Teacher contract negotiations continue

By EMORY DANIELS

The gap between Plymouth-Canton teachers and the school board negotiating teams has unofficially narrowed considerably, but sources close to the scene aren't optimistic that a settlement is at hand this week.

During talks over Labor Day weekend, the difference in salary proposals reportedly narrowed to about 3 percent.

But that difference was believed to be so close to the final offers of both sides that any small movement which remains on economics makes it very difficult to close the 3 percent gap.

BOTH SIDES MET for about 12 hours Sunday with state mediator Tom Badoud.

During that session the teachers union revealed its "basis for settlement" to Badoud and instructed him to pass that information on to the school board team.

"The board team packaged its offer different ways but didn't move an inch in total dollars offered," reports Tom Cotner for the Plymouth-Canton Education Association, the sole bargaining agent for teachers in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

A board spokesman confirmed that there was no change in the total dollars offered over three years during Sunday's bargaining conducted through Badoud.

It has been learned that the board team informed the PCEA it would "dock" striking teachers for the five days they had been out and after docking for the five days would raise the percentages offered in its deal.

That arrangement was rejected out-of-hand by the union. The question of docking for days on strike is a management prerogative but often is settled in negotiations as part of the final settlement.

After taking Labor Day off, both sides returned to the table Wednesday when mediator Badoud called for another session at about 1:30 p.m.

ON TUESDAY Cotner said the PCEA was getting a lot of information about contract settlements reached in other school districts and "most three-year settlements are coming in at 26 percent or higher."

Those districts with two-year contracts are coming in with settlements averaging 18 percent.

Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for personnel, released information Tuesday on settlements reached with 14 school districts of which all but Wayne-Westland were lower than what Plymouth-Canton has offered at the MA maximum — the top of the scale — at the third year of the scale.

MEANWHILE, the propaganda side of negotiations stepped up with the union distributing a circular to residents and the board team reacting that the main claim made was not true.

The circular, delivered Tuesday to most homes, reported cost-of-living had gone up 12.9 percent and that the board's last offer was not sufficient to cover cost-of-living.

Kee said that claim is false and is based on the union's mistaken notion of cost-of-living being applied against salary, a formula which he describes as "standard of living."

When applied against the 1967 base of $11,738 used in the Consumer Price Index, Kee said the board's offer of 8 percent for the first year would result in a teacher at the MA maximum with no increments getting $1,980 or $668 more than the increase in cost-of-living of $1,312 ($11,738 times 12.8 percent).

A teacher at the beginning step, added Kee, would have an 8 percent salary improvement plus an increment improvement of 6 percent and would end up with $1,751 more or $439 above the cost-of-living.

Cotner replied that Kee's different figures represent a major difference in philosophy between the board and PCEA on cost-of-living and increments.

"At the beginning step, Kee included increments. Philosophically we are talking about a salary schedule which takes 12 years and two additional years of schooling to get full pay. Increments are used to hold off a teacher from receiving full pay.

"I consider increments almost as an apprenticeship system. We consider the increment schedule to be outlandish and it's not realistic to use increments against us."

Cotner also said that Kee is applying the cost-of-living percentage against the 1967 base in the Consumer Price Index rather than against individual salaries.

"I would apply the percentage against current salary. That's the way it is done in almost all surrounding districts where COLA is applied to each step of the salary schedule."

Police millage hashed again

Another public hearing will be held on a proposal to increase a tax levy for police because a resident has objected that citizens were inadequately informed of the proposal.

The informal hearing will be held at the township board's next meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 11. Board members are expected to take action on a recommendation to increase the police millage from two to four mills ($4 per $1,000 assessed property valuation) following the hearing.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. in the Canton administration building.

Resident Robert Miller requested the scheduling of the second hearing on grounds that a letter sent to property owners last month did not state that the police millage would be increased under the administration's recommendation.

The letter informed residents of an Aug. 30 public hearing on proposed police and fire tax assessments. But the letter did not state this year's tax levy for police and fire or specify the proposed millage rates for next year.

Canton Township voters approved last year a special assessment millage up to 10 mills for police and fire services. The Headlee tax limitation amendment does not affect already approved special assessment millages.

Under Finance Director Mike Gorman's proposal, the fire millage would stay at this year's level — 1¼ mills ($1.25 per $1,000 assessed property valuation.)

But the police millage would double in order to maintain this year's level of services and to finance the salaries of 12 additional patrol officers.

Last year, $260,000 was taken from township surplus funds to supplement the two mills levied for police. Gorman expects surplus funds will total $500,000 to $700,000 by the end of the 1979 fiscal year. He has recommended that the surplus monies remain in a contingency fund in 1980.

The police department's proposed 1980 budget is set at $1.27 million. This year's budget was set at $788,000.

Warrant issued for driver

Police have obtained a warrant for the arrest of a Berkley truck driver in connection with a May traffic accident that has left a 26-year-old motorcyclist in a coma.

Canton police say William Kaiser, 32, will be charged with felonious driving in the incident in which he allegedly drove his semi-truck through a red light at Capton Center and Michigan.

According to police, Kaiser's truck hit Thomas Wilhelm, of Westland, as he was driving a motorcycle on northbound Canton Center.

Wilhelm has been in a coma since the May accident.

Kaiser, who was driving the truck on westbound Michigan, could face a two-year jail sentence if convicted of the felony charge.

According to police, Kaiser has promised to present himself for arrest.

SEMCOG report says

Subsidized housing sufficient

By DARLENE STINSON

A SEMCOG report on low-income housing goals could prevent the construction of additional low-income apartments in Canton during the next three years, according to township grant coordinator Terry Carroll.

The report states that Canton has 3.6 times the number of low-income single-family homes and four times the number of low-income apartment units that a community of its size and population should possess, Carroll said.

The report also says that no low-income units should be built in Canton as part of SEMCOG's three-year goals for regional subsidized housing.

Carroll believes that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) will not approve mortgage guarantees or subsidized rents for proposed low-income units in Canton if the report is accepted by HUD and the general assembly of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

CARROLL PRESENTED the report Tuesday night as township board members considered signing a cooperative agreement with Wayne County for the distribution of federal block grants funds.

The township already has received $200,000 in block grant funds and expects to receive an additional $240,000 over the next two years.

The funds have been earmarked for the conversion into an industrial park of Dye Brothers subdivision at Michigan and Sheldon.

Township officials feared that continued participation in the federal grant program could carry strings mandating constructional of additional low-income units.

Wayne County, which distributes the grants for communities with less than 50,000 persons, has designated a site on Haggerty south of Cherry Hill as a possible location for a low-income apartment units.

The site was selected as part of the county's areawide housing opportunity plan. The plan is required by HUD as a condition of receiving federal block grants.

At Tuesday's meeting, board members indicated a willingness to forego participation in the program if it meant that additional low-income units would be constructed in Canton.

Last spring, township officials learned that HUD had approved subsidized rents for an apartment complex already under construction near Joy and Sheldon. Rent subsidies had also been approved for a proposed complex near the Pickwick subdivision.

The township board has denied site plans for the Pickwick project. But anger over low-income housing continues to run high.

CARROLL REASSURED board members Tuesday night that the SEMCOG report would supersede Wayne County's plan for federally assisted housing.

He said that signing the cooperative agreement with Wayne County for the distribution of federal block grants should have no influence on future construction of low-income units. He said the agreement would increase Canton's opportunity to review proposals for subsidized housing.

According to Carroll, HUD and the SEMCOG general assembly have indicated that they would approve the report which was formulated by a SEMCOG committee.

Signing of the agreement was authorized by a 5-2 vote of the board with Supervisor Noel Culbert and Trustee Robert Greenstein dissenting.

Carroll said the SEMCOG report considers the number of low-income units already contained in a community for the first time.

He said the report could equalize the number of low-income units contained in suburban communities.

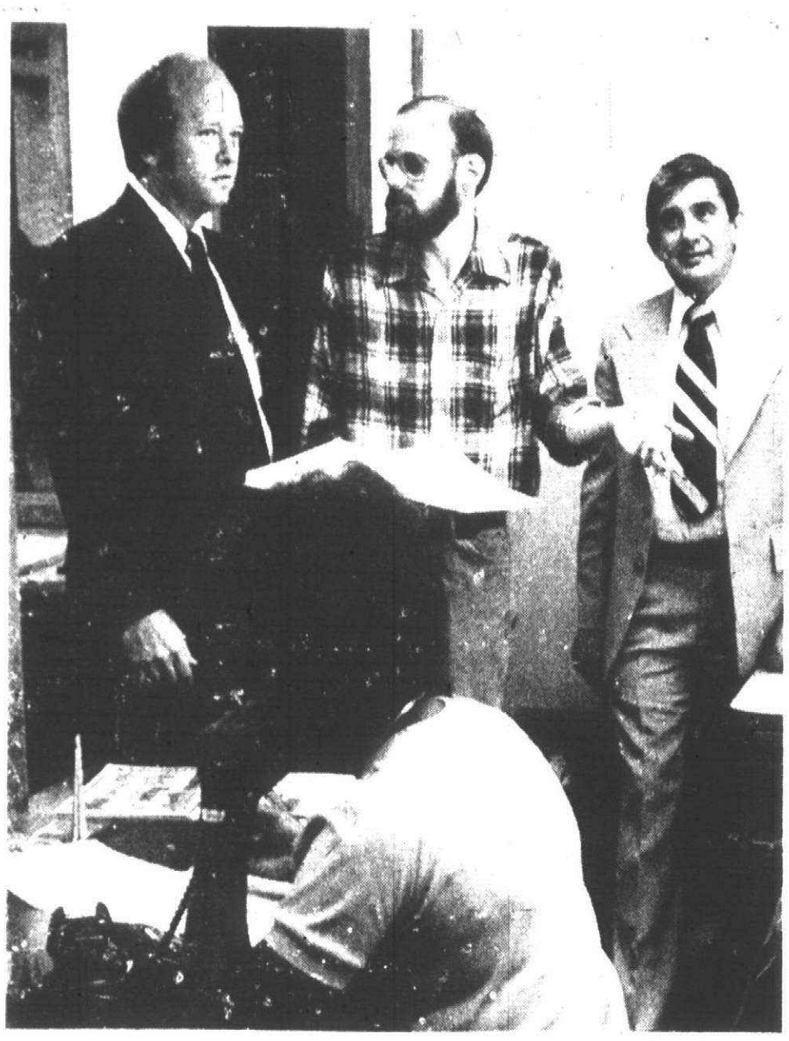
Insurance hike?

A change in the way insurance companies may charge premiums for automobile insurance may be in the making. The change, based on alleged age discrimination: would prevent firms from charging rates to younger driver who statistically are said to be higher risks. The results will be lower rates for younger drivers and higher rates for all others. See the report on Page 6A.



Growth Works Aid

A grant check recently was presented by the Plymouth Community Fund to Growth Works to help the human needs organization serve the Plymouth community. The grant will be used for operating funds and for Growth Works' mortgage debt retirement. The check represents an addition to the yearly support to Growth Works from the people of Plymouth through the Plymouth Community Fund. After presenting the check, Eugene Kornegay (left), Fund Board President, is taken on a tour of Growth Works to see building renovations completed and in progress by Scott Levely (center), administrative director, and Leonard Evans of Ford Motor Co. who is chairman of the Growth Works Board. REACT is selling flags for motorists

Motorists can signal a need for help to passing CB-equipped vehicles with a simple, highly visible flag available through the Plymouth Area REACT Team.

REACT Team members will be selling the flags, beginning today during the four days of the Plymouth Community Fall Festival at the REACT booth on Main Street.

With one in eight vehicles now able to call for assistance to REACT volunteers who monitor CB Emergency Channel 9, use of this flag can bring help quickly.

The REACT member who receives the call on the base station CB radio, uses the telephone to notify the police, highway patrol, auto club, fire department or other service.

CB'ers who see the flag are requesed to call REACT on Channel 9 and report the location and description of the vehicle in distress.

Night-time drivers will like the advantage of not having to open their car door to strangers. Police advise that the safest place for a stranded motorist is in their locked car.

REACT members advise that if someone should stop to lend a hand, don't be afraid to ask for identification before opening the door. If a motorist is unsure, they should wait for the police to arrive.

The Plymouth Area REACT Team members wear highly visible caps and jackets and will identify themselves immediately immediately to put the motorist at ease.

These flags for stranded motorists will be sold during the Plymouth Fall Festival by REACT.

75 county schools closed

A total of 75 school buildings have been closed in Wayne County since the fall of 1975.

Twelve of these schools have been torn down, seven have been sold and 13 are boarded up and standing idle.

The closings were reported in a survey taken this summer by Dr. Leonard S. Demak, general education consultant for the Wayne County Intermediate School District. Dr. Demak said all of the closings were reported by 16 of the 36 local school districts in the county.

Detroit had the largest number with 24 schools closed, Livonia closed 13 and Dearborn closed eight.

THE INCREDIBLE MACHINE CONTEST

Remember Rube Goldberg and his humorous and whimsical machines?

Rube, an artist, would draw an incredible maze of wheels, gears, nuts, drive shafts, bolts, springs etc., that would indicate a frivilous purpose. Such as; drop a golf ball in a hole, see it drop on a lever that would flip it unto a conveyor belt where it would be moved through perhaps forty procedures before it would emerge as a freshly washed golf ball. You have the idea? A machine that is pure fun and imagination and does, little, or nothing or maybe something.

How would you like to build such a machine?

The Livonia Mall Merchants Association is sponsoring such a contest with cash prizes being awarded for the five machines that are judged best on the basis of safety, originality and craftsmanship.

To become an "Incredible Machine" contestant see rules of eligibility on reverse side and fill out the accompanying entrance form.

The "INCREDIBLE MACHINE" Contest

The rules for entry follow:
1. Persons of any age are eligible.
2. Your machine must run by self-contained power such as water, gravity, or batteries. No open flames, flammable fuels or animal power will be permitted. No electrical outlets will be available for any machine.
3. Overall dimensions may not exceed 6x6x6 ft.
4. All entries requiring attendants must provide them or become ineligible for judging.
5. A moisture-proof covering must be provided beneath the machine to protect the mall floor from oil, water or other possible damage. Entries not in compliance will be ineligible.
6. Deadline for entries is September 15, 1979. An entry fee of $5.00 (Five Dollars)* is required to guarantee display space for your entry. Your entry fee will be refunded if available display space is filled.
7. Contestants should enter the Livonia Mall at the "H" entrance, 9:30 p.m., Wednesday, October 17, 1979. Contestants will remove their "Incredible Machines" after 5:30 p.m., Sunday, October 21. Entries not picked up Sunday will be discarded.
8. Judging will be conducted at 3 p.m., Sunday, October 21, 1979. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of originality, craftsmanship and safety.
9. The following prizes will be awarded:

1st Prize - $500.00
2nd Prize - $300.00
1st Honorable Mention - $100.00
2nd Honorable Mention - $50.00

Policeman's day is mix of dull and dangerous

Subject: Dave Le Blanc, 27 years old. Married, with two-year-old daughter. Height: 5 feet 10 inches. Weight: 170 pounds. Would like to gain ten. Leisure time activities include racquetball, softball and lifting weights.

Profession: Canton police officer.

It is a day like any other working day for Patrolman Le Blanc. Maybe nothing important will happen. Maybe all hell will break loose. He never knows.

Le Blanc reports into the police station on Geddes Road. As he gets ready to begin his duties, a woman comes in and asks for a vehicle inspection so that she can get a title for her car.

Le Blanc goes out to inspect the car and finds that the woman doesn't have the necessary forms for him to complete the inspection. He advises her to go back to the Secretary of State's office to get the proper forms.

Today, Le Blanc will be doing road work. He calibrates the radar gun (which is used to clock speeders) with two tuning forks. He gathers the equipment he will take with him: a first aid box, flares, blanket, forms, ammunition, ordinance book, E-Z key to open car doors and extra report forms.

As he is leaving, Le Blanc stops to answer the phone. It is a woman who wants a letter stating she has no criminal record. Le Blanc agrees to check the request out and follow through with a letter.

Le BLANC begins to do what he spends a large share of his time doing — cruising around the township. He will use the radar gun to check speeders, answer calls dispatched from the station and keep an eye out for problems. Today he has someone to talk to. Usually he makes his patrol alone. Canton does not have enough police officers to pair them very often.

Working alone is a confidence builder. You only have to worry about complacency. When I'm alone, there is only one person to worry about. And sometimes partners disagree.

Le Blanc has his radar gun trained on a car, which is going over the speed limit. He calls the station to inform the dispatcher of the stop and pulls the car over. He gets out and obtains the vehicle registration and license from the speeder. Le Blanc calls in the information to the station, which checks on outstanding warrants and to see if the license is in force. He writes up a ticket while he waits for the information callback from the station.

When the station notifies Le Blanc that there is no criminal record on the speeder, he gives her one copy of the ticket and retains three copies. One goes to the police department, two go to district court. He logs the activity.

It's a myth that there is a quota for speeding tickets. No set amount is required. I prefer to travel along rather than being stationary — it's more effective. I try for visibility more than writing a lot of tickets.

While driving, Le Blanc receives constant updates on activity relevant to his job. A call comes through that a man has who has been involved in a family disturbance escaped from DeHoCo (Detroit House of Corrections in nearby Plymouth Township). Le Blanc knows where he generally hangs out.

There are more family disputes now that Canton has grown. When there's family trouble and you're alone, you have no choice — you've got to enter. Sometimes an officer who has to go alone on family disputes will arrest the man and then the woman attacks. You try to separate them and talk to the person who called the police first. That's the one who's the most willing to talk.

ONE OF Le Blanc's daytime duties is to drive through the Canton subdivisions and make sure all is well.

I check the homes of vacationers during the day. At night, I might be mistaken for a burglar. Often (homeowners) leave garage doors open at night, which is an open invitation for crime.

A call comes in, to which Le Blanc responds. A man reports that his lawnmover was stolen. His garage door had been left open. The man, as Le Blanc takes down the information, admits it was his fault.

Because he is on the day shift, there seems to be no problem with what Le Blanc calls "my biggest headache" — drunk drivers. He is one of the eight officers in the department certified to operate a breathalyzer. Certification requires a 40-hour course.

Recently there seem to be a lot of accidents of non-drinking types. It seems like drivers are not paying attention to what they are doing. They're always in a hurry and there are more personal injury accidents. They're just pulling into traffic without looking. I expect another fatality soon. Trouble seems to come in threes.

The worst intersection, according to Le Blanc, is Michigan and Sheldon. The worst stretch of road is Ford Road from I-275 west to just past Sheldon. The worst times are 6-8 a.m. and 3-6:30 p.m.

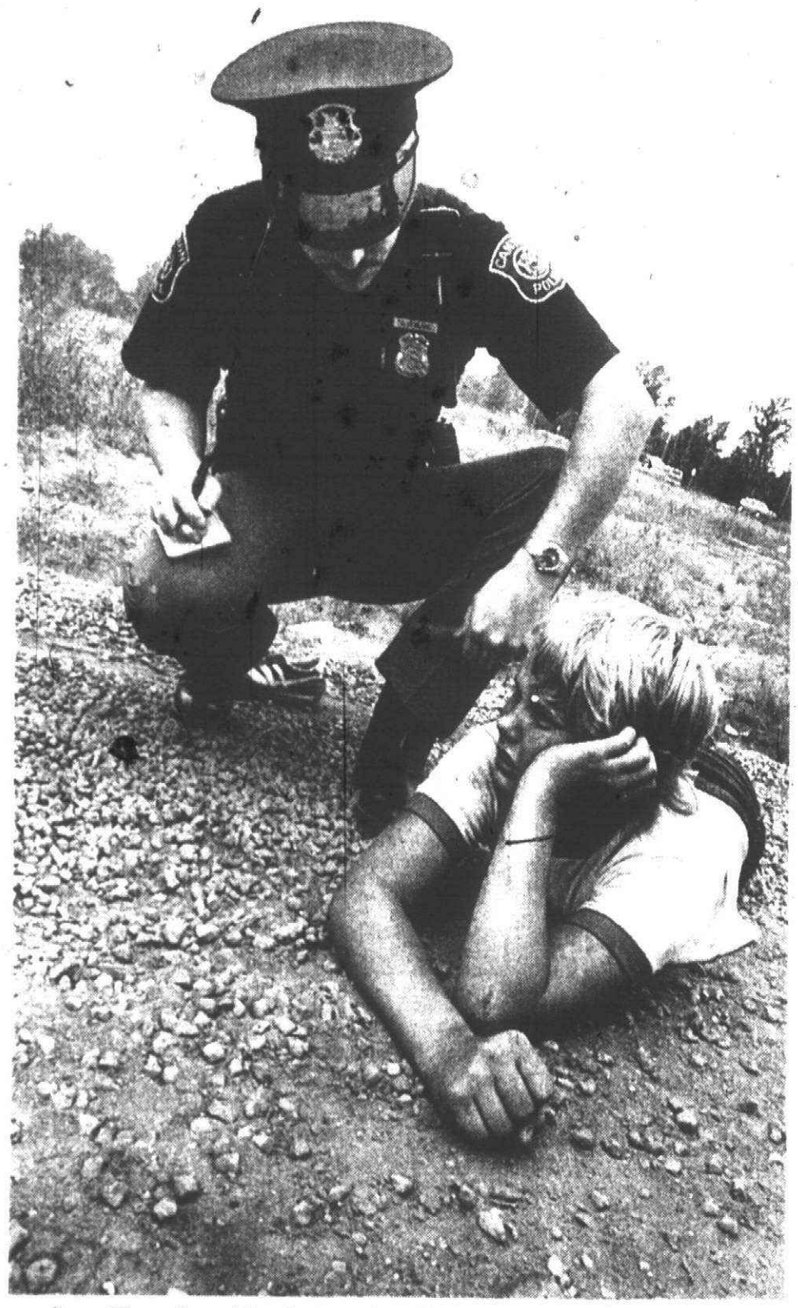
Le Blanc talks to a woman who was clocked driving over the speed limit before giving her a ticket.



Greg Wyryekowski grimaces in pain as Le Blanc gathers information before the fire department's emergency rescue unit arrives.

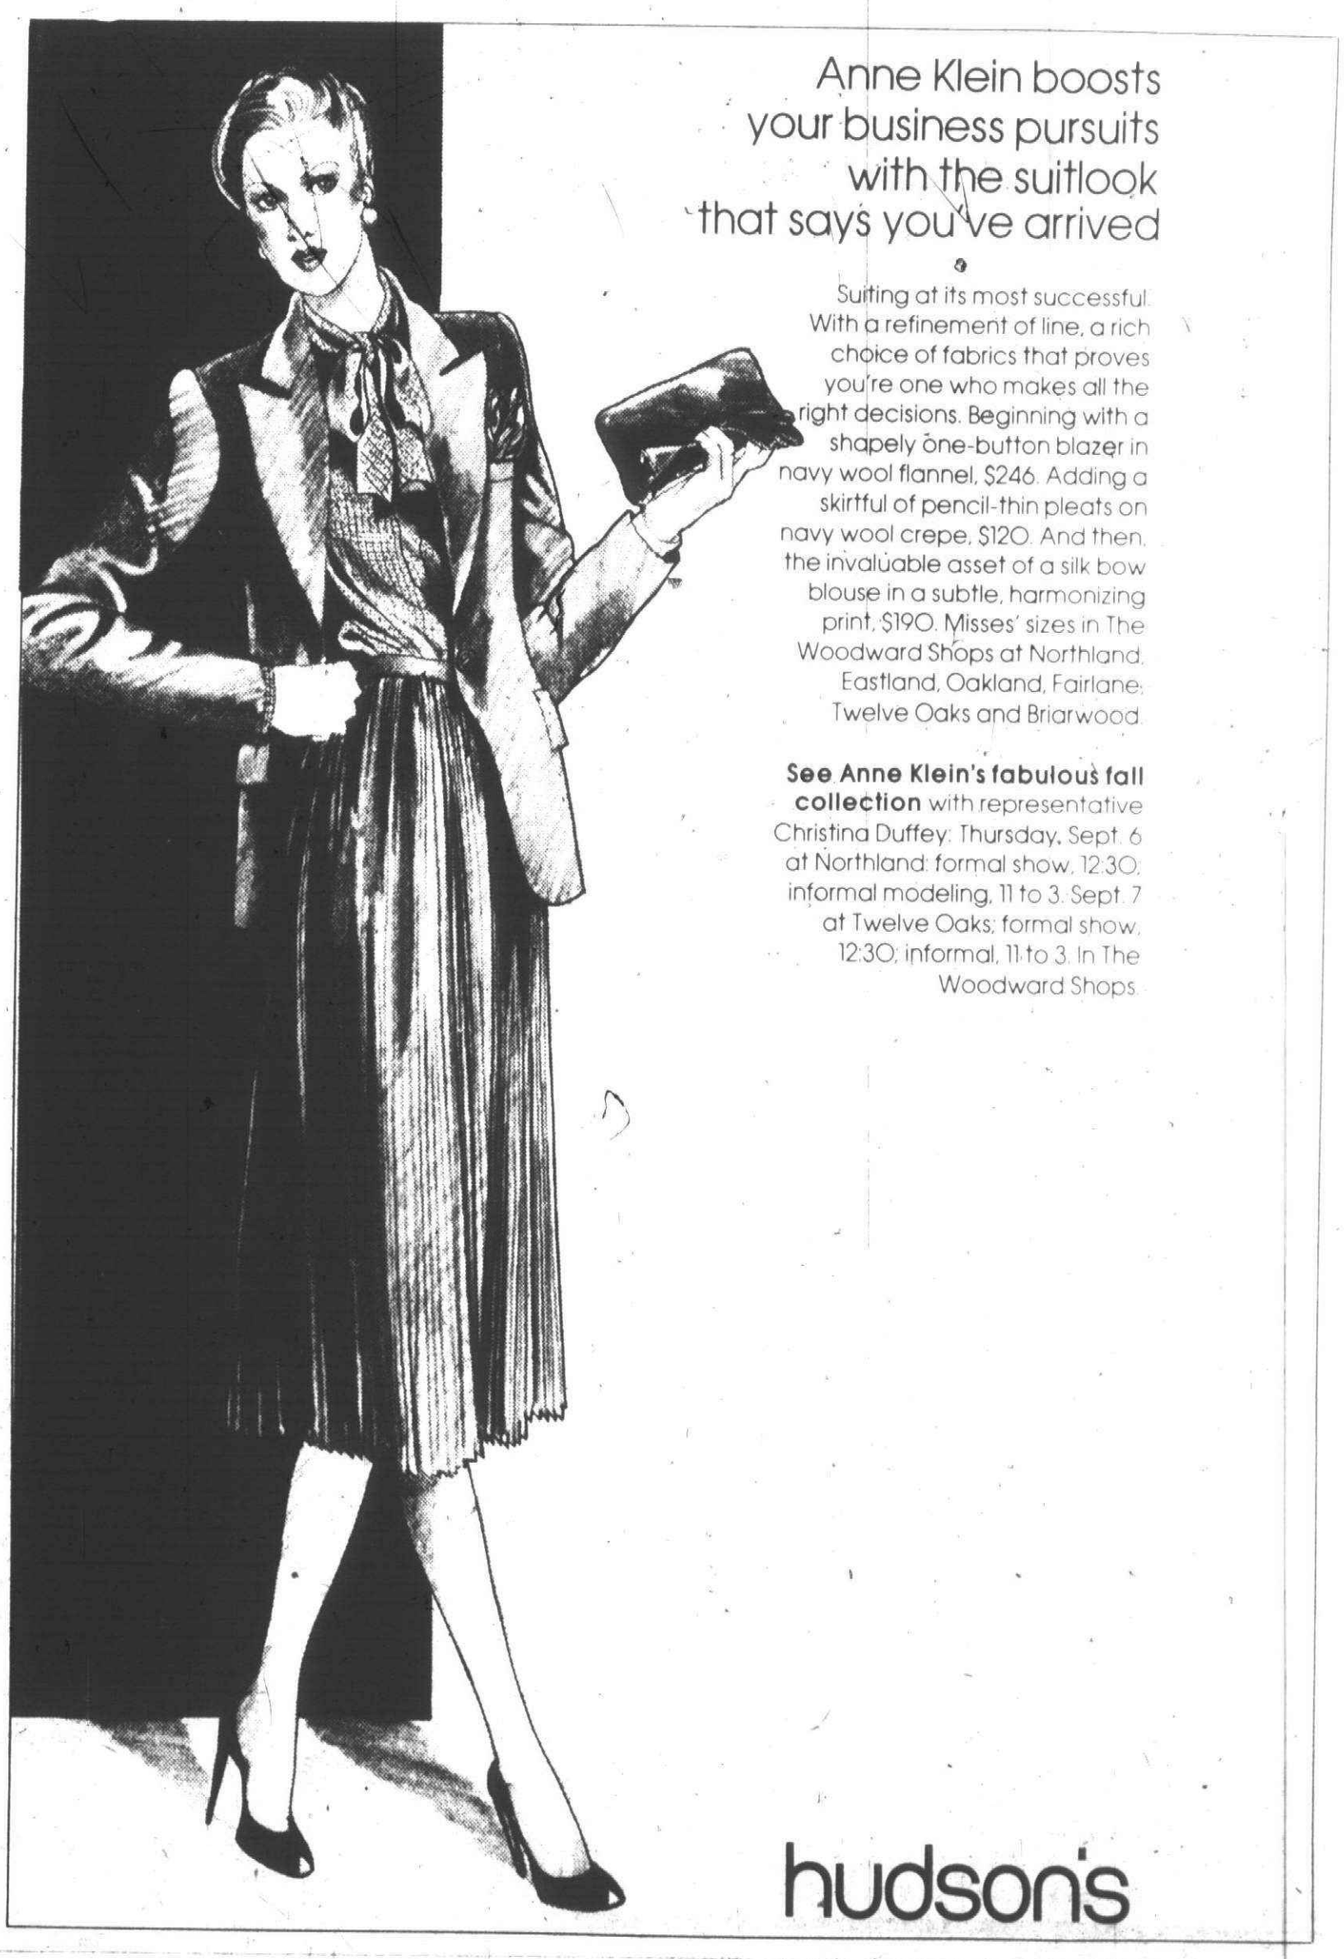
William Stewart tells Le Blanc his lawn mower was stolen because of his mistake — an open garage door.



Ratification vote set on contract

Formal ratification of a new three-year contract by Wayne-Westland's 1,100 teachers should come within the next week, according to Wayne Westland Education Association officials.

All teachers were in class Tuesday, and students reported Wednesday.

"We don't anticipate any difficulties in ratification, based on the strong vote of the teachers," said Bob Kowalczyk of the WWEA negotiating team. He was referring to a vote taken at a meeting of the teachers on Aug. 20, at which terms of the new contract were explained.

The 600 teachers at the meeting approved the contract unanimously, said Kowalczyk. The contract was recommended for approval by the negotiating team and by the WWEA executive board.

