Planners deny landfill request, but permit is OK'd

By Dennis O'Connor
editor

The Canton Planning Commission unanimously denied the request for Michigan Waste Systems' proposed landfill expansion of Woodland Meadows Monday night.

The commission denied all three requests — site approval, the landfill and land use — based on violations of landfill ordinances of the township, said assistant planner David Nicholson.

The commission recommendations on this issue now will go before the Township Board for final consideration. Nicholson said the board's decision probably will come in mid-October.

RAY KELLAS, district manager for Michigan Waste Systems and general manager of the Woodland Meadows site, said he plans to take the request to the Township Board, in hopes of reversing the commission's decisions and gaining expansion approval.

Kellas would not comment on Michigan Waste Systems' strategy on challenging the township-ordinance violations.

CURRENTLY, Michigan Waste Systems operates Woodland Meadows North, a 97-acre landfill which contains 5 percent hazardous material. The company wants to expand its site 105 acres, bounded by Hannan, Lotz and Van Born roads and the Conrail railroad right-of-way, adjacent to the existing site in southeast Canton. The expansion site is called Woodland Meadows South.

Michigan Waste Systems has applied for both solid-waste and hazardous waste permits on this expansion site.

Bob Ratz, Public Health Engineer for the Wayne County Health Department, said his department reviewed the solid-waste application and didn't find any violations to Public Act 641, the Solid-Waste Management Act.

Ratz added that the report was sent to the state Department of Natural Resourses (DNR) Friday and a permit probably would be issued to begin construction of the landfill.

Ratz said, however, landfill operation could not begin unless Michigan Waste Systems gains township approval, a soil erosion permit from the township and a drainage location permit from Wayne County Drainage Commissioners.

Schools say students walk

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

Students walking to Field and Ericksson elementaries in Canton will continue to walk for now.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night voted it was safe for that particular group of students to walk to school.

By a 6-1 vote, with Flossie Tonda dissenting, the school board voted to uphold the earlier recommendation of its safety committee to eliminate busing for students who live within 1.5 miles (or within one mile for K-2 students) of Field and Ericksson.

The vote followed a presentation from the Auto Club of Michigan of studies concluding it was safe for students to walk, and came after a public hearing of more than two hours in Plymouth Salem High auditorium.

During that meeting Dale Goby, director of transportation, revealed he had been in telephone contact with the state and would be remeasuring walking distances districtwide as a result of an attorney general's opinion.

See related editorial on Page 18A

Once the remeasuring is done districtwide, it is possible students now walking to Field and Ericksson might be found eligible for busing but until then safety busing will be eliminated as recommended.

(Safety busing occurs when the board allows certain students to be bused by exception to state law because of the existence of hazardous conditions. Some of the Field/Ericksson students last year were bused but now are walking because the board ruled it was not unsafe for them to walk.)

Parents squawk, but lose busing battle

The citizens' comments portion of Monday night's school board meeting again exceeded two hours as parents, mostly in the Field and Ericksson attendance areas, spoke (and sometimes yelled) their views to the board on elimination of safety busing.

Many of the speakers were representatives of a new parents group which has organized in the Field/Ericksson as an outgrowth of the safety busing cutbacks. The group refers to itself as PASS (Parents After Safety for Students).

A summary of the views of residents Monday night follows:

- Lillian Berlin: A resident of Trailwood III in Plymouth Township, she asked that her third grade daughter be bused to Bird Elementary as it takes 35 minutes to walk and the distance to the school measured by the transportation department is 1.48 miles. She argued that there were plenty of empty seats on two buses arriving at Bird, particularly one which picked up Geer School students.
- Jean Baker: She explained that in the morning her kindergartener walks to school with 11 others but at noon walks home alone part of the way along a stretch she considers unsafe. Ms. Baker said she was an instructor for the Safety Town program and advised some 400 children not to walk on the road enroute to school and that it was unsafe for her child to do the same. She added that 5 and 6-year-olds were still babies and it was unsafe for them to walk.
- Dennis Farkas: He told the board PASS was being organized because parents in the Field/Ericksson area have lost confidence in the school board and because a serious credibility problem exists. He accused board members and administrators of misrepresenting the facts and censoring information given parents upon request. PASS will act as a watchdog, he added, to make sure all students receive equal and consistent treatment across the district. "There's not one other elementary school where you ask students to cross a 45 mph road or to walk along a path through a wooded area."
- Chris Bak: She first objected to board policy of allocating five minutes per person to speak, and giving only 15 minutes for her group's presentation as they spent hours of research preparing a study arguing for the continuation of safety busing. After using up her time allocated, Ms. Bak then had various representatives of PASS come up to the microphone to read from the lengthy report. The report was primarily a compilation of legal opinions on negligence, legislative immunity, in loco parentis doctrine, and Supreme Court opinions. When asked if she would furnish a copy to the board, Ms. Bak

Missionaries lost in plane crash

By Mary Rodrique
staff writer

A Farmington Hills minister and a Northville man are among five persons on board a privately owned plane missing in Alaska.

The Rev. Philip Armstrong, minister of missions for the Farmington-Hills-based Far Eastern Gospel Crusade, and Paul Mortenson, a volunteer, were with three Alaskans on mission business when their twin-engine Beech Bonanza lost ground communication at 1:30 a.m. (6:30 a.m. Detroit time) Sunday.

The others on board were Paul Backlund, the pilot, Bill Ballou, mission business manager, and Wanda Ediger, secretary for a Christian radio station. All three lived in Glennallen, northeast of Anchorage.

The flight originated at 9 p.m. (Alaska time) Saturday in Petersburg, south of Juneau, near the Canadian border. More than halfway through the six-hour flight, the pilot radioed Anchorage reporting they were short of fuel.

He was directed to an unlit airstrip at Cape Yakataga on the Alaskan Gulf Coast.

Contact was lost over a mountainous glacial coastal region where the northern tip of the Rockies surges to 1,800-foot-high peaks.

"IF THEY DID survive coming down, they could survive exposure because they had extra blankets and food," said Robert Richard Oestreicher, spokesman for the mission, with offices at 36200 Freedom Road.

Armstrong founded the Protestant interdenominational mission in 1945. Today its 330 missionaries serve in Alaska, Japan, Taiwan and the Philippines.

The missing five were returning to Glennallen after touring the mission's new radio studio under construction in Petersburg. The studio just was granted FCC approval recently.

Glennallen is the center of the mission's Alaskan operations, with a hospital, Bible college and radio station.

Military and civilian search parties have been scouting the region by air since daylight Sunday. The weather is generally overcast in the region and a new storm front moved in Tuesday.

Four other small planes are down in the area.

Court cuts Lucas' road patrol

By Mike Scanlon
staff writer

Sheriff William Lucas and his deputies lost every major point in yesterday's ruling by Judge Harvey Moes on a suit over the Board of Commissioners' decision to shut down the Sheriff's road patrol and lay off some 250 deputies.

Lucas said he will abide by the ruling pending an appeal, but some commissioners predicted the sheriff may face removal from office if he ignores the judgment.

"I think that's a possibility," said Commissoner James Rashid, D-Dearborn, a major backer of Lucas' ouster in a failed July 21 try. "If he fails to live by this court order, if he continues to cost us $100,000 a week we don't have, I think the 18 votes will be in line."

The 27-member board fell four votes shy of the required two-thirds majority in the July vote, called because of the sheriff's failure to post a large bond. That same issue is now scheduled for consideration Oct. 1.

MOES REJECTED Lucas' main argument that services provided by the Patrol and Investigative Unit before the board dismantled it in February are "mandatory" services required by state law.

Moes ruled that many of those services are indeed required under state law, but the laws don't specifically require the sheriff to carry them out. Moes ruled that existing municipal police departments in Wayne County and the Michigan State Police are qualified to perform the mandated duties, and are already providing "overlapping" services.

"Serviceability and needs of the citizenry cannot be interpreted to mean that a person calling upon the Sheriff's Department can expect every conceivable service to be available from that department alone at a moment's notice," Moes ruled in a 35-page written opinion.

ALSO LOSING in the decision was Local 502 of the National Union of Police Officers, which represents most deputies.

The union won an arbitration ruling in June based on a 1974 contract article requiring that manning levels be maintained. Moes overruled the arbitrator's ruling, saying the arbitrator had exceeded his authority.

"The arbitrator reads 'safety manning' as synonymous with 'job security', " wrote Moes, who ruled the two do not mean the same thing.

"The closing (of the patrol unit) is a management decision and was made strictly for economic reasons. . . . A majority of federal decisions hold that this is not a mandatory subject of collective bargaining. There is no contract or subcontracting out of the services eliminated," Moes ruled, although in an unusual move for a judicial ruling, he added that "the court is well aware that the appellate courts may disagree with this court's findings."

Moes also rejected arguments by co-plaintiff Brownstown Township, which had contracted for police services with the county. Moes ruled that the township tried to approach the issue under two different laws.

"NATURALLY, I'M disappointed with the decision of Judge Moes," said Lucas.

"I think the gallant men and women of this department and the citizens of Wayne County had a reason to expect more. Nevertheless, an honest difference of opinion has been resolved.

State Rep. Brown paces mayoral race

State Rep. Thomas Brown, whose district includes Canton and part of Plymouth Township, is in the race for mayor of Westland.

Brown, 64, was the top vote-getter in Tuesday's non-partisan mayoral election in Westland, capturing 3,785 votes. He will square off against Charles Pickering, who gained 2,709 votes.

Pickering, a laid-off deputy parks and recreation director in Westland, is active in community projects in that city. Henry Lundquist, a former Westland council member, placed last in the three-way mayoral race.

BROWN, D-Westland, currently is in the middle of his sixth term as a state representative in the 37th district. That district covers Westland, Canton and a portion of Plymouth Township.

Brown announced he would run for mayor a few months ago, shortly after Westland Mayor Thomas Taylor decided against running for re-election.

If Brown is elected Westland mayor in the November election, he will return to a spot he held in the mid-1960s. He served as mayor for about a year in 1966, after Westland became a city.

He was re-elected to a two-year term in 1967, then lost in a primary election in 1969.

Brown was elected to the state House of Representatives in 1970, where he has served on committees dealing with roads and bridges, towns and counties, ation and education.

Planning Commission denies landfill expansion

The hazardous permit still is under investiation by the DNR. Recommendation on that permit must come by Sept. 28, according to Ratz.

NICHOLSON SAID the planning commission's decision was sparked by three separate violations of the township's Landfill Ordinance 61.

Michigan Waste Systems requested the proposed expansion to be 60 to 70 feet in height. The township ordinance says landfills can't be higher than 10 feet, according to Nicholson.

Also, the proposed expansion is set back only 100 feet from the roadside. The ordinance calls for a 300-foot setback from the road.

Third, Michigan Waste Systems' plan does not include strips in the landfill for future industrial roadways, as stated in the township ordinance.

RESIDENTS IN CANTON, Wayne and Van Buren Township, the three communities which border the expansion area, don't want to see the landfill expansion — with or without solid-wate and/or hazardous-waste operation. They are upset with the operation and odor coming frm the current site.

Woodland Meadows landfill was developed in 1975. It is one of four landfills in the state operated by Michigan Waste Systems.

The U.S. Air Force added a reconnaissance plane to the search Tuesday. The type of plane being used identifies unnatural objects in aerial photographs via computer.

A commercial pilot Sunday reported hearing the plane's automatic broadcast beacon go off for 10 minutes. The audio beeper identifies planes in distress.

"It's a big puzzle why it stopped," said David Givens, mission media spokesman.

"It could have malfunctioned or the plane could have gone down in water."

Prayer groups across the nation are keeping vigils for the missing five, according to Mrs. Karon Berklund, Armstrong's daughter.

"The family hasn't given up hope," she said.

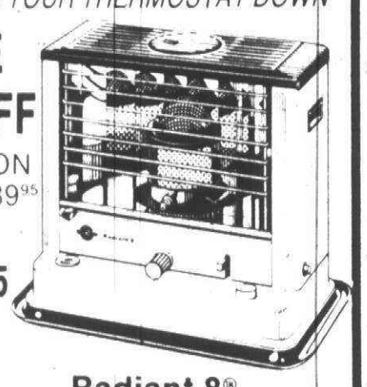

Armstrong served as director of the mission until last year.

Mortenson is a retired vice president of the Sperry Rand Corp., based in Troy.

parents should check childrens teeth!

Many dental problems can only be detected by a dentist, however, it's a good idea for parents to look at their childrens teeth between check-ups...sometimes discovering conditions that need immediate attention now, possibly avoiding more costly dental care later.
Look for: Any darkening of tooth.
Swelling of the gum around or near a tooth. A baby tooth that's still firm & it's replacement tooth visable.
A tooth out of position.

Blind Canton man hits mark in sports

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Ed Bohanon of Canton is a soft-spoken guy who doesn't particularly like to dwell on his blindness.

He'd prefer to talk about the things he enjoys, such as horseback riding and camping with his wife Glee. He does most of the household repairs and many routine chores in the couple's Keystone home.

Still, Bohanon admits that unsighted persons must depend on others for transportation, and are hampered in finding jobs.

That's why he especially enjoys a new-found sport of "beeper ball," a team activity developed for blind persons. Bohanon likes the game because it taps both male and female players of various skill levels.

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Ed Bohanon, a soft-spoken man, loves his baseball and horseback riding — and doesn't let his blindness get in the way of the activities he enjoys. Bohanon recently participated on the Detroit Metro-West beeper ball team.

"YOU'RE EQUAL," said Bohanon. "I enjoy the camaraderie of people who have the same problem as I.

"I don't associate myself with people who are down — blind or sighted," added Bohanon.

Bohanon recently finished his first season playing with the Detroit Area Beeper Ball League. Michigan Bell Telephone Co. developed a battery-powered ball and special bases used in the game.

The ball emits a beep so players can determine its direction. Foam-topped, cone-shaped bases give off a constant hum to let runners know their locations. Sighted spotters warn players when they are ready to run into someone else.

Bohanon emphasizes that he operates in "both" worlds — sighted and blind.

HE BECAME blind in 1969 as a result of complications of diabetes and a car accident. He and Glee had been married only about six months when that happened.

Bohanon left his job as a materials handler at Ford Motor's transmission plant in Livonia and learned to use a cane, took instruction in Braille and trained with a leader dog.

His wife subsequently took training and became an insurance agent. She took over all the driving chores, which was psychologically tough for Bohanon to accept.

They moved from Canton to Garden City, where the insurance agency was located, but returned to Canton three years ago.

In 1974, with the help of union officials, Bohanon was hired back at the transmission plant — the first totally blind person to work in the factory. He packed parts in boxes, remaining until May 1980, when he suffered neuritis (nerve damage) in his hands.

"ONE OF the hardest things is to make an employer know that handicapped persons and willinbg to work," he added. "Glee had a pass to drive into the plant (grounds). Everyone was always watching out for me."

Currently, Bohanon does work in the insurance agency, at Ford and Lilley. But he's "casting about for something to do."

Bohanon has been a member of both the Garden City and Canton Lions clubs. He currently is the only blind member of the organization, which raises funds for eyeglasses, leader dogs and other special needs of unsighted persons.

"You're always thinking back about the things you (used to be able to) do," added Bohanon. "The adjustments you make are only to the limit of your imagination."

The Canton Lions Club meets at 7:15 p.m. the second and fourth Thursday of each month in the clubhouse at Honeytree Apartments on Joy Road near Haggerty. Guests are welcome.

Bohanon also speaks to groups about the Lions Club and the needs of blind persons. He can be reached at 981-2781.

Team hums to victory on beeper-ball circuit

By Carol Carpenter
staff writer

Humming bases and beeping baseballs lead blind baseball teams to victory — just ask the blindfolded team from Canton, which included Canton Parks and Recreation leader Mike Gouin, an ex-pro softball player.

The Metro-West blind baseball team of the Detroit Area Beeper Ball League recently defeated Canton, 6-2.

"The only reason they (the Canton Township team) got two points was because two players peeked," said Linda Hogarth, the sighted coach who managed the Metro-West team to victory.

MICHIGAN BELL Telephone Co. developed the battery-powered ball, which emits an audible beep so players can determine its direction. It also developed the foam-topped, cone-shaped bases, which emit a constant hum to let runners know their locations.

The balls are handmade and hand-sewed in the basements of other Pioneer Group members from Michigan Bell.

Ms. Hogarth, a systems analyst at Michigan Bell for 12 years, gives credit to her versatile players, who find time for the 15-20 games per season, for their family responsibilities and for jobs such as X-ray technicians or radio announcers on WDET, which has a substation for the blind.

Ranging in age from 20-45 years old, her 15 players (five female) are from the metro-Detroit area. Local players are: Linda Merrill and Dave LaBarge of Livonia, Carol Gillinkirk of Garden City, Ed Bohanon of Canton and Mary Kay Stewart of Northville.

"A LOT OF the blind players are afraid to join at first," Ms. Hogarth said. "They think they're not athletic enough or won't be able to do it."

But they learn quickly and "get excited about being with others and doing activities others are doing," she added.

Ms. Hogarth said she could have handled twice as many players this year and would like to see some younger children on teams. But not enough people applied.

"Many of these people have never swung a bat," said Ms. Hogarth, who played softball on the Michigan Bell League for three years.

A sighted person works with the new player until he gets used to the feel of the bat and the beeping of the ball.

At first, Ms. Hogarth used to take players by the arm and position them in the field.

"But I found out that the players are very independent," Ms. Hogarth said. "They would rather do things for themselves."

Two sighted people act as spotters during the game and warn players when they are about ready to run into someone else, Ms. Hogarth said. "We try to avoid collisions, but that's not always possible.

"But we begin to recognize a pattern in how they run the bases," she said. "And that helps.

"They pride themselves on doing things," she said. And sometimes they get a little help from their friends, especially their leader dogs.

"At games, the leader dogs sit in a row and don't move," she said. "But one leader dog picked up a bat and took it to his owner whenever it was his turn to bat.

"But the leader dog eventually went blind, and the player now has a new leader dog, who doesn't take an active interest in the game, Ms. Hogarth said.

THE FINAL determination by the board Monday night that it was safe for Field students to cross Lilley at the path and for Ericksson students to cross Lilley at Saltz was made on the basis of the Auto Club's report.

Corte said under good conditions it would take students 13 seconds to cross Lilley at Saltz and 10 seconds to cross Lilley at the path to Field. Poor weather conditions would add 2-3 seconds to the crossing time, he added.

The study considered the sight distance for students to see cars and for motorists to see students; the number of cars traveling Lilley and at what speed, the number of students crossing Lilley, the age and grades of students (how many K-6 in the a.m. and p.m. and number of kindergarten only at noon), whether crossing was during light or dark conditions, turning habits of autos, number of trucks, and direction from which students came.

Corte said the study concluded that it was safe for students to cross Lilley at both points with the assistance of adult crossing guards, but safety patrollers needed to work closer with the guards. A crossing guard should only be used to stop traffic, he said, with the safety patrol used to walk students across once traffic is stopped.

Corte also recommended reducing the speed limit from 45 to 40 mph and said the Wayne County Road Commission had conducted a traffic count/speed study which also supported lowering of the limit by 5 mph.

Gobe said the Canton Police Department and the Auto Club both agreed it would be safe to cross with help of a crossing guard. Sgt. Alex Wilxon of the Canton Police Department was in the auditorium and did not speak up to disagree with anything said that night.

AT THE END of the public hearing, board President Carol Davis reminded trustees that on Aug. 10 the board voted that Field/Ericksson students would walk unless studies were made which indicated it was unsafe.

Trustee Tom Yack, supported by Glenn Schrader, then moved that the students continue to walk as the studies conducted did not indicate it was unsafe for them to do so.

Tonda indicated she would vote against the motion because the speed limit was still 45 mph, and there was no signaling device present to warn motorists that a student-crossing point was ahead.

Trustee Elaine Kirchgatter, supported by Tonda, offered an amendment to bus morning kindergartners home at noon and bus afternoon kindergartners to school at noon as they would be walking to school or home without the help of older students. Her amendment was contingent upon the noon busing being able to eliminate a crossing guard at that time.

Yack and Schroeder argued against the amendment because it would not be applied districtwide and because there was no assurance the crossing guard could be eliminated at noon because of other students walking home for lunch.

Kirchgatter argued the situation at Field and Ericksson was unique because both were on Extended School Year (ESY), and the number of kindergarten students walking varied every three weeks.

Speaking against the amendment, Trustee Sylvia Stetz said cost was a concern. Educating children was the board's first priority, she said, and money should be spent for education whenever it was possible to and for providing a safe way for students to get to school other than busing.

Tonda argued Field/Ericksson were unique because at no other school did kindergartners at noon across a street with 45 mph limit without a flashing signal. She added she lacked confidence in Corte?6's safety engineering studies based on previous work he had done for the board, including a conclusion that the overpass at Bird was a hazard.

The amendment was defeated 5-2 with only Kirchgatter/Tonda voting in favor.

Another long session

Parents air gripes

refused to give the board a copy but offered to sell one. In her presenation presentation Ms. Bak noted that in May the safety committee came to Field to walk the path but didn't because it was raining. If adults can't walk the path in the rain, why are students expected to, she asked. She also stated it was unfair to notify parents of the change four days before school was scheduled to begin. She argued the decisions were subjective and bias and not based on facts. She asked for copies of all safety studies made concerning busing at all schools in the district.

- Marlene Regan: She also accused the board of giving parents lip service and not the facts. She said some of the motions made at past meetings were prearranged "setups" to appease parents. She objected to young students walking along Lilley for a half-mile and then having to cross Proctor Road without a crossing guard or other safety devices.
- Cheryl Rivard: She reported she had been in touch by phone with state officials who assured her Plymouth-Canton school officials were improperly measuring walking distance from home to school. "If you attend a school function, you would park in the parking lot near the school and not on the road at the end of the path. That's the common sense approach which tells you how to measure." She understood the state to say the measurement should be the shortest route by public street or road, from home to school entrance.

(At this point, Dale Goby, director of transportation, said he was told by phone Monday by state officials the way to measure was from the front entrance of the school via public streets to the students' homes. Distances will be re-measured, he added, but it will be done district-wide which will be a significant step.)

- Jerry Smith: He presented the board with a letter formally requesting a safety study of the Ericksson and Field crossings by the Michigan State Police, and then verbally detailed a variety of factors he'd like police to investigate. He also asked for copies of all the study results the board had regarding safety busing.

School official lauds programs

Wayne-Westland schools

The district serves southeast Canton.

By Sandra Armbruster
staff writer

Superintendent Timothy Dyer recently challenged teachers to prove that public education is successful in the Wayne-Westland district.

"There are a few individuals who would change and dismantle the curriculum and our educational programs to make it more suitable for a past age, an age that was, rather than an age that is and one that must be," he told staff members who crowded into the Wayne Memorial High auditorium to hear his state of the schools message.

"It is clearly our assignment to resist those pressures and voices with the positive, moderate, rational view of our glories and successes," he continued.

This is the second year in a row that Dyer has given an analysis of the school system directly to the staff. The superintendent at one time did deliver addresses on the school system to the staff but at one point the practice was discontinued and such addresses were delivered annually at board meetings.

FREQUENT APPLAUSE interrupted his speech as Dyer made a number of major points about the district's ability to educate students and older residents. He said education in the district, which includes part of Canton Township, is excellent. Other points:

- By establishing goals, the district knows where it is going and why, according to Dyer. He cited Michigan state assessment tests which showed that about 23 percent of seventh grade students in the district who were poor readers had improved.

Dyer called for for continued progress and stressed the need for giving students high expectations of themselves.

"We all know that if you tell someone long enough that he/she is poor, even if he/she is rich, he'll begin to believe that he is poor," explained Dyer. "We can't lose sight of the need for high expectations and academic excellence.

"Schools are for kids," Dyer said, adding that the district has good special education, co-curricular, adult and community education programs.

- Long range planning will help the district meet future challenges brought on by declining enrollment and decreasing state aid, Dyer said. Those studies include building utilization, staff needs and allocations, supplies and materials requirements. He emphasized that "change will come by design, not chance."
- Dyer emphasized the need for a caring atmospher for students and staff members alike. A firm structure and an emphasis on achievement will make a school experience pleasant for students, Dyer said.

He added that the district's personnel department would continue to find other employment opportunities for teachers who otherwise would be laid off due to the district's declining enrollment.

Enrollment is predicted by administrators to decline to half the size it was in 1979 by the end of this decade.

- "The '80s will clearly be a decade in which money . . . will be difficult to obtain, particularly here in Michigan," Dyer warned.

He said that voters in the district have a record of passing millage requests, including a renewal last spring. A decline in general state aid to education, as well as chaos brought on by "the constant ups and downs" of funding for categorical items such as special education, have caused a loss of $1 billion during the last four years, according to Dyer.

"There is no question that the state of Michigan is balancing its budget by increasing local tax support (for schools)," he said.

- Dyer believes that community support of the school system remains strong because of programs for all ages — preschool through senior citizen.

- The superintendent, who has held the job for nine years, said the district finally has achieved a prime goal of developing a quality vocational education facility. He said that 1,400 students were to begin taking classes there on Wednesday as the new building opened operation with four shifts a day.

That includes more than 300 high school graduates in the district under age 20 who are enrolling for additional training. Those enrollments will add tot he districts' financial aid provided by the state, he said.

The vocational education center will give students a "competitive edge in the world of work," said Dyer, and "will allow us an opportunity to help in the important national need of job retraining for adults.

- Dyer predicted that the last of the construction and renovation projects being funded through a bond issue approved by voters in 1976 will be completed this school year.

- Family assistance in the district is offered through the new educational social service center with an orthopedic pool, senior citizen center, preschool day care center and administrative offices, Dyer noted.

New plan stimulates ESY pupils

A special enrichment program for elementary pupils attending school year-round has been put together by a teacher now working part-time for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

"Enrichment Through Discovery" is a program especially designed for those on an Extended School Year (ESY) schedule.

The program has been put together and will be taught by Karen Myers who is a kindergarten teacher at Gallimore Elementary.

An educator for 15 years, she has taught in Plymouth-Canton for about six years. Primarily a K-5 instructor, Ms. Myers also has taught preschool, high school, and special education for the emotionally impaired.

Besides public education experience, she has taught in residential settings, at state hospitals and public institutions, and in pre-school programs. She has taught in Kalamazoo and Buchannen as well as Plymouth-Canton.

THE PROGRAM she has put together will begin Monday in Room 1 of St. John Episcopal Church at 574 S. Sheldon, Plymouth.

"Enrichment Through Discovery' is for students in grades 1-4 on ESY," she explains. "Focusing in on the arts and sciences, Discovery sessions are designed to stimulate a child's interests in topic areas by offering hands-on, constructive experiences which are fun to do, self-satisfying, and rewarding.

"Each vacation break for an ESY student will bring to them a brand new discovery to experience."

Each Discovery session will meet one hour daily, Monday through Friday. Parents may sign up for up to six sessions during each ESY break. The cost is $12.50 for each session of five days.

For enrollment information or to register, residents may contact Ms. Myers at 459-3611. Each session is limited to 15 children.

Parents may also register from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday in St. John Episcopal Church. Ms. Myers will be present to answer questions.

The planned schedule for grades 1 and 2 is: Sept. 21-25, chemistry from 12:30-1:30 p.m. for session one and action puppets from 1:30-2:30 p.m. for session two; Sept. 28 to Oct. 2, pre-historic animals from 12:30-1:30 p.m. for session three and thumbkins (a creative art activity) from 1:30-2:30 p.m. for session four; and Oct. 5-9 from 12:30-1:30 p.m. insects for session five, and from 1:30-2:30 p.m. bird feeders for sessions six.

The schedule planned for grades 3, 4 is: Sept. 21-25, session one, experiments in weather, 2:30-3:30 p.m.; session two, 3:30-4:30 p.m., bird feeders; Sept. 28 to Oct. 2, 2:30-3:30 p.m., session three, insects; session four, 3:30-4:30 p.m. marionettes; Oct. 4-9, session five, chemistry, 2:30-3:30 p.m.; and session six, masks, 3:30-4:40 p.m.

Estate, gift taxes are topics

Federal estate and gift taxes will be the subject of a series of two-day courses offered later this month by the University of Michigan in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service. Estate tax attorneys from the IRS will instruct the classes.

Classes will include a Sept. 28-29 session in the Plymouth Hilton Inn, Northville Road near Five Mile. Classes will run from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. both days, and the $75 registration fee includes lunch.

For registration information, write the University of Michigan Extension Service, department of conferences and institutes, 412 Maynard, Ann Arbor, MI 48109, or call 764-5304.

Semifinalists for Merit scholarships

Ten high-school students from the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) are among the 15,000 semifinalists in the nationwide National Merit Scholarships competition.

The semifinalists are competing for some 5,000 National Merit Scholarships to be offered in 1982.

Semifinalists from Plymouth Canton High School include Charles H. Begian, Caroline E. Davy and Todd C. Keeney.

Semifinalists from Plymouth Salem High School include: Robert O. Bird, Kevin R. Krolicki, John R. McDonald, Thomas R. Page, Paul A. Settles, Brian B. Wallman and Robert A. Ziegler.

More than one million students from about 18,000 secondary schools nationwide entered the 1982 Merit Program by taking exams in 1980.

The semifinalists named in each state represent the top half of 1 percent of that state's high-school senior class.

The names of semifinalists are given to colleges and universities in an effort to increase the the educational opportunities of these students.

