The Canton Connection

CANTON'S FIRE Department reminds all businesses and subdivisions to remove snow from all fire hydrants so they are both visible and accessible to the firefighters in case of emergencies.

BOY SCOUT Anniversary Week will be celebrated by all the "go-need" doers this week. Let's remember the good will Boy Scouts give to the Canton community.

BOWLERS — TAKE NOTE. The bowling tournament for "Track C" students on the Extended School Year program has been rescheduled for noon Thursday at Super Bowl lanes at Canton Center and Ford roads. The tournament was postponed Wednesday because of the snowstorm.

PROPERTY TAX blues? Remember, residents may appeal their property-tax assessments before a review board in early March. Residents must obtain a form from Township Hall if they wish to appeal. The form must be filled out and returned prior to scheduling an appointment with the board of review, which will begin meetings on March 2. Township Hall is on Canton Center, south of Cherry Hill.

SPEAKING OF your property-tax assessment, that was one of the topics that was supposed to be discussed at Thursday's "State of the Township" address. Snow removal and road maintenance dominated the meeting, however, forcing Township Hall to schedule another meeting for residents interested in discussing those assessments.

CORRECTION The picture in Thursday's Canton Observer of a church congregration was not the first group of people representing the Cherry Hill United Methodist Church. In fact, it was a snapshot of persons from three congregations — Cherry Hill, Sheldon and Denton — pictured together in the early 1900s.

LYNNE TAYLOR of Canton received a $300 scholarship by winning the state physical fitness competition during a statewide Junior Miss pageant competition in Marshall Jan. 22 and 23.

Miss Taylor, the Wayne-Westland Junior Miss, earlier had won another $300 scholarship by becoming the area junior miss. She is a senior at John Glenn High School in Westland.

AS A PUBLIC service, the Wayne Bank of Canton will have regular hours (9 a.m. to 7 p.m.) on Friday, Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday. It also will have drive-in hours (9 a.m. to 4 p.m.) on Monday, Feb. 15, Washington's Birthday celebration.

CANTON POLICE are using a red four-wheel-drive vehicle equipped with overhead light and siren to patrol snow-congested streets.

A uniformed officer will drive it, said Lt. Dennis Joker of the Canton police department.

The vehicle also carries a stretcher and, upon request, may deliver emergency food collected by Canton Goodfellows to senior citizens unable to get out of the snow.

Persons should request Lt. Joker at 397-3000, or Fred Baker at 397-1000.

Anyone interested in submitting information about Canton Township for the Canton Connection can send items to Canton editor Dennis O'Connor, 461 S. Main, Plymouth 48170. We ask that you type or print the information and include your name and phone number in case we have any questions. Column items should be received at least seven days before publication date. Folks angered by plow delays

By Dennis O'Connor
editor

What was supposed to be Canton's "State of the Township" address turned into a 3½-hour gripe session over piles and piles of snow in subdivisions.

More than 250 angry residents jammed Township Hall Thursday night to air their frustrations on the lack of snow-removal service from the Wayne County Road Commission.

Canton Supervisor James Poole, along with two officials from the road commission, fielded 150 questions from the hostile group.

Some residents blamed Canton Township. Others blamed the county and state. But most were simply fed up with the snow conditions and wanted to know why their subdivision was the last to get plowed.

They also wanted to know why neighboring communities received quicker service.

IT WAS EXPLAINED that all township roads are owned and maintained by Wayne County. Cities, however, own and maintain their own roads.

Canton, Redford and Plymouth townships h experienced poor snow-removal services last week, while cities, such as Livonia, Westland and the city of Plymouth, offered quicker service to subdivisions.

Property-tax revenues do not go to the road commission. County money for road maintenance comes from gasoline and weight taxes.

"It's a vicious circle," Poole said to the crowd, "because the more gas you save and the more you conserve, the less gas you sell and the less tax they (Wayne County) take in."

Wayne County received $29.8 million from the Michigan Motor Vehicle Fund for its share of revenues in 1974, said John Kinville, a county engineer representing the road commission. The county received that same amount — $29.8 million — in 1981. Inflation rates and equipment costs in those seven years "translate to a ruduction of in service.

"We don't have the equipment or the resources to give you the level of service we gave you six, seven or 10 years ago," Kinville said.

Road crews struggle

Residents of Plymouth and Canton townships are becoming increasingly frustrated as they continue to be marooned in subdivisions with all-but-impassable streets.

Canton Supervisor James Poole hosted a meeting in Township Hall Thursday. About 250 Canton residents turned out and vented anger over unplowed streets.

Plymouth Township Hall logged 200 calls from people who were angry about snowy roads, said Supervisor Maurice Breen. The township may dip into the general fund to hire a private snow-removal firm, he said.

By contrast, the streets in the city of Plymouth had been cleared away shortly after the two largest snowfalls last week.

The difference is who is in charge of the clean-up.

The city of Plymouth's department of public works plows its own streets, encompassing 33 miles of roadway and several city parking lots.

Where should they cut?

Plymouth-Canton schools face a deficit that may reach $2.5 million in the 1982-83 school year. Here are 13 areas of school spending facing possible reduction or elimination. Give us your feelings on what items should be the first to bite the bullet.

Please rank items in order of priority to achieve the $2.5-million cut. (1 is the first cut, 2 is the second cut, etc.) The figures in parentheses represent the estimated annual savings by cutting each program.

- ☐ administration (12 percent; $200,000)
- ☐ special education (13 percent; $328,000)
- ☐ clerical services (11 percent; $140,000)
- ☐ custodial services (12 percent; $240,000)
- ☐ eliminate all athletics ($134,000)
- ☐ increase class size (by 2 students; $750,000)
- ☐ eliminate all other after-school activities (band, radio, clubs, drama; $56,000)
- ☐ eliminate extended school year (four elementary schools; $300,000)
- ☐ length of classroom day (1 period in high schools and middle schools; $950,000)
- ☐ eliminate Talented and Gifted (TAG) ($97,000)
- ☐ eliminate school lunch program (subject to change in state mandate; $100,000)
- ☐ elementary school support services (art, music, physical education; $550,000)
- ☐ busing (except for all students more than 1½ miles from school; $200,000)

Should school employees go without raises for the school year? ☐ yes ☐ no

Should the board ask voters to raise taxes to cover the deficit? 2½ mills will roughly cover $2.5 million. Would you vote for. . .

☐ a 2½-mill increase ☐ a 1-mill increase ☐ no tax-rate increase

It's time to priortize

It's no secret Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are in deep financial trouble.

It's time to bite the bullet. There's no question about it.

School administration estimates a $2-million budget deficit for the 1982-83 school year. And this figure doesn't include any projected increases from labor negotiations. All labor contracts for school union employees expire this fall.

If one includes salary increases for all school employees, the deficit could reach as high as $4 million.

Preparations for the 1982-83 school budget now are under way. In fact, the schools have scheduled an initial workshop for Friday and Saturday to discuss this year's budget — and proposed cuts.

Where do you feel cuts should be made?

It's time for you to give direction to the school board through The Observer's prepared survey.

The survey includes 13 items which may be reduced or eliminated. The approximate savings accompany each item. School administration supplied these dollar amounts. Cuts in this survey total more than $4.5 million.

THIS IS YOUR opportunity to help the school board prioritize budget cuts.

To give help you, suppose after negotiated raises — if any — the board faces a $2.5-million deficit. We want you to rank the items, in order of priority, to achieve the $2.5-million cut. (1 is the first cut, 2 is the second, etc.)

Please keep in mind other factors before making your decisions. For example, the current high-school day includes six 55-minute periods. The middle-school day is seven 42-minute periods. If you reduce the length of the school day, you reduced the number of teachers needed and eliminate the cost of their salaries. This survey proposes to reduce the length of both days by one period.

Also, the student classroom staff ratio is different at all levels. Kindergarten is 26/1; grades 1-6 is 29/1; grades 7-9 is 30/1; and grades 10-12 is 31/1. This survey proposes an increase in class size by two students at all levels.

The survey also proposes taking four of the six elementary schools off the Extended School Year (ESY) program. And it also eliminates safety busing, after-school activities (including athletics) and the Talented and Gifted (TAG) program.

Finally, by state law public schools must provide a school lunch program. This survey proposes to eliminate this, subject to change in the law.

TELL US WHAT you think. Send your survey coupon to The Observer, 461 S. Main, Plymouth 48170.

RICHARD B. RADER

A memorial service was held recently for Dr. Rader, 33, at Ira Kaufman Chapel in Southfield. Burial was in Orlando, Fla.

Dr. Rader, an internist with offices in Canton, died Jan. 30 in West Bloomfield. He had been staying with his brother Ronald while recovering from injuries received from a fall the day before.

Dr. Rader, a resident of Farmington, graduated from Wayne State University School of Medicine in 1975. He completed his internship and residency requirements at Sinai Hospital in Detroit and was named to the hospital staff in July 1978.

Survivors include: parents, Herman and Rose Rader; brother, Ronald; sisters, Mrs. Allen Greenstein and Lynne Rader.

RONALD L. PETERSON

Funeral services for Mr. Peterson, 40, of the city of Wayne were held recently in Schrader Funeral Home with burial at Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth. Officiating was Pastor Headley Thweatt. Memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Mr. Peterson, who died Jan. 29 in Ann Arbor, had lived in Plymouth in 1962 and was a member of Main Street Baptist Church. He was employed by General Motors.

Survivors include: wife, Norma; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Peterson of Spruce, Mich.; daughter, Kristina; sons, Ronald and Rodney; sister, Barbara Hendricks of Ossineke, Mich.; brothers, Elmer of Hubbard Lake, Mich., Leonard of Ossineke, and Curtis of Garden City.

MALCOLM A. LAUGHBAUM

Mr. Laughbaum, 70, of Napier Road in Plymouth Township died on Jan. 25 in Livonia. Arrangements are being made by Schrader Funeral Home. Memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Cancer or Michigan Heart Fund.

Mr. Laughbaum retired in 1974 as purchasing agent with Borg-Warner. He had owned Drum-Tec Co. in Plymouth. A native of Ohio, he had moved to Salem Township in 1961 from Detroit.

Survivors include: wife, Dorothy; sister, Frances Davenport of Lake City, Mich.

HERBERT MANSON

A memorial service for Mr. Manson, 83, of Sarasota in Redford Township, is scheduled for 2 p.m. today in St. John Episcopal Church in the city of Wayne with the Rev. Robert S. Shank Jr. to officiate. Arrangements are being made by Schrader Funeral Home, and memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Mr. Manson, who died Feb. 1 in Ann Arbor, was a supervisor for Ford Motor Co. who retired in 1963 after 34 years employment. He was in the Canadian Armed Forces during World War II.

Survivors include: wife, Mable; sons, Frank of Plymouth and Howard of Howell; sister, Eva of Guelph, Ontario; and by six grandchildren.

Classes offered to senior citizens

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department, through the Wayne-Westland Community Schools adult education program, is sponsoring free classes Monday-Thursday for Canton residents 55 and older.

Classes, now in session, will continue to June 30. They take place at the Canton Recreation Center on Michigan at Sheldon.

The schedule is as follows:

- Mondays: Ceramics and woodcraft. Ceramics includes painting and glazing. The teacher will have objects fired and returned to class.

Woodcarving is for both beginners and advanced students, who learn techniques for three-dimensional objects. Classes meet from 1-3 p.m.

