Quarrel led to wife's death

By Peggy Aulino
staff writer

An argument over an extramarital affair turned violent and ended with the death of Dorothy Tyburski three years ago, court papers indicate.

Leonard Tyburski, who is being held on a charge of open murder, told police his wife said "she was having an affair with her daughter's boyfriend," according to a Canton police report filed in 35th District Court.

Dorothy Tyburski threw a steak knife at her husband and called him a "wimp" and a "punk" before he "grabbed her head and hit her into the beam near the stairs several times," the report said.

POLICE HAVE refused comment on the boyfriend, identified in the report and by people involved with the case as Craig Albright of Westland. Albright could not be reached for comment.

"We have some concerns about prejudicing a jury and providing a fair and impartial trial for this individual (Tyburski)," Canton police Lt. Alex Wilson said last week, when questioned about the affair.

"I don't feel comfortable talking about him," Rick Pomorski, the police detective in charge of the case, said in reference to Albright. "I won't say much about motive right now because I don't want the thing tried in the press."

Dorothy Tyburski died as a result of blows to the head, the autopsy report said. Her body had been in a locked freezer in the basement of the Tyburski's Avon Street home from September 1985 until it was discovered by her 20-year-old daughter on Jan. 2.

According to a statement Tyburski gave police, after he hit his wife's head against the beam, she "got kind of groggy, so he pushed her." She then fell backwards into the chest-type freezer.

2 arrested in stakeout at Budgetel

By Peggy Aulino
staff writer

Two men were arrested in connection with a robbery of a Canton Township motel Sunday as police conducted a stakeout of the premises.

Police believe the pair may be involved in at least three other armed robberies in Canton and several others throughout Wayne County.

Police said they saw the men enter the Budgetel Inn on Ford Road just before 8:30 p.m., pull out a gun and asked the clerk for money. Meanwhile, officers in unmarked cars had surrounded the building.

THE OFFICERS "watched the robbery going down" from outside and "when they came out, our people arrested them," said Public Safety Director John Santomauro.

Two officers who had been stationed in the parking lot of a fast food restaurant became suspicious when the suspects drove around the Fairfield Inn building on Haggerty Road and then left.

Kimble Jeffrey Douglas, 30, and Dion Vail Allen, 19, were arraigned in 35th District Court Monday. Not guilty pleas were entered on their behalf. Cash bond was set at $100,000 each, which they were unable to post and they remained in custody. A pretrial hearing is scheduled for Jan. 20.

The hotel clerk told police that one of the suspects pulled a gun and told her, "This is a stick-up. I want the money." She was ordered into an office, and he jumped over the counter, the report said.

The suspect saw "composites (police sketches) of himself" and ripped them off a bulletin board, according to authorities.

Police circulated the sketches after an armed robbery Dec. 29 of the Knights Inn on Ford Road.

The men are suspects in three other December Canton robberies — two at the Hop-In gas station at Michigan Avenue and Canton Center Road and one at the Star Stop Party Store at Ford and Lilley, police said. Investigators believe they may be involved in more than 20 area armed robberies, including incidents in Romulus, Farmington Hills, Taylor and Van Buren. Police said the pair is also being investigated in connection with robberies in Macomb, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

Police said they conducted surveillance on around-the-clock businesses for two nights before the arrest.

Trustees OK offices, homes

By Peggy Aulino
staff writer

An office building and a subdivision received final approval from Canton Township trustees Tuesday, but not before some questions were raised about whether the projects will cause basement flooding nearby.

"That's a lot of sewage," trustee Hank Whalen said of the 71-home Riverpark subdivision to be built on Sheldon Road south of Palmer. "I'm just wondering, what impact does it have on our current sewage abilities?"

The same question was asked, by the same trustee, of the Naccarato Professional Office Building project. That plan calls for a 20,000-square-foot building on the east side of Lilley Road just north of Ford.

"It shouldn't have an effect," David Nicholson, the township's Community and Economic Development director, said of the Naccarato project. But he also said "it's really impossible to say whether there will be flooding in the basements of nearby residences."

DRAINAGE ON the property will flow directly to Willow Creek, which runs along the north side of the property, he said.

"I'm just wondering, what impact does it have on our current sewage abilities?"
— Trustee Hank Whalen

Basement flooding has "been improved over the years with the development that's occurred" in that area, Nicholson said.

The Naccarato project will be located at the Lilley Professional Center, which currently includes three professional buildings. A drawing of the new building displayed at the meeting showed a single-story structure with a colonial design.

The housing development that was approved includes phases two and three of the Riverpark subdivision. Phase one has also been approved, but construction on that is yet to begin.

The most recent plan calls for 71 single-family homes to be built on 17.5 acres. One of the developers, Stuart Sherr, said they will be priced "approximately in the $100,000 range, more or less."

Resident killed when hit by car

By M.B. Dillon

Susan Immel, a 28-year-old social worker from Canton Township, was struck by a car and killed as she attempted to cross Ford Road at Beck at about 10:15 p.m. Monday.

The fatality occurred about a quarter mile from her home on Gorman between Canton Center and Beck off Ford in Canton. Immel was on the way home from a friend's house, said her brother Tom.

CANTON POLICE spokesman Dave Boljesic said, "Miss Immel apparently was attempting to cross from the north side to the south side at Beck when according to our investigation, as well as independent witnesses, a vehicle driven by a 23-year-old Ann Arbor female was traveling east-bound on Ford Road when Miss Immel walked or ran in front of her car and was struck."

"There is no traffic signal there, and it's an extremely dark area with two lanes," said Boljesic. Immel was taken by Canton EMS to St. Joseph Hospital where she was pronounced dead of multiple injuries at 10:57 p.m.

Motorists who witnessed but were uninvolved in the accident said Christina Liu was driving east-bound at what appeared to be posted speeds when the accident occurred just a few feet west of Beck. The speed limit is 50 mph in the relatively rural area. The roadway is level, and road conditions were dry, Boljesic added.

Police had no reason to suspect alcohol was involved, "and the report is closed as far as the police department is concerned," said Boljesic. "No charges are being filed."

TOM IMMEL said his sister was the youngest girl in a family of seven. She worked in Detroit as a social worker "with families who were having problems," Immel said. Susan Immel graduated from Livonia Churchill High School in 1978, and from Madonna with a degree in social work this past summer, he said.

In addition to Tom, Immel is survived by her parents, Irene and Frank; brothers, Frank Jr., Bill and Paul and sisters, Mary and Julie.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete at press time.

This was Canton's first traffic fatality of the year. Four people died in traffic accidents in the township last year.

Mary Gough and Bill Rose fell in love at the airport.

A native New Yorker, she was operations supervisor for British Airways at Detroit Metro. He was assistant manager with ARA Ground Services, which offloads planes. The year was 1986.

The couple was married last May and moved into the Mayfair subdivision near Joy and Sheldon in Canton. You'd think their off-the-

Spectacular celebration marks woman's birthday

By Julie Brown staff writer

There's no way to know just how the youngest visitor to this year's Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular was, but it's probably safe to say that Ora Bristow was the oldest.

