Bill clarifies Canton's clout to buy rights

By DARLENE STINSON

A proposed amendment to the Michigan charter township act clarifies the legal right of municipalities like Canton to purchase development rights on farmland.

The bill, drafted by State Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, and reviewed by Canton attorneys, is now before township board members for their consideration.

The bill was requested by Trustee Robert Greenstein in order to establish legal grounds for Canton's proposed purchase of farmers' development rights. Greenstein called the development rights proposal "a new animal" which current state law does not address.

Although the township board holds no authority over bills introduced to the Michigan Legislature, Greenstein said Faust asked board members to review the document since it was written for Canton's benefit.

Greenstein, an attorney who also serves as Canton's farmland preservation director, said the bill will be discussed by the township board on Jan. 8. Board members will forward the bill to Faust's office with their comments.

TOWNSHIP ATTORNEY Bert Burgoyne raised questions concerning the legality of a development rights program about 1½ years ago.

Burgoyne noted that existing state law does not give or deny the right to purchase development rights. He advised the former Canton board to seek an amendment to the state charter township act if a proposed four-mill tax ($4 per $1,000 assessed property valuation) for a development rights program was approved by voters.

The millage question failed by a narrow margin in November, 1978. The township board has pledged to place another development rights proposal on the ballot by May 31, 1981.

"I just thought, why in the hell wait until a ballot question is approved?" Greenstein said of his request for the state law amendment.

According to the trustee, the bill gives charter townships the right to buy, sell or trade development rights. It defines development rights as the legal ability to develop farmland.

Greenstein said a charter township's ability to sell or trade development rights had to be included in the Senate bill as insurance against failure of a farmland preservation program.

UNDER THE BILL, land cannot be developed until an individual or corporation holds deed to both the land and the development rights.

"If a farmland preservation program failed in Canton 25 years from now, the township could rezone the land and say that the development rights are worth three times what we paid for them," Greenstein said. "The township could sell the development rights."

"But you couldn't develop anything on that land until the same person becomes the owner of the land and development rights together."

Canton Township is the first municipality in Michigan to propose a development rights program for the preservation of farmland.

Farmers may get tax break

Planners are shooting for final approval of a zoning map and ordinance in February in order to give farmers an opportunity to petition for lower taxes in March.

The zoning documents carry out the intent of the township's master land use plan by designating approximately 5,000 acres west of Canton Center for agricultural purposes.

Robert Padgett, chairman of the planning commission, says the new zoning classifications should entitle landowners to lower property assessments.

The Canton Tax Board of Review meets in March to consider petitions of property owners for lower assessments. The assessments will be used to compute 1981 property taxes to be collected in December next year.

CANTON PLANNER Jim Kosteva says much of the land west of Canton Center is now zoned for farming.

But the present zoning is viewed by Wayne County assessors as a "holding classification" until development of the land is possible, Kosteva said. The assessments are currently based on the speculative value of the land to developers.

But the new zoning classifications — agricultural industrial and agricultural residential — reflect the intent of the master plan to preserve the township's farmland. A program has been proposed to reimburse farmers for their lost development rights.

Planners believe the land will be assessed at 50 percent of its farming value once the zoning text and ordinance are adopted.

But the plans must be adopted by the time the Tax Board of Review meets in March for assessments and 1981 taxes to be reduced.

The local tax board submits its recommendation to Wayne County, which makes the final determination on property assessments.

Memories of Christmas celebrations from the past are revived by Bethel Taylor at the grand opening of the Westland Historical Museum, 857 Wayne Road. The museum is a farmhouse, which is typical of those built in 1860 in the western Wayne County area. (Staff photo by Bill Bresler)

Heritage finds a new home

Museum brings history to life

By SANDRA ARMBRUSTER

Enter the house at 857 Wayne Road, and you enter the world of 1860. That's when the seven-room farmhouse, now home for the Westland Historical Museum, was built.

A walk through the museum this Saturday will find Westland Historical Commission members participating in an "old-fashioned Christmas," continuing a tradition which began at the Millkeeper's House, former home of the city's museum.

A spice pot boils on the old, wood stove in the kitchen. The fragrance flows through the house. A wreath decorates the dining room table. The parlor Christmas tree is festooned with handmade ornaments and strings of popcorn.

TO ASSIST in the trip through time, a gramophone may be playing a top hit from the past, such as "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Commission members are seeking more cylinders for the instrument bought in Jackson from a man who had played it as a child. Hand-painted irises on the inside of the gramophone's speaker make it a valuable addition to the collection.

A $40,000 state grant was used to purchase the farmhouse last July. The commission spent the last six months restoring the farmhouse, now open to the public, with about $8,000 in federal Community Development funds.

The commission is a non-profit, non-salaried group and depends on grants, donations and contributions from the public to operate. The city provides a "maintenance budget," but that isn't enough to fund paving for a parking lot needed for the museum, commission members say. And federal guidelines prohibit use of the remaining Community Development funds for that purpose.

THE MUSEUM formerly was located in the Millkeepers House adjacent to Nankin Mill on Ann Arbor Trail. The commission's historical collection outgrew the Millkeeper's House, rented by the commission from the county. Nankin Mill housed a county nature center before a deficit budget forced its closing.

Now both buildings are empty. "We're watching those buildings carefully," said Bethel Taylor, a member of the historical commission. "Since they are part located in West-

Legislators honor Flodin in official state resolution

Township Clerk John Flodin has received a special pat on the back from some of the highest officials in state government, including Gov. William Milliken.

On Monday, the dean of the township board received an envelope from Lansing. Inside was a resolution congratulating Flodin for years of public dedication and for last summer's decision by the township board to name a park on Saltz Road after the long-time clerk.

The resolution was signed last July by Milliken, state Sen. William Faust D-Westland, and state Representatives Tom Brown, D-Westland, Robert Law, D-Livonia, and Roy Smith, R-Ypsilanti.

Flodin said he knew nothing about the resolution until Monday. His secretary, Doris Kelley, confessed that a representative from Lansing contacted her last summer to ask for a biography of Flodin. But she said nothing of the phone call to her boss.

"All I can say is I'm pleased," said

Flodin after receiving a copy of the resolution. "I knew nothing about it. I thought it was one of the nicest compliments I've ever got."

THE RESOLUTION bestows numerous adjectives of praise upon the long-time clerk. The special tribute reads:

"Mr. Flodin began working for the township in 1953, serving at one time or another as dog warden, building inspector, volunteer fireman, and finally becoming township clerk in 1956. He has served with diligence, selfless devotion and dedication ever since.

"John Flodin's warm personality has been a joy to those fortunate enough to know him. He is well loved for his 'down-home' sense of humor, his optimism, enthusiasm, his philosophy that there is a compromise for every kind of sticky situation. He is truly a servant of the people, the first to arrive at the office in the morning and the last to leave at night. He never refuses a phone call.

"He often spends evenings and weekends performing volunteer services for senior citizens. Sometimes it is a tax form that needs filling out, or a tree that needs trimming, or maybe a walk that needs clearing. He also delivers Good Fellow baskets to deserving families at Christmas time.

"A devoted husband and father, he is married to his childhood sweetheart, the former Bernice McConalough, and they have a daughter, Mrs. Mary Jo Marsh.

"The warmth, humility, industry and loyalty that John Flodin has demonstrated most certainly makes him deserving of the honor accorded him by the township he serves so well.

"In special tribute, this document is signed and sealed to congratulate John W. Flodin upon having a Canton Township park named for him, and to extend him tribute in recognition of his distinguished public service."

Christmas raise

The Canton Planning Commission has received a raise just in time for Christmas. Under action taken by the board of trustees last Tuesday night, the township's seven planning commissioners will receive $40 for each meeting they attend instead of the $25 they formerly received. Finance director Mike Gorman recommended the pay hike after a salary review was requested by planning commissioners. But according to Treasurer Jim Donahue, some planning commission members believe they should receive no pay for their services. Gorman also recommended a salary review for all township commission members except those on the board of trustees. Trustees now receive $75 per meeting, while members of other township commissions receive $25.

Contract comes through

Canton DPW workers and building inspectors have a new contract with the township after nearly 11 months of negotiations. The new three-year pact, which is retroactive to last April 1, gives workers a 24 percent pay hike over the life of the contract, according to finance director Mike Gorman. About two months ago, negotiating teams of the township and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) reached tentative agreement on a new contract. But Gorman says the township board refused to ratify the pact because of concerns over non-economic issues. Both the union and the township board recently ratified the revised agreement which was presented by the negotiating teams.

Marketing made simple

A passel of smallfry (about 30) from Errickson Elementary School in Canton learned about the skills needed to run a store last Thursday when they visited another group of students. The students in charge were members of the store management class at Plymouth Canton High School. They offered some words of advice to the elementary students, took them on a tour of the store they operate in the high school and even managed to practice some good public relations. One of the highlights of the field trip was a Christmas party with Santa Claus—always a crowd pleaser in the younger set.

A panel of local government officials from southeast Michigan wants Gov. William Milliken to appoint an "environmental master" to direct cleanup of contaminated ground water sites in the seven-county region.

Members of the Areawide Water Quality Board (AWQB), part of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), expressed little confidence during an emergency meeting last week in the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' (DNR) ability to resolve the problem.

The AWQB has no legal power but acts as a state-designated watchdog agency on water quality.

EARLIER THIS month, DNR released a list of more than 260 locations in the state known to have contaminated groundwater.

The list included two landfills in Avon Township and one in Troy that have polluted the groundwater. An additional five landfills in Avon were suspected of polluting the groundwater.

In Wayne County, the polluted list included a Standard Oil gas station in downtown Plymouth, where fuel oil has leaked into the groundwater. A landfill in Canton Township is suspected of contaminating the groundwater.

THE WATER quality board asked Milliken to search nationwide for an individual to direct cleanups of contaminated sites and pursue civil and criminal penalties against violators.

The "environmental master" would play a similar role that federal court-appointed experts did in the pollution case involving the city of Detroit's sewage treatment plant.

"The DNR has maintained an isolated, closed-door process on environmental protection strategy," said James Seeterlin, Waterford Township supervisor and AWQB chairman.

"They don't let us know what is under investigation in our own communities — until they reach a point when they present us with a list that is so staggering it is beyond belief."

The water quality panel also asked Milliken and Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley to meet with local officials in southeast Michigan to discuss funding more environmental enforcement personnel "for rapid prosecution of violators."

That demand was pressed by Washenaw County Drain Commissioner Thomas Blessing, who said there has been "no emphasis on prosecution locally or at the state level."

"Until people understand that they won't be faced with just cleanup cost, but also criminal prosecution, I don't think it (chemical dumping in landfills and elsewhere) will ever be stopped."

BUT MAYOR Richard Cogger, of Lathrup Village, said he'd "be concerned with an overkill on enforcement and prosecution."

"Ohio is concerned with getting as much Michigan business that's willing to fly across the border," he said, noting the neighboring state has more lenient environmental laws.

He called for state and federally funded research to develop ways of disposing toxic chemicals.

Monday's Commentary

Ramblings

By Caroline Price
Canton Observer Editor

The mouth that roared

In our continuing quest to enrich readers' lives, Ramblings offers the following quiz:

- Please circle the correct answer(s).
George Romney is:
(a) Former governor of Michigan
(b) Recently appointed member of the Wayne State University Board of Governors
(c) An active member of the Mormon Church
(d) A jerk
(e) All of the above

We won't ask you to go to all the trouble of turning the page upside down in order to find the correct response. The answer is (e) — All of the above.

Until recently, one might have circled a, b or c and been basically correct.

This month, however, Romney forgot the old saw that "it is better to remain silent and be thought a fool than to speak and remove all doubt."

And when our former governor wishes to remove all doubt, he doesn't do it half-way.

We refer to Romney's defense of his church's excommunication of Equal Rights Amendment supporter Sonia Johnson and his statements that many of those persons who support the ERA are "moral perverts."

A moral pervert, at least according to Romney's somewhat convoluted train of thought, appears to include homosexuals, lesbians, women who do not consider childbearing the only game in town and anyone else who doesn't agree with Romney.

About the only person we can think of offhand who does not qualify as a moral pervert by Romney's definition is Anita Bryant.

There are, however, at least 32 state legislators and a veritable army of people from all walks of life who don't agree with Romney.

In fact, all these angry people are demanding that Romney resign from the WSU Board of Governors.

He has taken a "Hell no, I won't go" stand in relation to the matter.

Why Romney wishes to surround himself with moral perverts has never been explained. As a Wayne State graduate, we know the university is just filled with ERA supporters who teach, study and visit there.

