Schools unveil plan for grade shift, more ESY

D-Day is within sight.

Dates have been set for a series of public hearings and shortly after, a final decision is expected on which elementaries will go on the Extended School Year (ESY) schedule and which middle schools will offer only three grade levels instead of four.

Public hearings will be held at individual middle schools on Feb. 16, 17, 18, and 19.

After public suggestions have been considered, and any changes made, a final public hearing will then be held.

Monday night the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education decided on a proposed plan to present to the public at the hearings.

That plan (labelled Plan III) is one of nine alternative plans the board had been studying for the past several weeks.

Thus far opposition to that plan has surfaced from parents of students attending Bird Elementary and West Middle School.

THE SUGGESTED plan calls for Bird and Fiegle elementaries to switch to the ESY year-round schedule.

The plan also calls for all ninth-graders to attend middle school buildings next fall, rather than enrolling in high school at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

Originally, the board considered moving all sixth-graders back to the elementary level as part of a total grade realignment package to relieve the enrollment crunch at the CEP and middle schools.

Instead, Plan III calls for a phase-in or gradual shift of graders from middle school to elementary level.

Specifically, Miller, Eriksson, Field and Fiegle elementaries would remain with a K-5 alignment, while all other elementaries would have sixth-graders next year.

Under Plan III, Lowell, Pioneer and East middle schools would have grades 6-9, while West and Central would contain only grades 7-9.

The plan also changes the boundary lines at all elementary and middle schools — some having more major boundary shifts than others.

The school board had been considering as an acceptable alternative Plan IV, which would result in Allen Elementary also being placed on an ESY schedule.

Under Plan IV, Miller would have sixth-graders next year, with the remaining K-5 elementaries being Eriksson, Fiegle and Field. Plan IV also calls for the 7-9 middle schools to be Pioneer, Central and West, with Lowell and East being 6-9.

'At some point somebody must make a decision, and I believe the board has been elected to make decisions. If someone disagrees, they can tell us and we can consider making a change.' — Carol Davis, board president

JOHN M. HOBEN, superintendent of schools, commented Monday night that Plan III will result in about 585 sixth-graders being moved back to the elementary level.

The cost of Plan III is about $500,000 to implement, added Hoben, compared to about $750,000 for Plan IV.

Assessments boost home taxes 19 percent

By ARLENE FUNKE

Canton homeowners can brace for an average property tax hike of 19 percent this year.

County and township officials now tabulating property assessments attribute the hike to a "delayed reaction" to rises in housing values and to changes in the state tax law. The increase will be reflected in 1981 tax bills, mailed next December.

Township Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz said the 19 percent rise will apply "if everything remains the same.

"If you go by today's millages and today's assessments," said Mrs. Falkiewicz. "I'm hoping that we are all able to make some cuts.

"There's all kinds of things that can happen," she added. "It will be finalized in May."

Officials also are aware that the tax hikes are sure to evoke an outcry from taxpayers.

"It's a delayed response," explained George McEachran, director of the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation. "Whether people believe that, I don't know. A lot of us are inclined to believe they won't."

In Plymouth Township — where tax bills are expected to jump 25 percent — officials plan to appeal to the state Tax Tribunal.

Redford Township anticipates a 29 percent increase in residential tax assessments. Officials there have asked state legislators to intervene.

THE COUNTY taxation bureau is due to finish its property tax assessments by March or April, said Mrs. Falkiewicz. Canton doesn't have its own assessor.

When the computations are finished, the township's board of review must certify the figures and send them back to the county.

Mrs. Falkiewicz points out that homeowners do receive income tax credit for their homestead taxes. They also may apply for relief by making an appointment with the township's board of review and, later, with the state tax tribunal.

The treasurer plans to send out letters of explanation in March or April.

PUZZLED ABOUT how taxes are computed? Here's how it is broken down:

There are two main components — the tax rate and the tax assessment. The tax rate is given in mills, with one mill equalling $1 of $1,000 assessed property valuation.

Included in the millage are portions for the school district, township government, police and fire protection, and allocations for Wayne County, Schoolcraft College and others.

The largest portion goes to the school district, with the Plymouth-Canton school district coming in at 38.3 mills. Wayne Westland calls for 47 mills and 36.9 for the Van Buren district.

For example, a Canton resident who is served by the Plymouth-Canton School District would have a total proposed millage of 59.1 mills in 1981. Persons living in the Wayne-Westland district would pay 66.6 mills and those in Van Buren pay 56.6 mills.

THE TAX ASSESSMENT is supposed to be one-half the fair market value of the property to which it is applied. In order to set property assessment, the state tax commission requires county assessors to use a 2½-year sales survey.

For the 1981 tax bill, the years studied were 1977 through the first six months of 1980.

Under the old tax law, the county had supplied the township with a factor used to multiply the current assessment to keep property assessments up to date. Presumably, the factor was

Here's formula for figuring tax

In the dark over how tax bills are computed?

If so, you aren't alone.

Township Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz estimates that residential taxes will jump 19 percent this year. The hike will be reflected in 1981 tax bills mailed next December.

Mrs. Falkiewicz says that many persons don't understand the complicated formula for computing taxes, which includes property assessments, millage rates and a multiplying equalization factor.

To illustrate how the 19 percent hike translates into dollars, Mrs. Falkiewicz uses as example a Canton residence in the Plymouth-Canton School District. The assessed value of the house is $17,000 — the average residential assessment in Canton.

ACCORDING TO a chart prepared by Mrs. Falkiewicz, the taxes for that person will be $1,842, up $292 from last year. Here's how the bill is computed:

- The county bureau of taxation makes assessments of the property, based on a 2½-year sales survey of the community. The assessment is supposed to be one-half the fair market value of the property to which it is applied.

Talk on Haggerty paving is renewed

Canton officials are renewing efforts to spur the paving of Haggerty — a project viewed as the key to development of the road's industrial-zoned corridor.

An effort "to get things back on track" will begin today (Thursday) when a recently-formed committee of three Township Board members meets a representative of the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC).

To be discussed is a year-old agreement between Canton and the WCRC for the paving of a one-mile stretch of Haggerty between Joy and Warren. Under the agreement, both Canton and the WCRC would have paid $125,000 toward the estimated $1 million project.

Last summer's cut-off of federal highway improvement funds blocked implementation of the agreement. Federal funds were expected to fund 70 percent of the project's cost, with Canton and the WCRC splitting the remaining 25 percent.

Township grant coordinator Terry Carroll does not expect a lifting of the federal highway fund freeze in the near future.

"But I have a couple of ideas," said Carroll of possible ways to fund the paving project. He declined to elaborate pending a discussion of his

Woman faces arson rap

A 23-year-old woman faces a Feb. 2 preliminary examination in 35th District Court on a charge that she set fire to a Canton house following a quarrel with her husband last October.

Mazie Brown, formerly of Canton, was arrested and arraigned last Friday on an arson charge. She recently had been staying with parents in Westland.

Ms. Brown stood mute at her arraignment before 35th District Court Judge James Garber. The court entered a plea of innocent in her behalf, and Ms. Brown was released on $2,500 bond.

Canton Police Lt. Larry Stewart said the fire occurred about 4:30 p.m. Oct. 29 in a house on Michigan Avenue near Denton Road which Ms. Brown and her husband had been renting.

Stewart said the husband had left the house some hours earlier, after the couple had argued. The house was destroyed in the blaze and has since been torn down, said Stewart.

There were no injuries. A report from the Michigan State Police crime lab at Northville indicated traces of gasoline in the house, said Stewart.

Arson is a felony punishable by 10 years in prison upon conviction.

Trustees finalize pact for Lowell School lease

Final agreement has been reached, and lease documents signed, for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools to rent Lowell Junior High from Livonia Public Schools.

The vote to approve the lease signing was taken Monday night after Plymouth-Canton school trustees heard a final appeal from the union representing custodians.

The union maintained that the use of Livonia custodians in Lowell after the school is occupied by Plymouth-Canton is a violation of its labor contract with the school board.

Plymouth-Canton had made a revised lease offer to Livonia to help relieve the union's concerns but voted to authorize the lease after Livonia balked at the requested change.

TRAV GRIFFIN, executive director of the Michigan Employees Support Personnel Association (MESPA), had cautioned the board that the lease agreement would invite labor unrest in the school district.

The thorn in the union's side is that Livonia custodians will continue to work in Lowell after the school is turned over to Plymouth-Canton.

In return, Plymouth-Canton will pay Livonia $8,000 a month for custodial services in addition to the $8,000 monthly rental payment.

The union isn't objecting to the payments but to the fact that other district employees will work in Lowell, and that those employees belong to another union — the American Federation of School, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

Griffin argues that use of Livonia custodians violates a clause in MESPA's contract restricting the district's ability to subcontract maintenance work.

Norm Kee, director of personnel, countered that the clause prohibits subcontracting only when that action would result in layoff of Plymouth-Canton custodians.

The use of Livonia custodians at Lowell, Kee stressed, will not result in any Plymouth-Canton custodian losing his or her job.

Kee, in fact, maintains that the particular clause in question actually confirms the board's right to subcontract the work out to Livonia custodians.

Griffin had proposed that Plymouth-Canton employees hold all the custodial positions at Lowell except for head custodian.

If Livonia had its own head custodian at Lowell, Griffin suggested, that would give Livonia assurance that the building would be properly taken care of. On the other hand, he argued, it would allow Plymouth-Canton to manage the entire work force at the school.

That suggested compromise, however, was turned down by Art Howell who is the director of operations for Livonia Public Schools.

Howell maintained it is imperative that Livonia use its own custodians so it can protect its investment by making sure the building is properly maintained. (Livonia still is making debt payments on Lowell).

A JUNIOR HIGH building is needed by Plymouth-Canton because its largest student enrollments are now located in grades 4, 5 and 6.

Since 1971-72 Plymouth-Canton's enrollment has been increasing by an average of more than 700 per year except for '80-81 when the increase was 388 students.

Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, points out that renting Lowell is much cheaper than building a new middle school and less expensive than expanding the Extended School Year (ESY) year-round schedule at the middle school level.

To gain the student capacity of 850-960 students which Lowell has, adds Hoedel, the district would have to place East, West and Central middle schools on ESY.

With the renting of Lowell, the district will be able to switch Pioneer Middle from an ESY to a traditional nine-month schedule.

The lease provides for Plymouth-Canton to lease Lowell for five years for $96,000 a year rent plus $96,000 a year for custodial services.

Lowell, located on John Hix just south of Joy, was built in 1966 on a site of 27 acres. The 96,000 square-foot building contains 27 regular classrooms, two art rooms, two home economic rooms, two industrial education areas, rooms for vocal and instrumental music, a gymnasium, cafeteria and library.

The district estimates that the first year cost to open and operate Lowell will be $543,000. The start-up cost includes $100,000 to buy furniture, equipment, books and other materials that are now located in Lowell.

Lowell will be the fifth middle school in Plymouth-Canton and will primarily house students from eastern Canton.

Allen joins national jubilee

Pupils sing welcome

Students at Allen Elementary School have just finished a week filled with patriotic songs, bright yellow ribbons and American flags.

On Monday, a freshly-made "Welcome home, hostages" sign was on the outside of the school located on Haggerty Road.

Students held 52 American flags which they had brought from home — one for each of the hostages released last week from Iran.

Patriotic songs were sung as music teacher Joyce Younk provided musical accompaniment. And students removed yellow ribbons which they earlier had tied in place.

LAST WEEK, the pupils had watched school televisions as the hostages were released from captivity.

The week of observance, spearheaded by the student council, gave the children a sense of togetherness, said Nancy Braden, a third-grade teacher at Allen.

"It's something they'll always remember," she added.

Jubilant students march past the welcome sign.

Seeking suggestions

Staff eyes funding goals

If you controlled the pursestrings of Canton's capital improvement fund, how would you spend the money?

Would you purchase additional park land, or earmark the money for development of the township's existing parks? Would you build a third fire station, or install utilities on township-owned land in hopes of attracting industrial development?

Questions such as these may face Canton residents this spring or summer under a proposal that would give citizens a stronger role in the establishment of spending priorities.

UNDER THE proposal, township officials would use results of survey to develop a five-year plan for capital improvements. The plan could attach a high priority to the development of recreational sites or some other need identified by residents.

