Sharp drop in housing starts creates fiscal woes

By Darlene Stinson
editor

The plummeting housing market has the Canton building department mired in financial trouble — a burden which at least one other department may be forced to share.

Despite last October's predictions for a mild upswing in housing construction activity, finance director Mike Gorman estimates that the building department will face a $145,000 deficit by the end of the 1981 fiscal year.

Housing starts — the bread and butter of the normally self-supporting department — have dropped from an all-time high of 1,577 during the boom year of 1978 to only five so far this year.

The building department already has suffered a 60 percent slice in its staff since Canton was toppled from its 1978 position as the housing-start leader in southeastern Michigan.

Clerk John Flodin, one of three elected administrators who is reviewing the plight of the building department, said some inspectors may be placed on part-time to cut expenses.

But Flodin and the township's other administrators are looking outside the building department for other forms of financial help.

They are recommending the elimination of three ordinance department jobs to help bail out the sinking building department.

Under the recommendation, the ordinance and building departments would merge. The move would transfer many ordinance enforcement duties to two members of the building department staff, who would also retain responsibility for inspection work.

Ordinance director Bruce Phillips is tagged as the only member of the four-person department who would survive the move.

ONE ELECTED OFFCIAL, Trustee Carol Bodenmiller, says the proposal makes a "sacrificial goat" of the ordinance department.

Ordinance officers are responsible for enforcing township ordinances and zoning regulations, such as the blight and sign laws.

"The financial problem is in the building department — not the ordinance department," protests Mrs. Bodenmiller. "The ordinance department doesn't have any problem as far as the amount of work that needs to be done."

Flodin, who made the recommendation along with Supervisor James Poole and Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz, admits that the plan for a joint building-ordinance department, in effect, "robs Peter to pay Paul."

But Flodin believes that citizens need a complete staff of building inspectors more than full-fledged ordinance department. According to Flodin, some Township Board members believe that local ordinances are enforced too stringently in Canton anyway.

"Pretty soon, we'll have an ordinance that says you have to have a permit to walk a dog," said Flodin of ordinance department duties.

"I think there are more people constantly seeking the services of the building department than the ordinance department," he said.

AT THE CURRENT time, the building department employs two clerk-typists and one licensed inspector for each field of inspection work — building, mechanical, electrical and plumbing.

Township administrators hope to fill the position of chief building official, which has been vacant since department head Aaron Machnik resigned last month.

Although housing construction nearly has ground to a halt, Flodin says all four building inspectors are needed certify new garages, porches, swimming pools and similar projects.

Building permits for that type of construction generates some revenue for the building department. But Gorman said those fees are inconsequential

Area voters join state to whip Proposal A

The Proposal A tax shift plan didn't carry a single precinct in Plymouth, Plymouth Township or Canton, according to local results.

Voters in the three communities said no by a margin of more than 2-to-1 in Tuesday's special election. That margin follows the statewide results.

PROPOSAL A would have cut operating property taxes by 50 percent and put a 6 percent cap on future property tax increases.

The losses in revenue would have been offset by hiking the state sales tax from 4 percent to 5.5 percent, with the raise returned to local governments and schools.

Unofficial statewide results show a 72 percent no votes, compared to 28 percent in favor of the proposition. Voter turnout was 35 percent.

LOCALLY, the vote in Canton was 6,517 no, 2,698 yes. About 36 percent of the township's 25,722 registered voters cast ballots.

Also defeating the plan, by a margin of 1,844-814, were voters in the city of Plymouth. About 36.5 percent of the city's 7,287 registered voters took part.

Turnout was stronger, at 47 percent, in Plymouth Township. The township has 13,662 registered voters. The no vote predominated by a margin of 4,620-1,807.

"That was a good turnout for a special election," noted Esther Hulsing, Plymouth Township clerk. "More voted (this time) than in the election for governor two years ago."

SUPPORTERS of Proposal A — primarily Gov. William Milliken and most state legislators — said passage of the amendment would save homeowners $200 million in property taxes.

But local units of government and school districts disagreed, arguing that public education would be harmed by revenue cuts and that future revenues would fail to keep pace with inflation.

If Proposal A had been approved, Canton might have lost $250,000-$300,000 in state-shared revenues, estimated finance director Mike Gorman. The city of Plymouth had foreseen a similar loss in revenues under Proposal A.

Dissatisfaction with state's plan abounds at polls

By Teri Banas
staff writer

It was a one-issue ballot but responses to it were anything but simplistic or clear-cut.

Some taxpayers at the polls Tuesday said they "agonized" over their final decision as they groped for some type of tax relief.

Others remained skeptical that they would find relief in Proposal A, likening it to a wolf in sheep's clothing. It wasn't so much a tax cut as a tax shift, they said.

Residents interviewed in an informal Observer poll Tuesday opposed by almost 3-1 the tax plan that included an increase in sales tax. Residents were interviewed at five precincts in the Plymouth-Canton community.

That opinion prevailed among homeowners and renters, though renters in particular saw little personal benefit in the plan.

Faced with several proposed tax cuts in past balloting, some residents, like Graham Laible of Plymouth, opposed it in the hopes of something "better" down the pike.

A homeowner, Laible said, "the increased sales tax is going to affect older people and those less able to pay. And it's especially unfair for non-property owners."

"I FIGURED I'd pay more in sales tax than I'd get out of the proerty tax relief," said Canton homeowner Jerry Lovelady, a Detroit Diesel employee. "My taxes in Canton are not unreasonable but sales tax in this state applies to everything."

The tax plan, soundly defeat in

Tax reform author announces ending career in House

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

State Rep. Roy Smith, R-Saline, walked out of the ballot box Tuesday morning and announced his legislative career was over.

Smith, a lawmaker — and tax reform advocate — for 14 years, wanted to make sure his retirement from the Michigan House was announced before the final outcome of Proposal A was known.

Smith co-authored the tax-cutting Proposal A with state Rep. Thomas Brown, D-Westland, and worked closely with Gov. Milliken and legislative leaders to put together a leadership proposal on tax reform.

LAST YEAR, Smith co-authored, with state Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, a tax reform package defeated by voters in November.

In 1974 Smith also worked hard behind the scenes on a tax reform measure which was defeated.

"I wanted people to know that, regardless of whether Proposal A is approved today or not I plan to end my legislative career," he said. "The outcome of the proposal has nothing to do with my decision, which was made a couple of months ago."

ONE OF the recent highlights of Smith's career in tax reform was the equalization by class legislation approved two years ago.

Roy Smith
retiring representative

Smith, whose 52nd District includes the city of Plymouth and the western half of Plymouth Township, had worked a number of years to end inequities in equalization. Because many communities in western Wayne County were drastically under-assessing residences and over-assessing other classes

Building staff faces money problems

compared to revenues for housing permits — approximately 1 percent of the home's market value.

Despite a 1981 budget of $200,500, Gorman said the building department has generated only $22,000 in revenues through April. He now predicts that the department will gross a total of $55,000 for all of 1981 — approximately $145,000 less than expenses.

Gorman said transferring ordinance enforcement duties to the building department would shave $40,000 from that deficit this year. He projects a savings of $89,000 in 1982.

If the move is approved by the Township Board, Gorman said the building-ordinance department still would face a deficit of approximately $105,000 this year. Cuts would be required in other areas of Canton's 1981 budget to make up the building department deficit, he said.

Flodin said some ordinance employees could win transfers to other departments or "bump" less senior workers, as allowed by union contract.

The ordinance department currently includes a director, two officers and a secretary. According to Flodin, one ordinance officer has resigned, effective later this month.

THE RECOMMENDATION for merging the two departments grew from a general review of township staffing. Flodin would not deny the possibility of layoffs in other departments at Township Hall.

"That's the difficult part of a management position position," Flodin said of layoff possibilities. "But as you get into a pinch for money, certain changes have to be made."

Trustee Bodenmiller finds the proposal for a joint building-ordinance department particularly irksome. She recommended a review of the building staff last month after learning of Gorman's projections for a deficit.

"What does the ordinance department have to do with the building department — unless it's a convenient way to get rid of the ordinance department," she said.

Flodin insists that admininstrators have no plans to abolish ordinance enforcement in Canton. He notes that ordinance duties in most communities fall under the police or building departments.

Second-term Trustee Stephen Larson believes a move to de-emphasize the ordinance department simply would reflect a new philopsphy of a new Township Board.

"It happens in Washington, it happens in the U.N., and it happens in Canton Township," he said. "There's nothing sinister about it. It's just the real world."

Township Board members are expected to consider the staffing proposal at their next meeting on May 26.

Board buys radios for communication in disaster

The Township Board has authorized a $13,200 expenditure to improve disaster communications.

The new radio system will link the police department, the fire department and the department of public works (DPW), Police Chief Jerry Cox said.

He recommended the purchase from the mobile communications division of General Electric Co. to beef up Canton's capability to deal with a disaster, particularly when telephone lines are down.

But Cox said he believes that the new system will receive daily use.

Police, fire and DPW radios currently use different frequencies. A patrol officer who wants to contact another department now must radio to the police station, where the message is communicated by telephone to the fire department or DPW.

Cox said the current system often leads to duplication of efforts between departments. For example, the police and fire departments may respond to the same motorist's call for help.

Cox said the expenditure unanimously authorized by the board last week will finance the installation of two news radios in the police station and Township Hall — the coordination site for emergencies. The fire department radio will be adapted to the new system.

Youth nabbed for bike thefts

Thanks to the cooperation of Canton parents, police have closed a case involving a weekend break-in at the World of Ruttman bike shop.

According to police, someone broke a window at the Lilley Road motorcycle shop sometime during the night on May 16-17. Taken were a $1,300 Suzuki dirt bike and two Suzuki T-shirts valued at $25.

FOUR teens aged 14 and 15 were turned over to Canton police on Monday night after a parent noticed the dirt bike in the family garage.

Three of the teens were from Canton and one was from Plymouth Township, a police spokeswoman said. The case will be turned over to juvenile-court authorities.

Festivals

Michigan's summertime festival schedule reads somewhat like a menu of taste-tempting delicacies.

There's the fruit salad combination of Traverse City's National Cherry Festival July 5-11, South Haven's National Blueberry Festival July 11-19 and Howell's Melon Festival Aug. 20-23.

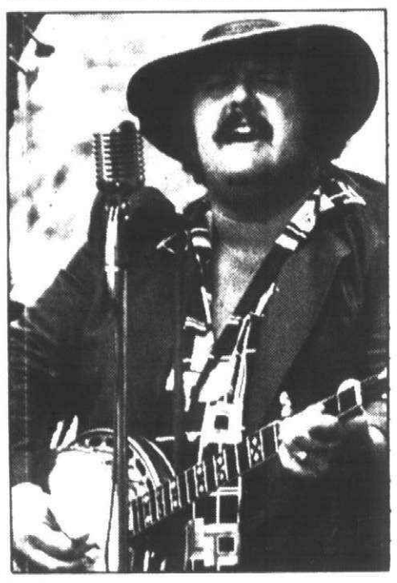
For a main course visit the Ludington Salmon Derby Aug. 22 to Sept. 6 or the Manchester Chicken Broil July 16.

What something spicier? Stop by the International Kielbasa Festival July 4 in Hamtramck's Memorial Park, where the sausages will be served from noon to 10 p.m. free of charge, compliments of the city's meat packers.

If you prefer golabki (Polish stuffed cabbage), then head for the Polish Festival in Flint either July 12 or Aug. 23.

For desert there's aebleskiver (fried pancake dough rolled in a ball and coated with powdered sugar) at the Danish Festival in Greenville Aug. 14-16.

The Paw Paw Wine Festival, Sept. 11-13, is the place to quench the thirst that you've by now developed. The local wineries also invite visitors to shed shoes and socks and to start stomping grapes the old-fashioned way.



Bluegrass

Bluegrass music aficionados will have a lot to hoot and holler about this summer.

Public radio station WDET kicks off the season Sunday with its Second Annual Motor City Bluegrass Festival at the Meadowbrook Music Festival site in Rochester.

"Last year's festival was the biggest fundraiser the station ever had," said Larry McDaniel, WDET's "Arkansas Traveler." "Seven thousand folks had one heck of a good time — in fact, some of 'em almost had to be throwed out there at the end."

This year eight bluegrass bands will perform from noon to 10 p.m. They are: Dave Evans and the River Bend; the Hotmud Family; John Hunley and his Kentuckians; Stoney Creek; Footloose; The Lost World String Band; The Reel World String Band, and Wendy Smith and the Blue Velvets.

The Detroit News will display its hot air balloon on the grounds and will offer tethered rides, weather permitting; the Mime Ensemble will entertain children, and the Costabella Cloggers will mingle with the crowd and teach their brand of dancing to anyone who wants to give it a try.

Tickets are $7 and available at CTC ticket outlets. Children 12 and under are free.

ASPLIN FARMS near Flint will hold it First Annual Bluegrass Music Festival May 28-31.

Scheduled performers include: The Osborne Brothers; the McLain Family; the Mike McKellar Band; the Livingston County Grass; Lonesome Road Bluegrass, and the Baileys.

Asplin Farms is 12 miles west of Flint off the M-13. Daily ticket prices range from $6 to $8 and four-day passes range from $20 to $28. There will be free camping and parking with food concessions on the grounds.

For further information call Thelma or Laura McKellar at 640-2214.

Greenfield Village

The term "mass-produced elegance" perhaps typifies the atmosphere of Henry Ford Museum, Greenfield Village. But it's also the name of an exhibition on the impact of the industrial revoultion on the middle-class, 19th-centruy home at the museum through Nov. 1. A spoof of early-American operettas, "Little Mary Sunshine," will be at the Henry Ford Museum Theater June 19 to July 25, followed by the comic melodrama "Peg o' My Heart" Aug. 7 to Sept. 12.

Among the many festivities planned by Greenfield Village are the Muzzle Loaders Festival (June 20, 21), the Colonial Military and Fife and Drum Music Muster (July 11, 12) and the Old Car Festival (Sept. 12, 13).

The muzzle loaders event will feature hundreds of authentically costumed sharpshooters and actual Civil War canon demonstrations. At the fife and drum muster, military units from Michigan and several eastern states will combine to provide a uniquely American military sound. Finally, hundreds of proud antique car owners will parade their early steam, electric and gasoline vehicles during the old car festival. Competitive races and other events will also be held.

For much more information 271-1620

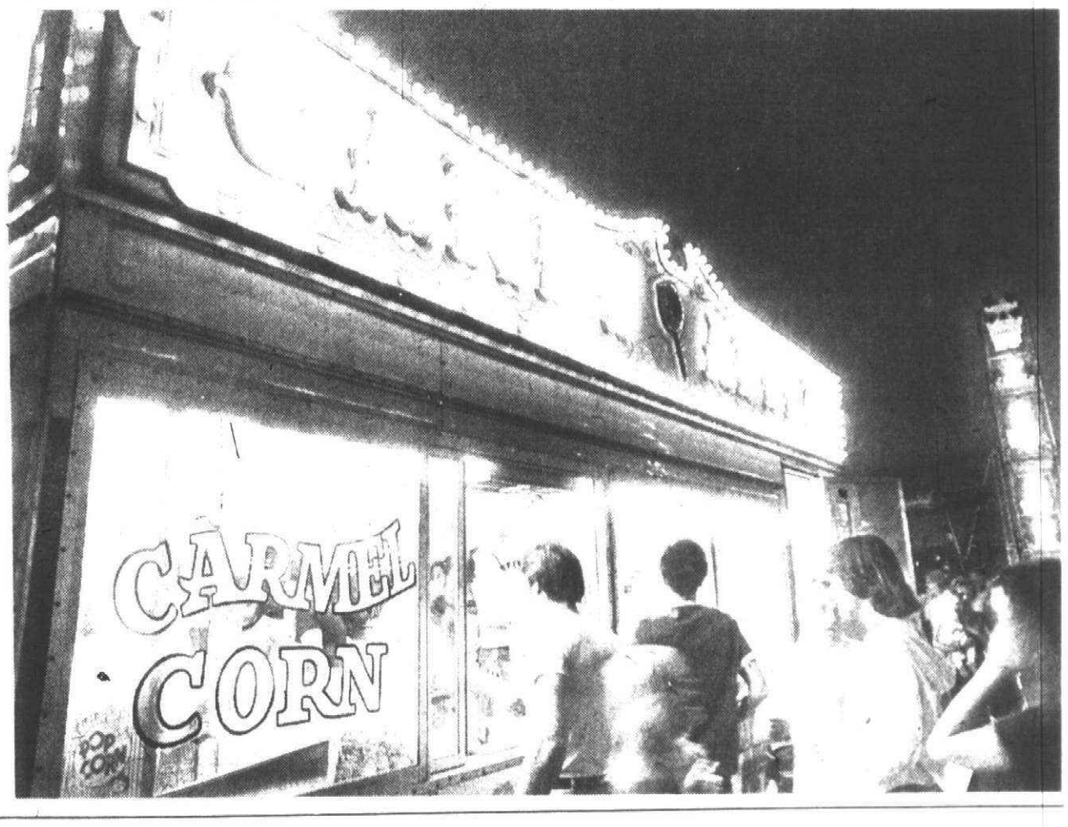
Spree

Livonia celebrates its 31st birthday June 22-28 with Spree 31, a birthday party that will feature ethnic foods, a carnival, Bavarian Fest, games and fireworks.

Ford Field, Farmington Road at Lyndon, will be the site of the festivities.

Livonia's Music Under the Stars program gets under way Tuesday, running through Aug. 30. Performances will be at either the Civic Center Park or Wilson Barn site, West Chicago at Middlebelt.

For more information on Spree 31, the arts and crafts show and Music Under the Stars call 421-2000.



Frankenmuth

Ist das nicht ein summergarten? Ya, das ist ein summergarten.

And then there's the spasplatz, like the summergarten, replete with German foods and beers.

The scene is Frankenmuth and the ocassion is the Bavarian Festival June 14-20, when the German-Americans of that city celebrate their heritage on the Cass River's Heritage Park.

The summergarten is the name given to the family tent at the festival. The spasplatz, or "fun place," is designed without der kinder in mind.

Frankenmuth, as usual, will offer visitors an abundance of barbecued chicken — and an overabundance of sauerbraten, stolen, other German delicacies and the national brew.

Frankenmuth is just off the I-75 between Flint and Saginaw. Admission to the festival tents range from $1 to $4. For further information call 517-652-6106.

Mackinac

The city of Mackinaw and Mackinac Island, the latter perhaps more popular than ever since it served as the setting of the romantic motion picture "Somewhere In Time" a couple of years ago, have a feast of activities planned for the summer.

Kicking off the events on the mainland is the Fort Michilimackinac Pagent Saturday, Sunday and Monday in Mackinaw City.

The 19th annual pagent features a re-enactment of the capture of the fort by Indians in 1763, a muzzle-loaders ham shoot, knife and tomahawk contests, a frying pan throw and, of course, a grand parade with participants dressed as Indians, soldiers and voyageurs.

All the festivities are free; further information may be obtained by calling Tom McGinn at 616-436-5566.

The 200 years of Fort Mackinac festival July 17-19 offers its share of pageantry, arts and crafts and the culmination of the Port Huron to Mackinac yacht race. The Mackinac Bridge walk, annually led by Gov. Milliken, is set for Sept. 7. For further information on many more Mackinac Island events call 906-847-3783.

Southfield

Summertime in Southfield. The city has a lot to offer, including:

- The Fine Arts Show and Exhibition June 1-14.
- A series of free, outdoor concerts at the Prudential Town Center beginning July 5.

Plymouth

Karl Malden's favorite small town, Plymouth, gets into the spirit of summer on June 13. That's when the Farmers Market opens and when Art in the Park is held.

The Farmers Market, in the parking lot between the Penn Theatre and the Masonic Temple in downtown Plymouth, will be open every Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon. Featured will be produce, flowers, baked goods, eggs and cheeses.

Art in the Park will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Kellogg Park, Ann Arbor Trail at Main Street. Local artisans will display such handcrafted items as quilts, paintings, stained glass, photographs and weather vanes.

A marathon run will preceed the Fourth of July parade and the annual ceremony at Plymouth Rock which features an exchange of messages with residents of Plymouth, England. A chicken barbecue at the VFW Hall on Lilly near Ann Arbor Road and the fireworks display near Haggerty and Plymouth roads follows.