Although we believe the excommunication of feminist Sonia Johnson was a silly gesture on the part of the Mormon Church, we do not intend to argue with church theology or Romney's support of it.

Possibly Romney will not forgive Sonia Johnson for being an uppity woman; we suspect God will.

Perhaps Romney will be hounded out of his seat on the WSU Board of Governors and go on to fame and fortune as a regular on the "Donny and Marie" show. He will, of course, have to get his teeth capped.

Rumor has it, however, that there is a new underground movement forming with the objective of getting the MPERA passed into law both in Michigan and throughout the nation.

Oh, you haven't heard? The MPERA stands for the "Moral Perverts Equal Rights Amendment."

We hear the movement is gaining strength quickly. They're even thinking of putting out a brand of cigarettes to capitalize on the group ("You've come a long way, pervert").

In the meantime, maybe someone will take pity on Romney and put a muzzle under his Christmas tree.

The Stroller

A special walk

By W.W. EDGAR

This is the one night in the year when The Stroller likes nothing better than to lean back in his easy chair, close his eyes, and pay a mental visit to the little white church on the hill back home in the Pennsylvania Dutch country.

Through the mist of years comes the sight again of Rudy Trinkle sitting at the large, old-fashioned pipe organ, the hastily built platform in front of the pulpit and the Sunday School classes eagerly filling the pews for what was considered then as one of the most important nights of the year.

It was doubly important for The Stroller. He was always called upon to recite a Christmas poem as part of the Christmas play and later to step up front to receive a book as a reward for another year of perfect attendance.

PERFECT ATTENDANCE was a tradition in the Stroller's family. How it started no one remembers. But every member of the family, including uncles and aunts, joined in to make it a very competitive practice. In fact, The Stroller's Uncle Pete held the record of more than 60 years without a miss.

The Stroller never got that far. But he did have a record of 20 years when he left home to further his journalistic career in Detroit and later with the Observer-Eccentric Newspapers in the suburbs.

It seems like only yesterday, as The Stroller continues his mental journey, that he walked down the aisle to deliver his recitation and heard his dear old mother say to her pew companion "That's my boy."

The recitation delivered, The Stroller walked back to join his Sunday School class mates to await the big moment — the moment when he would be called on to receive his attendance award.

IN THOSE DAYS he had real competition for what was considered the high honor of having been present every Sunday for the longest stretch of years.

The competition came from Mayme Scott, a girl from the other side of town. As far back as The Stroller can remember, we were deadlocked. And each year as our names were called she would walk up one aisle and The Stroller up the other.

The great night came when each of us had completed 20 years without a miss. The award each year had been a book. But this night we were handed a jewel box. When it was opened, much to the surprise of the young Stroller he found a gold medal. It was an open Bible fully inscribed. To him it was the finest gift he ever had received.

As the memory of that evening comes rolling back The Stroller realizes that the small town church services on Christmas Eve reveal more of the yuletide spirit than is found in the cities where everything is hustle and bustle enroute to some sort of a party.

AS THE MENTAL pictures come back each year, The Stroller sees the happy faces on the members of the class as they present Mary Evans, our teacher, with a gift purchased with the nickels and dimes we had saved. In turn, she always had a gift for each of us.

Then, as the play ended, Santa came down the chimney and out of his big bag he had a box of candy and an orange for each of us.

We always raced home and placed them in our stocking hung on the wall and many times they were the best gifts we had on Christmas Day.

But to The Stroller the fact that he had earned another award for perfect attendance made Christmas all the merrier.

Santa has come down the chimney many times since that night and while The Stroller long since has discontinued his weekly appearance in Sunday school, he often wonders whatever happened to Mayme Scott. And now as he awaits the arrival of Santa, The Stroller would like to be sitting in that little white church on the hill back there in Catasauqua, waiting to be called to receive a book.

If it were possible, it would be a perfect Christmas.

'The latest from Iran' usually isn't in media reports

Like most people who are involved in producing quantities of information, I am addicted to consuming quantities of information.

I found it impossible to do this on a recent vacation to a country where I met only two people who spoke English and no daily newspapers are published in our language.

At night you can listen to the Voice of America or the Armed Forces Radio Network, and you can pick up a good deal of information. I did. Most of it was about Iran.

But radio is ultimately not as satisfying a medium as printed words. No one better understands that words gain no added value when written than a person who writes them. But it still is hard to escape the feeling that words which weigh more are more weighty.

So I was like a junkie with the shakes when I clutch the arm of a stewardess on the plane back home and begged for a copy of Time or Newsweek or something similar. I was half-finished reading the one she gave me before the No Smoking sign went out after take-off. Inside its covers I found a great deal of information about Iran.

When I got home I had a stack of newspapers waiting for me. Inside them I found a great deal of information about Iran.

All of it I found, strangely, unsatisfying.

IT APPEARS to me from these newspapers, radio broadcasts and magazines that virtually nothing in Iran has changed. It took me 10-15,000 written words to find this out, and most of the words were displayed below headlines with letters the size of mandarin oranges.

The country has a big problem over in Iran, and the news media have one no less large. Less significant, of course, but just as big for the few people it concerns.

The problem is basically that the news media are stuck in a kind of journalistic Vietnam over in Iran. It's a no-win situation.

Nothing of any real substance has taken place since the day the hostages themselves were taken. Certainly the freezing of Iranian assets means nothing either to the hostages or to the average American. Khomeini's latest outrageous statements are simply more of the same. They don't fulfill one of the prime criterion of news — that news should be new.

But there's no way for the media to back out. Early in the crisis some of the television networks committed themselves to make nightly broadcasts of Iranian events. Check these shows out and you will, four days out of five, find items that newspapers call "filler stuff." Those tiny stories crammed into the bottom of columns that concern themselves with the life cycles of the duckbilled platypus are filler stuff.

Television broadcasts about what happened one June day in Iran in 1959 are the video equivalent.

Mike Scanlon

One thing the constant drumming of the media seems to have produced, though, is fuel for American rage.

And at this point, rage is perhaps the least productive emotion Americans can feel.

This crisis now seems capable of stretching on for months, maybe years. Patience is to be valued.

And patience is hard to cultivate in the shadow of headlines the size of mandarin oranges.

Jackie Klein writes

Stress will do you in — if you let it happen

You're trying to do too many things at once. The hectic pace during the holiday season is making you uptight.

If you fit the above description, sit down for a minute and read this advice from Elaine Glasser, extension home economist for Oakland County. Ms. Glasser claims there are many easy ways to relieve your tension. If properly managed, she maintains, your business can be fun and exciting. You don't have to be a nervous wreck.

Think of it this way. You have no time to fit a nervous breakdown into your frenzied schedule. Besides, the cost of a psychiatrist and a battery of tranquilizers can quickly gobble up your Christmas budget.

The tasks you have to accomplish won't seem so insurmountable if you make a list each day of everything you have to do, Ms. Glasser advises. Then prioritize each item. If you can, save the day before the festivities to catch up on last minute tasks, she suggests.

If you're like I am, your last minute tasks will be shopping for Christmas presents without a list. You'll forget to pick up something for the mailman, the paper boy, the beauty operator, the manicurist and the babysitter.

This may entail dashing to the bank before it closes so you can get a bundle of new, crisp dollar bills to give to these forgotten people on the list you don't keep. One of the dumbest things I've done is to give my manicurist a jar of hand cream which she buys by the dozens at discount prices.

SOME PEOPLE consume a lot of caffeine in coffee or tea to keep them going when they have a lot to do, Ms. Glasser says. In excess, caffeine can make you feel more stressed than you were before, she warns. It can cause irritability, stomach upsets, insomnia and headaches.

You're better off to soothe yourself by drinking something warm without caffeine such as herbal tea, she suggests. I had something stronger in mind than herbal tea such as Irish coffee or warm Scotch. Have you ever sipped a hot rum toddy?

Listening to soothing music and keeping lights low when you work will also help your body relax, according to Ms. Glasser. That's O.K. if you're alone. But if you happen to be with a member of the opposite sex, you probably wouldn't get much work done.

Tension is often expressed through insomnia, Ms. Glasser contends. She suggests you try to develop a regular sleeping schedule even during irregular holiday activity. Adopt some type of ritual like reading or taking a bath before bedtime, she recommends. Your body will adjust to these cues and you may sleep with less difficulty, she maintains.

I HAVE ANOTHER idea which can not only relax you but save you time. I know somebody who makes it a ritual to read paperback novels in the bathtub. When he finishes a page, he tears it out so he won't lose his place.

Other people develop a regular sleeping schedule before and after breakfast, lunch and dinner. If all else fails, you can try counting reindeers.

Regular exercise during the day may also help you sleep better at night, Ms. Glasser advises. However, strenuous exercise immediately before you go to bed invigorates, rather than relaxes your body.

I for one am not much on athletics. In fact, one of the reasons I haven't quit smoking is because coughing is the only exercise I get. Once I tried doing pushups. My back went out and I was laid up for four months. I took an exercise class and the teacher suggested I have every part of my body recalled.

Ms. Glasser recommends 20 minutes of vigorous exercise like taking a brisk walk or jog on a cold day. It helps you feel relaxed and refreshed, she claims, and it helps burn up those extra calories you gorge yourself on during the holiday season.

WALKING AND jogging sound great for somebody else. On a cold day, I can barely drag myself in and out of the car to and from work. It's tough burning up calories while sitting down at a computer screen munching Christmas cookies. One thing I'm getting for the holiday is a roll — not the kind you eat but the one that forms around your waistline.

Holiday cheer to competitors

Delivering bottles of good cheer on Friday were (above, from left) David P. Hall, Lisa Palmer as Christmas Carole, Anthony Koman of Plymouth, who acted as Santa's valet, and, of course, Santa Claus. Santa rode in comfort on Friday, but then it would have been difficult to guide a sleigh up and down Main Street and down Canton Center and Joy Roads. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

A lot of Christmas cheer was spread last Friday by Santa and Christmas Carole.

The unusual aspect of this particular giving venture was that it involved one business providing holiday gifts to all of their competitors in town.

Santa and Christmas Carole also visited municipal officials of Plymouth and Canton Township, as well as the stops to their friendly competitors.

In all, the pair visited some 20 merchants last Friday to offer gifts and spread holiday cheer.

Santa and Christmas Carole were invited on their extracurricular jaunt by Dick Randazzo, manager of the B.F. Chamberlain Co.'s Plymouth/Northville office.

"In this time of gasoline problems, hostages and inflation, it is important to remember that we are all Americans," explained Randazzo. "We are all neighbors and we are all in this together."

Jerry Posciak, manager of the BF Chamberlain office in Westland, played the lead role of Santa and his cohort Christmas Carol was Lisa Palmer, a Realtor associate for Chamberlain in Plymouth.

"Our idea was to wish all our friends and neighbors Merry Christmas," added Ms. Palmer. "It was fun making people happy."

The first stop was made at 10 a.m. Friday at Garling Real Estate followed by a quick visit to Plymouth City Hall and then Caldwell Rienhart.

Santa then made a quick turn off Main Street.

Santa then continued down Main Street to spread good will at First Federal Savings & Loan, where he was greeted by Casey Stengel, of NBD Mortgage Co. to visit Bob Hickson.

The pair then headed for Ann Arbor Trail for stops at Dibble Real Estate and Bake Realty before returning back to Main Street for stops at McKeon Real Estate, First National Bank of Plymouth, Hitchcock Gallery of Homes, Hudson ERA, Decker Realty World, Earl Keim Realty, Real Estate One, C-21 Hartford West.

Plymouth Township Hall was then visited by Santa, who then stopped at Standard Federal Savings & Loan on Ann Arbor Road before heading south for Canton.

The first Canton stop was at Century 21-Boardwalk on Joy Road, and then a swing down Ford Road for two visits — Century-21 Dividock and Standard Federal.

After visiting Canton Township Hall, the pair was seen headed for One Way Real Estate on Sheldon before ending the day at about 2 p.m. at Century-21 Goldhouse on Ann Arbor Road to convey their holiday wishes to Jim Courtney.

Free travel series to be shown Jan. 3

A free travelogue show is being offered the community by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation.

The free presentation of "Portraits of Australia" by Lee Cavanagh will begin at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 12, in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School.

The program has been especially scheduled for senior citizens. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

CAVANAGH is an alumnus of Syracuse University. He served during World War II in North Africa, Sicily and Italy.

After getting a desire for travel from his military service, Cavanagh visited five major continents and crossed the Atlantic by air and ship some 30 times.

