Plan pushes funding shift for schools

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

A push is under way to shift financing of school operating costs away from residential property taxes.

Supporters of a proposal to amend the Michigan Constitution will attend tomorrow's Canton Township Board meeting to explain its various points.

Backers of the plan — spearheaded by the Michigan Townships Association (MTA) — are circulating petitions, and hope to garner the support of Canton officials. Proponents hope to obtain 450,000 signatures by July 1, so the proposal can be on the November ballot.

"I had a hand in helping to draft (the proposal)," said state Rep. Roy Smith, R-Saline, whose district includes Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

"It's to remove a major portion of the school operating expenses from residential homesteads and farms (taxes)."

In general, school operating expenses take the biggest bite of property taxes. The portion is 65.5 percent for residents served by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Homestead taxes have risen sharply in the last couple of years because of state-mandated changes in the way taxes are computed. The result has been a great outcry for tax relief.

ACCORDING TO an analysis, the proposed amendment would "permit the legislature to pursue equal and quality educational programs for all students," without diminishing local control of school districts.

Points of the amendment are as follows:

- The amendment would exempt resident homesteads and resident farms from 75 percent of school operating taxes. The maximum exemption would be $1,800 for homes and $2,500 on farms for 1983.
- Persons 62 years or older would receive 100 percent exemption of school operating taxes on their homesteads.
- Agricultural and forestry lands would be assessed on use.
- Exemption capping (circuit breakers) could be indexed on residential and agricultural growth annually.
- A one-cent increase in state sales tax would be earmarked for public elementary and secondary school districts.
- Each school district would be reimbursed 100 percent for any loss due to the exemptions.
- Businesses and industries would not be required to replace any revenue loss through high tax rates.

SUPPORTERS SAY the plan would

Schools to discuss loan, bus purchase

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education will be asked tonight to seek a loan of almost $17 million to meet expenses until tax revenues arrive.

The tax anticipation note is expected to cost the district from 14 to 18 percent interest, more than $2.3 million.

The effect, according to Superintendent John M. Hoben, will be to throw the budget out of balance by another $1 million, since the administration had budgeted for interest expenses of about $1.3 million.

At the same meeting the board will discuss whether to spend $87,000 for new buses to transport students in wheelchairs.

Hoben is recommending against the purchase of the buses, which are being requested by the transportation department.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in board offices upstairs of the administration center at 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

THE SUPERINTENDENT notes that the possibility of paying out $1 million more in interest will substantially eat into the amount of income the district expects to earn in interest from deposited funds during the coming year.

Currently the district is earning about $19,240 in interest on long-term investments of $1.2 million and earning about $1,250 in interest on short-term investments of $1 million. The long-term investments represent funds invested for an average of 38 days.

The district has earned from 14 to 18 percent on long-term investments and from 12.5 to 18 percent on short-term.

The $16.8 million the district will be borrowing must be paid in April 1983. Last year, the district borrowed $14.5 million at 11.875 percent for a total interest cost of almost $1.3 million.

The reason for the borrowing, says Hoben, is that the school district does not receive any property tax income until the end of December each year but must pay day-to-day expenses before those funds come in.

Property tax revenues represent about 80 percent of the district's total operating funds, adds Hoben.

The district presently is engaged in discussions about about twice-a-year school tax collections to cut down on its interest expense.

Canton officials have appointed a study committee in cooperation with the school district to look at the pros and cons of the issue.

DALE GOBY, director of transportation, wants to purchase three 36-passenger buses and one wheelchair bus for $87,852.

The district has four vans no longer fit for regular service, says Goby.

Police find 'garden' in Canton basement

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

A funny thing happened to police trying to settle a domestic spat on Roundtable Drive East.

They found a "garden" of marijuana plants — complete with special lights and an irrigation system — in the basement of the home.

Officer Davey LeBlanc describes the chain of events as follows:

About 8:40 a.m. Friday, police received a call from Kenneth McMillan, 26, complaining that his home was being damaged during a fight with his wife Patsy, 27.

OFFICER RICHARD Pomorski arrived at the house and found glass broken in the front door, as well as other minor damage.

Mrs. McMillan told Pomorski there were "numerous" marijuana plants in the basement and took him downstairs to see.

"There was a garden," said LeBlanc. "There were 36 plants in pots. They were varying sizes."

LeBlanc said the basement contained special lighting devices to simulate sunlight, irrigation hoses going into the pots, and a drum containing water and a pump, LeBlanc said.

Kenneth McMillan was arrested and issued a violation on a misdemeanor charge, possession of marijuana. He posted $200 bond and was released.

Arraignment in district court will be May 12.

Police said a harvest would yield about 10 pounds of marijuana, and projected the total value at about $4,000.

The plants and equipment were impounded.

MOUTH BREATHING PROBLEMS
QUESTION: One of my children has developed the habit of breathing through his mouth. It's making his lips get out of shape and I'm wondering if this is affecting his teeth, too?
ANSWER: Kids who breathe through the mouth rather than through the nose may be heading for orthodontic problems. Mouthbreathing can make a lot of things go wrong. For one thing, it can distort the lips. The upper lip becomes slack, losing its natural shape. The lower lip becomes dry because of the constant flow of air in and out of the child's mouth. This can make them swell up. Mouthbreathing can also put the upper teeth in malposition, cause buck teeth, or make the teeth uneven throughout the mouth. Whatever is causing your child to breathe through the mouth, he'll need a dentist's help to correct any damage to teeth and mouth.

The Wayne County 2nd District Democratic Organization gave voters the first glimpse of contenders for county executive Wednesday night in the auditorium of Livonia's Bentley High School. County exec candidates gang up on sheriff

By Tim Richard
staff writer

If William Lucas had shown up at a county executive candidates' night, he would have found it was two against one.

Lucas, Wayne County sheriff since 1969, has filed to run for the Democratic nomination for the new post of county executive under Michigan's first county home-rule charter.

So have Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara and county economic development director Robert FitzPatrick. And as far as they were concerned, Lucas is part of Wayne County's problem, not the solution.

The Wayne-2nd District Democratic organization sponsored the candidates' night Wednesday in Livonia's Bentley High auditorium. McNamara and FitzPatrick were there in person. Lucas sent a stand-in, Brownstown Township Supervisor W. Curt Boller, although the party had earlier said only candidates themselves could speak.

Also missing were state Sen. John Hertel, who was held in Lansing on the income tax issue, and Detroit Councilman Mel Ravitz, who had a prior commitment. Had they been present, Hertel and Ravitz, too, would have ganged up on the sheriff and made it four against one.

BOLLER PORTRAYED Lucas as a man who inherited a department hit by "rumors, accusations and ticket-fixing." He said Lucas's style is "not to move in one, ax-cutting motion" but to make changes over time.

He said Lucas runs a "people-oriented service organization" so well that President Jimmy Carter had considered him for the directorship of the FBI.

Boller's Brownstown was one of a few rural western townships to receive the benefit of the sheriff's road patrol, paid for out of the county general fund. For years the County Board of Commissioners had tried to reduce its budget.

Last year, after a prolonged court battle, the board finally succeeded in laying off one-third of the sheriff's road patrol as the county sought to balance its budget. Lucas was brought to his knees politically.

Yet the sheriff is the only major black official in Wayne County government and is a hero in many townships.

McNAMARA FIRED first, saying "the sheriff's department overran its budget $5 million last year" in overtime costs.

He said Wayne will be "the largest county in the U.S. with a county executive. . .and, without doubt, the biggest mess."

"The sheriff ran a road patrol in sparsely settled townships. We in Livonia, Redford Township and Detroit, with our own departments, were subsidizing this," McNamara said.

FitzPatrick, a former county board chairman, added, "I don't think he is a good administrator. He is honorable. He is a good police officer. He is not a good administrator."

Boller replied that "of four divisions, only the jail was on overtime." He said Lucas had based budget requests on prior years' budgets but was cut by the Board of Commissioners. "The sheriff has a jail to run," he said.

Fitzpatrick was waiting for that: "I never met a deputy who wanted to work the jail. We should get correctional guards, not high-priced police officers, to run the jail."

FitzPatrick said the sheriff's budget had soared from $4.5 million in 1972 to $20 million plus $6 million in overtime by 1980 — all when county population was static.

IN SUMMARY remarks, Boller described Lucas as "a man who has been working in county government and who has been at odds with county government.

"He sees the need to trim costs and create jobs. He sees the need for human services, outreach and protection of senior citizens," Boller said.

McNamara said that in his 13 years as mayor, Livonia had never had a deficit, had the lowest property-tax millage for a city, and had the smallest number of employees per 1,000 population of any municipality in the county.

"I'm a proven administrator. I can make the charter work," McNamara said.

Said FitzPatrick: "Most of my adult life has been as an executive. I was a voice in the wilderness in 1971 when I called for reorganization and a county executive. I was chastized by my own party," he said.

FitzPatrick recalled a public hearing in that era which was "packed" by regional director Bard Young's UAW members to hoot down the idea of Wayne County's adopting a county executive plan under the Unified County Government Act.

THE ROAD Commission was also a popular target. Candidates were asked what they would do about the nearly autonomous body and the union of 73 management officials, a union critics say was organized to protect their jobs and frustrate charter reform.

"there's polarization"

County jobs slashed, says Stearnes

Harry Stearnes, who is seeking the Republican nomination for Wayne County executive, says Democratic front-runner Edward H. McNamara, mayor of Livonia, lacks "a firm handle on reality in his promises of fiscal reform through despoilation of county employee positions."

Stearnes, Plymouth resident and a county public information officer, said in a statement that "whether McNamara knows it or not, the Board of County Auditors have (sic) been parsimonious in filling requisitions for personnel — mindful only of the dire need of certain departments such as the hospital, Youth Home and the jail. To issue a position paper ordering the county commissioners to freeze jobs is asinine, to say the least."

Stearnes added that county employment has already been slashed from a peak of 9,000 to a little more than 4,000.

Ravitz: Opponents 'polarized'

"I've had a change of heart," said Detroit Councilman Mel Ravitz. "I said last year I wouldn't seek a different office (before his four-year term was up).

"I've looked at the cast of characters. There's a sharp division among the candidates — polarization."

Ravitz journeyed to the Observer Newspapers office last week to confirm he is indeed considering running for Wayne County executive on the Democratic ticket. The Wayne State University sociologist had another commitment and was unable to attend the Democratic candidates' night.

His strategy goes like this:

- In Detroit's eastern suburbs, he can run second in the Aug. 3 primary behind state Sen. John Hertel of Harper Woods.
- In Detroit, which is two-thirds black, he can run second behind Sheriff William Lucas.
- In the western suburbs, he can run second behind Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara. "There are many former Detroiters in the suburbs who didn't move out because of me," he said.
- Robert FitzPatrick he counts out because "he doesn't seem to have much constituency."

"I don't know anyone else who can possibly win support from both the city and suburbs," said Ravitz. "That statement may seem immodest, but it's accurate."

RAVITZ, KNOWN as a liberal, served on the Detroit council in the '60s and early '70s. In the 1973 mayoral primary, he ran third (behind Coleman Young and John Nichols) and retired from politics for eight years, serving as director of the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board, which coordinates 43 service-provider agencies.

Ravitz would take a deliberately non-threatening posture if elected. "I would make it clear to municipal leaders I'm the county executive of Wayne County government, not county executive of all of Wayne County," he said.

How will he get along with Mayor Young? "That depends on him," answered Ravitz. "My view will be cordial, cooperative," he said, pointing out that Young had appointed six members of the mental health board which employed him.

Fire damages house

The Canton fire department is investigating the cause of a blaze which caused $30,000 damage to a house on Walnut Ridge Circle Thursday.

The fire was spotted by a neighbor, who saw smoke coming from the colonial-style house, said Fire Chief Mel Paulun. The residents were away at the time, about 11 a.m.

"It's under investigation," said Paulun. "It was possibly wiring."

An initial check indicates the fire may have worked its way up from the basement, through the center of the kitchen floor, said Paulun.

Firefighters were at the scene about 90 minutes.

IN AN unrelated incident the same day, a fire department mini-pumper unit collided with a pickup truck on Lilley Road one-half mile south of Joy.

The fire vehicle was on its way to extinguish a grass fire near the Plymouth Christian Academy on Joy at about 6 p.m.

