Detroit plant's waste may go to Canton site

By DARLENE STINSON

A firm hired by the City of Detroit to dispose of hundreds of tons of human waste has proposed a site in Canton Township to convert treated sludge into fertilizer.

Under the plan proposed by By-Product Systems of Michigan, Inc., 600 tons of treated sludge would be shipped daily from the Detroit wastewater treatment plant to a 140-acre parcel on the south side of Michigan east of Morton Taylor.

After composting in an open field for 51 days, the sludge would take the form of an odorless soil additive that By-Product general manager Tom Reed says his firm plans to sell.

The proposal would help the Detroit Water and Sewage Department carry out a court order to decrease the amount of waste that is being dumped into the Detroit River. The order stems from a lawsuit filed against Detroit by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Reed says his firm holds a three-year contract with Detroit to establish interim measures for disposal of 20 per cent of the treatment plant's sludge. Reed said the entire 20 per cent — or 600 tons a day — would be deposited at the proposed Canton site.

The remaining 80 per cent would be incinerated at the treatment plant, according to Erman Fisher, deputy director of the Detroit Water and Sewage Department.

REED SAID his firm's engineering consultants identified the Canton site as the best in the metropolitan area for the composting of sludge. He said the decision was based on the parcel's high clay table, appropriate industrial zoning and easy access to Detroit.

Before the first truckload of sludge can be delivered to the Canton site, however, Reed must convince township officials, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, the Michigan Health Department and other county and state agencies that the plan is environmentally sound.

Reed hopes to submit site plans for the estimated $2 million project to the Canton Planning Commission next month and start operation of the waste

Board hears other options on boundaries

A new set of middle school boundaries has been drawn to avoid moving students who already have changed schools in recent years.

The new middle school adjustments were presented by the boundary and growth committee to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night.

The committee still is considering one change on elementary boundaries and will report back to the school board by Monday, March 19.

The middle school recommendation is a complete change from two earlier proposals while the elementary changes remain the same as first proposed, with the one possible exception.

The result, if finally approved by the board, will be that the middle school boundaries will result in moving students who have never changed schools before.

Students who have changed schools in the past will remain at the middle schools they would have attended this year before the boundary proposals were made.

AFTER LAST WEEK'S public hearings, the school board sent the boundary committee back to the drawing boards with new instructions.

First the committee was told to draw boundaries which might last only one year instead of two in order to minimize the number of students whose attendance patterns would be disrupted.

The committee also was asked to move those students from families that have just moved into the school district and have not had to change schools in the past.

A third instruction was to assume that Pioneer Middle School will remain on Extended School Year (ESY) for the 1979-80 school year. (Keeping Pioneer on ESY likely will mean that East Middle will be converted to year-round school for 1980-81.)

John Telford, co-chairperson of the committee, said the middle school changes involve moving 142 students from five subdivisions. The changes will result in students from the same subdivisions attending the same schools, he added.

Under the new plan, the only subdivisions affected by the middle school boundary adjustments are Mayfair, Forest Trails, Windemere I, Sunflower III, and Hampton Court.

Some 21 students are involved from Mayfair, which is located at the southeast corner of Joy and Sheldon. About 15 students are involved from Forest Trail which is immediately north of Gallimore Elementary and west of Sheldon; 23 students from Hampton Court which is just south of Gallimore; and three students from Sunflower III which is at the southwest corner of Warren and Canton Center Road.

The largest number of students involved, 80, come from Windemere I which is south of Warren and east of Canton Center Road.

All of these students originally would have attended Pioneer. One earlier proposal would have transferred them to East, but the current recommendation will have these students attending Central Middle.

If East goes on ESY the following school year, these same students likely would be transferred then to East from Central.

Man faces charge in fatal crash

An Inkster man has been charged with negligent homicide in the accidental death of a Plymouth woman.

Ernest Leroy Stewart, 44, of Inkster, was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court on the charge and faces arraignment April 20, according to Canton police.

The charge stems from a Feb. 12 accident which resulted in the death of Martha Stilec, 26.

She had been driving on Cherry Hill near Lotz when a house trailer separated from a wrecker Stewart was driving. The trailer rolled on top of the 1978 Pontiac Firebird that Mrs. Stilec was driving.

She was pronounced dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital.

Stewart was arraigned on charges of negligent homicide before 35th District Judge James Garber.

The charge is a misdemeanor that carries a two-year jail sentence upon conviction.

Stewart is free on $1,000 personal bond.

Boundary decision expected

A final decision on 1979 school attendance boundaries is expected to be made March 26 by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

The boundary and growth committee has a third plan for the middle schools, and is considering one change to its proposed boundaries for elementary schools.

The school board will consider final recommendations at a workshop study session Monday, March 19.

A public hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 22 in the Little Theatre of Plymouth Canton High.

The hearing will be held only for those parents affected by the proposed boundary adjustments. Parents involved in the changes will be notified either this week or next week.

The latest changes involve moving middle school students who have never changed schools before from Pioneer to Central Middle. Shifting of elementary boundaries will affect pupils who either have never changed schools or have been switched once.

Sheldon paving

Work is in progress to convert a one-mile stretch of Sheldon Road between Ford and Cherry Hill into a paved thoroughfare. Wayne County Road Commission officials expect the paving project to be complete by July 15.

Library millage tries again May 16

A special election has been scheduled for Wednesday, May 16 to give voters another opportunity to express their feelings toward the proposed establishment of a Canton Township library.

The ballot question will ask voters to approve up to one mill ($1 per $1,000 assessed valuation) for the establishment and operation of the library on the third floor of the township administration building.

Voters considered an identical ballot proposal in the August primary election and defeated the millage request by an overwhelming margin.

But some residents and members of the Canton Library Committee urged the township board Tuesday to schedule another election date for consideration of the library issue.

Committee chairman Stan Bucher maintained that establishing the library now would save the township money since start-up costs are expected to inflate.

BUT TWO MEMBERS of the township board — Trustees Lynne Goldsmith and Robert Greenstein — objected to the scheduling of a special election.

They voiced their protests after Canton Jaycee Fred Burger urged the board to place only the library proposal on the special election ballot to give the issue a better chance of passage.

The special election is expected to cost the township $7,000 to $10,000.

"Part of the reason I have problems with this is that it seems like a manipulation of the election process," said Mrs. Goldsmith. "The school board has done this. As a voter, it has angered me."

Greenstein favored placing the library proposal on the ballot of the township's next regular election in May 1980.

"I'm personally in favor of a library," Greenstein said. "But the people just had a chance to vote (in the August primary), and they voted it down almost 2-1."

"I'm not sure it's really fair," he said of the special election. "If we allowed a manipulation of an election again, maybe you'd wind up with two or three extra mills on your house."

In the end, the board approved the scheduling of the special election by a 5-2 vote with Greenstein and Mrs. Goldsmith dissenting.

Bond committee recommends

Election to forego classroom mills

The June school election will not include a ballot question on new taxes for classroom space or maintenance money.

The Bond Advisory Committee told school trustees Monday that a final recommendation won't be forthcoming until the end of May or end of June. That means any tax request to meet the needs of rising enrollment won't be on the annual ballot in June.

The only tax issue which might be on that ballot is a request for additional operating millage, but such a recommendation has not been made yet to the school board.

THE CITIZENS bond study group was formed in November 1978 and had been asked to come up with recommendations by January 1979.

Charles Heidt, chairman of the committee, explained that the complexity of the choices studied and the thoroughness of approach chosen by the committee precludes it from meeting the original timetable.

"We understand, however, that you are about to make some decisions of major consequence involving the use of Extended School Year (ESY)."

"We, therefore, would like to make you aware that our written recommendations in the near future appear to utilize ESY considerably in the attainment of satisfying the housing problems which are facing the district."

Heidt stressed that the committee's report to the board was only a preliminary indication of the group's thinking as all of its research and analysis hasn't been accumulated yet. He stated the report should not be viewed as a final recommendation.

Trustees were informed that the committee is planning to take a voter community survey soon. The survey will seek response to the committee's recommendations plus other alternatives, and will have price tags attached to each option.

"We feel the voter as well as special interest groups are presently very interested in and are aware of the present district housing problem and that a carefully planned attempt with regard to this survey could be very beneficial."

Heidt added the committee expects to have the survey taken and to analyze the returns by the end of May.

BEFORE REACHING any final conclusions the committee also wants to analyze an energy audit of existing district facilities now being conducted by TMP Associates.

A verbal report on that audit will be given the committee later this month, and the written report is due on April 6.

The present thinking of the committee, Heidt said, is that there should be no construction of any substantial or permanent nature within the next two to four years.

The committee is looking at the purchase of 80 portable or expendable buildings, half of which would be located at the high school site and the balance distributed among elementary schools.

Current thinking of the group also in-

Plymouth-Canton OBITUARIES

EDNA L. KRAMPITZ

Funeral services for Mrs. Krampitz, 69, of W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, were held recently in Harry J. Will Funeral Home, Livonia, with burial at Glen Eden Memorial Park, Livonia. Officiating was the Rev. Carl Troisen.

Mrs. Krampitz, who died March 3, was born and raised in Detroit until 1970 when she moved to Plymouth. She was owner of Champion Typewriter Co. from 1935 to 1961 and was head of the admitting department of Henry Ford Hospital from 1965-70. She was a member of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Dearborn Heights.

Survivors include daughters, Marilyn Revell of Bothwell, Wash. and Emily Ruehr of Plymouth; brother, Harvey Browne and two grandchildren.

RICHARD F. WIDMAIER

Funeral services for Mr. Widmaier, 85, of West Branch, were held recently in Schrader Funeral Home, Plymouth, with burial at Riverside Cemetery, Plymouth. Officiating was the Rev. Kenneth Zielke.

Mr. Widmaier, who died March 5 in Oscala, Fla., was a longtime builder in Plymouth and a member of Plymouth Rock Lodge No. 47, F. & A. M.

Survivors include wife, Elizabeth; sons, Robert of Plymouth, George of Traverse City and William of Belleville, Fla.; brother, Charles of Northville; sisters, Laura Mulholland of Plymouth and Gertrude Darling of Detroit; nine grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

CHESTER V. CONGDON

Funeral services for Mr. Congdon, 58, of Yale Street, Livonia, were held recently in Schrader Funeral Home with burial at National Memorial Gardens. Officiating was Pastor Carl Vertz.

Mr. Congdon, who died March 9 in Livonia, was a machinist. Survivors include wife, June; daughter, Janice Richards of Plymouth; brothers, Woodrow of Traverse City, Robert of Allen Park and Kenneth of Farmington and two grandchildren.

Joyner seeks law against imprisoning of public officials

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners this week is expected to ask the Michigan Legislature to pass a law prohibiting judges from ordering local legislative bodies to vote in accordance with court orders.

The request is contained in a resolution supporting the "Van Buren Five" — the five Van Buren Township trustees jailed early this month for refusing to approve a sewer permit for a proposed mobile home development.

Four trustees were released March 9 after they agreed to sign the permit. The fifth trustee was hospitalized after his arrest after complaining of chest pains.

County Board Chairman Richard Manning, D-Redford, wrote the resolution condemning the jailing by Wayne Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman. He said there is a "growing trend" toward judges jailing legislators for "voting their consciences."

He described the acts as "a new form of tyranny."

Manning's resolution was tentatively approved last week by the board's ways and means committee on a 15-2 vote.

In the events leading up to the jailing, the Van Buren Township Board refused to authorize a convenient sewer hook-up with the Ypsilanti Township sewage treatment plant. Trustees said it would aggravate the pollution of Belleville Lake.

Instead, the trustees recommended a more expensive hook-up with a more distant township sewer line.

Hines Bike Days might be cancelled

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

Western Wayne County's annual "bike days" may become another casualty of the county's continuing financial crisis.

Four times each year, the Wayne County Road Commission closes a 10-mile stretch of E.N. Hines Drive, which runs through Hines Park, and turns it over to bicyclists and hikers.

The bike day course usually extends from Ford to Haggerty roads and runs through the Dearborn Heights, Westland, Livonia and Plymouth Township.

THIS YEAR, the county board of commissioners may be unable to come up with the estimated $5,000 to pay for the overtime of several sheriff's deputies who must be assigned to the Saturday events.

Members of the board's public works committee, which oversees county property, Tuesday expressed pessimism that they could find overtime funds again this year, as they have since 1972.

The 1979 bike days are tentatively scheduled for May 12, June 9, Sept. 8 and Oct. 12.

In the past, the county's general fund had borne the overtime cost. According to Commissioner Thomas Presnell, D-Westland, chairman of the public works committee, funds to cover the overtime cost had been allocated from the board's "unallocated appropriations" account, not from the sheriff's budget.

With the county facing at least a $13 million deficit, there are no unallocated appropriations.

COMMISSIONER Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, a strong bike day supporter, said the sheriff's budget should be tapped.

She suggested Sheriff William Lucas allocate $5,000 from either his public relations-community relations budget or his secondary road patrol budget.

No spokesman from the sheriff's office attended the meeting.

Master plan added to March 15 agenda

Consideration of the township's master land use plan and proposed zoning ordinance has been added to the agenda of a special Canton board meeting scheduled for 7 o'clock tonight.

The meeting was scheduled to discuss the proposed sign ordinance that would lift the ban on commercial freestanding signs.

But Thom Carman and Dan Richardson — new appointees to the Canton Planning Commission — asked board members at their regular meeting Tuesday night to give the planning commission some directive on the master plan and zoning ordinance.

They said that rezonings approved along Ford Road and Canton Center during the last two years have changed the intent of the 1976 master land use plan to discourage strip commercial development.

Carman and Richardson said that the proposed zoning ordinance which is needed to implement the master land use plan appears to recognize strip commercial zoning.

"The intent of the two documents seems diametrically opposed," Richardson said of the master plan and proposed zoning ordinance. "We need some directive from you."

Richardson said he believes the current township board is opposed to strip commercial development and that sections of the master plan and proposed zoning ordinance may have to be revised.

Since the planning commissioners' request did not appear on Tuesday night's agenda, board members voted 6-1 to consider the matter at their Thursday meeting. Trustee Eugene Daley voted against discussing the issue Thursday night.

Board wants audit of road commission

A township demand for an audit of Wayne County Road Commission books has greeted a proposal of the county agency to share road construction costs with townships.

The township board voted to demand the audit Tuesday night to discover if Canton is getting a fair share of road commission funds and work projects.

The demand follows a proposal of the county agency that would have townships pay about 16 percent of the cost of constructing roads, according to Trustee Robert Greenstein.

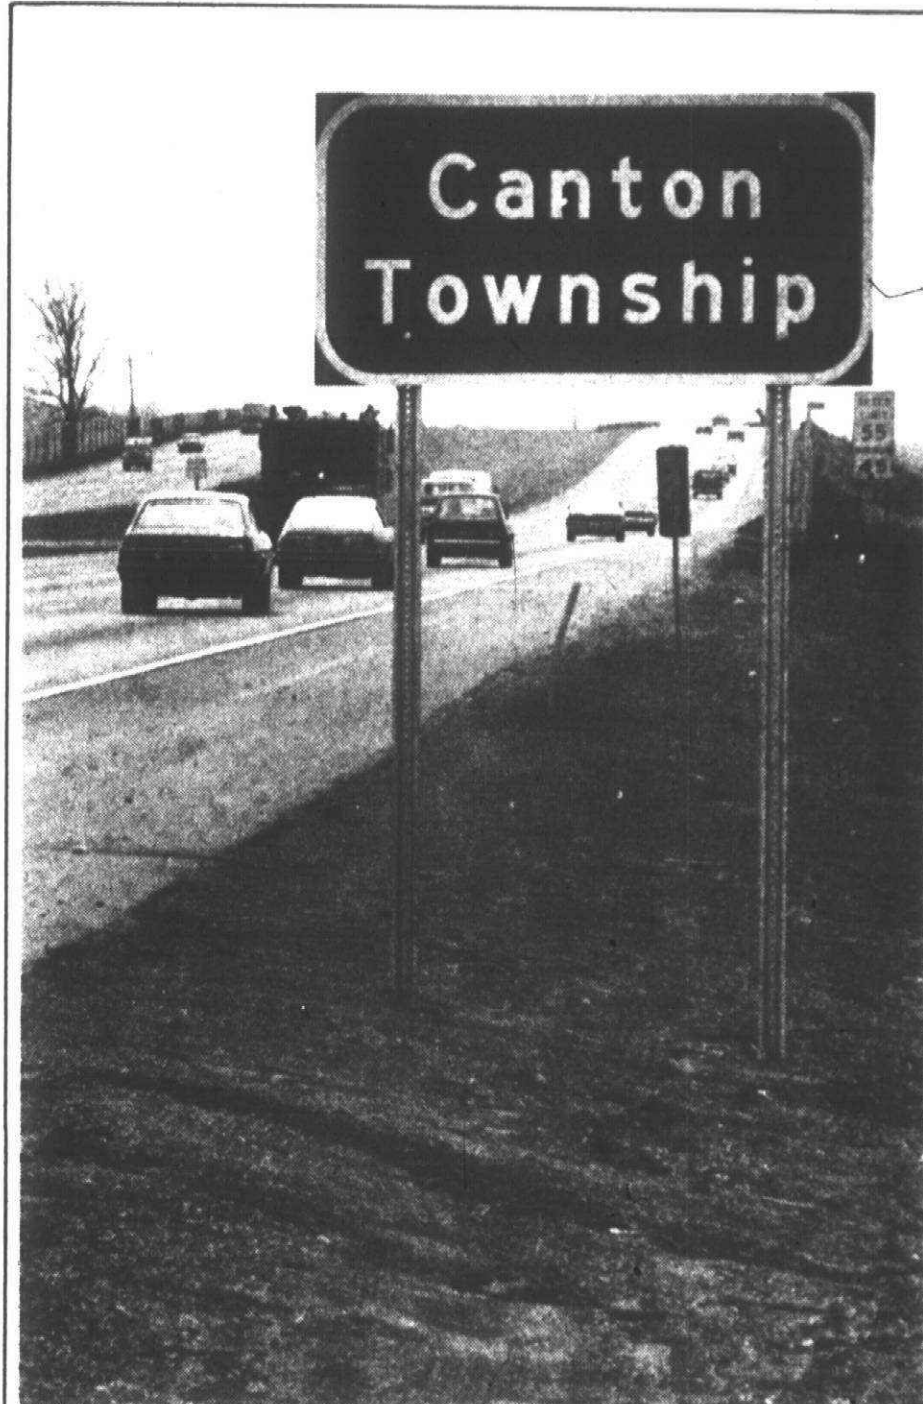

The county is responsible for maintaining and building roads in townships which do not receive a share of state gasoline taxes or weight fees.

"I think a threat to the county might get us some (paved) roads," said Greenstein in suggesting the audit. "We're mean enough and tough enough to get what we've got coming."

Greenstein's motion directed township attorney Bert Burgoyne to write a letter to the road commission demanding permission to audit its books.

Burgoyne was directed to write a second letter to the Wayne County Board of Auditors requesting an audit of the road commission on Canton's behalf.

The motion barely passed by a 4-3 vote of the board. Clerk John Flodin and Trustees Lynne Goldsmith and Eugene Daley voted no.

There is a Canton

Signs identifying the boundaries of Canton Township were finally installed on I-275 this week by the Michigan State Highway Department. Canton is not identified on state highway department maps, so truck drivers hauling merchandise for township stores often diverted their loads to Canton, Ohio. The state is expected to bill Canton $960 for the signs.

Bond committee plans survey

cludes expanding ESY throughout the elementary and middle schools and extending the school day at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

The committee also is studying the possibility of a special bond issue of very short duration for "catch-up" maintenance and furniture replacement items.

Trustee Steven Harper observed that since the June election will be missed any ballot proposals will have to go on a special election in August or September or wait until June 1980.

Heidt commented that some committee recommendations can be implemented within a short time after voter approval of funds. Portable buildings, for instance, can be installed and operating within two months of an election, he added.

Trustee Flossie Tonda said she'd rather wait and get a good report than to rush the committee now.

Harper said if ESY were expanded for the coming school year, and a vote not held til August or September, much of the construction work for conversion would have to be done while classes were in session.

Company proposes site for composting of waste recovery system by June 15. Township board members appear apprehensive over the proposal, however. They have expressed fears that the waste recovery system will create odors that are offensive to nearby residents.

But Reed and other proponents of the plan insist that masking agents cloak any offensive odors that are occasionally generated by the sludge.

"Odor is a legitimate concern," said Gary Green, senior vice president of Anthony Franco, Inc., the public relations firm hired by By-Product Systems. "But the basic odor is like a basement that's dank. It's not what I consider foul-smelling or offensive."

By-Products Systems is flying some members of the township board and representatives of the press to Beltsville, Md. today (Thursday) for examination of a similar composting site that is run by the U.S. Agricultural Department.

