CORRECTION — The headline of the lead story on Page 1A of last Thursday's Canton Observer was supposed to read, "Schools won't reduce class time?" — not class size. The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education said last week it will not reduce the instructional day at any grade level, as stated in the story.

CANTON'S EGG HUNT has been rescheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday at Griffin Park, on Canton Center north of Cherry Hill. All children 10 and younger are invited to hunt for Easter eggs and prizes. The activity, originally scheduled for last weekend, was postponed due to cold, snowy weather.

SENIOR CITIZENS groups — the Pioneers and Royal Holiday — recently celebrated their 10th anniversaries as organizations in Canton Township. The groups gathered at the recreation center or Michigan Avenue and Sheldon two weeks ago to celebrate with food, entertainment — and a lot of fond memories.

SPEAKING OF Canton seniors, a trip to Washington is planned for this week. The trip includes tours of the White House, the Capitol building, Smithsonian museums and more for $219 per person. Reservations for seniors still are available. For more information, call the recreation office at 397-1000, Ext. 278.

HIGH WINDS socked a Red Cross blood drive April 3 in Township Hall.

A total of 85 pints of blood were collected during the all-day drive, which was sponsored by the Dingley family of Canton and the Western Wayne County chapter of the Children's Leukemia Foundation.

Extremely high winds caused a power failure, cutting off lights and stopping an elevator in the administration building, where the Red Cross volunteers were working.

Ninety-seven persons showed up to donate, including 11 first-timers, said Red Cross spokeswoman Noreen Petersen. Twelve were deferred for various reasons.

The sponsors had hoped to collect 250-300 pints. In a similar drive last year, 200 pints of blood were collected.

MILLER ELEMENTARY School's father PTO group is hosting an all-you-can-eat pancake breakfast from 9-11 a.m. this Saturday at the school, on Hanford between Sheldon and Lilley.

Tickets are $1.75 for adults and $1.25 for children. Advance tickets are available from 9-10 a.m. Tuesday and Wednesday at Miller. Tickets also may be bought at the door. All proceeds will go to the Miller PTO. The meal includes pancakes, coffee, juice, milk and one serving of sausage.

WSDP-FM had better learn that Canton is a township — not a city. WSDP, the student-operated radio station of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, asked the "city of Canton" for a donation to its annual auction at the end of the month. Canton's Township Board is more than willing to help the radio station, but didn't like WSDP's reference to the "city."

It was unanimously decided the board would donate a Canton Township flag, worth $25, to be auctioned.

"I betcha someone from Plymouth will bid for that," said Supervisor James Poole.

The scene is set — and negotiations have started between the schools and the teachers. Both groups will meet again next Monday after a studying the original contract proposals exchanged last week.

Negotiations begin!

Schools, teachers exchange initial proposals

By Dennis O'Connor
staff writer

Negotiations between Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and the teachers union began Tuesday afternoon with the formal exchange of initial contract proposals.

Both groups are studying the proposals during the school's spring break this week. They plan to meet again next Monday to begin contract discussion.

Tom Schwarze, chief negotiator and attorney for Plymouth-Canton schools, said it would be a tough negotiation in his opening remarks to the teachers union negotiating team.

"I think it's going to be a tough negotiation because the district doesn't have money to make any more salary proposals than what you see here, and I can't be anymore frank than that," Schwarze said after exchanging packages.

"The board is pretty strong on where its position is."

MEMBERS OF the school board have met in closed sessions in recent weeks discussing negotiation strategies.

School officials project a $2.2-million deficit for the 1982-83 school year. Estimated expenditures of $43.6 million exceed $41.4 million in estimated revenues.

The district faces negotiations with six groups besides the teachers. All contracts expire this fall. Other labor units include custodial, cafeteria, secretaries, transportation, aides and administrators.

An increase of 1 percent in salaries represents an additional $300,000, said Superintendent John Hoben. The projected $2.2-million deficit does not include possible changes in union contracts.

The teachers union negotiating team includes Candi Reece (chief negotiator), union president Mickey Edell, Tom Cotner and Chuck Portelli.

Other members of the schools negotiating team, besides Schwarze, include Norm Kee, Ray Hoedell, Mike Homes, Gary Faber and Sam Barresi.

DR. JOHN PRELESNIK: "Men rape for different reasons. Women have to be (informed) of these differences — to become more knowledgeable."

Therapist gets into minds of convicted sex offenders

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Dr. John Prelesnik rubs shoulders every day with rapists, assorted sex offenders and killers.

Prelesnik, a psychologist at Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, recently visited a Plymouth Canton High School psychology class studying forcible rape and its implications.

"We feel it is necessary for students to hear what (Prelesnik) has to say," said teacher Jim Martin. "These issues are real, (and) we have to deal with them."

Prelesnik has spoken to classes at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) on previous occasions. He likes to appear before groups to help create an awareness of why persons commit sex crimes.

Most sex offenders are men, he said. He believes a greater awareness among the general public "might head off some of these people (offenders)."

"MEN RAPE for different reasons," he said. "Women have to be (informed) of these differences — to become more knowledgeable."

Currently, Prelesnik evaluates incoming prisoners as to their educational, medical and vocational needs. He assesses the type of imprisonment needed. He has been in corrections work for 10 years.

He also prescribes treatment and therapy for sex offenders, mentally ill prisoners and persons with a history of violence.

The increasing push to get mentally ill persons out of state hospitals is making the penal system "the agency of last resort," Prelesnik said.

Many of these mentally ill persons commit crimes that are violent, sexual or both. Under Michigan law, persons who can understand their actions and communicate are considered competent to stand trial.

Treatment for these offenders while they are in jail consists of group therapy and confronting a prisoner's actions, he said. It is non-judgmental, and involves "getting into the head" of the offender to find out why he committed the act. Once that is done, treatment can focus on changing behavior.

Knowing what to do if faced with a sexual attack could mean the difference between life and death for the victim.

Dr. John Prelesnik is a psychologist at Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson. He treats convicted sex offenders, some of whom tortured or killed their victims.

Rapists commit their acts for different psychological reasons, said Prelesnik. The victim's reaction to the act

obituaries

CARRIE B. GLADSTONE

Funeral services for Mrs. Gladstone, 76, of N. Mill, Plymouth, were held recently in Schrader Funeral Home with burial at Riverside Cemetery, Plymouth. Officiating was the Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee. Memorial contributions may be made to the First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

Mrs. Gladstone, who died March 20 in the city of Wayne, had moved to Plymouth in 1927 from Ithaca, Mich. She was a retail clothing saleswoman, a member of the First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, a Gold Star Mother, member of the Plymouth Sororptomists, past president and member of Moms of America and formerly state president, and a member of the Ladies Auxiliary of Passage-Gayde American Legion Post in Plymouth.

Survivors include: husband, Laurence; son, Nile of Plymouth; sister, pha Taylor, seven grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

RUTH M. TAIT

Funeral services for Mrs. Tait, 89, of Joy Road, Salem Township, were held recently in Schrader Funeral Home with burial at Riverside Cemetery. Officiating was the Rev. Frederick C. Vosburg.

Mrs. Tait, who died April 3 in Yale, Mich., was a homemaker and a lifelong resident of Salem Township. Prior to the consolidation of the Ann Arbor School system, she was the secretary and treasurer of the Superior Town Line Fractional School on Joy Road in Superior Township for many years.

Survivors include: husband, Olin; son, William of Romeo; daughters, Elizabeth Stover of Crosswell, Mich., and Mary Wichtel of Dousmal, Wis.; 10 grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

Students learn of rape and murder

"TREATMENT IS need-based. What we're after is real behavior change. That's the key."

For example, some rapists want to control the female, Prelesnik said. Others want to degrade, punish inflict pain or torture.

In some cases, the offender's goal is to kill the victim.

He outlined two examples of rapists. "Jesse," a black man, repeatedly raped white women.

He served time, began attending college and eventually began working with women's activist groups.

However, he resumed raping women again — with the incidents becoming more violent. He returned to prison and underwent therapy.

Therapy indicated Jesse raped white women because he hated whites. Jesse's mother was a prostitute to white men.

Jesse now is channeling his energy into writing black-oriented poetry.

ANOTHER CASE history is the type Prelesnik calls "the boy next door." This sex offender is polite, well-mannered, a good student and active in religious groups.

However, he has complex mental problems and sexual maladjustment. Over a period of years, his behavior develops from incestuous activity with his sister to window-peeping.

Eventually, this offender begins killing women who meet his fantasy needs. The murders are marked by stabbing and mutilation of the body.

"A lot of people are looking for an excuse to show they're screwed up. They're looking for punishment."

Sex offenders or mentally ill persons are "consumed with themselves" and unable to turn off their feelings, Prelesnik said.

Between episodes, they mask their feelings with drugs, alcohol or "ornery" behavior, he said.

"Prelesnik frowns on using drugs to control these persons. He prefers to work the prisoner into an emotional, stress-filled condition so he can treat the underlying cause.

The therapist then becomes the prisoner's "only bridge back to reality," Prelesnik said.

The psychologist's experience indicates these offenders can be successfully treated so they become non-repeat-ers.

"We have to help. A lot of people have given up on them."

"People have to understand. They're basically not animals. They aren't unhelpable."

Prelesnik urged his audience of students to avoid prejudging sex offenders.

"Don't be repulsed if you want to help them. You can't assume they have the same values."

"It's very hard for students to understand. My goal is to have students examine their own biases. I think we helped inform them somewhat."

Prelesnik has a bachelor's degree in political science and labor relations, and a master's in vocational rehabilitation and counseling. He has doctorates in criminal justice and psychology.

Psychologist, police give safety tips on rape

could be crucial to her safety.

"I know what they (victims) did that led to their death," is Prelesnik's chilling comment.

WHAT SHOULD a woman do if she's threatened with a possible rape? The Observer sought the opinions of Prelesnik and Lt. Larry Stewart, of the Canton police department.

Prelesnik has been in corrections work for 10 years. Stewart is in his 16th year of as a police officer.

Women should avoid vulnerable situations such as hitch-hiking or allowing themselves to be picked up by strangers, said Prelesnik. They should lock their home and car windows.

Half the victims are acquainted with their assailants, Stewart said. The others are strangers.

For example, a Canton woman was raped last year by an acquaintance and his friend who came to her house for a visit. When the two men discovered she was alone, they returned and raped her.

"I TRY to tell females to keep cool (and) talk their way out," said Prelesnik. "I don't believe in fighting. If you're going to fight, be prepared to kill."

Response depends on where the attack is taking place, countered Stewart, admitting his advice is based on "gut feeling," not statistics. Safety should be the primary concern, he added.

For example, said Stewart, it would be foolhardy for a woman to try to fight a man who has her trapped inside a house.

"But if he's trying to abduct her from a parking lot, she should fight, kick and scream," Stewart said. "You may not get someone to help, but you'll scare him away."

Prelesnik said his no-fight stance sometimes incurs the wrath of feminists who advocate struggling against a rapist. Some rapists are looking for such a reaction to justify beating or degrading the woman, he said.

THE RAPIST IS motivated by his psychological makeup and values, Prelesnik said. The rapist often gives verbal clues (calling the woman "bitch" or "whore"). Sometimes he expresses hatred for the woman.

"It's the way they are perceiving the female," Prelesnik said.

Some rapists commit acts because of opportunity, or as part of "plunder," such as during a robbery, he added.

Some rape impulsively and sporadically, while others are repetitive and compulsive.

A man who issues commands may have a need to control the woman, Prelesnik said. The rapist wants her to fight back.

A POTENTIAL victim should "try to make the person (rapist) feel you are a person," Prelesnik said.

"Try to personalize yourself, but not be flirtatious," he added. "Look for clues."

False alarms punishable

Police will ignore such alarms if the faulty alarm isn't repaired within 30 days.

It may be cheaper for persons to pay the fine than to fix the alarm, Supervisor James Poole said. Certain conditions are exempt from fines.

For example, the fine will be waived if the malfunctioning alarm is fixed within four days of notification by the police department. Proof of repair would be required.

Other situations also are exempt. These include an alarm going off because of a storm, or test work on the alarm if police are informed in advance.

No fine would be charged if a disruption in the telephone or communications system activates the alarm, according to the ordinance.

The alarm user may request a waiver on the fine due to extenuating circumstances. This must be done in writing within 10 days of the assessment date.

Failure to comply with ordinance regulations carries a maximum fine of $500, or 90 days in jail, or both.

ASK YOUR DENTIST

SHELDON SIMONS D.D.S., F.A.G.D.

WHY ORTHODONTIC TREATMENT TAKES TIME

QUESTION: Why does the completion of orthodontic treatment take such a long time? Most dental procedures can be wrapped up in a few visits or within weeks, but orthodontics usually take several months or even a couple of years. Please explain.

