Board dreams of big park plan, settles for fields

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

The dream is a place where Canton residents can go to play sports, swim, skate and have picnics.

The reality — for now — will be softball diamonds and soccer fields.

Township trustees last week approved a master plan for a multi-use community center behind Township Hall. The complex will include an outdoor pool, gymnasium, ice arena and banquet hall.

The plan will be ready if federal aid becomes available for construction.

Meanwhile, the trustees also gave approval to develop several softball and soccer fields behind Township Hall. Federal revenue-sharing money of $162,000 have been set aside for the fields.

"It's very critical that we start with the money that has been allocated," said Recreation Superintendent Mike Gouin. "There may be a chance to fund (the larger project) if the economy turns around."

At Tuesday night's meeting, the township board unanimously named the park Canton Recreation Complex. The softball diamonds were named for Lou Stein, long-time supervisor in the '50s and '60s who died in December. The soccer fields were for Philip Dingledey, who followed Stein as township supervisor.

THE TOWNSHIP owns 50 acres behind the administration building on Canton Center Road near Proctor. The land is zoned for agricultural use.

The initial development of fields will comprise 20-30 acres and could include a play area for small children, said Gouin.

Bids for the field work will go out by the end of March, said Gouin. The work is slated to be finished by summer 1983.

The fields are a top priority now because of high demand for team sports, Gouin said.

The Canton Soccer Club has pledged fund-raisers to help support the park, and businesses have offered to provide services and materials at cost, he said.

PLANS FOR a community center are much less certain.

A hard day's work

Lou Taylor of the Centennial Education Park grounds crew worked from 8 p.m. Sunday straight through to 3 p.m. Monday to remove snow from school grounds. While the work was appreciated, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools decided not to hold classes on Monday.

Officials admit closed meeting was a 'mistake'

By Dennis O'Connor
editor

Canton officials admitted Tuesday night to a "simple mistake" and an "oversight" when they decided to hold a closed meeting on Dec. 1.

According to the Open Meetings Act, the Township Board needed a two-third majority vote to go into closed session to discuss an arcade issue.

The board voted, 4-3, in favor of the closed session. This is not a two-thirds majority, but they held the closed session anyway.

Trustee Robert Padget said the board made "a simple mistake on the majority vote" when it moved into closed session.

"We may have made a mistake, but newspapers make mistakes as well," Padget said. "This body, as long as I've sat on it, has never voted on an action in closed session."

Padget has been a trustee since November 1980.

Supervisor James Poole called the mistaken action an "oversight.

"We just didn't even think about it," Poole said.

DISCUSSION ABOUT open and closed meetings came before the board unanimously voted to hold a closed session to discuss local strategy on the Woodland Meadows landfill expansion.

Michigan Waste Systems, operators of the landfill, filed suit against Canton after the township denied the operators' request to expand their landfill in December.

Snow piles in subdivisions

Residents irked by clogged roads

Upset about snow-clogged roads?

Help may be on the way — provided a new crop of the white stuff doesn't arrive first.

Joe Teramino of the township's Department of Public Works said his office has been "swamped" with complaints about the poor condition of roads. But he points out the Wayne County Road Commission has jurisdiction over Canton roads.

"We have had 150 complaints so far," said Teramino. "Primary roads are being cleared (by the county).

"The county won't be into any subdivisions prior to Thursday or Friday — if we don't get any more snow," added Teramino. "But if it snows, they told me to forget it. People are irate and upset."

Several angry residents have phoned the Observer to complain about roads. One caller said she would rather see money go toward clearing roads than building baseball diamonds and soccer fields.

She said she would be willing to see her taxes raised for roads maintenance.

Teramino noted there will be a meeting in Township Hall at 7 p.m. today (Thursday) to discuss, among other topics, roads. The meeting will take place unless bad weather forces a cancellation.

THE STORM also brought out resourcefulness and sharing.

One caller said she would rather see money go toward clearing roads than building baseball diamonds and soccer fields.

For example, Canton police resorted to snowmobiles and four-wheel-drive vehicles during and after the pileup of snow.

One snowbound motorist was whisked to his home in northern Canton by an officer riding a snowmobile, said Police Lt. Dennis Joker.

"We had an officer patrolling the back roads checking for stranded motorists," explained Joker. "There were a lot of abandoned cars in the roadway."

The township offices were closed Monday. Only a few employees were able to make it to the administration building.

"There was a red alert in the county," said Clerk John Flodin. "People were told to stay off the roads.

Mrs. Blanche McKim, 95, is the oldest living member of the Cherry Hill United Methodist Church in Canton. She's looking forward to special activities highlighting the church's centennial.

Canton church rates high with 95-year-old woman

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Blanche McKim is almost the same age as the church that stands on Ridge Road south of Cherry Hill in Canton.

The Cherry Hill United Methodist Church — which dates from the 1830s — is celebrating 100 years in its current building.

Mrs. McKim, who will be 95 tomorrow, is the church's oldest living member.

"She goes to church every Sunday," said Mrs. McKim's son, Mearl. "That's her main thing — the church."

BOTH THE church and Mrs. McKim are the spirit of the farm community that endures along Cherry Hill Road.

Mrs. McKim hails from Vicksburg, a farming area near Kalamazoo. Before she married, she was a teacher.

As a young wife, she and husband George settled on a farm on Cherry Hill in Ypsilanti.

The farm, in the McKim family since 1835, now bears a historical marker. The 35-acre spread is still home to Mrs. McKim.

"They (his parents) moved to other places at different times," said Mearl McKim. "But they always came back."

THE MCKIMS raised three sons and a daughter.

"Father farmed the land," said Mearl, 66, a retired toolmaker. "He passed away in 1950."

The family began attending the Cherry Hill United Methodist Church in 1929. Earlier, they had attended a church on Gotfredson, but that closed.

During World War II, according to a historical pamphlet of the church, women of the congregation learned first aid and home nursing. Mrs. McKim was part of that group.

CURRENTLY, Mrs. McKim belongs to a women's church group and attends a Wednesday night church supper function.

Mrs. McKim's oldest son died in 1976. There are 11 grandchildren, several great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild, said Mearl.

Several family members also attend the Cherry Hill United Methodist Church, he added.

Mrs. McKim plans to be involved in the church's anniversary celebrations this year.

County OKs Canton's bid to change sign guidelines

The Wayne County Planning Commission Wednesday gave its go-ahead for proposed sweeping changes in Canton's sign ordinance.

The Township Board plans to discuss the planned revamping at its Feb. 9 meeting and could make a decision Feb. 23.

Changes in the ordinance require the permission of the township and county planning commissions, as well as the Township Board.

Canton's planning commission last month gave its approval to the proposed changes, which include allowing free-standing signs, enlarging existing sign sizes and permitting tower signs and billboards along the I-275 freeway.

THE LOCAL planning commission has been researching changes in the sign ordinance for several months.

Many Canton merchants complain that current guidelines, adopted in 1975, discourage firms from coming to the township and hamper businesses from attracting customers.

Members of the chamber of commerce crowded into a public hearing before the Canton Planning Commission in December, urging enactment of less restrictive sign guidelines.

Board approves park plan

In April 1981, the township hired the architectural firm of Kenneth Neumann & Associates to prepare a master plan for a multi-use community center. At the time, the township had envisioned a facility of 30,000 square feet at a cost of $2 million.

After more in-depth evaluation with the recreation advisory committee and citizens, plans were expanded to include an outdoor pool and ice arena.

One consideration on the expansion was the availability of sports facilities at the local high schools, said Gouin. No price tag has been attached to the expanded plan.

CUTBACKS in federal grants and the poor economy will rule out development of a full-blown recreational complex right now, said Gouin. But the master plan will be ready if funding develops.

"You have to have a dream," said Trustee Robert Padget. "I really mean it. Nobody knows how we'll get there."

"You know the old saying," said Supervisor James Poole. "Everything is possible to he that dreameth."

Trustee Steve Larson said he was disappointed that the plan didn't include an indoor pool, which would "appeal to more people." He voted against the master plan for the community center.

TRUSTEE Carol Bodenmiller voted against the master plan and against the soccer fields and diamonds.

The park would be an improper use for an agricultural zoning, Mrs. Bodenmiller said.

"No matter how beautiful, no matter if we have a master plan, you're going to end up with piecemeal zoning if we don't abide by our own rules," said Mrs. Bodenmiller.

Planner James Kosteva said municipalities are exempt from specific zoning regulations, noting that the fire and police stations are in residential areas.

The important factor, said Kosteva, is to abide by guidelines on setbacks and codes.

Tower clarifies firewood spill

John & Dudes Towing, on Sheldon in Canton, was the towing service which Canton police called last Wednesday afternoon to help a disabled truck full of firewood off the middle of Canton Center Road.

The owner of the truck, Mike De Jarlais of Curran (southwest of Alpena) said the tow trucks caused the firewood to fall off his truck onto the road during the service, as pictured in Monday's Canton Observer.

John Barnette, of John & Dudes Towing, has his version of the story. Barnette says De Jarlais caused the firewood spill. Barnette says his towers moved the truck from the middle of the road , but De Jarlais — in the truck during the towing — turned the wheel into the snowbank along the shoulder, causing the firewood to spill out.

"He (De Jarlais) just didn't know how to drive," Barnette said.

De Jarlais also said the towers sped away with the $30 fee after the accident on the snowbank.

Barnette says the normal charge was $75, but he charged DeJarlais only $30.

"We pulled him ((De Jarlias) off the road for free," Barnette said. "I was doing the guy a favor. They (the Canton police) were going to impound the truck (if it stayed in the middle of the road)."

Diabetes fund-raiser rescheduled Sunday

A fund-raiser to benefit the American Diabetes Association Michigan Affiliate, Inc., has been rescheduled for this Sunday.

A skate-a-thon will be from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Skatin' Station on Ronda Drive off Joy Road in Canton.

"We didn't get the response last Sunday because of the weather," explained Annette Lippmann, director of public relations for the diabetes association.

History is a vibrant force at the Cherry Hill United Methodist Church in Canton.

Members speak lovingly of the snug, brick church that was constructed in 1882 on Ridge Road, south of Cherry Hill, in a bustling farm community.

The total cost of that structure was $2,500 — including solid mahogany pews, and stained glass windows donated by members.

The original windows and pews are still in place, and a committee has been redecorating and refurbishing the sanctuary in preparation for the church's centennial celebration this Sunday.

"Everyone has worked to accomplish it," said Madelyn C. Bastian of Ypsilanti, a church member. "But the real credit belongs to Jeanne Hosking who was chairman of the decorating committee, and to her group."

MANY SPECIAL events such as sleigh rides, old-fashioned socials and square dances, will be offered during 1982 to commemorate the centennial.

The church has been designated a historic site by the state and by the Canton Historical Commission.

Mrs. Bastian and other members of the church have studied and compiled data about the church and the surrounding community.

It culminated in a book called "Time In Its Flight," written in 1980 by Mrs. Bastian.

The book notes that the present church building was constructed when the congregation was 50 years old.

In the 1830s, the community was known as Cherry Hill. Records indicate farmers held church services in their homes — sometimes led by the people.

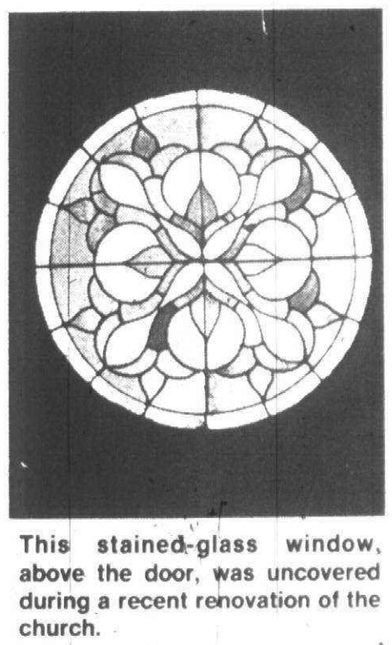

In 1834, the Rev. Marcus Swift, visited the community on a regular circuit. In 1835, residents raised $600 and built a frame church, named the Crandell Church in honor of the first Sunday School teacher.