Reed hopes the on-site inspection will convince township officials that composting sludge does not create environmental problems.

BUT IT APPEARS that Reed has his work cut out for him.

Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert has stated flatly that he is opposed to the proposal. The supervisor appears apprehensive about the reaction of residents to the plan.

"Let's just say it's a very sensitive issue," he said.

But other township board members including Treasurer Jim Donahue and Clerk John Flodin — who lives on Michigan Avenue near the proposed waste recovery site — appear willing to examine the proposed project.

Flodin admits that he is apprehensive over the prospect of foul odors wafting through his backyard.

Said Donahue, "Until they show me there's no odors, I'm against it."

Both men admit, however, that the plan could offer some benefits to Canton Township.

Reed says his firm will probably discontinue its operation and leave the Michigan Avenue site if Detroit does not renew its contract after three years. He says the land would be left in better shape than it is now.

An abandoned landfill is located on the 100-acre parcel that By-Product Systems plans to buy. Reed said his firm will revitalize the landfill site by using composted sludge as fertilizer and planting trees.

Boundary proposal halts chronic transfer of pupils

Tom Yack, board president, noted that one problem with this plan was that families with elementary children on ESY would have middle school students on the nine-month schedule at Central.

Without ESY or any new growth, Taylor added, East Middle's enrollment will climb to 850-875 in 1979-80 and to 930 the following year.

Trustee Elaine Kirchgatter commented she was satisfied with the latest middle school proposal because if these students were placed in East it would start a domino reaction which would cause more students elsewhere to be disrupted.

The major result of the latest proposal is to take the subdivisions still growing in Canton out of Pioneer's attendance and place them into Central's. Pioneer, even though it is on ESY now, is at capacity this year.

Trustees Flossie Tonda and Joe Gray objected, stating that the proposal did not involve any moving of students living in apartment buildings.

Mrs. Tonda noted that there are more than 3,000 multiple units east of I-275 and all are attending East. She argued it was a bad socio-economic mix to place all apartment dwellers in one school, and it would benefit all students if apartment students were balance among the schools.

Both Tonda and Gray argued that apartment dwellers are more transient and this lack of stability disrupts programs at East.

Harper said he'd prefer putting East on EST this coming year, in which case the apartment students might be able to be spread among the schools. But other trustees were not prepared to place East on EST this coming school year.

AS THINGS NOW stand at the elementary level, boundary adjustments will be made as follows:

- Move students in Brookside subdivision to Fiegle.
- Move students in Foxboro to Miller.
- Move students in Sunflower III to Hulsing.
- Place Hulsing on ESY for school year '79-80.

The committee still is studying whether to move pupils in Fellows Creek form Eriksson to Hulsing or allow them to remain at Eriksson.

Dave Rodwell, district consultant, will be returning this week to the Fellows Creek area to take a physical count of plots, basements, and types of housing under construction to check the student enrollment projections for this area.

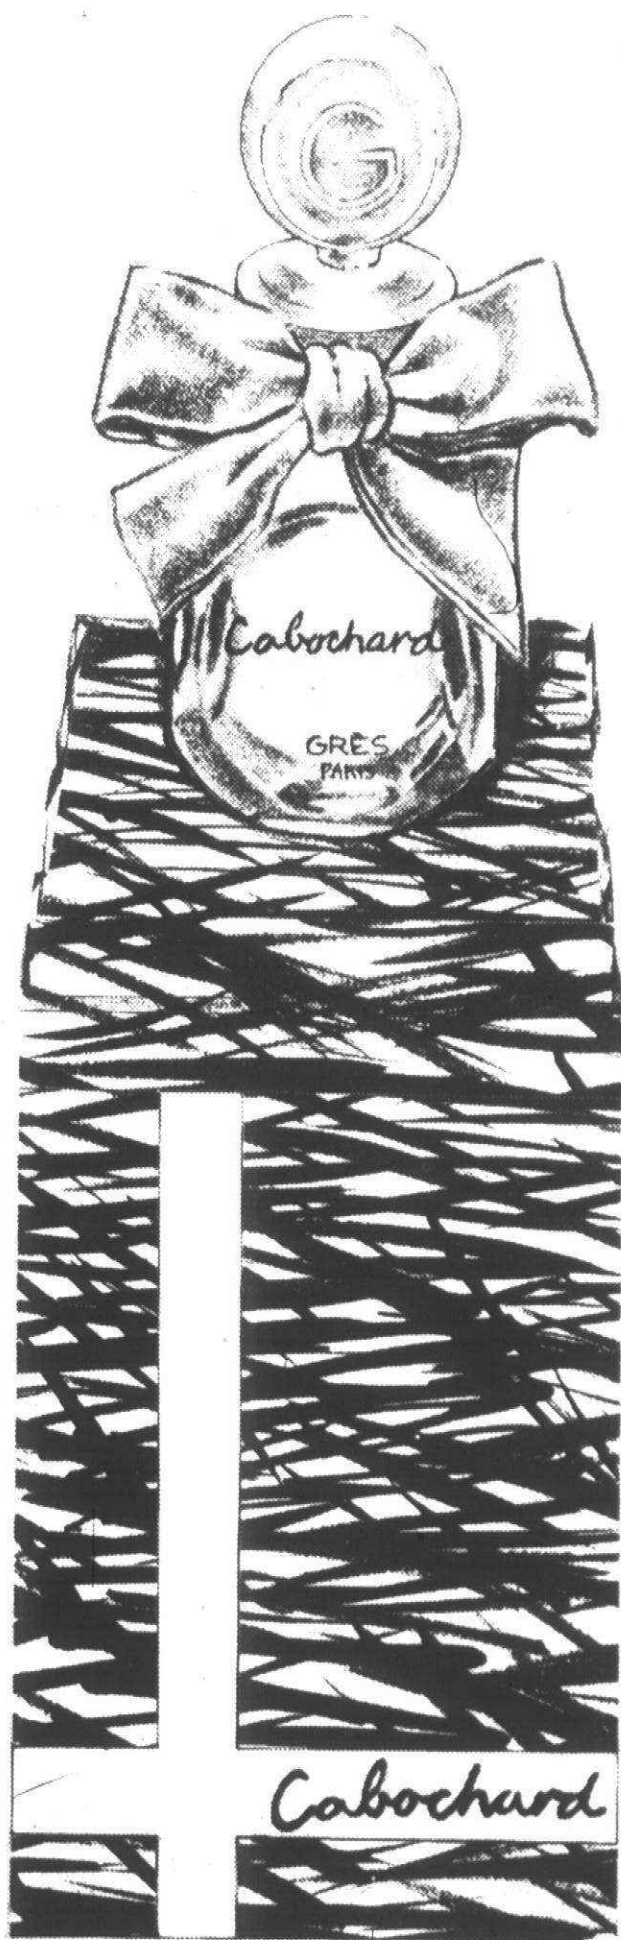

Rodwell had taken a similar count last October, but because growth is occurring so fast in this area he will return for an updated count.

Washburn named superintendent

By SUSAN ROSIEK

Ending its three-month search for a school chief, trustees Tuesday named Michael Washburn as the new Superintendent of Garden City Public Schools.

The unanimous decision was reached about five minutes after the board concluded its second public interview with Washburn, who is presently associate superintendent of employee relations in neighboring Wayne-Westland School District.

Trustees directed Board President Mary Jane Schildberg to negotiate a contract with Washburn, who will formally assume the superintendent's duties on July 1. He succeeds retiring Supt. Bracken Snow.

Washburn was among five finalists for the job. Others included Robert Bass, administrative assistant in Troy Public Schools; Richard Fitzgerald, Superintendent of Swartz Creek Community Schools; Arthur Frock, assistant superintendent of personnel for Livonia Public Schools; and William Schaefer, Superintendent of Lake Zurich School District in Chicago.

A native of Saline, Washburn received bachelor's and master's and educational specialist degrees from Eastern Michigan University. He completed one year of law school and earned his doctor of education at Wayne State University.

Washburn and his wife and three children live in Canton Township. Washburn's selection drew praise from teachers, secretaries, administrators and several parents who attended the special meeting.

"I was favorably impressed. I walked out of his first interview last week knowing that he had the job," said John Melchor, chief negotiator for the Garden City Education Association.

"I liked the things he had to say about solving problems before they got to the confrontation state. That's refreshing to hear. I also like his attitude toward staff members," added Melchor.

GCEA President Robert Draheim said he was impressed with Washburn's willingness to meet with staff, concern for team management and his idea for obtaining more funds for Garden City school district.

Board members, obviously pleased with their choice, said Washburn's communication and management skills were primary factors in his selection.

"And he comes from a district so similar to ours — the same legislators, problems with declining enrollment and budget," said Mrs. Schildberg. "He's so enthusiastic — it's refreshing," said one parent.

At 35, Washburn is the youngest person to be named superintendent of Garden City schools.

"Now we can say we're going over to central office to see the kid," quipped one PTA member.

Washburn told a crowd of about 20 people who gathered after the brief interview that he was "ecstatic" about his selection.

The new superintendent said his first priority would be to visit every school and every classroom.

"I want to get the flavor of the district and I don't just want to be a name. I plan to do a lot of listening. I don't know any people here and I don't have any preconceived notions," said Washburn.

Washburn joined Wayne-Westland school in 1965 as a junior high school teacher. He served as assistant principal and principal at Stevenson Junior High School before moving to central office as assistant superintendent of employee relations. He received his present associate title in a reorganization of staff.

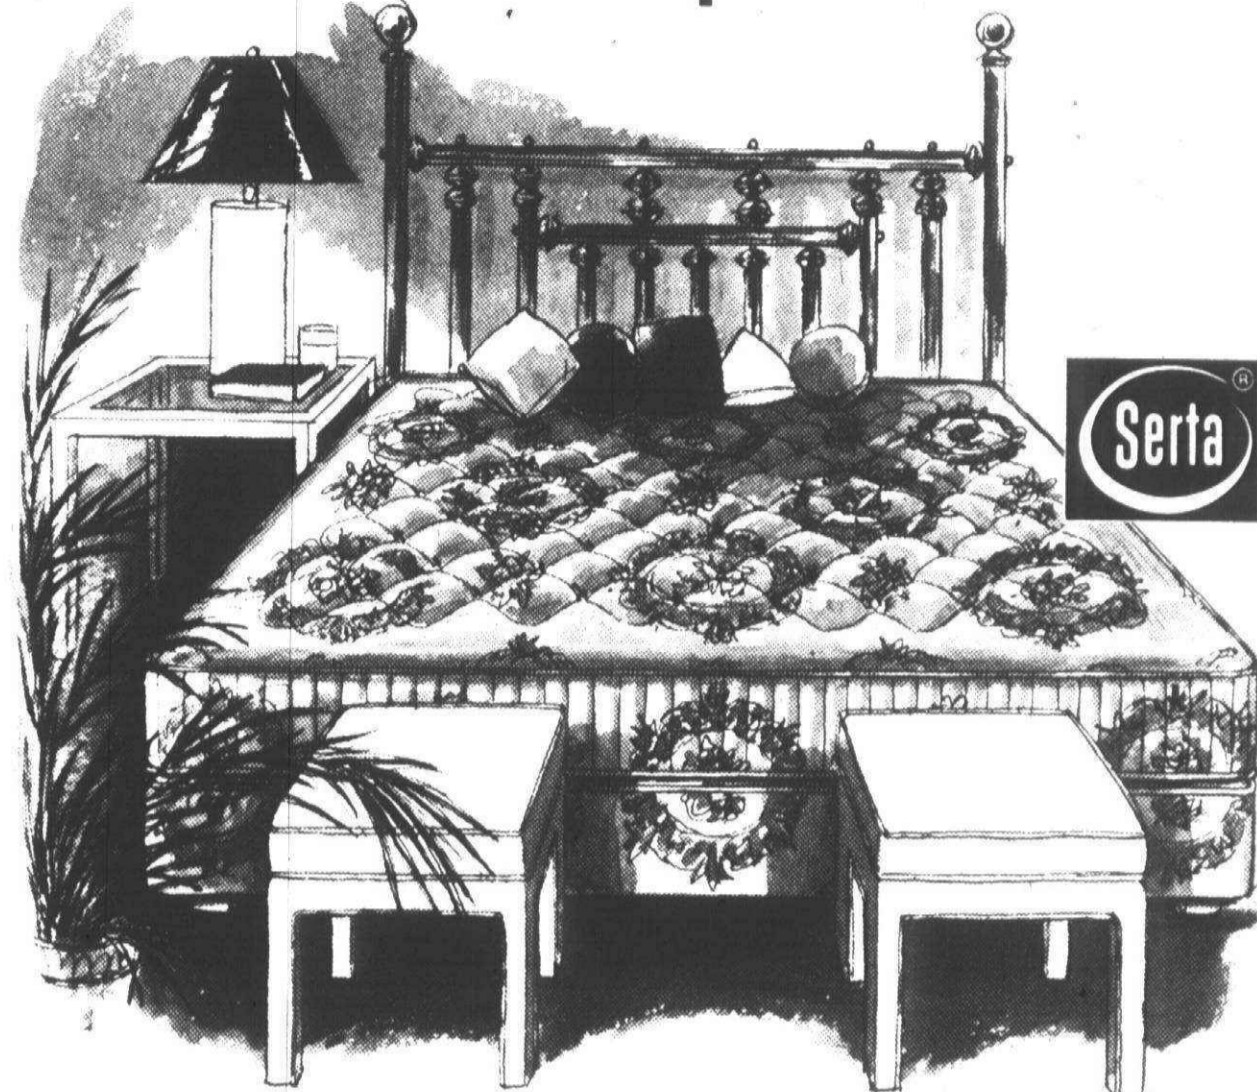

Throughout both his interviews, Washburn emphasized the need for long range planning, team management and aggressive marketing.

Pioneer birthday

Pioneer Middle School recently observed its 10th anniversary with cake, cards, gifts and games. Part of the celebration included presentation of a gold-plated watch to Principal Gerald Elston (right). Helping Elston open the gift is Dr. John Telford, director of secondary education for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. (Janine Katef photo)

Hanging separately?

Energy's a battle of regionalism

(The following information is offered to readers by the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi.)

As the energy crunch continues, more and more will be heard about "regional interests."

There are regions of the country which have plenty of fuel oil for their own use.

Other regions, such as New England, are completely dependent on imported energy.

Is it in the best interest of one region, like Wyoming, to dig up its farm land to supply coal to other states?

Should the people of Louisiana, because of interstate pricing regulations, pay more for their own state's natural gas than Michigan residents?

MICHIGAN, WITH its large supplies of fresh water, is a logical site for nuclear generating plants.

Will the other states which might use that power help us dispose of the nuclear wastes?

Ohio's experience in the winter of 1976, when factories and schools were forced to close and the state couldn't buy gas from the oil-producing states, is another example.

And the residents of Louisiana expressed their regional interests with bumper stickers reading: "Let Them Freeze in the Dark."

That statement of independence doesn't make much sense when you realize that the cars carrying those bumper stickers probably were manufactured in Ohio and Michigan.

Whether we like it or not, we are energy interdependent.

MICHIGAN HAS never been energy independent.

Michigan imports 90 percent of its fuel supplies. Not only are our manufacturing industries energy intensive, but our second largest industry (tourism) requires energy to build and maintain the highways for the campers and the oil and gas to get them to our beaches, lakes and ski resorts.

The U.S. certainly is not energy independent. With only six percent of the world's population, the U.S. uses 30 percent of the entire world's energy production.

America's standard of living is comfortable, but it also is expensive in terms of energy. Must we sacrifice our quality of life to afford heat for our homes and offices?

We think not, and Sweden provides one example.

Sweden, with a standard of living higher than our's, uses 40 percent less energy than we do.

How?

BECAUSE THE PRICE of energy in Sweden always has been high, the Swedes have tried to eliminate waste and inefficiency.

Electricity production is efficient. For every three units of energy burned to make electricity, two units are lost, usually as waste heat.

Sweden uses some of that waste to heat its offices and stores through a process called "co-generation." The waste steam produced by the power generating plants is piped into office buildings and factories for heat and power.

Inefficient use is another difference between America's high use of energy and that of other countries.

Our homes have been inadequately insulated, our cars are too heavy, and our appliances — like the self-defrosting refrigerator — consume vast amounts of energy because they were designed and built when energy was cheap.

Our cities have sprawled into suburbs without public transportation and our freight is shipped increasingly by trucks rather than by rail.

America is a vast country which has built its entire economy on inexpensive fuel.

SO WE ARE in a dilemma.

What can be done? There are a number of choices but, as the saying goes, "There is no such thing as a free lunch."

Somebody, somewhere, has to say that each choice has its price, that each involves a tradeoff. . . . A tradeoff involves the trading of one benefit for another.

Genius of Sam Bologna

By JACK BOLOGNA

(All rights reserved by Jack Bologna, © 1979.)

As my father grew older and retired and I married and moved away, I forgot about the lessons Sam Bologna taught me.

After all I was college bred, successful in my own right as a management consultant, and a father of six myself.

But it began to dawn on me recently that my own sons had never seen me at work; in fact, knew little of what I did, or how or for whom I did it.

It made me a little sad because I couldn't share with them an important part of my life. Why we hardly ever spoke of my life as a consultant or as a manager.

So while they may never know me in terms of my calling, I want them to know about their grandfather and his genius.

This then is what brought about this article about a simple man of courage and high talent who will not be remembered because what he did and accomplished are not in the realm of greatness by American standards.

And yet, what's in a life but help to others and fond remembrance of happy feelings? So here continues the accounting of Sam Bologna's genius.

TO RECORD HIS contributions to business and merchandising, I asked my dad recently to what he attributed his success as a wholesaler of fruits and vegetables.

His answers won't be found in the Harvard Business Review, nor will General Motors use them in developing long-range corporate strategies but here they are anyway:

- Always buy when the price is right.
- Always buy when you don't need to.
- Never make the first bid at a fruit auction nor the second last bid.
- Always know how much fruit people can eat in three days.
- Always know how much fruit the other buyer has to have to stay in business.
- You should expect the summer to be hot and the winter to be cold in Detroit.
- When the price is right take the whole lot if it's citrus.
- Don't buy junk. Junk never is a bargain.
- Let the other buyers jump. You get farther by standing still.

- Never do what the other buyers are doing.
- Fruit is never what it looks like on the sample floor.
- The auctioneer is never your friend no matter how much you like him.

TRANSLATED INTO more elegant language, what Sam Bologna said means is that you can only make money in the wholesale fruit business if you consistently buy quality products at prices which are less than your competitors are willing or forced to pay. (It gives you a competitive edge).

You can assume everyone's overhead is about the same so the only real difference is in the prices you pay for your own produce. The merchant who buys junk sells on the basis of cheap prices.

But there aren't enough people who buy junk to keep you alive for the long-run. Everyone really wants quality. Junk buyers want to rip-off the public by obscuring the notion of value. Junk always sells for more than its real value. Quality products are your only opportunities for long haul profits.

Lord & Taylor reports success

The man in charge of Lord & Taylor department stores is smiling broadly these days — but not saying much.

"Our first year in metropolitan Detroit was exceptional," said Joseph Brooks, board chairman of Associated Dry Goods, the parent New York company.

"We exceeded the plan in two stores but not in the third. Our three stores together exceeded our plans," Brooks said.

He referred to the stores at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi; Lakeside in Sterling Heights and Fairlane in Dearborn. But he declined to say which two had exceeded "the plan," how well they had done individually and collectively, and what soft spots there might be.

The company's goal was known to be sales of $100 a square foot. Each store has 123,000 square feet. That multiplies to a target of $36.9 million for the year March 6, 1978 to March 5, 1979 in the metropolitan area.

Brooks said the company is proceeding with plans for a fourth store, at Briarwood Mall in Ann Arbor, but no others "at this point."

Associated Dry Goods has about 150 stores nationwide. Industry analysts say profit margins are tight and growth moderate for the company as a whole. Besides the 29 Lord & Taylor outlets, Associated owns Stix, Baer & Fuller, Joseph Horne Co., Stewart & Co., J.W. Robinson Co., Sibley, Lindsay & Co. and Denver Dry Goods, along with smaller outlets.

Associated's sales for the year ended Jan. 31 were about $1.57 billion, but no breakdown between the divisions is available.

Brooks said Lord & Taylor's profits have been "exceptional. Profits rose 25 percent in my first year with the company and 25 per cent the second year." Brooks has been chairman and chief operating officer for 30 months.

"Does talk of a recession bother him? 'The times look uncomfortable,'" he said. "There is some peril in the future. We'll know more after the second quarter."

But he isn't running scared. "There are things you can do to increase your share of the market. The times are competitive," Brooks said.

Fidge wins open meetings battle

Plymouth Township Trustee Lee Fidge won a major policy battle Tuesday night as board members adopted guidelines for open meetings.

