Board considers separate school for gifted pupils

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

A request from a parents' group to turn Tanger Elementary into a center for gifted students has been turned over to the administration for study and recommendation.

The request came before the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education last week from three spokespersons representing the Plymouth-Canton Association for the Academically Talented (PCAAT).

The group asked the board to designate five classrooms at Tanger for use by about 150 students districtwide in grades 4-6 who have been identified as being gifted.

The parents' group argued the magnet center for the gifted could be located at Tanger without any incremental cost to the school district.

Although some trustees felt there would be added cost, the board agreed to authorize administration to make a serious study of the proposal to see if it were feasible.

The board also asked the administration to consider moving district's preschool programs (ISEP and PLUS) into Tanger plus other special education uses so there would be no general classrooms remaining.

Top administrators, however, suggested there was no way ISEP, PLUS and a gifted magnet center could be located in Tanger, because the district already is having a serious problem finding classroom space for special education programs.

THE PCAAT has circulated a survey throughout the district to parents of gifted children and have identified about 270 children who would be willing to attend a school for gifted students in grades K-6.

Because a K-6 program would not be feasible, and because the population bulge now is in grades 4-6, the leaders of PCAAT asked the board to find five classrooms for 150 students in those three grades.

Four years ago, the school district initiated a pilot program for Talented and Gifted (TAG) students, and now PCAAT is asking that the magnent center for grades 4-6 also be done on a pilot basis.

Dean Swartzwelter, a member of the TAG advisory committee, said there would be no incremental cost for the center because the 150 students are now in the district and can either be seated where they now attend or be seated in a school for the gifted.

By maintaining a 30-1 ratio, the center could operate with five teachers who already are in the district and there wouldn't be any added busing cost, he argued, because the board now is busing students from all over the district to Tanger.

By busing gifted students to Tanger, Swartzwelter argued, the district would be able to relocate students now assigned to Tanger to schools closer to their neighborhoods.

MICHAEL HOMES, assistant superintendent for instruction, said if Tanger were used for a gifted magnet center, then up to 200 students would have to be transferred from Tanger to Farrand and maybe to Allen.

Such moves would have rippling effects, Homes cautioned, which would become very involved. One immediate requirement, said Homes, would be to move two classes for the emotionally impaired now housed at Tanger to another spot in the district.

If 150 students were transferred from Tanger to Farrand, said Homes, that would force the move of ISEP and one self-contained room for learning disabled students to another spot.

If all preschool programs were placed under the same roof (i.e. Tanger), Homes added, then the board

Cable firm keeps eye on Omnicom contract

By Darlene Stinson
editor

An Atlanta-based cable televison company may pursue a bid for a franchise in Canton despite construction work begun by Omnicom April 1.

Abraham Singer, an attorney for MetroVision, said company officials may draft a proposal for a Canton franchise after speaking individually with some members of the Township Board.

"The question, really, is are there enough people on the board who are interested in hearing from us," said Singer. "We are very interested in Canton. But it's not our thought to butt our heads against a stone wall."

Last month, MetroVision President Henry Harris appeared before board members to charge Omnicom with alleged lack of progress in its construction work. Harris said his firm continues to have an interest in a Canton franchise and is willing to submit an official proposal.

At the time, board members authorized an investigation of Omnicom to determine if MetroVision's charge was valid. That "investigation" consisted of a report to the board by Omnicom President Peter Newell earlier this month.

Newell promised board members that Omnicom's Canton system will be built entirely by the end of 1981. The cable system will be activited for some homes by July 1.

SINGER SAID this week, however, that Omnicom's promises will not discourage MetroVision from seeking a franchise in Canton.

He maintains that the Atlanta-based cable firm could wire some areas of Canton ahead of Omnicom — a belief Newell scoffs off.

"We were never looking for the board to rescind the Omnicom franchise," said Singer. "We said from the beginning that we would take a second franchise and take our chances.

"I perceive, however, that a lot of board members have trouble with the concept of having two cable companies."

Opposition has come from Trustee Stephen Larson, in particular. He maintains that awarding franchises to two companies would slice profit margins for both and weaken the quality of cable services in Canton.

But if other board members appear willing to hear a franchise proposal from MetroVistion.

"I would like to see MetroVision come in and say what they could do," said Trustee Carol Bodenmiller. "I think the argument (that awarding two franchises) hasn't been done anywhere else hasn't much validity.

"I definitely would consider it, and I probably would vote for MetroVision."

The second-term trustee said she "always has had problems with Omnicom."

At a board meeting earlier this month, Mrs. Bodenmiller blasted the cable company for establishing an office in Plymouth. Omnicom's contract with Canton calls for a "local" office.

"To me, 'local' means in the community. To me, 'community' does not mean Plymouth."

SUPERVISOR JAMES Poole said Newell's report to the board "reinforces some people's thoughts that Omnicom has been doing what it could."

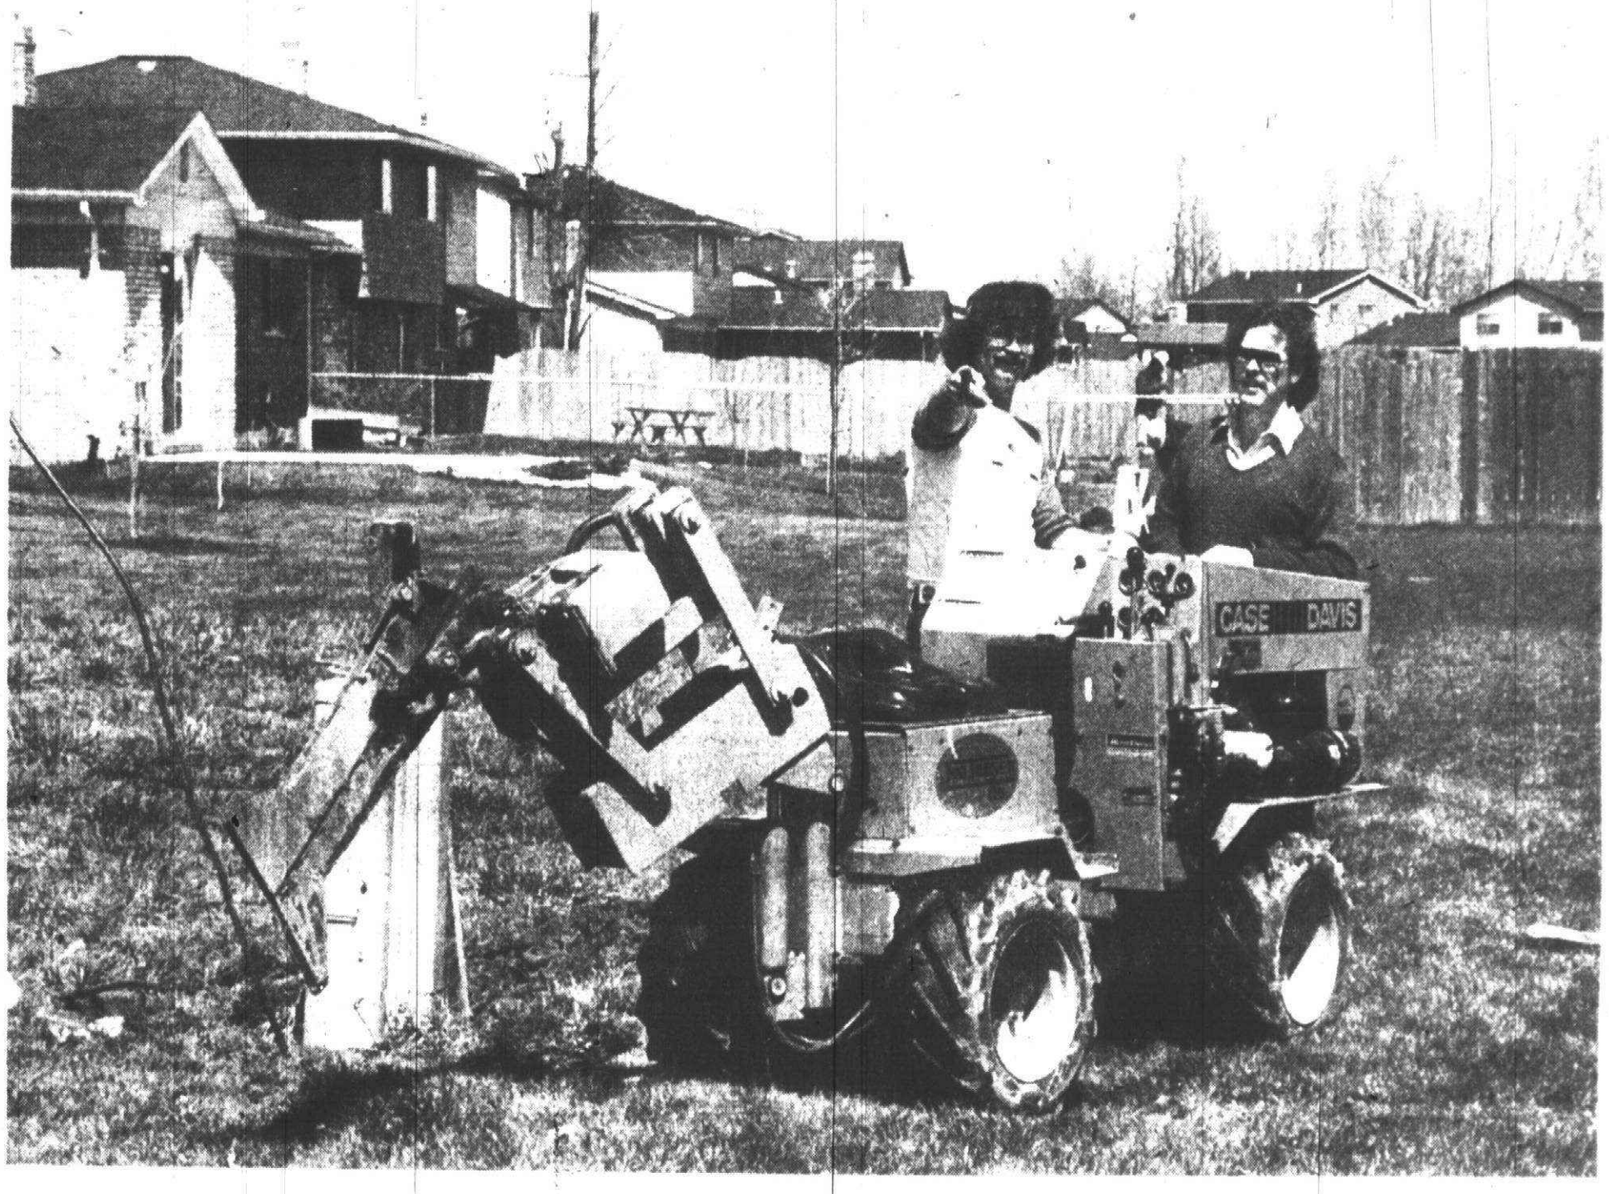

Newell maintains that the preliminary work which must precede cable construction is a time-consuming task. The Township Board awarded the cable franchise to Omnicom in February 1980 following the firm's selection by both the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Omnicom and MetroVision were among four firms which applied for a Canton franchise in 1979.

Poole says, however, that MetroVision's recent request for consideration "is not a dead issue. This (Omnicom's contract) is not an exclusive franchise."

Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz says the Township Board would be legally obligated to hear a MetroVision proposal because of the non-exclusive nature of Omnicom's contract.

Danny Copeland of Turner Co. and Pat Cavanagh of Omnicom sit on a trenching machine in Willow Trail subdivision. Several areas of Canton will have the opportunity to tune into cable TV by mid-summer.

Omnicom starts building phase

Hundreds of Canton residents will have the opportunity to flick on cable TV by mid-summer.

That's the prediction of Omnicom officials, who began laying cable lines in Canton on April 1. The township's entire system should be completed by the end of this year, according to company president Peter Newell.

Construction already is under way in Pickwick, Willow Trails and Carriage Hills Subdivision Number 6, according to Pat Cavanagh, Omnicom's subdivision coordinator.

Those residential areas are included in phase one, which encompasses the entire area between Warren, Ford, Haggerty and Canton Center.

Plans call for the second construction phase in the area bounded by Warren, Joy, Haggerty and Canton Center. Cavanagh said construction of the system in Sunflower subdivision, west of Canton Center, will closely follow work in phase two areas.

Scheduled next is construction work south of Ford Road. According to Cavanagh, however, a specific order of work for subdivisions in that area has not yet been determined.

Omnicom officials classify construction work in three "passes."

During the first "pass," workers insert cable lines in the ground. Cable lines are connected to pedestals containing electronic equipment during the second "pass." The pedestals, measuring approximately 18 inches high and six inches square, will be placed in about every two backyards, according to Newell.

During the third "pass," salespersons will visit Canton homes to seek subscribers. Hook-up to the cable system is free during that period.

Cavanagh said work will progress simultaneously in various areas of the township. For example, initial construction work may begin in the northernmost areas of Canton at the same time as "pass two" work in the area south of Warren.

At present, only a handful of homes in Holiday Park subdivision in the extreme northeastern corner of Canton are hooked to the cable system. Those homes were connected to the system last fall as workers constructed a main line from Omnicom's receiving station in Westland to Plymouth.

Funding cuts deepen budget troubles of schools

Faced with a loss of almost $2 million in state funds, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is looking at a budget for 1981-82 with some $3.5 million excess expenditures.

To bring the budget into balance, the school board must find added revenue, implement a number of cuts, or dip into fund equity.

All three steps likely will be taken before the final budget is approved July 1.

THE FIRST DRAFT of an operating budget for the coming fiscal year was approved last week by the school board when it adopted the county allocation budget.

The county allocation budget will be submitted to the Wayne County Intermediate School District to justify Plymouth-Canton's normal allocation of 8.9 mills from the county.

The allocation budget also serves as a first-draft budget document for the local district, based on available information now.

That information shows income will increase by some $2 million or 5.5 percent with costs rising by almost $5 million or by 12.3 percent.

Total state revenue is expected to decline by $1.8 million or by almost 30 percent and county revenues are expected to be completely eliminated for the '81-82 school year.

The loss of state and county revenues offsets an increase in income from local property taxes. That increase is almost $4 million or 12.8 percent more than the current year.

The increase in local revenue is caused by the tax base increase by $139 million or a 16.7 percent increase in state equalized valuation (SEV).

SOME OF THE highlights in the '81-82 operating budget, as detailed by Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, include:

- An increase of $4.8 million for employee wages and benefits, of which almost $3.8 million is generated by negotiated wages and benefits of current employees. Labor costs represent 81 percent of the operating budget.
- No additional funds have been budgeted for additional teachers to handle the increase expected in student enrollment. (Last year $350,000 was budgeted for added faculty to maintain student/teacher ratios.)
- Opening of Lowell Middle School will cost an added $416,000, grade realignment will cost an $285,000, and air conditioning to add Extended School Year (ESY) at Bird and Fiegel will cost $300,000.
- Bus replacement has been budgeted at only $100,000 compared to $328,500 in the current budget while

Council reaches out to area seniors

Canton's senior advisory council wants to get out the word on available services for older residents of the township.

The council has drawn up a set of by-laws, which were approved recently by the Township Board.

The stated goals of the group are to "promote the enrichment" of senior citizens, to advise township officials on programs and to publicize those services.

Named to fill vacancies on the council were Mary Woods and Ed Brickman of the Royal Senior Citizens club, and Pauline Migut of the Zesters club. Length of terms will be determined later, said Mike Gouin, director of Canton's parks and recreation program.

Gouin said the council was formed in 1977, but operated only in a limited capacity. Last year, the group obtained recognition from the Township Board.

"We're looking at ways we can provide services to more people — to reach out and touch more seniors," said Gouin, a non-voting member of the council.

"A lot of (seniors) aren't aware of what is available," he added. "We want to get feedback."

CURRENTLY, there are three senior citizen clubs with about 400 members aged 55 and older. Each club has three delegates to the council, which meets bimonthly.

Gouin said the seniors have identified, through voter rolls, about 1,500 senior residents of Canton who currently aren't taking part in club activities. He said the group hopes to make a mailing after it receives some census information this month.

Many services are available to senior citizens through either Canton Township, Wayne County or other sources.

These services include daily lunches at the recreation center at Michigan Avenue and Sheldon, telephone reassurance, health screening, legal aid and dial-a-ride through the Nankin Transit Commission.

A library at the Canton recreation center has large-print books, tapes and cassettes which seniors may check out. In addition, members of Canton's senior citizen clubs have established an emergency

Board brakes cops' plan to register bikes

Canton residents may continue to ride bicycles without registering with the police department.

Youth may continue selling used bicycles to dealers, as they have been able to do in the past.

The police department's push for a bicycle ordinance has run out of steam.

Chief Jerry Cox said registration of bicycles would reduce thefts and increase the return of stolen bikes. But the Township Board — apparently believing the proposal was unnecessary or difficult to enforce — failed to act on the chief's request.

A motion by Trustee Carol Bodenmiller calling for bike registration — failed to muster a second, and died for lack of support at a recent Township Board meeting.

THE PROPOSED amendment to the local traffic ordinance also would have prohibited bicycle dealers from buying used bikes from minors. Police Lt. Larry Stewart told the Observer that "several hundred" bikes are stolen each year.

"We recover maybe 100-150," said Stewart. Bicycles without identification usually end up being sold at the annual police auction, said Stewart.

As originally planned by Cox, police cadets would have been assigned to handle registration of bikes at a fee of $1. But that portion was removed from the motion.

Board members felt a fee should be adopted separately, rather than contained in the ordinance.

Also removed was a clause calling for children under 12 years of age to have written consent from parents in order to ride bikes on highways. Police records show that bicycle accidents increased 73 percent between 1977-79.

TRUSTEE Robert Padget said he liked the idea of registration, but he envisioned difficulties in getting the entire community to participate.

Padget also had problems with what he called the "letter from Momma" clause.

He questioned whether the township has the authority to control use of highways. He also doubted whether a "note from Momma" would make youth ride more carefully.

"A governing body sometimes falls into a trap by thinking it can solve a problem simply by passing an ordinance," said Padget.

"Safety must be trained into a person," added Padget. "Momma isn't going to know she had to even write a note. I think it's the kind of ordinance that won't accomplish anything."

Cox said he shared those feelings to some degree, but had hoped the program would give police a chance to discuss safety with youth and parents. The chief also said he favored bike safety clinics through the schools or other community groups.

roof repair is budgeted for the same amount compared to $360,000 now budgeted.

- Student enrollment is expected to increase by 230 to 300 students or from 17,170 to about 17,500.
- State aid is expected to drop from the level of $289 per pupil of this year to $180 or $195 per pupil.

TO BALANCE the budget, the administration is planning to use about $750,000 of the projected $1.3 million fund balance. This would require cutbacks or added income of up to $2.8 million.

As of June 30, 1980, the district had a fund balance of almost $2.2 million but had to use $830,000 to avoid a deficit budget this year, which will cause the balance to drop to about $1.3 million by June 30, 1981.

The board may ask voters to reverse the Headlee rollback by allowing the district to levy its authorized millage rate. If voters approve this request, as they did in 1980, it would generate an added $850,000 in income and the level of cuts needed would drop to about $2 million.

The administration also is considering seeking voter approval of one-third or one-half of a mill for a maintenance fund. This would remove about $500,000 worth of maintenance costs from the operating budget and lower the needed cuts to $1.5 million.

The board also is considering requests of an additional one or two mills, depending upon whether Proposal A is approved or not on May 19. If voters approve an additional one or two mills at the June 8 election, the amount needed to be cut could be reduced down to about $750,000.

ALTHOUGH THERE are a number of uncertainties, including outcomes of May 19 and June 8 elections, the administration has made a list of possible cuts which might have to be made to balance the budget by July 1.

Because the level of possible cuts range from $750,000 to $3.5 million, the administration has been giving layoff notices to a large number of administrators, teachers and other employees, but the expectation is that fewer will have to be laid off then now is planned.