- Tuesdays: Japanese embroidery. An eight-week course, which ends March 16. Class will feature projects that can be completed in or outside class. Class meets from 9:30-11:30 a.m.

Mobility through music. A fitness program that includes health concepts and conditioning designed for movement to music. Some walking tours and folk dancing may be included. Class meets from 1-3 p.m.

Men's exercise class. This class works at the individual's pace. Class meets from 1-3 p.m.

- Wednesdays: Decorating crafts. This course presents basic principles of art, and participants design and complete items for special-occasion decorations. Class meets from 1-3 p.m.

Painting I: Course teaches basic techniques of oil painting, color mixing and composition. Oils, canvas and brushes provided for $1 weekly fee. Class meets from 1:30-3:30 p.m.

Men's club: Club is open to Canton men 55 and older. Activities include cards, pool, shuffleboard and other activities. Club meets from 3-5 p.m. the first and third Wednesday of each month.

- Thursdays: Creative needlecrafts and personal sewing. Course introduces students to creative stitchery, including needlepoint, crewel embroidery, applique, patchwork, quilting and rug hooking. Class meets from 9:45 a.m. to noon.

For information about these classes, call the Canton Senior recreation department at 397-1000, Ext. 278.

Seniors plan trip

Canton senior citizens are planning a three-day trip to Wheels Inn resort in Chatham, Ont.

The group will leave Sunday, Feb. 14, and return Tuesday, Feb. 16. Recreation facilities at the resort include pool, saunas, billiards, bowling, ice skating, racquetball courts and exercise room.

The price is $128 double occupancy, $115.50 triple, and $109.50 quadruple.

The package includes round trip transportation, two nights lodging, social with refreshments, two breakfasts and one dinner, baggage handling, some guided tours and admission to movies.

For information, call Canton Parks and Recreation Department at 397-1000, Ext. 278.

Pupils bounce back from fear

Before the class started 6-year-old Eric Davis of Canton cried, telling his father he didn't want to go.

But his sobs were soon forgotten as Eric bounced up and down on a trampoline in the Farrand Elementary school gym.

Eric is a member of Jim Glasgow's class for students with learning disabilities and perceptual and coordination problems. The major lesson in the class is to keep trying — failure here occurs only when the effort stops.

Glasgow, a resident of Westland, has been teaching the class for 16 years. It is currently being offered in Plymouth-Canton, Farmington, Dearborn and Novi.

The students, like Eric who has cerebral palsy, acquire self-confidence and usually leave the class with an enhanced self-image, says Glasgow.

"MANY OF THE kids are afraid at the start. But kids like Eric (who could be heard crying in the background) will want to come to the class in six or seven weeks.

"They develop a greater self awareness. Instead of having a negative attitude about doing things they will give it a try," says the former Garden City physical education teacher.

"If you put a little blood and guts into it, it really pays off."

The pay-offs come in the form of smiles, like the one Eric had as the class applauded him for hopping up and down on one leg.

Another pay-off came when a former student, who once wouldn't participate in school sports, told Glasgow about scoring a goal in a floor-hockey game.

JUST PARTAKING in the exercises during Glasgow's class is many times a moral victory for the students. Whether or not they do the exercises right isn't of concern.

"I don't expect anything out of the kids, just that they try to do the things."

Running through the obstacle course brought plenty of laughs for Bob Lubeck, 12, of Livonia. He tumbled, jumped, hopped and raced on a a scooter board.

Five-year-old Julie Abraham of Plymouth Township bubbled with excitement as she did different exercises during the light game. Glasgow signals the children when to start and stop with either a red, blue, green or yellow light.

When the class ran in place, Julie, her blond hair in pony tails, smiled and shrugged her shoulders saying she couldn't do it. Her mother chuckled and said she did it at home all the time.

Julie proved her mother was right after encouragement from Glasgow.

GLASGOW BECAME interested in teaching such a course while occasionally working with handicapped children as a gym instructor.

The program he uses was developed in cooperation with George Barachal, a professor in clinical psychology and education at Wayne State University.

Along with building positive attitudes, Glasgow tries to improve some motor skills. Several of the exercises are designed to help build muscles which have restricted use.

The courses in Plymouth and Novi are presented through the schools' continuing education programs. The courses in Farmington and Dearborn are funded through the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD).

Persons seeking more information about the courses, offered to children between 5 and 15, should call 459-1180 in Plymouth, 477-8968 in Farmington, 348-1200 in Novi and 278-2338 in Dearborn.

Resident helps police nab 2

Livonia police praised a 20-year-old Canton man this week for providing information that led to the arrests of two suspects wanted in connection with a holdup in Redford Township.

Darryl Spear, a employee of Circus World in the Wonderland Shopping Center, contacted Livonia police Friday night when he spotted two customers who matched the descriptions of men wanted in a holdup at a Cunningham drug store in Redford the previous night. The men were arrested by Livonia police Friday afternoon based on Spear's information.

According to Redford police, a Cunningham clerk in the 7-Grand Shopping Center was robbed by two men about 9:30 p.m. last Thursday by two armed men. An undisclosed amount of money was taken by the men, who carried a handgun and knife.

Spear, a sophomore at Wayne County Community College, was sitting in a police car in Wonderland Thursday night when the broadcast came over the police car radio. Spear and two other Circus World employees were in the patrol car reporting the theft of another employee's car from the parking lot.

Spear said one of the suspect's descriptions made an impression on him.

"Me and my manager were sitting in the car and joking about it because it fit me except for the color of the coat," Spear recalled. "That's one reason why I remembered it."

About 4:30 p.m. Friday, Spear told police two customers walked into the toy store and asked for a set of metal handcuffs. Spear said he was "thinking about the night before and then they were just there."

Spear said the thought the resquest was unusual. Additionally, he noticed that one man wore a blue bullet-proof vest over his shirt. The police broadcast Thursday made note of the vest.

Spear called police after the men left the store.

Officers Robert Stevenson and Kevin Dawley arrived at the shopping center and followed the suspects to a silver Camaro parked in the center's east lot where they were arrested. The officers found a loaded 38-caliber handgun in the car and a knife on one of the men, said Sgt. Fred Benson of the Livonia Detective Bureau.

One of the suspects, a 15-year-old from Detroit, was later released in the custody of his parents, said Officer James Edney of the Livonia Youth Bureau. His involvement is still under investigation, said police. No charges had been filed against the teen as of this week.

Also arrested was Ronald Roscoe, 24, of Detroit. Roscoe was wearing a bullet proof vest, light green jacket and brown ski hat. The suspect, Ronald Roscoe, was charged with armed robbery and commission of a felony while in possession of a firearm.

Roscoe is scheduled for a preliminary examination on the charges Feb. 9 in Redford's 17th District Court. He stood mute at his arraignment in the 25th District Court Sunday. Roscoe was taken to the Wayne County Jail after he failed to post a $50,000 cash bond.

Redford police said Cunningham clerk Patricia Mikedis, 24, was alone in the store last Thursday when two men walked in and demanded money.

Ms. Mikedis first refused, said police, but then relented when she reached for a "hold-up alarm button" under the counter and found it didn't work.

The second man, wearing a face mask, then grabbed her wrist and pointed a knife at her, she told police.

The assailants were last seen heading south on Grand River toward Seven Mile on foot, Ms. Mikedis told police.

According to Sgt. Edwin Oswald of the Redford Detective Bureau, police checked the store's emergency alarm after the incident and found it was working. "I don't think she pressed it hard enough," he said.

In addition to the hold-up charges, Roscoe faces sentencing this week in Redford on a 1979 misdemeanor conviction, said police. Roscoe was convicted of tampering with an automobile, which carries a maximum fine of 90 days in jail and $100. He was not sentenced previously, however, because he failed to appear.

Teens arrested after lengthy chase

Five teen-agers — ranging from 13 to 19 — were arrested in Canton Township early Tuesday after a high speed chase along the ice-covered Jeffries Freeway in a stolen car, according to Livonia police.

The car's owner decided not to press charges because he is an apparentacquaintance of one of the teen-agers, said Officer James Edney of the Livonia Youth Bureau.

Sgt. Ray Laundroche of the Livonia Detective Bureau said police are considering charging one teen with fleeing and eluding. A second charge of larceny is also considered against two of the boys.

The incident began at the Total Gas Station, 31374 Schoolcraft, about 2 a.m. Tuesday. Livonia Officer Mark Mitchell spotted the boys leaving the station without paying for gasoline, according to police reports.

He followed their car onto the westbound Jeffries from Farmington and chased the car at speeds which reached 85 mph, according to police reports.

During the pursuit, Mitchell learned that the car had been reported stolen from a Warren man. Mitchell notified police units in Plymouth and Canton of the chase.

He apparently lost the car west of Newburgh as the 1979 Oldsmobile turned onto the M-14 Freeway in Plymouth Township with the headlights turned off, police said.

About 15 minutes later, however, Canton police discovered the car abandoned in a snowbank at Saltz and Canton Center roads.

While investigating the scene, Canton police said the two youngest boys, a 13-year-old and a 15-year-old, returned to "turn themselves in."

The three other youths were discovered about 2:30 a.m. in a shed behind a home on Saltz Road. Canton officers arrested the three teens — 17, 18 and 19 — after a tracking dog led them to the shed, Livonia police said.

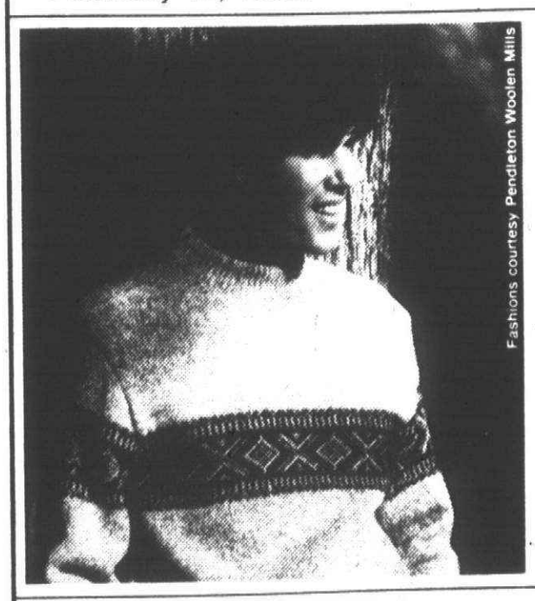

Eight Canton and Livonia officers were involved in the arrest.

The 19-year-old lives in Royal Oak while the other two live in Detroit, police said. There were two sets of brothers involved, officers said.

When will subdivision get plowed?

"The wisdom of our state legislators 70 years ago passed acts that govern everything we (the county) do . . . and formulate the money we get to perform services for the county.

WAYNE COUNTY plows roads on a priority system — starting with major freeways and state truck line and finishing with the primary-road system and then local subdivisions, said Jerry Dresselhouse, a civil engineer for the road commission.

"We plow and salt in that priority," Dresselhouse said. "We don't go into subdivisions until we finish following the system in that order."

In fact, Dresselhouse said some trucks were in Canton Wednesday afternoon, plowing from the weekend storm, but left the subdivisions and headed to the freeways when a mid-week storm hit the metropolitan area.

"Quite frankly," Dresselhouse said, "the purpose of the priority system is to service the greatest number of people first."

SOME RESIDENTS said the best way to clear subdivisions is to hire private contractors, but there was a question of legal liability connected to this suggestion.

Others believed the township should think about incorporating into a city-rule government, pay higher taxes, but maintain control of the roads.

