The Canton Connection

SURF'S UP: For the past several years, parents of seniors at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools have hosted an after-graduation party for the graduates. The purpose of the party is to provide the graduates a chance to celebrate in a safe and relaxed environment. This year's theme for the parties is "Surf's Up!" and the parties are scheduled for Sunday, June 8, at Salem High. To plan for the party for some 600 seniors, the parents' committee is now accepting donations of cash or prizes. Anyone who can make a contribution should call committee co-chairs Linda Estey at 455-1000 or Bill Estey at 523-5973. Committee members include Nancy Moore, Barbara Bush, Michelle and Gordon Kisabeth, Marilyn Anason, Maryann Agdanowski and Zana Taurianen.

The parks and rec department has arranged for a trip to the Ice Capades on Saturday, March 15. The bus will leave Canton Township Hall for Joe Louis Arena at 10:15 a.m. and return about 3:15 p.m. The charge is $8.50 per person. The Ice Capades will feature 1984 World Champions Paul Martini and Barbara Underhill, Ewoks on Ice and more than 100 skaters in "Bravo America." There is a limit of two grandchildren per grandparent. Register by mail or in person with Canton Parks and Recreation, 1150 Canton Center Road, Canton 48188.

FESTIVAL MEALS: The Canton Country Festival Board is now accepting applications for meals and concessions for the 1986 festival. Interested parties should call Gina Metzler at 397-8547.

Land value reviews will be heard

By Diane Gale
staff writer

If you have a gripe about your property tax assessment your chance to appeal is this week.

Canton property owners will be given time to argue their assessments during the Canton Board of Review sessions at the Canton Township Hall meeting room. Property assessments are 50 percent of market value, and are multiplied by millage rates to determine property taxes.

EACH SUBDIVISION in Canton was assessed separately, said Glenn Shaw Jr., Canton assessor.

Property assessments in 13 subdivisions increased an average 3-4 percent, Shaw said. Assessments in six subdivisions were lowered 3-6 percent. Only the 3,100 property owners with assessment changes were sent notices, which were mailed Feb. 24.

"Higher-priced homes are increasing more dramatically than lower-priced homes," Shaw said.

"By reviewing each subdivision separately we feel people are treated fairly and consequently people know what's happening with their neighborhood," Shaw said. "Every year we review the market place by subdivision."

It's unfair to change assessments on a communitywide basis, Shaw said, because the highs and lows in subdivisions would be spread across the board.

Property owners who disagree with their assessment may appeal 8:30-11:30 a.m. and 1-5 p.m. March 4-7; from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. March 8; 8:30-11:30 a.m. and 1-5 p.m. March 10; and 3-9 p.m. March 11. Appointments may be made by calling 397-1000. Appeals also will be heard on a walk-in basis.

FOR THE SECOND YEAR, all Canton property owners may appeal by mail.

Reasons for appealing should be listed in the letter, which must be received by March 11 in the assessor's office at Canton Township Hall, 1150 Canton Center Road, Canton 48188.

When reviewing your assessment notice, check for calculation errors. If you believe your property is overassessed, compare property sales with similar types of homes. Take this data with you to the board of review as a basis for appeal.

Another reason for appeal is financial hardship, which also must be proven.

"People sometimes don't understand that we don't deal with tax rates; we deal with property values," Shaw said. "But we understand that the result of the assessment are taxes."

Property owners who appeal their assessments should expect an answer by mail the first week in April.

Property assessments increased in the following subdivisions: Mayfair Village II, Sunflower Village I, Carriage Hills II, Wilshire I, Carriage Hills III, Carriage Hills IV, Carriage Hills V, Condos of Carriage Hills, Willow Creek IV, Condos of Bedford, Cherry Hill Pines I, Embassy Square I and Forest Brook I.

Property assessments fell in the following subdivisions:

Holiday Park III, Windsor Park VII, Hampton Court I, Condos of Foxthorn, Cherry Hill Oaks I and Salem Manor I.

Personal stories illustrate life with aged parents

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Everyone who attended "The Other Generation Gap: You and Your Aging Relatives" seminar last week had different stories but they shared a common problem.

They wanted help coping with the needs of an aged relative as well as dealing with the effects that person has on themselves and other family members.

"I told my mother I'm coming here because she's killing herself," a Canton woman said. "My mother is deteriorating in health helping my grandmother — by bathing her, changing her, carrying her to the commode . . . My father comes home every lunch hour to help out. My father had retired, but when they asked him back to work, my mother told him they can't go anywhere with grandmother there anyway.

"If I sound bitter, I guess I am."

SHE'S WORRIED that her parents, in their 70s, are wearing themselves down caring for her 91-year-old grandmother. Her parents live more than an hour's drive away, which cuts down on the time she is able to help.

Iris Gill, another Canton resident, attended the seminar with her sister, brother and sister-in-law. Her 91-year-old mother takes turns living with them and Gill's other sister. They're trying to put off placing their mother in a nursing home but Gill admitted that day may be soon if their mother's needs become too much to handle.

"He's here because his 85-year-old father lives with us, and we know that he's not going to be able to go back and live on his own," one woman said pointing to her husband. "We want help in making decisions."

Another woman admitted she "almost felt guilty" talking about her mother. But if she had bad feelings at the start of the three-hour free seminar at Canton Township hall they seemed to be wiped away as she shared more stories.

The 14 people who sat in the circle listened to each other's problems, contributed anecdotes and some made suggestions by drawing from their own experiences.

The program — co-sponsored by Catherine McAuley Health Center (CMHC), Canton Senior Citizens Office and Northville Community Education — was monitored by Janet Zielasko, health promotion coordinator for CMHC based in the Arbor Health Building in Plymouth; Cindy Beel-Bates, McAuley clinical nurse specialist; and Dianne Neihengen, Canton senior citizen's coordinator.

They discussed physiological changes that develop as people get older, and shot-down myths often connected with age. A video recording of a spunky 87-year-old woman and her

Rash of burglaries remains unsolved

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Burglaries in Canton Township have been on the rise since last December and police suspect a fad among youngsters is the cause.

From Jan. 1 through Feb. 24 some 85 breaking and enterings were reported, and 24 more were reported from Dec. 1, 1985, to January. Commonly 30 burglaries are reported monthly in Canton.

"We believe these are predominantly committed by juveniles," said Canton Police Lt. Larry Stewart. "It's almost as if it's a fad."

Break-ins have also increased in Plymouth Township since the first of the year but not nearly to the degree as in Canton. Seventeen burglaries were committed in Plymouth from Jan. 1 through last Friday morning, according to Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry.

Berry said he believes the same persons are responsible for many of the break-ins in both communities. The two departments are sharing information, he added.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD hardest hit in Canton is bounded by Ford Road, Cherry Hill, the east township border and Haggerty. A total of 17 burglaries were reported in this area from Dec. 1, 1985, to Feb. 24. This represents 15.5 percent of burglaries in the township for that time period.

Brookside Village subdivision, Canton Commons and the Palmer House Apartments are in the area burglarized the most during the three-month period.

The area hardest hit in Plymouth Township is bounded by I-275, Hines Drive, Eckles and Joy, Berry said.

The kids are getting into the homes by knocking on the door, and if no one answers they break-in, Stewart said. If someone is home they make-up a fictitious name, ask if that person is home, and leave.

To curtail the problems residents should look for suspicious happenings.

"People need to be aware of what's happening, not only with their own homes but their neighbors' — particularly during the day," Stewart said.

RESIDENTS CONCERNED with knowing whether their homes are properly secured to ward-off burglars should call the Canton Police Department at 397-3000 and officer will be sent out to make suggestions. Plymouth police (453-3869) offer the same service.

Police say residents should take note when youngsters are seen leaving a car and walking through the neighborhood. Police ask residents to call the department when teenagers ask for someone who doesn't live at your home. Get a description of a car if possible, a license plate number and a description of the kids.

"The only way we'll slow this down is to apprehend them," Stewart said.

Stewart estimated at least 12 people have been arrested on breaking and entering charges since December 1985. He said an estimated 50 percent are juveniles and the remaining are young adults.

"IT'S NOT just one group doing this," Stewart said. "When we have them in talking with the officers for interviews, they say things like: 'Well Fred does it, and George does it.'"

Canton police also suspect most of these burglaries are taking place during daylight hours because residents most often reported the incidents between 5 and 6 p.m. which is a time when many people return home from work, Stewart speculated.

The next most popular time residents reported burglaries is between 11 a.m. and noon.

Most of the burglaries occurred on Sunday and the second most happened on Wednesday, according to Canton Police computer print-outs.

Most Plymouth break-ins have occurred during daylight or early-evening hours, Berry said. Entry point is usually through an attached garage.

"Be alert to any kind of suspicious activity and report it to police. Don't wait," Berry said.

School district land eyed for park use

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Township Park would expand by about 17 acres if Plymouth Township officials follow through on plans to acquire the vacant land currently owned by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The parcel, situated just north of the park at McClumpha and Ann Arbor Trail, is highlighted by a mature beech-maple woodlot.

Township officials estimate a purchase price in the range of $60,000 to $170,000. They will apply for a state grant that would pay for up to half of the purchase price.

The school district bought the land in 1968 for $59,885 as a future school site.

Serious negotiations haven't yet begun and probably won't until the township gets word — probably this summer — on its grant application, said Supervisor Maurice Breen.

The land isn't up for sale and there are no immediate plans to build a school there, said Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business for the Plymouth-Canton Schools.

PRELIMINARY site plans prepared by the township would keep the woods as a nature area with some kind of footpath and develop two soccer fields.

Township officials prefer that the school district donate the land or at least sell at its purchase price.

Hoedel doesn't foresee either possibility.

"Personally, I don't think that would be in order," he said. "If the district paid good money, we kept it all the years, we should get what we could out of it."

As for selling the parcel at 1968 prices, "that's where you get into discussion with the board," Hoedel added.

"We don't have a lot of money to throw around," said Breen. The supervisor also said that he's never really optimistic about favorable grant reaction from the state due to the township's relative personal affluence.

There is no argument about the quality of the 17 acres, which is zoned residential and open spaces.

"It's a beautiful piece of property from any point of view — single-family homes, condos or park," Hoedel said.

"We just don't want it to go commercial — housing or whatever," said Breen.

The grant application details the township's position on the parcel.

"FAILURE TO acquire this site would result in the sale of the property

Homeowners protest strip shopping mall

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

The sign is up at Morton Taylor and Joy to inform residents of the proposed location of Coventry Commons East.

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Mayflower subdivision residents are protesting a proposed strip shopping mall at Morton Taylor and Joy.

The developer, Nelson/Ross Properties of Franklin, Mich., planned to build a shopping center called Coventry Commons East with an A & P, Arbor Drugs and ACO as the anchor stores.

The developers also proposed to pave Morton Taylor to Warren which will increase traffic in the subdivision, said Michael D. Faloon, co-chairman of an ad hoc committee for land use in Mayfair.

FALOON ARGUES the land at the southeast corner of Morton Taylor and Joy is to be used for "entertainment and leisure activities" which is outlined in a Wayne Circuit Court consent judgment in November 1975.

Mayfair residents say they became party to the judgment when they sold their property.

The safety of Hulsing Elementary School pupils crossing a heavily traveled road was a concern raised by many of the 60 some Mayfair residents who showed up to protest at the Canton Township Board of Trustees meeting Tuesday.

"We feel if they put in what was intended the amount of traffic increase on Morton Taylor wouldn't be that great, and the hours that there would be increased traffic would not be the hours that children are going to school," Faloon said Friday.

Attorneys representing the developer, the township and homeowners have planned a meeting for Thursday to determine if Mayfair residents are party to the consent judgment, said Supervisor James Poole.

AT A MEETING in December the board approved the site plan contingent on the consent judgment change.

"Whether the residents have standing or not, in either case, the township is not in the middle," Poole said. "In either case the township can approve the site plan and if the residents are party they can turn it down." Poole is to report back to the board with any developments.

