Water trouble reason given for plan denial

For the first time, a site plan has been denied in Canton Township on the basis of unavailable sewer and water services.

Trustee Robert Greenstein, who voted against the motion to deny the plans, said that landowner Robert Acchione will stand on solid legal ground if he chooses to sue the township over the action.

Acchione had petitioned the board to approve site plans for a 37,000-square-foot shopping center on a seven-acre parcel at the northeast corner of Palmer and Sheldon.

Township engineers said that water and sewer services are not available for the project at this time.

THE SHOPPING CENTER is not included on a list of developments compiled by the township and the Michigan Public Health Department earlier this fall for approved tap-ins to the water system.

The list was compiled after the health department cited health and safety reasons for imposing a moratorium on water tap-ins in Canton Township and Westland.

Both communities are experiencing severe water pressure problems which will be remedied, in part, when construction of a new Livonia water main is completed in about a year.

The list of projects exempted from the moratorium were enrolled in the site plan review process at the time the health department took action.

Engineers also maintain that sanitary sewer lines which serve residential developments near the proposed shopping complex cannot accomodate the commercial development.

Township planner Jim Kosteva said Acchione refused to build an extension to the sanitary sewer system that would have served the project.

Supervisor Noel Culbert said that township attorney Bert Burgoyne advised the board to approve the site plans. According to Culbert, Burgoyne said construction of the project could be halted at the time an application for a building permit was made.

Engineers could advise against issuance of the permit on the basis of inadequate utilities.

BUT CULBERT, who is an attorney, said that Burgoyne's oral opinion on the conservative side. He cited a zoning ordinance provision that lists the avail-

Supervisor wants millage to improve roads

A request for a one-mill levy to pay for road improvements could be on the ballot at the next election if Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert has his way.

The suggestion to improve roads through a local millage is just one of the goals the supervisor has set for 1980.

Increased industrial development, purchase and development of more park sites, implementation of a revised zoning ordinance and adoption of a growth control policy have also been listed as high priority items.

Culbert formulated the goals in response to board discussions on adoption of the 1980 budget for Canton Township, during which trustees said they wanted a list of priorities for the spending of funds.

The supervisor said he believed it is the first time a list of goals has been developed.

According to Culbert, the road millage would be similar to one passed by city of Livonia voters during the 1960's. "The fact remains, whether a township or city, if the people want improved roads, they will have to pay for them.

"The majority of people I have talked to in Canton would support such a millage, " Culbert said.

Most Canton roads are now maintained by the Wayne County Road Commission, which has jurisdiction over roads in townships.

According to Culbert, industrial development, also listed as a major goal, can best be promoted by paving Haggerty Road and getting a new water main built.

The Stark Road water main planned for Livonia has been promised by the Detroit-Wayne County Water and Sewerage Department once methods of financing the project have been determined.

Haggerty Road paving is also in the planning states, with the expectation that Canton will pay much of the cost of the job.

Haggerty is the main road near areas designated for industrial use. "It is absolutely essential to follow through on this (road paving)," he said.

"It opens up the entire area to industrial development plus we can sell our properties there and use surplus revenues for capital improvements."

Culbert cites Livonia as a city with extensive industrial development because it tries "to be as helpful as possible to the developer. Industrial site plans are not reviewed by the city council."

The township board of trustees does review and vote on industrial site plans.

Culbert said he hopes to put strong emphasize on growth control "and modern planning techniques."

According to the supervisor, the master plan and zoning ordinance being considered for adoption provide for increased lot sizes, which will "automatically slow growth."

Culbert said the slowdown in the economy will also serve to stem rapid growth.

"This gives us a breathing spell, however, to adopt a new growth control policy," he said. Culbert said there are several strategies for maintaining growth control and that a combination of those strategies would be the probable method of achieving his goal.

No sign of a rush for freestanders

Freestanding business signs have been legal in Canton Township since last Sept. 6.

But store owners haven't exactly rushed to township hall to apply for the ground signs they have wanted since 1975.

Ordinance director Bruce Phillips, who processes sign permit applications, says only three businesses have received permits to erect signs near the roadway since the new ordinance took effect two months ago.

Three more businesses, including two which have not yet opened, have submitted applications.

"I thought I'd be swamped," said Phillips, who ordered a stack of sign applications before the new law took effect.

BUT FRANK McMURRAY, president of the Canton Chamber of Commerce, said he is not surprised that few businesses have applied for freestanding sign permits.

The business community had lobbied the township board to relax a 1975 amendment to the zoning ordinance since it was adopted. The 1975 law prohibited the erection of any freestanding business signs.

Store owners claimed that the ban on ground signs hurt their businesses. They said freestanding signs near the roadway are needed to attract passing motorists. The chamber of commerce even threatened to bring a lawsuit over the issue.

Although the new law lifts the ban on freestanding signs, McMurray says the allowable area of the signs is too small to benefit businesses.

The ordinance allows ground signs of 18 square feet in area if synthetic materials are used and 25 square feet in area if natural materials are used.

The planning commission had recommended signs of 50 square feet in area with synthetic materials and 70 square feet in area with natural materials.

McMurray says the business community views the new law "as a slap in the face."

"Why spend thousands of dollars for a sign that you won't be able to see anyway?" he asked.

McMurray estimated that an illuminated business sign costs at least $2,000.

Phillips said three businesses — the House of Woo restaurant, a Clark gasoline station and Crimboli Landscaping — have received permits for freestanding ground signs since the new ordinance took effect in September.

Knights Inn and Taco Bell, two businesses under construction on Ford Road, have applied for permits as well as the UAW Hall on Michigan Avenue.

Phillips said the sign permits can be issued in one day. The freestanding permits cost $35.

$500,000 plan proposed

Trustees debate park development

An architect has submitted a proposed $500,000 master plan for the development of Canton Township's second park.

Michael Gouin, supervisor of the recreation department and the township's recreation advisory committee, asked the Canton board to approve the plan and a $158,000 allocation for the first phase of development at Tuesday's meeting.

But the plan for John W. Flodin Park on Saltz, west of Lilley, was tabled by the board after Trustees Robert Greenstein and Stephen Larson objected to the high cost of the project.

The plan will be discussed at a special meeting to be scheduled by the board within two weeks.

The plan, devised by architect Jack Anderson, shows courts for tennis, softball, basketball and soccer on the 30-acre site. It also shows a comfort station, picnic area, child's play area, physical fitness course and parking lots.

The park would be developed in four stages under the plan. The first phase would include construction of two tennis courts, a ball field, a parking area and some landscape work.

Ralph Brickman, chairman of the recreation advisory committee, said the plan was formulated after three public hearings were held on the park's development.

Although the township's 1980 budget includes funds for park development, Greenstein and Larson maintain that finances are too tight at the present time to make a commitment of $500,000 for recreation.

In 1980, the township will operate on a $3.8 million budget — $400,000 less than this year's general fund.

"We're being asked to adopt a commitment of way over one-half million dollars, because inflation will bring it over that amount," Larson said.

"You get a beautiful park at a high price. If everyone in the township is willing to pay that price, that's fine."

Supervisor Noel Culbert said he was prepared to approve the master plan and a $158,000 allocation for the first phase of development at Tuesday's meeting.

"The community certainly needs an additional park," he said.

The township's only developed recreation area is Griffin Park on Canton Center near Cherry Hill.

According to Culbert, Anderson was paid $2,500 for his work on the master plan.

Project BEAR aids drivers in distress

"Project BEAR" (Broad Emergency Assistance Radio), now one year old, has proved an effective, economical and reliable way of providing motorist assistance along I-96 freeway between Grand Rapids and Detroit, state officials say.

Project BEAR is a cooperative effort by the State Police, MDOT, the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Highway Administration. It uses the Citizens Band radio emergency channel 9 to provide direct communication between motorists and the State Police.

It is the first of its kind in the nation. Since it began in October, 1978, the system has averaged 12 calls per day, triggering some form of aid or response to more than 4,000 motorists or emergency situations.

THE SYSTEM consists of 10 CB relay towers along the 140-mile stretch.

When a motorist anywhere on or near the freeway has a problem or sees another motorist in trouble, he or she uses channel 9 to communicate directly with the State Police radio dispatcher.

The dispatcher then contacts a local State Police post or other service agency to handle the emergency.

Said MDOT Director John P. Woodford: "There was some concern at first that the system would not serve motorists who did not have CB radios in their vehicles. However, a survey indicates that nearly 50 percent of the calls received are from motorists who are reporting other motorists' needs.

"This correlates with another survey that shows nearly half the vehicles traveling I-96 are equipped with CB radios."

THE MAJORITY of the calls received on Project BEAR are for motorist assists, but state police also have responded to accidents, highway hazards and medical emergencies.

"We've found the system very helpful," said Lt. Bernard Schlehuber of the State Police. "It enables us to arrive on a scene a lot faster. In some cases, a CBer's call has cut our arrival time by 15 minutes and, in a crisis, arriving just a few minutes earlier can make a difference.

"It's not the most ideal system, because at times atmospheric noise and 'skip' on the CB frequency causes problems relaying information, but for the money it's the best. Motorists are more apt to use their CB than stop and use a roadside call box."

Canton jogger dies after hit-run crash

A Canton Township man is dead as a result of a jogging accident that left him hospitalized in serious condition for almost two weeks.

Timothy Schroepfer, 32, died Sunday after he slipped into a coma Friday in St. Mary Hospital and never regained consciousness.

Schroepfer was struck by a hit-and-run driver while jogging on the south side of Ann Arbor Road just east of General Drive in Plymouth Township at about 7:30 p.m., Oct. 22.

According to hospital officials, Schroepfer received skull and leg injuries as a result of the accident.

Wayne County Det. Walter Holoka said police are continuing investigation of the accident. They refused to release the name of a suspect at this time.

Mitchell A. Eidenmiller, 27, of Livonia was cleared of charges earlier in the investigation. Eidenmiller was arrested by deputy sheriffs within an hour of the accident Oct. 22 but released the following day.

SCHROEPFER is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Schroepfer of Little Rock, Ark; three brothers; and a sister.

Memorial services were held Monday in Santeiu Funeral Home in Garden City.

Schroepfer was employed in the Latin American Division of the Ford Motor Co., Dearborn, for 3½ years. He worked as a financial staff analyst and had been stationed in Mexico City before the division was moved to Ford's world headquarters last December.

Big house price slash seen coming

A reduction in prices for some homes by as much as 10 to 15 percent may help move buyers into the market despite record high mortgage interest rates.

This hope was expressed by John Cole, president of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR). The reduction will apply particularly to homes valued above $50,000.

"With prices on many homes being slashed, these buyers will begin to reassess market conditions," said Cole.

Cole said he continues to recommend buyers seek loans that can be prepaid without penalty so that refinancing can be achieved if mortgage interest rates drop significantly.

"But our members and their home buying clients are becoming increasingly concerned with the reduction in funds available for mortgage loans," he said. "Withdrawal of funds from savings and loan associations, primarily for other money market investments offering a higher yield, will likely continue for several months.

"The Home Loan Bank Board, which regulates these associations, has taken some steps to make more money available for housing. This should help. But with the uncertainty of added funding, some institutions have withdrawn from the mortgage business to await developments.

Free shots are offered

Free immunizations are being offered for students in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The free immunization clinic will be held during school hours, 7 a.m. to 2 p.m., for students in grades 9-12 at Plymouth Salem High on Nov. 19-21.

The free clinic is sponsored by the Wayne County Health Department in conjunction with the school district nurses.

The clinic is being held to assist parents in meeting the state immunization requirements.

Under state law, students may be excluded from school if they have not been immunized.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education has set Feb. 15, 1980, as the date to exclude all students in grades 9-12 who have not been immunized.

A form letter is being sent to parents of students who are inadequately immunized. The letter includes a permission form which should be filled out and signed by the parent to be returned to the clinic at the time of immunization.

Exchange students comment

America through young eyes

'In Finland the families are more together in the evenings. These Americans belong to many clubs and usually every evening they're somewhere.'
— Tarja Tuominen

'I learned that most (American) families live in subdivisions, both parents work and they have lots of kids.'
— Jens Schau-Hansen

Andrea, Jens and Tarja have been studying the English language since they were youngsters in their respective homelands of Sweden, Norway and Finland.

Today, they are studying the United States and its language first-hand as exchange students at the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Andrea Ingvarsson, 17, and Tarja Tuominen, 17, are both 11th grade students at Plymouth Canton High School. Jens Schau-Hansen, 17, is an 11th grade student at Plymouth Salem High School.

Since their arrival in August, these three teens have altered some of their earlier impressions about the states. Their English volcabulary now includes such colloquialisms as:

"My mother almost had a 'fit' when she learned I was coming to Detroit."

Or, how about:

"We don't have 'teepeeing' (the art of decorating trees and homes with toilet paper) in my home."

One of the most frequent questions these teens have been asked is the correct pronunciation of their names. Once that's answered, they're usually asked to describe where their homelands are.

THEY ARE MEMBERS of a student exchange program called Youth For Understanding and all are spending the school year at private homes in the Plymouth-Canton area.

Andrea, who is staying with the family of Leon Turczyszyn in Canton, is from Gothenburg, Sweden. Her hometown is a seaport community of some 350,000 residents.

Jens, who is staying with the David Hamiton family in Canton, is from Oslo, the capitol of Norway. Oslo also is a seaport community with a population of some 500,000.

Tarja, who is staying with Jan and Keith Rolston in Canton, is from Helsinki, the capitol of Finland. It is the largest city in that country with some 500,000 residents.

Tarja says most people ask her, "where is Finland?" She also is asked about its climate, which she describes as similar to the conditions of Michigan's upper peninsula.

"They usually don't know where it is and want to know what kind of animals live there," she adds.

Andrea says one of the most amusing questions she has been asked is if Swedes "eat raw meat?" She's also asked if Swedes have movies in their country.

Jens finds most American students do not know that Norway is a country in its own right.

"All people think Norway is in Sweden," he says with a laugh.

ANDREA SAYS her first look into life in the United States was from televised reports of American violence and slums. Such reports usually depicted conditions in New York and Detroit.

Upon arrival, she adds, a tour of an average Detroit slum was somewhat "disappointing."

"I thought it was going to be worse," she says.

Jens, on the other hand, was expecting "bigger roads and bigger houses" in America.

"I learned that most families live in subdivisions, both parents work and they have lots of kids."

Tarja says she found Americans to be much busier than people in her own country.

"In Finland the families are more together in the evenings. These Americans belong to many clubs and usually every evening they're somewhere."

All the students say they found Americans to be friendly and open. They even expressed surprise in finding conversations between strangers in such public places as mall shops.

"In Sweden you don't talk to someone you don't know," Andrea says. "Here people see you on the streets and talk to you."

Despite some negative impressions of America in their home countries, the students say most Europeans would like the visit America.

"They (Finish people) think it is a symbol of freedom," Tarja says.

BOTH ANDREA and Jens say American teens drive more recklessly than teens in their own countries.

In Norway and Sweden one must be at least 18 to secure a driver's license. Lessons are privately paid for in both countries. In Norway the fee is about $20 an hour and in Sweden the fee is about $35 an hour.

They say lessons can total as much as 20-25 hours.

Jens says Norwegian youths also appear to be more politically aware than American youths.

"Most people in school at least know where they stand politically."

Andrea, as well as the other teens, says her impressions of the American way of life has changed since her arrival.

Back in Sweden, she recalls being asked what country is located just north of the United States.

Her first guess was Australia.

"The teacher said that was wrong so I said 'Oh, it must be Russia.' "

"It was early in the day — my first class," she adds apologetically.

'In Sweden you don't talk to someone you don't know. Here people see you on the streets and talk to you.'

County split still eyed as suburban solution

By TOM LONERGAN

Miffed that Detroit Mayor Coleman Young has "cut a deal" with Michigan Gov. William Milliken on Wayne County government reorganization, western county commissioners may start stumping for a separate suburban county.

"We're still not opposed to (reorganization by) a charter commission," said Commissioner Thomas Presnell, D-Westland, spokesman for the out-county commissioners caucus.

But if a charter commission proposes that voters decide between an elected county executive or appointed county manager, Presnell said, "there should (also) be a vote on a split of the county."

State Rep. Thomas Brown, D-Westland, has proposed that Wayne County be split, with western county and downriver communities forming a county of "Suburbia."

THOMAS PRESNELL
Suburbs ignored

The bill received lukewarm support from suburban officials during hearings six weeks ago. Several said they would only support it "as a last resort."

A county commissioner from Detroit said the split would foment racial divisions.

The bill is not given much chance of passing the Michigan Legislature, although it was approved 10-0 this week by the House Towns and Counties Committee, which Brown chairs.

LAST WEEK, Young and Milliken reportedly compromised on the options an elected charter commission would have on county reorganization. Milliken has long supported a strong county executive, much like a city's strong mayor, for the deficit-plagued county, as have western county and downriver representatives on the board of commissioners.

Young and Detroit commissioners, who have a 15-12 majority on the board, want a county board-appointed manager, much like a city manager.

Milliken and Young's compromise, which must be approved by the legislature, would allow a charter commission to propose a county executive elected by voters to a four-year term or give voters a choice between an elected executive or appointed county manager.

Presnell said western county officials believe suburban residents would support a county executive over an appointed manager "if everyone voted."

"The apathy of the public is liable to be a very significant thing," he added.

A bill providing this option may be voted on in the Michigan Senate by the end of the week, according to an aide to Senate Majority Leader William Faust, D-Westland. The aide, Chris Cardinal, said Faust supports the bill, sponsored by State Sen. John Kelly, D-Detroit.

THE MILLIKEN-Young compromise "ignored better than half the citizens of the county," Presnell said.

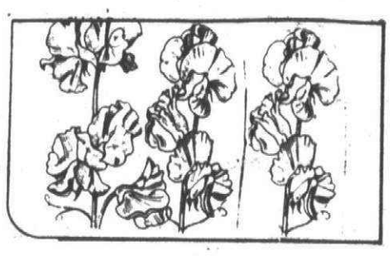

"The lack of even a request of any input from suburban people is an absolute slap in the face to us."

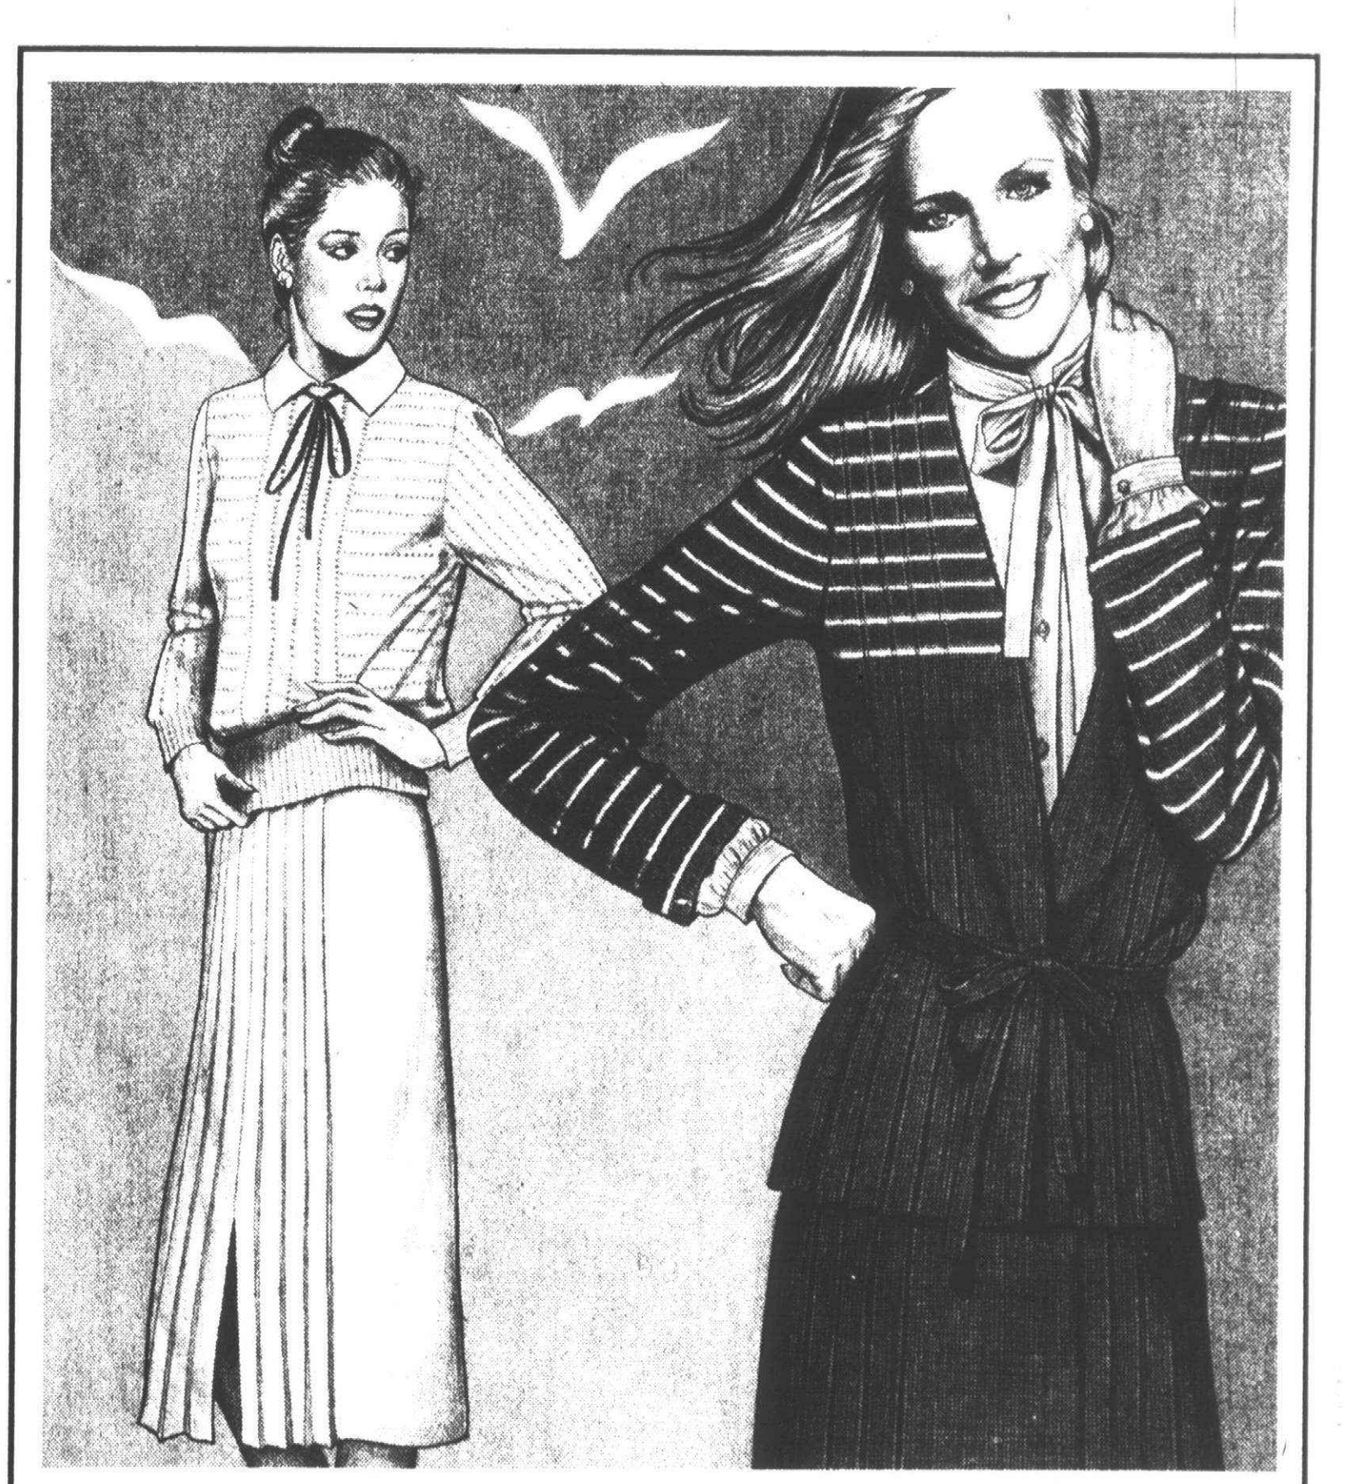

Local and county officials in western Wayne have been leery of a charter commission that would be elected from the 27 existing county commissioner districts.

Such an arrangement would favor Detroit, they say, because the districts, based on the 1970 federal census, fail to reflect the county population shift west during the past 10 years.

A vote to create a charter commission and nomination of charter commissioners could take place as early as next May. All charter commission proposals would be subject to voter approval.

Milliken has tied financial aid to Wayne County with county reorganization. He insists the county, which is expected to end the budget year Nov. 30 with a $19.3 million deficit, will receive no state help until the legislature approves a county reform proposal and the Board of Commissioners submits it to voters.

New Canton chamber board

Newly elected (or re-elected) to the Canton Chamber of Commerce board of Directors are (from left) Frank McMurray of State Farm Insurance, President; Jack Koers of Plymouth Construction Equipment, third vice president; Joel Clark of Clark Block and Supply, director; and Doug Dinkins of Community Reproductions & Printing, treasurer.

John Schwartz of Schwartz's Greenhouse and Arnoldt Williams of Arnoldt Williams Music Co. were also re-elected to the board. The new officers will be installed at the chamber's dinner meeting Friday in the Washtenaw Country Club.

Utilities prompt denial

ability of utilities as a guideline for approving site plans.

Culbert joined Clerk John Flodin, Treasurer Jim Donahue and Trustee Carol Bodenmiller in the action to deny the plans by a narrow 4-3 vote.

The supervisor admitted, however, that Acchione could file suit against the township.

And Greenstein, who is also an attorney, predicts that Acchione would win.

"I hope you enjoy the millage increase — about two mills — to pay off this settlement," Greenstein said after the board vote was taken.

The trustee said that site plan approval is a "ministerial act" which must be based solely on compliance with zoning ordinances. He said that the building department — not the township board — holds the power to stop the project by refusing to issue building permits.

Acchione said at Tuesday's meeting that he believes the township board lacks the legal authority to deny his site plans.

Trustee Stephen Larson's motion to deny the plans mentions the failure of Acchione to include a business sign provision on his blueprints, as required by zoning ordinances in addition to the lack of utilities.

The township's tight-fisted 1980 budget earmarks only $50,000 for attorney fees — a sum which officials admit is low. Township board members have indicated at former meetings that they must curb legal spending in 1980.

Mudslinging

The Corps of Engineers dredges about 240 million cubic yards of sediment from the Mississippi River every year — enough to cover Delaware with a layer more than an inch thick.

Color it awful

The bright color of ladybugs, butterflies and some other insects supposedly reminds birds that they are unpleasant eating.

SEMCOG pushes for car checks

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) is urging the state legislature to ensure that any law requiring inspection of auto emission equipment be applied on a statewide basis, not just to this seven-county region.

SEMCOG proposals call for strong consumer protection controls, such as repair cost ceilings and mechanisms to identify conflits of interest between the inspection and repair phases of the program.