"We don't have a solid priority list of projects when money becomes available," said planner Jim Kosteva. "We end up having the money laying unused for awhile, or we go with projects that are spur-of-the-moment or of personal interest to a few (board members).

"This (survey) would make expending of money more responsive to the desires of citizens."

Kosteva hopes to win Township Board approval of the survey idea in about six weeks after gathering estimates on cost. He has contacted the University of Michigan, Eastern Michigan University and Wayne State University regarding their interest in conducting a scientific poll of residents' views.

The survey probably would be conducted either by telephone, mailings or door-to-door interviews.

According to Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz, the survey idea was broached last fall by the township's previous administration. The idea was brought up to the new board at its two-day orientation meeting in November.

Ms. Falkiewicz said the survey could gather residents' views on a wide range of topics in addition to capital improvement priorities.

"My idea is to gear into business, industry — many things," she said. "It will be up to the (Township Board) to formulate the questions."

The survey form must be carefully worded, the officials said.

"We're not going to ask residents to list their preference for a park or a water main," said Kosteva. "Frankly, they may not understand the need for a water main. What we're looking for is more of an attitude — their perception of Canton citizens' needs."

ACCORDING TO the planner, a capital improvement plan was adopted by the Township Board in 1976 and updated by Wade, Trim & Associates in 1978. The plan identifies several items, such as the purchase of park land, the purchase of a farm market site and the construction of a third fire station, as possibile capital improvement projects.

"But everytime there's a request for funds, no one really pulls it out," Kosteva said. "This (proposed) plan would have as its basis direct citizen input (from the survey).

A capital improvement project currently under consideration involves the purchase of a 15-acre park site behind Township Hall with federal grant monies.

The grant originally was earmarked for the purchase of a 40-acre park site in northwest Canton. The Township Board scrapped those plans after residents of the area vehemently objected to the proposal. Although an effort now is underway to transfer the grant to an alternative site, some board members have questioned the use of township funds for recreational purchases during tight economic times.

The township's portion of the park's purchase price would come from federal revenue-sharing funds.

According to Ms. Falkiewicz, the township's revenue-sharing account now totals $184,000. Officials expect to receive an additional $129,000 during 1981.

Funding of capital improvement projects approved this year must come from federal revenue-sharing monies or any grant which officials can win for Canton. The township's 1981 operating budget allocates $322,000 for capital improvements. But Ms. Falkiewicz said the entire budgeted amount is earmarked for bond and land payments.

Capital improvement projects undertaken by the township during the last few years include the construction of Township Hall with a $2.2 million federal grant; the construction of a new DPW building; improvements to Fellows Creek Golf Course; the granding of Flodin Park; and improvements to Griffin Park.

Officials ponder grade shifts

Flossie Tonda said she favored Plan III because the added money spent in Plan IV won't necessarily result in students being better educated.

Carol Davis, board president, said the public has had opportunity to provide input up to now on nine proposals, and it was now time to get input on one plan.

"The board should give a proposal to the public of what it thinks is best. That's what we are here for, but we do look at alternatives," said Mrs. Davis.

"At some point, somebody must make a decision," she added, "and I believe the board has been elected to make decisions. If someone disagrees, they can tell us, and we can consider making a change."

MONDAY NIGHT a delegation of parents from the Bird attendance area spoke against Plan III for the following reasons:

- They claimed the costs of ESY and the attendant boundary changes have not been determined to be less than the use of portable classrooms.
- Students transferring out of the district from an ESY school will be at least three weeks, and maybe three months, behind other school systems on a nine-month calendar.
- The proposed changes in ninth-grade curriculum could have a detrimental affect on students who plan college careers in medicine, denistry, math and science.
- Family life is disrupted, because many families will have elementary children on ESY and middle school or high school students on nine-month schedules.
- Single working parents will find it more difficult to provide child care during school time-off from September through mid-June.
- The principal will work under a handicap, because his entire staff is never together at one time.
- ESY requires that additional administrative personnel be hired and the maintenance staff workload is heavier.
- Teachers will have a more difficult time taking classes needed for certification, as they'll be unable to attend summer school.

The group of Bird parents are asking that portable classrooms be used at all schools if the cost is less than the cost of ESY plus boundary changes.

The parents group also ask that the grades not be realigned, even if that means split sessions at the CEP.

The group did its own financial analysis, which shows ESY costs at Allen, Bird, Farrand and Fiegel to be about $2,730, while the cost of using 26 portable classrooms would be $2,270.

Parents and staff at West Middle is suggesting that one one-third of the ninth-graders be removed from the CEP, and that they all be placed at Central Middle.

Under the West plan, Central would house 7-9, with East, Lowell, Pioneer and West housing 6-8. The backers of this plan argue its advantages are:

- Ninth-grade programs would have to be duplicated at only one middle school — a cost-saver.
- No additional elementary schools would have to be placed on ESY.
- There would be limited boundary changes for elementary schools and limited staff changes, except for excess teachers at Pioneer and the need to shift some from the CEP.
- There would be adequate opportunity for parents and teachers to opt-out of ESY into nine-month schools.
- All sixth-graders would remain in the middle schools.

The thrust of the objections from West parents and staff seem to center on their perceptions that curriculum losses will be suffered by ninth- and sixth-graders.

4 boundary hearings set

Four public hearings have been scheduled by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education on proposed changes in school attendance boundaries, the shifting of the sixth and ninth grades and expansion of Extended School Year (ESY) to two more elementaries.

The first hearing will be Feb. 16 at East Middle School.

Other scheduled hearings are Feb. 17 at West Middle School, Feb. 18 at Central Middle School, and Feb. 19 at Pioneer Middle School.

All hearings will begin at 7:30 p.m.

A final hearing, as yet unscheduled, will be held once the board arrives at a final plan based upon public input.

Here's computation of property tax bills

Under that formula, the market value of the hypothetical property used in the example would be $34,000. Mrs. Falkiewicz notes that property in the township is assessed at an overall rate of 28.4 percent — well below the 50 percent ratio allowed by state law.

- The bureau then assigns an equalization factor. This year's factor is 1.83. The factor is multiplied against the assessment to get the State Equalized Valuation (SEV). The SEV for the hypothetical home with a $17,000 original assessment is about $31,000, which reflects a market value of approximately $62,000.
- That SEV figure then is multiplied by the tax rate, which is given in mills. One mill equals $1 of $1,000 assessed property valuation.

THE MILLAGE rate for residents living in the Plymouth-Canton School District is a total of 59.18 mills. Included in the figure are portions for the school district, township government, police and fire protection, Wayne County government, Schoolcraft College and others.

"We're still underassessed," said Mrs. Falkiewicz. "But people only see the bottom line. We're only collecting agencies."

ideas with members of the paving committee — Supervisor James Poole, Trustee Stephen Larson and Trustee Robert Padget.

TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS believe the paving of Haggerty will open hundreds of acres of land to industrial development. All land fronting on Haggerty between Joy and Warren is zoned for light industrial use. The township owns a 126-acre parcl at Haggerty and Warren.

"Obviously, the paving of Haggerty is extremely crucial to Canton's industrial development efforts," said Padget.

"Right now, people tend to be lax on these kinds of things, because the economy is poor and development is down. But we have to be ready for when the economy improves, or we'll miss a piece of the action."

Padget hopes the paving committee will return to the Township Board soon with suggestions on proceeding with the project.

New law affects tax bills

used to reach the 50 percent of market value price.

Now being applied is a new state law, calling for each property classification — residential, commercial, industrial and agricultural — to have its own factor. In the past, commercial and industrial properties often picked up the slack of underassessed residential areas.

The purpose of the new guideline is to "cut down on the inequities" when all the classifications were lumped together, explained Mrs. Falkiewicz.

In addition, the assessment hikes on residential properties are a "delayed reaction to things that have happened in the past," added McEachran.

Art Fest '81 set for May

Student Artfest '81 is the name given a districtwide exhibition of student talents in the arts.

The festival will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 30, in Kellogg Park.

Students in kindergarten through 12th grade from all Plymouth-Canton schools will be exhibiting work in a variety of media.

The bandshell will be set up for the performing arts and special display boards are being planned to show off the visual arts.

Presently a logo contest for the Student Artfest has been started with Feb. 6 as the deadline for submission of entries.

In addition to paintings and drawings, the festival is expected to include drama, mime, puppets, musical performances, films, dance and works in silver, pottery and other media.

APPLICATION FORMS are available at the individual schools. The deadline for submission of entries is April 30.

Concessions for the festival will be handled by the culinary arts department at the Centennial Educational Park.

The idea for a spring arts festival involving students was discussed last October by individuals from Plymouth and Canton attending a conference of the Institute for Comprehensive Arts Planning (ICAP) at Eastern Michigan University.

The committee which met as a result of that conference was expanded to include other persons from the school district and community at-large. The committee has been meeting regularly to plan the student art festival.

Individuals involved with the planning committee include Mike Homes, Elaine Kirchgatter, Mary Childs, Catherine Sibert, Claudia Tull, Mary DeGrazia, Shirley Spaniel, Emory Daniels, Greg Owens, Donna Baretta, Lolly Buikema, Mike Hoben, Henry Graper, Mickey Edell, Mike Chiumento, Betty Weideman, Maureen Murphy, Dick Egli and John Telford.

Taxpayers give state 'one more chance'

BY WARREN M. HOYT
Michigan Press Association

Anticipating yet another petition drive to get a property tax cutting constitutional amendment back before the voters, Gov. William G. Milliken and legislative leaders have wasted no time listing property tax reform as a top priority for the 1981 legislative session.

State government narrowly missed having the voters reduce property taxes 50 percent at the last general election. Such voter approval would have crippled state government's ability to provide basic human services.

Voters gave governmental leaders "one more chance" to do something about the spiraling property taxes with the defeat of the proposed constitutional amendment.

However, taxpayers will be closely watching governmental leaders. If they return to "business as usual" in Lansing, voters will probably reverse that decision in November 1982.

THE PROPERTY tax reform question is so important that Milliken decided to give a "reform" proposal special coverage and made his plan public two days before his all-encompassing State of the State address.

A $785 million homestead tax reduction proposal, which includes a $250 million reduction in state and local spending, was unveiled by the governor. He called upon the legislature to approve a special statewide election on June 8 to present the tax proposal only to the voters.

The proposal includes a sales tax increase of 1 percent, a provision that will replace $535 million of the $785 million cut in property taxes.

The $250 million not made up would be absorbed by $125 million in spending cuts by the state and $125 million in cuts by various local units of government.

Under the governor's proposal, the average Michigan household would see a cut in property tax bills of $335 in 1981, but would pay about $135 more in sales taxes, producing a net tax savings of about $200 per household.

THE GOVERNOR and his aides said they hope the net tax cut will help to both pass the proposal and to defuse any further moves for massive tax cut plans as have been before voters in both the 1978 and 1980 elections.

The Milliken proposal would include home property tax reduction of 35 percent, beginning with the July bills, up to a maximum of $1,400. Senior citizens would get a complete exemption on the first $1,400 of property taxes to be adjusted annually for inflation.

Renters would be able to credit 25 percent of their rent as property taxes, instead of the current 17 percent.

The state would reimburse local units for 89 percent of the revenue lost from direct property tax cuts, reflecting the $125 million in spending cuts to be absorbed by those units.

AT THE SPECIAL election, voters would decide only on a constitutional amendment to increase the sales tax and earmark lottery revenues to education. The other provisions would be contained in separate bills which would only take effect upon approval of the amendment.

Officials said all the bills and the constitutional amendment must be approved by the legislature by April 1 in order to have the special election on June 8.

Meanwhile, legislative leaders, during the opening sessions of the 81st Legislature, also listed property tax reform as their top priority.

Prizes for all ages are offered for family fish derby on Sunday

By LEM MESEE
Outdoors writer

There's an advantage if you take the entire family to the ice fishing derby on Newburg Lake this Sunday.

Special categories of prizes are being offered for young male and female anglers and for the biggest catch by the members of one family. Sponsors are the Western Wayne County Conservation Association and the Kiwanis Club of Livonia.

The contest runs from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. There is no entry fee, but you must register in advance at the booth on Sumac Drive, which runs south from Hines Drive a quarter-mile west of Newburgh Road, Livonia.