According to the report, Robert Allenbaugh, of Joy, Canton, pulled his pickup truck to the side of the roadway to allow two other fire vehicles to pass. He then pulled out, colliding with the mini-pump.

Fire Lt. Billy Grady, firefighter Thomas Battistone, and Allenbaugh all were taken to Oakwood Hospital Canton Center, where they were treated for minor injuries and released, said Paulun.

Allenbaugh was ticketed for failure to yield to an emergency vehicle, said Paulun.

Board to discuss bus purchase which be used for spares. The four have mileage ranging from 95,000 to 133,000.

Four vans now used as spares, with mileage ranging from 88,400 to 99,750, will then be retired. The four vans to be used as spares are all 1975 while those retired are two 1973s and two '74s.

Hoben is recommending against the purchase as he believes the funds could be better spent for textbooks and other instructional purposes.

The buses are in bad shape, however, and so the superintendent would like the board to discuss the proposed purchase.

Hank Rupert bids farewell

Rupert, who says he's 65 years old "and holding," recalls the 1974-75 sports year as the most memorable for him, because of the Rocks' successes.

"I'd go into the locker room before the (football) season (in 1974), and I'd see these little kids and I didn't think they were going to win a game," Rupert says.

"I used to razz them (in a fun way) all the time, and they got me — they won every game that year."

Rupert's popularity with students and athletes also led to the annual "Hank Rupert Golf Classic," a friendly, local golf tournament, hosted by Rupert, which was held for six straight years. Students, athletes, teachers and special guests participated in this event.

ANY BAD memories? Well, Rupert wasn't a fan of modular scheduling — an innovative scheduling method which was used at the CEP.

"Modular scheduling was the biggest tragedy ever to hit the high schools because there was no discipline, because kids never were in class to get the job done," Rupert says. "I thought that was one of the worst things that ever happened."

Discipline now has never been better at the CEP, according to Rupert.

He's going to miss all his friends.

"I also enjoyed my good relations with all the wonderful people at Salem — principal Bill Brown, the teachers, secretaries, aides and, of course, the custodial-maintenance staff who did a great job in keeping Salem clean and well maintained," Rupert says.

Retirement plans will find Rupert spending his summer months in Enon Valley, Pa., as the chairman of buildings and grounds at a recreational center. He will be in Florida most of the winter months. He will continue as president of the Slovene American Club in Melvindale as a special activity.

RUPERT JOINED Plymouth-Canton Community Schools in 1956 when he was hired by Earl Gibson (present principal at Farrand Elementary School) as plant engineer of newly-completed Gallimore Elementary School. After 10 years at Gallimore, Rupert transferred to West Middle School before coming to the new Salem building in 1970.

Rupert graduated from Farrell High School in Pennsylvania in 1932 where he played both football and basketball.

He went to New York City and worked for Mission Bell Winery before coming to Detroit. He worked 15 years with Gar-Wood Industries as a layout mechanic before coming to Plymouth-Canton schools.

Rupert is married and has two daughters and two granddaughters.

Tax shift pushed to fund schools

shift some of the funding for public education, while giving homeowners a break.

"It's our feeling that taxpayers are overburdened in general," said Robert Robinson, executive director of the Michigan Townships Association.

"Many are retired, others are unemployed," he added. "It's our feeling that the government should be paid by people who do have earned income."

"WE WOULDN'T be in the (financial) dilemma that we are in today, if this were in effect," added Smith. "Because education would be financed. It would be the priority in Michigan."

An official state cost analysis of the proposal shows the exemptions could cost the state $1.52 billion in lost revenues.

The one-cent increase in the sales tax was projected to produce $660 million, while the savings earned by eliminating the current circuit breaker was projected at $440 million.

The analysis showed a $520-million shortfall in state revenues if the proposal was used.

The rest of the funding would have to come from other sources, such as cutting services or raising other taxes, said Robinson.

THE PLYMOUTH Township Board of Trustees endorsed the plan two weeks ago. Plymouth Township trustee Gerald Law is heading up the petition drive in Wayne County, said Smith.

According to Smith, several state and local officials will attend the meeting in Canton to answer questions from board members or residents.

The list may include Law and State Rep. Thomas Brown, as well as Smith. Brown, D-Westland, represents the 37th district, which includes Canton. Both Brown and Smith are knowledgeable about taxes, through serving on the House Taxation Committee.

Reader praises musical 'Mame'

To the editor:

On April 15 the Observer printed a letter from a Canton resident about the musical "Mame" put on by students of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

The writer did not tell us the ages of his children but I assume, because he was so concerned, that they were very young and had never heard the mild profanity used on stage that evening.

Perhaps I am in error also, but I must assume that the writer is not familiar with plays, etc., that have had lengthy runs on Broadway because he would have known that they frequently might have strong language if the writer thinks that it is needed in the story line. He could then have remained home and saved he and his family the embarrassment and discomfort they obviously felt.

However, if his children had been older, rather than dwelling on the negative aspect of the profanity, he might have pointed out the many positive factors of the performance of these young people.

Two of our children have participated in these school musicals, giving them a combined total of seven experiences, none of which they would trade for any amount of money.

As a parent, I welcomed the lessons they learned from the long hours they put in rehearsing for two solid months each spring. They learned, first of all, that if you worked hard enough, and practiced enough, you just might get a chance to be part of the production.

Then, having gotten a part, you had to work even harder because if you didn't there were three other people waiting in line to take over your wasted opportunity. They learned that having made the commitment, they then had to carry it out by being there when they were suppose to be — that an entire cast was important, not an individual.

There are no stars — everyone is expected to work on every aspect of the production, including sets, costumes, tickets, etc. Gloria Logan is the type of teacher many critics of the schools keep telling us we need more of because in addition to giving the young people a chance to express themselves, she is teaching them responsibility which will stand them in good stead no matter what their future profession, and none of this can be done without maintaining discipline, and the student learning self-discipline.

I have never seen a "review" as such in the Observer on any of these school musicals. You have always put in pictures and an article before the event, but never any comment following. It would seem that no one on your staff has ever seen one of the productions, at least with the assigned task of writing a review. That certainly is a shame, because you could have printed the letter from the Canton reader right beside your review which I guarantee would have been a "rave" and justifiably so.

(Profanity, yes; vulgarisms, no; though Jerry Holdens' idea of what is vulgar may be different, certainly his spelling was.)

Mrs. M.C. Thompson
Plymouth

(Observer staff members do see high school productions. But, as a matter of policy, we do not write reviews as high school drama is for the purpose of instruction and should not be subject to the eye of the critic. For consistency in learning, the instructor should be the sole critic for students — Editor.)

HALF A TOOTH BETTER THAN NONE
Sometimes the dentist can save only part of a tooth (usually a molar) because of extreme bone loss or a vertical fracture involving half the tooth. Half a tooth, however, is better than none. The dentist can divide the molar in half vertically and surgically remove the one or two damaged roots of the weak half and save the undamaged, strong half with root canal therapy. This is called a hemisection. Occasionally, an infected root is surgically removed without damaging the crown part of the tooth. This is particularly advantageous when there is a cap on the tooth and hemisecting it would involve cutting through or destroying an otherwise good restoration, or if the tooth is healthy and in good contact with the adjacent teeth. In those situations, rather than hemisect, the tissue along side the roots is bisected (lifted and turned), and the infected root is found and removed. Root canal therapy is always done on the remaining root or roots. If there is ever a choice of saving a tooth (even half a tooth), by all means, save it!

Senate needs to act now to save state government

ASK ANY group of voters whether it likes the notion of paying more state taxes, and you'll hear a chorus of protests.

Some state senators — who face a crucial vote this week on an income tax increase — have been asking voters that question in unscientific polls of their constitutents.

The results of asking simplistic questions is easily predicted and a poll asking only how voters feel about a tax increase is almost patently unnecessary.

The legislators should have been asking other questions, such as:

- Do you want to see Michigan's credit rating fall because of a poor cash flow?
- Do you want to see colleges and school districts forced onto the money market for loans because the state can't make its aid payments?
- Do you want to see state universities close down more departments when — as experience in North Carolina and California has shown — they can be major attractions to industry?
- Do you want to see community colleges crippled when they clearly have a vital role in training and retraining workers for Michigan's economic re-development?

SENATORS Donald Bishop of Rochester, William Faust of Westland, R. Robert Geake of Northville, Douglas Ross of Oak Park and Dana Wilson of Madison Heights have been getting a lot of mail and phone calls. The pressure on them is intense.

The state budget was expected to be more than $600 million out of line by Sept. 30, the end of this fiscal year. But half of that has already been made up by spending and program cuts.

The state Senate could put the budget back in line by following the House's lead and approving a temporary one percent increase in the state personal income tax. The tax would be increased from 4.6 percent to 5.6. The increase would be for six months.

The temptation is enormous to play the demagogue and say, "No more taxes." The temptation is great to take a walk and not vote, which is the same as voting "no." On top of it all, the senators know they face an election this fall.

LET US THINK back to the last election.

Did our senators promise to be docile followers who would do as they were told? Or did they tell us about their leadership abilities and their university degrees?

Did they promise to duck when the going got tough? Or did they impress us with tales of their ability to solve problems?

Did they offer to run a polling service and then base their votes on these unscientific polls? Or did they boast of their wisdom, courage and independence?

The need to shore up the state treasury is so overwhelmingly apparent that it should be unnecessary to argue it.

What we need to do now is remind our senators they were sent to Lansing to solve problems, to form the upper house of a representative assembly, to apply wisdom and to show courage.

Theoretically, every household in the state could be wired with a polling device and surveyed daily. No one, however, has seriously suggested such a mechanistic way of conducting the state Legislature.

Instead, we elect legislators to represent us and lead the state, 38 to the Senate to do a job they told us they can handle.

A job needs to be done. This week. Not an easy or glamorous job. But a job our senators asked for.

And now we ask them to do it — to vote the income tax temporary surcharge and get it over with.

There's been quite a bit of discussion in recent weeks about discipline in the schools.

Discipline is one of those motherhood, apple pie and Chevrolet monuments no one dares to challenge.

And I'm not about to neither.

I believe in discipline — ask my kids!

Hopefully, we all agree that children should be disciplined — by parents, teachers, principals, chaperones, etc.

Hopefully we are all talking about the same thing when we use the word "discipline" — but, most likely, we are not.

To me discipline is a calculated response to bad behavior with the purpose of correcting that behavior. Discipline is remedial — to make sure a mistake is not repeated.

By definition, then, discipline needs to be thought out before it is implemented. And that means that striking a student in anger is not discipline.

State law recognizes that corporal punishment should be meted out when needed to protect the safety of students, teachers, or other human beings.

There well may be times when a paddling is called for in school, but paddling is a calculated, planned-out action — not something done by impulse.

The point I make is that hitting a child in anger is not discipline.

While abusive language calls for discipline, using cuss words does not call for hitting a child. The fact that students may have been beaten with the romanticized golden rod 20 or 30 years ago is not justification for doing so now.

If a student struck a teacher or principal, that student would immediately be suspended from school. I suspect if a teacher struck a student in anger, the teacher also would be suspended.

We should treat students with the same respect as human beings that we rightly bestow upon teachers and principals. If it is wrong for a student to hit a principal in anger (and it is), then it is equally wrong for a principal to strike a student in anger.

Students do not have the right to discipline teachers or principals; that, obviously, is a right we extend to adults to exercise over young people.

But striking a student on the spur of the moment is not discipline — it is a violation of the respect due students as humans.

If students swear at teachers or principals, they can and should be disciplined. But those who would desire that others respect them must respect the dignity due others.

We must not forget, however, that adults must respect children as well as children being called upon to respect their elders. Being a child is still a condition of humanness.

In making the arguments I do it is not my purpose to point a finger at any individual or to comment on any specific incident. But there has been a discussion in the community at-large about the problem of discipline in the schools.

My purpose is to argue for the necessity of discipline and to put in a word of caution that there is a difference between discipline and an emotional response. That difference needs to be maintained.

TV now rules world of sports

the stroller
W.W. Edgar

When we were told some years ago that the day would come when we could get the news of the day in living color while sitting at the dinner table, it seemed like a wild dream.

It never dawned on any of us that the day would come when this method of showing pictures in your own home, instead of the radio, would somehow start to govern our lives.

But let's look at what has happened in those short years. You not only get "spot" news from across the seas, but if you attend any of the major sports events, time is taken out to show commercials over the air waves.