Another group believed the township should take over the road maintenance c chores.

If the township were to clear its roads, taxes would have to be raised three mills ($3 per $1,000 assessed property valuation), Poole said. Canton would get $235,000 from Wayne County, but the township would need $1.5 million "up front" to buy equipment and an additional $800,000 per year to maintain it, he said.

Although Poole believed it was ecomonically unfeasible for the township to take over road maintenance, he kept an open mind.

"If people want snow removal and are willing to pay for it, I'm all for putting it on the ballot and letting the people vote for it," the supervisor said.

Road-plowing crews fight big battle

Canton and Plymouth townships are under the jurisdiction of the Wayne County Road Commission, which is responsible for 2,400 "snow" (plowing) miles of bridges and overpasses, freeways and major roads in the county.

"SUBDIVISIONS are our lowest priority," said Irma Clark, assistant director of public information for the road commission.

Poole said some people accuse him of not caring about the snowy streets. He denied this, saying he has been working closely with the road commission.

Plows were clearing roads in both Canton and Plymouth townships when it began snowing last Wednesday, officials said. Crews were pulled out and sent to work on freeways.

Ms. Clark said she sympathizes with residents who are upset with their uncleared streets, but safety and traffic needs dictate that larger roads be cleared first.

The road commission used 200 employees and 110 pieces of equipment to clear ice and snow during last week's two major storms on Sunday and Wednesday.

"It has been a real hassle," said Ms. Clark. "It's a monumental task. Our guys have been working 85 hours straight with a few rest periods."

THE CITY of Plymouth uses a crew of five men, four trucks and one road grader. An outside contractor is used to haul snow out of the city's business district.

The city has used no salt during the recent snowstorms. Crews had cleared Sunday's storm by Monday morning. The Wednesday afternoon storm was cleaned up by 5 a.m. Thursday.

The road commission, which clears to the bare pavement, has used 100,000 tons of salt this year at a cost of $2 million, said Ms. Clark.

"That's the amount (of salt) we use for an average (whole) year," she added.

'New federalism' vague for all communities

What will new federalism mean to local communities? Will chuckholes be patched on Main Street in Rochester? Will innovative educational programs be introduced in Garden City?

Or is it a con game? As state Sen. Doug Ross, a Democrat whose district includes Farmington, Farmington Hills and Southfield, said, "We don't want someone to pay our newsboy in return for us paying their light bill."

Most local officials say it's too early to tell the results of the program outlined in President Ronald Reagan's State of the Union address. Reagan said he wanted to turn over 40 programs costing $47 billion to state and local governments. During a transition period of eight years, $28 billion in revenue would be shifted to the states. After that, the federal money would be cut off.

Early reactions were along partisan lines. Republicans, like state Sen. Bob Geake of Northville, backed the President. "I support the plan in principle. A number of federal services . . . should be handled by the state in cooperation with local governments," he said.

Democrats like Sen. Ross were skeptical. "We have to make sure it's not simply a shift of Washington's financial problems onto us," he said.

IT'S DIFFICULT to evaluate new federalism because so much is unknown. The president didn't have many details last week. His proposals must be approved by Congress where much haggling and dealing will take place.

Also, the state of Michigan is at a critical period in its history. Its unemployment rate leads the nation. Businesses are cutting back investments in the state. By most estimates, Michigan is in a depression.

The day before the president's speech, Gov. William Milliken announced that because of the state's depressed economy, $225 million in state aid to local governments and higher education will be held back and repaid in fiscal 1983. Some cities such as Livonia have already responded by cutting their local budgets.

Traditionally, Michigan has had an excellent economy. Thus, on a per-resident basis, it has contributed more money in taxes and taken back less in federal programs than most other states. That situation has changed, and now this state desperately needs federal programs. It's ironic that now the president is talking of turning back more money and programs to state and local agencies.

Nick Sharkey

No one can predict the effect the president's proposed program will have on an economically poor state like Michigan.

ANY DISCUSSION of new federalism requires a critique of Reaganomics. For new federalism was the key economic philosophy outlined in the president's first State of the Union address. If you believe in Reaganomics, you support new Federalism, and vice versa.

To be generous, the verdict is still out on Reaganomics. Unemployment is at a higher rate than a year ago. Interest rates are dropping, but they are still at an unacceptably high level.

Last week, the president said the problems of the economy were inherited, and he didn't cause them. He had no plans to change his economic approach because (according to him) the system was now in place and would begin to work at some undetermined time.

FRANKLY, THIS "trust me" approach is hard to take in the Detroit area, where businesses are closing rapidly and there is a high rate of unemployment, even among the middle class.

But it's not only Detroit that's worried about Reaganomics. So is Wall Street. Friday's edition of the conservative Wall Street Journal outlined the doubts of businessmen in a story headlined, "Business leaders begin to express skepticism about Reaganomics."

Businessmen are worried about budget deficits forecasted to be as high as $100 billion a year. They are holding off on making investments and hiring more workers.

Will new federalism and Reaganomics make your hometown a better place to live? Hopefully, yes. But there are doubters — even among Republicans. With all of these questions there's only one certainty: The "cure" had better start working soon.

Where does Headlee stand?

Steve Barnaby

On your mark, get set . . . .

Well, we're still a tad removed from the gubernatorial "go" mark when it comes to Farmington Hills' own citizen-politician, insurance executive Richard Headlee.

But no longer can — or will — the Crackerbarrel be pelted and kicked for daring to say Headlee has joined the rest of us mortals in the pursuit of power.

Actually, the guy has to be given credit for 'fessing up. A lot of his supporters would have rather seen him kid around with the public a little more by forming an "exploratory" committee.

But if anything, Headlee is his own person. Those around him who may have thought they could foist their ideology on him without question undoubtedly are surprised.

Now, I'll admit the temptation exists to pen an "I told you so" column. But this state is in critical shape, and gloating is the last thing we need — even from a know-it-all curmudgeon columnist.

The future is what counts. And the gubernatorial future indicates we're going to see a lot of position-shifting between Headlee and arch-rival Lt. Gov. Jim Brickley.

INDEED, BRICKLEY is coming out with conservative banner flying. Last weekend at the Michigan Press Association convention, Brickley unfurled the banner.

He huffed and he puffed and told us about what wonderful things the new federalism will do for the state of Michigan. I always thought cloning was reserved for science fiction until I heard Brickley doing his Ronald Reagan imitation.

Headlee, on the other hand, is actually talking about being a "moderate-conservative" — whatever that is.

But unlike previous statements, Headlee has tossed out the moderate signal to see how it will fly. After all, if mentor George Romney was a moderate, why not Dick Headlee?

It will take much more than intimating he is moderate to build the coalition needed to win. Headlee's public statements still revolve around the evils of the federal government and the glories of conservative economic policy.

Snow makes for warm heart

Everything seemed so peaceful and quiet at the little white house with the green shutters that stands so smugly in the woods.

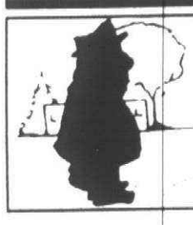

Outside the snow flakes were curling down and it was a sight to beld. Even the most picturesque pictures couldn't duplicate the scene. It was a real winter wonderland.

Then the winds came. The snow started curling up and around the area. One scarcely could see more than 100 feet. Then, over the tube came the voice with the warning that we were headed for a blizzard — a mean one.

For a time The Stroller just sat and looked out the window. It was a sort of thrill to see the snow swirling and the winds carrying the flakes off in all directions.

THEN CAME the voice again. This time was a very solemn warning not to leave the house. It was warning that the winds had caused the snow to drift. Many of the roads were impassable. The warning went a step further with the advice not to leave home for fear you might not get back without trouble.

All of a sudden The Stroller realized that he was a prisoner in his own home. As he watched the winds curling the snow into large drifts across the driveway it was evident that he was in for a new experience — cooped up in his own home and warned not to venture a step outside.

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

What to do? That was the question. He couldn't just sit there and worry about getting out. There was no sign of life on the dead end road in front of the little white house. There was no sign of traffic on the main highway and the stilness seemed awesome.

There was no relief by watching the television. All it carried was bad news from all sections of the east and northeast and the warning to remain inside.

For how long no one knew. Then came Monday morning and the stillness was broken by the sound of motors on the snowblowers. The snow had stopped. Now it was the task of opening the driveways.

ONE NEIGHBOR after another came out of the cooped-up homes and before long the good neighbor policy was at its peak. All hands joined as The Stroller got out his big powerful snowblower and before long the city plow came through and had us do the job all over again to open the entrances to driveways.

But there in the snow was born a strong good neighbor policy. There was no thought of one home being better than another. No thought of comparing personalities. We all became a group of helping hands.

A plan for all seasons.

The Payroll Savings Plan is one of the easiest, safest ways to get started on the saving habit. Even if saving has always seemed too difficult in past seasons.

A little is automatically taken out of each paycheck toward the purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds. You'll never miss it, so you'll never spend it.

It just keeps growing for some coming spring, or maybe a warm vacation during a cold winter.

DRY SOCKET

Normally, following the extraction of a tooth, the wound in the jaw usually heals within a few days without complications. However, in every life, there is always an exception. One of those rare complications that can follow an extraction is known as a dry socket.

As the name (dry socket) implies, the clot that normally forms shortly after tooth removal, fails to develop or is lost. This leaves a bare and unprotected socket exposed to bacteria, saliva and food debris. The lining of the socket is sensitive and when bared to this irritating environment, a great deal of pain can develop.

About all that can be done is to keep the area as clean as possible and the patient as comfortable as possible with medication and place an anesthetic dressing into the open socket until nature develops a protective covering for the exposed socket.

The reason why a dry socket forms is not fully known. Some believe it results from a rapid bacterial action, others because of a fault in the blood clotting mechanism.

THE MICHIGAN Audubon magazine always is a joy to read. Helen Bradburn, who lives in Fountain near Ludington, is editor of the Michigan Audubon Society Inc. publication.

To a bird-lover, the idea of a house wren nesting in a clothes bag hanging on a line, or a saw-whet owl nesting in a wood duck box, can be pretty heady stuff. Imagine the excitement of enticing barn swallows to nest over a door by building a simple shelf. "Our reward," wrote George J. Wallace, "in addition to an almost flyless summer, came when their five young perched on a wire outside our dining room window where we could watch them being fed in a rotation the parents seemed to have worked out to their satisfaction."

Helen had a piece in the January-February issue that opens new avenues of thought. Here it is:

"Budget cuts can be beautiful. Michigan's 9,500 miles of highways could become one of the nation's longest wildflower trails as a result of a reduced mowing program started last summer by the Department of Transport to trim maintenance costs.

"The increased esthetic appeal of driving along highways with flower-strewn borders was noticeable on several summer excursions, and is sure to be enhanced as the practice contues.

"The blue of chickory is in a class by itself. The lowly Bouncing Bet reveals new beauty as her plant community spreads into drifts of pink-tinged white St Johnswort's sunshine yellow, the electric orange butterfly weed, dozens of tints and conformations parade through spring, summer and fall, gradually giving way to autumn's warm grays, tans, golds, rusts and plum colors of drying grasses, sedges, and other equally decorative wayside plants.

"This is a budget cut we can live with and enjoy."

Helen said she had to cut her original copy in which she suggested that garden clubs be responsible for sections of the highways.