For many years, Cherry Hill was a circuit church with Sheldon and Denton churches.

DURING WORLD WAR II, nearby defense plants brought newcomers to the community. School attendance rose, and improvements were made to the building.

The suburban spread encroached on the largely agricultural area, and further expansion was planned. In 1976, a parsonage was built, enabling the church to acquire a full-time minister.

During the centennial "we will be celebrating the past, but we are planning the future," said Mrs. Bastian.

This stained-glass window, above the door, was uncovered during a recent renovation of the church.

A centennial celebration

Madelyn Bastian and the Rev. Bert Hosking are holding communion vessels which date back to 1878. Mrs. Bastian wrote a history of the church and the old Cherry Hill community.

Police arrest woman, seek men on theft rap

A Canton woman has been charged with breaking into a neighbor's home Jan. 26.

Monica Dodes, 17, of Hanford Road, Canton, was arraigned Jan. 29 before 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis on a breaking-and-entering charge.

The court entered an innocent plea in her behalf. She was released on $5,000 personal bond. A preliminary examination in district court is set for Monday.

Canton police have warrants for the arrest of Glen Barnstable, 21, of Dale Drive, Westland, and Thomas Nader, 17, of Vicary, Farmington, in connection with the case.

ACCORDING TO Canton Police Lt. Dennis Joker, a Beck Road resident reported a break-in between 9 and 10 a.m. Jan. 26.

The report indicated a door had been forced open and a box of jewelry valued at $500 stolen.

Joker said another Beck Road resident had noticed a car in the driveway of the house that had been broken into. The neighbor — who knew the occupants were away — wrote down the license plate number, which was traced to one of the men being sought.

Police bust makes pyramid crumble

By Craig Piechura
staff writer

The man listening most intently to an investment sales pitch delivered at a home in Farmington last month was a plainclothes sergeant from the criminal investigations section of the Michigan State Police.

On Jan. 12, William Henry Wilson, 49, owner of the home at 22869 Power, told neighbors, relatives, friends and strangers such as Sgt. James Smiley that he had a legal way for them to make 800 percent profit on an initial investment of $100, according to state police accounts of the meeting.

The investment plan was neither legal nor feasible, says Sgt. Smiley, who returned to the home six days later to arrest Wilson on charges of engaging in a pyramid scheme or chain letter promotion — a crime punishable in Michigan by a maximum seven years in jail and possible $10,000 fine.

Wilson was arraigned on the charge Jan. 19 before 47th District Judge Michael Hand and released on $5,000 personal bond. A preliminary examination will be scheduled.

Attorney James Ebel of Farmington declined to comment on the case aside from noting that his client, Wilson, maintains his innocence.

State police officials say they have evidence of pyramid schemes operating in Farmington, Northville, Canton Township and Inkster. So far, however, only Wilson has been arrested.

"Technically, it's a form of illegal gambling," Smiley said. "And all those people (at the party) could've been charged with frequenting a place of gambling. It wasn't our intent to give all these people criminal records. Our intention was to get the game stopped."

WILSON WAS arrested, Smiley said, because he was hosting the "sales meeting," because his name was on the pyramid-shaped chart and because he was helping "perpetuate" the scheme by recruiting others to join.

State police investigators say the chart is called a pyramid because 16 people are listed on the bottom of the chart, eight names are above that, four in the next two above that and one name at the top. According to the rules of the game, the person on top of the pyramid — or the last link in the chain — receives $800.

State police say the it is unknown whether people were moved to the top of the pyramid for payoff. But, Smiley adds, even if the game went according to plan, more and more people would have to be recruited to keep the scheme going.

Snowstorm makes life miserable

"It was a question of safety, and there wasn't much activity here," he added.

THE GOOD-NEIGHBOR policy was in effect, as residents took turns digging each other out with shovels and snowblowers.

For example, Sandy Sullivan and Pat Crawford of Willow Creek nominated their neighbor Gunther Esser for special thanks.

Esser, who lives on a corner house on Willow Creek near Warren, "can't stand to see anybody stuck," said Mrs. Sullivan.

"He's a good Samaritan," she added. "Our street is awful. Whenever I have any trouble in the winter, he is there. Of course, everybody has been helping."

Debbie Esser said her father was helping out during the "whole snowstorm," despite the fact that he is recuperating from a cold.

More than 700 followers and devoted fans of science fiction held their annual convention this past weekend at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Entitled "Confusion," the 11th-annual convention played host to more than two dozen science-fiction authors, including Joe Haldeman, Phyllis Eisenstein and Bob Asprin.

The agenda included a science-fiction-art auction, a computer room specializing in the latest computer video games, filksinging (not to be confused with folk singing), films, an Ask the Pros workshop featuring interviews with professional science fiction writers attending the conference, and a masquerade ball.

The convention is sponsored annually by the Ann Arbor Science Fiction Association in cooperation with the University of Michigan Stilyagi Air Corps — a SF club.

At the masquerade ball each fan attends transformed into some science-fiction character, and the remainder of the evening is spent acting out the fictitious characters which fill the pages of SF paperbacks, movies, and TV programs.

With a guest list including the Red Mask of Death, Darth Vader, Dr. Who, Lord Kerok, Star Bear, and the Grey Mouser to name a few, the ball didn't resemble anything from planet earth.

Ms. Eisenstein, of Chicago, brought her own delegation of fans all wearing "I'm a Phyllis Eisenstein Groupie" T-shirts. Also gathering attention was Haldeman, who specializes in military science fiction and is himself a Vietnam War veteran. Asprin, of Ann Arbor, also specializes in military SF.

The art auction featured such artists as Carl Lundgren.

Dan Kozinski of Toronto dressed up as Darth Vader for the masquerade ball.

Doreen Long of Toronto portrays Edgar Allen Poe's "Mask of the Red Death."

U-M-Wayne labor institute reorganized

The Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations (ILIR), a joint venture of The University of Michigan and Wayne State University since 1957, will be reorganized.

Both the U-M and Wayne State went to end the Institute's formal linkage between the two universities. The U-M program of the Institute will be reorganized independently of the Wayne State program.

The proposal was approved by the U-M Regents at their Jan. 14-15 meeting.

The Institute as a joint venture was established in 1957, U-M Vice-President B.E. Frye explained, "to integrate the resources and facilities of the two institutions so as to make the maximum contribution to the State of Michigan and to better serve the educational and research needs of workers and management."

However, he noted, a U-M review committee recommended that the formal linkage between the two institutions be terminated. "The review committee noted that the program on the two campuses had operated quite independently for most of the time since the Institute's inception. They also observed that plans were already developed to sever the financial relationship which was cited as the last vestige of program jointness.

U.S. energy pact goes to KMS

KMS Fusion, Inc., an Ann Arbor energy research firm, has been awarded a five-year, $65 million contract for inertial fusion research by the U.S. Department of Energy.

Patrick B. Long, chairman, president officer of KMS Industries, Inc., the parent company, said the new contract replaces a similar research contract which expired Dec. 31. The amount available during each of the five years is subject to annual congressional appropriation.

Besides funding research, the contract provides for acquisition of approximately $5 million of state-of-the-art diagnostic instrumentation and laboratory equipment.

Long said the research would be performed at the company's Ann Arbor laboratories. KMS Fusion will: fabricate inertial fusion targets and evaluate techniques for their mass production; maintain and improve the world's most powerful visible light laser; and conduct experiments aimed at improving the understanding of the physical processes of inertial fusion.

KMS Industries, Inc. and its subsidiaries are advanced high-technology enterprises in the field of energy research.

JACKIE GLEASON WANTS YOU!

Jackie Gleason is searching nationally for his look-alike, aged 9-12, who will be tested to play his son in "THE TOY," a motion picture in which Jackie stars with Richard Pryor.

All youngsters who feel they qualify are invited to go to the nearest TOYS "R" US® store in this area, Saturday, Feb. 6 between 10 a.m. and 12 noon, and have their picture taken, free, of course, and fill out an audition form. These will be sent to Columbia Pictures where the selection will be made of the youngster who is the closest look-alike to a 9-12 year old Jackie Gleason.

The winner of the national search and a parent will be flown to Hollywood where the youngster will audition for the role of Jackie's son in "THE TOY," a Rastar Film for Columbia release. The film goes into production this spring starring Pryor and Gleason under the direction of Richard Donner, who directed "SUPERMAN."

A special prize will be awarded to the winning look-alike in each city in which this search is held.

All youngsters taking part in this look-alike search will be presented with a special certificate stating that he auditioned for "THE TOY."

Here's your chance to prioritize school cuts

IT'S NO SECRET THAT Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are in deep financial trouble.

There are many reasons for the school district's money problems. Reductions in state and federal aid are major reasons all school districts in Michigan face a financial burden.

For the first time in many years, Plymouth-Canton experienced a decline in enrollment for 1981-82, further reducing state aid. For example, 16,878 students attend Plymouth-Canton schools in 1981-82, compared to 17,235 in 1980-81 — a decline of 357 students.

There also has been a noticeable shift in students from Plymouth-Canton to neighboring private and parochial schools. Many persons feel it's because of a lack of discipline in Plymouth-Canton schools.

These reasons — combined with ever-increasing costs — have caused huge financial problems in the district.

IT'S TIME TO bite the bullet. There's no question about it.

School administrators estimate a $2 million budget deficit for the 1982-83 school year. And this figure doesn't include any projected increases from labor negotiations. All labor contracts for school union employees expire this fall.

If one includes salary increases for all school employees, the deficit could reach as high as $4 million.

Preparations for the 1982-83 school budget now are under way. The schools have scheduled workshops on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 12 and 13, to discuss this year's budget — and proposed cuts.

THIS IS A FAMILIAR process for the board. It cut more than $2 million from the budget last year.

The new cuts will be more severe, unless voters approve a property tax rate increase — which isn't likely.

Where will the board make its cuts? During the past year, board members listened to many special interest groups — each bent on keeping its individual program.

But what about the district as a whole? Where do you feel cuts should be made?

It's time for you to give direction to the school board through a survey prepared by the Observer, using data supplied by the school district.

WE AREN'T GOING to fool you. The reduction — or elimination — of many items proposed in this survey are drastic. The board may decide to cut only part of each program or service. This survey gives you the approximate dollar amounts which the school district would save if some items were totally eliminated.

This is your opportunity to help the board prioritize budget cuts. It also is your opportunity to offer suggestions and voice your feelings on two separate questions: Should school employees go without raises for the next school year? And would you vote for a millage increase?

This survey lets you see what the board faces in the budget process. The 13 items total more than $4.5 million in proposed savings, if these cuts are made.

TO GIVE YOU some direction, suppose after negotiated raises — if any — the board faces a $2.5 million deficit. We want you to rank items, in order of priority, to achieve the $2.5 million cut. (1 is the first cut, 2 is the second, etc.)

Please keep in mind other factors before making your decisions. For example, the current high-school day includes six, 55-minute periods. The middle school day is seven, 42-minute periods. This survey proposes to reduce the length of both days by one period.

Also, the student/classroom staff ratio is different at all levels. Kindergarten's ratio is 26/1; grades 1-6 is 29/1; grades 7-9 is 30/1; and grades 10-12 is 31/1. This survey proposes an increase in class size by two students at all levels.

The survey also proposes taking four of the six elementary schools off the Extended School Year (ESY) program. And it also eliminates safety busing, after-school activities (including athletics) and the Talented and Gifted (TAG) program.

Finally, by state law public schools must provide a school lunch program. This survey proposes to eliminate this, subject to change in the law.

TELL US WHAT you think. Send your survey coupon to The Observer, 461 S. Main, Plymouth 48170.

This is your chance to voice an opinion — and give your school board some direction during these difficult financial times.

Aid delay causes colleges to play banker to state

Tim Richard

Gov. William Milliken's proposed delay of state aid to colleges is almost tougher to deal with than a cut. Colleges are being forced, in effect, to become creditors to the state without assurance the state can pay them back.

"Our cash flow problem will be serious," Dr. Richard McDowell, president of Schoolcraft College, said last week.

And Kenneth Lindner, vice president for business, added Schoolcraft's aid cut "is about 10 percent of our budget, which is around $14 million."