OFTIMES YOU may have wondered why play was halted a bit in the University of Michigan stadium. The answer came when we were told "it is time out for TV commercials." It seemed odd that this method of communication had taken such a strong hold on life's events.

But now comes one of the most surprising of all. That is the switch of the Michigan-Notre Dame football — one of the nation's top attractions — from afternoon to evening. It will be breaking a time-honored tradition, especially Notre Dame.

This came as a surprise for the simple reason that the Notre Dame stadium is not lighted. But that made little difference to the television people. They are going to provide and pay for the installation of a portable lighting system for the game.

Why the switch from afternoon to evening?

THE ANSWER is simple. It is money and it gives the TV people an opportunity to cash in twice in one day — afternoon and evening games.

According to the advance notice, each of the schools will be given $600,000 for the privilege of televising the game. That's a lot of money. Notre Dame could use it. But Michigan must share its "take" with each of the Big Ten schools. Even at that, Michigan will pick up $60,000 for the switch, aside from the share of the ticket sales as has been the custom in the past.

Even Don Canham, the astute athletic director at Michigan, is sold on the idea and already is planning at least one night game on the Wolverine schedule in 1983. And mind you, Michigan has played to sell-out gatherings for each game during the past three seasons. So the switch is not being made to attract more customers. It is just that the TV money is attractive.

AND TO further realize the hold the tube has on sports, Tommy Hearns' fight with Marvin Hagler was shifted to the Windsor Arena where only a few thousand can see it it live. But it will be shown on the tube and millions can see it, and pay huge sums for the privilege.

So you see, what we thought was a wild upstart years ago has taken a strangle hold on our way of life.

We now must take our favorite sports events when TV wants to show them. And The Stroller can't help but wonder what the old-coaches like Fielding Harris (Hurry Up) Yost, Knute Rockne and "Pop" Warner would think of it.

If there's a gentle rustle when the lights go on in the Notre Dame Stadium in September for the game with Michigan, it could be the old boys turning in their graves.

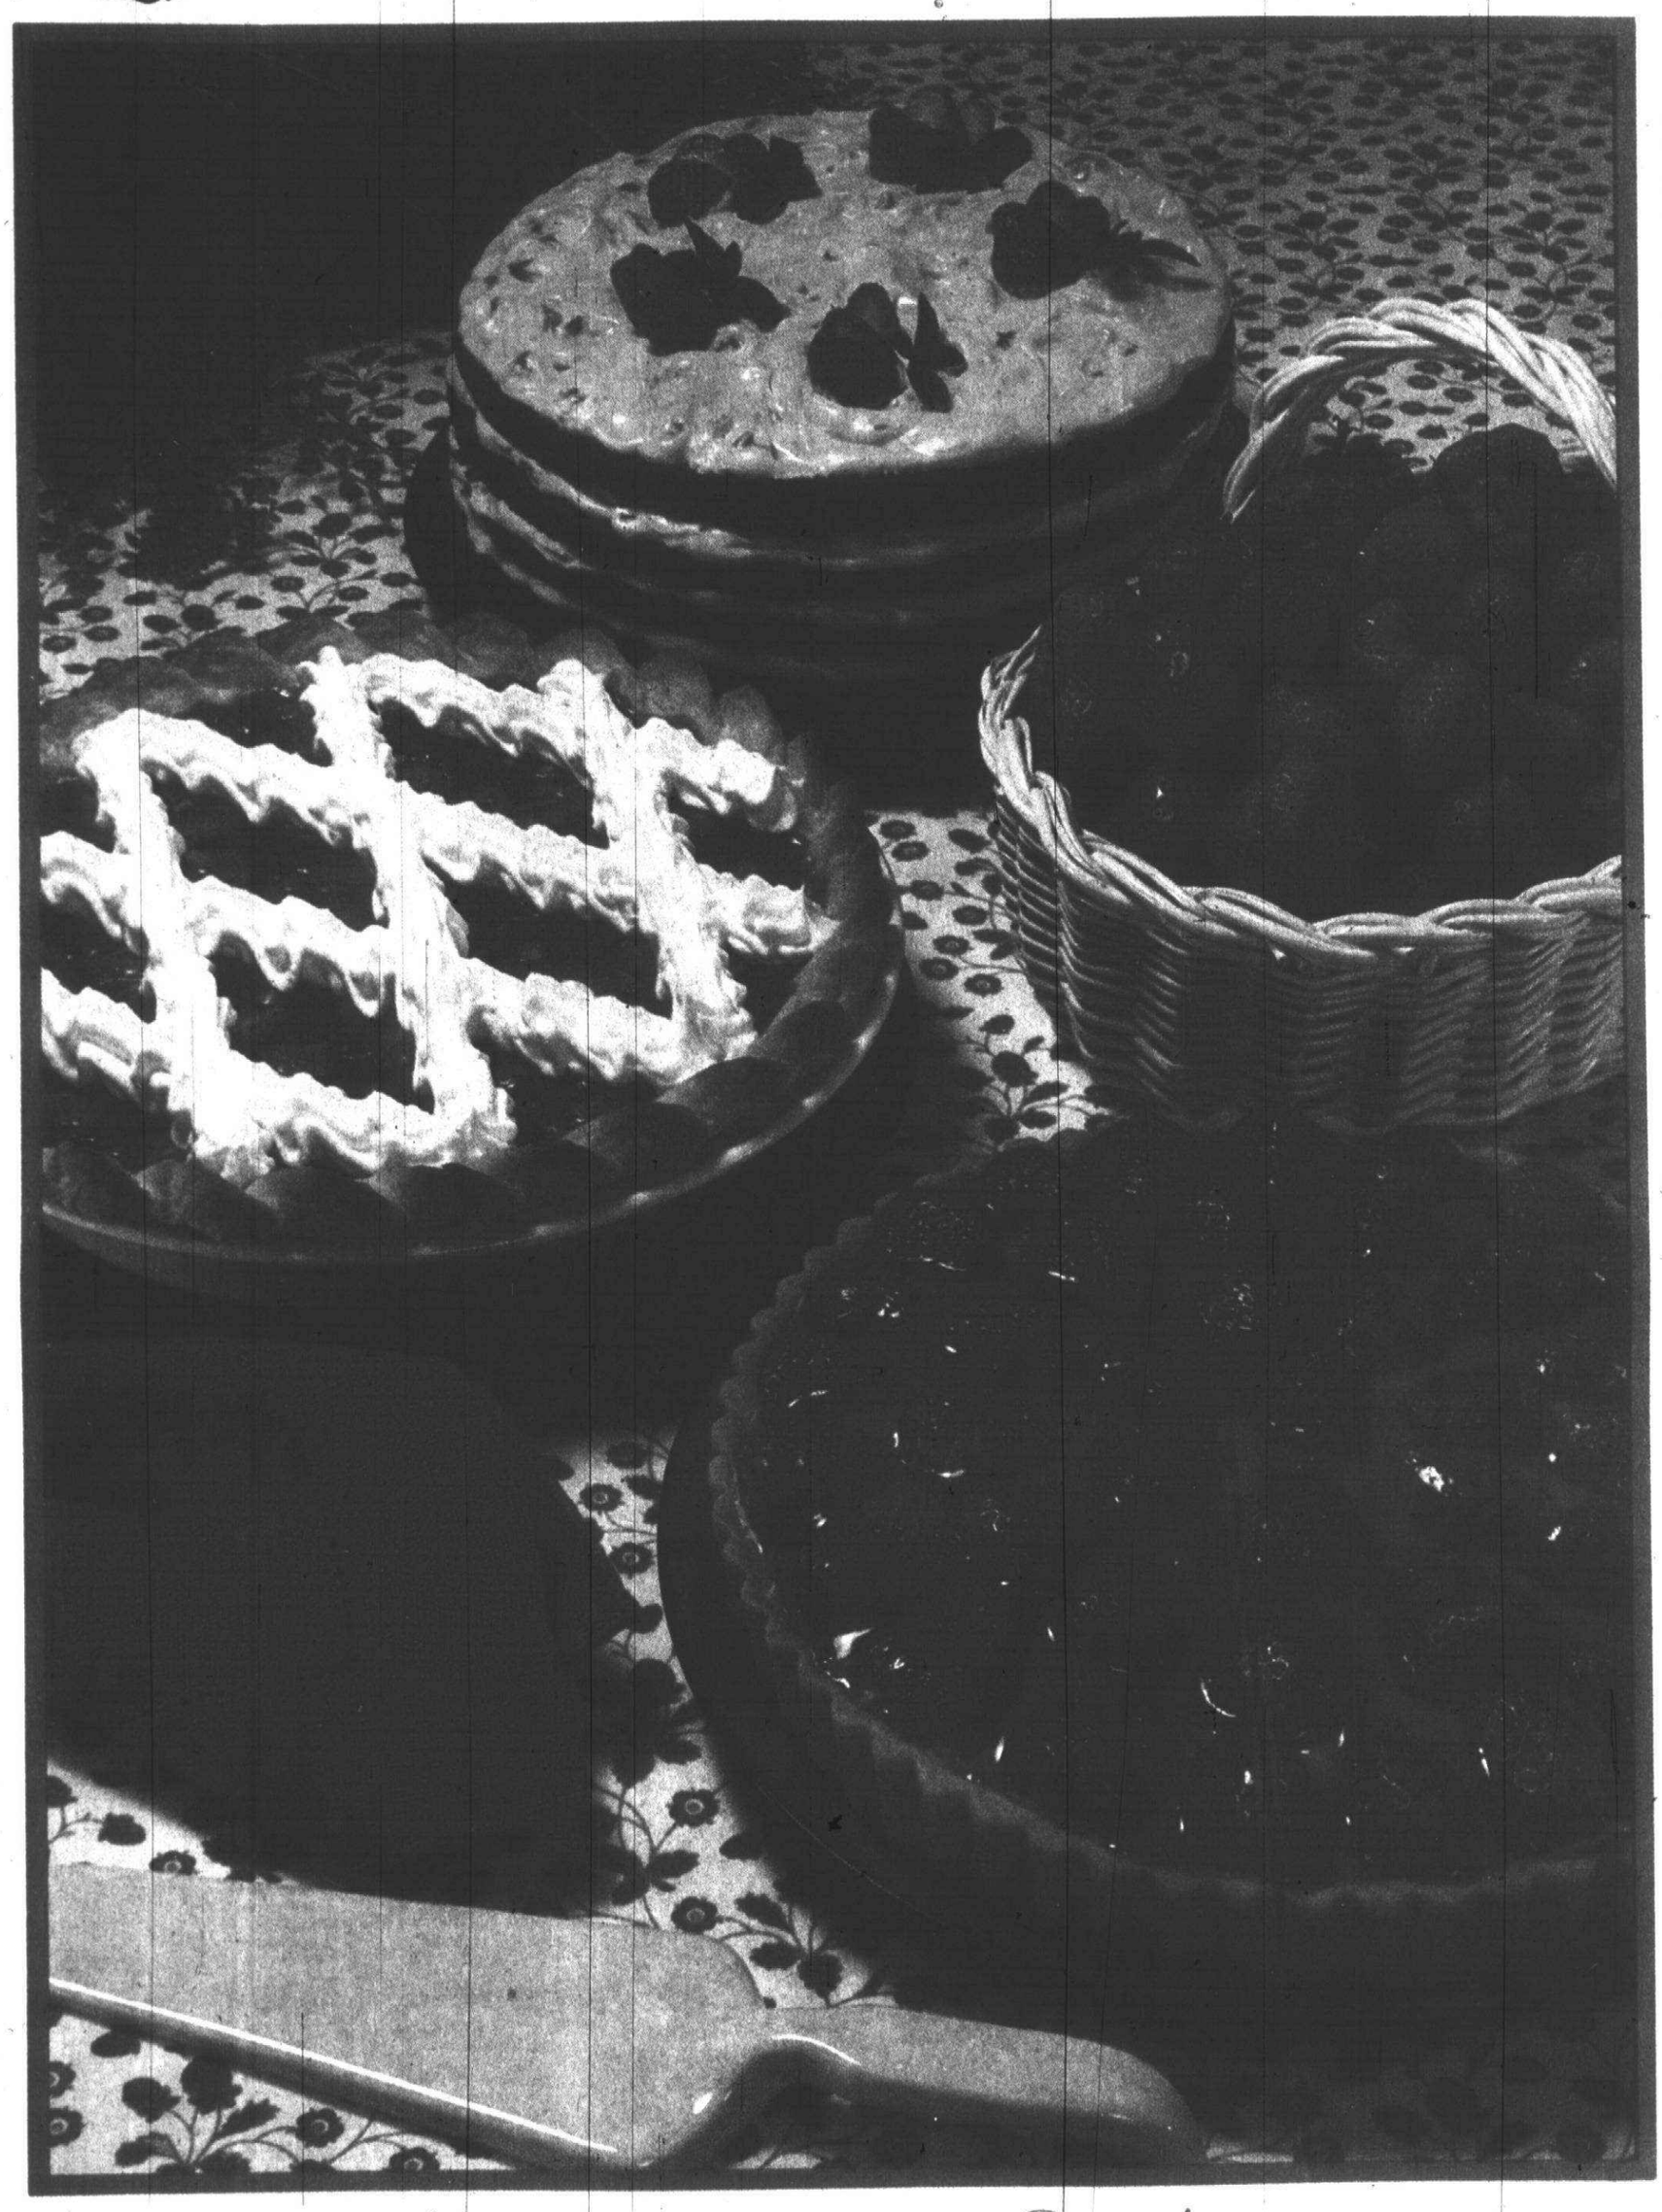
Simply Sumptuous Strawberry Desserts



We know spring is nigh when the first crop of strawberries appears in our markets. What a lift from winter doldrums to greet the beautiful red fruit and ponder the many ways to enjoy it.