ANSWER: Teeth will move when any relatively gentle, continuous pressure is applied to them in a constant direction. For reasons still unknown, this pressure causes the bone lining the tooth socket to resorb (diminish) on one side and to deposit on the other side of the moving tooth. As with a healing fracture, formation of new deposits of bone is a slow process. Tooth movement cannot be speeded up beyond the limits imposed by the rate of bone formation. In other words - we cannot rush Mother Nature.

Ryan Daniels (center) rushes toward teammate Jim Bryans (7) to celebrate the first goal scored in the game between Plymouth-Canton's Super 6 and Sweden's Koppers.

Swedish tour groups leave the trolley near the Renaissance Center during their visit to Detroit last week.

Swedes enjoy visit

The Swedes are here — honoring the area with a visit to the Plymouth-Canton community.

A boys' hockey team of 12-year-olds from Stenungrund, Sweden, have saved money for more than two years to make this trip to the United States — and stay with members of a hockey team from the Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association.

The Swedish team, named the Koppers, are coached by Jan Erik Jansson. The Koppers are competing against hockey teams from the metropolitan Detroit area at the Plymouth Cultural Center. They arrived last weekend and will stay through Saturday.

THE SWEDES are staying at homes of members of a Squirt AA (11-year-olds) squad from Plymouth-Canton called "Super 6." The local team is coached by Tom Bryans and sponsored by Ray Chap of the Akron Tire "Super 6" stores.

In fact, both squads met on the ice for the first time last Wednesday, and Plymouth-Canton defeated the Swedish team, 3-1.

Many activities are planned during the Swedes' two-week visit.

Some activities the Swedes have undertaken — or will take part in — during their two-week stay include: a Detroit Red Wing hockey game, a tour of Detroit and the Renaissance Center, travelling down to the city in Plymouth's double-decker bus, roller skating at the Skatin' Station in Canton, bowling at the Northville bowling alley, a tour of the Pontiac Silverdome, a tour of the Wayne assembly automotive plant and a good-bye party at the Center Stage in Canton.

MEMBERS OF THE Plymouth-Canton team, and the visiting Swedish hockey players, are: Darlene Gaglead (Plymouth-Canton) hosting Patrik Rundberg (Sweden), Kevin Telepo (Plymouth-Canton) and Martin Pringle (Sweden), J.P. LaRoche and Patrik Carlsson, Scott Jackson and Christian Lindh, Jim Bryans and Lars Jansson, Mike Raymond and Fredrik Frisenhag, Ryan Daniels and Keijo Lintunen, Mike Campbell and Johan Karsberg, David Chopp and Magnus Lonegren, Greg Speaks and Arne Forsstron, Jason Baldas and Ronnie Hansson, Mike Tenant and Johan Anderson, Keith Bozyk and Henrik Johansson, Jerry Kocis and Mattias Gustavsson, and Steve Vanooteghem and Hakan Wik.

Plymouth-Canton's Al Campbell and Charlie Raymond made most of the arrangements for the trip and itinerary.

Referee Mike Donnelly carries off Sweden's Mattias Gustavsson, who was injured in the first period of action. He suffered bruised ribs, but returned to action later in the game.

Martin Pringle of Sweden ties his bowling shoes before bowling at Northville Lanes. Martin is wearing a Plymouth hat — a present from host-team members.

STOP THAT SIGN: Three traffic stop signs were reported yanked out of the ground at the intersections of Hanford and Pickwick, and at Pickwick and Greenwood on April 2.

TUNING IN: A security guard at Meijer's Thrifty Acres detained a woman for allegedly switching a $60 radio into a box with an $8 price tag, then trying to pay the lower price. The woman, a 40-year-old Westland resident, was arrested for larceny. The incident occurred April 3.

In a separate Meijer's case, a 27-year-old Ypsilanti man was arrested for larceny the same date. According to a police report, the man was trying to steal recording tapes worth $18.

BIKE THEFTS: A Canton youth reported the theft of a 10-speed bicycle parked outside the Oakview Party Store on Palmer Road April 2. The bike is valued at $200.

Another youth's bicycle was stolen at Field Elementary School on Haggerty April 1. The bike is worth $54.

Two bicycles, valued at $250, were reported stolen from a garage on Gloria April 2.

TELL-TALE FOOT-PRINTS: Two bottles of liquor were reported taken in a house break-in on Hillary Drive April 8. Police followed footprints in the snow and questioned a 15-year-old and an 18-year-old in connection with the case.

State, county dispute dams' safety

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Concerns over the possible failure of middle Rouge River dams are unfounded, according to the Wayne County Road Commission, which operates the dams.

The dams are along Edward Hines Parkway at Northville Road and Six Mile, Phoenix Lake, Wilcox Road, Newburgh Road and the Nankin Mills park area.

"We think the dams are in good condition. There's no reason to be worried," said Tom Voyles of the Wayne County Road Commission's bridge department.

Concerns about the middle Rouge dams were sparked by the recent collapse of a dam in Hell, Mich., and a state engineer's claim many Michigan dams are unsafe.

The five middle Rouge dams were given high hazard ratings in the 1978 survey done by the state engineer, Gary Croskey.

"The high hazard criteria is based on where the dam is and what is downstream from it. There was no rating of dams as far as the shape or condition of the dam," Croskey said.

Croskey recently was quoted saying the dams were in bad shape. But he stressed that if the dams posed a threat, then repairs would have been ordered during the 1978 survey.

While the dams didn't pose an immediate threat, Croskey said there were some problems which could pose a threat if left unchecked.

A DAM FAILURE in the middle Rouge could cause a life-threatening situation for persons using the park and a possible chain reaction downstream, he said.

Hines Parkway was designed as a flood plain for the Rouge River. High waters frequently flood the parkway after heavy rainfalls.

The road commission disputes Croskey's claim, saying a dam failure would occur during heavy rain, when persons usually aren't using the park.

"I would highly dispute that there is any imminent danger to picnickers in the middle Rouge Parkway, and there are no houses in the flood plain," says Lou Sugo, a road commission spokesman.

Croskey argues a dam failure could occur at any time, not just during a rainfall.

"If it happens during the middle of the day or the middle of the night that could be very hazardous," he said.

Croskey's recommendations for the middle Rouge dams were (starting upstream and working down):

- Waterford dam, at Northville Road and Six Mile — trees to be removed from the earth embankment and a detailed structural analysis because of the concerns about the stability of the dam.
- Phoenix dam, at the bottom of Phoenix Lake — repair of concrete on the spillway (where the water goes over), and locating the lower-level gateway, which couldn't be found during the inspection.
- Newburgh dam, at Newburgh Road — removal of trees from the earth embankments, repair of the lower-level gateway to make it operational and repair of the slope erosion on the downstream side of the dam.
- Wilcox dam, at Wilcox Road — removal of trees and small brush from the earth embankments.
- Nankin Mills dam, at Joy Road — repair of concrete on the spillway and dam walls.

Earth embankments still are part of the dam, Croskey said.

The possible uprooting of trees on the embankment will weaken the dam and lessen its ability to hold back water. Tree roots also cause "piping." This is when water works its way along the roots, many times carrying dirt along with it.

Piping will cause erosion of the earth part of the dam and add to the threat of dam failure, Croskey said.

It's doubtful the road commission followed through on the recommendations of the survey, Sugo said.

"It might be nice to have someone go and cut branches here and there if you have a lot of money. We don't have the money to go and do things like that," he said.

A LOWER-LEVEL gateway is used to relieve pressure on the dam. A lower-level gate is farther down on the spillway of a dam and can be opened to lower the level of the lake behind the dam.

"Ninety to 95 percent of dam operators don't even periodically check the lower-level outlets," Croskey said.

If the lower gates aren't checked they often rust shut or become inoperable.

Croskey also recommended the dams be checked by registered professional engineers every two to five years.

The road commission checks the dams every two years, according to Voyles.

"There are visual inspections done by the road commission. I really don't want to get into the details about the inspections," Voyles said.

Croskey says he would question the road commission inspections unless they were done by qualified persons.

Answers are provided to questions often asked

It is interesting to note the thoughts that pass through a fellow's mind when he is sitting at leisure, supposedly with not a care in the world.

The other evening, The Stroller was relaxing in his big easy chair. He had read the papers of the day. There was nothing inviting to him on the television. So he just leaned back and was almost in a half doze when a question struck him.

How is it, he asked himself, that all chefs in our modern restaurants are men?

It seemed an odd question but one that has puzzled him from time to time.

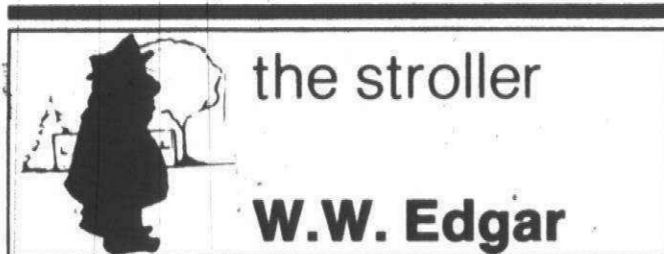

FROM THE days when his mother was a great cook and a fine pie baker, he was lead to believe that the woman of the house was the cook and the man would do well by not trying to take part. Then, somewhere along the line, the cooking job has been taken over by the men.

As The Stroller mulled this question, he got to thinking about other things that puzzle him. For instance:

Why is shubbery always green? Even in the vegetable garden, the plants first show their green leaves.

And why are the newly formed apples on the trees always green and tomatoes show the colors of Ol Erin before they turn red?

And why is grass green?

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

These things always have sort of bothered The Stroller. So he sought some answers.

OUT OF curiosity, he sought the thoughts of Ralph Lorenz, the chef at the Mayflower Hotel.

Ralph didn't hesitate for an answer when he was asked, "Why are all of today's chefs in the major establishments men?"

"The work is just too much for a woman," he answered, and then, as he usually does, he fortified his remarks.

"A woman couldn't handle the big portions of meat we have today. Neither could she last very long working with 20- and 25-pound turkeys and still keep on the rest of the work."

"And besides that, our kitchens today are not made for women. When they cook at home, the stove and all the utensils are at arm's length and waist high. She doesn't have to do any bending or other movements that would tire her out. Here in the major kitchens, we are a bit behind the times with our equipment. And with this, there is a lot of bending and reaching a woman wouldn't be able to take that for a full shift every day."

Well, that was settled.

THEN CAME the question, "Why is grass green?" and The Stroller recalled an afternoon in the grill room of a golf club in Akron, Ohio, when "Boss" Kettering, the great engineer of General Motors, was talking with several recent graduate engineers.

One of them spoke up and said, "Mr. Kettering, there is not much left for us to do. You fellows have done most everything."

Kettering smiled, put his hand on the young fellow's shoulder and asked:

"Son, why is grass green? If you can find the answer, you'll never have to worry about anything."

So The Stroller feels he never will get the answer, no more than he will learn why blackberries are red when they are green.

Must be invisible

Why is entire family oblivious to my presence?

I must be invisible. That's the only explanation I can think of for why my two children, my husband — and even our dog — all seem to be completely oblivious to me.

Last night, as my two young sons were busy dismantling the family room, I yelled to them from the living room.

"It's nine o'clock, boys. It's time to go to bed." They proceeded to continue their rampage with vigor.

"Hey, guys, it's nine o'clock. Get into bed!" I shouted. No change in their activities whatsoever.

I turned to my husband and said, "See, I told you. I must be invisible!" He didn't hear me.

EITHER I'M one of the most ineffective people in the world, or this entire family is stone deaf. It's like this all day — every day. I start the morning by asking everyone what they would like for breakfast. No one bothers to answer. After I repeat the question two or three times, someone finally concedes and says, "What?"

Making their breakfast is not that great of a thrill anyway. I tend to get cranky when I have to practically beg them every morning to acknowledge my efforts.

I'd love to serve them all a large bowl of gruel just for paybacks, but — unfortunately — I don't know what "gruel" is.

After hubby wanders off to work with inventories and analyses dancing through his brain, I'm left with the very unpleasant task of coaxing my 7-year-old son to get ready for school. I start with the obvious: "Jason, get dressed."

If only it were that simple. I then tell him each item of clothing that he must put on as he wanders through the house.

He stops to watch TV. "Put on your T-shirt." He starts playing with his turtle. "Where are your slacks?"

He builds a house with Lincoln Logs. "Aren't you going to wear shoes and socks today?"

Forty-five minutes later, he looks almost presentable, and my voice is starting to get hoarse. I tell him to brush his teeth and comb his hair. He says, "Yeh," and wanders off to the living room to watch Fred Flintstone.

Then I yell a lot.

Nancy Walls Smith

FINALLY HE'S ready and is out the door on time. It's very tempting to refrain from this ritual just once, but I know the kid would never get dressed and would miss school altogether. He wouldn't mind, but I certainly would.