Bristow, a Plymouth Court resident, celebrated her 106th birthday Monday. Friends and family gathered that afternoon for a party, held in the dining room at Plymouth Court. A trip to the ice festival was part of the fun.

"I was a tomboy," said Bristow, who was born in northern New York state in 1883. She remembers ice skating, roller skating and tobogganing as a girl.

"We'd make taffy and we'd have fun pulling it."

Bristow and her late husband lived in Detroit for a number of years.

"I had a pretty good life," she said. "I went through life without any hardships. I was happy."

BRISTOW has her own home until last April, she then moved into Plymouth Court, a nursing home. Among those celebrating the special occasion Monday were fellow Plymouth Court residents, other friends, family members and Plymouth Court staffers, as well as newspaper and television journalists.

Marjorie Howard, Bristow's 81-year-old daughter, was glad to be the party.

"Just to know she's all right, that's the main thing," said Howard, who

In response to questions about the possibility of flooding basements, township engineer Tom Casari said, "There's an existing sewer line in place that this subdivision will utilize. I would not anticipate this causing any additional flooding."

Farber and Sherr, who own Stuart Properties Inc. of Farmington Hills, said construction on the three phases of the Riverpark subdivision could begin within the next two months.

Extra sculptures are put on ice

By Doug Funks staff writer

The decision of Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular organizers to consolidate displays downtown and to hold some carvings in anticipation of bad weather paid big dividends when soaring temperatures and thunderstorms pounded the show last Saturday.

Statues stored at Midwest Ice Corp. in Detroit — just in case — were placed on stands along Main, Penniman, Ann Arbor Trail and Forest earlier this week to replace those that had melted.

"As it turns out, it was a good move," said Scott Lorenz, co-chairman of the event, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel and normally one not prone to understatement.

The seventh annual ice spectacle officially runs through Sunday if the weather cooperates.

In addition to fresh sculptures along city sidewalks, students from Monroe Community College and the Plymouth-Canton schools were to produce major displays in Kellogg Park this week.

Local legislators share in PACs generosity

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Michigan gave matching $250 contributions to Barns, Bennett, Keith and Law and a $200 contribution to Kosteva.

Education-related contributions weren't limited to the MEA. Among other PACs, the Michigan Organization of Private Vocational Schools gave $300 to Banks and $500 to Keith. Both are members of the state House Education Committee.

Health industry contributions weren't limited to MD's and hospitalists, either. The Michigan Optometric Association gave $400 contributions to Barns and Law. The Michigan Optometric Society gave $200 each to the same candidates. Barns and Law also received $200 each from the Pharmacy PAC. Both are members of the Public Health Committee.

Most PACs played no party favorites. Not surprisingly, however, union PACs opened their wallets only for Democrats.

The UAW of Wayne County PAC contributed $2,000 to Barns, $1,000 each to Keith and Kosteva, $1,800 to Stempien and $800 to Matthew Abel who unsuccessfully challenged Banks.

Barns also received $200 from the Michigan AFL-CIO. Stempien received contributions from the United Steelworkers of America and Wayne County Sheriff's Local 502.

Utilities and lending institutions were bi-partisan in their giving.

Consumers Power employees contributed $1,000 and $500 respectively to Democrats Kosteva and Keith and $750 to Republican Law.

Spending varied widely in House races

Election spending for incumbents was as high as $36,000 and as low as $8,000 in area races.

City, spent $7,101 in the 33rd District race. GOP challenger Harold Richardson spent less than $1,000, according to campaign reports. The district includes Garden City and Livonia.

THERE WERE partial reports in the 37th and 38th District races. Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, spent $7,900 on his 37th District reelection bid. State elections officials said they hadn't yet received a report from Republican challenger David Dosselle. The district includes western Canton Township, Belleville, Romulus, Wayne and Van Buren Township.

Rep. Justice Barns, D-Westland, spent $26,998 in the 38th District. Figures weren't available for Republican challenger Kenneth Raupp.

Midwest (achoo!) no more resistant to colds — doctor

By Janice Brunson staff writer

The Wayne County medical director disputes findings of a recent study by the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta that shows midwesterners have colds and the flu less often than people in other parts of the country.

"I was once told, figures lie and liars figure," quipped Dr. Donald Lawrence, a Livonian who has been medical director of Wayne County for six years, said the study reflects little more than how well statistics on colds and the flu are maintained in various parts of the country.

"At best, the results are guessimates. We need a lot more research before jumping to any conclusions," Lawrence said.

The study, based on figures supplied by state health departments to the National Center for Health Statistics (within the Centers for Disease Control), showed midwesterners have fewer colds and incidents of flu, and are less likely to experience loss of work due to either illness. Midwesterners are also more likely to seek medical attention when sick with a cold or the flu.

"We need a lot more research before jumping to any conclusions."

— Dr. Donald Lawrence
Wayne County health director

THE PROBLEM with the study arises in the reporting process, according to Lawrence.

In Wayne County, for example, over 100 infectious diseases must be reported to the medical director, including acute, life-threatening infections like rabies or botulism, as well as less serious infections such as head lice or chicken pox.

Colds and the flu, however, are not reported unless incidents "occur in significant or unusual numbers" within a certain period of time. "Significant or unusual numbers" of any thing, even a rash, (within a certain period of time) are required to be reported," Lawrence said.

Lawrence and the other 47 county medical directors in Michigan report their findings to the state Department of Public Health and the figures are, in turn, passed along to the Center for Health Statistics.

Based on reported figures in 1987, midwesterners had 21 colds per 100 people. Northeasterners reported 27 colds, southerners 24 colds and westerners 33 colds per 100 people, the study said.

Westerners lost more than twice as many days from work due to colds, 33 days per 100 employees in the West, compared to 15 days per 100 workers in the Midwest. In addition, 40 percent of midwesterners had their colds attended to by doctors, compared to 31 percent of westerners.

LAWRENCHUK is NOT alone in questioning the report.

State tax expenditures higher than tax bills

By Tim Richard
staff writer

'This tax report is not advocating either the elimination or the expansion of tax expenditures.' — Robert Bowman, state treasurer

On paper, it looks as if Michigan state and local governments collect $15 billion in taxes. But when all the exemptions are figured in, only 40 percent of that is paid to state and local treasurers. People, businesses and non-profit groups get $2.2 billion back in so-called "tax expenditures."

"The information is important to policymakers who must monitor and review the structure of our tax program."

The information is important to policymakers who must monitor and review the structure of our tax program. In 1987-88, state laws granted $9.2 billion in tax expenditures, up from $8.9 billion in the previous fiscal year. Another way of looking at it: Tax expenditures are actually larger than the $6 billion state general fund budget.

To some, tax expenditures are "loopholes." But the Legislature doesn't see it that way. Don Drake, who heads tax analysis in the governor's budget office, said tax expenditures can be defined as "a preference granted to a group within the tax structure," often to encourage the group to do something it might not otherwise do.