In a move to "strengthen" Michigan's Open Meetings Act in the township, Mrs. Fidge proposed guidelines mandated in the act as well as procedural items not included in the act.

The board unanimously approved the guidelines calling for posting of all meetings, 18-hour notice of special meetings, notification upon request, and verification that all decisions be reached at open sessions.

The guidelines also speak to voting requirements for closed sessions as outlined in the act.

In addition, the guidelines call for additions to the agenda before approval, a procedural item previously not included in township policy.

The township has been criticized in the past for failing to follow requirements of the law, particularly in posting notice of special meetings.

Two weeks ago Mrs. Fidge submitted copies of the law to board members, calling for close adherence to the act.

Tuesday night she pointed to an error on the agenda in promoting the adoption of the guidelines.

THE FINAL agenda item called for a closed session with Don Morgan, township attorney, to discuss pending litigation.

Mrs. Fidge pointed out that a two-thirds roll call vote of the board was necessary before a meeting could be closed and the agenda item only could speak to the request for a closed session.

"It's the board that has to determine whether the meeting shall be closed, not the attorney," she stated.

Although she was pleased with the decision to adopt the guidelines, she expressed her dismay later in the evening when board members added an item to the agenda.

"Why wasn't this added before?" she asked, after trustees voted to add the item as she dissented.

"Nobody thought of it," replied Trustee Barbara Lynch, who assured Mrs. Fidge that the guidelines would be followed at the next meeting.

Mrs. Fidge also submitted opinions regarding the law from State Attorney General Frank Kelley. The opinions speak to sessions of a public body consulting with in-house administrators and outside consultants.

The law "does not permit public bodies to conduct closed sessions to listen to presentations by department heads and administrators of the body," Mrs. Fidge pointed out, referring to a January 1979 opinion from Kelley.

Pizza firm defends wage action

By MARY GNIEWEK

Though Little Caesar's Enterprises of Farmington Hills has agreed to pay $69,000 in back wages to hundreds of employees who were paid below the minimum wage in 1977, a spokesman for the pizza firm says the underpayment was unintentional.

Larry Sheehan, Little Caesar's executive vice president, said the company was unaware at the time of a change in the federal Fair Labor Standards Act which extended minimum wage coverage to employees in the firm's carryout pizzerias.

A consent judgment in which the firm agreed to the repayment was signed by federal District Judge Philip Pratt last month. A complaint had been brought against the chain of pizza parlors by the U.S. Department of Labor following an investigation last year.

Payment of federal minimum wages became mandatory in January, 1977, for collective ownership franchises such as Little Caesar's. Until that time, branch outlets grossing less than $250,000 in annual volume did not have to pay its employees minimum wages.

Little Caesar's and its president, Michael Ilitch, own and operate 60 pizzerias in the tri-county area, including Farmington Hills. Until the Labor Department investigation, the business was paying its help in carryout stores $2 an hour — 30 cents below the minimum wage in 1977.

"The pizza parlors, family inns and sitdown restaurants always paid the minimum wage, since they did higher volume," Sheehan said. "But neighborhood carryouts sold less and did not have to pay minimum wages.

"We became obligated under federal law to pay the minimum wage in all of our stores, but we didn't comply soon enough. It was not intentional. We were not aware of the change in the law. The government did not give us proper notice. We didn't receive a bulletin of federal guidelines.

"We also took exception with a press release prepared by the regional Department of Labor office in Chicago. They said we were ordered to pay the settlement. We agreed to it, there was a consent judgement," Sheehan continued.

"There was no violation, just misinterpretation of the law. There was no conviction, trial or penalty — just a compromise settlement."

In the consent order, the chain agreed to pay $69,000 to 931 employees. The company was also cited for not paying time-and-one-half to clerks working over 40 hours a week.

"Both parties agreed to the settlement and the judge signed the order," a law clerk for Judge Pratt said.

Sheehan said the company opted for payment instead of being faced with a long court suit.

"We are abiding by it (the law) and we will continue to abide by it," he said.

Mainstreaming: A right sometimes abused

A new set of middle school boundaries has been drawn to avoid moving students who already have changed schools in recent years.

The new middle school adjustments were presented by the boundary and growth committee to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night.

The committee still is considering one change on elementary boundaries and will report back to the school board by Monday, March 19.

The middle school recommendation is a complete change from two earlier proposals while the elementary changes remain the same as first proposed, with the one possible exception.

The result, if finally approved by the board, will be that the middle school boundaries will result in moving students who have never changed schools before.

Students who have changed schools in the past will remain at the middle schools they would have attended this year before the boundary proposals were made.

AFTER LAST WEEK'S public hearings, the school board sent the boundary committee back to the drawing boards with new instructions.

First the committee was told to draw boundaries which might last only one year instead of two in order to minimize the number of students whose attendance patterns would be disrupted.

The committee also was asked to move those students from families that have just moved into the school district and have not had to change schools in the past.

A third instruction was to assume that Pioneer Middle School will remain on Extended School Year (ESY) for the 1979-80 school year. (Keeping Pioneer on ESY likely will mean that East Middle will be converted to year-round school for 1980-81.)

John Telford, co-chairperson of the committee, said the middle school changes involve moving 142 students from five subdivisions. The changes will result in students from the same subdivisions attending the same schools, he added.

Under the new plan, the only subdivisions affected by the middle school boundary adjustments are Mayfair, Forest Trails, Windemere I, Sunflower III, and Hampton Court.

Some 21 students are involved from Mayfair, which is located at the southeast corner of Joy and Sheldon. About 15 students are involved from Forest Trail which is immediately north of Gallimore Elementary and west of Sheldon; 23 students from Hampton Court which is just south of Gallimore; and three students from Sunflower III which is at the southwest corner of Warren and Canton Center Road.

The largest number of students involved, 80, come from Windemere I which is south of Warren and east of Canton Center Road.

All of these students originally would have attended Pioneer. One earlier proposal would have transferred them to East, but the current recommendation will have these students attending Central Middle.

If East goes on ESY the following school year, these same students likely would be transferred then to East from Central.

Tom Yack, board president, noted that one problem with this plan was that families with elementary children on ESY would have middle school students on the nine-month schedule at Central.

This split in families between ESY and traditional schedule will exist as long as only one middle school is on year-round scheduling, responded Bill Taylor, member of the committee and principal of East Middle.

Without ESY or any new growth, Taylor added, East Middle's enrollment will climb to 850-875 in 1979-80 and to 930 the following year.

Trustee Elaine Kirchgatter commented she was satisfied with the latest middle school proposal because if these students were placed in East it would start a domino reaction which would cause more students elsewhere to be disrupted.

The major result of the latest proposal is to take the subdivisions still growing in Canton out of Pioneer's attendance and place them into Central's. Pioneer, even though it is on ESY now, is at capacity this year.

Trustees Flossie Tonda and Joe Gray objected, stating that the proposal did not involve any moving of students living in apartment buildings.

Mrs. Tonda noted that there are more than 3,000 multiple units east of I-275 and all are attending East. She argued it was a bad socio-economic mix to place all apartment dwellers in one school, and it would benefit all students if apartment students were balanced among the schools.

Both Tonda and Gray argued that apartment dwellers are more transient and this lack of stability disrupts programs at East.

Harper said he'd prefer putting East on EST this coming year, in which case the apartment students might be able to be spread among the schools. But other trustees were not prepared to place East on EST this coming school year.

Gerald Elston, Pioneer principal, said he hoped many of the problems at this school could be ironed out this coming year and than East could learn from those steps before it went on ESY.

"Unlike the elementary schools, Pioneer had no model program to follow for middle schools. For two years now we piloted without a model to follow." (Miller Elementary had been on a two-year pilot program before other elementaries switched to year-round school.)

Sewer charge to rise

Homeowners in Wayne and Oakland counties will pay more beginning July 1 to have their sewage treated.

That is the date a new rate increase is scheduled to take effect. The increase is the second part of a three-tier increase proposed by the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners is expected to give routine approval to the rate increase this week.

"There's not much we can do about this increase," said Commissioner

Thomas Presnell, D-Westland, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners public works committee. "In this instance, we're just acting as a pass-through agency for increases imposed by Detroit."

U.S. District Judge John Feikens, as part a massive legal battle between the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the city, approved the Detroit proposal last year.

Detroit's charges for sewage treatment will be boosted from the current $2 per 1,000 cubic feet to $2.50. For some of the 76 communities which purchase sewage services from Detroit, the $2.50 charge represents only a part of the water bill.

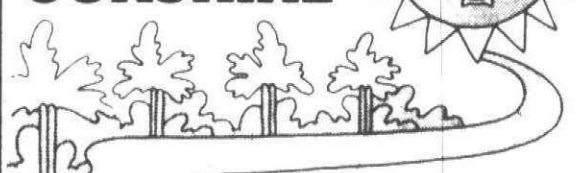

Cities and townships which are members of the Rouge Valley Sewage Disposal System, for example, also pay a separate fee to maintain their own system, which collects wastewater and passes it on to Detroit's treatment plant.

The Rouge Valley system includes: Westland, Garden City, Livonia,

Redford Township, Canton Township, Northville city and township, Plymouth city and township, as well as a portion of western Oakland County.

Homeowners there currently pay about $2.83 per 1,000 cubic feet in maintenance fees. That portion of the water bill was last increased Jan. 1 by three percent.

HUDSON'S

Plymouth - Past & Present Back to the blackboard

By Sam Hudson

(Part IV)

As superintendent of schools today, John M. Hoben has no teaching duties. That was not the case in George A. Smith's day.

In addition to his other duties, Smith taught several classes in the high school. Cliff Tait studied history under Smith and remembers him as a good teacher as well as a good administrator.

Perry Richwine, local attorney, recalls that he was on a high school debating team coached by Smith. He says Smith was good at telling stories and often was called on to be toastmaster at local functions.

Don Sutherland, a CPA in Plymouth, remembers studying economics and commercial law under Smith. Sutherland is unique in having been a student and a teacher, as well as a member of the school board during the period when Smith was superintendent.

JUDGING FROM the extra-curricular activities in which they participated, both Smith and Hoben were blessed with strong constitutions.

For 21 years (1916-37), Smith was a member of the Michigan Institute Commission, being appointed and reappointed under four state governors.

The commission had jurisdiction over the School for the Blind in Flint, the School for the Deaf in Saginaw, and the School for Dependent Children at Coldwater (where Smith had spent a short time as an orphan). Smith served four years on the Plymouth Planning Commission and was a member of Plymouth's Charter Commission. Beginning in 1936, he served 15 years on the Michigan Board of Education, and from 1937 to his death in 1951 was a member of the administrative board of the Wayne County Training School.

Don Sutherland recalls that Smith's wife, Clella, was a great help to her husband in his work as superintendent. Mrs. Smith was active in women's circles, serving as president of the Plymouth Women's Club, president of the Plymouth Rotary Anns, and matron of the Eastern Star. Now 93, Mrs. Smith resides in Presbyterian Village in Detroit. She only recently gave up driving an automobile.

MIKE HOBEN also has spent much time in community service. He has been president of the Plymouth Education Association, president and a director of the Plymouth YMCA, president of Plymouth Family Service, a member of the Plymouth Community Fund, and president of the Plymouth Municipal Building Authority.

He also has served as consultant to numerous schools in the U.S. and Canada, and has filled many speaking engagements at various schools and colleges.

Smith was a joiner, holding membership in the local Masonic Lodge, the Knights Templars and the Shriners in Detroit, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, and the Northland Golf Club. He was a member of the National Education Association and of the Michigan Education Association.

In the late 1930s, when Smith was president of the MEA, the featured speaker at the annual banquet was Amelia Earhart. It was her last talk before she was lost in her attempt to fly the Pacific.

Smith was an active leader of the local Boy Scouts, and was a long-time member of the Presbyterian Church, of which he was a trustee.

His wife says that, next to his church, Smith was most dedicated to his work in the Plymouth Rotary Club. When the club was organized in 1924, Smith was

If you won't read these 7 signals of cancer... You probably have the 8th.

1. Change in bowel or bladder habits
2. A sore that does not heal
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge
4. Thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere
5. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing
6. Obvious change in wart or mole
7. Nagging cough or hoarseness

8. A fear of cancer that can prevent you from detecting cancer at an early stage. A stage when it is highly curable. Everyone's afraid of cancer, but don't let it scare you to death.

Smith & Hoben -- alike yet different as leaders

a charter member and was the club's first president.

He was elected District Governor of Rotary in 1947-48. At that time the district he governed was the largest in the United States. It included all clubs in eastern Michigan and extended as far east as London, Ont.

Smith was instrumental in getting his teachers, and later the Rotary Club, to start scholarship funds for needy students. After he died, the teachers named their fund the "George A. Smith Memorial Fund." It was later merged into what is now the Plymouth Rotary Foundation.

Hoben also is active in Rotary. He was president of the club in 1972. As a Rotarian, he was instrumental in obtaining from the local club a grant of $20,000 to support the Rotary Farm on Joy Road. It has been one of the school system's educational resources since 1968.

AFTER GEORGE A. SMITH retired as superintendent in 1945, he served for a time as secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

In 1949, he was the unsuccessful Republican candidate from this district for the Michigan Legislature. He died in July 1951, five months after the school which bears his name was dedicated. The George A. Smith Elementary School on McKinley has an oil painting of him. He is buried in Riverside Cemetery.

John M. Hoben, now 55 and in his eighth year as superintendent of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, notes that the district is now the 14th largest in the state.

Despite its record growth, the system has been able to maintain a fine professional staff. Its students continue to score in the upper ranges, and the district has been cited by the state for its excellence.

Hoben also is proud of the effort he and his colleagues and the teaching staff have put into a 209-page "Strategic Planning Document." The culmination of a planning process initiated in July 1977, it was completed in October 1978.

The report's lengthy chapter headings give a clue to its contents: Where Are We? Where Do We Want to Go? How do we Get There? How Much Will It Cost?

Hoben believes the copious data in the report — including its statistical look forward — will enable the board of education, the school administration, and the taxpayers to "get the most for their buck."

In these inflationary times there are few who will challenge the need for that effort.

This is how boys dressed for shop classes while George A. Smith was superintendent.

Business, school forum set

"Developing Work Attitudes During Middle School Years" is the theme of the second annual Business-Education Forum.

The program will begin with lunch at 11:30 a.m. Friday, March 30 in the Mayflower Meeting House.

The featured speaker will be Robert Weishan, Michigan Director of Career Education. Weishan will speak following the lunch and workshop session during the first hour.

Following the talk will be a 15-minute panel discussion. The forum will end with a 25-minute question-answer period.

Members of the panel will include Kirk Lorenz, Arnold Williams, Harold Gaertner and Diane Pomish.

Those wanting to attend the lunch and program must make reservations and pay $5 by Friday, March 30.

Reservations may be made with the Chamber of Commerce or with Florence Beier, community relations director for Plymouth-Canton Schools at the board office, 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

The forum is sponsored by the school district and chambers of Plymouth and Canton.

Weishan's background includes work in the Michigan Department of Education Vocational Technical Services. He also has been a Peace Corps volunteer in Chile and has done tutorial services for migrant workers in California.

Earlier Weishan directed a Head Start program in Racine, Wis., and was a special advisor to the office of community development in the Dominican Republic.

Weishan's talk will begin at 12:30 p.m. Those who only want to attend the talk are welcome.

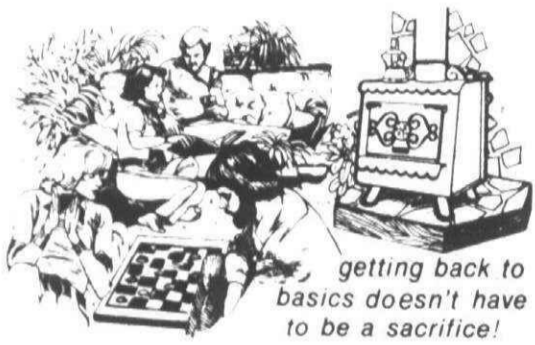

The theme for the forum is based on the following quote from Willard Wirtz, former director of the U.S. Dept. of Labor:

"Business enterprises are properly concerned about whether youth will have the values that permit free enterprise to flourish, whether they will be sufficiently developed in their abilities to be trained in the tasks of the organization, and whether they will have acquired the discipline and habits that mark responsible adult workers."

editorial opinion

The time is right for farmland preservation bid

If the results of a chamber of Commerce poll are to be trusted, Canton Township officials should begin a campaign to pass a farmland preservation millage.

According to the just-released survey, compiled by Marketing Resource Group of Lansing, a whopping 72 percent of the people polled favored retaining the western portion of the township for farmland.

The survey answered another question about farmland preservation as well. No one was really certain how the farmers in western Canton — who would be most affected by the program — felt about a plan to buy development rights to their land so it could be used only for agricultural purposes.

The survey says 90 percent of those polled in the western section of Canton favored farmland preservation.

To top it off, 82 percent of those polled said they would favor the farmland preservation program even if it meant fewer job opportunities and less business growth.

Judging from these results, the time is ripe to begin an extensive campaign to promote farmland preservation, culminated by a special election.

It hasn't been long since the last ballot question about farmland preservation was asked of the voters — and was turned down.

But in November, the voters were asked to approve a four mill property tax levy, which was a pretty steep price to ask at a time of taxpayer revolt.

Nonetheless, the issue went down by a mere 500 votes.

If there was that much support for the proposal, even at four mills, it would seem the farmland development rights issue would pass easily if only two mills were requested.

We've heard the arguments that two mills won't be enough to pay for the program. But two mills would be enough to get it off the ground.

There are several bills being kicked around at state and national legislative levels that would provide money for preservation of agricultural land.

If Canton shows the courage and commitment to begin its own program on a limited budget, legislators might be more willing to add their support.

Canton's sewer capacity is already strained to the limit, and development will be held somewhat at bay in the western part of Canton until — and if — a proposed Super Sewer project is completed.

That gives the township the ability to take its time buying up development rights. It does not insure that officials can sit on the preservation scheme until some smart developer figures out a way around the lack of sewer capacity (and there probably are ways).

The apparent support for farmland preservation can't be relied upon to remain strong, either. People change. Opinions change.

The survey suggests the voters might vote for development rights purchase this year, but by next year they may turn up their noses at the concept.

We can't predict the moods of the future, but we can take the support farmland preservation currently has and turn it into a successful program.

Whether it's started with four mills or two, development rights purchase has to begin somewhere.

Why not begin with a well-organized campaign?

Joe ended talk of 'white hope'

Will there ever be another Joe Louis? This question has been asked of The Stroller many times since the once popular Golden Gloves boxing tournament is being revived by the Detroit Free Press.

There is every reason that the question should be fired at him because The Stroller was the major-domo of the tournament when Joe came out of Brewster Center to become one of the greatest and most popular of all the heavyweight champions.

This coming out of Paradise Valley was one of the most colorful stories of the past century because Joe was on the way to a violin lesson when he was detoured by a friend and urged to become a fighter.

But as to whether there ever will be another like Joe, The Stroller's answer is an emphatic "no."

THERE MAY BE fighters in the future — and they could come out of the Golden Gloves — who will have a record to match the Brown Bomber's. There may be others who will punch just as hard and just as often. But they never will accomplish what Joe did while going up the pugilistic ladder.

This may sound biased inasmuch as The Stroller was very close to Joe while he was punching his way to the most important of all boxing titles. But the greatest thing that Joe did doesn't appear in his ring record.

His greatest accomplishment was what he did for his race. And he did it not only with his leather-covered fists, but by his demeanor outside of the ring.

Until Joe came along, there was a feeling among boxing promoters and followers of the manly art of self-defense that no Negro ever again would get the opportunity to fight for the greatest prize in sport because of the manner in which Jack Johnson had behaved when he held the title.

There was no shielding the feeling. The blacks would not be given the chance to battle for it. It was a great campaign of "blacklisting."

Every time a black fighter came along with any degree of ability, an immediate cry went up for the uncovering of a "white hope." Sports fans were eager to find someone who would stop the rise of the black.