SEMCOG officials said that unless a proposed auto inspection and maintenance (I/M) program is instituted across the state, it would be "unfair, economic discrimination" against southeast Michigan.

THE GUIDELINES were adopted by SEMCOG's General Assembly in anticipation of soon-to-be introduced state legislation designed to comply with the federal Clean Air Act. The federal act mandates I/M in areas of 29 states which fail to meet air quality standards.

The General Assembly, which met Nov. 1 in the Michigan Inn in Southfield, is composed of some 150 local elected officials from throughout the region.

SEMCOG chairperson Robert L. Bovitz, mayor of Trenton, said he hoped the legislature would carefully review the SEMCOG guidelines before it authorizes an I/M program.

"We hope that the policy package adopted by the General Assembly will encourage state legislators to adopt an I/M program that has reasonably achievable emission reduction goals and does not damage the economic growth of southeast Michigan," Bovitz stated.

UNDER THE FEDERAL Clean Air Act, all urban areas unable to bring their air quality up to certain federal standards by 1982 must have an I/M program in operation by the end of 1982, if not earlier.

Under such a program, cars and trucks would be inspected to see if they are emitting too much pollution. If they fail the test, their owners would be required by law to get them repaired.

According to the State Implementation Plan (SIP) for Air Quality, the seven counties of southeast Michigan will be unable to attain the ozone standards by the federal deadline. But several environmental and transportation planners say that it is virtually "impossible to predict who will meet the clean air standards and who won't."

"The air is also dirty in Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint and other Michigan cities," says SEMCOG's Executive Director Michael M. Glusac, referring to documented non-attainment of ozone standards contained in the SIP. "But the Michigan Department of Transportation believes those areas will have clean air by 1982, so, they contend, these areas don't need I and M."

But Glusac complains that the state has no reliable scientific data to back this prediction.

"The state Transportation Department has developed its position based on assumptions involving scientific data which we believe to be incomplete, and air quality computer modeling techniques which are untested," he said.

SEMCOG'S KEY aruguments in favor of a statewide auto inspection and maintenance program are:

- There are documented ozone problems in other urban areas of the state, and it is uncertain if these aeas will meet the ozone standard by 1982. Thus, to single out southeast Michigan for I/M is discriminatory.
- Such discrimination could drive population and business out of the region as they seek to register cars or business vehicles elsewhere — at a time when this region needs to attract new business and jobs.
- In 1977 there were 4.6 million cars registered in Michigan, with 2.4 million or 52 percent located in southeast Michigan. Unless I/M is adopted statewide, about 48 percent of the cars in Michigan would go untested.
- The average car, traveling 12,000 miles per year, emits about 1,000 pounds of hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide pollution. A U.S. Environmental Protection Agency study of the I/M program in Oregon for example, has shown that repair of 1975-77 model year vehicles which failed an I/M test has resulted in average emission reductions of 47 percent for carbon monoxide and 42 percent for hydrocarbons.
- Air flow is uncontrollable. If only southeast Michigan pays to clean up the air, the region has no way to protect itself from the pollution which blows into the region from other polluted areas.

THE GENERAL assembly also voted on a resolution calling for the restructuring of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The resolution asks Gov. Wiliam Milliken and the state legislature to consider dividing the DNR into two separate departments: One department would serve the fishing, wildlife, forestry and recreation needs of the state and a new Department of the Environment would be directly concerned with the protection of the urban and rural populations of the state from environmental pollution.

Police auction is Nov. 15-16

Plymouth — Past & Present

The city's first funeral home

By Sam Hudson

(Part II)

In 1917, Fred Schrader purchased Dr. Albert E. Patterson's home at 280 S. Main Street and moved the mortuary end of the Schrader business from Penniman Avenue to the new location.

Initially, he occupied only part of the building, renting the remainder.

It was at this time that Schrader established the first funeral home in this area and one of the first in western Wayne County. It was a departure from the traditional concept of house funerals.

Schrader retained his furniture store on Penniman Avenue until about 1933 when he decided to close it during the depression.

BY 1928, Schrader had taken over the entire building on Main Street for his funeral home and the structure had undergone a major remodelling.

It was during this period that the familiar white pillars and brick veneer were installed, giving the building a colonial effect that foreshadowed much of the architecture later to come in Plymouth.

By this time Fred Schrader had become a prominent member of the social and business community. As early as March 3, 1916, the Plymouth Mail had referred to him as "one of Plymouth's leading citizens and business men. He is president of the Plymouth Improvement Association and is an enthusiastic booster for Plymouth all of the time, and we might add that he is also a genial all around good fellow, too."

The primary purpose of the association was to encourage new industry to locate in the Plymouth area.

For many years, Chrader was a director of the Plymouth United Savings Bank and one of its vice-presidents. He was a member of the local Masonic Lodge and became a charter member of the Plymouth Rotary Club when it was formed in 1924.

Schrader played a prominent part in the community-wide effort which led to the establishment of the Mayflower Hotel in the late 1920s. He was vice-president and a key figure in the Plymouth Community Hotel Corporation that brought the hotel into being after a sales organization of local citizens sold $209,000 of stock in six hours, "establishing a world's record."

On Nov. 9, 1927, when the hotel was officially opened, Charlie Bennett of Daisy, who had been named president of the corporation, gave full credit to Schrader and his committee for taking over for him when he was ill for several months preceding completion of the project.

"The real credit for this beautiful hotel building and its furnishings is due to your vice-president, Fred Schrader, and his enthusiastic fellow workers," Bennett told the stockholders and other local citizens who attended the opening ceremonies.

"Fred Schrader presented to the hotel company the fine model of that sturdy old ship, the Mayflower, which you will see reposing in the Palm Room.

"Fred says that the ups and downs the Mayflower had in crossing the Atlantic had nothing on him during the completion of this building."

On Nov. 11, 1927, in its coverage of the event, the Plymouth Mail included the menu of the evening's banquet celebrating the opening of the hotel. It is reprinted here as a nostalgic reminder of the kinds of repasts enjoyed at affairs of this kind before inflation began to erode the U.S. dollar:

Fruit Coupe Louise
Celery and Olives
Salted Almonds
Chicken Consomme En Tasse
Broiled White Fish Maitre D'Hotel
Grilled Filet Mignon Virginia
Mushroom Sauce
Julienne Potatoes
Petit Pois En Custard
Tomato Surprise
Fancy Cakes
Mocha
Mints
Cigars

FOR MANY YEARS after the hotel began operations, Fred Schrader was one of the five directors to whom the hotel manager reported. The others were Charlie Bennett, Carl Shear, Paul Wiedman and Ernie Allison.

At one stage of a continual feud between the hotel directors and the local chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance Union over whether Plymouth should be wet or dry, Mrs. John Dayton, (a staunch champion of the WCTU) threatened to publish a book about the hotel directors. It was to be titled "The Five Old Men" and it portrayed them in a less than favorable light.

The book was never published. Ernie Allison, whom I interviewed recently, said he read a draft of it. I asked him what he thought of it.

He grinned.

Workers get assurance against job discrimination

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission (MCRC) has issued orders in what could prove to be landmark cases in the battle against employment discrimination.

The two separate cases, argued by Atty. Gen. Frank J Kelley, assure employees working environments free from sexual harassment and hiring policies which guarantee handicappers equal employment opportunities.

IN THE FIRST case Kelley contended, and the MCRC agreed, that employers are required by the Michigan Civil Rights Act to maintain a working environment free from sexually demeaning verbal or physical conduct.

The evidence in a case, involving a female employee of a Muskegon market, showed that co-workers, as well as management, repeatedly commented on her sex life, and the sex life of females in general, and the relationship between the mood of women and their monthly cycle.

There was also evidence of males improperly touching female workers and making remarks about the sexual desirability of female customers.

The MCRC found the employee voluntarily participated in such conduct and did not award damages or back pay.

The MCRC ordered the employer to post a statement of policy announcing management will not permit sexual harassment and that persons who violate the policy will be subject to discipline or discharge. The employer is also required to establish a formal method for reporting any such conduct.

IN THE SECOND case, Kelley argued that employers who classify applicants according to their general physical condition rather than their ability to perform the duties of a job are violating the Michigan Handicappers Civil Rights Act.

The case involved General Motors (GM) and a job applicant with a common back condition which was first discovered when she underwent the physical exam required by GM as part of its employment screening.

Westchester Square

New mall plans Friday opening

By W.W. EDGAR

Another jewel will be added to the downtown business section Friday when Westchester Square begins a two-day opening celebra tion.

On the site once occupied by West Brothers auto dealership, the new mall contains 10 modern stores and brings a new atmos phere to Forest Avenue between Ann Arbor Trail and Wing Street.

Westchester Square, almost a year in the making, is the brainchild of James Jabara, John Thomas and associates. They also developed Forest Place — a companion complex on Forest that fills a long-felt need in the city.

GRAND OPENING ceremonies will be from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday.

On hand for the entire time will be piano players and Hank the Clown. Cider and doughnuts will be served.

Ten businesses have taken spaces in the mall. Their owners are preparing for the opening — the first time an entire mall has been opened at once.

Here is the list of the tenants:

Sportventure, owned and operated by Jim Nawcot and Nick Aron.

Tadmore, operated by Bea Harris, Linda Harris and Helen Goldstein, a store that deals with clothing for large and half sizes.

Charlie's Corner, a Hugh Jarvis Hallmark card shop.

Ozzies, a teenage shop operated by Alice McDonald.

Mayflower Lighting, owned and operated by John Pakos. It deals with modern lighting, including Austrian crystal and brass chandeliers, lighting fixtures, and some limited edition prints.

Corner Curtain Shop, owned by Betty Ward.

Campbell's Clock Shop, owned by Les Campbell.

Shoe Attic, owned and operated by Shirley and Ruth Witalec.

Sacks of Forest Avenue, owned by Shirley Peters and Pat Mee, dealing in casual clothes for women.

One of the real eye-catchers is Mayflower Lighting, which is the first venture of Pakos, a 22-year-old former salesman now in business for himself.

The Sports Venture also is unusual as it features equipment for participant sports such as golf, jogging and tennis. With the passing of the Trading Post on Ann Arbor Trail some time ago, it will be the lone sports goods store in the area.

Westchester Square itself is an unusual design in that shoppers may enter from the front, back or side, and the hallways are wider than in most malls of its kind.

OK contract with DPW

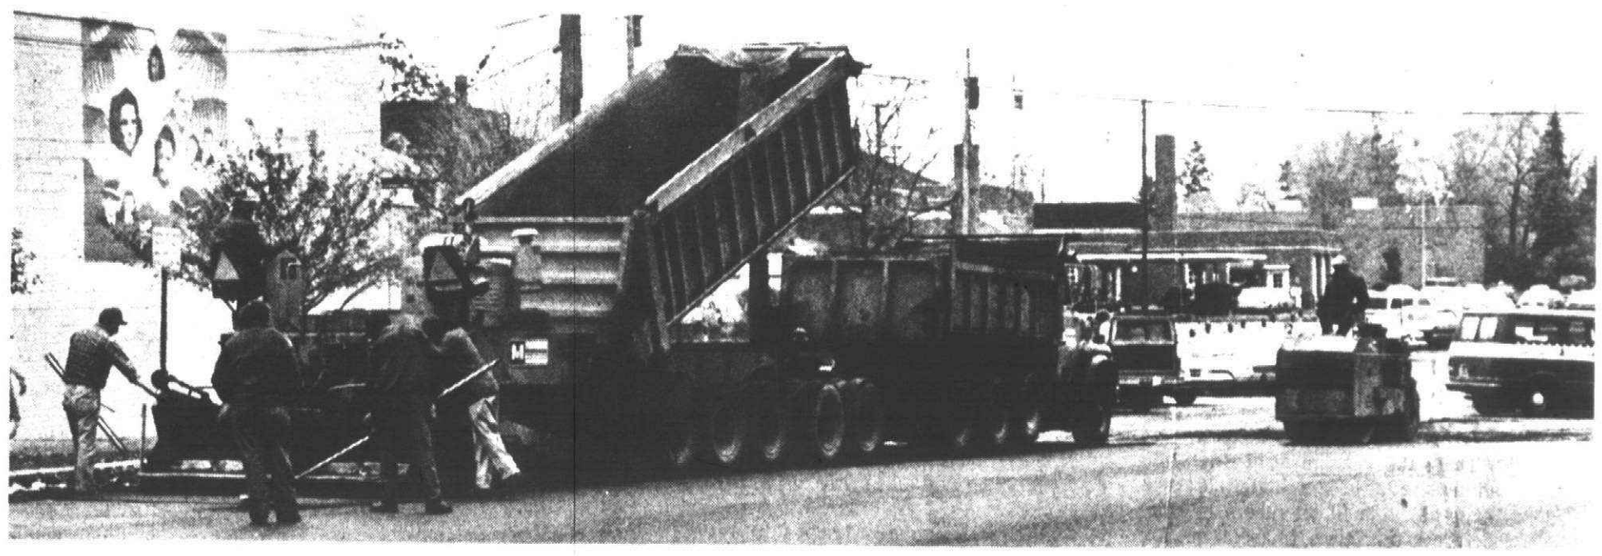

A two-year contract with Department of Public Work employees was approved Monday night by the Plymouth City Commission.

The agreement with Teamsters Local 214 provides for a 7.5 percent wage increase for the first year, retroactive to July 1, 1979, and for a 7.5 percent pay increase for the second year.

During the first year, DPW employees also will receive an additional personal leave day, giving them a total of two, and during the second year the city will institute a long-term disability plan.

John Zech, administrative assistant who negotiated with agreement with the Teamsters, said the total cost to the city of the two-year contract represents an increase in pay and fringes of about 15 percent.

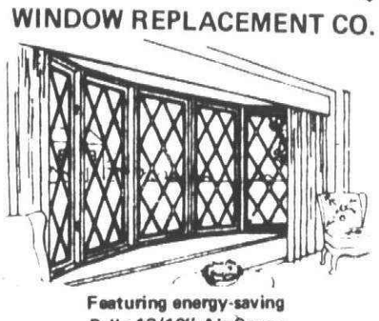

DPW employees voted to ratify the agreement on Oct. 19.

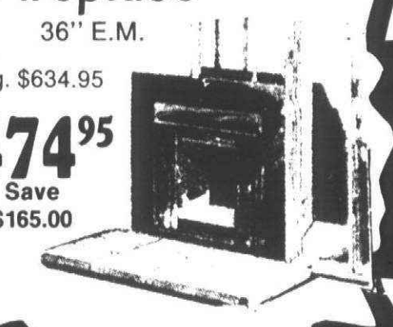

Festival Lot paving is under way

Contractors were busy this week putting on a new layer of asphalt on the city parking lot next to the Penn Theater. The lot is commonly known as the Festival Lot because it is the location of the barbeque pits during the Fall Festival. Once completed, part of the lot will be leased for private parking by post office employees and the remaining half will be designated for public use. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

I look for trouble-and sometimes the trouble is no insulation.

I'm a Consumers Power gas serviceman, and it's my job to troubleshoot. If people smell gas in their homes, they call me and I get there fast.
But sometimes while I'm working in a customer's home, I find more trouble—like no insulation. You'd be surprised to learn how many homes I go into that aren't adequately insulated.
Some customers tell me they can't afford insulation. But what they really can't afford is to pay for all the natural gas it's costing them by not insulating. Over the long winter, insulation doesn't cost money—it saves money and scarce energy. It's the best thing you can do to your home, and for your gas bill. Believe me, I know. I get a gas bill at my home every month just like you.

Group gives hiring tips for home update work

By JACKIE KLEIN

The Home Improvement Council of Metropolitan Detroit (HIC) isn't a consumer organization. But it strives to protect the consumer.

That's the assessment of Kay Wolin, administrator of the Southfield-based, non-profit council, members of which include contractors, financial lenders, utility companies, suppliers of building materials and the media.

"By professionalizing the home improvement industry and educating the public and contractors, we are protecting consumers," Ms. Wolin said. "Our major goal is to maintain a high standard of ethics in the remodeling industry and weed out the few get-rich-quick schemers."

There's a microfilm in the MIC office with a list of every state licensed contractor and what they are licensed to do. Ms. Wolin said she sent out 4,000 directories bearing these names in response to phone inquiries.

"Even company salespersons must be licensed and licenses are renewable each year," Ms. Wolin said. "We insist the contractors included in the directories have credit reports, references, adequate insurance and a track record of at least one year in business."

Members of HIC, one of 41 offsprings of the National Home Improvement Council, pay $200 a year in dues. The local council sponsors seminars on energy and other issues affecting the remodeling business and has been active in lobbying efforts to improve the industry, Ms. Wolin said.

EXPENDITURES for home remodeling are expected to reach a record $85 billion by 1985, according to Joel Helfman, new HIC president.

"New home prices and escalating mortgage interest rates are out of reach for many persons," Helfman said. "It also costs a lot to move and more homeowners are staying in their houses and remodeling to meet their growing needs.

"Most home improvement contractors are reliable professionals. The council has made great strides in our campaign to rid the industry of contractors who bend the rules. We provide consumers with a list of reputable companies and that's better than looking through the yellow pages. It boils down to faith between two parties — the customer and the contractor."

The council works closely with the Better Business Bureau, Helfman said, and is involved in arbitration proceedings when needed to resolve complaints.

As the administrator of the organization, Ms. Wolin said she is often placed in the position of acting as chief information officer.

"LAST YEAR, my job was limited to provide information to the very few persons who sought it," Ms. Wolin said. "I had to preach about the council. But in the past several months, we've reached a point where I no longer have to seek forums to present our story."

The HIC offers the following list of what to avoid if you're planning on renovating or improving your home and are looking for a contractor:

- The high-pressure telephone salesperson who colors the deal with the tempting bonuse of "If you act now."
- Workmen who offer to do home repair jobs on the spot from the back of trucks, boasting they just finished a job down the street.
- Any salesperson who shows up immediately after a reputable home improvement representative has left in the company-labeled vehicle. The Johnny-on-the-spot salesperson will usually try to undercut the other estimate by a substantial margin.

Before signing any type of home improvement contract, Ms. Wolin advised, check the company's record with the Better Business Bureau. For any job costing more than $200, the law says the company or contractor must be licensed by the state, she said.

To find out if a contractor is licensed, you may call Ms. Wolin at 559-2373 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

HIC members, she said, are pledged to a code of ethics which includes truth in advertising, accurate description of products and services, contracts which are fair and not ambiguous, prompt fulfillment of contractural obligations and performance of work meeting recognized health and safety standards and current laws.

Soccer program is defended

Editor:

In response to Doug Funke, sports editor, and his article, "Will Standings Ruin Soccer?", I feel as a parent, coach and board member, it is important to express myself.

First of all, the program Funke refers to is the Livonia Family Y Soccer Booster Club. How unfortunate that the name of the club wasn't named.

The L.F.Y.S.B.C. is one of the largest and one of the best programs in the area. If team standings were printed weekly, this would be evident.

The participating youngsters know who they are (team name and number). They like to see their achievements noted. Why not? Children are human.

All coaches in the program give their time and knowledge (without pay) because they want to, to the young people of the community or anyone interested in playing soccer.

A newspaper article such as the one I refer to can do more harm to a child than printing the team standings. The present and future readers will remember the anti-soccer attitude. That will be too bad.

Soccer is growing, it is a healthy sport. One need not be a superjock to play, or weigh 125 pounds at 10 years old to make the Junior Varsity Little League football team.

Through the program at the Livonia Y, everyone is an equal, big or small, short or tall, young or old, fast or slow, everyone plays. You won't be able to find another program around that can make that statement.

There are people and some coaches who turn against a program that their children have grown up in. They should be looked at more closely for their own personal values.

A statement was made by a female coach about standings not being necessary in 10 and under age groups, not to say, how would she feel if her team were not in the bottom of their division?

Take that same coach (in parent position) who was overly elated that the 12 and under team her son plays on won a playoff game. Isn't it strange the double role people play?

Maybe if the soccer program paid for newspaper space, Funke would be more willing to allow the space needed to print team standings. Please note we are not talking about team scores.

I wonder, do bowling, swimming, tennis, golf, etc. pay for their space? Or is it a courtesy the newspaper gives its readers?

I am also a mother of five children, ages 6-16, and they all play soccer in the Livonia Y program, from instructional to the high school division.

Instructional soccer through the Livonia Y is not a competitive program, it doesn't matter to the coaches who wins or loses the game, the children are the ones that want to win the game. Isn't it funny how little adults know?

Mr. Funke, please stop pushing our program and just print the standings. If you don't have a positive attitude about soccer, OK, but be courteous.

BARBARA PULICE,
Livonia

Dr. Taylor is praised

Dr. William Q. Taylor, a practicing physician in Plymouth, has been named a fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians.

The degree is attained in one of two ways. It either involves successful completion of 600 or more hours of continuing medical study, or the achievement of diplomate status in the specialty of family practice as a result of passing a certified examination by the American Board of Family Practice.

Taylor was among some 1,100 members to receive the degree Oct. 9 at the academy's annual convention in Atlanta, Ga.

The academy has more than 44,000 members in practice and study. It was the first medical group to require its members to take a minimum of 150 accredited study hours every three years.

Herbal pillow: subtle influence

Here it is already, time to begin thinking about Christmas gift-making.

A homemade sleep pillow is one of the nicest and easiest presents you can give to those very special people on your list for whom you want to do something a little extra.

These pillows contain natural aromatic herbs and spices, mixed with the regular stuffing, and are said to release their subtle influence while you sleep.

THIS RECIPE is said to soothe and comfort one who is grieving or in pain. In the past, pillows containing this blend were often given to invalids or the elderly.

¼ lb. oak moss
¼ lb. wild thyme
½ lb. dried peppermint leaves
2 oz. dried spearmint leaves
2 oz. hops
1 oz. lemon verbena

Sew this mixture into a comfortably stuffed homemade pillow.

OTHER TRADITIONAL blends:

To make your loved one dream of you, present him a pillow containing a mixture of rosebuds, cinnamon, cloves, powdered orris root and dried jasmine blossoms.

To relieve melancholy, blend balsam and rosemary, or a mixture of rosemary, mint and cloves.

To cure insomnia, use peppermint and rosebuds.

To ease a headache, blend lavendar flowers, marjoram and nutmeg.

To calm a baby, add dill blossoms to its pillow.

A nice pillow to give a man contains a mixture of sweet woodruff and vetiver.

For protection against evil, use a blend of master-of-the-woods and five finger grass.

To make a nuptial pillow (ideal for a wedding gift), use rosemary, the emblem of true love and fidelity.

Laurel leaves are added to a pillow to instill wisdom.

TO REKINDLE LOST energy, mix together lavendar, alspice and rosemary. Some recipes also call for a bit of catnip added to these.

Trains, buses run to Santa's parade

Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) bus and train tickets for the J. L. Hudson Thanksgiving Day parade will go on sale Monday, Nov. 12.

Round-trip train fare is $3.50; bus fare is $2. Children under 6 who don't occupy a seat may ride free.

TWO TRAINS will be available for Oakland County residents traveling to the Nov. 22 downtown parade.

The first leaves Pontiac at 7:30 a.m., Bloomfield Hills 7:45, Birmingham 7:55 and Royal Oak-11 Mile at 8:10 a.m. The train arrives at the Renaissance Center at 8:45 a.m. and will leave Detroit at 11:30 a.m.

The second train leaves Pontiac at 8 a.m., Bloomfield Hills 8:15, Birmingham 8:25 and Royal Oak-11 Mile at 8:40 a.m. The train arrives at the Renaissance Center at 9:15 a.m. and leaves Detroit at noon.

Passengers must leave Detroit on the same train they arrived on.

BUS SERVICE to the parade will be available from a number of suburban shopping centers. They include, with departure times: Westland Mall in Westland, 8:15 a.m.; Northland Mall, Southfield, 8:30 a.m.; Oakland Mall, Troy, 8:15 a.m.; and Twelve Oaks Mall, Novi, 8 a.m.

Buses will leave Detroit 15 minutes after the parade ends.

Bus and train tickets can be purchased by mail or phone through Nov. 15.

Checks or money orders should be sent, with a self-addressed stamped envelope to SEMTA Traindeer/SEMTA-CLAUS, 660 Woodward Ave., Detroit, 48226.

Phone orders can be made by calling 256-8700.

Bus and train tickets may be purchased at Hudson's stores in Pontiac and Oakland Mall.

'A Pyrric victory?' Thoughts on county's woes

Tim Richard

Dick Manning sent a lot of people to their dictionaries when he referred to a court decision in favor of Wayne County unions as "a Pyrrhic victory."

Pyrrhus, for the benefit of members of the American Federation of State, County and Muncipal Employees (AFSCME), was a Greek king who defeated the Romans in 279 B.C., but at a stupendous cost in casualties.

AFSCME, which represents many county employees, recently went to circuit court to fight County Board Chairman Manning's plan to pay them in scrip. Judge Irwin Burdick ruled the county couldn't use scrip because it amounted to unauthorized borrowing.

Observed Manning afterwards: "They have achieved a victory and now are sifting through ashes to see what they've won."

The next step, as of this writing, appears to be massive layoffs because the county just doesn't have enough cash to pay so many employees so much money for so many weeks. In fact, it's something like $18 million short.

A LOT OF FOLKS would have accepted scrip. My distinguished colleague, Eddie Edgar, wrote on this page recently how the late Albert E. Cobo saved Detroit during the depression by using scrip.

Workers accepted it.Stores who wanted to sell bread and milk and landlords who wanted anything at all accepted it. Scrip kept things going.

Scrip is as old as America itself. Revolutionary soldiers were often paid in such promissory notes. A big argument in the early days of the federal government was whether those notes, which were being traded at a discount, should be redeemed.

Treasury Secretary Alexander Hamilton was for redeption — the federal government assuming all the states' debts and paying off 100 cents on the dollar. Hamilton's side won, and the fledgling U.S., which started life with a credit rating worse than Wayne County's, suddenly became respectable.

But I digress.

MANNING HAS represented Redford Township on the Wayne County board since 1970. He has always been non-inflammatory, a progressive with instincts toward public service instead of posturing.

From day one, Manning has been warning that the county's perpetual budget problems were worse this year. Anyone who heard him at a civic club breakfast got the message. Apparently other county office holders and the leadership of AFSCME didn't get the message.

Under Manning's leadership, the board tried budget cuts and got taken to court by five elected department heads. You can't do that, said the court.

So the county tobaggoned through the year, ever faster, ever downward. One of the latest chapters was the union's scrip victory.

THE NAME OF the game, in county government, seems to be to protect your little turf, don't let the legislative body legislate, and fight any effort to bring in a county executive with clout to make the budget cuts that need to be made.

Manning doesn't play that kind of a game. At the moment he's losing a few, but he has also won a few, and in time the county will have to go in the direction he's pointing to — an executive with responsibility and matching power.

Meanwhile, the union has won a "Pyrrhic victory." I like that term.

A classical scholar like Alec Hamilton would have liked it, too, and would applaud the institutional reforms Dick Manning is trying to bring about.

Income tax institutes set in area

Five federal-state income tax institutes, sponsored by the University of Michigan, are scheduled for the metropolitan area in November and December.