Most people benefit from some tax expenditure, even if it's a simple matter of going to the dry cleaner or barber. Services aren't subject to the Michigan sales tax. Michigan voters exempted groceries and prescription drugs from the sales tax through a constitutional amendment. In dollar terms, here are the state's and local units' major tax expenditures:
● $2.6 billion for local property taxes — abatements for new industries, exemptions for public buildings such as schools and courthouses, churches and some charitable institutions, business exemptions for air and water pollution control equipment.
● $2.8 billion for individual income taxes — best known is the personal exemption. A major component is the homestead property tax exemption ("circuit breaker") granted to those whose property taxes exceed 3.5 percent of household income. Also exempt are employer contributions to health and life insurance, contributions to pension plans and Social Security taxes, and contributions to colleges and community foundations.

● $2 billion for sales and use taxes — besides groceries, prescription drugs and services, this exemption also applies to labor on auto repairs.
● $1 billion for the single business tax — capital acquisition deduction, credits for low-profit firms and college contributions.
● $500 million for the intangibles tax — deposits in banks and thrift institutions, interest on Michigan municipal and U.S. treasury bonds.

Dems reject GOP's 'reform' rules

Here's how House members were recorded on major roll call votes in the opening week of the 101st Congress. There were no Senate roll calls.

REFORM RULES — By a vote of 231 for and 162 against, the House endorsed the Democratic majority's proposed rules for its operation in the 101st Congress.

The vote cleared the way for routine adoption of the Democratic rules, which are essentially unchanged from those used in the 100th Congress. It rebuffed a reform package authored by House Republicans.

At issue were GOP complaints that Democrats in recent Congresses have used their control over committee and floor operations to all but eliminate Republican opposition. Republicans say increasingly restrictive rules also lessen accountability to constituents and make it more difficult for public opinion to influence Congress.

The GOP rules sought to:

- Require roll call votes on final passage of all appropriations and taxation bills and members pay raises.
- Substitute a five-day work week for the present three-day week.
- Outlaw proxy voting in committees.
- Require committees to be more open in conducting meetings and divulging voting records.

Republicans also attacked the increasing use of "closed" rules that limit or prohibit floor amendments, the Democratic majority's growing reliance on budget act waivers to skirt statutory deficit limits and the practice of adding unauthorized money and programs to appropriations bills.

Also, the GOP rules required the House to include itself in civil rights, fair labor practices and other social legislation it has passed for the rest of the country and directed the Rules Committee to recommend ways of streamlining the House's committee bureaucracy.

Minority Leader Bob Michel, R-Ill., said the GOP rules would "blow the doors of the chamber and let in the clean, fresh air of open and free debate."

Democrats did not comment on the Republican proposal.

Members voting yes supported House rules put forth by the Democratic majority. Voting yes Democrats: Dennis Hertel of Harper Woods, William Ford of Taylor and Sander Levin of Southfield.

Voting no Republicans: Carl Pursell of Plymouth and William Broomfield of Lake Orion.

CLOSED RULES — By a vote of 163 for and 239 against, the House rebuffed a Republican attack on the

$2.3 million in drug dealer assets seized last year

Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies seized a small mountain of illegal drugs in 1988 while arresting 500 alleged drug traffickers. Sheriff Robert Ficano announced this week.

Under new drug forfeiture laws, the department's narcotics unit confiscated more than $2.3 million in drug dealer assets. Ficano said, almost double that seized in 1987.

A commercial building and one residential building were among the items seized, according to department records. Eleven automobiles were also seized.

Records also show roughly 40

Malls find role as social centers

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Here she comes, Miss Winter Wonderland — fairest of the fair at Wonderland Mall.

The beauty pageant, conceived and launched last year by Wonderland publicist Laura Solakian, reflects what malls have come to mean to many who use them.

Malls are no longer mere centers of retail activity. They now serve as social centers as well.

"Involving people in mall activity," is one reason for the Miss Wonderland contest, according to Solakian. That, and "offering young ladies who are interested in modeling an opportunity for exposure."

Last year, 26 teenage girls participated in competition. An equal number is expected to enter this year's competition on Jan. 21.

While mall-sponsored beauty pageants may be new, special events hosted by individual malls are not. The events are aimed at meeting the needs and desires of today's consumer who increasingly views the mall as a place to both shop and socialize.

"NOWADAYS, malls have become a central part of most everyone's life, especially on a cold day when people don't want to spend a lot of money but want to get out of the house," said Al Messer, manager of Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn. For teens, malls have replaced drive-in movies or sweet shops of yesteryear, according to Messer. Teens gather in Fairlane by the dozens, especially on Saturday nights when they visit with one another, attend a show and get something to eat "without having to go out in the cold."

Today's mall serves as a meeting place for others as well.

"Any morning about 9 a.m. I can show you a group of about 20 Greek seniors. They meet in front of Penney's. They talk a while, reminisce. Then they drift on a bit further, stop and visit again. This continues until about 10:30, when the mall starts filling up with shoppers. Then it gets too crowded for them and they leave," Messer said.

Today's mall also serves as a classroom, according to Messer, who said he and his staff frequently conduct tours for students from area schools and the mentally handicapped who "arrive by the busload to learn how to shop in a protected environment."

COME RAIN or shine, hundreds arrive at Westland Center on Wayne and Warren roads early each morning, dressed for exercise and walking. They are the 400-plus members of the Westland Pacers, a walking group hosted by the mall.

Security guards trained in emergency medical procedures keep watch as the Pacers walk and talk their way around a course that winds past 94 shops lining the mall's promenade.

"Many of them are retirees or singles. They come to be with other people, to get out of the house," according to Catherine O'Malley of Center Companies who manages Westland and three other area malls.

Exercise is one of many activities sponsored by the mall. Westland also offers "coffees, card parties, lectures, cooking classes, the healthorama and on and on," O'Malley said.

In the six years she has managed malls, O'Malley said she has witnessed a maturation in the relationship between consumer and mall.

"It's a growing partnership," she said, that has "long-term consequences."

It is also "a two-way street."

"The mall is basically retail oriented. But we are also offering community betterment because we are committed to giving back to the community," O'Malley said.

THE NUMBER OF social users in malls has increased substantially during the 10 years Phil Morosco has been involved in the business. Now manager of Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi, Morosco said the surge in social users occurred some five years ago and was first noticed in a marked increase in the number of daily walkers.

Capitalizing on this group, Twelve Oaks now offers daily a low-impact aerobic class for people over 50 years of age. The class is taught by physical education coaches from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

"The program is specifically designed for people who use the mall, but who are not necessarily coming here to shop," Morosco said.

To accommodate social users, most malls now contain conference or community rooms that are available for use by the public.

With the increase in social users, mall programs are now able "to reach a major audience in the community," according to O'Malley of Westland.

And while pretty maidens vie for the title of Miss Wonderland later this month, on the same date in Livonia Mall health-guru-turned-entertainer Richard Simmons will demonstrate his exercise style.

Wholesome, upbeat entertainment like that which Simmons provides is regular fare at Livonia Mall, an 80-shop center that bills itself as "a family mall," according to mall spokesman Bill Checks.

"We are interested in the entire family, in safety, and in a nice shopping atmosphere," he said, adding that when the mall was built in 1964 it was marketed as a "neighborhood shopping center."

