ZBA's roof sign OK, may prompt 2nd suit

Canton Township expects to file another lawsuit against its own Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) over a sign variance that the ZBA granted to the Burger Chef restaurant.

Township attorneys said they would file a lawsuit in Wayne County Circuit Court where a similar case over the ZBA's power is pending.

Supervisor Noel Culbert says the litigation will test the power of the ZBA to grant a variance that is specifically prohibited by the township's sign ordinance.

On May 24, the ZBA granted a variance to allow the erection of a roof sign on the Burger Chef restaurant that is under construction on Ford Road near I-275.

Last December, the ZBA granted a similar variance to the House of Woo restaurant on Ford Road.

Both Canton's current and proposed sign ordinances specifically prohibit roof signs.

Circuit Judge Charles Farmer is currently considering the township board's argument that the ZBA lacked the power to grant the variance to the House of Woo restaurant. A restraining order has been in effect since Jan. 15 which prohibits restaurant owner Aik Tung Woo from erecting the roof sign.

"MY MAIN REASON for filing the (Burger Chef lawsuit) is not to prejudice the first case," Supervisor Noel Culbert said.

"I don't want to sound suit happy. And to be honest, I really hate to do it. But even when you sue, you've got to make things equal."

Culbert fears the ZBA could build a strong case against the township board on the House of Woo case if no lawsuit was filed against the Burger Chef restaurant.

Because both cases involve the elected township board and the appointed ZBA, Canton Township must pay attorney bills for the defense and the prosecution. Culbert said legal fees for the House of Woo case have totalled $2,000-$4,000 so far.

Gerald Fisher is representing the ZBA. The legal firm of Myers, Hemmings, Barrese & Polaczyk is representing the township board.

ZBA chairman Gary Sands said the zoning board granted the two variances because of the architecture of both restaurants.

Under the sign ordinance, business signs should be placed on the outside walls of commercial establishments. Sands maintains that wall signs on the Burger Chef and House of Woo restaurants would be impractical because of the low level of the roofs.

School board lists cuts mill failure would bring

Although the millage campaign has been emphasizing the positive, the school board has approved a list of cuts which would be made if the request for 1.5 additional mills fails on June 11.

The school board has had to prepare the list of potential cutbacks as part of its budget process, since the 1.5 mills represents some $965,000 in income.

But the millage campaign leaders haven't wanted to threaten voters about cuts. Their efforts have been aimed at emphasizing what the additional 1.5 mills for operation would restore if approved by voters.

Residents of Plymouth and Canton will be going to the polls June 11 to elect two members to the school board for four-year terms out of a field of 13 candidates, and to vote on the request for 1.5 mills for six years.

Also on the ballot will be candidates seeking election to the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees and two millage proposals of one-half mill each.

PLYMOUTH-CANTON Community Schools have not had any additional millage approved by voters since September 1976 — the year when the tax proposal failed the first time around by just one vote.

Last year a request for 1.5 additional mills failed, and cuts in programs were made during the past 12 months. The 1.5 mills is requested again to restore the cuts made this past year.

Among the restorations the 1.5 mills will buy are a full school day at the elementary level; seventh and ninth grade athletic programs; and a seven per cent improvement to the instructional supply budgets.

Other reasons given by the millage committee for the 1.5 request are the pressures on operation caused by inflation and by student growth.

Among the major items in the initial cutbacks are: $16,000 in general office expenses; $10,000 for summer school programs; $10,000 central administration salaries; $30,000 from athletics; $30,000 in teacher extra assignment riders; $33,000 in special education aides; $20,000 in special education and equipment; $10,000 in health services; $10,000 in custodial overtime; $12,000 in vocational education; $60,000 in custodian positions; $12,000 in bus attendants; $38,000 in instruction supervision; and $26,000 reduction in aides.

Additional cutbacks might be needed depending on the final state aid formula adopted, the official student enrollment count in the fall and upon outcome of contract negotiations.

Among the additional cuts planned are $20,000 in athletics; $33,000 in special education aides; $26,000 administration; $12,000 instruction office; $19,000 in instructional supplies; $38,000 for aides; $60,000 from custodial budget.

Another $192,000 would be cut by not hiring the additional teachers needed to maintain class sizes with the higher student enrollment and another $128,000 cut by eliminating funds for added staff in all other areas.

Pay hikes recommended for township officials

A commission that sets salaries for Canton's elected administrators has recommended pay hikes that total 7 to 33 per cent over a 1½ year period.

Under the compensation commission's recommendation, the salary of the township supervisor would jump 33 per cent by Dec. 1, 1980 from the current $21,000 a year to $28,000.

Three incremental salary increases would hike the township clerk's salary from the current $19,700 a year to $24,000 by December, 1980 — a total increase of 22 per cent.

The part-time treasurer, whose current salary is $7,500 a year, will receive no increase until December, 1980. The treasurer's salary will increase less than 7 per cent in 1980 to $8,000 a year.

The commission's recommendation will automatically take effect on June 22 unless two-thirds of the township board votes to reject the proposal.

According to Supervisor Noel Culbert, state law stipulates that the current salary structure will prevail if the township board rejects the commission's recommendation.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN Michael Mack said the five-person commission considered President Carter's wage guidelines before making the recommendation.

But Mack said the commission, which meets in odd-numbered years, rejected the voluntary 7 percent ceiling on wage hikes because past salary increases were modest.

"There haven't been any increases since 1977, and inflation has been much higher than the increases they did receive," Mack said. "We decided there should be some exceptions to the guidelines."

According to Mack, the commission surveyed administrative salary in surrounding communities before making its recommendation. Some communities pay lower wages, and others pay higher, he said.

"But our underlying motive was to bring salaries in line with the real world. The recommendation was based on our perception of what the responsibilities are for the individual involved."

Mack said the commission "had a great deal of difficulty" in determining the responsibilities of the treasurer.

The commission ruled that the treasurer will receive no salary increase until December, 1980 because the administrator shares monetary responsibilities with the full-time finance director.

At the request of the township board, the commission recommended a full-time salary of $18,000 for the township treasurer in the event the job is ever made full time. But according to Mack, the compensation commission does not feel a full-time treasurer position is warranted at the current time.

THE COMMISSION'S recommendation outlines three step increases for the township clerk and supervisor.

Under the proposal, the supervisor's salary would be increasedpt increased to $23,500, retroactive to June 1. The salary would be hiked to $25,000 on June 1, 1980 and to $28,000 on Dec. 1, 1980.

The recommendation increases the clerk's salary to $22,000 this month and to $23,400 on June 1, 1980. On Dec. 1, 1980, the clerk's salary would be increased to $24,000.

According to Mack, the compensation commission last raised the supervisor's salary in 1977 from $19,488 to $21,000 a year. The clerk's salary was raised from $18,288 to $19,700.

The township treasurer did not receive a salary increase.

Director's duties debated again

Canton Township board members have instructed the township merit commission to incorporate portions of a letter from the man they appointed personnel director into the description for the job.

But Charles Deno Syrios, who wrote the letter stating his view of the role of a personnel director, has also turned the job down.

According to Supervisor Noel Culbert, Syrios has not completely ruled out accepting the job, in spite of his official turn-down.

Now, officials have the option of going back to Syrios with a new offer or advertising for candidates once again.

The letter fueled a fresh debate about what the functions of a personnel director should be when the Township Board met in a joint study session with the merit commission last Wednesday night.

Although members of both board and merit commission could agree on some duties, a rift developed over what role a personnel director should serve in labor relations and negotiations.

Larry Bowerman, head of the merit commission, told the board he was concerned that a personnel director would lose employees' trust if he worked with management on union contract negotiations.

Bowerman's stand was supported by Trustee Lynn Goldsmith and Township Financial Director Mike Gorman.

"Larry (Bowerman) said he agreed with everything in the letter (which suggested a director be involved with labor relations and collective bargaining) but he didn't want the guy to pound and scream at the negotiating table," Gorman said.

Clerk John Flodin said there was no intention of having a director actually negotiate at bargaining sessions.

"I see the personnel director as giving guidance during caucuses. But the ultimate enactment is made by the Township Board and the union. The director really can't impose his will on us or the union.

Chicken Little's revenge

Canton police recently received a teletype from Michigan State Police that proved to be a little out of the ordinary. As you may know, Skylab, which has been circling around up in space, soon will re-enter the Earth's atmosphere. At that time, the large space explorer will break up into oodles of fragments that will come to Earth. No one knows exactly where the fragments will land, but apparently Canton Township is as likely to get a few as is anywhere else. Canton police are asked to recover any pieces they see lying around. Just remember to keep a crash helmet on at all times.

Moving right along

Larry Stewart of the Canton Police Department isn't a sergeant anymore — call him lieutenant, if you please. Stewart got the word that his temporary promotion is now permanent at last Wednesday's special township board meeting. He also happens to be Canton's first police lieutenant. "I'm very happy," he said of the decision.

Canton Grants Coordinator Terry Carroll didn't get a promotion at the same meeting Wednesday night, but he did get a raise. Carroll got the increase as part of his six-month review.

Baseball tourney

The regular baseball season has come to an end and it's tournament time for both the Rocks of Plymouth Salem and the Chiefs of Plymouth Canton.

You'll want to follow all the action in Thursday's Observer Sports Section by getting all the details of Salem and Canton's district competition. Also in Thursday's Sports Section will be complete coverage of the state track meet in Flint and girls' softball district action at Brighton.

Bloodlines

Don't forget the Canton Township blood drive taking place this Tuesday, June 12, at Canton Township Hall. Blood will be taken, preferably by appointment, from 2-8 p.m. in the third floor of the administration building. The donations go to the Red Cross. Nancy Longwell, who is coordinating the drive, says she intends to meet her goal of 110 pints from Canton. "I hope somebody gives some blood, because I don't have 110 pints in me," she says. You can stop in on your way to the regular township board meeting, which begins at 7 p.m. on the ground floor.

Canton who?

We recently received a press release from 36th District Rep. Bob Law who says he is working in conjunction with Reps. Thomas Brown (Canton's rep), Roy Smith and Jack Kirksey, as well as state Sen. Robert Geake, to expand a program in the "Westland, Livonia, Plymouth and Northville areas." The program is a series of town hall meetings and a "Question of the Week" operation that would allow you to call your elected official on Saturdays. We already have a question. How come no one bothered to mention Canton by name in the press release? How come none of the townships these people represent were mentioned? Hmmmm . . .

Smith, Law meeting people

A Citizen Get-Together, a meeting for residents to talk about local problems, has been scheduled by state Reps. Roy Smith, R-Saline, and Robert Law, R-Livonia, in Plymouth.

The town-hall-type session will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 7, in Farrand Elementary School, 400 Greenbrier Lane in LakePoint Village, Plymouth Township.

Smith is the state representative for residents of the city of Plymouth and for part of Plymouth Township.

The get-togethers are part of a plan to give Plymouth residents a chance to offer ideas and make suggestions and to make their gripes known.

Special guests who also will be there will be Flossie Tonda, a member of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, and Gerald Law and Maurice Breen, members of the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees.

"Everyday decisions are made in Lansing which affect all of us, our families and our communities," Smith said. "Yet trying to have something to say about those decisions can often be frustrating — especially if your only outlet is a letter or a phone call."

The meetings, said Smith, will give him and Law the chance to listen to ideas, answer questions and offer whatever assistance they can in Lansing.

"We'd like to encourage people to give state government a chance to be responsive," he said. "We hope as many people as possible attend this meeting."

Law and Smith said the get-together is similar to a town hall meeting and is part of an ongoing program to involve citizens in government. Future meetings of this type will be scheduled in Canton, Northville, Plymouth, Livonia, and Westland.

Coffee and cookies will be served.

Plymouth-Canton OBITUARIES

ROSE C. WITTRICK

Funeral services for Mrs. Wittrick, 68, of W. Warren, Canton, were held recently in Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth with burial at Riverside Cemetery. Officiating was the Rev. Amurcon sewer tap-in allowed despite protest

By LYNN ORR

Sheer muscle power accounted for the Wayne County Road Commission's first round win over Plymouth Township regarding a Joy Road storm sewer.

But township officials hope to come out swinging with legal papers when the second round takes place.

At stake are the financial responsibility and future capacity in the storm sewer maintained by the township, and a successful challenge by the township could weaken the road commission's thus far undisputed muscle connected to county roads.

The dispute erupted last week when the road commission disregarded the township's opposition to a tap-in to the storm sewer along Joy Road, which separates Canton and Plymouth Townships. The tap-ins paved the way for a developer in Canton Township to connect to the storm sewer.

After learning about the tap-ins, Township Supervisor Tom Notebaert asked attorney Don Morgan to research the township's legal agreements with the road commission for possible legal action, which the road commission is expected to dispute.

"It is our position from the legal department and the board's engineers that we do have that capacity through contractual agreement for road drainage," explained Lou Sugo, spokesman for the road commission.

IN PAST MONTHS the township board three times denied requests from the developer and the road commission to tap into the sewer.

The developer — Amurcon Corp. of Southfield — is building a subdivision and rental units in Canton on the south side of Joy Road west of Sheldon.

Amurcon also is building passing lanes to accommodate traffic flow on the road, as required by site plans approved by the road commission.

After the township board twice rebuffed Amurcon's requests, the road commission itself requested the tap-in from the township, which also was denied.

On the recommendation of highway engineers, the road commission board authorized their own crews to tap into the storm sewer, which took place Thursday and Friday.

Notebaert then contacted Morgan, who is expected to report the township's legal position this week.

THE TOWNSHIP board is concerned about future capacity in the storm sewer, as well as maintenance costs, which were thrust upon the township by the road commission last year.

Up until that time, the road commission maintained the road storm sewers along county roads. Last year, the road commission revoked that agreement and required that townships be responsible for future maintenance of the sewers.

Earlier this year, by resolution, the Area teen activities range from cheap to chic

By MATHEW BRYZINSKI

If you are a teenager who has been going to school all week and perhaps working at a part-time job, Friday and Saturday nights are a welcome relief.

But where can you go and how do you entertain yourself when you're too young to drink and too old for the playground?

According to Dan Sharp, administrative assistant to state Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, the courts have upheld the new drinking law, and bars and entertainment spots in college towns like Ann Arbor have been effected.

Many places with entertainment also have bars and the drinking law prevents those younger than 21 from seeing acts or going dancing.

"We have nothing to offer teens, I'm sorry to say," said Joe Nahra, an employee at Napoleon's.

He cited the drinking law as a barrier to those under age who would like to come but can't.

Even if you are just older than 21, you may not like the bar scene anyway.

Where can you go?

In the Plymouth-Canton area there are places that provide entertainment for those no longer of age or who do not drink.

If you are looking for name entertainment and can't see yourself driving to Cobo Arena or the Pontiac Silverdome, the Center Stage on Ford Road east of I-275 in Canton may be an answer.

According to a spokesman at the Center Stage box office, Friday nights feature concerts ranging from the comedy of Rodney Dangerfield to music.

Tickets for these concerts range from $5 to $12 per person.

Among the musical acts appearing at the Center Stage will be the Pointer Sisters and the Babys.

According to the spokesman, no one younger than 18 is admitted there.

On Saturday nights, disco is featured at the Center Stage with tickets at $4 per person.

If music isn't what you had in mind, there are indoor and drive-in theaters that may have something of interest.

The Cinema Livonia, at Livonia Mall on Seven Mile and Middlebelt roads, shows special late-night movies every two weeks.

Dave Kidder, manager at the theater, said that the films are supplied by an alternative film society in New York.

The films are "concert films and horror movies that appeal to high school and college movie goers," said Kidder.

He said that movies shown in the past have been "Night of the Living Dead," "Pink Floyd," "Goodbye Cream," and "Gimme Shelter."

Kidder said that though the series has been discontinued for now, they will resume June 22 and 23.

Admission to the movies is $3.

For $1.25, you can go to the Penn Theater on Penniman in Plymouth to see commercial films ranging from Walt Disney's "Bedknobs and Brommsticks" to Mel Brooks' "Blazing Saddles."

The Mai Kai, Quo Vadis and the Terrace theaters show commercial films at prices between $3.50 and $3.75 and usually have matinees on Saturdays for $1.50.

Two area drive-ins, the Algiers on Wayne Road in Westland, and the Wayne I and II on Michigan Avenue, east of I-275 in Wayne, offer two movies a night for $3.50 and you can see the movie in the privacy of your own car.

If you have little money to spend and want to talk and play with your friends, you could go to the Plymouth Youth Center on Main Street.

Paul Chamberlain, youth coordinator at the center said that they have a recreation area with pinball machines and a pool table.

He said that the recreation area has been closed because of renovations that should be completed by the end of June.

"The center is open to anyone between the ages of 11 and 18," said Chamberlain, "and is open Monday through Saturday from 2:30 until 9:30 p.m."

He said that they have had musical entertainment such as a disco party, but he said it is really up to the young people to come to them with ideas for things to do.

Chamberlain said that they did have a live band at the center once, but it didn't work out and they have no future plans for more bands except possibly on a coffee house type level.

If you like to roll but don't want to rock, the Riverside Arena on Plymouth Road in Livonia has rollerskating Thursday through Saturday.

On Thursday, there is skating from 8-11 p.m. for $1.75 plus 75 cents for skate rental.

On Friday nights there is a double session, the first running 7-10:30 p.m., the second from 9 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

Admission is $2.25 for one session, $3.25 for both and skate rental is 75 cents.

On Saturday afternoon there is skating from 2-5 p.m. for $1.25 plus 50 cents for skate rental. At night there is another double session, the first from 7:30-11 p.m., the second from 9 p.m. until 12:30 a.m.

Admission is $2.25 for one session, $3 for both with skate rental 75 cents.

The Canton Recreation Center does not have bands or dances for young people, according to Bob Dates, of the Canton Parks and Recreation Department.

There are classes that teach tennis, karate and golf, he said.

The Plymouth Cultural Center does not have bands or dances, either, according to Chuck Skene of the Plymouth Parks and Recreation department.

The center is reserved for wedding receptions on Fridays and Saturdays, he said.

On other days, there are summer classes teaching judo, karate, dancing and arts and crafts, Skene added.

He said the next registration for these classes will be in September.

If teens want to sit back and be entertained, they can go to the Center Stage concerts or to the movies.

If they want to get involved in something, they can try going to the Plymouth Youth Center with some friends, roll away at the Riverside or go to the Center Stage on disco night.

If all else fails, there's always the late show on TV.

Board candidates support increased school mills

Ten school board candidates were unanimous in supporting the district's request for added operating millage at a candidates' forum last week.

The candidates said they supported the request for 1.5 mills ($1.50 per $1,000 state equalized valuation) for operating purposes.

The forum was sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi.

Plymouth-Canton Board of Education candidates appearing were Tom Yack, Slyvia Stetz, Earl Swartzwelter, John Kim, Allen Smith, Ken Vogras, Janet Wines, Douglass Koch, James Sinclair and Kevin Campbell.

Some 50 persons were in the audience in the all-purpose room of West Middle School.

Jackie Westbay of Canton introduced the program and Jane Stacey of Plymouth served as moderator.

A member of the audience asked the candidates if they supported the request for additional operating millage and each was given one minute to respond.

SMITH SAID he supported the millage request because the district needs more funds since student density is growing faster than the increase in the tax base.

Swartzwelter said the added 1.5 mills were necessary because of inflation and the strain it is putting on the school system. The 1.5 mill increase, he added, will be offset because the district will be decreasing its millage levy to retire long-term debt.

Ms. Stetz said she supported passage of the 1.5 mills because it would restore a full day at the elementary level and result in restoration of seventh and ninth grade athletics.

