Board gives up hold on federal park grant

Canton officials have given up on a federal recreation grant after scrapping one park plan and attempting to substitute another.

The alternative plan, which called for the purchase of a 15-acre parcel behind Township Hall, has been deemed ineligible for federal acquisition funds, according to grant coordinator Terry Carroll.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), which administers grants from the federal Land and Water Conservation Funds, said the parcel does not meet grant criteria because of its ownership by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. School districts are not required to sell land at fair-market value in contradiction to grant program stipulations.

Up to $75,000 in matching grant money was committed to the township in October for the purchase of a a 40-acre parcel in rural northwest Canton.

On Jan. 13, the Township Board rejected a grant commitment for that site because of a number of concerns, including vehement objections from residents of the area. The site would have been used for winter sports, such as sledding and cross-country skiing.

The site rejected by the DNR would have been used for organized team sports. The Township Board picked the parcel behind Township Hall as the best alternative for federal grant money.

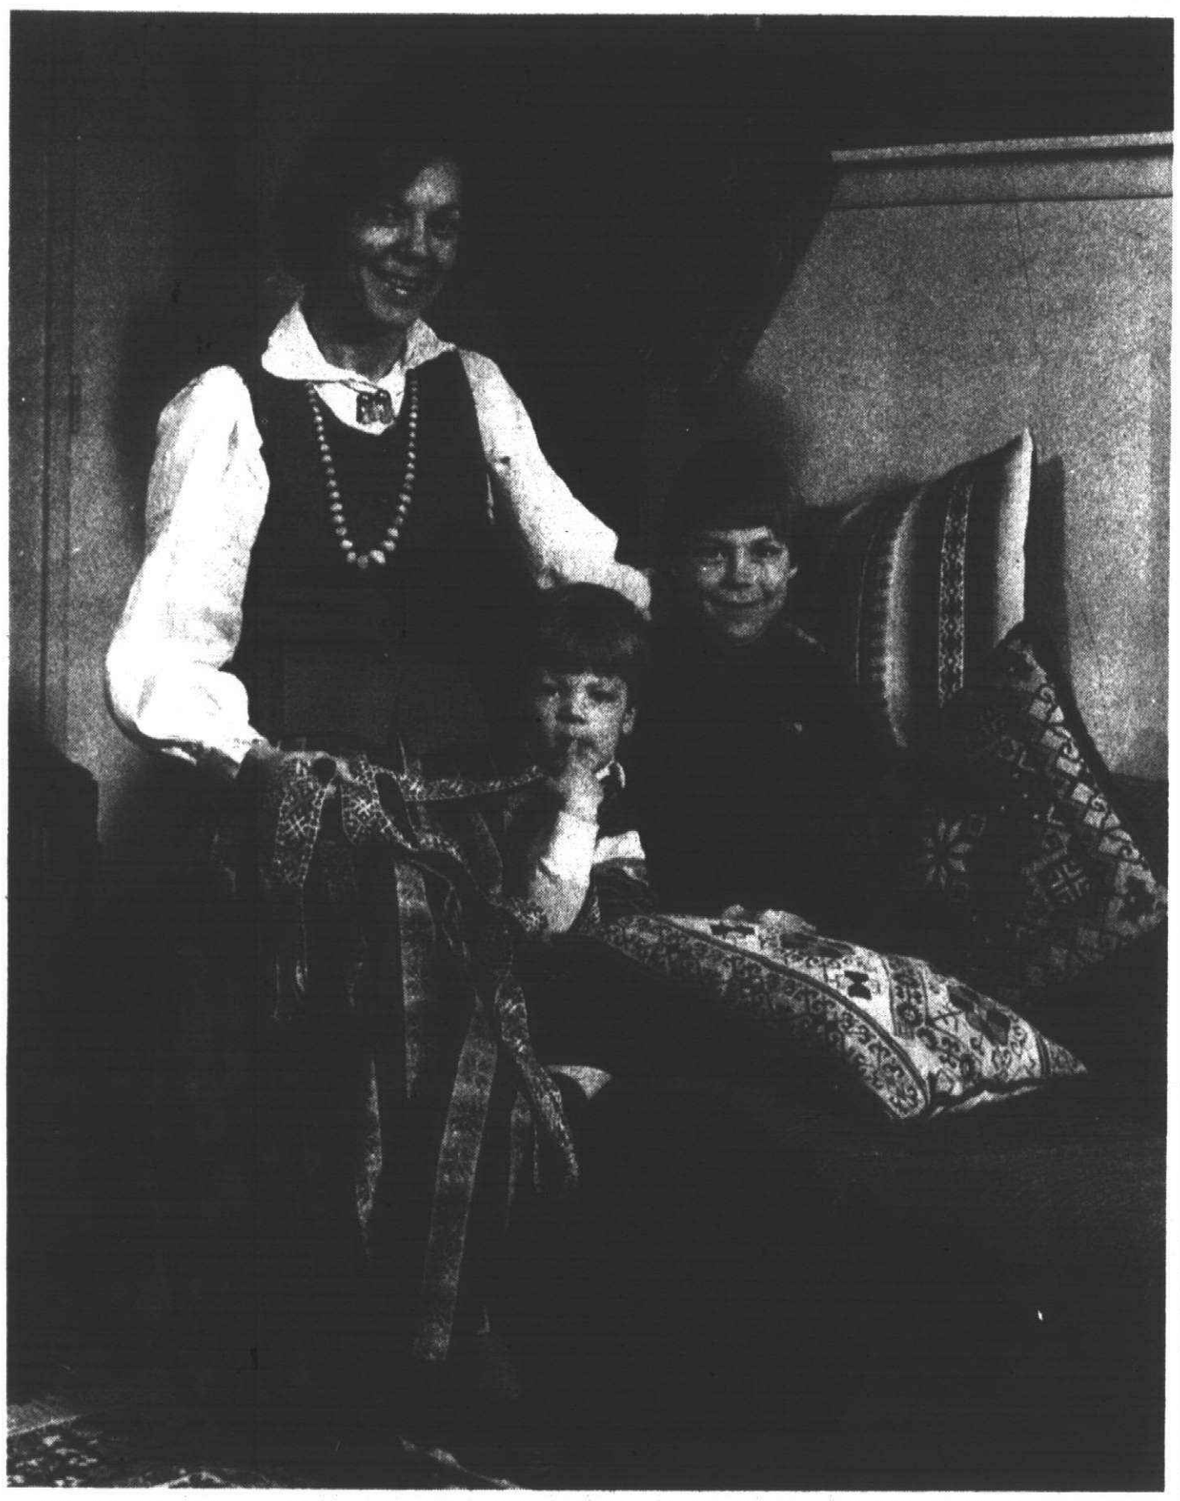

AFTER LEARNING of the site's ineligibility, the Township Board last week voted to give up its claim on this year's grant commitment.

Carroll hopes to submit another grant application for the acquisition of park land in March 1981. The township's recreation advisory committee (RAC) must name additional areas as needing park sites before another application can be submitted.

To be eligible for federal acquisition funds, a site must be included in the master recreation plan as a desired park location.

According to Carroll, only three parcels which meet that criteria currently are available forpurchase. They include the site rejected by the Township Board, the site rejected by the DNR and a parcel near Lotz and Palmer, adjacent to the township-owned Fellows Creek Golf Course. After rejecting the site in northwest Canton, township officials considered the site near Fellows Creek as a possible alternative. But Carroll expressed doubt last week that the parcel would be approved by the DNR for federal grant monies. The parcel site best would be used for an

Family relishes Latvian heritage

Another in a series of articles highlighting the ethnic heritages of Canton residents.

By ARLENE FUNKE

Vija and Robert Markovs live in a busy world, juggling careers, children and an active social calendar.

The couple, in their early 30s, live in a comfortable Canton Township house to which they moved 2½ years ago.

Robert is a chemist with the giant BASF-Wyandotte chemical firm. Vija (vee-uh) is a contract specialist with John Hancock Insurance Co. in Birmingham.

The Markovs enjoy their neighbors on Brookshire, in the vicinity of Lilley and Warren roads. Sons Erik and Paul attend local schools.

Favorite pastimes for family members include skiing and bike riding. Mrs. Markovs enjoys volleyball and tennis.

SOUNDS LIKE the typical American dream story?

Well, the Markovs are American citizens. But casting a glow over their lives — adding zest — is a deep interest in their Latvian heritage.

Neither Markovs has ever lived in Lativa. But they have steeped themselves in the culture of that small Baltic Sea country now dominated by the Soviet Union.

"I think it's good to find your roots," said Mrs. "You can be American, but it's good to know something more.

"Everyone has some type of roots," she added. "It's something you should be proud of — you should trace it."

Latvia — like its neighbors Estonia and Lithuania — is a satellite of the Soviet Union. Some countries, including the United States, don't recognize that Soviet control.

During World War II, the Baltic region fell victim to a struggle for control between the Germans and the Russians.

As a result, "people fled all over the place," explained Markovs, 35.

BOTH Robert and Vija Markovs were born in Germany, where their families had fled to escape the Russians. Both grew up and met in Saginaw, where their families had settled in the post-war era.

Looking at 1980

Cops report crime rise

By ARLENE FUNKE

Business is booming at the Canton Police Department.

Figures recently compiled for 1980 indicate the department responded to 18,353 radio runs — a 20 percent jump from the year before.

Breaking-and-entering increased 44 percent over 1979. And "fraudulent activities" (including bad checks and credit card scams) jumped a whopping 113 percent in 1980, as compared to 1979.

Police Lt. Larry Stewart says it is difficult to pin the rising figures on a single cause. He noted that crime is rising all across the country.

In addition, residents may be calling the Canton police more frequently now, rather than the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. That agency used to patrol all of Canton, and still covers the freeways.

BUT Stewart also believes that the "raw (crime) scores indicate a trend indicative of today's economy."

He explained that the Canton Police Department summarizes its information manually, using a form that breaks statistics down into categories.

This plan, in use since 1979, includes statistics to be reported to the Michigan State Police and the FBI, for inclusion in a book called "Crime in the United States."

That book, published late each year, compares statistics from state to state.

Another portion of the report covers a breakdown of how uniformed officers spend time on investigations, inspections, clerical work, etc.

A SAMPLING of the statistics in the report are as follows. It should be noted that in some categories — because numbers of cases are small — statistics are high.

- A total of 18,353 radio runs were recorded in 1980, a 26 percent increase over the 14,500 runs in '79.

Those 18,000-plus runs generated 8,200 written reports.

- The number of traffic violations issued (excluding drunk driving) were 6,157. That's a 5 percent increase over the previous year's figure of 5,875.
- Robberies increased 8 percent. There were 13 reported cases in 1980, as compared to 12 for 1979.
- Breaking-and-entering cases amounted to 501 in 1980, compared to 347 for the year before. That's a 44 percent hike.
- In the categories of larceny and car theft, the hikes were 3 percent and 3½ percent, respectively.

Police request help of computer

By ARLENE FUNKE

Canton police — frustrated by mounds of paperwork — want to call on the "posse" for help.

The department proposes that the township allocate $69,000 to buy and install a mini-computer. Inside the computer would be a storehouse of data available at the push of a few buttons or keys.

The software, or program format, is called POSSE (Police Operations Support System Elementary). It would be available at no extra charge because it was developed by a Virginia firm with a $1 million grant from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, said Police Lt. Larry Stewart.

Stored in the system would be a vast array of information, eliminating bulky paperwork, increasing efficiency and freeing officers' time for other duties, added Stewart.

In addition, officers also would be able to cross-reference types and locations of crimes.

STEWART said the POSSE system is less than two years old and is aimed at departments which serve populations of 10,000-50,000 persons. Smaller police agencies often are unable to develop their own programs because of high cost.

"We would like (the system) as soon as possible," said Stewart. "I would like to be on-line and running with it by June.

"It would eliminate just a tremendous amount of paperwork," explained Stewart. "We have files on top of files — both internal and to the public.

"Right now — for lack of clerk-typists — cases are sitting on (officers') desks," Stewart. continued. "Instead of being able to go out to the (crime) scenes, they have to do the clerical work itself."

A study last year by Arthur Andersen & Co., an accounting and management advisory firm, indicated the police department could save 500 man-hours a month by installing a computer.

The police department went before the Township Board last week to outline a proposal that a mini-computer be purchased. The agenda item was tabled because the board meeting ran late.

Stewart told the Observer the computer itself would cost $59,000 to buy and install. Another $10,000 would be budgeted for adjustments after the system is in, he added.

Cable firm seeks grasp on Omnicom's franchise

By DARLENE STINSON

A cable television company has applied to Canton for a franchise, despite a contract awarded to another cable firm in December 1979.

Abraham Singer, an attorney for MetroVision, said the failure of Omnicom to install the Canton system during its year as the franchise holder prompted MetroVision's request for consideration.

Singer believes his firm can install the system more quickly than Omnicom and "capture the market."

However, Omnicom president Peter Newell scoffs off Singer's remarks and "guarantees that that's incorrect."

"My reaction is that it's always easy to take pot shots at someone else," said Newell. "It's a long process to install a cable system. You have to go through a lot of red tape."

Newell says Omnicom's system in Canton will be built entirely by the fall of 1981.

NEWELL WILL MEET the Township Board Tuesday night to discuss the status of construction and other matters.

Trustee Stephen Larson requested the agenda item last week after receiving a copy of a letter sent by Singer to Clerk John Flodin.

However, Larson said his request for a meeting with Omnicom officials was prompted more by a change in the company's management than by MetroVision's request.

During franchise talks with Omnicom, township officials met with firm president John Raines and vice president Jeff Dorn. Both men resigned. Newell has taken over Raines' position as president. The vice president position has not been filled.

Larson wants to ensure that Omnicom's new management is fully aware of details in the franchise agreement. One stipulation requires Omnicom to improve terms of Canton's franchise, if better terms are granted to another community at a future date.

"If for some reason Omnicom is not going to move forward expeditiously, it's obvious that we'll have to look at other companies," Larson said.

Fire damages foster home

By ARLENE FUNKE

A Roundtable Drive home for retarded men — damaged by fire last Thursday — will be fixed up and re-occupied.

"We're glad everything worked out okay," said Rich Bennett of Alternative Services, the firm that operates the group home.

"Everyone got out okay," he added. "We're getting (repair) bids and plan on re-occupying the house."

Bennett said the six adult male occupants of the house now are staying at the Northville Residential Training Center. In the meantime, fire department officials haven't determined what caused the blaze, which broke out shortly before 11 p.m. Jan. 29.

FIRE CHIEF Mel Paulun said the fire broke out in an unoccupied upstairs bedroom of the house. Damage, confined to the upstairs, was estimated at $6,000-$8,000, said Paulun.

At the time of the fire, two residents were sleeping in an adjoining bedroom. Four other residents and a male supervisor were downstairs watching television, said Paulun.

"The people were outside when we got there," added Paulun. "The smoke detector went off — that proves how important they are. We don't know for sure (what started the fire.)."

Rescue units from Westland assisted in taking the residents to Wayne County General and Annapolis hospitals, where they were checked over for smoke inhalation, said Paulun.

The Roundtable house, operated by Alternative Services of Royal Oak, opened last July. Under state law, mentally retarded persons may be placed in community group homes if they would benefit from a non-institutional lifestyle.

Send tax gripes to town hall

Canton residents who wish to protest a 19 percent increase in their tax bills are asked to draft a letter of protest to Gov. William Milliken.

Canton Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz plans to send a package of protest letters to Lansing and requested Township Board resolution in opposition to the tax hike.

The tax increase is the result of a 19 percent increase in residential property assessments. The hike will be reflected in 1981 tax bills, mailed next December.

Residents are asked to write "Protest" on the envelopes of their letters and mail them to Treasurer's Office, Charter Township of Canton, 1150 S. Canton Center Road 48188.

Mrs. Falkiewicz said phones in the treasurer's department have been "ringing off the hook" since the tax increase was publicized.

Preserving service is aim

Canton joins 'survival' talks

By C.J. RISAK

The title of the meeting suggested impending doom: "Survival Seminar".

But the topics which leaders from 12 western Wayne communities discussed Thursday weren't nearly as bleak.

Rather, as Thomas Taylor, acting chairman and Westland mayor, put it, the seminar resulted in establishing goals that could collectively save the communities "money and services."