Fred Fechheimer, an attorney representing the developer, said: "Unfortunately, at this point, we have spent a substantial amount of money. From our point of view timing is the difference. We think we have proceeded on very good faith and, at this point, we are deeply concerned."

He said the company already has spent "somewhere in the six figures" on the project.

"As a position we in Mayfair aren't against development of that land as long as it's done with the intent of the land use restriction," Faloon said. "If they wanted to do something a little bit different we are real pleased to listen, but the strip mall they are proposing is far more dramatically different than what has been stipulated here."

Specifically the 1975 consent judgment provides that the "conduct and operation of business pertaining to entertainment and leisure activities including theaters, physical culture, fitness and health studios and establishments and including tennis and racquetball facilities but not including drive-in theatres, amusement arcades and or massage parlors ."

Faloon said only about 25 to 30 percent of Mayflower homeowners are members of the subdivision homeowners association. So far, with only 140 homes contacted, 260 signatures have been collected from residents opposing the shopping mall because it doesn't follow "the intent" of the consent judgment, Faloon said.

Millage defeat keeps school board upset

By Sue McDonald
staff writer

The Jan. 20 defeat of a 2 mill tax increase has several Wayne-Westland school board members still frustrated.

The board for the first time Thursday night addressed the ramifications of the millage defeat, prompted by Trustee Kenneth Barnhill's comments that residents "didn't completely understand the situation before the election."

"The idea was to run a very positive campaign," Barnhill noted. "In the past we've been criticized for threatening the community with 'if you don't approve this, we'll have to cut that.' I think what I've heard and what I feel since the election is that no one said that even if the millage passes there was going to be very severe cuts — severe cuts in programs, severe cuts in personnel.

"The millage didn't pass and the cuts are going to be even more severe now."

The school district includes most of Westland and part of Canton Township.

The millage, earmarked for such things as computer education, instructional materials and equipment, building repair and maintenance and additional support for extracurricular activities, would have generated $1.5 million a year. It also would have generated an additional $900,000 in state funds for the district, according to Barnhill.

"WHAT THE community didn't realize is that the state would have contributed an additional $900,000, which could have been used to office reductions from declining enrollment," Barnhill added. "Business as usual in Wayne-Westland means cuts every year, and we don't have any more fat to trim."

He acknowledged that the board and school administration have begun work on next year's budget, work that requires trimming $1.5 to $2 million due to a decline in the student population.

The amount is less than the $5 million in programs and personnel trimmed last year. Many of last year's cuts were restored as funds became available during the current fiscal year.

Barnhill said that it is "very easy for us to play Monday morning quarterback" about the millage defeat, but noted that in the case of tax increases "I don't want to threaten people."

"It can election campaign] has to be done in a straight-forward, honest way," he added. "Maybe it shouldn't be all negative and maybe it shouldn't be all positive."

"Experience has taught us how not to do things," board president Kathleen Chorbagian said. "We've been accused of using the children as pawns, and this time we tried to get away from that."

"We are a poor school district, and we need all the money we can get. We're not out of the woods; we may not be for years. We don't know the answers, and we don't have the solution yet. Hopefully, some sunnight will shine on us and a rich uncle will find us."

WHILE THE board members lamented the rejection of the millage, one member of the audience indicated that some voters voiced concern that the new revenue would have been used for teachers' salaries.

"People don't trust you," he said. "Maybe if it could have been put in a separate fund rather than the general fund ... they might have gone for it," he said.

"The (Funding Effective Schools) committee decided to earmark the millage because the last thing they wanted to have was someone say the money could go for teacher salaries," Barnhill responded.

"How do you do it and which way do you go to reach everyone in a district, where some don't want to hear or understand," Chorbagian added.

Superintendent Dennis O'Neill shared Branhill's frustration about the millage defeat, adding that "there was a lot of misinformation, or it was a case of not understanding the information put out" in this election.

"We tried to zero in on some very specific issues," he added.

"A lot was not said during the election," board secretary Mathew McCusker noted.

"Apparently, the committee is guilty of sinning by omission."

Stories of life with aged shared daughters gave an example of how one family coped.

THE WOMAN'S daughters talked about how they've adjusted their lives and the services they tapped to help their mother change her lifestyle.

After the video, they convened into two groups, and talked about why the family was successful. And they used the story as a jumping pad to draw insights on their own situations.

A Plymouth woman confided that she was having an "enormously hard time handling" her mother's physical and psychological changes.

"My mother wants her independence, and we don't want her to lose her dignity," the woman said. "I want to keep my patience more and sometimes I get so unnerved. When I go over there and I turn a corner, she's constantly asking 'Where are you?' So before I leave the room I tell her I'm leaving and then she gets upset and says 'I'm not a baby.'

"I want my kids to remember the way grandma used to be," she said. "I miss her miserably, and now I'm watching her wetting her pants and all this degradation."

Many in the group nodded in agreement when she added: "I don't want my children to have to do this for me."

She and her sister-in-law are planning to build a home where they can take care of themselves and other family members when they are older, the woman added. She also talked about plans to make a video-tape of herself as she is now to pass on to her grandchildren and great-grandchildren so they can see her during her youth.

A couple with aging relatives in Illinois wanted information about how they could help from a distance. Neihengen provided a list of services and numbers that could be called locally and nationally.

PLYMOUTH AND Canton residents may call 422-1052 for information about services that are provided to the elderly.

"What we're trying to let you know is that there are services available and from there you have to do some digging," Neihengen said.

Each session served as an introduction to a six-week series from March 19 through April 23 every Wednesday at the Arbor Health Building at Ann Arbor Trail and Harvey in Plymouth.

The goal of the series is to help people better understand their relationships with aging relatives, learn about the aging process, develop coping skills to deal with the emotional and physical needs of the aged and to become aware of community resources that can help lighten the burden.

This program costs $15 per person and $25 for two. Registration is limited to 20. For more information, call 455-5869.

to private parties for development. This would, without doubt, lead to substantial destruction and removal of this natural asset."

Sarah and Brent Gephart, who live on Betty Hill, said several forms of wildlife, including hawks and raccoons, make their home there.

"I could see teachers taking classes there as projects," Sarah Gephart said.

Several people who live near the vacant property told the township board last week that they prefer that no more development occur there. They also raised questions about fencing and greenbelting if the township were to acquire the parcel and expand the park.

TOOTSIE, WOOTSIE: Msgr. Clement W. Kern Knights of Columbus 8284 is conducting the annual fund drive to assist the mentally retarded on March 21-22. Residents are asked to make cash donations to K of C members who, in turn, will distribute Tootsie Roll candies. The K of C members can be recognized by their colorful hats and bright yellow aprons emblazoned with the words "K of C help the mentally retarded."

TO BE 10: Some local students are participating in the 40th anniversary celebration of Mercy High School, Farmington Hills, by playing roles in "Annie Get Your Gun." The play will be presented at 8 p.m. March 14 and 15 an'12 p.m. Sunday, March 16. Playing in the story of Annie Oakley and the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show are Lisa Bargende of Plymouth and Ed Reed, Dave Sebuck and Ray Setlock of Canton. Tickets are $4 for reserved seats, admission for children 12 and younger are $2. For tickets call 476-8020. The dress rehearsal on Wednesday, March 12, is free to senior citizens and the handicapped.

FROM D.C.: U.S. Rep. William D. Ford, D-Taylor (whose 15th District includes Canton), said he is pleased with the federal court decision striking down major provisions of the Gramm-Rudman deficit control act. Ford said in addition to being unconstitutional, Gramm-Rudman "would have tied the federal government into economic knots by arbitrarily cutting programs but with no regard for the human or fiscal consequences. The final word, of course, will be with the U.S. Supreme Court. The real solution, regardless of what the high court decides, certainly is not to be found in a law as restrictive and irresponsible as Gramm-Rudman."

Earlier Ford had criticized the White House's proposed federal budget for fiscal 1987 for including the elimination or reduction in student financial aid programs totaling $1.4 billion below fiscal year 1985. "The Administration is proposing a lobotomy for the brainpower of America. This proposed budget will snuff out the candle of hope for students from low-income and working families for whom education is the route to a better life."

Speaking of lawmakers, Radio 16 WAAM in Ann Arbor recently slipped up when announcing legislators it would interview this week on the Ted Heusel Show. The list of Heusel's guests included freshman state Rep. James Kosteva, but erred in identifying Kosteva as a Plymouth Democrat. Kosteva, of course, is Canton's lawmaker.

PHONE VOLUNTEER: Muzette Carroll, daughter of Norma and Robert Carroll of Canton, was among the volunteers to help Spring Arbor College exceed its annual phoneathon goal of $100,000 by some $14,000. Carroll has volunteered for three consecutive years, beginning with raising $250 in her freshman year, $1,000 as a sophomore, and $750 this year. She attended Gallimore Elementary, Plymouth Christian Academy and Plymouth Salem High School.

Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers®
Celebrates 4th Anniversary

This month, Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers® is celebrating its fourth year in Detroit. Currently, there are five locations in the Detroit area and over 180 Centers nationally.

The company, which began in 1979, guarantees that patients will lose 3-7 pounds per week if the patient follows the prescribed program. Essentially, this means a patient could lose between 42 to 98 pounds during a 14-week period. This amazingly fast rate is closely monitored by a medical team of doctors, nurses and certified weight loss counselors to ensure the safety and health of each patient.

Anyone who has ever tried to lose weight would probably be skeptical of such promising figures, but Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers has the proof to support its claims—thin, healthy, and happy patients. "The Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers' difference is its fine reputation, 7-year track record of success, and respect even among the medical community.

Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers' prices are very reasonable considering the one-to-one personalized attention and medical supervision each patient receives. Patients soon realize that the benefits of being thin and healthy far outweigh the small cost involved, especially after the cost of expensive junk foods has been eliminated from their grocery bills.

THE ALLEN PARK STAFF

Medical Staff Provides Supervision
As an out-patient medical weight loss clinic, Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers is serious about health safety. Each patient undergoes an initial medical screening before acceptance into the program. The patient then receives medical supervision throughout their program by the centers' staffs of medical doctors, registered or licensed practical nurses (R.N.s or L.P.N.s) and certified weight loss counselors.

For ultimate convenience to the patient, all medical services are performed right at the centers, which are open Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Delicious Dieting—Without Hunger
Imagine losing weight while feasting on lobster, chicken, beef, turkey, fish, shrimp, vegetables, fruits, breads and cheese! Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers incorporates these, and other grocery store foods into a diet that looks more like the menu of your favorite restaurant.

Each food on the patient's carefully-planned daily menus is chosen to comprise a well-balanced, nutritious meal or snack. The best part is that the patients are not hungry; in fact, many patients complain there is too much food to consume each day!

Behavioral Guidance A Key Factor
Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers not only addresses weight loss biologically, but psychologically as well. Through behavioral guidance classes, patients become aware of unproductive, self-defeating eating habits. The benefits of this combined approach were illustrated by a recent University of Pennsylvania Study, reports TIME magazine in their January 20, 1986 issue: "Obese patients were randomly assigned to groups using three techniques. One group was put on a low-calorie diet. Another underwent behavior therapy ...the third got a combination of the two methods. Those receiving therapy lost the same amount of weight in six months as those on the low-calorie diet lost in four months. But they regained only half as much in the year after treatment ended. Those in the combination group did the best of all, however. They lost the most weight, and a year later they had regained the least..."

Extra Pounds Gone Forever
Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers believes their job isn't finished once the patient has reached their goal weight. Often, the hardest part of dieting is keeping the pounds off for good. When patients finish the weight loss portion of the program, they have the eating habits and knowledge needed to maintain their ideal weight virtually forever.

Once the patient's goal weight is reached, a period of caloric adjustment follows to stabilize the body's new weight. In addition, a full, one year maintenance schedule is established and encouraged.

In the year following, if up to three pounds are gained, Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers invites each patient to return at no additional charge. The counselors will gladly help the patient lose these few extra pounds before more weight is gained and the weight problem recurs.

