Builders see better year, relations in Canton

By TIM RICHARD

For years, house builders have castigated Canton Township as the prime example of consumerism and regulation run amok.

The tough stance toward builders had come in response to complaints from many homeowners during Canton's period of booming growth of the 1970s.

But that may be changing, according to the consensus of the Builders Association of Southeast Michigan. "We've met with the new supervisor," said developer Fred Greenspan, speaking of James Poole, who was elected supervisor Nov. 4.

"His views were encouraging, refreshing," said Greenspan, a new vice-president of BASM. He and other BASM board members Tuesday hosted newspeople to pass on their assessment of the housing industry during the next decade at an annual economic outlook luncheon in Southfield.

WHILE CANTON'S housing growth will continue in the '80s, builders left it off the list of top spots.

Hot spots will be the Oakland County communities of Novi, Farmington Hills and Avon Township and the Wayne County communities of Northville Township and Plymouth Township, they agreed.

After a modest 1981 recovery, house builders are looking forward to "pent up demand" being unleashed during the rest of the decade.

"We're looking for an improvement of 50 percent over 1980," said Dave Pink, 1981 president of the builders association. That would mean 15,000 housing starts this year in Southeast Michigan compared to 10,000 last year.

BASM board members freely used the word "depression" to describe the current market, in which 80 percent of construction tradesmen are out of work and housing starts are down the same amount. Signs of the depression are visible throughout Canton, where many model homes stand alone in empty, platted subdivisions.

Canton building officials reported only 50 housing starts for 1980, compared to 1,577 in 1978, when Canton ranked first in the seven-county region for housing starts. In 1974-77 Canton generally ranked second or third in housing starts.

The downturn came in late 1979, when the Federal Reserve Board began

Officials resurrect farmland millage issue

By DARLENE STINSON

Work that could lead to another millage request for farmland preservation has been assigned to a committee of farmers, residents and officials.

At a special meeting Monday night, the Township Board charged the farmland-preservation committee with the formulation of an economic plan for the public purchase of development rights.

The committee's charge also includes the development of a voter-education program and a general outline of a plan to administer the proposed development-rights buy.

The work will lead to another ballot request for a development-rights tax, unless non-local funding can be found. Members of the Township Board, however, hold little hope for alternative financing in the wake of an unsuccessful two-year quest for state, federal or private foundation dollars.

The majority of the Township Board has said that a millage election should be held within the year.

The farmland-preservation committee will operate under a March 31 deadline for submitting cost estimates of various development-rights plans, a rough outline of voter-education and administrative proposals and any funding requests to continue its work.

The group, which organized last summer's farm market, will submit a progress report to the Township Board by March 3.

Active members of the committee include Trustee Loren Bennett, chairperson; planning commissioner Dianne Neihengen; resident Gary Sands; and farmers Jack Suddendorf and Stan Gill.

THE COMMITTEE attended Monday's meeting along with all seven members of the Township Board and several members of the planning commission.

The informal session was requested by Trustee Robert Padget, who has been involved with the farmland-preservation program for the last several years.

Padget supports farmland preservation. But like several other members of the Township Board, he also believes that the fate of the five-year-old proposal must be decided soon.

"Our obligation is to move forward or prove that it can't be done," Padget said.

Much of the land west of Canton Center already has been zoned for permanent agricultural use. But funding for a development- rights program — estimated at $16 million in 1978 — still has not been found.

Voters defeated a four-mill request ($4 per $1,000 assessed property valuation) for development rights by a 53 to 47 percent margin in November 1978. At the time, many political observers believed the tax request was excessive.

Under a development-rights program, landowners would receive the difference between the fair market value of farmland and the potential price paid by developers.

Padget has suggested a small tax request, such as a half mill, to launch the program off the ground. The final decision on a millage amount will be made by the Township Board.

A RESOLUTION passed by the previous Township Board in January 1979 requires another election on a development-rights tax by May 30, 1981.

But the present board — in office now for only six weeks — has indicated an unwillingness to hold an election by May. Preparing a ballot question and developing a voter-education campaign probably will take longer than five months, officials say.

The board may rescind the resolution, which was adopted as an addendum to the master land-use plan.

Township Board members would like to place the millage issue on the ballot of a regularly scheduled election. According to Clerk John Flodin, a special election would cost Canton $8,000 to $10,000.

But no regular elections — except those of Canton's three school districts — are scheduled until August 1982. Flodin said the millage issue cannot be placed on the schools' June ballot because each of the three school districts extend beyond the township's boundaries.

The taxation issue could be placed on the ballot of an upcoming election for a new Wayne County charter. Bart Berg, who serves on the charter commission,

Farm committee may get help from Greenstein

Robert Greenstein, who takes much of the credit for Canton's farmland preservation plan, says he'll "be happy to offer (his) expertise" to the township's farmland preservation committee.

The committee was charged Monday night with preparatory work for a second ballot request on a development rights millage.

Greenstein served as farmland preservation director during his 1978-80 term as trustee. As director, he served as a liaison between the committee and the Township Board.

After losing a bid for the supervisor's position in the August primary, Greenstein verbally submitted his resignation from the director post on the grounds that the position should be held by a Township Board member.

THAT RESIGNATION was not accepted by the Township Board until Monday night. Board members informally invited Greenstein, who did not attend the special meeting, to stay on as a member of the farmland preservation committee.

"I think that was very nice of them," Greenstein said Tuesday. "If I can be of help, I certainly don't mind."

Work on farmland preservation began during Greenstein's term as supervisor from 1974 to 1976. A master plan, which designated much of western Canton for agricultural use, was adopted during his administration.

"Farmland preservation was my idea solely. I thought of it, and I started it up," said Greenstein, who now practices law in Canton.

"There was a time when a strong individual had to say that this has to be done. But I think that time has passed. Farmland preservation's time has come all over the country. There's now a need for a majority to be interested."

AS FARMLAND preservation director, Greenstein held authority to investigate possible funding methods for a development rights program and represent Canton Township.

He testified before the Agricultural Committee of the U.S. House of Representatives on a farmland preservation bill, which subsequently was defeated. He spoke with several state officials about Canton's program and unsuccessfully lobbied for grants from private foundations.

Greenstein said he assisted the farmland preservation committee, but never interfered with its work.

Township Board members have indicated that another farmland preservation director will not be appointed. Officials said Monday that the farmland preservation committee should report directly to the board.

Dumping part of haul

Thieves 'shop around' for best deal

Talk about comparative thievery.

According to Canton police, one or more persons broke into a house on Sheldon Road near Michigan Avenue on Monday, hauling away appliances and furnishings.

But those items were left behind at another Sheldon Road house, where the pickings apparently were better.

"(They) took other items — more valuable pieces — at the second house," explained Lt. Larry Stewart. "(They) left the goods from the first house at the second."

REPORTS indicate a list of items taken from the first location included a black-and-white television, a wall clock, stereo equipment, pictures, coins and a backgammon set.

Most of those articles were left in the garage and laundry room at the second Sheldon Road house, about a half-mile away, said Stewart.

Taken from the second house were a microwave oven, two TV sets (black-and-white and color), camera, radio, rings, watches and long guns. Loss is estimated at about $3,000, said Stewart.

ALSO TAKEN from both houses were vases, wall hangings and tapestries and dried flower arrangements, and "it was apparent they were trying to outfit an apartment or dwelling," added Stewart.

In both cases, the thieves gained entry by first going into unlocked, attached garages. Then, they either broke a window or went through an attic opening.

Police also are investigating two other break-ins which were reported Monday.

Taken from a house on Haggerty near Warren Road were a snow blower, television sets, watches, stereo equipment and clothing.

Entry had been gained through a broken window, said Stewart. He estimated the loss at about $1,300.

Coins and silver spoons valued at $350 were taken from an unlocked house on Ford Road near Beck.

Police have made no arrests in the cases.

Appointing method angers trustees

By ARLENE FUNKE

Despite objections from some trustees, the Township Board has approved Supervisor James Poole's choices for seats on the planning commission and zoning board of appeals (ZBA).

The board appointed advertising salesman Robert Shefferly and farmer Richard Palmer to three-year terms on the planning commission.

Neither is a newcomer to commission posts.

Shefferly, an incumbent on the planning commission, also was appointed to a three-year ZBA term. Palmer now serves on the Economic Development Corporation and the tax review board, and is a former planning commissioner.

The planning commission reviews site plans, in accordance with the zoning ordinance. The ZBA has the power to grant zoning variances.

BUT trustees Carol Bodenmiller and Stephen Larson objected to Poole's failure to include the board in the screening of applicants.

Mrs. Bodenmiller voted no on the planning commission and ZBA appointments. Larson also voted no on the ZBA post.

"I'm very alarmed," said Mrs. Bodenmiller. "I know for a fact that some terrific resumes came in. Our board received none of them.

"By law, we're to make that (appointment) decision," added Mrs. Bodenmiller. "The power of the board is being eroded."

Larson said he was concerned about a "harmonious balance on the ZBA in terms of philosophy.

"The board is trying to appoint people who reflect the views (of the board)," added Larson. "We really should dig into these people.

"You owe it to the citizens," he continued. "A free and open debate is what it's all about. If somebody's feelings get hurt, that's too bad."

POOLE said he received about 20 applications for seats on the planning commission.

"In some cases, I didn't ask for a resume," said Poole. "Other people — I wasn't satisfied that they fulfilled my expectations.

"Most of (the applicants) live in subdivisions north of Cherry Hill," said Poole. "I have no intention of recommending anybody in a subdivision who doesn't represent farmers, senior citizens or mobile home occupants."

One vacancy still remains on the seven-member planning commission.

THE DETROIT AUTO SHOW
COBO HALL JANUARY 10-18

Detroit's Ever Exciting Auto Show starts this Saturday, January 10 at Cobo Hall.

Charter group hopes to name executive director

The Wayne County Charter Commission may hire an executive director at its 6 p.m. Thursday meeting in the Veterans Memorial Building, downtown Detroit.

A screening committee of nine charter commissioners has scheduled interviews with 12 candidates for Monday and Tuesday nights. The panel is expected to make a recommendation by Thursday, according to Darneau Stewart, D-Detroit, a committee co-chairman.

"It depends on how we get together on a candidate," said Stewart, "but I think we will."

THE INTERVIEWS will be closed to the public, said George Ward, charter commission president and ex-officio (non-voting) member of the screening committee.

Ward, a Detroit lawyer, said subcommittees, such as the screening panel, are "not bound" by the state's Open Meetings Act. The nine-member committee represents one-third of the 27-member charter commission.

Stewart said the committee received 24 applications for executive director. The full-time job will carry a minimum salary of about $30,000, he said, although a final salary hasn't been determined.

The charter group's chief administrator will oversee a research and clerical staff of up to 10 persons. The executive director will recommend staff hiring to the charter commission.

Ward said the person selected will likely have a background in "public administration, law or some related field." Ward was executive director of the city of Detroit's charter commission in 1973.

As of last week, the county group had no staff and no telephone number of its own. This newspaper's call to the clerk's office was referred to the elections division, which referred it to the board of commissioners, which referred it to the clerk's office.

THE JOB could last as long as two years if voters reject the charter group's first proposal for county government reform.

The commission has six months to present a charter proposal to the governor and attorney general for review and approval. The proposal could go to the voters next November.

Thursday's meeting will be in Room 820 of the Veterans Memorial Building, adjacent to Cobo Hall on Jefferson Ave.

The charter commission's regular 10 a.m. Tuesday meeting has been cancelled for this week.

The group plans to meet regularly on Tuesdays and at 6 p.m. Thursdays. Some Thursday meetings will be held in cities throughout the county. The Tuesday meetings, and the charter commission offices, will be in the Veterans Memorial Building.

Mail in payments, gas company asks

Citing Michigan's depressed economy, Consumers Power Co. has closed 26 customer contact offices and discontinued its bill payment service at local banks.

"We just cannot afford to keep these offices open," said Stephen H. Howell, the utility's executive vice president. "It's unfortunate, but true."

Low rates, reduced sales and higher interest charges have seriously affected the company's income and earnings, Howell said.

The Jackson-based utility serves 27,000 square miles. It sells natural gas in Oakland County and communities in Wayne County and both gas and electricity elsewhere.

THE BIRMINGHAM customer office at 189 Merrill will be the only office to close in Oakland. Offices in Pontiac and Royal Oak will be kept open.

There are no customer offices in Wayne County.

"The offices we are closing have declined in use for several years and a relatively small percentage of our customers will be affected," Howell said.

As of Dec. 31, Consumers Power also discontinued bill-paying arrangements with more than 80 percent of small business establishments which offer the service to its customers.

Most payment locations are at banks, savings and loan offices, drugstores and other small business establishments, Consumers officials said.

THE UTILITY will keep the bill-payment service at locations where customer use is highest, said Tom Rugh of Consumers Power in Pontiac.

"We've arranged it so that no customer is more than five miles from a payment station," Rugh said.

"We pay 10 cents per bill collected at bill payment locations," said he said. "We've spent $800,000 per year on this operation alone. We hope to save a portion of that cost."

The company suggested customers mail in their payments whenever possible.

"Faced with lower earnings but blessed with technology . . . the closings of these offices make good economic sense," officials said.

Folks are starry-eyed over movie roles

By TERI BANAS

You can bet that many Plymouth residents tuned into Channel 2 Tuesday night were giggling and beaming as they strained for a look at their neighbors and friends.

The scene was repeated in many local living rooms during the airing of "Word of Honor," a made-for-televison movie that was filmed, in part, in Plymouth last September.

Not only was Plymouth, Mich., broadcast as the scene for the film about a journalist who faces personal obstacles in protecting a newspaper source, but local faces were also important.

And the excitement of national exposure was evident.

The movie opened in Kellogg Park where a movie version of the annual Plymouth Fall Festival was progressing.

There the camera's eye picked up Carl Battishill, director of the Plymouth Community Band, as well as Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford, who was appeared on the screen for at least six seconds.

"I had no idea I was going to have that kind of exposure," said the police chief after his debut, "not that I don't deserve it."

Ford, who whose family was "thrilled" about the scene, almost missed it.

"I WAS IN the john and then I heard all this noise in the living room and 'Oh, you're going to miss it.' "

By the time Dee Peterson, a Plymouth resident and employee of American Airlines, appeared on her home television set, her telephone began ringing non-stop.

Ms. Peterson, 36, wearing a blue-jean outfit and red turtleneck sweater, was seen buying a hot dog at a concession stand in the park.

"I haven't been able to watch the whole movie because I've been sitting here on the phone most of the time," she said. "One of my neighbors said I looked like a ham but when you've worked for the airlines for 15 years, well, you learn how to smile all the time."

Those viewing the movie also may have picked up the name of April Richeson, a 16-year-old Plymouth Salem High student who lives in Plymouth Township. She played the role of a contestant in a beauty pagent filmed in Kellogg Park. She was seen walking across the bandshell stage.

"Oh, we've just been having a lot of fun, recognizing people. It's the most exciting thing that's happened to me."

It was April's first shot at a professional acting role, and she says her small part has already paid off. Dan Crane, the actor who played the suspected murderer in the film, wrote her a recommendation that she's used in a new resume. The resume helped her secure a modeling job with a national department store chain. Her first day on the job was Wednesday.

THE MOVIE, originally planned for location in Birmingham, was filmed in Plymouth after the City Council there rejected a request made by former Lion Alex Karras and his wife Susan Clark.

Manhole mess prompts call for help

Township officials are asking residents of the Holiday Park subdivision to keep their eyes open for persons shoving debris into manholes.

Last week, township employees pulled several tree branches, some plastic buckets and other debris from a clogged storm drainage system near the subdivision. The area is south of Joy Road near Haggerty.

That work came after three Holiday Park residents complained that water from the sanitary sewer had backed up into their basements.

"WE RENTED seven pumps (and) pumped out 40 manholes," said Jake Dingeldey, head of the Department of Public Works (DPW).

"We will be asking the county permission to cut trees from the right of way south of Joy east of Orhan," he added. "It has to be cleared to make it more visible."

Dingeldey believes youth are stuffing the debris into manholes as a "practical joke," which becomes a "serious problem affecting many people."

The DPW director points out that the sanitary sewer in that area serves the Holiday Park sub and nearby Honey Tree apartment complex. A clogged system "has the potential of backing up 600 residences (basements)," said Dingeldey.

There is no specific ordinance against damaging the sewer system, said Dingelday. Any charges probably would come under destruction of property laws.

But Dingelday is mostly interested in nipping the problem.

"We have asked people to cooperate," he said. "We know it's going to happen in the future. People have to assist us."

Persons with information who want to make complaints or give information should call Township Hall 397-1000.

Local transportation line rides on success

By C.J. RISAK

After 13 years of operation, SEMTA (Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority) leaders still have several battles to fight in an effort to improve public transportation. But there have been a few accomplishments.

SEMTA's Silver Streak commuter train, which operates Monday through Friday from Pontiac to Detroit, has been quite successful.

And so has the Nankin Transit Commission (NTC).

The NTC is a small-bus (12-15 passenger capacity per bus) system that provides residents of Westland, Garden City, Inkster, Wayne and Canton Township with door-to-door service. In 3½ years, 250,000 passengers in a 75 square-mile area have utilized the system.

Most of those are senior citizens and handicapped persons. They are priority passengers for the NTC, people the system was designed to assist.

But the NTC isn't limited to those groups. In the mornings and after 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, the small buses shuttle working people from SEMTA Park and Ride sites.

The Park and Ride program, another SEMTA project, allows people to park their cars at a central location and ride a bus downtown. NTC small buses transport passengers to two Park and Ride bus routes — along Ford Road and Michigan Avenue.

ON WEEKENDS, the NTC is open from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. for the public with no no priority service. Reservations must be made a day in advance to receive small-bus service during the week, but on weekends same-day service is available. Bus fees range from 60 cents to $1.20.

Despite the success of the NTC in SEMTA eyes, SEMTA officials and Glenn Shaw, director of the NTC, haven't always seen eye-to-eye.

"There were improvements we wanted to make, like getting more buses," Shaw said. "But they said we couldn't have them until other small-bus systems caught up to us.

"That didn't make much sense to me. It seemed like they were punishing us for being successful."

Still, the NTC continued to grow — from an average of 1,000 passengers per month in its first year to 12,000 currently. The system employs 14 full-time and nine part-time drivers for 15 buses. Eight are equipped with lifts for handicapped persons.

Also working for the NTC are one full-time and one part-time dispatcher, a dispatch supervisor, a light mechanic and a foreman.

There have been problems, Shaw said. "The main problem is getting through on the telephone system," he said.

"Between 8 and 11 a.m., we would get 400 to 500 calls to reserve rides for the next day. There would be an awful lot of people kept on hold.

"We've revised the dispatch system to improve on that."

Breakdowns frequently have been a problem, with repair crews having to do makeshift repairs until replacement parts are received. Shaw said that NTC got eight new buses, each of which had brake problems at reaching 8,000 miles. Those buses have now been repaired, he added.

More buses are needed to expand the program. Until then, Plymouth and Plymouth Township, which have expressed an interest in joining the system, will have to wait.

"We're constantly working on our productivity, to help keep the cost per ride down. Our next step will probably be serving the general public without advance calling," Shaw said.

He said that that won't pose major problems for the system, as weekend ridership of the system averages 100 persons a day.

Budget woes to cut services at area mental health agency

By LYNN ORR

State budget cuts will devastate the services of a suburban mental health clinic catering to indigent patients in crisis.

That's the opinion of Dr. Thomas Herzberg, director of the Suburban West Community Center, the main mental health center in northwestern Wayne County providing service for the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board.

About 70 percent of the center's patients have been hospitalized for mental health problems, and an even greater percentage of the caseload consists of patients who are indigents and/or without insurance to pay for counseling.

If the expected 12 percent cut goes through at a hearing later this month, Herzberg predicts the center will have to cut back at least 200 persons in its 600-person caseload and restrict service to formerly hospitalized patients.

Suburban West is a non-profit center formed in 1978 when it was one of three aftercare clinics affiliated with the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

In keeping with the new mental health code adopted then, the center split from the state hospital system and contracted directly with the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Services Board.

Although the state budget cuts are difficult for everyone, Suburban West will be particularly hard hit by a proposed 12 percent cut because of its recent forced move to the suburbs, Herzberg said.

IN NOVEMBER, the center was moved from Greenfield and Grand River in Detroit to its present location at 11677 Beech Daly, just north of Plymouth in Redford Township. The move was prompted to better serve the center's patients from Redford, Livonia, Plymouth, Canton Township, Northville and parts of Detroit.

Meeting barrier-free standards was another motive for the move, and was dictated by the Detroit-Wayne County Board, which distributes state and federal funds for mental health in the area.

The clinic's rent jumped from $13,000 including "just about everything" to $62,000 annually "excluding just about everything," according to Herzberg.

"Everyone's getting hit hard with this budget cut, but it's especially bad for us," Herzberg said.

"Our current continuation budget is $492,000, which would result in an approximate $59,000 reduction for fiscal year 1980-81. Our situation is considerably worse than this figure might suggest because we are projecting an approximate $160,000 shortfall before the 12 percent cut was announced.

"The projected shortfall is a function of our agency having moved on Nov. 1 to a new location within our catchment area to be more accessible to the majority of our clients.

"To continue providing service at our current level, we are now projecting a need of approximately $670,000 for fiscal year 1980-81."

IF THE PROJECTED budget goes into effect Jan. 15, Herzberg predicts that the center will have to lay off eight of its 18 full-time staff members and three contractual service workers. The cuts will mean dropping about one-third of its caseload, he said.

"We're already turning people away precisely at the time when our service is growing because of the economy," he added.

He's hoping to garner some political pressure for a Jan. 29 hearing by the Detroit-Wayne County Board. But he fears that the board may decide to consolidate more services to prevent cuts.

If the cut goes through as is, he and his staff members are hoping to get some help from the communities they serve.

"I'm hoping there will be clubs, organizations and individuals within the area that we serve that will volunteer their help for fund-raising or contributions," he said.

To volunteer, call Marge Levine at 981-2665 or 937-9500.

If nothing else, Herzberg is looking for some help to get past the immediate financial drain necessitated by squeezing the cut into nine months, rather than over the year.

Because the state Legislature failed to adopt a budget before the fiscal year, a continuation budget of $492,000 was adopted in October. Funds for the first three months have already been spent, which means the 12 percent cut will have to be spread over nine rather than 12 months, he added.

Bcard began tightening the money supply and buyer resistance set in.

Canton's building department has been largely supported by building permits and inspection fees. Chief building official Aaron Machnik said revenues average $500 per home — about 1 percent of construction costs.

DESPITE HIGH unemployment, builders looked at the other side of the coin.

"Some 80 or 85 percent are employed. They have the money and the need for a larger house for the family," said Jeff Spoon, of J.D. Spoon Development Corp.

"There's no question the consumer is out there. People want to buy," added Paul Robertson Jr. of Robertson Brothers Co.

BASM lost 10 percent of its 1,200 members during 1980, but Pink was confident they had only stopped paying dues and most are still in business.

"There was not a great increase in bankruptcies," said Don Pratt of Wake-Pratt Construction Co. "Most of us saw it (the recession) coming."

Property eyed for motocross

By TERI BANAS

The city of Plymouth is negotiating with a bicycle shop owner over the sale of a 10-acre site of city-owned land valued at $30,000.

Gerard Loiselle, who owns Jerry's Bicycle Shop on Ann Arbor Road, has offered the city $22,000 for the property known as the Six Mile Well Field.

The well field, located in Northville Township, is one of three remaining properties Plymouth owns outside of its city boundaries.

According to City Manager Henry Graper, the property is considered of no value to the city and has been idle for some 10 years.

Last summer it was appraised at $30,000 though a developer once offered $40,000 for the property. He then planned to build a small single-family subdivision there but withdrew his offer to the city when engineers determined the ground was not condusive to residential development.

Loiselle, who is the father of city commissioner Ron Loiselle, has tentative plans to turn over the property to the Plymouth Civitans for use as a motocross training ground, said another Loiselle son, Larry.

"The Civitan thing is not firm yet," said Larry, "but we are looking into the possibility of leasing it to them.

"WE BELIEVE in kids and just want to help them find a place to practice. It wouldn't necessarily be used as a competitive track."

In past months the Civitans have approached neighboring communities about the use of municipal property for motocross racing but have been unsuccessful in securing a site in each case. The nearest motocross track to the Plymouth area is in Woodhaven. Another track is located in Warren.

Monday night, the Plymouth City Commission authorized Graper to counter Loiselle's original proposal. Loiselle's original offer was for $22,000 to be paid within 10 years under a land contract at an interest rate of 9 percent.

The commission urged Graper to seek an 11 percent interest rate to reflect the current "borrowing trend."

Graper said it's "unlikely" anyone else would want the property for development because of its "long, narrow" shape. He added that's it unattractive because it abutts the DeHoCo property as well.

Officials prepare for farmland vote

expects that election to be held in late 1981 or early 1982.

THERE WAS much informal discussion between members of the Township Board, planning commission and farmland-preservation committee at Monday's meeting in Township Hall.

Supervisor James Poole assured the farmland-preservation committee that township staffers would assist committee members in their study of the issue. The committee was given Township Board authority to appoint new members and take other actions to accomplish the work.

"The way I talked and voted doesn't mean I'm going to fight you," Poole said.

The supervisor was the only board member who voted against charging the committee with work on the farmland issue. Earlier in the evening, Poole had refused to participate in a straw vote of the Township Board regarding a commitment to proceed with the farmland-preservation program.

Poole later attributed his actions to a resolution which tied the farmland-preservation program to the township's master land-use plan. The supervisor expressed legal concerns about the master plan, which lays the conceptual ground rules for farmland preservation.

"My concern is to get this resolved as quickly as possible," Poole said at one point of the evening. "I've had the impression that this was being pursued whether the people liked it or not."

Planning Commissioner Robert Shefferly unsuccessfully tried to convince officials that the farmland-preservation plan should be dropped.

"I hoped, as a community, we would stop dreaming and start being realistic," he said. "I hoped we would terminate farmland preservation in Canton."

Many still in the dark about Red Squad files

By TOM LONERGAN

State police mailed notices to some 32,500 individuals and organizations listed in the files. But 17,000 of those notices were not delivered and another 6,000 file subjects never received notices because the state police lacked complete addresses.

Political activists who were trailed by Michigan State Police during the 1950s, '60s and '70s have one week left to get copies of their surveillance files.

Jan. 15 is the last day State Police will accept requests for files kept as long as 25 years by the now-defunct "Red Squad," created by the Michigan Legislature in 1950.

Separate circuit court opinions in Wayne County in 1977 and Ingham County in 1976 declared the Red Squad unconstitutional and led to the release procedure. An estimated 38,000 individual and 400 organization files were illegally maintained by the state police between 1950 and 1974.