Eighty-three administrative officials participated at the meeting, held in Westland, to discuss administration, human services, public safety and public works.

Taylor said he was "tremendously pleased" with the number of communities represented: Canton Township, city of Plymouth, Redford Township, Garden City, Westland, Inkster, city of Northville, Northville Township, Allen Park, Romulus, Taylor and Dearborn Heights.

"I FEEL from the representation we've had from this group . . . that a lack of money does not have to mean reduced services," Taylor said, summing up the 5½ hour conference.

"It can mean even better services. But it's going to have to be done from now on by you. We brought you together, it's up to you to do the rest.

"We have millions of dollars of talent in this room. Let's put it to use on this," Taylor concluded.

Each of the four interest groups discussed its special needs or problems and, according to Taylor, "worked from the general to the specific".

Here are some of each group's conclusions:

● ADMINISTRATION: Moderated by Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper and Garden City City Manager Cam Caldwell, the group pinpointed six areas where, by pooling resources, communities could save money.

Top priority was a regionalized computer system. Other topics included exploring different general liability insurance and health insurance organizations, a skill bank for supplying persons for specific services, joint testing of fire and police personnel, and dealing with labor union negotiations.

● HUMAN SERVICES: "Police, fire and public works departments can supply figures and statistics" to show what they do, said Allen Park Comptroller Richard Huebler, who co-moderated the Human Services group with Susan Sherbow, legislative aide to Sen. David Plawecki.

"But how do you put down in black and white the service for a handicapped child or an hour program for seniors?" Huebler asked. "You can't."

According to Huebler, the group discussed the intangibles which are a part of human services, such as developing an "understanding for a need for these human services and their value".

Expanding cooperative programs, adjusting user fees, utilizing volunteer programs and working together with schools and clubs were all examined by the group as possible ways to combine efforts.

● PUBLIC SAFETY, including Buildings: Steve Walters, Northville city manager, noted the need to "develop some structure (of cooperation) in detail," adding that "building departments have not been as interactive."

Among the possible areas in which services could be combined were: certification and licensing renewal for contractors; joint training of fire and emergency medical personnel; joint animal housing; and centralized purchasing and inventory, so that communities can check what other areas have before purchasing equipment.

● PUBLIC WORKS: The group worked through four questions in defining how they could help each other — explore areas of mutual assistance, identify specialized equipment or crews that may be shared, identify especially successful programs and identify problems.

"We think it would be beneficial to establish a directory," said co-moderator James Kelly, Redford Township supervisor. This directory, according to Kelly, would allow each community's public works director to find out what was available, whom to contact and where, with a night phone number.

An inventory of specific equipment and crews employed by each community was also investigated by the group, as well as ideas concerning water main maintenance, the reading and repair of water meters, maintaining dirt roads, and methods to obtain state and federal grants for sewer and drainage systems.

Future meetings of the individual groups are planned, but Taylor indicated there probably would not be another meeting bringing all the officials together.

"It'll probably be divided by discipline — police, fire and so on," Taylor said. "Each team of moderators will assign specific tasks (to members of his group)."

Board lets grant go

extension of the golf course, Carroll said. The DNR considers such proposals a low-priority item.

Carroll said many communities apply for recreational grants from the Land and Water Conservation Fund.

"It's hard to gauge what our chances of getting another commitment (next year) would be," he said. "It is a competitive program.

"However, acquisition of land is considered a high-priority item — especially in communities where development pressure is high."

Township honors hostages

Joe Subic and Charles Jones, stand up and take a bow.

The Township Board last week adopted a resolution expressing gratitude of officials and residents to Subic of Redford and Jones of Detroit, former hostages in Iran.

The identical resolutions thank the men for their courage and patriotism during captivity, and wish them "every success and happiness."

Developer gets approval for 'lake-side' condos

The township board has approved construction of a "lake-side" condominium development at the northwest corner of Sheldon and Warren.

Plans for the proposed Willow Croft Lake Estates include expansion of Willow Creek into a two-acre pond at the center of the development. The pond would utilize two wells and windmill-powered pumps to maintain the water level.

After a two-hour discussion last Tuesday, the Township Board approved rezoning the 22-acre parcel from single-family residential to R-6, which allows the construction of apartment units with a minimum 1,000 square feet in area.

The board also approved site plans for the 168-unit condominium project — called by one trustee as a "trend-setting" type of development.

Developer Henry Pascouau of Bloomfield Hills must receive additional approvals from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) before construction can begin. The state agency must approve depth and size of the proposed pond to ensure water quality.

LAST WEEK's board action followed Pascouau's refusal to comply with a request of the previous Township Board for litigation.

The unusual request was made last summer in connection with the developer's rezoning request. At the time, site plans for the proposed development had not been submitted. Approval of a rezoning does not guarantee construction of a specific project or building.

Under the unusual legal arrangment, the Township Board would have entered into a court-signed consent judgement with Pascouau to ensure construction of the proposed development.

Last week, Pascouau brought site plans and the rezoning request before the new Township Board. Approval of both had been recommended by the Canton and Wayne County planning commissions.

Planner Jim Kosteva said simultaneous submission of both requests showed the developer's "good faith." However, board members noted that DNR veto of the proposed Willow Croft Lake would nullify the site plans — but not rezoning approval. Some board members hinted that the consent judgment route still should be considered.

However, Pascouau told the board, "I don't go to court."

"That's not my way of doing business," he said. "We've gone to the major expense of site plan development in order to bring this project before you."

Board members voiced other concerns about the proposed development during their two-hour discussion of the issue.

SOME OFFICIALS endorsed an entrance to the development from both Warren and Sheldon to ease possible traffic congestion on Sheldon. Plans showed a boulevard entrance off Sheldon in addition to two "emergency" access routes.

But Pascouau said he refuses to build a "superb" development with access to a dirt road (Warren). "If I have to, I'm not interested in coming to this town."

Another fear concerned maintenance of the future pond. Would Wayne County, Canton Township or homeowners in the complex hold that responsibility, board members asked.

In the end, board members approved the rezoning request and site plans (with only the Sheldon boulevard entrance) by a 5-2 vote. Voting no were Supervisor James Poole and Trustee Carol Bodenmiller, who expressed concern about the one entrance, pond maintenance and other matters.

"I approach this with leeriness too," said Trustee Robert Padget. "But I see this as an opportunity for a trend-setting development in the township. If you want to lay trends, you must accept risks."

The proposed condomunium development includes a swimming pool in addition to the pond. Garages are located under each two-bedroom condominimum units. Units cluster around courtyards, which provide access to the garages.

Wrong gasoline?

Drivers can test cars for leaded gas

By MAURIE WALKER

If you are wondering about leaded gasoline being in your late-model car and causing expensive repairs, help is on the way.

A Garden City man, John Holman, 5748 Merriman, has come up with a test that shows if you have leaded gasoline in your car which should have unleaded fuel.

Holman's product is especially useful now. The EPA recently disclosed that numerous Detroit area stations have been putting leaded gasoline in tanks designated for unleaded fuel.

Holman's method is not complicated.

All that is required is a piece of chemically treated paper which, after soaking in distilled water, is placed just inside the tip of the exhaust pipe.

"This specially treated paper should be put in the end of the exhaust pipe while the pipe is still warm," Holman explained.

"If you leave it there a few minutes, it will either remain white if you have unleaded gas in your car or will turn pink if leaded fuel has been put in the tank."

HOLMAN SAID the paper is the same as used by the federal government's Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in testing for leaded gasoline. The paper was originally developed years ago to test the lead in paint, he added.

"I heard on a newscast that the EPA was using this paper but that it was not on the market.

"Since the EPA has charged some service stations, distributors and a refinery in the Detroit area with selling leaded gasoline from unleaded pumps, I thought the general public should have a way of testing their cars for themselves," Holman said. "Having leaded gas in an unleaded vehicle can cost the owner anywhere between $200-$300 in damage to the catalytic converter."

He said he called all over the country in an attempt to find where the chemically treated paper could be purchased.

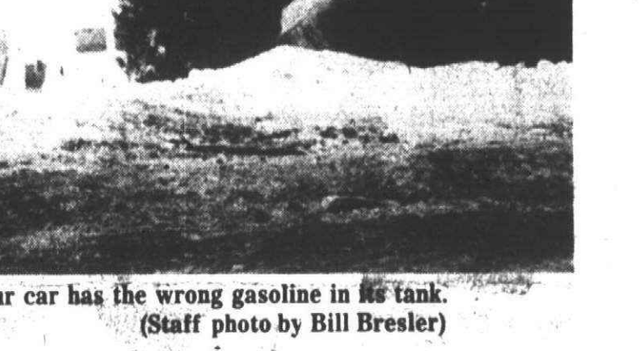

"I finally located a firm in New York that supplies the paper to the EPA. They agreed to send me some, provided I don't use the company's name."

HOLMAN, an electrical engineer who was laid off from Ford Motor Co. last June, is selling a kit for two tests with instructions, for $4.95.

He said he has received calls from people who want to form a consumers' group to combat the gasoline problem.

"I keep the names of my customers on file and will inform them should there be any legal action by any organization."

Some of the service stations owners might be innocent of the charge, Holman believes.

To test for wrong gas, just place a piece of chemically treated paper inside the tip of the exhaust pipe.

"They could have been delivered the wrong gasoline," he said.

With a wife and four children, Holman said he had to get into some sort of business while being laid off from Ford's.

"I have been buying various factory overstock items and selling them at auction since I got laid off," he said.

He said business was slow around Christmas time but that he is able to make a living.

"I'm not too worried. I figure this gasoline testing kit will sell once the public is aware of it being available. Right now I'm putting ads in some motor magazines and distributing a flyer to auto parts stores which explains the kit and where they can get it.

"This is something new and is timely. My big investment is in the testing paper but it takes money to make money."

Persons interested in obtaining a kit may either call Holman at 525-1672 or send a check or money order to Galileo Enterprises, P.O. Box 2772, Livonia 48151.

Board pursues litigation to buy Dye Brothers lots

Condemnation proceedings will be filed against the owners of 20 lots in Dye Brothers subdivision as part of the township's efforts to convert the area into an industrial park.

The owners of 20 unimproved lots on Washburn have declined to accept the township's purchase offers or have failed to respond. Purchase offers were made on 35 Washburn lots in December.

Last week, the Township Board authorized attorneys to file litigation against the lot owners. Attorney Bert Burgoyne said he hopes to reach an out-of-court settlement before the case reaches Wayne County Circuit Court.

According to grant coordinator Terry Carroll, owners of only five unimproved lots on Washburn have accepted the township's purchase offers. Offers on another 10 lots have not been claimed at post offices.

The lots were appraised at $124,000 last October.

Officials plan to extend purchase offers for four homes on the street sometime this year.

Lots and homes on Washburn are targeted as the first acquisition phase of the township's plan for Dye Brothers. Under the three-year-old proposal, the township will purchase the sparsely-populated subdivision south of Michigan and east of Sheldon with federal community block grant funds and convert the area to industrial use.

The township already has received approximately $300,000 in federal funds to buy the 40-acre residential area. The subdivision contains 18 occupied homes and a total of 200 lots.

Burgoyne said a number of state and federal laws allow municipalities to buy property through condemnation proceedings. Landowners who are ordered to sell their property by court order may appeal the fair-market offer made by municipalities.

The resolution approved by the Township Board last Tuesday authorizes the attorney to file litigation against the owners of lots who have not claimed purchase offers at post offices if those offers are later rejected.

In Saginaw, they found a sizeable community of fellow Latvians. They attended church services and scouting activities in Latvian, which resembles German.

Those strong ties to his heritage gives Markovs a "sense of belonging.

"It makes me feel special," he added. "I think the average American isn't as aware of his roots as we are.

"I have had relatively little German (language instruction)," continued Markovs. "When pressed, I can understand a little bit."

Today, the Markovs — married almost 13 years — are passing along the culture to their children.

Paul, 3½, goes to pre-school classes at Hines Park Montessori School in Plymouth Township. Erik, 6, attends Allen Elementary School and Latvian language classes through the family's church.

"IT ISN'T very easy," explained Mrs. Markovs. "My husband and I try to speak Latvian at home because we think it's important.

"When we're alone, we speak English," she added. "We think in English. Sometimes we throw in English words (and) the kids do it even more. I don't know how you can avoid that."

Much of the Latvian bond comes from activities at St. Paul's Latvian Lutheran Church at 12 Mile and Orchard Lake Road in Farmington Hills. The family also subscribes to a twice-weekly Latvian-language newspaper which publishes birth and wedding announcements and other features.

The three hours which Erik spends weekly in Latvian studies "is a real effort sometimes," said Mrs. Markovs.

"Next year, Erik is going to start Latvian Boy Scouts," she added. "It gets hectic."

Special events include vacation trips — conventions of sorts — where Latvians gather for several days of dancing, songfests and cultural activities.

Some Latvians also celebrate their "name day," like a birthday, with cake and gifts. Festive occasions sometimes include special foods, such as cakes, tortes and small dumplings filled with meats and spices.

Mrs. Markovs often wears amber and silver jewelry — favorites in the Latvian culture. Her native costume for dancing is a long pleated skirt with vest and a stitched blouse.

THE MARKOVS' home is filled with special touches, such as landscape paintings by Latvian artists. Found on pillows, vases and lamps is the sun-star design, which resembles a flower.

The Soviet influence makes Mrs. Markovs unsure about visiting Latvia someday. "Sometimes people have gone there and have problems," explained Mrs. Markovs. "You really have to be careful about what you say. You have to check your (hotel) keys, and there is a curfew.

"I guess eventually I might want to go there," she added. "I'm positive before I die I will go there."

Law requires snow removal

There may have been a bit of January thaw in recent days, but winter is far from over.

Township officials are asking the cooperation of residents and business persons in promptly removing snow and ice from their sidewalks.