Registration will be handled by the Weekenders Bass Club of Michigan and the Metro-West Steelheaders.

The Wayne County parks department, operated by the road commission, will be unable to supervise the event, so anglers will fish at their own risk. Ice at mid-week was generally a foot thick. Nevertheless, it is a good idea to stay away from the dam at Newburgh Road, where the river current may mean thin ice.

Additional prizes announced this week by co-chairmen John Nichols and Hank Chruscial are:

For the largest fish caught by a female angler age 16 or younger — a rod and reel from the Northwest Gun Shop, Redford, and a set of Eppinger Daredevle lures donated by the manufacturer.

For the largest fish caught by a male angler age 16 or younger — a pogo stick from the conservation club and a set of Eppinger lures from the manufacturer.

Heaviest stringer by a family (parents and children; no cousins or grandparents) — and Old Pal ice fishing box with rod, tip-up, lures and other equipment from Sportsman's Village, Canton.

Jeweler burglarized for 3rd time

By TERI BANAS

Plymouth police are investigating a weekend break-in at Bluford Jewelers, 467 Forest, the third unsolved theft at the downtown store since last August.

Sgt. Ralph White of the Plymouth detective bureau says these cases could be related to other "smash and grab" operations in the Plymouth-Ann Arbor area.

In all cases it appears the culprits acted quickly, smashing in a door or windows, and leaving the building within minutes.

The recent break-in at Bluford's occurred about 7 a.m. last Sunday. Police do not have a complete list of the items taken or their value. They say several trays of gold rings were stolen.

According to police reports, the suspects entered the building by smashing a front glass door with a large slab of concrete. It's believed an iron crowbar, left on the scene, was used to smash a glass display case containing the rings inside the store.

Police said an alarm at the store was set off at about 7:10 a.m.

Just two weeks ago some $1,280 worth of rings were taken. In August, $3,500 worth of gold wedding bands were taken in a similar break-in.

"It's pretty brazen," said White of the most recent break-in. "It looks like it took them less than three minutes to get away with it."

"It's obvious they knew what they wanted to take. The display cases were covered that night," added White.

White believes there could be a connection between this break-in and some in Ann Arbor as well as the theft of a number of large-size mane's suits at Lent's Custom Clothing earlier this month.

"The method of entry is the same," he said. "And in this day and age it's not really common to have this type of smash-and-grab operation. Those were common in the '30s when you didn't have alarm systems and as many police officers patroling."

Doubts on subway package resurface in SEMCOG vote

What effect will the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) review committee's recent refusal to endorse further study of the proposed Woodward Avenue subway have at the federal level?

Three suburban opponents don't know.

The three — Farmington Hills Mayor Jo Ann Soronen, Bloomfield Township Treasurer Fred Korzon and Plymouth Township Trustee Lee Fidge — were among the five members of SEMCOG's Regional Clearinghouse Review Committee which last week opposed recommending federal approval of a $13.8 million preliminary engineering grant for SEMTA's Woodward light rail rapid transit line.

The transit line would run underground between downtown Detroit and McNichols (Six Mile) Road. The surface portion of the rail line would extend to 11 Mile Road in Royal Oak.

DAVID SHEPARD, Oak Park Mayor who supported the subway study grant, doesn't see the SEMCOG vote damaging the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority's (SEMTA) plans. SEMTA has $6.3 million in state and federal funds to proceed with the rail line study this year.

"This was simply a procedural question," said Shepherd. "I don't see any way preliminary engineering will be stopped."

Shepherd noted that the four members supporting the subway included the mayor of Saline in Washtenaw County and the Macomb County Intermediate Schools superintendent.

The SEMCOG RC2 committee, as it's commonly called, reviews all local requests for federal capital grants. In July, it recommended the first phase of preliminary engineering by an 8-2 vote. The U.S. Department of Transportation awarded SEMTA a $5 million study grant last fall.

Two committee members — Korzon and St. Clair County Commissioner William Smiley — voted for the engineering study last summer, but opposed the second phase grant last week.

Ann Arbor Township Supervisor Nancy Davis' yes vote of last summer was replaced by alternate committee member Fidge's no vote.

Wayne County Community College Trustee James McCartney of Westland, who voted yes last summer, was absent from last week's meeting.

KORZON SAID Tuesday he changed his vote because he's no longer assured that metropolitan area residents will be given a vote on financing SEMTA's projected operating deficits.

"I'm beginning to have some concern and doubts," he said. Oakland County officials have insisted there be a regionwide vote on any new taxes proposed to pay for SEMTA deficits which are expected to increase greatly between now and 1990.

Generally, Korzon said, the regional review committee's refusal to recommend a grant for federal approval is detrimental to a project. But, he added, "SEMTA is not an ordinary project."

SEMTA and Detroit officials, particularly Mayor Coleman Young, have been seeking federal mass transit support since the mid-1970s. Subway opponents hope the new Reagan Administration will refuse federal funding for the project.

SORONEN, FIDGE and Korzon took issue with Young's reported comments last week that suburban subway opponents are motivated by racism and bigotry.

"Young used those statements politically," Korzon said. "My position is not as narrow and parochial as he suggests. . . . Historically, I can go back and demonstrate otherwise."

The Bloomfield Township official said he's "more convinced than before that the subway is not a viable approach.

"In a sense," he said, "It's one man's monument."

Soronen, who voted against the subway study last summer, said: "I'm sorry, I do not see a connection between racial bigotry and subways.

"I don't feel it (the subway) is even adequately serving the city."

The Farmington Hills official said RC2 did not recommend against the second subway study grant.

"None of the five of us thought quickly enough to make a motion to give a negative recommendation, had we wanted to," she said.

Fidge, who is an alternate committee member, said, "I have no problem with my vote.

"My basis for voting on that was not a black and white issue.

"I have difficulty rationalizing the benefit (of the subway line) for the whole region," said the Plymouth Township trustee.

In redevelopment package

Cities get new growth tools

Gov. William G. Milliken has signed a package of bills to allow municipalities to stimulate urban redevelopment through the creation of Tax Increment Finance Authorities.

The bills (SB 1216, 1217 and 1218) were introduced at the request of the Michigan Department of Commerce. All take immediate effect.

The new laws permit a city to "plow back" all of the increased property tax revenue resulting from new private development into rehabilitating the streets, facilities and utilities and clearing land to help continue local economic growth.

Cities have the power to create Downtown Development Authority Districts, keeping the new tax revenue generated by urban revitalization in the area where it was generated and stimulating further growth. They now can apply the same procedures to areas outside of the downtown district.

"This legislation is important to the revitalization and self-determination of our older Michigan cities," Milliken said, "allowing them to influence the re-investment of private dollars into areas of greatest need.

"This package can provide an incentive for private business to re-invest in our cities, creating new jobs for our urban unemployed and retaining existing jobs," he added.

The most immediate beneficiaries, according to Commerce Department reports, are industrial development projects in Detroit, Pontiac and Flint. Collectively, they are expected to induce auto industry capital investment of $1.4 billion and create or retain up to 14,000 manufacturing jobs.

Industrial development projects in Lansing, Battle Creek, Benton Harbor and Kalamazoo also are expected to benefit from the new laws.

Park land purchase is defended

Editor:

I do not agree that the Township Board's decision for denial of purchase of land for a park in northwest Canton was "bending to pressure," as stated in the Observer.

The message from those present was clear. They did not want their federal, or local taxes spent for purchasing of more land for parks anywhere in the township during this period of high taxes, inflation, and unemployment.

Hundreds of acres of unused park land are already off the tax rolls. Our tax money would be required for not only the purchase, but building, maintenance, policing, trash pick-up, road service, etc. for a regional-type park — not a township 'residents only' park. If land were developed as currently zoned, it would bring in $500,000 in tax base.

The recreation department budget already has increased 1100 percent in seven years, while population has increased only 400 percent. Growth projections of the 1977 recreation plan will not materialize and park purchases suggested at that time should be reconsidered.

The U.S. Census shows that Wayne County population has decreased by 13 percent; our new master land use plan decreases population of township from 200,000 to 100,000; depressed economy is causing more people to move out of state and township; and development pressure has bottomed out.

Naturally the majority group in attendance at the hearing on the park which was to be located next to Pilgrim Hills Subdivision would be those residents most directly affected by impact of the park. There were also residents from the surrounding areas. There was almost total agreement by all present in voicing their opposition. Petitions opposing purchase of land were presented to the board and signed by 377 residents from all areas of the township.

It was obvious your paper was acutally "pressuring" for the purchase of this land. I feel it was highly improper, irresponsible and irrelevent for your paper to print a highly inflated dollar figure on the homes in Pilgrim Hills; label them "affluent"; and quote statements out of context, while completely ignoring valid statements that affect our health, safety, and welfare; plus, the content of petition. This type of reporting causes apathy (who wants to be ridiculed publicly?); devisiveness ("its alright for your backyard"); antagonism toward board ("bending to pressure"?). In the past, subdivision homeowner groups supported each other in an effort to make government responsive.

It was no surprise to us when the board, unanimously, decided to abandon its plan to proceed with purchase of this land. Their decision was based on the legitimate concerns given "by the people" (verbal and written), which were excellent and presented in an orderly manner, considering time limitations and emotional aspects.

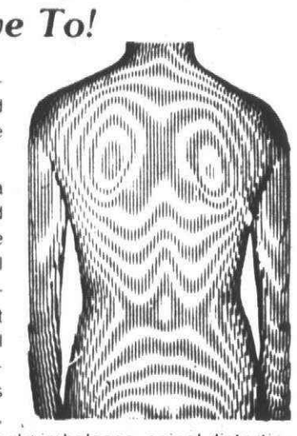
Free Contour Analysis Helps Determine If You Really Have To!



In a recent research program Contour Analysis screening tests disclosed 94% of the scoliosis cases found to be positive by x-ray examination.

Contour Analysis involves taking a "three dimensional" picture (Called Moire photography) of the surface of the back to help detect postural distortions. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomotology, and levels of spinal tenderness. Such composite examinations may indicate such things as normal and abnormal stress patterns, spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, spinal distortion and scoliosis.

A free Contour Analysis screening test is also being offered for people with acute or chronic pain by the chiropractic office listed below. People who suffer with backache, bursitis, arthritis, neuralgia, nerve pain, neck pain, muscle pain, bone pain, etc. . . are also invited to receive this free examination.

These tests, including consultation with the doctor, are being offered to the public at no charge, or obligation, for the next 30 days. Anyone wishing to receive this free examination may telephone the participating office directly for information or an appointment. If treatment, or additional examination, is indicated, almost all health insurance policies cover chiropractic care. All fees thoroughly explained prior to any additional service being rendered.

Realtors open Plymouth branch

A real estate firm based in Birmingham for 30 years has opened a new branch office at 498 S. Main in Plymouth — immediately south of the Mayflower Hotel.

Weir, Manuel, Snyder and Ranke, Inc. now has offices in West Bloomfield, Birmingham, Troy and Rochester staffed by 100 sales persons who sell more than $150 million in property annually.

A continued growth in sales has prompted the company to enlarge its area of service to include Plymouth and the surrounding areas of Canton, Northville, Livonia and Novi.

The Plymouth office, located in the former Finlan Building, contains 4,600 square feet — about half of which the company will use immediately to accommodate 16 salespersons.

Jerome A. Delaney of Northville has been appointed manager of the new office in Plymouth. Delaney has been in sales for the past five years in the West Bloomfield office of Weir, Manuel, Snyder and Ranke.

Before that, Delaney was with Del E. Webb and Chrysler Realty at their Wabeek Development in Bloomfield Hills.

State getting conflicting messages on tax reform

If it weren't so serious, we'd laugh.

Taxpayers and public officials are sending the state capital different messages on the need for property tax reform in Michigan communities.

We heard it during the 1978 Tisch I and 1980 Tisch II tax cut campaigns.

It came up again two weeks ago when Gov. William Milliken proposed a 35 percent property tax cut for all residents, up to a maximum of $1,400 per home.

Most homeowners will welcome the governor's proposal. They were hit by increases of 10 to 35 percent in their property tax bills when they expected the 1978 Headlee tax limitation amendment to the state Constitution to limit those increases to the rate of inflation.

That didn't happen.