At 11:30 I have to go through the exact same routine with my 5-year-old son to get him ready for afternoon kindergarten.

This kid's a real clown. Not only does he ignore me, but he tries to be amusing at the same time. After he dons each item of clothing, as per my request, he runs through the house dancing a jig or rolls around on the floor with the dog while singing silly songs. He may never be a punctual person, but he seems to be a happy one.

Meanwhile, my stomach turns to knots as I watch the clock creep closer to his departure time.

Ten minutes before his ride is due, he is known to sneak up behind me wearing only his underwear and sing into my ear. "Oh, what a Mom, what a beau-ti-ful Mom." I don't know whether to kiss him or kill him.

THE DOG'S behavior is not quite as baffling. I know that I want to kill him. His blatant disregard for my authority makes me so mad... well, I guess you'd just have to be there.

Every chance he gets, he runs out the front door, which means I have to run after him. He'll let me get about a foot and a half away from him before he takes off like a bat out of... well, you know what I mean.

As my neighbors can tell you, I'm not much of a runner. The dog is. At least twice a day I have to make a spectacle of myself chasing that rebellious beast all over the neighborhood.

From all of this, I can only conclude that I must be invisible — which wasn't exactly on my list of things that I wanted to be when I grew up.

Sigh.

Area assisted Seals campaign

To the editor:

As many of your readers are aware, Easter Seals held its annual Telethon March 27-28. Very important parts of the telethon were centered on the Plymouth-Canton community.

First there was the Skate-athon, held at the Skatin' Station in Canton. It was more than 20 hours of good clean family fun and entertainment. This event was highlighted locally throughout the course of the Telethon.

We would like to thank Austin E. "Woody" Lynch for his tremendous generosity, Ken Garner and Jan Olson, the Skatin' Station staff, and the fine entertainers who freely gave of their time and talents. But especially we would like to thank the wonderful kids and adults of the community for their hard work in raising money for Easter Seals.

Another very involved group was the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) students who acted as co-hosts and VIP phone people. We would like to thank the administration, Harry Grenya, leadership class sponsor, and the super students for their support and contributions.

In addition we express our gratitude to the Canton Rotary and to the Canton Kiwanis for their great help.

The generous involvement of the people is a measure of the greatness of the community.

Family Service says thank you

To the editor:

On behalf of Plymouth Family Service, I'd like to thank you for the coverage our agency has received recently in the Observer. I appreciate your printing the article regarding the sessions on alcoholism at CEP which appeared March 9, and we were delighted to see the follow-up story and pictures which appeared Monday, April 5.

We believe that Plymouth Family Service offers valuable services to the Plymouth community, and we certainly appreciate the investment of your resources in our programs.

Thanks again for the coverage.

After heavy politicking, House hikes income tax

By Tim Richard
staff writer

After waiting 22 hours for the House of Representatives to act, the Michigan Senate went on vacation Friday at dawn, leaving until April 20 action on a state income-tax hike designed to resolve the state's fiscal crisis.

The House passed the tax hike 54-40 after an all-night session.

"The Senate waited all night for it," said a tired state Rep. Jack Kirksey, R-Livonia, just before getting to bed at 10 a.m. Friday. "The game plan was to get it through the House today, but they (senators) said they were in no condition to pursue it."

"They couldn't get the votes," added Rep. Joe Forbes, D-Oak Park, Democratic floor leader.

IN LAST week's action on the state's $611 million fiscal crisis:

- Both houses voted to increase the state cigarette tax to 21 cents a pack from 11 cents. The bill goes to Gov. William G. Milliken for his signature. It is expected to narrow the gap by $95 million.

- The House, after heavy politicking in its marathon session, barely approved a bill raising the state personal income tax 1 percent to 5.6 percent. The hike is retroactive from April 1 and runs to Sept. 30, the end of the fiscal year. It will raise $150 million. The Senate will take up the measure Tuesday, April 20, when it returns from Easter recess.

- A new 4-percent amusement tax was to have been taken up by the House last week, but Forbes said "we didn't get to it." It would affect tickets to all kinds of amusements — theaters, movies and sporting events as well as video games and cable television. Despite heavy opposition, Forbes predicted, "It won't have half the difficulty of the income tax, even if it gives the lobbies time to work." It's slated for House action April 20.

- The Joint Appropriations Committee gave approval to Governor Milliken's proposed $308 million in state spending cuts.

"IT WAS the responsible thing to do," said state Rep. Ruth McNamee, R-Birmingham, who voted for the income-tax increase.

"It was an emergency because 1) we have a cash flow problem, 2) the state constitution requires us to balance the budget and 3) we had to protect the state's credit rating.

"Believe me, I learned a lot about credit ratings in the last week. Once you lose it, it takes you five years to get it back. It doesn't affect just the state. Every public entity would suffer if Michigan's credit rating dropped from a 2 to a 3 — Oakland University, Oakland Community College, schools and cities," said McNamee, a fourth-term lawmaker.

"Nearly all are in the (credit) market because of the executive order cutting their state appropriations. Local governments and school boards will understand. A lot of them thanked me for stepping up to do what I have to do.

"The alternative is for the state to go belly up, or whatever you want to call it." She added she extracted "a strong commitment" from Milliken not to ask for the tax hike's renewal.

KIRKSEY, a third-term lawmaker and former school administrator, was unimpressed by the credit rating argument.

"They told us that if we didn't pass it by Wednesday, it would be a great embarrassment to Jerry Miller (budget director). It was painted as an end-of-the-world thing," said Kirksey, who voted against the income-tax increase.

"It was almost as if every second were precious. There were obviously artificial deadlines.

"I dislike legislation by crisis. It's repulsive to me to develop public policy that way — people milling around the House floor for hours."

Both McNamee and Kirksey told of Milliken personally crossing the street to the Plaza Hotel to awaken Rep. Edgar Geerlings, R-Norton Shores, who had departed at 6 a.m. to get some sleep. Geerlings delivered his promised yes vote.

KIRKSEY SAID the automatic voting board, which is supposed to be held open no more than three minutes, was kept open a half-hour while votes were rounded up.

In addition, he complained the bill was given immediate effect in a technique lawmakers call the "fast gavel." Otherwise, the tax hike wouldn't have taken effect until a year from now.

"They worked hard on the freshmen," said Kirksey — "they" being Milliken, his legislative assistant, former state representative Bob Law and Miller.

"The freshmen are very impressed with the personal appeal by the governor. They worked three-on-one. I got totally fed up with it.

"It was like a professional baseball pitcher and catcher — they have a book on every batter, and they go to work on them.

"There were also a number of lobby groups — Michigan Education Association, American Federation of Teachers, colleges and universities — working very hard. One organization, I heard, laid out $3,000 or $4,000 directly. The lobbying was ferocious," Kirksey said.

BUT IF Kirksey was repelled by the all-night battle, Forbes, a sixth-term lawmaker who acts as a traffic cop on legislative bills, was impressed.

"The governor did a yeoman job. We spent a lot of time on strategy last week," said Forbes. "It was about the closest coordination and cooperation I've worked on with Bill Bryant (House GOP leader), Mike Bush (assistant GOP leader), the governor and Bobby (House Speaker Bobby Crim). Bobby just batted his brains out.

Students put on Easter Buffet

Faculty members and special guests were treated last week to the annual Easter Buffet by food service students at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

Twice a year (Thanksgiving and Easter) the food service students at the high schools go through the learning experience of setting up and serving a banquet.

Each Easter the banquet is a buffet special attended by CEP faculty members and guests.

Among the special guests this year were Doug Swatosh, Plymouth Rotary Club vocational service chairman, and his committee of Joe Tate, Ken Hulsing and Mike Homes. Also present was Harold Gaertner, director of vocational education.

The class prepares a lunch menu Tuesday through Friday and serves meals in the School Lunch Box at Plymouth Salem High from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

The program is a vocational two-hour block class which also involves co-op employment experiences at area restaurants.

Carrie Gary is instructor in charge of the two-year program where students learn employability skills in the commercial food service area.

During the course of learning students go into the community and participate in a co-op program where they receive credit and wages for their work experience.

Some of the food service businesses which use the trained students are as far away as Redford and Westland.

The participating businesses include: Steak & Ale, Josephine Schembri; Big Boy, Bill Amato; Bill Knapps, Wendy Bono and Scott Rockov; Plymouth, Hilton, Jeff Whiting; Poppin' Fresh Pies, Steve Lovelady; Denny's, Joe Script; Famous Recipe, Ruth Lankabel; Bourbon Street, Kim Overstreet; Mr. Jims, Barb Murray; Olga's, Lisa Kesson; Hillside, Sheila Marrs, Ed Carrie, and Rob Wagner; Palace, Lori Lough; Brentwood House, Chris Krupa; and Burger King, Joe Kochevar.

Areas of learning experience include waiters, waitresses, cooking, shopping, time management, and baking. Working relations, responsibility, and use of all commercial equipment along with quality standards of maintenance in restaurant operation also are learned.

In spite of diverse learning abilities, said Gary, students can find a future career in the food service area.

Gary, who has 10 years of experience in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, has been responsible for the growth of the vocational area, expanding it from an introduction to food service to its development into a full-fledged training center.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO NOVOCAINE?

The vast majority of dental treatments are done with local anesthetic. It's safe and easy to use, and the patient is comfortable and conscious. The whole system is not affected, only a specific area; there are no side effects, such as grogginess, and the loss of sensation in the localized area does not last for a long time after the work is done.

The anesthetic is injected at or near the point where the dentist is going to be working. The nerves in the area are anesthetized — there is a loss of sensation only in a "localized area". The patient can respond to instructions, is conscious of the work being done, but doesn't feel it.

Most people associate local anesthesia with Novocaine (the scientific name is Procaine), which was, in fact, a staple for many years. Nowadays, however, Novocaine is seldom used. We've come a long way in dental anesthesia. Procaine has been replaced by safer and more effective local anesthetics. The most commonly used today is Lidocaine (commercially, often called Xylocaine), which is stronger than Procaine and thus can achieve the same effect with a lesser dosage.

How to protect your good credit.

Credit is a valuable asset. And a privilege you have earned by building a good credit reputation. If, like a lot of people, you are now having trouble repaying your loans, here's something positive you can do before you spend money seeking legal remedies.

If you have a loan with NBD—

If you have a financial obligation to National Bank of Detroit, we want you to know that we'll go out of our way to help you get through this difficult period. We'll start by taking a look at your particular situation. And we're prepared to offer alternatives to assist you in solving your repayment problems.

Now, let's talk. We've established 8 special neighborhood Financial Counseling Centers at selected NBD branches. This unique service was designed for your benefit—to bring NBD's problem solvers even closer to you. Each office is staffed with trained personal loan specialists who are ready to talk to you and deal with any and all NBD consumer loan services.

NBD understands your situation. And we'll give you the kind of information, direction and assistance you're looking for.

Chinese Cooking Goes American

Perhaps it was fate. Just as Americans were looking for quick-cooking ideas to go with their busy lifestyles and a healthy, nutritious way of eating, along came a new interest in Chinese cooking. Considering the thousands of years it took to develop this ancient and honorable cuisine, it has taken amazingly few years for Americans to "go Chinese." And what's also interesting is the speed with which Chinese cooking has "gone American."

It isn't that basic cooking techniques have changed. They haven't. Stir-frying, steaming, simmering, grilling and roasting remain Chinese mainstays, even in America. But Americans have found that Chinese cuisine adapts very well to western kitchen equipment and American ingredients. Corn oil, made from natural corn, is ideal for Chinese cooking and is the preferred oil of many Chinese-American cooks. The original thickener for Chinese dishes may have been water-chestnut flour but today, all over the world, corn starch thickens sauces to a classic translucence. And Karo corn syrup adds subtle sweetness to sweet and sour dishes. Because the syrup is already in liquid form, it blends in easily and provides a smooth light and balanced taste to stir-fry combinations. And corn syrup enhances the consistency of Chinese-inspired sauces and glazes.

In Chinese cooking, preparation can, and should, be done in advance. For many dishes, especially stir-fry ones, this means chopping, cutting or slicing fresh produce into attractive evenly-sized pieces. Planning the combination of shapes and colors, textures and tastes becomes almost an art form and adds to the enjoyment of Chinese cooking. When actual cooking time arrives, it is nearly time to eat. Cooking is done quickly and at controlled high temperatures. Using just the right temperature for just the right amount of time keeps natural flavors, colors and textures at their best. Vitamins are sealed in and the foods are fairly bursting with goodness.

Is it, therefore, any surprise that all America has "gone Chinese?"