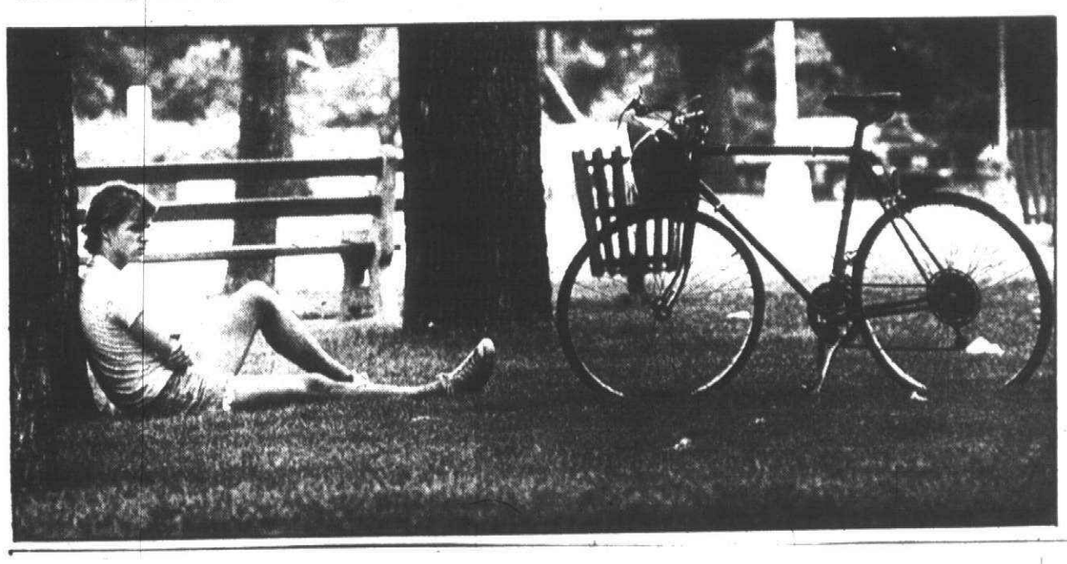
The end of summer is marked by the Plymouth Falls Festival, Sept. 10-13, in Kellogg Park. Activities will include an antique mart, car display, firefighter's waterball fight and square dancing.

Fort Wayne

Historic Fort Wayne — encompassing 2½ centuries of military history — has felt the budget crunch that has hit Detroit. This summer the fort, off West Jefferson near Livernois, will be open Wednesdays through Sunday only, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Named for Revolutionary War commander Gen. Anthony Wayne, Fort Wayne features a barracks, site of special exhibits, and the garrison, which houses the Woodlands Indian Interpretive Center and Museum.

Fort Wayne will have at least a couple of days in the sun this summer. Frontier Days will be held June 6-7, and Civil War Days is Aug. 8-9. For more information call 849-0299.



Parks

Metro Beach, Stony Creek, Marshbank, Kensington, Hudson Mills, Dexter-Huron, Delhi, Lower Huron, Willow, Oakwoods and Lake Erie — the Huron-Clinton metroparks — open this weekend.

Vehicle entry permits — $7 annual ($2 for senior citizens), or $2 daily — are required. For more information call 961-5865.

Fishing in Michigan waters a must

By Mike Scanlon
staff writer

Living in Michigan and not fishing is like living in California and not tanning.

The state's 3,000 miles of coastline, thousands of inland lakes and hundreds of streams offer anglers more fishing variety than any other place in North America that I can think of.

Fishing is an elemental pursuit, sort of like hunting without the guilt of spilling warm blood. You can't, after all, throw a deer back after you've drilled it through the spine with an M-1.

And while you can be a rank amateur and have a good time, you can be a studied expert and have a better time. My most satisfying moments in fishing are when I flog a tiny trout out of a stream and find out I'm the only guy who caught anything.

ASIDE FROM TROUT, my favorite fish is walleye. Catching walleye is a lot like catching old tires or discarded gangland victims — you just crank the reel and winch them in.

But once you've got them — the walleye, that is — you've got a very tasty fish.

Walleye are schooling fish, and when you've found one, you've usually found a lot of them. However, it's easy to lose the school. You can avoid this by stripping 10 or 15 feet of line off your reel when you catch the first walleye and attaching an inflated balloon to the end of the line before returning the fish.

Follow the balloon and you're following the school.

Like large brown trout, walleye are crepuscular and best stalked at night.

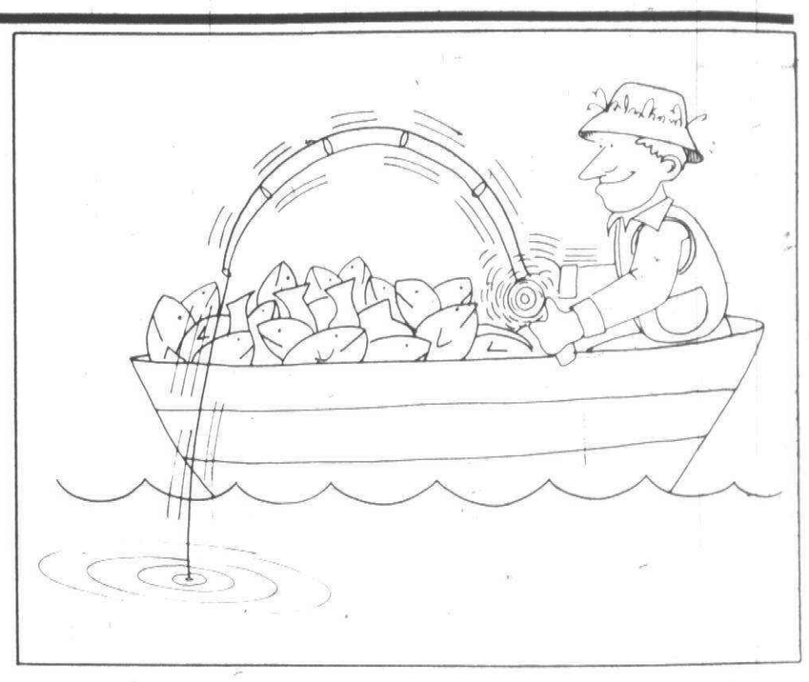
Avoid fishing in illegal locations and at illegal times. I've noticed that courtroom audiences like to laugh at guys as they're fined $125 for poaching.

Figuring out what are illegal locations and times is often difficult, given Michigan's Byzantine game laws, but we'll give it a try.

Legal times began with the April 1 season opener for early spring steelhead, a date that also marks the beginning of spearing and archery season in non-trout streams south of M46 for rough fish like suckers, carp, dogfish and gar. It also marks the opening of dip net season for suckers, which some people claim is tasty when pickled or smoked.

April 10 was the start of hand net season for smelt north of M72. April 15 opened the archery and spearing season for rough fish on non-trout streams between M46 and M72.

April 25 was the general trout opener. The season closes Sept. 30. May 1 marked the opening of spearing and archery season for rough fish in the upper peninsula and north of M-72 in the lower peninsula. May 15 was the general opener for walleye, sauger, northern pike and muskie, except for Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair and Detroit rivers, where the season is delayed to June 6.



Kensington: the last frontier

By Lem Mesee
staff writer

A frontier housewife who needed a package of green beans or a blanket didn't hop into the second family carriage and zip into the village supermarket or department store.

She kept the garden, canned and dried the harvest, made her own quilts, baked her own bread and even dipped her own candles.

Ask Ann Wiersma and Lori Anderson Anderson. Better yet, watch them. They put on live demonstrations all year at the Kensington Farm Center, at the north end of Kensington Metropark south of Milford.

"THERE ARE books on spinning," said Ms. Anderson, "but it's better to learn from someone."

Ms. Anderson started her park service career as a maintenance worker and learned her pioneer farm skills in the traditional way. She grew up in the Old Redford section of northwest Detroit and learned dyeing from a girlfriend who learned it from an older woman.

Ms. Anderson will demonstrate "Spinning Wool and Other Fibers" from 1-3 p.m. Saturday at the Farm Center. She'll use a spinning wheel and drop spindle.

Because there might be a crowd, the Kensington people want visitors to register in advance by calling 685-9105.

You name it, she weaves it — horsehair, cowhair, silk, dog hair, rabbit hair, camel, yak. . .

Later in the season she will have sesions on dyeing. "I pick up staghorn sumac, grasses, wildflowers, treebarks and black-eyed susans. I do the demonstration outside the house — you get a lot of rank smells," she said, wrinkling her nose.

As the season goes on, she will also make cornhusk dolls and wreaths.

outdoors /

"GETTING YOUR Garden Growing" will be offered at 1 p.m. Sunday, May 24 by Dave Moilanen, supervising interpreter of the farm.

He will cover soil improvement, use of a cold frame and garden layout to control pests naturally. Pioneers didn't have those oil-based insecticides, you know.

"Horse Care and Management," Ann Wiersma's program, starts at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 26. She will cover the breeding, feeding and general care of horses in the 90-minute program.

Ms. Wiersma is completing a degree in zoology at Michigan State University and has been a veterinary assistant.

Kensington's horses are purebred Belgians. The two mares are due to foal anytime. Moilanen deliberately selected ewes, goats, pigs and cows that are capable of breeding.

FARMS YOU can see by driving down the road. Farm implements you can see at Greenfield Village.

But how a farm was actually operated before the gasoline engine, electricity and freezer — that's what the Kensington Farm Center is all about.

"You can see, hear, smell and touch the animals of a typical farm," said Moilanen.

Hours are 9-6 daily. You can take a one-hour tour, set up a group tour for a specific time or watch for announcements of specific programs.

There is a $2 vehicle entry fee, but the best deal is to get the season pass for $7. Farm programs are generally free. There is also a restaurant on the site open for breakfasts, luncheons, snacks and dinners from 9-8 daily.

Rafters challenge white water of roaring Colorado River

By Mike Brudenell
staff writer

Setting: the bottom of the Grand Canyon, the Colorado River hissing a warning to strangers challenging its churning waters.

Action: a group of men and women tossed about in a foaming current of water, screaming at every lurch, soaked to the skin.

Objective: run the rapids — and survive.

THIS SCENE might be part of a day's shooting of a Hollywood adventure epic, say, "Cannibal Canyon." Or maybe "The Cruel Colorado."

The ingredients are all there: danger, power, the unpredictable. And the players are certainly caught up in the moment, hanging on to the sides of their raft for dear life.

The only thing missing is the director, because this action is real — no stuntmen or special effects to rely on.

This big splash is the work of Redford science teacher Dick Munson, who is about to lead, for the fourth time, an assault on the Grand Canyon, the mighty Colorado River and its razor-sharp sets of rapids.

Munson, 51, a veteran staff member at Thurston High School and active in the Michigan Earth Science Teachers Association, is scheduled to be in Flagstaff, Ariz., on July 15 with his "cast" to begin a six-day, five-night raft trip down the Grand Canyon.

So far 22 persons have signed up for the excursion, open to anyone at least 6 years old and in reasonably good health. There still are eight openings.

"People better get in quick," said Munson, who coaches girls' softball. "Deadline for applications is June 15, or thereabouts."

THE TRIP COSTS $700 or "just a little more," which includes part of the air fare, all meals, the 200-mile raft expedition and the rental of horses to make the climb out of the Canyon.

The group will run every major rapids in the Grand Canyon, and will make several digressions up tributary canyons.

The action, so to speak, will not be all at sea. "We'll be doing some secondary canyon hikes, too," explained Munson, who admits to being "a little overweight" and a heavy smoker.

"We climb 400-600 feet in 110-120 degree heat; it can get pretty tough. But I've made it before, so anyone can," he recalled from previous trips in 1974, '76 and '78.

"Each day you come out of it physically tired but mentally refreshed. But after a good night's sleep, you're ready again."

Munson says he trusts people when they say they are in shape to make the trip. "There are no medical examinations necessary," he says. "We leave it up to the individual to have the good sense to know if he or she is capable of a raft trip and camping out."

And the trip itself?

"The scenery is fantastic — a photographer's delight," says Munson. "At night the sky is gorgeous, just full of stars.

"During the day there is plenty of wildlife in the canyon. I've seen one or two Rocky Mountain sheep, several ring-tailed cats, deer, lizards, hawks and eagles. And you're likely to come across snakes, scorpions and velvet ants."

If you're interested in tackling the Colorado River, contact Munson at Thurston High School, 25255 Schoolcraft, Redford 48239. You can call him there at 535-4000 or at home after 7:30 p.m. at 937-2579.

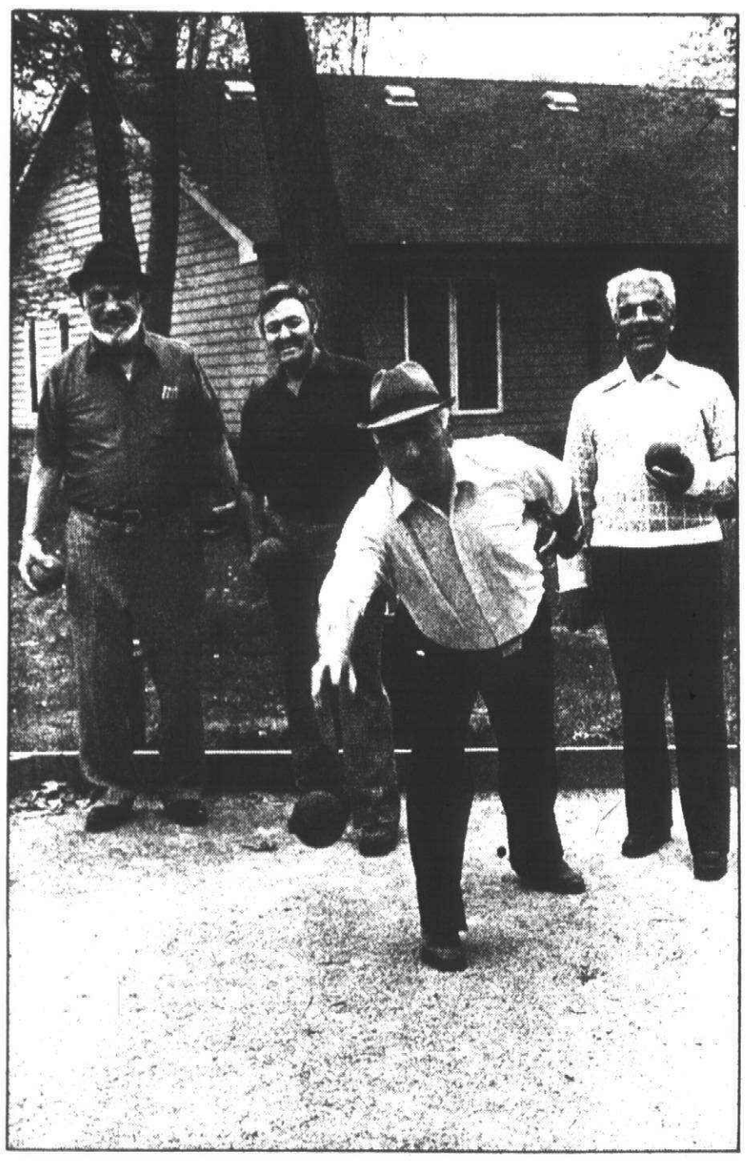
Boccie ball: 'For senior citizens it's great'

By Richard Lech
staff writer

Paul D'Orazio and Saverio Villella of Livonia and John Leone of Waterford Township have each been playing boccie ball for more than half a century.

But their age hasn't dampered their enjoyment of the game or their enthusiasm for it.



ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Paul D'Orazio, 70, of Livonia sends his boccie ball after the pallino during a friendly game of back-yard boccie ball. Looking on are John Leone (left), 64, of Waterford Township, John Del Signore of Livonia, owner of the court, and Saverio Villella, 60, of Livonia. Senior citizens like D'Orazio, Leone and Villella find boccie ball a fun way to get some light exercise.

"For senior citizens it's great," said Leone, 64, who plays regularly with D'Orazio, 70, and Villella, 60. "You get your exercise, but you're not lifting too much. If you've ever watched them play shuffleboard, this is the same thing. Only shuffleboard you need a court. Boccie you can play anywhere."

Boccie ball is one way local senior citizens keep active. But many other organized activities, ranging from disco dancing to bicycling trips, are available.

Boccie is a relatively inexpensive game for senior citizens to take up. The game is played, ideally, on a 12-foot-by-90-foot limestone court. But the court isn't absolutely necessary. In fact, some players prefer the challenge of the uneven terrain of a back-yard lawn.

"There are so many different versions," Leone said. "It's like pizza: Who makes the best?"

BESIDES A wide-open space, the basic requirements for a game of boccie are a set of boccie balls, which cost no more than $50 and last a lifetime, at least two players and some wine to wet down throats parched in friendly arguments over whose ball is in the best position.

The rules are easy to learn. First someone tosses out a small plastic ball called a pallino (in the old days in the Old Country the balls were made of wood). Then the first player rolls or tosses one of the larger boccie balls and tries to get as close as he can to the pallino. The second player, whose boccie balls are of a different color than his opponent, keeps throwing until he tops his foe's throw or runs out of balls. The first player then throws the remainder of his balls, and points are scored by the person with the ball closest to the pallino.

This Observer & Eccentric reporter, a boccie novice, tried his hand at the game. After throwing the ball too hard a couple of times and watching it fly past the pallino, he settled down, rolled the ball gently and did surprisingly well.

But, while the basic rules of the sport are easy to learn, the strategy can get involved. The old-time players take their time before throwing the ball, map out exactly what kind of arc they will put on the ball, decide whether they will bank it off the court wall, determine whether it would be better to knock their opponent's ball away from the pallino or just sneak in close to the ball on their own.

WHILE SOME seniors are concentrating on the way the boccie ball bounces, others are participating in such activities as golf, swimming, fishing, disco dancing and field trips. The Wayne/Westland Schools Senior Adult Program, for instance, has planned several hiking and biking tours for this summer. The program even supplies the bikes for those seniors who don't have any, and three-wheelers for those who have trouble keeping their balance.

"About 25 percent of our seniors are very active," said Polly Malaney, the program's supervisor. "They've been active all of their life, and they want to continue to be. We try to provide that for them."

The program also offers swimming classes on Saturday mornings at John Glenn High School and golf classes on Saturdays at the Wayne Community Center. But while the program's winter, spring and fall dockets are loaded with events, Mrs. Malaney said the summer program is going to be a bit slighter — this summer, at least.

"We hope to have a small summer program in July and August," Mrs. Malaney said. "We'll have some crafts and oil painting, and we hope to have the hiking and biking tours as a group. Plus we plan to take some field trips. We'll go to Chesaning for the Showboat and go to a couple of Tiger games."

ANOTHER LOCAL program for senior citizens is the Westland Department of Aging Senior Friendship Center. According to deputy director Sylvia Kozorosky, the center works with 17 different local senior-citizen groups in helping them plan their activities and trips. The center offers classes such as exercise, horticulture, leather working, sewing, woodworking, macrame and ceramics — even a disco-dancing class, in which the seniors pick up on the latest dance steps.

Here's summer sports lineup

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

By land, sea and air, summertime is fun time for sports lovers in Michigan. There's something for everyone — and that goes for boat lovers, hot-air balloon lovers, Scottish lovers, golf lovers and horse racing lovers, to name a few.

Here's a sampling of the menu.

WOLVERINE HARNESS RACEWAY (DRC)

Racetrack types can whet their appetites for the Michigan Mile, (the state's richest race which arrives in September or early October), while wagering and witnessing harness racing through July 11. Post time is 8 p.m. Monday-Friday, gates open at 6 p.m. Thoroughbreds trot into DRC in mid-July. Clubhouse tickets are $3.50 and grandstand admission is $2.50.

HIGHLAND FESTIVAL AND GAMES

Don your Scottish kilt and head for Alma Saturday and Sunday. The festival and games catapult into full tilt with Saturday's 11 a.m. street parade and continue with ancestral Scottish games, dancing and band competition, a pipe and drumming contest, the Great Lakes Scottish fiddling competition, soccer games, an art fair, a road run, a sheep-herding exhibit and even worship services. Admission is $4 for adults and $2 for kids. For more information, call (517) 463-5525.

