Board tunes options plan for cable TV

By Dennis O'Connor
editor

Canton residents now may hook up cable TV to more than television set — and receive different programming on each set.

The Township Board unanimously approved establishing the option to purchase an extra converter (tuning device) for each additional set at Tuesday night's board meeting.

Currently, Canton residents may pay an additional $2 per month to receive cable programming on each extra set — but the programs received are the same for each TV.

The converter, which will cost residents an additional $1.50 per month (or $3.50 total for the converter package for each set), allows different programming on different sets.

"We are finding that roughly 25 percent of the subscribers are requesting this item," said Peter Newell, president of Omnicom of Michigan, the company which has the cable franchise in Canton.

Newell admitted the marketing plan in Canton did not include this converter service in the original proposed rate structure. Franchises in Plymouth and Northville, also serviced by Omnicom, have the service at the same $3.50 rate.

'We are finding that roughly 25 percent of the subscribers are requesting this item (an extra converter).'
—Peter Newell
Omnicom president

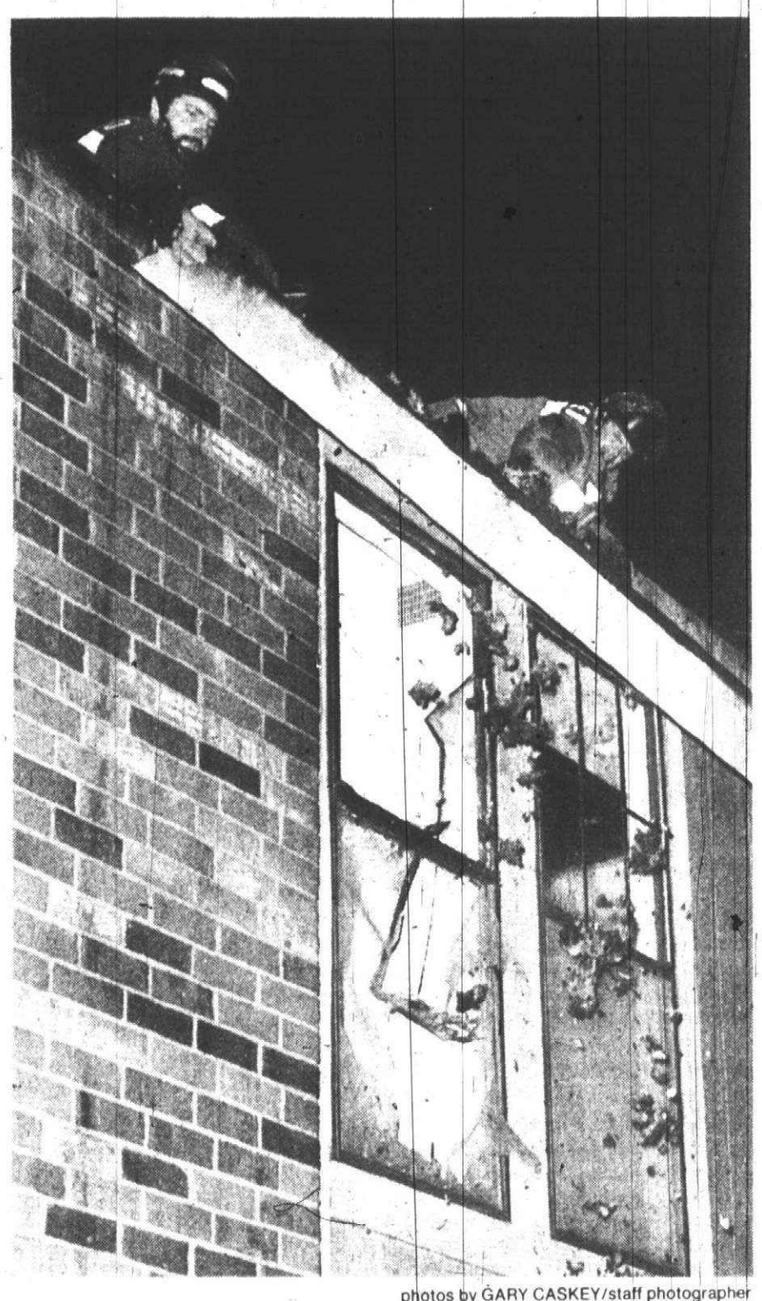

NEWELL went to the board Tuesday as part of a public hearing, requesting an amendment in Canton's cable TV ordinance to provide the converter service. A public hearing is required before any changes in services or costs are implemented in the ordinance.

Omnicom now is in the cable-construction procedure in Canton, although some township residents already have service. Newell said all the cable in Canton should be installed and turned on by the end of this year.

There is no installation fee for persons who sign up for cable service during the initial construction period.

Several packages are available, ranging from $6.95 a month for the basic service to a deluxe plan at $35.75 a month.

The basic plan includes 22 channels. Newell said Omnicom is working on filling 36 channels, but has the capability of offering 52 channels in the future.

Two Canton firemen clear the area above a second-floor unit at a fire at the Tamarack Green apartment complex Saturday night.

Apartment fire blamed on light

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

A fire which severely damaged a building at Tamarack Green apartment complex Saturday night started in an apparently faulty floodlight.

Canton Fire Marshal Arthur Winkel said the floodlight, fastened to a gable on a building, was used to illuminate the parking lot at Tamarack Green, on Lotz north of Michigan Avenue.

The fire spread from the attic area beneath the roof of the building through the ceiling of the second-floor apartments below. One apartment was vacant and the other occupied, Winkel said.

No one was injured. But the Robert Blackmer family — occupants of one of the damaged two-bedroom units — reportedly are staying in another Tamarack Green apartment.

"THE ROOF and ceiling went," Winkel said. "It all went down into the top two apartments."

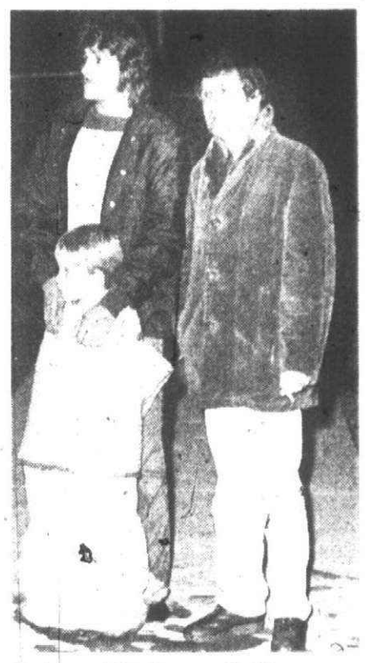

Winkel said most of the Blackmers' household goods were destroyed. The building sustained substantial structural and water damage.

The fire was reported to the Canton fire department at 11:01 p.m. Saturday, Winkel said. It was discovered by a neighbor, who alerted tenants of the burning building.

Firefighters from Wayne assisted in extinguishing the fire, said Winkel. Plymouth Township's department also helped, sending one rescue unit and two firefighters to stand by at Canton's main station.

"From all indications, the fire was electrical in origin," Winkel said. "It appears to have started from a parking-lot floodlight. It was in the attic and came through to the second floor."

Nice goin' Nitro!

Police dog sniffs out car break-in suspects

Nitro "nose" his job.

On Monday morning, Nitro, a German shepherd police tracking dog, led officers to items believed stolen from several cars in a Canton subdivision. He then followed the suspects' scents to a nearby wooded area, resulting in arrests.

"Nitro led the officers to where all the property was sitting by the side of a street," said Lt. Larry Stewart, of the Canton police. "He found the scent (and) a quarter-mile away found (the suspects)."

Two men from Dearborn and a Dearborn Heights companion face two counts each of breaking-and-entering a motor vehicle. Canton police arrested the trio early Monday morning.

Charged are James Grady, 23, and Michael Berry, 17, both of Colgate in Dearborn Heights, and Michael Wagel, 18, of Grindley in Dearborn.

A preliminary examination in 35th District Court will be Oct. 15. The three stood mute at their arraignment Monday before Judge James Garber.

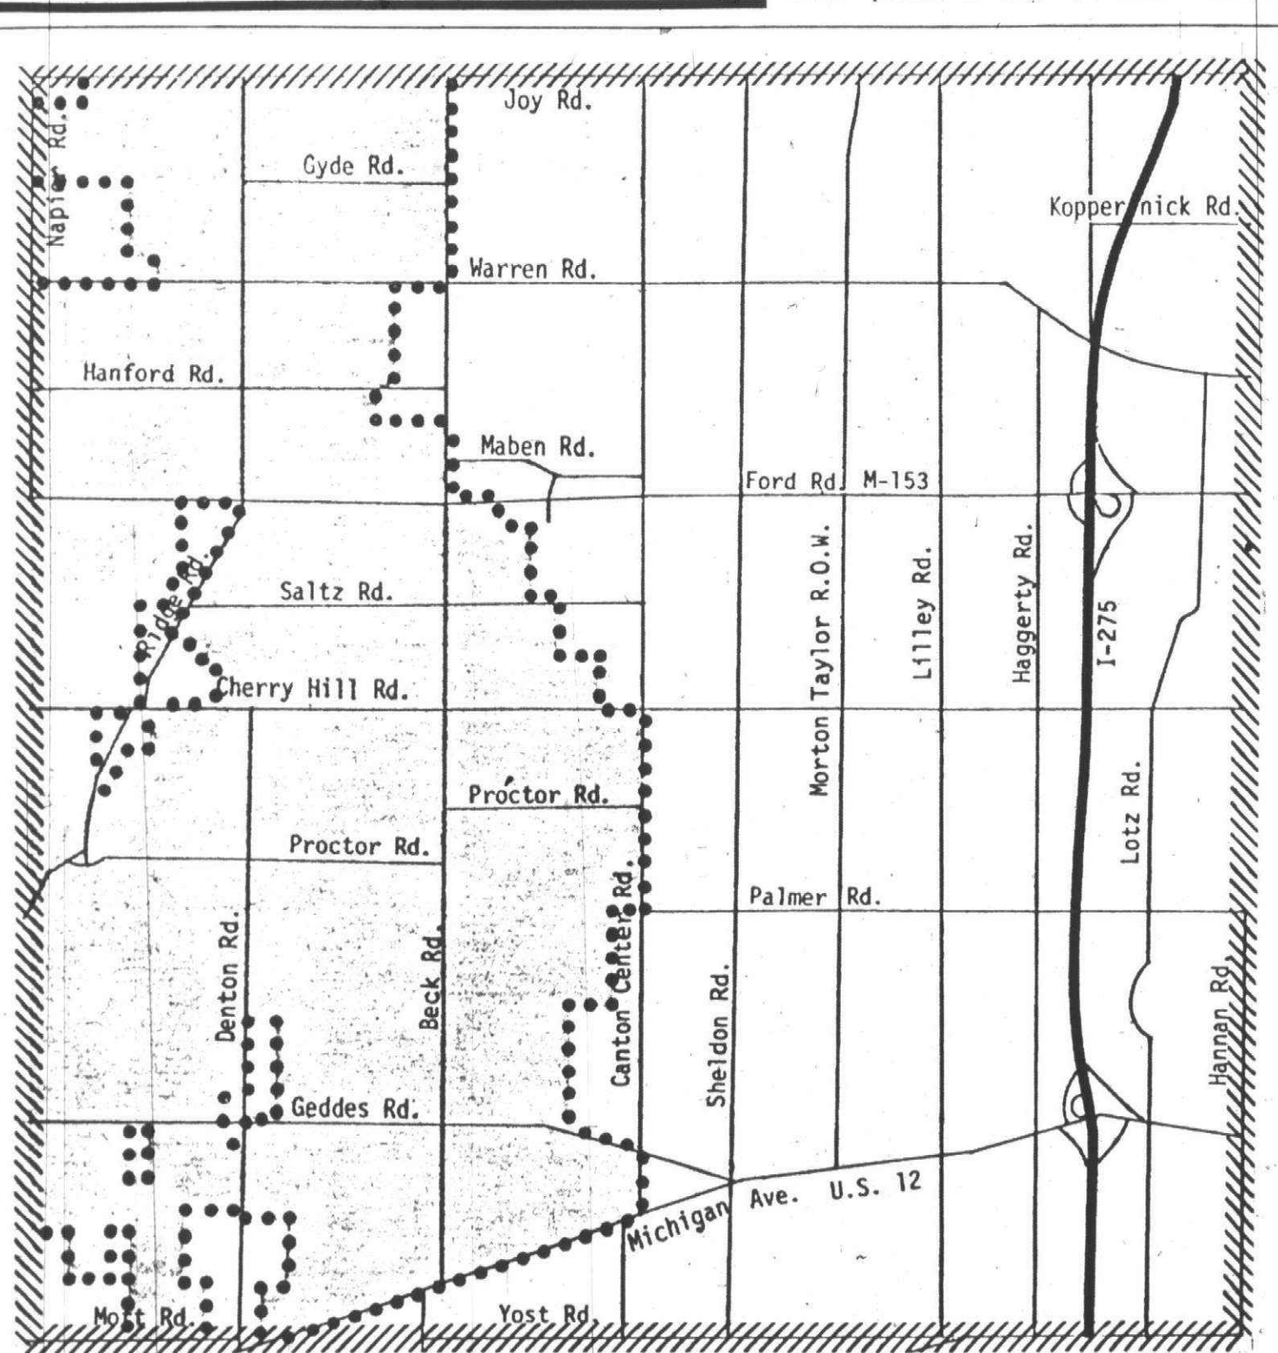

The court entered innocent pleas in their behalf. Bond was set at $10,000 each. Breaking-and-entering an auto carries a penalty up to five years in prison.

STEWART SAID the investigation began about 4 a.m. Monday, when a patrol officer saw a Wagel sitting behind the wheel of a van in a subdivision near Ford and Sheldon.

The vehicle showed signs of being broken into, Stewart said. Subsequent investigation revealed windows on a total of four vehicles had been pried open.

The officer arrested Wagel. Then officer William Keppen and Nitro, who work as team, were called into the investigation.

New York farmland project sets pace for Canton's plan

Can farmland preservation become a reality in Canton? This article, third in a series, examines a plan operating in New York.

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Officials in Suffolk County, New York, became concerned about the loss of open areas back in the 1960s.

The county is on Long Island Sound east of New York City.

Some areas of the county are heavily urbanized. Others cater to tourists who are attracted to the beaches and recreational facilities along the Sound.

But Suffolk County also has an important agricultural industry. Lee Koppelman, an area planner, said the county is noted for production of potatoes, assorted vegetables, grapes and apples. Poultry-raising and horse-breeding also are important.

In the early 1970s, Suffolk County officials formulated a development-rights program which already has preserved more than 3,200 acres of existing agricultural land for farming.

Canton Township's proposed farmland preservation program is modeled after Suffolk County.

"WE WERE losing our farms at an alarming rate," said Koppelman, executive director of the Long Island Regional Planning Board and a nationwide spokesman for farmland preservation.

Farmland was being sold for development as elderly parents died and their children were faced with hefty inheritance taxes, said Koppelman.

Suffolk County officials put together a development-rights plan in which farmers would be paid the difference between the agricultural value of their property and the potential market value for development.

In exchange, the landowner would be required to preserve the land for farming, whether it's sold or kept.

The county received permission to sell bonds to fund the project. Koppelman said $9.6 million has been spent to preserve 3,200 acres of open space and about $9 million is earmarked for the next 3,200-acre phase.

In the meantime, the Suffolk County of Southampton is working on a farmland preservation plan at the local level.

"THIS ISN'T a panacea," said Koppelman. "We're using every reasonable device possible. Purchasing development rights isn't the only way to go. But in my opinion, it's the basic way."

Other long-range plans in Suffolk County include reducing property assessments for farmland.

KOPPELMAN said benefits include a local supply of food, local control over tax rates and quality of life, and an infusion of new blood into farming.

"This land has become so prized there is a waiting list to buy it," said Koppelman.

About four years ago, Canton Finance Director Mike Gorman went to Suffolk County to take a look at the plan. A committee recently drew up its format.

No pack rats allowed

The dos and don'ts of fire safety

Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 4 to 10) is winding down.

But fire department officials want folks to think about fire safety every week of the year. Here are a few dos and don'ts, as compiled by Canton Fire Marshal Arthur Winkel.

Don't be a pack rat. Clean the attic, basement, closets and garage. Throw out old newspapers, rubbish and other combustibles — today.

Make sure that flammable liquids such as gasoline, paint thinner, varnish, paint, lighter fluid and oils are kept in tightly closed, approved containers. Store in a cool, dry place away from furnaces or other heat sources.

A FIREPLACE should have a metal screen or glass doors to prevent escaping sparks or embers from igniting household combustible materials.

Don't push ashes in a box. Coals often remain hot or smoldering for long periods, causing a fire hazard.

"We've had quite a few fires that way," said Winkel.

Chimney and chimney connector should be inspected and cleaned before and during each heating season, especially if a wood-burning appliance is used. Furnaces and heating systems should be checked and cleaned at least once a year.

Don't overload electrical extension cords. They should be out in the open, and not laid over hooks, placed under rugs or run through doorways where they may become worn and create short circuits.

WOOD-BURNING STOVES also must be installed and used properly. Last year, 21 Michigan residents lost their lives in fires associated with wood-burning appliances.

The appliance should be 36 inches from combustible walls, and placed on a non-combustible pad or hearth. Furniture, logs, newspapers and clothing should be at least 36 inches from the stove.

Use the proper amount of fuel. Clean chimney and stove pipe connector, and inspect chimney frequently for signs of deterioration or damage.

ACCORDING TO Winkel, every home should have a properly installed and maintained smoke detector. There should be one on each floor, and one in each sleeping area.

Install the detector according to manufacturer's instructions, and check battery once a year. Don't put off replacing the battery.

According to statistics, 240 Michigan residents lost their lives in 1980 in residential fires. One-third of the victims were asleep at the time the fire occurred.

"People should sleep with the bedroom doors closed," said Winkel. That delays the spread of smoke.

In case of a fire, persons should feel the door. If it's hot, don't open. Go to a window, said Winkel.

Each family should have a pre-arranged evacuation plan from all rooms, but especially from the bedrooms.

Each family should have a pre-arranged evacuation plan. There should be two routes of escape from each room, especially bedrooms.

The plan should include a pre-arranged safe place for all family members to meet outside. Never go back into a burning building.

Community coughs up funds for clinic

Tracy Rienecke, 2, was painted up as a clown during activites at the Hilton Hotel's City of Hope benefit Sunday.

The benefit for the City of Hope at the Plymouth Hilton last Sunday meant many things for many people.

Children found fun in the clown entertainment offered, pony rides and games.

Music lovers found a taste treat of all kinds in the 13 bands which played throughout the day.

Those who sell specialty arts and crafts — as well as those who buy them — found an ample repesentation.

Local officials, easily drawn to such community events where they receive star attraction billing, also found the chance to make contact with their constituents in an easy going atmosphere.

But most importantly, the event brought out a sense of generosity that's not entirely practical in tough economic times.

Latest estimates put the contribution to the hospital-research center called the City Hope at $2,800 — and more is expected to come trickling in later in the year because of the benefit in October.

Festival co-chairman Michael Haggerty, who's also the Hilton's sales manager, says pledges are still continuing to come in. Coin contribution boxes, placed throughout the community in preparation for the event, will be collected in December. That, and incoming staff contributions, put a certain contribution total unknown until the year's end.

IT'S BEEN ESTIMATED that the first-time-ever benefit in Plymouth attracted well over 5,000 spectators. Hilton staffers plan to make the festival an annual event.

It started out as a way for the hotel to celebrate its sixth anniversary in the community. Admittedly, it also made good publicity for the hotel, but most agree good profits were generated for the medical center as well.

The day started on a dreary note with overcast skies and rainfall threatening to dampen the activities. Responding to the unpredictable turn of events, arts and crafts booths were moved indoors and planned out-door amusement rides were cancelled.

Police also reported no disturbances within the crowd. There was one exception, however.

According to a hotel spokesper-

Dog is cop's best friend

"The dog started tracking," Stewart said. "He went along the route, then came across the other vehicles that had been entered."

Keppen and Nitro followed the scent to a wooded area about a quarter-mile away. They found and arrested Berry there, Stewart said. A third man escaped.

Keppen continued searching until he injured an eye on a tree branch. He was treated for a lacerated cornea at Wayne County General Hospital and later released.

Other Canton officers arrested Grady about 8:15 a.m. Monday in the vicinity of Sheldon and Saltz.

"THIS IS the second time in 10 days that Nitro has come through for us," Stewart said.

Several days earlier, Keppen and Nitro were called in to look for a man who had run away. The man was being sought for four outstanding misdemeanor warrants, including two for assault and battery.

Stewart said the man gave up, telling police "he could hear a dog sniffing, and he knew it wasn't a cockapoo."

Apartment damaged by fire

Winkel said that each apartment unit is equipped with a heat detector. He said a detector went off as occupants were leaving.

THE BLACKMERS could not be reached for comment. Managers of the Tamarack Green complex declined comment, referring all calls to the management company, Property Specialists Corp. of Detroit.

Management-company spokeswoman Mary Love said this was the first fire at Tamarack Green. The complex was built about six years ago.

"I think the important thing is there is one family that can't use their unit because of the fire," said Mrs. Love, vice president and general manager of Property Specialists. "They have moved to another apartment in the complex."

Task force pushes for research park

A couple of Plymouth residents are leaders in an effort to locate a $500 million research and development center on 664 acres near Geddes and LeForge roads in Superior Township.

The proposal is being considered by a 12-member high technology task force appointed by Gov. Milliken and led by Robert Law, a former state representative representing Livonia and Westland who now is living in Plymouth.

The plans have been endorsed by the Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce board of directors which is headed by John Lynch, a Plymouth resident who is a plant executive at General Motor's Hydra-Matic plant in Ypsilanti.

The task force also is considering a 700-acre parcel near US-23 and Plymouth Road in Ann Arbor and a 390-acre site on both sides of Whittaker Raod south of I-94 in Ypsilanti Township.

Ann Arbor businesspersons also have lent support to the Superior Township proposal in an effort to keep the research park in the general area, but would prefer to have a site closer to the University of Michigan selected.

Lynch believes the research center will generate from 7,000 to 10,000 jobs and that the site itself could rent for as much as $1 million an acre. Construction would take from 10 to 20 years.

Location in Superior Townships goes along with a general notion of the high technology task force to locate research centers in a "research triangle" with points roughly from the U-M, Michigan State University and Wayne State University.

The high technology task force is operating as part of the governor's efforts to diversify the state's economic base.

Development of automotive electronics and robotics will be among the group's major study areas, Law has reported, as well as the development of a state research park.

The group is studying ways universities, the business sector and government can diversify and expand the state's economy in new technology industries.

Task force members include financier Max Fisher of Franklin, William Agee of Bendix Corp., W. Michael Blumenthal of Burroughs, and Harold Shapiro and Paul McCracken of U-M.

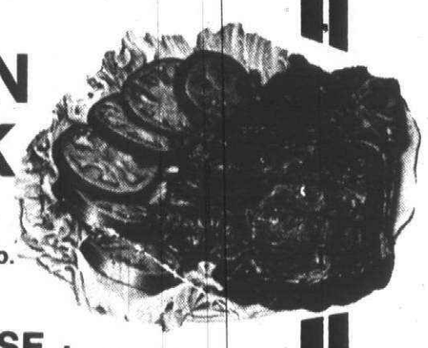

A subcommittee of the task force already is working on a $200 million robotics research center in Ann Arbor — possibly at the US-23, Plymouth Road site.

Robotics, generally involve the use of computer-controlled machines which can be reprogrammed to perform a variety of manufacturing tasks.

The U-M College of Engineering, which will help develop the Ann Arbor Center, is forming a Center for Robotics.

On Nov. 3, Canton voters will be asked to authorize a $7 million bond issue. The funds would be used to pay farmers in western Canton for development right.

Curretnly, there are about 5,500 acres of agricultural land west of Canton Center Road. Residents would pay for the debt retirement through assessments of $25 to $30 per year, over a 20-year period.

A REPORT prepared by Kathy Martin of Canton's planning department indicates a five-member agricultural board would be set up to oversee the operations of the program. Members of the board would be appointed by the Township Board, and be drawn from the farming community, professional land developers and other residents.

The procedure would be as follows:

- Eligible land would include parcels in agricultural-industrial zoning and agricultural-residential district which exceed five acres in production.
- Land-owners would submit bids on estimated development rights to the township. The agricultural board would review offers and order appraisals.
- Appraisals would be based on fair market value and on agricultural value. The difference would be the value of development right.
- Purchase contracts would be submitted to the Township Board for approval.
- Participation in the program would be voluntary. However, those who don't participate still may find their land legally restricted by the exclusive agricultural zoning.

Township officials plan to send out a pamphlet to residents in the next few weeks. The Plymouth-Canton-Northville chapter of the League of Women Voters is sponsoring an educational forum for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 22 in Township Hall.

The forum will discuss the farmland issue and the proposed Wayne County charter. Both issues will be on the Nov. 3 ballot.

Superintendent ponders career move

Wayne-Westland Superintendent Timothy Dyer may soon become a leading educator in Massachusetts. Dr. Dyer is one of four finalists for the job of commissioner of education in that state.

"I'm an intellectually curious person, and I'll look at anything," he said. "I've turned down other (jobs). Massachusetts is a class state that has long had a reputation for good education.

"It's a good place under normal circumstances, but the circumstances aren't normal now. A Tisch-like tax cut proposal called Proposition 2½ has sent education into a tail spin in that state," Dr. Dyer explained.