Australia, the world's largest island, is one of Cavanagh's favorite countries. Advanced industrially, the country also is rich in specialized agriculture.

Australians enjoy a high standard of living and a rich diversity of scenery — from the modern cities of Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane to the desert and mountain regions, the beaches and farmlands.

Unusual creatures in Australian wildlife include the koala bear, kangaroo, kookaburra, and the duck-billed platypus.

Among the open air sporting events popular in the country are sailing, such as the famous Melbourne Cup Race, swimming, skiing and surfing. The film will show a football game played by Australian professionals.

The film visit will take viewers to a sheep sheering station near Melbourne. Viewers will see the pageantry of a royal visit by Queen Elizabeth II and the royal family.

Anyone wanting tickets to the regular travelogue series may contact Tim Yoe at 1095 S. Main or Harold Fischer at 1108 S. Main.

The travel adventure series is sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation — a joint function of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth.

New deputy clerk hired

A new deputy clerk has been hired by the city of Plymouth.

City Clerk Paul Brumfeld announced that Patricia Williams will assume the position of deputy clerk effective Jan. 3.

The current deputy clerk, John Beahman, is moving into the city manager's office as an assistant administrator.

Beahman will be filling the spot held by John Zech, former assistant city manager, but will have a different job title and different responsibilities.

Zech is now working for the city of Wayne as federal projects coordinator.

Beahman, who joined the city administration team as senior citizens program coordinator, became deputy city clerk after the retirement of Linnea Sallow, who had been a longtime deputy clerk and secretary to the city manager before that.

Ms. Williams, a resident of Westland, currently is working in Livonia as a legal secretary.

City Manager Henry Graper explained that Beahman will be working as federal projects coordinator and as personnel coordinator.

Beahman also will be involved in helping a planned transfer of the purchasing functions from the finance department to the city manager's office.

Give Canton 64-45 thrashing

Salem cagers celebrate early

By BRAD EMONS

Plymouth Salem gave rival Canton little to celebrate about for the holiday season.

The Rocks ended their 79 basketball season in explosive form with a convincing 64-45 triumph Friday night in the Salem Holiday Classic. Salem is now 5-0 overall after the two victories on successive nights.

Salem, in fact, turned an about face from Thursday night's close 44-43 victory over Livonia Churchill.

Coach Fred Thomann's troops looked like an entirely different unit as they devastated Canton with strong inside play.

"Our defensive play was the key," said Thomann. "It was a total team thing. Tonight we were more patient offensively."

Thomann said the game "was won or lost at the basket" and that's what did in the Chiefs.

The Salem offense resembled a convoy of fast-moving diesel rigs against Canton.

Taking advantage of every opening, Salem's front-liners took the ball to the basket with authority.

Leading the charge was 6-foot-6 senior center Howard Monk, who blitzed Canton for 24 points and 12 rebounds.

Jim Anderson, a 6-2 senior forward, also gave Canton fits as he scored 10 points, grabbed eight rebounds and had four steals.

THE OTHER starter up front, sophomore Scott Bublin, collected eight points as did reserve forward Leigh Langkabel.

"Howard (Monk) had a very good game and Salem had a good night," said Canton coach Craig Bell. "Their defense caused some bad passes and we weren't moving the ball well."

"We never had an opportunity to close it. We were not reading their defense against the low post people."

Salem opened up a 10-point lead at halftime as Monk scored (six of six from the line) and Anderson added four.

"I thought the game was won or lost in the second quarter," said Thomann. "Monk got us going scoring and Anderson was instrumental with our defense. We did a nice job in that quarter."

The two teams traded baskets in the opening quarter, 14-14.

Salem dominated the third period as Monk tallied eight points. His basket with 42 seconds left in the quarter gave the Rocks an insurmountable 52-28 bulge, their biggest of the night.

Reserves on both sides finished out the game in the final quarter.

It was the second straight loss in as many nights for Canton, which lost a heartbreaker Thursday night to Livonia Stevenson, 61-59.

"WE'RE GOING to take next week off," said Bell. "We're going to take a rest and think about what we're going to do. Our priority still is to win the Western Six (League)."

"We had a hard time matching up with Salem. They were a physical team like Stevenson. We just didn't play well tonight."

The Rocks hit 27 of 58 shots for 46 percent compared with Canton's 22 of 60 for 36 percent. Salem held a wide margin in field goals, 27-13.

Sean Houle, who fouled out in the fourth quarter, paced Canton with 10 points. Dave Visser, who scored 21 the first night against Stevenson, was held to eight.

"We worked hard on our one-and-one situations," explained Thomann. "Tonight we weren't driving the ball off the first pass. Instead we were catching it, looking and then making the next pass."

"We had a lot of patience." Salem will swing back into action Friday, Jan. 4 at home against Farmington Harrison. Canton will travel to Waterford Mott the same date for a Western Six League game.

Thrillers highlight Salem Holiday Classic

Chiefs nipped; Rocks win

By DAVE SCHWARTZ

If you like close, hard-fought basketball games that go right down to the wire than the Plymouth Salem Christmas Classic is definitely for you.

Both games were pacemaker breakers on Thursday's opening night. Livonia Stevenson nipped Plymouth Salem in the opener, 59-57. In the nightcap, Plymouth Salem beat Livonia Churchill, 44-43 at the buzzer.

Both games could have easily gone the other way. In the leadoff affair, Canton raced out to an early lead, only to see Stevenson charge back and take the lead — then almost lose it, when Canton missed an opportunity with four seconds left after a Spartan turnover.

The second game was a wild affair, with the underdog Chargers taking the game to Salem for much of the way — only to lose on Howard Monk's follow-up of a missed shot at the buzzer.

CANTON took an early lead, as the Chiefs zone effectively took Stevenson star Dave Hall out of the action. Canton led by as much as nine points in the second quarter before the Spartans heated up. Hall scored the last six points of the first half, and followed a super blocked shot on a Chief lay-up with a slam dunk, to put the Spartans up 29-27 at the half.

In the second half, Chief star Dave Visser heated up, and Stevenson had to scratch its way to the narrow win. Visser scored 15 of his 21 points in the second half, most of them on long range jumpers.

Neither team could pull away at all as the game narrowed down to the fourth quarter. Hall's three-point play with under two minutes left seemingly put the Spartans in command, 58-55. After Canton scored to cut the gap to one, Stevenson went into a four-corner stall. The strategy backfired and the Spartans turned the ball over, to give the Chiefs a chance to win.

Canton went to its hot gun, but Visser's shot bounced out and Hall was fouled on the rebound. The 6-4 center made one of two free-throws to give the Spartans a two-point lead with four seconds left.

Visser's half-court desperation shot at the buzzer missed by a whisker, and the Spartans had broken their one game losing streak.

"We're happy to win," said Spartan coach George Van Wagoner, "especially after losing to Waterford. If it was by a half a point, we would have taken it."

"Our sophomore, Rich Sanders, came in and did a job. So did Kevin Spala. We can't go with the same five all the time. Some teams can — not us. We need other people besides Hall to do it. When we do, we'll improve."

Hall led all scorers with 22 points. Evan Lyall played a strong game with 11 points and Tom Finn had 10. Sanders, a 6-5 post man, played well and had eight points.

Sharp-shooting Visser had 21 points to lead Canton. Brad Westin was also tough, with 19 more. Sean Houle had 12. Scott Adler had several assists for the Chiefs at point guard.

"We had our destiny in our own hands," said Chief coach Craig Bell. "We had the ball, and had our best shooter shooting. If it went in, we'd look like heroes — but it didn't drop."

"We're disappointed that we lost, but we're proud of our effort."

THE SALEM — CHURCHILL game was a rugged and physical affair. It wasn't exactly a work of art, but it was as close and hard-nosed as a game can get. In many ways the game resembled a football game, as 32 fouls were called.

The game see-sawed the whole way. The largest Churchill lead of the game was a 12-8 Charger advantage after the first quarter.

The Chargers repeatedly looked on the brink of collapse a few times, but Fred Price's boys would not quit. The Chargers still led at the half in the low scoring game, 19-16.

In the second half, the Rocks' quickness started to force some Churchill turnovers. Salem took its largest lead late in the third quarter, 31-27.

Again, the Chargers came through and battled back to take the lead, 33-32 after three quarters.

The game continued its tooth-and-nail struggle in the final stanza. Brian Kerstan sank a big hoop with time waning to give the Chargers their final lead, 43-42.

Things didn't look too bright for the home team when Ron Reed rebounded a missed Salem shot with just 17 seconds left and the Chargers up by one. Churchill tried to run the clock out, and Greg Hovermale was fouled with just eight seconds left. But Hovermale missed the first shot of the one-and-one to give Salem its last shot at the victory.

Salem coach Fred Thomann explained his last-second strategy: "We wanted Rob Neu to have the ball. He was supposed to penetrate, shoot if he had the shot, or pass off. He had a good

Canton grapplers up state to 5-3

The Plymouth Canton wrestling team won its second double-dual match of the season over Pontiac Central, 40-20, and Waterford Township, 44-21, Wednesday night in West Bloomfield.

The Chiefs looked impressive in picking up their fourth and fifth wins of the season against three losses.

"We should have beaten Northville twice," said Canton coach Dan Chrenko, whose Chiefs were beaten by the Mustangs in the Northville Invitational and in Western Six league competition.

"With a few breaks we could be 7-1, but we're coming on and I think we're over the barrier."

The Chiefs had numerous double winners in the match. They included Tom Harreld (112), Brett Haarala (119), Tim Racer (132), Dave Vaughn (167), Dave Bennett (138), and John Surlock (105).

Chrenko was very happy and surprised at the great performance of sophomore stand-in Surlock.

"John did a super job," said Chrenko. "Holloway is on vacation and John stepped in and did a great job. You'll hear about him in the future."

Chrenko was also happy with Vaughn and Bennett.

"Vaughn did a good job and Bennett is just so steady."

BENNETT'S RECORD now stands at 9-2 and Vaughn a 6-1 record. The single match winners for the Chiefs included Paul Mooney, (185); Steve Hamblin, (145), and freshman standout Todd Bartlett split his matches at 98 pounds.

"We rolled right over them," said Chrenko. "I'm pleased with the way we came out and stuck it to 'em."

"It's really a matter of getting tough right away. Things are starting to fall into place and we're meeting some of our goals."

"We're ready to start winning."

DILLON AIDS HANOVER

Kathy Dillon, a freshman guard from Plymouth, scored 12 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to help Hanover (Ind.) College to a 51-47 girls' basketball victory recently over Spalding College of Louisville, Ky. Dillon is a graduate of Plymouth Salem.

HOLIDAY BOWLING TOURNEY

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department, in conjunction with the SuperBowl, will host a Holiday Doubles Bowling Tournament Saturday, Dec. 29.

Rolling times for the event are 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Each team must consist of a parent and child (under 18 years). The cost is $5 per team which includes trophies.

A three-game tournament format will be used. A handicap system will also be employed to equalize competition. Trophies will be awarded to the first three finishers in each flight.

Registration forms are available at the Recreation Department, 1150 South Canton Center Road, or at the SuperBowl, 450 Ford Road.

For more information call 397-1000.

HEWLETT SIDELINED

Because of an ankle injury suffered in the Ohio State game, freshman quarterback Rich Hewlett of Michigan is doubtful for the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla. (Dec. 28) against North Carolina.

The former Plymouth Salem All-Stater has been in a cast for four weeks.

angle — I thought his shot was going to fall. But Howard made a super play to get position, and he put it in.

"Anytime that you win by one point, you're happy about it. We're very fortunate."

Churchill coach Price was shattered, as was his team after their second straight last-second defeat. "It was right there," he said quietly. "And they took it away from us. Our kids just played they're hearts out. We played as well as we could have.

"Monk was in the right place at the right time. That's the mark of a good team. There's a thousand things that you could have won it for us — it's going to be a long night."

Monk was the game's high scorer with 19 points, the only Rock in double figures. For Churchill, Kerstan had 12 points, Reed and Hovermale had 10.

The Salem classic will have no overall championship game. Friday's action pitted Churchill against Stevenson in one game, and Canton versus Salem in the other.

W.W. Edgar

There will be no blowing of trumpets or the sounding of horns but this week is the anniversary of organized senior citizen bowling in the western suburbs.

It is one of the finest stories in bowling and came about on Christmas morning in the early '50s when Clarence Hoffman, then the owner of Livonia Lanes and Director of Recreation in Livonia, came up with the idea.