The present list of cuts call for the following number of positions to be eliminated: 11.5 administrative; 40 general aides; 44 certified teachers; 14 clerical; 21 custodial; 40 special education, including 24 aides and six resource teachers.

For 1981-82, the teaching salary schedule will be, for those with bachelor degrees, minimum of $15,603.

Cancer is often curable.
The fear of cancer is often fatal.
If you're afraid of cancer . . . you're not alone. But some people are so afraid that they won't go to the doctor when they suspect something's wrong.
They're afraid the doctor might "find something." This kind of fear can prevent them from discovering cancer in the early stages when it is most often curable.
These people run the risk of letting cancer scare them to death.

A fight for rights

Canton woman speaks out for needs of handicapped

Second of two articles on physically handicapped Canton residents who are trying to improve opportunities for others.

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Margaret Chmielewski misses slow dancing, and she'd love to be able to go horseback riding.

About 18 years have passed since Mrs. Chmielewski's legs were paralyzed in an auto accident near Camp Dearborn in Milford.

But these days, the 34-year-old Canton resident is much too busy for regrets. She's a wife, mother of two children, psychology instructor and guidance counselor at Madonna College in Livonia.

She serves on many local and state task forces and makes speeches in behalf of handicapped persons.

Mrs. Chmielewski is a former Miss Wheelchair America. Recently, Madonna College nominated her for an "Outstanding Michigan Handicapped Person Award."

Several persons will be selected statewide for the award, which is tied in to the United Nation's designation of 1981 as International Year of Disabled Persons. The award is sponsored by the Michigan Department of Education and the Michigan Council for Exceptional Children.

"I DON'T think I was bitter," said Mrs. Chmielewski, recalling her accident. "If you don't win or do the best, you pick yourself up and try over again."

"I've always been involved," said Mrs. Chmielewski, who had been an A-student and member of the varsity cheerleading squad at the time of her accident.

"If you give me 29 things to do, I'll get 28 done," she added. "I sleep very soundly at night."

Following her accident, Mrs. Chmielewski spent eight months in the hospital. She wasn't allowed to return to her regular high school because the building wasn't accessible to wheelchairs.

Instead, she finished her course work with a tutor and graduated with her class, which she considered "very important."

During the next few years, Mrs. Chmielewski attended Wayne State University on a vacational scholarship, earning bachelor's degrees in English and secondary education, and a master's degree in guidance and counseling.

OUT OF the classroom, her activities included working at Ford Hospital, getting involved in a sorority, teaching school and counseling inmates at Milan Prison. She had her own apartment, got engaged and married Jim Chmielewski, an accountant, in 1973.

In 1977, Mrs. Chmielewski — by then a mother — entered and won the Miss Wheelchair Michigan pagent. In 1979, she became Miss Wheelchair America.

The contestants are judged on the basis of poise, personality and achievement despite handicap. The winner becomes the spokesperson for the handicapped of the nation.

"I've been handicapped a long time, but I didn't get into the business — except doing my own fights — until I became Miss Wheelchair Michigan," explained Mrs. Chmielewski. "I traveled through the country and learned a lot.

"Miss Michigan led to the job at Madonna," she added. "It has snowballed."

GOV. William Milliken in 1980 appointed Mrs. Chmielewski to the State Planning Council for Developmentally Disabled, which was set up to help persons with impairments which include cerebral palsy, epilepsy, autism and mental impairments.

"My big thing is legislation," said Mrs. Chmielewski. Issues which the group tackles are group homes for mentally retarded, motorcycle helmet laws (head injuries can cause brain damage) and employment.

Mrs. Chmielewski also serves on a statewide Health Coordinating Council, where she is a member of a committee which studies ways in which hospitals can cut costs by reducing the number of beds.

Mrs. Chmielewski drives a car with hand-controls. Some doorways of the house have ramps, to provide access for her wheelchairm.

But she doesn't like to call attention to her handicap. She enjoys spending time with her "very supportive" husband. And she is a lector at St. John Neumann Catholic Church in Canton.

Mrs. Chmielewski is convinced that some persons see her as an "object of curiosity." She also become angry when people "pigeon-hole," or make assumptions about handicapped persons.

For example, persons frequently "assume" that son Mark 6½, and daughter Beth Ann, 4, are adopted. A sales clerk recently made a comment about Mrs. Chmielewski's being "sick" because she is confined to a wheelchair.

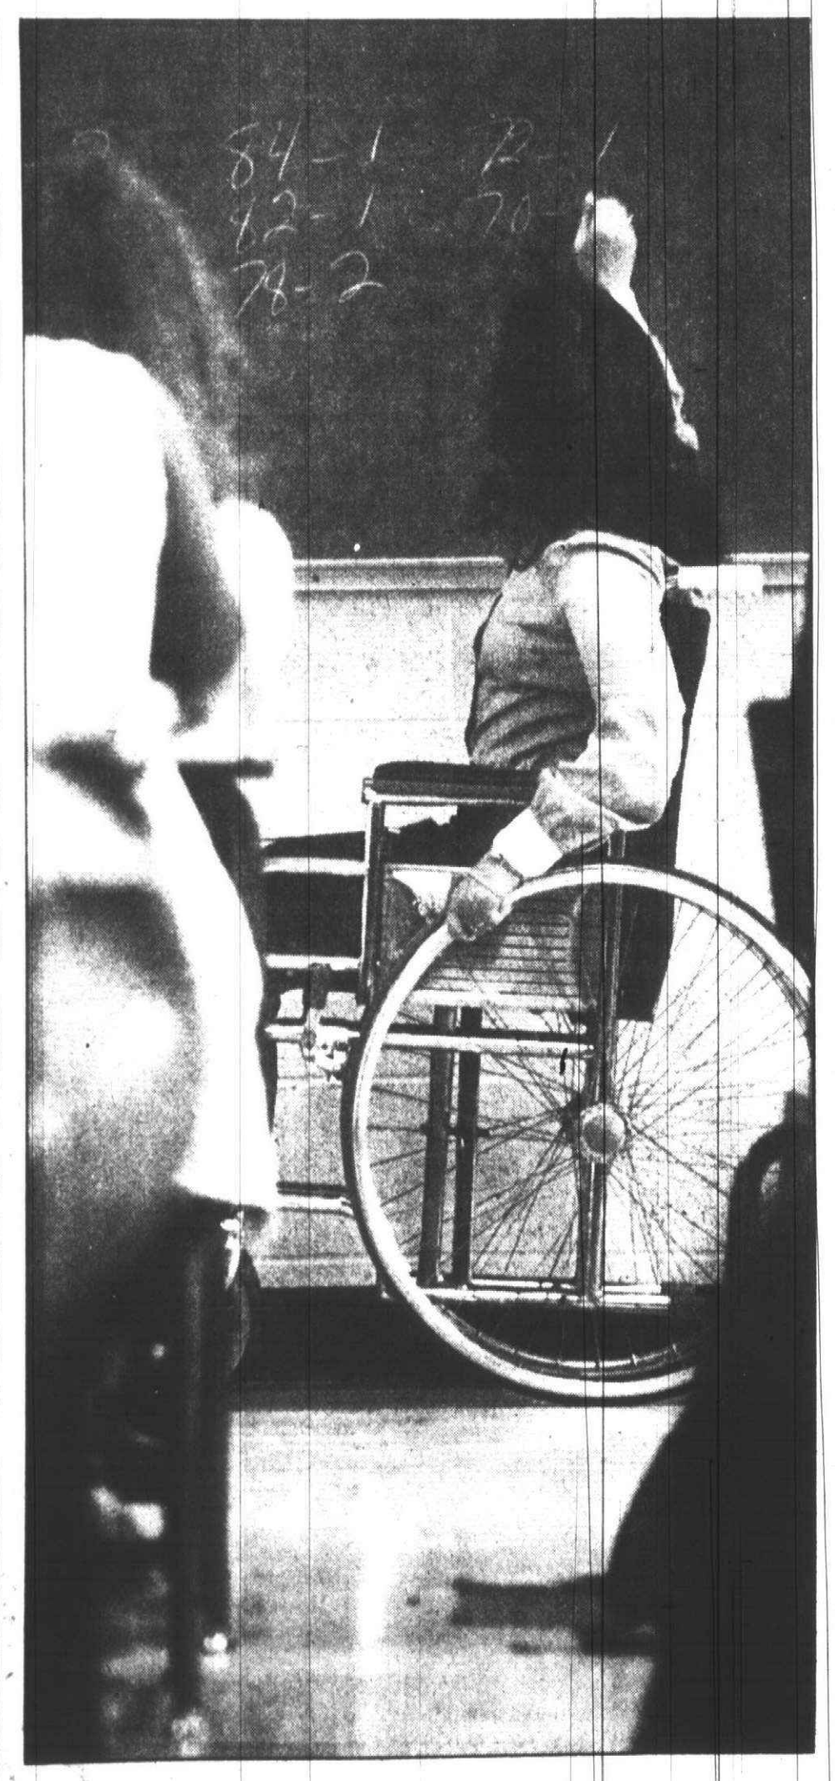

Mrs. Chmielewski doesn't see herself as an inspiration, "but I suppose other people do."

"I love it when I get the acclamation, but you have to work for it," she said. "I want to live every moment to the fullest with every committee I'm on.

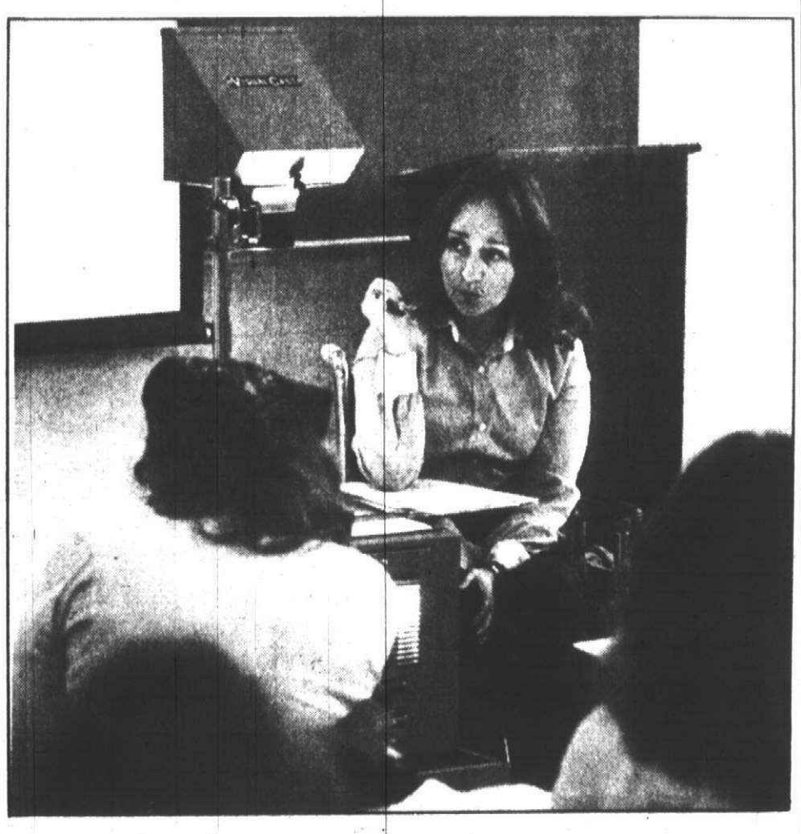

"I think it's very important for the kids to know mom is very involved. We have to do as much as we can. Life is too short to waste.

"I don't think handicapped people want more than other people," she added. "They want an equal chance.

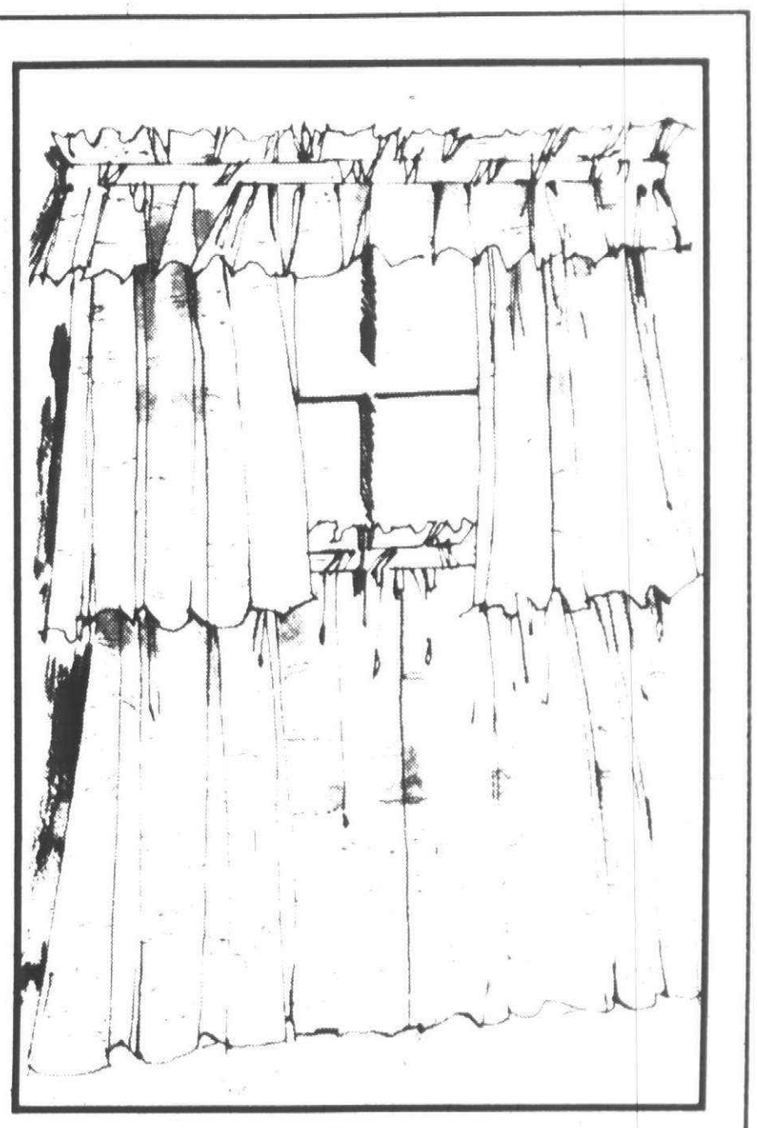

"What we're talking about isn't civil rights — it's human rights."

Students watch as Mrs. Chmielewski writes test scores on a chalkboard.

Mrs. Chmielewski listens to a comment from a student as she prepares to put information on a viewing screen.

Board studies school for gifted might be unable to offer opt-outs to pupils assigned to Extended School Year (ESY) next year who want to attend a Traditional School Year (TSY) building.

Dr. Homes added that pulling gifted students from school buildings throughout the district and placing them in one building would disrupt the attempt to evenly distribute students amongst the four tracks (student groupings) at ESY schools.

Cheryl Johnson, TAG coordinator, suggested gifted students could be bused by shuttle method to Tanger as now is done with students attending parochial schools.

Trustee Sylvia Stetz said use of Tanger for the gifted should be investigated because enrollment will be dropping at that school in the next two years and many parents would be happy to have their children returned to either Farrand or Allen.

Stephen Harper, trustee, said it might be a problem to run a magnent center for gifted elementary pupils and then have them face a real let down when assigned to regular classrooms for middle school or high school.

And trustee Tom Yack argued there would be a lot of incremental cost because the 150 were not now in five classrooms, but there were two or three in 15-17 classrooms and so additional teachers would have to be hired.

Harper said many parents were unhappy about Tanger and Starkweather being asked to share principals for the coming year and that use of Tanger as a gifted center and as a preschool center might address the Tanger/Starkweather problem.

Trustee Glen Schroeder said it was too late in the planning process to consider the proposal for '81-82, although it could be studied for school year '82-83 to see if it had merit.

Dr. Ed Page, director of special education, said the proposal for the gifted center would result in the displacement of at least four special education classes — two for emotionally impaired and two for the learning disabled.

Page said four to five rooms are needed to house the ISEP program, three rooms for PLUS and the district still must find space for two classes for the emotionally impaired now at Bird.

The space situation is so bad in the district, said Page, that right now consideration is being given to moving classes for the learning disabled to schools such as Eriksson, Hulsing and Miller, which have open space configurations unsuitable for special education students who are distractable.

Ms. Johnson said Tanger was only one possibility, but the administration could look at other spots for a magnet center — such as the Centennial Educational Park (CEP), which for one or two years may have space as a result of realignment.

Norm Kee, administrative assistant for employee relations, said he was convinced establishment of a magnet center would result in hiring added staff.

Johnson said she would like the chance to discuss the issue further at cabinet level so administration could bring a full report back to the board.

Schroeder pointed out that with ESY the next school year begins in four months and there was not enough time to establish the center for the coming school year.

Schroeder said it was obvious there would be an addition to faculty as well as added busing costs. Public schools have an obligation to educate all students and may not be able to afford enrichment programs such as the radio station, school farm, TAG program, and sixth grade camp any more.

Schroeder added he did not feel as much money would be spent on special education students if the state didn't mandate that handicapped students be educated.

Swartzwelter said parents in PCAAT have been trying since last November to get the administration to act on the proposed magnet center, but were put off, and that's why they came before the board Monday night.

Yack said the emphasis should be on trying to meet the needs of kids. "The needs of special education kids were not being met 6-7 years ago. I think should consider the needs of gifted students, whether it be at the 11th hour, ninth hour or whenever."

Page reminded the board that the administration was facing some critical deadlines on making decisions on staffing and busing, and would have a hard time opening schools in September if final decisions are not made soon about use of school buildings. "We cannot keep re-tooling!" he said.

The board finally agreed to ask the administration to study the request, determine its feasibility and if added costs were involved, and then discuss the proposal again at a May 4 workshop study session.

Cable firm eyes a bid

"But I don't believe they (MetroVision) realize how far (Omnicom) has gone in the community," she said.

Singer said he will "try to get a sense of what the board's reaction would be" prior to formulating an official proposal for a franchise.

"It takes time, and it takes money to put together a decent presentation. (If the board is uninterested,) then we'll just say thank you and call it a day."

No more politics for SC's McQuesten

Mark McQuesten's political career is coming to an end.

The Schoolcraft College trustee will not seek re-election June 8 on the order of his religious superiors in the Catholic Church.

"I was told not to run. I protested," said McQuesten, 32, who is completing work on a B.A. at Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit.

But he accepted the decision of the rector of the seminary, who is also in charge of all seminaries in the Archdiocese of Detroit. The decision was supported by Bishop Thomas Gumbleton, auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese.

AFTER RECEIVING his B.A. May 3, McQuesten will go to St. John Seminary in Plymouth to begin four years of work on a master of divinity degree. At the end of that cycle, he is likely to be ordained a priest.

The end of his political involvement came as no surprise to McQuesten, a campus politician in his student days at Schoolcraft who won a seat on the college board six years ago on his third try for public office.

Catholic priests and seminarians may seek secular political office only with the permission of a religious superior. In 1979, Pope John Paul II indicated he wanted priests to remove themselves from the political arena.

Best known victim of the change was Rev. Robert Drinan, who served five terms as a Democratic congressman from Massachusetts. On orders from his religious superiors, Drinan did not seek re-election in 1980.

The first Catholic priest to serve in Congress was not Drinan, as most news services reported, but Rev. Gabriel Richard, who was a non-voting territorial delegate to Congress before Michigan became a state. Richard was pastor of Ste. Anne Parish and was a co-founder of the University of Michigan.

Richard's biographers blame the many public controversies in which he became embroiled for his failure to become Michigan's first bishop.

McQEUSTEN HAS been in Sacred Heart seminary for two years. He was not asked to resign from the community college board, but he knew for more than a year that he would be expected not to seek a new term as long as he was studying for the priesthood.

McQuesten enrolled at Schoolcraft after leaving a seminary in his teens because of academic weaknesses. His Schoolcraft credits were later fully accepted by Sacred Heart.

As a student journalist and campus activist, McQuesten was a familiar figure in Schoolcraft boardroom politics. He advocated a student advisory seat on the board of trustees, but was told by an older trustee, "If you want to be on this board, run."