An inside look at township boss gathering

IN TOWNSHIP government, the minutes of the last meeting are usually dull as coal, as dry as dust. An exception is the Wayne County Association of Township Supervisors' meeting of Jan. 30. We are indebted to a spy from the Municipal League for purloining this copy to share with you.

GENERAL meeting took place at the Hyatt Regency on 30 January, 1986, with a working luncheon.

Motion by (Northville Township Supervisor Susan) Heintz, second by (Brownstown Supervisor Phoebe) Stromp that Supervisor (James) Kelly of Redford Township be the township representative to the Wayne County Tax Allocation Board. Unanimously passsed. Acceptance speech was a flop.

Motion by Heintz, seconded by (Van Buren Supervisor Lynn) Hamilton, that the honorable Supervisor from Plymouth Township, Maurice Breen Sr., Esq., be appointed as the township representative to the FAUS Committee. Unanimously passed. Acceptance speech not bad.

Tim Richard

THE PERSON mentioned in the paragraph above volunteered to send a letter to Dewey Henry of the Downriver Community Conference suggesting an annual joint meeting with Wayne County Association of Township Supervisors or Conference of Western Wayne. Big Deal.

Motion by Heintz, seconded by Hoffman, to appoint "What's his name" from Canton (Poole? Supervisor Poole?) to the Wayne County Task Force for Parks Support. Unanimously passed. Acceptance speech extremely well accepted. Nine communities requested 100 copies.

Report from Supervisor, Her Royal Highness, Suzy Heintz, reference SEMTA Supervisor Heintz had positive and optimistic feelings about SEMTA as she briefed us, briefed us, briefed us and briefed us.

She also informed us she would give us another report next month. Therefore, we have been forewarned, and five people said if they did not have something to do during the next month's meeting, they would certainly try to find something.

The February meeting will be hosted by Brownstown Township and will be held at the Presidential Inn.

Respectfully submitted,
James E. Poole,
Secretary

River cleanup worth wait

the stroller
W.W. Edgar

Twenty years.

That seems like a long time. But it will be a small price to pay to give the young folks in the next century a great gift for them and their children.

That's the amount of time we will have to wait, according to the officials now working on a plan to clean the Rouge River and put it in the shape that Mother Nature intended.

They plan to use prisoners, serving short terms, to do the work and it will be a good job if they can do it.

ONE MUST remember that the Rouge River is not just a small stream. It runs for miles and has been subjected to all sorts of trouble for several decades. There have been — for one reason or another — twin sewers and the raw waste has caused the stream to become poisoned.

It will take quite a time to have that corrected. And nature, along with the prisoners, will have a big job to do.

But looking at the area there is more than the stream to clean. Insofar as the people living in the Plymouth community are concerned, there are three lakes that could be jewels if the work is satisfactory.

Just take a look one of these days while passing. There is Phoenix Lake which has good fishing at times and is well patronized. Then in the center is Wilcox Lake which, when cleaned, should be a nice entrance into Plymouth Township.

After passing Wilcox Lake, one comes to Newburgh Lake and what a prize that could be to the entire community. But it will take time.

Newburgh Lake is a large body of water. It could be good for swimming and fishing. But most of all it could be a haven for the birds returning from their winter hangouts.

Each year, thousands of folks cross the Detroit River to visit Jack Miner's place in Canada. That is quite a show. But it could be a Newburgh Lake show, when cleaned.

Many birds already have found it. It is a treat to see them gathering there along about the time the snow and ice is leaving us.

What a treat that would be for your children — just to ride over to the lake and then to see the birds, perhaps thousands of them.

ALL OF THIS will beautify the lakes, but the territory also will become something to see.

Just look at the area when you come in on Northville Road and look at the Rouge as you cross the bridge.

On your right the banks are in shameful condition. It would be a beautiful look if the bank at the old Dunn Steel Co. was cleared of debris and the ground turned into a nice lawn. That is an entrance of which we all could be proud.

The same could be done on the other side of the bridge. The area is suitable for a row or two of beautiful condos. And the hill across the road from the Hillside Inn could be put to great use. The same with Newburgh Lake. The area is just crying for help.

Then there is the Rouge River itself. With that cleaned and put in shape, it will be an asset that will enrich the entire community.

Just check all these things. A wait of a mere 20 years is a cheap price to pay for the good that will be done for your children and their children in the next century.

Car loved despite its flaws

I like my car.

That probably doesn't sound like a very controversial statement, but when you consider that I'm driving a '76 Oldsmobile with a very large crack in the windshield and no rear bumper, I feel that someone should occasionally come to its defense.

The crack was there when we bought her two years ago. I don't even see it anymore. In fact, I would probably find it disconcerting to drive a car that didn't have that particular flaw directly in my line of vision. It's sort of like my line of plumb with the horizon — it keeps me on the road.

The missing bumper I'm not too thrilled about. Hubby and I had to pull it off because it was beginning to droop (old age will do that to ya.) Besides, it was making me nervous. It could be quite embarrassing to drop your bumper while driving along Ford Road — not to mention the inconvenience it could cause to the driver behind you. So we removed it in order to avoid embarrassment and a lawsuit.

Now we're talking "ugly." The car looked like a white dinosaur to begin with. Now it looks like a wounded one.

THE OTHER day I was trying to unsuccessfully maneuver an overloaded grocery cart through the snowdrifts in Chatham's parking lot. A very nicely dressed gentleman kindly came to my aid. When he asked which car was mine, I sheepishly had to admit it was the one without a bumper. I then told him that I kept it that way so I could find my car in crowded parking lots. He didn't laugh. Not even a smile. How mortifying!

On the plus side, my car is so roomy that car pooling is never a problem. Even though it's a two-door car, the kids can get into the back seat without even having to push the front seat forward. Now that's roomy!

My old dinosaur also drives like a dream. She stalls three times whenever you start her up and then never again during any particular outing. I think that's darn decent of her. She gives a smooth ride, is easy to handle, and has that all important pickup that I need so badly in order to get out of everybody's way. No little putt-putt cars for me, thank you.

The purpose of this testimonial is that hubby wants to buy me a new car. I think I just talked me out of it.

Hard to believe press protrayal

To the editor:

I have been watching and reading the events surrunding our local clerk, Linda Churhan, and I feel the woman is putting forth a sincere effort to do the job she was elected to do.

Obviously she didn't feel the former clerk was doing a good job or most likely she would not have run.

Having met the lady, it's extremely difficult to believe she would participate in the child behavior the local press protrays.

She promised professionalism. I still feel she has provided that, possibly the supervisor is the lacking party.

Catherine McAuley Health Center (CMHC) will provide speakers free to clubs and community groups interested in learning more about health care.

Teen-agers and drugs, herpes, nutrition fads and facts, and health care for senior citizens are just a few of the many topics speakers of the McAuley Health Speakers Bureau can address with your group. If you are interested in a subject not on the extensive list of presentations, the bureau will find a health care professional qualified to discuss the issue. All speakers are familiar with the health center and with what is being planned in response to changing health care needs. Their presentations will be tailored to the time limitation and special requirements of your group. To arrange for a free speaker, call 572-4033.

ARTHRITIS IN WOMEN
Why is it that more women than men develop rheumatoid arthritis?
The answer lies in the x and y chromosome. The x chromosome is a complete chromosome; in addition to conferring female sex, it carries a full amount of genetic material. The y chromosome is devoid of genetic material except what is needed to convey masculine characteristics to the individual. Thus the total amount of genetic material accorded a woman who has two x chromosomes is greater than the genetic material provided a man, who has one x and one y chromosome.
As a result, women can make a wider variety of antibodies to fight infections than can men. This ability is one reason why more women survive each year than men.
The other effect of having more genes is that women are capable of over-reacting to insults to the body, that is, making antibodies when antibodies are not needed. This over response is thought to lead to the development of rheumatoid and lupus arthritis.
Thus nature gives women the opportunity to live longer than men, but with that chance comes the possibility of a more hazardous and difficult life.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Auto accidents are a frequent cause of spinal injuries. Even those collisions in which, apparently, no one is hurt, may have claimed innocent victims whose injuries were not immediately evident. In the absence of blood or broken bones, the victim may assume that he or she has escaped unharmed, when actually strained or damaged ligaments and muscles may allow vertebrae to slip and cause nerve interference that will show up later with pain and loss of function.

Down the drain?

McNamara takes up drive to end drain chief's job

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Wayne County executive candidate Edward McNamara is backing a petition drive initiated by county executive William Lucas that would place a ballot proposal before voters in August asking to eliminate the county drain commissioner as an elected position.

The Lucas effort, which so far has collected 50,000 out of 76,000 needed valid signatures, instead would ensure that the position would become a political appointment, made by the executive branch.

In a press statement, Livonia Mayor McNamara said the Lucas drive had stalled in recent months and therefore he pledged "a fresh push" placing his own campaign workers "in shopping centers throughout Wayne County" during April in order to complete the signature collection.

McNamara said the office of county drain commissioner is "a costly anachronism" which should be eliminated.

"Bill Lucas and I have disagreed in the past," McNamara said, "but he has indicated he would welcome my efforts on this issue."

ALL THIS comes at a time when county officials have been investigating county drain commissioner Charles Youngblood's office because of allegations of overassessments against residents in two far western Wayne County communities, as well as complaints about questionable contract bidding procedures and accounting practices.

There have been recent efforts by some county commissioners to draft a ballot proposal calling for the elimination of the drain office, entirely.

Leading the effort are commissioners Milton Mack, D-Wayne, and chairman, John Hertel, D-Harper Woods. So far, they have been unable to muster enough support from the 15-member commission but they plan to continue their efforts.

In an apparent attempt to generate public pressure, hearings will be held this month before the commission's public service committee, which Mack chairs.

MCNAMARA SAID Friday that while he was supporting the petition drive, he would prefer the plan that would eliminate the office, entirely, rather than keeping it as an appointed position, as Lucas proposes. His statement called the drain position "a costly anachronism."

"I support either one that would do away with a guy who cleans wallets faster than drains," McNamara told the Observer.

He said he was proceeding with the petition drive as a "second alternative" in case the commission version for a ballot proposal fails to win support before a majority of the commissioners.

"The drains can be more properly handled under the direction of the county executive's office," McNamara said.

He said such a position, created when Wayne County was mostly rural in nature, is no longer necessary.

Politicos back Ficano for exec

State Rep. Justine Barnes, D-Westland, and four other Democrats from the downriver area pledged their support to Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano in his bid for the job of county executive.

Announcing their public backing Friday were state Rep. Rick Sitz of Taylor, Mayor Cameron Priebe of Taylor, Taylor Council President Dorothy West, and Forest Youngblood, Wayne County register of deeds.

Besides the those prominent party leaders, Ficano has received support in his effort from the head of the 870-member Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies Union, Donald Cox. Cox reportedly said a formal endorsement from the union would be forthcoming in March.

Communications confab set

Communications '86, a career conference for students and professionals, will be held 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in the Engineering Society of Detroit, 100 Farnsworth Ave., Detroit.

Now in its 12th year, the conference provides students and professional communicators with information on the latest trends and opportunities in the communications industry.

Nuts-and-bolts panel discussions covering internships, career opportunities and resume development along with how to profit in the free-lance market, polishing public relations skills and using professional contacts are planned.

A total of 18 panels will cover advertising, broadcasting, journalism, marketing, organizational communication and public relations.

Appointment ends 18-month stalemate

By Teri Banas
staff writer

The county commission approved Lucas' appointment of Plymouth contractor Robert DeMattia to the county Economic Development Corporation.

Plymouth businessman Robert DeMattia has been appointed to fill a long-standing vacancy with the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation, a quasi-governmental group that helps arrange tax incentives and low-interest business loans to spur development.

His appointment was approved by the county commission recently after a almost 18-month dispute between commissioners and County Executive William Lucas.