Officials from the Internal Revenue Service and the Michigan Department of Revenue will teach the two-day programs. The context of the institutes is intended for persons with at least some experience in the tax practitioner field.

Institutes are scheduled for Plymouth, Nov. 26-27; Southfield, Nov 29-30; Dearborn and Troy, Dec. 3-4 and Detroit, Dec. 10-11.

Persons interested in obtaining enrollment information should contact the University of Michigan Extension Service at 313-764-5304, or write: Income Tax, University of Michigan Extension Service, Conferences and Institutes, 412 Maynard, Ann Arbor, Mich. 48109.

Topics to be presented in the institutes will be on individual income tax and sole proprietorship tax matters, new legislation and new rulings of the past year.

Each participant will be furnished advanced "problem" material and on the day of the program will receive printed text materials and other informative publications. The University charges an enrollment fee of $28 to cover the cost of the printed material, coffee, conference facilities, postage, and other administrative expenses.

editorial opinion

Recreation expenses weigh heavily in budget

A hefty chunk ($178,457) of Canton Township's income during 1980 has been allocated to the pursuit of recreation.

Another $250,000 in general revenue sharing funds, possibly more, is being considered for use to purchase park sites and develop parks in the township.

Canton's recreation department doesn't have the largest budget of any township department. Larger amounts have been alloted to the building department, building and grounds operation, sanitation, judicial functions and the grants department.

The police and fire departments also have larger allotments, financed through a separate voted tax.

THE DIFFERENCE between the recreation department and the other services which have high allotments is that the other departments are either self-supporting or absolutely necessary.

The building branch helps carry its weight by bringing in building permit and inspection fees. The grants department can pay for itself by obtaining grants.

The judicial department, which is the court, collects fines.

Only the money alloted to building and grounds operation is not strictly a self-supporting category. The cost of maintaining township hall inside and out can be trimmed, but not very much.

Items which fall under this category include the costs of payroll processing, salaries for the finance director and clerical employees, maintenance of township buildings, vehicles, equipment and utilities.

Sanitation, of course, is a service most people would miss desperately if it were discontinued.

That leaves the other department with a big budget — recreation. Recreation is a tough area to justify, simply because it can't be supported by hard figures.

It's impossible to say that a certain amount of money will bring entertainment and happiness to a certain amount of people.

You can't measure such factors as how many kids might steal hubcaps off cars if they aren't playing softball; or how many senior citizens might end up in a nursing home if not for township recreation programs.

It doesn't mean that Canton's recreation department is worthless because its worth can't be measured. It does mean that funds for the department have to be allocated on a purely subjective basis.

NOW IT'S TIME for members of the township board to examine an already bare bones budget. They must decide if Canton can afford the high cost of recreation.

We suspect that residents, if given a choice between smaller tax bills or more parks are going to want smaller bills.

There are already excellent parks, such as the Kensington and Lower Huron Meto parks, just a short drive away. People might like to have more convienient parks, but they aren't desperate for them.

The same is true of other recreation programs. There are many classes, sports activities and other forms of entertainment offered by the school district, the local YMCAs and community organizations.

Few of the activities are expensive and most are as readily available as those offered by the township.

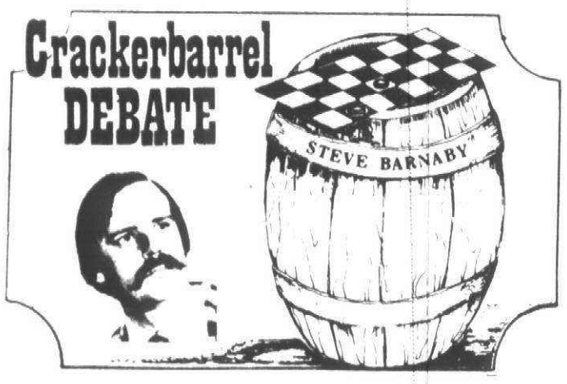

Many people have taken immense pleasure in the recreation offerings of Canton Township, but they have the option of trying the recreation offerings of a host of other groups.

AS THE ECONOMIC picture becomes gloomier and people grapple with inflation, they are going to be looking for more and more types of cheap entertainment.

But they are also going to become increasingly belligerent about paying higher taxes and push for "no frills" government.

Recreation is to some extent a frill. Although revenue sharing money should not go toward continuous expenses, such as payroll, it might better serve the public if it is spent on something other than parks.

The township general fund budget should be allocated with an eye to the essential, not the frosting on the cake.

Cambodia's holocaust

Flashing across the television screen were the grisly scenes of emaciated mothers holding crying children with bloated stomachs.

It was Cambodia in living color.

"Turn that off. I don't know how people can stand to watch such things," said the disgruntled woman.

"I've done everything I can about it. I do buy UNICEF Christmas cards," she concluded.

How pathetic, I thought.

Thumbing through the newspapers in recent weeks, I noted a similar strand weaving through world opinion.

WE ATTEMPT to sooth the collective conscience by paying our way out.

The U.S. pledges $69 million to stave off starvation. The Soviet Union does us one better by pledging $85 million. Canada throws in $15 million.

But Vietnam stands strong and prohibits the much needed food and drugs from reaching the four million starving Cambodians.

In the metropolitan Detroit area, three churches — Roman Catholic, Episcopal and Methodist — have made appeals to their congregations to raise funds. Independent churches and Jewish congregations also are seeking funds to assist Cambodia.

OUR CIVILIZATION stands at the crossroads of a moral dilemma. The decision will forever label this generation as either one which met its moral obligation or one which allowed an entire country's population to be exterminated.

Time is quickly running out for the Cambodian people. If the situation remains the same, within 26 months the remaining four million Cambodians will be dead.

Five years ago, Cambodia was a country of eight million.

The similarities between Hitler's final solution and what is happening to the Cambodians and ethnic Chinese living in Vietnam are unmistakable.

Last year about this time, I wrote a column imploring this country to take action. At the time, the television special "Holocaust" was being aired. The question of the day was: "How could the people of the world let that happen?"

I maintained, at the time, that the same thing is happening today in Cambodia.

I was taken aback by the reaction — especially from the Jewish community. In short, it was that "it's just not the same thing."

I don't believe it. The holocaust in Southeast Asia equals and perhaps surpasses the tragedy in Europe during the Nazi reign of terror.

Ask yourself what we should have done to save the Jewish population of Germany. Than ask what we should do today to save the remainder of Cambodians.

IF WE REFUSE to fulfill our obligation, or to make the necessary sacrifices, we will face the same consequences as those Oxford students who in 1936 vowed never to fight or die for queen or country and who died in droves during World War II.

Many never would have had to die if swift action had been taken earlier. But Hitler's military might was allowed to grow to immense proportions until he had Europe on its knees.

Vietnam will soon have engulfed all of Southeast Asia in its grasp and it will continue to blackmail the world.

It's going to take more, much more, than money to stop it. We must prepare ourselves now for the sacrifice.

CHRISTMAS TRADITION

No agony in this defeat

W.W. Edgar

The battle of the ballots has ended. The winners are enjoying the fruits of victory. But what about the losers? Have they had their brief say on the stage only to be heard no more?

Well, if this is any solace, contrary to what you hear on television, agony doesn't always accompany defeat.

The Stroller should know. He can look back and laugh after suffering one of the most one-sided defeats. A loss which drove him from the political scene.

Several decades ago when Livonia Township was just beginning to show signs of growing pains, The Stroller became involved in the drive for incorporation as a city. He had covered the horse racing beat for the Detroit Free Press and was conversant with the rules that gave the city a track and a share of its pari-mutuel betting, up to but not exceeding $500,000 each year.

The City of Livonia became a reality. Because of his work in the campaign, The Stroller was asked to run for a place on the Charter Commission. He agreed and was elected.

WHEN THE CHARTER was accepted The Stroller felt it was his duty to run for a seat on the City Council to help put into action the charter he had helped to write. Again he was elected and eventually was named vice president of the governing body.

Up to now he enjoyed every minute of helping to get the new city on its way. For six years he sat at the council table as a target for the complainers and protesters who demanded most anything under the sun because the city had $500,000 from the race track.

At the close of his sixth year on the council The Stroller felt he had had enough. He was considering retiring from the scene when a thought struck him.

Sitting at home one evening he recounted that he always had reached the top in anything he had undertaken. He had been the master mechanic in the machine shops. He had risen to the rank of sports editor for the Free Press. So he felt he owed it to himself to try for the top again and run for mayor.

SO HE ENTERED the race.

Throughout the entire campaign he was lauded for the work he had done as a council member. Even persons he didn't know approached him and told him they were behind him and that they would help all they could.

Then came election day — a day he never will forget. In mid-afternoon he encountered a high official of the union who advised him to go home and get some rest as he was a "shoo-in" to win the primary.

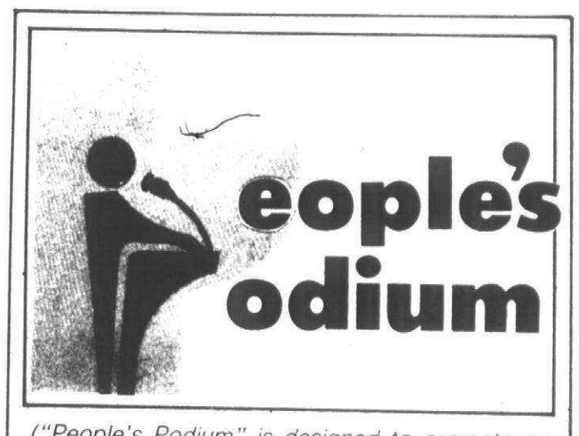

He was a confident candidate as he sauntered into city hall that evening to get the returns. But what a shock awaited him. When the final count was made he had finished a distant last in the four-way race.

It was a shocker. But The Stroller, even though, he couldn't believe it, took it in stride. Instead of retreating from the stage, he decided on a new course.

He decided that the time he would have spent in the mayor's office he would now devote to charity. He became affiliated with the March of Dimes and in due time was named national bowling chairman. In that role he helped raise more than $2 million to help rid the world of polio.

It was one of the most satisfying things he ever had done — and would you believe it, he is more proud of that than anything he might have accomplshied had he been in the mayor's chair.

There was no agony in his forced political exit.

School needs sex education

(The author, Dr. E.J. McClendon of Plymouth, is professor of health education at University of Michigan. A former member of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, he served on a school district advisory committee on including human sexuality in the curriculum.)

By E.J. McCLENDON

It is time — indeed past time — that Plymouth-Canton Community Schools begin to offer a program of education in human sexuality including birth control or contraceptive information for those youth whose parents approve.

On Nov. 30, 1977, Gov. Milliken signed into law Act 226 of the Public Acts of 1977 making it legal in Michigan to conduct programs of instruction in reproductive health.

The State Board of Education approved guidelines for these programs by June 1978, and the guidelines were in the hands of local school districts by July and August of that year.

Almost two years hve gone by, yet the Plymouth-Can ton Board of Education has not acted to fully implement this law.

RESEARCH SAYS there are more than 11 million sexually-a ctive teenagers in America.

There is no reason to believe that the youth of the Plymouth-Canton community are better or worse than those across the country.

If slightly less than half, are female this comes to one in five or perhaps even one in four. Many have blamed the epidemic on the bill, but apparently this is not the case — they don't use the pill or any contraceptive.

By age 19 more than half of the girls are having sexual relations and the figure is higher for boys. Yet, half of them do not regularly use contraceptives and three out of four skipped it the last time.

Of the one million who become pregnant each year, more than two-thirds did not intend it. More than 600,000 give birth annually and the other 400,000 are terminated through abortion or miscarriage.

Those teenagers who carry their babies to term are having very unhealthy babies. The death rate is from two to three times as high for these babies. Birth defects, retardation and other health problems are significantly higher.

Death rates for the young mothers also are much higher than for those older than 20. If this were not enough, the VD rate in these teen years, especially gonorrhea, has reached beyond epidemic proportions.

Young women with untreated gonorrhea are at serious risk for sterility and other complications. No one knows the rate for genital herpes but it is probably higher.

THESE CHILDREN — for many are 12, 13 and 14 years of age and younger — need help, and education is the only aid generally available.

Many people say it should be left to home and church. But home and church either cannot or will not do it. There is only the schools.

It is time — past time — that the Plymouth-Canton Schools got moving to offer this sorely-needed program.

SEMTA talks with public on 2-way street

By TIM RICHARD

The theory is that people should know what they're talking about before they start talking.

That is why the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) has scheduled both public "meetings" and public "hearings" in the next month on its 1990 transportation plans.

At the meetings, SEMTA talks, outlining the eight bus and rail alternative plans its board will choose from. The public will have a chance to ask questions.

At the hearings, it will be the public's turn to do the talking. SEMTA will do all the listening. The gist of all arguments will be summarized for federal, state and regional officials.

It is all required by federal law. The unspoken assumption is that people and local leaders will judiciously weigh the facts before making up their minds.

More likely, what they learn at the meetings will simply reenforce what they already feel. They will be either for or against the "subway."

FIVE MEETINGS are scheduled.

The western Wayne County session is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 13 in the new Livonia City Hall, Five Mile west of Farmington Road.

The Oakland meeting is at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 15 in rooms 1 and 2 of the Ferndale Community Center, 400 E. Nine Mile.

Other meetings are Nov. 14 in Sterling Heights, Nov. 19 in Detroit and Nov. 20 in Highland Park.

General Manager Larry E. Salci will conduct the meetings.

EIGHT HEARINGS are scheduled.

Western Wayne's is at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 26 in Livonia City Hall.

South Oakland's is at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 3 in the Ferndale Community Center.

North Oakland's is at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 4 in the commissioners auditorium of the Oakland County Service Center, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac.

Detroit's are at noon and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 5 in the 13th floor aditorium of the City-County Building, 2 Woodward.

Anyone may attend any of the meetings if the one closest to his or her home is at an inconvenient time. It would do no good to make the same speech twice in different locations, SEMTA staff members advise, because it is the arguments — not the number of times they are repeated — which will be compiled.

SEMTA Board Chairman Edward McNamara or another board member will preside at the public hearings.

THEORETICALLY, there's a do-nothing alternative — simply replace existing buses which wear out.

Practically, all plans are based on the first alternative — "Low Capital 1." The other seven alternatives start with Low Cap 1 and add other modes.

Low Cap 1 involves expanding the bus system: to 1,350 large buses (120 route and 195 express buses being added); and 444 more small buses (219 for general service and 225 for the elderly and handicapped).

Low Cap 1 also involves expanding commuter rail service to downtown Detroit. Mt. Clemens would get service — three round trips per day; service to Pontiac and Ann Arbor would be inceased.

Finally, Low Cap 1 involves the "downtown people mover" — a demonstration electrical vehicle moving in a loop.

Low Cap 1 would require an investment of $675 million.

THE OTHER alternatives all start with Low Cap 1. They differ in how they would treat the Woodward corridor. Briefly:

- LC 2 — Low Capital 2 — would add 80 express buses in the Woodward corridor. They would operate on an exclusive median bus lane on Woodward and the Chrysler freeway. Investment: $701 million.
- D2 — Light Rail at Grade — involves a modern trolley from I-696 in Oakland County to downtown and along the riverfront to the Penn Central Railroad east of Mt. Elliott. It would be at street level. The 13.7 mile line would require 116 vehicles. Investment: $1.17 billion.
- F3 — Light Rail, Downtown Subway — would run from the State Fairgrounds (south of Eight Mile) to downtown and then to the Grand Trunk Western Railroad near St. Aubin. It would be underground only in the downtown area south of the Fisher Freeway. The 11.1 mile line would requie 96 vehicles. Investment: $1.22 billion.
- D5 — Light Rail, Partial Subway — is much the same as F3 except for an underground portion near the State Fairgrounds. The 11.1 mile line would require 83 vehicles. Investment: $1.4 billion.
- M1 — Light Rail, Part Subway, Part Aerial — is the one the SEMTA board tentatively selected in April. It would be subway from downtown to Grand Boulevard and aerial from the boulevard to McNichols. The 11.1 mile line would require 70 vehicles. Investment: $1.4 billion.
- X1 — Light Rail Subway — would be underground from downtown to McNichols. The 11.1 mile line would require 70 vehicles. Investment: $1.44 billion.

AN ENVIRONMENTAL impact statement analyzes how each alternative would affect jobs, economic redevelopment, neighborhoods and air quality.

Significantly, the EIS, as its called, has devastating comments on the M1 aerial-subway, which got a weak 10-5 vote in the SEMTA board. It says:

The aerial alignment contemplated for one of the alternatives would similarly exacerbate the psychological barrier effect, rather than representing an absolute physical barrier, again except at stations.

"Visually, the aerial segments also represent a major intrusion on the existing built environment and streetscape. Transition sections — i.e., from subsurface to surface or aerial — will represent a real physical barrier of approximately 1,000 feet in length as well as a visual intrusion in the neighborhoods they traverse."

DESPITE THE different sizes of investment, most alternatives would cost the same per year to operate.

LC1 would cost $359 million to operate by 1990. The others would cost from $370 million to $380 million a year.

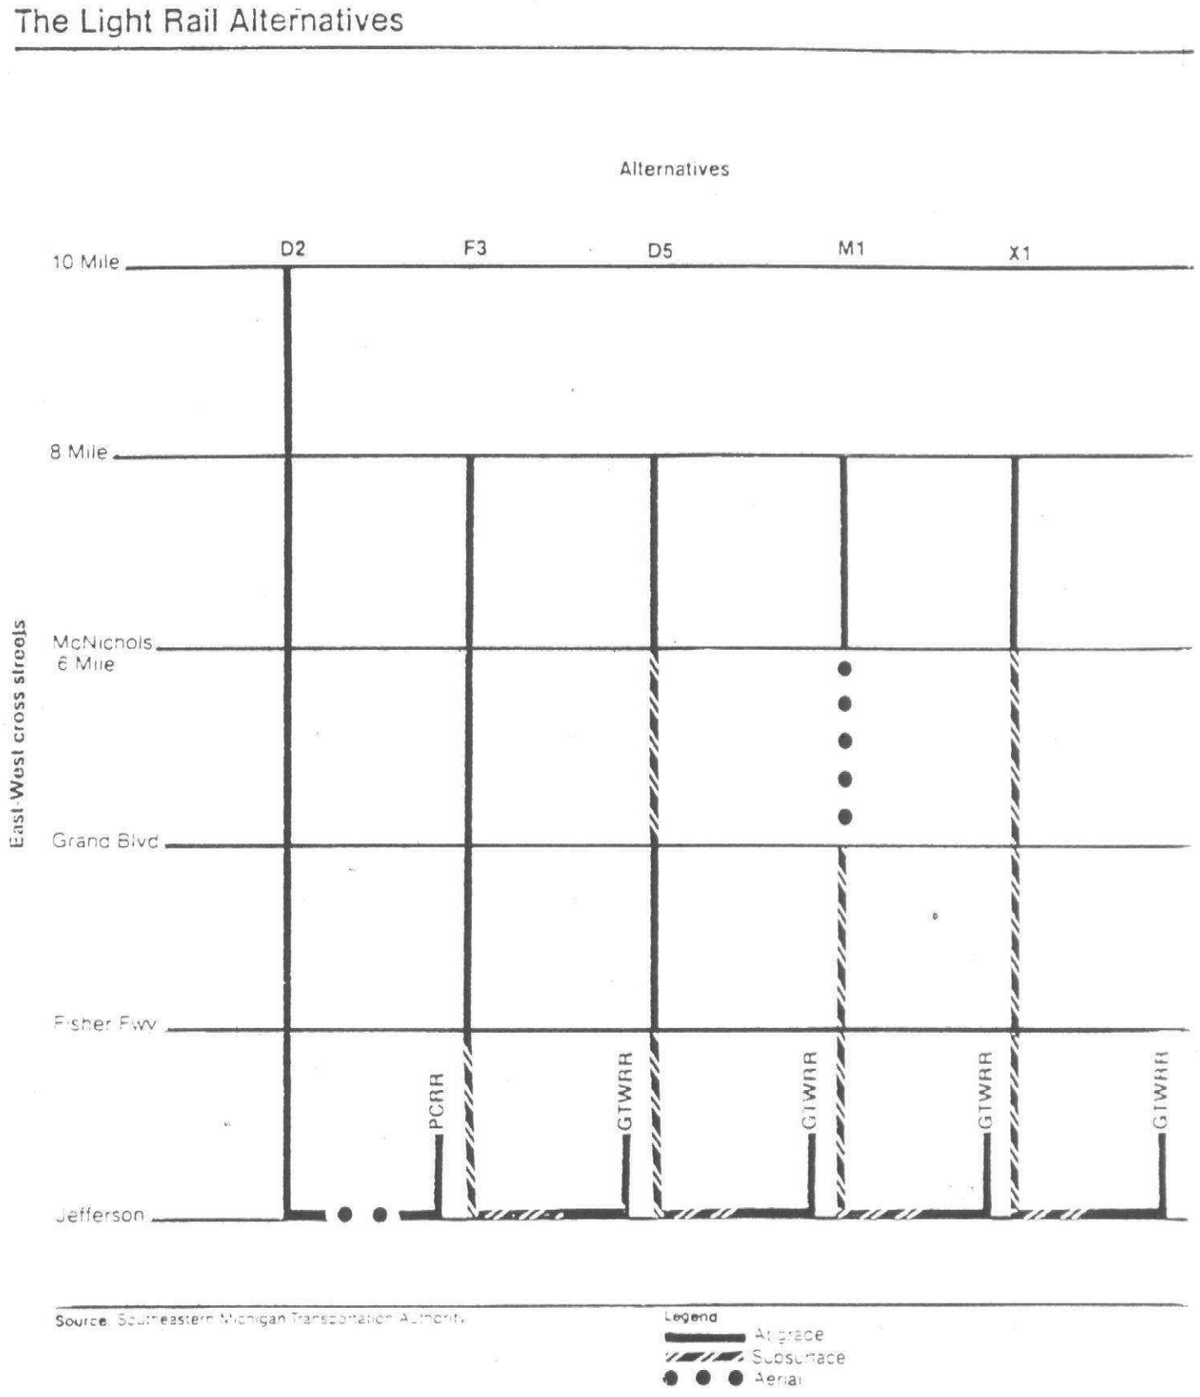

When the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) was making transportation plans a decade ago, it was thinking in terms of five rapid transit lines. By four or five years ago, the thinking was in terms of two rapid transit lines — in the Woodward and Gratiot corridors.

This light rail vehicle, currently being used in Boston and San Francisco, is the kind SEMTA is considering if it adopts such a mode for the Woodward corridor. It uses steel wheels on steel rails, usually on reserved rights of way. The power source is overhead. It can be run as a single car or in trains of two to three cars. Top speed is 60 mph. Average speed is about 45 mph.

The Light Rail Alternatives

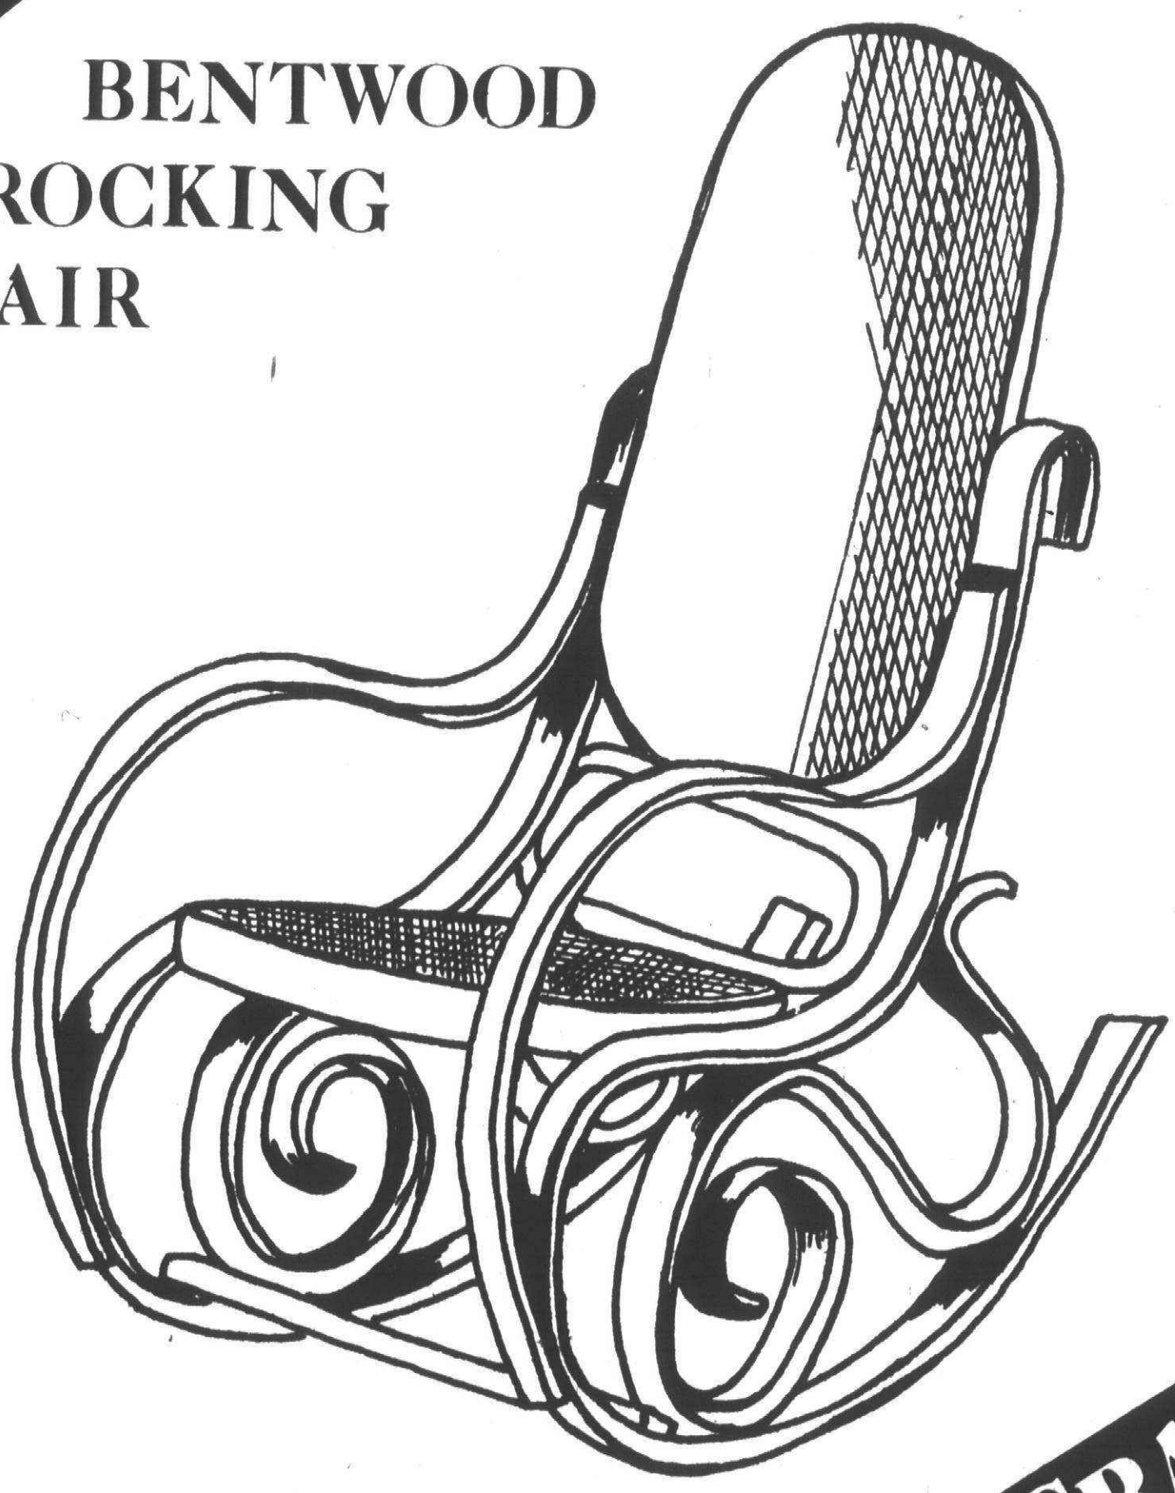

Schematic drawing shows which portions of a light rail transit line in the Woodward corridor would be at ground level, underground and elevated. The SEMTA board has tentatively picked alternative A1.

