Responses pour in on school survey

The response is overwhelming.

Plymouth-Canton residents are getting a chance to speak on setting priorities in school budget cuts, and they aren't wasting that opportunity.

In The Observer's last two issues, we asked Plymouth and Canton readers to fill out a survey-coupon, ordering budget cuts in 13 areas of education.

We are approaching 750 responses, as of noon Wednesday.

We thank everyone for helping us give the Board of Education some direction before it faces massive cuts in the 1982-83 school-year budget.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION estimates a $2-million budget deficit in 1982-83. And this figure does not include any projected increases from labor negotiations. All labor contracts for school union employees expire this fall.

If salary increases for school employees are included in budget projections, the deficit could reach as high as $4 million.

Our survey also asked: Should school employees go without raises for the school year? Should the school board ask voters to raise taxes to cover the deficit? And, what are your additional comments?

THE SCHOOL BOARD meets in a public workshop on the budget at 4 p.m. Friday and, again, at 8 a.m. Saturday at the board office, 454 Harvey, one block south of Ann Arbor Trail, in Plymouth.

The board is expected to make initial budget decisions at the next regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 22, at the board office.

We hope to have the survey results compiled and tabulated before the Feb. 22 meeting.

THEREFORE, we ask that anyone still wishing to participate in the survey send their coupons — postmarked no later than Friday, Feb. 12, — to The Observer, 461 S. Main, Plymouth 48170.

We also will take coupons until 5 p.m. Monday, Feb. 15, for those wishing to drop off their responses, or to use the office to fill out a response. The Observer is on Main Street, just south of Ann Arbor Trail across from the Mayflower Hotel parking lot.

The coupon appeared in last Monday's Plymouth and Canton editions (Feb. 8) on the front page and in last Thursday's edition (Feb. 4) on the editorial page. Coupons also are available in our office.

Thank you, again, for your participation in an important local issue.

Liquor-license rulings spark mixed feelings

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Mr. Steak restaurant — soon to open in Canton — wants to serve cocktails to improve chances of turning a profit.

Palermo's Pizzeria on Ford Road has carry-out business and a 38-seat dining room. The restaurant's owners think a beer and wine license would increase patronage in the dining room.

Canton's Township Board recently granted permission for a liquor license to Mr. Steak, but turned down a request from Palermo's to serve beer and wine.

In recent weeks, the board has been in a quandry over how licenses should be granted. There is a hold on the issuance of new licenses until trustees set up objectives later this month.

"I think they (licenses) are very important to the township and to the community," said Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz. She favors broad guidelines and inspections of the premises by police, fire and building departments before a license is issued.

AT ISSUE are the number of available licenses and the increased business of a restaurant or tavern which wants a liquor license. Some trustees want to hold some licenses "in reserve," in case a large restaurant or hotel wants to build in Canton.

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission, which has the final word on licenses, generally follows the recommendations of the local government. There is no fee for a new license.

Many restaurants are waiting to apply for licenses, and one approval "triggers another" application, Mrs. Falkiewicz said.

"I don't want the community to be seen as easy to get licenses," she added.

THIRTEEN establishments have licenses, or are awaiting approval, said Clerk John Flodin. By law, one license may be granted for every 1,500 residents.

Canton has a population of 48,600, based on the 1980 census, said Flodin. The township stands to pick up 19 or 20 more licenses as soon as the census is certified.

Two types of license are available to restaurants — liquor-by-the-glass (Class C) and tavern, which allows consumption of beer and wine. Both are included in the same total.

"I believe liquor-by-the-glass is more valuable," said Flodin. "Tavern would diminish Class C (numbers)."

Licenses may be bought from an existing owner, but the cost runs into thousands of dollars.

The airplane landed and flipped upside down in Richard Palmer's corn field Sunday afternoon. No one was injured in the emergency landing.

Upside down!

Pilot lands plane safely in field

A pilot escaped injury while making an emergency landing in a Canton farmer's field Sunday afternoon after his Cessna 125 lost engine power.

Donald Webster, 37, of Forest, Ohio, said the plane was low on fuel or the carburator iced up while he was trying to return to Ann Arbor Airport.

"I'm leaning toward the carburator icing up," said Webster, whose plane flipped while landing.

"As soon as the nose wheel got caught in the snow, the plane flipped," he said.

Webster was flying from Ft. Wayne when he missed Ann Arbor Airport. He was heading back to Ann Arbor when he landed in Richard Palmer's corn field, at 48195 Warren.

"I didn't want to hurt anybody. I saw the field and the freeway, so I just headed for the field," said Webster, who's also a farmer.

"I had my airspeed down so I knew I would be OK."

Webster said it was the first time he's had a problem during his 53 hours of flying. He recalled what happened after flipping the plane.

"I was just hanging there upside down, since I was strapped into the seat. I made sure everything was shut off and then I got unbuckled and stepped down on the roof and got out."

The Canton police and fire departments responded to the field shortly after the landing. The Federal Aviation Administration is investigating the emergency landing.

"I just want to say the Canton police were really helpful. They did a great job of assisting me."

The plane was pulled from the field and loaded on a truck Monday with hopes it can be repaired.

Webster says despite his mishap Sunday he plans to fly again.

This interior shot of the Plymouth Rock bar shows damage when the roof collapsed because of extra weight from snow and ice last week.

Patrons flee unhurt as bar roof caves in Tragedy was narrowly averted Friday afternoon when the roof collapsed at the Plymouth Rock bar on the corner of Joy and General Drive.

Bar manager Veto Pacetti was able to get the 35-40 people in the bar out just before the roof caved in at about 3 p.m.

"If it wouldn't have been for Veto, they would have been pulling dead bodies out of there," said Ed Kenyon, one of the bar owners.

The flat roof collapsed because of the extra weight of piled-up snow and ice, according to Plymouth Township Fire Chief Larry Groth. The roof fell from the middle right onto the main seating area, bulging and cracking the surrounding walls.

"I heard some thumping on the roof and the drop ceiling was starting to bow. I told everyone to get out, and I wasn't too sweet about it either," said Pacetti.

One patron, who was playing a video game, didn't want to leave because his money was in the machine. Pacetti forced him to leave anyway.

"If that jukebox was playing, I would have never heard that thing coming down," Pacetti said Monday while looking through the rubble.

Kenyon said they were lucky the roof fell during the afternoon rather than later in the evening.

"We were just starting to fill up. If it would have happened a couple hours later, the place would have been full," he said.

The building is owned by two Southfield men and was originally built to house the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC), which moved out due to a lack of parking space. The MESC is now located across the street at Joy and Ronda Drive.

Additional interior walls were built after the MESC moved, which may have kept the building itself from collapsing, Kenyon says.

The bar is covered by insurance and Kenyon plans to rebuild. No damage estimates have been given.

Deadline extended on taxes

The Canton Township treasurer's office is extending the deadline two weeks for payment of property taxes.

The new due date calls for taxes to be in the treasurer's office no later than 5 p.m. March 1. Postmark dates aren't acceptable.

"If it is postmarked March 1, we won't be able to accept the payment, and the check will be returned to the taxpayer," said Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz. Late payments must go directly to the county.

Man reinstated with back pay

Fired police cadet returns to job

A police cadet, fired last June by Supervisor James Poole, is back on the job.

Fred Pytell, 35, resumed duties Feb. 1 after more than seven months off.

The Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) ruled Jan. 6 that Pytell was unjustly fired for union activity and should be reinstated. Township officials decided not to appeal the decision.

"He is officially (back) on the payroll," said Personnel Director Dan Durack. "He started back (last) Monday."

POOLE HAD fired Pytell last June after probing reports that cadets were doing patrol work without supervision by a regular officer — a violation of township guidelines.

Pytell was the only one of eight cadets who insisted on having a union representative present during questioning by Poole. He also was the only cadet to be fired, and he filed an appeal with MERC.

The MERC decision also calls for Pytell to receive full back pay, plus 6 percent interest. Durack estimates that figure is between $5,000 to $6,000. Pytell will have to deduct any earnings made during his time off.

Bowling writers honor Edgar

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

W.W. "Eddie" Edgar has received a national honor from the Bowling Writers Association of America (BWAA).

Edgar, a writer and columnist for the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers, earned the coveted Rip Van Winkle award for contributions made to bowling.

The Rip Van Winkle award was originated in 1956 by the BWAA to honor persons for contributions made to bowling 20 years or more ago.

Edgar, a bowling writer for 53 years, served as executive secretary of the Detroit proprietors for several years, beginning in 1950.

In 1943, as Michigan's first bowling coordinator, he was successful in establishing an in-school work program with the state labor commission to make the state the first to legalize 15-year-olds as pin boys — alleviating the pin boy shortage at that time.

In announcing Edgar's award, the BWAA also announced that Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids was the recipient of the John O. Martino award and that Dick Evans of the Miami Herald was selected as recipient of the Mort Luby meritorious service award.

EDGAR'S COVERAGE of bowling for more then a half-century includes covering of five national all-star tournaments and two American Bowling Congress events.

Hired away from the Detroit Free Press in 1945, Edgar was assigned by the bowling proprietors the task of building up the prestige of bowling in the state. He established an office in the Fort Shelby Hotel in Detroit and became the first bowling coordinator in the country.

As coordinator, Edgar inherited the tasks of dealing with labor unions concerning pinsetters and mechanization.

After two years of bargaining, Edgar suggested eliminating negotiating sessions and set up a system where employees would get a raise if the cost of living rose and would take a pay cut if the cost of living dropped.

Some have credited the concept of COLA as beginning with bowling contracts, rather than being started by Charles Wilson of General Motors.

Edgar also worked with George W. Dean, then labor commissioner in Michigan, to work out a schoolwork program for pinsetters — the first in the country — which helped save bowling in Michigan. The program called for an eight-hour day, with school coming first and the time remaining left for setting pins.

In lieu of hiring a lobbyist, Edgar arranged to have the state Senate bowl the House for the proprietors trophy, followed by a dinner. A success from the start, the bowling competition between the two chambers continues today.

Later a similar program was set up in Washington, D.C., with the help of the late U.S. Sen. Philip Hart and U.S. Rep. Martha Griffith. More than 90 legislators participated in the first tourney.

EDGAR ALSO supervised having two bowling lanes erected on the bank of the Detroit River in 1948, and help AMF demonstrate its automatic pinsetters, which were first shown to engineers in glass bubbles.

During World War II, Edgar organized a junior program to allow youngsters to bowl while their parents were working. The program was 3-5 p.m., the two worst business hours of the day, and afterwards the young bowlers were taken home. The junior program still continues throughout Detroit.

Radio station celebrates milestone anniversary

WSDP-FM, the student-operated radio station of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, will celebrate its 10th year of broadcasting with a special anniversary party from 5-8 p.m. tomorrow in the radio studio on the second floor of Plymouth Salem High School.

The public is invited to help celebrate another milestone in the radio's history.

The theme of this year's gathering is "Where were you in '72?" The program will include a slide presentation — and a lot of reminiscing.

Radio students on the current WSDP staff prepared the slide presentation with the help of Paul Sincock, chairman of the WSDP advisory committee. The presentation includes an historical look at the station — beginning with Feb. 14, 1972, the first day WSDP hit the airwaves.

Staff photos by Gary Caskey

Staff members also will condcut on-the-air interviews and studio tours. A radio program will turn back the clock, as well, with music and news of the 1970s, along with special WSDP flashbacks from momments of 10 years of broadcasting.

That program begins at 9 a.m. tomorrow and continues to 9 p.m. WSDP is at 88.1 on the FM dial.

Parents appeal for change in school-lunch program

An appeal has been made to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education to study ways of eliminating mounting financial losses in its school-lunch program.

The appeal came Monday night from Nancy White of Plymouth, a spokesperson for the Parent Advisory Council of West Middle School.

Ms. White questioned the advisability of continuing to deal with food-service companies. She suggested the district would be better off hiring its own food-service director and running its own cafeteria program.

She noted the district presently is losing about $9,000 a month (the equivalent of laying off 1.5 teachers monthly) in operating its food program through Interstate United.

The council's main objection, she stressed, was that the lunch deficit represents funds which could be spent on learning activities.

Carol Davis, board president, urged Ms. White to attend a workshop study session on Feb. 15 when representatives of Interstate will meet with trustees to discuss the financial loss and plans to end the deficit.

Dr. John Hoben, superintendent, commented that the board would be considering an in-house option if commercial companies prove unable to operate the cafeterias at a break-even or better level.

HOBEN COMMENTED that lunch programs are becoming a financial burden for many districts.

Dearborn Public Schools, he said, is now operating at a deficit of some $300,000.

And the financial loss is so great for East Detroit Schools that the district, defying state law, has disbanded its cafeteria program. By refusing to provide lunches, Hoben added, East Detroit is facing the possible cut-off of state aid.

Hoben also said that when the district operated its own cafeteria program it did not charge overhead and other expenses against the lunch program which are now being charged against the food-service company.

THE LUNCH program has lost $27,000 in the first three months of this school year, according to Marsha Livermore and Ann Sheardown, co-chairpersons of the Parent Advisory Council at West Middle.

"Projected over the balance of the school year, food-service losses could approach $100,000, which will have to be offset with general funds," the two wrote the board in a letter dated Feb. 4.

"This is an intolerable situation which must be remedied as soon as possible. The program must be on a self-sustaining operation."

'Projected over the balance of the school year, food service losses could approach $100,000, which will have to be offset with general funds. This is an intolerable situation which must be remedied as soon as possible. The program must be on a self-sustaining operation.'

— Marsha Livermore and Ann Sheardown parent advisory council

Ms. White noted that Interstate United provides the food service on a cost-plus basis. The company, she added, receives an annual fee of $44,000 plus management/labor costs of $58,000.

"In other words, Interstate receives its money whether the program operates at a profit or a loss. It simply passes on its costs to us and then takes its management fee of $44,000 off the top as its margin. Under this arrangement, there is no way for the district to gain control of its food service costs."

THE ADVISORY council formed a study committee, she added, which discussed alternatives such as:

- Cancelling the contract with Interstate United and changing to an in-house operation.
- Raising the price of lunch.
- Lowering the quality of lunch.
- Reducing the quantity of food.
- Reducing labor costs in school kitchens.

A survey taken by the parent advisory council at West in November 1981, she said, pointed out that raising lunch prices or lowering food quality would further reduce participation. Lower participation would increase the deficit.

The district can't reduce the quantity of food served because it already is at federal minimums for portion size, she added.

Ms. White questioned an earlier administrative claim that a food-service company could purchase food 5 percent cheaper than the district could. She asked the board to conduct an independent study to determine if the savings was being realized.

"No evidence has been presented to prove this automatic food cost increase (of an in-house operation). On the contrary, a district providing 5,000 to 6,000 meals a day unquestionably has mass buying power."

AN IN-HOUSE operation can provide food at a lower cost than Interstate United, Ms. White added, "and thereby eliminate the use of money earmarked for the education of our children as a food-service subsidy."

The advisory council in its letter asked the board to review the option of running an in-house food program or signing a "no loss" contract which had once been suggested by a food vendor (Servomation).