Dr. Dyer said the final interview of all four has been set for a public meeting on Oct. 14. The Massachusetts state board is expected to make its selection later that night.

The only out-of-state contender for the job, Dr. Dyer said he was nominated for the job by the dean of the college of education in South Carolina. The dean was a former Massachusetts educator who had known Dr. Dyer.

A MEMBER of the board of regents of Eastern Michigan University, Dr. Dyer was in Massachusetts last weekend to participate on a panel on higher education and to address the "American Association of Governing Boards of Colleges and Universities." Dyer, a board member of that group, will speak on "Making education better with less."

If offered the job, Dr. Dyer said he would be faced with a "perplexing personal decision."

"I've spent my entire life in this state. Where I've lived has always been within 12 miles of the place where I was born," he continued. "This would be a major change in my life as well as in my profession."

Dr. Dyer has served as superintendent in the Wayne-Westland district, which includes part of Canton Township, since 1973. He was a candidate for president at Eastern in 1978, and in 1979 withdrew from the race for the job as Michigan superintendent of education.

● HALLOWEEN PARTY

A Halloween program, sponsored by the Canton Library, takes place 10:30-11:30 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 24 at the library, on the third floor of Canton's Township Hall, on Canton Center south of Cherry Hill.

The program, called "Witches, Goblins and Sometimes Ghosts," is for school-age children — kindergarten and older. It will feature scary stories, films, games and special treats.

Participants are asked to wear Halloween costumes and come at your own risk. No advanced registration is required.

● LIBRARY MEETING

The Plymouth Public Library Board will hold its regular meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 13 at the Manager's Office at Plymouth City Hall. The public is invited to attend.

● WISER MEETING

The Widows in Service (WISER) club will hold its regular meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 13 at Newman House, 1700 Haggerty, between 6 and 7 Mile, south of Schoolcraft Community College.

The guest speaker at this meeting will be Rita Long, who will discuss how positive attitudes help us cope with stressful situations. The public is invited to attend.

● SINGLES DANCING

The Spinnakers Singles Group, sponsored by Plymouth and Northville Presbyterian Churches, will hold an evening of country dancing and instruction at 8 p.m. Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, 200 E. Main. Admission is $3.

● CHAMBER CAUCUS

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce will hold its next caucus luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 20 in the Jacob Room of the Hillside Inn. Cost is $6.50 per person. Oakland County prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson will be the guest speaker. Call the Chamber office at 453-1540 to make reservations.

● BOY SCOUT RALLY

Boy Scout Troop 1540 will hold a recruiting rally at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 20 in the Isbister Elementary School multi-purpose room. All boys, 11 years old and older, are invited to attend with parents.

The troop also is collecting newspapers for recycling. For more information about newspaper pick-up, call 459-7498.

● WOMEN VOTERS' MEETING

The Plymouth-Canton-Northville League of Women Voters will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Plymouth City Hall on the second floor commission chambers. The topic of the meeting will be "Financing Local Public Education." The public is welcome to attend.

● BALLET/TAP CLASSES

Canton Parks & Recreation Department has added three new ballot and tap classes for beginners. The program will meet once a week from October to April. All students also will participate in a recital at the conclusion of the program.

Registration fee is $8 or $1.75 per lesson. Hours are 3:30-4:30 p.m. Tuesdays (4 year olds), 4:30-5:30 p.m. Tuesdays (7-9 year olds) and 2-3 p.m. Thursday (3 year olds).

For more information, call the recreation department at 397-1000, ext. 212.

● ALUMNI HOMECOMING

Livonia Clarenceville High School will hold its homecoming on Friday, Oct. 9. All alumni are invited to come to the high school cafeteria after the football game for light refreshments. Clarenceville graduates living in the Plymouth-Canton community are invited to attend.

● PREGNANCY FITNESS

A new pregnancy-fitness class, sponsored by the Professional Associates in Childbirth Education, will take place on Monday, Oct. 12, at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The six-week series includes a registered physical therapist teaching expectant mothers cardiovascular fitness, muscle strengthening and relaxation and comfort techiques.

For additional information, call 425-3750 or 827-8750.

2 motorists strike trees

Two area persons remain in St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, this week after each was injured in separate one-car accidents in Plymouth in which the car struck a tree.

Keith K. Bronikowski, 29, of Livonia, was listed in fair condition in the hospital's intensive care unit Tuesday afternoon following a traffic accident in Plymouth Township Sunday.

Police report Bronikowski was traveling west on Ann Arbor Trail near Beck when his car crossed the center lane and crashed into three trees before stopping.

Plymouth Township firefighters were called to the scene to extinguish a fire that erupted in the car's engine as a result of the crash.

The driver was cited with careless driving.

On Monday a 64-year-old Plymouth woman was reportedly injured after she apparently lost consciousness while driving and crashed into a tree in the Sheridan-Evergreen section of Plymouth.

According to police, Golda Shoulders was driving south on Evergreen about 10 a.m. when she hit a tree on the east side of the street.

Hospital officials said she was in satisfactory condition by late Tuesday.

Retarded, friends to stage marathon

Supporters of community placement for the mentally retarded will stage a four-day Redford-to-Lansing relay run starting Monday.

"During this year — the International Year of the Disabled Person — we want to show the abilities of mentally retarded persons and the fact that community placement is working," said Margaret Olesnavage. She is chairwoman of Awareness Communications Team for Developmently Disabled (ACT/DD). Kiwanis Club is also a sponsor.

"In a small number of neighborhoods, group homes have been controversial because of unfounded community fears. We want to ensure that these local concerns do not overshadow the many positive aspects of community placement or threaten the continued development of group homes in residential areas.

"This event dramatizes the large amount of public support for the community placement program, its widely acknowleged success, and how placement has enhanced the lives of thousands throughout Michigan," she said.

THE RUN for Community Living will start at 9:30 a.m. Monday, Oct. 12 at Seven-Grand Shopping Center, Seven Mile at Grand River.

Participants will receive a ceremonial send-off from students of St. Agatha High. Following a brief rally, relay team runners will begin a four-day race along old Grand River Avenue to the State Capitol in Lansing.

Mentally retarded persons, accompanied by "friends," will run one mile and pass a key to a group home and a copy of a human rights statement to the next runner, according to the announcement.

At 11 a.m. Thursday, the nearly 200 runners will leave the Frandor Shopping Center, between Michigan and Saginaw avenues at I-496 in Lansing, to finish the last mile to the Capitol. A rally on the steps there will begin at noon.

HONORARY chairman is Gov. William G. Milliken.

Rally speakers will inlude Jimmie Nelson, ARC/Plymouth, and C. Patrick Babcock, acting director of the state Department of Mental Health.

Recognition will be given to legislators who supported the community placement program.

America sniffs at blue-collar workers as peasants

This is the second of 15 articles exploring "Working: Changes and Choices." It was written for Courses by Newspapers, a program of University Extension, University of California, San Diego, with funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities. © 1981 by the Regents of the University of California.

By Robert Schrank
special writer

Robert Schrank has been a program officer with the Ford Foundation since 1970. A consultant to government, business and universities, he held a wide variety of blue-collar and white-collar jobs — plumber, machinist, coal miner, plant manager, union official and city commissioner — before earning his doctorate in sociology. He is the author of "Ten Thousand Working Days" and editor of "American Workers Abroad."

The Industrial Revolution of the late 18th and 19th centuries marked the rise of the factory and the decline of agriculture as the central focus of work in Western society.

The people who left the farms to work in factories wore easily washed blue denim workshirts and overalls and thus came to be known as blue-collar workers.

Today's blue-collar workers make, repair and deliver the material objects that are essential to our high standard of living, from automobiles and washing machines to ballpoint pens and safety pins.

Yet the people who create the miracles of modern industrial life are given little esteem by the society they serve.

It is difficult to see how America can continue to atttract workers to these crucial jobs unless it changes its attitudes toward them.

UNTIL 1954, blue-collar workers were a majority of the American labor force. Since then, their relative percentage (though not their absolute number) has declined as a result of the rapid growth in white-collar employment.

Today, blue-collar workers comprise only 36 percent of our 102 million-member workforce.

The decline in the percentage of blue-collar workers has been accompanied by an even more rapid decline in the prestige society assigns to the work they do.

I speak feelingly about this issue, for I spent many years working in a blue collar as an auto worker, plumber, and machinist. In each of these jobs I worked hard physically, and I was continually aware of the fact that what I was doing was needed by society.

Yet, I never felt my work was appreciated, even when I was installing toilet bowls and bathtubs — two absolute necessities of modern life.

HOW CAN it be that the kind of work that creates the hallmarks of advanced society is scorned by the same society? A glance into history might help us to understand this anomaly.

Starting in the Golden Age of Classical Greece, when slaves did all necessary labor, people who did manual work came to be looked down upon. Later, when feudalism developed further north in Europe, it was the peasant — the lowest in the status hierarchy — who did the planting, harvesting, and other work for the manor on which he labored as a serf.

By the Renaissance, work skills had specialized, and the "craftman" had come into being. Craftsmen became hightly skilled workers who underwent extended apprenticeships to earn the title of journeymen. Significantly, this class whas also known as "freemen."

Then came the Industrial Revolution.

With the advent of the factory, a relentless process of de-skilling began. Skilled craftsmen were a problem for factory owners because they could force higher wages simply by withholding their specialized, essential knowledge from the workplace.

Employers could end this dependence by breaking jobs down into tasks small enough so that anyone could learn them, thus eliminating the need for craftsmen.

IN 1900 this process was made intellectually "respectable" by Frederick Taylor, the father of "scientific management."

He argued that greater efficiency would be achieved if work tasks were engineered into their smallest possible components, relieving individual workers of decision-making.

Taylor's philosophy, adopted by Henry Ford and other industrialists, aimed to dedicate every minute of a worker's time to production. In the process, workers came to be treated as things. — mere extensions of machines — and the craft went out of craftsmanship.

But the change made mass production possible and heralded the age of the assembly line.

UNDERLYING the concept of mass production was the innovation of interchangeable parts. For example, a part made for one clock was manufactured, so it would fit in every clock mass produced by that factory.

Under this system, PEOPLE also became interchangeable. Without the need for special skills, any worker could perform any part of the assembly process with only a short training period.

This aspect of the Industrial Revolution is ongoing. For example, we are currently witnessing the de-skilling of the craft of newspaper printing. Historically, a printer would make type, set it, lock it up, and run the presses in the tradition of Gutenberg, the inventor of mechanical printing.

But in a modern print plant, copy is typed by reporters into a video display unit and passed through a pre-programmed computer that makes the press mats. No "printers" are involved; and the few human tasks remaining are easily learned.

NOT EVERY craftsman has gone the way of the clockmaker and the printer. Some maintain their skills, including those who can read blueprints and turn the into metal parts, tools, houses (complete with modern plumbing and electrical wiring) and bridges.

But society holds even these highly skilled professionals, such as plumbers, electricians and iron workers, in low esteem. These workers are frustrated because their own sense of social worth in not shared by others.

For example, if a blue-collar worker wants to go out to dinner after work, he or she considers it necessary to change into "street clothes," the WORK apparel of the white-collar worker that can be worn without scorn in public.

Other invidious distinctions make blue-collar workers continually aware of their lower social status: They punch time-clocks and are paid by the hour; most white-collar workers do not punch time-clocks and receive "salaries."

BLUE-COLLAR workers have little control over their time on the job and have access to few amenities; white-collar workers usually have less supervision, greater freedom to pace their work, and access to a free phone for personal business.

Because blue-collar workers make or install things, their work is easily quantified; most white-collar workers are not subjected to such measurement of output.

Blue-collar workers also face daily the tasks of making their repetitive work bearable. In order to cope with routine jobs to which society assigns no intrinsic value, all employees, but blue-collar workers in particular, create a sense of "community" with their coworkers.

This feeling of a community at work, the social life of the office or factory, if one of the few satisfactions available to factory workers an laborers.

Thus, the inability to "schmooze" (shoot the breeze) in a noisy, fast-paced auto factory is one reason that such jobs are often considered "bad," even though they are highly paid.

TELEVISION has made all Americans aware of the division of labor in our society and of the unequal distribution of amenities on the job.

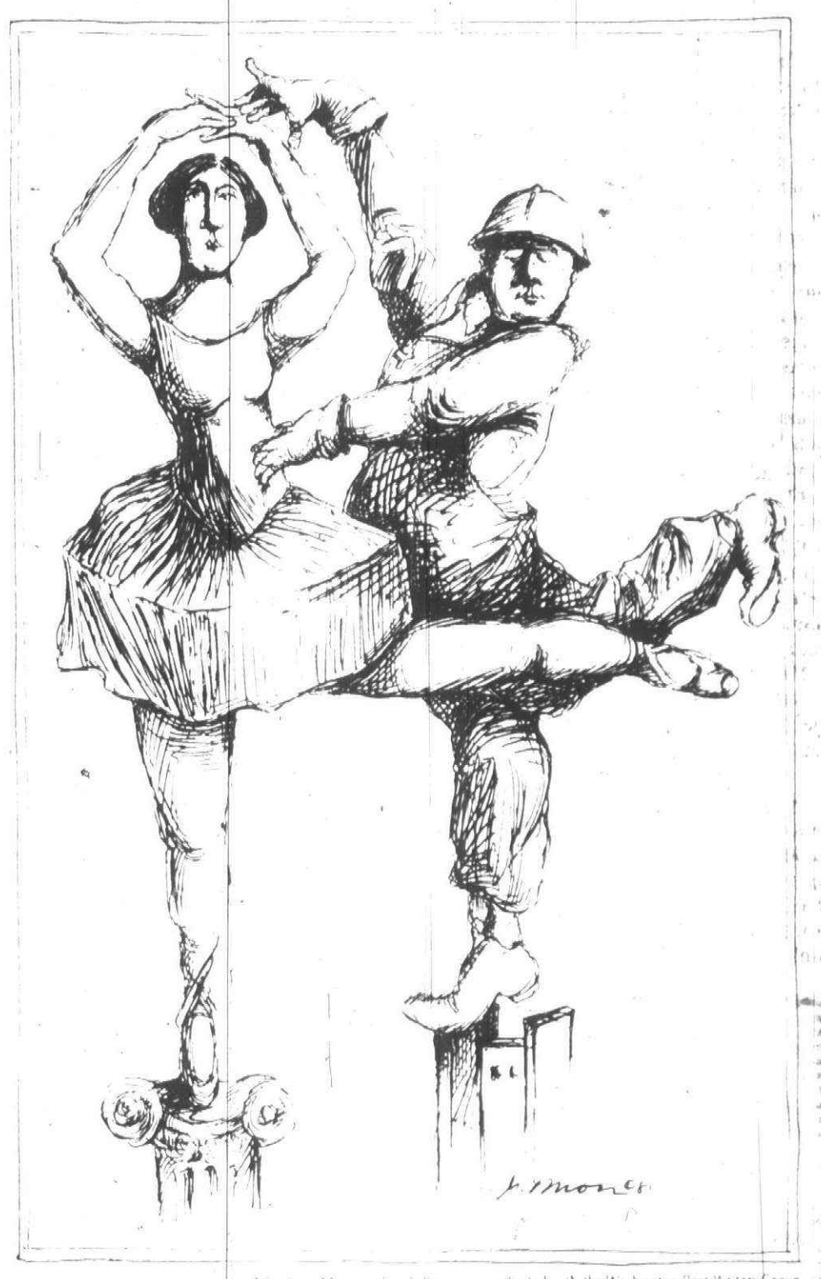

As a result, young people tend to reject manual work, preferring the white-collar world. In fact, America is in danger of becoming a "clean-hands" society in which native-born men and women refuse to do the necessary work of civilization.

Even as the economy continues to eliminate blue-collar work through automation, robots and computers, there is a critical shortage of many types of blue-collar workers. High-paid jobs — for example, screw-machine operators — go begging because Americans refuse to do noisy, dirty work. Such work is being exported — along with potential jobs for Americans.

But even noisy, dirty work can be made more attractive by giving blue-collar workers some of the same perquisites as white-collar workers enjoy — greater control over their own jobs and greater opportunities to schmooze.

At least for the near future, a substantial and critical part of the labor force will wear blue collars. If America is to interest people in such work, it may have to rethink how to give those who make ours an "affluent society" the respect they deserve.

The views expressed in Courses by Newspapers are those of the authors. Next Week: Historian Thomas Dublin of the University of California, San Diego, discusses blue-collar women.

Winter prep time!

Complete instructions for all the many uses of Garden Works Leaf Humus can be found on the back of each bag.

Rhododendron: Mulch base with 4" to 6" of Leaf Humus, now, through first snow. Spread back from plant's base in early spring.

Dahlias: Tender annuals with tubers, root stocks, or bulbs can be winter-stored in Leaf Humus.

Winter Rose Protection: Erect a small wire frence around the plant, 12" to 18" tall. Fill with Leaf Humus. Remove in early spring before new growth begins. Spread as mulch.

Transplants: Blend soil with Leaf Humus and fill into hole that's 2-3 times larger than root ball.

Commissioners need more time

County postpones action on Lucas

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has again put aside action on the failure of Sheriff William Lucas to post a $500,000 bond. The sheriff's refusal could lead to possible removal from office if 18 votes can be obtained on the 27-member board.

In their meeting on Oct. 1, the commissioners passed the matter for the day on a motion by James J. Rashid from Dearborn. The motion also continues the subpoena under which Lucas is required to appear before the board, with suitable explanations the commissioners will accept for some $3.3 million he ordered spent for unauthorized road patrol activity.

From February until last month, Lucas refused to dismantle the road patrol as instructed, according to the commissioners. Lucas dismantled the patrol after a ruling by visiting Judge Harvey W. Moes from Hillsdale County but he is appealing the ruling.

The dispute over road patrol authority will continue until a decision from the State Court of Appeals or Supreme court.

IN PAST WEEKS, the board met to consider dismissal of Lucas, but then adjourned the proceedings while waiting for a Circuit court decision from Moes. "Now, some commissioners have expressed a need for more time to think about the matter bacause it is still in litiagiton," said Rashid, referring to the appeals procedure.

"We need more time for exploration and answering of questions," said Rashid. "We have to examine how to handle unauthorized spending of $100,000 per week. This county would be in a $100 million deficit if we allowed every department head to act like the sheriff."

In agreement with Rashid was William J. Runco of Dearborn. "Although the court has upheld the objectives we sought, we still have the obligation and the right to know why the money was spent. We should still question Lucas publicly," said Runco.

Commissioner Arthur M. Carter argued against further interrogation of the sheriff. "There is no reason," he said . "The matter has been settled in court and other more important matters now deserve our attention.

"SINCE THE COURT order, the sheriff has agreed to cease road patrol activity, and the conditions of fiscal responsibility have been met. Any further restraints on the sheriff would seem to be a personal vendetta."

Commissioners George F. Killeen and Ervin A. Steiner Jr. raised questions of payment for the sheriffs's legal fees in suits against the Board of Commissioners. "Apart from the $3.3 million he has spent without authorization, what will his attorney fees cost and who is expected to pay them?" Killeen asked.

"We have a given amount of revenue to work with, and he goes and hires outside counsel to oppose our budget authority. What will this appeal cost, and what will it cost the taxpayer for that appeal and for us to defend against that appeal?" Killeen asked.

Said Steiner, "I'd like to know who is going to pay. If he is going to pay or if the unions are going to pay, fine. But if we're going to have to pay, if it is given to the taxpayer, than I've got a problem." Steiner added, "If he's going to pay, I have no problem. But if the taxpayer has to pay, I've got a problem." Steiner said he heard "rumors" that the sheriff's attorney fees might exceed $250,000.

Also at the board meeting, the commissioners approved a resolution authorizing package liquor sales on Sunday. The measure will be implemented as soon as also authorized by the State Liquor Commission. Previously, it was erroneously thought the measure required approval from Gov. Milliken, but the enabling legislation requires only approval of each county across the state along with the Liquor Commission.

All three counties adjoining Wayne County already have enacted such provisions and are allowing the Sunday sales after noon from package stores. The consensus of the board is that it allows competitive sales with neighboring counties. Kolleen and Commissioner Paul G. Citkowski voted against the proposal.

Levin staffer coming here

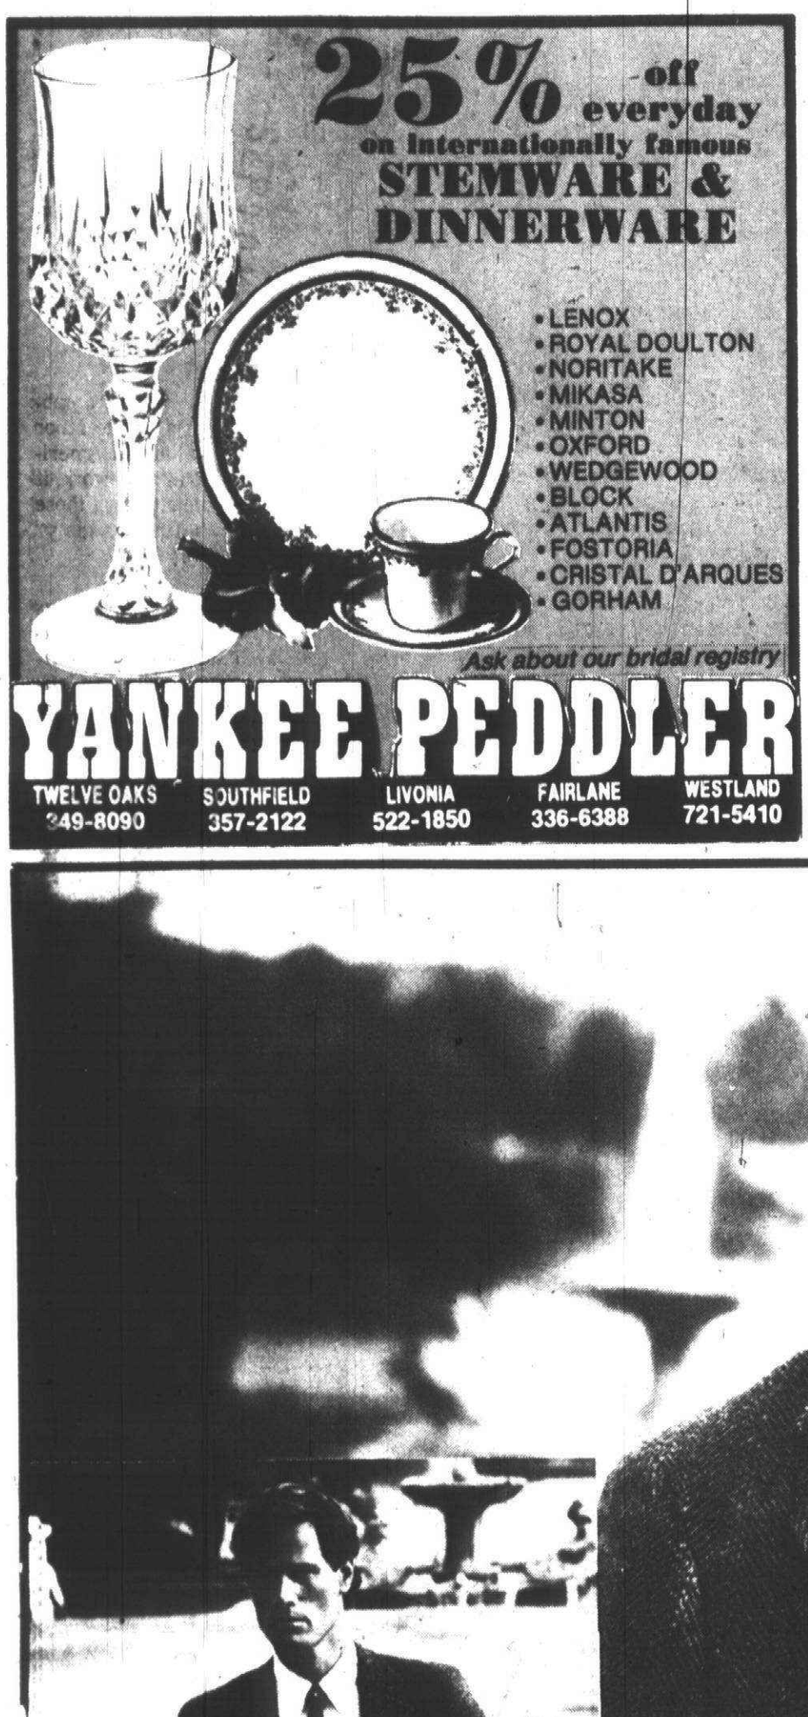

U.S. Senator Carl Levin, D-Michigan, is sending a staff member here to listen to the concerns of residents.

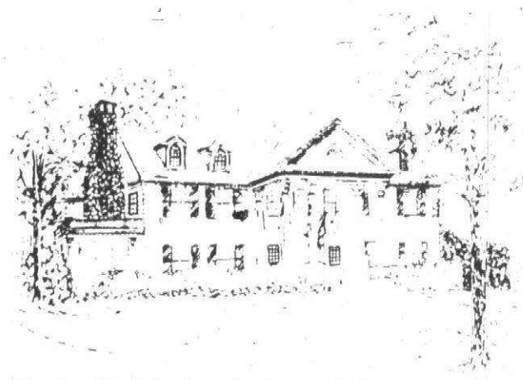

Ruth Broder will be in Plymouth City Hall from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 14.

She will be in the second floor commission chambers of City Hall at 201 S. Main and Church.

"I hope that area residents will take a few minutes to stop by and talk with my staff if they have a problem involving an agency of the federal government or if they would like to make their views known to me," said Levin.