BEFORE DOING too much moaning, however, let's get the facts in order:

The state owes the local community college $1.3 million for the months of July, August and September. That is the final quarter of the state's fiscal year 1982.

Milliken, required by the constitution to cut spending when revenue falls short, proposes to withhold this amount until the new fiscal year starting in October. At that time, the state treasury would pay Schoolcraft its fourth quarter payment from fiscal '82 and its first quarter payment for fiscal '83.

The catch, of course, is whether the economy will improve enough to generate the revenue. Dr. Gerald Miller, state budget director, says it will. Our legislators love and admire Miller about as much as the Roman Senate loved and admired Julius Caesar.

SO HOW IS Schoolcraft supposed to operate from July through September?

First, operations are slower in summer. Those months are the first quarter of the college's '82-83 fiscal year, so it's not as if the current budget will be affected.

Second, the college will borrow. It already borrows $1 million in tax anticipation notes during summer, and now it will borrow $2 million. The prospect doesn't excite McDowell and Lindner, who would rather use dollars for education than for bank interest charges.

Third, the college is sitting on other costs. Now that Barbara Geil has been promoted from registrar to vice president for student affairs, John Tomey, director of financial aids, will pick up the job of registrar, too. Adelard Raby, the new controller, is picking up some of the duties of the departed manager of business services.

Fourth, enrollment is up, and with it tuition income. That happens at most community colleges in a recession. This winter it was a record 8,212, or 4 percent more than the previous winter record, and credit hours are up 2 percent. That will help cash flow a bit.

Fifth, the college has worked to make its food service operation self-supporting. One more budget drain has been plugged.

Milliken's budget cuts, though politically unpopular, are probably the least painful way he could have handled the situation.

THE REAL TRAGEDY, however, lies in another direction.

McDowell is going great guns seeking deals with local industry — technical training for workers, supervisory training for foremen. He was good at that in Pittsburgh. That's why Schoolcraft hired him.

He sees that as a crucial role for community colleges as Michigan desperately seeks to diversify its economy and attract new industry. Indeed, the community college, he'll tell you, has a bigger role in economic recovery than virtually any other institution.

And he asks, isn't cutting an asset like a community college counter-productive to the state's goal of recruiting and serving industry?

In the long run, the real harm of Michigan's revenue shortfall may not be to cause colleges to turn banker, but to hamper their role in economic development.

Isn't cutting an asset like a community college counter-productive to the state's goal of recruiting and serving industry?

Critics of Detroit shock 'old-school' sports writer

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

Many strange things have happened along the journalistic trail since The Stroller took his first steps along the river of printer's ink more than a half-century ago.

One of the strangest came during the recent Super Bowl week when several visiting sports writers admitted they were bored and took out their boredom on Detroit — even going to the extreme of calling it a "dump."

Reading some of these comments, The Stroller couldn't help wondering what would have happened to him had he done much the same when he was a constant traveler on the sports trail.

More than that, he couldn't help wondering what his editors would have said — or done — had he forgot his assignment and wrote about the environment the assignment had placed him in.

THE STROLLER belongs to what now is referred to as the "old school" of sports writers who took their assignments seriously. And he has been in some odd places. The environment made little difference.

Some of them came to mind the other evening when he came across his old friend, Frank Angelo, recently retired as assistant to the editor of the Free Press, and asked him:

"What do you think our mutual friend, the late Malcolm Bingay, would have done if I had ignored the practice runs at the Indianapolis 500 Mile race and wrote about the dilapidated stands and the dangerous section outside the track?"

"You would have been ordered home," Angelo answered, "and on your return, you would have been told that you were sent down to Indianapolis to cover the automobile race — not the social functions and conditions away from the track. And he would have made it very plain. But I guess editors of today are a more generous lot and not of the 'old school.'"

THIS GOT The Stroller to thinking of some of the places he has been assigned to in the course of covering the top sports events.

Aside from Indianapolis, where he became bored with all the discussion of fuel consumption and tire fabrics, he covered many of Joe Louis's fights in Harlem. That was not the most pleasant place to be at night.

Another place he recalls with some unpleasantness is the south side of Chicago. It was in that section, at Comiskey Park, where Louis knocked out Jimmy Braddock to win the world heavyweight championship.

On the night before the fight, when the sports writers were guests at the park, Wilfrid Smith of the Chicago Tribune had his car set on fire in the parking lot. And he had no recourse but to watch it burn. But he covered his fight assignment.

Some of the accommodations for the press during Gar Wood's heyday on the Detroit and St. Clair rivers were not of the best. But none of the writers took out their feelings by ridiculing the little town of Algonac or the area at the mouth of Lake St. Clair.

THERE WERE NO worse accommodations than the press box at Holy Cross College in Massachusetts. The box was high up on the top of the stadium wall. The only way to get there was to climb 97 rickety old wooden steps.

But none of us took our feelings out on the school. As the late Malcolm Bingay would say, "You were assigned to cover the football game, not to comment on conditions. They are just part of the hazards of your occupation."

Too bad the Bingays and other stern editors have passed along. Now sports writers admit getting bored on assignment and take out their feelings on the environment.

The Stroller couldn't help but wonder what his editors would have done had he forgot his assignment and wrote about the environment the assignment had placed him in.

Gas tax hike gets mixed reviews

M-DOT hears about roads and taxes

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Since big trucks are damaging Michigan's roads they should be taxed more and their sizes reduced, the Michigan Department of Transportation was told last week.

"Trucks pay five cents a gallon tax on diesel fuel (compared to 11 cents the gasoline-buying public pays) and do the damage," John DeLora of the Michigan Association of Railroad Passengers said.

"Michigan has the highest truck weights in the nation," added David H. Brickey, legislative agent for the United Transportation Union, which represents railroad workers.

"It's the 26,000-pound trucks, not the 3,000-pound cars, tearing up the highways," said Brickey. "Michigan must reduce the weights of trucks."

"FIRST," said Michael J. Wild, public relations director of the Automobile Club of Michigan, "heavy trucks cause significantly more highway damage than do automobiles.

"Many studies show that they do not currently pay their fair share of road taxes. Auto Club urges higher user taxes on trucks to reflect this difference in impact."

Wild contrasted the five-cents tax diesel truckers pay to the 11-cent tax gasoline buyers pay.

The Auto Club, he said, feels that trucks should pay at least the same tax rate on diesel fuel that motorists pay on gasoline.

THE HEARING, one of eight being held around the state, drew about two dozen persons to the State Fair Grounds last week.

While the state's role in transportation — airports, highways, intercity buses, public transit, nonmotorized trails, ports and harbors — is under the microscope, most attention was devoted to deteriorating roads.

"Revenues were down 7.5 percent in 1981," said Bob Adams, M-DOT staffer who conducted the meeting, "while maintenance costs were up 15 percent.

"Maintenance is eating up our revenue. The state's role will be reduced to basic maintenance by 1985. That means fewer trains and buses and less snow removal."

Adams outlined the alternatives as:

- Raise revenue, perhaps by taxing gasoline per dollar instead of per gallon, so that revenues rise as prices rise.
- Shift funds between modes (e.g., buses and trains), although state law says 90 percent of transportation taxes must go to roads.
- Less service.

THE IDEA of raising the gasoline tax rate to offset the revenue decline caused by more efficient cars got a mixed review from the public.

DeLora of the rail passengers group supported a percentage tax on gasoline.

But Wild of the Auto Club said, "The public's anti-tax mood is well known, and we are confident that if Michigan's motorists had a vote, they would not approve an increase in the taxes they pay to own and drive cars."

Some supported preservation of bus transportation and more money for maintenance of existing roads.

A Roseville woman complained that Macomb County's social services — ADC and welfare offices and services to the aged — were located miles beyond existing bus routes. She asked for better bus service.

DeLora, representing the rail passengers, said the number of persons using rail service in Michigan is rising faster than the national average.

"I'm disturbed by the strength of the highway organizations," said DeLora. "County road commissions have representatives on every advisory board — including rail, which they know nothing about."

State Rep. Jeff Padden, D-Wyandotte, put a priority on "preserving the existing highway system rather than expanding it." Padden said he would offer amendments to state laws to require that 90 percent of road money go into maintenance, reduce the state's share of gasoline and weight taxes, and beef up the share going to counties, cities and villages.

ADAMS REPLIED, "Highways have life cycles — about 20 years. The highways built in the 1950s and '60s are coming to the end of their life cycles."

In Michigan, he said, the problem is compounded by the moderate climate, which causes freeze-and-thaw cycles that crack up roads.

"By 1985, we will have money only for regular maintenance. That does not include resurfacing and reconstruction. We are on a treadmill: spending money patching potholes, so there's nothing left for reconstruction.

"We lose $20 million a year in negligence suits due to poor design of highways," Adams said.

College's European trip meet is tonight

Those who have always wanted to take a Rhine cruise, see Mad Ludwig's Linderhof and Neuschwannstein Castle or recapture the grandeur of imperial Vienna, should attend Schoolcraft College's European tour orientation meeting at 7 p.m. tonight, Feb. 4.

The orientation, in room 300 of the Liberal Arts Building, will provide details about a Schoolcraft-sponsored nine or 15 day tour through Germany, Switzerland and Austria in June. There is no charge or obligation for attending the orientation.

The seminar will review a three-part trip seminar planned for March. The seminar will cover sightseeing tips, historical sites and cultural highlights of the tour.

Newburgh attracts ice fishing derby

By Lem Mesee
staff writer

The fish are there in Newburgh Lake. The question is, can you catch 'em?

The big test will come this Saturday morning in the second annual ice fishing derby sponsored by Livonia Kiwanis. It's part of a nine-day Winterfest celebration in Livonia.

There are no age, sex or residence restrictions.

Derby Chairman John Nichols said, "Prizes will be awarded — first, second and third place — for the following species, judged by weight only: northern pike, bluegill, sunfish, perch and crappie.

A grand prize will be awarded to the person catching the heaviest stringer of fish within Michigan fishing regulation limits.

Newburgh, an impoundment of the Middle Rouge River west of Newburgh Road in Livonia, has been the scene of a lot of angling activity in recent years.

"I was out there last Saturday," said Nichols, "and it seems to me the sizes are running bigger."

His observation is the same as our own. And the nice thing about fishing Newburgh is that lots of anglers bring along their wives and kids.

The contest runs from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Take Hines Drive to the U-shaped Sumac Drive. Nichols' car, a red Mercury, will be marked as the registration point. You must register first to be eligible. Only fish caught in Newburgh Lake may be entered.

To make the day more comfortable:

- Bait will be available. Sportsmen's Village of Canton will sell minnows and a variety of grubs.
- There will be a stand for coffee, hot dogs and hot chocolate.

ICE FISHING has been slow on Oakland County lakes because of windy weather, the Department of Natural Resources reports.

Kent Lake has produced many crappies and a few small panfish. Kent has some open water, however, so be careful.

Union Lake's fishing is reported good.

Pike spearing on Big Seven Lake, in Seven Lakes State Park, has been good so far this winter. White Lake has produced good pike for those using tip-ups with suckers as bait.

In Wayne County, Belleville Lake has produced some 7-8-inch bluegills on mousies and waxworms, but only an occasional crappie is caught.

A "NATURE Cross County Ski Tour" starts in the parking lot of the Kensington Metropark nature center at 9:30 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 7.

Naturalist Mark Szabo will lead the 2½-hour tour, stopping to examine the activities and survival techniques of plants and animals.

The program is free, but register in advance by calling the nature center at 685-1561. Take the Kensington Road exit from I-96 and follow the signs.

IT BOTHERS me to see dogs left out in the cold in a vacant, windswept yard with no cover or house. And it bothers the Michigan Veterinary Medical Association, too, because here's what they say about it:

"First, get out the comb and brush, or call the groomer, and winterize your pet's coat. Those mats, tangles and dead hairs drastically reduce the insulating ability of the haircoat and, if not removed, will have a chilling effect."

They make an interesting point about dog houses: "Make sure it's small enough — that's right, small enough. Most of the doghouse's warmth stems from its ability to retain the dog's body heat. Cathedral ceilings won't get the job done.

