IT SEEMS the 1982 tax assessments, mailed last week, are getting on everyone's nerves — in a threatening way. The phones have been ringing off the hook in the treasurer's office in Township Hall — and some of the conversations haven't been pleasant.

"It's just been unbearable for three months," Canton Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz said. "But the threats have been more unbearable than ever (last week)."

Canton Supervisor James Poole said two clerical workers who were taking calls and answering questions for residents broke down and cried when persons began to threaten them about their increased tax bill.

Poole has instructed these workers only to answer questions from residents. If persons begin any threat, workers are told to hang up.

SPEAKING OF TAXES, Poole will have a public forum on taxes at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Plymouth Salem High School. The public is invited to attend. This is an informational session — with questions and answers — on residents' property taxes. Poole wanted to inform residents about taxes on Feb. 4 at a "state of the township address," but heavy snow that week turned the address into an old-fashioned complaint session about lack of snow removal and road maintenance. Taxes never were discussed.

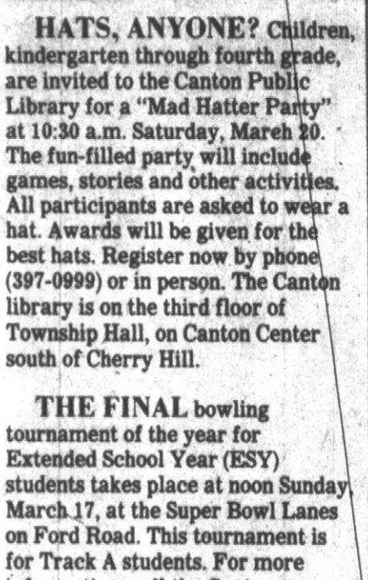

What's Poole's reaction to rescheduling the forum? "I'm going to try to get another blizzard to move in on the same night (of the tax forum)," he quipped.

HATS, ANYONE? Children, kindergarten through fourth grade, are invited to the Canton Public Library for a "Mad Hatter Party" at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Mareh 20. The fun-filled party will include games, stories and other activities. All participants are asked to wear a hat. Awards will be given for the best hats. Register now by phone (397-0999) or in person. The Canton library is on the third floor of Township Hall, on Canton Center south of Cherry Hill.

THE FINAL bowling tournament of the year for Extended School Year (ESY) students takes place at noon Sunday March 17, at the Super Bowl Lanes on Ford Road. This tournament is for Track A students. For more information, call the Canton recreation department at 397-1000.

TIME FLIES when you're having fun.

Just about a year ago, family members and staff folks at Whispering Willows nursing home in Canton threw a big birthday party for Mrs. Adelaide Duffy, a resident at the home.

Another year has rolled around, and Mrs. Duffy was again eating cake last Friday. She celebrated her 101st birthday March 5.

CANTON JAYCETTES' annual spring arts and crafts fair takes place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, March 20, at Pioneer Middle School. The public is invited to buy and sell crafts to benefit this organization. Booth spaces to sell crafts still are available. For more information, call Marlene McCune at 397-1556.

William Onopa perspective coordinator

As industrial coordinator

Officials to hire Onopa

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

William Onopa believes the time is ripe for Canton to get organized for future industrial growth.

Onopa, 41, of Canton, has been chosen by a township committee to be Canton's first industrial coordinator.

He will seek out and facilitate industrial expansion at an annual salary of $29,000.

The Township Board is expected to appoint Onopa at tomorrow night's regular meeting. If Onopa is approved, he'll start work March 22. The position carries a two-year contract, with review after one year.

Onopa has served most recently as planning director for the city of Hamtramck. He also has worked on various planning and economic development projects in Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Onopa concedes high interest rates and a depressed economy will make his job tough.

"A lot of these things (industrial development) are controlled by external factors — high interest rates and a tough economy," he said. "This is the time when we should get organized. You have to make a concerted effort. It doesn't happen over night."

The township treasurer's office indicates residential property accounts for 74 percent of Canton's tax base. Commercial is 16 percent and industry 6 percent.

"We still have vacant land — industrial sites," said Onopa. "If we continue with the pattern of residential (development) without a balance — without business — we're going to have a pretty grim future," said Onopa.

Fantasy game is allowed

By Gary M. Cates

A Plymouth-Canton school committee's decision to allow the game Dungeons and Dragons (D&D) to remain in the classroom will be appealed to the superintendent.

The curriculm review committee ruled last week the role-playing game "neither advances nor prohibits any suggested religion or religious belief."

The Rev. Gregory Gentry, who filed the D&D complaint, said he disagreed with that conclusion and will appeal the decision to Superintendent John Hoben.

"The game does advance a religion; witchcraft in particular. I believe it is advancing it whether or not it is intentional," said Gentry, pastor of Canton Calvary Assembly of God.

The committee was established to look into West Middle School's use of D&D in an elective course after Gentry filed a complaint saying D&D has negative spiritual effects on the student players.

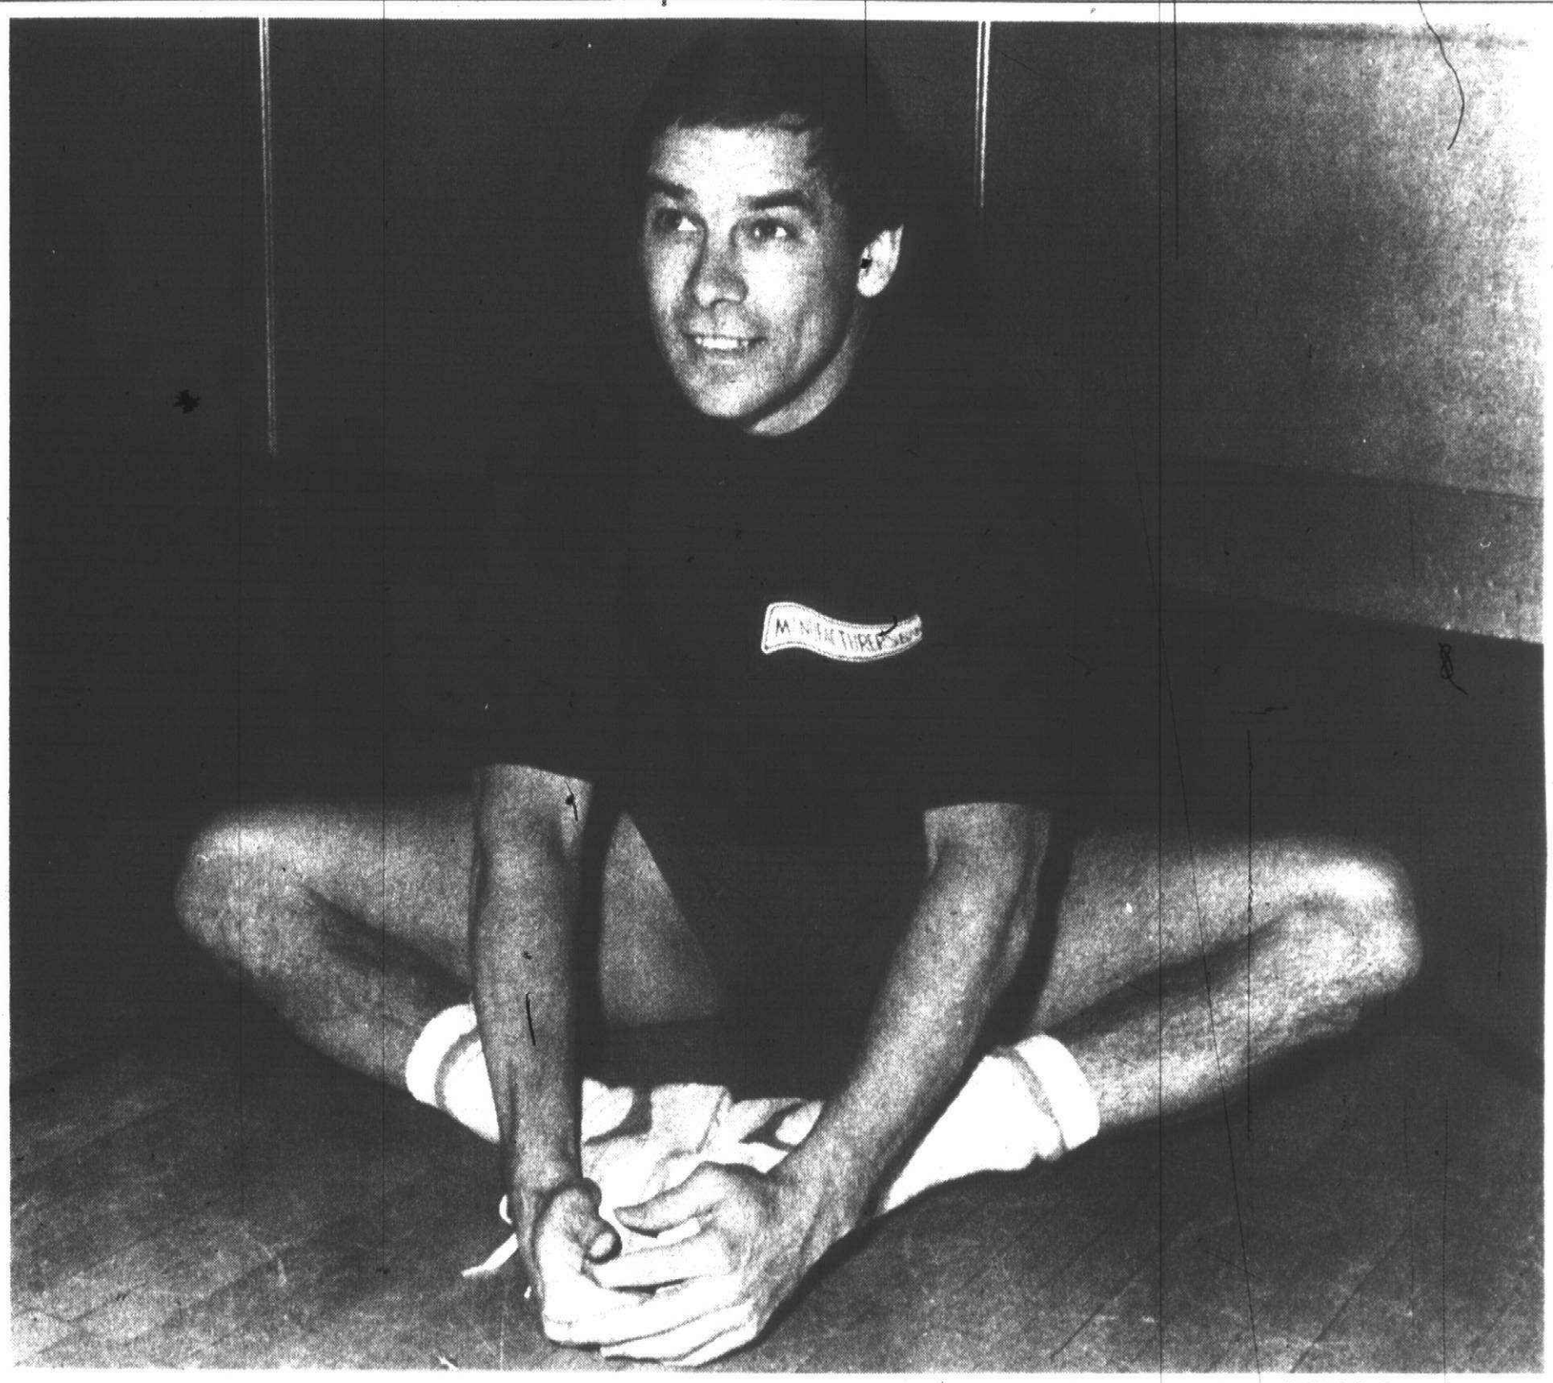

The five-member committee was chaired by Richard Egli, school community relations director, and heard presentations from Gentry and Robert Smith, West principal.