Here are three simply sensational strawberry desserts designed for those whose pondering and preparation time is limited! They are beautiful, delicious and streamlined thanks to the cooperative effort between fresh berries and "convenience" products like Jell-O gelatin, Jell-O pudding and Cool Whip frozen whipped topping.

"Elegant but easy" is a good way to describe this Strawberry Chocolate Torte that "marries" two popular flavors in a scrumptious cake that serves 8 to 10 people. If you have the time and inclination, bake four 9-inch layers from "scratch." Or, you may prefer to use a cake mix and bake two 9-inch layers; cut them each horizontally into two. If you choose the quicker route, be sure to cool the layers completely before cutting them with a sharp knife. You may find it helpful to mark off the layers' midpoint with toothpicks before halving them. Incidentally, cake freezes beautifully, so you can bake the cake layers in advance of making the filling and assembling the torte.

For best results, thaw the layers slowly and do not remove the freezer wrapping until you are ready to proceed with the recipe.

For a truly quick and easy dessert treat, try the Strawberry Almond Pie. The delicious fresh strawberry filling is made in minutes by combining packages of fruit flavor gelatin and pudding and pie filling mix with water in a saucepan...bringing the mixture to a boil... then stirring in the remaining ingredients.

Dress up the pie with a garnish of frozen whipped topping or serve it plain. Either way, it's sure to become a "regular" at your house.

Finally, the impressive-looking Strawberry Tart is a perfect example of the wonders you can create when you combine fresh strawberries with handy "staples"—fruit flavor gelatin and frozen whipped topping. Beneath the fresh, gelatin-glazed berries is a wholesome, creamy filling of sour cream and whipped topping. The rich, crisp shortbread crust is easily prepared in a 9-inch springform or flan pan.

Celebrate spring this year with a fresh crop of strawberry desserts made quicker, easier and better with fruit flavor gelatin, pudding and frozen whipped topping.

Strawberry Chocolate Torte

1-3/4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1-3/4 cups sugar
1-1/4 teaspoons baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
2/3 cup butter or margarine
4 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
1-1/4 cups water
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs

1 package (3 oz.) strawberry flavor gelatin
2/3 cup boiling water
2 cups ice cubes
1 container (8 oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 cup diced strawberries

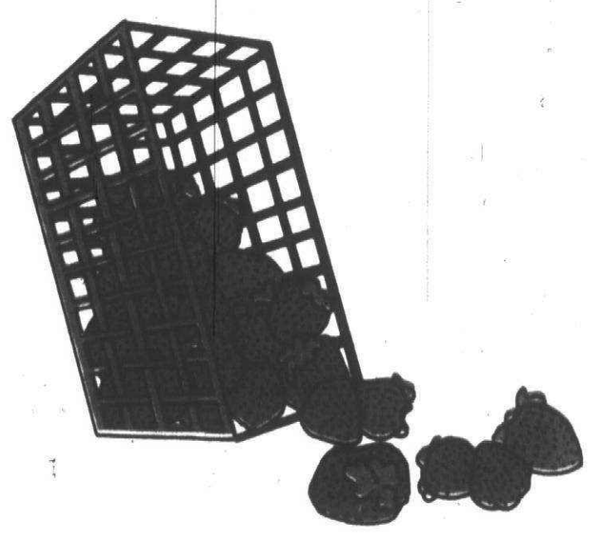
Combine flour, sugar, baking soda, salt, baking powder, butter, melted chocolate, water and vanilla in large mixer bowl. Beat at low speed to blend; then beat 2 minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl frequently. Add eggs; beat 2 minutes longer. Pour into four 9-inch layer pans which have been lined with paper. (Layers will be thin.) Bake at 350° for 20 to 25 minutes, or until cake tester inserted into center comes out clean. Cool in pans about 10 minutes. Remove from pans and finish cooling on racks.

Dissolve gelatin completely in boiling water, stirring about 3 minutes. Add ice cubes and stir constantly until gelatin is thickened, about 2 to 3 minutes. Remove any unmelted ice. Using wire whip, blend in whipped topping, then whip until smooth. Fold in strawberries and chill, if necessary, until mixture will mound. Place 1 cake layer on serving plate; spread with 1-1/4 cups gelatin mixture; top with second layer. Repeat layers. Chill about 1 hour. Garnish with strawberries and mint, if desired. Store any leftover cake in refrigerator.

Strawberry Almond Pie

1 package (3 oz.) strawberry flavor gelatin
1 package (4-serving size) vanilla flavor pudding and pie filling
1-1/4 cups water
1-1/2 pints strawberries, hulled and sliced
1/2 cup chopped toasted almonds
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled

Combine gelatin and pie filling mix in saucepan. Stir in water. Cook and stir over high heat until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat and stir in strawberries, almonds and extract. Let stand about 5 minutes; then pour into pie shell. Chill until set, about 3 to 4 hours. Garnish with thawed frozen whipped topping, if desired.



Strawberry Tart

1 package (3 oz.) strawberry flavor gelatin
3/4 cup boiling water
1/4 cup cold water
2 cups ice cubes
1/2 cup sour cream
1 cup thawed frozen whipped topping
1 baked 9-inch Shortbread Crust, cooled
2 cups fresh strawberries, hulled and halved

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Measure 1/4 cup, add 1/4 cup cold water and set aside. Add ice cubes to remaining gelatin; stir constantly until gelatin begins to thicken, about 3 minutes. Remove any unmelted ice. Using wire whip, blend in sour cream and whipped topping and whip until smooth. Spoon into Shortbread Crust. Arrange strawberries, cut side down, on filling. Chill measured gelatin until slightly thickened; spoon over strawberries. Chill until firm, about 2 hours.

Shortbread Crust

Blend 1/2 cup softened butter or margarine and 1/4 cup sugar together with a pastry blender or fork. Add 1-1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour and mix until crumbs are formed. Then mix thoroughly with hands to form a soft dough. Press evenly onto bottom and sides of 9-inch flan or springform pan. Prick bottom of crust with fork. Bake at 325° for 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool in pan. Loosen sides, and remove carefully. If crust sticks, heat gently a few seconds over low heat.

U.S. shouldn't be expected to feed the world

This is the last in a series of 15 articles exploring "Food and People." In this article, Dudley Kirk of Stanford University's Food Research Institute argues that we can solve the problem of feeding the world's population if we are willing to make the necessary effort. This series was written for Courses by Newspaper, a program of University Extension, University of California, San Diego, with funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

© 1982 by the Regents of the University of California.

By Dudley Kirk special writer

It is easy for Americans, the well-fed — in fact, often overfed — to forget that obtaining enough to eat is still the first preoccupation of much of humankind. This fact is changing, but not fast enough.

Especially in the poorer countries, where hundreds of millions face the constant threat of hunger, the outcome of the race between population and food remains uncertain. Any permanent victory for food will require both an increase in agricultural productivity and a reduction in birth rates.

Everyone has heard doomsday projections of the fearful escalation of world population. However, the proper description of future world population growth is not the usually presented rising curve headed for infinity, but one that is approaching a ceiling of a more or less stationary world population as growth slows down.

The deadline in growth rate will be imposed by a rising death rate if not by a lower birth rate. Fortunately, the latter has begun to occur.

DECLINING BIRTH RATES

World birth rates declined in the 1970s in both developed and less developed areas, including the giants in each China, India, the United States, and the Soviet Union. Furthermore, rates of population growth, as distinct from birth rates, are also falling in many less developed countries (LDCs), despite major reductions in death rates.

Birth rates are falling in part because birth control information is spreading rapidly, So, too, is the motivation for birth control. As social and economic advancements such as education and improved health make possible a better life, the people in poorer countries are choosing to devote their resources to the quality rather than quantity of children.

The most widespread reductions in the birth rate are occurring in Latin America, the most important in Asia (because it includes well over half the world's people), and the least in Africa.

These declines in birth rate hardly mean that the world is approaching Zero Population Growth (ZPG). Only a few countries, such as the two Germanys, have reached ZPG. In a few LDCs, the two-child family is becoming the norm, and China, with the world's largest population, has set a goal of one child per family. But in most LDCs, such low birth rates. are still far off.

Furthermore, although birth rates are declining, absolute numbers are still growing by over 70 million persons a year. Even with slowing growth, the world will probably have to make room at dinner table for 1.5 to 2 billion more people by the year 2000, for a total of at least 6 billion, with many more to come in the 21st century.

The solution of the world's population problems can now be seen at the end of the tunnel, but it is a very long tunnel one from which the world may not finally emerge for 50 years or more, and then only if progess continues.

That's the demographic scenario. What about food?

FOOD: PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION

Our view is much too colored by the events of the day. In times of good crops, the "experts" talk of the Green revolution and other wonders. when there is a series of poor harvests, as in the early 1970s, we hear prophecies of endless doom.

In fact, world wheat production by 1987 was 20 percent higher than in 1973-74; rice production was 10 percent higher. Crops since then have permitted modest gains in food availability.

Food production is rising at about the same pace in both the richer and the poorer countries. In the richer countries this means more food per capita (including surpluses), but in the poorer countries much of the increased production is eaten up by rapid population growth. And there are still many countries including a majority in Africa, a few in Latin America, and some war-torn countries in Asia where per-capita food production actually delined during the 1070s.

Food is thus really a series of national problems in which disadvantaged people in disadvantaged countires are hungry in a world that often has what is called a "market surplus."

Is there, then, enough food to go around? Theoretically there is. In a literal sense, enough food is produced to feed every person at least 2,600 calories a day, if no one ate more and if no land were used to grow feed for animals. This is enough for a 70-kilogram (155 lb.) adult man doing active labor, and more than enough for a 60-kilogram (143 lb.) Indian or Chinese man, or for women and children.

According to the 1980 Presidential Commission on World Hunger, people are not hungry just because of scarcity, but because of inequality — inequality of the poor and the rich nations, of the poor and the rich within each nation, and of men, women and children within the family.

In this humanitarian view, hunger can be overcome only by building a more sharing economic system in the world and in each county. Furthermore, the landless and others without money to buy food will be hungry regardless and others without money to buy food will be hungry regardless of agricultural production, so abolition of hunger is part of the larger problem of providing jobs and reducing poverty.

INCREASING PRODUCTIVITY

This is true up to a point. But realistically there is no solution without having agriculture in the LDCs employ more labor and become more producitve to provide both more food and more jobs. The great problem in the LDCs is to adapt technology to the needs of the peasants and then get them to use it.

For example, in India, with traditional agriculture, the wheat yield per acre was only one-half that in the United States with its modern technology. This is changing. In the last 15 years, India's wheat production has almost tripled, and India is no longer a net importer of food grain.

In fact, among a majority of the poorer peoples of the world, the plow is gaining on the stork, but, alas, all too slowly.

It does look as though the world population on the average is better fed than before. Not adequately, but marginally better. Except where war or special catastrophes hit, it seems that food production can keep up with population growth in most places.