BASKETBALL CAMP

Girls and boys 9 through 17 can increase their skills and improve their basketball knowledge during week-long camp sessions at Eastern Michigan University. CITY AIR SHOW

OK, flying fans, here's something for you. It'll be truth or dare in the sky July 11-12 at City Airport's summer celebration. Aerobatic teams will skywrite to music; unfurl the American flag in a parachute show; perform loops and barrel rolls and give you goosebumps with hammerhead stalls (a vertical climb that continues until the plane loses all air speed, then plunges downward). An antique-car parade, an exhibit of World War II bombers and the antics of the Harrier (the revolutionary plane that takes off vertically and hovers), will add to the fun in the sun. Drive a big car that day — tickets are $8 per carload in advance, or $10 at the gate. Advance single tickets are $4 for adults, and $1 for senior citizens and children. They're a dollar more at the gate, which opens at 10 a.m. Tickets are available at Sears, Hudsons, Wards and the City Airport office. Call 527-1112 for more information.

Getting in shape

'Fitness in 5 minutes a day is a fallacy'

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

It happens every spring.

As the snow disappears and the weather warms, cries of anguish and anger can be heard throughout the land. People are coming out of hibernation to find they are too out of shape to climb a set of stairs without getting winded.

So they run to a sports store and purchase the flashiest jogging shoes and warm-up suits available. In this attire, they race out of their front door at top speed, in search of a quick way to get into shape for summer.

A week later, the jogging shoes and warm-up suit are tucked away in the back of a closet, never to be seen again.

"Fitness in five minutes a day is a fallacy," said Georgianne Palmer, a physical therapist at the Physical and Athletic Rehabilitation Center (PARC) in Southfield. "It just doesn't happen."

MRS. PALMER has witnessed the agony of people trying to find a quick way to get into shape. That is how PARC came into existence.

PARC designs fitness programs. Through a series of tests and discussions, PARC therapists outline an aerobic exercise program to help individuals get into shape.

"It takes 12 months to reach maximum fitness," Mrs. Palmer said. "But it only takes two months to fall back to where you were before you started.

"Once you achieve your fitness, you have to use it or lose it."

To help its customers on the road to fitness, PARC employs complex technology to analyze how fit the person is presently and where he or she needs improvement.

A fitness evaluation is the first step in PARC's program. Percentage of body fat is computed, flexibility and strength is measured and an exercise test is conducted.

An electrocardiogram relays different information during the exercise test. The information helps the therapist to find out how much oxygen is being used and what level of fitness the person is at. The test is run on either a stationary bicycle or treadmill until the person reaches a heartbeat of 150 per minute.

THE MAXIMUM oxygen consumption is the key figure in determining aerobic, or cardiovascular, fitness. The higher the oxygen use, the better condition an individual is in.

Mrs. Palmer used Eric Heiden, who won five gold medals for speed skating in the 1980 Winter Olympics, as an example of superior oxygen consumption. His rating was "around 66", she said, compared to a normal figure of 34-42 for a person his age.

But PARC's program goes beyond just physical analysis.

"The key in any exercise program is motivation," Mrs. Palmer said. "What adds to motivation, what makes it easier, is education."

To help an individual keep motivated, the PARC therapist attempts to find out what activities and exercises he or she is interested in. What some people consider exercise, however, does nothing for the cardiovascular system.

Mrs. Palmer noted that weightlifting, bowling, softball, golf and doubles tennis do not build aerobic fitness.

"IT SHOULD BE smooth and rhythmical, but also reasonable and enjoyable," she said. "The aerobic activity should be intense enough to increase your fitness."

Exercises that are best for aerobic fitness include distance running, swimming, bicycling and cross country skiing.

Mrs. Palmer added that measuring distance isn't as important as the amount of time spent exercising.

"Anything less than three times a week doesn't do much good," the therapist said. "And anything less than 30 minutes a session isn't much good, either."

"PEOPLE ALWAYS ask, 'Why should I exercise? Why is it good for me?' I tell them it will give you more energy and stamina and a better self-image," Mrs. Palmer said.

PARC's fitness program, which includes a fitness evaluation, a discussion to set up an exercise schedule and a retest four to six weeks after the program's start, costs $65.

Similiar information is also available at various health spas, although not as extensive nor as individualized.

Writer measures up to strain of PARC exam

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

I had no real expectations when I went into the offices of PARC (Physical and Athletic Rehabilitation Center) in Southfield.

I was to get a fitness evaluation, just to see what kind of service PARC provided. It couldn't be that difficult, I thought. I was in reasonably good shape from swimming a mile four times a week.

But nothing can be hidden from a PARC examination, I was to learn two hours later. The tests had revealed I was loafing.

THE PHYSICAL therapist, Georgianne Palmer, started the fitness evaluation by measuring by body fat. I passed very well, measuring only 11.3 percent. Normal for men is 16-20 percent, for women 25 percent.

A series of tests indicated my grip strength was normal, my flexibility measurements were slightly low. I was excellent in sit-ups, completing 20 in 30 seconds.

But then came the big test. It was called the sub-maximal exercise test. I was placed on a treadmill and started at a brisk walk to warm up. When the test began, the speed was increased to 3.75 mph and the treadmill tilted to simulate my walking very fast uphill.

The program lasted for nine minutes. That's what stage I was in when I reached the 150 heartbeats per minute level.

During the entire exercise, I was wired to an electrocardiograph which measured my heart rate increase, from which the therapist could tell just how good my physical condition was.

AS I LEARNED, it wasn't really good enough.

"I was surprised your oxygen consumption rate was only 28, which is average," Mrs. Palmer said.

I gulped and asked what that meant.

"The higher the oxygen consumption rate, the better you are able to utilize the oxygen you take in," she explained. "It means you aren't working out at your heartbeat target."

My heartbeat target was 160 per minute. If I work at that heartbeat level for 30 minutes a day, three days a week, I should reach maximum fitness within a year.

My evaluation revealed I hadn't been working at that level.

So for me, it's back to the pool in search of 160 heartbeats a minute, 30 minutes a day, three days a week.

"... How can I communicate the values I grew up with to my children?"

CRIM

Mort Crim joined News 4 Detroit in August, 1978 as Chief Anchor at 6 and 11 p.m. Below, the veteran broadcast newsman shares some of his observations on himself, his profession, his city, Detroit.

What was your childhood like?
CRIM: I was born during the depression. My father was a clergyman. Most of the time when I was growing up, we were right at the poverty line. But this background has given me an enormous amount of gratitude for everything I have materially, and otherwise. And one of my constant concerns is, how can I transmit and communicate the values I grew up with to my children?

Have you always wanted to be a newsperson?
CRIM: No, my first job in radio was as a disc jockey. While it was fun, I eventually decided that it didn't bring me the satisfaction I was looking for because it wasn't real. But I discovered, by looking around, that there was one profession that allowed me to think, observe, write, perform and be in broadcasting, but was very real. And that was journalism. That's why I'm a broadcast journalist instead of a print journalist.

You've lived in Detroit for awhile now. What do you think about the city as a place to live, work, raise your kids?
CRIM: I like it. There's an electricity about this city. There's a stubborn optimism even in these worst of times. And as I ask people on the streets and on my program "Free 4 All," about the future of Detroit, 9 out of 10 people believe we're going to make it despite all the evidence to the contrary. I like that – this spirit of optimism. I find it inspiring.

What are some of your interests outside the newsroom?
CRIM: I like to fish, fly airplanes, and play music. I play piano. In fact, I earned a good part of my college tuition playing piano. My favorite music is jazz, blues and popular songs from the big band era. At one time, I knew just about every big band number from 1929 to 1946.

What do you think about the people watching you?
CRIM: I'm always aware that it's a live audience at the other end of the camera. I'm not just looking at a lens. I think consciously of the people out there when I present the news. I've always thought it wouldn't be a bad idea to bring a live studio audience to a news show. Not to applaud or respond, but to add the awareness.

Though you've got a demanding schedule as a newsman, you've become very involved with the Easter Seals Telethon the last two years. Why?
CRIM: I think it's one thing to say thank you. But, it's another thing to express your gratitude. I think I have an obligation and it's one I fulfill gladly. To share in any way I can and to express in tangible ways, my gratitude for having two healthy children, a solid home life, meaningful work, for living in a country where I have all the freedoms I have. There's just an enormous amount to be grateful for and the best way I can say thanks is to do something on a continuing basis, and the Telethon is one of those ways.

Recently, we've seen you wearing a green ribbon on TV. Are you making a political statement?
CRIM: No, like all newspeople I'm extremely sensitive to identification with any political cause. But the murdering, the slaughtering of little innocent black children in Atlanta has absolutely nothing to do with politics. It's a pure and simple situation involving human beings and their suffering. So, I agreed to wear the ribbon to show my solidarity and support to the people in Atlanta. I decided this is in no way a political act. Whether these children are white, black, green, red, purple, it doesn't matter, the children are being murdered and the people there are suffering. Policemen are frustrated in their attempts to solve this thing. Because the conscience of the nation has been aroused, I decided I would wear the green ribbon for one week to show my expression of grief.

What does it mean to be a broadcast journalist?
CRIM: You must be a writer, that is the fundamental skill. Voice and delivery are for the broadcast journalist what typography is for the newspaper journalist. But, in both cases, writing comes first. I believe people who can't write have no business calling themselves journalists. Walter Cronkite, as an example, was extremely skillful at what he wrote and how he said things.

What is your biggest kind of challenge?
CRIM: Dealing with breaking stories. We have this awesome capability to report events as they're happening, like the recent assassination attempts on President Reagan and Pope John Paul II. We must do it as we go. It's almost like being a surgeon who has studied an x-ray of the patient. He has a general idea of what to expect, but until he performs the operation, he doesn't know all the details. We have to do what the moment calls for. For that matter, so-called routine assignments can take unpredictable turns. It's necessary to be able to move as the story changes.

Your program "Free 4 All" on Saturday nights – it's a little different than the nightly news and has been growing in popularity. What is it about that program that appeals to people?
CRIM: It appeals to people because the whole country's mad as hell and they don't have an outlet. There's a sense of frustration among people that their voice won't be heard in places where it matters. Television is powerful, and people recognize that if they can get their voice on television, it has the potential to be heard in places where it matters. "Free 4 All" has become the private citizen's voice – an electronic town meeting.

If there was one thing you'd like to be remembered for, what would it be?
CRIM: I'd like it very much if people would simply say, "He cared."

Tax reform author will end career

of property, Smith's bill delayed enactment by two years to give local assessors the chance to correct the imbalance over time.

Most local governments ignored that period of grace and, to Smith's chagrin, did nothing. Then, when the law was implemented in 1980, the adjustments had to be made in one painful step in many communities.

Recently Smith had described the howl by local officials and the public outcry over the equalization by class bill as one of the "most frustrating" times of his long career in government.

SMITH SERVED a total of seven terms, or 14 years, as a state representative. Earlier he was a township supervisor and a Washtenaw County commissioner.

His hallmark as a legislator was his skill in hammering out compromise between party factions, and his non-partisan approach on the floor of the House.

Forward-thinking on tax reform and assessment equalization, Smith was a solid Republican on other subjects. This mixture of beliefs helped Smith draw support from campus voters as well as from the rural areas of Ypsilanti.

Some of Smith's basic beliefs:

- "Man should be the master of his own destiny. Government should do only those things for people that they cannot do themselves. A welfare state destroys man's self-reliance and robs him of his self-respect."
- On taxation: "Through sound principles of economy we can determine our needs and the price we should pay for them. Once this is determined, we can institute a tax program where everyone will pay no more than his fair share and in return receive his fair share of services."
- "Through legislation fair to both industry and labor, we can bring about a partnership between labor and industry which will make Michigan foremost as a good state for both."
- "A representative's duty is to directly represent the people who elect him by keeping in touch with them, acquainting himself with their needs and doing his utmost to satisfy those needs."

Smith said Tuesday morning that he hasn't made any definite plans but he won't be retiring. "I think I'll return to county politics in some capacity, either as a worker or as a local officeholder."

Brown, the co-author of Proposal A, had earlier announced plans to retire as a state lawmaker and run for mayor of Westland. Brown's district includes all of Canton, part of Westland and the eastern half of Plymouth Township.

Voters cite dissatisfaction

Plymouth, Canton Township and Plymouth TOwnship, had proposed a 50 percent tax cut on operating millages with an increase in state sales tax from 4 percent to 5.5 percent. A 6 percent annual growth limit was placed on local income from the property tax.

"I've been going back and forth on this one," said Plymouth homeowner Toni King. "I felt both arguments, in favor and against it, were valid. But I didn't like the trade-off for a 5.5 percent sales tax."

In the end, however, Mrs. King said she voted in favor of the plan because "taxes are high and it doesn't represent a tax cut for myself."

Concerned with its effect on school revenues, Plymouth Canton High student Kallie Bila also voted against the plan.

"I read a lot of editorials in the paper opposing it and they made a lot of sense," she said. "In the end, it doesn't look like it would help a lot of people."

ONE PLYMOUTH RESIDENT, who voted in favor of the plan in spite of the increased sales tax, said the "trade-off" would pay off for her family.

"We own several homes and our (including husband's) income is high enough so that it would make a difference."

Mary Jo Rothfuss, a homeowner and employed in the social work field, put aside her reservations about the plan and voted for it.

"It's just too much in one package and it requires too much legislation to implement it that might never happen," Mrs. Rothfuss said. "But you have to start somewhere."

She believes the plan, if it had been approved, would have had less impact on statewide social programs.

Among voters opposing the plan was Joe Connor, a semiretired Plymouth homeowner, who questioned whether the plan would have a lasting effect on property taxes.

"We're paying enough in sales taxes already. If Proposal A goes through, there will be other attempts to raise our millage," he said.

(Plymouth Canton Schools prior to the election had announced plans to asks voters for a two-mill increase if the proposal had passed. A defeated proposal will mean a request for a one-mill increase plus a Headlee rollback request).

Host family appeal is made

An appeal for host families is being made by Youth for Understanding, one of the largest non-profit international high school student exchange programs in the U.S.

"This year is perhaps more difficult to recruit families then in past years due to the present state of the economy," says Gregory Carl of Old Salem, Plymouth, who is Youth for Understanding area representative for the Plymouth-Canton area.

Each year, he explains, students from 23 different countries participate in the program, which seeks to increase understanding between people and cultures by providing opportunities for teen-agers worldwide to experience family life in another country.

Interested families may contact Carl at 1754 Old Salem, Plymouth, or by calling him at 453-0821.

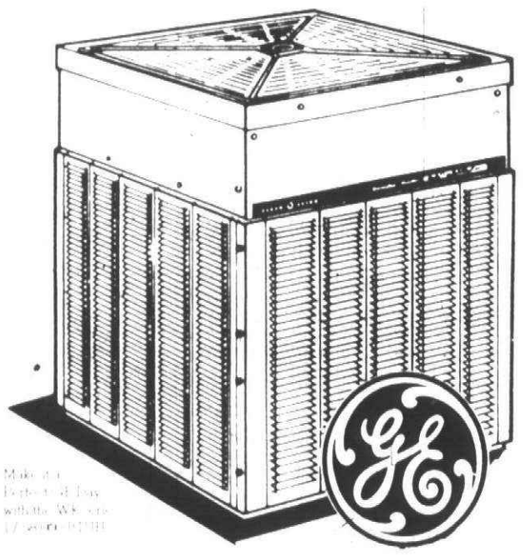
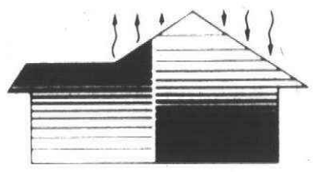
We're reducing heating/cooling bills all over town!



Chances are our Executive Weathertron™ heat pump/air conditioner can save energy dollars year round

How does it work? Simple. A heat pump doesn't make heat. It moves heat! In summer, it works just like an air conditioner, pulling heat out of your home. In winter, it reverses, and pulls heat from outdoor air into your home (even at cold winter temperatures). With this GE high-efficiency model the same unit keeps you cool all summer, warm all winter, and can save energy dollars, too.

Use it by itself, or add it to your present furnace, whichever saves more: Naturally, when the weather's extra-cold, you'll need some extra heat. That's why you can buy this GE heat pump two ways — With supplemental electric heaters built-in or save money, by attaching the heat pump to your present forced air furnace. It doesn't matter what fuel your furnace uses — gas, oil, propane or electric. Whichever saves more.



America's No. 1 selling heat pump. Cools in summer. Heats in winter.

Gas company changes bills

Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. customers will receive a new bill this month containing more detailed information about their individual accounts.

The new bill will contain energy conservation information and also provide customers with a comparison of gas usage and weather information on a year-to-year basis.

Such information, the company said, should prove useful in helping customers determine the success of any conservation efforts they may have taken.

The bills will include return mailing envelopes.

"With the cost of all forms of energy rising, including natural gas, it is important that we supply our customers with as much detailed information about their accounts as possible," said Stephen Ewing, vice president for consumer service.

"The new statement bill has been designed to meet this goal."

In addition to account information, the bills will also supply customers with details about existing and new programs the utility has to meet customer needs.

The new bill format, which replaces the former postcard bills, was developed after presenting several versions to consumer groups to determine the ease of reading and understanding, Ewing said.

Fishing derby set; lake bill signed

By Tim Richard
staff writer

As the 19th annual kids fishing derby was announced, Gov. Milliken signed a money bill for a $13,000 study of dredging silty Newburgh Lake, where the derby is held.

"It would have been too bad to come this far and not keep alive the Newburgh Lake project," said State Rep. Sylvia Skrel, R-Livonia, who guided the money bill through the Michign Legislature.

"By this bill, the state would put up $3,900 and the federal government $9,100 for the engineering study we need in order to apply for federal-state Clean Lakes Program funding."

Howard D. Wandell, aquatic biologist for the state Department of Natural Resources, said DNR "has given Newburgh Lake a high state priority for the applications submitted."

IF ALL these studies get confusing, here's what it's about:

In 1974 the state financed a water quality study by Snell Engineers, Inc.

That was step one. The study produced data showing how much algae and silt are filling in Newburgh Lake. It recommended dredging.

Step two is the engineering study of dredging and its costs. Newburgh Lake is an artificial impoundment of the Middle Rouge River of western Wayne County. It's shallow, and the water is warm. After a rain, the Rouge washes in a lot of silt.

Step three will be to get money for dredging, said Rep. Skrel. Under the federal Clean Lakes Program, it would be a 50-50 federal-state venture.

Milliken has put a high priority on providing recreation in urban areas close to the population center. Nevertheless, competition for federal dollars will be stiff.

THE FISHING derby, open to kids ages 6-16, will be held from 7 a.m. to noon Saturday, June 13 with registration on Newburgh Point a mile west of Newburgh Road.

Any bait, natural or artificial, may be used, according to Chairmen Hank Chruscial of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association and John Nichols of the Livonia Kiwanis Club.

Other co-sponsors are the parks and recreation departments of Canton, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, Novi, Redford, Plymouth and Westland.

Although the sizes of fish have increased in the past two years, Chruscial's records indicate the number of kids catching their 25-panfish limit has dropped.

PRIZES to be awarded include:

Largest fish — Shakespeare electric 606 outboard motor from Livonia Tackle Supply.

Largest largemouth bass and largest bluegill — a muskie fishing trip on a Lake St. Clair charter boat with Capt. Fred Benson. A detective sergeant in the Livonia police department, Benson became familiar with the contest while a patrolman and is a strong supporter of it.

Largest crappie — large backpack from Gells Sporting Goods of Livonia.

Largest sunfish — large tackle box full of lures and wire mesh net from Sportsmen's Village of Canton.

Largest northern pike — two-man raft with oars and pump from Kiwanis Club of Livonia.

Largest bullhead — large tackle box full of lures, rod, reel and fish net from the Western Wayne County Conservation Association.

Milliken axes funds for Huron

State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) says Gov. William Milliken's veto last week of a $24,000 appropriation to finance a pollution study of the Huron River system is "shortsighted."