Formal voting cannot be held until teachers have had copies of the new contract in their hands for 48 hours for study. Copies are being run off in the WWEA headquarters in Wayne, and should be ready some time this week.

Under the new contract, teachers won't receive a pay raise during the 1979-80 school year. In the second year, they will receive a raise of 2 percent and, in the third year, 2.5 percent.

Cost of living allowances (COLA), will be set at a maximum increase of 8 percent the first year, and a minimum of 5 percent. The maximum will be 7 percent and the minimum 5 in the second year; and 6 and 4 percent are the maximum and minimum figures for the third year.

According to negotiators, figures will range from 18.5 percent to 25.5 percent, depending on the cost of livig during the 1979-82 period.

In addition, teachers won fringe benefits which include optical insurance on a 50-50 cost shared basis, and a prepaid legal services plan for certain types of services including house closings and wills.

Changes will be made in "mainstreaming" of special education students, which calls for counting one special education pupil as two in determining class size. Teachers also will receive more training in dealing with these students.

A new program will allow teachers who have lost classes because of school closings to bid on positions in other schools. This new provision will be based on seniority.

Further efforts to provide teaching positions include encouraging teachers to take early retirement and allowing "general purpose leaves" for up to one year.

Previously, leaves of absence were granted only for study or for child care.

Teachers under Temporary Indefinite Contracts, replacing teachers on leave of absence, can now be laid off with a two-week notice.

The new contract was hammered out in negotiations which took place over a week's period at Shanty Creek lodge, near Grayling.

Geake blasts water increases

While speaking at a public hearing called by the Detroit City Council, state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, blasted the Detroit Water Board for increasing utility rates by 16 percent for municipalities in his district.

Another proposed increase of 38 percent is expected in January 1980.

Geake is state senator for the 14th District which includes the cities of Plymouth, Livonia, Northville and the townships of Plymouth and Northville.

"The main reason I object to such an outlandish increase is because I feel it is the result of poor management at the Detroit Water Board. I don't feel my constituents or anyone else should be punished by being charged higher rates because of the mismanagement at the Detroit Water Board."

As an example, Geake said the Detroiit Water and Sewar Department has failed to meet federal and state requirements for hiring and training personnel as well as regulations on the operation and maintenance of their programs.

Reports state that current employees are not properly trained, he said, and that the facility is understaffed, causing a high rate of employment turnover.

Meanwhile, outside consultants have been hired to re-design the plant and to operate it, again adding to management costs.

Maintenance also has been lacking, Geake added, causing further inefficiency. Court orders demanding that vacuum filters and incinerators be repaired were ignored as was the order to renovate, install and maintain the flow monitoring, he said.

"Finally the Detroit Water and Sewage Department has all but ignored the Lake County idea of sludge disposal, which would use sludge waste from Detroit's sewage treatment plant to reform the soil so it would grow a good pulpwood crop.

"Instead, Detroit chooses to use enormous amounts of natural gas to burn the sludge in its incinerators while the organic value of the material goes up in smoke.

"I recognize we are dealing with an extremely complex problem. There are federal and state requirements to be met as well as orders from the court.

"I do not believe, however, money has been spent efficiently or effectively or that there has been an improvement in admin istrative and management techniques.

"Money is being wasted," Geake concluded, "and the consumer is picking up the tab."

Business Briefs

Lynch advances at Hydra-matic

John T. Lynch of Plymouth has been appointed director of sales and public relations by Hydra-matic Division of General Motors in Ypsilanti.

A native of Detroit, Lynch graduated from the University of Detroit with a BS degree in economics and business administration and served in the United States Air Force in 1951-52.

In 1953 he joined the sales engineering staff of General Motors and in 1966 was named sales promotion manager. He was named supervisor of public relations and employee communications a year later and became director of public relations in 1969 — the position held prior to his present assignment.

Active in community affairs, Lynch is a member of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce, a member of the board of directors of Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan, Michigan United Way, Plymouth Community Fund, and of the Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce.

Lynch is a member of the 1979-80 campaign cabinet for Washtenaw United Way and a member of the capital advisory committee for the Wolverine Council Boy Scouts of America.

Lynch also is a member of the President's Advisory Council of Cleary College in Ypslilanti, of the Eastern Michigan University Huron Club, Rotary Club of Ypsilanti, Law Enforcement and Industrial Association of Washtenaw County, Detroit Free Press Club, Washtenaw Country Club, Ostsego Ski Club of Gaylord, and Camp Newton of Grand Marais.

KASPZYK APPOINTED

Donald S. Kaspzyk of Plymouth has been appointed a administrative officer in the general services division of National Bank of Detroit.

As manager of trust court accounting, Kaspzyk oversees the bank's inventories and accounting operations for estates, trusts and guardianships under the jurisdiction of the Michigan Probate Court.

He has held a number of managerial positions in the administration and accounting control sections of the trust operations department during his 20 years at NBD. Kaspzyk holds a BS degree in business administration fom Wayne State University and is a member of the Knights of Columbus.

AVIS ON BOARD

Chuck Avis from the Wayside and Pick 'O Wick shops has been selected by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors to fill an unexpired term on the board.

Avis will be filling the spot which became vacant upon the resignation of Kirk Lorenz for personal reasons. Avis has agreed to serve as program chairman for the coming year.

New Chamber members during the past month include: Mary Lou Guilbault of Caldwell-Reinhart Real Estate: 218 S. Main; Robert Fox of Brass Ring Productions of 496 W. Ann Arbor Trail; Glenn Haut of Spartan Stores, Inc. of 9075 Haggerty; and Kal Jabara of 1400 Woodland Place.

Ellen Webb of Busy Bee Crafts is the new co-chairwoman of the retail executive committee — representing merchants along Ann Arbor Road.

A new business to Plymouth is the Lawson's Party Store at 885 Penniman Avenue at Harvey. Businesses which have moved are: Blue Jeans Station to 345 N. Main, and Audette's Office Equipment to 1025 W. Ann Arbor Road.

State lawmakers formulate automobile insurance changes

By TOM LONERGAN

The use of age, sex and marital status, according to one analysis, has led to young, single male drivers paying twice as much for car insurance than females and males over 25.

It's against the law to drive without car insurance in Michigan. Yet coverage is not available to all drivers at affordable rates.

Proposed changes in the insurance system were the subject of a panel discussion last week in Westland among western suburban area insurance agents. The meeting, sponsored by State Rep. Robert Law, R-Livonia, featured a panel of insurance representatives, State Rep. James Hadden, R-Adrian, and a spokesman from the major group pushing for insurance reform, the statewide Coaltion Against Redlining.

At issue are rates paid by younger versus older drivers, rates paid by men compared to single women, and rates paid by Detroiters and suburbanites versus outstate drivers.

The inconsistencies led the Michigan Supreme Court in June 1978 to order the state legislature to make major changes in auto insurance laws before the end of this year. How "major" those changes will be is shaping up as one of the primary issues facing state lawmakers upon their return to Lansing Sept. 18.

EARLIER THIS summer, both the House and state Senate passed "essential insurance" bills covering home and auto insurance.

The bills, which are headed for a joint legislative conference committee, would:

- Restrict insurance companies from using age, sex and marital status as rate determining criteria.
- Reduce the number of rating territories insurance companies carve the state into and limit the gap between urban and rural auto rates.
- Guarantee insurance availability for virtually all licensed drivers except those convicted of drunk driving or other serious traffic offenses.
- Provide a hearing mechanism for consumers to challenge auto rates or placement in a certain risk category.

The changes would reduce rates for Detroit residents as much as 22 percent in some areas of the city, and would likely reduce rates for young male drivers statewide.

Suburban areas would average a 3 to 5 percent increase in rates.

The only suburban area which would get a break from the proposed changes, according to a packet of material distributed by Law, is the Westland area, where rates could go down 3 percent.

Under the present rating territory structure, Detroit residents pay twice as much annually (nearly $500) for car insurance as Upper Peninsula residents. Suburban residents pay 31 percent more than UP residents but less than Detroit residents.

The legislative bills would change the way insurance companies determine drivers as risks by eliminating the use of age, sex and marital status with controllable factors — driving records, type of car, miles driven and other criteria.

INSURANCE agents at last week's meeting were skeptical of the pending changes, particularly what effect insuring all drivers will have on existing rates. That factor and increases in car repair and parts costs will increase the cost of insurance, they said.

The reforms intend to drastically reduce the size of the Michigan Automobile Insurance Placement Facility, commonly called the "assigned risk" pool, which now has 250,000 drivers who pay auto rates twice as high as those buying insurance on the voluntary market.

MOST DRIVERS in the assigned risk pool shouldn't be there, according to Scott Shrager, of the Statewide Coalition Against Redlining.

Shrager said half of those dumped in the assigned risk pool by insurance companies have "nothing more serious than a speeding ticket" and one-third had no tickets or accidents in a three-year period.

One speeding ticket or minor accident could get a young male driver or divorced female driver labled "high risk." Shrager said a "disproportionate number" of young male drivers make up the assigned risk pool.

Reduction of the pool would do precisely what the insurance companies say they want, said Shrager — save the safe driver from paying exorbitantly high rates.

"Assigned risk is essentially a post office," Shrager said. The few companies that insure assigned pool drivers make it "very difficult to get a claim resolved," he said. Drivers considered high risks wait longer to obtain much more expensive policies.

As a result, 252,000 vehicles statewide are operated without insurance, according to a state study. One of every seven vehicles in Detroit is without required insurance.

LWV invites area women

An open invitation has been extended to all interested women in the Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi area to attend an informal meeting about the League of Women Voters.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 12, in Bird Elementary School at the northwest corner of Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth.

Nancy White, LWV president, explained plans for the meeting:

"Presently there are 45 local leagues in Michigan, all of which schedule regular meetings for their memberships on such topics as natural resources, education, human resources, financing government services in Michigan, and a variety of local government problems and issues.

"Activities for the league are divided into two distinct categories: voter service involving questioning of candidates; sponsorship of public forums, and distribution of voter guides and the study of vital issues followed by recommendations based upon the consensus of the membership's opinion.

"At present, our local league has 95 members. The nice thing about the league is that you can give as much or as little time as you want to give. If you're working or have limited time, you still can get a lot out of a League membership."

All facets of the league will be explained by various committee heads at the meeting.

I'd advise people to leave earlier for work and slow down.

THE CONVERSATION turns to other potential situations. Bike riders — not just automobile drivers — get in accidents too.

Bikes and their riders must be on the same side of the road as the traffic flows. Ugh. The bike and car must go in the same direction on the same side of the road. Not against traffic.

Ironically, the next call is about a bike accident at Lilley and Ford. Le Blanc turns on the siren and lights and heads for the intersection.

He arrives at the scene, with two backup cars following shortly afterward to control the traffic and crowd. The victim is ten-year-old Greg Wyryekowski, who collided with a car while riding his bike. He is injured. The ambulence arrives.

My responsibility is to gather information after applying minor first aid. I find out if the victem has his wits about him. Priority one is injured person or persons. The second priority is the traffic and crowd. I try to get all the information possible before the EMS crew transports the victim. I won't interfere with their job and will call them later to get more information if necessary.

When the accident has been dealt with, Le Blanc takes to the road again. Things are quiet for a time.

HE TALKS about his feelings towards police work. He was one of the original reserve officers in Canton.

I missed the draft. I had a number of 205 and they stopped at 200 that year. I became a cop because some friends were, and decided I liked the work. I used to work for Chrysler and knew that a future was not there.

I couldn't stay forever.

Plymouth — Past & Present

Industrialist turned shepherd

By Sam Hudson

(Part II)

Clarence Moore, who raises sheep as a pasttime on a seven-acre plot back of his home only a few blocks from Kellogg Park, has a 30-foot wide driveway leading from Main Street into his sheep barn.

"That's my feed entrance."

The sheep use the barn only when the weather gets really bad. They are usually out in the field, even in winter.

"You should see them get around in the snow," Moore says.

SHEEP ARE FOND of weeds and underbrush not relished by horses, cattle or swine. They help keep fence rows clean.

Sheep eat less harvested grains than any other class of livestock. But Moore supplements their usual forage with oats, wheat or barley, especially during lambing season.

His sheep are "full clean-faced" Montadales. Moore says the breed was developed in America from a mixture of North Country Cheviots and Columb. sheep.

The cheviot, a hardy, white-faced, hornless variety was developed in Scotland and Northern England. It has no wool on its head and ears, giving it an attractive and alert appearance.

The Columbia breed, larger than the Cheviot, has wool on its face, often covering its eyes. The Montadale sheep has the best characteristics of both.

Moore shears the sheep in March with the aid of a man who comes to help him. He sells the wool a year ahead of time. For the past several years he has been selling his output to the Studio of Ellice, on West Ann Arbor Road. Ellice cleans, cards, and uses the wool on looms.

Moore averages about 10 lambs a year from his ewes. Since 1945 he has raised about 350 sheep on his farm within a city.

MOORE WAS born, of Scot/Irish parentage on Sept. 25 1895, in Newton, a small town in the northwest corner of New Jersey.

"Newton is in the mountains," he says. "From my father's farm you could see 13 mountain peaks. I loved it."

His father owned a full section of land, 640 acres. They milked 80 cows, and had six teams of horses operating during the plowing season, and four tenant houses on the property.

Clarence's mother cooked not only for the family, but for all of the hired help.

One day, Moore's father, who never had a day's illness before, caught the flu. "He was never the same man after that," says Clarence.

Moore was then in high school. His father asked him to stay home a week to direct the workers on the farm. One week dragged into another. His father never really recovered, and Clarence never finished high school.

He stayed on the farm until 1922. Meantime, he married and had two children. His wife and both children died, within five week's time, during the terrible influenza epidemic that ravaged the U.S. in 1918 and 1919, causing 500,000 deaths.

When he left the farm, Moore spent two years on the West Coast. In 1924, he returned to Newton. He and a brother established a wholesale and retail ice business. In 1928, they opened a garage and sold Dodge cars.

Moore re-married in 1926. He and his wife, Lula Mae Aspell, have two grown children, Helen and Dick.

CLARENCE MOORE'S introduction to Plymouth came in 1932 when he arrived here with Albert Curry, a cousin of his wife.

Moore and Curry became partners in the Plymouth Stamping Co. which they established in the old Markham air rifle building. They rented the first two floors from the Daisy Manufacturing Co. which then owned the structure.

Curry had experience making stampings, but Clarence Moore had never worked in a factory. He was mechanically inclined, however, and as a boy loved to tinker with engines.

"There never was a Model-T I couldn't fix."

When Curry died, Moore continued to run the company. In 1952, he moved the firm to a new building on Ann Arbor Road, where it is still flourishing.

When Moore retired in 1963, at age 68, the business was taken over by his distant relatives, Elvin and Ralph Taylor. Elvin Taylor now owns the firm.

Although Moore retired from the stampings business 16 years ago, those who know him will tell you that he never stopped working.

For six years, prior to and after the removal of the Christian Science Church from Main Street to Ann Arbor Trail, Moore put in many hours a week as chairman of the church's building committee.

He negotiated the sale of the old church building to the city, which razed the structure and used the land when the new city hall was built.

FROM 1970 to 1973, Moore was chairman of the finance committee of the Plymouth Historical Society. That was during the period when the society's new museum was under construction.

For 13 months, Moore worked 40 hours a week at the museum on a volunteer bases. He was instrumental in building the attractive "store-front" settings which line the "street" in the museum.

Moore has been a member of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club for 42 years and was president of the club in 1959. The Kiwanis Club's champion fruitcake seller, he has sold as many as 1,593 cakes in one year, as part of the organization's fund-raising campaign.

And he continues to work on his farm-within-the-city, planting, pruning, mowing, mending fences, feeding and caring for his sheep.

"My father used to tell me that hard work kills no one," Clarence Moore says. "But worry will."

SC offers medical aide courses

A series of three courses for medical doctor assistants will begin Sept. 8 at Schoolcraft College.

The program is co-sponsored by the Western Wayne County Medical Assistant Society, in co-operation with the state branch of the American Association of Medical Assistants.

The anatomy and physiology course will begin Saturday and labratory procedures, Oct. 13. Both courses will meet six Saturday mornings from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Clinical procedures, X-ray and EKG will be presented from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. March 8 and April 12.

The programs are designed for the working medical assistant as preparation for the Certified Medical Assistant examination.

All sessions will meet in the Forum Building Theater. Individuals may preregister by calling the Schoolcraft continuing education office, 591-6400, ext. 404.

The college is at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

Land sale effects water rates

The city of Plymouth has accepted an offer to buy its well site property on Beck Road in Plymouth Township.

Steps now will be taken to wrap up the deal and sign a land contract, which is expected to happen in about 45 days.

In other business Monday night the Plymouth City Commission raised water rates as announced previously, established priorities for a grant application, approved sewer examination bids, and declared necessity for sidewalks along Sheldon Road.

THE WELL SITE was advertised for sale by the city and the lone bidder was Crawford, Etter and Associates of Southfield.

The firm offered to purchase the 40 some acres for $393,500 over a three-year period.

Under terms of the agreement, the city will receive $40,000 down with the balance paid within the three-years at 9 percent interest.

The money earned will go into the water fund — income which had been taken into account by the commission when setting the higher rates.

By a 7-0 vote the commission voted to raise the water rates to 90 cents per 1,000 gallons for the first 50,000 gallons gallons consumed and 70 cents per 1,000 gallons for all water consumed above 50,000 gallons.

The rate changes are effective Sept. 26 and will show up in the billings for the quarter beginning Oct. 1.

The rate change was approved after a study of the rate structure was made by a committee consisting of commissioners Dave Pugh and Bud Martin.

AFTER SOME discussion, the commission voted on priorities for a grant application for special needs funds available through Wayne County under the federal Community Development Act.

The grant of $32,335 was allocated as follows: $15,000 to Growth Works, Inc. for building renovations, most likely to replace the furnace; $4,000 for a flood warning system for the Tonquish Creek drain; $8,000 for sidewalk lamps in Old Village and to finish cutting the curbs at intersections in the downtown area; and $5,335 to go towards an elevator shaft for the expansion of city hall.

The commission also accepted the low bid of $37,448 from Interstate Pipe Maintenance, Inc. for cleaning, televising and grouting storm sewers in the Old Village area.

The city had budgeted some $48,000 for the work with funds from an earlier Community Development Act grant.

The commission also approved the expenditure of about $1,000 for installation of a catch basin in the central parking Lot to eliminate the ponding of water.

KEN WAY, acting city manager, announced at the meeting that Carol Groth has been appointed acting city treasurer and Charles Groth has been named acting fire chief.

Mrs. Groth, the deputy treasurer, will fill in for Way while he serves as acting city manager. Groth, a senior lieuenant, will take over for retiring Fire Chief George Schoenneman until a permanent replacement is hired.

In other action, the commission voted 7-0 to declare the necessity of a sidewalk along Sheldon Road from Ann Arbor Road to Hartsough.

The sidewalk would serve the residents of Crestwood Condominiums, Parklane, Arbor-Croft, Fred Garlings and Sunshine Acres subdivisions.

City Engineer Ken West estimates the cost of the sidewalk to be $7,500 with the city's share being $2,500.

The city now will notify property owners of the declaration of necessity and ask them to build the sidewalk within a reasonable period of time.

Some other ways of using tarot

Although the Celtic Cross is the most popular tarot spread, there are countless other methods which may be used.

The horoscope method will appeal to those who have a knowledge of astrology.

The reader chooses a tarot card to represent the querent (the person whose fate is subject of the question) and places it in the middle of the circle as the "ruler" of the horoscope.

After the querent has shuffled and cut the cards, the reader takes them and lays the first card face up in the first house, Aries; the second card in the second house, and so on until cards have been placed in each of the 12 astrological houses.

THE SIMPLEST TAROT spread of all is perhaps the "yes and no" method.

The querent chooses any five cards at random from the tarot deck, without seeing their faces, and hands them to the reader.

The reader then counts the points of the cards that are right-side up, then of those which are reversed (upside down).

If the straight-up cards total more, the answer is "yes." If the reversed cards total more, the answer is "no." If it it is tied at 3-3, then no definite answer is possible at this time on this matter; it can go either way.

Then the reader, in answering the question, can interpret the cards with cards one and two representing the past; card three, the present; and cards four and five, the future.

But still plenty for feast

Turkeys down here, up elsewhere

BY W.W. EDGAR

As Thanksgiving Day nears it is interesting to note that turkey production in the United States has reached an all time high. But, strangely, the Michigan breeders deserve no credit for it.

According to the latest figures released by the farm journals, production of the gobblers has reached the unbelievable figure of 158 million birds. This is 13 percent above last year's figures and those of 1976 when production was 146 million.

Meanwhile, Michigan production has fallen 1 percent. This is nothing alarming and there need be no fear that there will be a shortage as the feast day nears. The figures reveal that Michigan has producted 1,200, 000 birds.

It may be surprising to learn that Minnesota, with 125.1 million birds, is the top turkey producer in the land. This year's figure is up 13 percent from a year ago.

AS HE READ these figures, Lloyd Sharland, Plymouth's well known turkey farmer, smiled and pointed to a paragraph in the journal telling that on July 31 frozen turkeys hit the lofty figure of 271 million birds.

"I don't know how long they have been frozen, " he said. "They could have been frozen this year or maybe there are many of them holdovers from a year ago. That's why you see the supermarkets bins piled up with them. So, you see, even though Michigan is down, there's no reason to become alarmed.

Sharland was quick to explain e reason for the drop in Michigan's production.

"The cost of feed has soared so high it has discouraged some of the regular breeders and forced them to reduce their activity.

"I have paid $275 and up to $300 a ton for feed, and that is getting up there where there is no longer the profit in the business that there once was."

Sharland reduced his activity several years ago and now caters only to long time customers. "I decided to cut down and limit the activity out here to 800 birds. I keep them for customers who have been with us for years and 800 is all I need."

A keen student of turkeys, Sharland has followed the development of the white bird to the point where the old-time bronze bird now is seldom seen. He was a keen student in the development of the white turkey breast that it became so large the bird no longer could sit on the nest for breeding. Instead, artificial insemination was used.

Now he's interested in the latest phase of the turkey breeding industry being practiced out on the California coast.

He pointed to a column in the journal which told that electric dating is the latest thing. Computers are being used to a mate the birds. The computer mates them according to the meat on the birds and thus far the experiment has beeen up to expectations. " What next?" he smiled, and tossed his paper aside.

Reader thinks Way should be manager

Editor:

I was extremely pleased to see the article on Kenneth Way in the Aug. 27 Plymouth Observer; however, although the article gave a unique insight to Mr. Way, something was missing.

Having known Ken for nearly 30 years, I feel that you have left out two extremely important facets of his life: his professional qualifications and his absolute dedication to the promotion and growth of the city of Plymouth.

The commission has before them a man who has literally worked his way "up through the ranks" in various departments and under numerous managements. But, more importantly, Kenneth Way's 27 years of service have not been without their own distinctions.

He has held various offices in several county, state and national associations related to his position as assessor-treasurer having served as president for three of these associations. In addition, he has the distinction of being one of an elite group of men in the U.S. who are Certified Assessor Evaluators.

However, probably the greatest distinction that Ken has earned for himself is, that through continuous involvement in community affairs, he is recognized today as a man with total dedication to Plymouth and to its citizens. Ken Way is concerned that our city grow in the very best ways possible.

The mayor and the city commission certainly have the best interest of the city at heart and will attempt to give us a knowledgeable, dedicated and experienced person to fill the managerial position, but can they possibly hope to find an equally skilled person with more knowledge of Plymouth and its needs and with greater dedication to this city and its people than Ken Way?

It is my belief that the mayor and city commission will be sorely amiss if they do not sincerely consider Mr. Way for the position of city manager.

Sharing road work cost sets bad precedent

Canton Township's board of trustees has agreed to pay part of the cost of paving Haggerty between Joy and Warren Roads.

The paving is certainly a step in the right direction. Improving this important road may draw the industry that Canton wants and needs..

The problem with paving Haggerty is that Canton really shouldn't be paying for a portion of it.

Most of the cost (75 percent of $1 million) will be picked up by the Federal Aid Urban Systems Fund. Canton and the Wayne County Road Commission have each agreed to pick up the remaining cost.

Because Canton is a township, most of its roads fall under the jurisdiction of the road commission. The road commission receives funds from state gasoline and weight taxes for such services as improvement and maintenance of township roads.

A city gets its own share of the taxes without having to depend on the road commission.

Thus, Canton is paying $125,000 toward the cost of paving the road even though the county should be paying the entire local cost.

That means Canton taxpayers are paying twice to get Haggerty paved; once through the gas and weight taxes they pay and once through township property taxes.

Canton officials could insist that the road commission pick up the entire local cost, as it should, but the road would probably never get paved.

The road commission has not made many friends among the residents of the county's various townships.

Roads often stand in disrepair; when the commission finally gets around to correcting a situation, roads are closed for months for apparently minor repairs.

Road commissioners are often unresponsive to complaints. They don't have to answer to disgruntled residents — they aren't elected.

And, when townships request services to roads, the reply is usually "We don't have the money."

Perhaps the road commission doesn't have the money. It doesn't explain why cities can maintain their roads better than the county can maintain township roads. It would seem a larger network such as the county would be able to do the roads properly at a lower cost than smaller, city-run operations.

By paying for a portion of Haggerty's paving, Canton is solving a current pressing problem. But the next road project will bring the commission back with palm outstretched, figuring if the township paid once, it will pay again.

If the road commission is guilty of bad management, Canton should not condone it by helping absorb the cost. If there is really not enough money to take care of township roads decently, Canton should not allow the problem to be ignored by trying to solve it with its own money.

The Stroller

By W W EDGAR

Innocence lost at Fair

Along about this time every year when the county fairs are in progress, the Stroller is reminded that it was at the Lehigh County Fair back home in the Pennsylvania Dutch country years ago that he was forced to change his concept of life in the everyday world.

It all came about when, as a young lad, he accepted the offer of old Fritz Kessler, a neighbor, to help out at his restaurant tent in the grove of the Fair Grounds.

For the princely sum of one dollar a day, he was to help serve the folks who visited the tent to enjoy a traditional sauerkraut dinner.

When he arrived for duty the day before the Fair opened, old Fritz boosted the offer by adding another $1 a day if the Stroller would spend the night in the tent to serve as a sort of night watchman. Imagine that. Two dollars a day or $12 for the week. It was more than he could make in the factory. So, he became the night watchman in the tent.

IT SO HAPPENED that the Kessler tent was the closest dining area to the wheels of chance. And that first night all the "barkers" from those stands dropped by for their evening meal.

Up to this time, the Stroller, in all of his youthful innocence, was sure that he lived in a nice, honest, clean and upright world. But his first day at the fair changed all that.

It started when one of the "barkers" made him this offer:

"I will pay you $1 a day if you drop by my stand on the way to the restroom and come up to the counter when I call you. You will stand in the crowd and wait until you hear me yell 'Come in and try it for a dime.' Then you come in. You will win and I will give you the choice of a doll or a dollar as the prize."

Here was the chance to make an extra dollar each day and the Stroller made certain that he stopped at the barker's stand before noon the next day. Sure enough, he heard the call and up he went. And, of all things, so he thought, he won on his first try. Given his choice of prizes he, naturally, took the dollar.

By a bit of mental arithmetic, the Stroller figured that he could answer about six calls from Mother Nature during the day and that would mean six dollars each day.

Then came the shock.

The second time he stopped and heard the chant "Please come in and try it for a dime" he moved through the gathering and laid a dime on the red spot on the counter. But this time he didn't win — that is until his 10th dime was on the counter. This time he won and again was given his choice and again he took the dollar.

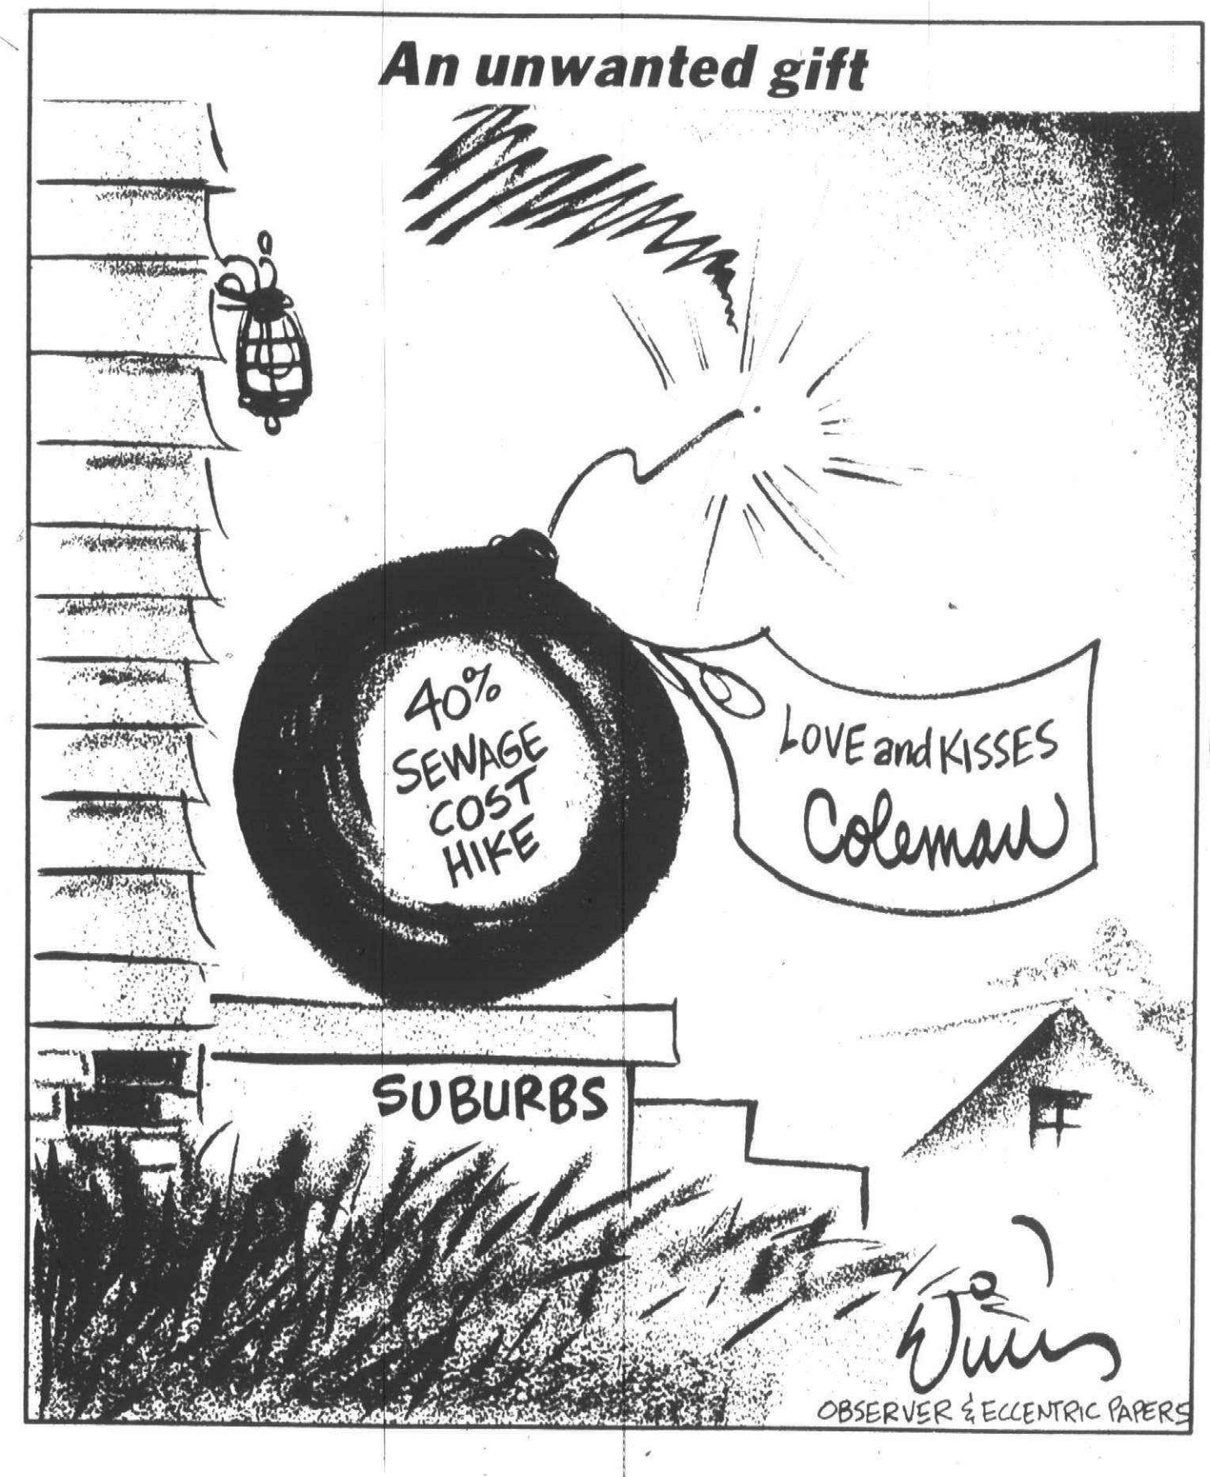
This happened on each of the trips he took.