"The committee looked at a lot of magazine articles and checked with other places which are dealing with the game," Egli said.

"It seemed to come down to the question of is it or is it not religious in nature. If it was found to have religous content, then there wouldn't be a place for it in the schools," he said.

ACCOMPANING SMITH in his presentation were Alex Sudia, teacher of the elective course; Ruth Burr, supervisor of an after-school D&D group, and

Schools to review heftier lunch prices

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is expected to be asked tonight to approve a 10-cent increase in student lunch prices and in the price of milk.

The board also will be asked to approve raising lunch prices for adults by 20 cents.

Student lunch prices would be increased from $1 to $1.10 for elementary, from $1.10 to $1.20 for middle-school students, and from $1.15 to $1.25 for high-schoolers.

The board also will consider a request to hike the price of milk 100 percent, from 20 to 30 cents a carton.

Adult lunches would be increased, if approved, from $1.55 to $1.75. The adult price does not include cost of a beverage.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the school board offices, at 454 S. Harvey in the city of Plymouth.

Trustee Tom Yack of Canton has asked that the proposed lunch-price increases be placed on the agenda tonight for board consideration.

Trustees have been concerned that the lunch program in the school district is losing money, and they would like to recoup that loss so the money can be spent instead on education.

The argument against a increase has been that if the price is set too high participation will decrease, and the loss will become greater.

Current financial projections indicate the food service program will lose about $40,000 for the 1981-82 school year.

Dan White, executive director of finance, expects that the proposed increases in lunch and milk prices will reduce the loss to $16,500.

White anticipates that the initial drop-off in lunch purchases because of the price hike might be as high as 20 percent.

White projects the increase will result in the district collecting revenues on all meals sold of about $1.225 per meal with expenses of some $1.243 per meal, for a net per-meal loss of almost two cents, or $16,550.

Of the total expenses of about $1.12 million, food costs are about 45 percent of the total, labor about 44 percent, direct costs about 7 percent, and management fee about 3 percent.

This year the food program has been run by Interstate United. Last year ARA was the outside vendor.

Board hopefuls increase

Ernest Rumsby of Canton has become the first person to officially file nominating petitions for the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Rumsby, of 44551 Savery, was certified as a candidate March 1.

April 12 is the deadline to file petitions for school trustee. The deadline to withdraw as a candidate is April 15.

Two persons will be elected to four-year terms on the school board in the June 8 election. The seats now are held by Carol Davis of Plymouth and Elaine Kirchgatter of Canton.

Davis already has announced she will not seek re-election. Kirchgatter's plans are unknown at this point.

RESIDENTS WHO have taken out nominating petitions include:

Marilyn Rickard of 41927 Hystone, Canton; David P. Artley of 8350 Honeytree Blvd., Canton; Martin J. Mayotte of 2215 Marlowe, Canton; Roland J. Thomas Jr. of 11985 Leighwood, Plymouth; Robert L. Goud of 158 River Oaks Drive, Plymouth; and Arthur J. Leib of 44980 Leslie, Canton.

Of the seven possible candidates to date, Thomas has the best voting record in school elections, followed by Rickard.

Thomas has voted in 88 percent of the school elections which were held since he registered in February 1978. Rickard has voted in 75 percent of the school elections held since she registered in March 1978.

Candidates who have never voted in a school election include: Artley, who registered in April 1978; Mayotte, who registered in November 1981; Goud, registered in October 1977; and, Leib, registered in October 1979.

Mayotte has not had the chance yet to vote in a school election since one has not been held since November.

Rumsby has a voting record of 33 percent at the polls, having voted in one of three school elections since registering in March 1980. The one election he voted in was in June 1981 when at the possibility of hiring an industrial coordinator for several months. The Township Board — largely at the urging of trustee Robert Padget — authorized advertising for an industrial coordinator several weeka ago.

Canton expected to hire Onopa

A total of 21 persons responded to the ad. Applicants were screened by a committee which included trustee Steve Larson, Padget, personnel director Dan Durack and a representative of the Canton Economic Development Corporatio — an industrial support group.

The slate of candidates was narrowed to six. Two weeks ago, the Township Board voted to create the new position.

The names of the applicants weren't disclosed, at the suggestion of Supervisor James Poole. Durack released Onopa's name after reaching agreement about the contract.

ACCORDING TO Onopa, working with prospective industrial developers requires knowledge about resources and an ability to coordinate information for clients "when they are making decisions."

Each industrial firm has special needs in terms of land, access to transportation, etc.

Onopa, a native Detroiter, has lived in Canton for about three years.

He earned a bachelor's degree in political science and a master's degree in urban planning from Michigan State University.

His previous experience includes working on long-range urban planning projects in Tulsa, Okla. Later, Onopa spent about nine years working on planning and economic development projects in Arkansas.

During that time, he served about four years as an administrative assistant to then-Gov. David Pryor of Arkansas, working on various environmental and economics projects.

In 1979, Onopa returned to Michigan and worked several months for the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation before moving to the post of planning director for the city of Hamtramck. Onopa has served on a task force of staff persons and elected officials to help implement plans for a new General Motors plant which will straddle Detroit and Hamtramck.

"I BELIEVE in team orientation," said Onopa. "It's difficult to do things unless you have cooperation.

"Our problem in Michigan is we're too affluent," he added. "We have grown to tolerate waste. We have to recognize our strengths. We can't fritter away our resources."

Schools say OK to role-playing game

Ray Sypniewski, chairman of the English and social studies department.

"I'm real pleased with the decision. I think their decision was correct," said Smith. "We never thought there was any question the game should be used."

Gentry said he thought the committee was concerned that banning the game might set a precedent affecting other elective courses. He said some parents' also have questioned the school's Greek mythology and Protestant Reformation courses.

The upcoming appeal will be made with the support of additional ministers and religious leaders in the community, Gentry said.

Gentry also said further action could included approaching the public with petitions asking for the game's removal.

he was a candidate for the school board.

Of the seven, only Rickard and Rumsby have run for the school board before — in last June's election when challenger William Decker unseated incumbent Stephen Harper.

Rickard, Thomas, Rumsby and Artley regularly attend school board meetings, with Rickard appearing at most meetings held.

There have been some reports that Harper and Richard Arlen, another former school trustee, have been thinking about running for the board again, but neither has taken out a nominating petition yet.

Members on the board not up for reelection include Flossie Tonda of Canton, Tom Yack of Canton, Glenn Schroeder of Plymouth, Decker of Plymouth, and Slyvia Stetz of Plymouth.

Old jocks never die

By Dennis O'Connor
staff writer

Staff photos by Gary Caskey

Who says "old jocks" lose their spirit — or competitiveness

Certainly not the 50 participating players in this year's Half-Court Basketball League — for men over 40 years old.

Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for personnel for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, is one of the players involved in the league's second season.

"The whole idea is to get out and get a little exercise, get with friends and keep active," Kee says. "It involves a good cross section of the community — a lot of the old jocks and some young ones."

THE LEAGUE meets Wednesday nights at West Middle School, on the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Sheldon. It is the brainstorm of John VanWagoner, Bill Moore and Dick deBear, who all helped organize the league last year. In fact, deBear is friends with Jack Herschlag, president of Halfcourt Basketball, Inc. — a national organization in New York.

This year's league includes six squads, eight members per team. Participation is down this year, mainly because of poor weather conditions on Wednesday nights, Kee says.

Anyone interested in playing in the league next year may call Larry Masteller, director of community education, at 459-1180.

HALFCOURT basketball is similar to an old-fashion three-on-three, pick-up game. Local rules include eight-minute, running-time quarters — with breaks at the four-minute mark of each quarter for substitutions. Players call their own fouls.

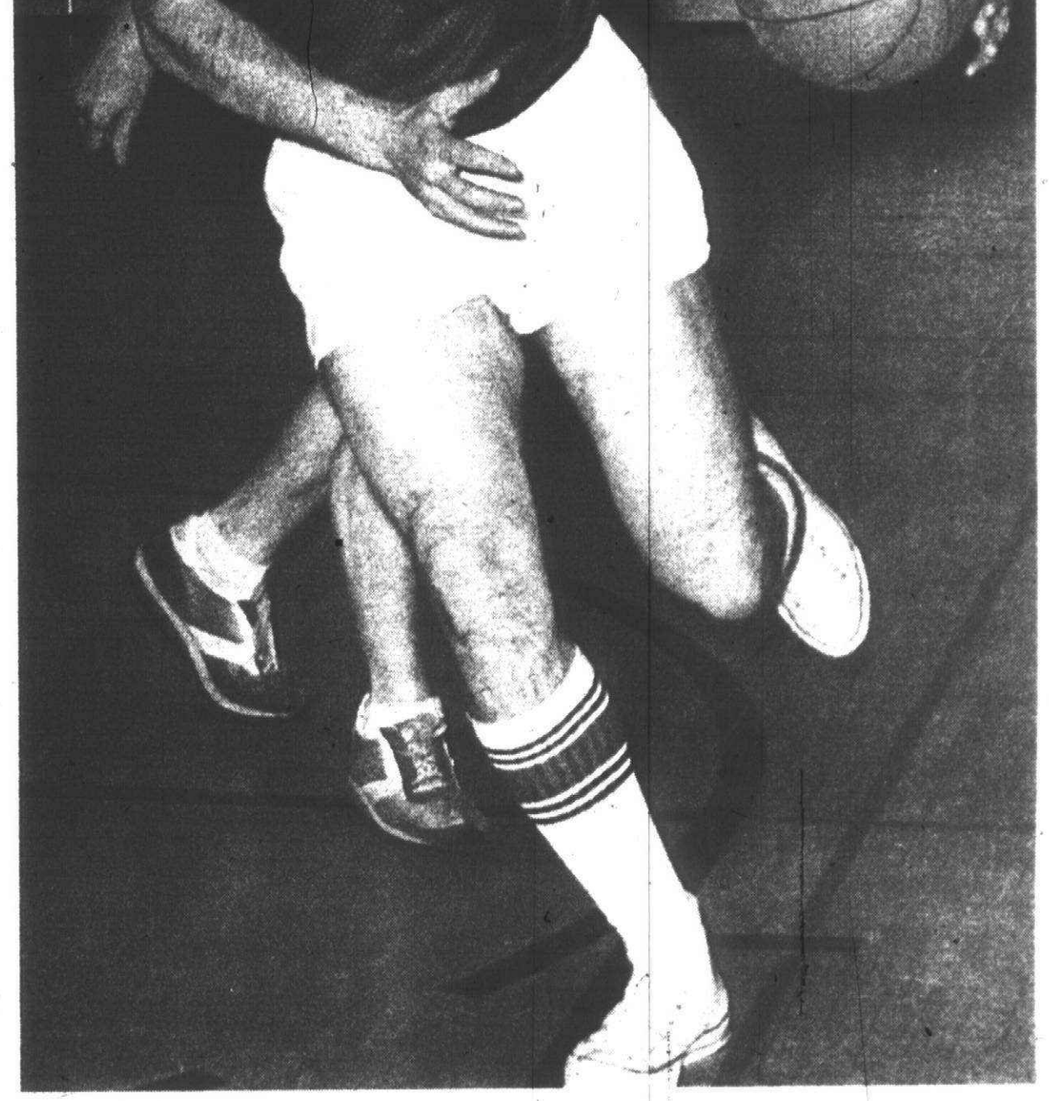

The last minute of each half has a shot clock to help speed up the game.