"I got carried away with the idea of the women's clubs planting wildflowers along the highways — ideas that would have to have the approval of the Department of Natural Resources and other departments," she said.

With snow up to our elbows, it's good to think of flower-strewn roadsides.

ANOTHER THOUGHT in the Audubon publication will be of interest to those who feed the birds.

The numbers and kinds of birds coming to their feeders is a valuable source of data for the record of what is happening to the state's winter bird population.

The count method is simple and is recorded just once each month, November through April. To become part of the team of 900 Michigan researchers for the remainder of the season, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Winter Bird Survey, MAS Headquarters, 7000 N. Westnedge, Kalamazoo, 49007. Donations of $1 to defray ever-increasing costs of survey materials are appreciated. The MAS booklet, "A Guide to Feeding and Attracting Birds" is available for $1.50.

THIRD WINNER of the Big 50-50 weekly prize was announced at last week's Plymouth Salem/Livonia Bentley basketball game. Sue Dankovich won the $100. The 50-50 is a fundraiser sponsored by the Blue Chapter of High Schools Athletic Boosters Club.

TWO CANTON residents have had a hand in planning a gala event this coming Saturady at the Westin Hotel. They are Carmen de Asis, president of the Philippine American Family Association, and Honor Orencia, president of the Philippine Bowling League-West.

Three large Philippine organizations will have a joint dinner-dance and installation of officers in the main ballroom of the Westin. The 2,100-member Samahang Pilipino ng Michigan (Philippine Association of Michigan) will celebrate its 11th anniversary by honoring past presidents and officers. The family and bowling groups will install new officers. U.S. Rep. James Blanchard (D-Pleasant Ridge) will be guest speaker.

Dr. Stella Evangelista is overall chairwoman of the $24-a-person party. She says it will be a formal (but not black-tie) affair with more than 400 guests.

The dancing? According to Dr. Evangelists, it will be disco.

Hours on frigid freeway teach survival

By Sherry Kahan
staff writer

She had left work at 9 p.m. The temperature was 15 below zero, and the wind chill index 98 below.

She guided her car onto the freeway and waited for the heater to start its warming work. But before that could happen, the motor quit.

There was enough speed to get her to the side of the freeway. Then nothing.

Sandy Williams was stranded — on one of the coldest nights of a winter described as the coldest of the century.

Mrs. Williams is a keyliner on the production staff of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, and she was starting for her Union Lake home.

Like most drivers, she had given a occasional passing thought to the possibility of being alone on the road in such circumstances, but now the time was past for the luxury of planning. Freezing reality was setting in fast.

When her ordeal began, her car was tantalizingly close to the warmth of office and nearby homes, but she was separated from both by the high concrete walls that rise where I-96 merges with I-275. By the time it was over, she had learned a lot about cold weather survival.

HER FIRST decision was to stay with the car. She thought a cruising police car might find her, or her husband, Jim, would come looking for her.

She turned on blinker lights, but decided against hailing a passing vehicle. She had heard tales of violence involving stranded motorists.

For three hours she remained there. A state police car sailed by once, its occupants apparently failing to see blinking emergency lights.

To keep warm she stamped, clapped her hands and moved about on the front seat. Several times she took off her boots and sat on her feet to warm them.

"I told myself that by midnight I would have to do something," she said. "I couldn't stay there and freeze to death."

Then about midnight came two Livonia police offers, Peter Kunst and Anne Fogarty.

"I was so damn glad to see them, I wanted to kiss them both," Mrs. Williams said.

SHE ASKED asked first if it would be all right if she warmed up in their car. "I really thought I would get back in my car and wait for my husband," she said. "At that point I don't think I was thinking quite right."

Instead the officers took her to a nearby restaurant, where she couldn't even drink the hot coffee offered. Her hands were trembling too much. Then fellow workers at the Observer were called, and they took her back to the office and warmed her with blankets.

"My husband meanwhile came to the office," she recalled. "He had found my empty car. He really panicked when he found it and had no clue as to what happend to me. I should have left a note."

All ended well at home as she took a hot bath, donned a nightgown warmed in the drier and crawled under an electric blanket with the heat turned way up.

BUT, THINKING back, she knows she'll spend the rest of this cold winter with more preparation than the warm clothes she was wearing that night.

Now she drives with a number of survival items in her car. These include a blanket, warm boots, gloves, socks and a hat. There's a flashlight, too, and a new bit of equipment the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts call a Buddy Burner.

It consists of a fat candle and an empty three-pount coffee can. Combined, they provide a heat source that could help a lot in a small car. The candle rests on the coffee can lid, and holes punched in the lower part of the can pull in air to keep the candle lighted.

Mrs. Williams also plans to get a flare, which she figures would attract more attention than her blinkers did. She's getting some kind of emergency flag to tie to the car's antenna. She'll drive with at least half a tank of gasoline at all times. If the motor doesn't conk out, it can be used to power the heater. And she will always check to make sure the car is operating properly before starting off.

SHE WILL TRAVEL main streets instead of expressways during threatening weather, because that way there is a better chance of reaching a home, business or gas station.

It's an awful feeling to be so close to people and feel you couldn't reach them," she said.

The police officers told her, though, that she was right to stay in her car.

"They told me that if I had started to walk on that night I would have lasted about 15 minutes, even if dressed properly," she said. I was farther than 15 minutes from help."

Now that its's all over, Mrs. Williams has a few observations that don't really relate to survival.

She doesn't blame the passing motorists who didn't stop. "I've probably drive by 100 people myself," she said. "I've been told to mind my own business and keep going.

"But now I think I'd check the car to see if anyone was in it. Or at least I'd go to the phone and call the police."

She realizes she felt some anger that she feared hitchhiking in her distressing situation although she thought that, "If I were a man, I could."

And she wishes the Livonia Police Department would let her find a way to thank the pair who rescued her.

The home-baked cupcakes they had to refuse were a gift straight from the heart.

Sandy Williams now packs warm socks and gloves into her car for driving around the area. She also has at hand warm boots, a flashlight, a tool kit and adhesive bandages.

Hypothermia symptoms show up in cold weather

The Michigan Department of Health suggests that elderly people be observed for symptons of hypothermia during cold weather.

A shiver is a normal reaction to the cold. The body is reacting normally to low temperatures by sending a message to get warm.

Some people are not aware of becoming chilled. These are candidates for hypothermia, a condition of normally low body temperature that can lead to serious complications and even death.

Although some infants and middle-aged persons can be at risk, older people are the most susceptible to hypothermia. According to the department of health bulletin, sometimes there is a change in appearance and behavior.

THE PERSON sometimes shivers uncontrollably, or not at all, and complains of stiff muscles. Speech could be slurred and breathing shallow and slow. If the pulse is weak and blood pressure is low, and if the person shows signs of confusion, disorientation, or drowsiness, they need immediate help.

"Until the ambulance arrives, warm the person. Wrap him or her in an electric or thermal blanket, and place a hot water bottle or heating pad on the abdomen (at low setting). If the victim is alert, feed him or her warm food or beverages, but do not give alcohol," suggests the health department.

If none of these procedures is available, warm the victim with your own body by lying close, but do not rub the person's limbs in hopes of improving circulation. Chances for recovery are good, if the person's general health is good, if the hypothermia is detected early, and if the case is not severe.

THE BEST ADVICE, according to the health department, is to keep older people warm.

"Some of them can be comfortable in rooms of 65 degrees temperature, but most need warmer surroundings. They should dress warmly, eat well, and be as active as possible. At night they should be warm in bed, since hypothermia may start during sleep.

"If you know an elderly person who is living alone, keep in touch to be sure they're all right. If you have an elderly person in your home, be sure he or she does not become chilled as thermostats are lowered to conserve fuel."

Survival or suicide NOW meeting topic

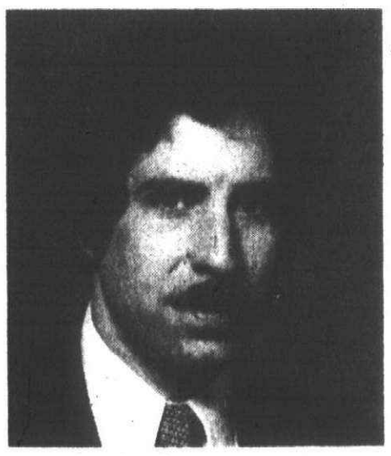

February membership meeting of the Northwest Wayne County chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) will feature Lillian Genser as guest speaker. Genser, director of Wayne State University's Center for Peace and Conflict Studies, will discuss "Survival or Suicide, the Woman's Role."

The public is invited to the meeting Wednesday, Feb. 10 in Hoover Elementary School, Levan Road between Five and Six Mile roads, Livonia. The business meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the program at 8:30.

The NOW chapter's membership is from Plymouth, Canton, Northville, Wayne, Westland, Garden City, Livonia, Redford Township and Farmington communities. Residents of those areas are invited to attend the February meeting.

For more information or transportation call Betty Kelley, 981-6117, or Janet Evans, president, 476-3352.

Arts council commissions Iannaccone

Anthony Iannaccone composer

The Plymouth Community Arts Council has selected composer Anthony Iannaccone to write and conduct a composition geared to the abilities of middle school musicians.

The premier performance of the work will be during the spring All-Star Band Concert in Plymouth. The All-Star band will be under the combined leadership of the five middle school band directors. They are Cheryl Waldenmyer of Central, Linda Mapes Calzone of East, Carl Battishill of Lowell, Dale Baer of Pioneer and Michael Chuimento of West.

Members of the band will be selected by "blind' tryouts among musicians selected by their directors.

IANNACCONE TEACHES composition and theory at Eastern Michigan University where he has been the recipient of the distinguished faculty award. He also directs Collegium Musicum at EMU.

He has prepared for publication 40 compositions and has received various awards, commissions and grants from organizations, including the National Endowment for the Arts. The PCAC hopes that the new composition will be shared eventually with middle school bands throughout the United States.

His music has received wide critical acclaim in such publications as the New York Times and Stereo Review.

This arts council project is being paid for with a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

New Morning informational meeting Feb. 11

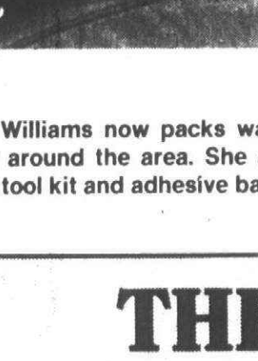

Parents of elementary and middle school children are invited to attend an informational meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at New Morning School. The informal discussion group will meet in the new school building, 14501 Haggerty, Plymouth.

The school has pioneered a family and child oriented educational program which has earned national acclaim. Educators and parents who attend the meeting will have an opportunity to meet and talk with Elaine Yagiela, founder of the school, and the teachers. They also will be able to ask New Morning parents, who do everything from serving on the school board to handling janitorial chores, about their thoughts on the private school.

People may call the school at 420-3331 for information and reservations. There is no admission charge to the meeting.

There are limited enrollment openings for the kindergarten through eighth grade program for the 1982-83 school term.