Anyone unable to attend the constituent service hours may contact Sen. Levin's office at 1860 McNamara Building, 477 Michigan Avenue, Detroit 48226 or by calling 226-6020.

how to present dentistry to children

Dentistry today is generally a pleasant experience. It's important that parents introduce dentistry to children properly because it may influence dental care attitudes for the rest of their lives.

At 3 to 3½ years old, a child should see a dentist to detect problems in early stages... and to insure a pleasant introduction to dentistry. "You're going to see the dentist to have him look at your teeth" is really all a young child needs to be told.

Do not use words like, "pain, hurt, shot," or even "not hurt" or discuss unhappy dental experiences around or with children.

Following these simple rules can start your child off to a lifetime of worry-free dental care.

JOSEPH D. HORTON

Airman Joseph D. Horton, son of Helen M. Schultz, 2244 Brookfield, Canton, has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, his basic training earned Horton credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Horton now will receive specialized instruction in the fuels-specialist field.

KENNETH R. CZAPLA

Airman Kenneth R. Czapla, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Czapla, 7221 Emerson, Canton, has graduated from the integrated-avionics-computerized-test station and component-specialist course at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo.

Graduates of the course studied fundamentals and application of electronic principles, circuit and logic-diagram theory and operation of automatic test equipment.

Czapla now will serve with the 380th Aircraft Maintenance Squadron at Plattsburgh Air Force Base, N.Y.

STEPHEN J. BECKER

Stephen J. Becker, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Becker, 13125 Glenview, Plymouth, recently enlisted in the U.S. Air Force.

Becker, a 1981 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, is taking his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. He later will have training as an electronic-computer-systems specialist.

SUZANNE McMILLIN

Suzanne McMillin, 19, 8648 Walton Blvd., Canton, is undergoing basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. She has been guaranteed training as an air-traffic controller.

GUY M. KANANEN

Guy M. Kananen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving H. Kananen, 543 Hartsough, Plymouth, has entered the freshman year at the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colo.

Kananen, a 1980 graduate of Plymouth-Canton High School, begins four years of academic study and military training that will lead to a bachelor of science degree and a commission as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force.

Condo class starts Oct. 28 at college

Want to start either a condominium or homeowners' association and you don't know where to begin?

Robert M. Meiser, a Birmingham attorney and nationally known consultant on condominium and community association law, will take developers through the organizational steps in a four-week course beginning Oct. 28 at Schoolcraft College.

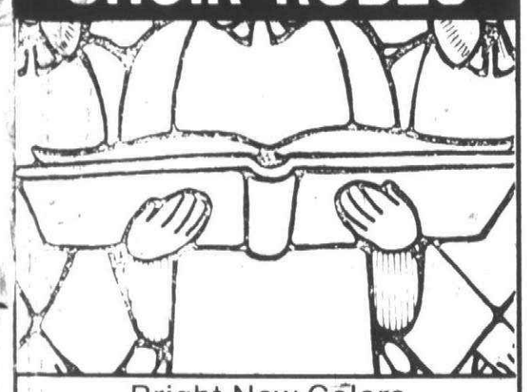

The course will meet on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 430 of the Liberal Arts building on the campus at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

Tuition is $125 and participants may register by calling Community Sevices at 591-6400, ext. 409.

Meisner is a member of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan. His law firm represents many developers and condominium associations throughout Michigan.

The course is designed to acquaint developers with Michigan condominium development law, procedures and policies.

Court slaps clerk on charter ballot language

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Wayne County Clerk James Killeen must change his ballot explanation on the Nov. 3 charter election after a circuit judge branded it "inaccurate."

Judge John D. O'Hair Tuesday found two flaws in Killeen's description of the county charters:

- In Proposal 1, the elected chief executive officer (CEO) was described as having veto power over acts of the board of commissioners, but in Proposal 2 the appointed CEO was not described as having the same power. O'Hair said the language gave a "false impression" about what is in the charters. Both charters give the CEO veto power.
- The appointed CEO in Proposal 2 was described as being removable by two-thirds of the county board of commissioners, but no method for removing the elected CEO was described in Killeen's Proposal 1 explanation. The elected CEO may be recalled. O'Hair called the one-sided description "unfair."

O'Hair ordered ballot language describing the two charters as identical in every respect except for the method of choosing the CEO.

WINNER was George Ward, chairman of the charter commission who argued the case before O'Hair.

Ward, who was also principal plaintiff, called Killeen's ballot explanations "clearly misleading, inaccurate" and "just unfair."

Ward also accused Killeen of trying to exercise "a further veto power" over the county charter beyond the approval the law gives Gov. William G. Milliken.

Other plaintiffs were charter supporters Barbara Gattorn and John R. Hand, both charter commission members; charter opponents Arthur Carter, a county commissioner; neutral New Detroit Inc. leaders Walter Douglas and Larry Horwitz; and several other civic leaders.

ARGUING FOR Killeen, William McIntyre, assistant county corporation counsel said the Proposal 2 charter should never have given a veto power to the appointed CEO because it wasn't allowed in state law.

Echoing that line, Chief Deputy County Clerk Robert Ficano said at a political rally Saturday that Milliken "failed to follow the law governing home rule charters and an opinion of the attorney general. He has jeopardized the charter election that was to occur this November."

Ficano, an attorney, Livonia resident and 2nd District-Wayne Democratic chairman, accused Milliken of listening to Ward's suggestion to "ignore the law," in Ficano's words.

Ward, a Detroit Democrat, replied that the 1980 state law governing Wayne County's charter-writing process had "ambiguous language and does allow an alternative interpretation."

He said he argued to the governor that the Michigan Constitution says a local charter is to be "liberally construed in favor of the charter commission." Ward added the charter commission, finding the law silent on whether an appointed CEO could have a veto power, decided to grant that power.

JUDGE O'HAIR agreed with Ward, saying it is "premature for a court to determine whether the (appointed CEO) has a veto power. That can be determined if Proposal 2 is adopted by the voters."

And in a slap at Killeen, he said, "It is not a function of the clerk to interpret statutes."

Ficano saw problems — and perhaps costs — ahead for the clerk's office. Many communities have begun to print their ballots, he said, and will have to reprint them.

Ward saw the clerk's office as being to blame. He said Killeen's draft of ballot instructions on Sept. 10 was satisfactory, but then Killeen recalled that draft and on Sept. 17 rewrote it with his own interpretation of the law.

"We have a 10,000-word charter. We're asked to write a 50-word description," said Ward. Why in the world we're dealing with contested points of law. . .There is no reason to muddy up the election ballot."

son, police arrested several young men who intercepted the beer delivery. Apparently, police caught up with the youths as they were rolling several barrels of beer down Northville Road, enroute to Hines Park for a more private party.

An evening concert by the Dittilies, a '50s music band attracted some 250 participants. Though the crowd size was considerably smaller than planned (750 seats were available), Haggerty said more than 500 benefit tickets were sold to that concert.

CLEAN-UP was handled by hotel staffers as well as an 11-member student crew from the Hospitality Club of Central Michigan University.

A special announcement also was made that day.

Plymouth Hilton General Manager John Dithmer, it was announced, will be leaving shortly to take over the management of another Hilton hotel in Allen Town, Pa. The present manager of that hotel, Ken Windsor, will replace Dithmer here.

Named permanent honorary co-chairmen of this festival and subsequent ones were the mayor of Plymouth and the supervisor of Plymouth Township.

Outgoing city Mayor Mary Childs and Township Supervisor Maurice Breen served in that capacity Sunday.

Vandals visit Hilltop, steal green markers

Almost $900 in golf course equipment was stolen from the Hilltop Golf Course in Plymouth Township last week, just one day before a major high school golfing tournament was held there.

According to Plymouth Police reports, some tee signs and markers, a tee cup and a ball washer worth a total of $857 were taken sometime between 1-7 a.m. last Thursday.

Hilltop manager John Jawor says the ball washer, which was cemented into the ground, probably took the efforts of more than one person to remove. "If they've got this much energy, they should put it to good work, instead," he said of the unknown culprits.

Jawor estimates the equipment will not be replaced until the new playing season starts next spring.

Meanwhile, temporary green markers were put up.

A total of six tee signs (valued at $100) were taken as well as 50 tee markers (valued at $3 each). The ball washer was valued at $100.

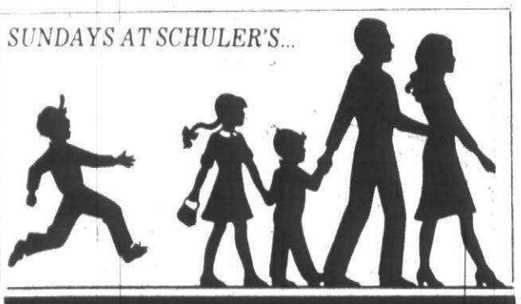

Police have no suspects, said Acting Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry.

On Friday, more than 100 high school golfers from 25 Michigan schools participated in the course's first Midwestern High School Invitational Course Tournament. Sponsored by the Hilltop and Livonia Churchill High School, it is expected to become an annual event, said Jawor.

The municipally-owned course opened two months ago as an 18-hole course. It had operated with nine holes.

Make it a Perfect GE Day with the WR series 1.758,000 BTUH

A GE Plus-One Heat Pump System works with your forced-air furnace-oil, propane or electric.

The General Electric Plus-One Heat Pump is an air conditioner in summer, pulling heat out of your home. In winter, it reverses, and pulls heat from outdoor air into your home (even at cold winter temperatures). Efficiently. Economically. Electrically. In fact, the Plus-One heat pump can supply all the heat you need until the weather's near freezing. Then, your forced-air furnace takes over, because at that point, it becomes more efficient than a heat pump.

America's No. 1 selling heat pump. Cools in summer. Heats in winter.

You're buying the No. 1 seller!

The Plus-One heat pump is part of General Electric's family of Weathertron® heat pumps, the number one selling heat pump, with GE's famous Climatuff™ compressor.

Consultant warns super sewer may not spur growth

Those counting on the so-called super sewer project to spur growth in the corridor extending from Plymouth Township to White Lake Township had best count again.

That's the word from an independent consultant to the project who addressed a public hearing regarding the six final alternatives to handle sewage in the North Service Area of the Huron Valley Wastewater Management system.

Partially because of "conservative" population projections enforced on the project by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), any of the four alternatives calling for sewer construction merely would provide sewers to already developed areas and ease the way for the development already foreseen, he said.

Allan Sloan, project manager for Arthur D. Little, Inc. out of Cambridge, Massachussetts, presented the conclusions as the preliminary results of his firm's socio-economic study of the project's effects on the entire metropolitan area.

The population figures developed by SEMCOG were the only ones federal authorities would accept, Sloan said, and his company, hired to provide an objective, outside evaluation, felt they were developed out of a "slow growth policy."

"The basic underpinning of all the build options," Sloan said, "is based on conservative projections of future growth resulting from a policy decision not wanting to encourage a lot of future growth in the area."

Although Sloan did not state so bluntly, he cited evidence showing that restriction of the sewer plan likely will have no affect on the urban sprawl SEMCOG opposed. Furthermore, he noted a possibility that the restriction could backfire on the regional body, pushing sprawl farther out rather than containing it.

"There's not an awful lot of evidence to support the thesis that building sewers has an affect on future growth," Sloan said. "There is more evidence that sewers follow population and little that population follows sewers."

Related to that discussion is Sloan's projection that any sewer construction would ease completion of the growth patterns in the Plymouth, Northville, and Novi areas but that building in those areas would continue regardless of sewers.

He noted that in many areas sewers constructed in the 1920s were unused until the 1960s as evidence.

The study by Little, required by federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) guidelines, also determined that construction of an interceptor in the North Service area would have negligible effect on urban sprawl.

"In scale, this is quite a modest program, really," said Sloan. "The entire population of the area to be served is estimated at 90,000 to 100,000. Projected to the end of the study period (the year 2025) the figure used (from SEMCOG) is 195,000.

"The total population difference (allowed by the sewer project) would be in the neighborhood of 25,000 to 30,000," he said, which is negligible when spread over the 82,000 acre area.

Of that area, 18,000 acres now have sewer service and, under the most extensive alternative, only 8-10,000 more acres would be sewered by the new project.

He said there are about 67,000 people served by sewers now, and the build options would open capacity for 57,000 more in currently unsewered but developed areas. That would leave capacity for addition of only 24,000 persons, he noted.

"This is a growth corridor," Sloan said, "if and when there is the next period of growth in the Detroit area, it will be here."

That would complete the pattern seen in the 1970s, he said, wherein the Plymouth, Northville and Novi areas began the transition from independent communities to being part of the metropolitan growth pattern.

As the 1970s closed, he noted, the lakes communities in southeast Oakland County (Walled Lake, Commerce, Wolverine Lake Village and White Lake Township) also were becoming part of the pattern, despite the lack of sewage facilities.

Slow growth in the area would continue those patterns under all potential sewer construction plans, Sloan said, with the exception that Commerce Township might benefit from being able to build on land unsuitable for septic service.

Another period of rapid growth in the Detroit area could show a failure of SEMCOG's attempt to restrict urban sprawl, particularly in the lakes area, he said.

Citing a "surprising" economic record in the area (the Detroit area's economic performance over the past 40 years preceding 1978, he noted, is "probably the best in the industrial northeast, despite your problems right now).", Sloan cautioned that building sewers of the size projected could restrict the growth and push it to the west and north.

"If there was a situation where the Detroit area gets back into a something like that during the period of the 60s, you could be in the situation here in the North Huron Valley Service Area that you would be right in the path of the growth pattern.

"Because of what you build now, that growth might leap frog to the communities in the tier beyond this one, such as those in Washtenaw County to the west," he noted. "This is highly speculative, and we have no evidence to prove it, but it could happen.

"You could find that you exceed the area's capacity to cause the leap frog effect with these proposals," he said.

As for restricting urban sprawl in general, he noted that the study included the impact seen upon Detroit. The conclusion was that there would be negligible effect in the core city regardless of actions taken on the sewer plan.

"The decentralization of Detroit has been going on for decades," he said, "and is caused by forces more influential than wastewater treatment and would continue regardless of the North Huron Valley action."

Noting that perhaps 35,000 more people might be enticed into this area by sewer construction, Sloan said that even if all of them came from Detroit, they would only be 2 to 3 percent of that city's population and would likely be moving out of the city anyway.

"Moreover," Sloan said, "the added population would likely come from Livonia, Pontiac, Farmington and other inner tier cities than from Detroit."

Home burglaries linked in Trailwood Subdivision

Plymouth Police believe they have found a link between two home break-ins in the Trailwood II Subdivision of Plymouth Township and a third unsuccessful attempt.

The incidents occurred in the early morning hours of Tuesday on Bobwhite Court and Turtlehead Drive, which run perpendicular to each other.

In each instance, said Patrolman Roger Roy, entry was gained by prying open a window with what police believe was a small screwdriver.

Credit cards were targets of the thefts. Police estimate the break-ins occurred between 4:30-6:30 a.m. while residents were asleep.

The first report was from the home of Thomas Radcliff, 9669 Bobwhite. The home was ransacked. Taken were a clock valued at $75, $2 in cash and various credit cards.

The other incident occurred at the home of Rodney Sabourin, 450 Turtlehead, where entry was gained through a kitchen window. Taken were various credit cards and a $40 purse from the dining room table.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to enter Sabourin's next-door neighbor's home at 9701 Bobwhite. Roy said the method of entry appeared the same as in the other cases.

Sabourin, who recently moved to Plymouth Township, is a partner in re-development plans for Napolean's Restaurant on Main Street.

Awaits return to North Carolina

Fugitive finally caught after 14 years

The law finally caught up with Gary Alvin Ward, 44, last week after 14 years on the run.

Ward, wanted by the North Carolina Departmert of Corrections for a prison escape in May of 1967, was arrested by Plymouth Police last week at a home on Five Mile in Plymouth Township where he was believed to be staying with a friend.

Ward had escaped from a minimum custody unit in Sampson County where he was serving a 5-7-year prison sentence on a breaking and entering conviction, said a spokesman for the North Carolina Department of Corrections, Stuart Shadbolt.

Local police caught up with Ward by accident when they responded to a complaint of a domestic disturbance at 47025 Five Mile Sept. 30.

Shadbolt said local police apparently learned of Ward's background through a national police information network that registered a fugitive warrant on the man.

As of this week, Ward was awaiting extradition back to North Carolina in the Wayne County Jail.

Shadbolt said Ward has been temporarily assigned to the Central Prison in Raleigh for classification. He likely will be tried on a prison escape charge.

Ward's home is registered at White Oak, N.C. He was convicted on a breaking and entering-larceny charge in February of 1963 in North Carolina. His release date had been scheduled for November of 1968.

According to Shadbolt, Ward escaped from the minimum custody facility by scaling a prison fence.

UNICEF drive set

The Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) again is coordinating the 1981 UNICEF campaign in Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Individuals or community groups are invited to participate in soliciting for deprived and vulnerable children around the world through the United Nations International Children's Education Fund.

Campaign collection dates are scheduled for Oct. 29-31.

For information or educational materials or to obtain collection containers, call AAUW branch members Lorna Nitz at 455-4276 or Lynn Homes at 453-8998.

Pistol pellets ruled out in policemen's defense

By Gail DeGeorge
staff writer

The attorney for the police officers being sued for $10 million in the 1979 shooting death of David Prior Tuesday attempted to introduce evidence that would indicate that Prior might have been armed with a pellet gun the night he was killed.

U.S. District Judge Anna Diggs-Taylor would not allow the attorney to introduce as evidence three pellets that police reports say were taken from Prior's right front pants pocket the night that he was killed.

The pellets were reportedly removed from Prior's pants at William Beaumont Hospital after Prior was declared dead. He was taken to the hospital after being shot by Troy police officers investigating a reported burglary in his van.

The attempt to introduce the pellets came during the questioning of Troy Police Chief John Donovan, who was on the stand for the second time in the four-week-old trial. Although the pellets were disallowed as evidence, they were seen by the jurors, six regular jurors and four alternates in the civil case.

Donovan was handed an envelope by defense attorney Gerald Davis and the chief shook the pellets out of the envelope.

Bruce Franklin, the attorney for Prior's parents, who are now suing four police officers, the Troy police department and the city of Troy, objected. He said the pellets were not properly listed as an exhibit in the pre-trial hearing, and were taken from an unsealed envelope.

DONOVAN TESTIFIED he had broken the seal of the envelope that morning before taking the stand.

One of the elements in the lawsuit is the question of whether Prior was armed with a pellet pistol the night that he was killed. Officers have testified they thought they had been confronted by an armed man while checking out a burglary report in Prior's van.

Police have also testified that a pellet pistol was found in the van. Prior family members say that Prior was not armed with a pistol but took an aluminum pipe into the van with him.

Prior, 24, was shot by two Troy patrolmen on July 31, 1979 while guarding his van in front of his home on Oxford Drive. The victim of two previous thefts of stereo equipment, Prior had told police of his intentions to stay in the van the night of July 31. In addition, Prior's sister has testified she went to the police station earlier that evening to tell police that Prior would be in his van guarding it that night.

Officers Stephen Zavislak and Joel Woods responded to a radio broadcast warning of a possible burglary in Prior's van in the early morning hours of July 31.

Zavislak has testified that while investigating the complaint, he opened Prior's van door without identifying himself as an police officer, and entered the vehicle with his gun drawn. Zavislak said he was confronted by a man holding what he believed to be a gun. Zavislak said he fired a shot and pushed himself out of the van yelling, "He's got a gun."

WOODS TESTIFIED that he feared for his partner's safety and fired six bullets into the van. It is not known which of the officer's bullets killed Prior.

The four officers named in the lawsuit are Zavislak, Woods, Lt. Glenn Dunn, who was shift commander, and Officer Donald Zimmerman, the dispatcher the night of the shooting. Officer Joseph Falcon was dropped as a defendent Tuesday at the request of attorney Steven Berry, who is also representing the Priors. Falcon was the officer who had been told by Prior that he intended to guard his van.

Another subject to come up in the case Tuesday was the much-discussed yellow sheet, or police information log, which gives police officers information on a daily basis. Various witnesses have testified to the fact that the yellow sheet for the day Prior was killed contained a notation that Prior would be guarding his van at his home.

Some testimony has indicated that the yellow sheet was altered to take out the word "tonight" from the logl. Debbie Gawron, who worked as a cadet for the Troy Police Department in 1979, testified that she had crossed out the word 'tonight' on the yellow sheet when she talked to Ms. Prior about her brother's plan to guard the van.

Ms. Prior had gone to the police station at about 9 p.m. the night of the shooting to warn police of her brother's intentions and to ask for extra patrol in the area. On the sheet containing the request, the word 'tonight' had been scratched out, and the Prior's attorneys have questioned several witnesses about the alteration, implying that it may have been done after the shooting.

LT. GERALD Dunn, who also was on the witness stand for the second time this week, defended his actions the night of the shooting. Dunn said he purposely did not remind Zavislak and Woods of the information on the yellow sheet when they responded to the call at the Prior house.

"It is necessary to make people (employees) as self-reliant as possible. I have always made it a policy not to over-supervise. In this case, the information was given at roll call, and the officers were aware of it...I chose not to give it to them again," Dunn said.

Dunn arrived at the Prior house moments after Zavislak and Woods, and has testified he did not see the officers until after shots were fired.

Jaycees to open haunted house

The Plymouth and Northville Jaycees once again are joining to build a haunted house for area youngsters to enjoy during the Halloween season.

The haunted house will be at the same location as it was last year — on the east side of Sheldon Road bewtween Five Mile and Six Mile roads. The house will open Oct. 20.

The house will be open from 7-10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, from 7-11 p.m. Friday and Saturday and from 7-10 p.m. on Sundays.

The admission will be $1 for youngsters 12 and under and $2 for adults. Group rates are available by calling 459-6648.

All proceeds from the haunted house will be used for various communtiy projects.

School board used no sense

To the editor:

The entire conflict between Parents After Safety for Students (PASS) and the school board could have been avoided had the board used a little foresight and common sense.

Each and every concerned parent can understand the financial difficulties that have befallen our district. Instead of implementing illegal cutbacks, the board should have communicated with the parents to discuss alternative financing to make up for the $24 in lost state reimbursement for busing each student within the 1.5 mile limit.

Although our taxes are significant, parents have indicated their willingness to pay the entire $24 in order to keep their children safe.

The board might argue that this suggestion is not feasible, yet they managed to ignore existing laws to suit their purposes (illegal measurement; construction of bike paths and fencing without building permits).

Where are the board's priorities when it comes to cutting back — certainly not with salaries or sports activities.

I am one of the many parents living over a mile from school whose children should be bused to school. However, I was told that my 6 and 8-year-olds should cross busy streets in the subdivision and 45 mph Lilley, as well as walk along dense woods on a path occupied by irresponsible bikers.

In other words, a little good will goes a long way. Openness and effective communication in the decision-making process could have avoided the current conflict.

The board should realize that the passage of future millages depends on this goodwill, not on the implementation of indiscriminate policies.

Supervisor James Poole correctly pointed out that $10,000 in revenue does not make up for $100,000 worth of animosity.

As it stands now, citizens are warring with the board and our children are suffering.

Why ticket on empty lots?

To the editor:

I'm sure that every merchant in Plymouth could use a 50-percent increase in business as evidenced by the vacant parking places in the Westchester Mall Lot and Forest Avenue.

I think we could save the city about $20,000 per year by laying off the police officer who goes around issuing tickets in her kitty-car. The lot and Forest is about one-third filled, and she goes around issuing tickets and marking tires to shoppers who don't even know there is a parking limit in a private parking lot.

Whoever heard of getting a parking ticket on private lots? I have friends who come to shop and have lunch from Ann Arbor, Birmingham and other surrounding areas but no more. After receiving a ticket in a lot at a shopping mall they have had it with Plymouth. There are better places to go without worrying what time it is.

Common sense tells me that you don't give tickets when two-thirds of the parking places are empty and you are trying to build a downtown Plymouth for people to spend their money in in hard times such as we are experiencing.

'Y' thanks all for Fall Run

To the editor:

Thanks to all the people who made the Plymouth Family YMCA/Hillside Inn Fall Run possible.

More than 371 people participated in the run. The joint cooperation of the city, township, clubs, businesses, organizations, and individuals volunteered to make this an outstanding experience.

We wish to personally thank the following: city of Plymouth, for the use of the double-decker bus; Plymouth Police Department; Plymouth DPW; Plymouth Township Fire Department; Plymouth Area REACT; Plymouth Observer; Community Crier; and many hard-working individual volunteers.

We were able to make the run happen with the financial assistance from our cosponsor, the Hillside Inn, and our major sponsors — the Penn Theatre, the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union — as well as the following financial contributors: Quickprint on Main Street, Sportventure, Inc., Tortoise & Hair, Milt Wilcox's Runners Unlimited, and Ed's Sports Equipment.

We wish to thank the following dignitaries who attended: Plymouth Mayor Mary Childs; Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper; Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen; 35th District Judge Dunbar Dayis; Marjorie Taylor and Dan LeBlond of the Plymouth Community Fund; Margaret Wilson, Penn Theatre; George Lawton, Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union; Betty Stremich, Hillside Inn;.

Finally, we want to thank the following hard-working volunteers because without their assistance we could not have held this run:

Post office should be at Harvard Square

Canton Township received confirmation from the federal government this summer that it finally would get its own post office.

It is a long overdue development, but one which is important for the community.