After the aches and pains of this year's season are history, players will finish the cage activity in style — with a hamburger, beans and beer banquet at the Box Bar in Plymouth later this month.

That's the spirit.

Group gathering petitions

Recall drive targets 5 on board

By Sandra Armbruster
staff writer

A group of Wayne-Westland district residents claims to have gathered more than 3,000 signatures in a drive to recall five members of the school board.

Targets of the drive are board President Donald Rusnock, and trustees Mary Arbour, Ken Marshall, Thomas Barrett and Mildred Batterson.

"I call it a 'recall with love,'" said Rosemary Miller, chairwoman of Taxpayers United Together (TUT), comparing the recall with a friendly divorce.

"To me, it's a job (being on the school board). 'You're not doing your job,' I told one school board member who called me. 'So we're going to recall you,'" Mrs. Miller said.

"It's not a personal thing. We don't want a dirty, dragged-out fight."

MRS. MILLER, a Wayne resident, estimates that the group has more than 500 members with about an equal number of petitions out. She said the group is filing with the county for status as a campaign organization, now that its treasury has reached about $200. Treasurer of the group is Nancy Allen of Westland.

Operating out of the Town & County Lanes meeting room on Wayne Road, about 50 members of the group circulated petitions last Saturday throughout the Patchin, P.D. Graham, Hamilton, Madison, Hoover (including the former Jackson), Taft, Wildwood and Stottlemyer elementary school attendance areas, according to Mrs. Miller.

Again using the Town & Country meeting room as its base, the group was out circulating petitions last weekend, Mrs. Miller added. The group is aiming for 8,000 signatures to recall the board members, adding that anyone who wants to help with the effort should call her by phoning 595-6558, she said.

A SPOKESMAN for the Wayne County Clerk's Office said TUT will need 4,910 signatures of registered voters in order to force a recall election. That figure represents 25 percent of the total number of votes cast for governor in the last election.

The group has 90 days, or until sometime in April, to collect the required signatures. The county clerk's office was unsure when the petitions had been requested.

The signatures must be submitted to city clerks to validate that the signers are registered voters. Once validated, the petitions, each of which has room for 20 names, must be submitted to the county clerk.

Wayne-Westland School District

The district serves southeast Canton

A recall election must be held within 90 days of when the petitions are filed.

TUT objects specifically to a contract with the Wayne-Westland Education Association, which the board approved Oct. 26. The new contract extends the expiration date of the former pact from September 1982 to September 1984.

Left unchanged was this year's salary increase of 2½ percent plus a cost of living allowance of 4-6 percent, according to Gary Matsche, employee relations director for the district, which includes part of Canton Township.

The new pact provides for increases of 2 percent each year, plus cost of living allowances of 5-7 percent each year, based on the consumer price index. Thus the salary package would be 7-9 percent for each of the next two years.

THE CONTRACT was approved by a 5-2 vote with only David Moranty and Fred Warmbier opposing the agreement. Neither of those two trustees are being recalled by TUT.

"We feel the (other five board members) haven't acted in our best interest," said Mrs. Miller. "The high taxes and the condition of the taxpayers wasn't considered."

But school board President Rusnock disagreed with the reason for the recall movement.

"Teacher salaries are a smoke screen," he said. "The bottom line is that they want the superintendent fired. They've tried to intimidate us before.

"For most of the people involved, this is a personality conflict. I think the motivation is inappropriate. It's based on personality, not performance," he continued.

"I have no problem debating or discussing the issue. I've been an active proponent of tax reform. We need to get through the smokescreen. Closing schools is due to declining enrollment, not teachers' salaries."

Rusnock said that teachers were given a choice of higher salaries and losing 50 teachers or maintaining the same salary and keeping their numbers steady. Rusnock added that 50 teachers will be laid off at the end of this year due to declining enrollment and another 50 would be laid off because of the settlement. That would bring the total number of teachers in the district to 885, he said.

AGREEING WITH his assessment of the recall was trustee Mary Arbour.

"I don't think the issue is teacher salaries or they could have gone after us in October or November when we approved the contract," she said. "The bottom line is they wanted the superintendent out."

She added that factions on the school board had "stirred up some people."

"With PA 114 (property tax equalization by class) and dual tax collection people have been unhappy. This is a way to get at Dr. (Timothy) Dyer," she continued. "I don't think that people are that unhappy with the day-to-day operation of the schools."

Both Rusnock and Arbour said that if all five were recalled, the governor would be required to appoint replacements because a quorum of the board wouldn't exist to make the appointments itself.

Superintendent Dyer said there was "no question" about the recall being an attempt to get him.

"They want to get me. Some people don't like someone who won't do their bidding. I've been too strong a leader. I have made the tough decisions that have to be made in this job," he said.

Dyer recently proposed a community college for the district, a proposal that has drawn strong opposition from sources both within and outside the Wayne-Westland area.

"They think that if they recall these five they'll get a board who would fire me, but I have a contract until July 1, 1985," he said.

"We will take the gloves off. They are parading around in a cowardly fashion.

"We will come back with ammunition full of information. No one can take license with my repfxc2334.cutation. I want them to be specific about what they dislike about me," Dyer said.

"There are legal resources I will pursue, but the real loser will be kids."

Dreary winter days stifle joyful ways

I wonder if I'm the only one in town who has a terminal case of the winter blahs?

A friend recently told me he read a study indicating that sunshine — or the lack of it — does a great deal to influence people's moods. No kidding. There's nothing quite like a grey, dreary March in Michigan to bring on an advanced case of the doldrums.

Even our house is depressed. At least I know that's true of most of the furniture and appliances. And my car's not too happy either.

The washing machine was the first one to complain. Actually, I think it was just trying to escape from the basement. It kept walking across the floor every time it went into spin. I wouldn't have minded that so much, but it insisted on dragging its draining hose right along with it — right out of the laundry tub.

Always up to an emergency, my way of dealing with this particular one was to throw lots of towels all around the washing machine to hold back the flood. Seemed like a good idea to me.

HUBBY THOUGHT differently. He insisted on calling a repair man. I had to pay that guy $20 just to give our old machine its last rites. I could have done that myself.

Buying a new washing machine is not exciting. Buying one in February is the pits.

Then our video tape machine decided to be contrary. It wouldn't "video" and it wouldn't "tape." Naturally, it had to be fixed. How could we watch both "Magnum" and "Bosom Buddies" without our video tape machine? (I know the powers that be have scheduled my two favorite shows at the same time just to add to my depression — things like that happen to me in the winter)

Looking around the house (what else is there to do this time of the year), I can see if we don't buy some new living room furniture soon, we'll just have to stop inviting people over. It's embarrassing when guests have to sit on a couch that appears to have more foam rubber on the outside than the inside. Maybe I'll just buy one big slipcover. Do they make them large enough to cover an entire living room?

And then there's my dear old car — my very, very old car. I don't mind that it seems to give off an excessive amount of exhaust. It's just that these particular odorous fumes are coming out of the middle of the car — as opposed to the end — and curling around the doors. I don't dare open a window for fear of being asphyxiated.

A new car would be nice. A new car also would be expensive. I'm too depressed to think about that now.

I KNOW ALL these problems won't seem so dire once the spring sunshine finally arrives. It's amazing what fresh air and warm breezes can do to improve one's outlook on life.

Meanwhile, if you happen to see a woman walking around with a perpetual frown on her face, it's only me dragging myself through these last wearisome days of winter.

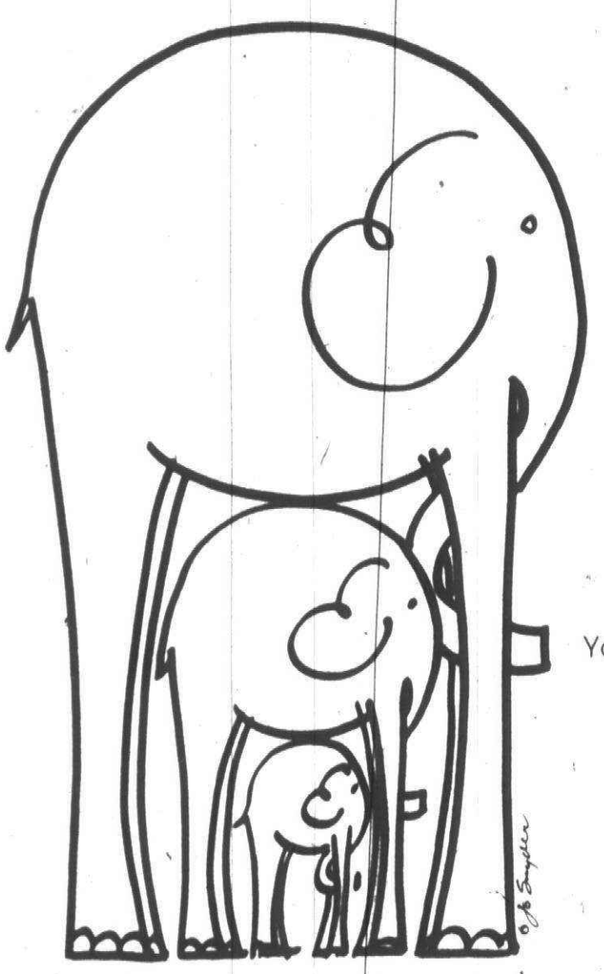

Right now I have to go powder my nose and take my 7-year-old son to the dentist. Whatya want to bet he says the kid needs braces?

I could just cry.

Better yet, I think I'll do a study on it. How does "The Trials and Tribulations of the Suburban Housewife Suffering from Severe Sunshine Deprivation" sound?

Could make for some pretty pithy reading, don't you think?