Focus is on fine arts

Not all of the creativity showcased during the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular is found outdoors.

"Michigan Art '89" offers festival visitors something to see indoors. The art exhibit, open to the public, is on display at Growth Works, 271 S. Main in Plymouth.

The opening reception for the show was held the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 4, at Growth Works. The exhibit features work from a statewide fine arts competition, programmed by the Plymouth Community Arts Council and sponsored by Michigan National Bank.

Many hours of work went into organizing this year's event.

"It went very well," said Janet Campbell, co-chairwoman with Doris Chatterley for the show. "The second year, you've learned from your mistakes."

THE SHOW was held for the first time during last January's Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular. Organizers wanted to present a fine arts competition and exhibit.

"I think we had a good variety," Chatterley said of this year's exhibit. "There's a little bit of everything."

The exhibit features a variety of media, including sculpture, metalwork, oil, acrylic, watercolor and others.

The competition was open to Michigan artists age 18 and older. Entries came from throughout the state, including the Upper Peninsula, Chatterley said.

The arts council holds an arts and crafts show each year during the Plymouth Fall Festival.

"This is more fine art," Campbell said. "And it's different each year."

The show reflects the juror's tastes, she said. This year's juror was Carol Ann Carter, an associate professor of fine arts at the University of Michigan.

The fine arts competition helps to expose people to a variety of art forms.

"It's nice for them to come down and have something different to see," Chatterley said.

The opening reception drew a crowd to the art exhibit. The exhibit, held in conjunction with the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular, will continue through Sunday, Jan. 15.

This pet peeve hasn't dampened enthusiasm

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Pauline Norman has been on the job for just over a year at the Plymouth Community Arts Council. She enjoys her work, but does have one pet peeve: being stopped on the wrong side of a non-moving train.

Norman is the administrative assistant for the arts council.

"I've had a long interest in the arts," she said.

The northwest Detroit resident joked that she is among those who don't know what they want to do when they grow up.

At the arts council, she is responsible for working with the public. She gives registration information for classes, receives entries for arts competitions and provides general support for the executive director, Susan Froelich, and the volunteers.

NORMAN HAD volunteered at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association and continues to serve on that association's board. Two years ago, she ran a statewide fine arts competition for the BBAA; she also was chairwoman for a fund-raising auction.

Norman heard about the job opening at the PCAC and decided to apply.

She has found the energy level at the two arts associations is the same, but the BBAA operates on a larger scale.

"Birmingham has a much larger facility. Membership is much larger," she said.

THE PCAC, founded in 1969, offers a variety of arts activities for the Plymouth-Canton community. Those include: arts classes for people of all ages, scholarships for students, arts programs in schools, an annual statewide fine arts competition, an annual arts and crafts show, and an art rental gallery.

Norman generally works from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. weekdays.

"I'm enjoying it," she said. "I like working half days."

Norman wouldn't mind working more hours in the future as the arts council grows.

She is looking forward to the growth of the PCAC and would like to benefit from that. She would be interested in taking on more programming responsibilities, to "use some of my skills in a different way," she said.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Pauline Norman has been on the job as administrative assistant at the Plymouth Community Arts Council for just over a year.

HER INTEREST in art goes back a number of years. Norman, 45, is a graduate of Western Michigan University, where she received a bachelor of science degree, specializing in occupational therapy.

"That's one of the things that attracted me to it," she said. She has found involvement in the arts is therapeutic.

Norman worked for 17 years as an occupational therapist, mostly part time. Most of that work was in hospitals. She worked for the Detroit Recreation Department, coordinating a unit integrating handicapped senior citizens into established recreational activities.

SHE CHOSE to work part time, allowing her to be home with her children.

"For me, it wasn't possible to do everything," she said.

She wasn't interested in trying to be Supermom.

"I believe that parenting is important. I'm glad that I did."

Norman and her husband have a 19-year-old son, a sophomore at Wilberforce University in Ohio, and a 17-year-old daughter, a senior at Mumford High School in Detroit.

Cheese, wine among foods that bring on migraines

Dear Jo:
Your column on immunization against the flu and pneumonia sure "hit the nail on the head" at our house.

Last winter we had a house guest (my sister) who arrived with a bad cold. Within a little over a week, both my husband and I came down with colds. My sister stayed a week — the colds stayed all winter.

Needless to say we are not extending any invitation to her this year. I do wish that people with colds would stay home and get well and keep their germs to themselves. I hope you don't think we're going overboard on this — but when you're old and not feeling well, life is awfully tough.

We will be immunized this fall against the flu and if our doctor agrees, we'll get the pneumonia shot too.

I hope I have made my point. Sign me,

Mrs. K.R.
Detroit Reader

Dear Mrs. R.:
Your point is well taken. Immunization against the flu is a must for anyone over age 65, and the pneumo-

gerontology
A. Jolayne Farrell

nia immunization should be considered for those who suffer from a chronic disease.

Dear Jo:
My granddaughter is coming for dinner. She is prone to migraine headaches.

Are there certain foods or beverages that I should avoid serving?
Mrs. G.G.
Western Senior

Dear Mrs. G.:
Some of the most common foods and beverages that appear to bring on migraine headaches are chocolate, ripened cheese, red wine and other alcoholic beverages. The additive MSG, used in the preparation of certain foods, is also thought to be responsible.

Your granddaughter, I'm sure, will let you know what other foods she can and can't eat.

Dear Jo:
What can I do to prevent cramps, heartburn and bloating?

Mr. T.E.
Uncomfortable Senior

Dear Mr. E.:
Some practical suggestions are: eat slowly in a relaxed atmosphere; try eating small meals frequently; avoid gas-forming foods such as cabbage, beans, onions and nuts; and try bland, low fat, easily digested foods. Antacids that have been chilled may also be helpful. Be sure to mention this problem to your doctor at your next visit.

Mall seeks pageant entrants

How would you like a color TV? Maybe a trophy, crown, banner and flowers?

Well, that's just a few of the things some young lady will win as the new Miss Winter Wonderland.

Wonderland Mall will hold its second annual Miss Winter Wonderland Pageant at 6 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 21.

The pageant is open to young, single women between the ages of 16 and 23. Private auditions will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 19. Contestants should check in at the mall information booth for directions to the auditions.

They will be judged on a talent routine and private interview. Contestants should bring a cassette tape for the talent competition.

Ten semifinalists will be selected for the Saturday evening pageant. They will be judged in three categories — talent (a two-minute routine of the contestant's choice), modeling an evening gown of the contestant's choice and an on-stage interview.

The new Miss Winter Wonderland will have the opportunity to model in fashion shows, obtain photos for her portfolio, appear in mall advertisements and represent Wonderland in mall and community activities.

The winner will succeed Melissa Sinkevics, who followed up her Miss Winter Wonderland title with top spot in the 1988 Michigan State Fair's Queen of Queens pageant.

Second- through fifth-place finishers will receive trophies, gift certificates and flowers.

The deadline for entering the pageant is Tuesday, Jan. 17.