"Continuing to subsidize the cost of the lunch program, while at the same time laying off teachers, suggests an ordering of priorities that the school board surely would never wish to endorse. There can be no disagreement among us that food-service losses amounting to $9,000 per month can no longer be tolerated.

"To make up these monthly deficits from the general fund while simultaneously cutting teachers to balance the budget is, in our view, unconscionable.

"We know the school board is working very hard to balance the budget, to educate our children, and to make public aware of the bleak financial picture in our district.

"It is imperative that the public perceives that all areas of the budget are receiving equal treatment."

Officials in a stew over liquor licenses

For example, the Howard Johnson chain scrapped plans to open a Ground Round restaurant in Westland after the City Council refused to grant a new liquor license. A spokesman for the chain said the going rate in Westland to buy a license is $75,000.

Garden City recently adopted a policy requiring a restaurant to be in business for six months before it can receive a tavern license. Businesses must hold a tavern license for at least one year before applying for a Class C.

Flodin believes a license can be used to "enhance the non-residential tax base — to shelter and help residents." But he doesn't think the township should have "hard and fast" rules on who should receive one.

The Liquor Control Commission investigation is in-depth and, therefore, gives "adequate protection" to the township, he said.

SOME BOARD members expressed fears of lawsuit if a license is denied to a business person who meets a written township criteria.

"When you set criteria, and they meet it, it's hard to deny them," said Supervisor James Poole.

The Township Board last month approved a Class C license for Mr. Steak, now being built on Ford, and a tavern license for Johnson's Restaurant, also on Ford.

> 'I don't want the community to be seen as easy to get licenses.'
> — Maria Falkiewicz township treasurer

The board last week turned down a tavern license for Palermo's Pizzeria at Ford and Canton Center, but said the owners may reapply when guidelines are set.

Mr. Steak Vice President Bill Anderson told the Township Board alcoholic beverages increase the potential for guests and improves the profit margin.

At last week's meeting, Trustee Robert Padget urged the development of "objectives," saying that strict criteria for new licenses would be "dangerous and self-defeating."

"I think we have to reserve three Class C licenses for big motel-hotel operations that may come in the next 10 years," said Padget.

Mrs. Falkiewicz told the Observer she sympathizes with small restaurants who are "hurting," but she isn't sure a liquor license "will generate enough (business) to survive."

She also expressed "strong concerns" about clustering of businesses with liquor licenses along Ford.

Property-tax deadline extended

Bills are validated as paid on the date the money is in the treasurer's office, emphasizes Mrs. Falkiewicz. Banks or other agencies aren't authorized to collect property taxes.

THE TOWNSHIP board recently voted to extend the legal Feb. 14 deadline for collection to March 1. State law gives municipalities the option to extend for two weeks, explained Mrs. Falkiewicz.

The administration building on Canton Center Road has a night deposit mail slot on the northwest wall which is available for tax collections after business hours through March 1.

Persons should be sure to leave the treasurer's copy of the tax bill with the payment.

Any payment after March 1 will become delinquent and should be made to Raymond Wojtowicz, Wayne County Treasurer, City-County Building, Detroit 48226. Late payments are subject to a 4 percent delinquency fee, said Mrs. Falkiewicz.

Residents protest college idea

By Sandra Armbruster
staff writer

Wayne-Westland schools
The district serves southeast Canton.

Unhappy taxpayers crowded into the Wayne-Westland Board of Education meeting last week to voice their opposition to a proposed community college, among other issues.

A spokeswoman for the group, Carol Gillentine, said the residents may circulate petitions in opposition to the proposed K-14 program. She said the petitions would be used to counter district plans to survey residents' interest in the community college plan.

"I would like to be prepared," said Mrs. Gillentine, who is president of the Kirk-Neal Ford Electric Homeowners Association. She added that the association's board would meet early next week to plan a course of action.

Mrs. Gillentine estimated that about 75 people appeared at the meeting to "once and for all stand up for our rights and not get taxed."

Deputy Superintendent Dennis O'Neill estimated the group numbered about 40.

THE RESIDENTS spoke for about 2½ hours on issues including dual tax collections, millage rates, teachers' salary increases, district spending and borrowing, use of school buildings and quality of education.

Calls during the stormy meeting to recall the school board will be carefully considered, according to Mrs. Gillentine, who has three children attending Wayne-Westland schools.

"I'm not the type to go out half-cocked without a lot of time and a lot of thought first," she said. "I've had a lot of calls today (Tuesday) wanting me to head up a recall.

Mrs. Gillentine said that parents responded to phone calls asking for support by attending the meeting. Taxes appeared to be a central concern.

"I don't know how we can have a community college and not pay extra," said Mrs. Gillentine. "There is no way it can be self-supporting. Eventually it will be a burden to taxpayers."

She said she bases that statement on tax bills for Washtenaw and Schoolcraft Community College.

"Taxes are too high now," she continued, referring to the 47.6 mills levied by the district. "In this day and age, with the economy the way it is, all we can do is stand together as a unit.

"I love this city. I've lived here for 15 years, but there is no way I can afford to retire and stay here. It would take $200 a month just for taxes," she said.

Mrs. Gillentine said that the meeting "got pretty hairy" with talk about "a lot of things that had built up over the year."

"SOMEHOW THEY seemed to have made up their mind before they had a chance to listen," said Dr. O'Neill.

He added that Superintendent Timothy Dyer explained that the college concept wouldn't cost extra because the same school buildings and administrators would be used that now are part of the regular kindergarten through 12th-grade program.

Public hearings and surveys will be used so that "not just the squeaky wheel gets heard," said the deputy superintendent. "But we told them we appreciated their comments."

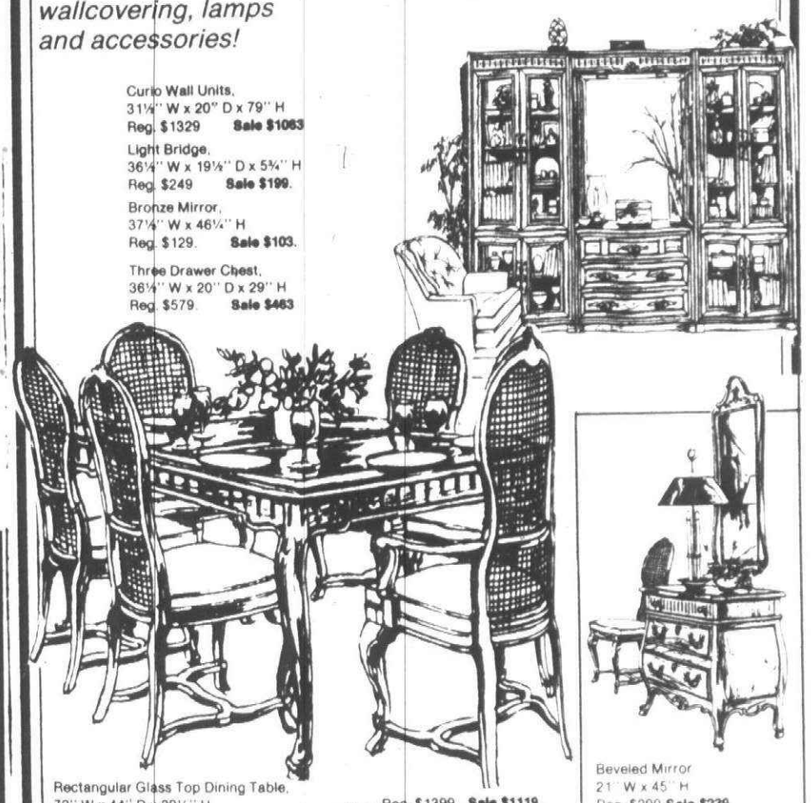

In response to criticism that John Glenn High School would be closed by the end of this decade, Dr. O'Neill said that may happen by 1995 if declining enrollment continues.

"We have to decide this in terms of need, not base it on an issue today that we don't have control over," he said.

Dr. O'Neill said the meeting concluded with a call to handle specific problems involving teachers and students at the building level instead of "dealing with them in the emotion of a public meeting where we have to deal in generalities."

There's no business like dough business.

The business of making money. It's all very exciting.

But without the ability to lay out a large amount of cash, you can't take advantage of the financial opportunities that come your way.

And venturing all your money without savings in reserve can be dangerous. Because savings are the base of any financial plan.

One of the surest, easiest ways to save some dough is joining the Payroll Savings Plan and buying United States Bonds. You'll never miss the little taken out of each paycheck.

Meanwhile, the Bonds grow up to play a part in your future.

Of course, with Bonds you're sure of the ending. But then, there's nothing wrong with a happy ending.

Save more for your retirement and lower your income tax with IRA

The new tax law now makes it possible for every wage earner, even though they are participating in an employer sponsored pension plan, to tax shelter up to $2,000 per year in an Individual Retirement Account (IRA). For married couples, where only one spouse is employed, contributions up to $2,250 can be made in a Spousal IRA. If you and your spouse are employed, you both can open separate IRA's and can contribute up to $2,000 each in a lump sum or smaller deposits throughout the year. Take a good look at your future. Joyner creates 'shadow government'

By Tim Richard
staff writer

One suburban Wayne County commissioner calls it a "shadow government" to make certain suburbia is protected as the county moves into its home-rule charter. He is R. William Joyner, D-Plymouth.

Another commissioner says the "shadow government" looks more like Joyner's campaign team. "I noticed that with some amusement," said Mary Dumas, R-Livonia.

Several things Joyner's team is recommending are already being done, she added.

JOYNER HELD a press conference recently with the group to announce that "those of us living in the other 42 cities and townships outside of Detroit are beginning to believe that we are being overlooked."

A county public information employee wrote a two-page news story, coining the term "shadow government," and mailing out a photo of the group. Meanwhile, Joyner sent out his announcement of his 1982 campaign team.

Attending the meeting were:

- Karl Gansler, Plymouth city commissioner and an "honorary campaign manager," according to Joyner.
- Carol Bodenmiller, Canton Township trustee and another "honorary campaign manager," according to Joyner.
- Jan Keller, "city of Plymouth homeowner and government activist," according to the county release, and Joyner's 1982 campaign manager, according to his release.
- Liz McCarville, "Northville Township citizen group leader," according to the county release, and Joyner's community campaign manager, according to his release.

Other officials attending the news conference but not directly involved in a Joyner campaign were James Reeves, Sumpter Township supervisor; Floyd Bevins, Sumpter Township trustee; and Don Rusnock, president of the Wayne-Westland school board.

ASKED ABOUT the similarity in the lists, Joyner said Monday:

"It's probably easier, when you're calling a press conference in downtown Detroit, to call your friends.

"These people are also elected officials or civic leaders in their own right. (County Commissioner) Jim Rashid was there, although he didn't sit at the head of the table.

"This is not just talk. We are attempting to follow through.

"I just called my friends," he added.

Joyner has already said he will not seek re-election to the county board this year. After county reapportionment, he wound up with only a small part of his old district in a new, predominantly Republican district with Mrs. Dumas.

Joyner is waiting for the state Reapportionment Commission to act on redistricting the Michigan Legislature before announcing whether he'll run for the House or Senate.

Joyner opens headquarters

William Joyner has opened campaign headquarters above Wiltse's Pharmacy in the city of Plymouth.

The headquarters is located on Main Street between Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail, opposite Kellogg Park.

The headquarters will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday beginning Feb. 15, according to Jan Keller, chairman of the Friends of Joyner campaign committee. Persons interested in working in the campaign may call Keller at 459-6648.

Joyner, D-Plymouth, is now a county commissioner but is considering running for a seat in the Michigan Legislature.

New 'shadow government'

Joyner and campaign allies push for county changes

fered a half-dozen recommendations.

The first was for a "transition team" to work with the process of transforming Wayne from a general law county, as it has been since the 19th century, to Michigan's first home-rule charter county.

The proposal was already being worked on in committee, Mrs. Dumas said. The idea was first voiced publicly by Robert FitzPatrick, executive director of the Economic Development Corp. of Wayne County and a probable candidate for county executive.

Another proposal was for "a special jail task force to ensure the most efficient use of the new county jail upon its completion next year," in Joyner's words. Mrs. Dumas said such a group had been created.

A third proposal was "that county property at Eloise (in Westland) be better utilized." Another commissioner had already offered a resolution for a compiled list of all available county properties, Mrs. Dumas said.

A fourth was that "out-county communities be given fair representation by the board of commissioners."

Mrs. Dumas called that a function of the out-county caucus, adding that Joyner "hasn't been there half the time." Commissioner Tom Presnell, D-Westland, chairs the suburban caucus.

Other Joyner proposals were that candidates for county executive be encouraged to tour county offices, and that the Road Commission fulfill its legal obligation to care for township roads at no additional cost to the townships.

MEANWHILE, County Board Chairman Samuel Turner, D-Detroit, announced a list of committee chairmanships that left out the most vocal voices of the suburban bloc. Turner was re-elected to a third one-year term in January.

Chairing the general government committee again will be Paul Citkowski, D-Detroit.

The public works committee will be headed again by Clarence R. Young, D-Ecorse, who votes with the black bloc and whose district is half-Detroit. Richard Manning, D-Redford, is a member.

Human resources will be headed by Arthur Blackwell, D-Highland Park, another member of the black bloc. Among the members are Presnell (vice-chair), Mrs. Dumas and Joyner.

Edward K. Michalski, D-Detroit, again will chair the public safety and judiciary committee. Michalski's son reportedly works for the sheriff.

All 27 county commissioners serve on the ways and means committee, which will be chaired by William Suzore, D-Lincoln Park.

Fire hydrants need shoveling

Plymouth Township residents are being asked to dig out fire hydrants which are covered by snow.

Fire Chief Larry Groth issued his plea to residents Monday, saying his department wouldn't be able to finish the work for several days if they didn't get help.

Coast Guard sells boating safety

By Lem Mesee
outdoors writer

outdoors

Boating is more than pouring on the gas and barrelling across the water.

Most lakes have no curbs or stop signs. Many take on the character of an amusement park dodge-em ride, except that amusement park vehicles are low powered and don't kick up wakes which can swamp small craft.

So it's good to see one organization – the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary – selling safety courses. We visited its booth at the recent boat show in Cobo Hall and found business slow but not dormant.

"Classes include boating safety, boater's language, aids to navagation, legal review, rules of the road, piloting, boat handling, marine engines and weather," said Peter L. Gabbert, public affairs officer for Flotilla 12-05.

"We encourage families to participte," he said.

Courses run 10 weeks. Instruction is free, and there is a small charge for textbooks and supplies.

A 13-week power boating course began Feb. 2 at Schoolcraft College, but we're told you can still get in. Call Jon Adams at 261-0628 for registration information.

A sailing and seamanship class began Feb. 3 in Redford United Methodist Church. Eric Stokes at 543-0408 has registration information.

OUTDOORAMA, the annual show of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, starts Friday, Feb. 19 at the State Fairgrounds, Woodward south of Eight Mile, Detroit.

"For 10 days, we'll be presenting a variety of seminars, clinics, movies and stage shows designed for outdoor sportsmen and their families," said Tom Washington, MUCC executive director.