The state was sued in 1974 by a number of Detroit-area consumer, civil rights, anti-Vietnam war and welfare rights activists. The United Auto Workers (UAW) later joined the class-action suit.

STATE POLICE will accept only special, pre-printed request forms from file applicants, Lt. Norman Smith said this week.

"No phone calls, plain letters, post cards or matchbook covers," he added. "Because of the volume of this, we had to set up a system. That's the system."

The Detroit Chapter of the National Lawyers Guild, also a party in the suit, and the UAW have been providing file request forms to individuals and organizations since mid-November.

That month, state police sent first class mail notices to some 32,500 individuals and organizations listed in the files. But 17,000 of those notices were not delivered, Smith said. Another 6,000 file subjects never received notices because the state police lacked complete addresses.

"JUST BECAUSE there are 38,000 names doesn't mean there are 38,000 files," Smith said.

As of Monday, he said, 5,600 file requests had been received by the state police. No special publicity is planned to notify people of the Jan. 15 deadline. Daily newspaper ads were published twice in November as notification of the file release procedure.

The lawyers guild has been swamped with phone calls about the files, said Lenore Goldman, a coordinator of the group's political surveillance project.

"Oh, gosh, we get easily 25 to 30 calls a day," she said. In the past two months the group has mailed "a couple thousand" file request forms, she added. The phone number is 963-0843.

Jordan Rossen of the UAW's legal department said file request forms were distributed to all of the union's regional offices. Former or current UAW members who want to make a file request should contact their nearest regional office, he said.

TARGETS OF Red Squad surveillance ranged from those active in the trade union, civil rights, anti-war, women's and other movements of the late 1950s and 1960s to non-participants, Goldman said.

"Those who parked near the site of a civil rights demonstration in the 1960s while downtown shopping" could have a file, she said, as well as relatives of people active in the social movements of that time.

Other possible file targets, according to Goldman, were persons who signed petitions supporting third party candidates to appear on election ballots, and newspaper letter-to-the-editor writers on busing, "either pro or con."

"Anyone who was outspoken or clearly exercised their First Amendment rights" could have a file, she said.

Rossen said the last 10 years of the state Red Squad files "include almost nothing but newspaper clippings" on the UAW. "They could have found more in our public relations files," he said.

In earlier years, Red Squad files were kept on individuals attending union meetings, Rossen added.

SMITH ESTIMATED it would take the state police "a little over a year" to respond to file requests. Four full-time state police employees will do the processing, he said.

File copies will be duplicates of what the state police has on microfilm, with this exception: Information that would lead to the identification of informers and undercover agents will be deleted.

Also deleted, Smith said, will be names of third persons who appear with information of a "highly personal nature" about the person. Information about an ongoing criminal investigation will be deleted, as well.

According to the notice which the state police published in several daily newspapers in November, "The files exist only on film and will ultimately be destroyed. No duplicate will be maintained."

Smith said the release procedure will cost the state about $350,000.

RELEASE OF the files, however, could be interrupted by the FBI, which last month contacted the Michigan Attorney General's office. Assistant Attorney General George Weller, who has represented the state in the Red Squad case, said the FBI may seek a state or federal court order preventing release of FBI information or FBI-furnished material in the files.

'Those who parked near the site of a civil rights demonstration in the 1960s while downtown shopping" could have a file. . . . 'Anyone who was outspoken or clearly exercised their First Amendment rights' could have a file.
— Lenore Goldman

As of Tuesday, Weller said he had not been notified of any FBI court action.

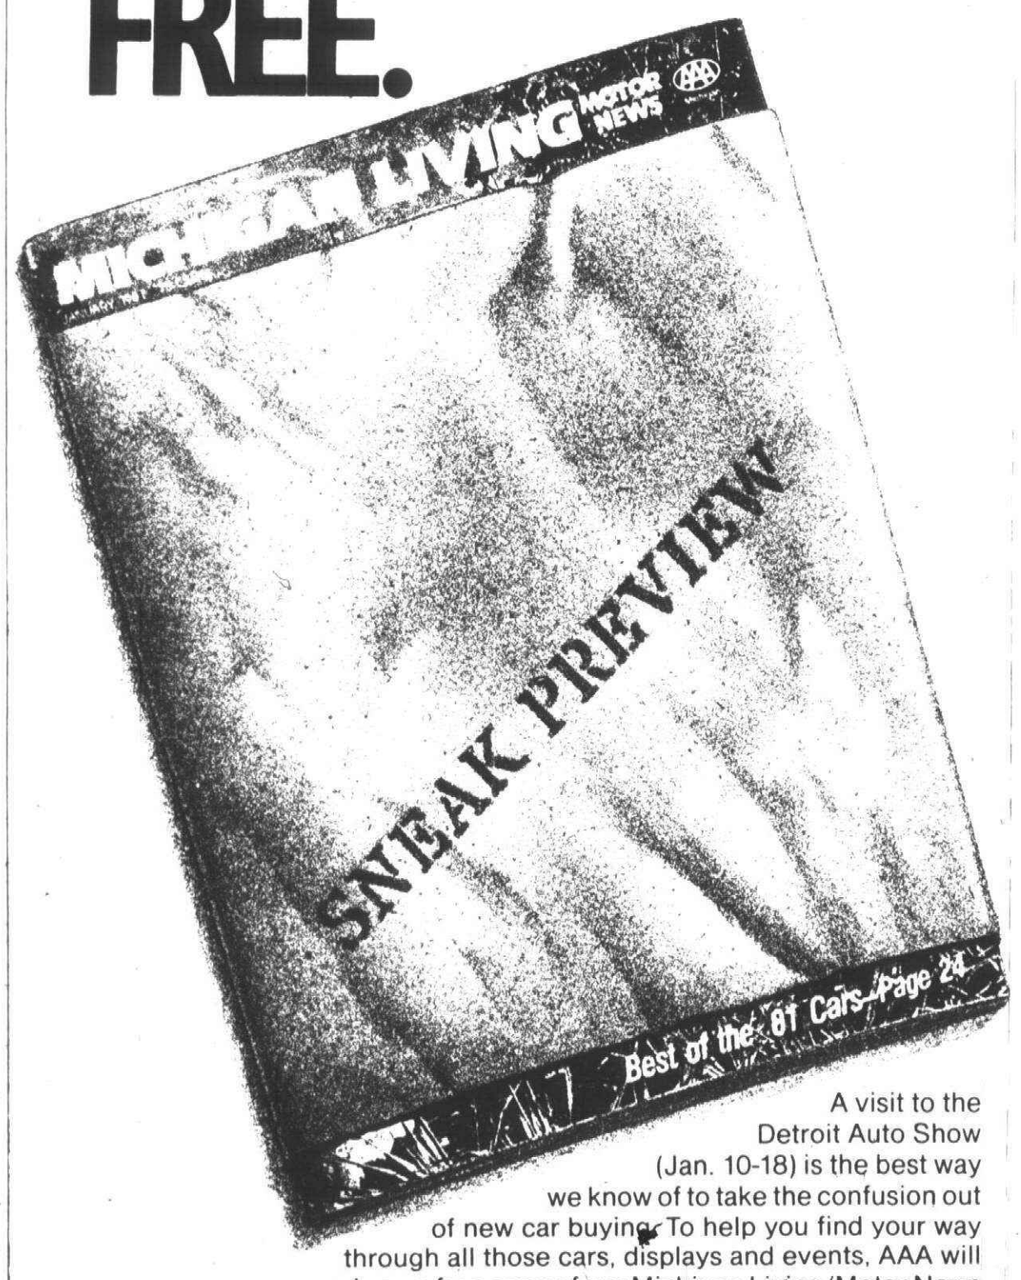

"They're saying, 'Look and see what's there first before it's let out,'" Weller said.

The suit against police political surveillance has also led to a release procedure of an estimated 60,000 files kept by the city of Detroit police since the 1930s.

The city was recently ordered by retired Wayne County Circuit Judge James Montante to notify individuals and organizations listed in the files. The notices are to be mailed in early May.

The lawyers' guild will continue to provide state file request forms up to the Jan. 15 deadline, Goldman said. The forms cannot be postmarked later than Jan. 15, she added.

The workshop, entitled "Speaking Up," is being offered by Schoolcraft College's Senior Forum in cooperation with the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The workshop is aimed at issues facing older adults and will help participants learn how to express their ideas, beliefs and opinions in direct, honest and appropriate ways without infringing on the rights of others.

Ann Baker, coordinator of the Senior Forum, says the workshop will be held in Plymouth in the Tonquish Creek Manor on Sheridan 9:30-11:30 a.m. Jan. 16 and 23.

The workshop also will be offerred 1:30-3:30 p.m. Jan. 23 and 30 in the Allen Terrace in Northville.

The workshop is planned so there will be opportunity for discussion and participation.

For more information persons may contact Tracy Johnson, senior citizen coordinator for the city of Plymouth, at the Cultural Center by dialing 455-6620 or from Fran Yoakam at Allen Terrace, 349-8030.

Ritter to lead marriage talks

The Rev. William A. Ritter, former minister of Newburg United Methodist Church of Livonia, will lead a four-week marriage seminar to be sponsored by the YWCA of Western Wayne County beginning on Wednesday, Jan. 28.

The sessions will be held from 7:30-9 p.m. in Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church, Hubbard and West Chicago, and will continue through the first three Wednesdays in February.

Ritter, now pastor of Nardin Park United Methodist in Farmington Hills, is well-known as a marriage-discussion leader. The seminar is designed to provide a relaxed atmosphere in which individuals and couples can talk about marriage in today's society.

The cost is $20 per couple or $15 for individuals. To register, call Leslie Frederick at the YWCA, 561-4110.

Connections

Engineer bridges gaps between scientists and laymen

Art Wiggins: "Non-scientists see connections. People who are not scientists like to see patterns. This says you don't present natural science by itself, but in the context with other sciences and the social sciences."

By TIM RICHARD

A startling confession opens the new science textbook co-authored by Art Wiggins of Oakland Community College and Charlie Wynn, now at Eastern Connecticut State College.

"Both of us hold bachelor's degrees in engineering . . . . Yet both of us will admit that during our schooling, as a result of the specialized studies required by our majors, we did not achieve a fundamental understanding of science."

Wiggins, known as "the Pied Piper of Physics" because of his popularity at OCC's Orchard Ridge campus, said the new book is aimed at the fundamental problem. "Natural Science: 'Bridging the Gaps" is scheduled to be introduced this semester at OCC.

The breezy, witty Wiggins recently discussed his attention-getting approach to science in an interview in his office at OCC.

It's a story of how engineers can become generalists — even philosophers — and write an intellectually worthy science text for non-scientists.

"MOST TEXT books are 'pure,'" Wiggins began, meaning that they build a box around a single subject.

"What was lacking was a framework to hange a larger world view on. It's almost corny now to talk of the age of specialization. Anybody who has a Ph.D. gets narrow and specialized."

Scientists, he explained, tend to be "categorical" thinkers. They take things apart, classify them into pigeonholes. They write books the same way. The trouble is that non-scientists don't think that way.

"Non-scientists see connections. People who are not scientists like to see patterns. This says you don't present natural science by itself, but in the context with other sciences and the social sciences," Wiggins said.

Example: A traditional way of illustrating the scientist's notion of categorizing would be to cite the universe, then physical things, then solids and finally metals. Instead, Wiggins and Wynn draw an analogy from politics — the United States, the 50 states, the counties, the townships, the precincts.

"We (the authors) say, 'Here's the world; we're going to take it apart and look at the natural sciences; then we're going to put it back together again.'" And so they do (see chart from Chapter 1).

THE TALE of how Wiggins became an engineer and then a philosopher is like the story of modern America itself.

"I graduated from high school (St. Joseph, South Bend) in 1956 and from college (Notre Dame) in 1960. Sputnik was 1957," said Wiggins, referring to the first space satellite.

"Suddenly, everyone said, 'Gosh, we're behind. We gotta get scientists and engineers.' And the National Merit Scholarship program came along."

At Notre Dame, Wiggins took a double-degree program — math and science — but the day came when he had to make a choice:

"I chose engineering. There were jobs."

His first job (1960-64) was as an aerophysicist for Bendix Systems Division in Ann Arbor. The next (1964-68) was in flight dynamics at Conductron Corp., also in Ann Arbor, where he still lives.

The change came as he earned a master's degree and worked toward a doctorate in physics at the University of Michigan.

"What I liked about the job was the people. I found I was scholastically inclined, and decided to get into education.

"I jumped in with both feet."

HIRED ON at the new OCC Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Hills in 1968, Wiggins encountered a) students and b) Joe Hill.

Christine Gram, former economics instructor at the Ridge and now academic dean at the Highland Lakes campus, said, "Art cares a great deal about whether students learn. He's not content to say, 'Well, I presented it.'

"He relates well to students. They can come to him and ask questions. He spends time on his presentations."

While many community college instructors write manuals, it's rare for them to write texts. Betty Setz, OCC's college relations director, said "Bridging the Gaps" is Wiggins' second text.

Wiggins is faculty advisor to the Orchard Ridge Recorder, the campus newspaper, and on many campus committees. He was a pioneer in team teaching, Dr. Setz said.

Wiggins was named outstanding faculty member in 1978 and was emcee when the college made a Channel 56 television presentation.

Last spring, he and four other OCC persons presented a Steve Allen-type panel discussion called "Meeting of the Educators." Wiggins portrayed Jean Piaget, the late Swiss psychologist who did landmark work on the stages of children's mental development. It meant mastering Piaget's thoughts and working them into a conversational script.

A mind-broadening influence was Joe Hill. Dr. Joseph E. Hill, the educational theorist, was president of OCC until his death in 1977.

THE "GAPS" in the title refers to gaps between scientists and non-scientist, between hard science and the humanities.

"Our unifying element was the scientific method," said Wiggins.

"We would show it at work and contrast it with the intellectual methods in other fields."

The book will be used in FSN 160, a foundational studies course.

It's dedicated to Joe Hill.

"Joe Hill made it possible," Wiggins said. "We knew him as a person. He had such depth of intelligence and dropped so many pearls that it boggled the mind.

"He would make incredible associations — 'That's like psychology.'

"We'd go to lunch with a group and go away saying, 'My gosh, I never thought about that before.' It was a tour de force."

Financing package arranged for $2 million motel project

Construction is expected to begin soon on a $2 million expansion project adjacent to the Mayflower Hotel in downtown Plymouth.

The project will involve construction of a three-story, 40-unit motel along the rear of the Wiedman parking lot, a 15-unit motel structure above the former Finlan Building and a parking deck adding about 40 spaces.

The expansion has been on the back burner for a year now as the accelerating prime interest rate has made it difficult for Lorenz Enterprises to line up the financing for the project.

But within the past two weeks, the financial package was finalized with Downriver Federal Savings and Loan.

Monday night, Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper told the City Commission that construction likely will begin in about 60 days. Completion is expected in August.

IN FEBRUARY 1980 the Plymouth Economic Development Commission (EDC) voted to approve a resolution of inducement intended to help Ralph and Mable Lorenz arrange the financing.

The resolution resulted in a tax-free status for the buyers of the bonds to finance the project.

But when the prime rate began to rise, construction loans became very hard to obtain — with or without tax-free status.

The advantage to the developer of EDC bonds is that the tax-free status results in a lower interest rate being charged — usually 3-5 percent below the prevailing rate.

The original site plan called for a three-story, 40-unit motel above the parking spaces along the Wiedman lot by the alley.

A parking deck for 40 spaces would be added as a second level, from the new motel to the center of Wiedman lot. The front half of the lot would remain as it is now.

The 40 new spaces would be used as parking for motel and hotel guests. Lorenz also has purchased the Finlan parking lot (now fenced in behind the Finlan Building at the south end of Wiedman lot) and use it as a parking lot for Mayflower employees.

The plans also called for a smaller motel unit of about 15 rooms to be built above the Finlan Building. The office space now on ground level would remain in that use.

A proposal seen as part of the redevelopment is the construction of an enclosed arched walkway over Main Street to connect the Mayflower Hotel and the new motels with the Meeting House and motel across the street to form a convention center.

AT THE SAME time the EDC gave its blessings to the Lorenz project, it also approved a resolution of inducement for a $400,000 bond sale for Russell and Beverly Hoisington.

The Hoisingtons operate the Finlan Insurance Agency and used the EDC resolution to finance renovation of the former Anderson Music Store on Main and construction of a new building adjacent to it.

The former Anderson building is now occupied by H&B Gallery of Fine Carpeting, which moved there from Canton.

The Hoisingtons then moved the Finlan Agency out of the Finlan Building, by prior arrangement with Lorenz, and occupied the new building immediately south of H&B Carpeting.

Sheriff offers service to deaf

Emergency telephone service to the 40,000 deaf people of the tri-county area is now offered by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Sheriff William Lucas announced last week.

The sheriff's department is now equiped to handle emergency calls from deaf people who have "porta-tel" communication devices in their homes. The telephone unit, sold for $400 by Sound Barriers Inc. of Illinois, has a typewriter-like keyboard that allows deaf people to communicate over telephone lines.

Sheriff Lucas said sheriff dispatchers will field these calls and send them to the proper police or fire departments.

A telephone number, 729-0100, has been set aside for this service and will be manned at all times.

More information about this service is available by calling the Michigan Association for Better Hearing in Lansing at 517-337-1646.

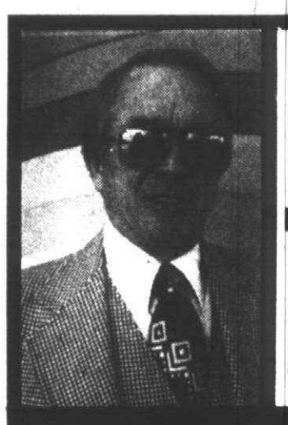

Several foundations and organizations have paid for the $1,210 equipment at the sheriff's department for this purpose.

Perc Secord's his name, table tennis his game

By BARBARA UNDERWOOD

Anyone who can beat Perc Secord at a game of table tennis gets a free haircut.

But not many people are willing to challenge the 75-year-old barber, who is the winner of many championships in the sport he likes best.

Just don't call it Ping-Pong, because it isn't, he insists.

"If anyone tells you he has a Ping-Pong table, challenge him," Secord said between customers at his Pontiac barbershop recently.

"Ping-Pong is the trade name of a discontinued brand of equipment," he said. Parker Brothers introduced the term Ping-Pong for what is really table tennis, Secord said.

SECORD HAS been actively involved with the game since the early 1930s. He is a three-time champion of mixed-doubles tournaments: 1978, '79 and '80. Each year he teamed with a different woman player.

He has played major tournaments in Oklahoma City, Atlanta and Philadelphia and twice ranked second in his age group nationally.

He was named a member of the Michigan Amateur Sports Hall of Fame in 1978, won 27 Pontiac city table tennis titles between 1935-49, 11 state titles between 1943-73 and two midwest and central states titles.

In addition to his own honors, Secord has coached many local table tennis players who have won state and national titles.

"It has been a fascinating game for me," he said. "It is a very interesting sport. It gets in your blood."

SECORD IS a member of the United States Table Tennis Association. He formed the Pontiac League in 1947 and has been its president eight times.

His interest in table tennis began in the early 1930s when he visited his brother in St. Louis, Mich.

"My brother and his wife both played," he said. His brother coached him for about three hours and then suggested that Secord play a game with his sister-in-law, saying, "She will give you a soft touch."

Instead, she beat him and "that big brother of mine stood around and needled me about it," Secord said. After that he "worked religiously" to improve his game and the next time he played his brother and sister-in-law he "really worked both of them over."

Secord has had a barber shop in the same neighborhood for the past 50 years. He built his present shop in 1953. He had a table tennis table in the back room at the first shop and in the basement at his present location.

"I built this building around the recreation room," he said. "It has a high ceiling so we can use blooper shots."

WHEN SECORD challeges someone to a game and offers a free haircut to anyone who can beat him, the game has to be played after working hours.

"In order to play good table tennis, you've got to work up a sweat," he said. "I don't want to do that and then work on a customer.

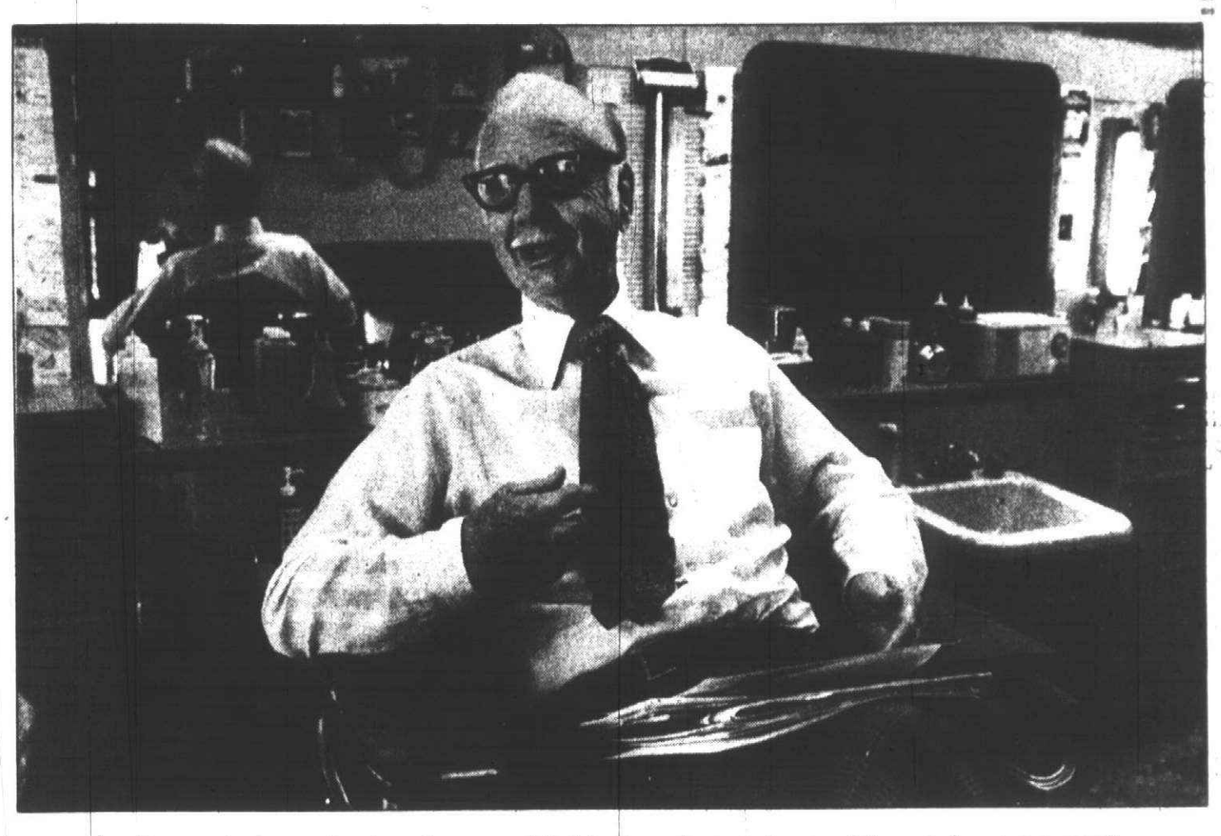

"My wife says I will never sell the barber shop because I have too much fun there," Secord said. "I don't know what I would do with myself if I did sell it.

"And I am not thinking of stopping the game," he added. 'I don't think I am old enough to do that."

The table tennis season officially ends May 1 but that doesn't stop Secord. Then he plays tennis, another game he has enjoyed, along with golf.

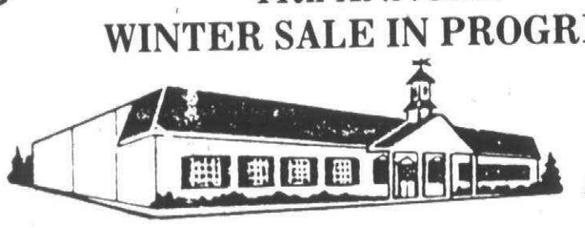

He won the Pontiac mixed doubles tennis championship in 1938 and the state barbers' golf championship four years in a row in the early 1950s.

Secord and his wife live at Cass Lake in Keego Harbor in a home they built 16 years ago.

Perc Secord: 'In order to play good table tennis, you've got to work up a sweat. I am not thinking of stopping the game. I don't think I am old enough to do that.'

Snowbound

Three-month-old Frosty seems cast adrift and rather forlorn, but really he likes the snow. The Doberman/shepherd mix has had his shots and the folks at the Michigan Humane Society's Westland Kindness Center, 37255 Marquette, phone 721-7300, say he's going to grow up to be a very large dog. County drops SEMCOG

Wayne County has requested status as an "inactive" member of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) because of its inability to pay $150,000 in annual dues for the second straight year.

During 1980, the county kept its votes on the regional planning agency's decision-making bodies, even though it had not paid SEMCOG dues.

That brought a protest from the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners, which threatened not to pay dues for 1981 if Wayne County were allowed continued participation without paying.

A SPECIAL SEMCOG committee is expected to meet in January to consider Wayne County's status with the seven-county planning group.

Wayne County Board Chairman Samuel Turner, D-Detroit, has asked that the county "be placed on an inactive status with respect to the privileges of membership until we are in a position to meet the financial commitment of dues-paying members."

The county did not include 1981 SEMCOG dues in its current budget, which took effect Dec. 1.

Between 1972 and 1979, the county paid SEMCOG dues totaling $1,171,003, while communities within the county paid $538,352.

In 1979, dues paid by all member counties and communities in the seven-county region totaled $503,000.

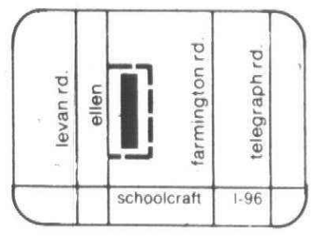

BECAUSE OF growing annual budget deficits, Wayne County has stopped contributing to other organizations, including the Metropolitan Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau ($54,000), the Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourists Association ($5,000), the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeast Michigan ($25,420) and the Wayne County Child Care Coordinating Council ($14,400).

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the people who attended the Christmas Concert given by the Plymouth Community Chorus on Dec. 14 at the Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium.

At the same time I would like to apologize to so many people who requested tickets that we were unable to provide. It has always been our goal and desire to make sure everyone who wants a ticket can get one. We did not anticipate the overwhelming response that we received for this program.

We are currently in the process of evaluating our concert schedule to insure that this same kind of problem does not occur at any of our upcoming performances. Please accept my personal apology and commitment to continue to provide entertainment for everyone who wishes to be a part of our concerts.

