Voters crush millage requests of schools

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

Both millage proposals were so soundly defeated on Monday that they likely will not be returned to the ballot this year.

The tax requests were defeated by a margin of more than 2-1 and were defeated in each of the 14 voting precincts as well as at the absentee counting board.

For one of the few times in recent history the money issues were defeated by every single precinct in Canton Township.

The real surprise to school officials was the defeat of Proposal II — the request to collect the authorized levy or the so-called Headlee rollback reversal.

The effect of the election will be a tax-rate reduction of about 30 cents per $1,000 state equalized valuation (SEV) or about or about $10.50 per year on a $70,000 home.

Even that $10, however, may not be realized as the district's tax base has increased by about 17 percent. In theory, most taxpayers will pay about 13 percent more in school taxes this coming year then they now are paying as a result of Monday's election.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS had no real explanation for the defeat of both proposals except for the economy still being sluggish.

Some felt that voters who wanted tax relief were frustrated with Proposal A being defeated in May and decided to vote against both local money issues.

Proposal I, the request for one mill for eight years, was defeated by 4,491 yes votes and 2,083 no votes. Proposal II, Headlee reversal, was defeated by 4,457 yes votes to 2,152 no votes.

The result will be more than $3 million in cuts and the layoff of a number of employees, including an estimated 70-90 teachers.

The voter turnout on Monday was about 15 percent as some 6,740 persons cast votes out of about 44,170 registered voters in Plymouth-Canton.

Precincts which defeated the added millage (Proposal I) by a margin greater than the average 2.5-1 included: Central, 380-351; Gallimore, 351-157; Isbister, 348-158; Allen, 380-156; and Farrand, 409-171.

Central includes a number of senior citizens while Farrand, primarily Lakepointe Village, is an older subdivision where children have grown up and left school. (Lakepointe has an average of about one-half child per household now where it once was a growth area in the district). Gallimore, Isbister and Allen also contain maturer neighborhoods than areas such as Field, Eriksson, and Hulsing.

The West Middle precinct also voted heavily (5-2 and 5-3) against both millage proposals. The populated area of the West precinct is that portion west of Sheldon between Ann Arbor Trail and Joy and between Powell and Joy.

Recent controversies facing the Board of Education didn't seem to have much bearing on how residents voted on the millage proposals.

Starkweather voted against both proposals despite the board's promise not to transfer its principal, John Howe, to another school and leave it with a part-time principal.

Bird and Fiegel precincts each voted against both proposals despite the board's decision not to place each on Extended School Year (ESY).

Likewise boundary adjustments made for subdivisions within the Allen attendance area seemed to have little bearing on how persons voted on the millage issues.

The millage votes did, however, seem to indicate some negative feelings towards the board in the Gallimore and Isbister areas and in West.

Although all precincts voted against both proposals the strongest "no" votes were north of Joy with the exception of Bird and Starkweather to the north and Gallimore to the south.

SUPERINTENDENT Dr. John M. Hoben said on Tuesday morning that the administration was now getting ready to trim some $3 million from the operating budget.

"Actually we were surprised voters didn't approve the request to levy the authorized millage, and so we don't know for sure the exact amount of cuts but it likely will be more than $3 million — maybe about $3.4 million," Hoben said.

Last year residents approved the request to collect the authorized levy when it involved almost one mill while

Decker wins school board seat

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

Residents were clearly in agreement when it came to voting down both millage proposals on Monday but split straight down Joy Road when it came to electing a school trustee.

Challenger William Decker unseated incumbent Stephen Harper. Both are western Plymouth Township residents.

Decker's victory surprised many because the school board race appeared to a a two-way competition between Harper and challenger Marilyn Rickard, who draws heavy support from Canton.

Harper placed first in only one precinct — Farrand (7), which is primarily Lakepointe Village — and then he had to share the top spot with Charles R. Washburn of Plymouth.

Except for the Farrand area, Decker placed first in every precinct in the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township as well as carrying Miller (9) in Canton. The Miller precinct is bounded by Warren, Lilley, Ford and Sheldon roads.

Rickard, on the other hand, carried every precinct in Canton Township but Miller and did not finish first in a single Plymouth precinct. (Fiegel, No. 8, was won by Rickard and is split between Plymouth Township and Canton, with the heaviest population by far being in Canton).

DECKER HAS lived in Plymouth for about 12 years and is well-known in the area as owner of William Decker Realty, which is located in the city of Plymouth.

Decker is past president and an active member of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and also is past president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

Decker rode the fence on the millage proposals saying he was not well enough informed on the district's operating budget to take a stand for or against. Washburn was the only candidate to come out against both millage proposals, and he ran fourth behind Rickard.

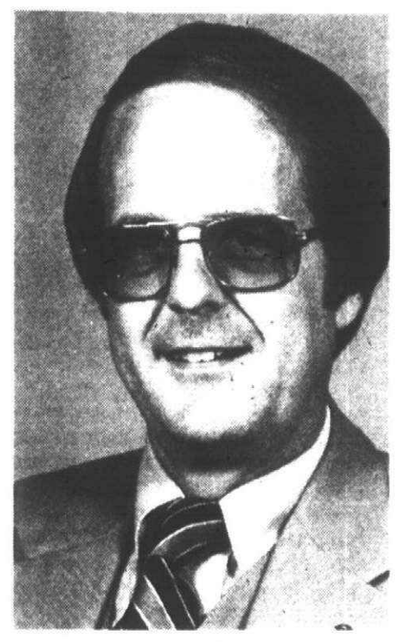

Rickard was the early leader on Monday as the Canton precincts were among the first to report results.

Once the Plymouth precincts began reporting, however, her lead quickly eroded while Decker and Harper began to rise into first and second place respectively.

Election observers figure that Harper and Decker split votes in Plymouth, which worked towards Harper's defeat. With the exception of Miller, Harper ran second behind Decker in every single precinct in which Decker ran first.

There didn't appear to be any strong relationship between the anti-millage vote and the school board race. In the six precincts which voted heavily against the proposals, Decker placed

Board takes new look at police cadet duties

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Some of Canton's police cadets soon may be upgraded to regular officers — almost a year ahead of schedule.

The Township Board has set a target date of July 7 to consider the possibility of elevating some police cadets to full-fledged officers.

Trustee Steve Larson, who requested the agenda item, said that would ease a severe lack of officers available for patrol duty.

Currently, there are eight persons in the cadet program. When they were hired last August, plans called for them to spend 18-24 months in training before being sworn in.

Canton's guidelines call for cadets to do mostly routine paperwork, dispatch calls and learn procedures, freeing up the regular officers for patrol and investigating work.

On occasion, cadets are permitted to do patrol work under the supervision of a regular officer.

However, the Canton Observer recently reported that local and county officials are probing possible abuses in pay and jobs performed by these cadets. One of the possible violations — which recently were halted — included allowing cadets to do unsupervised patrol work.

"THERE HAVE BEEN some continuing manpower problems in the police department," Larson said.

"I don't know exactly the best mechanism to (alleviate) it, but the end result has to be more (officers) on the street."

According to Larson, the board may discuss upgrading some cadets or changing Canton's current guidelines to allow more flexibility.

He pointed out that several current cadets have had experience in police work before being hired by Canton. All have completed police-academy training as required by state law.

CANTON officials generally have supported the cadet program and have praised the cadets for their work. However, Larson believes some of the guidelines should be changed.

"We recognize some needs we didn't recognize before," said Larson. "We have people who are qualified in every sense of the word who can't function."

Supervisor James Poole said additional information is needed before the Township Board can make any decisions about upgrading cadets to officer status.

According to personnel director Dan Durack, procedures call for Canton's merit commission to establish guidelines for education and training and to test candidates.

Court dismisses assault charge

Charges have been dismissed against a Livonia woman accused of running her car over her Canton business partner last week after the two argued.

During a Monday preliminary examination in 35th District Court, Judge James Garber dismissed a charge of assault with intent to commit murder against Mary Helen Pelletier, 46, of Bobrich Street in Livonia.

Canton Police Lt. Larry Stewart said the victim, Theodore U. Warrow, 45, of Harsdale in Canton, declined to testify against Ms. Pelletier, his partner in a Romulus business.

Warrow earlier had told police that he and Ms. Pelletier had been in the Rusty Nail Lounge on Ford Road about 11:30 p.m. May 4.

They began arguing, left the bar and continued the dispute a short distance away on Ford Road. According to a police report, Ms. Pelletier drove her car into Warrow, who was standing on the roadway.

Warrow was taken to St. Mary Hospital, where he was treated for injuries to both legs and minor cuts and bruises, said police.

Unfinished homes dot township

Poole wants caps on basement holes

A dog has reportedly died by falling into an open basement which was partially filled with rainwater, according to township Supervisor James Poole.

Concern for the safety of children prompted a letter from the supervisor to nine home builders regarding open basements and unfinished houses last week.

Poole said he asked the builders to cap or fill in the basements with dirt. He requested the builders to board up windows of all unfinished houses.

According to Poole, the letter addressed a total of 32 open basements and nine unfinished houses in a variety of Canton subdivisions.

"It's just not safe," Poole said of the unfinished construction work. "The problem is some of these builders don't have the money (to do anything about it)."

The open basements and unfinished homes provide evidence of Canton's plummeting housing market. The building department has reported only five housing starts from January through May of this year compared to a total of 1,577 during the boom year of 1978.

According to a report submitted by Don Tillman of the building department, there are eight open basements in Salem Manor subdivision, four in Forest Trails, three in Mayfair Village, two in Sunflower Village, seven in Hampton Court West, three in Franklin Palmer Estates and four in Pickwick Village. Unfinished homes include one in Salem Manor, four in Hampton Court West and four in Greenbrook Village.

Poole sent letters regarding unfinished construction work to Almar Homes Inc., Aldor Construction, Beachum & Roeser Homes, Korchak Homes, Leader Homes, R & S Development, J.M. Willens, Futura Homes and Pilch & West Builders.

To slash phone bills

Poole pulls cords on office phones

"All they (clerical employees) have to do is reach to the desk next to them," said Supervisor James Poole of a plan to yank 18 telephones from Township Hall, the police station and the home of a trustee.

Poole's order for removal of the phones will save the township about $2,500 annually, according to Tina Pratto of the supervisor's office.

She estimates Canton's average phone bill at $4,000 to $5,000 a month, excluding fees for some lines in the police department, fire department and Department of Public Works.

"That's too damn much," said Poole He expects Michigan Bell to remove the 18 telephones within the next few weeks.

One board member — Trustee Carol Bodenmiller — calls the supervisor's cost-cutting plan "rather petty." She was the only board member who voted against Poole's recommendation for removal of the phones at a meeting last week. Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz was absent from the session.

A telephone in Mrs. Bodenmiller's house will be removed as a result of Poole's request to Michigan Bell. The phone, which is hooked to the switchboard at Township Hall, costs $38.76 a month, accordng to Ms. Pratto.

Other phones earmarked for removal include an extension in a Township Hall room used by trustees, three in the treasurer's office, two in the finance department, three in the police station, three in the building department, two in the odrinance department, one in the supervisor's conference room, one in the clerk's office and one in the recreation department.

According to Ms. Pratto, all the extensions cost $3.06 a per month with the exception of the police station phones, which cost $42 each, and Mrs. Bodenmiller's.

Poole said he selected those phones for removal after asking all department heads for a list.

THE DECISION to remove the phones has left Mrs. Bodenmiller visibly irritated.

Calling the removal order for her own phone "a separate issue," Mrs. Bodenmiller blasts the Township Board for approving Poole's recommendation without a written statement regarding the order's effect.

She questions the impact of the phones' removal on clerical employees, who will double up on phones. She wonders if the order will cut efficiency at Township Hall.

Cheryl Holliday, chairperson of the township's clerical union — AFSCME Local 236 — said some clerical employees have complained about the decision to pull out the phones.

"To me, it's petty," said Mrs. Bodenmiller. "If we were in dire financial straits, I'd say fine. But as far as I know. we're all right (fiscally.)

"What gets me is (the board) continues to abrogate its authority," she added. "I just feel the board continues to think that anything that happens inside Township Hall is the supervisor's jurisdiction. It's really up to a seven-member board."

She criticizes the board for its failure to question the supervisor's recommendation.

AS FOR HER OWN phone, Mrs. Bodenmiller said the removal order "leaves me no place to make a call" except on her private residential line.

Although lines connected to Township Hall have been offered to all board members, Mrs. Bodenmiller is the only official with a township telephone line in her home. The removal order also applies to a phone in the "trustees' room" at Township Hall.

Mrs. Bodenmiller says she frequently uses the township line in her home to call Canton hall and conduct other township business. Few long-distance calls are made on the line, she maintains.

"It's a strange situation to be in," the trustee said.

Lost bird finds new friend

A talking bird has become the unexpected houseguest of Canton Police Lt. Larry Stewart.

Stewart has been taking care of the bird since last Friday night.

A resident found the bird near Palmer and Haggerty roads, and called animal control officer John Swalley.

"It's obviously tame," said Stewart. "They brought it here in a shoe box. I already have a couple of birds."

The bird, a cockatiel, is white with hints of yellow. It is a cockatiel, — a small crested parrot native to Australia, but commonly bred domestically. The bird has yellow cheeks, can speak several phrases and would sell for about $130.

Stewart wants to be sure that the bird is returned to its owner. Anyone who tries to claim the bird will have to recite its vocabulary.

Anyone with information about the bird can call Stewart at 397-3000.

Moranty, Warmbier top school race

By Sandra Armbruster
editor

Incumbent Fred Warmbier and challenger David Moranty topped a field of six candidates to be elected to four-year terms on the Wayne-Westland school board.

Warmbier, a Wayne resident, credited the win to a strategy that he and Moranty, a Westland resident, used of running as a slate.

"We carried each other. Where one was weak, the other helped," Warmbier explained, as he savored his victory as top vote getter. "But it's the bottom line that counts. I won the field free and clear."

A total of 3,571 voters tapped Warmbier for another term on the board. He was followed by Moranty with 3,292 votes. Placing third was a former employee of both the Wayne-Westland district and the city of Westland, Randall Taylor. His vote total was 2,690.

Other contenders were Andrew DeSaeger with 2,276 votes, Ernest Svaluto with 1,791 and Michael Kiwak with 721 votes. None of the candidates were from the Canton Township portion of the district.

WARMBIER AND Moranty, frequent critics of administrative financial policies and union contracts, won without the backing of two unions considered powerful forces in school elections — the teachers' union and the Building Administrators Association.

Superintendent Timothy Dyer congratulated the two as candidates and pro-millage forces gathered in the board offices Monday night to watch election returns be posted.

"There are a lot of winners here tonight," Warmbier told the audience. "We (he and Moranty) went into this together with tremendous help from a lot of people in the community.

"This is quite an experience to go through. It's the toughest test of accountability," he added, referring to one of the slate's campaign issues. "I guess Tim (Dyer) will have me around for another four years."

"I've enjoyed the last eight, Fred," Dyer responded.

MORANTY WAS the last of the candidates to arrive at the board offices. He said he was delayed while taking a senior citizen to vote.

"When I got there, all but two to three precincts were on the board," he said, adding that a congratualatory greeting from Dyer took him by surprise.

Thanking his supporters, Moranty noted that it was a collective effort of his campaign committee that helped his election. He said the next four years "aren't going to be easy with the problems we're facing."

"But I've met some wonderful people. I've made some acquaintances that will be with me for awhile," he added.

Both he and Warmbier plan to accept the superintendent's invitation to meet soon "for a good meeting of minds" to explain their position on issues.

Moranty will be sworn in during the board's organizational meeting on July 1. In the meantime, he said he has been asked to be on hand when the board meets to discuss issues at meetings closed to the public as well as open meetings.

"I'm going to continue to be active in the community. I'm going to stay close and keep on being in touch. My phone is listed. If people have questions or concerns, they're more than welcome to call," he continued.

ALSO PLEASED with his showing in the race was third-place candidate Randall Taylor of Westland. Taylor said he plans to run in next year's school board election when current board President Thomas Barrett's term expires.

"The concerns are still there," Taylor said. "If anyone resigns, I'll be sure to put my name in for an appointment to the board."

Less sure of their future political plans were candidates Ernest Svaluto and Andrew DeSaeger, both of Westland.

"If I understand it right, (Thomas) Barrett is the only in that election," said DeSaeger, who is an administrator in the Willow Run school system. "I'll serve the schools in another capacity wherever I'm needed.

"I didn't run just to be in the public eye," he said. "I congratulate both candidates. And I congratulate the school district on the millage. That's the first and foremost thing."

Svaluto said that he would consider running again, but that his decision would depend on who the other candidates were. He added that he would continue to serve the school district locally, with the vocational-technical center being his main interest.

Relief greets voter renewal of millage

Voters overwhelmingly approved a 32-mill tax renewal in the Wayne-Westland district Monday, turning a pensive quiet into the excited chatter of relief as millage proponents gathered in the Wayne-Westland board room to watch election returns.

Worried about a voter turnout that was somewhat lighter than expected, school officials and members of the millage campaign committee watched as returns started coming in shortly after the polls closed at 8 p.m. The end result showed that about 63 percent of the 8,759 residents approved the tax renewal for a five-year period.

Officials had predicted that if the millage failed, the board of education would have been forced to close schools or put the issue on the ballot again.

But the millage carried in each precinct, including the counting board for tabulating absentee ballots in which the millage carried by the widest margin, 557-115.

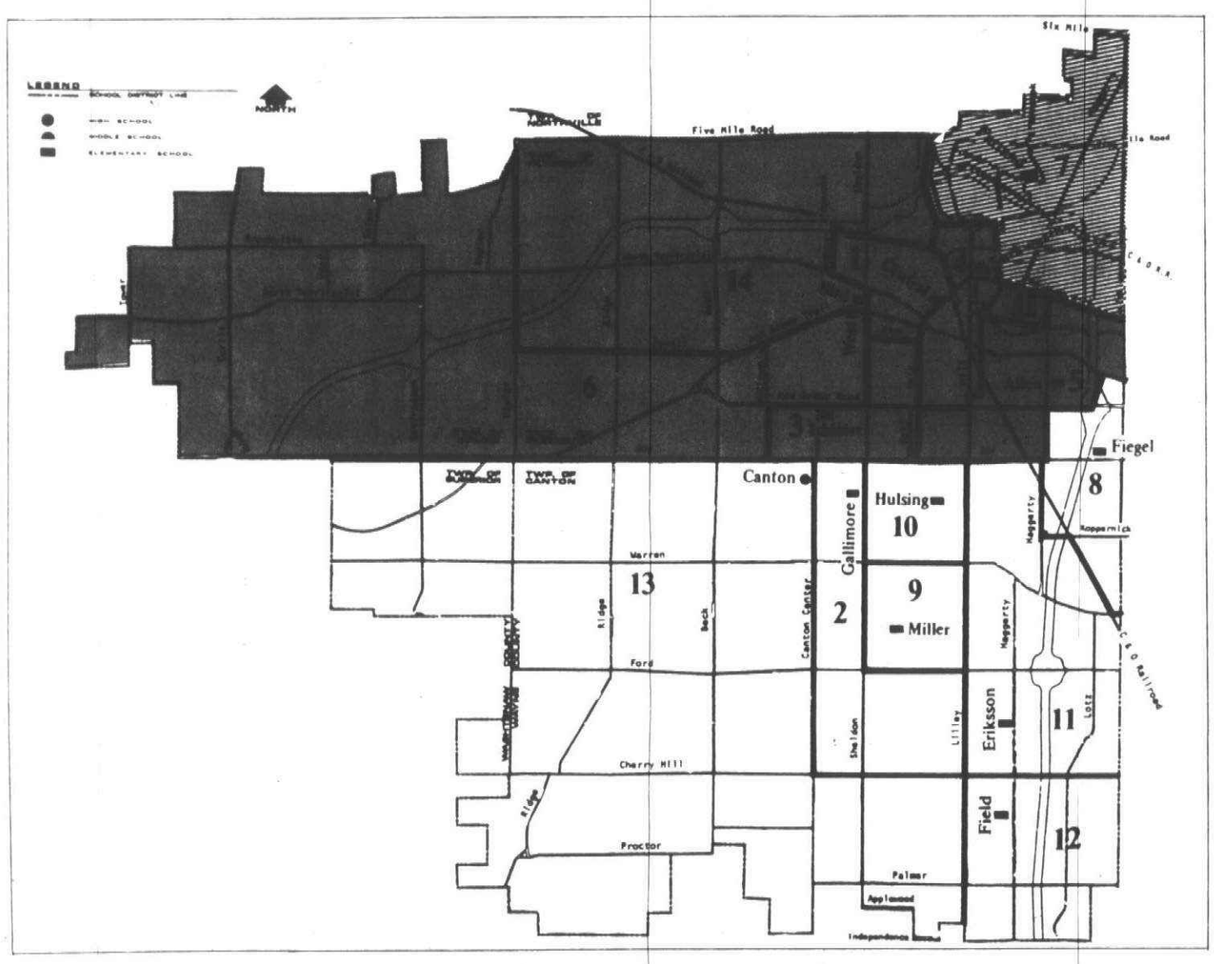

In Patchin's Precinct 29, the millage carried by only one vote.

"I know we were leading on one machine in that precinct this morning," said Superintendent Timothy Dyer, joking about the close vote. "I was the first voter on that machine."

DYER THANKED district voters for supporting the millage renewal, which represents the entire operating funds from local sources.

"I do thank the community. I thank all the people in this room who worked diligently and hard, without whom we wouldn't have been able to pull this off," Dyer said.

He added that the vote showed a "strong endorsement of our schools, programs and the community.

Demarkation line

Joy Road was a clear demarkation line, almost as strong as the Mason-Dixon line, in Monday's voting for school trustee. Winner Bill Decker carried every precinct north of Joy except for Farrand (7) in the Lakepointe Village area. Incumbent Steve Harper, who ran second, ran first only in Precinct 7 where he tied with challenger Charles Washburn. Third place finisher Marilyn Rickard of Canton carried every precinct south of Joy except for Miller, which Decker won. The precincts are: 1. Central; 2. Gallimore; 3. Isbister; 4. Starkweather; 5. Allen; 6. West; 7. Farrand; 8. Fiegel; 9. Miller; 10. Hulsing; 11. Eriksson; 12. Field; 13. Canton High; 14. Bird.

first in four, Rickard first in one, Harper/Washburn first in a third.

Dr. John Hoben, school superintendent, said he felt Decker would make a good board member. "He did not appear to be vindictive in any way and was not crusading against a single issue," Hoben said. "He appears to have a balanced perspective and should do well on the board."

On Tuesday Decker credited the work of volunteers and placement of campaign signs as helping him to win.

"I think my support was always out there and surfaced, but surfaced in a quiet manner," he said. "As a board member I will be a good listener as I have had to learn to be a good listener in my business."

Decker added he was pleased by his performance at Miller as well as his coming close to Rickard in Hulsing and Fiegle precincts.

The unofficial vote totals showed Decker with 1,661, Harper second with 1,320, Rickard a close third at 1,286 with Washburn trailing in fourth place with 903 votes.

The other results were: Ernest Rumsby, 518; David Bone, 123; Edyth Aninos, 92; and Christopher Clements, 75 votes.

Decker ran first in Central, Isbister, Starkweather, Allen, West, Miller and Bird precincts plus carrying the absentee voter counting board.

Harper tied for first in Farrand and ran second in Central, Gallimore, Isbister, Starkweather, Allen, West, Bird and the absentee board.

Rickard ran first at Gallimore, Fiegle, Hulsing, Eriksson, Field and Canton High and second at Miller. Washburn tied for first at Farrand with Harper and ran third at Central, Isbister, Starkweather, Allen, Hulsing, and Field.

In the Schoolcraft race incumbent Paul Kadish and challenger Laura Toy were elected. In Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, Kadish ran first with 1,859 votes, Toy second with 1,492, Wesley Berry third with 1,419 votes and incumbent Richard Hayward fourth with 1,198 votes.

Kadish placed first in nine precincts including the absentee counting board, Toy placed first in two precincts and Berry in three precincts.

Voters crush tax issues this year the same request was rejected by more than 2-1 when it involved less than a third of a mill.

"We must do more with less money," Hoben said. "I just hope the people are patient with us because the service they have become accustomed to just won't be there.

"Times are tough, and people are feeling the pinch and want relief. Unfortunately with that relief will come a reduction in service."

On Monday night some school board members said they felt that the voters had spoken, and that the margin of defeat was so large that the request would not be placed back on the ballot.

A top administrator said that with the margin of defeat exceeding 2-1 it was unlikely either proposal would be returned to the ballot this fall.

While both proposals in Plymouth-Canton went down to defeat on Monday there were some school districts in Wayne and Oakland counties which did approve millage-renewal proposals — the closest being Wayne-Westland, where voters approved a renewal request for 32 mills.