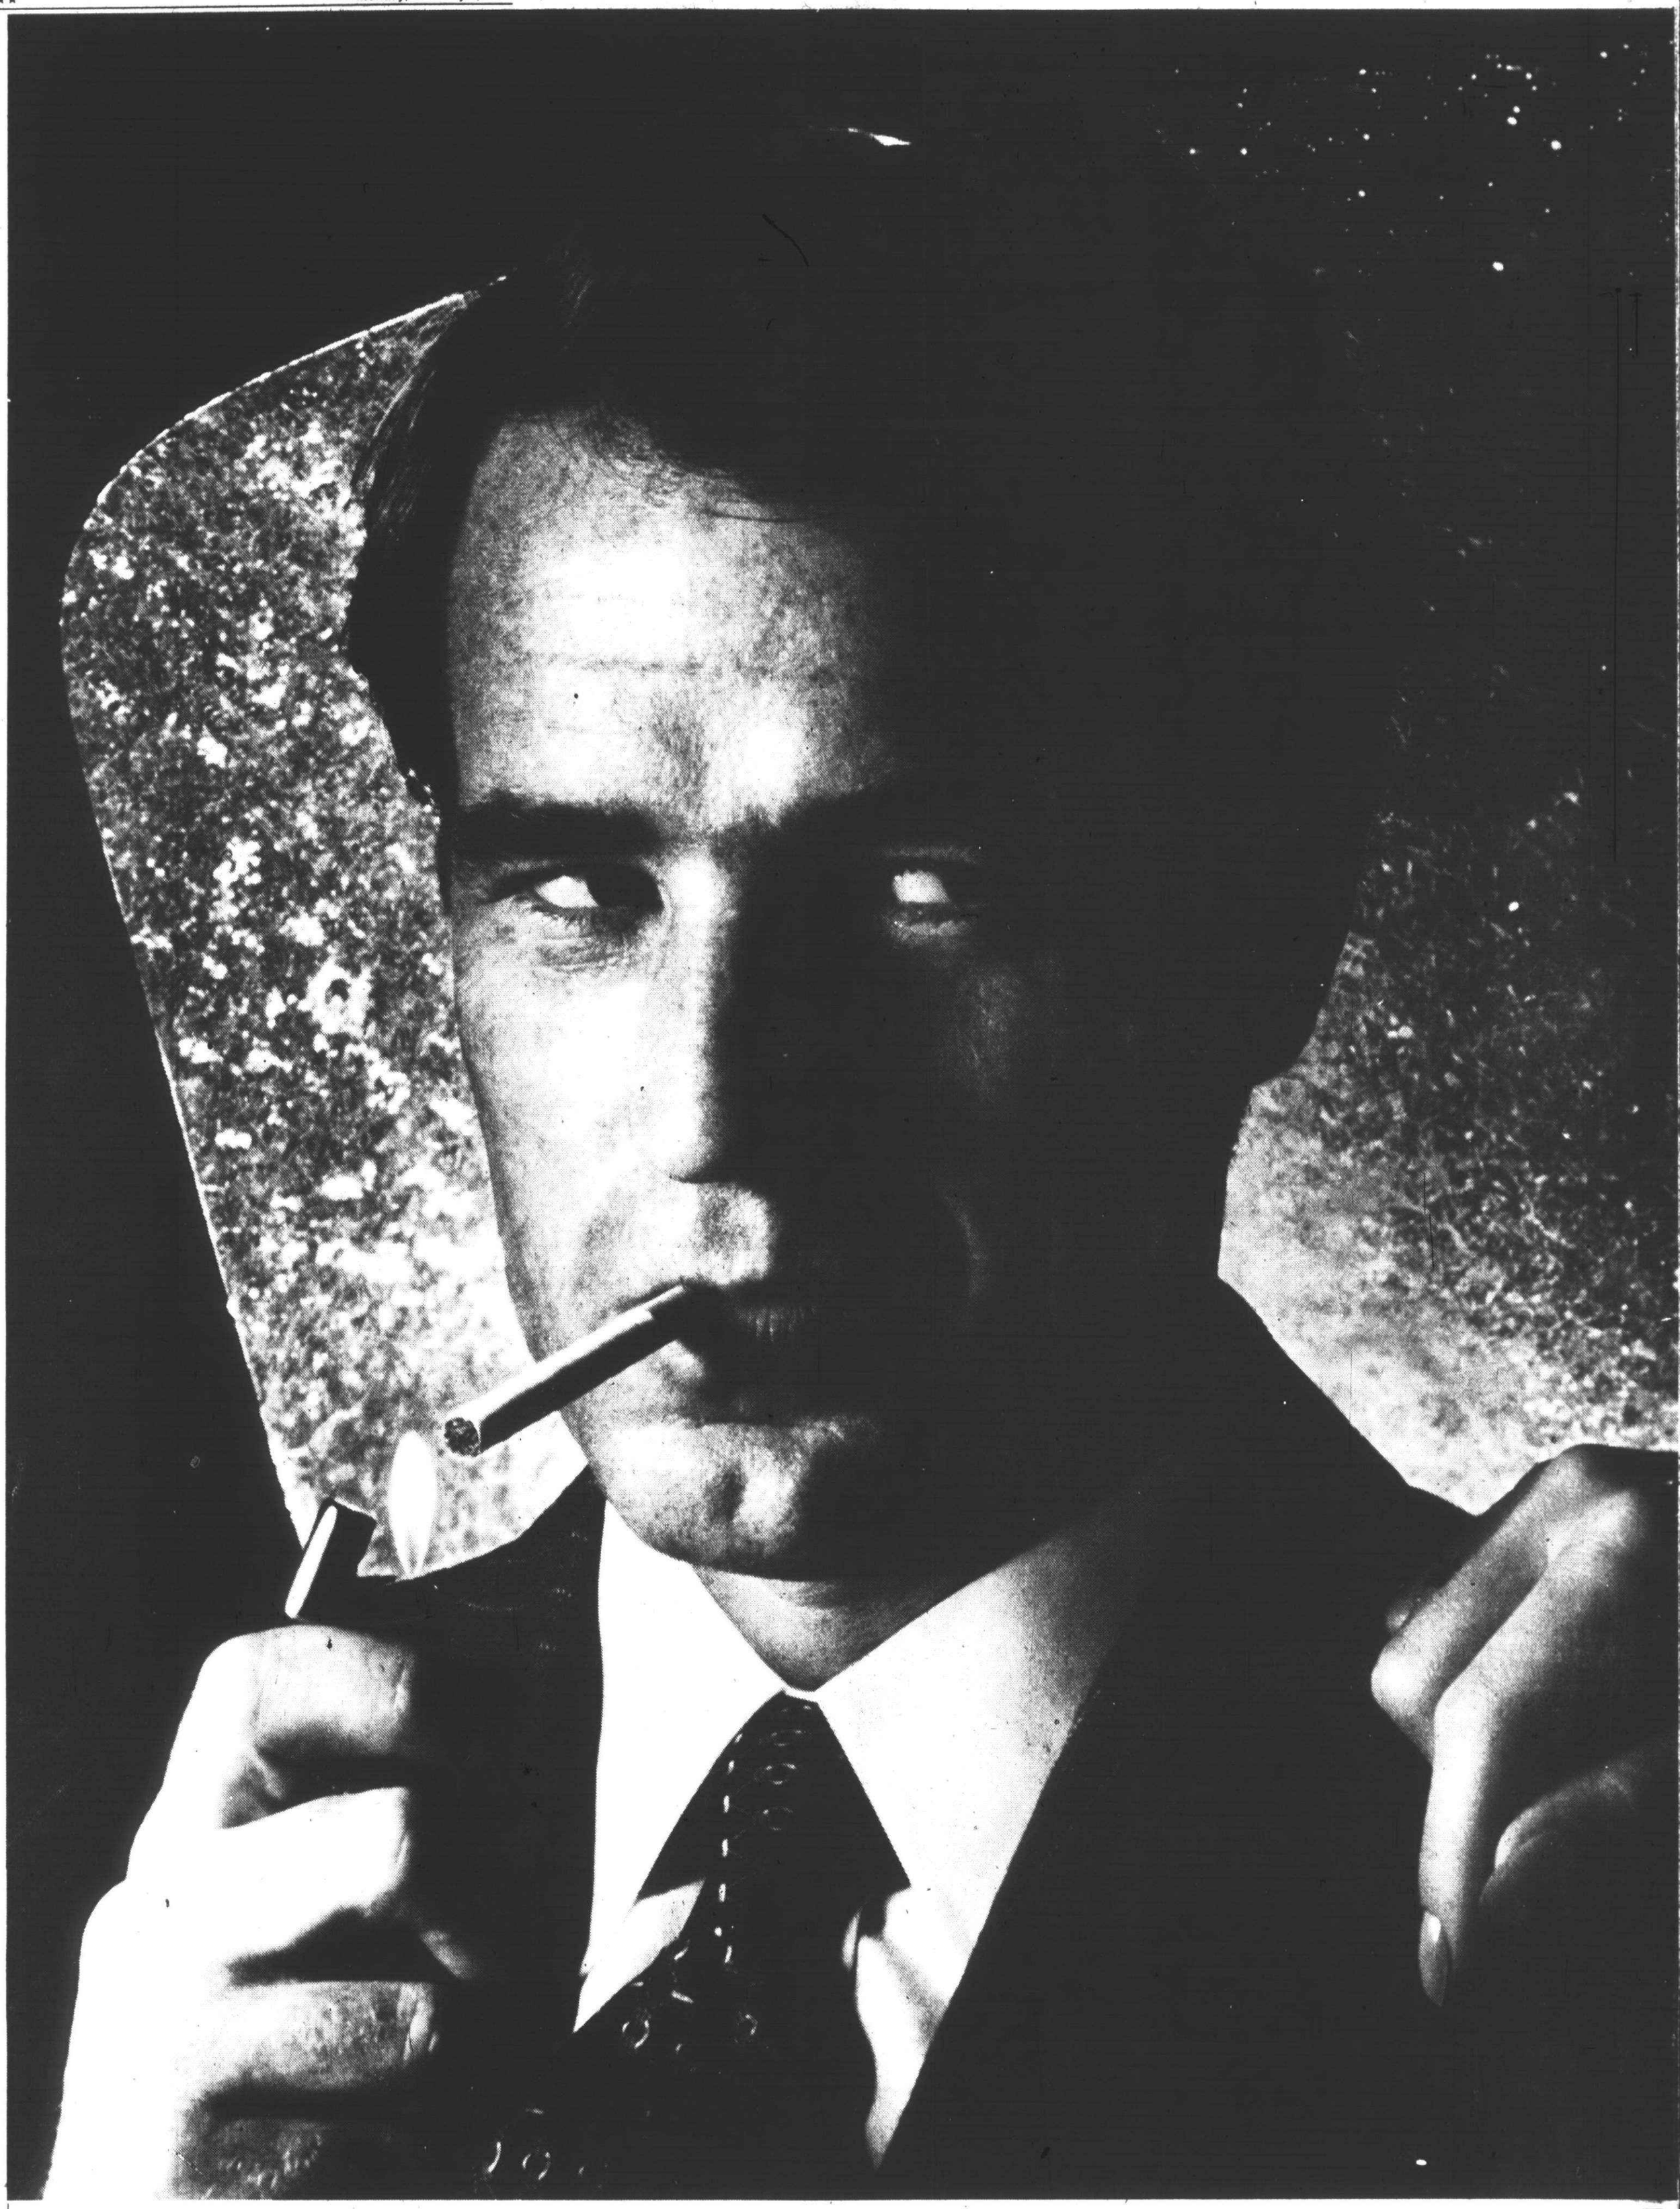

Several residents have complained about clogged sidewalks creating difficulty for pedestrians, especially children walking to school or to bus routes.

Supervisor James Poole reminds residents that Canton Township has an ordinance requiring sidewalks to be cleared. Maximum penalty is $500 fine or 90 days in jail.

Persons with questions about the ordinance may call township hall at 397-1000 between 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.

Cable firm seeks franchise

"But I don't know what 'too long' means. I'm less concerned about when the system is built and more concerned about getting the best system for the people of Canton."

The trustee dismissed the idea of awarding franchises to two cable companies. That action would pare profit margins for both firms and endanger the quality of the system, if not cable service itself.

"If we give it to two, MetroVision has to hope that Omnicom says, 'Count me out'."

NEWELL SAID Omnicom is not prepared to give up its Canton franchise.

"We have a significant investment already. There's no way we'll walk away from that.

"There is no community in the United States that has been able to have two companies and have them stay in business," Newell said. "The profits just aren't great enough."

Although some homes in the extreme northeast corner of Canton already are hooked to the cable system, most of Omnicom's cable lines have not been laid.

Newell said cable companies must receive permission from utility before laying any lines. The application process is time-consuming and cannot begin until a franchise is granted, he said.

Omnicom now has received about half the necessary permits for Canton, he said. Newell questioned MetroVision's ability to install the system more quickly since the company has obtained none of those permits.

But Singer maintains that cable now would serve all of Canton, if MetroVision had been awarded the original contract. He noted that MetroVision already has completed a system for Redford Township, even though the franchise was awarded later than Canton's.

Singer, admitted, however, that Redford's cable lines are strung on aboveground utility poles. The bulk of Canton's system will be underground.

BOTH METROVISION and Omnicom were considered for Canton's cable franchise during a six-month period in 1979.

Omnicom — the first cable firm to apply — was awarded the contract in July. The Township Board later rescinded that vote, when a multitude of other cable companies submitted applications.

In the fall of 1979, the board tentatively awarded the contract to Maclean-Hunter. Board members changed their minds again after talking with officials of a New Jersey community, who were dissatisfied with Maclean-Hunter services.

In December, the board awarded the contract again to Omnicom. The final decision was based, in part, on franchises awarded to Omnicom by Plymouth and Plymouth Township. Board members felt Omnicom could offer better services to the entire Canton-Plymouth area.

"If we would have been the first community to accept Omnicom, we would have been the first built," maintained Larson.

Currently, Omnicom's system is partially built in Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Police eye purchase of 'POSSE'

The board would have to approve the allocation of funds, which would come from federal revenue-sharing monies, according to Stewart.

THE COMPUTER would provide a central file and eliminate manual preparation and storage of information. In addition, police personnel could obtain data from several cross-references, including phone numbers, names and addresses, case number, license number etc.

As many as four officers could use the system at any one time, said Stewart. They would program the computer for the information, which would appear on a small screen.

Stewart said Police Chief Jerry Cox and reserve officer Jerry Niezgoda, a computer expert at General Motors, observed the system at a police station in Crystal Lake, Ill., in late 1980.

Stewart said only one company — Data General, with offices in Southfield — has proper equipment for the POSSE system. Two other firms which were checked lacked suitable equipment and were unable to provide local service.

IF THE BOARD approves the purchase of the mini-computer, it will be the second major computerized system for the township in recent months.

Expected to be in operation in about a week is a $156,000 computer system at Township Hall. This plan will computerize most operations, including water billing, payroll, processing of property taxes, voter registration and accounts payable.

Report shows crime increase

There were 1,084 cases of larceny in '80, compared to 1,056 in '79. Car theft cases were 167 vs. 161 for the '80-79 comparison period.

• Fraudulent activities accounted for a 113 percent hike. There were 79 reported cases in 1980, compared to 37 for the year before.

A CURRENT major goal for the police department is the purchase and installation of a mini-computer to aid in records-keeping and investigation. (See separate story this page.)

Another is to concentrate resources where they are most needed. For example, Stewart believes neighborhood watch and crime prevention programs would be helpful in averting house break-ins and "fraudulent activities."

"You can only go so far," said Stewart. "Obviously, the goal of the police department is to suppress all these (illegal) activities, either through more arrests or prevention.

"We have to examine where we're going to spend our money and our time to get the best results," added Stewart.

Half unaware of tax credits

Fifty-two percent of the general public is unaware of state and federal tax credits for solar energy installation, according to a market study conducted by Arthur D. Little Inc.

Dear Dr. Forrest:
I'VE BEEN TOLD I NEED A CROWN. WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A CAP AND A CROWN AND WHY ARE THEY NECESSARY?
PEG TOOTHE

Dear Peg:
Caps or jackets are plastic or porcelain coverings cemented over a "prepared" tooth. Crowns are coverings constructed of gold or metal and may or may not have porcelain over the metal.

Crowns are often recommended when there is more silver or filling material than there is natural tooth structure, or if a root canal has been performed on a tooth. In Thursday's column, I will answer a question regarding root canal treatment.

Car class gets dummies started

Leonard Poger

Many teachers grade their students on what is called a "bell curve."

A few at the top get As. A few at the bottom are flunked. Most are in the middle and get Cs and some B.

Fortunately, a suburban school district's community education department offered an auto mechanics "for beginners" — or those who can't even get close to the bell, let alone get into the curve.

The class is for the drivers who took their driver education course on an automatic transmission and never had the inclination to find out the difference between a V-8 engine, a dual carb and rear-axle ratios.

To all my friends who toil for Ford, General Motors, and Chrysler, I have to apologize for my ignorance of the machines which provide hundreds of thousands of jobs in the Detroit region.

But the "mechanics class for automotive dummies" was a sheer delight — mainly because of the sense of humor instructor Dennis McCarthy had with us 15 students.

I ENROLLED in the course last summer in a fit of frustration.

I refused to pay $35 for an oil change and lube job.

If a high school dropout can do the job, why can't I?

After walking into the class session and listening to my classmates, I quickly learned that I would be at the head of the class.

At least I knew where the battery was.

I even had advance knowledge of where the spark plugs were hidden.

One woman, in her late 30s, enrolled for a specific pupose. She brought in her white MG, which had been in storage for several years.

The biggest problem was that a rat had nibbled away at several spark plug wires.

But the rest of the students — high school girls, young working women, and three or four men near retirement age — were there for the same reason I was.

That was to get a minimal knowledge of how a car works, how to change oil and oil filters, and what to do when there are problems on the road.

THERE WAS NO chance of getting a scholarship to General Motors Institute or trying to design my own fuel-efficient engine.

Without offending the Equal Rights Amendment backers, I can say that the men know the radiator from the battery and the engine block.

During the eight week course, our instructor displayed the patience of a saint and showed us the basics of a car and where the important parts of the engine are under the head.

We learned that we turn off the engine to check the level of oil but keep the car running when checking the level of the transmission fluid.

Our teacher also led through the traditional under-the-hood inspections — testing the tightness of fan belts, levels of engine oil, transmission fluid, brake fluid, and battery water.

There was no exam, but in a bit of a "pre-graduation" final exam, students were given a chance to change spark plugs, engine oil and filter and lubricate required fittings.

A few lucky ones even tightened their brakes.

My big thrill was the changing of a spark plug (my classmates got turns on the other plugs).

