Extra miler

Mary Lou Johnson, a paraprofessional educational aide at Central Middle School, was honored with an "Extra Miler" award by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Johnson, who joined the district in October 1985, works with emotionally impaired students in a class taught by Kathy Meyers.

Meyers said her students decided to have an appreciation day for Mrs. Johnson and that the Extra Miler nomination was "a natural extension of their plans."

The students listed more than 20 qualities "which make Mary Lou Johnson an outstanding person as well as an outstanding classroom aide," said Meyers. "She offers children the opportunity to learn with a trusted and caring adult and helps me, as a teacher, make our class better and better."

Johnson was presented by the school board with a framed certificate, a cloisonne pin of the Flag of Learning and Liberty and a dining certificate for two donated by the Mayflower Hotel.

Handwriting

Certified handwriting analyst Al Woods will present a program 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Canton Public Library.

He will talk about the hidden symbols in handwriting and what it says about people.

Teller machines

The Canton Township police have a list of tips to avoid being robbed at an all night automatic teller machine. They are: Choose a well lighted and busy site; try not to go alone; complete the paperwork in advance, and don't loiter near the machine; don't withdraw too much cash at one time; pocket it and count it later; and never give out your identification number.

Kick off

The Canton Hornets were out in force on Sunday, kicking off Canton Fest, which will continue this weekend. On Sunday the soccer tournament was the thing. And Andy Power, above, was there in full force. This weekend Canton Fest will get into full swing with a fishing derby, a chili contest and other events at Canton Township fall.

Officials look down the road at growth boom

By Diane Gale
staff writer

By the year 2000 Canton's population is expected to reach up to 75,000 and in the meantime road conditions, to handle all the new folks, will be the biggest concern.

That's easier to believe if you consider that 60 percent of the township is undeveloped, according to Dan Calabrese, Canton administrative assistant.

"It's guess work here," Calabrese said. "You have to take it with a certain amount of salt."

"I've heard someone say 100,000 people, but I have a hard time believing that," he said declining to name the source.

CURRENTLY CANTON has about 60,000 residents. More accurate figures will be available after the 1990 census figures are in by the end of the year.

There were 48,616 residents in 1980, according to the decade census.

"We're talking about 10 years down the road and it's anyone's guess what the economy will do and that has a lot to do with development," said Aaron Machnik, municipal services director.

He predicts, however, that 250 single family houses and 150 condos and apartments will be built annually. And the new buildings will add

1,000 or more residents annually to the tax rolls.

Those new residents also will be using more services.

"Probably roads are key and critical," Machnik said. "The township has a fairly aggressive program over the next few years."

Sanitary sewer capacity is another top concern.

A long awaited sewer plan will take Canton, Plymouth and Northville township's sewage to an Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority. The three communities are expected to hook-up to the plant in 1993.

THE ESTIMATED population numbers are based on residential development especially west of Canton Center near Beck and other areas along Michigan Avenue, Calabrese said.

"And there are other things that are not being developed that we've heard talk about," he said.

Township officials are encouraging large lot single family residential development.

"As more people come in and the tax base grows you have a larger pool of revenue to draw-off to fund the added services, that's the way it's happened the last 10 years," Calabrese said.

"It's not like we have all these people who suddenly move here and we don't have added tax revenue," he said.

Students pitch in to aid environment

Plymouth-Canton students are joining their counterparts in Massachusetts and New York in a pilot program to recycle polystyrene lunch trays and dishware.

With its supplier, the Dart Corp., the district is among the first school systems in Michigan to participate in the initiative.

The official go-ahead came from the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education last week.

"It's kind of exciting to think we will be the first district in Michigan doing this," said Trustee Dave Arley. "It's also the first time Dart has done this in the state."

Recycling centers will be set up in all school cafeterias. Foam trays, cups and bowls will be rinsed and stacked in boxes furnished by Dart.

Family offers reward in hit-and-run death

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A $5,000 reward is being offered for tips leading to the arrest of the hit-and-run driver who May 14 killed Melissa Chisholm, 14.

Her family also is asking for reward donations. "We are just devastated," said Lillian Johnson, Melissa's grandmother, a Livonia resident.

"We would all feel better if this man comes forward," she said. "It won't bring her back, but it would be such a relief."

"She was so bright and so busy and into everything," Johnson said. "I can't put into words how sweet she was."

CANTON POLICE field an average four tips daily about the car involved in the hit-and-run accident.

However, they are still without suspects. According to evidence at the accident scene, the small to mid-size car was a dark metallic gray with a clear coat finish and likely a Ford Motor Co. product. It was probably a 1988 or 1989 make, said Canton Capt. Al Wilson.

Although there have been a lot of tips, they've been vague and hard to track, said Canton Detective Mark Gajeski.

"A lot (of the tips) don't include license plates," Gajeski said.

Police believe a window, possibly a windshield or rear window, was broken during the accident. Also the car trunk might be damaged.

Chisholm, an eighth grade Pioneer student, was crossing against the light on Ford Road west of Lilley Road about 9:45 p.m. May 14. She was with her 11-year-old sister, a Pioneer sixth grader.

Johnson said Melissa's sister denied that they crossed against the light.

The girls were almost across the street before the crossing light turned red, Johnson said. Melissa's sister ran ahead to get to the curb before the light turned.

Two weeks after the accident, flowers and a cross marked the area near where she died.

The girls had been eating dinner with their parents at Johnson's Restaurant before the accident. They were crossing Ford Road to go to Richardson's drug store, Johnson said.

"We heard rumor information about two different kids who attend Plymouth-Canton schools," Wilson said. "We talked to both and cleared both."

SOME OF the tipsters said they spotted a car fitting the description in a Ford Motor Co. employee parking lot, however, it's hard to follow-up, because there are so many similar cars makes in the lot, Gajeski said.

"If someone is going to give a tip try to get as much information as you can," Gajeski said. "I'm able to follow it up that much faster."

The tips, which have been coming from all over the Metro Detroit area, haven't given police information about the driver, he said.

"That's what really bothers me," Gajeski said. "There's a bunch of people who know who did this and for some unknown reason they're not coming forward."

Anyone with information about the case is asked to call Canton police at 397-3000.

Non-union township workers to get 5 percent pay increase

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Non-union employees won a 5 percent across the board raise by a unanimous Canton board of trustees vote last week.

The raises will be retroactive to Jan. 1 and will cost the township $44,607 annually.

MERIT RAISES — pay increases given in relation to job performance — will replace blanket raises within the next couple of years, township officials said.

"I agree we need the merit system," said trustee Elaine Kirchgatter. "But we need to do this in the meantime."

Treasurer Gerald Brown questioned why the increase wasn't 4 percent instead of 5 percent. However, he later voted in favor of the 5 percent increase.

In total it costs the township $892,130 for non-union employee salaries.

Some of the pay increases are as follows:

- Public safety director, $51,818 to $54,409;
- Administrative services director, $50,640 to $53,172;
- Municipal services director, $50,640 to $53,172;
- Chief financial officer, $46,200 to $48,510;
- Fire chief, $44,115 to $46,321; and
- Township engineer, $44,000 to $46,000.

Brown also said that since the mu-

Board candidates to debate

Voters in the Plymouth-Canton school district will have a chance to hear from the seven individuals vying for two school board seats at a candidates' night presented by the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi.

The session is set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 29, in the Canton Little Theater at Plymouth Canton High School on Joy Road at Canton Center.

Each candidate will give a two-minute statement to open the forum. Questions will then be accepted from the audience. Candidates will offer two-minute closing statements if time permits. Running for school board are Robert Anderson of Canton; Carl Battishill of Plymouth; Tom Hartke of Plymouth; K.C. Mueller of Plymouth; Diane Stamp of Plymouth; and Richard Sumpter of Canton. John Engdahl's name will be on the ballot, however, the Plymouth resident doesn't plan to attend or campaign.

The League of Women Voters is a national, non-partisan organization. It neither supports nor opposes political candidates or parties. The group obtains and distributes information to the public on candidates and their views.

Moderating the forum will be Gretchen Pugsley, LWV member from Novi.

Mettetal Airport backers push for township ownership

By Michelle Johnson
staff writer

Supporters of a Canton Township proposal to purchase Mettetal Airport showed up en masse last week to plead their cause at a meeting of the Airport Study Committee.

"This airport has the strongest growth potential of any airport in the Midwest right now," said Ashley Heimbaugh, who operates the airport.

He said the proposed purchase is a good proposition for Canton.

The meeting was held to allow committee members to question a panel of experts on different facets of the airport's current and future operations.

Heimbaugh told the committee the airport generates revenue, and that would probably increase if the airport's facilities are improved and the airport promoted.

Dean Nitz, state supervisor of the Federation of Aviation Association, said he agreed with Heimbaugh that the airport would probably be a profitable venture. However, he said profit shouldn't be the primary consideration in the purchase.

"IT'S AN ASSET that needs to be saved," Nitz said. "We have not been successful in providing any replacement facilities."

Nitz said preservation of Mettetal Airport would improve the entire Metro area aviation system. The FAA would like to send smaller aircraft to small, local airports, freeing space at Detroit Metro Airport for large commercial flights. Nitz said the FAA will try to find another municipality to operate the airport if Canton declines.

Ninety percent of the airport's $4 million purchase price would be covered by federal grants. The state and Canton would split the remaining 10 percent. Of Canton's 5 percent, state loans could be obtained at a low interest rate to cover all but approximately $5,000, said Robert Addy, administrator of aviation development at the Bureau of Michigan Aeronautics.

He said state loans could be provided for hangar and terminal construction. The FAA would help procure loans for improvements on the runway and other essential facilities, Nitz said.

The state would require Canton to maintain and operate the airport for 20 years, after which the township could close it. However, if the township closes the airport it would have to repay the FAA the amount of the current market value of the property.

NTIZ SAID THE FAA would oppose closing the airport and has never been unsuccessful in opposing such a closing.

The FAA would require all airport revenue to be used to operate and maintain the airport. Subsidiary businesses could take their profits out of the airport, but their rents would have to be reinvested to maintain the property, Nitz said.

David Nicholson, Canton Community planner, said several light industrial developers said the airport is an attractive location.

The airport sits adjacent to the Canton's northeast light industrial section and the land could be turned into a profitable industrial park, he said.

He said that while some firms would receive tax abatements to attract them, others would not qualify. All light industry would provide new jobs for area residents.

Tom Klochko, representative of Desert Sands, Inc., the airport's current owner, said, "You can make more money with an industrial park, but what do you want?"

He said the airport operates for the good of the community.

Klochko said Desert Sands is considering the sale of the airport because the company doesn't have the capital to make the desired improvements on the airport's facilities.

HE SAID THE COMPANY isn't anxious to sell and would probably not sell if offered a bid significantly lower than the $4 million asking price.

Canton resident Eric Mueller, whose family owns New Hudson Airport, questioned how profitable the airport would be.

He said he favors keeping the airport open, but doesn't approve the use of public funds for its purchase.

Mueller submitted to the committee a study on a comparison of the airport's profitability versus that of an industrial park.

Several committee members questioned the environmental effects of five fuel tanks located on the airport's property. One member said it was possible they are leaking, since several are 25 years old.

Nitz recommended that an environmental appraisal be done at the same time as the property appraisals.

products about twice a month and take them to their plant near Lansing where they will be processed into pellets," said Verna Lee Hill, food service director.

"These pellets will then be shipped to a plant in New Jersey where they will be made into video cassettes, coat hangers and various other household items."

Terri Hanford, assistant food service director, estimates the district "will fill two semis twice a month" with recyclables.

Trustee Barbara Graham questioned the program's viability, since its success "will depend on the cooperation of students. They barely do dishes at home," she said.

Artley and Hill allayed her concerns.

"Already there is tremendous awareness among the student population about how to recycle, probably more so than in other segments of the community," said Artley. "The student population takes time to get informed."

"The students in our district are ready for a polystyrene recycling program," agreed Hill. "Students at buildings such as Bird Elementary and Salem High School have specifically asked the question about what could be done to recycle polystyrene trays. This is the answer to that question. Food service employees are ready to do their part."

"We're making an effort throughout the district, everyone's working together," said Hanford.

"We're hoping to kick it off during the remainder of this year, and go full force in the fall," she added. "We're in a trial period now."

municipal services director and the administrative services director, positions were created less than a year ago the township should wait before awarding raises.

TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS have tried and failed to launch a merit pay system since the early 1980s, according to clerk Loren Bennett. He commended supervisor Tom Yack for taking the initiative.