Monday, Feb. 22, will be archery night, with guest speaker Tom Jennings, one of the original developers of the compound bow.

Feb. 23 will be master angler night; Wednesday, big buck night; Thursday, sporting dog night; Friday, "Michigan Outdoors" night; Saturday, wildlife discovery day; and Sunday, travel day.

THIS WEEKEND at the Huron-Clinton Metroparks:

- "Nature Cross Country Ski Tour" will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the parking lot of the nature center at Kensington Metropark north of New Hudson. Naturalist Mark Szabo will lead a 2½-hour trek along the ski trils. Bring your own skis. Register in advance with the nature center at 685-1561.
- "Wildlife Sketchbook," a family nature art program, starts at 2 p.m. Sunday in the nature center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock. Artist Gerry Wykes will demonstrate easy techniques and show examples. Then you'll get a chance to grab a pencil and try it. Register in advance by calling 697-9181.

Anniversary for WSDP

WSDP, THE FIRST radio station in the Plymouth-Canton community, began as a 10-watt station in 1972. The station increased its power to 200 watts in 1979, reaching many other surrounding communities in a 750-square-mile radius.

It is the largest high school radio station in the state, despite experiencing recent finiancial problems.

One popular characteristic of WSDP is its special remote broadcasts of tournament basketball games, Board of Education meetings and local election coverage.

Administrative Coordinator Jeffrey Cardinal, a Plymouth High School graduate, has coordinated activities for the student-operated station since 1972. John Seidelman WSDP's staff advisor since 1973. He has taught more than 600 students in broadcasting classes at the Centennial Educational Park.

Come And Get It!

14.00%

Yielding 14.49% Annually*

In A 30-Month IRA Account

Plus A $10 Cash Bonus

RIGHT NOW . . . with a $500 deposit in an IRA 30-Month Money Market Certificate you receive a high 14.00% annual interest rate that earns 14.49% annual yield. Plus, at Security Bank you get an extra benefit — a $10 cash bonus — so, come and get it!

For those who prefer to have their funds in an IRA 18-Month Certificate, you can receive the $10 cash bonus with an opening deposit of $200 or more.

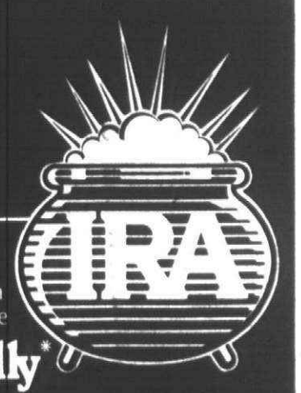

When you select the 30-Month Money Market Certificate for your IRA contributions, the high rate you receive is fixed to maturity. Interest is paid and compounded semi-annually. However, when deposits are made to an 18-Month Certificate, the rate is set periodically by the bank. Add-on contributions do not extend the 18-month maturity and can be made in amounts of $25 or more. (Remember, an opening deposit of $200 or more qualifies you for the cash bonus.) There's a third instrument, the 26-Week Money Market Certificate*, in which you can place your funds. For details and rates, ask at any Security Bank office.

Federal regulations provide certain limits on your annual IRA contributions, and also require substantial interest penalties and I.R.S. penalties for early withdrawal.

As a working person, you can now be covered by a qualified pension plan and also make annual tax-deductible contributions of $2,000 ($2,250 spousal) or 100% of income, whichever is less, to an IRA. Interest earned is tax-deferred until retirement, when your tax bracket should be lower. You pay taxes, then, only on the funds as you withdraw them. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insures your IRA deposits to $100,000 — which is above and beyond the coverage for your other Security Bank deposits.

Check the table to see how your contributions add up . . . then come and get an IRA and $10 from Security Bank.

Also Available
13.40% Annual Interest 18-Month Certificate
Yielding 13.84% Annually*

IRA Contributions If you contributed $2,000 per year, you would have

Rate	after 5 years	after 10 years	after 20 years	after 30 years
11%	$13,947	$37,771	$147,976	$469,529
12%	14,379	40,128	168,826	581,576
13%	14,824	42,650	192,936	722,487
14%	15,284	45,349	220,833	899,903

Computations based on the assumption that deposits are made on January 2 of each year with interest paid and compounded semi-annually.

*Interest on 18-month and 30-month certificates is paid and compounded semi-annually. Compounding of interest on the 26-week certificate is prohibited.

Rates are subject to change periodically without notice.

Thank you for donating clothes

To te editor:

Bing involved with the Clothing Ban and being aware of the many famiies in need within our Plymouth-Canton community, I want to shout as loudas I can "thank you-thank you" to all o; you for making the holidays a little bighter for many of our families.

The new clothing items such as underwear, socks, mittens and hats you collected and donated have been given to many families for Christmas, and the balance will be distributed during the year.

The funds that were donated from the Board of Education office personnel, W.W. Perrett Lodge No. 524 F. & A.M. of Plymouth, will be used to purchase new shoes for the families during the year. We may have to use some of it to purchase some clothing items if we can not fill that need on our shelves.

Brownie Troop No. 241 of the Gallimore Elementary School attendance area (leader Sue Kowalski) donated a turkey and four bags of groceries to a family for Thanksgiving and new underwear and socks for Christmas gifts.

The following schools are to be commended for doing their part as the students gave up the pleasure of exchanging gifts with each other to purchase a new item of clothing for a child in need:

ALLEN SCHOOL — Betty Gibson and her fifth-grade class organized a clothing drive as well as decorating a Christmas tree with new items donated by all the Allen students. Mrs. Gibson has undertaken this worthwhile project for the last three years.

BIRD SCHOOL — The PTO organized a food drive, which was very successful due to the students and staff people supporting it.

ERIKSSON SCHOOL — Teachers Katherine Nyhus and Jean Lawrence organized a drive for students and others to donate food and new items of clothing for families.

FARRAND SCHOOL — Teachers Ellen Head, Ronald Beier and Robert Gale provided a sock and underwear tree, while Mrs. McIntyre and Virginia Branstner worked to fill the needs of food.

FIEGEL SCHOOL — Diane Montagano did a beautiful job of coordinating a food drive among the students and staff.

FIELD SCHOOL — The PTO received a lot of help from the students and staff in providing food to go to the families in their area, along with turkeys donated by the PTO.

GALLIMORE SCHOOL — Continues their clothing drive for the Clothing Bank.

GEER SCHOOL — Rita McClumpha received a lot of help from her students and parents in providing food baskets for their families.

HULSING SCHOOL — The students enjoyed working with their teachers, Cathie Kerr and Donna Spencer, in collecting new underwear, socks, mittens and hats, while Charlies Portelli and students collected food.

ISBISTER SCHOOL — Food, new underwear, socks and etc., were collected by the students under the leadership of Barbara Foster, Lori Manoogian and Nancy Mather.

MILLER SCHOOL — Jenell Powell made time to help the students collect new underwear, socks, mittens and hats.

SMITH SCHOOL — The students enjoyed getting involved by decorating a Christmas tree with new clothing items needed at the clothing bank.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL — Remembered their families that have problems by collecting many items of food.

TANGER SCHOOL — Lois Bass, Paula Holmes and Marilyn Thams enjoyed working with the students and the PTO in collecting food and clothing.

ALL FOUR MIDDLE schools did their part in helping families in need by collecting many, many items of food, and they, like the elementary schools, gave food directly to some of their families and shared the balance with Salvation Army, Canton and Plymouth Goodfellows.

Every year Marian Walsh, secretary, takes time to find a special family in need, then collects food, clothing and any other items that may be needed from all personnell in the Board of Education office.

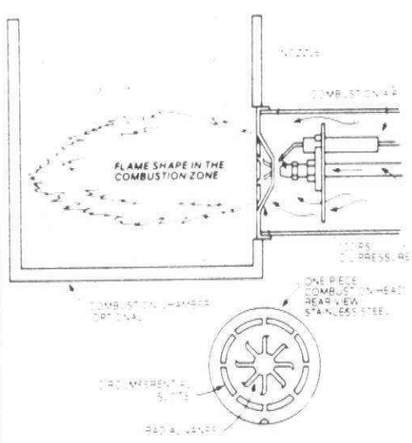

A lot of people went out of their way to give of their time to plan and collect these items, and many parents provided funds to purchase the items for their children to donate — everyone thank you, I know it is appreciated.

I also want to thank Helen Decker for spending many hours every week at the Clothing Bank helping me sort, size and assist families. Helen's husband Dick, thank you for donating some of your time in cleaning and moving our large heavy boxes around. You are a lot of help.

● SAFE PLAY OR BOLD PLAY?

In the example, white rolls a 3-1. With many playable options, what is your suggested move?

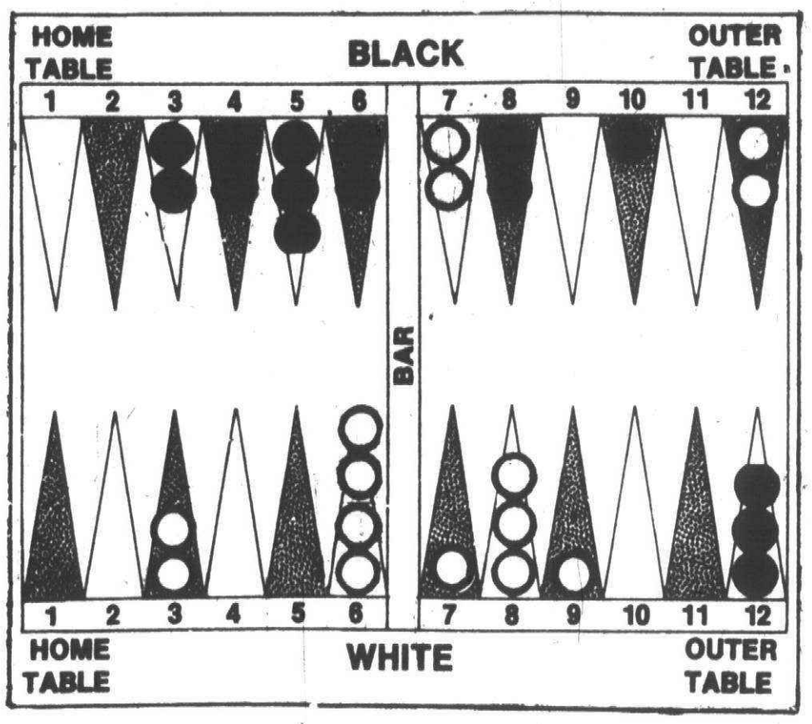

An immediate response for many players would be to hit black's 10 point blot. This play seems favorable at first, but as closer look reveals that it could prove fatal. If white hits black, white would be forced to leave three open blots — one on the bar point (7) or 9 point, and one each on black's 7 and 10 points. The chances of black staying on the bar are very slim. Black could also hit white on the rebound (approximately 20 out of 36 combinations will do it).

Black has a stronger home board, which is a sure threat if white is hit. On the other hand, white cannot hope to contain black. If hit, white will be in serious trouble, and if white fails to reenter black will have little difficulty hitting the remaining blots.

To avoid this situation, white should play safe by moving checkers from the 8 and 6 points to the 5 point. White's best chances of winning this game are by quickly building his home board to prepare for a future hit. If black has trouble clearing the bar point (7), white will have little difficulty containing a hit checker.

Of course, don't forget the doubling cube. If white becomes the favorite later in the game, he may offer the cube to black. Right now, neither opponent has a definite advantage, so the cube stays neutral.

Star for 3 decades performing in Canton

By Nick Charles
special writer

One of the most versatile and enduring talents of the last three decades will share his music with Canton Township's Center Stage audience at 8:30 p.m. Monday.

The man who has proved himself to be a true superstar is Leon Russell. It has been said that Russell's music is gospel, rock, rhythm and blues, bluegrass, country and even pop. The truth of the matter is that Russell is capable of writing all these types of music and has done so.

The talented pianist has not only recorded more than 10 of his own albums but has shared some of his compositions with fellow performers.

One of Russell's best songs, "Superstar," was co-written with a talented woman writer, Bonnie Bramlett. The song was recorded by Rita Coolidge, Joe Cocker (on his "Mad Dogs and Englishmen" album) and the Carpenter's debut album on A&M records.

THE SONG became the fifth gold single for the Carpenters within eight weeks. The Carpenters also recorded Russell's "A Song for You," which became the title track of the duo's 1972 album.

An eight-minute-long ballad written by Russell called "This Masquerade" was recorded by George Benson and appeared on his 1976 album "Breezin'." The song also appears on the 1981 LP "The George Benson Collection" (Warner Bros.).

Even though Russell is capable of Top 40 tunes, it seems the kind of music he likes to perform and record himself is a cross between R&B and bluegrass. His bluegrass sound is created with the help of mandolins, fiddles, banjos and dobros, all played by the New Grass Revival Band on Russell's 1981 live album on Paradise/Warner Bros. Records.

Apportionment plan blasted

To the editor:

On Jan. 12, 1982, the Apportionment Commission of Wayne County committed a grave injustice to the citizens by forcing the so-called "Holley Plan" for redistricting down our throats.

I say an injustice because James Killeen, our county clerk, refused to present at least one proposed plan to that commission for consideration. Killeen, by the way, also is chairman of the Apportionment Commission.

The Holley Plan is flawed in many ways. Among its flaws, one finds a totally unfair treatment of western Wayne County. Upon examination, one wonders how such "surgery" can be justified.

The "Holley Plan" itself, however, is not the main problem that I wish to address. I strongly believe that all voters in Wayne County should be made aware of the fact that although the Apportionment Commission is charged to solicit and consider public input they have blatantly refused to do so.

My plan was hand delivered to Killeen on January 12, 1982, which was the deadline for such input. He refused to present it to the Commission. Such callous disregard for his responsibility to the taxpayers and voters of Wayne County is inexcusable.

Unlike the plan which was adopted, this proposal makes a very successful effort at maintaining the intergrity of existing community boundaries. It also makes on honest attempt to consolidate communities with common interests, such as the Plymouth-Canton area, Dearborn Heights, etc., into their own districts instead of slicing them up and leaving them powerless.

These are very important considerations that I feel were completely ingnored by the commission in its haste to pass the "Holley Plan."

In closing, I must say that although my plan may not be the optimum solution, it makes far more sense than the one that was adopted. I feel that it was at least worthy of formal acknowledgement and consideration by the commission.

In refusing to consider this, or any other plans so presented, Killeen and the commission, at best, short-changed the taxpayers of Wayne County.

Take good look at Breen action

To the editor:

The time has come for the people of Plymouth Township to take a good look at the actions of our township board of trustees, and most specifically at the actions or inaction of our supervisor, Maurice Breen.

I am appalled to read of Mr. Breen's refusal to answer questions concerning his failure to fill the vacancy in our fire department. What is his motivation? All of the trustees (as well as all of the citizens of the township) should have the same information. Mrs. Fidge should never have had to ask questions in the first place.

If I am paying taxes to support a fire department of 15 men, then I want 15 men on the job. Where is that money going? If the fire department cannot send out an ambulance because of a lack of staff, we will sooner or later read in the papers that someone died for lack of that ambulance.