Frankenstein will be aired

"Frankenstein," a favorite tale of terror, will be aired at tonight at 6 on WSDP (88.1 FM), the student-operated radio station at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

"Frankenstein" is part of a year-long series of dramatizations funded for nationwide distribution by TRW Inc.

The National Radio Theatre adaptation of Frankenstein is claimed by critics to be more faithful to the original Mary Shelley 1818 horror classic than is the familiar film versions,

"There will be lots of surprises for those who don't know the book," said Yuri Rasovsky, producer/director for the series and author of the adaptation.

"For one thing, our version is set in Switzerland of the late 18th century and not in gothic Transylvania.

"In Shelley's original story the monster is not only bigger and stronger than everyone else, but he's smarter too. As a matter of fact, he speaks like an Oxford dean.

"We've tried very hard to remain faithful to the letter and spirit of the novel," added Rasovsky, "but for horror fans, there still are plenty of chills and suspense."

Ned Schmidtke, who recently appeared in the daytime television drama "Texas," portrays Frankenstein, joining a cast of Chicago-based performers in the adaptation by Rasovsky and Michelle M. Faith.

Shelley, daughter of pioneering feminist Mary Wollstonecraft, was married at 19 to poet Percy B. Shelley. While living in Italy she wrote "Frankenstein" at the suggestion of her husband and their friend, fellow poet Lord Byron.

The radio version was produced with funds from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Illinois Arts Council, and WFMT, Inc.

DENTAL INSURANCE DOLLAR COVERAGE

As a rule, dental insurance plans do not pay for the full cost of dental care. They are designed to reduce the cost of care, not to eliminate it entirely. This enables them to offer a broader dental plan at economic rates. Some of the most common methods of payment limitation are:

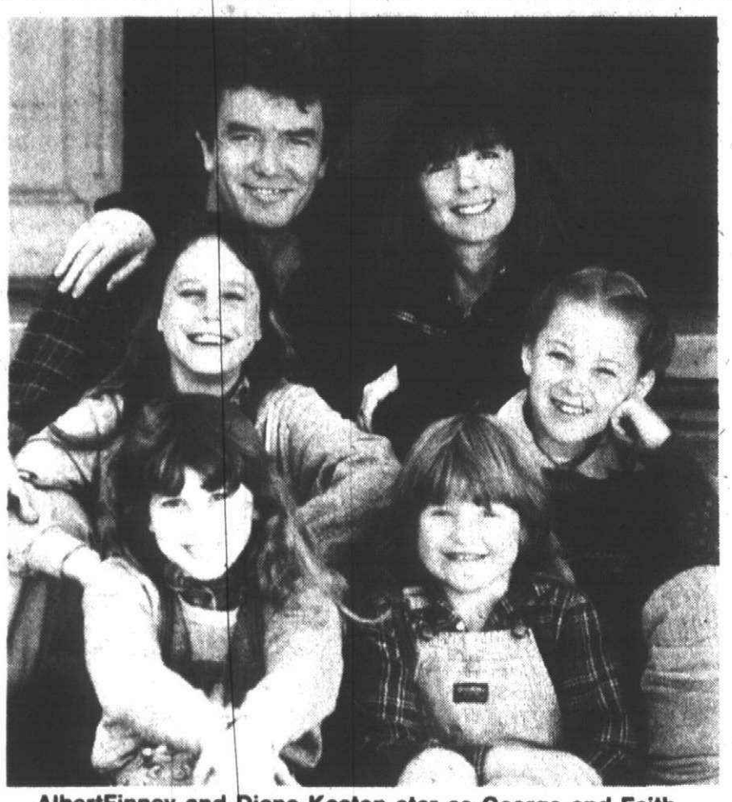

1. Deductible. Like your auto insurance, this method requires that you pay a specified dollar amount toward your bill before insurance coverage begins.
2. Co-Payment. With this method, the insurance company assumes responsibility for a specified percentage of the bill for covered dental services, leaving the remainder to be paid by you.
3. Dollar Limit. This system requires that you pay the difference between the company's limit for a service and your dentist's fee.

Some programs use "pre-certification". If this is a part of your program, your dentist will submit your treatment plan and the fees to the insurance company for review. The company will then note exactly which services are covered and what the company will pay.

AlbertFinney and Diane Keaton star as George and Faith Dunlap, a newly separated husband and wife, who have four daughters, in "Shoot the Moon."

the movies
Louise Snider

'Shoot the Moon' misses its mark despite expertise

"Shoot the Moon" (R) is a movie with impressive credentials because of its cast, Diane Keaton and Albert Finney; its director, Alan Parker (who directed "Fame" and "Midnight Express"); and its screenwriter, Bo Goldman (who scripted "Melvin and Howard" and "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest").

The result, however, is much less than you would expect. In fact, the irony of this movie is that in spite of the important names associated with it, its greatest assets are four generally unknown children who give it what merit it has.

I get the impression that the idea was to make a serious, adult film about the break-up of a marriage. There wouldn't be any phony, cutesy stuff to win over an audience. The principal characters wouldn't be nasty, but they wouldn't be especially lovable either. That was the idea. It didn't work.

For one thing, the attempt at an honest, mature approach floundered. It was derailed by two sequences: an episode in a restaurant which was introduced for comic relief and which looks exactly like what it is — contrived — and an equally contrived and very melodramatic ending.

SECOND, ALTHOUGH the intent may have been to explore the relations of a splintered family, we have not been given enough information about the characters and their backgrounds to make their behavior and their dilemma of consequence to us.

The most anxious moments in the history of this 15-year marriage have come in the struggle to dissolve it — and it is a struggle. The bonds of matrimony have been severely frayed, but not severed.

Albert Finney as George, the husband, clearly conveys his mixed emotions. He has walked out on his wife, Faith (Diane Keaton), and taken up with another woman (Karen Allen), yet he is not ready to give up his marriage. He still thinks in proprietary terms of his wife, his house, his children.

We can understand his feelings. We just can't understand why the marriage deteriorated. He talkes about his wife being "too perfect." That really doesn't clarify things for us.

Goldman's script conveys the anger and the pain of what is happening but not the reason. There is no cause and effect in this movie, only effect.

GEORGE SUFFERS emotional turmoil because he can't make a clean break. Faith is much more accepting of the situation, much more pliant, and also much more of a blank than George. She has a moment of anguish after their separation when she sits in the bathtub and sings an old Beatles song.

Then she has an affair with the first man to come along. That's Frank (Peter Weller), a bulldozer operator. She says he reminds her of what George was like 15 years ago — a statement that makes these people all the more puzzling.

How does the non-intellectual Frank remind her of George, the intellectual novelist? Is she referring to sexual prowess, or what? We never do find out.

The person with some values in this movie and some spunk is the oldest daughter, Sherry. She sees clearly what the adults are up to and she isn't reticent about telling them.

Dana Hill, the young actress who plays Sherry, does a superb job and the other youngsters playing her three younger sisters also are very effective in thir roles and very delightful as an emsemble.

Now, if only the rest of the movie were up to the level of the children's performances . . .

Australian wines liked partly due to low cost

wine
Richard Watson

It seems that nearly every wine writer has recently devoted one or more columns to the wines of Australia, attempting to explain their recent and rapid rise in popularity in the United States.

Three explanations are most frequently offered in one form or another: one, their excellent quality; two, their relative cheapness; and, three, their parallels to our California wines in their labels and the grapes they grow, i.e., their familiarity.

Over the last several months I have tasted many of their wines and am now ready to toss in my explanation from the threee choices above. I am clearly in camp No. 2. They are not badly priced.

The similarity to California as an explanation is not bad either, but I am convinced they are not attaining the popularity they have on quality alone. To date, there is only one that I would return to, but that one is truly a dandy.

SIMILARITY TO California merchandising is close, in that they tend to use grape variety to identify most releases. Further, especially among the reds, the grapes used are not unlike California varietals. Cabernet Sauvignon, Shiraz (closely related to the Petite Sirah), Grenache, Merlot and Malbec dominate the whites, along with some others we do not encounter.

Actually, there seems to be a sharp trend today to pull out white varietals that are now producing (Golden Chasselas, Palomino, Trebbiano, Muscat Gordo Blanco and Couchen among them) and replace them with Chardonnay, Chenin Blanc, Colombard, Traminer and Sauvignon Blanc. That would seem to be a wise decision. The whites from Australia have been best made in the Germanic manner but, because of growing conditions, lack the acidity to give them proper balance.

The result has tended to be a somewhat flabby, almost mushy wine, not to the liking of someone attuned to a fine White Brodeaux or a bold Chardonnay. A few of these newer varietals, bearing the 1980 vintage, are beginning to appear on local shelves.

The reds, on the other hand, are more successful but, to my palate, are rather dull. There is usually nothing wrong with them but there doesn't seem to be anything right about them either. Shiraz and Shiraz-Cabernet blends seem to be most successful.

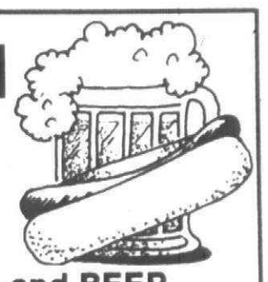

The size of the industry is interesting. Gallo outproduces the whole continent annually. There are today about 175,000 acres in production, while all of California has about 750,000 acres. Both are expanding industries, while the annual consumption rate down under is nearly double that of the United States.

THE ONE WINE that really impressed me, and it has a lot of other people as well, is the Tollana Brut Champagne. It arrived on local shelves just before Thanksgiving and has been moving well. Deliciously dry and crisp, it is priced locally in the $3.99-a-bottle range. Amazing!

A Feast For Ireland's Finest

There are over 16 million Americans of Irish descent and almost everyone else joins in the celebration of St. Patrick's Day. But the Irish themselves like to mark the special occasion with holiday feasts of wholesome and delicious dishes made with the finest ingredients, while reminiscing with anecdotes about their fair ancestral home.

When it comes to food, true Irishmen think first of quality. Natural ingredients have always been the basis of the typical Irish diet. Ireland's soft, mild climate and the quality of its soil yield prime meat and dairy products and the choicest fruits and vegetables. And Erin's southwest coastline, warmed by Florida's gentle Gulf Stream is even host to some decorative citrus plantings.

Spring lamb frequently takes the central role in traditional Irish dinners for feast days and other grand occasions. A fine leg of lamb, roasted to a lusty rose color, seasoned with fresh herbs, and accompanied by bright green minted peas with mashed potatoes makes an impressive St. Patrick's Day dinner. Topping off our festive meal is Ellie's Elegant Grapefruit Surprise to add its touch of Irish gold.

Tender spring lamb from New Zealand is available year-round in supermarket freezer cases. New Zealand raises its lambs on a diet of mother's milk and grass from its lush, green pastures. The meat is aged to perfection in modern facilities before being quick-frozen to ensure excellent quality.

New Zealand Spring lamb is often less expensive than other red meats, so it's ideal for entertaining. And because a leg of lamb from New Zealand weighs five to six pounds, you don't have to worry about excessive leftovers.