"Locate the entrance away from prevailing winds, and provide a flap or windbreak for those days when Mother Nature doesn't read the Almanac.

"You'll probably have to increase your dog's daily feeding because part of his food is now being used simply to keep him warm. Don't think, because he only ate one small bowl of food in hot, humid August, that the same amount will suffice in February."

The dog's water may freeze, so you'll have to make several trips to the kennel each day to make sure it's available.

THE 1982 YOUNG People's concert was a victim of Sunday's blizzard.

Timpanist Paul Miller made it from Flint to the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School. Franz Harary and his "Odyssey of Illusion" magic troupe came from Ann Arbor. Members of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra braved the drifting snows.

But their leader was missing.

Conductor Johan van der Merwe was stranded on the highway, far from a telephone, in what could be referred to as the Romulus area. At 1 p.m. the decision was made to cancel the concerts and radio and television stations were called to announce the cancellation.

Happily, the auditorium will be available the afternoon of Sunday, Feb. 28. So the Young People's Concert has been rescheduled for the last Sunday of February instead of the last Sunday of January.

IT WAS FEB. 1, 1971 that the Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee and his wife, Dorothy, arrived in Plymouth. After spending 15 years on the east coast ministering in Presbyterian churches in New York and Baltimore, Phil Magee was the "new" minister at First United Presbyterian Church in Plymouth.

His 10th anniversary was marked by a surprise reception Sunday afternoon in the church's fellowship hall. There were refreshments and the presentation of a gift. Members and friends who planned the reception were concerned that the snowstorm would limit attendance. But there was a large crowd on hand, including many old friends who returned for the event.

"Phil has been a visible and driving force in our parish," said Thomas Cook, assistant minister. "He has shared in both our triumphs and our sorrows with calm and personal dedication. This reception is the best way I can think of to show him how much we appreciate his service."

The Magees were called to Plymouth following the retirement of Dr. Henry Walsh, who served the church for 28 years and who still serves as its minister emeritus.

"We've always liked Michigan," said Dorothy Magee. "Michigan and Maine. So when the opportunity arrived to move here, we jumped in with both feet." The Magees vacation in Maine — their adopted second state.

The Rev. Magee's tenure in Plymouth has been highlighted by many special events. Among them are the 25th anniversary in 1978 of his ordination into the ministry, the 140th anniversary in 1975 of the founding of First Presbyterian, making it the oldest church in Plymouth. His first book, a collection of his sermons, was published in 1976.

Dotty Magee has been an active member of the Plymouth Community Arts Council, serving as president and chairing committees.

ANN ARENDSEN interviewed Cloris Leachman Tuesday for her AM/PM show on Channel 11 cablevision. Leachman is at the Fisher Theater where she plays four roles in "Twigs." She is the mother and her three daughters in the comedy drama. They took the OMNICOM van to Detroit for the interview.

Ann doesn't know when the the program will be aired.

A NOTE FROM Annette Heindryckx (requesting an engagement form) said she is enjoying being back in her native Tennessee.

She wrote that she misses her Plymouth friends and daughters Ann and Marion who still are in Michigan. Annette, who had a wide circle of friends here, was a member of the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter of the DAR. She also served on the Plymouth Symphony Socity Board of Directors as family membership chair.

Al and Annette are living in Smyrna where Al is manager of construction for the new Datsun truck plant being built there by Nissun. They plan to return to Plymouth and their home on Ann Arbor Trail in 1983, when the plant is completed.

Although Annette referred to Tennessee as the "sunny south," she was snowbound as she wrote her letter.

YMCA to sponsor pilot networking system here

The networking series sponsored by the Plymouth Community Family Y could be a pilot program. It will be the first to be open to both men and women.

Networking is defined as a process of developing and using contacts for information, advice and moral support as individuals pursue their careers or business.

The first organizational meeting will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 9, at Hillside Inn. The goal of the networking group will be "To build a network system that works for you and is geared for what you want to get out of it," said Janet Luce who will be the chairwoman of the meeting.

The speakers will be Leslie Frederick, who will talk about networking; Lark Samoulian, who will tell how it has worked for her; Fred Deroche, who will discuss career management; and Les Marrus, who will explain the importance of networking.

Later, the meeting will break up into small groups for discussions. Each person will be asked to fill out a questionnaire.

Wine and light hors d'oeuvres will be served. Fee will be $3. Persons interested in attending should call the Y, 453-2904, for a reservation.

Mrs. Luce said networking works on the premise "It's not what you know, it's who you know."

A LUNCHEON meeting established an interest in a local networking series.

Among those who attended were Leslie Frederick, who helped found a network group; and Shirley Aune, who founded the New Sources Networking group in Birmingham. Aune is a psychotherapist.

Others who attended were Carl Berry, Sharon Pugh, Jean Deroche, Fred Deroche, Cindy Czubaj, Lark Samouelian, Phyllis Redfern, Tom Healy, Ron Loiselle, Janet Luce, Joan Delaney and Greer Liverman.

Membership in the new networking series will be $22 for a year. Mrs. Luce says $12 of the amount will go to the Y and $10 will go for speakers and rental.

Does networking work?

Group looks back on its 1st year

By Sherry Kahan

If the size of the crowd was any indication, networking for women is working in western Wayne County.

About 90 women and several men attended the first-anniversary banquet of the Women's Exchange, a network founded by the YWCA of Western Wayne County to give employed women a communication and support system.

And to buttress confidence in women's competence to handle all kinds of work, the organization honored four women for jobs well done during the past year.

Joanne Hurley was singled out for her efforts as director of peer counselors at the Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College. Debbie Benjamin was applauded for providing help for battered women as director of First Step in Westland.

Betty Carter was given a plaque for the work she has done as a tax accountant at Peat Marwick and Mitchell in Detroit, and a similar award went to Mary Ann Ellis of the Wayne-Westland School district. Her job is special education.

"WE STARTED with 13 members," said Georgene Sloan of Livonia, president of Women's Exchange. Now the group numbers 95 and has a mailing list of 400. Mrs. Sloan already has learned the practical value of networking.

"I have a new job which I got through contacts in the network," she said. "This is a place to talk over problems, get information and discuss issues."

Patricia Barrett appreciates the fact that through WE she meets women in working environments different from her job — processing education evaluations at the Wayne State University Medical School. "You hear about jobs other than your own," said the Livonian. "I have also enjoyed the speakers. A career counselor spoke to us, and afterwards I went to him for counseling. It was very beneficial."

Said Eve Mouilso of Livonia, "Networking is something men have been doing a long time."

"It's a good way for women to get together," observed Carol Anderson of Canton, who is self-employed as a distributor of household products. "And someone might know about a job."

Sally Satko of Garden City turned up at the banquet because her director at First Step, Ms. Benjamin, was being honored. She is planning to join the group because she realizes that "it's important for women to work together and help other women."

MARY NOSAKOWSKI of Redford Township would like to see the group give more attention to job hunting through announcements at meetings and listings in the WE newsletter.

Her daughter Gail Nosakowski of East Dearborn thinks WE should form more subcommittees. It breaks the large membership group into small sections where friends can be made more easily, she said. She thinks its emphasis should be on being a support group rather than a social one.

WE is the first network that Joenne McCoy of Canton has joined. A social worker, she has noticed that "a lot of professional people have been pink-slipped or are experiencing narrow job opportunities."

She added: "I think this is a good place to let people know what you can do."

"MEN HAVE always done networking," said Mrs. Sloan in her opening remarks. "They do it socially over golf and lunch. Women are starting to do it because we see how helpful it is. We wanted a place to meet other women and talk about issues."

A counselor with the Displaced Homemakers Center in Westland, Mrs. Sloan pointed out that membership in the Women's Exchange is not limited to a certain occupation "so that contacts would be broad."

After accepting her plaque for outstanding work this year, Joanne Hurley drew a laugh from the audience by announcing she would put a chain on it and wear it around her neck.

She explained those who volunteer as peer counselors at Schoolcraft's Women Resource Center "are women who listen, and they care."

"That is very important," she added. "Their satisfaction is found in helping others. It's a case of women helping women."

These counselors must take a seven-week course and spend nine hours in on-the-job training. They must also give a four-month commitment.

"We have a 94.7 retention rate of our volunteers," said Mrs. Hurley. "A lot of agencies have found that volunteers are an excellent source of skill and talent. We've seen our volunteers start at the center and go on to full-time jobs in helping professions. Peer counseling is a comfortable way to take the first step."

DEBBIE BENJAMIN was honored for her role in helping battered women take the initial move to improve their situation. As director of First Step, she has written budget proposals, structured the agency and formed and trained a staff to help the 85-95 families in western Wayne County which contact the organization each month.

She and her staff have found many rewards in giving women temporary shelter, in helping them contact social service agencies and accompanying them to court when needed.

Even more satisfying, she said, is the recent indication of success in a major goal at First Step.

"We are close to establishing a (permanent) shelter for abused women," she said. "We hope to sign a lease soon and have the shelter in operation in a few months."

MARY ANN ELLIS told the women that she wound up in education because "at the time when I was about to go to college, a counselor told me that education was all that was available to me."

"I don't regret it," she continued. "I work with parents and (handicapped) kids."

She stressed that these children are more normal than anything else. "They are still people," she said. She added that getting work in special education is not easy today. Jobs are not plentiful. But if you really want it, you can find a job, she said.

A successful tax consultant, Betty Carter preferred to talk of her volunteer work rather than her professional responsibilities. President of the Deaf Club of the United Hands of Faith, she interprets for the deaf at church services. She is also first vice president of the Association of Black Accountants, is a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and helps in Big Brother and Big Sister programs.

Bargain hunters will enjoy the silent auction and the white elephant table arranged by members of the Rock Exchange Club of Garden City.

Movies will be shown every half-hour. Scheduled titles are "Arizona's Petrified Forest," and "Fossils: Exploring the Past."

Orchestra gala

Members of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will be featured soloists in Sunday's "All-Orchestra Gala" at 4 p.m. in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium. Flutists Glennis Stout and Allen Warner will show their artistry in Doppler's Concert for Two Flutes in D. Minor. Other stars will be Kristy Meretta, oboe; John Mohler, clarinet; Jennifer Kelley, bassoon; and Louis Stout, French horn. Single concert tickets are $5 for adults and $2.50 for senior citizens and full time students at the door. Students 12th grade and under are admitted free. The concert is made possible by a grant from the State of Michigan through the Michigan Council for the Arts and the Plymouth Symphony League. Maestro Johan van der Merwe will conduct the orchestra.

LWV sponsors benefit

A benefit performance of drmatic reading is planned for Feb. 12 with all profits going to the ERA Campaign.

The League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novi has chosen the birthdate of Susan B. Anthony for its ERA fund-raiser.

A dramatic reading based on the life of Elizabeth Cady Stanton will be given at 8 p.m. in the Novi Public Library Meeting Room, 45245 Ten Mile Road (at Taft), Novi. A donation of $1.50 is requested.

Anthony and Cady-Stanton became close friends as they worked for women's rights for many years. The latter was born in 1815 and lived until 1902.

The reading will give an insight into the personal life of the social reformer and feminist. It will reveal the conflicts which took place within her own family during an important time in history.

The benefit performance is open to the public.

Youth concert rescheduled

Tickets for Sunday's Young People's Concert planned for 2:30 and 4 p.m. in Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium, will be honored Feb. 28. The "Magic of Music" concert was canceled because of Sunday's snowstorm.

The concert has been rescheduled for 2:30 and 4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 28, and all tickets will be honored at that time. A limited number of tickets for the 2:30 concert are available at Beitner's Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. There are about 100 tickets available for the 4 p.m. concert at Beitner's, IV Seasons in Northville and the Book Break in Canton Township.

The concert was arranged by the Plymouth Symphony League and funded in part by the Plymouth Rotary Foundation. Admission is $1.

It's Blue and Gold Month for Cub Scouts

Canton Chatter

By KATHY FREECE 981-2027

Hundreds of boys in our community are celebrating National Blue and Gold Month in February. The area churches will be holding special services Sunday, Feb. 7, to honor all stages of the Boy Scouts of America. The Detroit Council of Scouting will award the highly honored religious badges to the boys later in the month.

