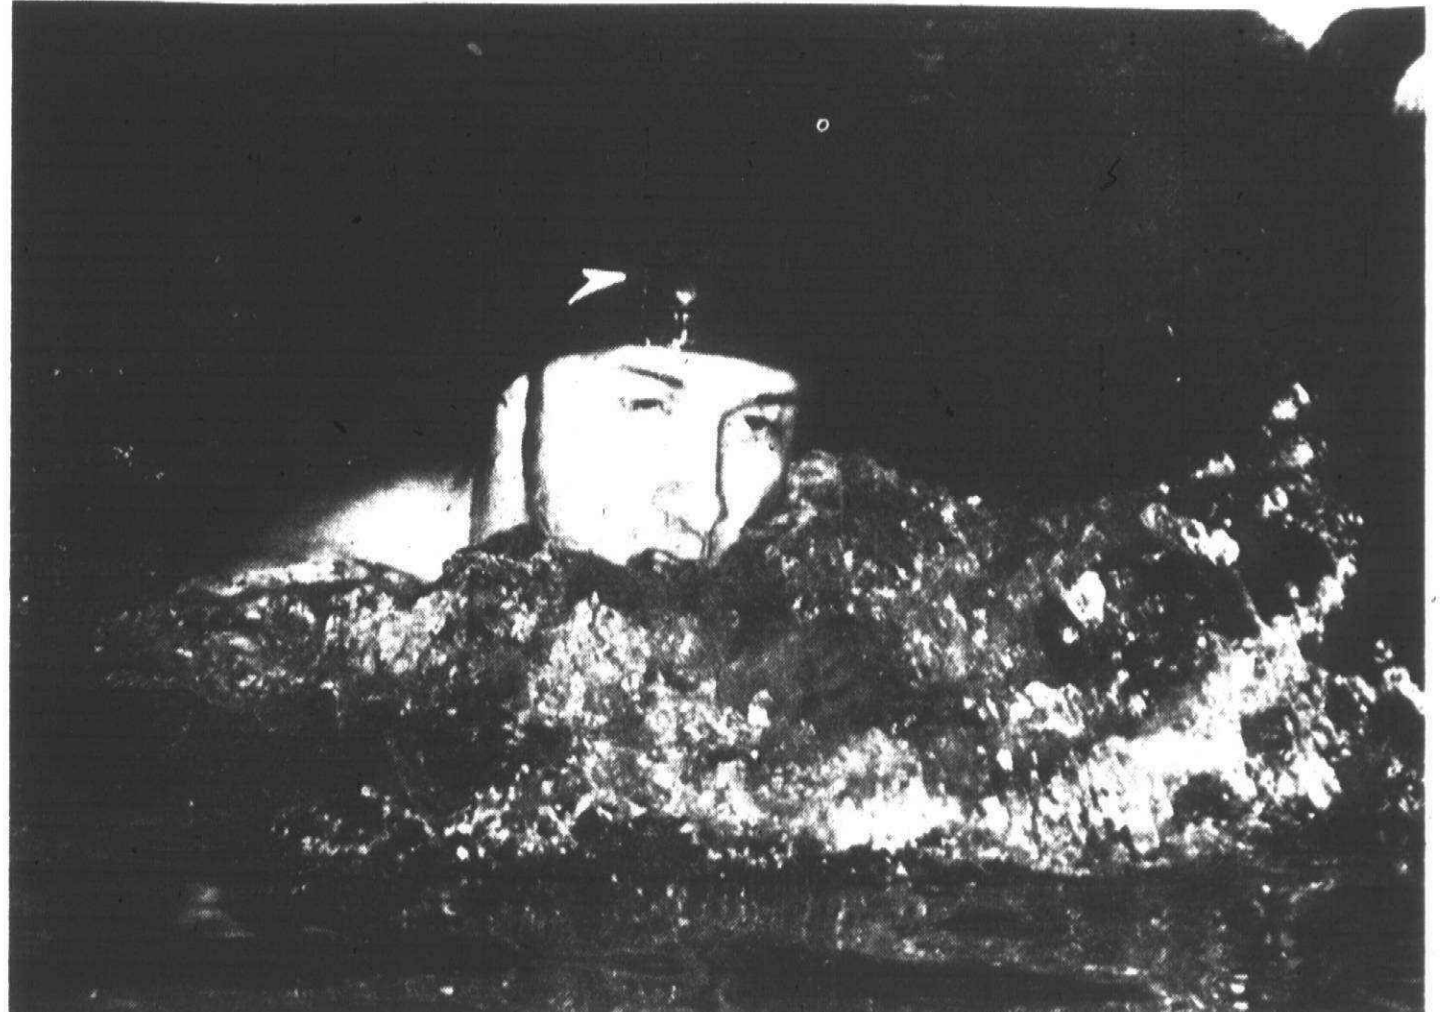

Wood won the 50-yard freestyle and placed second in the 100-yard freestyle in times of 23.8 and 51.9, respectively.

Gaab was victorious in the 100-yard butterfly in 1:01.6, and finished fourth in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 2:01.8.

Tri-captain Cline took second in the 100-yard backstroke and third in the 200-yard individual medley. He swam the 100-back in a time of 1:01.3, and the 200-yard individual medley in 2:11.8.

Steve Gray performed well in the diving competition, accumulating 145.25 points, his highest point total of the season. He took second place. John Gray also had his best performance this season, finishing fourth with 133.75 points.

The Chiefs travel to Farmington Harrison tomorrow for a Western Six League contest to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Paul Petersen had another outstanding evening for the Plymouth Canton swim team despite the Chiefs' dual meet loss to Northville. Petersen, a sophomore, won this race—the 200-yard individual medley. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey).