If the district expands the Extended School Year (ESY) to handle growth, more money will be needed for operation and more staff must be added as enrollment expands, she said.

Yack urged passage of the 1.5 mills because of inflation and the need to accomodate student growth. The alternatives which have been chosen to absorb growth, such as ESY, are expensive and must be funded, he said.

Yack added that last year, voters rejected a request for 1.5 new mills and said the quality of the educational program has been eroding since then, and must be restored.

SINCLAIR ALSO cited the added expense of expanding ESY as a reason why the 1.5 mills are needed.

This is a sound investment, he added, because for every three schools which go on ESY, that eliminates the need to build one new school.

The 1.5 operating mills, by helping to expand ESY, is a sound investment as it can avoid construction of new school buildings, he said.

Campbell said he supported the 1.5 mills to allow programs to remain intact and to restore the cuts made during the past year.

Koch said the community prefers ESY as a better option than building new schools. Therefore he supports the millage request because ESY does result in increased operating expense. "We asked for it, need it, and must pay for it."

Ms. Wines said she supports the millage because the district cannot operate year after year with cuts each year and still maintain the quality of programs.

Vogras said that up until about a month ago he had questions about the need for the tax but after attending meetings of the citizens' election committee he is convinced there is no choice but to pass the millage.

Kim said he supported the request and wanted to serve on the board to make sure the 1.5 mills were properly spent. He added that just because vot-

Schoolcraft candidates speak out on college issues

By TIM RICHARD

There was no air of excitement and very few people — about two dozen or so when the Leagues of Women Voters put on a Schoolcraft College candidates night May 30 in Livonia's Frost Junior High School.

Not even all the candidates' spouses showed up.

And it prompted someone to ask the six candidates: "Since many community colleges face declining enrollments, what two recommendations would you make for Schoolcraft?"

The four candidates for two six-year terms and the two candidates for a two-year term all had a crack at it. Here are their answers, in order:

GERALD COX, incumbent board member from Garden City who teaches in Detroit:

"Work to publicize what we have. And I would put a sign on I-275 that identifies Schoolcraft College."

MICHAEL W. BURLEY, a Northville school administrator who lives in Canton Township:

"Several things. 1) Offer as many programs in as many school districts as possible (to bring them closer to students). 2) Seek an alliance with one or more four-year universities where the university would offer the last two years of a degree on the Schoolcraft campus. 3) Examine non-resident tuition to make it less punitive."

NANCIE BLATT, incumbent board member and assistant to the president of an oxygen service firm:

"I don't believe enrollments are declining. There was a slight decline at Schoolcraft last year. But we no longer base our enrollments on 18-22 year olds (recent high school graduates). Our average age is almost 30."

ROBERT FICANO, Livonia attorney and political activist:

"I don't agree with Nancie. There is a serious problem on the horizon. Schoolcraft has lost enrollment. We need to make a critical analysis of our programs . . . now 71 percent vocational and 29 percent general . . . and achieve a balance.

"We need to do heavy recruiting in the high schools."

Cox, Burley, Mrs. Blatt and Ficano are all seeking full six-year terms.

RICHARD J. HAYWAYRD, incumbent board member (through appointment) from Livonia and executive vice president of a structural steel firm:

"It's a phase we're going through."

THOMAS S. MOORE, Northville resident in management at Ford Motor Co.:

"More effort on marketing. Selling more continuing education programs. More businesslike tuition and fee structure, with a view to having higher charges in highly popular progams."

Haywood and Moore are seeking the two-year term.

Director's merits

"He can merely assist with negotiations, not dominate them," Flodin said.

Gorman, throughout the discussion, continued to maintain that it was not necessary for a director to sit in on negotiations.

Mrs. Goldsmith said some members of the board were "trying to make a management person out of the director." She added that she believed the differences of opinion about the director's functions were not that great and that the duties outlined in Syrio's letter were almost the same as listed in the job description for a director prepared by the merit commission.

Trustee Robert Greenstein said he had received a call from a man who served as personnel director for another community (Syrios is assistant personnel director for Redford Township) who had allegedly sent in an application for the job but had never been contacted.

Members of the merit commission said they had not received an application from the man.

"I don't know whose fault it is, but this person is emminently qualified and should be given another chance," Greenstein said.

"He had his chance," Mrs. Goldsmith said.

Greenstein also recommended that the proposed salary for the director — a minimum of about $18,000, may be too low to attract qualified candidates.

Millage stand

ers approve the 1.5 mills doesn't mean the board must levy the full 1.5.

IF APPROVED by voters on June 11, the 1.5 mills would be levied for six years.

The cost to taxpayers for the added 1.5 mills ranges from $30 a year for the owner of a home valued at $40,000, to $52.50 for the owner of a $70,000 house, up to $75 a year more in school taxes for the owner of a $100,000 house.

The 1.5 mills will pay for replacing the 45 minutes per week cut last week, which will result in elimination of the one-day-a-week late start for elementary schools.

The last millage increase for Plymouth-Canton Schools was in September 1976. Millage renewals were approved in June 1978 and in January 1979 resulting in a current total levy for operation of 33.76 mills.

The district's debt retirement levy is expected to decrease from the current 5.17 mills to about 3.7 mills in 1979-80.

Sewer tap trouble

The resolution was premised on the fact that the road commission receives state funding through gasoline and weight taxes to maintain roads.

The township does not receive any funding from those state sources.

The township argued that the storm sewers accomodated road traffic by creating run-off for storm water, and as such should be a cost of maintaining roads.

At this point, the road commission merely has reiterated its position of requiring the townships to maintain the sewers for road storm water runoff.

Concern about future capacity is a more expensive concern, according to Notebaert. The road commission maintains that the storm water runoff from the road will not exceed its capacity as stipulated in the agreement.

The township argues that there is no way to verify that fact, and that the road commission could demand another storm sewer farther west on Joy Road when future development creates additional run-off into the storm sewer.

Who is really to blame for gasoline crunch?

Behold the gas-guzzling Michiganian:

He reads of $2-a-gallon gasoline in Great Britain.

He reads of $2.25 gasoline in France.

He reads of $1 gasoline in California.

He sees TV pictures of three-hour waiting lines for gasoline in California, with knife fights and bribes.

He hears of trouble in Iran, where oil is produced.

HE BUYS A VAN — "for weekends" — and has his wife use it for grocery shopping in mid-week.

He sees pickup truck after pickup truck on suburban streets, none carrying any tools or cargo, being used by lone drivers for personal transportation.

He demands that the Department of Natural Resources develop more trails through state forests for his winter snowmobiling.

He drives 62 mph on the freeways until he sees a cop stop someone, then pushes it to 70 once he is past the next hill.

He helps his collegian son get a job so the young man "can support my car."

He buys his 12-year-old a motorbike so the kid can use it to tear up hillsides, which turn into seas of muddy ruts at the next rainfall.

He takes his wife to the drug store for a single item, halts for five minutes in the fire lane where parking is prohibited, and leaves the engine running the entire time.

He operates a 65 horsepower motor on his boat. He drives his boat across a small inland lake in 60 seconds. Then he drives the boat back in 60 seconds. Then he drives the boat across the lake in 60 seconds. Then he drives the boat back in 60 seconds. . .

He uses a gasoline-powered lawnmower in summer.

He uses a gasoline-powered lawn tractor to scoop up leaves in the fall.

He uses a gasoline-powered snowblower to remove snow from his driveway — but not the sidewalk — in winter.

He bellows, "Why the hell does Detroit need a subway? I demand a chance to vote against it!"

HE SEES PRICES of gasoline in Michigan edge past 60 cents a gallon, up to 70 cents a gallon, past 80 cents a gallon.

One day he will see gasoline priced at $1 a gallon or more.

He will see gasoline stations restrict their hours.

Then he will face rationing and the prospect of not driving any of the family's three cars one day a week.

And he will demand:

"What's wrong with that peanut farmer in the White House?

"They oughta tar and feather that Schlesinger!

"There's plenty of oil. Those blankety-blank oil companies are just trying to get richer off the rest of us."

He will blame everyone except himself and his kids.

And the truth will not be in him.

The Stroller

Our funny world

By W.W. EDGAR

This is a funny old world we live in and it seems to get funnier the longer you live in it.

Just the other evening The Stroller got to thinking how funny it really is when he was treated to a commercial on the TV tube in which two gallons of gasoline were given away with every purchase of another commodity.

Imagine this — when the country is supposed to be facing a fuel shortage.

Through the years it has been common to see merchants give away trading stamps in an effort to attract business. Even today you can see the women shoppers in our super markets going into the cashiers line with a handful of coupons.

But never before has The Stroller heard of giving away a scarce item as a magnet to pull in the coin of the realm.

GIVING AWAY GASOLINE comes at a time when every effort is being made to have fuel conserved by means of slower driving, while the government i tries its best to convince the populace that there is a fuel shortage that may reach desperate proportions.

Not too many years ago — during World War II — we had a shortage of gasoline, and it became so bad that the fuel was rationed. It was an odd situation when each auto owner was catalogued and given a rating.

There was a great battle on to obtain an A card, which was the highest rating, and there was all sorts of conniving — even bribery in some cases — to get the top rating that guaranteed all the gasoline you needed.

Now they are giving away gasoline as a lure to attract customers, and this has brought a situation even more peculiar than those of the Prohibition days of the late 1920s when the afterhour saloons were known as "blind pigs."

They had an unusual method of attracting customers. They gave away food — and good food at that.

IF YOU CAN IMAGINE going down a hallway, peeping through a hole in a door to gain admittance, and then being served a full-course dinner free with your drink, that's what it was like.

In those days a fellow never had to buy a dinner, if he knew the right spots.

For instance, the best soup in town was served behind the old Avenue Theater near Woodward Avenue and Jefferson. The best round of beef was available at Harold Allen's "blind pig" opposite Western Market on Michigan Avenue. At Monty's on Linwood, the customer was served a full-course dinner — including dessert, provided he was drinking any of the alcoholic beverages available.

And one of the finest places in Detroit was known as the Ash-Trumbull Club. It was above a bowling alley at the corner of Ash and Trumbill avenues.

This favorite of the sports loving folk was run by Carl Rosenfield, who graduated from there to Carl's on Grand River in downtown Detroit. That is now rated among the top 10 eating establishments in the state.

Looking back now it seems funny that a fellow never had to buy a meal and funnier still when you realize that a steak in our top dining rooms today is priced at $14.75 at the top of the menu.

One thing about the food in those days — it wasn't scarce. There was no warning that there would be a terrific shortage such as we are getting today with gasoline. Yet they are giving gasoline away as a lure to customers.

Sure is a funny world we live in.

Inherit the wind-as fuel

By PENNY WRIGHT

They call it "Mod-O."

It stands 100 feet tall in the flat countryside near Sandusky, Ohio, and resembles a hugh white cigar with wings.

This windmill, and the Mod-OAs and Mod-1 which have followed, are designed to produce large amounts of electricity (100 kilowatts to two megawatts) by the action of wind turning their blades.

These machines represent the federal government's efforts to achieve commercial application of wind power. Each time a new wind machine goes operational, the probability increases that a "white cigar" will provide the power to perk your morning coffee.

FOR BETTER or worse, our society is hooked on electricity.

Until recently there was little concern about the abundance of fossil fuels which supply our commercial grids. The picture has changed.

While some of us have resorted to scrutinizing tea leaves for answers to our energy dilemma, a movement has been growing to establish the wind as a recognized energy resource for producing electricity economically, without damage to the environment.

Already sizable funds have gone into searching for sites of high wind potential — the pros call it "wind prospecting." The aim is to establish wind farms — groupings of large windmills — which would interface with existing power grids.

In a recent issue of Wind Power Digest, a staff member of the California Energy Commission contends that a 10,000 megawatt system of large wind turbines located on remote wind farms could supply about 20 percent of California's electrical consumption and would result in an annual savings of 50 million barrels of oil.

The wind farm idea may not be far-fetched for there exist historical models. Electricity was generated by wind power as early as 1893 in Denmark, and in the first half of this century, wind machines produced commercial numbers of kilowatts of direct current for the Danes. That nation used the direct current extensively until alternating current was brought by cable from Sweden.

In this country during the early 1940s a large windmill built by the S. Morgan Smith Company and designed by Palmer C. Putnam successfully fed 1,250 kilowatts into the commercial grid of the Central Vermont Power Co. While the project proved that it was technically feasible to generate ample quantities of electricity with wind power, windmills were declared economically unattractive because of the then low cost of fossil fuels.

IT IS NOT surprising that as the economic picture has changed so has interest in accelerating the development of wnd power.

Last year Southern California Edison Co. awarded a $2 million contract to a private engineering firm to build a three-megawatt wind turbine at a site near San Gorgonio Pass near Palm Springs.

The unit will connect with the SCE's transmission and distri bution system, and is projected to generate about six million kilowatt-hours per year — enough electrical energy for the yearly needs of 800 to 1,000 residential customers.

But what happens when the wind stops blowing? This same question also could be asked about fossil-fuel plants and nuclear plants. In each case the answer is similar — a back-up system or storage must be available.

In his book Wind Power and Other Energy Options, a University of Michigan Press publication, David Inglis compares wind power performance and costs with those of fossil fuel and nuclear plants, and gives particular attention to the storage problem.

Inglis points out that in the early stage of large scale wind power usage, windmills could easily and inexpensively be teamed with hydroelectric installations to smooth out day to day wind variations.

In such an arrangement the windmill would carry the load while the wind is blowing, and allow the river to continue filling the reservoir. When the wind dies down, the hydroelectric generators would draw on the reservoir to carry the load.

A STUDY OF this concept currently is being conducted by the Department of Interior in the Medicine Bow area of Wyoming.

This region contains some of the highest wind speed averages in the U.S. One proposal calls for wind farms of as many as 49 large (two to three megawatts) wind turbines to be connected with the hydroelectric system of the Colorado River Storage Project.

Other possible ways of storing energy generated by wind include pumped hydroelectric storage, hydrogen storage using electrolysis and fuel cells, flywheels, compressed air and improved storage batteries.

Of the group, pumped hydroelectric storage (the kind used by the Consumers Power Co. plant in Ludington) is now most commonly used in connection with fuel-consuming plants and is considered economically attractive for tie-in with wind generating systems.

As the bits and pieces of the energy picture come together, it becomes increasingly apparent that wind power can play a significant role in supplying a share of our electrical needs.

Wind power is the most completely developed of the solar-re lated sources and is technically ready for immediate promotion.

It seems unwise to overlook this abundant resource because of an earlier choice of options made at a time of cheap fuel prices.

Off the Walls

Of milk and men

By NANCY WALLS SMITH

Following is a simple exercise in the fields of logic, law and order and maintenance of sanity. Can you figure out the correct answer?

The setting is simple. You have a two-year-old and a four-year-old sitting at a kitchen table eating two bowls of chicken noodle soup. The two-year-old has his elbow cupped around a half-gallon carton of milk. Between slurpings, he coos, "It sure is nice to hold onto the milk." The four-year-old perks up immediately. Sensing that all is not equal in the world, he walks around the table to his brother, confiscates the carton of milk and returns with it to his own chair. His two-year-old brother commences to howl. Upon observing this interaction, the thirty-two-year old mother separates the four-year-old and the carton of milk, with the explicit warning, "Leave that milk in the middle of the table!!"

The four-year-old looks crestfallen. Crushed even. He looks at his mother as if she has betrayed him beyond words. Finally, he blurts out, "If you don't let me hold onto the milk carton, I won't eat my lunch and I won't love you anymore."

The mother is perplexed. Eating lunches has become somewhat of an issue. The mother's goal being that of getting at least an occasional vitamin into the mouths of her offspring. Success, to date, has been minimal.

What does the mother do? Does she return the milk carton to the original fondler, the two-year-old, leaving the four-year-old to fast and never love again? Does she give it to the four-year-old and leave the two-year-old to water down his soup with tears? Does she put the milk in its originally assigned space (middle of the table), leaving them both to howl into their uneaten soup but giving her the satisfaction of having "not given in"?

Or maybe she gets another milk carton out of the refrigerator and gives them each their respective cartons to hold near and dear. No, that wouldn't work. They would be sure to argue over who is awarded possession of the original carton.

You see, folks, there is no right answer. Oh, I'm sure the professionals in the area of child care have an answer (several of them, in fact). And each of the children has a very definite opinion of the course of action to be taken. But for the poor mom, there just is no perfectly right answer.

After being presented with 30-40 such issues daily, the likes of which would tax the wisdom of a Solomon, a mother can begin to get a little irritable. Irrational, even. She may find herself over-reacting to problem number 37 with the gusto that would have been more appropriate for problem number twenty-five.

Perhaps later in the evening, one of her sons may approach her with the simple request of "Will you put on my shoes and socks?" The mother may lash out at the child with "Put them on yourself! Why did you take them off in the first place? I'm not your slave!" At which point the husband looks over the top of his newspaper at his wife as if viewing her for the first time as a woman deranged. It's useless to try and explain to him that it's simply a case of mental fatigue — you've just got to experience it all in order to understand. Right, ladies?

Your ideas

Input to your State Legislature

Representative Bob Law

Question of the week:

Each week state Rep. Robert Law, R-Livonia, discusses an issue of importance to the Westland community, part of which is included in his district. This week's issue is:

Do you favor the concept that would require insurance companies to write policies for anyone holding a valid drivers license?

Such a proposal was recently introduced in the Michigan Legislature. Insurance companies would no longer be able to use certain criteria such as marital status and location of residence as a basis for policy rejection.

This bill also could foster competition among insurance companies to offer fair rates and to provide protection against cancellations and renewals. It would allow companies to charge higher rates for those with poor driving records.

Those presently labeled as high risk by insurance companies include divorced women, young single males, senior citizens, clergymen and truck drivers.

Opponents argue that costs would be substantially increased under the proposal.

To discuss the issue, call Law from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. June 9 at 422-0750.

Lawmaker's question feature expanding to include others

A chance for residents to speak to their lawmakers at Town Hall meetings and by direct telephone calls — started by State Rep. Robert Law, R-Livonia, — is being expanded to include four other state lawmakers.

Joining Law in the community involvement projects will be Rep. Thomas H. Brown, D-Westland, Rep. Roy Smith, R-Saline, Rep. Jack Kirksey, R-Livonia, and State Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

Brown's district includes Westland, Canton Township and part of Plymouth Township. Smith represents the city of Plymouth and the other part of Plymouth Township while Kirksey represents Livonia and Northville.

Law's district includes Livonia and part of Westland while Geake's Senate district includes Northville, Livonia, city of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and part of Westland.

IN MARCH 1979 Rep. Law initiated the trial run of the "Your Ideas" concept which gives residents the chance to become involved in their government by responding directly both at Town Hall meetings and by direct telephone calls to their elected officials.

The program started in Westland with a series of Town Hall meetings and a Saturday telephone-in question of the week program.

The "Question of the Week" will be published by the Observer Newspapers in Westland, Livonia, Plymouth and Canton prior to each phone-in effort on Saturdays.

Law announced this week that, in cooperation with Reps. Brown, Kirksey and Smith, this project will soon be expanded into the Livonia, Plymouth, Canton and Northville areas.

He is coordinating this activity with other legislators to set up Town Hall meetings and to expand the "Question of the Week" program throughout this area.

LAW IS encouraging residents in this areas to attend these meetings and talk directly with their local elected officials.

Rep. Smith, the sponsor of the Headlee implementation legislation and property tax reform bill, will discuss these issues now before the Legislature.