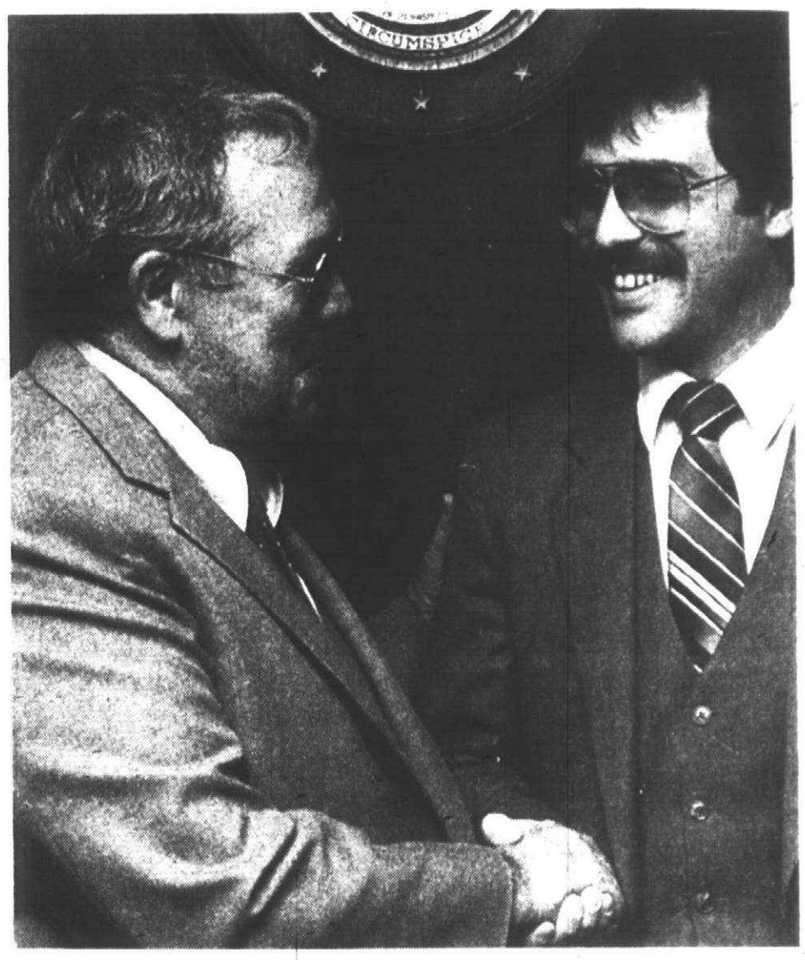
The study would have determined levels and sources of phosphorus and nitrogen deposits in the Huron, Ford Lake and the Belleville Lake system.

"It seems like the study's desperately needed with the kind of use that system gets. The experts tell us it is. And considering that federal dollars would be about three-to-one, I think it's just shortsighted," said Faust.

University of Michigan pollution specialists recommended the study, estimated to cost about $80,000. The bulk of the funding would have been provided by the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Milliken said in his veto message that the pollution study "was not identified as a major priority and, therefore, would seem to be an inappropriate use of state waterways or federal monies at this time."

Faust said he doubts the legislature can successfully override the veto.



Tungate steps down

Orville L. Tungate (left), a Plymouth Township resident, recently resigned after serving for a number of years as deputy clerk for Wayne County to accept a position in private industry. Tungate is shown here congratulating his replacement, Robert Ficano, 28, of Livonia, an attorney and political activist who this past year unsuccessfully ran for the Michigan House seat now held by Slyvia Skrell, R-Livonia. Ficano assumed office May 11, replacing Tungate who had held the position since January 1975.

Warm weather, poor turnout for fund-raiser

The third annual "Walk for Mankind" sponsored by the Canton Jaycees raised an estimated $4,800 for charity.

Sunny skies and warm breezes prevailed as 90 walkers came out Saturday for a 30-kilometer walk (18.6 miles) through Canton Township. Everybody finished the route.

THERE WERE 1,032 sponsors. Each sponsor pledged a certain amount of cash donation for each mile that a designated walker completed, explained Jaycees coordinator Bob Cohen. He said the average pledge was 15 cents a kilometer.

Most of the money raised will go to Project Concern, an international organization which develops health care programs. Walkers could designate certain percentages of their proceeds for local fund-raising efforts.

Cohen said he was disappointed by the turnout, which has dropped each year of the walk.

Last year's event attracted 196 walkers. The first year's walk drew 216 participants.

Cohen said the length of the walk route and competition from other fund-raisers contributed to the low turnout.

Just starting out on a 18.6 mile trek are Karen Stetz, 14, Janet Jackson, 15, Missy Teems, 15, Linda Beale, 15, and Cheryl Hamilton, 16.

Alicia King, 6, was one of the youngest walkers. Here, she registers at Plymouth Salem High School.

World War I veteran ready for journey west

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

After living in the same house on Wing Street since 1919, Al Brockelhurst, one of the city's most colorful veterans of World War I, is heading west to spend the rest of his life.

He isn't necessarily heeding the advice Horace Greely gave young men years ago to "Go west, young man, go west." He doesn't really have another option.

"I have no other choice," he explained, during an interview in the cozy living room of his home.

"I am going to Phoenix to live with my daughter, Virginia, and her husband, Richard Larkin, who is retiring and building a new home out west.

"If I stay here, I will have to depend on friends, and if I refuse to go, my daughter says she won't go either. So by June 4, it will be goodbye to Plymouth and my many friends here."

And all those memories he will pack in his old kit bag to take to Phoenix will certainly cover a lot more than just his days here. A lot of them will be centered on his doughboy days immediately following World War I.

Those memories he will never forget and he recounted them with the same enthusiasm this Memorial Day as though he was telling of them for the first time.

"We had a great time," he said. "When we got to Paris, we did a lot of reviewing and actual 'showing off.' But it was a great experience.

"We had been all over Germany and were now in France on our way to London with a stop in the YMCA stadium for the Inter-Allied Games in 1919.

"It was there that we drilled in front of four kings — George of Greece, August of Belgium, Alphonse of Spain and Victor Emanuele of Italy.

"Later on we went to London. We drilled and showed off before all members of the royal family. And what a welcome we got when we arrived home."

That welcome in New York is still rated as one of the biggest and best ever given to anyone including Col. Charles Lindberg, following his solo flight across the Atlantic.

Those are some of the memories he is taking with him to Arizona, but he still has vivid recollections of his early manhood in Plymouth.

Born on a farm down in Indiana 87 years ago, he came to Plymouth when quite young and had a rich experience in the work force of those days.

As he recalled his various jobs, he claimed the present work force is overpaid and under worked.

Upon his return from service, he entered the employ of the Eckles Coal Co. and later spent considerable time with the county road commission, the police department and later as the head of an insurance agency.

"Mixed in with all those jobs," he said, "I still had time to become worshipful master of Plymouth Rock Lodge and was serving in that station when the lodge rooms on Penniman Avenue were made victims of a fire."

Alcohol abuse among teens

The number of youth 17 and younger being admitted to state substance abuse treatment programs is increasing.

That report was given recently by State Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, to the Michigan Chapter of the National Anti-Drug Coalition meeting held recently in Livonia.

Geake is senator for the 14th District, which includes Plymouth, Livonia, Northville and Redford.

"Persons 17 years of age or younger accounted for 9 percent of all treatment admissions last year, which is up 6 percent from the previous year," said Geake, citing statistics from the Michigan Office of Substance Abuse.

Also increasing sharply, he added, was the admission to residential treatment centers of teens requiring 24-hour intensive care — an increase in admissions of 161 percent.

One-third of those 14 to 17 years of age had alcohol problems, said Geake, while nearly one half had a problem with a non-opiate drug.

Geake explained that alcohol is the primary problem of those aged 18-20 and 21-25, with 65 percent of admissions in both age groups related to alcohol.

Citing the problem as serious, Geake said the "social costs of substance abuse among youth and adults alike are enormous, both in terms of financial and human costs."

Geake said more than 85,000 persons were admitted to state-funded substance abuse programs during 1979-80 — an increase of 12 percent over the previous year — and some 750,000 Michigan residents are in need of help.

"It is estimated that untreated substance abuse problem place a $2 billion drain on Michigan's economy due to employee absenteeism, excessive health and welfare services, property damage, crime, accidents, increased medical expenses which frequently result from the abuse of alcohol and other drugs."

Geake said he strongly favors any state legislation which attempts to control the misuse of drugs, including alcohol and cigarettes.

A new resale shop for toddlers is now operating in Old Village

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Plymouth's Old Village is best known as a popular haunt for seekers of unusual antiques and crafts.

But it just may become a new mecca for resale clothes buyers of all ages.

The second resale shop to open there – The Rainbow Connection — has somewhat of a different twist than most, however.

Instead of finding recycled clothes for women and men, shoppers won't find much there larger than a size 6x.

The store, opened last month by two area women, deals primarily with used clothes for the infant and toddler set.

Area merchants believe it's one of the only resale shops for children's clothes in the Detroit area.

Cindy Walsh, a Plymouth Township resident and school teacher, shares the enterprise with her sister-in-law, Arlene Stewart of Redford Township.

"We hope we're a sign of the times," said Mrs. Walsh. "People want to get a lot for their money these days and we hope that recycling clothes is one way to do it."

Shoppers can find some irresistible "deals" at this small shop, as demonstrated by a few bargain hounds one afternoon.

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Operating the Rainbow Connection are Cindy Walsh (left) of Plymouth and Arlene Stewart of Redford.

OVERHEARD WERE:

"I don't know if my little boy needs this, but it's hard to turn it down," said one shopper, while pointing to a small sailor suit marked at $2.75.

"Look at this, it's like brand new," remarked another customer, who contemplated buying a $2 jump suit.

Buried among the neatly hung outfits are even some designer clothes, sporting such labels as Health-Tex and Polly Flinders, which makes hand-smocked ruffled dresses.

Since the shop opened March 26, Mrs. Walsh says her biggest problem has been keeping the stock replenished. She hopes that suppliers will be plentiful once the store gains exposure.

Because of the rapid pace in which children outgrow clothes, some of the items turned over for sale have never been worn, she added. "Some even have their tags on them."

Prices vary depending on the condition of the item and its style. They accept no soiled or tattered pieces.

The business venture is a first for the partners, who received some business training from their husbands, who both own their own companies.

While the partners "dreamed of opening their own business for years," said Mrs. Walsh, The Rainbow Connection was conceived and realized in only one month.

They first discussed the prospect in February while Mrs. Walsh was on maternity leave from the Clawson School District, where she works as a speech patholigist.

"WE TOSSED around some ideas and decided a resale shop was an appropriate venture in these economic times," said Mrs. Walsh. "And because of my background, I think in terms of kids."

The mother of a six-month-old son, Mrs. Walsh also wanted a career that would be flexible enough to handle his needs.

Then, one evening, Mrs. Walsh's husband, Russell, jumped into his van and toured the Plymouth area for a possible store location. That night he found a vacant storefront at 640 Starkweather, a few doors from LaDonna's resale shop.

"It was like it was meant to be," recalled Mrs. Walsh. "We were sold on it because of Old Village's popularity."

Within a few short weeks, the store was rented and remodeled.

Possibly for good luck, Mrs. Walsh duplicated a colorful rainbow mural with the same paint she used in her infant's bedroom.

The store's showcase also was decorated with some of her son's own toys.

Today, the store, though small, appears light and airy. The walls are painted white, mobiles hang from the ceiling and a light green carpet covers the floor.

Future plans include expanding a maternity clothes line. So far, the store sports one rack of these outfits.

With a gleam in her eye, Mrs. Walsh tells one customer while swapping stories about their children that her only hurdle now is "the temptation to buy all this for my little boy."

Summer classes registration nears

Registration dates and times have been set by the community-education department of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for summer classes and activities.

Registration for summer and fall preschool programs of Safety Town and Kiddie Kamps will begin at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, May 26, in Room 130 of Plymouth Canton High School.

Do newspapers print far too much 'bad news'?

By Eric McAllister Smith
special writer

(The author, Eric McAllister Smith, is action-line columnist and editorial cartoonist for the Annapolis (Md.) Evening-Capitol. His column is reprinted below with permission from Publishers' Auxiliary, National Newspaper Association.

Probably the oldest complaint known to journalism is the one about newspapers only printing "bad news." If the critics read their newspapers as meticulously as they complained about them, they might realize that the average paper is actually crammed with good news.

Bad news actually makes the front page precisely because it is so unusual; no editor would have the nerve to run a headline proclaiming "Everything Went Went Well Today" for fear of boring even the critics into skipping that issue.

But only a cursory glance at the rest of the paper shows how false the "bad news" charge is, especially in a small newspaper which often serves as the community bulletin board.

BACK PAGES are loaded with club notes, wedding announcements, and news about students achieving in college.

These items may be bad news if you missed a meeting, didn't get the girl or failed a math test, but they are pretty good news to everybody else.

There is, of course, no such thing as a "negative" weather report because the rainstorm which ruins a picnic also benefits the farmer, and a day of sunshine helps both.

The entertainment sections which take up increasing amounts of space in the modern newspaper are undeniably pleasant to read: movie ads, TV listings and starlet pictures are hardly designed to induce reader frowns, and restaurant columns bring bad tidings only to those who sell rotten food.

Even rotten cooks, however, can find something to like on the recipe page, and there always will be a winner in the sports pages, if not always the one you bet on.

It's also impossible to read a discouraging word or a glum thought in those relentlessly upbeat and omni-present portions of the paper devoted to advertising. Even a "going out of business" sale is good news o to the bargain-hunting consumer. If you can believe all the newspaper ads, the world is an estatic wonderland of super sales, quality products, lifetime guarantees and special offers.

AMONG THE usual pet columns, business briefs, and cheery local features, you find dozens of photos showing smiling people giving and receiving charity checks, accepting awards or winning at the garden club's Monte Carlo night.

Although they are found at the back of most newspapers, classifieds are the best news of all because everybody there wants somebody or something necessary. And who can realistically claim to find bad news on the comic pages, where the Phantom always triumps, Blondie loves Dagwood, and Snoopy still does the supper dance.

The fact is that the average newspaper carries a lot more good news than bad, and even those front-page stories are perceived with mixed emotions by varied community interests.

After all, the defeat of a sewer bond issue has to be a victory for some taxpayers, and a lurid scandal in one political party makes the opposition very happy, indeed.

About the only undiluted bad news in any paper is the obituary column, but even there the press tries only to speak well of the dead.

In a complex community with many points of view, "good" and "bad" only are relative terms, defined more often by the reader than the newspaper.

The saying usually goes: "No news is good news," but in any community, the truly bad news would be no news at all.

Michigan getting its act together

Michigan has hit economic bottom, but the upturn is starting.

The upturn will take the better part of the 1980s, but the main ingredient is in place.

It's the realization that Michigan can't wait for the auto industry to rebound, that the old labor vs. management vs. government conflict has been killing us, and that we Michiganians must get our act together. That change in our frame of mind is in place.

U.S. REP. Carl Pursell is beginning to get attention with his idea of a "catalytic mechanism for the state's key decision-makers to sit down together and hammer out an agenda."

In his typical fashion, Pursell, R-Plymouth, views the problem not just as one for the chambers of commerce, not just as a state legislative task, not just as a labor phenomenon, not just as an intellectuals' exercise, not just as something for the media to report. It's a problem that all groups have a stake in solving.

Pursell is thinking in terms of a weekend retreat this fall at a college campus (not one of the Big Three). A Detroit paper is interested in supporting it. Our suburban newspapers will have a role.

THE SOUTHEAST Michigan Economic Development Council last week began raising $1.4 million to finance the region's first industrial marketing campaign.

Chuck Muer, the restaurateur who heads the chamber, says metropolitan Detroit is practically the only major region in the country which has no such program. Well, we have one now.

The EDC has four legs — the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, Detroit Edison Co., the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and the Michigan Office of Economic Expansion.

HERMAN FRANKEL is a builder in West Bloomfield with a philosophical turn of mind. As first vice president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, he spoke last week at a Botsford Inn luncheon to BASM's marketing council.

Frankel literally sits up at night worrying about the future of this region. He remembers how Detroit became the "arsenal of democracy" during World War II and wonders aloud if we have the inner drive to be great again.

He's telling builders to preach quality to suppliers, subcontractors, tradespeople. "Use every opportunity, in every business and social contact, to talk about the advantages of living and working in Michigan," he said.

He's preaching cooperation with government and labor.

WALTER J. McCARTHY Jr., the new president, chairman and chief executive officer of Detroit Edison, made much the same speech as Pursell and Frankel last week at the Downriver and Western Wayne County Conference on Federal Export and Procurement Opportunities.

Michigan, he said, has skilled workers, an inventory of quality industrial parks, plenty of water and plenty of Edison's own coal-fired electricity.

Underline water. The "sunbelt" doesn't have it. Florida is developing sinkholes because the water table is so low. The Albuquerque Journal warns of dry years because mountain snow was light.

Michigan's problems are many — high production costs, high government costs, the image of hostile labor relations. Yet when you consider that the single largest impediment — our smug, independent frame of mind — is crumbling, you have to believe that we are on our way to getting our economic house in order.

Gus Dorais remembered by U of D

No longer will Gus Dorais be the forgotten man at the University of Detroit.

Thanks to university officials, members of the football alumni association and survivors of his famed undefeated 1928 football team, Dorais will be remembered by the naming of a drive through the heart of the campus. It is one of the most unusual monuments ever to honor a football coach.

It has been 38 years since the man who made the forward pass an integral part of the game of football left U-D after leading it out of the darkness of intercollegiate competition to a peak where it was considered Rose Bowl material before the pact was signed with the Western Conference.

AS A PLAYER, Dorais stands out, along with Knute Rockne, the famous Notre Dame coach, as the man who took the favored Army team by surprise on the plains of West Point in 1913 when he passed the Fighting Irish team to victory.

But when he left U-D, the school was planning to abandon football. Dorais took over the coaching job with the Detroit Lions, and soon he was forgotten on the campus.

Other members of the athletic group were honored, but not Dorais. The stadium is now a parking lot. The athletic building was named Calihan Hall to honor Robert Calihan, the basketball coach and former all-America player.

The basketball field was named for Lloyd Brazil, the all-America halfback and spark of the undefeated 1928 team.

At a recent luncheon, the oversight was discussed, and a few of the players decided something should be done. But what?

There was no money for a statue, and no place to put it.

Then Nate Goodnow, an end on the 1928 team and a top lawyer, took a trip to the campus and came up with an idea. A road that crosses the campus went past a frame house that once held Dorais' office.

"Why not call it Dorais Drive?" Goodnow asked.

THE IDEA met with a great response. The good Jesuits admitted they weren't part of the school when Dorais was athletic director and coach, but they agreed.

They even went a step further and decided to landscape the entire drive from McNichols Road. Trees, bushes and flower beds will change the appearance of the entire campus.

Following dedication of the drive June 10, the football alumni will hold a dinner at the Roostertail. Toastmaster will be Vince Banonis, the all-America center developed by Dorais, and Nate Goodnow the main speaker.

It will be a great tribute to the man who once was considered too small for football.

AFTER HIS graduation from high school in Wisconsin, Dorais reported for football at Minnesota, only to be told he was too small.

Undaunted, he went to South Bend, made the Notre Dame team as quarterback and became the main spring in the passing attack with which Rockne changed the game forever.

He made the history books but was forgotten at the University of Detroit, where he developed a great series of teams.

But now, after all these years, the Titan alumni have come forth with the slogan: "We remember Gus."

Editor's note: The meeting at which the plan to remember Gus Dorais was developed was the direct result of The Stroller's column pointing out that Dorais' memory had been neglected at U-D.

Recycling centers

Victims of the bottle law

Nick Sharkey

Where have all the recycling centers gone?

Do they share the same fate as flower children and Vietnam War protestors? Are they out of date in a conservative society more concerned with jobs than ecology?

Not really. True, there are fewer recycling centers today as compared to the many thriving in the early 1970s. But that's more the result of Michigan's effective bottle return law, which went into effect on Dec. 3, 1978, than lack of interest in the environment.

With deposits of five cents on bottles and 10 cents on cans, not many can be found on roadsides, parks and in basements ready to be taken to a recycling center.

IN RECENT years, once thriving recycling centers in Troy, Bloomfield Township, Livonia, Westland and Redford have been closed. Besides the drop-off in business, there were many other difficulties associated with running recycling centers.

The former director of the Livonia Environmental Awareness Center, Laura Toy, now cheerfully recalls that she "gave birth to a recycling center — but not without many pains."