I didn't expect any set of sophiscated mechanic tools as a graduation gift, but I did dispel some of the mystery about how my car works.

DID I LATER begin doing some routine maintenance with the knowledge gained from the class?

Not really.

About the time I got interested in being my own auto repairman last fall, the number of service stations specializing in 10-minute oil changes and lube jobs for $7 to $10 began to increase.

I decided to let someone else get his hands dirty.

Ward goofs on open meetings

"Dignity is the quality which enables a man who says nothing, does nothing and knows nothing to command a great deal of respect."
—Josh Wise

George Ward, chairman of the Wayne County Charter Commission, responded with a great deal of dignity to my Jan. 22 criticism of the way he led the group into a closed session.

Ward said that, in his opinion, "all requirements of the Open Meetings Act were met before the Charter Commission received its Personnel Committee report in Executive Session."

He quoted U.S. Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson on the possibilities of error but concluded, "If my ruling, which I still believe is correct, is ever established as erroneous, I will endeavor to be as graceful and good natured, as was Justice Jackson, in surrendering old views."

WARD'S RESPONSE is as puzzling as it is dignified.

In the first place, there is no such thing as a governmental board "Executive Session" allowable under the Open Meetings Act. It's impossible for a body that is legislative in nature even to conduct an executive session. The Open Meetings Act mentions only "open" meetings (the rule) and "closed" meetings (the exception).

The Open Meetings Act went into effect in 1977. Thus, attorney Ward's use of legal terminology is four years out of date.

In the second place, why did Ward cite an opinion from Robert Jackson? In history, Jackson is best known as the prosecutor of the Nuremberg war crimes trial. Otherwise, he is just another New Deal Supreme Court justice who died in 1954, a generation before the Michigan Open Meetings Act was passed.

Why did Ward waste his time quoting Jackson, who quoted Baron Bramwell, Samuel Johnson and Lord Westbury when he could have consulted the Open Meetings Act?

Ward should have been reading the Open Meetings Act. And that was my whole point: Attorneys don't know the Open Meetings Act.

WHAT THE WAYNE County Charter Commission did, as you recall, was to interview and discuss candidates for the top staff post of executive director in a closed session. None of the candidates requested such a closed session — Ward himself told us that.

On the other hand, here is what the Open Meetings Act says:

"A public body may meet in closed session only for the following purposes:

"(f) To review the specific contents of an application for employment or appointment to a public office when the candidate requests that the application remain confidential. However, all interviews by a public body for employment or appointment to a public office shall be held in open meeting pursuant to this act."

And so, having made a fool of himself by guiding the charter commission into a closed session for the interviews and discussion, Ward has compounded the wrongdoing by failing to look up the Open Meetings Act and by pronouncing with great dignity, "If my ruling, which I still believe is correct, is ever established as erroneous, I will endeavor to be as graceful and good natured, as was Justice Jackson, in surrendering old views."

One dare not rely on an attorney to interpret the Open Meetings Act. The vigilant citizen must fead it on his/her own.

Peace: humanity's final quest

Someone said Gary Cooper could have played that part.

It was easy to agree looking at the tall Texan, thin almost to gauntness. Relaxed and gregarious, he had greeted all who approached him with questions and small talk.

Cross-legged, he sat on the living room floor. Others waiting to hear his message sat there, too, and all up the stairwell, along the walls and on any available piece of furniture.

It was standing room only in the cozy Franklin home on a recent Friday night. And into the already full rooms, others still crowded.

When it was time, there was no introduction. None was necessary. The tall man stood up, and hands in pockets, began to talk.

"I see only one great adventure left for humanity. That's the quest for peace," Ramsey Clark said.

He spoke of the proliferation of the world's population, pointing out that there will be a billion more people on this planet in just 10 years.

"It won't be seven years of drought that gets us, but seven years of inhumanity."

CLARK SPOKE to a gathering concerned about the newly legislated registration of draft-age males. Though they were of various ages, it was by-and-large a group that had stumped for peace before. Now they see the registration as leading inevitably to conscription, and that leading to standing armies that will inevitably see action.

In the beginning, it seemed incongruous to see him there in his rumpled blue suit with patch pocket trousers, in his white shirt and red-striped tie, in the argyle socks and tan suede shoes.

Ramsey Clark, son of Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, was the Attorney General under President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The guy who ran for Senator in the state of New York and lost. The guy who went to Iran for Jimmy Carter, and again on his own. The one they wanted to prosecute for traveling there after Carter had decreed there should be no travel to Iran.

Now, on this day when the hostages have been freed and wait to come home, Clark isn't in Washington, or Wiesbaden, or Tehran, but in Oakland County talking to a packed house.

He tells you when you hear the hostages may have been mistreated that he hears of hundreds of tortures every day. And our nation is culpable, he says.

Quiet-spoken, calm, low-key, he continues.

"THE RANGE of things that must be done is absolutely stunning. We need to stop research and development for sophisticated ways of killing.

"We need to speak out against intervention in foreign countries. We're the luckiest people on earth. We have abundance and the capacity to solve these problems."

He quotes Washington and Jefferson, who said that large-standing military establishments are foreign to this nation. And in the course of his 20-or-so-minute talk, he quotes from Shakespeare's Hamlet, from the poet Auden, from Walt Whitman, from Robert Oppenheimer, from Albert Einstein, and others. Each quote is delivered unhesitatingly from memory.

"I urge an outright confrontation with the draft — to stop it," he said.

His words convey his deep anguish.

He's against the inhumanity of one person toward any another. And he's against politics, government and science used for destruction.

"Oppenheimer, in his sadness, said 'science has known sin.' " Clark reminds. "Einstein said after the bomb, 'Everything changed but our thinking.' "

He made it clear he agrees with CARD and disagrees with former Army general and new Secretary of State Alexander Haig, who says some things are worth fighting for.

"I'm for the demilitarization of America."

It's true, Gary Cooper could have played him. But in this time and place, it's Ramsey Clark, and he's himself — a man for this season.

Macho is in, unisex out

Marilyn Fitchett

Macho is back. Unisex is out.

In case you missed it, the '70s were the decade of the sensitive, non-macho male who could feel comfortable even in traditionally female roles. But the seers who decide what's in and what's out have decreed that macho will make a comeback in the '80s.

The marketing strategists probably already have their memos out to various retailers:

Get with it, Hudson's — Remove the men's toiletry department. If anyone asks, direct them to the Old Spice in the drug department.

Come on, Hughes & Hatcher — No more lavender dress shirts. It's back to basic white. And no paisley ties — solids and subtle stripes only.

Attention, Kitchen Glamor — Stock up on Betty Crocker. No more cookbooks hinting that a man's place could be in the kitchen. Still OK to have a man on the cover of a barbecue cookbook, though.

Creative Playthings — What's that girl doing playing with blocks? Only boys play with blocks. Ditto, Lionel with your train advertising.

Big Three — It's back to bosoms selling cars. No more working women in sensible clothing emphasizing the dependability of compacts. And, while you're at it, better revive the muscle cars.

Adios, Atra — Make way for Schick's macho razor. Can that baby face stuff.

IF MACHO is to make it big, we have to take it out of the stores and bring into the homes, too.

YMCAs everywhere — better phase out those soccer leagues. It's back to stressing football and hockey. Lete's hear it for blood and guts sports.

Educators — Revive Dick, Jane and Spot. (For those who have forgotten, Dick and Spot were the smart ones.)

Remember, dads — Raising children is women's work. You don't have to pretend to enjoy babysitting for your kids any more.

NOW DOES EVERYONE understand the rules? It's easy — for the '80s men will be men and women will be, uh —

Well . . . I'm not allowed to worry my pretty little head over that.

Free travel film for the elderly

A free travelogue for senior citizens is being offered on Feb. 7 by the Kiwanis clubs of Plymouth.

The travelogue will begin at noon in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School on Joy just west of Canton Center Road.

Free donoughts and coffee will be served.

The special showing for senior citizens is being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth which meets Thursdays at noon and by the Plymouth Kiwanis Club which meets Thursday evenings.

THE PROG?RAM will feature Stanley Paulauskas, a native of Cleveland.

One of his first loves was baseball as he lived next door to League Park and the Cleveland Indians. While traveling for a construction company in a supervisory capacity, though, Paulauskas began developing his passion for photography.

At that time he visited South America, Puerto Rico and every state in the union. And soon traveling and photography began to become his primary interest.

While traveling in a country he tries to allow enough time for more than a cursory knowledge of the place visited. While traveling in the U.S.S.R., for instance, Paulauskas spent three months in Lithuania alone visiting relatives and absorbing the culture firsthand.

The film he will show Feb. 7 will be "Texas! The Superstate!"

Highlights include the urbane city dwellers in Dallas, the gentle Mexican charm of San Antonio, and bustling Houston — the fastest growing city in the U.S.

Other scenes will be the shrimp boats off Padre Island on the Gulf Coast, the west Texas plains, Corpus Christi and the famed Alamo.

The regular travelogue series is sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation as a way of raising funds for community service projects undertaken by both clubs.

Indian songs to be aired

Contemporary artist George Thomas will be featured in benefit for the Plymouth-Canton Indian Education program in a live broadcast at 6 p.m. on "Parameters" this Wednesday.

The appearance, broadcast live from the studios at Plymouth Salem High School, will be aired by WSDP (88.1 FM).

Musicians featured will be Thomas, lead guitar and vocals, Jim Lowe, vocals and harmony, and Dave Deleary on second guitar.

The 30-minute program also will include an interview with Rick Smith, director of the Indian Education program of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, and other information on the Plymouth-Canton American Indian Heritage Center.

Some of the musical pieces to be heard include the opening song "Be With Me Tonight" and "Got Away."

Two high school basketball games also will be broadcast this week by WSDP — Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Salem vs. Belleville, and Friday at 7:30 p.m. Plymouth Canton vs. Northville.

Welcomes hostage

Linda Cervenan and son Daniel, both of Canton, were among many area residents who gathered at Metropolitan Airport last Wednesday to greet former hostage Joe Subic of Redford. (Staff photo by Bill Bresler)

Views on Dental Health

By Kenneth A. Fox, D.D.S.

SETTING THE FACTS STRAIGHT

It is not a "fact of life" that several or all of the permanent teeth have to be lost as we grow older. Except for accidents or malformations, teeth are lost as a consequence of decay or periodontal (gum and bone) disease — conditions which can be prevented or arrested by timely and proper care. The primary cause of loss of teeth is neglect!

A toothache that "goes away by itself" does not mean that the tooth has recovered from whatever affected it. Pain is a warning signal that something is wrong and that no time should be lost in consulting a dentist.

Fillings do not weaken teeth! The truth is that unfilled cavities weaken teeth, and if neglected lead to loss of a tooth which timely filling could have completely prevented.

Drinking lots of milk does not prevent tooth decay. Milk is the richest dietary source of calcium, needed for teeth and bonebuilding, and an excellent food. But milk cannot arrest the process of tooth decay or prevent its inception.

Fiesta Time

Colorful, exciting Mexico — where land and food offer striking diversity. This popular South-of-the-border cuisine relies on such staples as corn, beans, tomatoes and peppers. Since the days of the Aztec civilization, corn has played a major role in Mexican cooking. Corn meal adds a delightful grain flavor and texture to these recipes while being enriched with B-vitamins and iron.

Begin your Mexican fiesta with a spicy appetizer that brightens spirits and sets the mood. These corn meal tidbits feature a traditional Mexican topping of cheese, green peppers and taco sauce. Include a bowl of guacamole and chips as part of the opening activity.

Guests will then enjoy Fiesta Pie and Corn Bread Con Queso. Corn meal again plays a major role. The pie dough is exceptionally easy to work with and has a delightful grain flavor all its own. The colorful green chilies, chopped tomatoes and shredded chicken will bring olés from everyone.

Corn Bread Con Queso proves not all Mexican foods are hot and spicy. Flavorful bits of chopped green chilies and onion mingle with pieces of whole kernel corn and cheese to provide a mildly flavored bread. Serve warm from the oven for a real compliment getter.

Southwest Corn Meal Cookies with fresh orange slices add the finishing touch to this truly Mexican feast. Coat these delicate, easy-to-prepare cookies with a cinnamon-sugar mixture for an extra treat. Serve a traditional Mexican chocolate drink and your menu will be complete.

ANTOJITOS

(Appetizers)

BASE:

1/2 cup Enriched Corn Meal
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
1-1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons vegetable shortening
1/3 cup milk
1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

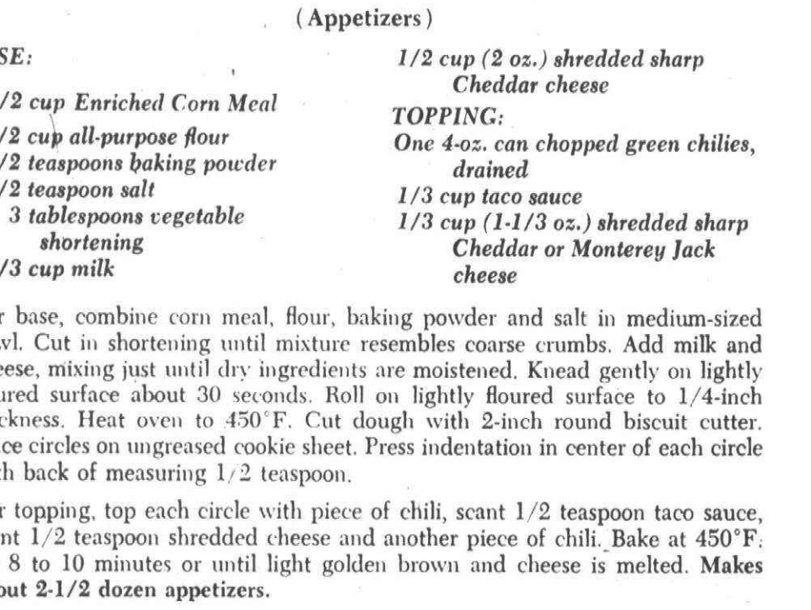

TOPPING:

One 4-oz. can chopped green chilies, drained
1/3 cup taco sauce
1/3 cup (1-1/3 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese

For base, combine corn meal, flour, baking powder and salt in medium-sized bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk and cheese, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Knead gently on lightly floured surface about 30 seconds. Roll on lightly floured surface to 1/4-inch thickness. Heat oven to 450°F. Cut dough with 2-inch round biscuit cutter. Place circles on ungreased cookie sheet. Press indentation in center of each circle with back of measuring 1/2 teaspoon.

For topping, top each circle with piece of chili, scant 1/2 teaspoon taco sauce, scant 1/2 teaspoon shredded cheese and another piece of chili. Bake at 450°F. for 8 to 10 minutes or until light golden brown and cheese is melted. Makes about 2-1/2 dozen appetizers.

GUACAMOLE DIP

2 large very ripe avocados
3 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3 to 4 drops hot pepper sauce

Cut avocados in half. Remove pits. Spoon out and mash pulp. Blend in remaining ingredients, mixing until smooth. Makes 2 cups dip.

NOTE: To store, cover tightly with plastic wrap, smoothing plastic wrap over surface of dip to prevent discoloration.

FIESTA PIE

FILLING:

1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1 cup milk
2 cups shredded, cooked chicken
One 4-oz. can chopped green chilies, drained
1/4 cup minced fresh parsley or dried parsley flakes
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped, ripe tomato (peeled, if desired)

CRUST:

2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup Enriched Corn Meal
1 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup butter or margarine
1/3 cup vegetable shortening
1/2 cup cold water

For filling, sauté onion and green pepper in butter. Add flour; stir until blended. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Stir in chicken, chilies, parsley and salt.

For crust, combine flour, corn meal and salt. Cut in butter and shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water, 1 tablespoon at a time, stirring lightly until mixture forms a ball; divide into 2 parts, 1 slightly larger. Roll large part on lightly floured surface to form 13-inch circle. Fit loosely into 9-inch pie plate. Roll remaining dough to form 12-inch circle.

Heat oven to 425°F. Spoon 1/2 of chicken mixture into pie shell; top with tomato and remaining chicken mixture. Place top crust over filling; trim. Turn edges under; flute. Cut several slits in center to allow steam to escape. Bake at 425°F. about 30 minutes or until crust is lightly browned. Makes one 9-inch main dish pie (6 servings).