About 90 percent of the semifinalists are expected to advance to finalist standing. Some 13,500 are expected to become finalists.

More than 1,500 of the awards in 1982 will be non-renewable National Merit $1,000 Scholarships on a state representational basis. About two-thirds of the $1,000 awards will be underwritten by grants from corporate and business sponsors while the National Merit Scholarship Corporation of Evanston, Ill., will fund the remainder.

About 3,500 renewable scholarships, most worth from $1,000 to $8,000 over four years of undergraduate study, will be awarded in 1982 of which some 1,500 will be financed by about 420 corporations, company foundations and business organizations. Some 2,000 four-year awards will be underwritten by 180 colleges and universities.

• In April 1982, names of Merit Scholarships winners will be announced by each type of award. Since 1956 some 68,000 students have received more than $192 million worth of scholarships during that 26-year period.

Usury laws cost jobs

By Mike Scanlon
staff writer

Michigan law restricts residential mortgage interest rates to a maximum of 7 percent and auto loans to 12.8 percent. But loans backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government now command 15 percent annual interest.

This has led to charges that the Michigan's usury limits are no longer full-fledged citizens of the world of fiscal reality.

At least 13 separate bills seeking to change the state's interest rate caps are pending before the state House of Representatives.

But pessimistic about their chances of passage is Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, acting chairman of the corporations and finance committee where the bills are awaiting action.

"TRYING TO put 56 votes together (in the House) and 20 in the Senate is not going to be that easy," said Keith, a former banker.

"(Newspaper reporters) write good, clear analyses of these things, but (reporters) don't write the headlines. The other day in the Flint paper, there was a story with a headline saying the Legislature wants to raise interest rates.

"There's a total misunderstanding of what we're trying to accomplish with this move," said Keith.

Keith acknowledges that lifting the rate caps will almost certainly mean more expensive short-term credit. And he says many politicians are likely to shy away from being linked to higher interest rates.

But if lifting the caps mean borrowers will likely pay more, Keith added, failure to lift the caps may mean borrowers won't be able to borrow at all.

"WE ARE obviously losing investment capital leaving the state in bucketloads," said Keith.

Each $1 million invested outside the state translates to 12 jobs in the general economy, or 14 jobs in the auto industry, he declared.

"Something has to happen relative to that," said Keith. "We got these usury caps in our rate levels, 20 to 30 of them scattered throughout various laws and regulations.

"All of these caps are fine as long as the free market is underneath the caps . . . The problem is that our caps are out of synch with the free marketplace, and they're causing havoc with the state's economy.

"When you get into market conditions such as we have today, you can't pay for money at 16 percent and turn around and loan it out at 12.8 percent. You just can't do that," said Keith.

THE LIMITS now technically embodied in law are virtually useless anyway, Keith believes.

He pointed out that the 7 percent mortgage rate ceiling requirement has been suspended by the legislature every two years for the last 13 years, and the 12.8 percent auto loan limit has also been temporarily lifted.

Switch to propane could save bucks

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

An experiment is now under way in the school bus garage on Mill Street that, if successful, can bring about a savings of thousands of dollars a year in the transportation program.

It is a switch from regular gasoline to propane gas, and it has proven most successful in other areas, so Plymouth-Canton school officials are confident the gamble they are taking in converting 10 buses will pay huge dividends.

To make the switch, it would cost approximately $1,200 a vehichle, but Dale Goby, administrator of the program, claims that the school's own mechanics can do the job for $800. And this is where the savings starts.

The conversion of the motors means that the carburetor has to be reset, the fuel pump eliminated and the gasoline tank removed. The change in the fuel means that propane, which will be used, is a mixture of gasoline and natural gas. At the present market prices, it sells for 68 cents a gallon. This is 40 cents below the cost of the gasoline to the schools, that are not charged the regular gasoline tax.

"Each bus," Goby pointed out, "travels about 15,000 miles a year. So there will be an estimated savings of $6,000 a year in fuel costs for each bus. And we have 125 of them."

A bit of figuring shows that the savings in the cost of fuel would reach around $750,000 a year — if the present 40-cent gap in cost remains.

Goby pointed out, that at that rate the cost of converting each bus could be met by the savings in the purchase of gasoline in a single year.

Going a bit further, he explained that if the experiment is successful, the school district could purchase a tank that holds 18,000 gallons. There would be a savings there as the year's supply of propane gas could be purchased at one time.

Goby then explained the other avenues of benefit in the use of propane gas. The burning of the gas is not so harmful to the engine. The oil remains cleaner, and the spark plugs last much longer.

Commenting on the remark that if the bus program was being started right now, he stated that only buses that use diesel oil should be used,

"But with a fleet of busses like we have, the smart thing would be to convert to propane gas, for there could be great savings."

Some of the school districts in the area are using some propane now. One of them is Livonia, where an 18,000-gallon tank has been purchased. Wayne-Westland also is using propane in some buses, so Golby feels the gamble is worth it.

The first tanks arrived Tuesday afternoon, and the experiment was started immediately.

Golby admitted these would be anxious hours as the officials await the conversion and the buses will start making their rounds with propane gas as fuel.

"There are visions of savings of thousands of dollars if the Plymouth conversion is equal to those in such places as Florida and several cities in out state Michigan."

One of the items that interests the officials, aside from the savings in fuel, is the fact that propane is the major factor in lengthening the life of the engine, plus longer service from lubrication oil filters and the spark plugs. This has proven to be about 5 percent of the cost of operation.

Another factor, aside from costs and savings, is that the air will not be fouled with the fumes of burning gasoline and the garage, itself, will be a nicer place to work.

No end of tax cut plans being proposed to Legislature

By Mike Scanlon
staff writer

Michigan legislators have been talking about tax cuts since spring but the tax cut picture in Lansing is even less clear today than it was then.

Gov. Milliken is scheduled to propose a wide-ranging series of cuts in taxes and government spending in a 10 a.m. address today.

Meanwhile two legislative tax cut proposals that were introduced in early summer are still alive.

THE plans are:

• A caucus-originating House Republican version calling for some $1.9 billion in tax cuts over three years.

• A Democratic Senate version sponsored by Majority Leader William Faust, of Westland, calling for about $1.2 billion in cuts.

It's possible that a second Democratic proposal will be introduced in the House. This plan calls for seeking tax relief through an expanded "circuit breaker," or income tax refunds for property tax payments, suggests House Republican Leader William Bryant of Grosse Pointe.

BRYANT SAID House Republicans anticipated improvement in the state's economy over the summer when they agreed on the $1.9 billion plan last spring.

But things haven't gotten much better, and Bryant said the sustained slide in auto sales and the effect on state revenues may cause Milliken to strike a softer tone in his proposal package.

But Bryant also said he expects whatever amount Milliken proposes will be a tax and spending plan that "would use our mechanism."

IN BROAD outline, the House Republican "mechanism" calls for a simultaneous reduction in property taxes to both homeowners and renters of 20 percent and a 10 percent cut in the state's single business tax (SBT). It has been dubbed the "20-20-10" plan.

The Republican plan would partially finance the tax cuts by trimming expenditures, specifically an across-the-board cut of 5 percent in state departmental spending; elimination of welfare payments to "employable" people; reduced Medicaid provider payments; stricter standards for community placement of disturbed and retarded people; an increase in the number of hours required to obtain general education development (GED) certificates; and a 5 percent reduction from the June level in Aid to Families with Dependent Children. ADC payments were already reduced in June in what was intended as a two-month temporary cutback.

The Republican plan also links the SBT to the state personal income tax rate, while reducing the SBT from 2.35 percent to 2.3 percent. The personal income tax rate is 4.6 percent, a 2-to-1 margin the Republican plan would require be maintained in future years.

FAUST'S PLAN, which includes no proposed expenditure cuts, would make up revenue lost in tax reductions through money already set aside to finance the defeated Proposal A.

His plan would cut rates of school operating property taxes — which represents the bulk of property taxes — by 15 percent the first year, 25 percent the second year and 35 percent the third year.

County hospital revenues up in '81

Revenues at the financially troubled Wayne County General Hospital are up some $4.7 million so far this year compared to last. Apparently it's the result of both computerization and a June county decision to allow the hospital's staff doctors to form a private company.

The doctors' incorporation, called the Medical Service Plan (MSP), was agreed to by county commissioners after county fiscal advisors told them the hospital might have to be shut down otherwise. The $54 million-a-year hospital was suffering from an absence of patients, and county administrators believed letting the doctors run their own show would result in more admissions.

Since the MSP was adopted, the daily average number of patients at the hospital has risen nearly 25 percent to 249, compared to 210 last year. Revenues in July and August were some $9.4 million, compared to about $7.7 million last year. Most of the rest of the hospital staff remains county employed.

The computerization ends a previous billing policy which required patients to carry their own bills from department to department. When patients lost the bills, they were often not charged for services.

In a related move, the board Ways and Means Committee last week agreed to a separate contract with county hospital nurse anesthetists who quit in a group two weeks ago after an impasse in negotiations.

The nurses will be paid $180 a day with a minimum of 220 hours of work each year, but will give up the county's lucrative benefit package. Hospital administrators predict a 38 percent cost saving.

Two squads from the Canton Fire Department square off to start the water ball fighting event at the Plymouth Fall Festival last weekend.

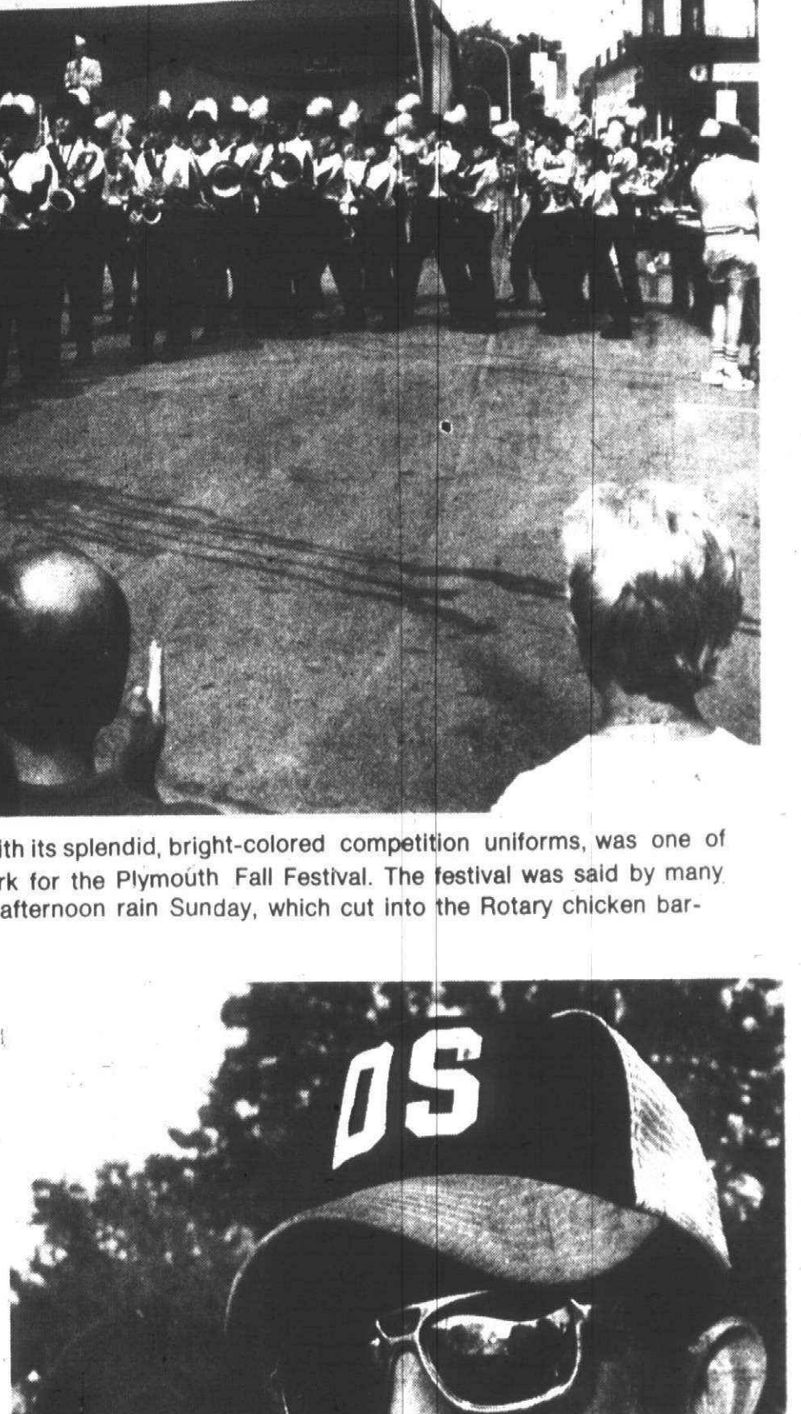

Cathy Kosikowski of Canton walks along her daughter, Kelly, 2, who is getting a pony ride in Old Village during the Plymouth Fall Festival. Leading the pony is Stephanie Ashley of Plymouth.

The Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) Marching Band, with its splendid, bright-colored competition uniforms, was one of the popular entertainment highlights Sunday afternoon in Kellogg Park for the Plymouth Fall Festival. The festival was said by many to be one of the largest ever, with the only problem being the late afternoon rain Sunday, which cut into the Rotary chicken barbecue sales.

Earl Lundin of Plymouth was among the pit crew members at the chicken barbecue Sunday. There was lots of smoke at the pits when this picture was taken as the chicken is frying right on schedule, but later in the day the pits were flooded with water during the 4 p.m rain.

Attitude as an ally

Fighting cancer

She enlists courage — and interferon

By Kathy McPhail Friedrichs
special writer

PAT SEGADI is 34 and fighting a courageous battle against cancer. And she is making some headway.

"Attitude is tremendously important," says this Redford resident. "There are days I get depressed, but not whole days. Whenever I get depressed I see the cancer inside me saying, 'Yeah! She's letting down. Now we can take over.'

"But I won't let it. I'll go down fighting."

Right now, a major battle is taking an experimental new treatment involving interferon — a controversial new virus-fighting substance that some doctors believe stimulates the growth of antibodies in the body to fight cancerous cells.

Ms. Segadi was selected to take the new drug at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing. Being in the program involves driving there three times a week for injections. It also involves paying $2,000 every six weeks because Blue Cross-Blue Shield won't pick up the tab on an experimental treatment.

And that involves keeping up her full-time job as a secretary in Southfield.

But it's worth it to her. Since she started interferon, the antibodies in her blood have increased tenfold and some of her tumors have decreased in size.

PAT SEGADI'S battle began three years ago when she discovered cancer in her right breast.

"At first I thought it was a fluke; I felt so good and healthy," she said. "I thought, 'I'm going to be the unique one to come out of this OK.'"

She had a partial radical mastectomy, and afterwards underwent chemotherapy for a year and nine months. Then the doctors took her off the chemotherapy because no trace of cancer recurred.

Then came marriage to Gary Segadi, and after that the big blow struck.

Cancer was discovered in her other breast, and this time it had spread to her lungs.

This was a different kind of cancer, the doctors told her. It was inoperable and incurable.

"They told me that if I was lucky I had four good years left," she said.

Anger was her reaction this time.

It was the timing the new bride resented. "I was so happy," she said. "It just didn't seem fair."

But she determined there was nothing she could do but keep up her positive attitude. And that she has done.

THERE HAVE BEEN repeated chemotherapy and radiation treatments. Then came acceptance into the experimental interferon program.

Those running that program have been very selective. They accept those who have advanced cancer, have not responded to other forms of treatment and who have one of four cancers — breast cancer, lymphoma, maligment melanoma or multiple myeloma.

Ms. Segadi waited for two months with crossed fingers and finally was accepted.

"I was thrilled," she said, "because deep down inside I am expecting to be cured. I would be lying if I didn't realize that. But I also figured I could help other people learn something, too."

As treatments have progressed, she finds reason for being encouraged and optimistic.

And Dr. Francis Breen Jr., director of medical oncology at Sparrow and head of the interferon program, cautiously supports her optimism.

"Pat Segadi's blood is now killing 10 times more cancer cells than it used to," he said. "If Pat remains stabilized, we would consider that a success."

ANY SUCCESS would have to be encouraging for this fighter.

She watched her father die of stomach cancer six months before her own cancer illness was diagnosed.

When she took the chemotherapy treatments, she lost all her hair and became terribly sick. Repeated intravenous chemotherapy made her veins collapse and she had to have an artificial tube inserted into her neck. The tube sticks out of her chest and needs constant maintenance to prevent infection.

And then there are the trials noted by husband Gary, things like delays in getting hospitalization claims paid, struggles with a "lemon" car that has broken down several times during trips to Lansing, and problems on the job market because she has cancer.

"It's the inconveniences and hassles that are so aggravating and discouraging," she said, like having to continually badger Blue Cross for medical reimbursements, not being able to leave the area because of weekly treatments, and always waiting for doctors.

"People really have no idea what it is like," she added.

ON THE OTHER hand, Ms. Segadi is very grateful that she neither looks nor feels sick.

"I may get a little more tired than the average person," she said, but I haven't felt any pain and live a normal life. I even went on an 18-mile bike trip this summer.

"The doctor said I should be a sicker and thinner person with as much cancer as I have. But I have even put on a little weight."

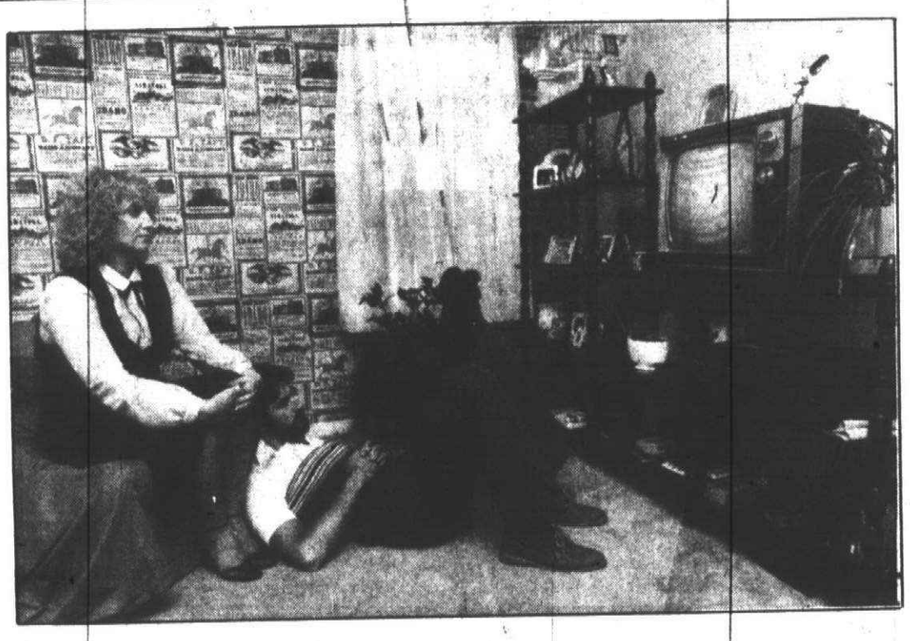

She has been on television newscasts three times, the first in a report on a mastectomy group she was in and then for a special report Channel 2 is doing on interferon.

And she has the constant support of a loving husband, a shop teacher at Smart Junior High at Union Lake.

"Pat is a fantastic lady and wife who I love very much," he said. "I want to make each day a happy one instead of a depressing one."

Despite her illness, Pat took a bike trip during the summer and enjoys riding regularly.

Pat and Gary Segadi of Redford lead a pretty normal life most of the time.

Except that three times a week Pat gets a shot of interferon as treatment for cancer. It's being administered at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing by nurse Wilma Kehler.

Interferon 'not a cure-all, but useful'

By Kathy McPhail Friedrichs
special writer

The drug interferon is experimental and controversial. But right now it's the foundation of Pat Segadi's living and a basic part of the work done by Dr. Francis Breen Jr., director of medical oncology at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing.

The drug, the doctor and the cancer patient meet three times a week when Pat drives from her Redford home to the hospital, is examined by Dr. Breen and receives an interferon shot. Once a week she gives a blood sample so the progress of the treatment can be measured.

"Interferon is a natural biological product made in our bodies in response to viral infections," said Dr. Breen. "But our bodies only make it in very minute amounts."

Sparrow Hospital is one of six centers in the country that artifically produces interferon, a substance based on the theory of viral interference. It makes use of the ability of white blood cells to fight infection.

Manufacturing this substance involves a process called pheresis, and a healthy blood donor.

DURING PHERESIS, the donor has a needle in both arms. His blood is taken from one arm, run through a special machine, and returned into the other arm.

The three-hour process extracts the white blood cells and returns the red blood cells to the donor's body, which almost immediately replaces them and seems to suffer no change in its immunity syste.

But the white cells go on to fight cancer.

They are put into a vat. A standardized virus, Sendai Virus, harmless to humans, is added. This virus is used because it stimulates the production of interferon, Dr. Breen said.

After the mixture is cultured, the interferon is extracted and purified. Then it is ready for use. The whole process takes about one month, and the dosage Pat Segadi gets three times a week requires 288 liters of blood.

That is why, Dr. Breen noted, there is a constant need for more donors of blood for the program.

INTERFERON is not a new substance, Dr. Breen said. It was discovered by Hans Strander in Finland in the 1950s. In the last 10 years it has begun to be noticed in this country.

Recently, said Dr. Breen, it has been hailed as a cancer cure-all, and he thinks that's where people went wrong.

"Interferon is not a cure-all," he said, "but it is useful in treating cancer."

Of 15 patients involved in the eight-month-old experimental program at Sparrow, the doctor said, "We have seen measurable tumor regression in half of them. In two patients, the cancer has completely disappeared."

Pat Segadi's blood is now killing 10 times more cancer cells than it used to, according to Dr. Breen.

Free, reduced lunch prices are announced

Wayne County Intermediate School District has announced the policy for free and reduced price school meals and free milk throughout the county.

The policy will be followed by all schools in Wayne County participating in federally reimbursed child nutrition programs, says Barbara Wilson of the intermediate district.

All public school district and nonpublic schools must use the same family size and income criteria for determining eligibility. The eligibility critieria follows:

Household size of one, income of up to $5,600 to qualify for free meals or free milk and up to $7,970 for reduced meal price eligibility; family of 2, up to $7,400 for free and up to $10,530 reduced prices; family of 3, up to $9,190 for free and up to $13,080 for reduced; family of 4, $10,990 for free and $15,630 reduced; family of 5, $12,780 free and $18,190 reduced; family of 6, $14,570 free and $20,740 reduced; family of 7, $16,370 free and $23,290 reduced; family of 8, income of up to $18,160 for free meals or milk and up to $25,840 for reduced meal prices.

Fro each additional household member the scale adds $1,790 in maximum income for free meals and milk and $2,550 in maximum income for eligibility for reduced meal prices.

These income guidelines became effective Sept. 1.

CHILDREN FROM families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free meals or milk, or reduced price meals.

A letter to parents with an application form will be sent to all homes by individual schools and/or districts.

The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be provided at any time during the year.

Parents who have applied for free or reduced price benefits in other school years will note some changes on the application form. The application now requires the name and Social Security number of all adult non-school members.

To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the forms contain a statement above the signature space certifying that all information is true and correct. A statement warning of penalities for misrepresentation also is included.

In certain cases, foster children also are eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals or milk for them, it should contact the school.

Children of unemployed parents may qualify for free or reduced meal prices or free milk if total current family income including welfare payments, unemployment compensation, and subpay benefits fall within the prescribed family income guidelines.

Police ask help in arson death

Redford Township police are seeking help in finding the person or persons responsible for setting a June 12 fire that resulted in the death of a 20-year-old woman.

And the parents of the dead woman, Stacy Vaccaro, a Livonia native, are offering a $5,000 reward to anyone who can provide information leading the the arrest and conviction of the arsonist.

"We've run out of leads and suspects, and we're hoping someone out there knows something that can help us break this investigation," said detective Sgt. James Laho, one of two township detectives who have been handling the probe.

"If anyone has any information, we would appreciate they submit the information to the Detroit News Secret Witness Program or call myself or detective Sgt. John Crete at 537-3710."

ANYONE SENDING information to that program should include a six-digit number on the last page of the tip, tear one corner off and enter the same number on the torn corner. The informant should keep the torn corner for later identification. The tip should be mailed to the Detroit News, P.O. Box 1333, Detroit, Mich. 48231.

"We knew from our initial investigation of the fire that a flammable substance had been used as a fire accelerant and that arson was involved, but we weren't immediately sure Ms. Vaccaro was intended to be the victim," Laho said.

"However, upon further investigation, we were able to determine that the woman was intended to be the victim by the way accelerant, identified through laboratory testing as gasoline, was distributed through the home. By the way the gas was distributed through the house, the arsonist had to know Ms. Vaccoro was inside."

Laho said four suspects have been eliminated during the course of the investigation, including Ms. Vaccoro's male friend who was the last to see her alive about 2 a.m., about two hours before the blaze erupted in the two-story wood frame home at 18672 Garfield, which she was renting.

"We know that she left work at 5 p.m. June 11 after making some arrangements to take her male friend out for his birthday," said Laho. "The two went to the Center Stage concert auditorium, arriving there sometime after 10 p.m. They left at about 12:30 a.m. and arrived at Ms. Vaccoro's home at about 1.

"HER FRIEND left at 2, and we don't know what happened between then and 4:04 a.m. when a neighbor reported the fire," Laho said.

Ms. Vaccoro's neighbors were unable to provide police any information about the fire. Her relatives don't have any idea who may have started the fire or why, Laho said.

Ms. Vaccaro, single and a graduate of Livonia Churchill High School, was found lying on her back under a pile of debris in the gutted living room.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION:
IT'S TIME TO DEFINE OUR TERMS

As recently as fifteen years ago the word "ecology" brought nothing but a blank look to the faces of most Americans, and the majority of us thought of "environment" as the neighborhood and family life we grew up in. How times do change. Today, the concept of environmental protection is as much a part of our lives as leadfree gasoline and non-aerosol sprays.

But despite the progress we've made in understanding what ecology and environment are all about, the companion term – "protection" – has proved to be about as easy to define as "pornography" – that is, it depends on who's looking.

But the situation isn't funny, because one of the lessons we've all learned about protecting the environment is that it's a very expensive job. And when regulatory agencies persist in formulating conflicting, confusing, and capricious sets of rules to be followed, the cost of the job mounts even higher – needlessly so.

Take coal burning, for example. A device known as an "electrostatic precipitator" allows us to remove virtually all the soot from coal smoke before that smoke reaches the air. Up until several years ago the precipitator at Unit 2 of our J.H. Campbell plant operated at an efficiency of about 95 percent – not perfect, but our studies showed that increasing the efficiency that last few percent would have almost no impact on air quality in the plant vicinity. Nonetheless, we were ordered to step up the removal efficiency to 98 percent, which meant installing an add-on precipitator. We did it, at a cost of $24 million – for one unit at one plant.

Is that "protection"? Or is that "waste"?

There are also occasions when environmental concern serves as a smoke screen to mask other, quite different intentions. Our Palisades nuclear plant is a case in point. Shortly before the plant was completed a group of intervenors initiated legal action to force us to equip Palisades with cooling towers or not run the plant – despite the fact that no evidence demonstrated a need for the towers. We were left between a rock and a hard place. We could install costly, unneeded cooling towers; or we could fight a long, even more costly legal battle. We installed the towers... and today, as then, studies show that they are not needed.

Is that "protection"? Or is it "obstructionism"?

There is an obvious cure for these problems created by vague and unrealistic environmental regulations – clarify the rules and apply them sensibly, making sure that one million dollars' worth of protection doesn't cost us – and you – ten million dollars to achieve.

We've all learned what "ecology" and "environment" mean. We're going to have to decide what "protection" means – and how much of it we can afford.

Duck hunters set ID class, dinner

By Lem Mesee
staff writer

Waterfowl hunting is getting to be something out of Alice-in-Wonderland, so complicated are becoming the state and federal rules and regulations affecting which birds can be killed at what times.

For those as confused as I am by those rules, check out the second of two free bird identification classes 7-9 p.m. Sept. 21.

Sponsored by the Michigan Duck Hunters Association Wayne Waterfowl chapter, the session will be in Room 53, O.L. Smith School, 23851 Yale, Dearborn. That's a mile south of Michigan, a half-mile east of Telegraph.

The association also will sponsor its third annual roast duck dinner at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 24 in the Park Place, 23400 Park, one block south of Michigan at the corner of Outer Drive, also in Dearborn. Proceeds from the $15 a person dinner will support the association and the Pount Mouillee Project.

Call Linda Borton after 5 p.m. at 261-7132 for dinner ticket or indentification class information.

THE WESTERN Wayne County Conservation Association will host its 19th annual sighting days 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. seven days a week Oct. 19 to Nov. 14 at its rifle range, 6700 Napier Road, between Five Mile and N. Territorial in Plymouth Township.

It's open to the public. There is a $5 range fee. Individual shooting tables, spotting scopes, targets, sandbags and instructors are available.

LUMBERJACKS will be the subject of Greenfield Village's first, appropriately-named Lumberjack Weekend Sept. 19-20.

From 1-3 p.m. each day, the Michigan Woodcutters Association will demonstrate various skills. About 40 contestants are expected to vie near the village glass plant in two-man crosscut, buck and Jack and Jill cross cut sawing (don't ask me what this stuff is, I'm only an outdoors writer), underhand and vertical chopping, ax throwing and land log rolling.