Also, if our firefighters work overtime they should be paid for overtime. Shame on all of our trustees for having to be taken to court before agreeing to meet this commitment.

I am disgusted.

Citizens, Mr. Breen will be with us until November 1984. I think we had all better ask some question and insist upon getting the answers.

Show some initiative to remove snow correctly

HERE'S A GOOD example of the letters and phone calls received last week concerning the lack of snow removal in Canton:

"My $350 increased tax bill for $1,960.61 has arrived, but the Wayne County Road Commission is so busy plowing and replowing Plymouth, Livonia and neighboring suburbs to Canton, that I have not been able to get out of my subdivision on three days this week.

"The road commission finds us when it is time to increase taxes; but when it is time to clear our streets, they ignore us."

This Canton reader is frustrated — like all of us — about the lack of snow removal in Canton Township.

She is so frustrated about the situation that her facts are incorrect.

First, the Wayne County Road Commission DOES NOT plow side streets in Livonia, Westland or the city of Plymouth. Subdivisions streets are owned and maintained by the cities themselves.

Secondly, property taxes do not go to the road commission. Although the county has jurisdiction over all township roads, it receives its revenues through a share of gas and weight taxes.

Those revenues are down, and so are your services from the road commission.

BUT GIVING YOU correct facts doesn't help you get out of your subdivision. You remain frustrated and feel helpless.

It's clear that the Wayne County Road Commission is not capable of giving Canton homeowners the service they desire — and deserve. But it will take an eternity for the state Legislature to change old laws which give the county jurisdiction over Canton roads.

So what's the solution? It's time for each subdivision to hire a private contractor to get the job done correctly — and as quickly as possible.

This isn't easy to say because your property taxes have increased. And the last thing you want to do is shell out even more money to get your streets clear of the white stuff.

Doc's corner

Dennis O'Connor

But the county isn't capable of giving any township homeowner who lives in a subdivision the services required.

Subdivisions, frankly, are not on the top of the road commission's snow-removal priority list.

SOME SAY Canton Township should take over the snow removal and road maintenance chores. Others say the easy way to control road maintenance is to incorporate into a city.

Supervisor James Poole, who has taken the brunt of calls from angry homeowners, says township taxes would have to be raised three mills ($3 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation) to cover these costs. If Canton becomes a city, the taxes may be higher.

We don't feel Canton residents want any kind of tax-rate increase, even for snow removal.

IT'S TIME RESIDENTS take the initiative to organize neighbors and begin collecting money — door-to-door — and then hire a private contractor if they wish to get the job done.

Windsor Park Subdivision, for example, hired a properly-licensed, private contractor this year and got good results. Other subdivisions could do the same.

Meanwhile, it's imperative that Township Hall does its part, continuing its strong lobbying efforts to make sure the county plows Canton's main roads.

Canton generates enough revenue from the gas and weight taxes to merit snow-removal service for its main roads.

Unfortunately, the subdivisions are going to be up to you.

Nick Sharkey

Neighbors join forces to thaw cold

First it was tennis elbow. Now it's Atari thumb. Can snow-shovel back be coming next?

Most of us still feel the effects of the snowstorms of 1982. After three relatively mild winters, Mother Nature seems to be getting even all at once.

Severe snowstorms are scarey. Who was not frightened for our own safety or that of a loved one during last week's storms? There's a certain element of survival of the fittest with a storm.

Those strong and young enough can usually make it without serious problems during the snow. But what about the very young or very old? How does an older person get required medicine from a drug store? How does an expectant mother make it to the hospital for the birth of a baby?

Fortunately, most of us are not faced with life-threatening situations during a snowstorm. We are inconvenienced by sore backs, clogged streets and balky cars, but we know we are going to make it through.

IN MOST neighborhoods, a snowstorm can be a time of making new friends and meeting old friends. As one person told me, "I always wanted to meet the girl in the apartment next door, but I never had a chance until last week when I pushed her car out of the snow."

My suburban neighborhood is a friendly place during the summer months. Neighbors frequently talk to each other over the back fence or while mowing the lawn. It's easy to get into a game of "catch" on someone's front yard. Families eat lunch together on a backyard picnic table.

But it's different in the winter. Everyone hibernates inside a warm house. Sometimes a neighbor is not seen from late fall until early spring.

That is, unless there is a snowstorm. Last week, a festival atmosphere was in the air. Oh, sure, there was much work to be done. But there was a pioneer spirit as neighbors worked to help each other.

I shoveled five driveways for people unable to clear their own. I helped push a stalled car down the street for a young woman on her way to a college class.

In exchange, one neighbor baked me cake and cookies. A more mechanically-minded man than I am figured out a way to open the frozen doors on my car. The neighborhood bartering worked out well and made us all realize that by working together we'd be all right.

AFTER THE WORK, there was time for play. While the children made snow forts and igloos, adults pelted each other with snowballs. Cameras came out to photograph the annual neighborhood snowman — something we will all look at during a heat wave this August.

At night, small parties were held inside many homes. Over cards, drinks and popcorn, the snow didn't seem so bad after all.

Yes, the difficulties of our snowstorms are real. But at the same time, that's the stuff that makes memories. Someday we may fondly recall with our friends the great snowstorms of 1982.

A kamikaze view from an auto plant

Reading some pamphlets from the Independent Skilled Trades Council of the UAW, I had the same feeling of bewildered horror I felt as a kid, back in World War II, when I read of the Japanese kamikaze pilots.

In the last desperate days of that war, Japanese volunteers were locked into planes loaded with bombs and sent aloft. Because they were going to die anyway, the kamikaze pilots figured they might as well dive into an American battleship and try to take a few hundred Yanks with them.

Nevertheless, I did read entirely through the batch of leaflets, news handouts, reprints and cartoons which a friend who works at the GM Livonia plant gave me.

That was more than the GM workers are being told to do.

According to one UAW skilled trades sheet:

"Question: What if supervision or the public address system tells us to go to the auditorium to view (company) films?

"Answer: Don't go. Tell them you do not wish to participate, and if they insist, call for your committeeman to protest their actions.

"Question: What if they hand out literature?

"Answer: Tell the you don't want any of their propaganda. If you receive any literature, drop it off at the union work center . . . . We'll have a garbage barrel to collect this material."

THE SECOND part of the UAW skilled trades' message is, don't make wage or benefit concessions because:

"GM wants to increase its investment capital so that it can accomplish two things. 1) Finance its building of automated plants which require fewer workers. 2) Finance its overseas operations which will build parts for cars sold in America."

In other words, UAW members are being told any concessions at the bargaining table won't stave off layoffs and will only be used against them.

Like the kamikaze pilot who is going to die anyway, you might as well carry a planeload of bombs and crash into an enemy ship.

MEANWHILE, the Feb. 8 Fortune magazine comes up with some shocking numbers about the auto industry. Japanese firms have a cost advantage of $1,300 to $1,700 per car.

"Auto industry wages in Japan currently run about $8 an hour below those in the U.S.," writes Charles G. Burck in the Feb. 8 article "Can Detroit Catch Up?"

That, of course, means nothing to the UAW skilled trades leaders, who are saying literally that wages have absolutely nothing to do with prices.

"The average Japanese compact or subcompact is assembled in 14 worker-hours, against 33 for the comparable U.S. car. Building the Japanese engine requires 2.8 hours against 6.8 for the U.S. engine; stamping out body parts, 2.9 hours against 9.5," the Fortune article goes on.

TO BE FAIR, writer Burck and his sources heap mounds of criticism on Detroit management for lavishly wasting money and space on inventory, kicking around suppliers and failing to appreciate its workers.

Ford has whacked off 25 percent of its salaried work force in the U.S. auto business, Chrysler has cut white-collar staff by half, and GM is doing a "remorseless pruning" of management, Burck adds.

The stresses on the ordinary plant workers have to be enormous. They would be smart, however, to read both GM's and their union leaders' sides of it. Management and labor are in the same boat. It would be suicidal to blow the other guy out of the water.

'Entirely up to them'

Father Sparky's new style

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

His hair seems a little whiter, his tan a shade deeper, but Sparky Anderson, the Detroit Tigers manager, is a much-changed man as he prepares to start another spring training in Florida.

No longer is he the "con" man who never missed a chance to tell you how good the Tigers would be and how many games they would win in the long summer campaign.

Now he has adopted a new twist. He is displaying a "father image," constantly telling the players that they can do great things along the victory trail — if they want to.

This big change was noticed when Sparky spoke at the recent Baseball Writers of America Detroit chapter annual dinner. The writers, including The Stroller, figured they were going to get another dose of the optimism he had been offering since he became manager.

But Sparky didn't do that.

INSTEAD, IN a serious vein, he emphasized that this year's Tiger brigade could be just as good as it wanted to be.

"If they adopt a winning attitude and stick together, they can be contenders for the title," he said. "It will be entirely up to them. They have their fate in their own hands."

Looking at Kirk Gibson, he became even more serious. The former Michigan State star, who had just been given the Tiger of the Year award by the writers, was in a jovial mood when Sparky rose to speak.

"Kirk," Sparky said, "you have the opportunity of a lifetime. You have the potential to be one of the greatest outfielders the game has ever known.

"They talk of another Mickey Mantle. But you can surpass him — if you develop the desire to do so. It is going to be entirely up to you."

Gibson, surprised by the personal touch of the moment, stood there with a serious look, like a son listening to his father. Sparky continued:

"KIRK, YOU are a young fellow, and a lot of things could happen along the way. But you will have to make up your mind that you want to be the greatest. Then you can reach your potential."

It was one of the most solemn moments the baseball writers had known in their annual meeting. But it portrayed a new Sparky Anderson who is going south to supervise spring training.

The new Sparky was a far cry from the fellow who stood in the same spot two years ago and proudly boasted that the team would be a pennant contender that would win 90 games. It was a bold statement as the Tigers had finished in fifth place.

It is history now that the team didn't win 90 games and finished in fifth place again.

It was the same last season. Even though the Tigers put on a great spurt in the second half of the split season, they landed in fifth again in the overall schedule.

NOW SPARKY Anderson is changing his style. He no longer boasts about what he will do with the team. He has put the burden on the players.

"They have the potential to win," he says with the voice of a believer, "but it will be entirely up to the players themselves. They must develop the winning spirit.

"If they don't, well . . . ."

That's the mood in which he is attacking a new season. It will be interesting to see what happens.

Mirror lens: light, artistic

Notice the artistic "donut" effect produced by Monte Nagler's 500mm mirror lens in this photo of a seagull. The "donuts" are actually out-of-focus sun sparkles shimmering in the water.

By Monte Nagler
special writer

Do you have the telephoto blues? Want the effects of a 500mm to 1,000mm lens but can't get turned on to the problems inherent in such a long lens — weight, size, cost?

Suppose I told you there's a hand-holdable 500mm lens, reasonable in price, which weighed only 18 ounces and was just over three inches in length.

Furthermore, this lens could focus closer than a conventional telephoto and could give your pictures special artisitc effects not obtainable with any other kind of lens.

Sound too good to be true? After two years of writing this column, do you think I've flipped my lens cap?

WELL, IT'S NO put-on. Such a lens exists, and for you telephoto lovers, it can be a valuable addition to your equipment.

Long in name but short in length, it's called a "catadioptric lens." More commonly, it's called a "mirror lens."

How do they work? Essentially, it's the same principle as the reflecting telescope. By using a reflective system that employs mirrored optics, a design which allows extreme focal lenghts can be packaged in a very short lens barrel.

The combination of a concave spherical mirror and conventional lens elements is what does the trick.

WHAT ARE the advantages of mirror lenses? I've touched on a few that I'll cover now in greater detail.

First, mirror lenses are lightweight and compact. There are fewer glass elements in the design, considerably reducing their weight. Also, because mirror lenses operate on a reflecting light principle, the overall length of the lens is reduced.

Another major advantage is that mirror lenses enable you to focus to very close distances. Some 500mm lenses, depending on manufacturer, can focus to an astoundingly close eight feet, compared with about 50 feet for a conventional 500mm lens. Some mirror lenses even have the capability of macro focusing.

To the creative photographer, a major advantage of mirror lenses is their ability to turn-out-of-focus light highlights into ring-shaped "donuts." This occurs becasue there is a reflecting central mirror in the lens rather than a diaphragm. These "donuts" can add an artistic touch to your photographs and give you very dramatic results. This is especialy effective with sun sparkles on water.

Reader has survey doubts

To the editor:

I have grave concerns about the validity of your survey to prioritize school cuts.

My first concern is the lack of information provided. As I look down the list of cuts, each possibility raises unanswered questions.

Which administrators are to be cut? What are their functions? How many of these functions can be eliminated and at what cost? Who will take over those functions which are necessary?

What, specifically, is special education? (Does it mean learning disabled, mentally handicapped, physically handicapped, low-income programs, minority programs, etc?) What type of cuts are proposed? How will these cuts affect the children in these programs?

What are the alternatives to "safety busing?" Can we provide safer walkways? Crossing guards? Parent-supported busing?

Will elimination of ESY increase class size? Will it require boundary changes? Additional busing costs? Etc. for every item on the list.

My second concern is the grouping of high school and junior high together in regard to shortening the school day. It has been expressed frequently by both parents and students that eliminating the elective period at the junior high would create no particular hardship. This is not the case at the high school. For most students, five periods seem to be necessary just to take the basic requirements for graduation and to prepare a student for whatever he or she wants to do after high school. Several fine courses can be fit in only during that sixth period elective. To shorten the high-school day would eliminate many outstanding opportunities for high-school students.

You have not even mentioned an option which I would definitely consider — shortening the elementary-school day. I am outraged by the excessive amount of recess time given my elementary-school child. With lunch break it comes to about 90 minutes each day. He even gets a 20-minute recess right before dismissal!

My final concern about your survey regards its fairness. Necessary as these cuts are, we are tired of them, and we really don't want to face any more. For most of us our biggest priority is that the board make only those cuts which do not affect our own children or their particular interests. This does not mean that we will recommend the wisest cuts, the fairest cuts, or the cuts which are in the long run the least detrimental.

While I wish the board to acknowledge this survey, I sincerely hope that they will not view it as a mandate from the people. Surely it will not reflect an informed, comprehensive, non-biased point of view.

Clerk refused to present plan

To the editor:

(An open letter to Frank J. Kelley, Michigan's Attorney General)

My proposed reapportionment plan for Wayne County was hand delivered to James Killeen, County Clerk for Wayne County, and chairman of the County Apportionment Commission on Jan. 12, 1982. It was developed and offered by myself, a voter, taxpayer and citizen of Wayne County.

Killeen refused to present it for consideration by the commission. The commission then proceeded that day to adopt the proposal now known as the "Holley Plan."

It is my honest belief that the commission and Mr. Killeen had an obligation to solicit and consider the input of those citizens who will be affected by the actions ultimately to be taken by that body. It is my contention that the adopted plan represents a perversion of the "one man - one vote" concept, and makes a mockery of the hard work and dedication that produced Wayne County's new charter.