After losing a bid for the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and one Schoolcraft race, McQuesten was elected in 1975. He banged away on a number of liberal causes, usually losing, and in later years, lost much of his enthusiasm for the faculty's side of controversies.

Kordick directs Ford marketing

Joseph A. Kordick of Plymouth has been appointed executive director of marketing, North American Automotive Operations for Ford Motor Company.

He succeeds Lee R. Miskowski, who recently was promoted to general marketing manager for the Ford Division.

Kordick will assume his new post after having served as general manager of the company's glass division since July 1977.

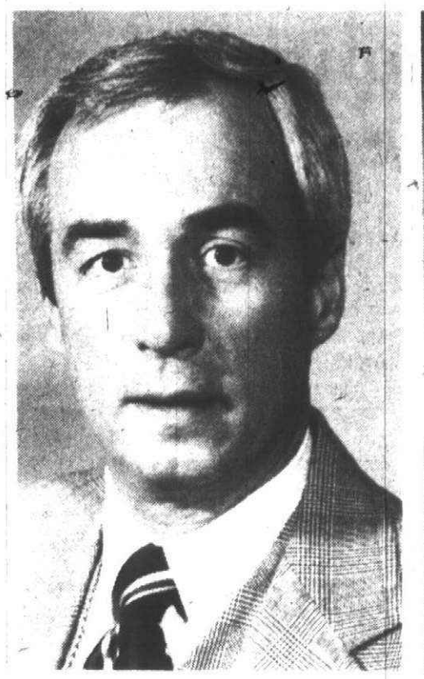

He joined Ford in 1954 and in 1961 was named manager of Ford Division's parts and service research analysis department and later served as planning and research manager and production and special programs manager.

In 1966 Kordick became service research and operations manager for Ford's marketing services staff.

Kordick left Ford in 1969 to serve as vice president of operations with Chris-Craft Industries, Inc. In July 1970 he rejoined Ford as assistant supply and distribution manager for Ford parts division. He was named manager of that activity the following year.

He became service programs manager of Ford Customer Service Division in November 1973 and, with the consolidation of that division with Ford Parts Division in November 1974, became parts and service programs manager of Ford Parts and Service Division.

A native of Chicago, Kordick graduated in 1952 from Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., with a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Three more join Schoolcraft race

Three more candidates have joined the Schoolcraft College race for two seats on the board of trustees, bringing the total number of candidates to six.

All six are residents of Livonia School District.

Board secretary Clara Rousseau reported the new candidates are:

- Wesley Berry Jr., Livonia florist and political newcomer.
- Laura M. Toy, owner of a Livonia shop and a strong campaigner four years ago.
- Dr. Taki Anagnostou, 14125 Cranston, Livonia, another newcomer.

BERRY SAID he is "an avid believer that a community college should meet not only the enrichment but the occupational needs of the community."

He said he would "stand as a sentinel against waste and unswervingly for the perpetuation of public education systems."

Berry is vice president and general manager of Wesley Berry Floral Co. and is a set designer for two local television programs.

He is also director of instruction for the Professional Florist Institute, a licensed private vocational school in Detroit and West Bloomfield.

Berry is a member of Livonia Rotary Club and of the William Perrett Masonic lodge, Plymouth.

MS. TOY RAN fifth in a nine-way race for three positions in the 1977 contest.

She is owner of Cardwell Florist, Cards and Gifts and resides at 28821 Five Mile.

After being president of her 1970 graduating class at Bentley High, she earned an associate arts degree at Schoolcraft and a bachelor of general studies at the University of Michigan.

She listed current memberships as: the Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center advisory committee, the UM political advisory board for internships, the 2nd Congressional District Women's Caucus (financial chair) and the American Association of Women in Community and Junior Colleges.

Ms. Toy was outstanding young careerist locally and nationally for the Business and Professional Women's Clubs and woman of the year for Livonia Jaycettes.

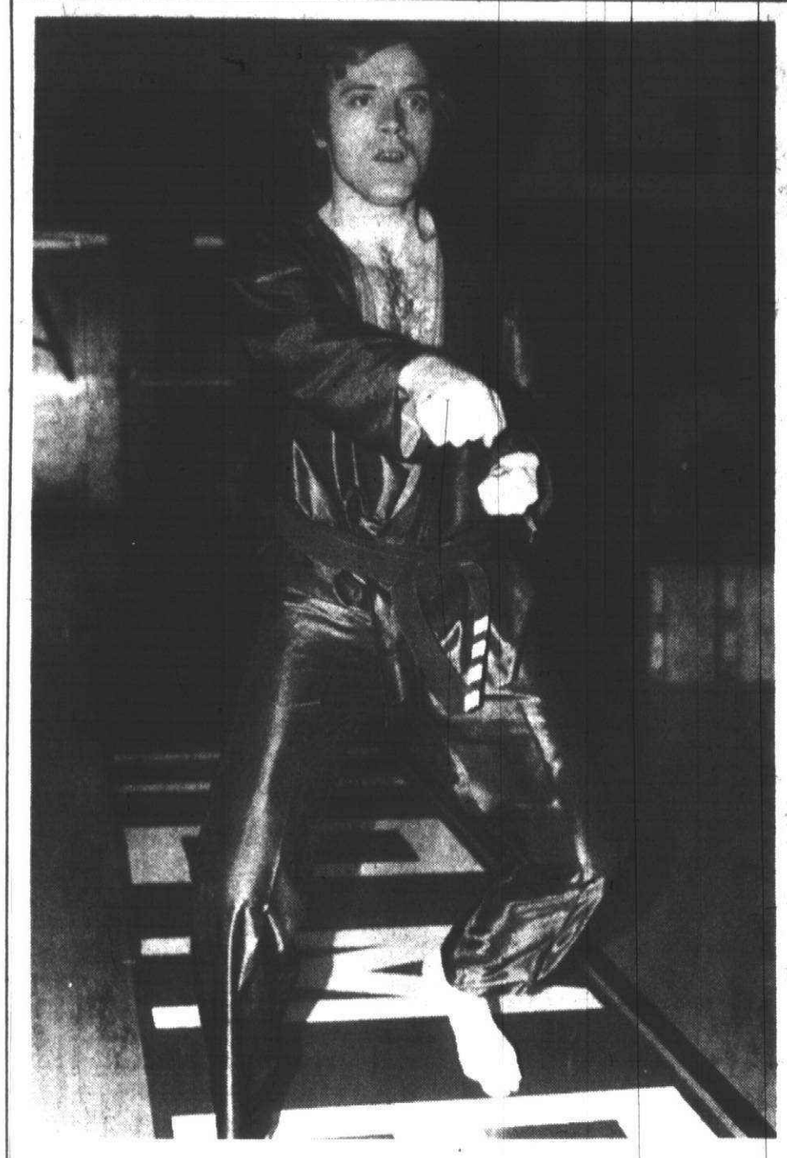

No further information was available on Anagnostou, a late entrant.

SCHOOLCRAFT'S election is held at the same time as K-12 school district elections.

Candidates who filed earlier include incumbent trustee Richard Hayward, former board member Paul Kadish and John J. Pantalone, a Taylor school administrator who lives in Westland.

Ten-week-old Lance is one of four mixed terrier/spaniel pups available from the Michigan Humane Society's Westland Kindness Center, 37255 Marquette, phone 721-7300. Lance is good with kids and he looks like he'd be steady behind the plate. Good stick, no doubt, but can he throw?

Can spring be far behind the trout?

By Lem Mesee
staff writer

outdoors

Saturday marks the true beginning of spring. It's opening day of the trout fishing season, and the 1981 kickoff promises to be one of the more auspicious beginnings in recent memory.

Conditions are perfect. Bizarre, but perfect.

Everything has been speeded up by this year's remarkable spring. Fishery biologists are reporting insect hatches already in progress that normally wouldn't fall due for another month. Mammoth stone flies, for instance, are already appearing on state streams. The streams themselves have had plenty of time to recover from the early thaw and they're reportedly running clear and close to normal depth.

ALL THIS BEATS the heck out of my most memorable opening day, when I disappeared into an unexpected hole on a flies-only stretch of the main branch of the Au Sable. At least, that's what my friend C.O. Jones told me.

"Hell, I looked around and I thought you'd got in the car and driven back home without me," is the way he put it when I finally surfaced, sputtering, waders loaded with a representative sample of the icy, muddy, roiling river. My rod was already a good furlong downstream and slipping along at a pace that would make Secretariat hang his noble head in shame.

I'd like to say there was a two-pound brown trout connected to that rod and I stepped in the hole in an excited frenzy, but there wasn't and I didn't. What was connected to the rod was a nymph and a dry fly on a dropper line, and what caused me to step into the hole was sheer stupidity, as C.O. quickly pointed out. I didn't pay attention when I noticed the feeder stream that had dug out the hole I stepped in.

Anyway, nothing like that will happen this year and if I keep knocking on this wood here in front of me it'll disintegrate and I'll have to pay for it.

New school tax votes are probable if Proposal A passes, says lobbiest

Suburban voters can look forward to requests from their school boards for some new tax help if Proposal A passes May 19.

The reason is that they won't be able to meet inflationary costs with the restrictions that Proposal A puts on local revenue.

That assessment came from Gerald Dunn, executive secretary of the Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation, and William Davis, associate director of the Michigan Municipal League. They were interviewed by two dozen editors and reporters of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Proposal A will be on a special state election ballot. Essentially, it will cut operating property taxes by 50 percent, cap property tax growth at 6 percent, raise the income tax from 4 percent to 5.5 percent and dedicate that new revenue to reimbursing local government for lost property taxes.

But even that reimbursement won't be enough, said Dunn, who is essentially a lobbyist for suburban school districts, and Davis, a lobbyist for cities and villages.

Q. There are two types of school districts — those which receive state aid ("in-formula") and those which don't ("out-of-formula") because they are wealthy and have substantial property tax bases. What impacts will Proposal A have on them?

Dunn: For out-of-formula districts, like Livonia and Dearborn, in my association, their sole source of revenue is the local property tax. When you cap them (property taxes) at 6 percent, it's not necessarily a 6 percent allowable increase in each class of property.

For instance, in Dearborn you will find a revenue growth next year of 2-3 percent in industrial property; that's all. The residential growth will be 6 percent (because of real estate inflation).

It really doesn't mean that your (school districts) are going to have 6 percent more than last year's revenue. You will have individual school district caps of less than 6 percent revenue growth.

That's why school boards are having difficulty arriving at individual positions on whether they'll support Proposal A. . . Their costs are going over. By holding Dearborn to that cap, they will have $9.2 million less (under Proposal A than if there were no change).

Q. What about school districts that receive some state aid?

Dunn: Districts that are in-formula, like Garden City or Cherry Hill, have a different problem. Not only do they face the problem of the growth cap, but they also face the problem of state aid.

If the state is required (by Proposal A) to put much of its general fund revenue into this sales tax fund (to reimburse school districts) to shore it up, there won't be any money for state aid, or there won't be as much.

6% Property Tax Growth Restriction Example

Residential Class, Local Unit

Expected property tax revenue* 1981	$1.2 million
Property tax revenue 1980	$1.0 million
Percent growth	20%
Growth less 6% cap	14%
1981 property taxes after 6% restriction	$1.06 million
Revenue reduction	$ .14 million

* Excluding new construction and improvements.
 6% cap applies to each classification of property by local unit of government. Reduction is applied to tax bills before 50% cut is made. Impact on individual properties may vary. (Millage rates and assessment levels not affected, although effect is the same as a 6% cap on assessment growth.)

Another problem that in-formula districts have is the way the school aid formula works. This is technical, but I can explain it.

They have a 6 percent cap on property tax growth. But their SEV (state equalized valuation) growth, which is not covered by Proposal A, may be 15 percent.

Now their SEV growth of 15 percent is taken into account by the state, so that means less dollars from the state aid formula.

So an in-formula district gets a potential double-whammy. Now I say "potential" because that is just one problem we're trying to work out in the implementation language.

Q. So what you're telling us is this: If Proposal A passes May 19, and if local property tax is capped at 6 percent growth, and if inflation remains at 12 percent or even if it's cut to 9 percent, we are going to see the local school boards asking voters for — what? For more millage? For waivers of the 6 percent cap?

William Davis: Either one. Either more millage and/or waivers.

The constitution does authorize voters to either waive or increase that cap. A number of districts will, either this year or next, ask voters for some relief.

I'm not certain whether they will be able to ask for relief one year at a time or a longer time.

Q. Why, then, are some school boards supporting Proposal A?

Dunn: I think the Michigan Association of School Boards and Michigan Association of School Administrators recognize a couple of things:

1) Property tax relief, at least in the minds of people, is a problem. This Proposa A is a decent attempt to resolve it.

2) If we can resolve it, then it will be easier for the schools to get back to business of taking care of the educational needs of the kids instead of spending 85-90 percent of their time worrying about finances.

3) There's a realization by management, starting with the Chrysler situation and GM, and with Mayor Coleman Young asking Detroit employees, there's a changing mood going on that we won't be able to give the 15 and 20 percent wage increases employee groups received in the past.

There is a limit.

They think this a is a reasonable approach, far more reasonable than Tisch, and that this 6 percent cap is far more reasonable than the 2 percent cap Tisch calls for.

Q. So you walk into the polls May 19 and there's one simple Proposal A staring you in the face: What are you going to do?

Dunn: I'm going to vote yes.

Davis: Yes. Jerry and I have gone through the negatives. There's no question that a 50 percent cut in operating property taxes is a very attractive proposition for homeowners.

Tisch would have gutted the abilities of state and local governments to meet commitments that it would have cost substantial amounts of federal (matching) aid.

We estimated that under the last Tisch proposal, there would have been a $2 billion net cost to Michigan — increased federal tax (through smaller property tax deductions) and loss of federal aid.

Dunn: Even under Proposal A, 20 to 25 percent of your savings will go back to Washington through your income tax because of decreased property tax deductions.

Firm marketing mineral water

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

This may come as a real surprise to many people, but the clearest natural mineral water is now being obtained from an artesian well in Southfield.

It is located in the area at Northestern Highway and 11 Mile Road and has been in production since 1908.

This fact has come to the fore again with the announcement that the Absopure Water Co, which has a botting plant in Plymouth, now takes about 12,000 gallons of water from the well each day.

The latest product, now being filtered and bottled on General Drive near Ann Arbor Road, is being marketed as "Montreaux" and derives the name from the Montreaux Jazz Festival because it is just bubbling and vibrant as the Montreaux Festival each year in Switzerland.

The announcement of the product is being made now as part of the Montreaux Jazz Festival that will be held in Detroit in September.

Montreaux has a clean, fresh, sparkling taste and a cool clear look, according to Gary Dixon, spokesman for the Absopure Co.

"In this day and age," Dixon said, "when the very air we breathe and most of the water we drink is called dangerous, it is nice to know that we have this artesian well so handy.

"We read in the paper, even today, that the coffee we drink and have been drinking could cause cancer. We also are told that orange juice has its faults, too. But now, with the artesian well producing as it does, we needn't fear despite the fact that much of the water in the state has been tagged as being polluted."

Dixon was quick to explain that the water taken from Southfied is hauled by three trucks, each carrying 4,000 gallons daily. Then it is filtered and in some cases carbonated, and bottled in the Plymouth plant.

Though the plant has been open only a short time, it services the entire middle west and as far as Missouri. It is a favorite in such places as Cincinnati and all through Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

"Most every supermarket is these areas now carries the water and the bottled variety is becoming more popular every day."

Cantonite to train on video camera use

John Fuller of Canton will be teaching free seminars on how to operate small, portable video cameras for home use.

Although there are many advantages to the new cameras, Fuller explains, there is one big drawback — editing the tape is expensive and difficult.

Fuller, a veteran Channel 7 cameraman, says the problem is that there is a major difference between editing home movies and editing video tape movies.

The home movie camera enthusiast can buy a viewer and splicer for Super 8 film rather inexpensively, explains Fuller, and it's simple to cut the unwanted portions of the film and glue the film back together.

The video tape, however, must be edited electronically, using a machine which costs hundreds of dollars.

THE SECRET, Fuller says, to good home video is to "edit in the camera."

That's one of the tips Fuller is teaching in a series of free seminars he is conducting at various appliance stores.

The closest will be at the Highland Appliance store in Livonia from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Friday, April 24, and in Ann Arbor from 1-5 p.m. Saturday, April 25.

Fuller, who has more than 25 years broadcast experience and whose camera work has earned him numerous professional awards, will help the beginner learn the basic "do's and don'ts."

He has produced a tape which shows examples of how and when to use the zoom lens, how to resist the almost uncontrollable urge to pan, why the action in front of the camera should provide the motion and not the camera, and why lighting is the most important aspect of making successful video.

The training sessions are informal and provide plenty of time for questions and answers.

John Fuller of Canton has been a television cameraman for 25 years.

Geake requests housing funds

A last-minute amendment offered by state Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville) to fund senior citizen housing plans at the Wayne County Child Development Center was included in final passage of the 1981-82 Michigan Department of Commerce budget approved before the legislative spring recess.

Geake was able to amend the appropriations bill on the Senate floor to add $150,000 to the department of commerce budget for the Wayne County Economic Development Corp. (WCEDC).

Geake's 14th District includes Livonia, Northville, Redford, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

"The move was unusual because the Senate rarely consents to add money which has not previously been approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee to an appropriations bill once it comes to the Senate floor," Geake said.

"I introduced the amendment when Robert FitzPatrick, executive director of the WCEDC, came to me with the last-minute request.

"The emergency arose because the Wayne County Board of Commissioners did not approve the lease to the WCEDC until late last month and the Legislature already had the budget bills under way."

Geake, a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said the money will be used by the county EDC to fund architectural and engineering studies to use a 101-acre portion of the former Wayne County Child Development Center in Northville Township as a site for construction of a senior citizen housing development.

The land has been unused for the past eight years.

Geake said he hopes construction can begin soon because senior citizens in western Wayne County need housing and because the State Department of Corrections once viewed the site for a new state prison.

"The WCEDC project will block any further bureaucratic plans for a prison there."

The county EDC, which was granted a 99-year lease by the county commissioners in March, is seeking a developer to begin work on the $50 million project.

Rouge group to study water 'legal maze'

The "legal maze" confronting management of storm and flood waters will be the subject of a workshop at 1 p.m. April 24 in the city of Wayne's Community Center.

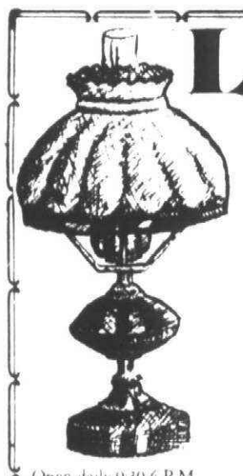

The workshop is sponsored by the Rouge River Watershed Council.

Topics will include city legal responsibilities and liabilities, the legality of local ordinances, existing state and federal laws and a discussion of intergovernmental agreements.

Speakers are James Boulton, chief of the state Department of Natural Resources flood plain management section; Jerry Mitchell, an attorney for the Central Upper Peninsula Regional Commission; and John Sobetzer, also a lawyer and the director of the East Michigan Environmental Action Council.

Registration is $6.50 for Rouge River Watershed Council members and $8.50 for all others. For the mail-in registration form, contact Marcie Colling at 522-4340.

Listen to the cassette decks on sale at Tech Hifi.

Onkyo 630DM
$309

Pioneer CTF-550
$119

Marantz D4000
$269

Now thru Saturday.

There are lots of reasons you'll like owning a cassette deck.

A cassette deck lets you arrange the music on your records the way you like it. You can leave out the cuts you don't like. A standard, C-90 cassette gives you about twice as much playing time per side as a standard album (for those times you want uninterrupted music). And a cassette is much easier to handle (and harder to damage) than a record.

Better still, the money you'll save by making your own tapes means that your cassette deck can pay for itself!