I would also like to take a moment to answer some of the concerns expressed about Omnicom Cablevision in a recent letter to the editor.

We, as an organization, approached Omnicom to broadcast our Christmas Concert in the hope that perhaps some of the people we had refused concert tickets still would have an opportunity to hear the Plymouth Community Chorus even if they were unable to be a part of the audience. It is true that Omnicom did experience some technical problems, in part due to the very cold weather and some of the restrictions that we placed on them in reference to camera placement, cables, lighting, etc. It was never the intent of my staff or the crew from Omnicom to distract the audience from the actual performance.

If we take a realistic approach, we must be prepared to encounter such difficulties. Because our own exposure to the actual producing of a television broadcast is limited, we sometimes expect too much. I think the most important thing to mention is the concert was given for the enjoyment of the audience at the performance. The home or television was, for the moment, of secondary concern. I believe the audience would have been more upset if I would have stopped the concert each time a technical problem occurred. Our goal is to set a mood for the audience and to make them feel that for that time, they are the sole reason we have for being there.

To anyone who was offended by the occasional conversation between the camera operators and the director who sat freezing out in his van, I apologize. All in all, I feel we maintained a Christmas mood and hope the audience left our performance with that special holiday glow.

Please don't let this one experience determine your future or the future of Omnicom here in Plymouth. I think that once you have had an opportunity to talk to the staff at Omnicom you will find them as professional as any group of broadcasters anywhere. Everyone is entitled to make some mistakes and believe me, the chorus made a few of its own on the evening of the performance.

In closing, I thank the entire community for its support of the Plymouth Community Chorus and hope that we brought a few minutes of enjoyment into your lives over this holiday season.

From the entire Plymouth Community Chorus goes to each of you our prayer for a joyous and healthy new year and we will see you on May 17 with our spring concert entitled: "It's Gonna Be a Great Day!"

Director

Why finance a killer's life

Editor:

Capital punishment, a possible path to true justice?

The basic argument against the death penalty is that it violates the criminal's rights by inflicting cruel and unusual punishment. What about the victim? Weren't his rights violated? He may have been cruelly or unusually beaten to death, stabbed or shot.

Because the criminal has violated society's laws and the victim's right to life, he must pay for his crime. With our present system, a murderer is sent to prison for life — all the while being supported by taxpayers' money (however, most murderers are out on parole in three to seven years).

By using the death penalty, we would solve two problems. The first would be a decrease in the crime rate. The second being that taxpayers' money would not be used to support a murderer in prison for his injustice to society.

Reader's views about strikers were unfair

Editor:

(An open letter to Mr. Don Carlson:)

In answer to your letter printed in the Canton Observer on Dec. 11, how come you would write such an appalling letter when I assume you know nothing about this distraughtful situation.

I am a striker's wife whose husband has worked at Plymouth Stamping for the last 28 years. Because of a mismanagement problem of the company, they found themselves in financial difficulty and, therefore, offered the employees a wage and benefits so far below any competitor that no human being would possible exist in this time of inflation, leaving them no choice but to strike.

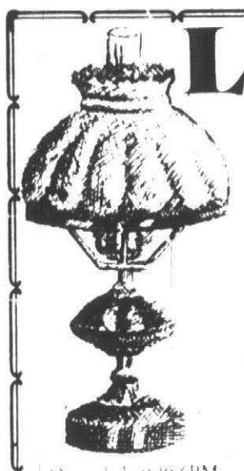

It's unfair of you to say that the display of strikers' signs clutter the scenery and make a place look bad when there's no other choice left.

You, too, would walk and carry a sign rather than work for peanuts. So you see, Mr. Carlson, you don't know what your talking about.

I know, Mr. Carlson, that you obviously have never been in this position, because if you had, you would have more compassion for your fellow man.

Mall, downtown would bolster retail business

Many of the 104 residents who responded to the Observer's Shopping Survey shared one gripe about looking for merchandise in Canton.

They don't like driving from one shopping plaza to the next in order to comparison shop for a dress, window curtains or knick knacks.

Many suggested construction of a mall in Canton, as well as a big "drawing" store, such as a Hudson's, Sear's or Penney's. Some suggested "bringing a little Plymouth to Canton" — in another words, development of a downtown.

The sentiments expressed coincide with results of a Chamber of Commerce survey conducted two years ago. Many township residents drive by the small stores in their own community in order to opt for the one-stop shopping convenience of sprawling malls.

Many merchants, including those in Canton, are hurting financially in these tight economic times. The absence of a "drawing power" — such as a mall, downtown or major retail outlet — seems to pit store owners in Canton at a competitive disadvantage.

It may be time to re-examine local zoning laws as they relate to retail development, if township government really wants to improve Canton's business climate.

TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS indicated a desire to help the business community last fall when they created a task force on business problems.

Results of the Observer survey will be submitted to the task force, which is expected to make a recommendation to the Township Board on possible solutions to business woes.

Possible angles of approach include more than a re-examination of the sign ordinance and other business regulations.

The Canton Planning Commission already has launched a study of developing a "downtown" business district that would serve as a shopping focal point and lend community identity.

That study should continue as a serious alternative to the present practice of locating all stores in scattered shopping plazas.

According to planner Jim Kosteva, Dayton-Hudson Corp. recently gave up an option on land in western Canton as a site for a future shopping mall because of the sour economy.

That proposal conflicted with the township's farmland preservation plan. But several sites in eastern Canton would be suitable for a regional shopping mall when construction resumes.

Township government should take a more active role in encouraging development which would pump vigor into the business community.

A MALL or downtown would draw more shoppers into Canton and keep township consumers at home.

Either alternative would help existing restaurants and stores and beef up the township's tax base.

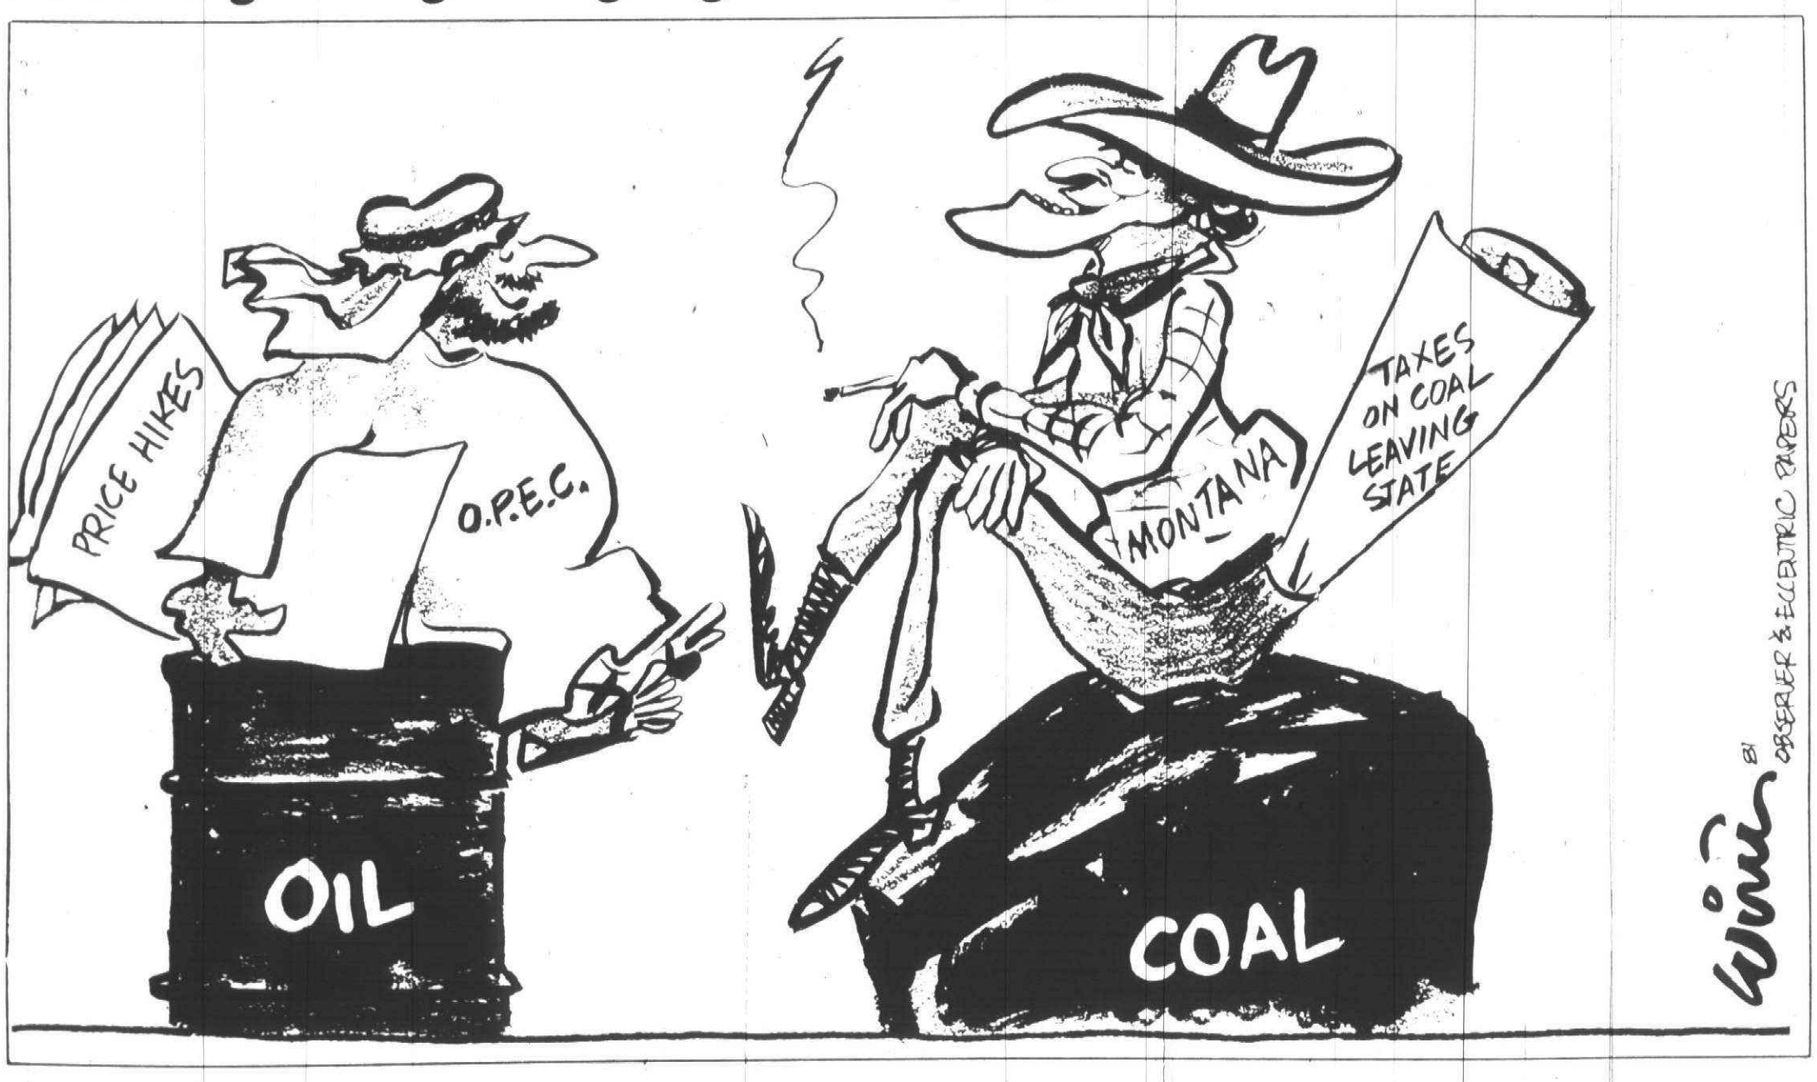

"The township would have to become a more involved partner with developers" in order to establish a mall or downtown district, says Kosteva.

Amending the township's zoning approach to commercial development would be no small task. But it may be time for such a commitment.

Continued development of scattered shopping plazas makes little sense if consumers dislike them and their profits are poor.

Developing another alternative could benefit residents, who spend much of their paychecks for gasoline, and existing merchants alike.

'Feller's got a right to gouge a little, eh, Sheik?'

Doctor's nuke neurosis is laughable

Absurdity transcends all economic, educational and social levels.

Take the case of the frantic physicians.

A week or so back, one of my reporters, in an erstwhile quest for yet another story, spotted an item detailing how a number of internationally-famed physicians have banded together to warn us of the horrors of nuclear war.

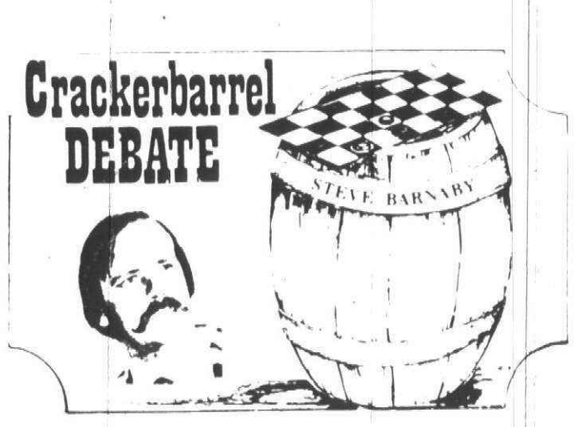

In our efforts to keep you up to date on the local angle, we attempted to query local physicians on how they felt about the subject.

We were laughed out of the operating room.

Most physicians, we found, are busy worrying about mundane issues like heart disease, cancer and other assorted maladies.

But thanks to the item from the Associated Press, we have learned about a substantial number of physicians who are going about the world making fools out of themselves, stating the obvious and neglecting their duties as healers.

They call themselves Physicians for Social Responsibility (PSR). Among their ranks are the likes of polio vaccine developer Dr. Jonas Salk; Dr. Lewis Thomas, chancellor of the Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Institute; and Dr. Helen Caldicott, who resigned her position at Harvard Medical School to work as the PSR president.

THEIR MESSAGE: Nuclear war is the greatest health hazard ever faced by humanity.

No kidding.

The group outlines, in graphic detail, what would happen if somebody cared to drop a 20-megaton bomb on Boston. Don't ask why Boston was tapped for the honor. I guess Boston is as good as any city.

But never mind, we get the message.

Almost everybody in a four-mile radius would die, they tell us.

Those who would survive, about 300,000, would have only 650 physicians to treat them. All the hospitals would be destroyed which leads one to suspect that, on any given day in Boston, 650 physicians have the day off.

These 650 physicians would spend 26 days, 16 hours a day before they would see each patient for five minutes. No time for golf on that sort of schedule.

It seems the "elite" of the medical world have fallen prey to a good old-fashioned case of the cold war virus. Obviously nuclear war would be disastorous. You don't need a medical degree to know that.

Frankly, nuclear war is ridiculous to contemplate. Those who would survive a nuclear war would have a bit more to worry about than a doctor's appointment.

Dr. Caldicott, in all her despair, has summed up the group's attitude this way: "There seems to be no point in practicing good medicine when the threat of nuclear war seems so imminent."

THE GOOD DOCTOR should come back to the real world and join those physicians who deal with the health problems of today.

We can't stop living, as Dr. Caldicott would like, because of the threat of nuclear war. It is only a threat, not a reality, as is cancer, multiple sclerosis and dozens of other diseases which plague us.

Back to work, Dr. Caldicott. Nuclear holocaust be damned.

The West rakes coal customers

A few years ago, Detroit Edison Co. was boasting how it had "made a series of dramatic and innovative decisions to insure a reliable fuel supply."

Edison signed "a contract for 200 million tons of low-sulfur coal to be delivered over a 26-year period . . . with Decker Coal Co. in Montana."

Today U.S. Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., is painting a picture of Montana and its sister state of Wyoming as "OPEC-like coal producers."

The reason: Montana is levying a 30 percent and Wyoming a 17 percent "severance" tax on coal. They're raking it in.

A severance tax is imposed on the value of natural resources (coal, oil, natural gas) when they are removed, or severed, from the land. The idea, Levin says, is to "lessen the boom town tendency associated with resource development."

WHAT IT MEANS to us in southeast Michigan is $7 to $8 more per house in 1980, Levin says.

He quotes Walter J. McCarthy, Edison president, testifying before a congressional committee, as saying that Montana's tax has been increased 2,400 percent since that Decker contract was signed in 1973.

"By the end of the 26 years of the contract, if the present tax remains in effect, we shall pay over $1.3 billion in coal severance tax to Montana," said the Edison chief.

In contrast, Michigan charges a 6.6 percent tax on its oil, Texas 5 percent on oil and Alaska 12.25 percent on oil.

NEW MEXICO Gov. Bruce King on Dec. 13 announced he will ask the legislature for a $205 million tax cut.

The reason, according to the local press, is that "soaring oil and gas revenues" along with higher interest earnings on invested funds require less taxes.

Which taxes will New Mexico cut? The severance taxes on oil and gas? Not on your life.

King will propose cuts of $85 million in the sales tax, $30 million in the income tax, $15 million more income tax credits and $75 million in property taxes.

For a little state, those are big tax cuts. And the local voters will get them, not the shivering customers in the north and east.

LET'S PUT all of this into context.

Economists recognize three kinds of production primary, secondary and tertiary.

Primary means agriculture, mining, oil drilling and commercial fishing. Secondary means manufacturing, like cars and washing machines. Tertiary means services, like banking and hamburger stands and teaching school.

Historically, primary producers have had a colonial political status. They were considered cultural backwaters. They sold cheap, while the manufacturers and bankers sold high.

In the last two decades, however, primary producers have figured out they can bring big industrial regions to their knees by choking off supplies of natural resources or charging all the traffic will bear. OPEC with its oil, Canada with its timber, Central and South America with its coffee, Montana with its coal — get the picture?

LEVIN AND SEVERAL eastern senators are cosponsoring a senate bill to limit severance taxes to 12.5 percent. Since coal, oil and natural gas are in interstate commerce, it is Congress' business what tax rates the states charge.

My guess is that the bill's prospects are dim. To me the most significant things about the Reagan Administration and the new U.S. Senate are not their conservatism but their western orientation.

But having just paid a $51.48 Edison bill, I must wish the easterners lots of luck.

Economic pendulum swinging down

W.W. Edgar

Now that Santa Claus is back home safely at the North Pole and the din of welcoming the new year has faded into the distance, we must come face to face with reality. The big question looms about the coming 12 months.

What kind of a year will it be? Will the spiral of inflation take a downward trend? Will the automobile industry survive its present troubles? Will the economy go back to the days of old when we were a happy and contented nation?

While The Stroller was pondering these questions following Michigan's victory in the Rose Bowl, the teaching of one of his old editors came to mind.

This old fellow, the last of the brown derby boys, sat with The Stroller one afternoon to help guide him on his first steps along the journalistic trail.

Then, like a father talking to his son, he said, "You are going to see a great change in our way of living during your lifetime. Right now, the capitalists have control of the country, but it won't always be so. And then the pendulum will swing in the other direction and we will be headed for trouble again.

"Sooner or later, the pendulum will start downward. When it reaches the bottom of the arc and both labor and capital are on even terms, this country will prosper like never before."

IT WAS QUITE a sermon. But The Stroller never forgot it.

At the time, our little town back in the foothills of the Lehigh Mountains was the home of the largest horseshoe factory in the world. Yes, there was a factory devoted to nothing but the manufacturing of what some folks called "Dobbin's slippers."

Along with that, there was a large furnace where pig iron was made as the first step in the steel industry. The officials of these companies controlled the town.

Their grip on the townspeople was so great that you had to live in a company house, deal in the company store, and both your rent and grocery bill were taken out of your pay. The working men were little more than slaves.

Then the pendulum turned. Gradually the organizations of unions gave the working man the upper hand. His demands were met, and salaries and pay envelopes went into the upper brackets.

At last, the men who did the work had control. But the hold seems to have become too tight. This is manifest with the request of the Chrysler officials that wages and salaries be frozen and that the automatic cost of living increases be abandoned.

THE PROPHECY of The Stroller's old editor is coming true. The pendulum is swinging downward. How long it will take to reach the bottom of the arc no one knows. But it is headed downward.

It may not happen this year, but it at least may get started.

But as The Stroller's friend Oscar, the furniture man, says, "We have to face it with a positive attitude. We have to work together and then it may turn out to be a great year."

Gold shots can relieve severe rheumatoid arthritis

Editor's note: The writer is a specialist in rheumatology in northwest Detroit and graduated with honors from the University of Michigan Medical School.

By RAYMOND J. WEITZMAN

Q. I suffer from occasional attacks of severe arthritis pain. When they strike, I'm willing to do almost anything to fight back. I recently heard about a treatment called "gold shots." Please tell me what they are and if they can help me.

Mrs. D.M.

A. The best way to respond to the points you've raised is in their reverse order.

First, to determine whether the administration of gold compounds — technically called "chrystotherapy" — is the right treatment for you, consult your personal physician or a specialist to whom he refers you.

Gold shots have been used since 1928 to treat rheumatoid arthritis. However, they aren't a recommended course of action for every patient with the disease.

Chrystotherapy is a complicated treatment which usually is reserved for patients with severe or aggressive disease in crippling form. Most people with rheumatoid arthritis do not develop destructive joint disease, thus are not candidates for chrysotherapy.

Then, too, the treatment has a significant incidence of side effects. Most frequently, these include an itchy skin rash, sores in the mouth and an unpleasant metallic taste. Less commonly, blood or kidney reactions may occur which force discontinuation. Thus, blood and urine tests are required at frequent intervals during the course of treatment.

THE GOOD NEWS is that chrystotherapy can modify the crippling effects of severe forms of rheumatoid arthritis and can prevent joint destruction. Recently, it has been found beneficial in some cases of psoriatic arthritis (arthritis which is related to psoriasis).

If you mean "How do they work?" when you ask what gold shots are, the answer won't satisfy your curiosity. It doesn't satisfy mine, either, because no one knows exactly how gold acts against the disease.

We do follow a specific course of treatment, though, which has proven effective.

A gold preparation is injected intramuscularly weekly for approximately six months. If a good response is achieved, the shots gradually are administered less often until they're down to one per month.

Most patients — about three out of every four, in fact — respond to chrysotherapy. Often a complete remission, during which no evidence of arthritis can be found, is achieved.

However, if treatments are discontinued, arthritis will return. So chrysotherapy usually is continued for extended periods of time, sometimes for many years.

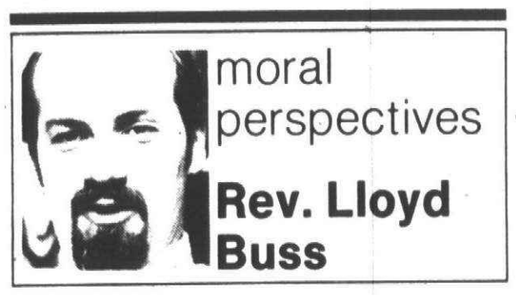

Of special interest to patients with severe forms of arthritis is the fact that most adverse reactions to gold shots are rapidly reversible simply by halting the treatments. Some cases of life-threatening complications have been reported, however.

IN SUMMARY, chrysotherapy represents an intense form of treatment with the potential to prevent crippling in patients with severe rheumatoid arthritis and, in some cases, patients with psoriatic arthritis.

Now you know its general application, how it is administered and some of its possible side effects.

Only a physician working with you as an individual can determine if gold shots are the right course of atareatment in your case.

The poor are people, not problems to be solved

This is not the first time I have written about world hunger. Nor will it be my last.

Hunger is so widespread that it will be around for a long time to come. But certain features this season make it necessary for us to reconsider our response to world hunger.

The widespread practice of charity was expanded during the Christmas season, and many people contributed money and services in an outpouring of love and good will to the "less fortunate" and "the poor and needy."

One danger is that we might confuse our practice of charity with justice and seriously jeoparadize the ultimate resolution of world hunger.

The other danger is that we might extract the feature of love from our efforts at justice and miss the joy we can experience in accepting people as they are.

CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS of all types sponsor fund-raising projects to raise money for food and toys.

Unfortunately, this outpouring of love can easily obscure the path of justice that we must follow in resolving world hunger.

There are many definitions of poverty, but it is reasonable to assume that there is a direct relationship between poverty and hunger. Hunger is an expression of poverty, and poverty is a consequence of social injustice.

When Ford Motor Co. in the U.S. discovered that Ford workers in Spain were receiving half the wages paid Ford workers in the U.S., it illustrated an inequality that has been nurtured by social injustice.

When the American people were told that only one of every 10 people working in the auto plants in Spain could afford to buy the porduct they made, it further illustrated how we have maintained an artificial position of strength and achievement.

Ford cars made in Spain are sold in the world market, and the profits realized from their sale must be considered as resources expropriated from Spanish workers.

The same injustice exists in the sugar fields of the Phillippines, the cane fields in the Dominican Republic, the cattle ranches in South America.

MILLIONS have little money to buy food. And they have so little money because they have been systematically exploited by others.

World hunger cannot be explained as a consequence of scarcity. Even though capitalism and socialism would both want us to believe that there is not enough to go around, the starting point for our understanding of hunger must not be scarcity but human injustice.

This makes world hunger a "solvable issue." The wrongs committed in years and days past can be redressed; family income can be improved the world over. Laws and legislation can be created to prevent exploitation, and equable alliances between technology and human resources can be made.

Many who recently were earnestly involved in raising money for Christmas food baskets are also the decision-makers of industry and government. One could hope for more use of their expertise in the ultimate solution of world hunger.

THE TROUBLE with all that is that we don't do this out of any love for the poor and hungry. We do it so they will "get better."

Whatever our efforts might be, they are not directed toward their needs but toward our expectations of what they might be. Instead of accepting them as people, we have turned them into "cases" — the "underprivileged," the "disadvantaged" or the "culturally deprived."

And just as soon as we can amend their ways and improve their habits, then they will be able to take their place alongside us. They will become like us, and we will be pleased with our efforts.

We have turned the poor into failures and nobodies. Victims of powers beyond their control, they are the constant reminders of what happens to people who are weak. We insist that they get well, that they stay productive and exercise proper human responsibility.

FROM BEGINNING to end, the Bible has always maintained that the poor are loved and cared for because they are blessed by God. The directives toward responsiblity and integrity in work and practice are directed to those who have instead of those who have not.

The condemnations and judgments are directed to those who have instead of those who have not. The poor are blessed and the gifts of God are freely given to them because that is the way God is.

I don't have a good name for the practice of sharing food baskets, but if we stop thinking of them as problems to be solved and see them as brothers and sisters with whom we share the gift of life and providential love, the joy of love might acclerate our redress of injustice.