CORN BREAD CON QUESO

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup sugar
4 eggs
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
One 4-oz. can chopped green chilies, drained
One 16-oz. can whole kernel corn, drained, reserving 1/3 cup liquid
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
1-1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup Enriched Corn Meal
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt

Heat oven to 300°F. Beat together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in onion, chilies, corn, reserved liquid from corn and cheese. Combine remaining ingredients; add to corn mixture, mixing well. Pour into well-greased 13x9-inch baking pan. Bake at 300°F. for 1 hour and 15 minutes or until light golden brown. Makes 13x9-inch corn bread.

BISCOCHITOS

(Corn Meal Cookies)

COOKIES:

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1-1/2 cups Enriched Corn Meal
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon soda

CINNAMON SUGAR COATING:

3 tablespoons sugar
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Heat oven to 375°F. For cookies, beat together butter and sugar until light and fluffy; beat in egg. Add corn meal, baking powder, cinnamon, salt and soda, mixing well; chill 1 hour. Shape dough to form about thirty-six 1-inch balls.

For coating, combine cinnamon and sugar. Roll balls in coating mixture; place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 375°F. for 8 to 10 minutes. Cool 2 minutes on cookie sheet; remove to wire rack. Cool thoroughly. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

CREPES RELLENO

(Stuffed Crepes)

(Not pictured)

CREPES:

1 cup milk
2 eggs
2/3 cup all-purpose flour
1/3 cup Enriched Corn Meal
Dash of salt

FILLING:

1/3 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 lb. ground beef
One 8-oz. jar taco sauce
1/4 cup sunflower nuts
1/4 teaspoon ground cumin
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder

TOPPING:

Guacamole
Dairy sour cream
Shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

For crepes, combine all ingredients, mixing until smooth. For each crepe, fill 1/4 cup dry measure half full. Pour into hot, lightly greased crepe pan or 6 to 7-inch skillet; immediately tilt pan to coat bottom evenly with thin layer of batter. Cook 45 to 60 seconds or until tops look dry. Turn; cook about 20 seconds. Stack crepes between sheets of wax paper.*

For filling, sauté onion in oil. Add meat, browning lightly; drain. Stir in taco sauce, sunflower nuts, cumin and garlic powder; simmer about 5 minutes. Heat oven to 325°F. Fill each of 12 crepes with 1/4 cup meat mixture; roll up. Place seam side down in 13x9-inch baking dish; cover with aluminum foil. Bake at 325°F. for 10 to 12 minutes or until heated through. Serve with guacamole, sour cream and shredded cheese, as desired. Makes 12 filled crepes.

NOTE: At this point, crepes may be wrapped and frozen up to 3 months. Thaw overnight in refrigerator.

Basic frosting recipe has endless possibilities

Many people would agree that the best part of a cake is the frosting. There are as many types of frostings as there are cake recipes cooked or uncooked, stiff or airy, using a wide variety of ingredients and flavorings. The thick and creamy frostings popular in the United States are typically American — even the word "frosting" is the American word for icing on cakes.

Unfortunately, some types of frostings are time-consuming or difficult to make, and cake baking is too often reserved for entertaining.

Cream cheese lends a rich, unusual flavor to many frostings, and is compatable with a wide variety of flavors. It's creamy, and when softened at room temperature and partially diluted, it spreads smoothly.

Now there's an even better ingredient for frostings: the new soft cream cheese. This new dairy product has flavor comparable to brick cream cheese, but it's soft — right out of the refrigerator. Because the body and texture of this soft product are significantly different from other cream cheese, it is ideal for use in recipes requiring spreadability and the quick blending of ingredients. However, because of the product's consistency differences, it is not recommended for certain types of cooking, nor should it be substituted in recipes calling for brick cream cheese.

Fluffy Frosting is made in minutes, simply by adding ¼ cup of sugar and 1 tablespoon of orange juice to the soft cream cheese. For a delicious Gingerbread Torte, one 9-inch square pan of gingerbread, made quickly from a mix, is cut in half. Each half is spread with half the frosting, topped with ¼ cup of orange marmalade, and stacked, making a perfect size cake for the family. Actually, the basic frosting is a good starting point for endless flavor combinations.

Coconut Torte is made by adding toasted coconut and sliced almonds to the frosting mixture, using on 9-inch yellow cake layer as the base. Even the liquid in the frosting recipe can be altered, as in the recipe for Chocolate Mint Torte, which substitutes milk for the orange juice. A brownie mix provides the delicious foundation, stirring crushed peppermint candies into the frosting mixture.

Be creative and use what's on hand. Garnishes from chocolate chips to drained canned fruits are delicious combinations with the soft cream cheese frosting and complementary cake flavors. The next time a special ending for an everyday meal is in order, turn to soft cream cheese frostings for a quick and easy dessert idea.

FLUFFY FROSTING

1 8-oz. container soft cream cheese
¼ cup sugar
1 tbsp. orange juice

Combine cream cheese, sugar and orange juice, beating until light and fluffy. Yield: 1-⅓ cups.

GINGERBREAD TORTE

1 14½ oz. pkg. gingerbread mix
½ cup orange marmalade
Fluffy Frosting

Prepare gingerbread according to package directions. Cook 10 minutes; remove from pan. Cool thoroughly. Cut in half lengthwise. Spread each half with half of Fluffy Frosting; top each with ¼ cup marmalade. Stack. Chill.

COCONUT TORTE

1 9-inch yellow cake layer
½ cup coconut, toasted
Fluffy Frosting
¼ cup sliced almonds, toasted

Cut cake in half lengthwise. Combine Fluffy Frosting, coconut and almonds; mix lightly. Spread each cake half with half of frosting; stack. Garnish with additional coconut. Chill

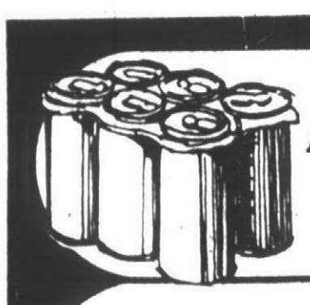

CHOCOLATE MINT TORTE

1 pkg. family size brownie mix
¼ cup crushed peppermint candy
Fluffy Frosting

Prepare cake-like brownies as directed on package. Bake in well greased 9-inch square pan. Cool thoroughly. Remove from pan; cut in half lengthwise.

Prepare Fluffy Frosting as directed substituting 1 tablespoon milk for orange juice. Stir in candy. Spread each brownie half with half of frosting; stack. Chill. 3efore serving; garnish with peppermint sticks, if desired.

A booklet of quick and easy soft cream cheese recipe ideas has been developed by the Kraft Kitchens. Free copies are available (while supplies last) at many local food stores, or simply send your name and address to: Soft "Philly" Recipes, P.O. Box 826, South Holland, IL 6?473.

Walnutty oatmeal cookies have a crunchy, chewy texture.

Crisp walnuts enhance these oatmeal cookies

These easy-to-make drop cookies rate A-plus for delicious flavor and a delightfully chewy, crunchy texture. As with all cookies, flavor and texture are always enhanced with crisp, mellow walnuts. One way to save money on ingredients is to buy the one-pound size of shelled walnuts which gives you four cups of nutcracker-fresh kernels in a clear-film bag or vacuum sealed-can. The unused portion keeps well stored air-tight in your refrigerator. For the cookie jar, the lunch box or the coffee break, nothing could be nicer than these cookies.

CHOCOLATELY OATMEAL COOKIES

1½ cups walnuts
½ cup (3 oz.) semi-sweet real chocolate pieces
¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¾ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. baking soda
⅔ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar packed
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla
1¼ cups quick-cooking oats

Chop ¼ cup walnuts finely for tops of cookies and the remainder into medium-size pieces. Melt chocolate over hot water; set aside to cool slightly. Resift flour with salt and soda. Cream shortening, sugar, egg and vanilla together well; blend in chocolate. Add flour mixture and oats; mix well. Stir in the 1 cup chopped walnuts. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls ont light greased cookie sheets. Sprinkle tops with reserved finely chopped walnurs. Bake above center ovem at 350 for about 15 minutes. Let stand on pan a minute or two, then remove to wire racks to cool. Makes about 24 coolies

A Question of Taste

By Hilary Keating Callaghan

No additives in co-op foods

I recently picked up a carton of a popular cheese spread and read the label.

To be more precise, I read it twice, the second time in a vain search for the word "cheese" in the list of ingredients. Sugar was prominently listed as were various chemicals, preservatives, and artificial colors — but no cheese.

"Read the label" is a universal recommendation from government and consumer groups. Reading labels is, unfortunately, time-consuming.

Carefully reading and comparing labels can turn an otherwise quick shopping trip into a lengthy study session — an impractical if not impossible exercise.

To further complicate matters, a consumer who is unhappy with what is revealed on a label often finds no alternative. Competing items on grocery store shelves have the same objectionable ingredients.

Filling this void by providing an alternative is the function of the natural food co-op. According to Lyn Bell, a member of the Stone Soup Co-op of Royal Oak, one of the pleasures of shopping in the co-op is not having to read labels.

The food has been bought from reputable suppliers. It is free of added chemicals, preservatives, pesticides, white sugar or flour and, whenever possible, salt.

WHAT RESULTS is a store filled with healthy foods.

The flours are all whole grain. All breads, crackers, cookies, and pastas sold at Stone Soup are made from whole grain flours.

The canned fruits are packed in sugar-free juice — unlike most brand-name fruits advertised as "juice pack," neglecting to mention that the juice has added sugar. Canned vegetables contain no added salt. Cheeses are white — no artificial orange coloring.

Rows of fruit juices, ranging from exotic blends to simple apple juice, fill the need for sweet, cold beverages — with no added sugar. Bottled water is available for those sufficiently concerned about our water supply to eschew tap water. The milk (sold in glass bottles) is pasteurized but not homogenized.

The eggs, bought at the Royal Oak Market, are fertilized and from free-running chickens. They do not contain drugs or chemicals that may be found in some eggs.

The co-op also stocks a wide selection of grains, dried beans, dried fruits and herbs, which are simply unavailable — adulterated or otherwise — in a conventional grocery store.

IT IS IN REGARD to these less familiar items that the co-op fulfills its most valuable function — that of educating its members.

Much of this education is informal. If you don't know what to do with an item, there's sure to be someone at your elbow who is familiar with it and is glad to share that knowledge, Ms. Bell said.

Such an important function is not, however, left to chance. There is an education committee, which plans programs for the year. So far this year, there have been programs on tofu-making and menu-planning. Still to come are programs on gardening, herbs, and food preservation.

For those who want "book learning," Stone Soup sells books on cooking and nutrition. Some of those books are available on loan, for 50 cents per week, from the co-op library.

While its educational programs are open to anyone for a $2-per-program fee, shopping at Stone Soup is limited to members. Member families pay a $5 fee to join plus $50, which is refunded when membership is terminated.

Members who work two hours a month receive a 10 percent discount on their purchases. Anyone interested in further information may call 642-2388 or 549-0477.

Judy Hessler, Stone Soup's manager, was kind enough to assemble some recipes to share from past issues of the co-op's monthly newsletter. After all is said about suppliers, philosophy, and policy, this is what co-ops like Stone Soup are all about — delicious, healthy food at its natural best.

SPINACH PIE

10-12 oz. fresh spinach or 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen spinach
1 lb. tofu
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1½ cups grated Cheddar cheese

Steam the fresh spinach or cook the frozen spinach. Drain well. Mash the tofu well with a fork. Thoroughly mix all ingredients and turn into an oiled casserole. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven 30-40 minutes.
(adapted from "Tofu Goes West" by Gary Landgrebe)

GREEN DRINK JUICE

2 cups pineapple juice
1 cup sprouts — alfalfa, mung, or other
¼ banana
Slices of lemon, peel and ll, but with center removed

Combine all ingredients in a blender. Blend until smooth.

WHOLE WHEAT BERRY PUDDING

2 cups cooked wheat berries
3 cups milk
3 eggs, lightly beaten
¼ cup honey
1 cup raisins
1 tbsp. grated orange rind
⅛ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. mace
2 cups fresh berries, sliced peaches, or applesauce

Preheat oven to 325. Mix together all ingredients except fruit and turn into a well-buttered baking dish or casserole. Bake one hour or until set. Serve warm or cold, topped with the fruit. Makes 6 servings.

Stop excusing your life away.
Everyone has an excuse for not seeing their doctor about colorectal cancer. However, every year 52,000 men and women die of colorectal cancer in this country alone. Two out of three of these people might be saved by early detection and treatment. Two out of three.
So what is your excuse? Today you have a new, simple, practical way of providing your doctor with a stool specimen on which he can perform the guaiac test. This can detect signs of colorectal cancer in its early stages before symptoms appear. While two out of three people can be saved. Ask your doctor about a guaiac test, and stop excusing your life away.

The VIEW from CANTON CENTER

FIRST OF ALL, Heather Guenther, whose pictures appeared in last Thursday's paper, is Torb Guenther's niece and Mike Guenther's daughter.

GEORGE BOWLES, who is wintering in Santa Barbara, Calif. sent along a note and a clipping from the Santa Barbara News-Press. George wrote that he is feeling fine, the weather is great, and he is doing miles of road work. He seems to be recuperating very well from major heart surgery.

They miss all their friends here and he misses Rotary meetings.

The article clipped from the local paper was about Bear, former Plymouth resident who is now living in Santa Barbara and working for a publishing company.

The single name — Bear — had piqued the curiosity of a reporter, who had interviewed him. Born John Edward Olson, he had his name legally changed to just plain Bear Oct. 26, 1972.

The story of Bear's hassle with the U.S. Army because of his four-digit name was retold. (They had to reprogram their computer before he could receive a paycheck.)

by ELLIE GRAHAM

Bear is quoted as saying that after a hassle with the Internal Revenue Service, his wife declared that she would never again file a joint return. They were divorced.

I've missed Bear. He was always popping into the office with news of some benefit that he was organizing. He devoted a lot of time to the Plymouth Jaycees' projects.

From the picture which accompanied Bear's story, he looks like the same old Bear.

XI ALPHA SIGMA chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met at the Canton Township home of Carole Anderson Jan. 27. Following their regular meeting, they entertained members of Xi Alpha Mu chapter at a "little girls party."

The chapter conferred the Order of the Rose, its highest honor, on Jo Anne Crosby. In making the presentation, it was noted that throughout her 15 years of service, her fidelity to ideals, her industry and her devotion to the organization, she had shown the true meaning of Beta Sigma Phi.

Beta Sigma Phi is an international cultural and social organization with approximately 250,000 active members in 12,000 chapters throughout the United States, Canada, and 34 other countries and territories around the world.

Through the Beta Sigma Phi International Endowment Fund, chapters have contributed more than $300,000 for cancer research and more than $1 million for other projects including cystic fibrosis research, Literary Village in Lucknow, India; Girlstown, USA, scholarships and other projects. New projects are approved by the overall membership from time to time.

mbers in the Metropolitan detroit area have provided more than $1,200 to the Detroit Association for Retarded Citizens. The money was used to fund the summer lunch program.

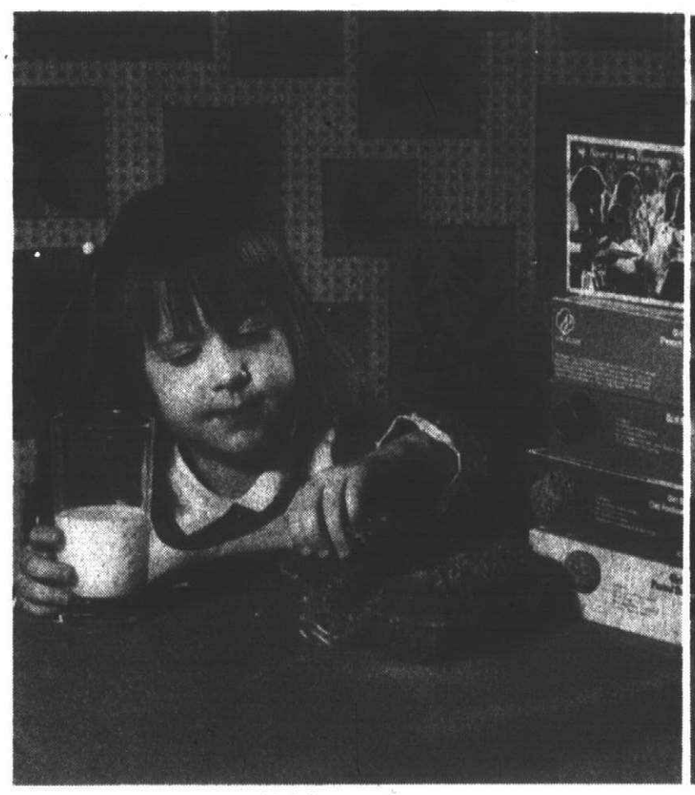

Xi Alpha Sigma Chapter hosted the Saturday brunch saluting the arts last fall at the annual concvention. More than 900 women attended the gathering hosted by sisters from the Detroit City Council.