A sparkling, delicious sauce is brushed on Leg O'Lamb Dublin and used to baste the meat while it is roasting. Florida grapefruit juice is the base, combined with olive oil and tomato paste and seasoned with thyme and rosemary. The grapefruit juice acts as a marinade making the lamb even more tender and adds the most delicate flavor. Citrus makes a marvelous marinade — tenderizing meats and poultry, enhancing the tastes of other foods without overwhelming them. It is surprisingly good in stews and gravies, too.

Just before the lamb is done it is covered with a seasoned bread crumb mixture pressed into the roast which adds a crisp exterior. When carved, the meat is juicy and tender, with a myriad of delicious flavors.

If Ireland has a national green vegetable it must be peas. And in March the tender new peas are sweet as sugar. Steamed gently with mint and with a piping of mashed potatoes, they are as pretty to look at as they are to eat.

While Ireland does not have its own crop of oranges and grapefruit they are valued for desserts. Ellie's Elegant Grapefruit Surprise takes a lovely golden Florida grapefruit and dresses it up for this occasion. The grapefruit halves are scalloped which emphasizes the delicacy of the dessert. To make the scallops, mark the grapefruit with pencil at the halfway mark, then trace the scallop using the tablespoon measure from your set of measuring spoons. Cut around the scallop with a sharp knife. The grapefruit sections are placed in the shell, covered with a creamy pudding, covered with meringue and placed under the broiler for two minutes until the meringue is golden. The grapefruit are elegant indeed, puffed high with meringue and brimming with flavor.

New Zealand Lamb Celebrates Its Centenary!

This year marks the centenary of New Zealand's meat export industry. The first cargo of frozen lamb from New Zealand set sail on the refrigerated ship "Dunedin" in February, 1882, and arrived safely in London four months later. During the past year, 379,000 tons of lamb were shipped from New Zealand to countries around the world.

LEG O'LAMB DUBLIN

1 frozen leg of New Zealand lamb (about 5 pounds), thawed
1 cup Florida grapefruit juice
1/2 cup olive oil
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon dried rosemary, crumbled
1 teaspoon dried leaf thyme, crumbled
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup packaged, seasoned bread crumbs
1/2 cup chopped parsley

With a sharp knife, remove "fell" from lamb and trim off any excess fat. In a small bowl combine grapefruit juice, olive oil, tomato paste, salt, rosemary and thyme; mix well. Brush generously over lamb. Roast in a 325°F. oven, 1 hour 45 minutes or until meat thermometer registers 140°F. for rare, 160°F. for medium, 170°F. for well-done. Brush with grapefruit juice mixture every 30 minutes during roasting. Meanwhile, in a medium skillet, melt butter. Add garlic and bread crumbs, stir over medium-high heat until crumbs are lightly toasted. Remove from heat; stir in parsley. About 10 minutes before lamb is done, remove lamb from oven. Let stand about 5 minutes or until cool enough to touch. Press crumb mixture over surface of meat. Return to oven and roast 10 to 15 minutes longer or until meat is done and crumb mixture is set. Remove meat to serving platter. Allow to "rest" 10 minutes before serving.
YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

WEARING OF THE GREEN MINTED PEAS

3 cups fresh or frozen peas
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon coarsely chopped fresh mint or 1/4 teaspoon dried mint
2 cups freshly mashed potatoes

Cook peas until tender; drain. Add butter and mint. Toss gently and pour into warm serving dish. Beat potatoes until light and fluffy. Spoon into pastry bag fitted with large star tip. Pipe around edge of serving dish of peas.
YIELD: 6 servings.

How to Section Grapefruit

Cut grapefruit in half. With stainless steel paring knife, separate both sides of each grapefruit section from center to skin. With grapefruit knife, slice between the skin and fruit, working knife under each section until it can be lifted out easily with a spoon.

ELLIE'S ELEGANT GRAPEFRUIT SURPRISE

1 cup plus 3 tablespoons sugar, divided
1/4 cup cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, separated
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 large Florida grapefruit

In medium saucepan combine 1 cup sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually add milk and egg yolks; mix well. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in butter and vanilla. Cover surface of pudding with plastic wrap; chill. Meanwhile, prepare grapefruit. Cut grapefruit in half. Using grapefruit knife, section fruit; drain. Remove all membrane from grapefruit cups. Fill grapefruit cups with sections. Spoon chilled pudding over sections. In small bowl beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in remaining 3 tablespoons sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Spoon or pipe meringue evenly over pudding. Place grapefruit cups on cookie sheet. Place under broiler about 2 minutes until meringue is golden.
YIELD: 6 servings.

Our farm policies

What will suit us best in the years ahead?

This is the eighth in a series of 15 articles exploring "Food and People." In this article, Don Paarlberg, professor emeritus at Purdue University, discusses the controversial agricultural commodities programs. This series was written for Courses by Newspaper, a program of University Extension, University of California, San Diego, with funding from the National Enowment for the Humanities.

food and people

IT IS NOW almost 50 years since the federal government assumed a major role in determining the production and pricing of farm products. The commmodity programs which were in full force from 1933 to 1973 and still continue on a reduced scale were designed in part to save the family farm from threatened economic disaster.

Yet today, the independent family farmer seems to be an endangered species. An average of 2,000 farms have gone out of business every week since 1950. Although some 95 percent of U.S. farms are family-owned, the U.S. Department of Agriculture predicts that "there will be a few large firms controlling food production in only a few years."

As commodity programs in agriculture phase down, it seems appropriate to assess the government activities begun during the Depression.

STATED PURPOSES

The major objectives of the commodity programs were to increase the prices of farm products, to stabilize supplies, to improve farm incomes and to save the family farm. These objectives were to be accomplished mainly by paying farmers to curtail production, thus driving up prices.

The program applied chiefly to wheat, corn, cotton, rice, peanuts, tobacco, dairy products, wool and sugar. Meat, poultry, fruits and most vegetables were never deeply involved.

Inclusion was based mainly on the workability of controls and on politics. At the program's peak, commodities accounting for three-fourths of farm income were not controlled. Because the program's scope was limited, so too was its ability to achieve its objectives.

The measuring rod for prices was parity, that is, a given amount of the commodity should purchase the same goods and services as it did in the period 1910-1914, when farmers enjoyed a relatively good standard of living.

DURING THE three Depression years 1930-32, immediately before the enactment of the commodity programs, farm prices averaged 72 percent of parity.

During the last three years that the programs were in substantial full force, 1970-72, farm prices again were 72 percent of parity, the same as before the programs began. Forty years of effort had failed to achieve the parity price objectives.

Together with other government initiatives, the programs did bring about some stability. The disastrous price declines of 1920-21 and 1930-32, when few stabilization programs were in effect, were not repeated after World War II, when there were many such programs.

Supplies as well as prices were stabilized to a degree by storing, in government hands, the commodities that could not be sold at the government-supported price. These stocks assured consumers of steady supplies, but they also depressed market prices and required deep cuts in farm production.

INCOME OF the farm population rose absolutely and relatively during the 40-year life of the programs. Before 1933, the average income for farm people was 70 percent of that for nonfarm people. Forty years later, their incomes were about equal.

This gain in per capita farm income, however, was probably due not so much to the commodity programs as to the increase in farm size and efficiency, the decline in the number of farmers, and the increase in off-farm earnings of farmers, which came to exceed their incomes from farming.

Clearly, the program did not preserve the family farm. In 1930 there were 6.5 million farms; by 1970 there were 2.9 million, less than half as many.

This drastic decline in the number of farms was caused chiefly by technological change and resulting farm consolidation. The commodity programs actually speeded up this process by providing price incentives for greater yields per acre, stimulating the adoption of new large-scale technology.

A MAJOR purpose of the commodity programs perhaps the main one, though not openly acknowledged, was to avert an agricultural uprising. The Great Depression was an unbelievable disaster to modern Americans. The farm mood in 1932-33 was grim.

The New Deal put into the programs the farmers themselves wanted and put farmers to work administering them. Checks began to flow into farmers' hands, and the mood changed for the better.

Elsewhere in the Depression-cursed world, as in Germany and Italy, the open economic system gave way to Fascism. In the United States, the open system survived, though with modifications.

The stated objectives of the commodity programs were thus only partially achieved.

SIDE EFFECTS

The most profound effects, however, were unintended, and most of them were adverse in terms of program objectives.

The greatest benefits of the program went to the operators of the largest farms, whose incomes were already above the farm and nonfarm average. The top 1 percent of farmers received 21 percent of the payments. Average farm increased, but only by widening the gap between rich and poor.

The big farmers used their payments to buy out their smaller neighbors, speeding up the demise of the small farm.

Benefits drove up the price of farm land. A tobacco or peanut allotment was worth more than the land on which the crop was grown. Thus the program meant a windfall to those who owned the land when the program began, but an added cost to the next generation.

The commodity programs also resulted in the United States losing markets for its exports. For example, from 1930 until 1961, the United States held its cotton production to 14.4 million bales.

During the same period, foreign production of cotton doubled. By curtailing production and driving up our price, we priced ourselves out of the market.

THE ASSESSMENT that surplus production was the major problem for farmers became self-fulfilling. If the price of a comeptitive good is held substantially and continuously about its market price, a surplus inevitabley develops, regardless of the original supply situation.

The artificially supported price encourges production and discourages consumption; hence the pile-up of stocks in government hands.

The program were costly to consumers and taxpayers. According to economist Charles Schultze, during the period 1964-69 the program increased the price of food by 4 percent each year above what it otherwise would have been.

A study inititated by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson placed the cost for the programs to the government at $18 billion for the period 1932-1959. Since then costs increased greatly, but Benson's accounting was attacked so strongly by farm interests that it was never updated.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL AND INDIVIDUAL FREEDOM

One effect, intended or not, was to substitute government decision making for individual freedom of management. The deep question, basic to the commodity programs and still unanswered, is the degree to which individual freedom is an end in itself, and the degree to which it is but one of several alternative means to the end called increased income.

Farmers who produced certain products chiefly tobacco, peanuts, sugar, and dairy products became so dependent on government programs that they resisted the trend toward market orientation that has become evident in the last 15 years.

A fair assessment of the commodity programs is that in the early years they helped to prevent political and economic disaster. But they were continued beyond their time, and with this extended life came aggravation of their many problems. In the end, consumers, taxpayers, and many farmers themselves became disillusioned.

Hence the retreat but not the defeat of these programs.

We should read the lesson well, lest we repeat it.

Don Paarlberg is professor emeritus at Purdue University, where he taught agricultural economics for many years. He has held appointments from Presidents Eisenhower, Nixon and Ford, serving as assistant to the president, coordinator or the Food for Peace program, assistant secretary of agriculture and director of agricultural economics. In addition, he has been economic adviser to four secretaries of agriculture. His publications include "American Farm Policy," "Great Myths of Economics" and "Farm and Food Policy: Issues of the 1980s."