It is not easy to love those we have regarded as failures or nobodies. So the sharing of food and gifts at Christmas time may be one of the fastest ways we have to meet another human being instead of helping the "poor and needy."

Bulletin views food additives

For those who are undecided about the value of food additives, a bulletin called "Food Additives and You" has been published by the Cooperative Extension Service.

The consumer who reads the bulletin will have a better idea of what constitutes an additive and what the purpose of additives is. He will also learn the government guidelines for consumer protection that are in effect.

The bulletin is available upon request. Contact the extension service at 858-0880.

Despite ruling

Petitpren holds county road job

Joan Petitpren of Westland has retained her job with the Wayne County Road Commission despite a circuit court ruling last month that the Civil Service Commission improperly appointed her to the position.

The Michigan Court of Appeals on Dec. 26 granted a road commission request temporarily keeping Mrs. Petitpren in the $41,350-a-year job as assistant director of personnel services.

Mrs. Petitpren was a Civil Service Commission member last summer when the three-member county panel created the job. She was appointed to the road commission job in September, which led Board of Commissioner members Rosemary Robinson and George Killeen, both of Detroit, to file a law suit against the Civil Service Commission alleging conflict of interest.

CIRCUIT JUDGE Charles E. Kaufman on Dec. 11 ruled that the Civil Service Commmission had "failed in its responsibility" when it approved Mrs. Petitpren's provisional appointment to the new job. Kaufman ordered her removal from the job.

But the road commission, represented by former county circuit Judge Joseph A. Sullivan, obtained a "stay of proceedings" from the court of appeals preventing Kaufman from carrying out his order.

James Steffen of Westland, Petitpren's attorney, said Tuesday the court of appeals has not overturned Kaufman's ruling. Steffen has appealed Kaufman's decision to the court of appeals.

The road commission has asked to intervene in the case, requesting the "stay" keeping Mrs. Petitpren in the job be continued. Both requests are pending before the court of appeals.

Mrs. Petitpren resigned from the Civil Service Commission shortly after her appointment to the road commission job. She abstained in the vote appointing her to the job but voted to create the position last summer.

THE CIVIL Service Commission determines qualifications and criteria for promotions for county general government and road commission jobs.

Normally, jobs under Civil Service are filled after candidates have taken an examination and been placed on an eligibility list.

However, the commission can make a temporary appointment to a job if no eligibility list exists and it's shown that services would be hurt if the job weren't filled immediately.

The latter criteria was not proven in Mrs. Petitpren's temporary appointment, Kaufman ruled.

Detroiters grab 2 board spots

Detroiters have retained the two top spots on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners for 1981.

Chairman Samuel Turner was re-elected by the 27-member board Monday without opposition. Vice-chairman Clemens Bykowski was narrowly re-elected, 14-12, over Commissioner Thomas Presnell, D-Garden City/Westland.

The results marked the second straight year suburban commissioners have been cut off from the county board's leadership positions.

"I'M OBVIOUSLY disappointed," Presnell said Tuesday. "We were hopeful we'd get the Detroit group to share leadership roles, and they refused to do that.

"Many of the Detroit commissioners have a mentality that Wayne County doesn't exist west of the Detroit border. I think it's unfortunate that this split exists."

Turner could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Suburban commissioners, a 16-11 board minority, maintain there should be "shared leadership" at the county level, Presnell said, similar to the minority political party having some leadership positions in Congress and the Michigan Legislature. The county board has 24 Democrats and three Republicans.

Past board chairmen from the suburbs have included Richard Manning of Redford Township in 1979 and John Barr of Dearborn Heights, now county civil service personnel director, in 1977. Both were once vice-chairmen.

While the vice-chairman doesn't have any additional authority, the suburbs wanted the seat to "open up a better line of communication between out-county commissioners and the chairman," Presnell said.

Presnell was supported by the 11 suburban commissioners and John Korney, D-Detroit. The remainder of the Detroit bloc, except for George Killeen, who abstained, supported Bykowski. The Detroit bloc includes newly elected Commissioner Arthur Blackwell of Highland Park and Clarence Young, representing parts of Ecorse and River Rouge.

AS CHAIRMAN, Turner will once again assign the five standing committee chairmen and members. The chairman receives an annual salary of $22,690; the vice chairman, $17,190.

The other 25 commissioners receive $16,190 a year. The salaries don't include cost of living increases, which meant an additional $6,274 for each commissioner last year, and $100 a month expense allowances.

The part-time commissioners and other county elected officials will receive $1,500 raises in 1982.

Turner, 54, is an attorney. Bykowski, 56, is a retired Detroit police officer.

EMU makes budget cuts

Target budget cuts totalling $1,127,270 have been announced by Eastern Michigan University.

The cuts will reduce the University's 1980-81 General Fund budget to $50,937,614 from the $53,573,923 approved by the EMU Board of Regents last June.

The VIEW from CANTON CENTER

KAL JABARA was one of four southeastern Michigan residents elected to the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan Board of Trustees. He has been an active volunteer and chapter member for more than 15 years. Kal is presently chairman of the Salvation Army Capital Fund Committee.

He is owner of Pinetree Development Co. and Wild Wing Gallery of Plymouth. He is past president of the Plymouth Rotary Club and the Detroit Oilman's Club and past master of Masonic Lodge 375.

STAN PEYTON of Durango, Colo. and Dan and Pam Nutz of Imperial Beach, Calif. were holiday guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Peyton of Plymouth. Stan and Pam had an opportunity to visit with many old friends in the area as they attended holiday parties and open houses. Mrs. Harry Peyton of Fostoria, Ohio also was a guest in the Peyton home.

Chorus on TV

The Plymouth Community Chorus turned out Sunday evening to see itself on television. The Christmas concert in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium had been taped by Omnicom cable television and shown twice during the holiday season. The special showing had been arranged because most of the members of the chorus had missed broadcasts. They were delighted with the result. Rehearsals for the spring concert will begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 13 in East Middle School and they welcome new voices. Men need not audition for the chorus as the search continues for more male singers. Women must audition. East Middle School is on Mill Street between Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail. Mike Gross of Westland directs the chorus. Soloists taking a bow at the end of the Christmas performance are (front row, from left) Leatha Longstreet, Joyce Hamilton, Kay Ray, Gayle Lang, Michael Gross (director), Carol Chen (accompanist), and Morand Zimmer. Ex-columnist writes from Idaho desert

Sam Nichols, Canton Chatter columnist, promised to keep in touch when she and her family moved to Idaho. She kept her promise with this update of the Nichols Clan's adventures.

Have you ever wondered what happens to ex-Canton Chatterers? Do they really just fade away and become frumpy housewives again? I certainly hope not!

I know my shoes have been very ably filled by Kathy Freece, but I thought I'd slip them on just once more, and let you know the Nichols are still kicking.

It was with very mixed feelings that we left Canton. It had been a long time since I cried as much as I did leaving all our good friends. But opportunity knocked, so here we are in the middle of the desert, where Rex works with nuclear submarines. When he said he wanted to "light up my life," I guess he really meant it!

For those of you who have wondered if there really is a state of Idaho — there really is. It's a well-kept secret, with less than one million residents. We live in the second largest city, Pocatello, population about 50,000. Pocatello, otherwise known as "Poky," is a very pleasant community nestled in the mountains.

We've been having somewhat of a heat wave, with temps nearing 60 degrees. The boys were really mad at me because we didn't have snow for Christmas. They know I'm in favor of abolishing winter with all its ice and snow.

And the sooner the better, since the men in my life are pressuring me to take up skiing. Personally, I've always thought my legs are one of my best features, and I don't care to see them broken.

THE CONDENSED version of our lives until Dec. 23 is as follows:

Rex works for Westinghouse, and is the southeastern Idaho liaison officer for West Point.

Kirk is in the fourth grade in a traditional style and calendar school. He says hello to everyone at Field School. He's also taking violin lessons, definitely not my idea, and he really enjoys playing.

Keith is tackling kindergarten with great vitality. He was the best ever Luke Skywalker in the Christmas play. At least that was my opinion!

My plans to be a homebody and not get involved ran amuck somewhere. I am the teacher's helper in Kirk's class two mornings a week, and I helped the women of the church make several hundred Christmas puddings for sale.

I also bowl in a ladies league, and Rex and I have just joined a couples bowling league. I play in two bridge groups through the Welcome Wagon Club, and I'm still "into trash."

Our family has joined the Y, mainly for swimming and racquetball. For all the Canton Newcomers who took racquetball lessons from Rex, he reports I'll be ready to turn pro — in about 100 years!

WE WERE ABLE to travel to our parents' homes in Oregon for a most enjoyable Thanksgiving holiday. We even picked out our beef, on the hoof, at Rex's parents' cattle ranch. So if you come to visit after July, there should be some good eating here.

Our zoo is in the process of rebuilding. We weren't able to move all the stock, just the dogs. We have acquired two turtles, Snapper and Smiley, and are just about ready to get salt water fish.

Dec. 23 added some spark to our lives. Sam dog awakened us just to let us know our bed was on fire! We truly believe that a dog is man's best friend!

Very luckily, no one was hurt, and we are now in the lengthy process of filling out forms, etc., so the blanket manufacturer can reimburse us for all things lost. The cause of the fire was a faulty electric blanket. We certainly can never complain that it didn't get hot enough!

Later that day, I took Keith to the doctor because he was complaining of a sore throat. Dec. 24, we found out he had strep throat and needed a penicillin shot. To ease the pain, we got him a fishing pole complete with hook, line and sinker.

If you get the sinking feeling that there is more to this line, you're right. He promptly got a huge hook stuck deep in his finger. Luckily, this fish story was a happy ending, since the "catch of the day" didn't require any stitches.

ABOUT THEN, we were wondering what else could go wrong, and that proved to be a mistake.

Christmas morning we had to rush Kirk to the hospital for emergency surgery. Our Christmas dinner consisted of a Coke and a candy bar while we waited for surgery to end. Since Kirk was the only child on the pediatric ward, they let Keith join us, and we all spent the day in Kirk's hospital room.

So, while this ex-chatterer is hoping life will calm down just a touch, I'd like to take the time to wish everyone in Canton the very best in 1981!

JEAN AND JIM Jabara had both their sons home for Christmas.

Mike came from San Francisco for four days. He was on his way to Germany and England. He went to Frankfurt then to a business meeting in Munich. At this writing, he is in London where he is speaking at a telecommunications seminar.

Mike, with a partner, has his own business, the San Francisco Telecommunications Co. They make educational video films for schools, businesses and public television.

His Munich visit was a meeting with representatives of a German company which will handle their films there.

Marty had a longer visit. He is attending the Dick Grove School of Music in Los Angeles, a highly selective school where students will spend 12 months studying just two courses.

Marty is concentrating on learning to write music for films.

Both young men are graduates Plymouth High School, Mike in 1972 and Marty in 1974. Mike attended Michigan Tech for two years before transferring to the University of California where he earned his bachelor's degree. He earned his master's degree at Pepperdine University.

Marty received a four-year music scholarship to the University of Michigan. He went to U-M for two years then headed for California where he graduated from Southern Cal.

It had been a long time since Mike and Marty had been at home at the same time. Jean said she did all her holiday baking before they arrived so she could relax and enjoy the visit.

SOUTHPAWS, you have not been forgotten. Marilyn Brown of All By Hand, 12 Forest Place, is offering a six-week series of classes in left-handed crochet.

Classes run from 7-9 p.m. beginning Jan. 14 and run through Feb. 18. If you're interested, you can learn more about the series by calling 455-4242.

INEZ PULKER of Plymouth has been awarded a scholarship from the Michigan Office of Substance Abuse Services. She will attend the seventh annual Winter Midwest Institute of Alcohol Studies at the Hilton Inn in Kalamazoo.

The project provides basic information on alcohol problems for professional people whose work brings them in contact with persons experiencing a drinking problem. All participants receive a certificate of achievement upon successful completion of the five-day course. Approximately 325 persons from Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan will attend institute.

CANTON BUSINESS and Professional Women's Club will receive its charter Saturday, Jan. 31, and the Plymouth BPW'ers are all excited. The Canton club with 33 charter members will be the largest club in the state ever to receive its charter.

Plymouth is the sponsoring club with dinner and ceremonies scheduled for the Plymouth Hilton Inn. The Plymouth BPW hasn't sponsored a club for 30 years. Then it was the Northville branch. State and national BPW officers will be on hand for the big event.

THE 1981 CITY of Plymouth calendar and annual report is the best one ever — by far the most attractive.

Contributing artists are to be congratulated on their works. They are Barbara Bray, Erick Carne, Gordon Eddy, Glenda Haut, Earl Lundin and Audrey Paul.

Community's past, present and future are examined

"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" will be the theme of tonight's program when the Plymouth Historical Society meets in the Historical Museum, Main Street at Church. All three segments will be recorded by Omnicom cable television.

The past and present as well as prognostications for the community's next 20 years will be available for cablecasting and for later viewing by interested groups. The society has invited members of the Plymouth Newcomers Club to attend the meeting. Society members also are inviting personal guests.

Dr. Sam Hudson, historian and author, will present the first segment of show which deals with the community's past. His talk will be illustrated with slides accumulated over years of research.

Hudson has a rich background in public relations. Born in Salford, England, he has lived most of his life in the United States. He has been a resident of Plymouth since 1953. During World War II, he served in France as a U.S. infantry battalion intelligence officer with Patton's Third Army and later as commander of a German prisoner-of-war stockade in England.

A GRADUATE OF New York University, he earned his master of arts degree in English literature from Eastern Michigan University in 1964 and his doctor of philosophy degree in English literature from Wayne State University in 1972.

In addition to "The Story of Plymouth, Michigan," Hudson is the author of "Pictures of Plymouth, Past and Present," a pictorial history and of numerous articles published in magazines and trade journals. He is a longtime columnist for the Plymouth Observer.

For many years, he was an advertising and public relations executive with firms in New York City, Plymouth and Detroit. He was a member of the board of trustees of Schoolcraft Community College, was president of the Plymouth Community Fund and the Plymouth Rotary Club. He also was vice president of the Plymouth Symphony Society.

SEGMENT TWO will deal with the present.

The audio-visual presentation was produced originally to acquaint members of the Massachusetts delegation to the GOP National Convention with the community. The delegation had sent scouts to the Detroit area prior to the convention to choose a headquarters for the duration of the event.

"Plymouth Today" is a colorful account of the many factors which make the community both a desireable location for commerce and industry as well as a place for family life.

THE FUTURE of the township, city and schools will complete the program.

A prediction of what can be expected in the next 20 years will be in the form of a panel discussion. Serving on the panel will be Bill Joyner, Wayne County commissioner; Maurie Breen, Plymouth Township supervisor; Mary Childs, mayor of the city of Plymouth; John M. Hoben, superintendent of the Plymouth-Canton Schools; and Henry Graper, Plymouth city manager.

Pearsall to speak at AAUW luncheon

Dr. Paul Pearsall will be the featured speaker at the Saturday, Jan. 7 luncheon meeting of the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women. Pearsall adressed the branch several years ago and a return engagement has been requested each year.

He is the director of the Problems of Daily Living Clinic of the Department of Psychiatry at Sinai Hospital in Detroit. Pearsall's area of expertise particularly correlates with one of the AAUW's current study topics, Families Facing Change.

His presentation, "Parent Abuse: Child Expectations and Parental Obligations," will deal with the characteristics of families for whom child management has become a stressful chore, with negative consequences for both children and parents.

His talk will include characteristics of children who tend to overly control their parents, symptoms of parents who are having difficulty relating to their children as persons with equal, but not superior rights. Pearsall will give recommendations for more effective balance in attempting to develop with, rather than for, children in the American family.

The luncheon will be at Madonna College with cocktails at 11:45 a.m. and lunch beginning at 12:30 p.m. The menu will include an appetizer, tossed salad, roll and butter, breast of chicken supreme sauce au sherry, rice pilaf, vegetable, dessert, and tea or coffee for $8.

For more information call Phyllis Johnson at 455-2907. All women who are graduates of an accredited college or university are invited to attend.

Flood-Maly

Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Flood of Farmington Hills announce the engagement of their daughter Michele Ann to R. Kevin Maly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Maly of Plymouth.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of North Farmington High School and Kellogg Community College where she earned a dental hygienist degree. She is employed by a pediatric dental office in Farmington Hills.

Her fiance is a graduate of Stevenson High School and Eastern Michigan University, employed with LaPorte & Associates in Farmington Hills.

A May wedding is planned in St. Fabian Catholic Church in Farmington Hills.

Mel Paulun's men—a dedicated group

Canton Chatter

By KATHY FREECE 981-2027

Chief Mel Paulun of the Canton Fire Department heads a group of dedicated and highly trained men.

Unless we have had the misfortune to have called on these firefighters to defend our home from any type of fire, or utilized their rescue facilities, we have no idea of how they oversee our community with a 24-hour protection.

There are no part-time employees on the payroll in the Canton area. With many of the products in the home and office made of synthetics, the complex job of being aware of how to combat all types of fires is a constant updating process for the men on the force. There is a national phone number available to public service organizations compliments of Dow Chemical Co. and Chem-Trec.

A computer is filled with information on how to combat and treat fires involving insecticides, pesticides and gasoline spills. It gives the department more time to overcome the problem and no chance of error.

The never-ending job of fire prevention is of utmost importance to Capt. Art Winkel. He works with schools, businesses and community organizations as fire inspector. He makes his rounds of speaking engagements in a continuing effort to spread the word about safety precautions.

SGT. KEN WITT was prominent in conducting the CPR classes which started two years ago.

With the aid of the Canton Newcomers Club and other dedicated nonprofit clubs equipment was supplied to the fire department so training could begin and lives would be saved.

There has been a radical change in the techniques used by the men in this area. Years ago, firefighters typically would sit around playing checkers and, even though they were dedicated, there was very little public communication. The slogan on the minds of all these men is "moments of terror and hours of boredom."

Other officers in the fire department are Capt. Vernon Rorabacher, Lt. Larry Longwish, and Sgts. Bill Grady, Don Adams and Mike Rorabacher.

The chief allies of all of the officers are the preschool children and the students in the lower grades of our elementary schools. By taking the time to give in-depth tours of the facilities, bringing the equipment to the schools and fire prevention week programs, our youngsters readily see the need for a home emergency plan.

Many of us are lax in providing a routine fire drill in the place where we spend most of our time — the home. The most important thing to remember when there is a fire is to get out and stay out.

A FAMILY atmosphere is prevalent in the station, where a shift of 24 hours is the normal routine. There is a definite respect for each other because they are all professionals and they choose to preserve a high degree of comradeship.

An average week consists of 56 hours of saving lives and property, rendering regular maintenance to the station, updating their emergency medical training and keeping the kitchen tolerable.

Jake Dingeldey is the head of the Department of Public Works in Canton. He has the important job of consistent unkeep of the fire trucks and the emergency rescue units.

There are no paramedics in Canton. The funds are not available for the equipment and there is not a hospital with facilities to undertake the procedures necessary.

Just this year, Detroit has developed its own paramedic plans. Advanced first aid and the EMT I and II are required classes for the firefighters. I guess you have to be part chemist, part doctor and total humanitarian to be able to be in this line of work.

STEVE BERGER, Jim Davison, Roger Pollack, Dave Champagne, Dave Hamilton, Frank Chakrabarty, Don Oelke and Harry Harrison are a few of the caring Cantonites in the fire department.

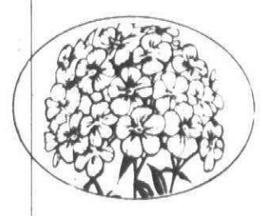

Claude Gersky, Phil Daley, George Daubresse, Jim Sumner, Gary Sova, Tom Battistone, Ken Arble, Kevin Kingslien, Rick Paulun, Jack Raker, Dennis Draplin, Dave Bukis, Scott Knepshield, John Hunter and Tom Davison make up the balance of the force.

There are two stations. The main station at Canton Center and Cherry Hill is where all of the calls are received. Station No. 2 is located on Warren just east of Lilley. Many residents do not know the second fire house exists.

Let's not take this service for granted as I know I do. All the men listed above are a true asset to the township of Canton.

Jennie Tallmadge popped bag after bag of popcorn on the VFW's 1932 Chicago World's Fair popcorn machine.

World's Fair popper keeps popping away

Holiday parties for children have become a tradition at the Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Plymouth.

The first, in 1954, was co-sponsored by the post and auxiliary with Edward Kopenski as post commander and Marie Norman as president of the auxiliary. Two hundred children attended that first party.

Post members donned clown suits for the children's party.

Now the grandchildren of the post and auxiliary members make up the majority of the children attending the party. This year's gathering was co-chaired by Lenora Glidden, second vice president of the auxiliary, and James Dray, senior vice commander of the post. The format has changed, with the post financing the party and the women of the auxiliary providing cookies, punch and popcorn for the youngsters.

The VFW popcorn machine has a history. It was at the the 1932 World's Fair in Chicago. It was purchased by the uncle of post member James Greenwood. The uncle later sold it to the post. At this year's party, Jennie Tallmadge of the auxiliary popped hundreds of bags of popcorn on the old brass and glass machine.

The men provided a puppet show, candy and gifts for the children. Post members Dan Fowler and Bob Champion donned clown suits to add to the merriment.

Elders to learn how to speak up

Growing older more assertively is the theme of a two-part workshop that Schoolcraft College will offer this month at Plymouth and Northville locations.

It will be given from 9:30-11:30 a.m. on Jan. 16 and 23 at Tonquish Creek Manor in Plymouth and on Jan. 23 and 30 in Allen Terrace, Northville. The workshop is free and open to the public. Registrations are being taken by Tracy Johnson at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 455-6620, or Fran Yoakam at Allen Terrace, 349-8030.

To be conducted by Ann Baker, Schoolcraft senior forum coordinator, the workshop will deal with issues facing older adults.

Ms. Baker said participants would learn, through discussion and simulated situations, how to express ideas, beliefs and opinions in direct, honest and straightforward ways without impinging on the rights of others.

AAUW represented at U.N. conference

Judy Stone, past president of the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women, attended a United Nations, conference on women in New York City.

Mrs. Stone, a teacher in the talented and gifted program at Pioneer Middle School, was awarded a $200 travelship to attend the conference.

She was one of 17 delegates awarded such a grant. More than 300 women from the U.S., Mexico and Puerto Rico attended the conference.

Mrs. Stone said one day's sessions were devoted to a review of the international women's conference in Copenhagen. On Saturday, they toured the United Nations Building. Discussions centered on the quiet approach to stopping world violence and the state of the world economy as it relates to women.

"Much of the emphasis was on the declining health and nutrition levels of women and children in the emerging nations," said Mrs. Stone.

"Ironically, as many as third world countries begin industrialization, basic life support levels drop. Women constitute 50 percent of the world's population but do 75 percent of the labor when food gathering and child rearing are taken into consideration."

Woman's Club to meet Jan. 9

The Woman's Club of Plymouth is starting off the new year with a spruce-up program. Members and guests will meet at 12:30 p.m. Friday in St. John Episcopal Church, Sheldon Road south of Ann Arbor Trail.

Joyce Kelly will chair the program. She has promised a demonstration by a representative of Mary Kay Cosmetics.

The tea committee will be chaired by Linda Pawling. She will be assisted by Isabel Bates, Betty Childs, Pauline Drouillard, Mary Ellen Kenyon, Barnara LeClair, Dorothy Lent and Jean Neuhardt.

AARP SENIORS TAX AID PROGRAM

The Plymouth-Northville chapter of the American Association for Retired Persons will again sponsor a tax aid program, "Help for the Elderly," in the Plymouth Cultural Center. Federal representatives will be at the center from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Wednesday through Friday, Jan. 15-17 to instruct those who wish to participate in the program.

State representatives will be at the center on Farmer Street from 9 a.m. to noon Monday, Jan. 19. The classes will be open to the public. Those willing to give four hours per week of their time during February and March to assist in the program will be welcomed.

TONQUISH CREEK GARDEN CLUB

Jerry Dunsizer of Sparr's Greenhouse and Flower Shop will be guest speaker at the Tuesday, Jan. 13 meeting of the Tonquish Creek Garden Club. Club members will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Moore. Cohostesses will be Mrs. Robert Brusa and Mrs. Robert Drake.

Following the speaker's talk about leaf propogation and cuttings, there will be a business meeting.

ROCK AND MINERAL SOCIETY

The Plymouth Rock and Mineral Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 12 in the crafts room of the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer, Plymouth.

There will be a slide presentation of "Mt. St. Helens, Before and After." The meeting will be open to the public. Plans are continuing for an open house Feb. 15.

PLYMOUTH EX-NEWCOMERS

Plymouth Ex-Newcomers will have a combination hors d'oeuvre and card party at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 13 in West Middle School, Ann Arbor Trail at Sheldon Road. Members and guests are invited.

Everyone is asked to provide a favorite hor d'oeuvre to pass and three to five recipes for appetizers to be included in the soon to be published Plymouth Ex-Newcomers Appetizer Cookbook.

Persons may come to the card party as a group or may come alone and join a group for bridge, pinochle, euchre, Uno, bunko, or just to socialize. Prizes will be awarded.

For more information, call Dorothy Grant at 455-1457.

SQUARE DANCE CLASSES

Beginners' square dance classes begin at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 15 in the Whittier Community Center, 28550 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland. New students will be accepted for the first three weeks. For information, call Bob and Mary Brennan at 421-5359.

THE CANTON SINGERS

Applications for February auditions with the Canton Singers will be taken until the end of January. There are three openings, one in each voice section except soprano. The repertory show chorus of 18 young men and women sings pop music. The non-professional group is sponsored byt Canton Township.

Interested singers can call the business manager weekdays at 455-2745 for information.

ST. JOHN NEUMANN WOMEN'S GUILD

St. John Neumann Women's Guild will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 14 in the Parish Hall on Warren Road between Sheldon and Canton Center roads.

Pat Hann of the House of Glamour will do hair and make-up makeovers on three guild members. Refreshments will be served. All women in the parish may attend.

DIVORCED/SEPARATED CHRISTIANS

Bethany, a gathering of divorced and separated Christians, will meet at 7 p.m. Friday, Jan. 16 at Cyprus Gardens. Sheldon Road at Ford in Canton Township. A $5.95 charge will cover a Greek smorgasbord and lecture by Diane Farber of Family Life Service of Plymouth. For reservations call Ann Duff, 427-4010. Monthly meetings usually are the third Friday of each month in the gymnasium of Our Lady of Good Counsel School, William Street at Arthur, Plymouth.

WOMAN'S CLUB OF PLYMOUTH

Club will meet at 12:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 9 in St. John Episcopal Church, Sheldon Road south of Ann Arbor Trail. Chairwoman of the day is Joyce Kelly. There will be a spruce-up program with a cosmetic demonstration by a Mary Kay representative.