THERE'S A NEW Boy Scout Troop (No. 1654) at Isbister School. They are looking for boys 11 years of age and older to join them from 7-9 p.m. each Wednesday evening at Isbister. Those wishing more information can call Scoutmaster Mike Iamarziya, 459-9353.

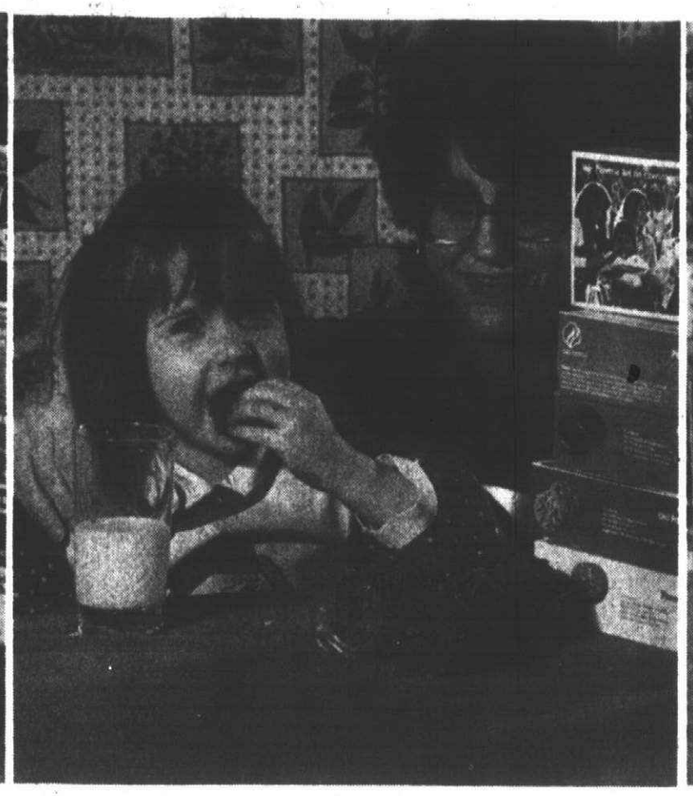

The scouts are having a paper drive to raise money to buy camping equipment. Anyone who would like to have their newspapers picked up, can call 455-9048. Or, papers can be dropped off any Wednesday evening between 7 and 8:30 at Isbister School. For more information, call 455-0137.

RENE LACOMBE and Ann Prevost had high scores at the Jan. 22 party bridge games at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Frances Peters had high score Jan. 29, followed by Evelyn Beck and Carl Peters. It was Carl's first time back with the group since his stroke in October.

Molly Boyle, 3, loves Girl Scout cookie time and was a willing tester of the new sumores.

Her mother, Jane Boyle, looked on as Molly took her first bite.

"I love 'em. Can I have another?" was Molly's reaction.

Girl Scout cookie sale begins Friday

Be prepared! The Girl Scout cookie sale campaign will begin a month earlier than usual this year.

Plymouth and Canton scouts will begin their door-to-door canvass Friday, Feb. 6. The order-taking will continue through Tuesday, Feb. 17. Cookies will be delivered March 16-27.

Local Girl Scouts are in the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, which has set a goal of 500,000 boxes for 1981. If they meet their goal, it will mean a profit of $425,000, with $125,000 of this amount going directly to the troops.

Price per box is $1.50 — the same as last year. The cost of the cookies is 65 cents per box. The council receives 60 cents and the troop, 25 cents.

An increase in the cost of peanut butter may inflate prices next year. Luckily, the company that manufactures the cookies bought 90 per cent of its peanut butter a year ago. It was 49 cents per pound. When they ordered more in December, it was $1.58 per pound.

THE FIRST Girl Scout cookie in 1933 was a vanilla shortbread, baked in the shape of the Girl Scout insignia, the trefoil.

It is still a favorite but over the years, a variety of cookies has been added to the selection. There are thin mints, peanut butter patties, chocolate and vanilla sandwich creams and peanut butter sandwiches.

New this year are sumores and old-fashioned oatmeal. The former combines coconut, carmel and chocolate. All the ingredients are natural with no additives. The coatings on the mints and peanut butter patties has been improved.

And the packaging has been changed. Instead of the former waxed paper outer wrap, a new airtight inner wrap has been introduced.

All the cookies are baked in Michigan by FFV-Interbake. All the cookies freeze well.

Ruth Dostie (left) and Doris Prosyk are chairing the Girl Scout cookie sale in Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

AFTER 11 YEARS, Doris Rorabacher of Plymouth has resigned as Girl Scout cookie chairwoman for the Plymouth-Canton area. Mrs. Rorabacher has been named Huron Valley's first Area Cookie Chairman Emeritus.

Four cookie chairwomen will take her place. They are Jeanne Wood and Sue Hoffmeister for Canton Township, and Ruth Dostie and Doris Prosyk for Plymouth.

Jeanne Wood has been a registerd scout for four years, a Brownie leader for one year, a Junior leader for one year, and a troop cookie chairwoman for three years.

Sue Hoffmeister, who will assist Mrs. Wood, has been a registered scout for seven years and an assistant Junior troop leader for one year.

Ruth Dostie will handle an area designated as Plymouth A. She has been a registered scout for 15 years, a troop committee member, a Brownie leader, troop service director, member of the area nominating committee for three years, area delegate to the council, area association chairwoman, assistant leader for Senior and Cadette level troops, and accompanied a senior troop to Mexico.

Doris Prosyk is chairing the cookie sale for the Plymouth B area. She has been a registered scout for five years, a Junior troop leader for two years and is troop service director of the Fiegel School Cluster.

COOKIE SALES not only refurbish council and troop budgets. They also can earn honors for the scouts.

Incentives are offered each year to inspire the cookie salesmen. Each girl and volunteer who participates in the sale earns a "Cookie Power" stripe. These can be worn on uniforms, badge sashes or jackets.

Patches can be earned for selling 50, 100, 200 or more boxes of cookies. A special patch is awarded to those who sell more than 300 boxes. All patches earned during the sale are of the Girl Scout blue and green colors.

A new incentive this year is a white sun visor with "cookie power" in green on the bill. This will go to girls who sell 100 or more boxes.

Any troop whose sales average 150 boxes per member will receive a waiver of troop camp fee at Camp Linden, Camp Crawford or Camp Hilltop.

The skills of meeting the public, keeping accurate order records, and handling money are side benefits acquired by the scouts during the annual cookie sale.

Girl Scout Kristie Smith was on hand for the testing of the new sumores. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

WET the BED?

FREE INFORMATION ON BEDWETTING
Information on Bedwetting-send for a FREE book on how to stop bedwetting in the privacy of your home.

"Bedwetting is Serious and Harmful"
If you have a bedwetter in your home, I strongly urge you to take steps at once to end it. The correction of bedwetting is an important mental health aid. It is very harmful to the child, distressing to the parents and can lead to very serious complications later on in life. Don't be blind to this problem no matter what you have been told by anyone else. Do something about it and do it now. Joseph G. Molner, M.D., Master Public Health

BEDWETTING IS CORRECTABLE
Many procedures such as restricting liquids, taking a child to the bathroom on a schedule, scolding, etc. do not end bedwetting. It can be stopped as early as 3 years of age. It should definitely be stopped before school age.
For the same reasons you would not think of waiting for your child to outgrow diapers, you also should not wait for your child to outgrow bedwetting. Millions of adults never outgrow it.

Look for energy labels on major appliances

While you examine the space and shelf arrangments in the refrigerator you are thinking of buying, also take a peek at its yellow energy guide label.

These labels are now on several major appliances to tell you the energy cost of the appliance.

They are required by the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975 and the Federal Trade Commission. They help you comparison shop for the most energy-efficient appliance.

For example, a room air conditioner with an energy efficiency rating (EER) of 9.0 uses much less electricity than one rated 5.0.

ANOTHER WAY to save energy is to read a pamphlet called "Tips for Energy Savers." It not only explains the energy guide label, it also gives tips on methods to save energy. Hints range from insulating your house to always covering a pan of boiling water.

The booklet explains that manufacturers must place labels on furnaces, water heaters, refrigerators and refrigerator freezers, freezers, clothes washers, dishwashers, room air-conditioners, central air-conditioners and heat pumps.

Published by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), the booklet states that 8 percent of all the energy used in the United States is used by electrical home appliances.

Buying an energy-efficient appliance, it notes, may cost a bit more initially, but the expense will be more than made up by reduced operating costs.

The publication indicates that 70 percent of our residential energy costs go to heating and cooling, 20 percent for heating water and 10 percent for lighting, cooking and running small appliances.

ITS HINTS about saving energy in heating and cooling include closing off unoccupied rooms, and using kitchen, bath and other ventilating fans sparingly. They draw off warmed or cooled air.

Also, keep the fireplace damper closed when not in use. It can pull up the chimney eight percent of your heat, says DOE. Lower your thermostat to 65 degrees F. by day and 55 degrees at night.

Have your oil furnace serviced at least once a year, and clean or replace the filter in your forced-air system each month. Dust or vacuum radiator surfaces frequently. Keep draperies open on sunny windows in winter, and close them at night. Insulate heating and cooling ducts.

Don't set your thermostat at a colder setting than normal when you turn on your air-conditioner in summer. It will not cool faster.

Turn off a window air-conditioner if you leave a room for a few hours. In summer, cook in the morning or late evening. And on cooler days, turn off the air-conditioner and open the window.

Consider turning off the furnace pilot light. Keep windows and outside doors closed during hot weather.

INSULATE WELL is the major recommendation pushed by the publication. It emphasizes that you can reduce the cost of heating and cooling equipment by 20-30 percent by investing a few hundred dollars in insulation.

Find out first about R-values in insulation materials. R stands for resistance to heat loss in winter or heat gain in summer. The higher the R number, the more effective the insulating capacity.

The numbers should appear on packages of all insulation materials, mineral, glass fiber, rock wool batts or blankets, as well as foam or loose fill material poured or blown into insulation spaces.

Insulate or increase the insulation in your attic floor or top floor ceiling to a minimum of R-26. Insulate floors over unheated spaces such as crawl spaces and garages. Consider insulating exterior walls.

This is expensive and may require a contractor's services, but it may be worth it in Michigan.

A lot of cold air sneaks into the house through doors and windows. If you can slip a quarter under the door or if a candle's flame dances near a window, weatherstripping is needed.

Materials cost about $25 for 12 windows and two doors. Savings in annual energy costs could amount to 10 percent.

According to DOE, "If every gas-heated home were properly caulked and weather-stripped, we'd save enough natural gas each year to heat about four million homes."

STORM WINDOWS and doors can also reduce fuel consumption. Combination screen and storm windows (triple-track glass combination) are the most convenient and energy efficient because they can be opened easily in warm weather.

Alternatives range from a heavy-duty, clear plastic sheet on a frame (about $10-$15 each), to clear plastic film that can be taped tightly to the inside of the window frames. Estimated cost for the average home is $10.

Savings from any of these types of protection can amount to as much as 15 percent a year.

Since water heating accounts for 20 percent of the home's use of energy, DOE suggests repairing leaky faucets promptly.

Do as much household cleaning as possible with cold water. Also, insulate the hot water storage tank and piping.

Buy a water heater with thick insulation on the shell. Check water temperature. Most heaters are set for 140 degrees F or higher. But you may not need (or want) water that hot unless you have a dishwasher the lacks a preheater.

A setting at 120 degrees would probably be adequate. If you drop the temperature from 140 to 120 degrees, you could save 18 percent of the energy used at the higher setting.

Even reducing the setting 10 degrees will be more than a 6-percent saving.

To determine water temperature, draw water from the heater through the bottom faucet and test it with a thermometer.

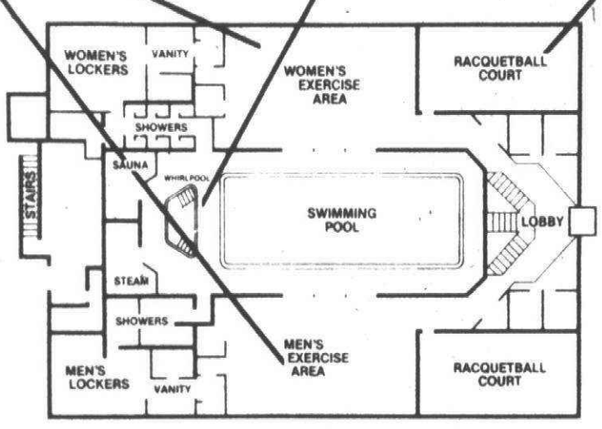

Use an aerator in the kitchen sink faucet. It reduces the amount of water in the flow when you are rinsing dishes.

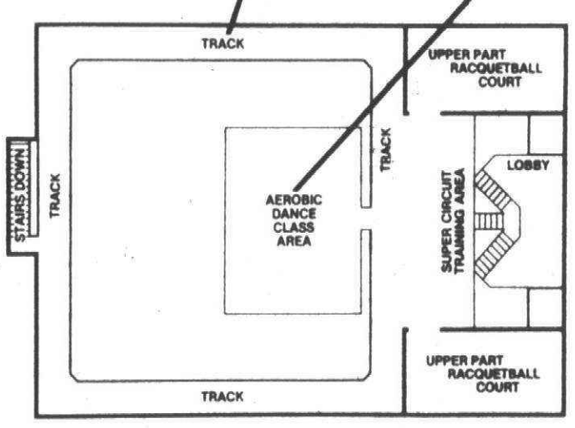

And for more information and publications from the U.S. Department of Energy, Editorial Services, GA-343, Office of Public Affairs, Washington, D.C. 20585.

Canton wrestlers capture big match

Plymouth Canton took a giant step toward winning its first Western Six League wrestling title Thursday night.

The Chiefs downed Walled Lake Western in a battle of league unbeatens, 31-30.

The dual meet victory left Canton coach Dan Chrenko, now in his eighth seasop, almost in a daze.

"This is just a tremendous win for our program," he proclaimed. "Anytime you beat Walled Lake Western, it's a big win."

Canton finished its dual schedule with a 5-0 mark. The Chiefs, who travel to Livonia Stevenson Tuesday, are seeking their first league title ever.

The league meet will be held Friday at Western.

"We've beaten everybody and that should give us the momentum going into the league meet," said the Canton coach. "It's like giving us a head start.

"We can look at ourselves and say, 'Hey, we're good enough to win.

"It's just a great feeling."

Canton won the important duel in the lower and middleweight divisions.

The Chiefs jumped on Walled Lake early by winning seven of the first nine matches.

Canton clinched the match when senior 167-pounder Mike Dupuis, despite a 6-0 loss to Western's Craig McCalluf, prevented the Warriors from winning the match as he avoided six points and a pin.

"Mike wrestled smart," said Chrenko. "He wrapped up the match for us."

Walled Lake then picked up 18 points in the final three matches, all on pins.

CHRENKO SAID the turning point occurred when Brian Lee, a 132-pounder, pinned Western's Bruce Giddings with seven seconds left in the match.

"We really needed that pin," Chrenko said. "I was real proud of Brian, because this Giddings kid was tough."

Todd Bartlett (98) started Canton on its way when he decisioned Gino Ray, 14-2.

Freshman Tim Collins (112) then decisioned Western's Larry Krafs, 5-2. That victory was followed by Kevin Decker's 4-2 triumph over Rob Wescott.

At 138 pounds, Kevin Santilli of Canton routed Matt Turner, 10-0. Steve Hamblin, Canton's defending league champ at 145, then pinned Steve McBride in 3:17.

Canton's seventh and final victory of the night came when Bob Mullen (155) decisioned Aldo Buttazzoni, 17-6.