It also is planned to have a discussion of the status of the state budget, appropriations bills, and funding for education.

Law, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, recently introduced amendatory language at the request of Supt. John M. Hoben of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, to give some financial assistance to this distict which currently iss experiencing drastically increasing enrollment.

Plymouth Township Trustee Gerald Law, brother of the state representative, will discuss local issues of concern including the status of the Charter Township provision, and the township budget.

The Question of the Week program will allow residents of Westland, Plymouth, Canton, Livonia and Northville to call their elected officials from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays at 422-0750 to discuss the particular topic mentioned each week.

The question will be printed in the Observer Newspapers so residents will be able to review the topic before calling their their lawmakers with comments, suggestions or questions.

Hearings are this week on problems in Hines

Members of the county Board of Commissioners will hold public hearings twice this week to listen to complaints and suggestions about reported increases in rowdyism this year in Hines Park.

The first of the sessions will be held tonight (Monday) at 7:30 in Riverside High School, Warren and Beech Daly in Dearborn Heights.

The second will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Northville Township Hall, 41600 Six Mile Road.

The board's Public Safety and Judiciary Committee, which funds the parks division of the Wayne County Road Commission, will meet Thursday to review the complaints and make recommendations. That meeting will be at 10 a.m. in Conference Rooom A on the seventh floor of the City-County Building in downtown Detroit.

The full board will meet at 2 p.m. that day and may take some action on the subject.

PEOPLE LIVING along the 17.5-mile parkway, which meanders through northwest Wayne County, say young people have been congregating in greater numbers than ever before.

A homeowners group in Dearborn Heights, at the eastern end of the parkway, last week formed a group called PUSH - People United to Save Hines — with the goal of eliminating the growing crowds, noise, traffic problems and what they say are instances of sexual activity and violence.

"We would like to restore it to the peaceful, family-type park it used to be," said Lee Feighner, co-chairwoman of PUSH.

"It's been taken over by a mob."

About 400 members of the Rouge River Homeowners Association last Tuesday night appeared at the Dearborn Heights city hall with charges of drunken brawls, sexual activity, public urination, harrassment, destruction of lawns by motorcycles, blocked streets, knife fights, obscene language, noise, valdalism and drug trafficking.

"These homeowners are fed up with the situation," said Richard Yanock, president of the homeowners group.

"Now we need some drastic action.

"It started out as a neighborhood problem, but now it has become a problem in the whole state."

SHERIFF DEPARTMENT deputies, who patrol the park, have made as many as 100 arrests in a night this year, a large jump from last year. At the present rate, arrests will more than double over last year.

During the week of May 20, there were 400 violations issued in Westland alone, which eventually were handled by the 18th District Court in Westland.

"Last year it was terrible, but this year I see indications of it going to be worse," said Mrs. Feighner of PUSH. She said there have been as many as 40,000 people in the park at one time — 10,000 of them in a one-mile section of Dearborn Heights.

"It's become known as the place to party down," she said. "It's beginning to be like a war zone."

PUSH is suggesting that roadside parking be banned through the park and that some park entrances be closed.

Our Lady of Good Counsel's softball team took a break from practice to pose with Sheriff William Lucas and a Wayne County deputy on horseback to kick off the new horse patrol unit.

Horses wanted for Hines patrol

For the first time, Wayne County Sheriff's deputies will patrol Hines Park on horseback, thanks to donations from local businesses and residents.

The severe economic conditions of the county require that the new horse patrol be formed through donations, Sheriff William Lucas said last week.

Controlling the unruly crowds in Hines Park, estimated at between 30,000-40,000 persons at peak times, is the purpose behind the new program, added Detective Jim Akhtar, one of the program's coordinators.

At night and over weekends, it's possible to walk across the roofs of cars along Edward Hines Drive because of the crush, according to another patrol officer.

A mounted unit, Akhtar said, should be able to move through the crowds and reach areas not patrolled by cars to issue violations.

The department hopes to have four horses by the end of the summer and to double that number next year. Reaching that goal, however, will depend on the contributions of county residents.

DETROIT'S MOUNTED division, under the supervision of Inspector Pat Muscat, will train four horses and riders this year. Already donated to the program are one horse, lumber for stalls to be built at the abandoned dairy barns at Wayne County General Hospital, hay from the Detroit House of Corrections and feed for one year.

The Deputy Sheriff's Association has donated $2,000 towards the purchase of saddles, bridles and other related equipment.

The unit is asking for horses that are between 4 and 9 years old, either geldings or mares, in good physical condition and well-trained. Anyone wishing to donate a horse should contact either coordinator Lt. Warren Evans or Akhtar at 721-2222.

Donations are tax deductible.

Fleischer wins 220, Canton finishes 6th

It keeps getting more difficult every spring, but Livonia Churchill boys' track team keeps responding to the challenge.

The Chargers won their eighth consecutive Western Six League championship on a dreary, rainy day last week.

Churchill, which scored in all 16 events and finished first in four, compiled 117 points, only nine more than runner-up Walled Lake Western.

Waterford Mott and host Northville were also in the hunt, totalling 99 and 95 points, respectively. Farmington Harrison scored 43 and Plymouth Canton 33.

The Chargers avenged an earlier dual-meet loss to Mott and a tie with Western with their performance at the league gathering. The conference champion is determined strictly on the finish at the league meet.

Issa Khoury, a senior, accounted for two of Churchill's first-place finishes with efforts of 52 feet 1 inch in the shot put and 15.8 seconds in the high hurdles.

Steve Zaborowski proved to be the best of the high jumpers with a leap of 6-2 and the foursome of Jeff Leake, Rich Easton, Bob Monaghan and Doran Mason won the 440-yard relay with a time of 45.5.

"I think the whole key is that we kept getting places, qualifying in the prelims for the finals," said Fred Price, veteran coach of the Chargers.

"When it comes down to a close margin, all those little points (fourth-fifth-sixth place finishes) mean something.

"Our kids were really ready," Price continued. "A lot of things not in their favor and which they couldn't control (injuries) happened to them this year. They just decided this was not going to be the year they were going to be knocked out.

"In big meets, I feel they've done very, very well," said Price.

Rich Fleischer and Dan McGlinn produced almost all of Canton's points by themselves.

Fleischer set a 23.2 winning pace in the 220-yard dash and also finished fourth in the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.8. McGlinn placed second in the low hurdles with a clocking of 40.9.

Ken Kopko, only a sophomore, had an outstanding day for Harrison. He won the 100-yard dash, 10.7, won the 440-yard dash, 51.7, and finished second in the 220-yard dash.

Conditions at Central bad

Junior footballers assail field

By BRAD EMONS

Because of what they call a lack of maintenance, members of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Football League are not satisfied with the football facility at Central Middle School.

"The field and facilities at Central are deteriorating," said Denny Timmerman, a member of the board of directors of the junior league.

"It's a joke," he said. "The other teams who play at our field laugh at the conditions."

Timmerman and other board members met last Tuesday with a group of school officials to discuss the problem of the Central facility.

Also in attendnce at the meeting were Larry Masteller, director of community education; Paul Cummings, athletic liaison of the Plymouth-Canton Schools; Ron Glass, an assistant in the Central maintanence department; Gustav Gorgis, principal of Central Middle.

At the meeting, Timmerman inquired about use of the Centennial Educational Park football field where Canton and Salem High Schools play.

"I would play at Central if the school district would attempt to improve the conditions over there," Timmerman said.

"There are planks missing in the stands. The field is not playable and there are broken boards in the press box.

"The concession shack is burned down, and there have been injuries because of the field. It's like a piece of rock. It has not been reseeded or resodded."

Gorgis 'agreed with Timmerman's assessment of the conditions at Central Middle.

"The field gets a lot of use," Gorgis said. "The stadium has deteriorated and the site needs regular maintenance."

"I hope we can maintain it as the building principal," he said.

Gorgis said the field was maintained wben it was used by old Plymouth High School.

"We've had a cutback in maintenance," he said. "The economics in school costs may be the reason. I just don't know."

"I have not seen the field," said Cummings. "Let's get something done if there are all those problems. It has to be maintained and I see no reason why it can't be used."

Cummings said it is "not necessary now" to let the junior football league become a tenant at the CEP facility.

"If Central was maintained, I see all kinds of possibilities for use of that field (Central)," Cummings said. "A high school soccer program could be run there."

"They will not let us use the high school (CEP) field. Flat out," said Timmerman. "The answer is always the field gets too much use."

"I can't see where 60-pound kids would have much of an affect. We use short rubber cleats. If we were tearing up the field, then I'd get off."

The Junior Football League plays three home games on every other Sunday during the fall. The decision on uses of the high school facility are left up to the principals at Canton and Salem.

"We've done maintenance at Central such as cutting the grass, hooking up the scoreboard and cleaning up afterward,' Timmerman said.

"We can only do so much."

Gorgis said the group is presenting the situation to the central office level so their concerns can be heard.

"A decision has to be made. We're taking regular steps to present the problem," he said.

"There is no doubt the field is in bad shape," said Masteller. "The Junior Football League has a concern if nothing is done."

Within the next two weeks, Masteller will attempt to set up a meeting with Les Tinson, in charge of building and maintenance for the schools, and Ray Hoebel, assistant superintendent of business affairs.

"Hopefully the wheels are turning," said Masteller.

Shoulder injury shelves Wolcott

By BRAD EMONS

Just when Brian Wolcott started to pitch well, his baseball season came to an abrupt halt.

On May 19, Wolcott was cruising along on mound for Michigan State in a key game against Michigan. A Big 10 title was on the line since both teams were in the top two spots.

"I had just retired eight in a row and then my shoulder really started hurting bad," said Wolcott. "It was hard to explain".

Wolcott, a junior from Plymouth Salem, did not throw a pitch the rest of the season.

He was put on the disabled list when he strained a tendon on his rotator cuff.

In that Michigan game, Wolcott pitched 5 of 8 innings and was credited with the victory, giving Michigan State the Big 10 crown.

Wolcott missed the NCAA regional playoffs in East Lansing last weekend because of the injury.

"We lost to Pepperdine (Cal.) in the tourney and it was tough sitting around," he said.

"It was a tough break for us," said long-time Michigan State coach Danny Litwhiler. "We would have had a better chance if we had him."

Despite the injury and the losses in the tourney, Wolcott said he and his teammates had a pretty good season.

"WE CAME through with a clutch performance in the Big 10," Wolcott said. "We worked hard as a team and had a lot of unity this year."

Wolcott is just completing his final exams at Michigan State. The 1976 Salem graduate is currently resting his wounded wing.

"I've been working with the trainers at Michigan State and just resting it," he said. "It's a day to day deal. I'm just starting to throw. It's a slow progression.

"If there's no pain I'll throw more each day."

The season was a personal disappointment to Wolcott because he was coming on strong near the end of the season. He won his last four games and ended the year with a 6-4 mark and a 4.32 earned run average.

"I would have had a good season but I pitched one horrible game against Western Michigan which hurt my stats," said Brian.

Wolcott said he is optimistic about next season and hopes to play summer baseball in East Lansing and then in Grand Rapids.

The Salem grad has 19 career victories and is just four short of the MSU record of 23 set by Larry Ike.

Wolcott was 9-3 as a sophomore and 4-2 as a freshman.

"Brian was probably the smartest freshman I've ever had," said Litwhiler.

"He (Brian) threw in some tough conditions this year. It seemed every time he pitched it was either raining or cold. It's possible it may have caused the injury," said the MSU coach.

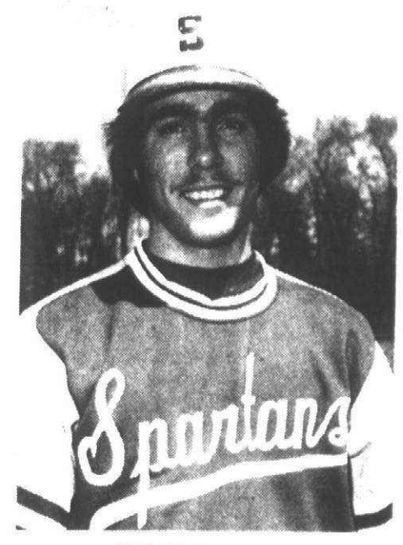
"BRIAN HAS so many good pitches. His best pitch is his fastball and it's deceptive.

"His fastball rises and he has a good sinker and curve. He can set up the hitters with all his pitches.

"He has a nice knuckle ball and is willing to work. He's a good man and is very coachable — a pleasure to work with."

Because of the injury, Wolcott will miss out on a trip to Columbia which begins June 10. He was originally scheduled to pitch for the east team in the pre-Pan American games. He was one of 20 players selected to the team.

Wolcott could though be considered for the International Cup later this summer in Cuba.



BRIAN WOLCOTT

"I'm optimistic about the future. It was a nice feeling to beat out Michigan for the Big 10 but I'd like to go further," said Wolcott.

"We have some good prospects coming in like Brian James from Canton next year," he said. "Our pitching should be our strong point."

Northville gains crown

Canton netters surprise at meet

By BRAD EMONS

Despite a mediocre 4-6 Western Six record during tbe regular season, Plymouth Canton almost stole tbe league meet title Wednesday on its home courts.

Northville, the regular season league champ with a 10-0 mark, struggled to get by Canton, edging the Chiefs, 13-10, for first place.

Farmington Harrison, a second place team with an 8-2 record, fell to third with seven points. Waterford Mott placed fourth with six and Walled Lake Western was fifth with five. Livonia Churchill, 0-10 during the season, stayed last with just one point.

Churchill tallied its only point of the meet at No. 2 doubles when John Piper and John Gacomini defeated Boyle and Hendershot of Mott, 6-1, 6-3.

Canton received a first place finish from No. 4 singles player Mike Tegge. The Canton senior bested Dave Herbel of Northville in the finals, 6-0, 6-1.

The Chiefs had two other finalists in singles.

Northville's Barry Ouellette, with a 28-1 mark, grabbed the No. 1 singles crown by conquering Canton's Bob Young, 6-2, 6-2.

At No. 3 singles, John Durocher of Mott beat Canton's Dan Schmidt in the finals, 6-0, 6-1.

At No. 2 singles, the title went to Dave McDivett of Harrison. He defeated Mark Durocher of Mott in the finals, 1-6, 6-4, 7-5.

NORTHVILLE WON the tourney with strong play in the doubles matches. The Mustangs were all three finals and won two of them.

At No. 1 doubles, the Northville team of Greg Bach and Jeff Williams held on to defeat Dickman and Laforet of Harrison, 4-6, 6-3, 7-6.

Walled Lake had champions at No. 2 doubles when Chura and Taylor downed Northville's Andy Orlando and Ian Wild, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

Mark Swayne and Jim Herbel captured the No. 3 doubles crown for the Mustangs with a 6-4, 1-6, 7-5 victory over Berke and Bohogat of Harrison.

Canton came close to upsetting Northville as indicated by some of the earlier round scores.

The Chiefs' Dave Keen was beaten in the semifinals at No. 2 singles by McDivett, 7-5, 6-2.

After winning a three-set match in the first round, Canton's Bob Adams and Pete Lee extended Chura and Taylor in the semis, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2, before losing at No. 2 doubles.

Mark Roberts and Kurt Crocker won their first round for Canton and then lost to Herbel and Swayne in tbe semis, 6-1, 7-5.

For Churchill, Pete Diamond and Tony Catner lost a tough first round match at No. 3 doubles to Socko and Gorga of Walled Lake, 7-6, 7-5.

Another first round Churchill loser was Jim Boyd. Schmidt down him, 7-5, 6-1.

IN ANOTHER THREE-SET loss, Canton's Thad Louviere and Jamie Trenter fell to Diekman and Laforet at No. 1 doubles, 1-6, 7-5, 6-4.

"We had a chance to win this thing," said Canton coach Jim Hayes. "Everybody played well for us. We ended the year on a positive note.

"Hopefully my players will carry on this summer and get into some tournaments," he said.

Because of rain, the finals were moved into Canton's Phase III gymnasium. That surface is much faster than the outdoor courts.

"I was really pleased with the conduct of the all the players," said Hayes. "We have a lot of fine athletes and coaches in this league. Nobody complained."

Combining the league meet and regular season standings, Harrison maintained second place behind Northville while Canton moved up to third.

Churchill finished sixth.

Salem girls 5th

Plymouth Salem gained a fifth place finish in Tuesday's Suburban Eight League girls' track meet at Dearborn.

Trenton captured the league crown with 138½ points. The host, Dearborn finished close behind with 129. Salem totaled 47. Livonia Bentley placed fourth.

The only individual winner for Salem was junior Carin Ford who grabbed the shot put with a toss of 34-11¼.

Anne Meixner, who participated in the state meet over the weekend, placed second for Salem in the 220-yard low hurdles with a time of :31.5 The other second place finisher for the Rocks was Diane Perich in the high jump. She leaped 4-10 to gain a tie.

Despite a fourth place finish, Salem senior Erin Lucas set a school record in the 110-yard hurdles with a time of :15.75. She averaged :15.8 in two preliminary heats before the finals.

Lucas ran a :31.6 to take fourth in the 220-yard low hurdles.

Carol Hay, Linda Lybarger, Meixner and Lucas recorded Salem's best time this year with a clocking of 4:19.0 in the mile relay, good enough for fourth place.

Salem's 440-yard relay team of Rene Slavin, Lisa Morris, Darlyn Simms and Hay raced to a fifth place finish in the 440-yard relay (:57.1).

Other Salem athletes who managed ?i?ft?b s?ots included Sharon Radionoff, discus, 85-3½; Morris, long jump, 14-5; Lybarger, 440-yard dash, 1:04.3; Ruth Sample, two mile run, 12:34.0.

"We didn't do too badly," said Salem coach Scott Kurtz. "We would have liked to finish ahead of Bentley."

"We just didn't do well in a couple of events and it hurt us," he said.

Besides Meixner, Sample also participated in the state meet.

Saturday June 9, five Salem girls will be competing in the Detroit Free Press Girls' Track Invitational at Warren Fitzgerald.

Slated to compete include Sample, Perpich, Meixner, Lucas and Ford.

The Rocks have completed their regular season.

Rocks earn runner-up spot

The Plymouth Salem boys' track team proved once again they are a big meet team.

The Rocks recorded their highest Suburban Eight League meet finish in 10 years Wednesday at Dearborn Edsel Ford.

Dearborn won the title with 87 points. Salem gained second place with 78. Belleville and Edsel Ford were right behind Salem in third and fourth places with 76½ and 76 points respectively. Trenton was fifth with 35½ and Livonia Bentley placed sixth with 35. Allen Park rounded out the field with 18.

"This is the highest finish for a Salem team in 10 years," said the Rocks' coach Gary Balconi. "We broke a barrier there."

"Overall everybody gave a good effort," he said. "I'm proud of the kids."

Salem indeed is a big meet team. The Rocks were fourth overall in the regional at Adrian two weeks ago and placed fourth in the tough Livonia Stevenson Relays in which Ann Arbor Huron and Pioneer, two favorites to win tbe state, competed.

"It was an exciting meet to watcb and we rose to the occasion," Balconi said about the league meet.

Four Salem athletes captured individual crowns.

Senior Rich Hanschu took firsts in the long jump (22-0) and 120-yard high hurdles (:15.24). He was also a member of two relay squads which finished third.

"RICH DID HIS thing out tbere," remarked Balconi about the senior standout.

Senior Jack Wellman took the pole vault by clearing 13-6 to beat teammates Dave Skone (12-3) and Dennis Ogden.

Ogden has the second best vault recorded in the state this season but had an off day in the league meet. Skone, a sophomore, placed fifth.