Strong Edsel Ford dunks Salem tankers

By ANDY MELIN

Despite a superb performance by sophomore Craig Finley, the Plymouth Salem boys' swim team was dunked 94-68 in its first Suburban Eight League dual meet with Edsel Ford at the Thunderbirds' pool Thursday night.

The loss dropped the Rocks' dual meet record to 2-3.

"It was a tough meet," said Salem coach Chuck Olson. "We had a few problems, but Edsel Ford swam well."

Edsel won eight out of the 11 events. Finley took two out of the three Rock first place finishes. He was victorious in both the 200-yard individual medley and the 500-yard freestyle in 2:10.3 and 5:01.0, respectively.

The other Salem victory was in the 100-yard breaststroke as Bob Simone swam the distance in 1:08.8.

The Rocks' 200-yard medley relay team of Bruce Harwood, Simone, Rob Kuebler and Barry Lee placed second in 1:51.7.

Senior tri-captain Tom Rubadue finished second in the 200-yard freestyle in a time of 1:55.5. He also placed second in the 100-yard freestyle in 51.9.

Tri-captain Kuebler took second place in both the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard butterfly, recording times of 2:19.4 and 1:00.0, respectively.

Mike Etienne, senior tri-captain, finished second in the 50-yard freestyle in 24.3, and third in the 500-yard freestyle in 5:29.8.

Edsel took the first three places in the diving competition.

In the 100-yard backstroke, Jeff Little came in third with a time of 1:11.4.

Jeff Harris finished third in the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:11.0.

Salem's 400-yard freestyle relay foursome of Rubadue, Etienne, Harris and Finley placed second in 3:38.5.

The Rocks will host Suburban Eight League adversary Livonia Bentley this Thursday at 7 p.m.

Chief reserves upset

The Plymouth Canton junior varsity basketball team blew a seven-point fourth quarter lead and was upset by Farmington 52-47 Tuesday night at Canton.

Farmington, having won only two of its first nine games, was ready to play, jumping on the sluggish Chiefs.

Canton, 6-2, had an early 14-10 first-quarter lead and a 23-21 margin at halftime.

In the opening moments of the third quarter, the Chiefs played poorly as the Falcons grabbed a 42-35 lead after the first four minutes. After a timeout, the Chiefs rebounded with 14 straight unanswered points to take a 39-32 lead into the final quarter.

The Chiefs planed no defense in the fourth period, however, and trailed 48-44 in the final minute of play.

Forced to foul, the Chiefs hoped the sub-50 per cent free throw shooters on the Falcons' squad would miss their charity tosses. Farmington converted on every late opportunity, however, to finish the upset.

Brad Westin led the Chiefs' scoring with 16 points. Scott Adler and John Matthews followed with 10 points each.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

The sharpshooters had one of their biggest nights of the year in the Wonderland Classic and when the final pin fell, all sorts of records had been set.

For the fourth time since the season opened, there were four series above 700 and the 3400 barrier had been broken in the team series.

This was all because Jim Shelps' Ryder Ranger team got "hot" and sent the pins flying as never before.

Bill Walker paced this attack with a 741 on games of 247, 226 and 268. And right behind him came teammate Shelps, who linked counts of 213, 227 and 298 for 733. During his 298 game, Shelps piled up 11 strikes only to leave the 4-7 on his final ball.

These two sharpshooters enabled the Ranger team to pile up games of 1132, 1124 and 1152 for a 3408 count. It was a new record for the Classic.

While the Ryder bowlers were having a great time, two others got in on the fun when Jack Bohn fashioned games of 278, 195 and 257 for 730 and Bud Gignac came through with counts of 242, 211 and 249 for 702.

THE WAYNE COUNTY Road Commission league at Garden Lanes continues to come up with hair-raising finishes. This week, it was Roy Vroman and Ken Redford who furnished the thrills, as they struggled to the last ball.

Roy finally won the battle by a one-pin margin with a 606.

In the St. Louis league, Ken Urbanczyk showed the way with 646, with Dave Bailey in the runner-up spot with 623. Others who bettered double-century figures were Dave Bajorek and Don Doemcz, who tied at 621 and Bill Cloud who made the goal with a 603.

AS USUAL the doors to the split-conversion club were opened this week at Mayflower Lanes to admit two new members. Barb Meronays entered by making the 4-7-9-10 and both Renee Young and Dorothy Kennedy topped the 6-7-10.

Meanwhile, Wanda Caruso turned in a 139 triplicate. In the actual pin fall, John Good posted a 630 that included a 254 game and Pam Richards had a 201 in a 550 series.

THE BELLES are turning in some close finishes, too, and this week Pauline Anderson, with a 148 average, had a 203 game in 510 and beat Nancy Bellingier, who carries a 143 average, by two pins. Nancy had a 207 game in her series.

Before the Belles had finished, Sharon Hunt grabbed some of the spotlight by converting the 2-7-10 split.

In the Keglerettes league, Charlene Schurman, with a 137 average, rolled a 479 to gain pacemaking honors. Another good showing was that of Ann Dammiga, who carries a 104 average and fashioned a 435.

Bentley survives in OT

After recording a big victory over Plymouth Salem earlier in the week, Livonia Bentley coach Jim Komula said he figured his basketball team would be a little flat Friday against Dearborn Edsel Ford.

Flat the Bulldogs were, as they had to go into overtime to down Edsel, 42-39.

The visiting Thunderbirds tied the score with 30 seconds to go and good defense prevented either team from taking another shot during regulation time.