In the final three matches, all won by Western, Angelo Buttazzoni pinned Don Page, 185 pounds, 5:00; Joe Bauer pinned Alex Young, 198, 1:32; and Rich Richardson pinned Craig Gearns, heavyweight, 3:29.

In an earlier matches, Rolf Henriksson pinned Todd Gattoni (105) of Canton in 1:49. Dave Millitello (126) beat Canton's Brett Haarala, 12-6.

"It was just a classic matchup," Chrenko said. "We had about 60 fans come with us. The crowd and the emotion were there.

"This is the greatest moment in our wrestling history. We upset Western in 1977, but this is our best team win ever.

"The league meet should be interesting. It's going to be a real dogfight between Churchill, Western and us."

Bentley climbs back into race

Rock cagers lose league test

By BRAD EMONS

It was supposed to be Livonia Bentley's last hurrah Friday night.

This was the game the Bulldogs were to be knocked out of the Suburban Eight League basketball title chase.

It didn't work out that way, as Bentley surprised league leader Plymouth Salem, 44-34, at the Rocks' gym.

Both teams are now 5-2 in league play. Bentley is 6-6 overall while Salem slipped to 9-4.

The Bulldogs beat Salem at its own game with tough defense and ball control.

"It was a team effort," said Bentley coach Jim Komula, who masterminded an effective game plan. "The people off our bench also came through.

"The kids are starting to believe in themselves and gaining confidence."

Bentley committed only 12 turnovers against the stout Salem defense.

"They executed their game plan beautifully," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "Tonight was a big game and we didn't play well."

Bentley, paced by guards Kevin Holowicki and Mike Cavicchio, controlled the ball and first half as the Bulldogs raced out to a 25-16 advantage.

The Rocks' offense never got going as Bentley tied them up in knots.

Komula had his troops constantly changing defenses. The Bulldogs played zone, man-to-man and trapped half-court.

"We can play pretty good defense," Komula added. "They were never able to pick out what we did defensively. I'm sure their coach knew, but the players didn't.

"We matched up inside and were pressuring the wings."

MIKE SCHNEIDER, a 6-foot-3 forward, failed to score but spearheaded the defense. He was stationed at the top of the key most of the night, preventing any would-be Salem attackers from driving to the hoop or passing.

Cavicchio, who led all scorers with 14 points, scored on a three-point play to open the third quarter as Bentley jumped out to a 12-point lead.

The Bulldogs took a 30-24 advantage going into the final quarter.

In that fourth period, Salem was forced to play an unfamiliar pressing game. The Rocks could get no closer than eight points as Bentley patiently worked the perimeter and drew numerous fouls.

Bentley hit seven of 13 free throws in the fourth quarter to win comfortably.

We cannot run with the people we have," said Komula. "We work hard in practice on the passing game. The kids are conscious of hitting the open area on the floor."

Holowicki, who directed the offense, had 10 points. Center Jon Kilger, a senior, played a strong first half and finished with nine points and nine rebounds.

"They simply defensed us out of the gym," said Thomann. "A couple times we made a run and couldn't capitalize. They out-executed us. No question about it."

Added Thomann: "We had no intensity at the beginning of the game. It was almost like we were playing scared. We did not attack their defense.

"IF ANYTHING, its disappointing because we've played so well on the road and we come home and are not ready to play."

Four Salem players hit for six points each — John Cohen, David Houle, Scott Bublin and Mike McBride.

The Rocks will host Belleville Tuesday in a Suburban Eight League game.

Chief gymnasts win easily

Laurie Beale and Laura Michalik, both juniors, each won two events Wednesday to lift Plymouth Canton to a 90.15-71.25 girls' gymnastics victory over Wayne Memorial.

The Chiefs were on the verge of setting a team score record going into the final event, the floor exercise. The Canton girls, however, fell short.

"We're operating much more like a team," said Canton coach John Cunningham, whose squad is now 4-2 overall in dual meets. "The kids are coming along well.

"We must improve our (uneven parallel) bar scores."

Beale captured first in the balance beam with a score of 7.8. She also won the floor exercise (7.45) and finished second in vault (8.15). She took third in uneven bars (7.6).

Michalik set a school record in the uneven bars with a score of 8.3 from the judges. She won the vault (8.15) and finished second in balance beam (7.5) and floor exercise (7.2).

Linda Beale, a freshman, gained second in uneven bars (7.8). She was third in both vault and balance beam with identical scores of 7.15.

Wayne Memorial was hurt by the absence of its top gymnast, Natalie Kozorosky, who missed the meet to attend a local beauty pageant.

Amy Albaugh picked up valuable points for Canton with a pair of sixth place finishes in balance beam (5.5) and uneven bars (5.5). She also grabbed seventh spot in floor exercise (5.6).

OTHER Canton gymnasts who placed included Lisa Lovich, floor exercise, sixth, 5.65, and balance beam, eighth, 3.85; Dana Wasiak, vault, seventh, 5.8, and uneven bars, 3.5; Ruthann Trout, vault, sixth, 6.05; Lisa McIntosh, floor exercise, 5.2.

Canton will travel Thursday to Ann Arbor Pioneer.

"If we have an average meet there," said Cunningham, "we'll lose.

"We need to have a good meet and good judging to win."

Brad Emons

New league name original?

The sports world took a back seat to the events of Tuesday, Jan. 20 — the day of Ronald Reagan's inauguration and the hostages' freedom flight from Iran.

While the 52 Americans were leaving Iranian air space, an historic local sports event also was taking place at the Farmington Board of Education offices.

Eighteen executive types assembled to officially form a new prep sports league. The idea was fomulated sometime last year. Nobody seems to know exactly when, because it was a well-kept secret.

If you don't know by now, certain members of the Inter-Lakes League jumped ship; that left Livonia Stevenson, Walled Lake Central and Farmington as remaining members.

This proved to be a catalyst for Plymouth Salem and Livonia Bentley — longtime members of the Suburban Eight League — to start looking elsewhere. It was discovered shortly after that Waterford Mott was dropping out of the Western Six League.

Stevenson principal Dale Coller then sent a letter to Salem principal Bill Brown, stating that the two schools ought to get together and join the same league.

Well, it officially happened shortly after 1:15 p.m., the same day our country was turning head over heels.

Coller, the Inter-Lakes League president, called the meeting to order. Mr. Potter of Farmington presented a recommendation from the Conference Name Subcommittee. He recommended that the name for the new league be WESTERN LAKES ACTIVITIES ASSOCIATION, composed of two five-team divisions: Western and Lakes.

How original!

Dr. Aune of Northville moved to accept the sub-committee recommendation. It was seconded by Plymouth-Canton Schools Athletic Director John Sandmann. It was approved unanimously, without even a discussion.

The Western Division will be comprised of present Western Six League members Livonia Churchill, Plymouth Canton, Northville, Farmington Harrison and Walled Lake Western.

Bentley, Salem, Stevenson, Farmington and Walled Lake Central will comprise the Lakes Division.

This will all happen starting with the 1982-83 school year. I can't wait to begin covering the WLAA.

My first story might read like this:

Walled Lake Central, a member of the Lakes Division, tied Western Division member Northville, 2-2, in a Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) soccer match played Wednesday afternoon.

Inter-league play and WLAA playoff formats will be discussed at the next meeting Feb. 10 at the Farmington Elks. The league by-laws will be passed and routine preparations made.

Scheduling should be much easier and travel will be cut down. It's still a long way, though, to go from Canton to Walled Lake Central. But it's not as far as the old Salem-Trenton route.

It'll be sad to see the Suburban Eight, formerly the Suburban Six, terminated. It had a nice ring to the ear. It was an institution.

I guess everybody will have to get used to the Western Lakes Activities Association. It's a highly simplistic name which tried to incorporate parts of the Inter-Lakes and Western Six leagues.

Members of the debate team should understand.

Churchill pulls 2nd upset

Zone defense hampers Chiefs

Livonia Churchill pulled off its second consecutive Western Six League basketball upset Friday night with a 49-43 win over Plymouth Canton.

Churchill, who stunned league leader Northville last Friday, avenged an earlier home court loss to the Chiefs.

Northville, who downed Farmington Harrison, sits alone in first place with a 5-1 mark. Churchill and Harrison are deadlocked in second place at 4-2. Canton slipped to 3-3 and 7-6 overall.

The Chargers choked Canton with an effective zone defense.

Sean Houle, Canton's 6-foot-5 center, led all scorers with 22 points. Steve Tuttle added 10.

Churchill's attack was more balanced. Chris Harvath, a forward, powered in 14 points for the winners. Ron Reed and Kelsey Thayer chipped in with 13 and 12, respectively.

"Churchill used a tight zone and we were able to get only one shot at the basket," explained Canton coach Craig Bell.

"We let them get the momentum early," he said. "The zone really caused us a lot of problems."

Churchill coach Don Albertson was nearly estatic after the win.

"We played exceptional, exceptional defense," he said. "Our plan was to let Sean and (Dave) Malek shoot from the outside with a hand in their face and shut off everything else inside.

"And that's exactly what happened."

Albertson saluted Harvath as being "responsible pretty much for shutting off the inside for us."

CHURCHILL bolted out to a 16-8 first quarter advantage, but Canton closed the gap to one point at intermission.

The Chargers outscored Canton, 13-9 in the decisive fourth quarter.

"We let them get the momentum early," said Bell. It's disappointing to lose because our destiny was in our own hands.

"We need a miracle now to win the league."

"I think the critical thing is that we made only two turnovers in the second half. I was pleased with that because we had 13 in the second quarter alone."

Canton won the junior varsity game, 52-49, in overtime.

CHURCHILL 49--CANTON 43

CHURCHILL (49): Rich Baron 1, 0-0, 2; Kelsey Thayer 6, 0-1, 12; Scott Conrad 2, 2-2, 6; Ron Reed 5, 3-5, 13; Chris Harvath 6, 2-2, 14; John Bielis 0, 2-2, 2. Totals: 20, 9-12, 49.

CANTON (43): Tommie Harris 1, 0-0, 2; Dave Malek 3, 1-1, 7; Steve Tuttle 3, 4-5, 10; Sean Houle 11, 0-0, 22; Matt Thomas 1, 0-0, 2; Billy Childs 0, 0-1, 0. Totals: 19, 5-7, 43.

Total fouls: CHURCHILL 7, CANTON 11.

Salem swim team routs Edsel

Plymouth Salem's swim team continued to roll Thursday, scoring a 100-71 win over Dearborn Edsel Ford in a Suburban Eight League dual meet.

Junior Russ Shaffer paced the Rocks, now 7-1-1 overall, by winning the 200-yardindividual medley (2:08.64) and 100 backstroke (1:01.27).

Other Salem winners included Joe Rudelic, diving, 250.80 points; Jeff Kleinsmith, 100 butterfly, 58.13; and Doug Kleinsmith, 100 freestyle, 51.66.

The Rocks also won the 400 freestyle relay with a time of 3:30.07. That team consisted of Scott Stinebaugh, John Thompson, Jeff and Doug Kleinsmith. Teammates Scott Anderson, Duncan Moshimer and Pat McMann gained third with a clocking of 3:53.0.

Salem settled for second place in the 200 medley relay (Bruce Harwood, Gary Workman, Tim Harwood and Paul Perkowski) with a time of 1:48.31.

Individual second-place finishers for Salem included Jeff Kleinsmith, 200 freestyle, 1:55.60; Tim Harwood, 200 IM, 2:10.44, and 100 butterfly, 59.44; Perkowski, 50 freestyle, 23.70, and 100 freestyle, 52.91; Bruce Harwood, 100 backstroke, 1:02.5; Ashley Long, 100 breaststroke, 1:05.65.

The Rocks also had three third-place finishers: Doug Kleinsmith, 50 freestyle, 23.95; Bruce Harwood, 100 butterfly, 1:01.81; and Todd Riedel, diving, 186.80.

Paul Neschich, Long, Shaffer and Stinebaugh took third in 200 medley relay with a clocking of 1:50.07.

Coach Chuck Olson's team will travel Thursday to Livonia Bentley for another league meet.

Veteran pros keep rolling along

When it comes to high scoring and outstanding performances, you can't count the old-timers out. This has been proven in the last few months when the likes of Ed Lubanski and Billy Golembiewski have more than held their own in the top flight classics in the western suburban area.

Now comes Bob Hitt, one-time standout of the all-star leagues and known as the "Livonia Milk Man," to prove that there is life in the old-timers yet.

Bowling in the Wonderland Classic last Tuesday evening, he put together games of 227, 257 and 244 for a 708 series and a renewed membership in the 700 club.

He had to be content with fourth place, as Dave Kaleszewski showed the way with 757 made possible by a 269 opener. Next to him came Jim Shelp with a closing 256 in 737, Joe Charron with 723, and then Hitt to round out the top four.

On the women's side, Louise Hirsch rolled an unusual 622. She started with 191, followed with 183 and then closed with 248.

THE LADIES MAJOR, one of the strongest women's leagues in the country, will be bowling at Cherry Hill lanes next season. After spending two seasons at Beech Lanes, the girls decided a switch to another house might be beneficial.

THE LADIES classic at Westland Bowl is producing some top flight bowling. This week Marilyn Bourgoin moved to the head of the parade with a 608 that included a 213 middle game.

She had strong competition from Toni Smith, who fashioned a 597 with games of 208 and 202, along with Marilyn Bogenschutz, who had had a 224 in 592.

In the men's morning league, Dan Wilson closed with 244 for 641 and Dave Rago likewise had a 244 but had to settle for 624.

COMPETITION REACHED a high peak in the Vinco League at Garden Lanes. When the final pin fell, Tom Litodar was at the head of the parade with a 657. Ray Bankowski was right behind with 643 and Norm Zierinski landed third with 617.

In the Ladies Junior House League, Sandy Berrington survived a real duel with Kay Jacobs to land on top with 605, five pins more than her rival. Nancy Crumley landed in third place with 589 and right behind her came Steffi Daniels with 585 and Pat Schmidt with 580.

STEVE BLASGEGAK had one of the best nights of his bowling career in the Ford LTD League at Woodland Lanes when he rolled games of 259 and 215 in a 655 series that was 127 pins over his average. Bill Smith, a few lanes away, went 101 pins over when he inserted a 267 in a 641 series.

THE JUNIORS are having a great time at Mayflower Lanes and turning in some good scores. In the Saturday morning majors, Marty Rush posted a 602 and Mark Rush had a high game of 258, while Cary Allen toppled the pins for a 242. For the girls, Susan Bacigal was tops with an unusual series of 134, 135 and 136.

SCORES TOOK a big dip at Plaza Lanes and Dave Kauppi needed only a 597 to pace the Business and Industrial league.

It was much the same at Super Bowl, where the girls reported only their high single games. Dianne Clifford had a 222 to pace the sunflower girls, while Joan Nichols topped 200 by nine pins. In the Lucky Ladies League, Alice Eves had a 235 and Jean Simons a 230.

Salem wrestlers pummel T-Birds

Plymouth Salem raised its overall dual meet wrestling mark to 9-3 with a 46-9 win over Dearborn Edsel Ford.

The Rocks are 3-2 in league duals and will wrap up the regular season Thursday at Livonia Bentley in a Suburban Eight League meet.

Coach Ron Krueger's squad was impressive in its final home match. The Rocks won 11 of 13 matches as two were pins.

Salem heavyweight Marty Piper raised his pin total to 22, taking just 22 seconds to down his opponent. Teammate Jeff Vojcek (98 pounds) also won on a pin.

Salem wrestlers winning matches by decision included Dave Lucas (112), John Beaudoin (132), Randy Beaudoin (138), Bruce Bachman (145), Rob Price (155), Steve Szilagyi (167), Adam Golchuck (185) and Scott Wickens (198).

Leist won his match by void while John Beaudoin squeeked by on a two-point decision.

Szilagyi's win raised his season mark to 27-4.

Krueger singled out the performance of Wickens: "He did a real nice job. It was a good win for him."

In other matches, Edsel's Rami Fakhoury (132) pinned Salem's Rob McDonald. Wally Clem (105) just nipped Salem sophomore Mike Dominian, 9-7.

The Rocks will compete in the Suburban Eight League meet Saturday at Edsel Ford. The meet gets underway at noon.