The pageant is open to young, single women between the ages of 16 and 23. Private auditions will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 19. Contestants should check in at the mall information booth for directions to the auditions.

AAUW branch taps Lohr to '88 honors

Mary Alice Lohr was the center of attention recently.

Because of her volunteer work she was selected by the American Association of University Women of Livonia as its 1988 honoree at the 16th annual Salute to Women luncheon.

Lohr was selected for her dedication and service to senior citizens in Livonia.

Since 1978, she has been a member of SCAN (Senior Citizens Achievement Needs), working as treasurer and helping to raise money for the purchase of buses.

She also has been president and is treasurer of the Senior Citizens Travel Club. She also has worked as a volunteer and has spent five years as vice president of the Wonderland Unit of Meals on Wheels.

She was nominated for the honor by her co-workers who described her as "a genuinely giving person."

The AAUW each selects a woman "whose efforts reflect its goals of continuing education and community involvement, thereby enhancing the quality of life."

STEVE JONES/staff photographer

David Goodwill, CEO of Ladbroke DRC, is looking for help from the Legislature in the form of loosening wagering laws, to help DRC get back to the winner's circle.

Terms of the trade

• Parimutuel wagering

Ever since a Paris shopkeeper discovered a better way in the 19th Century, bettors have not had to submit to the vagaries of payoff prices set by bookies. In essence, horseplayers now set the prices (odds) themselves by betting in a mutual pool ("mutuel" in Paris, hence parimutuel).

• Off Track Betting (OTB)

Parimutuel horse-race wagering conducted at a betting shop away from the track, sometimes with full-service dining and beverage services, on races brought in via closed-circuit TV. The thoroughbred racing industry, hit hard by state lotteries and changing lifestyles, sees OTB as a way to take its product to consumers no longer willing to drive long distances and sit through a full day's racing card.

• Intertrack Wagering (ITW)

A less-radical cousin of OTB, ITW allows betting at a race track on races run elsewhere and brought in on closed-circuit TV. Under current law, DRC offers betting on selected simulcasts of major races from around the country. But there is a maximum of one race a day, which is added to the program of live races. Under ITW, DRC could remain open at night and accept bets on Hazel Park's harness racing — and vice versa. In states such as Illinois and Pennsylvania, ITW was operated for several years before introduction of OTB.

DRC looks to Lansing for convenience betting

By Tom Ferguson
staff writer

Handicapping a bad race is easier than getting a line on the future of Ladbroke DRC in Livonia, Michigan's only thoroughbred horse racing track.

The British conglomerate that bought DRC in 1985 is entering the final year of a five-year plan still waiting for the one tool it believes essential to success: off track betting (OTB).

"If someone came to us and said, 'You're never going to get it (OTB),' it would be a no-brainer," said David Goodwill, 42, CEO of Ladbroke Racing Corp., meaning Ladbroke would pull the plug on its effort to develop a major league racing program at DRC.

"Results at this track have improved, but we are not talking about a profitable organization," said Goodwill, recently arrived from Britain to coordinate Ladbroke's stalled American invasion.

"We have a lot of assets here with no return. But Ladbroke is also a company that is prepared to take a long-term view, to do the job properly."

Long-term for DRC means long enough to see whether OTB, or at least its less-ambitious cousin, inter-track wagering (ITW), will emerge from the Legislature. (See accompanying story for betting definitions.)

Goodwill won't say how far Ladbroke's patience will extend, but indications are one more season wouldn't be a bad guess.

Meanwhile, predicting the fate of ITW/OTB legislation is hazardous.

THE GOOD news for Ladbroke is that James Karoub, the track's powerful Lansing lobbyist, is optimistic. "I don't see any problem with ITW," he said. "OTB will be introduced later."

The bad news is that the harness racing industry, which represents nearly three-quarters of the Michigan horse racing industry, is at best cool to what the thoroughbred industry prefers to call "convenience betting."

At worst, if the harness horsemen decide to oppose OTB, and if they are successful, Goodwill might have his "no-brainer."

WHEN LADBROKE Group PLC decided to establish its U.S. beachhead at Schoolcraft and Middlebelt, it clearly had OTB in mind — not the operation of a minor league race track.

Though it has yet to accept a single OTB wager in this country, Ladbroke Racing Corp. (the U.S. subsidiary) is described in a company press release as "Ladbroke's U.S. off track betting subsidiary."

"We are the world's experts in this area," Goodwill said. "If anybody is going to do OTB well in this country, it is going to be us."

The parent company is indeed the world leader. By last June Ladbroke was operating 1,797 betting shops in the United Kingdom and Ireland, had 75 percent of the market in Belgium and had opened 75 shops in the Netherlands after securing a national monopoly on OTB.

Tracks face changing times

"This place was built to hold 30,000 people in the '40s," said Bill Bork. "Now we fill up that parking lot with a crowd of 15,000 on Michigan Mile Day. I ask some old-timers where the hell they put all those cars, and they say, 'Bill, this was farmland then. They parked across Middlebelt and across Schoolcraft.'"

Changing times and their effect on marketing his product are what's on the DRC president's mind these days. He rattled off the litany.

"Anyway, there were no lotteries. There were no five sports teams with long seasons.

"It takes five hours to run 10 races, and people don't want that anymore. See all those wooden stadium seats? They want to be able to bet two races and go home. Biff. Bam. In and out.

"And they want a nice place where they can take their wife or girlfriend."

The answer, he believes is off-track betting, packaged and presented with the expertise the parent Lad-broke Group has developed in Europe.

"I'm talking about cushioned chairs," he said. "I mean first class. Two- or three-million-dollar facilities that seat 500 people. No admission. No parking problems. Mutuel clerks in tuxedos. Look at the Palace, that's what people want."

But he'll settle for intertrack wagering, at least for starters, allowing DRC to send its racing card via TV to other tracks.

"It (ITW legislation) looks good for this year. Let's get the vehicle in place," Bork said. "No one is sure that it's going to work. But every state that has OTB has had ITW first. It's a natural step.

"It appears that the standardbred (harness) people are against it because they don't know what effect it will have. But I helped write the bill so that if it's hurting them, they can stop it."

He is confident of ITW's imminence, and of OTB's inevitability. But he sees yet another, inferior route to help his ailing industry, sort of a jack in the hole.

Traditionally, thoroughbreds have never raced in the winter here. I come from a background in Pennsylvania racing, where we did race in the winter, and we could go year-round. Give me a 40- or 50-degree day in January or February, and I'll do a million and a half at the windows. There's nothing else going on: no lake sailing, no Grand Prix, no Tigers.

"But I don't want to do that at this time. I think the answer is convenience betting. That's off track."

Some health plans are like hospital gowns: They never cover as much as you wish they would.

When it comes to health care, traditional medical insurance leaves a lot to be desired. Because they only cover a portion of your costs. Health Alliance Plan, on the other hand, is much more comprehensive. We offer complete coverage for virtually everything from pediatrics to geriatrics. And this extensive medical coverage is available from over 1,600 physicians at 23 medical centers, 18 hospitals and hundreds of individual doctor's office locations.