Dave Stone canned a foul shot and Tim Evans made a field goal to give Bentley a three-point cushion in overtime, which the Livonians nurtured the rest of the way.

"Chris Bollin did a nice job on the boards tonight (12 rebounds) and Dave Stone played with a badly sprained ankle and had, eight rebounds and still led us in scoring (16 points)," said Komula.

Bentley pulled-out a 46-45 win in the JV preliminary.

First-year squad tops area

Chief gymnasts have talent

When a new sports program emerges at the high school level, it is very difficult for a coach to develop a strong, competitive team in the first season.

In the case of the Plymouth Canton gymnasts, however, experienced athletes could make Barb Winn's squad one of the state's high school powers.

"I don't know about all the teams around the state but in our area we should be one of the strongest," Winn said.

Most of the top gymnasts in the state participate in gymnastics clubs. At this point, high school teams do not produce the best participants during the four-month season, Winn explained.

But the experience which should make Canton one of the top crews in the state comes from Leslie Bublin, Katy Heaton and Leah Schrades, all former members of the Plymouth Gymnastics Club.

Add to these three girls five more gymnasts who have gained background in the sport through Winn's physical education class at the Centennial Park, and the Chiefs could win it all.

"We were really lucky to have the kids come out who did," Winn said. "We're sitting pretty well and should get good team scores."

To make matter even more appealing for Winn's program, there are no seniors on the Chiefs' 13-member squad.

Bublin, the strongest Canton gymnast, Heaton and Schrader are all steady performers in the all-around competition.

The gymnasts will some background include Anita Hulack, Maureen Moran, Robin Rodaye, Kathy Kiefer and Joan Hemingway.

Five girls who are first-year gymnasts at the freshmen level are Kim Hoffman, Heather Hawkins, Kelly Harvey, Robbie Geoge and Chris Eschker.

Winn has a lot of personal gymnastic background, starting as a performer in ninth grade. She competed at the college level at Indiana State University and also worked as an assistant coach for the team after graduation.

Winn now coaches at the Livonia YWCA gymnastic program and has a national rating as a judge.

The Chiefs open the season tonight (Monday) traveling to Walled Lake Central for a 7 p.m. meet.

Winn sights Taylor, Bloomfield and Ludington as some of the top teams in the state.

Young Rocks must improve

Coaches at all levels of athletics always find the first year of a new program very frustrating since most participants are young and inexperienced.

Plymouth Salem's girls' gymnastics team is no exception, but the enthusiasm and experience of coach Gretchen Parcells could turn the Rocks' season into a successful one.

With only nine girls competing, most of whom are in their first year of gymnastics, it might be a rough initial season for the Rocks. But this doesn't seem to discourage Parcells, who's very familiar with first-year programs.

Parcells, a graduate student at the University of Michigan, was part of a beginning gymnastics program, herself, when the Wolverine women pushed for a gymnastics club years ago. She knows the problem with developing a new team.

Although the Rock mentor was disappointed with the small turnout for this year's squad, she hopes to develop the Rocks toward championship status.

"It was hard to advertise for a turnout in such a big school since I'm not there," Parcells said. "This wasn't as big a turnout as I expected."

"It's hard for the girls to do a whole routine. We will start working on compulsory exercises, and I'm hoping by the end of the year we can work on optionals."

While Parcells knows the season will be full of basic learning, she anticipates improvement from her crew.

"What I would eventually like is for the girls to put together their own routine—doing the activities they do best."

It's likely the Rocks won't have any all-around gymnasts, as most of the girls will concentrate on a single activity.

Tina Melone could prove to be the top gymnast for Salem if she overcomes a wrist injury. She competes on the bars and beams.