It suddenly dawned on him that the "barker" controlled the wheel by leaning against the counter and that the entire operation was a fake or a cheat. More than that, the Stroller, hurt by the fact that he was used as a partner in the crime, vowed that he never would return. And he didn't.

Later that afternoon he learned at the harness horse race track that the false starts were planned deliberately to get the favored horse tired. When rival drivers thought the favorite was tired enough, they all came down together and the race was on. This was before the starting gate was brought on the scene.

Yes sir, that one day at the fair back home the Stroller learned that while sauerkraut dinners may be the best, the world was not all he had thought it to be.

An unwanted gift



Will teachers stand up?

Sandwiched in between the half of Sunday's football contest between the Washington Redskins and Houston Oilers, tri-county viewers had an interesting selection of viewing.

On the one channel was commentary on the upcoming professional gridiron season. On another was a news interview with Michigan Education Association President Keith Geiger.

The rating battle obviously was won by the pigskin preview.

Today, of course, many of those same persons are wondering how it is that some teachers are out on the picket line rather than in the classroom. Others are wondering just how much their taxes will increase because of the newly ratified teacher contract in their district.

GEIGER'S ATTITUDE during that interview shows that Labor Day strife will continue to plague this state's educational system.

Geiger has been a big cheese in the MEA since the early 1970s. He comes from the teaching ranks in the Livonia School District. He spends countless hours being interviewed on radio and television and, for the most part, he has the answers down pat.

But one uncomfortable subject keeps coming to the fore — Crestwood. You remember that little affair. Crestwood teachers struck. Crestwood teachers were fired. Other state teachers sat on their hands and the firings stood.

That incident was a benchmark in teacher union-school board relations throughout this state.

Geiger vows that teachers just won't allow other teachers to be fired without taking action. He reiterated that feeling again Sunday. But he also admitted that as MEA president he doesn't have the power to make it happen.

And therein lies the fallacy that is the MEA. In reality the education associations throughout the state are autonomous units. They, for the most part, bargain separate contracts which contain varying pay scales, cost-of-living clauses, class sizes and fringe benefit packages.

THE ATTITUDE among teachers is obvious. They get what they can for themselves and the heck with the educator in the next district.

Unfortunately, teachers are hampered with the philosophy that they are professionals, and professionals don't dirty their hands with picket signs unless it's absolutely necessary. Necessary doesn't include when the guy in the next district gets axed for hitting the bricks.

Geiger agrees that most teachers feel they are professionals, but denies they will ever again let their brothers and sisters down if fired.

The track record shows otherwise. A few years back when John Melchor, former Garden City Education Association president, and colleagues went off to jail, teachers again remained silent.

Melchor and his band recently were thrown out of power by fellow teachers and replaced with less militant leadership — an indication that teachers reject anything coming even close to radical action.

BUT TO a be strong, effective bargaining unit, the MEA must decide for what it will strive. If teachers choose to be autonomous, individualistic professionals, the Labor Day strife will continue.

Kids will be sitting at home when they should be in school. Parents, the taxpayers, will become even more disconcerted with the state of education in Michigan.

The next time a teacher is fired for striking, the true colors of teacher unionists will be revealed. Time will tell if Geiger is correct. I doubt it.

Regionalize the sewers

It was the same old "them versus us" last week when the Detroit City Council held a public hearing on new sewage treatment rates proposed by the Detroit Water and Sewer Department.

Business representatives joined suburban politicians in complaining that they had no chance for input when the DWSD and its consultants were working out the new rates. They complained of lack of communication, of being shut out.

And do you know what? It's always going to be like that, as long as Detroit politicians alone are in control of a regional facility that serves twice as many non-residents as residents and gets 80 percent of its money from outside its city limits.

The problem is not the DWSD director, John Kanters, as far as I can tell. Kanters is a night-and-day improvement over his haughty predecessor, Charles Scales Jr.

The problem is the governing system.

COUNCIL PRESIDENT Erma Henderson put her finger on the critical spot. Before she came onto the council, she said, there had been talk of "regionalism."

But Detroit "owns" the sewage treatment plant, she said, will continue to "own" it and will never give it up.

A good analysis but a wrong solution based on a wrong premise.

Detroit, as most readers know after these years of arguments, operates a water and sewer department which serves not only its own 1.3 million people but another three million non-residents in 70 to 100 outlying communities.

The DWSD director is an appointee of the mayor. The seven board members — four city residents and three non-residents — are appointees of the mayor and subject to removal in an instant. All employees must be, or become, city residents.

We in the outer city have no power to change it.

THE FUNDAMENTAL error Mrs. Henderson and Detroit politicians make has to do with ownership of the plant. If Detroit really had an investment in the plant, and if the suburbs didn't, then Detroit would be on sound ground in insisting on continued control.

At this point, let us consult the report of May 1, 1978 from three "masters" appointed by U.S. District Judge John Feikens, who is handling the case of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency vs the city and its DWSD.

"The Detroit sewage treatment facilities have been financed by three sources of funds. One has been grants from the United States and the State of Michigan. Another has been borrowing. The third has been charges imposed on users of the system.

"None of the evidence adduced in the hearings permits any calculation of the relative amounts of capital that have been generated by user charges imposed on various classes of users in Detroit and in the suburbs.

"It is clear, however, that suburban customers have been tied into the Detroit system for long but varying periods of time, and that suburban customers have provided substantial portions of the capital invested in the system through user charges." (Italics mine)

"All of the bonds that have been issued to generate funds for the sewage system have been revenue bonds."

The masters could have added that the federal and state funds came from taxes paid by suburbanites as well as central city taxpayers.

CLEARLY, we wouldn't be "taking away" any Detroit property by changing the way the DWSD is run.

The time has come to talk about regional government.

Not just regional cooperation. Not just sharing information. Not just public hearings. Not just a good neighbor policy.

The time has come for regional facilities to be operated by a regional government.

Frankly, I had hoped Judge Feikens would do more that way by appointing a special court administrator to run the sewage plant. Instead, Feikens appointed Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, which is like appointing the fox to guard the chicken coop and cutting a hole in the fence.

Feikens' appointment was unimaginative, even backward-looking. And today we still have the "them versus us" attitudes over sewage treatment rates.

Are you willing and able to write a column?

One of the fun parts of newspapering is column writing.

At least it is for me.

When doing a column, you start from a point of absolute freedom of topic and merrily roll along from there.

But folks actively working for newspapers aren't the only ones who enjoy and are capable of writing columns.

Occasionally, there are doctors, sales people, insurancemen, athletes, entertainers and blue collar workers (let's toss in Indian chiefs) with writing talents in their fields of expertise.

This week's offering is directed mainly at such folks. They make their homes in the suburbs and regularly read this paper or one of the other 11 Observer & Eccentric newspapers.

A FASCINATING STUDY entitled "Changing Needs of Changing Readers" was recently written, based on a series of interviews regarding newspaper reading habits in a dozen cities.

Results of the study are packed in 44 pages and touch everything from the "reader-editor gap" to crime stories, from "new social contact with readers" to the positive side of local news.

What caught my eye were the references to good local columns and the columnists who care and provide "more service information to help readers in their daily lives."

The study reported that "for many readers, 'self' is an important news beat not being adequately recognized or served by editors."

THE "SELF BEAT" is defined as:

Physical fitness, diet, nutrition, creativity, pop psychology, handling emotional problems, looking good and feeling good, undertstanding yourself, understanding others and self-improvement.

Many others, of course, could be added to that, like sex, which in the past decade became an accepted topic for the public prints. The main problem is finding a writer who can handle this area tastefully.

"Changing Needs for Changing Readers" author Ruth Clark said, "The indications are that the social trends, 'Focus on Self,' will continue to grow — and that newspaper readers will want their newspapers to play a more assertive role in helping the individual reader in the quest for self-fulfillment."

All of which gave me an idea — how about more regular columns of this type in our newspapers?

AS OF THIS WEEK, the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers will begin a search for half a dozen new columnists. We want to find them among the ranks of our regular readership.

That would mean each would live in one of our communities.

(Which reminds me of a call I got several months ago. The conversation went something like this:

(Woman: "I want to write a column for your papers."

(Me: "That's interesting, how about putting together three samples and mailing them to me?"

(Woman: "What do you want me to write about?"

(Me, slightly confused: "Er, I figured you already had a topic. You do live in our area, don't you? And, of course, you read one of our newspapers."

(Woman: "I live in Fenton. I don't believe I've ever seen your papers. But I've heard about them. How about sending me three or four?"

(Me. "You mean you don't live around here, never see our papers and want me to send you some?"

(Woman: "If I were to write a column, what would it be about and how long should it be?"

(Me: "Thanks for calling.")

Now comes the key question: Are you able to write a column?

Are you willing to belly up to your typewriter week after week, keep coming up with something interesting and useful for your fellow readers?

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED and reasonably certain you would want to take on this challenge, here's what to do:

Prepare three sample columns on the topic about which you are well versed, one you'd like regularly to have printed in our papers.

In a covering letter, tell us a little about yourself.

Mail your packet to me at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

All samples will be read and evaluated.

There is no guarantee that any of them are going to be printed. Publication rests entirely on quality of writing and the interest that topics will evoke among people living in suburban Detroit.

Would you get paid? Yes. It would be a weekly stipend of modest proportions. Say, enough to treat your spouse to dinner at a modestly priced restaurant.

AS YOU MIGHT GUESS, this is not the usual way newspapers find folks who can create columns. So what? It strikes me as an approach that could just turn up half a dozen capable columnists.

We're willing to devote the necessary time on the evaluation and examination process.

So now, you potential columnists, start writing.

Dr. Joseph DeFrancesco

Trench mouth nasty but quickly cured

In the disease trench mouth, the gums are swollen, spongy and inflamed.

If the disease has advanced far enough, the gums may exude a thick, yellow pus which has a foul odor. There may be ulceration of the gums and growth of a thick, grayish membrane.

The disease may spread to the tonsils, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. Gangrene may occur from the disorder in the lungs and bronchial tubes. In this dead tissue, numbers of spirochetes and fusiform bacilli may be found when such tissues are examined under the microscope.

THESE TWO microorganisms are the ones involved in the production of the disease. Ordinarily the body has an extremely high resistance to them, and they are found in the mouths of more than 80 percent of all adults, even those in good health.

Apparently it is the poor nutritional status of the gums and nearby tissues of the mouth which permit the organisms to become more virulent or more invasive.

Although many cases of trench mouth have been completely cured with niacin, the modern treatment emphasizes the use of penicillin. The disease may be treated by penicillin, applied directly to the diseased tissues, or mouth sprays. There is usually a rapid clearance of the disease. Within 12 to 36 hours, the patient is without symptoms.

IN SOME CASES, large doses of vitamin C may be necessary, especially when there is severe bleeding of the gums.

Old toothbrushes should be discarded, excessive use of alcohol and tobacco isn't advised, and general mouth hygiene should be improved. If you have the symptoms, see your dentist immediately.

The writer is a retired suburban dentist. He will answer questions of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. DeFrancesco care of this newspaper.

One woman's battle against unsightly filth

As Mrs. Suchanski puts it — she didn't move out of Detroit nine months ago to live "near a garbage dump."

And so this spunky retired schoolteacher out of Detroit has literally taken to the streets in a personal crusade to rid it of unsightly debris and mud.

Mrs. Suchanski, 66, has become a one-woman steamshovel in her effort to clean up the remnants of suburban construction on sites near and adjacent to her home in the Trailwood Subdivision in Plymouth Township.

There, on Tennyson Drive, just north of Ann Arbor Road where only a few homes remain under construction among fully inhabited residences, Mrs. Suchanski can be found tending to her neighborhood. Appearing frail in stature, Mrs. Suchanski can be found sweeping the street in front of her home, picking up various forms of debris ranging from small cartons to large plywood slabs, or simply reprimanding construction workers for tossing their lunch bags out on the work site.

One township employee, who asked not to be named, said she appears overzealous in her complaints with untidy construction workers, adding it's difficult to keep close tabs on accumulated debris during construction. He conceded, however, the situation is aggravated in areas where most new homeowners have moved in.

MRS. SUCHANSKI was the sole resident to appear before the Plymouth Township Board last week when members unanimously passed an emergency anti-litter and construction site debris ordinance. The ordinance calls for fining construction companies which consistently fail to clean up its waste. In some cases, unkempt sites have resulted in clogged up street sewers when accumulated dirt has made its way into those sewers.

James Briggs, township building inspector, agrees the new ordinance should give the township more clout in dealing with lax construction companies.

"The ordinance, as I understand it, says they'd have to do it once a week."

He added, however, that certain situations are out of a building company's control when deliveries, for example, are made at odd hours, bringing with them a smattering of mud and dirt onto streets and sidewalks.

"It's all a part of construction."

In the meantime, Mrs. Suchanski says the new ordinance will not be particularly beneficial to her situation. Her home is next door to a construction site, as well as across the street from two others. She has spent the last nine months cleaning up around all three sites.

Nonetheless, she says the ordinance is "an excellent" idea if it's enforced. "And if the builders are going to resent it, they brought it on themselves."

WHEN MRS. SUCHANSKI appeared before the board, she appealed for the removal of a mobile home office belonging to Biltmore Homes Co. which had been parked just nine feet from her bedroom window in recent weeks.

The following morning, that trailer was moved to the site's driveway upon Brigg's prodding.

The trailer, which had been parked nine feet from her lot line all winter, had been moved closer to Mrs. Suchanski's bedroom window during sidewalk construction. Her chief complaint was noise from an air conditioner that operated throughout the weekend.

Mrs. Suchanski claims builders have not removed any collected debris from the neighboring site since May when four truckloads of trash were removed. And she adds that garbage had been piling up since last March, which recently she was forced to clean up.

"In the past nine months that I've been here, they've not swept the street once or picked up a bit of litter," she maintains. "When the trucks come through, the dust just flies."

In one two-week period during the spring, Mrs. Suchanski says she swept the street nightly. Nonetheless, backed-up sewers have caused two-foot street flooding and raised motorists' ire.

Mrs. Suchanski personally hauled this rubbish to a neighboring site. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

SC offers 3 courses for medical aides

A series of three courses for medical doctor assistants will begin Sept. 8 at Schoolcraft College.

The program is co-sponsored by the Western Wayne County Medical Assistant Society, in co-operation with the state branch of the American Association of Medical Assistants.

The anatomy and physiology course will begin Saturday and labratory procedures, Oct. 13. Both courses will meet six Saturday mornings from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Clinical procedures, X-ray and EKG will be presented from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. March 8 and April 12.

The programs are designed for the working medical assistant as preparation for the Certified Medical Assistant examination.

All sessions will meet in the Forum Building Theater. Individuals may preregister by calling the Schoolcraft continuing education office, 591-6400, ext. 404.

The college is at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

Ground game to dominate

Rocks, Chiefs await grid openers

By BRAD EMONS

Don't look for footballs to fill the air when Plymouth Canton and Salem open up the 1979 season this weekend.

Canton will host Livonia Bentley Friday at 8 p.m. at the Centennial Educational Park. Salem will do battle on Saturday against Livonia Franklin in a 2 p.m. game on the road.

All four teams plan to stay on the ground as much as possible.

"We'll rely on our running game," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer. "I saw Franklin in a scrimmage and their running game was good. But they can throw also."

Salem holds a 2-0 lead in the short series. Last year the Rocks won 28-19. Two years ago, Salem beat Franklin, 6-3, with a halfback option touchdown pass with under a minute to play.

"Oh yes, it's going to be a hard hitting game," said Moshimer. "Physically we're in good shape for Saturday."

Franklin coach Armand Vigna has switched this season from the veer to the wishbone attack offensively.

"We may use six backs," said Vigna, coach of the 1975 state champs.

"Salem is a good team with size," he said. "Although they have more people going both ways, they have a lot more out there.

Salem goes with 10 players both ways while Franklin uses six.

FRANKLIN WILL have to stop Salem quarterback Jim Anderson in their quest for a victory Saturday.

"He (Anderson) is a big strong kid who runs the option well mechanically. If he executes, we're going to have problems. This is going to be a very tough game for us. We're going in there as the underdog," Vigna said.

The Franklin coach said defense will

"They can, because they think they can." — Virgil

Plymouth Canton High School girl's basketball coach Mike McCauley is very optimistic about this year's team in a very philosophical way.

" I think if the girls believe in themselves — and they will by the time the season starts — that we can go along way this year," McCauley said. " My girls fear nothing and that helps more than people realize. We're tough and we hustle. When there is a loose ball, we get it and that's the difference in a lot of ball games."

The Chiefs have a very deep squad this year and McCauley will use everyone he has to run the opposition ragged.

" We'll be using all the platoons," McCauley said. " I don't really have a top five, just a top 13."

Canton's greatest asset this year is its ability to handle the ball along with knowing what to do with it.

Heading the ist of fine ballhandlers for the Chiefs is senior co-captain Vicky Cavallaro who McCauley calls "one of the best ballhandlers in the state."

ANOTHER TOP performer for the Canton squad this year is co captain Diane Durocher, who epitomizes the secret weapon game plan McCauley will use this year, called HAM. (The meaning of this slogan cannot be released until later this season as requested by the coach.)

Chief cagers enthusiastic

Jill Pedersen, a senior, will play an important role in the Chiefs winning ways this season because of the improvement in her shooting and mobility.

" Jill has improved in quickness and balance because of her volleyball camp this summer," said McCauley.

Rounding out the seniors for Canton is Marlene McKinley, who has also improved in the agility department.

" I'm very impressed with the underclassmen we have this year," McCauley said. "with the tremendous improvement of Marianne Pink and Joni Sommerville and Pearlie Cunningham. "Susie Pierce has improved and it's unbelievable how much Cindy Sovine has improved. She's twice as good as she was a year ago."

McCauley feels that his underclassmen will surprise a lot of people with girls like sophomore Reggie Ruggerio back for her second varsity season.

" All the young girls look really good. Reggie, Susie, Joni, Pearlie and Cindy will be the backbone of the team. Jean Timlin has one of the finest shots you'll see and that goes for a girl or a boy," said McCauley. " There is so much I could say about all of them, Colleen (Crissey) is looking good and Debbie Gibb, (a transfer from Farmington High School) is really gonna help."

Along with being a hustling squad, the Chiefs will also be a balanced squad. No one girl will carry the team predicts McCauley and because of this the pressure is taken off each girl.

Waterford Mott appears to be Canton's biggest rival for the upcoming season as well as improving Livonia Churchill.

The Chiefs make their 1979-80 debut against a tough Ypsilanti team in the Braves' gym Tuesday. Canton, a Regional Class A semifinalist a year ago, has won 39 of 40 regular season games and is in search of a third straight Western Six League crown.

Moore wins ladies golf league crown

Mary Moore won the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department Women's Golf League at Fellows Creek by edging Silvia Dickinson by two points.

After 14 weeks of play, Moore totaled 62 points while Dickinson accumulated 60.

Both players scored all five possible points in the final week of play to finish first and second respectively.

Tiiu Himmelberger and Nancy Brennan tied for third place overall with 56. Betty Williams was fourth with 55 and Betty McDougall gained fifth with 54.

Moore, Dickinson and Bev Green tied for the low score of the year — all carding 45's (nine-hole total).

In the last week of play, Moore turned in a 46 and Williams a 52.

BOTH BUD BROCK and Jim Wilk scored 19 points in the final week of play but Brock came up the overall winner by one point in the Canton Parks and Recreation Fellows Creek Men's Golf League.

In the final standings, Brock edged Wilk, 174-173. Ed Pritchard was third overall at 164. Jim Thomas and Stan Socha tied for fourth at 1.

On the 10th and final week of play, Wilk topped all scorers with a 40. He was followed by Ken Roman (41), Brock (42) and Thomas (42).

BILL BEGG captured the Canton Parks and Recreation Senior Citizens Golf League after play concluded last week.

After 14 weeks of play, Begg accumulated 65 points. He beat out Gary Aleman (62), Louie Seromik (58), Judy Bond (48) and Hilda Hayden (48).

Begg carded a 44 during the final week of play and picked up four points. Aleman grabbed all five points last week but it wasn't enough. He posted a round of 48. Ralph Deetz carded a 45.

AFTER SIX WEEKS of play in the Canton Township Fox Hills Men's Golf League, the race for first place has tightened up considerably.

Paul Oberhelman and Mike Mattingly collected only two out of a possible five points last week but still moved into first spot with 21½.

Oasis drops 2 straight in tourney

Oasis Golf Center lost its hitting punch last weekend dropping two straight games in the state Class C women's fast-pitch softball tournament held in Ludington.

"We just couldn't get any hits," said Oasis coach Bob Boyd. "We ha a two-week layoff that may have hurt us."

Pat Greenwood of Cheyboygan and Jan Boyd of Oasis hooked up in pitching duel in the opening game.

Cheboygan tallied single runs in the second and sixth inning for a 2-0 victory. Joanne Pachiva was the only Oasis batter to reach base. She hit a single in the fourth inning.

Oasis pitcher Denise Cifaldi was the hard luck loser in the second game against Sanders of Custer, losing 3-2 in eight innings.

Oasis enjoyed a 2-0 lead until the sixth inning when Sanders pushed across a run on a single by Joan Olson and a triple by Linda Cheye.

A perfect relay play from outfielder Sue McDowell to Sherry Kiselica to Julie Stafford cut down Cheye trying to score on the play averting a tie.

Sanders however tied the game in the bottom of the seventh on a two-out single by Nan Smith. Cifaldi was victimized by a single run in the eighth as Sanders eliminated Oasis.

Oasis earlier took a 1-0 lead in the third inning when Vicky Cavallaro doubled and came home on Jan Boyd's single.

THE SECOND Oasis run came in the sixth when Boyd tripled to left field and later crossed home on a ground out by Pachiva.

Cavallaro and Boyd each collected two hits to pace the Oasis attack. Kiselica and McDowell had one hit apiece.

Pinpoint control by Greenwood and Boyd in the first game characterized the type of pitching displayed in the tourney.

Boyd gave up a leadoff walk in the first inning — the only free pass issued the entire game.

Oasis coach Boyd singled out the fine defensive play by Jody Humphries, Diane Connougton and McDowell — all outfielders. He also commended the play of third baseman Vickie Forest who turned in several key plays.

Oasis ended the season witb a 21-9 mark. Boyd's sqaud finished third in the Livonia Women's Fast-pitcb League with a 6-3 mark.

Banged up Hewlett won't start

By W.W. EDGAR

Any hope that Rich Hewlett, former Plymouth Salem High School quarterback, would follow in the footsteps of Rick Leach and start the season at the University of Michigan as the freshman quarterback were dealt a blow during the past week.

During the heavy work that Coach Bo Schembechler puts the team through early in the weeks before a game, Hewlett suffered a bad bruise. At first, it was thought to be a pulled hamstring muscle that would keep him on the sidelines for several weeks.

Will Perry, director of sports information at the University, scuttled these rumors when he reported Tuesday that Hewlett was practicing Monday afternoon.

"Sure, he's bruised, " Perry said, ' but who isn't on the squad. Hewlett has been bandaged, but he has worked out and that doesn't seem that it would be a hamstring."

While he was downplaying the rumor of Hewlett's injury, Perry didn't discount the idea that the Plymouth youth would be given a starting assignment before the season moved along very far.

When the fall practice started, Schembechler let it be known that Hewlett looked "damn good." But he wouldn't commit himself on whether he would get the coveted starting berth.

O&E golf deadline near

The eleventh hour is near for those who have done nothing more than contemplate entering the Observer & Eccentric Golf Tournaments.

Registration deadline is 5 p.m. tonight for women who desire to enter their 18-hole tournament Tuesday at Whispering Willows in Livonia.

Men have until 6 p.m. Monday to sign up for their 36-hole tourney, which will be played at Whispering Willows Sept. 15-16.

Amateur golfers in the Observer & Eccentric circulation area — Westland, Garden City, Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Redford, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Troy, Rochester, Avon Township, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, West Bloomfield and Bloomfield Township — may enter.

Registration fee is $10 for women, $25 for men. That includes greens fees, a tournament bag tag, trophies and gift certificates.

Due to the deadline, in-person registeration is recommended at Whispering Willows. The course on Newburgh just south of Eight Mile.

The field for both tournaments will be divided into flights based on handicap when the registration deadline passes. In that way, golfers can compete against others of similar ability.

Stroke play will be followed. Spectators are welcome without charge during both tournaments.

Canton harrier outlook bright

By BRAD EMONS

Under second-year coach Jim Hayes, the Plymouth Canton cross country team may continue to make strides this fall.

With only one dual meet victory prior to Hayes' arrival, the team posted a 2-5 overall last year with a first place finish in the seven-team Novi Invitational. Canton also placed fifth in the Western Six League and beat 10 other schools while finishing fourth in the Wayne Memorial Invitational.

"When I took over for Mike Spitz, things were already starting to turn around," explained Hayes, also the school's varsity boys tennis coach.

"I had some talent that Mike developed," he said.

Canton lost its No. 2 and 3 runners from last season — Dave Spitz and Rich Fleischer.

However, Junior Mike Talaga, the Chiefs' No. 1 runner last year does return. He was 15th in the league meet and 31st in the regional a year ago.

"Mike really came on at the end of last year," said Hayes. "His time really dropped from the start of the season."

Talaga posted a best clocking of 16:33 on a three-mile flat course. He was around the 17:00 mark on the tougher Cass Benton Park course — home for the Chiefs.

Senior Dan McGlinn joins Talaga as one of the top returnees. His best time last year was 17:34. He and Talaga have been selected co-captains this year.

ANOTHER STRONG returnee is junior Dan Inloes, who posted the second best effort during last Friday's time trials behind Talaga.

"Dan is a good, strong kid who will help us," said Hayes.

Inloes will be joined y junior Steve West and senior Randy Hennells, both whom have experience.

Joe and George Kacic, a pair of underclassman, have also impressed Hayes in early season time trials.

Other members vying for spots on tbe varsity include juniors Mark Anderson, Dave Bottieux and Craig Pierson along with sophomore Dan Henry and senior Kevin Crumback.

"Some of these guys have the potential," said Hayes. "The Kacic brothers ran a tough three miles the other day."

Hayes is hoping for 25 boys and 5 girls on this year's roster.

"I'm encouraging anyone to come out, especially freshmen and sophomores," he said. "We need more runners."

The girls, who will compete in junior varsity events this season include varsity award winner Geri Shufeldt, a senior, sister Lori, and senior Liz Gorecki.

"If the girls are good enough to crack tbe top six, they'll run," Hayes said.

"Coaching these cross country kids is great," he said. "This is a nice bunch of kids.

"WE'RE TRYING TO mix things up. We don't run the same type of course all the time. We'll do speed work on the track or maybe run a flat course and then a hilly course.

IN THE POCKET

By W.W. EDGAR

Two famous names — and possibly a third — will be missing when the women's all star leagues settle down to real action within the next week.

When the official lineups of the contending teams in the Ladies Major League were released last week, the names of Mary Mohacsi and Cora Fiebig, both former Bowling Queens, were missing.

At the same time Ann Setlock, another former Queen, has decided to remain on the sidelines as a regular.

During the past season Cora and Mary teamed up in a business venture by opening a pro shop, with hope of launching another. It is the fact that these ventures have proven successful that they have decided to forego the grind of the twice-weekly competition.

Mary is still going to compete in the invitational doubles at Merri-Bowl and possibly one other circuit. But as for the all-stars she will be missing. And it has been known for some time that Cora was considering cutting down on her activity.

In Ann Setlock's case, it is the matter of back trouble that is forcing her to play the role of a substitute over the coming season.

They surely will be missed.

IT DIDN'T TAKE Mike Totsky very long to show the all stars that he still is a man to contend with in the high average race.

Bowling with the Bonanza Restaurant team in the Tuesday All Star Classic at Thunderbowl last week, he started the season with a 674.

He opened rather casually with a 203. Then he found the range for a 246 and closed with a 225. That was enough to give him high scoring honors for the night.

THE CANTON TOWNSHIP Recreation Department is following the lead of the other western suburbs by sponsoring a youth bowling program for Saturday mornings at the Super Bowl.

Under the plan the young bowlers will be divided into three divisions. The first will be for those in the age 9 and under. Next will come those between the ages of 10-14 and the third will include those between the ages of 15-18. They will bowl a 30-week season and there still is time to register.

THE WEDNESDAY ladies league at Westland Bowl still is going strong. When the firing resumed last week Kim Jones showed the way with a 226 in 551 because her 226 was high single for the day. The high series went to Joanne Manke with a 200 in 568 and Nancy Hect landed third with a 215 in 563.

CRAIG DEMES who is only 17 years old, had quite a thrill in his weekly apeearance at Woodland Lanes.