The post office, which could begin service as early as the beginning of next year, will focus on consumer-oriented services — selling stamps and postal boxes and mailing packages.

Home delivery service for Canton residents will continue from the Wayne and Westland offices.

We feel Canton, the fourth-largest-populated township in the state, deserves its own delivery service — and hopefully that will come in the future.

But it was a giant step for this area to get federal funding for the building.

CANTON SUPERVISOR James Poole said he won't complain to the federal government about what was offered to Canton — although the delivery service soon will be needed.

"Well, if someone slaps me $100, I don't ask for $1,000," Poole said.

In fact, it's a credit to Poole, a Republican, and U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor, for working so hard to get the postal building.

Ford, who represents the 15th Congressional District which includes Canton, is the chairman of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee. He deserves special recognition for his extra effort in meeting this area's additional postal needs. It took a great bipartisan effort from both Ford and Poole to demonstrate the need for Canton to have its own post office.

In times of massive federal budget cuts, there has been discussion of closing 10,000 existing postal offices around the country.

NOW THE SEARCH begins to find the best location that will serve the postal needs of residents in both Plymouth and Canton. In the next few months, government officials will conduct studies to determine the location of the post office and the ecomonic feasibility of using an existing facility or constructing a new building.

We feel it would be wise to use an existing facility — and the Harvard Square Shopping Center site at the corner of Ford and Sheldon would be a perfect location.

Constructing a new building is foolish in times when the federal government continues to tighten the pursestrings. Besides, it would delay the opening of a much-needed facility.

Harvard Square has available retail space for the post office. It also offers extra parking space for residents.

Officials should consider buying as much space as possible at Harvard Square. This would increase the potential to expand to a full-service station — if, some day, a delivery service comes to the township.

POOLE ORIGINALLY suggested using the basement of Canton's Township Hall on Canton Center, south of Cherry Hill. But that's a poor idea because the location isn't central to the densely-populated part of the area. Besides, the Canton recreation office moved into the basement just last week.

The Harvard Square location is in the heart of Canton's population where many shopping centers currently exist for the convenience of the residents.

Harvard Square also is perfect for residents in the southern part of Plymouth Township who can use the Canton facility instead of hassling with the downtown traffic to reach the city of Plymouth post office.

The Ford-Sheldon corner should be seriously considered. It's the best location to serve the increased postal needs of residents in the Plymouth-Canton community.

Jacobs fixes some Tisch tax errors

As Bob Tisch seeks to reduce the Michigan Legislature's working hours by two-thirds, his tax-cutting cudgel is being taken up by a 1980 associate named Dick Jacobs.

Jacobs is a soft-spoken manufacturer's agent from Grand Blanc. He is as methodical as the drain commissioner is earthy and flamboyant. They share the same platforms and the same anti-state attitude, however.

To his credit, Jacobs corrects some of the bigger errors in the Tisch I and II tax cut plans which voters rejected, as well as some of the errors in the Headlee tax limitation amendment.

Unfortunately, he repeats some of their mistakes.

ON THE PLUS side, the Jacobs initiative petition

- Recognizes that college tuitions, licenses and user fees are not held in check by Headlee. Indeed, some of those non-tax fees are rising faster than the hated residential property tax. Jacobs' most scathing language is delivered against the University of Michigan Board of Regents for raising UM-Dearborn tuition 22 percent in one year. Jacobs would limit such increases to the rate of consumer price inflation or 9 percent, whichever is less.
- Advocates that state tax increases be approved by a 50 percent-plus-one majority of votes. Tisch II would have called for a 60 percent yes vote, thus giving a 41 percent minority power to control our taxes.
- Correctly diagnoses that "social services," as it is euphemistically called, is the hobgoblin pushing up state expenditures and eating into the funds which most of us would rather spend on teachers, cops and natural resources. The quicker the teachers realize it, the better off they will be.

ON THE MINUS side, the Jacobs plan has some flaws that may well be fatal. Jacobs:

- Would repeal the single business tax (SBT) and allow no replacement tax on business. SBT has faults, but remember, it was to replace the corporate income tax, the financial institutions tax, the corporate franchise fee, the personal property tax on machinery and equipment, and three or four others. Let business off scot-free? The public won't buy it.
- Doesn't address the property tax, which has been extremely inflationary because real estate prices have been extremely inflationary.
- Equates the growth of spending in Lansing to the growth of taxes. Jacobs tells you state spending rose 500 percent in X number of years and lets you jump to the conclusion that your state taxes rose 500 percent. Dick Headlee played the same trick. Federal aid, particularly revenue sharing, was more responsible for boosting state budgets during the 1960s and '70s than tax increases.

THE TRUTH is that Michigan state taxes haven't risen a whole lot in the last decade. Look at it analytically.

The sales tax has actually been repealed on food and drugs. Its lost revenue was replaced by the personal income tax.

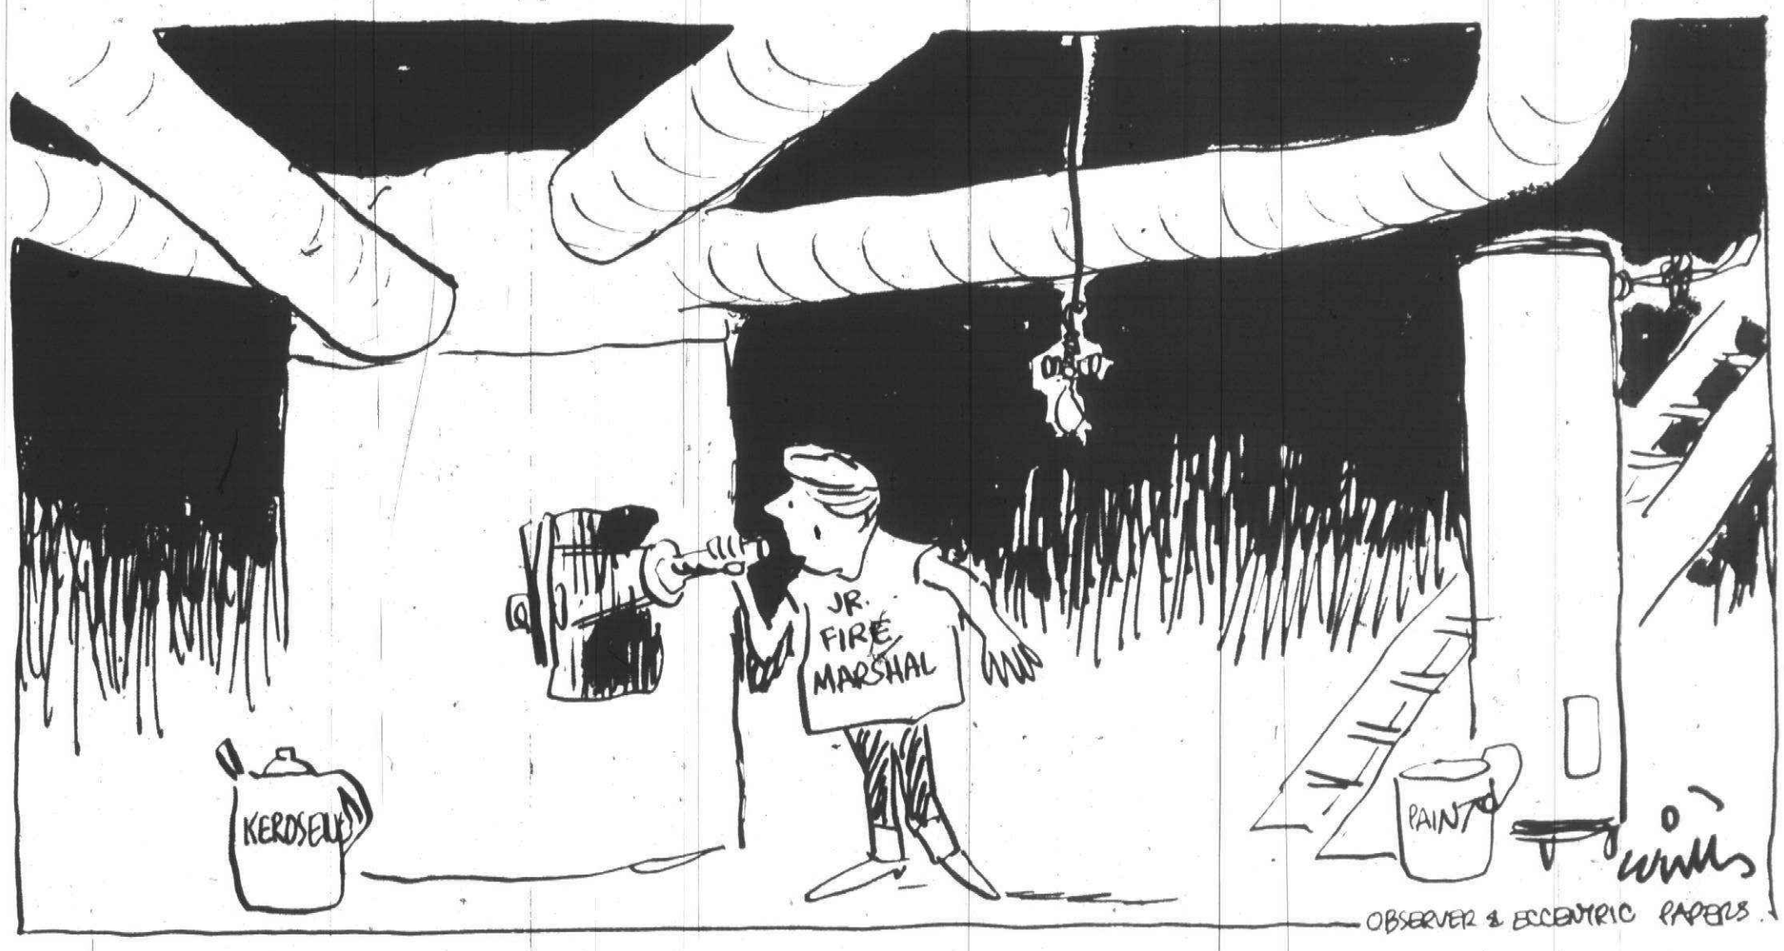

Gasoline tax rates have risen, but revenues have actually declined because of our more fuel-efficient cars. What excise taxes, say on booze or cigarettes, have risen appreciably?

The fly in the ointment is the SBT. On balance, it was supposed to bring in the same amount of business revenue. In practice, it hit a lot of small office-type businesses savagely — or so they said in public hearings.

Dick Jacobs, as a manufacturer's rep, is a small office-type businessman. Dick Headlee, as an insurance exec knowing the problems of agents, is familiar with the problems of small office-type businesses.

My strong hunch is that the legislature could get the Headlees, the Jacobses and some of the Tisches off its collective back if it did something about the SBT. Gov. William G. Milliken has proposed raising the small business base exemption from the current $40,000 to $60,000, as a starter.

Pennant race again shows city's spirit

The Jeffries and Lodge freeways were jammed last week with suburbanites driving to downtown Detroit every evening. Offices and restaurants were buzzing with conversation.

What was it all about? For a few brief days people were excited about a possible pennant drive by the Detroit Tigers.

Forget for a few minutes that all the enthusiasm was for naught. The Tigers ended by losing the first two games at Milwaukee, and the race was over.

WHAT FINALLY happened to the Tigers almost doesn't matter.

Remember the excitement of last week. The "problem" of attracting suburbanites to downtown Detroit was no problem. More than 30,000 tickets per game were being grabbed up from any source.

All this was happening at the end of baseball season that had been turned into a farce. Because of a strike in the middle of the season, the momentum of baseball had been destroyed for most fans.

That is, except for the fans of Detroit.

As Baltimore manager Earl Weaver said last week, "Detroit is the only city in the major leagues that is excited about the pennant race."

Nick Sharkey

WHAT IS IT about Detroit that makes it different?

Under the cynicism, there is an underlying optimistic spirit that makes people believe things are going to get better. The news may be filled with double-digit inflation and unemployment. Economic pundits may predict gloom for the auto industry.

But most persons living in the metropolitan Detroit area seem to shake it off and see a brighter side. Call it spirit, determination or enthusiasm. Perhaps one word will not describe it accurately.

It takes a little probing to find out about the Detroit spirit. Sometimes the cynical comments made about local sports teams and the weather have to be ignored. But look carefully at the record.

ON MONDAY, the United Foundation will start its annual drive. It's interesting that in 1949 Detroit was the first city to launch this combined drive for charities.

Detroit is one of the nation's most generous cities in giving to charities. Detroit has never failed to make its goal in a United Foundation campaign. This year's goal is $43.4 million in pledges.

Think of some other charity campaigns. Detroit is always a leader among the cities taking part in Jerry Lewis' annual Muscular Dystrophy campaign.

Think of the 3,000 suburbanites and Detroiters who walked 10 miles on Sunday for Focus Hope. They marched under rainy skies to raise about $80,000 for the civil- and human-rights organization.

THERE ARE those who are justifiably concerned about the economic future of this area. Those fears are in all of our hearts.

But that is only part of the lives of most of us.

"Wait until next year" is the refrain of a baseball fan whose team comes up a little short. But this optimistic attitude is typical of many of us. Sometimes it takes a baseball pennant drive to remember that.

Young man starts in newspapering

Sitting across the luncheon table from C. Nelson Grote, former president of Schoolcraft College who was en route to his new post in the Pacific Northwest, The Stroller had been sharing some of his experiences in journalism when he was asked:

"Which university did you attend?"

The question brought a smile as he answered:

"I didn't get to a university. I never even finished my first year in high school."

Silence. Then Dr. Grote dropped his fork and with a puzzled look said: "I'd sure like to hear how you got to be a big-time newspaper writer and now a columnist."

With that, The Stoller revealed the smile he drew from Lady Luck the morning he was introduced to Charlie Weiser, the last of the brown derby men who was editor of our little eight-page paper at home.

IT HAPPENED one morning when The Stroller dropped in to the little office to see a friend. It was publication day, and in haste at press time the old gent asked The Stroller to jot off a paragraph on a club item. That was the start.

From there on, old Mr. Weiser took The Stroller under his wing and started him along the trail that has been so wonderful. Mr. Weiser was asked to start a new paper in the city and invited The Stroller to join him and become his sports editor. The offer was accepted. Then came the lessons that have carried him through his career.

W.W. Edgar

Here is some of the advice he was given:

- Never try to show off your intelligence. Use only plain, common words.
- Never pull out your note paper when interviewing anyone. The sight of the paper will cause them to measure every word, and you will lose a good story. Just listen attentively, then remember what you heard and write it.

THEN MR. WEISER explained there were two kinds of newspaper writers — straight news men and feature writers.

The first, he said, would write like this: It is a black cow. It has white spots, and its tail wags. No color, no special twists, just plain facts.

Then he asked, "Would you enjoy a show at the theater if there were no scenery? Well, it is the same with feature writing. You have to set the scene, something like this: Bill Jones leaned forward in his chair, pounded his fist on the table, and then shouted, "We just can't stand for this."

"You see? You have painted a word scene for your reader."

A BIG THRILL came one morning. The old editor walked into the office, came over to The Stroller and said, "I want you to go down to Jersey City and see the Dempsey-Carpentier fight."

His first big assignment!

The old gent added, "I don't care if you don't write a line. I want you to get the feel of major events. And I want you to go to Philadelphia every change you get to see major league baseball. Those trips will help you."

The Stroller followed instructions. The rest is history. One evening, he was introduced to Edgar A. Guest, the famed Detroit Free Press poet, and out of this came an invitation to join him on the staff of the Free Press.

And that's how a young fellow from a small town who not only didn't go to college but never finished a year of high school got to be sports editor of a metropolitan newspaper and later a columnist on a suburban group — thanks to Lady Luck and old Charlie Weiser, the last of the brown derby clan.

Hunter's enemy: strain

Question: Each year at this time I seem to read about deer hunters who experience heart attacks or die suddenly. Is this perhaps a result of the tremendous physical exertion involved in deer hunting?

R.C., Livonia

It is well known that the activities involved in deer hunting involve high levels of energy expenditure.

Several years ago, Dr. Arthur Kerkhof and his associates at the Minnesota Heart Association conducted a series of experiments designed to simulate the energy cost of deer hunting.

Men between 40 and 65 years of age with no evidence of heart disease and normal exercise were subjected to several different strenuous tests.

ONE SUCH TEST involved dragging a 100-pound sack of sand through loose gravel over varied grades for a period of three minutes. The results of the study were startling.

All men showed near maximal rises in heart rate during the exertion. In one individual, the heart rate rose from 70 to 180 beats per minute — equivalent of the energy consumed by running at a five to 10 mph pace.

Finally, more than 10 percent of the men demonstrated an inadequate blood flow and oxygen supply to the heart muscle as shown by a characteristic change in their electrocardiogram.

MANY FACTORS probably contribute to the excessive metabolic and cardiac demands of deer hunting.

These include climbing hilly terrain, wearing heavy clothing, excitedly generating hormonal (adrenalin) excesses, coping with extremes in temperature, and dragging or carrying heavy loads.

These factors, singly and collectively, can create a disproportionate heart rate and blood pressure response to effort — drastically increasing the demands of the heart for blood and oxygen. Potentially dangerous heart rhythm irregularities may also result.

Thus, research suggests that deer hunting may produce excessive physical demands even on the "healthy" individual. It is probably no coincidence that heart attacks and sudden death during deer hunting season occur three times as frequently as "accidental" deaths.

Singles, unmarried pairs show up as house buyers

Realtors have taken a new look at the house buying market and found that married couples with dependents no longer represent the greatest number of buyers.

A survey of 5,000 recent home buyers found singles, accounting for more than 20 percent of purchases, continuing to grow as prime prospects. Single male buyers held only a 0.2 percent edge in the market over single females.

Married couples with families still accounted for 41.6 percent of home buys, with childless married couples representing another 31.6 percent.

ALSO BEGINNING to show up in the sales charts are unmarried couples who made 3.7 percent of the 5,000 home buys.

"As would have been expected from past experience, married couples with or without dependents strongly favored single-family detached dwelling," said Robert D. Shimmin, president of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

"But we were impressed by the number of singles who also sought this type of housing. Some 55 percent of single males and more than 46 percent of single females made this choice."

The remainder of single purchases tended toward townhouses and condominiums, but nearly 8 percent of the men and 6.8 percent of women bought units for two or more families.

THE SURVEY, conducted in 14 metropolitan areas, did not include the Detroit area. Shimmin said that local percentages should closely parallel the national findings.

By household income, some 28 percent of buyers were in the $20,000 to $29,999 range with another 26.7 percent ranging on up to nearly $40,000. Approximately a third of buyers had larger household incomes than this 12 percent had less than $20,000.

More than half of the home buys were made by persons in the 25-34 age range with 21.6 percent aged 35-44. People under 25 accounted for 8.3 percent of sales.

THE PASSIVE SOLAR HOME

Visit the new experimental Passive Solar Home and see how livable and comfortable an energy-saving solar home can be.

It is called a passive solar home because the sun's energy is collected, stored and released without mechanical devices.

In winter, the sun's rays stream in through tall picture windows in the two-story great room and solar heat is absorbed by the earth-tone tile floor for nighttime comfort. The airy sunspace room collects solar heat and stores it in handsome walls of handmade sand mold brick to provide heat for the rest of the house. Adjoining bedrooms have their own heat-storage walls as well. When needed, an electric heat pump provides backup heat. The house also has a heat pump water heater.

This is a home that combines advanced solar technology and innovative architecture with superior insulating building materials and energy efficient appliances and lighting for exceptional living comfort and energy savings.

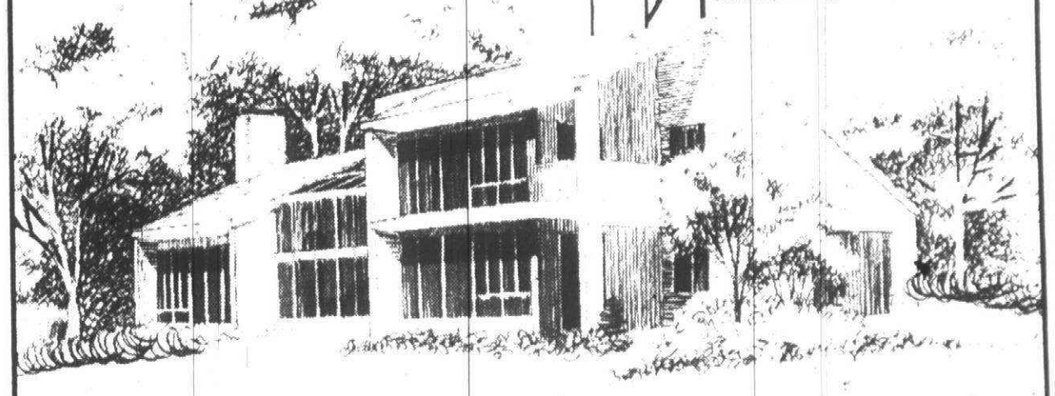

Detroit Edison assisted in designing the experimental Passive Solar Home as part of its on-going research on alternative energy sources. The home was built by Bing Construction Co. in cooperation with the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

School board didn't let us speak

To the editor:

At the Sept. 14 school board meeting, Chris Bak, a spokesperson for Parents After Safety for Students (PASS), asked repeatedly to be allowed to give her entire presentation regarding elimination of safety busing to Field and Eriksson elementary schools. This was refused.

At two previous board meetings, the presentor was allowed to relinquish time (for Mrs. Bak's report) — at this meeting it was not. Mrs. Bak also asked to be allowed to give her presentation at a school board workshop, again this was refused!

Mrs. Bak's information was based on a personal and extensive legal study pertaining to the board's liability, bias, lack of immunity from prosecution and the "In Loco Prentis" doctrine — which states the school is in the place of the parents on school property and must protect the children. All information was based on Supreme Court rulings.

As the board would not allow her to continue, other spokespersons were told what to say by Mrs. Bak. During those times, conversations were being carried on by most of the board members and Trustee Tom Yack even got out of his seat to speak to other members.

I was given the impression that only a very few school board members were listening to what was being said. Was the school board afraid to hear this information? Is that why they enforced a "relinquish time rule" that did not exist at the other meetings?

We, as parents, have been accused of being rude and speaking out of order. I, personally, feel that most of the board members are rude and arrogant. They are allowed to speak for as long as they choose, to interrupt, to talk out of turn and never once be called to order.

Is there one set of rules for the board and another set for the public? Is this an example of misuse of power?

We fought for a safe walking route to Field and Eriksson. In all studies done by AAA and the Canton Police, no one mentioned the safety of the walking paths — especially the 2,200-foot wooded and fenced-in one leading to Field (which on May 14 the Safety Committee was unable to walk, due to inclement weather).

Is the board waiting for a child to be injured — or worse — on one of these paths, and a lawsuit brought against them, before all safety precautions are taken?

The public should think about these facts. As it has been stated, within three years all safety busing in Plymouth-Canton will be eliminated.

Criticism was unfair

To the editor:

In response to K. Chappell's letter to the editor.

I also urge parents who have children in the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League to attend the board meeting on Oct. 14. If they do, they could then be accurately informed as to the operation, expenditures and financial status of the organization.

It is unfortunate and unfair for people who haven't taken the time to get involved to publicly criticize a group of hard-working, dedicated people doing a big job for the kids of this community.

All the facts should be known before second-hand information is accepted and sent to the local papers. Parents might be suprised to find out what it cost to run a league of more than 2,000 kids, or how much time it takes and how difficult it is to get the adult participation needed for the league.

Remember, if you want to be informed, offer constructive criticism, or most of all if you want to help the PCJBL, attend the next meeting on Oct. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at Plymouth Canton High School.

THE REAL SHORTAGE IS MONEY

One accusation which hasn't yet been leveled at the energy industry – and sometimes these days it seems about the only thing we haven't been accused of – is that ours is a humdrum business. On the contrary. Energy occupies center stage in virtually all of our current public debates, foreign and domestic. Small wonder, then, that misunderstandings, large and small, continue to cloud public opinion on energy matters.

The First Great Misunderstanding, of course, was whether we really face an energy crisis in this country – in the world, to be more precise – or whether the whole notion is simply a get-rich-quick scheme dreamed up in the boardrooms of the major oil companies. It took a long time – far too long – for us to reach the present consensus that Yes, whether you like the big oil companies or not, we do face a crisis in regard to energy. But even having staked out that common ground, we have another equally vital step to take before our common understanding of the energy crisis is complete.

Energy shortage. In that simple phrase lie the seeds of the Second Great Misunderstanding.

Because the fact is, it isn't energy we're short of. Oil, yes. But what about coal? We're the Saudi Arabia of coal reserves. What about uranium? We have enough of that to support a nuclear power program far larger than anything we've built yet. What about synthetic fuels liquids and gas from coal? We not only have the raw materials, we have the technology – at least on paper. And what about the sun? We know the potential of solar energy, and we're increasingly certain that that potential can be tapped, given enough time and...

Money. Capital. Cash. That is the true shortage we face. The fuel is there for the using, the various technologies are there for the testing and perfecting; it's now a matter of paying for it.

The initial bill, whether for coal, nuclear, solar or synthetics – and we need them all – will be huge. We know that. But in paying that bill we won't simply be buying new plants and new processes. We'll be buying the ability to progress, to keep moving forward, to live as we choose rather than as we have to. It's a price, then, that we should be willing to pay.

How? By supporting policies at all levels of government to encourage increased savings and investment. By insisting upon realistic environmental and other regulatory practices to ensure that the cost of developing new energy sources is no higher than it need be. And by understanding the need for adequate prices and rates for energy, because without such prices and rates the energy industry cannot attract the investment capital it must have to convert today's energy potential into tomorrow's energy fact.