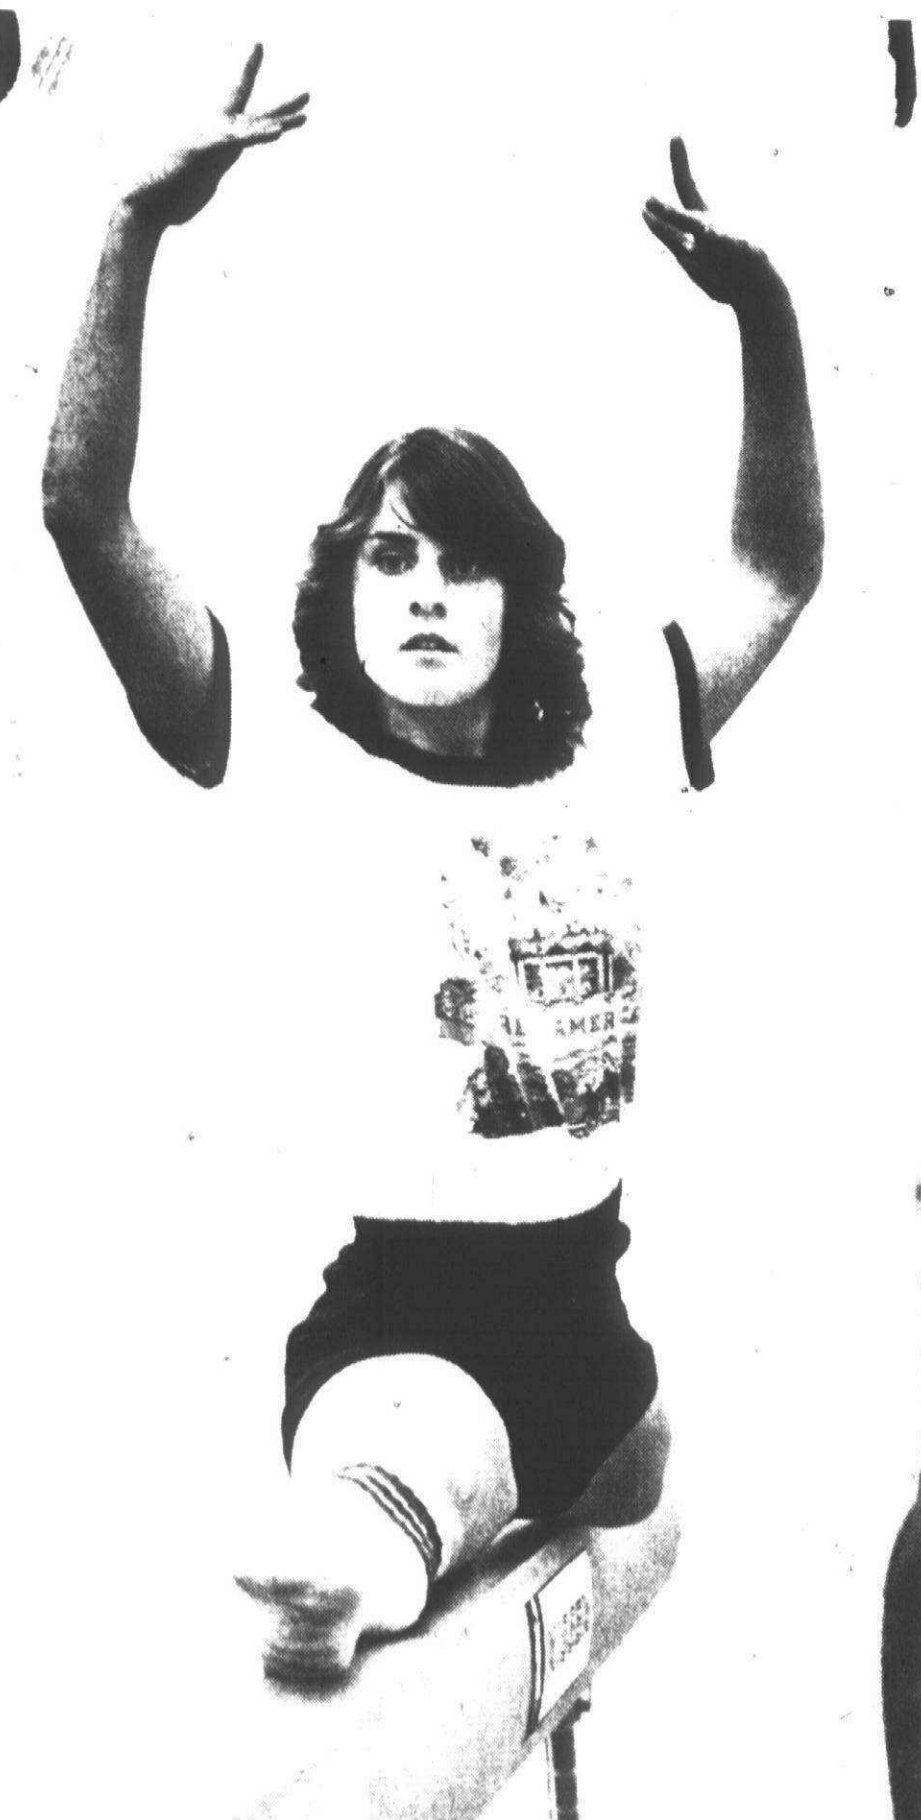

Renee Louks works on the bars and vaults. She might finish the year as an all-around performer.

Paula Farmer and Michelle Griffin work on the beam and Linda L. Heruex is on the bars.

Sue Clarke, Sharon Tottem and Bonnie Peters work together on three different events, while Sharon Huick joined the squad late and is unsure of her activity.

Parcells worked as the diving coach for Anne Massey in the Plymouth Canton swim program last fall. She also teaches gymnastics in the Plymouth-Canton Continuing Education program.

The Rocks' first competition of the season is a home meet this Wednesday, Jan. 18 against Belleville.

Canton's top gymnast Leslie Bublin shows her skill on the balance beam during a recent practice. The Chiefs' sport one of the top teams in the area. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey).

Plymouth Club still competes

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

With the emergence of two new girls gymnastic teams at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton High Schools, does John Cunningham's Plymouth Gymnastics Club still exist?

The answer is definitely yes. Although this year's club consists of younger girls at the middle and elementary school level, Cunningham still plans to be competitive in his league.

His teams this year won't be the potent state-power of past years, but the squad has a strong future.

Since the existence of Cunningham's club is still very much a part of the schools, is there any competition or conflicts between the club and the high school teams?

According to Cunningham, Gretchen Parcells (Salem coach) and Barb Winn (Canton coach), everything is fine with the three-team setup—although all three coaches admit conflicts could arise in the future as the high school programs begin to develop.

There were only five high school girls returning from Cunningham's program this year. Three girls joined the Canton team, on Cunningham's encouragement. The other two gymnasts joined a club in West Bloomfield.

Competition between the club and the teams could grow in the future, however, as the more-talented girls in Cunningham's group enter the high schools.

The high school teams currently work with beginning gymnasts while Cunningham's younger group has much more experience. As the high school programs develop, the desire for experienced gymnasts will increase.

The transfer of three gymnasts from Cunningham's squad to Canton's crew could make the Chiefs' a state power—because of the girls' talent and experience.

Despite the inevitable problem in the future, all three coaches are content to work with each other. Salem and Canton both practice together in the single gymnastics room which Cunningham designed.