The village's steam-powered sawmill will be in operation both days, and the blacksmith shop will offer demonstrations in making ax heads. Films, wooden toy demonstrations, and learning to make wood block prints are also on the weekend agenda.

Village admission is $7 for adults and $3.50 for children 6-12. Senior citizens are charged $5.50 and children under 6 are admitted free.

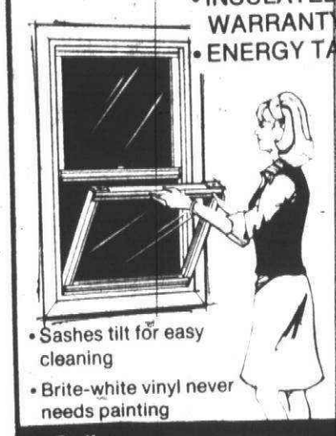

FALL HAYRIDES aboard a new hay wagon are available 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Sundays at the Kensington Farm Center in Kensington Metropark near Milford. The ride is $1 for adults and 50 cents for kids and senior citizens.

Call the park office at 685-1561 for arrangements.

Zone for smaller, affordable houses — builder

By Suzie Rollins Singer
staff writer

Home builders are being advised to persuade local governments to relax current zoning regulations to allow construction of smaller, higher density housing.

Condominiums and smaller single-family residential houses will be the wave of the 1980s, said David Link, associate publisher of Professional Builder Magazine.

"Smaller, more affordable housing products will burst into a full-blown trend by 1982," Link told a group of about 100 southeast Michigan builders last week in a meeting in the Northfield Hilton Inn, Troy.

GONE ARE the days when rambling 3,000-square-foot houses on acre parcels were popular, he warned. High mortgage rates, skyrocketing utility costs, and escalating property taxes have forced people to seek smaller living quarters.

The decision is not the builders' alone. Suburban cities and townships typically zone large lots on which only expensive houses can be built in order to maintain high property tax revenues.

During the 1980s, said Link, the 25-35-year-old buyer will represent more than 40 percent of the households in America. Builders must offer affordable housing to young, first time buyers to stay afloat.

"One of the most immediately effective ways for a consumer to reduce the cost of buying a house is to opt for smaller space," Link said.

"New one-bedroom condos for singles and young marrieds will be commonplace. So will housing units designed for shared ownership for unrelated individuals, with their two master suites."

LINK'S RESEARCH revealed 89 percent of first-time house shoppers are now renting, 87 percent consider home ownership a desirable goal, but 83 percent say the major reason they haven't purchased a house is that they are unable to accumulate the down payment.

"There are simply not enough of the right kind of existing houses in the right location to meet the lifestyles and pocketbooks of the big bulge of baby boomers," he added.

Link predicted that two- and three-bedroom houses, detached or attached, with moderate square footages of 1,000 to 1,300, will be the hottest sellers in the next few years.

"Prices will generally be $85,000 and under. These will be affordable units for the bulk of the 25-to-35 year old first time buyers," he added.

AFFLUENT empty-nesters also must be considered during the upcoming year, Link said.

"The second hottest-selling product will be two-bedroom, two-bathroom luxury housing units. Size of the most popular units will range from 1,400 to 2,00 square feet. Prices will be $100,000 and up, even as high as $300,000 or more. It's a market that has been grossly underbuilt."

The journalist calls himself an optimist when he predicts that by the latter part of 1982, interest rates will range from 12-15 percent. Adjustable rate mortgages, along with fixed rate mortgages with 5-10-year balloon payment requirements, will be popular.

Link's forecasts are based on the expectation that President Reagan's economic program will start to have a positive effect.

Joyner gets appointment

Wayne County Commissioner R. William Joyner, D-Plymouth, has been appointed to the land-use-and-growth-management steering committee of the National Association of Counties (NACo).

NACo President J. Richard Conder announced the appointment recently. The appointment is for one year.

Joyner represents the 27th District, which includes part of Westland, and Plymouth, Canton, Northville, Belleville and Van Buren.

The steering committee examines major national issues, recommends precise policy positions and interprets the American County Platform, which is the official policy statement of NACo.

Platform amendments and resolutions are submitted to appropriate steering committees for review and action and then presented to county officials from across the nation at NACo's annual conference.

Since 1935, NACo's goals have remained unchanged — to improve county government, to act as a national spokesman for counties, to serve as a liaison between counties and other levels of government, and to achieve a public understanding of the role of counties in the federal system.

The association has more than 2,000 members representing 42,000 counties.

TAX-FREE

All Savers Certificate

Available October 1, 1981

Here's what the one-year All Savers Certificate can mean to you.

- You can exclude up to $2,000.00 interest from federal income tax on a joint return ($1,000.00 on an individual return).
- Your All Savers Certificate is insured to $100,000.00 by the FSLIC.
- Your interest rate is guaranteed for the full term of the certificate, unlike other investments such as money market funds where rates fluctuate daily.
- Funds in your Standard Federal 26-Week Money Market Certificate can be transferred to an All Savers Certificate without any early withdrawal penalty on the transferred funds.
- You can participate with a deposit of $500.00 or more.

Compare the Tax-Free All Savers Rate of 12.61% with Yields on Taxable Investments.

TAXABLE INCOME ON A JOINT RETURN	COMPARABLE YIELD ON TAXABLE INVESTMENTS	TAXABLE INCOME ON A JOINT RETURN	COMPARABLE YIELD ON TAXABLE INVESTMENTS
$10,000.00	15.38%	$ 70,000.00	27.41%
20,000.00	16.59%	80,000.00	27.41%
30,000.00	20.02%	90,000.00	30.76%
40,000.00	22.12%	100,000.00	30.76%
50,000.00	24.73%	110,000.00	35.03%
60,000.00	24.73%

The yields shown in this table are based on 1981 tax rates but do not reflect the effects of any tax credits that may be available in 1981, nor do they take into account the 50% maximum tax rate on salary and wages. If tax-free interest is received in 1982, the comparable yield on taxable investments should be calculated using 1982 tax rates.

The deposit needed in your All Savers Certificate to achieve the maximum allowable deduction is $15,860.43 for a joint return and $7,930.21 for an individual return.

The interest rate that will be in effect for All Savers Certificates on October 1, 1981 is 12.61% per year if interest is retained in the account until maturity. This rate will be available on October 1 and 2, 1981. A new rate will be in effect for accounts issued beginning October 5, 1981. If interest is withdrawn during the account term, a lower total amount of interest will be paid. Federal law and regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from All Savers Certificates and loss of the interest exclusion for income tax purposes. The All Savers Rate of 12.61% is equivalent to the yields for taxable investments shown in the table.

Until October 1 earn 18%

annual interest on a temporary investment

Until October 1, your funds can be placed in a temporary investment of $500.00 or more paying interest at an annual taxable rate of 18%. If you have funds invested with a money market mutual fund or a certificate savings account maturing during September at Standard Federal or any other financial institution, this temporary investment at Standard Federal provides an excellent way to increase your interest earnings. At your request, we will then open your All Savers Certificate on October 1, 1981. During September your temporary investment is backed by obligations of the United States or its agencies. It is not a savings account and is not insured by the FSLIC. There is no penalty for early withdrawal from this temporary investment.

Commissioner blasts farm vote

To the editor:

The Canton Board of Trustees voted unanimously last week to place the $5- to $7-million farm-preservation bond issue on the November ballot. However, the ballot will not advise us voters and taxpayers what we will be assessed by the board to pay for the bonds. . . the bond attorney says that is not permitted.

So, once again, this is to be a "once-and-for-all" vote — just like the one we rejected in 1978. It is hoped that the board will present us with a resolution either supporting the bond issue or rejecting it. I know that as a subdivision voter on the east side of Canton Center Road, I would like to know how they would vote as individuals.

We subdivision folks east of Canton Center Road only have so much of our hard-earned dollars to spend in township taxes. Guess it becomes a question of priorities.

Do we want those monies to go to a few farmers (about three), some land developers and lots and lots of people that own a few acres "outback," or would we rather see some parks and recreational facilities we don't have to support directly through mandatory subdivision assessments, better police and fire protection, a sewer system that doesn't tend to back up during those 100-year rains we have in Canton about twice a year, trees for the front of our homes. etc, etc.

And above all, enough millage to develop and maintain a school system that will give our children every chance we can provide to compete in our society. . .and at the same time increase the value of our property — our homes — on the east side of Canton Center Road.

Who can be against farm preservation? It's on the same plain in America as motherhood and apple pie — but let's take a hard look at tax priorities and help the board decide "once and for all' on where we want to place our tax dollars.

Vote your preference — one way or the other — on Tues., Nov. 3. If you don't vote, don't complain for the next 20 years because the $5 to $7 million is only the beginning. It was $16 million just three years ago for the same 5,000 acres, but apparently the cost of preserving farmland is declining despite high interest rates and inflation. Truly amazing!

Labor needs revitalization

To the editor:

Before I read W.W. Edgar's column, "Like the mare, Labor Day ain't what it used to be," I wondered to myself if Labor Day was meant to be anything but a day "off the job."

I suggest it is time to take this "old gray mare" to the doctor's while life still exists in the beast."

Did you know that less than 25 percent of Americans belong to labor unions and that they are mainly concentrated in the north?

Most of us realize that economic conditions are awful in this part of the country and that the large corporations are moving everything possible out west, down south, or even to nations like South Korea. South Korea — that's a real businessman's paradise, being a U.S.-supported dictatorship where labor unions are illegal.

With food getting too expensive to eat, and a decent automobile costing $10,000, perhaps the labor unions will get off their laurels and again start to organize the unorganized.

I believe a lot of us workers still hope for a better life than massive unemployment and a decreasing standard of living.

Why can't schools define safety?

ISN'T IT AMAZING how the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education uses different criteria to define safety for children?

Take the safety-busing issue — an emotional subject which finds hundreds of parents protesting elimination of many busing routes for their children.

The board has created unnecessary confusion and embarrassment to its administration by not staying consistent with its orginial criteria for safety busing.

Safety busing occurs when a local school board allows students living within 1.5 miles of the school to be bused because of the existence of hazardous areas en route to school. By state law, districts do not have to bus students living within 1.5 miles of school.

When the Plymouth-Canton board made its annual request for the safety committee to review safety-busing routes in July, the criteria given included: grade level and age of students; adequacy of safe walking area; traffic conditions; bad-weather conditions; and the time of day.

Lack of sidewalks was not a criterion for the original decisions.

After setting these parameters for the routes and getting feedback from Ecosystems, a computer service used by the schools, most safety-committee recommendations for busing eliminations were approved by the board in early August.

BUT MORE THAN 300 angry parents came to the next meeting and challenged the board's original decisions. They threatened recalls and lawsuits.

All of a sudden the criteria changed.

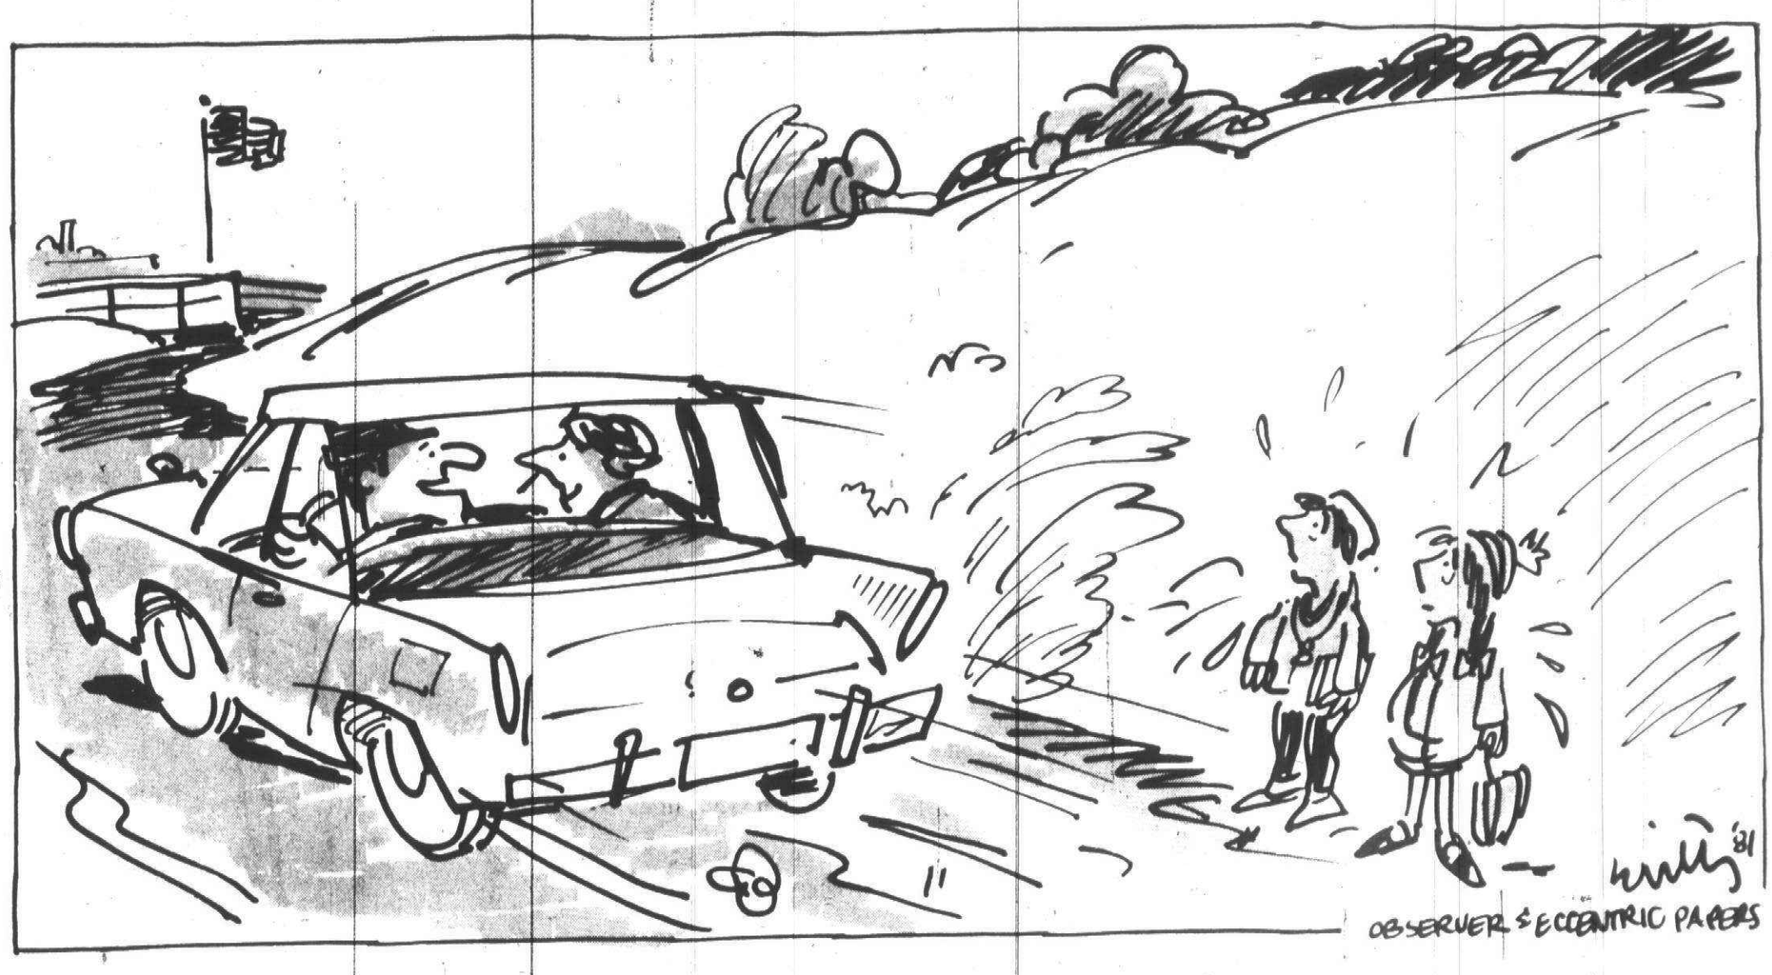

The lack of sidewalks became an issue in the decisions. And the board reinstated many of the routes.

But the pressure continued — especially from parents at Field and Eriksson elementary schools, where busing was not reinstated.

At these areas, the board decided to use gap studies as criteria — traffic studies which measure gap time between cars traveling on roads.

This criterion really doesn't measure safety, according to Canton Police, who conducted the studies. Still, the board refused to reconsider the Eriksson and Field decisions until three nights ago when a safety study from the Automobile Club of Michigan (AAA) — yet another criterion — said these areas didn't need safety busing.

Then there was the question of measuring street distance from home to school — and the criteria changed again, as parents protested the method of measuring the distance.

"Where did all the safety buses go?"

At one time there were at least three different methods of measuring this distance, according to the state Board of Education.

The administration finally decided to change its harsh method of measuring three nights ago, but stuck to its method until the state clarified measurement procedures.

While the board waited for this clarification, it was decided to remeasure street distances for kindergarten through second-grade students attending Field and Eriksson only.

The result was 50 more students receiving safety busing after they were denied — yet another way the board decided to define safety.

DALE GOBY, director of transportation and head of the safety committee, took a lot of heat from residents in the Plymouth and Canton communities on this issue, but he wasn't at fault.

Goby and the rest of the safety committee followed board direction on criteria in determining if safety busing should be continued in certain areas.

And the board changed the criteria in the middle of these decisions.

This isn't the first time criteria have been changed in issues where the board is faced with money problems versus parent pressure. It happened last spring with the boundary changes, and it happened again last month when soccer was added despite many other cuts in the athletic budget.

WHAT DOESN'T MAKE sense in the safety-busing issue, however, is the board's insistence that children's safety was more important than saving money.

If money isn't the issue, according to the school board, then why change criteria for their decisions?

It would have been easier to leave safety busing the way it was — and avoid the emotional trauma experienced by many parents.

The board is caught in the middle because it wants to respond to the needs of people in the community, but it also must respond to the financial problems of the district.

Regardless, the board must stay consistent and create fair and equitable criteria in making all its decisions.

This is what residents deserve — and it will avoid future confusion and embarrassment for the school administration.

Snobbish large-lot zoning comes under fresh attack

Tim Richard

Perhaps David Link's appeal to the profit motive will succeed where newspaper editorial appeals to morality have failed.

The topic is snob zoning. Again.

Snob zoning is done backwards from the way zoning should be done. A suburban city or township first calculates how much revenue it needs from each new house. Next it calculates the dollar value of the house to provide the property taxes it needs. Then it zones the lot size required to induce a builder to put up the expensive house.

Another term for it is cash-register zoning. The hell with what buyers need. The hell with the facts that snob zoning eats up scarce land and requires major government investments in roads, water lines, sewer lines and, maybe, sidewalks. The hell with the fact that young families can't afford them and are literally zoned out of the community.

In snob zoning, the name of the game is to induce big houses and big property tax ills. It also means big natural gas bills for heating and big gasoline bills for travel. And when cropland is subdivided, it means food will have to be brought in from a greater distance at a greater cost.

Some of us on newspapers have ranted about it for years, to no avail.

BUT I MENTIONED Dave Link, associate publisher of Professional Builder magazine. He spoke last week in Troy to a gathering of local builders.

He urged the builders to ask local city councils and township boards for a relaxation in their current zoning regulations. The wave of the 1980s, he told them, is condominiums and smaller single-family houses.

"Smaller, more affordable housing products will burst into a full-blown trend by 1982," he said.

As he talked about the rambling, 3,000-square-foot house on an acre parcel, he sounded like George Romney in the 1950s and '60s talking about the "gas guzzling dinosaur," the big car.

THE BUILDING industry is currently flat on its back. Many tradesmen have packed up and headed for the Sunbelt. Things are bad.

Yet, there is a strong ray of light at the end of the tunnel. That ray is the baby crop of the post-World War II era. They glutted the elementary schools in the 1950s and the high schools in the 1960s.

Now they are getting ready to enter the housing market.

Unfortunately, they don't make the kinds of salaries yet their parents are making. As interest rates have doubled and tripled, their payments will rise correspondingly. In order to afford a house, the wife must work.

Thus, they can't afford to have as many kids as their parents did, even if they wanted big families. And they don't need such big houses, even if they could afford them.

"THERE ARE simply not enough of the right kind of existing houses in the right location to meet the lifestyles and pocketbooks of the big bulge of baby boomers," said Dave Link.

The industry needs to build two- and three-bedroom houses of 1,000 to 1,300 square feet in the $85,000-and-under price range.

That is, if the good ol' boys and good ol' girls on our city councils and township boards will let them. Snob, cash-register zoning gets in the way.

We've all heard the Reaganites fulminate about the evils of federal government health and environmental regulations. Those are nothing compared to the restrictions in our zoning ordinances.

Those ordinances have long been branded evil. Now a spokesman for the builders is suggesting they are unprofitable.

Right on, Dave Link.

Million-dollar fights bring fond memories

W.W. Edgar

In the ballyhoo preceding Tommy Hearns' bid for the welterweight boxing title against Sugar Ray Leonard, two things which amazed The Stroller were that they were being paid millions for their efforts and that the money was in the bank before they ever entered the ring.

As he read in the daily prints how they were preparing for what was termed the greatest sports spectacle on record, The Stroller couldn't help recalling the morning in 1949 when Joe Louis informed promoter Mike Jacobs in New York that he was retiring.

Joe had defended the heavyweight title 14 times and, in his entire career, was paid a little more than $5 million. And most of that came for fights Jacobs had promoted.

NOW THAT he had come to the end of the road, it was a very dramatic moment when they bid each other good bye.

"When you quit, so will I," Jacobs said in a solemn voice. "We came up together, and now I think it is best that we leave together."

After a friendly handshake, Jacobs looked at Louis and said, "Joe, we came along just about 50 years too soon. The day will come, maybe sooner than we think, that you would be able to fight in a telephone booth and be paid millions for each fight."

It seemed like an exaggeration at the time, but Jacobs was not far wrong.

Hearns and Leonard met in a specially erected ring on the tennis courts of a resort hotel in Las Vegas, and between them they were paid $13 million. Hearns received $5 million and Leonard $8 million. If Louis and Jacobs were living today, they could hardly believe the prophecy had come true.

WHEN MIKE Jacobs and Tex Rickard before him were staging the big fights, their dream was a million-dollar gate. If they reached the pinnacle — and they did several times — they thought that was the best that could be done.

Today the paid attendance at the actual fight is only a mere part of the proceeds. Television has changed all that. Now the fight is watched on screens, live, all around the world. Fight fans pay as much as $25 to watch the fight not at ringside but on a screen.

How Tex Rickard would have reveled in this type of money-making! He is best remembered as the promoter of the famous Dempsey-Carpentier fight in Jersey City, where interest in the fight industry was at its peak.

Rickard sent an agent to France to sign Carpentier and agreed to pay the French fighter $200,000. When Jack Kearns, Dempsey's pilot, heard of this, he demanded $300,000 for the champion. It seemed outrageous — but it backfired.

Kearns had a working agreement with Rickard to share half the gate at all of Dempsey's championship fights, but he was fearful of being on the short end compared to Carpentier's guaranteed share of the purse.

BUT ON THE day of the fight, the fans gathered in such numbers that the gate passed the $1 million mark.

Kearns went to collect his end, thinking it would be a half-million. Rickard paid him the guaranteed $300,000. It was the first time Kearns ever had been outwitted.

But things have changed. Now Tommy Hearns' $5 million was in the bank a week before he stepped into the ring.

Mike Jacobs' prophecy had come true, for Hearns and Leonard were paid millions for fighting on an improvised ring on the tennis court of a resort hotel.

Did you know the town of Royal Oak practiced energy conservation in the very early 1900s? It had a small private electric plant which operated only until midnight, blinking the street lights five minutes before midnight as a warning that turn-off time was approaching. Then for even further economy, the village council decided not to turn on the lights at all when there was strong moonlight.

Photographers journey to Land of Thunder

Monte Nagler recently returned from a photographic expedition to the Pangnirtung Pass on Baffin Island, Canadian Arctic. Here is the first of three articles. Barry Franklin's Fitness column will return Oct. 8.

Monte Nagler

Thor, the god of thunder, is represented as a red-bearded warrior of enormous strength. He was an implacable foe of wrongdoers, yet benevolent toward mankind.

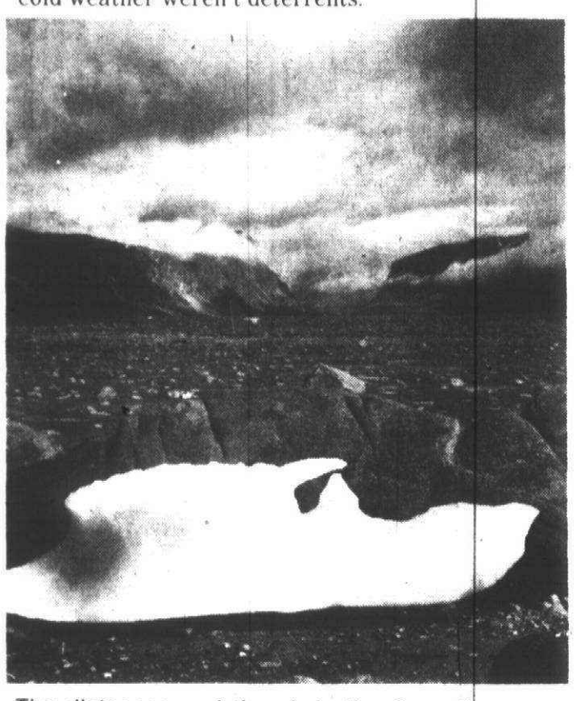

How exciting, I thought, it must be to view a mountain named after such a powerful deity. I bet myself that it would be like no other mountain I had ever seen.

While the god Thor is mythical, Mount Thor exists in all its splendor and majesty. A most worthy namesake, it is located in Auyuittuq Nantional Park on Baffin Island in the Canadian Arctic.

Auyuittuq, in the Inuit language, means "the land that never melts." It is a land of spectacular glaciers, jagged mountain peaks, and deeply cut river valleys.

A remote arctic landscape and one of the world's last wilderness paradises, it is a frontier of challenge and solitude. Dominating the land is the Penny Ice Cap, more than 2,000 square miles of solid ice, a remnant of the last Ice Age.

THE THOUGHT of photographing in such a locale atracted me like a magnet. The absence of trees, one of my favorite subjects, and abundance of cold weather weren't deterrents.

The distances and the air in the Canadian Arctic intrigue Nagler. From the ice in the foreground to the pass in the background is 27 miles.

So when I was asked to join a photographic expedition to Auyuittuq, I jumped at the opportunity. My partners in this grand adventure were close friends, Edna and Chuck Elfont of Huntington Woods, and Greg Durcharme of Niagra Falls, Ontario.

Were we crazy? Maybe, I thought. But what an opportunity to share through our photographs a part of the world so few people get to see.

Our adventure began on July 30, when we left Windsor bound for Pangnirtung, with stops in Montreal and Frobisher Bay. Cameras and film, safely packed, were our most precious cargo. We made sure all our equipment was registered with U.S. Customs, and always requested visual checks at airport security to avoid potentially damaging X-ray devices.

PANGNIRTUNG (pronounced Pang-nir-tung) is an Eskimo village with a population of about 900, mainly Inuits and a scattering of French Canadians and Europeans. With one hotel and one general store, it displayed a relaxed, refreshing pace of life.