Youths seen as responsible

Editor:

I would like to take exception to "The Stroller's" column of Oct. 22 (Are today's teenagers spoiled?)

I happen to be a resident of the short dead end street referred to and have been for the past 20 years. I would like to set the record straight.

It is true, as stated, that there are numerous cars owned by families on our street. We are a four-car family.

My husband and I both work and our 18- and 19-year-old sons each own an automobile. They both attend local colleges and work part time, thus having a need for transportation.

Contrary to the inferences made in "The Stroller's" column, both of our sons paid cash for their automobiles after they graduated from high school.

The money they had saved for practically all of their lives came from one son having a paper route at age 12, from babysitting, raking leaves, cutting lawns and other such tasks.

My husband and I have not and do not contribute anything toward the upkeep, maintenance nor insurance for our sons' cars. As you are aware, insurance premiums for teenage males are of no small consequence.

My next-door neighbor who so far has had four children graduate from high school, has had the same experience.

Each of their children has bought their own automobile from their earnings and also pay their own insurance, and three of them are attending college.

Their teenage daughter, also referred to in the column, bought her own horse from her earnings and works each day at the stables to apply against the cost of the upkeep of the animal.

My husband and I are proud of our sons and our neighbors' children who we believe to be very self sufficient and industrious.

We feel that the statement, "the young folks today expect everything to be done for them and they always are looking for something for which they didn't have to work", is untrue.

I am sure that there are many other parents in the area who would agree. Why not give credit where it is due, to the young people who work at all types of menial tasks and do not expect their parents to give them everything?

Why not a pat on the back or a word of praise for a change?

Thanks for help with playground

Editor:

Thanks to the special efforts of a dedicated teacher in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, the students at Mildred Field Elementary School have many new playground structures to use.

Bob Smith, physical education teacher at Hulsing and Farrand elementaries, has freely given his time and energy to our goal of providing more equipment for our many children. He brought the suggestion and plans to our PTO, attended meetings to plan and coordinate the effort, and helped us order and install all the equipment.

Because of this man's unselfish effort, and the cooperation of Earl Gibson and Kathryn Otto, principals of Farrand and Hulsing, our children at Field will have thousands of hours of fun and at the same time be able to master more basic skills.

Therefore, on behalf of the Field Parent-Teacher Organization, I wish to publicly thank Bob Smith for his super job on behalf of our kids.

Far better to lock up

Editor:

I would like to pass this message on to one of our Plymouth car dealers who lives in Beacon Hill.

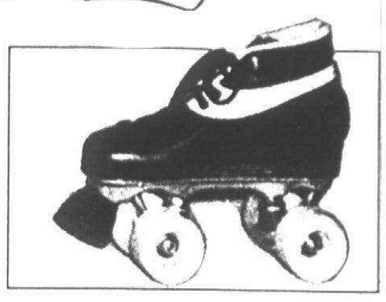

If you didn't want to pass out treats on Halloween Night, you could have locked the gate in front of your home and turned out the lights, rather than leaving everything on and open. Then the youth, who represent future car buyers, wouldn't have bothered to walk up the long driveway only to leave empty-handed. From an ex-customer.

Brad Emons writes....

High school leagues need realignment

The price of gas is not going to fall. The state of the economy looks dim. And you're wondering what this has to do with sports in general. Right?

Whether all of us like to admit it or not, inflation is eating away at everything, including the prices of high school sporting events.

I found it repulsive to pay $1 for a program at Dearborn. And I went there twice this season. I realize the money goes toward a good cause, such things like booster organizations.

But lets get serious, once you purchase a few refreshments and pay for a ticket, $4 is down the drain. It sounds like something the Red Wings cooked up. Only kidding, high school sports have to be the best buy for your entertainment dollar.

But what bothers me most about the whole thing is the distance schools such as Plymouth Canton and Salem must travel to play sporting events.

It wasn't so bad to travel to such places as Trenton, Belleville Dearborn, Dearborn Edsel Ford and Allen Park when gas was a quarter a gallon.

And how about such islands as Waterford, Walled Lake and even Farmington to a degree? They're just to far.

It's a real chore to cover a football game down at Trenton. And I'm sure its a pain in the neck for their fans to come up here.

IT TAKES 45 minutes via interstate and a small stretch of Telegraph Road to get down to Trenton.

I've never been to Waterford Mott, a member of the Western Six League along with Canton. I don't care to know how far away that is unless the game is for a conference title.

It seems like a great inconvenience for the teams, the fans and the people who cover them to travel these long distances for a high school sporting event. Especially during a week night. It rough on parents who might want to see their kids play in a reserve game, but can't get there until the second half.

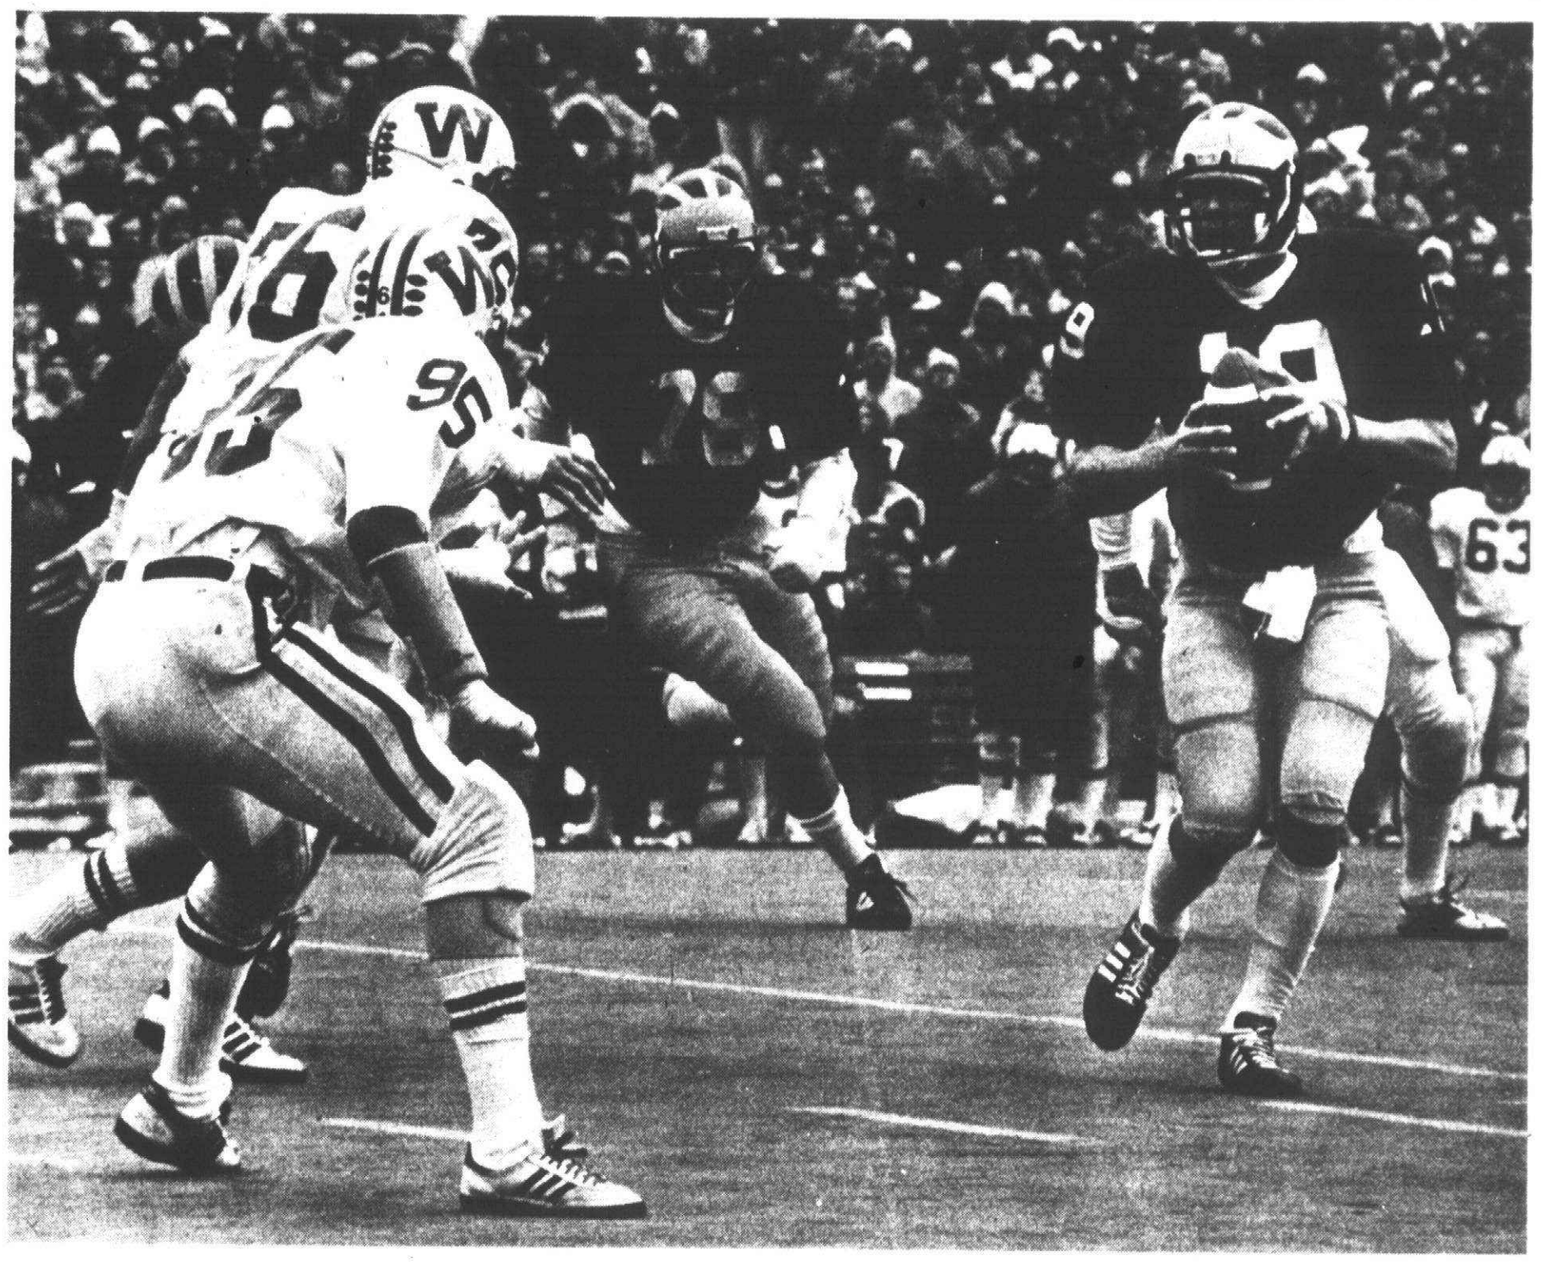

It's time for realignment of the leagues. Some sort of convention with principals or athletic directors in western Wayne County should be held to discuss the problem.

One big step that should be taken is to make some simple switches.

The Inter-Lakes League presently has these members: Livonia Stevenson, Farmington, Waterford Township, Walled Lake Central and Pontiac Northern. The latter did not field a football team this fall because of a millage failure.

Western Six League members include Plymouth Canton, Livonia Churchill, Farmington Harrison (Class B), Walled Lake Western, Waterford Mott and Northville.

IT'S ON TO Wichita, Kan., and the National Junior Collegiate Athletic Association Women's Cross Country Championships Nov. 10 for Schoolcraft College.

The Ocelots, coached by Steve Montgomery, finished first among four teams last weekend at the Region 12 Meet in Dowagiac.

Four of Schoolcraft's five runners attended area high schools. All five are freshmen.

Wendy Tipton, from Livonia Stevenson, led all women over the 5,000-meter course at the regional with a time of 18:58.

Other Ocelot finishers were Betty Davis, third, 19:48, a Redford Union grad; Mary Martin, 10th, 21:45, Redford Bishop Borgess; Dorothy Boehnlein, 12th, 21:50, Garden City East; and Michelle Hayes, 15th, 21:59, Northville.

Schoolcraft bettered Oakland Community College, Macomb Community College and Lorraine (Ohio) Community College.

Tipton and Davis received all-regional and all-state honors for their performances.

Schoolcraft men's team placed eighth in a 10-team field. Jim Bedford, who finished 23d, was the Ocelots' best individual scorer. His time was 26:29 for the five-mile course.

Montgomery was voted Regional Women's Coach of the Year by his peers.

Canton cagers whip Central

The Chiefs downed Walled Lake Central 55-46 behind sophomore Pearlie Cunningham's 11 points. It was the 12th straight victory for Canton under coach Mike McCauley.

Central, which was led by Mary Keelty's game high 19 points, slipped to 8-5 overall. Canton is now 13-3.

Canton will host Livonia Churchill Thursday night in a showdown for the Western Six League title. The Chargers, on tear of late, were dumped by Redford Thurston Tuesday night, 74-26.

Hot Eagles rip Churchill

Livonia Churchill broke out to a quick 8-0 lead, but once Redford Thurston warmed up, there was no stopping it Tuesday in a non-league girls' basketball game.

The Eagles smashed Churchill 74-26.

"After the first 2½ minutes, we really started hitting and they couldn't buy a basket," said Thurston coach George Heger. "Everything we threw up went in."

The Eagles connected on 58 percent of their shots from the field during the contest. Everyone played and 10 of 11 scored for the victors.

Jean Rowley netted 18 points, Sandy Nissen and Theresa Moran 12 apiece and Barb Beebe 11. Jan Yerks led the Chargers with seven.

"This was the best we've played in a long time," said Heger. "We ran the fast break well, worked the ball inside and the girls did a superb job putting the ball in."

Burgundy Bunch unbeatable

The Burgundy Bunch, members of the Plymouth Parks and Recreation eight and under soccer league, completed a successful season by posting a 17-0 mark.

Combining a potent offense and strong defense, the Burgundy Bunch finished the spring campaign with an 8-0 mark and a 9-0 record during the fall season, allowing just four goals during their 17-game victory streak.

The Burgundy Bunch won the championship fall playoff by beating the Rowdies.

"As their record would indicate, the team has some potentially good soccer players who competed well at the present age level," said head coach Darell Saunders.

"We expect those young people to continue working at improving their soccer skills as they progress up through the different levels of competition," he said.

Assisting Saunders this season were Bob Setlak, Wayne Ziobro and Dave Gondoly.

Members of this year's team included Matt Setlak, Jerry Staszel, Scott Hauncher, Billy Piercey, Greg Darby, Joe Gondoly, Michael VanHoose, David Huffman and Scott Ziobro.

Other members included James DeWitt, Billy Miller, Chris Johnson, Billy Pawelak, David Gondoly, Mike Sherman, Derrick Glencer, David VanHoose Jeff Pinto.

The Burgundy Bunch went through the regular season in both the spring and fall seasons undefeated in the eight and under soccer league.

Stevenson gridders hope to make best of chance

Livonia Stevenson football coach Jack Reardon has taken a low-key approach this week while preparing the Spartans for their clash with Niles 7:30 p.m. Friday in a Class A state playoff quarterfinal.

The game will be played at Shadford Field in Ypsilanti. To get there, take I-275 south to I-94 west. Get off I-94 at the Michigan Avenue Exit (181 B). Drive right on Michigan to Hewitt Road. Turn left on Hewitt Road and go to Packard. Go right on Packard one block to the field.

The Spartans, winners of eight games in a row after a season-opening loss, will match their 8-1 record against Niles' 9-0.

"We're not changing anything," Reardon said of his week of preparation. "We don't want the kids to be all uptight. We're not going to do anything different. We want to have fun and to play a good football game. The season is over. This (playoffs) is supposed to be gravy now."

Stevenson has not reached its peak this season, according to Reardon. In fact, the veteran coach says he isn't sure know how well his charges can really perform.

"We're a good football team. I don't know how good we're going to be yet, but we're getting better all the time," said Reardon.

Just how good has Stevenson been?

Consider that the Spartans have won four consecutive Inter-Lakes League championships. The have won 20 conference games in a row.

The '79 team set school records for most points in a single season (244), most yards rushing in a season (1,845) and most team interceptions in a season (20).

All of that was accomplished with the starters sitting out much of the time due to the one-sidedness of some of the scores.

The Spartans crushed Milford Lakeland 51-7, Waterford 38-13, Flint Northwestern 26-0, Farmington 37-6, and Livonia Churchill 37-7.

The average score of a Stevenson game this season was 27-8.

The Spartans have been led by David Hall, who plays quarterback and safety. Don Hauck has supplied the ball-carrying muscle at tailback. Cap Pethers and Rick Arnold have been favorite pass receivers of Hall.

Jack Snyder has set a school single-season pass interception record with eight.

Stevenson has proved itself on both sides of the scrimmage line.

"We've been playing awful good defense," said Reardon. "The reason our rushing game is so good is that our defense has been so tough. Other teams haven't had the ball much. We've had good ball control."

As good as the Spartans are, they will have to be ready for a serious challenge from Niles, which has lost only one game during the last two seasons.

The Vikings are led by quarterback Ken Gourlay, who is a three-year regular. He has been injured, but is expected to start Friday.

Poncho Hankerson, Niles' tailback, has run for 1,041 yards this fall. He also throws on a halfback-option pass which the Vikings like to use in tight situations.

Hankerson has completed seven of eight throws and five have resulted in touchdowns.

Todd Zimmerman has caught 13 passes this season for 190 yards.

Niles, which uses the I-formation, is a run-oriented team.

Defensively, the Vikings line up in a 5-2. Two of their bigger defensive players are Kevin Knoll, a 6-3, 215-pound linebacker, and Don Rutkowski, a 6-2, 235-pound tackle.

All tickets for the game cost $2. Tickets will be available for sale at Stevenson High School 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Friday at the ticket booth near the north cafeteria.

Tickets will also be available 5:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Thursday in the office of Athletic Director Roger Frayer.

Schoolcraft hosts fight card

Boxing is coming to Schoolcraft College.

Schoolcraft has hosted many different kinds of athletic events ranging from a basketball exhibition involving a team from the Soviet Union to high school wrestling, cross-country and volleyball invitationals.

But never boxing — until now, or Nov. 16, to be exact. The show will begin at 8 p.m. in the Main Gymnasium.

The 18-bout card, heavily flavored with area pugilists, will feature amateurs from the Livonia Recreation Boxing Club, the Michigan Boxing Club, Kronk Boxing Club and Canada.

The program is billed as the United States against Canada. A team trophy to the overall winner will be awarded, as well as trophies for individual bouts.

General admission bleacher tickets are $3. Ringside seats are $5.

Tickets are available at all Hudson stores in the metropolitan area and five locations in Livonia — Griffin Sport Shop, Allie Brothers, the Jackson Center, the Livonia Boxing Club and the bookstore at Schoolcraft College.

The program is co-sponsored by Action Distributing Company of Livonia, Schoolcraft College and the Livonia Boxing Club.

Action is underwriting all the expenses. Proceedes from the exhibition will be shared by the Livonia Boxing Club, Schoolcraft College athletic department and the U.S. Amateur Athletic Union.

Twelve area boxers are on the card including Eric Anderson-Smith, a Golden Gloves champion, and Dan Marderosian, who also has much experience in the Golden Gloves.

Ron Rothley, Brad Lally and Vince Hopper — all veterans of the Livonia Boxing Club — are also slated to compete.

John Hearns, younger brother of Thomas Hearns, the nationally-ranked professional welterweight, is also on the card.

Paul Soucy, a director and coach of the Livonia Boxing Club, said that officials from the Action Distributing Company approached him about sponsoring a boxing program back in September.

Action distributes products of the Miller Brewery Company, which is sponsoring the U.S. Olympic boxing, track and field, skiing and cycling teams.

Soucy then realized that Schoolcraft's gymnasium, which seats 2,300, would be a good facility in which to conduct the program. Dr. Marvin Gans, athletic director at Schoolcraft agreed, and the arrangement was finalized.

The boxing club and the college athletic department will share the proceeds, along with the AAU boxing program.

Amateur boxing bouts consist of three three-minute rounds or five two-minute rounds. Ten-pound, AAU-regulation gloves will be used.

WINTER IS . . .
BIG TREE SEASON!

Why wait? Now is a great time to select a large shade tree for planting in your yard this winter

Here's Why: Trees enter a state of dormancy in the winter season; their vascular systems are frozen and inactive. Careful digging and moving at this time of year is much easier on the tree than when it has foliage and an active vascular system. In general, trees dug in the winter will produce more foliage the following summer.

Our tree farm will be open to the public Saturday, Nov. 10th and 17th, Hurry! After Nov. 17th, an appointment will be required.

Chief reserves end successful grid year

By STEVE GRAY

The Plymouth Canton junior varsity football team capped a banner season last Thursday by defeating Livonia Bentley 7-6 on a muddy Bulldog field.

Halfback Steve Hamblin scored the only Chief touchdown in the second quarter when he dove in from three yards out. Dan Smith converted the extra point kick.

"The muddy field kept both teams from doing more than they did," said Canton coach Dean Naude, "but I'm just happy we won. It's been a great season."

The Chiefs clinched their first Western Six League championship in the history of the school two weeks ago when they defeated Farmington Harrison 20-0.

Canton finished the season with a 6-1-1 overall mark and 4-0-1 in league play. They only loss came in the first game to North Farmington, 28-0.

The Chiefs then bounced back a week later to defeat Garden City East, 14-6, and then tied Walled Lake Western, 7-7, in their third game.

Canton followed the tie with five straight victories beating Northville (3-0), Churchill(14-6), Waterford Mott (28-6), Farmington Harrison and Bentley.

Shrine downs Ladywood

Stevenson cagers pull off upset

The hottest girls' basketball team in the area has to be coach Jim George's Livonia Stevenson Spartans.

Their somewhat surprising 57-39 win over Redford Union Tuesday made it eight in a row.

"This (Nancy) Lawson girl was averaging a lot of points," said an excited George. We held her to a big eight. We shut her down. That had to be the whole story."

Almost the whole story, anyway, as four Spartans responded with double figures on their own side of things. Noreen Kelley had 15 points, while Karen Kelley, Beth Mueller and Wendy Jenkins each had 13. RU, 12-4, was led by Lori Pastula's 10 points.

"We just beat a very good team," said George. "We ripped 'em. We're very excited. The game was tied at 30-30, and we outscored them 27-9 the rest of the way. We played super defense. I'm really proud of them. We played steady basketball.

"I have not seen a better point guard yet than Beth Mueller. She just totally runs the show.

"You have to play some kind of ball to win eight in a row."

Stevenson, 11-4, can clinch a tie for the Inter-Lakes title with a win over visiting Walled Lake Central Thursday. The Spartans narrowly beat the Vikings in an earlier battle.

Stevenson's JV took a 36-24 decision over RU.

REDFORD ST. AGATHA had a bitter pill to swallow. The Aggies' heartbreaking 37-35 loss to Dearborn St. Alphonsus cost them a shot at the Catholic League playoffs this weekend at University of Detroit's Calihan Hall.

"We we're up by eight," said a disconsolate coach Jim Murphy. "But we ran into some trouble in the fourth quarter. We just had some mental lapses."

Joyce Gurka hit two one-and-one opportunities in the final seconds to give St. Alphonsus the win and the playoff berth. The Aggies, behind 20-14 at the half, had rallied to take the lead.

Gwen Clor was the leading Aggie scorer with 13 points. Younger sister Mona added 12.

"We played well defensively," said Murphy, "but we only hit 12 of 25 free throws. That hurt us. We had some one-and-one situations that we didn't make.

"It was a very, very emotional game for the kids. They're awfully young. After the game, everybody was crying. I said, 'winners don't cry, only losers cry.' But winners did cry, because they cared so much," said Murphy.

REDFORD BISHOP BORGESS completed the Catholic League Central Division portion of its girls' basketball schedule Tuesday by dumping Detroit Dominican 53-45.

The Spartans jumped off to a 20-10 lead after the first quarter, but then went to sleep during the second.

Dominican pulled to within one point at the intermission, 27-26.

Borgess out-pointed its guest 13-4 during the third quarter to solidify the lead which it never lost.

Rosemary Gross and Kathy O'Donnell each scored 10 points for the Spartans. Michelle Mardeusz chipped in with nine.

Doninican's Lynn Koss led all shooters with 26 points.

"Gross, a senior, played a good game defensively and offensively. O'Donnell pulled down 17 rebounds," said Borgess coach Denise Zatkoff.

The Spartans finished their division schedule with a 2-8 record. They are currently 5-10 overall.

LADYWOOD saw its chances for claiming a share of the AA Division title go down the tubes with a 75-68 loss to Royal Oak Shrine.

Shrine won the division championship. The Blazers finished second with a 9-3 record.

Ladywood trailed 19-11 after the first eight minutes and 40-26 at the half.

"In the first quarter, they came out smoking and we were kind of standing around," said Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh. "When we started to get back into the game, time ran out."

Prep leagues need shuffling

A simple move to make traveling easier would be to insert Farmington and Stevenson in the Western Six and let Walled Lake Western and Mott compete in the Inter-Lakes.

IT SEEMS like a logical move. So why the delay?

As for the Suburban Six (Seven or Eight?) League, Salem and Bentley should think about joining the Northwest Suburban League.

There would be some natural crossovers and rivalries which would stir up interest and increase the gate.

Hewlett indoctrinated into Big 10

Runs by Badgers

By W.W. EDGAR
and BRAD EMONS

A long-cherished dream came true for Rich Hewlett, the former Plymouth Salem all-state quarterback, last Saturday afternoon in the huge Michigan Stadium.

Following a long period of waiting during which he suffered a pulled hamstring, Hewlett finally was given the quarterback assignment to put the finishing touches to Michigan's lopsided 54-0 victory over Wisconsin.