In the past, Canton's supervisor, clerk and treasurer automatically received pay increases based on the non-union wage increases. The three elected people also vote on the non-union wages.

Trustee Bob Shefferly has argued against that policy and he is expected to address the issue at a board study session before salaries are increased for the three posts.

Along with the pay increases the township provides a longevity pay program for non-union employees. After three years continuous ser-

Schools get $1,000 gift

The Japanese Society of Detroit recently donated $1,000 to the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

In a meeting with John Hoben, superintendent of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, Keitaro Yokohata, society chairman, thanked the Plymouth-Canton schools for the kindness and acceptance they have shown Japanese students.

The school district currently has 49 Japanese students.

Founded in 1972, the society annually donates approximately $20,000 to various Detroit-area school districts. The districts may use the funds for any purpose they deem appropriate.

The 1,149 JSD members work for more than 210 automotive-related companies in the greater Detroit area.

The schools will cooperate with local units of government in developing other ways to help the waste management program, according to the resolution passed by the board.

THE AVERAGE AMERICAN generates 1,100 pounds of solid waste per year. The largest single portion of solid waste — 40 percent — consists of paper and paperboard products.

The Polystyrene Packaging Council is supporting three programs to test the viability of recycling polystyrene, including the schools.

The Plastics Recycling Foundation at Rutgers University is testing a curbside demonstration project to re-use plastic household waste.

In metropolitan New York, 20 McDonald's restaurants are sending all of their unseparated waste to a central recycling facility for processing. Polystyrene, which is not biodegradable, will be sent to a facility for re-manufacturing into materials such as building insulation.

Gentak Corp. developed the scholastic polystyrene recycling program.

Vintage cars strut stuff on root beer run

By Michelle Johnson
staff writer

Cruising isn't just for kids anymore.

More than 35 members of the Shelby American Automobile Club, Motor City Region, hit the streets in Plymouth on Thursday, revving their engines and showing off that chrome.

They gathered at the A&W Plymouth, 516 W. Ann Arbor Road, for the group's first Root Beer Run. From there, club members drove to another A&W restaurant in Garden City.

The cars ranged from a 1931 Chevy to newer, hotter cars like a 1972 Ford Pantera.

"It's a great excuse to get the cars out and exercise them," said Tom Greene, club president.

Greene said the club has about 150 members who come from areas as far away as Toledo although most of the Root Beer Run participants were local residents.

"It's a family oriented club," said Robert Yockey, Plymouth resident, whose wife and two sons joined him on the run.

He said the club sponsors several events like this, including cider runs in the fall.

THE CLUB holds its meetings at a local Pizza Hut on the first Thursday of each month.

"It's kind of a social event," Yockey said.

The club sponsors several major car events each year, said Greene.

They will hold Show & Go on June 3-4. The proceeds from these events will go to Mothers Against Drunk Driving. The first part of the event, a car show, will be held at Schoolcraft College on June 3. On June 4, an open track event will be held at Waterford Hills Race Course.

Greene said the club will sponsor another show and track event in the fall. The club also holds an annual swap event.

Many car club owners can't find parts for their cars outside of swap meets, said Greene.

"The high point of the event is usually when someone shows up with their garage-full that they've decided to clean out," he said.

Many car club members have multiple vehicles, Greene added.

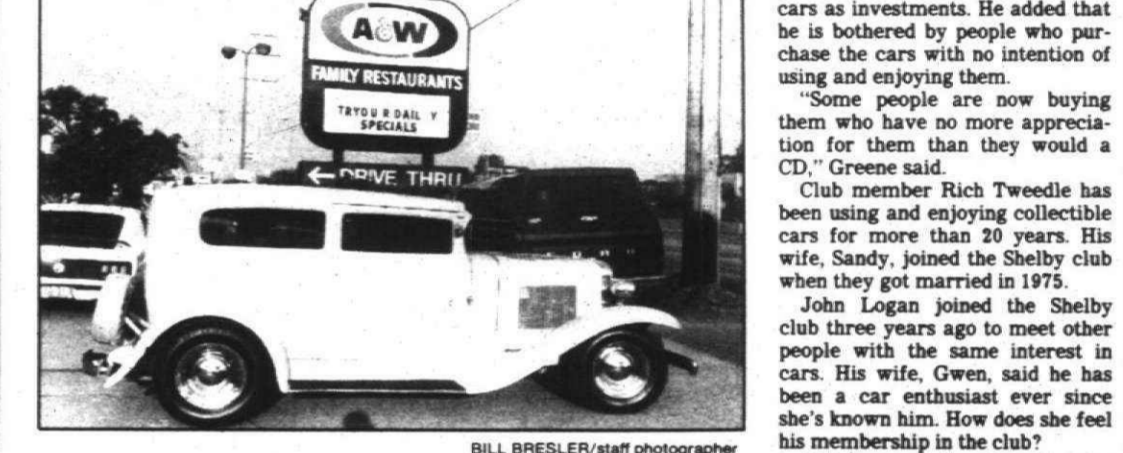

Greene said more and more people have begun to buy collectible cars as investments. He added that he is lathered by people who purchase the cars with no intention of using and enjoying them.

"Some people are now buying them who have no more appreciation for them than they would a CD," Greene said.

Club member Rich Tweedle has been using and enjoying collectible cars for more than 20 years. His wife, Sandy, joined the Shelby club when they got married in 1975.

John Logan joined the Shelby club three years ago to meet other people with the same interest in cars. His wife, Gwen, said he has been a car enthusiast ever since she's known him. How does she feel his membership in the club?

"It's much better than hanging around a saloon," she said and then laughed.

A yellow 1931 Chevy owned by Robert Yockey sits ready for the run.

Active newspaperwoman helped bring out the best

Marie McGee had a "deep abiding faith in everyone" and a "gentle sense of humor" and when new reporters came to work at the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, one of the first people they were sure to meet was McGee and that upbeat spirit for life that radiated everywhere she went.

"She was a one-woman Welcome Wagon to the new people who came to work here," said longtime friend and colleague Marilyn Fitchett.

"She was a genuine Fitch Piper who gathered to her an assortment of eclectic people, a friend who practiced living a good life and who was an inspiration. She saw the best in everything and everyone."

MC GEE, 62, newspaper veteran and Livonia activist, died early Thursday morning of heart failure at St. Mary Hospital.

She was assistant managing editor for special projects at the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers where she had worked since 1968. Rising through the ranks of the Livonia-based newspaper, she held several positions throughout the years including reporter, copy editor and suburban life editor before assuming her present assignment in 1986.

The year before, McGee was honored by her colleagues and named O&E Journalist of the Year.

She received several awards for her work at the O&E from the Michigan Press Association and the Suburban Newspaper Association and Penney-Missouri.

AS ASSISTANT managing editor, she supervised all special sections, the Taste food section and the Creative Living arts section for the 13-edition chain.

"Marie was very simply an inspiration to everyone at the O&E. She knew everyone, and everyone knew her. And everyone that knew Marie admired and loved her. And that's saying a lot in the competitive environment of the news room," said Steve Barnaby, O&E managing editor.

"We all shared our special private moments with Marie, usually funny ones that relieved the pressure of the everyday deadlines. I will always smile and maybe laugh a little when I think of her in the future. She was such a special friend to so many that she has left a permanent impression on us all."

All the McGee children graduated from Bentley High School in Livonia. She was a member of the Advisory Committee of the Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College.

She also was a member of Zonta of Northwest Wayne County and was installed Monday, May 21, as one of four new directors of the board.

"She had a continued interest in helping women. She was sort of a Renaissance woman herself," said Sylvia Vukmich, a Schoolcraft College Counselor and governor-elect of Zonta International District 15.

"WE SHARED stories about our Serbian heritage, something a lot of people didn't know about her with the last name of McGee."

She lived in Grand Rapids before coming to Livonia 24 years ago. Born in Wyandotte, McGee worked as a reporter and editor at the Wyandotte News Herald from 1947 to 1957. She left that job when her late husband, Bill, accepted a promotion in Grand Rapids. In Grand Rapids she edited the company newsletter for Spartan Stores Inc.

A graduate of Roosevelt High School in Wyandotte, she studied journalism at the University of Toledo.

SERVICES FOR McGee were Monday from Neeley-Turawski Funeral Home and St. Genevieve Roman Catholic Church. Burial was in Michigan Memorial Gardens in Flat Rock.

The family requests memorials to the American Heart Association, Livonia Arts Commission, Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center or Greenmead Historical Village.

Survivors include son Michael McGee and daughter-in-law Mary Fisher of Livonia; sons Patrick McGee of Livonia and Kevin McGee of Larkspur, Calif.; son Tim McGee and daughter-in-law Jackie McGee of Grand Rapids; daughter Maureen McGee of Ann Arbor; sisters Suzanne Okonski of Southgate, Anne Urbank of Wyandotte, and brother Sam Ketchman of Sarasota, Fla.

Standards should rise in schools

To the editor: Academic freedom is a phrase that is frequently brought up in discussions relating to Plymouth-Canton schools.

Until coming to Plymouth-Canton, I had only heard the phrase used at the college or university level where students pay out of their own pocket for the courses they choose.

Although this academic freedom is basically good, if mismanaged it can lead to strife, division and controversy. Unfortunately, this has been the case in our district, as is evident to even the casual observer.

If we grant teachers academic freedom in the classroom (as we have done), then the decision to adopt a warranty diploma program is a step in the right direction.

This is an act of accountability to the business community. But teachers, administrators and board members should also do more to hold themselves accountable to parents, since it is parents that are ultimately responsible for the education their children obtain.

For the past several years in our district, academic freedom has flourished while accountability has declined. Increased emphasis has been placed on social and psychological themes while the rest of the world continues to pull further away from us in terms of what students actually learn.

Our students are capable of learning more effectively with solid academic courses. I don't think anyone will object to a curriculum including mathematics, natural science, applied science, U.S. history, world history, English, foreign languages, government and geography.

Standards and expectations must be raised. Why can't Plymouth-Canton be a model for other districts instead of following blindly whatever Lansing is promoting?

It's time to stop moving kids around

To the editor: I am writing you because as a mother of a child starting school in the fall I have become so aggravated by the Plymouth-Canton school system I had to write to someone.

First, they have us visit the new Hoben Elementary School for two different visits both for 45 minutes, to show the children and the parents how wonderful their school is.

As a Canton homeowner for six years and paying my taxes which go up all the time, thinking my son will be going to the same school as all his friends who started this year.

They say they will be brought back for first grade. But if they don't have room for them now how will they have room for them in first grade?

They want money for a new high school. What is going to happen to the rest of the kids?

As a Canton resident and taxpayer, I think we should all start asking the schools to start answering some questions, such as:

1. Where is all the money going? Higher property tax due to higher tax assessment.

2. What about all the new housing and all the new tax money coming from those new homes?

3. Why are we rezoning land behind the Fire Station on Cherry Hill for more housing when they are having trouble housing all the children in the school system already?

I know I speak for almost all the parents of 27 kindergartners being shipped over to Field that someone has to stop this constant increase in developing of new homes until they figure out what is going to be done about the children who already live here.

They keep moving the boundaries which also move the kids around and it just does not work. Wake up and smell the coffee, stop adding to the problem until you find an answer for the problem.

Karen Desrosiers, Canton

Earth Day a success

To the editor: Kudos to the Plymouth Community for their rapid action in implementing a recycling program.

For years the people of the U.S. have been accused by the people of other lands as being wasteful. However, the American people are rising to the challenge to make the world clean for future generation just as they mobilized before to defeat dictators that would deprive all people of their rights.

Perhaps now that we have taken this first step we will be able to convince business (including fast food chains) to use a common sense in packaging their products.

Our final achievement will be turning our garbage into fuel that will burn cleaner in our automobiles and help us to conserve of fossil fuels. If this can be done economically there is always the possibility that the price of fuel can be reduced.

Perhaps now that we have taken this first step we will be able to convince business (including fast food chains) to use a common sense in packaging their products.

News sounds like a comedy routine

THINGS ARE JUST getting too weird for me. I read the papers and I can't tell if I'm reading a news report, an Abbott and Costello routine or an excerpt from some bleak futuristic novel.

Jack Gladden

This week, for instance, I read a letter to the editor from an anti-smoking advocate. He was challenging a statement from a smoker that smoking was another matter of choice — and that people have a right to choose what they do with their own bodies.

The anti-smoker had no argument with that, but then he started talking about the effects of second-hand smoke on other people. The most-innocent victims of second-hand smoke, he said, were children.