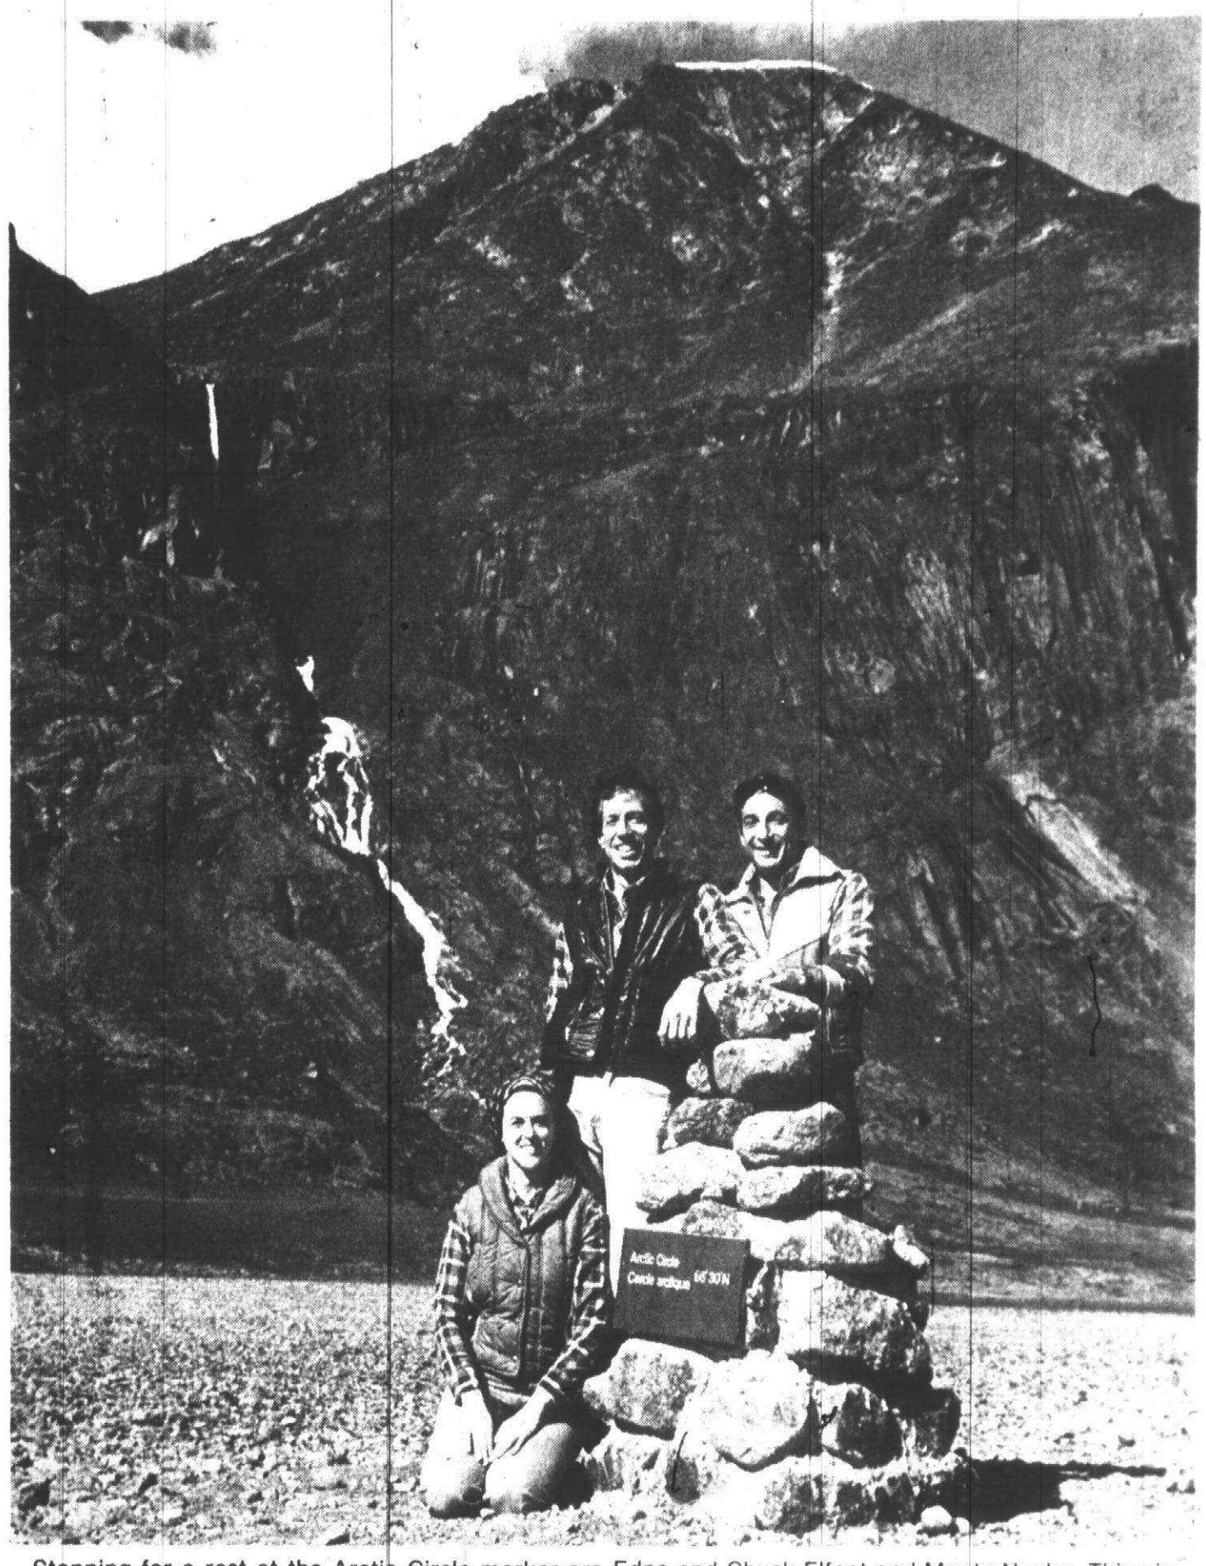

The people were friendly, and I have never seen such happy and beautiful children. We became good friends with Les Dolinger, the village manager and amateur photographer, who has our gratitude for giving us shelter and full stomachs our two days in town.

During our stay in Pangnirtung, we photographed many icebergs floating up the Pangnirtung Fiord. Because of the extremely rocky bottom under the water, low tide would leave hundreds of ice floes stranded like sculpted whales until high tide came to their rescue.

We took many exciting pictures of these shapely icebergs. Of course, we had to keep our eyes open so that high tide wouldn't "rescue" us along with the icebergs. That would have been too chilling an experience!

AFTER TWO DAYS at Pangnirtung, we were ready to begin our journey into Auyuittuq (prounced eye-et-tuk), 27 miles to the north and accessible only by canoe. The entrance is located at the beginning of the Pangnirtung Pass, a river valley 60 miles long which carves a snakelike path through the mountains.

© 1981, Monte Nagler. Next week, part two of "A Journey through the Land of Thunder."

Stopping for a rest at the Arctic Circle marker are Edna and Chuck Elfont and Monte Nagler. This picture was taken using the camera's self-timer device.

Christian organization reaches out

A Plymouth-Canton Christian volunteer organization is reaching out to provide essential services to elderly, handicapped and needy members of the community.

Members of FISH (the ancient symbol of the Christian church), are launching an informational drive to publicize the group's services and enlist volunteers.

FISH is a non-professional, non-profit organization providing direct, person-to-person care and referral services on a one-time emergency basis or in the short term to anyone in need.

Services provided by FISH include emergency baby sitting, transportation, meals, referral services and housework and companionship for the elderly or infirm.

FISH RUNS a 24-hour answering service staffed by volunteers, both high-school students and adults. FISH provides assistance not offered by established welfare agencies and promises prompt action on all calls. There are no charges for services rendered, and callers are under no obligations whatsoever.

The roots of FISH go back to the Anglican Church in England. The term FISH is derived from the ancient Greeks and is both a a word and a symbol harkening back to the earliest days of Christianity, when Christians were persecuted for their beliefs. In early Christian times, the symbol of the fish was used for purposes of recognition and as a password for secret Christian organizations.

The first American FISH chapter was founded in West Springfield, Mass., in 1964. There are more than 100 chapters in the United States today.

When a person telephones FISH, the answering service obtains the name, address and phone number of the caller. Then, a volunteer known as the FISH of the Day (FOD), contacts the person and determines the type of help required. The FOD volunteer then refers to his roster of special volunteers and selects the recruit best suited to handle the problem. An FOD volunteer usually devotes one day a month to the service.

Volunteers willing to sacrifice their time, resources and spirit are desperately needed by the Plymouth-Canton FISH chapter. FISH provides an opportunity for all people of all faiths and denominations to labor in the behalf of needy persons. Those interested in the program can get in touch with it through local church representatives or by writing FISH, P.O. Box 384, Plymouth 48170, or by calling the answering service at 453-1110.

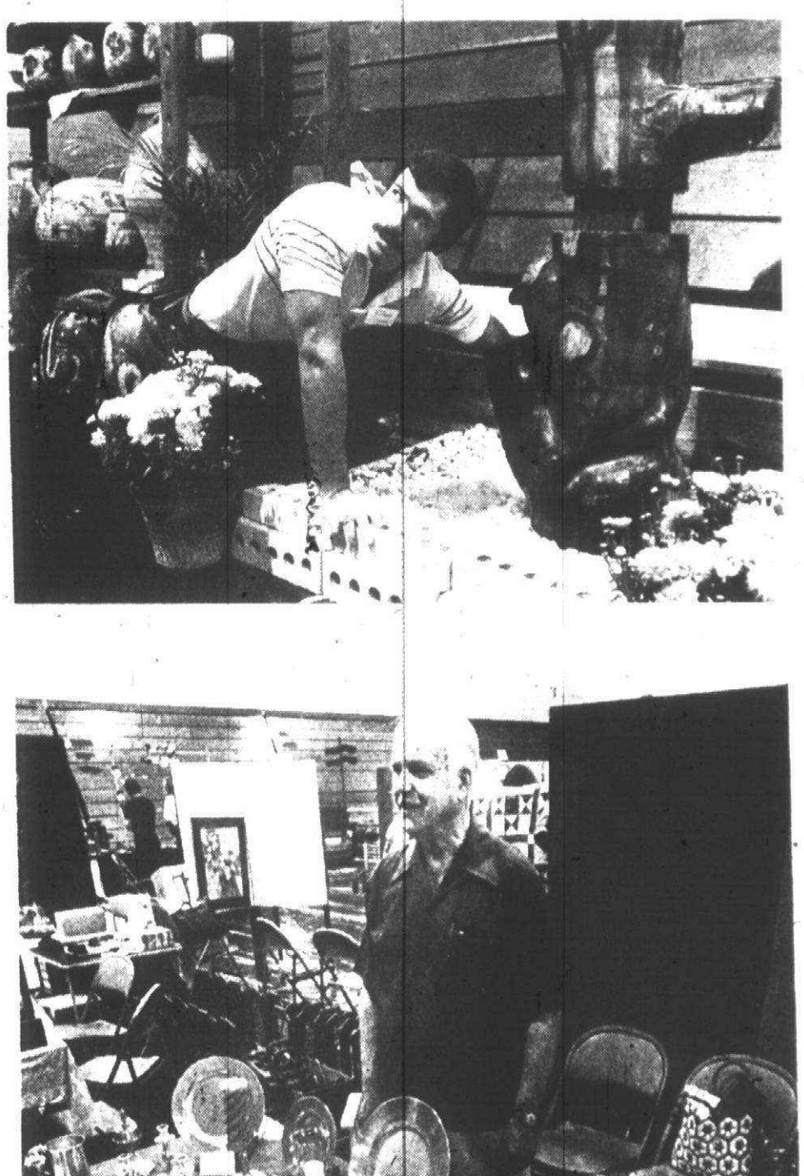

Displays art at festival

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Postors featuring bright-colored balloons advertised the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) arts and crafts show for the Fall Festival. Among the features of the showcase were a program on nature, a young artists studio, clowns, puppets, magic, rocks exhibit, a story hour, a sing-along, and the Clark Family Players. Among the exhibitors was Marilyn Curtis (at left) with folk art and tole.

Art show at Central Middle

The Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) once again sponsored an arts and crafts show in Central Middle School for the Fall Festival. Among the exhibitors were Jessie Hudson (above) of Plymouth, Mark Chatterley (upper right), formerly of Plymouth, checking out the plumbing in one of his statues, and John Groot (lower right) of Plymouth who stands by his pewter display.

Ellie Graham

THE DAY BILL Lucas came home from Bird Elementary School and announced that he was going to learn to play a recorder was not marked as a red-letter day by his parents. George and Elaine Lucas, like most parents, do not have flashes of foresight.

They did not exclaim (in unison), "This day will affect young Bill's future."

But it did.

It wasn't long until Bill was experimenting with his dad's old trumpet. His parents had it fixed up for him, and he taught himself to play it. When he went on to West Middle School, he was in the band. There were new horns and private lessons.

At Plymouth Salem High School, Bill was in the Marching Band, the Symphony Band, orchestra and jazz band. When the latter performed at a jazz festival, Bill was named outstanding performer.

He graduated from high school in 1975 and attended the University of Michigan. After two years of majoring in engineering, he made the decision — music was it.

Jim was married in June. His wife, Kathy, plays clarinet. And the latest good news is that Bill will play trumpet in the Toledo Symphony Orchestra.

Competition was tough. The judges sit behind a screen when the candidates audition. Bill was among the three semifinalists, and when they performed again, he was accepted.

JOHNNIE Crosby met Beth and Gerry Fischer while touring the Greek Islands. Johnnie was on an artists' tour conducted by water colorist Robert Wood. Beth and Gerry Fischer are former Plymouth residents who now live in Darien, Conn.

Johnnie said Dave Wood had told her the Fischers were going to be in Greece at the same time. They were going over for a retirement party for someone in Gerry's company. The Fischers were on the cruise ship Oceanis. Johnnie was one of 30 artists on the ship Jason.

They met first at the Hilton in Athens, where they discovered they were staying in the same hotel. They met again at Delphi and some of the islands.

Johnnie is full of enthusiasm over the art tour. She said she filled a whole sketchbook.

"Half a morning wasn't enough Kusaci," she said. "The ruins were unbelievable. Paul preached there, and Mary was there. But I have my sketches and slides."

I can hardly wait to see the results of this trip.

BY THE TIME this goes to print, my friend, Marian, and I will be in England.

We are not exactly taking this in stride. It is our first trip abroad, and we have been in something of a tizzy. We have had much advice, and much of it confusing.

We have been told to take our own soap, washcloths and toilet paper — that soap and washcloths are not provided in hotels, and the toilet paper is slippery stuff. We were advised that if we did not take washcloths and attempted to buy some, no one would know what we were talking about. The thing to do is go to a chemist and ask for a flannel.

Then too, we also have been assured that soap and washcloths are provided, and the TP is fine. We have collected stacks of pills to help fight off everything from head colds to stomach upsets to other unmentionables. We have been assured that at our age the customs' people won't suspect us of smuggling drugs.

We believe we shall return good friends. We've known each other for about 50 years — lived on the same street, went to school together and were roommates at teachers' college. (They called it Normal School then.)

As for traveling together, we had a trial run on a weekend in Toronto and a week in Nova Scotia. Our feet begin to hurt at about the same time.

Years ago, we almost had a brief summer vacation together. Some friends loaned us a trailer, one they had built themselves. It was parked at the lake (Erie), and they were not going to be using it. We were just nicely settled in when our mothers decided we were up to no good and hauled us home. We must have been 18 or 19 at the time.

I guess we're old enough to travel — finally.

Canton Chatter

By KATHY FREECE 981-2027

Herb Maxwell gave a surprise birthday party for his girl friend, Betty Simons. It was her first over-50 celebration. Many people believe that life begins at 40, but Betty has shown many of us that you can enjoy every day to the fullest no matter how old you are.

Herb and Betty were out shopping for garden supplies while all of the family and friends were arriving for the afternoon barbecue. The guests munched on snacks from the Mexican Fiesta while they were waiting for the birthday girl to walk in. Dinner was served a short time later, and the delicious meal was topped off with a flavorful whipped-cream torte from Hudson's Bakery Shoppe.

Marly and John Birchmeier, Kathy and Roger Dooley and Betty's children were on hand to join in on the activities and opening of the beautiful birthday gifts. When Betty opened the smallest present she discovered a pair of ½ carat diamond earrings. Good things do come in small packages.

Patti and Mike Cappuccitti, Tom and Carol Luelleman, Grace and Gerry Hysko, Dave and Nancy Luik, Kathy and Tom Bucchop, Ed and Ann Birchmeier, Tami and Gary Kistemaker and Grace Bologna all joined in the celebration for Betty's Big Day.

GARY SCHRAMM can tell you whether or not life does begin at 40 because he recently started his 40th decade with a great surprise party planned by his wife and neighbors.

Gary and his wife, Kathy, have lived in Canton just three months and are lucky enough to have encountered a super-friendly neighborhood.

While Kathy kept Gary away from his home all afternoon, the people living on their court cooked the meal, decorated the garage door with balloons and signs and made the house ready for all of the party-goers.

After dining on a delicious meal at the Roman Forum, Gary just wanted to go home and have a peaceful evening. He walked in to find his sister had arrived from Columbus, Ohio, and several other members of the family came in from other parts of Ohio to give Gary his "very first" surprise party.

When the shock wore off he proceeded to open the gifts that the guests brought along. There were lots of laughs over the traditional gag gifts of Geritol, back rubs and false-teeth cleaner but the people he works with pitched in and came up with a racquetball ensemble. He was very pleased since he is an avid pursuer of the sport.

Jeannie MacRitchie, Joe, Don and Sandy Schramm, Michelle and Duane Defer, Conrad and Denise Szdlowski, Nancy Corrello, Manny and Vickie Fernandez, Diane and Denis Edwards, Chris and Norm Dancy, Bob and Carol Plafchan, Rom and Cindy Albu, Ed and Carolyn Saboboh and Jim Horne were all singing several choruses of "Happy Birthday."

Since Gary soon will be transferred to Mexico with his company, Kathy had a cake shaped and decorated like a taco from Create-a-Cake. It was a terrific evening for everyone, especially Gary.

MARY, MELISSA, Molly and Walter Menard had a Koney Island Party for 200 people at Plymouth Township Park last weekend.

Why would they do such a thing, you ask. They won the party when Walter was the highest bidder for it on Channel 56's auction.

The party was all of the Koney's and soft drinks you could eat for up to 300 people.

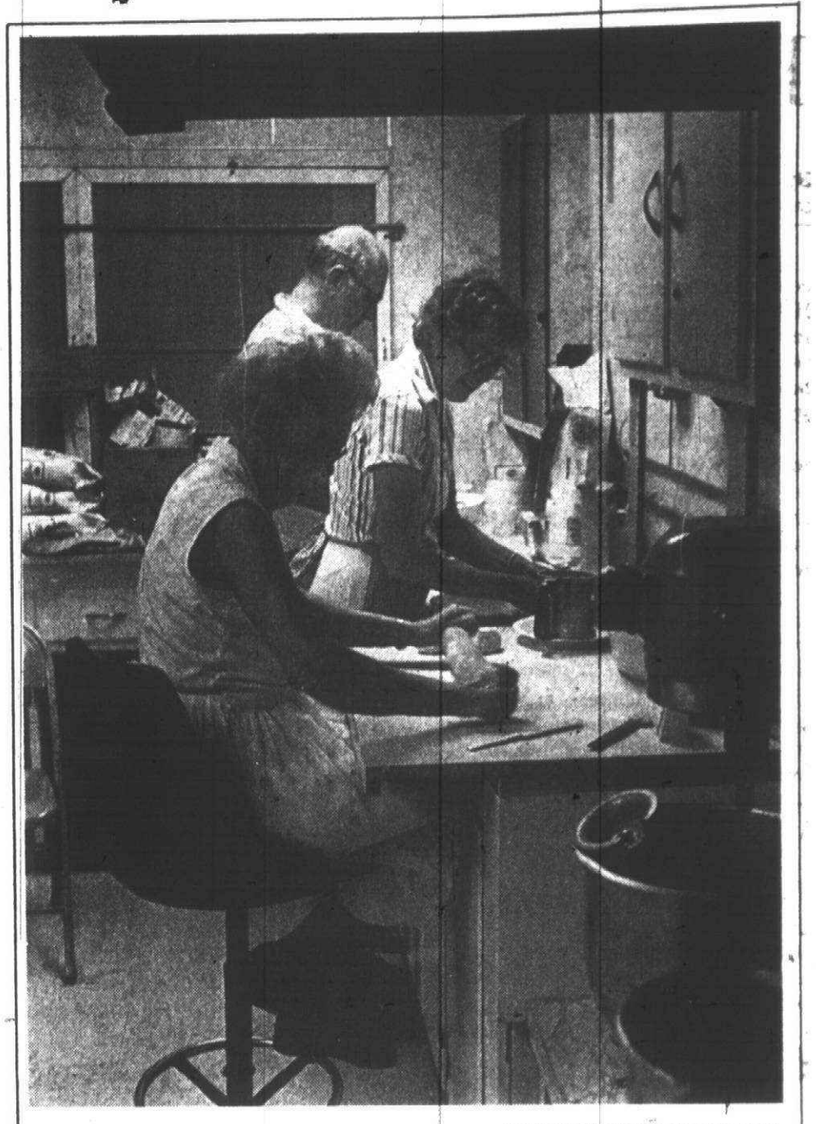

Members of Windsor Park Bowling League all were invited because Mary and Walter have been on the league for several years, and they wanted to start this season off with a bang. There were other friends invited to bring their families for a day of fun and games along with great food. Koney Island of Southfield donated the party to public television, and there was plenty of competitive bidding on this item.

Walter and Mary took this opportunity to show off their "Scrub Duds." These are hospital apparel worn as casual wear anywhere you prefer. It is a fad started on the West Coast that has spread to our part of the country. Rumor has it that they were manufactured to stop people from stealing these garments from the hospitals. For more information, call 455-2682.

They are reversible with a label on the pocket signifying a stethoscope and the "Scrub Duds" name. There also are "Little Doc's" for children which are not reversible but have their own emblem on the top and bottom pocket with a doctor's bag.

It was a fun day at the park.

How many Koney's could you eat if they were all free?

Scouts benefit

Though Girl Scout programs are intended for the young, involved adults often find they enjoy themselves as much or more than their offspring.

This has been the shared experience of more than 2,400 adult members in the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council from southern Wayne, northern Monroe, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

The Huron Valley Council, which is a United Way Agency, is seeking program specialists on a limited basis. Program specialists work with girls ages 6 to 17 in such diverse areas as technology, the arts and the out-of-doors.

Sue Strong, who's been involved with the Huron Valley organization for more than 10 years, has found that Girl Scouting is one of the best ways to meet friends and develop enduring relationships.

"Girl Scouting isn't just for the girls," Strong said. "I get as much out of it as my daughter, or more. I'll probably be a Girl Scout for years after she has graduated from high school."

NUMEROUS POSITIONS and opportunities are available through Girl Scouting.

Such activities as recruiting, troop planning and preparation, media representation and promotion, encampment and conference direction are engaged in by adults in the program.

An added bonus of Girl Scout volunteering is that training is offered free. Also, continuing education credit may be earned for structured learning experience participation that is recognized nationwide.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council is engaged in a recruitment drive through Sept. 26. Men and women of all ages are invited to participate. To get involved, call collect at 483-2370.

International tea held

Garden clubbers from across the state will gather Sept. 30 for their 28th annual international tea.

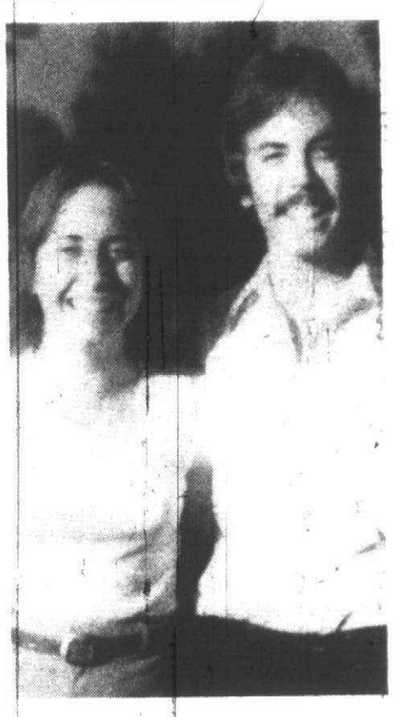

The Edsel & Eleanor Ford House has been chosen this year the Michigan Division of Woman's National Farm and Garden Association as the site for its 1981 tea.

All furnishings in the Ford House are original. The home's architecture is patterned after that of the idyllic 90-acre landscape of the Cotswolds in Worcestershire, England, the design of Jens Jensen.

Honored guests will include such notable figures as Mrs. William Milliken, the association's national president, Miss Ruth Gray, and past presidents of the Michigan Division.

Proceeds from the International Tea will go to the International Farm Youth Exchange, part of the 4-H Program.

Fisher-Jackson

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fisher of Plymouth Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to Alan Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson of Plymouth Township. The bride-elect is a 1979 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School and is employed by Travelers Insurance Company of Southfield. Her fiance graduated from Plymouth Canton High in 1978 and is employed by Associated Spring of Plymouth.

They plan to be married in April 1982.

A smile adds a lot to your face value.

Hospitals need volunteers

By David Schwab
staff writer

Plymouth resident Wanda Miller recently paid a visit to St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. It was a trip she made often as a volunteer in admitting. Only this time it was different. Wanda brought her suitcase. She wouldn't be going home that evening after her shift.

That day while she waited to be admitted, Wanda cheered up and comforted others. While working that day she met and gave encouragement to a young woman terrified at the prospect of her impending surgery.

Later, after having been admitted to the holding room, Wanda glanced to her side. There was the woman she had admitted.

But Wanda's volunteer work had not yet ended. As she lay on her stretcher awaiting the inevitable, Wanda reached over and grasped the other woman's hand.

Wanda Miller's experience as a volunteer at the hospital, and as a patient, illustrates the immense need that exists for volunteer care in hospitals. Often a physical ailment is the thing that troubles a person the least about being hospitalized. Patient's thoughts and fears often lie with those they've left behind. Sometimes it's the loneliness and isolation of a hospital stay that troubles a person most. Other times it's anxiety or a preoccupation with personal problems.

IT'S TIMES like these when the help of a volunteer can make all the difference. Sometimes the psychological lift a volunteer gives to a patient by caring is the intangible factor that makes a hospital stay bearable.

Volunteers in hospitals are assigned to work in many departments. These include admitting, communications, engineering, information, food service, offices, flower delivery, receptionist areas, physical medicine and many others.

Many of the area women who serve as volunteers at St. Joe are members of the Hazel Larson Guild. Their volunteer hours at the hospital vary, but their help has been invaluable.

The volunteers are Cathy Anderson, Virginia Breneman, Lynn Buda, Virginia Byrd, Joyce Foust, Karen Gath, Marian Gotshall, Patricia Gutherie, Eva Hatcher, Carolyn Jacobs, Jean Kee, Joan Kindree, Phyllis Kondick, Betty Laird, Janet MacKenzie and Marie Mast.

Others are Helen Merrill, Wanda Miller, Elise Murphy, y, Patricia Prchlik, Kim Rayner, Karen Sarnecki, Deborah Schnoes, Carolyn Senterfitt, Nancy Skaggs, Ann Taylor, Phyllis VanWagoner, Sylvia Vermeulen, Joan Wehmeyer and Julie Yakas.

IN THE NEW ambulatory surgery facility at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, which is scheduled to open in October, volunteers will assist staff in the surgical holding and recovery rooms.

Hospital volunteers have been called "America's amazing men and women." At St. Joseph's Hospital, any community concerned individual who is at least 14-years-old can become a volunteer.

A personal interview with, Pat Sage, the hospital's coordinator of volunteer services is the first step in becoming an angel of mercy. Applicants must give two personal references, have a preliminary physical examination and attend orientation classes.

To take that first step toward pursuing a rewarding experience as a hospital volunteer, call volunteer services, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, 572-3390.

Georgian farmhouse on Northville house tour

Homes with a variety of periods, collections and decorating ideas will be exhibited from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Thursday, Sept.24, during Northville's 14th annual homes tour.

Featured homes will include:

- A blue Carpenter Gothic cottage in Northville's historical district. Home includes American and Japanese antiques and is surrounded by gardens and landscaping.
- Robert and Jackie Daniel's Colonial Georgian farmhouse built in 1847. Improvements include a new kitchen, formal living and dining rooms and downstairs study. Williamsburg style garden is featured.
- Daniel Williamson home which is a reconverted 1800's vintage barn. A 32-foot-high foyer ceiling, hayloft view, off-white stucco walls and original beams are featured.
- Stanley Toor home accented by antiques and family memorabilia.
- Wes Henrikson Civil War Era home.
- Gary Sixts colonial style home. Family photos, needlework, and plants are featured.
- Early American farmhouse of Ken Harrison which includes antique clock collection and pieces collected during travels to England.
- Mill Race Historical Village buildings. Needlework and tapestry rug hooking are displayed.
- Downtown Northville's new look showcasing the Main Street 78 beautification project. Includes restored Marquis Theatre.

Tickets are $4 if purchased prior to Sept. 24, $5 on day of tour.

Dr. Hunter
Concern for bedwetters
— One of a series —

New hope for bedwetters.

Bedwetting is a problem — often a serious problem — that many parents approach incorrectly. They restrict liquids. They wake the child during the night.

"Meanwhile, family relationships may suffer because of the problems bedwetting causes. And, in many cases, the child may not outgrow it."

Bedwetting is rarely corrected by treating it as though it were an allergy, disease, infection or emotional problem. Such problems, after all, cannot occur only at night as does bedwetting.

But bedwetting is correctable. Correctable in the home by parents who learn what they are dealing with and who follow recommended corrective procedures.

A fine booklet on the subject is available free of charge to readers of this column from Enuresis Family Center, and is strongly recommended to families affected by the problem. Send your request to E.F.C., 23023 Orchard Lake Road (Bldg. F), Farmington, Michigan 48024.

"Bedwetting is correctable . . ."

Bedwetting called serious and harmful.

Arnold Keller, M.A., C.S.W. often works with children to strengthen their confidence and self image. He noted "if bedwetting is not corrected it can affect these areas."

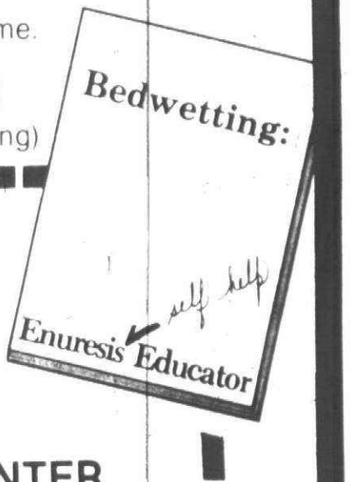

Similarly, Dr. Joseph G. Molner, M.D. noted that "The correction of bedwetting is an important mental health aid. It is very harmful to the child, distressing to parents and can lead to serious complications later in life."