It's YOUR Money

NEW GUIDELINES TO TAX SHELTERS
Recent Tax Reform Acts wiped away a lot of the abuses (and the opportunities) in tax shelters. But they left behind plenty of chances for the astute investor to take advantage of real tax benefits.
The tax shelters offered are generally partnership shares in speculative ventures that offer large tax write-offs, sometimes greater than the investment itself. Eventually the expenses, and more, are supposed to come back in (taxable) profits (unless you go into yet another tax shelter deal). This is important: a real tax shelter is designed to make money, not just generate tax losses. And the IRS is looking much more closely at tax shelter deductions and the ventures that generate them. Under the law, deductible expenses for most tax shelters are limited to the amount the limited partner has invested, or is liable for, plus his share of the income. Real estate is exempted from that rule because of the enormity of mortgages.
Just because tax shelters are available doesn't mean they are right for you. First of all, shelters are speculative; you can lose everything you invested. Shelters are not liquid; it's hard to get money out quickly when you need it. And they take a long time to make any money.
Tax shelters make the most sense if you are in the 50 percent tax bracket; that's where the savings are maximized. Many states also require that investors in most tax shelter programs have a net worth of $50,000 or more—excluding house and car.
Two safe tax shelters remain, and they are effective even for those in the lower tax brackets. First is the Individual Retirement Account (or the Keogh Plan for the self-employed) which enables you to put away money for your future and shelter it from taxes until a later date when, it is assumed, you will be in a lower bracket. Second is a home of your own, enabling you to deduct from your gross income all the local taxes, and the mortgage interest, that you pay on it.

We're a local organization. Even though we served more than 3,000 clients last year we haven't forgotten that every client is an individual and that each individual deserves the best service we can provide.
When we sign a tax return that we've prepared, we're proud of having done the best possible job for you. When you see our signature on your tax return you can be sure that :
1. The counselor who prepared your return was competent and thoroughly experienced in tax matters.
2. You have received the maximum legal deductions and the minimum legal tax.
3. Your tax return has received all the time and attention that was necessary to do a proper job.
4. Your tax return has been double-checked for both accuracy and tax saving possibilities.
5. Your return has been handled in a confidential manner.

OLD FASHIONED TREATS WITH NEW FANGLED EASE

The giving of sweets to the sweet has long been a Valentine's Day tradition. Since early days when couples were matched by lottery in a ritual held in mid-February of each year, gifts have been exchanged to symbolize one's affection for another. We now choose our own match, but come February 14, we still give gifts, especially of candy.

Since homemade gifts seem to say "I Love You" more sincerely than any others, this year instead of stopping at the nearest candy shop, do as your grandmother did, and head for the kitchen. Fortunately, today you can get that old-fashioned, temptingly rich goodness that took hours of grandmother's time with only minutes of effort. The secret is to use quality convenience products from the supermarket. One of the best for cooking, baking and candymaking is marshmallow creme, which gives smooth creaminess to fudge, fondant and other goodies. With simple ingredients such as evaporated milk, chocolate pieces, chopped nuts—you can create a variety of confections for your Love on Valentine's Day.

No matter what type of candy your sweetheart craves, there's a delicious recipe sure to satisfy. We have assembled some of the best available to assure sweet successes this year. Fantasy Fudge is a traditional favorite all year round, but for Valentine's Day, make Sweetheart Fantasy Fudge, a rich white chocolate-fudge garnished with heart-red maraschino cherries. Or if white chocolate is hard to find, 12 oz. of butterscotch chips or peanut butter chips can be used in its place to create a lighter look and a new taste treat. Old-fashioned divinity is updated with marshmallow creme, for a recipe that takes only minutes and a few ingredients to prepare. The critical stage in the recipe is beating the divinity mixture, so be sure to watch it carefully according to instructions, for best results.

Elegant, hand-dipped chocolates are easy when they are Fondant Fancies, marshmallow creme confections dipped in melted chocolate pieces. Keep them chilled until serving time so that the chocolate stays firm. For almond lovers, make a variety of heart shapes with an easy Marzipan recipe requiring no hard-to-find or costly ingredients.

Whether you give these confections as a special gift to the one you love, or use them as the sweet finale to an intimate dinner for two, they're sure to improve Cupid's aim!

Marzipan

- ⅓ cup margarine
- 1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- 4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- Food coloring

Cream margarine. Add marshmallow creme and extract, mixing with electric mixer or wire whisk until well blended. Gradually add 2½ cups sugar, mixing well after each addition. Knead in remaining sugar. Divide mixture as desired; tint with food coloring as desired. Knead in additional sugar if mixture becomes sticky. Form into heart shapes; let stand overnight until dry.

Marshmallow Creme Divinity

- 1½ cups sugar
- ⅓ cup water
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup chopped pecans

Place sugar, water and cream of tartar in heavy 1-quart saucepan. Do not stir. Boil over high heat, without stirring, until candy reaches 248°. Very gradually add hot sugar syrup to marshmallow creme in 1½-quart bowl, mixing at lowest speed on electric mixer. Add vanilla; continue mixing at lowest speed until mixture begins to lose its gloss, approximately 5 minutes, and holds shape when dropped from spoon*. Stir in nuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto wax paper. Cool. Store in covered container. 2 dozen

Note:* This is a critical point in recipe. If mixture is underbeaten, it will not hold shape; if overbeaten, mixture becomes dry.

Sweetheart Fantasy Fudge

- 3 cups sugar
- ¾ cup margarine
- ⅔ cup (5⅓ fl. oz. can) evaporated milk
- 12 oz. white chocolate
- 1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Maraschino cherries

Combine sugar, margarine and milk in heavy 2½-quart saucepan; bring to full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Boil 5 minutes over medium heat or until candy thermometer reaches 238°, stirring constantly to prevent scorching. Remove from heat; stir in chocolate until melted. Add marshmallow creme, nuts and vanilla; beat until well blended. Pour into greased 13 x 9-inch pan. Garnish with maraschino cherries. Cool at room temperature; cut into squares.

Variation: Substitute one 12-oz. pkg. butterscotch or peanut butter pieces for white chocolate.

Fondant Fancies

- 1 cup marshmallow creme
- ⅓ cup margarine
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 1 6-oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted

Combine marshmallow creme, margarine, vanilla and salt, mixing with electric mixer or wire whisk until well blended. Gradually add sugar, mixing well after each addition. Shape into 1-inch balls; chill. Coat balls by rolling in melted chocolate. Lift out with fork; scrape off excess chocolate. Place on wax paper-lined cookie sheet; chill several hours. 2½ to 3 dozen

Fantasy Fudge

- 3 cups sugar
- ¾ cup margarine
- ⅔ cup (5⅓ fl. oz. can) evaporated milk
- 1 12-oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, margarine and milk in a heavy 2½-quart saucepan; bring to rolling boil, stirring constantly. Boil 5 minutes over medium heat or until candy thermometer reaches 238°, stirring constantly to prevent scorching. Remove from heat; stir in chocolate pieces until melted. Add marshmallow creme, nuts and vanilla; beat until well blended. Pour into greased 13 x 9-inch pan. Cool at room temperature; cut into squares. 3 pounds

Quick breads

Straight from mixing bowl to oven

For a festive occasion or a simple Sunday brunch, homemade quick breads are always a welcome treat. True to their name, quick breads go straight from the mixing bowl to the oven, requiring no kneading or rising time.

One ingredient often included in quick bread recipes is nuts. Loaded with protein, vitamins and minerals, nuts boost the nutritive value of the breads as well as enhance flavor and texture. Pecans and cashews impart their unique flavor to the accompanying quick bread recipes. For more nutty recipe ideas, write for "The Nut Cookbook," Box 632, NQB, Madison Square Station New York, N.Y. 10017.

PUMPKIN-PECAN TEABREAD

1¼ cups pecans pieces
3 cups sugar
¾ cup margarine
3 eggs
1 can (16 oz.) solid pack pumpkin puree
½ cup dairy sour cream
3½ cups unsifted flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. baking powder
2½ tsp. pumpkin pie spice
½ tsp. ground cinnamon

Coarsely chop pecan pieces; set aside.

In large bowl, cream sugar and maragarine. Mix in eggs, one at a time. Beat in pumpkin and sour cream until blended. combine flour, salt, baking soda, baking powder, pumpkin pie spice and cinnamon; gradually beat into pumpkin mixture until blended. Stir in pecan pieces.

Pour batter into three well-greased 1-pound coffee cans or two greased 8½-by-4½-by-2½-inch loaf pans. Bake at 325 degrees 50-55 minutes for cans, or 55-60 minutes for loaves. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pans. Dust with confectioners' sugar, if desired.

ORANGE CASHEW COFFEE CAKE

¾ cup salted cashews
1½ cups firmly packed light bown sugar
6 Tbsp. margarine, softened
3¾ cups unsifted flour
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
¼ tsp. ground nutmeg
1 Tbsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ cup margaine
2 tsp. vanilla extract
2 eggs
1 cup milk
2 Tbsp. grated orange rind
Confectioners' sugar

Coarsely chop ½ cup salted cashews; set aside. Halve remaining cashews and reserve.

Mix ⅓ cup brown sugar, 6 tablespoons margarine, ¾-cup flour, cinnamon and nutmeg until crumbly. Set aside.

Cream ½ cup margarine, remaining brown sugar and vanilla until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Sift remaining flour, baking powder and salt; alternately add flour mixture and milk to margarine mixture until well mixed. Stir in chopped cashews and orange rind. Spread into a greased and floured 9-inch square pan. Sprinkle with prepared curmbs. Bake at 350 degrees 45-50 minutes, until done. Cool. Glaze with confectioners' sugar frosting and decorate with remaining cashews. Makes a 9-inch cake.

Make egg rolls for fine hors d'oeuvres

You don't have to be Chinese to enjoy this delightful, but economical dish. Made with peanut oil, the frying oil traditionally preferred by Chinese cooks for its light flavor, these egg rolls make wonderful hors d'oeuvres or can accompany any meal.

VEGETABLE EGG ROLLS

peanut oil
2 cups sliced celery
1 cup shredded cabbage
1 cup chopped onion
2 cans (8 oz. each) bamboo shoots, drained
½ pound fresh bean sprouts
1 cup grated carrots
⅔ cup chopped mushrooms
½ cup chopped green onions
3 Tbsp. soy sauce
1 Tbsp. finely minced ginger root
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. crushed fresh garlic
16 egg roll skins
1 egg, beaten

Heat 3 tablespoons peanut oil in a wok or large skillet over high heat. Add celery, cabbage and onion; stir-fry ½ minute. Add bamboo shoots, bean sprouts, carrots, mushrooms and green onion. Continue to stir-fry until all vegetables are tender crisp, about 2 minutes. Stir in soy sauce, ginger root, sugar and garlic. Stir-fry an additional minute, or until soy sauce has evaporated. Remove from heat and cool.

Position each egg roll skin so that corners are at the top, bottom, left and right. Place ⅔ cup filling on the lower section of the skin. Tuck bottom corner around filling and roll firmly aobut half way up skin. Mositen the remaining 3 corners with beaten egg. Fold the left and right corners toward the center and complete rolling.

Heat a 1½-inch depth of peanut oil in an electric skillet or fry pan to 375° F. Fry egg rolls, a few at a time, for 2 to 3 minutes, turning once, until golden brown. Drain on paper towels. Serve hot. Makes 16 egg rolls.

This soup uses up leftovers

"Jambalaya, a piece of pie and file gumbo" have been Southern favorites, honored in both song and legend. This super supper soup is a canned pasta in tomato sauce which gives it extra body and flavor.

Add a bit of chicken and okra and the Southern accent comes forth. This version of the famous gumbo will make just enough for two people. It avoids having leftovers that often go to waste. It can be ready in just minutes using off-the-shelf convenience foods.