Now I — a smoker — wouldn't argue that point, if the writer had stopped there. But he didn't. Subsequent children to second-hand smoke, he said, is nothing less than child abuse.

Child abuse? That's the first time I've heard that particular charge hurled at smokers, but I'll bet it won't be the last. It fits in with today's attitudes of twisting logic to the point that something one finds personally offensive can be viewed as a crime against society. And if it's a "crime," then we have to find a law under which we can prosecute somebody.

TAKE THAT prosecutor out in Muskegon, for example. He's charged another woman with delivering cocaine to a minor. Her crime was that she apparently used cocaine while she was pregnant.

But the crime of using is far less serious than delivering, and under Michigan law women can't be charged with delivering drugs to a fetus.

So the prosecutor thinks he's figured a way around the law. He maintains that she delivered the cocaine in the seconds after the child was born but before the umbilical cord was cut.

If the woman is convicted on the charge, she could get up to 20 years in prison.

Now don't get me wrong. I'm not defending a woman for using drugs while she's pregnant. She shouldn't use drugs or smoke or booze it up during that period. It's unhealthy, for both her and the fetus.

But if the prosecutor's logic prevails, does that mean that a woman who drinks legal alcohol while she's pregnant could be charged with delivering alcohol to a minor? Could she be charged under a house party law?

All of this thinking is intertwined, I'm sure, with today's "wars" on drugs, pornography, smoking, drinking, abortion and everything else certain segments of society find objectionable.

It's one thing for protesters to picket abortion clinics or places that sell so-called pornographic materials. Just last week, about 300 people rallied outside the state Capitol pushing for legislation that would make it easier for local communities to "define" obscenity.

One of the protesters was quoted as saying he was "sick of hearing about freedom of speech." And he's got the freedom to say that.

But at least these people are pushing for legislation. That's the way the process is supposed to work.

IT'S SOMETHING else when the state — in the form of a local prosecutor — steps in and tries to twist existing laws into something for which they were never intended.

The woman in Muskegon is the third woman in Michigan to be charged with "delivering" cocaine to a newborn under the state's controlled substance statute. All the cases are pending.

The attorney for a Jackson woman facing similar charges argues that the lawmakers never intended the statute to be used against pregnant women. He also says the charges violate his client's constitutional right to equal protection since the charges can only be brought against women.

I think he's right, but it scares me that these charges were ever made in the first place. I think there's a "hidden agenda" somewhere. I don't know exactly what it is. But I don't like it.

Trustees OK pay increase for SC chief

By Janice Brunson staff writer

Citing student satisfaction with Livonia's Schoolcraft College experience as the strongest endorsement of the president's performance, college trustees voted 6-0 Wednesday to approve a 5 percent salary increase for president Richard McDowell.

He also received $8,500 in merit pay and his employment contract was extended through June 1993.

McDowell, who this school year received $82,900 in salary, will earn $86,100 in school year 1990-91. He was hired in 1981 at an annual salary of $56,000.

In an annual evaluation of McDowell, he was described as outstanding and professional.

"He is bright and personable and uses his attributes to promote the objectives of the college," the report said. He currently serves as president-elect to the Michigan Community College Presidents Association.

Sandra Florek, director of institutional advancement at Schoolcraft, said, "We look to him for leadership on many issues," citing the school's "major investment" in computers for student use as an example of McDowell's leadership.

Trustees also unanimously voted salary increases for executive administrators and classified employees.

Contract talks drag on at SC

By Janice Brunson staff writer

Employees at Livonia's Schoolcraft College who answer the phones, sweep the floors and otherwise assure that school operations flow smoothly from one day to the next, continue to work without a signed labor contract.

Come June 30, they will have done so for one full year. In addition, it has been a full year since any of the 100 or so secretaries, custodians and others employees traditionally on the low end of pay scales — have received a salary increase, a situation they say is deplorable.

Feelings are especially strong following action Wednesday by Schoolcraft trustees who voted annual pay raises of 5.5 percent or more for the college president, school administrators and other highly trained staff members.

If we had what is spent on the president's car and car phone, we could settle," said Bob Thomas of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) that represents 56 members of the Schoolcraft Office Personnel Association and 38 members of the Schoolcraft Support Personnel Association.

OFFICE PERSONNEL currently earn from $7.92 to $11.67 an hour, support personnel employees from $7.46 to $14.32 hourly. In contrast, office personnel employed by the Livonia School District earn from $7 to $13.04 an hour. Support personnel salaries range from $10.50 to $15.76 hourly.

Both Schoolcraft groups are seeking annual salary increases of some 5.9 percent. Under dispute are such issues as part-time hiring, incremental pay and length of contracts.

On Wednesday, college trustees voted Schoolcraft president Richard McDowell a $4,100 raise, including a $1,000 raise in the president's car and car phone, we could settle," said Bob Thomas of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) that represents 56 members of the Schoolcraft Office Personnel Association and 38 members of the Schoolcraft Support Personnel Association.

Support Personnel associations have not received pay raises since July 1988. The 56 office workers and 38 plant employees have also worked without a contract since July 1989. (See related story).

BASED ON A PERFORMANCE survey by Wayne State University, transfer students from Schoolcraft to Wayne rank highest in academic achievement, maintaining a 2.9 grade point average, compared to 2.7 by students from other community colleges. Students transferring to Wayne from other four-year institutions maintained a 2.6 grade point average and those transferring from universities, a 2.8 average.

Last school year, 198 students transferred from Schoolcraft to Wayne, with 190 completing studies for the year.

During spring semester, 6,271 students attended Schoolcraft, including 3,536 regular students. The remainder attended continuing education. The program has increased in size nearly five times since 1986, from 636 registrants to 2,935 this past semester.

Trustees Michael Burley, Harry Greenleaf, Jack Kirksey, Thaddeus McCotter, Jeanne Stempjen and chair Mary Breen were present at Wednesday's regular meeting of the board. Trustee Wendell Smith did not attend.

Executive administrator salaries range from $42,004 to $74,880 annually.

Classified employees also received an average 5.5 percent salary increase, including merit awards of $400 to $500 each, depending upon individual evaluation. Next year, merit awards are to be increased $100 each.

Classified employees, with the exception of daycare workers, earn from $16,869 to $42,952 annually.

Members of the Schoolcraft Faculty Forum, 131 full-time and 300 part-time instructors, librarians and counselors, start the final year of a three-year contract in August. The contract calls for raises of 5.9 percent in two of the years and 5.5 percent one year.

creasing his salary next school year to $86,100. He also received a merit award of $8,500 and use of a car at an estimated cost of $5,000.

"It's out of line, in view of what they're paying other people," said maintenance employee Ed Harrison, adding McDowell's total salary perks equate more than half of total annual salaries for many campus office and support employees.

College receptionist Belinda Eleson said, "It would be nice if a piece of the pie could be shared with us."

MEA negotiator Thomas said McDowell's annual perks amount to more than total contract figures now under dispute. "We are apart by about $8,000 a year, or a total of $24,000 for three years. It's nothing that will break the employer."

Schoolcraft spokeswoman Sandra Florek said original salary increase requests by the two groups were "not reasonable. When we first went to the table, they wanted 24 percent."

IN ADDITION, "We've had a very serious problem getting to the negotiating table with the negotiator. He's never available."

Bunk, said Thomas. "We make it most of the time. The real problem is Betty Gilbert (negotiator for Schoolcraft) walks out of negotiations."

Thomas and Gilbert faced one another again in talks on Friday, with little success.

Prior to the meeting, Florek said, "We're still quite far apart from a settlement."

Harrison, a spokesman for support personnel, said wage increases have yet to be considered because "we can't seem to get beyond the issue of part-time hiring."

Eleson, who represents office personnel, is more hopeful. "We're in the process of resolving the issue."

A fungus among us: It's morels

Morel mushrooms bring out the spring madness. Mycophiles mislead old friends to guard a secret woodland cache of the precious fungus, or pay exorbitant prices in the marketplace to take them home. Many guests will spend hours waiting in line at restaurants that will soon be offering this fleeting delight, if but for just a very short while.

If you haven't guessed it by now, morel mushrooms have defied all efforts at cultivation in captivity. The only known sources are obscure backyards, deep oak-laden woods where sunshine is filtered through pine needles and towering elms, or a lucky friend, relative or neighbor who "knows just the right spot."

Thank God for Aunt Phyllis. She is a former Glen Lake native, now with roots Downriver. We have, on numerous occasions, set off with five-pound onion-sack bags in hand, searching for what is known as "the lobster of the mushroom kingdom."

In all honesty, many times we have returned with little more than the empty sacks, but on more than one occasion, we have gathered more than our fill of the delectable beauty. By the way, if you're waiting for me to divulge Aunt Phyllis' secret morel hide-out, forget it.

NOT ONLY WOULD I be banned from any future family culinary outings but, in all honesty, all I remember is getting in the car and driving down these dusty roads, passing cherry orchards and a cemetery with 100-year-old gravemarkers. Only then did we exit our vehicles to begin what was billed as a "Don't worry, Larry Lee. I know where we're going" hike over ridges and hills. All this without the use of a compass or hardly being able to see the sun through the towering trees. All this for a "mushroom?"

A morel is not just "any" mushroom. The morel is thin-fleshed; spongy; and dark-brown, yellow or off-white, shaped like a hollowed-out Christmas tree with a pitted cap that can be as small as a wild strawberry or as large as a lamb chop. The flavor varies but, personally, I liken it to warm autumn leaves, hazelnuts and nutmeg. Richly flavored beyond compare, these mushrooms should fall into the category of truffles and caviar, leaving taste to the beholder.

Mother Nature is a sly old lass and, unfortunately, has planted false morels, or Gyromitras, to evade the uninformed mycophile. False morels, unlike regular morels, have caps that look like convoluted brains and are not cone shaped. In addition, the stems are thick and chambered while true morels have straight and hollow stems.

If this is your first time for mushroom hunting of any kind, it's best to have someone along like Aunt Phyllis who knows the area and has the experience to point out real morels. To an untrained eye, it's like picking out the cubic zirconia in a mound of real diamonds. Once you learn the focusing technique, spotting them gets easier. It's locating them first which is the most difficult.

Not that I've ever been in a position to pass up any morel sprouting from the earthen floor. The avid morelite should look for mushrooms that have a sweet, earthy and nutty smell. Discard sour smells and especially ones with a smell "animal aroma" (if you catch my drift).

Never drop them into a regular bag or, worse yet, plastic, as they will spoil easily. Seasoned pickers recycle, using the string-mesh sacks that potatoes and onions come in at the grocery store.

I hope that every prospective morel hunter has someone like Aunt Phyllis in his or her family. It sure makes the hunting more enjoyable.

Picnicking with the Pistons

By Larry Janes
special writer

SINCE TODAY is the official start of the picnic season here in metro Detroit, isn't it fitting that we do so with the help of the World Champion Detroit Pistons and their wives?

After all, now that the basketball season is drawing to a close and we've been watching Isiah Thomas, Bill Laimbeer and the rest of the Bad Boys bring home another championship, rest assured that these guys and their wives will be picnicking up a storm real soon.

At a recent interview with members of the Pistons Women's Association, headed up by Lynne Thomas, Chris Laimbeer and Debbie Dumars, I found that these wives can't wait for the season to draw to a winning close. Once again, they can return to a lengthy summer vacation, complete with picnics, barbecues and extended rest and relaxation.

What, you ask, do the World Champions of basketball and their families do for a great picnic?