After games of 187 and 198 he rang up 10 strikes in a row. Then, with hopes of a perfect game, he crossed over to the Brooklyn side and missed the strike. He had to be content with a spare for a 287 and the high series with 672.

EVEN THOUGH she won't be bowling in the women's all star leagues Mohacsi still will be heard from.

Bowling in the in visitational doubles at Merri-Bowl she routinely took over the pacemakers role last Monday night with a 574 gained on games of 193, 211 and 170.

Right behind her came Ann Bogenschutz with a 567 that came on games of 201, 188 and 178. One pin behind her came Mary Ann Kain with a 566 that included a finishing game of 217.

Panther gridders rebuild

Garden City East fighting back

For the first time in several seasons, Garden City East football coach Gary Humphrey will have a sizeable group of returning players around which to mold a competitive team.

Six starters on offense and five on defense are among the 34 varsity players who will carry the Panthers' banner into battle. The fact that 34 are on the varsity is enough to bouy Humphrey's spirits. East finished the 1978 season with only 18 players.

East, however, was dealt a severe blow when Jack Lezotte, a running back with much potential, sustained a knee injury while playing baseball this summer. He will miss the entire football season, Humphrey said.

Tom Berger, a flanker, is currently sidelined with a heart ailment, but he may recover enough to play before the end of the season.

While the Panthers may be better off numbers-wise, they will not be all that imposing physically. Dave Dunning, a six-foot, 195 pound center, is the biggest player on the team, according to Humphrey.

East should be solid in the backfield with Jeff Sikora at tailback and Tom Bonner at fullback. "They are some of the best backs I've ever had here," said the veteran coach.

Both are in the 6-0 170-pound range and both will play safety on defense.

Bill Orr, who quarterbacked the Panthers in several games last fall when Randall MacDonell was injured, will call signals on a regular basis this year.

Orr, 5-7, 140, could take a pounding against tough Northwest Suburban League competition unless his line can give him protection.

Mark Gregory, 6-1, 190, Joe Stanek, 5-9, 165, and Dunning will man tackle, guard and center positions, respectively. Gregory will also play at defensive end.

Brian Belcher,6-1, 190, is also expected to pull his weight as a tight end on offense and a defensive end.

Humphrey added that three juniors have shown promise in early practice sessions. Rick Galan is a split end, Tracy Bonner a defensive back and tailback and Doug Tankersley an offensive guard and defensive tackle.

The Panthers will operate out of a pro-set offensive alignment and use a 5-2 angle defense.

What will it take for East to better its 1-4 NSL record and 2-7 overall slate of last year?

"We're going to have outstanding performances from everyone on the team all the time," Humphrey said. "I think we have speed. It depends on how well we pursue the ball on defense."

What about conference opponents?

"The two toughest, I think, are North Farmington and John Glenn. Franklin and Redford Union are up there also and the next two are us and Thurston," said Humphrey.

Brad Emons writes....

Predicting a hazard

It's that time of the year again but don't expect the Sports Editor to become a "Jimmy the Greek" prep prognosticator.

Predicting high school football games is a chore and often hazardous. My job was not meant to get mixed up with the fortune telling trade. My job is to inform the sports readers and not the card players.

An old sports writer-friend of mine from Indiana once thought it would be fun to speculate every week on the upcoming grid games. He thought it would create a lot of interest in the community. If he was way off on a prediction, a barrage of "I told you so's" were communicated to him as he bantered about the community.

That was all in fun and he didn't mind at all. But it really didn't stop there. In fact, it went beyond the stage of a light-hearted laugh or two.

Personal negative remarks about the sports writer often entered in. Obscene phone calls began to filter in at his residence. He was often taunted while walking in and out of the stadium by irate fans.

He got to the point where the hassle wasn't worth it. Something that was fun turned out to be ugly.

He gave it up and enjoyed his job a lot more. He let the fans thrash it out in the bleachers.

If I were to predict what will happen this weekend with Tom Moshimer's Salem Rocks and Dave Schuele's Canton Chiefs, it wouldn't be an easy task.

I LEARNED more about both teams during last Thursday night's four-way scrimmage at the Centennial Education Park.

Salem was very impressive against Port Huron Northern and Canton. The Rocks have a sound defense and appear to be a hard hitting team.

The wishbone attack is a deadly weapon and Salem looked good running it, especially new quarterback Jim Anderson and speedy tailback Craig Stack. The whole key is the ability to execute up front on the offensive line. Moshimer has the talent on the line, both offensively and defensively, which will give a lot of teams problems. Spearheaded by center Jeff Powers and all-leaguer Scott Piper, the offensive line is strong and mobile.

Salem did not look as strong in its bout against Ann Arbor Pioneer. I would have called that battle a draw. Pioneer looks like a contender for the South Central League crown based on the quickness of its backfield, which broke a few long gainers against Salem.

There is no doubt about it. Salem is a very competitive football team which will be tested because it plays five straight games on the road — no easy task for any team.

Ironically, Canton played its finest ball against Pioneer in the scrimmage. The offense moved the ball and the defense coped with the Ann Arbor speedsters.

THINGS HOWEVER got progressively worse against Northern and Salem.

Bentley, Franklin provide 1st tests

be team's strong suit as six regulars return including all three linebackers — Doug White, Ron Lohman and Dave Rettig. Back in the secondary are Tim Przysiecki and Tim Sullivan.

The Patriots return five on offense including senior quarterback John McCarthy, a regular last year.

"We're a more experienced team," said Vigna, "I think we're going to be better."

Franklin went 3-6 overall last season, the worst record in the school's history.

"We have 31 healthy players right now and we don't have a lot of depth. We can't afford to lose anybody," said the Franklin coach.

On Thursday night in a four-way scrimmage between Canton, Ann Arbor Pioneer and Port Huron Northern, Salem's passing game looked sharp with senior split end Ron Schultz hauling in three scores.

"I thought our kids hit well in the scrimmage," said Moshimer. "Nothing really disappointed me. We did not throw often but our passing looked god."

Quarterback loss dims RU chances

Redford Union's football squad will be competing in the Northwest Suburban League for the first time this fall and coach Harvey Heitman felt fairly optimistic about his team's chances.

That was until Jim Sopha, who was expected to lead the team at quarterback, broke two bones in his back during practice. Sopha will be out for the entire season.

Andy Szabo, a sophomore with no high school football experience, and Tim Holmes, a junior who lettered as a defensive back last year, are contending for the quarterback slot.

"Our strength this year is our returning seniors. They are all leaders. Some of them have been together since ninth grade and they know each other very well as a team," said Heitman.

Heitman added, however, that he has a good team but a tough schedule. With the likes of North Farmington, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Franklin, you can't argue with that.

There are 27 returning seniors and 17 starters in uniform this year for the Panthers who reaped a 3-6 record last fall.

"We knew last year was going to be a learning year for us. We were a little in awe of teams like Plymouth Salem and Trenton. Now, I think we have more confidence," Heitman said.

Sports shorts

Tryouts for the Plymouth Salem freshman cheerleading squad will be held at the gym, Sept. 10-15, from 2:30-4:30 p.m.

Snook teams up

Graham Snook, a native New Zelander now residing in Canton Township, teamed up with Chris Greendale of Ann Arbor to gain second place in the recent first Metropolitan March of Dimes Tennis Open held at Farwell Field in Detroit.

Snook and Greendale were beaten by Mike Ware of Ann Arbor and Kevin Cook of Midland in the finals.

The winners and runner-ups received cash prizes.

Police win

The Michigan State Police Crime Lab in Northville downed a team from WDIV-Channel 4 Detroit, 15-7, Thursday night at Massey Field in a benefit softball game to fight muscular dystrophy.

Approximately 300 fans attended the game which raised $10,800. Television newscasters Don Shane and Vince DeSalvo participated in the game.

The VIEW from CANTON CENTER

MARGARET THATCHER of No. 10 Downing Street, London, England, was asked how she maintained her slim figure and her mental alertness.

She replied — so the story goes — that her secret was being a little hungry and a little cold.

"I never overeat. My blood stays in my head instead of in my stomach, working overtime to help digest my food." She added that being a little on the chilly side also aided circulation which in turn, aided the mental processes.

Food, evidently, is not for thought.

JIM HIGGINBOTTOM, our next door neighbor at 461 S. Main, dropped off a bag of perfumed horse manure the other day. Jim is deputy racing commissioner for thoroughbreds for the state of Michigan.

The "thoroughbred perfumed horse manure" in a plastic bag is scented and bagged in San Marcos, Calif. It claims, on the package, to be "Good for your blooming plants."

This thing about horse manure started a long time ago. I was told that when the thoroughbreds (or the runners) were at DRC, you couldn't give away the manure. It was not good fertilizer and I guess it just sort of stacked up.

But, when the standardbreds (the trotters and pacers) arrived, their manure was in great demand as fertilizer.

I didn't waste any sleep over this puzzler, but someday, I hoped to find someone who would explain it. Of course, there was a possibility that I had been misinformed, deliberately.

A month or so ago I met Dr. L.S. McKibbon, the veterinarian from

by ELLIE GRAHAM

Wheatley, Ontario who has gained a reputation of being sort of a super horse doctor. He uses acupuncture on horses and suspends them in swimming pools when they are strengthening their muscles after sprains or breaks. I'm not sure about the breaks.

If anyone could explain the thoroughbred versus standardbred horse manure, this should be the authority.

When I posed the question, the doctor's look was quick and clinical — was she sane and sober or not so sane and not so sober?

He said it all had to do with the bedding. If the horse was bedded down with regular straw it didn't matter whether he was standard, thoroughbred or Shetland pony, when the stall was cleaned out the residue was in great demand by mushroom growers.

But, if wood shavings were used, they would not decompose and were not of much use as a fertilizer.

I thought the people in the Racing Commissioner's Office would be most interested in this information and first chance I had, went in to tell them about it.

Jim said he had never heard that there was any difference. He did know that there was never any difficulty in getting rid of the stuff at the area race tracks. The mushroom growers were happy to get it.

"Somebody gave me a bag of perfumed horse manure," he said. "If I can find it. It's around home some place."

That's a rather lengthy explanation for having a bag of perfumed horse manure on your desk.

JOE AND ANN Slovack, who live in Pilgrim Hills, Canton Township, have raised what they believe to be the granddaddy of all zucchinis.

They picked one in their backyard garden that weighs 15 pounds. There will be all kinds of super squash, sunflowers, vegetables and corn and flowers at Sunday's produce show.

It will be in front of Central Middle School, right at the corner of Main and Church streets.

SCHOOL TOURS can be arranged for the Dickens exhibition which opened yesterday at the Twelve Oaks Mall. It will be there until Sept. 19.

The collection of 25 lifesize figures from favorite Dickens novels was created in London by the world's oldest and largest firm of costumiers.

Visitors will recognize: Charles Dickens (as himself); Scrooge, Tiny Tim, Bob Cratchett, Mr. and Mrs. Fezzywig, the Ghost of Marley and the Ghost of Christmas Present from "A Christmas Carol."

There are Mr. Pickwick and Sam Weller from "Pickwick Papers;" Oliver Twist, Fagan and the Artful Dodger from "Oliver Twist;" Pip and Miss Haversham from "Great Expectations;" and Sidney Carton and Madame Lafarge and the executioner from "A Tale of Two Cites."

David Copperfield, Mr. Micawber Aunt Pegotty, Little Nell, Little Dorrit, Nicholas Nickelby and Barnaby Rudge are included.

There is no admission charge. Number to call for school tours is 348-9400.

Pat Saelzler packed the homemade checkers in one of the stenciled burlap bags. The handmade checker board was made of birch found in an old church that was being torn down.

Old craft of stenciling at show

Canton Observer
Suburban Life
Thursday, September 6, 1979 (C)1C

Jan Dersey and Pat Saelzler are introducing something new and something very old to the artist and craftsman show at this week's Plymouth Fall Festival. Their booth at the Plymouth Community Arts Council's show in Central Middle School will feature stenciling.

The two women are friends who share their fascination with old things, antiques and the old crafts. Their interest in stenciling began about one year ago when Mrs. Dersey stenciled a fireboard for her fireplace.

"With the energy crisis, we decided they would be good things to sell," said Mrs. Dersey. The attractive screens are decorative as well as practical, preventing heat loss and drafts caused by open fireplaces not in use.

They use acrylic paint and stencil brushes, "which are difficult to find," according to Mrs. Dersey.

AMONG THEIR creations are handstenciled checkerboards. These are fashioned after 19th century game boards, the kind that were found in old general stores.

The originals are rare collector's items. And the ones made by the two women are handmade works of art.

The women made their first boards were made of birch found in an old church. They stenciled the squares on the boards and edged them with old molding.

"My father helped us put them together," said Mrs. Dersey The checker pieces were cut from old broom handles and painted red and black.

They made small burlap bags with a drawstring to hold the pieces. These were stenciled too — some with little school houses and others with flowers.

Later, they made boards out of pine in two sizes, large and small.

They have used stencils to decorate the walls of their houses. The Dersey eating room has a combination of three patterns. They are reproductions of some created by Moses Eaton.

"There were two Moses Eatons, a junior and a senior," explained Mrs. Dersey. "They were responsible for stenciling most of the homes in New England early in the 19th century."

She used three colors for the wall stencils — a deep gold for the dots, deep red for the hearts and a sage green for the leaves.

THE WOMEN are excited about an assignment they received to stencil four rooms in a house in Ann Arbor. It is an original federal colonial house that was moved to Ann Arbor from Ohio.

The Dersey and Saelzler combo were responsible for the Beatrix Potter stencils on the soffits of Volume II of Plymouth Book World which is in the Emma's complex on Penniman Avenue.

They are available for stenciling jobs in other people's homes. For example, they will design stencil patterns to match a kitchen wallpaper and use these to carry the theme into an adjoining family room or hallway.

They also will stencil table cloths, napkins, or curtains to match a theme.

Mrs. Dersey says Marion Sober's stenciling in her studio was really her first inspiration. "But she uses skim milk and powders to mix her colors. We haven't gone that far, we like the acrylic paints. Marion is an artist."

They have been stenciling panels for their booth at the artist and craftsman show. They will demonstrate their art and will have items for sale.

THE SHOW WILL open at noon Sept. 8 and 9. Closing time Saturday is 9 p.m. and Sunday at 6 p.m.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and senior citizens. Children 16 years of age and younger will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Other Plymouth artists and craftsmen appearing in the show are: Mark Chatterly, pottery; Audrey Crain, quilted pillows; Johnnie Crosby, watercolors; Sharron Davy, band boxes; Marcia Fink, china painting; John Groot, pewter; Joyce Harrington, stuffed bears; Grace Kabel, macrame; Theresa Ohno, basketry; Phyllis Overhiser, Norwegian folk art; Roy Pederson, stoneware pottery; Verta Schouman, stained glass; John Schultz, photography; Diane Vardas, watercolors, charcoals; and Richard Wells, colonial candles.

Canton Township residents participating in the show are Lynda Newrath and Jamie Hovie, herbs, dried flowers; Maureen Pizzuti, paintings; and Sonna Young, wooden vases.

More than 80 persons will have booths in the show. Jewelry makers are coming from Detroit, Milan and Jackson; dollmakers, from Ypsilanti, Mt. Clemens, and Milford. Artists and craftsmen were carefully screened by a PCAC committee before being invited to participate.

A students' booth provides an outlet for young persons to display and sell their crafts. Proceeds from the show go back to the community, the majority of it to the schools for scholarships and other programs.

Jan Dersey (left) demonstrated the use of a stencil brush as Pat Saelzler held the stencil pattern in place.

Deep gold, red and sage green were used for the wall stencils in the Derseys' eating room.

Special demonstrations at museum for festival

The Plymouth Historical Museum has reduced admission fees to half price for the Plymouth Fall Festival and instituted special hours during the four-day fest.

Adults will be admitted for 50 cents and children for 25 cents: Hours will be 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 6; 6:30-8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 7; noon to 7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 8; and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 9.

Visitors to the museum will be able to watch the demonstration of many crafts that go back to the early pioneer days.

Artists and their crafts are:

Jean Riggs, dried herbs; Shirley Hart, rug making; Sandra Rich Richards, caning; Florence Hasenay, stitched dolls; Ellice Kulick, spinning; Doris Richard, bargello; and Barbara Waddell and Lois Deppulski, wheat weaving.

A QUILTING bee will be in progress Saturday and Sunday on the lower level of the museum.

Anita Howard will be tole painting; Don Sober will be making rush seats for chairs; and his wife, Marion, will be making baskets.

Gene Crosby will have his fok toys and Mary Rush will have her corn husk dolls. Tin Smith Bob Harwood will be at work fashioning candle sticks and other accessories. Woodcarver Onsen Smith will be at work from 2-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Broommakers Jack and helen Ellis of Coldwater will be there Sunday only. The ancient Russian punchwork embroidery will be demonstarted only on Sunday. Spinning, weaving and crewel embroidery also will be demonstarted.

The craftsmen and women will be permitted to take orders for any of the works demonstrated at the museum.

O&E

Stonegaters have end o' summer corn roast

Stonegate Homeowners Association held its fifth annual End O' Summer Corn Roast Aug. 25 in Wagon Wheel Park.

The event began when Wagon Wheel West subdivision consisted of only a few homes, and continued yearly as a good way to meet neighbors as well as families throughout the homeowners' association. Stonegate Homeowners' Association consists of two subdivisions, Wagon Wheel West and Canton 87. Thus, the yearly event is a way to meet new friends and spend a pleasant summer afternoon.

This year about 50 families attended.

Tom Bolter, Chuck Mills, and T.J. Rivard were chairmen of corn roast planning committee. The corn roast featured hot dogs with all the trimmings, Pepsi, corn on the cob, potato chips, pretzels, popsicles, and marshmallows for roasting.

Cooking began about noon, and eating was continuous until about 8 p.m. Cooking responsibilities were shared in one-hour shifts by: T.J. Rivard, Gerrit Stemmer, Chuck Mills, Tom Bolter, John Tatterton, Jack Hahn, Judy Bolter, Vicki Chilcoff, Harriett and Tom Stinson, Sally and John Krueger, Marilyn and Tom Konchel, and Pat O'Brien.

ALSO ASSISTING with the culinary arts were: Paul Coleman, Dan Schumate, Ted Evans, Fiedel Cashero, Shirley Stewart, Skip Waters, Stinky Fraser, Tom Rippon, Ron Marks, Bob Clancy, and Bernie Bethan.

If these chefs lacked any skills in their craft, they certainly made up for it in cleverness. One "chef" was heard to ask a youngster if he wanted a "dark" or "light" hot dog. This proves that you can push even a burned hot dog with a well-turned phrase.

Marilyn Tatterton, Jack Hahn, Sharon Hartmeyer, Pat O'Brien, Tom Rippon, and L. Lovelace were the reception committee. They tired to make everyone feel welcome, and made sure everyone had a name tag. The reception table was the source of tickets for a cash prize. The contest was held early in the evening, with Fiedel Cashero the happy winner.

Games for the children were in the middle of the afternoon. The games were broken down by age group. The 2 to 4-year-olds enjoyed searching for pennies in a sawdust pile, and a shoe kick contest. While prizes of color books and liquid bubbles were awarded to first and second in each game, all children in this age group were winners of small prizes.

The 5 to 7-year olds played a ball toss game to determine which team of two could keep the ball in play the longest. They also had a shoe kick contest, with prizes awarded to the winners in each game. The older children participated in a sack race, a three-legged race, anda water balloon toss.

Canton Chatter

By SAM NICHOLS 397-0429

THE GAMES were organized and officiated by Cindy Stemmer, Clara Marks, Marilyn Tatterton, Diane O'Brien, Sharon Hartmeyer, Shirley Stewart, Paula Fraser, and Arlene Clancy.

A bonfire was in the evening and "dark" and "light" marshmallows were enjoyed in varying degrees. Music, dancing, and talking were enjoyed around the fire till the wee hours of the morning.

Clean-up honors were handled neatly by Jim Piper, Gale and Ed Parrish, John Tatterton, Marilyn Pataledes, and Shirley and Bob Stewart.

With the corn roast of 1979 a pleasant memory, plans will soon get under way around winter's fires for the sixth annual End O' Summer Corn Roast.

JUDY CIRINO was the guest of honor recently at the home of Helen Wesner for a baby shower. The shower was to welcome Alicia Marie, Judy and Domonic's new baby daughter.

Sue Lawrence was Helen's co-hostess for the evening of happiness. Punch, sandwiches, snacks, and games were enjoyed. Pat Mead baked and decorated the beautiful cake, shaped like a baby cradle.

Upon her arrival, Judy was presented with a corsage made of baby items, such as pins, bottle washers, etc. The corsage had been made by Sue Lawrence.

Party guests included Mary Ellen Magaldi, Sue Miller, Nola Bonandrini, Kathy Freece, Shannon Monro, Betty Lidkey, Jan Brawn, Lily Gyorke, Sue Lilley, Judy Cieslak and Terri Cohen.

The Cirino home now has been transformed by all the baby paraphernalia, and they couldn't be more delighted. Brother Sean joins his proud parents Judy and Domonic, and their many friends in welcoming Alicia.

Whitt-Hosier

LCDR and Mrs. Eugene N. Whitt, USN Ret., of Camarillo, Calif. announce the engagement of their daughter, Alden, to Jeffrey Hosier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hosier of Plymouth.

The bride-elect graduated from Camarillo High School in 1973 and received a bachelor of science degree in marketing from California State University, Northridge. She is a sales representative for Milmah Textiles. Her fiance is a 1971 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School. He is attending Brooks Institute of Photography, Santa Barbara, Cal. and works as a freelance photographer.

They plan an early October wedding and will live in Santa Barbara.

Geake blasts water increases

While speaking at a public hearing called by the Detroit City Council, state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, blasted the Detroit Water Board for increasing utility rates by 16 percent for municipalities in his district.

Another proposed increase of 38 percent is expected in January 1980.

Geake is state senator for the 14th District which includes the cities of Plymouth, Livonia, Northville and the townships of Plymouth and Northville.

"The main reason I object to such an outlandish increase is because I feel it is the result of poor management at the Detroit Water Board. I don't feel my constituents or anyone else should be punished by being charged higher rates because of the mismanagement at the Detroit Water Board."

As an example, Geake said the Detroiit Water and Sewar Department has failed to meet federal and state requirements for hiring and training personnel as well as regulations on the operation and maintenance of their programs.

Reports state that current employees are not properly trained, he said, and that the facility is understaffed, causing a high rate of employment turnover.

Meanwhile, outside consultants have been hired to re-design the plant and to operate it, again adding to management costs.

DuPraws wed 50 years

MARIANE AND LOUIS DUPRAW

Louis and Mariane DuPraw of Plymouth celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sept. 5 at a dinner party at Dearborn Inn.

The party was planned by their children, Barbara Jeone Falls of Bayton Beach, Fla., Ray DuPraw of Grand Rapids, Ann Schatzle of Warren, Judy Ackun of Kenneth Square, Pa., and Christine Patrick of Plymouth.

Nineteen grandchildren also helped celebrate the occasion.

The DuPraws have been Plymouth residents for 16 years. Mr. DuPraw was co-founder of DuPraw's Music House in Detroit. He is founder of Louis DuPraw and Associates, manufacturers representatives for 30 years.

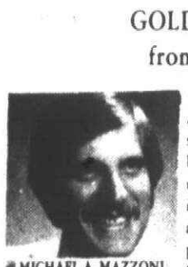
GOLD: The Gift from the Sun



MICHAEL A. MAZZONI Registered Jeweler

Ancient man believed it was a gift from the sun. People have worshiped it since they first laid eyes on it. They have killed for it and nearly been killed trying to find it. I'm speaking of gold — the gleaming, rich yellow metal that has been so important in the social, political and cultural evolution of mankind.

Gold first caught man's eye because of its attractive gleam. It was used to decorate weapons and to honor tribal chiefs and the bravest warriors. It took the form of medallions of honor and royal crowns.

Gold was once used extensively for coins; then it shifted into the background as a back-up system for paper currency and less valuable metal coins. But gold no longer backs our currency. Today ours as well as most other world currencies are backed by credit.

Gold is known for its superior conductivity and reflectivity. As such, it has found its way into new technologies. The guidance systems that send men into space use gold. The astronaut's lifeline is coated with gold to reflect heat, and his visor is shaded with gold to protect his eyes.

When you wear gold jewelry, you are wearing a substance that has intrigued men for centuries, that has played important roles in many historical currents.

Gold is beautiful, spellbinding, awe-inspiring, and we will undoubtedly continue to cherish it long into the future.

She tailors diet to individual weight problems

By NANCY AUSTIN

You have just finished a routine physical exam and are waiting for the doctor to give you the results of both the exam and the laboratory tests. You have felt pretty well, maybe a little overweight, but you've been counting calories for a while now.

Otherwise you're sure you're OK and all tests will be normal.

The doctor enters he room, pulls up a stool, sits down, and gives you the news.

"Most of the tests were normal," the doctor tells you, "but there is one exception. You have a high triglyceride level. You'll have to modify your diet to bring the level down. Here is a list of the foods you'll have to avoid. Come back and see me in a month and we'll re-check you."

You leave the office somewhat confused. Questions speed through your mind. Adjusting your diet for calorie control is tough enough. And now this? It all seems overwhelming.

Furthermore, you don't really understand the nature of triglycerides, but you must try to comply with his request.

" What will happen if I don't?" you wonder. "No. Better not. Better do what the doctor says. But how? Why?"

THIS SCENARIO is not at all uncommon. In fact, according to Katharine Crossman, a registered dietician, an elevated triglyceride level is becoming a common diagnosis.

Because of this dietary problem and other specific reasons that people must change their diets, Ms. Crossman has decided to set up a private practice in dietary counseling. She believes she is the first in this area to do so.

Creative Diets, the name of her business, represents a concept in diet planning. Ms. Crossman tailors diets specifically for individual needs.

"First, I have the individual set his or her own goals to get a long-term picture of what needs to be achieved," she said. "For example, if weight control is the central problem, then we determine how much weight a client wants to lose. Then he decides how fast to lose it. We also will help him to work on changing specific eating habits."

WEIGHT CONTROL is not the primary objective of her practice, but a large number of the people who go to her do lose weight. Often the need to lose is connected with hypoglycemia or diabetes or some other medical condition. Others just want to shed pounds to look and feel better.

Ms. Crossman said she keeps the procedure simple so that clients understand what needs to be accomplished.

Whatever the nature of the health problem, Ms. Crossman said she first makes sure that both she and the client understand the nature of the problems that requires dietary modification. Then she has him write out — meal by meal — the kind of a diet he would like to go on to correct the problem.

"I work closely with the patients in terms of the foods they like and the schedules they are on," she explained. "The diets must be suited to them. Then I adjust for nutritional value.".

"Children do extremely well in following a diet. They write out what they want, and they like that. They don't want anyone to tell them what to eat and what not to eat. I work with the child first, then have a conference with the parents. The child makes his own decisions and they lose weight like crazy."

WEIGHT LOSS problems are among the easiest to solve and triglycerides pose one of the most complicated, Ms. Crossman noted.

In working with the latter, levels of triglyceride (substances included in the fat group) must be lowered. This is not well understood by most patients.

Ms. Crossman said she reviews the conditon with her clients, so that they understand what is involved. Most haves just come from the doctor's office on a referral and understand there is a need for modification, she added.

PHYSICIANS ARE supportive of the services Ms. Crossman offers. Most cannot give extensive time to counseling and meal-planning but recognize the need for dietary change. Ms. Crossman has for several years been counseling those who have special dietary needs.

As a registered dietician, she is a member of the American Dieticians Association, and a consulting nutritionist who spent two years as a consulting dietician with Pediatric Associates of Farmington. She counseled children and their parents in problem areas like overeight, allergies and hypoglecemia.

It was through her experience in working with allergic children that she aided in the research and subsequent publication of a book, "Cooking and Caring for the Allergic Child."

Published in 1974, the book has now been updated and publication rights bought by a new publishing house. It will be released in the summer of 1980.

Ms. Crossman, helped with the research, and kitchen-tested all of the recipes that appear in the book.

"It's really amazing," she said. "Allergies are strange. We had to go back and study many botanical origins to find out one food was related to an allergy.

"Sometimes the association isn't very clear until the research has been done. It is because of the time spent with so many allergic children and in the work on this book, that I probably have more knowledge and clinical experience in the area of allergy diets than most dieticians."

MS. CROSSMAN said many people are confused about how a dietician can help them. Dieticians are not particularly cooks, she explained, but rather those who have the education and clinical training analyze food for content and learn how they can be used to derive the necessary diet components.

The counseling she does involves imparting this knowledge to those who need to change their diets and improve the nutritition they are receiving.

Rapport with a clients' physicians is an important part of her program. After the consultation, and after working with a client, a full report is sent to his physician, so he is aware of what is going on. But confidientiality is maintained at all times.

It may take two to three visits to help a person understand what is needed. Ms. Crossman's fee is $30 a visit for one hour.

But, she said, she has some financial incentives worked into the program and one client told her, "it's the best $30 I have ever spent."

Creatiave Diets can be reached by calling 476-3393.

Children show their worlds

Wayne State University is hosting the only Michigan showing of "Pictures From a Small Planet," a 250-piece exhibitiion of works by children from around the world.

The exhibition held through Sept. 30 in the Community Arts Gallery, 450 Kirby Mall, was prepared by UNICEF to celebrate the International Year of the Child.

Created by children from 5 to 15 years, the works show the way in which their viewpoints are influenced by their cultures, environments, and social milieus. Works include oil, tempera, watercolor, crayon, pencil, pen and ink, block printing and collage.

The exhibition has been organized around such themes as fun and play, the family, city and country life, sports, work, religion and nature.

An intergrated program of film and active participation by visitors has been prepared and will be supervised by trained docents.

Arrangements for group visits of 25 or more may be made by calling 577-2400.

Admission is free. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays, with one Sunday, Sept. 9, from 1-4 p.m. designated as family day.

Varner-Heindryckx

Anne Heindryckx of Okemos and Van V. Varner of Bad Axe exchanged marriage vows May 26 in First United Methodist Church of Plymouth. The Revs. William and Martha Cargo officiated. The bride's parents are Albert and Annette Heindryckx of Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. Lawrence and Arlene Varner of Merrill, Mich. are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride's gown was fashioned of soft candlelight ivory chiffon with an empire waisted bodice appliqued with Venice lace and pearls and a point d'esprit yoke. The skirt fell into a chapel length train. Her veil was edged in matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white sweetheart carnations, sonia roses and white crystal roses.

Marion Heindryckx was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Catherine Heindryckx, Pamela Sue Phillips, Sarah Martha Cargo and Elizabeth Cargo Marley. Their gowns were ivory silesta chiffon with a pink floral pattern. The blouson bodice featured a scoop neckline and sleeves slit to the elbow. They carried bouquets of sonia roses and pink sweetheart roses.