The very principles on which our system of government is founded are violated by the refusal of Killeen to allow consideration of this or any plan so presented.

I would greatly appreciate your investigation into the propriety of the Wayne County Apportionment Commission's actions in adopting the "Holley Plan." In light of the fact that citizen input was not only ingnored, but blatantly refused, it would seem that the commission's actions certainly violate the spirit and possibly the letter of their legal charge.

I hope that you, the person charged with protecting the rights of every citizen in this state, will act to block this open attempt at dictatorship.

Parent proud of Rockettes

To the editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to bring to the attention of the community the fine work the Salem Rockettes are doing.

I was fortunate to be asked to sit in on practice time for the annual Rockette show. I expected to be confronted with 19 disorganized, non-attentive people. Instead I was impressed with a group of young women who were working without adult supervision and as a group handled themselves in an extremely professional manner.

There were no raised voices, disagreements or inattentiveness on their parts, with all directions coming from one of their peers. The attention they give to their routines is remarkable — details down to which way a hand held or an elbow turned.

Again, I must say I was tremendously impressed with the 19 girls and would like to acknowledge the fine work they do.

THEIR GRANDPARENTS and great-grandparents would have approved. The centennial celebration last Sunday at Cherry Hill United Methodist Church was everything the Centennial Committee hoped it would be.

The church on Ridge Road south of Cherry Hill had capacity crowds for both services. The junior, Sunday school, high school and adult choirs sang. Two former ministers, the Rev. George Nevin and the Rev. Louis Cain, returned for the day. The Rev. Ronald Bunger came from Clinton. He is archivist for the Methodist Conference and heads its history division.

They sang the old-time hymns and later sat down to dinner that would put an old-time threshing spread to shame.

Three long tables groaned under the weight of the "ethnic potluck" collection of foods. The farmers' wives of 100 years ago would have marveled at the assortment and the electric roasting pans used to cook, transport and warm the food.

Madelyn Bastian, who is chairing the centennial special activities, said, "We could have fed 100 more. Everyone was so generous, they brought whole roasting pans full — dishes native to Cornwall, England, European countries and the Orient as well as all kinds of breads and desserts."

February 1982 marks the 100th anniversary of the church building. The congregation itself is almost 150 years old. The first circuit-rider preacher came to the Cherry Hill settlement in 1834.

The centennial celebration will continue throughout the year with a special event each month. The sleighride party planned for January has been rescheduled for Sunday, Feb. 21, at Maybury State Park.

TWO LOCAL HIGH school students will be in Mount Pleasant Saturday. Senior Michael Blischke and sophomore Michael McClennen have been invited to attend an awards program at Central Michigan University. They were named as award winners by the Michigan section of the Mathematical Association of America for placing in the top 100 out of 24,000 high school students participating in the 25th annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition.

The awards program is supported, in part, through contributions by the Burroughs Corp. (which provides scholarships for the first-place winners) Michigan Bell, the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics, and the Kuhlman Corporation.

Fred Libbing, counselor at the CEP, supervised the students participating in the competition.

ALAN STUART of Plymouth is a member of the Wayne County delegation which will meet with Michigan State University administrators next week. County officials and agribusiness representatives will meet the university officials at St. Andrew Church of Christ in Dexter.

James Anderson, dean of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, says, "In many ways, we are at the crossroads, not only at the university but agriculture in general throughout Michigan. In keeping with our mission of serving people, we need their suggestions and guidance on how best we can tailor our programs to meet their needs for the rest of this decade and beyond."

TEACHERS at the Centennial Educational Park do not limit their educational activities to their hours in the classroom.

Ron Carlson, a member of the Plymouth Canton mathematics teaching staff, has had an article published in the "Journal of the Michigan Council of Mathematics Teachers."

Jan McCarthy, resource room teacher at Plymouth Canton high is president of the Michigan Association of Learning Disabilities Teachers.

Carey Gary, food service teacher at Plymouth Salem high, had a part in planning the new state-wide vocational food service curriculum. The project was two years in the making and Mrs. Gary was one of its principal writers. The curriculum was put into use this past school year and Mrs. Gary was involved in presentations of the project to food service teachers throughout the state.

'Some Girls'

Plymouth Salem High School Rockettes' annual show will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the school's auditorium, Joy Road west of Canton Center Road. Name of this year's show is "Some Girls." Seniors Laura Hewlett and Carla Jackson (front and center with fans) are co-captains. Admission is $2.50 for advance tickets and $3 at door. Squad advisers are Joanne Smith and Ronda Pretzlaff.

ERA missionary awaits Florida amendment

Kathy Boston returned to mountains of snow in Plymouth after two weeks in Ft. Lauderdale. The weather in Florida was wonderful and so were the people. She returned glowing with good health and enthusiasm.

Sounds like the perfect vacation? It wasn't. She was working as many as 15 hours a day as an ERA missionary.

Mrs. Boston had volunteered to give two weeks of her time to the passage of the Equal Rights Amenent in Florida. She is a member of the local chapter of the National Organzation for Women (NOW). The ERA missionary project, organized at the beginning of the year, is sponsored by NOW.

"The Florida Legislature came into session Jan. 1 and the ERA vote is expected soon," said Boston. "There are three senators in Broward County and we were trying to change one vote in the county to yes."

MISSIONARIES were housed with families which supported ERA.

"I spent the first week with a younger couple — both Cornell grads. They treated me like royalty. But they lived so far out of the city I moved." She spent the second week with a retired couple from New Jersey.

Boston said, "She was a president of the National Council for Jewish Women. They were very supportive and encouraging."

She spent her time working in the NOW-ERA office in Ft. Lauderdale and knocking on doors.

"We canvassed in pairs, in assigned areas, each taking one side of the street."

She said their reception by the Floridians was warm.

"People were thanking me for being there and saying how pleased they were that we had come. At least 70 per cent of the people I talked to supported ERA."

The missionaries had postcards the householders could sign and which would be mailed by NOW. Some said they would write a letter to their state senator and let him know his constituants support ERA. Some contributed money to the cause and offered to house ERA missionaries.

"IT WAS A short period of time to give," said Boston. "But I feel good about it. I gave my all and did everything I could."

She joined ERA a year ago and has become very involved. Leaving her family for two weeks and rearranging her classes at Schoolcraft College was not easy.

"I switched to independent human studies and will be able to use the ERA missionary program as a project," she said.

She is awaiting t outcome of the ERA vote in Florida.

"A Good Morning America television crew followed us around one day when we were canvassing. I don't know when it will be shown. Perhaps when the Florida Senate votes."

She decided she may never see it.

"I haven't time to sit around and watch television."

Wanted:

Women to work for equities in system

By Loraine McClish
staff writer

Older Woman's League (OWL), initied to bring women's retirement income up to a par with men, now has 144 chapters in the country. Four of them are in Michigan. Two more are forming in the state, and the one started for women in Detroit's northwest suburbs will be chartered before the month is out.

"We're looking for activitists," said Janet Good, acting president of the new northwest suburban chapter and a resident of Farmington Hills.

"We want women who are willing to work to help restore their self-esteem in a system that doesn't seem to be able to pass an ERA. We're tackling the concerns of women in a society fraught with inequities.

"Our purpose is to bring about an equity in the laws that will give us the same retirement income that men receive so we can have a choice of lifestyles when we reitre."

THE PURPOSE Mrs. Good speaks of stems from some bleak statistics that show that women live one-third longer than men and, across the board, retire on less than one-half of what men do.

Two out of three Americans who live in poverty are women.

Sixty percent of unmarried women over the age of 65 have no income other than Social Security.

Close to half of the five million women over 65 living alone today support themselves with incomes of less than $3,000 a year.

Retirement income in the U.S. is built on three prongs: Social Security, private savings and pensions, which are OWL's main targets.

A small article in several Observer & Eccentric Newspapers brought 25 women to Mrs. Good's home for an introductory meeting on OWL "on the coldest Sunday of the year," Mrs. Good said. "And another 25 calls came from women who said they didn't venture out because of the weather.

"I was overwhelmed by that response," she continued, "particularly from the women in their mid-30s who know that it might take 10-20 years to accomplish what we want and are willing to work for those things now."

THE BEGINNINGS of OWL came about late in the Carter administration when several women who attended a White House Conference on Aging asked for items on the agenda that dealt specifically with older women's issues. They were denied.

The upshot of that was getting themselves appointed as delegates the next time around; getting the resolutions they wanted passed; then returning home to form OWL.

"There was a lot of organizational know-how within that original group, and it's still in evidence in the way OWL is structured and how it is going about forming the chapters through mutual advocacy," Mrs. Good said.

She is emphatic that OWL not be known "as a towel to cry on," she said.

"We are not being formed to tell one another how bad it is. We know how bad it is. Our purpose is to find ways to make it better. We are not dealing with personal issues. We are dealing with faults in the system."

The specific faults in the system Mrs. Good speaks of are the issues at hand for the national organization: inequities in pension rights, access to health care insurance and inequities and inadequacies for women in the Social Security laws.

THE NATIONAL organization describes itself as "an organized voice for older women."

It is built on the premise that the major problems of aging in America are women's issues, which come as a legacy of a lifetime of both dependence and inequity.

It aims to select specific issues, develop an effective strategy and concentrate on those issues until the job is done.

It further aims to combat the combined impact of ageism and sexism while making its members more effective citizen advocates.

Locally, Mrs. Good said, "We are not a tea-and-cookie group, and there will be no regular once-a-month meetings.

"Rather, members will be given periodic assignments for research or study in a problem area, maybe individually or in a group, and a meeting will be called once every six months or so to formulate the next step in the action."

As for the chapter's age range, Mrs. Good's philosophy on that is simple: "chronological limits are pointless.

"The 30-year-old is older than the 25-year-old. We are all aging and have a stake in turning around the negative social implications of growing older female.

"We can use and need the help of every concerned person to bring public policy into conformance with our needs."

Mrs. Good will take calls at her home, 477-1823, after 6 p.m.

Board ponders fate of old county building

A committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is trying to find ways to preserve the Old County Building in downtown Detroit.

The board's public work committee is considering options which could include full restoration of the 80-year-old historical building.

The committee has is also considering a proposal from Commissioners Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, and Kay L. Beard, D-Inkster, to investigate leases of parts of the building with the city of Detroit and the new 36th District Court, and to explore possible sources of funding for restoration of the facility.

Commissioner Norabert Wisniewski, D-Detroit, has asked the board of commissioners to authorize the county Economic Development Corp. to prepare a plan that would be "feasible and affordable to restore the old County Building to its former magificance to ultimately house the new administrative and legislative branches of County government."

Calling the building the only remaining historical landmark in Detroit still under county jurisdiction, commissioners last year rejected efforts by Detroit and state officials to buy or lease the building for use by the new court.

The city has since applied for a $3 million federal grant to convert a Hudson warehouse in downtown Detroit for housing the district court, and the County Economic Development Corp. has suggested that a private firm might rehabilitate the Old County Building under a plan allowing tax credit, then lease it back to the county.

Volunteers keep PC JBA going

Jim and Linda Gee of Canton handle all problems, big and small, in the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association (PCJBA).

Phone calls come in throughout the day and on into the late evening hours. A normal week for Jim, who is this year's PCJBA president, is teaching full-time in a metropolitan school district and then spending three hours every evening and all day Saturday concentrating on basketball.

A significant group of parents and volunteers are a part of this large organization. Working diligently with the Gees are Mike Maloney, Jack Carpenter, Ron Mack, John Maloney, Jim Walsh, Sue Triplett and Frank Santorelli.

The players in the AAA league, the oldest division in the PCJBA have grown up with the program and have decided to stay with it rather than with school ball. Fred Stutzman and Ivan Cindrich are in charge of directing the coaches for the benefit of a smooth and exciting year.

John Patten, Dick Molyneaux, Mike Maloney, and Ed Rosenquist see to it that players have the chance to participate in this challenging game.

The elementary-school age children are not forgotten, either. Sportsmanship, game tactics and basic fundamentals are under the direction of Don Trim, Bob Jennings, Larry Janis, Jack Ewald, Ray Krall, Bob Richardson, Steve Kozusko, Bob Munro, Tom Boyle and Dick Westemeier for the boys. The girls at this level are coached by Stephen Nyquist, Bob Was, Rick Schuman and Chuck Barna.

I attended a game a few weeks ago to learn about this highly-competitive sport. While I was sitting on the sideline waiting for the game to begin, a friendly gentleman asked for assistance at the scoring table.

No one around me spoke up so I felt there must be a reason that no one wanted to volunteer. (Parents who come to watch their children play cannot do it and keep accurate figures at the same time).

My job was to be clock-watcher and horn honker. I have to admit, there were only a few quick glances at the play of the game, because time goes by fast when you are having fun.

A friend of mine, Dick Rearick, was a parent volunteer in this position, a few years ago. He got so involved watching his son on the court that the game was over and no one knew it. It is great to get so involved with your children.

The referees in this association are high school boys and girls. They are the only group paid by the organization. All other services are volunteered. Clinics and workshops take place at the beginning and during the season for proper training and strict instructional methods of the game.

"This program is for the kids," says Jim Gee, "We nurture them slowly, with the aid of their parents."

The hundreds of parents who spend their precious time coaching and as assistant coaches are proud of the high quality of basketball played right here in our great community. Believe it or not, we have men and women still active in the program whose children have graduated from high school and want to remain in touch with this fine league.

Kerry and Ann Kungel of Ann Street, Plymouth announce the birth of their son, James Wesley, Jan. 19 at home. The baby was born at home with the assistance of members of the Plymouth Fire Department and a neighbor, Sue Olsen, RN. Mrs. Kungel and the 6-pound, 3½-ounce James were taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. The Kungels have a daughter, Beth, 19 months.

Mooney-Miller

Gale I. Miller became the bride of Scott Mooney in a December ceremony officiated by District Judge Dunbar Davis. A reception at the Ss. Simon and Jude Catholic Church in Westland followed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Norine Miller of Canton and the late Anthony Miller. Mr. and Mrs. George Mooney of Westland are the bridegroom's parents.

A lace-trimmed white gown with a Queen Anne neckline was the bride's choice. Her veil also was edged in lace, and she carried white and yellow roses. Sharon Bush was matron of honor, and Rick Moran was best man.

The newlyweds are living in Westland.

Nothing gives a man more leisure time than being punctual.

● DAR LUNCHEON

Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet at noon Monday, Feb. 15, for its annual Good Citizens luncheon at the Plymouth Historical Museum, Main Street at Church, Plymouth. Program will be "Tour into the Past." Good citizen award winners will be there. For more information about the DAR, call membership chairwoman Christine Campbell at 464-1154.

PCEP child-care center open house rescheduled Feb. 12

An open house at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) preschool centers has been rescheduled for noon to 2 p.m. Friday, Feb. 12.

An open house was held Feb. 3 but only about 90 persons attended due to bad weather.

Parents may visit Canton Children's Corner in Room 138 of Plymouth Canton High School or Salem's Small World in Room 1337 of Plymouth Salem High School.