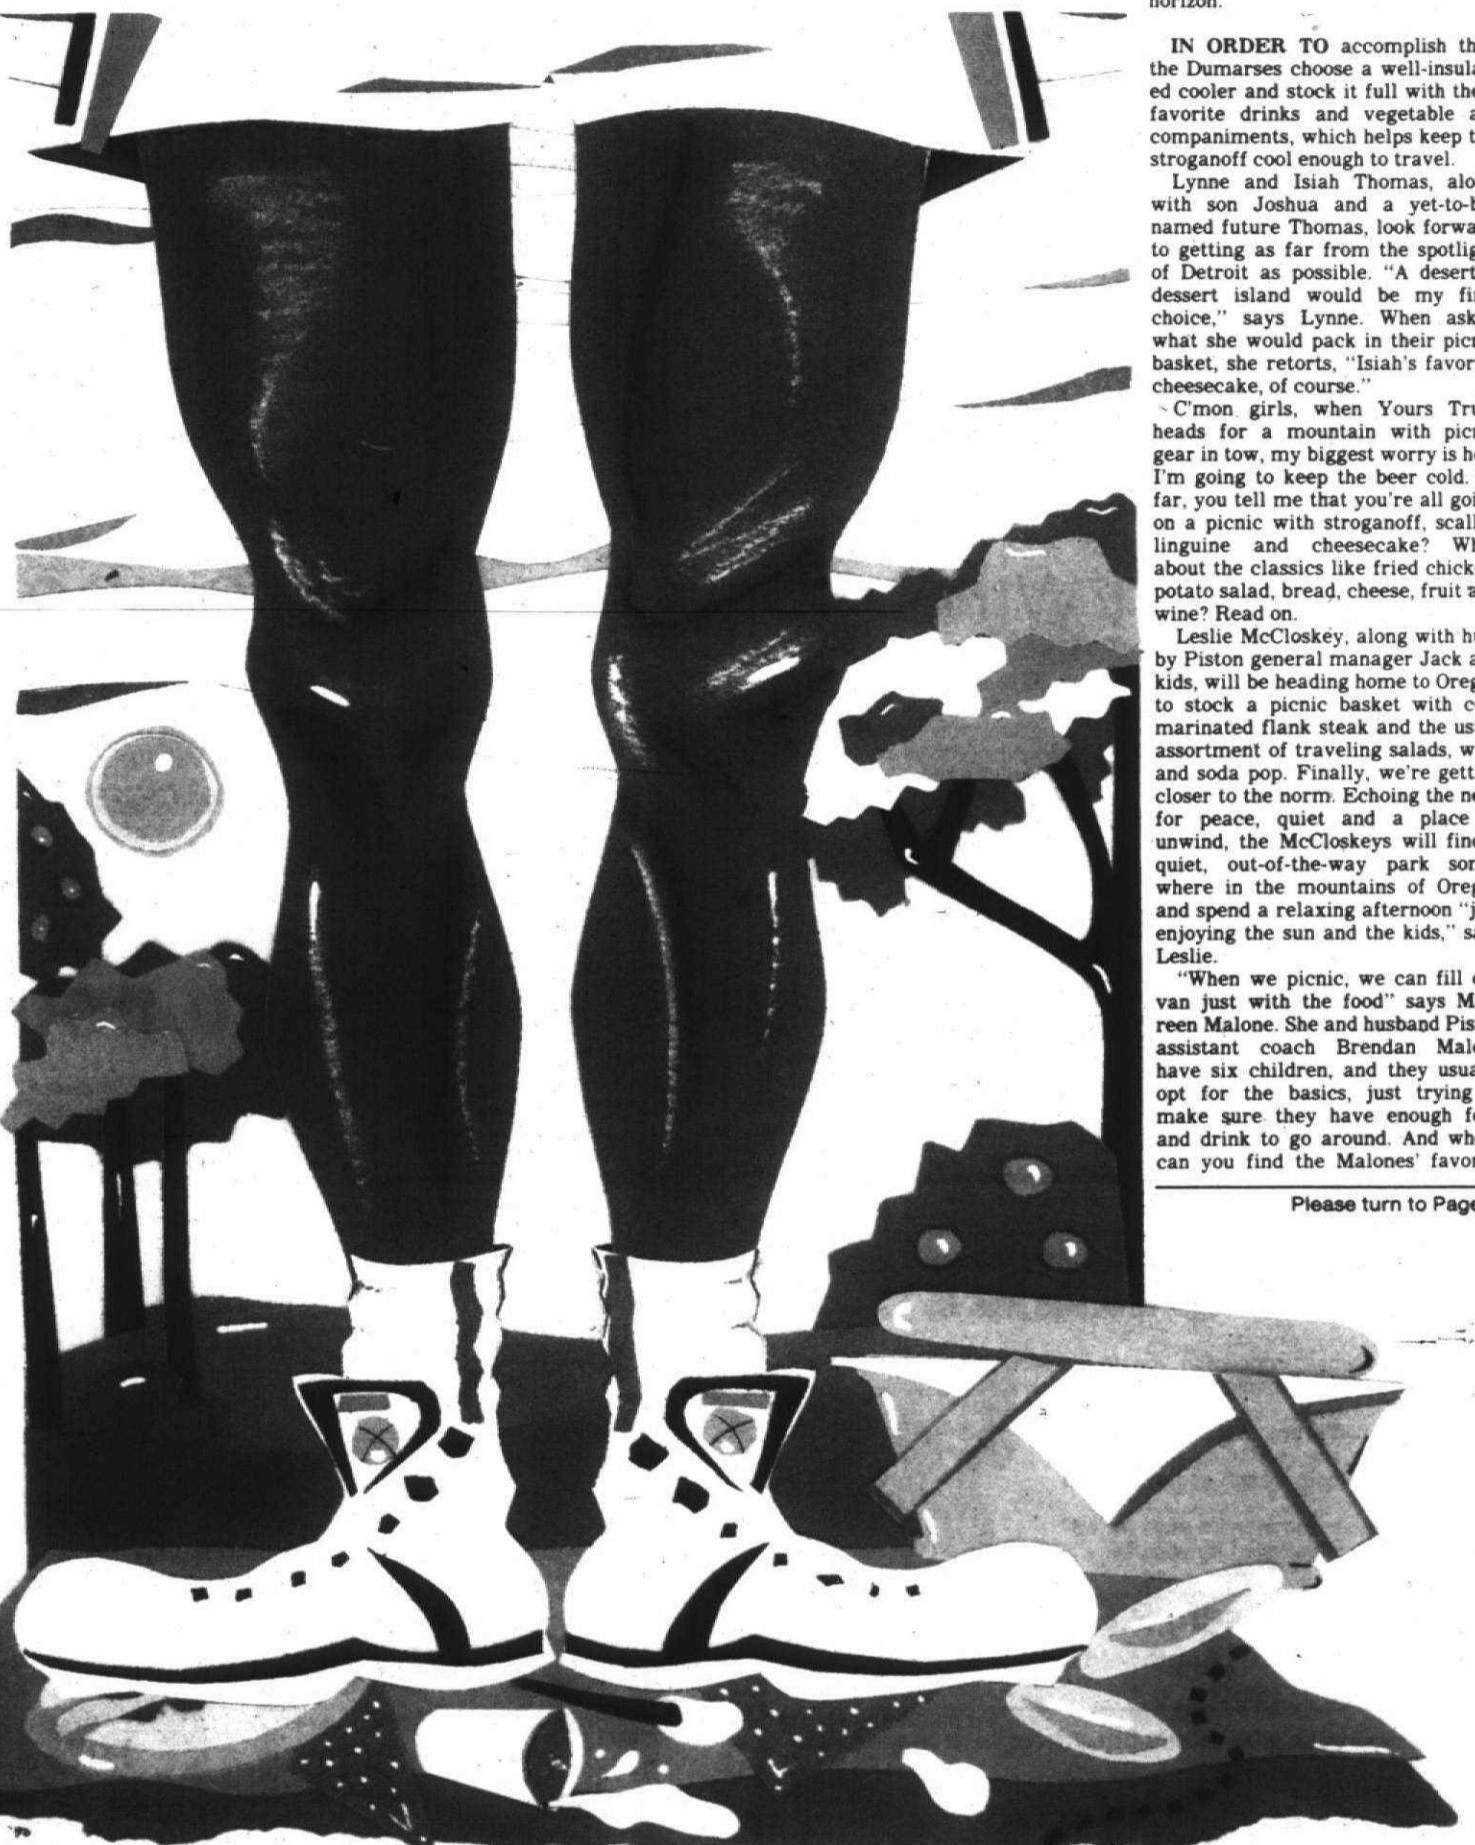

WHEN QUERIED incidentally, all the Piston wives could have responded in unison because the first words to echo from their mouths were about getting away from all the press, photographers and the spotlight. Seems that the players as well as their families are frequently hounded by folks like me wanting to push open that sliding glass door of personal inquiries just a little farther.

With the 1990 basketball season drawing to a close, rest assured that the picnic baskets are revved up and raring to go.

For Chris and Bill Laimbeer, picnicking automatically means heading for the boat. With kids in tow, their picnic basket is stuffed with an assortment of cold salads and finger foods that can be plated easily and enjoyed with little fuss and bother.

During the off season, Bill likes to putter in the kitchen and whip up a favorite recipe for scallop and linguine pasta. Chris says that the pasta travels well and can be prepared "just by boiling water" which is a lifesaver on a boat. Saute up a few choice scallops and veggies, toss with the pasta and you have a great hot picnic entree that just can't be beat. "Leftover pasta is easily tossed with an Italian dressing for tomorrow's cold pasta salad," says Chris.

Debbie and Joe Dumars will be heading for their favorite picnic spot in Louisiana. The Sam Houston State Park comes complete with secluded campsites, and all this young couple has to do is pitch a tent, start a cozy fire, pull out a pot of their favorite shrimp stroganoff from the cooler, then sit back and watch the hot Louisiana sun melt like molasses into the horizon.

IN ORDER TO accomplish this, the Dumarses choose a well-insulated cooler and stock it full with their favorite drinks and vegetable accompaniments, which helps keep the stroganoff cool enough to travel.

Lynne and Isiah Thomas, along with son Joshua and a yet-to-be-named future Thomas, look forward to getting as far from the spotlight of Detroit as possible. "A deserted desert island would be my first choice," says Lynne. When asked what she would pack in their picnic basket, she retorts, "Isiah's favorite cheesecake, of course."

C'mon girls, when Yours Truly heads for a mountain with picnic gear in tow, my biggest worry is how I'm going to keep the beer cold. So far, you tell me that you're all going on a picnic with stroganoff, scallop linguine and cheesecake? What about the classics like fried chicken, potato salad, bread, cheese, fruit and wine? Read on.

Leslie McCloskey, along with husband Piston general manager Jack and kids, will be heading home to Oregon to stock a picnic basket with cold marinated flank steak and the usual assortment of traveling salads, wine and soda pop. Finally, we're getting closer to the norm. Echoing the need for peace, quiet and a place to unwind, the McCloskeys will find a quiet, out-of-the-way park somewhere in the mountains of Oregon and spend a relaxing afternoon "just enjoying the sun and the kids," says Leslie.

"When we picnic, we can fill one van just with the food" says Maureen Malone. She and husband Piston assistant coach Brendan Malone have six children, and they usually opt for the basics, just trying to make sure they have enough food and drink to go around. And where can you find the Malones' favorite

New image for old Italian restaurant

John Del Signore may have hoped the adage "like father like son" would apply when his son was ready to take over his Fonte D'Amore restaurant in Livonia. It didn't.

Age 25 and eager, Luciano Del Signore didn't take long to convert the sophisticated, neighborhood Italian restaurant to his own image of what it should be. Out went the mural of his father's hometown in Italy and in came the handpainted wallpaper and a brighter look. Out went the casual look of the atrium out front and in came a more cozy, formal glass-paned porch.

Out went the emphasis on traditional Italian sauces with sausages and meats and in came a health-conscious emphasis on chicken and fish.

It's a new restaurant in many ways, but Fonte D'Amore still has the characteristics that have cultivated customer loyalty — an intimate setting, good food and solicitous service.

AN EMPHASIS on healthy food preparation is evident in the selection of pastas, many of which are prepared with vegetables and/or cheese, like the fettucine al verdi prepared with broccoli, mushrooms, garlic and olive oil ($9.95). The linguine dishes feature clam sauces, and another fettucini dish is prepared with smoked salmon.

Those who prefer the traditional sauces aren't forgotten, however. The elder Del Signore's red sauces are still available, and guests can customize their pasta entrees by ordering a tomato sauce with meat, meatballs or the delicious housemade Italian sausage.

Daily specials now include a heart-healthy entree, such as Italian-style scallops, marinated in herbs and red peppers and served with redskin potatoes, which was featured on our visit. While this entree sounded wonderful, it was not as flavorful as anticipated.

From among the house specialties, we tried the Pollo al Marsala Confungi, a very tasty chicken dish cooked in marsala wine with mushrooms and artichoke hearts — nicely flavored and tenderly prepared. The menu also includes a variation of this entree featuring veal instead of chicken.

Luciano Del Signore is trying to attract new customers with more contemporary entrees like wild game, appetizers of truffles and cream sauce, or sauces made with morels and other exotic mushrooms. One of the house specialties is rabbit braised in herbs and wild mushrooms and served with a red sauce, the highest-priced entree at $16.95.