GUMBO MACARONI SOUP

¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup sliced carrots
¼ cup chopped and drained canned tomatoes
1 Tbsp. butter or margarine
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup water
1 can (7½ oz.) macaroni with beef in tomato sauce
½ cup chopped leftover chicken or shrimp
½ cup defrosted frozen okra or drained canned okra
2 Tbsp. parsley
Dash hot pepper sauce

In 2-quart sauce pan, saute onion, celery, carrots and tomatoes in butter. Add salt and water. Cover; simmer for 10 minutes. Add macaroni and beef, cover and simmer for 10 minutes. Add chicken or shrimp, okra, parsley and pepper sauce; simmer for 10 minutes. Serves 2.

The new diets: What are effects of food fads?

Sam Keen is contributing editor to New Age and to Psychology Today, for which he edited a report on "The New Food Consciousness." A free-lance writer and lecturer, he has a theology degree from Harvard Divinity School and a doctorate from Princeton University. He has held teaching appointments at Boston University, Princeton Seminary and Douglas College.

This is the fourth in a series of 15 articles exploring "Food and People." In this article, Sam Keen, editor of Psychology Today's report on "The New Food Consciousness," discusses how our food fads reflect wider social values. This series was written for Courses by Newspaper, a program of University Extension, University of California, San Diego, with funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

food and people

These days if you are not confused about what to eat, you don't understand the situation.

A generation ago, before cholesterol, before scientists discovered that a great many substances fed to rats in sufficient quantites cause cancer, we innocently ate our meat, potatoes and lettuce and considered ourselves well fed.

No longer.

Nowadays, a gaggle of experts offer contradictory advice on what we should eat and why. No meat, say the vegetarians and low-cholesterol buffs. All the fattening food you want, says diet doctor Robert C. Atkins, but beware of carbohydrates. Complex carbohydrates, little or no meat, says Frances Lappe. Not unless it's organic, says the Rodales.

Nonsense, a carrot can't tell manufactured fertilizer from horse manure, say the agribusiness experts.

Besides the specialists on nutrition, we have a yearly crop of uncredentialed, self-proclaimed experts on weight-loss diets, each with a scheme to deliver us from the evil of fat without having to resist the temptation to overeat.

Even the government is in on the act. In 1977 the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs released a set of dietary goals: more fruits, vegetables, whole grains, less sugar, fat and salt.

The confusion about the right food is one aspect of our broader cultural self-examination. Our values, ideals, visions, myths, heroes and lifestyles are in a fertile, but chaotic, ferment. The question underlying "What's to eat" is "How should we live?"

Food is a mirror, a Rorschach inkblot test that reflects our value choices. Examine what you eat, with whom, how fast and why, and you can get a rough idea of your personality type and world view.

What kind of an eater are you? Here are some to the "ideal types — somewhat exaggerated perhaps — that are most evident today:

TRADITIONAL EATERS

In the heartlands of America, the traditional folk still eat their square meals — meat and potatoes (with gravy), wilted salads and apple pie. In South Dakota, "home cooking" means steak, eggs and pancakes for breakfast, just as it did a generation ago when hearty meals and mesomorphic bodies were necessary for heavy ranch work.

Traditional eaters take their food and their values without questions. They want things plain and neat, the way they have always been. Men are head of the household, and women do the cooking. Meals are still family affairs.

They eat with relish but little imagination. No pheasant under glass or escargot. They generally pay little attention to how food affects their bodies or to the sensory delights of eating.

SPEED EATERS

Speed eaters have replaced traditional eaters as the most common American type. We are a nation of what has been called "Type A personalities" — restless, on the go, stress eaters. We eat fast-food burgers and sugary snacks on the run.

We are addicated to high-energy speed foods, sugars and carbohydrates, caffeine and fats. According to a recent U.S. government survey, the average American consumes 130 pounds of refined processed sugars per year. We like life sweet and fast.

The majority of speed eaters takes its values, like its TV dinners, prepackaged. Most of us don't question preprocessed food, the safety of the 1,800 chemical additives that are used to enhance the flavor and increase the shelf life of food, the farming methods of agribusiness, or the corporate control of the price, type and quality of foods in the supermarkets.

The consumption of fast and preprocessed foods coincides with devaluing cooking, eating and homemaking and with the rise of divorce rate. Dad and mom are both busy with work and individual success to waste time preparing elaborate meals. A whole array of fast-food chains and instant foods helps those who have no time to savor or waste.

Speed eaters believe in technology, efficiency, progress, the capitalistic status quo, upward mobility, the urban perspective, working mothers.

GOURMET EATERS

Gourmet eaters are what Jung called sensation types. They pay loving attention to simmering fresh peas in garlic sauce, flowers arranged just so in a vase, the texture of an artist's brush stroke. They are not necessarily snobs, but they have highly cultivated tastes with a commitment to enjoy Japanese sushi (raw fish) no less than French truffles.

Their world is a smorgasbord of flavors. They enjoy the luxury of being hedonists, and they are more apt to be outraged at the aesthetics of fried clams, fried potatoes, fried onion rings, than by the specter of world hunger.

RADICAL EATERS

Radical eaters never take an unpolitical bite. They follow a calorie-efficient "Diet for a Small Planet," boycotting nonunion lettuce and grapes. They look with prophetic eyes at the exploitative practices of agribusiness and the food industry and want "Food for People, Not for Profit." They object to the State Department's view that food is a diplomatic weapon.

Their insatiable hunger for justice often leads them to ignore their diets and to forget to savor the simple joy of a glass of wine, a book of verse and thou.

DIETERS

Dieters eat and don't eat for reasons that have little to do with nutrition or the enjoyment of food. The dieter exists in a cycle of splurge-purge, self-indulgence and guilt. The chronic consumer of food or things, what Freud called the oral-dependent personality, is always eating or buying substitutes for a deep-seated need for love.

Having eaten too often but not too well, the chronic consumer runs up against the American prejudice against fat. So the consumer turns dieter to shape the personal into the desirable thin image to get the approval, love and satisfaction that were not experienced in the food.

Each year, consumer-dieters read the new best seller on how to lose weight without nasty exercise or self-denial. In short, the chronic consumer-dieter exists in a frustrated world of unconscious needs and fantasized pleasures that never nourish or delight the real self.

HEALTH-FOOD EATERS

Health-food eaters are automatically considered food faddists by traditional and speed eaters. In fact, health-food eaters are part of a new worldwide romantic trend to search for a more "natural" way of life.

The new enthusiasm for whole wheat bread, fresh vegetables and unprocessed food is a symbol of the desire to get away from our prepackaged, institutionalized, profit-dominated culture and to return to the land — to pure air, clean water and rich humus.

In the "natural" scheme of things, food is not a commodity so much as a gift of the earth. Farming is not a business but a nearly sacramental way of life — living in communion with the land. Health food is a wafer, a symbol taken in hope for a more healthy, whole, holy way of living.

STILL CONFUSED about what to eat?

Sorry. Neither scientists, nutritionists nor philosophers can tell you the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth about food. Unlike cattle, human beings can't be fed a standard, scientifically optimal diet, because our eating expresses our values and our philosophy of life.

Food is about consumption and communion. (Who eats and who remains hungry?) And sacrifice. (Whose blood is shed for you when you eat a medium-rare sirloin?)

It is about service and caretaking. (Who cooks and why?) It is about tasting or gobbling the world, living lean or as a fat cat. It is about whether life is a businesss or a festival of thanksgiving and sharing.

If we lack the one true answer about food, perhaps we have something better — an interesting question. If, as the old proverb says, "You are what you eat," who are you?

The views expressed in Courses by Newspaper are those of the authors only and do not necessarily reflect those of the University of California, the National Endowment for the Humanities, or the participating newspapers.

Ford announces new division leader

Curtiss C. Drouillard of Plymouth is retiring as general manager of the climate control division of Ford Motor Company.

The division is headquartered in the Ford Sheldon Plant in Plymouth.

Succeeding him is Edward E. Hagenlocker, formerly the light-truck product development manager, truck operations for Ford North American Automotive Operations. Earlier Hagenlocker had served in the climate control division as chief engineer and general manufacturing manager.

Climate control designs and manufactures a broad line of heaters, air conditioners, and radiators for Ford's North American-built cars and trucks.

DROUILLARD was first employed by Ford in 1940 as a tool and die apprentice at the Rouge manufacturing complex in Dearborn.

He left in 1943 to serve with the U.S. Air Force. After World War II, he earned a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Michigan State University.

After graduation Drouillard was employed by Firestone Steel Products, Fisher Body Division of General Motors and by the Studebaker Packard Corporation. He returned to Ford in 1956 as a production contract engineer in the former hardware and accessories division.

Drouillard served as process engineering supervisor at Ford's Ypsilanti and Rawsonville plants before becoming manufacturing engineering manager at the Sandusky plant in 1963.

Drouillard was appointed to the same position at the Rawsonville plant in 1965 and became manufacturing manager the next year.

AFTER MANAGEMENT assignments in manufacturing, plant engineering and battery operations with the former general parts division, he was appointed manager of the Ypsilanti plant in 1969.

In 1970 he was appointed executive engineer for carburetion products engineering for the general parts divison and subsequently was plant operations manager and general operations manager for electrical products. Drouillard served as general manufacturing manager of the electrical and electronics division for three years and then was appointed to the same position in the transmission and chassis division.

He was named general manager of the climate control division at Ford Sheldon Plant in January 1979.

A native of Algonac, Drouillard is a registered professional engineer. He retires after working for Ford 28 years in five different manufacturing divisions.

HAGENLOCKER JOINED Ford in 1964 as a research scientist on the engineering and research staff. In 1968 he moved to product development where he supervised climate control systems and two years later was named suspension and steering manager.

In 1971 he was transferred to the chassis division where he served as executive engineer. Hagenlocker returned to product development as chief engineer of the component engineering office in 1973 and became general manufacturing manager in 1977.

The next year he became chief engineer for light trucks.

Richard Raison forms own insurance agency

Richard H. Raison of Plymouth has formed his own insurance agency in the city.

Raison, formerly associated with the Automobile Club of Michigan branch office in Plymouth, is now incorporated as the Richard H. Raison Inc. Insurance Agency.

His newly formed company is affiliated with the C.L. Finlan & Son Agency in Plymouth, headed by Russell and Beverly Hoisington.

Before joining AAA, Raison had worked as a district aide for former U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch.

Raison, 44, is president of the Plymouth Salvation Army Corps Advisory Board and vice president of the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation.

He is past president of the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth, past president of the Plymouth Community Fall Festival Board and is a member of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

Raison and wife Jan have lived in Lake Pointe in Plymouth Township for the past nine years.

A Stroh's for Bush?

Vice President George Bush was presented with a Stroh's T-shirt by William Rucker, of Powell and Son, Inc., a Stroh's distributor in Plymouth. The shirts also were given to the White House staffers and Secret Service men on hand for Bush's Super Bowl Party at Glen Oaks Country Club in Farmington Hills. The shirt said, "Vice Presidential Visit to Super Bowl XVI 1982 Pontiac, Mich." On the back it said, "Stroh's." Rucker said he was most impressed with the Secret Service men. "You couldn't make a move without those Secret Service guys," Rucker said.

Donald Kummer

KUMMER APPOINTED

Donald Kummer of Plymouth has been appointed industrial relations manager for Ford Tractor Operations (FTO).

Kummer formerly was industrial relations director for Ford of Brazil and succeeds J.S. Cummins, who recently retired after 43 years with Ford's.