The other Salem champion was junior Rob Neu in the high jump. He equaled his season best with a leap of 6-1.

In the discus, sophomore Bob Pittaway gained second place (143-5) while teammate John Froozan saved his best throw of the year (136-6) to gain fifth place.

Another sophomore, Lee Langkabel, raced to a second place finish in the 440-yard dash with his best time (:51.3) of the year. Ogden finished fifth witb a clocking of :52.9.

"Lee had a great day," said the Salem coach.

Langkabel also placed fourth in the 220-yard dash with a time of :23.8.

Salem also got a third place in the long jump as Neu leaped 20-1½.

Plymouth Canton finished fifth overall out of six teams in the Western Six League girls' track meet held Thursday at Northville.

The Chiefs totaled 50 points while champion Walled Lake Western accumulated 136. Livonia Churchill placed second with 104 followed by Northville (70) and Farmington Harrison, (64). Waterford Mott came in sixth (39).

"I knew Walled Lake and Churcbill would finish first and second, but I really didn't know what the rest of the teams would do," said Canton coach John Dunn.

"Northville was stronger than I thought, but it was a competitive meet," he said.

Canton finished its dual season with a 2-7 mark.

"Our kids did pretty well in the league meet, but I was kind of disappointed in our dual record," Dunn said.

Canton went into the league encounter with just 10 athletes.

"We ran into the same old problem. We just don't have enough," said the Canton coach.

Diane Durocher had the best day for Canton.

She placed third in the shot put (32-2) and came in fifth in the discus (94-5).

Durocher was a member of the third place 440-yard relay team which posted a time of :55.2. Other runners included Liz Gorecki, Lisa Richardson and Charlotte Thomas.

IN THE 880-yard relay, Canton gained another third place as Gorecki, Durocher, Kathy Brophy and Sue Coll combined for a time of 1:53.6.

The highest Canton finish for tbe meet was by Michelle Perrot in the two mile run. She was clocked in 12:35. Geri Shufeldt placed fourth in the same event with a time of 12:51.

Perrot was fourth in the mile (5:36) and Shufeldt was right behind in fifth (5:41).

Brenda Bigelow of Canton grabbed third place in the high jump with a leap of 4-11.

Other Canton athletes who placed included Jill Pederson, 220-yard low hurdles, :34.2; Pederson, 110-yard hurdles, :18.4; Lori Shufeldt, 440-yard dash, 1:04.8; Brophy, 880-yard run, 2:35.7.

All three athletes placed sixth in their respective events.

In the final event, Canton earned fifth place in the mile relay as Brophy, Pederson, Lori Shufeldt and Judy Purpura teamed up for a clocking of 4:32.

"We made some good hand-offs, especially in the 440-relay," said Dunn.

The Canton track season officially ended Thursday. The Chiefs did not qualify anybody for the state meet.

Begg paces senior golfers

Bill Begg turned in a low round score of 43 last week in the Canton Township Senior Citizens Golf League.

Begg picked up five points in the round and now leads the league with 10.

Other low scores included Gary Aleman, who shot a 49, and Louie Seromik, who carded a 55.

Alfonsino Bonscorsi and Aleman are tied for second place in the current standings with nine points each.

Emma Aleman, Alda Kraemer, Seromik, Millie Skoog and Virginia Skoog are all tied for third place with eight points each.

Hilda Hayden and Edmund Buczek are fourth and fifth respectively with seven and six points.

Rounding out the field with four points each are Judy Bond, Ralph Deetz and Mildred Maynard.

Jill Pederson of Plymouth Canton competes in the long jump event where she did not place. She did, however, gain sixth in both hurdles events. (Staff photo by Art Emmanuel)

Indy 500 truly a great spectator spectacle

Brad Emons writes....

After what had transpired the past month, I was wondering why I would be attending my first Indianapolis 500 race.

I had reason to doubt this "Greatest Spectacle in Racing" after reading about various fueds between the sanctioning bodies of racing. It resulted in unusual and often hilarious court hassles. Some drivers even were accused of cheating by turning up the boost on their elaborate engines.

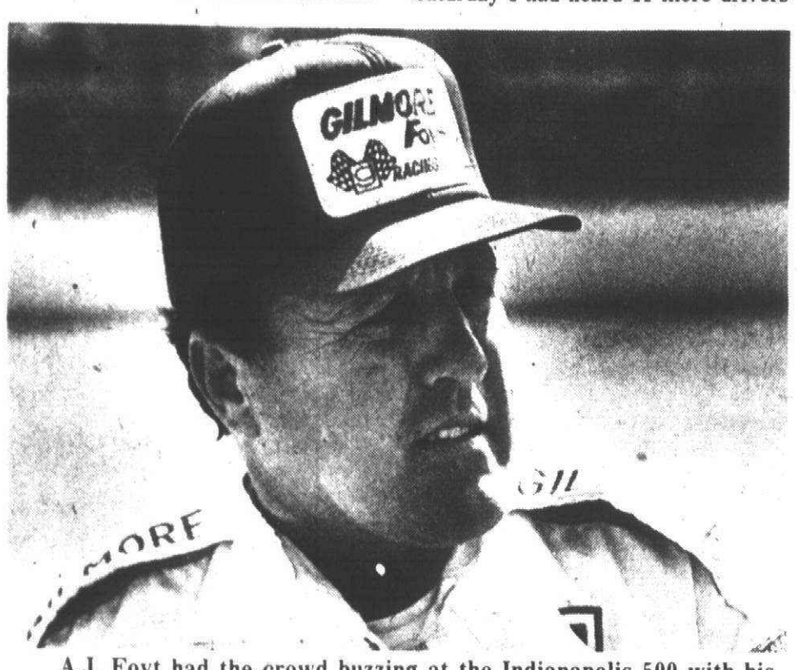
When I arrived in Indianapolis on Saturday I had heard 11 more drivers were given one more chance to qualify. Two eventually qualified of the eight who made it to the track.

Despite all the controversy surrounding this year's race, Indianapolis was still in a festive mood on the eve of race day. More than 100,000 persons attended the 500 Festival Parade in downtown Indianapolis.

In four years of school in the Hoosier state, only once did I venture to the Speedway. That was during a practice day.

I was impressed with the power of the cars on that particular day at practice. I wondered how anybody could get into a car racing around a track at 180 m.p.h.

That single fact increased my curiousity as the years went by. I wondered what it would be like with 33 cars all on the track at once.



A.J. Foyt had the crowd buzzing at the Indianapolis 500 with his late charge. The fans' reaction to the Texan were mixed.

ON SUNDAY MORNING, the day of the race, I began my long trek to the track.

I was staying on the nortwest side of Indianapolis just off of Georgetown Road which directly funnels into the Speedway. I went from 71st Street to 38th Street with no problems. The track is located on 30th Street with the first turn all the way down on 16th street.

I began to realize around 37th Street that this race was something special that could only occur once a year.

Vendors hawking T-shirts and other souvenirs litterd the streets. Front lawns were used as parking lots. It cost $7 to park within a mile's radius of the track. Mobile homes were parked in vacant fields as race fans turned the area into a tent-like atmosphere. Beer cans were strewn everywhere; the litter became more dense as I approached closer to the track.

I parked near 38th street and walked the rest of the way. I have been in plenty of traffic jams but never "people jams."

Bodies were wall to wall near each gate which admitted fans into the stands. The walk wasn't so bad. I saw a lot of interesting people along the way. It was a beautiful, sunny morning with temperatures in the upper 60's.

Once inside the track I was located in a grandstand seat right across from the last pit of George Snider, the 35th qualifier.

The pre-race pagentry featured such celebrities as "Grizzly" Adams, Bob Mathias, Peter Marshall and President Gerald R. Ford.

MARSHALL SANG the traditional "Back Home in Indiana." I was surprised that nobody sang along like "My Old Kentucky Home" at the Kentucky Derb.

Fans started to stand when Mrs. Tony Hulman, widow of the late owner of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, called the magic words to start the race.

A partying, almost stoic crowd finally came alive as the silver Mustang pace car, driven by Jackie Stewart, warmed up the 35-car field.

With the cars finally in order, Stewart shot his car into the pits and the race was on. The sound of the zooming cars was very intense. I couldn't believe the speed of the machines, sometimes three or four abreast.

It was truly incredible to see these men risking danger.

Al Unser, who led for more than half of the race, impressed the spectators with the smooth sound of his car. When Unser dropped out of the race because of a leaky transmission seal, the fans sympathized with him. The race however was more interesting at that point and the A.J. Foyt fans came to the forefront.

With Bobby Unser, Rick Mears and Foyt battling down the main straightaway, the fans went wild as Foyt passed the other two drivers. They thought the old veteran had regained the lead, only to find out later he was still a lap behind.

The fans seemed split on Foyt. The four-time winner has a "Jekyl and Hyde" personality. He often refuses to talk with the press. He displays his temper often.

HE IS either loved or hated.

I was amazed with the intensity level of the fans. Many stood during the entire race which lasted almost three hours. The action in the pits was astounding.

The fans roared when Foyt made an 08.0 pit stop They also reacted both negatively and positively when be limped past the finish line after losing power in his bright red car. He managed second place.

The fans found a new hero in Rick Mears. The Californian captured the fancy of the 300,000 throng with his victory. His car ran almost unnoticed except for his duels with Foyt and Unser.

The masses then piled out, seemingly satisfied. It was a pretty good day for racing.

Crissey earns cage honors

Carol Crissey of Plymouth recently received a certificate of recognition for being named all-conference second team in the Southeastern Michigan Women's Athletic Conference in basketball representing Sienna Heights College.

A freshman majoring in education, Crissey averaged 13 points per game and shot 50 percent for the season.

The Sienna women's teams took first place honors this year in tennis, volleyball and basketball enroute to capturing the conference All-Sports Award for the second consecutive year.

Bob Hope knows just how much Red Cross helps veterans.

"If you're a veteran, the rules and regs that affect your benefits can sometimes be baffling. Where to turn for help?

"Try Red Cross. Yes, the Red Cross.

"Last year, American Red Cross helped tens of thousands of former servicemen and their families get their educational, disability, insurance and medical benefits.

"Red Cross also helps many veterans upgrade their military discharges... and that holds the key to getting a job. Just last year, Red Cross represented more than 2100 veterans before discharge review boards.

"And discharge review for an additional 6046 veterans is in process.

"Giving a hand to veterans is another powerful reason for us to help keep Red Cross ready.

"Lend a hand."

Keep Red Cross ready.

IN THE POCKET

By W.W. EDGAR

The expected shake-up of the top teams in the All Star Classics is on.

It started last week when the Stroh team lured Bob Bassachi away from the Goebel team and also signed Randy Pierce from the Mr. F combination in an effort to give the champion Bonanza team a real run next season.

Bassachi challenge started when he won the regular all events in the ABC tournament in Tampa, Fla., recently.

Meanwhile, Bob Goike, who was with Mr. F, has signed with Bonanza and will take the place of Mike Lee, the Bonanza rookie of the year last season.

During all of this shuffling, Tom Vallone left the Stroh team, but is almost certain to land with one of the other title contenders before the next campaign.

This is just the beginning of what may be a general reshuffling not only of the men's all star ranks, but the women's top leagues too.

THIS IS A GREAT WEEK for both Ann Setlock, day manager at Garden Lanes, and Edna Pikulinski, who recently was inducted into the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame.

Both of these all stars were inducted into the Michigan State Women's Bowling Association Hall of Fame during impressive ceremonies at the annual meeting in Muskegon. Miss Setlock was inducted into the Detroit Hall in 1963.

ANOTHER MEMBER of the Detroit bowling fraternity will be honored this month.

Bill Williams, former president of the Detroit, Michigan and National Bowling Proprietor organizations, will be given the Vic Lerner award for meritorious service at the annual national convention in Honolulu.

It was in Honolulu that Bill was elected national president in 1962.

CONNIE POWERS, who was a star in the women's top leagues for many years, holds an odd distinction.

The former member of the champion Colonial Broach and Snethkamp teams, is now in her 52nd year of competition and still rolls a two-finger ball.

It has stood her in good stead all these years because she has won or shared every state and city title and for years held the national all-star tournament record with 958. She bowled this high count when the all-star was rolled in Chicago.

It took the pro bowlers 10 years to better her mark.

THE GIRLS in the Bowling Bags loop at Super Bowl turned in some fancy scoring during the week.

Elaine Perkowski had a high single of 232 and Kathy Zelek had a 215. High series honors went to Mae Preczkiewski with a 543 gained on games of 194, 191 and 158.

Pinckney tops league meet

Canton golfers maintain crown

By BETTY DeLANO

Although the Plymouth Canton girl's golf team finished second at the Central-Six League meet Wednesday, the Chiefs placed first in the league for the season with a final win-loss record of 9-1.

Tha Canton squad finished with a team score of 427 for the 18 holes played at Burroughs Farm in Brighton. Pinckney was the top team with a 415 four-player total.

Leading the Canton attack throughout the season and on Wednesday was senior captain Cathy Andersen. Andersen earned medalist (low score) honors with a 91 on the par-73 course, shooting a 48 on the front nine and a 43 on the back nine.

Following Andersen was junior Janis McGlone with a final score of 102. McGlone had a 49 on the front side, a par 37, and took a 53 on the par-36 back side.

Senior Peggy Visser was next in line for the Chiefs with a 104, broken up with a 53 on the front and a 51 on the back. Sophomore Karen Mullen closed out the Chiefs scoring totals with a 130. Mullen had a 67 on the front nine and scored a 63 on the back.

PLYMOUTH SALEM also competed in the league meet and placed third with a team total of 443 to gain third place in the league. Salem tied for third with Saline whose foursome came in with a fourth place total of 448.

Low scorer for the Rocks was freshman Carol Ross with a 101. Ross shot a 54 on the front nine and a 47 on the back nine. Senior captain Beth Maggio followed not far behind with a final score of 107 with a 57 on the front then with a back nine score of 50.

Sophomore Nancy Stevens came off the 18th hole with a final score of 116. Junior Meg McGee returned a 119 off the 5693-yard course with a 62 on the 2925-yard front nine and a 57 off the back nine — 2768 yards.

Brighton placed fifth in the league as well as in the match on Wednesday and Willow Run placed sixth. Brighton's four-player total was 453 and Willow Run tallied a 573.

"Pinckney was really a surprise winniner," said Salem coach Bob Waters. "The course played tough and the girls played the last few holes in the rain. Overall, the girls made a real strong effort."

Salem ended the season with a dual-match record of 6-4 in the league, Pinckney was 6-3, Saline 7-1, Canton 9-1, Brighton 4-6 and Willow Run finished 0-10.

Points were distributed after the league meet to determine the league champion for this year. One point for each regular season win was added to 10 points for a first place finish Wednesday, eight points for second, six points for third, four points for fourth, two points for fifth and one point for sixth.

SALEMS' CAROL ROSS was the only Salem golfer to earn a spot on the All-League squad chosen from the lowest six scores on Wednesday. Ross earned the honor of placing third out of the field of 36 players after defeating Pinckney's Chris Wines in a one hole playoff.

Both players finished the 18 holes at 101 and teed off on the first hole to break the tie. Ross took a driver and a six-iron to reach the 317-yard hole and then took two putts to get down. Wines bogied the hole with a five.

For Canton, both Andersen and McGlone earned places on the all-League team. Andersens' low score of 91 was done with the help of four pars, three bogies and only two double boogies.

Pinckney's Lisa LeClere also took an all-league spot with an even score 100 and Kathy Corona from Saline took the last place with a score of 103, edging out Canton's Peggy Visser.

The playoff between Ross and Wines was completly new to both players since both are freshmen and were playing in their first league match.

Both Canton and Salem are making their bids for state recognition in the state finals today at Burr Oak Country Club in Parma.

Salem runner surprise

All three Salem relay teams placed third.

The team of Greg Lipka, Craig Stack, Greg Stevens and Hanschu recorded at time of :45.2 in the 440-yard relay.

Lipka, Pittaway, Stevens and Hanscbu, the anchor, recorded a time of 1:33.9 in the 880-yard relay.

In the mile relay, the team of Chris Kappler, Neu, Ogden and Langkabel placed third with a time of 3:34.2.

Stack reached the finals of the 100-yard dash and pulled a "pleasant surprise" according Balconi with a fourth place finish with a clocking of :10.8.

"Overall things went well," said Balconi. "Some unfortunate things always happen but everybody did their best."

Everyone has obligations. Nationwide has obligation insurance.

Obligations. A big part of the life you live. And Nationwide has life insurance plans to help you with them. Whether you have a family or you're on your own.

For instance. Our Family Plans cover you, your spouse and dependent children. Most of the insurance is on you, some on your spouse, plus $1000 on each of the children you have or may have in the future (at no additional charge).

And if you're on your own, you still have an obligation to yourself. The younger you buy life insurance, the less it will cost you.

If you're 15 to 22, our Young Adult Estate Plan* gives you very affordable term insurance – $10,000 worth for just $49.00 a year. Then when you're 25, with a career under way, it converts to permanent insurance. The kind that builds cash value. And five times before you're 40, you can add more permanent insurance – no physical examination necessary.

Life insurance for people with obligations. As well as insurance for your health, home, car or business. All reasons why Nationwide is on your side.

A new way to earn more money for your money.

How to earn bonus interest with a Michigan Money Market Certificate.

Invest in a six-month, Michigan Money Market Certificate.

Now, no other bank or savings and loan pays more on Michigan Money Market Certificates than the Michigan National Banks. A minimum deposit of $10,000 is required and the rate at which the certificate is purchased is fixed until maturity.

THIS WEEK'S RATE: Effective May 31 thru June 6, 1979

9.409% Annual interest rate.
9.769% Effective annual yield.*

* The effective annual yield is subject to change at renewal and assumes that the interest rate remains unchanged and that both the interest and principal are reinvested.

Federal regulation prohibits the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of interest is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate. New federal regulation also prohibits the compounding of interest on these certificates.

Then deposit the monthly interest into a regular passbook savings account.

While the continuous compounding of interest is not allowed on Michigan Money Market Certificates, it is allowed on regular passbook savings. And since the interest you earn on a Michigan Money Market Certificate can be paid monthly, we can automatically deposit the interest you've earned each month into a regular passbook savings account.

3. The result: Bonus interest on your interest.

Your interest continues to earn bonus interest in your regular passbook savings account at the rate of 5.0% annually - continuously compounded to provide an effective annual yield of 5.20%.

Then, when your Michigan Money Market Certificate matures, you can take all of the interest you've earned plus your principal, reinvest in a new certificate at the prevailing rate, and start earning more money for your money all over again.

GM Livonia OPEN HOUSES

Thursday
June 7
10 a.m. - 8 p.m.
All Are Welcome

To celebrate 25 years in Livonia, G.M. is proud to open the doors of the four Livonia facilities to Livonia and neighboring communities.