The Livonia center was at the corner of Farmington and Five Mile. During peak periods in 1972 and 1973, two to three bins of glass were hauled out of the center every week.

"But we had many problems with vandalism from kids," Ms. Toy said. "Adequate supervision got to be very difficult."

One result of this work was starting the Livonia Ecology Commission, which continues today.

BIRMINGHAM HAS one of the few recycling centers left in this area.

"It's not thriving, but we're holding our own," reports Elaine Morse.

Birmingham's recycling center is unique because it was started later than most, in 1976. Yet while others are closing, Birmingham's became self-sufficient last fall.

During its early years, the Birmingham city government gave financial support to the center, which operates at the city's DPW yard at Eton and Holland. It's open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. every Saturday.

"We've developed a core of people who have continued to recycle over the years," Ms. Morse said. "As other centers have closed, we've attracted cyclers from a wide area from Royal Oak to Bloomfield Township and surrounding communities."

Expenses of the center are paid from money gained through recycled newspapers. Newspapers now bring in about $20 per ton, compared to as little as $2 a ton in recent years. The center recycles about 23 tons of paper a month.

Ms. Morse has ambivalent feelings about hauling glass to a bottling plant in Charlotte. "Sometimes you wonder if you're using more energy in the gas it takes to truck the glass as is saved by the re-use of the glass," she said.

Expenses for the Birmingham recycling center include salaries for an adult manager and high school student staff.

AT LEAST one site for area recycling will never return. National Can Corp. placed a big dumpster outside its Livonia office for consumers to drop off cans.

When the bottle law campaign was being battled in the fall of 1978, the company threatened to leave Michigan if the law passed. The law was approved overwhelmingly by voters, and the company kept its word.

Yes, recycling centers are fast disappearing. But when one looks at the relatively litter-free highways and roads of Michigan, maybe that's not so bad. It's just one side effect of a good law.

Credit union league elects

The Michigan Credit Union League Filene Chapter recently held officer elections. The chapter includes credit unions in west Detroit and western Wayne County.

Re-elected to a two-year term as chapter director was John Elkins, assistant manager of the Dearborn Federal Credit Union. William Austin, manager of the Livonia Public Employees Credit Union, was returned as alternate league director for a two-year term.

Elected to the group's executive committee were Loren McDonald, manager of Western Wayne Catholic Credit Union, and Eleanor Salter, manager of Eloise Credit Union in Westland.

Re-elected to the committee were Gordon Vyse, president of Dairymen's Credit Union in Dearborn, and Clifton Smith, treasurer of OLG Parish Federal Credit Union in Detroit. Smith and Vyse were also elected as chair and vice-chair of the chapter, with William Garrison named secretary and Vicent Koster re-elected as treasurer.

Apes, men closely linked

Humans and African apes are so closely related at the molecular level that they should be placed in the same scientific subfamily, Hominidae, said Dr. Morris Goodman, professor of anatomy at Wayne State University School of Medicine.

Gorillas and chimpanzees are genetically more closely related to man than to Asian apes, Dr. Goodman said. His analysis of protein and DNA data demonstrates that humans and African apes descended from the same ancestor, and also suggests that they separated five to six million years ago, or even more recently.

His Proposal A was defeated

Tax-reform author will end his career

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

State Rep. Roy Smith, R-Saline, walked out of the ballot box Tuesday morning and announced his legislative career was over.

Smith, a lawmaker — and tax reform advocate — for 14 years, wanted to make sure his retirement from the Michigan House was announced before the final outcome of Proposal A was known.

Smith co-authored the tax-cutting Proposal A with state Rep. Thomas Brown, D-Westland, and worked closely with Gov. Milliken and legislative leaders to put together a leadership proposal on tax reform.

LAST YEAR, Smith co-authored, with state Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, a tax reform package defeated by voters in November.

In 1974 Smith also worked hard behind the scenes on a tax reform measure which was defeated.

"I wanted people to know that, regardless of whether Proposal A is approved today or not I plan to end my legislative career," he said. "The outcome of the proposal has nothing to do with my decision, which was made a couple months ago."

'I wanted people to know that, regardless of whether Proposal A is approved today or not, I plan to end my legislative career. The outcome of the proposal has nothing to do with my decision, which was made a couple of months ago.'

Rep. Roy Smith

ONE OF the recent highlights of Smith's career in tax reform was the equalization by class legislation approved two years ago.

Smith, whose 52nd District includes the city of Plymouth and the western half of Plymouth Township, had worked a number of years to end inequities in equalization. Because many communities in western Wayne County were drastically under-assessing residences and over-assessing other classes of property, Smith's bill delayed enactment by two years to give local assessors the chance to correct the imbalance over time.

Most local governments ignored that period of grace and, to Smith's chagrin, did nothing. Then, when the law was implemented in 1980, the adjustments had to be made in one painful step in many communities.

Recently Smith had described the howl by local officials and the public outcry over the equalization by class bill as one of the "most frustrating" times of his long career in government.

SMITH SERVED a total of seven terms, or 14 years, as a state representative. Earlier he was a township supervisor and a Washtenaw County commissioner.

His hallmark as a legislator was his skill in hammering out compromise between party factions, and his non-partisan approach on the floor of the House.

Forward-thinking on tax reform and assessment equalization, Smith was a solid Republican on other subjects. This mixture of beliefs helped Smith draw support from campus voters as well as from the rural areas of Ypsilanti.

Some of Smith's basic beliefs:

- "Man should be the master of his own destiny. Government should do only those things for people that they cannot do themselves. A welfare state destroys man's self-reliance and robs him of his self-respect."
- On taxation: "Through sound principles of economy we can determine our needs and the price we should pay for them. Once this is determined, we can institute a tax program where everyone will pay no more than his fair share and in return receive his fair share of services."
- "Through legislation fair to both industry and labor, we can bring about a partnership between labor and industry which will make Michigan foremost as a good state for both."
- "A representative's duty is to directly represent the people who elect him by keeping in touch with them, acquainting himself with their needs and doing his utmost to satisfy those needs."

Smith said Tuesday morning that he hasn't made any definite plans but he won't be retiring. "I think I'll return to county politics in some capacity, either as a worker or as a local officeholder."

Brown, the co-author of Proposal A, had earlier announced plans to retire as a state lawmaker and run for mayor of Westland. Brown's district includes all of Canton, part of Westland and the eastern half of Plymouth Township.

Shortchanging the handicapped

To the editor:

I wish to thank Editor Emory Daniels for a most perceptive and lucid editorial in the Monday, May 11, issue of the Observer.

Not only does he explain how our handicapped children will suffer in the next few years, but he correctly identifies the means by which local school districts hope to escape blame (by transferring it to the state) for shortchanging some five to 12 percent of our school population.

Daniels also pointed out that eliminating the school social work program in the district strikes at the most vulnerable group of our schoolchildren: those who are in the process of being evaluated and identified by the school social workers but not yet certified. There is no parent organization representing those students, so they have no clout.

Even recognizing as I do that school districts today are under tremendous pressure due to budget cuts and cuts in state aid, I find that no excuse for our local district to camouflage and distort the true state of affairs. Does our school board and our top administration have so little faith in the intelligence and good will of our parents?

I hope that every parent in the district read Emory Daniels' column, that they clipped it to re-read this time next year, and the next.

Why no Latin for 9th grade?

To the editor:

A decision has been made by someone in either the board of education or in central administration that we feel should be known by the public. This decision is not to offer Latin I to the 56 ninth grade students who have signed up for this class next fall.

As the Latin teachers at PCEP, we feel that we should have been in on the decision. This decision does have some influence on these students' future, and who better than two people currently engaged in the field could discuss these implications?

These students have been denied the opportunity to obtain a full four years of Latin. First, they miss the knowledge of the Latin language and literature, part of the foundation of Western culture. Second, they are denied full benefit of the foundation in basic skills that Latin promotes.

In this age of weeping and wailing about the declining of SAT scores, here is a proven "booster" to SAT scores. One only need read the studies conducted in a variety of school systems to see the tangible benefits of even one year of Latin. Board members and central administration have recently received copies of these studies so that they too may see the benefits claimed.

Third, for those college-bound students, the dilemma is twofold. The students are denied the chance to fulfill their college language requirement by taking four years in high school. They also are denied the chance to participate in the advanced placement program which could result in college credit for high school study.

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have in the past had a commitment to a four year program in Latin; therefore someone must have previously realized the benefits. What happened?

Don't condemn all small shops

To the editor:

We are writing concerning the recent letter to the editor you published under the heading "Small stores lack courtesy" in which the writer complained, and rightfully so, about poor treatment and deficiencies at a few of the stores in the Canton-Plymouth area.

Certainly she and anyone else who is not treated properly at any business place, be it large or small, is justified in longer patronizing that establishment; however, to condemn the small shops in the entire area and state the larger stores do not have these situations is both incorrect and unfair.

By and large there is no doubt in my mind that we, the small-store owners in Plymouth, match up overall very favorably with large-shopping-center stores in customer relations as regards courtesy, adjustment of complaints including refunds and overall concern for our customers' good will.

Come give us another chance, disgruntled Cantonite; you'll be pleasantly surprised.

Radio auction was successful

To the editor:

The students, administrative and teaching staff of WSDP radio wish to extend a gracious thank you to everyone in the Plymouth-Canton community who helped make the second annual Radio-thon Auction such a success.

Through the contributions of more than 240 merchants, WSDP was able to auction more than 320 items. Without the merchants' willingness and cooperation to contribute, the station would never have been able to auction nearly $8,400 worth of goods and services. That total fell only $300 short of the goal that station personnel had set prior to the auction.

Thanks also should be extended to the Parent Booster Committee, co-chairman Chet Latka, and especially to all of the listeners who participated throughout the auction. Without your efforts, the auction would not have been a success.

Preceding the May 7-9 auction, WSDP broadcast a special "Booster Day" remote from Old Village and Kellogg Park. This joint effort was made possible through the efforts of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, Diane Dart, executive director.

Other contributors included: The New Gal in Town, for providing electricity; Larry Janes, for providing a mobil van; and Denny Campbell, owner of Cable Channel 13, who provided support throughout the day.

WSDP extends a big "thank you" for again another year of outstanding support from everyone.

Lettuce visit Eastern Market, and have a peach of a time

By Sherry Kahan
staff writer

A murky sky was visible over Stroh's Brewery as Sue Roy of Livonia wheeled her blue van into a parking lot at the Eastern Market in Detroit. With her were Judy Banyai, another Livonian, and Marilyn Stoner of Westland.

The women arrived at 6:30 a.m. on Saturday to shop for produce for members of their food co-op, Staff of Life of Livonia. The hour seemed rigorous to them, but nothing remarkable to those whose produce was already set up and waiting for business. Most of them had been up and on the road by 2 a.m.

When these farmers and dealers unload and set up their crates of lettuce, baskets of apples, stalks of asparagus and a general cornucopia of produce, and the customers flock in, there is nothing in Detroit to equal the Eastern Market. It offers color, movement, interesting faces, slice of life and sheer fun.

ALL BUSINESS, the three women quickly unloaded a dolly that would be used to return produce to the van. Then they entered one of the four shopping buildings at the market.

Theirs was not the only food co-op taking advantage of bulk prices at the market. In fact, as they made their rounds the women had a small reunion with the members of the Good Stuff Food Co-op of Novi, which a year ago helped Staff of Life get started.

Sal Ciaramitaro, who runs a produce store bearing his last name at the edge of the market, later said that there are about 20 food co-ops who regularly place orders at his store.

On that day, however, there were more individual shoppers than co-op ones picking their way through the hustle and bustle. It was Mother's Day, and one old-timer confessed that the prices were probably a little higher that day than usual.

In addition to the usual bounty of fruits and vegetables, there were what seemed to be acres of flower and vegetable flats. Yellow and purple pansies turned their faces to the crowd, and bright marigolds and impatiens stood up to announce the beginning of the planting season.

Men glided by in a forklifts to unload trucks parked on the streets beside the market, a mother carried a sleeping child, customers bargained with vendors for a bag of potatoes, and a boy curled up with a bright-eyed dog in a box underneath the table from which his mother sold produce.

EASTERN MARKET was founded in the 1890s, with the first shed going up in 1892. Today the market is no mere tourist attraction. It is a major commercial food distribution center for southeastern Michigan. The term Eastern Market means more than four large sheds. All around it are buildings full of items that pique the interest.

"It is the only place I know of to buy black turtle beans," said Mrs. Banyai, taking a break from shopping to have breakfast in Farmer's Restaurant, one of the market's several eating spots. She buys them in a store on Gratiot across the expressway (on a pedestrian bridge) from the market. She uses them to make black-bean stew, which she discovered while living in Brazil.

"You can park your car here and find everything you want within walking distance," Mrs. Stoner added. "You can walk across the freeway and find meat, poultry and fish markets."

In fact, the market is surrounded by places like Busy Bee Hardware on Gratiot, which rumor says carries items that no other hardware store has. Or try Gabriel's for old-fashioned shopping. Olives and hot peppers lie in open buckets, and cheese is open to the cutting. A variety of foreign breads are on sale. There is a welcome mingling of odors that seemed lost forever with the advent of supermarkets.

EASTERN MARKET is noise and movement, an empty box on the floor and a piece of lettuce underfoot. But it has also been declared an historic area, by the State Historical Commission in 1977.

This was both because of its commercial history and because of the Victorian architecture along Market street.

While Saturday may be the most popular shopping day, the market is open every day, except Sunday (with the exception of last Sunday's Flower Day). The hours are from 8 a.m. until noon on weekdays and from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays.

One of the first stops made by the women was to look over the oranges sold by Shirley Snitz Blumberg, who Marilyn Stoner of Westland will push this dolly full of produce back to a van.

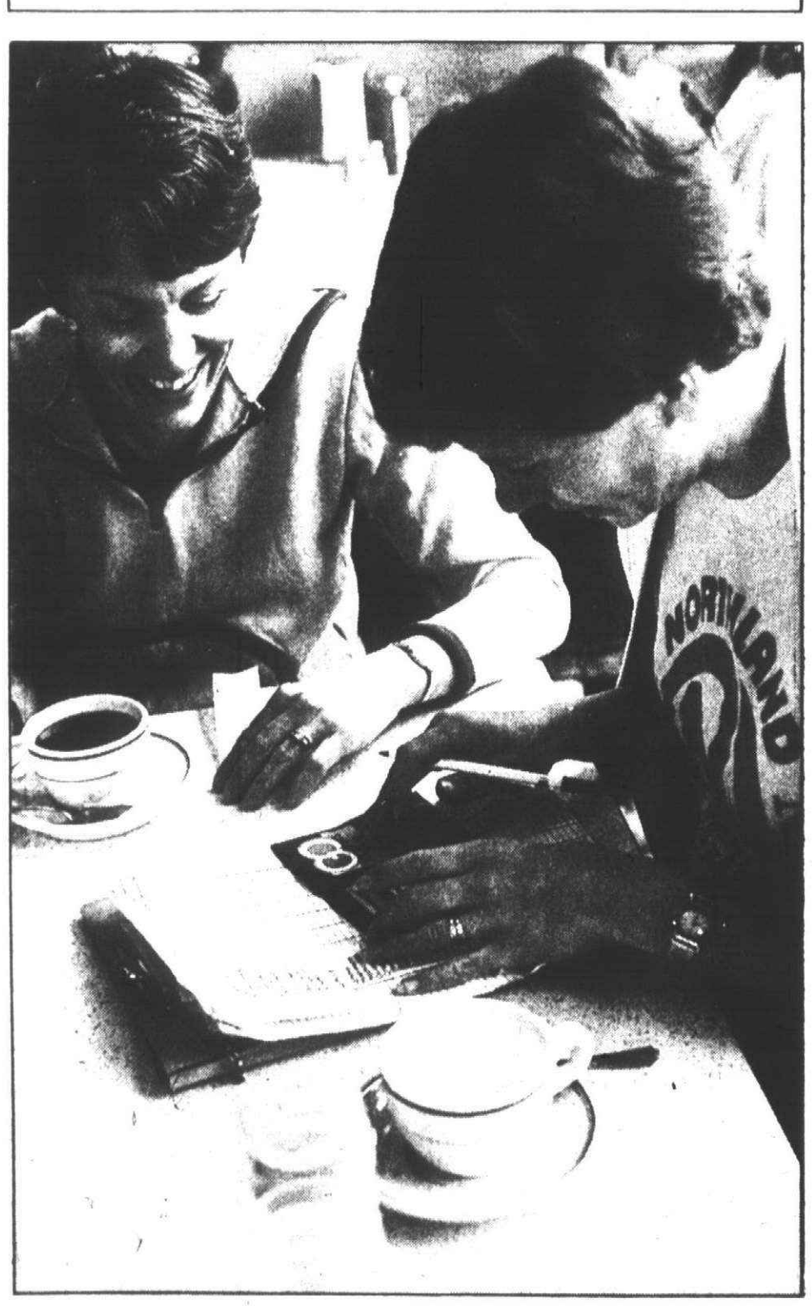
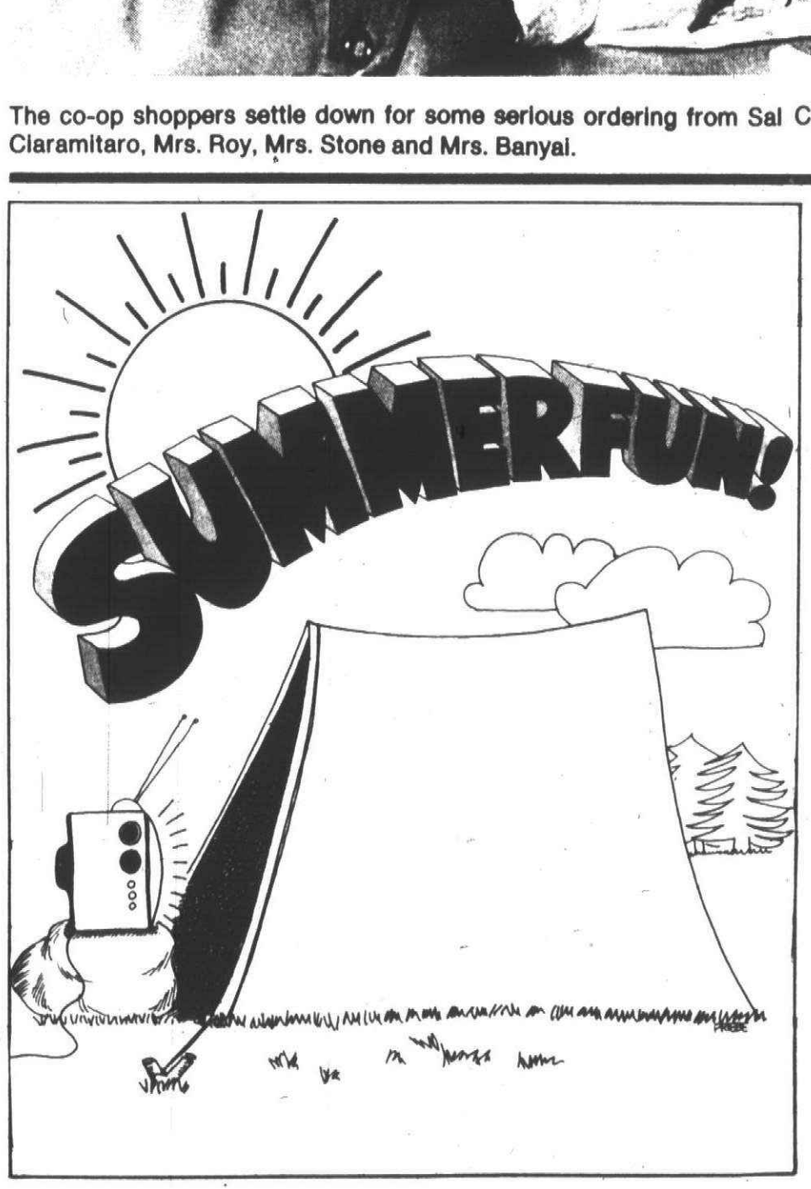
Those wishing to go to Eastern Market from the western suburbs should drive east on I-96. Near Tiger Stadium watch for the Fisher Freeway. Turn will exit from left. Go north on Fisher to end. Exit at Gratiot and turn right. Drive one block and turn right just before Stroh's Brewery into market area.