But this isn't good enough. Now, the world has the potential to feed all of humanity adequately. What has changed is not hunger and famine; these have always been a constant danger to humankind. What has changed is that for the first time we can afford a collective conscience about hunger; the world now has the technology, properly used, to solve the problem.

We Americans are acticivists; we want action now — the "quick fix." But the population food dilemma is not a short-run problem. It will take many years of sustained effort to resolve it.

The role of the United States is on occasion to meet crises, but in no way should we expect to feed the world permanently or substitute for increased local production to meet local problems of hunger. The latter must come on its own as population growth slows, as the farmers adopt better technologies, and as economic development creates jobs.

The views expressed in Courses by Newspapers are those of the authors only and do not necessarily reflect those of the University of California, the National Endowment for the Humanities, or the participating newspapers and colleges.

Chicken takes to parmesan

Chicken can be prepared in an infinite variety of ways if the cook isn't "chicken" to try something new. Opening the oven to a new chicken recipe can be as magical as pulling a rabbit out of the hat, if there's a special ingredient involved.

Actually, chicken has had a mystical aura around it for hundreds of years. In the 16th century a cooked chicken was a symbol of abundance and plenty. During this time, King Henri IV of France reputedly said that he wished there would be no peasant in all his kingdom who was too poor to have a chicken in his pot every Sunday.

Today King Henri's wish has been realized in a way. Poultry is one of the most reasonably priced, high-quality protein meats available. Improved industrialization has brought a heavier bird to market during the last 10 years than in years before. This new technology has reduced labor costs, allowing chicken to remain affordable in these inflation-ridden days.

Using a familiar ingredient in an unfamiliar way is the trick to this magical recipe. Parmesan is one of the best known of all Italian cheeses but not often associated with oven-fried dishes like the one with chicken below. Rather, this sharp, zesty cheese is commonly known as a kitchen must for soups, pastas, salads and stews.

OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN PARMESAN

½ cup (2 oz.) grated Parmesan cheese
¼ cup flour
1 tsp. paprika
½ tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
2½ to 3 lb. broiler-frier, cut up
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tbsp. milk
¼ cup margarine

Combine cheese, flour and seasonings. Dip chicken in combined egg and milk; coat with cheese mixture. Place in baking dish; pour margarine over chicken. Bake at 350, 1 hour or until tender.

Dress up chops for company

Just having spring in the air is reason enough to celebrate with a festive brunch. The relaxed atmosphere of brunch makes it a favorite no matter what the season.

For a brunch entree that will be as welcome as the first spring fever, treat guests to the marvelous flavor and yourself to the convenience of Smoked Pork Chop Platter. Meaty, satisfying smoked chops are dressed up in style for the occasion with crisp bacon curls and a watercress garnish.

Preparation of the chops couldn't be easier; they are simply broiled for 15-20 minutes. The bacon curls are easy, too, for the bacon is conveniently baked in the oven (no turning necessary), then wrapped around a fork to form curls.

You'll be able to readily identify smoked pork chops at the meat counter for they have the same muscle and bone structure as fresh pork loin or rib chops. Because these chops have been cured and smoked, they have a rosy pink color similar to that of ham.

Also appropriate for a "swing into spring" brunch is Spring Fruit Compote. Chablis lends crisp, sophisticated flavor to a refreshing combination of fresh pineapple, strawberries, banana and exotic kiwi fruit.

SMOKED PORK CHOPS

6 smoked pork chops, cut ¾-inch thick
6 slices bacon
Watercress, if desired

Prepare bacon curls by separating bacon slices; place on a rack in shallow pan (broiler pan may be used). Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 10-12 minutes. Immediately twist slices of bacon around fork to make curls; set aside. Set oven regulator for broiling. Place chops on rack in broiler pan so surface of meat is 3-5 inches from heat. Broil at low to moderate temperature 15-20 minutes, turning occasionally, or until done. Garnish chops with bacon curls and watercress, if desired, before serving. 6 servings.

SPRING FRUIT COMPOTE

1 medium pineapple
1 pint strawberries, hulled
1 cup chablis
1 large banana
1 kiwi fruit

Pare and core pineapple. Cut into ½-inch slices, then into chunks. Place pineapple chunks and strawberries in a 2-quart bowl, mixing gently. Pour chablis over pineapple and strawberries; child 2 to 4 hours. Just before serving, peel banana and cut into ¼-inch thick slices. Gently stir into pineapple and strawberries Pare kiwi fruit and cut into 6 slices. Garnish fruit compote with Kiwi fruit. Makes six servings.

Turn dough into bread or rolls

This fool-proof recipe will produce fresh, moist rolls for a delightful and hearty sandwich.

ITALIAN BREAD
Makes 2 loaves or 6 hero rolls

5 to 5½ cups unsifted flour
1 Tbsp. sugar
1 Tbsp. salt
2 pkgs. active dry yeast
1 Tbsp. margarine, softened
1¾ cups hot tap water (120-130 degrees)
Cornmeal
Peanut oil
1 egg white
1 Tbsp. cold water

In a large bowl, thoroughly mix 1½ cups flour, sugar, salt and undissolved yeast. Add softened margarine.

Gradually add hot tap water to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ¾ cup flour and beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, about 8-10 minutes. Cover; let rest for 20 minutes.

To make loaves: Divide dough in half. Roll each half into an oblong 15-by-10 inches. Beginning at wide side, roll up tightly; pinch seam to seal. Taper ends by rolling gently back and forth.

To make rolls: Divide dough into 6 equal pieces. Roll each piece onto an oblong, 8-by-5 inches. Beginning at wide side, roll up tightly; pinch seam to seal. Taper ends.

Place on greased baking sheets sprinkled with cornmeal. Brush dough with peanut oil. Cover loosely with wax paper, then top with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 2-4 hours.

When ready to bake, remove from refrigerator. Uncover dough carefully. Let stand at room temperature 10 minutes. Make 3 or 4 diagonal cuts on tops with razor blade or sharp knife.

Bake at 425 degrees 15 minutes for rolls, 20 minutes for loaves. Remove from oven and brush with egg white mixed with cold water. Return to oven; bake 5-10 minutes longer, until golden brown.

Learn to be a flan fan

Often the most difficult part of menu planning is choosing a dessert to complement the main course. The perfect ending to an evening's meal is a dessert that is neither too rich nor too light.

Flan may be the ideal choice if your main course is spicy. A cousin to American custard and French creme caramel, flan is a light Mexican dessert traditionally served after a hot, spicy meal. It is a delicious way to cook off the taste buds while providing a smooth, creamy change of texture from the main course.

This flan can also be served at a coffee klatch instead of a heavy cake or pie. Since the recipe serves 12 people, it is suitable for many kinds of informal entertaining.

A successful flan requires careful baking. If undercooked, it will fall apart when taken out of the mold. If overcooked, the egg will toughen and the mixture will separate. To test whether the flan has been baked long enough, insert a knife one inch from the center of the mold. Your flan is ready if the knife is clean when pulled out.

FLAN
(Makes 12 servings)

1½ cups sugar
8 eggs
1 tsp. salt
2 cups Carnation instant nonfat dry milk plus water to make 3¾ cups
2 tsp. vanilla

Melt ½ cup sugar in 6-cup mold over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar turns to a golden brown syrup. Tip the mold and turn to coat inside with syrup. Set aside to cool 15 to 20 minutes. Beat eggs until well-blended, in large mixer bowl. Add 1 cup sugar and salt. Beat just until blended. Combine nonfat dry milk and water to make 3¾ cups. Blend thoroughly. Add liquid instant milk and vanilla to egg mixture; blend. Skim foam from top of mixture. (Foam will brown quicker than custard and appearance will be unattractive.) Pour into caramel-coated mold. Place in pan about 2½-inches deep. Pour hot water around mold to 1-inch depth. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 50 minutes or until knife inserted 1 inch from center of custard comes out clean. Remove from pan. Cool on wire rack. Chill several hours before serving. To unmold, run knife around edge of mold. Dip mold in hot water for a few seconds. Place serving plate on top of mold; invert. Shake gently until custard slips out of mold. Cut into 12 serving pieces.

ED DRAUGELIS, author, and Andrew Henderson, composer, are apt to become misty-eyed when they talk about the Plymouth Canton community. Ed of Plymouth and Andrew of Canton can't believe the hometown support they have had in preparing for the opening of their musical play, "Monterey."

"I had jotted down the names of several people to call about ads in the program," said Ed, admitting to some reticence about approaching any of them. "Every one of them said 'yes.' There wasn't one refusal. What a town!"

First performance of the musical will be a preview Wednesday night in the Marquis Theater, Northville. The Rotary Clubs and the Michigan Heart Fund are sponsoring the evening. Persons interested in attending the opening night can call Orren Hall of the Canton Rotary Club, 455-3590, for information or reservations.

The Thursday night preview performance will be Community Night with the Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford among the sponsors. Number to call for Thursday reservations is 665-0038.

THE PLYMOUTH Community Chamber of Commerce is planning a big celebration for the Friday evening preview. Billed as "A Community Salutes Its Own," there will be special presentations and an afterglow at Hillside Inn, immediately following the show. Members of the audience will have an opportunity to meet the cast and friends at the gala party.

Tickets can be purchased in advance at Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union, Plymouth Township Hall, Plymouth City Hall, Pease Paint and Wallpaper, John Smith's Men's Wear, Emma's Restaurant, Hillside Inn, Penn Theatre, Sack's of Forest Avenue, Pendleton Shop, Sideways, First National Bank, Ann Arbor Road, Beautiful Hair Forum, Sunshine Honda, and the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, 188 N. Main.

The Marquis Theater has a seating capacity of 550 so ticket sales will be limited. The official opening night will be May 5 and the show will run at the Marquis through May 23.

A booking at the Masonic Temple in Detroit is dependent on audience reaction to Northville run.

JOHN STEINBECK is responsible for Ed's fascination with the Monterey Peninsula, the setting for the musical.

Doug Kerr of Plymouth plays the 50-year-old fishing captain in love with Meg, who is half his age. Timothy Alonzo of Canton plays Pablo. Glenn Carlos of Plymouth has the role of Dale Yee. Cynthia Betley of Plymouth is Marguerita and Janis Kadela of Plymouth is one of the prostitutes in the play.

SIDE NOTES: Gael Barr, choreographer, appeared with Shirley Temple in the movie "Blue Bird." Russ Collins, general manager of Plymouth Productions, Inc., and Julia Broxholm, who plays Meg, were married in January. Audience is advised listen carefully to the lyrics in "Monterey" — they're pure poetry.

AND STILL ON a theatrical note — Janen Booth of Canton is playing in the Players Guild of Dearborn production of "Applause." Show opens Friday night and will play three consecutive weekends. Janen is a member of the Plymouth Theatre Guild and directed "Wait Until Dark" last season.

She will play the role of Eve Harrington in "Applause." She says she loves the role and it is a real challenge. Eve starts out as a sweet innocent but does not stay that way.

For information about performances in the Dearborn Playhouse, Monroe and Outer Drive, call 565-5392.

ANNE MACINNIS and Virgil Huey had high scores at last Thursday's party bridge games in the Plymouth Cultural Center.

BANQUET AND ROAST planned to "celebrate life" and honor Peter Schweitzer for his years as community relations director at the Plymouth Center for Human development has been rescheduled. The party had to be postponed when Peter was hospitalized April 9.

New date is Friday, June 4 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. Party will start at 4:30 p.m. at poolside with a cocktail party (hors d'oeuvres and cash bar). Banquet and roast will begin at 7 p.m. in the banquet room.

Tour to Pewabic pottery includes Greektown lunch

Until the bus is filled to capacity, the arts council will accept reservations for its May 6 trip to the Pewabic Pottery in Detroit.

The group will have a guided tour of the studio, gallery and museum on E. Jefferson Avenue. Participants will have an opportunity to shop at the Michigan Potters' spring sale and show, which will be in its final days. Lunch will be in a Greektown restaurant.

Bus transportation downtown and back, tours and luncheon will cost $16. Reservations may be made by calling the Plymouth Community Arts Council office, 455-5260, between 9 a.m. and noon Monday through Friday.

POTTER MARY Chase Stratton worked in the studio for 78 years. The building is listed in both the national and state registers of historic places.