As he watched the bowlers coming with the bowling balls they received as gifts and having a great time, he began wondering if the seniors up at the home they had been given would like to come down and watch the fun.

Quickly, he issued the invitation. It was accepted. And that afternoon the seniors watched. They then tried their luck and before anyone realized it, they formed a house league — then a traveling league and senior citizen bowling became a fixture.

TED BURCH, a regular in Thursday Bonanza Classic, has joined the select ranks of those who have posted 800 series this season.

Bowling at Orchard Lanes last week with the George's Party team, he linked counts of 258, 244 and 299 for 801 that helped his team post a 3426 series.

PERHAPS BOWLING with men spurs them on, but the women are doing a good job of it in the Bonanza Classic. For instance, Penny Behn turned in a 787 on games of 266, 265 and 256 for a new high.

TWO MORE members were admitted to the 700 club at Wonderland during the week.

Bowling in the Classic, Walt Smith rolled a 746 on games of 255, 256 and 225. A few lanes away, Keith Elenich put together a 226, 242 and 244 for 712. Meanwhile, the "Kids" team uncorked games of 1050, 1118 and 1097 for a 3265.

To continue the good scoring, Mary Seib paced the Bowlerettes with a 616 series.

THE LADIES took over the spotlight at Westland Bowl when Sandy Marsh showed the way in the women's classic with a 627. Right behind her came Etta Strong with a 257 in 611 and Judy Griwick landed third with 594. Joan Manke took over the fourth spot with a 580.

MAE LACKEY moved to the winner's circle in the ladies junior house loop at Garden Lanes with a 626. In the men's senior house league, Tony Bartek was tops with a 265 in 670, and Pete Baevik took top honors in the Vinco League with a 638. Following in his wake were John Totalian with 608 and Jeff Bonkowski with 603.

JOHN MARCHELL, a student at Franklin High School, turned in the best performances of the season in the school league when he rolled a 698. He opened with 210, spared in the first frame of the second game and struck out for 290 and finished with 198.

In the other Woodland leagues, Karen Verche, a 132 average bowler, rolled a 533 in the Keglerettes. Jerry Schuman, with a 150 average, rolled a 235 in the junior house loop and Anita Palichio, with a 132 average, fashioned a 194 in 505.

IN OTHER GOOD performances, Linda Uherek paced the Eye Openers at Super Bowl with a 544, Rosewitha Mann posted a 505 and Betty Williams had a high single of 213. Joe Zimmick rolled an all spare game of 186 in the senior citizens loop at Plaza Lanes and Linn Reid, a member of the senior citizens league at Plymouth Bowl, had the honor of rolling at least one 200 game in each of the 12 weeks of the first half of the season.

CARY NESSER survived a pin splattering duel with Larry Gorman to take scoring honors in the Bel-Aire Classic with a 687. He rolled games of 227, 213 and 231, while Gorman had counts of 227, 213 and 235 for a 675. Don Ladd was next in line with a 654. He was in the running until he slumped to 194 in his final game after total's of 216 and 214.

One of the week's features at Bel-Aire was provided by Bonnie Elliott while bowling in the Lincolnshire Ladies league. With a 135 average she had games of 235, 222 and 148 for 605.1 -

Hall lifts Stevenson

By BRAD EMONS

Livonia Stevenson ended its stint in the Plymouth Salem Holiday Basketball Classic by defeating rival Livonia Churchill Friday night, 65-49.

It was the fourth victory in five starts for the Spartans under coach George Van Wagoner. Stevenson, led by Classic MVP Dave Hall, took advantage of Churchill errors to post the victory.

Hall, a 6-foot-5 forward, led all scorers with 21 points. He grabbed 11 rebounds and blocked four shots. Senior guard Tom Finn added 13 points for the winners.

In a well-played first half Stevenson managed to take a 36-29 lead as Hall netted 13 points.

The Spartans managed to gradually pull away from Churchill in the second half although it wasn't easy.

"I thought Churchill made a good performance here," said Van Wagoner. "They took Salem down to the wire (44-43) and did a heck of a job against us."

"They (Churchill) hit early. We were not aggressive with our zone. In the second half our defense got a little more active."

In the third quarter Finn hit three straight shots, all on drives to the basket, to give Stevenson a 46-35 lead. Finn's tip with 4:26 left in the game salted it as the Spartans enjoyed a 54-39 advantage.

"I THOUGHT our kids came ready to play," said Churchill coach Fred Price, whose team slipped to 1-4. "We hustled but didn't execute offensively. They (Stevenson) took advantage of our turnovers."

Falling behind in the second half, Churchill was forced to relinquish its zone defense in favor of a man-to-man.

"Stevenson is a fine club and we don't really match up well man-to-man with them," Price said. "With their size its tough. And a guy like Hall is a game breaker."

Stevenson hurt Churchill with a surprise full-court press near the end of the second quarter. Finn and Hall scored two easy baskets which gave Stevenson a five-point lead.

"We weren't organized against the press and they took advantage of it," said the Churchill coach.

Van Wagoner said he pleased with the overall hustle of his team.

"We didn't have much time to talk about Churchill before the game," he said. "We got the ball inside a little more tonight than we did the previous night against Canton (64-59)."

Van Wagoner elected to add inside muscle when he started 6-4 sophomore Rich Sanders, who helped the cause with eight points.

"We need Rich in there to play against big people," Van Wagoner said. "That allows us to free up Dave (Hall) more."

The first quarter was tight as Stevenson took a 17-14 edge. Hall hit a turnaround jumper with two seconds left in the period to give Stevenson the three-point lead.

Price was not discouraged by the two losses in the Classic.

"Losing a tough game to Salem had some affect on us," said Price. "I thought we hung in there well against Stevenson."

Curling club sweeps its way into new location

By LAURI DAILEY

After finding a new home in West Bloomfield last summer, the Detroit Curling Club threw the first rock on its indoor rink last month.

Curling involves skill and strategy. Using a broom and a 42-pound granite rock, curlers attempt to deliver the stone from one end of the ice rink to the other.

"Now that we have moved, we are playing on a groomed curling rink instead of an ice arena," said club member Frances Gadd.

That is one advantage of the club's recent move. But the members are not pleased with the city's decision to force them from their Detroit location.

"The club was formed in 1885 in Detroit and that made it the oldest athletic club in Detroit," Mrs. Gadd said. "Urban renewal forced us out and I think the city made a mistake."

Curling originated in Scotland more than 300 years ago and was brought to the U.S. in 1831, where the sport began on Orchard Lake.

"I think it is fascinating that curling began on Orchard Lake, moved to the city of Detroit and has returned to the township again," Mrs. Gadd said.

MEMBERSHIP in the club has risen to 300, including men, women and teens. Because of the club's relocation, membership has been down in the past few years, Mrs. Gadd said.

"This year, we have quite a few new members," she said.

More than 50,000 people participate in this winter sport in the U.S., Joe Bono, club manager said.

"Our club has 14 competitive men's teams alone," he said. "And there are people who participate just for fun."

Besides the men's teams, there are opportunities for women to participate and the club now has 60 women curlers. There is a women's night every Monday, in addition to the Tuesday and Thursday morning curling sessions for working women, Mrs. Gadd said.

"Until 1952, women weren't even allowed to curl," she said. "What a change."

Curling season is longer than most winter sports and lasts from early November to late March with the proper facilities.

Years ago, curling was only played outdoors on lakes and in January. To celebrate that past practice, the Greater West Bloomfield Historical Society plans to do just that.

A TENTATIVE date of Jan. 27 has been set for an outdoor curling event on Orchard Lake.

"Curling on natural ice is nothing like it is on groomed ice," Gadd, also a member of the Historical Society, said.

Mrs. Gadd thought that curling on Orchard Lake would be an unusual event for members of the Historical Society.

"The settlers here did their curling on natural ice, so why can't we?" she said.

The proper term for a curling event is a bonspiel. It originated in France and means good play or a good game.

The Men's International Bonspiel will be held at the Detroit Curling Club Jan. 3-5.

"We will also have a grand opening of the club then," Bono said. "All the dignitaries and club members from the area will be at the event."

According to Mrs. Gadd, the club will retain its title of Detroit Curling Club, despite the move to West Bloomfield.

"We want to carry the name because it is such an old club," she said.

Bentley takes hockey clash

Livonia Bentley lambasted Southgate Aquinas 15-3 in high school hockey action Wednesday in Livonia's W.W. Edgar Arena.

Mark Nagy led the shellacking with four goals. Garth Rosenberger, John Bageris, Tom Chilenko and Joe Graczyk each had two goals. Ken Mac, Steve Benson and Glynn Robitaille had one goal apiece.

The non-league victory ups Bentley's season slate to 7-1. After a holiday break, the Bulldogs battle Detroit Country Day School, Jan. 9 in the Bloomfield Arena.

Temple hoopers claim tourney

Redford Temple Christian rolled to another Christmas Tourney win by claiming the Inter-City Tournament with a hard fought 42-37 win over host Inter-City, their first win ever over the Allen Park school.

A 21-3 advantage in the second quarter proved to be the difference for the injury-plagued TC cagers, who lost starters Tim Moore and Kerner Gilliam to sprained ankles during the game. In addition, starter Doug White was suspended for the tourney for disciplinary reasons.

Moore led TC with 17 points before being injured. Dave Martin added 11 more off the bench.

Gilliam had eight points before his injury. Moore also had nine rebounds, to lead TC in that category.

Temple is 6-0 on the year.

CHRISTMAS EVE, motorists are invited to drive through Trailwood and Beacon Hill subdivisions to see the luminarias which will be lighted at 6 p.m. and will burn throughout the night.

More than 200 families will be involved in the neighborhood project which was promoted by the Trailwood Garden Club. The garden club ordered the white paper bags and the 2,500 candles, each of which will burn for 15 hours.

The bags will be placed nine feet apart throughout the subdivisions. With a small cuff turned down at the top to strengthen the bag, and sand or kitty litter in the bottom to support the candle, the luminarias, when lit, glow softly in the night.

Residents have asked that motorists dim their lights when they come to see the luminarias.

THIS IS DIANE and Chuck Rupprecht's turn to host the family Christmas Eve get-together. They live on Fredericksburg in Canton Township.

More than 35 relatives will congregate tonight for a buffet supper and a lot of conversation. Everyone will contribute a dish to pass so planning the menu will not be that a chore for the hosts.

An interesting side-note to the party is the fact that five generations will be there. These will be Diane's grandmother, Loretta Gaffney of Detroit who recently celebrated her 96th birthday; Mrs. Gaffney's daughter, Dorothy Passmore of Detroit; Mrs. Passmore's daughter, Patricia Abt of Inkster; Mrs. Abt's daughter, Donna Kucharchzyk of Inkster; and her daughter Corrie, who is 18 months old.

The Rupprechts' daughter, Andrea, who is 2, also will be allowed to stay up for the family party.

HOCKEY PLAYERS have Christmas parties too.

Members of the Fehlig Real Estate team had their party last Wednesday at Little Caesars on Sheldon and Ann Arbor roads. The 9- and 10-year-olds play in the squirt division of the Plymouth House League. Coach Mike Michalic, sponsor Dave Fehlig, most of the 16 boys on the team and a good many of their parents turned out for the party.

The team plays 24 league games plus some extras. Their home ice is at the Plymouth Cultural Center arena and they also go to Dearborn, Garden City, Wayne and Inkster. The boys are from Plymouth and Canton Township.

THE BOYS in Cub Scout Pack 293 of Bird School were in a Christmas mood at last week's pack meeting. They began what they hope will become an annual tradition, providing a generous box of food for a local needy family.

The cubs brought canned goods, breakfast cereals, packaged meals and even a bag of potatoes. The pack treasury provided a ham to round out the holiday menu.

Cubmaster Tony Sayres said the box will be delivered in time for Christmas.

THE CONCERT at old Orchestra Hall in Detroit Thursday night was billed as a Tapert and Sparling performance. It did have a very local angle (as they say in this business).

Sparling is Tim Sparling, son of Emily and Bob Sparling of Plymouth Township. His partner, Don Tapert, is a young architect from Grosse Pointe who plays exceptional guitar.

When the concert was being planned some time ago, Tim's brother, Peter, happened to be home on a visit. Peter is a teacher, dancer and choreographer in the Martha Graham Dance Company in New York.

Tim asked, "Will you come home and help us out?" He did, flying for the concert and leaving again Friday morning.

Friends, family and fans flocked to the concert and had a wonderful, informal time. Father Robert was prevailed upon to join the group for a "Sunny Side of the Street" number.