The co-op shoppers settle down for some serious ordering from Sal Ciaramitaro, whose store sits close to Eastern Market. From left are Ciaramitaro, Mrs. Roy, Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Banyai.



Over breakfast, Sue Roy (right) figures out with the help of Marilyn Stoner the price per pound of items bought in bulk.



Summer camp means athletics, crafts, mosquitos

Summer camps come in every description you could name and a lot you never thought of.

Young people of all ages can go away to camp or stay home for day camp. They can learn outdoor skills, sports, music or art.

Their elders can go to camp too. They can enjoy activities as varied as shaping up and studying bird lore.

And then there are special experience camps, like one scheduled June 21-26 for mothers and young sons and daughters at the YWCA's Camp Cavell on Lake Huron.

That program, titled "Me and My Mom," involves a daily schedule of activities like crafts, sports, stories and nature study for the children and macrame, batik, tennis, dance exercise and drama for their mothers.

Information on the session is available by calling the YWCA downtown office, 961-9220.

Camp Cavell also has a summer of resident camp experiences for girls. A call to the same telephone number will bring its brochure.

Day camp sessions scheduled by the Livonia Family Y are typical of the YMCA programs youngsters can enjoy without leaving home.

Offering summer fun beginning June 29 this year at the Livonia facility will be Jubilee Day Camp for children 6-10, and Kiddie Kamp for the 4- and 5-year-olds.

In addition, the YMCA operates Camp Ohiyesa, where day campers from area Ys are taken daily by bus. Ohiyesa sessions begin June 22. Camp Nissokone in the northern Lower Peninsula is the YMCA's resident camp, and its program begins June 27.

Pupils eye art show to boost trip

Canton Chatter

By KATHY FREECE 981-2027

"Come Ride With Us" is the project that has the fifth graders of Eriksson Elementary very excited. The final incentive is to take an all-expense paid trip to Toronto. The class is striving for a goal of $4,000 and to date they have achieved $2,200.

Teachers Larry Cameron and Patricia Hammer have undertaken several methods to reach their target amount. Family, friends and fellow students have supported 59 students by buying popcorn, Tootsie Rolls, pens, peneils and T-shirts with their school mascot on them. They also are doing such activities as a paper drive, bake sale and a pizza night for the entire school. The upcoming programs are an art show at Eriksson May 27 and a roller skating party at Bonaventure June 24.

All the children are working daily to attain the trip so there is no additional financial burden on their parents. There will be a fee for the chaperones who will accompany the class on their outing.

Another unusual aspect of this class is that they are encountering team teaching. I had no idea what team teaching was all about.

It is a teaching technique that gives students many advantages that only one teacher could not provide. Two classes are combined into one with two teachers. Both teachers are responsible for the subject matter and teaching of the many subjects.

THE ELEMENTARY teacher has many different subjects that he/she must introduce to the class. It would be nice to think that all teachers are experts in all fields and could do a great job with every subject. Just like all of us, we all do a few things well although we tackle many new areas from time to time. In team teaching the two professionals have opposite strengths.

Cameron's high skilled areas are in math, science and spelling while Pat's are language arts and social studies. At any time the students are being taught by one person so the alternate figure can take aside the students that may need individual attention in a certain subject. The teacher can plan in much more depth and spend more time in developing exciting projects in his special field. At the same time, another teacher is on call to help.

Two teachers can do more together than two separately. A good example is while one is taking attendance and counting children using the hot lunch program, the other can be setting up for the busy day ahead.

In this particular classroom there is an Apple Computer, an incubator hatching chicken eggs, skits planned and performed, and a number of other programs that involve many of the children.

There is a special excitement every time you walk into this high energy room and it will continue until Aug. 5 — the day they all leave for Toronto.

SUSIE Magaldi's confirmation at St. John Neumann parish earlier this month was celebrated in the true Magaldi fashion. Friends and family came from far and wide to share in the joyous occasion.

When you are going to have a party just ask Mary Ellen and Bud because they know how to do it right. Charlie and Margie McCabe came from Boston to share in the fun. Judy Cirino was her sponsor and she was accompanied to the party by her husband, Domonic, and Sueli and Dan Baker.

Since it was really Susie's party, all of her friends were able to be on hand to enjoy the day. Nancy Smith, Diedre Flynn, Mona Lewandowski, Steve Sobditch, Mike Ingle, John Burdziak, Brent Stack, and Shaun Cooney, congregated in the rec room and danced the night away. Danielle Jacobson, Traci LaChapelle, Ellen Seery, John Bonadrini, Ted Shashaty, Steve Dillon along with Roy and Scott Echeuerri were on hand to join in on the fun of the evening.

AS WE APPROACH the holiday weekend, I hope we all enjoy a sunny safe and warm summer ahead. We all start to wander out of our front door and greet our old and new neighbors after our winter hibernation.

I hope we all remember what this weekend is celebrated for, the many men and women who have served for all of us.

Fun at the market

had been up since 4 a.m. She said that she had been selling produce in the same corner since 1921.

As they worked their way through the stalls, Mrs. Roy held a list giving last week's prices so they could make comparisons. Prices are usually fairly similar up and down the aisles, so the women were surprised to discover that at one stand 30 pounds of asparagus cost $22, when a later vendor quoted them $12. They observed that the quality can differ, however.

THEY DISCUSSED cucumbers and peppers with dealer Frank Navarro, who said he had been working at this and other markets for 60 years. They loaded his cucumbers and peppers onto their dolly.

After about an hour of shopping, the women adjourned to a busy Farmer's Restaurant. Mrs. Roy immediately began to tap a computer. She had to have the prices per pound or per item all ready by the time they drove up to the co-op, which is located in Newburg Methodist Church.

By adding on to the market price 15 percent for co-op expenses, she would be charging co-op buyers 61 cents for a bunch of broccoli, 28 cents for two pounds of carrots, $1.73 for a gallon of cider, 53 cents for a head of iceberg lettuce, 58 cents for a half a pound of mushrooms and 5 cents for an eating orange.

Shop shows furniture of old

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

If you have ever wondered what kind of homes people had back in the 18th century and what style furniture they had, you can get your curiosity satsfied by a visit to the Plymouth Furniture Company store on Main Street across from Kellogg Park.

In a private setting, you'll find about a dozen pieces of furniture that are replicas of the chairs and tables and even the wood storage cabinet of the old days.

"These are authentic reproductions," Oscar Hertz, manager of the store tells you. "And you won't find duplicates a anywhere around here."

One of the eye-catching pieces is what is called a kindling cabinet — a storage place for the wood used in the stoves of those days. Later, this cabinet was sidetracked and folks piled the kindling behind the stove. But in the old days it held a choice spot in the dining room.

ANOTHER ARTISTIC piece is the Bombe Chest, New England circa 1770. This dowry chest was the dream of every young lady who stored her handmade linens and needlework for the day when she would become a bride. In later years, it became known as the young girl's hope chest.

The Queen Bachelor's Chest, England, circa 17th century, was used by bachelors in Elizabeth times who required for their linens and lace colors.

The original bachelors chest, designed in the 17th century, was found in the French Quarter in New Orleans.

Another throwback to the olden times is the spice chest, Pennsylvan circa 1770. This chest played an important function in the early American colonies. In those days, spices were used to flavor and add zest to meals of wild game. Spices were stored in this wooden chest designed for that purpose and were used sparingly. Even today the housewife has a spice jar available when preparing some types of food.

IN THE GROUP of reproductions in what was known as a looking glass then but as a mirror today. This dates back to England in the 1720 era. The glass itself is attractive, but the frame is what draws the attention. It is heavy molded of richly figured walnut.

The original was crafted in the Queen Anne period and the two-part beveled mirror glass is distinctively English. Usually it served two purposes — decoratuve as well as useful.

For the men, there is a replica of the old-time card table. In the 18th century it was called an English Tavern table. Because of the dusty roads in the sparsely settled countryside, taverns or road houses became popular as rest stops for the traveler between villages and towns.

GM employees' involvement feted

A number of General Motors employees were honored recently for community involvement at a banquet held for the recipients and their spouses at the Hillside Inn in Plymouth.

Among those honored was Helen E. McHugh of Canton, who works at the Fisher Body Livonia Plant.

The awards were announced recently by Sue Rosiek, editor of the Livonia Observer, who served as spokeswoman for the judging panel. Other judges in the General Motors Livonia Award for Excellence in Community Activities program were: Charles Ball, president of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce; and Judge James Mies, Livonia district judge.

"Choosing the top three winners from so many good nominations was a very difficult task," Ms. Rosiek said.

"All of us on the judging panel were amazed at the number of GM employees involved in community activities and at the depth of their involvement."

SCHMIDT RECOGNIZED

Schmidt was honored at a program held in Scottsdale, Ariz. He is a member of the Instrument Society of America. Taylor Instrument is a divsion of Sybron Corporation, which has its headquarters in Rochester, N.Y.

Summer will see lively doings in churches

Picnics, baseball games, camp, excursions and Bible school are some of the activities that will help keep church members in touch with their church this summer.

Some of the programs will exercise the mind, others will give the body a good workout. While many of the activities are directed toward children, adults also are occasionally included.

Clarenceville United Methodist has three main events on its summer calendar. These include a Bible school, an evening school and a summer-camp program. The Bible school is for children and youth and will be held on the same dates as the evening school, June 22-26.

The youngsters will have Bible stories, music, crafts, art projects and puppets. Adults will be offered three or four options each evening, all of which will involve practical skills or information.

Some may chose to be certified in cardiopulmonary resuscitation. Others may get involved with home improvement, financial advice and budgeting, and estate planning.

Two camp experiences will take place in July. The youth (seventh-graders through 12th-graders) will take off for a peaceful camp setting in the Upper Peninsula on July 6, remaining until July 10. With them will go the staff, counselors and cooks.

Children in grades one through six will head for Camp Lake View in Goodrich on July 13, coming back on July 17. Camping is open to children other than church members.

GARDEN CITY PRESBYTERIAN Church will observe the strawberry season with a strawberry festival from 5-9 p.m. on Friday, June 19, on the church lawn. A church picnic is scheduled for Sunday, June 14, at the church.

Any child is eligible to attend vacation Bible school on July 13-17.

A group of church members will go on a family work-camp experience on June 21-27 in Howell

Church members have already started a softball season involving nine women's teams and 12 men's in leagues sponsored by the Westland YMCA.

Temple Baptist Church in Redford Township also has an active baseball season, fielding 10 teams involved in nightly games.

Its juniors, (fourth-, fifth- and sixth-graders) will attend church camp in Chautauqua, Ohio, from June 29 to July 3. The seventh- and eighth-graders will have their turn at the same camp on July 13-17, with the senior high attending on Aug. 10-14.

A patriotic service is scheduled for Sunday, July 5. Picnics for adults and young people will be held all during the summer, and excursions are planned to Frankenmuth and London, Ontario.

St. Bernadine Catholic Church in Westland will welcome children in grades one through five to its summer religion school planned for the first and second week of August.

Hosanna Tabor Lutheran Church in Redford will hold Bible classes at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday all through the summer. Its Bible school will be on June 22-26.

The youth choir of Plymouth Church of the Nazarene will head for Wyoming during vacation time. It will visit a ranch for several days and present concerts at various places on the way home.

Bible school on June 22-26, will be held from 7-8:45 p.m. for children 4 years old through sixth-graders. Non-church members may participate in the camping program. Junior-high students will go to a camp in Howell from July 6-10. Senior students, 15-17, will go from July 20-25.

Boys' camp will be from Aug. 10-14; girls' from Aug. 17-21.

Gary Haines will sing at a community gospel sing at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 15.

A caravan to Colorado will leave with senior-high youth of Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church in Livonia on June 29, returning on July 12. The students will work at Presbyterian Highlands Camp near Denver.

Anyone in fourth grade through ninth grade is eligible to attend adventure camp at Camp Westminster at Higgins Lake. The dates are July 11-13.

THERE ARE MANY opportunities for trips this summer for members of Ward Presbyterian Church of Livonia. During Super 7 week, July 5-11, youth will be off to Cedar Point, Bob-Lo, a road rally and possibly a Tiger game.

The senior trip for those in grades nine through 12 will be a mountain project in Altamont, Tenn. Open to local young people, it is a work project taking place from July 11-18. Students in grades nine-12 will also go on a wilderness trip to the Smoky Mountains in North Carolina. Open to the public, it will take place from July 25 to Aug. 8.

Junior-high camp will be from Aug. 2-8 at the YMCA Camp in Jackson. Senior-high students will stay at the same camp from Aug. 9-15. Youngsters in grades three through six will go to Pine Hills Camp in Brighton from July 27 to Aug. 1.

Journeys by bike are popular with Ward members. This year cyclists will pedal on a two-week trip through Illinois to the Wisconsin Dells. They will take a ferry across Lake Michigan and bike home. The dates are July 17 through Aug. 2.

Another bike outing will be to Silver Lake Dunes on Lake Michigan on Aug. 15-23.

Dr. Jerry Smith will lead the choir on a tour on June 19-29.

There is no limit to God's wisdom; no limit to His power, His mercy, His love. There is no limit to God.

moral perspectives
Rev. Robert Schaden

Murder attempts may continue

Time has just begun to cloud the reality of the attempt on the life of our president when the bullets from the gun of another would-be assassin ripped into the pope.

Violence of this sort has a way of provoking many questions. However, the important questions do not get asked, because they are too unpopular to speak out loud.

News commentators are quick to ask what we might do to tighten security against another assasination attempt. Sidewalk commentators wonder how we can protect ourselves against those on the other end of a gun. Many people ask what is happening to our world. But no one seems to be asking how long we can continue to have it both ways.

Having it both ways is popular with people of all ages. Children would like to have it both ways with their ice cream — lots of ice cream and no stomach aches. They would also like to play with fire and not be burned. Many of us would like to attain success with no effort, or make money with no work. Most of us know better, but on other items the lesson seems to be lost. We continue to believe that we can have it both ways.

Some insist upon being pro-life on behalf of the unborn while remaining unconcerned about the rights of the disenfranchised who are already born. On the other side of the issue, there are those who proclaim that abortion is nothing more than the option of an adult exercising the right of free choice. At the same time they deny the most basic human right to those who as yet are unable to speak for themselves.

The myth of being able to have it both ways is also alive and well in our thinking on fire power. While being shocked over attempts on the lives of public figures we remain apathetic in the face of violence committed against the less well known citizens of society. We become incensed when guns and other instruments of violence are used against our own, while accepting their use against strangers as minor news events.

While decrying the availability of hand guns we support the build-up of nuclear weapons. Our justification is as ridiculous as it is dangerous. Whether in the international arena or the private sector the rationalization is the same: I need a gun to protect myself against the other person's gun. When he discovers that I also have a gun he gets a bigger gun, and the race is on. Double-edged thinking has a way of creating multiple madness.

For those who are asking what has happened to our world the answer is really nothing new. We simply continue to reap what we sow. We can continue to ask the types of questions which do little more than sedate a shocked people or we can begin to face the more important questions, as unpopular as they might be.

Presbyterians to talk on Ireland

Two Irish Presbyterian leaders will be in Livonia at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 23, "to clarify and interpret the Irish situation."

The Very Rev. Dr. Victor Lynas, minister of Gardenmore Church in Larne, and Carrie Barnett of Dublin, member of the Irish Council of Churches' executive committee and vice-president of the British Council of Churches, will visit the home of Ray Bearns, 39136 Ross, Livonia.

They are part of a 10-person delegation visiting this country during May in an effort to interpret the problems in Northern Ireland. Arranged by the Presbyterian Church in Ireland, the visit is designed "primarily to make known as widely as possible the positive work of the churches during the past 11 years of tension and strife," according to the information officer of the church.

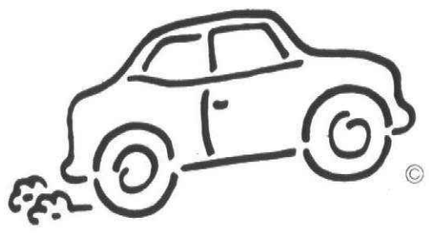
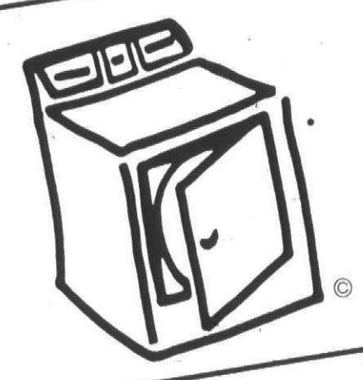
Selling your cat? Don't leave prospective buyers wondering . . . tell them the things they want to know such as its sex, whether it is registered or a show cat, what color it is, how old it is, whether it's good with children, why it is being sold, the price and when and how you can be reached.

Homebuyers need information. Don't miss a sale by not giving them the facts. Tell them where the home is located, how many bedrooms it has, how it is constructed, what the architectural style is, how big the lot is, how old it is and what condition it is in. They'll also want to know about the bathroom(s), kitchen, basement and energy features such as insulation, heating and air conditioning. Remember to tell them the reason for the sale and when and how you can be reached. Above all, don't leave out the price!



Selling your car? Make sure prospective car buyers know what you're offering. Tell them the make, model, year, body style and finish of your car. Also include information about the mileage, previous use, interior and exterior condition, equipment, accessories, tires, transmission, engine, along with the price, terms and down payment, guarantee and warranty. Complete ad by telling readers when and how you can be reached.



People looking for appliances want the facts. If you're selling a dryer, for instance, include the brand name and the model number or year. State whether it's gas or electric, the size, color, condition, unusual or exclusive features, price and terms, reason for selling and whether delivery and installation is offered. Don't forget to let readers know when and how you can be reached.

Selling your piano? Strike a high note with prospective buyers by giving them the information they need to make a purchase decision. They'll want to know the name of the manufacturer, whether it's a spinet, upright, baby grand, etc., the kind of wood it is made of and the finish it has. Also tell them the condition of the piano, your reason for selling, the price and terms, delivery arrangements and when and how you can be reached.

MICKY JONES

The atrium of the Wheels Inn is like the outdoors put under a roof.

A 7-acre hotel for kids

Wheels Inn in Chatham even has something for parents to do

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

Kids are streaming down the halls in bathing suits and tennis shorts, sometimes carrying ice skates or tennis rackets. There isn't a shirt-and-tie in sight until after the sun goes down.

AN OPEN letter to Sharon, Shelly, Mike and all the other kids out there in travel country:

Yes, kids, there really is a Wheels Inn, where you can keep mom and dad busy while you get down to some serious play. The first thing your parents will ask you is "How far away is it and how much does it cost?" Especially, "how much does it cost?"

You are in luck with this one. It's only 40 miles away in Chatham, Ontario. And it doesn't cost much.

To give you an overall picture, you will have to imagine that you are standing on a little red bridge in the center of this crazy-looking hotel. What you are standing in is a huge atrium, an open space about the size of a hockey rink.

The little kids are playing miniature golf beside the bridge. The bigger kids are playing badminton, shooting pool, swimming and otherwise having fun around the Ranch House, an open-sided restaurant that serves hamburgers, hot dogs, Coke and even beer.

(You're not old enough for beer yet, so keep your hands off that.)

Behind you is a doorway to a building full of restaurants and nightclubs. Ahead of you are two doorways: one goes to the fitness club, where you play tennis and squash, go bowling and skating.

The second door goes past the pinball room to the high-rise hotel. There's a disco just outside a third door if you like music that breaks your eardrums.

The bedrooms look just like bedrooms in any other hotel, a couple of big beds and a bathroom, but you know you are not in any ordinary hotel as soon as you get close to the elevators.

Kids are streaming down the halls in bathing suits and tennis shorts, sometimes carrying ice skates or tennis rackets. There isn't a shirt-and-tie in sight until after the sun goes down.

From your room, you can see the building spreading across seven acres. It was once a factory that made wheel molds, which is why they call it Wheels Inn.

Sit still for three paragraphs and I'll give you a little history:

The Bradley family owned farms all along the river here in Chatham, and some of them still farm that land. The Bradleys owned the Holiday Inn, but it was the only big hotel in town, so one day John Bradley bought this old factory building and turned it into a second hotel.