Gregory Varner was best man and groomsmen were Mark Varner, Paul Varner, Dennis Varner and Albert Heindryckx Jr.

The couple traveled to Yellowstone National Park and the Rockies following a garden wedding reception at the home of the bride's parents. They are living in Bad Axe.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Plymouth High School. She earned her bachelor of science degree in 1975 from Michigan State University. She is employed by MSU as an undergraduate advisor in crop and soil sciences. Her husband gradauated from Breckenridge High School and earned his BS degree from MSU in 1975. He is working on his masters degree at MSU and is employed as Huron County agricultural agent in the Cooperative Extension Service.

Space programs are series topic

Data received from current space programs, which have revolutionized our knowledge of the planets, will be the focus of a special lecture series by astronomer James Loudon at Cranbrook Institute of Science beginning Sept. 19.

The lectures, on five consecutive Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m., will include discussion of Pioneer 11, the spacecraft that will fly by Saturn and its rings in this month, and in 1982 will become the first man-made object to escape our solar system.

Childbirth center makes fall plans

Five programs related to childbirth will be on the agenda this fall at the Childbirth and Family Resource Center, 865 Penniman, Plymouth.

Now in its third year, the center will offer courses on early pregnancy information, prenatal exercise, choices in childbirth, childbirth preparation class plus a new mothers support group.

Early pregnancy is a four-week daytime series for mothers-to-be. Topics will include nutrition, options in childbirth, the psychology of pregnancy, physiological and emotional changes of pregnancy, breastfeeding and bonding. Fee is $10.

Prenatal exercise is a six-week course based on yoga principles. It will deal with relaxation techniques and specific exercises to strengthen abdominal muscles and eliminate discomforts of pregnancy. Fee is $20. The class starts at 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 1.

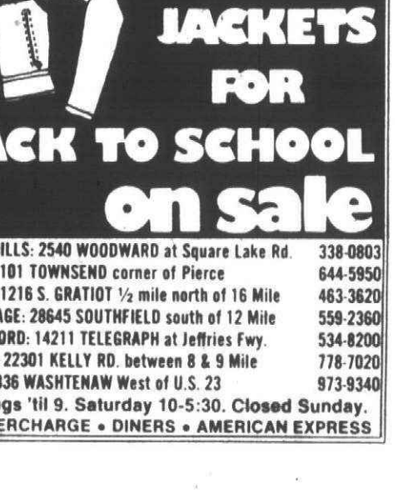
Choices in childbirth is a prenatal services on an individual basis designed to help couples to clarify needs and goals for their birth experience. It will aid them in becoming aware of options in childbirth and to make informed, responsible choices during the prenatal and postnatal periods.

An eight-week course on childbirth preparation will expand the Lamaze techniques for childbirth to include values clarification in childbirth and parenting, needs of the new father, infant care, parenting in today's society bonding and the family unit. Call the center for fees and hours.

The new mothers support group, a six-week class, is designed to give information and support to new mothers with an emphasis on ideas, feelings and practical skills for positive parent-child interactions. Infants are welcome. Fee is $20. This class starts at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 26.

For more information or to register for classes, drop in at the center between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. weekdays except Tuesday, or 10 a.m. until noon Saturdays. You can call the center at 459-2360.

Visser-Vander Velde



Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Visser of Five Mile Road, Plymouth Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane E., to David G. Vander Velde, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Vander Velde of Grand Rapids. The bride-elect graduated from Plymouth Canton High School in 1975 and from Hope College in 1979. She is a graduate student at the University of Illinois. Her fiance graduated from Hope College in 1978 and also is a graduate student at the University of Illinois.

They plan a late December wedding in First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

Speaker says shoplifting has become epidemic

"The feedback I get from students in my classroom is that they really thought shoplifting was hidden under the covers. Their reaction is, 'How did you know about that? You're not a part of my generation.' It's almost like I'm bringing it out in the open by teaching it in class."

Speaking was Mary Lou Speers, an Ann Arbor middle school teacher and consultant with the Michigan Consumer Education Center at Eastern Michigan University.

She reacently authored a consumers' training unit for teachers titled, "Shoplifting: A Consumer Concern," which explores the social, legal and economic aspects of shoplifting.

Shoplifting has reached epidemic proportions in recent years, increasing dramatically since 1967. Recent estimates place the loss to theft at more than $5 billion a year nationally. As the price of goods has increased, so has the cost of items shoplifted from merchants.

The average value of items stolen has risen from $2 to $28 in the past few years, recent studies show. To deter shoplifters, merchants have installed all kinds of devices and gadgets: electronic alarms, magnetic clothing tags, two-way mirrors and plainclothed guards.

SHOPLIFTERS COME from all walks of life, are young or old, and can be customers or employees. But they all have one characteristic in common. Most could afford the item they chose to steal.

The age old thought that, like in the Depression days, people steal because they just can't buy a necessity just doesn't hold today. Local police officers say that most shoplifters they pick up have enough money in their pocket to pay for the stolen item," Ms. Speers explained.

Teenagers, particularly girls, are the most common shoplifters. The reasons they shoplift are numerous. Ms. Speers emphasized some of them in her booklet and in a recent interview:

- Today's youth are experience oriented. They want to experience everything and shoplifting is just one experience.
- Shoplifters often feel the store owes them something. They may feel, for instance, that they just spent $15 for a shirt and it wasn't worth it, so the store owes them something else which they then steal.
- Peer pressure exerts a tremendous control over them. The teenager may feel that he or she has to shoplift to keep up with or be a part of a group.
- Some teenagers want to "rip off" the establishment by shoplifting.
- Material possessions aren't valued by teenagers as much anymore. "There's not a lot of respect for whose property is whose," Ms. Speer continued." Of course, most of them have everything they want at home."
- Adults don't set good examples. Children and teenagers see adults manipulating credit accounts and stealing ashtrays and towels from motels, Speers concluded.

Ms. Speers, who has taught seventh, eighth and ninth grades in the Ann Arbor public schools for nine years, feels that educating the public will deter shoplifting. The serious effects of shoplifting are discussed in a popular family ecology course she teaches called, "Buyer Beware." This year she received the "Teacher of the Year Award" in Michigan for her outstanding work in consumer education. Also, she has lectured about shoplifting in numerous in-service training programs for teachers and workshops for consumer groups.

In her classes and workshops, Ms. Speers often finds the attitude that, if caught, the suspected shoplifter can simply feign an excuse and return the stolen item. But many merchants are now prosecuting suspected shoplifters despite the legal costs.

Ms. Speers stresses that shoplifting is a serious crime. Convicted shoplifters may receive prison sentences and/or fines depending on the value of the item and the shoplifter's past record.

Ms. Speers emphasizes that merchants pass the losses from shoplifting to customers. Ironically it is the smaller businesses who can't afford great losses that suffer the highest percentage of shoplifting and retail crimes. These businesses, according to the Small Business Administration, are often forced to close if shoplifting losses increase.

SHE ALSO discusses the social aspect of getting caught shoplifting. Many shoplifters feel embarrassed and humilitated when caught. If convicted, they face future employment problems. For teenagers and children, the loss of trust by their parents is an important consideration.

Since writing the booklet, Ms. Speers explained that she is more tolerant of stores' policies. "For instance, I more fully understand now why I have to take the potato bag from underneath the grocery store cart," she noted. "People conceal things under them."

Ms. Speers received a bachelor's degree and a master's degree from EMU. She is currently working on her doctorate degree in education at the University of Michigan.

The booklet costs $2.25 and is available to the public at the Michigan Consumer Education Center, EMU, Ypsilanti 48197. Call the center at 487-2292 for further information.

Center director will follow judge's orders

By SHERRY KAHAN

The director of the Plymouth Center for Human Development believes the center will be able to reduce the number of its mentally retarded residents in the manner ordered by U.S. District Judge Charles Joiner.

"It has been our main objective to place our residents in appropriate community facilities," said Eranell McIntosh-Wilson. She added that the number of people living at the center has dropped from 805 to 605 since May 1978, when she came to Plymouth as assistant director.

By a previous court order, new admissions to the institution have been ended: Judge Joiner's order called for placing residents in community foster care homes and group homes until the center population drops to 100. He said this should be completed by March 1983.

He also set periodic deadlines. By March 31 of the coming year, the population should be 560, said Mrs. Wilson.

She explained that the decision from the Judge Joiner was not a ruling that came down "with a sledgehammer."

"It came as an agreement with the Department of Mental Health," she said, adding that the center is run by DMH "We proposed it. All of us have signed it, and were very aware of what it said."

She said that during the negotiations, the DMH lawyers met with lawyers of the Plymouth Association Retarded Citizens to exchange information.

Together with the Michigan association, PARC filed a suit 18 months ago to end abuse at tne center.

A STAFF OF 11 already is working on locating community facilities for the residents. "This is being done in Oakland and Macomb counties," said Mrs. Wilson, "so I think we ought to be able to do it in Wayne County."

She said the county has been divided into catchment areas so there will be no rivalry between the Plymouth center and similar facilities like the Northville Residential Training Center, which is also trying to place its residents in the community. "We're working together," said Mrs. Wilson.

No special criteria has been set for the 100 residents who will be left. These would be the ones for whom no appropriate place had been found, the director noted, adding it is hard to know which ones will be taken.

"I am optimistic about placement," she added. "We have the capability to find appropriate facilities, to monitor them and provide case management."

According to Frank Schuch, director of community placement, foster parents will be offered training, so they can teach the residents self-help skills in a developmental sequence. Center representatives will work with the parent and monitor the progress of their retarded resident. They will make sure they receive services, both medical and other.

HOWEVER, AN organizer of the union representing 719 of the center's 950 employes regards the contracting order as "devastating."

"Economically, it will be very hard or the many women who work there," said Nellie Tyson of Detroit for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFSCME).

She also questioned whether the care the retarded individuals would receive in group homes would be as good as the care they receive at the center.

Ms. Tyson believes the resident who goes to a foster home will be taken "out of love" so will get proper care. But group homes, she said, are another thing.

"They will take them for money," she said. "They won't have the concern."

She also voiced fears their medical problems or aggressive behavior might not be as well monitored as they are at the center.

The Plymouth center became involved in the court case leading to the latest Joiner decision following reports of widespead abuse of residents by employes and other residents.

Ward Presbyterian goes to 3 services

DR. BARTLETT HESS

By SHERRY KAHAN

Ward United Presbyterian Church has a sanctuary that seats 1,000 people plus 100 choir members. It has been having two services each Sunday. But this is not enough to accomodate all those who wish to attend the Livonia church.

So on Sunday, Sept. 9, Ward will inaugurate three services in order to gather in everyone. They will be at 8:30, 10 and 11:30 a.m. Dr. Bartlett Hess, pastor of the 3,300-member congregation, expects that for the most part, he will be speaking at all three services each Sunday.

"Ours is a happy church," he said recently in response to a query about the church's success. "It meets the needs of people."

He explained he agreed with the Bible that God has given every Christian certain gifts. "Each person is to use these gifts to help others in the church as well as minister to the world."

He then went on to show that Ward has religious, social and sport activities that keep its members useful, busy and in touch with each other. It also has a full and part-time staff of 15 to help them do it.

"WE HAVE 250 people working in the Sunday school," Hess said, beginning a long list of church projects. "Then a man came to me who wanted to start a group called Alcoholics for Christ to help lead them on from where Alcoholics Anonymous starts. Every Thursday night we have that group meeting here."

He said church members overflowed one golf league so another was started. The church also sponsors a bowling league and skiing for teens in winter.

Our people hold parties and meetings in nursing homes and help in a church in Detroit, Hess said. "Recently a member had serious surgery, after which the doctor said he'd never walk again," said Dr. Hess. "We have a prayer chain which went into action, praying for him. Now he is walking and back at the job."

A man once came to the pastor and told him of a dream he had about someone in the church in need of financial help.

"He brought in a check in the thousands," said Hess. "Later we learned that one of our families had been burned out, so we gave them the check."

When anyone shows an interest in the church, Hess shows an interest in him..

"After a family comes to church the first time, I'll call them and see if they have a church connection," he mentioned. "If they don't, we call on them and keep in touch. If they come to our membership classes, they will be part of a small group so they get to know each other.

"I come to know almost all of the members. If someone isn't here, I call to see if they are sick or in need. We have 100 deacons, each of whom is responsible for 20 families."

FOR MEMBERS who are in search of religious knowledge there are 60 small Bible study groups which meet in homes. From 600-800 adults attend Sunday school classes. Classes for all ages are held on Wednesday night, which is highlighted by a dinner prepared by women of the church in Ward's kitchen.

Margaret Hess, the pastor's wife, conducts a Tuesday morning Bible class attended by from 400-500 persons of all faiths.

For those looking for social activities, the church sponsors the largest singles group in the Detroit area, with attendance at meetings of 400-500.

"A friendly church is absolutely essential," said Hess. "Ours is a large friendly church where no one needs to get lost unless he wants to. We have never taken a pledge or called on anyone to get one. Yet our average per member giving is more than $400 a year."

He spoke also of why many people are turning back to religion.

"I think, compared to the '60s, that people are turning to the church because they realize they don't have the answer," he said. "They need to know what the Lord is saying. There is job uncertainty and homes are breaking up. So people need faith, courage, assurance and certainty which they can find in a loving church."

St. Dunstan registers

Religious education classes for students attending public schools will begin Monday, Sept. 17 at St. Dunstan Church, 1641 Belton, Garden City. Registration will be held the first three Sundays in September, at which time the tuition fee must be paid.

Tuition is $10 per student. If there are more than three children per family in attendance, the tuition is a maximum of $25.

The classes will be from 4:15 to 5:15 p.m. on Mondays for grades one to six and in the evenings from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m. for those in grades seven and 12.

Learn religion through TV

Area residents can earn college credit while watching television through a religious studies course at Madonna College.

A series of 13 weekly broadcasts titled, "The Long Search," dealing with world religions, will be aired at 6 p.m. Sundays on Channel 56 from Sept. 23 to Dec. 16.

Those interested in taking this four credit course must make prior arrangements with Sister Martin Ann, director of religious studies at Madonna; phone 591-5178.

Registration must be completed prior to Sept. 23 in the registrar's office in the administration building. It is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Among the topics of the series are the Protestant Spirit, Footprint of Buddha, the chosen people, Zulu lion and one called "Rome, Leeds and the Desert," which is about Catholicism.

Community change is topic

How can you change your community?

An effort to answer this question will be made during a series of workshops conducted by Roger Playwin and Maggie White at the Catholic Youth Organization, Gabriel Richard Building, 305 Michigan, Detroit. The workshops will be held in October through February.

Included in the series are four instructional sessions which will offer techniques on how to plan more effectively, ways to discover how power can help solve problems, strategies to increase membership and exploring fund-raising techniques.

Attendance is limited to the first 25 organizations to register. Registrations are being accepted by CYO. Contact the organization at 963-7172.

Deaf aided

Rene Richardson of Westland signs her thanks to the Clinton Township Lions Club which donated $1,000 to the deaf scholarship program of Madonna College. With Rene is Sr. Mary Francilene Van de Vyver, president of the college.

Comments on Judy Blume's 'Blubber'

I'm usually aware of the top 10 best-selling books, both fiction and non-fiction.

Not that I have read them, but I at least know what is being written. I'm also current in the world of diet books.

Children's literature presents some other problems, where, even though I have children, I am not up on the latest for children.

Recently, however, I found out about a book called "Blubber" by Judy Blume. I am familiar with Judy Blume and the controversy surrounding her writing. So I checked out her book from the library in an effort to find out how she would treat a sensitive subject like overweight.

Most people who are overweight as adults have had difficulty as children. Often, they have been ridiculed, or teased — sometimes unmercifully — at the hands of their peers.

Judy Blume attempts to deal with the problem of Linda, 11-year-old girl nicknamed "Blubber" for obvious reasons in junior high school. The plot centers around the outrageous attempts of class peers to antagonize the overweight child and taunt her until she crumbles under the pressure.

The nasty conspiracy continues until Wendy, one of Linda's classmates, begins to feel that maybe what they are doing to "Blubber" may not be in her best interest.

In the end, it is Wendy who reforms her way of thinking and decides to treat Blubber as a classmate and not as an outcast.

Blume, while she made some valid points about the treatment of people who are different from most, missed the boat when she failed to captivate the feelings of the one who was being maligned. The scene in the girls' lavatory, where malicious attempts to humiliate the 11-year-old were handled well through dialogue. But this would have been the perfect place to demonstrate the inner humiliation of the victim. Does Blume fail in her message? Was she insensitive to this aspect of life?

Perhaps. Maybe no one can appreciate the feelings of another until they themselves have been in direct contact with a similar situation in life. I'd be interested in knowing if Ms. Blume was ever overweight as a child. I presume perhaps she was not. For if she had been, the threads of sensitivity of the child would have been woven more tightly throughout the plot.

Adults have a way of passing off the feelings of children as being non-existent. Adults fail to realize children are little people with feelings just as strong as their own — maybe even stronger. The way in which a child is treated will be reflected in how he matures into an adult.

Name-calling, humiliation, or negative criticism are the worst ways in which to help a child control his eating, or to overcome his bad habits. If most cases, it will only accentuate the problems by sending the child to the cookie jar, candy box, or the second helping at the table.

PARENTS, work with your children — not against them. Give them the credit for intelligence that they have. Support their efforts in weight control by not buying offending foods. Don't taunt them by saying "Just one bite won't hurt."

You will find that by explaining why some foods are better for them than others, they will be reasonable and more understanding than one might think.

Katherine Crossman, a registered dietician who is setting up a private dietary counseling practice in Livonia, says "Children don't want to be told what they can't eat. She says that she has a great deal of success with them when she allows them to write out what they want, meal by meal. They are much more inclined to stay on a diet and usually only need minor nutritional adjustments to what they have chosen.

There is a lesson to be learned here. Treat a child with compassion, understanding, and with intelligence. He will respond amazingly well.

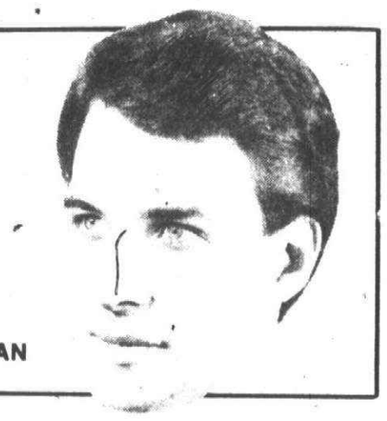
The Bottom Line

IRS audits



By DANIEL HERRIMAN

(The author, Daniel Herriman, is partner in a Plymouth consulting firm for small businesses).

Computer technology developments are giving the Internal Revenue Service an ever-expanding versatility in the area of tax return audits.

For 1979, IRS plans include a variety of "document-matching" computer tests which compare what you report to what others report about you.

The IRS also will be comparing returns from one year to another to uncover inconsistencies between years.

Some of the items on this year's high interest audit list are:

Sale of residence — If a taxpayer claimed a deduction for real estate taxes on his home in one year and his next year's return heading shows a different address, IRS will expect to see Form 2119 reporting the sale of his residence included in his return.

New home credit recapture — In 1975 and 1976, taxpayers could claim a tax credit up to $2,000 on the purchase of newly constructed homes. But if they sell the residence within three years without buying a new one, they are required to pay back the credit. IRS plans a blanket audit of all taxpayers who took the credit and showed an address change the following three years.

Sales of stocks — If dividend income from a particular source appears one year and not the next, IRS will wonder why no sale of stocks shows up on the return.

Also, if nontaxable distributions are received, they should be used to reduce the cost (and thus increase the gain) when the stock is sold. IRS has selected some 50,000 returns from 1977 which reported sales of stocks and will check these against the list of corporations which made nontaxable distributions in recent years. Then they will check to see that the increased gain was correctly reported.

Dividend and interest income — Form 1099s are prepared by banks and corporations and identify amounts and recipients. IRS wants to see the same amounts of the recipient's return.

State tax refunds — Several states will provide IRS with a list of refund checks mailed. Auditors will examine returns to make sure the refunds were included in income where appropriate. (They do not have to be included in income unless tax was reduced by deducting state income tax paid in the previous year, or if you did not itemize your deductions on your 1977 return).

Credit for the elderly — Taxpayers age 65 or older receive a tax credit up to $562 on a joint return if they receive no nontaxable pensions. But they must reduce their base for the credit by Social Security and railroad retirement benefits received. IRS computers will be getting together with the Social Security Administration computers to make sure taxpayers claiming the credit have been properly reflecting their Social Security benefits.

INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS

Business owners are well aware of the continuing fight the IRS wages against independent contractors.

The 1978 Tax Act prohibits the IRS from making any rules to define the difference between independent contractors and employees prior to Jan. 1, 1980.

The law says that if an individual is being treated as an independent contractor before Jan. 1, 1980, and if during 1979 all information returns (1099s) required to be filed are filed for independent contractors, the individual shall not be deemed an employee of the taxpayer.

IRS now has designated a new form (1099NEC, Statement for Recipients of Nonemployee Compensation) to be used in reporting payments of $600 or more during a calendar year.

In the past IRS Form 1099 MISC (Statement for Recipients of Miscellaneous Income) has served the same basic purpose. To comply with IRS and the law, and to protect your contention that an individual is an independent contractor, you should issue the new 1099NEC to your independent contractor.

Because consistency and correctness of handling independent contractors is especially important in 1979, you should be sure to comply with the new reporting requirements from IRS.

Observer & Eccentric
NEWSPAPERS

Second Annual

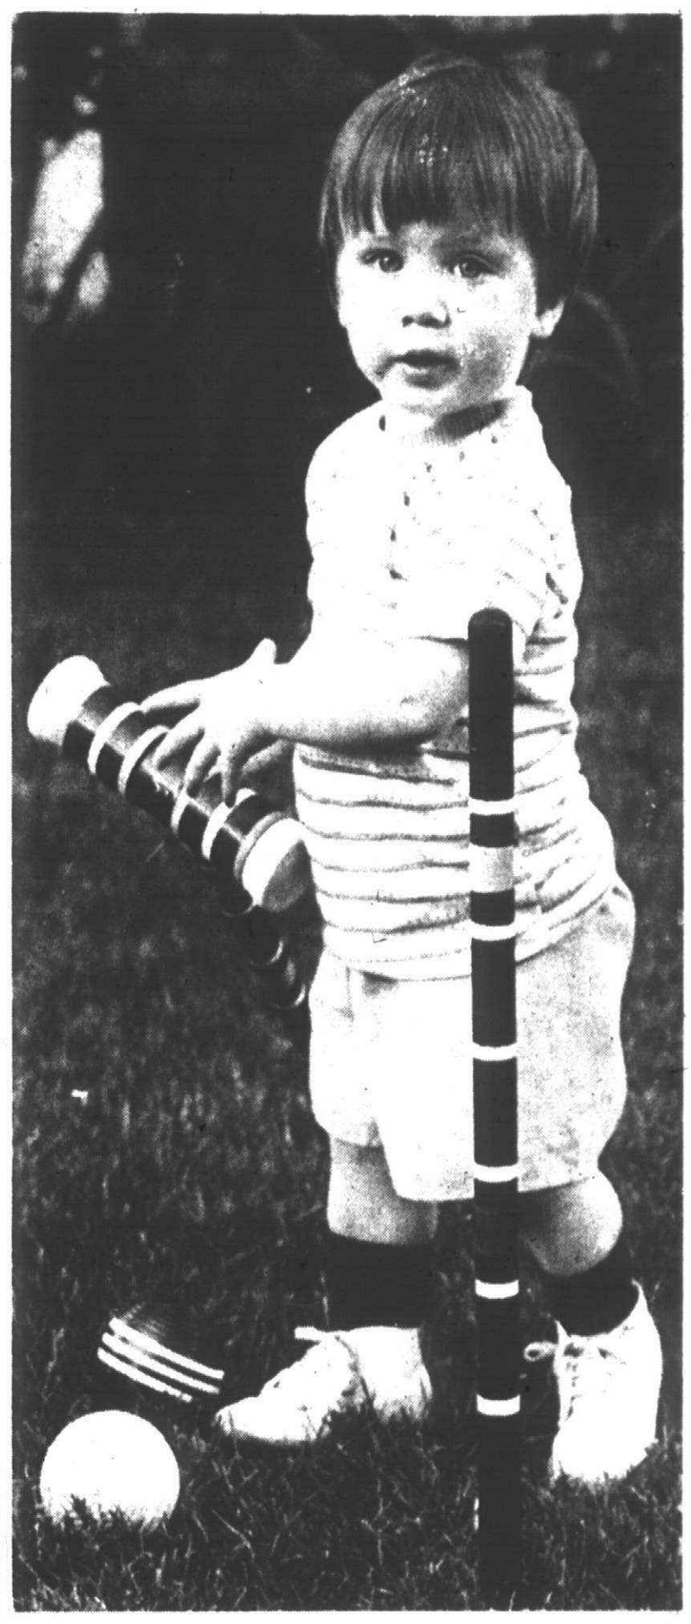
Theme:
"The Year of the Child"



1979 has been designated the International Year of the Child. No matter how diverse the lifestyle of Observer & Eccentric readers, one common experience is shared: We have all been children.

We ask you, then, to think back to the days of childhood to discover those things that made growing up special to you. All you need to do is search the face of the nearest child, and you will find that those same special experiences haven't really changed.

Then, tell us--through the eyes of your camera--what's so special about growing up in the suburbs. All you need is some slide film, a camera and a child (or children) doing what comes naturally.

You'll find them at carnivals, shopping centers, playgrounds and quiet river banks.

Since there is no age limit to our contest, children who enter may have an added advantage, since they don't have to resort to memory to tell us what's special about growing up in the suburbs.

We will publish the winning entries--in color--right here on the pages of your hometown newspaper.

Win

First Prize: $100 Gift Certificate

Second Prize: $75 Gift Certificate

Third Prize: $40 Gift Certificate

All gift certificates will be redeemable at World Camera stores in Livonia, Birmingham, Renaissance Center or Avon Township. In addition three honorable mention gift certificates will be awarded.

Contest Rules:

1. There are no age limits, but the photographer must be a resident of one of the communities in which Observer & Eccentric Newspapers circulate.
2. The contest is open to amateur photographers only. No employee or family member of an employee of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers is eligible to enter.
3. The deadline for entries is Sept. 17, 1979. Each contestant may submit two color slides. Each slide should be marked with the name, address and phone number of the contestant. An entry blank should accompany the slides.
4. Slides should have been taken during the period of September 17, 1978 and the contest deadline date.
5. All entries become property of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and CANNOT BE RETURNED.
6. Permission of any persons in the slides must be obtainable in the form of a signed release upon publication.
7. Entries will be judged by a panel of Observer & Eccentric reporters, editors and photographers. Winners will be judged on the basis of originality, use of color and adherance to the theme.

Old Beech School built in 1874, has since received an addition. It has not been used as a classroom for a number of years. (Staff photos by Art Emanuele)

New center opens for county's retarded

By JOHN BOZZO

Expansion, exposure, acceptance and action.

That's what the Association for Retarded Citizens/Northwest Communities (ARC) hopes to accomplish through a lease of Beech School.

"We provide services because the community doesn't provide services for developmentally disabled adults," said Margaret Olesnavage, executive director.

"Our intent is to start programs which spark other spin-off programs. We want to be a catalyst.

"We don't want to set up an institution where we have everything for retarded. However, we hope exposure of the fact we're in Redford will gain awarness in the adult community of the contributions retarded can make to society."

ARC is a mostly volunteer group which provides services for mentally retarded persons and their families. It was formed 20 years ago, Olesnavage said, by parents who wanted to keep their children at home, rather than put them in an institution.

Last May 21, ARC opened its first office in two small rooms at the Redford Community Center.

"We've gained 10 members per week over the past six months," Olesnavage said.

She now claims 300 member families. In addition to Redford Township, members come from Livonia, Garden City, Plymouth, Northville, Canton Township and Detroit.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE now being conducted to lease Beech School from the South Redford School District. Beech School is on Beech Daly Road near Capitol. Built in 1874, Beech is the oldest building in the district.

Olesnavage said she hopes a lease agreement will be reached within one week.

"We hope to have occupancy Oct. 15 and start programs that same day," Olesnavage said.

"Beech is a charming school," she added. "It offers facilities for large groups of 100 or more and small groups like scouting."

Ms. Olesnavage was the only employee when ARC opened its office May 21. There are now three employees. She hopes there will be six employees by January.

Twenty hours of programming will include activities like: boy scouts; girl scouts; brownies; cub scouts; explorer scouts; bowling; horseback riding; dances; weight watching; basketball; field trips; crime prevention for the retarded; disco; cooking; and a drop-in center.

DEBBIE KOLTUNCHIK is an ARC employe who is also a Redford Township resident and student majoring in social work at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Ms. Koltunchik will coordinate a new program called Youth Association for Retarded Citizens from the Beech School site.

"We hope to make kids more aware of what mental retardation is," Koltunchik said. "Many are afraid of it because they've never been exposed to it. We'll have normal kids working with retarded kids in all activities."

Ms. Koltunchik will train all the normal kids to be aware of what mental retardation is and the limitations of retarded persons.

Executive director Olesnavage stresses that she does not want ARC programs limited to retarded persons and their families.

"Our intention is to integrate as much as possible," Ms. Olesnavage said. "Our intent is not to make programs special or selective, but to open programs up to the whole community.

"People who work here become involved through exposure. It will be interesting to see what reaction people will have when they see their children working with retarded people who they are trying to stop from building a building."

A group home for retarded, planned for Redford Township, is now hung up in a court battle. Opposing residents claim the proposed home violates zoning restrictions.

Dennis Hinebaugh of Redford Township is one person who became involved through exposure. He works in the community center where ARC has its office as an employee for the Community Development Department.

"I started by going to one of the baseball games," Hinebaugh said. "I enjoy it."