This week is a good time to get your cassette deck at Tech Hifi. Because we've got a big selection of models from the best names in the business. Every one of them is priced for extra savings, now through Saturday. And, even at these low sale prices, you still get all of Tech Hifi's famous guarantees.

Here's a sample of the great buys you'll find this week on cassette decks, accessories, and tape at Tech Hifi:

Pioneer CTF-550 cassette deck uses regular, high bias, and metal tapes. The CTF-550 has soft-touch controls, so it has the operating "feel" of much more expensive machines. Other features include dual VU meters, a headphone jack, and damped eject. Super value! $119. PIONEER

Onkyo 630DM cassette deck is the new, metal-capable version of the model top-rated by the leading consumer magazine. Has Accu-Bias to adjust its response for best performance with any type of tape. $309. ONKYO

Marantz D-4000 cassette deck is loaded with features. Has 2 speeds, Compu-Search music selection system, full LED metering, metal tape capability, and 3 heads (including a wear-free Sendust record/play head). Deluxe deck, big savings! $269. marantz

Maxell UD-XL I or II C-90 cassette tape delivers superior sound quality. Full lifetime replacement guarantee. Case of 12 with purchase of any cassette deck (Limit: 1 case), maxell $44.

Kleeneez Tape Care Kit has what you need to keep your deck's heads, capstan, and pinch roller clean. Improves sound and increases longevity. $2.99. Kleeneez

Aiwa M-700U cassette deck has 2 motors, feather-touch 2-motor transport, bias fine adjust for all types of tape, 3 heads (including a Sendust record/play head), dual meters plus 5-step peak LED's, and more. Great sound! $459. AIWA dbx 222 full-range tape noise reduction system reduces noise throughout the entire audible head, not just in the highs. Adds dynamic range. With the purchase of any cassette deck, $189. dbx

Teac CX-310 metal-capable cassette deck	$115
Hitachi D-35s deck, metal-capable, LED meters	$169
B*I*C T-2M deck, 2-speed, metal-capable, LED meters	$189
Teac CX-400 deck, 3 heads, metal tape, bar graph meters	$219
Nikko ND-790 deck, peak/VU meters, metal tape	$279

Keeping our school buses safe is major task

FOR THE EIGHTH year in a row, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools has received a perfect score for the mechanical safety of its bus fleet.

The entire fleet recently was inspected, as it is annually, by the Michigan State Police Post in Northville and received a 100 percent certificate, indicating all of its buses met all standards on the initial inspection.

Statewide, only 32 percent of school districts in Michigan with bus fleets pass on the first inspection. And many of these are smaller districts with much smaller fleets.

The state police inspection team from the Northville post reports that Plymouth-Canton is one of the top three school districts in its inspection area.

THE ACCOMPLISHMENT is significant because the bus fleet of 106 vehicles travels more than 1.3 million miles a year or 6,304 miles per day.

That's an average of 12,600 miles per bus, which is heavy usage considering many of the vehicles already have logged 50,000 to 80,000 miles.

The credit belongs to Calvin Heard, chief mechanic for the school district, and his crew of mechanics at the bus garage on Mill near East Middle School.

Heard is known throughout the state for the operation he runs and for his mechanics' accomplishments in keeping such a large fleet of buses in safe running condition, year after year.

SOMETIMES IT IS easy to overlook the vast operation assigned to the transportation department of the school district.

The fleet has to pick up students over an area of more than 60 square miles, including Canton and Plymouth townships, city of Plymouth, and parts of Northville, Salem and Superior townships.

To do this, the district has 78 full-size buses, of which 69 are used for regular routes, and 28 vans, of which 25 are used for regular routes. (The others are used as spare vehicles in case of a breakdown on the road, and for field trips.)

The large buses travel 4,230 miles a day or 891,900 miles per year. That's an average of 54 miles a day per bus driver. The vans run about 2,070 miles a day or 409,670 a year for a daily average of more than 80 miles per bus driver.

The district buses about 13,800 students, of which some 5,000 are elementary pupils, 4,200 middle school, another 4,200 are high schoolers, and about 240 are special education students.

Given the size of the operation, the safety performance of the department is that much more commendable. Heard is to be praised for his supervision, and each mechanic is to be recognized for excellent performance.

Another reason, though, for the 100 percent safety mark for eight consecutive years is the district's planned program of replacing school buses as they near the 100,000-mile mark and of keeping a small fleet of extras in the garage which are kept in good condition so they can be used on the routes while the "regular" buses are in for repair or preventive maintenance.

THAT PROGRAM is in a bit of danger now because of financial restraints.

In 1980-81, the district was not able to buy enough buses to keep up with the replacement schedule. The year before, $500,000 was budgeted for bus replacement; that figure slipped to $300,000 in '80-81. Preliminary budget figures for '81-82 include $100,000 for bus replacement.

The fleet will be strained during the coming year. Because of the budget pinch, corners have been cut in the bus garage as well. The buses are older and have more miles than they should. But new buses cost money and taxpayers are asking that less money be spent.

And so the Observer takes this occasion to give public recognition to Heard and his fleet of fine mechanics. The streak of 100 percent inspections may stop at eight.

If it does, we know it won't be because Calvin and his herd didn't try their best to keep the streak going.

And in spite of the aging of the fleet, we too will be pulling for number nine.

Wayne County: a swamp where the UAW floats

Bob Wisler

Trying to understand Wayne County government is like trying to get a grip on a fog.

Trying to present it is like trying to package a swamp.

County government is fragmented, its authority ill-defined, its lines of responsibility tenuous.

County government consistently appears in a bad light in newspapers, and Gov. Milliken has demanded its reform in return for providing state funds to help its operation.

But is Wayne County government as bad as it appears in newspaper stories?

IT IS probably worse.

It is true that many county departments go about their business in an admirable and professional fashion.

But the abuses, many inherent in the system, are such that the entire county suffers. In the final analysis, Wayne county taxpayers end up paying more than they should for a governmental system which is high-priced, inefficient, unreponsive and almost unaccountable.

County government, a mystery to the average residents, costs him a tax rate of 7.57 mills — $265 a year on a $70,000 house.

It has 6,000 employees and an annual budget of more than $300 million. Only 430 private corporations in the U.S. have more employees.

Broadly, the major facets of county government are these:

- Nine elected officials who run independent departments — prosecuting attorney, sheriff, county clerk, treasurer, register of deeds, drain commissioner, a three-member board of auditors.
- A board of 27 commissioners elected from districts — 14 from Detroit, 11 from the suburbs and two districts which straddle the line. The board acts as the county's legislative body, passes the budget and all appropriations and authorizes labor contracts.
- The court system, now under the control of the state.
- The Road Commission — three persons appointed to six-year terms by the board of commissioners to oversee county roads, parks and Metropolitan Airport.
- Wayne County General Hospital.

OTHER SERVICES include engineering for road building and drains; managing wastewater systems; prosecuting state crimes in the county; providing probation department employees and police protection for parks, several townships as well as auxilary police services for all cities and townships; operating the county jail and county juvenile home; recording deeds, property transactions, births, deaths and marriages; providing health services; providing medical examiners and the county morgue; conducting elections, and offering services to the aging.

The County Board of Commissioners has the only semblance of central control. The auditors make suggestions, but these are ignored as often as observed. Most of the expenses of the county are dictated by state laws.

County commissioners, historically quarrelsome and querulous, have been unable to exert sufficient control to prevent massive financial problems. The county already is in the red an estimated $8 million and will sink deeper before the year ends.

Commissioners have consistently made county staffs among the best paid government employees to be found.

Many commissioners decry even their own lack of control.

Several present and former commissioners say privately the board is incapable of taking necessary actions to reform county government. They say there are too many expenses over which the board has no real control and a lack of leadership which is necessary to accomplish any reform.

Because boad members generally owe fealty to UAW chieftans, they are pro-labor to the point that its exhausts the county treasury, they say.

TWO STORIES about how county government works — or doesn't work — will give the flavor:

A former Wayne County Commissioner talked about his effort several years ago to cut costs at Wayne County General Hospital:

"I was a new commissioner and anxious to get the hospital running more efficiently. I kept talking about the hospital and one of the old commissioners, Paul Silver, said if I wanted to manage the hospital, I could.

"He told me to go out to the hospital and start running it efficiently and he got me named to the board that manages it. I found out fast that the hospital was run by the employees, for the employees.

"The had five different food offerings for the staff and two for the patients. They had a greenhouse with eight county employees who grew flowers, and the only thing they did with the flowers was give them to county employees at Easter and Christmas.

"I decided to close the greenhouse and get rid of the employees. I didn't get anywhere. We had committees looking into it and reports made and unions objecting, and years later the greenhouse was still operating."

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners voted in November to cut the county sheriff's budget and to eliminate some 250 positions in the sheriff's road patrol. The sheriff objected, saying he is under state mandate to provide police protection in the county, and started lawsuits to stop the layoff.

Three months and several court decisions later, there have been no layoffs.

One official estimated that the costs of continuing to pay the salaries of sheriff's deputies involved has amounted to $1 million so far. The deputies provide the primary police protection for four townships containing about 5 percent of the county's total population. Still unsettled is the question of whether the county board has budgetary control.

REASONS FOR the county board's ineffective control of the budget and operations are many. The main ones, however, are (1) fragmented lines of authority in the many pieces of enabling legislation (2) state-mandated costs (3) lack of effective leadership (4) dependence on UAW backing stifles effective action.

The political facts of life for county commissioners are these:

- Many were not initially elected to office, but appointed to office by the board of commissioners to fill vacancies.
- Most of these were appointed to office with the approval, or at the insistence, of one or the other of two UAW political chieftains.
- Most expect that once they are on the county board, they will be reelected — if the UAW endorses their candidacies — and perhaps not reelected if the UAW puts its muscle behind some other candidate.
- Most commissioners are supported in reelection efforts by UAW endorsements, money, manpower or all three.

Not offending the UAW chieftains, therefore, puts the odds in favor of a county commissioner's getting reelected. As a bonus, the UAW often backs county commissioners for high-paying jobs such as director of personnel, $43,000 (held by ex-commissioner John Barr), director of public works, $40,000 (held by ex-commissioner Royce Smith), managing director of the county road commission, $60,000 (held by ex-commissioner Freddie Burton).

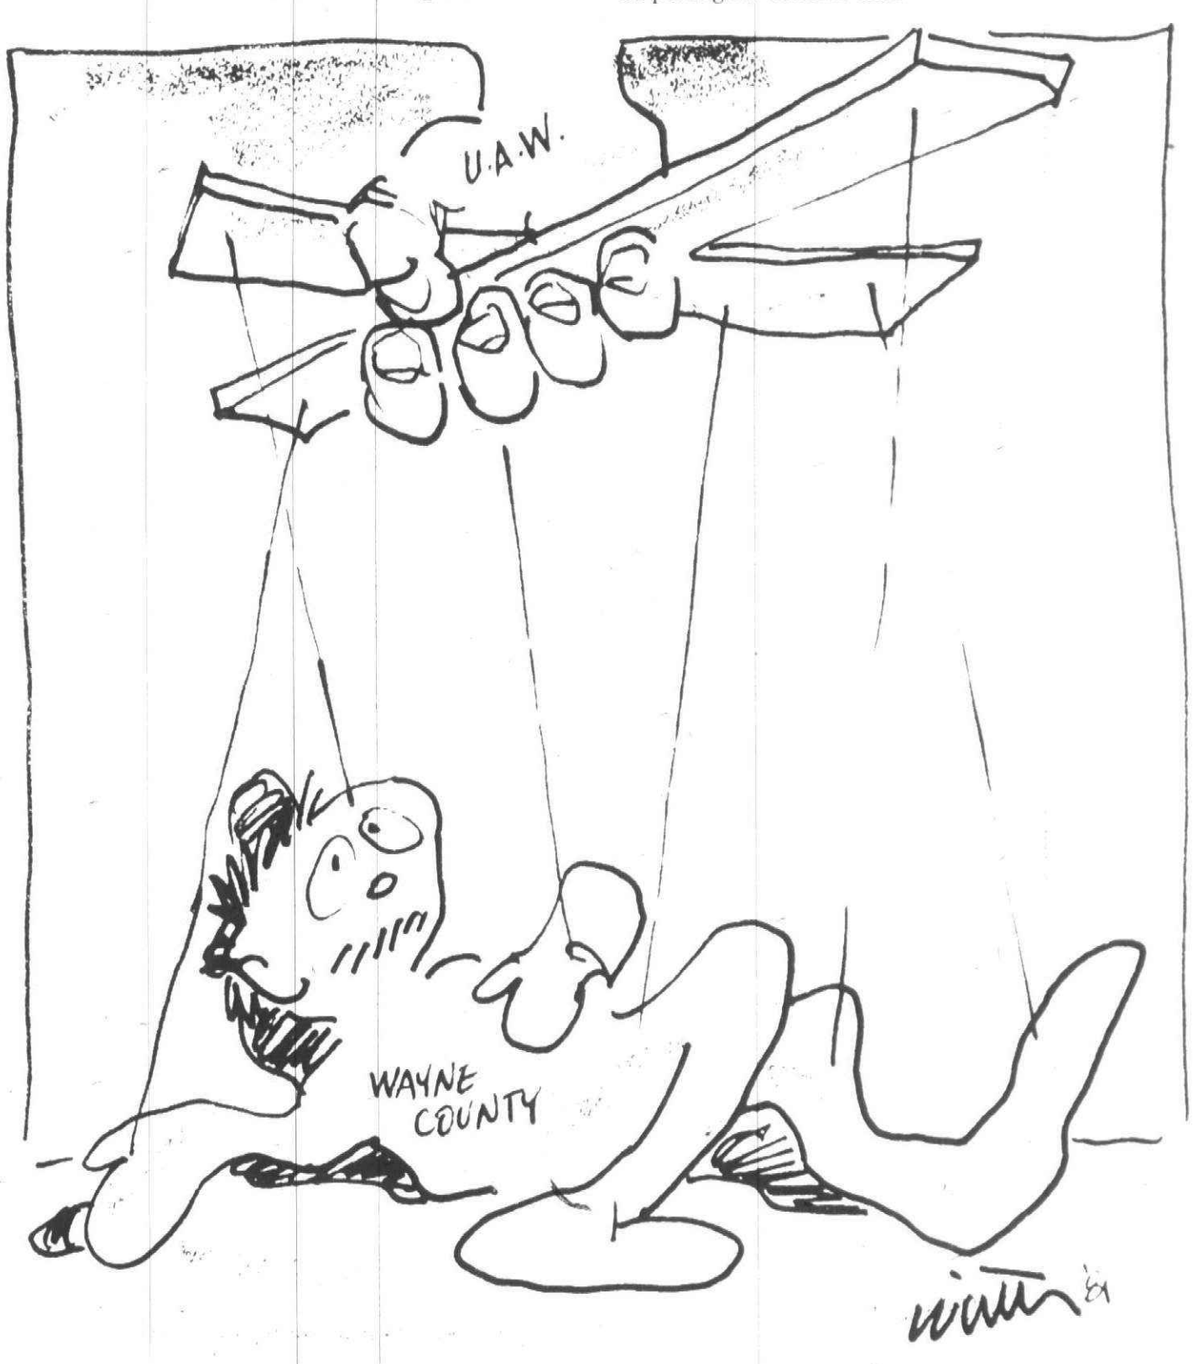

ONE FORMER county commissioner said he was amazed, at first, at the grip the UAW holds on county commissioners. His first experience as a commissioner came when he was in his office waiting for a county board meeting to start.

"I was sitting there, about 15 minutes before the meeting, and this guy who I only knew was from the UAW stuck his head into my office and said, 'You're voting in favor of such and such resolution.'

"I said, 'Wait a minute, I don't feel that way. Sit down and let's talk about it.'

"He said, 'I haven't got time to talk, I've got other commissioners to see. All you've got to do is vote the way we said.'"

The UAW representative who stuck his head in the door, incidentally, now is one of two UAW employees on the the seven-member compensation board which sets salaries of county commissioners and other elected officials.

The Petitpren case

Inside story: 'an inside job'

By Robert Wisler
staff writer

If one had to come up with a recent example of the way county government is operated by insiders for insiders, it would be hard to top the job transfers of Joan Petitpren and Martha Scott.

Mrs. Petitpren made news last fall when she left her job as one of three Wayne County civil service commissioners — $14,520 a year for a parttime job — to become an assistant personnel services director — $43,290 a year full-time — with the county road commission.

Ms. Scott, who would soon be out of her $26,000-a-year commissioner's job, was given Mrs. Petitpren's old three-meetings-a-week job with an annual pay of $14,500.

Mrs. Petitpren

The job changes had all the elements which make county government so suspect: political and union ties, UAW lobbying, a "let's take care of our own" attitude on the part of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and an amazing lack of concern for the public's perception of the changes.

While many county officials say, "Joan Petitpren is proabably one of the county appointments which makes sense," she was probably appointed for all the wrong reasons.

She is considered an intelligent, effective person who has credentials to help run a personnel department — she had the rank of asssistant professor at Eastern Michigan University in a teacher placement program.

HOWEVER, the background of the appointment is this:

As a civil service commissioner, she voted for the job promotions and pay raises of the road commission officials for whom she is now working.

She is the wife of a long-time political activist in the Wayne-Westland area, Vincent J. Petitpren. Petitpren at one time was a Democratic state representative from Westland, a sometime lobbyist for Wayne State University, and superintendent of the the Taylor school district.

Until a few years ago, Petitpren was chairman of the 15th Congressional District Democratic Party organization (which includes Wayne, Westland, Garden City and Canton). He resigned his chairmanship to be succeeded by Edward Plawecki, who is not only the father of state Sen. David Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, but a UAW employee who works in the UAW Region 1E office in Taylor.

Politicians generally feel Mrs. Petitpren's appointment to the road commission job was one favored by the UAW. Why? Because politician after politician will say in private — but not for print with their names attached — that such appointments are influenced if not controlled by two UAW chieftains — Region 1E Director Bard Young and Region 1A Director Buddy Battle.

IT IS A FACT that of the three road commissioners who direct the agency, two are officials or employees of the UAW. One, Grace Hampton, is Bard Young's executive secretary and works at Region 1E headquarters. The other, Claude Dukes, is a UAW local official. The third road commissioner is Michael Berry, a lawyer and former chairman of the 16th District Democratic Party organization.

There is no doubt about the heavy union lobbying to have Martha Scott appointed to fill Mrs. Petitpren's vacancy.

Ms. Scott was a lame duck county commissioner. She had run unsuccessfully for state representative in Highland Park and couldn't run for reelection also to the county board.

In recent years ten ex-county commissioners went from their elective posts to paying jobs with county government. These have included John Barr, personnel director; Royce Smith, director of public works; Chester Wozniak, Smith's assistant; Frank Cylkowski, executive director of the board which runs Wayne County General Hospital; Roscoe Bobo, lobbyist in Lansing; and Freddie Burton, managing director of the county road commission.

Plain walking is underrated in 'battle of the bulge'

Question: As a women's health club director, I have long been an advocate of walking. Please comment on the merits of walking for improving physical fitness and reducing body weight.

With all the current emphasis on jogging, most people do not really recognize the health benefits which can be derived from a program of regular walking.

S.Z., West Bloomfield

"Walking is the best exercise of all," Dr. Albert Marchetti of Tampa, Fla. said. "But because it is so simple and at times even effortless, many people don't think of it as exercise."

Walking for health and fitness is particularly applicable for out-of-shape adults who want to start exercise programs, heart patients, senior citizens and obese persons who cannot jog.

Walking has several advantages over other forms of exercise. It offers an easily tolerable exercise intensity and fewer orthopedic problems of the legs and knees.

Finally, walking is a "companionable" activity which requires no special equipment other than a pair of well-fitted athletic shoes.

RESEARCH studies have shown that a program of regular walking can change your fitness level to that of an individual 10 to 20 years younger.

Furthermore, a recent comparative study of graded or hill walking, running and stationary bicycling showed them to be equally effective modes of conditioning.