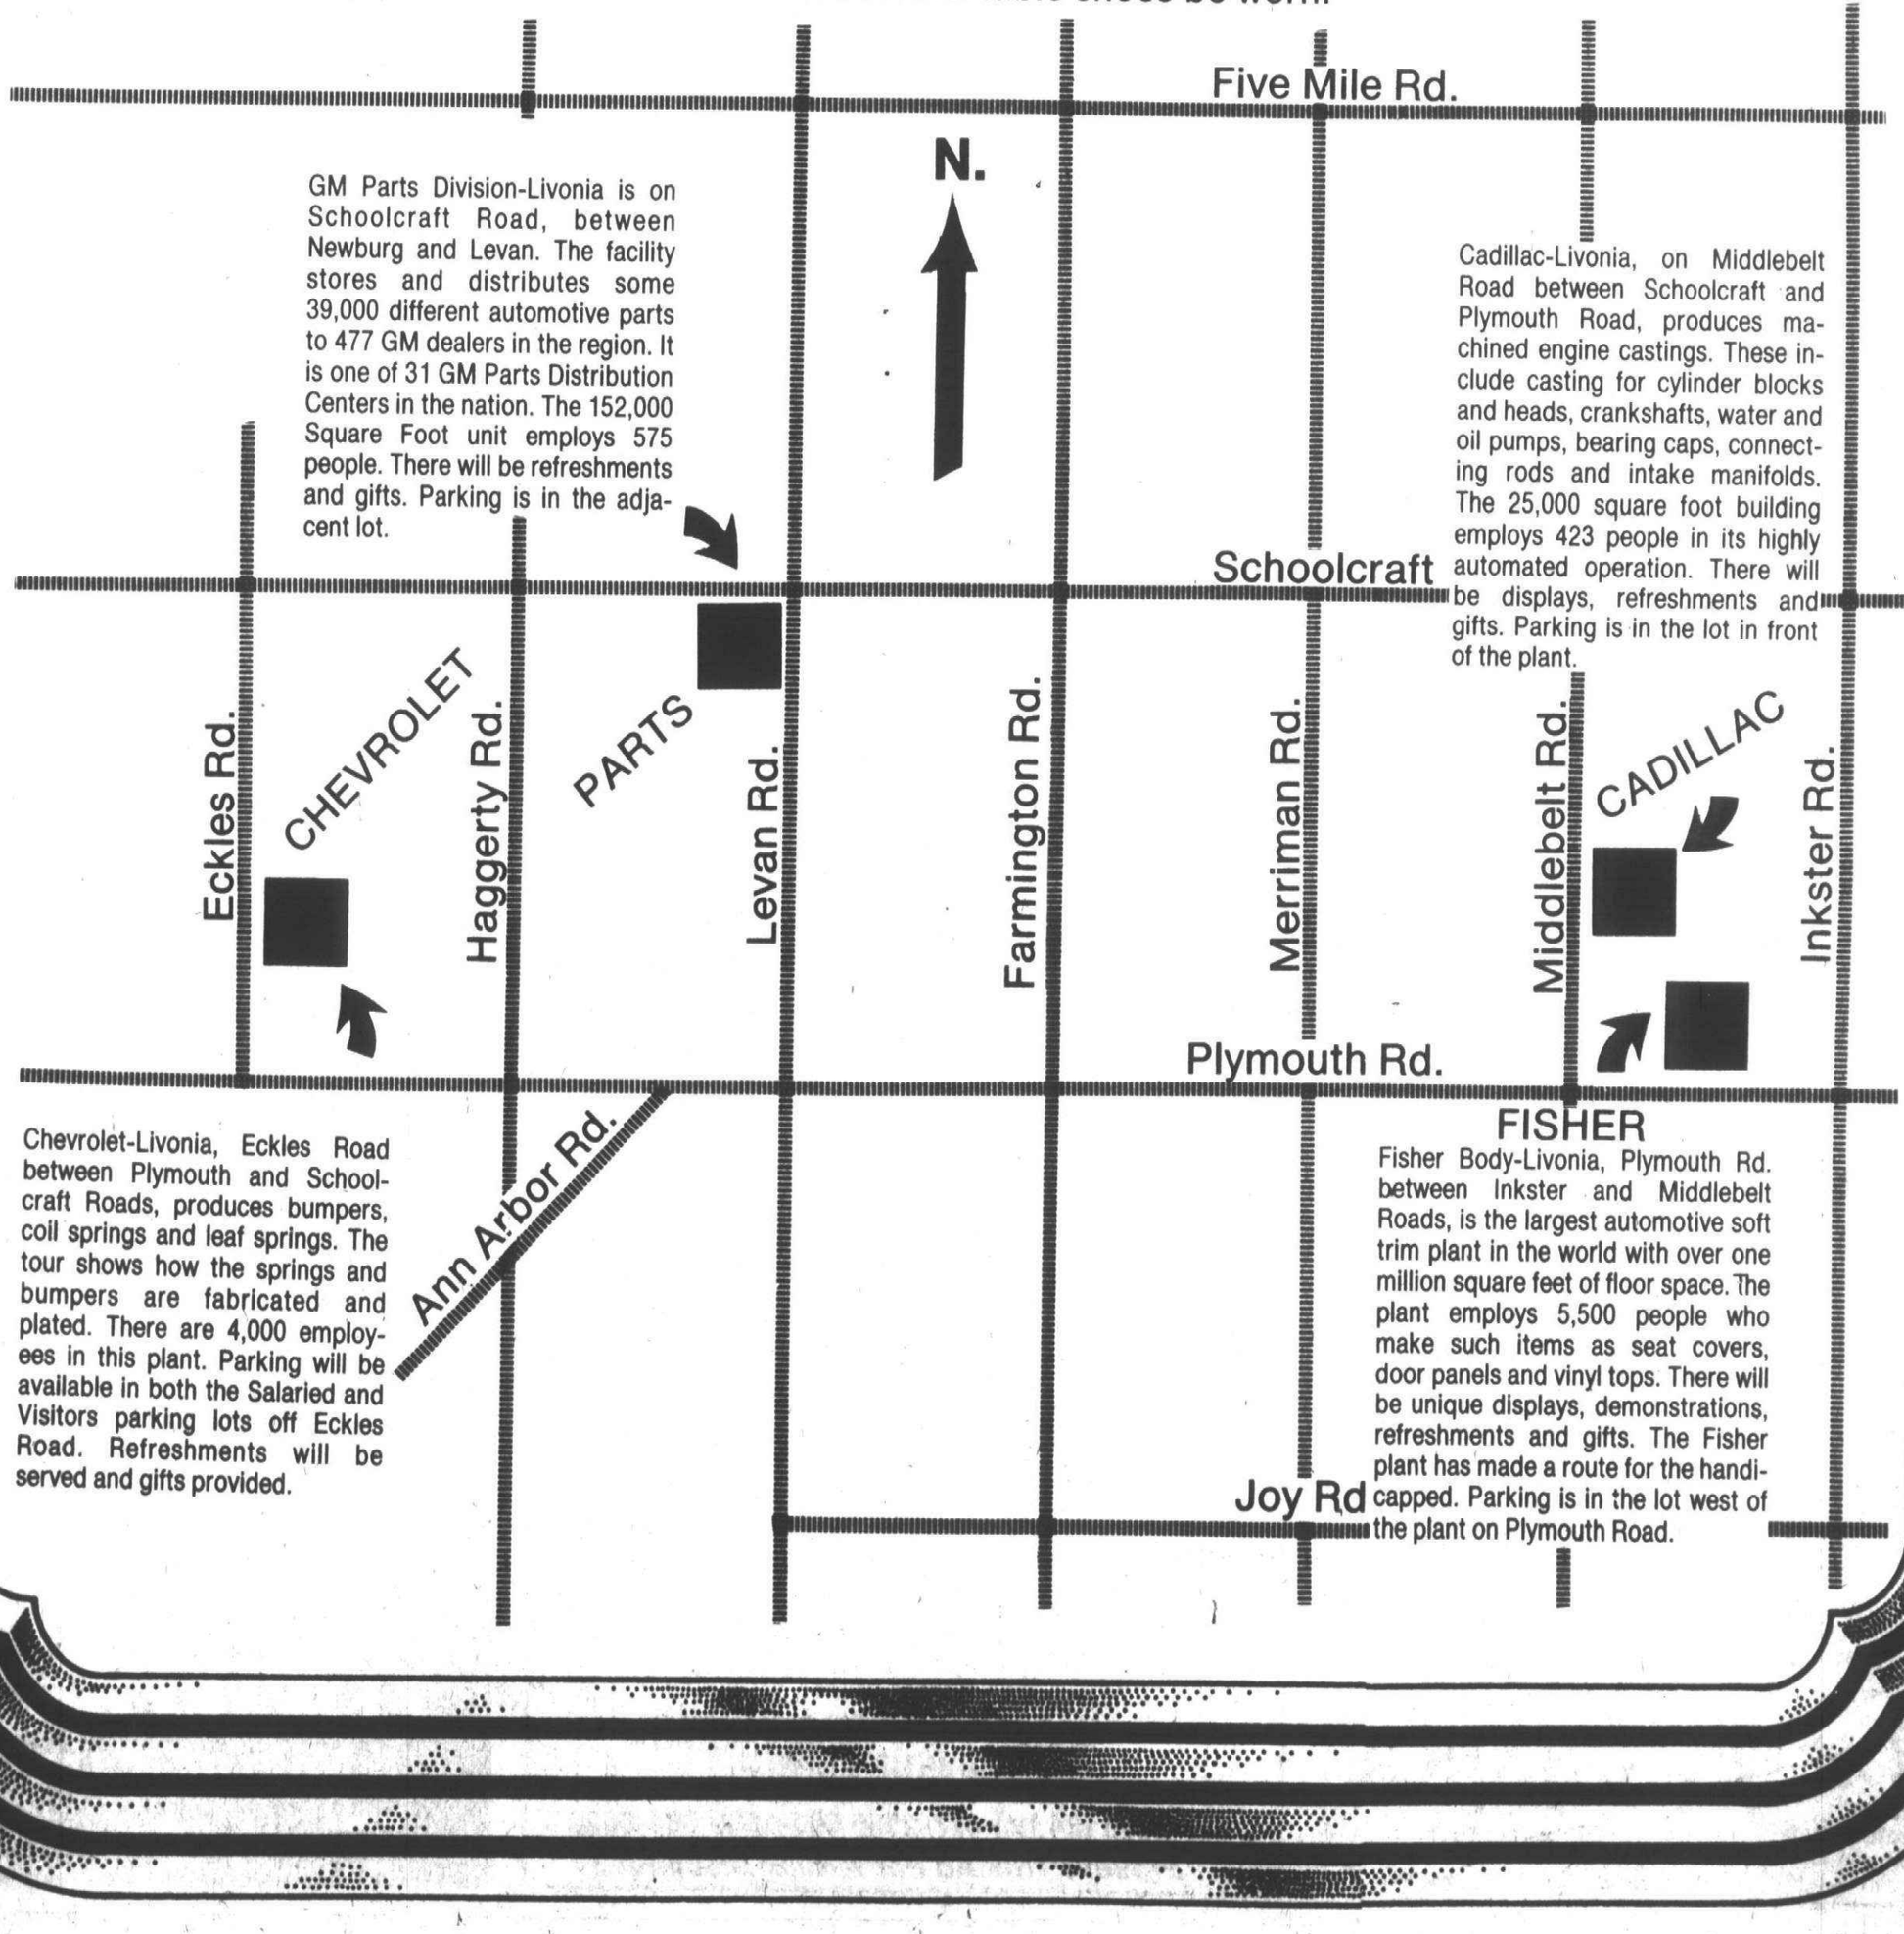
Tours range from 30 minutes to 90 minutes. Make all four if possible.

How General Motors manufactures springs and bumpers, interior trim, engine components and distributes replacement parts can be seen by the public when the four General Motors, installations in Livonia hold open houses Thursday, June 7.

The four units, operated by Chevrolet Motor Division, Fisher Body Division, Cadillac Motor Car Division and General Motors Parts Division, are having simultaneous open houses from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

For Fisher Body and Chevrolet, the event is being held in conjunction with the 25th anniversary of their operations in Livonia.

Since open houses are held only occasionally, this is a rare opportunity for citizens of the community and families of employees to see what takes place inside the four units. Depending on the size of the plant, tours take from one-half hour to one hour to complete. It is recommended that comfortable shoes be worn.

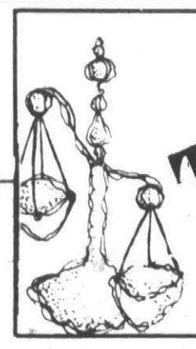


GM Parts Division-Livonia is on Schoolcraft Road, between Newburg and Levan. The facility stores and distributes some 39,000 different automotive parts to 477 GM dealers in the region. It is one of 31 GM Parts Distribution Centers in the nation. The 152,000 Square Foot unit employs 575 people. There will be refreshments and gifts. Parking is in the adjacent lot.

Cadillac-Livonia, on Middlebelt Road between Schoolcraft and Plymouth Road, produces machined engine castings. These include casting for cylinder blocks and heads, crankshafts, water and oil pumps, bearing caps, connecting rods and intake manifolds. The 25,000 square foot building employs 423 people in its highly automated operation. There will be displays, refreshments and gifts. Parking is in the lot in front of the plant.

Chevrolet-Livonia, Eckles Road between Plymouth and Schoolcraft Roads, produces bumpers, coil springs and leaf springs. The tour shows how the springs and bumpers are fabricated and plated. There are 4,000 employees in this plant. Parking will be available in both the Salaried and Visitors parking lots off Eckles Road. Refreshments will be served and gifts provided.

Fisher Body-Livonia, Plymouth Rd. between Inkster and Middlebelt Roads, is the largest automotive soft trim plant in the world with over one million square feet of floor space. The plant employs 5,500 people who make such items as seat covers, door panels and vinyl tops. There will be unique displays, demonstrations, refreshments and gifts. The Fisher plant has made a route for the handicapped. Parking is in the lot west of the plant on Plymouth Road.



Tipping the Scales

NANCY AUSTIN

Has weight-loss group forgotten its purpose?

Several thousand members of the Michigan TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) chapters recently completed a two-day convention in Detroit.

Hearing the accolades of hundreds of members "best weight loss achievements" was the main purpose of the gathering — as it should have been.

BUT IT IS time the officers of this organization take a second look at the purpose of the group. It may seem obvious to state that the purpose of the group is to lose weight. But it has lost sight of this goal.

Gross injustices have been perpetrated against its members long enough and it's time for them to stand up and be heard.

Is it fair for achievers who are to be formally recognized in front of their peers to be pulled out of line prior to recognition because one's registration was seemingly in error? It was reported that this happened to at least 15 members last Saturday.

Is it fair that organizers let power go to their headas and let a dictatorship reign.?

In an organization where weight loss is the main goal, does it make sense to spend hours hammering out details of rules?

FOR EXAMPLE, since only coffee and tea are allowed during a meeting, does it seem right that teens (or anyone else) can't have diet pop? This is nitpicking.

Speaking of teens, does it seem right that because a teen is the year's best loser in her chapter that she can't be queen because she is a teen? Ridiculous, I say!

Is it really important that the TOPS songbook contain only seven pages of songs? Can you imagine spending time on that rule?

Does it matter if the Detroit regional supervisor is called a "supervisor" or a "coordinator"?

Is it in the best interest of members that they cannot belong to any health club, exercise club, etc? (They may belong, but in admitting such cannot receive any awards for weight loss).

Does it seem realistic that meals prepared by a group must be cooked according to recipes in the TOPS cookbook exclusively? Is TOPS trying to teach its members sensible cooking? Or are they trying to expect families to eat food prepared from recipes in the TOPS cookbook the rest of thr lives?

Are semantics really so important that a chapter's weekly queen be called the "best loser" rather than queen?

Does it matter that the bank holding gainers' fines cannot be a "piggy" bank? I agree that to call an overeater a "pig" is demeaning — but ban the bank?

THIS WRITER was suspended from that organization because of a newsletter she published relating to dieting. It was assumed this was a profit-making venture, and loss of membership resulted automatically — without a hearing. Requests for a hearing were ignored. Guilty until proven innocent.

Every three months about 100 area leaders gather for a leader's meeting. It seems the purpose would be to inspire leaders to be effective and to help members lose weight. Not true. For two hours rules are hammered out. Leaders then must take these new rulings back to their members where more discussion takes place.

Hours of precious time are lost on rules rather than productive talks about weight loss taking place.

This is but the tip of the icebert.

The dictatorial powers of those in office in the TOPS Club are far too powerful.

It's time for the members to stand up and be heard. It's time for them tc complain clearly that they want help losing weight, not to be shouted at about rules.

It's time for members to demand more equitable ways for problem solving.

It's time for some of this power to be stripped from the ranks of the officers who insist that following the rules is more important than losing weight.

It's time for officers of TOPS to take a close look at their motives for being in office and how they are using that office.

It's time for members to rebel. Weight loss is the goal! Not rules!

Slowdowns, detours are reported

Several detours are currently in effect on the state highway system in this area, according to the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Westbound I-696 (Walter P. Reuther) Freeway is closed from I-94 in Roseville to Dequindre Road in Warren, with traffic along the nine-mile segment rerouted to the service drive.

Exit and entrance ramps on eastbound I-94 (Ford) Freeway at Dubois in Detroit are closed for repairs, with a detour route posted.

The northbound M-14/US-23BR (Main Street) bridge over the Huron River in north Ann Arbor is closed for reconstruction, with northbound traffic routed two miles west to Maple Road. Southbound traffic entering Ann Arbor is unaffected.

From the foundry to the cleaners

By W.W. EDGAR

It is quite a jump from the hot confines of a foundry to the life of a retired business man, but Cliff Tait made it and has earned the right to be listed with those who made good in their hometown.

To get to enjoy the life of leisure he traveled a very odd route that took him from the foundry to the dry cleaning business and beyond that to the building and selling of apartment houses.

While he was traveling that route, he became familiarly known as the dry cleaning man who took a small business in Plymouth and built it up to the point where he owned three establishments and served several of the western Wayne County communities.

SITTING BEHIND the wheel of his Cadillac the other afternoon, he chuckled a bit when he recounted the steps he had taken from the time he graduated from Plymouth High School in 1921.

Born down on Joy Road 75 years ago, he had little thought of living the life of a retired gentleman the night he received his diploma.

" I needed a job, " he recalled, " and the best I could do at that time was working in the foundry. It wasn't easy. But it was a job."

After working there for quite a while, he heeded the call of his brother-in-law, Glen Jewell, to become an employee of the dry cleaning establishment where he worked.

That was the break that changed his life. He never will forget at the year was 1931. Glad to get away from the foundry, he worked until he finally purchased the business in 1943,

WHEN HE TOOK over the cleaning plant on Northville Road, it was a small white house.

As business picked up, Tait began his expansion, First he renovated the original building and had the wood covered with brick — just as it stands today.

Year after year he stuck to his task and then began the move that made the Tait Cleaners one of the biggest firms of its kind in the western suburbs.

The expansion grew until he had three plants — the original on Northville Road, a station on at Ann Arbor Road and Main Street, and a coin operated station at Ann Arbor Road.

This was a far cry from the days in the H. Lee Foundry and the time had come to peer into the future. He had worked hard and long and decided to sell. Finally, in 1963, he made the move and sold the cleaning business to John Hogan, who still uses the company name of Tait Cleaners.

As he sat in his car, Tait confided that retirement for him didn't mean the end of being active. So he started to build an apartment on the land he bought at Main and Wing Street, That done, he sold it and then did the same with several other locations.

With a chuckle he tells you that he found himself with more money than he ever thought he needed.

NOW HE SPENDS his time just enjoying life with an occasional fling at golf and now and then bowling at Plaza Lanes where, like all bowlers, he admits he gets disturbed.

"Those darn scoring machines upset me," he tells you "and I would like the game a lot better if they worked as they should."

He has played all of the golf courses in the area — from HillTop to Fox Hills, Salem Hills and the new layout on North Territorial Road.

With it all it hasn't been a round of pleasure. Just a year ago his wife died and now he is looking forward to a new way of life.