To find out how you can become a member, call 872-8100. You'll learn why Health Alliance Plan is such a great way to cover your medical needs. And that's the naked truth.

Your health deserves the best.

DRC is looking to Lansing for convenience betting

"Other countries in Europe could be interesting over time," Goodwill said.

FARMUTUEL WAGERING is just one of the corporation's four prime interests, along with commercial real estate, hotels...

It all added up to fiscal 1987 net profits of $250 million, more than a third of that from racing/betting operations, on revenues of more than $1.75 billion.

State, and not Livonia, is where Ladbrooke's plan for the United States will start to take some real shape.

What happened there is that the state Legislature approved an OTB program, then sustained it over the governor's veto.

LADBROKE is also in the final stages of buying Golden Gate Meadow, a thoroughbred track in California (ITW but no OTB), and is defending itself in an appeal after being awarded a monopoly on Wyoming's first OTB parlors.

"We won the sole license, with a number of criteria used in selection," Goodwill said.

Even in a situation that seems clear-cut there are pitfalls."

THE BIGGEST pitfall at DRC may turn out to be choosing to buy a track in a state and region dominated by harness racing.

While DRC runs the only thoroughbred game in town, harness meets are held at Hazel Park, Northville, Jackson and Sports Creek in Flint.

"The THOROUGHBRED industry, meanwhile, fears ultimate diminution — as in extinction — without innovations such as OTB.

Ladbrooke officials were unable to speculate on what kind of increased revenue OTB might mean.

A popular myth which never seems to die, is that you can make successful investing decisions by putting your money in whatever seems to be popular.

Take a look at Table I prepared by Raymond James & Associates Inc. In case you are wondering, the 1980-86 ranking is not permanent either, in fact, it is already changing.

Another persistent myth is that mutual funds can be selected by referring to the latest issue of a financial magazine like Money, Business Week, Forbes or Time.

Table II should dispel this myth. The top 20 mutual funds during 6-78 to 6-83 virtually disappeared during the next five year period.

My message to you should now be clear. Do not be distracted by fads. Seek the advice of a professional and invest for the long-term.

Star steps out in Birmingham

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

DAN DEAN/staff photographer

Susan Flynn wasn't raised in Birmingham, but her parents live here now. She is staying with them while starring at the Birmingham Theatre in "Stepping Out," a comedy with tap dancing that runs through Sunday, Feb. 5.

STAYING WITH her family while her show is in town is one of the pluses enjoyed by Susan Flynn, who stars in "Stepping Out" at the Birmingham Theatre. The New York actress won critical praise for recent appearances in Off-Broadway revivals of "Company" and "Dames at Sea." She was in fine spirits when she was interviewed one day last week at her parents' home in Birmingham. An energetic blonde, Flynn was casually dressed in a red and white sweater, red pants and Reeboks. Dad, George Schubering, wasn't around that afternoon, but her mother, Margaret, was — beaming while she popped in and out, making plans for another in a series of welcoming parties. Schubering also brought out newspaper clippings about her daughter's previous shows and said good naturedly, "That's what mothers are for." In explanation of her boosterism, Flynn is no shrinking violet. She talked enthusiastically, laughed heartily as she recalled such adventures as her last appearance in metropolitan Detroit, when she played the Fisher Theatre in a show that hoped to go to Broadway but flopped here, and (on a more upbeat note) talked about how she met a tall dark Irishman at a bus stop, gave him her phone number on the bus, and eventually became his wife. "BARBARY COAST" was the name of the show that was beset by problems during its run at the Fisher in 1983. "It was a disaster," Flynn said. One of the actresses (who is now starring on Broadway in "Phantom of the Opera") was fired opening night. "That same night," they had never staged the fight scenes," Flynn said, beginning a story that continued with one of the actors being knocked cold and two performers being knocked into the orchestra pit. "The first thing I heard from my dressing room was a voice saying, 'Just tell me the two people in the pit are all right,'" she remembers. During the run at the Fisher, "The cast sat at the St. Regis and talked about how to fix it." The director landed in the hospital, and the choreographer was fired. Her role was the second female lead, playing a barroom floozy. She looked back on that experience as "an interlude that helped pay for our copaids." Flynn as Mavis, the dance teacher, is surrounded by the adults she teaches to tap dance at a class held in a London church basement. The students' abilities range from skilled to inept, but by play's end all are dancing together smartly. In this scene,

Flynn as Mavis, the dance teacher, is surrounded by the adults she teaches to tap dance at a class held in a London church basement. The students' abilities range from skilled to inept, but by play's end all are dancing together smartly. In this scene, the students rehearse for a recital, with a bevy of ill-assorted hats the costume shop provided instead of the bowlers they ordered.

With that, the two began a conversation and rode together on the bus. She gave him her phone number and "Two days later we went out to dinner. It was like I'd known him my whole life." In the beginning it was frightening. There was so much connection going on. Flynn had been married 14 years and divorced a couple of years before she met her present husband. She talked freely about the breakup, saying she and her husband had married young and he wanted to be free (he has since remarried, thinking he had missed something. "I loved being married the first time around," she said. "I think I always felt I would be married again."

FLYNN GOT HER start in acting at the age of 8, when her mother took her to audition for a role with Pat O'Brien at the Cherry County Playhouse in Traverse City where the family was vacationing. The Schubering's lived in Akron, Ohio, and Flynn grew up and went to high school there. She studied acting at the University of Denver. "My resume is really heavy with Broadway shows," she said. Although she sings and dances, she likes acting best. "I think it was my voice I was leaning on the most," she said, responding to a question about what made her a standout at auditions.

"Over the years, I've never been the ingenue," Flynn said. "I've always been the comic lead — or bitches or whores." She roared with laughter.

In the comedy "Stepping Out," Flynn is the dance teacher who conducts a nighttime tap dancing class in London and turns her awkward adult students into smart-steppers for a recital.

WRITE REAP!

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise—is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

Chiefs chop Salem

JOHN STORMZAND/staff photographer

Christyn Halliday of Canton smashes the ball back at Salem's defense in the first dual match for both volleyball teams Wednesday.

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Coach Allie Suffety thought about making a lineup change when his Canton volleyball team started poorly in its season opener Wednesday night.

But he reconsidered. He decided to sit tight and give the Chiefs some time.

That was the right decision as Canton eventually got rolling and defeated visiting Plymouth Salem in two games, 15-13, 15-5. It was only the second time in school history the Chiefs had beaten their arch rivals.

"I was skeptical at first," said Suffety after seeing his team fall behind 4-0 in the first game. "I thought maybe I should change some people, go with a different combination of players."

Suffety's patience was rewarded as the Chiefs pulled ahead 7-6 and then scored the last six points to win the opening game.

"I KNEW (the players) were really nervous," he said. "They were tight all week, because it was our first match and we hadn't scrimmaged anybody but ourselves."

"I went on the premise they were a good team, they knew they were a good team and they were going to come out of the funk they were in for a while."

Canton faced 10-7 and 13-9 deficits, but the Rocks, who suffered from their own errors many times, couldn't put the Chiefs away.