At the same time, city and school officials complain about taxes — there isn't enough to maintain the current level of public services and programs, let alone make improvements. Some have said in past years that they need at least 5 to 10 percent more money annually just to stay even.

School officials in particular have been vocal in knocking any state tax reform proposal if it doesn't provide more money for public education.

BUT THE PROBLEM is that taxpayers and the tax spenders are poles apart.

Most homeowners seem to be saying: "My property taxes are $1,500 and I don't want them to increase next year. If there has to be an increase, I want it to be a moderate boost, like 5 percent. I refuse to pay any more."

The local elected officials, who spend the property taxes, are saying something completely different:

"Our operating budget last year was $X million. The union contracts require an 8 percent pay increase for everyone, and the employees' wages and fringe benefits represent about 80 to 85 percent of our budget. Because of the state economic recession, the governor is reducing state support for cities and schools while our costs continue to go up. We need more money, not less."

MEANWHILE, BACK in the state Legislature where new tax changes are being written, Lansing is getting the conflicting messages.

Political creatures that they are, the legislators know the homeowners represent votes, and the local elected officials represent political clout and potential rivals.

Somewhere, there has to be a meeting of the minds between homeowners and community leaders on just what they want.

On another level, there must be a better educational process to tell homeowners that with the state personal income tax "circuit breaker" feature, the net property taxes paid is much less than the gross property tax bill.

The property tax rebate check from Lansing gives the impression that it represents a refund of part of the person's income tax when it is actually a large rebate on their property taxes.

Cable TV: What are we buying?

In these days of high-powered communications, a lot of big talk and big money are floating around the suburbs toting the virtues of cable television.

Dozens of cable firm representatives, festooned in blue pin-striped suits, are promising local municipalities the world to get their feet in the affluent suburban doorway.

Some already have succeeded. In those communities, residents are sitting back in their easy chairs waiting for the day that upwards of 200 channels will put the world at their fingertips.

Some communication experts are predicting cable will be the demise of the print media as we know it.

Could be — but thinking persons, unattached to the emotional riches promised at the end of the cable rainbow, have serious doubts.

"They're are playing for big dollars, and the stakes are high," said a municipal official who is making a noble attempt to keep at arm's length the legions of cable courtiers.

"Once the decision is made, nobody else can get a crack for another 10 or 15 years — maybe never," he said, explaining the underlying tone of desperation he perceives.

"They offer all sorts of equipment for municipalities to use. Some even offer upfront cash," he said, noting that one city was offered $250,000 by one group.

"AND IF A COMMUNITY is hard up for cash, the money is going to influence them," he said.

Other techniques are more subtle. The municipal official calls it "influence peddling."

"Oh, it's not always money. But some vendors employ people with good reputations. They try to grease the way with relationships,' he said.

Vendors are appealing to the basic ego of municipal representatives promising a soup-to-nuts assortment of equipment allowing cities, school districts, universities and libraries an electronic entree into constituents' homes.

But anyone who has attended council or school board meetings for any length of time realizes that the last thing the general viewing audience wants to do is to tune into some five-hour-long session on introductions to zoning ordinances.

Commercial television, with all its faults, is terribly sophisticated. Librarians and small town politicians just won't and can't compete.

The real goal is the movie market. Cable vendors knows the public's unquenchable thirst for the good old-fashioned moving picture. But our municipal expert has an answer for that one also.

"I've got to believe the movies will be short term. With the number of stations, they will be able to show a year's worth of movies in two months. Then what?" he asks.

IN THE END, it will be the users who will get burned. They will pay the bill for all the fancy equipment "given" to the municipalities. The more toys a cable service offers, the higher the fee will be.

I have a sneaking feeling that after about five years of this nonsense, subscribers will wise up and desert the ship — weary of waiting for the cable world that could have been.

Sure, I could be wrong. Only time will tell.

They smiled at big demands

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

Oftimes The Stroller has wondered how a fellow feels when one of his employees is brash enough to demand a salary of $1 million a year and, more than that, ask that it be for a five-year period.

Just imagine. That is five times the salary paid the president of the United States, and in the case of the baseball players it is for six months work out of each year.

The Stroller had the opportunity to find out the other evening when he was a guest at the annual party sponsored by the Detroit Tigers. As luck would have it he was seated next to John Fetzer, the Tigers owner, who is considered one of the most businesslike men in baseball.

At an opportune time during the festivities, The Stroller asked, "Mr. Fetzer, how do you feel about one of your hirelings asking for $1 million a year and a five-year contract to boot?"

The Tiger owner, who started with a small radio station in Kalamazoo and guided the business to a chain of stations that helped make him a millionaire, just smiled. Then he wryly said, "I wouldn't mind having a contract like that myself."

THE DEMAND didn't seem to bother him. He sort of regarded it as a joke.

Then he hinted that he wasn't much interested in the asking price. He was more concerned with what the player and the agent would settle for. Until that figure is reached, he is wise enough to sit back and smile and let the others on his staff worry about it.

As he sat and listened to Fetzer, The Stroller got to wondering how some of the previous owners of the Tigers would feel under present day contract negotiations.

During his career as a sports writer, The Stroller met and conversed with all of the owners. Two of them — Frank J. Navin, for whom the stadium was once named, and Walter O. Briggs, the multi-millionaire — stand out.

NAVIN, A STOUT baldish man, never took salary demands seriously, and for three years he was dealing with teams and players that won pennants.

Any time he was approached about an increase he would whirl around in his chair point to the playing field and explain that it only seated 29,000 people, so there was little or no money available for salary increases.

Sounds funny, but in most cases the players withdrew their demands. Navin was a shrewd operator.

On his own he would slip a deserving player an increase and no one ever knew about it except he and the player.

BRIGGS WAS a far different individual. He was the domineering type who wanted his word to become law.

Well The Stroller remembers the Hank Greenberg case. The big first baseman was coming back to action after suffering a broken wrist. For days on end, at the 1937 Florida training camp, the word was spread that serious negotiations were taking place.

Then one evening the word came that Greenberg had been signed. There was no announcement of the terms. So The Stroller called the Tiger boss and asked the amount of salary and the length of the contract.

"My signing of Mr. Greenberg," he said, "is just a matter between him and me — and none of the public's business."

And we never were told officially.

Now, Mr. Fetzer has given a new slant. He just smiles about the demand, knowing that the asking figure is mentioned for publicity purposes.

Bill Stockwell

Did you know that one of Michigan's leading early tavern keepers was a woman? Mary Ann Chapple was not endowed with a particularly good face or figure, but had a generous heart. She often dispensed her own brand of medicine to man and beast alike. It was the same potion for every ailment, the only difference being the size of the dose.

Unreadable legalese is legal

Too bad President Reagan is going to reduce the amount of government regulation. I had a pretty good suggestion for one last regulation.

It would be aimed at banking. I won't mention the name of the bank which stimulated the idea because, under current regulations, it did nothing illegal.

My bank sent me a plastic card with a legal agreement covering "electronic funds transfer service agreement for personal accounts."

That much I could decipher. The rest was unreadable. The legal agreement to which the bank wanted me to subscribe was printed on lines 160 spaces wide in 5-point type in blue.

By way of comparison, the line you are now reading is about 50 spaces wide, the type is 10-point and it's black. Thus, the bank's legal agreement is three times as wide in spacing, the type is half as high, and the tinted type is guaranteed to cause eyestrain.

So I wrote to the bank and asked for a readable copy.

A MONTH LATER, the bank's operations manager wrote back:

"At the present time, we do not have an agreement in larger type. I checked with our legal department and the proof copy is in the same size type."

He then gave the reasons for printing the document so poorly:

"1. The volume of information that is required on the agreement would require it to be printed in a multi-page document if a larger type size was used. We felt that it would be easier for our customers to have a one-page document to read rather than multi-pages.

"2. Our legal department has on file copies of EFT agreements that other financial institutions use. Our type size is equal to or greater than their agreements."

THE BANKER was playing fast and loose with the truth.

First, the mailing consisted not of one sheet of paper but three. Two pages were non-binding advertising printed in large type, much of it larger than the headline on this column.

Second, even if there were justifiable use of 5-point type, there was no excuse for using lines 160 spaces wide. It could have been broken up into two or three columns.

Third, the banker didn't even offer an excuse for printing the legal agreement in blue.

Fourth, although insurance companies are notorious for the "fine print" in their legal contracts, they use type considerably more readable than the bank. I checked the policies of three life insurance, a title insurance and a homeowners insurance contracts.

The bank deliberately had made its legal contract unreadable.

SO I LAUNCHED a complaint to the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency, was assigned file number 173709 and five weeks later got this reply:

"This Office is charged with the responsibility of enforcing banking statutes, regulations, and rulings as they apply to national banks. The material presented to us by you and the bank, discloses no violations of statutes, regulations or rulings. Accordingly, we will not pursue this matter."

There oughta be a law, or a rule, or a regulation, that legal agreements ought to be printed in black ink in a readable format. There isn't, and under Reagan the odds are poor that there will be.

So I'll fight back in my own way, just like the rugged pioneers in "Death Valley Days." I won't sign their damn legal agreement.

I'll go to the bank during regular hours and make 'em hire a live cashier to deal with me. I'll put more dough in the credit union.

In short, I'll regulate the SOBs myself, through the marketplace.

'Mood' scene tells how photographer felt

Monte Nagler

A few weeks ago, I discussed the two most important ingredients in making a photograph. The first is you, the second your subject.

A photograph becomes a visual expression of the relationship between you and the subject.

And there's no better area in photography to optimize this relationship than in making mood pictures. The scenic photographer will take a picture and say, "This is what I saw." The mood photographer, on the other hand, takes a photograph and says, "This is what I felt."

WITH A LITTLE practice, you can develop a sensitivity for moods which will lead you to a new, almost delicate approach to your photograpy.

To begin with, you must take time to examine your environment, looking for the inherent beauty in the smallest of weeds as well as the magnificence of a towering forest.

Study your subject carefully and get to know it well, always keeping in mind you're building that all-important relationship between you and the subject. Practice by viewing your subject from every angle, in close and far back. Never rush into snapping the picture.

Study how the light affects form and texture. View your subject at different times of the day especially in different kinds of weather.

With experience, you'll find your photography shifting from the literal recording of a scene to an artistic expression of mood.

NATURE'S ELEMENTS are among the key ingredients you can capture in making mood photographs.

Fog, mist, water and sunlight skimming through soft foliage all present conditions suitable for obtaining mood in your pictures.

Early morning or late afternoon light offer the best opportunity for capturing shadows and textures. Use side or backlighting which will give your pictures a certain sparkle and help place the emphasis on the main subject. Fog and mist will subdue unwanted backgrounds and will produce soft, subtle colors.

Water can give you different moods in your pictures. Reflections in a still lake will give a feeling of seclusion and quietness. Splashing waves result in an exciting mood while flowing water captured during a long exposure (you'll need a tripod) gives a peaceful, serene mood.

When making mood photographs, pay particular attention to depth of field. A wide aperture will produce shallow depth, which will isolate the main subject by throwing everything else out of focus. Your depth of field preview button or built-in scale on your lens will help you determine the depth you want.

NO ONE FILM is best for capturing mood.

However, make sure that the ASA is satisfactory for the subject and weather conditions. In subdued light you may need a faster film, so always keep a few rolls handy.

Don't forget people's faces, either. They are fertile fields for capturing moods such as joy, excitement or pensiveness. Natural light on an overcast day is the best lighting that can be used. Or use sunlight filtering in through a window to capture that special mood.

Most important, become involved with your subject no matter what it may be. Build a good relationship which in turn will give you a mood picture of which you can be proud.

© 1981, by Monte Nagler. The writer will teach a photograpyy course at the Farmington Community Center beginning March 3. Registrations can be made by calling the center at 477-8404.

A mood of drama and excitement is captured by using late afternoon backlighting.

Deputy layoffs are upsetting

Editor:

Next to the hostage situation, the demise of the Wayne County Sheriff's Patrol has been the most prominent public event to earn my concern for several months (and the election of a new president, of course).

As a Plymouth Township resident who felt more secure seeing the friendly faces of various members of the Sheriff's patrol on a regular basis perusing our safety, on what is a happy day in one sense that the hostages are publicly being greeted today, I am saddened by the fate of several conscientious patrol persons.