The Plymouth club practices after the high school teams. They use the equipment, most of which Cunningham bought through club fund raisers. He lets the school use his equipment and the schools let him practice in the gymnastics facility.

"The conflicts are not with the school and the district in general," Cunningham said. "There's just not as much freedom with the facility—although we still hold meets here."

"It's like I have a foot in the door—and I have it out the door."

So everything and everybody seems content and happy now as all three teams continue to share and share alike.

But what's going to happen two or three years down the road?

No one seems worried about it now.

Canton booster supports Doc

Editor:

As a Canton booster, it was very enlightening to read Dennis O'Connor's supportive article of Jan. 5, "Bring Schule to CEP."

We agree 100 percent with Doc's position that head football coach (Dave) Schule should be hired as a full time teacher in the Canton system.

You cited money as the problem. Money did not seem to be an issue with the school board and administration when they denied the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association's offer to take over the Middle School seventh grade competitive athletics program (refer to school board agenda item 77-5-86, dated May 23, 1977).

As it should be, the welfare of the children was their main concern. Their policy seems somewhat inconsistent.

As a closing thought, a wise decision was made a few years ago to pay for (Fred) Thomann's (basketball coach) experience as a Salem teacher.

Why not give the students at Canton the same benefits by hiring coach Schule as a full time teacher?

Jim Poole and his family had an unusual visitor to their home on S. Umberland in Canton Township.

Lynette, 10, looked out the window and announced, "There's a duck in the back yard."

Greta Poole opened the door and said, "Hi there!"

The mallard hen walked across the patio and right into the family room—and she stayed. As Jim described it, "She's making herself right at home." He admitted she was a rather dirty bird and "we have about six towels spread around to protect the carpet."

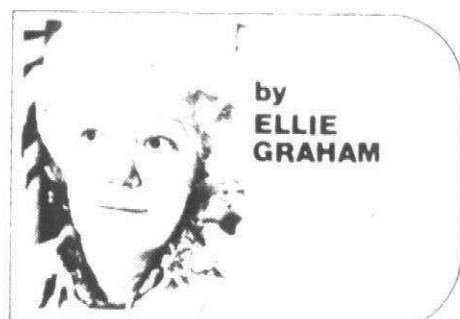

The Pooles noticed the duck was being stalked by a cat in the yard. Every time they looked out the window during the evening, they saw a pair of glowing green eyes. So the duck was allowed to stay indoors.

They provided her with a bowl of water and pieces of bread. She consumed all the bread after dunking each chunk in the water.

Jim thought she may have been hatched near the banks of a creek a short distance from the house. Greta said a dead drake had been found in the park and it may have been the hen's mate.

Whatever her origin, they agreed their family room was not a healthful environment for even a very domesticated wild duck.

COLLECTING USED books for their annual sale is a year-round effort for members of the Plymouth branch American Association of University Women.

RUTH SHERMAN and Carl Peters had high scores at the Thursday afternoon party bridge game in the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Carl and Frances Peters are running the game in the absence of Floyd and Margaret Swartz. Floyd is an intensive care patient in St. Mary-Hospital, Livonia.

THERE'LL BE great activity in the Plymouth Historical Museum this week as members of the Plymouth branch Woman's National Farm and Garden Association and friends take down the Christmas decorations and displays.

Coming up are two new exhibits—an extensive display of Abraham Lincoln memorabilia, and a collection of Civil War artifacts.

The museum has a Civil War uniform, cannon ball and drum. Many additional items will be on loan. These will include a Civil War medal of honor.

The new exhibits will be in place by Jan. 21.

GUEST SPEAKER at last week's meeting of the German American Club of Plymouth was Mary Crichton, professor of German at the University of Michigan.

She gave readings of German lyric poetry and showed slides related to the selections.

FUNDS RAISED during the Plymouth Mothers March of Dimes support research, public health education and community service programs.

"All of them are aimed at protecting the unborn and the newborn," said Barbara Carpenter, Mothers March chairman for the city of Plymouth.

The march will be the week of Jan. 24. Those who wish to volunteer a few hours to the march can call 863-3000.

MEMBERS OF THE League of Women Voters are thinking ahead to November.

The question "Should a convention be called for the purpose of general revision of Michigan's Constitution?" will be placed on the November 1978 Michigan general election ballot.

League members hope to reach a decision of agreement or disagreement at their Jan. 25 meeting.

Somehow, the thought of a constitutional convention takes me back to the Plymouth High School class of 1962.

Will any of them ever forget Con-con? And can they recall con-con without recalling government teacher Miss Gertrude Fiegel after whom Fiegel Elementary School was named?

It would be interesting to know if they would approve another constitutional convention.

"Sing America," a musical revue based on the first 100 years of the American colonies, will visit 11 Plymouth-Canton elementary schools later this month.

In 10 scenes, traditional songs of each period, dances and narrative drama tell the story from colonial times to homesteading. Each scene deals with a major historic development.

The revue will be presented by Albion Productions, a member of the American Theatre Association, Michigan Children's Theatre Association, and the New York Drama Guild.

The two main characters in the revue are Calamity Jane and Johnny Flint. Calamity Jane, born Mary Jane Canary, actually grew up on the frontier. She was a pony express rider and a scout for General George Custer.

Johnny Flint is fictional. He agreed with the first settlers and embodies the best American qualities of the intrepid, "diamond in the rough." He is adventurous, open-hearted, ingenious, optimistic, honest, enduring, brash and fun-loving.

THE TWO CHARACTERS from the past meet three contemporary young people. They proceed to show them, in serious, humorous and dramatic episodes, that history is livelier than the pages of a book and has meaning for their everyday lives.