GIRL SCOUT SWIM LESSONS

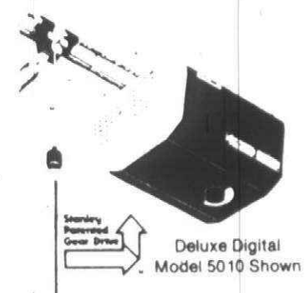

Girl Scouts can register for Red Cross swimming lessons at 9:15 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 17 at Central Middle School, Main Street at Church, Plymouth. Parent or guardian must accompany daughter to sign admission forms. Girls are asked to take along swim suit and towel for class placement. Scouts will be dismissed by 11:30 a.m. The 45-minute lessons will continue every Saturday through March 14. Fee for eight weeks of lessons is $15. For more information call senior scout advisor, Gerry Bing at 459-6692.

EXERCISES FOR PREGNANT WOMEN

The Childbirth and Family Resource Center is offering a six-week prenatal exercise course based on yoga principles. Series will begin at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 15 in the Kingsmill Clubhouse on Northville Road.

Class deals with relaxation techniques, gentle stretches to help keep flexibility, and specific exercises to strengthen abdominal muscles and eliminate discomforts during pregnancy.

A beginning Hatha Yoga Course will start Jan. 14 at the Kingsmill Clubhouse for non-pregnant persons. For more information or to register call 459-2678 or 459-2360. The fee for each six-week course is $20.

APPLE RUN GARDEN CLUB

Members of the Apple Run branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 13 at the home of Bobbie Plopan. Co-hostess will be Sandi Reid. Fresh flower arranging will be the theme of the meeting.

CANTON NEWCOMERS

Members of the Canton Newcomers Club are planning an hors d'oeuvres and games night from 8 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 10 in the Canton Township Recreation Hall, Sheldon Road at Michigan Avenue. Each couple is to bring an hors d'oeuvre for 20 25 people. Cost will be $1 per couple. For reservations or more information call Debbie Burns, 981-1520.

EPILEPSY SUPPORT PROGRAM

Group will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 8 in All Saints Lutheran Church, 8850 Newburgh Road, corner of Joy Road.

Michael A. Nigro, D.O., a pediatric neurologist, will speak and answer questions from the members. The meeting is open to the public.

EVENING LA LECHE LEAGUE

"Nutrition and Weaning" will be the topic at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 13 at the home of Erin McGraw, 215 Adams Street, Plymouth. It is the fourth and last meeting of the series. All mothers and babies welcome. For information call Key Semion, 981-1028, or Patty Cincotta, 455-3249.

JOHN SACKETT DAR

John Sackett Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet at noon Saturday, Jan. 10 at the McFadden Ross Museum, Brady at Michigan Avenue, Dearborn. Co-hostesses for the luncheon will be Hazel Mudie, Dearborn; Freddie Cote, Livonia; Waynette McCoy, Livonia; and Gladys Sutfin, Plymouth.

Jeanne Godroy and Dennis Charboneau, members of the Detroit Historical Museum, will talk about life in 1700 in Fort Wayne.

Howe-Reinke

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Howe of Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Lucy, to Keith C. Reinke, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Reinke of Detroit. The bride-elect is a 1979 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School. Her fiance graduated from Detroit Denby High School in 1976. Both are students at Lake Superior College in Sault Ste. Marie. He will graduate in May 1981 with a major in marketing.

They will be married in February.

LAST CHANCE TO REGISTER FOR WINTER CLASSES

NOW there's more to savings. Just "Check n' Save"© with us.

Starting December 31, 1980, Down River Federal Savings will offer checking accounts that earn 5¼% daily interest, paid and compounded quarterly with a $500.00 minimum balance.

Sign up beginning December 1 for your interest earning "Check n' Save©" account with Down River Federal Savings.

You'll use this account like you would any checking account, but it will earn you daily interest just like a savings account, including interest on funds for which you've written checks until those checks have cleared. As long as you maintain a $500.00 minimum balance, there's no service charge. Visit any of our 24 convenient offices (not available at drive-in offices) to open your account, or fill out the coupon and send it in.

Mail this coupon or bring it into the nearest Down River Federal Office.

church bulletin

WARD PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Farmington and Six Mile, Livonia, has scheduled Dr. Norm Wakefield as speaker for a marriage-enrichment seminar to be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 17. The seminar is part of the family-week activities taking place from Jan. 11-18.

Dr. Wakefield is a consultant in marriage and family living. He is married and the father of five. His books include "Building Self-Esteem in the Family," "You Can Have a Happier Family" and "Listening: A Christian's Guide to Loving Relationships."

Dr. Bartlett Hess, Ward pastor, will begin family week with a talk on "How to Have a Happy Home" at the 8:30, 10 and 11:30 a.m. services on Sunday. His topic is from Ephesians.

"Climb a Tall Mountain," a family film, will be shown at the 7 p.m. service on Sunday. This drama with a spiritual message was filmed in the Swiss Alps.

The James Dobson film, "Christian Fathering," will be shown at the Wednesday School of Christian Education at 7 p.m. Classes and activities are provided for children and youth at the same time.

The Covenant Players, a Christmas Repertoire Theater group, will present a family drama at 7 p.m. services on Jan. 18.

TRINITY CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN, 27350 W. Chicago, Redford Township, will present a lecture by Dr. Dale Oxender, professor of biological chemistry at the University of Michigan, at 7 p.m. on Sunday. His topic will be "Recombinant DNA: Its Implication for Medicine."

Oxender and his staff are researching amino-acid transport in cultured animal and tumor cells. They have successfully cloned four genes and have done advanced work on breaking down DNA sequence. Oxender's efforts have been concentrated on synthetic genes and recombinations of DNA, the basic genetic substance found in human cells.

UNITY OF LIVONIA, 28660 Five Mile, has planned a mid-week class at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 7 and from noon to 4 p.m. on the following day.

Participants will hear songs and piano organ duets, followed by a discussion of the Catherine Ponder book, "The Millionaire from Nazareth." Organist is Marie Conners; speaker is Gene Sorensen, minister.

Guest speaker D.G. Fassett, publisher of Conquest, a newspaper serving Michigan senior and handicapped citizens, will talk on Thursday at an activity for senior adults. The program will be led by licensed Unity teacher Bonita Steele, who is the coordinating director of the Bryant Drop-In Center, Dearborn.

KIRK OF OUR SAVIOR, 36660 Cherry Hill, Westland, will soon start its winter adult-education program. Among the activities will be a Sunday Breakfast Fellowship at 8:30 a.m. beginning on Jan. 18. It will continue for 13 weeks. Another class will be a series on "Love and Marriage" based on the Bauman Bible Study Films.

The Kirk Kurtain Kallers, a liturgical drama group, will accept new participants at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan 21. This group started last fall, and had presented short chancel dramas during Kirk worship service.

A basic Bible study will meet at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesdays beginning on Jan. 20 and continuing for 12 weeks. It will use "Interpreting the Word" study material from the United Presbyterian Adult Education Program.

A class on theology and contemporary literature will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Mondays, beginning on Jan. 19. It will continue for eight to 12 weeks. A variety of literary works will be read to look at their impact on theology.

The Clown Liberation Army will meet at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 25, and last six to eight weeks. This group of trained Christian clowns is offering to teach others of the ministry of the clowns in worship, nursing homes and hospitals.

For more information, contact the Kirk office at 728-1088.

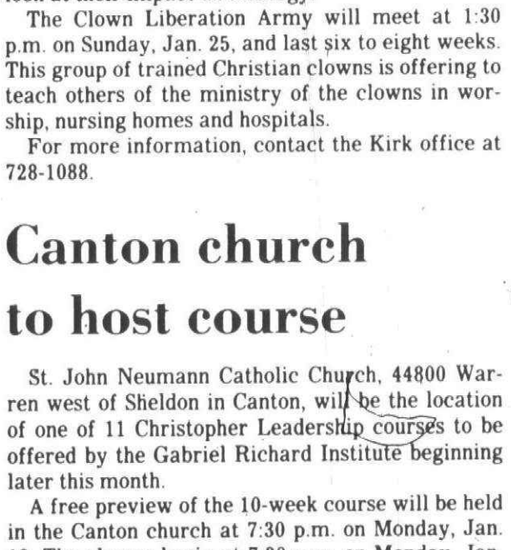

Canton church to host course

St. John Neumann Catholic Church, 44800 Warren west of Sheldon in Canton, will be the location of one of 11 Christopher Leadership courses to be offered by the Gabriel Richard Institute beginning later this month.

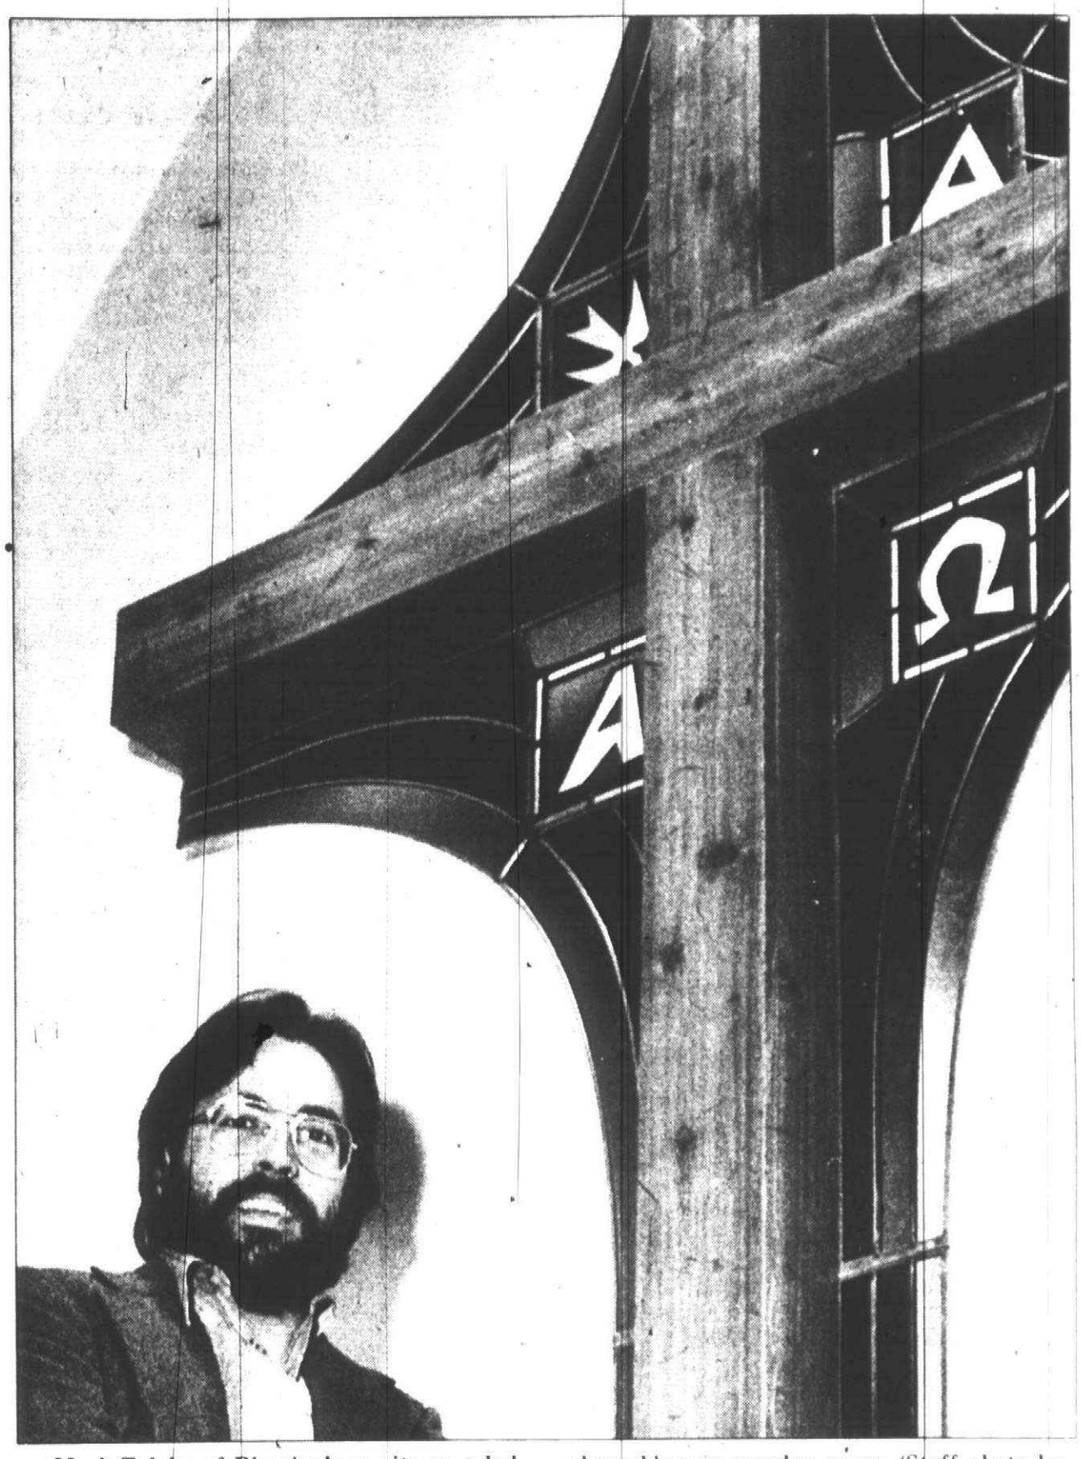

A free preview of the 10-week course will be held in the Canton church at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 12. The classes begin at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 26.

The course, which costs $60, focuses on attitudes and skills that develop leadership abilities. These include self-confidence, speaking before groups, interpersonal relationships and purpose.

Adults in all kinds of work are invited to participate. Brochures are available by calling the institute at 567-9190 on weekdays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Dollie Lieberman, 455-2486, has information on the course at St. John Newmann.

Elizabeth MacDonald, Bible teacher and speaker, will be featured at a Jan. 23 mini-retreat sponsored by the women of Aldersgate United Methodist Church in Redford Township. Sessions run from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Registration is $6 and must be made by Jan. 16.

Memorial cross is glass and wood

By SHERRY KAHAN

Worshipers in Augsburg Lutheran Church in Redford Township have a new focus for their Sunday contemplation. Behind the altar hangs a cross that is an unusual work of art.

Made of wood and stained glass, the cross blends the work of two men, Dr. Ken McKersie of Dearborn Heights and Mark Talaba of Birmingham.

Dr. McKersie, a member of the congregation, made the wooden cross which was dedicated to the memory of Karl and Ruth Lehman Sr. and Clifford and Rena Palmer.

The stained glass section of the project was carried out by Talaba, and dedicated to the memory of the Rev. Lightner A. Swan, pastor of the church from 1951 to 1970. It was commissioned by Swan's wife, Ann, along with the Rev. Daniel Ward, present pastor. Financing came from funds donated in memory of Swan.

Rising 11 feet, the cross is set against a white background. Lights concealed within it heighten the red, purple and rose colors of the stained glass which flows upward at its side.

The glass contains several symbols. The blue circle on the center stands for hope in the promise of God's love in Christ. A dove, a triangle, the letter A, and the Greek symbol for Omega are pictured in white against a red background at the top to the cross.

The dove is the symbol of the Holy Spirit, and the triangle refers to the Trinity. The symbols of Alpha and Omega express Christ as the first and last, the beginning and end.

Shades of purple, violet and rose represent the colors of kingship, the season of Lent and the blossom of new life.

"It adds a new dimension to our worship life," said Pastor Ward, who shepherded the project through the Church Council. "It focuses everyone's attention on the cross. It adds a message of hope and resurrection."

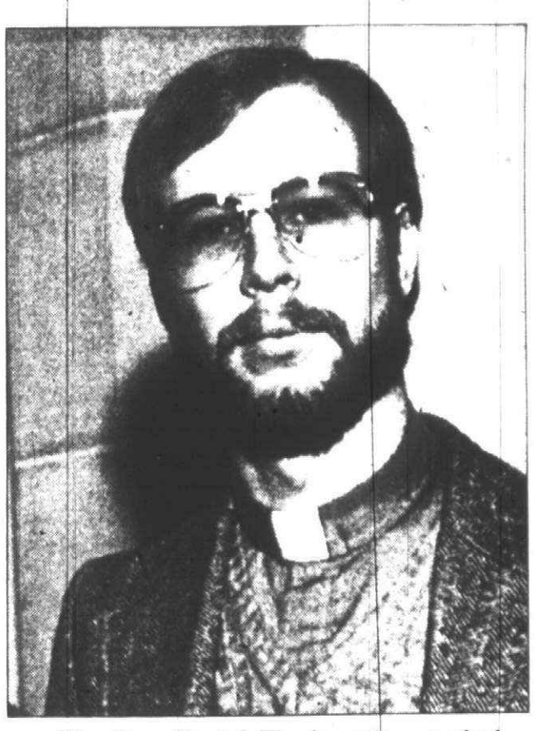

DR. McKERSIE, a veterinarian, is a carpenter in his spare time. Sometimes he helps Augsburg church in remodeling projects. He fitted the wood for the cross together so carefully, it is hard to tell where one piece ends and another begins.

Mark Talaba's job was to fit the glass just as neatly to the cross. Mrs. Swan's daughter, Wanda Hollified of Bloomfield Hills, heard about his work in stained glass when he was working on windows in a West Bloomfield church.

He studied McKersie's cross, made his sketches and had one accepted. Then he went to work, selecting the proper handblown glass from stock that comes from Germany, France, England and the U.S. He cut it into shapes he wanted.

"Stained glass is a very potent art form," he said. "When the light comes through the glass it is like being in the sun. The colors radiate out to you. Light fascinates me. I work directly with the effect of light."

He grew up amid an artistic family in Union Lake, drawing and painting but never quite hitting on the art form that was for him. While at Michigan State University, he became interested in stained glass and before long had decided to make it his medium.

The Rev. Daniel Ward, pastor, pushed the cross project at Augsburg.

For 11 years he has made a successful living, mainly by installing stained glass windows in various churches. The Augsburg cross was the first use he put the glass within a building.

He also produces free standing stained glass objects for sale. His work is sold through the Habitat Gallery in Southfield.

His projects have brought him invitations to lecture at the International Glass Arts Conference in San Francisco, and offers to do workshops in such distant places as Seattle, Houston, New York City and Boulder, Colo.

MRS. SWAN IS well satisfied with the two artists' work.

"It means everything to me," she said. "As soon as you come up the steps you see it. It is wonderful for young members as well as older ones. It refreshes your mind.

"Once when I was standing at the back of the church, a man told me 'This is the best thing Augsburg could have done.'"

She added that since it was to be dedicated to her husband, Pastor Swan, she wanted something that "would fit around the man and would be lasting."

"It looks beautiful," she said. "I never was so happy."

Ritter to lead marriage talks

The Rev. William A. Ritter, former minister of Newburg United Methodist Church of Livonia, will lead a four-week marriage seminar to be sponsored by the YWCA of Western Wayne County beginning on Wednesday, Jan. 28.

The sessions will be held from 7:30-9 p.m. in Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church, Hubbard and West Chicago, and will continue through the first three Wednesdays in February.

Ritter, now pastor of Nardin Park United Methodist in Farmington Hills, is well-known as a marriage-discussion leader. The seminar is designed to provide a relaxed atmosphere in which individuals and couples can talk about marriage in today's society.

The cost is $20 per couple or $15 for individuals. To register, call Leslie Frederick at the YWCA, 561-4110.

Spirits may write with a planchette

As a rule, I don't believe in paging ghosts. However, if you feel that a spirit has been trying to contact you, perhaps you can help it by sitting in the haunted area with a planchette.

A planchette is a wooden instrument, usually triangular or heart-shaped, mounted on ball-bearing casters. It is very much like the pointer used on an Ouija board.

The main difference is that a pencil or pen is inserted in a small hole in the pointed end of the planchette, so that it writes messages instead of pointing out letters on a board.

I prefer the planchette over the Ouija board for two reasons.

An Ouija board is made to be used by two people. I've never been able to be certain that the other person isn't pushing it. Then, too, the pointer often moves very fast and, human memory being what it is, the message may not always be recalled accurately when you are trying to analyze it later on.

The planchette, on the other hand, is used by only one person, so you know that no one else is pushing it. And when you are finished using a planchette, you have a written record of the message.

TO USE a planchette, you simply put it on a piece of paper, and place your fingertips lightly on top of it. Then, if you are lucky, it will write a message for you.

Whether or not you believe the messages, there is no disputing the fact that they are received. But received from whom? Or from what? Or from where?

Are you subconsciously controlling the planchette without knowing it? Are these messages really from deep within your own mind, perhaps made up from knowledge gleaned through clairvoyance and revealed to you by your own automatic writing?

Or is the planchette really controlled by other forces, and the messages the words of other entities — spirits dwelling on another plane?

MANY THINGS people write this way are pure fantasy, much like dreams. They should be accepted as such, and interpreted in the same way as the dreams your mind creates when you sleep.

However, many people have seemed to solve the mystery of why a particular ghost haunts them by communicating with that ghost through the use of a planchette.

If you decide to try your hand at automatic or spirit writing with a planchette, do it with an open mind and analyze your messages carefully.

They may be communications from another sphere, or maybe from the depths of your own subconscious mind.

In any case, it's an interesting experiment.

We pay a high price for plastic packaging

It's hard to believe there is an oil shortage when grocery stores are now using plastic bags for packing. I think we have more important things to do with our petrochemicals. Could Concern comment?

T.R., Livonia

It's true that plastics are a part of the petrochemical industry.

However when it comes to the plastics used for packaging, such as polyethylene, polyvinyl chloride and polystyrene foam, the issue is not so much oil as it is mounting waste disposal problems. These by-products represent less than 3 percent of each barrel of oil produced.

Plastics are not biodegradable, and, because they do not decompose, discarded plastic is clogging up our already over-burdened waste stream. Solid waste, useless, unwanted or discarded material that cannot be salvaged or recycled, is the real environmental threat that results from our use of plastics as disposable packaging.

Every year Americans throw away some 40 million tons of assorted trash, plastic bags and cups, ballpoint pens, disposable cigarette lighters, bottles and cans, old furniture, appliances and cars.

The national trash heap keeps growing as we add to the list of throwaways. Packaging is one of the largest single contributors, comprising as much as a third of all municipal waste. Ninety percent of all packages are thrown away within one year of purchase. And the cost of this consumer and environmental problem is passed on to the buyer. That's you and me.

Packaging also carries a hidden price tag. The cost of collecting and disposing of it once it is thrown away.

The consumer can pay for a disposable item as many as six times. The first cost is when an item is passed on to the consumer. The second cost figured into the price of an item is transportation. The third cost is the actual purchase in the store. The fourth cost is in trash pick-up when the item such as packaging is thrown away. The fifth cost results in disposal whether land fill or incineration. And the sixth and perhaps most expensive of all is the price we pay in the environment from the pollution caused by our wasteful habits.

Consumers do have a choice. First, think about what you buy, and second, think about what you throw away.

As for those plastic bags used by supermarkets just don't take them. You have the option to ask for a paper bag. If enough of us do that then they will soon disappear. Remember, the consumer determines what products do or do not sell.

Lo-cal gleanings from the holidays

Nancy Austin

The holiday season has been a good source of observations about people, their eating habits and what they like.

. . . Wendy's has a great lo-cal Italian dressing that is both tasty and zesty. I like this fast food chain's salad bar better than the one at Burger Chef. Competition may have forced Burger Chef to brighten its salad offerings.

. . . Bouquets to the restaurant service along the New York state thruway. Large bowls of fruit are set out for those who choose to resist gooey deserts.

. . . The same bouquets to those hosts and hostesses who served veggie snack trays over the holidays. It gave us an option to choose something healthful over the traditional sugar-laden cookies, candies and cakes.

. . . Overheard: "I am going to start my diet Jan. 2." and "The holidays always wreck my diet.".

. . . Watch the membership in diet clubs surge this January. Memberships swell every January and September. I find myself wondering how many started diets this week and how many will be on them next week. And what will the dropout rate be by next month, and how many will manage to stay with a diet the entire year? How many people will keep off the weight they lose, and how many will become one of the unsuccesful statistics?

. . . HEARD YESTERDAY about a lady who has lost 68 pounds in 20 months. She said she went off sugar completely. She also said that sugar is a real killer in more ways than one. One of the things it does is stimulate your appetite for more sugary foods. Overeaters Anonymous members believe in the no-sugar creed.

The devastating effects of sugar are now supported by studies and research.

Getting to know all about me

Pat Bordman

I. Me. Myself. Simple words, they carry within them the difference between a sense of personal identity and the inability to differentiate from others.

Photographing children is a concrete way of demonstrating how important they are to us. The attempt to capture and preserve an image of a child is a parent's proclamation of the younger person's worth. But it is only through a child's own experiences that he or she develops an idea of self.

This project might assist the child by providing a relection of himself, a concrete identity to look at, play with, wonder about, admire.

START WITH duplicate photos of the child, or pictures that will not be used for your permanent photo album. Be sure the photos are flattering and be sure they have your child alone. Carefully cut out the background and leave only the picture of the child.

Place a dab of glue at the bottom of the photo and attach the photo to the top of a popsicle stick. This me-puppet can now be used to act out scenes of daily living, to have internal dialogues, or just to look at.

The child may request pictures for you-puppets of family members or friends to include in real-life playlets. If you are fortunate enough to have an instant camera, this would be a fun project. Some background objects can be cut from magazines and glued to the sticks in a similar fashion.

Hopefully this photographic puppet will help the child see himself in a positive way.

Patricia Bordman has a master's degree in early childhood education. She has taught elementary school and conducted workshops and lectures. Write her c/o the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia 48150.

Family conflict explored

Families in conflict are the focus of the January installments of the "Exploration of Family Values," an ongoing series at Madonna College, Livonia. They will be presented in the academic building.

At 7 p.m. Thursday Jan. 15, psychologist Margaret Sosnowski, PhD., commissioner of public welfare in Philadelphia, will talk on confrontive family relationships.

A week later at the same time the film "In Celebration," which examines conflict between generations, will follow.

Both events are open to the public at no charge. They are co-sponsored by Madonna with the Michigan Council for the Humanities. The series will continue in March with a lecture on changing family expectations

An original play titled "Families" by the Pennsylvania-based national acting troupe, The Independent Eye, will follow in April.

Youth can take art classes

Young people in grades six through 12 may try their hand at painting and drawing in winter classes sponsored by the Visual Arts Association of Livonia (VAAL) in Jackson Community Center, 32025 Lyndon.