Regular walking has also been shown to be a key weapon in the "battle of the bulge." Dr. Grant Gwinup, an authority on obesity, put 11 markedly overweight women on a progressive walking regimen for one year and requested they not diet.

All the women lost weight, from 10 to 38 pounds, but no significant weight losses occurred until the women were walking 30 minutes a day or more.

These results show that obese people can take off weight and keep it off with regular walking — with or without dieting.

Although walking a given distance burns fewer calories than running that distance, the caloric expenditure may nevertheless be substantial. Walking burns about one-half a calorie per pound of body weight per mile.

In other words, a 160-pound man burns 80 calories (160 x .5) while walking one mile. So, the more you weigh or farther you walk, the greater the caloric expenditure.

RECENTLY, SEVERAL innovations to conventional walking have been suggested.

Swimming pool walking has been used successfully in weight reduction programs. Walking in shallow water requires considerably more energy than regular walking, while the buoyancy of the water serves to reduce stress on muscles and joints.

Walking with ankle weights or a backpack also offers another practical option for walkers who wish to lose weight and improve fitness.

Finally, a Detroit man has recently invented a hand-held weight device to be used in conjunction with walking. The device encourages rhythmic arm and torso as well as leg exercise, and increases the energy cost of conventional walking.

SEVERAL SUGGESTIONS are offered for increasing walking in daily living:

1. Avoid escalators and elevators. Take the steps whenever possible.

2. Park your car at the farthest end of the shopping center lot and walk to the store. (How often have you driven around the parking lot for several minutes in search of a parking place closer to the store entrance?)

3. Eliminate unnecessary extension phones in the home. Extra walking to a centrally located phone for each call will amount to a considerable caloric expenditure at the end of a year.

4. Park your car a distance from your place of work and walk.

5. Include a five-minute walk each evening for each television program watched during the day. For some people this may require walking many miles at the end of each day!

6. When you play golf, walk the course instead of riding in the motorized cart.

What's perhaps the best health advice to give a friend? Tell him to "Take a walk."

Questions may be sent to Dr. Franklin in care of this newspaper.

The passing of 3 old friends

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

After a fellow travels along life's highway for more than a half-century, he reaches a point where he hates to read the obituary columns in his favorite newspapers or listen to the news on the tube.

This happened to The Stoller the other morning when his eye caught the passing of two of his favorite personalities — "Gee" Walker, one of the most colorful of all the Tigers, and Sammy Lieberman, the stout little fellow who became the country's No.1 host while operating the Raleigh House on Telegraph Road in Southfield.

And no sooner had the recovered from that shock than he was given the news of Joe Louis's death during a quiet Sunday afternoon. This was not exactly shocking, but it meant the passing of an friend to whom he was especially close while the Brown Bomber was climbing the pugilistic ladder to the world heavyweight chaionhip.

It was The Stroller's good fortune to be with him the day before every major fight and have him as a companion on drives through the New Jersey countryside to keep his mind off the fight. It was during these trips that he began the fad of naming the round in which he thought he would win. Joe seldom missed. The lone time he refused to pick a round was for the first fight with Max Schmeling when, as you recall, Joe was kocked out.

THE STROLLER came to know "Gee" Walker while covering the Tigers for the Detroit Free Press in the '30s.

No better companion ever could be found on those long road trips around the American League (we travelled by train in those days). He was always ready to give you a laugh, often at his own expense.

But the most memorable moments came when Mickey Cochrane, then the manager, gave him a verbal lashing for being caught off first base.

The Stroller happened to be near by, and he never will forget Walker's rebuttal. He had listened to Mickey very attentively, then said, " I have to take a big lead to steal second. Then I get caught. If I don't get the big lead, I'll be caught at second, so I am out no matter how you look at it."

Cochrane just walked away.

WHO COULD forget Sammy Lieberman, whom The Stroller met years ago when the late shift workers at the Free Press used to drop in on Sammy's delicatessen on Dexter Ave. His was the most popular on the street.

The Stroller later followed him to the Avon on Wyoming and then to the Raleigh House. Always with a cigar in his mouth, he was good for a laugh even on the most dreary days.

And he was shrewd, too. He built up the Raleigh House, then sold it, and got himself hired back at a fabulous salary. One of Sammy's best yarns was his recital of how he named the Raleigh House.

"I was riding downtown one morning," he'd say, "and I saw a big billboard advertising Sir Walter Raleigh tobacco, I thought, if it was good enough to sell tobacco, it was good enough for me. And besides, the name 'Raleigh' was eye-catching. It put Raleigh in people's minds, and then they came out here."

Sammy was one of those fortunate persons who was bitten by a fox when he was young.

Joe Louis. . . "Gee " Walker. . .Sammy Lieberman. . .all in a week. The ranks of old-time friends is fast closing, and The Stroller can't help feeling a bit lonesome these days just recalling his visits with them.

Grads urged to return vocational job surveys

Through the job-placement office, Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools are asking 468 former students for their opinions and other information concerning the vocational programs in which they were enrolled their last school year.

Pat Gresock, job-placement specialist at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP), said the survey questionnaire asks graduates to report what they are doing now and how well they feel the high schools served their needs.

The annual survey, conducted in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Education, provides information for planning more effective local and state education programs.

Contacts with former students, Ms. Gresock said, were made by mail between April 10-16.

She urges the former students to answer the surveys and asks their relatives to help by locating them if necessary "so that as many as possible can be represented in improving the school's programs."

Ms. Gresock emphasized that the identity of those who answer the questions is kept confidential and is used only for planning purposes and to provide services to students.

"The return response already has been good. We mailed them at a time when many students are home for Easter vacation," she said.

"Students are becoming more aware of the need and importance of expressing helpful and constructive information to help continue and improve vocational programs at the high schools.

"It is already known that many former students have taken continuing vocational courses. I want to remind former students that they may still contact the job-placement office if they are in need of employment."

Organ donors increase in state

More than 350,000 drivers made the first quarter of this year the best ever for the Michigan Medical Information and Organ Donor Program, according to the Secretary of State's office.

The program, started in 1977, gives drivers the option to authorize on their licenses use of organs for transplants in event of death.

BARBARA Rondelli, soprano soloist in Sunday's Plymouth Symphony Orchestra concert, is the wife of the orchestra's conductor, Johan van der Merwe.

The Plymouth Symphony Society Board of Directors has renewed Johan's contract after a successful season. Sunday's concert with the Schoolcraft Community College Choir will end the regular series. The pop concert on May 9 at Pioneer Middle School will be the grand finale for the 1980-81 season.

CHUCK AND CAROLE Brandt were in Japan for 10 days, and they were lucky enough to be there during cherry blossom time.

The Japanese make the most of the cherry blossom season. It is such a fleeting pleasure — even less than five days if it is rainy and windy — that everyone devotes as much time as possible to enjoying the blossoms.

They even have a special name for it, hani mi, which can be translated as flower viewing. The term could be used for plum or peach blossoms but in general it refers to cherry blossoms.

Carole said the Japanese flocked to the parks and spread their blankets under the trees. "They were almost blanket-to-blanket on the grass, just admiring the blossoms. Someone told us they also go there at night." She said she didn't know if the trees were lighted or if they took flashlights.

Don't you love it? Millions of people of all ages devoting hours to the pleasure of enjoying cherry blossoms.

Chuck was in Japan for business meetings. He works for the Koyo Seiko company, which manufactures bearings. The Brandts were in Osaka and Tokyo. Carole said that with Chuck in meetings, she had free time to do her own browsing. She said she would recommend their Tokyo hotel to anyone planning a trip to Japan. They stayed at the New Otani, which has more than 100 acres of landscaped grounds — all waterfalls, streams and gardens. And on the grounds are about 50 little restaurants, with wonderful food and views.

Their hosts took them to a geisha dinner — with 30 courses!

ANN TRINITY and Judy Gideau were winners at last Thursday's party bridge games at the Plymouth Cultural Center. Bridge players meet at the center on Farmer Street at 12:45 p.m., and play begins at 1 p.m. They usually are through at about 4 p.m. The games are open to all bridge players.

OUR LOCAL glass blower, Don Schneider, has been busy. The gift store in the Detroit Institute of Arts is now handling his creations — beads, gemstone and ratail cord necklaces, furnace work, paper weights and vases. The store's operators plan to have his Christmas ornaments in the store gift catalog.

Liebermann's Lansing and East Lansing stores are marketing his beads. Jacobson's is including his ornaments and furnace work in its catalog.

He has been demonstrating his art at Wayne Memorial High School, the only high school in Michigan that has a glass-blowing class. And, a "Kid's World" interview with him, which was made before Christmas, was repeated last week on Channel 2.

FORMER residents Katherine Wilcox Thompson and Julia Wilcox Sanderson are coming home for their 50th class reunion at the University of Michigan.

Katherine, who lives in Rochester, N.Y., received her bachelor of arts degree at U of M in 1931. Julia, who graduated from Smith, earned her master of arts degree from U of M in 1931. She lives in Stockbridge, Mass. Katherine's husband, Dr. Robert Thompson, is coming too. He also is a 1931 grad of U of M.

All three will be inducted into the school's Emeritus Club.

They will be visiting their brother, Jack Wilcox, while in Plymouth.

PLANNING on planting geraniums in your yard this year?

Cub Scout 293 will have its annual geranium sale in time for Mother's Day. The scouts will be selling their flowers on May 15 and 16 in their neighborhoods.

'Elijah' closes symphony year

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will close its 1980-81 season with a celebration of music and song. The Schoolcraft College Community Choir will join the orchestra at 4 p.m. Sunday, April 26 in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium to present "Elijah" by Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy.

The performance will be conducted by Johan van der Merwe, conductor of the Plymouth Symphony, assisted by Marilyn Jones, conductor of the choir.

The drama of the oratorio "Elijah" has been compared to that of an opera. Mendelssohn placed great importance on the dramatic interest saying, "In such a character as that of Elijah, it seems to me that the dramatic should predominate — the personages should be introduced as acting and speaking with fervor; not in heaven's name, to become mere musical pictures."

The oratorio is given in two sections. In the first, Elijah brings on the drought in Israel to punish the people for deserting God for Baal. He performs miracles, challenges the prophets of Baal, and finally puts them to death.

IN THE SECOND section, Elijah is pursued by enemies set out to destroy him. But he is, at last, protected by the Lord and carried to heaven in a flaming chariot.

Some of Mendelssohn's loveliest and most lyrical passages are found in "Elijah."

Obadiah's aria "If with all your hearts," Elijah's aria, "It is enough," the Angel's aria, "O rest in the Lord," and the poignant chorale, "Cast Thy Burden Upon the Lord" are among some of his most beautiful music.

The Schoolcraft College Community Choir, in its 16th year, is composed of 60 singers of all ages, representing 14 metropolitan area communities. The choir provides experienced singers with the opportunity to develop their choral singing skills while making quality music available to the community.

Featured soloists will be Ralph Herbert, baritone, singing the role of Elijah; Barbara Rondelli, soprano; Deanna Boylan, mezzo soprano; and Lawrence Vincent, tenor.

Herbert, a resident of Ann Arbor, joined the staff of the University of Michigan school of music in 1961 as professor of voice and director of opera production.

The Viennese-born baritone made his American debut in 1942 in Max Reinhardt's "Rosalinda." Since that performance, his name has been synonymous with theatrical and operatic versatility.

He has appeared and directed with major opera companies and orchestras in the United States, including the New York Metropolitan, and companies of Washington, D.C., City Center, Houston and Fort Worth.

BARBARA Rondelli is a graduate of Pittsburg State University and the Royal Academy of Music in London, England, where she studied with Dame Eva Turner as a Fullbright scholar. As an opera and concert singer she had performed about 35 major operatic roles and 50 major oratorio roles. She is an associate professor of voice at the University of Toledo.

Deanna Boylan, a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Music, has an unusual musical background. Her early performance experience was as a solo pianist and vocal coach-accompanist. She frequently appears with Ann Arbor-based early music chamber groups, Ars Musica and the Barococo Ensemble. Boylan has performed major oratorio works of the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries.

The April 26 concert will be dedicated to Oliver H. Wagner, who served on the Plymouth Symphony Society Board of Directors for more than three years before his death earlier this year. The society has established a Young Artist's Scholarship Fund in his name. Persons wishing to donate to the fund can send their contributions to the Plymouth Symphony Society, Box 467, Plymouth Michigan, 48170, or they can drop off their contributions at the box office at Plymouth Salem High School on Sunday.

Tenor Lawrence Vincent, a doctorate candidate at the U-M School of Music, has been cast in numerous major roles: Eisenstein in "Fledermaus," Timothy in the "Gobbelinks," Nerone in "Il Coronatione de Poppes."

He will be appearing in New York and the midwest with the Goldovsky Opera Institute as Count Almaviva in the touring production of the "Barber of Seville."

ADMISSION to the concert is $4 for adults and $2 for senior citizens and college students. Members of the Plymouth Symphony Society will be admitted with their season tickets and students K-12th grade will be admitted free.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at Beitner Jewelry, Plymouth Book World and Heide's Florist (Harvey at Ann Arbor Trail) in Plymouth, and at the Harvard Book Store and Arnoldt Williams Music in Canton Township. The auditorium is on Joy Road west of Canton Center Road.

The Plymouth Symphony League will provide coffee and tea during intermission. A Girl Scout troop will babysit preschoolers during the concert. A bus for senior citizens will pick up at Tonquish Creek Manor at 3:15 p.m. and return there following the concert.

This concert is made possible, in part, by a grants from the state through the Michigan Council for the Arts, from the Plymouth Symphony League and from Burroughs Corporation.

Gail Tosh will be among the Old Village merchants who will be giving a posy to the ladies during Sunday's spring walk.

On Sunday

Old Village greets spring

Sunday visitors to Old Village will enjoy a "Touch of Spring" as the shops and residents of the village celebrate the season with their annual spring walk.

Terri Griffin of Forever Yours and Gail Tosh of Grooming by Gail have been co-chairing the planning of the event. Sue and Sharon of the Country Cupboard have been coordinating activities. Barb Every of Useful Antiques has been in charge of art work. Charlotte Austin of Electrolysis by Charlotte arranged for the rides and the petting farm animals. Earline Woodward of Yesterday and Today handled booth assignments.

All the members of the Old Village Retail Merchants Association cooperated in the effort.

POTTED plants will decorate shops and store fronts. Cut flowers will be available throughout the village for lady walkers.

For the children, there will be pony rides on Division Street and also a Moonwalk; carriage rides beginning in front of the House of Useful Uniques, and hayrides, beginning on the Spring Street parking lot.

There will be music in the air supplied by Marie Schlapers, a vocalist who is appearing currently at Merriweathers, and by Shirley Burns, guitarist and vocalist.

For those who work up an appetite during the walk, there will refreshments aplenty at Shelley's Chicken, Bill's Market, OVA Hamburger Grill with OVA coffee and doughnuts, and spring tonic doughnuts along the route. The Old Village Sausage Shop, Sweets-n Treets, ChooChoo Caboose Concessions also will have food.

THE H Club is supplying the lambs, goats and bunnies at the petting farm.

With Brian, a soft-coated Wheaten terrier owned by Karen and Bob Hall; Lil Bit and Daffney, old English sheep dogs owned by Nan and John Mustonen, Laurel, an Afghan hound, owned by Gail Tosh, and Pandy, a mixed old English sheepdog owned by Terri Griffin, some walkers may think Old Village is going to the dogs. But it all adds to the fun of the occasion and walkers should keep an eye out for Bucky the llama, probably the first of his kind to visit old Village.

Prizes and gift certificates will be awarded to lucky walkers.

The flea market, antiques and arts and crafts will be set up on Liberty Street and in the fountain area.

Many booths are expected featuring stained and painted glass, sculptured clowns and clocks, laser photography, World Book Encyclopedia, handmade infant wear and afghans, macrame, stone ware, wood art, ceramics, and soft sculptured pictures.

They also are expecting a fortune teller.

Y Indians unite parents, kids

Canton Chatter

By KATHY FREECE 981-2027

The YMCA parent-child programs are in existence to strengthen the family unit by reinforcing relationships. They have been designed to create an atmosphere in which parents can come to understand their children better, on a one-to-one basis.

By opening the pathway of communication, this encourages parents to provide much-needed positive, creative examples to their young children.

The Y-Indian programs are based on the lore of the American Indian. Mother-daughter programs are Trailettes for over 9 and Indian Maidens for 5 to 9. Indian Braves are mothers and sons ages 5-9. Father-son programs involve Trailblazers ages 9 and up, and Indian Guides for ages 5-9. The Indian Princess group is for father and daughter ages 5-9.

Hank Dawson soon will be appointed as this year's federation chief. With four years' experience in the program with his son Derek, Dawson will enrich the 1981 program with new ideas and add some sparkle to the present yearly activites.

As tally keeper — organizing minutes and coordinating the monthly newsletter — for three years, at the area level as well as the tri-county level, Dawson knows what has to be done to make the federation run smoothly. He also served on the YMCA Board of Directors.

A one-to-one basis helps share the load of responsibility when it comes to creativity, love and companionship.

There is one major function every month for the entire federation. These vary according to the season and include canoe trips, parades, field trips, bowling tournaments, fall and winter campouts plus lots more.

Janet Dawson, along with her daughter, Elaine, joined the Indian Maidens this year and share many of the federation activities with their counterparts. To stay active and stay together is another attribute of the program.

LINDA Gattozzi will be installed as the upcoming year's Maidens federation chief.

As a single parent, working together to complete projects with her daughter, Kristy, is one reason for joining the program.

Linda is a senior at Madonna College and hopes to teach chemistry as her career. She said there was an awkward feeling upon joining, but the warm people and the feeling of friendship was all around her when she initially joined. There are five mothers and five daughters in her tribe. They decided to call themselves the Creek Tribe because the Gattozzi has Creek Indian ancestry.

When it came time to make their vests for the year, Linda and Kristy worked side by side to complete their assignment. With just one year as an active participant in the federation, there is much to learn and Linda is anxious and eager to do a good job. She feels that being in front of a friendly audience for a year will be an asset to her future teaching profession.

The upcoming Indian-a-rama for new members will be May 5-7, at Allen Elementary School for Plymouth, Hulsing Elementary for Canton and Ammerman School for Northville-area residents.

To start the new year with a twist, there will be half off the regular dues fee. A charge of $12.50 is required to join to enjoy the monthly activities throughout the summer and on until January. It is a great opportunity to spend a little money for fun and togetherness.

For further information on the structure of this wonderful organization, call 455-6116 to reach Hank Dawson or 420-0450 for Linda Gattozzi.

PLYMOUTH Christian Academy students and parents are going to be very busy the first week of May. Their annual spring concert will be May 1, featuring the musical "Down By The Creek Bank" by Dottie Nambo. The theme of a picnic with all of the beauty of spring, will be presented on the stage of the Calvary Baptist Church on Joy Road.

An unusual aspect of the presentation is that there will be babysitting provided for children infant through 3 years of age so everyone can enjoy the concert. All three bands — Beginning, Cadet and Concert — will perform that evening. Admission is free to all area residents.

A Jog-A-Thon will be on May 9, with T-shirts and prizes for everyone participating. The event will consist of a two-hour walk, jog or run around a measured course. Prior to the event, participants should obtain sponsors who will pledge a certain amount for each lap.

Simon's 'Chapter Two' opens Friday

The Plymouth Theatre Guild production of Neil Simon's "Chapter Two" will open at 8 p.m. Friday in the auditorium of Central Middle School. The two-act comedy will be presented April 24, 25 and May 1 and 2 in the school on Main Street at Church in Plymouth.

Vestus J. Spindler III is the director and also has the male lead role of George Schneider.

"Chapter Two" is Simon's autobiographical love story of George, a widower, and Jennie, a recent divorcee. As they try to put together the fragments of their lives, typical Simon humor romps through the play. The ribald intrigues of George's brother and Jennie's girlfriend produce some hilarious episodes.

"Chapter Two" also leads its audience through through some poignant scenes but it has a wonderfully happy ending.