Tim plays piano, harmonica, guitar and sax but he concentrated on piano at the old Orchestra Hall concert.

WE HAVE THREE weeks of winners at the Thursday afternoon party bridge games in the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Francis LaCombe and Ann Prevost had high scores Dec. 6. Frances Peters and Louise Kesley won Dec. 13 and Alice Missler and Lydia LaCombe Dec. 20.

The games begin at noon and are open to the public.

Ernestine Reddeman, a cook at Starkweather Elementary School in Plymouth, is interested in seeing that children have food for their minds as well as their bodies.

She didn't forget her 250 children at Starkweather when she went on vacation last June.

That's why the school has an outstanding display of artifacts from the Holy Land in its showcase display this Christmas season.

After Christmas, Mrs. Reddeman will doff her chef's hat for an hour or so and take over the classroom to give the children an on-the-spot account of what it's really like to travel across the Sea of Galilee, to visit the Old City of Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Nazareth and the Mount of Beatitudes where Jesus fed the multitudes with loaves and fishes.

She will tell her story with aid of postcards, slides and her own pictures. Photography is one of her hobbies.

SHE ALSO brought back, with the Starkweather children in mind, tapes describing her journey.

Mrs. Reddeman, who traveled with her cousin, Phila Gust, also of Plymouth, visited Cairo, Egypt, as well. Some items in the showcase come from that country.

The display includes a creche, statues of the madonna and child and the flight into Egypt and several necklaces, all of olivewood.

There is also a tiny piece of paper with hieroglyphics on it, Egyptian costume jewelry and an Arab headdress.

STUDENTS MADE a backdrop for the display, a series of flat-roofed buildings.

When Mrs. Reddeman visits the classrooms to describe her experiences, it will not be her first teaching experience. She has previously given lectures to the children on good manners in the school dining room and on why they should eat certain foods.

Generous Santa pays an early visit

When Santa Claus arrived for the Northville Residential Center Christmas party, a little boy raced over to him, made a huge leap into his arms and hugged Santa and wouldn't let go.

Other developmentally disabled adults and children who live at the center crowded around to exchange hugs and kisses with the celebrity from the North Pole. Later they all received gifts.

For most it was one of life's biggest moments.

Many of these people have been forgotten by the world. But not by radio station WOMC.

The station has for several weeks been broadcasting the "wish lists" of these people in its Christmas-is-for-Kids drive.

THE OUTPOURING from generous listeners produced more than 1,300 gifts to produce the great party that Santa made perfect.

In addition, cash donations worth $35,000 flowed into the radio station and hasn't stopped.

The cash will be used to equip a recreation center for the residents. Plans already begun by the center staff and WOMC call for table tennis, pool, pinball and electronic sports equipment.

Ken Brandt of Coordinated Industries of Livonia offered his company's services to help out on the building of the recreation area. Also prepared to donate efforts are Ruggeri Electric, McRae Heating, Livonia Building Materials, Northwest Acoustical Co. and Guardian Painting and Decorating. Individuals who had donated gifts were invited to the training center's festive bash.

Three hundred of them came and personally handed over their gifts to the retarded adults and children who had made the requests.

ENTERTAINMENT as well as gifts were provided by the station. Some of its staff manned the kitchen to produce a meal of donated food. Several staff kids were also on hand to help out where needed.

The retarded reacted with understandable joy. They hugged and kissed the donors of their gifts.

Elijah saw the rocking chair donated just for him by WOMC disk jockey Mark Avery and did the logical thing. He sat down and rocked.

He wouldn't get out even when it was time to go back to his room, so they carried a smiling Elijah, still in his chair, to the van that took the group back to living quarters.

"Many of them just wouldn't let go of their toys," said Dave Shafer, program director at WOMC.

Still high from the experience, he added: "There was no pity out there, just pure joy."

A sled brought a smile to the face of Joe Clark. He'll be able to use in on the hills in Hines Park and at the Northville Residential Training Center where he lives. Around him lie hundreds of presents donated by WOMC radio listeners.

He Does Better on Tuesday Because of What We Do on Monday

It's really terrific when we hear positive things about our papers; especially when we offer our readers and advertisers something new.

In this case the positive comments come from Roy Callan, owner of Westland Meats, Inc. and the something new he likes a lot is our colorful new food section, "Shopping Cart."

Here's what Roy told us:

"After considerable frustration, great expense, and limited results from advertising in a large Detroit metropolitan paper, we hadn't planned to pursue promotions any further.

"Then, an Observer & Eccentric (advertising) representative contacted us with an approach to local appeal, reduced cost and more effective circulation. As a result of our Monday ads, our Tuesday sales increased 40%; a welcome boost to a traditionally slow retail day.

"Our Thursday ad really excited customers about our weekend homemade sausage specials and competitive prices on our high quality Western beef.

"The last month has shown even more results with the introduction of the Observer & Eccentric's Monday Shopping Cart section.

"This new section that helps to better inform consumers has also helped us at Westland Meats. It puts Westland Meats where the informed shopper can easily find us."

Roy Callan has discovered that we deliver Michigan's prime food market in our Shopping Cart.

We're glad he did.

Season's greetings, however celebrated

Before you have another piece of turkey, and oh-I-shouldn't-but-it-looks-so-good Christmas cake, I would like to show you a very brief verbal slide show of Christmas days that I remember around the world.

I never could keep my horizons straight, so you may have to lean your head sideways to get the full picture.

This first picture was taken in Fort William, Ont., which is now called Thunder Bay. It is at the top western corner of Lake Superior, which explains all that snow. My father shoveled the snow up on either side of the sidewalk like that, and I could never see over the top.

This second slide is in Powell River, British Columbia, which only three other people and I have heard of. It is on the west coast of Canada, where the mountains come down in treed slopes to the sea. That's my father playing golf in his shirt sleeves on Christmas Day. He couldn't do it every year, but he always bragged about it to his friends back in cold country when he could.

IT NEVER OCCURRED to me then that anybody actually bought Christmas trees. Powell River was pulp and paper town, so we just drove up the nearest logging road and cut our own.

Christmas in Stratford-on-Avon, England, was entirely different as you can see by all that rain and green grass in this next scene. It didn't look much like Christmas to me, and I was surprised to learn that my grandparents and all their friends had the biggest celebration of the season on Boxing Day, Dec. 26.

You can tell this slide is taken at Christmas dinner, because we've got turkey and cranberry sauce on the table, but if you look closely you'll see that we're all perspiring heavily. Christmas in Australia is in the middle of summer. Nobody in their right minds would eat that heavy Christmas dinner in the heat of summer. We did.

Christmas trees were almost impossible to find. All of the Christmas entertaining was held before Christmas, because people traditionally set out on their annual summer holidays on the day after Christmas. That turned out to be another good reason for not eating a 20-pound turkey for Christmas dinner. What would you do with the leftovers?

Now this slide may not look much like Christmas. It's an amah, house servant, in Singapore, and she is drying squid in her room. That's what I remember most about Christmas in the tropics: Taking the kids and the amah to see Santa Claus, where the amah barely restrained herself from sitting on his knee, and the smell of drying squid from the back of the apartment.

It never occurred to me when I was a child that Christmas customs were really an expression of cold northern countries. They don't make any sense at all in hot places, but people come as close as possible to celebrating Christmas in a pine tree-and-holly way. Trouble is, holly grows in the winter there as it does here; and winter is mid-June.

As I sit here staring out the window at the snow whiting the woods behind my house, I vow not to complain about the cold and wet that always seems to come with Christmas. It's a pain in the feet, but can you imagine having a summer picnic on Christmas day?

Pilgrimages not just for relics

Stonehenge offers tourists a taste of prehistoric ceremony on the Salisbury Plain, Wiltshire, England.

Story and photos:
IRIS SANDERSON JONES

When John Hodgson arrived in Jerusalem for the first time, he was fresh from the North African campaign and was planning to enter the priesthood. Nowadays, when he visits the Holy Land, he goes as the father of 13 children and the president of the Catholic Travel Office in Washington, D.C.

The Catholic Travel Office will sponsor 73 pilgrimages to various destinations around the world in 1980. Pilgrimages include tours designed for Catholic and other religious denominations, with two special tours designed for the sick and handicapped.

Hodgson was a British soldier fighting in North Africa when he went on leave to Jerusalem during World War II. He was asked to help guide the few people who traveled to the Holy Land during the war.

The regular guides on the street were selling pieces of rock salt as religious relics, so he agreed. "I spent my weekends as a tour guide," Hodgson says. "People are less interested in the dates than they are in what happened at a certain location. I would read texts from the Bible to explain the historical events that occurred there."

Hodgson was at that time planning to join the priesthood. Instead, he married a nurse and raised 13 children. He came to the United States with a British military mission: later joined British Airways and then an international travel company.

Thirty years ago he founded the Catholic Travel Office, and the related Religious Travel Service, both of which are arms of the Hodgson Travel Service Inc., "because you can't start a travel agency under a religious name."

The Catholic Travel Office has sold tours to 56 million Catholics from the United States. The Religious Travel Service was set up to market the same kinds of tours to other religious denominations.

PILGRIMAGES LISTED in the Catholic Travel Office brochure for 1980 start Jan. 26 with a nine-day pilgrimage to Rome and end with the Christmas in Bethlehem Pilgrimage, which celebrates midnight Mass on Christmas day 1980 in Bethlehem.

The schedule includes a round-the-world tour, as well as pilgrimages to various parts of Europe, the Middle East, China, India, the South Pacific South America and Hawaii. It also includes special interest tours to the Oberammergau Passion Play and to carry the sick and handicapped to both Lourdes and the Holy Land.

1980 WILL BE the 25th year that Hodgson has accompanied the sick and handicapped to Lourdes, and the first such handicapped tour he will take to the Holy Land.

These tours include wheelchair patients, paraplegics and a variety of other categories of severely handicapped men and women. A 10-person medical staff accompanies a group of 250 people.

"We carry people in and out of busses and up stairways whenever necessary," Hodgson says. "It will be a little more difficult in Jerusalem because the streets are old and difficult for wheel chairs. We may need to limit the number of wheelchair travelers, but we don't have any limitation on how serious the condition of the handicapped person may be."

What is a pilgrimage tour? Hodgson is eager to assure tourists that it does not mean, "That we spend the whole time on our knees."

A priest travels with each group, primarily to serve Mass daily and to serve other religious needs. "Mass is served but it is certainly not obligatory," Hodgson says.

"We go to religious sites but we also go to other tourist sites. In Egypt of course we go to the place where the holy family is believed to have lived, but we also go to the pyramids and the sphinx and other sites. They are all important."

Hodgson also wholesales his religious tours to travel agents and to churches of all denominations which may wish to take a group tour.

For further information, contact the Catholic Travel Office or the Religious Travel Service at Suite 250, 1019 19th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Going to Olympics is possible

They haven't put up the Sold Out sign for the 1980 Olympic Winter Games yet.

If you want a ticket at this late date, your best bet is to contact one of the official Olympic tour operators who can still get you into just about any event you want.

"We're expecting a huge onslaught of ticket buyers in the next few weeks," said Jeff Riggs, manager of Olympic tickets for the Lake Placid Olympic Organizing Committee (LPOOC). "There are only 50,000 unsold tickets for the glamour events, virtually all of which are committed to Olympic tour operators. When they're gone, that's it."

Riggs said the tickets for the most popular events are available through ticket-tour operators.

The tour operators are offering package and price combinations aimed at every budget and taste. The budget-priced packages, for example, offer daily round-trip bus or rail transportation and two event tickets, usually including both an indoor and an outdoor event, for as little as $75.

The price scale escalates up to deluxe tour packages that may include round-trip transportation by bus, rail or air, two event tickets, accommodations, meals and assorted other tour amenities, depending on the tour operator.

The "top-of-the-line" tour package could cost $275.

"All of the tour operator programs," Riggs said, "have been structured to assure a pleasant, uncomplicated Olympic visit more enjoyable for you because all prior arrangements for your comfort have been made."

"The important thing," he said, "is that we want as many people as possible to experience the Olympics. Most tickets may no longer be available through the LPOOC Admissions Office, but the tour operators do have tickets and those people who act now are going to have the opportunity to be a part of the games."

THE EVENTS FOR which the tour operators can still provide tickets include figure skating, ski jumping, speed skating, men's alpine skiing events, the two-man and four-man bobsled competition, the round-robin hockey competition, the playoffs and final game in ice hockey and the closing ceremony. Tickets for other events are available through the LPOOC Admissions Office, but, according to Riggs, "of the tickets being made available there than through tour operators, over 75 percent have been sold."