Old-fashion soups are still easy to make

These are the doldrum days, when you want to hole up with a good book and a big pot of soup simmering on the stove. No fuss — just a hearty, homemade meal-in-a-bowl, simply seasoned, tasting of all the good ingredients that went into it.

Old-fashioned Chicken and Corn Chowder is a thick, homey-tasting brew, amazingly simple to make and cooked in only a few minutes. It tastes even better the next day if there's any left; with cornbread squares and a simple salad it fits easily into the company category. It's based on leftover cooked chicken and canned corn.

Don't forget, too, that you can freeze part of these soups so you'll have more for another time. How about Hearty Beef and Sausage Soup? Beef chunks and sweet Italian sausage are browned first, then cooked with tomatoes and cubed potatoes for stretchers, plus some sliced celery.

OLD-FASHIONED CHICKEN AND CORN CHOWDER

2 Tbsp. vegetable oil
1 cup chopped onions
1 cup chopped celery
3 Tbsp. flour
3 cup chicken broth
2 cans (12 oz.) kernel corn undrained
2 cups cooked chicken cubes
1 cup milk
3½ tsp. worcestershire sauce
2 Tbsp. chopped parsley

In a large sauce pot heat oil until hot. Add onions and celery; saute until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in flour. Gradually add chicken broth; bring to a boil. Add corn, chicken, milk and worcestershire sauce. Simmer just until hot and flavors blend. Ladle into bowls and sprinkle with parsley, if desired. Yield: 8 cups.

HEARTY BEEF AND SAUSAGE SOUP

1 Tbsp. salad oil
1 lb. stewing beef in ½-inch cubes
1 lb. sweet Italian sausage links, sliced
1 can (28 oz.) tomatoes, broken up
2½ cups water
1 cup chopped onions
1 tsp. salt
1 Tbsp. worcestershire sauce
2 cup peeled potatoes in ½-inch cubes
1 cup sliced celery

In a large sauce pot, heat oil until hot. Add beef; brown on all sides; remove with a slotted spoon and set aside. Add sausage and brown in both sides. Drain off drippings. Add tomatoes, water, onions, salt, worcestershire sauce and reserved beef.

Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer, covered, until beef is almost tender, about 1½ hours. Add potatoes and celery. Simmer, covered, until vegetables and meat are tender, about 20 minutes. Yield: Six to eight portions.

Olive oil adds flavor to a variety of foods

Olive oil gives party-time recipes a speical lift. Easily stored, it can mix with any food for new excitement.

PARTY OMELETTE

12 slices bacon
3 Tbsp. Spanish olive oil
1 cup diced green pepper
½ cup chopped onion
6 eggs, beaten
1 cup heavy cream
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. ground nutmeg
⅛ tsp. pepper
¼ lb. Swiss cheese, diced
1 can (7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked

Fry bacon until crisp; drain and crumble. Meanwhile, heat olive oil in medium skillet and saute green pepper and onion until tender, but not browned. Grease the inside of a 9-inch springform pan with additional Spanish olive oil. Place it on a baking sheet and preheat both in 450 degree oven for four or five minutes.

Combine eggs, cream, seasonings, cheese, tuna, bacon, and sauteed onion and green peppers. Pour into preheated pan. Bake uncovered at 450 degrees for 10 minutes; then reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking for 10 more minutes. Remove sides of pan and cut tortilla into 16 wedges. Serve hot or cold. Makes 16 servings.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS

4 lbs. pork spareribs
3 cans (8 oz. each) tomato sauce
⅓ cup dark brown sugar
3 Tbsp. chopped onion
1 clove garlic, crushed
Juice of 2 lemons
⅓ cup Spanish olive oil
½ tsp. ground white pepper
2 Tbsp. aromatic bitters

Crack spareribs so they can be cut easily after cooking. Wash and pat dry. Trim excess fat. Combine remaining ingredients and simmer in a saucepan for 10 minutes. Brush spareribs with the sauce and place ribs 8-10 inches above gray coals.

Broil, turning frequently and brushing every few minutes with sauce, for 1 hour or until ribs are brown and done. Makes 4 servings.

ORANGE GLAZED CHICKEN

½ cup Spanish olive oil
½ cup orange juice
1 Tbsp. wine vinegar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. instant chopped onion
¼ tsp. ginger or cumin
1 chicken, about 3 lbs.

Combine olive oil, juice, vinegar and salt; crush the instant onion with mortar and pestle or back of wooden spoon, blend with the ginger or cumin. Add to the juice mixture. Marinate either whole or cup-up chicken in the sauce for 1 hour or longer; baste with the marinade as it cooks over charcoal or in the broiler or rotisserie oven. Makes 1 cup sauce.

LINGUINI WITH SALMON CLAM SAUCE

2 cloves garlic, minced
¼ cup butter
¼ cup Spanish olive oil
1 tsp. coarsely cracked pepper
1 can (7¾ oz.) salmon clam juice
2 Tbsp. chopped parsley
1 lb. linguini, or thin spaghetti, cooked

Saute the garlic in the butter and olive oil until lightly browned. Add pepper. Drain liquid from the can of salmon into a measuring cup and add clam juice to make 1 cup liquid. Flake the salmon and add to the garlic mixture with the liquid. Bring to a simmer and, just before serving over the linguini, stir in the parsley. Serves four.

Save on boneless meat-cuts

Have you discovered that most cookbooks are long on roasting charts and short on recipes using a single pound? You're discouraged about what to buy. The secret is to search out the boneless meat cuts. Sometimes a special on boneless pot roast prices is below stew meat. Simply buy the roast and cut it up for stew meat yourself.

Nutritionally, one pound of boneless beef will provide six 2-oz. servings of cooked meat. Americans are big meat eaters, so you've got to decide if it does look like enough meat to feed your family.

If your recipe is mostly meat, four servings per pound is the norm. When vegetables are included, the number goes up to six servings or maybe eight depending on the final volume.

"Watch your local supermarkets for the specials," says Jeanne M. Sowa of the Michigan Beef Industry Commission. "With a little ingenuity, you can work around the cut to give you a nutritious, satisfying main entree with 1 pound of meat."

These dishes could range from steaks, stews, pot roast, casseroles, meat pies, skillet combinations, meat loaves, meatballs and patties and soups. Here is a recipe for Shaker Beef Goulash that includes only 1 pound of beef cubes, yet it's full of beef, rutabaga, carrot and herbs. It can cook for a long time, so put it together, and using slow cooking, just forget about it.

To make it table pretty, wreath the serving dish with hot mashed potatoes.

SHAKER BEEF GOULASH

1 Tbsp. all purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
1 lb. stew meat, in 1-inch cubes
1 Tbsp. cooking oil
1 medium onion, sliced
1 cup water
½ cup apple juice
1 medium rutabaga, peeled and diced (about 2 cups)
3 large carrots, peeled and diced (about 1 cup)
1 cup water
1 Tbsp. snipped parsley
¾ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. dried marjoram, crushed
⅛ tsp. dried thyme, crushed
¼ cup water
2 Tbsp. all purpose flour

In paper or plastic bag, combine the 1 tablespoon flour, the 1 teaspoon salt, and the pepper. Add beef cubes, few at a time, shaking to coat. In large saucepan, brown beef in hot oil; add onion, the first cup of water and apple juice.

Cover and simmer for 1½ hours or till meat is tender. Add rutabaga, carrots, and the second cup of water, the parsley, the ¾ teaspoon salt, the marjoram and thyme. Simmer covered till vegetables are tender (about 30 minutes). Blend together remaining water and flour; stir into mixture.

Cook and stir till thickened and bubbly. Transfer to serving dish; spoon mashed potatoes around edge. Makes four to five servings.

Taste Verdict: Merit.

Former higher tar smokers applaud MERIT as "Best-tasting low tar I've tried."

Can a low tar cigarette provide the taste incentive to switch smokers from higher tar brands?

Research proves MERIT can.

Taste Debate Ends.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers who switched from higher tar are glad they did. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT Landslide.

In addition, extensive unmarked-pack tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared with higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

THIS IS AN ANXIOUS time of the year for high-school seniors who are awaiting the word of whether or not they have been accepted by the colleges of their choice.

Some of the students already have received good news.

Among them are Kevin Krolicki, who will go to Harvard in the fall; Scott Lee, who will go to Yale; and Rob Zeigler, who will attend Brown. All three are Canton Township residents and seniors at Plymouth Salem High School.

CONGRATULATIONS to the winners of the last two week's Big 50-50 prizes. This is the fund-raiser which is going on for 20 weeks as arranged by the Blue Chapter of the PCEP Athletics Boosters Club.

Elaine Kirchgatter won the $100 the last week in February, and Gary Shelton of Farmington Hills won the first week in March. Elaine is a school trustee, and Gary is the brother-in-law of Plymouth Salem basketball coach Fred Thomann.

TIM ALONZO and Phyllis Counts of Canton Township have roles in Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap." The Schoolcraft College Players will present the mystery drama at their winter dinner-theater production March 12 and 13, and 19 and 20. All tickets for the show were sold in less than 24 hours.

"The Mousetrap" has been running in London for almost 30 years. Persons who saw it when they were in their early 20s are now taking their grandchildren to see it.

Director of the drama, Dale Feldpausch, is familiar to Plymouth Theatre Guild audiences.

DON McDONALD of Plymouth was a winner in the talent show presented at Northville Charley's last week. He will be appearing there in the near future.

Don does a single as Poppeye, doing a take-off on the spinach-guzzling cartoon character. He has become a hit at children's birthday parties and makes special appearances. He was interviewed last week by Marilyn Turner on Kelly & Co. television show.

NICK AND TIIU Ristich are the new owners of the Cozy Cafe in Forest Place Mall in Plymouth. Nick has considerable experience as a restaurateur.

He was director of catering at the Sheraton in Southfield and banquet manager for the Hyatt Regency. His dad, who arrives at the Cozy at 5 a.m. each morning and starts cooking, opened Jordan's on the River, Grand River at Southfield in Detroit, in 1926.

The whole Ristich family will help out at the cafe, including three teen-age daughters. They also will continue their established catering business.

A 20TH CLASS reunion is being planned by the Plymouth High School class of 1962. The party will be Saturday, June 26, at the Plymouth Hilton.

They are looking for addresses of some of their classmates and would appreciate any clues. Call Margaret (Berry) Harlow 722-0052, if you know where they or their parents can be contacted.

Addresses are needed for: James Abraham, Linda Anderson, Lyle Avery, Joe Barham, Marearet (Beardslee) Sweeny, Dave Bickle, Steve Bullington, Doug Burden, Joan Calhoun, Dennis Campbell, Ronald Cline, Peggy (Collins) McFarland, Ron Collins, David Davenport and Morris Davis.

Also Dick Depencier, Wanda (Divinnie) Grant, Bill Drennen, Tom Dunn, Romona (Duty) Carter, Darlene Dyer, Marlene Dyer, Dan Engler, Tom Gillham, Jim Griffith, Ward Griffith, Jim Hallock, Mary (Hinkley) Beckelman, Phil Isaac, Diane (Joslin) Heern, Doug Keen and David Kunz.