Lucas had tried to get a reappointment for board of director Dr. Samuel Ajiri, whose term expired on July 31, 1984, but was unsuccessful.

Instead, Lucas last summer suggested DeMattia's appointment, which was confirmed without objection.

A Lucas spokesman said DeMattia has been credited with "encouraging Japanese businesses to locate in Wayne County. He has the kind of spirit and ideas an EDC board member should have."

A NORTHVILLE resident, DeMattia operates the R.A. DeMattia Co., a general contracting and design firm that operates throughout southeastern Michigan. Its offices were recently moved to Plymouth from Farmington Hills.

In Plymouth Township, DeMattia was responsible for developing the Plymouth-West Industrial Complex. He also has a background as an industry estimator.

DeMattia's term on the nine-member board of directors will run until July 1990. The term is for six years. Ajiri had continued on the board after his term expired because of provisions in state law.

Attempts by the executive's office to have Ajiri reappointed failed at the commission level because of differences between commissioners and the executive branch over how the vacancy should be filled as well as by whom.

County sources said some commissioners dissapproved of Ajiri, saying he played too dominent a role on the board.

Some say those differences spilled over into the commissioners' budget planning, leading to their cutting the EDC's $363,000 allotment by $100,000 this year.

Ajiri had had other dealings with the county in recent years. As president of Midwest Home Health and the Southfield Rehabilitation Institute, he was among the bidders on the Wayne County General Hospital a couple of years ago, losing out to Southwest General Hospital.

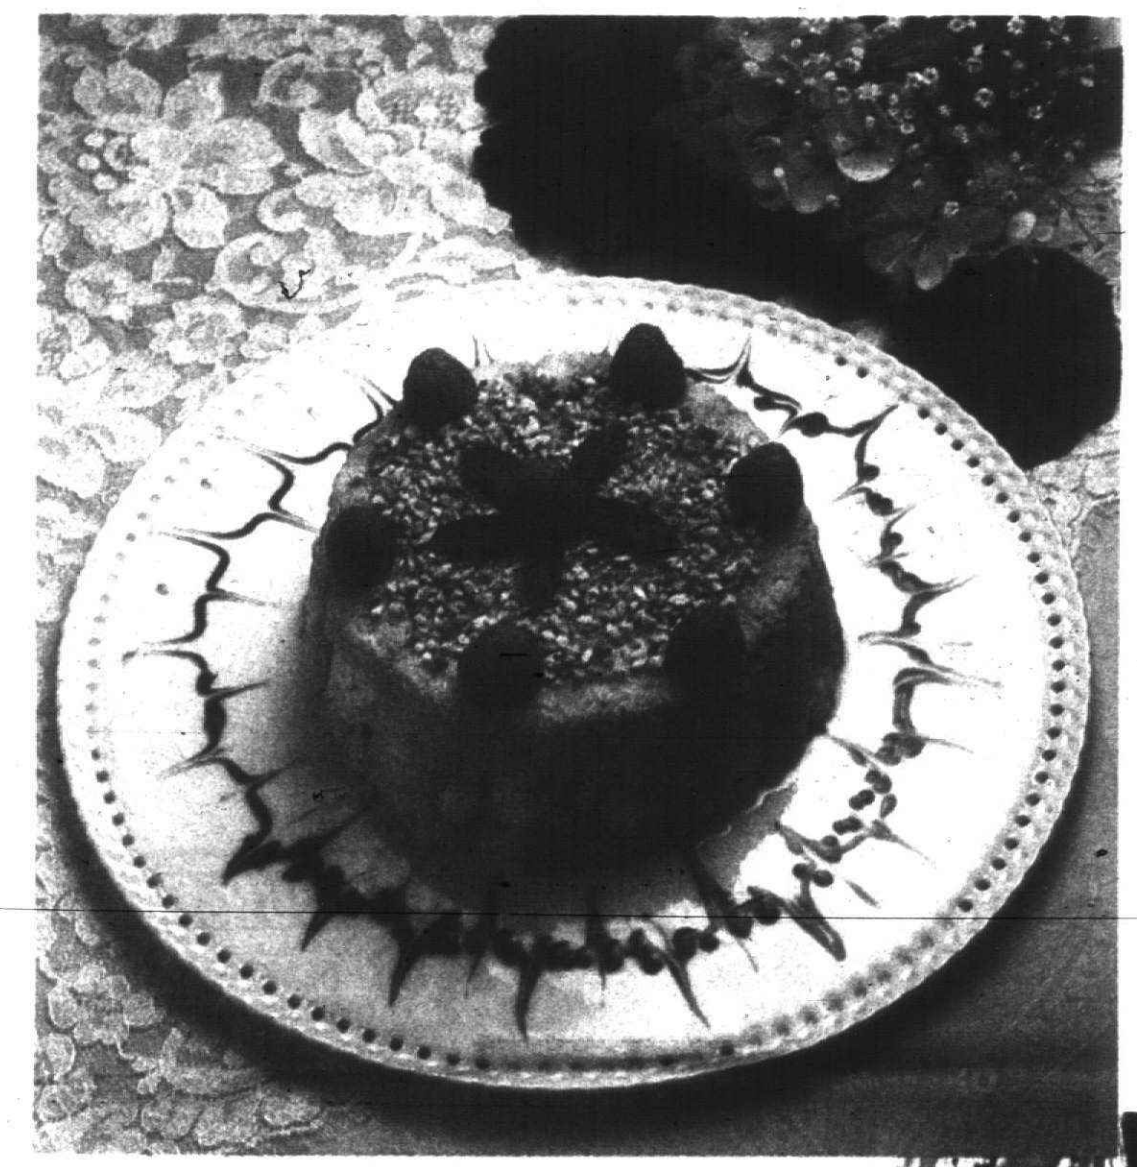
The American Peanut Goes French

When the noted French Chef Hubert was introduced to the native American peanut recently, some delicious and spectacular dishes resulted which are now being featured on the menu of his Paris restaurant, Le Bistro d' Hubert and in the classes of his cooking school, l'Ecole de Cuisine d' Hubert.

As with most Europeans, Chef Hubert was familiar with the peanut as a small roasted nut, salted and served as a snack. He found American peanuts finer in quality, appearance and roasting characteristics than any he had known, prompting him to develop a number of recipes to introduce this American gem to the French.

Jayne Taylor, former Washington, DC caterer and now student and assistant to Hubert translated these recipes and offers suggestions for their American enjoyment.



Peanut Brittle Charlotte

Chef Hubert's "Peanut Brittle Charlotte" is elegant in the traditional French manner, and can be prepared ahead, an increasing requirement for our fast-paced American lifestyles.

3/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons water
3/4 cup unsalted, roasted and chopped peanuts
3/4 cup butter
1/2 cup creme anglaise*

1 cup water
2 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons kirsch

36 sponge lady fingers
2 cups creme anglaise accompanying sauce, if desired

To make the peanut brittle, melt 3/4 cup sugar in 2 tablespoons water over medium heat. When the sugar begins to brown, remove from heat and add the peanuts. Mix until all the nuts are well coated. Spread the peanut mixture onto a well greased, cool, heat resistant surface such as marble. Flatten it as much as possible and let cool. When cool, chop the peanut brittle into small pieces. In a large bowl, whip 3/4 cup butter until soft, add the chopped peanut brittle and the creme anglaise and mix.

Prepare the syrup by heating 1 cup water, 2 tablespoons sugar and 4 tablespoons kirsch in a saucepan until all is melted.

Line the sides and base of a charlotte mold with lady fingers which have been lightly dipped in the syrup. Fill half the mold with the peanut brittle/creme anglaise filling, then cover the filling with another layer of syrup dipped sponge fingers. Pour the remaining filling on top and cover with more syrup dipped sponge fingers. Cover and refrigerate overnight. To serve, unmold the charlotte and serve with creme anglaise sauce, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

JAYNE'S ADVICE: A coffee flavored creme anglaise also would do nicely as the accompanying sauce. This dessert can be made a couple of days ahead and requires little last minute attention. You can add a nice color contrast by decorating the charlotte with fresh berries.

*Creme Anglaise

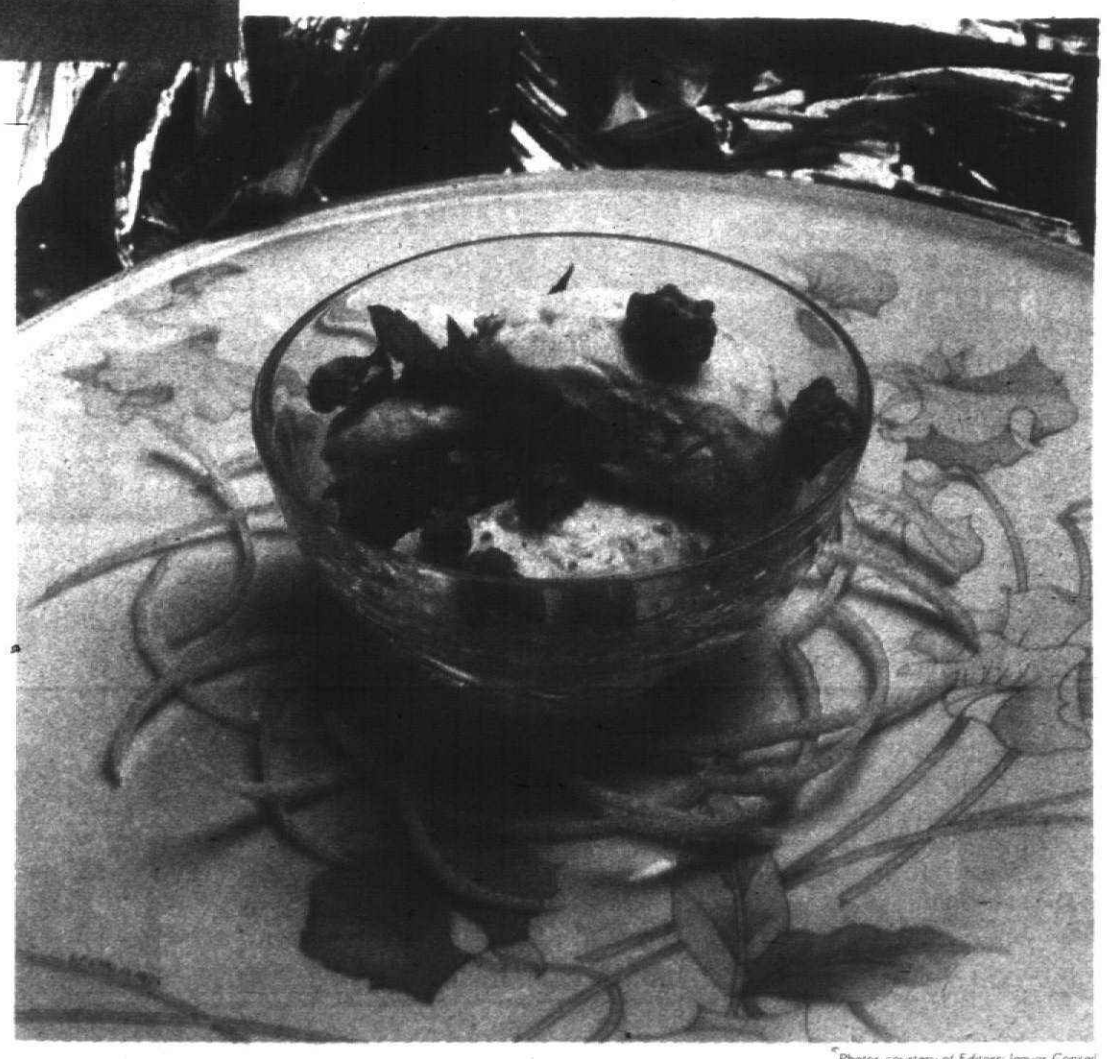
5 egg yolks
2/3 cup sugar
2 cups milk
1/8 teaspoon salt

In a saucepan, beat the yolks and sugar together until thick and light colored. Heat milk to a simmer (not quite to the boiling point).