SPINDLER'S interest in the entertainment field began at the age of 7 as a member of his church choir. Since then, his creative energy has known no bounds. He sings, plays banjo and clarinet, has acted in 18 theatrical productions, directed 21 productions, worked on set design and construction, makeup and costumes, lighting and sound.

He has been involved in theater at Michigan State University, Eastern Michigan University, Livonia Franklin High School and Livonia-Redford Theater Guild before coming to the Plymouth Theatre Guild.

Some of his credits include: Don Quixote in "Man of La Mancha" for Performing Arts Guild; Beaurevers in "Shot in the Dark" for Stage I Productions and Jerry Leeds in "An Almost Perfect Person" for Livonia-Redford Theatre Guild. He says the highlight of his career, thus far, was working with Sir Laurence Olivier in "The Betsy." He is vice chairman of the Northville Arts Commission. He earned his master's degree in theatre at EMU and is a teacher in the Farmington Schools.

CYNTHIA L. DEITZ has the role of Jennie Malone.

A graduate of MSU with a bachelor's degree in theater, Zeitz credits her Plymouth Salem High School drama teacher, Gloria Logan, and auditorium manager, Jim Kaiser, for her solid foundation and appreciation of theater.

"Chapter Two" marks her debut in community theater.

Her string of credits include acting in MSU's productions of "Miracle Worker" and "Sleeping Beauty;" member of MSU's "Catalogue Card Capers" tour; and behind the scenes work at Star Theater of Flint with Paul Lynde, Lorna Luft and Carol Lawrence.

During "4 Girls 4" at Star Theater, Zeitz was Rosemary Clooney's personal dresser. She plays piano, fences, sings and aspires to work in professional theater as an actress or stage manager.

CHUCK MILLER plays Leo Schneider, the lead's brother.

Miller's inklings toward entertaining paid off in his college days at Baldwin-Wallace in Cleveland, where as a student, he sang and taught guitar to help pay expenses. His early stage roles were in musicals — "Camelot" and "Carousel."

He has been set construction chairman for the Plymouth Theatre Guild and his acting credits with the guild include "Love Rides the Rails," "The Sunshine Boys" and "Night of January 16."

He has many interests. He is a licensed pilot, enjoys fishing, gardening and rebuilding antique cars, and is employed by Ford Motor Co. at the Rawsonville plant.

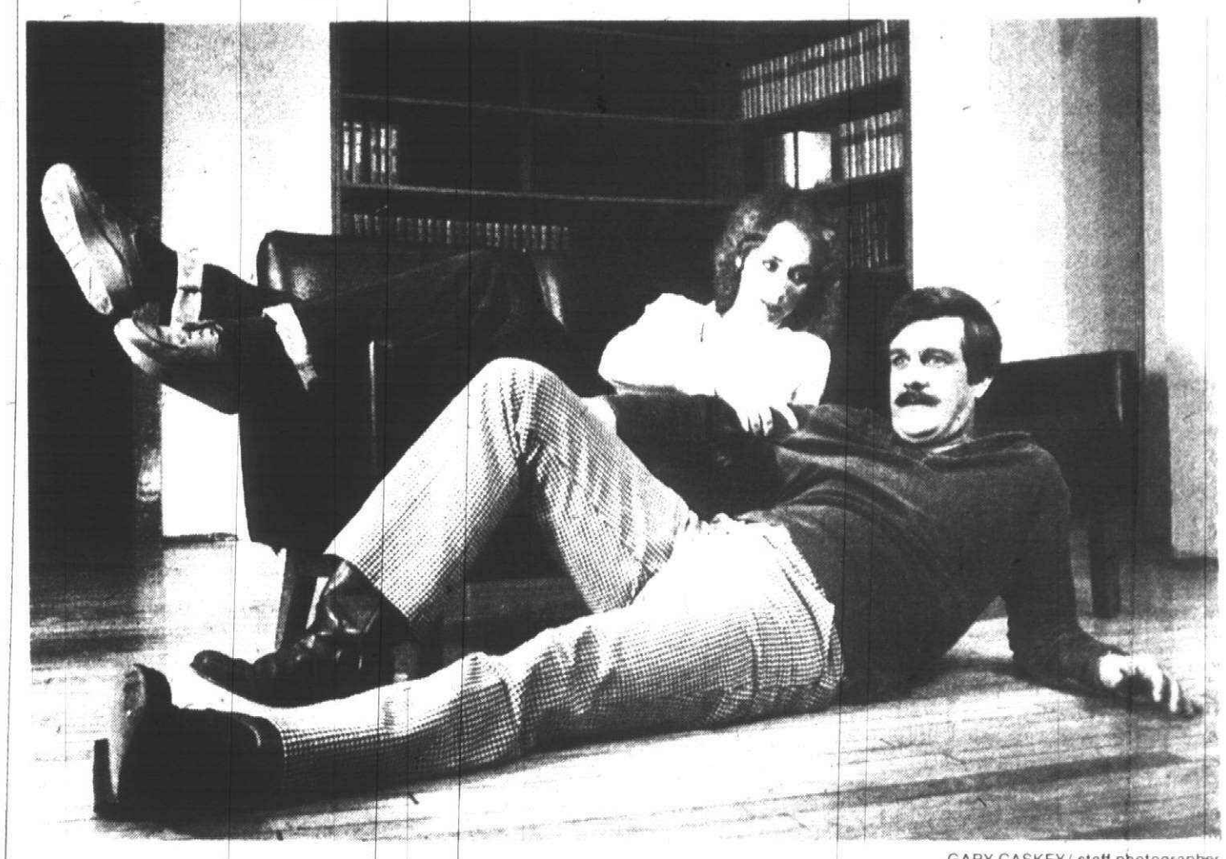

LINDA PAVEY appears as Faye Medwick. She was in PTG's production of "Night of January 16." her previous credits include "Man of La Mancha," "You Can't Take It With You" and "Publicity Mad."

Pavey earned a bachelor's degree in chemistry in 1975 at Wayne State University where she currently holds the honorary position of member of the Alumni Board of Directors. She is employed as a pharmaceutical representative for Parke Davis & Company.

The Canton Township resident plays the bagpipes and is vice president of the Detroit branch of the Pipers & Pipe Band Society.

ROBIN GALICK is producing the show. She has been an active member of the guild for more than seven years. Patricia Bray is assistant director/stage manager.

Other behind-the-scenes workers are: Lonny Leach, lighting; Richard E. Brown, sound; Ann Schaffer, props; Robin Galick, program; Vi Roberts, publicity; Ann Shaffer, make-up; Barbara Sklenar, costumes; Karen Groves, tickets; Nancy Sievert, hospitality; Phyllis Joanne Counts, photographer; David Ide, artist; Heather Twitchell, set decoration; and Dennis Schlicker, set construction.

The junior club members will have their "pic-a-winner" barrel where everyone is a winner.

In addition to free prizes, the club will be giving away free "pay money" to some lucky winners. The money can be spent at any bourse dealer at the show.

There is also an old-fashioned coffee shop for philatelic trading and gossip.

Countess is Town Hall speaker

By Michelle McElmurry
special writer

A young woman college graduate serves the United States by becoming a spy for the country's first intelligence agency, is captured by the enemy and is released, is rescued from a stampeding bull by a young count, marries the nobleman and lives the life of a countess of one of Spain's most noble and famous families.

It sounds as if it could be the scenario for a new romance novel, a book by Sidney Sheldon, or a TV-Movie-of-the-Week.

It is, however, the stuff of life, at least of the life of the former Aline Griffith, now the Countess de Romanones of Spain, the concluding speaker of the 1980-81 Town Hall series.

Speaking at the Plymouth Hilton Inn, the Countess, who has lived in Spain for 33 years, said she still considers herself American. "When I speak to American audiences, I like to think I'm as American as anyone in the room," she said.

THE COUNTESS has been touring the United States on a lecture circuit for the past year.

As the wife of one of Spain's leading nobleman, she is one of the most influential women in Europe. She is the only woman serving on the boards of several international corporations, is one of Spain's leading patrons of the Arts and other cultural and charitable projects, is the Spanish representative of Vogue and is an expert in paleography (the ancient script of the 12th-17th centuries).

She also is an ardent political activist having organized the first women's political group in Spain and has been vocal in her support for a conservative, strong democratic Spanish government.

Politics seemed to be the central focus of the Countess' lecture last Thursday as she told her audience that "my purpose is to inform the American people about what is going on in Europe."

Perhaps of equal interest to her audience were some of the details of her life.

SHE WENT back to 1943 when the U.S. was in the middle of the greatest international conflict in the history of the world. The United States and her allies were at war with Germany, Italy and Japan and peace wasn't even a good hope.

In Pearl River, a small town in upstate New York, Aline Griffith became involved in a dangerous mission for her country. A recent college graduate who majored in international relations, she went to Washington D.C. and joined the country's first intelligence agency — the Office of the Secret Service (OSS).

She was one of only two women trained at the time for overseas espionage. After a grueling training session with 60 other agents, she was sent to Europe where she began her undercover operations.

Aline was placed in charge of organizing groups of female secret agents to cross German lines and investigate Gestapo and SS activities.

As the war continued, she eventually found herself in Spain, where she expected to cross the border with a suitcase full of microfilm and radio equipment.

HER ATTEMPT almost failed when she encountered enemy agents, was arrested and spent two days in jail until the chief of police returned from an extended bullfight.

As the war came to end, Aline continued her association with the OSS and returned to Spain in 1947. While attending a bullfight, she was literally "swept off her feet" by a young Spaniard who rescued her from a stampeding bull.

The young man turned out to be Conde de Romanones, heir of one of Spain's most noble families. He soon proposed marriage to Aline and she accepted to begin her story-book life in Spain.

The Countess warned her audience not to take America's role in the world for granted.

"I have been seeing a lot of anti-American propaganda in Spain and Europe," she told the capacity crowd. "When you see people criticizing your country when you're not in your country, you become very angry and indignant."

The Countess explained that much of

The fee for either of these workshops is $30.

Pros and cons of stamp and coin investing will be taught by experienced investors who will show how to select stamps and coins that will increase in value. The workshop will meet from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, May 9, in S-2 of the Science Building.

Another course for serious investors will involve investing in gold and silver gems. Offered May 16 in the Science Building, it will be taught by investment experts who will explain how gem investments can provide a hedge against inflation.

A stock options seminar will be offered on three consecutive Thursday evenings, May 7, 14, and 21 in room L-220 of the Liberal Arts Building. Participants will learn why listed options on common stock can be versatile and profitable investment ideas.

TWO SUMMER SESSIONS on basic canoeing will teach the beginner fundamental theories of canoeing, paddling techniques and small craft safety skills. The "on-the-water" phase will include a five-mile canoe trip, and American Red Cross Basic Canoeing Certificates will be issued to students who successfully complete the course. The first session is May 6-20 and the second June 3-17. Both meet 7:30-9:30 p.m. on Wednesdays in room C-3 of the Student Center building.

Her life could be scenario for romance novel the anti-American propaganda in the Spanish media has been generated against the renewal of three American bases situated in Spain and the proposed inclusion of Spain in NATO.

"IT IS VERY important that we, as Americans, have strength and friends," she said.

The Countess told the audience that the United States has to keep a tight hold on other countries.

"Since 1945 we have lost half of Europe (to socialist countries)," she said. "We cannot lose Spain."

The Countess focused on the Soviet Union as the center of the anti-American propaganda movement.

"We are in a silent World War III," she explained. "It's a different kind of war with new weapons and it's important that people realize that the real target of this war is the United States."

Through "disinformation, hypocrisy and surprise, the Soviets are trying to destablize America," she said,

She explained that one of the greatest concerns of Europeans today is the security of the Persian Gulf region.

"We in Europe get approximately 60 to 70 percent of our oil from the Persian Gulf," she said.

"IF THE SOVIET Union were to take control of that area, it would drive a wedge between the United States and its strongest allies.

"We (Europeans) realize that if the Soviets control that area we will have to bow to their demands," she explained.

She said the biggest threat to world peace at the present time is the growing international terrorism — which is most predominant in Europe.

"I have seen unbelievable acts of terrorism," she commented.

"Though America has not escaped from terrorism," she said, "it is not as prevalent here as in other parts of the world."

Last year, 511 persons were killed by the ETA, the Spanish terrorist organization.

The Countess explained that the international terrorist ring is a "very wealthy, very organized network working to destabalize democracies."

SHE EXPLAINED that most of the terrorist movements including the Irish Republican Army, the Palestine Liberation Organization and the Red Brigades, are part of a worldwide terrorist organization.

All these groups are trained in the same schools and learn the same techniques, she explained. And many of these groups are directed by the KGB — the Soviet secret police, she added.

"The aim of the socialist ideology is to destroy capitalistic democracy — of which the United States is the central focus," she said.

"The KGB knows how to fan up a smouldering fire in a particular country," she said. "They have an excellent intelligence network — far better than that in the United States."

The Countess explained that the Soviet Union has infiltrated into many organizations in the United States and is using many charity and church groups as fronts for the cover-up of socialist and marxist ideologies.

THOUGH SHE admitted that her accusations were harsh and somewhat foreboding, the Countess said she felt it was her "purpose to inform the American people of what I know."

She said much of the information she has received comes from her former colleagues in the OSS, who now work for the CIA and other intelligence agencies.

"It would be very dangerous for me to talk like this in Spain," she admitted. "I would fear for the safety of my children and grandchildren."

She encouraged Americans to become more involved in international affairs and to write to their legislators for more information.

Having seen the recent conversion of the Spanish government from a dictatorship to a democracy, the Countess remarked that "though America may be a new country in many ways, they are veterans in democracy."

EUROPEANS need the United States, she explained. "Americans are those that others put their hopes in."

Their tulips bloom

Members of the Mayflower Garden were out at the little flower bed at Wilcox and Mill Street admiring the tulips they planted last fall. Beverly Johnstone (left), Bev Kuczynski, Goldie Osborn, Dorothy Fulton, Rosemary Norquist and June McKenny planted shrubs and tulip bulbs. The tulips were timed to bloom in three batches.

The beautiful chapel at St. John Provincial Seminary, along with the rest of the facilities at the Plymouth institution, will be open to the public at an open house Sunday.

Seminary invites public in

By Bob Sweeney
special writer

The mysterious cloak that St. John Provincial Seminary in Plymouth has worn since its beginnings 30 years ago will come off Sunday when the Catholic institution opens its 10-foot tall doors to the public.

From 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., residents of this area are invited to visit the seminary at Five Mile and Sheldon, roaming its 170 acres, kneeling in its chapel and walking down handsome hallways to see its varied facilities.

The seminary was built as a place to train Catholic priests for churches in Michigan. Although used now in a variety of other ways, there has not before been a public invitation for those who live nearby.

"There is a curiosity about what goes on behind these closed doors," said Jerry Micketti, coordinator of a group of seminarians planning the open house.

"No one knows what this building is, what it is doing here. We'd like to satisfy that curiosity and destroy some myths about the place."

VISITORS WILL learn, said Micketti, a former serviceman with a degree in history from Western Michigan University, that St. John is "actually like any other graduate school."

"There are parties Friday nights and people turn up their stereos," he added. "We're all here for academics, just like the students at the Universiy of Michigan."

In fact, life at the seminary is so real that rising costs have made some big financial changes.

In 1976, St. John opened its doors to public groups, and business manager Cathy Hunter estimated that some 5,000 to 6,000 guests now use the buildings for retreats with church groups each year.

The seminary's model nine-hole golf course now is available to a few evening golf leagues.

Conferences go on in the facility that has 150 beds in single and double occupancy dormitory rooms as well as a gymnasium and handball and racquetball courts.

And last year the seminary made a major change and started charging those studying for the priesthood $50 a credit hour.

WHILE ST. JOHN is devoted mainly to the training of priests — currently there are 74 full-time seminarians — its facilities also are used by 96 part-time students in assorted programs.

Three degrees are offered. The four-year master of divinity prepares men for the Catholic priesthood. Then there is a two-year master of arts and theology and a two-year masters program in religious education. The two latter are open to both men and women.

Micketti said some 200 guests are expected for the open house. Parking is available in the circular drive in front and also in a rear lot.

Easter is this Sunday in Orthodox churches

Culminating Holy Week events seven days later than Christians using the Roman church calendar, members of St. Mary Antiochian Orthodox Church of Livonia will mark Easter with special services beginning just before midnight on Sunday, April 26.

St. Mary, 18100 Merriman, will be the setting for matin service at 11:30 p.m. and rush-hour service at midnight followed by divine liturgy.

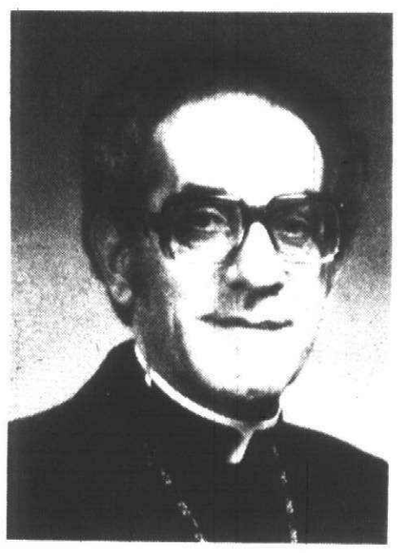

Preceding the Easter worship will be a 12-passion gospel and procession at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday and lamentation at the tomb of Christ and the great procession at 8 p.m. on Friday.

Earlier Holy Week events in the church led by the Rev. George Shalhoub, pastor, and Nami Wawwas, parish council president, included a matins service at 10:30 a.m. on Palm Sunday, bridegroom matins at 7:30 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday and the sacrament of Holy Unction and the rite of washing of the feet on Wednesday.

Archbishop Michael Shaheen, auxiliary and second-highest-ranking clergyman of the Antiochian Orthodox Archdiocese of North America, was the parish's special guest for the Palm Sunday rites.

Now in his 30th year in the priesthood and his 19th as archbishop, the prelate who visited is the first American-born clergyman to become bishop in this Eastern Orthodox archdiocese. His headquarters are in Toledo.

He conducted the Palm Sunday rites at St. Mary in Arabic, the language of the Antiochian Church in other parts of the world.

moral perspectives

Rev. David Strong

How will God judge the space shuttle?

Since ancient times, religious leaders have spoken of God's judgment. This is because God in the Jewish-Christian tradition is seen as just. He is one who does not allow evil and chaos to continue.

The judgment which is envisioned in scripture is not so much an individual thing. The focus of God's justice is most striking in regard to nations.

The prophets saw Israel as a nation which would experience destruction because it had failed to seek the will of God. Jeremiah predicted such a time of ruin in the 6th century B.C. because the people had failed to be true to their agreement with God.

In modern times, the church in eastern Europe has echoed this thought. The judgment of God upon the immorality of the church and the society has been to allow the rise of communism.

A church which was dominated by the rich nobility had lost touch with human need. A harsh political system changed those conditions of poverty, which the church with its privilege had failed to address.

WHAT IS GOD'S judgment in our day? Some religious leaders would predict the final holocaust and the end of the world. For them, God's judgment will be the saving of the few and the damning of the many.

More realistically, God's judgment continues in the process of history. We cannot do evil and escape its consequences. As a nation, our increasingly larger commitments to an arms race proceeds counter to God's will. Human need and dislocation becomes greater and the rich nations carry on an ever more demanding arms production.

This nation cannot pour an ever-increasing amount of its resources into war preparations. This nation cannot ignore God's will for peace and brotherhood. The judgment is and will continue to be economic ruin for those who pursue the arming of the nations.

When the economic revival falters, it will be no surprise to the person steeped in scripture. God strikes people in their most sensitive spot. For this nation it is our pocketbook.

THE SPACE SHUTTLE is a good example of our folly. Billed as a peaceful exploration of space, it will become increasingly a military vehicle.

The budget is now one-third military. This will increase to a majority of military application as the space funds are cut. The major concern of this space system is to "keep up with the Russians" in developing a capacity for war in space.

Will God fail to judge such waste? Will God fail to provide conditions by which we will be forced to painfully reverse this folly?