Saucy Butterfly Shrimp

- | | |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Batter (recipe follows) | 1 tablespoon corn starch |
| 1/2 cup rice wine vinegar | mixed with 2 tablespoons |
| 1/3 cup dark corn syrup | water |
| 1/3 cup catchup | 16 jumbo shrimp, peeled, |
| 1/4 cup pineapple juice | deveined |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 2 cups corn oil |

Prepare batter. In 2-quart saucepan stir together vinegar, corn syrup, catchup, pineapple juice and salt. Stirring frequently, bring to boil over medium heat. Restir corn starch-water mixture; stir into sauce mixture. Stirring constantly, bring to boil and boil 1 minute. Keep warm. Cutting almost through shrimp, cut lengthwise along inner curve and flatten. Pat shrimp dry with paper towels. Pour corn oil into electric skillet to depth of 1/4-inch. Heat to 375°F. Dip shrimp into batter. Fry, a few at a time, about 4 minutes, turning once or until golden. Drain on paper towels. Serve with sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Batter

In medium bowl stir together 1/3 cup flour and 2 tablespoons corn starch. Gradually stir in 1/4 cup water, 1 tablespoon dry sherry and 2 eggs, lightly beaten. Stir in 1/3 cup chopped green onions.

Stir-Fry Beef and Broccoli

- | | |
|--------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 1 tablespoon corn starch | 5 tablespoons corn oil, divided |
| 1/4 teaspoon pepper | 2 cups broccoli flowerets |
| 1/3 cup dry sherry | 3 small onions, cut in thin |
| 1/4 cup soy sauce | wedges |
| 1/4 cup dark corn syrup | 1/2 cup sliced water chestnuts |
| 3/4 pound beef top round steak | 1 clove garlic, minced or |
| 3 medium carrots | pressed |

In small bowl stir together corn starch and pepper. Gradually stir in sherry, soy sauce and corn syrup until smooth; set aside. Cut beef diagonally across grain into very thin slices, then cut into 2-inch strips. Roll cut carrots into 1/4-inch pieces by making angle cut and then giving the carrot a quarter-turn before angle cutting again. In large skillet or wok heat 3 tablespoons of the corn oil over medium-high heat. Add carrots, broccoli, onions, water chestnuts and garlic. Stir fry 3 to 4 minutes or until tender-crisp. Remove from pan. Heat remaining 2 tablespoons corn oil. Add beef, 1/3 at a time; stir fry 1 minute or until browned. Return all beef and vegetables to skillet. Restir corn starch mixture; stir into beef-vegetable mixture. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Serve over rice. Makes 4 servings.

Sweet and Sour Pork with Oranges

- | | |
|----------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 2 tablespoons corn oil | 1 cup cubed green and sweet |
| 1 pound boneless pork, cut in | red pepper |
| thin strips | 1/2 cup sliced green onions |
| 1 cup orange juice | 3 tablespoons corn starch |
| 1/2 cup light or dark corn syrup | mixed with 6 tablespoons |
| 1/2 cup cider vinegar | water |
| 2 tablespoons soy sauce | 1 cup orange sections |
| 1 clove garlic, minced or | |
| pressed | |

In wok or large skillet heat corn oil over medium-high heat. Add pork, 1/2 at a time; stirring constantly, brown on all sides. Add orange juice, corn syrup, vinegar, soy sauce and garlic. Bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer, stirring occasionally, 10 minutes or until pork is tender. Add pepper and green onions. Restir corn starch-water mixture; stir into pork mixture. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Stir in oranges. Makes 4 servings.

Chinese Spareribs

- | | |
|-------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1 cup catchup | 2 cloves garlic, minced or |
| 1/2 cup dark corn syrup | pressed |
| 1/4 cup corn oil | 1 teaspoon pepper |
| 1/4 cup dry sherry | 4 pounds spareribs, cut into |
| 1/4 cup soy sauce | ribs |

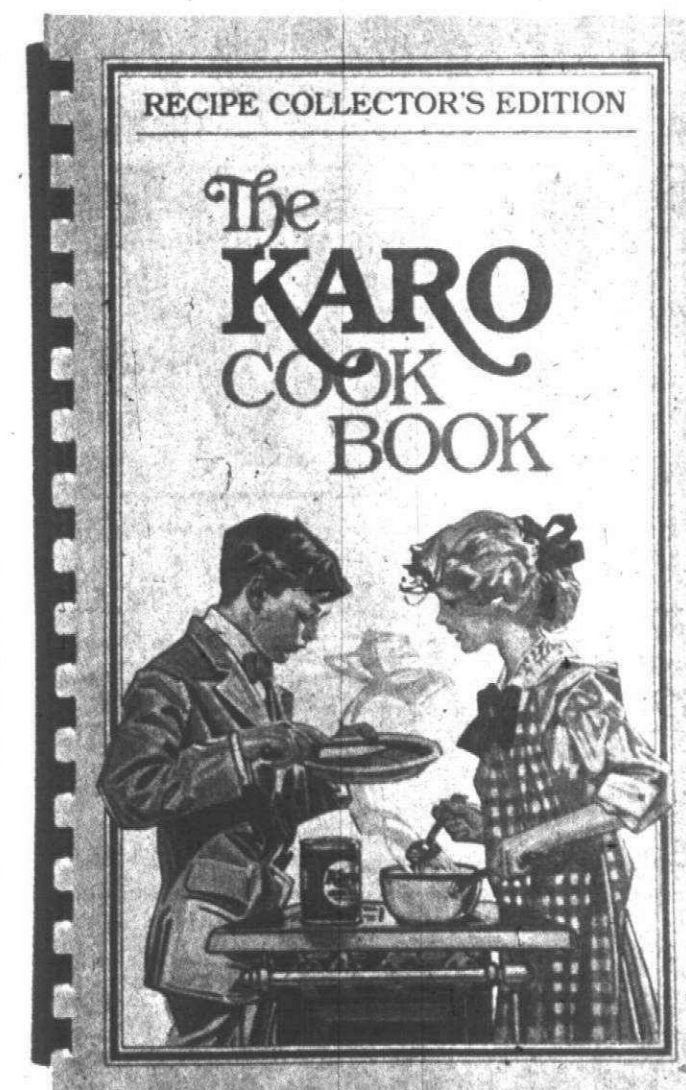

In small bowl stir together catchup, corn syrup, corn oil, sherry, soy sauce, garlic and pepper until blended; set aside. Place ribs bone side up on rack in broiler pan; broil 6 inches from source of heat about 20 minutes. Turn meaty side up and broil 5 minutes or until browned. Baste with catchup mixture. Broil, turning and basting frequently, 10 to 15 minutes longer or until crisp. Makes 4 servings.

Grilled Chinese Spareribs: Follow recipe for Chinese Spareribs. Place ribs bone side down on grill over slow coals. Grill about 20 minutes. Turn meaty side down and grill about 5 minutes or until browned. Brush with catchup mixture. Grill, turning and basting frequently, 20 minutes longer or until thoroughly cooked. Makes 4 servings.

Oriental Pineapple Chicken

- | | |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1 can (8 oz) pineapple slices | 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger |
| in own juice | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 1 (3 lb) broiler-fryer chicken | 1/8 teaspoon pepper |
| 2 cup dark corn syrup | 1-1/2 tablespoons corn starch |
| 2 tablespoons corn oil | 3/4 cup chicken broth |
| 2 tablespoons dry sherry | 1 small green pepper, cut in |
| 2 tablespoons thinly sliced | very thin slivers |
| green onion | |

Drain pineapple; reserve juice. Cut each pineapple slice into baking sections. Place chicken, breast side up, on rack in shallow baking pan. Roast in 400°F oven 1 hour. In small bowl stir together reserved juice, corn syrup, corn oil, sherry, onion, ginger, salt and pepper. Baste chicken with some of the pineapple juice mixture. Continue roasting, basting frequently, with remaining pineapple juice mixture about 30 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken to serving platter; keep warm. In small bowl stir together corn starch and broth until smooth. Stir into mixture in pan. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Stir in pineapple slices and green pepper until heated through. Spoon over chicken. Makes 4 servings.

World hunger: Is there really enough to go around?

This is the 13th in a series of 15 articles exploring "Food and People." In this article Janet W. Lowenthal, technical assistance specialist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, suggests measures for attacking the poverty that is the root cause of hunger in much of the developing world. This series was written for Courses by Newspaper, a program of University Extension, University of California, San Diego, with funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

By Janet Lowenthal
special writer

THE UNIVERSAL right to eat is generally recognized by men and women of every nationality, color, creed and income level.

Nevertheless, at least half a billion people — one out of every eight men, women and children on earth — are chronically undernourished today.

But hunger is not inevitable. Most experts agree that the world has the physical, economic and technical capabilities to eliminate hunger. The real question is whether political leaders will have the courage to insist that these resources be used to benefit the world's poorest and hungriest peoples.

In the most immediate sense, hunger can be relieved simply by giving food to needy people. Paradoxically, however, we can never permanently eliminate hunger if we focus on food and hunger alone.

The major world hunger problem today is not starvation but chronic under-nutrition caused by poverty. The corollary is that hunger is not primarily a food-production problem but a poverty problem.

Producing enough food makes possible — but does not guarantee — overcoming hunger. People must be able to buy the food. For this, they need jobs that pay a living wage and a price system that places basic food within reach of the poor.

The elimination of hunger, therefore, is a dual challenge: to attack the causes while simultaneously treating the symptoms. The immediate goal is to eliminate suffering; the ultimate goal is to build a world without hunger by overcoming the poverty of individuals and nations that permits hunger to persist.

The developing nations themselves will have to make the most difficult decisions required to raise food production, reduce economic inequalities and alleviate hunger. But the international community — and the United States in particular — can make a crucial difference in the ability of national governments to carry out the necessary actions.

CREATING JOBS THOUGH EQUITABLE GROWTH

Equitable economic growth, which increases per-capita incomes among the poor, is the surest, most lasting strategy for combating hunger. This approach requires investment capital, appropriate government policies and technical know-how to create millions of new jobs so that hungry people can earn their own bread instead of having to depend on handouts. It also requires a strong focus on agriculture and rural development.

In the poorest developing countries, up to 80 percent of the population may be engaged in subsistence agriculture. Consequently, substantial investments in Third World agriculture are needed to help low-income farmers obtain the training, credit, storage, marketing and transportation facilities they need to raise yields on plots that are often as small as 2½ acres.

Small rural industries for processing food, repairing farm equipment and producing consumer goods complete an agriculture-based strategy simultaneously to create jobs, boost food production and reduce hunger.

But manufacturing and service occupations must also grow — both to create jobs and to enable developing countries to earn the high profits characteristic of those economic sectors.

INTERNATIONAL ECONOMY

Creating enough jobs will be a formidable task. The International Labor Organization estimates that over the next 20 years another 550 million people will join the Third World labor force.

Their fate, in turn, will depend largely on progress within the international economy as a whole, and the prognosis is not good. The 1970s were

Janet W. Lowenthal was director of policy coordination for the Presidential Commission on World Hunger with principal responsibility for drafting and editing the commission's report. She has lived in the Dominican Republic and Peru and has worked as a social science researcher and a freelance editor.

marked by a surge in energy prices, recession, inflation and unemployment, even in the rich nations. Still harsher economic conditions are forecast for the 1980s, particularly for the poor nations.

Today, in fact, protectionist trade sentiments (despite rhetoric to the contrary), combined with an apparent determination to boost U.S. military spending and arms sales at the expense of social needs at home and abroad, are further undermining efforts to overcome hunger.

Ultimately, a world without hunger can exist only within an international economic environment that enables poor people in poor nations to become genuinely self-reliant by marketing abroad their labor-intensive products.

PRODUCING ENOUGH FOOD

Adequate food production remains a major challenge because of population growth and economic progress itself. As incomes rise, people buy more meat and poultry, which in turn requires more grain for animal feed.

Efforts to lower the rate of population growth have begun to pay off. But 75-80 million people are added to the world's population each year; the world must therefore increase its food production by 30 million tons each year just to stay in place.

Moreover, most of this increase must occur in the developing nations themselves, where both the need and the under-utilized agricultural potential are greatest. Although the United States has traditionally served as breadbasket for the world, it cannot grow all the food that will be needed. In any case, there wouldn't be enough foreign exchange to buy it, ships to carry it, ports to unload it or roads and transportation and storage facilities to get that food to the people who need it.

The goal for the U.S. is not to feed the world but to help other nations to feed themselves.

Admittedly, there are important policy problems to be solved. Increasing food production will become more expensive if energy prices continue to rise. And water and land resources must be carefully managed to protect the earth's ability to produce food for future generations.

Finally, increased food production will not occur without an expanding market — and will not, in any case, benefit hungry people unless they acquire the purchasing power to enter that market.

Nevertheless, many developing countries that now import food have enough land and water to provide for themselves. Some, such as Cameroon, Zimbabwe and Kenya, should even be able to export food. There are not physical reasons to prevent all the world's people from getting enough to eat.