Reagan's budget proposal slashes into teacher center

By Carol Carpenter
staff writer

Reagan's budgetary knife may slice the lifeline of the Northwest Staff Development Center — just when laid-off teachers need it most.

Federal grants are up for grabs and the center housed at Rosedale Center in Livonia hopes to get one to extend its present grant, which expires Sept. 30. Word won't come until late June.

The center, one of 99 such centers across the country, serves seven districts — South Redford, Redford Union, Livonia, Garden City, Cherry Hill, Plymouth-Canton and Northville.

"MOST EVERYBODY is touched by what we do," said director Dennis Sparks.

More than 4,000 teachers used the center's services last year. Support services for teachers and administrators include organizing curriculum and method workshops, awarding mini-grants to allow teachers to develop new programs within a school, paying conference fees and arranging substitute time for teachers to work on projects.

With heavy teacher layoffs in the area, many forced by declining student enrollments, teachers also look to the center for guidance for new careers.

The center's popular four-day career workshop planned for June is already filled, Sparks said. Over 60 teachers have registered and names are on the waiting list.

"This area has been one of the longest and hardest hit," Sparks said. Nine years ago, teacher layoffs started in Livonia, he added. This year, Redford Union and South Redford school districts are permanently laying off teachers with as much as 15 years of seniority.

"If the center closes, our staff will have problems comparable to what teachers are now experiencing," said Sparks.

At the end of September, the center's five-member staff may be looking for new jobs if funding isn't renewed, and the teachers who use the services will be left in the lurch, he said.

UNTIL NOW, the center has operated with a three-year grant, while local district and state funding is also in jeopardy.

"Teachers get accustomed to getting pink-slipped and getting called back," Sparks said. "Every fall these teachers have gotten ready for school. Then comes one September and they aren't called back."

Individual teachers react differently, explained Sparks. Some "find it hard to believe and may be angry or frustrated.

"These teachers have spent lots of money preparing to teach, they want to teach and now they can't do it," Sparks said.

Other teachers have a "kind of acceptance," when they lose their jobs. They may have been expecting it and might have even prepared for it, Sparks said.

"Over the years the teachers may be worn down by the realities — the pink slips, the lack of resources and involuntary shifts," Sparks said.

Sparks added that teachers, even those still within the school system, may suffer from stress and "burnout."

Often stress victims who are the "most distressed are also the best qualified and the most caring," Sparks said.

Summer playground fun swings into action

A summer playground for kids is just around the corner.

The seven-week program, held in a variety of parks throughout Canton, features a wide range of activities, including games, sports and arts and crafts.

Highlighting the special events for this summer are Youth Day, a Great Lollypop Hunt, Junior Olympics, tennis lessons. Hobby Day, the Rotten Sneaker Contest, Pepsi-Cola NBA Hot Shot competition and Canton library story hours. Most special events are scheduled for Saturdays.

The program is sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department. Each playground is staffed with "leaders" and equipped with a variety of athletic equipment, arts and crafts materials and games.

The program is scheduled to begin June 22 and end Aug. 7.

HOURS AND SITES for this year's program include:

- Forestbrook. Hours are 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday; and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

For further information on the playground program, call the recreation department at 397-1000 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Here's recreation hot line

What's the registration date for the next session of Canton's preschool program?

What's the condition of the township's softball fields? Is the recreation department sponsoring any special events?

Township residents may find answers to those types of questions by picking up their phone and dialing 397-8205.

The hot line recently was established by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department to inform residents of recreational offerings. People may call the number 24 hours a day.

Car-train crash kills woman

A Plymouth woman was killed early Saturday when the car in which she and her husband were driving crashed through a railroad intersection and hit a slow moving freight train at Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township.

Cynthia Sue Barnett, 24, of Northern Street, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary Hospital shortly after 2 a.m. She died of multiple injuries, said the Wayne County Medical Examiner's office.

Her husband, Robert, 22, was treated for a broken arm and cuts to his face and was released that day.

Mrs. Barnett, the passenger in the 1974 Volkswagen, died instantly, said police.

Investigators report the car didn't appear to stop at the intersection despite drawn crossing gates and flashing signals.

According to Plymouth police reports, the couple was driving south on Sheldon about 2 a.m, after exiting the M-14 Freeway, when they drove through the guard rails and into a moving Chessie train.

The Toledo-bound train, moving about 6 mph, was heading east to the Plymouth C&O yard where a new crew was waiting to board, said a company spokesman.

Police have no witnesses and could not determine the speed of the Barnett car.

Police believe the couple was returning home from a wedding reception at the Livonia Roma Hall at the time of the accident.

They say the Barnett car shattered when it struck between two train cars. The conductor of the train was unaware of the accident until notified by the crew of another train on the westbound track at the intersection, said Plymouth trainmaster Al Kraffa.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Barnett is survived by her parents, Kenneth LaFever and Rita Perkins, both of Redford Township; grandmother, Jamie Church; sisters, Nancy and Pam; and brother, Michael.

As investigation continues

Board weighs promotions for cadets

The commission then gives an eligibility list to the supervisor, who hires candidates with the approval of the Township Board.

Durack said the merit commission has been reviewing current qualifications for police officers, and recommendations may be made at the commission's July 15 meeting.

The Township Board and the merit commission are scheduled to have a joint meeting June 16.

Durack said he believes the qualifications for police officers will be changed. They were set fairly high for a few years when the police department was formed, to attract experienced officers.

"We don't want to get into an experience of freezing out people who could be good police officers," added Durack.

ANOTHER CADET issue focuses on wages. Two cadets have been paid with federal funds administered by the Wayne County Employment and Training Administration (CETA).

Canton and CETA officials are investigating the possibility that those cadets have received overtime or higher-classification pay, which would have hiked their wages above CETA guidelines. Canton officials expect that money, which could exceed $14,000, will have to be paid back.

Those issues were discussed at a recent closed meeting of the Township Board. The state Open Meetings Act permits closed meetings to discuss certain issues, including disciplinary labor negotiations and purchase of property.

Larson said he is concerned about sensitive details being revealed. He suggested the board consider adopting a policy against discussing topics which come up at a closed meeting.

Poole said such a policy "isn't enforceable." He said discussion of such issues relies more on "personal integrity."

Budget slashes threaten center

"They have a high commitment and an expectation that they can make a difference. They spend a lot of hours working."

SPARKS ADVISES teachers to start planning career alternatives at least 1½ years in advance of being laid off. Teachers should consider relocating, retraining or shifting fields, according to Sparks.

His advice to a teacher who is stuck with a pink slip: "Don't despair. There are opportunities for people and learning about career change should not be done haphazardly.

"Teachers sometimes aren't aware of the skills they have," said Sparks. Those skills include planning, human relation and communication abilities.

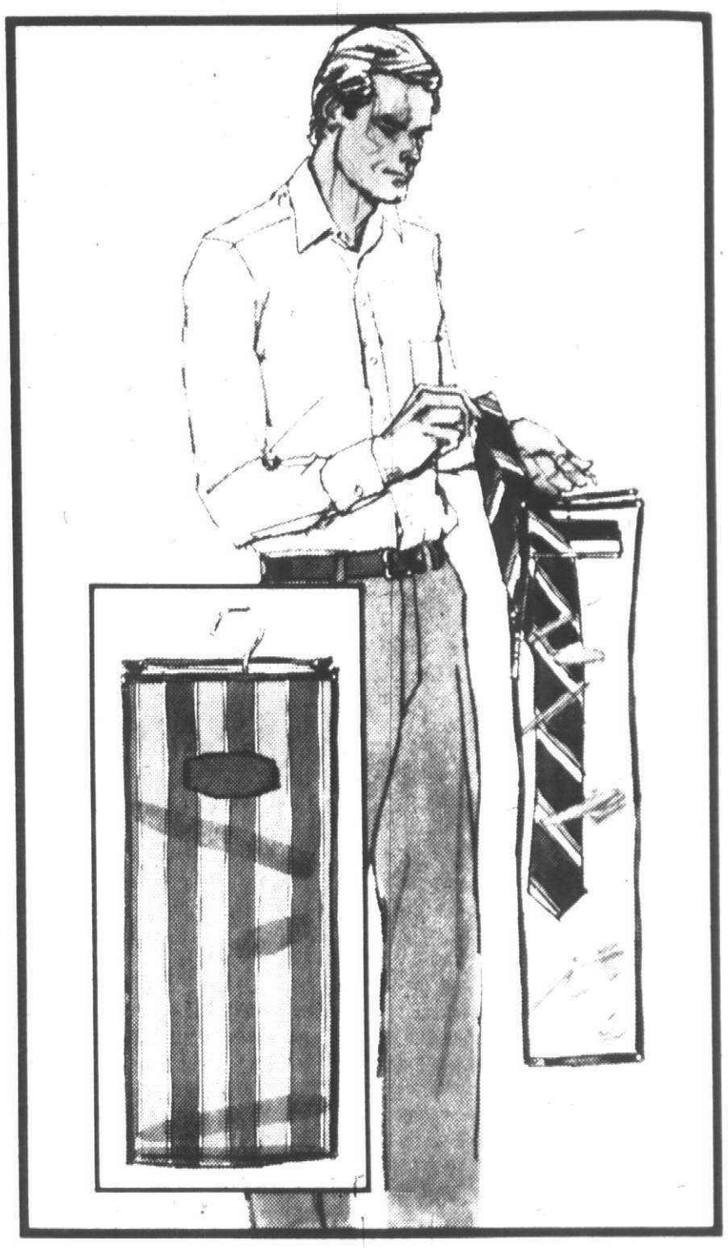

But they need to learn to "sell themselves," to handle resumes and interviews and "to present their strengths," he added.

State takes highway bids

Ajax Paving Industries of Madison Heights entered a low bid of $262,145 to resurface about three miles of ramps on the Southfield Expressway, according to the Michigan Department of Transportation.

The ramps are at various points between Rotunda Drive and Eight Mile. Included are upgrading guard rails at Ford and crash barriers at Warren and Grand River. Completion date is October.

Kadish & Toy top SC field

Paul Kadish, former chairman of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees, and Laura Toy, the only Schoolcraft graduate in a field of six, were both elected to six-year board terms Monday.

Trustee Richard Hayward, a one-term incumbent, was a distant third.

Kadish, 44, president of Associated Group Underwriters, polled 4,144 votes and Ms. Toy, 29, a gift shop owner, took 3,708 votes. Hayward was third with 2,952, florist Wesley Berry Jr. fourth with 2,596, chemical company vice president Taki Anagnostou was next with 2,236, and John Pantalone, a teacher and school administrator, trailed the field with 2,225.

ALL SIX candidates are Livonia residents.

Kadish, who was a trustee from 1971-79 and was chairman four years, said he decided to return to the school because of impending changes in the school administration. Both president C. Nelson Grote and Julie Stindt, provost and vice president for instructional affairs, will soon leave the college for presidential posts at West Coast community colleges.

Kadish said winning the race feels "after some of the epxeriences I've had in the past, redeeming. I look forward to it. It feels good. Number one, of course, has got to be working towards the appointment of the new president. I understand I'll be included in all the meetings even prior to being sworn in."

KADISH SAID he ran again because "I invested a lot of time and a lot of hard work over there, and I have a real concern for the college."

"I'm deeply honored the voters elected me as an official of Schoolcraft College, and I'm deeply grateful to them," said Ms. Toy.

"We need some better communication between our faculty and our students and, of course, our administrators. A lot of people are interested in the college, and I think we need to do some more things."

Starting an active alumni group is a high priority to Ms. Toy.

"Since I'm independent and I don't really have a big organization, it just goes that way," said Hayward.

"It was one of these things you decide you'll run for and if it goes that way, fine. And if it doesn't, well, the people have spoken or they didn't get out and vote. I had run before, so this isn't something new for me.

"Miss it? No I don't think I'll totally miss it with regards to having something to do. I'll just put my interests in other areas."

Victim suffers knife wound in car theft

A 57-year-old man suffered a knife cut to his hand in an attempt to disarm a robber who stole his car early Saturday morning in Redford Township.

Redford police said the victim, Nicholas Cuttaia of Plymouth, was taken by ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia. A nursing supervisor there said Cuttaia was treated for his wound and released.

Cuttaia said he picked up a hitchhiker on westbound Schoolcraft at Telegraph at about 2:30 a.m. He said he stopped on the side of the road at Davison and Woodbine after the hitchhiker asked to get out.

The hitchhiker then pulled a knife and demanded money, he said.

Cuttaia grabbed the knife by the blade, he said, then jumped from his car and began calling for help. As he did, he said the hitchhiker drove away in his car, a gray 1977 Chevrolet Impala, which he last saw turning north onto Wormer from Davison.

Police said Cuttaia did not give the robber any money and suffered a severe cut wound.

Cuttaia ran to a home on Woodbine for help, and the homeowner called police.

He said the hitchhiker, who talked with a Southern accent, was a thin white man, about 22 years of age, 6 feet, 155 pounds, with short blond hair. Cuttaia said the man wore blue jeans and a white T-shirt.

Tennis, 7 jobs cultural affairs face SC cuts

They may not be playing tennis at Schoolcraft College next year.

The board of trustees got its first look at a projected $15.1 million 1981-82 budget last week, and administrators recommended the board leave tennis as a school sport on the cutting room floor.

The board will hold a special meeting to further consider the budget at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the board offices on the college campus, which is on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile roads.

A public hearing and final approval of the budget are expected at a June 24 meeting beginning at 7 p.m.

OTHER RECOMMENDED cuts included:

Seven jobs, cultural and public affairs programs, development of new computer programs, programs for learning disabled and bright students, and a program involving interchange between the college and local school districts intended to avoid duplication of instruction in vocational education classes.

Also recommended were cuts in regional and national travel for the eight varsity sports that would remain if the board agrees to eliminate tennis.

Administrators are still studying whether to recommend further cuts in several areas, including child care, the opportunity center for gifted students, veterans' counseling, secretarial staffing for instructors, public safety, comptroller's office personnel and the assistant dean of health careers and human services.

Administrators foresee potential new problems in utility payments. The college buys natural gas from Consumers Power Co., which recently announced impending 50 percent rate increases because of a contract to buy expensive, imported gas.

THE BULK of the school's $15 million budget is expected to come from local property taxes. The school collects 1.77 mills in general operating money and additional millage to pay off debt. That's expected to produce $6 million.

Tuition and other fees is expected to produce $3.7 million. The state is expected to contribute slightly less than $5 million.

Salaries are the largest single cost, expected to make up nearly 80 percent of college spending. Some 6.5 percent is currently budgeted for utilities, and another 3.6 percent for advertising, travel and communications.

Resident once a top trainer

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

These sunny afternoons when he takes a place on the bench in Kellogg Park, Michael Holubeshen allows his memories to come rolling back through the mist of years when he spent most of his time training race horses at many of the major tracks in the country.

Few walking by know him personally and fewer still realize that he is a virtual human encyclopedia when it comes to the training and racing of the country's thoroughbreds.

Yet, when asked, he can recite the performances of the stars of the turf and the exciting races they won on tracks from Agua Calientee in Mexico to Saratoga, Churchill Downs or Belmont Park where the major events are written into the books each year.

SMILINGLY HE tells you that his memory doesn't go back as far as Man O' War and Sir Barton, the two aces that staged the historic match race in Windsor a half century ago. It was this race that established Man O' War as one of the greatest — if not the greatest, of all American race horses.

Yet, despite his never having seen the Man O' War race, Holubeshen still rates him as the greaest of all horses.

"I have followed such others as Citation, Secretariat, Seabiscuit, Discovery and other Kentucky Derby winners, but I don't think they match Man O' War."

Asked what he thought of the present class of three-year-olds he quickly answered, "Pleasant Colony that won the Derby and the Preakness looks like a good strong horse that could rank with the greatest. But we will have to wait until he is a bit older and runs in the big handicap events."

ONE OF the recent winners of the Derby, Genuine Risk, was only the second mare to win the Derby. She seems to be a better horse than the filly, Regret, that was the first of her sex to win the Run for the Roses at Churchill Downs.

Holabeshen admits that he never trained a horse for any of the big stakes. But he has more than 300 winners to his credit during a career that started at Laurel, Md., 50 years ago.

His favorite always will be a horse named Dolly Rockett. He trained that horse for races on the Eastern tracks. One of the reasons he has a soft spot for this horse is that it once escaped a fire at a track in West Virginia and ran into the mountains and hid for four days.

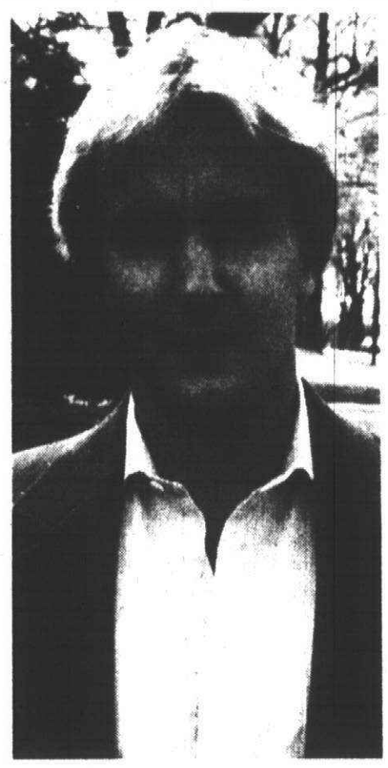

"When we finally found her, we brought her back to the track. It wasn't long until she won a race at Pimlico and paid more than $200."

OF ALL the jockeys he has watched, he still likes Earl Sande, rider of Man O' War, the best. Sande only won the Derby three times, but Holabeshen rates him as able to get more out of a horse than the others.

Behind Sande he places Eddie Arcaro, who has won six derbies, and then Willie Shoemaker, who recently won his 8,000th victory in silks.

Holabeshen likes to recall that he trained winners at the Detroit tracks, winning the Michigan Mile and the Wolverine Handicap, two of the biggest races in these parts.

You never would think that he is a walking encyclopedia on horse flesh when you see him in the park, but appearances sometes are deceiving.

Earns award

Greg Stevens of Plymouth is one of the recipients of a newly created scholarship program, the Johns-Manville Program for Private Enterprise Education (to support those students interested in advanced study of private enterprise subjects). Stevens will receive a scholarship of $2,500 for 1981-82 academic year. He will be required to take four courses of 12 credits total within the division of economics and business administration and to write a paper annually dealing with private enterprise. Now a sophomore with a 3.98 grade point average, Stevens graduated from Plymouth Salem High.

Workshop trains job seekers

If you were getting your first job, would you know how to get along with your supervisor and your co-workers?

Would you know the reasons why workers lose their jobs or the positive behaviors and attitudes of a good employee?

Chances are the persons who gets a job for the first time would have a lot of questions and anxieties.

To help alleviate these concerns of students from Plymouth Salem High and Plymouth Canton High recently hired at Wendy's restaurant, a work communications in-service workshop was held.

The workshop was led by Pat Gresock, job placement coordinator at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP), in conjunction with Carol Bush, manager of the new Wendy's on Ford Road in Canton.

"The reason for the workshop," said Gresock, "was to aid the employer in additional training involving employer expectations and employee concerns.

"Training already had been underway with the students as far as working a grill, running the cash register and familiarization with the restaurant system.

"When I approached Ms. Bush with the idea of expanding training to include talking and listening skills, work attitude with the customer, job retention and problem-solving, she was very receptive.

"We got together and discussed different areas we wanted to cover and just went with it."

Some 32 students participated in the communications workshop.

"It also was an opportunity to observe the students' participation and attitudes which aids in making decisions for further student hirings," said Ms. Bush.

"I got to see first-hand some positive and negative aspects on how well some young people work together and handle different situations."

Ms. Gresock added: "Working in a restaurant is not for everyone. It is best to receive as much information beforehand as possible to see if they'd really like this kind of job.

"It saves time for the student, and saves time and money for the employer."

The job placement office, located in Canton High School, places part-time, full-time and temporary students, gradautes, former graduates and college students.

Other businesses interested in looking into the possibility of using this type of service through the job placement office may contact Ms. Gresock at 453-3100, ext. 386 or 354.

She noted that of the 32 participants some 20 area already hired and 12 remain interested in employment.

UM-D developing small robotic arm

A small, versatile robotic arm is being developed for use in light-industrial automated manufacturing by a group of electrical engineering students and a professor from the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

The robotic arm is being built for less than $8,000 with grant money from the Society of Manufacturing Engineers (SME) and funds from the U-M-Dearborn student government and department of electrical engineering, said project director Victor Syed, associate professor of electrical engineering.

Syed said his team's 25-pound aluminum, computer-controlled "arm" will prove to be more versatile and efficient for light-industrial use than expensive, less-adaptable robots now being used.

"IF WE DECIDE to market this it will cost less than $20,000 including the robot, the computer and the software," Syed said.

"A comparable one on the market today costs $50,000 — and with ours, you don't have to redesign the robot if you change products, you just reprogram it."

Syed notes other features of the robot.

The joints of the "arm" can make a complete circle, and its speed can be programmed to assemble items smoothly while parts pass by on a conveyor belt, Syed said.

The arm can lift up to three pounds, which makes it suitable for light-industrial use.

Sheriff's pals pack 'road show'

By Mike Scanlon
staff writer

More sheriffs and less road and drain commissioners — that was the message the Wayne County Charter Commission got last week in its third and final community meeting on its newly drafted charter.

Commissioners called the series of public meetings the "road show," a tag that makes the thing sound a little like some kind of traveling carnival. The commissioners are astute.

AS WAS TRUE at early road show appearances, Thursday night's presentation in the UAW Region 1E hall on Telegraph in Taylor was made before an audience packed with supporters of expanded county sheriff duties.

Included were members of "Starship Command," a citizen's band radio patrol. Two couples in the front row who supported more sheriff's department activities were dressed in leather caps and cut-off jean jackets. The men had long hair and beards and their jackets had the words "Hell Raisers MC Detroit" emblazoned across the back. The women's jackets had "Property of Hell Raisers MC Detroit" across the back.

But they had to wait their turn to speak. First, Bard Young, director of the UAW Region 1E, greeted the commisioners and announced his support for the charter.

PROSECUTOR William Cahalan was next, taking legal exception to proposed charter language that would allow the chief executive officer (CEO) to make appointments to vacant elected jobs. Cahalan said state law requires the circuit court to do that.

Cahalan also called unconstitutional a charter provision that would cut terms of office for several elected officials from four years to two on a one-time basis. The move was intended to insure that the existing county office holders appear on the same ballot as the CEO.

"There may be reasons to do that, but I don't think they're constitutionally permissible," Cahalan said, adding that "I would be heartsick if the charter were rejected."

NEW DETROIT Inc. Vice-president Larry Horwitz made a pitch to increase the number of commissioners from the 15 now in the proposed charter to 21, although he said New Detroit would be happy with any number from 15 to 27.

But Horwitz added that, in the group's view, it is "more important how the districts are drawn than how many are drawn."

He backed charter language to insure that apportionment of the county districts be done to "properly represent the racial and language minority groups in this county."

Horwitz also opposed already-controversial language in the current draft that would require the county to operate a hospital, although he said he backed language that would require health care.

He backed removing the parks department and Metro Airport from the authority of the county Board of Road Commissioners.

Deputy County Treasurer Lee Remick, in a long address, pointed out that the current language doesn't set a number of members for the civil service commission.

MARY PANEK, representing seven League of Women Voters groups, said the group approves reducing the number of county commissioners to 15 and also supports appointment of the county auditor. But the League would also like to see the sheriff, treasurer, clerk and register of deeds made appointed posts. State law requires those to be elected offices. Ms. Panek backed a change in the law.

Jack Rourke, a citizen from Allen Park, suggested the county board be reduced further.

He drew a big hand from the crowd when he remarked, "Take money from the people to be a commissioner? For what? I've been down to that circus three times."

Sheila Baker of Trenton was also critical of language guaranteeing the county hospital. She works at the county hospital where, she says, employees earn "up to $15 an hour for two years of school to give each other Toni permanents."

Ms. Baker also backed charter language requiring a sheriff's road patrol.

"We need our police protection. We need our police protection damned bad. I can't believe (the board of commissioners) are so out of touch with what the people of Wayne County think."

DOROTHY Sadowski, an employee in the Allen Park water department, followed two speakers who had been critical of Detroit and drew applause by commenting, "We're all in this soup pot together."

She urged that the road commission, department of public works and drain commission be combined and asked why they hadn't been.

"Inability to get 14 votes," replied Commissioner Kaye Tertzag, D-Allen Park. Fourteen votes are required to approve amendments to the charter.

Lauren Bennett of Canton Township called for an anti-nepotism clause. Commissioners two weeks ago considered but failed to approve an anti-nepotism clause when they couldn't agree on how to define nepotism.