"I sold my house to my daughter, and I am going to move into an apartment. It will be something new for me after being married for 53 years.'

Then, with another chuckle, he adds, that he'll just go on enjoying his retirement far away from the hot foundries in which he started.

He really has made good in his own hometown.

Business Briefs

MOEHLE IS APPOINTED

John W. Moehle of Plymouth has been appointed corporate manager of facilities and energy for Hoover Universal, Inc., Ann Arbor.

He will report to William F. Ruzicka, corporate director of materials and facilities for this diversified Fortune 500 manufac turing firm.

In this newly-established position, Moehle will coordinate the planning of the company's facilities expansion program. This planning will include emphasis on energy conservation and environmental considerations.

Hoover Universal operates 54 plants comprising more than 5.6 million square feet of floor space and now has three facilities under construction.

Most recently Moehle has been vice president of Gatchell and Associates, Farmington Hills — a consulting engineering firm specializing in building systems and energy efficient designs for new and rehabilitated facilities.

From 1969 to 1977, Moehle had been director of facilities and planning for Booth Newspapers, Inc., a chain of eight daily newspapers in Michigan which also publishes Parade magazine and eight weekly newspapers in Ohio and Florida.

Before joining Booth, he had 14 years of progressively responsible facilities planning experience with the Ford Motor Company at the plant, division, international staff and corporate staff levels.

Moehle has a BS degree in mechanical engineering from North western University and an MBA degree from University of Detroit. He has served in Plymouth as a member of the Plymouth City Commission, as vice president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, and as chairman of the Plymouth Historical Museum Board.

JOHN MOEHLE

Hoover Universal has leading positions in the automotive, shelter, packaging, plastics-working machinery and general industrial markets, and employs about 9,500 persons in the U.S., Canada, England and Spain.

WOLCOTT & RUGGIERO ADVANCE

Gerald H. Wolcott and Anthony Ruggiero, both of Plymouth, have been promoted to industrial relations managers for Ford Motor Company at its Ypsilanti and Saline plants respectively.

Wolcott, previously a task force leader for the corporate personnel and organization staff, has been named industrial relations manager for the Ypsilanti plant. Ruggiero, industrial relations manager at the Milan plant, has been moved to the same post at Saline Wolcott, who graduated from the University of Connecticut, joined Ford in 1950 as a member of the corporate industrial relations staff. He held various supervisory positions in Michigan and Ohio plants and was named to the personnel and organization staff in 1974.

Ruggiero started his career with Ford Motor Co. in 1963 after graduating from Bowling Green University. He held various posts in the Fostoria, Ohio, plant and at the Sheldon Road plant in Plymouth before being named supervisor of salaried personnel at Rawsonville. He was appointed industrial relations manager at Milan in 1978.

DR. FISHER PROMOTED

Human Synergistics, Inc., a national firm of management consultants based in Plymouth, announces the promotion of D. Joseph Fisher, Ph.D., from vice president of consulting services to president.

Human Synergistics is a firm of psychologists specializing in human motivation as well as training and development of human resources. The firm is headquartered at 39819 Plymouth Road, Plymouth.

"Hey, how d'you keep that terrific shine?"
It's Preserv-A-Shine, and it keeps itself.
Unlike wax, the Preserv-A-Shine exclusive formula is actually buffed into the surface of the car to give a protective glass-like shine that seals out the harmful effects of oxidation, salt, snow and sun.
The Preserv-A-Shine process includes initial treatment and an annual cleaning and resealant job. And it means you'll never have to wax your car again.
Because Tidy Car operators are mobile, Preserv-A-Shine costs less than you'd expect. We bring our equipment to you wherever you are, and just about whenever you want.

The VIEW from CANTON CENTER

by ELLIE GRAHAM

DRIVE BY City Hall on a Saturday morning or afternoon — it doesn't seem to matter what time — a wedding party is entering, leaving or posing for pictures on the side lawn.

There seem to be more marriage ceremonies performed in the building on the corner of Main and Church streets than in all the churches in town. Circuit Court Judge Dunbar Davis averages about 10 weddings on a Saturday. He has cut down on the every Saturday routine and now schedules them for every other week.

Not that the judge's marriage ceremonies are routine. He makes each a very special and lovely occasion for the bride and bridegroom. He has written the service he uses and you really have to hear it to apprececiate it.

The silver-haired judge has "presence" — a dignity that adds solemnity yet gives each couple the warm feeling that they have had his blessing on their special day.

Set fee for a wedding is $10. The judge turns it all over to to the District Court. He has performed thousands of wedding ceremonies during his term of office.

There have been times when the bridegroom is short of cash that Judge Davis has added $5 from his own pocket to make up the official amount.

And he always adds his own gift for the newlyweds. He takes a Polaroid photo of them after the ceremony and puts it in one of the folders he had prepared. One one side is the picture, on the other, the poem, "Why do I Love Thee."

AND BECAUSE June is a traditional month for weddings, it's also the season for wedding anniversaries.

Michael and Janet Walsh hosted a 50th anniversary open house Sunday for her parents, Fred and Jane Lesich. The Walshes live on Gloucester on Plymouth.

Fred and Jane Lesich were married May 22, 1929 in Highland Park. He retired in 1972 after working for Michigan Bell for 45 years. They live on Prest in Detroit.

Their son, Peter Lesich and his wife, Beverly, of Farmington co-hosted the golden wedding anniversary party. The guests of honor have two grandchildren.

AUNT ZETTA and Uncle Ed Keith are celebrating their 65th wedding anniversary later this month. The invitation arrived this week, carefully typed by Aunt Zetta.

General family reaction was, "Wow, 65 years!" It wasn't so long ago that we celebrated their 50th.

Theirs has been the perfect retirement. Because they grew up beside the Detroit River, they wanted to spend their last years close to the river. They built a home south of Amherstburg where they could watch the boats go by. They still raise bushels of vegetables, and their flower gardens bloom from early spring to late fall.

How fortunate they are.

The only way I can justify mentioning Ed and Zetta's anniversary in this newspaper is that members of the Eastern Star may remember her. She used to come here for installation ceremonies of the Star.

SAW PETER Sparling on Channel 56 television Wednesday night.

He was Orestes in the Martha Graham Dance Company's production of "Clytemnestra." For those who missed it, the dancing, costuming and sets were beautifully done.

Peter is the son of Emily and Bob Sparling of Plymouth Township.

THE PALISE family on Southampton in Canton Township is thinking soapbox derby racing again.

The Detroit Soap Box Derby Rally is scheduled for June 9 at the Mound Road track. The rally is MDR sanctioned, and first, second and third place winners will qualify for the upcoming races in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Son Nick is 10 now and has grown two sizes since he raced for the first time last year as a 9-year-old. He and his father, Nick, have been sanding, repainting and lengthening his car. His mother, Sharon, will handling the heat sheets at the rally and sister Lisa, 15, will be the flag girl.

Nick is a fifth grader at Miller Elementary School.

THE NAME Jim Kosteva gained instant recognition from Brad Emons, our sports editor. Jim is township planner for Canton Township.

"He was a track man," said Brad. "Jim Kosteva held the record for the mile for years at Livonia Franklin High School."

He attended the American University in Washington D.C. and graduated from the University of Michigan. He still runs to keep in shape.

Garden clubbers at work

Members of the Apple Run Garden Club planted purple leaf plum, miniature crimson barberry, miniature pine, red honeysuckle, petunias, marigolds and geraniums at Canton's No. 2 fire station. Firefighter Claude Gersky handed Margo Whiting a handful of shovels and she and her cohorts, Sharon Palise, Jill Brown, Joyce Ankofski, Cindy Randazzo, Karen Bober, Esther Wilcox, Carole Roney and Ann King set out the shrubs and plants. Her imported butterflies become decorator pieces

Canton Observer Suburban Life

By MARGARET MILLER

Butterflies aren't free in Leslie McGuire's artistic works, but they are beautiful and real and in a way they live forever.

Ms. McGuire, a Livonian who soon will relocate in Rochester, makes framed pictures that combine dried materials with winged beauties from all over the world, mostly South America, Africa and Asia.

She sells her creations in a home business that has been running well for three years. For her pictures, she imports butterflies of many varieties and hues in lots of at least a dozen and more, usually a hundred.

They arrive in plastic packages, wings folded and somber. Ms. McGuire puts them in a solution to relax the wings. Then, as they unfold to the familiar form, she mounts them on long boards in her home workshop.

They then go into the wall hangings which Ms. McGuire turns out, almost on a production-line basis but each one is different.

SELLING MOST frequently through art shows, this creative businesswoman said she meets many people who "are a little indignant about using real butterflies this way."

"I tell them that at least 75 percent of these butterflies are raised on butterfly farms," she said, explaining that these are plexiglass covered areas where the butterflies go through their full life cycle of larvae to cocoon to winged creature.

"Butterflies typically live three days to a week," Ms. McGuire added, "so this way you can say they live forever."

Surrounded by multicolored specimens as she works, she said she sometimes feels "like I'm in a museum."

She has learned quite a bit about the graceful butterflies she mounts and can tell those who purchase her pictures about the focal points if they want to know.

"I used to make labels telling about the butterflies for each picture I made," she said. "But then I realized that for many the pictures are just decorations that match the room. Now if people ask about the butterflies I am glad to supply a label."

MS. McGUIRE began incorporating butterflies into her dried arrangements after meeting a fellow artist at a show in Indiana several years ago.

Forrest Mourais suggested butterflies would give Ms. McGuire's pictures an interesting touch. "And he gave me a list of places to write so I could get the butterflies," she said. "That was most unusual. Most people won't do that for a competing artist."

A few letters later, butterflies started winging in by air mail from all over the world.

They vary widely in price, she said. "You can pay up to $100, but I won't pay more than $5," she added. Hardly any are from North America. "They don't have the farm arrangements here, and I can't catch my own," Ms. McGuire said.

A couple of unusual butterflies she has sent for are the Owl, which turned over resembles that nocturnal creature, and a Dead Leaf, which looks exactly like one.

Her favorite, she said as she looked over a brilliant array of iridescent wings, is still the black and orange Monarch. "I get a South American one," she said. "It's smaller and a little darker than the ones we have around here."

PUTTING TOGETHER the pictures is something Ms. McGuire is getting down to a system. She has two assistants who help prepare the frames, cleaning the glass and getting off the excess glue.

"I've tried having others do it, but I'm never satisfied with their work," she said. "I know I'm a perfectionist." She works on about 20 pictures at a time, arranging the flowers or weeds, then adding the butterflies, and then meticulously sealing the frames.

"That's what makes the picture last," she said. "The butterflies will stay preserved — they have to be germ-free to be shipped into this country."

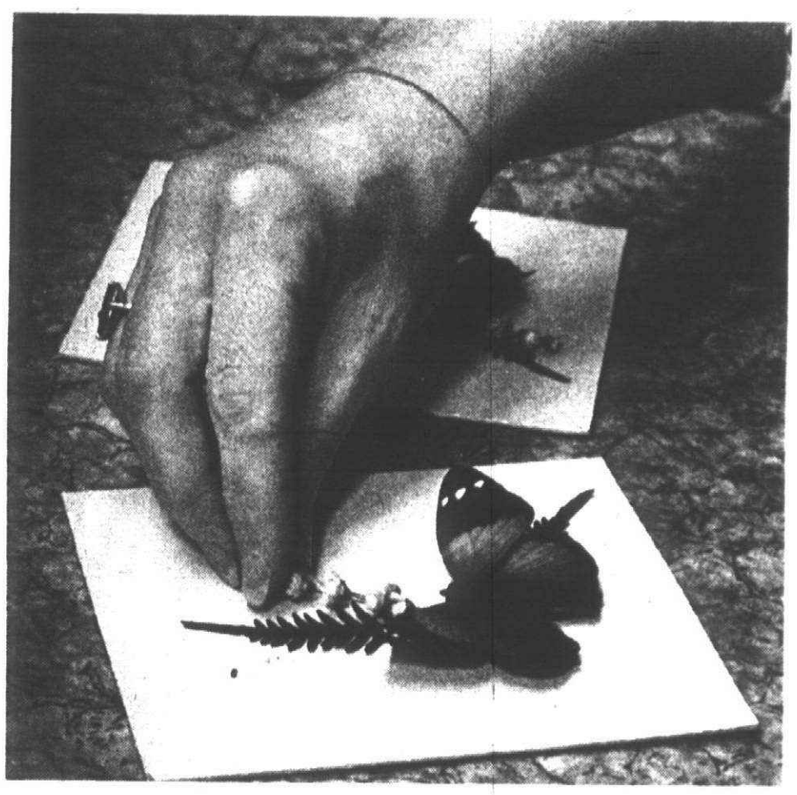
Ms. McGuire supplies a few stores with her pictures, but prefers to sell direct to customers at art shows.

When she goes to one of these events, she takes along $2,000 worth of stock and usually figures on producing another $1,500 worth while there.

"I can't work as fast under those conditions," she said. "There are many interruptions."

AT THE ART shows, and through word-of-mouth advertising, she meets many people interested in ordering customized work.

"They will bring me a piece of wallpaper, or ask me to come to their home and suggest what kind of picture would be suitable," Ms. McGuire said. "A lot of artists and craftsmen don't like to work this way, but I do, so I wind up with a great deal of custom work.



The work is so intricate that Ms. McGuire insists on doing all the arrangements herself.

"I really would rather make what I know someone will like instead of just turning out pictures to fill out my stock."

This custom work has led to a decision to enroll at Oakland University to begin a study of interior design once she and her 11-year-old daughter are moved to Rochester, probably about the end of June.

"I feel sure it's a field I'd like," she said.

Ms. McGuire charges $10 for her smallest pictures and "$90 is the most I've ever charged." She is happy to accept orders from those who call or come to her home. The telephone number in Livonia is 464-8627, and when she moves she will be located in at 540 Timberlea Dr., Rochester.

Panhel scholarships

Isobel Bates, who chaired the scholarship committee for Plymouth Canton Panhellenic, awarded annual scholarships to Cecily Warrick, a senior at William and Mary, and Lisa Hausman, a junior at Central Michigan University. Marion Wood and Carol Wilson served on the committee. Funds for the scholarships come from the proceeds of Panhellenic's annual card parties. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Health clinic for seniors begins today

Senior citizens in the Plymouth-Northville area can take advantage of a special health screening project conducted by the Wayne County Health Department and supported by a contract with the Detroit-Wayne area Agency on Aging.

Any person 60 and older is eligible to participate in the screening program. The clinic will be in Tonquish Creek Manor, 1160 Sheridan Ave., Plymouth, June 4-12.

A health team consisting of a physician, social worker and registered nurses will provide a wide range of screening services. These will include a health history, height and weight measurement, blood pressure, temperature, pulse, respiration, pap smear, glaucoma, hearing and visual testing. Minor laboratory tests also will be done.

The goal of the health project is to assist senior citizens in gaining access to necessary medical care.

People interested should call the Health Department at 274-2800, or 729-2211, ext. 258, for an appontment.

Kalamazoo scouts fete Kathy Snyder

Kathy Snyder, who started girl scouting as a Brownie in Plymouth, was honored recently by the Kalamazoo Girl Scout Council. She received a certificate of appreciation from the council for her contribution to scouting in the area.

In 1974, while a student at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, she answered a newspaper ad asking for a Girl Scout leader at the Kennedy Center for Retarded Girls. She found a co-leader and they worked together until March of this year helping senior scouts and and co-leaders with the girls at Kennedy.

As an employee of the Kalamazoo Schools for three years she was an aide to teachers of physically handicapped and mentally retarded children.

KATHY SNYDER

THE KALAMAZOO Association of Retarded Citizens gave Miss Snyder a special contribution award in 1978 for the program she had set up at Kennedy.

She received a service award from the Kalamazoo County Board of Mental Health the same year. This was for her work as a volunteer with a single retarded client.

She has completed her 16th year in Girl Scouting.

The Synders moved to Plymouth from Bloomfield Hills in March 1963. In November of that year she became and Brownie and progressed through junior, cadette and senior ranks.

As a high school senior she was a member of the Explorer Boy Scouts and helped plan a weekly program for boys at the center.

KATHY SNYDER enjoys cooking, biking, hiking, back packing, cross country skiing and swimming. She started sewing when she was 12, making her own clothes and clothing for others.

She moved recently to Arkansas where she hopes to continue her work in Girl Scouting.

Her parents are Priscilla and Edmund Snyder of Blunk Street.

Summer schedule at library

The theme for the summer story time at Dunning-Hough Library will be "In the Good Old Summertime." Registration is open to children 3½-5 who live in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township.

Parents are asked to register their own children Tuesday, June 12. Parents of children enrolled in the spring session are asked to wait until Friday, June 15, when they may register their children by telephone if there are vacancies.

There will be a session at 10 a.m. Tuesdays beginning June 19. If enogh children are enrolled, another session will be held at 11 a.m. The series will run for six weeks with each session lasting 30-40 minutes.

Story Time will include picture books, songs, fingerplays and filmstrips. Story teller will be Pam Rawlinson, children's librarian.

Summer hours at the library on Main Street south of Church Street are 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

Children's art exhibit marks IYC

There are eagles amd whales and hippos and houses and trees and pets.

Smiling children run, swing, hop, skip, jump and play ball in vigorous affirmation that life is fun. Incapable of insincerity, with eyes unhampered by prejudice and fear, child-artists' work reveals that they have looked at life and found it good.

Drawings were created by children of all ages up to 16 years. Even a two-year-old scribbled her message of joy.

Some of the drawings were brought in by residents of the Schoolcraft community. The majority are the products of the children and grandchildren of the center's volunteers.

other Sunday morning (the ones with the balloons and posters) were there as part of a surprise birthday celebration for Joan Gerigk.

The plan was for Bev Goss to invite Joan to have brunch with her at theMeeting House and stop off at the park. John and Carol Corrunker, Florence Nelson, Larry and Diane Janes, Dolly and Mike Ettenhofer, John Nelson, Debbie Jacquette, Kirk Lorenz, Dave and Jan Sibbold, Nancy Petrocelli and Joan's father and sister, Mary, all were there.

Once she had admired the posters and ballons, Joan was ready to eat and was urging everyone to leave. It was a cold morning in the park.

Youth Theater has summer sessions

Young People's Theater of Ann Arbor in cooperation with the Plymouth Community Arts Council will expand class offerings in Plymouth this summer. Two, four-week sessions, June 25 to July 20 and July 23 to Aug. 17, will be available at varying times to provide instruction for both beginning and advanced students.

Production classes will be offered for the first time in Plymouth. These classes for grades three-five and six-10 will meet several times a week to prepare a presentation at the end of the class session.

Young people will learn not only performing skills, but also skills in the technical theater arts — makeup and set construction. These classes will provide the experienece of working on a show in a carefully controlled educational situation.

THEY ARE GEARED to young persons with some performance or class experience.

Grades three-five will meet from 10 a.m. to noon Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays in Session A and from 4-6 p.m. in Session B. Grades six-10 will meet from 10 a.m. to noon.

Emphasis will be on improvisation, voice and movement, and script work in the creative acting classes for the beginning theater students. These are skill development classes essential for all young performers.

Grades three-five will meet from 4-5:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays. Grades six-10 will meet from 4-5:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The staff provided by the Young People's Theater is comprised of qualified teachers, all with theater experience. Advanced students will work in the classes as demonstrators and apprentices providing additional help and a youthful perspective.

PARTIAL AND full scholarships for all classes are available upon request.

The group is funded in part by the Michigan Council for the Arts and Xerox Corp. The Plymouth Community Arts Council is subsidizing the classes in Plymouth.