APPETIZERS RANGE from sausage or shrimp to fruit and cheese ($4.75-$6.95). We found the wild mushrooms in sherry cream sauce ($6.95) very good, though the sherry made it quite sweet.

These days, the house salad comes with a choice of Italian, ranch, celery seed, raspberry vinaigrette or Weight Watchers dressing.

FRESH, STEAMED GREEN BEANS WITH SLIVERED ALMONDS
CRATER BUNS
APPLE/WALNUT DESSERT

Recipes
YOGURT CHICKEN
 This dish is fast, easy, different and great for dinner parties. This particular recipe serves 8 but can be modified to suit your needs by proportionately adjusting the amount of ingredients.
 2 pounds boneless, skinless chicken breasts (serves eight 4-ounce portions)
 1 container of plain yogurt, 16-ounce size; part of yogurt should be saved for Apple/Walnut Dessert
 1/2 cup lemon or lime juice
 1 tablespoon of each seasoning: basil, oregano, garlic, onion, dill, dash of salt and pepper
 1 cup Parmesan cheese
 1 cup bread crumbs
 1/2 cup melted butter, optional
 Cut the chicken into 4-ounce slices (8 total) and marinate in the yogurt, lemon and seasoning mixture. Marinating even a few minutes is fine. Place the chicken in a shallow 13-by-9-inch pan so that the chicken is touching but not overlapping. A cookie sheet with a 1/2-inch rim would also work. Sprinkle the chicken alternating with Parmesan cheese and bread crumbs. Finally drizzle with 1/2 cup of melted butter (optional). Bake at 400 degrees for 30-45 minutes. After about 20 minutes of baking, drain any excess drippings.
STEAMED BEANS WITH SLIVERED ALMONDS
 Wash and trim off the ends of fresh green beans. Steam in a covered pan until the beans are just done or al dente. Toss in a teaspoon of butter or margarine and add slivered almonds to taste.
CRATER BUNS
 2 cups flour
 4 tablespoons sugar

Light chicken dish is a reminder of summer

Although summer officially begins June 21, I have always thought it really starts on Memorial Day. As we make the transition from spring to summer, there are always certain jobs that need to be done around the house, to help bring order and definition to the change of seasons.
 Having just finished that necessary (but odious) seasonal chore of cleaning out my closet, I'm happy to announce that my white shoes and skirts are lined up and ready to report for summer duty. It is interesting to note that just as clothing styles and colors change by the season, so do cooking and eating patterns. Summer cooking tends to be much lighter and cooler than the heartier dishes we associate with fall and winter.
 This week's Winner Dinner, submitted by Joan Basar of Farmington Hills, is the kind of meal that will get your family thinking summer with each bite. Marinated in plain yogurt and lots of different herbs, this chicken dish has a refreshing and unique flavor. Served with Parmesan tomatoes, fresh, steamed green beans; a shortcake-type hot roll, and an apple/walnut dessert, this dinner will satisfy without stuffing.
 Basar enjoys her career with a company called Executive Adventure. She sells and markets the concept of helping employees at all levels of a company to become more productive at work through outdoor team-building activities, each of which is work-related and customized to each client's needs. The nationally based company has been in business since 1982, and its Michigan branch just opened in August 1989.
MARRIED FOR four years, Basar and her husband love to entertain. This is one dinner that is always a favorite, as the entire meal can be prepared and served within 50-60 minutes. Her time-efficient method of putting the dinner together is as follows: First, she prepares the chicken, and when it goes into the oven, she starts the buns. While the buns are baking, she prepares the tomatoes and the green beans and lets them cook while she finishes up with the dessert.
 Thank you, Joan Basar, and congratulations on being this week's Winner Dinner Winner. I wish you continued success with your career and hope that you will enjoy your well-deserved apron as much as we will enjoy your terrific recipes.
 In signing off for yet another week, I hope you and your family enjoyed a memorable Memorial Day. All this talk about "memory" reminds me to remind you to keep sending in your family's favorite Winner Dinner. As a new twist, I'm also interested in receiving menus from children who like to cook. After all, that would be like getting Winner Dinners right from the horse's mouth.

Area man wins cook-off with recipe for Chili the Kid

Shawn Booth of Garden City placed first, with his recipe called Chili the Kid, in the recent Official North Central Chili Cook-Off in St. Line.
 He received $500, a trophy and a guaranteed cooking spot in the International Chili Society's World Championship Cook-Off in California this fall.
 Other area residents among the finalists were Ken and Annette Horn of Plymouth, who placed third with Fireworks Chili; Charlie Riberton of Birmingham, who placed fifth, and Steve Dill of Union Lake, who placed seventh. All were guaranteed a spot in the 1991 Official North Central Chili Cook-Off.
 In the competition's Renegade Chili Cook-Off, for "anything in the pot," William Thomas of Plymouth placed fourth and received a guaranteed cooking spot in the 1991 Renegade Chili Cook-Off. Ed Callback of Troy won $500, a trophy, a case of dishwashing detergent and a chance to win a $15,000 dream kitchen in the International Chili Scrub-Off this fall, for scrubbing six chili-covered plates in 15-44 seconds in the first Dawn Chili Scrub-Off.
 The annual cook-off is the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan's most important fund-raiser. This year the event held at the Washenaw Farm Council Grounds raised more than $30,000 for the kidney foundation's patient services, education programs and research.
CHILI THE KID
 2 1/2 pounds round steak, cut in 1/2-inch cubes
 2 pounds Italian sausage
 1 1/2 large Spanish onions, cut small
 1 green pepper, cut small
 2 cloves fresh garlic, minced
 4 fresh jalapeno peppers, cut small
 Two 16-ounce cans stewed tomatoes, cut up
 4 tablespoons chili powder
 1 tablespoon (heaping) red cayenne pepper
 2 tablespoons ground cumin
 1 tablespoon Mexican oregano
 3/4 teaspoon sugar
 16-ounce can Budweiser beer
 2 jars mild El Paso salsa
 Brown meat in large pot, drain meat and add onion, green pepper, garlic, jalapeno peppers. Cook approximately 20 minutes, then add everything else except beer. Use the beer to thin chili to desired thickness. Simmer for 3 hours. Makes 1 gallon.

Simple sauces are best to bring out taste of morels

See Larry Jones' column Taste Buds, Page 1B.
 Because of their maze of honeycombed ridges, morel mushrooms are perfect partners for sauces, much of which they absorb.
 The simpler the sauce the better. A simple warming of heavy cream with just a sprinkling of beef bouillon envelopes the sliced morels into ecstasy, especially when served over the thick, juicy steak.
 If you are lucky enough to find some morels on a mushroom hunt, clean them just before cooking them, and never before. They can be stored in the refrigerator in a colander in the vegetable crisper for one or two days.
 Remove the heavy tip of the base and slice in half from top to bottom. It's best not to soak them, but since they do grow from the ground, a good washing to remove sand and dirt is, unfortunately, a must. Immediately blot dry. Then cook immediately. Never eat raw morels as they can cause illness in many people.
ROAST CHICKEN WITH MOREL STUFFING
 5 tablespoons butter
 1 pound morels, cleaned, washed, trimmed and sliced
 1 3/4 pound roasted chicken
 Dash salt, cinnamon, pepper
 1/2 cup bread cubes
 1 cup chicken broth
 Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a large skillet. Stir in morels and saute quickly over high heat until liquid evaporates, about 4 minutes. Chop chicken liver and heart, reserved from the roasting chicken and add to mushrooms. Cook, stirring for 1 minute. Add bread cubes, salt, cinnamon and pepper. Toss until well coated. Heat chicken broth and add 1 tablespoon butter. Pour over morel breadcrumbs and toss to coat. Stuff cavity with stuffing. Return remaining butter over chicken. Place bird, breast side down, on a rack in an ovenproof pan. Roast for 45 minutes at 325 degrees. Turn breast side up, baste with pan drippings. Sprinkle lightly with salt and return to oven for 45 minutes at 325 degrees. Raise temperature to 400 degrees and roast chicken until golden brown for 10 minutes. Allow chicken to rest for 10 minutes before carving.
MOREL PIE
 1 1/2 pounds morels, washed, trimmed and sliced
 1/4 cup sliced sweet onion
 4 tablespoons butter
 1/2 cup flour
 8 ounces cream-style cottage cheese
 1/4 cup parsley
 1/4 cup dry sherry
 Salt and pepper to taste
 1 pastry for a 2 crust pie
 1 egg yolk
 2 tablespoons water
 Sauté morels and onions in butter for about 10 minutes over medium high heat. Stir in flour, add cottage cheese, parsley, sherry, salt and pepper and mix well. Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Place 1 pastry in bottom of a 9-inch pie plate. Four mushroom mixture into pie. Arrange top pastry on pie or for better results, make top pastry into lattice design. Beat egg yolk with water and brush over top crust. Bake for 40-45 minutes, covering edges of pie with foil if overbrowning occurs. Cool 5 minutes before slicing. Makes 6 servings as a luncheon entree or 8 servings as an accompaniment with meat or fowl.

Know your onions to get the most from them

No kitchen should be without onions or their relatives. Leeks, shallots, green onions, garlic and chives are some of the members of the onion family. Carl Sandburg contended, "Life is like an onion, many layers that are peeled off one at a time and sometimes you cry." Onions, one of the oldest plants known to mankind, have a very long and colorful history.

Onions were fed to the Egyptians to give them strength while they were building the great pyramids. An old English superstition states that one must buy onions only in a shop with two doors. During the 16th century, onions were thought to ward off baldness and cure dog bites.

Folk medicine claims that eating onions will kill germs, cure circulatory and respiratory disturbances and prevent other ailments. Whether you believe these or not, onions are one of the most important and versatile ingredients in cooking.

ONIONS CAN be eaten raw or cooked, whole, chopped, sliced, diced or grated, stuffed, boiled, baked

Lois Thieleke
home economist, Cooperative Extension Service during onion slicing, cut off the top of the onion and peel down to do not trim off the bottom or root end until the last moment. The cells that expel the eye-tearing vapor are most prominent at the base of the onion.

Leeks are another onion family member. Emperor Nero is said to have eaten leek soup every day to improve his speaking voice. Leeks are probably best known for their use in vichyssoise. The taste is milder and more subtle than an onion, and leeks are said to be the king of the soup onions. Choose young, small leeks with crisp, dark green tops. Store them in plastic in the refrigerator for about a week. When you are ready to use them, wash thoroughly to get rid of the grit that is trapped in the leaves.

If leeks are the king of the soup onions, shallots are the queen of the of a large heavy knife to obtain garlic juice. Store in refrigerator or at a cool room temperature that allows for good circulation of air. The old party hose also works for garlic storage. They will keep for several months.

Whether you believe the legends about eating onions to make you brave and strong or just want a wonderful flavorful seasoning for everyday cooking, the onion family is the hands-down winner.

Napa Valley wineries rebound to total 193

What goes around, comes around. The wine business, as well as fashion, seems to be cyclic in nature. This has been demonstrated in California's Napa Valley.

In 1889, the number of working wineries in Napa Valley reached a high of 143. It took nearly 100 years to achieve a new high. In the interim, the wine industry suffered one catastrophe after another.

In the late 19th century, phylloxera, a vine root louse, destroyed many vineyards. In the early 20th century, Prohibition followed by the Great Depression reduced the number of producing wineries. By 1960, only 25 wineries had survived.

It's amazing, but the rebirth of the California wine industry, or at least Napa Valley, began only 30 years ago. When people say that the American wine industry is fledgling compared to Europe, this is what they mean. Today, Napa has rebounded to a total of 193 wineries.

In 1886, James and George Goodman built a Napa Valley winery with the intention of using the grapes from their 280-acre Eshcol Estate focus on wine

Eleanor and Ray Heald

Vineyard. The Goodmans' Eshcol Cabernet Sauvignon gained fame after earning a gold medal at the 1888 San Francisco Viticultural Fair.

In 1968, when Napa Valley was still a sleepy community, Gene and Katie Trefethen purchased the old Eshcol estate plus 320 adjoining acres and turned their attention from growing walnuts to harvesting wine grapes. At that time, walnuts, peaches and prunes were the cash crops of choice in the valley.

The Trefethens' son John realized the potential of winemaking in the Napa Valley and undertook the task of renovating the winery, now a national historic landmark of early California winery architecture.

In 1973, John and his wife Janet produced their first 2,000 cases of wine.