Applications will be available for preschoolers for the 1982 fall term. The centers are part of the child-care vocational program at the CEP. Sue Visser is teaching supervisor at Canton Children's Corner and Betty DuBois heads the program at Salem's Small World.

For information call 453-3100, ext. 340.

● YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONCERT

The Young People's Concert, "Magic of Music," originally planned for Sunday, Jan. 31, has been rescheduled for 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. Feb. 28 in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

Tickets for the concert cancelled because of a snowstorm will be honored at times printed on tickets. Tickets for the 4 p.m. concert are on sale at Beitner's Jewelry in Plymouth and Book Break in Canton. Exchanges for different performance times can be made at the stores while the supply lasts. All tickets are $1.

● GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

The Western Wayne County Genealogical Society will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 17, in the Carl Sandburg Library, 30100 Seven Mile, Livonia.

Speaker will be James Craven of the University of Michigan Bentley Library, whose topic will be "Introduction to the Conservation of Documents."

February is membership month for the society. Dues are $8 for individual and $10 for family memberships.

● NEWBORN CARE

Plymouth Childbirth Education Association is offering a two-week course for expectant couples beginning Tuesday, Feb. 16, in Geneva Presbyterian Church, Sheldon north of Ford, Canton Township. The classes give information on care and development of the newborn from birth through three months. For information and to register, call 459-7477.

● SPINNAKERS

Spinnakers, a fellowship group for single adults of all ages, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 13, at the First Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall, 200 E. Main, Northville. Newcomers are welcome.

Program leader will be Carl T. Bergstrom PhD, human growth workshop leader, school psychologist and a member of the Schoolcraft College faculty. Admission is $1 for members and $1.50 for non-members.

● PLYMOUTH BPW

Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club will have a dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 15, at Hillside Inn. Social time begins at 6 p.m. Guests and prospective members are welcome. Call Millie Blackford for reservations, 453-3777.

State Sen. Robert Geake will talk about economics and current discussions in the Michigan Senate.

World missionary leaders headline Ward conference

Bishop Festo Kivengere, awarded the International Freedom Prize for heading relief efforts in his native Uganda, is one of three speakers who will headline the Missions Conference scheduled by Ward Presbyterian Church of Livonia Feb. 14-21.

The others are Dr. Ralph Winter, founder and leader of the U.S. Center for World Missions, and Dr. David Howard, assistant to the president of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship.

Winter will open the conference by preaching for morning and evening services Sunday and Howard will speak at 7 p.m. Wednesday following a 6 p.m. missions banquet.

The bishop will bring the closing challenge at 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 21.

Other events for the missions week include coffees with the visiting missionaries at 9:30 a.m. Monday through Friday and a children's missionary rally 10 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Dr. Bartlett L. Hess will make his Feb. 21 sermon part of the mission conference, preaching on "Sowing, Weaping and Reaping."/R

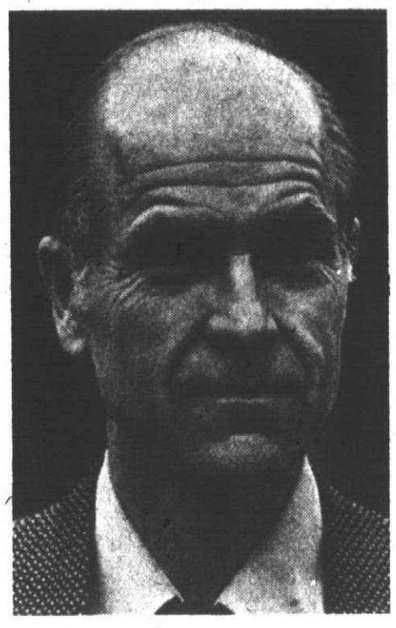

KIVENGERE is known worldwide as a Christian leader; his ministry has taken him to every continent.

In 1977 he had joined Anglican Archbishop Janani Luwum and other prelates in a protest to President Idi Amin over human rights. Luwum was martyred, and Kinvengere and his wife escaped from the country after he had been reported killed.

He returned from exile in 1979 and has produced a film titled "Return to Uganda." Since 1979 Kivengere has focused his ministry on bringing relief to the impoverished Ugandans as chairman of the Church of Uganda Relief and Rehabilitation Committee.

Bishop Festo Kivengere

Dr. Ralph Winter

Dr. David Howard

The freedom prize was awarded the bishop in 1977.

WINTER founded the missions center at Pasadena because, while serving as a professor at Fuller Theological Seminary, he was struck by the realization that Christian outreach bypasses some 2.4 billion people in the world.

Through his agency, personnel from 42 mission agencies are working on strategies and resources to reach these "hidden peoples" populating areas where there is no indigenous church.

Winter holds a Ph.D. from Cornell University and has served as a missionary to Guatemala from 1950 to 1966. He has published four books and numerous articles.

HOWARD is associated with the Inter-Varisty Christian Fellowship in the area of missions emphasis.

He served as director of the Consultation on World Evangelization in Thailand in 1980 and also was with the Latin American Mission in Colombia and Costa Rica for 15 years from 1953 to 1968.

He has written six books and published numerous articles.

Ward Presbyterian, which supports more than 100 missionaries and mission agencies on a budget of nearly $500,000, invites the public to the annual mission conference. Reservations are needed for the Wednesday banquet, and these may be maded by calling the church, 422-1150.

Seminar will explore leadership

A chance to evaluate yourself and improve your leadship skills will be offered in a seminar from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 27, at Schoolcraft College.

To be held in room F530 of the Forum building, it is sponsored by the Women's Resource Center at the college and District IX of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women.

For a fee of $15, which includes a salad lunch, participants can attend sessions on setting priorities, management skills, reflective listening, behavior modification and values clarification.

Also offered is a chance to discuss goals, body language and career planning.

Register by Feb. 20 by mailing a check payable to District IX BPW to the Women's Resource Center at the college, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia 48152. Refunds will not be made for cancellation.

For more information, call the center at 591-6400, Ext. 430.

B'ham church sets recital

The Women's Alliance of Birmingham Unitarian Church will present violinist Peggy Tundo and pianist Barbara Woolf in a short recital at noon Wednesday in the church at 651 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills.

Following the recital, Ms. Tundo will talk about her life as a woman in the musical world. Ms. Tundo is a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

A box lunch for $4.90 and free baby sitting will be provided. Send check by Monday to Sue Boyce, 612 Forestdale, Royal Oak 48067.

The public is invited.

John LaLiberty of Farmington signed a pefition that was circulated at the Livonia Mall by Joe Diroff asking that the United Nations call a conference of world religions.

Appeal to U.N. is for unity

A group has been visiting shopping malls in an effort to get signers to a petition which asks that the secretary general of the United Nations call a summit meeting of the world's religions to try to "enhance unity, hope, freedom, understanding and peace throughout the world."

The group is an informal organization called CONCERN (Citizens Offering New Concepts Encouraging Reason Nationwide and Beyond).

"We want religious representatives to sit down and start problem solving," said Joe Diroff, a retired Detroit high school teacher math teacher, who now works as a substitute teacher in the Livonia and Clarenceville school districts.

He estimated that by Jan. 1 the group had collected about 300 signatures.

"We will continue having our members get signatures until we get some reaction from church groups or the UN itself," commented Diroff. "Once we get something started we'll bow out, and the churches can take over."

Diroff, who is a member of St. Monica Catholic Church in Detroit, said CONCERN is a non-denominational and non-political organization about 12 members. He can be reached at 537-7357.

"We think the UN has the facilities to handle a meeting of this sort," he said. "It could act on a neutral basis. I feel if we could just get them (members of world religions) to sit down and discuss world problems like starvation and the arms buildup, it might lead to something.

Possibly if they sat down together they might discuss what they have in common. It might break down mistrust, misconceptions and misunderstandings among them.

The petition was directed to the new secretary-general of the United Nations, Javier Perez de Cuellar of Peru, who recently took over the position from Kurt Waldheim.

It stated: "We appeal to you in behalf of all humanity to offer your position, facilities, and services for the purpose of initiating an international summit conference of all religions. It is sincerely hoped that such an action would greatly enhance unity, understanding, freedom, hope, love and peace throughout the world.

"Thank you, best wishes, and may God bless you and your efforts."

It was "respectfully submitted" by the Concerned Peoples of the World.

Amsterdam

Sex, shoes and hot dogs — all at the big daddy of rummage sales

photos by MICKY JONES

The international language of barter continues at Amsterdam's giant flea market, which includes tables of china, crystal and knick-knacks.

Iris Jones
contributing travel editor

IF YOU LIKE garage sales, you will enjoy the biggest rummage sale of them all: the flea market at Amsterdam. The slogan of this Dutch city is "Surprising Amsterdam," and some of the things you see will surprise even the chamber of commerce.

A Dutch housewife paws through a pile of shoes for a mate to the red one she holds in her hand. Across the square, a young American buys a fur coat to warm him through the winter. At the pornography stalls, a well-dressed businessman stares at four-color magazine pictures.

There are tables of brass and copper and china, piles of clothes on the cold concrete, a Dutch version of a hot dog stand, and a flim-flam man who gives away watches for a quarter of a dollar, or whatever handful of coins that makes in Dutch money.

The goods come in on motorized carts, each sack holding somebody's life. "They" say that every man could write a novel out of his own life, and there it is in a sack opened before a greedy and curious crowd: the pair of baby's shoes, the child's painting, the box of silver spoons and 50 years of ancient clothes.

WHEN A bargainer finds a real prize, bystanders don't need to understand the language to know what is going on. Her voice offers, the seller's voice rises, she shouts back in disbelief, and so the international language of barter goes on.

The participants in this drama are working people, women with shopping baskets, young men with long hair and beards, old men in old hats.

A toothless old man with a few things on the ground speaks to me in Dutch and soon we are deep in what might be called conversation about unemployment, the war and the good life.

Mostly we talk with our hands and our feet, but I know a few words of German and he knows a few words of English, so we manage to communicate. When I am ready to move on, he struggles to leave me with a compliment: "You nice lady, you go nice trip airplane. You come back."

I repay him with the only Dutch word I have learned in my brief stay. It sounds like dankyuvell, and I hope that's what it means.

THERE IS no such conversation at the sex stalls where a few young couples join a silent huddle of dark business suits standing with a rigid casualness before magazine covers showing such exciting things as women being whipped with chains. These shops can be found all over Amsterdam, although there are always more lookers than buyers.

Specialization is the trademark of this flea market. This stall specializes in brutalized sex, but to right and left there is great variety. A long row of hardware stalls. A table of old wooden skates. Racks of ancient guns. Persian necklaces, old lamps, a basket of used hypodermic needles, bicycles and plenty of places four lunch if you're willing to try new foods.

A smiling fat lady and a harried-looking man sell rolls filled with chicken or fish at a trailer, and when she sees me watching the food hungrily, she waves a roll under my nose.

She understands my "was ist" but she cannot reply in anything but Dutch so she makes signs to help me understand and we decide on what sounds like "broodje gehat." It is a hot dog bun with tiny shrimps smothered in pepper and mayonnaise. It is delicious.

AS WE EAT, I see the flim-flam man setting up his table in the only cleared space left in that acre of concrete, near the rack where young travelers buy fur coats for the winter.

The table is up in one motion, the stacked trays come out of a suitcase like magic and the people gather one by one to hear his chatter.

They smile in disbelief because they know he is a con man, but it is fun to be near him so they stay, and sooner or later they buy. I cannot understand the words but the meaning is clear enough.

"Who will buy the first watch of the day for a guilder? Old lady, I love you, come here and let me give you this pin. Don't be shy. See how she blushes. Now isn't she the prettiest lady here? What's this? A boy without a pen in his pocket. A gift, a gift."

By now, the one-by-one have made a crowd pressing forward with a special look on each face: "I know you will cheat us, and naturally I am too smart to be cheated, but . . . well . . . maybe it is a good buy just this one time."

I DO NOT buy, except for a very small brooch, because I am in the market looking for something else. Memories. I brought them all home as gifts to myself, the Dutch farmer, the broodje maker, the flim-flam man.

Even when you talk with your hands and your feet, you can really get to know a city at a flea market.

A housewife paws through a pile of shoes, looking for a mate.

Salem, Chiefs shoot for league takedowns

Plymouth Salem closed out its regular season Saturday at home with a double-dual victory.

The victims were Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 43-19, and Brighton, 54-19.

Salem finished the year with a sparkling 14-2 record.

The Rocks scored five victories on falls against Annapolis. Randy Beaudoin (158 pounds) had the fastest pin (29 seconds). Other Salem grapplers winning by pins included Rick Bershave (101), Mike Doumanian (122), John Woochuk (170) and Marty Piper (heavyweight).

In the best match-up of the day, Salem's John Beaudoin beat highly-regarded John Swayze at 135 pounds, 9-5. The Rocks' Bruce Bachman (141) and Scott Wickens (188) also won by decision.

SALEM RECORDED six falls against Brighton — Bill Hall (115), Doumanian, John Beaudoin, Bachman (25 seconds), Harry Walkley (188) and Piper (200).

Rock matmen earning decisions were Randy Beaudoin and Woochuk. Steve Grytza (129) and Kevin Van Otten (heavyweight) won on voids.

Salem will seek its third Suburban Eight League title in six years Saturday at Belleville. Trenton is the defending champ.

Preliminary matches start at 11 a.m. followed by the consolation finals at 5:30 p.m. The finals will begin at approximately 6 p.m.

Glen Medalle (with ball) momentarily loses possession as Franklin defender Mike Wilkins (left) closes in for the steal. Medalle and his Salem teammates won the game, 60-47.

McBride's 34 spurs victory

Rocks crush Franklin

By Jay Keenan
special writer

Few basketball fans could have foreseen what Livonia Franklin would encounter in its game Tuesday with Plymouth Salem.

Franklin was sole owner of first place in the Northwest Suburban League by virtue of a two-point victory last Friday over North Farmington. The Patriots were expected to use their customary running game to baffle the Rocks.

But it proved to be a bad time for Franklin to meet Suburban Eight League-leaders Salem and sharpshooting guard Mike McBride.

McBride poured in 34 points to lead the Rocks to a 60-47 shellacking of Franklin at Salem.

THE ROCKS were idled by the heavy snows last Friday, giving them an extra day to prepare for the Patriots, who were emotionally drained by the win over North Farmington.

Leading by five points at the half (25-20), Salem blew by Franklin in the final two quarters with a 35-27 scoring outburst. McBride was red-hot, scoring 23 second-half points, including 16 in the pivotal third quarter.

"The key was to stop Franklin's running game," said Rock coach Fred Thomann, whose team is now 12-3 for the season. "We knew that they could run, and we worked at that on Friday. We stopped their running game pretty well."

Mike Williamson's 14 points paced Franklin, now 10-5. Bob Stebbins followed with 12 and Mike Wilkins added 11.

Norm Haygood controlled the boards for the Rocks and scored 10 points. Haygood clogged the middle, blocking several shots before fouling out early in the fourth quarter.

"WE CAME TO play, but we did not have everybody jelling at the same time," said Franklin coach Jim McIntyre. "We just didn't seem to have all five kids on the court in rhythm at the same time.