Gradually add the milk into the yolk mixture, beating constantly. Add salt. Cook over medium low heat stirring constantly until the mixture thickens to a custard like consistency. (Do not let sauce boil, it will curdle.)

Remove sauce from heat. Set pan in cold water to hasten chilling. Continue to stir for a few minutes more. Allow to cool to room temperature then chill in refrigerator for an hour or longer.

Use 4 ounces of the custard as an ingredient in the Charlotte. Serve the remainder along with the Charlotte. Makes approximately 2-1/2 cups.



Peanut and Praline Ice Cream

The "Peanut and Praline Ice Cream" may be served as simply or elegantly as the occasion demands. The Praline also doubles as a topping for Peanut Butter Mousse.

For the ice cream:
1 quart milk
10 egg yolks
3/4 cup sugar
3/4 cup unsalted, roasted and chopped peanuts

For the praline:
3/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon water
2 drops vanilla extract
3/4 cup unsalted, roasted and chopped peanuts

To make the ice cream: Bring milk to a boil in a large saucepan. In a large mixing bowl, whip the egg yolks with the sugar until they become pale. Add the peanuts and slowly add the milk, stirring constantly. Pour the mixture back into the saucepan and reheat slowly, so as not to curdle the mixture, until it coats the back of a spoon. Cool the mixture, then pour it into an ice cream freezer and churn it until hard. Makes 6 servings.

To prepare the praline: Slowly heat the sugar and water in a deep pot, stirring until all the sugar has melted. Add 2 drops of vanilla extract. When the caramel begins to darken in color, add the peanuts and mix vigorously until all the nuts are well coated. Pour the caramel onto a well greased, cold, heat resistant surface such as marble. Flatten it as much as possible and let cool. When cooled, chop the praline into small pieces.

To serve: Scoop the ice cream into bowls and sprinkle the praline on the top, as desired.

JAYNE'S ADVICE: For a more elegant presentation, serve the ice cream in a stemmed glass with juliennes of orange, lemon or lime peel around the base of the glass.

Peanut Butter Mousse

1/2 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
Peanut Praline; recipe above
Unsweetened whipped cream

Prepare syrup: Combine water and sugar in saucepan. Bring to a boil for 7 minutes. Meanwhile, beat egg yolks in mixer on highest speed until frothy. Slowly pour syrup onto yolks while beating on medium speed. Continue beating for 5 to 10 minutes, until mixture is cool. In clean bowl whip cream to soft peaks. Blend in peanut butter. Fold peanut butter mixture into yolk mixture. Spoon into six stemmed dessert glasses. Chill in refrigerator overnight. Serve each with a sprinkle of Peanut Praline (see recipe above) and dollop of whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Peanut Rum Souffle with Chocolate Sauce

3/4 cup milk
3/4 cup creamy peanut butter
1/8 teaspoon salt
4 egg yolks
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons rum
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
4 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar
8 ounces semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2 tablespoons hot water
3 tablespoons rum
1/4 cup half and half
1/2 cup chopped salted cocktail peanuts

Butter and sugar a 7" souffle dish (1-1/2 quarts). Place milk, peanut butter and salt in saucepan over medium heat; stir until smooth and just below boiling point. Beat yolks and brown sugar until smooth and light. Blend yolk mixture into milk mixture over low heat until thick and custardy, stirring constantly. Do not boil. Remove from heat and stir in butter; cool. Blend in rum and vanilla.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Sprinkle in sugar and beat until stiff but not dry. Stir 1/4 of the whites into the custard and mix well. Gently fold the remaining whites in until no white streaks remain. Pour into prepared souffle dish and bake in 350°F. oven for 30-35 minutes.

Prepare chocolate sauce while souffle is baking. In small saucepan, blend chocolate pieces, hot water, rum and half and half over low heat until melted; keep warm.

Garnish souffle with peanuts. Serve with chocolate sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Peanut Butter Chocolate Truffles

2/3 cup heavy whipping cream
10 ounces milk chocolate, cut into pieces
1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
cocoa

Heat cream to just below boiling point. Place chocolate in mixing bowl. Pour cream over chocolate; beat until smooth. Stir in peanut butter and vanilla. Chill about 2 hours until firm. Roll between palms of hands into approximately 1-inch balls. Roll in cocoa, shaking off excess. Chill on platter until ready to serve. Makes about 32 truffles.

Chocolate Peanut Caramel Tart

2 unbaked 9-inch deep-dish prepared pie shells
6 tablespoons butter
3/4 cup plus 1/3 cup sugar
3/4 cup ground roasted peanuts
2-1/2 cups whipping cream
1 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 whole eggs
3 egg yolks
4 ounces semi-sweet chocolate, melted
Sweetened whipped cream, for garnish
2 tablespoons crushed dry roasted peanuts

Bake pie shells in 375°F. oven about 15 minutes until golden brown; cool. In saucepan melt butter over medium heat. Add 3/4 cup sugar; cook and stir just until melted, then cook without stirring until mixture turns golden brown. Add ground peanuts and 1-1/2 cups of the whipping cream; cook and stir for 3-4 minutes, until well blended. Pour equal amounts into two pie shells. In saucepan, combine sour cream and remaining 1 cup whipping cream. Add 1/3 cup sugar and cornstarch; stir to blend. Add eggs and egg yolks; cook and stir over low heat until mixture comes to boil. Stir in chocolate. Remove from heat and pour into pie shells. Chill at least 3 hours. Add dollop of sweetened whipped cream onto top of pies; sprinkle with crushed peanuts. Yield: 2 9-inch pies.

For additional peanut recipes, send a stamped, self-addressed #10 envelope to the National Peanut Council, 101 S. Peyton St., Suite 301, Alexandria, VA 22314.

Brunch it

Tex-Mex 'crepe' is perfect

For busy people everywhere, brunch is the perfect weekend meal. In contrast to the weekday breakfast on the run, its unhurried pace is a welcome luxury.

Planning a brunch poses a creative challenge. Lighter and simpler than dinner, brunch calls for easy-to-fix foods that allow the cook to join in the day's relaxation. It also needs a surprise or two on the menu, to make the occasion special.

In Picante Enchiladas de Huevos, a Texas-style "crepe" dish made with flour tortillas, picante sauce livens up the flavor of a creamy hard-cooked egg filling and brightly sauces the dish, as well. Using mild, medium or hot picante sauce, the easy brunch treat can be prepared the night before and popped into the oven to heat in the morning.

PICANTE ENCHILADAS DE HUEVOS
8 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1½ cups (6 oz.) shredded cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese
1 cup picante sauce
¼ cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup thinly sliced green onions with tops
¾ tsp. ground cumin
½ tsp. salt
8 flour tortillas (6- to 8-inch diameter)
Avocado slices and sour cream (optional)

Combine eggs, ½ cup of the cheese, ¼ cup of the picante sauce, sour cream, green pepper, green onion, cumin and salt; mix well. Spoon about ⅓ cup egg mixture down center of each tortilla; roll up. Place seam side down in 11 x 7-inch baking dish. Spoon remaining picante sauce evenly over tortillas. Cover dish tightly with aluminum foil; bake in preheated oven at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Uncover; sprinkle evenly with remaining cheese. Continue baking uncovered about 10 minutes or until enchiladas are hot and cheese is melted. Garnish with avocado and sour cream, if desired. Serve with additional picante sauce. Makes 4 servings.

TEX-MEX BRUNCH TOSTADAS
Vegetable oil
4 flour tortillas (7 to 8-inch diameter)
6 eggs, beaten
¾ cup picante sauce
½ cup sliced green onions with tops
¼ tsp. salt
2 Tbsp. butter or margarine
1 small tomato, cut into thin wedges
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack or cheddar cheese
2 crisply cooked bacon slices, crumbled

In small skillet, heat about ½ inch oil until hot but not smoking. Fry tortillas, one at a time, until lightly browned and crisp, about 5 to 10 seconds on each side; drain on paper towels. Combine eggs, ¼ cup of the picante sauce, green onions and salt; mix well. Melt butter in 10-inch skillet over medium-low heat. Add egg mixture. Cook, stirring frequently, until eggs are set. Spoon egg mixture onto tortillas, spreading to within ½-inch of edges. Spoon remaining picante sauce over egg mixture. Top with tomato. Sprinkle with cheese and bacon; broil until cheese melts. Makes 4 servings.

Variation: Omit frying tortillas. To crisp, broil about 6 inches from heat until crisp and golden brown.

Quick rice is time-trimmer

The secret to quick, delicious meals is simple: streamlined preparation creatively combining high-quality fresh and convenience foods.

Reserve those longer-cooking, multi-step preparation dishes for weekends. On weekdays when time is short, keep meals simple, but exciting. Select a quick-cooking meat, fish or poultry and pair it with complementary accompaniments. Fish fillets, pork tenderloin and chicken breasts, for example, require just minutes to prepare, as do most vegetables when cooked to the crisp-tender stage.

An especially appropriate accompaniment choice for delicious quick meals is fast-cooking long grain and wild rice. The deliciously seasoned blend of premium long grain and wild rices cooks in five minutes and complements any meat, poultry or fish.

Fast-cooking long grain and wild rice is a perfect companion to the turkey in Wild Turkey Cutlets, a quick main dish of sauteed turkey breast slices in a creamy marsala wine sauce. Stir-fried or steamed vegetables, cooked while you prepare the sauce, round out the meal healthfully.

WILD TURKEY CUTLETS
1 tsp. lemon pepper
½ tsp. paprika
1½ lbs. turkey breast slices
2 tbsp. butter
¼ cup marsala
2 cups water
6¼ oz. fast cooking long grain and wild rice
½ cup heavy cream
2 tbsp. chopped green onion
1 jar (2 oz.) chopped pimiento, drained
½ cup thinly sliced celery

Combine lemon pepper and paprika; sprinkle evenly over turkey. Saute turkey in butter in large skillet over medium heat until lightly browned on both sides, about 2 minutes per side. Add marsala to skillet; cover and simmer 3 to 4 minutes or until turkey is tender. Remove cutlets from skillet. Add cream and green onion. Cook over high heat 2 to 3 minutes or until thickened. Return turkey to skillet; heat through. Serve rice with turkey; spoon sauce over turkey. Makes 6 servings.

Salads can be lettuce-less

pilot light
Greg Melikov

There was a time when I believed that without lettuce or tomato, a salad was nothing. That was a long time ago.

Today I can turn a couple of cans of green beans and a container of sour cream into a quick salad without giving lettuce or tomato a second thought.

There are other greens, of course, that make for excellent salads. I prefer spinach. I give it a good washing in the sink with cold water. I rinse the spinach, cut off the thick stems and put it in a large bowl. When I am out of paper towels, I pat the spinach dry with a cloth towel, remove the bruised leaves and chill it covered before I create the salad.

CREAMED GREEN BEAN SALAD
2 cans (1 lb.) green beans, drained
1 egg yolk
4 hard-cooked eggs, cut in wedges
½ tsp. each dry mustard and paprika
½ tsp. salt
1 container (8 oz.) sour cream
2 Tbsp. lemon juice

Chill green beans. In small bowl, beat with fork yolk, mustard, paprika and salt; gradually beat in sour cream and lemon juice; chill. Yields about 1 cup. Spoon dressing over beans. Serves 6.

SPINACH-MUSHROOM SALAD
2 lbs. spinach, throughly washed
8 slices of bacon
4 Tbsp. cider vinegar
4 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
4 Tbsp. water
¾ lb. mushrooms, washed and sliced
2 large carrots, shredded

Remove rough spinach stems and bruised leaves, dry with paper toweling, tear leaves in bite-size pieces, place in large salad bowl, cover and refrigerate. In large skillet, fry bacon until crisp, drain on paper toweling and set aside. Leave desired amount of bacon fat in skillet, stir in vinegar, sugar, salt and water and heat through, stirring. Pour dressing over spinach and toss until coated and wilted. Crumble bacon and add with mushrooms and carrots. Toss. Garnish with eggs. Serves 8.