ALLEVIATING HUNGER NOW

But even the most rapid and most equitable economic growth that could possibly occur will leave millions of people in absolute poverty for several decades. Specific programs are needed to attack hunger and malnutrition now.

In the less-developed countries, these measures may include subsidizing the food that poor people buy (as the U.S. does with its food stamp program); providing extra food to school children and pregnant and nursing women; educating people about proper nutrition (including breastfeeding of infants); and fortifying staple food with essential vitamins or minerals that the local diet lacks.

Such efforts to alleviate immediate hunger are no substitute for social and economic progress. But the development programs necessary to overcome poverty cannot themselves be carried out if much of today's and tomorrow's workforce is allowed to suffer from malnutrition and associated ill health.

The United States can do much to help by providing more technical assistance, substantial investment capital and more open markets. The price tag is relatively high — much higher than this or previous administrations have been willing to accept. But prompting development is even more a problem of priorities than of price. This nation now spends many times more dollars on military aid abroad than on assistance for development.

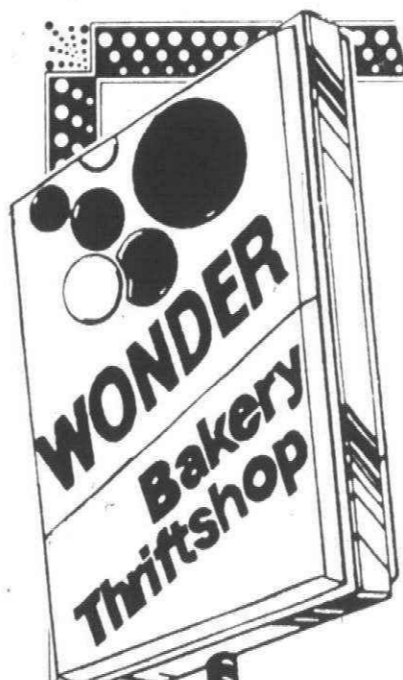

To quote the 1980 report of the U.S. Presidential Commission on World Hunger, "In the end, the issue of ending world hunger comes down to a question of political choice — a factor that is no more predictable than the weather but far more susceptible to human control."

Effective action will often demand a degree of political courage that is rare everywhere in the world. Everyone is in favor of ending hunger, but few are in favor of sharing their own economic and political power with the poor. In the last analysis, this is what ending hunger is all about.

Crowning touch to old pork

It's fun to surprise guests with something special and unexpected. An impressive Pork Crown Roast with Sweet Potato Stuffing will fill the room in delicious fashion.

The unusual stuffing, made by adding shredded sweet potatoes and chopped onion, celery and apple to bread cubes, is most complementary to the pork. Crumbled bacon gives it a flavor boost as does the addition of sage.

The roast is first cooked rib ends down in a slow oven. Then it is inverted, filled with stuffing and returned to oven until done, as indicated by a thermometer inserted into the thickest part of the meat. As with all pork roasts, a crown is at its juicy, flavorome best when cooked to an internal temperature of 170 degrees.

It is important that the pork crown roast be ordered from your butcher in advance. He will make it by tying together two center pork loins that have been Frenched; that is, the meat has been cut away to expose the tips of the rib bones. If desired, frills can be placed on the rib ends after roasting to accentuate the crown effect.

PORK CROWN ROAST SWEET POTATO STUFFING

14- to 16-rib pork crown roast (approximately 6 pounds)
4 slices bacon

- 2 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 2 cups shredded sweet potatoes
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1 large cooking apple, chopped
- 1 pkg. (6 oz.) bread cubes for stuffing
- 1 tsp. sage
- 3/4 cup water

Place crown roast, rib ends down, on rack in open roasting pan. Do not add water and do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degree) 2 hours. Remove from oven. Turn roast so that rib ends are up. Insert meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in thickest part of roast, making certain that it does not rest in fat or on bone. Meanwhile cook bacon until crisp; remove to absorbent paper. Add butter or margarine to bacon drippings. Add potatoes, onion and celery; cook 5-6 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add apple and cook 4-5 minutes. Add bread cubes. Crumble bacon and add; sprinkle with sage and stir in water. Fill cavity of crown roast with stuffing. (Cook remaining stuffing in separate pan, covered, for 30 minutes.)

Continue roasting meat until thermometer registers 165 degrees. Cover roast with foil tent and allow to "set" at room temperature 15-20 minutes (temperature usually rises to 170 degrees during this period). Carve between ribs.

It's time for roast leg of lamb

What better to serve at a traditional dinner, an informal barbecue, a buffet for 10, or a dinner for two, than fresh lamb?

Lamb is perfect for high-tech as well as old-fashioned cooks. Spring lamb is available now and all year 'round. Why Because an age-old idea that lamb is only young and tender in the spring is a fallacy.

- 3/4 tsp. dried basil
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice
- 1 1/2 lbs. fresh asparagus or 2 pkgs. (10 oz. each) frozen asparagus

SPRINGTIME LEG OF LAMB

6-10 servings
(depending upon size of leg)

- Leg of lamb (6-9 lbs.)
- Salt
- Pepper
- Dried oregano
- 1 large clove garlic, cut into slivers
- 1 lb. fresh or frozen small white onions
- 1/4 cup butter
- 2 tsp. chopped or 1 tbsp. dried parsley

Sprinkle lamb with salt, pepper and oregano. With sharp knife, cut frequent slits in lamb surface. Insert garlic slivers. Place lamb on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in oven preheated to 325 degrees 20-25 minutes per pound, or until meat thermometer registers 140 degrees for rare, 160 degrees for medium or 160 degrees for well-done. 30 minutes before end of roasting time, cook onions in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain and keep warm.

Melt butter in saucepan. Stir in parsley, basil, 1/2 teaspoon oregano, a dash of pepper and lemon juice. Add onions and heat slowly. Cook asparagus. Arrange asparagus alternately with onions on platter around leg of lamb. Pour remaining butter sauce over onions and asparagus.

THERE'S GOING to be a free movie tonight at the Plymouth Cultural Center. The hour-long film, "Lucy in Disguise," will be of interest to anyone who ever held a Petoskey stone or other fossil and marveled at its age and wondered its origin.

Members of the Plymouth Rock and Mineral Society have a real treat in store, and they have opened their meeting to the public. David Thomas, head of the geology department at Washtenaw Community College, will show the movie. Anthropologist Tim White of the University of California at Berkeley said "Lucy in Disguise" is the finest film of its kind ever made for the layman.

The story of Lucy really goes back 3.5 million years. But she was discovered in 1974 in the Afar Desert of Ethiopia by Dr. Don Johanson and the International Afar Research Expedition.

After millions of years of fossilization, she turned to stone, was broken and finally, exposed to the sun. The excitement of her discovery takes little imagination. When the anthropologists returned to their camp that evening, one of the first questions was, "What shall we call her?"

The camp radio was playing the popular Beatles tune of the time, "Lucy in the Sky." Someone said, "Lucy, of course." So she was named.

It took teams of experts five years to analyse her remains and fix her age at 3.5 million years. She is the most complete and best preserved of the human ancestors ever found. She had a smallish body, an ape-like head, but she walked upright.

A new name had to be found for her species. She is an Australopithecus Afaransis.

The film not only tells the story of Lucy. It is about research for better understanding of the beginning of human evolution, David Thomas said.

The Rock and Mineral Society meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Cultural Center. It would be helpful to society members if persons wishing to see the film would call them in advance, 722-6043. They want to have enough chairs to accommodate everyone.

FRANCES PETERS and Boyd Shaffer had high scores at Thursday's party bridge games at the Plymouth Cultural Center. There were seven tables in play.

MARCIA NELLES of Canton Township is a member of the Freshman Choir at Grace College and Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind. The choir is composed of 30 students who are selected by audition. The ensemble toured last week, giving performances in schools and churches.

Marcia plans to study dental hygiene. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Nelles of Devon Lane.

JOHN KRIEGER of Plymouth will be one of 60 professional artists featured in the "Ring in Spring" art show and sale April 23-24. The event will be in St. James Episcopal Church, 355 W. Maple in downtown Birmingham. Krieger is an artist and sculptor.

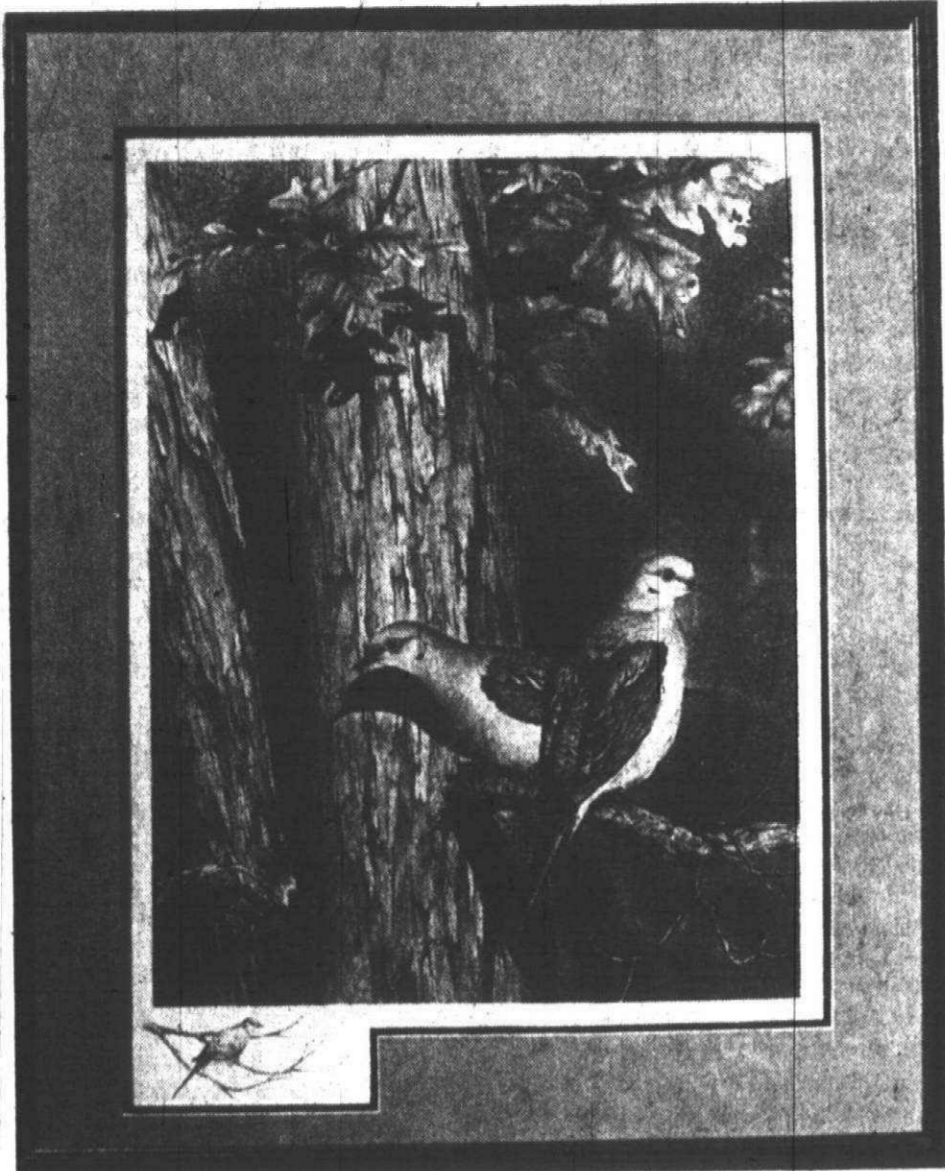

There will be a wine and cheese reception for the artists from 7-10 p.m. Friday, April 23, with music from the St. James carillon. There will be a $2 donation for the reception.

Admission to the Saturday show and sale is free. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

KEN PREBLICH, a Canton resident, is the latest winner of the Big 50-50 fundraiser sponsored by the Blue Chapter of the high schools Athletic Boosters Club.

BONNIE CROSSLEY is 1982 volunteer chairwoman for Plymouth Township's annual fund drive for muscular dystrophy research. The drive begins May 15 and extends through June 15. Money also is needed to provide clinic and patient services for the 250,000 Americans who are victims of muscular dystrophy.

Supervisor Maurice Breen signed a proclamation declaring Muscular Dystrophy Month throughout the Charter Township of Plymouth.

Al Larson and Susan Gallas prepare for the silent auction benefit. The cardinal in the foreground is a Johnnie Crosby watercolor. The paintings in the background are by Webster School students.

Artists support benefit auction

More than 100 pieces of framed art will be sold in a silent auction Saturday at the Frame Works, 833 Penniman, Plymouth.

The auction is a benefit for Special Olympics. All the proceeds will be distributed to the Association of Retarded Citizens (ARC) and Webster School, the Northwest Wayne County "special" student education facility in Livonia.