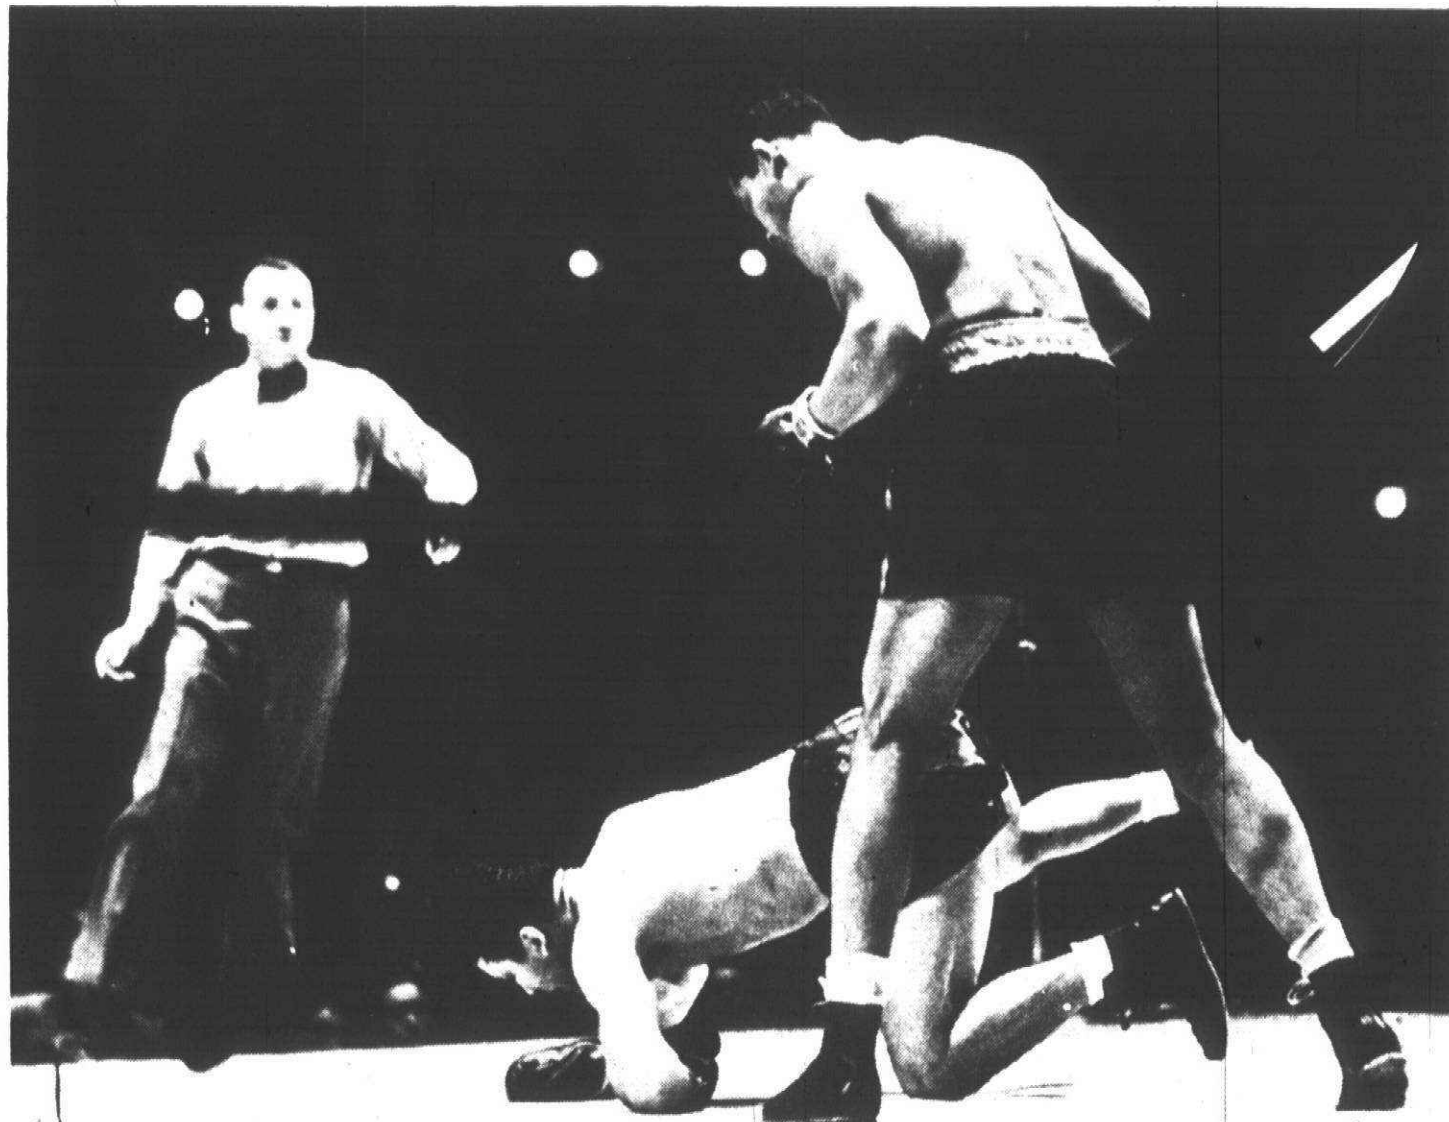

THEN ALONG CAME Louis, a soft-spoken, hard puncher who turned the feeling around. As he turned aside one rival after another, Joe captivated the sports crowd. In fact, he became so popular that instead of trying to find a white fighter to beat him, the white fighters sought him as a foe simply because it would mean more money.

So, Joe's greatest achievement was not only winning the title, but ending the era when the search for a "white hope" would start anytime a black fighter showed any signs of greatness.

Whoever could forget his simple statement after each victory when he said "just another lucky night." Or the night he was called to the stage in Madison Square Garden during a war bond rally and said, "We're going to win because we are on God's side." That was the night when Jimmy Walker, then mayor of New York City, patted Joe on the shoulder and said, "You have just put a rose on the grave of Abraham Lincoln."

No, there never will be another Joe Louis. And if he hadn't come along to change things, Muhammad Ali might never have been given the chance to fight for the title.

Joe was one of a kind. We will never see the likes of him again.

Joe Louis's conduct, both in and out of boxing ring, ended talk of a "Great White Hope." In decking Max Schmeling, Louis KO'd the color barrier. Referee is Arthur Donovan. (From W.W. Edgar's personal collection)

Poles tell Warsaw jokes

Q. How many Californians does it take to install a new light bulb?

A. Seven. One to handle the light bulb and six to share the experience.

Now that's what I call a good ethnic joke. It picks on someone besides the Poles, for one thing. For another, it is a joke that can be told about only one group — Californians, known for a half-century for psycho-religious cults.

This is not to defend ethnic jokes. Nine-tenths are terrible — more ethnic than joke, and really "dumb" jokes. If you can remember the last six Polish or Irish jokes you heard, try dropping the name of one ethnic group and inserting another.

A few decades back, many of our so-called ethnic jokes were told as "moron" or "little moron" jokes. By re-telling them as ethnic jokes, we've gone a couple of steps backward.

THERE'S A CULTURE shock coming to metropolitan Detroit from a place like Kalamazoo. What used to be in Kalamazoo as a Dutch joke becomes a Polish joke here.

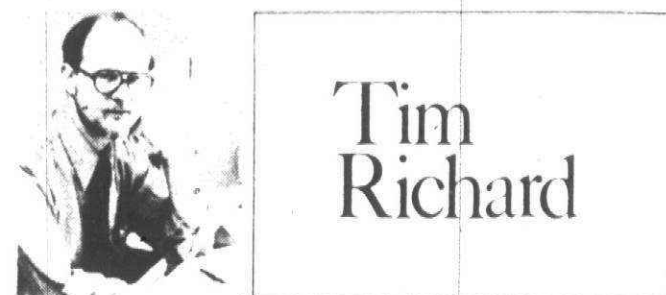

The big difference is that many Polish-Americans enjoy Polish jokes, but few Dutch-Americans enjoy Dutch jokes. Perhaps one could make an ethnic joke out of that.

Every area of the state and world has its own ethnic jokes. In St. Joseph, they tell German jokes. And do you know what they tell in the upper peninsula?

Q. What's yellow and black and full of fins?
A. The Hancock school bus. (It's a pun: fins sounds like Finns. Get it?)

Before we roam too far afield, you might be curious about what kind of joke Poles in Poland tell. One source says they tell Russian jokes. A friend who speaks the language, however, says they actually tell Warsaw jokes.

Warsaw? Yes, for a reason. Way back when, the Russian capital was elsewhere, maybe Cracow. A particular king enjoyed vacationing in the rustic atmosphere of Warsaw. Gradually, he moved his court there, the equivalent of moving the capital of Michigan from Lansing to Manelona. The courtiers looked down their noses at the local folks, and thus was born the Warsaw joke.

MY BROTHER AL settled in Montana in the late 1960s and reports they tell North Dakota jokes.

A North Dakotan looking for work landed in Montana. He needed a place to live, so a farmer rented him the basement of an out-house. The North Dakotan liked it so much, he wrote home and invited his brother to move in with him.

Al says that really cracks them up in the pool rooms in Montana. Al cannot be contradicted because he is the family movie star. He appears behind Clint Eastwood's cue stick in the pool room crowd of "Thunderbolt and Lightfoot."

S. Rick Czach, writing in the Michigan Journalist, the J-department publication at the University of Michigan, tells what they tell in countries around the world.

Brazilians are considered pompous and arrogant by the Argentines. In turn, the Brazilians stick it to the Portuguese, their original colonizers.

In Europe, Czech reports, there is a whole new breed of ethnic jokes about visiting Saudi Arabians and their petrodollars.

Russians have two targets: their own government officials and American cowboys. Russian humor portrays our cowboys as bloodthirsty, sex-starved rowdies.

The French tell Belgian jokes, and the Japanese tell Korean jokes, Czach writes.

CANADIANS TELL jokes about people from Newfoundland, or "Newfies." I've even heard references to Newfie jokes on the CBC.

Besides "moron" type ethnic jokes, there is another category that might be called "money" jokes. The butt is an ethnic group noted for its tightness.

I once heard a banker from Virginia crack up an audience of Kalamazoo businessmen with a Scotch joke. I later heard the same joke passed off as a Polish joke, but it was no joke. Money jokes work best with Dutch, Scotch, Jews, Greeks and Armenians, and maybe Chinese.

This particular joke was about two men and their wager to see which could make a dime go further in the course of a week. You could tell it anywhere in the world, but be careful which ethnic group wins the bet and which one loses.

Hospital costs: No one is God

The cost of medical care is a subject of high visibility and has been for some time. It's a complex issue.

For years, much of the dirty work in hospitals was done by ward attendants, custodians, nurses aides and nurses at relatively low rates of pay. Higher minimum wages and unionization of medical workers have contributed to some of the accelerated costs.

But when you're sick, you want the best care these people can provide, and that often requires superhuman feats. When you need them, they're worth every penny and more.

Then there are the technicians, the medical specialists — the doctors. When you're sick, you want not only their best skills and knowledge but their loving care and understanding. You want them generally to do what most often only God can do. At its best, that means keeping you alive.

MAYBE THERE aren't enough physicians and specialists.

Perhaps medical schools are too strict, require too much education, are too exclusive in saying who shall be admitted.

Maybe the cost of education for would-be medical specialists is too high and should be paid for by everyone through taxes.

Then there are the pharmaceutical houses, the manufacturers of exotic testing equipment and medical tools. They spend a lot of money on engineers to produce gadgets for medical experts to use when they deal with our bodies.

And who would not want any member of the medical profession who is going to lay hands on us not to have the best tools and medicines?

AH, THEN THERE are the lawyers. There's a cadre of paramedical lawyers who practice medicine through legal briefs. Isn't it too bad doctors are human? And that humans do make mistakes?

The men and women of the jury? It's a lot easier for them to identify with the patient than for them to understand medicine.

So, to prepare for the eventual charges that they are not God and have made mistakes, doctors are using ever more machinery to make tests. Tests require more expensively trained experts.

Then there are insurance companies. While they may try to force policing of the doctors, it's easier to raise premiums.

THEN THERE ARE medical associations and hospital boards of directors.

What do they do? Well, in my opinion, this is a group of people who don't do enough in their roles as watchdogs and policy setters.

The public would be a great deal more sympathetic if medical associations would throw out those in their professions who display general disregard for their standards.

Hospital directors, too, are in a position to ask a good many more hard-nosed questions of their administrators and professional supervisors. Is every new piece of equipment and each new drug that much more beneficial, considering costs?

Somewhere down the road, we're all going to have to accept the fact that we can't live forever or that we can't always expect to feel well. We may even have to accept the fact the doctor isn't a miracle worker or God.

What's the cost of that?

Have you heard?

From their highs of $2.50 to $3 a pound, coffee prices have now dropped below $2, and in some cases close to $1.80. The decrease is 20 to 30 percent. Apparently, the folks who run our vending machines haven't heard the word and have kept prices at their peaks. We'll have to leave the vendors a little note: Cut those coffee prices!

A 40-ton corner section of the Best showroom slides open every morning to admit customers and closes up again every night.

Sculpture, architecture and the avant garde

Architects in general, and Lawrence Institute of Technology (LIT) specifically, are on the verge of losing their staid image.

There's more than mechanical pencils turning around inside the college. The whole question of an architect's social responsibility is being thrashed out by both students and faculty.

And, as part of a continuing series of guest speakers prominent in the area of architecture, LIT students were entertained March 9 by James Wines, sculptor and architect.

Wines and his assistant, Emillo Sousa, are responsible for some of the most bizarre buildings in the United States.

The Flip Side by craig piechura

To call his buildings eye-arresting is a shallow appraisal. You can shop in these optical illusions.

There's the Tilt Showroom, The Notch Project, the Indeterminate Facade Project and the Ghost Parking

Lot, to name a few places built by Sculpture In The Environment (SITE) of New York, N.Y.

The Tilt Showroom building is a rectangular structure built for the Best Products Co., a catalogue store.

The front facade of this showroom is tilted at an angle, exposing the innards of the building. At first glance, the building looks like someone with a jack and a crowbar pried the front of the building away from the showroom and lifted one end up off the ground.

There's no danger of the wall falling, but it must have been quite an engineering feat.

Another one of Wines' creations for the Best company is his "Notch Project," located in Sacramento, Calif. Again, the building is a standard, windowless, rectangular showroom.

Except part of this building moves 40 feet down the street every morning.

The 14-foot-high corner section of the building rides on a rail and slides away to form an entranceway. And every evening, 311 45 tons of brick in the removable notch joins the rest of the building for the night.

BUT THERE'S MORE. Probably the most radical showroom built by Wines for Best is located in Houston, Texas. The outside walls look like they're tumbling down and about to bury the cars in the parking lot.

It's all an illusion, designed to make art "become" architecture.

"The buildings contribute sort of a sense of humor to the community; something corporate America is not often accused of," said Ed Sipek, director of corporate communications at Best.

Wines maintains his message is not a visual joke or pop art, but an attempt to show "art as a dialogue of missing parts."

But SITE Inc. isn't your average construction firm. Wines' sculptures are also on display in 40 museums throughout the world. Wines has taught at New York University, Cornell and the University of New York.

He has also written many magazine articles on his theory of art and architecture.

The off-beat showrooms are called a "commentary on modern architecture's obsession with form as the expression of function," by SITE in the Tilt Showroom project description.

All the buildings employ the familiar rectangular format, but Wines takes that stereotype and twists it. While very little is changed physically, the psychological after-effect is devastating to customers and passers-by.

THE PERSON responsible for bringing Wines to LIT is Gary Karp, 24, president of the local student chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Wines is the keynote speaker in the AIA Great Lakes Regional Conference of architects March 9-10 at LIT.

Karp realizes there aren't too many clients out there who'd let an architect do to their building what Wines did to Best.

But the theory of SITE, that architecture should be "the art of creating human experience in space," has broad application, according to Karp.

"By listening to (Wines) I think people will have more of an open mind when they think about architecture," Karp said.

"Rather than designing a cliché that looks like every other building, maybe we can say something new."

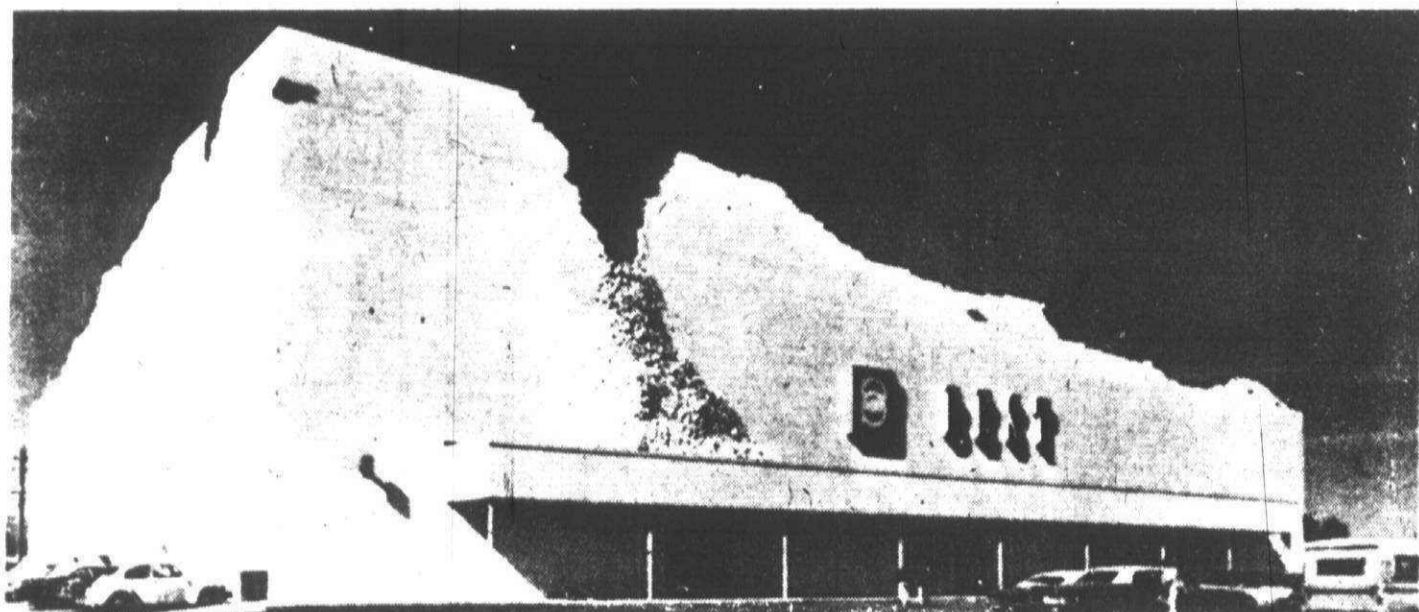

"Architects have a responsibility to build attractive, functional, economical buildings. And the biggest problem is to do good architecture affordably."

No one can accuse LIT of resting on its laurels and churning out predictable architects.

Just this year, they have invited Oscar Newman, an urban architecture rebel who has gotten involved in designing humanistic public housing that avoids the social pitfalls inherent in the high-rise.

They've hosted Wolf Von Eckardt, architecture critic of the Washington Post, who chided the profession for designing buildings that are meant to be looked at, not lived in.

And now they're going to be visited by the man who has literally turned architecture on its ear.

The "indeterminate facade," as its called by architects, has made more than one motorist think he's seeing a disaster in progress.

Resident will pay for police protection

Editor:
(An open letter to all concerned residents of Plymouth and Plymouth Township and to the Plymouth Township Board.)

As a resident of Plymouth Township whose rent, at least partially, goes to taxes, I wonder how many area citizens have enough facts and knowledge to be able to vote intelligently on the questions of charter status, co-solidation, or cityhood for "Plymouth Heights"?

I know I don't have enough of the truth or facts. We all hear some of the pros and cons on these questions, but do we know the whole story?

Regarding the cityhood question, why did the charter commission arbitrarily discriminate against the township residents west of McClumpha Road by now allowing them to be included in the new city or to vote on the question? Who draws the lines?

Are there enough of them against becoming a city that they by themselves, with the help of a few east of McClumpha residents, to defeat this proposal?

It seems to me that these persons have been paying taxes to the township for services and yet, because they live west of an arbitrarily drawn line, they would become outcasts and have to fend for themselves.

In regards to any of the possibilities (cityhood, consolidation, charter status or contracting), I'm all for taxpayers obtaining the best possible service for the best price. Remember, cheaper is not necessarily better.

I think residents should "shop around" and make an intelligent choice.

As to contracting, we all hear that the Wayne County Sheriff's will protect us for X-number of dollars and that the township board is considering a contract with the sheriff for even fewer dollars for part-time protection.

This appears to be a daylight proposition only and, yes, it complies with state law requiring police protection for charter status.

However, does crime only occur during the day? No. It occurs 24-hours a day, without regard for race, creed, national origin or the neighborhood in which you live.

I personally would not sleep well, knowing that if something were to happen at 1 a.m., I would have to wait until 8 a.m. to report it.

We township residents need fulltime, 24-hour, seven day police protection the same as we have fire and rescue protection today.

People don't really believe the words of politicians anymore and they want facts when it comes to their own welfare. They have a right to know.

In the best interests of all concerned, the Observer should fairly investigate all possibilities, obtain and present the facts to the citizens so that "We the People" may make an intelligent decision, without a group of politicians trying to convince us that what is right is what is going to save them a few dollars out of their own pockets.

I, for one, would gladly pay a few extra dollars every month out of my pocket for efficient professional police protection.