We can have all the energy we need for the remainder of this century. We can begin the work today that will provide us with all the energy we need entering the next century.

But first, we have to be willing to pay for it.

Restored antique pipe organ comes to town

By Anne Harter Jones
staff writer

A contemporary Catholic church in Canton soon will be the new home of an antique American pipe organ.

St. Thomas a Becket Church is nearing completion on Lilley Road just south of Cherry Hill.

Meanwhile, restoration work on the historic 18-rank tracker-action organ is proceeding on schedule.

Dana Hall of Ann Arbor is in charge of the restoration and installation of the instrument, which was built by an unknown Boston organ maker about 1825.

Organist Margaret Carinci of Canton began an intensive survey of various types of organs in the fall of 1979 when plans were under way for a new church building. Before settling on the historic organ, she investigated electronic organs and contemporary pipe organs.

"I was an organ major at Wayne State and was aware of the Organ Clearing House in New Hampshire, which lists old pipe organs churches are getting rid of," she said. "Alan Laufman there put us in touch with Dana Hull. It has worked out very well financially for the church."

HULL HAS BEEN self-employed in the organ restoration business for almost four years. She has her degree in organ and has done repair work off and on for many years.

The petite, dark-haired woman, wearing an Organ Historical Society T-shirt, said, "People ask me if I work full time, and I tell them I'm lucky if I put in an eight-hour day. Usually it's more like 10 or 12 hours. I'm chairman of the Historic Organ Committee of the Organ Historical Society.

"Right now I'm working on two other projects besides St. Thomas a Becket — an organ at St. Bernard in Alpena and another in Rochester, N.Y. My first restoration job was in Cass City.

"When Margaret Carinci got in touch with me, we went through everything listed by the Organ Clearing House and selected three or four before we finally zeroed in one this one.

"I had dreamed about this organ for a long time before I found anyone for it," added Ms. Hull. "I've never heard it nor seen it set up. It already had been in storage in a barn for three years, and the church it was in had been torn down. But I talked to the former organist there, and she told me it had a sweet and gentle sound."

THE ORGAN HAD been in a Universalist Church in Old Town, Maine, near Bangor.

But the church, built in 1843, was not its original home. Like the organ's builder, its first owner remains a mystery.

When the Universalist Church was torn down, the organ was rescued from destruction by a member of the society, Charles Ferguson, who stored it on his property, Hull said.

"The resurgence of interest in historic things is leading people to try to preserve the remaining examples of fine organ building done in this country," she said. "They tried to keep this organ in the area. Then they tried to interest the Smithsonian in it, but they didn't fall for it because the builder was unknown."

The price was a nominal $500. But even with the $2,600 shipping costs and the costs of restoration work the organ still is a bargain.

Hull worked with the architect of the church from the beginning to assure the best acoustical placement of the 16-foot-high, self-contained instrument.

They decided to place the organ at the front of the church at the highest point in the building. The roof slopes gradually toward the back, allowing for good acoustical properties as long as carpeting, which deadens sound, is never installed.

Only the top half of the instrument will be visible to the congregation, however, because an 8-foot louvered wall will be installed to hide the organist from view.

IN A TRACKER ORGAN such as this there is no special console.

The two manual keyboards are recessed directly into the case of the instrument. There are verticle rows of stop knobs on either side to set the registration. All the connections between keys and pipes are mechanical.

Many organists prefer this kind of action because it gives closer control over the articulation of the pipes. In fact, many contemporary builders are abandoning the modern electric action in favor of the tracker.

The organ in St. John Episcopal Church in Plymouth is an example of a contemporary tracker organ, built by Canadian builder Gabriel Kney in 1971.

The old St. Thomas a Becket organ pretty much had been kept in its original form, which is why it was a good candidate for restoration.

At some point an electric blower was installed. Hull plans to replace it with a new German blower, but also hopes to restore the original hand bellows. This would be handy in case of a power failure.

The organ was a G-compass instrument, meaning that the keyboards started with the contra-bass G rather than the usual C. Low G sharp originally was absent but at some time the manual keyboards were changed and the pipes moved down a half-step. The pedal had only one octave of pipes, starting from 16-foot G. These were trimmed to give the pedals a C compass.

ORGANIST Carinci is concerned about the short pedal board. She would like to start a concert series at the church and is afraid this would limit the repertoire for the instrument.

Hull explained that the small pedal board indicates the English influence on the American organ builder. English organs had no pedals at all until about 1800. German organs, however, had two octaves of pedals by the time of Bach, so that much early literature requires them.

The organ case is built of thick American pine.

"The earliest date found inside the instrument was signed by a workman in 1898, who wrote that the organ was built around 1825," Hull said.

"I copied down some interesting writing I found inside the case. There was some paper used to glue over some cracks. You know, they never threw anything away away in those days, and it appeared to be a customs list. It read 'additional duties according to the nature of . . . . snuff, haberdashery, spangles of copper.' It was written with those old Ss which look like Fs."

She is leaving the paper inside where investigators 100 years from now can continue to puzzle over it.

The biggest major piece of work Hull has undertaken has been the retabling of the chests. Because the old tops in which the pipes sit were cracked beyond repair, they had to be replaced. She is doing this in the Detroit organ shop of David Wigton.

"IT MEANS ROUTING off the old tops and applying new ones," Hull said. "I've had to mark all the pipe holes and drill them. I've never done retabling before, sothis is a first for me."

Hull also will be working on all the wood pipes in her own shop and doing all the leather work. But she has farmed out some of the other work to different shops.

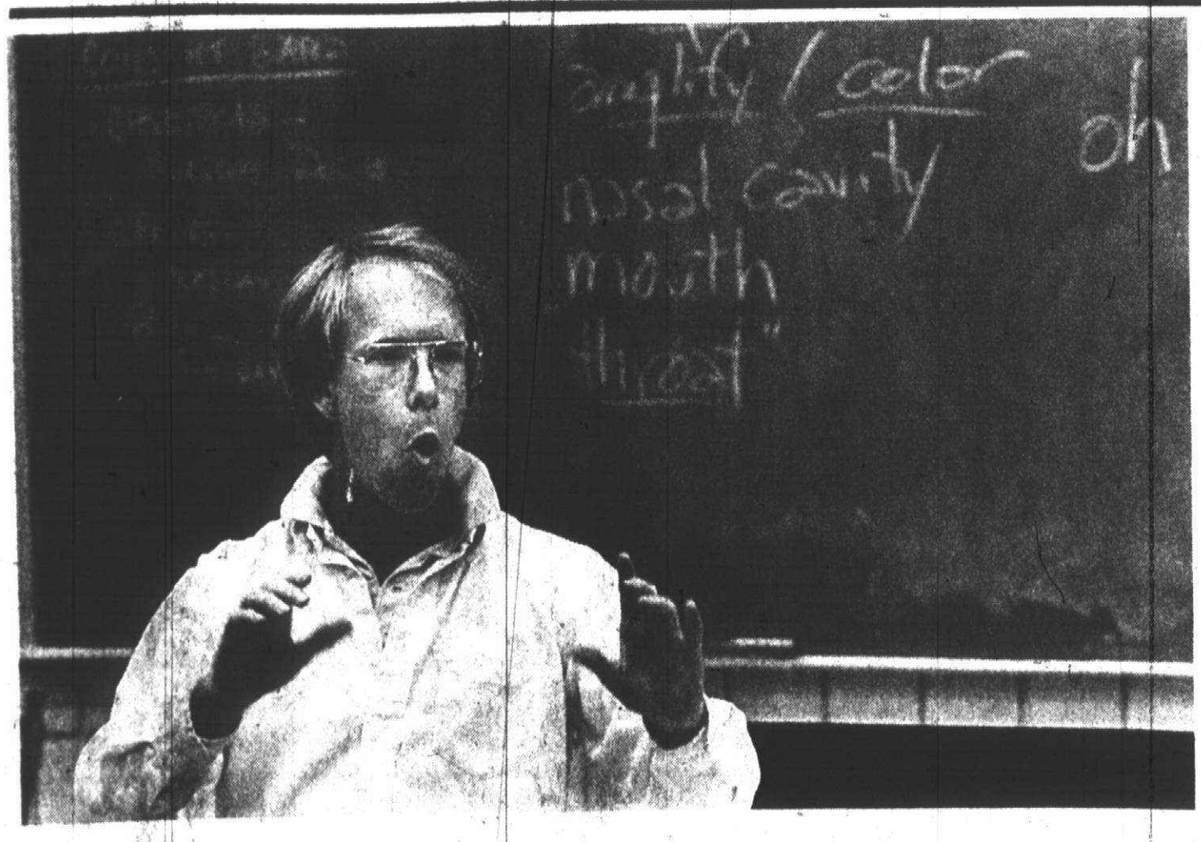

"Metal-pipe repairs are being done by Jerry Adams in Milan," she said. "The keyboards were taken to Cass City, where a subcontractor will replace the key tops with new bone material. New faces for the stop knobs are being made by someone who specializes in that kind of work. Only two of the original lettered faces survived."

The case work is dismantled and is in storage in the Sacred Heart Convent in Dearborn.

Hull will rely on volunteer help to set it up in the church and to do the stripping and refinishing. The original fake-grain oak finish is in poor condition.

The finish will be redone in an antique white, appropriate to the period. If all continues on schedule, work will begin in the church in about early to mid-October.

"They are planning on using the building by the first week in Advent, at the beginning of December. We are hoping the organ will be usable by that time," said Hull as she rushed off to another meeting.

Non-profit group helps single parents

Canton Chatter

By KATHY FREECE 981-2027

Many people have questions about the loneliness they encounter because of divorce or the death of their mate.

Many Canton churches hold parents without Partners (PWP) meetings monthy to help those in need join in on interesting sessions at a church or in a private home.

Parents Without Partners is an international, non-profit, non-sectarian organization with the welfare of the single parent and their children in mind. There are activities almost daily if you have the time or the inclination to become involved. Children and adults gain reassurance through companionship with others facing the same difficulties.

Educational programs and family outings awaken hope for the future and determination in our ability to cope with present problems.

Many times children need these functions much more than the parents do. Children often ask, "Why did my parents do this to me?" They suffer alone with questions they won't ask their parents, but they may be able to relate to other children their own age with the same circumstances.

Plymouth-Canton Chapter No. 1000 meets the second and fourth Friday of each month at the UAW Hall on Eckles, one block north of Plymouth Road.

We all want to be assured of acceptance in our new surroundings, and the warmth and sincerity of this group is obvious. No one wants to go anywhere alone for the first time so some may call for a ride from one of the present members.

There are organizations in Redford Township, the down-river area and Farmington-Southfield. You may choose any chapter to join even though you may not live in that specific area.

The friendship of others that may have problems similar to the ones we face every day may be of great value in time of despair.

PWP is a dutch-treat group for all. Women also are encouraged to ask men for a dance because they are just as frightened of this new experience. Please call Shirley at 981-4466 or Tom at 326-3295 for information on enriching your future during your single life.

OH, TO BE 30 again.

Cathy Rodriguez was surprised by her husband, Chico, family and friends when she recently celebrated her 30th birthday.

Cathy's first reaction was, "I don't believe he did this without me even suspecting a thing."

The party took place at the Sunflower Subdivision Recreation Hall. Kathy Siebert was taking Cathy on a shopping spree, but they had to stop at the hall to register for an activity. Cathy went inside and found she was the recipient of her first surprise birthday party.

The Rodriguez children, Mark, Alisan and Jaclyn, Kathy were there to see the look of amazement on their mom's face.

During the weeks of planning they never said a word to spoil the big day. Merril and Naney Neal, Jan and Jay Lutz, Ralph and Penny Luddecke, Art and Andrea Rodriguez, Ed and Veronica Cherkoin, Al and Kathy Tuller, Donna and Phil Krantz were a few of the friends who helped Chico spread the word about the get-together.

Rita Turcotte, Helen Kapanowski, Bob Siebert, John and Bev Hanlon, Ken and Stephanie Drubal, Rosie and Frank Oddo, Rick and Lynn LaBelle, Jan and Bob Knecht, Barb and Ken Hauser, Gail and Ray Kozowski along with chef Greg Forte sang a rousing chorus of "Happy Birthday" to make the evening complete.

The guests dined on Maurice salad, lasagne and a delicious chocolate cake made with rum and Amaretto for dessert.

A few of Cathy's friends have not reached the ripe old age of 30 yet. So they chipped in for a sympathy card and a lovely flower arrangement to make her feel old.

It was a marvelous evening with dancing and all the trimmings.

German club holds festival

The German-American Club of Plymouth will host its annual Oktoberfest celebration from 7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 7.

The celebration, patterned after the world-famous Munich Oktoberfest in Germany, will feature German delicacies, entertainment, beer and wine.

The first Oktoberfest was held in 1810 to commemmorate the Munich wedding of Crown Prince Ludwig I, the first German Crown Prince to be married in that city for 90 years. A national holiday was proclaimed, capitalizing on the event to promote German national unity in the then newly formed kingdom of Bavaria.

Traditional costumes will be worn by many at the Plymouth Oktoberfest adding a dash of old world flavor to the festivities. German potato salad, knackwurst, sauerkraut, pretzels and cake will be served.

Admission will be $3.50. Tickets can be purchased from members of the Plymouth German-American Club. For ticket information call Edith Scherer at 453-8663 or 453-6000, Roger Feller at 420-2259, or Maria Mulzer at 453-5839.

Homespun wedding

By David Schwab
staff writer

Nine years ago, 13-year-old bridesmaid Sherilyn Richardson could only dream of wearing the glistening homespun crocheted gown made by her mother for her sisters' wedding. Finally, last weekend, she got her chance.

Sherilyn became only the second member of her family to don the imported synthetic parfait gown which has become a family heirloom.

The gown was painstakingly handcrafted with the loving care of mother Arlene Richardson and a close friend, Ann Mark of Livonia. The lacy fan and feather-stitched 70-inch skirt alone took 68 hours to create.

Oddly enough, the gown was originally conceived by Mrs. Richardson as a christening dress for a future grandchild. But, after engaged daughter Charlene commented that the material of the dress would be appropriate for a wedding, a homemade gown was born.

"I intend for the gown to be passed down from generation to generation," Mrs. Richardson said. "The gown today is the same as it was back in 1972, except that I had to add an extra two inches (four rows) to account for the extra height of my younger daughter."

YET, THE wedding gown was not the only thing original about Sherilyn Richardson's wedding.

Virtually everything about the ceremony, from start to finish, was a do-it-yourself affair.

The groom, David Radionoff, personally fashioned the engagement ring and both wedding bands for his bride during a jewelry class he took at Eastern Michigan University. His sister, Sharon, sung in a duet at the ceremony.

During the ceremony, a rare set of English hand bells was played by eight members of the First Baptist Church.

Also, the wedding reception for 355 people, instead of being catered, was handled completely by family members, relatives and friends. The reception was held at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

And last but not least, the wedding cake was not bought in any store. It too was homemade.

Orthodox church to celebrate

By Margaret Miller
staff writer

"This is our permanent location, God willing," says the Rev. James Jorgenson.

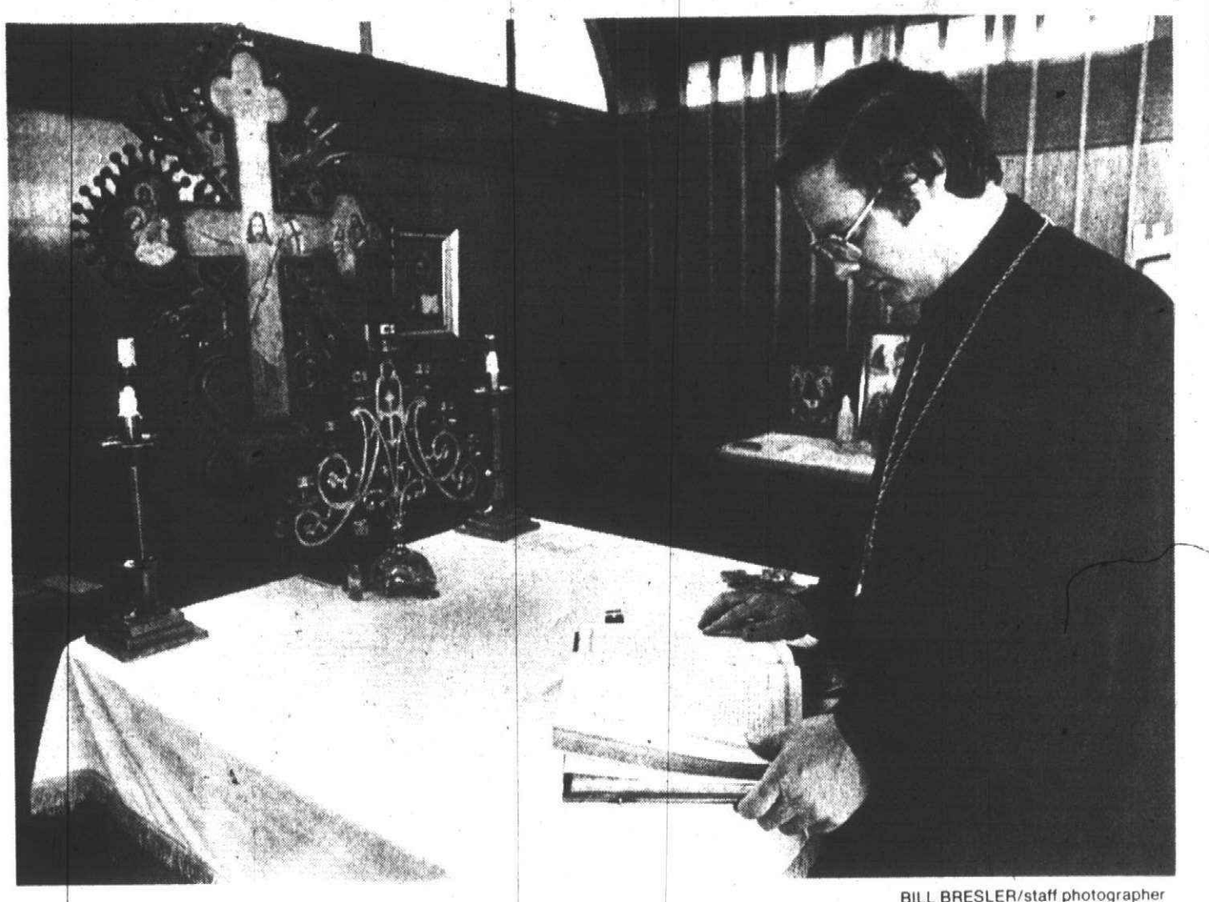

So he and his flock, the 60 families of Holy Resurrection Orthodox Church, prepare for a celebration Sunday in the home they have purchased on Seven Mile west of Levan in Livonia.

It's the 10th anniversary of the only congregation in the metropolitan Detroit area that is affiliated with the Orthodox Church in America. It also has been just a year since the congregation moved from being a guest in North Congregational Church in Southfield to the facility and land purchased from the disbanded people of Pilgrim United Church of Christ.

Furthermore, Jorgenson is newly called to lead the congregation, and he has just brought his family from Dallas to begin a full-scale ministry.

Bishop Boris Geeza, a retired U.S. Navy chaplain who heads the Orthodox denomination, will come from Chicago to lead the 10 a.m. pontifical liturgy that will highlight the anniversary events.

The congregation also plans a 6 p.m. dinner in its Livonia quarters for members, friends in the new community and those in other Orthodox denominations.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Fr. James Jorgenson reads the Bible at the altar of Holy Resurrection Orthodox Church, marking on Sunday its 10th anniversary and its first year in Livonia.

FR. JORGENSON, the new pastor, is a former Roman Catholic who studied at Loyola University in Chicago and later at St. Vladamir Seminary in New York and then Boston University.

As a seminarian, he said, he delved deeply into the history of the early Christian church.

"I came to the conclusion that the Eastern Orthodox church is most like the early church, from the standpoint of its structure and its sacramental practices," he said.

"My reading of early Christian theologians also told me that the Orthodox church represented a living continuity with the early apostate church and did not teach anything that contradicted the early Christian doctine."

And having come to that conclusion, he added, "I decided to switch rather than fight."

After cometing his studies at St. Vladamir and Boston U., he served a church in Chelsea, Mass. and then he and his family spent two years in Dallas before accepting the call of Holy Resurrection, a congregation that includes residents of Livonia, Farmington Hills, Southfield, Novi and Detroit.

"We're reversing the trend and moving north instead of south," Fr. Jorgenson said. He and his wife Patricia and their children, Daria, 11, and Michael, 9, will live in a rented home in Livonia.

PLANS FOR the new property include eventual removal of the house that had been a parsonage, the building of a new sanctuary and use of the present building as a parish house, he said.

"We have plenty of room here to expand, and this location is a fine one for our families," he added.

The priest explained that the Orthodox Church in America originally was the Russian Orthodox Church and at this time is second in numbers only to the Greeek Orthodox denomination.

"The Orthodox Church is one church," he went on, "but in this country different nationalities — Greek, Romanian, Ukrainian, Armenian — have different jurisdictions.

"This was a sociological development as people came to this country. At one time all bishops were appointed in Russia, but after the revolution there each nationality started having its own bishop and using its own language.

"But we are all of the same faith and worship system."

Holy Resurrection and other denominations in the Orthodox Church of America conduct services totally in English, he said. "Our members," he added, "are mainly of Slavic origin, but with marriages and attracting others we are becoming a very mixed group."

Interfaith prayer service planned for handicapped

The First Annual Interfaith Prayer Service with Handicapped Persons will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 11, in Blessed Sacrament Cathedral, 9844 Woodward, Detroit.

Approximately 1,000 blind, deaf, physically handicapped and mentally retarded people are expected to participate. The service is being held in honor of the United Nations' designation of 1981 as the International Year of Disabled Persons.

The Most Rev. Edmund C. Szoka, Roman Catholic archbishop of Detroit, will welcome the participants. Rabbi Ernest Conrad, chairman of the Rabbinical Commission of the Jewish Community Council, will deliver a message entitled "Earthen Vessels".

"The service will help parishes and congregations realize that we are all part of God's family, that we all have something to give and share, but that we are all fragile earthen vesels," said the Rev. Gary Bueche, director of the Pastoral Ministry to the Handicapped office of the Archdiocese of Detroit.

We teach violence while talking it down moral perspectives

Rev. Robert Schaden

Perhaps we need to decide as a society whether we are for or against violence. Such a decision would be to be easy enough to make, but there is a problem. And the problem is us.

We have so many double messages when it comes to violence and aggression that we confuse ourselves, let alone another. Just liston to us. "Don't fight; it isn't nice." "If I have to tell you one more time to clean your room, you are going to get the spanking of your life." "You shouldn't hit your sister." "Why don't you stand up and fight like a man?"

The same children who hear us tell them that violence is wrong watch us in action. They see us ready to punch out other drivers who are in our way on the streets and highways. They listen to us fight with one another for first place in line at the supermarket and the bank.

They watch us build bigger and better bombs. They hear us talk in violent ways about people whom we do not like, and they watch us bet on the fighter of our choice. At the same time they continue to be told that mature people do not hurt each other.

SUCH DOUBLE TALK is an almost unquestioned scenario in the life we live. Some of us see nothing contradictory in it at all. In fact, we are willing to fight for our right to be that way.

We continue to be the problem even as we look for a solution. The double messages that are an everyday occurrence continue to confuse speaker and listener alike, and each of us is both.

We decry the violence in our society. We speak out agianst the violence in our streets and in our families. At the same time we continue to teach violence and aggression as an acceptable way to get what we want.

We may tell the younger set to do what we say and not what we do, but such nonsense does little more than teach children that grown-ups can be as violent as they choose as long as it achieves what they condider to be a good end.

THIS OF COURSE is how we justify capital punishment. It becomes the rationale for training commandos, promoting prizefights and even for throwing things at center-fielders as long as they are on the opposing team.

It all boils down to aggression being an acceptable means if it is required to attain our goal.

Even the thief who is willing to harm or kill someone for the money which he wants — and perhaps feels he has a right to because of his deprived condition — is often doing little more than following through on what he was taught earlier in life.

The driver who acts as though he owns the road may well have been run over more than once by those who had a part in his upbringing. The teenager who becomes violent on the street corner may have learned his lesson from something as acceptable and American as a foreign policy speech.

The young adult who uses people may well be doing nothing more than modeling the behavior he or she observed at home while growing up.

Band members still going strong

Marty Balin of the Jefferson Starship will appear at 9 p.m. Wednesday at Center Stage, 39940 Ford Road, Canton. Special guests will be Prodigy.

By Nick Charles
special writer

IN 1965 a former member of folk rock group The Town Criers met up with a friend at a San Francisco club. The two unknowns decided to form a band. Little did they know just how big of a splash they would make on American music.

The two unknowns just happened to be Marty Balin and Paul Kanter. The band they formed just happened to be the Jefferson Airplane. Unbelievable as it seems, that was 16 years ago and all the members, in one form or another, are still going strong.

Balin was co-founder and vocalist for the Airplane, which changed its name to Jefferson Starship in 1974. Balin is now beginning his solo career.

He wrote the hit "Little Miracles" from the 1975 album, "Red Octopus." He also co-wrote songs like "With Your Love," "Dance With the Dragon," "There Will Be Love" and many more. Even though he has written many hits Balin said, "I'm not interested in being known as a great writer, I'm more into the singing."