Kummer joined Ford in 1956 as a cost analyst on the engineering staff. He subsequently held a variety of positions in training, labor relations, personnel planning and industrial relations.

He became executive assistant of industrial relations for Ford International Automotive Operations in April 1978 and transferred to Ford of Brazil in November of that same year.

Kummer earned a BA degree in economics from the University of Detroit.

NEW PEANUT TOFFEE

A butter toffee peanut called "Mother Fukkers" (pronounced Fookers), an old German name, now is being marketed to select party stores, drugstores and gift shops throughout southeastern Michigan.

The candy, as well as T-shirts, caps and sweatshirts, are being distributed by Canton Marketing Inc. of Canton Township.

Chuck Johnson is president of Canton Marketing Inc. which is located at 6551 Powderhorn Drive, Canton. His firm was selected as distributor of the products for the state of Michigan.

The butter toffee peanuts are vacuum-packed to insure freshness and are available in five-ounce, resealable cans and in 8.75-ounce resealable jars.

The company also is marketing a line of T-shirts, baseball caps and baseball shirts, and sweat shirts.

Retail outlets may contact Johnson by writing to his Powderhorn address or calling him at 455-5193.

Johnson will be exhibiting the products in Booth 359 at the Detroit Camper & Travel Trailer Show Feb. 12-21 at the West 8 Mile Armory.

NAMED PRESIDENT

John R. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Phillips of Plymouth, has been named president of Bunge Edible Oil Corp. (BEOCO), headquartered in Kankakee, Ill.

BEOCO is a major supplier of shortenings, margarines and oils to the food service industry, food processor industry, wholesale and retail bakery industry. The company was formed in 1980 as a subsidiary of the Bunge Corp.

Phillips had been a vice president of BEOCO and general manager of the northeastern region. He previously held key management positions with Swift & Co. and with Procter & Gamble.

Phillips earned an MBA degree from University of Chicago, and a bachelor and master degrees in civil engineering from the University of Michigan.

HASTINGS HONORED

George L. Hastings Jr., formerly of Plymouth, has been honored for his work as an attorney with the tax division of the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, D.C.

Hastings, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hastings of Evergreen, Plymouth, was the recent recipient of the Tax Division Outstanding Performance Award.

Hastings joined the tax division in May 1978.

Michael L. Paup, chief of the appellate section, said Hastings "quickly established himself as one of our most dependable, as well as industrious and cooperative, line attorneys.

"From the outset, he has carried a far heavier caseload and maintained a higher rate of production than average for our more-junior attorneys.

"Moreover, he is one of the relatively few members of our staff who are equally adept at handling both the criminal and civil side of appellate tax litigation," added Paup.

"This ability as a 'switch-hitter' has made him particularly valuable to the section. With the large number of senior attorneys who have left the division in the last several months, we have found ourselves turning to Hastings increasingly more frequently to handle our more difficult and important civil and criminal appeals."

Along with the honor Hastings received a cash award of $850. The award was announced recently by John F. Murray, acting assistant attorney general of the tax division.

Nancy E. Barton of Powderhorn, Canton, a BS in public administration; Jeffrey Johnston of Pinecrest, Plymouth, a certificate in graphic reproduction; and James G. Otto of Woodgate, Plymouth, a BS in accounting and finance.

ALAN BASKINS

Alan W. Baskins of Rocker, Plymouth, an accounting student at Western Michigan University, is among students from that campus to be named to the '82 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

From Canton: John D. Beggs of Boston Hill Lane, Lisa M. Hamann of Holmes Drive, and Michelle L. Seelhoff of Royale Court.

From Plymouth: Michael J. Kitti of Parkview Drive, Thomas I. O'Connor of Brookside, Margaret M. Simons of Leighwood, and Jace W. Stokes of Beck Road.

KIMBERLY NANCE

Kimberly L. Nance of Plymouth, a student at Northwood Institute in Midland, is among students at that campus named to the 1982 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

HILLSDALE INDUCTEES

Colette Cabadas and Kris Kappler, both of Plymouth, recently were tapped into Alpha Beta Psi at Hillsdale College.

Alpha Beta Psi is an organization of accounting and business students striving to improve the academic and career opportunities of Hillsdale students.

WMU USHERS

Two Plymouth residents are among nearly 300 students at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, serving as members of the volunteer Usher Corps at the university's 3,550-seat Miller Auditorium for 1981-82 season — making it one of the largest student organizations on campus.

Among the members of the Usher Corps are Janet Howell of 5 Mile and Marsha Reedy of Appletree.

The members serve as ushers and guides for some 65 programs held in the auditorium each year.

FERRIS HONOREES

The following residents were among those to be named to the dean's list for the fall quarter at Ferris State College:

EARNS DEGREE

Elaine Stuart Boyne of Lakeland Court, Plymouth, recently graduated with a master of science in education degree from Western Illinois University in Macomb. She had earned her BS in education degree from Illinois State University.

ELIZABETH MOEHLE

Elizabeth M. Moehle of Plymouth, a Loyola University student, has been selected for placement in the 1982 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. She was chosen for academic achievement, service to community, leadership in extracurricular activities and for future potential.

Clear snow, utility urges

Because snow accumulation is nearing record levels, Consumers Power Co. issued a safety alert to its gas customers.

Ice and snow should be removed from around outside gas meters and regulators. Be careful, however, because snow removal equipment can damage meter installations.

Snow that is blocking basement windows or foundation vents should be cleared away so that enough combustion air can reach gas or oil furnaces. Gas furnaces require a considerable amount of air to operate properly.

Since the furnaces in many mobile homes draw combustion air from underneath or through roof vents, houses with foundation skirting should have some snow removed so that air can get under the home. Those with roof-mounted ventilators and chimney vents should have those openings kept clear of snow and ice.

Gas dryer vents should also be checked for snow or ice at the outside venting point.

The company also suggests that its gas customers immediately report any odor of gas.

Business told to regulate its own house

Business should voluntarily police itself even after government regulation is ended, the chairman Detroit Edison Co. says.

Walter J. McCarthy Jr., chief executive officer of Michigan's largest electric utility company, told a strategic planning conference at the Engineering Society of Detroit that the American people do not want any easing of environmental improvement, affirmative action, product safety and other programs that benefit the nation.

"All of us must continue to deal with these issues. It is only a question of whether we will do it voluntarily and reasonably, and with greater cost—benefit, or we are forced to do it someone else's way," said McCarthy.

Business had had several opportunities in the past to "seize the initiative and demonstrate its commitment to self-regulation or reform. . .o more socially responsible behavior."

But although "long-range planning would have suggested looking beyond any temporary lull in public and legislative zeal for reform," businessmen for the most part have taken a short-term view and invited government regulation through their inaction, McCarthy said.

The utility executive said socially responsible behavior is good business and translatable to earnings, because it creates a safer work environment, a more stable social order, better qualified workers and other conditions that are good for business and for society.

Harrison storms past Chief cagers with 80-55 win

By Jay Keenan
special writer

It didn't take long Friday night for Farmington Harrison to catch on to Plymouth Canton's recently implanted stall game.

After a rough opening period, the Western Six League leaders were able to change the tempo of the game with a half-court press and coast past the scrappy Chiefs, 80-55.

Last-place Canton, competing with only two seniors on its roster, held the ball with some success in the first quarter, gaining a 14-13 advantage.

But it was all downhill after that as Harrison took the lead early in the next quarter. The advantage snowballed for the Hawks as the game wore on.

It was Canton's second-straight attempt at holding the ball. Last week the Chiefs gave state-ranked Livonia Stevenson a run for almost three quarters before folding.

"They (Canton) confused us with their delay tactics," conceded Harrison coach Mike Teachman in the dressing room after the game. "I think it was the right thing for Dave Van Wagoner (the Canton coach) to do when he has some younger players who he's trying to rebuild the program with.

"But we bothered them with our half-court trap, and that had them going faster as the game went along. We had to speed it up."

THE CANTON first-year mentor, who saw his team fall to 1-13 overall, admitted that the Harrison defense pestered his squad most of the night.

"Offensively," said Van Wagoner, "we experienced success on our stall game by bringing them out of their zone and into a man-to-man.

"But we couldn't do that when we were down. If we could have kept the lead and left them in the same defensive situation, I think we could have beat them."

Harrison's 6-foot-6 forward Steve Hollatz, who was draped by a Canton box-and-one defense, still poured in 29 points to lead all scorers.

Point-guard Fred Solomon, playing perhaps one of his finest games, added 17. Gus Kehagias followed with nine and Wes Jones had eight.

For Canton, Ron Rienas pumped in 17 points to pace Canton. Mike Scarpello tossed in 10.

The Hawks increased their record to 11-5 overall and 5-1 in the league. Canton is winless in five league starts.

"This was really a good game for us," said Teachman. "These guys (Canton) played us tough for the first 28 minutes.

"Solomon played a super game. He nearly controlled the game by himself. I'm also happy with our team play. Gordie Dawson and Paul Prestel

Some prep sporting events rescheduled

Heavy, ugly snow caused cancellation of two school days (Monday and Thursday), and with that came several postponements of high school sporting events.

Friday night's Suburban Eight League basketball game was called off (Plymouth Salem at Belleville) has been rescheduled for Friday, March 5, according to the office of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools athletic director John Sandmann.

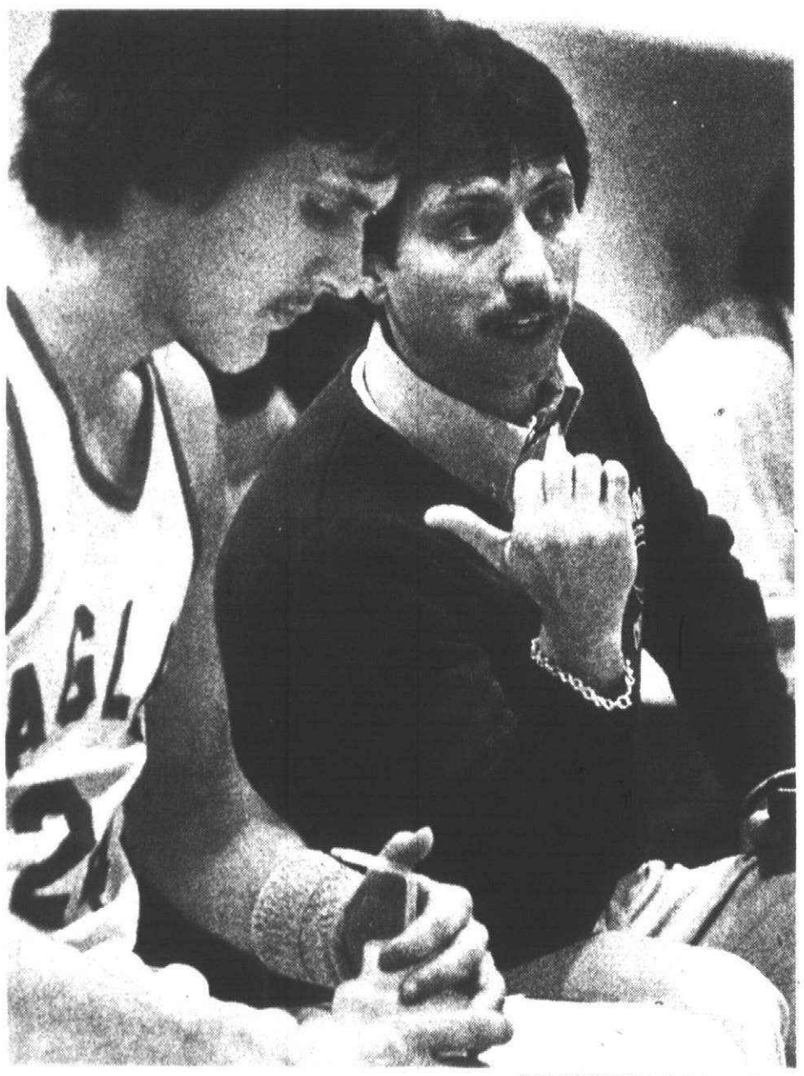

A new date; however, has not yet been set for the Plymouth Christian Academy-Taylor Baptist Park cage game.