Because of the expected ticket-buying rush, the LPOOC Admissions Office has established an information "hotline" to provide names of tour operators serving various regions across the United States and Canada, with information related to the kinds of charter packages each is offering.

The hotline telephone number is 1-518-653-4261. Your travel agent may also be of assistance.

O&E is Caribbean cruising

"Oh, there's no place like home for the holidays..." so the song goes. But the holidays and accompanying merriment last only a short time in Michigan, and what remains until spring are hellish days of grime and grays.

Providing escape from what doleful deeds winter will woefully wreak eventually, the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers has produced four travel packages to spirit its readers away to sunnier climes.

With more and more people flying the friendly skies, more and more newspapers are arranging this travel option for their readership. According to George Hagan, O&E advertising and promotion director, "this (service) provides people with a convenient and efficient way to plan a vacation. They can choose from several packages and basically be guaranteed a hassle-free time." Also guaranteed, he said, are the air fares.

TO BE TAKEN advantage of are four trips winging south of Florida's shores to the Caribbean. One non-stop DC-8 from Detroit will fly to San Juan, Puerto Rico. There, sojourners, depending on the package, can either stay or catch connecting flights to St. Croix or St. Thomas, or board one of two ships to cruise a six- or seven-island itinerary. The trip, in all cases, lasts eight days and seven nights.

Round-trip package fares range from $589-

$1,199. Round-trip air fares only range in price from $299-$329. The packages include discounts for parking at Metropolitan Airport, round-trip fares and connecting flights between chosen destinations, confirmed accommodations, and round-trip airport transfers and baggage handling.

Prices are based on double occupancy.

THE TRIP DEPARTS from Metropolitan Airport Saturday, March 22, for San Juan and returns to Detroit Saturday, March 29. A $100 deposit is required ($150 for the island cruising) and final payments are due Jan. 22.

Information and reservation inquiries should be made to the Observer & Eccentric travel desk at 591-2300, ext. 244.

LOUISE SNIDER

Super-patriotic motor pool mechanic Sgt. Tree (Dan Aykroyd) becomes commander of an M3 tank crew in Steven Spielberg's comedy spectacular "1941."

15-minute joke stretched out in spoof '1941'

Opening with an episode that spoofs his own big-grossing film "Jaws," Steven Spielberg's latest epic "1941" (PG) is a large-scale, largely disjointed comedy which ekes out its laughs in the first 15 minutes but doggedly carries on for another two hours.

The basic idea of the film shows promise. A lost Japanese submarine with an inept crew strays into Southern California waters a week after Pearl Harbor, setting off a wild chain of events.

Spielberg exhumes the old rumors and fears of a Japanese attack against the West Coast and inflates them to mass hysteria and paranoia, so that a screwball sighting escalates into an air raid on Los Angeles. What begins as a thin but workable comic springboard ends up crushed under the weight of spectacle.

The director doesn't miss a trick when it comes to special effects; a lighted ferris wheel rolling down a pier is one of several eye-catching sights. But if he has an aptitude for comedy, it doesn't show.

A FEW SCENES exhibit a quirky slapstick humor, but relies for laughs on easy targets — fat women, dumb army officers and a general population of boobs. In addition, there is a special category of scenes which rely for laughs solely on the appearance of John Belushi.

For some unfathomable reason, there are people who are triggered into bursts of laughter at the sight of Belushi, or better yet (worse yet), at the sight of Belushi doing something gross. Certainly, if you count yourself among these fans, "1941" is for you.

Also, if you just like to recall jitterbug contests, zoot suits and Walt Disney's "Dumbo," "1941" will do it for you. However, it is not a nostalgic film. If anything, it satirizes the era.

In one episode, a tank commander (in Los Angeles) gives an inspirational speech to a crowd of brawling soldiers, sailors and marines. It's a "let's all pull together and fight the enemy, not ourselves" type of speech.

There is nothing hilarious about it. But Spielberg intends it as a funny poke at patriotic oratory. The joke not only falls flat but lands with a clunk. December 1979 is the wrong moment in American history to make fun of patriotism.

WHEN SPIELBERG directed "Jaws," his subject and timing were perfect. The same is true for "Close Encounters of the Third Kind" when he took advantage of the "Star Wars" phenomenon. But with "1941," his timing failed him completely.

When everyone from room mothers to the President of the United States is exhorting Americans to show unity of purpose and spirit, Spielberg's deflation of national pride goes over like steak tartare at a vegetarian banquet.

Restaurants expecting merry holiday business

This year's holidays look bright for most Michigan restaurateurs, who predict business will be at least as good as last year, according to a recent survey conducted by the Michigan Restaurant Association (MRA) of its 1,800 restaurant members.

Of those members responding, 54 percent predicted their business would improve an average of 9 percent during Christmas and New Year's. Twenty-one percent estimated their business would stay the same, while 25 percent said they expected business to be down an average of 14 percent.

"Most of our members are optimistic, and we think that's a good sign for business in general," said MRA President Henry Montague. "This news means it's even more advisable than ever to make your holiday reservations well in advance."

Santa Claus will visit several restaurants before Christmas, but only a few restaurants will actually be open on Christmas Day, with restaurants in the state's hotels leading the list.

The Detroit Truck Stop in Woodhaven will offer turkey, ham and pork chop dinners to holiday travelers.

want" is the motto at Rip's in Pontiac, where food and entertainment are on tap New Year's Eve. A banjo singalong is in store at Pappy's Pizza Parlour in Lansing.

Chiropractic Can Head Off Your Next Headache

What's the most common complaint that people bring to our Chiropractic Life Center?
 More than half of the people who visit our office complain about headaches.
 It has been estimated that there are over 200 different causes of headaches. Head pain can be a dull throb, a severe ache, a sharp, constant pounding or any variation in between. They may be classified as mechanical, functional, toxic and reflex. These are the most common types and they are caused by one common factor: nerve pressure.
 When tension builds up in the neck muscles it causes tremendous pressure on the nerves. And that pressure is responsible for the headache.
 Based upon scientific studies, every organ, gland, muscle and tissue of the body must be supplied with its quota of vital nerve energy. This energy, which originates in the brain, passes through the spinal column and branches out to every organ in the body. If these delicate nerves are subject to pressure, a distressing condition develops.
 The Doctor of Chiropractic will correct this nerve interference and release the pent-up pressure that causes tension and headaches. Upon locating the misaligned segments of the spine your chiropractor will make an adjustment to restore the misaligned vertebra and remove the pressure on the delicate nerve trunks. When this pressure is relieved, the vital nerve energy will flow unchecked and tension that builds in the muscles is relaxed. All glands, muscles and body parts will begin working together. Headaches are very rare in the human body under these conditions. If you're plagued with headaches, let your chiropractor help. He'll relieve the pressure, relax the tension, relieve the pain, and restore your good health.

Season's Greetings

A Holiday Message To You
 With the Holidays just around the corner, my family and I would like to thank you all for allowing us to serve you during the year gone by.
 Thanksgiving and Christmas are family times, times that reunite us all and rekindle our trust and faith in ourselves.
 Chiropractic is the fastest growing healing science there is in the world today, and the coming Holiday Season is a time for reflection and meditation, a time to reaffirm our faith that there is only one power that heals.
 There are two things upon this changing earth that can neither change nor end; the splendor of Christ's birth, and the love of man for mankind.
 Wishing you a blessed Christmas and happiness throughout the New Year.

Just An Afterthought...

A slip on a snowy sidewalk is a small thing. It happens to millions.
A fall from a ladder is a small thing. It happens to millions.
The slip or fall produces a subluxation. The subluxation is a small thing.
The subluxation produces pressure on a nerve. That pressure is a small thing.
That pressure cuts off the flow of mental impulses. That decreased flowing is a small thing.
That decreased flowing produces a diseased body and brain. That is a big thing to that person.

Multiply that sick person by a thousand and you control the physical and mental welfare of a city.

Multiply that man by a million and you shape the physical and mental destiny of a state.

Multiply that man by one hundred million and you forecast the physical and mental status of a nation.

So that slip or fall, the subluxation, pressure, flow of mental impulses, and dis-ease are big enough to control the thoughts and actions of a nation.

Good Food for Good Cheer

'Tis the season for holiday entertaining. There are many directions party plans can take, but no matter if the festivities are large or small, formal or casual, good friends plus good food always add up to a good time for all.

When the occasion calls for a traditional dinner, make it an elegant affair with a crown roast of pork.

Be it a gathering of special people or a family feast, all heads will turn toward the magnificent roast as it comes to the table beautifully browned and brimming with golden stuffing.

The crown is fashioned by the butcher by tying together two center pork loins which have been frenched by cutting away the meat to expose the tips of the rib bones. If desired, a halo of frills can be placed on the rib ends to accentuate the crown effect.

Pork's flavor is deliciously complemented by Stuffing a la Waldorf.

Inspired by the famous Waldorf salad, it features apples chopped and combined with celery and pecans in a light, fluffy dressing. The bits of apple contribute a natural flavor boost while herb seasoned stuffing mix makes preparation easy.

GAINING popularity on the holiday party scene are informal get-togethers that revolve around the hors d'oeuvre table.

While guests appreciate the relaxed mood and the tasty tidbits, the hostess appreciates the ease with which he or she can entertain a crowd. The key to keeping guests coming back for more is an assortment of attractively displayed appetizers which contrast in appearance, texture and flavor.

Fancy Franks on Rye

2 packages (5 ounces each) miniature frankfurters
1/2 cup pimiento cheese spread

16 slices Party Rye or Pumpernickel slices, cut in half crosswise

With a sharp knife, cut frankfurters almost through into 16 to 18 sections. Spread 1/2 teaspoon of cheese spread on each half slice of bread. Put 1 frankfurter on each half slice of bread, curving it slightly. Place on rack in broiler pan, 4 inches from heat, and broil 10 to 12 minutes. Yield: 32 appetizers.

Sauerbraten Apple Sausage Balls

3 Golden Delicious apples
1-1/2 pounds fresh pork sausage
1/2 cup herb seasoned stuffing mix
1/3 cup chopped onion
1 egg

1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 cup apple juice
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1/4 cup crushed gingersnaps

Core and grate enough apple to make 1 cup. Add sausage, stuffing mix, onion, egg, dry mustard, salt and pepper, mixing lightly to combine. Chill 30 minutes. Shape into 48 small balls; brown on all sides in large frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Combine apple juice, vinegar, sugar and gingersnaps; pour over meatballs. Bring to boil, stirring occasionally; reduce heat, cover tightly and simmer 10 minutes. Core remaining apples and cut into chunks; add to meatballs and continue cooking 3 to 5 minutes, until apples are just tender. Transfer to chafing dish and keep warm. Yield: 48 meatballs.

Pork Apple Kabobs

2 pork blade steaks, cut 3/4 inch thick (approximately 2 pounds)
1/3 cup apple juice
1/3 cup catsup
2 tablespoons soy sauce

1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons catsup
1 small green pepper, cut into 24 pieces
1 large Red Delicious apple

Partially freeze steaks to firm; remove bones, cut into strips 1/8 to 1/4 inch thick and place in plastic bag or deep bowl. Combine apple juice, 1/3 cup catsup, soy sauce and garlic; pour marinade over pork strips, turning to coat. Tie bag securely or cover bowl; marinate in refrigerator 4 to 6 hours (or overnight). Remove steak strips from marinade, reserving marinade, and thread (weaving back and forth) on thin wooden skewers. Combine 2 tablespoons catsup with 3 tablespoons of reserved marinade. Thread 1 piece of green pepper on tip of each skewer. Place kabobs on rack in broiler pan, 3 to 4 inches from heat. Broil 15 to 16 minutes, turning and brushing with marinade occasionally. Cut apple into 24 pieces; dip in lemon juice. Place 1 piece of apple on each kabob before serving. Yield: 24 kabobs.

The Warming Oven by Emily Watson

It's a little late for making Christmas cookies but not too late for Christmas presents. So the following recipes are my gift to you.

They have been family favorites for many, many years. May you enjoy them in good health for many years to come.

ALMOND SHORTBREAD

3/4 cup fruit sugar (Fine granulated. When this recipe came out, white sugar was much coarser than it is now.)