Youths earn as they learn in OJT program

Growth Works still is hiring young people 18-24 for its on-the-job training program (OJT) funded by the Michigan Department of Labor. The program has been under way for two months and has been successful in placing a number of participants in full time permanent jobs.

Individuals in OJT learn specific skills through working in a supervised environment. Local businesses have taken Growth Works' OJT participants in a variety of fields. They are working in landscaping, auto mechanics, culinary arts, leather crafts, retail sales and office clerical work.

PARTICIPANTS in the program work 30 hours a week at a starting salary of $3 an hour. After one to four weeks of paid pre-employment training, each is placed with an employer for the OJT phase.

This phase lasts up to 60 working days. At the end of this time, employers are encouraged to hire their trainee on a permanent basis.

To qualify for the program, applicants must be unemployed and out of school. They also must meet Michigan Employment Program (MEP) income guidelines.

There are more than 30 openings available in the program. Anyone interested in OJT can call Growth Works, 455-4095, or drop in at the center at 271 S. Main, Plymouth. For further information call Ann Bieri, Jimi Cooper or Jan Ziegelman at 455-4095 or 455-4090.

New voices

Robert and Sherry Paszko of Candlewood Road, Canton Township, announce the birth of their son, Jeffrey Aloysius, May 11, in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Grandparents are Franklin and Sue Gomoll of Dearborn Heights and Mary Paszko of Detroit. Great-grandmothers are Madeline Nethercott of Dearborn Heights, Eunice Cryer of Wayne, and Bianca Corsiglia of Grosse Pointe Park.

350 voices join in song

East Middle School hosted a joint concert with two of its feeder schools, Field and Isbister elementaries.

Parents as well as representatives of the board of education and school administration attended the concert in the gymnasium at East.

Directors of the groups, Caroline Keller of Field, Duncan Jones of Isbister and Diane Brady of East, planned the event which was the first of its kind at East.

"The purpose of the concert was twofold," said Ms. Brady. "One purpose was so students and parents are aware of what is happening musically at the middle school. The other is to gain more unity between the elementary and middle schools in music."

All the students then joined for the finale.

"We (the directors) feel that the concert was very successful and we hope to repeat it next year," said Ms. Brady.

Half-mill is needed for the culinary arts

(First of two articles on Schoolcraft College's June 11 ballot proposals.)

By TIM RICHARD

Schoolcraft College has about $1.3 million "in the bank" toward a Culinary Arts addition to the Waterman Campus Center.

The community college is asking voters on June 11 to approve a half-mill for a single year to raise about $1 million toward the nearly $2.3 million project.

But what if the ballot proposal fails, as have four others during the decade of the 1970s? Can the project simply be scaled down to the $1.3 million available?

"IT JUST DOESN'T make sense to cut back further," answered President C. Nelson Grote, who, with board Chairman Paul Y. Kadish and Vice-chairman Harry Greenleaf, spent an hour answering reporters' questions last week.

Not only would it mean re-designing the project, but it would mean going back through both the administration and legislature in Lansing to re-approve a landmark program, they agreed.

"We had to submit a program statement to the Bureau of Management and Budget (to get about $800,000 in state funding). The project statement described the functions of the building and the size in square feet," Grote said.

"Following that, we had to submit our preliminary plans — so they could make sure the plans are consistent with our program statement."

TO SCALE down the program to $1.3 million, Schoolcraft would have to repeat the entire process, wondering also whether the legislature would agree to it.

Schoolcraft has $556,000 left from a 1968 bond issue. The state has been "matching" community college funds at less than 50 percent, said Greenleaf. Thus, the college could expect the state's $800,000 would be scaled down to perhaps $500,000, and the total available would be less than $1.1 million instead of the current $1.3 million.

"The other side of the coin is that we've already scaled down the project," Grote went on. "It just doesn't make sense to cut back further. We considered a one-story building, but there are heavy utility costs in this project — air conditioning, venting, and so on. We can get the second level at a very nominal cost."

Politically, it might be difficult to get re-approval of the Culinary Arts addition, he said, because "this is a most unusual project for the state to fund anyway. They (legislators) have a concern about anything that raises revenues.

"Well, in culinary arts you prepare food, and you have to have an outlet — you have to have feedback," he said, not really intending a pun.

"CULINARY ARTS has become almost symbolic to Schoolcraft," Kadish said. "We are using facilities (the serving kitchen of the Waterman Center) that were not designed for that purpose.

"We've got employers all over the state — hotels, motels, restaurants, country clubs — waiting in line for our graduates. Tourism is a major industry in our state.

Greenleaf added, "Competition is not limited to restaurants. Supermarkets are looking into on-site food consumption."

If the construction millage is passed, would the college have enough in its $11 million budget to operate the facility without asking more tax money.

Yes, replied Grote. "The credit hours would generate state revenue; the tuition and fees students pay and the service charges would give us enough to adequately operate the building."

WHAT ABOUT the size of the investment? A $2.3 million building for a doubled enrollment of 120 culinary arts students amounts to nearly $20,000 a student. Isn't that a lot?

They had five answers to that question.

1. "It's ongoing every year," said Greenleaf, meaning that as capital equipment it will be used for many years.

2. "This will allow us to go into such areas as hotel and restaurant management," Greenleaf said. Grote added that such a program is being pondered by the college's Curriculum Development Committee but has not yet been approved by the board of trustees.

3. "We will offer short-term conferences and clinics for the food service industry" in addition to the full-time culinary arts program, Grote said. Thus, the number of students would be far in excess of 120.

4. "There will be space in the lower level for conferences and workshops for continuing education programs," the president said. These, along with programs for the food service industry, would bring in fees.

5. "It enhances the reputation of Schoolcraft College. It attracts prople here for other things," said Kadish, recalling Schoolcraft has literally an international reputation in culinary arts.

How Schoolcraft board candidates see the issues

Voters on June 11 will elect three trustees to the governing board of Schoolcraft College, a two-year community college in northwestern Wayne County.

On this page are the six candidates' answers to questions prepared by the League of Women Voters.

Four candidates are seeking two full six-year terms: Nancie Blatt, Michael W. Burley, Gerald L. Cox and Robert A. Ficano. Mrs. Blatt and Dr. Cox are incumbents.

Two candidates are seeking one two-year term: Richard J. Hayward and Thomas S. Moore. Hayward was appointed to fill a vacancy a year ago.

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE was founded in 1964. It encompasses the kindergarten-12th grade school districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth-Canton and a portion of Novi.

With this election, the board will be reduced from eight members to seven. Chairman Paul Kadish is not seeking re-election, and his post will not be filled under terms of a new state law.

The board meets in public session an average of twice a month at 8 p.m. Wednesdays. Most meetings are held in the board room in the Administration Building on the campus at 18600 Haggerty, Garden City. Trustees are not paid.

Trustees employ a president as chief operating officer, approve a budget in the $11 million range and oversee a physical plant worth about $16 million.

Enrollment is about 8,300 students, two thirds in vocational technical programs and one third in so-called "transfer" programs to four-year colleges. In addition,Schoolcraft offers a number of community service courses.

THE LEAGUE OF Women Voters is a nonpartisan organization open to all. Its main purposes are to study, inform its members and the public, and take action on selected issues of local, state and national importance.

The League does not endorse candidates.

It prepared questions, sent them to the candidates and processed their responses as a voter service. Candidates were asked to limit their responses to 500 words. They were asked about their occupations, education and qualifying experience. Then they were asked these seven questions:

1. In which direction should Schoolcraft College go — de-emphasize off-campus classes or further develop centers in such places as Garden City and Plymouth?

2. Schoolcraft students take an average courseload of seven or eight credit hours. Should the college try to encourage more full-time study by a graduated rate for tuitions?

3. Schoolcraft has about as many part-time instructors as full-time faculty. Would you prefer to see more full-time faculty hired?

4. If the June 11 millage proposal loses, would you prefer to see the college (a) scale down major maintenance and equipment purchases and have a few layoffs or (b) make major maintenance and equipment expenditures as planned and have a greater number of layoffs?

5. Was the board of trustees wise in putting the current one mill for one year proposals on the ballot, or should it have taken "no" for an answer on March 26?

6. The Faculty Forum last year proposed that one of its members be a "non-voting advisory member to the board of trustees." What is your reaction to the proposal?

7. As a trustee of Schoolcraft College, what special competence or skill will you bring to improve its decision-making process?

Answers are in the candidates' own words and have been edited only when they excdeded the work limit.

Nancie Blatt

19482 Parker, Livonia. B.A., M.A. in elementary education, University of Michigan. Administrative assistant to the president, Stewart Oxygen Service. My 6½ years as a trustee at Schoolcraft. Board treasurer and secretary. Four years as director of Michigan Community College Association, last three as officer; president-elect of this organization. Delegate and participant at various state and national trustee workshops and seminars.

1. Continue with present center and using school district facilities when necessary. Maybe someday looking at a center in the Plymouth-Canton area. Idea is to offer classes where citizens want them.

2. Doubtful that this would change pattern of students taking less than full load, but it is an idea we should investigate: because part-time students cost more, and funding from the state does not recognize this.

3. Yes, when possible. But full-time faculty is much more expensive and at the present we can't afford it. Some specialists will only teach part-time.

4. We will possibly have to do both. Some major maintenance and equipment replacements must be done, all that we plan from the millage cannot be taken from the budget. Some personnel may have to be laid off. Buildings and equipment are getting older and obsolete and must be repaired and replaced.

5. I feel we had nothing to lose by putting it on the ballot. An election was being held anyway. The funds are badly needed. The scaled-down version, both in amount and time, is different from what we asked for in March.

6. I do not feel that at this time it is necessary. No vote would be allowed. There is complete access to the board. Open Meetings Law requires all meetings to be public, and all staff have the opportunity to address the board at all meetings.

7. The experience that I have gained as a trustee for 6½ years. Add to that the additional skill that I have gained by being part of, and participating in, the state and national trustees organizations. The offices that I hold now or have held are proof of my leadership capabilities.

My education and interest in the field of education are also a help. I have a deep personal commitment to the availability of quality education at all levels. I hope that this allows me to make a contribution to the college. I feel that I have done so in the past and will continue to do so in the future.

Michael W. Burley

45168 Patrick, Canton. B.S. in industrial management, Lawrence Institute of Technology; master's of arts and specialist in arts in educational administration, Eastern Michigan University; Ph.D. candidate in administration-supervision, University of Michigan. Curriculum coordinator for Northville public schools. Teaching experience at Washtenaw Community College, Wayne County Community College and EMU. Administrative experience in budget projections and board of education role and process.

1. Maintain a strong program on campus while utilizing available facilities in Clarenceville, Garden City, Northville and Plymouth-Canton school districts.

2. If this means that the basic charge per course hour would start at the present rate and would decrease as the student increased his or her course load, this would benefit both the college and the students; thus, should be researched and evaluated.

3. More full-time faculty should be hired where need exists and budget allows.

4. Maintain student services while seeking other sources of funding through state and federal grant assistance.

5. The board of trustees had no choice but to place the millage issue back on the ballot, for without the revenue which would be generated for the culinary arts addition, Schoolcraft College will lose $750,000 which has been appropriated from state sources.

The building repair and equipment millage is needed just to maintain present programs and facilities.

6. Any measures that improve communications within the college between the students, teachers, administrators and trustees is an acceptable idea and a move in a positive direction.

7. My years of experience as a director of state and federal programs have provided me the opportunity to develop my skills related to research, analysis and evaluation of statistical data. In addition, I have developed a knowledge and understanding of educational methods and techniques which are currently being utilized, plus the budgeting process in effect in the State of Michigan.

Gerald L. Cox

32761 Maplewood Garden City. Contract teacher, Detroit public schools. B.A. in business administration, MSU; M.Ed. in business education, WSU; Ph.D. in education, University of Michigan; also Columbia University, University of Pittsburgh, University of Tennessee and WSU College of Lifelong Learning.

As a business educator and student of urban education, I have learned much about contemporary American life in the Detroit area since leaving Southern Pacific Lines in Pittsburgh in 1953. Living at the corner of Maplewood and Venoy for 22 years helping my children grow with their coping abilities, their social consciousness and strength of character has been for me a fine exercise in my citizenship, sharpening up answers to the question, "What is the good life?"

Working with the Detroit public schools, I have experienced changes of leadership patterns and the decay of school board leadership when citizens become disinterested in public education and the institutions contributing to self-government are eroded by minor dictators unaccustomed to power.

I'm a union activist in Detroit and school board member in the suburbs. What better preparation for understanding institutional forces and power structures in American society?

1. Schoolcraft's Garden City Center is clearly a plus for those of us living in the southern portion of the district. A comparable program, including construction, should be designed for Canton Center and its growing families.

2. This idea should be developed by administration, the board of trustees, faculty and student assembly as a means of recruiting more students at the college. Concern for a higher number of participants in Schoolcraft programs is one of my priorities.

3. My preference is an increase in full-time faculty.

4. Personnel considerations outweigh physical plant needs and yet, if the roof leaks, the floor will rot, and the building will fall down.

5. Board members must take responsibility for adequate funding if assets are to be protected and modest growth assured. The college is like a home, plant or garden in that repairs and fertilizer are necessary at times. Apathy is the college's worst enemy. Voting is a citizenship responsibility. I ask for a yes vote on maintenance and the culinary arts addition June 11.

6. No. Faculty, like other citizens, can work through the Schoolcraft College Foundation and attend open board meetings.

6. Conflict resolution, theoretically and in "for real" situations, is intellectually stimulating for me and a great context for understanding how family feuds and suppressed and oppressed personalities become Hitlers. Humor, too, has its place in improving Schoolcraft College and contributing to morale.

Robert A. Ficano

35883 Pinetree, Livonia. Attorney with Wilson, Deremo & Raymond, P.C. B.A. cum laude, Michigan State University; J.D., University of Detroit Law School.

Served on the following boards: Chairman of Community Education Advisory Council, Task Force on Declining Enrollment, School Board Advisory Council.

1. The consumers of education, students, are the same as consumers of any product. They would rather have a business close and convenient. Schoolcraft should certainly explore building use in all of its school district communities. Some districts are suffering declining enrollment and would be ideal to supply buildings.

2. The average age of the Schoolcraft College student is approximately 30. A person who decides to go to Schoolcraft does so for one of three reasons: to obtain an associate's degree, to obtain vocational skills, to participate in a lifelong learning experience.

Since many students at Schoolcraft are older and working at the same time, there would really be no advantage to a graduated rate for tuition.

3. Part-time instructors fill a critical need, but full-time instructors are a commitment by the college to its students. A full-time instructor has time to assist students in class work, curriculum selection and counseling. Therefore, the college should be encouraged to have more full-time instructors.

4. The main purpose of any college is to serve its students and its community. The best way to accomplish this goal is through human resources . . . Therefore, I'd rather scale down major maintenance and equipment purchases and have fewer layoffs.

5. In regard to the half-mill for the Culinary Arts addition: . . . Without any additional millage, the college has $500,000 committed . . . The State of Michigan is willing to supply matching funds for the project.

Last March 26, the voters told the college that culinary arts should not be the top priority. The college should have trimmed down its plans to fit the immediate budget of $1 million. The board should not have put up the half-mill for the culinary arts program.

In regard to the half-mill for maintenance, the board was wise in pursuing it again on June 11. The college has been in existence since 1961. It is only logical that major maintenance is needed at this time.

6. The board of trustees has a duty to receive input from as many sources as possible . . . An advisory member of the faculty is a good method for the board to receive additional input.

7. The special skill I would bring to the board of trustees is that of an attorney. Except for myself, there is no attorney on the board or running as a candidate. My legal skills would allow me to examine questions in a precise and logical manner. On complicated problems, I would have the capacity to raise the board's consciousness to recognize the potential legal issues.

Richard J. Hayward

17159 Loveland, Livonia. B.S. in business administration, Madonna College. Executive vice-president, Freedland Structural Steel Co., Livonia. Able Toastmaster in Toastmaster's International; senior high coordinator of religious education program at St. Aidan's Parish; alumni representative of long-range planning committee at Madonna College.

1. The direction to be chosen should be dictated by the needs of the community and the funds available to implement the programs.

2. The graduated tuition rate should be used to defray the added costs of maintaining the institution for so many part-time students. If the graduated rate encouraged more people to study full time, it would be an added bonus for the college.

3. The decision as to more part-time or full-time faculty will have to depend on enrollment trends. More full-time faculty would probably be desirous in certain disciplines.

4. If the millage loses, the steps to be taken would have to be decided at that time with an open mind to the best interests of the college and the students.

5. It was the board of trustees' responsibility to make the people who they represent aware of what is required for the college and request that they support it.

6. All of the board meetings are open, and the Faculty Forum can make their wishes known to the board of trustees.

I do not believe there should be any advisory seats on the board of trustees.

7. I would bring 25 years of varied business experience, education, and the experience gained by having already served on the board of trustees for one year, after being appointed to fill a vacancy.

Schoolcraft election June 11

Thomas S. Moore

42035 Sutters Lane, Northville. Engineering Supervisor, Light Truct Product Engineering office of Ford Motor Co., Dearborn. Associate of arts pre-engineering, Paris Junior College; B.S. and M.S. in Mechanical Engineering, Texas Tech University; M.B.A., Michigan State University. Instructor at Schoolcraft College evening program, 1967-1970.

1. I believe continued expansion of additional off-campus centers, in portions of the district substantially distant from the main campus, is an excellent policy. This expansion is needed to provide more convenient services to the community, particularly in the continuing education field.

2. I do not feel that graduated rates would be effective in increasing overall enrollment. Although some part-time students might be motivated to take a larger course load, I think many others will be discouraged from attending at all, since they lack time to take a greater course load. I do, however, feel tuition and/or fees should be adjusted by individual programs on the basis of demand and course costs.

3. Yes, to a limited extent. I think enough part-time instructors should be retained to avoid full-time instructor layoffs in the face of declining enrollments. I also feel that part-time instructors bring an added dimension of job-related experience into the classroom which is beneficial. However, when equally qualified people are available, a full-time instructor is preferable.

4. If the millage proposal loses, which I strongly feel would be a serious loss to the community and to the future of Schoolcraft College, I would favor a compromise which scales down the major maintenance and equipment purchases and results in fewer layoffs.

5. I think the board of trustees' action in resubmitting the millage proposal was appropriate and necessary. I think the modest increase is a reasonable request in light of no previous millage increases, and the urgent need for funds to maintain the college facilities and expand in the high-demand culinary arts program.

6. With the "non-voting status," I believe the proposal to have a Faculty Forum advisor to the board is an excellent idea which should provide improved communications and added knowledge.

7. My training in the MSU M.B.A. program was principally from a management viewpoint. This training, coupled with managerial experience at Ford Motor Co., will provide improved decision making skills for the board of trustees. I feel improvements can be made in the areas of employee relations, marketing of the college and its benefits to the community, and programs to encourage increased enrollment.

In addition, my experience as a community college student and as a community college part-time instructor will provide increased insight into problems dealing with student and faculty issues and result in improved decision making by the board.

Reaching an amicable settlement

By DORIS SCHARFENBERG

It is always Nov. 1, 1840, in the Conner Prairie Pioneer Settlement north of Indianapolis.

Upon entering one of the modest homes in this reconstructed village, you will see a bonneted lady stirring something over the fire. She won't look up, but you'll hear her say:

"You here to see Ruth? She's gone to the creek. Should be back soon. Sorry, can't ask you to set — we're not much for settin'. Takes too many chairs."

Look over your shoulder, if you like, but she is talking to you.