It mattered little that, at the time, the Wolverines were leading 40-0 and there was little chance of anything happening to spoil the triumph.

The size of the score meant little to Hewlett. It was his chance to prove that he is destined to become the No. 1 signal caller before his college days expire.

"It was a lot of fun," said Hewlett, who excited the Maize and Blue fans by rushing for 50 yards in four attempts.

"I had been kind of visualizing more or less what would happen," he said. "I was more excited than nervous.

"After the first series I felt comfortable. I tried to stay as calm as possible."

The whole situation was not unfamiliar to Hewlett. Many of the players he directed on the field Saturday were his teammates during the two reserve games he played.

HEWLETT, along with freshmen Gerald Ingram, Harry Ricks and Mike Cade in the backfield, marched to two late touchdowns.

"We've all played together in the reserve games," said Hewlett. "We've spent a lot of time together."

Before the gathering of 104,952 fans, Hewlett turned in a fine performance on his first outing. He broke a run for 34 yards, bringing the Michigan partisan to its feet. His one shortcoming was the fact he threw two incomplete passes. He tossed one low to avoid an interception. Otherwise he had a day of which any player could be proud.

Hewlett missed all the pre-season double-session workouts when he pulled a hamstring, setting him back in his quest to play.

"I hurt it when we were being tested in the sprint drills," he said. "I was 100 percent by the third game against Kansas.

"I never had any problems with a hamstring before in high school."

Hewlett will remain the No. 2 signal caller behind John Wangler unless former starter B.J. Dickey bounces back from a shoulder injury he suffered in the Indiana game.

The Salem grad will make the trip this Saturday to Purdue. If Dickey is unable to attend, Orchard Lake St. Mary's Jim Paciorek will move up to the No. 3 spot.

Hewlett has noticed that the practices are becoming "more intense" at the end of the season.

"WE'RE REALLY gearing up now," he said. "The coaches are a little more critical.

"We had a good game as a team Saturday. Both offensively and defensively we put it together."

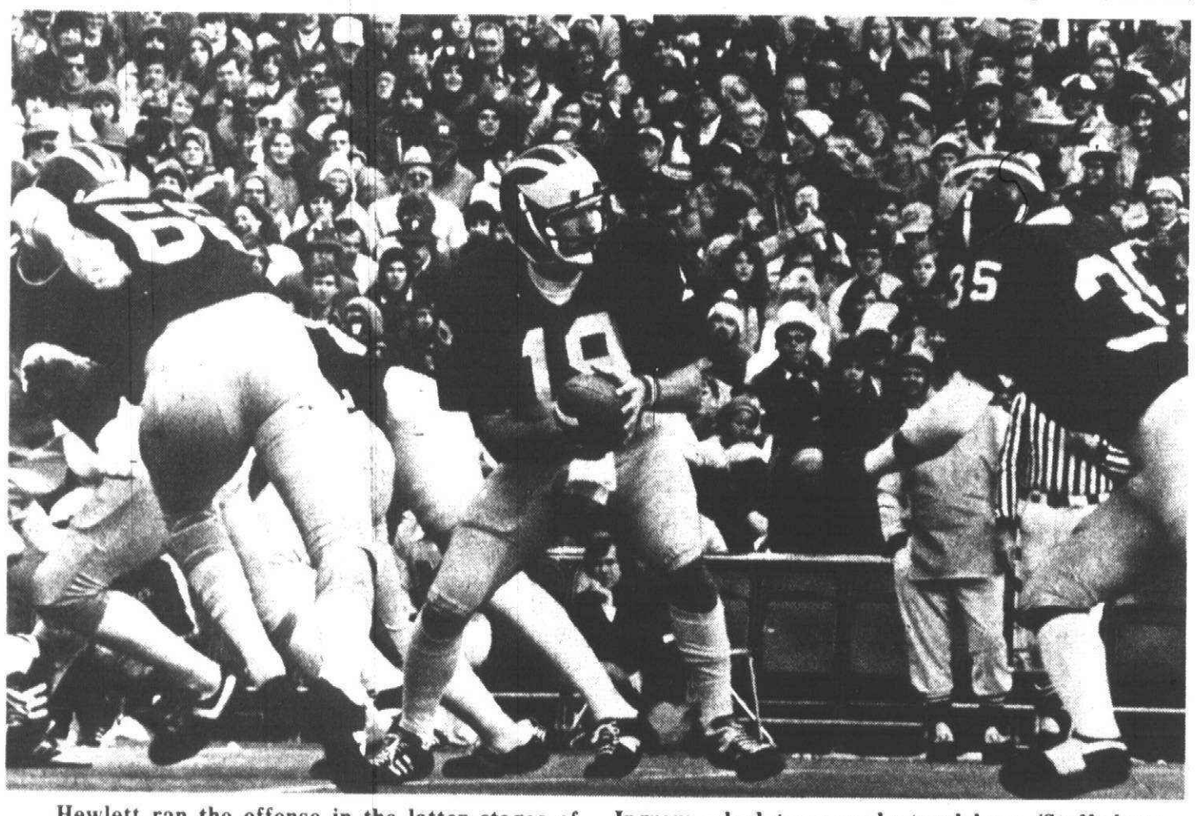

Hewlett, who played on natural grass in high school, has made the adjustment to tartan-turf at Michigan Stadium.

"I don't really mind it," he said. "It gives you sure footing and improves your quickness. The burns are bad, but its really not a factor."

Saturday, Hewlett and his Michigan teammates will go back to natural grass at Purdue.

Hewlett said his biggest adjustment to the college game is learning the opponents' defenses.

"You have to react to certain situations," Hewlett said. "You have to recognize the different coverages. That's the hardest part of learning the system."

Visit the Capp Homes Open House
this weekend...

And discover how your finishing touch can give you more home for the money!

Since 1946, CAPP has made quality, custom-built housing affordable for more than 60,000 families. And the reason is our unique, "Finish-It-Yourself House" concept.

CAPP Homes are not pre-fab or modular. We build our homes the traditional beam-by-beam way, with the finest materials, on the lot and foundation you provide. When our carpenters leave, your custom-designed home is fully enclosed and ready for you to finish. Or, you can act as your own general contractor, hiring local help, and still come out money ahead. Either way, you'll get a home that is uniquely yours—one that will be worth far more than you paid for it the day you move in.

But don't take our word for it. Come on out this weekend and see for yourself. Look at the quality of the construction material. Feel the wood . . . knock on the doors . . . slide open the windows.

Most of all, talk to the buyers of this home. They'll be here to answer any questions . . . while they work. You'll see them actually finishing their home. Folks just like yourself. We think you'll discover how you, too, can save money on a CAPP Home by "finishing-it-yourself".

CAPP Homes. Your finishing touch means quality . . . and savings . . . for you.

Come on out. We'll be there rain or shine.

HERE'S HOW TO GET TO THE CAPP OPEN HOUSE:

One of the strangest customs that takes place in any segment of the sports world will be continued in the next few weeks by the members of the Bowiing Proprietors Association. It is the custom of giving away turkeys to the bowlers as a token of appreciation for their patronage.

How the custom started or who started it is lost in the archives of the ancient sport. But this year there will be thousands of the birds presented to the bowlers.

Each establishment has its own way of doling out the gifts. In some places it is a turkey for the man or woman in each team during a league session. In other houses, one turkey is offered per lane and the teams are allowed to arrange their own method of deciding the winner.

One of the larger houses in the area figures that this year more than 1,000 dressed birds will be donated to the bowlers, while another is anticipating that the turkey pool will go well beyond 700 birds.

Somehow or other the word turkey has long been associated with the game. For instance, a bowler who posts three strikes in a row is considered to have registered a turkey.

No other sport has anything to match the bowling turkey program.

BREAKING THE 700 barrier is becoming more and more commonplace at Westland Bowl.

This past week, three more joined the 700 club in the Classic. Setting the pace for them was Les Crawford, who linked games of 232, 244 and 280 for 756. With him was Dick Beattie, the southpaw, who opened with 279, added a 207 and closed with 239 for 725. This was five pins more than Bill Todd, who rolled 236, 248 and 230 for 720.

In the women's division, Geri Beattie was high with a 236 in 503 and Marge Kropacek was right behind with a 225 in 575, one pin more than Leandra Michalak.

One of the big surprises came when John Hurley, who has been making a habit of rolling 700 series, failed to reach 600 in the Monday men's league. While he was having an off day, John Rennie took top honors with 650. Next in line were Jim Jensen with 244 in 641 and Terry Bone with 631.

VERONICA GUZINSKI set a new high for the women in the St. Valentine League at Redford Lanes. She came through with a 276 in 657.

MAY AND BILL Tucker are leading the Tri-City Doubles at Westland with a count of 1,414. Linda Coffman and Ed Soleau are next with 1,404.

EVEN THOUGH she didn't win a game, Georgiana Kerwin took the top honors in the Livonia Ladies Classic with 495-132 — 627. In the individual games, Lois Merriman won the opener with 190-33 — 223; Peg Eizender took the second with 189-30 — 219 and Loraine Drypen won the third with 171-51 — 222.

SCORING FELL off a bit in the Merri-Bowl doubles, but the competition was still keen as Kay Knox landed on top with 590. Next to her came Dottie Payne with 575 and only two pins further back came Gloria Mertz. The best scoring came when Mavis Falkiewicz turned in a 248 game.

AT GARDEN LANES, Dick Santi paced the Kings and Queens with a 618 and the National Grinders, playing four men on a team, posted an 846 count.

In the I.O.F. league, Art Artushin, a 128-average bowler, had a 217, and Russ Fuelling showed the way in the American Legion loop with a 605. Bob Seeet, with a 124 average, fired a 505.

Ski club announces registration

The Plymouth Canton Community Education Department will hold its annual Ski Club registration at 7 p.m., Tuesday in the Canton High School cafeteria.

All middle and high school students interested in joining should attend the membership meeting.

Those unable to attend can register after Nov. 13 at the Community Education office in room 130 at Canton High School.

The registration fee is $40. This fee pays for three advance II tickets to Mt. Brighton, identification, chaperone and transportation costs for the entire season (20 trips). Additional information can be obtained from the principal's office.

Anyone who would like to sell ski equipment or apparel, may bring items and sell at their own discretion.

ICE SKATING LESSONS

Registration for ice skating lessons at the Plymouth Cultural Center will be from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Cultural Center is located at 525 Farmer Street.

Classes are available for beginners to the advanced student.

The cost for eight 25-minute sessions is $16 for residents and $20 for non-residents. A resident is defined as any person living in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District.

For more information, call the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department at 455-6620 or 455-6623.

ADULT BASKETBALL LEAGUE

The city of Plymouth's Department of Parks and Recreation will be accepting entry fees for its Adult Basketball League, beginning Nov. 12.

Any new teams can enter for a fee of $260. The league is limited to 12 teams. Rules and regulations are available at the Plymouth Recreation Department, 525 Farmer Street.

The Recreation is also accepting entry fees for a new Women's Basketball League. The league is open to residents of Plymouth, Canton and Northville.

For more information call the Recreation office at 455-6620.

Thurston girls rip Churchill, 74-26

Livonia Churchill broke out to a quick 8-0 lead, but once Redford Thurston warmed up, there was no stopping it Tuesday in a non-league girls' basketball game.

The Eagles smashed Churchill 74-26.

"After the first 2½ minutes, we really started hitting and they couldn't buy a basket," said Thurston coach George Heger. "Everything we threw up went in."

The Eagles connected on 58 percent of their shots from the field during the contest. Everyone played and 10 of 11 scored for the victors.

Jean Rowley netted 18 points, Sandy Nissen and Theresa Moran 12 apiece and Barb Beebe 11. Jan Yerks led the Chargers with seven.

"This was the best we've played in a long time," said Heger. "We ran the fast break well, worked the ball inside and the girls did a superb job putting the ball in."

The victory bettered Thurston's overall record to 14-3. The Eagles will host Livonia Franklin at 6 p.m. Thursday.

Churchill defeated Thurston in the JV game 35-31.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN limited Southfield to less than 10 points during every quarter to gain a 40-28 non-conference victory.

The Patriots, which didn't exactly burn up the hoops either, led 11-4 after the first quarter, 18-12 at the half, 29-20 after three periods and 40-28 at the final buzzer.

Jenny McNulty and Mary Kay McNall each scored 10 points for Franklin. Teammates Julie Johnson and Julie Wilga added seven points apiece.

McNall pulled down 12 rebounds, Anna Collins eight.

"We used our press (diamond-one) in the first half, dropped off (into a 1-3-1 zone) in the third quarter and came back with it again," said Franklin coach Chuck Hebestreit.

"We've been concentrating on defense this year. That's why our games have been so low scoring," said Hebestreit.

The win upped the Patriots' season slate to 9-7.

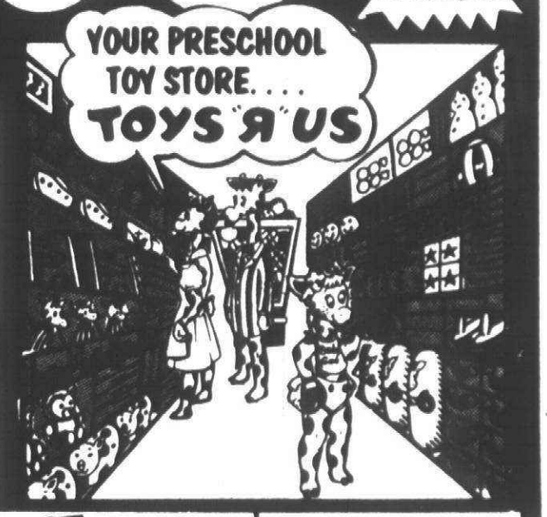

Franklin blitzed Southfield in the JV game, 49-20.

Top-ranked teams meet in Class A test

Fordson-Catholic Central battle matches muscle

The only thing the Catholic Central-Dearborn Fordson football playoff encounter needs to be a Hollywood screenplay is for Frank Merriwell to win the game on a 107-yard interception after regulation time expires.

Everything else about the game is pure storybook.

The number one and two ranked teams in Class A will match forces Saturday at Birmingham Groves High School. Game time is 1:30 p.m. Groves is located on 13 Mile Road, just west of Evergreen Road.

For a tension-filled matchup, for a game with the utmost fan interest, and for just a sheer powerful pairing, you couldn't have written a better script then the Shamrocks vs. the Tractors.

The numbers tell it all.

Fordson, 9-0, rated number one in Class A, (or number two, depending on who you talk to) outscored opponents 300-31. That's just the beginning.

It's always a football hotbed for the Tractors. Coach Charles Jestice has a super 61-14 overall record in his 10th year at the helm of Fordson. This year's crop of players is second to none.

The Tractors run a winged I-formation offense, which is spearheaded by senior tailback Eddie Guido. Guido, a three-year starter, scored an imposing 19 touchdowns and gained 1,035 yards. Blocking back Mike McGowan's 10 TD's were in the shadow on this team.

John Gross, a senior, is the quarterback. He had a pass-completion rate of 60 percent and threw for 11 touchdowns. His favorite target is end Dino Berri, a senior, who nabbed seven touchdown passes.

Plowing out the holes on the line are tackle Randy Davis, another senior and three-year starter, and guard Alan Preis.

The defense allowed only one touchdown pass all year. That occurred on the last play of the regular season against Dearborn Edsel Ford. Ron Hassen, Guido and McGowan man the secondary.

The key to Fordson's outstanding 5-2 defense is linebacker Steve Krumins, the leading defensive point-getter for the Tractors. Nose-guard Mike Hardin gives Fordson its third three-year starter. Ends Mark Lytwyn and Mark Rowe are outstanding, Lytwyn led Fordson in quarterback sacks.

Of the aforementioned players, only McGowan and Lytwyn are juniors. The senior-laden team matches up perfectly with CC.

THE SHAMROCKS of coach Tom Mach are enjoying their best season in years. They are unbeaten in nine games.

Fresh off their first Catholic League championship in 19 years, the Shamrocks had to be up every week for a super tough schedule. Not much more can be pointed out about CC that hasn't already been said.

Beating Flint Southwestern, Ypsilanti, Bloomfield Hills Andover, Birmingham Brother Rice, Harper Woods Notre Dame and Detroit DeLaSalle was no small accomplishment.

The Shamrocks love to control the ball and the clock. Their offense is tops at grinding it out. Their defense has not been scored upon in the last four games.

Aaron Roberts, Mike Lewis, Pat Moug, Dave Yudasz and Tim Geran all won all-Catholic recognition. Roberts led CC rushers with 1,005 yards in '79. Lewis, a three-year starter at quarterback, is the heart and soul of Shamrock pride.

After the brutal schedule, Fordson is regarded as just another hurdle to the boys on Breakfast Drive.

"We don't really know that much about Fordson," said Mach. "Not right now.

"I think it will be a real tough game, a super match-up. I see a thriller that will probably be decided by a break by one of the two teams."

All that it needs is a Frank Merriwell finish.

Tuominen maintains 500- freestyle lead

Area high school swimming coaches are encouraged to contact Plymouth Salem coach Chuck Olson, who is compiling the best performances of the season. He may be reached on Friday or Monday, 7 a.m. to 2 p.m., at 453-3100 (ext. 290).

Rankings for divers will be based on the average of four best point totals.

The VIEW from CANTON CENTER

by ELLIE GRAHAM

JOAN WEHMEYER and her daughter Ann were in San Rafael, Calif., for the Karen Shultz-Douglas Goodkin wedding. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Shultz Jr. lived in Plymouth for 22 years.

THE PLYMOUTH Historical Museum is a center of activity during the month of November.

There was a wheat-weaving workshop last Saturday and another is planned for next Saturday. Yesterday, the members of the Plymouth Canton Community Schools Board of Education, the administrative staff and school principals were invited for lunch at the museum. Barbara Saunders and Marg Mitchell had an opportunity to tell their guests about the school programs offered at the museum.

Tonight the Plymouth Historical Society will have its fall potluck dinner at 6 p.m. Guest speaker will be Bill Henning, president and trustee of the Michigan Transit Museum. He will present a pictorial history of the interurban trolley era in southeastern Michigan. His program is entitled, "Detroit at Your Doorstep." Bill is on the faculty of Macomb Community College and author of the book, "Detroit: Its Trolleys and Interurbans."

The museum will be closed Nov. 20-30. Rita Maly and her exhibit committee (Pat O'Reilly, Jerry Jablonski, Elaine Pierce, Doris Richard) will be preparing the museum for Christmas. Theme will be "Sparkle for Christmas."

The committee will get an assist from the Apple Run, Trailwood, Lake Pointe and Plymouth branches of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. Members of the garden clubs will help with the decorations.

The Historical Society members will have a preview of the museum in its holiday splendor the evening of Nov. 30. The society's December meeting has been moved up to that date.

More good news: The Plymouth Newcomers Club presented an early Christmas gift to the museum — a check for $50.

FOUR MEMBERS of the Tonquish Creek garden club were out doing their bit to beautify the Plymouth Township Recreational Park.

Maureen Stuck, Sue Silye, Mary Yarlott and Mary Drake planted 122 red tulip bulbs. They will be by the flagpole (or where the flagpole will be) near the Kiwanis pavilion.

The park out there is really shaping up and providing pleasure to family and club groups as a favorite picnic spot.

WANDERING around town the other day (while Scott Adler was dashing off an exciting sports story on my typewriter), it was interesting to discover that shoppers are getting a head start on their gift lists.

Over at Linen to Leather, their kits to make stuffed gnome dolls were sold out. The family of four gnomes looks just like the original paintings in the Gnome Book. There's a waiting list for the next shipment.

Area gift shops have an incredible assortment of nativity scenes. Most of them are so lovely, they could be the family heirlooms of the future.

There are creches of carved olive wood from Israel. Also a beautiful set of Mary and the Babe on the donkey with Joseph alongside. These are in the natural colors of the wood, unstained, yet beautiful in their simplicity.

There are little three-piece pewter sets and the least expensive creche was made in Taiwan. It was wood and ceramic with nicely painted figures.

Chuck Avis and crew at Wayside were unpacking an interesting carton from Goebel and Co. in Germany. Wrapped in layers and layers of tissue paper were the figures from the nativity scene. Just watching was as exciting as opening your own Christmas gift.

AND TICKETS for the annual Symphony Ball went on sale Monday for the first time. The gala event will be in the Meeting House the evening of Dec. 1.

The ball traditionally has ushered in the holiday social season. There will be dinner and dancing for $35 per couple. For tickets call Jan Gerish, 455-0375, or Janet Brass, 420-0963.

It's always a sell-out so make your reservations early.

Proceeds go to the support of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

TICKETS FOR the Young Peoples Concert will be available in elementary and middle schools next week, Nov. 12-16.

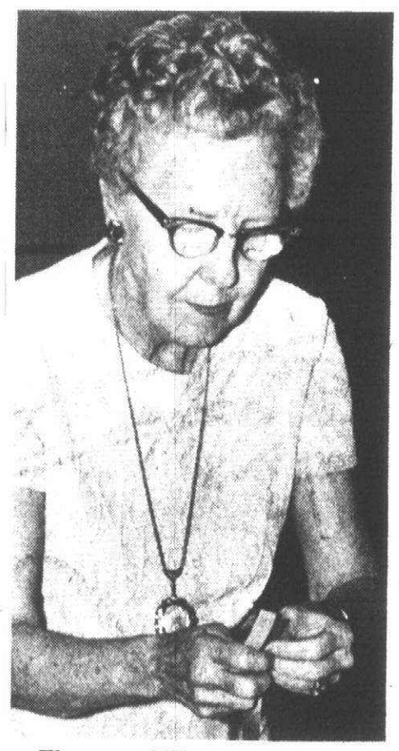

All tickets are 50 cents each for the concert which will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 15 at Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium. This is a first for the Plymouth Symphony and should be a success. It beats driving to downtown Detroit for a children's concert.

If there are tickets left over, there will be some for sale at Beitner's Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail after Nov. 19, or from Jan Quick at 453-8189.

Rosalie Urban has a variety of table arrangements for sale in the Creative Corner of the First Methodist Church Bazaar.

Bazaars are for fun, food

Florence L'Heureux is making ribbons for pine cone wreaths for the bazaar at St. Kenneth's.

One can only wonder at the talent and the devotion.

But there's a lot of fun involved, too, as Plymouth and Canton women meet to prepare good foods and unusual handmade creations for Christmas giving.

These pictures by staff photographer Gary Caskey are just a sample of all the hard work that is going on right now. For more about bazaars, see Page 2C.

The Women of St. Kenneth Catholic Church, 14951 Haggerty, are holding their Christmas bazaar this weekend, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday, in the church hall.

The Women of Cherry Hill United Methodist Church, Ridge Road south of Cherry Hill, Canton Township, are also holding their bazaar this weekend. It will be open Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Luncheon will be served, with six varieties of homemade soup.

Friday, Nov. 16, is the date the United Methodist Women have chosen for their annual Christmas Boutique. The sale will be on from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Plymouth First Methodist Church on North Territorial, west of Sheldon. There will be 43 tables of crafts.

Another creative corner item at First Methodist Church is displayed by Charlene Miller.

Busy working on centerpieces at St. Kenneth Church are from left, Ruth Baxter, Mary Shiemke, Madalynne LaPorte and Marion Sutherland.

'Love Rides' again

The dance hall girls almost stole the show from the hero and the villain in last weekend's performance of "Love Rides the Rails" or "Will the Mail-Train Run Tonight??"

The melodrama was presented by the Plymouth Theater Guild in the auditorium of Central Middle School.

It was be staged again this weekend in the same location, Church and Main Streets, with curtain time Friday, Nov. 9, and Saturday, Nov. 10, at 8 p.m.

Tickets will be available at the door or by calling Irene Troth, 455-4755. Cost is $2.50 for senior citizens and persons under 18; $3.50 for all others.

Old-time songs caught the audience's fancy and they joined in singing some of them in the saloon scene.

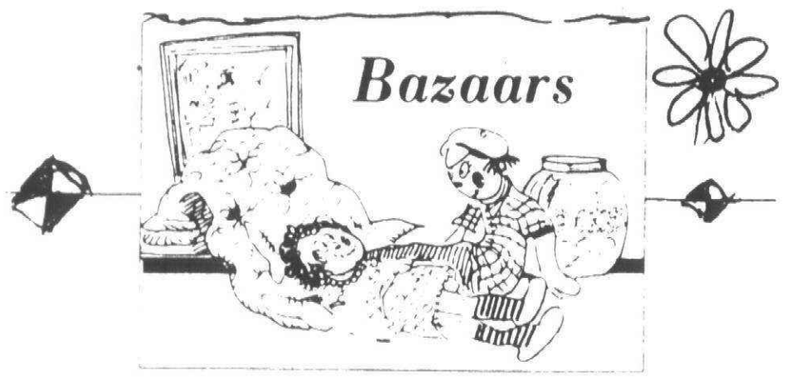

"Tavern in the Town" and "Hard-Hearted Hannah" feature Jan Gattoni; "Second Hand Rose," Karen Groves; "I'm Just Wild About Freddy," Mary Cantine; "Big Spender," Verna Paul; and "Bill Bailey," Eileen Agius.

The entire company plus the audience sing "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

Other musical numbers star David Higginbotham and Pat Thomas, the hero and heroine, in "I Had a Dream," and Chuck Miller, who plays the villain, and Carole McNulty, the dance hall proprietor, in "In the Shade of the Paradise Cafe," with lyrics by John A. Roberts.

Higginbotham also sang "The Prisoner Song," with extra lyrics, written by himself.

Besides joining in the singing, audiences are free to hiss and boo and throw popcorn.

Cannibals cop costume kudos

Canton Chatter

By SAM NICHOLS 397-0429

Patty and Mike Cappucitti are newfound rivals to all the party and banquet facilities in Canton. The Cappucittis hosted a Halloween party in their home for nearly 50 people. While most of us would be breathless at the thought of entertaining 50 people for the evening, the party was most enjoyable, and went off seemingly effortlessly for Patty and Mike.

Patty prepared all the food for the buffet that included five kinds of bread, potato salad, macaroni salad, tuna salad, baked ham, and relishes. The Cappucittis also provided a lovely cake decorated for the occasion.

Typical Halloween games were played, including dunking for apples. It was decided men possess some special skill for this since most of the time the men won.

Many party guests went to great effort to prepare their costumes for the occasion. Some of the costumes included Santa Claus and a Christmas present, Hawaiian man and woman, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, a vamp and a man of the night, Dracula and his wife, and Mickey and Minnie Mouse. Also present were several monsters, including one in a white tuxedo. The Incredible Hulk, never one to miss an exciting time, graced the party with his presence. Gary Kistemaker said he and wife Tammy spent hours turning him green.

Several men came dressed in Army uniforms, and the Rev. Ernest Porcari, priest at St. Thomas Becket Catholic Church came as a layman. The host and hostess were Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy.

Bottles of champagne were awarded to winners of the costume contest. First prize went to Marly and John Birchmeier who dressed like cannibals. Linda and Ken Bright won the prize for being the most original. They dressed in bags, and were thus "Bag People." Les Daugnalt won the prize for being the scariest. He wore a horrible monster head mask and a handsome white tuxedo.