Finally one of the Hell Raisers MC persons rose. She favored more deputies in Hines Park.

Tom-Becky fishing has costume prizes

The costume part of the Tom Sawyer-Becky Thatcher kids' fishing derby on Newburgh Lake next Saturday has an even wider assortment of prizes than the fishing part.

The boy who dresses most like storybook character Tom Sawyer and the girl who looks most like Becky Thatcher will receive nine prizes apiece, according to contest chairmen Hank Chruscial of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association and John Nichols of the Livonia Kiwanis.

They suggest consulting the Mark Twain novel if you're short of ideas. The look-alike contest is open to kids 6-16, as is the fishing contest.

Fishing will begin at 7 a.m. with registration and run until noon. The look-alikes will be judged about 11 a.m.

THE BEST "Tom" will receive a rocker from Jimmie's Rustics of Livonia, and the top Becky will win a flower cart from the conservation club.

Both will receive a rod and reel from Northwest Gun Shop of Redford; a set of Eppinger Daredevle lures; ticket for 10 games to Putt-Putt Golf of Livonia; a globe from Modern Wholesale Electric in Livonia; a belt buckle from the Scott Colburn store in Livonia; insect repellant from Campers' Paradise of Livonia; a two-party cook set from Kiwanis of Livonia; and a cutting board from the Sarver Boys and Girls Club of Redford.

Runners-up also will receive prizes.

SITE OF THE CONTEST is the north shore of Newburgh Lake about a mile west of Newburgh Road in southeast Livonia. Entry is open to all youngsters ages 6-16 in northwest Wayne County sponsoring communities.

The derby will go on regardless of weather.

Any natural or artifical bait may be used, said Chruscial, although a printed flyer incorrectly specifies only natural bait. Fishing is from shore only. A dangerous area near the Newburgh Road Dam is posted and should be avoided.

After 10:30 a.m., McDonald's will provide free orange drink.

Livonia auxiliary police will direct traffic and assure safety.

Prize for the largest fish, as previously announced, is an electric outboard motor. The largest bass and bluegill will receive charter boat trips for angler and parent on Lake St. Clair for muskie fishing.

TAX ANTICIPATION NOTES
(GENERAL OBLIGATION LIMITED TAX)

SEALED BIDS for the purchase of the above Tax Anticipation Notes will be received by the undersigned at the Board of Education Offices, 454 South Harvey Street, Plymouth, Michigan 48170, until 7:30 o'clock p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, on the 22nd day of June, 1981, at which time and place the bids will be publicly opened and read.

NOTE DETAILS; INTEREST RATE; PAYING AGENT AND PAYING AGENT FEES; AND DENOMINATION: The notes will be dated July 1, 1981, will mature April 1, 1982, and will bear interest at a rate not exceeding 14% per annum. Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company located in the State of Michigan to be designated by the original purchaser of the notes, which paying agent qualifies as such under the statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government, with paying agent fees, if any, to be paid by the purchaser of the notes. Denomination of the notes to be at the option of the purchaser.

PRIOR REDEMPTION: The notes shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

AWARD OF NOTES: For the purpose of awarding the notes, the interest cost of each bid will be computed on a 360-day year, 30-day month basis by determining, at the rate specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the notes from July 1, 1981, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The notes will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest dollar interest cost to the School District. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

SECURITY: The loan is in anticipation of the OPERATING portion of the School Tax for the fiscal year July 1, 1981 to June 30, 1982, which tax is due and payable December 1, 1981. The Board of Education has voted and pledged as security for the tax note borrowing to levy taxes for school operating purposes in an amount not less than $33,431,104.

The Board of Education has created a separate depository account designated 1981 TAX ANTICIPATION NOTE RETIREMENT FUND "A", and moneys to be deposited into the fund are specifically earmarked and will be used solely to pay the principal and interest on the notes when due, and has pledged to set aside in said fund, for the payment of principal and interest on the notes, a portion of each dollar of taxes, or moneys to be received in lieu of taxes, remaining to be collected for the current fiscal year beginning July 1, 1981, which is not less than 125% of the percentage that the principal amount of the notes bears to the amount of taxes to be levied and anticipated to be collected for operating expenses, delinquency in collections being taken into account, until the amount so set aside is sufficient for such payment, and the moneys in said fund shall be used for no other purpose.

The notes will be a General Obligation of the School District, and if tax collections are insufficient to pay the loan when due, the School District has pledged to use any and all other resources available for payment of such loan. The School District does not have the power to levy taxes for the payment of the notes in excess of its constitutional and statutory tax rate limits.

The rights or remedies of noteholders may be affected by bankruptcy laws or other creditors' rights legislation now existing or hereafter enacted.

ADDITIONAL BORROWING: The School District reserves the right to borrow additional moneys to meet current operating expenses and payroll during the remainder of the fiscal year 1981/82. Any future borrowing against the 1981 operating taxes will be secured by a lien equal in standing to the lien herein created against such operating taxes.

GOOD FAITH: A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2% of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the School District, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the notes. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail. The good faith check of the successful bidder will be immediately cashed and payment for the balance of the purchase price of the notes shall be made at the closing.

LEGAL OPINION: Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Thrun, Maatsch and Nordberg, attorneys of Lansing, Michigan, which opinion will be furnished without expense to the purchaser prior to the delivery thereof, approving the legality of the notes.

DELIVERY OF NOTES: The School District shall furnish notes ready for execution at its expense. Notes will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place to be mutually agreed upon between the purchaser and the School District. The usual closing documents including a certificate that no litigation is pending affecting the issuance of the notes, will be delivered at the time of the delivery of the notes. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of the notes shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

THE RIGHT IS RESERVED TO REJECT ANY OR ALL BIDS.

ENVELOPES containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for School District Notes."

Public gives input on local branch of super sewer

By Kathy Jennings
special writer

Some 32 proposals for providing sewer service to communities located between Plymouth and White Lake Township for the next 20 years were reviewed by local officials and members of the public at an informational hearing last week.

The hearing was held in the Northville High School auditorium for 10 communities in Wayne and Oakland counties in the Huron Valley North Service Area.

The 32 proposals have been drawn up to identify alternatives for providing waste water treatment for Commerce Township, Village of Wolverine Lake, Novi and Novi Township, Walled Lake, White Lake Township, Plymouth and Plymouth Township — in an attempt to connect them to the so-called "super sewer."

Duane R. Egeland, deputy manager of the Wayne County Public Works board, explained why the proposals were drafted.

In 1976, a plan was developed for the construction of a regional waste water treatment system designed to serve an area from Brownstown, west to Sumpter Township and north to White Lake Township.

EGELAND SAID that in 1977 the results of the plan were contested. Two years later an environmental impact statement said Canton Township and points south could be hooked to a regional sewer that would be connected to a plant at the mouth of the Huron River.

But it was decided there had not been enough studies completed to demonstrate communities north of Canton Township should be connected to the sewer, Egeland said.

Plans for construction of the sewer have since proceeded in what is known as the south service area, while studies continued in the north.

The studies are to be completed by Nov. 1, Egeland said. At that time the best waste water management alternative for the northern area will be chosen.

In the lower area, plans are proceeding on schedule. Design plans and specifications are being drawn up, Egeland said.

The interceptors are being designed to service the communities as far north as Commerce Township, while the treatment plant is being designed to serve the south area, he explained. If necessary, the plans will be redesigned to accommodate whichever alternative emerges as the best to serve the north area.

"Redesign will be minor. We will be at a point where we can begin construction," Egeland said.

"If things work as smoothly as they could, we are optimistic that by June 1982, we will begin construction," Egeland said.

LAST WEEK, the public was invited to address the 32 proposed methods of waste water management.

The proposals were broken into seven groups, including:

- Those that involved primarily the use of septic tanks and existing sewage collection systems.
- Those that involved using interceptor sewers to convey the flow of some of the sewage to a treatment plant at Brownstown and sewage from Plymouth to the the Detroit Waste Water Treatment Plant.
- Those that combined the use of septic tanks, existing interceptors and new interceptors where needed to convey sewage to the Detroit Waste Water Treatment Plant.
- Those that would provide service by conveying the flows from the northern communities to Detroit's North Interceptor West Arm.
- Proposals that combine certain aspects of two or more of the proposed methods of providing sewer service.

Representatives of Black and Veatch, the consultant engineers coordinating the project, said each of the proposals call for local on-site waste water treatment — septic tanks — in the area west of Beck Road in Novi because of legislation passed there. As a result, that area has not been considered for sewering in these proposals.

COMMENTS FROM the sparse audience centered mainly on proposals that called for the use of septic tanks in areas that currently are unsewered.

It was explained that if septic tanks are used as part of the waste water management plan, it would require "vigorous monitoring and maintenance beyond what is presently done."

The audience was told this system would require, for example, the rigorous enforcement of more frequent replacement of tile fields.

James Rothchild of the Oakland County Health department asked who would be responsible for the "vigorously implemented" method of local on-site waste water treatment.

"In many parts of this area, lots are too small and the soils are poor; repairs are not possible. These small lots will remain vacant. No amount of vigor can change soil conditions from clay to sand.

"Have you assumed in those alternatives calling for on-site treatment that some subdivisions will remain partially undeveloped?" Rothchild asked.

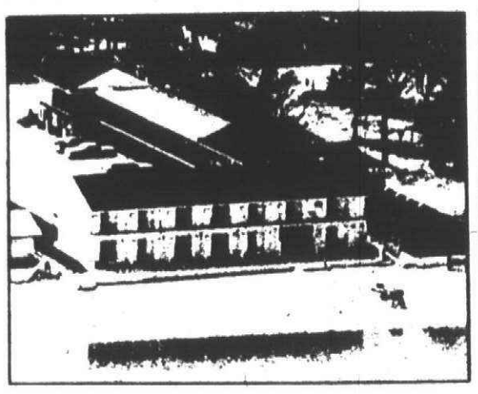

He was told that it would be up to the county health department to upgrade the monitoring of septic tanks.

Where septic tanks are now used the county investigates them infrequently, irregularly or only when they receive a complaint.

Regarding lots which are small, a county engineer said in areas where there are small lots and poor soils there must be a greater level of facilities planning before it is determined what will be done.

DAN SHAPIRO of Commerce Township offered a resolution from the township board stating its opposition to all but one of the 32 proposals.

In summarizing the resolution, Shapiro said the board had identified one proposal as that closest to the sewage system first proposed in 1976, and they supported that alternative.

SC to appeal accreditation of only 7 years

By Mike Scanlon
staff writer

Schoolcraft College administrators think they were short-changed by a team of inspectors which last week recommended the school receive full academic accreditation for only a seven-year term. The college board voted Wednesday to appeal.

Schoolcraft is in the last year of a 10-year accreditation granted in 1971. C. Nelson Grote, college president, told the board it is customary that once a college has received a 10-year accreditation, it always receives a 10-year term unless serious flaws are found by the inspection team.

"We believe that the report (of the team) does not justify, does not clearly justify the recommendation that we be re-visited again in seven years," said Grote. "If we had just come off an initial accreditation . . . we would have accepted it.

"For a mature institution that's already had 10 years accreditation, the report must substantiate clearly that the visit must take place in seven years, and we strongly believe that (the report) does not . . . When you read the entire report, you get a good feeling about Schoolcraft.

"I feel we have a good chance of convincing the review committee that somewhat more than seven years is advisable," Grote added.

THE APPEAL will be heard Sept. 26 in Chicago. Grote, who is taking a job as president of a Spokane, Wash. community college system and will leave Schoolcraft in mid-July, agreed to help make the school's case at the September hearing.

Grote, who has served on both accreditation inspection teams and review committees, said he thinks Schoolcraft stands a good chance of convincing the appeals board to lengthen the accreditation. If it doesn't, a second appeal is possible, Grote explained.

Accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools is generally considered critical for higher institutions. Without accreditation, students may have difficulty in obtaining credit for classes taken at the non-accredited school should they transfer elsewhere. The value of the students' degree itself may be damaged by a lack of accreditation.

THE REPORT recommended Schoolcraft be fully accredited.

But in laying down the shortened term of accreditation, the report was critical of the college in 18 separate areas. It suggested changes in transcript preparation, check-issuing, registration, more use of paraprofessionals for academic counseling, consideration of an audio-visual learning laboratory and "a possible problem" of students not being able to talk to administrators.

It asked consideration of setting up a campus senior citizen center, giving evening students a greater share of student activities money, expanding course offerings for liberal arts students who don't plan to transfer and giving a medical laboratory technician instructor an overloaded work schedule.

"A lot of it is awfully philosophical," said board trustee Nancie Blatt, "and I guess that's what bothers me because I guess I believe it's the board's philosophy that should be governing the college."

"This team did tend to make conclusive statements more than many teams," replied Grote.

Preserving farms: It's still a worthwhile cause

HAVE THE REASONS for Canton's farmland preservation program died with the sour economy?

To be sure, a different economic climate overshadowed talk of saving the farms when the program first was proposed in the mid-'70s.

A still healthy economy sprouted colonials, quads and ranch-style homes on acres of land previously reserved for agricultural activies. The construction boom crowded out rows of soybeans and corn, while overtaxing roads and schools and threatening the semi-rural atmosphere of the Canton Township area.

Talk of preserving the township's farmland was intermingled with discussions on the need for growth control.

In 1981, that growth almost has ground to a halt.

Immediate development pressures no longer threaten agricultural lands in western Canton. The side-effects of a depressed auto and housing industry have supplanted the problems of mushrooming growth.

SO WHY CONTINUE the talk of implementing a farmland preservation program in western Canton Township?

Or does the need still exist to protect some 5,000 acres west of Canton Center from a future of urban sprawl?

Why should a committee of farmers, citizens and officials spend hours of their time over possible funding methods for a development rights programs and other preservation techniques?

Some believe that the rationale for a farmland preservation program in Canton has died. They point to the current lack of development pressures and believe that the economy itself will keep farming activities on Canton's agricultural lands.

They believe that financially worried voters will defeat a ballot proposition for a development rights millage, as they did in 1978.

That prediction could come true if a large millage request is placed on the ballot this year.

But the farmland retention committee, charged with recommending some type of ballot proposal to the Township Board, has been sensitive to the financial worries of voters.

They are researching a wide variety of preservation tools, such as the transfer of development rights and the establishment of a trust fund for development-right-buy contributions, to pare the financial burden of taxpayers.

TOWNSHIP VOTERS may defeat any millage request for farmland preservation, if board members carry out their intention to place the issue on the ballot by the end of this year.

Citizens' votes, of course, should be based on their own personal finances and ability to pay. They should be based on the type of leadership role which voters would like for Canton in the farmland preservation field.

They should not be based on a false sense of security and the belief that current economic conditions will forever shield farmland in Canton from development.

Economic conditions may change. But once farmland is developed, it is removed from the food production process.

No one knows for sure what the future will bring. The high price of gasoline could dim Canton's desirablity as a home site for Detroit commuters. On the other hand, western Canton could become a prime housing development area if talk of developing a technological industrial complex near Ann Arbor comes to fruition.

As township planner Jim Kosteva recently put it, farmland preservation in Canton should be viewed on its own merit.

Voters, who will determine the program's final fate on a still-unscheduled election day, should view the choice of development or preservation in that kind of framework.

Tim Richard

An American tradition of taxation

When the morning news came on the radio, someone was talking about "taxation without representation." Groggy, I figured I must have had the radio tuned to CBE, the Canadian station.

Two hundred years ago or more, "taxation without representation" was a Revolutionary War cry. The colonists had no representation in Parliament and disliked the idea of being taxed to pay for Indian wars on their frontiers.

Today the United States levies the income tax on all who work or do business here; aliens pay whether they vote or not.

Michigan levies its income tax on all who work here. There is some reciprocity with other states levying income taxes, but no one gets off free.

IF A CANADIAN travels to Michigan, he is nicked by both the federal and state taxes when he buys gasoline. He gets no 11-cent break by flashing an Ontario driver's license and saying he has no representation in the U.S. Congress or the Michigan Legislature.

All of Michigan, even the Motor City, is a tourist area. Everyone using a hotel or motel pays the use tax Michigan resident or not. In fact, more nonresidents probably pay that tax than residents.

Look at the downtown hotels like the Plaza or the Ponchartrain. Look at all the hotels and motels around Metropolitan Airport. Look at their prices. Multiply by 4 percent.

Yessirree, we nick those business travelers good and hard.

Listen to the legislators, especially from around these suburbs, who supported Proposal A. What was one of their chief arguments for shifting from the property tax to the sales tax? "Catch those tourists," they said.

BRING IT DOWN to the local level.

Let's say you live in the metropolitan area and have a cottage around Grayling. When your property tax bill comes from the north country township, county, school district and community college, do you rush to the township board of review, whip out your driver's license and voter registration from suburbia and holler at the Grayling solons, "Hey, you can't tax me, that's taxation without representation?" Do you?

Only if you are stark, raving mad. If your property is in their district, they're going to tax you. In fact, they might even use a heavy pencil when figuring your assessment because there's no chance you can vote the local supervisor out of office.

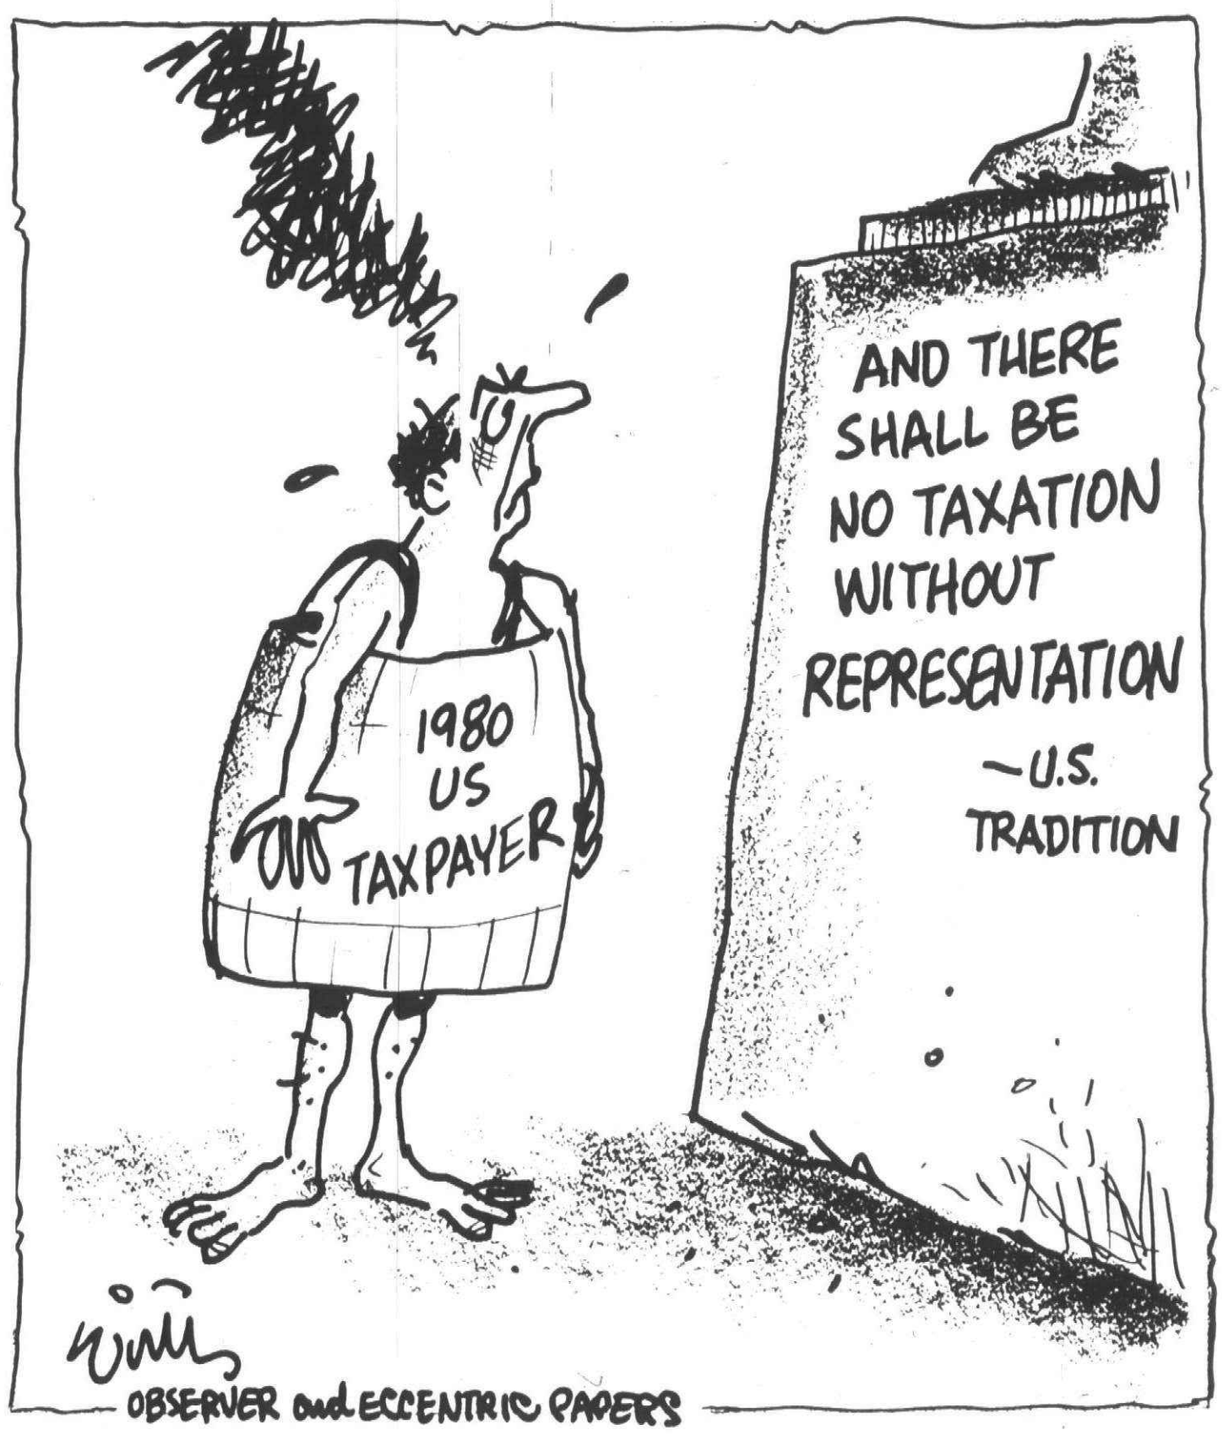

Pick any college you want: Michigan, Wayne State, Michigan State, Oakland U, UM-Dearborn, Oakland Community College, Schoolcraft College — any one you want. Without exception, they will charge about double tuition to non-residents of the state or of the college district.

Check the price of resident and non-resident fishing licenses, trout-salmon stamps, small game licenses, deer licenses, trapping licenses . . . the non-resident is charged a higher price.

And so it was a shock to awake to the radio news and hear suburban representatives in the Michigan Legislature fighting the Detroit commuter income tax and crying "taxation without representation." It wasn't a Canadian broadcast.

The American Way, much honored in Michigan, is to charge non-residents just as much as residents and, wherever possible, more.

Taxation without representation is as American as baseball, fatty hot dogs, apple pie and Chrysler aid.

Detroit: No alternatives

Suburbanite, suburbanite, who is the biggest and baddest suburbanite?

A lot has flowed down the Rouge River since the last time we were treated to such an effluence of suburban patriotism.

But last week, not even John Wayne could have put on such a macho performance as did the overwhelming majority of suburban Detroit state legislators.

They stood in line to pound their chests and robustly declare they had been elected to protect the pocketbooks of their constituents against the encroachment of Coleman Young.

Detroit's mayor would like to get his city out of debt. Raising the income tax for both residents and suburban commuters is about the only way. It's pretty harmless medicine considering the alternative.

The mayor's problem was a recalcitrant state Legislature. It just had been rebuffed by state voters on its state property tax relief plan. To conduct a city of Detroit election on June 23, Young needed legislative approval by last Friday.

He got it.

But it wasn't an easy battle. Even the usual bevy of "liberal" legislators cowered under the umbrellas of suburbophilism. But once again that strange alliance of Democrat Young and Republican Gov. Milliken carried the day.

GUBERNATORIAL hopeful James Brickley did the deed in his role as presiding officer of the senate. He cast the tie-breaking vote.

Republicans are miffed at that sleight of hand. Some figure it was a set up job by the Democrats. Rumor has it the Dems were working harder for a tie than defeating the tax election just to embarrass Brickley.

So much for State Sen. William Faust's voting button going on the fritz.

But even after all of last week's legislative dramatics, some folks just don't know when to quit. It's called being a sore loser.