The classes are sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission in cooperation with the Michigan Council for the Arts. They will be held for 10 weeks from 4-6 p.m. starting Tuesday, Jan. 14.

Students may work on drawing, watercolors, acrylics or a combination of mediums. They should bring pencil and sketch book to the first class, at which a materials list will be available.

Instructing the class will be Ann Dase, who has earned her bachelor of fine arts degree at Wittenberg University. She has taught in the Farmington school district and teaches in the Livonia leisure time program. An active member of VAAL, Ms. Dase won a best of show award at an exhibit last fall.

Cost of the course is $45. For enrollment information contact Elizabeth Hull at 464-2611.

Fellowship invites Rhodes

Arthur Rhodes, electrical contractor from Vicksburg, Mich., will be the guest speaker Friday, Jan. 16 at a meeting of the Northville-Plymouth-Livonia Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship. He is FGBMF field representative for southwestern Michigan and president of the Kalamazoo chapter.

The 8 p.m. meeting will follow dinner at Sveden House in Farmington. The meal is $5.50 per person. Both dinner and program are open to the public.

Reservations are required by Jan. 13. Call 349-0006 or 591-0099, or send checks payable to the organization to Box 5332, Northville 48167.

YOU GET GREAT GIFTS AND HIGH INTEREST AT STANDARD FEDERAL SAVINGS

New! Checking Accounts with Interest

Until now, you've never had interest paid on your checking account. But on January 1, 1981, you'll have the chance to take advantage of a brand new service from Standard Federal Savings — checking accounts with interest. In addition to providing savings accounts which pay the highest rate available on insured savings, Standard Federal also offers the opportunity to earn the highest interest allowed on your checking account.

These accounts will earn 5¼% annual interest — continuously compounded — adding interest every month to your account for an effective annual yield of 5.467%. This is the highest interest allowed on checking accounts.

You may open an account in any amount. However, with a minimum balance of $500.00 OR an average daily balance of $1,000.00, you may write all the checks you wish, with no monthly service charge. (A $5.00 monthly fee is assessed if you go below the minimum or average requirements).

- Each month you'll receive a detailed statement of your account which lists your checks in numerical order, your deposits, any service charges assessed and the interest earned during the statement period.
- Personalized checks are printed free of charge if you choose not to have your checks returned with your monthly statement. There will be a charge for printing personalized checks if you wish to have your checks returned to you. With either option, you may select a style that provides a carbon copy of each check for your records.
- A permanent record of each check will be kept by Standard Federal Savings. If you need a copy for any reason, microfilm copies of as many as 25 checks per year (or all checks relating to an IRS audit) will be provided at no charge.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS 62 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER:
Customers 62 years of age and older who have direct deposit of social security or other retirement checks into any Standard Federal Savings account will pay no monthly service charge on their checking accounts.

RIGHT NOW — receive a gift FREE or at big savings just for opening a new checking account with $1,000.00 or more. Gifts are also available for opening or adding $1,000.00 or more to any Standard Federal savings account.

26-Week Money Market Certificate*
Minimum Balance $10,000.00
The interest rate is determined weekly and has three options for payment of interest; interest can be paid at maturity, or paid on the last day of each month and automatically transferred to a 5½% regular savings account, or paid by check every month. Call (313) 643-9583 for the current rate.

2½-Year Money Market Certificate*
Minimum Balance $100.00
The interest rate is determined bi-weekly and compounded continuously giving the highest return available on these accounts. Call (313) 643-6855 for the current rates.

Non-negotiable Savings Certificate*
Minimum Balance $100,000.00
Terms range from 14 days to 5 years with interest rates quoted by Standard Federal Savings on a daily basis. Call (313) 643-9562 for current rates.

Retirement Savings Accounts*
IRA is a personal, tax-sheltered retirement savings program. It is available for any working person who is not currently participating in a private or government retirement plan. The Keogh Plan, a tax-sheltered retirement plan for self-employed individuals, is also available.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts and also prohibit the compounding of interest on 26-week money market certificates.
The rate established at the time these accounts are opened is the rate in effect for the full term of the certificate.

Salem forward Scott Bublin (No. 30) appears to be playing soccer. But he and Ypsilanti's Byran Poe (No. 20) know that the basketball is the prized possession near mid-court. Ypsi won the non-league game over the Rocks, 46-38. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Ypsilanti cagers press, run past Plymouth Salem

By BRAD EMONS

Plymouth Salem's basketball team started 1981 like it ended 1980 — with a loss.

The Rocks suffered their second straight defeat in their own gym on Tuesday night as Ypsilanti came away with a 46-38 triumph.

Once again there was nothing wrong with Salem's man-to-man defense. But offensively, the Rocks experienced another dismal night.

Ypsi's quickness bothered Salem, but the Rocks still had plenty of chances to win.

"I thought we played good enough defensively to win," said Salem coach Fred Thomann, whose team slipped to 5-2 with the non-league loss. "We didn't give up too many fast breaks. A couple of spurts with their quickness hurt."

Four straight points by Karl Addie midway through the fourth quarter put it away for the Braves, now 4-1 overall.

Salem led late in the first quarter, but Ypsilanti took command in the second quarter.

The Braves began to bother Salem with their full-court press in the third period. Salem lost the ball three times in the second half in 10-second violations.

Keith Armstrong, a muscular 6-foot-7 junior center, and Addie each pumped in 12 points to pace Ypsi.

PAUL HORTON, Salem's 6-foot-9 senior center, led all scorers with 15 points. He scored all 10 of the Rocks' points in the third quarter.

"Paul had a real nice game," said Thomann. "He did a good job inside for us."

Ypsi, whose only loss is to No. 1-ranked Lansing Eastern, held a 19-14 halftime advantage.

"We were banking on our quickness in this game," veteran coach Dick Ouellette said. "I thought defensively we did as well as we have been doing.

"That was the difference in the game.

"Coming back from the holidays had a lot to do with our offense. We forced some shots. Maybe seven or eight out of our range."

For Thomann,it's back to the drawing board.

"When you're playing behind against that kind of quickness, it's hard," said Thomann.

"By the time we get it sorted out, we'll be okay.

"We'll see what happens in practice."

Salem will entertain Suburban Eight League foe Allen Park on Friday night. Salem currently leads the league with a 3-0 mark.

Salem Invitational Satutday

Mat tilt draws stellar field

A preview of the Class A high school wrestling championships will be held on Saturday in Plymouth Salem's gym.

That's right, the Salem Invitational is drawing a stellar field. First-round action will start at 10:30 a.m. Tickets for the first session are $1 for students and $1.50 for adults. Consolation finals will start at 7:30 p.m. followed by the championship matches at 8:30 p.m. Tickets for the second session are $1.50 for students and $2 for adults.

An all-day pass is available for $2 and $3, respectively.

The competition will be fierce. Host Salem is the defending champ.

Five ranked teams will compete — Belleville, No. 3; Trenton, No. 4; Bay City Western, No. 5; Portage Northern, No. 9; Clarkston, No. 12.

"There are wrestlers who will place in the state but might not even win this tournament," Salem wrestling coach Ron Krueger said. "This is a lot tougher than we've ever had. It's most of the same teams, only everyone is a little bit tougher this year."

Other teams invited include Macomb County champs Mt. Clemens, Westland John Glenn, Farmington, North Farmington, Ypsilanti, Fenton, Ann Arbor Huron, Plymouth Canton, Dearborn Heights Annapolis and Garden City East.

SALEM, 6-1 overall in dual meets, may be hard pressed to defend its title.

"I think we're up in there," Krueger said, "but we haven't been able to get all our kids out at the same time. We've had a lot of injuries."

Medals for the tournament will be awarded to the top finishers in each weight class. Trophies will be awarded to the top three teams, MVP and winning coach. The Plymouth Elks have donated money toward this year's awards.

Among the top wrestlers entered in the tournament is Bob Rechsteiner of Bay City, a defending Class A champ at 145 pounds. He is reportedly the University of Michigan's No. 1 recruit. He's wrestling at 167 pounds and should get a stiff challenge from Salem's Steve Szilagyi, who sports a 17-2 mark.

Other top matmen include Farmington's Dave Denny (119), Bellville's Steve Cook (198) and Portage Northern's Dave Hobbs, a defending state champ at 98 pounds.

"A lot of these teams will have kids place at state," said Krueger, whose guided the Rocks to a fourth-place finish in Class A last March.

Salem will tangle with No. 2-ranked Temperance-Bedford on Thursday. That should prepare the Rocks well for their own tourney.

Pin champs crowned

The father-and-son team of Chet and Scott Kapla won the Pee Wee division of the Holiday Doubles Bowling Tournament with an 829 total for two games.

The Holiday Doubles tournament was held Dec. 27 by Canton Township Parks and Recreation at the Superbowl.

Karen and Kevin Holmes took second place in the eight-and-under Pee Wee divison with an 820. Joanne and Jason Drury were third with an 819.

The father and son team of Richard and Brian Rencsok won the Senior division with a three-game total of 1381. James and Bob Brusa were second with a 1310, and third place went to John and Roger Ragan with a 1301.

More than 130 teams took part in the tournament. All scoring was done on a handicap basis to equalize the competition.

Himes wants elusive crown

Salem's leading hitter this season should be 5-foot-9 senior co-captain Cheryl Sobkow, a second-team All-Observer pick last year. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

By BRAD EMONS

Plymouth Salem coach Cathy Himes is hoping the success attained by the school's basketball team will carry over to her volleyball squad.

Himes has four players to work with off that successful basketball team, which reached the girls' Class A semifinals.

"We have lots of great hitters," said Himes, now in her fifth season. "I'm excited. We have 10 good kids. They all have the potential to be leaders.

"A lot will depend on what six who'll work together the best."

Himes has yet to win a Suburban Eight League title, but the Salem coach feels she's closing the gap.

"I think the teams will be more equal than in the past," Himes said. "Looking at the basketball thing, anything can happen."

The leading returnee is 5-foot-9 senior co-captain Cheryl Sobkow, who "does everything for us," Himes said.

Sobkow, who was Salem's starting center in basketball, was a first-team All-Suburban Eight League volleyball choice and made second-team All-Observer a year ago.

Another basketball starter, Carol Ross, is the team's other captain.

Himes describes the junior "as one of the most aggressive girls on our team."

Mary Van Dusen, a 5-foot-5 senior, also returns. She made second-team All-League a year ago.

Other senior returnees include 5-foot-3 Dawn Himman, a defensive specialist, and Debbie Hartford.

HIMES EXPECTS big things from lefty hitter Lori Genyck, a transfer student from Milan.

"Lori is an aggressive player who's still learning," said Himes of the junior. "She's going to help us a lot."

Another junior with previous varsity experience is Linda Lybarger, who, Himes said, is the team's best jumper. Lybarger was also a member of Salem's semifinalist cage team.

Junior Kelly Tucker, off last year's reserve team, has been penciled in as the team's setter along with speedy sophomore Lisa Granger.

Sophomore Jacque Merrifield rounds out the team. She was a starter, too, on Salem's basketball team. The 5-foot-6 blocker will provide a lot of offense for the Rocks, who finished third last year in the Suburban Eight.

"The basketball thing really helps," reminded Himes. "We had four girls who missed two weeks of our preseason practice, but that doesn't hurt at all.

"I've coached them before and they're all in good shape."

Livonia Bentley, which won the league title last year, lost five starters. Second-place Dearborn was also hit hard by graduation. For that reason, Himes is optimistic about the upcoming season which officially begins on Wednesday at home against Dearborn.

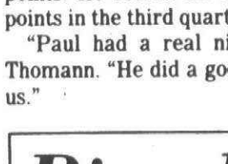

"If we can pull together as a team, we'll be right in there," predicted Himes.

Late free throws sink Canton cagers

Kevin Nichols made two free throws with 13 seconds left to lift Farmington past Plymouth Canton on Tuesday night, 54-52, in a non-league basketball game.

Nichols, a 6-foot senior who paced the winners with 14 points, connected the two free throws to ice the game for the Falcons, now 3-3 overall.

Canton led all the way until the final quarter.

Farmington, however, used a full-court press to stymie the Chiefs (4-3) and canned seven of nine free throws down the stretch.

"I feel bad about losing a game we had won," said Canton coach Craig Bell. "We didn't deal very well with their pressure late in the game and we sent them to the free-throw line too many times."

Farmington hit 14 of 24 from the stripe compared with Canton's eight of 16. Canton outscored the Falcons from the field, 22-20.

"We didn't shoot well enough from the free-throw line to win the game," Bell said. "We shot all right from the field."

SEAN HOULE, Canton's 6-foot-5 senior center, paced all scorers with 17 points. Steve Tuttle and Matt Thomas, a pair of juniors, each collected 10.

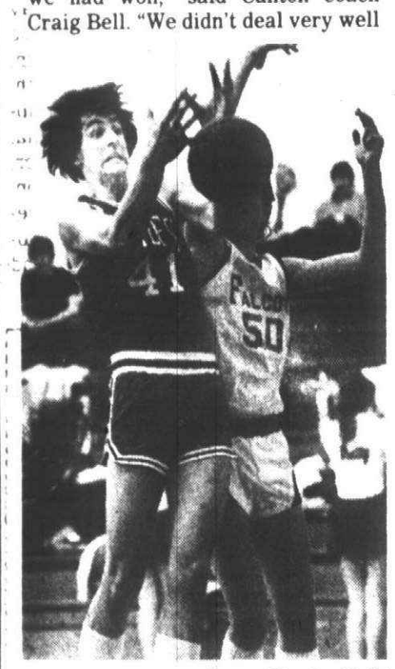

Mike Wozniak added 11 for Farmington.

Farmington, coached by Rich Roy, outscored Canton 18-10 in the final period. Canton led at halftime 28-24.

"It was a slow game for three quarters," Roy said. "Maybe the Christmas holidays had something to do with it.

"But we usually don't quit. This team never quits on people. We made some big free throws down the stretch and our pressure was the turning point."

Canton will host 1979-80 Western Six League co-champs Waterford Mott on Friday. The Chiefs, like Mott, are 1-1 in league play.

45-15 BOWLING TOURNEY SLATED

The Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring its fourth annual 45-15 Single Bowling Tournament for youngsters 14 and under.

Track B competition is slated to begin on Wednesday at Superbowl. Check in time is at noon.

Track C competition will follow on Jan. 28 and Track D will be held Feb. 18. The last round (Track A) will be held on March 11.

Boys and girls will be separated into these divisions: Pee Wees, 8 and under; Bantams, 9-11; Juniors, 12-14.

Bantams and Juniors will bowl three games each at a cost of $3.25 per person. Pee Wees will roll two games at a cost of $2.75.

Track winners will bowl in a championship playoff to be held at Superbowl in late March.

Entry blanks are available at Superbowl or the Parks and Recreation Department.

For more information, call 397-1000.

ADULT SKI WEEKENDS OFFERED

Five skiing weekends for adults are being offered through the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association.

Among the ski weekends available include Schuss Mountain, Jan. 30-Feb. 1, Feb. 13-15 and March 13-15; Sugar Loaf, March 6-8.

The package includes lodging (two nights), buffet breakfast (two days), buffet dinner (one day), two lift tickets, entertainment and round-trip transportation. For more information, call the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department at 397-1000.

CROSS COUNTRY SKI CLINICS OFFERED

A series of cross country ski clinics are being offered by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department beginning on Wednesday.

Other clinics have been scheduled for Jan. 29 and Feb. 10. All three clinics will run from 7:30-9:30 p.m. at the Canton Township Administration Building and fields immediately adjacent.

The cost is $5.50 per person for each clinic. That includes skis, poles, boots and lessons from certified ski instructors (CSIA) of "Sportventure."

The cost for persons with their own equipment is $3.50.

Registrations must be submitted in person or by mail two days in advance to: Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, Canton 48188.

For more information, call 397-1000.

PARKS AND RECREATION NIGHTS SCHEDULED

Men's and women's recreation nights, sponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department, will begin on Wednesday, Jan. 21 at Walker Elementary School on Michigan Avenue.

Both groups will meet each Wednesday for 10 weeks. The cost is $10 per person.

Registrations can be delivered in person or by mail to: Canton Parks and Recreation Department, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, Canton 48188.

For more information, call 397-1000.

YOUTH HOCKEY CLINICS OFFERED

A pair of youth hockey clinics, offered by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department, will start with a four-week clinic beginning on Jan. 26.

For more information, call 397-1000.

Softball sign-up set

Only "good weather" will prevent play of the second annual Groundhogs Day Softball Classic Jan. 31-Feb. 1 at Griffin Park.

That's the word from Bob Dates, assistant director the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department.

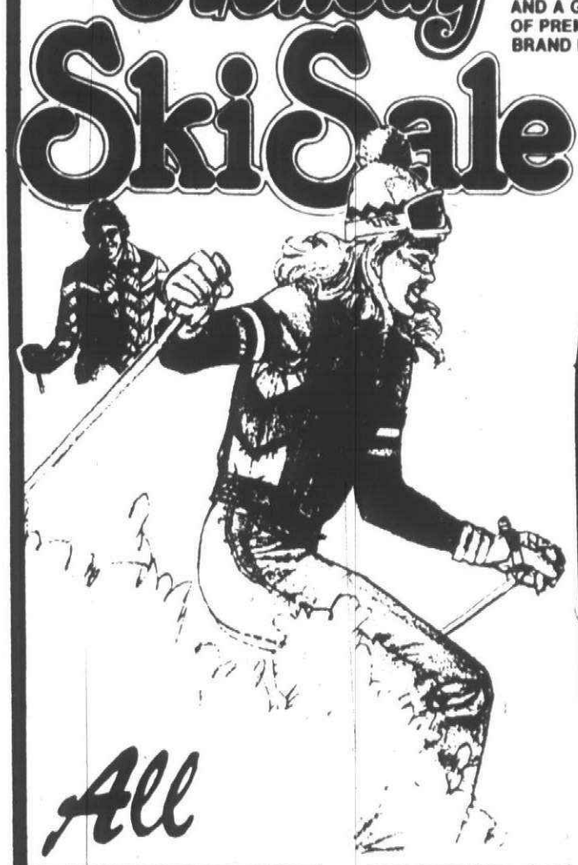

Eight teams participated in the tournament last year won by B & D Graphics, which upset McMurray Insurance.

This year's registration fee is $25 per team. That fee covers expenses for softball, umpires and team trophies. Each team must be limited to 18 players and every member must have at least one bat. Games will be held on a one-hour time limit.

The entry deadline is 5 p.m. Friday, Jan. 23. Registration will be held at the Canton Township Parks and Recreation office, 1150 South Canton Center.

Swedish hockey squad makes return voyage fun

Nothing was done to hurt international relations last Friday when a Swedish girls' hockey team met Livonia's Pee Wees at Devon Aire Ice Arena.

The two squads put on a fine exhibition of hockey. And the score (4-1 in favor of Brunflo, Sweden) didn't really seem to matter.

"This is just a lot of fun," Livonia coach Garry Gibson said, "and that's all it should be. That's what's nice about girls' hockey. You can still keep it fun."

The Livonia girls (ages 13-15), members of the Inter-City Girls' Hockey League and currently in second place, skated right with their older counterparts from Scandinavia.

On Saturday at W. W. Edgar Arena, Livonia's Midgets (ages 16-19) took on the same Swedish skaters.

A group from the Livonia Girls' Hockey Association (LGHA) ventured to Brunflo, located 260 miles north of Stockholm, a year ago Christmas.

The Swedes, members of the Saab-Ana (sponsored by a Europeon car dealer), paid a return visit two weeks ago.

"All of the girls' are staying with our families," Gibson said. "We've gone to Greenfield Village, toured downtown, been to the state capitol in Lansing and have gone roller skating."

Gibson and his girls even took the Swedes down to Joe Louis Arena to see the infamous Detroit Red Wings.

"We been on different outings," Brunflo coach Brent Forsberg said in crackling English. "We like it quite much here.

Foosberg had nothing but praise for the younger Livonians.

"They are very good skaters," he said, "and I think it was a very good game. We had problems with the hard ice."

MOST OF THE Swedish girls ranged in age from 15 to 18. Forsberg said his girls play approximately 15 games a year, not including the playoffs.

Forsberg said in Sweden "we check more." He wasn't surprised by the light-hitting from the Livonians.

It's ironic, however, that men's hockey in Europe is less physical.

The Swedes left yesterday from Metro Airport to return to their native land. The team arrived in Detroit on the day after Christmas.

"Everybody is having a good time," Gibson said. "It's worked out real well. I don't know if we'll go back. When we went there two years ago, we worked on raising money for six months — we had car washes and set up a booth at Spree 30. We had a lot of different projects."

Youths sizzle during holidays

One of the best stories of the holiday season concerns the feat of two youngsters who teamed to win the holiday doubles at Farmington Lanes.

Berry Van Dike, a 16-year-old who carries an average of 180, selected an 8-year-old boy in his bowling class for a partner and they walked off with top honors.

Van Dike, who finished with a 686, happens to be George Hixson's bowling instructor. The youngster fired a 350 for his three games and their counts, combined with a 359-pin handicap, gave them the victory.

So far as is known, young Hixson is the youngest bowler ever to share a championship in any of the adult tournaments.

THE OTHER unusual event was turned in by Frank Doyle, a 72-year-old member of the Gay 90's league at Woodland Lanes.

He opened with a spare and then struck the rest of the way for a 290 and a 568 series. He had to yield top series honors to Dan Daveito, who had a 244 in 610.

Joining the high scorers in the house was Hank Ponkey, who posted a 278 in the Striker's league, while Dave Chor had games of 257 and 275 for 717 in the Bator's loop.

Meanwhile, Mark Yatko, a 13-year-old with a 123 average, had a high single of 264 in the youth league.

FIVE OTHER 700 series were fired in the area during the holiday week.

Three of them came at Westland Bowl where Ken Kossick paced the Mixed classic with games of 237 and 255 in 716 and Bob Schmidt had counts of 255 and 256 in 705.

The third was produced by Frank Briscoe in the Monday all-star loop. He had a middle game of 268 in 740.

Meanwhile, Keith Miller had a high game of 279 in the Sleepers league to beat out Ken Long and Tom Trioano, each of whom tallied games of 266 in the All-Star.

THE DOORS to the 700 club were opened at Farmington Lanes to admit Doug Demarois, who registered a 278 game in a 749 series to show the way in the Monday mixed classic.

His nearest rival was Dan Knoblauch, who opened with a 276 and settled for 696, while Dan Perko took third place with 259 in 677.

In the regular Mixed classic Larry Schenker was tops with 657, seven pins more than Larry Franz.

Myrna Hille scored a double. She was high woman in the Mixed classic with 225 in 590 and then scored again when she paced the ladies classic with a 268 in 653.

AT GARDEN LANES, Mickey Cawetzka was top man in the Moose League with 641. This count gave him a margin of six pins over Harry Totalian with Don McHugh in third place with 618.

In the Ladies classic, Jean Rowlette was high with 600 and Printon Green showed the way in the Traveling league with 689.

HARD LUCK honors for the week went to Tim Gardella. Bowling in the Hydromatic league at Plaza Lanes, he just missed perfection.

After registering games of 216 and 164, he rolled 11 strikes in a row in his final game. He drew a frown from Lady Luck and left up the No. 6 pin on his last ball.

June Buck showed the way in the doubles at Merri-Bowl with a closing game of 213 for 597 and David Chamberlain rolled a 275 in the Nottingham circuit.

Coaches asked to call in stats

Are you interested in knowing who are the fastest swimmers and the best wrestlers in Observerland this winter?

You'll know next week and every week thereafter — if area coaches cooperate.

Dan Chrenko, wrestling coach at Plymouth Canton, and Keith Wright, swimming coach at Livonia Bentley, have volunteered to compile the weekly listing of best performers in their respective sports.

Wrestling coaches are asked to contact Chrenko with the records of their best wrestlers by weight class every week, preferably 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. Fridays. He is available after 9 a.m. Fridays if it is impossible to call in the afternoon.

The wrestling number is 453-3100, ext. 398.

Swimming coaches are asked to contact Wright with the times of their best swimmers every week 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Fridays or Mondays.