The auction has been arranged by Al Larson and Susan Gallas of Frame Works. Gallas is the mother of a special student at Webster.

"There is no active bidding requiring the services of an auctioneer," Larson said. "Instead, each piece of artwork will be numbered and listed on a master board, similar to Channel 56 auction procedure."

FOR EACH BID, bidders will put their name, artwork number, and their bid price on a card they will receive at the door. The bid cards will be given to attendants at the master board. The amount of the bid will be written on the back of the card, which will be posted by the artwork number.

All bids must exceed the prior bid by at least $3.

Auction hours will be from 5-8 p.m. Prospective bidders may preview the exhibit on Friday or before the auction begins Saturday. No bids will be permitted until the 5 p.m. opening.

The donated works range from original watercolors and limited edition prints valued at several hundred dollars to posters and small decorative pieces valued as low as $30.

ART WORKS have been donated by some of the state's top artists.

Catherine McClung has donated several limited edition wildlife prints to the auction. She was a finalist in the Michigan Waterfowl Stamp contest in 1979 and 1981. In 1981, she was a runner-up to the Michigan Wildlife Artist of the Year. Among her framed prints in the auction will be a pair of mourning doves, cedar waxwings, and Canada geese.

"Nick" van Frankenhuzen has donated five limited edition prints. The Dutch wildlife artist was winner of the 1982 Michigan Duck Stamp Competition. He is art director of the Michigan Natural Resources magazine and was Michigan's first Wildlife Artist of the Year. His painting placed second in the 1981 Michigan trout stamp contest.

Rod Lawrence has donated a limited edition print of his trout stamp painting, which won the 1981 trout stamp design contest.

The wildlife stamp prints are collector items.

David Mohrhart has donated several limited edition prints of his American Goldfinch and the Cardinal.

THERE WILL BE some of Johnnie Crosby's watercolors, one of John Rutherford's dog plates, a William Borden watercolor and watercolors by Scott Hartley and Roger Anderson.

Other well-known contributors are Caroline Dunphy, Ann Dase, Dietmar Krumrey, Audrey Paul, Erick Carne, Dee Schulte, Elizabeth Hull, James Hardy and David Maas.

Merchants also help defray the costs of the auction. This will increase the amount that will go to Special Olympics projects.

The artwork mural, made for the auction by the students at Webster School, will not be for sale.

Special olympics provide participant success through physical activities, Susan Gallas of Livonia said.

"Through positive experiences, mentally impaired persons gain confidence and an improved self-image that helps them in the home, classroom and the community," she said.

THE PROGRAM began in 1968 with a national meet for 1,000 children. It was sponsored by the Kennedy Foundation and the Chicago Park District.

Since then, special olympics has spread to every state, and many other countries. The 1,000 participants in 1968 has grown to more than 600,000 special olympians today.

Volunteers are recruited from all walks of life to coach, train, officiate and perform all the activities that such a volunteer organization requires.

Michigan special olympics began in 1969 at Kalamazoo College. Now, more than 20,000 participate in local, area and state competitions.

The special olympic games consist of competition in track and field, swimming, bowling, gymnastics, horseback riding, ice skating, floor hockey, basketball, volleyball, Frisbee, throwing and wrestling.

The international special olympics are held every four years, with 50 states and as many foreign countries competing.

Sex equity in athletics is topic at NOW meeting

Pat Bubel, physical education teacher at Northville High School, will be guest speaker at the April meeting of the Northwest Wayne County chapter of the National Organization for Women. Her topic will be sex equity in athletics.

The general membership meeting in Hoover Elementary School, Levan between Five and Six Mile roads in Livonia, will be at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday.

DAR members in Lansing for spring awards day

Members of the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter Daughters of the American Revolution attended Spring Awards Day meetings in East Lansing.

Mrs. Bruce Richard, regent, Mrs. Robert Willoughby and Mrs. Harry Deyo represented the local DAR chapter. Bruce Richard presented the historical program, "Highlights from the American Revolution - Stories Our Postage Stamps Tell," at the April 1 luncheon meeting.

April 21. Announcement of the slate of officers to be elected for the coming year will be made at the business meeting that precedes the program.

Bubel will focus her discussion on implementation of Title IX and the obstacles posed by the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA). A sex discrimination suit was filed recently against the MHSAA, the State Department of Education, and five local school districts. Complainants were the Michigan Education Association Women's Caucus, an Ann Arbor-based League of Parents, the Coalition for Non-Sexist Education and the National Organization for Women.

Bubel has been involved in girls sports since 1956. She has been a physical education teacher for 27 years and has coached women's sports. She is a charter member of the Girls' Athletic Association and serves as a member of the Advisory Board to the MHSAA.

Anyone may attend and participate in the NOW meeting.

Anyone needing more information or transportation may call Northwest Wayne NOW president, Janet Evans, 476-3352, or Betty Kelley, 981-6117.

will advance to a regional elimination, and the final national winner will be awarded a $1,000 annual scholarship at the 91st Continental Congress, April 20-24 in Washington, D.C.

Delegates to the state meeting participated in a tree-planting ceremony at the Wildlife Management Demonstration Area. Each DAR state society will plant a tree in 1982 honoring the 250th birthday anniversary of George Washington on a site near their state capitol building.

The state regent made the presentation of the tree to professor Glenn Dudderar and student representative of the Wildlife Club.

Representatives from 55 DAR State chapters received awards for their participation in state and national objectives.

● SENIORS EXCURSION

April 13-16 — A trip to Washington, D.C., and Williamsburg for four days and three nights is being prepared for senior citizens through the Canton Parks and Recreation Department. The trip costs $219 per person, based on double occupancy in motels. It includes tours of the White House, the Capitol building, Smithsonian museums and more. Openings for the trip still are available. For more information, call the recreation department at 397-1000, ext. 278.

● SAFE BOATING CLASS

April 20 — The Plymouth-Canton Community Education Department is offering an eight-hour course on safe boating, in cooperation with the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary. It is designed for 12-16-year-old students to earn a Safe Boating Certificate, which lets them operate a motorboat without adult supervision. Parents are welcome to monitor the class. The classes are 7:30-9:30 p.m. Tuesdays, beginning April 20, at Plymouth Cahton High School, Room 120. To register, call the community education office at 459-1180 before April 19. The course is free.

● STORY-TIME REGISTRATIONS

April 20-21 — The Plymouth Public

Library will hold preschool story time (3½-5-year olds) registration at 10 a.m. April 21. Toddler story time (2-3½-year-olds) registration takes place at 10 a.m. April 20. Both classes begin in late April. For more information on registration, call the library at 453-0750.

● BACKYARD POOL

The Plymouth Community Family YMCA, at 292 S. Main in Plymouth, will offer backyard swim class this summer on weekdays — both in the mornings and afternoons. The YMCA currently is looking for backyard pools for these classes. If you have a pool to offer, call the YMCA at 453-2904 for more information.

Back schools on discipline

To the editor:
When it comes to discipline, let's back the teachers and principals.

One of the biggest contributors to discipline problems at school is lack of parental support and involvement. The recent incident at Tanger School is a good example.

Twenty years ago, if we used abusive language or acted in the manner in which it has been reported the student at Tanger did, we would have received harsher treatment than just a slap on the face.

In addition, we would have been thoroughly — and we mean thoroughly — disciplined at home. Heaven help us if our parents found out!

Not having been there, it is difficult to judge who was right and who was wrong (although the parents admit their son used abusive language). If one is to find fault, one should look to the parents. It really doesn't matter when it took place — the point is, that it shouldn't be condoned at all.

Right or wrong, the principal and/or teachers should have the full support of all parents. The young lad's mother reportedly was passing out copies of newspaper articles at a bus stop and had even suggested the possibility of suing the principal. That's all we need is another frivolous lawsuit in court! How absurd.

We agree with Carol Theard and Harry Stansell, whose letters appeared in your April 5 edition. We think teachers and principals should have the right to use reasonable force to control unruly students, including those who use indecent language.

Swane doesn't have problems

To the editor:

I want the public to know that not only has Swane been taught discipline at home, he has been taught also to show respect.

We have not had any behavior problems with Swane in the past, nor do we now. Swane is a good student, who, just today, brought home a report card full of A's and B's.

The incident at Tangerhad Elementary School had nothing to do with abusive or disruptive or disrespectful behavior on Swane's part. There was no threat of safety to anyone, either. Therefore, there was no reason for (Tanger principal Carol) Nichols' unwarranted action.

The only time Swane "mouthed off" was AFTER he was slapped in the face (by Nichols). And at that time, he (Swane) did not swear, he called him a jerk.

Swane was unjustly slapped; and just as he learns respect and responsibility, he will also learn that his parents will fight for him when he has been treated unfairly and unjustly.

So you see, Carol Theard, you have jumped to all the wrong conclusions. Consider the reputation this Nichols has had for the last seven years. I'm, by far, not the first person to lodge a complaint against him. Ask about the complaints lodged against him while he was at Bird Elementary School. Ask about the other complaints lodged against him at Tanger. There have been several parents who have taken their children out of Tanger specifically because of Nichols.

Think about that . . . where there is smoke, there is usually fire.

And, I'm finding more and more parents who are coming forward with support and additional information on the whole situation.

I hope that this has put an end to all the confusion among the readers.

Rough schedule awaits experienced Chief batters

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Priorities seldom change for the Plymouth Canton baseball team.

"We'd like to win the league, of course," said Canton coach Fred Crissey, now in his ninth season. "And we'd like to win 20 games."

Those are lofty goals for most high-school programs. But for Canton, winning is a tradition. The Chiefs have been 160-48 under Crissey.

Canton is coming off one of its best seasons. They won league, district and regional crowns en route to a 28-3 mark a year ago.

Defending state champion Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher, which ousted the Chiefs in last year's Class A semifinals (4-3), is coming in Thursday for a double-header.

"We have to start from the beginning and take them one at a time," Crissey said. "You can't downgrade our experience. It's one of our strengths. They've played together three to four years."

Graduation claimed regulars Jeff Stemberger, a first baseman who hit .458; Keith Stone, centerfield, .371; Steve Schumacher, shortstop, .402; and Dave Malek, pitcher, 8-1.

A strong nucleus of 18 veterans, however, return.

SENIOR Dan Smith is the hub of the attack both offensively and defensively.

As a pitcher in 1981, Smith threw 98 innings, posted a .136 ERA and won 13 of 14 decisions (five wins in relief) en route to All-State recognition.

He can also swing the bat and will be used as a designated hitter. Last year he belted six homers and collected 21 RBIs.

Smith rested his arm last summer and is raring to go in 1982.

Meanwhile, Jamie Chilcoff, a lefty, and Todd Bergmann, a right-hander, combined for seven mound victories a year ago. Both hope to fill the gap left by Malek.

Mike Battaglia, the top pitcher on last year's junior varsity team, is hoping to gain a spot in the Canton rotation. Other hopefuls include Jack Ford, Tom Wennerberg, Dave Gerish and Marty McCarthy.

"We just can't do it with two pitchers," said Crissey. "But we're in better shape than we were at this time last year. I'm hoping a couple more will come through off that list."

CATCHING is in good hands with Bill Hanis, a .363 hitter as a junior, and senior back-up Mike Wall.

"Bill had a real good summer and good winter," said Crissey. "He's been working at it. Wall will catch, too, and play outfield."

Senior Fred Rumberger, a good glove man, moves from third to first base this season. The tall right-hander came through with several clutch hits in big games last year. McCarthy will serve as his back-up.

Canton coach takes 'wait-and-see' approach

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Max Sommerville is approaching the 1982 softball season cautiously.

The Canton coach has reason to be that way.

"Last year I was overly optimistic," he said. "This year we're a contender. I think we'll have a good team. We'll be in every game we'll play."

Sommerville was disappointed with last year's team which settled for second place in the Western Six League behind Waterford Mott.

The Chiefs were also favored to win their district but slipped to another league foe, Walled Lake Western, in the championship.

Two gaping holes must be filled.

Shortstop Joni Sommerville, the coach's daughter, graduated, leaving behind a record of 29 runs scored (best in the area). She was also an All-Observer and All-Western Six first-team choice.

Marianne Pink, a top-notch pitcher, also graduated after earning second-team All-Area laurels.

The Chiefs, however, have a load of experience. Five seniors return.

Pitching is one of their strengths.

SENIOR LEFTY Pearly Cunningham has been tabbed as the team's ace. Cindy Sovine, another senior veteran, is right behind.

Missy Aiken, a junior transfer from Stevensville-Lakeshore, and Jeanine Carpenter, also a junior, round out a formidable staff.

softball

"We have four good girls," said Sommerville. "Pearly throws a heavier ball and Jeanine is as fast as anybody."