Potters never have been able to duplicate the colors of her glazes and the deep turquoises and bronzes have remained her secret. Examples of her tiles may be seen in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Christ Church Cranbrook and the Detroit Public Library. She received her earliest church commission in 1908.

Pewabic is said to be the Chippewa word for the red clay Stratton used in her work. Her tiles and other pottery pieces are exhibited in the museum.

Persons on the tour will see the complete pottery-making process, from raw clay to the final firing and glazing.

Marilyn Walsh's water color, "Steps," was awarded best of show. Members of the Three Cities Art Club, Cathy Camagna of Canton and Frances Bowlby of Plymouth, took their turn hostessing at the show and sale.

Artist awarded ribbons in spring show

"Steps," a watercolor by Marilyn Walsh, was awarded best of show ribbon at last weekend's Three Cities Art Club show and sale. William Lewis, University of Michigan professor, judged the annual show in Plymouth's Westchester Mall.

Traffic was steady at the show in the mall as visitors viewed the entries and marked their ballots with the number of their favorite painting. The ballot also entitled them to a chance to win the oil painting by Dorothy Koliba, which she had donated as a prize.

In the water color division, winners were: first, Audrey Paul, "Onions;" second, Dorothy Koliba, "Flowers;" third, Joan Jones, "Flats for the Garden;" and honorable mention, Marilyn Walsh, "Field and Stream."

Winners for oil paintings were: first, Andrea de Zell, "The Engineer;" second, Joan Jones, "Copper Kettle;" third, Dorothy Koliba, "Ann and Andy;" honorable mention, Joyce Fredrick, "Spring Bouquet," and Frances Bowlby, "Abandoned Farm."

MARTHA BARNES received a first place ribbon in the acrylics category for her "Bittersweet Harvest." Other winners were: second, Hazel Gibson, "Roses;" third, Judy Gibbs, "Pair of Parrots;" honorable mention, Ellen Kenny, "Thrashers."

Mixed media winners were: first, Doreen Lawton, "View from the Kitchen Window;" second, Betty Manthey, "Another Era;" third, Jean Bologna, "Pappys Poppies;" and honorable mention, Cathy Campagna, "Portrait of Adam."

"View from the Kitchen Window" is a pastoral scene of sheep, fields and fences, painted on glass.

Dining Out With THE AMERICAN EXPRESS® CARD

Fresh Fish For Sassy Appetites.

Seafood lovers who may have missed their plane to the coast can recoup the loss by visiting any one of the three Detroit area J. Ross Browne's restaurants.

While most other seafood emporiums may only offer one or two fresh seafood selections, J. Ross Browne's manages to gather several varieties of fresh fish every day.

A special announcement is inserted in the J. Ross Browne's menu which apprises guests of the fresh catch of the day and the price of each entrée. The chef will create a special recipe for each selection designed to accent the seafood's particular qualities. The server can describe how each entrée is prepared.

In addition to the selection of fresh fish, diners may also enjoy the seafood house specialties which are always available. Those with a taste for beef will enjoy the various cuts of prime rib and steak that are always available as well as tempting beef and seafood combinations.

All entrées are priced from $7.95 to $16.95 and include salad, hot bread, vegetables and a choice of long grain & wild rice, redskin or baked potatoes.

Mountain Jacks Brings The Feast To The Fore

Anyone who feels it's been far too long since his last real beef delight should pay a visit to any one of the five Detroit area Mountain Jacks. A specialty of the house is an extravagant Beef Feast for Two designed to tantalize the taste buds of all beef lovers.

Mountain Jacks has combined the three cuts of beef that beef fanciers prefer — sizzling top sirloin, tender filet mignon and robust prime rib. Ample portions cooked to order are heaped on a platter for two, and complimented by horseradish, chablis wine-butter and au jus. Hearty appetites also will relish the accompaniments served with every Mountain Jacks dinner, including homemade soup of the day, a salad made from an array of fresh ingredients, fresh hot bread and creamy butter plus a choice of long grain and wild rice, home fries or a baked potato. Though one might expect to pay a king's ransom for a feast of these proportions, the Beef Feast for Two is priced at $9.95 per person.

For those who fancy a unique treat, tempting specialties await the hungry at Mountain Jacks. The Stuffed Filet Mignon combines savory seasoned mushrooms tucked inside a tender cut of filet mignon and wrapped in bacon, then charbroiled to order and served blanketed by more sautéed mushrooms. The Crab Stuffed New Yorker presents a delicious New York strip steak stuffed with crab and mushrooms, then charbroiled and served with mushrooms sautéed in brandied-butter.

Guests also may select a fresh fish of the day or choose one of the various beef and seafood combinations, while purists in the market for a very good steak may select from several cuts in sizes to please every appetite.

Carlos Murphy's Makes A Meal For Beans

SOUTHFIELD...With Cinco de Mayo (May 5th) fast approaching, Carlos Murphy's personnel have been busy preparing for the traditional Mexican celebration. Revelers looking for the excitement of a Mexican Fiesta will not be disappointed with the festivities planned at Carlos Murphy's for the entire month of May.

For those who wish to dine away the hours, Carlos Murphy's extensive menu offers savory hickory smoked specialties, cheesy quiches and crepes, beefy burgers and sandwiches, crunchy salads and, of course, spicy Mexican fare.

Anyone looking for his just desserts will strike it rich with the many Murphy's selections. The Monster Cookie, which threatens to conquer Detroit, begins with a not-so-humble-sized chocolate chip cookie, heaped with ice cream, slathered with chocolate fudge, piled with whipped cream, chopped nuts and topped with a modest cherry. Deep Fried Ice Cream is a marvel worth investigating, and the Apple Burrito is enough to make a bandito lay his revolver down.

Carlos Murphy himself could not be reached for comment on the exact details of the May events, but sources close to the little fellow say that Murphy's promises a real bang up celebration.

Girls kick in new year with 1-1 soccer deadlock

By Jay Keenan
special writer

There were no losers in the initial girls' prep soccer match Wednesday afternoon at Centennial Educational Park.

Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem, which both are offering the sport to girls for the first time, squared off against each other and battled to a 1-1 tie.

But the familiar cliche, "A tie is better than a loss," was more than just a pleasant, compensatory adage for both coaches — Tony Lonigro of Canton and Ken Johnson of Salem.

They were both absolutely exulted over the tremendous amount of teamwork that their respective squads displayed.

"Everyone played a balanced game," said Johnson. "Nobody let me down. They all played hard, and I was pleased with our team. I didn't see any weaknesses really.

"And I was surprised with Canton, too. They were pretty strong."

Lonigro's first impressions of both teams were similiar to Johnson's.

"I think our team did a wonderful job," he said. "I thought both teams did well. Both worked well together.

"I was delighted that my team played as well as it did because I had no idea how well they'd work together. And they really impressed me for the first game."

THE MAKESHIFT field at CEP was flawed a bit by a heavy turf, which tied down the competitors as several endured leg cramps.

A strong breeze also hindered both offensive attacks. Each team, however managed to get on the scoreboard.

Susie Pierce made history late in the first half when she became the first Canton player to score, on a pass from Lori Engel.

Salem, however, struck back at the outset of the second half when Jacque Merrifield, a rugged junior, found herself open momentarily in front of the net and powered her way in between two Canton attackers for the score.

Both goaltenders, Sarah Wallman of Salem and Amy Knickerbocker of Canton, prevented any more scoring the rest of the way.

Johnson praised the play of Shelly Staszel on offense along with tri-captain Colleen O'Conner and Julie Casler on defense.

"I think the tie was a pretty fair result," said the Salem coach. "Both teams were pretty well balanced."

"Although Mr. Johnson and myself would liked to have won," said Lonigro, "somehow I'm kind of glad that we tied.

"I know now that both of us will try to improve when we play each other again in the last game of the season."

WEDNESDAY'S display of teamwork gave Lonigro some confidence for upcoming games.

"I'm pretty confident they can give the other teams good competition," he said. "I'm looking forward to seeing them do the best they can. I think we have a pretty good team.

"I keep hearing that Livonia Churchill and Northville are outstanding teams, but then again, I can't make a judgment because I haven't seen them play."

Plymouth Salem grabs 2 more softball victories

By Jay Keenan
special writer

Diane Murphy gave another indication of being a stopper.

The Plymouth Salem hurler gave up just two runs on three hits in six innings of work to lift the Rocks to a 13-6 non-league softball victory over visiting Livonia Stevenson.

Murphy, who went eight innings in a 6-5 win two days earlier over Dearborn Edsel Ford, had little trouble with the Spartans as she struck out five batters, retiring the final 11 she faced. Reliever Leslie Etienne pitched the seventh inning, giving up four runs.

Murphy's only rough spot was the opening frame, where she gave up the two runs, both unearned.

But the Murphy's ability to get the Stevenson hitters out wasn't the only difference in this game. Ironically, it was the Spartans' erratic performance in the field which helped the Rocks to their second straight victory.

Salem's big inning came in the fifth when the Rocks collected eight runs.

"We made too many errors on the infield," explained Stevenson coach Lee Cagle. "The mistakes that we're making are not mental, but most of it is on bad fielding.

"We have to cut down on the errors and be more confident in the (batters) box. Those two things will help make us a better team, but it takes time. This is basically an inexperienced team. Most of them were jayvees last year and they had a losing record. They have to learn to win."

SALEM, coached by Rob Willette, received a lift on offense from Mary Kay Mundinger and Sarah McKenna, both whom had three hits. Cheryl Viele chipped in with two including three RBIs.

For Stevenson, Sally Chapin started on the mound and gave up five runs in six innings of work. Four of those runs, however, were unearned.

The Rocks had a 5-2 lead heading into the bottom of the fifth when reliever Chris Nicoloff took over for Stevenson.

Salem then ignited with eight runs on seven hits to take a 13-2 advantage on a two-run double by Viele. Two costly errors, though, hurt Stevenson as five of those went unearned.

The Spartans tallied four runs in the final inning off of Etienne on five walks and a two-run single by Bev Irwin, but it was too little, too late.

Stevenson started out fast in the first inning, building a 2-0 lead. Chapin and Debbie Jurczyczyn reached base on singles and scored on a dropped fly ball off the bat of Nancy Dean.

SALEM tied it at two-all in the bottom of the inning. Mudinger and McKenna both singled and a walk to Viele with the sacks filled forced in one run. Dawn Henning's single scored the other.

In the bottom of the second, Salem went ahead to stay, 4-2, thanks to two Spartan errors. The Rocks made it 5-2 in the following frame by virtue of another Stevenson miscue.

SALEM 7
DEARBORN 6

The Rocks made it three straight, two in the Suburban Eight League, with a 7-6 triumph over Dearborn Friday.

Salem trailed 6-2 until the fifth, when it exploded for five runs. Two came on a triple by Henning. Another triple by Jenny Papa brought home another run.

Kelly Strautz led the assault with two hits (double and triple). Catcher Mary Pryslak also had two hits.

Murphy was the winning pitcher. She allowed eight hits, three walks and struck out two. She was the victim of three unearned runs.

Spitz happy despite track tie

Mike Spitz' Plymouth Canton boys' track team took a trip down Route 66 Wednesday afternoon, and he didn't mind at all.

In a Western Six League dual-meet opener, Canton and Walled Lake Western each scored 66 points.

"It was a good meet for us although there were no real outstanding times," said the Canton coach. "But it was a good psychological thing because Walled Lake Western usually blows us out. It's a good way to start things off."

Canton fell behind 33-12 after the field events but rallied to tie with strong performances in the sprints and middle distance races.

Mark Ritchey had a big day for the Chiefs as he won the 100 yard dash (10.7), 220 dash (24.3) was a member of two winning relay teams.

"It wasn't pretty but Mark (Ritchey) had a real good day in the sprints," said Spitz.

Ritchey teamed up with Frank Asis, Steve Light and David Simms to win the 880 relay in 1:37.5. Ritchey, Light, Asis and Jon Hermses took the 440 relay in 48.2.

The Canton foursome of Brian and Elijah Rogers, Dan Henry and Simms insured the tie by capturing the final event — the mile relay — in 3:42.9.

OTHER INDIVIDUAL firsts for Canton were recorded by Asis in the long jump, 19-feet-3-inches; Butch Steele, 120 hurdles, 16.9; Elijah Rogers, 880 run, 2:15.4; and Simms, 440 dash, 53.4.