Know your oven

Even though the temperature gauge on your oven is set to 350 degrees F., the actual interior temperature may range anywhere from 300 degrees to 400 degrees F. Because oven temperature variations do occur, use a meat thermometer when roasting or broiling meat for the most accurate guide to doneness.

When cooking large cuts of meat, remove them from the oven when the temperature gauge registers about 5 degrees F. below the desired end temperature.

Large meat cuts usually continue to cook while standing in a warm place 15 to 20 minutes after removal from the oven. The final temperature registering on the meat termometer should be 140 degrees F. for rare; 160 degrees F. for medium; and 170 degrees F. for well done.

Molly Ringwald is Andie Walsh, a girl from the wrong side of the tracks who is invited to the prom by one of the "richies" at her high school.

the movies

Dan Greenberg

'Pretty in Pink' is pretty insipid teen romance

"Pretty in Pink" may be PG-13 in the Motion Picture Rating Council's book, but it's BRS (boring, ridiculous and simple-minded) in mine.

With the new crop of spring and summer films on its way, let's hope that Molly Ringwald's latest is not a harbinger of a miserable harvest.

This mindless story of teen-age romance supposedly was written by John Hughes, scenarist for "National Lampoon's Vacation," "Mr. Mom," "Sixteen Candles," "The Breakfast Club" and "Weird Science." Actually, he was fronting for an 8-year-old, which is the intellectual level of the plot.

Andie Walsh (Ringwald) lives on the wrong side of the tracks in a Chicago suburb. Just to make sure audiences understand "the other side of the tracks," Amtrak rumbles through with half the system's scheduled runs. The engine turns in one of the film's best performances. Do they give Oscars to trains?

ANDIE'S FATHER, Jack Walsh (Harry Dean Stanton), spends most of his time lying around in a terminal stupor because his wife left him four years ago.

The Walsh family doesn't have much money (Jack can't hold a job, but Andie works in a record store after school) so Andie makes her own clothes — and they look it. By some unexplained largess, she attends a pretty fancy school primarily populated by "richies."

Kids from wealthy families. No Amtrak in their living rooms. They live on the right side of the tracks, and far from them.

Andie's dowdy, unfashionable clothes supposedly represent her individuality and the ability to be her own person. Of course, the rich kids ridicule her appearance. They don't like her high grades either. But lurking under Andie's individuality is basic envy and desire for the good life.

Andie's big moment comes when illogically shy (for a self-possessed rich kid) Blane McDonough (Andrew McCarthy) asks her for a date.

One thing leads to another and, are you ready, Blane asks her to the prom, at which point she attacks him with some lustful and open-mouth kissing. If all this seems dull, you've got the right picture.

To keep the audience from joining Walsh in terminal stupor, there are a couple of decent supporting roles, at least as decent as you can get when the script is written with an 8-year-old's view of teen-age romance.

DUCKY DALES (Jon Cryer) is a madcap kid, wildly in love with Andie, who treats him as a favored brother, much to his chagrin. Ducky is wacky enough for a few laughs and, in the record shop where Andie works, does an active lip synch to Otis Redding's "Try a Little Tenderness."

The store manager, Iona (Annie Potts), is pretty funny with her funky hairdos and fond memories of the Sixties. Amidst all her nutty moments, she manages to be Andie's surrogate mother.

Aside from those two, however, not much happens. Miraculously, after Andie has a good heart-to-heart, daughter-father talk one night, Jack suddenly has manic depression. Blane follows with an unmotivated and barely understood attack of class guilt and cancels his prom date with Andie. Exciting stuff.

Reviews are supposed to discuss acting, but that category does not apply to "Pretty in Pink." Ringwald and McCarthy are noted graduates of the Lip-Quiver School of Acting. He manages twitchy little smiles while she gnaws her lip gloss.

What Harry Dean Stanton is doing in a film like this escapes me. It must have been because it certainly isn't the role. Faced with Walsh's character and lines, Stanton took the bucks and allowed himself to be photographed in various somnolent states.

Andrew McCarthy is Blane McDonough, the rich kid who withdraws his prom-night invitation after he decides to stick with his own upper class.

Yes they can! Rocks take pool crown

Salem's depth tops Spartans; Chiefs 5th

Jamie Dunn helped Salem win back its Western Lakes swim crown with a fourth-place in the 100-yard butterfly and a sixth in the 200 IM.

By Brad Emons
staff writer

A sign high on the wall proclaimed, "Salem Rocks and Rolls."

There was no disputing that Friday night, as host Plymouth Salem kept the Western Lakes Conference boys swim trophy right at home before a jam-packed crowd, who watched 12 teams battle for honors.

It was the Rocks' third Western Lakes title in four years. Salem scored 225 points with defending conference champion Livonia Stevenson, only 14 behind in second place, tallying 211. League newcomer North Farmington took third with 169. (See statistical summary.)

"We're back," said Salem coach Chuck Olson, who took a victory dunking after the meet. "I was worried about Stevenson because we were in a similar position last year (when Salem settled for second). This year we tried to learn from our mistakes.

"Nobody was picking us to win before the season. But we 'sad some guys willing to change events and it helps."

WHEN YOU'RE talking about the Western Lakes, swimming doesn't take a back seat to any of the other league sports.

Seven league records were broken and one other was tied among the 11 events.

Salem took only one first — Kevin Zarow in the 50-yard freestyle — but the Rocks piled up points with depth, especially in the consolation heats (places 7 through 12).

"We can beat Salem in a dual meet, but we can't beat them here," said Stevenson coach Doug Buckler. "They just have too much depth.

"I'm really proud of Salem, and I'm really proud of my team, too. We'll be back next year."

ZAROW, WHO broke the 50 freestyle mark in Wednesday's preliminaries (22.01), held off North's Mike Buatti and teammate Rick Cummings to win the finals.

North's Mike Tumey shattered a pair of records, going 1:46.31 in the 200 freestyle and 4:46.74 in the 500 freestyle. Tumey also teamed up with Buatti, Dan Mannisto and Craig Burland to win the 400 freestyle relay in 3:17.73, after the quartet had clocked a league record 3:17.12 in the prelims.

Stevenson recorded four firsts on the night.

The biggest surprise came from senior Dennis Ward, who won the 100 freestyle in 49.17. He bested Buatti, who set a league record in the prelims (48.92), and Zarow, who battled for the lead in the two middle lanes. Ward, meanwhile, streaked down lane No. 1 and caught everybody by surprise.

"D.J. (Ward) had tapered down (cut back his workouts) for only five days," Buckler explained. "I just told him to just swim and relax in lane No. 1 and do the best he could for us."

Joe Saunders of Stevenson matched Tumey's output with firsts in the 100 butterfly (54.04) and 100 backstroke (56.44), missing the record in the backstroke by one-hundredth of a second. Saunders also teamed up with Jamie York, Steve Taormina and Chris Morasky to win the 200 medley relay in 1:41.12.

OTHER IMPRESSIVE league record setters included Westland John Glenn's John Jensen in 200 individual medley (2:00.57), Plymouth Canton's Andy Flower in diving (462.75 points) and Livonia Franklin's Dave Goralski in the 100 breaststroke 1:02.57.

Jensen also pushed Tumey in the 500 freestyle, finishing second with a time of 4:48.05. His clocking in the 200 tied Farmington's Alec Campbell, who set the record in 1983.

Flower, meanwhile, repeated as league diving champ, breaking his own record in the process, adding 23.15 from his 1985 point total.

Goralski, who helped Franklin to a surprising sixth, bested his preliminary time by nearly 2.56 seconds.

But the despite all the individual accomplishments, the night belonged to Olson and his team.

"You have a guy like Cummings, who could have been right up there in the breaststroke, go to the freestyle where he took a third in the 50 and fifth in the 100 — it helps," said the Salem coach. "And you have another guy like Don Harwood give up his spot in the backstroke.

"They made a little bit of sacrifice and that made a big difference."

Huff out, Salem gymnasts lag behind North

You can expect the Western Lakes Activities Association gymnastics meet to remain housed at North Farmington for a while.

See, for another team to host the league tournament, it has to win the tournament the previous year. That is proving to be most difficult.

North Farmington, facing serious challenges from Plymouth Salem, Farmington Harrison and Westland John Glenn, won its ninth straight league championship Thursday night.

Good teams, when pushed, get better; North Farmington responded to Thursday's challenge by amassing a school-record 136.75 points. (See statistical summary.)

"The girls really got pumped up," said North coach Mary Glitz. "They wanted to win this meet badly. You know, when there are two other teams with the possibility of beating you, you tend to get fired up."

North didn't have too many points to spare, however, thanks to a heroic performance by Salem.

THE ROCKS learned Wednesday night that their No. 2 all-arounder, Jackie Huff, would not be able to compete because of a broken foot. But, behind the strength of Beth Rafail and Becky Talbot, the Rocks scored an impressive 130.45 to finish in second place.

"The last time Jackie got hurt (earlier this season), the girls got all bummed out and we got down," said Salem coach Kathi Kinsella. "But nothing could keep them down this time. I'm real proud of them."

Huff was not the only all-arounder missing from the meet. Harrison's Jody Solomon was out with a back injury, Canton's Darcy Gignac was out with a broken hand and Farmington's Jackie Daly, hampered by a foot injury, competed in just two events.

"We felt real bad for those teams," said Glitz, whose Raiders competed with all-arounder Lisa Brundle at less than half-strength. "You like to compete against them at full strength. If Salem had Jackie, I'm sure the score would have been closer."

DON'T GET the idea that the meet was devoid of talent. Six scores of 9.0 or better were reached and six different competitors scored at least 34.0 all-around.

Eileen Murtaugh, North Farmington senior, was the meet's top scorer. Her 35.85 all-around score nipped Harrison's Tana Burningham (35.55). Murtaugh scored 8.90 on vault, 8.75 on uneven bars, 9.05 on balance beam and 9.15 on floor exercise.

Burningham, a sophomore, scored 9.05 on vault, 8.45 on bars, 8.80 on beam and a 9.25 on floor.

The Raiders placed three performers in the top five all-around. Kara Karhu was third (34.85), scoring 9.10 on vault, 8.10 on bars, 8.75 on beam and 8.90 on floor. She lit up the crowd with a snappy Tsukahara on her vault.

North's Lucine Toroyan tied for fifth all-around with Glenn's Debbie Tomasko, 34.05. Toroyan scored 8.30 on vault, 8.65 on bars, 8.55 on beam and 8.55 on floor.

Glenn's Tomasko, making her first appearance in a Western Lakes league meet, scored 9.25 on vault (another stunning Tsukahara), 8.15 on bars, 8.40 on beam and 8.25 on floor. Angie Temelko placed eighth all-around with a 32.60. Glenn placed fourth in the meet with 126 points.

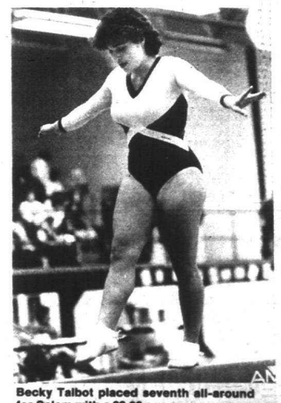
FOR SALEM, Rafail placed fourth all-around (34.45) and Talbot seventh (33.20). Rafail scored 8.85 on vault, 7.95 on bars, 8.75 on beam and 8.90 floor. Talbot hit an 8.20 on vault, 8.30 on bars, 7.90 on beam and 8.80 on floor.

Salem also got key individual efforts from Sharon Moran (eighth on beam, 8.25), Debbie Popp (10th on beam, (8.10) and Dana Holda (eighth on bars, 8.0 and seventh on vault, 8.30).

For third place Harrison, Tracey Solomon placed ninth (31.85), scoring 8.40 on vault, 7.55 on bars, 7.70 on beam and 8.20 on floor. Jamie Lyons helped out with an 11th-place all-around finish (30.65).