How about you?

Driver faces trial

An Inkster man has been charged with negligent homicide in the accidental death of a Plymouth woman.

Ernest Leroy Stewart, 44, of Inkster, was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court on the charge and faces arraignment April 20, according to Canton police.

The charge stems from a Feb. 12 accident which resulted in the death of Martha Stilec, 26.

She had been driving on Cherry Hill near Lotz when a house trailer separated from a wrecker Stewart was driving. The trailer rolled on top of the 1978 Pontiac Firebird that Mrs. Stilec was driving.

She was pronounced dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital.

Stewart was arraigned on charges of negligent homicide before 35th District Judge James Garber. The charge is a misdemeanor that carries a two-year jail sentence upon conviction.

Stewart is free on $1,000 personal bond.

A "Welcome to Spring" will be celebrated with music and story Saturdays, March 17 and 24 in Forest Place Mall, Forest Street, Plymouth.

Children of the Plymouth-Canton community are invited join the fun. There will be no admission charge.

Lynn Abby, harpist from the University of Michigan School of Music, will provide mood music. The children may also listen as Aiden Broderick tells a delightful story, "When the Root Children Wake Up."

Storytimes will be 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. both days. Aiden estimates the sessions will last about 30 minutes.

LAST CALL for Girl Scout cookies. Friday, March 16 is the deadline for taking orders in Plymouth and Canton Township. Anyone who has been missed can call Doris Rorabacher, area cookie chairperson, at 453-1076.

In addition to the oldtime favorites, there are two new varieties — natural granola and wheat sesame cracker. The price is the same, $1.25 per package. Scouts earn 20 cents for their troop and 53 cents for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council every time they sell one box of cookies.

Cookies will be delivered in early April.

MEMBERS OF the Plymouth Canton Administrators Association met Wednesday evening in the clubhouse of Woodgate Condominiums.

Guest speaker was JoAnn Brown, of Chicago, a former principal. Several of the administrators had heard her speak at a principals' convention and wanted to hear more. Her subject was "Mind Sets and Staff Motivation."

Bill Lutz, principal at Smith Elementary School, is serving his first term as president of the association. The group has monthly meetings and social gatherings which included an open house during the Christmas season.

The membership of 39 persons consists of all building administrators in the Plymouth Canton Community Schools — principals, assistant principals and area coordinators.

LAURENE KIRCHOFF and Bruce Gerish, sophomores at Alma College, are disc jockeys for the college's new radio station, WABM. Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gerish of Portsmouth Crossing, Plymouth, and Laurene's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kirchoff of Brookside Drive, Plymouth.

As announcers, their duties include playing music, reading advertising and making sure the news and weather are announced at the beginning of every hour. The station is completely student run and is transmitted by carrier current to the dormitories on campus.

Bruce and Laurene are 1977 graduates of Plymouth Salem High School. Bruce got his start in radio at the high school station, WSDP where he broadcast play-by-play sports and had his own music show. He also wrote news scripts.

WEAVERS will be interested in "The Saltillo Sarape" exhibit which opens Sunday, March 18 in the Detroit Institute of Arts and runs through Sunday, July 1.

The display in the textile galleries will show 30 examples of the sarapes produced in weaving centers throughout northern Mexico from the 17th through the mid-19th century.

With cotton or linen warp and woolen weft, Saltillo sarapes were vibrant with rich color from natural dyes like cochineal, yielding reds from purple to orange tones, a clear blue violet from indigo, and various yellow, green and purple hues.

They ranged in size from 74 to 101 inches long and 42 to 62 inches wide. They were perfectly suited to life on horseback as all-weather cloak, bedroll and saddle trapping.

In order to duplicate a Saltillo sarape today, it is estimated a master weaver would labor 10 hours a day for eight consecutive months.

LISA COLWELL and Laura McFarland, both nine years old, wrote a letter to the editor:

"We have been seeing some robins outside of our class at 10:30 at Allen School. He is big and fat. We think he forgot to go south for the winter. We've been seeing other robins but only once. This robin we have been seeing at least four or more times. We also think springs around the corner even though the groundhog saw his shadow."

Lisa included a colorful picture of a "robin" with two robin blue eggs. The letter and the drawing were received several weeks ago.

Latest robin report was from Maureen Stuck, president of the Tonquish Creek Garden Club. She lives out in Trailwood II subdivision.

Charlie Crain helps Jan Gattoni choose the gold sequined gown that she will wear in the routine "Hard-Hearted Hannah."

Charlie Crain's stacks of trunks contain everything from feather boas to brief Rockettes' costumes.

Crain reminisces:

From vaudeville to leading man, to director

For Charlie Crain, his is the ideal life. For 12 months of the year, he is involved with his first love, the theater.

Two weeks ago, he was in Port Arthur, Texas putting the finishing touches on a musical revue. From there, he headed north to Plymouth, Mich. where he will be in residence for three weeks.

The Plymouth Community Arts Council had been awaiting Crain's arrival. He is the professional director who will be responsible for "Way Off Broadway," the club's musical follies and one of its main fund-raisers for the year.

"I'm very pleased with the arts council. They are well organized and wonderful to work with. Ninety-eight percent of the casting is complete," said Crain. "There is great talent here."

Tickets are $6 for orchestra seats and $3 for balcony.

CHARLIE CRAIN was born in Kalamazoo. His parents were show people who followed the vaudeville circuits with the best known companies of the era. His father also traveled with the L.G. Field Minstrels.

"I was just four years old when I sang my first song on stage. It was my imitation of my dad's routine."

"And I was the original Buster Brown with the bangs and the Buster Brown haircut. We used to have several magazines with my picture in the ads — the Woman's Home Companion and the Ladies Home Journal. But they have all disappeared. I wish I could find some copies of those old magazines."

Crain went on to become a song and dance man in vaudeville. "And we had an act — two of us in blackface and a girl. We were the Three Smoked Hams."

World War II came along and Crain was in the service for four years. He was placed in Special Services and he spent three years taking shows to Army bases all over the country.

"We had six WAACs, six boys and a band. We went all over the United States in a C-47. After the war, I spent seven months in Europe with a USO troupe."

After four years in the Air Corps, he was back in show business. He spent a year on the road in "Brigadoon" and suddenly he was no longer was a song-and-dance man, he was a leading man.

CRAIN STARTED directing and is looking forward to his 29th year as director of Mountain Playhouse, Jennerstown, Pa.

"It's an old grist mill that was moved log by log to its present site. We have a 21-week season. We open the first week in May and run until October."

For 26 years, he has started directing for Jerome Cargill Producing Organization of New York as soon as the playhouse closes.

He works with professionals during the summer months and when he takes to the road for Cargill, he directs amateurs for hometown audiences.

He has had a long line of professionals at Mountain Playhouse. There is Jean Stapleton, whose husband has the Teton Pole Playhouse which is about 90 miles away.

"The first time I saw Jean after her marriage, she threw her arms around me and gave me a big kiss. Her husband was waiting for an explanation. Jean said, 'I've been married to Charlie in five off-Broadway shows and once on television.'"

DICK YORK, Brian Keith, John (Gomer) Astin, Dena (Mother Nature) Ditrick, Alice Frame and Ruth Buzzi are old favorites at Mountain Playhouse.

Ruth Buzzi's Alice Hornsby characterization started at the playhouse, he said.

"We were doing 'Auntie Mame,' and we decided to do Agnes Gooch. Ruth and I went over to the Salvation Army store in Johnstown to buy her wardrobe.

We did her hair in the little knot on top of her head and there was Agnes Gooch. Ruth kept the character as Alice Hornsby."

As a director for Cargill, Crain has traveled all over the United States and Canada. He lives in hotels and out of a suitcase — a familiar way of life for an old vaudevillian. With him go stacks of trunks and hatboxes full of costumes for the musical revues. He has never been married and home is Pennsylvania.

"I have a house there, and my car is there. I work out of there." After 29 years as director of the playhouse, it has become his hometown.

Life has been good to Charlie Crain. He wouldn't have wished for any more.

Spring acting classes for beginning actors

Two creative acting classes for students in grades 3-9 mark the beginning of a potential theater program for the Plymouth-Canton community. The Plymouth Community Arts Council has provided a subsidy to the Young People's Theater, based in Ann Arbor, to run the classes in Plymouth.

Classes will be divided into two age groups, third through fifth graders and sixth through ninth graders. The classes will be for beginning actors with a special interest in theater.

Creative Acting, 3-5, will be taught by Laura Rosberg, advisor and director, Pioneer Theater Guild, Ann Arbor, and producer of Young People's Theater. The class will concentrate on improvisation and movement. There will be a makeup workshop and a trip to a rehearsal of a professional company.

Creative Acting, 6-9, will be taught by Jane Kennedy, actress, of the Provincetown Players, Provincetown, Mass.

This class will include work with scripts as well as improvisation and movement.

The classes will begin Monday, March 19 in Fellowship Hall of First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth and run for 10 weeks. The class for grades 3-5 will be Mondays from 4:30-6 p.m. Class for grades 6-9 will be Saturdays from 10 a.m. to noon.

Tuition for the series is $28 and partial and full scholarships are available on request. For information and applications call the arts council at 455-5260 Monday through Thursday between 9 a.m. and noon or Carol Carlson, 453-3127.

Young People's Theater is a Wash-tonaw area non-profit corporation designed to provide educational and entertaining theater experiences for young people. The group also sponsors performances by professional companies and by young people.

How to prevent heart attacks

A presentation by Dr. Joseph Arends, noted cardiologist, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 28 in Smith Elementary School, 1298 McKinley, Plymouth.

Arends' practice is limited to the prevention of heart disease. He works throughout the state with teachers, parents and students in helping them develop and implement life-long individual cardiovascular fitness and nutrition.

A new series of tests — blood, urine and cardiovascular. From the results, he draws up a personalized fitness program for each individual to follow. Arends' conception of an ideal physical state is reached, the patient is on his own.

Although he can't motivate people to break their bad habits and start a new regime of living, he says he can tell them how fast they are killing themselves. The speaker used to weigh 240. He now weighs 175 pounds and jogs 60 miles a week.

His practice is aimed at preventing heart disease, the number one killer in this country of men over 30 and women over 44.

The speaker's appearance in Plymouth is sponsored by the Movement Education Program and is open to all interested persons.

BPW fashion show

Tickets still are available for the Business and Professional Women's Club's annual fashion show at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 20 in the Plymouth Hilton Inn. Tickets at $3.50 can be purchased from club members or by calling the ticket co-chairpersons, Betty Pint, (from left) Marilyn Faber and Marion Kehrl, president of the club, are anticipating the usual fashions. Tickets at $3.50 can be purchased from club members or by calling the ticket co-chairpersons, Betty Pint, 453-8578, or Marilyn Faber, 455-1438. (Staff photo)

Jaycettes welcome new members

Plans for the Channel 56 auction are well under way in the Plymouth and Canton area. Several residents in town have been busy gathering donations from local merchants and recruiting help for the auction, to be held March 30 through April 7.

Chairwoman for Plymouth-Canton is Loretta Yeager. Committee members include Laurie Pockock, Nancy Drabek, Marlena Krolnicki, Bruce Block and Brian Wilcox.

All donations to the auction are tax deductible. Anyone who would like to make a donation or help in any way with the auction may call Loretta at 453-3647.

THE CANTON Jaycettes have really grown since the beginning of the year. The group had a membership night late in January which brought their count from 24 to 54 members. President Nicki Wilson was very pleased at the success of the evening. More members mean more community projects to get to work on.

We would like to welcome all the new members to the Jaycettes: Darcy King, Linda Morrocco, Mary Jo Johnson, Mary Volland, Debbie Nagle, Nancy Lernkie, Janet Gingerich, and Elizabeth Courville.

Also Patti Eaton, Carol Lewis, Kristin Voss, Donna Baranski, Celia McThee, Anne Koehl, Sandy Meigil, Maryanne Lamborn and Shirley Mudry. The Jaycettes' bake sale on March 3 was a sell out. They have many projects that are now in the planning stages. One thing they are sure to be involved in is a Walk For Mankind for Project Concern.

This fund-raiser is to supply 40 chil-ics and hospitals around the world with needed medical supplies. The walk will not be until sometime in June, but the group is already planning their posters and publicity for the event.

Easter always is a big time for the Jaycettes and they're now thinking of something for Canton in keeping with the spirit of the upcoming holiday.

THE CANTON Newcomers, in their last newsletter, enclosed a separate invitation for their club members to give to a new neighbor. Hopefully many new residents in Canton received it.

It's hard for a new Cantonite to know what's going on in their town unless someone takes the time to inform them. Here are just a few of the interest groups the newcomers are offering their members this year:

Babysitting Co-Op: The co-op employs a plus and minus points system. If you are in need of a sitter you would call the secretary of the month for the names of the two of three members most in debt for the current month. You would call these first to fulfill your sitting needs. In turn, you will be called on to provide sitting services on an as needed basis.

Ladies Bowling: Meets at one of the local area bowling alleys. The league is formed in the fall but substitutes may be needed at various times.

Tennis League — meets weekly at Western Racquet Club in Livonia. Any level player may be accommodated.

Volleyball — Meets weekly at a local area school. Every member is welcome to participate each week.

The Gourmet Group: Composed of a number of smaller groups of four couples each. Each of these groups meets every month, on a rotating basis at a different group members' home. The hostess provides the entree with the remaining three couples bringing accompaniments to the main course.

Dining Out: There are two dining out groups. Both meet monthly, one on a Friday evening, the other on a Saturday evening, at a different area restaurant.

Luncheon Out: Meets on the second Thursday of the month at a different area restaurant. Reservations are open to any member.

Luncheon In: A group for ladies which meets in member's homes. The hostess prepares the meat dish, with other members bringing other parts of the menu. Children are welcome to come with their own bag lunch.

The Handwork Group: A sewing circle. This group will meet at 1 p.m. the first and third Tuesdays monthly. Bring handcrafts that you are currently working on.

Ladies Day: Once a month all members are invited to take part in a day-long series of activities. Some of the past Ladies Days included a trip to Frankenmuth with lunch at the Bavarian Inn, a play at the Fisher Theatre, and a museum tour.

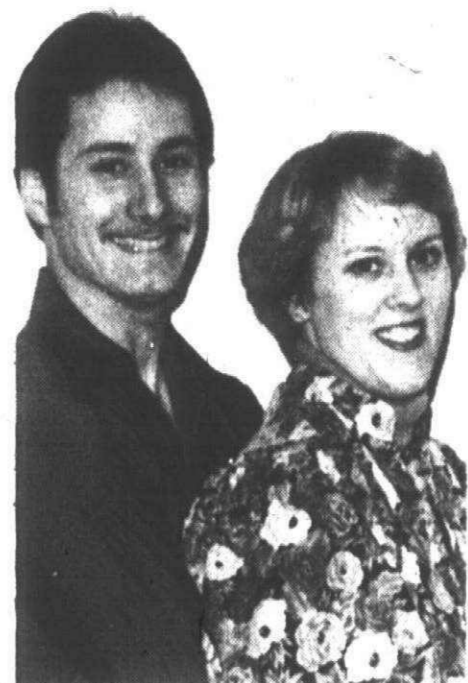

Cards: There are ladies bridge groups, couples bridge and other card groups.

Book Discussion Group: Meets monthly. The group chooses all books. Discussion format includes a brief review of featured author and a light discussion of book over snacks and coffee. New readers welcome any month.

Book Pass: Books which have been decided upon by the group are passed from one member to another at three-week intervals. This requires only one meeting, and a fee of no more than $5 with plenty of reading.

RUMMAGE SALE

Articles now are being collected for the annual Canton Rotary Club Rummage Sale. The club is seeking donations of clothing, glassware, hardware, tools, houseware, furniture, odds and ends. Persons wishing to donate can deliver articles to Bill Brown Auto Clinic, 8240 Lilley Rd. between Joy and Warren in Canton. Pick-up service is available by calling Carl Schultz at 455-4194 or Orren Hall at 455-3590. All proceeds will go toward Canton Rotary projects. The sale is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, May 19-20.

Elmlad-Fitzpatrick

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Elmlad of Garrison Lane, Southgate announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine, to Richard T. Fitzpatrick Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Fitzpatrick of North Umberland Circle, Canton Township.

The bride-elect graduated from L'Anse High School. She earned her bachelor of science degree in medical technology at Michigan Technological University. She is employed by Merck Sharp & Dohme. Her fiance graduated from Plymouth Salem High School and Schoolcraft College where he majored in business administration. He is employed by Van Hornes of Westland.

They plan a June wedding in Skaneateles, Mich.

Satirist spoofs at Town Hall

The author of the book, "When in Doubt, Mumble," will have a sarcastic word or two to say on the subject of bureaucracy when he addresses a Livonia Town Hall audience at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, March 21, in the Mai Kai Theater, Plymouth and Farmington roads.

Dr. James Boren, who earned a Ph.D. in history, philosophy and education from the University of Texas, is chairman of the board of a firm that designs and engineers training facilities and security systems.

Away from work he serves as president of the International Association of Professional Bureaucrats, and thinks up humorous schemes to expose the red tape in bureaucracy.

He once performed a Pony Express ride from Philadelphia to Washington to dramatize current problems in mail delivery. Test mail sent special delivery turned up as many as eight days after Boren's arrival.

Calling himself an expert of dynamic inaction and prodigious pondering, Boren co-produces a newsletter called

"Mumplepeg," designed to keep people abreast "of inside mumbling in the windy world of governmental, corporate and academic bureaucracy."

Tickets at $6 per person can be obtained by sending a check payable to Livonia Town Hall to Mrs. Tito Carosio, 18525 Loveland, Livonia 48152. Tickets for the celebrity luncheon held after the Boren lecture in the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth also cost $6. For a reservation send a check to Livonia Town Hall, Box 2143, Livonia 48150. Luncheon tickets are sold on a first come, first served basis. No reservations or cancellations will be accepted after the Friday preceding the lecture.

For further questions about arrangements, contact Mrs. Carl Quist at 261-3675.

All proceeds from Livonia Town Hall lectures are distributed to American Field Service Chapters in Livonia high schools. They are used to send Livonia students abroad and to bring foreign students to Livonia for a year of study.

Madonna to offer tips on careers

Two free career sessions with different themes will be held at Madonna College March 17, 24 and 31.

The Madonna College Career Showcases is directed to college-bound high school students, as well as students at community college interested in transferring credits to a four-year college.

The sessions will take place in the career resource center in the administration building.

Career planning and decision making is the theme of the workshop March 19 and 20. It is designed for those in the midst of changing careers or considering such a move.

The career showcase has divided into three sessions scheduled to meet from 1 a.m. to 2 p.m. on three different days. The show case of the humanities on Saturday, March 17, will focus on careers and majors in commercial art, fine arts, communications arts, journalism and public relations, music, religious studies, languages (French, Spanish and Polish) and interpretation for total communication (with deaf persons).

Sessions for those career bound into the natural sciences will take place Saturday, March 24. This showcase will address career opportunities in biology, chemistry, occupational safety and health and fire science, nursing and mathematics.

Also to be included will be career talk on operating room technology, pre-professional medical technology, computer science and allied health management.

The social science showcase on Saturday, March 31 will review career possibilities in child care and guidance, dietetics, gerontology, home economics and family life, legal assistance and administration, public administration and education (special, elementary and secondary).

The career resource center staff, as well as faculty and students in specific fields, will be available to discuss career opportunities during the showcases.

Participants are asked to call to indicate which showcase they plan to attend. Call the college at 591-6331.

Those joining the career planning and decision making workshops will explore theories of career development, identify goals, interests, abilities and aptitudes during sessions.

The meetings will take place from 7-10 p.m. Monday, March 19 in room 275 of the administration building, and from 9 a.m. to noon, noon, or 1-4 p.m. Tuesday, March 20 in room 265 of the same building. Register by calling the college at the above number.

Like the showcases, the workshop are sponsored by Madonna's career resource center, which sponsors workshops for high school and college students. It also offers individual testing and counseling, surveys on employment opportunities and in-service workshops on career preparation for elementary and secondary teachers.

Marine artist's works on display in gallery

A champagne open house will launch a four-day exhibit of the works of marine artist James Clary in Plymouth. Marine paintings and collector prints by the artist will be included in the show along with scrimshaw and marine artifacts.

The exhibit in the Art Gallery Inc.,

459 S. Main Street, will open with the open house from 7-9 p.m. Thursday, March 22. The show will continue through Sunday, March 25. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday; 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday; and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday. The artist will be in attendance during these hours to discuss his art and marine history.

Clary has created three fascinating marine historical collections. These limited edition, signed and numbered fine art prints are entitled "Great Lakes Series," "Feared Lost Series," and "Classics of the Sea Series." The paintings reveal Clary's ardent affection and respect for the sea, its ships, and the men who sailed them.