Canton performers earning second place spots were: Rick Tarr, pole vault, 10-0; Jin Kim, 120 hurdles, 16.9; Ed Hintz, 880 run, 2:15.6; Simms, 220, 25.2; and Ralph Dicosty, two mile, 11:16.0.

The Chiefs also had a host of third place finishers: Brian Bogben, discus, 93-11; Anton Ivezaj, shot put, 40-10¼; Steele and Troy Anger, high jump, 5-4; Rich Place, pole vault, 9-6; Asis, 100 dash, 11.1; Henry, mile, 4:57.4; Brian Rogers, 440, 55.8; Steele, 330 hurdles, 46.3.

"Dicosty's performance in the two mile was hard-fought, a gutsy race on his part," Spitz said. "It would have been easy for him to cash it in. That said a lot about him."

Plymouth Christian batters fall

baseball

Plymouth Christian's baseball team suffered a few more growing pains Thursday afternoon.

The first-year prep varsity team suffered its third straight loss, at the hands of Huron Valley, 11-7.

Huron tallied three runs in the top of the third inning, five in the fifth, and three more in the fifth to take a commanding 11-0 advantage.

Plymouth got six runs back in the bottom of the fifth without the benefit of a hit. Huron's Curt Sylvester, the winning pitcher, proved to be generous as he issued numerous walks and wild pitches.

Chris Kaiser was the losing pitcher, but he didn't get much support as his teammates could come up with only three hits. They also committed four errors.

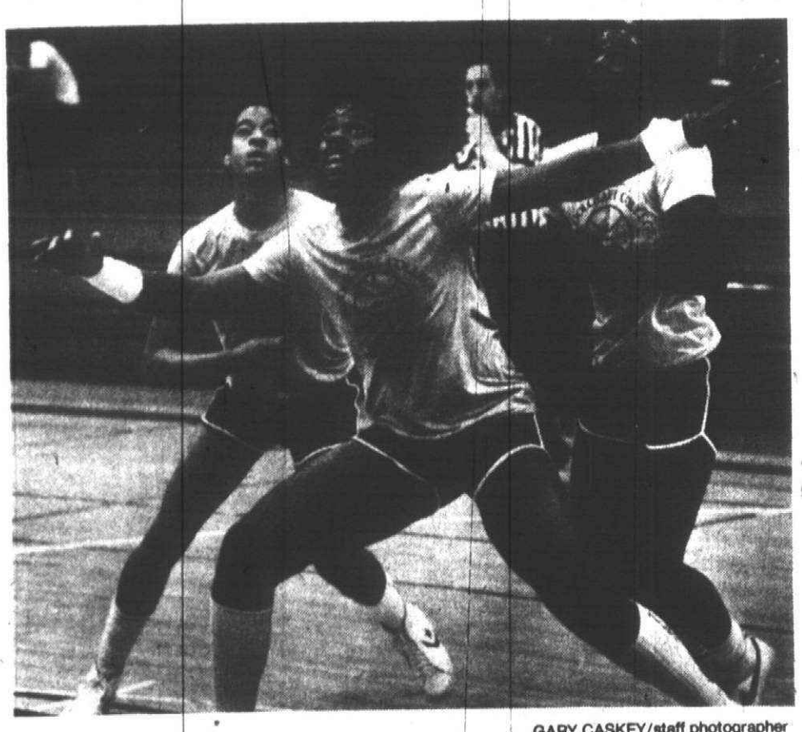
In seven innings of work, the Eagle hurler allowed seven hits, three walks and struck out six.

Metro, Ontario all-star cagers lose

By Brad Emons
staff writer

You don't need a customs agent to check the quality of Ontario basketball.

A gallant effort by the surprising Canadians, however, was not enough as the Michigan AAU prep all-stars won their first-round test Friday in the fifth annual International Basketball Classic at Schoolcraft College, 105-99.



GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Plymouth Salem's Norm Haygood eyes a rebound during Friday's Schoolcraft International Basketball Classic. Haygood was a member of the Metro AAU all-star team, which lost to the Detroit AAU squad, 107-75.

In the tournament opener, played before a sparse turnout, the Detroit AAU all-stars blew out the Metro squad, 107-75.

Area basketball fans certainly got their money's worth in the nightcap as the sharp passing, deft-shooting friends from across the border matched Michigan's best almost basket for basket.

Led by Anthony Watson of Detroit Cooley, the Michigan squad overcame a 51-50 halftime deficit to earn a spot in Saturday's final against Detroit. (Complete results will appear in Thursday's Observer).

Two baskets by Watson near the three-minute mark of the second half broke open a close duel, giving Michigan the victory.

The lightning-quick 6-foot-2 guard, who is headed for either San Diego State or Southern Cal, was named the Michigan team MVP.

Patrick Ford of Cass Tech, who played a steady floor game, added 18 points. Flint Central's Marty Embry, a burly 6-8 center headed for DePaul, added 13 points, and 6-8 Ricky Buttrom of Ecorse had 11.

Birmingham Brother Rice's Paul Jokisch and Orchard Lake St. Mary's Hiram Harris combined to add 10 points for the winners.

THE JERSEY with No. 9 on the back did not belong to Gordie Howe, but to another Canadian, Peter Lambropoulous, who led all scorers with 30 points.

The Windsor guard put on quite a show for some of the U.S. college scouts in attendance. He spearheaded the Ontario attack with his uncanny outside shooting and slick passing.

"I thought we might be intimidated by the great kids from Michigan," said Ontario coach Jerry Brumpton, "but we got off to a great start and finished pretty well. It was about 10 minutes when we took our first timeout. I told the kids that 'you can play with these guys,' and they did."

"We knew they were a good team," said Schoolcraft's Rocky Watkins, the Michigan coach. "I had problems convincing our team that they were for real. Their guards dominated ours. Lambropoulous and Piazza are big-time players."

"We were just happy to hang tough with the best in Michigan," added Brumpton. "It's important to come over here and do a good job. Peter had a great game. He's been like that all season."

REBOUNDING proved to be the deciding factor as Embry, Buttrom and 6-9 Ray Tarpley of Cooley wore down the visitors.

Rock track girls zip by Edsel Ford

Dawn Johnson and Cindy McSurely were double winners Thursday as Plymouth Salem rolled to a 69-54 girls' track victory over Dearborn Edsel Ford.

The Rocks are now 2-0 in dual meets.

Johnson, a junior, won the 100 and 220-yard dashes, respectively, with times of 12.0 and 27.9. She also teamed up with Kelly Bemiss, Ann Glomski and Maureen Dazer to win the 440 relay in 1:56.0.

Glomski, Johnson, Lori Grissom and Linda Lybarger then brought Salem a first in the mile relay (4:34.6).

The Rocks also captured the 880 relay in 1:56.0. That team consisted of Lybarger, Dazer, Bemiss and Glomski.

McSurely was a winner in the 110 and 220 hurdles events with clockings of 18.2 and 34.8, respectively. She was also second in the high jump (4-feet-10-inches).

Salem's Cheri Muneio threw a personal best of 93-8 to win the discus. Sue Remer, also with a season best, took the shot put with a heave of 29-0.

AMONG SALEM'S second-place finishers were: Karen Tanski, discus, 91-7; Shelly Simons, mile, 5:59.5, and 880 run, 2:36.7; and Lybarger, 440 dash, 1:06.3.

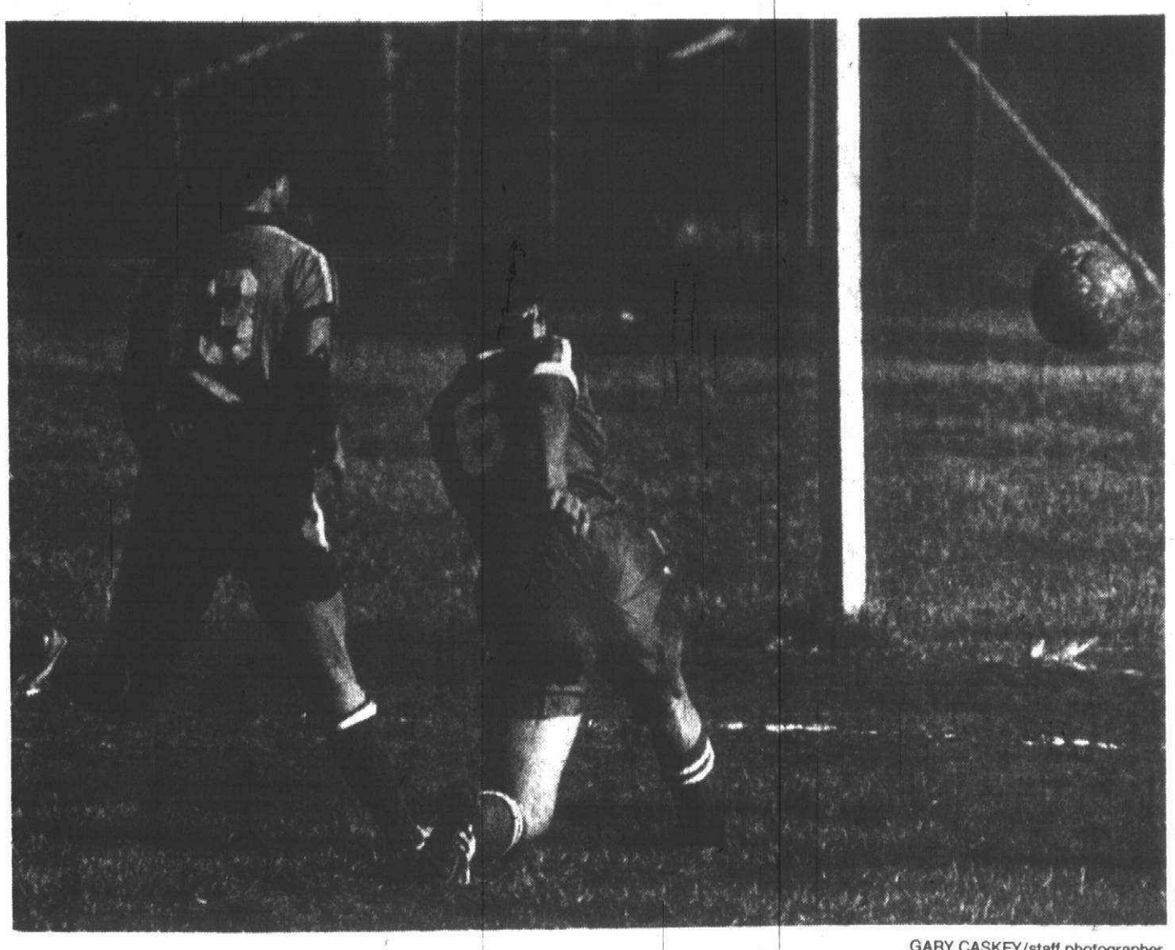
Rock third places went to Remer, discus, 79-10; Debbie Bahna, shot put, 28-11 (tie); Bemiss, long jump, 15-4½, and 220 dash, 28.8; Glomski, high jump, 4-4; Lori Grissom, 880 run, 2:38.0; and Ruth Ettinger, two mile, 14:45.0.

WL WESTERN 105
CANTON 18

"They're real good team, and we're not as strong," said Plymouth Canton girls' track coach Bob Richardson after a lopsided defeat Thursday against Walled Lake Western, 105-18. "With a combination like that, you're going to get scores like this."

The Chiefs, who fell to 1-2 overall, did not record a single first-place finish.

Lisa Bundarin was second in the discus (80-6) and shot put (30-2). Teammate Ida Williams gained second in the 880 run (2:47.0) as did Pat Brennan in the 110 hurdles (18.5). Brennan was third in the 220 hurdles (37.9) and Moe Brophy was third in the 440 dash (1:09.3).



GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Scoring Canton's first goal of the season is Susie Pierce (6). It was the first game ever for the two rival girls' soccer teams.

Kick opener

Kim Reeves. Ruggiero controlled most of the Canton offensive attack against Salem. She should provide a lot of punch this year.

They are joined by assistant captains Caroline Davy and Engel.

Rounding out the squad are: Kristin Smith, Jennifer Buck, Audrey Buck, Allison Roggenbeck, Lynn Thompson, Nancy Gray, Vicki Johnson, Lisa Wood, Susan Opatrny, Celeste Pelchat, Margie Wangbichler, Diana Giummi, Dawn Blake and Pierce.