Republican state representatives Jack Kirksey of Livonia and Doug Cruce of Troy are examples.

These two stalwarts are organzing a minicrusade to thwart Young's efforts. The group's intent is allegedly one to sway the votes of Detroiters likely to support the income tax increase.

But many suspect the group's real intent is to tell us all what a slob Young is and what a mess he has made of Detroit.

Even some of the suburban legislators who voted against the income tax increase concept are repulsed by the idea of meddling in somebody else's election with such tactics.

These two guys haven't exactly taken a chapter out of "Profiles in Courage."

EITHER WAY the vote goes, these guys are winners in the jaded suburban eyes.

On the other hand, you've got to take a look at Democrat State Rep. Joe Forbes of Oak Park who was one of only two suburban legislators who had the courage to vote for the enabling legislation.

Politically, he had nothing to win by voting that way. But in this instance, Forbes looked beyond his own immediate self-interest.

He opted for giving Detroiters (those who live and work in Motown) a chance to survive.

Now that's a big, bad suburbanite.

Nick Sharkey

Sex ed talk isn't that easy

A few weeks ago, Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley altered the rules for teaching sex education in public schools. Essentially, parents now must ask that their children be permitted to attend classes. Before, parents had to specifically request that their children not take sex ed classes — if they were offered.

As a result, fewer children will probably attend sex ed classes. Suburban school officials say it's too early to tell how Kelley's ruling will affect their programs.

But it may mean that parents will have to get more involved and not routinely shuffle their responsibility for sex education to the schools. That may set back sex instruction 20 years. Dear old mom and dad don't have good records when it comes to this area.

The age-old clumsiness about sex instruction continues today. Most adults first learned about sex from their poorly informed friends. That led to much confusion and false ideas about sex.

I remember one night when my father herded me and my two older brothers into the bathroom to tell us about "the facts of life." It was obvious that he was as embarrassed as we were about the session. After a few minutes, he asked if we had any questions. We looked at each other and no one said anything.

The class was over and that was the end of my formal sex education from my parents.

Most adults had similar experiences with their parents.

WE ALL vowed that in our modern sophistication we would handle it better than our parents. But now as a parent, I wonder if the process is really being improved.

About four years ago, friends gave me a book called "How Babies Are Made." It presents a simple explanation of sex, beginning with flowers and working up to humans. The book is supposed to be shared reading by children and parents. For one reason or another, my wife and I have stalled and not even discussed the book with our children.

A couple of years ago I felt guilty about avoiding sex discussions with my oldest child, then an 8-year-old. So during a car ride home from the grocery I briefly began a sex discussion. When the car stopped in the driveway, I asked him if he had any questions. He had a disinterested look on his face and asked, "Dad, can I go inside?"

Later during nature walks with my two sons, I had brief discussions about the fertilization of flowers. I related that to how humans have babies. The only responses have been blank stares with no questions.

A few months ago, I attended an evening class in my children's school about sex education. The instructor said that discussion of sex was especially important for father and son. She said that ignoring the subject would build up a wall between father and son that may never come down.

Obviously, I felt guilty and a little scared. So a few days later I sat down with my son, now 10. I talked about the sexual feelings the instructor said he was experiencing.

After patiently listening to me for about 20 minutes, he said he wasn't having those feelings yet. But he promised that if he had any questions in the future, he'd ask me.

My own clumsy efforts have left me uneasy. But the experts say that sex education must be tried many different times using different methods. So I'll keep trying.

I fear that someday, when my children are adults, they will recall how ineffectual I was in telling them about sex. They'll be saying the same things I say about my parents. Maybe the generations are not really making any improvements in this area.

Sex education has never been easy.

Give pictures professional exposure

Monte Nagler

If you're like a lot of amateur photographers, your pictures don't get much exposure — in your home, that is.

Many of your good shots are packed away in drawers or closets, not on the wall where they belong.

Your home should reflect your personality with a selection of photographs to complement the other furnishings in your rooms. Your own pictures and those of other photographers whose work you admire will add to the decor of your home and your enjoyment of it.

My May 28 column discussed ways to mount your pictures. Today, let's consider matting, framing, and displaying your collection of photographs.

MATTING enhances the presentation of a photograph.

Pre-cut mats in standard sizes can be purchased from most art supply or camera stores. You can also buy inexpensive mat cutters, and with a little practice you'll be cutting your own professional-looking mats.

Simply measure equal borders around your already mounted photograph and carefully cut your mat. Make sure the blades are sharp and use fine sandpaper or an emery board to eliminate any rough spots on the edges.

To produce a collage of pictures, perhaps of the entire family, just cut as many windows out of the mat board as you'll need. Then tape each picture to the board from behind and back them with another piece of mat board. You're now ready to add a frame.

FRAMES COME in many styles, colors and prices. For photography, simplicity is the best guideline.

Plain metal frames don't draw attention away from the impact of the photograph, yet at the same time they lend a complementary finishing touch to your picture. Metal frame kits are available in all photo, art supply and frame shops. Purchase pieces in the length and width you need and your frame can be assembled easily in a matter of minutes.

Be sure to use glass, too. Glass not only protects your photograph, but also adds to the appearance of your finished work. I have found that regular, single strength glass works best. Non-glare glass will reduce the 'snap' of your photo and make colors look dull.

Other types of frames are also available. Plain wood frames will enhance many photographs, while more modern lucite frames will add a contemporary touch.

MOST PICTURES look best when hung in a grouping at about eye level.

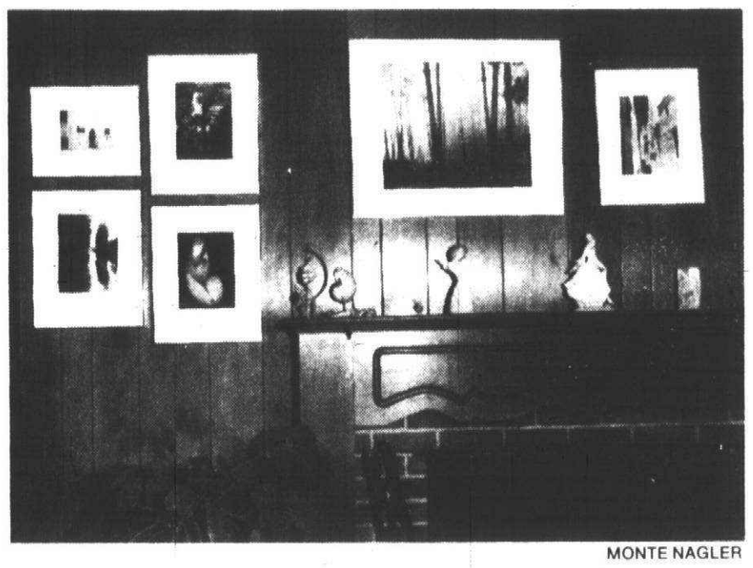

Try to center your group over a large piece of furniture, such as a sofa or buffet, or over a fireplace. Place a larger picture in the center, surrounded by a few smaller ones.

If you end up with more pictures than wall space, rotate them every few weeks. This way, your room will always have a fresh appearance.

Hanging photographs in your home will enable you to begin living with them and will encourage your photographic growth.

Reader objects to Tisch slam

To the editor:

Thank God for editorial columns, Mr. (Steve) Barnaby. You personally should say a few words to the Almighty that you are fortunate enough to live in the United States, because if you lived anywhere else your writing would have you in prison or in front of a firing squad.

I find it hard to believe your article of May 28 ("As Tisch blusters, majority quiet") because all it sounds like is that you have a personal vendetta against the man and anyone who may choose to have the same views.

It is truly a shame that a person like yourself who is read by hundreds of thousands of people, does not have the journalistic ability to give to your readers anything more than your own biased personal opinion.

Frankly sir, you do the public a grave injustice every time you write a column.

You speak of the majority. What is your definition of "the majority"?

In speaking of voter issues, I would have to assume that you mean the voting public because people who do not exercise their constitutional rights have no reason to complain about anything at all, let alone the important issues of the day.

THE PEOPLE who agreed with Mr. Tisch last November (44 percent of the voting public) are the same people you have the gall to call malcontents.

Let it be known that Mr. Tisch nor any one of those 44 percent cut one social program before or after the election. We still face burdensome taxation with no relief in sight but the cuts continue to be made — none of them that would lessen the overall amount of big government which we are required to support. Nothing has changed, and Mr. Tisch hasn't gotten his way once.

I fail to see how he and all of us malcontents have been able to do anything other than let the governor and the legislature know that we want to see taxes come down and we want to see more responsibility out of both of those branches.

You have, by your writings, told the public that you do not believe that taxes should be cut.

In ending, I would suggest that you take your writing abilities and move to a more socialistic country where you could feel comfortable with outrageous taxation, limited freedoms and state and federal governments that rule without any outside check by the voting public.

Check the newspapers, the world is full of them.

HOW DOES A district court judge spend his Saturdays?

During June, a traditional month for strawberry shortcake, roses and weddings, romance keeps Judge Dunbar Davis off the tennis courts. He probably attends more weddings than anyone in town, and usually in his official role. His record is nine weddings on a single Saturday.

Last Saturday, he was at Martha Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village, where he officiated at the marriage of Nancy Madigan and Gordon Cooley. The couple will live on Peachtree Court in Canton Township.

Judge Davis has performed marriage ceremonies in his office, in gardens, private homes, rented halls, outdoors, indoors, 35th District Court, the Plymouth Cultural Center, KingsMill Clubhouse and Greenfield Village.

Weddings are not a fringe benefit for the silver-haired judge. All fees go to the district court. The word has gotten around that the judge's ceremonies are special.

TWENTY talented high school students from the Detroit area were honored recently at the 22nd annual shorthand and typing contest at Edsel Ford High School.

Several local high school students were among the 140 business education students representing 65 area high schools.

Julie Cabadas of Plymouth Salem High and Marilyn McKendry of Plymouth Canton High were among the winners in the typing contest. Diane Harkness of Plymouth Salem was a winner in the shorthand contest.

The contest was sponsored for the 12th consecutive year by the Detroit Business Institute.

IT WILL BE country crafts week in Nancy Petrucelli's Green Thumb next week.

Gene Crosby will be featured from 10 a.m. to noon and 2-4 p.m. Monday. Gene makes folk art toys — reproductions of those oldtime wooden dancing men and twirling toys that were popular in the late 1800s. Each is handmade and carefully painted.

Another local resident, Sheri Lewis, will be there from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday. Sheri, who is associated with Greenfield Village, will answer questions about country living and entertaining.

Tin and copper-punch art by Nancy and Diane will star from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday. You can always recognize their creations when you find the hand-painted ladybug on each piece.

Lillian Renko Bledow will have a collection of her wooden toys and lamp bases on display from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday.

Charles Wells will be there from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday with his candles — hand-dipped in the traditional Williamsburg way.

MEMBERS of the Plymouth branch Woman's National Farm and Garden Association have been doing their bit to brighten up the town flower beds.

They put in six flats of marigolds in assorted sizes and colors at Pointe Park, Starkweather and Mill streets. They also planted flowers between the city hall and the library on Main Street around the Plymouth Rock plaque.

Evelyn Erdelyi, who heads the club's civic committee, was in charge of the project. She was assisted by Doris Richard, Bertha Peterson, Juanita Fenkell, Ethel North and Lorenza Rollins.

JUNE 4 winners at the Thursday afternoon party bridge games at the Plymouth Cultural Center were Carl and Frances Peters.

LOIS JENSEN'S condition is termed critical. She is in Mesa Lutheran Hospital, Mesa, Ariz. 85201, if you want to drop her a card. She had been hoping to be back in Michigan by now. Lois spends the winters with her sister, Mary, at their home in Apache Junction, Ariz.

PAUL STANTON is president of the Western Suburban Stamp Club. Serving with him are Don Watkins, vice president; Emil Brant, secretary; Ralph Mortenson, treasurer; Lance Goodling and Jeff Gibbons, junior co-vice presidents; and Joe Willis and Mark Anderson, trustees.

Arts council wraps up super season

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Teri John (left), Gae McCord and Sharon Rucinski are new board members of the arts council.

By Elinor Graham
staff writer

Their fund-raisers are phenomenal successes. Their projects, such as the artists and craftsmen show, affect thousands of residents in the Plymouth-Canton community.

When members of the Plymouth Community Arts Council met recently for their annual luncheon and election of officers, it was just a pause in the action. Planning for the artists and craftsmen show is a year-round effort.

Held at Central Middle School, the show takes place on the Saturday and Sunday of the Plymouth Fall Festival. Applicants are screened by a panel of arts council members, and this jurying process goes on for months — almost from show to show.

Joan Englehart was PCAC president for the 1980-81 season.

Mary Elizabeth Smith was the chairwoman of the 1980 show, which attracted approximately 9,000 persons. Net profits were almost $6,500, ranking second only to the Plymouth Rotary Club's chicken dinner as a festival moneymaker.

IT IS A MUSICAL revue year for the arts council. A major production is planned alternate years, and this year it was "Shenanigans."

More than 2,000 persons were in the audience at Plymouth Salem High School auditorium on March 13 and 14 for the PCAC "follies." For weeks before the show, the 250 persons involved in the production devoted hours of their time to rehearsals. Show biz took precedent over everyday chores as vocal chords and leg and back muscles were limbered up for the routines.

More than 2,000 persons were in the audience at Plymouth Salem High School auditorium on March 13 and 14 for the Plymouth Community Arts Council follies. For weeks before the show, the 250 persons involved in the production devoted hours of their time to rehearsals. Show biz took precedent over everyday chores as vocal chords and leg and back muscles were limbered up.

Jan Gattoni and Larry Janes co-chaired the revue, which netted more than $6,960. Other pluses were the many friendships formed during the co-operative venture.

Spring cocktail parties were a success socially and financially. Judy Morgan and Elaine Kirchgatter were co-chairwomen of the parties, which were simulcast in six area homes. Arts council members prepared the array of hors d'oeuvres, canapes and dips and aided the hosts and hostesses.

The cocktail parties brought $2,881 to the PCAC budget.

WITH CASH IN hand, the arts council has the wherewithal to carry out a variety of projects. Every dollar comes back to the community. Since it was founded more than 12 years ago, the PCAC has extended its philanthropies.

Teacher aid grants fill the needs in school arts programs as school budgets are cut. Last season $2,400 was awarded to teachers for creative-writing projects, dance performances, speakers and arts and craft projects. Several hundred students benefited from the project. Janet Campbell served as the project chairwoman.

The 65 picture and sculpture volunteers who visit area classrooms each month of the school year are sponsored by the PCAC. These volunteers provide elementary and middle-school students with the opportunity to experience great artists and their works.

Each minicollection remains in the school for a month, giving the youngsters an opportunity to live with the greats of the art world. Students who have never visited a museum are familar with paintings and and works of art as a result of the program.

Martha Ahern, Janis Migyanka and Shirley Peters planned the project for the 1980-81 season.

DEE SCHULTE was the chairwoman of the fine-arts awards program. Monetary awards are given to students at the middle-school level to help them continue their art studies.

Susan Schrader was chairwoman of the Isbister Awards. The program was named in honor of former school superintendent Russell Isbister. Its purpose is to encourage young artists by giving them public recognition. Six pictures are selected each year and placed in the rotating Isbister Collection.

The art works remain on display for two years then are returned, framed, to the young artists.

Nan Cooper was the chairwoman of the Joanne Winkleman Hulce Award committee. Two grants of $500 are awarded annually to outstanding high-school seniors. Usually, one goes to a musician and one to an artist.

The coveted awards were named for Joanne Hulce, founder of the arts council.

Janita Houk and Sharon Rucinski set up the program which makes performances by amateur and professional musicians and artists available in the schools.

Lists of available programs are sent to the schools, and classes in kindergarten through grade 12 hear the performers and speakers.

Patricia Neal opens Town Hall

Actress Patricia Neal will headline the 1981-82 lecture series for Livonia Town Hall, which for 17 years has been bringing celebrities into the area to discuss their life and work.

On the schedule with her are columnist Shirley Eder, psychic Irene Hughes and museum director Thomas Hoving. The talks take place at 10:30 a.m. Wednesdays in the Main Kai Theater, Farmington and Plymouth roads, Livonia. After each lecture, holders of season tickets may attend a celebrity luncheon in the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

Miss Neal, as well known for her fight to overcome stroke paralysis as for her many dramatic theater and film roles, will open the series Oct. 21.

She will be followed Nov. 18 by celebrity watcher Miss Eder. Miss Hughes, who has received attention for helping police solve crimes, will speak Jan. 20. Wrapping up the series on March 17 will be Thomas Hoving, former director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. His topic will be "Art Collecting for the Big Time."

SEASON TICKETS for the four speeches cost $20. The proceeds from the event are distributed to Livonia American Field Service chapters, which send Livonia high school students abroad and bring foreign students to Livonia for a year of study.

To obtain a season ticket, send a check payable to Livonia Town Hall Inc. to Eleanor Varty, 22280 Parklane, Farmington Hills 48024.

Reservations are made on a first-come first-served basis for celebrity luncheons. Each meals costs $7.50.

No reservations or cancellations will be accepted after the Friday preceding the lecture. Groups of eight may request seating at the same table.

Reservations for the luncheons should be accompanied by a separate check and mailed to Shirley Dodge, Livonia Town Hall, Box 2143, Livonia 48150.

Those wishing to be assured of luncheon seating for the entire season may buy a season luncheon ticket for $30, and include it with the order for season tickets.

Questions about Town Hall should be directed to Dee Dee Dittmar at 474-7213.

PATRICIA NEAL has won a number of awards for her film and theater roles. For her appearance in "Hud," she won the best foreign actress award from the British Academy. She has starred in such Broadways plays as "The Children's Hour," "Another Part of the Forest" and "The Miracle Worker."

Her films include "The Fountainhead" with Gary Cooper, "The Hasty Heart," "Face in the Crowd" and "The Passage." In the fall of 1979, she appeared in the TV production of "All Quiet on the Western Front."

In 1966, while making a film in Hollywood, she suffered a series of strokes caused by cerebral aneurisms. Her recovery was aided by her husband Raoul Dahl, author of many books including

You can always laugh—later

Canton Chatter

By KATHY FREECE 981-2027

You can find humor in many unpleasant situations, even when they happen to you.

A friend asked me to meet her in Ann Arbor last Tuesday morning. I parked my car on Ann Street, put a quarter in the meter and went to my appointment. As I was waiting on the corner for my friend, I noticed a tow truck driving around the corner with a car attached to it. The car looked a little familiar but it wasn't until the truck was directly in front of me that I noticed that it was pulling my car.

I should stop right here and clarify that my neighbors Marty and Barry Cohen really own the car and had lent it to me while mine was in the body shop.

On with the story.

Fright went pouring through my body. Why was the car being towed? I knew that the meter registered the money! I immediately thought of taking down the phone number on the truck but as I was fumbling for a pen the truck was almost out of sight.

I ran out to the center of the street, flagged down the first car that came by and told the driver to follow that tow truck.

It sounds like a Laurel and Hardy movie, doesn't it?

THE KIND LADY that allowed me to disrupt her lunch hour started laughing as soon as I got into the car. It turns out that she had 12 outstanding tickets against her car, and her car had been towed six times in the last year. We laughed all the way to the city garage.

Remember that it wasn't my car, and I had no idea why this was happening to me. I called Marty and asked her how many outstanding traffic tickets she had against her car.

To my surprise she said there were none. I cautiously asked her about her husband's driving record. She said that she would investigate the matter.

In the meantime, the driver of the tow truck said I would have to pay $60 towing charge and all of the six outstanding violations written against the car. The kind stranger took me back to the scene of the crime to meet my friend, who was patiently waiting for me. Well, first things first — we proceeded to have a nice lunch and then on to city hall to do some investigating.

Upon arrival I met Barry, who came all of the way from Warren to see to the root of the matter. The city had towed the wrong car.

I was glad, and Barry was mad. We were escorted to the impounded automobile and went on our merry way.

MARGE Mogelnicki has had a few exciting turns lately. She read about a free motorcycle course and jumped at the chance to meet her fears.

You see, John, her husband, is a motorcyclist, and she was concerned when their 7-year-old daughter, RoseAnn, and 4-year-old son, John, were asked to go along for a ride. It was about time the Mogelnicki family started riding together.

The course lays down the fundamentals of riding, the difficulties of riding in traffic safely and how to change the oil and spark plugs.

Coordinator of classes in the Detroit area is Vince Consiglio. A grant from the state pays for the classes. Roger Cromwell is the person responsible for helping people to learn the right way to ride.

All the motorcycles were donated by General Cycle, Jonimo Cycle, Honda City and Nicholsons Cycle Shop. Sue and Mac Meyer are the trained instructors.

When Marge discovered that she would receive free lessons, a free textbook, a variety of films and lots of practice of skills on the bike, she realized how lucky she was that she didn't have to resort to a hit-and-miss training session.

Last Wednesday was graduation day, and she passed the comprehensive testing for certification, both on the bike and written.

A new set of classes will start soon so call 838-1566 for further information.

Woman's Club scholars

The Woman's Club of Plymouth recently presented scholarships to two high school seniors. Margaret Kidston (left) and Carolyn Loesch (right) congratulate Bernie Krochmal and Sharen Bill. Miss Krochmal is the daughter of Martha and Cyril Krochmal of Canton Township. She graduated from Plymouth Salem high and plans to attend University of Michigan-Dearborn where she will major in computer science. Sharen Bill graduated from Plymouth Canton high in January. She is the daughter of Earl Bill of Canton. She attends Eastern Michigan University, majoring in psychology. She works as a dietary aide at St. Jude's Convalescent Center in Livonia. She was an engineer and news reporter for radio station WSDP. Both scholarship winners were members of PCEP Marching Band. Winners were chosen for Leadership qualities, academic performance, a written paper describing their ideals, and financial need.

Backyard pool time

Backyard pool season is here and the Livonia Family Y again is organizing swim and water safety classes in private pools in Canton and Plymouth. The Y is looking for people who would like to donate an hour or more a day of pooltime for swimming lessons for neighborhood children. Pool owners' children receive free instruction. There will be four sessions of eight lessons, beginning June 22, July 6, July 20 and Aug. 3. Fee for each session is $17. Persons who would like to donate pool time or register a child in the program may call 261-2161. Jennifer Barne (left) and Renee Dory learn how to use a float in the pool with instructor Lynn Roberts, while Maureen James, with arm in cast, looks on. The pool belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Charles James, who live on Baywood in Plymouth Township.

Librarians seek statewide logo

Librarians from all the libraries in the state of Michigan are seeking a symbol for their services. This logo would appear in public, school, academic and special libraries to identify their location and services.

The Michigan Library Association and local librarians of Dunning-Hough Public Library, Canton Public Library and the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have announced a library-logo design contest. The librarians have decided that everyone else has a logo or symbol. They want one, too.

Deadline for entries is July 15.

Three prizes will be awarded: $50 for first, $30 for second and $20 for third.

The rules for the logo contest are:

- The design should capture the spirit of libraries; it should be appropriate to libraries of all types and not limited to any one type.
- The design should include a figure or motif which would become identifiable with Michigan libraries of all types.
- The design should be clean and clear.
- Entries must be clean and copyright free.
- Contest is open to all amateur and professional artists, patrons, librarians; no age restriction; no limit on the number of individual entries.
- Participants must be residents of Michigan or out-of-state students registered at a Michigan school.
- Entries must be submitted in black ink on 8½-x-11-inch white paper.
- Entries should have name, address and telephone number of artist on the back, lower-left corner.
- All entries become the property of the MLA and cannot be returned, and may be used by that organization without reimbursement to the entrant.
- All entries must be postmarked no later than July 15.
- Entries should be sent to:

Riverview, Mich. 48192

Local entrants may call Marian West, 453-7875 or 453-3100, for information.

"Charlie and the Chocolate Factory." He devised a system of using amateur therapists, in a program that has been adopted by 30 stroke centers in Great Britain.

Irene Hughes is a psychic and astrologer invited to appear at the National Homicide Convention in 1979 because of work with police in solving crimes, particularly murders.

She has been a subject of the TV program "That's Incredible" and writes columns for many newspapers. She has appeared on TV and radio.

Radio was also the medium used by Shirley Eder to begin communication with the world, appearing on WINS in New York while she was still in school. Later, she interviewed celebrities on WOR in New York and eventually went onto write a gossip column for several hundred American newspapers. She also appears frequently on TV.

clubs in action

● COLONY SWIM CLUB

Colony Swim Club, a non-profit private club, has openings for family memberships. Prospective members may attend the open houses planned at the club on Beck south of Joy. Women's open house will be noon to 2 p.m. and 3-5 p.m. June 10; family open house will be 2-4 p.m. June 14. Persons wishing more information may call 459-4333, or 455-9799.