Enuresis specialist Dr. Dennis I. Hunter agrees. He explained that most bedwetters are actually very deep sleepers and do not even know when the bedwetting occurs.

"Parents are almost never to blame for a bedwetting problem," he said, "but their failure to bed-train a child can be as serious as the lack of toilet training. The emotional damage that can accompany 'waiting it out' makes such advice a risky gamble."

Top churchmen keynote assembly

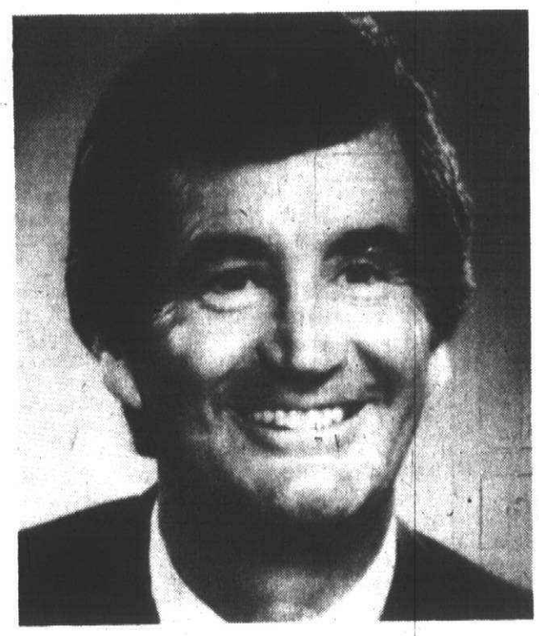

Dr. Francis A. Schaeffer and Dr. D. James Kennedy, internationally known as evangelical church leaders, will give keynote addresses at the first General Assembly of the Evangelical Presbyterian Church, to be hosted by Ward Presbyterian of Livonia Sept. 22-24.

Both will speak at evening worship services that will be part of the assembly, and both services will be open to the public. Ward Church is at Six Mile and Farmington Road.

Representatives of several churches around the country, recently banded into the new denomination, are expected to attend the assembly, which will be preceded by a Sept. 21-22 conference on church-growth ministries.

This gathering, also open to the public, will feature Dr. Bartlett L. Hess, Ward's senior pastor, in a Monday afternoon meeting, and Dr. Dean Wolf, pastor of Faith Presbyterian Church at Aurora, Colo., on Tuesday morning.

The EPC denomination now has an office at 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia, and those interested in attending any of the sessions may call the office at 427-3640.

KENNEDY, senior minister of the Coral Ridge Presbyterian Church of Fort Lauderdale and known for his expertise on evangelism, will address the opening worship session for the assembly.

His topic will be "God's Purpose for His Church."

The speaker has written a textbook, "Evangelism Explosion," which is used worldwide.

Schaeffer, known to thousands as founder and director of L'Abri Fellowship retreat, also is author of numerous books and has produced film series titled "How Should We Then Live?" and "Whatever Happened to the Human Race?"

His topic for the EPC's first general assembly will be "To Be God's Church in the Midst of the 20th Century Confusion."

Hess will speak on "Revitalizing the 20th Century Church," and Wolf's speech will deal with "Structuring for Freedom and Effective Church Leadership.

Workshops for the preassembly conference, designed to equip participants for local church ministry, will deal with evangelism and outreach, church management, identification and placement of spiritual gifts, developing a singles' ministry and theological resources.

THE EVANGELICAL Presbyterian Church was organized in a gathering at Ward in March. It has adopted the Westminster Confession of Faith to express its doctrine. Its members are agreed on freedom without mandate to elect persons of each congregation's choice to leadership positions and ownership of property by the local congregation.

The Observer & Eccentric will be happy to help locate classmates for school reunions. Submit announcements to Margaret Miller, Observer & Eccentric, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. If telephone numbers are listed, they must be accompanied by full names.

● DETROIT CODY 1956

A 25-year reunion for the class that graduated from Cody High School in 1956 is being planned for 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. Oct. 3 at Bonnie Brook Country Club, 19990 Shiawassee south of Eight Mile.

Those who have not been contacted about the event may call Sandy (Scholtz) Thies at 464-7339.

● DETROIT ST. JUDE 1951

Classmates are being sought for a 30-year reunion of the class that graduated in 1951 from eighth grade at St. Jude school. Reservations should be made with Carl Pesta at 465-5770 by Sept. 20.

● DETROIT PRECIOUS BLOOD

A reunion of the Precious Blood elementary school class of 1956 will be held 6-10 p.m. Oct. 10, at the parish social hall, 13436 Grove, Detroit. The event will begin with mass at 6 p.m. Admission to the party is $5, payable at the door. More information is available from Barbara Spender at 464-1614.

● DETROIT ST. ALPHONUS 1945-46

● WESTLAND FREE METHODIST

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Cranston, Free Methodist missionaries to the Philippines and Indonesia, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 19, in Westland Free Methodist Church, 1421 Venoy near Palmer. They also will take part in services at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday.

The Cranstons began serving in the Philippines in 1963, centering their work mainly at the Light and Life Bible College in Butuan City. Cranston served as director, teacher and college choir director. He also has served as pastor of the college church, as well as mission and conference superintendent. Mrs. Cranston taught at the Bible college and was its librarian.

In 1978 they transferred to Indonesia. After intensive language study, Cranston began pastoral training classes while Mrs. Cranston began Bible studies for women.

Before going abroad, Dr. Cranston was superintendent of the Florida Spanish Mission of the church.

● PILGRIM'S MISSION

Revival meetings at Pilgrim's Mission Church, 5737 Middlebelt, Garden City, will feature the Rev. J.M. Sullivan, evangelist, of Salisbury, Md. He will speak at services at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 17 through 27.

● GRAND RIVER BAPTIST

Singer Diane Hull will present a concert of sacred music at 7 p.m. Sunday in Grand River Baptist Church of Livonia, 34500 Six Mile. She has toured the country as a singer and concert pianist and also writes music and lyrics.

● PEOPLE'S CHURCH

"Let the Church Grow" is the title of a course that will be presented each Sunday evening for 12 weeks starting Sept. 20 by People's Church of Canton, 153 Corinne. It will be held from 7-9 p.m. in Faith Community Church, 46001 Warren, Canton.

Developed by the Institute for American Church Growth, the class is designed to teach and implement the principles that make for successful church growth. It involves the study of the local church, its community, the Biblical principles of growth, how the church can minister to its community and set church goals.

Baby sitting will be provided. For information, call the Rev. Harvey Heneveld at 981-0499. People's Church meets each Sunday at 10 a.m. in the cafeteria of Plymouth-Salem High School.

● ST. KENNETH CATHOLIC

"Eros Agape," a three-week program focusing on Christian marriage, will be offered during September and October by St. Kenneth Catholic Church, 14951 Haggerty, Plymouth.

Guest speakers will be William Greenman on Sept. 17, John Farrar on Sept. 24 and Robert Scanlan on Oct. 1. All have had experience in education and communication and in how to deal with stress.

The program will be held from 8-10 p.m. Thursdays.

● GARDEN CITY PRESBYTERIAN

Children in the Sunday school at Garden City Presbyterian Church, 1841 Middlebelt, will be led in worship during the 11 a.m. school hour this weekend by the Sacred Dance Choir of St. Paul Presbyterian Church in Livonia. All the classes will be able to participate in the dance and worship time. The dance choir is led by Peggy Cass.

● NEWBURG UNITED METHODIST

An American Red Cross blood drive, open to the public, is scheduled 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday at Newburg United Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia. To make an appointment, call the church at 422-0149.

● CANTON CALVARY

Gary Wilson, assistant professor of art at Monroe Community College, will minister at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at Canton Calvary Assembly of God, 7933 Sheldon, between Joy and Ford. Referred to as "super potter," Wilson often makes pottery while delivering his message. He also uses a life-size "clayman" known as Uncle Lumpy (played by Neil McCloud) to illustrate the way God shapes and molds a Christian life.

Wilson has appeared at Women's Aglow workshops, artists' workshops and churches of various denominations.

● LIVONIA MORMONS

Women of the Relief Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints will learn how to live within a budget at a 7 p.m. meeting Tuesday, Sept. 22, in the Livonia Ward Chapel, Six Mile and Merriman. They also will receive instruction in making tote bags and canning applesauce and grape juice. For reservations, call Peggy Nichols at 425-6131 or Debbe Belcher at 532-1094.

● ST. DAMIAN CATHOLIC

A harvest card party sponsored by the Altar Sodality of St. Damian Catholic Church, 29825 Joy, Westland, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 23. The event will feature Maurice salad and homemade muffins and cookies. ● ST. MATTHEW UNITED METHODIST

The United Methodist Women will hold a fall retreat from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 22 in St. Matthew United Methodist Church, 30900 Six Mile, Livonia. A fee of $2 includes registration and lunch.

● ST ROBERT BELLARMINE CATHOLIC

A festival with sit-down dinners, rides, booths and refreshments will take place Sept. 18 through 20 at St. Robert Bellarmine Church, W. Chicago and Inkster, Redford.

● HOLIDAY BAZAAR

Applications are now being accepted for participation in the Annual Holiday Bazaar to be held on Nov. 7 at Nativity United Church of Christ, 9435 Henry Ruff Road at West Chicago Road. Those interested in renting a table may call Shirley Benedict at 421-2429 or Delores Graunstadt at 427-1513.

Holy Cross has new pastor

The Rev. Merlin Jacobs has taken over the leadership of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, a Lutheran Church in America congregation at 719 N. Newburgh, Westland.

The Rev. Merlin Jacobs
Holy Cross pastor

Jacobs, the fifth pastor in Holy Cross's 18-year history, succeeds the Rev. Rev. Richard Schultz, who left June 1 to serve another pastorate.

The new pastor grew up in Sidney, Neb., and attended Concordia Senior College. He graduated in 1977 from Christ Seminary-Seminex at St. Louis.

While a student he served Immanuel Lutheran Church at Jackson and assisted the pastor of Advent Lutheran Church in St. Louis, and after graduation from seminsar he interned for nine months at Olivet Lutheran Church of Detroit.

Jacobs and his wife, the former Ann Augustin of Kenesaw, Neb., are making their home in Westland. Mrs. Jacobs, a music education graduate of the University of Nebraska and proficient on the oboe and English horn, is working toward a master's in performance from the University of Michigan.

Worship workshop planned

A clown ministry and a pair of church musicians will be featured in a workshop communication and worship scheduled today and Friday, Sept. 17-18, in Metropolitan Methodist Church, 8000 Woodward, Detroit.

Presenters for the ecumenical event, titled "Word, Water, Bread and Wine," and sponsored by the School for Ministry, will be Floyd Shaffer, head of the Clown Ministry of Metropolitan Detroit, and musicians Richard Avery and Donald Marsh.

The workshop runs 1-8:30 p.m. today and 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday. Participants will move in festival procession from the Methodist Church down Woodward to the Blessed Sacrament Cathedral. The fee for the two-day course is $30.

Oakway Symphony kicks off new season

A football team kicks of its season once and doesn't know whether it will reach a bowl game. Oakway Symphony Orchestra will kick off its season of subscription concerts twice and knows for sure there will be a post-season cabaret concert.

A football team practices in private. Oakway will precede each of the six concerts with a public preview at a shopping mall.

"The orchestra is strong at 90 members," said Francesco DiBlasi, principal conductor and music director since Oakway was formed nine years ago.

"We have a strong violin complement, with Emily Mutter Austin returning as concertmaster. There are still some openings for a viola, two cellos and a string bass.

"We rehearse at 7:30 p.m. Mondays in Harrison High School in Farmington Hills. You can call the Oakway office at 476-6544 for an audition appointment," DiBlasi said.

That number also may be called for a brochure and ticket order form. Persons who purchase membership in the Oakway Symphony Society, Inc. get a discount on tickets, and their contributions are deductible under the federal income tax.

"AN EVENING on Broadway" will open the subscription series at 8 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 3 and 4, respectively.

Both concerts will be in Harrison High, 12 Mile west of Middlebelt. (Other concerts also are rotated between Birmingham, Southfield and Livonia.)

"The program will be all Broadway, with selections from 'My Fair Lady,' 'Sound of Music,' 'Oliver,' 'Porgy and Bess,' 'The King and I,' 'Fiddler on the Roof' and 'Oklahoma,' " DiBlasi said.

"Ralph Valatka, formerly director of the Southfield Players, is directing this program. He's also director of the Gonzo Theater at the Book-Cadillac Hotel.

"Dolores Allison will do two dances to music from 'Chorus Line' and 'Jesus Christ Superstar,' " DiBlasi added.

Vocal soloists will be Marily Mercer Hedquist, who sang the lead in Oakway's 1980 performance of Puccini's "Sour Angelica;" David Pulice, who has sung in Gilbert and Sullivan performances and with the Kenneth Jewell Chorale; Barbara Scanlon, who has sung in "Camelot" and "The Sound of Music" and in dinner theater; and Mark Vondrak, who has sung in "The Magic Flute" and "Hansel and Gretel."

ALL OTHER concerts will be at 3 p.m. Sundays. The lineup:

- Nov. 15 in Birmingham Groves High School — pianist Maria Meirelles as soloist in the Brahms Piano Concerto No. 1. Community orchestras rarely tackle the works of Brahms because of their difficulty, DiBlasi said. Ms. Meirelles last season played all 32 Beethoven piano sonatas in Detroit's Orchestra Hall and has toured in the United States, Mexico and South America.
- Jan. 24 in Harrison — the Harbinger Dance Company, directed by Lisa Nowak. "Their background is classical, but it's done in a modern vein," said DiBlasi, who will also conduct the orchestra in Prokofiev's Classical Symphony.
- Feb. 14 at Madonna College, Livonia — winners of the Young Artists' Competition will be soloists with the orchestra in movements from concertos. The actual competition will be the weekend of Jan. 15-16 and is open to the public.
- March 14 in Southfield-Lathrup High School — Gordon Staples, concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will be soloist in the Tchaikovsky Concerto for Violin and Orchestra, one of the half-dozen best and most difficult violin concertos.
- May 16 in Harrison High — a two-hour, fully staged version of Bizet's "Carmen," directed by Alice Engram, head of the voice department at Oakland University. This will be Oakway's first venture into opera since "Soeur Angelica," a one-act opera. "Carmen" will be in four acts.

ONE-HOUR previews of each program will be performed prior to each concert in either the Tel-12 Mall in Southfield or 12 Oaks Mall in Novi.

The "Broadway" preview will be at 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27 in Tel-12. Ernest A. Jones, popular guest conductor and friend of the orchestra, will lead part of the program.

In December, Oakway will take part in non-subscription performances of Tchaikovsky's ballet "The Nutcracker" in Livonia and Southfield. Times and places will be announced later.

The cabaret concert will be at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 3, at Madonna College, Livonia. Sonny Eliot, television weatherman, will narrate Allan Sherman's "Peter and the Commissar," a parody of Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf." Guest conductors will be Jones and Sister Mary Francilene VanDeVyver, president of Madonna. Cabaret tickets may be ordered separately.

The president of the Oakway Symphony Society this year is Richard Thompson, provost of the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College. He has been a board member three years. The former English instructor has written many of the advance media stories on Oakway concerts.

Soloists in concerts with the Oakway Symphony this season include pianist Maria Mierelles, who will perform Nov. 15, and Detroit Symphony Concertmaster Gordon Staples, on March 14.

Ramones brings its rock and roll fun to Nitro's

By Nick Charles
special writer

Sheena may be a headbanger and Suzy may be a punk rocker, but The Ramones are real rock and roll. Although they're not the most fashionable band in the land, they know what they're doing.

The Ramones will bring their great music and great fun Friday and Saturday to Nitro in Redford Township. There will be no age limit to enter.

Not a bad thing has been said about these guys (even Johnny Rotten likes them). The New York based-band has been called the innovator of American Punk (not new wave).

The band's strong underground success may be spilling over into the commercial market. The new album, "Pleasant Dreams," (Sire Records), which was produced by 10cc's Graham Gouldman, contains 12 short and lightning-quick tunes by vocalist Joey and bassist Dee Dee.

Gouldman has also enjoyed a strong songwriter career. The talented bassist wrote "For Your Love" and "Heart Full of Soul" for the Yardbirds, "Look Through Any Window" and "Bus Stop" for The Hollies and "No Milk Today" for Herman's Hermits. All were Top 10 singles.

GOULDMAN ALSO co-wrote the 10cc hits "I'm Not In Love" and "The Things We Do for Love."

He decided to lend his producing talents to the Ramones and, by George, I think he's got himself a winner. The songs are still all Ramones which is the sign of a good producer. He does, however, sneak in a Baker-ish fade from Dee Dee's "You Didn't Mean Anything to Me" to "Come On Now."

The album contains seven tunes by the gangly leader of the pack, Joey. A Cooper-like feeling is created in the catchy "We Want the Airwaves (that's right, that's right)." And with this very commercial tune they may just get them.

A Pink-Floyd-ian slip of an alarm clock precedes a very Doors-sounding beat before the Ramones style is evident on the humorous "It's Not My Place (in the 9 to 5 World)."

Joey also tries his hand at an '80s version of "Last Kiss." The all-new and all-Ramones song is sweetly titled "7-11" but don't let the title fool you. "She's a Sensation," "The KKK Took My Baby Away" and "Don't Go" all contain catchy Tootsipop lyrics tied up in a melodic yet dancable wrapper.

JOEY GETS semi-realistic on "This Business Is Killing Me." On the tune he sings: "Can't please all the people all the time, But then they don't please me."

Next in the songwriting spotlight is Dee Dee, who is responsible for writing five of these little masterpieces.

"You Sound Like You're Sick" may not be the song you want to sing to your sweetheart but it has it's place in society (would you believe out of society?). Move over, Adam and the Ants. Dee Dee has his own dancable sound on the percussion-filled "All Quiet on the Eastern Front."

Aided, of course, by the faithful lead guitar work of Johnny and the happy beat of Marky on drums.

"Sitting in My Room" is a nice little number, but how did this line about sniffing glue get back on an album, Dee Dee?

If you still didn't get the message, listen to the album and you can't help but have "Pleasant Dreams."

upcoming

● HOT LEDERHOSEN

Male contestants will compete in a Hot Lederhosen Contest Friday-Sunday at the 1981 Downtown Oktoberfest at Hart Plaza in Detroit. A Yodeling Contest will start the weekend off at 6:30 p.m. Friday. The Oktoberfest also will feature authentic oompah bands, a German sing-along from 8-9 p.m. Saturday, German food, the world's largest pretzel, and a miniature Black Forest in the Cultural Gallery.

● "APPLE TREE"

The Dearborn Players Guild will present the musical, "The Apple Tree," as the season's opening production at 8 p.m. Friday-Sunday and Sept. 25-27. Cast members in the first segment include Linda Gawronski of Livonia as Eve and Alex Mestas of Farmington Hills as The Serpent in the Garden of Eden. Tickets are $5.50. Call 565-5392 for further information.

● JOLLY MILLER

Destination Love has returned to the Jolly Miller at the Plymouth Hilton, 14706 Northville Road. The group has two young vocalists, Joyce Julian and Barbara Beal. The singers are backed by Ron Longgrear on bass and Mike Zelenka at the keyboards. The Jolly Miller's information phone is 459-4500.

● COUNTRY MUSIC

The Statler Brothers, winner of the Country Music Association's best vocal group award for the last seven years, will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday at Eastern Michigan University's Bowen Fieldhouse in Ypsilanti. Tickets for the EMU concert, sponsored by the Office of Campus Life, are $8.50 for reserved seats and $7.50 for general admission. For further information, call 487-3045.

● TEEN ANGELS

Center Stage will present Teen Angels at 9:30 tonight through Saturday at 39940 Ford Road, Canton. Doors open at 8:30 p.m.

● ECLIPSE JAZZ

Miles Davis in concert will kick off the fall season '81 for Eclipse Jazz at 8 p.m. Saturday at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor. Tickets are on sale at the Michigan Union Box Office and all CTC outlets. Ticket information is available at 763-6922. The new season for Eclipse Jazz will continue with Blood Ulmer at 8 p.m. Oct. 16 at the Power Center, Betty Carter at 8 and 10:30 p.m. Nov. 6 at Union Ballroom and Dave Brubeck at 8 p.m. Dec. 15 at Hill Auditorium.

● NEW SOUND

The Lenore Paxton Organization is appearing Mondays at Jimmy's in the Holiday Inn, 10 Mile Road and Grand River Avenue, Farmington. The group has added the sounds of high-energy contemporary guitar, bass, drums and keyboards to the songs of Linda Ronstadt, Pat Benatar, Santana and Air Supply. Paxton instrumental and vocal originals also are played, for dancing and listening. The musical foursome appears beginning at 9 p.m. Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays at Bob & Rob's, John R south of 12 Mile Road, Madison Heights.

● MODERN "MACBETH"

The cast will be dressed in stone-colored judo outfits and leotards for the Attic Theatre production of "Macbeth," opening Friday and continuing through Oct. 31 at the theater, 525 E. Lafayette at Beaubien, in Detroit's Greektown. Actors will perform barefoot in an empty stone-colored stage area with almost no props, under natural lighting that will embrace both actors and audience. Tickets are $6-$8. For more information, call 963-7789.

● ONCE MORE

"One Mo' Time" continues through Sunday at the Masonic Temple Cathedral Theatre in Detroit. The two-hour musical and dance revue recreates a night at the legendary Lyric Theatre in New Orleans with Big Bertha and her touring company. For more information, call 832-2232.

● AT PONTCHARTRAIN

Johnny Guarnieri, an autumn regular at Chuck Muer's Top of the Pontch for the last three years, has returned for a six-week stand at the skyline night spot in downtown Detroit. Guarnieri, said to be the most-recorded pianist of the 1940s, plays for dining and dancing beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesdays-Saturdays. Joining him is Jerry McKenzie on drums and Danny Jordan on bass.

● COUNTRY STARS

Tammy Wynette and George Jones, two of country music's most popular entertainers, will perform in a concert to benefit OU's Athletic Scholarship Fund at 7:30 p.m. Sunday on the grounds of the Meadow Brook Music Festival on the Oakland University campus near Rochester. The concert is presented in cooperation with WWWW Country (106 FM). For ticket information, call 377-3190. The concert was rescheduled from an earlier date.

● COMEDY CAPERS

Three comics will appear at Comedy Capers in two shows at 8:45 and 10:45 p.m. Friday-Saturday at Stafford's, Orchard Mall, West Bloomfield. Featured are Marla Lukofsky from New York's Improv and the Los Angeles Comedy Store; the Amazing Jonathan from San Francisco, originally from Fraser, Mich., and Al Aprill from Jackson, Mich. For more information, call 851-8952, anytime.

● STRICTLY POPS

The music will be "Strictly Pops" when the West Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra presents a benefit concert at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the West Bloomfield Auditorium, 4925 Orchard Lake Road (at Green Road), West Bloomfield. "Strictly Pops" is a benefit of the West Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra, and all musicians participating have donated their services. All seats are reserved. Tickets are available at the symphony office, 5640 W. Maple Road, Suite 201 (near Orchard Lake Road), West Bloomfield. For telephone orders on charge cards, call 626-1560 during regular office hours, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday-Friday.

● "MEAN STREETS"

Encore Cinema Club Ltd./Cranbrook p.m. will open the 1981-82 season with "Mean Streets," directed by Martin Scorsese, at 8 p.m. Monday-Tuesday at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, 500 Lone Pine Road, between Cranbrook and Lahser Road, Bloomfield Hills. The film stars Harvey Keitel and Robert DeNiro. The evening includes commentary by Elliot Wilhelm, director of Detroit Film Theatre at the Detroit Institute of Arts. A gourmet dessert with coffee or tea is served at 7:30 p.m. For ticket informtion call 645-3635.

Dear John & Marsha,
Greetings from your nutty neighbors vacationing a few miles away at the Michigan Inn! What a trip this is turning out to be! Harry says the best thing about it is the weekend package price ... just $39.00 a night for our room and only $15.00 more each night for the kids' room (any Thursday through Sunday by the way) ... but I say it's the meals we've had. I don't know what to rave about first - their fantastic Friday Fish Feast, our divine dinner last night at the Benchmark or their sumptuous Sunday Brunch! We may never leave! Love, Joanne

Event celebrates 'The Dinner Party'

Schoolcraft College will celebrate Judy Chicago's monumental art work, "The Dinner Party," with a champagne reception and candlelight dinner Tuesday on campus at Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia.

The evening's festivities will begin at 5:30 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Theater with the documentary film "Right Out of History: The Making of Judy Chicago's 'Dinner Party,' " directed and edited by Johanna Demetrakas.

Tickets for "The Dinner Party," which includes the film, champagne reception and candlelight dinner, are $20 per person.

Schoolcraft's Master Chef Robert Breithaupt and the college's culinary arts department will prepare the meal. A champagne reception featuring hors d'oeuvres and canapes of quiche, crab casino, brochettes, caviar, salmon and anchovy is planned.

DINNER IN the Waterman Campus Center will begin with caesar salad, followed by Long Island duckling a l'orange, candied South Carolina yams, broiled tomato and Black Forest torte. A beer and wine cash bar also will be available.

Chicago's "The Dinner Party" is being exhibited in Chicago through Dec. 31. It already has been viewed in San Francisco, New York, Boston, Houston and Cleveland.

"The Dinner Party" is the art work of Judy Chicago and 400 other artists who worked for five years under her direction. It is a triangular table, 48-1½ feet on each side, with 39 place settings individually designed to honor 39 women in history.

Women featured include Elizabeth I, Sappho, Sacajawea, St. Bridget, Susan B. Anthony, Margaret Sanger, Emily Dickinson, Virginia Woolf and Georgia O'Keeffe. Many women's groups throughout the world have scheduled private dinner parties whenever the exhibit opens in a new locale.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling 591-6400, ext. 265.

Players offer British comedy

The Birmingham Village Players will present Alan Ayckbourn's "Bedroom Farce" at 8:30 p.m. Sept. 25-26 and 7:30 p.m. Sept. 27 at the playhouse, Hunter and Chestnut south of Maple Road.

The play is produced by Audrey Wheat, directed by Gene Ewald and assisted by Helen Shalvoy. "Bedroom Farce" is a contemporary British comedy focusing on one night in the lives of four couples — Ernest (Bob Bowes) and Delia (Jo Ewald); their newlywed son, Trevor (Steve Pew), and his wife Susannah (Priscilla Sommers); Nick (Jerry McKeon) and Jan (Carol Burton); and Malcolm (Don Brown) and Kate (Sue Beck).

Tickets are $4, $3 for students. For reservations call 644-2075. Tickets also may be purchased at the playhouse prior to performances.

Hilberry revives 'Bedroom Farce'

Maria Angela Tirabassi (left) and William Neil Dalley intrude on Elizabeth Gulick Eastman in "Bedroom Farce," a wry comedy by Alan Ayckbourn opening the Hilberry Theatre season Sept. 25. "Bedroom Farce" is about a couple who inflict their marital miseries on their best friends, surprising them in their own bedrooms in the wee hours of the morning. Tickets are available at the Wayne State University Theatre box office, Cass and Hancock, Detroit (577-2972) and at most Detroit-area colleges and universities.

"Poppy" (1936), 12:25 tonight on Ch. 50. Originally 75 minutes.

W.C. Fields was hardly over the hill when he made "Poppy" (at age 47), but he was facing a transition. For the first time in his life, Fields' legendary drinking habits had left him suffering from delirium tremors and requiring much rest. No longer a young man, Fields would later learn to settle into such mature parts as "The Bank Dick."

"Poppy," then, features neither the young, physical Fields nor the older, adroitly cynical W.C. Instead it offers Fields at his worst — for the most part. "Poppy" — a remake of "Sally of the Sawdust," Fields' early film collaboration with D.W. Griffith — is still worth seeing for the wonderful scene in which Fields sells his talking dog to a naive buyer. The skit's punchline is worth the price of admission. Rating: $2.

"The Graduate" (1967), 7 and 9 p.m. Friday in the Liberal Arts Theater, Schoolcraft College, phone 591-6400, ext. 380, $1.50. Running time 105 minutes.

"If you want to send a message," Bing Crosby used to say, "call Western Union." For a long time, "message pictures" — films more concerned with content than style — were shunned by Hollywood. Only the Europeans dared make movies that concerned themselves with classism, disorientation and alienation.

But that's not to say the Europeans made better films, for many filmmakers (Goddard and Bergman, for example) often sacrificed form for the sake of the message. Excessive workmanship destroyed the finished product.

Director Mike Nichols presents a beautiful blend of content and style in "The Graduate." He also sends his audience a message without slapping them in the face with it.

Ostensibly concerned with how a young man spends his time after college, "The Graduate" manages to say more about the disfranchisement of youth during the '60s than films which purport to be solely about that subject. The key, however, is Nichols' ability to present his message and to wrap it in a funny, entertaining and moving film package (with a fancy bow provided by Simon and Garfunkel, who wrote the film's lilting score).

Dustin Hoffman, Anne Bancroft, Murray Hamilton, William Daniels and Katharine Ross star. Nichols won an Oscar for best director.

Rating: $3.40.

● CLOSE THE GAP

Monty W. of Bloomfield writes:

"In this position, my opponent, white, rolls a 2-2 and proceeds to bear off four checkers on the 2 point.