"I'm happy with our effort," said Harrison coach Linda Perkins. "North is just a quality team and Salem did an outstanding job. You look at the top 10 all-arounders. North had three kids and we had two. That's the difference right there."

By virtue of its perfect dual meet season, North Farmington also won the Western Lakes Lakes Division title. Harrison was crowned champs of the Western Division.



Becky Talbot placed seventh all-around for Salem with a 33.20 score.

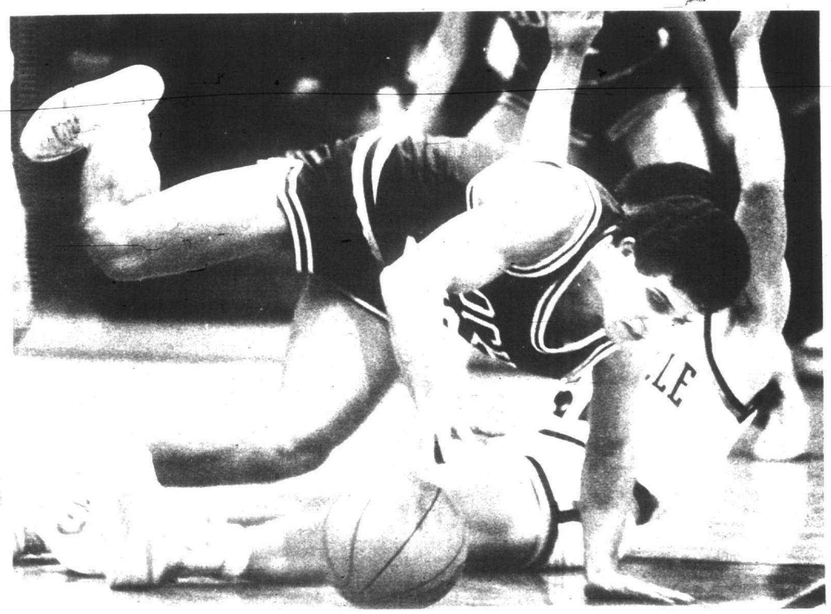
Canton, Salem beaten in season finale



JERRY ZOLYNSKY

Paul Makara trips over Northville's Paul Newitt during the Rocks' loss Thursday night. Salem finished the regular season with a 10-10 record.

This is not supposed to happen to the home team.

North Farmington, the visitor, made 27 of its 36 free throw chances Friday night. Plymouth Canton, the home team, made six of 11.

North Farmington, naturally, won the basketball game 61-52.

The Chiefs did not get a free throw opportunity until late in the third quarter.

Ironically, it was that third quarter that spelled the Chiefs' doom. They were outscored 14-5 by the Raiders — the eventual margin of victory.

Rick Anderson led North (12-8) with 23 points. He was 15 of 16 from the line. Mike Rudin had his best offensive outing of the year, tossing in 18 points. Chuck Howard added 14.

Joel Mies led the Chiefs with 21 points. Dan Olszewski added eight.

Canton falls to 10-10 on the season.

NORTHVILLE 72, SALEM 63: Free throws played a big role in this contest, as well.

The game, played Thursday night, was tied at 51-51 entering the final quarter. But Northville rolled off a 21-12 spurt in the final eight minutes, thanks to some less-than-marksman-like free throw shooting by the Rocks.

Salem missed the front ends of six one-and-one free throw opportunities in the final quarter. On the night, Northville was successful on 18 of 25 from the line. Salem hit nine of 18.

Northville (15-5) also held a rebounding edge. The Mustangs had 22 offensive rebounds to Salem's 12. Overall, Northville pulled down 43 rebounds to Salem's 36.

Don Norton led Northville with 25 points. Matt Hinds added 17 and Gary Harper 11.

For the Rocks, Mike Hale scored 16 and Paul Makara 15. Bryan Kearis chipped in 11.

The Rocks are 10-10.

PLYM. CHRISTIAN 63, GREENHILLS 61, 2 OT: The Eagles fell behind 24-9 after a quarter, but rallied behind a 31-point effort from Pat McCarthy to win the thriller in double overtime.

The Eagles' winning basket came on an offensive-rebound hoop by McCarthy with 40 seconds left in the second OT. The play was set up by a steal from Rod Windle.

Ann Arbor Greenhills ran the clock down to three seconds before missing the final shot.

The Eagles missed close-range shots at the end of both regulation play and the first overtime that would have clinched the win.

Besides his 31 points, McCarthy also pulled in 11 rebounds. Jim McCarthy scored 12 points, pulled in 10 rebounds and made six steals. Rod Windle had 10 points and eight steals.

Plymouth Christian will enter the Class D state tournament with a 16-3 record.

Wayne beaten again

Perhaps incentive was lacking. Whatever the reason, Wayne Memorial came up flat in its regular season finale Friday against Monroe, losing 68-61.

The loss did not affect Wayne's claim to the Wolverine A championship, but it did saddle the Zebras with a loss after 11 consecutive league wins. They are 17-2 overall.

The third quarter cost Wayne. After jumping in front 23-12 after one quarter, the Zebras had their lead trimmed to 32-27 at the half. Monroe (9-11 overall, 7-5 in the Wolverine A) then erupted with a 25-15 third-quarter surge, thanks to 10 points from Greg Horchner and nine from Richard Ellison. They both finished with 18.

Wayne pulled to within four with 1:09 left, but got no closer. Mark Robinson paced the Zebras with 12. Rod Sommons had 11.

CC 82, U-D 59: Lance Vaccarelli's 27 points and 11 assists catapulted Redford Catholic Central past visiting University of Detroit High Thursday.

CC (14-6) led 20-8 after one quarter and 36-28 at the half. Paul Tavana pitched in 18 points and Sean McClorey contributed 14. Mike Evans bagged 12 for U-D (10-7).

OCC jolts HPCC

The strategy was simple for Oakland Community College's men's basketball team. If Highland Park CC wants to run the ball, the Raiders would oblige.

And they did. OCC ran right away from the Eastern Conference champions to a 109-93 triumph in Friday's state semifinal contest at Kalamazoo Valley CC.

"His thing has always been, 'We're going to set the tempo. We're in better shape, we have better depth, so if you want to run with us, we'll beat you at the end,'" said OCC coach Fred Thomann of HPCC coach Glen Donahue's game plan.

"The first two times we played them, we had leads then lost. We bent and broke. This time, we weathered the storm. They came with pressure and we withstood it."

THE RAIDERS sped to a 55-41 lead at the half, thanks mainly to the scoring trio of Gary Holt, Willie Jones and Pat Gardner. The three combined for 88 of OCC's 109 points.

Holt was particularly impressive. HPCC charged back to pull to within three in the second half when Holt took control, hitting seven straight shots to ice the victory. Holt's spree pushed the Raiders lead back into double figures, and HPCC never threatened.

Holt finished with 33 points. Gardner had 29 and 10 rebounds and Jones put in 26 with 16 rebounds.

HPCC got 27 points from Anton Williamson, 22 from Larry Goss and 19 from Gregory Hall.

Rockets capture WLAA title

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Farmington Harrison basketball coach Mike Teachman, as he so often does, summarized Friday night's Western Lakes championship game with Westland John Glenn in one precise sentence.

It was just a great high school basketball game.

Those jammed into the Harrison gym Friday night to see Glenn's breathtaking 60-59 victory could do nothing but agree.

The game had it all: non-stop, end-to-end action, circus shots, blocked shots (more on that later), errant shots (air balls on free throws) and clutch shots. The heroes came in two forms: expected and unexpected.

Not even a plethora of referees' whistles could ruin this game — although it appeared for a while like both starting lineups would be benched with foul problems. No, sir. This game had drama (32 minutes worth) and, of course, irony.

LET'S BEGIN with the irony. The Western Lakes football championship matched Glenn and Harrison. Glenn won. The difference in the game was Tony Boles. The basketball title, Glenn vs. Harrison, the margin of victory again provided by Glenn's Tony Boles.

Instead of with touchdowns, Boles won the basketball game with a line-drive free throw with 19 seconds left. His second attempt hit nothing but air — nothing, no rim, no net, no backboard.

The shot gave Glenn the 60-59 advantage it would take into the post-game celebration, but not before some unexpected heroes from Jerry Diete-Spiff.

The spindly 6-6 post player, a starter all season, was benched prior to this game. But when called upon, he played his best game of the year.

"Purely coaching strategy," said a Rockets coach Gordie Davis. Right.

Diete-Spiff solidified Glenn's inside defense. With the last 10 seconds ticking away, Harrison worked the ball inside to Will Lund. Lund, who scored six points in the final quarter, made a move and went up for the potential game-winning shot.

DIETE-SPIFF timed his leap perfectly, put his big hand on Lund's shot in midair and calmly tipped the ball to teammate Steve Hawley — ballgame.

"Basically, the key to this game was that we played good overall defense," Davis said. "We tried to keep them to one shot. We had some breakdowns there, but overall we did a good job. And, we didn't let Ken George hurt us too much."

Teachman, more or less, agreed. "The difference between this game and the game earlier when we won was their inside defense. We controlled the glass against them last time. That didn't happen tonight.

"And another thing, you can't expect to come back so many times against a good team like that and expect to win."

The Rockets have been known to blow leads. They let loose of an eight-point lead in the final eight minutes of their first meeting with Harrison.

"We just can't stand prosperity," laughed Davis. We like to make things exciting."

GLENN SCORED the first eight points of the second half and built an 11-point lead. The Hawks, behind a stirring nine-point outburst by Billy Otto, were within a point, 45-44, when the third quarter ended.

With 4:16 left in the game, Glenn's Greg Bates (who scored all nine of his points in the second half) converted a layup and a free throw for a three-point play to give his team a 56-50 lead.

Insurmountable? No way.

Lund, Scott Bissell and George scored in between a Boles hoop to make it 58-56 with 2:30 left.

Rod Sarcevich made two steals and hit a free throw to pull the Hawks within one, 58-57, with 1:18 left. He forced another turnover, which led to Ken George's layup with 36 seconds left — Harrison 59, Glenn 58.

Hawley hit one of two free throws with 25 seconds left to tie the game. Otto missed the front end of a one-and-one opportunity with 20 seconds left and Boles was fouled immediately. You know the rest.

ON THE NIGHT, Hawley managed to lead Glenn despite constant pressure from the Hawks' defense. He scored 17. Andy Grazulis, one of three Rockets plagued by foul trouble, scored 12. Bates added nine and Diete-Spiff seven.

Lund's 19 points led Harrison, 11 in the second half. He was also Harrison's top rebounder. Otto scored 17, 11 in the second half, also. George, never allowed to dominate the game, managed to sneak 12 points past the Rockets' defense.

"It hurts to come this far and lose by a point," said Teachman. "But we lost to classy outfit."

Glenn, the Western Lakes champion, is 15-5 on the season. Harrison, the deposed Western Lakes champ, is 17-3.

Lady Ocelots bumped from state tourney

Dreams of a state title and berth in the NJCAA tournament evaporated Friday for Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team, which was upended in overtime 81-78 by Muskegon Community College in the state semifinals at Glen Oaks CC.

They took it to us and we didn't respond," said SC assistant coach Jack Grenan. "It was a case of missed opportunities. Muskegon did not beat us, we beat ourselves."

The Lady Ocelots, who finished 21-6, were up 45-32 at halftime thanks to Kim Chandler's 24 points. Chandler added seven more in the second half, but fouled out with 4:30 left in regulation.

THAT'S WHEN things soured for SC. The Lady Ocelots had a six-point lead when Chandler went to the bench, but that disappeared after a series of turnovers and missed shots. MCC, which hit close to 70 percent of its second-half floor attempts, forged a 64-60 lead but Michelle Richards, subbing for Chandler, hit a pair of 18-footers to knot it.

The lead seesawed until Lori Abbas tied it for SC at 68 with two free throws with 23 seconds left, forcing the extra session.