Evans golfers picked

Five area students are among the 30 Michigan residents recently honored by the Chick Evans college scholarship program.

The scholarships are awarded annually by the Western Golf Association to outstanding caddies. The program was founded in 1930 by famed amateur golfer Charles "Chick" Evans.

Each scholarship includes full tuition at participating universities and on-campus housing in an Evans Chapter House.

Female recipients are housed in on-campus dormitories.

There are presently more than 900 Evans Scholars attending college. More than 200 new award winners will be announced this winter.

Evans scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis considering caddie record, academic standing in high school, and financial need.

Brian Houseman, 17, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Houseman of Redford and a student at Redford Thurston, will attend the University of Michigan on an Evans Scholarship. Houseman caddied at Western Golf and Country Club. Thomas Leonard, 17, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leonard of Redford and a student at Detroit Catholic Central, will also attend the University of Michigan. Leonard also caddied at Western.

Three of the five local Evans Scholars will attend Michigan State University. Lawrence Carzon, 18, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carzon of Livonia, caddied at Western. Carzon attends Detroit Catholic Central.

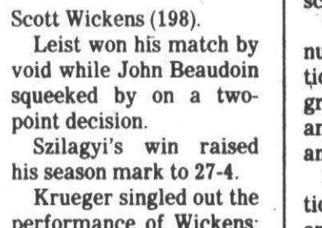

Timothy Colosimo, 17, caddied at Detroit Golf Club. Colosimo, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Colosimo of Detroit, is a senior at Detroit Catholic Central.

Janis McGlone, 17, is the daughter of Mrs. Patricia McGlone of Plymouth. A senior at Plymouth Canton, McGlone caddied at Western.

Plymouth Christian blasts Zion cagers

Racing out to a 29-14 halftime advantage, Plymouth Christian cruised the rest of the way to post a 53-30 victory over Detroit Zion Temple.

The Eagles are now 8-3 overall.

Mike Routledge and Jim Koss, a pair of sophomores, each scored 10 points for the winners. Junior forward Keith Mavin came off the bench to grab 12 rebounds.

All 12 Plymouth Christian players saw action with 11 scoring.

"It was our best defensive effort of the season," said Christian coach Butch DeRenzo. "We usually play man-to-man, but tonight we tried a zone and it worked really well."

The Eagles will return to action at 7:30 p.m. Friday to face Bethesda at Pioneer Middle School.

Salem spikers fall

Trenton snapped Plymouth Salem's three-game winning streak with a 16-14, 15-8 Suburban Eight League volleyball triumph Wednesday.

The loss dropped Salem to 3-2 in league play.

"We had three easy matches and then we had to meet Trenton, which had two tough matches coming in," said Salem coach Cathy Himes, "so they were really fired up for winning.

Long rallies dominated the match.

"It just seemed so slow," said Himes. "We got caught on setting quite a bit.

"With the bad calls on sets and our serves going into the net, there's no way you can do that and beat a team like Trenton.

"Unfortunately, our serving wasn't up to par and theirs was.

"The only bright spot was that we never really quit playing. Everyone seemed to have an off night. We did not play up to par at all."

Farris named WSU coach

By BRAD EMONS

Wayne State University has tapped Troy's Dave Farris as the school's new football coach.

The 32-year-old Farris replaces Steve Fickert, who resigned recently to take the head coaching job at Western New Mexico University.

"I'm real happy about it," said Farris, who served as WSU's defensive coordinator last fall. "I'm pleased they had enough confidence in me."

Fickert led the Tartars to a 5-4 record in his first and only season.

His successor is a graduate of Waterford Township High School who later starred at Central Michigan University where he was an all-Mid American Conference choice. Following graduation he was selected in the 15th round by the Buffalo Bills and played during the exhibition season before being released.

He coached at Clio and Muskegon high schools from 1971-76. Farris then spent two years at Central Michigan University coaching the offensive and defensive lines.

After his stint at CMU, Farris became the defensive coordinator at Hillsdale College before moving on to WSU last year.

"I've been in the Great Lakes Conference for three years as a defensive coordinator and I think I know the league pretty well," Farris said.

The new Tartar coach said his recruiting efforts will be focused within a 25-mile radius of Detroit.

"We will not go outstate to sign players," he said. "There are plenty of guys who can play NCAA Division II football in the inner city and around Detroit.

"There are 4-5 five million people living in this area. There are plenty of football players out there."

FARRIS WAS also quick to dispel any rumors that the school's administration was planning to de-emphasize Wayne's football program. Recent budget cuts, estimated at eight percent across the board, put a financial strain on some athletic programs.

"There's a lot of innuendo going around as far as Wayne State's concerned," said Farris. "I view my hiring as a stability point, not a final act.

"We can live with the cuts, but we're going to have to tighten our belts.

"I feel good about the opportunity they've given me."

Farris was given a one-year contract. Farris, however, said that is standard procedure with all employees at Wayne.

Farris said that scholarship funds available to prospective athletes have not been trimmed.

"We have plenty of equipment and a nice stadium," he said, "and we're interested right now in several players from Oakland and Wayne County."

The new coach will emphasize defense but is quick to point out that he likes to put points on the board, too.

"We'll run a power offense," he said.

Tigers select Adray players

By BRAD EMONS

'He wants to play so bad he'd sign for a broken bat and a bag of balls.'
— Livonia Adray coach Ron Hellier

Jim Ross' wish came true.

The 20-year-old Livonian did not hesitate at the opportunity to become a professional baseball player when the Detroit Tigers drafted the right-handed pitcher in the sixth round of the recent major league winter draft.

He was the 148th player chosen out of more than 400. Westland's Herb McManaway, 19, a Livonia Franklin graduate now attending St. Clair Community College, was selected by the Tigers in the seventh round. The outfielder-first baseman reportedly will remain in school and not sign.

"I'd sign for anything," said Ross. "I'm really looking forward to going down there."

Ross, who played his prep ball at Livonia Bentley, will report to spring training Feb. 28 at Lakeland.

Last summer, Ross enjoyed a banner season, leading Livonia Adray into the AAABA regional tournament at Ford Field where he was a teammate of McManaway's. He also pitched an inning at Tiger Stadium in the Adray League All-Star game.

"It's more like a tryout," said Ross, who signed Jan. 15 for undisclosed terms. "I have to work real hard. If I do really bad, they're gonna send me home."

ROSS IS A version of Charles Atlas on the mound. He stands 6-feet-1 and weighs 190 pounds.

"The Tigers had me doing exercises to loosen up my upper body," said Ross. "I've been running three miles a day and have played some basketball.

"I've been lifting weights since the 10th grade."

Ross played football at Bentley and has been an outfielder in the past although he's been pitching on and off since his prep days.

He attended Michigan State and made the varsity, but later dropped out of school. Last fall he attended Henry Ford Community College.

"Jim came into his own last summer," said Tiger scouting supervisor Bill Schudlich. "We've been watching him for three years. He has a good arm. In the fall we worked with him to get some of the looseness out.

"He has the strength in the arm you're looking for. He's very coachable and has a good attitude."

Schudlich said Ross' throws have been clocked on the radar gun in the "mid-to-high 80s (mph)."

Ross is a power pitcher.

"I have a good chance to be a relief pitcher," he said. "I'm going to have to work on keeping the ball low, not just blowing it by."

ROSS CAN swing a bat, also. He was among the Livonia Adray League leaders in hitting. But he knows his sole job now is to pitch.

The Livonia standout will be assigned most likely to one of the Tigers' minor league affliates. It could be Bristol, Va. (rookie), Macon (Class A) or Lakeland (Class A).

"The winter draft gives a spotlight on kids who develop the previous summer," explained Tiger superscout Ed Katalinas. "It gives that vastly improved player over the summer a chance.

Hiding in this puzzle are twelve words about Valentine's Day. They read across, up and down, on a diagonal — even backwards! How many can you find?

In Akira Kurosawa's drama of feudal conflict in 16th century Japan, Tatsuya Nakadai stars as a petty thief who impersonates a powerful warlord.

Stunning images arrest the eye in 'Kagemusha'

"Kagemusha" (PG), directed by Akira Kurosawa, is one of the most impressively beautiful motion pictures ever made.

There are times, especially at the beginning before the viewer is drawn into the story, when the images are so arresting that the significance of an event is overpowered by its appearance, a quality reinforced by the viewer's dependence on English subtitles for the Japanese dialogue.

In any language, this movie is a visual feast of colors, lines and shapes combined in dynamic arrangements. One setting may demand attention by its skillful simplicity, as when an elaborately clothed figure is seated on a mat in a nearly empty room against the background of a shoji screen.

In other scenes, human figures are seen as flat silhouettes against a sky of psychedelic colors.

The story possesses this same sense of dramatic contrast and rhythmic variety. It swings from the personal to the historical, and from individual action to the pageantry of armies on the march.

As a historical chronicle, "Kagemusha" (translated as the shadow warrior) depicts the struggle for power among rival clans in feudal, 16th century Japan.

As a drama, it tells the story of a common thief who is saved from execution by his resemblance to the powerful head of the Takeda clan. When the warlord dies, the thief is called upon to take his place and serve as an imposter for three years. During that time, we see his emotional suffering at the loss of his own identity.

As a contemporary interpretation of the past, the movie presents the samurai in a less heroic light than seen in the director's earlier films. In "Seven Samurai," for example, the warrior who preserves and upholds traditional principles is important as an individual.

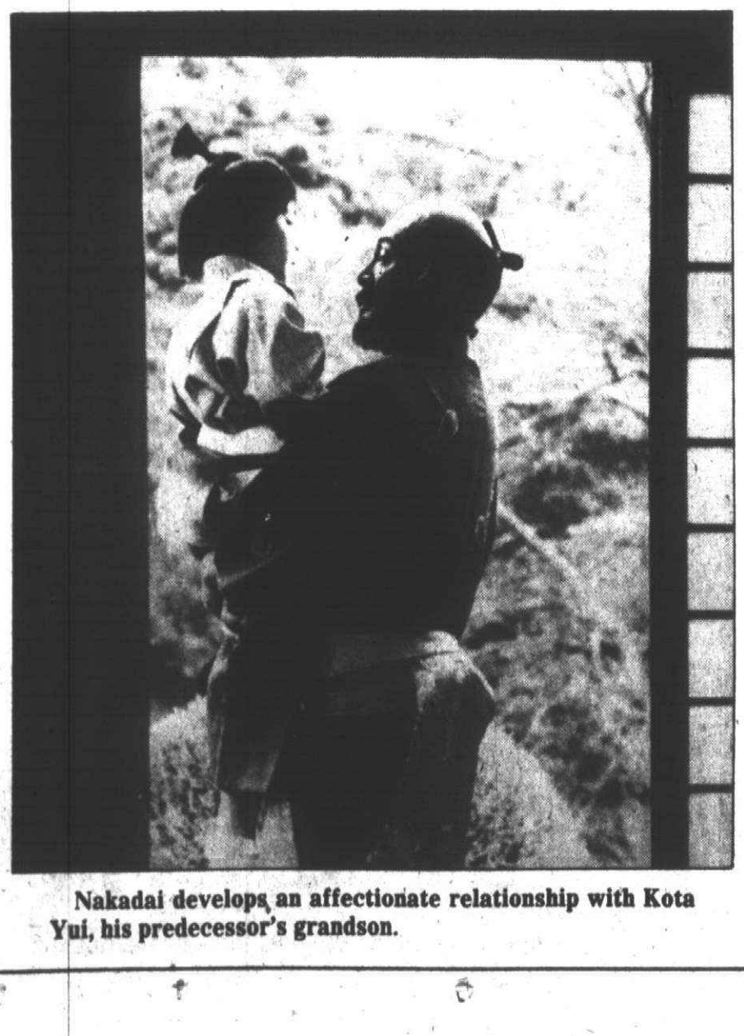

In "Kagemusha," the individuality is lost, and he is one of thousands of soldiers serving one or another warlord. There is nothing to suggest that the country will be ruled better whichever one wins or loses.

Although Kurosawa does not dwell on social issues, the movie is filled with ironies, not the least of which is that the greatest warlord is impersonated by a common criminal.

In one succinct exchange between the two men, the thief admits his wrongdoings but charges the warlord with killing thousands, and the thief asks who is the greater sinner.

Tatsuya Nakadai, who plays the warlord and his double, does a masterful job. He has very little dialogue in this three-hour movie. Yet, with expressions, gestures, body movement he conveys the feelings of the angry thief, the dignified lord, the tormented imposter and even the happy (surrogate) grandfather playing with his grandson.

In the spectacular ending, Kurosawa brings all the elements together as the feudal armies clash in a decisive battle. The camera makes a final panoramic sweep of the battlefield and captures the individual anecdote and the historical record.

Nakadai develops an affectionate relationship with Kota Yui, his predecessor's grandson.

NEW RELEASES

A CHANGE OF SEASONS. (R). Superfluous film about "changing values in adult relationships," but nothing about this is very adult.

THE ELEPHANT MAN (PG). Largely true story of grossly deformed man rescued from sordid life by compassionate doctor. Fine acting by John Hurt, Anthony Hopkins and John Gielgud balances out directorial shortcomings.

FIRST FAMILY (R). Bob Newhart, Madeline Kahn and Gilda Radner in offbeat satire about White House residents and politics in general. Strong cast of character actors in comic roles.

THE JAZZ SINGER (PG). Ridiculous remake magnifies all the faults of the first talking motion picture made in 1927. The story doesn't get any better. The songs get worse.

KAGEMUSHA (The Shadow Warrior) (PG). Director Akira Kurosawa's spectacular epic of the struggle for power among rival clans in 16th century Japan told through the story of a thief who takes the places of a dying warlord he resembles.

NINE TO FIVE (PG). Comedy with Jane Fonda, Lily Tomlin and Dolly Parton as three secretaries who scheme to get rid of their boss.

ORDINARY PEOPLE (R). Robert Redford's directorial debut is a smash in this extraordinarily well-acted, moving film about a "perfect" family trying to cope with a son's mental illness.

POPEYE (PG). It will take more than spinach to save this "Popeye" from defeat brought on by slack direction, a highly forgettable musical score, and a generally mean conception of characters and situation.

RAGING BULL (R). Top performance by Robert De Niro in brutally realistic film about boxer Jake La Motta. Two-plus hours highlighing the life of a loathsome person.

SEEMS LIKE OLD TIMES (PG). Goldie Hawn, Charles Grodin and Chevy Chase in comedy about a lawyer, her ex-husband who robs a bank, and her current husband, the district attorney.

STIR CRAZY (R). Comedy with Richard Pryor and Gene Wilder as a couple of stranded show biz types who get framed for a bank robbery.

'Beatlemania' opening at Detroit's Music Hall

"Beatlemania," the multi-media stage show from Broadway, will open a two-week run Wednesday through Feb. 15 at the Music Hall Center in Detroit.

The performance schedule is 8 p.m. Wednesday-Thursday and Feb. 10-12, 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday and Feb. 13-14 and 3 and 7 p.m. Sunday and Feb. 15. Tickets are available at all CTC Outlets and the Music Hall Box Office. Call the box office at 963-7680 to charge by phone; call 963-7622 or 862-6851 for group orders.

"Beatlemania," opened on Broadway at the Winter Garden Theater in 1977 and has been seen by millions of Beatles fans throughout North America. More than 2,000 actors and musicians auditioned for the roles. Voice quality, resemblance and musicianship are designed to recreate the experience of seeing John, Paul, George and Ringo.

"Beatlemania" offers a visual presentation of slides, film and special effects, depicting the '60s beginning at the Peppermint Lounge with Chubby Checker through the Kennedy assassination, hot pants, Viet Nam and flower power.

THE STORY is told with the songs of Lennon and McCartney. "Beatlemania" contains 33 Beatles tunes performed live with the band on stage, and off stage concert musicians with a conductor.

Cupid's first Choice!

DO SOMETHING DIFFERENT!

The price of gold too high for that Valentine locket? Candy's out because she's on a diet? You want to give Mom something neat? Or your teacher? Or the current guy in your life?

Tell them how you feel about them in three lines or more in the Classified section of your hometown newspaper. You won't be telling the whole world, but you'll be telling more than 150,000 people, because that's how many readers we have (which is a good thing to keep in mind when you have some'' .ing to sell).

We want to publish your Valentine.
In fact, we'd LOVE to.