"Of course, with me on the bar, I tried to explain the danger of leaving the double gap (2 and 3 points) but they insisted the move was correct. With the double open point, they have quite a few rolls that leave a shot. Well, I stayed on the bar another three rolls while my opponent safely whisked by the open 2-3 points, never leaving a shot.

"I would appreciate your opinion on the double two move so I can end an argument."

Naturally, I agree with your logic. Voluntarily leaving a double gap in the home board while bearing off with your opponent on the bar is dangerous because you have increased your odds of leaving a shot unnecessarily.

Most often, a beginner would prefer to bear off checkers as opposed to improving the position of the home board, not realizing the full danger of the "gaps." On occasion, however, leaving a gap may be forced to prevent leaving a direct shot.

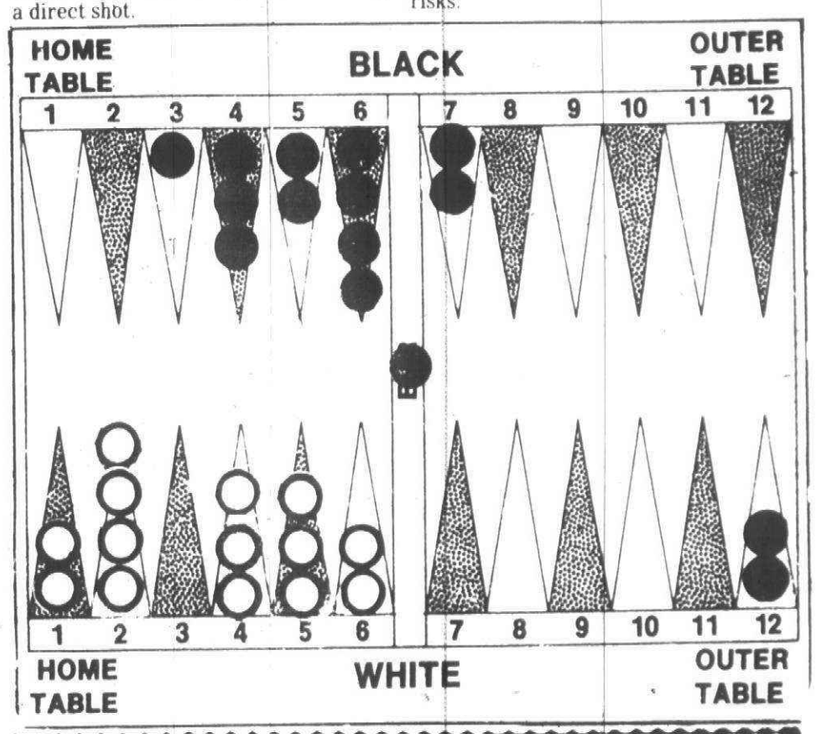

In your situation, it would have been nice for your opponent to leave you a shot or two on the 2-3 point and for you to hit to prove your point. Unfortunately, since your opponent temporarily escaped disaster, they may continue to make such plays until disaster befalls them.

However, you should feel gratified knowing you are correct, regardless of the result.

Although there are two sound plays for the double two roll, my suggested move would be to move all three checkers from the 5 point to the 3 point and move one checker from the 4 to the 2 point. Now the only gap white has to clear is the 5 point, with 6-1 and 5-1 (4 out of 36 chances) as the only bad rolls.

White could move both 6 point checkers to the 4 point and bear off two checkers from the 2 point. But if black comes off the bar on the 3 point, white may soon leave a shot.

Closing the gap is by far the most effective play in a position where you are faced with several choices. In a game where a gammon is not certain, there is no reason to take unnecessary risks.

Red-hot Canton soars past Eagles

By Jay Keenan
special writer

Plymouth Canton made a drastic turnaround in its shooting percentage and gunned down Redford Thurston, 56-50, in a girls' non-league basketball game Tuesday night.

The Chiefs, who have been plagued by poor shooting in their first two games of the season, hit 29 of 50 shots from the floor en route to their second win of the year. It was Thurston's first defeat.

"The girls were over 50 percent from the floor tonight, and they had been shooting only 20 percent in the first two games of the season," said Canton coach Mike McCauley. "When you're 29 for 50, its damn good."

It was Pearly Cunningham who sparked Canton's attack. The senior guard-forward did not miss a shot and finished the night with a game-high 20 points.

"Pearl was just super," said McCauley. "Ten for 10 is just outstanding."

Thurston coach George Heger agreed with McCauley.

"Cunningham played an outstanding game," he said. "She was just tough to stop.

Canton started out fast by building up a 9-4 lead with 2:12 left in the first period on a layup by Cunningham. The Eagles, though, rallied for eight unanswered points and grabbed a 12-9 advantage thanks to two consecutive baskets by Vicky Pellerito in the final minute of the quarter.

THURSTON obtained its biggest lead of the night, 25-19, with 2:30 remaining in the half on a basket by Linda Kerr.

But Canton rattled off eight points to close the gap to two, 29-27, heading into the dressing room.

The Chiefs went to work in the third quarter when Colleen Crissey tipped a jump ball into the hands of Cunningham, who drove in for a layup with 6:50 remaining in the period. That gave Canton a 31-30 lead.

Thurston regained the lead briefly, but the Chiefs went ahead to stay on a bucket by Robyn Hudgins at the 5:35 mark.

Canton finished the quarter with a 41-37 lead.

Cunningham tallied eight of Canton's 15 fourth-quarter points to wrap up the victory.

"Canton is very aggressive tonight, and we missed about 10 uncontested layups," said Heger. "If you do that on the court, your team is in trouble. Especially when the other team is shooting well."

The Thurston coach said his club needs more teamwork.

"The girls seemed a bit mixed up tonight," he said. "We'd call a timeout and try to straighten things out, and they'd make the same mistakes again.

"IT WILL be awhile before we get it together. In a few games we'll be back in it when we start playing the league games. Considering that Canton played all summer, and we didn't, my girls didn't do that bad."

Sue Gerke chipped in with 10 points for the Chiefs. Reggie Ruggiero tossed in six.

Louri Mack paced the Eagle scoring attack with 16. Ruth Arney added 10.

Hewlett will sit out 1981 season

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

The collegiate football career of Rich Hewlett, the former Plymouth Salem all-stater, has taken a detour that will keep him missing from the Michigan lineup this season.

In the latest move — in the face of keen competition for the quarterback position — Hewlett has been red shirted. This means that he will be kept idle during the present season and plans are now under way that he will return next spring as a defensive back.

Hewlett, who will continue to practice with the team, was a surprise starter at quarterback two years ago in the season finale against Ohio State.

The fates started to move against Hewlett when he suffered an ankle injury during the second quarter of that game and was forced to remain idle the rest of the season, including Michigan's appearance in the Gator Bowl.

With Hewlett being forced out of action, coach Bo Schembechler called on John Wangler, a good passer, to return.

Hewlett started the first two games of 1980 before yielding to Wangler, who guided Michigan to a Big 10 title and a Rose Bowl victory.

After a strong showing in the spring game, Schembechler decided to go with Steve Smith, a speedy sophomore from Grand Blanc, in the No. 1 spot.

AND WITH the emergence of Livonia Stevenson's Dave Hall and the return of former starter B.J. Dickey after a year's suspension, Schembechler felt he had adequate depth at quarterback.

It was then the coaching staff decided to give Hewlett a look in the defensive backfield.

To top things off, Hewlett developed a sore arm prior to pre-season practice and was nagged by a bruised finger, preventing him from throwing for two weeks.

The ex-Salem standout has faired well in practices and confided to friends that he likes it "back there." He said he wasn't under pressure in the defensive backfield and rather enjoyed "knocking the other fellows around."

By sitting out this season, Hewlett will still have two years of eligibility remaining.

The shift will make little difference in his academic career as he plans to enter business school, which is a five-year program, the same as his split tenure of eligibility.

Swim invite Saturday

Plymouth Salem will host the six-team Rotary Girls' Swim Invitational for the second straight year Saturday, and according to meet director Bill Faunce, the Rocks are the front-runners for the championship trophy.

"It really is a toss up," said Faunce. "But I would say that it is between Salem, defending champ Northville and Brighton. At least on paper."

Plymouth Canton, Westland John Glenn and Livonia Franklin round out the field.

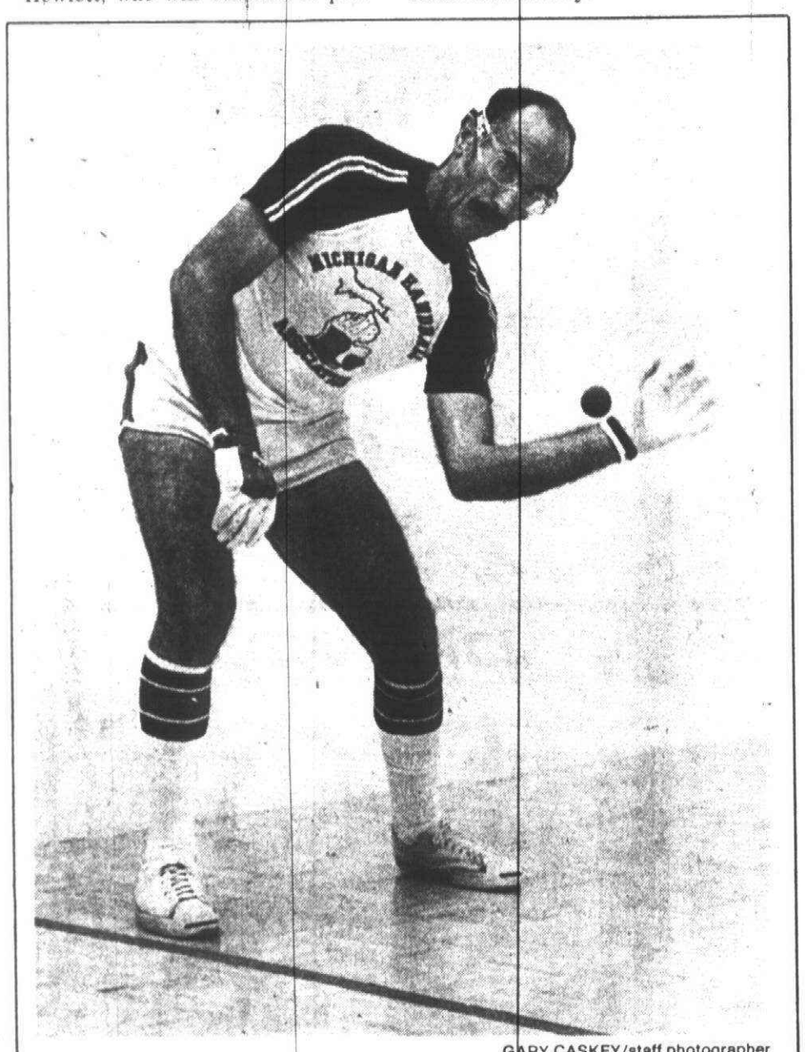

Salem's Corrine Cabadas is the only returning first place finisher for either Plymouth team. She won the 100 yard breaststroke a year ago.

The diving preliminaries start at 10 a.m. The swimming events follow at 1:30 p.m. The diving finals start immediately after the swim heats.

Tickets, available at the door, are $1 for adults. Students will be admitted free.

The Rotary Club is sponsoring the event and will donate medals and trophies to the winners.

"Salem has the depth," said Faunce, "but Northville has the better swimmers up-front."

Salem kickers trip Farmington

Call it a Rock'em, soccer'em opener.

Plymouth Salem rallied for two second-half goals to defeat Farmington, 2-1, in an injury-riddled boys' soccer game Tuesday afternoon.

The Rocks, playing their first prep game in the school's history, came alive after reserve Charlie Ploughman collided with a Farmington player and was rushed by ambulance to a nearby hospital with a concussion. He was treated and later released.

In the first half, a Farmington player went down with a broken leg, causing a 20-minute delay.

Salem, which trailed 1-0 at haltime, scored the equalizer when Jeff Neschich found the net on a pass from his brother, Paul.

Right winger Keith Reynolds tallied what proved to be the winning goal with 10 minutes remaining as Paul Neschich gained the assist.

Salem outshot the Falcons, 28-12, and dominated most of the second half.

TODD CHAPMAN was the winning goaltender.

Rock coach Ken Johnson also singled out Neschich and Bob Bowling for their stellar defensive work.

"I'm very pleased with the way we came back," said Johnson. "It was a good game for us. We seemed a bit nervous in the first half, but in the second half I thought we outplayed them."

Salem will shoot for its second straight win of the young season Thursday against Northville at Schoolcraft College.

Tank trio sinks Harrison

Terri Eudy, Amy Dunn and Kelly Brandt each won two individual events Tuesday as Plymouth Salem routed Farmington Harrison in a girls' swim meet, 102-64.

It was the season opener for both teams.

Eudy, an all-Observer selection two consecutive years, captured both the 200-yard individual medley (2:20.0) and 100 butterfly (1:04.8).

Brandt, a senior, was victorious in the 200 and 500 freestyles with times of 2:16.1 and 6:11.4, respectively.

Dunn, a sophomore, took the other two freestyle events, the 50 and 100 with times of 27.3 and 1:00.5, respectively.

Eudy, Corinne Cabadas, Dunn and Debbie Darlington teamed up to win the 200 medley relay in 2:03.1.

The Rocks also won the 400 freestyle relay in 4:31.5. That team consisted of Ellen Wall, Ruth Ettinger, Renee Rudin and Pam Rode.

Other individual winners for the Rocks included Cindy McSurely, diving, 195.75 points; Darlington, 100 backstroke, 1:10.9; and Kim Nelson, 100 breaststroke, 1:18.7.

Cabadas took second in the 50 free (28.2) and third in the 100 free (1:01.1). B.J. Bing, a sophomore, was second in the 100 butterfly with a clocking of 1:09.2.

Salem swimmers gaining third place spots included Robin Cummings, 500 free, 6:27.8, and Sallie Weimer, 100 backstroke, 1:17.4.

REDFORD UNION 102
CANTON 65

Redford Union garnered eight of 11 first places in beating Plymouth Canton in its girls' swim season opener Tuesday, 102-65.

Sisters Julie and Laura Waligora won two events each for RU.

First place finishers for Canton included diver Shawn Neville, 151.85 points; Kathy Stern, 100 butterfly, 1:12.0, and Missy McMurray, 100 freestyle, 1:02.6.

Canton golfers defeated

It was a good news — bad news day for the Plymouth Canton golf team Monday.

The good news was that sophomore Tim McManaman fired a 40 and was the Chiefs' medalist in only his first match, giving coach Casey Cavell added depth. The bad news was that just about everyone else didn't quite play up to par, and Canton fell victim on its home course to Western Six League rival Walled Lake Western, 215-218.

Ken Morton fired a 42, and Dave Musch shot 45 for the Chiefs.

Western's Bill Draheim was overall medalist for the day with a 38 at Brae Burn Golf Club.

"Today, except for McManaman, our inexperience hurt us," said Cavell, who saw his team's record drop to 1-1 overall and 0-1 in the league. "I think this will make us a little tougher.

"I know we have the ability now. I know it's there."

Salem cagers romp

Plymouth Salem bolted out to a 25-6 first-quarter advantage and never looked back as the Rocks pounded Ypsilanti in a non-league girls' basketball game Tuesday night, 58-29.

Jan Mackenzie, a senior forward, tallied eight of her game-high 14 points in the first-period outburst.

In that quarter, Pam McBride and Eileen Moore each tallied six. McBride, a sophomore, finished with 10 points. Moore had five assists.

Jacque Merrifield, a junior guard, pumped in 11 points on the night. Ann Glomski, a reserve forward, hauled down nine rebounds.

Salem coach Bob Blohm explained his team's first quarter surge: "We got some easy shots that our kids knocked in the basket. And we played good defense and scored off some turnovers."

Salem outscored Ypsilanti, now 0-3 overall, 20-7 in the second period to take a commanding 45-13 lead at the half.

"I anticipated it would be a rough and tough game," said Blohm, "but he's (Ypsi coach) playing without three starters (two ineligible and one injured), so that really hurts them."

Salem, now 3-0 overall, will travel Thursday to meet Trenton in a Suburban Eight League opener.

Lonigro stresses 'team concept'

By Jay Keenan
special writer

The Plymouth Canton soccer team, which will begin its first season Friday at Farmington, has coach Tony Lonigro trying to persuade his players to develop a solid team effort.

"We have good players in all of our positions," said Lonigro. "We just need to get some good teamwork from these kids in order to make this program go.

"Many of these kids are experienced through the leagues and a lot of guys are doing real well, but I'm trying to get them to realize that it requires teamwork in order for us to be good."

Lonigro, however, said that his players have shown a willingness to improve ever since his team kicked off practice two weeks ago.

"When we first started practicing, I explained all of the positions to the players so they can understand them better," he said, "and they seem to be learning them well."

This year's team is comprised of 11 juniors, five seniors and three sophomores.

Holding down the forward positions will be seniors Mike Grady and Peter Kinsler along with juniors Scott Cherry and Eddie Hintz. Sophomore Tom Wright is also in contention.

BATTAGLIA and Furbacher will also see action at forward.

Playing fullback will be juniors John Burns, Wade Higgason, Jamie Jones; seniors Kinya Murakami and John Heimsen; sophomores Jim and John Luce and Brusa.

Canton's goalie is Eric Becker, a senior. Mike McDonald is the team's manager.

The Chiefs, who will play eight games this season, will be classified as an independent and will not be eligible for the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) tournament.

Canton will compete next year in the Western Suburban Soccer Association.

"We hope to win as many games as we can and will put our best efforts to do so," he said. "But if we lose, it will be an experience and we'll learn from our losses."

PLYMOUTH CANTON'S 1981

Rock harriers 2nd

Livonia Stevenson opened the 1981 cross country season Tuesday by winning a triangular with Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton at Cass Benton Park.

Ken Dubois won the three-mile race with a time of 15:34 as Stevenson scored 28 points. Salem finished second with 36 followed by Canton in third with 67.

Salem's Frank Brosnan and Brad Haertel placed second and third, with times of 17:08 and 17:19, respectively.

Canton's top finisher was Dan Henry, who gained sixth place with a time of 17:46. Salem's Skip Whittaker was seventh in 17:47.

Canton, which won the meet last year, ran the meet without two of its top performers, Brian Jones and Joe Kacic. Both are out with injuries.

Art Lopez (right) in practice with his partner Vince Magi, shows the form that made them national handball champs recently in the Golden Masters Division (over 50).

Local duo deserves hand

By Scott Adler
staff writer

Vince Magi and Art Lopez might be up in years, but they certainly aren't over the hill.

Magi, 51, and Lopez, 50, won the United States Handball Association (USHA) National Doubles Three-Wall Championship (Golden Masters Division) held recently in Maumee, Ohio.

And according to Magi, a Canton resident, he's only just begun.

"You could say we ended a long dry spell," said Magi, who started playing handball to keep in shape during the off season when he played baseball at Michigan State in 1948. "The game is a lot of fun and I enjoy the camaraderie, too. I like competeing against the best."

Lopez, who resides in Bloomfield Hills, "got serious" about the game 12 years ago.

"A friend of mine went to the doctor and was told he had to lose weight," said Lopez, who is a salesman at Vision Craft. "He asked me if I wanted to go to the U-D gym and play. I enjoyed it and have been playing ever since."

Magi and Lopez entered their first tournament together about five years ago, and according to Lopez, they are "one of the longest standing doubles teams around."

"WE'VE BEEN doing quite well lately," said Lopez. "We won the Belle Isle Invitational and finished fourth in the Michigan Doubles Three-Wall (tournament)."

Magi and Lopez specialize in the three-wall competition, which is played outdoors. And as the name states, the players are only able to use three walls. There is no back wall as in Racquetball or other types of indoor handball.

"It's a different type of game," said Magi, who teaches at Detroit's Cody High School. "There is a lot of overhand power shooting from behind the line."

Magi's particular prowess at the three-wall power game stems from his baseball career as an outfielder at MSU and later with the Minnesota Twins AA farm team.

BOTH PLAYERS use a glove while playing. The glove, however, is not used for protection of the hands, but is instead used to keep the ball from getting wet.

"It's a thin glove," said Magi who plays three or four times a week and jogs. "It doesn't protect your hand, but after a while your hand gets conditioned. You go through the agony, but it's worth it."

Lopez, who plays two or three times a week, agrees the novice has to pay his dues.

"That's why most people give it up (because of the pain)," he said. "But if you stay with it, the rewards outweigh the pain."

Handball is Magi and Lopez's only sports outlet and both plan on playing as long as possible.

"This takes up all my time," Magi said. "When I'm not doing this, I'm resting because I'm tired."

"I'll play as long as I can throw a ball to the wall," said Lopez. "It's a game that just stays with you."

C.J. Risak

'Green' prognosticator takes cue from Einstein

My cohort in sport, Brad Emons, fared well enough in the season's opening week, picking eight winners in 11 tries.

I'd call it skillful insight if I hadn't witnessed his method — drawing teams out of a hat.

Now it's my turn. I won't predict 100-percent accuracy, but I will use more scientific methods than a hatful of hopes.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN AT LIVONIA STEVENSON — An interesting match-up of cross-town rivals — at least it was, until Franklin got three bad breaks against Plymouth Salem in losing its opener, 21-3. All three breaks came in starting quarterback Chris Panzl's arm as he attempted to make a tackle while playing defense.

Jack Reardon's Stevenson squad also bit the bullet in their opener against Redford Union, losing 20-6. Stevenson had a chance to overtake RU last week when the Spartans got the ball at the Panther 24. They failed to score. QB Pete Rose hit on six of 15 passes (93 yards) but leading ball carrier Karl Hill managed only 33 yards on 11 attempts.

The Spartan's lack of punch combined with Franklin's loss of Panzl makes this look like a defensive struggle. Rich Popp will start at quarterback for Franklin. He'll have to improve on his one-for-five performance (three interceptions) if the Patriots are to have a chance. PICK — STEVENSON

PLYMOUTH SALEM AT TRENTON — This is one of the top games of the week. Salem had little trouble handling Franklin, unveiling a passing attack as quarterback Jeff Hubert connected on five of 10 for 65 yards, including a 16-yard touchdown to Dave Houle.

Tiny halfback Mickey Masden (5-foot-8, 145) led Salem's ground assault with 90 yards rushing (on just five carries) and touchdowns of 15 and 71 yards.

But Trenton is a different team than Franklin. Rated among the state's best, the Trojan's are winners year-in-and-year-out. This may be too tough a test for the Rocks. PICK — TRENTON

BISHOP BORGESS AT REDFORD UNION — RU has a lot — a stifling defense, a sound offense and even good specialty teams. Each had a big part in the win over Stevenson. The defense stopped the Spartans in the third quarter when they got the ball at RU's 24.

Quarterback Andy Szabo fired a fourth-down nine-yard TD pass to Tom Redilla to extend the Panthers' lead to 13-6 in the third quarter. And Phil Mulka raced 54 yards on a punt return in the opening quarter for RU's first score.

Bishop Borgess, on the other hand, is lacking something — its starting quarterback. Borgess defeated Sterling Heights, 35-15, Saturday but lost top signal-caller Dave Piligian to a knee injury in the first quarter. Rich Franz took over and did well, hitting on eight of 15 passes for 127 yards and two touchdowns.

Borgess is a passing team, so how well Franz does will play a major part in this game. He may not be enough. PICK — REDFORD UNION

JOHN GLENN AT NORTHVILLE — Glenn surprised no one in beating Garden City West, 20-7. Rick Wilson's touchdown passes did the trick, a 43-yarder to Amado Varona and 46 yards to Mike Dest. The defense came through, too, with a Rich Kientz interception stopping one West drive and Ron Guiliani's two thefts leading to scores.

Northville shut out Redford Thurston 24-0 with the help of brother act Chris (eight rushes for 69 yards) and Andy (four carries for 78 yards) Dimitroff. The Mustangs surrendered only 48 yards rushing.

Glenn Coach Chuck Gordon better hope Wilson's arm is hot again. PICK — GLENN

ANN ARBOR HURON AT LIVONIA CHURCHILL — Churchill lost a heartbreaker to Dearborn Fordson Saturday, 15-12, despite the efforts of all-purpose player John Bielis.

The senior rushed for 81 yards (12 attempts), caught four passes for 40 yards, returned a kickoff 30 yards and had seven tackles and four assists.

Huron's defense was everything in its opener with Lansing Sexton, scoring the team's only two points in a 7-2 loss. PICK — CHURCHILL

CATHOLIC CENTRAL AT YPSILANTI — Central coasted to a win over Eaton Rapids Saturday behind quarterback Mike Gatt and a strong defense (allowed five first downs). Ypsilanti won't stand up to the test. PICK — CENTRAL

DEARBORN HEIGHTS ROBICHAUD AT CLARENCEVILLE — Clarenceville is still among the top Class B teams in the area. The Trojans recorded their eighth-straight shutout by beating Carleton Airport, 22-0, with back Rob Soop rambling for 187 yards and a touchdown. Clarenceville will have to cut down on turnovers (seven against Carleton) if it hopes to continue its success. PICK — CLARENCEVILLE

DEARBORN EDSEL FORD AT LIVONIA BENTLEY — Bentley was fortunate to beat Canton, considering the Chiefs had more yards offensively. The Bulldogs won't be so lucky this time. Edsel Ford, behind quarterback Rick Wyka's two touchdowns running and another passing, routed Bloomfield Hills Andover last week, 38-0. The Dearborn team has too much firepower for Bentley. PICK — EDSEL FORD.

REDFORD THURSTON AT OAK PARK — Thurston was zapped by Northville last week, 24-0. The Eagles were limited to 48 yards rushing. Oak Park had a similiar opener, losing 28-2 to Robichaud. Mistakes will determine the outcome of this one — neither team possesses much of an offense. PICK — THURSTON.

CANTON AT DEARBORN ANNAPOLIS — Hard-luck Canton always seems to find a way to lose. They snatched defeat from the jaws of victory last week by almost blocking a punt, then fumbling the ball when it was kicked. The bobble set up the winning score. Annapolis won its opener, 20-7, over Cherry Hill. Will Canton continue to stumble? PICK — ANNAPOLIS

Schoolcraft College was off to a roaring women's volleyball start last weekend by winning the Kellogg Community College Invitational in Battle Creek.

The Lady Ocelots posted a 7-1 mark in pool play. Adrian College administered the only blemish.

Schoolcraft then defeated Lake Michigan CC for the championship 15-10, 15-13.

The Lady Ocelot, who made an appearance in the nationals last season, is coached by Mike O'Toole.

OCELOT RUNNERS BOW

Lansing CC downed Schoolcraft College last week in a cross country opener, 25-36.

Livonia Franklin graduates Paul Coburn (26:35) and Jeff Bristow placed first and second, respectively, but had little team help as the Ocelots' next best runner finished 10th.

On the women's side, Polly Ostrander of Livonia Stevenson ran a 21:58 and Trisha Mulka of RU cross the line in 22:14. The Lady Ocelots did not figure in the team scoring.

Plymouth Family 'Y' race

Fall run registration on

The Plymouth Community Family Y will hold its second annual Fall Fun Run on Sept. 26.

Kellogg Park and Main Street in downtown Plymouth will be the starting point. The race ends at the Hillside Restaurant.

A five-mile run kicks off the program at 10 a.m. followed by the three- and one-mile runs at 10:30 a.m. and 11 a.m., respectively.

The cost for the one-mile run is $4. The three- and five-mile fees are $6 per person. Entry fees submitted after Sept. 21 are $8.

Each participant will be give a T-shirt. Refreshments will be served following the races in the dining room of the Hillside.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three finishers (men and women) in each age category — 13 and under, 14-16, 16-20, 20-29, 30-39, 40-49, and 50 and over.

Medals will be awarded to the top placers in each age division.

Trojan girls cage Robichaud

The Clarenceville girls' basketball team played tough defense Tuesday night enroute to a season-opening win over Dearborn Heights Robichaud, 45-18.

Senior center Sue Anderson led the assult with 16 points and Sharen Laird aided the winning cause with nine.

The Trojans held Robichaud to two points in the first quarter and blanked them in the third.

Clarenceville is now 1-0 on the season.

"They were a very physical team," said winning coach Lori Staciak of the team from Dearborn Heights. "I told the girls to hit the boards and fast break all they could. They really got the job done."

Harriers set for Schoolcraft

Schoolcraft College will host 21 boys' and girls' cross country teams Saturday in the 16th annual high-school invitational.

The girls' race will begin at 9 a.m. followed by the boys at 10 a.m. A reserve race is slated to start at 10:30 a.m. The race will be held on Schoolcraft's 1½-mile course behind the campus, off Haggerty Road, just south of Seven Mile in Livonia.

North Farmington will try to defend its boys' team crown. Plymouth Canton, the runner-up, also is entered.

Among the individuals with a crack at the crown this year are Bill Atkinson of Farmington, Clark Coumyoujian, Northville; Tom Gavin, Bishop Borgess, Ken Dubois, Livonia Stevenson; Mike White, Livonia Franklin; Pete Stephens, Westland John Glenn, and Chris Strom, Wayne Memorial.

Champion Ladywood and runner-up Redford Union will be returning this year in the girls' division.

Ladywood's Lisa Bagdady, Kelly Champagne and Jennifer Rioux are expected to duel for the girls' individual crown along with Kami Laird and Angie Mogielski of Redford Union.