SC got the early lead in overtime, 74-70, but it didn't last. With MCC ahead 80-78 with 10 seconds left, SC had two chances within 10 feet of the basket to tie it and missed.

"The little extra we needed to finish them off, we didn't have," said Grenan.

Tracey Ladouceur added 12 points for SC and Sue Lubbe had 10.

ON WEDNESDAY, SC won its first-round playoff game against Delta CC by converting eight of nine free throws down the stretch in a 64-60 win at Glen Oaks CC.

Unlike its first two encounters with DCC, in which the Lady Ocelots led most of the way and eventually won by 14 and 10 points, SC was behind from the early moments until just 5:21 remained. Kim Chandler canned two free throws to make it 53-52 and give her team its first lead of the second half.

Canton spikers win

It was bound to happen.

Plymouth Canton's volleyball team had been getting closer and closer to victory. That victory finally came Wednesday night.

The Chiefs knocked off Ann Arbor Huron 9-15, 16-14, 15-7 in a pre-district qualifier. The win allowed the Chiefs to compete in last Saturday's district at Ypsilanti (details of the district action will be in Thursday's Observer).

Laura Darby and Diana Knickerbocker helped Canton control the net through games two and three. Shannon Meath put Canton over the top in game three with five straight service points, including three aces. Meath also played well in the back row.

The win was Canton's second of the season.

HEAD-ACHES

HEADACHES, THEIR CAUSE AND CORRECTION. A CHIROPRACTIC VIEWPOINT.

So many times people will come to us as a last resort. They have gone through the gamet of tests and pills and sometimes even psychological therapy without results, or at best with only slight results. To cope, they have to take a strong pain killer which does relieve some pain but it has undesirable side effects and the headaches later return.

In short, they still have the problem. We look at the problem in a different way. Experience has shown us that most all headaches, whatever type they may be called, are usually caused by vertabrae out of alignment in the neck, which backs up pressure into the head. Depending how the vertabrae are out of alignment determines the area, type and duration of the headache.

WITH THE PROPER RE-ALIGNMENT OF THE VERTABRAE (WHICH IS NOT PAINFUL), 95 OUT OF 100 HEADACHE CASES ARE CORRECTED WITHIN THREE MONTHS, EVEN IF THE HEADACHES HAVE BEEN PRESENT FOR YEARS.

Please...don't suffer any longer. Read the testimonials and then call for an appointment.

Nine Day Headache

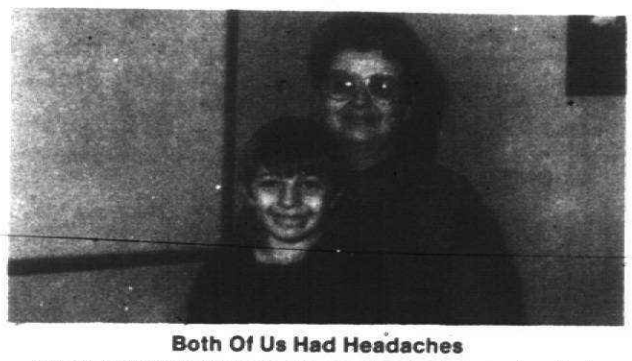
For nine days straight I had a headache that wouldn't stop and nothing helped; not pills, not packs - nothing.

Friends and relatives had gone to Dr. Mashike and my daughter, Dolores, took me in. I was examined, x-rays were taken and adjustments started.

I didn't think anything would help because the pain was so bad. At first nothing happened but slowly, afetr several adjustments, the headaches disappeared and within a month I felt much better. It's been three months now and the headaches haven't returned.

If you have headaches, try chiropractic before pills get you down. I did and I'm better.

Anna Przybylo



Both Of Us Had Headaches

My son David is 10 years old and has had severe headaches for 6 years. They sometimes made him sick to his stomach and put him out of commission.

My mother was going to Dr. Mashike and she thought he could help. David's upper neck was found to be out of place. After just a few adjustments the headaches were gone. A couple of weeks later David was playing soccer and he hit the ball with his head; the next day his headache was back. After an adjustment to put the vertebrae back in place, David's headache left again.

(David's neck will be stronger in a few months then he can resume normal activities.)

When I saw David's results, I also started treatment for my headaches and in one week they were gone. I have recommended this care to others because I generally felt better and don't have to take pills.

Cornet finds its way back

A cornet on display at the Plymouth Historical Museum has been a long time in returning to Plymouth.

The cornet was manufactured in Plymouth by the Frank Millard Musical Instrument Co. It has more recently been returned to the community, to be displayed at the museum.

"I would say this goes back in the World War I era," said Fred Millard of Northville.

The company had a contract to produce the instruments during that war. Millard remembers hearing his father and grandfather speak of it.

The company's building was damaged by a fire in 1924 that ended its operations.

Seniors learn to fight crime

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Older people can do a lot to reduce the likelihood of becoming victims of crime.

Basic crime prevention measures, such as improved lighting and more secure locks on doors and windows, can go a long way in reducing crime, according to Officer Robert Scoggins of the Plymouth City Police Department. Greater caution when answering the telephone can also be helpful.

"The most prevalent crime in suburban communities is not necessarily violent crime," the officer said. "It tends to be property crime. We have a minimal amount of violent crime."

Crime prevention measures will be covered in a program scheduled for Monday, March 17 and March 24 at the Arbor Health Building of the Catherine McAuley Health Center.

The program is sponsored by the Catherine McAuley Health Center and the Plymouth Council on Aging. It is the first such program on crime prevention for seniors at the local facility.

"In order for a crime to occur, there must be a desire to commit it, an opportunity, and a victim. The objective of crime prevention is to remove that opportunity," Scoggins said.

"He (the criminal) usually looks for the easy mark."

The Monday, March 17 session will cover the areas of Senior Watch, Neighborhood Watch and crime reporting.

The session will be held from 1 to 2 p.m. at the Arbor Health Building, 990 W. Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth. It will be presented by Officer Wayne Carroll of the Plymouth City Police Department.

The session will cover securing property to prevent crime. Crime reporting will also be covered in the first session. Participants will learn what kind of information police need from the public.

According to Scoggins, some people are reluctant to contact police when they see something suspicious. The fear of appearing dumb may keep some from calling, while others are reluctant to get involved.

"Most people tend to kind of take on that isolationist kind of philosophy," the officer said. Citizen involvement, however, can be a big help in solving and in preventing crimes.

"Contrary to thought, police are not supermen or women.

"It's a matter just of being observant," he said. "People generally know when something's not right."

Crimes against the elderly involving consumer fraud will be covered in the Monday, March 24 session, to be presented by Scoggins. It will be held from 1 to 2 p.m. at the Arbor Health Building.

Scoggins plans to show a film, "Senior Power," on that subject during the second session.

In addition to providing specific information on crime prevention, the sessions are also designed to reduce the fear of crime.

Older people often have a greater perception of being victims, according to Scoggins. They may worry about being able to get away from an assailant during an attack, or have more general fears about the likelihood of becoming crime victims.

"We want to dispel that fear," he said. "The pro-active police approach is through education. What we're doing is breaking down barriers."

That approach parallels the trend toward prevention also found in health care, according to Janet Zielasko, health promotion coordinator for the Catherine McAuley facility.

"Rather than dealing with it after the fact, it's trying to educate people."

Registration is not required for the series and there is no fee. For additional information, call 572-4108. Those who need transportation should call 453-9703.

Book dealer featured

Old books may be dry and musty, but not so the presentation by antiquarian book dealer Jim Babcock at the Friday, March 7, meeting of the Friends of the Livonia Public Library.

Humorous anecdotes from 12 years as a collector bookseller of rare publications will pepper his talk that will also include appraisals of books, letters or manuscripts for those in the audience who wish to avail themselves of the special service.

But mostly Babcock will talk about books — what makes them valuable and qualities to look for in books that could make them valuable. He will also discuss how to care for leather bindings, how to store books and how to repair them.

BABCOCK, WHO lives on Harsens Island, specializes in rare and unusual books and manuscripts, first editions, fine prints, Michigania and Americania, leather bindings, and maps.

He does appraisals for insurance purposes and for gifts and estates. Prior to becoming a bookdealer, he was a librarian, and was chief of Burton Historical Collection of the Detroit Public Library. He is also a past president of the Michigan Historical Society.

ROY EUGENE DAVIS
in a seminar
MEDITATION FOR PERSONAL BENEFIT AND INNER GROWTH

Friday, March 7th, at 7:30 p.m., Mr. Davis will speak on "GOD HAS GIVEN US EVERY GOOD THING."
Saturday, March 8th, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Mr. Davis will present a seminar entitled "MEDITATION FOR PERSONAL BENEFIT AND INNER GROWTH."
A love offering will be taken at both sessions. Luncheon on Saturday will be provided by the Youth of Unity for a donation of $4.00.
There is a way to relax the body, clear the mental fields and experience calm and clear self-awareness. As a result of regular experiences over meditation, the thoughts become strengthened, health improves, and the personal relationships in all areas of life are enhanced in a dynamic way. We are all aware on the Christ of God. When we experience this awareness, we are filled with the Love of God, Wisdom and Power of God through us and around us.
Roy Eugene Davis began his spiritual training with Paramahansa Yogananda in 1948. He is currently the president of Center for Spiritual Awareness, which has world headquarters in northeast Georgia and branch centers in California, Europe and West Africa. Mr. Davis is the author of many inspirational books, many of which will be available in our bookstore. He is also a regular publisher of Truth, lecture magazine and an internationally operating Center for New Thought teachers, conferences and retreat programs.

Cornet's origins traced to Plymouth

"My father was in adjusting the brakes on his car and didn't know the place was burning," Millard recalled. His father was, fortunately, alerted to the danger.

THE ORIGINS of the cornet can be traced by the words "Made by Millard, Plymouth, Mich.," which are engraved on the instrument.

A friend of Bill Beitner's, Harold Grimoldby, bought the instrument during the early 1960s.

"He just saw it in an antique store and bought it," said Beitner, who is co-owner of Beitner Jewelry in Plymouth. "Where it was before that, who knows?"

Beitner's friend believes he bought the instrument in southern Indiana.

A couple of years ago, Beitner bought the instrument from his friend.

"He knew I wanted it for the museum. That's why I bought it, to donate it. I figured it was made here, it should go to the museum."

Beitner found the instrument needed some repair work.

"There were dents in it and the valves needed some work in order to make it playable," he said.

The instrument is also engraved with the initials "U.S.N."

"It was for the Navy bands," Beitner said. "It was in the Navy, I'm sure. But how it got to the antique store, nobody knows. There sure aren't many of them around."

The instrument is on display in the Victorian rooms at the Plymouth Historical Museum. The museum, at 155 S. Main St. in Plymouth, is open to the public 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

Grady-Breitenwischer

Diane Lynn Breitenwischer and Gerald Joseph Grady Jr. exchanged marriage vows Dec. 28 in Zion Lutheran Church of Ann Arbor with the Revs. Howard T. Cole and Harry S. Benjamin officiating.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Breitenwischer of Whitman Circle, Ann Arbor, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Grady of Jennings Court, Canton Township.

The bride's gown had a chapel-length train and she carried white and red roses, stephanotis, holly and greens. Maid of honor, Amy Geiss and flower girl, Janine Grady, wore red iridescent taffeta dresses.

Honor attendants Kellie Grady, Lori Grady, Karie Boulware, Kathy Neff, Julie Demko, and Mary Ilchyshyn wore iridescent green taffeta dresses. Her attendants carried red and white roses with holly and greens.

Robert Adams of Plymouth was best man and groomsmen were Michael Grady, Joe Grady, Frank McClinrock, Gary Neff, Jim Lynch and Glen Skinner. The wedding reception was at Regency West of Redford and the couple honeymooned in the Poconos, Pa. They are living in Ann Arbor.

Both are graduates of Eastern Michigan University. The bride earned her degree in health administration and bridegroom's degree was in business administration. He is employed as an account/management consultant by Folmer, Rudzewicz and Co.