Rena Edwards, a junior, will fill the vacant shortstop spot. Sue Gerke, a junior with a year's experience, becomes the other half of the double-play combination. Kelly Shulte is also a possibility at second.

Depending on who is pitching, Sovine and Cunningham will alternate at first base. Lou Ann Hamblin, a junior, is contesting, too.

Denise Wright has the inside track at third with Rhonder Stoner in reserve.

The outfield reads: Stoner or junior Kathy Young in left, senior Vicki Skeen in center, and either Aiken or Carpenter in right.

Handling the pitching staff is sophomore catcher Marie Krashovetz, a power hitter who started every game last season.

"Last summer we improved quite a bit," said Sommerville. "We tied for first (with a 10-1 record) in the Ann Arbor League.

"WITH THE experience and maturity we should be stronger offensively and defensively. We scored a lot of runs in the summer. Hopefully we can do it again this year."

The Chiefs will be playing at a new field this season, located directly behind the high school. The first home game is Wednesday, April 21, against Livonia Franklin. The season opener is Tuesday, April 20, at Livonia Bentley.

"We'll be hosting the districts this year," said Sommerville. "We'll have the benches down in time for our first game."

The new field should be a paradise for hitters. The fences are approximately 190 feet down each line, making the park inviting for home runs.

PLYMOUTH CANTON'S 1982 Softball schedule

Braun unsure about lineup

Rock netters seek stability

By Jay Keenan
special writer

Judy Braun can sympathize with major-league baseball managers during spring training.

The first-year Plymouth Salem boys' tennis coach suffers headaches in the early stages of the season.

A few injuries and winter-like weather is making it difficult for her to put an established lineup together.

"What I've got looks good," said Braun, who succeeded Tom Williams and his two-year stint. "Injuries and the problem we're having with the weather is making it hard for this team to play matches with one another so that we can see where everybody fits in."

To make the situation seem worse, the Rocks lost No. 1 singles standout Scott Crespo to graduation. Crespo was the team's most valuable player a year ago.

But Braun has a good nucleus returning.

Seniors Dave Goodsir, Jeff Howell and Jack Thomas all saw considerable action last season and will serve as the Rocks' tri-captains for 1982.

OTHER RETURNEES with varsity experience include Jeff Fortin, Mark Pursell, Paul Weber, Charlie Ploughman, Jon Wimmer and Rob Rowland.

Howell and Fortin, however, will likely miss the first two weeks of the season because of injuries. Howell has a broken hand. Fortin is recovering from a broken foot.

Also contesting for starting spots are Jeff Armstrong, Jeff Bar, Jim Belanger, Greg Grytza, John Stylianou and Kevin Hewitt.

The Rocks' lone newcomer is Peter Iverson, a foreign exchange student from Denmark.

"The key to a good season is getting the lineup in order so we can put our strengths in the right places," said Braun, who took the job only a few days before the first practice. "As far as tennis goes, it has to be team-oriented and not self-oriented."

Braun, who also coaches the girls' team, said she is not going to guarantee anyone a starting position.

"I don't think I can go on last year's record alone," Braun continued.

Salem finished third in last year's Suburban Eight League with a 6-4 mark. The Rocks were 8-4 overall.

The league meet was never held because of rainouts and conflicts with the state tournament. League leaders Dearborn and Trenton, competing in the state finals, were unable to agree on a make-up date with the rest of the league members.

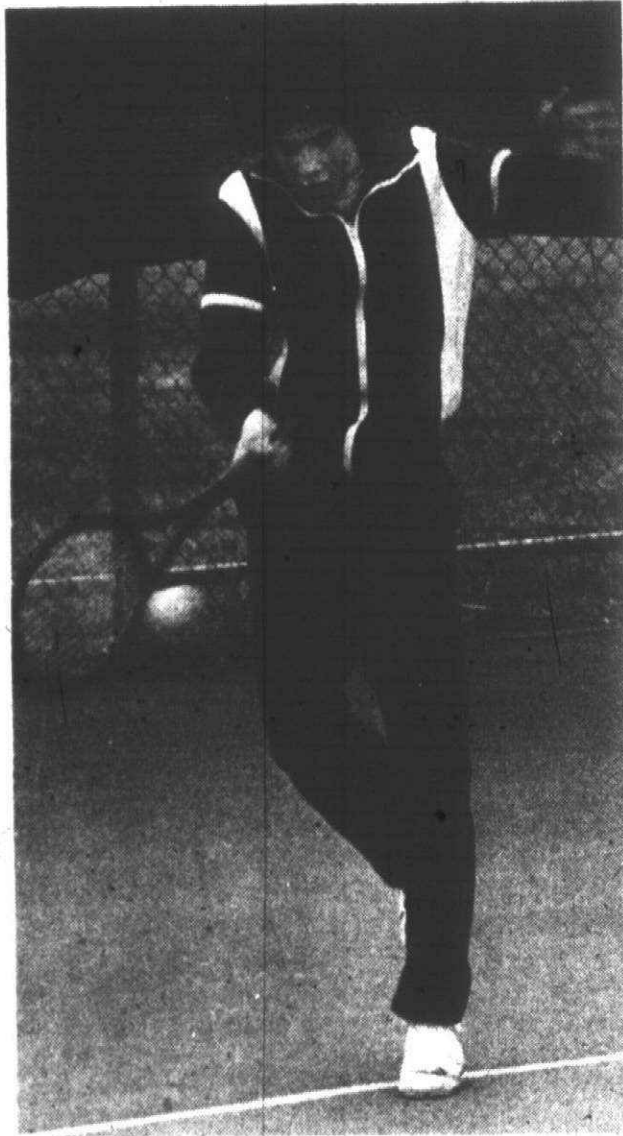

"IT'S REALLY difficult for me to make any kind of judgment about our chances in the league this year," explained Braun, "because I haven't seen any of the other teams in action. But, the boys are pretty optimistic."

The Salem mentor also said that she is pleased with the team's conditioning.

"If they stick to it, they'll be in good shape," she said.

Wednesday's scheduled opener with Trenton was postponed because of snow. The match has not yet been rescheduled.

EMU hosts basketball camps

Jim Boyce, head basketball coach at Eastern Michigan University, is conducting two instructional camps this summer at Bowen Fieldhouse.

He will hold two sessions of the Jim Boyce Basketball Camp June 27 through July 2 and July 4-9. The camp is open to boys 9 years through high school (graduated seniors are not eligible).

A day camp option is available which runs from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Monday-Friday). The tuition $145 for each camp session and $75 for the day camp. The camp tuition includes a T-shirt and three meals daily (lunch only for day campers). A $40 deposit is required upon registration. Group medical coverage will also be provided.

The daily routine includes instruction on fundamentals, game competition, guest lectures, movies and recreational activities (swimming and tennis).

BOYCE and St. Cecilia's Sam Washington will co-direct the "Top 150 Players in Michigan" Basketball Camp June 20-25. The camp is open to high-school youngsters entering grades 10-12.

Tuition is $155.

The Tom Rucker-Tommie Wood Referee Camp will also be held in conjunction with the Top 150 Players in Michigan Camp.

For more information about the camps, call 487-1825.

● HOCKEY REGISTRATION

The Plymouth Canton Hockey Association is conducting an early registration for the 1982-83 season from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, April 24, at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street.

The cost is $35 per child. A birth certificate is required upon registration. For more information, call Nora Cathey at 455-4417.

Injuries plague netters

The postponement may have been a blessing in disguise.

The storm gives Braun extra time to evaluate her team. Several players travelled south a few days before the Easter vacation and will be back for practice. Howell and Fortin now have more time to heal their injuries.

PLYMOUTH SALEM'S 1982 Tennis schedule

APRIL — 20, Dearborn Edsel Ford, 23, at Dearborn; 27, Livonia Bentley, 30, at Allen Park. MAY — 3, Livonia Franklin (3:30 p.m.); 7, at Trenton; 11, at Dearborn Edsel Ford; 13, Dearborn; 18, at Livonia Bentley; 20, Allen Park; 21-22, Class A regional at Ann Arbor Huron (time to be announced); 26, Suburban Eight League meet (site and time to be determined); 28-29, Class A state finals at the Midland Community Center (time to be announced) time. All matches start at 4 p.m. unless otherwise noted.

Westland bantams gain puck crown

The Westland Bantam A boys' hockey team (13-14 year olds) emerged from the state competition at the end of March with the ultimate achievement — a championship.

The Westland team won its state tournament opener March 25 against Plymouth by a 4-3 margin. That advanced them to the final four games, all played Saturday and Sunday, March 27-28, at Ecorse Arena.

Flint and host-team Ecorse were Westland's first victims on Saturday. Westland toppled Flint first by a 6-3 score, then blanked Ecorse, 5-0.

THE PAIR of wins pushed Westland into the semifinals Sunday morning against Fraser. Again the team emerged the winner with a hard-fought, 3-2 victory.

The finals pitted Westland against Woodhaven. The two teams had met just once before, in the championship game of Woodhaven's Pre-Season Tournament. Westland won that contest in overtime, 5-4.

It wasn't easy this time for Westland either, but the squad came through with its second straight win over Woodhaven in a championship game, 3-1 Sunday night to capture the state title.

Westland, sponsored by Benny's Pizza Restaurant of Westland, concluded the season as the highest scoring Bantam A team in the Adray Community Hockey League.

Through the direction of coaches Ed Rugg, Ernie Kelm and Joe Burton and manager Roger Bisshop, forwards Phil Aho, Brad Bisshop, Joe Burton, Robin Kelm, Stash Pientack, Don Rugg, Marc Sinelli, Gordie Splatt and Bobby Swope pounded pucks into their opponents' nets.

THE DEFENSIVE responsibility fell to goalies Paul Perry and Gary Vann and defencemen Scott Carter, Chris Kaske, Brian McKay and David Proutz.

Although Westland won the state title, it was a pair of losses to Sterling Heights that eliminated it from the Adray League playoffs. Sterling Heights, which went on to take the league title, beat Westland in the semifinals.

Westland also finished second in the Garden City Bantam AA Postseason Tournament, playing against mostly older competition.

Westland started its state title run by winning the District One championship at the Westland Multi-Purpose Arena. The team beat Detroit PAL, 1-0, Wayne, 9-4, and Wayne again in the Feb. 13 title game, 7-3.

Canton seniors (from left) Jeff Cousino, Scott Bricker, Steve Johnson (top), Brian Cheesman (kneeling), Darren Weise and Fred Rumberger are planning an offensive show this year.

Canton baseball club reaches for top again

Scott Bricker, recovering from a serious wrist injury suffered in an automobile accident during the off-season, returns at second base. He was the team's offensive catalyst a year ago, hitting 400 on 32 hits in 80 at-bats. Brian Cheesman, also a senior, is ready in reserve.

Darren Weise, a senior transfer from Belleville, and Don Dombey, a junior, are battling for the shortstop spot vacated by Schumacher.

Junior Mike Scarpello takes over for Rumberger at third with Scott Cowan, another junior, coming off the bench.

Wall, Chilcoff and Wennerberg will also get a look.

"We're a little dissatisfied because of the weather," said Crissey. "We're trying to be ready for our opening game."

"I told them that this is a new year even though we have a lot of returning seniors. Talk is cheap. You've got to get it done between the white lines."

THE CANTON coach is well aware that teams will be shooting at the Chiefs this year.

"The big thing is that our kids remember that 1979 team," he said. "That was a team much more capable than a 19-7 record."

"The kids have the right ideas and know what is coming. We have to know what we can do within limitations."

"With our pitching, the kids know they have to play defense. Every one has to pick up the slack where it has to be. The seniors have to be an influence on the others."

The schedule is brutal with the likes of state contenders Gallagher, Fraser, Royal Oak Dondoro and Flint Southwestern, not to mention double-header dates with Salem and Wayne Memorial.

"We improved our schedule," said the Canton coach. "Six teams we'll face finished in the top 10 last year."

PLYMOUTH CANTON'S 1982 Baseball schedule

APRIL — 12, at Flint Southwestern. DH (noon); 15, Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher. DH (noon); 17, Wayne Memorial. DH (noon); 26, Walled Lake Western. 28, at Walled Lake Central.

MAY — 1, Fraser. DH (noon); 3, Northville. 5, Livonia Churchill. 8, Plymouth Salem. DH (noon); 10, at Farmington Harrison. 12, at Walled Lake Western. 14, Walled Lake Central. 15, at Midland Tournament (time to be announced); 17, at Northville. 19, at Livonia Churchill. 22, at South Bend (Ind.) Clay. DH (noon); 24, Farmington Harrison.

JUNE — 5, Class A district at Plymouth Salem (10 a.m. and noon); 12, Class A regional at Wyandotte (10 a.m. and 2 p.m.); 15, Class A semifinals (sites and times to be announced); 19, State final at Mt. Pleasant (5:30 p.m.). All games start at 4 p.m. unless otherwise noted. DH denotes double-header.