John Anthony and Dave Ramsey along with 23 parent volunteers, put together this year's Pinewood Derby for Pack 854 from Miller School. Each entrant for this race received a participation trophy for his effort and individuality of design. First prize was awarded to John Anthony IV. The remainder of the top 10 finalists were Neal Sahni, Scott Bailey, Jason Blankenship, Steve Bellino, Derry Yourman, Shawn Spitza, Joel Fitzpatrick, Erick Huth and Frank Cipolla.

The boys received encouragement from parents and den leader alike. It is the most exciting of the monthly meetings because all family members show up to root for their favorite. This pack had a soundtrack of auto racing in the background for a little extra authenticity.

Sue Royster, Kitty Freedle, Dr. B.R. Hajratwala, Linda LaFrance, Jeanette Cipolla and David Deming are den leaders who have attended a special training meeting to lead these boys to high ideals set by the Scouting organizations.

TED SARRACH was responsible for the Gallimore Pack 766 Pinewood Derby. Last year there was a conflict on the results which were based on visual judging. Darrel Brawn and Ron Deming conceived the idea of a photocell device for the finish line. This year, flashing lights determined the first to cross the line.

The top three finishers for this event were Brent Brawn, Craig Rice and Mike Burley. Ribbons were presented to all 48 Scouts who entered a racer. Trophies were awarded to the top three.

Parents take the lead in this pack, setting up guidelines for their children. Dave Chesney, John Rose, Dennis King, Jerry Fortman, Tom Borke, Ed Kranz, Dick Kelly, Mike and Betty Plunkett and Donna Sarrach were on hand to see that the official rules of the event were followed strictly. Once the races begin the boys never handle the cars except to hand their prized possession to the official starter. A chance to taste the thrill of victory was so important to these junior designers. Everyone was a winner as they were able to show off their hard work.

JASON MARVILLE and Michael Duffy are the owners of the two fastest cars in Pack 1738 from Hulsing School. John Dunivant also walked off with a trophy for the most original design from the 50 entrants. Three cars sped to the finish line at a time, and at the end of the first heat, gold, silver and bronze medals were presented to the Scouts.

Jim Kimmins is the cubmaster for this pack. Carol Drogowski worked closely with Charlie Jones, official starter and school librarian. Sandy Schroeder, Diane Kelly, Lori Conn, Richard Drobot, Diane Wilder, Larry Dunivant and Tom Taylor are the leaders of the cub dens and Webelos for the pack. All the boys in the five dens and two webelos are backed by parent support throughout the year of achievements.

Stan Mikus, the Scout executive for this region, works hard with all of the school-affiliated packs to bring the cubs to awareness that they are something special.

PILLO POLO — say it six times as fast as you can. What is it?

It is a game played indoors during the winter months to keep young bodies in shape and young minds alert. A team consists of one goalie, one center, two guards, two forwards and six sideliners. This was the brainstorm of Chuck TenBroeck of Canton. It is played in other parts of the country but only at Miller School in our community. There are presently 10 teams active in the school league playing once a week from now until the end of April.

The equipment used on the court is sticks with pillow-like padding at the tip. The ball is larger than a softball but smaller than a soccer ball. You have to see the game played to understand what I am trying to say. Come on down to Miller School any Monday night after 6 p.m. and maybe you will decide this is just what your school needs to cure the winter doldrums.

Painting brings the Jordan to Berean sanctuary

By Sherry Kahan
staff writer

Sitting in the pews of Livonia's Berean Bible Church, the congregation can gaze upon the blue water of the Jordan River. They can even see beyond it to the desert land once walked over by Jesus Christ.

The painting they view was created by church member Betty Manthey of Plymouth, president of the Three Cities Art Club.

"It's like giving back to God part of the gift he gave me," said Mrs. Manthey. "I'm proud that I was the one able to do this."

The painting is centered behind the church altar. Seen through an arch, it creates a three-dimensional effect as it rises above the sunken baptismal pool.

"When baptism takes place it is almost as though those involved are being baptized in the River Jordan," said the Rev. Roland DeRenzo, pastor of the church.

In honor of the hanging of the new painting, five persons recently baptized were given special baptismal certificates prepared by Mrs. Manthey. They were John and Bridgett Barlow, Leo and Myrtle Duford and Michael Campbell.

MEMBERS OF A Holy Land tour led by DeRenzo visited the Jordan River in 1979. Twenty-nine persons on the tour were members of the Livonia congregation. After seeing the completed painting, several of them told Mrs. Manthy that it looked "exactly like where we were."

They further added that the rock in the foreground looked like the very rock where the pastor's sons, Victor and Paul, sat when the group arrived at the river.

Some tour members were baptized by DeRenzo in the Jordan River on that occasion. He plans a baptismal ceremony this year when he and his wife lead a Holy Land tour April 26 to May 7.

"The significance of our new picture is that Christ was baptized in this river by John the Baptist," said DeRenzo. "For those who believe in this mode of emersion, this would be an inducement to follow Christ's example in their public confession to him."

He added that in the picture the river seems to be flowing. "The painting is conducive to worship and reflection. Gazing at it prepares people for worship."

'When baptism takes place, it is almost as though those involved are being baptized in the River Jordan.'
— The Rev. Roland de Renzo
Berean pastor

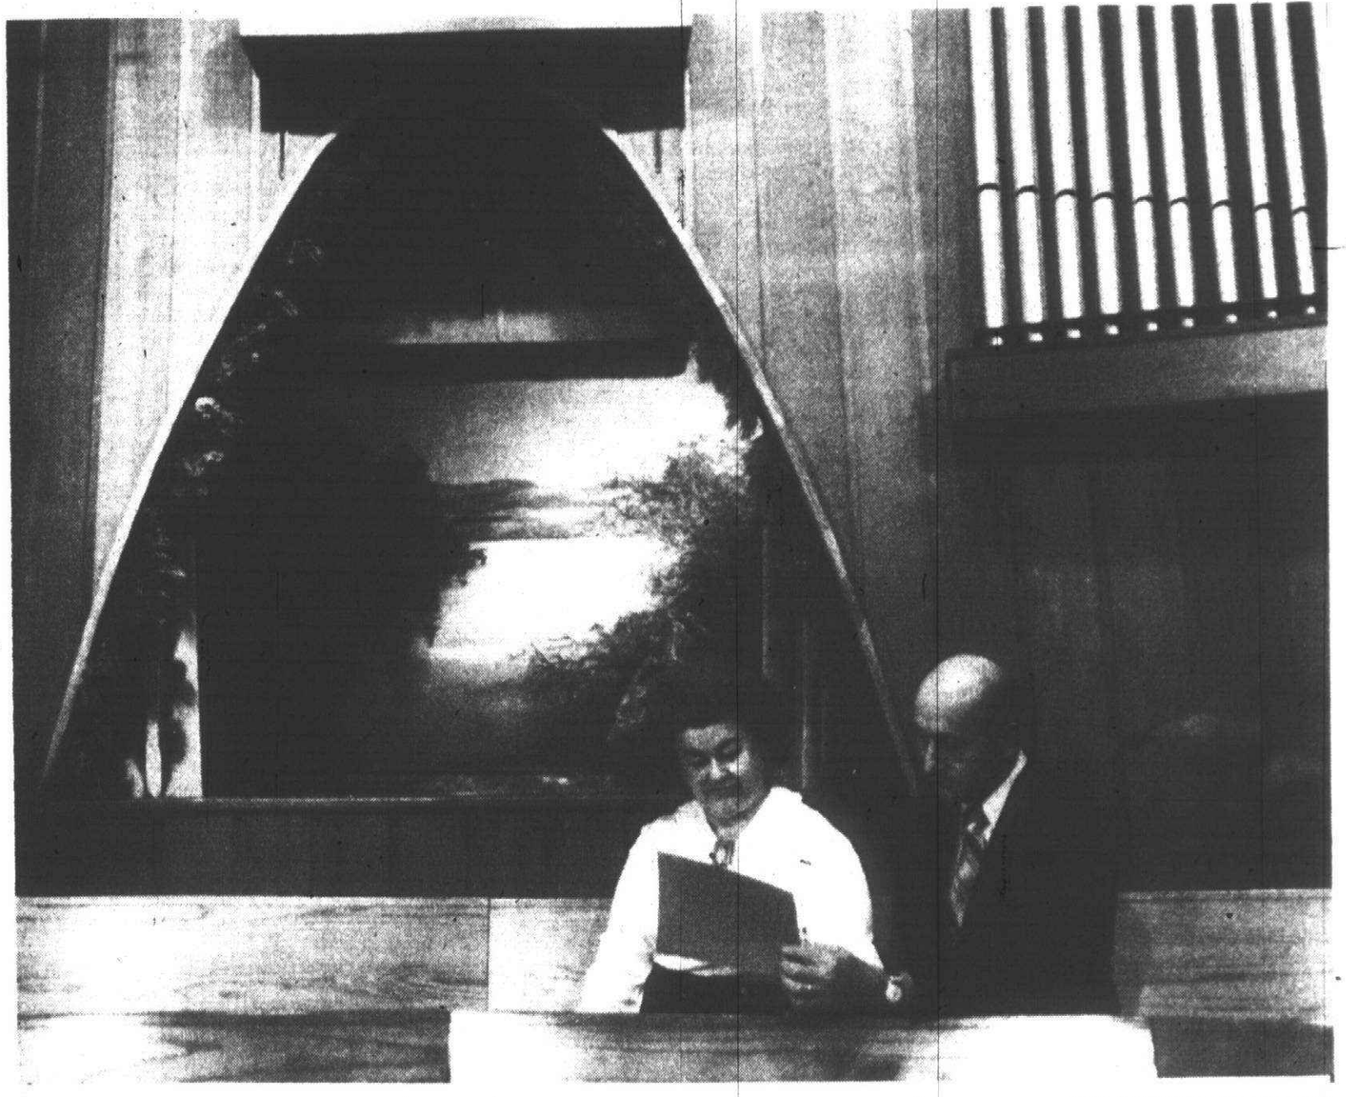

"I WORKED from a photo of the scene," explained the artist. "It was devoid of color. So I had to put it in. I used color to give it depth. It was the biggest painting I'd ever done."

After being asked by the church for a work of art to hang behind the baptismal pool, Mrs. Manthy set to work in her garage.

Earlier she had researched the area to get a feel for it. This information stood her in good stead when she gave a talk at the unveiling of her painting. She described what had occurred in that part of Israel during the time of Christ.

Done mainly in blue, brown and green, the painting required 20 large tubes of acryllic paint, and "a whole quart of modeling paste for the rock," she said.

"I had to use color and detail in such a manner that it would look the same at a distance as close up," she pointed out. She added that she treated the final product with acryllic varnish to make it impervious to the water that might splash on it from the baptismal pool.

Betty Manthey of Plymouth painted a picture of the River Jordan for the baptismal font of Berean Bible Church, pastored by the Rev. Roland de Renzo.

Ordination of women is ecumenical service topic

"Let Me Introduce the Reverend Ms." is the theme for a community ecumenical service to be held at 7 p.m. Sunday in St. Richard Catholic Church, 35637 Cherry Hill, Westland.

The Wayne-Westland Ministerial Association is sponsoring the service and representatives of at least 11 area churches are expected to participate.

Discussing the church and the ordination of women will be a panel including the Rev. Sue DeFoe of the Denton United Methodist Church, the Rev. John Sullivan of St. Mary Catholic Church, the Rev. Robert Millar of the First Congregational Church of Wayne, and the Rev. Merle and the Rev. Joan Gunderman of St. James Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Larry Rorem of Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, Westland, will be moderator.

A combined choir directed by Ruth Reuter will present two anthems, and another will be sung by a children's choir under the direction of the Rev. Kelvin Kronemeyer of Good Shepherd Reformed Church.

The community is invited to join in the worship and learning experience.

Gleaners plan drive for food

Gleaners Community Food Bank, a non-profit agency which solicits and distributes food to more than 140 non-profit agencies serving the poor in Detroit and southeastern Michigan, needs food supplies.