● PRENATAL EXERCISE CLASSES

A program of three separate courses is being scheduled by the Childbirth and Family Resource Center. Prenatal exercise class based on yoga is suggested for early pregnancy. Childbirth preparation class for the last trimester of pregnancy includes nutrition, options in childbirth, the birth process, relaxation and breathing techniques (Lamaze), bonding, breastfeeding, Cesarean delivery, the needs of the new family. A new mother support group is offered for mothers and thier infants (to 1 year old). For more information on schedules and fees, call 459-2360, afternoons.

● PLYMOUTH NEWCOMERS GOLF LEAGUE

Persons interested in playing in the Plymouth Newcomers Golf League may call 459-8017 or 459-9421 for information. Women do not have to be members of the club or newcomers to the community to play.

● LAMAZE CLASSES

Plymouth Childbirth Association offers classes in the Lamaze method of childbirth. The seven-week course prepares the couple physically and emotionally for a shared birth experience. Newborn care and Cesarean Childbith preparation classes also are offered. For more information or to register call 459-7477. The PCEA also does film showings for schools and interested groups.

● TOPS MEETING

TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) meets each Thursday evening in Miller Elementary School on Hanford Road, three blocks east of Sheldon Road in Canton Township. Weigh-in is at 7 p.m. and meeting begins at 7:30. Everyone welcome. For information call Flo Tod, 455-9011 or Chris Lapinski, 455-8224.

● PLYMOUTH-CANTON PWP

The Plymouth-Canton chapter of Parents Without Partners will meet at 8:30 p.m. Friday, June 12 in the AUW Hall on Eckles Road, one block north of Plymouth Road, Livonia.

Following the general meeting there will be a speaker, music and dancing. For information call 981-4466. The meeting is open to all single parents.

● DAR ANNUAL MEETING

The Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution will meet at noon, Monday, June 15 for the annual potluck luncheon at the home of Mrs. Alvin Huff, Northville. Hostesses are Mrs. D.H. Baumhart, Mrs. K. Babbitt and Mrs. Thomas Stinson. The program, "National Resolutions of the 90th Continental Congress," will be presented by delegates Mrs. Bruce Richard, newly elected regent of the chapter, and Mrs. Robert Willoughby, vice regent.

Anyone desiring information about the DAR may contact Mrs. Gerald

How to submit news items to newspaper

News of clubs, service organizations, engagements, weddings and wedding anniversaries are printed without cost in the Suburban Life Section of the Plymouth Observer and Canton Observer newspapers.

News items may be dropped off or mailed to the office at 461 S. Main St., Plymouth 48170. Special forms are available for club news, engagements, weddings and 50th wedding anniversary announcements.

Black and white pictures are preferred as they reproduce more clearly than color photos. A self-addressed, stamped envelope assures return of the pictures, or, they can be picked up at the office a week after they have been published. Mail should be addressed to the attention of Elinor Graham, Suburban Life editor.

Activities of more major scope than regular club meetings may warrant more extensive coverage and a photograph. Call the newspaper, 459-2700, well in advance of the event to permit scheduling a photograph.

Breaking news stories (and we appreciate telephone calls on these these) like fires, accidents, etc., receive on-the-spot coverage.

Other events, planned for in advance, should be announced a week or so before the actual date.

They will be married June 20 in Orchard United Methodist Church, Farmington Hills.

Luring business update on tap

The Greater Detroit/Southeast Michigan Business Attraction and Expansion program is three months into a plan to raise $1.4 million for a three-year effort to attract new businesses to the area.

How much have they got so far?

We'll have to wait for the annual Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce luncheon to find out. A progress report is the featured item of a June 17 noon meeting in the Dearborn Hyatt Regency.

Recycle waste oil, group says

A countywide waste oil recycling meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. June 23 in the Wayne County Extension and Education Center, 5454 Venoy, Wayne.

The meeting is part of a statewide effort to drill do-it-yourselfers in the habit of bringing used engine oil to local businesses for recycling rather than dumping the stuff. For additional information, call the extension service at 721-6550 or 563-2400.

ORDINANCE NO. 81-6

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 8.1 OF CHAPTER 98 OF TITLE VIII, BUILDING REGULATIONS, OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH.

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 8.1 of Chapter 98 of Title VIII, General Building Regulations, is hereby amended to read as follows:

8.1 Adoption of Codes by Reference. Pursuant to the provisions of Section 8 of Act 230 of Public Acts of 1972, as amended, the Basic Building Code, 1981 Edition, and any accumulative supplements thereto, as promulgated and published by the Building Officials Conference of America, Inc. and the Housing Law of Michigan, are hereby adopted by references by the City of Plymouth as herein modified for the purpose of regulating the erection, construction, enlargement, equipment, alteration, repair, moving, removal, demolition, conversion, use, height, area and maintenance of all buildings and structures in the City of Plymouth.

Section 2. This ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 12th day of June, 1981.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan this 1st day of June, 1981.

Redford man a deacon

"It's been a great experience for me," announced Verald Jack Garden about the program of study that will result on June 13 in his ordination as a permanent deacon for the Archdiocese of Detroit.

The ordination rite will be celebrated at Blessed Sacrament Cathedral, Detroit, at 11 a.m.

"I am excited about what awaits me in this new ministry," added Garden, who is assistant superintendent of the Redford Union school district. 'It's a nice thing to happen at this time. I am at the point where my family is grown, and I'm thinking of winding down my career in the Redford schools where I have been working for 25 years.

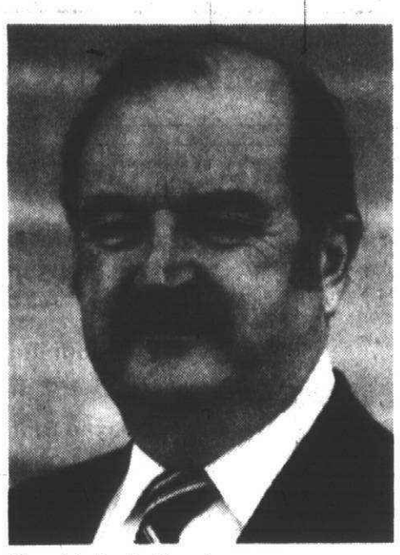

"It is rejuvenating to have an entirely new career ahead."

Family men began to become deacons when the office was restored after Vatican II, pointed out Garden, who is soon to start his duties in St. Agatha Parish of which he is a member.

Being a deacon is a volunteer, unpaid job. Garden will assist the priest, the Rev. William Murphy, in whatever way he can.

"As a deacon I will assist at mass and have the authority to baptize, marry and administer at funerals. But only the priest can say mass.

"Hopefully I will help out in a counseling way, speaking with young people about to get married or with parents before the baptism of their child. I hope to work in adult education."

Verald Jack Garden
soon to be deacon

HE ANTICIPATES that his training in education will help him deal with people, and his organizational experience will aid him in administrative matters.

Garden began a serious effort to become a deacon in September 1977 following the urging of the Rev. Joe Romano, his pastor. Up to that time, Garden had been involved in the parish council and was chairman of the education commission.

"He felt I could be helpful to the church in another way," observed Garden. "He suggested I investigate the permanent diaconate program. I decided to do it and applied to Sacred Heart in Detroit. I have been in the formation program ever since."

His course of study included such subjects as theology, church history and doctrine, Christianity, spirituality, psychology and sociology. In addition to academics, he participated in retreats, conferences and formation days.

He has already signed a contract to work at St. Agatha with Rev. Murphy for three years.

A REDFORD resident for 23 years, Garden is married and he and his wife, Dolores, hve eight children. Only one of them, Rebecca, is living at home and she will graduate from Redford Union High School Saturday.

New charismatic church opens

By Margaret Miller
staff writer

Garden City's newest church is off to a good start, with 53 worshippers on hand for the first Thursday evening service last week and 56 gathered last Sunday.

And if faith and enthusiasm and family solidarity have anything to do with it, the Garden City Christian Center should keep going strong.

Don Mullett, who grew up in Garden City and now makes his home in Westland, is pastor of the congregation he describes as "a non-denominational, charismatic, family church that preaches and teaches the uncompromised word of God."

His father and mother, Donald C. and Justine Mullett of Garden City, are right on hand for whatever support the pastor needs in his new endeavor. His sisters, Margie and Michele Mullett of Westland, are taking time out from their teaching jobs to lead the worship music.

And there's at least moral support from two other brothers and two other sisters — John, Joe, Marilyn and Justine.

But the Mulletts said they don't think of their new work, leading worship at the center, located in the Disabled American Veterans Hall, 30942 Ford, as a family enterprise.

"It's Jesus the Lord's enterprise," the elder Donald is quick to say.

STILL, IT WAS the Mulletts and friends who distributed 10,000 flyers, aiming at reaching every home in Garden City, before the first service in the newly rented hall was held a week ago.

And it is the entire family that surrounds the 24-year-old pastor with a faith strongly proclaimed and confident.

"Donald is called and knows Jesus is coming soon," the father said. "We want to win souls for him."

Sister Margie said that "there's a need — there are too many dead churches here," and the new pastor summed it up with the words "we want to see Garden City walking strong for Christ."

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Pastor Don Mullett (left) will get some help from his family as he works to establish a new church in Garden City. His sisters Michele (left) and Margie are playing the guitars, and behind them are his parents, Donald and Justine Mullett.

The leader of the new church is a graduate of Rhema Bible Training Center at Broken Arrow, Okla., and was ordained on May 24 by the Rev. Earl Moore, who with his wife, Bobbi, heads Agape Christian Center in Plymouth.

At the time of the ordination the Agape congregation — which counts the Mulletts in its membership — took an offering to cover the first month's rent on the DAV hall.

The new church, the family said, can be considered "in partnership" with Agape.

THE FAMILY'S roots, however, are in the Catholic church, and Justine Mullett described the major change by saying "when Jesus calls you, you move."

Pastor Don said the family's new worship began in the summer of 1973 when his mother and sisters went to charismatic renewal prayer meetings at St. Raphael, the Catholic church they attended.

"They came home baptized in the Holy Spirit," he said. "After that I started seeing my mother bubbling with joy all the time, and up to then that just wasn't what we did."

His own commitment came three years later, he said. At the time he was attending some services at The Lord's House in Livonia. He decided he wanted training to preach, and he chose the school because of a series of radio broadcasts.

"I was driving every morning to a class at Wayne State University," he remembered, "and I heard Kenneth Hagin preach every day.

"He inspired me so much I decided I want to go the the school his ministries sponsor."

MULLETT TOOK a leave of absence from his job at Hydramatic to attend the Bible center from September 1979 to May 1980.

After his return he went back to the Hydramatic job and continued his studies in psychology at University of Michigan-Dearborn. He also went with his family to the Agape center.

With the recent ordination, he felt he was ready to begin a new ministry.

The symbol of the Garden City Christian Center is a picture of a well. It was worked out by the family just before the printed flyers went out.

"My father suggested it," Pastor Don said. "It is based on a text from II Samuel that speaks of weary people coming to the well and being refreshed. People do get weary, and the word of God is refreshing."

The pastor said the DAV hall, which seats 200, has been rented for three months, "and after that we hope to get our own building."

The hall is on the north side of Ford Road, just east of Merriman. Services are held at 7:30 p.m. on Thursdays and at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sundays.

church bulletin

● ST. PAUL PRESBYTERIAN

"Fifteen Years Up in Smoke" will be the theme of the message delivered on Sunday by Dr. William Whitledge, pastor of St. Paul Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia. His remarks will be part of a celebration in honor of paying off the mortgage on the sanctuary.

Fifteen years ago the church owed almost $450,000 to banks, individuals of the congregation, the Presbytery, the national church and an insurance company. Now that it is paid, the church plans to use its funds to expand its involvement in its world-wide mission.

St. Paul's 10 a.m. service will be highlighted by the burning of the old mortgage and the honoring of 140 members who have been members for 25 years or more. There will be special music by the chancel choir.

After the service there will be a picnic on the church grounds. Participants should bring their own lunch. Coffee and tea will be provided. The Montreat Musicians will sponsor an ice cream social and provide entertainment. Proceeds from this event willfinance their trip to Montreat later this month.

● ST. MICHAEL CATHOLIC

The Most Rev. Edmund C. Szoka, Detroit's newly installed archbishop, will preside over an anniversary mass at 3:30 p.m. Sunday of the golden jubilee of St, Michael Catholic Church, Plymouth and Hubbard, Livonia. A dinner dance at Roma Hall in Livonia will follow.

Fifty years ago on July 8, 1931, Bishop Michael Gallagher of the Detroit Archdiocese appointed the Rev. John Contway to start at parish in a section of Livonia called Rosedale Gardens. He started a school and the basement of the church, used for 18 years. A second temporary church was built in 1949, a convent in 1950 and a parish rectory in 1951.

After Contway died in 1956, the Rev. Thomas McMahon became pastor. The cornerstone for the present St. Michael was laid in 1961, and the building dedicated in 1962. The current pastor the Rev. Andrew Forish took up his duties in 1967. The parish now numbers 2,000 families.

The current church seats 1,100, and St. Michael School has 810 students in grades one through eight. Its principal is Sister Mary Duane.

● WARD PRESBYTERIAN

Youth Sunday is June 14 in Ward Presbyterian Church, Six Mile and Farmington, Livonia. Youth and all graduates will be honored at the 11:30 a.m. service. Dr. Bartlett Hess, pastor, will speak on "A Young Person's Dreams" at the 8:30. 10 and 11:30 a.m. services.

The 50-member touring Teen Choir will sing at the three services under the direction of Dr. Jerry Smith. It will leave on a 10-day tour of the southeast on June 19 to give concerts in churches.

Young people of the church will lead scripture reading and prayer during the services.

The Men's Glee Club of Wayne State University will perform at 7 p.m. Sunday at the church. Under the direction of Harry Langsford, the club will present compositions from the 16th century to the present day.

The club has appeared with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in concerts in New York and Washington. The concert is open to the public. A free will offering will be received. Nursery care will be provided for pre-school children.

● PLYMOUTH CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

"In Remembrance," a film which recreates the men and events surrounding the Last Supper, will be presented at 6 p.m. Sunday at Plymouth Church of the Nazarene, 41550 E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. For more information call the church at 453-1525.

● PLYMOUTH FIRST BAPTIST

A baccalaureate service for all high school and college graduates will be held on Sunday in First Baptist Church, 45000 N. Territorial, Plymouth. In addition to the service there will be a graduation breakfast at 8 a.m in the Clock Restaurant on Main Street in Plymouth with the graduates guests of the church education board.

● GARDEN CITY PRESBYTERIAN

An old-fashioned strawberry festival will be held from 5-9 p.m. Friday, June 19 in Garden City Presbyterian Church, 1841 Middlebelt. A plate of cake, berries, ice cream and a beverage will cost $1.75. Baked goods will be sold. The event is sponsored by the women of the church with proceeds to go for mission as well as local projects.

Dave King starring as 'Elvis, the King'

By Marie McGee
staff writer

The Kings will be in full swing Monday night at Center Stage in Canton Township.

One will be Steve King and the Dittilies in a rare Monday night appearance at their home stomping grounds.

But they'll just be backing up another King — no relation — Dave King in a tribute to the King of Rock and Roll, Elvis Presley.

Dave King (Falzetti) in his impersonation of Elvis

It's a special show at the popular Ford Road entertainment spot to blend the talents of both groups plus those of another musical group, Rainbo, who have been appearing with King in his last few appearances, including one at the Dearborn Hyatt-Regency.

BUT MOSTLY IT'S Dave King in a sequin-dazzling, gyrating impersonation of the late Elvis that he has been doing since 1974.

It all was happenstance, recalls King whose real name is Falzetti and who grew up in Livonia, graduating from Franklin High School. Even then he was into entertainment playing guitar with a couple of bands called the Continentals and later Celebration.

College followed graduation and soon Falzetti had a B.A. degree from Eastern Michigan University and a job teaching art appreciation and jewelry making in the Plymouth-Canton schools.

The happenstance occurred when he decided to do an impersonation of Elvis for a faculty talent show in 1974.

"ALL I DID was pop up the collar of a blue leisure suit, puff out my hair and do a couple of numbers on the guitar," Falzetti said. "The kids went nuts."

That was the start of an act that Falzetti has steadily improved to the point that it now has evolved from a medley of hits by Dave King to 45- or 55-minute Las Vegas-style extravaganza.

The popped-up collar has been replaced by one of four glittering outfits designed especially for him by his sister, who lives in Plymouth and does custom car interiors (including one of Frank Sinatra's limousines). Each suit weighs 20 pounds and is accented with matching scarves and scads of jewelry that he makes for himself.

At most shows, he wears a dozen or so scarves, pulling them off and tossing them into the audience in true Elvis style. The women scream and send kisses his way, he says.

NOWADAYS, HE lives in Ann Arbor with his British-born wife, Jill, who is a merchandise manager at J.C.Penney. He is still teaching at Canton High School, but admittedly soft-pedals his weekend "obsession" because of the students' reaction to his performances.

He still finds time to putter in water colors to satisfy that artistic side of him. He also does all the silk-screening on the scarves bearing his name that he gives out to his screaming fans.

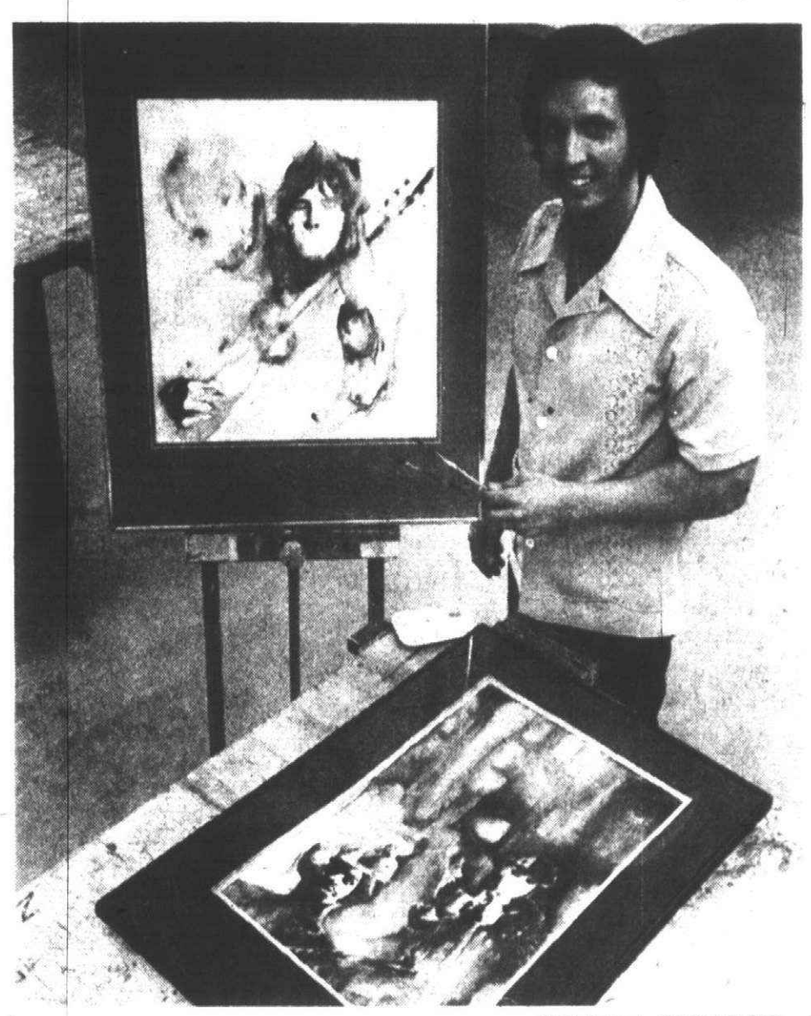

"I don't actually look like Elvis, physically," Falzetti concedes. "I'm lighter weight. But you learn to create a mood with your music, then the movements and expressions just come and all of sudden you have created the man."

His hairdresser, Ray Hendricks, — who is present at all shows — does some special magic with a black rinse and some styling techniques to add to the illusion.

Falzetti said he's been wearing his hair in the same style since high school when Rickey Nelson and Elvis were in their heyday.

"They were our models when we were growing up and you know what? I didn't even like Elvis at the time."

Tickets for the tribute are $6 and are available at Hudson's and all CTC outlets.

Staff photos by GARY CASKEY

Dave King is the entertainer, but Dave Falzetti is the artist who still manages to dabble in water colors and do the silk screening for the dozens of scarves he tosses out to his screaming fans. He also makes all his own jewelry for the four glittering outfits made for him by his sister.

'I don't actually look like Elvis, physically," Falzetti concedes. "I'm lighter weight. But you learn to create a mood with your music, then the movements and expressions just come and all of sudden you have created the man.'

backgammon

Michael Kiolan
of the American Backgammon Club

● LOOKING AHEAD

'Whenever I have a difficult backgammon move, I now stop and think before making my play. What would a pro do in this spot? I'm not really sure if I always make the best play, but at least I'm beginning to rationalize my moves.

"The other day I was playing a game (acutally more like 20) when this position popped up. I'm white and I roll 6-1. I moved one man from the 8 to the 1 point. Also, I was thinking about doubling before that roll. What do you think?

Larry S., Canton

I think you're beginning to read my mind, but there are so many subtleties to backgammon that you need to beware of. Moving a checker off the 8 point with the six is absolutely the best play. Moving to the 1 point is not. The reason you didn't split the 12 point is that you knew black soon would be leaving you a direct shot.

Suppose black, after you play, rolls the 2-6, 3-6, 4-6 or 5-6 and you now have your direct shot. You roll the number you need to hit, but you don't roll a 4 to cover your blot.

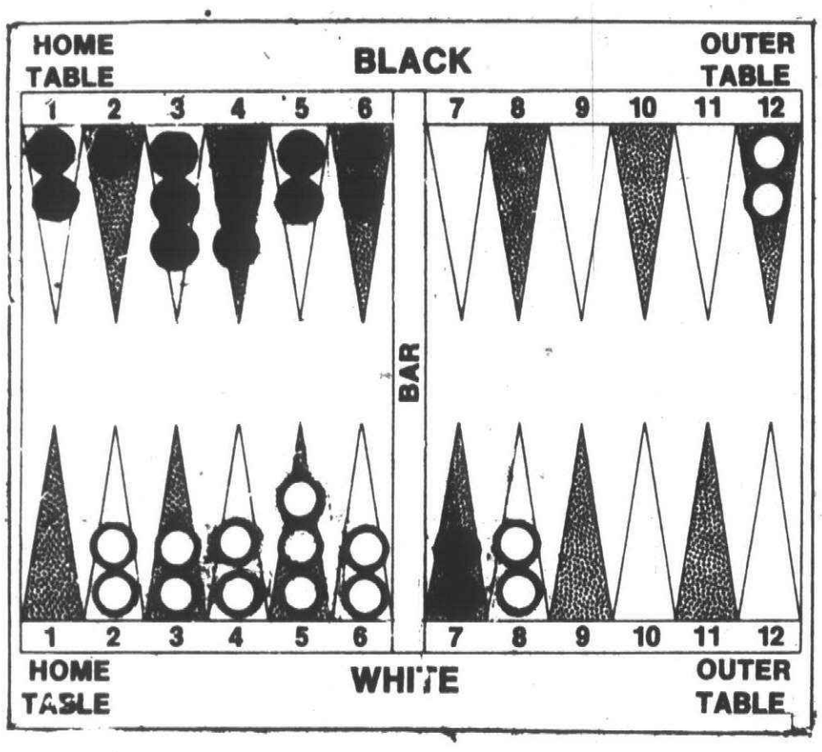

Your decision becomes tougher. You'd like to hit, but can you risk leaving a shot? If you hit him and he hits you back, you could stay on the bar. He may roll a 1 or 2, cover and close you out, or roll a 6 and maybe pick up a few more checkers to gammon you.

You can avoid (with the 1) this possibility by moving from the 5 to the 4 point. You would have two builders to work with the 1 point later. Now when black opens up, white could hit without the worry of leaving a blot.

You were correct in not doubling yet. However, if black missed the hit, I would certainly send the cube on the next roll. Black should be either tearing down his board or running and leaving the overdue shot.

Of course, you could miss the shot and black could redouble. But that's what makes the game exciting!

For more information, contract the American Backgammon Club at 459-5776, or write to Box 599, Plymouth 48170.

Tom Panzenhagen

"Stage Door" (1937), 12:30 Friday night on Ch. 50. Originally 92 minutes.

This film is based on the Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman play about young actresses breaking into show business and stars several young actresses who were breaking into show business — Katharine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers, Lucille Ball, Eve Arden, Ann Miller and Andrea Leeds among them. You'll guess in advance every twist of the plot, but still feel beguiled by all that young talent. Rating: $3.

"The Ghost and Mrs. Muir" (1947), 4 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 104 minutes.