"Sing America" opens with a "What is History?" segment. The scene moves to colonial days and on to the American Revolution. Scene 4 deals with the pioneers and the move westward through the Cumberland gap. It explains how the Buckeyes, the Hoosiers and the Cornercrackers got their names. The revue continues with "Cotton," "The Civil War," "Gold!" "The Railroad," "Cowboys," and "Homesteading."

A study guide based on the revue is available to teachers ahead of time to stimulate discussion before and after performances.

THE PRODUCTION is staged by two New Yorkers, director Frederick

Rolf and choreographer Judith Haskell and is performed by a talented cast of professional actors, singers, dancers and musicians.

Kay Britten, writer and concert singer-guitarist, wrote the book and lyrics and adapted the North American traditional music that is the backbone of the revue.

The ingenious set is adaptable to any stage or school auditorium. The varied and colorful costumes were specially designed for Albion Productions by New York designers Michael J. Hotopp and Paul dePass.

The company will be at Isbister the morning of Jan. 23 and at Hulsing in the afternoon. Other appearances will be: Jan. 24, Farrand and Allen; Jan. 25, Eriksson and Tanger; Jan. 26, Fie-gel and Starkweather; Jan. 27, Miller and Gallimore.

ARRANGEMENTS for the bookings of "Sing America" were made by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Jan Quick, chairman of the PCAC Professional Performing Arts School Programs, spends a great deal of time tracking down programs which would be of interest to the schools and would be available to them at reasonable rates. Most of her attention is focused on the 14 elementary schools including St. Peter's Lutheran and Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic School. Occasionally, the middle schools schedule a program.

Each spring, Mrs. Quick sends a descriptive listing of all programs available for the following year to all the principals. Request forms are returned to Jan Quick who then contacts the performers and schedules dates and times satisfactory to schools and performers. In the fall, school principals are given a complete schedule of their own programs as well as the other schools.

The PCAC gives each school a sum of money ($20 this year) to help pay for the programs. Each school has its own method of raising the balance, often with the help of its PTO.

This year, Mrs. Quick, through the PCAC, applied to the Michigan Council For the Arts for a mini-grant of $1,000 to help pay for the Albion Productions appearances. The grant provided 10 elementary schools with $100 each toward the fee. The PCAC is providing an additional $400 for the other four schools.

Schools not having the Albion players because of cancellation of "All About Us" will use their $100 toward an alternative program.

"Sing America" is made possible with the support of the state of Michigan through a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts. For further information on available services contact Michigan Council for the Arts, 1200 Sixth Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48226.

GS cookie hucksters plan sales campaign

A cookie kickoff luncheon, a training meeting for area cookie chairmen, and a "There is Magic in Girl Scout Cookies" show have set the mood for the annual Girl Scout cookie sale which runs Jan. 30 through Feb. 12.

Before the sales campaign begins, scouts will get acquainted with their product by sampling the six varieties of cookies, which are made in Michigan.

New this year are the snow drop cookies—chocolate cake covered with hard marshmallow frosting. The traditional favorites are: Peanut butter patties, a vanilla cookie topped with peanut butter and covered in chocolate; sandwich cremes, a vanilla sandwich cookie with creme frosting; thin mint cookies, a vanilla cookie covered with mint-chocolate icing; shortbread cookies, a vanilla shortbread; and PJs, an oatmeal sandwich cookie filled with peanut butter frosting.

The price is $1.25 per box. The Girl Scouts earn 7 1/2 cents on each box. Twenty cents of this goes directly to the troop. The remainder supplements funds provided by United Way and Community Funds, direct gifts from friends and other sources.

Profits from this year's sale will help to pay for the new troop house now under construction at Huron Valley Council's Camp Crawford. Plymouth-Northville-Canton Girl Scouts are members of the Huron Valley Council.

DORIS RORABACHER, 9566 Gold Arbor, Plymouth Township, will serve as cookie chairman for the 1978 sale.

She is coordinating the sale for 27 selling troops in the Plymouth area. Mrs. Rorabacher chaired the sale last year, and has been involved at both troop and area levels for seven years.

"The cookie sale gives me the opportunity to talk to the girls and leaders and find out what is happening in girl scouting," said Mrs. Rorabacher. "Besides, it's fun."

Besides serving on several area committees, she has been a Brownie leader for three years and a Junior Girl Scout troop leader for five years.

Each Girl Scout and volunteer participating in the sale will receive a certificate of thanks. It is part of Mrs. Rorabacher's job to order these certificates when she places the troops' cookie orders.

SCOUTS WHO SELL at least 50 boxes of cookies will earn a patch with the number 50 on it. To earn a 100 patch, girls must sell 100 or more boxes. Those who sell 300 or more will earn a Super Patch.

The magic number this year is 78. Those selling 78 boxes receive an added bonus—a bright canary yellow tote bag with silk-screened green lettered message "Girl Scouts are smart cookies."

The top troop in per girl sales in each of Huron Valley's associations will have the chance to be one of the first seven troops camping at the new Crawford Cabin which will open in late spring. The other top 10 per cent of the troops will camp at Linden or Hilltop without paying the usual fee.

Throughout the United States more than 70 million boxes of Girl Scout cookies are sold each year. Brownies do not participate in the area council sale.

The sale is authorized by the State of Michigan under license number 9054.

AAUW speaker

Guest speaker at the Jan. 21 meeting of the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women will be Dr. Paul Pearsall, director of a Problems in Daily Living clinic at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Detroit. He is professor in the department of psychology at Henry Ford Community College and an affiliated faculty member in the psychology department at Wayne State University. Pearsall's writings and publications include a paper published by the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. He also has done research and assessment of human sexual function and dysfunction, is a certified consulting psychologist, and has a permanent teaching certificate. The meeting will be at noon in the Roman Forum Restaurant, Canton Township.