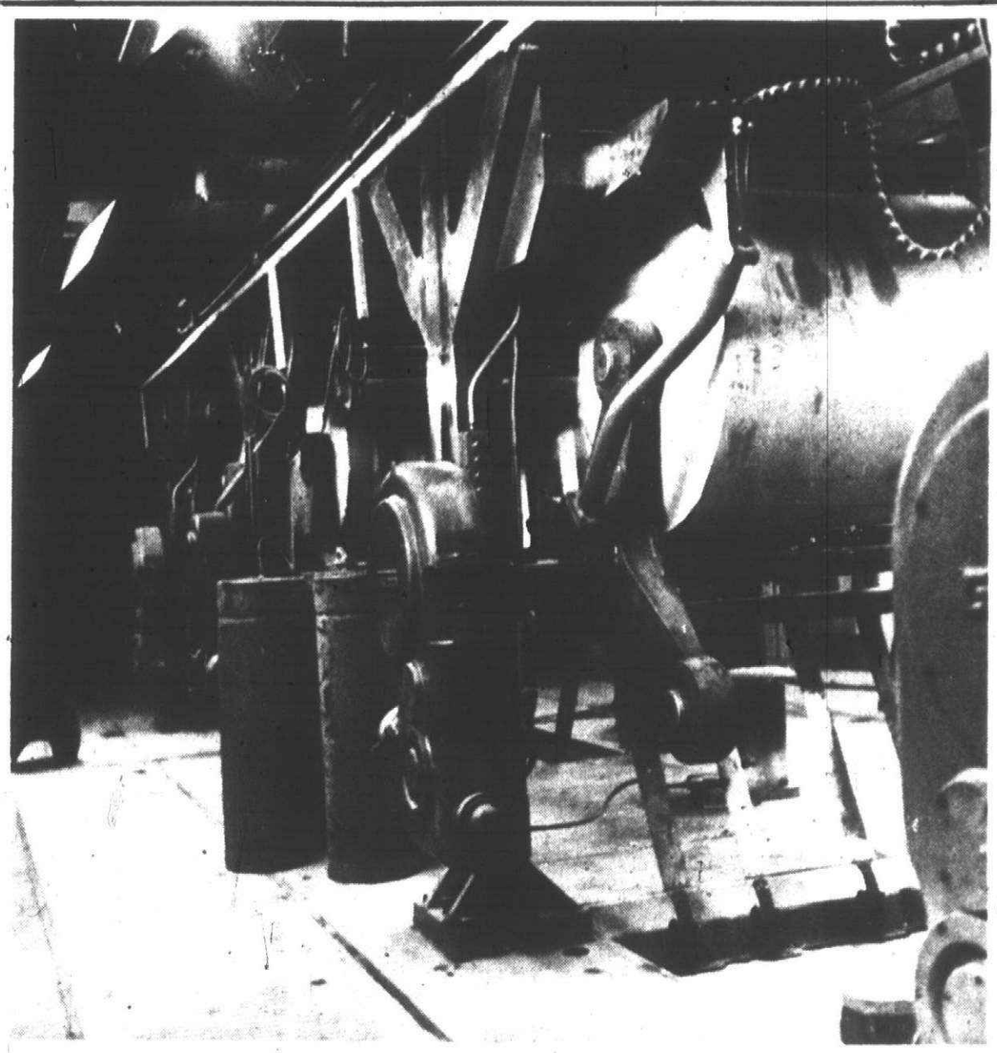
ANOTHER PROGRAM slated for development at the new site is a conservatory.

"It's my dream to start a conservatory of the performing arts for the mentally retarded in this area — theatre, dance and music," Ms. Olesnavage said. "That building will nicely lend itself to that kind of program without remodelling."

Beech School will also offer meeting space for the numerous ARC committees. These committees include: Membership Committee; Site Committee; Parent to Parent Counselling; Advocacy Group; and Ways and Means Committee.

The Ways and Means Committee takes care of the group's funding. According to Olesnavage, 7 percent of the ARC funds come from United Way.

Of the remaining 97 percent, about 30 percent is donated by private donors, individuals or groups. The remainder is raised through Wednesday night bingo at Roma Hall, dinner dances, sales of buttons, Christmas cards and all-occasion cards.



WHAT'S THIS?

This is the Goss Metro Press. It prints your hometown newspaper twice each week. It's big! It stands 28 feet tall and weighs 150 tons. It holds 2,000 pound paper rolls that are about six and one half miles long.

Tours of the Observer & Eccentric Livonia Plant, where 12 hometown newspapers are printed twice each week, feature a visit to the pressroom where this mighty giant can be seen in operation.

They also include a visit to the newsroom, and a peek at the classified advertising phone room where want ads are typed on what looks very much like a small television screen.

To arrange for your group's free tour, call 591-2300. Tours last approximately one hour and are given on Mondays and Thursdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. for groups up to 25.

Counselor training to begin

The Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center will offer peer counselor training beginning Monday, Sept. 24. Those interested are asked to volunteer by Sept. 10.

Designed for those with a interest in helping women discover their potential, the seven-week course will meet 7-10 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays.

Participants will study to develop empathy listening skills and problem-solving techniques. Upon successful completion of the intensive training sessions, they are requested to serve as volun teer peer counselors three hours a week for a minimum of four months.

Individuals pay for two institutional credits of instruction. No previous training is necessary. Telephone the resource center at 591-6400, extension 432, to arrange an appointment for a group interview.

Interviews will be held at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, Sept. 11 and 13. The center is in the second house next to the south parking lot on the Livonia campus, Haggerty between Six Mile and Seven Mile.

'Old West Side' home tours planned

Six Ann Arbor homes built before World War I will be open to the public during the seventh annual Old West Side Homes Tour on Sunday, Sept. 16.

A special feature of this year's tour will be two authentic English double-decker buses which will provide free shuttle service between the homes.

There is a house that holds brass rubbings from England, another, treasures from China. Yet another veils its face from the foreign noise of cars behind a hedge that had grown free for years unknown.

A farmhouse's pastel, still serene exterior belies the lovely modern apartments within. These are the homes of Ann Arbor's Old West Side. Alike in their simplicity, their quiet grace, and their highly functional architecture, they bespeak a neighborhood once common in the Midwest, a neighborhood woven together by large trees, fenceless yards, and care.

And yet, their interiors express the individuality of the people who have revived these homes, reclaimed them from their transient, perhaps even condemned condition, and brought to each house the ingenuity and pragmatism that characterized its German founders.

DISTINGUISHED by structural integrity and architectural homogeneity, this neighborhood has been recognized for its increasingly rare quality. In 1972, it was placed on the National Register of Historic Places. For the last six years, in its annual homes tour, the Old West Side Association has offered an opportunity to see this special place.

On Sept. 16, these four homes, and two others will be open to the public from noon to 5 p.m. Each home, dating at least to the turn of the century, has a history of many people passing through. But this year, each one welcomes you.

They are:

- The Bill and Martha Folk residence, 509 S. Fourth Street.
- The Lowell and Ruth Smith residence, 548 S. Third Street.
- The Kit Johnson rental property, 421 W. Madison.
- The Jim and Ellen Robinson residence, 535 S. Ashley.
- The Ken Daly rental property, 335 S. Seventh Street.
- The John Hollowell rental property, 844 W. Huron.

Tickets are $3 on the day of the tour; $2.50 in advance and $2 for senior citizens. For information, call 761-1716.

'Venus Man'

Hal Doyle and Soula Raptis are afraid of something during a rehearsal of "Venus Man" by the Marygrove Players, a theater group at the Detroit college on Six Mile near Wyoming. Curtain times are 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday and the following weekend. Matinees are 2 p.m. on Sept. 8, 9, 15, and 16. The production, presented by the Science Fiction Theater Guild, is a sci-fi musical comedy. It tells about a visitor from outer space who lands in a South Carolina town.

Great performance

Sir George Solti will conduct the Chicago Symphony Orchestra during a "Great Performances" concert scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 16, on Channel 56. He will lead the program entitled "Solti conducts Mendelssohn."

Oakway plans varied programs for music fans

Francesco DiBlasi (right) of the Oakway Symphony Orchestra discusses an upcoming concert with piano soloists from the University of Michigan School of Music Paul Boylan (seated) and Morris Risenhoover.

A "French spectacular," two Beethoven concertos, a tribute to the University of Michigan and highlights from Carmen are on tap for fans of Oakway Symphony Orchestra this season.

Conductor Francesco DiBlasi calls Oakway's seventh season the best yet of musical offerings in suburban Oakland and Wayne counties.

The OSO office is already filling membership-ticket orders. Brochures and forms are available by calling the office at 476-6544 or writing to Box 171 Farmington 48024. Season tickets also are available at Hudson's, Madonna College in Livonia and Hammell Music in Livonia.

SIX SUBSCRIPION concerts have been planned — half on Sundays at 4 and half on Saturdays at 8 p.m. Here is the lineup of programs and soloists:

• Saturday, Sept. 29 at 8 p.m., Madonna College, I-96 at Levan — "French spectacular" program with the "Gaite Parisienne" of Offenbach and "An American in Paris" by Gershwin. Featured performers will be soprano Glenda Kirkland, who has appeared with the Detroit Symphony; the Apache Dancers from the Livonia Ballet Academy; the Can-Can Dancers from Miss Bunny's School of Dance; and guest conductor Ernest Jones. Quiche Lorraine and wine will be available prior to the concert and at intermission.

• Sunday, Nov. 11 at 4 p.m. in Harrison High School, 12 Mile west of Middlebelt, Farmington Hills — the Beethoven "Triple Concerto" featuring Alfio Pignotti, violin, Samuel Mayes, cello, and Dady Mehta, piano. Pignotti and Mayes are on the Eastern Michigan University faculty and Mehta on the University of Michigan's. The programming reflects DiBlasi's penchant for concertos with multiple performers. Although this concerto is a "standard," it is rarely performed by other than metropolitan orchestras because of "the difficulty of getting three artists to put it together," said DiBlasi.

• Sunday, Dec. 2 at 4 p.m. in Southfield-Lathrup High School, 12 Mile west of Southfield Road — The Beethoven Concerto No. 5 for Piano and Orchestra ("Emperor") with Flavio Varani as soloist. Varani is artist-in-residence at Oakland University and was warmly received by Oakway's audience in his 1974 performance of the Tchaikovsky first concerto.

• Sunday, Feb. 24 at 4 p.m. in Mercy High School, 11 Mile and Middlebelt, Farmington Hills — centennial salute to the University of Michigan School of Music. Mozart's Symphonie Concertante for four winds will feature Anno Mariotti, oboe, John Mohler, clarinet, Louis Hugh Cooper, bassoon, and Louis Stout, French horn. In Saint-Saens "Carnival of the Animals," Paul Boylan and Morris Risenhoover will be piano soloists, and television personality Sonny Eliot will narrate. Boylan is the new dean of the U-M School of Music.

• Saturday, April 19 at 8 p.m. in Harrison High School — winners of the second annual young artists competition. Last year's four winners received a total of $3,000 in prizes from the Michigan Foundation for the Arts, and their solo performances in concerto works was one of the most popular programs of the season. (Musicians interested in competing should write promptly to Oakway Symphony, Box 171 Farmington 48024. Judging will take place in January.)

• Saturday, May 17 at 8 p.m. in Seaholm High School, West Lincoln at Cranbrook, Birmingham — highlights from Bizet's operatic masterpiece Carmen. Staging will be by Alice Engram of Oakland University. Soloists will be announced.

A CABARET concert, in addition to the subscription series, will be offered Saturday, March 29 at 8 p.m. in Madonna College. Master of ceremonies will be State Sen. Jack Faxon, known for his legislative support of the fine arts.

Soprano Jan Rae and tenor Dino Valle will offer light classical and popular songs. Ernest Jones will be guest conductor.

Tickets are $6. Write to the symphony office for a brochure and table reservation information.

DiBlasi said there are several openings in the orchestra. Interested musicians should call him at 425-8618 to arrange an audition.

A Beethoven triple concerto will be performed with the Oakway Symphony by violinist Alfio Pignotti, (left) Dady Mehta, pianist (center), and Samuel Mayes, cellist.

• JAZZ AUDITIONS

Schoolcraft College will hold auditions for its jazz ensemble at 7 p.m., Friday, Sept. 17, during the first meeting of the class. The tryouts will be in Room 310 of the Forum Building. The campus is on Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile Roads. The ensemble rehearses 7-10 p.m. Mondays during the fall term. The concert schedule begins in January and includes performances in area high schools, colleges, and shopping centers. The ensemble includes high school and college students, and other musicians in other professions. Gary Laura will again direct the ensemble this year. Interested persons may call the fine arts department at 591-6400, extension 510, for more information.

• CIVIC THEATER

The Wayne-Westland Civic Theater will hold auditions for its fall production at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday in St. John Episcopal Church, 555 S. Wayne Road, just south of Cherry Hill Road. The production will be "Veronica's Room," a suspense by Ira Levin. The drama has parts for two men and two women. Interested persons may call 455-1293 for more information.

• STRINGS WANTED

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra is planning auditions for strings at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 10, in Central Middle School, on Main Street at Church. Fran Lang said that string players 15 years old and older are welcome. Persons interested in the audition may bring their own selections to play Monday night. She said the orchestra includes "professionals, semi-professionals and some pure amateurs." The orchestra will open its season Oct. 14 in Plymouth Salem High School, Joy Road at Canton Center Road. Guest conductor will be Mark Flint, director of the Michigan Opera Theater. Charles Roe will be guest soloist. The orchestra will be starting its 34th season.

• TIVOLI FAIR

The Northville Historical Society will sponsor its annual Tivoli Fair from Sept. 21-22 at Northville Downs, Seven Mile and Sheldon Roads. There will be a collection of works by numerous artists. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students, senior citizens, and children. The fair will be open 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Sept. 21 and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Sept. 22.

• POT LUCK

The Goodnews Christian Singles will hold a potluck dinner and meeting at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Main Street Baptist Church, on Main at Church in Plymouth.

• SOUNDS OF THE '20s

Sounds of the 1920s will return to the Redford Theater Sept. 14 when the New McKinney's Cotton Pickers and others will perform. Organist Fr. Jim Miller and Candy Johnson as soloists will entertain. The theater is on Lahser, just north of Grand River. The program starts at 8 p.m. and is sponsored by the Motor City Theater Organ Society. Tickets may be bought at the door or in advance at the theater box office, 17360 Lahser, Detroit 48219. Tickets for reserved seats are $5.50, $4.50, and $3.50.

Schoolcraft auditions set

The Schoolcraft College Theater Department will hold auditions this week for its dinner-theater production of "The Real Inspector Hound," a comedy by Tom Stoppard.

Tryouts will be from 4-6 and 7-10 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 5-6, in the liberal arts theater on the college campus, 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads.

The tryouts are open to any enrolled Schoolcraft student. The production will be performed Nov. 2-3 and Nov. 16-17.

Theater Guild wants producer, director

The Plymouth Theater Guild is seeking a producer and director for its children's show, "The Pale Pink Dragon" by Phyllis McCallum.

Applications and resumes should be sent to Plymouth Theater Guild, P.O Box 451, Plymouth, Mich. 48170. Tentative performance dates are Dec. 7-8 and Dec. 14-15.

The Guild's cotton candy wagon will be at the Plymouth Fall Festival this weekend.

Fall courses announced

Photographers looking for a new challenge can learn how to photograph the night sky during a new class for adults at Cranbrook Institute of Science.

A 35 mm camera and a tripod are the only tools necessary to shoot the moon, the sun, planets, constellations and deep-sky phenomena. The four-week course "Capturing the Stars: Astral Photography" begins Oct. 3. Fee is $24.

Other fall classes for adults will cover how to read and interpret maps for travel and real estate; an overview of major astronomical theories from the "big bang" to our ecological future; the techniques and aesthetics of close-up photography; lapidary and faceting; and the astronomical significance of Stonehenge and the Pyramids.

Courses begin throughout September, October and November. Fees for the four to 10-week sessions range from $18 to $100.

In addition, special seminars on edible wild plants and native Michigan fish begin Sept. 11 and 12. Fees are $12 and $18.

For more information, call 645-3230.

Cranbrook Institute of Science, 500 Lone Pine, is the Detroit area's natural history museum, open daily except major holidays. It is a division of Cranbrook Educational Community.

Wine

Richard Watson

Wine books bring an added dimension

While certainly not on par with drinking, one of the many anchillary pleasures of wine is reading about it.

But, it's more than a pleasure, intelligent consumption demands a bit of study here and there to learn about grapes, vinification, growing regions and more.

Reading about wine doesn't teach you how to appreciate it, however. Only tasting can do that. But maps, vintage dates, and personalities are another dimension of wine, a background against which to taste. And a good wine book makes a fine companion to a glass of Chardonnay in the evening. Hence this and following articles aimed at wine literature.

Signet Paperbacks has two excellent introductory books, an "Encyclopedia of Wine" and a "Guide to American Wines." Both published in 1975, they are no longer particularly up-to-date, but both are reasonably accurate and generally most informative.

You can spend a lot more (these are $2.25 each) and do a lot worse.

Also in paperback, and at a very reasonable price, is Hugh Johnson's the "World Atlas of Wine." At $7.95, the book is loaded with maps and details of the world's wine regions. The original hard cover was published in 1971 by Simon And Schuster and was revised in 1978. It now sells for $29.95, making the soft cover a bargain for a book less dependent on last-minute accuracy than some others. Statistical data and wine region maps don't go out of date very rapidly.

Another recently released Second Edition, however, is worth buying carrying as it does 25 percent new material and including information on some 200 new wineries bonded since the first edition. This is Leon Adams' "The Wines of America," (McGraw-Hill, 1978, second edition, $14.95) compendium of non-judgmental, informative data on the people and places of the United States world of wine. Even 13 pages on Michigan — out of nearly 600, this isn't inordinate.

Frank J. Prial has assembled some 80 of his best articles from his weekly New York Times wine columns under the title "Wine Talk".

Lake pollution is topic of Oct. 13 conference

By LEM MESEE
Outdoors writer

Outdoors

There's a conference coming up nearby for the ordinary fellow or landowner who's concerned about lake pollution, weed and algae growth and declining fish population in inland lakes.

It's scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 13, on the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College, I-696 at Orchard Lake Road in Farmington Hills.

I mention it this early because the Oakland County extension office is taking registrations in advance, though you need not be an Oakland resident.

Aim of the conference is to provide practical information on lake eutrophication along with the advantages and disadvantages of different strategies to combat it. "Eutrophication" is the dying process that all lakes go through, a process which starts almost as soon as the lakes are formed. In an urban area, the process is sometime faster.

Experts from Michigan State University, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the Michigan Lakes and Streams Associations will speak.

They will cover the causes of lake eutrophication, diagnosing water quality and corrective measures, such as harvesting or killing weeds, dredging, replacing septic systems with sewers and controls on development.

The conference costs $10, which covers the educational sessions, coffee breaks and lunch. To enroll, contact Wayne H. Nierman, Oakland County Extension Director, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac 48053 or call his office at 858-0880.

GOOD NEWS for waterfowl hunters.

The 1979 season should be slightly better than last year for duck hunters and moderately better for goose hunters. So says Gerald Martz, DNR waterfowl specialist.

Brood rearing habitat in the Canadian prairies was improved from 1978, and breeding populations were 10 percent greer, he said.

Shooting time is longer — from a half-hour before sunrise to sunset. "The 30-minute increase in starting time will bring Michigan into accord with most other states and shold help increase hunter success without threatening the resident population of waterfowl," said Martz.

The 50-day season starts Sept. 29 in the upper peninsula and Oct. 4 in the lower peninsula. Bag limit is 10 ducks. Possession limit is two days bag limit. Goose bag and possession limits are five.

"WHAT'S A-BLOOMING'" will be the topic of a family nature walk at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 16, at the nature center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock.

Naturalist Glenn Dent will help hikers search for many species of asters, goldenrod and other plants which colorfully announce the end of summer.

The program is free, but you'll need a vehicle entry permit, and you should register in advance by calling the park office 782-1255.

Down to earth

by ALICE WESSELS BURLINGAME

Plants need treatment

Now is the time to take cuttings of your coleus, not a day later, if you wish to bring them inside to give color to your indoor plant display.

During the winter you can take more "slips" to share with others from indoor growing coleus. Most of our annuals are affected by near frost nights. Geraniums can go through the first cold spells and ride through a major portion of Indian Summer.

This is the time to set up a covered card table in your garage and repot your indoor plants which need fresh soil and shifting to larger containers. After all is said and done, you are really further ahead by buying sacks of prepared soil. I have gone the route of using compost but you really get the best results from the commercial packages of soil.

Not all of your container plants will need a major change. Some of them you can prune where they have grown lopsided, take a fork and cultivate the soil by using a stroke from the outside of the pot toward the center, not too deep. This last mentioned step will break up the earth crust and let some air into the soil.

When you are satisfied with your beauty treatment, spray the leaves. Don't overlook underneath the leaves where the stomata are located, an important part of the plant where the aerating cells are centered.

Drainage is very important when repotting so plant roots won't drown. Don't overlook giving your manicured plants some fertilizer. If they have been backward in their growth don't overlook foliar feeding with Ra-pid-Gro.

Remember if you sort of "bunch" your potted plants near each other you will give them better care. You can grow indoor plants near all light exposures, the decision you have to make is the choice of plants for each light factor. Don't overlook the use of artificial light and of course fluorescent light. We have to be on the conservation team for ENERGY so select plants to meet your natural light.

Here is a test for your indoor plants and your response to them. Do they have interesting leaves? Notice the veining. You study the veining when you identify both indoor and outdoor leaves. Do the leaves have a tactile interest? Are they smooth, hairy, very small or large? Are the plants gustatory, edible? Herbs and some seeds are used to embellish foods.

Does the plant have a pleasant or unusual smell? Many of the herbs as well as citrus fruits have a flavor.

There has been considerable research on lawn care and low cutting of the lawn is like overgrazing on a farm. The best height for cutting grass in our area and for our bluegrass, is 2 ½ inches and in the shade 3 inches. The grass blades provide the food for the plant. The result will be deeper root penetration and fuller growth.

The horticulture industry in the vegetable department are placing emphasis this year on trying to develop a tomato which will be a vegetable which can be enjoyable many weeks after harvest.

Music series slated

Woody Herman and his orchestra, the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, classical guitarist Manuel Barrueco and the Cincinnati Ballet Company will be featured in upcoming performances at Eastern Michigan University as part of the university's 1979-80 Guest Artist Series sponsored by the Office of Campus Life.

All EMU concerts will be held in Pease Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

The Cincinnati Ballet Company will begin the concert series Saturday, Sept. 29. Thursday, Nov. 15, Woody Herman and his orchestra will perform in concert and classical guitarist Manuel Barrueco will be featured in a Thursday, Jan. 17, concert.

The St. Paul Chamber Orchestra will conclude the 1979-80 Guest Artist Series with a performance scheduled for Monday, March 10.

INDIVIDUAL TICKET prices for all of the concerts, except Manuel Barrueco, range from $4 to $7.50. Students and senior citizens will be admitted for $4 and $5.50; tickets for the general public are $5 and $7.50.

Students and senior citizens will be admitted for the Manuel Barrueco concert for $2 and $3.50; general admission tickets for the event are $3 and $5.

A special 20 percent discount will be offered as part of a 1979-80 Guest Artist Series package. Special package rates of $22 and $14 are available to the general public. The series package price for students and senior citizens is $16 and $11. A 10 percent discount is available to groups of 20 or more concertgoers.

As an added feature of the 1979-80 series, the EMU Office for Campus Life has arranged a reservation-only buffet supper which will be offered at 6:30 p.m. on the evening of each performance.

THE BUFFET will be held in McKenny Union and features carved roast baron of beef and seafood newburg with accompanying beverages, appetizers, side dishes and desserts. Dinner is $8.95 for adults; $5 for children. Tickets for the pre-performance buffet may be purchased with concert tickets.

Tickets for the 1979-80 EMU Guest Concert Series are available in the Campus Life Ticket Booth, 117 Goodison Hall, 9 a.m.-4 p.m., Monday-Friday. Tickets also may be purchased by mail by writing the Office of Campus Life at EMU.

For additional information on the 1979-80 EMU Guest Artist Series at Eastern, call the Office of Campus Life at 487-3045.

Station earns support

Some 4,500 Channel 56 supporters pledged a record-breaking $203,539 during "Summerfest," the station's 12-day awareness and fund-raising campaign, which ran Aug. 17-28.

That's a 57 percent increase over the $129,583 raised during the same period in 1978. It is also considerably above the $150,000 goal which was announced at the beginning of the campaign.

Channel 56's new president and general manager, Jack Caldwell, increased the goal shortly after he joined the pledge drive team because of the plans for growth that he envisions for Detroit public television.

The community response that followed was tremendous, Channel 56 reported.

Alda can charm but doesn't appear like tough politician

The Movies

LOUISE SNIDER

It is Alan Alda who is seductive in "The Seduction of Joe Tynan" (R), in which he plays a bright, young, liberal Senator with a White House gleam in his eye.

Alda's beguiling charm lies in a combination of a relaxed physical style teamed with an intense emotional concern that make his character interesting and likeable. What these qualities don't do is make Joe Tynan believeable — just a nice guy who happens to be a senator.

Where is the drive? The authority? The toughness? Where are the qualities that are requisite for climbing the political ladder? He might have made the school board, but how did he get elected to national office?

Most of the other characters, like Joe Tynan, share the same lack of credibility, although, like Alda, each comes through with a fine performance. The women's roles are very strong, and Barbara Harris and Meryl Streep do them justice.

MS. HARRIS IS the senator's wife, a practicing psychologist who doesn't seem to have any grip on her own emotions. Ms. Streep, if you can believe this, is a flirtatious Southern belle, a tough-minded lawyer and a good sport about letting go of married men who have other commitments. She is the daughter of a powerful Louisiana Democrat who is very supportive of her Eastern, liberal, pro-integrationist lover — the senator (really).

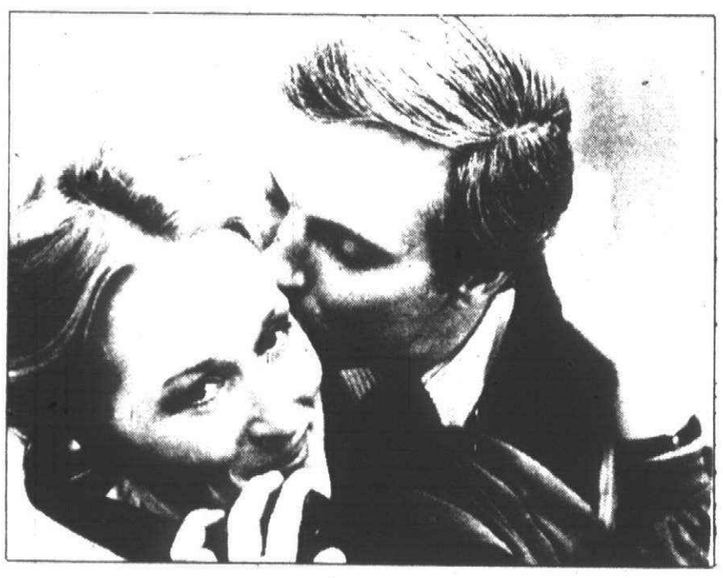
Melvyn Douglas fits the bill as a "tenured" senior senator, slowed down by a stroke, but still capable of exercising his clout. For some obscure reason, his mental lapses are revealed in a tendency to speak French and quote Stendhal. Altogether, a curious development that isn't explained and doesn't advance the action.

It comes as no surprise in this "inside Washington" movie to learn that good men either go down the tubes or, seduced by the trappings of office and the perquisites of power, learn to develop a malleable set of ethics.

Aside froms its fetching cast, there is nothing new in "The Seduction of Joe Tynan." The stresses, compromises and sellouts that attend political ambition have been examined before in a host of movies from Henry Fond in "The Best Man" to Robert Redford in "The Cadidate."

In this pre-election year, "Joe Tynan" probably seemed a good bet. Ironically, the film is most effective when it's furthest removed from its political base. The scenes that establish personal relationships show the greatest imagination, vividness and freshness.

ALDA'S SCRIPTWRITING and role-playing are at their best in the intimate and very amusing love scenes and in the sharp observations of family life. His political insights may be hackneyed, but he doesn't lack a humane outlook and the humor necessary to sustain it.



Meryl Streep portrays the lover whom Tynan attempts to distract, in Universal's film about love and power.

And Madame de Pompadour regularly received gifts of brilliant goldfish from the French-India company in the eighteenth century
What's the most valuable commercial fish in existence? Some authorities claim it is the salmon
Montezuma must have learned this. It takes only a few seconds to feed your fish daily, and about 15 minutes once a week to clean the tank

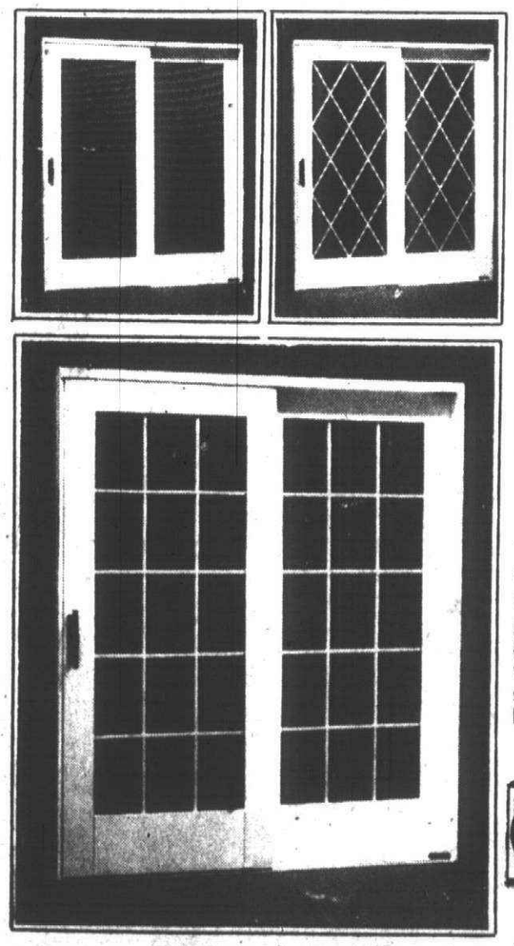
Introducing Pella's Contemporary French Sliding Glass Doors...



The Contemporary French Door offers exceptional energy efficiency with the charm of a French door and the convenience of a sliding door.

DIFFERENT because it's equally at home in traditional and contemporary settings. DIFFERENT because it comes in white or dark brown aluminum cladding over solid wood. DIFFERENT because it conserves energy far better than ordinary sliding glass or French-style doors. DIFFERENT because it features Pella's exclusive Double Glass Insulation System. DIFFERENT because Pella sliding glass door features a unique toe operated security lock. DIFFERENT because it's made with the traditional craftsmanship that sets Pella apart.

13/16" between glass air space for superior insulation. Optional solarcool Bronze Glass. Core of laminated wood blocks for endurance and warp-resistance. Sliding panel on outside - the harder the wind blows, the tighter it seals. Low maintenance exterior with the beauty and warmth of wood inside. Optional between the glass slim shade or wood dividers. Self closing screen and security lock. Ideal for replacing 6 ft. aluminum doors.

ERA®

All you need to know in Real Estate.™

Electronic Realty Associates

Each office independently owned and operated.

THIS NEW COAT MEANS WE HAVE EVEN MORE HOME SELLING IDEAS UP OUR SLEEVE.

As ERA® real estate professionals we can offer you the three most important benefits in home buying and selling—limited home warranties and national exposure.

Home Sellers Protection. A major expense is something you don't need just before you sell your home. ERA® Home Sellers Protection covers most major working home components from two weeks after you decide to sell right up until the day it's sold (180-day maximum). Regardless of what it costs you pay only a modest deductible.

Home Buyers Protection. ERA® Home Buyers Protection works the same way, protecting buyers against the cost of repair or replacement of most major home components for a full year from date of sale. Again there is only a modest deductible. This just naturally makes your home more attractive and a better buy.