You'll never see Gene Tierney more beautiful, nor more vulnerable, than in this Joseph L. Mankiewicz picture. Tierney was something of the Farrah Fawcett of her day — she made all the magazine covers but rarely a good film. Yet she's delightful in this light comedy in which Rex Harrison plays the ghost of a sea captain who has the run of Tierney's house. A young Natalie Wood also stars, and there's an ending that could brings tears to the crustiest of sailors. Rating: $3.10.

"The Night of the Iguana" (1964), 1:10 Monday night on Ch. 7. Originally 125 minutes.

Richard Burton, who has made more bad films than anyone, was near the summit of his acting career. Within three years he would do "Becket," "The Spy Who Came in from the Cold" and "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" In "Iguana," he turns in a powerful performance as an alcoholic, defrocked priest alternately enchanted with co-stars Sue Lyon and Ava Gardner, yet mysteriously drawn to a rightous maiden played by Deborah Kerr.

Lyon, 18, and two years after her film debut as "Lolita," turns in an even more blatantly sexual performance as an under/over-sexed (she wishes she were over-sexed) rich girl on holiday in the tropics. Gardner and Kerr are mature versions of the lustful Sue and the maidenly Sue, respectively. John Huston directs in his usual, studied style, allowing the action and the actors to dominate the picture. Rating: $3.70.

'Jazz at the Institute' stars Stanley Cowell

Pianist Stanley Cowell will be the guest artist for the "Jazz at the Institute" cabaret concerts in performances at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Thursday in the Crystal Gallery of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Tickets at $6 for each one-hour set may be bought in advance through the art institute ticket office (832-2730), and at the door.

Wine, beer, soft drinks and snacks will be available during the concerts.

In the 1960s, Cowell was a member of the Detroit Contemporary Four and later help found the Piano Choir in New York. Since 1975, he has been a member of the Heath Brothers quintet.

These concerts are part of a 15-week "Jazz at the Institute" series, which features both well-known area artists and former Detroiters on the national jazz scene.

THE CRYSTAL Gallery, described as "acoustically perfect," requires no amplification of concerts held there, Crystal Gallery is also the site of the museum's "Brunch with Bach" and "Sunday Afternoon" programs.

The George Benson Quartet will give three evenings of concerts in the "Jazz at the Institute" series June 18-20. Two concerts will be given at 7 and 9:30 each evening.

Tickets are $6 in advance and at the door on an availability basis.

Tenor saxophonist Benson recorded extensively with numerous Motown artists in the 1960s. Since then, he has led one of the most popular groups in the Detroit area.

For information about other "Jazz at the Institute" attractions, call the art institute ticket office.

Area artists participating in Dearborn fine arts fair

A number of area residents are participating in Dearborn's Art-in-the-Park Fine Arts Fair from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. June 13-14 at the Commandants Quarters, corner of Michigan and Monroe.

Artists exhibiting and demonstrating include Irving Tasco of Livonia, caricature artist; Mary Jane Prichard of Canton, oil, mixed media and sculpture; Lena Massara of Farmington Hills, oil and pastel; Saundra L. Weed of Westland, watercolor, oil, acrylics; Dawnice Kerchaert of Livonia, china painting; and Lura Morin of Plymouth, patchwork, fabric and needle art.

The art fair is sponsored by the Dearborn Community Arts Council and the Museum Guild of Dearborn.

Features of the event will be the caricature artist, a pastel portrait artist, and a photographer who captures the Victorian flair in his modern-day tintypes.

Refreshment will be available at a concession stand.

Greeks schedule Ya'soo Festival

The eighth annual Ya'ssoo Festival presented by parishioners at St. George Greek Orthodox Church will be held from 5 p.m. to midnight June 19; 11 a.m. to midnight June 20; and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. June 21 at the church grounds, one-half mile north of Square Lake Road on Woodward Avenue.

Greek line dancing to bouzouki music, continuous live band performances by Dino and the Continentals, and ouzo and Greek delicacies are featured.

The church has been issued a gaming license for this year's festival. Participants will be able to try their luck on the Big Six and other games, while they sip Greek wine, munch on baklava and watch traditional Greek dancers.

The many boutiques, Greek pastry shops, specialty items and Greek-style coney island are other attractions.

"Ya'ssoo" is the Greeks' toast "to life" and that is the spirit of this festive occassion.

Canton baseball tourney run ends

Gallagher wins semfinal, 4-3

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Plymouth Canton's marvelous baseball season came to a crushing halt on Tuesday.

Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher got a three-run homer by Tom Ostrowski and a three-hit pitching performance from lefty Dan Davies to beat the Chiefs 4-3 in the Class A semifinals at Grosse Pointe North.

Gallagher, sporting a 29-8 record, will meet Flint Carman at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday for the state championship at Central Michigan University.

The Chiefs, making their second appearance in the semifinals, bowed out at 28-3.

Davies used a sharp-breaking curve ball to stymie the Canton bats. He held the Chiefs hitless until the sixth when Canton scored three runs to tie up the game.

Senior Keith Stone led off the bottom of the sixth inning with a bunt single, and teammate Fred Rumberger walked.

Pitcher Dan Smith, who matched Davies nearly pitch for pitch, then singled to right field to load the bases.

Scott Bricker grounded out, but Stone scored. And with one out, Steve Shumacher singled home two runs, sending the Chiefs' large following into a frenzy.

The next batter, Jeff Stemberger, walked. Billy Hanis then moved the runners over with a sacrifice bunt.

Davies, however, got out of trouble as Shawn Hopper grounded out.

Gallagher took a 3-0 lead in the third inning when Ostrowski drilled a Smith fastball over the short fence in right field.

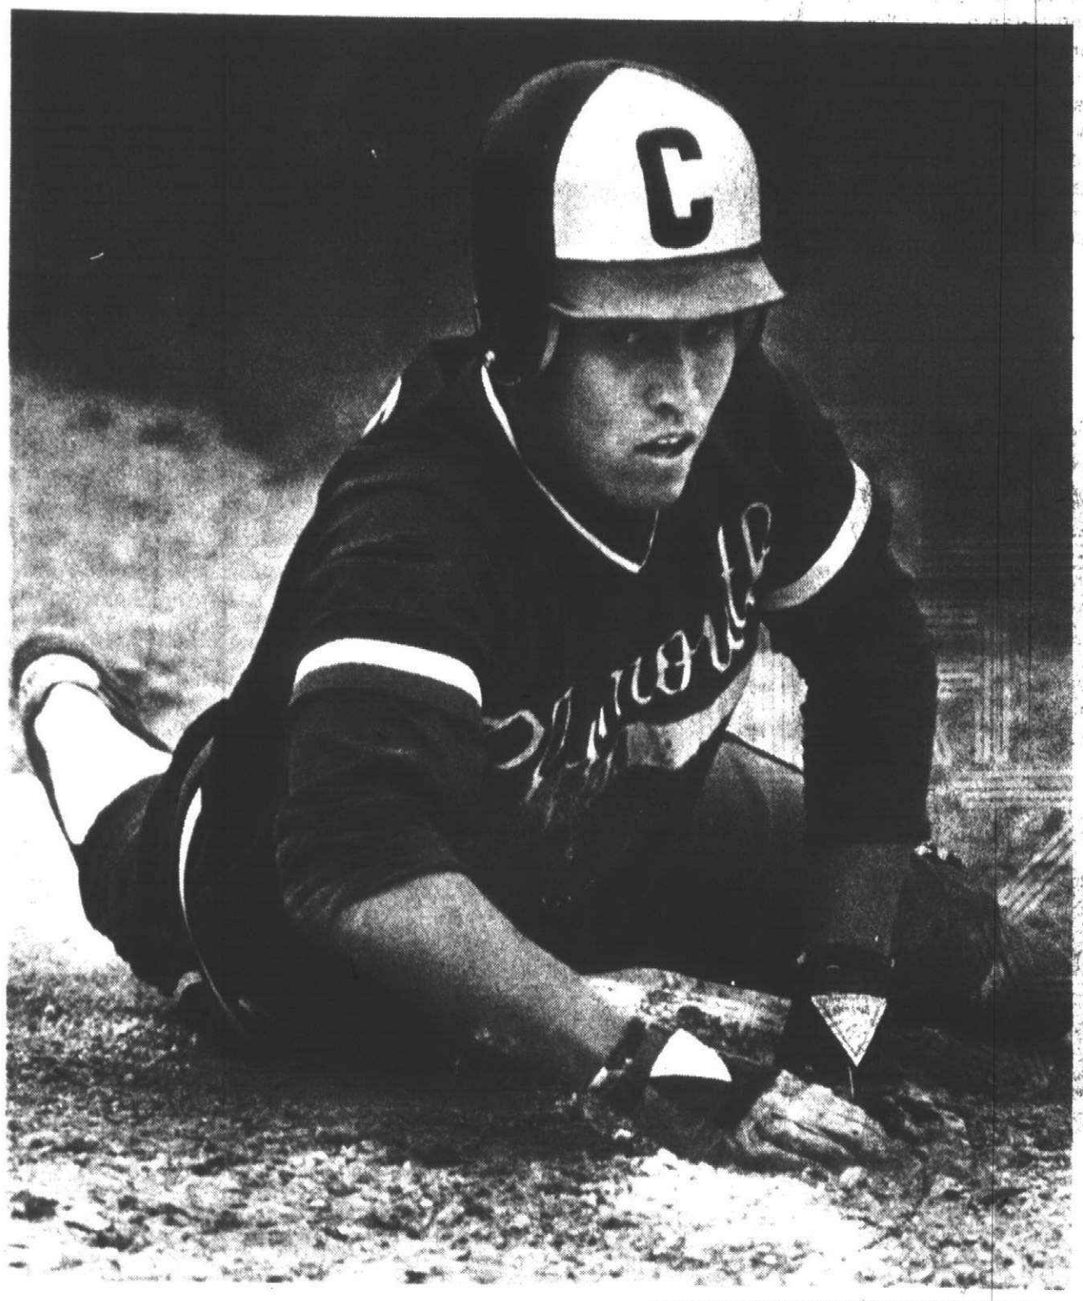

THE LANCERS scored the game-winner under an unusual set of circumstances in the bottom of the sixth.

Mike Stevenson walked to open the inning and went to second on Brian Wolshalger's bunt. On the play, Smith fired to Bricker at first, who was covering from second.

He and Wolshalger, however, collided on the play. The ball was jarred loose as Wolshalger used a forearm, flattening Bricker. Meanwhile, Stevenson waltzed all the way to third.

Canton coach Fred Crissey contested the call, claiming Wolshalger had been guilty of interference.

Keith Stone (left photo) slides into first base with a bunt single to collect Canton's first hit in the sixth inning. The senior standout started a three-run rally. The game ends in bitter disappointment (right photo) as Dan Smith shows the agony of defeat. He was waiting on-deck when the final out was made.

Trackmen from area high schools again made their marks this season with individual accomplishment and, by extension, team success.

Plymouth Salem had its best season ever for coach Gary Balconi. The Rocks placed first at the prestigious Observerland Relays. Bob Pittaway won a state Class A championship in discus.

Livonia Churchill garnered the Western Six League championship for the 10th year in succession. Detroit Catholic Central ruled the Central Division of the Catholic League.

Westland John Glenn unseated North Farmington as Northwest Suburban League king.

Garden City West proved to be quite competitive in the Tri-River League and Redford Thurston made dramatic improvement.

All teams, in fact, regardless of their won/loss record, could look back on the season with some measure of satisfaction.

Coaches gathered recently to select the all-Observer honorary teams. It was not always an easy task.

Multi-talented athletes were limited to all-area designation in one individual event. That way, more could be honored.

FIRST TEAM

Brendan McCarthy, Redford Bishop Borgess, pole vault. A senior, McCarthy placed third in the state Class A meet with an effort of 13-11.

McCarthy finished first during the season in the Catholic League Meet, in the Operation Friendship Meet (Catholic League vs. Detroit Public School League), the Elks Relays and the Stevenson Invitational.

He was second in the Observerland Relays.

McCarthy vaulted 13-feet or better in all of those meets.

Scott Fuller, Plymouth Salem, high jump. Fuller won this event in the Suburban Eight League Meet with a leap of 6-1.

The junior cleared six feet in competition eight times during the season. Fuller's best jump was 6-2.

Pat Reid, Detroit Catholic Central, shot put. Only a junior, Reid was individual shot-put champ in the Observerland Relays.

Never beaten in a dual meet, Reid qualified for the state Class A meet and bested the field in the Catholic League Meet and in the Operation Friendship Meet.

A captain for CC this season, he twice put the shot 54 feet or better and was consistently in the 52-53-foot range. His best toss was 54-1.

Bob Pittaway, Plymouth Salem, discus. A tri-captain for the Rocks, Pittaway was the only area trackman to win a state championship this year. His best throw in the state Class A meet was 173-9.

The senior broke his own discus record four times throughout the season. He holds the discus record in such highly regarded meets as the Observerland Relays, Stevenson Invitational and Tiger (Belleville) Relays.

Pittaway has won his specialty in the Suburban Eight League Meet the last two years.

He also knows his way around the track. Pittaway ran a leg on all three Salem relays — the 440, 880 and mile — in the state meet.

He finished very close in voting by coaches for Observerland Trackman of the Year.

Jeff Olweean, Livonia Churchill, 120-yard hurdles. Co-captain and Most Valuable Player for the Chargers this season, Olweean was regional champ in the 120-yard hurdles. He tied the school record with a time of 14.5.

Additionally, the senior won Western Six League titles in the high hurdles, long jump and high jump.

Olweean ran a leg on Churchill's victorious high-hurdle relay team in the Hidenfelter Relays and on the shuttle-hurdle relay team at Observerland.

A versatile performer, Olweean totalled 185 points this spring.

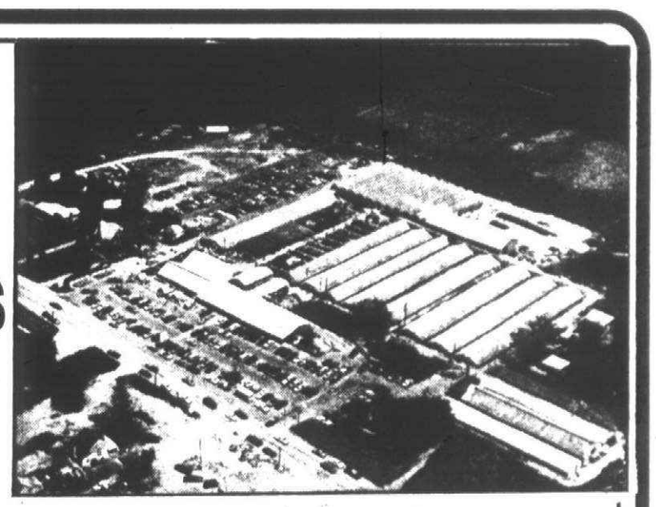

Norm Recla, Livonia Churchill, 330-yard hurdles. Also co-captain, Recla was undefeated during the season in both the 330-yard hurdles and the 100-yard dash in dual competition.

His best time in the hurdles was 38.9.

The senior won Western Six League titles in the 330 hurdles and the 100 dash. He also ran the 120-yard hurdles and on the Chargers' mile and 880 relay teams and occasionally sprinted the 220.

Rocks dominate all-Observer team

Recla's talents gave Churchill one of the best hurdle-relay teams in the state.

Mike Nugent, Detroit Catholic Central, two-mile run. A senior, Nugent was two-mile champion in the West Bloomfield Regional and in the Catholic League Meet.

Nugent placed second in at the Oxford Invitational and third in the state Class A meet (9:26).

He also ran well in the mile run, placing first in the open mile at Observerland and first at Oxford.

Nugent, a co-captain, was Most Vaulable Trackman for the Shamrocks. He also won CC's Whelan Award, which symbolizes athletic accomplishment, scholarship and gentlemanly qualities.

Santo Campbell, Westland John Glenn, mile run. A junior, Campbell was Northwest Suburban League champion at 1,600 meters and finished second at 3,200 meters during the conference meet.

His best time of the season in the mile was 4:25.9.

Campbell ran a leg on the Rockets' victorious four-mile relay team at both the Wayne Invitational and at the Hidenfelter Relays.

track

Craig Allan, Livonia Bentley, 880-yard run. Allan co-captained the Bulldogs this season and proved to be an excellent middle and long-distance runner.

The senior placed first in the 880 at the Churchill Regional and had a best time in that event of 1:57.4 this year. Allan also placed first in the 880 at the Livonia School District Meet.

Allan has qualified for state meet each of the last two years.

Leigh Langkabel, Plymouth Salem, 440-yard dash. Langkabel, a senior and one of three captains for Salem, turned in a best time of 50.4 in the 440 this spring.

He placed first in every open quarter he ran the last two years except for the Churchill Regional this season, where he placed second.

Two-time Suburban Eight League champion, Langkabel anchored the Rocks' state-qualifying mile-relay team this year with a best split of 50.1.

Aaron Roberts, Detroit Catholic Central, 220-yard dash. Roberts was unbeaten in dual competition this year in both the 220- and the 100-yard dashes.

The senior, also a long jumper, failed to win that event only once in dual competition.

Scott Bublin, Plymouth Salem, 100-yard dash. A junior, Bublin holds the Salem record in the 100 with a time of 10.1.

He bested the field this year in the open 100 at Observerland, finished second in that event at the Belleville Relays and third at the Suburban Eight League Meet.

Bublin also ran the 220 for Salem — qualifying for the state Class A Meet — and ran a leg on the Rocks' state-qualifying 880 and 440 relay teams.

Scott Bublin, Bob Pittaway, Brian Lewandowski and Tom Kelliher, Plymouth Salem, 440-yard relay.

This foursome placed first at the Observerland Relays, third at the Churchill Regional, fourth at the Suburban Eight League Meet and fifth at the Stevenson Invitational.

Their best clocking was 44.2.

Scott Bublin, Brian Lewandowski, Scott Smith and Bob Pittaway, Plymouth Salem, 880-yard relay.

The quartet bested the field at Observerland, the Churchill Regional and the Suburban Eight League Meet and placed fourth at the Stevenson Invitational.

They turned in a best time of 1:32.2.

Brian Lewandowski, Mike McBride, Bob Pittaway and Leigh Langkabel, Plymouth Salem, mile relay.

This team set the pace at Oberverland and at the Sub Eight League Meet, finished third at the Churchill Regional and sixth at the Stevenson Invitational.

Their premier effort was 3:27.0.

Canton ousted in tourney

"What we told the umpire is that he deliberately ran into Bricker," Crissey said. "At no time did he (Bricker) cross the bag. The runner should have been returned to first base."

Gallagher scored the game-winner when Smith, who picked off a runner at third base in the first inning, threw past Rumberger in another attempt as Stevenson crossed home.

"We were aware of his pick-off move," Gallagher coach James Bresciami said. "Only this time the runner blocked the throw."

DAVIES WRAPPED things up in the seventh as let his fielders do the work. Canton went down in order on three straight ground balls to the left side of the infield.

A transfer from L'Anse Cruese, Davies missed seven weeks of the season with an elbow injury. He returned, however, two weeks ago to beat defending state champ Grosse Pointe North 2-0, ending one of the state's longest baseball winning streaks at 37.

"He's basically a ground-ball pitcher," Bresciami said. "His breaking ball is his best weapon. They hit only one fly ball and knew Canton was a fastball hitting team."

"They didn't make the critical error and we did," Crissey said. "The kid handcuffed us for four innings. The first curve had to be a strike to hit.

"Everything else we did worked. We had them on the ropes."

Smith, also a junior, suffered his first loss of the year. He finished with a 13-1 record. The hard-throwing right-hander struck out five, walked five and allowed six hits.

"He did an excellent job with only two days rest," Crissey said. "He pitched with a lot of guts."

Stone, also clutch performer all year long, made two outstanding catches in center field to keep the game close. On both plays he turned his back and made the grab on the run with runners in scoring position.

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Dan Smith, pitching with only two days rest, kept Canton in the game after yielding a three-run homer in the third inning. His only loss of the year came Tuesday in the Class A semifinals against Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher, 4-3.

Brad Emons

Semifinal site another big joke

It was vintage Vern Norris once again.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) continues to fumble the ball. Over the winter it was the state wrestling tournament.

This spring, they're bringing you their new baseball format.

Tuesday's Class A semifinal site, Grosse Pointe North, was a joke. It was an injustice to the high school ballplayers who worked so hard all year long. Especially to two of the final four teams, Plymouth Canton and Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher.

I had been warned ahead of time about the Grosse Pointe North facility. Although the grass infield was neatly manicured, everything else was wrong.

The fence down the left-field line is only 280 feet and not the 300 it claims on the sign. The backstop overhang made it impossible for anyone to catch a pop foul.

Canton catcher Bill Hanis, getting a rare opportunity to catch one, had to wrap his hand around the enclosed screen and still stay in fair territory without crashing into the Gallagher bench.

Center field was 400 feet away. Part of that was a dusty old softball field. Rocks and all. Right field was even more impressive. It was 300 down the line with a snow fence four feet high.

I like Wrigley Field, but this place was ridiculously too cozy. There were no programs, concessions or stands along the third-base line.

GALLAGHER HAD played there eight times and ended Grosse Pointe North's long winning streak in the district final when a pop fly just cleared the left-field fence. It was the difference in a 2-0 game.

Canton coach Fred Crissey was infuriated by the second-class treatment for such an important game. It was an insult to fans, players, reporters and scouts.

The game could have been played at Wayne State, EMU, Wyandotte Memorial Field or even Ford Field — all first-class facilities.

What's happened is that they've sacrificed the finals for the sake of the semifinals.

I also get the feeling that North, which also hosted a regional and district tournament, made a bid for those dates to make it convenient for their highly ranked team. It didn't work out for them. Instead, it worked out for Gallagher.

Norris, executive director of the MHSAA, continues to bumble with the advice of the Representative Council and his subordinates. One of his assistants, Lonnie Lowery, ran the wrestling tournament and drew heavy criticism from most coaches. I just hope this wasn't his production.

THE UNFORTUNATE circumstances shouldn't detract from Canton's great season. The Chiefs never quit. They battled all year long.

I was impressed with the attitude of the Chiefs. Everyone accepted their roles. Crissey often platooned his players, but nobody complained. The players on the bench showed a lot of enthusiasm all year.

Crissey said his team wanted to play baseball the best they could. Nobody cut out to Florida during the middle of the season, nobody missed a game or practice because of senior skip day, the senior trip or senior prom.

Their priorities rested solely with the team.

Contrast that to what happend at Redford Thurston in the district tournament two weeks ago.

Thurston, which tied for the Northwest Suburban League title two days prior to the district, ended the season on a sour note.

The team's top two pitchers failed to show against Livonia Churchill in the district semifinals.

Thurston coach Emil Majeski had told his players to show up at the school for 8 a.m. batting practice. The team then moved over to Capitol Park for the 10 a.m. game. Thurston lost 3-2, with the team's aces nowhere to be found.

"They were at the prom," Majeski said. "And the problem was it rained hard the night before. They didn't think there was going to be a game. They came to me later and said they were sorry.

"I don't want to take anything away from Churchill. We got beat by a good pitcher (Duane Stothers).

"IT HURT me to the extent that I felt badly for the rest of the team. The team attitude was great all year long. This is an isolated incident, and I'm not going to hold a grudge. They played excellent all year, even the two kids who weren't there. I'm not down on kids. It all happened on the last day, and we just got beat.

"I'm looking forward to next year."

Majeski said kids are no different today than 20 years ago. Thurston is not the only team to experience that kind of problem. Coaches who schedule games during the Easter break go without starters because of Florida jaunts. If coaches penalize the players, and some have, support from school administrators has been almost nonexistent. One coach, in fact, quit over the issue seven years ago at Stevenson when school higher-ups supported the parents instead.

That leaves it up to the players. And it boils down to priorities.

Pittaway aims for Indiana meet

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Bob Pittaway knows what big meets are all about.

It was just two weeks ago that the Plymouth Salem senior won the Class A discus title with a toss of 173 feet 9 inches.

The 5-11, 165-pound Pittaway has been practicing virtually on his own for another big meet which comes up on Saturday in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

He will leave tomorrow with head coach Gary Balconi and assistant Scott Dunson to compete in the Meet of Champions at Northrop High School.

The top three performers in each event from five states will compete in the prestigious meet.

Pittaway, who also was a member of three relay teams for Salem at the Class A meet, knows the pressure will be on again.

"This is a very important meet," he said. "Where I go to school depends on what happens there."

Pittaway has talked to track coaches from Northwood, Eastern Michigan and Michigan State. Another good throw could give him a scholarship.

The Salem standout qualified for the state meet three straight years but never placed until this year.

His first throw in the state meet went only 127 feet.