Trefethen Vineyards produces 75,000 cases of wine annually from grapes grown exclusively on their property between the towns of Napa and Yountville, along Highway 29. Trefethen wines are estate grown, produced and bottled. Emphasizing a style that is determined by their estate-grown fruit, Trefethen stresses important vineyard practices like planting, nurturing and harvesting the best grapes the land can give them.

TREFETHEN VINEYARDS, in the cool, southern end of Napa Valley, successfully grows chardonnay, white riesling, merlot, cabernet sauvignon, zinfandel and pinot noir. The vineyard property is so large that

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

Trefethen Eschol White ($7.50) shows a flowery note of riesling. It's totally dry, in a crisp, refreshing style that invites another sip. We recommend grilled fish, shrimp, oysters or mussels. This wine will enhance food and leave your palate refreshed.

Trefethen Eschol Red ($7.50) yields a good red wine aroma that features the blackberry character of cabernet and the brambly, raspberry fruit of zinfandel. A big, chewy mouthful for the money. You can serve this wine with hamburger or steak and be equally pleased.

Trefethen wines are available in major wine shops and restaurants in the Detroit area.

even today half the Trefethen harvest is sold to prestigious wineries such as Domaine Chandon and Domaine Mumm.

With more than 20 years' experience with its own vineyards, Trefethen has developed a wine style that repeats itself as a continuing thread throughout the wines. Made with a minimum of handling, the theme is clean, crisp, well-balanced wines that showcase fruit rather than oak. "We let the fruit speak through the wine," contends Janet Trefethen.

Trefethen 1989 White Riesling ($9.75) has aromas of apples, flowers and orange blossoms in a totally dry style that is rare among California white rieslings.

Trefethen 1987 Chardonnay ($19.50) has a straightforward grapefruit character to complement food. Fish, seafood or oysters are well paired with the clean, lean lines of this wine. Since the high acid balance of Trefethen chardonnays allows them to age, Trefethen has developed a rerelease program whereby consumers can purchase older vintages of chardonnay that have been bottled aged, in perfect conditions at the winery.

These mature wines are labeled "Library Selection" and are offered as limited editions. The 1983 Chardonnay ($22) leaves a clean palate impression consistent with the younger wine. The attraction of this wine is the rich, buttery nose and oak impression not immediately evident in the younger wine.

THE 1986 Trefethen Cabernet Sauvignon ($18), blended with 15 percent merlot, highlights blackberry and black currant fruit aromas and soft tannins, in a solid, well-structured package.

Named after the original estate, the Trefethen Eschol Red and White wines represent value-priced quality for everyday enjoyment. The wines are non-vintaged so that deep, complex characteristics can be built into the wines by blending aged varietals from previous vintages.

Trefethen Eschol White ($7.50) is 90 percent chardonnay, and could be labeled as such, with 10 percent riesling to add aromatic highlights. At the same price, the Eschol Red is an attractive blend of cabernet, zinfandel, pinot noir and merlot, aged at the winery and ready to drink when purchased.

Remove skin on chicken to keep down the calories

AP — For a "skinny" chicken dish, remove the skin from the chicken pieces before cooking. Discarding the skin this way disposes of the fat that is located in the skin and just beneath, saving 25 calories per serving. Breasts and thighs are the easiest pieces to skin; it pulls away easily. To skin drumsticks, grasp the bony end firmly and pull the skin toward you. Pull until it turns wrongside out over the bony end. Then cut skin free from the bone.

CHICKEN PARMESAN

1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 teaspoon Italian seasoning, crushed
3 whole medium chicken breasts (about 2 1/4 pounds total), skinned, boned and halved lengthwise
1/4 cup sliced green onion
2 teaspoons margarine or butter
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
1/2 cup skim milk
1/2 of a 10-ounce package frozen chopped spinach, thawed and drained
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

In a small mixing bowl combine Parmesan cheese and Italian seasoning. Roll chicken pieces in cheese mixture to coat lightly; set remaining cheese mixture aside.

Arrange chicken pieces in an 8-by-8-by-2-inch baking dish. In a small saucepan cook onion in hot margarine until tender. Stir in flour; add milk all at once. Cook and stir until bubbly; stir in drained spinach and pimiento. Spoon spinach mixture over chicken; sprinkle with remaining cheese mixture. Bake, uncovered, in a 350-degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until tender. Makes 6 servings.

Rob Kowalski pitched a five-hitter Friday to lead Plymouth Salem to a 4-2 victory over John Glenn in pre-district baseball. The Rocks avenged two losses to the Rockets and will play Ypsilanti in the district Saturday.

Kowalski pitches Salem to predistrict win, 4-2

In two previous meetings this season, Westland John Glenn terrorized Plymouth Salem's pitching staff, scoring 33 runs. The Rockets beat Salem in those games, 18-12 and 15-3.

In Friday's Class A predistrict baseball game, Glenn managed a meager five hits off Salem hurler Rob Kowalski, who ended the Rockets' season and lengthened his team's with a 4-2 triumph at Glenn.

"We know we're a pretty good club," said Salem coach John Gravin. "And we're better with Robby on the mound. Then we can really play with some people."

Salem — 15-10 for the season — advanced to Saturday's district round at Glenn, where it will meet Ypsilanti.

Kowalski improved his record to 8-1 with Friday's win, allowing just one earned run on five hits and two walks, striking out three.

THE ROCKS supported his pitching efforts by striking for all four of their runs in the first three innings. Two of those came in the first. Brian Rudolph was safe on an error and Dave Makowiec got an infield single. Both stole a base, putting runners on second and third. Sacrifice flies by Scott Niemiec and Tom Noonan scored them.

Salem got another run in the second, and should have gotten more. Two walks and a Steve Mantay single loaded the bases, and Rudolph's sacrifice fly scored a run. Brian Stephenson relieved Glenn starting pitcher Mark Johnston with the bases loaded and two out, and struck out Scott Niemiec.

Johnston took the loss for Glenn, which finished its season at 17-4. He lasted just 1½ innings and was charged with three runs on three hits and three walks, with one strikeout. Stephenson went the rest of the way, allowing one run on five hits, fanning two.

Chiefs division champs

Division championships might be old hat for the Plymouth Canton girls track team, but it's something new for the Canton boys.

The Chiefs wrapped up their sixth consecutive Western Division girls title Wednesday when they routed visiting Livonia Franklin 103-25.

The 80-57 at Franklin, finishing with the same 5-0 record in division duals as the girls.

Kristy Brugar won two individual events and was part of two winning relay teams for the Canton girls, 6-1 overall. She was first in the 400-meter run at 1:05.3 and the 200 dash with a time of 28.7.

Brugar, Karina Kilpelainen, Michelle Dean and Alicia King won the 800 relay in 1:55.3, and Brugar teamed with Jennifer Hartke, Christie Saffron and Christie Anderson for a 4:51 time in the 1600 relay.

JESSICA SOUTER and Hoema Okumabua were big contributors to the victory, also. Both had three firsts — two individual and one relay.

Souter set a school record of 16-11½ in the long jump, and she also was first in the 100 dash at 13.4. Okumabua posted the best distance in the shot put (29-10¼) and the discus (106-2).

Those two athletes, Kilpelainen and King combined for a 53.3 time to win the 400 relay.

Kilpelainen also won the 100 hurdles in 16.2, and teammate Angela Fountain took the 300 hurdles at 51.6. Stephanie Gray followed her regional victory in the high jump by winning that event in the dual meet (5-2).

The Chiefs had three winners in open running events: Amy Smith in baseball

Scott Rodgers had two hits for Salem and knocked in the Rocks' fourth run. Eric Stover led Glenn with three hits in four trips.

"He's really been a thorn in our side," said Gravin of Stover, a senior. "I'm glad to see him go."

And, no doubt, Gravin is glad to see his team keep going down the state tournament road.

PLYMOUTH CANTON'S season came to an end Friday when it lost at Ypsilanti 5-4 in eight innings in a Class A predistrict game.

The loss overshadowed a Canton comeback in the seventh inning that tied the score and sent the game into extra innings. The game was tied at 2-2 entering the seventh. Ypsi's David Webb broke that tie with a homer leading off the inning. The Braves added another run, chasing Canton starter Geoff Allen and taking a 4-2 lead.

But the Chiefs (batting last as the home team) rallied. They loaded the bases with one out, and Allen hit a grounder that could have ended the game. But an overthrow at first base scored two runs to knot the score again.

In Ypsi's eighth, Scott Kennedy — who relieved Allen — struck out the first two batters, then couldn't find the plate. Kennedy walked three straight before hitting a batter to force in the game-winning run.

Chris Dessler, a sophomore righthander, gave up just three hits in improving 10th-ranked Ypsi's record to 19-3-1.

Chiefs rule district

By C.J. Risak
Staff writer

Talk about frustration. A coach often knows what's going to happen to his team in an important game well in advance. And it isn't always good. He can plan for it, approach the problem from different angles, figure all sorts of strategies well before game time — and it may not help.

What makes it more befuddling is the cause of the trouble. It might not be a lack of talent, or injuries to key players, or an overpowering opponent. The problem can lie within.

Emotional letdowns are part of sports. When Don Smith's Plymouth Canton soccer team took to the field in the Class A district final against an inferior Ann Arbor Huron team Friday at Concordia College, Smith knew his team should dominate the match. The Chiefs should be easy winners.

Smith also knew that wouldn't happen. Not less than two days after an emotional, physically exhausting overtime win over Plymouth Salem in the state district semifinals.

HE GOT about what he expected — a flat performance. Fortunately, he also got what he wanted — a 2-0 win, which put Canton into the state regionals against the East Lansing-Brighton winner Wednesday.

"Yes, it was (an emotional win over Salem)," Smith agreed Friday as he left the field, happy this game was behind him. "I knew they could have a letdown. Playing a team like that, they know they have the game under control."

"But those are the kind of games you worry about most."

Smith didn't berate his team (now 12-2-2) at the halftime break after a scoreless first half. He had tried that before, he explained, and the team didn't respond well. "You're dealing with a lot of emotions here," he said.

So, even though so much was at stake, Smith could do little more than encourage and instruct his players. Getting enraged wouldn't help. It was a lethargically played first half. Huron opted to concentrate on its defense. The River Rats made few offensive thrusts, with all but one player staying well back.

DESPITE HURON'S bolstered defense, Canton controlled play and had scoring chances. But the Chiefs' lack of motivation was evident, particularly on free balls — which there were far too many of. Canton was faster and could have controlled the ball better on the ground — and follow-ups.

Canton earns softball berth

Errors and walks proved to be Plymouth Salem's undoing Friday in a Class A predistrict softball game with Plymouth Canton. The Rocks out-hit Canton 16-8, but they also out-errored (7-3) and outwalked (14-3) the Chiefs, who claimed a 16-12 win at Salem.

Canton advances to the Westland John Glenn district to play Belleville at noon Saturday.

Andrea Welling, in relief of Jenny Garvey, was the losing pitcher. Stacey Thompson was the winner.

Thompson had two hits and two runs batted in for Canton (now 23-2). April Galici also had two hits. For Salem (6-19), Caryn Tatterton had four hits and scored four runs; Emily Giuliani had two hits and four RBI; Stephanie Beech had two hits and four runs scored; Eileen Lyons had three hits; and Welling and Stefanie Turek had two hits each.

Several times, the Chiefs might have scored had the forwards kept pressing on shots at the net. Instead, they pulled up. Late in the opening half, a shot from in front of the net by Lynne Nichols was deflected by a diving Julie Johnson, Huron's keeper. It slowly rolled just outside the post.

Late in the first half, Canton started to increase the pace, which worked to its advantage. Johnson turned away several shots, but the freshman's punting was weak. That enabled the Chiefs to keep the play deep in Huron's end of the field.

In the second half, a more intense Canton effort paid dividends. Jenny Russell centered the ball to Nichols, who dribbled past a Huron defender and pushed a shot that rolled past Johnson into the corner of the net.

THE CHIEFS' pressure continued unabated. The River Rats, now forced to try for more into their own attack to put for the equalizer, couldn't contain Canton. With 15 minutes remaining, Ayana Nash chipped a pass from the right midfield into Colleen Connell, positioned 15 yards in front of the Huron net.

Connell one-touched the ball, sending it past Johnson for the insurance marker the Chiefs needed.

After each Canton goal, there were no scenes of celebration, no exuberant high-fives, no crowds of teammates engulfing the scorer. Instead, their attitude seemed more like, "It's about time."

"If that had been against Salem," noted Smith, "the girls would have been doing flips."