BALIN'S NEW album, simply entitled "Balin" (EMI America) proves his point since he only co-wrote one song out of the album's nine cuts. "There were a bunch of songs that people had done for me that I wanted to record. Singing your own songs all the time is like eating your own cooking."

The L.P.'s first single "Hearts" climbed to the Top 10 on the Billboard charts. A second single written by Jesse Barrish called "Atlanta Lady" has been released. Balin is now on tour in the U.S., Canada and Japan.

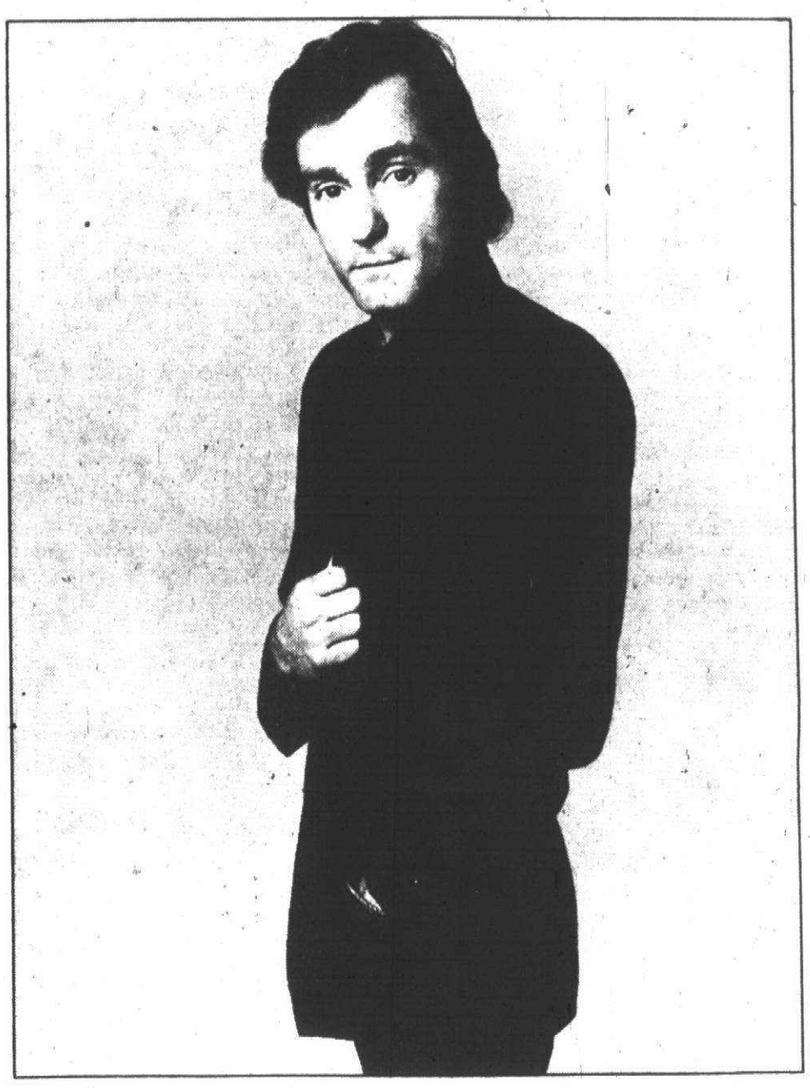

"My album's a big hit in Japan, Australia and Latin America," he said.

"Starship never really hit those places. So I get to go and play there this time. We're playing smaller clubs so I don't have to worry about opening big halls for anybody."

Balin's mellow voice became a trademark of the Airplane and later the Starship. The problem with the group's shows was that with all that talent the limelight had to be shared.

"Now I can sing all night instead of just a few songs," Balin said. "With Starship it went from Grace to Paul to the drummer to the bass player. And by the time it got back to me the crowd had been through a million different trips. Now I can build a logical kind of momentum. It's also more challenging because it's not a built-in reputation."

preview

Marty Balin makes good music, 16 years after forming Jefferson Airplane.

It seems that Balin, who sang in choirs as a boy and always participated in street-corner music, has always been a performer. "They told me I could whistle before I could talk."

Now that's what I call a born start.

Scholar lectures on Shakespeare's Globe

"Shakespeare's Globe in Detroit," an illustrated lecture by Shakespearean scholar C. Walter Hodges, will be presented in the Hilberry Theatre at 2 p.m. Saturday on the Wayne State University Campus in Detroit.

This is the first of a series of annual lectures to be given in conjunction with WSU's Third Globe reconstruction on the banks of the Detroit River. The introductory lecture will provide a preview of the plans for the theater and an up-to-date report on its progress.

Hodges, an adjunct professor at WSU this term as well as chairman of the Advisory Committee and designer for the Globe reconstruction, is one of the chief authorities on the structure of Shakespeare's Elizabethan theater.

He also is an internationally respected author, artist and designer. He has written and illustrated many children's books, including "Shakespeare's Theatre," winner of the Kate Greenaway Medal of the Library Association of England.

For more information, contact the Wayne State University Theatre promotion office (577-3010).

WHAT'S IT WORTH?
A ratings guide to the movies

Bad	$1
Fair	$2
Good	$3
Excellent	$4

"The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" (1939), 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Cass City Cinema, Cass at Forest, phone 832-6309, $2.

Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce appeared in 14 film adaptations of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "Sherlock Holmes" stories but the first two, "The Hound of the Baskervilles" and "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," both made in 1939, are by far the best. Both realize beautifully the fog-shrouded, murky atmospheres in which one expects to find a Sherlock Holmes story steeped. Later films ("S.H. and the Voice of Terror" and "S.H. in Washington" among them), unfortunately, removed the master sleuth first from his native time period and then from his home for the sake of box-office wartime propaganda. So bask in Sherlock's early adventures, and , if the print showing at Cass City hasn't been cut, look for a reference to Holmes' drug addiction at movie's end. Rating: $3.40.

"The Naked Runner" (1967), 8 p.m. Friday on Ch. 50. Originally 104 minutes.

You may have forgotten that Frank Sinatra made a few good films, but he did, and "Naked Runner" is the last of them. Sinatra has had the unusual ability to do fine jobs in fine films ("From Here to Eternity," "The Manchurian Candidate") while at other times providing the spark that lit the fuse on such bombs as "The Pride and the Passion" or any of his detective Tony Rome adventures. In "Runner," Frank is recruited by a government — whose? — to carry out an assassination. Good blend of action, suspense and mystery. Rating: $2.95.

"The African Queen" (1951), 4 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 105 minutes.

Bogart, Hepburn, Huston. Not much more need be said about this sterling story of drunkard Bogie and spinster Kate escaping the Germans in World War I Africa. Director John Huston has the uncanny knack of keeping tight rein on his actors but also staying out of their way. If only a Brian De Palma could learn that. Rating: $3.70.

"Keeper of the Flame" (1942), 12:25 Tuesday night on Ch. 50. Originally 100 minutes.

Once of Tracy and Hepburn's lesser-known films, "Flame" is also one of the best. Kate's the widow of a late American hero and Spencer's the reporter who is investigating his rather seedy past. Considering the resemblance between the late hero and one Charles Lindbergh, and the fact this superficially critical film was made during World War II, perhaps it's not hard to understand why "Keeper of the Flame" till this day has not gotten the play of other, more lightweight Tracy-Hepburn films. Rating: $3.50.

"Evil Roy Slade" (1971), 8:30 a.m. Oct. 15 on Ch. 20. Originally 100 minutes.

One of the few made-for-TV films that this column will ever preview, "Roy Slade" was the "Airplane" of its day. An incredibly funny and offbeat filmn of a man so mean that wolves threw him out of their pack. John Astin is marvelous as Roy, and Dick Shawn steals the film as good-guy sheriff Bing Bong (I'll get it.) Rating: $3.35

Albee play slated by Theatre Guild

The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford (TGLR) will begin its 28th season with the production of "Everything in the Garden," scheduled to open Friday and run three weekends: Friday-Saturday, Oct. 16-18 and Oct. 23-24.

The Theatre Guild Playhouse is at 15138 Beech-Daly Road, just south of Five Mile Road in Redford. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. (2:30 p.m. for the Sunday matinee). Price for tickets is $4.

Tickets can be reserved by calling 522-1526.

Written by Edward Albee, "Everything in the Garden" is a cynical, dark comedy about prostitution and murder in affluent suburbs.

IT IS BEING produced with the support of the Michigan Council for the Arts, which has awarded a grant for an artist-in-residency for the fall 1981 show. The artist-in-residence is director Mary Ann Brownlee, Ph.D., who brings to TGLR experience in directing several off-Broadway shows, doing stage readings and conducting theater workshops both in this country and in Europe.

Brownlee is currently an assistant professor of drama at the University of Michigan in Dearborn. She is assisted by Pat Bray of Northville, who brings a wide variety of acting and directing experience with various local theater groups.

THE CAST of 11 characters features many TGLR regulars, as well as some new faces. Included are J. Craig Collicott of Detroit as Richard, a suburban husband who is living, somewhat reluctantly, above his means; Claudia Hill of Detroit as his wife, Jenny, who is offered an opportunity to increase their means; Jeff Lee of Northville as their teenage son, Roger; Tony Mattar of Bloomfield Hills as Jack, a wealthy and fun-loving neighbor; and Shirley Hulet, a wealthy businesswoman whose business is helping suburban women.

Chuck Miller of Canton and Carole McNulty are Chuck and Beryl, neighbors who seem to be staying ahead of the "conspicuous consumption" game. Tom Hinks of Plymouth and Karen Dean of Westland are Gilbert and Louise; and Dave and Rosemary Tucker of Livonia are Perry and Cynthia, also neighbors.

● PLAYING A CHOUETTE

A "chouette" (pronounced shoo-et) is the same game of backgammon, played with three or more players. One die is rolled by each player. The highest number rolled wins the "box" position. The second highest number wins the captain's position and the others become the captain's teammates, in their respective order.

The box plays alone against the captain and his team. The captain's team may consult on all moves, but the captain has the final say. If the captain wins the game, he replaces the box and the losing man in the box then takes last place on the new captain's team. The first teammate then becomes captain.

If the captain loses to the man in the box, he becomes a teammate at the tail end and the first teammate then becomes the new captain. The man in the box remains as long as he is undefeated.

Scoring is kept separately, since each player is out for himself. The man in the box can win the point value of the game from each player, and can lose it to each opponent.

Playing in a chouette can be a terrific learning experience for the novice.

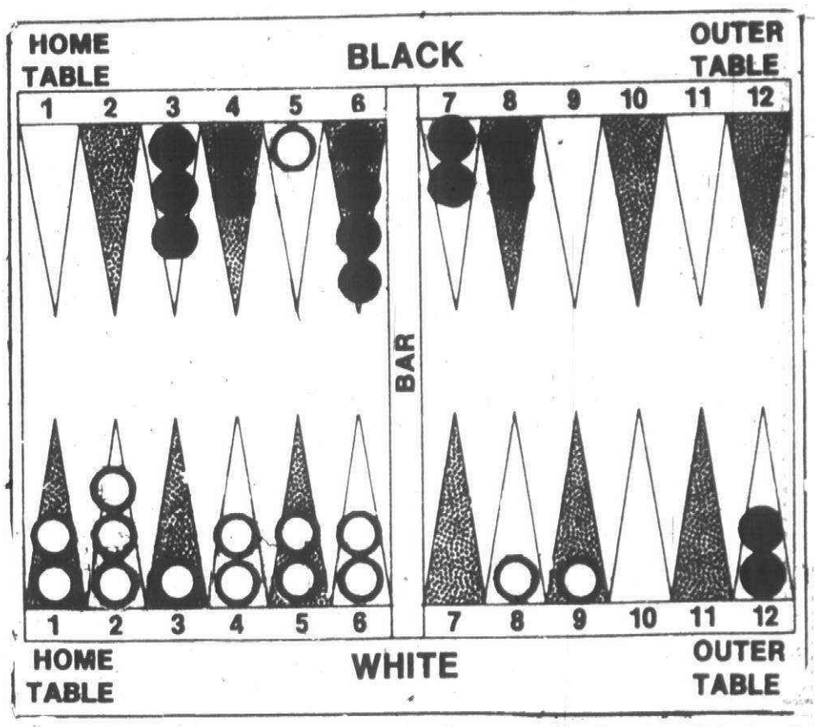

For instance, Don A. of Franklin Village writes:

"I was engaged in a "chouette" with two other players when the box (black) rolled a 4-1 in this position. Also black has possession of the doubling cube at the 4 level.

"After black hit white on the 5 point by slotting from the 6 point and moving a checker from the 12 point to the 9 point, there was much controversy. Your comment and suggestions would be appreciated."

I agree that an aggressive play is in order here by slot-hitting white on the 5 point with the 1 roll. This move duplicates the number 5 that white will need to re-enter and hit black, and to close the blot in his home board. White will have only three out of 36 shots to hit black on the 5 point and cover his blot simultaneously, with a total of 27 ways to re-enter from the bar. Slot-hitting white is essential for black to have any chance at winning the game.

If one were to play out this game from the standpoint of a pure race, black should lose. So black must go all out and attempt to stop white now, even if white is a heavy favorite to re-enter. I also agree with the original 4 move; if black is not hit, this checker can be used to cover the 5 point blot on black's next roll.

At first, the sight of three exposed blots was a little shaky. But after close examination, it is nebulous. If black is hit once or twice (5-4, 5-3 or 2-6, depending on the 4 move), he had better roll a 3 immediately or he will be faced with a gammon regardless of how many blots he leaves exposed.

A gammon in this chouette would put the box (black) 16 points in the hole. His opponents would each net eight points.

The purpose of this power play is simple. Black is losing the game. If white fails to hit or even re-enter, black could redouble to 8 and force white out of the game.

Power Center at U-M dedicates addition

The Power Center for the Performing Arts on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor marked its 10th anniversary Monday by dedicating a 28,000-square-foot addition which completes the original plan for the center.

The addition is made possible by a gift from U-M Regent Emeritus Eugene Power and his wife Sadye of Ann Arbor, and university funds. The 1,420-seat Power Center, dedicated Oct. 5, 1971, was named in honor of the Power family.

Dedication of the addition was attended by U-M officials, members of the Power family and other invited guests. The ceremony included the unveiling of bronze portraits of Sadye and Eugene Power by British sculptor John Mills to be mounted in the lobby of the Power Center.

New facilities in the three-level addition provide many of the educational support services, such as rehearsal spaces and costume and scenery shops, which had to be deleted from the original plan for the Power Center due to university funding limitations.

"THE UNIVERSITY is deeply grateful to the Power family for their continuing support," U-M President Harold T. Shapiro said. "We pay our tribute to the vision and generosity of the distinguished family in making possible both the Power Center and this fine new addition to it.

"The new wing will greatly enhance the teaching of performing arts at the university and will allow more efficient use of the center."

The addition is part of the original exterior design located between the existing parking structure and the Power Center building.

The firm of Roche and Dinkeloo Associates of Hamden, Conn., who designed the Power Center, served as design consultants. Jickling, Lyman and Powell Associates of Birmingham was the architect.

The Broadway musical hit "A Chorus Line" has opened a six-week engagement at the Fisher Theatre in Detroit.

upcoming things to do

● 'CHORUS LINE'

The fourth engagement of "A Chorus Line" runs through Nov. 14 at the Fisher Theatre in Detroit. Michael Bennett's musical sensation has played to sold-out houses for every performance since it first appeared at the Fisher in March 1977. "Chorus Line" is the winner of nine Tony Awards and the 1976 Pulitzer Prize for drama. There is no intermission in the show. For ticket prices and performance times call 872-1000.

● WORLD ADVENTURE

"Life of Rome," filmed and described live from the stage, will be the opening program of the travel-adventure World Adventure Series at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Detroit Institute of Arts Auditorium Theatre. Tickets and information are available by calling the DIA ticket office at 8322730 between 9:30 a.m. and 5:15 p.m.

● MICHIGAN ENSEMBLE

"The Blood Knot" by Athol Fugard will be presented as the second play in the Michigan Ensemble Theatre season at 8 tonight through Saturday, 2 p.m. Sunday, 8 p.m. Oct. 15-17 and 2 p.m. Oct. 18 in the Lydia Mendelssohn Theatre, Ann Arbor. The play is the story of two South African brothers, one light and one dark skinned. Tickets are available at PTP ticket office in the Michigan League or by calling 764-0450.

● CHINESE CULTURE

The Youth Goodwill Mission of the Republic of China will present "An Adventure in Chinese Songs and Dances," a one-hour program featuring various aspects of Chinese culture at 7:30 tonight in the Community Arts Auditorium on the Wayne State University campus in Detroit. Reserved tickets are available at the Office of International Service, WSU, 577-3422.

● PIANO, ORGAN

Piano composer and editor David Carr Glover will conduct a workshop at 9 a.m. Tuesday at Weber's Inn, Ann Arbor. The event will be sponsored by King's Keyboard House of Ann Arbor. The workshop will feature a new presentation of the David Carr Glover Piano Library, introducing Glover's most recent publications. Persons interested in attending the workshop may call King's Keyboard House from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. at 663-381.

● MYSTERY-THRILLER

(Showgirl auditions are being held from noon to 2 p.m. today at the Joe Louis Arena).

DINING AND ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE ON THE TOWN

Dear John & Marsha,
Hi again from the Michigan Inn! Harry and the kids couldn't wait to spend another weekend here and I must admit, I was anxious to come back myself. Right now I'm sipping an icy cold drink at the Poolside Cafe, watching the kids splashing around in the beautiful Indoor/Outdoor Pool. Harry spent the morning in the Sauna and fully equipped exercise room (I'm meeting him on the tennis court in about an hour). This is the life! And at only $39.00 a night for our room (any Thursday through Sunday) and just $15.00 a night for the kid's room, you really can't beat it! These Getaway weekends are sure becoming a fun habit!
Love, Joannie

Here's what the one-year All Savers Certificate can mean to you.

- You can exclude up to $2,000.00 interest from federal income tax on a joint return ($1,000.00 on an individual return). The amount excluded is also not taxed by the State of Michigan.
- Your All Savers Certificate is insured to $100,000.00 by the FSLIC.
- Your interest rate is guaranteed for the full term of the certificate, unlike other investments such as money market funds where rates fluctuate daily.
- You can participate with a deposit of $500.00 or more.
- Funds in your Standard Federal 26-Week Money Market Certificate can be transferred to an All Savers Certificate without any early withdrawal penalty on the transferred funds.

If you elect to receive interest at maturity there is no compounding and the interest rate on your All Savers Certificate will be 12.14%. If you wish to have interest payable monthly or quarterly, the annual simple interest rate on your All Savers Certificate will be 11.458% and interest retained in your All Savers Certificate will be continuously compounded for an effective annual yield of 12.14%. These rates are available for All Savers Certificates opened through October 30, 1981. Rates for accounts opened after October 30, 1981, will be announced later. However, the rate established at the time an All Savers Certificate is opened is the rate in effect for the full one-year term of the account. You should also know that in the event of early withdrawal from an All Savers Certificate federal law and regulations require a substantial early withdrawal penalty and loss of the interest exclusion for federal income tax purposes. The All Savers rate of 12.14% is equivalent to the yields for taxable investments shown in the table. This table demonstrates how the All Savers Certificates can provide you with a higher after-tax yield than you may be earning from a money market mutual fund or on other investments.

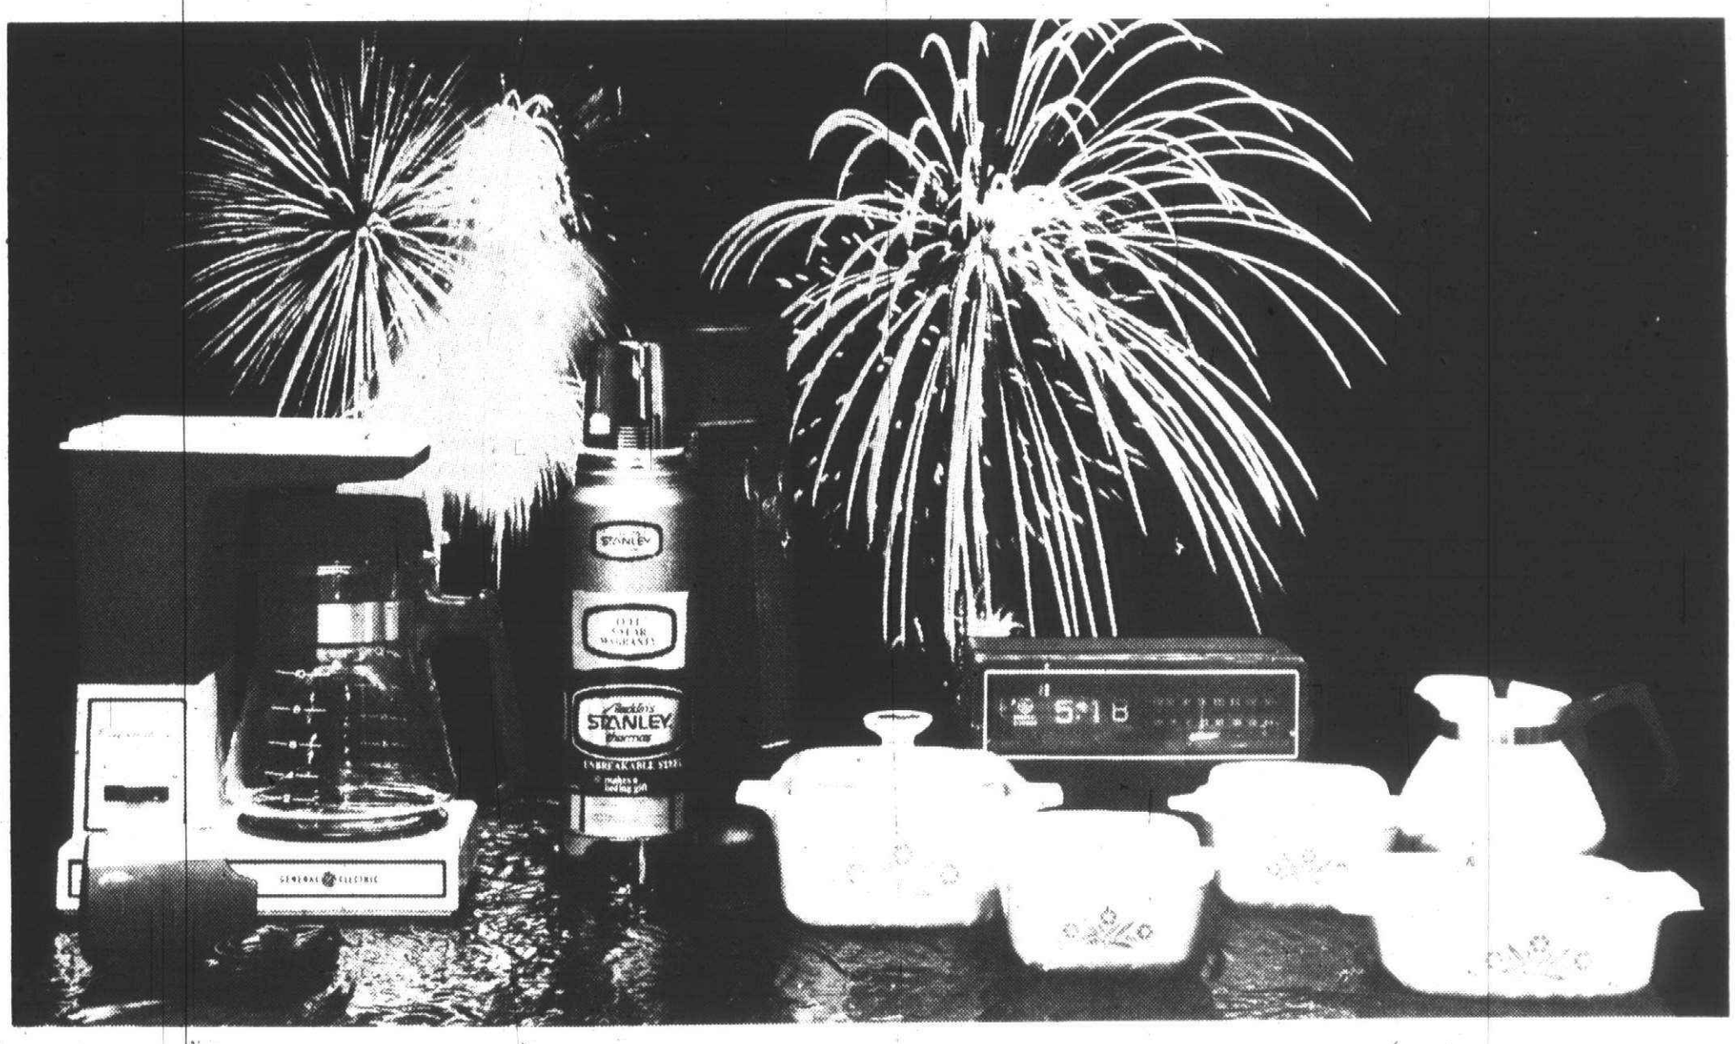

The deposit needed in your All Savers Certificate to achieve the maximum allowable deduction is $16,474.46 for a joint return and $8,237.23 for an individual return.

Compare the Tax-Free All Savers Rate of 12.14% with Yields on Taxable Investments.