It seems so illogical to not only deprive these people of jobs providing them security for themselves and/or their respective families, but deprive citizens of sorely needed security from disrespectful citizens who thrive on destructiveness, robbery, maming of people, etc. It would seem more serious prioritizing needs to be done by the people responsible for the handling of our monies and our security.

While we may share security and emergency services with the city of Plymouth, in no way will we have the protection we now enjoy and will need even more so with an ever-increasing community growth. It's just logical. I guess that's what's so ironic about this situation. It's too simple to understand the reasoning behind the action being taken.

I'm sure there are a lot of Plymouth Township residents sharing the same feelings with me and my family today. Anyway, maybe something will happen to reverse the situation and save this important community service and, for the most part, the conscientious "people-minded" persons their jobs.

If this is not to be, may I take this opportunity to thank these people and especially number 66 and his cohorts for this 'n that with the best of luck to you, whatever the outcome.

BEVERLY HOWARTH,
Plymouth Township

'Executive session' OK — Ward

Editor:

Tim Richard (Observer column Jan. 22) clearly does not share my opinion that all requirements of the Open Meetings Act were met before the Wayne County Charter commission received its Personnel Committee report in executive session.

Even if he were right and I were wrong, it still is no occasion to jump to such uncharitable conclusions about lawyers in general or the commission's intent. One of the ablest lawyers ever to sit on the U.S. Supreme Court was Robert Jackson. He once had to concede that a prior opinion of his had been wholly erroneous. He did so in the following manner:

"Precedent is not lacking for ways by which a judge may recede from a prior opinion that has proven untenable and perhaps misled others. Baron Bramwell extricated himself from a somewhat similar embarrassment by saying: 'The matter does not appear to me now as it appears to have appeared to me then.'

"And Mr. Justice Story, accounting for his contradiction of his own former opinion, quite properly put the matter: 'My own error, however, can furnish no ground for its being adopted by this court.'

"Perhaps Dr. Johnson really went to the heart of the matter when he explained a blunder in his dictionary — 'Ignorance, sir, ignorance.'

"But Lord Lestbury, who, it is said, rebuffed a barrister's reliance upon an earlier opinion of his lordship: 'I can only say that I am amazed that a man of my intelligence should have been guilty of giving such an opinion.'

"If there are other ways of gracefully and good naturedly surrendering former views to a better considered position, I invoke them all."

McGrath v. Kristensen, 340 U.S. 162.

If my ruling, which I still believe is correct, is ever established as erroneous, I will endeavor to be as graceful and good natured as was Justice Jackson in surrendering old views.

GEORGE E. WARD, president
Wayne County Charter Commission

Why settle for less?

Editor:

I wish to submit the following viewpoint for publication in your newspaper:

Why settle for less when already we have the best?

I'm a little puzzled why Plymouth Township is so prone to be non-supportive of Sheriff Lucas' Wayne County patrol, especially after they've proven that they are a truly responsive and capable law enforcement agency.

Recently, their prompt responses (less than five minutes) to a wanton shotgun blast into a nearby residence and a series of neighborhood burglaries and arsons during this past summer shows that the Wayne County Sheriff's Department is a proficient and professional organization.

In conclusion, I believe that during this present political crisis, we should go all out and support Sheriff Lucas in his pending crisis, we should go all out and support Sheriff Lucas in his pending legal battle with the bureaucrats, and try to keep his efficient organization intact and operating in our behalf.

Heather Guenther was called on to give a trial run of the soon-to-be completed hands-on center at the Plymouth Historical Museum. Observer Photographer Gary Caskey was there to record her reactions. She admired the old-fashioned dolls, examined the scoop of cloves and tentatively tasted a Sensen.

Heather takes a trial tour

By ELINOR GRAHAM

"Then and Now," the new hands-on exhibit at the Plymouth Historical Museum, promises to be one of the most popular and effective ofthe museum's educational programs. No deadline has been set for its completion, but because of the efforts of many volunteers, "Then and Now" is shaping up.

Marge Mitchell, director of the educational programs presented by the museum, is watching her brainchild gradually become a reality.

Fred and Louise Bradley donated the old hump-backed tin trunk with the stipulation that it be used. It will be filled with duplicates of children's clothing from before the turn-of-the-century.

Because the originals are too fragile (and valuable) to withstand much handling, new reproductions will be made for the trunk.

Children will be able to try on the clothing and admire the result in a large oak-framed mirror, donated by Clarence Moore.

THE CLOTHES in the trunk go with a special display in the Then and Now section.

Ann Featherstone, local doll maker, dressed the two boy dolls in the display.. The older boy is in knee pants, checked shirt and cap and is complete in detail even to the slingshot in a back pocket. The three-year-old boy wears a dress.

Mrs. Mitchell explained that dresses were more practical because of toilet-training attitudes of the era.

Pam Flick dressed the little girl doll which will share a place of honor, under glass, with the boy dolls. The display will include doll-size underwear — long johns, bloomers and other items — each carefully reproduced and stitched by Gerry Jablonski. These will be displayed in a framed, mirrored shadow box built by Clarence Moore.

The general store segment is complete. David Mazhar, a high school freshman, painted the then and now oil painting above the shelf.

THE SHELF contains articles found in a 19th century grocery store — even a basket of eggs which the farm women would bring to town and barter for tea, sugar and other articles. Each is labeled and includes a brief explanation. Frances Worth did the lettering on the labels.

Below the shelf are two pull-out bins, one full and one empty. The one contains common, everyday products from a modern store.

They are items that no one had heard of 100 years ago. As each box or package is taken from one bin and examined, it is dropped into the empty bin for the next visitor.

Alvin LeCroix made the miniature general store on the outside of the display.

The doll-size brass bed was outfitted by Pat Whitesell after considerable research. It is authentic. From the under mattress or pad, which kept the feather tick from sliding, to the woven coverlet with its hand-knotted fringe, everything is the way it used to be.

THE SHEETS are hand-hemmed and pillow shams are hand-embroidered, starched and ironed.

"Geneva Guenther has done most of the leg work," Mrs. Mitchell said. "She found the brass bed, the bonnets, shoes and underwear. We still are looking for some old-fashioned long winter underwear. They wore long johns winter and summer but one was lighter than the other."

Don Sober and Bruce Richard are building the units, George Tully is doing some of the carpenter work and John Hibler painted the walls.

"Donations from the Plymouth Rotary Anns and Woman's Club have helped us in the project," Mrs. Mitchell added.

The completed learning center will have six divisions. Many of them are correlated to the units on the first floor of the museum.

THE VICTORIAN rooms are being duplicated by miniaturist Alvin LeCroix.

"He's even carving little clothespins," Mrs. Mitchell said. "Jim Mitch-

"This is the way it will look," explained Marge Mitchell as she showed Heather the model. Heather's father, Torb Guenther, designed the layout.

Visit to police station is rewarding

Canton Chatter

By KATHY FREECE 981-2027

While standing in line at a local restaurant, I struck up a conversation with a man next to me. He was visiting his family and was about to return to his home in Florida.

He had just purchased a few new parts for his car, to replace parts stolen while his car was parked in an area lot. His name is Larry Gouin.

Just out of curiosity, a few days later I decided to go to the Canton Police department to discover what types of crime and how many calls are handled by the local department. Upon arriving, I locked my keys in my car and had to stay a little longer than I anticipated.

Chief of Police Jerry Cox granted a hour of his busy schedule to relate to me the information many of us will be interested to hear.

Larceny is the most prevalent crime in Canton. My mailbox has been disrupted a few times in the past. Objects taken unlawfully from someone's home, garage or front yard fall under this category.

STORIES OF homeowners returning from a long vacation or a trip across town to find many of their belongings missing, are actual happenings.

Communication with our neighbors is a good idea when we are planning to be away for one day or two weeks.

There is a broad spectrum of irritating events going on every day. Lts. Larry Stewart and Dennis Joker and Sgts. Bill Lenaghan, Alex Wilson and Gary Griffis are the officers who maintain the smooth-running operations at the police station. Five corporals also assist — Robin Cripe, James Hanna, Kurt Johnston, Roger Pearsall and Robert Vanlith.

All the men named above agree that the emergency response capabilities of the department are great but would improve when there is money available to expand. Six patrolmen or patrolwoman are on duty on each of four shifts.

The major department stores in the township have their own security and a constant working relationship with the police. They apprehend the wrongdoers within their establishment and turn them over to the police.

WHEN SOMEONE does something nice for us we usually thank them in some small way. This is my way of saying thank you to the entire department for the hair-raising time when my daughter was lost.

It was the quick response of the mobile unit that calmed me down to a mild case of worry that she would be found soon and she was.

Soon we should have in the area a home security mobile mini-station. Two trained specialists will be able to go into homes and do a survey on the ways to improve security.

Two instances when we think about the law are when we are late for work and someone pulls us over for speeding or when an emergency arises and we call the police. They are always first in line when it comes to good and bad comments about our rights to police protection.

The Canton police received 18,500 complaints last year. Most were responded to in minimal periods of time.

RESERVE OFFICERS supplement the monthly schedule. These men and women are carefully screened and must attend in-service classes.

They are Greg Bretz, Bill Farmer, Vicki Hebda, Don LaFramboise, Christian Mayer, Jim Miller, Mike Pinrod, Myron Pryor, Steve Ross, Jim Olinger, Steve Keleman, Floyd Moyer and Sandra Gindorff.

I had no idea there was such a thing as a part-time patrolman.

Leonard Bush, Don LaFramboise Sr., John Longridge, Gerald Niezgoda, John Roan, Raymond Rodriguez, Bob Royston, Len Schemanske and Bruce Sutzer hold full-time jobs as well as spending some of their spare time to protect the community. John Swalley is the animal warden in the township.

We should be proud to have such a dedicated group of people protecting us.

IF YOU CAN'T think of an unusual way to spend a dull Saturday afternoon I have one for all of you — the second annual Groundhog Day Slo-Pitch Softball Tournament.

Twelve teams are entered this year, including one women's team.

A 16-inch orange softball will be used for the tournament to be held at Griffin Park.

I plan on going just to find out what kind of crazy person would decide to play softball in the snow, on Jan. 31.

The Canton Seniors Band is cutting a record. The price will be $1.50. Please call the recreation department to reserve a copy.

Family Y plans pow-wow

An informational meeting to introduce the Livonia Family Y Indian program to prospective new members is planned at 2 p.m. Sunday the Y building, 14255 Stark.

The whole family is invited to participate. There will be a slide show on Indian group activities, movies for the children while the parents get the opportunity to ask questions and then free open family swimming.

Babysitting will be provided.

The Y sponsors an assortment of Indian programs, all of which require that a parent participate with each child in the 5-10 age range.

A mini winter vacation—and it's all for free

Cruises to warm waters will be part of the Winter Escape Saturday, as Chris Opeleski (left) and Mary Connor will welcome visitors aboard and show films of resort and cruise trips. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Ice-bound northerners can roll back winter with a mini-vacation Saturday in Westchester Square on Forest Avenue.

There will be free putting lessons offered from 10 a.m., when the shops open, to 6 p.m., when they close. Lynn Waldecker from Oasis and John Koch from Brooklane, both pros, will be the instructors.

A lemonade stand, free balloons and calyspo music will set the mood for the winter escape.

All 10 merchants in the square are cooperating in the venture.

Models will parade through mall wearing the latest spring fashions and resort wear. The Beautiful People salon is offering special sun-streaking treatments to add to the fantasy. John Schultz will be taking souvenir photographs to record the vacation. Souvenirs of Plymouth will be on sale. There will be gift certificates, prizes and surprises. Each of the merchants will offer sale items.

Plymouth Travel consultants are contributing to the festivities by setting up a cruise ship on the balcony in the square. Shirley Peters of Saks has collected nautical accoutrements to authenticate the background. Travel films will be shown, free of charge, throughout the day.

The roll back winter celebration is free and open to the public. •

Dreams can come true.

Especially with a little thoughtful planning. Like buying U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Bonds can make that dream house a reality. Or that long awaited dream vacation come true. 'Cause Bonds are the safe, dependable way to save.

And while you're keeping your dreams alive, your Bonds will be working hard for the great American dream, too.

So buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

They'll put your financial worries to rest.