It is asking that area churches contribute to a food drive that would end Sunday, Feb. 28. Food solicitor Ruel Williams suggests that each church member donate at least one can of food. It would be picked up by a Gleaners' truck for distribution to the poor.

The organization has been in business almost five years during which it redistributed almost eight million pounds of food. Formerly much of the food was contributed by large corporations which had surplus inventories at hand.

"Of late the situation has changed," said Williams, "and this supply has been greatly curtailed."

Churches interested in participating in the drive may contact Williams at 923-3535.

Prison group meets in area

Prison Fellowship, an international Christian ministry for inmates, ex-offenders and their families will hold a three-day seminar Feb. 5-7 in the Huron Valley Women's Facility at Ypsilanti.

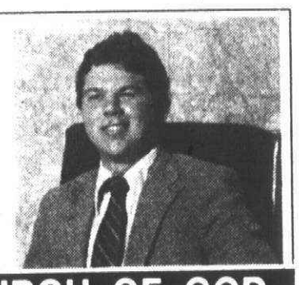

Community volunteers, many of whom are active with the Prison Fellowship Care Committee, will participate along with inmates. The organization sponsors seminars on Christian living, leadership and discipleship at major state and federal prisons across the nation.

moral perspectives
Rev. Lloyd Buss

Strength comes in accepting divergence

They didn't like what I was preaching, so they left. They told me after services one Sunday morning.

They said they did not want to talk about it. Their minds were made up, and they were joining a church that agreed with them. There was nothing left for me to say except "God be with you."

It was this keen disappointment being denied an opportunity to discuss the specific issues that makes me appreciative of the reaction of another of us.

She expressed several serious objections to the response the church had made to a particular issue. She discussed them with me and several others carefully, with emotion and deep conviction.

The difference still exist, but both of us appreciate and respect the other's view, and she continues as a very faithful and committed member of the church.

THE FUNDAMENTAL difference between the two reactions was the sense of responsibility felt for the body in which the opposing reactions could be found.

The first couple had divided the church into "us" and "them" groups and felt the church was in opposition to their interest. The second person had identifed the issue as a difference of opinion and response within the concern of the church to which we both were committed.

The first couple had reduced the church to groups that were in contention for ultimate power positions. The second person saw the church as a body where divergent issues were resolved to reflect gathered wisdom and counsel.

PARISH EXPERIENCES are certainly not national experiences. National experiences, however, can be parish experiences.

People can divide the nation into "us" and "them" groups and make the "them" group whatever they oppose or believe is opposing them. People can also regard the nation as that collective body where divergent views are resolved to a mutually accepted counsel and expression.

People can divide the nation into 50 states or 1,000 issues and accept responsibility only for that state or issue that is of interest to them. People can also regard the nation as a single entity for which responsibility and care is expressed and shared by all.

IT MIGHT BE possible that the perfect world excludes all the interests, wants, needs and likes of those who disagree with yours. Perhaps the perfect world would be that world where all people have the same tastes and styles.

Be that as it may, we still live in an imperfect world where one decision is never possible without an opposite one that is equally true.

Denying another person access to the alternatives you espouse is ultimately a denial of the truth you claim.

What will finally measure the strength and character of this nation is our willingness to acknowledge that no one group knows the final truth of life. What we do in caring for each other finally will weld the bond of a lasting people.

backgammon

Michael Kloian
of the American Backgammon Club

● LEAVING THE "BAIT"

White rolls a 4-4. The doubling cube is neutral. What is your move?

White has several interesting options to choose from, but unfortunately cannot hit black on the 3 point. If any number rolled would have allowed white to land on the 3 point blot, he would have hit just to stop black from capturing that point. Once black rolls a 2, he will have a perfect back game position in white's home board.

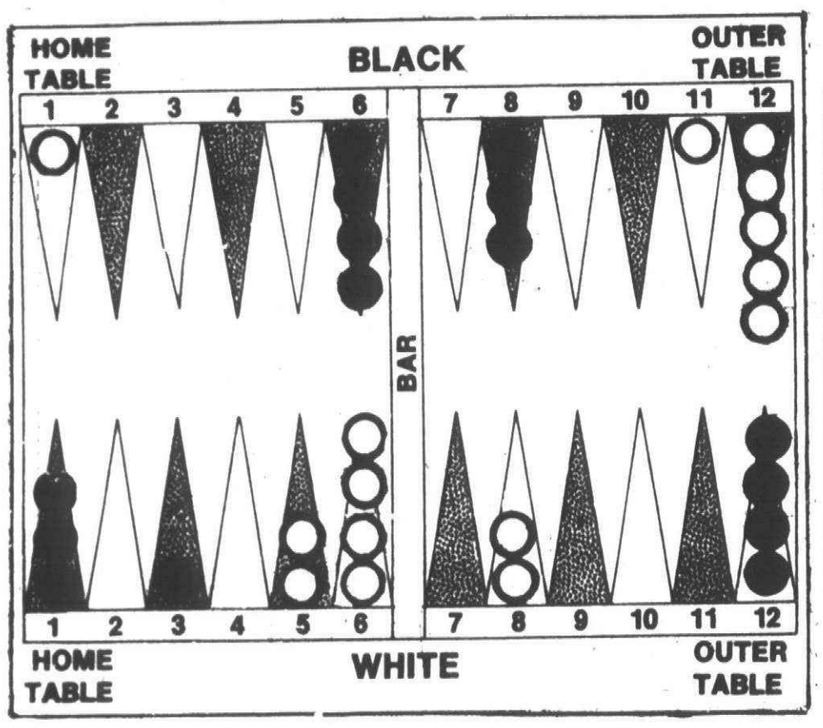

Realizing this, the only stretegy white should employ would be to move both checkers from the 8 to the 4 point, thus closing another inner board point. The importance of closing your own home board points cannot be stressed enough. Once you hit your opponent, your home board strength will show its true colors. White should then play the last two moves by sending an 11 and 12 point checker to the 9 and 10 points.

Of course, there were other options, like moving two checkers from the 6 to the 2 point or two checkers from the 12 to the 9 point. So why leave two blots open on the 9 and 10 point as opposed to the other safe moves? Simple. If black does not roll a two on the next roll, he may roll a six or seven and decide to hit white. This would be a blessing to white since black would not be able to make the 3 point and play the treacherous back game.

By white leaving the "bait," black may abandon any plans of a back game. If black rolls a two and captures the 3 point, white then would have two outer board builders to work on closing the 7 point.

Since backgammon is a running-hitting-blocking game, you may be appealing to your opponent's ego if you leave him a deliberate shot.

For more information on backgammon, call the American Backgammon Club at 455-7798, or write to Box 599, Plymouth, MI 48170.

WHAT'S IT WORTH?
A ratings guide to the movies

Bad	$1
Fair	$2
Good	$3
Excellent	$4

"American Graffiti" (1973), 8 p.m. today on Ch.9. Originally 109 minutes.

Where are they now? "Graffiti" was produced by Francis Ford Coppola, directed by George Lucas, and stars Richard Dreyfuss, Ronny Howard, Suzanne Somers, Cindy Williams, Mackenzie Phillips, Candy Clark, Harrison Ford and Wolfman Jack, most of whom have left their mark on the decline of western civilization as we know it. What a lineup. And the film's not very good, either. Lucas calls upon cars, nostalgia and stereotypical characters to substitute for plot and action. Such devices rarely work. Rating: $2.25.

"Run a Crooked Mile" (1969), noon Friday on Ch. 9. Originally 100 minutes.

To call this Mary Tyler Moore's best film wouldn't nesessarily be saying much (not after "What's So Bad about Feeling Good?" and "Don't Just Stand There"). But this made-for-TV thriller capitalizes on a good script about an amnesiac and unusualy controlled performanced form Moore, Louis Jourdan and Wilfred Hyde-White. Rating: $2.90.

"Godzilla, King of the Monsters" (1965), 1:30 Friday night on Ch. 7. Originally 80 minutes.

Here's the granddaddy of the Japanese monster movies that typically imported such American stars as Nick Adams and Russ Tamblyn to lend credence to sloppy productions and seemingly amateur casts.

This time Raymond Burr stars. Rating: $1.98.

"It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" (1963), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 162.

They say Spencer Tracy signed for this film script unseen as a favor to his old friend, producer-director Stanley Kramer. And that's a relief, because this in one of those pictures that we don't have as much fun seeing as they apparently had making. Milton Berle, Mickey Rooney, Jimmy Durante, Sid Caesar, Edie Adams, Dick Shawn, Ethel Merman, Phil Silvers, Buddy Hackett, Terry-Thomas, Jonathan Winter, Peter Falk and the Three Stooges co-star. Rating: $1.

"Sleeper" (1973), 8 p.m. Monday on Ch. 50. Originally 88 minutes.

Even though you know they're going to cut this film for TV (they can't possibley repeat Diane Keaton's college major), some Woody Allen is better than no Allen at all. And early, erratic Allen is also better than almost anything Stanley Kramer. "Sleeper" both cinematically and comically is far from Woody's best work. But the jokes are there, as are the seeds of genius that would blossom a few years later. Rating: $2.95.

Hawaiian trip can be won

The Detroit area's own Emily Gail could help you win a trip to Hawaii.

All you have to do is guess how much time it will take her to participate in the world triathlon Feb. 6 in Hawaii.

She will be one of hundreds participating in the grueling competition. Particpants must swim 2.4 miles, ride a bike 112 miles and run 26.2 miles. All these events will be done one after another.

Entry blanks are available at Tally Hall, 31005 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills. Deadline for entry is noon Feb. 6. Winners of the contest will be announced at Tally Hall Feb. 21.

The prize will include two airline tickets to Hawaii, one week at the Holiday Inn Waikiki and a limousine courtesy of Hamilton, Miller Hudson and Fayne Travel Corp.

Workshop tells about puppets

The art of puppetry will be explored during a children's workshop Feb. 13 at the Cranbrook Institute of Science in Bloomfield Hills.

Children ages 7-10 will be invited to make puppets, give them voices, manipulate them and put on a show.

The focus will be on the rod puppets used in shadow plays. Puppeteer/participants will work from behind a backlighted screen so that only the shadows of the puppets are seen.

The hours for the workshop are 9:30-11:30 a.m. The fee is $5. To register, send the child's name, address, age and telephone number with a check to: Cranbrook Institute of Science Puppet Workshop, P.O. Box 801, 500 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills 48013.

Chuck E. Cheese

He's a big rat that 7-year-olds mob

By Duane Stewart
special writer

STEP ASIDE Mickey Mouse. Make way for Chuck E. Cheese. He's the New Jersey Rat. And he'll nibble his way right into your heart.

Mr. Cheese, alias "The Big C," is a professional entertainer.

He got his first big break in California in 1977. Nolan Bushnell, who opened the doors to the electronic game industry with the video game called Pong, decided the world was ready for Chuck E. Cheese.

Bushnell booked Mr. Cheese at a cheesy club called the Pizza Time Theatre. His success was phenomenal. Of course, he had a little help from his friends. The Beagles from Liverpoodle had the place shaking like a dog trying to get rid of fleas.

Mr. Cheese also owes a lot to his own back-up band, consisting of Jasper T. Jowls the Dog on banjo, Harmony Howlette the Coyote on vocals, Mr. Munch the Animal on loud and raucous vocals, and the Warblettes, whose voices are like the singing of birds at the break of dawn.

AND WE CAN'T forget Pasovally, the Ed McMahon of Italian chefs, who gives Mr. Cheese his long-awaited introduction.

"And now . . . Heeeeeerrrrrrrreeeeee'sss Chuck E!"

When he comes out from behind his star-studded door, in the flesh (excuse me, fur), the kids mob him. They grab his paw, they tear at his lovely grey coat, they pull his tail. There is no stopping the group of raving 7-year-olds. Little kids will be little kids.

But Mr. Cheese doesn't mind the mobs.

"The more the merrier," he says with a wink.

Chuck E. Cheese and his Pizza Time Players have now acchieved worldwide recognition. He is playing in 15 states and three countries. It was a long road to travel from his first gig in California. Not since Mickey Mouse has a rodent made it so big in America. It wasn't easy. Mr. Cheese had to work his tail off to get where he is.