There wasn't much for people to do in Chatham, so for a few years he brought in great old bands with names like Guy Lombardo and Count Basie (your parents have heard of them).

That was OK for a while, but people got tired of that and didn't come any more, so John decided to build this big crazy atrium full of games for kids. They call it the Golden Mile because it cost him a million dollars to build it.

They needed something for the adults to do while kids were having fun, so they built a fitness club and sold memberships to the local people. Hotel guests get in free but they must pay for the tennis, bowling and other sports.

Eventually they had more kids and parents than they had bedrooms, so they built this big high-rise hotel to go with it. That keeps the place full on weekends, which is when families like to go, but the hotel wasn't full during the week so they built a convention center across the street.

The place is so big now that you need a map to get around. It's a great place for kids, but if you are going to bring your parents with you there are some things you should know.

The miniature golf, ping pong, badminton, swimming and all that good stuff is free. You need quarters to play the pinball machines and the pool tables.

It costs money to play in the fitness club — $4 an hour per alley, no matter how many games you plan; $8 an hour in peak times and $6 in not-so-busy times for the tennis and squash and handball. No charge for the jogging track and exercise room or the sauna.

Special summer package rates are less than $80 Canadian per couple per day including room, breakfast and dinner. Kids under 12 sleep in the room free and pay their own meals.

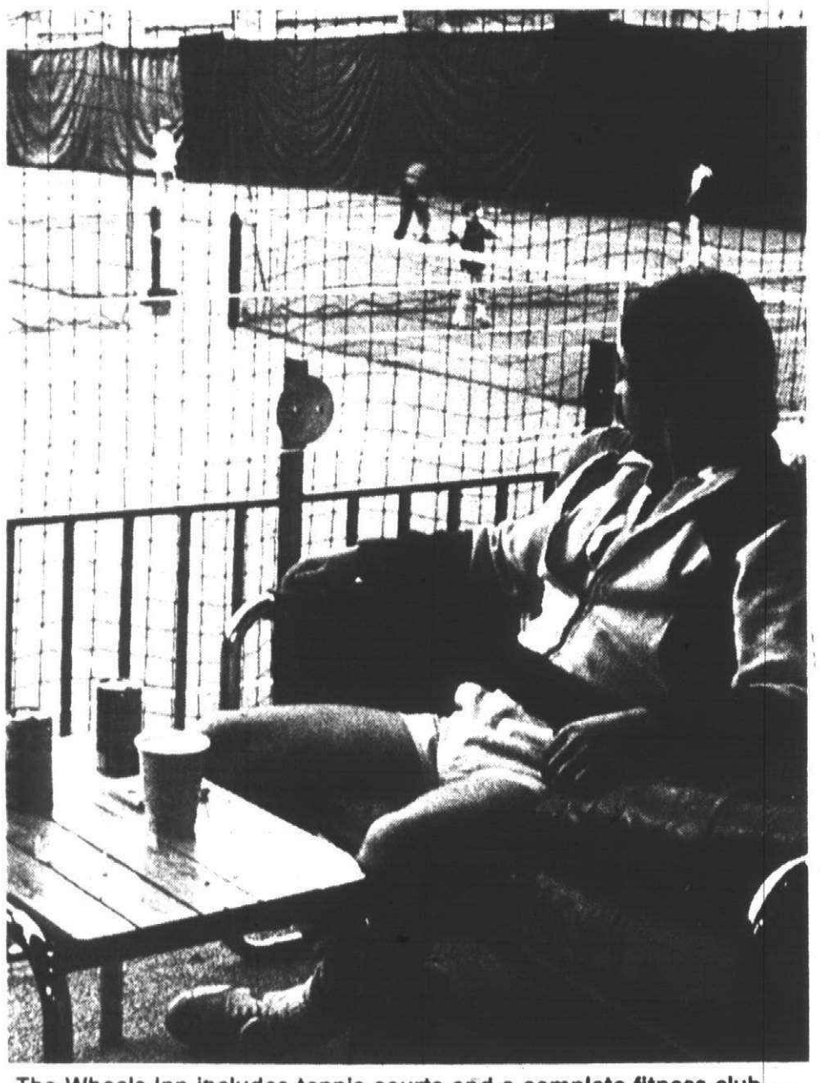
You can also get a golf package and special rates in the middle of the week. Tell your folks to reserve their tennis and bowling time when they make the reservation or they'll never get on the courts.

If you kids eat in the Ranch House and the coffee shop, which are inexpensive, your folks can eat for about $7 each under the huge tree that grows in the middle of the dining room, and they can go to the nightclubs that have country music and other entertainment at night.

If you are still worried about the money, remind them that an American dollar is worth 20 percent more than a Canadian dollar, so $1 Canadian is only 80 cents American.

There's really only one thing wrong with the Wheels Inn. You are likely to break your neck falling over a kid when you get out of the elevator.

But if they don't like kids, you're in trouble anyway. Aren't you, Sharon, Shelly and Mike? If you want more information to plot a trip for your family, write to the Wheels Inn, 615 Richmond St., Chatham, Ontario N7M1R2 or ask your dad to telephone (519) 351-1100.



The Wheels Inn includes tennis courts and a complete fitness club — all indoors.

Don't forget close-to-home travel spots

I spend a lot of time exploring other cities, but sometimes I forget how much there is to do in Detroit. I have been a tour guide in Detroit this week because I have been showing the city to a German tourist, Andy Bender.

Andy's family lived here when he was 3 years old, so he decided to come back for another look this spring. He is 20 years old now, and ready to spend a whole month in Detroit. He is staying with four different families, so he is seeing things from several different points of view.

Most people don't know how to be tourists in their own home town, so before you read further, take this little test. What would you show an overseas tourist in the Detroit area? Have you done those things yourself lately?

Andy spent the first 10 days of his visit with Art and Pat Clark of Dearborn, who showed him Greenfield Village, Henry Ford Museum, the Fairlane Center, Ann Arbor, the Renaissance Center and several other interesting places.

When he came to me for his second 10 days, I assumed that there was nothing much else for him to do. I was wrong. We spent one day driving around the lake country and residential areas of Oakland County and visiting Cranbrook.

I discovered Tally Hall, the new shopping center full of international eating booths at Orchard Lake Road and 14 Mile. I visited museums at Cranbrook that I hand't seen for 10 years.

The next day we explored the Cultural Center in Detroit — library, art museum, historical society; we walked Hart Plaza and took pictures from the top of the Ren Cen. Quite a view.

One day we hit the zoo. The last time I was there, it cost about a dollar to park and nothing to get in. Shows you how long it is since I've been there! Now it costs $2 to park and $3.50 to get in. Frankly, for anyone spoiled by the splendors of a European zoo, it isn't worth it.

The Michigan Space Center in Jackson is another story. It is definitely worth the drive and the $2 it costs to get in.

We haven't finished yet. Andy plans a two-day trip to Toronto, which his European friends told him not to miss. He is particularly anxious to go up in the CN Tower.

We're planning a day at the Detroit Science Center, which I haven't visited yet. We're going to do some weekend things, the kind you find in the events calendar: art shows, fairs, even garage sales.

When he leaves our house, he will visit Roxanne and Zaven Dolik in Birmingham, who will certainly have a lot more to show him in the metropolitan Detroit area.

If you haven't taken a visitor on a tour of southeast Michigan lately, do it for yourself. You can go to Frankenmuth, Historic Crossroads Village and Huckleberry Railroad near Flint, drive up Lake St. Clair, explore southern Ontario and do a lot of tourist things that you haven't done for years.

A visitor like Andy is exactly what you need to remind you of an old truth: The grass is not always greener on the other side of the state line.

Surging Canton victorious at Midland

Smith named MVP

Stop!

Things couldn't get any better.

What is there left to accomplish?

Plymouth Canton's baseball team continued its torrid winning pace by capturing the Midland Tournament over the weekend. The Chiefs then topped that by pulling out a 5-4 victory Monday over Farmington Harrison to remain unbeaten in the Western Six League.

The Chiefs have now won eight straight and have a 19-2 record. The name Canton is also getting around the state in a hurry. Coach Fred Crissey's team has climbed all the way to No. 2 in the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association Class A poll. That puts the Chiefs one spot behind defending Class A champ Grosse Pointe North, which is currently riding a 36-game winning streak.

"Polls are fine for noteriety," said Crissey, "but I don't think they have a positive effect.

"It doesn't mean a thing as far as performance. But you still have to perform. You have to be aware people are going to come at you."

The Canton coach realizes several loose ends must be tied up. The state tournament still lurks ahead. The Chiefs must get by a tough North Farmington team Friday even to get into the district semifinals. The team must also win one more game to clinch the league title.

"The big thing is, I have to be pleased," said Crissey. "This can only be a positive thing for the community. It has to be pride factor for the kids."

JUNIOR PITCHER Danny Smith had a lot to do with Canton's three victories on Saturday. He appeared in all three games, notched two wins and was credited with one save. In total, he pitched 10 innings, struck out 17, walked three and allowed only two hits. He was also named the tournament MVP.

In the opener, Canton downed No. 7-ranked Midland Dow, 4-0, as Smith tossed a masterful one-hitter. He fanned 13 and his no-hit attempt foiled with one-out in the seventh.

Teammate Keith Stone had two hits to lead the Canton offense.

In the second game, Canton edged No. 4-ranked Alpena, 6-5, as outfielder Sean Hopper came through with a bases-loaded two-run single in the sixth inning to win it for Canton.

Jamie Chilcoff started for Canton and gave way to Dave Malek, who found himself down 5-3 with the bases loaded in the sixth. Smith came on and promptly retired the side. He picked one runner off third to help his own cause.

Senior first baseman Jeff Stemberger had two of Canton's seven hits.

The Chiefs won the championship with a wild 12-11 victory over Bullock Creek, a Class C school.

Bryan Capenhurst, Jeff Cousino and Scott Bricker combined for six of Canton's 14 hits.

MALEK STARTED on the mound for Canton, but had trouble getting anyone out. Tom Bergman pitched 5⅔ innings, but Smith again came out of the bullpen to seal the title for Canton.

"Smith was just outstanding all day long," said Crissey, "and Bergman came in a did a creditable job."

The Chiefs scored one run in the ninth inning to beat Harrison for the second time this year.

Smith opened the inning with a single. Speedy Tom Harris replaced him as a pinch runner. Bricker then sacrificed him to second with a bunt. Harris scored the game-winner on Stemberger's double to left-field.

Canton tallied three runs in the first, but Harrison responded with two in the bottom half of the inning on an infield error. The Chiefs scored one in the second. Harrison added single runs in the second and third.

Steve Schumacher, Smith and Stone each collected two hits.

Malek, in relief of starter Mike Battaglia, pitched the final 6⅓ innings to raise his season mark to 5-1. He allowed just one run on three hits. He fanned four and walked two.

John Recker pitched all nine innings for Harrison and suffered the loss. He struck out six and walked three.

A shot in the arm

Canton's Lisa Bundarin hurls the shot during Saturday's Class A regional girls' track meet at Livonia Churchill. Ann Arbor Pioneer came away with the team title. For complete details, see Pages 4-5C.

Salem boys place 3rd at regional track meet

The Plymouth Salem boys' track team was in the money once again.

The Rocks, Observerland Relays champs, placed third overall in the 16-team Class A regional Saturday at Livonia Churchill.

As expected, the Ann Arbor schools, Huron and Pioneer, finished first and second, respectively.

Salem coach Gary Balconi had a look of satisfaction after the day-long event. Nine Rock competitors advanced to the state meet to be held Saturday, May 30, at Flint Northwestern.

"We finished third before, but this was the most points we've ever scored," said the Salem coach. "This was definitely our finest performance in the regional."

Two workouts prior to Saturday's regional were curtailed because of rain. That allowed Balconi and assistant coach Scott Dunson to make some lineup changes.

"Scott made several decisions to make our kids successful," said Balconi. "He had a lot to do with our mental preparation.

"We did a lot of stretching indoors and worked on our handoffs from a standing position."

The results produced 62 points with all three of Salem's relay teams advancing.

The first Rock to qualify was senior Bob Pittaway in the discus. His toss of 165 feet, 3 inches earned him first place. Another surprise was teammate Mark Tanski, who grabbed third with a throw of 147-2.

Another Salem senior, Dave Skone, won the pole vault event on fewer misses at 12 feet, 1 inch.

The Salem coaches aimed for more points by holding out the team's top sprinters in the open 100 meter dash. Instead, they concentrated on the relays.

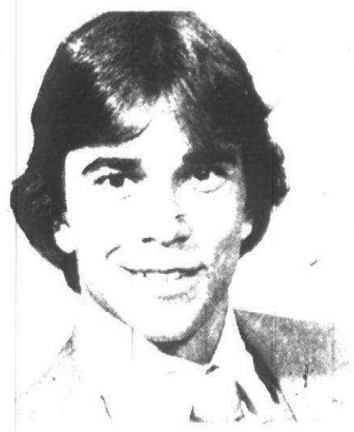
THE MOVES payed dividends as Tom Kelliher, Brian Lewandowski, Pittaway and Scott Bubin teamed up to win the 400 relay in 43.92.

The Rocks also took third in the 800 relay. Bublin, Lewandowski, Scott Smith and Pittaway were clocked in 1:32.9.

In the final event, the 1600 relay, Leigh Langkabel anchored Salem to third-place finish, using a final burst of speed down the main stretch. Other relay members included Mike McBride, Lewandowski and Pittaway.

"We had some problems last week, but our hand-offs were there today," said Balconi. "We had two good days of rest and the weather was just right."

Langkabel, who was questionable before the meet because of a sore hamstring, reached the state meet with a second place finish in the 400 dash (50.69). Bublin, a junior, also qualified with a third-place finish in the 200 dash (22.94).



Leigh Langkabel shakes off injury

"Several other kids who did not qualify had personal bests," said Balconi. "I'm just as pleased with both the ones who qualified as well as the ones who didn't."

MEANWHILE, rival Plymouth Canton, which finished 13th overall with eight points, just missed qualifying two competitors.

Dan Malin tied for first in the high jump at 6-½, but settled for fourth place because of more misses.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL
Flashback

Plymouth High's baseball team came through with a one-hit victory in Beating Northville 6-1 on April 14, 1965. Dave Troutman and John Daniel shared the pitching for the Rocks. Troutman worked the first four frames and Daniel finished up, permitting the lone safety in the fifth when Northville notched its run. A walk to Curt Kish and a triple by Mark Sutton gave Plymouth its first run in the third inning. Then in the fifth, with the score tied 1-1, a single by Terry Cosgrove, walks to Bob Cole and Sutton and three errors helped Plymouth count five times. The game served as the only tune up for the Rocks before they began their Suburban Six League Title chase the following week.

Harrison knocks off Chiefs

Netters gain regional semis

Plymouth Canton and Salem gained third and fourth respectively Saturday in the 13-team Class A boys' tennis regional won by host Ann Arbor Huron.

Ann Arbor Pioneer finished second overall. Canton, which recorded its best finish in the school's nine-year history, tallied nine points. Salem was one point behind with eight.

Canton singles players Kreg Kinnel (No. 1) and Kevin Johnston (No. 2) both reached the semifinals before being ousted. Kinnel lost to No. 1 seed John Restuccia.

The Chiefs' also reached the semifinals at No. 1 doubles (Grant Crago and Mark Sawyer) and No. 2 doubles (Ron Austen and Rubin Rabillas).

Salem's Jeff Howell gained the semis at No. 3 singles before being eliminated. Howell scored a 2-6, 7-5, 7-5 upset quarterfinal victory over No. 2 seed Bob Adams of Canton.

Salem's other semifinalist team was Doug Baker and Jack Thomas at No. 1 doubles.

"I thought our kids played extremely well," said Salem coach Tom Williams. "We really had some good performances.

"The finals was a dual match between Huron and Pioneer."

John Van Houten of Pioneer, who won the No. 1 singles crown, struggled in his second round match against Salem's Scott Crespo 6-3, 7-5. Van Houten then upset Restuccia in the finals.

Huron and Pioneer now advance to the Class A state meet May 29-30 at the Midland Community Tennis Center.

FARMINGTON HARRISON 6
CANTON 1

Farmington Harrison wrapped up the Western Six League tennis title Monday with a 6-1 victory over Canton.

The Hawks, who advanced to the Class B state meet after a second-place regional finish last weekend, have an 8-0 league record. They are 10-0 overall.

Canton dropped to 7-2 overall and 6-2 in the league.

Adams (No. 3 singles) was the only Canton winner. He trimmed Evan Hughes 6-4, 6-4.

There were several other tight matches.

Kinnel (No. 1) lost a heartbreaker to Adam Gordon 7-5, 1-6, 8-6. Dave Brady of Harrison (No. 2) edged Johnston 4-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Harrison's No. 2 doubles team of Jody Bhagen and Nick Lessins edged Crago and Austen 7-6, 6-4.

Sawyer and Rabillas lost their match at No. 1 doubles 6-2, 6-3, and John Hurley and Ray Lademan were beaten by John Iaconelli and Rob Shapiro at No. 3 doubles 6-3, 6-3.

At No. 4 singles, Canton's Tom Pasley started fast but fell to Raffi Manovkian 7-6, 6-0.

SALEM 6
ALLEN PARK 1

The Rocks handled Allen Park with relative ease for the second time this year 6-1 in a Suburban Eight League match played Tuesday.

Salem captured the first three singles matches: Crespo (No. 1) defeated Les Harris 6-0, 6-1; David Goodsir (No. 2) defeated Mark Johnson 6-2, 6-0; and Baker (No. 3) defeated Bob Greene 6-0, 6-1.

At No. 4 singles, Steve Turek scored Allen Park's lone point with a 3-6, 6-3, 6-0 victory over Charlie Ploughman.

All three Salem doubles' team won: Thomas-Howell (No. 1) defeated Chris Vida-Steve Almasian 6-1, 6-1; Mark Pursell-Rob Rowland (No. 2) defeated Phil Colby-Jim Geb 6-4, 7-5; and Raj Patel-Shawn Rafferty defeated Brian Ketzenberger-Matt Greene 6-4, 6-2.

The victory increases Salem's overall record to 7-4. The Rocks are 6-4 in league play.

Salem will host Western Six League member Northville beginning at 3:30 p.m. Friday.

SALEM 6
LIVONIA BENTLEY 1

In a match rescheduled because of rain, Salem topped league foe Bentley Monday 6-1 as Crespo, Goodsir and Baker won singles matches.

All three doubles team were also victorious.

Sean Houle moves GLIAC

Houle selects Northwood

Plymouth Canton's rebounding and scoring ace Sean Houle announced last week that he will attend Northwood Institute.

The 6-foot-5 center has been awarded a partial basketball scholarship.

Houle averaged 21 points and 11 rebounds per game last season as Canton posted a 10-10 record.

The Canton standout set a school record for rebounds in one season (211). He was first-team all-Observer, second-team Detroit News Metro West and first-team in the Associated Newspapers' all-area squad. Houle was also named to the Livonia Churchill Christmas Classic's all-tournament team.

"Sean is a legitimate 6-5 forward," said Northwood coach Pat Miller. "He has a nice perimeter shot and handles the ball fairly well. He'll be a nice forward in our program."

Northwood finished last season with an 18-9 record. Six of the top nine players return.

Bentley, Walled Lake run over Canton track girls

The Plymouth Canton girls' track team got two losses Tuesday for the price of one.

Canton's girls dropped a double-dual to Western Six League foe Walled Lake Western and Livonia Bentley.

Western defeated the Chiefs 93½-29½ and lost to Bentley 67-56. Bentley downed Canton 91-32.

The two defeats left Canton with a 3-5 overall record.

Canton's lone individual winner against both teams was freshman Ida Williams in the 880-yard run (2:37.6).

Lisa Wood, Trish Freiman, Katharina Seiler and Lori Shufeldt team up to win the 440 relay in 55.5.

Canton second-place finishers against Bentley included Pat Brennan, 14-feet-9¾. Charlotte Thomas, 110 dash, 14.0; Shufeldt, 220 dash, 28.5; Patty Rising, two-mile run, 13:46.4.

Western captured the 880 relay, with Canton getting second in 1:55.7. That team consisted of Wood, Brennan, Shufeldt and Seiler.