"I went to the prom and was up all night," Pittaway said. "I was kind of worried after my first throw. I threw it too high, and 'Coach B' (Balconi) told me to keep my eyes up."

PITTAWAY THEN brought out a discus he had used in practice for his second attempt. It went only 147 feet.

"I was kind of disgusted," he recalled, "and then 'Coach B' and I decided to go down the line with the wind."

On his final throw and facing elimination, Pittaway came through at 168-0, gaining a spot in the finals and three more throws.

His fourth attempt went 170-5 to move into second place, and he followed by uncorking the toss, which gave him the state crown.

"After my final throw (164-2) I had to wait for two more guys," he said. "And what happened after I won? 'Coach B' came over and picked me up. The whole team went to Wally's Smorgasboard in Flint, and it was great."

Pittaway credits Balconi with his many accomplishments over his three-year career.

"He worked with me as a sophomore three and four days a week," the Salem senior said. "He's like my second dad. He got me out of trouble in school. He's just a great guy. He'll help me with anything."

Pittaway, small for a discus thrower, also credits bowling as part of his success.

"I bowl 30 to 50 games a week at Cherry Hill Lanes," he said. "It's helped give me strength in my arm."

PITTAWAY, who has been bowling since the age of 8, carries an impressive 201 average in a summer league at Cherry Hill Lanes.

Saturday's meet is going to bring out the best competition from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan, and Pittaway knows what to expect.

"There's one guy from Ohio that's thrown over 200 feet," he said. "It's going to be rough."

The first state track champion from Plymouth is capable of throwing over 180. He's done it in practice and believes he can do it in a meet.

Maybe Saturday.

"I'd hate to leave this world without having made a few waves."

Al Ackerman was named Sports Director of WDIV July 20, 1979. He spent the previous seven years as Sports Director of WXYZ-TV, and prior to that was with WWJ-TV, Channel 4. Ackerman hosts WDIV's 6:00 and 11:00 P.M. sports and the half-hour "Sparky and Al Show." A native of Chicago, Illinois, Al holds an M.A. degree in Education from Chicago Teachers College. He is married, and father of two girls and two boys.

How did you get started in broadcasting?

AL: As a dee-jay at a radio station in Holland, Michigan. Holland is a very quiet, very quaint little town. I enjoyed it very much. Besides playing music, I did football play-by-play for $5.00 a game.

When did you get into TV?

AL: About a year later. I landed a job with a Grand Rapids TV station. I ended up doing Michigan State Football, commercials and two sportcasts a day.

Have you always wanted to be a sportscaster?

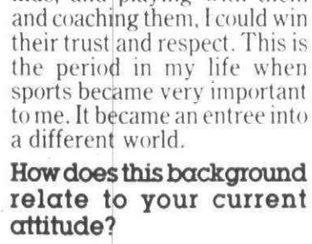

AL: No. Originally I wanted to be a businessman, because, like most people, I wanted to make money and I believe in the American system. That's one reason why I'm so outraged nowadays by people who say our top athletes aren't worth what they're making. Under the American system, you're entitled to make whatever the market will bear. However, I feel very strongly that when athletes turn professional and start earning big money, they should perform. Otherwise you're paying top dollar for a mediocre product.

How did you become interested in sports?

AL: We'll have to go back a long way for the answer. I used to teach eighth grade English in an all-ghetto school in Chicago near the Cabrini Project. That's where Chicago's Mayor Jane Byrne now lives. It used to be, and still is considered to be a very rough area. But I learned very quickly that, by staying after school with the kids, and playing with them and coaching them, I could win their trust and respect. This is the period in my life when sports became very important to me. It became an entree into a different world.

How does this background relate to your current attitude?

AL: Seeing what so many of these kids go through, I guess I've always had supportive feelings for the underdog. There are so many instances of an athlete being good enough to play the game, then being held back because of race or other issues that have nothing at all to do with his ability or desire to participate. I deplore such actions, and that's why I identify with the underdog.

Weren't you the only Detroit sportscaster to defend Muhammad Ali's right to fight after he had been sentenced for draft evasion?

AL: Yes. The only one. But the point was, that as long as they haven't closed the jail door, you have every right to work while out on appeal. As it turned out, Ali won his appeal 9-0 in the Supreme Court. And I felt that any other decision would have been a discredit to the Constitution.

How do you feel about taking unpopular positions?

AL: I believe my integrity is at stake, as well as my popularity. And after 17 years in the business, I'll still stand on my record. If I'm wrong I'll be the first to get on the air and say so. And I've done it several times. There's nothing wrong in saying you're wrong.

What do you think of Detroit sports fans?

AL: I love the sports fans here. They've been very good to me, and have given me tremendous support and understanding. There have been occasions when I've been touched to tears by the letters and response from people of this area. I love 'em.

Who are some of your favorites in the Detroit sports world?

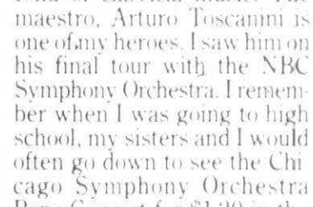

AL: There are many. But one I have special admiration for is Manny Stewart. The whole renaissance of boxing is because of him. And of course, there's Thomas Hearns. I refuse to call him the "Hit Man" or "Cobra." To me, Thomas Hearns is the "Pride of Detroit." He typifies the things I talk about... the underdog, the large family. I love him. I really do. I hope he goes all the way and wins three championships. Really, I think he's one of the best things that's happened on the Detroit sports scene in years. He's in the tradition of Joe Louis... everyone's champion.

How do you unwind when you're not thinking about sports?

AL: I have an extensive record collection and listen to a great deal of music. I'm particularly fond of classical music. The maestro, Arturo Toscanini is one of my heroes. I saw him on his final tour with the NBC Symphony Orchestra. I remember when I was going to high school, my sisters and I would often go down to see the Chicago Symphony Orchestra Pops Concert for $1.20 in the seventh balcony. That meant a lot to me. Today, good music is still one of the things that helps me relax.

Do you regard yourself as being controversial?

AL: When I say something controversial, you might not agree with me, but perhaps you might get angry and do something. At least maybe you won't look at me like a piece of white bread. My hope is that you'll think about what I said, and whatever your point of view, you'll learn more about the issue and respect me for taking a stand. I'd hate to leave this world without having made a few waves. I don't know the perfect formula for success. But I can tell you the formula for failure. Try and please everyone.

Southpaw earns all-city accolades in the pocket/W.W. Edgar

For his outstanding performances during the past season, Dick Beattie, the southpaw, has been honored with the captaincy of the all-city team chosen annually by the Greater Detroit Bowling Association.

The other members of the team are Bob Garrett, who gained 61 points, 17 behind Beattie. Also selected were Bob Chamberlain, 38; Tony Loiacano, 36; and Len Cianciolo, 34.

The second team includes Mitch Jabczenske, Matt Troupe, John Bennett, Dave Kalaszewski and Fred McLain.

Never before has a bowler outdone the field as much as Beattie. His honor was based on the fact that he won the Masters, shared the city doubles, second place in the all-events and was high man in the ABC among the Detroiters at Memphis, Tenn.

He is now a name to remember. Beattie got his start at the Westland Bowl and won a place for himself in various all-star leagues around the area. He is also the first lefty to dominate the game like he did during the past season.

THE FINAL averages have been tallied and the race between Aleta Rzepecki, the young star, and Cora Feibig, the veteran, show the vagaries of bowling.

Aleta topped the averages in the Ladies Major League with 196 and Cora was third with 188.

Things were reversed in the Bowlerettes loop where Cora was first with a 205 followed by Aleta way down in 10th spot with a 194.

When the mean average of the two are computed, Cora wins with a 196 and Aleta settles for second with a 195. The difference between the two is considered to be brought about by the fact that Luxury Lanes, where Feibig bowls regularly, helped her 205 average.

MATT LAICH, a 38-year-old bowler who competes in three leagues at Woodland Lanes and carries an average of 138, reached the high point of his career last week.

Competing in the men's summer league, Laich rolled a perfect game and wound up with a 699 series. He started with 158, jumped to 211 in his second game, and then came 12 straight strikes which enabled him to reach a goal most bowlers dream about.

Laich's first nine ball were right in the pocket. He crossed his 10th ball to the "Brooklyn" side and on his next shot he finished between the 1-3 pocket. His performance will earn him a medal from the ABC (American Bowling Congress).

HIGH SCORES continue around the area in the Champion of Champions Tournament at Garden Lanes. The Top Five team set the pace this week with 3157. The Standard Federal team was next with 3149 followed by Brentwood Lanes in third at 3134.

BUD LeBLANC was the top scorer of the week in the Monday men's league at Westland Bowl. He had a 255 in 664. Clare Baldwin rolled a 226 in 612.

In the Tuesday Confusion League, Carol Baldwin set the pace with a 238 in 576.

YOU CAN USE A SNAPPER AS A "MULCHING" MOWER OR AS A SUPERIOR "BAGGING" MOWER.
MAKES A GREAT FATHER'S DAY GIFT
That's an important option to have when grass gets too tall or lush for mulching. When you add an inexpensive Mulcherizer to your SNAPPER you convert it to a mulching mower. It then chews up cuttings so fine they become lawn food and you don't have to rake or bag. But unlike one function mulching mowers, you can remove the Mulcherizer and use your SNAPPER as a superior bagging mower. Built in quality features on every SNAPPER mower include full length solid steel axles, large rear wheels and easy cutting height adjustment.
SNAPPER mowers are worth more because they do more and their price is competitive with other quality mowers.

Wiley captures Canton Open Championship

Matthew Wiley took charge from the opening round and went on to capture the second annual Canton Men's Open Golf Championship on Sunday at Fellows Creek.

Wiley set a tournament record with a 18-hole total of 73 on the first day (Saturday) followed by a 74 for a total of 147.

He was five strokes better than Rick Francis, who shot 76-76-152 in the championship flight.

Wiley's rounds featured three birdies on the first day and three more on the second day. He also parred the tough No. 11 hole twice.

The new champion carded a 34 on the back nine on Sunday to win going away.

Ramzy Taweel placed third with a score of 77-76-153. Defending champ Kevin Ryan settled for fourth place (76-80-156).

In the first flight, Phillip Smith fired an 81 and came back with a 76 to win the crown.

In the second flight, Dennis Guerriero took top honors with a 167 (87-80).

William Beard recorded the longest drive on the No. 6 hole, and Howard English, Jr. won closest to the pin honors on No. 15.

Culver stymies Lathrup bats

Lefty Billy Culver tossed a six-hitter as the Salem Elks downed Lathrup 9-1 on Tuesday in a Connie Mack League baseball opener for both teams.

In seven innings, Culver struck out two and walked four. He also helped on offense by going two-for-three.

Catcher Dave Slavin went two-for-four and had three RBIs. John McDowell, a second baseman, and Joe Humphries, the first sacker, added two hits and two RBIs each for the winners.

Salem will return to action at 6:15 p.m. on Friday at home against Redford Union.

SALEM DiPONIO ROLLS

Second baseman Todd Riedel collected three hits and four RBIs to lift Salem DiPonio to an 8-3 Mickey Mantle League baseball triumph over Westland.

It was the opener for both teams in the 15-16-year-old circuit.

DiPonio, coached by Joe Carlson, broke the game open with three runs in the second inning and four more in the third.

The winners had 10 hits.

Mike Cindrich, Scott Jurek and Dan Carlson each tallied two runs.

Dave Haut was the winning pitcher. He struck out nine and walked eight in five⅔ innings. Barry McNamara finished up. He retired the final four batters, two on strikeouts.

COMPUWARE DROPS 2

Plymouth Compuware, a team comprised of 13-year-olds, suffered a pair of lopsided defeats in the Sandy Koufax League last weekend.

On Sunday, Detroit West 7 pounded Plymouth 19-1 in a game called after five innings because of the mercy rule.

Joe Andrus was the losing pitcher. Duane Bennett scored Compuware's only run when he walked and later crossed home on a wild pitch.

On Saturday, Riverview downed the Plymouth team 13-2.

Losing pitcher Mike Clark received little support in the field. He scored the team's first run when he tripled and scored on a wild pitch in the second inning.

Bennett tallied the final run when he walked and scored on a wild pitch in the fourth inning.

The Hana Road, on the 'other' side of Hawaii

MAUI, Hawaii — They sell a T-shirt here which reads: "I survived the Hana Road."

There are many exotic resort areas on this island, but the Hana Road takes you to the other, wilder side. It is an eight-hour tour, part of it on a road so bad it can only be called a jeep trail.

We drive out of Wailuku through sugar cane fields that circle the misted shape of Haleakala — the House of the Sun — the largest volcanic crater in the world. We will spend all day driving around it.

We go down gullies green with mango trees, past an emerald bamboo-covered hill to waterfalls plunging into deep pools beside the road.

The road passes a Buddhist temple framed between a bell and a royal poinciana tree, and is soon lined with bougainvillea — woody tropical vines — as we head for the sea road and the wet side of the island.

We are in the path of the trade winds, which drop rain on one side of each of the Hawaiian Islands and leaves the other side dry. The Hawaiians traditionally build their resorts on the dry side of the islands.

PINEAPPLE FIELDS are dark and blue as we start to climb. At the first sign of Norfolk pines, the Hawaiian Christmas tree, the land begins to break into deep, gullied hills, with wild orchids peeking purple out of the lush growth on either side. We go down gullies green with mango trees, past an emerald bamboo-covered hill to waterfalls plunging unexpectedly into deep pools beside the road.

One of the highlights of the Hana Road is a visit to the Seven Pools and the grave of Charles Lindbergh. Hawaiian photographer Robert Wenkam, who has published coffee-table sized picture books of all these islands, calls the Seven Pools "the last Hawaiian place."

From the road, you can see the water flowing step by step through the pools from tree-covered rocks above you to the white surf beach below you. Bathers sun on the rocks and swim in the deep, cool pools along the length of the waterway.

A few miles down the road at Palahala Hoomau, you can walk down from the road to Kipahulu Congregational Church and Lindbergh's grave. The gravesite is a large, fenced platform of volcanic rock bearing a simple inscription.

The Lindbergh grave is one of the few monuments you see on the Hana Road or on any of the roads that take you away from the resort areas in the Hawaiian islands. The attractions of Hawaii are scenic, and they are on every side.

Tours like this are designed to show you the topography of the island, the wonderful lush growth that appears around every curve, and the enticing glimpses of the sea.

At top is a detail from a bronze jar from the late fourth century B.C. Above is a marble head of Alexander from the first or second century B.C. Both are part of "The Search for Alexander" at the Art Institute of Chicago through the summer.

Chicago's art

Alexander the Great in Windy City

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

MIRO IS in the plaza, trying to get the paint off his skirt. Alexander the Great is in the art institute, posing in stone and bronze, silver and gold.

Mark di Suvero is upstairs on Ontario Street, with his wonderful rusty watcha-ma-callits going 'round and 'round in the presence of his friends.

That's what I like about art in Chicago. It is integrated into the daily life of the city, where you can touch it on the way to work, enjoy it after a quick lunch in the park or see a new work in a contemporary art gallery.

If you have limited time, consider dividing an art tour of Chicago into three parts. Do a walking tour of the public sculpture in the Loop area, with a stop at the new piece by Jean Miro.

Spend a morning, with a tape recorder as a guide, exploring the stunning new exhibit called "The Search for Alexander" at the Art Institute of Chicago. Let Jeannette Barza and her friends at Art Safari Inc. guide you around the contemporary galleries on Michigan Avenue and Ontario Street, with a little continental breakfast thrown in just to be civilized about it.

Chicago has traditionally been a center of outdoor sculpture, but the "1-percent" law promises to turn the city into a sculpture park. The law requires that 1 percent of the cost of a new public building

Art in Chicago is integrated into the daily life of the city, where you can touch it on the way to work.

Art gallery tour through Windy City must be spent on art. The art can take any form, but the easiest way to comply with the law is to spend it all on a large outdoor work by a well-known sculptor.

If you know Alexander Calder's work in downtown Detroit and Grand Rapids, you will immediately recognize the 53-foot-high bright red sculpture called "Flamingo" at Adams and Dearborn. Calder also has a whimsical, wonderful mobile entitled "Universe" in the lobby of the Sears Tower, now the world's tallest building.

A walking tour of the Loop will show you Marc Chagall's mosaic mural, "The Four Seasons," at the First National Bank Plaza; the 162-ton Picasso sculpture on Daley Plaza; the controversial "Batcolumn" by Claes Oldenburg; and Joan Miro's new sculpture, "Chicago."

Miro's abstract female figure was up for only a very brief time before a disgruntled art critic doused it with a bucket of pink paint. Nobody has yet been able to figure out how to get the paint off.

ALEXANDER THE GREAT is also on the streets of Chicago — on double blue banners hung from every lamppost on Michigan Avenue.

"The Search for Alexander," a stunning exhibit of Greek artifacts focused on the life and times of Alexander the Great, will grace the Art Institute of Chicago through Sept. 7.

More than 100 rare antiquities, many of them from a royal tomb uncovered in 1977, are included in the exhibit.

The exhibit is best experienced with a tape guide, which can be rented at the entrance. The tape explanation, which comes through your earphones as you walk, helps you understand the complexity of items on display.

The collection includes bronze and stone heads, gold coins, ancient helmets, exotic jewelry, royal diadems, marble statuary and a stunning gold box in which royal remains were found in a tomb at Vergina in northern Greece.

The story of Vergina is an archeologist's fairy tale come true. Archeologist Manolis Andronikos had spent 40 years in the Vergina area, where the graves of ancient Macedonian kings were believed to be hidden underground, untouched for more than 2,000 years.

ON AUG. 31, 1977, he began excavation on a hill called The Great Tumulus. On Nov. 8, he and his colleagues entered an unrobbed Macedonian tomb filled with paintings, untouched ancient artifacts, a costly golden wreath and a golden burial box sitting inside a marble sarcophagus.

The golden treasures of Vergina are at the core of The Search for Alexander, but they constitute, numerically, a very small part of the exhibit. Museums all over the world have loaned their ancient Macedonian treasures for display here.

ALEXANDER THE Great understood battle, but he probably wouldn't understand the contemporary art shown in small, prestigious galleries along Michigan Avenue and Ontario Street.

If you are inclined to ask "Do they call that stuff art?" when you see contemporary painting and sculpture, you might not enjoy it, but anyone who loves the work of modern artists should run to Jeannette Barza and her Art Safari guides for a personal tour of Chicago galleries.

Gallery Walks are given by Art Safari Inc., 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays, or on other days by appointment. The group meets over continental breakfast at the Chelsea Restaurant in the Continental Plaza Hotel at 909 N. Michigan. The tour costs $14.

I toured five galleries with Jeannette on a recent sunny afternooon.

The R.S. Johnson Gallery, at 645 N. Michigan, is doing an Homage to Hungarian artist Bela Czobel (1883-1976), with an extensive collection of the strong, deep-colored paintings of his native land.

The Worthington Gallery, Construct Gallery and Indian Tree Gallery, all are in the same building at 233 E. Ontario. Worthington shows the work of many well-known artists, and now features German expressionists.

Construct is like a playground: small models of the outdoor sculpture done by eight well-known artists — Mark di Suvero, Charles Ginnever, John Henry, Linda Howard, Lyman Kipp, Frank McGuire, Jerry Peart and Kenneth Snelson.

The Indian Tree specializes in both ancient and modern Indian art, with a special affection for Pueblo pottery, Hopi kachina dolls and Indian wall hangings.

The Phyllis Needleman Gallery across the street at 216 E. Ontario shows some of the best available Mexican work, including what is available of Rufino Tomayo and an exhibit of both paintings and weaving by Rosa Luz Marroquin.

THERE ARE a million other things to do in Chicago, of course, but don't miss the chance to enjoy the art.

Watch Mark di Suvero's models go round and round in rusty iron. Say hello to Alexander the Great.

And pat the new Miro with an affectionate hand. After all, how would you feel if somebody threw a bucket of paint all over you?

Taking a weekend bite out of the Big Apple's theater — and lots more

By Joan Mette
special writer

Sampling the enormous menu of theater in New York is a treat for the theater buff, so I jumped at the chance.

We stayed at the comfortable Summit Hotel in mid-town Manhattan which apparently caters to tours, both domestic and foreign, and it was delightful seeing how many different accents I could identify in the more utilitarian than sumptuous lobby and elevators. Just to satisfy my appetite for sumptuous lobbies, I visited the nearby Waldorf and Palace and walked up to Central Park to view the Plaza, with its reknowned Palm Court.

MY BREAKFASTS in New York were an example of the kind of variety I was trying to experience on the whole trip. One morning I stopped at the Horne & Hardick Automat. Most of the automats are now closed — not all technology survives — but I found one on 42nd Street and Third Avenue that was straight out of the art deco period when the automat began. Now mainly converted to a cafeteria with the familiar line, it still retained enough of the old coin-operated food doors for me to enjoy a breakfast of muffins and coffee.

I tried breakfast in bed another morning, as a luxury. I found it hearty, delicious and really not expensive. Then for my last breakfast, I tried the Peacock Alley in the Waldorf, where everything is expensive. But the croissants and brioches are out of this world and the atmosphere is one of carefully bred gentility.

New York is full of some of the best restaurants in the world, and I'm sure sampling their fare would be a wonderful adventure for many. However, I tried instead for variety without exorbitant cost. One place I found was in the Summit's own dining room, Maude's. Decorated in a turn-of-the-century motif, it's a warm, inviting place which serves good food at moderate prices. Maude's was probably the most elaborate meal of the trip.

For another evening meal, I tried a typical New York deli, the nearby Starr, and for lunch I sampled fresh orange juice and a knish from a street-side vendor. Vendors selling food abound in Manhattan, and you could confine yourself to their wares exclusively and have a different meal every time. They range from knishes to egg rolls to shish kabob and, of course, the famous New York hot dog.

BUT THEATER, not food, was on our mind that weekend. Friday night we saw "Amadeus," nominated for a Tony Award for best play of 1981. Saturday afternoon was the matinee of "The Pirates of Penzance" and Saturday night it was last year's Tony winner for best play, "Children of a Lesser God."

We chose shows we probably would not have a chance to see in Detroit. All three proved to be memorable theatrical experiences.

"Children of a Lesser God," the story of the marriage of a hearing man and a deaf and unspeaking woman, is a personal drama that is very affecting. Phyllis Frelich, the deaf actress who won a Tony for her performance last year, still plays the wife; and David Ackroyd now plays the role of the husband. They work well together, and the evening is a moving experience.

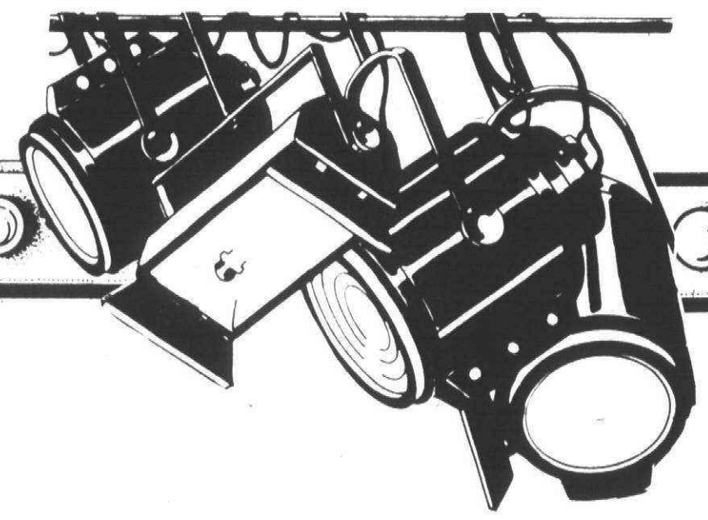

"The Pirates of Penzance" is probably best known for its offbeat casting of rock stars Linda Ronstadt and Rex Smith as the young lovers. They do wonderfully well, with Ms. Ronstadt hitting every one of the coloratura's difficult trills right on. But the real delight of "Pirates" is the joie de vivre of the entire ensemble as they have fun with Gilbert and Sullivan.

BUT THE MOST memorable theatrical experience for me was Peter Shaffer's "Amadeus." Shaffer, who wrote the thought-provoking "Equus," has written another play whose theme has depth beyond its apparent plot.

The play is based on the premise that Salieri, an inferior but successful musician of the time, was the nemesis whose jealous machination caused the decline and eventual death of Mozart. It is really about man's relationship with God, the source of genius and a whole rich tapestry of ideas.

Ian McKellen as Salieri and Tim Curry as Mozart are magnificent. Not surprisingly, both have been nominated as best actor in this year's Tony Awards.

I remembered New York as a noisy, busy, and delightful city. Nothing has changed. The noise and bustle are still there and so is the delight. There are so many things to do in New York that the main problem for any visitor is to choose among the bounty.