Spartan netters rip Chiefs

Rocks capture league opener

Plymouth Salem opened its defense of a fifth-straight Suburban Eight League girls' tennis title with a 6-1 victory Monday over Trenton.

Carol Hathaway returned to the lineup and won her match at No. 2 singles with a 6-1, 6-1 win over Lisa Hoffman.

Salem also swept the other three singles matches — Chris Gilles (No. 1) defeated Mary Lessner, 6-0, 6-1; Carol Gillespie (No. 2) downed Patty Trela, 6-1, 6-1, and Lisa Maggio (No. 4) disposed of Maureen Quinlan, 6-0, 6-0.

At No. 1 doubles, Salem's Kristy Brandenburg and Kathy Graham blasted Stacy Wise and Beth Charnock, 6-3, 6-0.

The Rocks also won at No. 3 doubles. Kathy Pursell and Julie Taylor beat Ingrid Bjork and Gina Casetti, 6-2, 6-3.

Trenton's only point came when Tina Zambalatti and Gayle Ellias downed Beth Miller and Jane Ploughman, 6-4, 6-4.

It was also the Rocks' 18th-straight dual-meet win, spanning three years. Salem is 3-0 this season.

STEVENSON 7

CANTON 0

Things can only get better for the Plymouth Canton girls' tennis team.

The Chiefs dropped their third straight match of the season Monday to Livonia Stevenson, 7-0.

Six of the seven Spartan victories were posted in straight sets.

In the only three-set match, Canton's Lisa Schlotz (No. 3 singles) extended Libby Tasich of Stevenson before losing, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

In other singles matches, Conny Wielosinski (No. 1) of Stevenson beat Julie Swain, 7-5, 6-1; Beth Tatigian (No. 2) took care of Lori Smith, 6-2, 6-3, and Sue Gjernes (No. 4) turned back Kris Harrison, 6-4, 7-5.

At No. 1 doubles, Lori Sickles and Julie Urbonas beat Julie Lloyd and Sheryl Smith, 7-6, 6-0.

Gilda Kleer and Margaret Trimer defeated Julie Gustafsen and Jane McKinstry, 6-3, 7-6, at No. 2 doubles.

Silvia Kleer, a freshman, and Terri Ramsey teamed up to down Lisa Egan and Pam Kang, 6-0, 6-2, at No. 3 doubles.

Stevenson is now 2-1 overall in dual meets.

Forward sparks Bentley triumph

By Scott Adler
staff writer

Livonia Bentley's Kim Archer — the Adrian Dantley of girls' prep basketball — turned in another fine performance for the Bulldogs Tuesday night, pouring in 17 points and hauling down 23 rebounds to lead her team to a 54-40 victory over Farmington.

The junior forward, whose style is similiar to the former Notre Dame star, riddled the highly regarded Falcon front line with an array of clutch plays.

The Falcons had their own 'tower of strength' in Stacy Green, a 6-foot-4 center, but Bentley's full-court, scrapping defense took her out of the action much of the night. Even though Bentley's tactics got the job done, Green still managed 17 points and 11 rebounds.

"I think Lori Swanson (the Bulldogs' center) holding Stacy Green to 17 points is a great defensive job," said a very happy Bentley coach Tom Lang. "The key was we're not as big as they are, but we played bigger. Our quickness played a big part in our successful press."

The win boosted Bentley to 3-0 on the season with Farmington slipping to 2-1.

THE FALCONS started quickly, taking a 9-4 lead at the 4:47 mark of the first quarter. The Bulldogs' defense came on strong and forced numerous Farmington turnovers as the Falcons were unable to get the ball inside to Green.

Farmington led 11-10 after the first quarter and held its advantage until three minutes remained in the half, when Bentley went ahead for the first time, 20-19, and never trailed again.

The Bulldogs stretched five-point halftime lead to 40-31 at the conclusion of the third quarter, thanks to a full-court press that completely stymied the Farmington offense. Green also picked up her fourth personal foul with 3:47 remaining as Archer completed a three-point play on an offensive rebound.

The fourth quarter turned into a track meet with the Falcons trying to close the gap, but the closest they could come was 10 points with 2:30 left in the game.

"THE PRESS gave us some trouble," said Farmington coach Bob Lekovish. "We had three girls in foul trouble, and that really hurt us too."

Two of Lekovish's starters, Lisa Borchanian and Chris Looser, who finished the game with 10 points, fouled out of the game, while two other starters, Green and Mary Ann Kuhnlein, were saddled with four fouls.

Ann Roy, Bentley's senior captain, played an excellent all-around game, finishing as the game's high scorer with 19 points. She also had six steals.

"Ann Roy is the most consistent player I've had," Lang said. "You don't always notice it because she is so consistent, but every game she ends up in double figures for us."

Fordson earns win

Livonia Churchill slowed but didn't stall Dearborn Fordson as the Tractors plowed to a 15-12 win in the season opener for both teams Saturday.

Churchill quarterback Bill Gavin capped a 60-yard scoring drive in the second quarter when he waltzed in from two yards out, giving the Chargers a 6-0 lead.

During the nine-play drive, Gavin completed two passes to Steve Tracy.

John Bielis scored Churchill's second touchdown on a 38-yard third-quarter run. The all-around senior performer rushed for 81 yards on 12 carries, caught four passes for 40 yards, returned a kickoff for 30 yards and had seven tackles and four assists in the contest.

"He had a good day," Churchill coach Ken Kaestner said of Bielis. "He's an exceptional athlete."

Kaestner's views of the game were both good and bad.

"I was proud of our effort in this heat," said Kaestner, referring to the mid-80s temperatures during the afternoon game. "We must improve our defense if we have a chance to beat anybody. You have to play defense to win."

ABC family grows

The Detroit area has long been thought of as the bowling capital of the world, but its claim to the title was strengthened during the past week by figures released by the American Bowling Congress.

For the year 1980-81, the Detroit association had 157,656 members and was far out in front in this category. Second place went to Chicago with 97,751.

The Women's International Bowling Congress cemented the claim when it announced the Detroit area still boasted the largest membership with 119,554. More than that, Michigan moved into the top spot for the first time in 25 years with 347,696 members.

Detroit's claim as the bowling capital cannot be denied.

JACK BORN and Bill Spargo, two of the veteran all-star bowlers, have been elected to the Bonanza Michigan Majors Hall of Fame. They are the third and fourth members for the Hall that was started last year. They will join Dick Beattie and Bob Garrett in the induction ceremonies set for Nov. 21.

HIGH SCORING again prevailed throughout the area as the league bowlers settled down in their long campaign.

The heaviest was at Merri-Bowl where two more members were admitted to the 700 club.

The first of these was Matt Barczuk, who fired a 749 in the junior house league, and the other was the work of Lou Heller.

He had games of 253, 253 and 236 for a 742 total. But it was Barczuk's score that attracted the most interest. He opened with a 252, then followed with a 200 and closed with a 297. A tough break prevented him from rolling a perfect game.

In the ladies doubles, Dianne Bennett squeaked out a victory for the pacemaking roll in the final frame and gained an edge of only three pins over De Rusu. Bennett had games of 184, 242 and 188 while Rusu had counts of 175, 222 and 184.

One of the week's features was the bowling of Mark Mohacsi, son of the four-time Detroit bowling queen Mary Mohacsi, who missed a 700 game by three pins. Bowling in what is termed THE LEAGUE, he opened with a 224, followed with 269 and closed with a 204.

IN OTHER GOOD performances, Ruby Williamson fired a 662 to pace the All-Star Bowlerettes as they opened their season Monday night. Linda Jones had a 265 for high game. At Woodland Lanes, Fred Demeo was high in the Bators League with 662 and at Garden Lanes, Dave Frickman fired a 664 to pace the Vinco circuit. His nearest rival was Rod Stahmicki who registered a 625. Dennis Kolakowski ran into a bit of tough competition at Plaza Lanes. Bowling in the Pin Busters League, he opened with a 183 and followed with a 279 and closed with a 203 for 655. His tough luck came in the fourth frame of the second game when the No. 7 pin stood after a solid hit and ended his string of strikes.

The second round of the Canton Recreation Seniors Golf League ended in a tie between Bill Begg and Ralph Deetz at 103 points.

Begg, the first round champ, rallied in the final week of play to force the deadlock. He took 16 of 22 points from George Nolan while Deetz struggled to beat John Husak, 14-8.

Louie Seromik finished the second round in third place with 98 points.

Deetz led all scorers last week with a 45. Bill Bell and Dwight Douglas each carded rounds of 47.

FOX HILLS LEAGUE

The Canton Recreation Fox Hills men's golf league crowned two division championship teams.

Paul Verbanac and Tom Wlocarczyk won Division A by sweeping Virge Mooney and John Seewald during the final week of play. They finished the year with 29½ points.

Will Jacobs and Harry Walkley took the B crown with 30 points after taking three of five from Al Flower and Jack Blumenshine.

Paul Oberhelman and Mike Moggio both shot 37 for the best rounds of the week. Rick Nadeau and Paul Verbanac each carded 38. Jim Burt posted a 39.

Goal attained in charity tilt

It was another successful year for the sluggers from around the community who raised $1,140 for Muscular Dystrophy in August.

John Matthews was the organizer-participant of the Third Annual 24-hour Whiffle Ball Marathon for Jerry's kids.

The $1,000 goal was reached by the 14 participants with some room to spare. Matthews said that he was very pleased with the final money total.

The final was close and low scoring as the home team came from behind in the last hour to win, 92-84, in 306 innings.

BMX race comes to Canton

Wet weather hampered the opening of the new BMX motocross track in southeast Canton.

For the second straight weekend, the scheduled motocross race was postponed on Sept. 6 because of wet grounds.

The motocross circuit travels to Woodhaven this weekend for a scheduled race, but returns to Canton for a third time on Sunday.

Area motocross racers are encouraged to compete in the race at the track on property owned by Woodland Meadows landfill in the southeast corner of Canton, off Hannan south of Michigan Avenue.

Registration for the race is 8:30-10 a.m. Sunday. Competition begins at 11 a.m.

The race is co-sponsored by Easy Rider Bike Shop in Canton and Woodland Meadows.

Sec. 10.1 The Uniform Traffic Code for Cities, Townships and Villages promulgated by the Director of State Police and published in the 1979 edition of the Michigan Administrative Code and amendments as published in the Quarterly Supplement No. 5 in the 1979 edition of the Michigan Administrative Code, in accordance with Public Act 62 of 1956, State of Michigan, is hereby adopted by reference as in this ordinance modified.

Sec. 10.2 References in the Uniform Traffic Code for Michigan Cities, Townships and Villages to "governmental unit" shall mean the City of Plymouth.

Sec. 10.3 The following sections and sub-sections of the Uniform Traffic Code for Cities, Townships and Villages are hereby amended or deleted as set forth, and additional sections and sub-sections are added as indicated. Subsequent section numbers used in this ordinance shall refer to the like numbered sections of the Uniform Traffic Code.

Sec. 1018b WORDS AND PHRASES DEFINED (OPERATOR, OPERATING) - "Operator" or "operating" means being in actual physical control of vehicle regardless of whether or not the person is licensed under this act as an operator or a chauffeur. (ADd. 1978, Act 139; amended L. 1980, Act 515; eff. 4/1/81.)

Sec. 2.5 After Subsection (j) add subsection (k) and subsection (l) to read as follows:

(k) When any unattended vehicle is found to be habitually in violation of the parking ordinance by having been given five (5) or more unpaid outstanding violations.

(l) When a vehicle is in the circumstance described in Subsection (i), the City Manager or designee may, in lieu of or prior to impoundment, attach to the vehicle a device that will prevent the vehicle from being moved. Said device may be removed by the City Manager or his designee if the violtions are paid if security is posted for a court appearance on the violations, if the violations are dismissed, or if it is necessary to impound the vehicle. It is unlawful for any person to remove such a device without authorization of the City Manager or his designee.

Sec. 5.15 DRUG ADDICT OR INTOXICATED PERSON, OPERATING VEHICLE ON HIGHWAY OR PARKING AREA PROHIBITED.

(1) A person, whether licensed or not, who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, shall not operate a vehicle upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, within the State. A peace officer may, without a warrant, arrest a person when the peace officer has reasonable cause to believe that the person was, at the time of an accident, the driver of a vehicle involved in the accident and was operating the vehicle upon a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the State while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or a combination of an intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance. A violation of this subsection is punishable as provided in subsections (3) and (4).

(2) The owner of a vehicle or a person in charge or in control of a vehicle shall not authorize or knowingly permit the vehicle to be operated upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of motor vehicles, within the State by a person who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance. A violation of this subsection is punishable as provided in subsections (3) and (4).

(3) A person who is convicted of a violation of subsection (1) or (2) is guilty of, a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than 90 days, or a fine of not less than $100.00, nor more than $500.00, or both, together with costs of the prosecution. A subsequent offense is punishable as follows:

(a) On a second conviction under this section or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section, a person is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than one year, or a fine of not more than $1,000.00, or both.

(b) On a third of subsequent conviction within a period of ten years under this section, or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section, a person is guilty of a felony.

(4) Upon conviction of a person under this section or local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section, the court, in addition to the penalty imposed under subsection (3) and as part of the sentence, shall order the operator's or chauffeur's license of that person to be suspended by the Secretary of State for a period of not more than two years and may order the Secretary of State to issue to that person a restricted license permitting the person during all or a specified portion of that period of suspension to drive only to and from the person's residence and place of employment; in the course of employment; to and from an alcohol training program ordered by the court; or pursuant to a combination of those restrictions. The court shall not order the Secretary of State to issue a restricted chauffeur's license which would permit a person to operate a truck or truck tractor, including trailer, which hauls a hazardous material.

(5) The court, before accepting a plea of guilty under this section, shall advise the accused of statutory consequences possible as the result of a plea of guilty in respect to suspension of an operator's or chauffeur's license, the penalty imposed for violation of this section, and the limitation on the right of appeal.

(6) The operator's or chauffeur's license of a person found guilty of violating this section, or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section, shall be surrendered to the court in which the person was convicted and the court shall immediately forward the surrendered license and an abstract of conviction to the Secretary of State. The abstract of conviction shall indicate the sentence imposed pursuant to subsections (3) and (4). Upon receipt of, and pursuant to the abstract of conviction, the Secretary of State shall suspend the person's license and, if ordered by the court and the person is otherwise eligible for a license, issue to the person a restricted license stating the limited driving privileges indicated on the abstract. If the license is not forwarded to the Secretary of State, an explanation of the reason why the license is absent shall be attached. If the conviction is appealed to Circuit Court, that court may, ex parte, order the Secretary of State to rescind the suspension of restricted license issued pursuant to this section.

Sec. 5.15a MOTOR VEHICLES - DRIVING UNDER INTOXICATING LIQUOR; TESTS; EVIDENCE

(1) In a criminal prosecution for operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, for operating a vehicle while visibly impaired, or in a criminal prosecution pertaining to manslaughter or negligent homicide resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle, while the driver is alleged to have been under the influence of intoxicating liquor, the amount of alcohol in the driver's blood at the time alleged as shown by chemical analysis of the person's blood, urine or breath shall be admissible into evidence. If a test is given, the results of the test shall be made available to the person charged or the person's attorney upon written request to the prosecution, with a copy of the request filed with the Court. The prosecution shall furnish the report at least two days before the day of trial and the results shall be offered as evidence by the prosecution in a criminal proceedings. Failure to fully comply with the request shall bar the admission of the results into evidence by the prosecution. The amount of alcohol in the driver's blood at the time alleged as shown by chemical analysis of the person's blood, urine, or breath shall give rise to the following presumptions:

(a) If there was at the time 0.07% or less by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant was not under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

(b) If there was at the time in excess of 0.07% but less than 0.10% by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant's ability to operate a vehicle was impaired within the provisions of Section 625b due to the consumption of intoxicating liquor.

(c) If there was at the time 0.10% or more by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant was under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

(2) A sample or specimen of urine or breath shall be taken and collected in a reasonable manner. Only a licensed physician, or a licensed nurse or medical technician under the direction of a licensed physician and qualified to withdraw blood acting in a medical environment, at the request of a peace officer, may withdraw blood for the purpose of determining the alcoholic content of the blood under this act. Liability for a crime or civil damages predicated on the act of withdrawing blood and related procedures shall not attach to a qualified person who withdraws blood or assists in the withdrawal in accordance with this act unless the withdrawal is performed in a negligent manner.

(3) A person charged with a crime enumerated in subsection (1) who takes a chemical test administered at the request of a peace officer, as provided in subsections (1) and (2), shall be informed that the person will be given a reasonable opportunity to have a person of his or her own choosing administer one of the chemical tests, as provided in this section, within a reasonable time after his or her detention, and the results of the test shall be admissible and shall be considered with other competent evidence in determining the innocence or guilt of the defendant. A person charged with a crime enumerated in Subsection (1) who is requested by the peace officer to take a chemical test as provided in Subsections (1) and (2) shall be informed that he or she has the right to demand that one of the tests provided for in Subsection (1) shall be given hiom or her, and the results of the test shall be admissible and shall be considered with other competent evidence in determining the innocense or guilt of the defendant.

(4) The persons charged shall be advised that the person's refusal to take a test as provided in this section shall result in the suspension or revocation of his or her operator's or chauffeur's license or his or her operating privilege.

(5) This section shall not be construed as limiting the introduction of any other competent evidence bearing upon the question of whether or not the defendant was under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of this act, a person requested to take this test shall be advised that he or she has the option to demand that only a breath test shall be given, in which case his or her refusal to submit to another test shall not constitute a refusal for the purposes of Section 625d and 625f.

(7) If a jury instruction regarding a defendant's refusal to submit to a chemical test under this section is requested by the prosecution or the defendant, the jury instruction shall be given as follows: "Evidence was admitted in this case which, if believed by the jury, could prove that the defendant had exercised his or her right to refuse a chemical test. You are instructed that such a refusal is within the statutory rights of the defendant and is not evidence of his guilt. You are not to consider such a refusal in determining the guilt or innocence of the defendant."

Sec. 5.15b IMPAIRED DRIVING

(1) A person shall not operate a vehicle upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, within the State when, due to the consumption of an intoxicating liquor, a controlled substance, or a combination of an intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, the person has visibly impaired his or her ability to operate the vehicle. If a person is charged with violating Section 625, a finding of guilty is permissible under this section.

(2) A person convicted of a violation of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for not more than 90 days, or a fine of not more than $300.00, or both, together with costs of the prosecution. On a second and subsequent conviction under this section, or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section, the person is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than one year, or a fine of not more than $1,000.00, or both.

Sec. 5.15c IMPLIED CONSENT

(1) A person who operates a vehicle upon a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the State is considered to have given consent to chemical tests of his or her blood, breath, or urine for the purpose of determining the alcoholic content of his or her blood if:

(a) The person is arrested for a violation of Section 625 or 625b or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to Section 625 or 625b.

(b) The person is arrested for manslaughter or negligent homicide resulting from operation of a motor vehicle and the peace officer had reasonable ground to believe that the person was operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, or while his or her ability to operate a vehicle was impaired due to the consumption of intoxicating liquor.

(2) A person who is afflicted with hemophilia, diabetes, or a condition requiring the use of an anticoagulant under the direction of a physician shall not be considered to have given consent to the withdrawal of blood.

(3) The tests shall be administered at request of a peace officer having reasonable ground to believe the person was operating a vehicle upon a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the State while in violation of Section 625 or 625b, or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to Section 625 or 625b.

(4) If after a highway accident the driver of a vehicle involved in the accident is deceased, a sample of the decedent's blood shall be withdrawn in a manner directed by the medical examiner for the purpose of determining blood alcohol content. The results of an examination of the blood of a deceased driver shall be used for statistical purposes only.

Sec. 5.15d RIGHT TO REFUSE CHEMICAL TESTS

A person who is requested pursuant to Section 625c(3) to take a chemical test shall be advised of the right to refuse to submit to chemical tests; and if the person refuses the request of a peace officer to submit to chemical tests, a test shall not be given without a court order. A sworn report shall be forwarded to the department by the peace officer. The report shall state that the officer had reasonable grounds to believe that the person had been operating a vehicle on a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the Sttae while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or that the person had been operating a vehicle while his or her ability to operate a vehicle had been impaired due to the consumption of intoxicating liquor and that the person had refused to submit to the test upon the request of the peace officer and had been advised of the consequences of the refusal. The form of the report shall be prescribed and furnished by the Secretary of State.

Sec. 515f SUSPEND OR REVOKE: HEARING 1) If the person who refuses to submit to a chemical test pursuant to Section 625d does not request a hearing within 14 days of the date of notice pursuant to Section 625e, the Secretary of State shall suspend the person's operator's or chauffeur's license or permit to drive, or nonresident operating privilege, for a period of not less than 90 days nor more than two years.

(2) If a hearing is requested, the Secretary of State shall hold the hearing in the same manner and under the same conditions as provided in Section 322. At least ten days notice of the hearing shall be mailed to the person requesting the hearing, to the peace officer who filed the sworn report, and if the prosecuting attorney requests receipt of the notice, to the prosecuting attorney of the county where the arrest was made. The hearing officer shall be authorized to administer oaths, issue subpoenas for the attendance of necessary witnesses, and may grant a reasonable request for an adjournment. The hearing shall cover only the following issues:

(a) Whether the peace officer had reasonable grounds to believe that the person had been operating a vehicle upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the State while in violation of Section 625 or 625b, or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to Section 625 or Section 625b.

(b) Whether the person was placed under arrest for a crime enumerated in Section 625a(1).

(c) Whether the person reasonably refused to submit to the test upon the request of the officer.

(d) Whether the person was advised of the rights under Section 625a, 625c, and 625d.

(3) After the hearing, the Secretary may suspend or deny issuance of a license or driving permit or a nonresident operating privilege of the person involved for a period of not less than 90 days nor more than two years. If the person involved is a resident without a license or permit to operate a vehicle in the State, the Secretary may deny to the person the issuance of a license or permit for a period of not less than 90 days nor more than two years. The person involved may file a petition in the Circuit Court of the county in which the arrest was made to review the suspension or denial in the same manner and under the same conditions as provided in Section 323. All hearings in Circuit Court shall be de novo and shall be limited to the issues enumerated in Subsection (2).

(4) When it has been finally determined that a nonresident's privilege to operate a vehicle in the State has been suspended or denied, the department shall give notice in writing of the action taken to the motor vehicle administrator of the state of the person's residence and of each state in which he or she has a license to operate a motor vehicle.

Sec. 15.15g UNIFORM STANDARDS The Department of State Police may promulgate uniform rules for the administration of chemical tests for the purpose of this act. (Amended by L. 1980, Act 515; eff. 4/1/81).

Sec. 825. PARKING BETWEEN CURB AND LOT LINE On all streets within the City of Plymouth where there is a curb in place, it shall be unlawful for any person to park, or stand any vehicle between said curb and the lot line nearest the street, said area being commonly known as the lawn extension. Provided, however, that in cases where it can be shown that this prohibition will create an undue hardship and the parking of vehicles within this area will not constitute a hazard to the health, safety and welfare of the general public, the City Manager is hereby authorized to issue a permit allowing parking within this area. This permit shall be issued on an annual basis.

Sec. 8.26 PARKING ON SHOULDER OF STREETS On any streets, or roads located within the City of Plymouth where there is not a curb it shall be permissible for persons to park, or stand vehicles on the shoulder of said streets, or roads, provided that their vehicles shall be completely off the traveled portion of said streets, or roads. Provided, however, that the Commission for the City of Plymouth may by resolution prohibit parking on the shoulders of the streets, or roads within the City limits in such areas as it deems that said parking shall be hazardous to the health, safety and welfare of the general public. Where such resolution is adopted, signs prohibiting parking on the shoulder of the streets, or roads, shall be posted.

Sec. 8.27 OVERNIGHT PARKING Parking on any public street, court, or alley within the City limits is hereby prohibited between the hours of 3:00 a.m. to 6:00 a.m., with the exception of Sundays and holidays.

Sec. 8.27a OVERNIGHT PARKING - MUNICIPAL PARKING LOTS Parking in municipal parking lots is hereby prohibited between the hours of 3:00 a.m. to 6:00 a.m.

Sec. 8.27b OVERNIGHT PARKING AUTHORIZATION TO ISSUE PERMITS The City Manager is authorized to establish procedures for the issuance of permits for parking overnight on public streets, courts, alleys and municipal parking lots.

Sec. 8.28 HANDICAPPED PARKING A person shall not park a vehicle, except in compliance with the directions of a police officer in a parking space clearly identified by an official sign as being reserved for use by handicappers which is on public property available for public use, unless the person is a handicapper as described in Section 19a or unless the person is parking the vehicle for the benefit of a handicapper. A certificate of identification issued under Section 803d to a handicapper shall be displayed on the vehicle. A person who parks a vehicle in violation of this subdivision is guilty of a misdemeanor and is subject to the penalties provided in Section 901.

Section 8.29 PARKING ON PRIVATE PROPERTY No person shall park any vehicle on any private property in the City of Plymouth without the express or implied consent, authorization or ratification of the owner, holder, occupant, lessee, agent or trustee of such property. Proof that any vehicle is parked on any private property in the City of Plymouth contrary to the command, direction, condition or limitation clearly set forth on any sign posted on said property shall be prima facie evidence that the registered owner of such vehicle parked the same in violation hereof. Complaint for the violation of this section shall be made by the owner, holder, occupant, lessee, agent or trustee of such property.

Sec. 8.30 PARKING METER ZONE AREAS The City Commission may designate by resolution the street or streets or parts thereof or areas within any public parking lot or lots which are to be included within the "Parking Meter Zone Area." Any area so designated shall become subject to the provisions of this section upon the installation and placing in operation of parking meters in such area.

(a) The City Commission shall by resolution establish fees for the parking of any vehicle metered parking zone and shall also by resolution establish the hours and days during which the meters in each parking zone shall be in operation. Such fees, hours and days as thus established shall be posted in the Parking Meter Zone Area so as to give notice thereof to the general public.

(b) No person shall deface, tamper with, open, break or impair the usefulness of any parking meter, standard or sign pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(c) No person shall deposit or cause to be deposited in any parking meter any slug, device or metallic substance as a substitute for a coin of the United States.

(d) National holidays, namely, New Years Day, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day shall not be governed by parking meter regulations.

Sec. 8.31 REFERENCES The references to "Sections" contained in Sec. 8:27a hereof means such "Sections" as set forth in the Michigan Vehicle Code (Act 300 of the Public Acts of 1949, as amended).

Sec. 10.4 NOTICE TO BE PUBLISHED The City of Plymouth Clerk shall publish this ordinance in the manner required by law and shall at the same time publish a supplementary notice setting forth the purpose of the said Uniform Traffic Code and of the fact that complete copies of the Code are available at the office of the Clerk for inspection by and distribution to the public at all times.

Sec. 10.5 CONFLICTING ORDINANCES REPEALED Ordinance No. 77-4 adopted May 16, 1977 relating to traffic, is hereby specifically repealed. All other ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of the Uniform Traffic Code are, to the extent of such inconsistency, hereby repealed.

Sec. 10.6 WHEN EFFECTIVE This ordinance will become operative and effective on the 1st day of October, 1981.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan this 8th day of September A.D. 1981.

Skiing!

Why wait for snow? You can do it on grass

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

TRAVELERS ARE bringing back reports of a new sport called grass skiing, available in nearby areas but not yet professionally developed in metropolitan Detroit.

Grass skiing was first practiced by avid snow skiers who couldn't wait for the first flakes. They skied on grass to get themselves in shape for the big white winter hills.

Now it has become a sport in itself for skiers like Kay and Bill Semion of Canton, who have checked out the slopes in Port Huron, Michigan and Kimberly, Ontario, and are wondering when southeast Michigan is going to get into the act.

"THE SKIS are heavy rollers, about 2½ feet long, which caterpillar across the grass," Kay Semion said. "They are used with regular snow-style ski boots and poles, and make a perfect sport for autumn."

Her enthusiasm is shared by Pattie and Jeff Trim, of Davisburg in northern Oakland County, who won medals in downhill snow ski racing before winning medals in grass ski racing. The Trims are board members of the United States Grass Skiing Association, a racing group headquartered in Basye, Va.

The finals of the American Cup of grass skiing are held annually in Basye, under the care of Horst Locher, who is credited with importing the sport from Germany.

According to Locher, grass skis were invented by a sewing machine designer caller Josef Kaieser of Stuttgart, who decided to "make skiing a year-round sport."

Most Michigan grass skiers practice on private hills, walking up and skiing down, but both Trims and the Semion family advise lessons, even for advanced skiers, because the heavy, short "skis" require precise turns.

The Trim family recommends visiting Don Thomas Sporthaus at Maple and Telegraph in Birmingham, where grass skis can be rented in a demonstration program for $10 a day, with the rental fee going towards the purchase price of the skis ($175 to $219 a pair).

IF YOU WANT to try a professional grass ski resort, the closest is Black Forest near Port Huron, which is open 2-10 p.m. Wednesdays and Fridays, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays at least until November. Lease rate is $4 for skis. Toll fee is another $4.

Also offering grass skiing until November is Talisman Resort in Kimberly, Ontario, a six-hour drive from Detroit. The resort, just east of Canadian Highway 10 and south of Georgian Bay, is staffed by three members of the Canadian Grass Ski team.