On display during the show will be his new hand-colored, numbered and signed print of the fishing schooner "Bluenose." Old Ironsides in battle will be featured in the exhibit.

The Michigan artist developed his interest in nautical lore during childhood years spent along the Detroit and St. Clair rivers. Relying on extensive reading, research and experience, he brings to his work accuracy of detail on each ship.

The exhibit and open house are free and open to the public.

Shier-Norton

Former Plymouth resident Janis Lynn Shier and Chad Kirby Norton of Marquette plan to be married early in July on the rocks of Lake Superior near Marquette. The engagement is announced by her father, Robert C. Shier of Dearborn. Her mother was the late Evelyn Shier.

The bride-elect graduated from Plymouth Salem High School. She earned her bachelor of arts degree in music at Michigan State University and her masters degree at Northern Michigan University. She teaches music in intermediate and high schools in Marquette.

Her fiancé is the son of Roger and Pat Norton of Barbeau, Mich.

Applications ready for $500 JWH arts awards

A deadline of April 15 has been set for high school seniors to apply for a Joanne Winkleman Hulce Award. Two awards of $500 each are available to graduating seniors who have displayed exceptional ability in an artistic field and desire to continue his or her education in that field.

A broad spectrum of the arts will be considered including drama, dance, painting, sculpture, ceramics, textiles, graphics, photography, design, vocal and instrumental music and the literary arts.

The Plymouth Community Arts Council established the JWH Award in honor of Joanne Hulce, founder of the arts council.

A COMMITTEE of five persons with artistic background has been appointed by the PCAC board to act as judges for the 1979 award. They are Erick Carne, Charles Heidt, Joanne Hulce, Wilma Newton and Margaret Moon.

Applications should include:

- Applicant's name, address and telephone number.

phone number.

- A letter from applicant giving background information in his or her artistic field and what plan he or she has for continuing education in that field. A personal profile including qualifications for the award.

- Two letters of recommendation — from a teacher, and from another person closely associated with applicant's artistic ability.

- Must submit two representative pieces of work. In case of performing, be prepared to perform for the committee.

Applications should be submitted to: Plymouth Community Arts Council, JWH Award, 332 S. Main Street, Plymouth, Michigan 48170.

Winners will be announced at the annual PCAC annual meeting. Winners will be requested to attend the meeting and have their work on display or to perform.

Letters explaining the award have been sent to teachers in the Plymouth Canton Community high schools. Those wishing more information can call the PCAC office, 455-5260, Monday through Thursday mornings.

Library rejects Big Macs

"Thanks, but no thanks" is the essence of the message the West Bloomfield Library Board is sending to McDonald's of Sylvan Lake.

The fast food restaurant contacted Library Director Gretchen Kulberg recently asking to tie in various promotions with library programs. It suggested book fairs, place mats and gift certificates for children.

The board's consensus was against promoting any commercial enterprise. West Bloomfield's library does not serve Sylvan Lake. Rather, Kulberg says residents there purchase library cards from other systems because that community doesn't have its own library.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING CITY COMMISSION CITY OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, in the Commission Chamber of the City Hall, on Monday, April 2, 1979, at 7:30 P.M., to consider amendments to Chapter 52, ZONING, of the Plymouth City Code, as follows:

Revising the text of Section 5.202(1) SIGNS, the second paragraph for B-1, B-2, B-3, P-1, O-1, and O-2 Districts and the first paragraph for I-1, I-2 Districts, to read as follows:

No wall sign shall project beyond or overhang the wall by more than one (1) foot and shall not be placed on or project above the highest point of the roof or parapet. In the case of building(s) containing more than one (1) tenant the individual wall signs shall not exceed ten (10) percent of the building facade attributable to each tenant. The aggregate sum of all wall sign(s) shall not exceed ten (10) percent of the total area of the frontage entrance facade(s) including the area of all fenestration; however, in no instance shall any individual wall sign(s) exceed two hundred (200) square feet.

Revising the text of Section 5.202(2)(1), SIGNS, to read as follows:

The area of a sign includes that area of the sign within the square, rectangle, triangle, circle, etc., caused by encompassing the outermost portion of the sign or around the outermost edged of a sign formed by letters or symbols only. An area so created shall include all solid surfaces as well as all openings and shall include all sides serving as a sign surface. Signs painted on a wall are also regulated by the provisions of this ordinance; however, supergraphics, wall murals and/or historical signs are excluded if they do not advertise a business name, product, service, etc.

All interested persons are invited to attend this hearing and will be given an ample opportunity to participate in the hearing. At the close of the hearing, all comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the City Commission before rendering its decision.

A copy of the item scheduled for hearing is on file in the Office of the City Clerk during regular office hours for public examination.

ORDINANCE NO. 79-1 CITY OF PLYMOUTH MICHIGAN

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTIONS 5.185 AND 5.186 OF CHAPTER 52, ZONING, OF THE PLYMOUTH CITY CODE

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 5.186 of Chapter 52, Zoning, of the Plymouth City Code, is hereby amended by adding new sub-section (q), as follows:

5.186. Footnotes.

(a) The side yard abutting upon a street shall not be less than eight (8) feet when there is a common rear yard. In case of a rear yard abutting a side yard of an adjacent lot, the side abutting a street shall not be less than the required front yard of that district.

(b) The height of any main building or accessory buildings may exceed the maximum permitted height by one (1) foot for each additional one (1) foot by which the width of each yard exceeds the minimum yard requirement.

(c) The total number of rooms in a multiple dwelling structure of two (2) stories or less shall not be more than the area of the parcel, in square feet, divided by nine hundred (900). The total number of rooms in a multiple dwelling of over two (2) stories shall not be more than the area of the parcel, in square feet, divided by five hundred (500). Not more than ten per cent (10%) of the units on any given parcel may be of an efficiency apartment type. For the purpose of computing rooms, the following shall control:

Efficiency Apartment Unit	- 1 room
One-bedroom Unit	- 2 rooms
Two-bedroom Unit	- 3 rooms
Three-bedroom Unit	- 4 rooms
Four-bedroom Unit	- 5 rooms
Plans presented showing 1, 2 or 3 bedroom units and including a den, library, or other extra room shall count such extra rooms as a bedroom for the purpose of computing density.

The area used for computing density shall be the total site area exclusive of any dedicated public right-of-way of either interior or bordering streets.

(d) In RM Districts the minimum front and rear yards shall be equal to the height of the building, except that where a front lot line abuts a street, one-half the width of the right-of-way of said street may be considered as front yard setback, but in no instance shall any front of rear yard setback be less than twenty-five (25) feet. In all RM-1 and RM-2 Multiple-Family Residence Districts, the minimum amount of useable open space or recreation area per dwelling unit (exclusive of a required front yard, parking areas or drive-ways) shall be equal to 150 square feet of lot area per bedroom. A balcony or roof sundeck of 50 square feet or greater may be counted toward meeting the minimum amount of open space per dwelling unit. In all RM-1 and RM-2 Multiple Residence Districts, the minimum distance between any two (2) buildings, shall be regulated according to the length and height of such buildings; however, in no instance shall this distance be less than thirty (30) feet. The formula regulating the required minimum distance between two (2) buildings is as follows:

$$S - LA - LB - 2(HA - HB), \text{ where}$$

S — Required minimum horizontal distance between any wall of building A and any wall of building B or the vertical prolongation of either.

LA — Total length of building A.

The total length of building A is the length of that portion or portions of a wall or walls of building A from which, when viewed directly from above, lines drawn perpendicular to building A will intersect any wall of building B.

LB — The total length of Building B.

The total length of building B is the length of that portion or portions of a wall or walls of building B from which, when viewed directly from above, lines drawn perpendicular to building B will intersect any wall of building A.

HA — Height of building A.

The height of building A at any given level is the height above natural grade level of any portion or portions of a wall or walls along the length of building A. Natural grade level shall be the mean level of the ground immediately adjoining the portion or portions of a wall or walls along the total length of the building.

HB — Height of building B.

The height of building B at any given level is the height above natural grade level of any portion or portions of a wall or walls along the length of building B. Natural grade level shall be the mean level of the ground immediately adjoining the portion or portions of the wall or walls along the total length of the building.

(e) Any side or rear yard for a principal use or a special use permitted in this district other than one-family, two-family and multiple-family dwellings, shall not be less than the height of the structure at the side or rear lot line.

(f) For each story in excess of two (2) stories, a side yard of 2½ feet for each additional story shall be provided, in addition to the minimum ten foot requirement. The distance between buildings on the same lot shall be regulated by the building distance formula specified in paragraph (d) of this section.

(g) In a block on one side of a street thirty (30%) per cent or more occupied, the depth of the front yard shall not be less than, and need not be more than, the average depth of front yards or existing buildings.

(h) No side yards are required along the interior side lot lines, except as otherwise specified in the Building Code. On the exterior side yard which borders on a Residential District, there shall be provided a setback of not less than ten (10) feet on the side or residential street. If walls of structures facing interior lot lines contain windows or other openings, side yards of not less than ten (10) feet shall be provided. The setback shall be measured from the nearest side of the existing and/or proposed right-of-way lines, whichever is greater.

(i) An obscuring screen shall be provided in accordance with the provisions of Section 5.204.

(j) One-half (½) the width of alleys at the rear of the lot may be considered in computing rear yard setbacks.

(k) Parking shall be permitted in a required front yard.

(l) An obscuring screen shall be provided in accordance with the provisions of Section 5.204. The greenbelt planting plan shall be reviewed and approved by the Building Inspector on conformity with Section 5.201.

(m) Off-street loading space shall be provided in the rear yard in the ratio of at least one space per each establishment and shall be provided in addition to any required off-street parking area. Off-street loading space shall further meet the requirements of Section 5.198, Article SV, "General Provisions."

(o) There is no limitation in the number of stories and the height of any point of structure in this use district when measured above mean street level shall not exceed 1.5 times the sum of the abutting street right-of-way width, plus the distance that the point sets back from right of way. Street right-of-way is defined as the average street right-of-way width within the block. On corner properties, the wider of the two abutting street rights of way shall apply but shall not be applicable to abutting alleys. The greater height as permitted in this footnote shall apply to that portion of the B-3 General Business District Zoning which is located within the Central Business District Area as defined and encompassed by Wing Street, Harvey Street, Church Street, Union Street and Deer Street. Residential uses shall be permitted within the Central Business District Area, as defined above, provided such living units are located on the second floor or above. In certain limited instances non-residential uses, such as restaurants, may be located above residences but only after the specific approval of the Planning Commission.

(p) Building heights permitted under Footnote (o) shall be further limited as follows: Where property abuts residential or office district, any side or rear yard abutting a residential or office district shall be required on a ratio of 1:1 to the height of the structure. In the event that an alley is between this district and the abutting residential or office district, one-half of the width of the alley right of way may be considered in determining compliance with this requirement.

(q) For side or rear yards which border on a residential district, there shall be provided a setback of not less than twenty (20) feet in the I-1 (Light Industrial District) and forty (40) feet in the I-2 (Heavy Industrial District). The side yard requirements on an interior side yard abutting an industrial district may be waived by the Planning Commission providing that the combined total side yard requirement of twenty (20) feet in the I-1 District and forty (40) feet in the I-2 District be located on the other side and provided further that the Planning Commission finds that such a building location on the lot line shall not adversely affect existing and/or potential development patterns in the area and that the building location and construction are acceptable to the City Building and Fire Departments.

Section 2. Section 5.185 of Chapter 52, Zoning, of the Plymouth City Code, is hereby amended by deleting footnote, (h) as a requirement for industrial districts and replacing it with footnote (q), as follows:

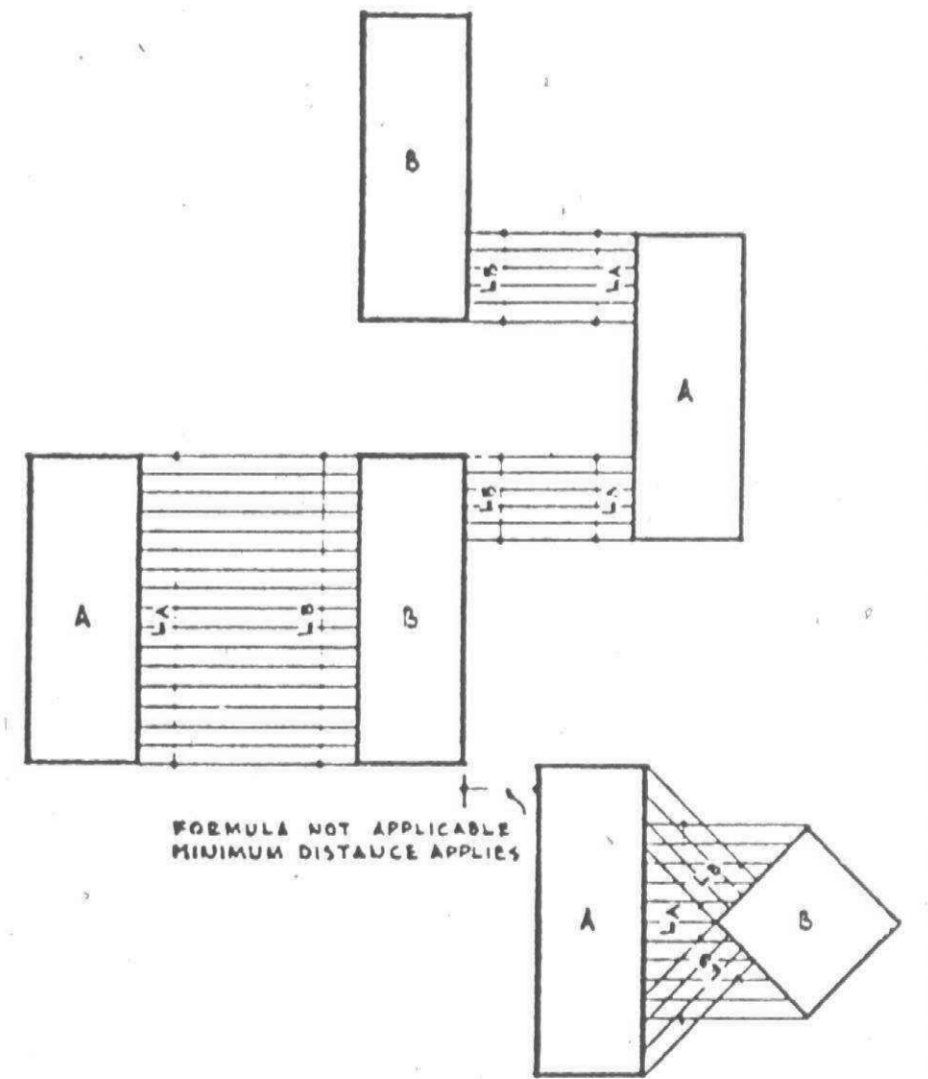

Section 3. This ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 27th day of March A.D. 1979.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, this 5th day of March A.D. 1979.

Clubs in Action

A "Welcome to Spring" will be celebrated with music and story Saturdays, March 17 and 24 in Forest Place Mall, Forest Street, Plymouth.

Children of the Plymouth-Canton community are invited join the fun. There will be no admission charge.

Lynn Abby, harpist from the University of Michigan School of Music, will provide mood music. The children may also listen as Aiden Broderick tells a delightful story, "When the Root Children Wake Up."

Storytimes will be 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. both days. Aiden estimates the sessions will last about 30 minutes.

LAST CALL for Girl Scout cookies.

Friday, March 16 is the deadline for taking orders in Plymouth and Canton Township. Anyone who has been missed can call Doris Rorabacher, area cookie chairperson, at 453-1076.

In addition to the oldtime favorites, there are two new varieties — natural granola and wheat sesame cracker. The price is the same, $1.25 per package. Scouts earn 20 cents for their troop and 55 cents for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council every time they sell one box of cookies.

Cookies will be delivered in early April.

MEMBERS OF the Plymouth Canton Administrators Association met Wednesday evening in the clubhouse of Woodgate Condominiums.

Guest speaker was JoAnn Brown, of Chicago, a former principal. Several of the administrators had heard her speak at a principals' convention and wanted to hear more. Her subject was "Mind Sets and Staff Motivation."

Bill Lutz, principal at Smith Elementary School, is serving his first term as president of the association. The group has monthly meetings and social gatherings which included an open house during the Christmas season.

The membership of 39 persons consists of all building administrators in the Plymouth Canton Community Schools — principals, assistant principals and area coordinators.

LAURENE KIRCHOFF and Bruce Gerish, sophomores at Alma College, are disc jockeys for the college's new radio station, WABM. Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gerish of Portsmouth Crossing, Plymouth, and Laurene's parents are Mr. and Mrs.

BOYS AND GIRLS— YOU CAN LEARN SPORTS SKILLS FROM THE STARS!

If you won't read these 7 signals of cancer... You probably have the 8th.

- Change in bowel or bladder habits
- A sore that does not heal
- Unusual bleeding or discharge
- Thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere
- Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing
- Obvious change in wart or mole
- Nagging cough or hoarseness
- A fear of cancer that can prevent you from detecting cancer at an early stage. A stage when it is highly curable. Everyone's afraid of cancer, but don't let it scare you to death.

American Cancer Society

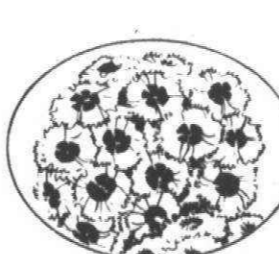

Here's a great opportunity for boys and girls to learn the fundamentals and techniques of their favorite sport— be it football (boys only), basketball, baseball, or softball (girls only), from top name pros like Al Kaline, Mickey Lolich, Kevin Porter, Ray Scott and Charlie Sanders. Located on the campus of Eastern Michigan University, Camp Huron is designed to offer special one-week training sessions for boys and girls, ages 10-17. Sessions for football, basketball, baseball and softball will be held July 22-27 and July 29-August 3. Write today for a free copy of the Camp Huron brochure: Camp Huron — All-Pro Sports Camp, P.O. Box 472, Franklin, Michigan, 48025. (313) 626-5151.

New book tells story of Ruth

By MARGARET MILLER

Take one of the most tension-prone of human relationships — the one between mother-in-law and daughter-in-law.

Set it in a far-back time frame, and paint into the background the sun-baked lands of the Mideast. Then bring the whole thing up to date, translating the story into present times and suburbia.

What you have, roughly, is a new book written by local churchwoman Margaret Hess. The 143-page volume tells the story of Ruth and Naomi from the biblical book of Ruth, and its title is "Love Knows No Barriers."

The author, wife of Dr. Bartlett L. Hess, pastor of Ward United Presbyterian Church of Livonia and herself a noted teacher of Bible study classes, tells the story of Ruth, the gleaner, in its Biblical setting, but she emphasizes throughout the narrative that its parallels in modern living can't be missed. "The story deals with the challenge of making the most of relationships," Mrs. Hess said.

HER PURPOSE was to tell in detail one of the few love stories to be found in the Bible. First recounted in the Old Testament book, it is the story of a woman, Naomi, who went from her native Israel to live in the neighboring country of Moab with her husband and two sons.

The husband and sons died and Ruth, one of her two daughters-in-law, elected to return to Israel with her mother-in-law rather than staying in her own country.

In Israel, she gleaned grain from the fields of the wealthy farmer Boaz and eventually married him. Their union began the lineage of David and later Jesus.

Weaving a narrative on that outline, Mrs. Hess found that the story brought to the fore many practical questions. "Some of them," she said, "are when do you move and how do you decide? How do you find rest in your life? What do you do when life caves in on you? How do you dig yourself out of a terrible situation? What are legitimate ways of getting attention? When should you take advice?"

MRS. HESS began writing her book last summer during a vacation on Harsen's Island. She had spoken on a number of occasions before groups on the story of the biblical woman, and she had authored, with her husband, two books on churchmanship, "How to Have a Giving Church" and "The Power of a Loving Church."

"But even with the familiarity I had with the story, I found I needed two months of additional research, working four hours a day," she said.

"I wanted to learn more about the customs of the time and the way the people lived, so I did a lot of reading in things that previously had been written about the book of Ruth.

"I had to feel thoroughly at home in the atmosphere of the story to get the details right. To me, the little details are what make the story come alive and let us see the parallels between life then and life today."

Mrs. Hess next will work on a book telling the story of Esther, another woman in the Old Testament.

Both stories are hardly new to her, since she has since 1958 been teaching Bible classes in Livonia and Birmingham. Taking place in Ward Church of Livonia and the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham, these sessions work through the Bible, successively covering all its books.