Magician Hank Moorehouse attended the cookie kickoff luncheon at Win Schuler's as did Jo Morse, area chairman for Plymouth-Northville-Canton girl scouts, and Doris Rorabacher, cookie sale chairman. Moorehouse, also known as Mr. Bubbles to television audiences, was in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium Saturday with his special Girl Scout Cookie Magic Show. More than 500 scouts and brownies attended.

Club joins land trust effort

Land use is a frequent topic of conversation in Canton and Plymouth townships and the City of Plymouth. Much of this discussion is centered around our own communities but there is a larger "national community" that also needs our attention.

The American Land Trust, established in 1976 by leaders in conservation business and civic affairs, has identified at least one significant natural area in each of the 50 states that should be preserved for future generations.

The organization has set these goals: "To heighten public awareness of the critical and urgent need to preserve our last environmentally and ecologically unique lands, and to raise $200 million in donations of land itself or in contributions directly to save such lands."

The National Council of State Garden Clubs joined the cooperative effort in 76. State Federations and Garden Clubs asked each of their chapters to consider making a financial commitment.

THE PILGRIM Garden Club has reached the third and final year of its commitment to the trust. At the Jan. 5 business meeting the membership voted unanimously to contribute $200 and, in addition, include personal donations.

It is a significant contribution from a relatively small organization. But, it carries even more impact when coupled with last year's donation of $150 plus individual gifts.

The trust is seeking "natural areas that shelter rare or endangered species, the best remaining samples of unprotected ecosystems and lands with unique natural features." The members of the Pilgrim Garden Club are to be commended for their important and valuable effort toward a goal benefiting us, our children and future generations to come.

Club members also are encouraging the growth of other garden clubs in the community. On the recommendation of Dorothy Ricky, District I director, they voted to co-sponsor the new Sunshine Gardeners Club which will serve interested persons on the western sections of Canton and Plymouth Townships.

IT WAS NOT all serious work at the meeting. The evening began with a delightful and educational presentation on lawn care and maintenance by Gerry Draheim of the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service. He is well known to television viewers as a Friday regular on the AM Detroit show.

He was introduced to the audience by club Vice President Antje Wolfe. The presentation, which included tips on lawn seeding, fertilizing and blight control was accompanied by informational pamphlets and peppered with humorous anecdotes.

After the program, the members took a brief respite the night's activities to indulge in a few calorie-filled goodies. January hostesses were Debbie Huntington, Cheryl Gibbons and Jan Dersey.

Tonight, the club's special interest group on violets will meet at the home of Sharon Rucinski. Ten to 12 fans of the velvet leafed plant are expected to hear Sue Coker discuss violet care and exchange cuttings and plantlets.

PETER SCHWEITZER, public relations representative of the Plymouth Center for Human Development, recently spoke to the congregation of Geneva United Presbyterian Church. The purpose of his visit was to help area residents become more aware of new and existing programs at the center.

Their goal, as explained in a brief sound and slide presentation, is to assist the 800 mentally retarded residents in becoming more self sufficient, self confident and capable. In other words, to become "someone."

The normalization process has a multi-purpose approach. Personal cleanliness, a clean environment, good training programs and community placement are the center's objectives.

Toward this end some 830 staff members are employed, including the recent addition of social worker Carol Pastori, a Canton resident.

Ongoing programs fostering personal grooming include, "The In Fashion Shoppe" run by a staff member, a resident and two community merchants. Residents select their clothing from racks in an atmosphere similar to most retail clothing stores.

Awareness of their environment can be seen clearly in the Sugarshack, an area designated for leisure time activities. Participation in the Special Olympics demonstrates months of hard work by staff and residents. Many have received medals for their achievements.

Returning residents to home and community are the ultimate goals. They are also the most difficult due to a lack of understanding and acceptance by the community.

Several avenues are open to those who wish to become better informed. A well established program known as the "Forgotten Child" allows persons to "adopt" a retarded child abandoned by his family. Gifts are sent on birthdays and holidays as well as cards and letters.

Religious education by area ministers in an ecumenical approach to instruction is a new and growing concept at the center. One teacher, three aides and a music person are needed to work with each class of 15 residents, one day a week.

For more information about these classes contact the Rev. Jeffrey Goldsmith, 459-0013. Other questions should be referred to Schweitzer at the Plymouth Center for Human Development, 453-1500.

Heath backs teacher licensing bill

King Day established

Teachers and administrators, common antagonists in school matters, clashed once again Friday over proposed legislation changing state teacher certification.

At a hearing in O'Leary Auditorium before a house subcommittee on teacher licensing, Garden City School Supt. Bracken Snow led a number of school administration opponents of House Bill 4242 which, Snow said, would allow teachers to control the educational process.

The bill, supported by the Michigan Education Association (MEA), the state's largest teachers' union, would create a teacher-dominated commission to license and regulate teachers.

A handful of local teachers' union representatives from western Wayne County and Troy also testified before a five-member special house subcommittee on teacher licensing.

If there are to be any changes in state board of education teacher certification, school administrators would rather see House Bill 5109 passed. This bill, also a topic of Friday's hearing, calls for a similar but larger commission to make recommendations to the state board of education.

Snow, who led off Friday's speakers, said the bill in effect, "gives absolute control of education—the number of professional personnel, the preparation, curriculum, standards of accreditation and quality of instruction.

"The control of the educational processes would, by HB 4242, be placed in teachers' hands," Snow said.