Against Bentley, third-place finishers for the Chiefs included Linda Sarafian, discus, 67-9½; Pam Chelian, 110 hurdles, 18.7, and 220 low hurdles, 37.3; Thomas, 440 dash, 1:08.6; Sue Kaske, mile run, 14:32.7.

Lisa Bundarin earned second place against Western in the shot put (27-11) with Sarafian gaining third (25-4).

Maureen Brophy finished third against Western in the 440 run (1:08.6).

"The meet was kind of different," said Canton coach Bob Richardson. "All three teams ran at the same time, but we had three different clipboards going at once keeping track of the scores.

"It gives the kids a chance to score more points."

CHURCHILL BOYS 96
CANTON 31

The Chiefs ended their dual meet season Tuesday on a sour note as league leader Livonia Churchill (4-0) posted a 96-31 Western Six victory.

Norm Recla, bound for Bowling Green University this fall on a football scholarship, won both the 100- and 200-meter runs with times of 11.1 and 23.0, respectively. He also anchored Churchill to first place in the 800-meter relay (1:35.2).

Jeff Olweean, regional champ in the 110-meter hurdles, equaled his school record with a time of 14.5 in that event. He also took first in the long jump (20-feet). Canton's Frank Asis was second at 19-0.

Canton's only individual winners were Dan Inloes in the 800 run (2:02.7) and Steve West in the 3200 run (10:25.0).

Canton won the 1600-meter relay in 3:37.0. Both teams were disqualified in the 400-meter relay.

Recording individual second place finishes for the Chiefs were Dave Simms, 100 dash, 11.6; Dan Henry, 1600 run, 4:46.4; and Mark Ritchey, 200 dash, 23.2.

Third-place finishers for the Chiefs included Andy K.m, 110 hurdles, 16.8; Ron Rienas, high jump, 5-10; Anton Ivezaj, shot put, 41-9; and Rick Tarr, pole vault, 8-6.

Canton ended its dual meet season at 4-3 overall, the best mark in the school's nine-year history.

Racer comes 'home'

Canton's Patrick Jacquemart will pilot his new Renault Le Car Turbo this weekend in the twisty 1.53-mile-circumference Lime Rock, Conn. Road Race.

The French-born Jacquemart returns to the scene where he entered his Renault vehicle in racing five years ago. He will drive the road-racing version of the Renault 5 Turbo which he guided to first place in the famous Monte Carlo Rally last January.

Jacquemart will face stiff competition this weekend from Porsche, Mazda, Datsun and BMW in the International Motor Sports Association's (IMSA) Camel GT class for cars with engine displacements under 2.5 liters.

Jacquemart's turbo-charged engine, only 1.4 liters, is the smallest car in its class. It is the only turbo-charged, mid-engine GTU entry in the field.

The Frenchman has racked up a pair third-place finishes this year, which includes a thrilling come-from-behind finish at Road Atlanta in April.

Jacquemart began racing at Lime Rock in 1976 when he raced his front-wheel-drive Le Car in showroom stock competition.

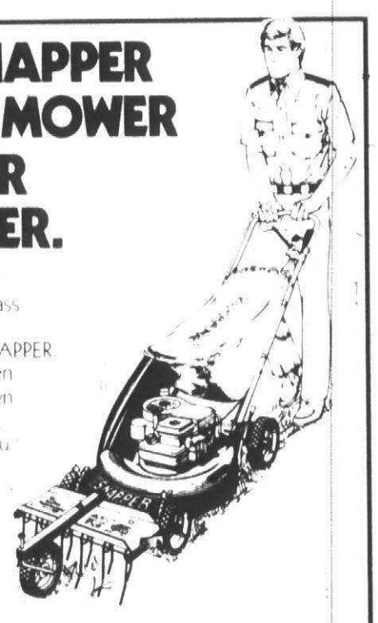
YOU CAN USE A SNAPPER AS A "MULCHING" MOWER OR AS A SUPERIOR "BAGGING" MOWER.



That's an important option to have when grass gets too tall or lush for mulching. When you add an inexpensive Mulcherizer to your SNAPPER, you convert it to a "mulching" mower. It then chews up cuttings so fine they become lawn food and you don't have to rake or bag. But, unlike one function "mulching" mowers, you can remove the Mulcherizer and use your SNAPPER as a superior "bagging" mower. Built-in quality features on every SNAPPER mower include full-length solid steel axles, large rear wheels and easy cutting height adjustment.

SNAPPER mowers are worth more because they do more and their price is competitive with other quality mowers.

Timely hitting powers Rocks past league foe

Jeff Hubert blasted a tape-measure homer, and John Blanchard added two hits to power Plymouth Salem to a 6-5 Suburban Eight League baseball win Tuesday over Allen Park.

The Rocks are now 11-10 overall and 5-5 in league play.

John Penders, who pitched the first 4⅓ innings, got credit for the victory. He got relief help from Billy Culver and Ken Vermeulen.

Penders allowed one run, three hits and struck out four in gaining his second win of the season.

Hubert, a junior leftfielder, ripped a 410-foot solo shot in the second inning with two out. John Hetkowski then followed with a single and later scored on Blanchard's RBI single.

Salem added two more runs in the third when Mickey Madsen led off with a walk and stole second base. He came home on Joe Humphries' single.

Humphries moved to third on an Allen Park infield error and scored on Hsiao Peng's single.

Allen Park closed the gap to 4-2 in the fifth, getting two runs off Culver. Salem put the game away with two runs in the top of the seventh.

BLANCHARD led off with a single, and Kevin Merrill followed with another single. John McDowell then walked to load the bases. Blanchard came home on a passed ball, and Merrill scored on Dave Slavin's ground out.

The Jaguars, however, refused to quit, rallying for three runs in the bottom of the seventh, but Vermeulen closed the door as he got the final out.

Lisa Marino shot a 95 to lead Salem in the girls' regional tournament Monday at Travis Pointe. Salem finished fourth overall as a team.

Salem golfers 4th

The Plymouth Salem girls' golf team will not be making a return trip to this year's state tournament.

Coach Jim Stevens' team finished fourth in the regional Monday at Travis Pointe Golf Course near Ann Arbor. The top three teams — Farmington Hills Our Lady of Mercy, Ann Arbor Huron and Ann Arbor Pioneers — advanced to the state finals June 1 at Marshall Country Club.

After the completion of the match, Stevens filed a protest with the Michigan High School Athletic Association over rules violations. A decision involving the protest has yet to be rendered.

Mercy repeated as regional champs with a four-player (18 holes) total of 389. Huron had 401 followed by Pioneer, 419; Salem, 420; Brighton, 432; Saline, 445; Livonia Ladywood, 460; Holt, 471; Plymouth Canton, 480; Dearborn, 486; Grosse Ile, 489; and Dearborn Edsel Ford, 493.

Mercy's Meg Mallon took medalist honors on the par-72 course with a 84.

She was followed by Sue Wedemeyer, Pioneer, second, 92; Barb LeClair, Mercy, third, 94; Lisa Marino, Salem, fourth, 95; Danielle Corrizeau, Mercy, and Mary Upton, Huron, fifth, 96 (tie); Lisa Hopkins, Saline, and Carol Ross, Salem, seventh, 103 (tie); Lori Hawkins, Mercy, ninth, 104.

Marino, Salem's top player all season long, ran into water problems on the final hole and settled for an 11.

Teammates Nancy Stevens and Beth Miller carded 110 and 112, respectively, for 18 holes.

Canton softballers romp

Pitcher lends Rocks a hand

Diane Murphy, relying on her control, pitched Plymouth Salem into the second round of the state Class A softball tournament by beating Milford Monday 7-3.

The sophomore righthander, who was recently called up from the junior varsity squad, ran her record to 2-0 as she scattered eight hits. She allowed only two walks.

The game was a predistrict qualifier. The Rocks will host Northville Friday in a predistrict game beginning at 4 p.m.

Another sophomore, Mary Pryslak, gave Murphy plenty of offensive support as she went four-for-four and scored three runs. Senior second baseman Denise Zonca added two hits.

CANTON 19
FARMINGTON HARRISON 0

The Chiefs stayed on top of the Western Six League with a lopsided 19-0 win Monday over outmanned Farmington Harrison.

Canton is now 7-4 overall and 6-1 in league play. Harrison is 0-9 overall.

The winners collected 19 hits as junior first baseman Pearly Cunningham went four-for-five. One of those hits was a two-run homer in the third inning.

Winning pitcher Marianne Pink and freshman catcher Marie Krashovetz each added three hits. Shortstop Joni Sommerville had two hits and scored three runs.

Pink pitched the first four innings and allowed only one hit. She fanned four and walked two. Cindy Sovine, who pitched a no-hitter against Harrison earlier in the season, pitched the final three innings and allowed only one hit.

Gina Kilkka suffered the loss. She lasted five innings.

ALLEN PARK 20
SALEM 10

Allen Park handed Salem its seventh league loss this season with a 20-10 win over the host Rocks Tuesday afternoon.

Bonnie Southerland and Pryslak each had two hits for the losers.

Sophomore pitcher Leslie Etienne suffered the loss. She walked 15 batters.

Area girls qualify for state track finals

Livonia Stevenson and host Livonia Churchill led area schools last weekend in the state Class A girls' track regional.

However, even bigger winners were the individuals who qualified for the state finals, which will be contested May 30 at Flint Northwestern High School.

The three top finishers in every event at each regional site earn a trip to the finals.

Stevenson finished fifth overall in the 16-team event with 39 points. Ann Arbor Pioneer ran away with the team title (105½ points) followed by Ypsilanti, second, 54; Milford, third, 48; Walled Lake Western, fourth, 40; Stevenson, fifth, 39; Churchill, sixth, 36.

Plymouth Salem tied for 12th place with Howell. Each team scored 12 points. Plymouth Canton failed to score.

Freshman Dawn Johnson of Salem just missed qualifying for the state meet as she settled for fourth place in the long jump with a leap of 16-feet-3¾.

Salem grabbed sixth spot overall in the 400 meter relay with a time of 51.95. That team consisted of Johnson, Kelly Bemiss, Beth Moskal and Jeanine Gray.

The Rocks' Linda Lybarger, a junior, took sixth in the 400 dash with a time of 1:02.33. Teammate Shelly Simons was also sixth in the 800 run (2:30.20).

Bemiss was fourth in the 200 meter dash with a clocking of 27.17. Teammate Ruth Sample was sixth in the 3200 run.

KATHY FINN paced Stevenson with firsts in the long jump (16-10¾) and 100 low hurdles (15.37). Teammate Karen Kelley was first in the jump jump (5-2) on fewer misses.

Churchill's Tina Cieszkowski was second in the 200 dash (26.06), and Patty Loftus was third in the 400 dash (1:00.40). Churchill also qualified its 1600 relay team. Julie Recla then qualified in the 1600-meter run (5:23.15).

UFO on the way for Canton concert

By Nick Charles
special writer

There's one UFO that you won't have to search the skies to find. It will be easy to spot on stage.

English rock group UFO will bring it's hard-rock act to Canton Township's Center Stage at 9 p.m. Tuesday.

UFO has just released its seventh studio LP called "The Wild, the Willing and the Innocent" (Chrysalis). The album title fits the group very well. UFO is known for it's wild, hard rock. The group's history testifies to its willingness to be unique. And some of the band's best songs are the melancholy, gut-felt pieces that cry out with reality and innocence.

UFO was in Detroit in February, opening for Cheap Trick at Cobo Hall. The crowd responded enthusiastically to new tunes like "Long Gone" and "Chains, Chains" as well as to older tunes such as "Only You Can Rock Me" and "Too Hot to Handle."

UFO IS vocalist Phil Mogg, bassist Pete Way, guitarist Paul Chapman, drummer Andy Parker and newest member Neil Carter on guitars and keyboards. Mogg, who said he doesn't feel like a star, was pleased to talk about the band and its latest album.

"I think we're a very down-to-earth band because we know what it's all about," he said. "Either you've got it or you don't. If you don't have it, you're not going to get that attention."

UFO's sixth studio album was produced by Beatle producer George Martin.

"Our new album has been sort of an adventure because we produced it ourselves," Mogg said. "There's tracks on our sixth album, 'No Place To Run,' that I really love but the studio versions don't come across the way they do live. That's why we decided to do this one ourselves."

Phil Mogg (center) is surrounded by other members of UFO.

The 200 dancers participating will attend festival activities at the 10,000-square-foot residence of Northern Ballet Theatre at 18000 Newburgh, Livonia.

Lodging and banquet accommodations will be at the Farmington Hills Holidome. Concert and gala performances will be held at Plymouth Salem High School, 46181 Joy, Plymouth.

The gala performance, by leading regional ballet companies in the mid-states, will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday at Plymouth Salem High School. Tickets to this performance, at $6, may be ordered or purchased at the festival boutique and box office.

TICKETS ALSO are available through Hammel Music and Dance World, both in Livonia.

Barbershoppers join in harmony concerts

Members of the Wayne Wonderland Chorus will join men from 11 other metropolitan area chapters in a mass chorus performance at 8 p.m. Saturday at Pine Knob in Clarkston, as part of one of the biggest Barbershop Harmony Spectaculars in the country.

More than 250 men from Detroit, Grosse Pointe, Oakland County, Monroe, Clinton Valley, Livingston County, Milford, Ypsilanti, Port Huron, Pontiac and Widnsor chapters of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America Inc., also will participate in the third annual benefit performance at the outdoor pavilion.

The show will feature one of the world's most honored choral groups, the Louisville, Ky., Thoroughbreds, directed by Jim Miller. This chorus is the only five-time winner of the Barbershop Society's chorus competition, and it has appeared in performances all over the United States and Canada and has toured Europe with its musical offerings.

The Thoroughbreds will seek a sixth crown when the international contests and convention come to Detroit's Cobo Arena in July.

TWO QUARTETS, the 1978 Champion Bluegrass Student Union, and the Citations, both from the Louisville chapter, also will be featured on the show. The Bluegrass Student Union is one of the youngest quartets to win the society's gold medal, while the Citations have been medalists in the competition on several occasions.

Both foursomes have appeared in shows from coast to coast and have made numerous TV and public appearances.

Pine Knob III is sponsored jointly by the Southeastern Michigan Area Chapters of the society and the Clarkston and Waterford/Drayton Rotary Clubs. Tickets are available from members of the above organizations, or interested persons may call Bob Miquelon at 525-0370 in Livonia or Roger Morris at 887-4272 in the Milford area.

Jack Jones slated for series opener

The Meadow Brook Music Festival, a cultural program of Oakland University, will open its Sunday pops series June 28 when singer Jack Jones performs with the Dertroit Symphony Orchestra led by Richard Hayman.

Jones is considered a singer's singer, who can count Frank Sinatra and Tony Bennett among his biggest fans. Hayman, chief arranger for the Boston Pops Orchestra, has been a regular guest conductor of the Detroit Symphony Pops concerts for 20 years.

"Stars and Stripes Forever" and other John Philip Sousa marches will burst upon the scene July 5, along with a gigantic fireworks display. Leonard B. Smith leads the Detroit Concert Band in Meadow Brook's annual salute to America's birthday.

The Kingston Trio brings its '50s favorites "MTA" and "Tom Dooley," plus many more of its hits July 12 in a program that includes the barber shop quartet champions of the international competition which will have just been held in Detroit.

ON JULY 19, Detroit-born Margaret Whiting will sing "That Old Black Magic," "Come Rain or Come Shine," "Moonlight in Vermont" and other songs that made her one of the biggest stars of the '40s and '50s. Kenneth Jean conducts the DSO.

The saints go marching into Meadow Brook once again when Preservation Hall Jazz Band returns July 26.

Thomas Michalak conducts the DSO in "An Evening in Old Vienna" Aug. 2, featuring music of the Strausses (Johann Jr., Johann Sr., and Oscar). Soprano Louise Russell and tenor Jon Garrison are the soloists.

The Grammy Award-winning New England Ragtime Ensemble performs Aug. 9 with Gunther Schuller conducting.

Miklos Rozsa, the dean of Hollywood film composers, leads the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in music from "Ben Hur," "The Naked City," "Spellbound," "Quo Vadis" and several of his other film scores, plus some of his symphonic compositions Aug. 16.

THE SUNDAY pops series will close Aug. 23 with the DSO conducted by Meadow Brook's Artistic Director Neville Marriner in the festival's annual "Last Night at the (Meadow Brook) Proms" program.

Flavio Varani, artist-in-residence at OU, will be the piano soloist in Rachmaninoff's "Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini." A special feature of the concert will be the world premiere of Detroit composer Martin Scot Kosin's "Rendezvous Concerto," performed by flutist Clement Barone.

Besides the Sunday pops series, the festival also features Thursday/Saturday symphonic series, a Friday variety series, children's concerts, plus many non-series specials.

Concerts are held in the Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus in Rochester, with entrance on Walton and Adams roads. More than 7,000 people can be seated in the pavilion and on the lawn.

All Sunday pops concerts begin at 7:30 p.m., with the exception of the July 5 concert, which begins at 8:30 p.m.

Information on season subscriptions and a brochure are available by calling the Meadow Brook Box Office at 377-2010, on the Oakland University campus near Rochester.

Bluegrass fest slated for June

The Western Wayne County Conservation Association will host its first annual bluegrass festival June 19-21 at 6700 Napier, a half-mile north of N. Territorial, approximately four miles west of downtown Plymouth.

Festival grounds are close to all major expressways, with 65 acres of camping grounds and a large clubhouse. The association held several Saturday night bluegrass shows on the ground last winter.

Music will start at 5 p.m. June 19. Food and drinks and complete concessions on the grounds will be available, including a pancake breakfast Saturday and Sunday. Festival-goers should bring their own lawn chairs, blankets, tents and campers.

President John Bennett and association members have planned the festival with a lineup of bands, including Dave Evans and His River Band of Columbus, Ohio, and The Goins Brothers of Kentucky. Representing Michigan are Wayne Honeycutt, and Mr. Dobro and His Foggy Mountain Tradition Band from Wayne.

Other bands also will be on hand to do picking for the festival's three days and nights.

Camping and parking lot pickers are being welcomed. For information on tickets call 721-7580 or write WWCCA, P.O. Box 101, Plymouth 48170. For additional information call 283-3393 or 455-8579.

backgammon

Michael Kloian

of the American Backgammon Club

● UNDERSTANDING TIMING

Black has 6-1 to play with possession of the doubling cube at 2.

The beginner, as well as the average player, would instinctively hit white on the 9 point from the white 2 point. But would hitting actually benefit black?

Black must first assess the position and realistically look ahead at the benefits and drawbacks. By hitting white on the 9 point, black can free one back runner but will leave three blots exposed. From the bar, white has only 7 out of 36 shots that will return and hit black. In this position, the decision for black should not be predicated on white's return shots.

If white stays on the bar for a roll or two, black could close the 3 or 4 point. If white leaves the bar, black could hit him again as he tries to escape. All of this would be in vain.

Black's priorities should be concentrated on his checkers stuck on the white 1 point. Why?

If black hits, he will need — within the next several rolls — two more consecutive 1s and a pair of 6s to escape. Although it has been known to happen, the odds are so extreme it is not worth the gamble.

Sure, backgammon is a game of continuous calculated risks, however the risk of hitting for black will surely destroy any chance of winning.

Black has poor timing. If black hits and white stayed on the bar or not, black will be racing home at a faster pace than white. Within 3 rolls, black would have all of his checkers home except for the two checkers stuck on the white 1 point.

Black is certain to begin breaking his home board and could be in jeopardy for a gammon. White, on the other hand, has excellent timing and a strong position. White would not have to break his home board or expose any blots.

The correct move for black is to move from the 10 to the 4 point and from the white 1 to the 2 point. Black's best hope in staying alive this game is to wait. On the next roll or two, black may roll another 1 and then be able to move the last checker from the white 1 to the 2 point.

With three checkers on the 2 point, black should be able to somewhat preserve his timing. He then will have a free runner to release from the 2 and still hold the 2 for a solid anchor. In this position, the difference between holding the 1 or 2 point could become critical.

For more information, contact the American Backgammon Club at 459-5776 or write to Box 599, Plymouth 48170.

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN...

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

One more thing . . . get up early the day of your sale! When people read about a Garage Sale in Classified, they shop early.

Have fun with your little business adventure!