Londeau sets pace at Super Bowl

Steve Londeau of Canton, carrying a 195 average in the Tuesday men's league at Super Bowl, earned a place among a select group bowlers that has registered an 800 series during the current season.

Taking his place last week, Londeau linked games of 280, 300 and 236 for an 816. It was the 10th 800 series rolled in the metropolitan area this season.

Along the way he hit the pocket for 23 strikes in a row, earning two American Bowling Congress (ABC) awards — one for the 800 series and the other for the perfect game.

The highest series for in the pocket by W.W. Edgar the metropolitan area is an 856 rolled by William Wild at Eastland Bowl.

SCORING REACHED its highest peak of season in the Wonderland Classic when the 20-team league (100 men) averaged 206.

There were 59 member bowlers who broke 600 and 17 more who registered 650, including six who broke the 700 barrier.

The barrier breakers were: Dennis Uniatiowski

(278, 248, 256 for 781), Wes LaPalme (256, 225, 278 for 759), Dean Shiffman (257, 264, 223 for 744), Jerry Bingham (259, 238, 266 for 713), John Antaluk (256, 290, 196 for 712), and Marv Holly (243, 203, 258 for 705).

Aside from these peak scores, Tom Dow earned an ABC award with a 299 game. A stubborn 10 pin that wouldn't drop kept Dow from a perfect game.

Lanes there were 37 games over 200 in the Monday men's league. Joe Galvan showed the way with a 661.

Howard Lawrence had a 681 with a 254 opener in the Vinco League at Garden Lanes. Meanwhile, Mae Lackey paced the ladies classic with 627. Kevin Reetz, a 17-year-old from Livonia Stevenson High School, fired a 700 series at Cherry Hill Lanes with counts of 241, 231 and 228.

THE TRI-CITY Men's Association has completed plans for its annual tournament at Super Bowl, which gets underway Sunday, April 25. It is a handicap event with a $2,000 first prize.

the movies

Louise Snider

'Victor/Victoria' mixes the sexes with broad humor

Homosexuality has not only emerged from the closet but from the film can. It suddenly has become a popular subject for movies. While some directors have treated it (or attempted to treat it) seriously, as in "Making Love" and "Personal Best," Blake Edwards has taken the opposite approach with "Victor/Victoria." (PG). The result is that he conveys more with his comic invention than others do with their dramatic conflicts.

Edwards wrote, directed and co-produced the movie. His previous effort was "S.O.B.," a black comedy on the hazard of being a Hollywood director. Box office receipts suggest that audiences didn't take to the biting sarcasm and inside jokes.

No one, however, will miss the jokes in "Victor/Victoria." The humor is broad and includes enough slapstick to launch a Pink Panther film (and Edwards has launched many).

"VICTOR/VICTORIA" takes place in Paris during the 1930s. Julie Andrews plays Victoria, a classically trained singer who is down on her luck, like most everyone else in the '30s. She meets Toddy (Robert Reston), a homosexual entertainer who also is unemployed, and he devises a plan to make her a show-biz sensation.

Before you can say "voila," she becomes Victor, a female impersonator. Victor is a sensation. He wows audiences with his oh-so-believable female impersonation. And what a voice! He shatters glass as he hits E-flat.

It's the big time and big bucks for Victor and Toddy, but there are complications, such as a very restricted social life. A major complication is a visiting American nightclub owner, King Marchan (James Garner). He comes to the opening of Victoria's nightclub act and falls for her (unaware that the act is supposedly that of a female impersonator), only to discover at the end of the act that Victoria is (supposedly) Victor.

Victoria also falls for him. But what's a girl to do when, in order to keep eating, she has to keep pretending she is a boy so she can keep pretending to impersonate a girl?

That should give you some idea of the kind of jokes that abound in this movie. It doesn't, however, tell all. Such as how good Robert Preston is as Toddy or how good the supporting cast is generally.

GRAHAM STARK as a droll waiter accounts for the funniest episode in the movie. It's a restaurant scene in which Victoria, when she was unemployed, decides to treat herself to a big meal and then pull the "There's a cockroach in my salad" routine to avoid paying the bill. The waiter is on the losing side of this encounter, as he is elsewhere in the film.

Alex Karras is another actor in a supporting role — he plays Marchan's bodyguard "Squash" — who contributes a lot with a subdued performance. It is a welcome, low-key contrast to Norma, the platinum blonde floozie played by Lesley Ann Warren.

Warren seems to have drawn her character from Judy Holliday with a little of Marilyn Monroe thrown in for good measure. In this case, the whole is decidedly less than the sum of its parts. Warren works too hard at being funny and ends up being loud and abrasive.

James Garner doesn't fare much better in his role. He just sits around with a perpetual raised eyebrow and quizzical expression. There is more chemistry between Andrews and Preston than between her and Garner.

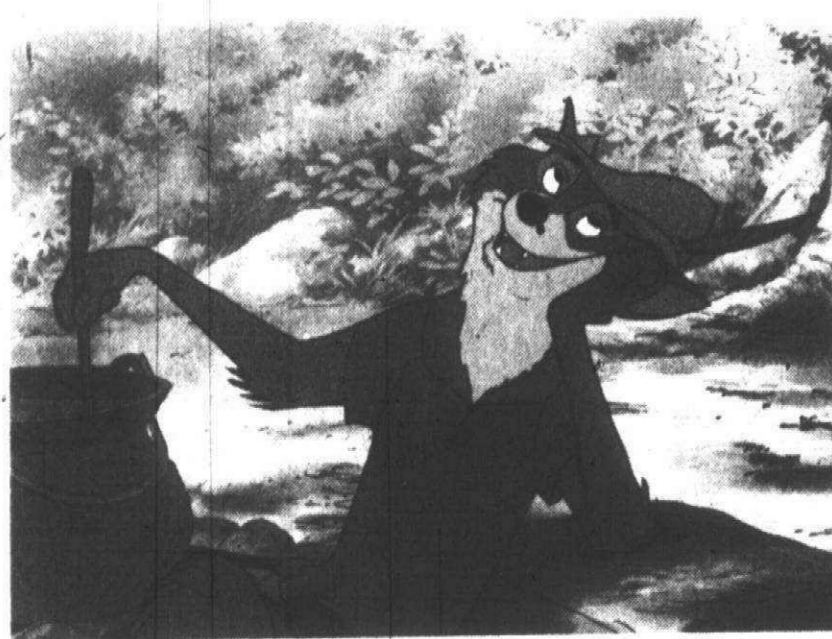

The musical numbers are lavish, but one or two could have been cut without loss. And, it must be said, Julie Andrews didn't master the nuances, in fact, the basics, of a triple characterization.

But she looks so good, both as Victor and Victoria. Her singing is bright and crisp, the movie is filled with pert observations about sexual identity, and it is all done with a lot of wit and warmth.

Animated classics

Favorite Walt Disney films return to Detroit-area theaters for the Easter season. Mickey Mouse reaches for the stars as the Sorcerer's Apprentice in "Fantasia." Irwin Kostal conducted the new sound track, based on the original by Leopold Stokowski. (Below) Robin Hood stirs up a daydream in "Robin Hood," which uses the voices of Peter Ustinov, Phil Harris, Brian Bedford, Terry-Thomas, Andy Devine, Pat Buttram and others.

what's at the movies

CHARIOTS OF FIRE (PG). True compelling story of two runners. One runs for the glory of God, the other to battle bigotry. Outstanding and elevating movie.

DEATHTRAP (PG). The film version of Ira Levin's comedy suspense thriller starring Michael Caine, Christopher Reeve and Dyan Cannon.

FANTASIA (G). Disney masterpiece of sight and sound, now re-recorded in state-of-the-art digital Dolby stereo (G).

HOUSE OF WAX (PG). Classic 3-D horror-movie of all time is re-released. Starring Vincent Price, Frank Jovejoy, Phyllis Kirk and Charles Bronson.

I OUGHT TO BE IN PICTURES (PG). Spirited 19-year-old daughter of once-successful Hollywood writer walks in on father she hasn't seen in 16 years. Neil Simon's newest comedy stars Walter Matthau, Ann-Margret and Dinah Manoff.

MONTENEGRO. Film of a woman's desire and need to escape, starring Susan Anspach and Svetozar Cvetkovic as Montenegro.

ON GOLDEN POND (PG). Beautiful, sensitive and humorous film about an older couple's 48th summer at the cottage as they reflect on their lives and relationships. With Katharine Hepburn and Henry Fonda.

MERRICK'S RESTAURANT

Chateaubriand is not a fine wine.

It's an extraordinary entree served for two. A center cut of beef tenderloin amid a bouquetiere of vegetables. Sauce Bernaise. Carved at your table. But like vintage wine, Chateaubriand is at its best when shared.

Dining Out With THE AMERICAN EXPRESS CARD

There's Something Fishy At J. Ross Browne's

A collection of imaginative house specialties has been created by the chefs at the three outstanding J. Ross Browne's seafood restaurants in the Detroit area. Those who normally take their seafood plain can look forward to a big treat with these unusual specialties. As an example, seabass fans will delight at The San Franciscan, a pure white fillet of mild seabass which is coated with sesame seeds and breadcrumbs prior to being sautéed to a delicate brown. It is then flambéed with a hint of dark Puerto Rican rum. There is also a Chablis Baked Seabass which is covered with celery, onions, tomatoes, bell peppers and bread crumbs, then baked in Chablis wine and baked to perfection. The Brandied Lobster Stir Fry is a colorful array of tender lobster chunks, whole macadamia nuts, carrots, mushrooms and bell peppers, quickly stir fried and flambéed with brandy. One of the most popular items on the menu is the Gourmet Stuffed Shrimp. Order this delight of gourmet-size shrimp filled with a crabmeat and sautéed mushroom stuffing. For a finishing touch, they are covered with Monterey Jack cheese and baked to a bubbly brown. For the diner who can't choose between all of the taste-tempting seafood selections, the chef has created a Bountiful Seafood Platter For Two. You can feast on a hearty sampling of Alaskan King Crab, Lobster Tail, Sautéed Sole Almondine and Deep Fried Shrimp. Located in Bloomfield Hills, Southfield, Okemos and Warren, J. Ross Browne's restaurants serve dinner nightly. For reservations or information, call the location nearest you.

Steak Market A Big Success At Mountain Jacks

At Mountain Jacks, there are 15 outstanding cuts of steak from which to choose. Each steak is corn-fed beef, aged to peak flavor and richly marbled for juicy tenderness. All are available in the Light Appetite Cut, the Full Cut, or for those who are really hungry for a big, thick, juicy steak, the House Cut.

Included among this impressive array of superb steaks are a Delmonico, the tasty rib-eye which is the favorite choice for robust beef flavor; a Top Sirloin, selected especially for those who enjoy fine beef; a Marinated Top Sirloin, marinated in a flavorful blend of ingredients; the top-of-the-line gourmet prize, Filet Mignon; and the traditional steak lovers favorite, New York Strip Steak.

Beef enthusiasts also will not want to overlook the magnificent Prime Rib served at Mountain Jacks. It is so carefully selected and prepared that the restaurants stake their reputation on every slice served. The Prime Rib is available in a petite, standard or full cut.

In the greater Detroit area, Mountain Jacks restaurants are located in Troy, Warren, Ann Arbor, Farmington Hills, Lansing and Dearborn Heights. Call the restaurant nearest you for further information or reservations.

Food And Fun Served At Carlos Murphy's

SOUTHFIELD... Carlos Murphy's Irish-Mexican Cafe, 29244 Northwestern Highway, is a successful combination of Blarney and Bull.

The Murphy's concept is Good Food, Good Drinks and Good Times—all of which this zany restaurant/drinking establishment provides. The food and drinks represent imagination and creativity as only an Irish-Mexican leprechaun could concoct. A lively bar caters to hundreds of happy revelers every night of the week.

A blending of traditional Irish fare, flavorful Mexican dishes and good old American favorites makes for an exciting and diverse menu. Likewise with the libations, which include such specialties as the Blarney Stoned, Green-Go, Irish Laced, Baja Sunshine, Acapulco Gold-rush and Siesta Sangria. "Don't drink the water, and we won't water your drinks" is the Carlos Murphy motto.

The restaurant, decorated with artifacts of every size and description, incorporates different levels and extensive open space to create an atmosphere where every guest can participate in the fun. As a result, Carlos Murphy's has become known as the Southfield place to mix and mingle.

In addition to a selection of Mexican, Irish and Hickory smoked dinner items, an extensive appetizer menu features both traditional American favorites and a sampling of Mexican offerings.

Carlos Murphy's is open daily from 11:00 a.m. until 2:00 a.m. Sunday brunch is served from 11:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m.