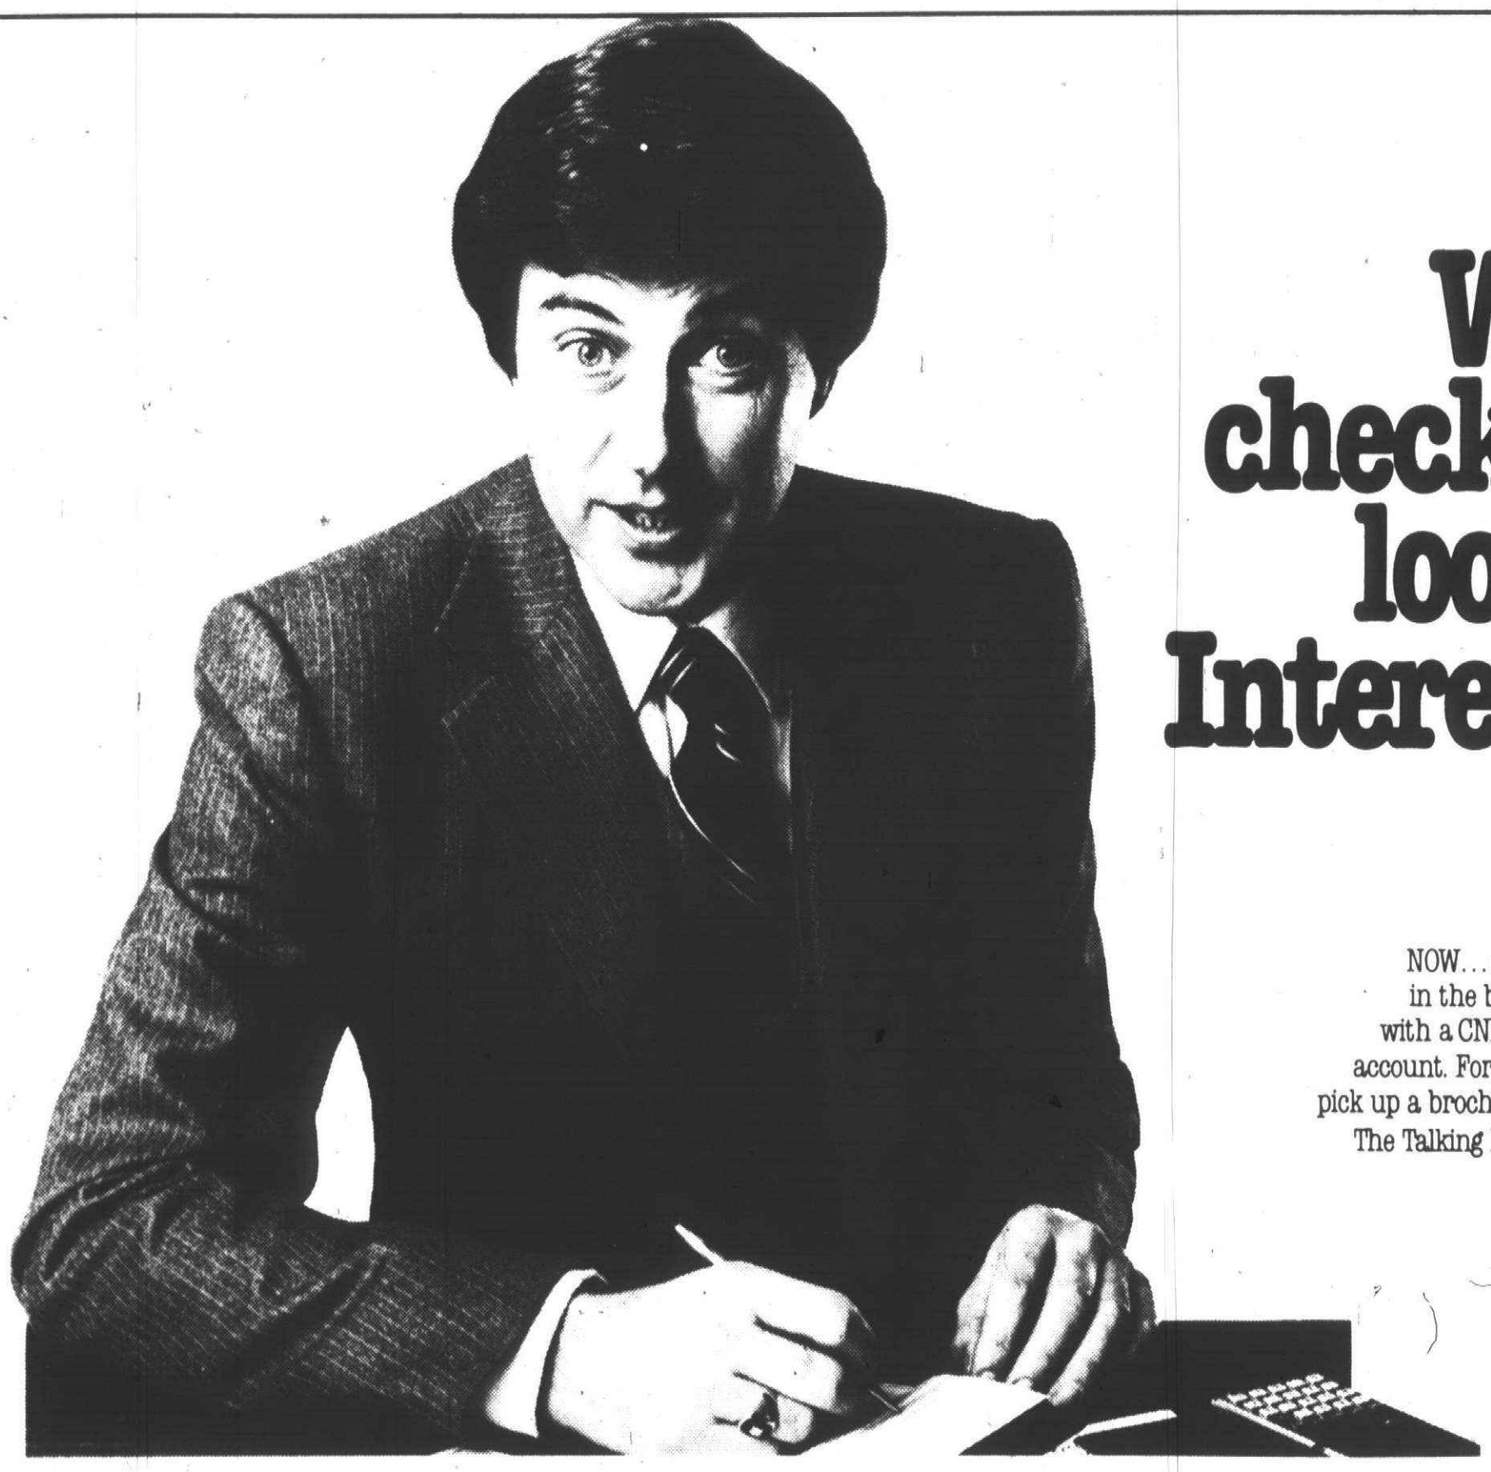

The swimming number is 422-3070.

The following schools are eligible:

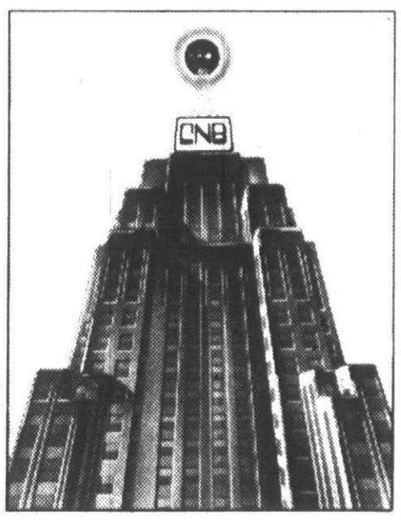

Westland John Glenn, Plymouth Salem, Plymouth Canton, Garden City East, Garden City West and Clarenceville.

Also, Redford Union, Redford Thurston, Detroit Catholic Central, Redford Bishop Borgess, Redford St. Agatha, Livonia Bentley, Livonia Stevenson, Livonia Franklin and Livonia Churchill.

"2001: A Space Odyssey" (1968), 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Redford Theatre, 17360 Lahser, phone 537-2560. Running time 139 minutes.

As the granddaddy of the outer space epics of the 1970s, Stanley Kubrick's "2001" qualifies as one of the most far-sighted and significant films ever made. It's based on an Arthur C. Clark novel, but even Clark would be hard pressed to explain just exactly what this film is about.

Plot, character and action are virtually non-existent, yet Kubrick molds an absolutely fascinating, spellbinding film via wonderful special effects and the music of Richard Strauss. Keir Dullea and Gary Lockwood appear in the film, but a personable computer named Hal is the star.

WHAT'S IT WORTH?

Bad	$1
Fair	$2
Good	$3
Excellent	$4

"2001" — like the music of Strauss — is more easily absorbed than understood. Rating: $3.75.

"A Night at the Opera" (1935), 7 p.m. Saturday at the Detroit Public Library, 5201 Woodward, phone 833-4049, $2.50. Running time (movie only) 90 minutes.

The Marx Brothers' sixth film marked their departure from Paramount Studios and the beginning of a fruitful association with Irving Thalberg and MGM, for whom they made five films while enjoying their greatest success.

Earlier Marx Brothers' pictures — though certainly outrageously funny — were mostly expanded vaudeville routines. Thalberg instructed his writers to add more structure to the brothers' films and, while plot never stands in the way of a punch line, the Marxes work at MGM is their best.

"A Night at the Opera" is part of the Detroit Public Library's special "1935 Evening." The program will recreate a typical night at the movies circa 1935, and will include a newsreel, Laurel and Hardy short, cartoon and previews. Rating: $3.40.

"High Plains Drifter" (1973), 9 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 7. Originally 105 minutes.

Fortunately, "High Planes Drifter" has a very competent director to guide it along — Eastwood himself. In his best film in years, Eastwood blows like tumbleweed into an isolated, frightened, little town, stopping just long enough to impose his own brand of morality on the townsfolk who hire him to protect them from a gang of outlaws.

Rating: $3.35.

Michael Kloian

of the American Backgammon Club

IN THE BEAR-OFF

In the example, black has a 3-1 roll to play. White has possession of the doubling cube at the 4 level and, depending on how black moves, may choose to redouble.

How would you play the 3-1 for black?

Very often during the bear-off, positions similar to this will arise. Of course, the primary goal in all situations is to make your move effectively to allow you (on your next roll) the most possible combinations that will succeed in bearing off both checkers.

The immediate complication for most players during an actual game is to readily know the correct move by way of a quick analysis or by actually calculating the odds of various moves — a slow but effective method.

For example, if black moved a checker from the 6 to the 3 point and from the 5 to the 4 point, black has 17 good combinations (less than a 50 percent chance) that will bear off both checkers. Should black move from the 6 to the 2 point, there are 19 good combinations (better than a 50 percent chance).

Technically, this is the correct move since black has increased his chances. Also, if your opponent should own the doubling cube, making the best possible play may prohibit a redouble, allowing you another roll.

It certainly was easy for me to contemplate the best move by way of calculating the odds. But how about in a game, under pressure, with the tension of time gnawing away?

I'd do it the same way.

Kloian will teach a free beginner's backgammon class 1-3 p.m. Saturday at 3139 S. Wayne Road with a double-entry tournament for beginners and advanced players beginning at 4 p.m. For more information, contact the American Backgammon Club at 459-5776 or write to Box 599, Plymouth 48170.

Jam turns serious for Dixieland fans

What started as a jam session during a rehearsal two years ago has turned into some serious business for some admitted Dixieland fans.

The Motor City Saints, a seven-piece combo featuring some of the area's finest Dixieland Jazz musicians, moves into the Bronze Wheel Restaurant in Dearborn Heights this Sunday after successful stints at several area clubs.

According to leader and trumpeter Jim Falk of Garden City, the group plays anything from traditional Dixie arrangements to more contemporary standards with a Dixie flair.

The group began almost by accident, Falk said. Several of its members play in a Detroit area band, the Swing Shift, and during rehearsal warmups they often jammed to different tunes.

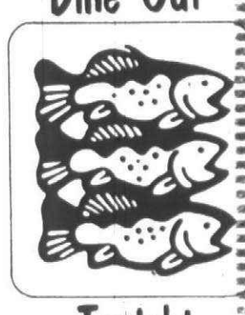

Dixieland was a favorite, so all it took was a suggestion and the group was organized. That was two years ago.

ALTHOUGH four of the group's seven members sing, it's the drummer, Dave Aichler, who Falk says turns heads. Besides having what other members of the group feel is an excellent voice, Aichler's impersonations add to the fun. He'll give you a convincing Louis Armstrong, Billy Eckstine, Vaughn Monroe or even Walter Brennan.

Falk heaps priaise on others in the group. "George Green, trombonist, is one of the best around. Besides a big sound like Bill Harris, he also does fine vocals," he says.

"Somebody said if you want an excellent banjo-guitarist, get Rod McDonald of Ann Arbor, so we did," said Falk. "He's got a string of credits including a stint with the New McKinney Cotton Pickers.

Benjamin Franklin designed many of the devices and vignettes used on the Continental currency notes and printed currency for the colony of New Jersey. He was so busy making paper money that he inserted a Want Ad in the Philadelphia Pennsylvania Gazette in 1736. "The Printer hopes irregular Publication of the Paper will be excused a few times by his Town Readers, on consideration of his being at Burlington with the Press, laboring for the Public Good to make Money more plentiful."

movies

THUR., JAN. 8

8-11PM NBC (7 Central/Mountain) GOLDENGIRL. Susan Anton stars in the title role of this drama about an untested but talented runner who attempts the unprecedented feat of winning three sprint races in Olympic competition. James Coburn, Curt Jergens, Leslie Caron, Robert Culp and James A Watson Jr. also star.

FRI., JAN. 9

8-10PM NBC (7 Central/Mountain) BUCK ROGERS. "Hawk". Season Premiere! A special two hour wing ding with Buck battling a powerful man-bird who has vowed vengence on the human race after his people have been wiped out by pirates. Gil Gerard stars as the space hero. Erin Gray returns as his beautiful assistant and Wilfrid Hyde-White is the irascible scientist, "Dr. Goodfellow". Thom Christopher is Hawk. Nice to have Buck back.

9-10PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) THE DUKES OF HAZZARD. Jan Clayton guest stars as Lucinda, an old flame of Uncle Jesse's.

9-11PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain) TOPPER. An update of the Thorne Smith comedy classic with Jack Warden in the title role previously essayed in the 1930's films by Roland Young and in the 50's TV series by Leo G. Carroll. About two brand new angels: Kate Jackson and off-screen hubby Andrew Stevens, who have a devil of a time getting into heaven. Fun. And how about that Kate... now she's one of Topper's angels.

Here in a contemplative mood. Watch.

SUN., JAN. 11

9-11PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain) HIGH PLAINS DRIFTER. Possibly the strangest flick that Clint Eastwood has ever made (he also directed), wherein he brings an entirely new meaning to the concept of painting the town red.

This is one revenge movie you'd better watch carefully.

MON., JAN. 12

8-11PM ABC (7 Central/Mountain) DYNASTY. A drama of passion and conflict (is there any other kind?) fueled by wealth, love and power in present-day America. This premiere gets off to a sizzling start with John Forsythe, Linda Evans, Bo Hopkins, Pamela Sue Martin, Dale Robertson and Pamela Bellwood. This series will be presented in its regular hour-long prime time format starting Monday, January 19th.

Stay glued.

TUES., JAN. 13

4-5PM NBC (3 Central/Mountain) TREASURE ISLAND. A Special Treat! That immortal rogue, Long John Silver, teams with a new buccaneer... a charming mouse named Hiccup... in this new animated adaptation of Robert Louis Stevenson's classic novel of adventure on the high seas and a desert island. Hiccup joins young Jim Hawkins and others on a search for Captain Flint's buried treasure.

Melissa Sue Anderson is your host. Climb aboard for a grand voyage.

8-9PM CBS (7 Central/Mountain) THE WHITE SHADOW. When is a hero not a hero?... is the theme when school delinquent Wardell Stone becomes an instant celebrity by rescuing an unconscious lady from her car. Ken Howard stars.

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) A MATTER OF LIFE AND DEATH. Linda Lavin, star of the network series "Alice", steps into the role of a dedicated and controversial nurse who helps the terminally ill take control over what is left of their lives. Guest starring in this true-life drama are Salome Jens and Gail Strickland.

WED., JAN. 14

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) TERROR AMONG US. Terror, indeed! The lives of five young women are threatened by a rapist out on parole. Starring Don Meredith, Sarah Purcell, Jennifer Salt and Ted Shackelford. A suspense filled drama and parental discretion is advised.

FRI., JAN. 16

9-11PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain) DIARY OF A TEENAGE HITCH-HIKER. This one speaks for itself.

SUN., JAN. 18

9-11:30PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain) THE CHOIR BOYS. No, America! This is not about lads in vestments! It is a Joseph (Police Story) Wambaugh tale about some nice and some not-so-nice cops in an LA precinct. With Burt Young, Charles Durning, Lou Gossett, Robert Webber, Randy Quaid and the statuesque Barbara Rhodes.

MON., JAN. 19

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) WHO IS KILLING THE GREAT CHEFS OF EUROPE? George Segal and Jacqueline Bisset are top-billed in this comic mystery tale of murder and mayhem in the International Culinary World, but it is co-star Robert Morley who garnishes this spoofery exquisitely. A gastronomic romp for whodunit fans and most palatable for the rest.

TUES., JAN. 20

WED., JAN. 21

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) WHEN THE CIRCUS CAME TO TOWN. A charmer with Elizabeth Montgomery and Christopher Plummer. All about a Southern spinster who has devoted her life to caring for her elderly father. After his death, she realizes that if she is ever to recharge her life, the time is now. So she puts the show on the road and runs away from her staid home and joins a flea-bitten one-ring traveling circus owned by a very jaunty ring-master.

Saw dust and star dust.

sports

SAT., JAN. 10

2:30-4PM ABC (1:30 Central/Mount.) PROFESSIONAL BOWLERS TOUR One of network television's longest running and most popular sports series is back in the alleys. Bowling at its best.

3:30-6PM NBC (1:30 Central/Mount.) COLLEGE BASKETBALL '81. Early games regionally telecast include:

Villanova at Syracuse
Tennessee at Kentucky
Notre Dame at Marquette
University of Houston at Texas
Colorado at Oklahoma State
South Dakota State at Utah

6PM NBC (3 Pacific Time) A biggie! The wildest crosstown rivalry west of Philadelphia as USC visits UCLA.

3-6PM CBS (2 Central/Mountain) CBS SPORTS SPECTACULAR. A special edition: The 56th annual East West Shrine Game, featuring the top college football seniors in the nation. Live from Palo Alto, California.

4-7PM ABC (3 Central/Mountain) ABC'S WIDE WORLD OF SPORTS. Live satellite coverage of the Hula Bowl from Aloha Stadium in Honolulu, Hawaii as East and West collegiate all-stars come to grips with one another and the beautiful climate in this annual classic.

SUN., JAN. 11

(Time to be announced) CBS "NFL on CBS" National Football Conference Championship Game.

Live. Even livelier when teams, game site and talent are decided on, which is after press time. Stay tuned!

SAT., JAN. 17

1-4PM CBS (12 Noon Cent./Mount.) CBS SPORTS SPECTACULAR. A special edition: 32nd annual Senior Bowl, live from Mobile, Alabama, in which football players from northern schools are matched against those from the south. The ole Blue-Gray game, as it were.

4-6PM CBS (3 Central/Mountain) GRAND PRIX MASTERS. Tennis tournament, live and on tape from fabled Madison Square Garden in New York City. Semifinals and other key matches are spotlighted.

11:30-Conclusion CBS (10:30 Ct./Mt.) JAPAN BOWL. Sixth annual meeting between NCAA college football seniors. Live from Yokohama Stadium in Japan.

SUN., JAN. 18

1-3PM CBS (12 Noon Central/Mount.) "NBA on CBS". CBS Sports resumes its weekly broadcast of National Basketball Association action and continues on through the best of seven NBA World Championship series. Live.

3-6PM CBS (2 Central/Mountain) GRAND PRIX MASTERS. Tennis tournament with live coverage of the finals from Madison Square Garden in New York City.

GOLD HOUSE

Dear Purchasers:

Now more than ever is the time to buy that new home you've been thinking about. Although interest rates are currently high, they are offset by the good values that are available. Many homes today can be purchased with seller financing at a maximum of 11% on a land contract, allowing you to purchase at a good price until the mortgage rates at lending institutions fall. If they should never fall, you will have gained even more. More importantly, you are able to deduct your interest and property taxes from your income when paying federal taxes. So don't wait until prices climb again putting that new home even further from your reach. There is no better time to buy than today. Yesterday was, but it is gone, and tomorrow won't be a better time. So do it now!

Good investing,
Jim Courtney

Our sign means 'Sold' in any language

When you're ready to sell your home, our sign really does speak the language of quick results.

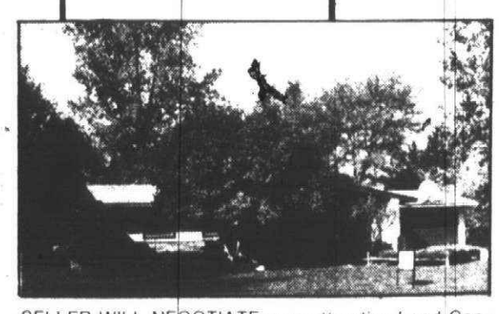

We put a lot behind it — from our exclusive Homes For Living magazine to our affiliation with more than 2,000 Homes For Living real estate offices throughout the United States, Canada and the Caribbean.

With pictures, descriptions and prices, the magazine goes to buyers here. And, through our affiliates, it reaches the out-of-town buyers who represent one-third of all home sales. In fact, more than one-and-a-half million Homes For Living magazines are published each month.

So whether you're selling or buying, put our sign to work for you. It speaks your kind of language. Tout de suite! Pronto! Fast!

See all the 1981 Buicks, under one roof, at the auto show.

It's auto show time again, and we're as proud of our new Buicks as we can be. So proud that we've assembled a large collection for your inspection. Skylark, Century, Regal, LeSabre, Electra, and Riviera. They're all here, all with much that's new for you to see and touch.

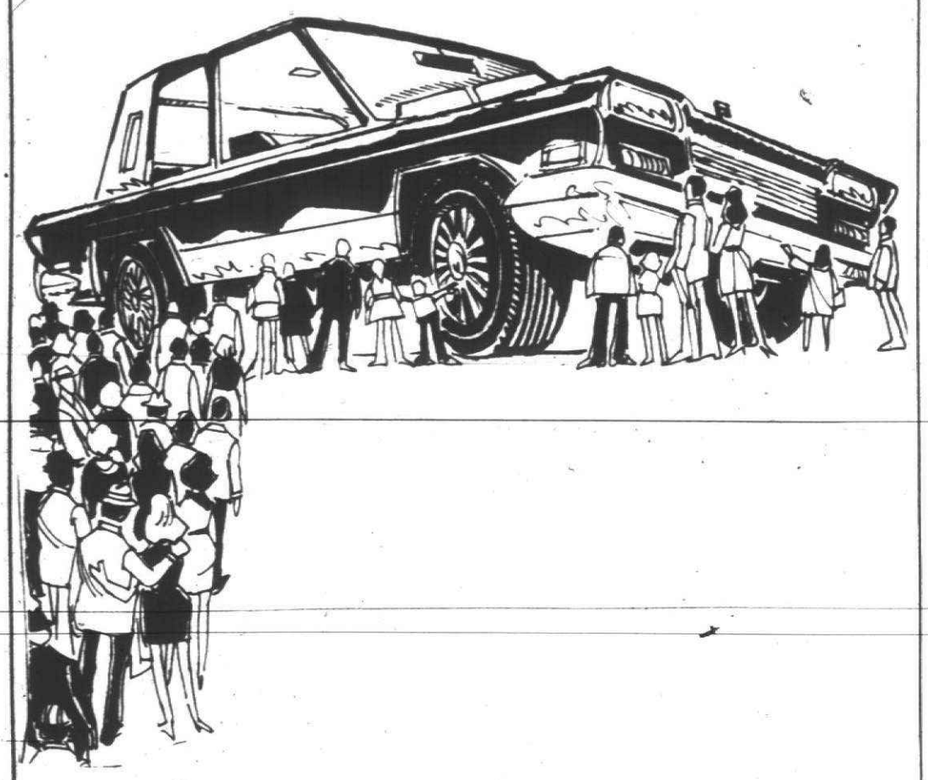

We think you'll like the V-6 engine availability in every model. And the wide range of available equipment to satisfy just about every whim.

But the time to act and see all of our Buicks is right now, while the auto show is on. After all, wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Buicks are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. See your dealer for details.

Topless sport

New to the 1981 Ford Mustang is this T-roof option. The removable tinted-glass panels are available on the two- and three-door models. EPA estimates for the car with a standard 2.3-liter engine and manual transmission are 23 mpg and 34 mpg highway.

Refined

Change has come to the 1981 Chevy Citation. Inside, the front bench seat has a new center console. A floor-shifter is available with automatic transmission when optional console is ordered. A driver's seat reclining backrest is also available. Standard engine remains the 2.5-liter, four-cylinder. Two- and four-door hatchbacks are all that's in the line-up, because Chevrolet said goodbye to the notchback.

THE DETROIT AUTO SHOW
COBO HALL JANUARY 10-18

Auto show opens Jan. 10

More than 250 new cars and trucks will be on display Jan. 10-18 in the Detroit Auto Show.

The auto show, "Excitement '81," will be held at Cobo Hall overlooking the Detroit River.

This year's show will feature technology and how it is being put to work to produce better and more efficient automobiles. Displays will feature technological improvements as well as good-looking new cars.

Admission to the show is $3.50 for adults, 50 cents for children under 12 and no charge for senior citizens Saturday, Jan. 10, through Sunday, Jan. 18.