"This team may have overexerted itself after the win over North. The kids were high as kites over the weekend. But we'll be back. Our kids are gutty enough that they'll want to play hard. I'm not worried about that.

"(Last) Friday's game took a lot out of us."

Salem surged to a 17-8 lead after one quarter with McBride scoring seven points and Haygood six. But Franklin fought back, scoring seven straight to slice the Rock margin to two, 17-15, with 4:38 left in the half.

Salem, which failed to score in the first 4:45 of the second quarter, got in gear to maintain a 25-20 halftime lead.

FRANKLIN PULLED to within three (33-30) with 5:28 remaining in the third quarter before McBride started heating up. The 6-foot-3 senior pumped in the final eight points of the period for the Rocks in a 3½ minute span to push them to a 49-36 lead after three quarters.

"We made two good spurts," Thomann said. "Franklin can get back at you after being down. They've been doing that all year. But when we got that second spurt in the third quarter, we decided we'd close them down.

"We were patient with the ball tonight. We didn't stall, but we took some time with it."

McIntyre pointed to the boards as the difference in the game.

"Salem's size controlled the offensive boards," the Franklin coach said, adding, "And you can't play a running game if you don't have the ball."

Canton suffers 14th loss

Plymouth Canton continued to take its lumps on the basketball court.

Dearborn, the second-place team in the Suburban Eight League, routed the young Chiefs Tuesday night, 62-36.

The loss drops Canton to 1-14 overall. Dearborn is 11-4.

The Pioneers jumped out to a 19-9 first-quarter advantage and never looked back. Dearborn held a 38-24 halftime advantage and led by as many as 26 points in the second half.

Center Greg Cwik paced the winners with 14 points. Mark Wolter, a guard, added 10.

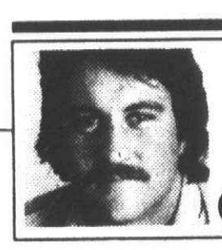

Matt Thomas and Tim McFarland each had eight in a losing cause.

Rookie coach Dave Van Wagoner explained the latest defeat: "Every game we've played has been close at the half but this one wasn't.

"We've lost four players, and we're starting a sophomore and four juniors," he continued. "We're young, small, but we still work hard."

Canton will try to halt its 10-game losing streak Friday at Walled Lake Western.

Avon net event coming or going?

C.J. Risak

Was that Avon calling?

This year, yes. Next year, maybe not.

OK, OK, so you've heard all the rumors. None of the top women tennis players want to play in Detroit. They don't like the city, they don't like the weather, so they don't come.

Detroit always gets shafted, you say. The best players show their prejudice against our glorious city by snobbily proclaiming, "I don't want to play in Detroit. You couldn't pay me enough to risk my life playing in that city."

Hold it, Detroiters. Your paranoia about our city is already well-known. It came across loud and clear during Super Bowl week when all those out-of-town sports writers had the nerve to call our town cold.

LET'S FACE it: our town does get cold in the winter. Many of their criticisms were well-taken and, anyway, the good ink Detroit got nationwide far outweighed the bad.

So let's not go overboard with this Avon deal. Fact is, we aren't the only city that's had bad luck with the Avon circuit.

Avon is considering dropping its sponsorship of the tour, if you didn't already know. A decision is due from the cosmetics company April 1.

That doesn't mean the Women's Tennis Association (WTA) circuit will fold. According to Trish Faulkner, tour director for the WTA, there "are some other companies that have expressed an interest in picking up the circuit."

"We are looking at other options and examining the possibility of cutting down on the number of tournaments so more top seeds can play more often."

I KNOW WHAT your thinking, Detroiter. Why our city? Every year the top players pull out just before the Detroit stop. How come?

"I think there are a lot of reasons," said this year's Detroit Avon champion, Andrea Jaeger, explaining why so many top pros were missing.

"Number one, a lot of players are injured. And players play the first three or four weeks (of the tour) and take the next week off.

"I feel really bad for Detroit because every year they get the shaft."

Jaeger obviously knows our town, because she said all the things Detroiters believe and want to hear. The fact is, Detroit isn't the only city on the Avon circuit that got shafted this year.

"Chicago was missing more top seeds than Detroit," said Sue Kessler, the Detroit tournament director for the Junior League of Birmingham. "And Cincinnati was without any of the top five players."

THE RESULT IS what has caused the problem: too many tournaments for too few name players.

"WTA members literally admitted to us that they had created a monster," Kessler said of the jammed women's tour. What has happened to other professional sports (hockey, for example) is now plaguing women's tennis — dilution of talent.

Faulkner disagrees. "The public and media aren't willing or ready to accept a Pam Shriver in the same light as a Chris (Evert) or Martina (Navratilova). Unless the public recognizes the other tennis players we'll either have to lower the player committment or cutback on the tournament schedule."

Player committment deals with the amount of prize money offered. The bigger the purse, the more top players are promised by the WTA.

It is obvious the Detroit public won't accept lesser talent in tennis any more than it would in soccer, evident when the Detroit Express folded after the loss of Trevor Francis.

IF THE WTA and Avon both decide to cut back on the number of tournaments, will Detroit be one of the stops eliminated?

Kessler doesn't think so. "We're a charity tournament that raises a lot of money. And sponsors love to be associated with charity tournaments."

What Kessler would like, of course, is a warmer date. This year's attendance was down 6,000, largely because of the snowstorms last week. Since the tour only lasts from January to March, there aren't many. She is pushing for a date in March.

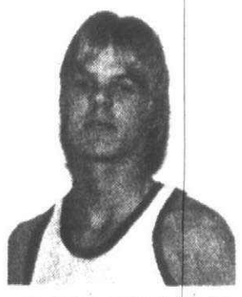

But first things first. What if Avon drops its sponsorship? The Junior League of Birmingham couldn't possibly raise enough money for a $150,000 purse (currently, Avon supplies 70 percent of the prize money).

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK

Another week, another event added to the string of firsts for the victory hungry Plymouth track team, during May of 1957. Last week in a dual meet, the locals grabbed 12 of 13 possible firsts with the lone loss coming in the weak shot put event. Senior Ron Markham was the only double winner as he captured firsts in the 100 and 200 yard dashes. Dick Manion took a first in the 120 yard high hurdles for the first time this season, as he hit the tape at 18.9. Captain Dick Showers kept his undefeated streak alive with a time of 54.3. Jeff Yeoman was first in the 180 yard low hurdles. The Rocks' lone sweep came in the 880 yard run with Charlie Westover, Allen Davies and Jim Preston composing the winning combination. The winning time was 2.11 flat. The final score was Plymouth 73 1/3 to Belleville's 35 2/3. The win gave Plymouth a 4-1 record for the season.

O&E Brian Stemberger memorable times

Stemberger glad to be home

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Brian Stemberger found there's more to baseball than hot dogs, apple pie and Chevrolet.

A pitcher in the Toronto Blue Jays minor league system, Stemberger spent the past 3½ months playing winter ball in Colombia. It was truly a South American venture.

"My mother didn't want me to go because of all the problems down there," said the ex-Plymouth Canton and Eastern Michigan University standout. "But the club (Toronto) thought it would be in my best interest."

Once he was situated, Stemberger was forced to adjust to a new lifestyle.

"A lot of guys didn't make it," he said. "A lot got sick. The food was hard to stomach. I lost 21 pounds the first two weeks.

"The meats were tough — they have no refrigeration. One day I decided to just swallow and forget about it. We'd get one jug of water, and that's what we had to cook with for the week."

Stemberger lived in a 10-story apartment complex in the northern port of Barranquilla (population — 690,000).

"We played in all port cities," he explained. "There were five teams.

"I was in the good part of Barranquilla. It's equivalent to Old Village in Plymouth."

Stemberger arrived in Barranquilla on Oct. 1 via Tampa and Miami where he worked out for two weeks in preparation for his trip.

"You really take a lot for granted living here (in the United States)," he said. "A lot of times I wanted to leave, but as a player and person I'm better off now."

STEMBERGER could talk day and night about his experiences.

"It was scary at first," he said. "The second day I was there, I saw a guy

Chiefs spike Salem in renewed rivalry

Plymouth Canton cooled host Plymouth Salem Monday in a non-league volleyball match, 15-13, 15-7.

It was the first meeting between the two neighborhood rivals since 1976.

Canton evened the series at 1-all by earning some easy points.

"Both teams were really excited," said Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein. "It was a big deal for both teams. We were pretty nervous."

A slew of Salem unforced errors led to Canton's fourth victory of the season in six starts. The Rocks slipped to 2-3 overall.

"I thought we did OK," added the Canton coach, "but we only had four or five points that were spiked. Our defense needs a lot of work, but I thought we did a good job covering the floor.

"Salem is a scrappy team with some real good athletes. They just seemed to be really nervous."

The Chiefs scored most of their points off the serves of Debbie Dickinson. Missy McMurray, another senior, also had a good night from the backline, according to Burnstein.

gunned down in the street. There was a military guard standing on every street corner.

"I went down to the laundry room one day and found a lizard."

Stemberger's team was sponsored by an auto parts dealer called Willard. Each roster allowed 15 imports and required 10 natives.

"The people were basically good to us," he said. "They called us 'Gringos.'

"They were frontrunners, though. They liked you if you were doing well, but if you were going bad, they were all over you. They liked the home run hitters and the fast pitchers who blew the ball by you.

"In the restaurants and the streets, they'd either want your autograph or yell obsenities. We picked up some of the expressions."

Stemberger's team finished second during the 60-game regular season schedule. Willard, however, was ousted in the first round of the playoffs.

"The competition was good," he said. "There were a few major leaguers. The clubs were equivalent to Triple A."

Stemberger, used primarily as a reliefer, compiled a 1-1 record with a 4.12 earned run average. He worked 41 innings.

The pay was good. He earned $1,000 per month (tax free) and was given $18 a day for meals. His housing also was free.

STEMBERGER said the baseball was "first-class."

"The stadiums were real nice. On our final night (of the playoffs), we had 25,000 people. They broke down the centerfield gate because it was so crowded. I had never seen anything like that before.

"There were some fights in the stands, and the police would just come over and start swinging their clubs. They sometimes threw bottles at the players — mostly tequila bottles."

The threat of a leftist guerilla attack sent Stemberger and his teammates scurrying for shelter one October day:

"They called off our game and said something about a revolution going to occur. We were told to get enough food for a day and stay in our apartments, but nothing came of it."

Because of a language barrier, lack of transportation (only taxis) and warm climate, Stemberger and his American teammates spent a lot of time writing letters and playing cards.

"It got up to 93 (degrees) on Christmas day. You couldn't go two blocks during the middle of the day without sweating up a storm.

"That's when they'd take their siesta."

COLOMBIAN inflation embarrassingly caught Stemberger off guard during his stay. He made a 41-minute phone call to his girlfriend and later received a bill for $165.

"I thought it would only be 60 bucks or so. I couldn't believe it. There was a 30-percent service charge by the apartment, so I went to talk to the owner about it, and he later paid half."

Another time, Stemberger used a cheaper line. He got to talk to his mother through a ham operator. The connection was made out of St. Louis through Livonia.

After the playoffs, which concluded in mid-Januray, Stemberger flew to Miami and then home to Detroit.

"It took two days to get out. A lady at the airport offered me 50,000 pesos (about $1,000) if I would take her son to the United States. I couldn't do it.

"The little kids I feel sorry for. They don't have anything to wear. No shirts or shoes. They wear cut-offs from pants their dads wore.

"They'll take anything from you — old spikes or gloves. They were a lot of fun."

STEMBERGER, however, was glad to get home.

"When the airline stewardess said 'Five minutes to Detroit,' I wanted to stand up and cheer.

"It was a real good experience, but I don't know if I'll ever do it again."

The 24-year-old Stemberger compiled a 9-6 record and 3.51 ERA last year at Kinston (N.C.) of the Class A Carolina League.

He'll report to spring training during mid-March and then most likely be assigned to Blue Jays' Class AA team (Southern League) in Knoxville, Tenn.

The adjustment to that climate should be a little easier.

Schoolcraft cagers nip Alpena, 52-48

Livonia Stevenson grad Bill Keyes scored nine points Saturday to lead Schoolcraft College to a 52-48 basketball win over Alpena CC.

The host Ocelots are 15-7 overall and 9-5 in the Eastern Conference of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association (MCCAA).

Livonia Churchill's Scott Conrad, a 6-foot-7 freshman forward, Phil Blevins and Manuel Smith each added eight for the winners, who led 25-23 at the half.

The Ocelots opened up a 10-point advantage in the second half.

ALPENA CC 74
LADY OCELOTS 39

Schoolcraft's women's team was took a 35-point licking Saturday at Alpena.

Kathy Peck, a 1978 Plymouth Canton grad, scored 10 points in a losing cause.

Schoolcraft dropped to 1-11 in league play and 3-12 overall.

Rock grapplers trip non-league opponents

Plymouth Salem closed out its regular season Saturday at home with a double-dual victory.

The victims were Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 43-19, and Brighton, 54-19.

Salem finished the year with a sparkling 14-2 record.

The Rocks scored five victories on falls against Annapolis. Randy Beaudoin (158 pounds) had the fastest pin (29 seconds). Other Salem grapplers winning by pins included Rick Bershave (101), Mike Doumanian (122), John Woochuk (170) and Marty Piper (heavyweight).

In the best match-up of the day, Salem's John Beaudoin beat highly-regarded John Swayze at 135 pounds, 9-5. The Rocks' Bruce Bachman (141) and Scott Wickens (188) also won by decision.

SALEM RECORDED six falls against Brighton — Bill Hall (115), Doumanian, John Beaudoin, Bachman (25 seconds), Harry Walkley (188) and Piper (200).

Rock matmen earning decisions were Randy Beaudoin and Woochuk. Steve Grytza (129) and Kevin Van Otten (heavyweight) won on voids.

Salem will seek its third Suburban Eight League title in six years Saturday at Belleville. Trenton is the defending champ.

Canton gymnasts fall

Ypsilanti handed Plymouth Canton its second girls' gymnastics loss of the season Monday night, 120.7-116.35.

Gretchen Weikert led the Braves with first-place finishes in the balance beam (8.8) and floor exercise (8.25). She was first in all-around with a score of 32.8, followed by Canton's Laura Michalik and Linda Beale with 30.95 and 30.7, respectively.

A poor showing on the beam cost the Chiefs dearly.

"We had 11 falls on beam, and that gave them the meet," said Canton coach John Cunningham. "That event was disasterous for us."

Despite the loss, Cunningham was pleased with his team's performance.

Placing on vault for the Chiefs were Michalik, first place, 8.4; Amy Albaugh and Beale, second (tie), 8.3; and Lisa Lovich, seventh, 7.2.

Beale took first on uneven parallel bars with a score of 8.25. Michalik was second (8.05) and Theresa Wheeler was eighth (6.3).

On floor, Beale was second (8.0) and Lovich third (7.8). Michalik grabbed sixth with a 7.3.

Scoring points for Canton on beam were Michalik, second, 7.7; Lovich, fourth, 6.65; and Albaugh, sixth, 6.55.