National Exposure. Remember too that up to 40% of all homes are bought by out-of-towners. This further increases the chances of a faster sale at a better price through us. Thanks to the ERA® nationwide electronic photo-data network, prospective buyers all over the country get a good look at your home.

We hope you like what we have up our sleeve. And we hope you'll take advantage of it. When you're ready to buy or sell a home, give us a call.

JOANNE BRYNGELSON

A 2 Million $ LADY

Century 21 Hartford South is proud to announce that Joanne Bryngelson has exceeded $2,000,000 in sales already this year.

Joanne has recently relinquished the management of the Hartford South Office. This will give her more time to service her many satisfied clients and also to ride herd on her active family which consists of 3 teenagers: Joe, Jeff and Denise and one pre-teen Beth.

Active in civic and school affairs, Joanne and her husband Don are also active members of Faith Lutheran Church, Livonia where they are volunteer youth counselors.

Congratulations Joanne!

REALTY WORLD
WM. DECKER, INC.
"Our World Revolves Around You"

LOVE PLYMOUTH HOMES?
This Cape Cod is one of those charming homes people notice. The wide secluded yard has towering trees and with four bedrooms, 2½ baths, and first floor den it is as attractive inside as it is eye catching from the street. The important extras are all there so give us a call this weekend. $119,900

TREES
are the pride of the Plymouth Community and this four bedroom Colonial in the North Canton area, though of newer construction, has large trees in the yard. With 2½ baths, family room and fireplace (it's the soft brown brick you'll love), an easy to live with decor, and exceptionally appealing Land Contract terms available. $81,900

IT'S EASY TO CARE
for an all brick home with a newer roof and it's easy to love the shady street it faces. With two large bedrooms and a spacious open living area, it's a solid starter or easy-to-retire-in-home in Plymouth. $59,900

SUBSTANTIAL AND SOLID
This all brick 1½ story home has the solid construction and excellent value of a custom built home and on a fine Plymouth address as well. Wet plaster walls, hardwood floors (perfect for your oriental rugs), two fireplaces (one is marble), central air and magnificently sized rooms give that gracious, elegant feeling. If you're looking for the unique but want a highly livable home don't miss this opportunity. Excellent Land Contract terms available. Asking $125,000

UNIQUE
floor plan and exterior appearance set this Canton 1½ story home apart from the ordinary. There are three bedrooms, 2 full baths, family room and fireplace and a beautiful wooded area off the rear yard to enhance the charm and livability every time you look out the windows. Excellent condition and nearly new construction. $69,900

CUL-DE-SAC
locations mean low traffic and an extra sized yard. This four bedroom, 2½ bath Colonial in Carriage Hills has that location as well as an impeccable and tasteful interior. Move in with time to enjoy the warm days of autumn on the large rear deck. $81,900.

H.O.W.-WOW!
this quad level home is so perfect you'll find yourself placing your furniture the moment you enter the foyer. Nearly new, it has H.O.W. 10 year warranty, and first owners who have done all the work of settling a brand new home for you. Four bedrooms, 2 baths, a huge family room, central air, and a sprinkler system for the lawn. It is a dream come true! $102,500

NEATNESS COUNTS
and the all brick exterior and well cared for interior of this three bedroom ranch in Canton shows true pride of ownership. There's a family room and fireplace, 1½ baths, and of course a full basement and attached garage. Set on a lovely sized lot it is an excellent home for your growing family. $69,800

BLOOMFIELD ORCHARDS 3 bedroom colonial, 1½ baths, finished basement, paneled garage, custom kitchen, extra insulation, swimming pool. Professionally landscaped, immaculate condition. Lot of house for the money. $64,900. By owner. 335-7583

BRICK & Redwood Ranch of 2215 sq.ft. on 1½ acres of unusually varied topography. It is very hilly, heavily wooded & mostly in it's natural state. There are numerous virgin white pines & mature oaks close to the house. Trout creek, a large, pure trout stream meanders the full depth of the parcel. The house was designed specifically for this site & custom built for the present owner. Finish carpentry & cabintry by the late George Rott of Rochester. There are 4 bedrooms & 3 ceramic tiled baths. The master bedroom, living room & family room open onto a 53 ft. long deck. These rooms & the deck overlook an arched redwood bridge spaning the creek, a noisy waterfall, acres of wooded flood plain & the virgin timber. Throughout the year many forms of wildlife can be seen such as Heron, Wood ducks, Muskrat, Racoon & occasionally Mink & deer. From the family kitchen windows, in front, the view is primarily of the uppercreek, an artesian fed pond, the Adams Road Bridge & beyond, the beautiful Darden Estate grounds. This view is also had from the front porch & foyer. The three other bedrooms look into the dense woods. Quality construction & materials were used throughout the house including wet plaster, marble sills, insulated glass, copper plumbing, all fruitwood, finished wood work, natural slate foyer & plank floors in 3 rooms. There is an oversized 2½ car garage, rough sawn cedar, panelled game room, family room, fireplace & intercom system. Heat & hot water is by natural gas. Taxed fairly & utility costs are moderate! Call 693-6861 for appointment to view premises & to discuss price & terms. Buyers only.

It's a great year for wise investments

...and the wisest investment anyone can make is an Observer & Eccentric want ad.

I invested and sold all those nostalgia items I've been saving up in my attic.

Now, I have enough to buy that Corvette I've always wanted.

Bugs!

High School Athletic Association works on playoff system

By BOB GROSS

The Michigan State High School Athletic Association (MSHAA) is still trying to get the bugs out of the the high school football playoff system.

The system is based on playoff and bonus points. Teams accumulate playoff points by defeating or tying a team. They accumulate bonus points when a team thay have previously beaten wins or ties.

A team is awarded 80 points for beating a Class A team, 40 for a tie. Class B teams are worth 64 points beaten, and 32 tied. Teams defeating Class C opponents get 48 points, 24 for a tie. And teams beating Class D squads get 32 points, 16 for a tie.

In the past, both playoff and bonus points were then totalled and divided by the number of games a team played, and reported, in order to come up with an average. This average then determined whether or not a team made the playoffs.

Some teams were able to take advantage of the system, according to MSHAA assistant director Lonnie Lowrey, by agreeing to play games with other teams if the scores were not reported to the MSHAA. The games thus played would not count towards the playoffs.

Teams following this procedure would have the advantage of smaller number of games played to be divided into their point total.

The MSHAA has initiated two changes to close off this loophole. All games, said Lowrey, "played prior to Oct. 19 will be counted whether they are reported or not."

In addition, playoff points will now be added separately and divided by the number of games played. Bonus points will also be added separately, then divided by nine. The two products will then be added together to come up with a total determining a team's playoff status.

The new mathematical gymnastics will also, according to Lowrey "eliminate any advantage that might be gained by scheduling only seven or eight games.

Such a complicated system might seem a lot of bother to some people, but it becomes very important for the suporters of the eight teams from each of the four classes that qualify for the playoffs.

Two teams from four regions qualify in each class which means, in the case of a number of undefeated teams in an area, somebody's bound to lose out.

Lowrey said that in 1977, 10 undefeated teams did not make the playoffs. Last year, six teams had spotless records and did not make it.

Lowrey said the system, as set up, tries to assure "that the best schools in terms of record and competition are the competitors.

"It will hopefully identify," he said, "the best teams not only on their own win-loss records, but also on the win-loss records of their opponents."

Letter began great season

Ten years ago football began July 25.

It started in the form of a mimeographed letter bearing the salutation "Dear Football Candidate:" from my high school football coach.

Enclosed along with the letter was a conditioning program. Our tri-captains for the coming fall season would be organizing workouts, the letter explained.

Further information about things like physical exams, issuing of equipment and the start of practice ("official practice") would be sent in future letters.

Finally there was a quotation, preceded by the statement, "A little something to digest:"

The will to win is great, but the will to prepare to win is even greater!

AT THAT POINT I knew that I had to play football in the fall. Up until then, I had known limited success as a football player.

For three years, I played second string. We had winning ball clubs every year, one undefeated team, a year with one loss followed by a two-loss season.

Despite the team success, without participating in the games, it seemed hardly worth the effort.

Fortunately, I won a starting position on offense that fall 10 years ago. Our high school team finished 7-0-1.

Now my memories of high school football tend to be happy ones of triumph.

Almost forgotten are the three weeks of grueling workouts before the first game.

Only a few times will I recall the 30 minutes of crawling on hands and feet up and down a hill after a three-hour practice, twice each day.

My recollections are now like the following: shaking hands with my teammates in the huddle, waving to the opponents at the line of scrimmage as the last few seconds ticked away in our victory over a team rated second in the state.

FOLLOWING ARE some things I learned which may help youngsters interested in playing football.

- Workout during the off season. Ask the coach for a conditioning and weight training program.
- Begin early. Find a good youth program which stresses fundamentals.
- Help, don't work against, the coach. Little league coaches have a difficult job with little compensation. Often the only thanks they get from parents is second-guessing if things go wrong in a game.

Ask the coach what help is needed. Transportation of players is always a problem. Keeping track of equipment is a help.

Any of the details a coach can delegate to someone else allows the coach to spend more time coaching the players.

Like any other activity, sports can be very rewarding or disappointing. Perhaps because of the physical, mental and time commitment, any benefits or failures are exaggerated.

If I had not started on an undefeated team my memories may not be so happy.

However, sometimes, late at night, I have a nightmare that I'm still in high school and I have to play one more season.

North Farmington fans were jumping for joy when their Raiders ended Birmingham Brother Rice's long winning streak in the state Class A semi-finals at Birmingham Groves.(Staff photo)

Finished 2nd in Class A

North Farmington near perfect

North Farmington's 1978 football team was best described by an opposing coach, Al Fracassa of Birmingham Brother Rice.

"North Farmington is a first-class football team," said Fracassa on a chilly Saturday afternoon last November. His Brother Rice Warriors, on top of the Class A high school football polls for most of the season, had just been stunned by North Farmington, 26-7, in the semifinals of the state playoffs.

The game was played before a spillover crown of more than 8,000 fans at Birmingham Groves High School.

For Brother Rice, the loss meant the end of another great season. Fracassa's teams had won 24-straight games over the past two seasons and had concluded the 1978 campaign at 10-1.

For coach Ron Holland's North Farmington Raiders, the win over Rice meant the continuation of an outstanding season and a trip to the Class A state finals on the following Saturday in the Pontiac Silverdome.

North's near-perfect performance in the semifinals made it the clear favorite to win the Class A championship. All the Raiders had to do was beat Traverse City.

But a win over Traverse City just wasn't on. The outstate Trojans, with a large part of Traverse City there to support them, capitalized on several North mistakes and ground out a 20-14 win before 17,116 spectators in the Silverdome.

TRAVERSE CITY scored a pair of touchdowns in the second quarter before North evened the score with two TDs in the third quarter. Both North touchdowns were scored by Mike Miller, a speedy tailback. Rich Nutter kicked both extra points.

Traverse City's go-ahead touchdown was a controversial one. With 2:53 left in the final quarter, Trojan fullback Bill Rossetti plunged in on a fourth-and-one play. North's defense seemed to have Rossetti stopped short of the goalline, but he squirmed forward for the winning margin.

North may have lost the game — and the state championship — but it certainly finished on top in the rushing statistics.

North rushed for 207 yards to Traverse City's 114. North completed three of 11 pass attempts for 61 yards. The Trojans completed three of 16 for 40 yards through the air.

Mistakes — 99 yards lost through 10 penalties — really killed North. One of North's most crucial penalties came late in the game with the score tied at 14-all. An illegal procedure penalty caused the Raiders to lose a first down at midfield.

Miller was the leading ball carrier with 126 yards on 18 carries. Jeff Cohen, another North speedster, gained 31 yards on six carries. For Traverse City, Rossetti was the leading runner with 58 yards in 18 carries.

NORTH PLAYED some exciting football before the playoffs final. On the Saturday before the Brother Rice game, the Raiders whipped Livonia Churchill, 14-3, in the playoff opener at Berkley High.

The Raiders started their regular season in the same Silverdome with a 21-12 win over Pontiac Northern. On the way to their next appearance in the Dome, the Raiders won nine-straight games and a Northwest Suburban League championship.

North's only close call came midseason at Westland John Glenn. Glenn, always a league football powerhouse, fell 9-7 in a rugged game.

For all North's accomplishments — an undefeated season and a league championship — it almost didn't made the post-season playoffs. The complicated playoff qualifying system, which gives contending teams points for their opponents' success, has kept many unbeaten teams out.

The playoff picture looked grim for North going into the final game of the regular season, a home contest against city-rival Farmington High. North's playoff fate was decided the same afternoon on Wayne State University's field, where Detroit Northern defeated Detroit Northwestern, 8-0, in overtime.

Northern's victory eliminated Northwestern from playoff contention, and allowed North Farmington to qualify as a representative of Region 3. Had Northwestern won, North Farmington would have been eliminated.

With their morale boosted by the news they were in the playoffs, the Raiders went on to smother Farmington High, 55-0, in the regular-season finale.

Vince Paul, a member of the North Farmington band, tossed up his drum as the Raiders won another big game during the state playoffs held last season. Coach Ron Holland's team finished with an 10-1 mark. (Staff photo)

Dondero challenges

Groves favored

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Most football coaches in the Metro Suburban Association (MSA) think it's a two-team race between defending champion Birmingham Groves and Royal Oak Dondero for league honors this fall.

And Troy Athens shouldn't be too far behind.

It was the year of the Falcon in 1978, as Bill Rankin's Groves' squad finished with a perfect 9-0 regular-season record, the MSA title and a trip to the state playoffs.

Dondero plans to make it hard for Groves, however. The Royal Oak squad won't forget the narrow 7-6 defeat by the Falcons last fall.

GROVES is at a peak in its football program and is the odds-on favorite to repeat as league champions. The Falcons will be led by seniors Mike Evangelides (tackle), Chris Vogt (defensive back), Mark Mourray (end), Matt Kennedy (end) and Don Olsen (back).

ATHENS could be the dark horse in the league race this fall. Coach John Walker enters his fourth season, coming off a respectable 6-3 record.

Athens' tri-captains Stacy Cruce, Mark Robertson and Mike Prentris are the backbone of the attack. Doug Cummings, a 6-foot-3, 180-pound quarterback, will enjoy throwing to ends Marty Ulrich and Jeff Morrich.

SOUTHFIELD-LATHRUP head coach Bob Marten enters his second season after posting a 4-5 record in his rookie year. The Chargers fell to Groves by only a field goal, 13-10, last fall.

Senior Ron Curcio, also an excellent baseball player, will lead both the offense and defense from his guard and linebacker positions. He is 6-2, 195 pounds. Junior George Schultz will join Curcio at linebacker and also play fullback. Rich Denno, a junior, will play in both the offensive and defensive backfields. The Chargers are also blessed with two senior transfers — Russ Shoup (tackle) and Mel Tucker (linebacker-halfback-safety).

ROCHESTER ADAMS is coming off a disappointing 1-8 season, and second-year coach Joe Zelmanski hopes things go smoother this year.

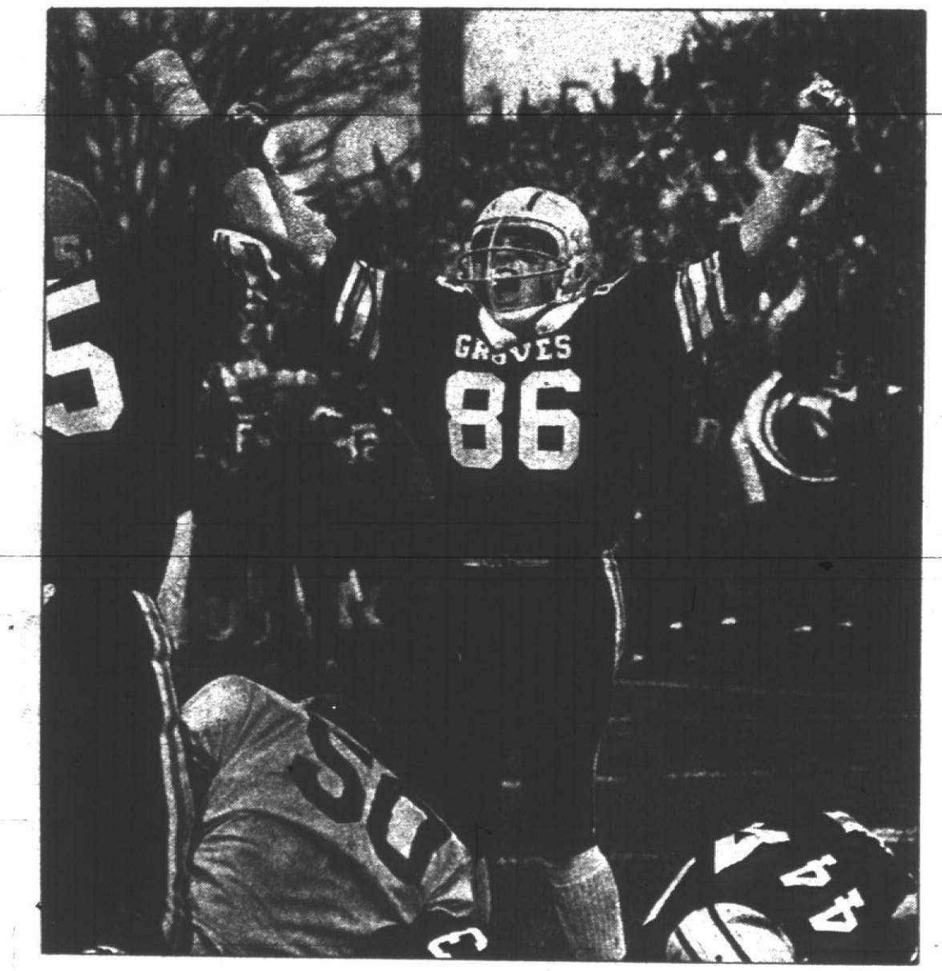
Adams will be led by seniors Steve Burgess, Kevin Connolly, Dan Fifield, Dave Grech, Lance Devoe, George Newton, John Monica and Dave Addy.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS LAHSER was only 3-6 last fall, but coach Ted Guthard thinks things will be different this year.

"We will be more experienced," Guthard said. "We should have a better season."

Lahser also hopes to avenge a 21-14 loss to city-rival Bloomfield Hills Andover when the Knights host the Barons on the final week of the season.

Lahser top players this season include Keith Kefgen, Brad Remer, John Palmer, Kevin Munson, Mark Mastrorocco, Rob Mayo, Kevin Kriebel, Paul Owens, Doug Zack and Curt Howell.



Groves' Tom Poole was one of many happy Falcons after the Birmingham squad finished last year's regular season with a perfect 9-0 record. Groves is expected to pace the MSA race again this fall. (Staff photo by Dick Kelley)

10-1 record. The most notable were quarterback Jon English and Marty Martinez, his favorite pass receiver.

However, Al Fracassa, who has compiled a 122-30-7 career coaching record at Rice and Royal Oak Shrine, always seems to be able to mold talent and motivate a team year in and year out.

"We will rely on quickness, intensity and heart to make up for what we lack in physical size," said Fracassa.

Tri-captains will lead the Warriors this season.

Brian Brennan is a quarterback and safety, Mark Moore is a two-way tackle and Tom Cote a linebacker.

Fracassa also said he expects good things from James Browne, a halfback, and Tim MacLean, a defensive back.

Rice, never a team to shy away from stiff competition, will be battling Cincinnati Moeller and Lake Shore in non-league road games in addition to meeting all four division opponents.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL, which forged a 2-2 conference record last season, graduated both of its leading rushers — Dave Elwell and Randy Larsen.

However, Mike Lewis returns at quarterback, which should give the Shamrocks an edge in experience in that key position against league rivals.

Dave Yudasz, an all-Catholic choice last fall, plays offensive guard and noseguard, Pat Moug plays both ways at tackle and Mike Renkiewicz, who was injured part of last season, plays fullback and linebacker.

"I think defense will be our strength along with a good running attack," said Tom Mach, who sports a 19-6 record after three years as coach of the Shamrocks.

CC will also butt heads against some big-name competition such as Flint Southwestern and Ypsilanti.

FRED MUSHINSKI, veteran coach at Borgess, has a host of players to count on this fall.

They include Dan English, defensive end; Jeff Johnston, center; Mike Modes, tackle; Rodney Lopez, guard; Pat McNamara, defensive back; Frank Wedesky, quarterback; and B.J. Miller, linebacker.

All are seniors except Wedesky and Miller, who are juniors.

The Spartans won their first two games last year before going into a tailspin. They won only once in their final seven outings.

However, Borgess was never really blown out in any of the losses, the biggest being 29-7 to Rice. The Spartans lost to Dearborn Divine Child by three points, to DeLaSalle by six and to Catholic Central by 10.

Battle Creek Central and Ann Arbor Pioneer are among the non-conference opponents this autumn.

Catholic League Rice, Central

Deep-rooted tradition and hard-hitting confrontations best describe football in the Central Division of the Detroit Catholic League.

Birmingham Brother Rice, which last season advanced to the semifinals of the Class A state playoffs, and Detroit Catholic Central, which has a storied gridiron history, each figure to contend for the divisional title this year.

Redford Bishop Borgess may also be able to muster a challenge if it can find replacements for several key players lost to graduation.

Don't discount Harper Woods Notre Dame, either. The Fighting Irish finished second to Rice last year with a 3-1 conference record.

BROTHER RICE graduated 37 seniors from the 1978 team which compiled a

Millage failure stings Pontiac Northern

Stevenson eyes Inter Lakes crown

The only sure thing about the Inter Lakes League football race this season is that Pontiac Northern won't win the championship.

A recent millage failure in Pontiac means the end of all fall sports in the public schools there. So Northern, which has often been a contender for the ILL football title, can't get in the way of powerhouse Livonia Stevenson.

Coach Jack Reardon, who has guided Stevenson to league titles the past three seasons, should have another strong squad this fall. But the Inter Lakes coaches, including Reardon, are talking depth and balance this season.

"The Inter Lakes League will have the best balance it's had in years," said Reardon, who has a 73-44-1 record in his 14 years at Stevenson.

"Waterford Township will have its finest team since 1968," Reardon said. "Milford-Lakeland has its offensive and defensive lines back, and Walled Lake Central and Farmington also will be contenders."

Reardon isn't the only coach to mention Matt Parino's Waterford crew as the team to beat.

"I don't think Stevenson is going to walk away with it," said Farmington High coach Hal Beardsley, whose 1978 team lost eight games, including a 17-14 thriller to Stevenson.

"He (Reardon) is going to get some surprises. Waterford should be extremely tough. Waterford's junior high teams don't lose many football games, so Waterford always has football-oriented kids coming up."

STEVENSON, WHICH opens the 1979 season Sept. 8 at Redford Union, has an excellent returning quarterback in Dave Hall. The 6-foot-3, 195-pound senior ran for 10 touchdowns and passed for four more last season.

Some other important Stevenson returnees, all seniors, include end Cap Pethers (6-2, 196), halfbacks James Recker (5-9, 150) and Rick Arnold (5-8, 152), guard Greg Meng (5-11, 180), tackle Chris Trainor (6-1, 188) and linebacker Mike Shimskey (6-0, 180).

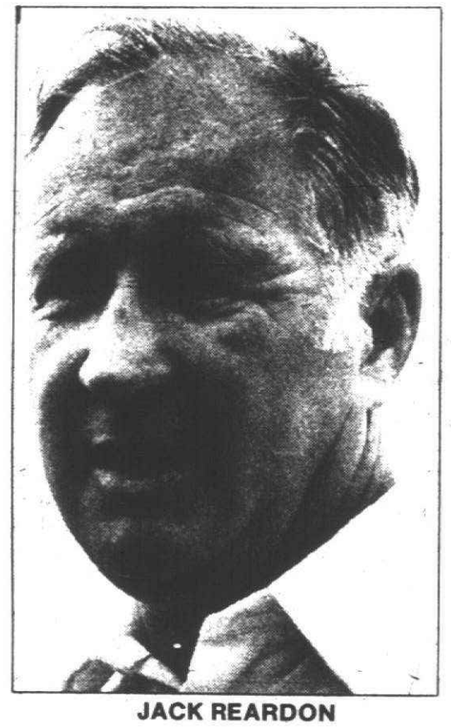
"Our offensive and defensive lines were hit hard by graduation," Reardon said. "Fortunately, we have some good prospects who gained some experience last fall as back-up people. Some of them are Chris Trainor, Chip Gauss, Tom Toonder, Wayde Hoppe, Greg Meng, Troy Kennedy, Ken Kusza, Ron Kurzawa and Bob Synder."

Stevenson finished the 1978 campaign with a 7-2 overall record, losing its last two games to Westland John Glenn (28-0) and Livonia Churchill (32-0).

Stevenson will play Flint Northwestern at home on Sept. 28 to to make up for the Pontiac Northern vacancy.

"We took our lumps last year, but a lot of kids played," he said. "We should be about .500 if things pop right for us."

FARMINGTON HIGH had a disappointing season in '78, losing four games in the last two minutes of play. But things are looking up, according to Beardsley.



JACK REARDON

"We took our lumps last year, but a lot of kids played," he said. "So we have some experience. We should be about .500 if things pop right for us."

Some key players, all seniors, are quarterback David Schultz, center Greg Lemanski (6-1, 190), tackle Brian Bruce (6-1, 195), ends Greg Finlayson (6-1, 190), Doug Parker (6-2, 195) and halfbacks Bob Benge and Dave Hall.

Farmington, which does not have lights on its home field, will open at home against non-league Farmington Harrison Sept. 8 at 2 p.m. Farmington will travel to Bay City Central on Oct. 5 to replace the Pontiac Northern game.

Walled Lake Central, which finished 4-5 overall and 3-3 in the league last season, will give "anybody a good game this season," according to head coach Dick Woodworth.

"We're optimistic," he said. "We have some good size and some good speed in the backfield. We think we can give anybody a good game this season."

Central has good size in the line with tackles Art Christiansen (6-2, 190),and Glen Czarnik (6-1, 190) and Tim Green (6-0, 210). A pair of experienced ends are Todd Flannery (6-0, 185) and Bob Sievewright (6-0, 180).

The quarterback prospects are senior Curt Burstein and junior Charles Spicer. Junior halfback Charles Ginster was the team's leading ground gainer last year. Senior B.J. Scott, a guard-linebacker, saw lots of action.

Central opens at non-league Milford High Sept. 8, and then returns home to play North Farmington on Sept. 15.

Pompon girls add color

By SHERRY KAHAN

Cheerleading is not enough.

When high school students discovered that more was better during the fall football madness, they invented flag squads and pom pon (pom pom, if you prefer) girls. Their colorful routines performed to music by the school band proved to be a welcome addition to the annual athletic ritual.

The words pom pon describe a ball of wool, feathers or other material used as decoration. However, popular useage of the words "pom pom" may some day cause "pom pon" to be left by the wayside. Already, the American Heritage dictionary lists pom pom as an acceptable alternative.

But whatever you call them, they will be out in force soon, waved by attractive, vigorous young women, as they dance around the football field at half time. Attesting to the popularity of the pom pon movement is one high school's turn out: At Redford Union High School, 65 girls tried out last spring for this demanding activity. Only 18 became squad members.

AT TROY High School, the 10-person flag squad has sufficiently polished its precision flag waving to qualify it for a half-time role for the first time this year. At Troy, it is referred to as the color guard. Call it what you will, the flag squads are growing fast in the suburbs.

"When I first saw the flags moving quickly in unison, I really liked it," said Steve Updike, whose interest blossomed to the extent that he is now captain of the squad. "I could see it took a lot of practice."

This year, he and nine other girls and boys will take to the filed, while the players have their mid-game rest, to dip and wave three by five-foot flags bearing the name Troy in eye-catching red.

Each participant holds a flag on a six-foot-long pole. They wear the same uniform as the band, black with a white overvest. A silver T is worn in front with the Troy colt across the back.

"I thought that kind of precision work was a challenge," said Steve, who went to camp this summer to learn how best to manipulate flags. "You have to be together."

WHEN YOU SEE the 18 members of the Redford Union pom pon squad run out on the football bield, you might brand pom pon routines as frivolous. But you'd be wrong, unless you regard as frivolous year-round practice twice a week for two hours.

"It is something they want to do," said their adviser and sponsor, Jean Stachina. "They enjoy doing it. It's a lot of fun."

Fun, you'd better believe it. Seven pom pon squad members went to Europe with the Redford Union band on its recent tour. Along with majorettes and flag twirlers, they performed in five countries.

The girls have 35 dance routines in their repertoire, most of which they have developed themselves. The routines give them enough of a workout so they can stand the cold November days.

They wear a short jumper that looks like a tennis dress, a gold blouse and white tennis shoes. Their pom pons are blue and gold, the school colors. After their performance, they are permitted to slip into something warmer. Thank goodness.

Football has acquired a new look

By W.W. EDGAR

If Willie Heston, the gridiron immortal who spearheaded the famous "Point-A-Minute" teams developed by Hurry Up Yost at Michigan at the turn of the century, were alive today, he wouldn't recognize the game that made him famous.

No sport has undergone more changes than intercollegiate football. Not only has the game itself been changed over the years, but the uniforms today are a far cry from those used when Yale was King of the Conference. East and Michigan ruled the west.

First, the uniforms were something to behold. There were wooden staves in the pants to guard against injury. The players wore what they called shin guards strapped around their legs from ankle to knee. They wore heavy shoulder pads, often on the outside of their jerseys, and, of all things, they wore hard rubber nose guards that were held in place with mouthpieces to protect not only their noses, but their faces as well.

The helmets of the old days were made of leather strips and heavy wool on the inside and were strapped around the player's chin. Then, to top things off, the players wore heavy spikes to give them a better hold on the ground and in many cases, the mud of the playing fields in the ball.

Even the ball was different. The ball, called the pigskin, though made of leather, was shaped like an egg. This shape was to aid the kickers, both those who kicked off and those who attempted field gaals.

Just imagine, if you can, a player outfitted in this sort of a uniform and playing with an egg shaped ball and you have an idea of what the game was like in the old days.

Aside from the uniforms, even the game has been changed. In the old days (at the turn of the century) the field was 100 yards long and the goal posts were on the goal line. Each team was given three downs to make five yards compared to four downs for 10 yards as we have today. And there was no passing until Gus Dorais, who later coached at the University of Detroit, tossed those passes to Knute Rockne on the plains at West Point to conquer the Army in 1913 and started the revolution of the game.

Until the pass came along, the game was one of brute strength and the players were not protected by such penalities as the yardage assessed for clipping, slugging, and the other infractions of today. Another great change came when the rules committee, in an effort to help the game, decided to eliminate offiensive plays on the sidelines and moved the ball in a fixed number of yards to give the offensive team a chance to maneuver.

Even the names of the posiions have changed. In the old days, each team had a center, two guards, two tackles, two ends, two half backs, a quarterback and a fullback. And, until 1945 when Fritz Crisler, then the Michigan coach, came up with the liberal substitute rule, the players played both ways. It was considered an insult when a player was taken out of the game.