Party guests included Marly and John Birchmeier, Gail and Charlie Craven, Betty Hellmers, Fr. Porcari, Kathy and Butch Kneiding, Nancy and Ron Olds, Linda and Ken Bright and Jo Ann and Leo Daugnault.

Tammy and Gary, Incredible Hulk Kistemaker, were joined for the excitement by Carol and Mike Dugan, Dee and Bob Wiacek, Mary and Ralph Difazio, Nancy Stelmaszek, Liz and Jim Clagg, Margaret and Art Carince, Grace and Jerry Hysko, Lisa and Tom Foss and Jan and Bob Knecht.

Carol and Jim Riddering, Cindy and Tom Fanslow, Don and Bonnie Iler, Noreen and Tony Camaleri, and Kathy and Charlie Freece knew better than to miss a great time, so they too attended.

Most of these people are neighbors and frequently enjoy such good times together.

SHASHI AND SUDHIR Gupta are still another ambitious hostess and host in Canton. They hosted the Diwali festivities for over 50 people from India on October 20th.

After playing bridge with Shubhi Jain one afternoon, she called me and said her 10-year-old son, Ashu suggested telling the Observer about the Diwali. I found the occasion most interesting, and only hope I relate this custom, unfamiliar to me, accurately.

The Diwali is a religious holiday regulated by the Hindu calendar. Usually it falls in November, but this year it was early. Shubhi said are many, many religions in India, but all celebrate this holiday.

The holiday is celebrated by decorating houses with lights, similar to our Christmas lights, and candles. The Guptas held a short worship session, called a Puja, then the children enjoyed games and adults played several card games.

Sweets and baked goods were exchanged by all as gifts. The evening culminated with a fireworks display, such as sparklers, in the back yard of the Gupta home.

Shubhi said it was a most enjoyable time, and party guests grouped mostly according to the Indian dialect they spoke, which gave the party even more of the flavor of their homeland.

DONNA AND CHIP GLOVER recently attended their high school class reunion in Youngstown, O. They said some of their classmates looked exactly the same and some didn't. Sounds like most class reunions, and most of us hope to fall into the category of looking the same.

Donna said prizes were awarded for such feats as having the most children and traveling the farthest for the reunion. They were happy to just sit back, observe and applaud as others won. They had such a good time at the reunion that Donna said she stayed out later than she ever had in her life. Watch out, they'll have you on the planning committee for the next one, Donna.

Brownies get acquainted at craft day

Debbie Steffen, Troop 401, Isbister School, worked hard at craft day and came up with a seed ornament. Might make a good Christmas present.

Some 540 Brownies are a lot "craftier" after an all-day meeting last week, but making a decision must have been tough.

That's the number of Brownies from Plymouth, Canton and Northville who took over Pioneer Middle School in Plymouth Saturday for Brownie "Bee" Crafty Day.

Under the direction of about 150 leaders and junior and senior scouts, each Brownie Troop chose a craft to make and take home.

Brownie leaders received a copy of all nine crafts featured at the event, to make at to future Brownie meetings.

This is the third year that Junior, Senior and Cadette leaders have provided a "day" for the Brownies.

Crafts offered included an unusual hanging Christmas tree ornament made out of seeds; Girl Scout's sit-upons made from vinyl; a Thanksgiving turkey centerpiece made from an acorn squash; hangings and ornaments made from all shapes and sizes of pretzels and crackers; Brownie story finger puppets made from felt; Brownie "gold" purses made from felt; Brownie "Bee" neat containers (for Scout pins, belt, tie, etc.); wreaths of yarn pompons; and macrame angels.

Arrangements for the event were made by Romaine Kling, Brownie consultant for the area; and Judy Williams, assistant.

They were aided by Mary Lou Johnson, Judy Parker, Barbara Hauser and Ruth McMahon.

Craft leaders and assistants were Barbara Ibach and Michelle Conquest; Cindy Bastion and Delores Wells; Sue Eix and Chris Kroll; Beth Lurtz and Diane Czeupleski; Ann Sheridan and Barbara Wentimont; Jo Morse and Sue Morse; Peggy Seery and Marilyn Berar; Jeanette Smith and Sylvia Szilvagyi; and Pat Mosti and Joanne Schlabach.

Brownie Troop 381, under the leadership of Pat Miller, conducted the flag ceremony. Taking part were Julie Ellenwood, Michelle Halloran, Heather Helton, Angie Platter and Kathy Warner.

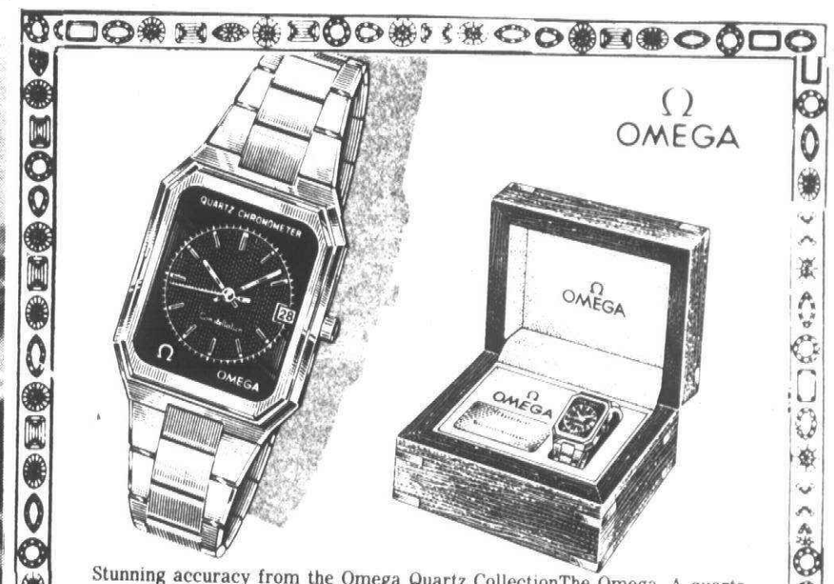

Barbara Ibach of Northville conducted the opening ceremony with members of Brownie Troop 473, Judy Ibach, Lisa Szymanski, and Kristen Czapaski.

Meghan Lynch, Troop 466, Allen School, is proud of the Brownie "Bee" neat container she produced at the Brownie craft day in Plymouth.

Plymouth Family Service is celebrating anniversary

Plymouth Family Services, now in its 15th year in the community, has published a new brochure to spread the word of its existence to all residents.

The agency is especially interested in spreading the word to those particular residents in need of help because of any kind of stress in family life.

PLYMOUTH FAMILY Service opened its doors on Feb. 3, 1964, in the Plymouth Veterans Building at 173 N. Main.

In 1968 the agency moved to larger quarters in the Colony Plaza Building at 880 Wing Street, its present location.

During those 15 years many changes have taken place in the Plymouth community. Expressways have been built, new shopping malls are flourishing, many new businesses have located here, and fast food chains abound.

The Plymouth Centennial Educational Park has replaced the original Plymouth High School and Old Village has been revitalized.

And families in Plymouth have lived through all of these changes, as has Plymouth Family Service, which remains strong and ever-growing to better serve residents.

THROUGH THE YEARS thousands have received counseling for various types of problems.

The agency has provided many kinds of group counseling such as marital groups, adolescent groups, sessions for new mothers and their infants, a men's group, a separation/divorce group, and currently an alcoholism group.

"As our society evolves and growth occurs, pressures can mount," says Diane Farber, director, "and there are many changes in the lives of individuals and families which can become overwhelming.

"The counselors at Plymouth Family Service are aware of these changes and pressures in people's lives. Additionally, the counselors want to respond to the community's needs and have done so by providing a variety of services."

Presently there are three full-time counselors — Ms. Farber, David Breeden and Susan Pierson — and two secretarial workers, Connie Cavanaugh and Dorothy Queen.

People who want counseling may contact the agency directly, or they might be referred by a friend, doctor, school counselor, or a clergyman among others.

Plymouth Family Service charges an hourly fee which is adjusted for those with more moderate incomes.

The agency is an approved Blue Cross facility, and also is covered by other insurances. Plymouth Family Service also is a member agency of the Plymouth Community Fund.

"As Plymouth continues to grow, Plymouth Family Service also will continue to grow and meet the needs of the community," concludes Ms. Farber.

Interested persons may contact the agency at 453-0890.

Normal operating hours are 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Mondays, and 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday.

More Plymouth stores sign up for senior discount program

Ten businesses have signed up as additional participants in the Senior Discount Program conducted by the Plymouth Community Council on Aging, Inc.

With the 10 new participants, there now are a total of 95 businesses in Plymouth offering discounts to senior citizens who have identification cards issued by the council on aging.

A list of the new participating businesses is offered below so senior citizens may add the names to the previously issued "Directory of Participating Merchants" distributed by the council on aging.

Senior citizens who signed up last month received an updated directory which includes the names of the latest merchants to join the program.

SENIOR DISCOUNT PROGRAM

Stores displaying this logo are participating in the Senior Discount Program conducted by the Plymouth Community Council on Aging, Inc.

THE TEN NEW participating businesses, offering 10 percent discounts unless otherwise noted, are:

- Beyer Rexall Drugs, 480 Main Street.
- Little Caesars Pizza Treat, 1492 Sheldon, 20 percent discount Sunday through Thursday and 10 percent discount Friday and Saturday.
- Nawrot, Inc., Pendleton Shops, 470 Forest.
- Old Village Hair Station, 950 Starkweather.
- Specialty Pet Supplies, 873 N. Mill, 10 percent off on regularly priced merchandise, excluding pet food, weekdays only.
- Spanky's Restaurant (formerly Paula's), 413 Main Street.
- Village Paperback Exchange, 819 N. Mill, Mondays only.
- Windmill Gallery of wood and sign shop, 795 N. Mill.
- Wooden Heat Stove Works, 744 Starkweather, five percent off priced merchandise, Tuesday only.
- Young Sophisticats, 821 Penniman Avenue, 10 percent off all merchandise except sale items.

THE SENIOR Discount Program is aimed at reducing the stresses inflation causes those on fixed incomes.

The council on aging advises senior citizens that before purchasing an item they should check with store personnel about the discount because a participating merchant may withdraw from the program at any time.

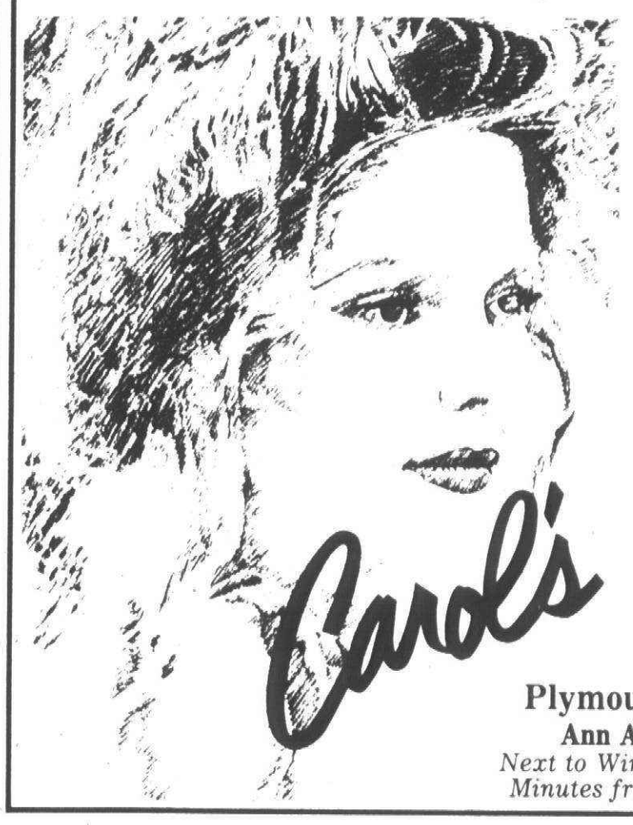

Senior citizens also should show the identification card before the sale is rung up.

The discounts offered are only for the personal use of the card holders.

Trinity Park West, says Rev. Lyle Adams, is a development that will fill a major need in this area. The only other such facility is Manoogian Manor and the need is far greater than two homes can fill, he believes. Those interested in finding out more about the project can call Trinity Church to receive brochures.

Trinity ready to open new residence

By MARGARET MILLER

Trinity Baptist Church, an institution that lives up to its name by serving three congregations, is on its way to another triumvirate in the field of service.

The church already operats Trinity Park, apartments for senior citizens located on Middlebelt Road in Livonia next to one of the three Trinity church homes. The church is getting close to opening Trinity Park West, a residential care facility on Six Mile near Haggarty, just south of Schoolcraft College.

The new facility is slated for occupancy early in 1980. It is designed for elders who need more care and service than they could have while living in an apartment but who still do not belong in a full-care nursing home.

Aplications for residency there are being accepted now, said the Rev. Lyle M. Adams, pastor of the churches and administrator for the homes.

When the new home is completed and its full quota of 99 residents have moved in, the Trinity staff will consider yet another care facility. It will be another community of apartments to be constructed on the large parcel of land where the church is building Trinity Park West — an intresting juxtaposition to a vintage church and one of the oldest homes in Livonia.

THE VARIOUS components of Trinity Baptist's ministry came into being for a variety of reasons, said Adams.

The original Trimity was established in 1924 on Indiana in northwest Detroit.

Like many other Detroit churches, this one found its congregation moving westward, and that led to the 1961 move to the location at 14800 Middlebelt, Livonia.

"But we did not sell the old church," explained Adams. "We have a fine program going there in a changing neighborhood and I have been doing two services a Sunday for nearly 20 years."

Yet another Trinity is a tiny frame church that for many years has stood next to an old burying ground on the property that the Trinity congregation purchased at Six Mile and Haggerty.

"A small group of people had been worshiping there," said Adams. "They had disbanded by the time we purchased the property in 1967. But a few of our families started going out there for services so the Norman Mathias, an ordained minister and teacher in Westland, said he would become extension pastor there."

MATHIAS AND his family now live in the old house that forms another part of the Trinity history and adds an attraction for the new home for elders.

That 100-year-old building once was home to area pioneer Luther Briggs and was located squarely in the middle of the land that became I-275.

"We hated to see a historic building demolished," Adams said, "and there were many who agreed with us. But there was a need to get it out of the way fast so the expressway construction could begin.

"We were allowed to move it because I guess the city figured that as a church we had a few more resources and could handle the job."

The old house now is a place for students in the area to meet as well as a home to the Mathias family, and it is gradually being restored.

It also serves as an ideal foil to contrast with the contemporary lines of the new residential care facility, on which construction began last year.

"We think they compliment each other very well," said the pastor. "We intend to develop the area between them so that the residents of the new building can enjoy even more the view of the old one."

TRINITY PARK WEST is a development that Adams sees as filling a major need in this area.

"The only other such facility is Manoogian Manor," he said, "and the need is far greater than two homes can fill."

The home, being built under the Federal Housing Administration program 232, will provide residential rooms plus a dining room with professional staff for those who require special diets.

There will be recreational facilities offered in the home, and Adams pointed out that the development is close to Schoolcraft with easy access to other recreational possibilities.

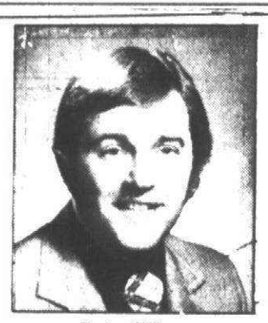

A nurse will be on care and emergency medical services will be available, although it will not be possible to provide continuing nursing care. Housekeeping\services will be available, but residents will do their personal laundry.

Rooms will be for one or two persons and the range for the double-occupancy will be $450 to $500 a month, Adams said. Persons qualifying for state assistance under the medical assistance program will be eligible for residence, with the amount of financial responsibility to be determined by the state with consideration given personal income.

Those interested may call Trinity Church, 425-2730, to receive brochures.

Church Bulletin

LIVONIA WESLEYAN CHURCH, 14560 Merriman, will present the Rev. Harold Rickner of Toledo in a series of special services Nov. 9-11. They will take place at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday.

A pastor and evangelist for several years, Rev. Rickner serves as pastor of the Detroit Avenue Wesleyan Church in Toledo. Special singing at the services will be provided by Mr. and Mrs. James Fuller of Livonia and Mr. and Mrs. William O'Nan of Madison Heights.

KENWOOD CHURCH OF CHRIST, 20200 Merriman, Livonia, will host Roger Keur, minister of the Greenfield Church of Christ in Berkley, at services Sunday, Nov. 11. It is part of the Southern Michigan Christian Fellowship pulpit exchange, the purpose of which is to create greater awareness of sister churches and to promote fellowship projects.

Those attending Nov. 11 services will be asked to "Pass the Buck" to help support the new church in Monroe.

The church will observe its 27th anniversary at services Sunday, Nov. 18.

TRINITY CHAPEL, Ann Arbor and Gotfredson in Superior Township, has planned a ground dedication service at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 11. The chapel is a branch of Ward United Presbyterian Church in Livonia.

Participating will be the Rev. William Moore, pastor of Trinity and Dr. Bartlett Hess, senior pastor of Ward church. Also on hand will be Donald Harms, chairman of the land acquisition committee of Ward, Fred Stenning, chairman of its long-range planning committee, and Robert Kindsey representing the Presbytery of Detroit in New Church Development.

Presently Trinity services are held in Isbister Elementary School on Canton Center Road, Plymouth. Sunday school classes, nursery through adult, are held at 9:45 a.m. followed by the worship service at 11 a.m.

CLARENCEVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 20300 Middlebelt, Livonia, will hold its annual turkey dinner from 5:30-7 p.m. Friday, Nov. 9. It will be sponsored by the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Prices for this homemade meal are $2.75 for adults, $2.25 for senior citizens and $1.75 for children under 12. A family plan for four or more is $9. All proceeds go to the youth fund.

ALPHA BAPTIST CHURCH, 28051 W. Chicago, Livonia, will present the Greers, a man and wife musical team, in a musical program Sunday, Nov. 11. Hours are 9:45 a.m., 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Included in the performance is a dramatic reading of the Book of Romans.

NEWBURG UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia, will conclude its University of Life series with a discussion of marriage by Dr. Walter Conner at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 11. Child care is provided.

VILLAGE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 25250 Six Mile, Redford Township, will present Sonquest, young Christian band, in concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 10. Light refreshments will be served. There is no admission charge.

"King's Kids," born-again Christians who are members of a motorcycle club will appear at the church Tuesday, Nov. 13. They have joined together to form their own church. Dinner is at 6 p.m., with the "King's KIds" starting to tell their story at 7 p.m. Dinner is $2 for adults, $1 for children under 13, with those under 5 free. Dinner reservations are necessary. Call Winnie Caloia at 534-9384.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST OF PLYMOUTH, 1100 W. Ann Arbor Trail, is sponsoring a lecture by George Lewis Aghmalian at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 13. Since leaving the business world in 1951, Aghamalian has been engaged in the fulltime practice of Christian healing through prayer as a Christian Science practitioner. Helen Hopkins, second reader, will introduce the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Claus

Behind every successful man is his wife. Santa Claus is no exception in this card offered by the American Cancer Society. Call the society at 557-5353 for a color brochure of this and four other cards which are sold for a $6.25 per box of 25, plus charges for mailing. Imprinting is available.

Bells are ringing

Golden bells against a snowy bough is the Christmas card whose sale will bring money to the Spina Bifida Association of Metropolitan Detroit for its fight against this birth defect. To obtain 25 cards send $6.50 to Vickie Grieg, 860 Mapleknoll, Madison Heights; 548-0627. The money may also be mailed to Elaine Kraemer, 26765 Palmer, Madison Heights; 398-0399.

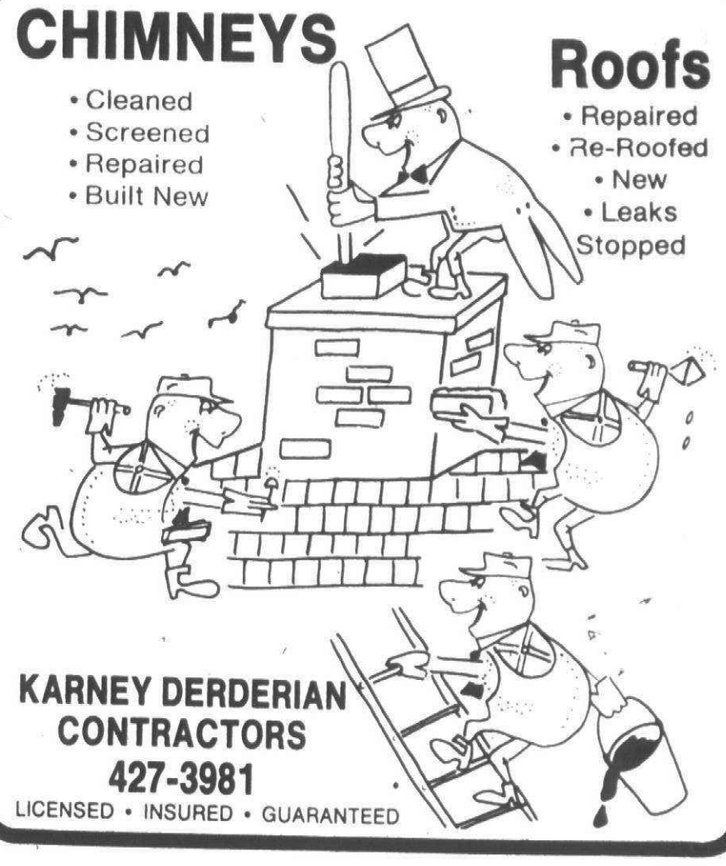

Red on white

Three red cardinals on a snowy background brighten up one of the 14 Christmas cards on sale this year to benefit the Caro Association for Retarded and Epileptic Children. Prices range from $5.50 to $7.50 for a box of 25 cards. Imprints may be ordered. Contact Marian Murphy, 23745 Edinburgh Pl., Southfield 48034; 353-6780.

"I've never seen my child happier."

Your child's first good report card is something neither of you will forget. That sheepish yet proud smile as he or she improves in Reading, English and Arithmetic.

These used to be problem subjects before you enrolled your child for special training at Control Data's Learning Center. Now, after only a few short weeks of self-paced individualized instruction your child is doing better. And you couldn't be happier.

If you have a child who needs help with the work in grades 4 thru 8, write or call:

Howard Fast headlines Jewish Book Fair

The 28th Annual Jewish Book Fair premiers at 8 p.m. Saturday with the noted author Howard Fast speaking on "The Jew as a Novelist in our Time."

The eight-day fair, which includes a variety of discussions by Jewish authors, is hosted by the Jewish Community Center of Metropolitan Detroit.

All sessions are at the West Bloomfield Center, 6600 Maple Road west of Drake Road.

All programs are open to the public and free unless otherwise indicated.

Fast's latest book, "The Establishment," concludes the trilogy of books which began with "The Immigrant" and was followed by "Second Generation."

The schedule for the rest of the week includes:

SUNDAY, NOV. 11

• 1:45 p.m. — Dr. Lucjan Dobroszycki, co-author of "Images Before My Eyes," will speak on "People's Reactions to the Image Before My Eyes." Barbara Kirshenblatt-Gimblett, the other co-author of "Images Before My Eyes," will speak in Yiddish on "Jewish Folklore Through Photography." Co-sponsored by the Jewish Community Center.

• 2 p.m. — Children's Theater will present Celebration '79 — Celebrating the People of the Book. Directed by Harriet Berg. One dollar for members and $1.25 for non-members.

• 3:30 p.m. — Itzhak Ben Ner, author of "Man From There," will speak in Hebrew on "The Various Roles of the Israeli Author." Co-sponsored by the Hebrew Department of the JCC.

• 8 p.m. Leon Harris, author of "Merchant Princes," will speak on "The Jewish Merchant and the Arts." Co-sponsored by Synagogue and Temple Men's Clubs.

MONDAY, NOV. 12

• 10 a.m. — Judith Bruder, author of "Going to Jerusalem," will speak on "But the Past is the Present: The Jewish Movement."

• Noon — Lunch in Shiffman Hall at $4.50 with reservations.

• 1 p.m. — Max Dimont, author of "The Jews in America," will speak on "American Judaism: Wasteland or Renaissance?"

• 8 p.m. Dr. Luba Krugman Gurdus, author of "The Death Train," will speak on "A Survivor's Viewpoint." Co-sponsored by Sholem Aleichem Institute, Department of Michigan, Ladies Auxiliary, Jewish War Veterans of the USA, and Shaarit Haplaytah Survivors of 1945.

TUESDAY, NOV. 13

• 10 a.m. — Geraldine Stern, author of "Israeli Women Speak Out," will talk on "Weighing Israeli Women: On What Scale?"

• Noon — Lunch in Shiffman Hall at $4.50 with reservations.

• 1 p.m. — Frank Gervasi, author of "The Life & Times of Menahem Begin," will speak on "Power Struggle in the Mediterranean."

• 8 p.m. — Rabbi Marvin Tokayer, author of "The Fugu Plan," will speak on "The Japanese and the Jews." Co-sponsored by American Jewish Committee, American Jewish Congress, Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 14

• 9:30 a.m. — A continental breakfast will be served in Room 239 at $2.25 with reservations.

• 10 a.m. — Carol Klein, author of "Aline," will speak on "The Liberated Jewish Woman?" Co-sponsored by Women's Auxilary to the Maimondies Medical Society and Detroit Women of Alpha Omega Dental Auxiliary and Aaron DeRoy Studio Theater.

• Noon — Luncheon in Shiffman Hall at $4.50 with reservations.

• 1 p.m. — Barbara Fischman Traub, author of "The Matrushka Doll," will speak on "The Reality of History Through Fiction." Co-sponsored by National Council of Jewish Women, Michigan Region, Women's American ORT, Brandeis University National Women's Committee.

• 8 p.m. — James Pool, co-author of "Who Financed Hitler?" will speak on "Is History Repeating Itself?" Co-sponsored by Jewish National Fund and Zionist Organization of Detroit.

THURSDAY, NOV. 15

• 9:30 a.m. — Continental breakfast in Room 239 at $1.50 with reservations.

• 10 a.m. — Professor Emil Fackenheim, author of "The Jewish Return into History," will speak on "Jerusalem — The Coming Batle." Co-sponsored by Women's Auxiliary United Hebrew Schools, Hillet Day School PTO, Akiva Hebrew Day School PTA.

• 1 p.m. — M. Hirsch Goldberg, author of "Just Because They're Jewish," will speak on "A Surprising Look at Jewish Myths and What to do about Them." Co-sponsored by the Greater Detroit Council of Pioneer Women.

• 8 p.m. — Rabbi Herbert Tarr, author of "So Help Me God!" will speak on "Barbara Walters, The K.G.B. and I." Co-sponsored by B'nai B'rith Men's and Women's Council Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

SATURDAY, NOV. 17

• 2 p.m. — Children's Theater again will present "Celebration '79 — Celebrating the People of the Book." Members of $1 and non-members at $1.25.

• 3 p.m. — Aliza Shevrin, author of "Holiday Tales of Sholom Aleichem," will speak on "Making the Jewish Holidays Meaningful." Co-sponsored by SPACE, a community service of the National Council of Jewish Women.