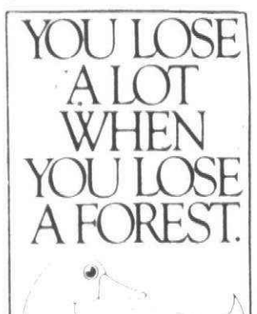

Bryce Mountain near U.S. Grass Skiing Association headquarters in Basye, Va., is open until Thanksgiving.

If you are going north and west, Cascade Mountain in Portage, Wis., is open for grass skiing on weekends through autumn until snow time. They give lessons.

Grass skis, invented by a sewing machine designer, have caught on elsewhere but are just getting their start in the Detroit area.

YOU LOSE A LOT WHEN YOU LOSE A FOREST.

Even a duck is out of luck during a forest fire.

Travel provides insight to events

TELEVISION NEWS pictures recently showed a skirmish in Jerusalem. Orthodox Israeli Jews were being driven by Israeli police from the archaeological excavations known as the city of David.

The scenes brought back memories of an autumn weekend in Jerusalem and reminded me again of a truth I regularly relearn: Travel, however superficial, helps educate you to understand current events.

A brief trip does not qualify any traveler to be an expert on a complex land; it is presumptuous to believe that you can understand a country by merely driving through it. But some things are simple and evident enough to give you insights that were not available beforehand.

WHEN YOU drive through Israel, you constantly confront the word "tel." A tel is a mound or hill that covers the remains of an old settlement or city.

Tel Arad, for example, covers the remains of the early Bronze-age city of Arad in the Negev desert; the modern city of Arad rises on a hill nearby. Archaeologists are digging at Tel Arad as they are in the tel known as the city of David, which rises on a hill overlooking the Kidron Valley, on the edge of the old walled city of Jerusalem.

This is believed to be the site where King David built his city 1,000 years before Christ was born. It was the site of the before the temples were destroyed and the Jews were driven out of Palestine.

Historians are eager to uncover the secrets of David's city, for academic reasons and to strenghten the Israeli claim to Jerusalem, but orthodox Jews object to the disturbance of ancient religious sites.

ORTHODOX JEWS constitute a small percentage of the Israeli population, but they have a powerful influence on Israeli life for at least two reasons. They are represented in small political parties who often hold the balance of power when a major political party fails to win a clear electoral majority. That was the case in the last election; Begin needs their support to run his government.

The second reason is that Israelis value their Jewish heritage, which has been kept alive by strict religious observance around the world for centuries, so they put up with the inconveniences forced upon them by orthodoxy although they often complain about it.

A Jew cannot marry a non-Jew in Israel, for example. Tourists are likely to experience the results of orthodox power in more superficial ways — separate meat and dairy dining rooms in hotels, an unmanned Sabbath elevator that runs constantly so guests do not need to push the elevator button.

A recent newspaper article headlined "Israel Braces for Stricter Sabbath Rules" indicated that the religious parties are making new demands on Begin's government, including banning of airline flights and cruise ship landings as well as the closing of entertainment facilities on the Sabbath.

A TRAVELER skimming across the surface of a complex land is not qualified to form opinions on such matters, and I have resisted doing so. But I can report the opinions expressed by Israelis I met.

Two of them were young people walking around the wonderful Beit Hatefutzot, the Museum of the Diaspora, in Tel Aviv, which tells the story of Jews dispersed around the world and finally returning to Israel.

One of the young women complained loudly that "religious groups are forcing everyone to follow their rules, even though most Israelis are not orthodox Jews." The other young woman agreed but with reservations:

"As I walk around this museum, I can see that we would not have survived as a people if we had not followed those rules."

I WILL LEAVE the final judgment of such matters to the Israelis, but I repeat my original premise: Travel, however superficial, gives you a little insight into current events.

Those of you who like to combine work with travel might like to explore a vacation digging with experts in the city of David or in other archaeological digs in Israel. For information, contact the Israel Government Tourism Administration, 5 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, IL 60603.

- The Land Contract as to payments, interest rates, maturity, lump sum payments, and other terms may all be negotiated between buyer and seller.
- Within certain limitations existing indebtedness (Land Contract or Mortgages) may be retained on a Land Contract sale, enabling the seller to accept a more flexible offer to purchase.
- The Land Contract may be sold at or following the closing, generating more cash to seller.
- The Land Contract terms may be utilized to attract a purchaser for example by offering a sub-market interest rate in connection with an escalating payment in later years.
- Closings are usually scheduled quicker under Land Contract sales, more than with conventional financing.
- The Land Contract may be utilized in tax planning as to receipt of taxable monies in the desired tax years.
- The Land Contract may possibly be used as a down payment on other Land Contract purchases.
- The executed Land Contract may be used as collateral to borrow money for the benefit of the holder.
- To insure accuracy and protection for the parties, the Land Contract may be placed for servicing with a third party directed to make any underlying payments and crediting the holder with the balance while varifying insurance in force, regarding tax payments when due, or escrow accounting, freeing the holder and payer from detail.
- As is the case with any contract, appropriate legal and tax council should be obtained by both parties.

O&E

Visit the Capp Homes Open House this weekend...

And discover how your finishing touch can give you more home for the money!

Since 1946, CAPP has made quality, custom-built housing affordable for more than 60,000 families. And the reason is our unique, "Finish-It-Yourself House" concept.

CAPP Homes are not pre-fab or modular. We build our homes the traditional beam-by-beam way, with the finest materials, on the lot and foundation you provide. When our carpenters leave, your custom-designed home is fully enclosed and ready for you to finish. Or, you can act as your own general contractor, hiring local help, and still come out money ahead. Either way, you'll get a home that is uniquely yours—one that will be worth far more than you paid for it the day you move in.

But don't take our word for it. Come on out this weekend and see for yourself. Look at the quality of the construction material. Feel the wood . . . knock on the doors . . . slide open the windows.

Most of all, talk to the buyers of this home. They'll be here to answer any questions . . . while they work. You'll see them actually finishing their home. Folks just like yourself. We think you'll discover how you, too, can save money on a CAPP Home by "finishing-it-yourself".

CAPP Homes. Your finishing touch means quality . . . and savings . . . for you.

Come on out. We'll be there rain or shine.

HERE'S HOW TO GET TO THE CAPP OPEN HOUSE:

ROBERT BAKE ~ Realtor

1005 W. Ann Arbor Trail
Plymouth 453-8200

OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY 2:00 to 5:00

402 N. SHELDON ROAD, CITY OF PLYMOUTH. One block north of Penniman! Lovely old trees dignify a charming white exterior with its welcoming red door. Beautiful natural wood floors and fascinating original hardware. 2 large bedrooms, a noble-sized living room with fireplace, a formal dining room, kitchen with separate eating space, a screened porch, full basement, and 2½ car garage. BE SURE AND SET ASIDE PART OF SUNDAY AFTERNOON! DELIGHTFUL AT $62,500. 453-8200.

NEW ON THE MARKET! Magnificent, stately older home in one of Plymouth's fine neighborhoods. Large trees are enjoyed in the privacy of the picket fenced backyard. Four large bedrooms, two full baths, and a thoroughly modern kitchen are certainly to be considered. You will be pleased with the spacious living room and formal dining room and will enjoy cozy evenings in front of the fireplace in the family room. Priced at $89,900, this home can be purchased on a SIMPLE ASSUMPTION at 8¾% or on LAND CONTRACT terms.

FLOWING, UNCONFINED OPENNESS IS EXPRESSED throughout within this "CLIFFORD WRIGHT" designed one story home. A masterly interplay of stained cedar, carefully chosen brick, and cedar shake shingles warmly distinguish the exterior. Over an Acre in the original "BEACON HILL" establishes this location as being without equal ... and the expanses of glass and decks take advantage of the lovely, private rear yard. There are 3 generous bedrooms, 2½ baths, a spacious living room with fireplace, and a formal dining room. The 26 ft. long family room encompasses a fieldstone fireplace, a built-in Gas Barbecue, a 12 ft. ceiling, and a small hospitality kitchen. The main kitchen is fully equipped. Abundant main floor storage, full basement with a sauna, and oversized 2½ car garage with opener. Central Air, Security system, and underground sprinklers are among the varied extras. FAULTLESSLY MAINTAINED BY THE ORIGINAL OWNERS. $229,500. WITH LAND CONTRACT TERMS. 453-8200.

NORTHVILLE! IMPROVEMENT WOULD BE DIFFICULT, INDEED, with ownership of this striking L-shaped Colonial. There are 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, a formal dining room, family room with fireplace, first floor laundry, basement, and 2½ car attached garage with opener. New vinyl clad double hung windows, underground sprinklers, Central Air, and aluminum trim are among the comforting features of this highly pampered home. $104,500. 453-8200.

PLYMOUTH! WELL DEVELOPED LANDSCAPING, A LARGE PAVED CIRCULAR DRIVE, AND AN EXPANSIVE LAWN make a striking first impression on viewing this Country French Colonial. Custom built by the original owners on over an Acre of crisp, quiet surroundings. If its handsome brick exterior is not convincing enough, the interior consists of 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, formal dining room, first floor laundry, a cozy family room with fireplace, a tucked-away study, a finished recreation room, and a side entrance 2½ car attached garage with opener. Aluminum trim, 6 panel wood doors, and a lovley 25x18 patio are among the extras. AN EXCEPTIONALLY FINE FAMILY HOME. $139,000. 453-8200.

PLYMOUTH! EMINENTLY LIVABLE, THIS GERISH built two story traditional emulates its New England origins in both proportion and exterior details. Backing into a commons area is further cause to consider the endless qualities of this charm-filled home. A welcoming entrance foyer is distinguished by a wood baluster open staircase. 4 large bedrooms, 2½ baths, a study, formal dining room, a family room with a handsome fireplace, first floor laundry, a walk-out basement, and side entrance 2½ car garage. A REFRESHING AND UNIQUE FLOOR PLAN GIVES ADDITIONAL IMPORTANCE TO THIS CUSTOM HOME. AN ASSUMABLE MORTGAGE! $149,900. 453-8200.

Our sign means 'Sold' in any language

When you're ready to sell your home, our sign really does speak the language of quick results.

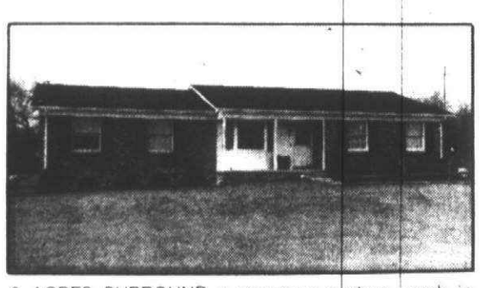

We put a lot behind it — from our exclusive Homes For Living magazine to our affiliation with more than 2,000 Homes For Living real estate offices throughout the United States, Canada and the Caribbean.

With pictures, descriptions and prices, the magazine goes to buyers here. And, through our affiliates, it reaches the out-of-town buyers who represent one-third of all home sales. In fact, more than one-and-a-half million Homes For Living magazines are published each month.

So whether you're selling or buying, put our sign to work for you. It speaks your kind of language. Tout de suite! Pronto! Fast!

Call us today.

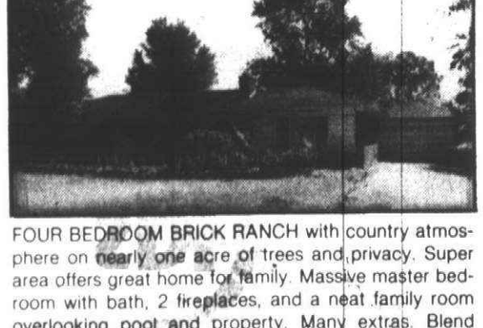

"ASSUMPTION BUYERS." We have funds to help you assume mortgages that may be too far to reach. Call for details.

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN...

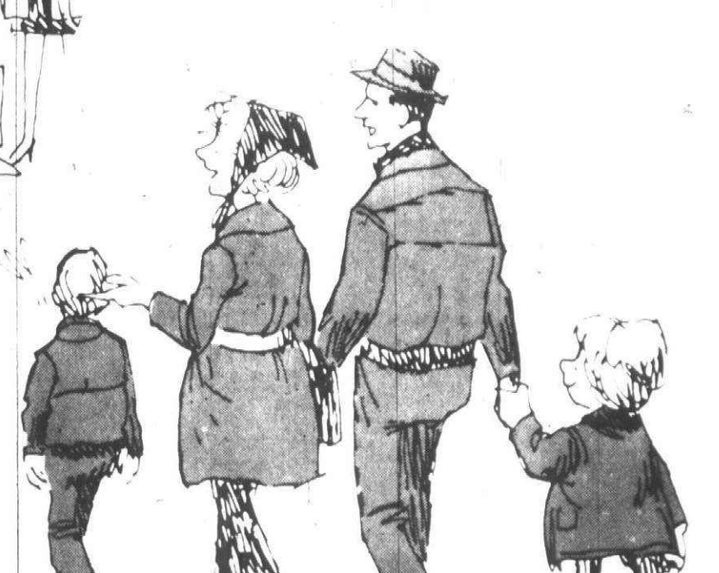

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

Changing isn't all that easy

By David Frank
staff writer

It began like most other Meadow Brook Music Festival evenings.

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. There is no smoking in the pavilion and the use of flash is ..." echoed a voice on the loud speaker.

But the usually crowded stage was bare except for a slender lectern near the front. And the main attraction filling the pavilion and rain-soaked hillside wasn't a singer or musician, but a TV talk show host.

"And now, ladies and gentlemen ..." announced a voice on the loud speaker. "Allow me to introduce Phil Donahue."

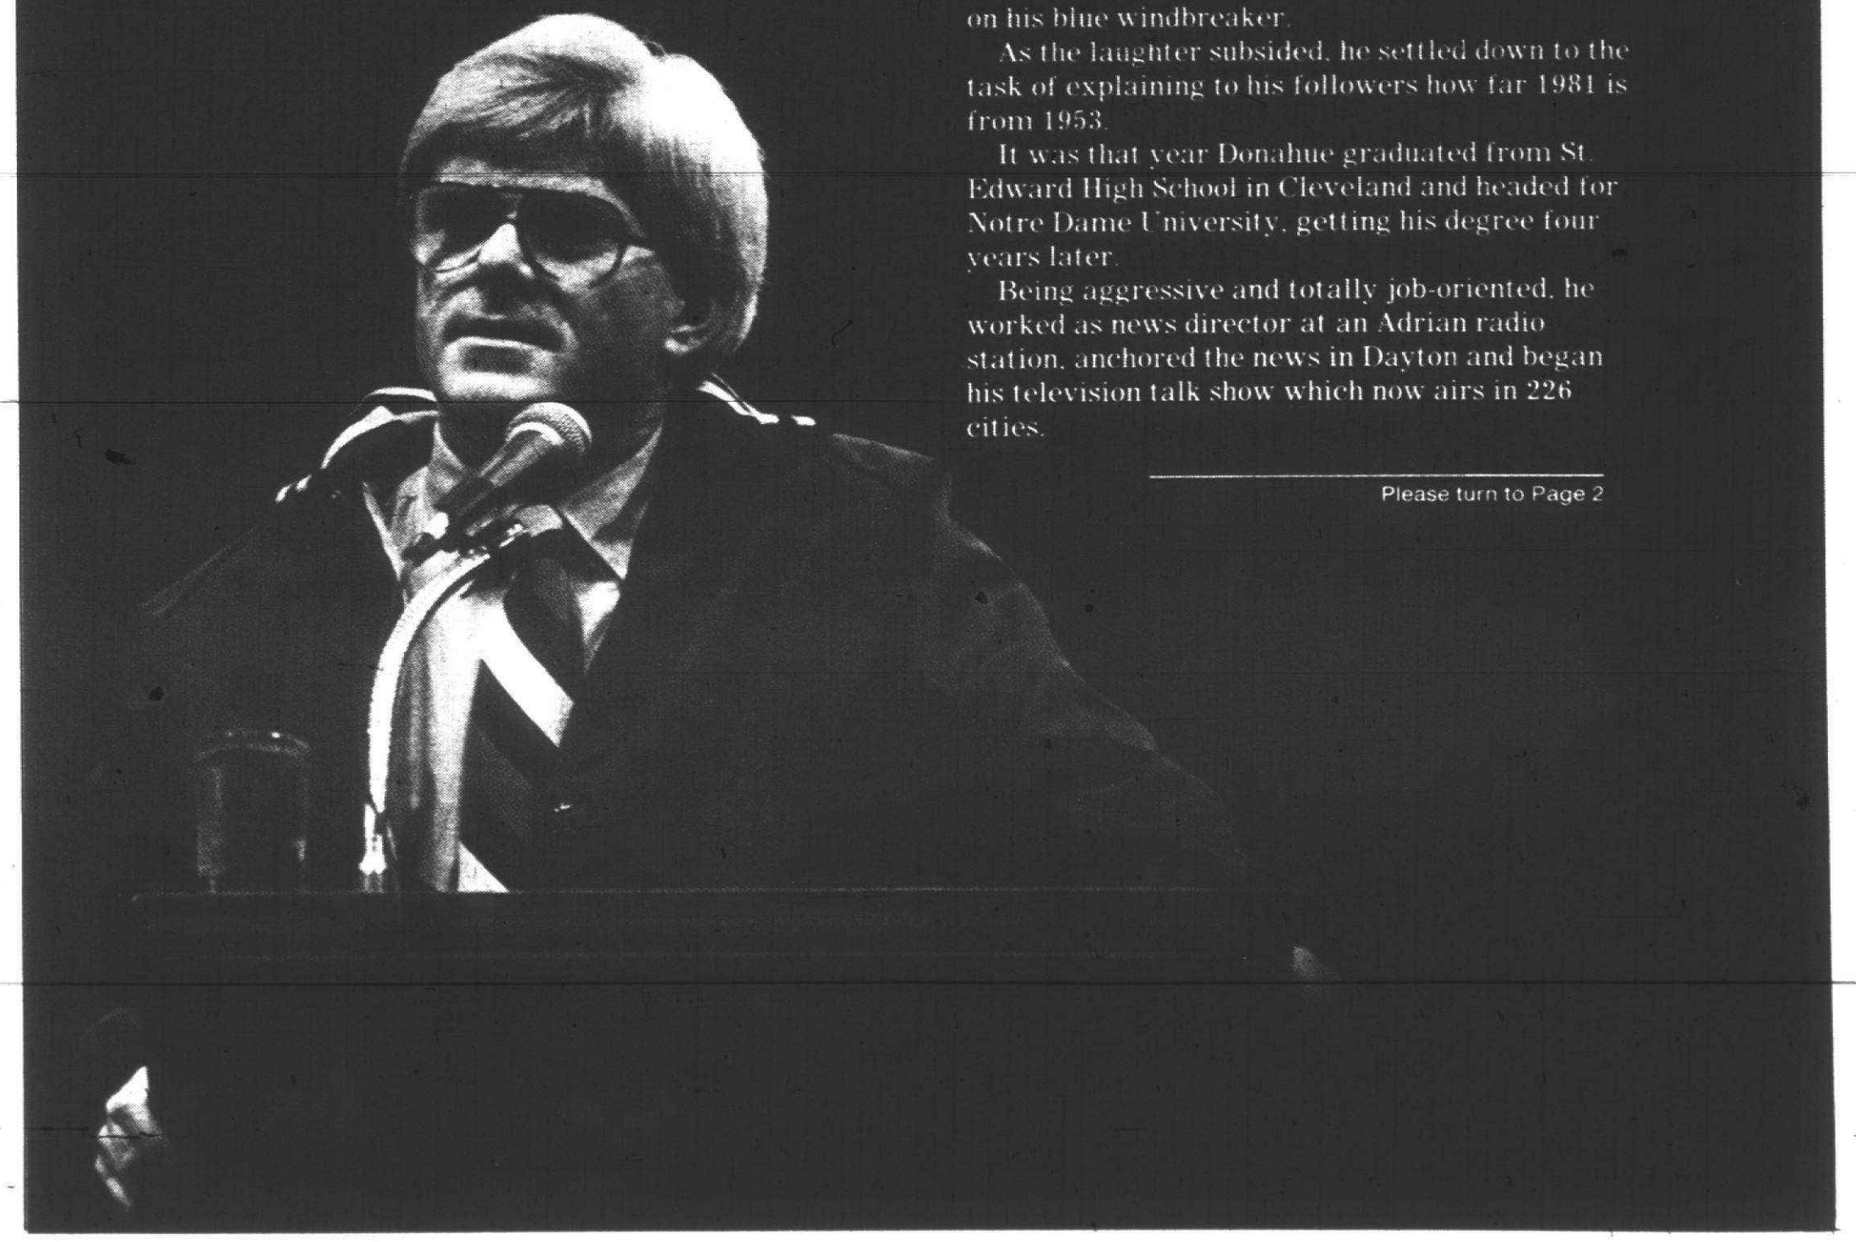

The silver-haired personality casually strolled to his spot on the stage. Then he smiled and spun around, revealing a maize-colored "MICHIGAN" on his blue windbreaker.

As the laughter subsided, he settled down to the task of explaining to his followers how far 1981 is from 1953.

It was that year Donahue graduated from St. Edward High School in Cleveland and headed for Notre Dame University, getting his degree four years later.

Being aggressive and totally job-oriented, he worked as news director at an Adrian radio station, anchored the news in Dayton and began his television talk show which now airs in 226 cities.

Changing isn't easy

MEANWHILE, his personal life went astray. He married, fathered five children and was divorced. That's when the personal changes began.

"It's a shame that divorce has to be this, but nothing raised my consciousness like when suddenly I had custody of four boys," explained the 45-year-old, who learned about washing clothes by soaking socks overnight in Clorox bleach — full strength.

"Without knowing it, I was being absorbed into a whole new life experience. It's called motherhood."

Today, if you invited Phil Donahue into your house he would notice things like floors or the top of the refrigerator. There was laughter again when he admitted this, but the message was clear — and it was serious.

"How many of us are dealing with the aftermath of religious sex stereotypes?" he asked, speaking candidly about his Catholic school training.

"Find a good woman and you just about have the marriage solved," he learned, while being taught to earn a good living.

"My energy had been directed toward achieving at WHIO-TV (Dayton, Ohio). Fatherhood, I thought, was a natural responsibility that required no training and could be discharged in the evenings. I honestly thought being a father meant giving presents at Christmas and birthdays, occasionally changing diapers, occasionally spanking and occasionally baby-sitting for the 'little woman's night out.'

"I SAY THESE things, but it is awful hard for me to change. People resist change."

Change for Donahue began in the 1960s. While interviewing feminist Gloria Steinem, he recognized himself in her comments. "Too much mom, not enough dad. She was talking about me," he confided to the audience made up largely of people his age and older.

Divorce in 1973 brought his own brand of feminism into focus. "The woman's movement has to do not so much with freedom for women," he observed, "but freedom for us all."

Again he stopped himself. "It's so hard to change. There's a large part of me that wants my wife at the door when I come home, a cold beer in her hand asking 'Do you want dinner now, honey?' "

His admission brought laughter, but he followed quickly with his real punch line. "That's okay, but when did you men last do that for her? Let's not stop learning," he urged.

True to his style, Donahue called for the house lights to be turned on and asked for questions from the crowd. Lines quickly formed at microphones placed throughout the audience.

"No, it's totally untrue," he responded to questions about recent claims that his program devotes an inordinate amount of air time to sexual topics.

"What is a sex show?" he countered. "Is a program about two homosexual teachers fired from their jobs because of their sexual preferences a sex show? Or is it a show about constitutional rights?"

ASKED IF he is a good Catholic, Donahue said "no" but quickly expanded his answer. "I have a better notion of God than I used to. I think God is up there saying 'Phil Donahue's trying to do a good job.'

"As long as I think that I've got God, I might be able to do something to you that's very bad. I will never believe that God is on anyone's side."

The questions gave him a chance to speak on other favorite themes — peace, blacks, the poor and the elderly. And he talked about prospects for the future. "I'm with you and I'm scared," he admitted.

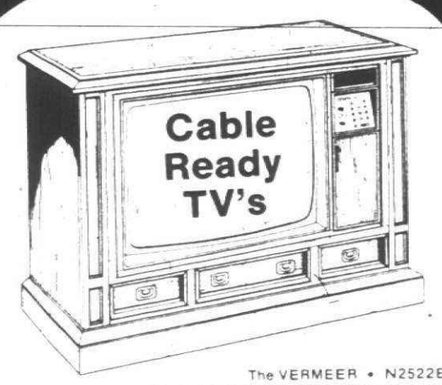

Then the gleam returned. After a brief introduction, he brought out actress Marlo Thomas, his wife of 18 months. She told some family secrets ("He doesn't like to make the bed.").

"But we're both working on it," she added.

To no one's surprise, she announced, "I like him. He's a really nice guy."

And as they waved goodbye to the crowd, she added "Thank you for being so nice to him tonight. He deserves it."

Children's show changes channels

Hot Fudge, a Detroit children's show focusing on "lessons of life" now appears on WKBD-TV 50.

The show, which was on WXYZ-TV Sundays mornings, will now air at 8:30 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Hot Fudge presents ways in which young people can learn to cope with feelings, emotions and real life situations that arise everyday. The Hot Fudge gang comprises 14 puppets called MITS, which include Seymore, Mona, Jeffrey, Homer and Harry Unreasonable.

The show also features several live characters who experience the problems of life and work together to solve them. Among these are Detective Tomato, Mr. Nasty, and Professor Emotion.

WEDNESDAY — Sept. 23

Star's 'secret life' televised

Like the character in his memorable 1947 film classic, "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty," entertainer Danny Kaye has been living a fantasy life of his own as a symphony conductor.

Although he cannot read music, Kaye has no fear of stepping onto a podium in a packed concert hall and leading more than 100 of the world's best classical musicians through a Beethoven Symphony, a bolero by Ravel or an operatic piece by Rossini.

Since 1954, Kaye has combined his celebrity status and love of classical music to help raise more than $5 million for musicians' pension funds by conducting benefit concerts with some of the leading symphony orchestras.

Sept. 23, Kaye's fund-raising efforts on behalf of musicians undoubtedly will surpass $6 million when he takes the baton from Zubin Mehta, music director of the New York Philharmonic. The star will lead that prestigious symphony in a concert that will add more than $100,000 to the orchestra's pension fund.

For the first time, Kaye has agreed to have live television cameras in the concert hall. The event will be seen on the series, "Live From Lincoln Center" over the Public Broadcasting Service.

"Live From Lincoln Center," which begins its sixth season with this telecast, is produced by Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, Inc. in cooperation with WNETHIRTEEN, New York

Broadcast nationally as part of "Great Performances," the series is made possible by grants from Exxon, The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, The National Endowment for the Arts and Corporation for Public Broadcasting. John Goberman is the series' producer.

Danny Kaye began his "career" as a conductor in 1954 when, as a joke, he agreed to direct the Pension Fund Concert of Philadelphia Orchestra. It was such a success that invitations soon began to arrive from other cities.

He has led orchestras in Boston, Buffalo, Detroit, Washington, St. Louis, Chicago, Dallas, San Francisco, London, Toronto, Tel Aviv, Stockholm, and Minneapolis. He accepts no fee for these concert appearances.

"If I accepted money, I would have to consider myself a professional conductor," the red-haired entertainer said. "And that would be presumptious on my part."

The fact that he doesn't read music does not seem to be a handicap for Kaye.

"I know the music by heart," he said, explaining that he learns the scores by listening to recordings of great orchestras. "I know the nuances I want. I just relay my instructions to the orchestra with facial expressions instead of my hands.

During these benefit concerts, the music is performed seriously. Humor emerges between the pieces when Kaye jokes with orchestra members or with the audience.

"It's a very informal evening," Kaye explained. "At the start of the concert, I come out looking like any other conductor wearing white tie and tails. Following intermission, however, I come on stage wearing sports clothes. And, of course, I'm always wearing my space shoes."

According to Mehta, Kaye is a very fine conductor. "He understands what he is doing," said the conductor. "He knows what he wants from orchestras and he's able to get it from them. His rehearsals for these concerts are very serious. If I did some of the things Danny does in rehearsal, I would probably be brought up on charges with the musicians' union."

Guest conductor Danny Kaye will lead the New York Philharmonic under the watchful eye of maestro Zubin Mehta.

Record number of shots given

The number of children immunized at the annual WXYZ-TV Children's Immunization Fair was up 25 percent this year, from 1,497 to 1,865. "There is no question that, for a significant number of preschool children, there would be a postponement of shots if it were not for the Fair," said Jeanne Findlater, vice-president and general manager of WXYZ-TV.

"Unquestionably, the 'fair' atmosphere helps. The clowns, free lunches, ice cream, balloons, magicians and other attractions are motivating for the parents who see in this a way to turn an annual 'ordeal' into a pleasant occasion for the whole family."

This year's entertainment included Mona from the children's TV show "Hot Fudge," magician Steve Weikal, four clowns, the director of the Belle Isle Nature Center, the WXYZ-TV hot air balloon and K.C. and the Rollers, Detroit disco skaters.

Pediatrician Dr. John Dorsey and Dr. John Waller, Detroit Department of Health director, explained why back-to-school vaccinations are necessary. Children who got their shots received "I Got My Shot" patches, a helium balloons, blow-up punch balls, sun visors and free ice cream from Channel 7. The Detroit Department of Health provided nurses, vaccine and staff to register, screen and immunize the children.