Forget the flips. What the Chiefs need is concentration and effort — and a few goals. The opposition at the regional won't be as tough as it was in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Which means Smith will be searching for ways to overcome a lackluster attitude, before it does some real harm.

Grosso adapts to Arizona

By C.J. Rieak staff writer

A cursory examination of what Brian Grosso accomplished this season as a distance runner for University of Arizona's track team could be termed good-but-not-sensational.

Grosso's coach, however, sees more. He sees potential. And promise.

"I look for him next year (to develop) like Marc Davis," said Wildcat coach Dave Murray. "Now, I don't know if Brian can match that. It would be great if he did. He has that kind of ability."

Murray's comparison is worth noting. Davis, who just finished his junior year at Arizona, was running 5,000 meters in 14:26 as a freshman. Grosso, the top distance runner among Michigan prep when at Walled Lake Western, had a season-best of 14:24 this season, his first at Arizona.

Davis learned a lot between his freshman and sophomore years. He was the Pac-10 and NCAA champion in the 5,000 last year, with a best time of 13:32.58.

Can Grosso learn that much?

LISTEN TO the diminutive runner discuss the problems he had as a freshman, and the belief is he just might.

Marlins capture league track title

By Bob Stebbins staff writer

Farmington Hills Mercy's girls track team won the Catholic League A-B championship Tuesday in a meet Mercy coach Gary Servais said went according to plan.

"Looking at the meet on paper, I thought it would be close between us and (Detroit) DePorres, with DePorres being a real strong sprint team," Servais said. "I thought our balance in all events would offset their strength in sprints, and that's pretty much what happened."

Mercy won the meet with 128 1/2 points followed by DePorres (84), Redford Bishop Burgess (59), Dearborn Divine Child (51) and Livonia Ladywood (40).

The Marlins scored in every event except the long jump.

Individual champions for Mercy were Laure DeMattia in the shot put (35-3/4), Lauren Hood in the 800 meters (2:23.7) and Heather Knoll in the 1600 (5:29.4) and 3200 (11:50).

DeMattia and Hood also placed fourth in the discus and 400 meters, respectively.

OTHER TOP performers for the Marlins included Heather Sullivan (second in the 800), Jeanette Turner (second in the shot put and discus), Carrie Walton (fifth in the 1600 and third in the 3200) and Kathleen Gerigk (fourth in the 800 and the 1600).

Mercy's relay teams also performed commendably.

Gerigk, Walton, Sullivan and Kathy Cook combined to place first in the 3200. Mercy also took second in the 1600 and placed third in the 400 and 800. Cook was a member of all four relay teams.

Servais pointed to hard work as the key to his team's triumph.

"I'm real proud of the kids," he said. "They worked real hard and it paid off."

The Marlins have climbed up the ladder in the Catholic League meet each of Servais' three years as coach. They finished third his first year, took second last year and were the champions this time around.

REDFORD BISHOP Burgess coach John McGreevey was pleased with the way his third-place Spartans ran.

Bowling awards dispensed

THE GREATER DETROIT Bowling Association held its annual meeting on Sunday, May 20 with the election of officers and directors as the first order of business, followed by some awards and a small tournament for the delegates.

Al Harrison

Bob Chamberlain was elected the 1990 Bowling Man of the Year. Vince Meli and myself were presented with meritorious service awards.

Meli started bowling before most of you readers were even born - 1929. He has long been a promoter of bowling and has formed an "Jimmy the Clown" at hospitals, nursing homes and benefits. At age 73, Meli is still an avid bowler.

The highlight of the day was when I gave my acceptance speech in appreciation for the award given to me. I did keep the speech under five minutes, usually letting the typewriter do all the talking.

The meeting took place at the Thunders-Bowl Lanes in Canton. If you've never been to ThundersBowl, it is a worthwhile trip for any bowling enthusiast. The Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame is on display, along with plenty of bowling memorabilia.

ThunderBowl will also be the sight of the YABA National Tournament, which will take place later this summer.

SPEAKING OF YABA, I will be in Traverse City this weekend to watch the state scholastic bowling tournament. I will have good news to report about local youth bowlers who will be participating in the event.

In the High School Tournament Sunday, May 19 at Pioneer Lanes, Uica Stevenson's boys prevailed for the second straight year.

Laded with talent, Stevenson averaged 300 pins in the finals.

The girls division was won by Uica Ford. Southfield High made it to the finals in

Pioneer league golf champ

Neither Plymouth Canton nor Plymouth Salem could challenge Ann Arbor Pioneer for the Central Eight Golf League tournament title Thursday at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton.

Three Pioneers finished among the top five, including medalist Susan Evashevski, who shot 80, as they won the title with a 324. Saline took second with a 369, followed by Howell (405) and Brighton (410).

Canton was fifth at 422, with Salem sixth at 453. Pinckney took seventh (461) and Ann Arbor Huron was eighth (502).

Sarah Beckman led the Chiefs, shooting 94 - seventh best overall. Kerri Kittleson was second among Canton scorers with a 103, with Ann Vernon next (114) and Melissa Vernon fourth (118).

FOR SALEM, top team honors went to Jamie Cole and Elizabeth Koehl, each with a 110. Melissa Solberth was third among the Rocks at 115, with Natalie Joyce and Megan Andrews tying for fourth at 118.

Second-best individual score in the tournament was scored by Pioneer's Jodi Smith, who shot 85. Saline's Susan Aquino (86) and Nicole Chaconas (87) were next, with Pioneer's Kristi Maier fifth (91).

The top four teams are all state-tournament qualifiers. Pioneer is ranked fourth in Class A and Saline is

AWARD-WINNER

Todd Marion, the sophomore pitcher on University of Michigan's baseball team from Canton (Saline HS), was the Betty Simmons Award winner, presented to U-M's most improved player.

Marion was the stopper for the Wolverines, appearing in 24 games and going 5-3 with a 3.44 ERA and a school-record eight saves. In 34 innings, he allowed 28 hits and 10 walks, striking out 29.

Injuries kept Greg Haeger, a junior first baseman from Livonia (Catholic Central HS), sidelined half the season. He batted just 75 times, hitting .213 with seven RBI. Haeger was also 2-0 on the mound, pitching 8 1/3 innings and giving up no runs on three hits and four walks, striking out 11.

● OFF THE TEE

Denny Sikilla, a sophomore at University of Michigan from Walled Lake (Western), finished tied for 34th at the Big Ten Golf Championships in Minneapolis with a four-round score of 305. U-M finished seventh.

MAC'S BEST

It was a big week for Doug Martin, Eastern Michigan's junior pitcher from Redford Catholic Central. Martin finished the season in style, winning his last two starts, 3-2 over Mid-American Conference champion Central Michigan and 2-0 over Toledo. Those victories earned him MAC pitcher of the week honors.

They also assured him of a spot in the all-MAC first team. Martin, who stopped CMU on seven hits and hurled a five-hitter at Toledo, finished the season with an 8-5 record and a 3.00 earned run average. His ERA was fifth best in the MAC, and he was tied for fifth in wins.

Also named to the MAC's first team was Steve Waite, a junior third baseman from Plymouth Canton. That Waite was able to finish the year was remarkable. He broke his thumb early in the MAC season and missed 17 games, but came back for the last 15 and batted .333.

Also honored was Tim Dowd, a junior outfielder at CMU from Plymouth Salem, who was a second-team all-academic selection. Dowd has a 3.28 grade point average, with a major in psychology.

NET FINAL

Mark Rakoczy, a senior on Northwood Institute's tennis team from Farmington Hills (Harrison HS), extended his season by qualifying for the National Men's Tennis Championship last weekend in Kansas City, Mo.

Although hurt much of the season - Rakoczy was 3-2 in doubles play - and his partner, sophomore Steve Smigelski, were one of three NI doubles teams to qualify for the tournament. The Northmen were 7-4 in dual meets this year and won their ninth-straight NIA District 23 title.

A residential unit shall be defined as any structure designed and used for year-round habitation where average occupancy by the same person or persons was longer than two consecutive months during the previous year. 73.080. Industrial Waste Surcharge and Industrial Waste Pretreatment. B. It is ordained that the Schedule of Industrial Waste Pollutant Strength surcharges is hereby adopted and made effective for users of the wastewater system of the Charter Township of Plymouth. Said surcharges are to be computed as follows:

COMPUTATION OF INDUSTRIAL WASTE POLLUTANT STRENGTH SURCHARGE. The industrial waste pollutant strength surcharge shall be computed in accordance with the following formula:

SC = 0.0624 V[a(BOD-275) + b(TSS-350) + c(P-12) + d(POG-100)]

- WHERE: SC = Pollutant strength surcharge fee in dollars for the billing period. V = Volume of waste discharged in the billing period in Mdf (1000 cubic feet). *BOD = Five-day biochemical oxygen demand of the waste expressed in milligrams per liter (ppm). *TSS = Total suspended solids in the waste expressed in milligrams per liter (ppm). *P = Phosphorus in the waste expressed in milligrams per liter (ppm). a,b,c,d = Surcharge rates, $/pound for treating BOD, TSS, P and POG respectively. 0.0624 = Factor which converts Mdf to MM lbs. a = $0.025/pound, b = 0.113/pound, c = 1.196/pound, d = 0.020/pound.

The total sewage charge for a particular industry would be the sum of the base flow charge and the surcharge would be calculated from the following formula:

UC = V(R) + SC

- WHERE: UC = Total sewage charge for the billing period in dollars. V = Volume of waste discharged in billing period of Mdf. R = Basic flow sewage rate is $6.00/Mcf, effective January 1, 1980. SC = Surcharge in dollars as computed above.

Section 2. Severability. If any clause, section, paragraph, or part of this Ordinance, or the application thereof to any person, firm, corporation, legal entity or circumstances, shall be for any reason adjudged by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or invalid, said judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder of this Ordinance and the application of such provisions to other persons, firms, corporations, legal entities or circumstances by said judgment shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, section, paragraph, or part of this Ordinance thereof directly involved in the case or controversy in which said judgment shall have been rendered and to the person, firm, corporation, legal entity or circumstance then and there involved. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent of the body that the Ordinance would have been adopted had such invalid or unconstitutional provision not been included in this Ordinance.

Section 3. Repeal. All other Ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.

Section 4. Savings Clause. The balance of Chapter 73, except as herein amended, shall remain in full force and effect. The repeal provided herein shall not abrogate or affect any offense or act committed or done, or any penalty or forfeiture incurred, or any pending fees, assessments, litigation or prosecution of any right established, occurring prior to the effective date hereof.

Section 5. Publication. The Township Clerk shall cause this Ordinance to be published in the manner required by law.

WRITE IT AND REAP!

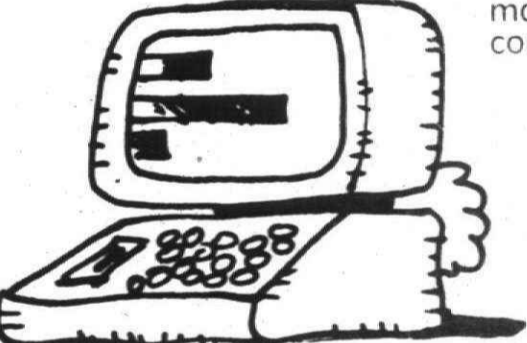

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

It's a call that's synonymous with the game of golf. So are things like par, dog-leg and birdie. They're also synonymous with The Bear and The Legend, Michigan's premiere golf courses, designed by golfing greats Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus. Street Scene takes a look at these "masterpieces" on Page 6D.

Skipper discover interlake challenge

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Brisk breezes and lapping waves. Serene solitude. A test of raw skill.

These qualities and a plentiful supply of lakes comprise the basic elements in Michigan sailboat racing, a sport that lures aficionados who revel in adrenalin-rushing competition and success born of stark proficiency and a bit of luck.

But not just any sailboat. Small sailboats, 17-foot sloops. And not just any racing. Interlake racing, where expertise is the telling edge.

This, lovers and masters of the sport say, is the absolute best. "Small boats, you really get the feel for sailing. You get a chance to do everything. You're the skipper," said Mike Golden, an Oakland County insurance agent who has been sailing 22 years.

Golden helps oversee a summer sailing program offered by the Michigan Council of American Youth Hostels (AYH), likely the largest program of its kind in the country. AYH also hosts a summer schedule of interlake racing on Kent Lake in Kensington Metro Park.

"Interlake racing is a true test of skill between skippers. There are no advantages," Golden said, because each craft weighs the same and carries identical sails and equipment.