1 lb. butter
4 cups flour
1/2 lb. unblanched almonds (skins on)

Grind almonds in food chopper. Cream sugar and butter. Work in flour and ground almonds — you almost have to do this with your hands. Form into long rolls; wrap in waxed paper or foil and chill in refrigerator.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Slice cookies off rolls about 1/4-inch thickness and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake for 10 to 12 minutes but watch closely as the butter browns quickly.

PEANUT BUTTER BALLS

3/4 cup peanut butter (smooth)
2 tsp. soft butter
2 cups icing sugar

10-12 candied cherries, chopped
8 squares semi-sweet chocolate
3 tsp. melted paraffin
finely chopped nuts

Mix together peanut butter and butter, sugar and cherries. This may be crumbly but when rolled into small balls it will mold easily in the hands. Melt paraffin with chocolate. Dip peanut butter balls into melted chocolate. Roll in finely chopped nuts. Refrigerate to set.

DATE-NUT BALLS

1 1/2 cups dates (pitted)
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
2 eggs
Salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup sugar
Rice Krispies

Combine all ingredients except Rice Krispies in top of double boiler and mix well. Cook until mushy, stirring now and then. Cool to lukewarm and add two cups of krispies or a little more. Form into small balls — it's a good idea to put some margarine on your hands to do this. Roll in plain or colored coconut. The kids will love these and they are nutritious.

Pork Crown Roast with Stuffing a la Waldorf

14 to 16-rib pork crown roast* (approximately 6 pounds)
1 large Golden Delicious apple, coarsely chopped
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 package (8 ounces) herb seasoned stuffing mix
1/4 cup chopped pecans
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 cup water

Place crown roast, rib ends down, on rack in open roasting pan. Do not add water and do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) for 2 hours. Remove from oven. Turn roast so that rib ends are up. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part of roast, making certain that it does not rest in fat or on bone. Meanwhile, cook apple, celery and onion in butter 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in herb seasoned stuffing mix, pecans and grated orange peel; add water and toss lightly to combine. Fill cavity of crown roast with stuffing and continue roasting until meat thermometer registers 165°F. Cover roast with foil tent and allow to "set" at room temperature for 15 to 20 minutes. (Temperature usually rises to 170°F. during this period.) Carve between ribs. Yield: 6 cups of stuffing.

*Pork Crown Roast should be ordered from your retailer in advance.

The Happy Cooker

by Elayne Susan Stulberg

A glamorous new eatery—and-responses to readers

The yuletide spirit prevails in many of Michigan's finest restaurants. The holiday season takes on a special excitement in eateries enhanced by evergreens, wreaths and tinsel.

It is a time for beauty and glitter and one of the most beautiful spots to partake of these festivities is the recently opened Sydney's restaurant in Troy.

Sydney's is housed in the old Bonaventure restaurant on Big Beaver Road, but you are in for a big surprise if you expect to find even a vague resemblance to the previous residents decor, menu, service or prices.

This glamorous new eatery in salmon-orange, brown and beige is among the most handsome restaurants to be found in suburbia.

Delighted by the public's initial response to his new venture, Sydney Harris immediately responds to all accolades by saying he has had an enormous amount of help from an enthusiastic, innovative staff, marvelous restaurateurs and people involved in food-related professions. In fact, Harold Machus of the Machus restaurants was directly responsible for Sydney's location.

However, don't be fooled into thinking Sydney Harris is a novice in the restaurant business. While his background has been in theatrical production management, he has also been involved in many restaurant investments with a Chicago group. He owned part of the Ambassador East Hotel Restaurant, Fireside Inn Banquet facility in Illinois and was an investor in the Ramada Inns.

Retiring from the theatrical business six years ago, he and wife Karen decided to return to their native Michigan. They purchased a farm in Hillsdale and settled down to the idyllic life of gentleman farmers. Their needs and priorities changed however when daughter Jennifer came along three years ago. Although they loved Hillsdale and the people, they required a little wider scope for their daughter to grow up in. They elected to return to the Detroit area. As Sydney said, "What could be a better place to live in than the Troy/Birmingham/Bloomfield area? The people are special."

No doubt about it — their new restaurant is special. Using a limited menu with 16 entrees, Sydney Harris followed a plan which is being successfully utilized by only four other eateries in the country.

The restaurants he has used as guides are Christ Cella's in New York City, Peter Luger's in Brooklyn, Mancey's in Toledo and Morton's in Chicago — which, like Sydney's, is a clone of the other restaurants.

While the restaurant is a combination Steak and Seafood house, with five days notice Sydney's will prepare any entree or procure any wine from anywhere in the world.

Entrees are accompanied by Armenian bread (lavosh), fresh onion bread, tossed salad and three different potato selections. Several fine appetizers and a couple of soups are also available.

WE GET LETTERS:
"Kindly explain what 24 individual small clam shells or small ramekins means," writes Mrs. G.M. Franch of Farmington Hills.

I am certain your question is in connection with the shells used for the crab meat coquille recipe which appeared in my Dec. 3 column. They are cherrystone clam shells. Cherrystones are served at all seafood houses and can be found on the menu of many fine restaurants. The shells are discarded after customers have devoured the clams and restaurants are happy to give them to diners upon request. In fact, they will gladly give you a bag of them. Once you get them home clean inside each by removing the muscle with a sharp knife. Wash them in your dishwasher and they are ready to use. Best of all, you have them for years — and the price is right! As far as ramekins are concerned, they are small, ovenproof containers. For seafood recipes I prefer using the type that resemble a clam shell. They can be purchased in the kitchen wares department of most stores or specialty shops such as kitchen Glamour and Wells Cargo.

Ms. Kristine Brannen of Westland writes, "Can you give me names and places to get local cookbooks from restaurants, gourmet cooks, etc?" Ms. Brannen adds, "I sent for the one you just published, 'Cuisine International.'"

Unfortunately your letter didn't reach my desk until Dec. 13. Although cookbooks are a great holiday gift, many stores are in short supply so close to Christmas. However, I am familiar with three excellent volumes which I think you will like. "A Treasury Of Great Recipes" by Mary and Vincent Price ($20) is an invitation to dine, wine, and break bread with the famous actor-cook and his wife. They give exact recipes from many of the world's most famous restaurants. "Meet, Eat and Enjoy Detroit" by Mary Conway and Harry Satchwell ($7.95) was recently reviewed in this column. It is a thorough reference book for restaurant and food lovers. Included is a cornucopia of recipes from Detroit Gourmets, respected restaurateurs, Chefs and Media celebrities. "Someone's in the Kitchen with Dianah," by Dinah Shore ($6.95) includes many of her favorite recipes as well as those of her "Show Biz" friends. The books can be purchased at B. Dalton Stores, (Northland Branch), Southfield. Thank you for mentioning that you purchased my book "Cuisine International," however, I did not write that book! The title of my cookbook is "The Happy Cooker."

Troy's Mrs. Jo Giroux requests a repeat of Charley's Chowder which appeared in an October column. This chowder is the creation of Executive Corporate Chef Larry Paggiara of the C.A. Muer Corporation who presides over all of the firm's restaurant kitchens.

CHARLEY'S CLAM CHOWDER
2 ounces of olive oil (by volume) 3 medium size cloves of garlic (smashed)
2 ounces onions, chopped fine (by weight)
3 ounces celery, chopped fine (by weight)
A titch each of oregano, basil and thyme
6 ounces stewed tomatoes, chopped very fine (by volume)
¾ gallon water (by volume)
1 pound boneless fish (pollack or turbot) (by weight) 2 ounces clam base (by weight)
1 ounce parsley, chopped fine (by weight)
Salt to taste

Method of Preparation:

Place olive oil in large pot, heat on stove until very hot. Drop into the hot oil the smashed garlic cloves. Note: Cook the cloves of garlic until golden in color. Important that you do not burn the garlic as this will ruin the taste. Remove the cloves from the oil. While oil is hot add the onions and cook for a minute or two. Add the oregano, basil and thyme and cook for minute. Add the celery and cook until translucent in color. Add the finely chopped tomatoes and cook for about 20-25 minutes, stirring to prevent sticking. Add water, fish clam base and cook for an additional 15 minutes, uncovered, at full heat.

(Reason: To remove moisture and concentrated fish bacteria and the extract oils for flavoring the chowder.)

Add salt, cover the pot and keep cooking for another 20 minutes at low heat. Stir often by whipping to break up the fish and blend the flavor. When serving add the chopped parsley. Note: If Clam base is not available, substitute ¾ gallon clam juice for the specified quantity of water and do not use water at all. Recipe serves 6.

"I need help," writes Dianna Graves of Birmingham. "I have the main dish this year for our progressive dinner group. We have decided on an Early American Christmas (1800s) which will be held a bit after the holiday."

Colonial Americans were not blessed with the tender cuts of beef we have today. Everything required long, slow cooking to make tough cuts palatable. Our ancestors cooked pot roasts, spiced beef, stews and many recipes which, today, would not be considered festive enough for a Christmas entree. Wild fowl were easy to obtain with the best loved bird being the wild turkey. My suggestion for your dinner group's entree is rock cornish game hens. They became a prized delicacy when the United States began importing them from England during the 1800s. Today's little birds have a more delicate taste, better texture and are moister than those of early Americana. With a wild rice or rich bread stuffing and the accompaniments others will be bringing (delected from your letter), the little hens should prove to both economical as well as gastronomical.

ROCK CORNISH GAME HENS
¾ cup uncooked wild rice (when cooked, approximately 3-¾ cups)
4 cups water
½ tsp. salt
½ pound butter or margarine
1 onion chopped
4 ounce can mushrooms, sliced and drained of liquid
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. thyme
½ tsp. sage
1 tsp. parsley flakes
4 1-pound Rock Cornish hens
4 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. paprika
1 cup water

Rinse rice in several changes of cold water. Place rice in large saucepan with water and salt and bring to boil. Reduce heat to simmer and cook 45-60 minutes or until rice is soft. If any water remains when cooking is completed, drain in fine sieve to thoroughly eliminate liquid. Place rice back in saucepan and add ¼ pound butter, stirring to melt. Cover pan and set aside. Melt remaining butter in frying pan and saute onions until transparent. Add mushrooms, salt, pepper, thyme, sage and parsley flakes. Saute over low heat, uncovered, for 3 minutes. Add to wild rice and stir to blend. Re-cover saucepan and reserve. Remove giblets from hen and reserve for another use (e.g., making stocks and soups). Rinse birds, inside and out, with cool water and pat dry. Place in roasting pan, breast side up. Spoon equal amounts of rice into cavity of hens. It is not necessary to skewer or tie. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with seasonings. Roast, uncovered, for 1 hour in preheated 350-degree oven. Add water to pan and continue roasting, basting occasionally, for another ½ hour or until tender.

To serve, cut each hen in half with sharp poultry shears, cutting down middle from top part of breast to cavity. While hen is sitting opened, neatly cut through back part. You now have equal halves and each should have equal amounts of wild rice dressing. Serve halves with some of the natural gravy from pan drizzled over hens. Put remaining gravy in decorative container and pass around.
Serves 8 individual portions.

Byrd's Kitchen

by Vivian Byrd

And 'something under the tree'

I am part of a large family: the usual Mom and Dad, four daughters (I am the oldest), two sons, five spouses and six beautiful grandchildren.

A few years ago, when about half this brood had married, a "major holidays plan" was worked out. Odd years meant we would all spend Thanksgiving together, Christmas with respective in-laws. Even years would reverse. Thanksgiving with the in-laws and all of us back together in South Carolina for Christmas.

And even though the two sons live nearby, during Christmas week mother's house bulges with children and grandchildren, plus all the paraphernalia necessary to traveling with young children.

The temperature is usually in the high 60s there, luring the kids out to explore around the farm, leaving the grown-ups free to indulge in long "catching up" conversations with siblings they only see once or twice a year.

Sometime during the week, the kids on one or two uncles into a fireworks buying expedition to South of the Border, the famous fireworks store. It is an easy 40-minute drive away and fireworks are part of our Christmas tradition. A favorite part for the kids.

As soon as it gets dark on Christmas Eve, the same uncles supervise the fireworks display. Everyone else is called outside to watch, ooh, aah and compliment the kids on their choice purchases.

Chris, the oldest grandchild, nearly always wakes up first on the big day. He makes a brief inspection tour of the living room, then wakes his cohorts, Jon and Mike.

Their excited discoveries wake parents who did all that shopping to participate in this moment. Sleepy-eyed adults drift into the living room, tying bathrobes and brushing back tousled hair. Someone lights a fire in the fireplace while mothers of the youngest grandchildren get their little ones out of bed to "come see what Santa brought."