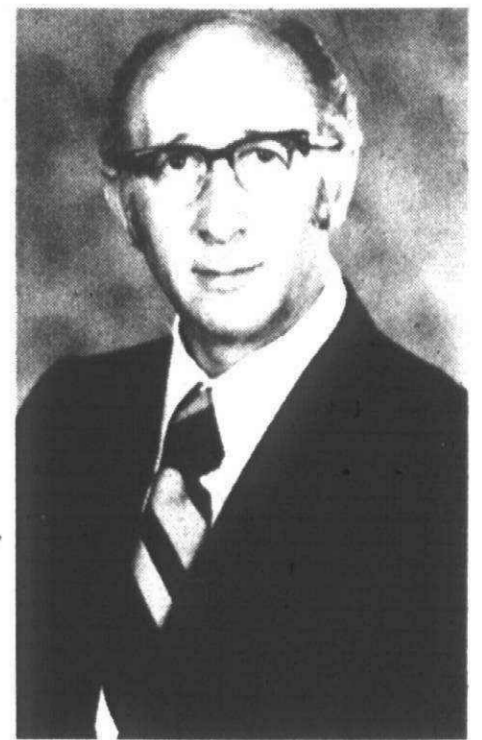

They draw women and men from a wide variety of churches and denominations.

"LOVE KNOWS No Barriers" is a publication of Victor Books, a division of SP Publications, Inc. It costs $2.25 and is available in Christian book stores in the area.

Margaret Hess show her new book "Love Knows No Barriers."

BEN ALEXANDER
Visiting South Redford

SOUTH REDFORD CHURCH OF CHRIST, 26505 W. Chicago, Redford Township, will present Ben Alexander, former medium of London, England, at three meetings March 15-17. The time is 7:30 p.m. He will discuss various subjects, including astrology, reincarnation, spiritualism and demon possession in the light of what the word of God teaches about these subjects.

Alexander, in his early life was a trans-medium. In 1964 he emigrated from England to this country to form a spiritualist organization. Instead he converted to Christianity, and used his life in researching these former interests, becoming an authority on the occult and witchcraft.

CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER-DAY SAINTS PLYMOUTH WARD, 7575 N. Hix, Westland, will complete its annual ward conference Sunday with a 3:30 p.m. meeting in the chapel. The meeting will culminate a week of activities in which Westland Stake officers have visited the quorums and auxiliaries in the ward to observe and instruct the local leaders.

There will be a 6 p.m. Sunday meeting of the ward bishopric and the stake presidency. At 8 a.m., there will be a priesthood meeting and a session with stake leaders of young women 12-18. Sunday school will be at 9:30 a.m. The ward council will meet 1:50-3:20 p.m. with the stake presidency.

Bishop Don L. Jacobson will address the congregation at 3:30 p.m., and will be followed by a 5 p.m. sacrament meeting. At 5:30 p.m. there will be a reception for those who have recently become members of the Plymouth Ward.

MEMORIAL CHURCH OF CHRIST, 35475 Five Mile Rd., Livonia, will mark its 37th anniversary celebration Sunday, March 18, starting with regular Bible School classes for all ages at 9:30 a.m. Don Poorman, a leader in the Puerto Rico Christian Schools, will speak at 10:45 a.m. A potluck dinner will follow.

REDFORD BAPTIST CHURCH, 25295 Grand River, Redford Township, will present the film, "Corrie: The Lives She Touched," at 6 p.m. Sunday. It is the story of a family involved in the Dutch underground during World War II, who were credited for saving the lives of scores of Jews.

TRINITY CHAPEL of Ward United Presbyterian Church, a new congregation to be located in Superior Township west of Plymouth, will hold its first service at 11 a.m. Sunday, March 18, in Isbister Elementary School, Canton Center Road at Ann Arbor Road.

The Rev. William C. Moore, associate pastor of the Livonia church and leader of the new congregation, will preach on "Power for the Pilgrim," and there will be special music by a group called the Fifth Season. A Sunday school program for nursery through adult ages will begin at 9:45 a.m.

ST. PAUL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 27475 Five Mile Rd., Livonia, will begin an adult education series on cults at 11 a.m. Sunday, March 18. The first program will feature a film, "Cults and the Occult," produced by Hal Lindsey.

The March 25 topic will be "The Shaking Quakers: an Old Cult," with the program led by the Rev. Bob Cox, and on April 1 there will be a discussion of the book, "The Cults are Coming." Copies of the book are available at the church office. The final session of the class April 8 will be a presentation on deprogramming.

ST. PAUL CHURCH OF CHRIST, 26550 Cherry Hill, Dearborn Heights, will re-enact the Sermon on the Mount with an outdoor service at 11 a.m. Sunday, March 18. A picnic will follow the service, and the public is invited. The church also is holding Lenten "Occasions for Spiritual Growth" at 7 p.m. Sundays through April 1.

Madonna to offer tips on careers

Two free career sessions with different themes will be held at Madonna College March 17, 24 and 31.

The Madonna College Career Showcases is directed to college-bound high school students, as well as students at community college interested in transferring credits to a four-year college.

The sessions will take place in the career resource center in the administration building.

Career planning and decision making is the theme of the workshop March 19 and 20. It is designed for those in the midst of changing careers or considering such a move.

The career showcase has divided into three sessions scheduled to meet from 1 a.m. to 2 p.m. on three different days. The show case of the humanities on Saturday, March 17, will focus on careers and majors in commercial art, fine arts, communications arts, journalism and public relations, music, religious studies, languages (French, Spanish and Polish) and interpretation for total communication (with deaf persons).

Sessions for those career bound into the natural sciences will take place Saturday, March 24. This showcase will address career opportunities in biology, chemistry, occupational safety and health and fire science, nursing and mathematics.

Also to be included will be career talk on operating room technology, pre-professional medical technology, computer science and allied health management.

The social science showcase on Saturday, March 31 will review career possibilities in child care and guidance, dietetics, gerontology, home economics and family life, legal assistance and administration, public administration and education (special, elementary and secondary).

The career resource center staff, as well as faculty and students in specific fields, will be available to discuss career opportunities during the showcases.

Participants are asked to call to indicate which showcase they plan to attend. Call the college at 591-6331.

Those joining the career planning and decision making workshops will explore theories of career development, identify goals, interests, abilities and aptitudes during sessions.

The meetings will take place from 7-10 p.m. Monday, March 19 in room 275 of the administration building, and from 9 a.m. to noon, noon, or 1-4 p.m. Tuesday, March 20 in room 265 of the same building. Register by calling the college at the above number.

Like the showcases, the workshop are sponsored by Madonna's career resource center, which sponsors workshops for high school and college students. It also offers individual testing and counseling, surveys on employment opportunities and in-service workshops on career preparation for elementary and secondary teachers.

Pastors share pulpit exchange

Five Livonia Lutheran churches and pastors are sharing in a Lenten pulpit exchange at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday evenings until Easter.

Each Wednesday the pastors travel to a different congregation and share their message. They feel this approach lends variety to mid-week services, fosters a spirit of unity among the churches and helps neighboring congregations and pastors to get to know each other.

Participating in the Lenten exchange are the Rev. Walter Dickinson of Sword of the Spirit Lutheran; the Rev. William Lindholm, Holy Cross Lutheran; the Rev. Darwin Polesky of Ascension Lutheran; the Rev. John Root, of Christ the King Lutheran; and the Rev. Robert Seltz of Holy Trinity Lutheran.

For area women Ladies Day Out in March and April will mean three bus trips, two in the area and one to Frankenthum. Sponsored by the Livonia Family Y, the trips are available to members and non-members of the Family Y.

The first trip, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 20, will take the women to the Detroit Cultural Center, the Detroit Institute of Arts, Historical Museum and the International Institute. Lunch will be at the last stop.

Cost of the outing will be $3-$4. Like the other trips the cost of the entrance fee and lunch will be on a pay as you go basis.

Meadowbrook Hall will be the women's destination Tuesday, April 3. The trip is scheduled for the same hours. They will tour the hall and have lunch. Approximate cost is $5.

Monsters on stage

Punk rockers Destroy All Monsters will whoop it up Monday night at the Silver Bird lounge, Six Mile Road and Telegraph. The group includes Ron Asheton, former lead guitarist for Iggy Pop; Mike Davis, former bassist for the MC-5; female vocalist Niagara; and drummer Rob King. Also performing will be Cult Heroes and the Cubes. For more info, call 255-0135. (Photo by Sue Rynski)

Friday's DFT film shows Tuesday Weld

"Who'll Stop the Rain," with Tuesday Weld, Nick Nolte and Michael Moriarty, will be presented by Detroit Film Theater (DFT) on Friday, March 16.

Two showings are scheduled, at 7 and 9:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium. Tickets priced for general admission and for senior citizens are available in advance through the museum ticket office (832-2730) and at the door.

Based on Robert Stone's National Book Award winner "Dog Soldiers," this 1978 U.S. release focuses on the underside of America, and was called "a knockout, destined to become a classic... a stunning example of collaborative artistry" by the Washington Post.

Continuing DFT's weekend movie fare will be Peter Bogdanovich's 1968

"Targets" starring Bogdanovich himself and Boris Karloff on Saturday March 17, at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Called "terrifying and thrilling" by critic Judith Crist, the film tells the story of an aging horror film star and a deranged young sniper who barricades himself behind a drive-in movie screen.

On Sunday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m., "Journey into Fear" will continue DFT's retrospective of the films of Orson Welles. Starring most of the cast of "Citizen Kane" including Agnes Moorehead, Everett Sloane and Joseph Cotton (who wrote the script), the film is the screen version of Eric Ambler's Nazi thriller.

For information about tickets and Detroit Film Theater's discount book, as well as a free weekend movie schedule, call the museum ticket office at 832-2730.

S'Craft hosts dinner and dancing April 7

The Schoolcraft College Foundation will hold its annual spring dinner-dance on April 7.

A "Ports of Call" buffet dinner theme will feature entrees from 11 countries.

Dinner will be served 7-8:30 p.m. and dancing is planned from 8 to midnight in the Waterman Campus Center.

The menu begins with appetizers from Sweden, Greek salad and German Black Forest bread. The buffet dinner includes shepherd's pie from Scotland, egg plant and veal parmigiana from Italy, pierogi from Poland, kishka from Israel, almond chicken from China, boeuf ala mode from France and fillet of sole from Portugal.

The dessert features deep dish apple pie from South Carolina. A beer and wine cash bar will also be available.

Donations are $15 each with eight persons seated per table. Proceeds are designated for special projects of the Schoolcraft Foundation.

Dinner reservations may be obtained by calling Joyce Ludwig in the Schoolcraft president's office at 591-6400, ext. 213. Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Rd. in Livonia.

Group at Plaza

Entertainer and musician John Mallon is in the Celebration Lounge, on the Promenade Level of the Detroit Plaza Hotel, through March 24, with a backup quartet for dancing. The Las Vegas-style lounge is open Monday-Saturday 7:30 p.m. to 2 a.m. The first show starts at 8:30 p.m.

Scholarship competition is launched at Oakway

Oakway Symphony Orchestra has launched its first "Young Artist Scholarship Competition," a longtime dream of the society and its women's association.

"All music departments in high schools, colleges, public and private schools in our area have been contacted," said Mrs. Francesco DiBlasi, spokeswoman for the society.

"We always have done as much for the young musicians as we can and this has been one of our goals since the symphony was formed," she said.

A total of $3,000 will be available for four winners who compete in piano, wind, string and voice categories through a grant from the Michigan Foundation of Arts.

Application deadlines are due March 31 for the auditions which will run throughout the week of April 9, by appointment, in Livonia's Madonna College.

Potential contestants are invited to write for an application to: Oakway Symphony Society, Inc., P.O. Box 171, Farmington 48024.

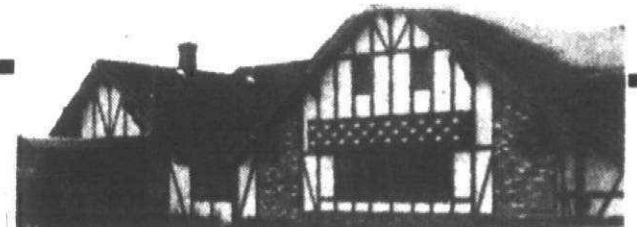

APPLICANTS must be a resident of, or a student of a school in, either Wayne or Oakland counties, and must be under 25 years of age. Proof of birth daje must accompany the application. The composition to be played for the audition must be memorized.

The four winners will be featured in a concert set for May 19, in Madonna College, and will have their prize monies awarded them on stage then by members of Michigan Foundation of Arts.

In its continuing effort to aid the young musician, Oakway Symphony regularly gives complimentary tickets to its six subscription concerts and cabaret concert each year.

The symphony appears in summer programs and by special requests in schools.

Marine act show opens

The marine paintings and prints of James Clary will be exhibited along with scrimshaw and marine artifacts at The Art Gallery, 459 S. Main in Plymouth, March 22-25.

A champagne open house 7-9 p.m. Thursday, March 22, will launch the show. The show will continue 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. Clary will be at the gallery during these hours to discuss his art and marine history.

Clary has created three marine historical collections. These limited edition, signed and numbered fine art prints are created with affection and respect for the sea, for its ships, and for those who sailed them.

On display during the show will be his new hand-colored, numbered and signed print of the fishing schooner Bluenose. His minutely detailed print of Old Ironsides in battle will also be featured.

Ark has English folkies

The Watsons and Martin Carthy will perform Sunday, March 18, at 8 and 10:30 p.m. at the Ark, 1421 Hill St. in Ann Arbor.

The Watsons have been the most popular folksinging group in England for the last 10 years.

Martin Carthy, who tours solo when not appearing with the Watsons, is the most imitated folk singer and guitarist in Britain.

Tickets for both performances are $5 per show. Both the Watsons and Martin Carthy will be in each show. For information, call 665-8001.

Rockette show this weekend

Rockettes of Plymouth Salem High School will have their annual spring show this weekend.

"Everybody Dance" is the theme for this year's annual spring show presented by the Plymouth Salem High School Rockettes. Curtaintime for the two shows will be 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, March 16 and 17 in the auditorium of the school, Joy Road west of Canton Center.

Nine numbers have been prepared for "Everybody Dance." They have been choreographed by the Rockettes who also designed and made the costumes. Seniors will perform in the opening number, "Jump Shout Boogie." They will be followed by a routine by juniors and sophomores.

Debbie Tichman is sponsor of the group. JoDee Dusseau and Michel DeRaud are captains of the squad.

Tickets at $2 will be available at the door. Proceeds will go to next year's Rockettes squad.

Growing old is better now

Is old age a time of respect and reward, or loneliness and neglect? The image depends on the era, according to W. Andrew Achenbaum, a research scientist of the Institute of Gerontology at The University of Michigan and faculty member at Canisius College.

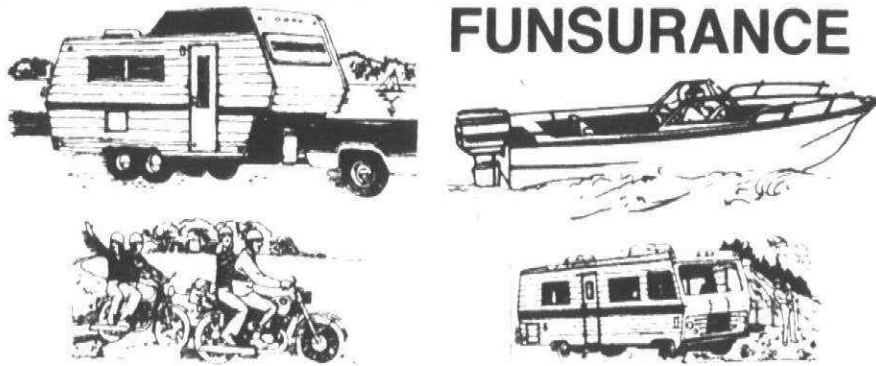

Achenbaum's new book, titled "Old Age in the New Land: The American Experience since 1790," examines the various ways elderly people have been treated since the American Revolution. The book was released recently by Johns Hopkins University Press.

"Prior to the Civil War, Americans relied on the experience and wisdom of the elderly in their struggles to build a new nation," the author related.

"But in the late 19th and early 20th century, scientific and industrial changes undermined the influence of older people, and their economic plight grew severe.

"The past 40 years have seen a significant improvement in the situation of the elderly, plus notable efforts to reassess what it means to be old," Achenbaum concluded, "although serious challenges and inequities remain."

Kenneth Kirchoff of Brookside Drive, Plymouth.

As announcers, their duties include playing music, reading advertising and making sure the news and weather are announced at the beginning of every hour. The station is completely student run and is transmitted by carrier current to the dormitories on campus.

Bruce and Laurene are 1977 graduates of Plymouth Salem High School. Bruce got his start in radio at the high school station, WSDP where he broadcast play-by-play sports and had his own music show. He also wrote news scripts.

WEAVERS will be interested in "The Saltillo Sarape" exhibit which opens Sunday, March 18 in the Detroit Institute of Arts and runs through Sunday, July 1.

The display in the textile galleries will show 30 examples of the sarapes produced in weaving centers throughout northern Mexico from the 17th through the mid-19th century.

With cotton or linen warp and woolen weft, Saltillo sarapes were vibrant with rich color from natural dyes like cochineal, yielding reds from purple to orange tones, a clear blue violet from indigo, and various yellow, green and purple hues.

They ranged in size from 74 to 101 inches long and 42 to 62 inches wide. They were perfectly suited to life on horseback as all-weather cloak, bedroll and saddle trapping.

In order to duplicate a Saltillo sarape today, it is estimated a master weaver would labor 10 hours a day for eight consecutive months.

LISA COLWELL and Laura McFarland, both nine years old, wrote a letter to the editor:

"We have been seeing some robins outside of our class at 10:30 at Allen School. He is big and fat. We think he forgot to go south for the winter. We've been seeing other robins but only once. This robin we have been seeing at least four or more times. We also think springs around the corner even though the groundhog saw his shadow."

Lisa included a colorful picture of a "robin" with two robin blue eggs. The letter and the drawing were received several weeks ago.

Latest robin report was from Maureen Stuck, president of the Tonquish Creek Garden Club. She lives out in Trailwood II subdivision.

Winter ice storms have made firewood out of many home landscape trees already this year. Shattered limbs, broken tops and other injuries have been especially noticeable on willow, birch, Siberian and Chinese elm and silver maple.

Many shrubs have been bowed nearly to the ground with the weight of a coating of ice and snow.

What can the homeowner do? According to Harold Davidson, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University, once the ice is on the plant, there's not much to do but wait.

Propping ice-laden branches may cause them to break off at the support point, Davidson said. Trying to shake the ice or snow off is likely to do more harm than good, too. The best thing to do is wait for the plants to resume their normal positions after the ice melts and hope they haven't suffered any internal injuries.

"Being bent down like that can damage the plant's circulation system so that it can't get food from the leaves to the roots," the specialist said. "The plant gradually starves to death. It may take a year or more, however, so that by the time you're aware that the plant is dying, you no longer connect the symptoms with the winter storm."

Split branches or crotches of trees can sometimes be repaired, Davidson said, but this sort of work is usually a job for an experienced tree doctor. Whether it's worth the expense depends of the extent of the damage and the importance of the tree.

PREVENTING SERIOUS injuries to landscape plants isn't always possible, but you do have some options, Davidson said. When choosing plants, you can avoid tree species that are especially prone to ice and wind damage. Instead of willows, silver maples and quick-growing elms, plant oaks, lindens or hard maples. They withstand ice and wind very well.

Removing dead or disease-weakened limbs is also advised, especially if they overhang your home or garage, a park-

Maintain trees properly to keep them strong and healthy. And prune them while they're young to remove weak V-shaped crotches. Right-angle or U-shaped crotches are stronger and in area, utility lines or valuable plants. Large limbs and branches near utility lines are no job for a novice, Davidson cautioned. Call your utility company and have experienced, insured work crews handle these.

First aid for trees with broken branches entails removing all splintered rough or loose wood. Use sharp tools to remove broken limbs, making three cuts: The first from the underside about halfway through; the second from the upper side outside the first cut and the third flush with the trunk or parent branch.

This leaves a flat, smooth wound and keeps the limb from splitting and further injuring the tree as it falls. Avoid leaving a branch stub. Stubs of branches often die and serve as points through which insects or disease fungi can enter the tree.

Chief JV grab 2d straight title

The Plymouth Canton junior varsity basketball team recently defeated Northville, 57-54, to finish its regular season with its second straight Western Six League championship.

The victory capped a very successful season for first-year coach Pat Cunningham, whose Chiefs finished with a 14-6 overall record and an 8-2 mark in conference play.

The Mustangs, second-place finishers in the Western-6, defeated Canton earlier in the season. Northville finished with a 15-5 overall record and a 6-4 league mark.

The Chiefs' revenge started in the second quarter when they broke a 14-14 first-quarter deadlock to take a 28-26 lead at intermission.

Dave Carter, who led the Chiefs' scoring attack with 22 points, 10 of which came in the first half, added eight more points to his total in the third period as Canton increased its lead to 44-34.