TAXABLE INCOME ON A JOINT RETURN	COMPARABLE YIELD ON TAXABLE INVESTMENTS	TAXABLE INCOME ON A JOINT RETURN	COMPARABLE YIELD ON TAXABLE INVESTMENTS
$10,000.00	14.81%	$ 70,000.00	26.39%
20,000.00	15.97%	80,000.00	26.39%
30,000.00	19.27%	90,000.00	29.61%
40,000.00	21.30%	100,000.00	29.61%
50,000.00	23.80%	110,000.00	33.72%
60,000.00	23.80%	120,000.00	33.72%

The yields shown in this table are based on 1981 tax rates but do not reflect the effects of any tax credits that may be available in 1981, nor do they take into account the 50% maximum tax rate on salary and wages. If tax-free interest is received in 1982, the comparable yield on taxable investments should be calculated using 1982 tax rates. In addition, the yield for the All Savers Certificate actually will be somewhat higher because the amount excluded from federal income tax is also not taxed by the State of Michigan.

Ann Arbor Huron upsets state-rated Rocks, 52-50

Ann Arbor Huron gunned down the state's seventh-ranked Class-A girls' basketball team Tuesday night with some red-hot outside shooting.

Plymouth Salem was the victim as Huron, behind Essie Smith's 17 points and Felicia Mullice's 11, pulled out a 52-50 upset win.

"I have to give them (Huron) credit," Salem coach Bob Blohm said. "They played one helluva game.

"They hit a lot of shots from 17 to 20 feet. It was a game where we seemed to be always playing from behind."

The River Rats led 23-22 at halftime and by three entering the final period.

"The defensive intensity was there again," said Blohm, whose team suffered its first loss in nine games. "But we have to play smarter. In the second half we had opportunities to play good, solid defense, but we didn't make the right moves."

Huron's sticky man-to-man defense also caused numerous problems for the Rocks.

"We just had too many turnovers," Blohm said. "It's not that we wanted to. We were making honest mistakes. The key was that our passers and receivers didn't recognize the opportunities. We didn't make the right adjustments, and that's my fault."

EILEEN MOORE, a senior forward, paced the Rocks with 12 points. Carol Ross added 11, and Ann Glomski came off the bench to score 10.

Salem, which trailed by as many as five points in the final quarter, cut the margin to two with six seconds left. Huron, however, killed the remaining time off the clock to walk off the floor victorious.

"I can't complain about our effort," said Blohm. "We played hard even down to the last six seconds. They were just the better team tonight than we were."

Salem, now 8-1 overall, will host Dearborn Edsel Ford in a Suburban Eight League game Thursday.

Harrison gridders 'smoke' Chiefs

By Jay Keenan
special writer

As of late, Plymouth Canton's offense has run into a stumbling block.

The Chiefs, who fell to 1-3 on the season, suffered their second consecutive shutout Saturday afternoon by virtue of a 44-0 loss to Farmington Harrison in Western Six League play.

Canton has not scored a touchdown since it defeated Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 21-0, three weeks ago.

"They (Harrison) outplayed us in every phase of the game," Canton head coach Richard Barr said. "We didn't have any major problems. We lost because they were a better team. And when is someone is better than you, they'll most likely beat you."

HARRISON, THE defending champion of the Western Six League, improved its record to 3-1 overall and 2-0 in the conference. The Chiefs are now 0-1 in the league.

"Our offense controlled the line of scrimmage throughout the game," said Harrison coach John Herrington. "This was one of the first games that we really put some points on the board. We haven't done that as much in our first three games.

"The defense did a good job against their option," Herrington added.

Harrison jumped in front, 3-0 early in the first quarter on a 31-yard field goal by Dave Blackmer. The score was set up on a bad punt following a mishandled snap.

The Chiefs threatened to score midway through the first period when Matt Santilli jarred the ball out of the hands of a Hawk player on a Harrison punt return. The fumble was scooped up by Canton's Chuck Davis at the Harrison 25-yard line. However, the Chiefs couldn't capitalize on the break and the Hawks got the ball at their own 37-yard line.

Eleven plays later Harrison quarterback Bob Wood hit Paul Pesci on a 20-yard pass which put the ball near the Canton goal line. Wood then scored on a one yard run and Blackmer kicked the extra point to give the Hawks a 13-0 lead with 9:08 remaining in the half.

ON THE ENSUING serie, Canton quarterback Chris Susock was intercepted be Dave Gurrizzian at the Harrison 41, which set up a 26-yard score by Blackmer.

"The first half wasn't all that bad," Barr reflected. "Our defense held them down pretty good in the first quarter."

Canton, however, found the going rough in the third quarter as the Harrison offense drove at will and increased the lead to 24-0. Steve Sweeney, Harrison's 5-foot-9 speedster, scored on a 20-yard burst at the outset of the third quarter.

"The third quarter was disastrous," Barr said. "We made too many mistakes and didn't execute well."

Shortly after Sweeney's touchdown, defensive tackle Rob Kassab made it 30-0 when he grabbed a Susock fumble and rambled 15 yards for a score. The extra point attempt failed.

Bob Miller scored from one yard out in the third quarter and reserve Ken Kish launched a 37-yard TD pass to Jim Adams in the final period to close out the Harrison scoring.

Senior split end Jamie Chiloff was the Chief's offensive catalyst, as he caught six passes for 64 yards. Dean Smith spearheaded the defensive effort with two unassisted tackles and seven assists.

Canton lost the service of senior guard and kicker Dennis O'Flynn last week when he sustained a knee injury and underwent surgery. In the Harrison game, Canton also was without Fred Rumberger and Mike Perrot. Both may be ready for Canton's home game Friday at 7:30 p.m against Walled Lake Western.

Lonigro lauds improved kickers

Center-forward Tom Wright scored two goals, including one on a penalty shot, to lead Plymouth Canton to a 5-1 boys' soccer victory over Farmington Harrison.

The Chiefs, who evened their record at 2-2 overall, jumped out to a 3-0 first-half lead and never looked back.

"Overall, we're playing the game much, much better than we used to," Canton coach Tony Lonigro said. "There was more passing. Much more improvement over the first three games.

"The more you get to know your companions, the more passing you'll see."

Eddie Hintz tallied Canton's first goal on a pass from Mike Grady.

Mike Jennings made it 2-0 with an assist from Wright, who later scored on penalty kick.

Wright scored again to open the second half on an assist from Mike Funkhouser.

The final Canton goal was unassisted by Bob Brusa, who drilled a 40-yard shot into the upper corner of the Harrison net.

Eric Becker, who was sharp for the most part, was the winning goaltender.

Canton will meet rival Salem at 4 p.m. Monday. Salem, which goes against unbeaten Livonia Churchill on Thursday, won it first meeting against Canton, 3-1.

Ex-Red Wing retires peacefully

Marty Budner

Checks, goals and travel are still a part of Nick Libett's life.

However, they've taken on new meanings.

Instead of throwing body checks, for instance, the former National Hockey League player now seeks business checks. Instead of shooting for the net, he has established for himself several new career goals.

And instead of traveling to such hallowed houses of hockey as the Montreal Forum and Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, Libett now slips comfortably into his dark blue Chrysler LeBaron and drives to hamlets like Plymouth, Westland and Rochester.

Libett will not suit up in those heavy pull-over sweaters, funny-looking shorts and ice skates anymore. He retired quietly and without fanfare over the summer — the same way he played professional hockey for 19 years.

"There are two things really that led me to retirement," said the soft-spoken and neatly dressed Libett, who now sells automotive-industrial interior car paints for the Wyandotte Paint & Products Co. of Troy.

"The timing job-wise was right. We had a set of circumstances at Wyandotte that this was the year that I should retire. And, secondly, the fact I didn't play that much last year (with the Pittsbugh Penguins).

"There was really no decision on my part. I had made up my mind last January that (the 1980-81 season) was going to be my last year. I made up my mind halfway through last season. It just wasn't any fun playing anymore."

LIBETT WAS a consistent goal scorer for Detroit who was more concerned with defensive play up-and-down his left wing. He suffered through most of the '70s with dismal Red Wing teams that consistently failed to make the playoffs.

Despite the lack of team talent, Libett mustered 467 points in a dozen years with Detroit, including 217 goals and 250 assists. What most fans don't realize is that he's fifth on the all-time Wing scoring list behind such legends as Gordie Howe, Alex Delvechio, Norm Ullman and Ted Lindsay.

Libett never won any of the league's most valuable player or scoring trophies. The only trophies he earned in the NHL were given by the Wings: the Stu Evans award (most sportsmanlike) in 1974-75, the George Vandervreker Memorial Trophy (unsung here) in 1975-76 and the Traveler's Club Trophy (most exciting) in 1978-79.

"That (lack of notoriety) never really bothered me," said Libett. "I'm kind of a low-key guy. I worked hard while playing hockey.

Plymouth Salem netters smash Bentley

Plymouth Salem won its 23rd consecutive girls' dual tennis match dating back to 1979 with a pair of Suburban Eight League victories this week.

The Rocks turned back Livonia Bentley's challenge Tuesday with a 5-2 triumph. On Monday, Salem blanked Dearborn Edsel Ford, 7-0.

The Bulldogs, who went into the match unbeaten, scored their only two points in singles.

But Salem sophomore Chris Gilles remained unbeaten in 1981 with a 6-3, 6-2 triumph over Bentley sophomore Jennifer Reault at No. 1 singles.

Lisa Maggio scored Salem's other point in singles (No. 4) with a 6-3, 6-4 triumph over Cathia Monforton.

In doubles, Beth Miller and Kristy Brandenburg, Salem's No. 1 team, disposed of Lisa Day and Robin Klinect, 6-2, 6-1.

The Rocks' No. 2 team of Chris Corbick and Jane Ploughman downed Dawn Anagnostou and Lisa Goodwin, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

At No. 3 doubles, Kathy Pursell and Cathy Graham beat Patty Dwyer and Amy Eichorn, 7-6, 6-4.

Bentley's Sue Scrutton (No. 2) and Audrey Devon (No. 3) each won three-set matches, respectively, over Carol Gillespie and Carol Hathaway.

The Rocks used the same lineup Monday to make it a clean sweep in the Suburban Eight. Salem, going after its third-straight Suburban Eight title, competed yesterday in the league meet at Dearborn. Complete results will appear in Monday's Observer.

CANTON 7
W.L. WESTERN 0

Canton, which started out the season with an 0-3 record, made it five straight Monday with a 7-0 Western Six League win over Walled Lake Western.

It was also the Chiefs' fifth straight league victory.

At No. 1 singles, Kris Harrison defeated Sue Hoest, 6-1, 6-0; Lori Smith (No. 2) blasted Julie Jenkins, 6-0, 6-1; Julie Swain (No. 3) edged Lisa Roselle, 6-4, 6-4, and Lisa Schlotz (No. 4) beat Lori Kissner, 6-1, 6-2.

Julie Lloyd and Sheryl Smith drilled Marsha Bryant and Bev Guthrie at No. 1 doubles, 6-3, 6-0.

Jane McKinstry and Julie Gustafson (No. 2) whipped Colleen Itchue and Sue Humble 6-4, 6-1, and the team of Nancy Warkentin and Kristen Smith beat Jen Sorrentino and Terry Palizzo 6-4, 6-4.

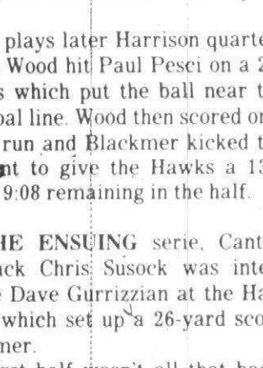

Canton's scheduled match Tuesday with Farmington Harrison was called off because of high winds. The Chiefs blasted defending champ Northville last Friday, 6-1.

Rocks routed in non- league duel, 110-59

Stevenson flexes swim muscles

Livonia Stevenson continued its dominance over western Wayne County girls' swim teams Tuesday night with a 110-59 victory over Plymouth Salem in a non-league meet.

The Spartans, a perennial state Class A power, captured nine of 11 first places, including a sweep in the 500 freestyle.

"They always look the same to me," said Salem coach Chuck Olson. "I'd like to see the teams that have beaten them.

"They're only weak in diving."

The Spartans' only dual-meet losses have been to Class A contenders Ann Arbor Huron and Birmingham Groves.

Cindy McSurely scored a victory for Salem in diving with a total of 203.1 points to remain unbeaten, and teammate Amy Dunn finished first in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 27.1 seconds, but that was it for the Rocks.

Corinne Cabadas took second in the 100 breaststroke (1 minute,17.2 seconds) and third in the 50 freestyle (27.8).

Other third-place finishers for the Rocks included Kelly Brandt, 200 freestyle, 2:16.5; B.J. Bing, 100 butterfly, 1:10.5, and Debbie Darlington, 100 backstroke, 1:12.1.

THE TEAM of Darlington, Cabadas, Bing and Dunn gained second in the 200 medley relay with a time of 2:07.5. Stevenson's Beth Nolan, Laura Schoenle, Sue Hollman and Karen Walter hit the wall first in 1:56.7.

Mary Rozman won two events for the winners. She opened with a victory in the 200 individual medley (2:19.5), overhauling Salem's Terri Eudy in the final 50 yards. Eudy's time was 2:20.1. She then won the 100 freestyle, beating Eudy again with a clocking of 54.9. Eudy's time was 58.2.

Other individual first-place finishers for Stevenson included Karen Biermann, 200 freestyle, 2:06.6; Schoenle, 100 butterfly, 1:03.4; Hollman, 500 freestyle, 5:20.2; Nolan, 100 backstroke, 1:04.2, and Karen Tatigian, 100 breaststroke, 1:16.9.

Schoenle, Rozman, Hollman and Julie Shellman blazed to a first place in the 400 freestyle relay (3:50.0).

Senior Warriors romp

Warrior quarterback Steve Sobditch passed for 150 yards and three touchdowns to help Plymouth-Canton defeat the Taylor Cobras, 39-22, Sunday at Central Middle School.

The victory leaves the Warriors' senior varsity team (14- to 15-year-olds) undefeated in three starts.

In the season opener (Sept. 19), tailback Sean Goulet and flanker Mike Makara tallied two touchdowns apiece to power the Warriors to a 41-6 victory over the Taylor Eagles.

Goulet rushed for three touchdowns as Plymouth-Canton beat Southgate, 43-13, in a game played Sept. 26.

WARRIOR head coach Dave March and assistants Bob Andrus and Bob Hamblin are pleased with what they see so far from the Warriors.

"We're just playing tough defense," said Hamblin, "and we're shutting the offenses down and causing a lot of turnovers.

"Offensively, the line has been excellent. They're blowing people away, and that's the major reason we've run and passed with great success."

The Warriors' schedule the remainder of the season looks like this: Oct. 18 at Westland; Oct. 25 at home against Ann Arbor; Nov. 7 at home versus Taylor Stallions, and Nov. 15 at home against Southgate.

CO-ED VOLLEYBALL LEAGUE

Team entries for a co-ed volleyball league are being accepted by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department.

League play will be held from 7-10 p.m. each Thursday starting Oct. 15 at Hulsing Elementary.

The cost is $70 per team. Rosters should be limited to 12 players.

An organizational meeting has been scheduled for October. For more information, call 397-1000.

WOMEN'S VOLLEY LEAGUE

A women's volleyball league also is being formed by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department.

League play will be held from 7-10 p.m. each Tuesday, beginning Oct. 13 at Fiegal Elementary School (Joy Road, east of I-275).

Team entry fees are $50 (rosters will be limited to 12).

Registrations can be submitted in person or by mail to: Canton Parks and Recreation Department, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, Canton 48188.

GROUP ICE SKATING LESSONS IN PLYMOUTH

The Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department will hold registration for group ice-skating lessons Nov. 6 and 7 at the Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street.

Registration is from 3-7 p.m. Friday, Nov. 6, and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 7.

Residents from the Plymouth-Canton Community School District can register for a fee of $17 for eight sessions. Non-residents can register for a fee of $20.

Former Olympic skater Jim Millns and his professional staff will direct the lessons.

For more information, call 455-6620.

PUNT, PASS & KICK

It's football season, and once again the Canton Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring a Punt, Pass and Kick contest. Boys and girls, ages 8-13, will be placed in age divisions and given a chance to test their football skills.

The competition is slated for 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 24, at Griffin Park.

Punt and kick competition is judged in distance and passing is judged by distance and accuracy. Special awards will be given to first- and second-place finishers in each age group. The recreation department will supply all the neccessary equipment for the contest.

For more information, call the recreation department (397-1000, ext. 212) between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

ROTH HONORED

Plymouth Salem graduate Jeff Roth, assistant professional at the Birmingham Country Club, recently was named Michigan Professional Golfers Association Apprentice of the Year.

Roth won the 1981 PGA-VA Tournament and the Michigan PGA Assistants' Tournament in Brockton, Mass.

Handicap team off to Japan

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

In two weeks, more than 1,000 athletes will gather in Shiga, Japan, for a major sporting event. And Karen Donaldson of West Bloomfield and Lou Cherwak of Troy will be among the competitors — provided they can solve their financial problems.

Donaldson and Cherwak are world-ranked handicapped athletes. The Japanese sporting event they plan, or at least hope, to compete in is the 17th Commemorative National Sports Games for the Disabled.

A winner of five Olympic gold medals in handicapped competition, Donaldson and Cherwak, also a national gold medalist, aren't widely recognized in their communities. Limited media coverage and confusion about their status are two reasons why the public knows so little about them, they contend.

Much of the time, say Donaldson and Cherwak, handicapped athletes are thought of as mentally retarded persons who compete in Special Olympics. In fact, most handicapped athletes are those confined to wheelchairs as a result of spinal injuries.

"I PROBABLY train as hard as Mark Spitz did," said Donaldson, who has won all four of her golds in swimming. "I work out every night of the week, usually for about three hours. I get into the pool whenever the schedule allows it."

Cherwak's athletic ability is also well known. He was the first wheelchair athlete to complete the Detroit Free Press Marathon in 1979.

It's the lack of recognition, perhaps even more than the athletic competition, that aggravates them. An athlete has some control over his competitive destiny, but he can't force the media to publicize his events.

"We have a great deal of trouble getting people out to cover our sports," Donaldson said. "We contacted Wide World of Sports to cover our nationals once and they told us flat out there was no public interest."

And there's the confusion with the Special Olympics, which provide competition for the mentally handicapped and which receive financial support from several institutions, such as the Kennedy Foundation.

"It's who you get aroused to support your cause," Cherwak remarked. "The Special Olympics have had some notables to support them."

Donaldson agreed that it is a struggle to get people to understand the two are not related.

"That's usually the first thing we say to a reporter — we are not the Special Olympics," Donaldson said.

THAT IS why, when it comes to taking trips for meets abroad, the athletes have to scramble for money.

"We're coming close to our goal," said Mike Mushett of Westland, who will accompany the four Michigan athletes to Japan as team coach. "We're about $1,500 short."

Half of their airfare and all of their accommodations is being paid for by the Japanese government. Still, the team must still raise about $5,000 to cover the rest of their expenses.

That is what Mushett has been doing in his role as coach. He serves as fundraiser and travel arranger.

"They know their training program," Mushett said. "I try to help them set up programs and try to keep tabs on their progress.

"Once we get to Japan, it will become more intense. We'll have a couple days to work out, do some fine-tuning."

As for funds, Mushett is confident they will raise the necessary amount.

"No matter how hard you push, it always goes down to the wire," Mushett remarked about the fundraising.

MUSHETT WAS chosen to coach the team because of his past experiences. He was an assistant on the team that competed in Edinburgh, Scotland, and coached the 1980 Olympic team in Arnhem, Holland.

Shiga is Michigan's sister-state. Because it is the International Year of the Disabled, and since Shiga is hosting its country's games, the invitation was extended. Competing will be 900 Japanese athletes, 100 from southeast Asia and the four from Michigan.

The other Michigan athletes slated to go on the trip are Joane Guardiola from Lincoln Park and Gary Kupper of Detroit. All four were picked by the Michigan Wheelchair Association, with choices based on previous athletic accomplishments.

The athletes still need sponsors for their trip. If interested in contributing, contact Mushett at the Westland Bailey Center at 722-7620.

RAY ARNETT

Coach Mike Mushett of Westland talks over strategy with Karen Donaldson of West Bloomfield. The pair hope to put that strategy to use at Japan's national games later this month.

Canton golfers win

Paul Phillips, Tim McMenaman and Eric Popp tied for medalist honors Tuesday as Plymouth Canton downed Farmington Harrison in a boys' golf match at Brae Burn, 211-221.

It was Canton's first Western Six League dual victory. The Chiefs are 2-5-1 overall.

Dave Musch and Tim Crowder supported their teammates with a 43 and 45, respectively.

Canton's match with Walled Lake Western was postponed last Thursday because of wet grounds. It has not yet been rescheduled.

League cleans up act

The men's all-star classic, long one of the strongest bowling leagues in the country, has added a new competition to its regular weekly appearance on the lanes. And it has nothing to do with toppling the pins.

In a notice sent out by John Gavie, president of the league, the competition involves personal appearance, personality and sportsmanship.

It was rendered that bowlers had become rather careless in their dress and in some of their actions on and off the lanes, which was not fair to their sponsors. The new competition is designed to correct the practice. It is the first league in the nation to adopt such a program.

THERE WAS ANOTHER battle in the Bel-Aire classic, and, when the final pin fell, Ron Lachevalier was out in front with a 730 — the lone barrier-breaking series of the week. He had games of 278, 268, and 184. Jack Born, one of the city's veterans, landed the runner-up spot. He rolled a game of 279, the highest game of the night, for a 698 series. He missed the 700 club on the final frame. The Cousins Trophy team was the highest with 3,210.

MIKE KANE furnished the highlight of the night in the Westland Mixed Classic when he posted a perfect game after counts of 193 and 190 for 683. John Wodarski, who has become a regular in the top three, used a 179 for 661, and Chuck Ruel landed third with 649. In the ladies' doubles, Jane Martin had 612.

Cage battles on tap

A big shake-up in the Observer girls' cage poll could occur next week when the area's top three teams collide.

Livonia Franklin will travel Tuesday to meet Plymouth Salem in an intriguing non-league match-up. Salem is ranked No. 7 in Class A by the Michigan High School Girls' Basketball Coaches Association. Franklin, which has won eight straight since losing its opener to No. 1 ranked Livonia Bentley, is rated No. 10.

Salem retains the No. 2 area spot in this week's poll despite an upset loss Tuesday night to hot-shooting Ann Arbor Huron, a team which was beaten earlier in the season by also-ran Livonia Stevenson earlier in the season.

The Rocks are rated second, based on their strong showing last year against Franklin. Both teams have virtually the same casts back this season.

Salem will then invade Bentley next Thursday in another classic Suburban Eight League battle.

The Bulldogs won 2 of 3 last year, but all three games were decided by a total of six points. Bentley won both league games on its way to a perfect league record. Salem, however, got revenge in the regional final, eventually advancing to the state Class A semifinals.

THE GAME matches Bentley's strength and speed against Salem's ball control tactics and tight man-to-man defense.

If it's a low-scoring game, Bentley might be in trouble. The same goes for Franklin, one of the state's tallest teams, against the Rocks.

Livonia Ladywood continued its hex over Catholic League foe Dearborn Divine Child. The state's No. 1 ranked Class B team made it 12 straight over the Falcons Tuesday night, who had climbed to No. 5 in the polls.

Redford St. Agatha, rated No. 1 in Class C by the coaches, keeps rolling along. The Aggies, however, just escaped Tuesday with a one-point win over Allen Park St. Frances Cabrini.

Plymouth Canton, a Class A team, holds down the No. 5 area spot. Redford Bishop Borgess, which won two straight after losing to Birmingham Marian last week, retains the No. 7 position this week.

New to the rankings is Garden City East, which is 5-1 after the return of Jan Moore, who was absent from the coaching scene the past three years. The Panthers own an impressive 23-point victory over Redford Thurston and hold down the final spot.

OBSERVER CAGE RANKINGS

1. Livonia Bentley	8-0
2. Plymouth Salem	8-1
3. Livonia Franklin	8-1
4. Livonia Ladywood	8-0
5. Plymouth Canton	7-1
6. Redford St. Agatha	8-0
7. Bishop Borgess	6-2
8. Garden City East	5-1

It's only the fifth week of the season and every area prep football team has at least one defeat.

There are just four teams left with one loss — Redford Union, Redford St. Agatha, Livonia Clarenceville and Westland John Glenn.

And what does all this mean? Forget about following your local favorite team into the state playoffs this year. Unless the rest of the state follows suit, only the four mentioned above have an outside shot of making it.

Since the point-system playoffs began in 1975, several area teams have qualified.

It's likely that the 1981 season will be quite different because of the great balance among the 15 teams.

My rival prognosticator, C.J. Risak, went 7-5 last week. He's 16-9 for the year. Myself, well I'm just a little bit better at 16-7.

C.J. cried foul when Catholic League teams Bishop Borgess, St. Agatha and Detroit Catholic Central lost last week. Now it's my turn to make amends.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL vs. BIRMINGHAM BROTHER RICE at WISNER STADIUM (8 p.m. Saturday). Much of the starch has been taken out of this one. Rice, never short on talent, lost its opener to Youngstown Cardinal Mooney. CC was upended by newly No. 1-ranked Ann Arbor Pioneer and Class-B Southgate Aquinas. Still, a great rivalry, and this game will probably have a lot to say about the Catholic League's Central Division champ. Rice QB Dave Yarema was out last week with an injury and may still be ailing. PICK — Rice in a squeaker (3 points).