The prophet Jeremiah saw hope after tragedy. He saw a rebuilding of his nation after the nightmare of destruction. So the religious person has a strange mixture of feelings as he observes the economic results of the Vietnam War and continued military spending.

God's judgment is necessary and good to correct evil. So the correction must continue. Like some small child who has gone astray, our nation must be forced to acknowledge its excesses.

Did you know we can find a breast cancer as small as the head of a pin?

Such a tiny cancer can almost always be cured. A cancer of this size can best be found by mammography —a technique of low-dose breast x-rays. Using far less radiation than ever before, mammography can detect a cancer long before a lump can be felt. While the cancer is still highly curable.

Not every woman needs mammography. But for those women over 50 or with special reasons to be concerned, like those with symptoms or a strong family history of breast cancer, mammography can find a tiny cancer before it has spread. Ask your doctor about mammography.

"Von Ryan's Express" (1965), 11:45 p.m. Saturday on Ch. 7. Originally 117 minutes.

Frank Sinatra won an Academy Award for "From Here to Eternity" in 1954 (see Wednesday, 8 p.m), but he made his best films in the '60s. "Manchurian Candidate," "Express" and "The Naked Runner" are all as good, if not better, than "Eternity," which itself won an Oscar. Sinatra the actor had matured by 1960, when he was 45, and his later films reflect that maturity. Contrastingly, Sinatra was over the hill cinematically by 1970, and he made his worst films during that decade. "Von Ryan's Express" is a good World War II adventure story; Trevor Howard also stars. Rating: $3.05.

"To Kill a Mockingbird" (1962), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 129 minutes.

Perhaps the most literary film of the '60s ("A Man for All Seasons" wasn't nearly so entertaining), "Mockingbird" manages to capture perfectly the point of view of three Depression Era youngsters as they experience life in a small, southern town, attempt to come to grips with the specter of a retarded individual and observe from the fringes the rape trial of a black man. Gregory Peck won an Oscar for his portrayal of the defense attorney, but Mary Badham, Philip Alford and John Megna, as the children, own this film. Robert Duvall appears in one of his first movie roles. Rating: $3.80.

"From Here to Eternity" (1954), 8 p.m Wednesday on Ch. 50. Originally 118 minutes.

Director Fred Zinneman and co-star Donna Reed won Oscars, as did Frank Sinatra and the film. The picture is probably better than the James Jones novel, yet it's the sort of film that couldn't be made properly in the conservative '50s. Still a fast-paced and interesting story, and Donna Reed is worth the price of admission. Montgomery Clift, Deborah Kerr and Ernest Borgnine also star. Rating: $3.

of the American Backgammon Club

● ACTION PLAY

I am 79 years old and love to play backgammon every day. With over 20 years' playing experience, there are very few rolls that give me trouble. Recently, this position came up.

My opponent (black) won the opening roll with a 6-4. I then rolled a 6-4 and made my 2 point. After the game, I reset the position and I still cannot find a reasonable move.

Tell me what you would have done with the 6-4.

— George V.

Since backgammon is an action game, when positions like this happen early, you need to recognize when not to play passively and force your opponent into action. Of course, discretion must always be used.

There are three reasonable moves. Making the 2 point is not one of them. White could run from the 1 to the 11 point, which leaves a 2 and 3 return hit (21 out of 36, or a 58 percent chance of being hit). But white being hit that far in the outer board will not accomplish much.

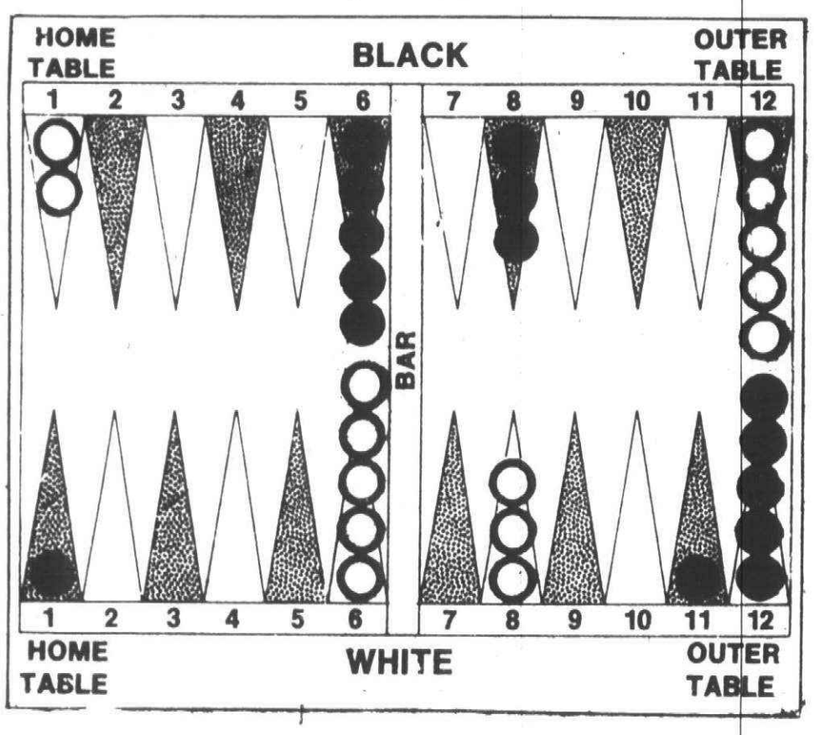

White could start the bar (7 point) and 9 point from the 12. If black should miss, white could create a fair block. Also, being hit isn't so bad. White would prefer to have three men back, capture a forward point and make it difficult for black to come around while building his home board.

White may run from the 1 to the 7 point and from the 12 to the 9 point, leaving black a direct 6 and 1 (24 out of 36, or a 67 percent chance) and an indirect 7 and 8. This move is good for action (contact) on black's next roll. However, if black did not have one checker in white's home board, then this move would be superior to any alternatives.

By far, the most sensible play is for white to start his own bar point and 9 point. Black has 17 shots that hit with an additional 4 to hit on the 9 point. This move is not as dangerous as moving to black's bar point.

Since white occupies the 1 point, black cannot close him out or begin a blitz. Furthermore, if white is hit, three checkers back is an asset. If not hit, white has the makings of a good positional game.

For more information, contact the American Backgammon Club at 459-5776 or write to Box 599, Plymouth 48170.

Plymouth Canton does number on parochial foes

Plymouth Canton handled two of the Catholic League's better baseball teams in one day.

The Chiefs downed Birmingham Brother Rice in nine innings, 6-5, and then whipped Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher, 15-8. Both games were played Saturday at Canton.

A heavy offensive attack carried Canton to its fifth straight win without a loss.

To put it mildly, the Chiefs are hitting a ton. They collected 28 hits in the double-header.

"The big thing is trying to get the pitching and defense in order," said Canton coach Fred Crissy. "It's nice to hit, but a good offensive team needs some other things.

"We haven't hit since Scott Collins (now at Missouri) and that crew in 1978.

"Through it all, you have to have the key things happen — the bunts and the hit-and-runs. You don't score runs unless you have the fundementals."

In the opener, pitcher Danny Smith, who relieved starter Dave Malek, pitched four innings of relief to stop the Warriors (4-2). It was his third victory of the season. John Coder pitched all nine innings for Rice and suffered the loss.

With the score tied at 5-all in the bottom of the ninth, Steve Schumacher smashed a double to open the inning and went to third on Shawn Hopper's sacrifice bunt.

Brother Rice subsequently brought in its outfield, hoping to cut off the winning run. Canton's Jeff Stemberger, however, squashed the defensive strategy with a line single to score Schumacher with the game-winner.

"IT WAS good one to win," said Crissey. "Normally you don't take that kind of chance, but we won it with a clean hit."

Canton took a 1-0 lead in the first when Smith clubbed his third homer of the year. Rice got two runs back in the second on Jim Stewart's single.

They increased their advantage to 3-1 in the third on Tom MacLean's RBI single.

The Chiefs struck for two runs in the bottom of the inning on a two-out triple by Bill Hanis and a single by Schumacher, who then scored on a Rice infield error.

The teams remained tied until the eighth when Bob Reamer belted a two-run single to give Rice the lead, 5-3.

Canton refused to fold in the bottom half of the inning. Fred Rumberger and Keith Stone each hit singles and Scott Bricker loaded the bases with a bunt. Smith drove Rumberger home with a sacrifice fly and Stone scored on a delayed steal.

Schumacher had four of Canton's 14 hits. Stemberger, who returned to action for the first time since breaking his arm, added two hits along with Hanis. Jim Roberts paced Rice with two hits.

In the second game, Canton used three big innings to beat Gallagher (8-2).

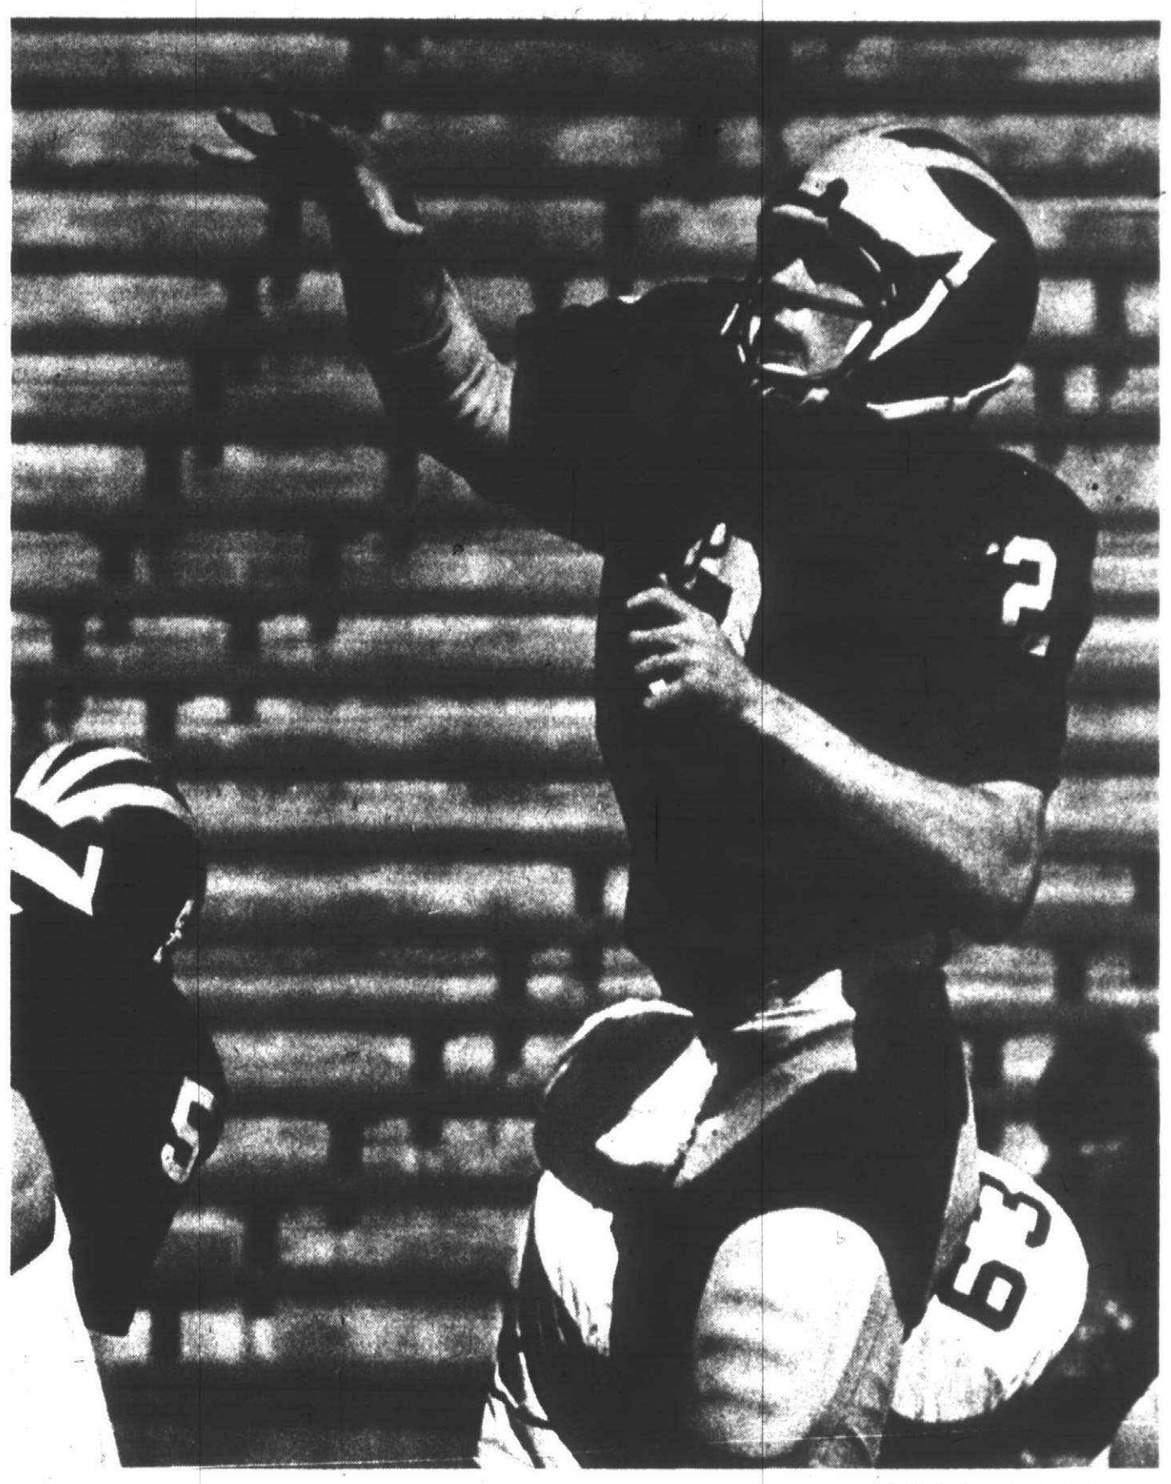

The Chiefs scored four runs in the first, six in the fifth and added three insurance runs in the sixth. They also tallied single runs in the second and fourth.

HANIS, a junior catcher, went 3-for-3, Teammate Jeff Cousino blasted a two-run homer in the fifth to help the cause.

Other Canton players with two hits included Schumacher, Smith, Bricker and Hopper. Schumacher and Smith each had four RBIs.

Jamie Chilcoff, a junior lefty, hurled the first five innings and got credit for the victory. He got relief help from Smith, who gained the final five outs.

The Chiefs will return to action Saturday at home to face Wayne Memorial and rival Plymouth Salem.

Passing days of spring

Plymouth Salem graduate Rich Hewlett fires a pass during Saturday's U-M spring football game. Hewlett hit seven of 11 tosses for 83 yards. He also caught a pass and threw for a two-point conversion. For a report on area athletes, see Brad Emons' column on page 2C.

Salem batters lose twice

Plymouth Salem baseball coach Brian Gilles stresses the team concept . . . in both victory and defeat.

The Rocks suffered their second and third straight losses Saturday on their home field at the hands of Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher, 5-0, and Birmingham Brother Rice, 8-7.

Errors and a lack of timely hitting have led to Salem's inconsistency. The Rocks opened the year with a pair of lopsided defeats and then reeled off four consecutive victories before the current losing skid.

"I guess you can call it an equal opportunity slump," said Gilles. "Everyone's contributed."

Salem committed seven errors in 14 innings of work.

In the opener, pitcher Angelo Maleno hurled the shutout. He struck out 10 Salem batters in seven innings.

Junior lefty Billy Culver suffered his first defeat, but he allowed only five hits and one earned run in six innings. Joe Humphries pitched the final inning.

Salem threatened twice, loading the bases in the first and third innings, but were unable to score.

"Our pitching is not that bad," said Gilles, "We're not scoring runs. We've been shut out four times.

"Culver had a nice outing. He's got a 2-1 record with an 0.63 ERA. He's doing a nice job for us."

Kevin White's two-run homer in the fifth gave Bishop Gallagher all it needed and the Rocks never seriously threatened thereafter.

Salem fielders committed four errors against Gallagher. They made three costly mistakes against Rice in the nightcap.

Canton hosts state meet

Charniga eyes big lift

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Bud Charniga, a weightlifter for the past 16 years, does not set lofty goals and takes each meet one at a time.

The 30-year-old Livonian will use that approach Sunday when he competes at Plymouth Canton High School's Phase III gym in the state championships, sanctioned by the Michigan AAU and the Michigan Weightlifting Federation.

"I have no specific goals," he said. "I just want to better my best lifts this year. I'm just trying to improve my results.

Charniga currently holds three state records in the 220-pound weight class and one in the 242-pound division. He has already qualified for the AAU Nationals in June in San Francisco.

His best lift so far this season was 341 pounds in the snatch and 402 in the clean and jerk.

Charniga, a substitute teacher in the Detroit Public Schools, is presently working on his master's degree at the University Toledo and trains by himself in his basement on Denne Street.

"I have about 1,000 pounds of weights," he said, "and I have three Olympic bars. There's enough for two or three people to work out."

He trains anywhere from four to six days a week, almost three hours a session.

"When you get older, your goals and desires are on a short-term basis," Charniga said. "I'm not looking far ahead. I've never competed internationally or have been on a national team."

CHARNIGA, however, came close to making the U.S. Olympic team in 1976. Since then he has been able to maintain his top 10 national ranking.

Sunday's meet will serve as a springboard for the nationals.

"This will be one of the better meets," he said. "I want to keep myself toned up on the platform.

"I want to see where I'm at and see if my training is improving my results," he said. "Depending on the results, I'll be making an assessment."

The veteran lifter said a typical meet is not as physically demanding as one might think.

"It takes more out of your nervous system," he said. "The work load in a meet is less than training. But, it requires two or three days off before you start hitting the weights hard."

Unlike body building and powerlifting, the sport of weightlifting makes a lot more demands on national and international competitors, according to Charniga.

"It takes at least 10 years to groom a super heavyweight," he said. "It's a primarily a European sport and difficult to learn in terms of perfection.

"You have to be very dedicated and have a lot of patience. There's more of a short-term gratification from body building or powerlifting."

The public is invited to Sunday's meet (no admission).

"If you've never seen this activity it will be a novelty," said Charniga. "It's very different."

Lower weight competitors (114-165 pounds) will begin at noon. The upper weight classes start at 3 p.m. Canton High School is located on 8415 Canton Center Road, just south of Joy.

Ann Arbor trip beneficial

Bob Ufer and his "Meeechigan" syndrome can become tolerable when several former area high school athletes are performing well.

Such was the case on a beautiful and crisp sunny Saturday afternoon as I caught a glimpse of the Wolverine football and baseball teams.

Almost 10,000 diehard Maize and Blue football fans converged on Michigan Stadium and saw quite a show in the annual Blue-White scrimmage.

The teams were divided equally and the action was fast and furious for almost 60 minutes. Uncharacteristically, Michigan coach Bo Schembechler abandoned his normal "Three yards in a cloud of Tartan Turf" style in favor of more passing and gimmick plays.

Plymouth Salem graduate Rich Hewlett, contesting for the quarterback job with Grand Blanc's Steve Smith and Livonia Stevenson's Dave Hall, was on the receiving end of a 12-yard gain on a flea flicker pass from the fleet Anthony Carter.

Hewlett, a junior next fall, hit seven of 11 passes for 83 yards. He passed for a two-point conversion and accounted for 103 total yards.

His counterpart, Smith, had the crowd buzzing with his running and passing. He completed 11 of 22 for 171 yards and ran for 70 more.

Hall, who spent his freshman year charting the plays, has moved into the No. 3 spot. The 6-foot-5 former Spartan standout has looked confident and poised after hitting two of three passes for 43 yards. He hurled a 32-yard touchdown strike to Carter in the second quarter.

SOUTHFIELD'S VINCENT BEAN should also see plenty of action next year as a wide receiver. He caught a couple of passes from Smith. North Farmington grad Jeff Cohen, a junior who saw considerable action last season, was a member of the Blue squad in the defensive backfield.