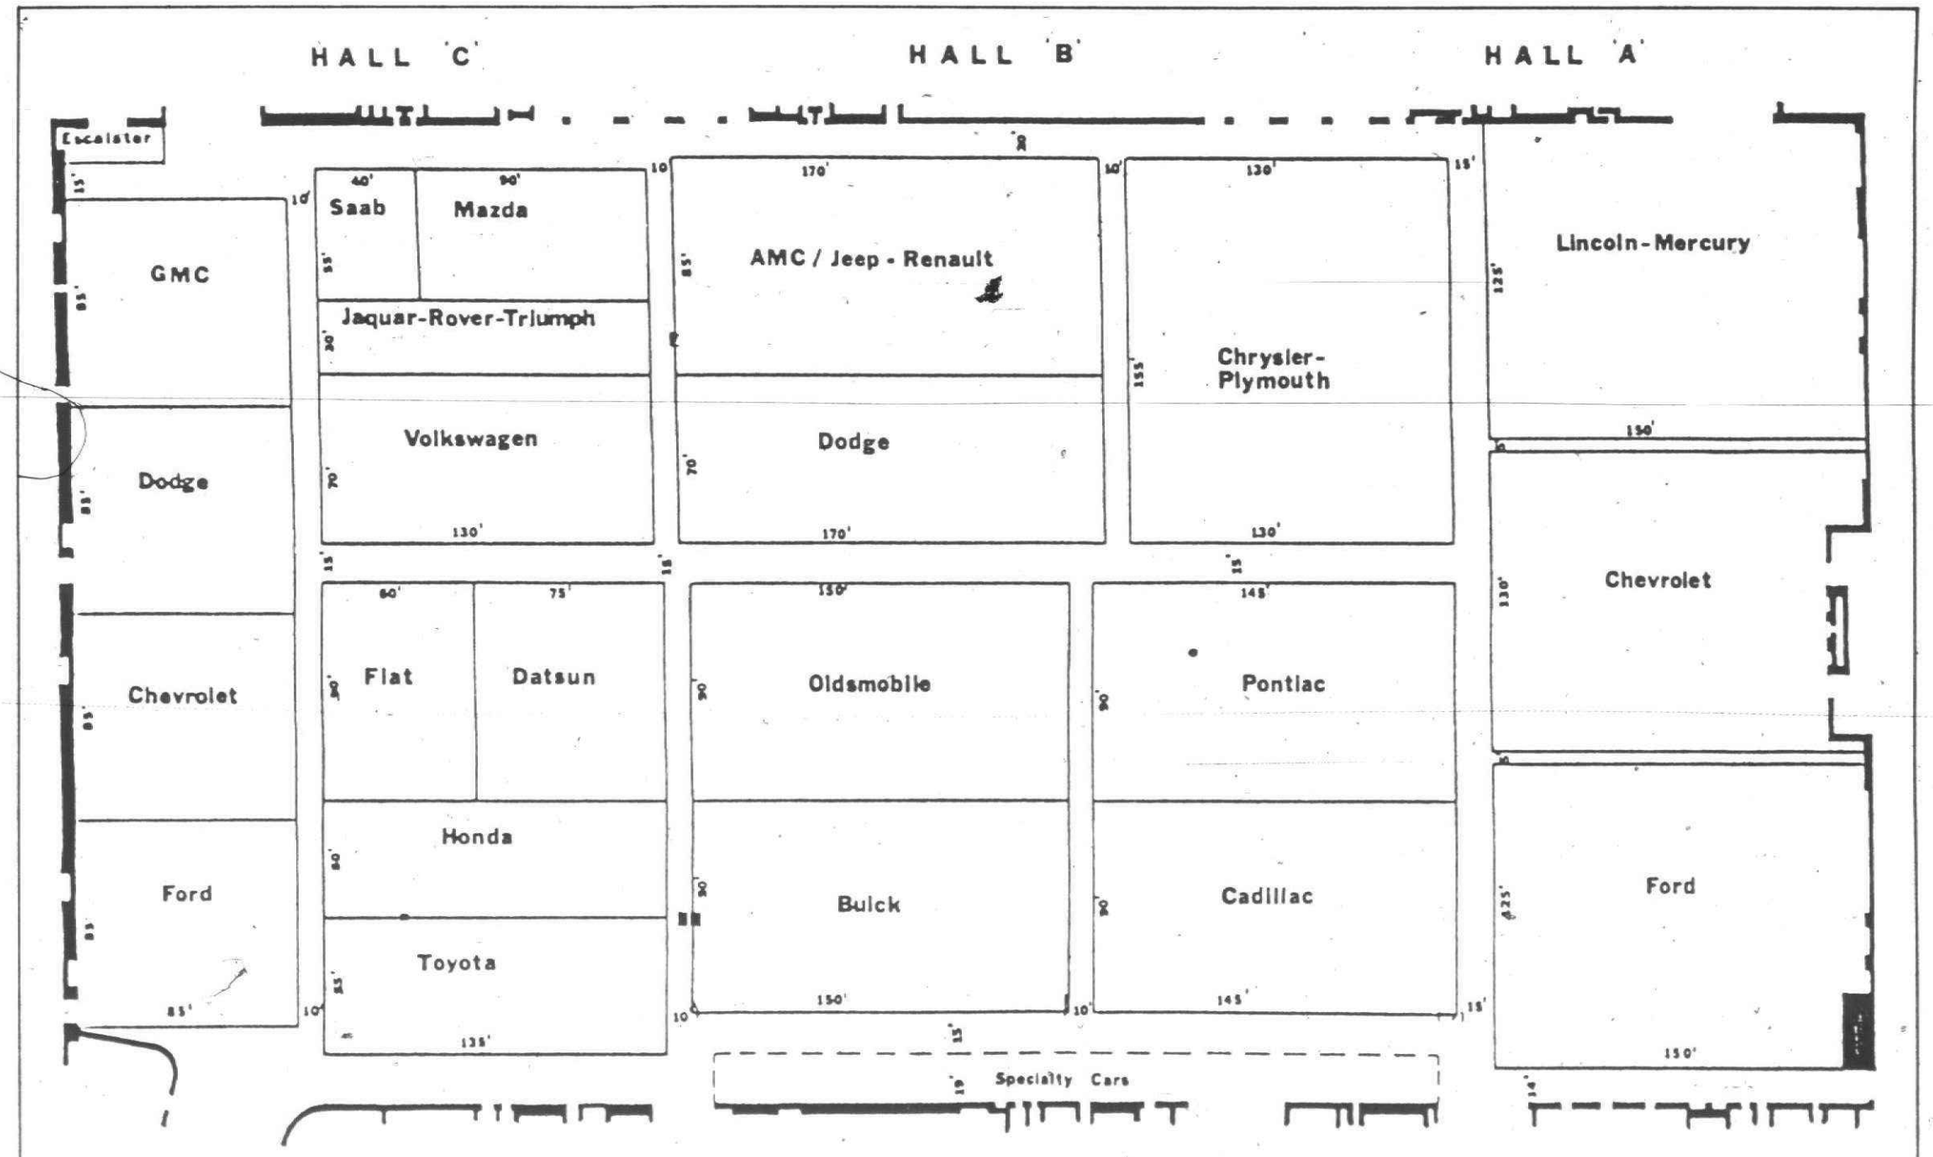

Friday evening, Jan. 9, is one of the first major social events of the year in Detroit — the Charity Preview Night. Proceeds from the night will go to three Detroit-area charities:

- Boys and Girls' Club of Metropolitan Detroit.
- Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.
- Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center.

Co-sponsors of this charity benefit are the presidents of American Motors Corp., Chrysler Corp, Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp., and Volkswagen of America Inc. and their wives and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.

The 1981 Detroit Auto show will officially open its doors to the public after a brief parade and opening ceremonies at Cobo Hall. The events, hosted by auto show committee and other local dignitaries, will be at noon Saturday, Jan. 10.

Children's television personalities and characters will be joined by clowns and "CarKids" 6-10 p.m. Monday and Tuesday evenings, Jan. 12-13. Among those visiting will be Hot Fudge characters, Sir Graves Ghastly, Mr. Whoodini, Oopsy the Clown and Willie T. Clown.

Detroit-area personalities and professional athletes will greet auto show visitors 7-10 p.m. Wednesday evening. They will sign autographs and meet visitors to the show. The celebrities will include "on air" personalities from radio and television stations, newspaper columnists and representatives of major professional sports teams.

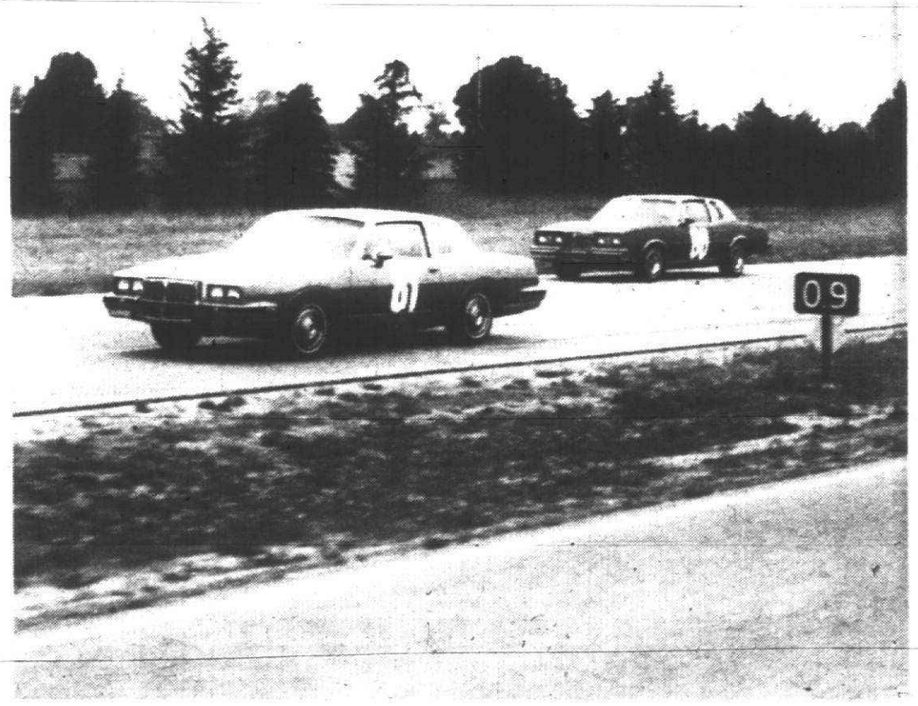

A professional auctioneer will travel from exhibit to exhibit beginning at 8 p.m. Jan. 15 and 16. He will auction off selected new cars to those in attendance. The names of cars to be auctioned will be posted at the auto show.

The 1981 Miss Detroit Auto Show will be selected from among 10 finalists on television Tuesday, Jan. 6. The finalists will appear on "Morning Magazine" from 8-9 p.m. on Channel 2.

Finalists are selected on the basis of appearance, personality and communication skills. The winner wil receive a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

Entertainment for the auto show will feature:

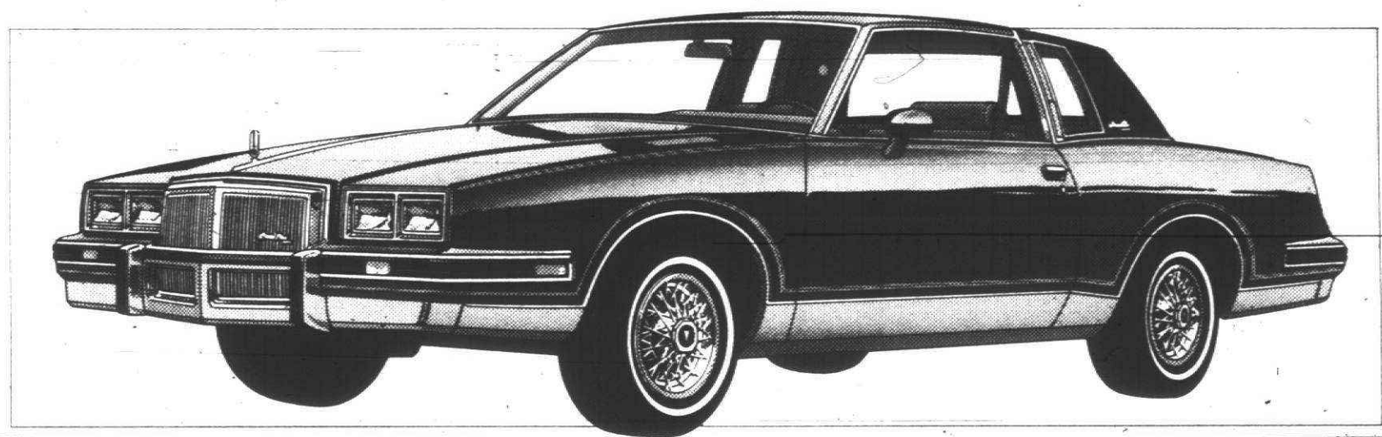

- Mark Sweet and other performers at Chevrolet Truck exhibit.
- Pat Derby's cougars (including a new lynx cub) at the Lincoln-Mercury exhibit.
- Hourly drawings for Escort watches at the Ford car exhibit.
- Entertainers representint the professional trucker and buyers of pickups and vans at the GMC Coach and Truck exhibition.
- The SX/4 and Kammback, the four-wheel-drive "Eaglets" at the AMC exhibit.
- Chrysler's front-wheel-drive K-cars, the Dodge Aries and Plymouth Reliant.
- Buick's 1981 Reagal, the official pace car for the 1981 Indianapolis 500 race.
- Dancer Tom Cashin, who will appear at the Chevrolet car exhibit to lend an urban-suburban cowboy theme to the show.

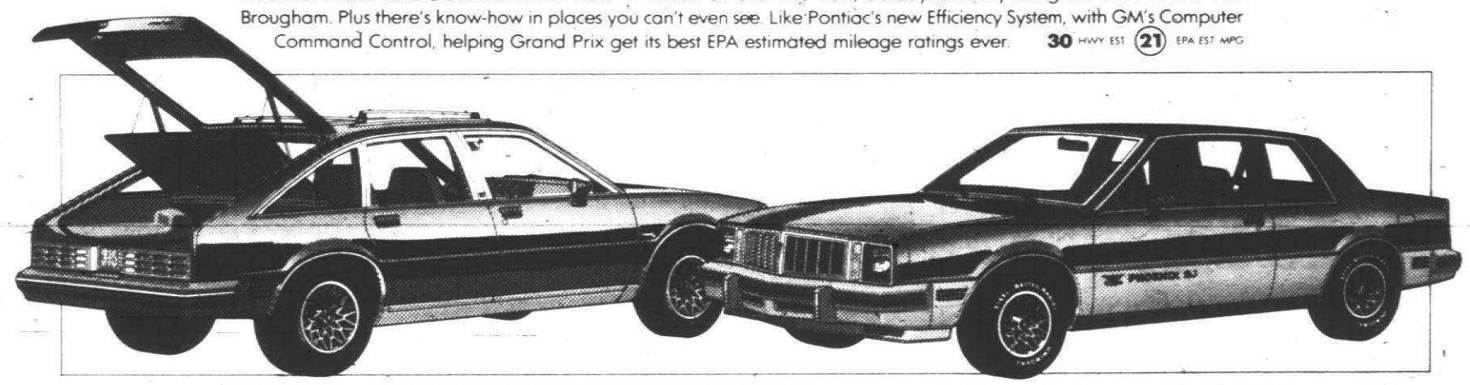

Less rolling resistance

A 1981 Grand Prix and a 1980 Grand Prix, comparably equipped, were pushed in neutral gear to a speed of 55 miles per hour at the GM Proving Grounds in Milford and allowed to coast to a stop on a level test track. Because of improved aerodynamics and new tire technology, the 1981 car coasted more than 500 feet farther. Both cars were virtually identical in weight.

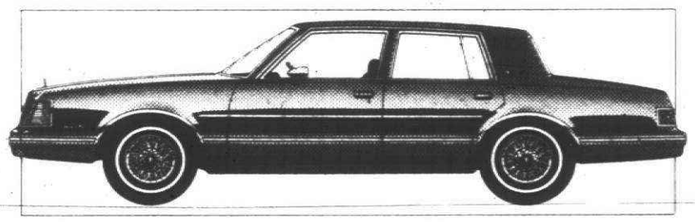

PONTIAC KNOW-HOW SHOWS UP...

GRAND PRIX BROUGHAM. Know-how is written all over this new, aerodynamically designed 1981 Grand Prix Brougham. Plus there's know-how in places you can't even see. Like Pontiac's new Efficiency System, with GM's Computer Command Control, helping Grand Prix get its best EPA estimated mileage ratings ever. 30 HWY. EST. (21) EPA EST. MPG

PHOENIX LJ 5-DOOR HATCHBACK/PHOENIX SJ COUPE. There's more to the Phoenix than just versatility. The 1981 Phoenix drives on with Pontiac's new Efficiency System helping Phoenix offer the best EPA gas economy estimates of any 1981 Pontiac! 35 HWY. EST. (22) EPA EST. MPG

GRAND LEMANS. A new formal roofline complements V-6 economy to make the six-passenger 1981 Grand LeMans 4-door a functional and efficient car for the family. 30 HWY. EST. (21) EPA EST. MPG*

FIREBIRD – 28 HWY. EST. (19) EPA EST. MPG

TRANS AM – 21 HWY. EST. (15) EPA EST. MPG

...IN ALL THE RIGHT PLACES.

Pontiac's new Efficiency System ... a system designed to give new '81 Pontiacs the fuel economy, plus the comfort, styling and performance you deserve. Remember: Compare the "estimated mpg" to the "estimated mpg" of other cars. You may get different mileage depending on how fast you drive, weather conditions and trip length. Actual highway mileage will probably be less than the estimated highway fuel economy. Pontiacs are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. See your dealer for details.

1981 Rabbit LS

Looking very much like it came from the classic Volkswagen ads of the past, the 1981 Rabbit's front end has been restyled with wraparound parking/turn indicator lights and aluminum bumpers. Most changes, however, are under the hood. There are larger engines — 1.7-liter gasoline and 1.6-liter diesel — and a new standard-equipment 3+E manual transmission.

Come See Chevy Magic at the Auto Show

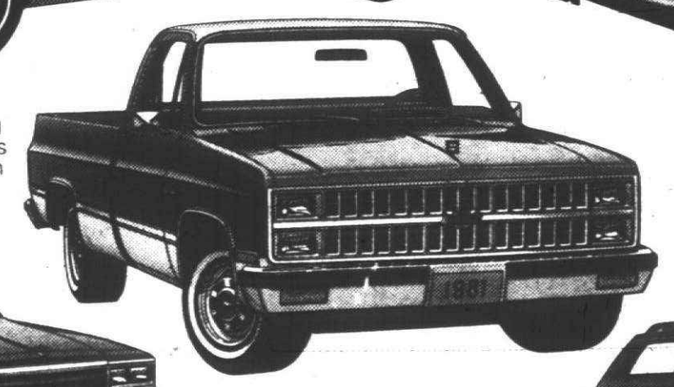

See the redesigned Monte Carlo, a car magically transformed into one of the truly beautiful classics of our times.

See the tough little Chevy Chevette, whose standard bag of tricks helps make it the most popular subcompact in America.

See the proven Chevy Citation, the front-wheel-drive car that's compact-sized outside, yet mid-sized inside!

See an important step ahead in trucks, including the Silverado Pickup that's lighter and leaner, yet with even greater maximum payloads available.

See the Caprice and Impala Diesel Wagons, featuring full-size room, comfort and the kind of luxury you'd only expect from far more expensive cars.

See Caprice and Impala, whose on-board computer monitors your engine like magic as you drive.

See the amazing Malibu Sport Sedan. One turn of the key and presto . . . this family car becomes a great performer with pizzazz!

See Corvette, the one American car whose sports car performance is no illusion.

See the good-lookin', hot cookin' Camaro with a lot more than performance up its sleeve.

Black-out window moldings, black pillar appliques togther with bright roof drip moldings accent the side appearance. The special ES appearance is completed with black tail lamp bezels. The ES 2500 is available only with the 2.5-liter engine, and the 2.8-liter engine powers the ES 2800.

The designer appearance package includes two popular firemist colors, until now available only on Toronado Brougham models. The featured car is silver with a tan interior. Other items standard in the package are velour trim, tri-color body side decal stripe, grille treatement usually reserved for Cutlass Calais and Supreme Brougham models and body color lower bumpers. Also included in the package are extrerior color body side moldings, sport mirrors and simulated wire wheel discs with locks.

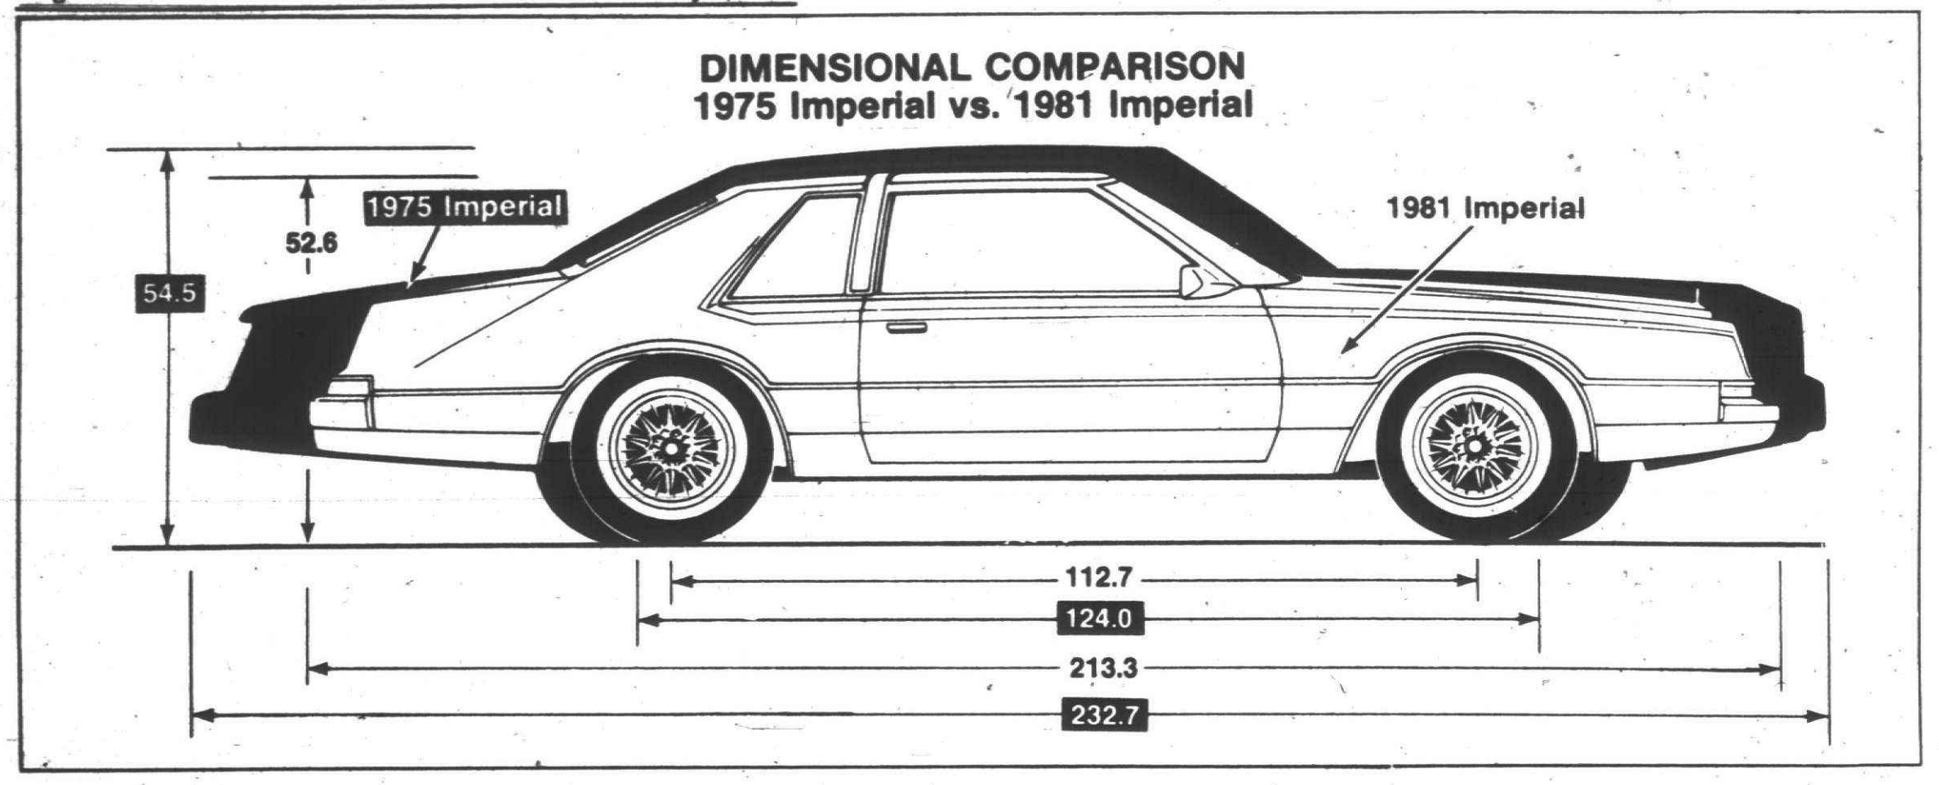

Nineteen Oldsmobiles — including Omegas, Cutlasses, Eighty-Eights, Ninety-Eights and Toronados — will be on display in the Oldsmobile exhibit.

Shifting While the demand for small cars grew substantially over the last decade, the demand for full-size cars has fallen even more.

Olds display features newest technology

A futuristic display and the newest in engineering technology will greet visitors to the Oldsmobile area at the auto show.

Two new-to-the-market cars, the Omega ES 2500 and special designer appearance package on a 1981 Cutlass Supreme, will rotate on turntables. A third car, a maple red Toronado with red leather interior, also will be featured on a turntable.

A technical area, with displays of engineering innovations, will allow auto show goers a closeup look at what is under the hood of 1981 Oldsmobiles.

Featured there will be a working display of Computer Command Control, standard on every 1981 gasoline-powered Oldsmobile. This new computerized system allows improved fuel economy while meeting the stricter 1981 emission standards.

Also displayed will be two diesel engine cutaways with moving parts. Diesel-power is optional on 19 of Oldsmobile's 23 models in 1981 — that makes the economical power plant available on all Oldsmobile car lines except Omega.

The Omega ES is new for 1981 and offers the compact car buyer an American car with continental flair. The option has a soft front end with bumper color matching the car body. The grille and headlamp bezels are bright, and a wide body side molding blends with the molded-in rubber rub strips.

K-cars, Fords, Citation, Omnis to battle imports

The Dodge Reliant, Plymouth Aries, Ford Escort and Mercury Lynx are now available as Detroit's answer to the imports.

The four, actually one style from Ford and one from Chrysler, came on the market this year. They join the X-cars (Chevrolet Citation, Pontiac Phoenix, etc.) from General Motors and the Dodge Omni/Plymouth Horizon as high-mileage front-wheel-drive, American-made cars.

The success of the cars introduced this year will affect strongly the fortunes of Ford Motor Co. and probably determine Chrysler Corp.'s future.

All will be on display at the auto show.

The Dodge Aries is powered by a transverse-mounted new 2.2-litre four-cylinder engine. It is available in three models: two-door coupe, four-door sedan, and station wagon.

The four-door Dodge Aries station wagon offers 34.2 cubic feet of cargo space, in addition to the features of the other Chrysler K-cars.

The Ford Escort (above) and the Mercury Lynx (right) are rated by the EPA at 30 mpg city for the standard-equipped three-door models with 1.6-liter four-cylinder engine. Their highway rating is 44 mpg.

McLaren Mustang

The McLaren Mustang will be one of the featured cars at this year's auto show. The concept car is powered by Ford's 2.3-liter turbocharged engine and features Firestone HPR tires, BBS wheels, Koni shocks, Stewart-Warner instruments, a roll bar, Recaro seats, an engine dress-up package and several other custom touches. An unusual feature of the design is that the flared fenders and front air dam direct air to both front brakes and through the functional waste-gate hood.

3 will be helped

Three charities will share the proceeds of the 1981 Detroit Auto Show Charity Preview Night, Jan. 9.

The charities selected are:

- Boys and Girls' Club of Metropolitan Detroit.
- Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.
- Assistant League to the Northeast Guidance Center.

Invitations to the $15-per-person charity preview night were mailed out in December by the charities involved. The invitations offered a benefit "sneak preview" of the auto show from 7-10 p.m. on the evening before the official opening at noon Jan. 10.

Any person who has not received an invitation from one of the charities may contact any of the groups directly.

"The charities help a lot of disadvantaged Detroiters every year," said R.F. "Buff" Whelan.

"The Easter Seal Societies of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, for example, serve more than 15,000 physically handicapped children and adults in our metropolitan area with orthopedic examinations, physical therapy, braces, orthopedic apparatus and summer camp activities.

"The Boys and Girls' Club of Metropolitan Detroit is a youth guidance and character-building organization now in its 55th year and worth of all our support.

"The Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center is the only functioning mental health facility providing counseling and treatment in the northeast Detroit area including Harper Woods and the Grosse Pointes.

EXCITEMENT '81

After the Show, put the show on the road.

They get "oohs" and "ahs" at Auto Shows all over the country, those handsome, stylish 1981 Oldsmobiles. But there's more than just style and beauty involved when a car carries the name "Oldsmobile."

There's plenty of room, comfort and luxury to discover. There's responsive performance and a smooth, quiet ride. Above all, there's that solid feeling behind the wheel that says quality, loud and clear. After you see the Olds that's right for you, see your Olds dealer and ask to drive one. You'll get a great car to drive, and your Olds dealer will give you a great deal to go with it.

Stop in soon.