REDFORD UNION at REDFORD THURSTON (2 p.m. Saturday). This big rivalry has been all Panther Blue and Gold the last three years. Thurston is coming off a 8-0 win over Garden City East. RU, however, could be the best team in the area when its passing game is cranked up. The Eagles will be emotionally charged. RU was impressive in beating Franklin last week. RU ready for an upset? Not this week. PICK — RU by 17 points.

Brad Emons

LIVONIA FRANKLIN at WESTLAND JOHN GLENN (8 p.m. Friday). Both teams are coming off loses. The Patriots' defensive secondary, which played a big part in a victory over North Farmington two weeks ago, proved leaky in last Friday's 27-6 loss to RU. Glenn suffered its first defeat last weekend to guess who? North Farmington. The winner stays in the Northwest Suburban League race. PICK — Glenn rallies for six-point victory.

ORCHARD LAKE ST. MARY'S vs. REDFORD ST. AGATHA (7:30 p.m. Saturday at Kraft Field). The Aggies will be reeling from their eight-point loss to Detroit Benedictine. It was their first defeat. Orchard Lake gets the nod because of its tougher schedule so far. The Eaglets' only loss is to Class-D toughie Detroit DePorres. PICK — Orchard Lake wins in overtime.

FLINT SOUTHWESTERN at LIVONIA CHURCHILL (7:30 p.m. Friday). Penn State's Booker Moore, U-M's Rick Leach and MSU's Darryl Turner all starred for the Southwestern Colts during their glory years in the '70s. Southwestern is 1-3 with losses to Saginaw Arthur Hill, Bay City John Glenn and Flint Central. The Colts like to throw. Churchill also can be exciting, with the likes of Steve Tracy and John Bielis (145 yards last week). PICK — Southwestern wins high-scoring game by nine.

LINCOLN PARK at LIVONIA BENTLEY (7:30 p.m. Friday). The Bulldogs continue to struggle on offense. The defense is just about worn out. They've been on the field too long already. Lincoln Park, a member of the Great Lakes Eight, has a fine back in Scott Lowery. The Railsplitters also are unbeaten. The schedule doesn't get any easier for Bentley. PICK — Lincoln Park by 14 points.

PLYMOUTH SALEM at DEARBORN (4 p.m. Friday). The Rocks showed again the ability to pass. Jeff Hubert, the quarterback, threw well and got help from 215-pound fullback Darrel Bartkowiak, who rushed for more than 100 yards last week against Bentley in an 18-0 rout. Dearborn, the Suburban Eight preseason favorite, was stung by rival Edsel Ford last week. The coin please. PICK — Salem by six points.

LIVONIA STEVENSON at WATERFORD TOWNSHIP (7 p.m. Friday). Athletes in Waterford have to pay to play because of district money problems. Ann Arbor Pioneer, the state's No. 1 team in Class A (Detroit News poll), made Waterford pay even more last week, 17-0. The Spartans, under coach Jack Reardon, evened their record at 2-2 last week by nipping Farmington. PICK— The home-field advantage gives Waterford a one-point victory.

BISHOP BORGESS vs. DEARBORN DIVINE CHILD (1:30 p.m. Saturday at Crestwood). The Spartans, who looked unbeatable after upsetting RU three weeks ago, have been plagued by mistakes in their last two games (Ypsilanti and Harper Woods Notre Dame). Divine Child is coming off of two shutouts. Borgess will score, but this Dearborn team is simply Divine. PICK — Borgess is nipped by a touchdown.

WALLED LAKE WESTERN at PLYMOUTH CANTON (7:30 p.m. Friday). The Chiefs, one of the true mystery teams since the school started (1973), were bombed last week by improving Farmington Harrison, 44-0. Canton also is hurting with two key defensive performers out. Walled Lake has one of the best junior fullbacks in the state in Paul Imms (6 foot 3, 215 pounds). He's rushed for more than 100 yards in three consecutive games. The Warriors will lose only if they commit silly mistakes. Homecoming won't help the Chiefs. PICK — Western by 16 points.

OAK PARK at CLARENCEVILLE (7:30 p.m. Friday). Oak Park is winless and has scored only two points all year. The Redskins are desperate. They're going now with a shotgun attack. Clarenceville's defense should post their ninth shutout over a two-year span if things go according to plan, setting up a showdown for the Metro West Conference crown the next week with Woodhaven. PICK — Clarenceville has a picnic. The Trojans by 20 points.

NORTH FARMINGTON at GARDEN CITY EAST (7:30 p.m. Friday). The Raiders are back on the track and should win their second straight Northwest Suburban League game. East, 1-3 thus far, couldn't beat Thurston. North should run all over the field. PICK — Raiders in a romp (18 points).

DEARBORN HEIGHTS CRESTWOOD at GARDEN CITY WEST (7:30 p.m. Friday). West stumped Risak last week but they won't fool Emons. The Fightin' Tigers go down to their second straight Tri-River League defeat. Both teams have common opponents — Cherry Hill. West won by 8, Crestwood by 17. Figure it out. PICK — Crestwood by seven.

In Wyandotte ice competition

Plymouth skater wins title

Of the 36 skaters from the Plymouth Figure Skating Club and the City of Plymouth Department of Parks and Recreation, 35 finished first, second or third in Wyandotte's recent ice skating competition.

No Plymouth skater finished below sixth place.

Michele Durkin won both the intermediate compulsory and intermediate freestyle divisions.

Gwen Cirbes took first places in the intermediate ladies compulsory and in the intermediate ladies freestyle events.

Kim and Kerri Maciejewski each finished first in preliminary ladies competition.

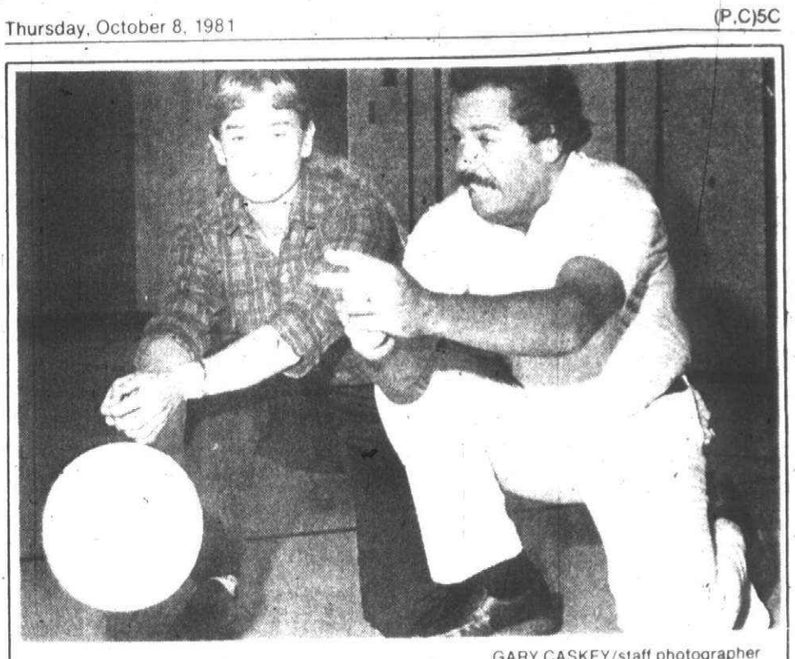

Lori Pethers won the novice compulsory event and took second place in the novice freestyle competition.

Melissa Noel won the first test compulsory and took runner-up honors in pre-free style.

Laura Clary won the intermediate freestyle for her flight, and also grabbed third place in intermediate freestyle.

Winning both the juvenile compulsory and juvenile free style was Kelly Major. In another flight, Suzy Okopny took first-place honors in juvenile compulsory and finished second in juvenile freestyle.

Other Plymouth skaters who competed in the Wyandotte competition were Jessica Normile, Julie thornton, Tom Sharpe, Jennifer Johnson, Christina Ingmire, Jill Ellsworth, Michelle Noel, Sheri Wood, Michele Wagner, Sally Bird, Pam Petry, Noel Schimech, Michelle Lacy, Sylvia Francis, Kim Rebain, Becky Rebain, Karen Feller, Nancy Young, Beth Kaiman, Devony Deck, Colleen Armstrong, Susan MMoffatt, Paul Chavka, Donna Wegrzyn, Kendall Foersterling, Carrie Hughes, Cathy Stassinos, and Shelly Tokarczyk.

Volleyball boosters

Bob Dates (right), assistant director of the Canton Parks and Recreation Department, and Louise Hopping practice for the upcoming volleyball season. Teams are wanted for coed and women's leagues. The coed league at Hulsing Elementary School begins Thursday, Oct. 15. The women's league at Fiegel kicks off Tuesday. For more information, call 397-1000.

Cunningham lifts Chiefs to victory

Plymouth Canton raced out to a 25-6 first-quarter lead and coasted to a 56-39 non-league girls' basketball triumph Tuesday over North Farmington.

The Chiefs, now sporting a 7-1 record, increased their lead to 50-28 at the end of three quarters.

A full-court press from the outset resulted in numerous easy shots for Canton.

"We played tough defense," Canton coach Mike McCauley said. "They couldn't bring the ball up against us, and we got a lot of close, inside shots. We had at least four or five layups."

All 10 Canton players got into the scoring column as senior Pearly Cunningham led the way with 13 points. Diana Anderson had 10 for North Farmington, now 3-4 overall.

"Our helpside, ballside defense is coming along," said the Canton coach. "It usually takes 10 games to get that going."

Canton will travel Thursday to meet Walled Lake Western in a Western Six League game.

Registration on for junior cagers

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association (PCJBA) will hold registration for the upcoming season from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday at the Canton High School Phase III gym (Canton Center and Joy roads).

Youngsters in grades three through 12 are eligible to compete.

Leagues will be divided by grades as follows: C League, girls (grades three and four) and boys (third graders); B League, boys (grades four and five) and girls (grades five through seven); A League, boys (grades six and seven); AA League, girls (grades eight through 12); AAA League, boys (grades 11 and 12).

All registrants must be accompanied by a parent. The registration fees are as follows: C League, $15; B, A and AA Leagues, $18, and AAA League, $23.

Each registrant is required to purchase $5 worth of raffle tickets to support the annual PCJBA fund raiser. A family registration (including raffle tickets) fee is $70. An additional $5 will be charged to any persons registering after Oct. 10.

Those interesting in officiating can also register at the above-mentioned dates. Coaches are also needed. Inquire at registration.

PCJBA TEAMS regularly practice one to two evenings per week (1½ hours). C, B and A League games will be held on Saturdays beginning Oct. 15. The season ends March 6. AA and AAA League games will be held on weeknights.

Tryouts will be held before in order to place players on teams. All players must play one quarter and not more than three quarters per game. Third-grade leagues are instructional and youngsters must play at least one half of each contest.

Canton harriers lose

Plymouth Canton's boys' cross country squad suffered its second Western Six League loss Friday, as Northville raced to a 16-42 victory over the Chiefs' three-mile course.

Canton now stands at 1-5 overall.

Senior Dan Henry took seventh place with an 18:20 clocking. Canton's Tim Collins finished eighth, followed by teammates Brian Lee and Tom Paisely in ninth and tenth place, respectively.

The Chiefs host league foe Livonia Churchill at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

CITY OF PLYMOUTH

COUNTY OF WAYNE
MICHIGAN

RESOLUTION AMENDING AUTHORIZING RESOLUTION FOR MICHIGAN TRANSPORTATION FUND BONDS

Minutes of a Regular Meeting of the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, County of Wayne, Michigan, held on the 5th day of October, 1981, at 7:30 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, at the City Hall in said City.

PRESENT: Commissioners K. Gansler, R. Kenyon, R. Loiselle, E. Martin, D. Pugh, M. Weymeyer, Mayor M. Childs.

ABSENT: Commissioners None.

The following preamble and resolution were offered by Commissioner R. Kenyon and supported by Commissioner R. Loiselle:

WHEREAS, the City Commission of the City of Plymouth (the "City") has previously by resolution adopted on August 17, 1981 (the "Authorizing Resolution"), authorized the issuance of $300,000 aggregate principal amount of 1981 MICHIGAN TRANSPORTATION FUND BONDS (the "Bonds"), and;

WHEREAS, the maturity schedule set forth in paragraph 4 of the Authorizing Resolution must now be amended to reflect the City's receipt of Michigan Transportation Funds for the previous fiscal year so that the contemplated borrowing will be in compliance with all the requirements specified in Section 4 of Act 175, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, as amended;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. Paragraph 4 of the Authorizing Resolution be, and hereby is, amended to read as follows:

"4. The Bonds shall be designated 1981 MICHIGAN TRANSPORTATION FUND BONDS and shall consist of sixty (60) bonds of the denomination of $5,000 each, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity for 1 to 60, inclusive, dated as of December 1, 1981, and payable serially on August 1 of each year in the years and amounts as follows:

Amount	Years
$ 5,000	1984 to 1895, inclusive;
10,000	1986 to 1989, inclusive;
15,000	1990 to 1992, inclusive;
50,000	1993 to 1995, inclusive;
55,000	1996.

The Bonds shall bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding thirteen percent (13%) per annum, payable on February 1, 1982, and semiannually thereafter on August 1st and February 1st of each year. Both principal and interest shall be payable at a bank or trust company qualified to act as paying agent to be designated by the original purchaser of the Bonds.

Redemption of Bonds prior to maturity shall be in the manner and at times and prices as hereinafter set forth in the form of Bonds."

2. Paragraph 8 of the Authorizing Resolution be, and hereby is, amended to read as follows:

"8. The bonds and the attached coupons shall be in substantially the form as previously approved by the Authorizing Resolution except insofar as the form of Bonds refers to the prior maturity schedule and the date of the Bonds."

3. All resolutions and parts of resolutions insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this resolution be and the same hereby are rescinded.

AYES: Commissioners K. Gansler, R. Kenyon, R. Loiselle, E. Martin, D. Pugh, M. Wehmeyer, Mayor M. Childs.

NAYS: Commissioners None.

RESOLUTION DECLARED ADOPTED.

GORDON G. LIMBURG, City Clerk

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and complete copy of a resolution adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, County of Wayne, State of Michigan, at a Regular Meeting held on October 5, 1981, and that said meeting was conducted and public notice of said meeting was given pursuant to and in full compliance with the Open Meetings Act, being Act 267, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, and that the minutes of said meeting were kept and will be or have been made available as required by said Act.

GORDON G. LIMBURG,
City Clerk

Scenes along the way

Three small glimpses into the world of travel as I fly to the Caribbean and back:

SCENE 1: When I left Metropolitan Airport 10 days ago, the fence beside the north terminal was a clutter of T-shirts and lawn chairs. Young people were lined up for hours and sometimes days in advance for the 49-cent tickets issued on the first New York Air flight to New York City.

Of course it was a promotion price, but the regular fare of $49 or $69 isn't bad either, folks. New York Air began the cut-rate-price war, and American and Republic airlines immediately followed suit.

Nobody knows how long it will last, but it's nice in the meantime.

SCENE 2: I am aboard Eastern flight No. 953 to Miami. The regular passengers are boarded, and now the stand-by passengers come aboard, including Eastern flight personnel who are on personal flights.

An off-duty flight attendant sits opposite me, and we chatter about the air-controller problem.

There is not much sympathy inside the industry for air-controller demands. "They want too much, and the strike is illegal" she says.

"There were too many air controllers, and part of their fatigue was boredom, because they stared at those electronic screens all day. Try playing an Atari game for hours at a time, and you'll see what I mean."

Insiders in the airline industry agree that air traffic will jam up when winter arrives and more demands are made of air-traffic controllers because of bad weather.

Meantime, "Don't worry, the supervisors are more experienced than the people they replaced."

SCENE 3: It is 8:15 p.m., we are home from our trip, all the luggage has been cleared from the carousel, but ours has not arrived. Is it possible that we have become one of the 1 percent of travelers who lose luggage, after being lucky for 25 years?

No. We were just careless. We changed the flight from the one listed on our ticket to an earlier time, but we didn't check that out with the desk clerk when we handed him our bags. He wrote the old flight number on the baggage tickets, so our two suitcases arrived at 10 p.m. — exactly the time we originally were scheduled to arrive.

The man in the airport office sighed, as if this was a familiar routine, and filled out a form. Name, address, color and style of luggage, three identifying items in each suitcase, in case the tags were lost.

That's how most bags are misplaced. People send them into the airline system without a single piece of identification, believe it or not. The ticket collector is supposed to catch that, but sometimes they don't.

Our bags were delivered to the door of our house the next day.

Montreal's downtown skyline, set against the profile of Mount Royal, includes Habitat 67, the "building block" housing complex in the foreground.

Montreal

What you see is not all you get in this city of French

By Bettie Cannon
special writer

MONTREAL — Explorer Jacques Cartier was the first European to see the view from this mountain in 1535. He named the mountain "Mont Royal;" and the view developed into the city of Montreal.

Mont Royal still gives you the best view of the second-largest French-speaking city in the world. Now a public park, there are breathtaking lookout spots on all sides.

Look down. Below you is the city of three million, alive and Gallicly well on the 32-mile-long island. Spilling out onto nearby islands are the St. Lawrence locks and mechanized seaport facilities 1,000 miles up river from the Atlantic. Church spires and office buildings scrape the sky. Displays from Expo '67, including Habitat, dominate the view.

What you see is not all you get. Down below, Montreal is also a series of six underground shopping and dining complexes, a 21st-century vision. First imagined by Leonardo Da Vinci, the below-ground centers are connected by a rubber-tired wonder of a subway system they call the Metro.

Built for Expo '67, the Metro is quiet and clean. Its stations are full of art works, not litter and words on walls. Murals, stained-glass windows, enamel-and-steel frescoes brighten Metro stops like the McGill station, where a stained-glass window portrays bits of 19th-century life in Montreal.

GET A FREE Metro map from your hotel. Plot your way from station to station in a movable art show. Get off one train and board the next without extra charge.

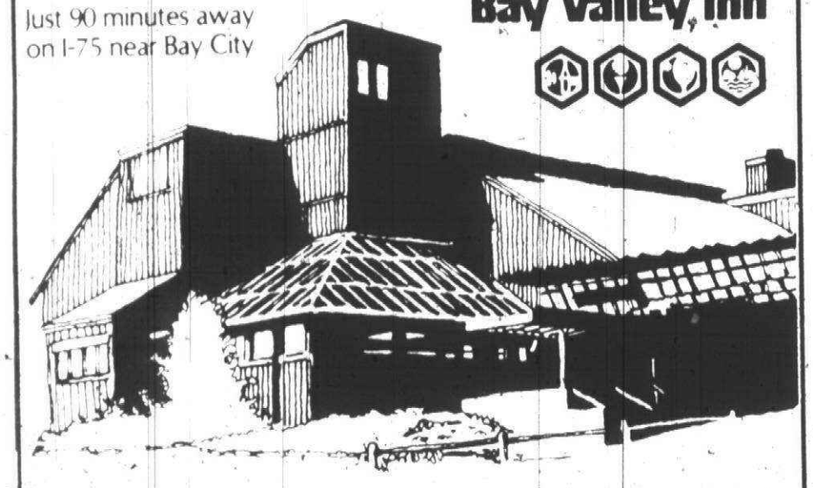

Metro takes you to the first of Montreal's underground complexes, Place Ville Marie, with its fur and china shops, movies and restaurants; to the concerts and theatres at Place-des-Arts, to art galleries at Place-des-Jardins.

If you stay at the huge Queen Elizabeth Hotel, one of the eight hotels connected to the under-

Detroit and Montreal

A tale of 2 cities

By Bettie Cannon
special writer

Part of the pleasure in a trip to Montreal is rediscovering the interface between Montreal and Detroit.

Remember your history? Both cities were founded by the French. Their common language was French. Until the British arrived, Detroit and all of Michigan was part of Quebec.

Both cities are inland seaports. Montreal's Ottawa River was the first path for exploration into the Old Northwest. The St. Lawrence shaped life in Quebec, and the Seaway shapes it now in Detroit.

Detroit's river, le Detroit, was a road for trappers and voyageurs who sought and sold furs, for priests who sought souls to save, and for explorers who searched for the water route to Asia.

THERE ARE other connections: You see them when you come to Montreal:

- Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac set out in June 1701 from Montreal to build a fort on the Detroit River. His party, which included his 9-year-old son and 100 Indians in 25 canoes, wary of warlike Iroquois, paddled the long way — up the Ottawa River and across Georgian Bay. The new Fort Ponchartrain was named for the minister to all New France colonies. Hotels, restaurants and streets in Detroit and Montreal carry these names today.
- Pierre Radisson, whose name used to be on a Detroit hotel, was probably the first writer to rave about the Upper Peninsula. He founded Hudson's Bay Company when fur trapping was the General Motors of the world, taking pelts of beaver from Michigan to Montreal.
- Dollier and Galines, two Sulpician priests from Montreal, were the first to draw maps of the Detroit River, Lake St. Claire, and the St. Claire River.
- De la Salle, builder of the Griffon, first ship on the upper Great Lakes, came from Montreal. With the help of Count Frontenac, la Salle's aim was to spread a network of forts all the way to New Orleans. A member of his party called Detroit "this fertile and pleasant strait." LaSalle is remembered now because a boulevard and an antique car bear his name.
- Counts Frontenac and Ponchartrain, whose names grace streets and building in both cities, are best known as leaders of New France. Frontenac was serving his second term as Governor of New France when fighting between England and France broke out.

Skiing locations in Montreal range from the Laurentian Mountains to cross country trails right in the city.

Montreal: a cityful of things to see ground centers, you can move from hotel to shops, to office or restaurants without heavy coats, boots or mufflers. In Montreal in winter, that is something.

You also can ride the Metro to Old Montreal (Ville Marie) a cobblestoned section of craft shops, museums, quaint French dining rooms and restored historic buildings.

Begin your visit at Place d'Armes Square, first center of business and social life in the old city. You'll see the statue of the founder of the settlement, which was established almost 100 years after Cartier first climbed Mont Royal. The founders of Montreal were missionaries who thought they'd found the 12 lost tribes of Israel when they found American Indians.

Two examples of early religious life are still standing: the Sulpician Seminary, oldest building in the city (1685), which still serves the order today; and the twin-towered Notre Dame church. Don't make the mistake of calling it a cathedral, although its handsome wood carvings make it equal to Europe's finest. It is a parish church serving 150 parishoners.

The Metro is quiet and clean. Its stations are full of art works, not litter and words on walls.

ON NOTRE DAME Street, across from City Hall, is Chateau Ramezay (1705), headquarters for the American Army during a brief stay in 1775. Benjamin Franklin slept here.

Docents will show you the round cage hanging near the fireplace. Settlers put small dogs inside the cage. As Fido ran round and round the little treadmill, he turned the venison roasting on the spit.

At the corner of Bon Secours and St. Paul is the oldest church in town (1657). Upstairs you'll find a small museum and a fine view of the harbor. On the altar are votive lights set with tiny sails left there by prayerful sailors.

Shopping in old Montreal includes craft shops which crowd narrow, winding streets in the historic district. At "Les Arts de Amerindens,' baskets, porcupine-quill boxes and deerskin clothes are exquisite and expensive. Local modern crafts and copies of the "in" French-Canadian pine furniture are available at "Les Artisans du Meuble."

Montreal means weatherproofed shopping and entertainment. In winter it means skiing and cultural events held at the Museum of Fine Arts or presented by Montreal's Symphony Orchestra.

Getting around

Getting there: Republic Airlines has the only nonstop flights from Metro-Detroit to Montreal. If you drive to Windsor, Air Canada has convenient flights also.

Money exchange: Exchange American money at a Montreal bank for the best rate. Rates change every day or so, but presently it is $1.22 Canadian for $1 U.S.

Language: Will it make a difference? Maybe. Most people you meet speak English and do so willingly. Even so, Montrealers will be delighted if you try your high-school French on them.

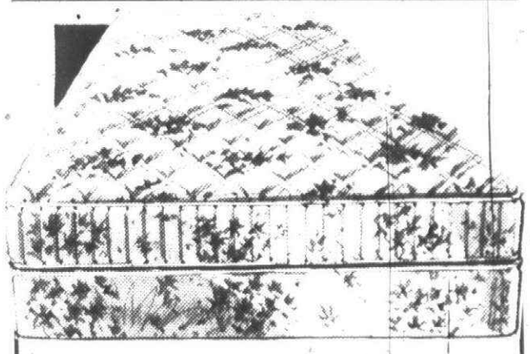

Walking tour of old Montreal: Booklet available free from Montreal Tourist Bureau at 155 Notre Dame Street, East.

Customs: Each U.S. traveler may bring $300 U.S. worth of Canadian goods back home every 30 days after 48 hours out of the country.

Winter fun: 18 Montreal hotels including the Ritz Carleton and the Queen Elizabeth have put together two-night/three-day packages with features such as city sightseeing and tickets to cultural or sports events. The minivacations range in price from $58 Canadian to $109 Canadian. Ski packages into the nearby Laurentian Mountains also are available. Tickets for cultural events in the city should be ordered ahead. Contact Ticketron in Montreal.

The Metro is quiet and clean. Its stations are full of art works.

COME GROW WITH US!

Century 21 GOLD HOUSE

Dear Salespeople:

Contrary to most reports, the real estate business is alive and thriving. We at Gold House Realtors choose to grow. There has always been a real estate market, there will always be a real estate market and we expect to be a part of it.

You owe it to yourself and your family to call us and find out how you, too, can grow with Gold House. It just might be the most important phone call you ever make. I would like to hear from you personally. Call me direct, Jim Courtney at 459-6000. The worst thing that could happen is that you will get to know the comptition. The best thing that could happen -- call and we'll talk about it.

Good dialing,
Jim Courtney