For more detail, call the Cultural Arts Department at the JCC, 661-1000, Ext. 250.

Waldemeir will give lecture at Schoolcraft

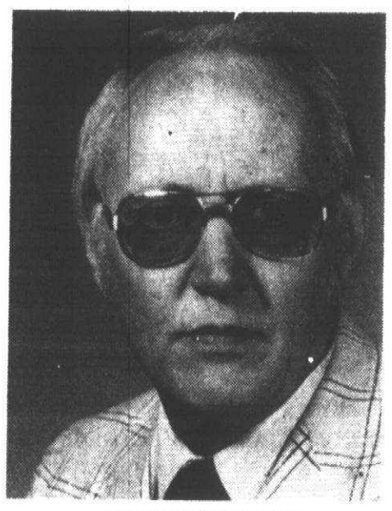

News columnist Pete Waldmeir will speak at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 12, in Schoolcraft College's Waterman Campus Center, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

A back-page columnist for the Detroit News for seven years, Waldmeir also has been an associate editor in the sports department, an award-winning columnist and staff reporter.

He is noted for taking on powerful people in government and writing about matters of public concern.

A native Detroiter, Waldmeir also served with the Marines and attended Wayne State University.

He said his informal talk wille on "whatever's current at the time" and will include a question-answer period. His appearance is sponsored by Schoolcraft's Cultural Public Affairs committee. It is free and open to the public.

Madonna adds instruction

The second of Michigan's two certified sign language instructors has joined the Interpretation and Total Communication (ITC) Department at Madonna College, Livonia.

Robert M. Ingram, holder of the Comprehensive Certificate awarded by Sign Instructors' Guidance Network as well as the Comprehensive Skills Certificate from the Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf, is an internationally recognized authority on sign language, author, consultant, and workshop presentor.

In addition to being a full-time instructor of sign language and interpretation, Ingram assists Kenneth Rust, ITC department chairperson, in evaluating and redesigning the present ITC Curriculum.

"The interpreting field has changed since Madonna first introduced the program into its liberal arts curriculum," explained Ingram. "In terms of research, specialists now have a better understanding of the language being taught."

"Since American Sign Language is the most widely used sign system among deaf persons in the United States, and since all other systems are based on it, the current program calls for a stronger ASL core," he added.

A variety of cards

The Michigan Cancer Society offers the public a choice of these six cards this year, everything from a tiny bird to a huge cathedral. Orders for imprinted greeting cards can be handled through Dec. 1. Prints of the work of Louis Redstone and Janet Anderson are also available, and, like the other cards, can be ordered at area foundation offices. The Oakland Service Center is at 4224 Woodward, Royal Oak, 549-4600; the Plymouth Branch is at 173 N. Main, Plymouth, 453-3010; and the Rochester Branch is in Neighborhood House at 1234 Inglewood, 651-5836. Proceeds from the sale of cards supports scientific research, patient and family care, rehabilitation, screening and detection and public education.

Helen Thomas to speak in area

Helen Thomas, White House bureau chief for United Press International (UPI), will speak about her work in lectures in Southfield and Detroit during November.

The Mt. Carmel Guild will present "Conversation and Coffee with Helen Thomas" at 10 a.m. Monday in the Michigan Inn, 16400 J.L. Hudson Drive, Southfield. Cost is $8.50.

On the following day the Wayne State University graduate will speak on the White House scene in Cobo Hall under the sponsorship of the Women's Economic Club. The event includes a luncheon and will start at 11:45 a.m. To make reservations contact Agnes Scott at 873-7200.

In her position as UPI bureau chief, Ms. Thomas traditionally asks the first question at a presidential news conference. She cues the close with "Thank you, Mr. President."

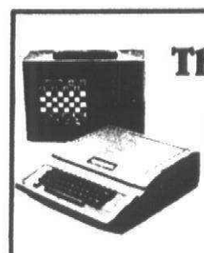

Named one of the 25 most influential women in America, she began her career in Washington during World War II writing radio news for UPI. She did this for 12 years, starting work each day at 5:30 a.m.

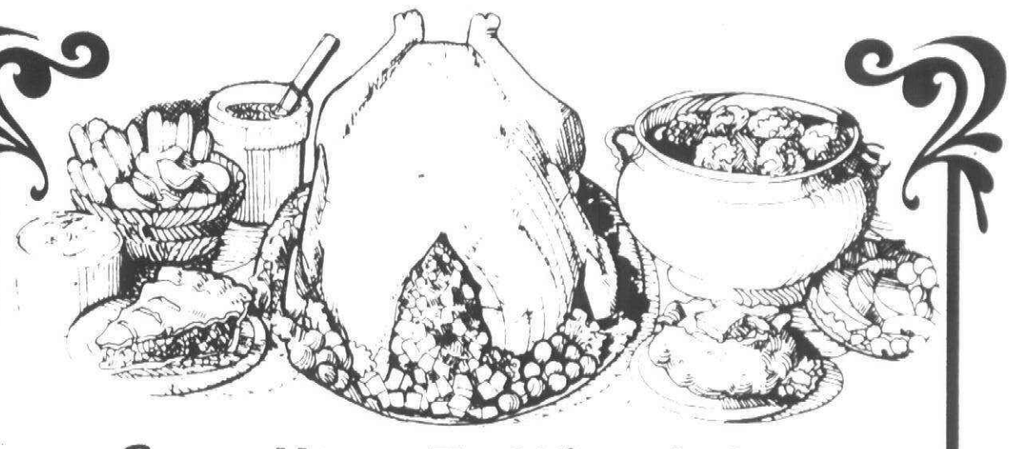

Later she was assigned to cover various federal agencies. She followed John Kennedy's presidential race in 1960 and became a member of UPI's White House staff the next year.

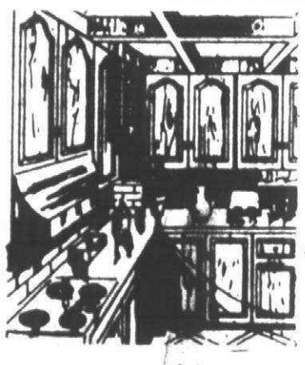

She is famous for her "firsts." She was the first woman officer of the National Press Club after it admitted women members, and the first woman president of the White House Correspondents Association.

She was the only newspaperwoman to travel to China with President Nixon. She returned later with President Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

All proceeds will go the the to the Tri-City Seals Cerebral Sport Team. Many of its athletes were members of the 1979 Michigan Cerebral Palsy Sport Team which won the national championship.

Admission is $1.50 per adult, 50 cents per child 12 and under. Senior citizens and handicapped persons are admitted free.

The public may purchase items from craftsmen and dealers. Collectors and hobbyists who may wish to participate may contact Leah Jarrel at 271-1683 or Mike Mushett at 722-7620.

Gibson-Babcock

Mr. and Mrs. William Robert Gibson are living in Kalamazoo following their October wedding in Lapeer.

The bride is the former Lynn Carol Babcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Duvall of Lapeer. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gibson of Oxford Drive, Plymouth.

The wedding took place in First Presbyterian Church, Lapeer, with the Rev. Robert Fox officiating.

The bride wore an ivory chiana gown, trimmed with lace at the neck, bodice and cuffs. In her hair, she wore roses and baby's breath. She carried a wreath of silk flowers in dusty rose, burgundy and white.

Gina Ferguson was the maid of honor, and Mary Kay Russell, Sherry Elmore and Joan Duvall were the bridesmaids. They wore dusty rose gowns with burgundy accessories.

The bridegroom's attendants were Thomas Gibson of Ann Arbor, Mark Watroba of Novi, Michael Pray and Paul Szilagyi, both of Plymouth, and Lee Babcock of Kalamazoo.

A reception was held in the American Legion Hall.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gibson graduated from Western Michigan University. He is an elementary school teacher in the Galesburg-Augusta Schools, and she is a department manager at K-Mart in Kalamazoo.

Winter scene

A bright yellow light welcomes farmers and sheep into the barn on a snowy night in this card sold this year by the Foundation for Exceptional Children, 16 Lake Shore Dr., Grosse Pointe. Proceeds from the sale will be used to support a recreational and socialization program for physically and mentally handicapped children. Cards cost $3.50 per package of 25. Imprinting is available. To order contact the foundation at 885-8660.

Small creatures

Butterflies, sea horses and frogs in black and white are three of the creatures decorating this card of the Tim Ro Children's Center, a small school for emotionally impaired children run by Elsie Archer. In fact, all the pictures are black and white except for one bright red ladybug second from the left. The center, which is located in the Unitarian Church, 651 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills, can be reached by calling 642-2540.

How about those convection ovens?

M.F., Troy

Not according to testing done by Consumers Union. Convection ovens cook by blowing hot air around the food. This method when tested against conventional electric ovens did not demonstrate any advantage in time or energy savings. For example, an electric oven broiled six hamburgers in about half the time of the convection oven — 18 minutes as opposed to almost 30. Other disadvantages mentioned by Consumer's Report magazine included difficulty in cleaning, hot spots, small size and cost.

When will the junk food ban go into effect in the public schools?
Joan K.

Probably some time after the first of next year. The Agriculture Department will forbid the sale of gum, soda and other junk food until after the last lunch period. However, Dr. Michael Jacobson, director of the Center for Science in the Public Interest, maintains that the rule as written is a farce. It allows any food item that supplies at least 5 percent of the recommended daily allowance of any one of eight nutrients to escape the ban. This includes virtually all candy bars that contain milk, or other ingredients considered nutritionally valuable. For more information, write to the Center for Science in the Public Interest, 1755 S St., NW, Washington, D.C. 20009.

GRACE R. GLUSKIN,
Executive director

Dionne Warwick thought Red Cross was only about hurricanes.

A Public Service of This Newspaper & The Advertising Council

"True. I always thought of Red Cross as a kind of rescue force in times of disaster and little more.

"Then I learned that in towns and cities across America, Red Cross gives the kind of help to individuals that you rarely hear about, because it doesn't make headlines in the newspaper.

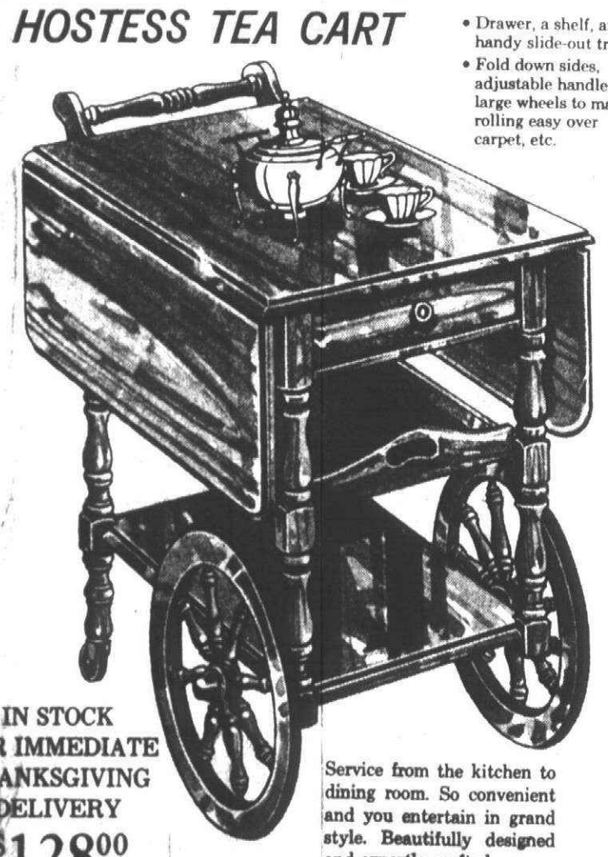

"Red Cross, for instance, helps elderly people get to doctors' appointments... and even to the store. They help veterans get back on the track. They teach kids to swim... and how to save lives.

"I found out that if you added up all the different humanitarian jobs Red Cross does in different towns, the number comes to over 100!

"That's why I'm helping to keep Red Cross ready. And why I hope you do, too."

Keep Red Cross ready.

To go long distances without stopping for water, drive a camel.

To go long distances without stopping for gas, drive a luxurious AMC Concord DL.

The 1980 Concord goes a long way without stopping for a drink.

Based on EPA estimates, Concord's 22-gallon gas tank lets it go 484 Miles.

With extras like these at no extra cost:
- Individual reclining seats.
- Quartz digital clock.
- Full vinyl roof.
- Exclusive Ziebart® factory rust protection.

- The only full five-year No Rust-Thru Warranty™ (and it's transferable).
- The AMC Buyer Protection Plan®—with the industry's only full 12-month/12,000-mile warranty.
- And many more.

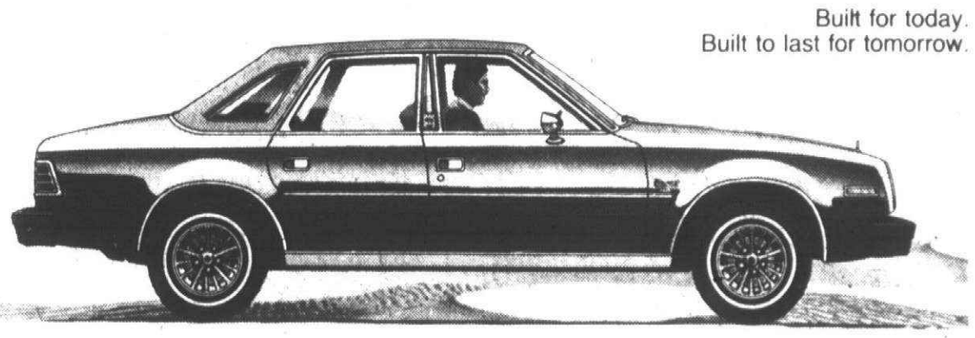

*22 EPA estimate mpg. 30 highway estimate. Use these figures for comparison. Your range and mileage may vary due to driving speed, weather conditions and trip length. Actual highway mileage will probably be less. Range superiority may be due to greater economy or tank capacity.

Look familiar?

It should. It is a Currier & Ives print called "Frozen Up" chosen this year to represent the Kidney Foundation. Several other cards are also available including a stunning white tree bearing red balls against a blue background and a child in red decorating a small tree. The cards range in cost from $3.50 to $7.50 for 25. Imprinting is available. For information contact Mrs. R.J. Brockmiller, MI6-9632. The Kidney Foundation of Michigan is at 3378 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor 48104.

Biblical scene

The birth of Christ is the theme of the fund-raising card chosen by the Myasthenia Gravis Association, 6131 W. Outer Dr., Detroit, for its fight against neuro-muscular disease. Cards are available at $5.50 for 25. Imprinting is extra. Contact the association at 342-5939.

Christ Child benefit coming

A silent auction and the sale of handcrafts made by members will be among the features of a benefit for the Christ Child Society. "Ye Olde Merry Mart" will take place from 7-11 p.m. Friday, Nov. 16 in the Detroit Athletic Club.

Continuous entertainment and hors d'oeuvres will be included in the donation, which is $15 per person. Mrs. Thomas Olk of West Bloomfield is general chairman. To obtain tickets contact Mrs. Paul Komives of Birmingham at 642-9103.

The society aids needy children.

Show to feature dolls, dollhouses

Dollhouses, miniature furniture, dolls and other work by hobbyists will be on display at a show from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Nov. 10 and 11 in the Melvin Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford in Westland.

All proceeds will go the the to the Tri-City Seals Cerebral Sport Team. Many of its athletes were members of the 1979 Michigan Cerebral Palsy Sport Team which won the national championship.

Admission is $1.50 per adult, 50 cents per child 12 and under. Senior citizens and handicapped persons are admitted free.

The public may purchase items from craftsmen and dealers. Collectors and hobbyists who may wish to participate may contact Leah Jarrel at 271-1683 or Mike Mushett at 722-7620.

Organist to give concert

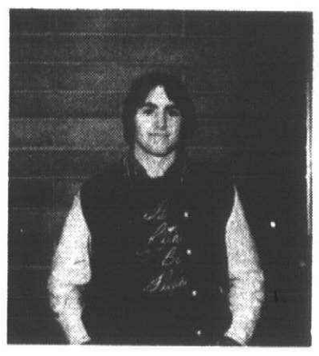

Ray Ferguson, concert organist and organist for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will be presented in concert by the Busnell Performing Arts Series at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 11, in Bushnell Congregational Church, 15000 Southfield Road, Detroit. There is no admission charge, but donations are accepted.

His study of historic organs in Europe, as well as his work under the eminent Bach authority Helmut Walcha at the State Conservatory in Frankfurt, Germany, has fitted him for his role as artist-performer-scholar of the organ.

After having received two Fulbright scholarships for study in Germany, Ferguson was the winner of the biennial National Organ Playing Competition of the American Guild of Organists. Presently, he is professor of organ and harpsichord at Wayne State University and director of the organ division as well as director of music at Bushnell Congregational Church.

Christmas wreath

This year the card of the Michigan Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society features a moss green flocked wreath with shiny red and old berries adorning it. A box of 25 cards and 26 envelopes costs $6. Imprinting is available. To order, contact Arlene Wiltse of Livonia in the evening at 464-3385.

Red rocker

In his red suit Santa rests up for his Christmas labors in this card of the Detroit Association for Retarded Citizens. The word, Christmas is in gold. Proceeds from the sale of this card at $6.50 for 25, will aid the mentally retarded. The cards can be imprinted. To order call the association at 831-0202.

Multi-national kids

Children having fun is the theme of this card of many colors chosen to aid the cause of the Detroit League of the National Asthma Center. Twenty-five cards cost $6. To order call Lucia Robiner at 535-5247 or 541-4461 after 4 p.m.

Infant and star

A gold infant and star on cream-colored background make up the card chosen the year by Right to Life-Lifespan. The word, love, in large letters is embossed across the card, but the printing is too faint to be reproduced for a newspaper. Twenty-five cards cost $6. To order, contact the Western Wayne County Chapter of the organization, 27578 Schoolcraft, Livonia; 422-6230. Call between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday, Wednesday or Friday.

Weight loss plans differ at diet clinics around area

By NANCY AUSTIN

Second in a series.

It is important to note that the first article of the series reported on Weight Loss Clinics of America.

This notation is made because of an error of omission last week. Today's commentary is on Quick Weight Loss Clinics, a separate corporation.

When you call this company for information on their plan, you will be told it is best to come in for a free, private consultation. You are told the first consultation will include filling out a questionnaire, an explanation of the program, and the financing of the diet.

When you arrive for your consultation, it may not be private. You may be taken into a room with several other clients. Here the program spiel is delivered by a consultant who will also answer your questions.

EXPECT TO BE asked to fill in a questionnaire regarding your medical history prior to the consultation. During the consultation the medical history will be discussed, possibly in front of other prospective clients.

Your weight goal will be discussed as well as your blood pressure and other health problems that may or may not be present. You may be questioned regarding your menstrual cycle, eating habits, and previous diet experiences, including successes and failures. This also may occur in the presence of other clients.

Expect to hear you will lose between three and five pounds a week, and that your body will go into ketosis, a condition the clinic regards as positive. (Ketosis can be a health hazard, but this will be discussed next week.)

You will find out that you will be on a 500-calorie-a-day diet, and that you will not be hungry, irritable, or experience the miserable side effects of other crash diets.

The consultant will tell you that you will receive a complete blood study, urinanalysis, and examination by a doctor who is in their clinic three times a week.

You will receive the psychological support of nurses on staff and will make an effort to change your eating habits while losing weight.

The program consists of three parts: 1) The weight-loss period. 2) Stabilization during which foods are added back into the diet under controlled circumstances. 3) Maintenance during which time you learn to keep the weight off.

FINANCES include all three phases of the program. If, for example, you would like to lose 20 pounds, it will take nine weeks to lose the weight.

During this time you would visit the clinic daily for about 10 minutes where blood pressure and weight is recorded. A session with a nurse may be scheduled to discuss your eating problems.

The charge also includes six weeks of twice-weekly visits to stabilize your weight. Maintenance, also included in the charges, consists of one year of weighing yourself at home twice weekly.

If during that time you gain between three and five pounds, you may return to the clinic to get you back on the right track. All of this will cost about $250.

You will be told there are no crash diets involved, no fad diets, no liquid protein, no injections. Clinic staff may offer you an appetite suppressant pill. It is a vitamin capusle containing a gel, which when taken before a meal, takes the edge off of your appetite. (These same tablets are available as over-the-counter diet aides at local drug stores.)

YOU WILL ALSO receive daily vitamin and mineral supplements to insure a complete balance of nutrients.

The consultant will tell you that you will get all you need in these 500 calories. But just in case you don't, the vitamin and mineral supplements will insure against a deficiency.

Knowledge of how many grams of protein, carbohydrate, and fat are included in the 500 calories a day isn't revealed until after you sign up for the program.

If you want to know who designed the program, you will be told the program is 20 years old, designed by doctors and nutritionists. If you ask who specifically is behind the design — which doctors and which nutritionists — you will be told that information is not available.

If you would like to know who is on the board of directors, you will not be told.

If you would like to know the location of the corporation's headquarters, you will be told that the information is confidential, not available, or no one is allowed to give out that information.

Next week: Who really are the professionals behind these clinics, and what are their credentials?

Market Watch

By JOHN E. VERNIER

The current atrociously high level of interest rates proves that "one man's cup of tea is another man's poison."

An acquaintance was recently complaining that his funds were tied up in a six-months bank certificate of deposit that was paying a much lower rate than what he could get currently in a money market fund.

He remarked, however, how nice it was that investors could expect current returns of 12 percent or more on certain short-term or daily interest types of investments.

IN THE SAME breath, however, he complained that he was having difficulty in selling his home.

Recently retired, he plans to move out of state. When asked why he thought the real estate market has softened, he explained that, while the economy has shown signs of slowing, it was probably caused mostly by the high level of interest rates.

He admitted that mortgage money is practically non-existent. Where it is available, potential buyers are discouraged by the unprecedented height of interest rates.

The excessive cost of money makes the man both a winner and a loser at the same time.

How did all of this come about? Who do we blame for this dilemma?

THE CONDITIONS which caused this problem began fermenting slowly many years ago. The period of easy money that we enjoyed from the early 1930's began to show signs of ending in the late 1960's, and have continued to worsen ever since.

Some folks are quick to place the blame on President Johnson and his policy of intensifying the Vietnam war without calling for a tax increase or other measures to finance that infamous fiasco.

Others feel the trend toward higher interest rates was the natural result of years and years of deficit financing by the federal government.

Still others point out that, as Europe and Japan made massive economic recoveries from World War II, U.S. economic influence became less and less.

At the same time, the demand for money from the recovering nations was becoming increasingly intense. As the world demand for money and credit accelerated, a rise in interest rates was the natural result.

Regardless of the causes, however, interest rates are still at alarmingly all-time highs. The Federal Reserve discount rate stands at 12 percent and the bank's prime rate at 15.25 percent.

There has been no evidence so far to indicate that this staggering cost of money has had any discernible effect toward cooling the economy.

Police hold rape suspect

A Plymouth man has been held in lieu of $60,000 bond after being charged with the rape of a woman in her Livonia home.

David B. Eden, 22, was charged Monday with armed robbery, first- and second-degree criminal sexual conduct, and breaking and entering. He faces pretrial examination Nov. 13 on the charges in Livonia District Court.

Eden was arrested early Sunday after police received a call from a woman who said she had been raped in her home, in the area of Wayne Road and Ann Arbor Trail.

According to Det. Sgt. Lawrence Little, the woman said a man broke into her house about 4 a.m., coming through a back window.

"The man tied up the woman and her daughter and at knifepoint raped the mother. He then took a small amount of money and escaped in the victim's car," Little said.

Eden was arrested after an officer found his car, out of gasoline, parked on a street near where the crime occurred.

Police said Eden was taken off parole two months ago for a 1975 kidnapping, robbery and rape.

A dance for free

The Clifford Fears Dance Theater opens the Universe of Dance series in a free performance at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Detroit Main Library on Woodward across from the Art Institute. The show, in the third-floor Adam Strom Hall, will include a tribute to Dinah Washington.

A concerto by Beethoven

Oakway Symphony Orchestra gives its second concert of the season at 4 p.m. Sunday, highlighted by the Beethoven Triple Concerto. Performing it will be violinist Alfio Pignotti, a music professor at Eastern Michigan University and former concertmaster of the New Orleans Philharmonic; pianist Dady Mehta, also an instructor at Eastern; and cellist Samuel Mayes, who has served as principal cellist for the Philadelphia Orchestra and the Boston Symphony. Also on the program is Bernstein's Overture to "Candide,"Tchaikovsky's suite from "Sleeping Beauty," and Stravinsky's "Berceuse" and the finale from "Firebird." The concert, under conductor Francesco Di Blasi, will be at Harrison High School, 12 Mile Road and Middlebelt. Tickets are available at the door at $5 for general admission and $2 for students and senior citizens.

From the depths

Ocean explorer Jean-Michel Cousteau will lecture on underwater jungle law at Schoolcraft College at 8 p.m. Nov. 26. The eldest son of Jacques Cousteau will present slides and a film.

"Although beautiful, life in the oceans, as on land, is a constant struggle for food," says the lecturer. "Creatures of the sea have developed incredible ingenious ways to capture their prey and to avoid becoming prey themselves."

The program will be in the main campus gym on Newburgh north of Six Mile. Tickets are $3 at the door. For more info, call 591-6400, ext. 380.

It's a bird, it's a plane ... It's Andromeda!

Ever looked skyward and wondered, "How far can I see?"

November evenings offer the most distant object that can be seen with the naked eye — the great galaxy in Andromeda, according to University of Michigan astronomy professor Richard G. Teske.

One of the brightest and nearest of the galaxies, Andromeda is made up of billions of stars held together by their mutual gravitational attraction, he says.

"OVER TWO million light years away, this fine object appears as a hazy oval patch of light that is nearly straight overhead by 9 p.m. in mid-month.

"Seeming to be about a quarter the size of the full moon, the galaxy is readily located," Teske says, "because it is halfway between the W-shaped constellation of Cassiopeia and the star in the northeast corner of the square of Pegasus, called Alpheratz.

"The galaxy is even easier to find with binoculars," he notes.

"Andromeda is a spiral galaxy, a highly flattened star system with trailing spiral arms, slowly rotating like a pinwheel in space. It is more than 50,000 light years across."

Also a flattened spiral and twice as large as Andromeda is the Milky Way galaxy, of which our sun is but one ordinary star out of around two hundred billion, he adds.

"As we look out at Andromeda through a veil of stars belonging to our own galaxy, we see it partly edge-on, so that it appears to us as an elongated oval. Our eyes perceive the combined starlight from only the brightest central portions. Its fainter star clouds are revealed on photographs as extending on the sky to a width of more than three times the size of the full moon," he explains.