Also Bob Lamb, Byron Latter, Jim McBride, Carl Miller, Dave Mills, Jim Niedermeyer, Maudene Paszkowski, Ron Peck, Charles Pluff, Richard Schultz, Lonnie Scheffer.

Craftsman in spotlight

Bob Kaiser of Canton Township will be the featured craftsman Sunday in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel from noon to 8 p.m. Until his retirement five years ago, he demonstrated the old art of rug-hooking at Greenfield Village for 42 years. As well as working on a rug, he will have a display of many of the rugs he has made over the years.

Passive, fearful women get raped

"If a person is sexually assaulted, she will go through emotional and psychological changes," said Janet Leland, author of a book called "Rape Research and Analysis."

"She will experience depression, anger and a feeling of panic. She will want to withdraw from people."

Ms. Leland, who has been involved with treatment of rape and incest victims for five years, will bring advice on many aspects of this problem in two-part class at Schoolcraft College on two Saturdays, March 13 and 20. The classes will take place 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and may be taken for credit.

Those interested in registration information can obtain it by calling the college's Women Resource Center at 591-6400, ext. 432.

The leader said the rape education and prevention seminar is planned for a variety of students. Among these she included social workers who need information information for counseling purposes and victims seeking to understand better what they are going through.

It is also for police and prosecutors who need to know about victim behavior after a rape and nurses and medical people who need to know the best ways to gather evidence.

Any woman who wants to learn how to prevent sexual assault is also welcome.

HER ADVICE on rape prevention focuses on the woman not being passive.

"The rapist is looking for a passive, fearful victim," pointed out Ms. Leland, who earned her master's degree in social work from Michigan State University. "He tests women and chooses those he thinks are vulnerable. So there is a lot a woman can do to give the impression she will not allow herself to be victimized.

"It has to do wih assertiveness training or limit-setting with people, a skill many women don't have. In the class I'll show how to change victim behavior."

One example of a testing situation might come through a visit to a woman's home of her brother-in-law at a time her husband is not there.

"As he socializes, he might make suggestive remarks as part of a testing procedure," said the therapist. "If she responds with fear and passivity, he'll get the message she is an easy target. If she responds with assertiveness and limit-setting, she'll give him the message she is not easily victimized."

MS. LELAND, who teaches classes on rape at the Michigan State University School of Social Work and at Lansing Community College, said rape affects every woman.

"The chances are one to 15 that a woman will be raped at sometime in her life," she said. "It is a fear we all have and need to deal with. Rape is an epidemic in our society.

She noted that a common belief is that a woman is assaulted by a stranger on the street at night.

"Actually about 60 percent of the time it occurs between people who know each other," she explained. "In 70 percent of the times, it takes place in the woman's own home."

The rape victim is a woman in crisis, she said. "She needs understanding and time. Rape is the worst type of loss of control outside of murder. The only thing for her to do is gain control over her life. Contol is the main thing.

"You can't hover over her and you can't overprotect her. She has to heal on her own with your help and understanding.

Clarence Ducharme presented a pin and plaque to Mildred Dely at a luncheon in her honor.

Mildred Dely honored by cancer foundation

Mildred Dely, longtime Plymouth resident, was honored recently for almost 20 years of service to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Volunteers and staff of the foundation's Plymouth branch and West Service Center arranged the luncheon. It was their way of saying thank you and an occasion to laud Mrs. Dely's many accomplishments. She soon will be joining her husband, Louis, in retirement.

Among those honoring Mrs. Dely was Mary Mulligan, manager of the volunteer and field services department of the foundation. Mrs. Mulligan made a special presentation from Dr. Michael Brennan, the foundation's president. Clarence Ducharme, Plymouth resident and member of the Southwest Wayne Regional Board, also presented a gift from the foundation.

Jan Newell, volunteer activities chairman for West Service Center, presented a gift from the volunteers and staff. She described "Millie" as a person who always "Goes the extra mile."

She said, "Millie has been active in every phase of services offered by the Michigan Cancer Foundation, and she often has handled several jobs at once."

Mrs. Dely's latest role as chairman of the Plymouth branch involved responsibility for the office operation, training and recruiting of volunteers, supervising the greeting card program, and being available on an almost daily basis. Her other activities have included delivering equipment and dressings to the homes of cancer patients, serving as a public relations spokesperson, a screening interviewer for the Breast Cancer Detection Center and for Health-O-Rama, and serving as a western Wayne board member.

Mrs. Newell said, "It will surely take two or three persons to replace Millie."

The foundation is a Torch Drive/United Way agency.

Franklin cagers halt Canton winning streak

By Jay Keenan
special writer

Livonia Franklin's contingent of waterbugs were just a little bit too quick for the Plymouth Canton Chiefs Friday night.

After a shaky first half, the fleet Patriot quintet exploded with a 25-15 third-quarter surge and rolled past Canton, 78-63, in a non-league basketball game.

Leading by only two points at intermission (27-25), Franklin, known for its running game, outgunned and outshot the Chiefs in the second half to end Canton's three-game winning streak.

"In the first half," said Franklin coach Jim McIntyre, "both teams had little spurts, but neither side was able to take control.

"But in the second half, were were able to set the tempo, and we hit well enough (from the field) to make them play catch-up."

The Patriots, Northwest Suburban League champs, finished the season with a 15-5 overall record. Canton, which seems to be improving, enters district play tonight with a 4-16 mark.

BOB STEBBINS, Franklin's 6-foot-4 junior center, took game-high scoring honors with 26 points. He scored 17 of those in the second half.

Mike Williamson, who played an excellent floor game, followed with 22 and John Hart, his running mate at guard, added 10.

Matt Thomas poured in 19 points and Ron Rienas chipped in with 18 to lead the Chiefs. Senior point-guard Tom Harris had nine.

The Chiefs, who appear to be playing better as a team during the final weeks of the season, gave the Pats fits at the outset with their superior defensive board work.

"We played a fine first half," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner. "It was one of our best first halves we've had all year. This team played real well tonight.

"Franklin is a quick team, and they run a fine fast-break, too. It's tough for us to match up with them. That team should be playing in the PSL (Detroit Public School League)."

The Patriots came out firing in the third period as Williamson drilled in six straight points from long range to give the Pats a 35-29 lead with 5:45 to play.

THE CHIEFS sliced the margin to two, 37-35, just more than a minute later on an inside basket by Rienas. Canton, however, failed to control the boards and execute its offense as the game wore on, giving Franklin the momentum.

Stebbins then took over as he tossed in nine of Franklin's next 15 points to lift his team to a 52-40 advantage heading into the final quarter.

"It's not so much that we ran out of gas," said the Canton first-year coach. "Franklin outmatched us and had a center (Stebbins) who was unbelievable inside. It was hard for us to match up with him."

"The kids continued to do good things," said McIntyre, "because they totally looked to each other. These kids are not selfish. They look to score where the team is going to get the most points."

Churchill depth stops Chiefs' bid

Plymouth Canton's Western Six League swim reign ended Thursday as upstart Livonia Churchill captured its first crown in the school's history.

The meet, held at Farmington Harrison, is the final Western Six swim event to be conducted because of new league alignments next season.

Churchill, coached by Manse Tiane, racked up 327 points to gain the top spot. Canton, which beat Churchill earlier this season in a dual meet (92-80), scored 313.

Canton, which held the title for three years under three different coaches, couldn't overcome Churchill's depth despite capturing seven of 11 events.

The Chiefs won both relays and five individual races.

The Canton foursome of Bob Lewelling, John Luce, Jim Luce and Pete Stern won the 200-yard medley relay in 1:48.2. Teammates Scott Simmons, Matt Krawzak, Greg Schnurstein and John Simone hit the wall first in the 400 freestyle relay (3:38.2).

Vic Valente was Churchill's lone individual winner as he led all divers with 272.35 points. Canton's Jerry Fleisher was second.

Canton senior Pete Stern was one of two double winners. He took the 50 and 100 freestyles with times of 22.8 and 50.6, respectively.

Harrison's Ted Rudel was the other as he grabbed first in the 200 freestyle (1:50.1) and 500 freestyle (4:59.2).

CANTON INDIVIDUAL winners included Simone, 200 individual medley, 2:07.8; Lewelling, 100 backstroke, 1:04.8; and Jim Luce, 100 breaststroke, 1:05.5.

"I was a little disappointed, but I think we gave it our best shot," said Canton's second-year coach, Bill McCord. "We were mostly outnumbered, but Churchill deserved to win. I just wish we could have retired the trophy for our effort."

Canton's bid for an undisputed fourth crown suffered a severe blow earlier in the month when McCord dismissed four swimming

seniors for disciplinary reasons. Two of those swimmers, Ron Hurley and Bob Simrak, were among the area's top swimmers in their respective events (according to time).

"We knew the situation when the four guys left," said McCord. "I'm surprised we got even this close. It wasn't totally impossible to win it. We were not quite where we had to be everywhere down the line."

Rocks rip Tigers in Sub 8 finale

Plymouth Salem's eighth and final Suburban Eight League championship will be denoted with an asterisk.

The 1981-82 champs went unbeaten in the league, achieving what seven other previous league champs couldn't do. The Rocks made that official Friday with easier-than-expected 72-44 romp at Belleville.

"Our guys were pretty excited about getting it," said Salem coach Fred Thomann, "but when it was over they saw it as just another game.

"They won't get the full impact until they reflect back on the season.

"But they're excited about a fine season."

Salem, which finished the regular season with a 17-3 record, got 14 points each from seniors Mike McBride and Norm Haygood. Dave Houle, a junior forward, added nine. John Cohen and John Kelliher each came off the bench for eight.

Belleville, which played without its leading scorer Reggie Grantham (out with a knee injury), was led by Sam Villa, who tossed in 13.

THE ROCKS started fast, outscoring the host Tigers 11-2 at the outset. Belleville, however, came back to knot the count at the end of the first quarter (12-12).

In the second quarter, Salem outscored the Tigers, 24-12, as senior guard Dave Miller played an instrumental role with his passing and ballhandling.

"They gave us full-court pressure the whole game," explained Thomann. "They gave us a little bit of trouble, but we did a lot better with their pressure starting about the middle of the second quarter."

Salem opened up a 19-point advantage at the end of three quarters and coasted home.

GC East girls upset Salem in pre-district

Plymouth Salem, coming off the heels of an upset girls' volleyball victory Tuesday over state-ranked Livonia Bentley, was rocked Wednesday by Garden City East in the Class A pre-district tournament, 15-9, 15-10.

"We dug up everything they gave us," said East coach Steve Morche. "Salem couldn't score off their tips or dinks."

It was East's third straight victory of the season after losing 10 straight. Salem, under first-year coach Jeanne Martin, bowed out with a 5-8 overall record.