With the door left open, Michelle Fortier started the winning rally with one of her five kills.

After two passing errors and a hitting miscue by Salem gave the Chiefs a 13-9 lead, the Rocks called timeout but to no avail. Susan Ferko's kill made it 14-9.

Salem used another timeout but again failed to stem the tide. Shannon Meath, who had six kills in seven attacks to lead Canton, then delivered the game-winning kill.

JOHN STORMZAND/staff photographer

Canton players (from left) Candi Jones, Sue Ferko, Alissa Huth, Karen Keenan, Melinda Yergin and Shannon Meath celebrate after beating arch rival Plymouth Salem 15-13, 15-5 in volleyball.

"WE WERE really shaky at first," Meath said. "Finally, we got our heads together."

"I think we always had confidence in ourselves. We had to get the nervousness out and start from there."

The momentum generated by that strong finish carried over to the second game, which saw the Chiefs dominate.

Canton had no more than three points during any one serving rotation, but the Chiefs were consistent in their overall play, taking what was given to them and building their lead gradually.

Christyn Halliday's ace broke a 4-4 tie, and Meath produced a big play to make it 12-5. The Rocks returned several solid hits in a continuing volley before Meath pounded the ball at Salem from high on the right corner of the net for the point.

After four sideouts, the Chiefs put it away behind the serving of Alissa Huth, the final point being an ace.

HUTH WAS 15-of-16 serving, which included 11 points. Ferko was 3-of-6 hitting, and Fortier, despite her 5-foot-5 stature, had five assists as the back-up setter to go with her 5-of-8 hitting.

"She's really a good athlete," Suffety said. "She has the ability to do a lot. Actually, she's a decent server as well."

Salem, a tournament winner last month, seemed out of sync, which was due to confusion in the setting aspect of its game, according to coach Betty Smith.

The Rocks had seven bad serves and also saw many of their attacks sail out of bounds for a sideout or Canton point.

Besides the problem with setting, Salem's top hitters, Maria Wordhouse and Asaka Motoyama had off nights, Smith said. Motoyama was 4-of-7 attacking, and Wordhouse had three kills in 19 attempts.

"Usually, they have 25 attacks a game," Smith said. "That tells you where my sets were. Offensively, we weren't as strong as we were in our opening tournament."

"WHEN YOU have a bad night, you hit 'em into the net, you hit 'em out of bounds. When you don't know what kind of set you're going to get, it's hard to adjust."

The Chiefs, following their preseason goal of emphasizing the team concept, went with the flow and capitalized on opportunities as they came up instead of forcing play, Suffety said.

"We made a lot of errors last year that we didn't have to make," he said.

"If it was a bad set, we wanted to get the ball over the net and force them to play. If it was a bad pass, we wanted to dig it and utilize our three hits."

"I think it was evident we achieved that by the way we played tonight."

John Butler of first-place Portage Central (top) defeated Salem's Craig Richardson in the 112-pound final. The host Rocks sent five wrestlers to the finals and had two champions.

Salem runner-up in tourney

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Near the end of Saturday's Plymouth Salem Wrestling Invitational, Westland John Glenn coach Tom Buckalew sauntered over to the winner's area, looking for his team's trophy.

Kiddingly, he grabbed one of the three trophies sitting on the winner's stand. None of them were his. He peered under the scorer's table, hoping to find a piece of hardware.

Nothing there. "Where's our trophy?" he asked Salem coach Ron Krueger, the tournament director.

"You don't get one," Krueger replied.

THE TWO LAUGHED. Even Buckalew, coach of the eighth-place team, was in a festive mood.

The first-place trophy belonged to Portage Central, which finished with 210½ points. Salem earned second place with 170 points, followed by Mount Clemens with 135. Loc Performance sponsored the invitational.

Eight Observerland teams competed, including North Farmington, which finished a distant seventh place with 83 points, just ahead of Glenn (74).

Defending champion Redford Catholic Central and Eaton Rapids, another powerhouse, weren't there to dominate the competition, so that opened the field. Krueger said CC was invited this year, but by the time the Shamrocks acknowledged the invitation, he already had filled the 17-team field.

"It seems like a happy tournament," Krueger said. "Everyone has a chance, instead of when CC or Eaton Rapids is here. When CC is here their fans are all yelling

Rocks tip defending 'A' champ

Plymouth Salem's confidence level is running high this week. That's to be expected after the Rocks knocked off defending state champion Ann Arbor Huron 91-81 in boys swimming Tuesday.

The highlight of the meet was Ron Orris' school- and pool-record time in the 200-yard freestyle. He won the event in 1:42.73 and also the butterfly in 52.16 to pace Salem, 3-1 overall.

Orris also led off the freestyle relay team which bested the River Rats with a 3:25.9 time. Rick Steshetz, Fred Seidelman and Mike Hill followed Orris.

Hill also won the 50 freestyle in 23.32 and Seidelman the 100 freestyle in 50.0. Salem's Derrick Glencer scored 167.1 points to capture first place in the diving.

The Rocks resume league competition tonight when they will be host to Walled Lake Central in a Lakes Division dual meet.

Fresh, new look Couple take to contemporary with no regrets

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

When a well-known area builder and his wife moved from a family home with an eclectic decor to a roomy, gracious condo, they decided they wanted a contemporary environment.

Birmingham-based interior designer Ed Born was ready with lots of ideas, starting with the blueprints of the proposed construction. Although plans called for a cathedral ceiling, he advised a high flat one. "It's better with a contemporary look, especially with art," he says.

Half of the double guest closet in the foyer became an attractive bar area at the entrance to the great room. One of the more difficult designs to pull off, which was worth the effort, was the half columns with a depressed ring of red neon about two thirds up that flank of the great room window wall.

Born builds a sense of drama, but never lets it get out of hand. He also recommended that some of the doorways off the foyer be widened and angled.

HE WAS surprised when his client said she wanted a dining table to seat 16, but he obliged with a Saporitti glass top table on concrete and stainless steel triangles and black leather and chrome chairs.

The furniture in the seating area of the great room is taupe with a cluster of throw pillows in a textured aqua. The handsome coffee table, which Born designed for Brueton years ago, is glass mirror with steel with a black finish. With limed oak bare floors and neutral walls, the setting is ideal to showcase an outstanding collection of paintings.

A myriad of color lines from a large Aris Koutroulis painting on the long wall by the dining room table set up an exciting dialogue with a brilliant Lakemann work of a painter's cup and brushes across from it.

Caught between them, and completely untimidated, hangs a delightful figure of a debonair gentleman by Michigan artist Stephen Hanson. The figure brings a human and humorous quality to the otherwise cerebral art collection — a strong change of pace from the lovely, muted color painting at the other end of the room by Harold Linton, professor at Lawrence Technological University and talented artist.

While Born said his clients chose the paintings independently (and well), he provided an elegant atmosphere for them. Neither he nor his clients wanted obvious window coverings, but they did decide to install semi-transparent privacy blinds to use at night. When not in use, they form little more than an architectural line over the windows.