CUNNINGHAM WAS impressed with Weikert's showing: "She's definitely among the top 10 in the state. That was the best beam performance I've seen. She's a good all-around gymnast."

PULL THE TEETH FROM YOUR TAX BITE.

Finally, there's a fast, simple remedy for the trauma of tax bite. Now any working person under the age of 70½ can tax-shelter up to $2,000 per year in an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at First Federal Savings of Detroit.

The money you deposit in an IRA is deducted from your gross income before you figure your income tax. You don't pay tax on it—or on the interest it earns—until you retire and start to withdraw your money.*

First Federal offers many attractive retirement plans, including two new 18-month accounts and our popular 30-Month Money Market Certificate Account.

18-MONTH VARIABLE RATE ACCOUNT

14.500%
Annual Rate
compounded quarterly

15.308%
Effective Annual Yield
Rate is effective February 2, 1982, until further notice.

If you open an 18-Month Variable Rate Account while this offer lasts, you will earn a minimum of 14.5% per year between now and March 29, 1982. Thereafter, the interest rate on this account is indexed to the 13-week U.S. Treasury Bill average discount rate. The rate is adjusted to match each weekly auction, so you continually earn the most current market rate.

Minimum deposit for this account is $100. Additions in any amount can be made at any time without extending the maturity date of your certificate.

18-MONTH FIXED RATE ACCOUNT

12.500%
Annual Rate
compounded quarterly

13.098%
Effective Annual Yield
Rate is effective Jan. 8, 1982, until further notice.

The interest rates for the 18-Month Fixed Rate Account and the 30-Month Money Market Certificate Account are established at the time you open your account and remain in effect during the entire term. The minimum deposit for these accounts is $100. Additional accounts may be opened any time at the then current rate.

30-MONTH MONEY MARKET CERTIFICATE ACCOUNT

13.500%
Annual Rate
compounded quarterly

14.199%
Effective Annual Yield
Rate is effective Jan. 21, 1982, until further notice.

And remember, your IRA account is insured separately to $100,000 by the FSLIC.

EXTRA BONUS

When you open an IRA account of $1,000 or more, you'll qualify for an interest-earning checking account—free of monthly service charges and with no minimum balance requirement. You'll also get 50 free personalized checks and a First Federal Prestige* Card for 24-hour Night Owl Window service.

So come to any of our offices and let us show you in detail how a First Federal IRA can help you pull the teeth from your income tax bite, painlessly.

*IRS regulations require a substantial penalty for withdrawal prior to age 59½ on IRA plans. Federal regulations require a substantial penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts.

NOTE: Plans available for Keogh and SEP participants. Payroll deductions may be made to Variable Rate Account.

Glenn Basham earned second prize. His wife, Leelo, tied for third.

Jamal Rossi won the top award.

Young artists to perform

Winners of the Oakway Symphony Orchestra's Young Artists Competition will be heard as soloists with Oakway at 3 p.m. Sunday at Madonna College, I-96 at Levan, Livonia.

For ticket information phone the symphony office at 476-6544 between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The winners are:

First Place. Jamal Rossi, 23, alto saxophone. The University of Michigan student performed Concertino da Camera by Ibert for a prize of $1,000.

Second place. Glenn Basham, 24, of Rochester, violin. The North Carolina School of the Arts graduate, who is a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, played the first movement of the Brahms Violin Concerto for a prize of $750.

Third place (tie). Leelo Basham, 19, of Rochester, flute, played a Chaminade concertino. A North Carolina School of the Arts graduate, she is married to Glenn Basham. Curt Christensen, 19, a Juilliard student, played the Haydn Trumpet Concerto. They split $750.

Fourth place (tie). Susan Redner, 23, an Indiana University student from Orchard Lake, played a Vivaldi piccolo concerto. David Everson, 22, a University of Michigan student from Livonia, French horn, played Dukas' "Villanelle". He was a finalist in the 1980 competition. They split $500.

Honorable mentions: Claire Chan, 17, Southfield, violin, Groves High School student; Scott Woolweaver, 23, Garden City, viola, Boston University graduate; Lori Schiffer, 21, Huntington Woods, violin, Cleveland Institute student; and Julianne Borsodi, 20, Garden City, cello, Oberlin College student.

Prize money is granted by the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Competitors vied in Oakway Symphony contest

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The young flutist looked very alone in the middle of the chilly Madonna College gym as she finished the first movement of a concerto.

Thirty feet of floor space separated her from the three men hunched over the long table. In a corner of the gym, a dozen friends, relatives and assorted Oakway Symphony Orchestra personnel sat on cold, hard, metal chairs and listened. The scene was less impressive than a Sunday afternoon recital of first-year students.

At the end of her performance, the tiny audience gave brief, encouraging applause to the flutist and her piano accompanist, and one of the three judges said "thank you." But not until the end of the second day would she and three dozen other performers know how well they really had done.

DESPITE THE sparse audience and austere setting, the soloists were giving it everything they had, for the stakes were high.

They were competing in Oakway's Young Artists Solo Competition. Four would be winners of prizes ranging from $500 to $1,000 and a chance to be soloist with one of metropolitan Detroit's best community orchestras.

They ranged in age from 11 to 25, with 10 still in high school. Ten played flute, six violin, four cello, three trumpet, three French horn, two clarinet, two alto saxophone, and one each piccolo, oboe, trombone, euphonium, viola, double bass, harp and percussion.

Just as concerned were the three judges. Although their future careers weren't at stake, they felt the burden of responsibility.

How do you rate performers when some are playing Richard Strauss, some a familiar Lalo, some a spare Vivaldi, one an unknown Artunian opus?

How do you compare woodwinds to strings to brass and the others?

What do you say to a kid who may be a whiz-bang in the high school orchestra but was in over his head with this group of competitors from seven counties of southeastern Michigan?

"YOU HAVE to be a human being," said Arno Mariotti, former Detroit Symphony Orchestra first oboist, now on the music faculty of the University of Michigan.

Mariotti tries to give a boost to those who don't win. "For a young person, (criticism) could be devastating. You try to be encouraging," he said.

No high school students were among this year's finalists, although high school students have been winners in past years.

"We have a rating sheet, but I never use it," said Mariotti. "I listen for an overall impression. It's like with meeting people — either you like somebody or you don't."

James Tamburini, former first trumpet with DSO and now on the University of Windsor faculty, also doesn't try to rate every performance on every category — tone quality, intonation, breath control or bowing, technique, rhythmic accuracy, dynamics, tempo, stage presence and memory. He concentrates on three or four strong or weak points.

Felix Resnick, DSO violinist and conductor of several orchestras, analyzes each in a little more detail.

EACH SOLOIST plays from memory and must provide the judges a copy of the score.

"It doesn't matter what they play," said Mariotti. "It's how well they play it. They have 15 minutes. They can do an entire movement or parts of all three movements."

Those performing pre-1750 works, which are short, tended to do the entire concerto or sonata. Those performing works of Romantic composers, such as Dvorak or Brahms, had time for only a single movement.

Some judges follow the score during the performance. Not Mariotti. "If you follow it, you may not listen well. Better to listen and get an overall impression," he said.

GETTING STARTED is the toughest job, said Tamburini.

"You tend to rate the first performer 'excellent' overall. Then the next two are about the same. Maybe there's one who's not quite up there. Along comes the fifth or sixth and knocks you on your can. Then you have to go back and rate everyone all over again, and a B-plus becomes a C," he said.

Francesco DiBlasi, Oakway conductor and music director, tape-records all performances, but the judges didn't review the tapes. And when, after two days of listening, the judges compared notes, there was a surprising degree of unanimity.

They agreed that judging musical performances is much like judging any other competition. About half the entrants aren't contenders. Of the rest, a handful are standouts. The real work is rating the best half-dozen first, second, third and so on.

upcoming
things to do

● 'WHOSE LIFE?'

The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford production of "Whose Life Is It Anyway?" opens Friday at the Theatre Guild Playhouse, 15138 Beech-Daly Road, just south of Five Mile Road, Redford. Peformances continue Saturday and Feb. 19-21, 26-27. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. (7:30 for the Sunday performance). The play's theme is the quality of life and the right to die. For tickets at $5 call 522-1526.

● PERFORMING ARTS

The Wayne Wonderland Chorus of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America will perform at 5:30 p.m. Sunday in the Livonia City Hall Auditorium. The concert is part of the 1982 Performing Arts Showcase, a winter entertainment series sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission. Tickets are $2.50.

● ON STAGE

Leon Russell will perform his rock hits and diversely styled tunes in "The Paradise Show" at 8:30 p.m. Monday at Center Stage in Canton. Doors open at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $9. Tickets are available at Hudson's and all CTC Outlets.

● MINIATURE HOUSES

An exhibit of hand-crafted miniature houses based on favorite fairy tales is shown through Sunday at Westland Center. The houses represent Alice in Wonderland, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, Pinocchio, Little Red Riding Hood, the Wizard of Oz, Hansel and Gretel, Cinderella, the Three Little Pigs and the Three Bears. All nine houses were created by Graham Jeambey of Denver, a former puppeteer, who spent more than three years constructing the dollhouses by hand.

● DINNER DANCE

The MetroWest big band will play its annual dinner dance Feb. 27 at the UAW Hall on Van Born Road just west of Middlebelt in Romulus. Doors open at 6:30 p.m., with dinner at 7, followed at 9 with four hours of dancing. For ticket information call Dan Kalifut at 421-9803 during the day and 427-7578 evenings, or Jim Falk evenings at 421-7417.

● IT'S 'BEATLEMANIA'

A return engagement of the show "Beatlemania" continues through Sunday at the Grand Circus Theater in Detroit. "Beatlemania" is a multimedia visual presentation that takes the audience through an era, the '60s. The show centers around the songs of Lennon and McCartney. Tickets are at all CTC Outlets and the theater box office, (965-5563).

● 'ASSIGNMENT BERLIN'

The movie "Assignment Berlin," which was filmed in metropolitan Detroit, will have its world premiere Feb. 19 at Detroit's Masonic Temple. Tickets for the black-tie optional event are $35 each, with proceeds to benefit three Masonic charities. Following a champagne reception at 6:30 p.m., celebrities including the film's star Eddie Mekka (who plays Carmine on "Laverne and Shirley") will be introduced. The film will be shown, followed by an afterglow and cash bar. For ticket innformation call 832-3180.

● ALMA CONCERT

Internationally known pianist-composer George Shearing will be featured in the "Alma College in Concert" at 3 p.m. Sunday at Ford Auditorium in Detroit. Shearing will share the program with the college's A Cappella Choir, the Kiltie Band, the Alma Singers, the Jazz Band, Kiltie Dancers and a piper, and member of Alma's modern dance troupe Orchesis. For more information call the Rev. Charles McCloskey, Alma's director of church and parent relations, in Livonia at 427-3950.

● 'EVITA' TICKETS

Tickets are on sale for the musical "Evita," which opens Feb. 27 at the Masonic Temple Theatre. Winner of seven Tony Awards, including best musical of 1980, "Evita" arrives with an entirely new company for the Detroit arrangement. The production is the first at the Masonic Temple Theatre under the new agreement with the Nederlander Organization. It is the fourth subscription play of the Fisher's Subscription Series. For ticket information and prices call 832-2232.

● SAROYAN DRAMA

Stage, film and TV actor Thomas D. Mahard is playing the role of Kit Carson in the University of Michigan's Department of Theatre and Drama Guest Artist Series produuction of Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life," through Sunday at the Power Center for the Performing Arts in Ann Arbor. Curtain is at 8 p.m. except for Sunday at 2. For more informationc all 764-0450.

● 'JOHN/PAUL'

"According to John/Paul," Lennon/McCartney musical revue, has gone to a new performing schedule at the Grease Pit Theatre below Doug's Body Shop, 22061 Woodward, Ferndale. Two performances will be presented each Saturday, an early show at 7 and a later show at 9:30 p.m. Performances also are given at 9 p.m. Fridays. The admission price has been increased from $5 to $6. For reservations call 399-1040.

● WOMEN'S VOICE

Ferron, Canada's folk-poet and singer, will perform a benefit concert at 8 p.m. Friday at the Wayne State Unviersity Community Arts Auditorium. Proceeds from the evening go to the Women's Voice, the Detroit area's new women's newspaper, which begins publication in March. Tickets are $4, $6 and $8, based on the ability to pay. For more information call 843-2379.

● IN 'DEATHTRAP'

David McCallum stars in "Deathtrap," a thriller by Ira Levin, through Feb. 28 at the Birmingham Theatre, 211 S. Woodward, Birmingham. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Tuesdays-Saturdays, 7 p.m. Sundays, matinees at 2 on Saturdays-Sundays. Along with the Scottish actor, who portrays mystery writer Sidney Bruhl, the cast includes veteran performers Maggie Jackson as Bruhl's wife Myra; Susan Willis as psychic Helga ten Dorp; and Bob Horen as the lawyer. Tickets range from $10-$14 and are on sale at all CTC outlets or from the Birmingham Theatre box office at 644-3533.

● KING'S SINGERS

Brethren Productions is bringing the King's Singers to Detroit for a concert at 8 tonight at Orchestra Hall. Named after King's College, where it was organized 13 years ago, the King's Singers has performed more than 1,300 concerts, more than 100 radio broadcasts and 85 TV appearances throughout the world. For more information call Brethren Productions at 336-4366.

Competitors vied for Oakway prize

In the case of the Oakway competition, just being a finalist is high recognition. Unlike the Super Bowl or World Series, there's not a giant money difference between first place and fourth, and all winners will be soloists with the orchestra Sunday.

At that point, the ultimate judges — the ticket buyers — will have their say.

In the hills of prestigious West Bloomfield . . .
Aldingbrooke
Extraordinary 1, 2 and 3 bedroom rental residences that feature up to 2,800 square feet in a community of exceptional character and charm.
Thru-unit design of all of these terrace and towne homes provides private entry, double or triple exposures, kitchens with window views, in-unit storage and private laundry rooms, patios and balconies.
Each of the 9 different Aldingbrooke plans is distinguished by the unexpected; a one bedroom with 2 baths and a great room/den for example, a two bedroom 2 bath with a private dining room that is elegantly separated from the living room; a three bedroom with 2½ or 3 baths with a great room and den or with a great room and fireplace. A great deal from which to choose!
Attached garages, monitored gate house, club house, swimming pool and tennis courts, and over 100 spectacular acres of ponds, trees and hills.
Rentals from $450 to $1100

ONE CALL DOES IT ALL!

Attention Sweethearts!

Your Valentine may be here. You may have a creative, with-it admirer who found a very special way to say "I Love You." Or you may be a creative, with-it admirer who placed an adorable, heartfelt, or comic Valentine in the columns below. If you are, let us compliment you on your originality and good taste and suggest that you circle your message in red and bestow it on your loved one. If you aren't — of well, there's always something less interesting like a hastily purchased box of candy. And you can make a note to call us next year. We had such fun playing cupid this year, we'll probably sharpen our arrows, hire a few cupids and do it all over again next year.