"We've spectated the whole season," added Morche, "and then we get into one of the toughest districts in the state (Dearborn). The girls got together and decided to play."

Lynn Kalivoda served East to victory with a run of seven points in the first game and five more in the second.

Salem got off to early leads in both games but couldn't maintain the advantage.

DINA GAVIN contributed heavily to the East victory as a middle blocker and hitter, according to Morche.

"She was our key attacker," he said. "She made things happen and everything worked out OK."

East met Northwest Suburban League champ Westland John Glenn Saturday in second-round district action. Results of that match and the rest of the Dearborn district will appear in Thursday's Observer.

Area teams make tourney pitch

Brad Emons

March Madness comes a little late this year. That's because the regular season couldn't start until the first week of December as part of a new rule implemented by the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA).

Basketball fans, however, will be replenished starting tonight when several area district tournaments get under way.

Here's the way I see things shaping up:

DETROIT CATHOLIC CENTRAL (Class A) — This is a three-horse race, with Redford Thurston getting the edge. CC has the home-court advantage and should get by Redford Union in tonight's opener. The Shamrocks will be tough despite the loss of junior center Mike Maleske, the best player I've seen in our coverage area. Maleske is out with a dislocated knee.

Tuesday's Bishop-Borgess-Detroit Cody matchup is interesting. Cody, a PSL team, was sailing along this season until several players were declared ineligible because of grades. Borgess has been tough outside the Catholic League's Central Division.

Thurston's test will come Wednesday. The Eagles scheduled a good tune-up game last week with perennial PSL contender Detroit Murray-Wright.

The winner advances to the Livonia Franklin regional to face the Ferndale district champ (probably Detroit Cooley).

LIVONIA CHURCHILL (Class A) — Anyone can win this one. Churchill, the host, is dangerous, with the likes of 6-foot-8 senior Tom Gomolak and 6-6 junior John Merner.

They upset city rival Stevenson last week. The Spartans and Churchill meet again tonight in the district opener. The winner gets to face Northwest Suburban League champ Livonia Franklin on Wednesday.

And don't try to get in a running game with the Patriots. They clobbered South Lyon last week, scoring 101 points. Senior guard Mike Williamson and running mate John Hart are as quick as any tandem in the PSL.

On the other side of the draw, Bentley and Farmington tangle for the second time this year. Bentley narrowly won the earlier battle in the season opener for both teams. Farmington, coached by Rich Roy, has proven they can play with any of these teams.

PLYMOUTH CANTON (Class A) — The area's biggest team, Plymouth Salem, gets a chance at revenge tonight. The Rocks square off with host Canton.

How could anyone forget the Salem Christmas Classic when Canton upset the mighty Rocks? It took the Chiefs 11 tries to win another game.

Ironically, this game should determine the district champ.

Salem, the Suburban Eight League champ, is on a roll. The winner of the Canton-Salem battle faces lowly Garden City East Wednesday. Westland John Glenn, plagued by injuries, and rival Wayne Memorial tangle in the second game.

Salem is the team to beat. If the Rocks advance, PSL champ Detroit Southwestern, the favorite at Lincoln Park, looms large as a first-round foe at the Ypsilanti regional.

DEARBORN HEIGHTS ROBICHAUD (Class B) — Unless there's a miracle, this is the end of the line for Garden City West (the area's lone representative).

If you haven't heard by now, West is closing its doors in June. The students will be moved to Garden City High School (now East).

The district favorite, Inkster, led by swift guard Anthony Pasley, takes on Inkster Cherry Hill in tonight's opener. The winner meets West at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

It's a shame to see West go. Most prep cagers will tell you that West's gym was one of the most enjoyable to play on. The place was a mini arena. The sunken-floor is springy. I hope they use it for home games next year.

West has not enjoyed great basketball success since the mid-'70s, when Dave Niles was canning jumpers like they were layups.

But who could forget the 1969-70 team that went all the way to the Class A semifinals, losing to Campy Russell and Pontiac Central before a packed-house at Michigan State's Jenison Fieldhouse, 84-79?

The star of that team was a skinny 6-7 forward named Rick Drewitz, the most dominating player ever to grace this area. He electrified the crowd that night with 41 points and received a standing ovation as he fouled out with less than a minute to go.

Who could forget the night West beat Catholic Central in the regional final at Franklin, when Drewitz sank 20 of 25 free throws? Or how about the night he pumped in the game-tying shot at the buzzer to force an overtime against Livonia Bentley in the district? West went on to win as Drewitz had 48 points.

Those were the days for West fans.

NOVI (Class B) — Livonia Clarenceville must be wondering what is going on this year. The Trojans, plagued by a tough schedule all year long, drew Catholic League playoff qualifier U-D High in the opening round Tuesday.

Clarenceville is a long shot. Metro Conference champion Oak Park or host Novi should meet in the final against U-D.

ORCHARD LAKE ST. MARY'S (Class C) — The Class C state championship could very well be decided tonight at Drombrowski Fieldhouse when host Orchard Lake takes on Redford St. Mary's. Also in the draw are such notables as Detroit Country Day and Redford St. Agatha.

Agatha meets Detroit Benedictine Tuesday. The winner meets Country Day Thursday. No district is tougher than this one. Give the edge to the home team, if they play with discipline.

'Charities' bowlers go past goal

Area bowlers have done it again.

Answering the call of charity, they have responded in record numbers in the annual Charities Tournament, sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors of Michigan.

Although the final reports have not been made, bowlers from the Detroit area have gone $8,923 over the top, with a total contribution of $56,334. This is compared to the $47,441 raised during last year's drive.

When the outstate entry is complete, it is expected that the drive will again pass the $100,000 mark.

Winners in each of the qualifying sections will meet in Bridgeport in June to decided the Charities champion.

RICK BIEGAS hit the high spot of his bowling career at Westland Bowl when he fashioned a 706 series in the Doubles League. A week earlier, he bowled a 707 in the same league. It's the first back-to-back 700 series reported this season.

Only one other 700 was rolled during the past week, and that was a 739 posted by Mike Smith in the 700-800 League at Canton Township's SuperBowl. Linda Lynch had games of 227 and 175 in the Ladies League at SuperBowl.

ONE OF THE closest finishes of the season was recorded in the Vinco League at Garden Lanes when only 12 pins separated the top four finishers.

Doug Zylbrands was the high man with 634, three pins better than Steve Topalian. Tom Sokoloski landed third with 629, and Al Biering placed fourth with 622.

The ladies at Garden Lanes were just as close in their Classic. Mae Lackey showed the way with a 585 to beat Linda Maybrier by three pins. Marge Evans was third, only seven pins behind the leader with a 578.

SCORING was way below-par in the Wonderland Classic as John Wodarski took top honors with a 247 in 683, and Jeff Anderson landed the runner-up spot with 658.

ONE OF THE WEEK'S best features was furnished by a 9-year-old, John Anderson, at Merri-Bowl. Bowling in the Parks and Recreation League, Anderson, who carries a 68 average, rolled games of 143 and 161 for a 304 (two-game series).

Bill Nagle used a 243 game to pace the Senior House League at Merri-Bowl with a 663, and Carl Hunt had a 235 in 648 for second. Denice Anderson was the star in the Ladies League with a 618 series.

Canton gymnasts sharp in double-dual

Plymouth Canton split a double-dual gymnastics meet Wednesday night, but coach John Cunningham was all smiles.

Ann Arbor Pioneer, the state's No. 1-ranked team (Coaches' poll), came in for a visit and scored 126.9 points to Canton's 120.55 and Wayne Memorial's 104.4.

"We did much better than I expected even though we lost to Ann Arbor Pioneer," said Cunningham. "I thought at one time that we couldn't hit 112 (regional qualifying score) and now we're at 120 (season-high)."

As usual, senior Laura Michalik and sophomore Linda Beale led the Chiefs' cause. They posted all-around scores of 32.65 and 32.60, respectively.

Michalik was first against Wayne on vault (8.3) and uneven parallel bars (8.3). She was also second on balance beam (7.95) and floor exercise (8.1).

Meanwhile, Beale took first on beam (8.15) and floor exercise (8.25) and was second on vault (8.2) and uneven bars (8.0).

Lisa Lovich, also a sophomore, gained third overall with a score of 27.05. She finished fourth on vault, 7.05, and beam, 7.2; and seventh on floor, 6.65.

Teammate Ruth Ann Trout, fourth overall (26.5), posted a personal best of 7.25 on vault, good enough for third place. She was also fifth on beam (6.85) and seventh on floor (6.65).

CANTON'S FIFTH gymnast, Theresa Wheeler, gained fourth on bars (7.15), fifth on vault (6.85) and sixth on beam (6.35).

Canton will compete in regional Saturday at Adrian. Competition begins at noon.

The Huskies tallied 174 points. Oakland won the meet with 687.

Cline, a Plymouth Canton graduate, scored points in several events: 200 yard backstroke, fifth; 400 individual medley, eighth, and 200 individual medley, 11th.

The Avant Garde

This sleek two-plus-two sports coupe is based on the Ford Escort. The concept car combines aerodynamic styling with a luxurious interior. Included in its concepts are electronic instruments, a handbrake control integrated with the lid of the center console unit and even four detachable suede shoulder bags recessed into the doors.

Practice changing tire before you get a flat

If your car hasn't experienced a flat tire, chances are you aren't aware of the workings of your car's jack.

If you haven't at least worried about getting a flat tire, take a good look at some of the potholes you've been driving around on your way anywhere. Modern tires are tough, but so are potholes.

The time to learn about it is before you need it on the roadside, says the Automotive Information Council. The AIC advises car owners to give the tire-changing process a "dry run" in the garage or on the driveway.

Knowing where the jack is and how it works will eliminate the need for the motorist to try his luck while stopped along the road, possibly in the rain or at night.

PERFORM THE dry run at your leisure when you can carefully follow instructions while not under time pressure or under adverse conditions.

Each owner's manual contains detailed instructions for the jack and its operation and tells how to change a tire. It also provides information on the various types of spare tires.

The spares include: the conventional tire, which can be put on a car for regular use; the collapsible spare, which has to be inflated by a special canister, and the already inflated mini-spare. The latter two are for temporary use only.

Jacks include those which fit into slots in the bumper and those which fit under the door sill. They require different methods of operation. Know which one you have and how it operates. Again, consult the manual.

CHANGING A tire is a relatively simple procedure, but it should be done with some caution. The gear selector should be in the park position on cars equipped with automatic transmissions. Cars with manual transmissions should be in fourth gear. No matter what type of transmission the car has, the parking brake should be set.

Place an object to block the wheel diagonally opposite the wheel being changed. Only then should you remove the jack and tire-wheel combination from the trunk of the car.

When you are rolling again, have the flat tire repaired. Don't exceed 50 miles or the limit of your spare, if it is not a full-size tire.

Flat tires no longer occur with any frequency, especially if the tires have a moderate amount of tread, but they always seem to happen at an inappropriate time.

That's why a practice session will save a lot of mental wear and tear should the need to change a tire arise.