"The real important thing to me is that the girls appreciate the game," Lonigro said, "and win or lose, that the game was played to the best of their ability. I try to teach them to enjoy the game."

CHURCHILL 5
CANTON 1

Plymouth Canton beat itself in a loss to Livonia Churchill at Canton Friday.

Teri Zuchas netted three goals for the winners, and Amy Brow and Dorene Dudek got credit for one apiece. But, according Canton coach Tony Lonigro, three of those goals the Chiefs kicked into their own net.

Reggie Ruggiero scored the only Canton goal that counted. Churchill outshot the Chiefs, 21-11.

Suburban 8 victory lifts Salem runners

"I can't ever remember us beating them," said Plymouth Salem boys' track coach Gary Balconi.

Salem, which is bowing out of the Suburban Eight League to join the Western Lakes Activities Association next fall, recorded its first track victory over Dearborn Edsel Ford in eight years with a 67-65 triumph Tuesday afternoon.

"Our kids really performed well," said the seventh-year coach. "Our sprinters and field events people did a good job."

Salem peformers winning the field events were Pat Tortora, discus, 134-feet-10-inches; Darrel Bartkowiak, shot put, 43-11½; Scott Fuller, high jump, 6-0; and Dan Lingg, pole vault, 11-6.

Second-place finishers in the field events were Tortora, shot put, 43-4½; Lingg, long jump, 20-1½; Scott Raymer, high jump, 6-0; and Len Czupski, pole vault, 11-0.

Salem won the 880-yard relay in 1:37.26. That team consisted of Mike Adzima, Marc Tindall, Dan Harkness and Mike McBride. Teammates Scott Bublin, Scott Smith, Mark Davis and Tindall took the 440 relay in 45.36.

Canton tennis team edges Bentley, 4-3

It's safe to say that Plymouth Canton has a formidable singles lineup while Livonia Bentley boasts a potent doubles lineup.

But that made all the difference between winning an losing Wednesday afternoon as Canton nipped Bentley in a non-league boys' tennis match 4-3.

"I thought it would be very close," reminded Canton coach Jim Hayes. "It could have gone either way."

Canton scored all its points in singles as No. 1 player Tom Pasley led the way with a 6-2, 6-3 triumph over Bill Swanson.

In other singles matches: Ron Austen (No. 2) edged Jeff Earll 6-2, 2-6, 6-4; Rubin Rabillas (No. 3) outlasted Jay Perala 4-6, 6-2, 6-2; and Ray Lademan (No. 4) beat Tim Ross 6-4, 6-3.

Bentley won all the doubles matches with Marty Clark and Paul Drake (No. 1) defeating Dave Schendel and Russ Roberts 6-4, 6-1; Joe Cook and Eric Ferehess (No. 2) beating Todd Garrett and Tim Feldcamp 6-4, 6-1; and Ron Simmons and Art Garret downing Joe Melican and Eric Popp 6-2, 6-0.

'Porky's' theme of teens and sex pulls in crowds

A raunchy comedy about a group of teen-age boys with (what else?) sex on their minds, "Porky's" (R) is a $4.5-million romp from 20th Century-Fox that is pigging out at the box office.

Why are teens around the country waiting in long lines to see "Porky's"? Apparently, adolescents today have no difficulty connecting with the adolescents in this movie, set in southern Florida in the mid-1950s. The themes are easily understood by any generation.

"Porky's" is the name of a redneck dive that has a magnetic attraction for the overheated boys of Angel Beach High School, who are anxious for sexual experience. The movie doesn't mince on their horniness as it follows the adventures of six buddies in an era when the double standard was still the rule.

The language in this movie is enough to make a mother's hair fall out, after first standing straight up from shock. That's another aspect of male adolescence that hasn't changed. It's still macho for boys to use vulgar language. Is it any wonder youngsters go for "Porky's," which offers sizzling language, sexual jokes, nudity and a put-down of adult authority?

IF YOU THINK this sounds like a teen-age exploitation movie, you're right. But, and this may be hard to believe, it does have redeeming features, including a basic, if coarse, honesty. Bob Clark, who both wrote and directed the movie, based it on some of his own experiences and fantasies as he was growing up in Fort Lauderdale.

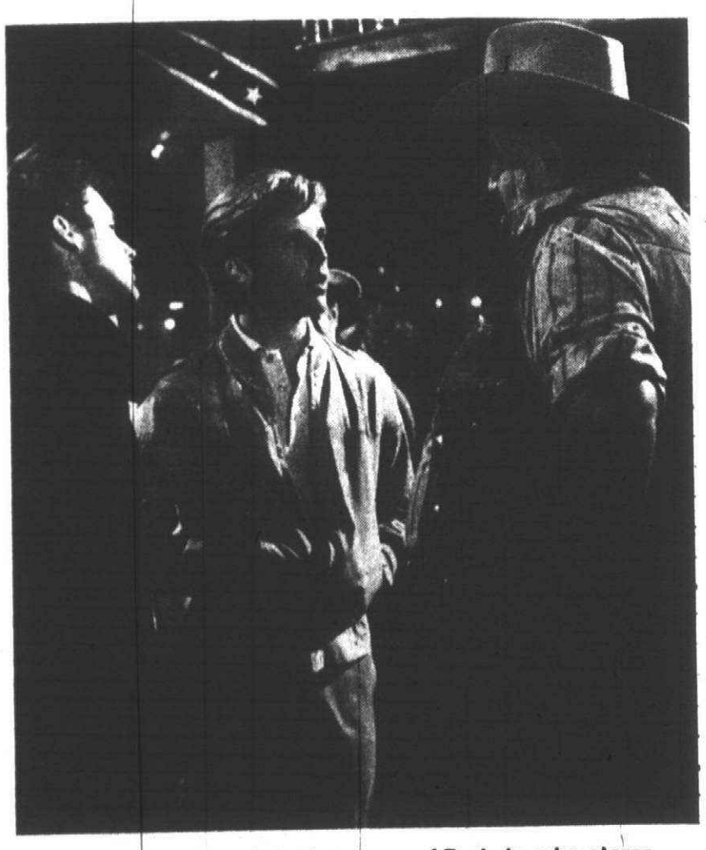
It comes across, for all its frenzied hormonal activity, as a happy and engaging film. The incidents are exaggerations of gargantuan proportions but with a germ of truthfulness that makes these youngsters appealing in their desperation for sexual activity.

The actors are relatively unknown, including the six boys on whose exploits the film concentrates: Dan Monahan (Pee Wee), Mark Herrier (Billy), Wyatt Knights (Tommy), Roger Wilson (Mickey), Cyril O'Reilly (Tim) and Tony Ganios (Meat).

Porky's, with its garish neon sign inviting everyone to "Get It at Porky's," lures the boys, who pool their money and offer the money to Porky. In return, he is supposed to set them up with the strippers who work there.

He takes their money and throws the boys out. When one of the boys returns to protest, he is beaten up. Then it is up to the boys, with the help of a sympathetic athletic coach, to retaliate and teach Porky a lesson.

A full-scale operation is launched, not only to "get" Porky but some mean lawmen as well. This leads to a finale that is a triumph of slapstick mayhem in which youth prevails.



Chuck Mitchell (right), is the owner of Porky's, who stares down underage adolescents anxious to become customers at the redneck dive.

Victorian lady planned ahead

By Margaret Keys
special writer

Everyone knows that Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin." But few have even heard of her older sister, Catharine, who also wrote a number of books.

Catharine Beecher was, in many ways, a much more interesting woman. Her accomplishments were many. Among them was the designing of a house that in its purpose and interior plan shows the first break with Victorian rigidity and a promise of the freedom of contemporary design.

The Beechers were a remarkable family. Lyman Beecher, the father, was a New England preacher and later, president of a seminary in Cincinnati. He was the father of 13 children and ruled them with typical Victorian authority. But he also encouraged their intellectual interests so that family life was lively and stimulating.

Every one of his seven sons became a churchman. One of them, Henry Ward Beecher, minister of the famous Plymouth Church in Brooklyn, was known nationwide for his spellbinding oratory.

Catharine was the oldest of the Beecher children. The mother died when the children were young, and although her father married again, Catharine considered herself the mainstay of the family as she was growing up and looked after her younger brothers and sisters.

She became engaged to a brilliant young mathematician who, a few months before the marriage date, was lost in a sea disaster. Catharine then determined to devote herself completely to her family and a life of good works.

After the family moved to Cincinnati, Harriet and Catharine joined a literary club, and it was here that Harriet Beecher read her first literary efforts to the group. Catharine also prepared material to present to the group, and her interest in houses is revealed in the title of one of her manuscripts, "A Description of Castle Ward, the Residence of My Ancestors."

CATHARINE WAS interested primarily in education and founded several girls' schools. But her interest in educating women wasn't limited to schools. She felt strongly that women should be thoroughly trained for their important role in family life. In 1841 she wrote "A Treatise on Domestic Economy for the Use of Young Ladies."

This was a detailed guide to the young housewife covering every phase of running a household. The young woman was told how to cut up a chicken, decorate the parlor, care for the sick, pack a trunk, dry herbs, prepare home remedies, remove stains, make a quilt, care for an infant and how to perform countless other duties. This popular book was reprinted annually for many years.

House lore

CARRYING HER interest in the well-managed home a step further, Catharine Beecher published a series of house designs in her household book of 1869. Years before anyone had even thought about "time-study" plans for efficient operation, Catharine worked out plans for a house skillfully designed for the homemaker, her family and their activities.

She anticipated contemporary homes with their built-in cabinets and walk-in closets by supplying her bedrooms with large closets and her kitchen with well-organized storage space and a kitchen work center. Bins, storage areas and work surfaces reveal her knowledge of kitchen chores and how to arrange things to make work easier. She designed movable storage walls — and all this when clothes were usually kept in a piece of furniture called a "wardrobe" and kitchen storage relied on the pantry.

Her house contained a room she called the "home room," a multi-purpose room on the first floor that had a closet and a dressing room. It was equally suitable for an overnight guest, for emergency use when a child was sick or for accommodating a number of women for a ladies' sewing party. Off the kitchen Beecher provided a small room for the care of each baby that came along. The busy housewife was only a step away when nursing or diaper changing was needed.

Harriet may have achieved fame for "Uncle Tom's Cabin," but let's give some recognition to Catharine.

Since my sister, Nina Simonds, is considered one of the foremost authorities of Chinese cuisine in the country, I have had the pleasure of eating a lot of excellent Chinese food. But I have never eaten at any restaurant as consistently excellent as the Sze-Chuan in Canton, Michigan. With delicious, spicy dishes and reliable weekly specials, this restaurant is well worth the 20 minute drive from Ann Arbor. I do it almost once a week!

A home of your own...it's a lot more than a roof over your head.

Besides being the largest purchase you'll probably ever make, a home of your own represents a lot more than a roof over your head.

It's living in a neighborhood of your own choosing...having access to good recreational, health, and educational facilities...and having a hedge against inflation.

When you own your own home, its value will increase...as much as 10% in the coming year, experts are predicting. For people who don't own, it's the cost that will be going up.

To find the home you want, talk to an Observer & Eccentric area Realtor. Realtors belong to the National Association of Realtors —a group of real estate professionals working to reduce inflation and mortgage interest rates so more Americans can become home owners.

Fight inflation with a home of your own. Call a Realtor today.

Is tomorrow a better time than today to buy your home?

The fact is, the better time is right now. Certainly, home prices are high, and so are mortgage rates. But consider that the value of housing in the 1970's appreciated at the rate of 9.2% a year. And when you add in the increasing demand for housing, the shortage that now exists, and the rising costs of land and materials, it's possible the figure could be even higher in the years ahead.
With an investment opportunity like that, there's no time like the present. To find out more, there's only one person to see. A Realtor can furnish you with good ideas on down payments and financing, and answer all your questions about real estate.

THE EDITORS OF ROAD & TRACK UNANIMOUSLY CHOSE SAAB AS THE BEST SPORTS SEDAN FOR THE '80s.
NOT BMW. NOT AUDI. NOT VOLVO. SAAB.
The editors of Road & Track magazine were asked to come up with "10 best cars for the '80s."
We were flattered, but not very surprised, when the Saab 900 Turbo ended up on every editor's list.
As for why, they just said, "We have all enjoyed its sporting characteristics on the road."
So if you don't have the time to drive every top-performance sedan on the market, start with the one preferred by those who did. The Saab 900 Turbo.