Hurry! Space is Limited...

There's only one Broadway

See it on the Observer & Eccentric New York City Theatre Weekender July 17-19th

(but hurry — space is limited!)

New York City ... a thousand places to see! A thousand things to do. But best of all ... IT'S BROADWAY. Nowhere, but nowhere can you find such an incredible choice of theatre. If you love theatre, you'll love the theatre hits of 1981, and we are making it easy for you.

Tony Award Winners

Here's a preview of the hits you can enjoy:

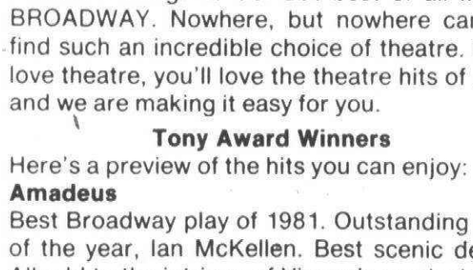

Amadeus
Best Broadway play of 1981. Outstanding actor of the year, Ian McKellen. Best scenic design. All add to the intrigue of Vienna's musical world with the focus on Mozart.

42nd Street
Best musical of the year. Shades of the '30s, a pure gold production and the crowning achievement of the late Gower Champion.

Woman of the Year
Lauren Bacall wins Best Actress of the Year in this accomplished musical.

The Pirates of Penzance
Wins best director, best revival and Kevin Kline takes outstanding actor in a musical award. Lighthearted and magnificently fun in this Gilbert & Sullivan operetta.

Lena Horne: The Lady and Her Music

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN...

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

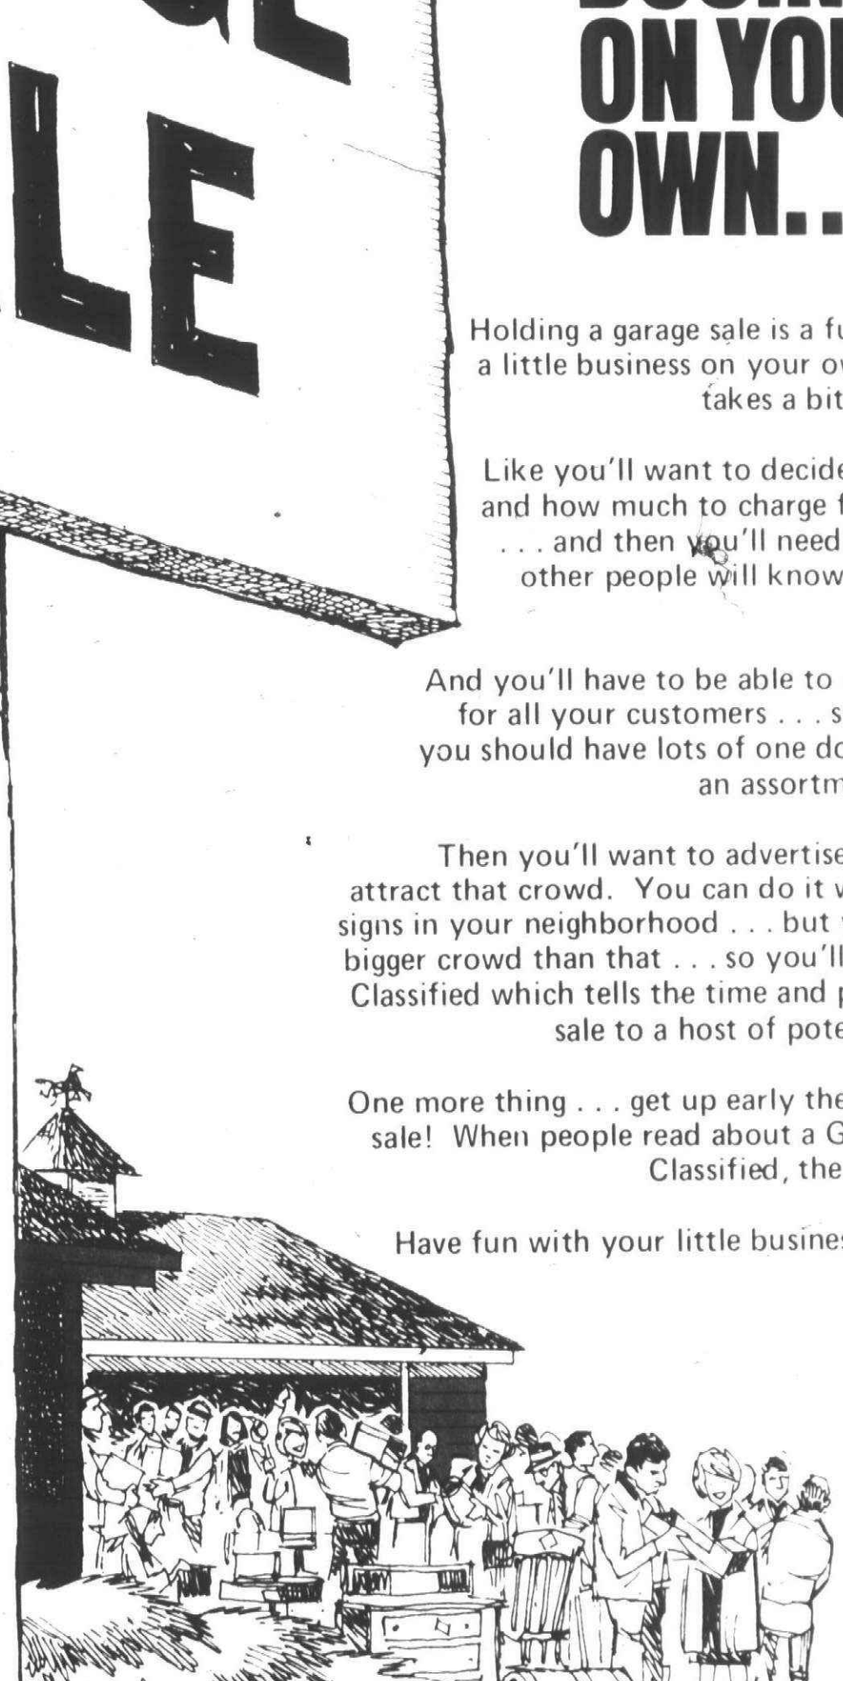

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

One more thing . . . get up early the day of your sale! When people read about a Garage Sale in Classified, they shop early.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

Livonia, Michigan 48150

Dear Jack:

When we moved to Ten Mile and Grand River two and a half years ago, we knew we had to let our new Farmington Hills neighbors know we were here.

We found The Observer & Eccentric papers were directly targeted to our new trading area. We then analyzed cost effectiveness. By logging our phone response to new and used car ads, we found that The Observer & Eccentric ads continually work for us.

Since our relocation we have become tri-state zone's fastest growing Pontiac dealership. We can certainly credit The Observer & Eccentric for a major portion of our success. Thank you for the fine service.

Sincerely,

Alex Poirier

NEVER BEFORE OFFERED! PLYMOUTH! IN THE TREES! There should be a long waiting list for this location and setting. Tucked away on a "no-traffic" court, this ENGLISH TUDOR boasts 4 large bedrooms, 2½ baths, formal dining room, 1st floor laundry, a 21.5x15 family room with fireplace, a study, full basement, and 2½ car side entrance garage. Beyond its glorious setting, the extra's consist of Central Air, U.G. sprinklers, 2 expansive wood terraces, and an assumable mortgage. ALL YOU EVER WANTED IN A FINE HOME IS PRESENT. $135,900. 453-8200

IF APPEARANCE IS IMPORTANT, THEN YOU'LL BECOME ENCHANTED with this beautifully developed Colonial backing into a woods. There are 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths, an oversized family room with fireplace, an enclosed Garden Room, full basement, and 2½ car attached garage. Aluminum trim, Gas BBQ, and hardwood floors. IMPROVEMENT WOULD BE DIFFICULT, INDEED. $69,900. 453-8200

FLOWING, UNCONFINED OPENNESS IS EXPRESSED throughout within this "CLIFFORD WRIGHT" designed one story home. A masterly interplay of stained cedar, carefully chosen brick, and cedar shake shingles warmly distinguish the exterior. Over an Acre in the original "BEACON HILL" establishes this location as being without equal . . . and the expanses of glass and decks take advantage of the lovely, private rear yard. There are 3 generous bedrooms, 2½ baths, a spacious living room with fireplace, and a formal dining room. The 26 ft. long family room encompasses a fieldstone fireplace, a built-in Gas Barbeque, a 12 ft. ceiling, and a small hospitality kitchen. The main kitchen is fully-quipped. Abundant main floor storage, full basement with a sauna, and oversized 2½ car garage with opener. Central Air, Security system, and underground sprinklers are among the varied extra's. FAULTLESSLY MAINTAINED BY THE ORIGINAL OWNERS. LAND CONTRACT TERMS. 453-8200

PLYMOUTH! YOUR HOME'S LOCATION IS SO IMPORTANT AND THIS NEIGHBORHOOD IS ONE OF OUR FAVORITES . . . SO VERY CONVENIENT AND WELL GROOMED. This classic center entrance brick Colonial has received special thought with its tastefully chosen brick, exterior colors, and fine landscaping. Within there are 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, a formal dining room, an island counter kitchen, 1st floor laundry, family room with fireplace, a study, full basement, and 2½ car attached garage. Central Air, six panel wood doors, underground sprinklers, and a micro-wave oven are included within this home. AN IMPECCABLY MAINTAINED HOME. 453-8200 $120,000.

CAN THE OTHERS COMPARE SO FAVORABLY? WE THINK NOT . . . for this City of Plymouth Colonial has been extensively up-graded with new floor coverings, kitchen re-modeling, bathroom improvements, etc. Tasteful selections throughout are further carried to the outdoors where the rear yard is especially attractive. There are 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, a formal dining room, family room with fireplace, a delightful kitchen and breakfast area, full basement, and 2½ car attached garage with a new sectional door and openers. WHEN BUYING A NEW HOME, IT PAYS TO LOOK UNDER THE HOOD.

Some people look at houses without seeing beyond the surface appearance.
They look at the gloss of the decor and say "How nice it would be to live here."
Sadly, they should be asking, "How much insulation does this home have and how will it affect my heating bill?" and "What about workmanship and maintenance and what if something goes wrong?"

THE QUEST FOR PERFECTION.
James D. Compo and family have great concern for quality. For no extra cost you are assured of the finest rough and finish carpentry available, the best drywall work you have ever seen and full extra deep basements.
Excellence is the watchword for every stage of construction with extra emphasis on energy savings. Ceilings are insulated to the best ratings with 6" batts plus 11½" blown over the batts, and walls with 3½" batts and 1" Dow Styrofoam sheathing. Heating systems are centrally located for best efficiency and windows and doorwalls are all WOOD with insulated glass.

NOT A LEMON ANYWHERE.
All their homes are constructed with attention to detail. All have extras beyond normally expected even in this price range. Callbacks are rarely required and all homes are covered under the 10 year HOMEOWNERS WARRANTY program.

As for financing, right now they have 12⅞% 30 YEAR FIXED RATE MORTGAGES available for a short time on certain complete specified homes in RAMBLEWOOD — a superb Gatehouse Community in Farmington Hills. These homes are priced from $169,900.

Stop by Lot #1 for details on these homes with their many included extras. Learn more about the special mortgages which must be closed by September, 1981 and are fully assumable if you sell later.
Come visit today! We are open from 1 P.M. daily in Ramblewood off of Fourteen Mile Rd. between Drake and Halstead. Broker participation welcome.

At last...A home protection plan that protects the buyer and the seller!

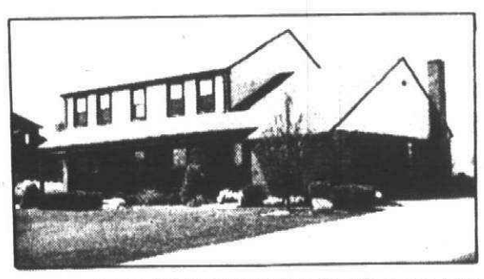

Our remarkable new Home Protection Plan covers both buyer and seller against any major defects that might suddenly occur during the first year the new owner has his home.
This unique plan covers the central heating and cooling systems, built-in appliances, sinks, interior plumbing, hot water heater, all interior drains and sewers, entire electrical system, water storage tanks, and many more important areas.
No one expects problems with these vital areas of a home but isn't it nice to know that our new Home Protection Plan protects you if anything should go wrong?
And this protection is even available to sellers while the home is listed with us!
Just another extra service that makes doing business with us an extra pleasure...for buyer and seller.

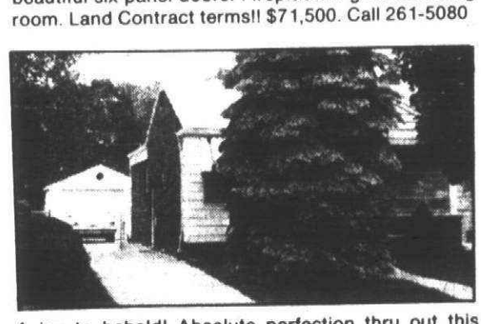

"ASSUMPTION BUYERS." We have funds to help you assume mortgages that may be too far to reach. Call for details.

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN...

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

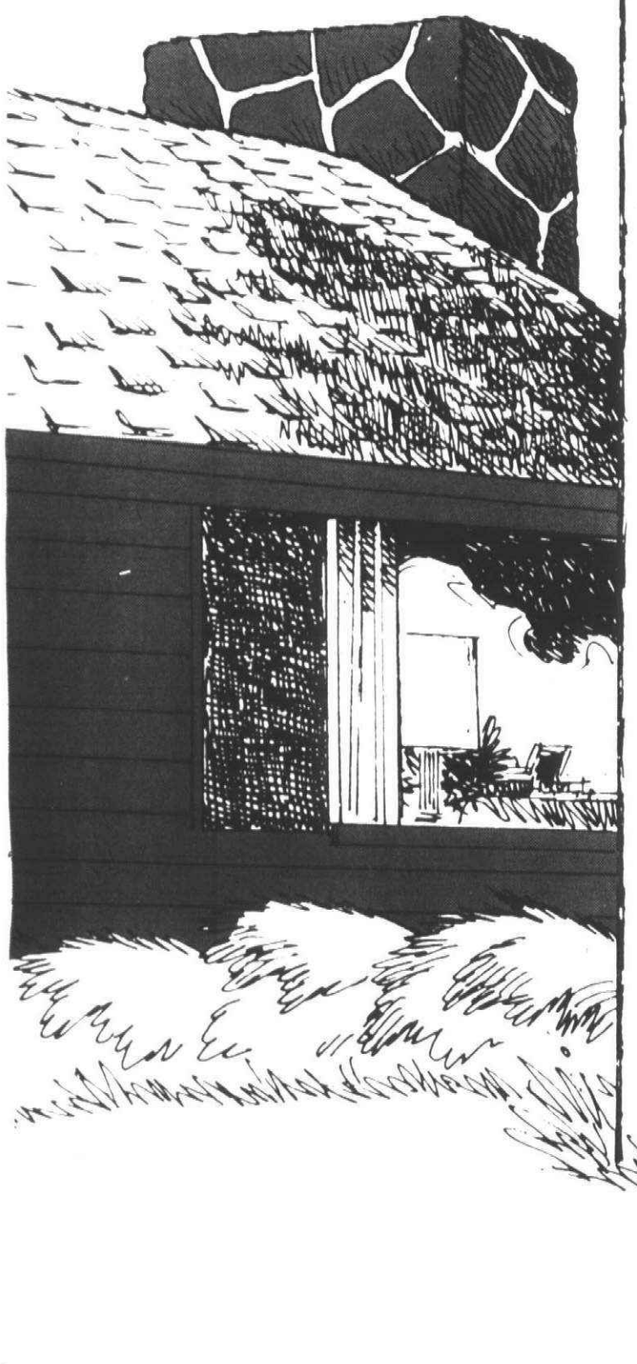

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

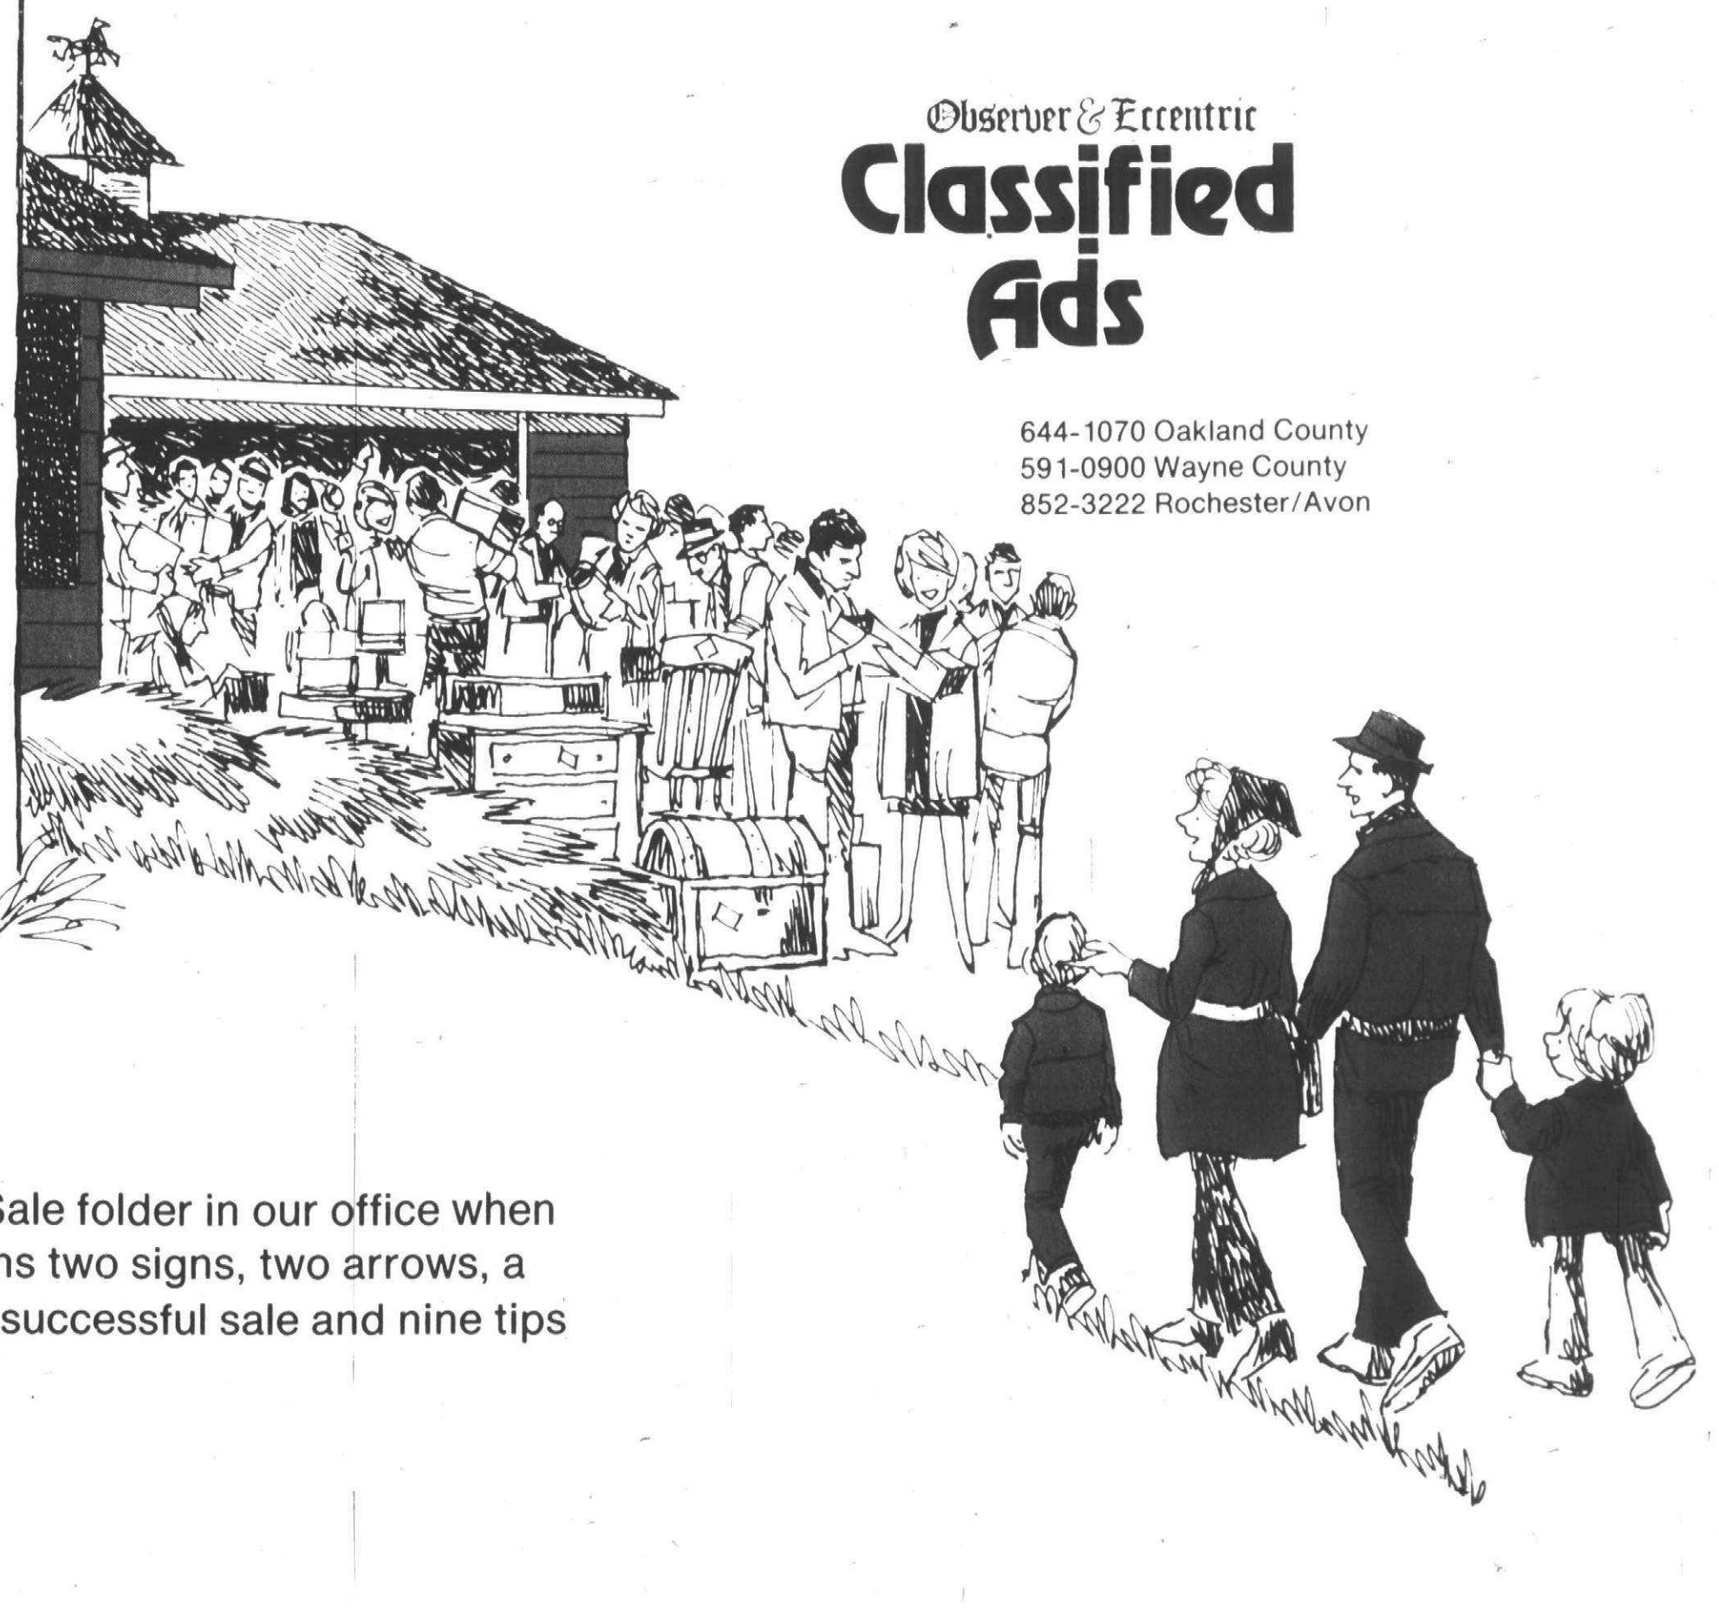

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

One more thing . . . get up early the day of your sale! When people read about a Garage Sale in Classified, they shop early.

Have fun with your little business adventure!