Each of them approaches Santa's bounty differently. Brad looks at each toy briefly then moves to the next. Matthew establishes a territory, sits among his toys and quietly and thoroughly inspects each, demanding explanations from his parents on how each operates. Four-year-old Brian has booming conversations on each item with everybody.

My father takes charge of passing out presents. It is his favorite part of the holiday and he makes it last as long as possible. Each brightly-wrapped gift is examined, shaken and its possible contents discussed. He is a champ at fanning anticipation.

After opening, the present must be held up to be admired before the next one is passed out. His rule is that each person have one present before anyone gets a second.

My sister-in-law loves trains and someone usually puts a small one under the tree for her.

When my brother was about 4 years old, he desperately wanted a dump truck from Santa, but neglected to mention that fact to anyone. He was up at 3 a.m. that year and, disappointed, cried all day. Every two or three years since we were teenagers, someone has given him a dump truck.

Mother invariably, dutifully, says "You shouldn't have spent so much money," but she is pleased and flattered that we did. She would probably be hurt if we didn't, a chance none of us wants to take.

The family has grown so in the last few years that mother has turned to writing checks for everyone. However, opening a check envelope does not fulfill her image of opening a present so she chooses small items for everyone "so they will have something under the tree." Mothers are like that.

Our family's best present this year is due Jan. 10, the date our baby sister expects her first child. So far, all the grandchildren are boys; we would really like a girl this time.

Smoked Sausage Roll-Ups

- 1 sheet frozen "Bake It Fresh" puff pastry or 1 package (12 ounces) puff pastry
- 2 packages (5 ounces each) miniature smoked sausage links

Defrost puff pastry 20 minutes, then unfold. Preheat oven to 450°F. Cut pastry sheet into 3 equal strips; cut each strip crosswise into ten 1-inch wide strips. Roll each strip of pastry around a piece of sausage. Place roll-ups on rack in broiler pan, seam side down, in center of oven. Close oven door. Immediately reduce temperature to 400°F and bake 15 to 16 minutes or until pastry is golden brown. Yield: 30 smoked sausage roll-ups. *Cut each sausage link into 4 pieces.

Mini Ham Quiches

- 1 sheet frozen "Bake It Fresh" puff pastry
- 3/4 cup ground cooked smoked ham
- 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon dry sherry

Defrost puff pastry 20 minutes, then unfold. Cut dough with a sharp knife into two-inch squares. Press a piece of dough into each cup of a mini muffin pan, forming a ridge at the top. Combine ham, cheese and chives, tossing lightly to mix. Place 2 teaspoons ham mixture in each pastry-lined cup. Combine egg, milk and dry sherry; slowly pour over ham mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375°F) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool slightly; remove from pan. Yield: about 24 miniature quiches.

Three-Cheese Spread in Apple Cup

- 8 ounces cream cheese, softened
- 4 ounces blue cheese, softened
- 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
- 3 tablespoons dry sherry
- Dash garlic powder
- 2 slices bacon, cooked crisp and crumbled
- 3 or 4 Red Delicious apples
- Lemon juice
- Goldfish Thins and Snack Sticks

With electric mixer, beat cheeses, sherry and garlic powder until smooth. Stir in bacon. Remove core from 1 apple, being careful not to cut through blossom end. Cut slice from top and hollow out, leaving a 1/4-inch shell. Scallop top edge. Brush cut surfaces of apple with lemon juice. Fill with portion of cheese mixture; refill as needed. Core remaining apples. Cut in wedges and dip in lemon juice. Serve apple wedges, goldfish crackers and Snack Sticks with cheese spread. Yield: 1-2/3 cups.

Anise fruit cake has 'magic' ingredients

Anise seed, the fragrant licorice-flavored spice from the parsley family has been used for many purposes throughout the ages.

It's been used as an aromatic liqueur, a digestion aid, a breath sweetener and, when tucked under a pillow, as a protection against nightmares.

The Anise Fruitcake contains many "magic" ingredients often associated with Christmas, as well as anise seed, a traditional flavoring used in holiday cakes and breads throughout northern and eastern Europe.

We can thank the Chinese for the idea of using anise with poultry.

Incidentally, since resumption of trade with China, we've been hearing of star anise. This is an attractive and flavorful spice in its own right, and does have an anise-like flavor, but it is not related to anise seed.

9x5x3-inch pans. Line bottom of each pan with waxed paper. In a small saucepan heat honey until boiling; cool. Stir in oil. Preheat oven to 325 degrees.

In a large bowl combine eggs and sugar; beat well. Stir in honey and oil mixture. In a medium bowl combine flour, anise seed, baking powder, baking soda and salt; stir into liquid mixture. Add fruits, walnuts and chocolate; mix thoroughly.

Spoon into prepared pans. Bake until top springs back when lightly touched, about 1 hour 15 minutes for the large loaf and 1 hour for the smaller loaf. Cool in pans on wire racks for 15 minutes. Remove from pans and cool completely. Garnish with glazed fruits and nuts coated with corn syrup, if desired. Wrap well with clear plastic wrap. Holds up to one month.

ANISE FRUITCAKE

- 2 cups honey
- ¼ cup salad oil
- 4 eggs
- ¾ cup sugar
- 3½ cups flour (unsifted)
- 1 tsp. anise seed
- 1½ tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- Pinch salt
- 1½ cups diced mixed candied fruits
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels

Grease and flour one 9x5x3-inch pan and two 5½x3½-inch pans or two

ANISE CHICKEN

- 2 tbsp. salad oil
- 3 lbs. chicken parts
- 1 cup chicken broth or bouillon
- 2 tbsp. onion flakes
- 2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. anise seed, crushed
- ¼ tsp. ground black pepper
- 1 lemon, cut in wedges

In a large skillet heat oil until hot. Add chicken, brown on all sides. Add chicken broth, onion, salt, anise seed and black pepper; spoon over chicken. Simmer, covered until chicken is cooked through, about 35-45 minutes. Serve with lemon wedges.

DILLY LIVER SAUSAGE DIP

- 1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese
 - 3 tbsp. mayonnaise
 - 2 tbsp. milk
 - 1 tsp. horseradish mustard
 - 1 tsp. dill pickle liquid
 - ½ lb. liver sausage

Surprise carolers with this dessert

Surprise Christmas carolers this year with a special dessert combining brownies with the tart flavor of cherry pie filling.

CHERRY-CHOCO DESSERT

- ¼ cup all-purpose flour
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 tbsp. margarine or butter
- ½ cup sliced almonds
- 1 can (21 oz.) cherry pie filling
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 pkg. fudge brownie mix

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Mix flour, sugar and margarine with fork in small bowl until crumbly. Stir in almonds, reserve.

Mix pie filling and lemon juice in ungreased jelly roll pan, 15½x10½x1 inches; spread evenly. Prepare brownie mix as directed on package. Drop dough by teaspoonful onto pie filling and fried in garlic butter. These can be used as croutons for soups and salads.

4. After the holidays, use up leftover hard candies by adding to applesauce. Heat thoroughly. The candy gives the applesauce a spicy flavor.

5. Buy bananas when they are cheap. The ones that are over-ripe, mash, freeze in portions for banana breads or cookies and cakes.

6. When a recipe calls for softened butter, but you forgot to take it out of the refrigerator, measure the correct amount and shred as you would a carrot. The small pieces will be soft.

7. Before Christmas, freeze cooked squash in a casserole. Make cranberry relish, pie or pie crusts, etc., ahead of time. Utilize your freezer.

8. To get Brazil nuts out of the shell unbroken, freeze them until the shells crack.

9. Shelling walnuts — soak overnight in salt water before cracking gently to get the walnut meats out whole.

10. Cranberries grind very neatly when frozen.

11. Perk up soggy lettuce by adding lemon juice to a bowl of cold water. Soak the lettuce for an hour in the refrigerator.

12. For a quick salad, freeze a can of unopened fruit cocktail. Open both ends, push out the frozen fruit and slice. Top with mayonnaise or fruit salad dressing and serve on lettuce.

Sausage dips add spice to entertaining

One of the most popular forms of entertaining during the holiday season is the open house.

Capturing everyone's attention at an open house is the hors d'oeuvre table, usually laden with an inviting display of delectable tidbits ready for sampling.

By offering a trio of tasty sausage dips, you have guests coming back again and again, trying to decide which is their favorite.

All three of the following dips are delicious with crackers and crisp vegetables. They offer an interesting contrast of textures and colors and flavors. A feature that makes them especially suitable for entertaining is that they can all be made in advance and chilled until serving time.

SALAMI-COTTAGE CHEESE DIP

- 8 oz. salami, finely chopped
- ½ cup cottage cheese, sieved or mashed
- ½ cup dairy sour cream
- ½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tsp. prepared horseradish
- 1 tsp. finely chopped green pepper
- 1 tsp. chopped pimento

Combine cottage cheese, sour cream, Worcestershire sauce and horseradish. Add green pepper, pimento and salami. Mix well. Chill.

SAUSAGE-GAUCAMOLE DIP

- 8 oz. summer sausage, finely chopped
- 1 medium size ripe avocado
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice
- ¼ tsp. dry mustard
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 2 drops hot sauce, if desired
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 1 medium tomato, peeled and chopped

Cut avocado in half, lengthwise, remove seed and pare. Mash avocado with lemon juice. Add mustard, Worcestershire sauce and hot sauce. Mix well. Fold in finely chopped summer sausage, onion and tomato. Place avocado seed in center of mixture. Chill. Remove seed before serving.

BEAUVILLE 1974,

Testing of prototypes makes sure they can stop

Trying to stop two tons of steel moving 55 miles an hour may sound like a job for Superman.

But millions of people do it effortlessly every day when they apply brakes in their automobile.

This performance and reliability didn't just happen. It reflects detailed refinement of brake systems resulting from millions of hours of development and testing programs that almost never stop.

"Chrysler Corp. engineers are conducting brake tests in some part of North America almost every day of the year," said Gayle Smith, manager of brake engineering.

The tests are conducted over routes in typical big city traffic in Detroit, New York City, Los Angeles and Phoenix. Or they're conducted in such colorful-sounding places Pike's Peak in Colorado; the Peter Pot area in the Smoky Mountains; WaWa, Ontario; the Jerome grade in Arizona; and at a former airfield in Florida.

"ALL THIS is in addition to component testing in our engineering laboratories and at our Chelsea Proving Grounds. Test cycles may be as brief as one hour or up to several months. Around-the-clock testing in some areas is a regular part of the program," Smith said.

The heavy test schedule isn't because brakes are radically different, Smith said, but because systems must be tailored model to model, and there is no substitute for on-road experience.

The goal of the engineers is to see that all cars perform to acceptable standards.

Brakes must perform under extreme weather and temperature conditions, in response to a variety of demands by all kinds of drivers, in a variety of situations.

Engineers evaluate characteristics such as pedal effort, durability, noise levels, wear of linings, fade and stopping distances.

The test route near the Chrysler Proving Grounds mixes suburban driving and back roads.

On the Detroit city cycle, prototype vehicles may be equipped with future model brake systems.

LA'S CLIMATE and traffic brings about severe temperatures and frequency of brake use for evaluation of new brakes and linings and brings out noise and rapid hot wear. New York offers its own special big city challenge.

Phoenix offers a metropolitan environment with high temperatures and different temperatures at high altitude evaluations that can't be reproduced at the company's proving grounds.

A trip down Pike's Peak puts its own special burden on brakes. The Peter Pot area in the Tennessee Smokies is regarded as a good country run of moderate severity, which often ends with a run to nearby metropolitan areas such as New York or Washington, D.C.

Brake tests are worked into the extreme cold weather testing in WaWa, Canada, and northern Ontario, because of the likelihood of sub-zero temperatures that might influence brake characteristics. The abundant snow there also helps engineers design against the possibility of snow packing into systems beneath the car.

"DRIVERS DON'T need to make a panic stop more than a few times in the life of their car," Smith said. The person who does is probably 'over-driving'.

Brake engineers are always searching for the system that gives the best controlled stop for all drivers. Testing includes near destruction to assure integrity of the system.

"As reliable as brakes have become, they can't overcome certain laws of nature," Smith said.

"When the weather turns bad with rain, snow or ice, the person behind the wheel should drive defensively, allow a proper interval between cars and be trained to recognize the limitations and method of braking on ice and snow."

Thieves unwelcome

Oldsmobile's 1980 theft deterrent system goes beyond scaring the would-be thief away, it disables the starter. When activated, the alarm causes the headlights and tail lamps to flash, the horn to sound and the starter to disengage.