In addition to the bar and coffee table, Born designed the stainless steel wall server in the dining area, the black lacquer finish server with the black granite top, a large stainless steel and ash entertainment center in the den, and structural accessories such as a stairway banister and rail.

Born's client described her great room as "very liveable." Would she want to go back to the former eclectic environment? No way.

The great room has an atmosphere that is luxurious, upbeat and decidedly liveable. The painting in soft colors is by Harold Linton, master colorist and professor at Lawrence Institute of Technology. Ed Born designed the coffee table and the pillars with a band of red neon.

Birmingham-based interior designer Ed Born was ready with lots of ideas, starting with the blueprints of the proposed construction. Although plans called for a cathedral ceiling, he advised a high flat one.

The dining area of the great room is presided over by a debonair three-dimensional figure by Michigan sculptor Stephen Hanson. The server under the Lakemann painting was designed by Born. It is black lacquer finish with a granite top and looks like marble.

Colorful graphic by Max Papart and handwoven, reversible rug in light teal and burgundy from Carleton Designs of California bring warmth and excitement to the entry hall.

Miniature makers create many little miracles

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

While miniature makers and collectors will be ecstatic over "Masterpieces in Miniature" at Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association through January, less tightly connected people may find these works thoroughly enchanting.

It is almost impossible not to enjoy elegantly crafted reproductions of magnificent period furniture done on a one-inch to one-foot scale installed in a house completely equipped right down to the last working electric light.

One like this, a replica of the Deacon Bailey House of Portland, Maine, the oldest house in town and typically New England, is one of the major exhibits in a gallery of show stoppers.

Another certain to grab its share of admirers is a fully equipped working carousel made by Ronald A. Lee, complete with band organ, mips and animals on poles that go up and down to the music.

Both of these, on loan from private collectors, are prime examples of the miniature maker's art. In fact, the exhibition is possible because Criss Goad, owner of Miniature Maker's Workshop of Royal Oak, and her co-chairman, Duffy Weinstein, have become acquainted with a prestigious group of artists and collectors, the International Guild of Miniature Artisans, IGMA.

They did this through attending the Guild school in Castine, Maine on Penobscot Bay.

Goad said that until this show she has had exhibits of the work of local artisans in her showroom, but this is her first full-scale exhibition of the miniature works of nationally recognized artists.

Most impressive of all is the extent and detail of the each piece. A hand-blown beautifully etched clear glass wine decanter with stopper by Frank Whittemore of Pennsylvania could easily be lost in the palm of a hand. His cranberry glass wine goblets, about as long as the tip of a little finger, are done in exacting detail.

Artisan to teach carousel carving

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

Miniature artist, Judy Shellhaas of Plymouth, said her carousel animals are an exact 1-inch-to-1-foot scale. Since many full-size carousel animals are up to 7 feet long, her creatures run to as much as 7 inches. Each, she said, takes up to 400 hours to complete.

"The ostrich took 350 hours and I already have 400 hours in on the lion I'm working on and he isn't done yet," she said. However, the lion as well as the ostrich made it into "Masterpieces in Miniature" at Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association through Jan. 28.

The animals started as a project with her students and she is determined to carry it through to the end. She teaches a class in carousel carving in Toledo and is just starting one at the Miniature Makers Workshop of Royal Oak.

'Remainder' tables profit all but authors

THE HOLIDAYS are over and, as usual, what little money is left after the spending orgy has been carefully allotted. For me, that should mean stay out of the bookstore. Well, we know that's not going to happen, so all I can say is thank Hera for the remainder tables.

Mona Grigg

Remainder tables are where the out-of-date and unsold books set, and almost every bookstore has "see or more." Out of respect for the authors of those books, I used to shun those tables. Because warehousing is so tight and stockpiling books is so unprofitable for publishers these days, they've taken to "remaindering" the books that haven't sold. That is, they recoup some of their losses by selling them for practically nothing to distributors who in turn sell them for next to nothing to the bookstore.

Salud!

The Livonia Symphony Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Francesco DiBlasi, opens its Friday night mini series at 8 p.m. Friday in the Livonia Civic Center Library with a salute to music with an Italian flavor, for the most part. The program will feature a special arrangement of the "Italian Spectacular," the overture to "The Barber of Seville" by Rossini and the "Italian Serenade" by Wolf. Guest artists include harpist Christa Grix, who has performed in concert at Symphony Hall in Boston, the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., and as featured soloists with the International Symphony Orchestra. Grix was a prize winner in the 1988 Eastern Pop and Jazz Harp competition held in Boston and was the only harpist invited to Halifax, Nova Scotia, as a young artist for the Scotia Festival of Music Locally, she has performed with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Michigan Opera Theater, Detroit Symphony Orchestra Chorale and has performed with several nationally acclaimed artists including Johnny Mathis, Perry Como, Gladys Knight and the Pips and Aretha Franklin.

Ostrich for a carousel (above) by Judy Shelhaas represents at least 350 hours of work. The dining room (below) is an assemblage of works from several different miniature artists.

Miniature exhibit shows unusual skill

The animals are solid basswood and Shelhaas said she was delighted to discover that many full-size animals done by the great carvers were also done in basswood.

Shelhaas said Mark Twain bought the (Lincoln) bed which she has in the miniature show in Italy for the Mark Twain home in Connecticut, which he later lost.

"His daughters used to put on plays using the animals on the bed for characters. Mine are removable too," Shelhaas said. "The cherubs I carved were 9 inches tall."

In her research she learned that Twain bought a lot of the furniture for that home in New England in Italy and that he liked the headboard of the bed so much that he put his pillow at the foot of the bed so he could look at the headboard.

Shelhaas, mother, wife and in-demand miniature maker and teacher, said she is working on a degree in graphic arts with a possible minor in sculpture.

Shelhaas, mother, wife and in-demand miniature maker and teacher, said she is working on a degree in graphic arts with a possible minor in sculpture. She said she was a teenager, she wanted to become an architect. But while she worked for six years in the production department of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, she said the X-acto knife became an extension of herself and she knew she would always want to be doing something with her hands.

Masterpieces in Miniature, done in cooperation with Birmingham-Bloomfield Art Association, is open free of charge, from 9-30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 1516 S. Cranbrook, Birmingham.

Superlative Rental Living In The Hills of West Bloomfield

NEW lavishly large 1, 2 and 3 bedroom terrace ranch dwellings of unsurpassed size that are utterly extraordinary - up to 2,800 square feet and every amenity - private entries, attached garages, fireplaces, cathedral ceilings, designer kitchens with separate breakfast areas, master bedroom suites with dressing area, double vanities, double closets and walk-in closets too, in-residence laundry and storage, full carpeting, central air conditioning, patio or balcony.

Truly resort-like recreational facilities include: oversized pool in a spectacular wooded setting, a manor home-like clubhouse - ideal for private parties - tennis courts and, of course, a 24-hour manned gatehouse with package reception services. There is even a private lending library. All on over 130 incomparable private acres for estate-like living.

Unquestionably the standard for beauty and luxury. For their size, design and breathtaking setting, YOU MUST SEE THE 1, 2 and 3 bedroom terrace homes of ALDINGBROOKE