You can now see Chuck E. Cheese at a Pizza Time Theatre in Westland, corner of South Wayne Road and Cherry Hill. It is a entertainment concept, combining Disneyland gadgetry with food and drink. It is the best of both worlds. Even better, it is another world altogether.

You can now see Chuck E. Cheese at a Pizza Time Theatre in Westland . . . It is a phenomenal entertainment concept, combining Disneyland gadgetry with food and drink.

AS YOU WALK through the theter you will feel like a mouse crawling through a wondrous maze, where at each new turn will be found a different brand of cheese.

In one cubicle is Dolli Dimples, a mechanized hippopotamus who plays the piana' and sings such songs as "Hello, Dolly," with the voice of Della Reese.

All it takes to get her going is a small token, which can be purchased with a quarter. It is no different than dropping a few coins in the mayonnaise jar on top of an entertainer's piano.

In another cubicle are video games and small kiddie rides, which are also run by the tokens. Skee ball is another attraction. Each time you beat a certain score in skee ball you will receive a ticket. These tickets can be collected and then redeemed at Jasper's General Store for various items: T-shirts, stuffed animals, pennants, Frisbees, candy sticks and other merchandise.

The Beagles shake their hides in another room. For one token they will play old songs by the Beatles. It is like a jukebox, but more. Little girls are often seen leaning on the stage and looking dreamily into the eyes of the doggies.

THE MAIN attraction is Chuck E. Cheese and the Pizza Time Players. In the manner of most bands, they have a pattern of skits, 26 in all, three-five minutes in length, which are performed every eight minutes. Their entertainment is free.

"Everybody is so happy," said Lisa Ilitch, marketing director for Chuck E. Cheese. "Everybody is smiling. It's hard to develop an atmosphere where everyone is happy."

Although the average customer age is 7, the Pizza Time Theatre is for all ages. It is a great place for a group party. In the past, hockey teams have come, football teams, senior citizens, the handicapped, and, of course, the kids.

There are good group prices on the food and drink, with free tokens given with some orders. Special birthday packages can be acquired for the little ones.

Chuck E. also is playing at a Pizza Time Theatre in Ann Arbor, Warren, White Lake, Sylvan Lake, and soon in Clawson. So far he has been well received by humans. Some of his rodent friends have not fared so well.

Life has been good to Chuck E. Cheese. He has his fans. A steady job. And he lives at a house where the word "cheese" brings a smile to everyone's face.

Don't be surprised if 1982 is called the Year of the Rat.

Chuck E. Cheese, "The Big C," is star entertainer of the Pizza Time Players.

review

By Gail Susan Mack
special writer

The Garden City Civic Theatre mastered a difficult task with the production of Agatha Christie's "Witness for the Prosecution." Performed on the O'Leary stage of Garden City East's auditorium, this play presents considerable challenges different from most of Christie's work.

The subject matter focuses upon the trial of a young man who is accused of mudering an older woman whom he befriended. The script involves lengthy speeches, cross-examination or questioning by the attorneys, the solicitor, the defendant and the witnesses.

Action throughout most of this show is less than that in other plays written by Christie. It also gives the appearance of having a relatively simple plot, not in typical Christie fashion.

Garden City Civic Theatre managed to successfully overcome most of these obstacles, primarily through the outstanding performances of its actors and actresses. The large cast is versatile in characterization and exact in interpretation.

KAREN LAHIFF opens the play with high energy as Sir Wilfred Robarts' secretary, Greta. Her portrayal of the vivacious, giggling young girl is superb and sets the show in a positive direction.

The role of the defense attorney, Sir Wilfred Robarts, is expertly performed by Michael Rothaar. Having the majority of the dialogue, he utilizes his natural acting style and excellent timing to carry himself eloquently through his lengthy conversations.

As Leonard Vole, the defendant, Dairen Braak presents an innocent, naive quality vital to that role. His good looks and sympathetic nature easily win the hearts of the audience.

A most remarkable performance can be credited to Debi Barsamian, as the intricate Romaine, wife of Vole. Her interpretation of the character and her flawless accent are noteworthy. However, it is her ability to present the complexity of her character with utmost believability that gains her applause.

Howard Palmer brings a special quality to "Witness' in his portrayal of Mr. Myers, the prosecuting attorney. He has developed a unique identity for the character, along with idiosyncrasies that allow for a bit of comic relief during the long courtroom scene.

OTHER ACTORS and actresses that bring vitality to the production include Tashi Georgoff, Mari Vamplew, Lynn Walker and Cindy Gonzales.

Perhaps the most noticeable weakness of the acting group is the inconsistency in the use of the British accents. Some actors handle it better than others, while a few only manage to accent words on occasion.

While the interpretation of the characters keeps the audience alert through this wordy script of Christie's, the production could have been visually more stimulating. Movement and blocking seem to be at a minimum, or at best repetitious.

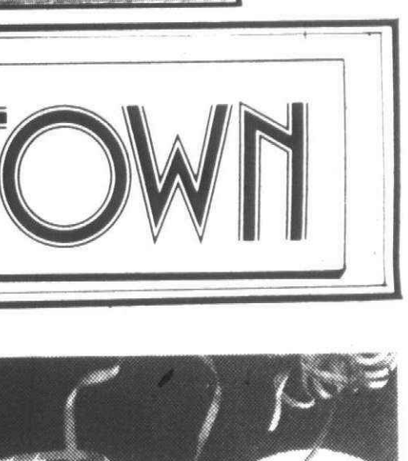

In a show with little action, blocking needs to be unusually creative. At times the actors appear to be confined and wanting to utilize more of the stage.

The opening of Act 2 proves to be significant to the audience. The elaborate set for the courtroom of the Old Bailey is commendable. The colorful British flag and props for the set, the costumes and wigs add to the authenticity of the room.

THE EXCITING portion of this show comes at the end, where Agatha Christie is at her best. She bombards the audience with twists and shocks that delight until the lights dim.

The Garden City Civic Theatre brings justice to Christie's ending. The verbal and facial responses of surprise from its audience are the rewards of a mystery play done well.

Bob Allison to narrate 'Lincoln Address' at OU

Bob Allison appears with band

Detroit radio and television personality Bob Allison will be featured with the Oakland University Concert Band in a free children's concert at 3 p.m. Feb. 14 at Varner Recital Hall on campus near Rochester.

For the annual event, Allison will narrate Vincent Persichetti's "A Lincoln Address."

The featured work is based on Lincoln's second inaugural address. The theme will be carried out in another concert work, "Variations on America" by Charles Ives.

"Procession of the Nobles" and "Polonaise," two rousing works by Rimsky-Korsakov, will close the program. The Russian pieces will receive a special arrangement by David Daniels.

The concert band is under the direction of James Dawson. Both Dawson and Daniels are faculty members in the OU Department of Music.

Each year the band selects a number of works that have special appeal to young people. Following the concert, members of the audience will be invited to the stage to visit with the musicians.

Rob Nicol (right) of Bentley tries a reverse layup on this play but Salem's Mike McBride (No. 40) gets a piece of the ball and part of the arm. The officials overlooked the contact.

Rocks protect cage lead with OT victory, 74-64

By Jay Keenan
special writer

The contemporary basketball rivalry between Plymouth Salem and Livonia Bentley never seems to perish.

And the two longtime Suburban Eight League foes continued to demonstrate that competitiveness Tuesday night as the first-place Rocks had to go into overtime to beat Bentley, 74-64.

Salem, rusty at the outset, trailed by eight points in the second half before coming on strong at the end of regulation time, forcing the extra period.

Given three additional minutes, Salem struck like a cobra.

Senior Dave Miller, who led all scorers with 22 points, pumped in two quick baskets in the OT to give the Rocks a 65-61 advantage with only 1:48 to go.

Bentley pulled within a basket 20 seconds later on an inside shot by Greg Morin, but Miller answered with another to lift the Rocks to a 67-63 edge.

Mike McCorry's free throw at the 48-second mark sliced the Salem lead to three, but Norm Haygood put it away eight ticks later by sinking two free tosses.

THE ROCKS have now won seven-straight league games without a loss. They are 10-3 overall. Bentley slipped to 3-4 and 7-5 overall.

"Any time you're down as far as that and make a comeback, you've given a good effort," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "Our kids never stopped playing tonight. And that's not taking anything away from Bentley.

"This was just a great Bentley-Salem basketball game. Over the years we've had some great rivalries, and this one was right in there with it."

Bentley coach Jim Komula also saluted his team despite the heartbreaking defeat.

"We played well through the whole game," he said. "It was a good game from the standpoint of the kids playing hard and intense.

"This was a typical Salem-Bentley game. These kids on both teams played great."

Mike McCorry, a 6-foot-4 senior forward, led the Bentley attack with 21 points. Teammates Rob Nicol and Doug Gates, the guards, and 6-6 center Eric Sink, who is coming off a recent ankle injury, chipped in with 10 each.

Mike McBride, who fouled out with 48 seconds left in regulation play, supported Miller's scoring with 15 points. Scott Bublin followed with 12, including a key basket late in the fourth period which sent the game into overtime.

SALEM WHITTLED away at the Bulldogs' eight-point fourth-quarter lead with some timely outside shooting.

The Rocks finally tied the game at 59-all on a long bomb by McBride from the corner with 1:13 remaining. McCorry, however, put Bentley back out in front when he slipped in for a layup. He was fouled by McBride on the play, but missed his free-throw attempt.

Bublin then drilled in an 18-footer near the top of the key with 22 seconds left, knotting the count at 61-all. Bentley had a chance to win it with eight seconds left, but a shot from the corner missed the mark.

"Nothing faltered on our part," said Komula. "Salem came out with some long-range baskets late in the game that it didn't hit earlier, and that was the difference."

The Bulldogs were able to hold leads of 16-13 (first quarter) and 31-27 (second) largely because of their ability to cut through the Rocks' man-to-man defense.

Canton grapplers pound Stevenson

The home team usually has the last word when Plymouth Canton and Livonia Stevenson's wrestling teams get together.

And the result was predictable Tuesday as two of the area's better mat powers got together. Host Canton beat the Spartans, 37-28.

"It was a good way to end the season," said Canton coach Dan Chrenko. "Last year they beat us over at their place, and the year before we beat them here.

"With two of our kids out and wrestling a team like Stevenson, you've got to be pleased."

The Chiefs finished their regular season with a 12-3 dual mark, matching the record attained by the 1978-79 team.

Stevenson fell to 14-5 overall.

Canton wrapped up the dual meet by winning seven of the first eight matches, piling up a 37-3 advantage despite the absence of regulars Todd Bartlett (108 pounds) and Paul Fletcher (heavyweight)

In the surprise of the night, Scott Rogers (115) got his third win of the year by downing Rob Cabrera with a pin in 5:05. Cabrera went into the match with a 19-5 record.

"SCOTT did a great job," said Chrenko. "That's the match that turned it around."

Other Canton victories were posted by Todd Gattoni (101), who pinned Mike Barry in 1:38; Tim Collins (122) decisioned Tim Erspamer, 9-1; Kevin Decker (129) decisioned Jeff Porter, 11-3; Brian Lee (135) pinned Mike Geppert, 3:07; Brett Haarala (141) pinned Ray Abrahmson, :26; and Steve Hamblin (148) defeated Jamie Bettaso, 15-2.

Joe Parent, Stevenson's 108-pound standout, won a major decision in his match against Chris Cifaldi, 10-4.

SnoBall: fix for slo-pitch junkies

Jim Hughes

Picture, if you will, the man on the television commercial who journeys through the desert on all fours, in search of a cold Stroh's. When offered a nice cold drink of water, he refuses, explaining, "No, I really had a taste for a Stroh's."

"There goes a real beer lover," the man with the water concudes.

Over the weekend, the analogy could be directed to those softball lovers who gathered in Southfield and Dearborn to take part in the March of Dimes Sno-Ball Softball Tournament, a two-day tourney with men, women and coed teams.

Blizzard-Ball just might have been a better title.

To the passers-by in automobiles, the reactions varied from friendly toots on the horn to facial expressions resembling the look you make when you open your winter gas bill. Others just shook their head.