The Salem at Dearborn Edsel Ford wrestling match, originally scheduled for Thursday, will be made up Wednesday, Feb. 10. Thursday's swim meet between Salem and Edsel Ford has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 16.

Other events postponed this week and yet to be rescheduled (as of Friday) include Redford Thurston at Canton, swimming; Canton at Livonia Franklin, Trenton at Salem, Salem at Livonia Bentley, and Canton at Walled Lake Western, girls' volleyball; Ann Arbor Pioneer at Canton, Salem at Belleville, and Canton at Farmington Harrison, girls' gymnastics.

Growing pains

Plymouth Christian builds hoop program

Most people seeing cars lined up outside Pioneer Middle School Tuesday or Friday nights may imagine a PTA meeting or music concert.

But high school basketball is played at the junior high. The students are playing on the same nights as Plymouth Canton and Salem.

The community now has a third varsity team — Plymouth Christian Academy — which makes its home a throughout the winter at Pioneer.

Plymouth Christian is a small co-ed school, on Joy between Lilley and Main.

In its sixth year, Plymouth Christian has 180 students, grades 6-12, and will graduate its first senior class this year.

The Eagles, a Class D school, practices at its own gymn at Calvary Baptist Church, adjacent to the school, but plays in front of crowds averaging 225 spectators at Pioneer.

Plymouth Christian is competing against varsity competition for the first time under coach Butch DeRenzo, now in his fourth season.

IN 1980-81, Plymouth finished with a 14-4 record, but played strictly a junior varsity schedule.

But like many expansion teams, the Eagles are going through some hard times in their inaugural campaign, riding a 5-9 record.

"The kids are starting to realize that playing at the varsity level takes a lot of work," said DeRenzo, whose team joined the Michigan Independant Athletic Association this fall. "Our team is young compared to other schools who have established teams."

"At this point, we're starting to come over the hill," DeRenzo said. "We're really pleased with our accomplishments, and we're improving. I can see that from game-to-game. But we're not there yet."

Although the Eagles aren't making a shambles out of every team they face, DeRenzo is pleased that his squad likes to work.

"Even if this team doesn't have the skill level that most other teams have in comparision right now," he said, "we have a great working capacity.

"As long as these guys keep a good attitude, we'll be respectable."

ONE OF THE most gratifying things to DeRenzo is that many of the players have a better chance to participate in a private school sport on the varsity level.

"We're pleased that these kids still have a chance to learn," he said. "A lot these kids didn't grow up playing this sport, but we're still pleased that they can still learn."

But even though many of the players have a better chance to perform at such a small school as Plymouth Christian, DeRenzo limits his squad to nine players.

"Although we encourage as many kids to try out as we can, we do limit our roster because it makes everyone work a lot harder," DeRenzo said. "I believe that it gives the kids a good realm of competition.

"Some people think that in such a small school like ours, you should keep everyone who tries out and give all the kids a chance. But if I think if a kid comes out and knows he's going to make it without competition, he can get lazy.

"THERE'S A LOT of kids who want to play, but a lot of them who don't want to work. I'm not just looking for talent, but I want a kid who wants to do the best that he can."

Hard work is DeRenzo's philosophy on winning:

"That's what winning is to us. We're not just concerned with what the scoreboard says, but we want all the kids to give 100 percent.

Eagles swoop past Zion

For the first time all season, Plymouth Christian went to its running game, and it paid off: The Eagles raced to a 62-51 triumph over Clawson Zion Lutheran Temple Friday at Pioneer Middle School.

A 17-6 third quarter was the difference for Christian, which trailed 33-30 at the half. John Koss, who finished with 20 points, poured in 13 of those in the pivotal third period, many coming on the end of fast breaks.

Jim Koss added 14 points for Plymouth Christian, and Brian Spicer contributed 12. Rob Gottwik scored 18 for Zion Temple Lutheran, and Keith Barterith had 16.

The victory boosted Plymouth Christian to 6-9 overall. Zion Temple Lutheran is 6-7.

Basketball at Plymouth Christian is often a family affair as evidenced by a recent game at Pioneer Middle School, the Eagles' home court.

Hard work, desire key cage program

"God gives a person a certain amount of ability, and I'd like to see a person use it the best that he can. But I don't ask a person to do something they aren't capable of doing."

Plymouth has a cast of players who play important rolls in its attack.

Mike Routledge starts at the point guard this year. The 6-foot-1 junior is a good ball-handler and does a fine job running the offense, DeRenzo said.

Sophomore Brian Spicer is another starter who figures in the Eagles' future.

"Brian is learning every game," said the Plymouth coach. "He just needs more playing time and confidence. He's got the frame, but he has to put more muscle on it.

"But he really works, works, works for us."

DeRENZO calls senior John Koss "a great outside shooter who can practically leap out of the gym." The 5-11 center-forward has been Plymouth's most productive player on offense thus far.

Senior Darrell Wheeler, who doesn't score quite as many points, is probably the Eagles' top defensive player.

"Darrell has been our most consistent player this season," DeRenzo said. "He's carried the greatest working capacity load."

The Eagles have yet another sound player on defense in junior Jim Koss, who can "almost leap as high as his brother John," said DeRenzo.

Brad Mangan, a senior guard, is the sixth man and perimeter shooter who handles the ball well.

Senior Rob Glenn, along with juniors Jerry Nichols and Lance Nagy, round out the nine-player squad.

Jeff Cook, a former head coach at Class D Jackson Christian, is DeRenzo's assistant. He handles the reserve squad.

"HE'S DONE a real good job," said DeRenzo. "He's been a real plus for our program this year."

In March the Eagles will participate in the Association of Christian Schools International, a four-state tournament held in Indiana.

The Eagles will then join the Michigan High School Athletic Association for the 1982-83 season and will participate in the Class D state tourney.

played well in reserve roles."

HARRISON went ahead to stay, 19-18, on a free throw by Hollatz with 6:12 left until intermission.

The Hawks slowly but surely pulled away as the Chiefs began to run into foul trouble. Matt Thomas, one of Canton's top scorers, was slapped with two technicals and two personal fouls midway through that same period and was benched for the rest of the game. Harrison led at intermission, 34-24.

In the third quarter, the Hawks blew it wide open, increasing their lead to 56-41 as Hollatz tallied 11 points.

Van Wagoner refuses to get down on his team despite their ninth loss in a row.

"I'm happy that our young kids gave an effort of what it takes for us to win," he said. "If we keep working hard, our time will come."

Henry Fonda stars as Norman Thayer Jr., spending the season at the family's summer place, in "On Golden Pond."

the movies

Louise Snider

Inspiration flows through the film 'On Golden Pond'

Before I saw "On Golden Pond" (PG), I already had some notion of what it would be about, or so I thought: Parents growing older, the father thinking about death, and still, after 20-some years, unable to establish a close relationship with his daughter.

Probably a sentimental and depressing movie, I figured.

Was I wrong! Sentimental? Only a bit. Depressing? Quite the opposite. This movie sparkles with brisk, bright dialogue, refreshing humor, fascinating characters, and such positive, life-affirming values, you want to go back and see it again because it is so inspiring.

"On Golden Pond" is about an older couple, Norman Thayer and his wife Ethel, but what a pair they are — Henry Fonda and Katharine Hepburn at their very best. That means head and sholders above almost all other performers at their best.

NORMAN DOES think a lot about dying, especially since he is about to celebrate his 80th birthday and he has "palpitations," as Ethel calls them.

Norman, however, isn't the sort of person to invite sympathy. He's a cantankerous type who puts off everyone with his arsenal of very rude, albeit very funny, remarks. His idea of mellowing is to tone down his rudeness to brusqueness.

Little wonder that his daughter Chelsea (Jane Fonda), as well as his wife, agree that "Norman's an old poop." Chelsea has come to her parents' summer cottage with her new boyfriend and his 13-year-old son Billy in tow. They plan to celebrate Norman's birthday, then leave the boy with Norman and Ethel while they travel to Europe.

Instant hostility best describes how Norman and Billy react toward each other. Eventually, they become friends, somewhat to Chelsea's surprise. The friendship opens up old wounds, since it is the kind of relationship Chelsea sought with her father and never achieved.

This interlude with Billy is the weakest part of the movie because it appears so contrived. Even so, the quality of the acting and the winsome pairing of old and young create enough credits to overcome the deficits of the situation.

DOUG McKEON is the cocky adolescent; Dabney Coleman (the same actor who plays the sexist boss in "Nine to Five") is the lover; and Jane is the middle-aged daughter who, inside, is still a little girl seeking her father's approval.

They are all excellent, but their roles simply aren't as dimensional as those of Henry Fonda and Hepburn. Although the real-life, father-daughter relationship of the Fondas adds a unique measure of interest to the movie relationship, it's not that important to the structure of the drama.

The crux of this film lies in the revelation of Norman's feelings and his efforts to cope with them. His crusty exterior functions as a protective covering that hides his frustration and anger at the infirmities he suffers and the fear he sometimes feels.

By his side, indulging him, cajoling him, loving him and scolding him is his wife. This is one of Hepburn's most dynamic, challenging performances. She and Fonda make a remarkable movie couple. They complement and augment each other's acting through a flawless interaction of personalities.

Add to this the deft script which Ernest Thompson developed from his own play, the adroit direction of Mark Rydell and the shimmering photography of Billy Williams and the result is a movie to be seen, enjoyed and treasured.

Fonda's own daughter Jane portrays his daughter Chelsea in the film, and Kathryn Hepburn is the wife and mother, Ethel Thayer.

Bring your Valentine in for a complimentary carnation on Saturday, Feb. 13 and Sunday, Feb. 14

Valentine's Weekend
Share a special Valentine dinner at Wicker Works. We'll be featuring all your favorites from our dinner menu such as Prime Rib, Shrimp Tempura, Chateaubriand and more, plus our 25-foot Wicker Works Salad Bar. Wines and cocktails are available, of course. Reservations are advised, so call 879-2100 and plan to share Saturday, Feb. 13 or Sunday, Feb. 14 with your Valentine. And we'll provide the complimentary Valentine dessert for each couple purchasing dinners!
P.S. Valentine Weekend would be a great time to try our Honeymooning weekend package (and it's not just for Honeymooners!) Call 879-2100 for details and reservations.

Former higher tar smokers affirm MERIT choice for taste, ease of switch, and long-term satisfaction.

The research results are overwhelming.

New National Smoker Study provides solid evidence that 'Enriched Flavor.™ MERIT offers a satisfying alternative to higher tar cigarettes.

MERIT Taste Sparks Switch.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers who switched from higher tar are glad they did. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT Clear Choice In New Tests.

In addition, extensive unmarked-pack tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared against higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.