E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4½% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Dear Dr. Forrest:
DO I REALLY NEED TO HAVE THESE X-RAYS?
ISN'T THERE A DANGER OF TOO MUCH RADIATION?
I.M. CONCERNED

Dear Concerned:

Dental x-rays are invaluable to us, they not only show decay between the teeth, they also show unerupted teeth (most important in detecting orthodontic (braces) treatment for children and becoming more common for adults. Another condition visible on x-rays is abcessed teeth, which will need root canal treatment before they become infected, painful and swollen.

Lastly, Concerned, you can be sure the exposure of a dental x-ray is minimal. Our x-ray units are monitered by radiation checks and as a further precaution we provide a lead shield to protect you.

Sincerely,

New Ward staffers help launch classes

With two new staff members taking major responsiblities, Ward Presbyterian Church of Livonia will begin its winter and spring School of Christian Education Wednesday, Feb. 4.

The evening programs, which include 6 p.m. family dinner and a selection of free classes 7-8:15 p.m., run September through May in the church at Farmington Road and Six Mile.

Participating for the first time in the winter-spring schedule will be the Rev. W. Wallace Hostetter, Ward's new minister of evangelism, and Majorie Smith, taking over the post of Director of Christian Education.

Miss Smith has overall charge of the evening school along with other educational responsibilities. Hostetter is leading a winter membership informa-

Student program

An International Student Day program is planned for the meeting of Church Women United of Livonia meeting at 12:15 p.m. Friday, Feb. 6, in the First United Methodist Church of Farmington, 33112 Grand River, a block east of Farmington Road.

There will be a carry-in casserole luncheon and babysitting will be provided. Reservations must be made by Feb. 4 by calling Betty Haines, 535-8355.

tion class and will begin a spring class April 29.

Six other classes are part of the new School of Christian Education program.

DR. BARTLETT L. Hess, senior pastor, will teach a course on the book of revelation. His study will take up events happening today and their relation to end times and the coming of Christ.

"Learning to Help People" is the title of a course to be led by the Rev. L. Edward Davis, executive pastor. It will cover skills necessary for ministering to others, particularly the lonely, troubled or bereaved.

Timm Jackson, minister to single adults, will lead a class considering the credibility of Christianity and the intellectual basis for faith. "Your Faith — Fact, Fantasy or Fallacy?" is the title.

"All in the Famiy," a study of family relationships, will be taught by Terry Prisk, former youth pastor at Ward and now on the staff of Detroit Metropolitan Youth for Christ. The course is open only to parents and will focus on how God views the family.

George Currie and David Satterthwaite, members of Ward church, will lead a "Creative Survey of the New Testament," and Ray Fraser and George Galbraith will head a training session for men interested in having a ministry with boys.

THE TWO NEW members of the instructional team, Hostetter and Miss Smith, will be honored by the church at 8:30 p.m. Sunday when a reception will be held to welcome them and bid farewell to the Rev. Robert J. Marlow, who left the staff in December after 13 years as minister of visitation.

Hostetter has been in his new post since Jan. 15, and Miss Smith arrived this week.

Both noted they had heard about the Livonia church in other parts of the country long before being invited to interview for staff vacancies.

Hostetter, who entered the ministry after working in private investigative work for four years, graduated from Reformed Theological Seminary in Jackson, Miss., and has served as pastor of the Helena Presbyterian Church in Mississippi.

He said he was visiting the Dearborn of his wife's parents and decided to make a stop at Ward "because I had heard it was an evangelical church."

church bulletin

FAITH COMMUNITY CHURCH, 46001 Warren, Canton Township, has invited members of the community to the dedication of its new building at 4 p.m. Sunday. Family worship will be at 10:30 a.m. and Sunday school begins at 9:15 a.m.

The dedication service will feature guest choirs from the Grace Moravian Church of Westland and the Unionville Moravian Church from the Thumb area of Michigan. Guest speaker will be president of the Western District of the Moravian Church, Dr. Warren A. Sautebin of Madison, Wisc.

Following the event there will be an open house and dinner.

Designed by R.J. Happley of Dearborn, the building was built by Metropolitan Construction and Contracting of Livonia. It covers 5,400 square feet. It contains a sanctuary seating 180, a fellowship hall which divides into six classrooms, a kitchen, nursery, narthex, offices, storage rooms and restrooms.

Pastor of the church is the Rev. Darryl Bell. The building committee was composed of Joseph Farhat, chairman; Linda Ammon, Barbara Crum, Phyllis Farhat and Rev. Bell.

Prior to moving into the new building, the Faith Community congregation worshipped for three years in Pioneer Middle School. It is composed of people from a variety of religious backgrounds.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH OF LIVONIA, 34500 W. Six Mile, has a new musical director. He is C. William Feucht of Livonia.

Feucht has been employed for 27 years as a vocal music director in the Farmington school district. He also has directed several church choirs and special singing groups in the metropolitan area..

He is planning an ambitious program of music for the church. There are openings in all sections of the chancel choir which will be performing works of the masters as well as compositions of modern day composers. Several cantatas and oratorios are planned.

He also forsees a men's chorus, several quartets, a youth choir and cherub choir. Anyone interested in joining the chancel choir should call Feucht at 421-3078 between 4-8 p.m.

A graduate of Ottawa University, Feucht holds degrees in music education and voice. His graduate studies were taken at the University of Michigan School of Music. He has studied voice with and worked under the supervision of John Finley Williamson of the Westminster Choir College. He also studied with Fred Waring.

Feucht has appeared as soloist for the program "Sermon in Song," which toured the midwest.

BETHEL BAPTIST TEMPLE, 29475 Six Mile, Livonia, will observe its seventh birthday on Sunday. Special services will be held at 10 and 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Everyone present will receive a free souvenir gift. Nursery and toddler care will be provided for all services.

ROSEDALE GARDENS UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Hubbard and W. Chicago, Livonia, has invited the Rev. Don Coleman of Guild House at the University of Michigan to discuss "95 Theses of Jerry Falwell"at its adult form at 11 a.m. Sunday. Coleman will will talk about "What is the Moral Majority?" and "What does it mean to me?" The event is sponsored by the Church and Society Committee.

LIVONIA WESLEYAN CHURCH, 14560 Merriman, will present God's Bible School Quartet of Cincinnati, Ohio, at a special Sunday service at 11 a.m. The event is part of youth day activities.

The evening service at 7 p.m., conducted by the young people of the church, will feature the film, "Troubled Waters." It depicts a group of teenagers experiencing the splendor of nature, and discusses many of the questions young people ask, such as "Who am I?" "Why am I here?" and "Where am I going?"

A fellowship hour will follow the evening service.

MEMORIAL CHURCH OF CHRIST, 35475 Five mile, Livonia, will complete its Faith Promise Rally with a program featuring Curt Lloyd, president of Great Lakes Bible College. He will speak at 10:45 a.m. Sunday. At the conclusion of the services, Faith Promises will be collected and totaled.

The money will be divided, with half of it going to the Rodger Prong family in Chile. The Great Lakes Bible College in Lansing will receive 30 percent; 10 percent will go to Steve and Linda Morse, medical missionary students, and 10 percent to Great Lakes Christian Homes for the elderly.

Religious studies offered

Four leading clergymen will share in leadership of the fourth annual Mini School of Religious Studies, to be sponsored by the Southeastern Michigan Association on Congregational Churches the weeks of Feb. 9, 16 and 23.

Lecturers will be Dr. Kenneth Stokes, consultant for Yale University's Resources in Education for Adult Living; the Rev. Dirk A. Evans, director of pastoral care at Harper Hospital; Dr. Davis Noel Freedman, professor of biblical studies at the University of Michigan; and the Rev. James Lyons, minister of Pine Hill Congregational church, West Bloomfield and student of the holocaust.

The programs will be presented in North Congregational Church of Southfield, First Congregational Church of Royal Oak and First Congregational Church of Wayne, and each will include a main lecture Monday evening, a Tuesday afternoon women's group presentation and an informal workshop and conversation Tuesday evening.

The cost is $3 per person, which covers any or all of the presentations in any given week.

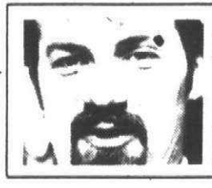
"Faith in Middlescience" is the topic Dr. Stokes will address the first week at North Church, 26275 Northwestern, Southfield. The main lecture will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 9, with coffee and discussion following.

The women's group meeting will be held 1-3 p.m. Tuesday, with dessert and beverage served and beverage provided. The evening workshop will run 7:30-9 p.m.

The course is designed to explore relationships between dynamics of midlife and adult faith development.

Evans, ordained in the Christian Reformed Church, will follow the same schedule Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 16-17, in the Royal Oak church, 134 Northwood Blvd. His topic will be "The Vital Balance of Physical, Emotional and Spiritual Health."

Dr. Freedman will give the two evening programs Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 23-24, in the Wayne church, 2 Towne Square.



moral perspectives

Rev. Lloyd Buss

Watch the program, not the loophole

It has been said so often few notice it anymore.

But when John Block, Secretary of Agriculture, said recently that there were many "cheaters and frauds" receiving food stamps, the lines for battle were again being drawn around an issue that has no center.

No one can deny the practice of cheating in receiving food stamps, but reducing that percentage will only be successfully accomplished by suspending the whole program. Success in that effort can only be measured in units of ruthless statistics and heartless expedience.

The true mark of success in our national practice of public assistance in times of personal need should be the extent of coverage provided. With an increasing number of people living with limited incomes unable to meet the essential needs for decent survival, the challenge we have is to reorder our priorities as a nation to provide them.

The more serious issue for the Secretary of Agriculture is the growing number of people who need assistance. Substituting bread for guns and milk for bombs is very difficult in a time when war rhetoric is growing more boisterous every day.

THE FOOD STAMP program was begun as a pilot project in 1961 and has been our answer to domestic poverty-related malnutrition since then. The authority for the current food stamp program ends in September of this year.

Congress will have to write new legislation and settle a $1 billion deficit in the current program. It will not be an easy task.

Heavy criticism will be leveled against the "cheaters and frauds" in the current program. Statistics will be marshalled in impressive form to illustrate the disregard of many for the basic trust we need to live in community.

Large households with more than the maximum allowable income; college students from wealthy homes; single-parent families buying dog food, et al., will be publicized as examples of basic corruption.

For many, justice will be the succesful exposure of all those who have violated the conditions of public assistance in times of personal need.

And whatever binds our country together will be increasingly suspect, for the more vigorously we seek out the cheaters and frauds the more we begin to doubt all who receive it. The final scene of that scenario will be a type of justice that destroys life instead of preserving it.

FOR OTHERS, justice will be the serving of those who have become victims of economic forces beyond their control: those who have been unable to stretch their incomes from one inflationary percentage point to the next. It is unjust and unfair to assume that an increase in the unemployment rate created an additional million lazy people, just as it is incorrect to assume that the reduction of the unemployed represents the sudden turning of loafers into industrious workers.

And an increasing number of older people living on fixed incomes will need relief from an economic system that is slowly stripping them of their independence.

TO SATISFY both concepts of justice we will need a legal definition of eligibility that is equal to the moral definition of the needy.

We will need to be inclusive in our sharing so that human dignity is not destroyed. We will need to be more sensitive to the delicate balance between need and greed and recognize the capacity for greed in all humanity. We will need to be creative in changing our economy so that poverty will be actually reduced, not merely reported in a new manner.

The food stamp program has provided nutritional assistance to needy people, and it needs to be continued. It deserves more attention than worn cliches.

By March 15, the first budget recommendation will be made in the House and Senate Agriculture and Appropriations Committees and by Sept. 15 the budget will be determined for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1981.

Carnival finalist

Irene Chmara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Chmara of Canton Township, is one of 10 finalists competing for the title of Winter Carnival queen at Michigan Technological University. She will perform a presentation of Jim Croche songs for the talent portion of the competition. A freshman majoring in biological sciences, she is being sponsored by Theta Tau fraternity. Winter carnival is a major social event on the MTU campus in Houghton. The various events which take place during the week-long carnival include beard and sideburn competitions, skits, skiing, dogsled, snowshoeing, broomball, a hockey series against Colorado College and the Snoball. The carnival, which is sponsored by Blue Key national honor society, will be Feb. 2-7.