BEFORE YOU pass judgement on those "nuts" who made the popular summer pastime look like a Chinese fire drill, you must understand the rare breed of athletes who are know as "softball junkies."

A softball junkie is worse than the fan who sets camp in front of the television every Saturday and Sunday to absorb countless football games. They range in age from 18 to 50. The older they get, the more addicted the get. The more experienced players are referred to as "crafty veterans." And believe me, the best players in the game are the crafty veterans.

In order to become a bona fide star in the game of softball, you have to gain experience. So, it stands to reason, the more you play, the better you become. The more tournaments you enter, the more games you play.

Following this simple logic, it's easy to understand why Sno-Ball is such a huge success. Hey, a tournament is a tournament, regardless of the weather and playing conditions. You don't think a little snow on the ground is going to scare off the die-hard, much less the crafty veterans. Eight teams showed up in Southfield while 73 were on hand in Dearborn.

"THIS IS JUST something to help keep me in shape during the off season," one softball vet told me as he took a swig from a icy can of brew. (You'll find your more experienced softball players are also your better beer drinkers.)

"Softball been very, very good to me," said a man who called himself Chico. "Now, I be very, very good to softball."

"Go ahead and laugh at me if you want, but go ask my wife if I'm nuts," said one infielder who's beard and mustache was covered with icicles. "I'm out here having a good old time, while she's at home shoveling snow. Now you tell me, am I crazy?"

You had to see what went on to really believe and appreciate it. What looked like a bunch of silly college kids going through faternity initiation, was really a fine display of softball skills.

They may tell you they're out there for the fun of it, but it's no different than summer tournaments. There were people making diving catches and jacking home runs left and right. I've seen summer games that were played with less skill. Gals diving into first base and guys pounding out the long ball, both giving it their all in an all-or-nothing atmosphere.

Snow or no snow, softball players are true competitors.

You've heard of golf and football widows. You better add softball to the list. Because, after watching them play this weekend, it's obvious softball is a year-round sport.

But there is a remedy for the softball widow. It's called coed softball.

Youth soccer squad United on trip goals

By Brad Emons
staff writer

A group of young soccer players hope to be blowing bagpipes by the time August rolls around.

But there's still some question whether the Livonia-based team, called United, will be donning the traditional kilts.

The 16-and-under squad is currently raising money in hopes of flying into Prestwick, Scotland, for a two-week stint of soccer and sightseeing.

"It's a unique experience," said Doug Bielski, the team's travel coordinator. "We're hopped up.

"We're building friendships and extending goodwill. We want to take a team over there and put Livonia on the map."

Bielski estimates the total cost of the trip ranges anywhere from $10,000 to $12,000.

Preliminary funds have been raised through candy sales and raffles. And with the blessing of the local Chamber of Commerce, players will begin petitioning local businesses this month for donations.

"We're taking 14 players and two coaches," explained Bielski. "That goes for air fares (from Windsor through Toronto), uniforms, dress code patches, gifts and spending money."

EARLY last summer, an elite boys club team from Dundee spent 17 days in the U.S. and competed in the Wolverine Soccer Tournament at Schoolcraft College, where they finished second.

The Dundee delegation stayed with the families of the Livonia players during the tournament.

United, whose roster includes players from Livonia, Canton Township and Westland, is making preparations to return the favor after an open invitation was extended by the Scots.

Dundee's trip came about when Jack and Kathryn Reid of Livonia traveled to Scotland last year to visit relatives. It was there that Jack met his cousin, John Taggert, who happened to be coach of the respected Dundee team.

Reid returned from his trip and contacted soccer enthusiasts John and Hope Carney of Livonia, who corresponded with the Scottish club.

Arrangements were then made for a group of 15 players and three adults to visit and compete in last June's Wolverine tourney.

United's Scottish itinerary includes a tour of historic castles and playing in a 30,000-seat stadium in a preliminary game before a professional match.

"WE HAVE a lot of work ahead," said Bielski. "We're four or five years behind Europe (in skills) right now. We hope to make this a learning experience, too."

Coach Steve Vakratsis is getting his squad ready for the trip by holding conditioning workouts each week in the gymnasium at Schoolcraft College.

Bentley 2nd in grueling event

Portage wins volleyball invite

By Jay Keenan
special writer

Those Green Giants of Livonia Bentley were almost invincible through the 14 hours of the Plymouth Volleyball Invitational Saturday at Canton and Salem high schools.

Almost, but not quite. The Bulldogs finally fell in the final exhausting hour of the tournament to Portage Northern, 15-12, 15-5, in the championship match at Canton.

The second-place finish was hardly a disappointment to Bentley coach Dana Hardwidge.

"Any time you place second out of 22 teams, you have to be pleased," Hardwidge said. "We were real pleased with our play. We were more aggressive. Our movement and passing was better, and that helped.

"I guess we were a little exhausted when we played Portage Northern. I think my girls were a little tight when they dropped the last match."

THE BULLDOGS had reason to be tired. In the semifinals, they battled back from a one-game deficit to defeat Trenton, 4-15, 15-11, 16-14.

The Trojans, winners over Bentley in a three-game match last week, finished third in the tourney with a 15-11, 15-6 victory over Wayne Memorial in the consolation finals.

"I was especially pleased when we defeated Trenton," Hardwidge said, but added that "emotionally, the Trenton game was a little tough."

The tournament in itself was mentally difficult for the players. Play started at 8 a.m. with competition in four pools, two with six teams and two with five. The top four teams in each pool qualified for the pool playoffs.

Champions and runners-up from the pool playoffs entered the quarterfinals. From there, winners of best-of-three matches moved on to the semifinals and the championship match. It was 9 p.m. by the time the finals started.

THE ONLY OTHER area team that qualified for the quarterfinals was co-host Plymouth Canton. The Chiefs ran up the best record in Pool C and qualified for the final eight with a win over Harper Woods Regina.

But Canton was ousted by Wayne Memorial in the next round 15-12, 15-10.

"I was happy how we did," said Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein. "We played steady, consistent and tough.

"It was nice for us to get out of our pool. We hadn't been out of it in years. I'm sorry that we didn't beat Wayne, but I think we could have."

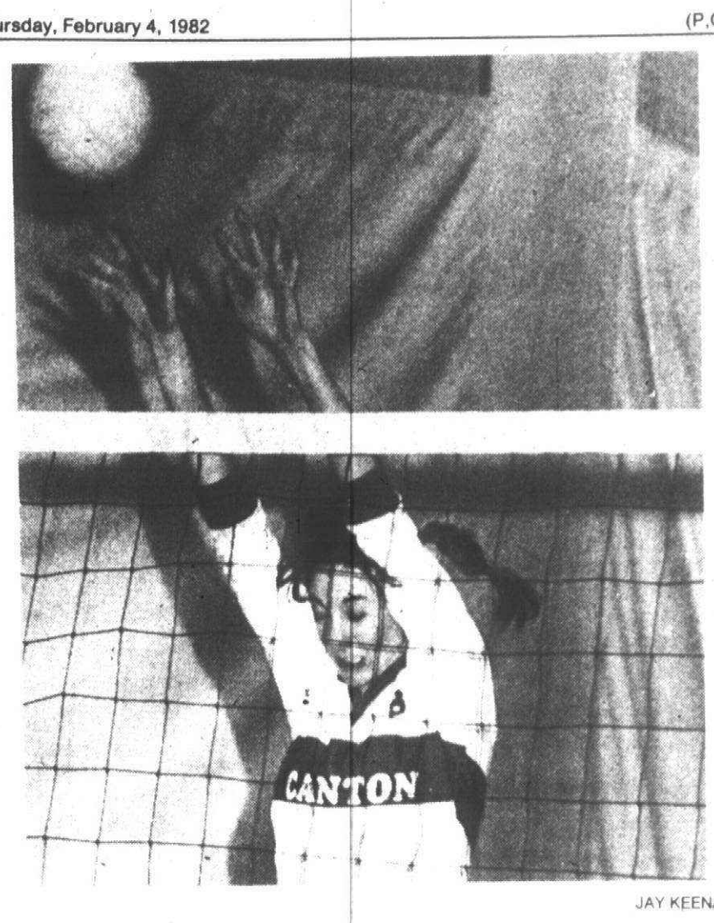

Meanwhile, rival Plymouth Salem tied Flint Kearsley and Ypsilanti for third place in Pool B with 2-3 record. The Rocks were eliminated from playoff competition based on points.

"I'm real, real pleased with the way we played in our final games," said Salem coach Jeanne Martin. "We played a couple of poor games earlier, but we gave Portage Northern (15-12) one of its best games in our last match."

"The kids showed themselves they can play with anybody. I think our problem earlier was lack of confidence. They did not play aggressive. They just played defense, and you can't win that way.

THREE AREA squads finished among the top two in their pools in the opening round of competition but failed to qualify for the quarterfinals. Westland John Glenn finished first (Pool A) while Livonia Franklin (Pool C) and Redford Union (Pool B) were both second. All three lost in the pool playoffs.

Lori Swanson of Bentley and Dawn Boyd of Glenn were named to the All-Tournament team.

Debbie Dickinson of Canton makes the block on this play without even seeing the ball. Dickinson and her teammates made it to the quarterfinals of the Plymouth Invitational.

Stevenson's was much stronger in the upper weights. The Spartans, in fact, won the final five matches — Tim Templeton (158) decisioned Marty Heaton, 6-2; Brian Bileti (170) pinned Wain Yeung, 5:56; Mike Templeton (188) decisioned Don Page, 14-4; and Mike Bonczyk (201) pinned Alex Young, 1:37.

Stevenson's Brian Youngberg won the heavyweight match by default.

"All five seniors came through tonight," said Chrenko. "They all won, and I'm glad for them."

CANTON WILL be off until Saturday, Feb. 13, when it goes after its second-straight Western Six League crown. The meet at Northville begins at 2:15 p.m.

Flip Rowdies finish perfect indoor year

The Flip Rowdies, a member of the Bonanza-Express Soccer League (BESL), concluded a season of play most teams dream about.

The Girls-16 club recently concluded an undefeated indoor season at Square Lake Racquet Club. The Flip Rowdies won the division title with a 3-2 victory over the Warren Rowdies in a position round match.

Kim Paterson of Livonia scored all three goals for the winners. Kim Reeves of Plymouth drew assists on each of the scores.

The Flip Rowdies, coached by Dave Lussier and assisted by Ed Dudek and Al Beagle, won the Girls-16 state championship last year and were first place BESL finishers during the fall and spring campaigns.

Salem softballers to bowl for pledges

The Plymouth Salem girls' softball team will bowl for profits 9-10:30 a.m. Sunday at the Super Bowl lanes in Canton.

Super Bowl, at Ford and Canton Center, has donated 10 lanes to head coach Rob Willette's squad for the fund-raiser.

Willette says he expects between 15 and 20 team members to bowl three games each. His players currently are gathering pledges of one penny for each pin knocked down in the three-game series.

Anyone interested in pledging may call team members Bonnie Southerland (420-2597) or Laurie Jarski (455-5526) for more information.

Schoolcraft falls to league leader

Eastern Conference Player-of-the Week Paul Crane scored 20 points and grabbed 11 rebounds Saturday to lead Delta College to a 91-72 basketball win over slumping Schoolcraft Community College.

The Eastern leaders of the Michigan Junior College Athletic Association now have an 11-2 record (not including yesterday's games). Schoolcraft, which held the top spot only three weeks ago, lost its third straight and fell to 8-5.

Flint Mott, Highland Park and Macomb share second place at 9-4.

Crane, a 6-foot-5 sophomore forward, got plenty of support as James Preston (17), Ron Reed (14) and James Odneal (12) also hit in double figures.

George Meriweather, a guard from Detroit Northwestern, led the Ocelots with 24 points. Phil Blevins, the second-leading scorer in the Eastern loop, was held to 10. Manuel Smith also had 10.

Host Delta held a seven point halftime advantage, 40-33.

Blevins, a 6-5 sophomore forward from Detroit Central, tallied 24 points but it wasn't enough as Schoolcraft fell to Oakland CC earlier in the week (Jan. 27), 72-71.