With Bo running the clock, the game ended 19-18 in favor of the Whites on a last-second field goal by Bob Bergeron.

The partisian U-M fans left the stadium with a good feeling and visions of a national title on New Year's Day — 1982.

Several area baseball players were also making big impressions that same day over at Fisher Field. Indiana was the guest, but the Hoosiers don't even come close to a Bobby Knight-like outfit.

The Wolverines swept three of four games over the weekend, but a visiting centerfielder left his mark.

Bob Waite, a 1978 graduate of Salem and prep football teammate of Hewlett's, currently leads the Hoosiers in hitting with .462 average after spending two years at Yavapai (Ariz.) Junior College.

Ironically, Waite originally wanted to play for the Wolverines, but coach Moby Benedict wasn't interested.

Against the Wolverines, Waite had six hits in 12 trips, scored four runs and stoled three bases.

After the weekend's action, Waite was the team leader in hits (49) and runs (43). He's stolen 19 bases in 24 attempts.

And even more remarkable is the play of the Wolverines' freshman third baseman Chris Sabo.

The Catholic Central graduate is second on the team in hitting (.378) behind Orchard Lake's Jim Paciorek and is threatening the Michigan record for homers in one season. Sabo, who was drafted out of high school by the Montreal Expos, has socked eight over the fence already. He has a good chance to break the record of 10 held by ex-Tiger Bill Freehan and Paciorek with almost 20 games yet to play.

"CHRIS has done just about everything for us," said U-M assistant Sports Information Director Jim Schneider. "You name it."

After last weekend's action, Sabo had 37 hits, 10 stolen bases and 25 RBIs. His fielding has also been superb. He has only three errors in 85 chances.

Paciorek, a junior, appears headed for a pro career. His older brother Tom is a member of the Seattle Mariners.

Paciorek currently leads the team with a .387 average and has tied the career RBI mark at Michigan with 98.

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Bob Waite shows the form which tops the Indiana University team in hitting. The Salem graduate had six hits over the weekend in games against Michigan at Fisher Field in Ann Arbor.

Salem hits baseball losing streak

"WE'RE JUST making the routine, routine catches," Gilles said. "If its anything unordinary, were not coming up with the key plays."

Rice jumped out to a 2-0 advantage in the top of the second inning.

Salem answered with two runs in the bottom of the inning on a single by Hslao Peng and four consecutive walks.

Salem took a 4-2 edge in the third on a double by Peng, who scored on a Rice infield error. Dave Slavin then scored on Bob DeBenedet's single.

Mitch Wilcox and Mickey Madsen both crossed home in the fourth to give Salem a 6-2 advantage.

Rice then exploded for three runs in the fifth and three more in the sixth. John Hetkowski's second homer of the season in the sixth cut the Rice lead to one.

In the seventh, Salem's lead-off man reached first on a walk, but he was cut down at second attempting to steal. John Coder, Rice's ace, then came on to get the final two outs.

Mike Baughman, who hurled three innings, picked up the win. Ken Vermeulen, the second of three Salem pitchers, took the loss.

Peng and DeBenedet each had two hits to lead the Salem attack. Steve Allen had two for Rice.

The Rocks host Wayne Memorial and Plymouth Canton Saturday.

Novices summoned to golf clinics

Do you know why golfers shout "Fore!" when an errant shot is heading for another player on the course?

Bob Kuhn, professional at Oasis Golf Center, said that "Fore" derives from "Be forewarned," which was intially called out on links in the British Isles, the birthplace of golf.

All kinds of general tidbits will be presented to novice golfers next month during the second annual Oasis-Observer Golf Clinics.

Kuhn and his staff will conduct the free clinics May 5 for juniors, May 6 for women and May 7 for men. All sessions will last 7-8 p.m. at Oasis, which is located in Plymouth Township.

The fundementals of golf will be discussed as well as a few points on etiquette.

While there is a limit on how much can be covered in a one hour session, Kuhn said that the instructors will try to touch on grip, stance, chipping, rules and respect for the golf course.

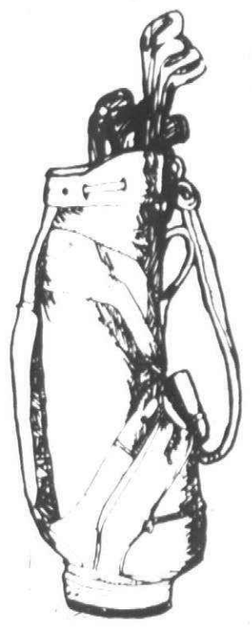

As of Monday, nearly 200 persons had signed up for the clinics.

Advanced registration is requested. Golfers planning to attend the clinics are asked to mail or drop off the accompanying coupon to Oasis.

Kuhn said that at least six instructors will be available each evening of the clinic.

In the event of heavy rain, the affected session will be rescheduled to the same day the following week.

Serious questions; track folds at East

Sports can seem so meaningless at times.

- What does it matter if a golfer scores well but doesn't take the time to enjoy the scenery along the course?
- What merit is there in a youngster belonging to a junior athletic team but never sharing in victory or defeat because he has been assigned to the bench — not quite good enough to play?
- What joy is there in competition if there is no fair play in the pursuit of victory?
- Why belong to a team if you feel you have to do everything yourself?
- Why participate if an element of fun is lacking?
- What is a champion?
- Must there necessarily be a loser for every winner?

PRESTO, CHANGO!

Now you see it. Now you don't. 'It' happens to be the girls' track team at Garden City East.

The team existed for approximately three weeks this spring but has been disbanded due to lack of interest.

The four girls who remain — Charon Mellas, Fran Boehnlein, Theresa Boehnlein and Linda Wille — practice with the boys' team at East.

The girls will run in the Northwest Suburban League girls' meet and in the girls' state meet.

"It's senseless to have dual meets with four girls," said Jim Watts, who had agreed in the 11th hour to coach the girls this spring. He had been assistant boys' swim coach.

What happened at East may not be specific to East, to a track program or to girls' athletics in general. Then, again, it may be.

The irony is inescapable. For years, women coaches and athletes screamed about unequal athletic opportunities. Now that they have them, there is no interest — at least in track at East.

Watts cited three reasons for the demise of his team — jobs, lack of interest and injuries.

"The most I ever had out on the team at one time was 12," he said.

Bob LeFevre, who coached the girls last season, said he had only eight girls who competed in the NSL meet last year.

LeFevre said coaching instability is part of the problem. He also mentioned other factors: lack of school spirit, some difficulties with grades, trouble with team discipline, and a losing tradition.

Millage problems and the threat of losing athletics also played a part in some girls' decision not to participate, LeFevre explained.

"To summarize, let's just say it's a confused mess."

But a disturbing pattern seems to have developed with regard to the girls' track program at East. Hopefully, it is not symptomatic of other sports — girls' or boys' — at East or other schools in the area.

Kudos to Mellas, the Boehnleins and Wille for their perseverance.

Bowler rewrites record book

Aleta Rzepecki, the young bowling star, wrote her name into in the record books of the Detroit Women's Bowling Association by winning three first-place prizes in the city tournament.

She started her history-making performance by rolling 689 in the team event, followed with 666 in the singles and ended with 1967 in the all-events.

The only first place she missed was in the doubles, where Mary Mohacsi and Pat Lisowski landed on top with an actual count of 1234.

JERRY NAISANA rolled one of the most unusual series of the season during the week at Plaza Lanes. Competing in the Pile Drivers League, he opened with 173, followed with 149 and then found the range for a perfect game and a 623 series.

in the pocket/W.W. Edgar

But he had to be content with third place, as Larry Franz set the pace with 727 and Don Wilson finished second with 627.

AT GARDEN Lanes there were more surprises when the Traveling League paid its usual visit. When the regular bowling was finished, the group rolled a series of doubles, and it was then that Tom Sokoloski came through with the perfecto — a 300 game.

And to add to the excitement, the closest finish of the seaeon of any league occurred when only three pins seperated the top three finishers in the St. Linus League.

Ed Piotiowski set the pace with 613, John Marthell followed with 612 and Dave Bazner posted a 611.

In the Vinco League, Norm Zilinski landed on top with 645.

WESTLAND BOWL now has a woman member in its 700 Club.

Leandra Stawski, bowling in the mixed classic, put together games of 246, 227 and 247 for 720. She is only the second woman to win such an honor since the lanes were opened.

Her big score was not enough to give her the pacemaking role. That went to Dave Pickett. He laced games of 279, 285 and 226 for 790, the highest 700 series bowled in the house this season.

Bob Goike Jr. joined the 700 shooters with a 268 in 710, and Dave Sill missed by two pins with games of 235, 247 and 216 for 698.

THE 700 CLUB at PLaza Lanes opened its doors to admit Larry Franz, who fashioned a 727 in the Pile Drivers League. He strung games of 236, 255 and 236.

MARION HEATH took top honors in the Ladies Classic at Livonia Lanes, even though she didn't win a game. She finished with 492-114 — 606 to take the series.

Drivers test mud bowl

All kinds of unusual sports have been devised since cavemen first took to solving their conflicts with clubs.

Probably one of the most unusual of today's sports and certainly a johnny-come-lately, is mud-bog racing.

It is an offshoot of tractor pulling.

The purpose of the sport is to see how far an individual can drive a four-wheel drive jeep or car through a long, narrow mud bog. Whoever gets the farthest before getting stuck, wins.

The bog is produced by finding an area with the water table close to the surface and digging up the topsoil to get a thick, deep pile of mud.

VEHICLES BEGIN from either a stop position or get a short lead run into the bog. A long towing wire is attached to the vehicle before it makes a run.

It's a good, thing, too, because the vehicles usually get stuck.

Martin Moorehead, who is affiliated with the Wolverine Four Wheel Drive Club, explained the attraction of mud-bog racing.

"Guys sitting in bars bragging how good their cars are can prove it," he said.

Moorehead added that mud-bog racing may be within the financial reach of more people than tractor pulling. It is especially popular in the south, Moorehead added.

The Wolverine Club, with members who reside all over Southeastern Michigan, will sponsor a race on April 26 at the Hell Creek Ranch in Hell, Mich.

Vehicles will be matched against others with similar wheel widths. The three divisions are: under 10 inches, 11-14 inches and 14 inches and above.

"It doesn't matter what size engine they have," Moorehead said, adding that the fuel used is also up to the individual.

It is still possible to sign up to compete in Hill later this month. Contact either Jim Rogers, 427-4218, or Ron Martenka, 278-7188, for particulars. An entry fee of $10 will be assessed

Amid the islands

On the waterfront — in Ohio

If you don't own a boat, ferries are available at Port Clinton which will take you to the islands.

By Bettie Cannon
special writer

PUT-IN-BAY, Ohio — Indians and fur-traders paddled into this harbor in long canoes in the 17th century. High-rigged British and American Men O'War fought for these strategic islands in the War of 1812.

Victorian families from all across the eastern half of the United States came here in steamships to huge ornate vacation hotels. In the 1940s this was the destination of ferry boats from Toledo, Cleveland and Detroit.

Today, islanders are again preparing marinas, restaurants and tourist attractions for another summer when boats, under canvas or power, will return to this 11-island recreation area.

Sixty miles downriver and across the western basin of Lake Erie from Detroit, Put-in-Bay is only a day-and-a-half sail from marinas east of Detroit, less from Grosse Ile. By motor, it is a four-hour run from the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

WHETHER YOU come to the Lake Erie Islands to fish, cruise, sightsee or shop, there are private and public marinas to use for a night or a week. Three public docks with slips for 400 boats are at the foot of the village park. Dockage fees run 40 cents per foot, per night. Because Put-in-Bay is a popular port-of-call, especially on holiday weekends, space here is on a first-come, first-served basis. The Chamber of Commerce recommends midweek and early June as the best time.

Reservations are a must at the Crew's Nest, a private marina with clubhouse, docking, tennis and swimming memberships. Both marinas are within walking distance of shops and restaurants. Public showers and toilet are available in the town parks.

Islanders Joan and Marvin Booker own the Crew's Nest, a carefully restored rooming house and cottage built in the 1890s. They take white wicker rockers out of storage in the large dining room and put them on the front porch. They paint and fix up the docks, tennis court and junior Olympic-sized pool.

Joan says, "We have daily memberships available here. For $30 yachtsmen use the pool, courts and clubhouse from Sunday night through Friday afternoon. When they use these mid-week memberships, they avoid weekend crowds and lack of docking space."

Seasonal memberships are also offered and vary from $150 to $250 a season, depending on services used. Live entertainment is presented all summer. Fresh perch and pickerel from Lake Erie are favorites in the dining room.

SINCE THE 1880s, small boat sailors by the hundreds have converged on the island's marinas for Regatta Week in August. In addition, this year the famous Mills Race from Toledo to Put-in-Bay begins the first week in June.

Across the road from the Crew's Nest marina, you'll see the village park and shops in the New England-type town. If you need ice or groceries, stop at the Island General Store, a block away.

In one corner of the village park, facing the bay, there is a monument dedicated to three American and three Birtish officers killed in the Battle of Lake Erie. Sailors' bodies were weighted with cannon balls during battle and thrown into the lake, but the six dead officers were buried here. Although their bodies were later moved, a mound of cannon-shot marks their first burial place.

One way to see the island is via the local tour train with its yellow, open cars shaded with red and white awnings. From the restored depot, Skip and Sharon Duggan, who are full of the lore of the island, will narrate a one-hour tour which includes stops at caves, a winery and the "Column," as it is known to islanders.

The "Column" is the Admiral Oliver Perry International Memorial, dedicated to lasting peace between United States and Canada. With its battery of Canadian and American flags fluttering and cracking in the breeze, the 352-foot Doric column dominates the island.

National Park Service tour guides meet you at the top of the world's second tallest monument to point out highlights of the battle for control of Lake Erie, 10 miles out into the lake.

Through telescopes you may sight, perhaps, ghosts of sailing ships in combat and see shapes of islands like "Mouse" or "Starve" below you.

Wine-basted chicken picked up at the Chicken Pit in town can be taken to your boat for lunch. Or, if your cook is down in his bunk below, stop at the big, red wooden Round House Bar, constructed in 1873, for a drink and eat outdoors at the Park Hotel next door.

AN EXAMPLE of the last of a thriving island business — winemaking — can be seen at the Heineman Winery, a short walk or bike ride from the town center. Smell new wine in huge wooden casks and grape presses and taste older ones.

Louis Heineman, whose grandfather uncovered "Crystal Cave" while digging a well on his farm, will talk about his winery and then, for a dollar, guide you down narrow stairs into the cave. The ceiling and walls of the small cave are made of "strontia" crystal, the largest in the world.

Across the street, for another dollar, you can see "Perry's Cave," the 208-foot-long cave said to have been discovered by Perry. Island tradition says that British prisoners of war and ammunition were kept in this cave 52 feet underground.

In the interior of the island, blue Catawba and Concord grapes still flourish in the sun to produce wines and grape juice. Vines were first brought to the Lake Erie Islands in 1856 by a Spaniard who initiated what was until Prohibition the islands' primary industry.

The man from Spain bought South Bass Island and three more islands from a dispappointed bridegroom who had expected a cash-on-the-barrelhead dowry from his wealthy father-in-law. He did not expect four, flat islands covered with wild grape vines.

For more information about motels, cottages or tourist rooms: Chamber of Commerce, Put-in-Bay, Ohio 43451. Write Sharon Duggan, Island Tour Train, P.O. Box 154-0 about package tours including ferry ride, tour train and lunch.

For Crew's Nest reservations call The Bookers, 419-285-2374.

For charts of the Lake Erie Basin and Lake Erie Islands, write: Lake Survey Center, Department of Commerce, 630 Federal Building, Detroit 48226.

Rides and river tours

Adventure means different things to different people.

To coastermaniacs, those children of all ages who love roller coasters, adventure is the American Eagle, which will open this May at Great America in Gurnee, Ill.

The American Eagle is the newest, fastest, longest, highest of the great megacoasters which scare people out of their wits regularly in theme parks around the country.

Designers have tried for years to make thrill rides faster and scarier by using electronic space-age technology, but the real coastermaniacs prefer the wooden roller coasters because they shake and creak in just the right places.

The American Eagle is a double-track racing coaster in the same category as Gemini at Cedar Point, but it is 4,650 feet long, has a first incline of 127 feet, and makes a long, thin pattern instead of a shorter, curled one. The length of the first lift is 330 feet and the length of the first vertical drop is 147 feet.

The American Eagle follows The Beast, the megacoaster which opened last year at King's Island, near Cincinnati. King's Island has another goodie ready to open this summer: The Bat. It is a coaster in which the cars hang suspended under the track, swinging out at 90 degrees on the turns.

No thanks, folks, I'll just ride the merry-go-round. The most frightening moment of my life was on the day I walked up to the Great American Scream Machine at Six Flags Over Georgia and said to myself: "I don't have to ride that roller coaster if I don't want to."

I haven't been on a roller coaster since.

SCREAMING AROUND turns is one definition of adventure. Others might find adventure in the 1981 schedules issued by Sobek Expenditions and the Outdoor Adventure River Specialists.

OARS will take you on whitewater tours down the Rogue, San Juan, Dolores, Salmon or Colorado rivers, including the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

SOBEK has trips that range from one-month explorations of Africa to Papua, New Guinea. If you would like a 1981 SOBEK/OARS catalog, send $1.50 to Box 7007, Angels Camp, California 95222.

If all you want are free brochures, send for them at the same address. Brochures include: California and Western Rivers; South America; the Himalayas; Papua, New Guinea; Alaska Rivers and Treks; and African River Safaris.

If you like a little bit of both kinds of adventure, a little outdoor fun and a little coastering, you might explore Darien Lake Fun Country, a camping facility in New York that is set in as theme park with 35 rides available. You can bring your own tent or trailer, or rent campers or cottages.

For information, contact Darien Center, New York, NY 14040, or call (716) 881-6200.

"The menu is overflowing with mouth watering selections like the Cantonese-style pressed duck with almonds bathed in a honey-garlic sauce...This is certainly a dining room to put on the top of your list."

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN...

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

One more thing . . . get up early the day of your sale! When people read about a Garage Sale in Classified, they shop early.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

400 Apartments For Rent

This isn't LaCosta or Hilton Head.
It's the apartment you've been looking for. In Farmington Hills.

A huge, uniquely-shaped swimming pool and true resort ambience that surrounds it might be the biggest thing that sets Muirwood apart from all the others.

But Muirwood's unique character extends to every last detail. Little things. Like the way we've tucked air conditioning units into closets, hidden from view. Or the always immaculate streets and grounds. Exceptional extra touches expressed in a dozen different floor plans.

With such loving attention to detail, then, it won't surprise you that Muirwood excels in all the more important amenities, as well.

Multiple window exposures. Large living spaces. Covered parking, balcony or patio for every residence. Inspired architecture (not just rows of identical boxes). All in a rolling landscape of ponds and streams, even a private 12-acre nature trail.

And entrance to Muirwood is only through the 24-hour manned gatehouse.

In a time when resorts charge up to $365 a day, isn't it extraordinary how much you can get in Farmington Hills for $365 a month?

From $365 a month for one-bedroom apartments, to $390 for our two-bedroom rental homes.

MUIRWOOD
Grand River and Drake, Farmington Hills

Extraordinary 1, 2 and 3 bedroom rental residences that feature up to 2,800 square feet in a community of exceptional character and charm.

Thru-unit design of all of these terrace and towne homes provides private entry, double or triple exposures, kitchens with window views, in-unit storage and private laundry rooms, patios and balconies.

Each of the 8 different Aldingbrooke plans is distinguished by the unexpected; a one bedroom with 2 baths and a great room/den for example, a two bedroom 2 bath with a private dining room that is elegantly separated from the living room; a three bedroom with 2½ or 3 baths with a great room and den or with a great room and fireplace. A great deal from which to choose!

Attached garages, monitored gate house, club house, swimming pool and tennis courts.