Winter carnival

Patrice J. Cunningham, Lake Superior State College junior, is a candidate for Winter Carnival queen to reign over campus festivities Feb. 2-7. All candidates become members of the royal court. Ms. Cunningham is the daughter of Shirley Cunningham of W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. She is in the criminal justice program at LSSSC, and is a 1978 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School where she was active in varsity basketball and track. The carnival includes outdoor games, the building of snow statues, and the Snow Ball Feb. 7 at which the queen is crowned. She is secretary of the Maddogs and Englishmen Club and a member of the LSSC criminal justice association. She is employed at the Cracker Barrel in Sault Ste. Marie.

ell is making a light game to go with parlor, bedroom and kitchen."

Each section will have an accompanying quiz or question sheet. The Victorian rooms will deal with the chores a child might have had in each of the three rooms.

The school, pharmacy and farm child segments will complete the center. Marge Mitchell has been researching forms of punishment applied by the old-time schoolmarms and masters.

They'll all be in the school unit — the split branch applied to the tongue of the talker, or the ear or the nose; the dunce cap or the signs hung around the neck to shame the culprit; the stick tied to the mouth as a gag; the disgrace of being pinned or tied to the teacher's apron strings.

"THE FARM will deal with the child's responsibilities in an animal-oriented society," Mrs. Mitchell said. "And the pharmacy will include old cures, many of which came from the Indians."

The museum offers five already-established educational programs for student groups. They are: What Did They Do for Fun?, Let's Go Shopping, Great-Grandma's Trunk, Michigan Indians and Indians of the Southwest.

Generous grants from the Plymouth Rotary and Kiwanis clubs pay the admission for all students in the Plymouth-Canton Schools. All other groups pay 50 cents per person.

For reservations call the museum, 455-8940, Wednesday through Saturday, or Marge Mitchell, 459-9132, after 4 p.m. any day. At least two-week's notice is required and time often is booked six weeks in advance. The museum is closed Monday and Tuesday and is open to school groups Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The museum gift shop is open during tours and school groups are encouraged to shop. Most items are priced under $1 and every effort is made to handle sales quickly.

Complex sugars allowed in diets

There is nothing mysterious about the definition of a complex carbohydrate or its place in the diet. Yet there seems to be a continuing mystique surrounding its use by the body and its place in the diet.

Recently, however, both Weight Watchers and the American Diabetes Association have taken some of the mystery out of this nutrient. Weight Watchers has refined its program again, this time allowing members to use bread and pasta products as well as olives and popcorn. And the American Diabetes Association joined forces with the American Dietetic association to publish a new cookbook, "The ADA/ADA Family Cookbook." Some of the recipes contain minute amounts of refined sugar, which may come as a surprise to diabetics. More on that later.

A brief description of a complex carbohydrate, as opposed to sugar, a simple carbohydrate, can further reduce the mystique surrounding these two similar but different chemicals.

COMPLEX CARBOHYDRATES and sugar are both made up of the elements carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. But it is the arrangement of the molecular structure that is different. A simple sugar, refined sugar as we know it, takes little effort on the part of the body's metabolism to break it down into its components and resultant release of energy. However, in a complex carbohydrate, the structure is more complex, therefore the body takes longer in breaking down the components.

Thus the release of energy into the blood stream is more gradual.

The ADA, in explaining the use of sugar in some of the recipes, says there is really no such diet as a "sugar-free" diet. Breads and cereals are a form of carbohydrate which is converted into sugar during digestion. Milk and fruits naturally contain sugar. Diabetic diets, according to the ADA have traditionally been low in the amount of sucrose (sugar) permitted, but artificial sweeteners may be used where refined sugar must be curtailed.

"Sugar is utilized more quickly by the body,, but the complex carboyhyrates such as breads and potatoes break down into sugar more slowly." explained Barbara Lofquist, program director and nutritionist for the ADA. "A diabetic doesn't want blood sugars to make a quick jump. He wants it to be more level."

MS. LOFQUIST went on to explain there are some things which may make a diabetic's life more comfortable. Eating meals at regular times is most desirable. Exercise is also important.

"Exercise works with insulin in lowering blood sugar," she said. "It can be too low with too much activity or too high without enough. It must be worked out with the individual's physician," she said.

Hypoglycemia, while the opposite of diabetes, can become diabetes if not carefully controlled by diet. While diabetes results from inadequate production or utilization of insulin, in the hypoclemecic individual, too much insulin may be produced, matabolizng sugar too quickly, resulting in low blood sugar level.

Both diseases can be life-threatening, but both can be modified by diet and exercise. Complications, said Ms. Lofquist, may develop in anyone who has had diabetes a long time. "They can develop blood vessel probems, new blindness and it can affect the feet and eyes. We encourage diabetics to go to classes to understand the disease," she said. Classes on diabetes management are given by the Wayne County Health Department and the Oakland County Health Department.

The ADA/ADA Family Cookbook (Prentice Hall, $12.95) is described by the ADA as contining over 250 recipes, daily menu tips, meal planning, nutrients per serving guides for each recipe, tips on eating out, "brown bagging", weight control, exercise and more.

Rock swimmers pull upset

Junior Russ Shaffer won a pair of events as Plymouth Salem downed perennial power Livonia Stevenson Tuesday night in a non-league swim meet, 100-71.

The victory lifts Salem's overall dual-meet mark to 6-1-1.

Shaffer led the Rock tankers with victories in the 200-yard individual medley (2:09.3) and 500 freestyle (5:15.5).

"I had the meet figured out at 86-86," admitted Salem coach Chuck Olson. "We swam much better tonight. Shaffer's performance was really encouraging to say the least."

In another upset, Salem's Doug Kleinsmith surprised Stevenson with a victory in the 200 freestyle posting a season best time of 1:55.5.

"His win in the 200 really did it," said Olson. "That was big for us."

Salem's Joe Rudelic also came through with a victory in diving by accumulating 240.85 points. Teammate Todd Riedel was third.

Stevenson had a pair of double winners.

Mats Mared, a foreign exchange student, won the 50 freestyle (23.7) and 100 freestyle (51.3). Pat Schoff captured the 100 butterfly (58.4) and 100 backstroke (59.8).

Salem, however, dominated both relays.

Bruce Harwood, Gary Workman, Jeff Kleinsmith and Paul Perkowski won the 200 medley relay with a time of 1:47.4. The Rocks also gained third with Paul Neschich, Ashley Long, Jim Kindree and Scott Stinebaugh posting a time of 3:47.5.

IN THE 400 freestyle relay, the Salem quartet of John Thompson, Tim Harwood, Doug Kleinsmith and Shaffer gained first with a time of 3:32.8. The Rocks also picked up some valuable points in third (3:47.5). That team consisted of Scott Anderson, Stinbaugh, Tim Smith and Jeff Walker.

Salem swimmers grabbing second place finishes included Tim Harwood, 200 IM, 2:10.4, and 500 freestyle, 5:19.7; Perkowski, 50 freestyle, 23.9; Jeff Kleinsmith, 100 butterfly, 59.0; Doug Kleinsmith, 100 freestyle, 51.8; Bruce Harwood, 100 backstroke, 1:02.1; Workman, 100 breaststroke, 1:06.2.

Gaining third place finishes for the Rocks were Jeff Kleinsmith, 50 freestyle, 24.1; Neschich, 100 backstroke, 1:02.9; and Long, 100 breaststroke, 1:08.3.

The Rocks will return Thursday to host Dearborn Edsel Ford in a Suburban Eight League dual meet.

In Monroe Invitational

Salem grapplers secure 2nd

Plymouth Salem's wrestling team refuses to "cry uncle."

The Rocks continued to improve as evidenced by their second-place finish in the Monroe Invitational last weekend.

But Suburban Eight League nemisis Belleville, ranked No. 1 in Class A by the Michigan High School Wrestling Coaches Association (MHSWCA), came away with another team title.

"We've been everywhere Belleville and Trenton go," said Salem coach Ron Krueger. "We have three losses — Belleville, rated No. 1; Trenton, rated No. 4; and Temperance-Bedford, rated No. 3."

A week earlier, Salem won its first tournament of the season at North Farmington.

"We placed eight kids in a lot tougher tourney," said Krueger of the eight-team Monroe event. "We're hoping we can get our whole team on the mat Thursday for our last home meet against Edsel Ford.

"Here we are at the end of the year and we still haven't had everybody out there."

Krueger was particularly pleased with his team's showing despite the absence of Steve Szilagyi (167) and John Beaudoin (126), both out with injuries.

Mike Domanian, a sophomore for the Rocks, who sat out part of the year with a broken jaw, returned to the lineup to finish second at 105 pounds. He lost in the final to Belleville's Brock Nigg, 9-2.

At 98 pounds, Salem's Jeff Vojcek won his second invitational crown as he whipped Cliff Perez of Adrian, 9-3.

BILLY WARD, a junior, moved up a division to win the 126-pound crown for the Rocks with a pin against Adrian's Vince Torres in 3:10. Ward won the Hustler Award for the most pins (2) in the least amount of time.

Rob Price, a senior captain, was the Rocks' other individual champ. He reversed a dual meet loss earlier in the week against Belleville's Lynn Kinsey in the final, 8-3. Kinsey was the No. 1 seed.

Monroe Catholic Central's Jack Giarmo raised his record to 21-1 with a 7-2 decision over Marty Piper of Salem in the heavyweight final.

Randy Beaudoin of Salem lost in the 138-pound final against Norm Bates of Belleville on a pin in 3:38. Beaudoin reached the championship with a surprise win over Pat Peters of Saline, 4-3.

"There were really some good upsets," said Krueger. "I think we would have been real close if all our kids had been there."

Volleyball slump baffles mentor

"I'm not sure. I don't know what it is."

Plymouth Canton volleyball coach Cyndi Burnstein is having a hard time explaining her team's recent slump.

Expected to contend with defending champ Livonia Churchill for the top spot in the Western Six League, Canton continued to fall on hard times losing to Walled Lake Western, 7-15, 15-12, 15-8, Monday night.

The Chiefs have lost three straight matches and have slipped to 2-3 in the league and 2-4 overall.

"In the first game we looked great," said Burnstein. "We sailed right through. Marianne Pink served six points in a row."

In the second game, won by Western, the Chiefs missed six serves.

"Usually we're a good serving team," she said. "That's the loss right there."

Burnstein said, "They just outhustled us in the third game."

"We just weren't very quick when we needed it," she offered. "Our girls didn't judge the plays."

Canton is a power team with lot of big hitters. Their style is contrastably different than most of the teams they've encountered.

"The teams we play are mostly defensive," Burnstein said. "It's almost like we're play against alley-ball teams."

Despite the loss, Burnstein was pleased with the play of sophomores Kris Harrison and Renee Edwards.

"Kris did a real good job on defense," said the Canton coach. "She was real steady and our quickest player. "Debbie Dickinson did a good job spiking."

KELLOGG TOURNEY

The Chiefs traveled to Battle Creek Saturday and split 10 games.

"We played well finally against teams that play regular volleyball," said Burnstein. "We re-established our game. It was big lift for us.

"We saw some excellent power volleyball."

Burnstein singled out Pink, Mary Reardon and Dickinson as "really outstanding."

Canton split its pair of games with Battle Creek Lakeview, Roseville Brablec and Colon. The Chiefs lost to Swartz Creek twice. They posted a 2-0 mark against Wayland.

Canton matmen sparkle

The Plymouth Canton wrestling team finished seven out of 21 teams in the Rochester Adams Invitational last weekend.

Montrose, a Class C school, captured first place followed by Howell, a Class A power.

"Overall it's a grind of a tournament," said Canton coach Dan Chrenko. "It's sort of like a mini state tournament. There were six mats going all the time."

The Chiefs, who meet Walled Lake Western in a league showdown Thursday, had one finalist — Steve Hamblin, a junior, at 145 pounds.

He downed the No. 1 seed enroute to the championship match which he lost of Bay City John Glenn's Dave Gonzales, 8-3.

"It was a tough weight class as usual," said Chrenko, "but Steve did a super job. Gonzales is a state qualifier."

Canton's Kevin Decker finished third at 119 after battling a bout with the flu all week long.

AT 155 pounds, senior Bob Mullen of Canton took fourth place. Teammate Kevin Santilli (138) won three of four matches to grab fifth spot. He gained fifth with a 4-0 decision over Howell's Chris Wellman.