Through strikes, work slowdowns and "excessive absenteeism," Snow said teachers have shown "their contempt for the law, for the court system, for community board of education and its administration, the communities they serve, its parents and their children."

BUT THE FIVE teachers who spoke at the hearing maintained teachers are most qualified to regulate themselves.

"No one is more aware of what is necessary to be a good teacher than are the teachers who work day by day in the classrooms," said Troy Education Association president Larry Lage.

The teachers criticized the committee, chaired by State Rep. William Keith, (D-Garden City), for holding the hearing when most teachers were in their classrooms.

"I'm concerned that the people most directly affected by the proposed legislation are in general not able to provide your subcommittee with testimony," said John Melchor, chief negotiator for Garden City Education Association. "If it weren't for the fact that this hearing is in my own school building, I probably could not be here," he said.

MEA President Keith Geiger, in a prepared statement, said, "teachers, being the most knowledgeable about education and their educational needs," should be making decisions about the teaching profession.

"With the hue and cry of the public being 'teacher accountability,' it is only fair that teachers have a decisive voice in setting professional standards and licensure criteria," Geiger said.

Geiger did not attend the hearing. His statement was read by Bill Heath, a teacher in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District.

THE MEA ARGUES that the legislation would give teachers the same voice in setting standards for their profession that others already have.

But the Michigan Association of School Boards (MASB) and Michigan Association of School Administrators (MASA) maintain basic differences exist between teachers and licensed professionals like doctors and lawyers. Teachers are largely public employees, school administrators say, and parents have to send their children to school with no option to choose a teacher.

William Lobenherz, an assistant executive director of MASB told the sub-committee the concept of teacher self-governance set forth in HB 4242 is at odds with the constitutionally mandated concept of free public education for children in Michigan.

Lobenherz said MASB was "not aware of any shortcomings in the present system which could not be remedied just effectively by providing legislative direction to an elected regulatory body—our state board of education."

Patricia Widmayer, representing the state department of education, summarized a lengthy series of proposals offered by the state agency to upgrade teacher certification and teacher participation.

Garden City Supt. Snow questioned whether any legislation is necessary but added, "should the legislature deem otherwise" he supports the Keith-sponsored HB 5109. He called it a more "logical and practical approach."

Other groups testifying against HB 4242 included Garden City Administrators Association, Christians for Better Government, the Metropolitan Association for Improved School Districts in Garden City, Livonia, Wayne-Westland, Plymouth-Canton and Redford Township—Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals and Michigan Congress of Schools.

TO FURTHER complicate the licensing topic, the Michigan Federation of Teachers (MFT) question any change in certification or licensing.

The commission MEA wants to see created would have the authority to issue and renew teacher licenses, set license fees and minimum competency standards for prospective teachers and have regulatory powers on the curriculum and number of teaching students enrolled in state colleges.

The commission would be selected by the state board of education and would participate in accrediting public and private schools.

"Classroom teachers have the greatest stake in this total training and licensing process," teacher union leader Lage said.

Others speaking in favor of HB 4242 included Phyllis Mitchell, a teacher at Feigel Elementary School in the Plymouth-Canton District and Ron Campau, president of the Livonia Education Association.

Other legislators present included State Rep. Thomas Holcomb (D-Lansing), who introduced HB 4242, Rep. Ted Stopczynski (D-Detroit), and Rep. Bela Kennedy (R-Bangor).

Martin Luther King will be honored by an annual day of commemoration in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, according to a resolution passed by the school board.

This year Martin Luther King Day falls on Jan. 16, the closest Monday to his Jan. 15 birthday.

The civil rights leaders of the 1960s will be the topic of classroom discussions and activities in the schools. According to direction from the Michigan Department of Education, Martin Luther King Day is a day of commemoration and not a legal school holiday.

Off-road horse

The Ford Bronco is a four-wheel-drive vehicle that was designed to seat six adults (when equipped with optional seats), making it a family-size outdoor recreational vehicle. A floor footwell allows rear-seat passengers to sit in a natural, upright position. A swing-down type tailgate has a standard power-operated window.

'78 auto show auctions Friday

The new car auctions of past Detroit Auto Shows will be continued this year at the 1978 show. "Something for Everyone." In addition, at least one truck will be auctioned.

Thursday and Friday will feature a traveling auctioneer who will move from exhibit to exhibit where the cars to be auctioned, displayed and where the auction actually will take place.

Among the vehicles to be auctioned during one of the two nights are Buick Regal, Cadillac Coupe de Ville, Chevrolet Monte Carlo, Chrysler-Plymouth Horizon, Ford Futura, Dodge Omni, Lincoln Mercury Cougar, Oldsmobile Cutlass, Pontiac Trans Am Firebird and GMC Diablo (truck).

Each exhibitor will hold the auction in his individual exhibit area. The special auction car will appear within the exhibitor's display throughout the entire show and can be seen before the show at participating dealerships.

Bidding on special auction cars will begin at below-dealer cost.

The Detroit Auto Show has been a downtown attraction since 1908. This year's show marks the 62nd time that the Detroit Auto Dealers Association has sponsored the event, which started Saturday and will run through Sunday, Jan. 22, at Cobo Hall.

Every week night of the show features a different event, beginning with Kids Night tonight. Wednesday night will be Celebrity Night and will highlight many Detroit area personalities, including sports figures, newspaper columnists and radio and television celebrities.

Something else

And what's an auto show without pretty girls? This year's Miss Detroit Auto Show is a 24-year-old radio newperson. Carmen Harlan, WWW news director, was selected Friday by nine judges from among 10 finalists for the title.