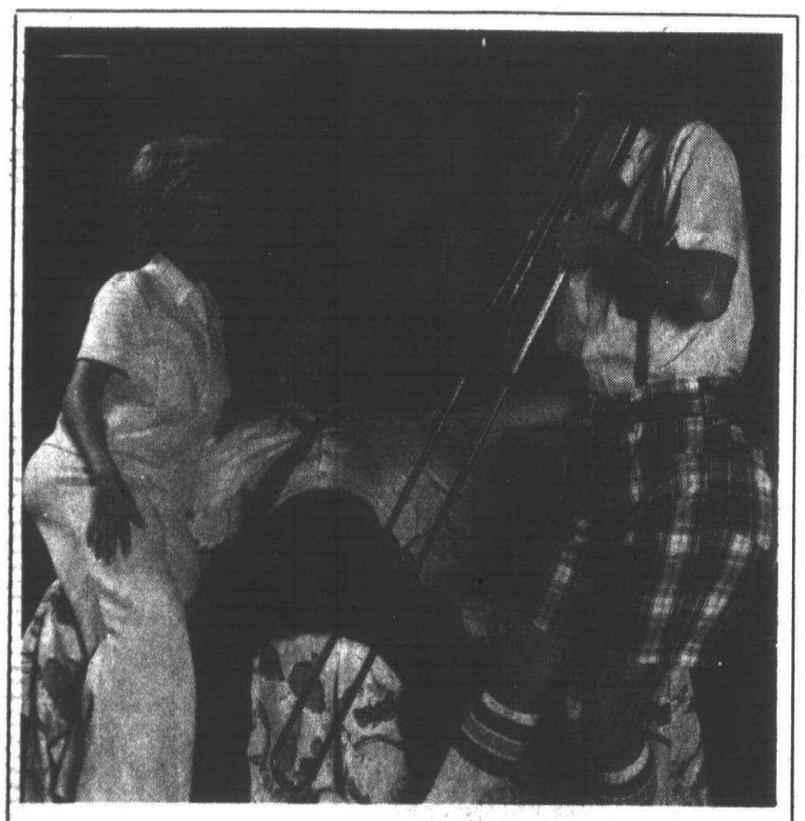

'As we view Andromeda we are looking backwards more than two million years. The light from events that took place there long ago is only now reaching the Earth.'

"We should remember as we view Andromeda that we are looking backwards more than two million years in time. The light from events that took place there long ago is only now reaching the Earth."

The U-M astronomer points out that "the great star systems that are called galaxies seem to be the basic structures of the universe. As we peer deep into space with long exposure photographs made with the largest telescopes, we find the galaxies sprinkled everywhere, beyond counting."

HOW FAR the most distant ones might be is not known, but Teske says "some present studies indicate that the universe could be infinite in extent."

Because a knowledge of the nature of the distant galaxies is important to our understanding of the universe as a whole, astronomers have studied the Andromeda system and other galaxies, and have compared them to our Milky Way, he says. "They find that Andromeda and the Milky Way are typical of spiral galaxies throughout the universe.

Theater after dark

The Attic Theater shows a zany look at modern family life in "An Evening for Merlin Finch," showing Fridays and Saturdays at midnight through Nov. 24. The play is a modern farce in which Merlin, a teenager, rises above his parents and the system to follow his own interests. The Attic Theater is at 525 E. Lafayette, a block from Greektown in Detroit. Phone 963-7789 for reservations and ticket information.

Q&E

Friday and Saturday

Jazz History shown on film

Two programs from the John Baker Jazz Film Collection will be presented this weekend at Rackham Auditorium in Detroit's Cultural Center.

Shows are at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Rackham, at Farnsworth and Woodward across the street from the Art Institute. Admission is $3 at the door.

Friday's three-hour show, "Early Roots of Jazz," examines the early career of Duke Ellington and includes film of Louis Armstrong, Cab Calloway, Claude Hopkins and Eubie Blake.

The Saturday program, "Modern Roots of Jazz," views today's influential jazz artists, including Miles Davis, Cannonball Adderly, Dizzy Gillespie, John Coltrane and Gil Evans. Included is the only existing film of Charlie "Bird" Parker. This show runs over two hours.

BAKER, CONSIDERED the world's foremost collector of jazz film, will be present for the showings.

Before retiring, he was a partner in a law firm in Columbus, Ohio. But Baker's first love was jazz.

He has been called upon as an expert and researcher for most American television jazz programs, and he has served as consultant for the Smithsonian Institution.

Duke Ellington, as a young performer in the 1930s, is one of the American jazz greats seen in this weekend's showings of films from the John Baker collection.

Steinbeck play at Oakland U

John Steinbeck's drama "Of Mice and Men" opens a four-week run Nov. 8 at Meadow Brook Theater, on the Oakland University campus near Rochester.

The story deals with a pair of migrant farmers who stick together although they have nothing in common but their dream of their own land.

Lennie is a retarded giant who is dependent on the good-natured George as the pair moves from farm to farm. In spite of the brutal conditions, there is a tenderness in their longing for a place of their own.

Meadow Brook newcomers David Graf and Michael Medeiros play Lennie and George.

Opening week performances are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday, 2 and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Following weeks (through Dec. 2) will have performances at 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays-Fridays; 6 and 9:30 p.m. Saturdays; 6:30 p.m. Sundays; and 2 p.m. Wednesdays. The theater is closed Mondays.

Tickets are available at Hudson's or by calling the Meadow Brook box office, 377-3300.

Irish story opening on Hilberry stage

"Philadelphia, Here I Come!" joins the Hilberry Theater repertory season at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 14.

It's the story of a young man, Gareth (Gar) O'Donnell, as he prepares to leave Ireland for a new life in Philadelphia. Gar is played by two actors, one as the "public" Gar and one as his alter ego, who puts irreverent thoughts into his head.

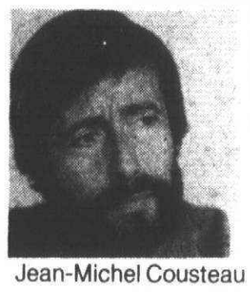

Tickets are available at the Hilberry box office, Cass and Hancock in Detroit, by calling 577-2972, and at Hudson's.

Joggers such as Charles Mycallef of Livonia will still be able to use Hines Park, but there will be no maintenance of the park in the winter. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Parks

County slashes services, but you can walk right in

Wayne County has closed its parks — perhaps indefinitely.

But that doesn't mean you can't get in.

"We don't have fences around most of them," said Lou Sugo, spokesman for the Wayne County Road Commission, which operates the parks. That includes the 17-mile winding Middle Rouge Parkway, popularly known as Hines Park.

"We're unable to fence it (Hines) off anyway," added Sugo.

THE PARKS affected, besides Hines, include:

- Lola Valley and Bell Creek in Redford Township.
- William Holliday near Westland Shopping Center.
- Lower Rouge Parkway in Wayne and Inkster.
- Elizabeth Park in Trenton.
- Nankin Mills Nature Center in the Westland portion of Hines.

The parks became the first service to fall to the county's financial problems. After transferring $117,000 to pay 89 parks employees who had gone three weeks without a paycheck, the county Board of Commissioners this week ordered the parks closed till Dec. 1, the start of the new fiscal year.

THE CLOSINGS may last well beyond next month, however. The county Board of Auditors has proposed all but bare minimal parks maintenance be dropped next year. The Board of Commissioners will soon adopt next year's budget.

The county, which will end the fiscal year Nov. 30 with a $19.3 million budget deficit, may eliminate five other departments besides parks maintenance.

The county contracts with the road commission for parks maintenance, which cost $2.5 million this year. Sugo said the 89 parks employees affected will be transferred to road commission workforces.

'If anybody goes in there, we're certainly not going to chase them off. We certainly don't expect people will remain out of the park.'

They had been dependent on the county general fund for their paychecks, but will now be paid from state gas and weight tax revenues, which provide the majority of the road commission's budget.

ALL BUILDINGS in the parks have been closed, said Max Hilton, parks and recreation supervisor. Some of the parks' comfort stations were kept open in past winters.

All permits for use of the parks have been cancelled, Hilton added. These included some uncompleted football and soccer leagues.

"We're not going to have any ice rinks this year," Sugo added. In past years, the county provided a dozen ice rinks.

Also affected by the closings are cross-country skiing trails in the Redford parks — Lola Valley and Bell Creek.

However, Sugo added, "If anybody goes in there, we're not going to chase them off.

"I assume people will go out on their own. We certainly don't expect people will remain out of the park.

"The only real little (county) service a lot of people take advantage of is the parks system."

Sugo couldn't say how long the parks would remain closed.

"We don't know for sure what's going to happen with next year's budget."

The road commission has asked the county board for $1.9 million for parks maintenance.

A seasonal parks maintenace contract with the road commission, proposed by some commissioners, is "not one we'd be very keen on," Sugo said.

Accidents common

Deer hunting season to open

By LEM MESEE
Outdoors writer

Every county in Michigan has deer — not just the "northwoods."

In fact, the populous counties of southern Michigan account for more car-deer accidents than many northern realms.

November is the top month for car-deer accidents. Bill Gutos, safety manager for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, explains that deer are most active then because it's the mating season and hunters are stirring them up in the woods.

Last year some 17,000 car-deer accidents were recorded, most of them fatal to the deer, but two fatal to humans. There were 944 humans injured.

Oakland County recorded 130 accidents with 13 humans injured. Wayne County recorded 36 accidents with 15 persons injured.

Outdoors

The top three counties for human injuries were Jackson, 43; Kent (Grand Rapids), 36; and Calhoun (Battle Creek), also 36.

Deer warning signs are placed where accidents have occurred. Slow down when you see such a sign, Gutos said — especially during the peak accident times, which are two hours after sunset and just before dawn.

Deer travel in groups. If you see one cross the road, figure another will be behind.

If you do hit a deer, get the car and the animal off the road and contact the local police. Don't remove the deer from the scene without a permit.

All state police posts and most law enforcement agencies have such permits.

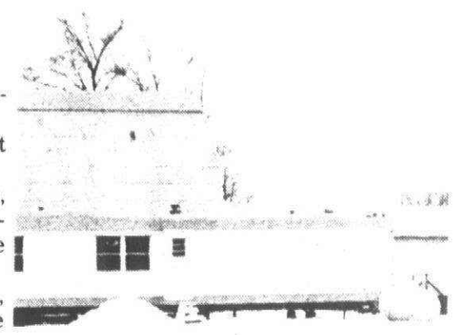

DEER SEASON opens at 7:15 a.m. Nov. 15 and runs through Nov. 30, and for northbound travelers, the Michigan Department of Transportation has set peak hours during which it will not open the Zilwaukee bridge of I-75.

The bridge will remain closed to shippers (open to vehicles):

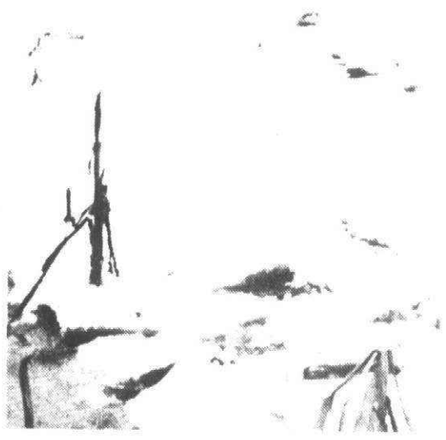

- Wednesday, Nov. 14 from noon to 8 p.m.
- Friday, Nov. 16 from 1-6 p.m.
- Saturday, Nov. 17 from 1-6 p.m.
- Sunday, Nov. 18 from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Michigan's deer herd is estimated at one million. Some 700,000 hunters — about 8 percent of the state's population — are expected to be in the woods.

Some 80,000 bucks are expected to be bagged, down more than 20 percent from last year's record 106,000. Reason: Three harsh winters have reduced the herd.

For hunters throughout Michigan, this will soon be the scene they hope for. But many deer and people are injured in car accidents.

tips from the Air Force Survival School

With the approach of winter, many outdoor lovers can find themselves in danger from the cold. This weekly column, produced by the U.S. Air Force Survival School in Washington, will let you check your knowledge of survival.

The weather is fair with broken clouds, and the temperature is in the low 60s when you and two companions begin an ovenight hike. By mid-afternoon, the temperature has plummeted to 50 degrees, and it is beginning to drizzle with an accompanying 10 mph wind.

As you continue to hike to your planned stopping point, one of your companions begins to act irrationally. He is shaking violently and is on the verge of physical collapse.

To treat this advanced stage of hypothermia:

WOULD YOU . . .

A. Quickly put additional clothing on the victim and make a temporary camp, warming him by a fire.

B. Get the victim in warm, dry clothing and have him drink hot liquids.

C. Bundle the victim in additional clothing to halt further heat loss and make preparations for carrying him out.

D. Immediately build a fire and have the victim warm himself. Watch him carefully in order to prevent him from lapsing into a state of unconsciousness.

TO SURVIVE . . .

B offers the best solution of the alternatives listed, according to survival experts. Once in this stage of hypothermia, the victim can no longer care for himself and must be treated.

Additionally, the body core temperature has dropped to such a low point that only the intake of hot liquids (110° F), after getting the victim protected, will offer a hopefully successful remedy for the hypothermic condition. Placing the victim in a sleeping bag and crawling in with him to provide additional body heat may be necessary.

None of the remaining alternatives offer definitive care that will arrest the hypothermia victim.

A, putting additional clothing on, without first removing the wet clothes and stabilizing the body core temperature, will not solve the problem at hand.

D does not provide internal sources of heat. Once the body core temperature drops to about 90°, independent external sources of heat may only drive the cold deeper into the body's core, worsening the state of hypothermia.

C would offer a course of action to take after the victim's body core temperature has been stabilized and is now ready to be moved.

Room for Design

A few rules can simplify picture framing

by Gloria Cohen

There are a number of basic rules for framing, matting and hanging pictures, but adventurous spirits can go in many directions with good results.

Pictures need not be original works of art. As a matter of fact, anything that pleases you will do — reproductions of much-loved paintings, unusual embroidery, a flower or bird print from an old book, collections of various items or photographs.

The frame is meant to enhance the picture and should never call attention to itself. Actually it should be the liaison between picture and surroundings. It pays to study the rules before you start.

First of all, the frame should lead the eye to the focal point of the picture. Color and weight of the frame should be attuned to the subject of the picture. The frame should add perspective and importance to the composition.

Naturally, the style of the picture should dictate the type and style of the frame. Highly detailed paintings are best set off by frames done in soft, quiet colors. On the other hand, pictures with broad, restful surfaces can take highly ornamented, textured or carved frames.

THE FINISH AND COLOR of the frame should tie in with the colors in the picture. A safe guide is to choose a shade slightly lighter than the darkest tones in your picture.

Generally, the frame should be a neutral tone, then perhaps rubbed or glazed with either a color used in the picture or a harmonizing color.

A frame should always be wide enough to balance the picture. As a guide, you would need a frame at least one inch wide for an 8-by-10 picture. After a while you will be able to judge the correct size just by looking at it. Be sure to examine your picture carefully before deciding on the frame. There are three broad classifications of frames from which you can choose.

Under the traditional heading come period frames of elaborately carved wood or plaster. Usually those with overall decorations are finished in gold, silver, or metal leaf. The more formal types used to frame portraits, still lifes, or landcapes may be finished in deep mahogany or walnut.

Provincial frames of maple, oak, or chestnut are best suited to botanical prints, simple still lifes, and primitive art. The wood may be left natural or treated with wax, a light stain, or antique finish.

The simple, squared-off lines of modern frames make them most suitable for the large areas of bold color and forceful shapes of contemporary art. Frames of wormy or weathered chestnut are often used for modern landscape paintings and still lifes.

As with frames, mats should never be too bold. In selecting them, there are three important points to consider — color, size, and texture. A good rule to follow is that mats should never be less than 2½ inches at top and sides, and three inches at the bottom. They may be larger but these proportions should be followed.

Since a mat that is the same width on all four sides seems to be narrower at the bottom, the bottom measurement is always increased.

U-M opening Polish play

"Tango," a tragicomedy by contemporary Polish playwright Slawomir Mrozek, is the second offering of the University of Michigan department of theater and drama's Showcase Season, Nov. 14-17 at Trueblood Theater in Ann Arbor.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Advance tickets are on sale at the ticket office in the Michigan League. For more information, call 764-0450.

In "Tango," the playwright explores a multitude of issues through the disordered lives of three generations of an eastern European family.

Both the tragedy and the comedy of the play evolve from the family members' inability to come to terms with each other's differing stands on these issues.

Mrozek was born near Krakow in 1930. Before becoming one of Poland's top playwights he was a cartoonist, short story writer and a writer of children's fiction.

AFTER HIS FIRST play, "The Police," was produced in Warsaw in 1958, Mrozek's reputation grew in Poland and throughout the world, where his plays have been performed in various media.

After this play, considered a satirical fable, he moved into the area of the "theater of the absurd" in which "Tango" and several of his one-acts are included.

Though his plays have had varying reception worldwide, he is extremely popular in Poland. His not being censored by the government was possibly due to his skillful presentation of these themes in an absurdist fashion.

Far Eastern art on exhibit now at Art Institute

"Pacific Passage," the exhibition which opened this month at the Detroit Institute of Arts, premiers 40 recent Asian art acquisitions.

Spanning more than 700 years of Far Eastern art history, the exhibition includes lacquers from China, ceramics from Japan, and paintings from both China and Japan. None of the pieces has been previously exhibited in Detroit and the group as a whole is the result of a three-year pursuit of excellent works by Suzanne Mitchell, associate curator of Asian art. The exhibition in the museum's Textile Galleries will continue through April 13.

Ms. Mitchell said the emphasis was upon painting.

"Prior to the recent search, the permanent collection had only a handful of top-rate Chinese paintings. Japanese painting was even more sparsely represented. With these acquisitions we have filled many gaps in the collection. Now we are able to show first-rate examples of all formats of Chinese and Japanese painting — hanging scrolls, handscrolls, albums, fans and screens."

Landscape, figure, bird and flower painting and calligraphy are also represented. Highly colored works — some lavished with gold and silver pigment — are included, as well as monochrome ink paintings. The works are done on a variety of papers, silks and satins.

A major purchase was the painting by Chinese (Ming) master Wen Cheng-ming, titled "The Red Cliff." The painting was discovered in the early 1970s, according to Ms. Mitchell. It is the last dated known painting by this artist, who inscibed it "Painted on a winter's day in 1558." Wen also was a famous calligrapher and the scroll is doubly attractive because he included the "First Prose Poem on the Red Cliff" above the painting.

Another masterpiece is the calligraphy handscroll on satin by Tung Ch'i-ch'ang, measuring more than 13 feet in length.

"The writing is so wild and cursive that many persons are attracted immediately by its abstract appeal, not unlike that of contemporary art," Ms. Mitchell said.

Specialists consider this scroll one of the finest examples in any U.S. collection. Sherman Lee, director, Cleveland Musuem of Art, has compared the stature and influence of Tung to that of Caravaggio in Western art.

Most of the Chinese paintings date from the 550-year Ming and Ch'ing period, and cover a broad range of styles. Both orthodox and eccentric painters are represented. One of the finest examples of brushwork is a 1750 album of figures and landscapes by Huang Shen, formerly in the famous Hobart Collection of Chinese paintings.

From Japan, the acquisitions include the fan paintings "Corn" and "Pampas Grass" (now mounted as hanging scrolls) by Japan's most famous painter of the mid-17th/early 18th centuries, Ogata Korin. Experts believe that only 10 authentic pairs of Korins exist in the world today.

After delicate negotiations with the Japanese government, a pair of six-fold screens — "Reeds and Cranes" by Suzuki Kiitsu (1796-1885) — were allowed to come to the art institute collection.

"Only three full-size pairs of screens by this master are in the United States and this was the last known pair available," said Ms. Mitchell.

Kiitsu applied a vibrant palette of reds, greens, blacks and white to gilded silk.

DSO organist playing Sunday

Ray Ferguson, concert organist and organist for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will be presented in concert by the Busnell Performing Arts Series at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Bushnell Congregational Church, 15000 Southfield Road, Detroit. There is no admission charge, but donations are accepted.

His study of historic organs in Europe, as well as his work under the eminent Bach authority Helmut Walcha at the State Conservatory in Frankfurt, Germany, has fitted him for his role as artist-performer-scholar of the organ.

After having received two Fulbright scholarships for study in Germany, Ferguson was the winner of the biennial National Organ Playing Competition of the American Guild of Organists. Presently, he is professor of organ and harpsichord at Wayne State University and director of the organ division as well as director of music at Bushnell Congregational Church.

At Cobo Hall

Don Herbert, the Mr. Wizard of television, will demonstrate his scientific magic four times daily at the Michigan Energy Exposition, running through Sunday at Cobo Hall in Detroit. The exposition will have entertaining, educational and commercial exhibits. Hours are 1-10 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, 1-8 p.m. Sunday. Admission at the door is $3 for adults, $1.50 for students and senior citizens.

Cranbrook

Shells on show

You don't have to travel south this month to see a fine collection of shells.

A demonstration at Cranbrook Institute of Science from 2-4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 11, will focus on the identification and preservation of shells, from bivalves to chitons.

Janet Paddison, who works with the museum's zoology collection, will show various types of shells, including a specimen with the animal still living inside, and answer questions.

The demonstration is free with museum admission of $2.50 for adults, $1.50 for students and senior citizens.

Also included in general museum admission are planetarium demonstrations at 2, 3 and 4 p.m.

Sunday museum hours are 1 to 5 p.m. For more information call 645-3210.

Cranbrook Institute of Science is at 500 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills.

Our World Revolves Around You

REALTY WORLD®

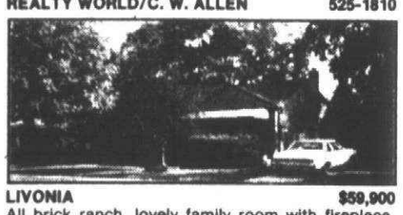

We won't promise you the moon. We'll deliver it.

Former Astronaut... Wally Schirra For REALTY WORLD

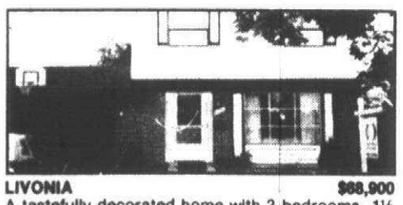

People used to think the moon was made of green cheese and real estate companies just sold houses. Space technology disproved the first theory and REALTY WORLD is changing people's minds about the second. REALTY WORLD people are trained to provide the services you need to make your move as easy as possible.

REALTORS® A network of franchised offices

Helping people is our business . . .

We've been helping home buyers and sellers since 1958. As one of the country's largest, most successful real estate organizations, we continually work to up-date and expand our services in order to give you the finest professional assistance.

These are just a few of the services we offer:

- Realtor and multi-list system memberships . . . mean more exposure when you sell, more convenience when you buy.
- REALTRON Computer service . . . for a quick, thorough 'look-see' at the home market.
- Nationwide referrals . . . we cover the U. S. and Canada, anywhere you want to live.
- Corporate relocations . . . for a single executive transfer, or a complete company move.
- Home warranty program . . . protects you against unexpected major repair costs.
- Complimentary Market Analysis . . . tells you what price your home can bring.
- Guaranteed Sale Plan . . . so you won't be stuck with owning two homes at once.
- Tax Saver Program . . . helps save you tax dollars when you sell your home.
- Out-of-state trade-ins . . . we can trade homes anywhere. If yours is in Kansas, it's OK with us.
- Equity financing . . . we can arrange a loan on the equity in your present home so you'll have the money to buy your new home.
- Financial contacts . . . banks, savings and loans and credit unions know us. That makes getting a mortgage easier for you.
- Mass media advertising . . . the power of radio, TV and newspaper all work for you.

SALES COMMISSION

Lets start with things you don't expect at 3½%
- Multi List (more multi list exposure than almost any firm)
- 2000 office national network for tranfer referrals • Home Warranty
- interim financing (using our own funds) • seperate closing department
- visa, master charge for purchaser's deposit • 3½% ten year resale guarantee on homes sold through us – and that's just the beginning

Because we're Broker owned and operated (since 1950)
Each Broker keeps 100% of commissions earned. Other firms pay their sales associates 25%
- We're in a unique position to charge less – but earn more per sale
- Because we're Brokers you enjoy greater – not lesser – experience

Full service Brokers – not part time sales associates • We provide equal exposure services – in fact every service – priced elsewhere at 7%

Beatrice • Livonia, Mich. 48150

Dear Claire,

Paul and I would like to thank you so much for your help in finding our new house and of course for selling our house on Beatrice.

It's nice to know that even though the market is stopping in some places - its only slowed down a little bit at Century 21 Community.

We felt very fortunate, at having listed our house with you. It's pleasant dealing with someone who knows how to mix professionalism and friendliness.

Thank You
Paul & Kathy Kallio

P.S. We will highly recommend you to anyone!

Put this sign on your lawn.

It won't kill crabgrass, but it gets rid of houses fast.

Between one mowing and the next, your house could change owners. And you know that's fast!

How can we be so sure?

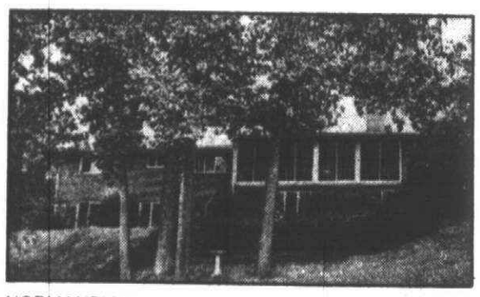

Because we're a member of the Homes For Living Network.

When our sign goes up a lot of things happen. With our exclusive Homes For Living magazine, a picture and description of your home can be available to home buyers in our area. And, through our 2,000 affiliated offices, we'll reach potential out-of-town buyers.

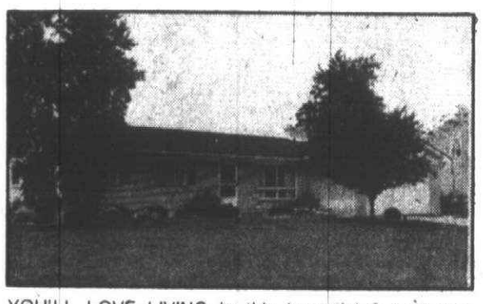

After all, they account for one-third of all home sales.

When you consider that our 25,000 Homes For Living sales associates have more than 10-billion dollars in home sales each year, you know we don't let any crabgrass grow under our feet.

OWNER'S SACRIFICE
When I built this spacious 4 bedroom colonial for my family, I gave them everything they asked for: A formal dining room, a family room adjoining the kitchen, a rec room that walks out onto a patio, a separate laundry room, a 3 car garage, a snowmobile shed, a country porch and a paved circular driveway. I situated it on an acre of ground so that it would be surrounded by maple trees. I selected a location a few miles west of the quaint town of Gaylord in a private recreational community in which I have privileges on two magnificent spring-fed lakes, the use of a clubhouse with an indoor pool, a golf course, a lighted air strip, a riding stable and much more.

Now business commitments elsewhere force us to sell and we're anxious to deal. So phone my wife or me at 616-585-6400 (this is our home number) for full details.

It's a great year for wise investments

...and the wisest investment anyone can make is an Observer & Eccentric want ad.

I invested and sold all those nostalgia items I've been saving up in my attic.

Now, I have enough to buy that Corvette I've always wanted.