Canton wrestlers Todd Bartlett (98) and and Brett Haarala (126) each took sixth place in their respective classes.

"It's a good showing for our kids," Chrenko said. "Last year we finished ninth here. Overall I'm pleased with the effort we put forth."

Plymouth Canton free throws sink Belleville quintet

By BRAD EMONS

Plymouth Canton took full advantage of its opportunities at the free throw line Tuesday night to defeat Belleville, 67-62.

The Chief cagers, now 7-5 overall, hit 29 of 36 attempts for a sizzling 81 percent as Belleville, 3-9 overall, committed 25 fouls. Belleville held a wide margin in field goals, 26-19.

"We take that stat," said Canton coach Craig Bell, noting his team's foul accuracy. "Earlier in the season we were up around 75 to 80 percent and then we hit a slump."

Seniors Dave Malek and Sean Houle each scored 17 points to lead Canton. Matt Thomas and Tommie Harris, a pair of juniors, chipped in with 10 each.

Guard Mike Sampson paced Belleville with 17. His running mate, Reggie Grantham, added 16. Kim Grantham, coming off the bench, scored 10 of his 11 points in the third quarter.

Canton jumped out to a 16-9 first quarter advantage and led by as many as 10 points in the second quarter.

The Chiefs opened up a 12-point bulge in the third period before Belleville came charging back with a full-court press.

The Tigers narrowed the gap to four points at the end of the quarter when Kim Grantham, a 5-foot-5 speed merchant, scored on a driving layup.

Canton, however, regrouped in the final quarter behind the clutch shooting of Malek, who tallied 11 points.

"WE'RE DOING some good things right now," said Bell, "including the free throw shooting. "We're controlling the basketball better and making less turnovers.

"We're recognizing when we should give up the basketball. Our whole total defense has picked up."

The Chiefs also controlled the boards against their smaller opponents.

"I thought our guards defensively worked hard," said Belleville coach Tom Niemi, "but our big people were hampered by fouls.

"I think we've improved. We can play defense against bigger people if given the chance."

"I think we're on the right track," said Bell, whose team has won two straight. "We're excited about basketball and defense again."

Once again the game was dominated by the familiar sound of referee's whistles. And once again the game was taken away from the players.

In the junior varsity game, Canton overcame a 13-point second half deficit to beat the Tigers, 58-57.

Tim McFarland had 16 for the winners. Ron Rienas added 12 for Canton, now 8-4 overall.

Spike tourney draws star field

A volleyball extravaganza will take place Saturday in the annual Plymouth Invitational.

Twenty prep teams from across the state will vie for honors. The event will be held at Plymouth Salem and Canton High schools.

Wayne Memorial is back to defend its title of a year ago. Second-place Flint Kearsley, a perennial state power, also returns along with third-place finisher Livonia Bentley.

Two matches will be run simultaneously at both Canton and Salem. First round action will get underway at 8 a.m. Quarterfinal matches are set for 3:30 p.m. The semifinal and final matches will be held at 5 p.m. and 6 p.m., respectively.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students, good for all matches at both sites. Refreshments will be sold.

Four pools or divisions have been slated for double-elimination play. The top two teams from each pool will advance.

Slated to compete in Pool A at Salem are the host Rocks, Brighton, Northville, Dearborn Fordson and Farmington Harrison. Teams in Pool B at Salem are Wayne, Howell, Livonia Churchill, Walled Lake Western and Ypsilanti.

Pool C at Canton will field the host Chiefs, Livonia Stevenson, Trenton, Fenton and Berkley. Rounding out the field in Pool D at Canton include Bentley, Kearsley, Redford Union, Waterford Mott and Westland John Glenn.

"Fenton has been very good in past years," said Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein, "and I hear nothing but good things about Livonia Stevenson."

Wayne must be considered a threat to go all the way again, according to Salem coach Cathy Himes.

"They lost only two players and everyone back went to camp with their coach last summer," said the Salem coach. "Kearsley, of course, is always good.

"They have a dynamite team."

SALEM-ALLEN PARK

Salem raised its Suburban Eight League and overall mark to 3-1 with an easy 15-0, 15-4 triumph over Allen Park.

In the first game, co-captain Cheryl Sobkow, normally a hitter, filled in as a setter for Kelly Tucker, who was out because of illness.

"Cheryl did an outstanding job," said Himes, "and Carol Ross, Mary Van Dusen and Jacque Merrifield also played well."

In the second game, Salem also controlled play with as Ross served 10 consecutive points.

Sobkow, a 5-foot-9 senior, went back to spiking and made several kills with the help of Lisa Granger.

Rock reserves tumble

Plymouth Salem's five-game junior varsity basketball winning streak was snapped Friday night as Trenton came away 40-35 triumph.

The loss dropped Salem to 10-2 overall.

The Rocks could not break the tight Trojan defense. Trenton held Plymouth's high scoring freshman center Rick Berberet to six points.

Guard Jim Sinclair paced Salem with 10 points. Greg Trimm added five.

Squirt hockey team wins 2

The Plymouth-Canton Squirt A hockey team continued its winning ways last week by defeating Westland, 5-4 and 4-3, in Adray Community League action.

Plymouth-Canton, sponsored by Super-Six Akron Tire, won its first game over Westland by jumping out to a quick lead.

Mike Cambell, on an assist from Jim Storm, opened the scoring. Less than a minute later, Scott Jackson made it 2-0 for the winners when his shot slipped under the Westland goaltender.

Westland, however, fought back to tie on goals by Brian Muncy and Scott Hill. Plymouth-Canton regained the lead when David Chopp scored two unassisted goals.

Westland rallied to pull within one on Hill's second goal. Storm then connected for Plymouth-Canton. Jason May tallied Westland's final goal midway through the third period.

FIERCE forechecking by Plymouth-Canton's Scott Souter and Jim Bryans, along with the solid defensive play of David Fletcher, Brian Cota, Greg Speaks and Chris Raney, kept Westland scoreless the rest of the game.

In the second game, J.P. LaRoche opened the scoring on a breakaway pass from Keith Bozyk.

Westland took the lead in the second period on goals by Hill and Mark McCormick.

Musical 'Zorba' opening long run

A Greek celebration of life will get underway when Will-O-Way Repertory Theatre opens its new musical "Zorba" by Joseph Stein, John Kander and Fred Ebb.

Authentic Greek folk dance and music will be featured in "Zorba." Performance are at 8:30 p.m. Fridays-Saturdays through March 28 at Will-O-Way, 775 W. Long Lake Road, between Telegraph and Lahser roads, Bloomfield Township.

Call 644-4418 for ticket reservations and theater party information.

Based on Nikos Kazantzakis' novel "Zorba the Greek," the musical steeps itself in the earthiness and anguish, the brutality and glory of life in a Cretan village.

Personifying these qualities is Zorba, a lusty man swept away by wonder at the world. He befriends and transforms Nikos, the bookish philosophy professor seeking spiritual renewal.

JOSEPH STEIN'S book for the musical is packed with action: a suicide, a feud, a murder, a speculative mining venture and romance. Music written by the John Kander-Fred Ebb team, who collaborated on "Cabaret," is true to Greek folk traditions.

Will-O-Way's "Zorba" is directed by Celia Merrill Turner, the repertory theater's artistic director. Mrs. Turner founded Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre, for 40 years a school for developing actors.

David Wilson of Pontiac is musical director for "Zorba." Southfield resident Michelle Levine choreographed the show, assisted by Greek dance coach Bill Anagnos of Bloomfield Hills.

Cast in top roles are Timothy Hall of Birmingham as Nikos, Joaquin (Jac) Cortes of Keego Harbor as Zorba, Shirley Benyas of West Bloomfield as Zorba's love interest, Hortense, and Eileen Weiss of Bloomfield Hills as the Widow won over by Nikos.

Others to play major roles in "Zorba" include Marc Tenenbaum of Farmington Hills as the street kid, Mimiko, and Buzz Turner of West Bloomfield and Merrick Williams of Troy as the brutish brothers Manolakas and Mavrodani. Henry F. Gesund of Oak Park is their cowed nephew, Pavli.

IN A NOD to the chorus of classical Greek theater, Christina Ramona Lypeckyj of Warren, Melvyn Hardiman of Pontiac and Danielle Rene Blanchard of Waterford will portray the Leader and her trio.

Hardiman will join a quartet triplecast as Admirals, Crows and Monks as well. He will accompany Birmingham resident David Carmichael, Richard Blanchard of Waterford and Bloomfield Hills resident Gustave J. Weltsek.

Tom Panzenhagen

"The Balloonatic" (1923) and "One Week" (1920), 8 p.m. Saturday at the Royal Oak Theatre, 4th at Washington, phone 521-2127, $4.

Buster Keaton began his film career in 1917 after growing up on the vaudeville stage. He was one of those silent film performers who didn't adjust well to the talkies. Though "Old Stone Face" did make a number of talking pictures, none was as good as any of his silent, comedy classics.

In "Balloonatic" Keaton's comedy prop is the great outdoors. Bears, boats and balloons all become stumbling blocks in one man's pursuit of recreation. "One Week" finds Keaton building a pre-fab home and, of course, everything going wrong. He even builds in the wrong place — on railroad tracks.

The films are part of a program by the Motor City Theatre Organ Society which will include musical accompaniment by Charlie Balogh, sing-along and pop music selections. Unrated.

"The Senator Likes Women" (1969), 1:30 a.m. Friday on Ch. 62. Originally 87 minutes.

How often to you find a Laura Antonelli movie on TV? Laura, you'll recall, is the latest in a long line of Italian bombshells. Her film credits include a number of pictures whose titles you don't remember. What you do remember, at least if you've seen any of those films, is that Laura turns up quite nude in all of them. It'll be interesting to see how Channel 62 (not noted for censoring films) handles this one. Unrated.

"Algiers" (1938), 2 p.m. Monday on Ch. 62. Originally 95 minutes.

This is the film in which Charles Boyer plays Pepe Le Moko, drools over the voluptuous Hedy Lamarr and does not utter, "Come with me to the casbah." But Boyer does spend a lot of time at the casbah while attempting to avoid police and make love to Lamarr. Rating: $3.

"Wrestling Women vs. the Aztec Mummy" (1965), about 4 a.m. Tuesday on Ch. 62. Originally 88 minutes.

The title says it all . . . except, "thanks, 62." Unrated.

Michael Kloian
of the American Backgammon Club

DON'T BLOW THE GAMMON

In the example, black rolls a 4-3. How would you play it?

Although there are two basic moves, one is superior to the other.

The important thing to note is that white will definitely bear off within two rolls — one roll with any double.

Black should make absolutely sure that, if he is granted another roll, he must bear off one checker to save losing a gammon. Since black has the cube at 2, he could lose four points if white succeeds with the gammon.

Moving the checker off the 11 point to the 4 point is fair, but if black rolls anything with a 1 (except double 1's), he will not be able to bear off a checker.

But why take a chance? The only play is to move the 11-point checker to the 7 point and the 8 to the 5 point. Now black cannot miss on his next roll — if he rolls one.

Kloian will instruct beginner backgammon courses Feb. 3 and March 3 at Playmouth-Canton High School and Feb. 10 at Northville High School. For information, call 453-3100.

One-man show due

Vincent Price will appear as Oscar Wilde in "Diversions & Delights" at 8 p.m. Feb. 5 in the Power Center for the Performing Arts at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

For more information and tickets to the one-man show, call the Professional Theatre Program at 764-0450.

Price is probably most readily associated with his ghoulish characterizations in such horror classics as "House of Wax" and "Theatre of Blood."

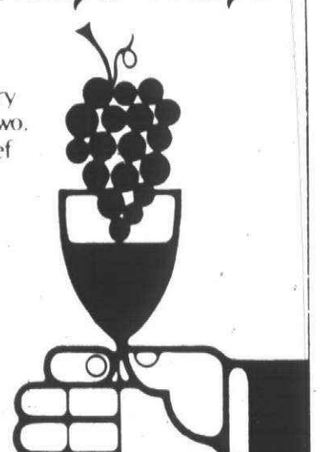
Chateaubriand is not a fine wine.


It's an extraordinary entree served for two. A center cut of beef tenderloin amid a bouquetiere of vegetables, Sauce Bearnaise. Carved at your table.