Delving through the yellowed pages of football history, one finds that Michigan has played a prominent role through all the years.

At the turn of the century "Hurry Up Yost" and his "point-a-minute" teams were heralded through the sports world. And one of the great stories of the past concerns the first Rose Bowl game in 1902, which Michigan won, 49 to 0.

It is written in the history that Michigan so dominated the game that the Stanford captain halted play for a moment, then approached the Michigan captain and a said, " While there still is 10 minutes left to play, if you are willing we are ready to quit." Nothing like that ever has happened in football since.

Ironically, when Fritz Crisler took his Michigan team to the Rose Bowl and beat Stanfield, 49 to 0, it has been told that a fan, who had imbibed freely throughout the game, approached Crisler as the teams were leaving the field and said, " You haven't improved a bit."

Through the years, there have been some great players, and among those best remembered by today's followers of the game are Jim Thorpe, the Sac and Fox Indian who helped make the Carlisle Indians one of the most feared teams in the game during the second decade of the century. In his wake came such legendary figures as Red Grange, Benny Friedmann, Tom Harmon and a host of Michigan players.

Of the lot, no one grasped the attention more than Thorpe, who could run, kick, tackle and do it better than anyone of his time. And there never was a more rugged player.

One year, in a game against Lehigh University, with the Indians trailing at half time, Thorpe asked to carry the ball on every down in the second half and finally wound up winning the game.

Thorpe and his Indians were a tricky bunch. One year, under the coaching of Glenn (Pop) Warner, they came on the field at Harvard with the strangest of uniforms. They had what appeared to be boxing gloves sewed on the elbows of their jerseys. They had the same type of glove on their shoulders. Then, to add to the strangeness, they had pieces of leather shaped like a football sewed on their jerseys in such a way that when they put their arms across their chest, it looked as though they were carrying the ball.

On this particular day, in their first game against one of the Big Three, they won the toss and decided to receive. They took the kickoff, each player crossed his arms across his chest and no one one could tell who had the ball.

The entire team raced across the goal line to score the touchdown and Harvard never recuperated.

Salem among Sub 8 favorites

By BRAD EMONS

Trenton, Plymouth Salem and Dearborn Edsel Ford appear to be the preseason favorites in the Suburban Eight League football title chase.

The league has two new coaches and one less team.

Steve Naumcheff moves over from Redford Union to take over for Pat O'Donnell at Livonia Bentley. The new coach at Belleville is Mike Colletta, from the University of Illinois.

Allen Park, staggered by a recent millage defeat, will not field a team in the fall. Many schools have had trouble replacing the Jaguars on the schedule. Salem managed to replace Allen Park with Utica Eisenhower but as a result, must play its first five games on the road.

Belleville athletic director Ron Hellier has not yet found a replacement for Allen Park and looks at the real possibility of an eight-game schedule.

"It's going to be tough playing our first five games on the road, but it's better than not having a game at all," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer.

Trenton edged Salem for the league title last season. Coach Jack Castignola directed his team into the state Class A semifinals last season with a 10-1 mark.

Salem went 8-1 a year ago with Richard Hewlett, now at Michigan, directing the offense. The Rocks lost their title showdown to Trenton in a well-played game, 21-16.

"TRENTON LOST a lot of people from last year but had the top junior varsity team in our league and had six sophomores on the varsity," said the Salem coach.

Opposing quarterbacks will have fits against Trenton strongman defensive end Vince DeFelice, a consensus all-stater last year as a junior. DeFelice carries his 6-4, 225-pound frame around the football field in a hurry.

Although Salem lost some key players, Moshimer still has experience to work with this season.

Jim Anderson, a 6-2, 200-pound senior is the heir apparent to Hewlett in directing the potent Salem wishbone attack. Anderson was an understudy to Hewlett and played a lot of defensive safety in 1978 for the Rocks.

Another Anderson, Phil, will join the Salem backfield as a fullback along with the speedy Craig Stack. Both players are seniors.

Moshimer lost his ends but returns four interior lineman from a year ago.

"A lot of our lineman will go two ways but we have some experience in a lot of positions," said Moshimer, who has led Salem to two unbeaten seasons in seven years. His career record, including an eight-year stint at Dundee, is 8-58-6.

"I FIGURE we're a contender along with Edsel Ford, who returns a lot of players, and Trenton," Moshimer said.

Bentley is coming off an 0-9 season but played some tough teams last year. The Bulldogs' opponents had a 43-38 mark last season. Bentley lost by an average score of 28-4.

Naumcheff, who previously served at Bentley as an assistant, has not yet fully evaluated his talent. While at Redford Union, Naumcheff helped develop Panther all-staters Mike Petsch, Tom Piette and Bob Mouch.

"Trenton and Salem are consistently fine teams," said Naumcheff.

Dearborn coach Dick Ryan has a few returnees but the team is a virtual question mark. Belleville finished 1-8 overall last year while going through a coaching change at mid-season. Dearborn is coming off a 6-3 season.

Northwest Sub stays tough

By DOUG FUNKE

The Northwest Suburban League has earned the reputation in recent years of being one of the toughest football conferences in the metropolitan area.

This fall, things should be even more interesting when Redford Union joins the circuit for its first season of grid competition. The Panthers are moving from the formidable Suburban Eight League.

However, RU will have a battle royal against the likes of North Farmington, which last season advanced to the Class A state finals, and Westland John Glenn, which posted an overall record of 8-1.

Livonia Franklin, Redford Thurston and Garden City East won't be pushovers either.

Ron Holland, dean of NSL coaches, will be hard pressed to match the fantastic season his 1978 North Farmington squad put together.

The Raiders chalked up an 11-1 record, losing only to Traverse City in the championship game of the Class A state playoffs.

North shut out four opponents and rolled up 55 points against Farmington High, 53 against Garden City East, 42 against Thurston, 40 against Flint Northern and 35 against Farmington Harrison.

Mike Miller and Jeff Cohen, North's one-two backfield punch, have graduated, but Greg Goldstein returns at quarterback.

The senior was the third-string signal-caller at the start of last season, but he performed magnificently when injuries thrust him into the lineup.

Other key people on whom Holland will be counting this year are Dan Cohen and Rich Nutter, running backs, George Houttekier, tackle, and Karl Hamina, center. All are seniors.

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN lost only once last season, a 9-7 verdict to North. The Rockets were stopped on downs less than a yard away from the Raiders' goal line in the fourth quarter of that contest.

Glenn returns only two offensive starters and none on defense, but coach Chuck Gordon isn't worried. He does not figure this to be a rebuilding year.

"It seems to happen almost every year. We're almost always a senior team," said Gordon. "The seniors have always responded to the challenge. I think this group will do the same."

Tri-captains Ken Liedel, quarterback, John Perryman, lineman, and Gary Black, lineman, will lead the Rockets into battle. Only Black was a regular last year.

Gordon singled out two other players he's counting on this fall. Russ Hall was the starting center and Bill Dye had some experience at tight end.

Glenn faces a difficult schedule, meeting not only all five conference opponents, but also such highly-regarded teams as Livonia Stevenson and Dearborn Edsel Ford.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN suffered through its first ever losing season in 1978. The Patriots struggled to a 3-6 record.

Coach Armand Vigna says his team's big plus this year will be experience. Speed and size are the big question marks, however.

Jon McCarthy returns at quarterback. Herb McManaway should be back at fullback.

Other keys, according to Vigna, are Tim Przysiecki, tight end, Dave Rettig, guard, and Mark Bowen, tackle.

Bowen is 6 feet 3 inches and 225 pounds.

The Patriots will be looking at a murderous schedule. Their first three opponents are Plymouth Salem, 8-1 last year, Livonia Stevenson, 7-2, and Glenn, 8-1.

THURSTON experienced an unusual season in 1978. The Eagles lost to all four NSL opponents but defeated all five non-league foes.

Thurston will have a formidable backfield duo in Rich Rudd, a 6-foot-2, 196-pound tailback, and Mark Erickson, 5-10, 200, a fullback.

Both can also play defense — Rudd at safety and Erickson at linebacker.

Shawn Saisbury, an all-Observer choice last year at tight end, returns as does Bob Livingston, a two-way tackle.

Don Riehl, coach of the Eagles, said the biggest question marks this fall are at quarterback and the line.

GARDEN CITY EAST defeated Thurston for its only conference win of the 1978 campaign. The Panthers had a 2-7 record.

Coach Gary Humphrey says he hopes seven players will spark the Panthers to victory this season.

They are Brian Belcher, fullback, Dave Berger, split end, Tom Bonner, running back, John LeZotte, flanker, Bill Orr, quarterback, Jeff Sikora, halfback, and Joe Staneck, guard.

Despite losing seasons the last couple of years, Humphrey's career coaching record of 87-35-2 speaks for itself.

Like most of his peers, Humphrey rates North and Glenn as the pre-season co-favorites for the league championship.

REDFORD UNION coach Harvey Heitman says he expects 17 of 22 starters from last year's squad to return this fall.

The Panthers sported a 3-4 Suburban Eight ledger last season.

The key players, according to Heitman, are Jim Sopha, a quarterback and safety, Bob Freidman, an all-Sub Eight linebacker and fullback, and Bob Utych, a tailback and monster on defense.

Kirk Marsh, a tight end, and Glenn Roberts, an end and linebacker, are also expected to make big contributions.

Western six race open

By BRAD EMONS

Even before the first football is kicked off, the Western Six League is shaping up to be a dogfight.

The defending champion is Livonia Churchill. The Chargers are coming off an outstanding year as coach Ken Kaestner led his team to a 9-1 mark and a spot in the Class A playoffs.

But Churchill was rocked by graduation. Only two starters return — defensive end Rich Grodek and left-corner back Ron Schueneman.

That leaves the door open to Farmington Harrison, Northville, Plymouth Canton and Walled Lake Western. Waterford Mott appears to be destined for last place.

"We're rebuilding our whole offense," said Kaestner, "and everything is up for grabs.

"This is a very young team. But I like them. They're enthused and have a great attitude. We're going to have to scrap this year."

Bill Keller takes over the quarterback spot for Rick Coppola. Kaestner is high on Darrel Copley, a tackle, and Ken Block, a tailback.

Senior linebacker Steve Clemens anchors the defense.

"Harrison, Northville and Walled Lake Western will all have good teams," warns Kaestner.

Harrison coach John Herrington welcomes several key performers back from last year.

QUARTERBACK Bruce Morrison will lead the team. He will rely on the strong running of junior speedster Ken Kopko and senior Jim Miller.

The Hawks' line will be secure with senior John Tesner (6-3, 224-pounds) and senior Jamey May (5-10, 210-pounds). Both are tackles. They will be supported by linebacker Dave Markovich and defensive back Jeff Hagan.

"This is a fairly young team," said Herrington, "but with the potential to be a good squad.

"We should be in the run for the Western Six championship," he said.

Herrington is 53-29-1 since coming to Harrison. In 1976, his team reached the state finals against Midland Dow before losing. The Hawks look to improve on last year's 5-4 mark.

Plymouth Canton coach Dave Schuele has a team small in size but returns his best line in three years.

"We will be small again but if we play well as a team, we'll be fun to watch," said Schuele.

The biggest players Schuele has to work with are senior Paul Mooney (6-0, 205) and junior Craig Gearns (6-1, 210).

Other senior standouts include John Tarr, Greg Mallare, Bob Hamblin, Steve Gray and Ted Toll to go along with juniors Cris Koch and Doug Ward.

Canton was 4-5 last season as the Chiefs lost close games to both Churchill and Harrison.

NORTHVILLE has some veterans returning after posting a 5-4 record a year ago. The Mustangs had one of the top defenses last year, allowing an average of 11 points per game. Their opponents posted a 45-36 mark.

Walled Lake Western was 4-5 last year but like Northville, is a team with a cast of returnees.

Waterford Mott will need to improve its offense in order to make waves in the Western Six. Waterford averaged just five points per game last year while going 0-5 in the league.

Harrison will miss last year's starting quarterback Drew Norton (13), but the Hawks are still expected to be in the thick of the Western-6 race. (Staff photo)

Another wide-open scramble

By MARTY BUDNER

Football coaches in the Greater Oakland Activities League (GOAL) last year predicted a balanced competition.

That's exactly what they got. Rochester and Bloomfield Hills Andover shared the GOAL title with 4-1 records, and West Bloomfield finished one game back.

The struggle for the 1979 title will be just as competitive. League coaches again believe that no one school will dominate.

"The team that jells first — that's the team which will win the championship," said Rochester's veteran coach Dick Ulrich. "The key will be which team can come together the fastest."

West Bloomfield is expected to field one of the top teams. Last year's co-champions, along with Milford, will also be quality contenders.

The Lakers, coached by Dominic Livedoti, have 14 returning players. Seven of them were regular starters.

One of the team's key players is Chris Mayone, an all-Observer & Eccentric second-team pick last year as a receiver. The 6-foot-2, 175-pound senior will be West Bloomfield's starting quarterback this year. Mayone was starting quarterback as a sophomore.

Two of Mayone's receivers will be seniors Rick Mickley and Bill Rosin. Gary Schroeder, a 5-8, 160 will start in the offensive backfield.

Some of the top defensive players include 210-pound senior tackle Matt Alexander, nose guard Vince Kenwell and secondary man Bob Fascetti.

West Bloomfield beat Andover, Clarkston and Waterford Kettering last year, and lost to Rochester and Milford. West Bloomfield's overall mark was 5-4.

The Lakers must play two important rivals on the road this season on consecutive Friday's — Oct. 12 at Rochester and Oct. 19 at Andover. West Bloomfield's title aspirations could very well hinge on those two games.

ROCHESTER EARNED its first league title in six years last fall. The Falcons were a high-scoring, balanced outfit.

However, the Falcons lost superb offensive players like Jim Jagels (quarterback), Tom Dieters (wide receiver) and Terry Weathers (an all-Observer & Eccentric tight end). Ulrich is hoping the experienced seniors and youthful juniors can quickly plug the holes.

"We don't have the super people like we had last year, but we have some very good athletes — probably the best group of athletes that we've ever had here at Rochester," said Ulrich, who career coaching mark last year topped .500 (36-35-1).

"I was very proud of the way our players came back and played their hearts out last year. This year that same spirit and enthusiasm has continued. We've worked very hard to get where we are."

The senior Falcon tri-captains are 216-pound Steve Brown, 6-foot-2 Todd Bandemer and Steve Garlia. The center is Craig Hemingway.

Junior Ron Jenkins will take over at quarterback, and classmate Phil Bolduc, 6-1, 173, will be a primary receiver. The returning defensive linebackers are Jeff Ambrose and Dave Orlando, and the returning secondary players include Gene Simmons and Toby Pope.

'We won by some big scores and a lot of kids played a lot of ball last year. We should be very good (this season) — but so will our opponents. If we can get by Catholic Central in our opener, we should have a fine season.'

— Frank Buford, Bloomfield Hills Andover

Rochester finished with an overall 6-3 record last year, losing overtime non-league games to neighboring rivals Auburn Heights Avondale and Troy Athens.

The Falcons will open their league season at home Sept. 21 against Waterford Kettering. They will play Andover at home Oct. 5, and will celebrate their homecoming Oct. 12 against West Bloomfield.

ANDOVER, LIKE Rochester, also finished 1978 with a 6-3 mark. The victories pushed Frank Buford's career coaching record to a fine 90-57-4.

The Barons will provide some strong competition again this year in attempting to defend their share of the GOAL crown. Andover's only league loss last year was to West Bloomfield (23-6).

"We won by some big scores, and a lot of kids played a lot of ball last year," said Buford, the dean of GOAL coaches. "We should be very good — but so will our opponents. If we can get by Catholic Central in our opener, we should have a fine season."

Ed Schneider is the only full-time returning Baron starter. A 6-foot-4 inch, 210-pound senior, Schneider will play tackle on both offense and defense.

The starting Baron quarterback will be Mark Vestevich, a 5-11, 170, senior. Tom Kalahar is expected to double as on offensive fullback and defensive cornerman.

Other key Baron players will be seniors George Henney and Greg Jarzynski.

Andover will open the season at home against Catholic Central in a tough non-league game. The league season begins Sept. 21 at Clarkston, and ends Oct. 19 at home against West Bloomfield.

There is one coaching change in the league this fall.

Walt Wyniemko, who previously coached for Biship Foley of the Catholic League, will be the new man at Clarkston. He succeeds Bill Valasco, who took over last year for Rob White.

St. Agatha's 'time' for title is now

By C.J. RISAK

"I hate to say we'll be there, but if we're ever going to do it, now's the time."

Coach John Goddard of St. Agatha High School, in Redford, displays the same guarded optimism every high school football coach has before the season starts.

The difference is that Goddard may have more reason to feel good about his team's chances in the rapidly approaching Catholic C-D season than most coaches.

A glance at last year's record might not reveal any reason to be optimistic. St. Agatha's finished with a 2-7 record, the worst in the school's history. In fact, it was the first losing season for the school.

"We lost some key kids early," Goddard, now in his fourth season, at St. Agatha's, explained. "We were probably the youngest team in the league.

"At one time, we had 13 starters out with injuries, and were playing between six and nine sophomores.

"This year, we have 49 out of 54 players coming back."

Much of Goddard's optimism stems from the return of Al Jones, a 6-foot-3, 195-pound halfback who missed virtually the entire season last year when he broke his ankle in the opening game. Goddard rates Jones as a college prospect and one of the best in the Catholic league.

BUT ST. AGATHA wasn't the only team during the past season to be hit hard with injury. Orchard Lake St. Mary started last season with a new coach, Al Dicken, and an almost entire new line-up from the previous year's Class D champions.

"We were rebuilding last season," Dicken said. "We had been heavily depleted through graduation.

"We started Jim Kinville at quarterback, and he played really well in the first game. But he hurt his knee and was out for the season."

Dicken, who had been without an experienced quarterback to begin the season with, now had to face the problem of finding an able one in mid-season. Fortunately, he came across Carl Pellegata.

Although only a freshman at the time, Pellegata came in and played the final 7/4 contests, passing for more than 700 yards in the process. Even though the squad was in the midst of a "rebuilding year," they finished with a respectable 6-3 record.

Dicken is pleased with his quarterback situation now, even though he has been unable to decide who will start during the season, Pellegata or Kinville, who has worked hard during the off-season to rehabilitate his knee.

"It's really tight," Dicken said. "Those two are really battling for the quarterback spot.

JOHN GODDARD
St. Agatha

"JIM (KINVILLE) IS a big, strong runner, Carl (Pellagata) is a little quicker. Both throw the ball well."

Graduation claimed six players who started in nine positions for Dixon last year. His biggest replacement problem will be in the offensive backfield, which will have to be rebuilt completely.

But Dicken has no qualms about his team's chances for a league title.

"We were second last year (Detroit Benedictine was first), so they're going to have to beat us," he said. "What we're going to have to do is win on the road."

That may not be such an easy task. Dicken and Goddard figure, besides their own squads, that Benedictine, coached by Ted May, and St. Florians, with Bernie Popp as head mentor, will be very tough.

"St. Florian's has 10 out of 11 offensive starters returning," Dicken said. "And Benedictine always comes up with good athletes. They have great team speed, which we don't have."

Goddard agreed with Dicken's assessment, and pointed to his first league game as a key. That contest is on Saturday, Sept. 22, at home against St. Florian.

One advantage Goddard may have over Dicken is that St. Agatha will play two of it's three biggest competitors at home (St. Florian and Orchard Lake St. Mary, on Oct. 20). Orchard Lake St. Mary must play all its biggest games on the road (St. Agatha, Benedictine on Sept. 16, and St. Florian on Sept. 29).

After the first five weeks of the season, both St. Agatha and OLSM will have played two of their three biggest rivals, and their fate may have already been decided.

Kimball a power but Maples lurk

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Birmingham Seaholm football coach Chuck Skinner would just as soon forget about his squad's last game of the 1978 season when the Maples lost in the closing seconds to city rival Birmingham Groves, 20-17.

Despite the setback, which ended with a controversial Groves' touchdown, giving the Falcons the victory, Seaholm is still anxious to post another impressive season like last year's 7-2 record.

And the Maples' No. 1 goal this season is the Southeastern Michigan Association (SMA) title.

Seaholm finished in second place last year to league champion Royal Oak Kimball. And it seems this same Kimball squad will be the biggest obstacle in the Maples' quest for the crown.

And one can bet Skinner won't let his squad forget last year's 20-7 defeat to Kimball — the only blemish on the Maples' 4-1 league record.

SOUTHFIELD HIGH is also looking to improve on last year's 3-6 record, but things won't be easy for coach John Finlayson's squad, as the Blue Jays open the season against undefeated Metro Suburban Association champion Birmingham Groves.

Berkley, Ferndale and Hazel Park look like the also-rans in the SMA race this season, as these three squads will battle in the second division.

SEAHOLM WILL be led by seniors Tom Robinson (fullback), Steve Ross (tackle), Steve Smith (tackle), Mike Weber (quarterback) and junior Craig Thelike (halfback).

"We have some fine backs, but our line will be inexperienced," Skinner said.

Weber is a 6-foot, 170-pound signal caller. Robinson is 6-1 and 214, while Thelike is 5-9, 170.

The Blue Jays feature five seniors who will lead the way this season. Mitch McCann is one of the top Southfield athletes. He is a 5-11, 175 center. Bob Biggs will double at guard and linebacker.

Cranes solid; DCD rebuilding

By BOB GROSS

If returning players mean anything at all, then Cranbrook should have a shot at the Metro Conference tile.

Cranbrook head football coach John Shooshan finds himself in the enviable position of having a solid nucleus of starters returning off a squad that was 6-3 last year.

Shooshan, in his second year at Cranbrook, is counting on Metro Conference veterans Kurt Peterson, a 5-foot-11, 175-pound senior linebacker; Carl Norris, a 6-0, 170 senior running back; Brian Crossman, a 5-10, 160 senior quarterback; Al Scafuri, a 6-2, 235 senior tackle; Adam Perrin, a 6-0, 205 senior center; and Tim Hazen, a 6-2, 175 junior end as the Cranes look to improve on last year's second-place league finish.

"We hope to get by the early games as we mature as a team," said Shooshan. "We will have some skilled people back that will help."

One of the teams Cranbrook will have to get by if the Cranes expect a league championship is last year's Metro Conference titleholder Lutheran North. Last year, Lutheran North shut out Cranbrook 20-0. This year, the Cranes meet North on Oct. 6 in what could be the deciding game in the Metro Conference.

JOE D'ANGELO, head football coach at Detroit Country Day, tabs both Cranbrook and Lutheran North as the teams to beat in the Metro Conference.

"I'd probably go a little heavier with Cranbrook," said D'Angelo. "They have more players returning than anybody else."

D'Angelo and the Yellow Jackets face a rebuilding year after 5-3 season.

"We lost 15 seniors," said D'Angelo. "For a school our size, that's quite a lot."

Three players returning for Country Day are seniors Dave Colvin, a quarterback; Allen Barr, an end; and Ed Lennon, also an end.

"After those three," said D'Angelo, "they're all fairly inexperienced ball players."

D'Angelo noted that while Country Day had lost most of its starting backfield, the team did retain a passing combination in Colvin, Barr and Lennon.

"We're hoping we can throw a little bit more to offset our running," said D'Angelo.

Country Day's football schedule gets under way Sept. 8 with a home game against non-league foe Orchard Lake St. Mary's.

Trojans return 15; Tigers improved

Clarenceville and Garden City West will both be out to improve losing conference football records of last year.

Clarenceville, which competes in the Metro West Conference, lost all three of its league games by close scores last autumn. The Trojans, however, won five of six non-conference duels.

Ralph Weddle, entering his 13th coaching season at Clarenceville, will depend on primarily a junior team. Approximately 15 letterwinners from the 1978 squad return.

The juniors include Jim Thompson, who plays fullback and linebacker; Tony Soave, offensive guard and noseguard; Chris Jeffrey, tailback; Mitch Borst, wingback and a good pass receiver; and Bruce Melton, tackle and linebacker at 6 feet 1 inch and 230 pounds.

Tom Bass, who played center last fall, will quarterback the Trojans this season.

Weddle also said he is counting on Pat Toledo, a senior, who plays offensive guard and defensive tackle.

"I thought we did real well (last year) with the sophomores," said Weddle. "Now they're juniors, I'm really optimistic."

GARDEN CITY WEST took quite a few poundings last season, losing five games by 26 or more points.

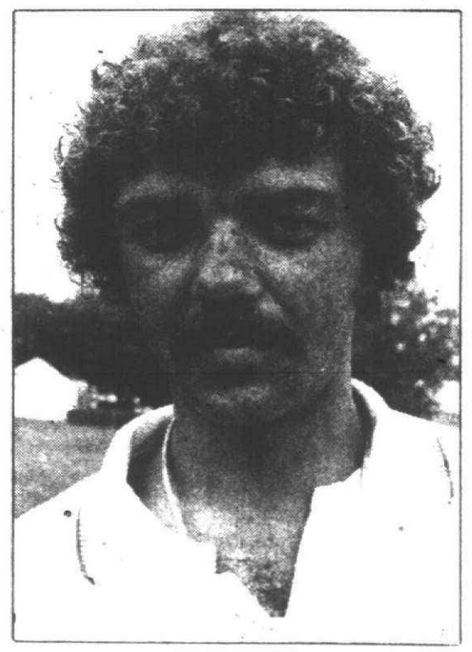
However, coach Mike Copeland's charges did manage to win two of seven Tri-River League games.

The Tigers will have a better chance getting off on the right foot this season by opening against Howell instead of Westland John Glenn, an area power in recent years.

Copeland said he is pinning high hopes on the efforts of eight seniors and a junior. Most are on the small size, averaging 5-10, 175.

The seniors are Mark Clough, Darryl Gregory, Mike White, Tom Miner, Dave Seger, Gary Perrydore, Mark McKenna and George Stamos. Todd Moss is the junior.

Copeland believes Dearborn Heights Crestwood, whom the Tigers defeated last fall, and Melvindale, who routed the Tigers, will be the teams to beat this year in the league race.



MIKE COPELAND

Juniors enhance Avondale

By MARTY BUDNER

Avondale and Romeo — last year's respective South and North division champions of the Oakland Athletic League (OAL) — are again the early favorites.

Last year Auburn Heights Avondale climaxed its season with an exciting league championship victory over Sterling Heights Henry Ford II. It was coach Rick Brewer's first OAL crown.

The Yellowjackets will defend that precious title this season. But, in the OAL's last regularly scheduled season (the league is disbanding), there promises to be more competition than ever.

Following is a brief look at each division.

SOUTH DIVISION

Avondale has won three straight South Division championships, and Brewer believes his team can make it four.

"We have a very similar team to the first year that I was here," said Brewer, whose team utilizes a veer option offense. "We have a good nucleus of seniors, but there are a lot of question marks coming up from the junior varsity. We have a lot of good juniors who will have to fill in at the spots where they are needed."

Avondale's trio of captains include veterans Pete Auger, John Totti and Robbie Johns.

Auger was a center last year, but he will move over to tackle this fall. Toth is a fine two-way player who made the OAL all-star offensive team last year.

Jeff Roberts, who quarterbacked the junior varsity team last year, is expected to lead the 1979 Avondale varsity.

Johns, who was second on the team in touchdowns with four, will be starting his third varsity season. He rushed for 179 yards last year in 30 carries and will play another season at halfback.

Three top Yellowjacket defensemen include Tony "Doctor" Rogowski, Mike French and Chuck White. Senior Ed Travnikar will return to his outside linebacker spot.

Track star Bill Priest will probably be a starter in the Yellowjacket backfield. Brewer, who was named the league's top coach of 1978, also hopes that 6-foot-2, 205-pound transfer student Jeff Lombrowski will fit into the Avondale football program this fall.

Jeff Keller will be Troy High School's new coach.

Keller, a former assistant to John Walker at Troy Athens High School, will take over a team which finished with a 3-6 record in 1978. The Colts beat Berkley, Chippewa Valley and Clawson.

The Colts were primarily a junior team last year, and, with a year's experience, should provide some stong competition this fall.

Troy's entire backfield will return. The foursome will be Bill TenEycke, Tim Kelp, Ron Meyers and Dan Tanoury.

The Colts will have to rebuild on defense where they lost premier all-league tackles Chuck Steltenkamp and Tony Brown.

One of the division's best players this year should be Madison linebacker Randy Conway, who made first-team defense last year. Dennis Myers, son of coach Jim Myers, will start at quarterback.

Clawson will be a sleeper team, along with perennially tough Madison Heights Lamphere. Linebacker Ed Barnes will be one of Lamphere's top players, and Marty Clary will most likely quarterback Clawson's Trojans.

NORTH DIVISION

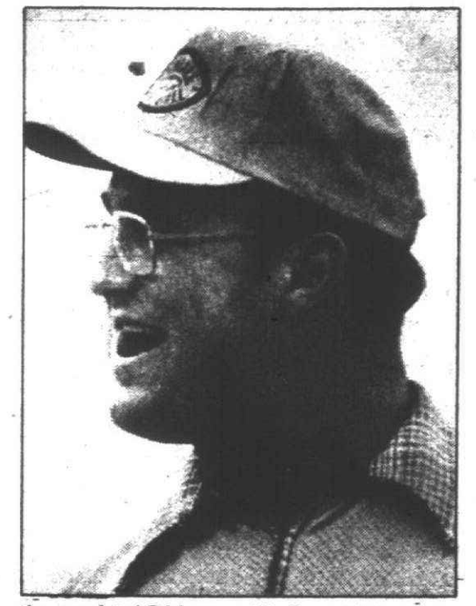
Brewer calls Romeo "The Avondale of the North."

The Bulldogs qualified for the state playoffs last year and finished with an overall 8-2 record. Coach Larry Dunn's squad lost in the first round to eventual state Class A champion Traverse City.

The Bulldogs never did get an opportunity to compete for the overall OAL title. Sterling Heights Henry Ford II beat them — their only regular-season loss — to qualify as the North Division representative against Avondale in the OAL championship game.

"They (Romeo) have a good nucleus of players returning," said Ford coach Gary Rojeski. "Their biggest problem will be replacing Craig Stinson (last year's North Division Most Valuable Player) at quarterback.

"We lost Lake Orion this year because of a millage failure, so I think Ford, Romeo, Utica and Eisenhower will be the top teams in the North. But, if I would have to pick a winner right away, I give the nod to Romeo, with the other three scratching and digging."



All-defensive safety Chris Lindquist will also start somewhere in the Falcon backfield. If junior Daryl Hamel starts at quarterback, Lindquist will be a runner. Otherwise, Lindquist will be the starting signal caller.

Ford has 11 returning lettermen, including all-league defensive end Craig Washinski.

One of Utica's top returning players will be flanker Frank Zagell. Mike Dailey and Kim Johnston will return as key players in the Eisenhower backfield.