That's the way history is re-created here in Nobelsville, near Interstate 456 or I-69, where William Conner once lived and where his life and times are re-lived daily for tourists. They call it living history.

"If there's anything you want to know, just ask. Maybe you'd be wondering about my kettle. Well . . . " Between complaints about the high price of a good cow and her son wanting no schooling, she tells you about the room in which you stand.

Another costumed settler from the 19th century sticks a head in the window and says, "Elizabeth's abirthin'." All visitors are shooed out, "so's I can get over to Elizabeth's with some broth." The guide points you in the direction of the school and you move on.

The schoolmarm, standing in the doorway, scolds you for dawdling. You sit down at a small desk. "Not in that seat! In the back where you belong!"

The village school is called an aloud school because lessons were chanted loudly and could be heard way down the road.

NOT ONLY ARE the costumes, crafts and village buildings carefully authentic, but the dialogue, attitudes and outlooks are made to match.

Instead of guides telling you how things used to be, you are told how it is.

How it is is rough. Van Buren is president, there's a depression on and if the chores don't get done nobody eats.

Guests amble from schoolhouse to potter's shed and from the Conner house to the blacksmith's barn, listening to meticulously rehearsed villagers air their gripes and share their hopes.

There is concern over the lack of rain, grumblings about "that mule in the White House," and the sky-high price of calico and clay.

Present day doesn't seem so bad when you hear the smith's wife glad to be still alive at 34. "Birthin' and the fever gets most of us before this," she sighs, then shows off the ingenious roasting spit her husband rigged up for her.

The blacksmith, a Jacksonian Democrat, mutters about the mess in Washington, the high cost of iron ore. The taciturn potter, who also is the local eccentric, notes how the price of good clay has gone up to $6 a ton and shakes his head in dismay.

There is a village gossip who talks even when she has nothing to say, a doctor who struggles with diseases that have no name, and a farmer who hopes for a break in the drought.

In the big brick house of the community's founding father, a family friend — full of sweetness and bite — tells you all about William Conner, his two wives and 16 children.

"I shouldn't be telling you this, but . . . " Naturally, you listen hard, all the while you are smelling delicious odors from the kitchen's bee-hive oven. The feeling of being in on a current family situation comes on strong.

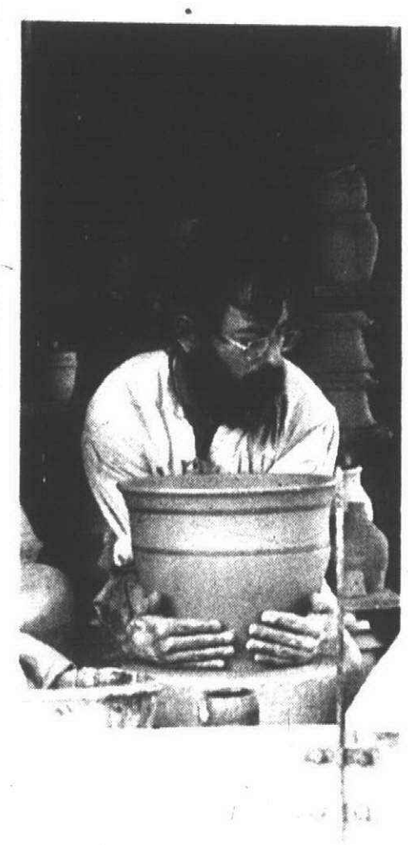
Ask any questions and you'll get an 1840 answer. "Do you grow tomatoes?" "What are they?" is the reply. Questions about the lands west of the Mississippi are met with blank stares. Medical questions bring out root and fish-eye cures. The answers are well-researched and rehearsed. It's hard to trick any of the participants into a modern reply.

In addition to the restored village and farm, Conners Prairie has a gift shop, food services and a picnic area. Open from April to November, there are several events scheduled including an old-fashioned Fourth of July, Fall Craft Days, and a special open Christmas week.

The admission price is $3 for adults, $1.50 children, with special rates for groups. The settlement is closed Mondays.

Located four miles south of Noblesville, the village can be easily reached from I-456 or I-69. For more information, write Conner Prairie Pioneer Settlement, 30 Conner Lane, Noblesville, Ind. 46060, or call 1-317-773-3633.

The William Conner house, the showplace of the Prairie Settlement, has the atmosphere and charm of an 1840s' household.



The potter, considered the town eccentric, grumbles about the price of clay going up to $6 a ton.

TRAVEL LOG of Iris Jones

Hope for the best

There are four proven ways to take good pictures when you travel. Marry a photographer. Take him or her with you. Buy an automatic exposure camera in case you are forced to travel alone. And if you are absolutely desperate, learn to use it.

I have tried the first three and am working on the fourth.

When we first were married, my husband and I had a contract. We lived upstairs in an old house, without a basement. The contract was that I would wash clothes in the bathtub every second night and he would develop pictures in the bathtub every other night.

I didn't know then that we would end up working together as a writer-photographer team, but that's when I learned to live with the smell of film developer on my clothes. It smelled better to him than Chanel Number Five and we were young so it didn't matter.

Over the years, I have had my picture taken standing up and lying down, waking up and with my eyes closed, from the rear while building sand castles and in an Italian piazza with pigeons on my head.

If you travel long enough with a photographer, you learn how to be a point of reference and how to pretend you are talking to a stranger who doesn't speak English.

The first time I traveled alone, I was forced to take my own pictures. That's when I learned the law of quantity: if you take enough pictures, one of them is bound to come out.

The punishment for this is twofold. Every Sunday I practiced while listening to a voice talking about focal lengths and shutter speeds. I ended up with 50 pictures of a man staring into the camera and asking "Did you focus it?"

That's when I learned rule three: buy an automatic exposure camera. It helps but it is not foolproof. Micky says I am the only photographer he knows who can take three pictures in a row with an automatic camera and get one overexposed, one underexposed and one just right.

Well, two weeks ago, I graduated. I was sent off to Texas with the family's new zoom lens, an expensive contraption that lets you take close-up and faraway shots without changing lenses. It was too much for me.

I got carried away on the sand dunes of Padre Island, with the sun shining and the wind blowing on the seagulls. Fourteen rolls later, I learned you should not point a good lens out the window of a jeep on a windy sand beach. The lens jammed internally with sand and salt, but I didn't know it until I got home.

As any photographer's wife knows, it is not wise to put a camera bug in the position where he must choose between his mate and his new lens. To add insult to injury, I brought home 15, 36-exposure roles of Texas with the horizon titled — 540 pictures of water, trees and cathedrals slipping downhill into eternity.

So here I am with a problem. I am ready to fly to the Mideast by myself and I have run out of rules for making good pictures. The fancy lens is in the repair shop. My horizon still tilts. And I am too busy worrying about whether I will be hijacked by the PLO to now learn how to properly use the camera.

I confided all this to Micky while he was working in the darkroom the other night. As always, he had a reassuring answer.

"I really don't think the PLO is interested in a travel writer," he said. "But if you do get hijacked, there is only one thing to remember. Set the camera at F11 and don't tilt the horizon."

Setting would please the Bard

Lobster and champagne picnics, sun-filled days on the Avon River and Shakespearean drama at night are all part of Ontario's Stratford Summer Festival.

Onatrio is one of Canada's most prolific theater provinces. From the classical and alternate theaters of sophisticated Toronto, to Indian pageants in forest amphitheaters, Ontario's performing arts festivals are vast and varied affairs.

The Stratford Summer Festival opened in 1953, with Alec Guinness in the title role of Richard III.

From this start, the Stratford Festival grew in repertoire, fame, facilities and prestige. Running from June to October, it now attracts more than 500,000 people every year.

Performances are staged in three buildings — the award-winning circular Festival Theater; the Avon Theater in the city's downtown core; and Third Stage.

The repertoire includes Sophocles, Moliere, Chekhov, Becket and many others including Canada's best, as well as Shakespeare.

On the Avon River in the midst of lush and rolling farmland, Stratford retains a quiet, semi-rural charm.

Among its attractions are: the Gallery, which features changing exhibitions of international modern art and sculptures, plus films, lectures and concerts; Shakespeareland, a one-tenth reproduction of the British town of Stratford-on-Avon; Minnie Thomson Memorial Museum, containing a large collection of antiques; and Fryfogel's Inn, a restored 1844 inn with dining facilities and exhibit rooms in the 1850s style.

NOT FAR FROM STRATFORD, in Niagara-on-the-Lake, another summer festival occurs, dedicated to playwright George Bernard Shaw. This runs from mid-May to September.

The Shaw Festival began in 1962 when 200 enthusiasts crammed into the 19th-century Court House Theater to watch the opening performance of "Salute to Shaw." The Festival has since built a new 832-seat theater and increased its repertoire to include other playwrights.

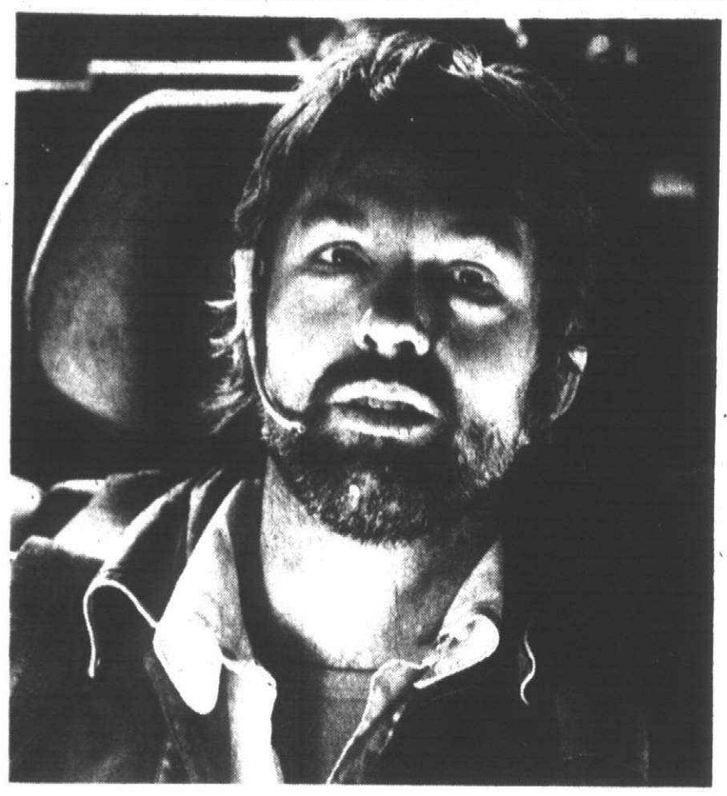
LOUISE SNIDER



Tom Skerritt portrays Dallas, captain of the factory starship "Nostromo," in "Alien."

It's shriek time when 'Alien' hides aboard spacecraft

"Alien" (R) is the stuff that bad dreams are made of — terrifying, irrational and repulsive. It's a science-fiction thriller that escalates in suspense and horror.

From the very beginning, lighting, music, production design and special effects work together to achieve an eerie and ominous mood that is interrupted only by an overriding sense of terror.

The story is simple, which is one reason why the director, Ridley Scott, can concentrate on pure fright. The Nostromo, an ore-carring space freighter with a crew of seven, is interrupted in its journey through deep space by a signal interpreted as a distress call.

Following instructions from the ship's computer, Mother, the Nostromo lands on a forbidding planet. The search party discovers a strong, fossilized spaceship where an ugly and tenacious organism fastens itself to a crewman and returns to the ship with him.

FROM THEN ON, it's shriek time as the alien form (conceived by Swiss illustrator H. R. Giger) reveals itself to be an aggressive, flesh-eating, structurally perfect organism designed for survival under the most hostile conditions.

It then becomes a question of who — if any — aboard the ship will survive. The elusive alien doesn't lack for hiding places in the labyrinths of the cavern-like craft.

The artists, set designer and special effects people deserve plaudits for creating the ship's fascinating interior. It presents an environment which generates its own tensions because of contrasts of bright lights and dark corridors, futuristic controls and antiquated-looking mechanical devices that suggest remainders of a technology that's been replaced.

The paradox of past and future is reflected again in the crew. They live in some advanced civilization and possess the skills necessary to repair, adjust and operate their spaceship, yet they speak and act like contemporary individuals.

They bicker and swear. They argue about their shares of the profits, about responsibilities and about lines of authority. They sound very familiar.

THE TONE, undoubtedly, is deliberate. By making the crew ordinary and placing them in surrealistic settings, audience involvement is increased and the suspense heightened.

Among the all-too-human crew are Yaphet Kotto and Harry Dean Stanton, effective as two mercenary-like engineering technicians; Tom Skerritt as a rumpled but unflinching captain; and Veronica Cartwright (she should be getting use to aliens; she was in "Invasion of the Body Snatchers") as the nervous navigator.

John Hurt is a dutiful executive officer; Ian Holm, a cool and detached scientist; and Sigourney Weaver, a firm and rational warrant officer.

"Alien" is rated "R" for language and violence. A wise parent will heed this designation or be prepared to deal with nightmares.

Glimpses

NEW RELEASES

BATTLESTAR GALACTICA (PG). Essentially, a recut version of pilot film for TV series but with big sound added.

BOULEVARD NIGHTS (R). Authentic-looking drama about life in the barrio. Set in East Los Angeles.

DAWN OF THE DEAD (Unrated). George Romero's zombies are the ultimate consumers in this gory, satirical sequel to his cult classic "Night of the Living Dead."

THE DEER HUNTER (R). An emotionally gripping and violent film about the lives of three friends from a small steel town as they are affected by the Vietnam war.

At Schoolcraft College

New jogging trail needs some help

By LEM MESEE
Outdoors writer

Outdoors

They're building a new jogging trail at Schoolcraft College on Saturday, June 9, and joggers are invited to help.

The cooperative project will result in a 1.5-mile, wood chip trail that will provide joggers and hikers a safe, scenic route. It will begin behind the south parking lot of the college and run counter-clockwise to I-275 and Seven Mile Road.

The project is headed by Schoolcraft's physical education director, Marvin Gans, who said the trail will be open that evening.

"You'll find the fitness trail safe and convenient, away from cars, dogs and other obstacles joggers regularly encounter," he said.

Gans said two district residents, Bill Taylor and Mark Weiland, will serve as honorary project superintendents. Taylor volunteered use of his bulldozer.

Jim Luterek and other Northville Jaycees will provide "personpower" for the effort.

Work will start at 8 a.m. The trail will consist of a six-foot-wide path, levelled and topped with wood chips with markers every quarter-mile. The route was laid out by Gans and Dan Reynolds, the cross country coach.

TWO NATURE walks and an evening cruise are on tap at nearby Huron-Clinton Metroparks in the days ahead.

"Life in a Pond" will be presented at 1 p.m. Saturday, June 9, at Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock. Naturalist Glenn Dent will lead an exploration of the nature area's pond to examine mollusks, crayfish, insects and fish.

(The Oakwoods Nature Center is open year around and features seasonal exhibits. The nature study area has four nature trails from 700 feet to two miles in length with labels for self-guided hikes.)

"Insects" will be studied at 9 a.m. Sunday, June 10, at Kensington's nature center. Naturalist Steve Horn will discuss the relationship of insects to plants and animals during a 90-minute walk. It's free, but register in advance by calling the park office in Milford at 685-1561.

An "Evening Nature Cruise" aboard the Island Queen excursion boat will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 13, at Kensington. Meet at the boat rental dock, bring binoculars and $1 for the ride. Call the park office to register in advance.

THE FURRY and feathered friends we study on nature walks are often pests to telephone repairmen for Ma Bell.

Squirrels, gophers, woodpeckers and other creatures munch through cables and wires, putting the bite on the telephone company for $1 million a year nationwide in repairs, according to the National Geographic Society.

Gray squirrels have a particular likeing for lead-sheathed cables. Why they prefer lead to other cables is unexplained.

"It may have something to do with the consistency of the metal or the taste, like some people prefer Juicy Fruit over spearmint gum," speculated a phone company spokesman.

Field technicians think the hum of dial tones from conductors on the cables fools woodpeckers to believe insects are hidden in the wire.

A bite meter developed by Bell Laboratories and the U.S. Interior Department showed animals have surprisingly strong bites. A gray squirrel has a biting pressure of 22,000 pounds per square inch, a gopher 18,000 and a common Norway rat 7,000. By contrast, a shark can deliver 44,000 pounds per square inch.

Young artists win competition

WSU announces fall theater schedules

Fourteen plays representing a wide variety of drama from the last 500 years of English-speaking theater have been scheduled for the Hilberry and Bonstelle Theaters' 1979-80 seasons.

At the Hilberry, an expanded repertory of eight productions will go back to the 16th-century for two Shakespeare plays — a revival of the past season's "Much Ado About Nothing" and a new production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

Moving forward in time, the season also will include Shakespeare's "Macbeth;" "Wild Oats," a comedy by John O'Keeffe, the most prolific and popular playwright of late 18th-century England; George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion;" Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker;" the 1956 Pulitzer Prize and New York Critics' Circle Award winning drama, "The Diary of Anne Frank" by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett; and Brian Friel's "Philadelphia, Here I Come!," an Irish comedy that was imported to Broadway in 1966 and won second place in the New York Critics' Circle Awards.

The Bonstelle series will go back to 18th century England for its opening production of Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer."

THIS WILL BE followed by a dramatization of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" and Arthur Conan Doyle and Wiliam Gillette's "Sherlock Holmes" from the 19th century and by three 20th century American plays: Sidney Kingsley's "Detective Story," the recent Broadway musical "Pippin" by Roger O. Hirson (book) and Stephen Schwartz (music and lyrics), and "Does a Tiger Wear a Necktie?" playwright Don Petersen's 1969 Broadway debut, which brought a Tony Award to Al Pacino for his performance as a sinsister young drug addict.

At the Hilberry:

"The Diary of Anne Frank" — Oct. 17
"Much Ado About Nothing — Oct. 26
"Philadelphia, Here I Come!" — Nov. 14
"The Matchmaker" — Dec. 12
"Macbeth" — Jan. 30
"Pygmalion" — March 5
"The Merry Wives of Windsor" — March 19
"Wild Oats" — April 30

At the Bonstelle:

"She Stoops to Conquer" — Oct. 19
"A Christmas Carol" — Nov. 30
"Sherlock Holmes" — Feb. 1
"Detective Story" — March 7
"Pippin" — April 25
"Does a Tiger Wear a Necktie?" — June 6

Brochures with complete information about plays, schedules and ticket prices will be available later in the summer. They may be requested by calling 577-2972 or by writing to: Wayne State University Theater Box Office, Detroit, 48202.

Our new chef doesn't serve subpoenas.
Much to L. J. Loophole's displeasure, Chef Jean Cosperec refuses to serve subpoenas at lunch or dinner.
He does, however, serve the most tantalizing dishes you can imagine. Or rather, he can imagine. Because each of his specials is his own creation. So you'll never taste it anywhere but here. Which is just how L. J. wants it.
As for culinary credentials, Chef Jean was voted 1977 Chef of the Year by the Chef's Club in Detroit. Strong evidence. But it's really your testimony we want.
Ask for a taste of Chef Jean's imagination. You won't be served a subpoena in return.

Lightweight replacement

An innovative tape-controlled auto window adjusting mechanism, held by associated engineer Vanessa Guarrasi, was recently introduced on GM's 1980 front-wheel drive Chevrolet Citation, Pontiac Phoenix, Oldsmobile Omega and Buick Skylark. The unit replaces a much heavier conventional device, shown in foreground, and will contribute to GM's formula for better fuel economy, Fisher Body engineers say.