Canton was up by as many as 16 points early in the fourth quarter before the Mustangs made one last charge. Northville eventually tied things up at 54-54 before free throws by Jim Mills and Dave Malek in the last 30 seconds put the game away.

Guard Bill Childs followed Carter in the scoring column with 10 points. Malek and Mills added eight and seven points, respectively.

A happy coach Cunningham said his squad had made goals for itself before the season began.

"When the season started, we had three goals," the Canton coach said. "First, we wanted to win the league championship. Second was to improve from the beginning of the year to the end, and, finally, we wanted to work hard at practice everyday."

"We fulfilled all our goals, and, needless to say, I'm pleased."

Churchill spikers eye state crown

Livonia Churchill slipped by Wayne Memorial, 15-8 and 16-14, in the championship game of the Dearborn volleyball regional last weekend to earn a trip to the state Class A finals in Grand Rapids.

The Chargers will play Howell 11:30 a.m. Saturday in the Ford Physical Education Building at Grand Rapids Junior College. If Churchill wins that contest, it will play in the championship game at approximately 6 p.m.

The Chargers, among the final eight Class A teams last year in Grand Rapids, were knocked out in the quarterfinals.

Behind 8-1 in the first game against Wayne in the regional final, Churchill scored 14 unanswered points to win the struggle.

"We played very well as a team in that first game," said Churchill coach Mike Hughes. "We had excellent defense and our offense meshed very well. We really didn't have any one outstanding individual in the contest. It was a total team effort."

In the second game, Churchill was behind 9-1 and 14-10 before taking the victory. Hughes praised the serving of Julia Brubaker, the defensive play of Patty Westman and the blocking and spiking of Leigh Feenstra in that second game.

Canton swimmers win 1st-ever Western-6 title

Bob Simrak, a freshman, placed second in both the 200-yard and 500-yard freestyle races in Western Six League meet competition at Harrison. Simrak's efforts helped the Chiefs win their first-ever Western Six League title. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Who says Northville is the only swim team in the Western Six League?

Some observers have felt the Mustangs would always be the dominant Western-6 swim force — especially after four straight conference crowns.

But Plymouth Canton swimmers put an end to that thought, overwhelming Northville by 92 points, 364-272, to take their first-ever Western-6 swim crown at Farmington Harrison last weekend.

The Chiefs, undefeated in regular-season dual meet action for the past 1½ years, placed first in seven of the 11 events to run away with the title.

Northville was second, Walled Lake Western third (197), Farmington Harrison fourth (137) and Livonia Churchill fifth (112). Waterford Mott does not compete in swimming.

Canton coach Bill Faunce was surprised, needless to say, about the easy victory over Northville. Although the Canton squad defeated the Mustangs twice during the regular season, many injuries kept Northville from having its full lineup against the powerful Chiefs.

"I still thought if they (Northville) got their people together, they'd be OK," Faunce said. "I thought they would play the sleeper role."

"The pressure was on us because we knew we had people to win events. But even winning seven of 11 events doesn't win the league meet. The people who did it for us were the middle-line people."

Junior Paul Peterson and senior Dave Tanner were double individual winners for the Chiefs. Peterson paced all swimmers in the 100-yard butterfly and the 100-yard breaststroke, swimming first-place times of :53.5 and 1:01.78, respectively. Peterson qualified for the state meet in both events.

Tanner won both sprint events, placing first in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle races with times of :23.19 and :50.61, respectively.

Senior Bob Cline won the 200-yard individual medley event with a 2:07.12 clocking. He also placed second in the 100-yard backstroke.

Canton won both the 200-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle relay races.

Jeff Siepple, Petersen, freshman Ron Hurley and Tanner combined for a first-place time in the medley event in 1:44.95. Dave Smith, Mike Gaab, freshman Bob Simrak and Cline won the freestyle race in 3:29.11.

Simrak placed second in the 200-yard freestyle and 500-yard freestyle races behind the meet's only other double winner, John Rudel of Harrison.

Mike Gaab placed third in the 50-yard freestyle, Hurley placed third in the 100-fly, and Keith Greenleaf and Troy Haarla placed third and fourth, respectively, in the 500-free.

Steve Gray made a second-place finish in the diving competition.

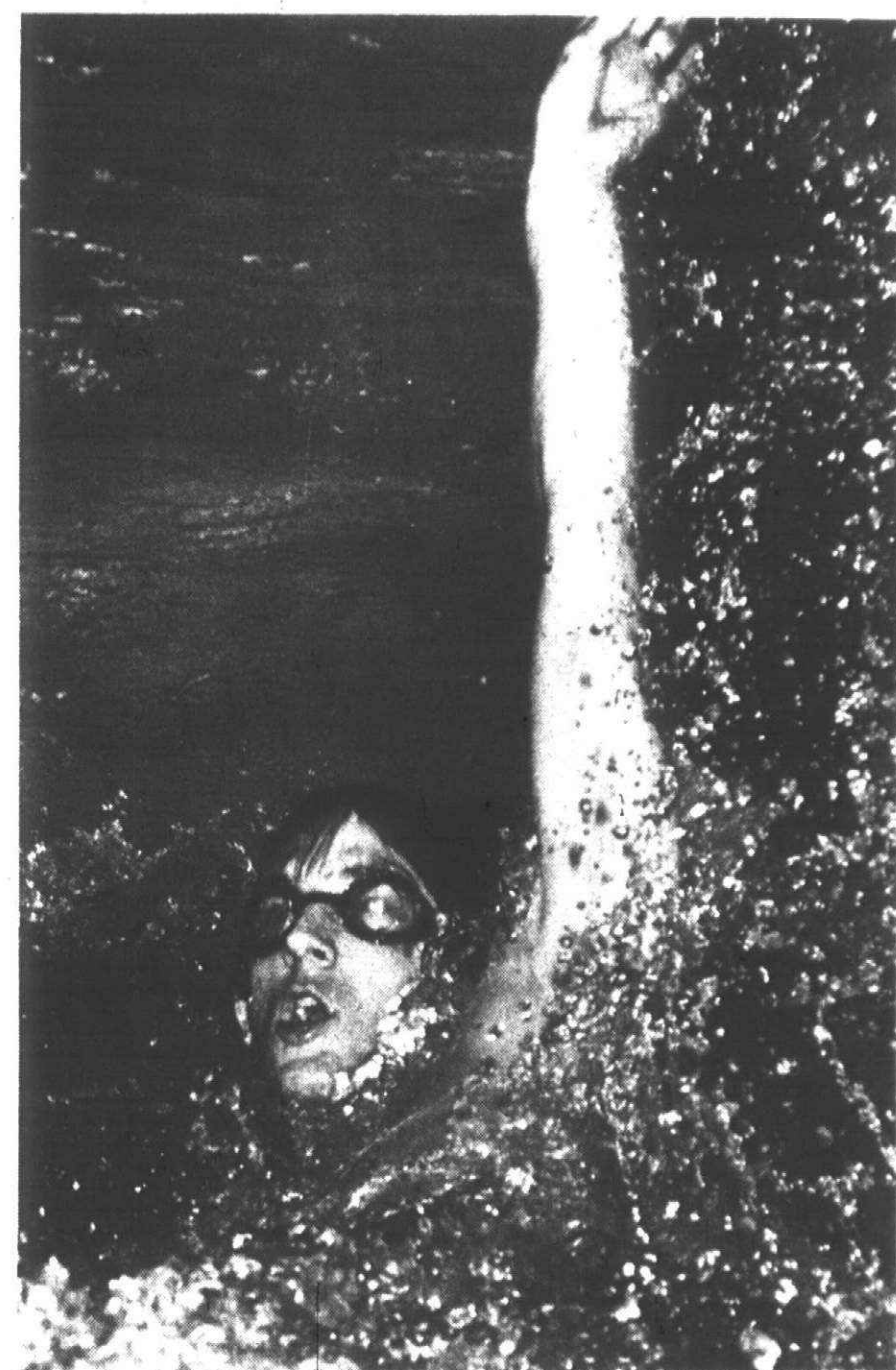

Faunce also felt the performances of Pete Sickles, Pete Stern, Vince Tobin and Smith were very important in gaining the Chiefs' victory. Although these swimmers did not place high in any individual event, they gained valuable points by reaching the top 12 places.

Any hope that John Hurley, the Westland Bowl sharpshooter, had of holding the national record for 700 series in a single season has been shattered by the American Bowling Congress.

When Hurley came up with his 17th 700 series a week ago, it was believed that he was well on his way to a national mark. But the ABC, the watchdog in such matters, delved in to its record books and ended Hurley's dream.

Accordin to the ABC, a fellow named Arlo Heiland, of St. Louis, turned in a 72 series at 700 or better during the 1962-63 season. He did it by bowling in 13 leagues during the year. Hurley's only hope of a record now is to beat out Joe Lazarus, of Jackson, Mich. who also has 17 of the coveted series for the state record.

UNDAUNTED BY THE NEWS that his record hopes were shattered Hurley added another 700 series to his list last Monday in the men's league when he out together games of 268, 266 and 226 for a 760. It was one of the barrier breaking series at Westland during the week.

A few lanes away from Hurley Pat Coshatt strung counts of 202, 268 and 236 for a 706. Other high scores in the morning league included a 676 by Jerry Maisano and a 651 by Bill Heffner.

The third 700 series came in the Little Caesars Classic where Mike Lee found the range for games of 256, 238 and 217 for a 711. His closest rivals were Jim Deck with 685 and Bob Pniewski with 678.

JERI BEATTIE emblazoned her name in to the record books over the week end in the Mid-City women's monthly event at Sunnybrook Lanes when she rolled a perfect game.

When the last pin fell assuring her of a 300 count, she became only the eleventh bowler in the history of Detroit bowling to string together 12 strikes.

There were some other outstanding performances in the monthly event that was won by Cheryl Mertz, of Merri-Bowl who beat Sue Kuhn in the final.

Leandra Micholak paced the qualifiers with 1,107 and Leona Obruchawski turned in a 278 and Cheryl Daniels added a 236.

DAVE HAMILTON ran in to what could be called a buzz saw in the high school league at Farmington Lanes when he encountered 15-year-old Berry Van Dike. While Hamilton was posting games of 209, 207 and 190 for 606 in the match point games, Van Dike fired counts of 239, 230 and 215 for 684. On the girl's side, Linda Hamlin contributed a 234 in 594.

In the ladies classic Joan Scroff had a 217 in 601 and Darlene Morrow posted a 224 in 617.

THERE WAS a lot of good scoring at Garden Lanes. In the Moose league Dave Moran showed the way with a 257 in 665. Wes LePalme was high in the mixed league with a 277 in 733 and Mae Lackey paced the ladies classic with 615 while Bill Roe fired a 636 in the St. Linus loop. Other high scores in the ladies classic included a 273 in 604 for Judi Mazie and 568 for Karen Dietz.

SHIRLEY APPECELLI found her way to the winner's circle in the Livonia Ladies Classic when she won the third game of the three game series with 222-39-261 and then took the series with 534-117 651. Betty Markwardt and Joan Lewis won the other games.

Bentley jolts Salem's tourney hopes, 61-48

Five Salem eagers watch helplessly as Bentley's leading scorer Eric Thorderson (21) lays in two of his team-high 24 points in regional action Tuesday at Livonia Franklin. The Bulldogs converted on many of these fastbreak opportunities all night, rolling to a 61-48 victory over the Rocks. Pictured Rock players include Howard Monk (44), Rich Hewlett (30), Matt Etienne (4), Bill Thimm (40) and Kevin Kelliher (32). (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

By DOUG FUNKE

Livonia Bentley hit 56 percent of its shots from the field Tuesday on the way to a 61-48 victory over Plymouth Salem in the Livonia Franklin Regional of the Class A state basketball tournament.

The Bulldogs now face the winner of yesterday's North Farmington-Ypsilanti contest for the regional championship at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Franklin.

Salem had beaten Bentley twice during the Suburban Eight League season, 69-67 in overtime and 79-57.

The Bulldogs, however, led from start to finish Tuesday.

Bentley made good on seven of 10 shots from the field and all three of its chances from the free-throw line during the first quarter.

The Rocks, meanwhile, hit only four from the floor the first eight minutes even though they were able to penetrate the Bulldogs' zone defense for close-range shots.

That was basically the story of the game — Bentley converted its scoring opportunities and Salem didn't.

In fact, the Rocks uncharacteristically made only two of 10 free throws during the first half.

"We had rimmers that just hung there. We got the ball there — it just didn't go in," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "We had them in the situation we wanted. The ball just didn't go into the hole. What can I say? We were there."

Each team experienced a scoring drought during the first half. The Rocks went more than 4½ minutes near the end of the first period without a point, while Bentley played 3:26 of the second quarter without scoring.

Salem failed to score the first 2½ minutes of the second half and the Bulldogs increased their lead to 31-18. Bentley, working with a zone defense all evening, made an excellent transition to the offensive end of the court.

Both teams had a flurry of baskets near the end of the third period and Bentley went into the final eight minutes with a 39-31 advantage.

Salem used a tenacious pressing defense throughout the fourth quarter and trimmed its deficit to 41-35 after only 2½ minutes had been played.

The Bulldogs, though, with Steve Booth leading the way, made 16 of 21 shots from the free-throw line during the final 6½ minutes to insure the victory.

Eric Thorderson, who found the range on 11 of 13 shots from the field, led Bentley with 24 points. Steve Booth added 16 points.

Rich Hewlett scored 24 points for Salem. Kevin Kelliher chipped in 14.

"I think the kids just decided they should have beaten them the first two times we played," said Jim Komula, coach of the Bulldogs. "I didn't have to tell them. Five kids on the team are 4.0 students. The kids were determined to play."

"We used a 1-2-2 defense and changed our offense," Komula continued. "We wanted to post Thorderson inside with Hewlett." Thorderson is 6-6, Hewlett 6-1.

"We went to a spread offense (in the fourth quarter)," said Komula. "We wanted to pull them out and get them fouling."

Rocks just couldn't find the hoop

Those jolly green giants from Livonia Bentley may have lost both battles and the Suburban Eight League championship, but when it came time for the war of the state tournament, the mighty Bulldogs prevailed.

Jim Komula's Bentley basketball team finally avenged 1½ years and three straight losses to Plymouth Salem, ending a long period of frustration with a resounding 61-48 regional semifinal victory over the Rocks Tuesday.

Actually, Bentley only won the right to lose to state-power Ypsilanti Friday in the regional championship. Nonetheless, it had to be satisfying for the Bulldogs after failing to win the outright Sub-8 crown from Salem last season, and losing twice more this year.

There is that old saying in basketball at any level that it's tough to beat the same team three times in one season. While this was the case at the crowded Livonia Franklin gym, Fred Thomann's Rocks actually fell victim to their own inability to put the ball in the hole.

While this is quite a simple analysis of the third Salem-Bentley confrontation, one can't overlook Salem's 8-28 shooting performance from the field in the first half — to go along with eight straight misses at the free throw line in the second quarter.

Still, Salem battled back from its 27-18 deficit, and had a chance to pull within four points with more than six minutes left in the game.

Just when it looked like another one of those Bentley folding acts in the final period, as has been the case when these two teams meet, the Rocks, once again, failed to make an inside shot.

Kevin Kelliher and Rich Hewlett both missed easy lay ups to pull within four and the result was an over-the-back foul by Howard Monk. Kurt Thorderson calmly converted the two free throws and Bentley's spread was back to eight — all but ending the game.

Salem was forced to continue its catch-up game from that point and never recovered thanks to some nifty Bulldog foul shooting.

When the pressure was heaviest, the Bulldogs converted on eight of their first nine foul shots in the fourth quarter and 16 of 21 overall for a 22-point quarter.

There was, definitely, no Bentley choke this time around.

The Bulldogs' masterpiece victory was also reflected in the stats — everywhere from Steve Booth's 10-of-12 performance from the foul line for 16 points to senior guard Eric Thorderson's team-high 24 points.

Thorderson hit his first six shots en route to a 16-point first half. He finished an amazing 11-of-13 shooting clip from the floor and two foul shots.

Salem's frustrations under the basket stemmed from only two points each from pivot men Howard Monk and Bill Thimm.

While Hewlett scored 24 points to match Thorderson's total, 10 of those came on the foul line. He hit only seven of 21 shots from the floor as he, and the rest of his teammates, had the shots but couldn't score against Bentley's 1-2-2 zone defense.

No, the regional war for rights to lose to Ypsilanti was nothing like the two Sub-8 battles during the regular season.

Both cage enemies can attest to that.

Peterson heads state qualifiers

Plymouth Canton's super junior Paul Peterson heads the local list of state-meet swimming qualifiers.

The Chiefs' leading tanker qualified for this weekend's state meet in two individual events and in one leg of the 200-yard medley relay.

Peterson will compete in the 100-yard butterfly and the 100-yard breaststroke, hoping to beat last year's sixth-place finish in the latter event. Peterson will also team up with senior Bob Cline, freshman Ron Hurley and senior freestyler Dave Tanner in the 200-yard medley relay.

The Chiefs also qualified their 400-yard freestyle relay team in the state meet. Dave Smith, freshman Bob Simrak, Cline and Tanner will combine for a run at the title; Mike Gaab is the alternate.

Coach Bill Faunce's Chiefs won their first-ever Western Six League title last weekend at Farmington Harrison, defeating four-time champion Northville by 92 points.

Although Plymouth Salem finished the season with a disappointing fourth-place finish in the always-tough Suburban Eight League race, Coach Chuck Olson's squad qualified its 200-yard medley relay and junior Kirk Albert in the state meet.

Albert, the Rocks' lone individual qualifier, will compete in the 100-yard butterfly.

The 200-yard medley relay combination will include sophomore Bruce Harwood, senior co-captain Bob Simone and Albert as three of the four tankers.

Co-captain Barre Lee and freshman Russ Schaffer are fighting for the last spot on the qualifying relay.

Despite the Rocks' fourth-place conference finish, Olson said it "was the fastest Sub-8 league meet ever."

Livonia Bentley's state-ranked team won the league meet, edging Belleville, another state power, by one point, 261-260.

Bulldog swimmers triumph

Rocks find Sub-8 meet tough

It was probably the most exciting swimming event to take place in the area in along time Friday when the Suburban Eight League swimming squads battled for the conference championship at Schoolcraft College.

Livonia Bentley and Belleville struggled back and forth all night for the coveted crown with the entire outcome of the meet finally resting on the last event, the 400-yard freestyle relay. The Bulldogs won the relay and the meet with 261 points. Belleville was second with 260.

Down by five points in that last relay, Bentley's foursome of Kary Stapleton, Brian Ellis, Dave Giandiletti and Paul Dudley swam their hearts out and won the event with an effort of 3:18.3. That time set a new league, pool and school record.

It was the first time since 1972 that a new league champion was crowned. Dearborn had been the successive winner for the past seven years.

"I just cannot describe it. In all my years coaching, I've never had an experience like this," said Bentley coach

Keith Wright. "I'm completely in a daze. It was a very emotional thing for me and the team. We had set a lot of goals and this was one of those goals."

The Bulldogs won other events during the competition, but by far the last was the most important.

"It was very exciting. We were down and the kids swam just unbelievably. Everybody did a great job for us. The whole team wanted this one so badly," said Wright.

Dudley and Mark Winter each won two events for Bentley. Dudley was first in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:47.5 and first in the 500-yard freestyle with an effort of 4:54.5. Dudley's time for the 200-yard event set new league and school records.

Winter was first in the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:02.4 and the 100-yard breaststroke with a clocking of 1:01.6. Winter's time in the individual medley set a new school mark.

Bentley had two other individual winners in Ellis and Kevin Gauthier. Ellis captured the 100-yard freestyle, 48.7 seconds, and Gauthier was first in the 100-yard backstroke, 55.7 seconds.

Bentley also won the 400-yard medley relay. The foursome of Gauthier, Winter, Ellis and Norm Gauthier combined to win with a time of 1:41.2. That effort also set new league and school records.

"Thrills and more thrills is all I can say. We had a big crowd on hand and the place was completely silent for the last event. Everybody knew that this was it," Wright said. "I had the nicest swim of my life afterwards."

The Bulldogs claim the league title outright because of the league-meet victory.

Mat event coming

The third annual Plymouth-Canton middle school wrestling tournament takes place at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, March 24, at Plymouth Canton High School.

Teams from East, West, Central and Pioneer are practicing in physical education classes and after school in preparation for the 7th and 8th grade competition.

Plymouth Canton High School junior varsity wrestling coach Dan Riggs is again in charge of the activities. Team scoring for the 15 weight classes will result in a trophy at the end of competition.

Individual medals for first-place winners and ribbons for the second and third best wrestlers of each weight class will also be awarded.

Refreshments will be sold throughout the day by the Plymouth Canton wrestling parents organization.