"UNTIL YOU'VE RACED a small boat, made it perform the best it can, you haven't really sailed," Carol Boyke, 27 of Rochester, said of interlake racing. Boyke, who learned to sail "from a book" as a youth, enrolled in the AYH basic sailing class because "I wanted to learn other than by the book."

Boyke got more than she bargained for. A year ago she married the sailing instructor, a 28-year-old seasoned sailor and automotive engineer named Bill Boyke.

"We'd have hot and heavy races and then go out to eat afterwards. One thing led to another," Carol Boyke said with a laugh. The couple's dream: "We hope our kids will be sailors and in 15 years we want to take the family and sail around the world."

Bob Clarke of Farmington Hills, a retired accountant, also learned to sail as a youth, during summer vacations at Clark Lake. After years of membership in the Pontiac Yacht Club where he raced larger boats, Clarke recently completed AYH instruction, enabling him to compete in interlake races.

"Racing is very exciting, very exhilarating and quite competitive. It adds a great deal of interest to sailing," said Clarke who, at 70 years of age, eagerly anticipates the new challenge of interlake racing. He enters his first race this summer.

An added bonus: Daughter Margaret Panzer, Clarke's former crewmate at the Pontiac Yacht Club, is now enrolled in AYH instruction. The mother of three, Panzer may again crew for her father or even race against him.

"THE SOLITUDE. The quiet. The wind blowing in your face. I always figured sailing would be perfect for me," said Jim Corcoran, a 39-year-old Southfield fireman from West Bloomfield who got "hooked" on sailing three years ago during a week of sailing on Lake Huron sponsored annually by AYH.

Corcoran has since completed the AYH basic and advanced sailing courses, earning his skipper rating during basic training and honing racing skills in the advanced course. He is now enrolled in the captain course, becoming qualified on a 26-foot keelboat. AYH also offers voyager training on a 30-foot S-2 keelboat.

Dave Pitts, a Southfield insurance manager from Livonia, helps coordinate the AYH sailing education program. A Californian who learned to sail during high school 30 years ago, Pitts revived his interest in sailing after moving to the Great Lakes state from Utah and Montana where sailing is virtually unknown.

Student Karen Oerkionimi of Farmington Hills leans to the side as instructor Mary Wagner of Northville brings the boat around.

Lynne Coulter of Rochester Hills prepares to tie up at the dock for a final check of the boat before heading out on to Kent Lake with Robin Nelson of Farmington Hills and instructor Jim Pogue.

Race Schedule

DON'T LOOK FOR THE familiar red, white and blue spinaker of Dennis Connor's Stars and Stripes. Kent Lake at Kensington Metropark isn't quite up to snuff for the popular America's Cup skipper.

But it is up to snuff for interlake racing. Racing skippers are converging on the lake throughout the summer in a true test of their sailing skills.

The skippers race 17-foot centerboard sloops. Each craft weighs the same and carries identical sails and equipment. The winning edge is with the skipper, and enthusiasts describe it as "purist racing."

The race normally includes a course run twice around three buoys. Each turn requires new strategy. Wind direction is essential in figuring the number of sails in order to maximize speed and when to tack.

A skipper rating is required to be a part of the interlake racing at Kent Lake, but you need only be a sailing enthusiast to watch the action from the shore.

The racing kicked off Memorial Day weekend and continues throughout the summer and into the fall.

The spring series includes races at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 10 and 24, and 9 a.m. Saturday, July 7, and Sunday, July 22. Race regattas will be 9 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 11, and Sunday, Aug. 12.

Closing out the season will be the fall racing series -- 9 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 9 and 23, and Saturday, Oct. 6.

Sean Young and Nicolas Cage star as elite Army aviators in "Fire Birds."

Spielberg scores again with his 'Future Part III'

Chalk up another winner for Steven Spielberg's crowd and don't miss the fun in "Back to the Future Part III" (A, PG, 105 minutes). Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) and Doc Brown (Christopher Lloyd) are back, this time to the past, to finish the trilogy in Hill Valley, 1885.

Through numerous complications of time travel, Doc winds up as a blacksmith stuck in 1885 with a damaged DeLorean time machine. He sends a letter through Wells Fargo for information in that letter, Marty discovers the cave where Doc hid the DeLorean. He also discovers a tombstone with Doc's name on it. Burial date was in 1885 just five days after the letter was sent.

While it may take a while to sort out the complications of time travel and who is doing what to whom and when, rest assured that the film is extremely well-structured with all the details worked out quite logically. In fact, one of the pleasures of "Back to the Future Part III" is recognizing the references to Parts I and II.

Even if you don't remember the first two parts, "Part III" is still a great deal of fun as a contemporary young man, Marty McFly, is forced to deal with the behavior and living standards of his great, great-grandfather's time. As a matter of fact, Marty winds up slaying with him, Seamus McFly, also played by Michael J. Fox in some very well done sequences.

IT'S THE same place but a different time and Marty must face up to the local bully, Buford "Mad Dog" Tannen (Thomas F. Wilson). Sound familiar? Well, it is with a new twist as Wilson does a marvelous satire of the stereotypical western outlaw.

The other complication is Doc, who falls in love with the new schoolmarm, Clara Clayton (Mary Steenburgen), and wants to stay in 1885.

That would mess up the space-time continuum so Marty has his hands full. But not to worry, in the best tradition of the romantic comedy, McFly winds his way through the old west, only occasionally stepping in horse droppings.

"Back to the Future Part III" is a fine comic film with a high entertainment quotient and an upbeat ending.

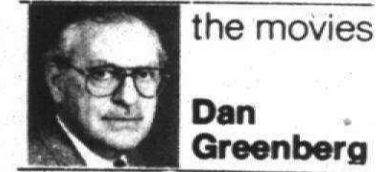

"Fire Birds" (C, PG-13, 81 minutes) was a fairly inspired marketing idea but it got produced as mediocre movie with obvious parallels to "Top Gun." This time out the arrogant, hotshot pilot, Jake Preston (Nicolas Cage), flies for the Navy. The bad guys are South American drug lords instead of communists and Blue is Doc Gutherie (Sean Young) is a pilot instead of a consultant like Kelly McGillis was.

Oh, and Phil Collins sings "I Will Follow You" instead of Berlin's "Every Breath You Take."

CHIEF WARRANT Officer Brad Little (Tommy Lee Jones) is fun to watch as an unflappable instructor who sees shades of himself in Jake Preston. It doesn't get any better.

Cage — a fine actor with a quirky list of credits, "Valley Girl," "Moonstruck" and "Vampire's Kiss" among them — isn't quite convincing as the ultra-confident Preston. Cage's considerable talent is lost in what appears to be a severe case of misdirection.

It's hard to figure Sean Young. She does a credible job with a one-dimensional character obviously cre-

In the long run, some exciting combat sequences designed by Richard T. Stevens save "Fire Birds" from the big crash and burn. Sadly, it's a little too little a little too late.

'Tie Me Up' renews dispute

By John Monaghan
special writer

Pedro Almodovar's "Tie Me Up, Tie Me Down" is a semi-successful twist on an off-film story. A lonely and resourceful psychopath, Ricky, holds a beautiful young woman, Marina, captive until she falls in love with him. (Remember "The Collector" or even "Beauty and the Beast")

For the popular Spanish director of "Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown," Ricky's request is not unusual. Almodovar's characters — whether they're drug-crazed nuns or transsexuals — are always hungry for love. And usually they end up finding it.

What bothers viewers — especially feminists — in "Tie Me Up" is the possible perpetuation of the myth that women enjoy being tied up to a bed. The moral content, more than a single hot-and-heavy sex scene, has caused the MPAA to refuse the film a rating.

MARINA is no virginial victim. She's an ex-porn star and a drug addict. Should this make her victimization less of a shock? The kidnapper has already had willing sex with Marina during a brief fling — that's hardly an issue here. He's simply fulfilling his promise to return someday and take care of her.

The main characters, played by Antonio Banderas and Victoria Abril, sustain the film. Marina joins the list of fascinating Almodovar women who can look both harsh and beautiful at the same time. Ricky, with his close-cropped haircut and whipped puppy face, is totally incapable of knowing how to begin a relationship.

Though "Tie Me Up" opens with a rather contrived effect where a painting fades to the opening shot, Almodovar does compose his scenes with a lively palette of colors. In one clever throwaway gag, Ricky and Marina watch a TV commercial for a retirement plan.

"The Germans know how to plan ahead," the commercial says, showing Nazi youths plotting a military offensive. Meanwhile, Spanish youths tango the night away, clenching flowers in their teeth. While the Germans now vacation in Spain, the ad contends, the native Spaniards are begging on the street corners.

THE MOVIE needs more inspired moments like this, along with some dynamic minor characters. The female drug seller who rides a motorbike and the wheelchair-bound movie director with a bullfighter's libido are too peripheral to the story.

The question remains: Does "Tie Me Up" satirize the messed-up macho male psyche, which can only obtain a woman through force and domination? Or is Ricky, caveman techniques aside, a sympathetic hero who breaks through the barriers of modern courtship?

With Almodovar, you're never quite sure. Moral ambiguity is one of the reasons why his films — even mediocre ones like this — are so fascinating.

"Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!" opened this past weekend at the Maple Theatre in Bloomfield.

The MGM/UA vaults aren't empty yet. Witness their May 23 release date for three musical titles never seen before on video cassette: "Boyz n the City," "Small Town Girl" and "Two Girls and a Sailor."

The first stars Eleanor Powell, James Stewart and Buddy Ebsen and was nominated for two Oscars — best dance and best song.

Who says Pay Wray only appeared in "King Kong"? She's featured in "Small Town Girl," along with Billie Burke and Chill Willis. Jane Powell, Farley Changer and Ann Miller star in "Boyz n the City," at $19.95 in Howard Hawks' original cut at 133 minutes.

John Wayne stars as Tom Dunson, a determined cattle king, determined to get his cattle up the trail. Walter Brennan, Jeanne Drue, John Ireland, Noah Berry, Jr. and Matthew Garth also are featured.

The four new titles are "Legend of the Lost" with John Wayne guiding Rossano Brazzi to find his father's grave and, you guessed it, long-lost treasure. Sophia Loren is a prostitute who has fun with both of them.

"The Wings of Eagles" gathers three gang-bus types together. John Ford directed this movie about Commander Frank Wead, daredevil Navy pilot, screenwriter and commander of a World War II aircraft carrier. Wead was Wayne's and Ford's friend.

ANOTHER JOHN Ford film, "Three Godfathers," and "Reason to Believe" are the other two John Wayne films new to video. As well, this release includes "Brannigan," "The Horse Soldiers" and "They Were Expendable." That ought to keep John Wayne fans quiet for a week.

If old is old and new is better — and your tastes for video aren't too demanding — Academy Entertainment does it again with two productions due on the racks May 31.

In "Thieves of Fortune" (R, color, 100 minutes) former Miss Universe Shawn Weatherly bares part of her body to prove to fierce Argentinian natives that she could change from man to woman. As a matter of fact, her disguise as a man to win Don Sergi Cristoforo's (Lee Van Cleef) $28 million fortune may have fooled the Indians but it shouldn't fool viewers with one eye open.

The best thing to be said for "Thieves of Fortune" is that Academy Entertainment is supporting the Rainforest Foundation with a percentage of sales from this title.

"Conspiracy" (R, color, 87 minutes) is a clone of "Scandal." It's advertised as based on a true story of a British minister and his sexual depravity which leads to difficulties just prior to a national election.

While there are overtones of the Profumo case and a fairly promising start, the whole project soon degenerates. Better writing and acting might have made this an effective commentary on power.

Both "Thieves of Fortune" and "Conspiracy" are like cheap candy. They're colorful enough at first and go down quite easily. But they leave a sickly sweet aftertaste and your teeth soon begin to ache.

Mol Triffid: Mystical and on the dark side

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Though he sits only a few feet across the table, one has to squint to see Kurt Serbus of Mol Triffid. Only part of that can be attributed to the lighting.

A mystical haze seems to surround the frontman of one of the bands in this area making the loudest noise. As Serbus sits in a dark corner of Club Heidelberg in Ann Arbor, he has the aura of a high plains drifter. Vultures should swirl overhead, tumbleweeds ought to be blowing through the club.

Perhaps Serbus knows something; he's just not letting on. Yes, that's it, he knows who killed Laura Palmer on TV's "Twin Peaks."

"We believe in taking peeks under rocks," said Serbus, who speaks in quiet, measured tones, a contrast to his apocalyptic yelps on stage. "Some bands would like to live under those rocks or pretend they do. We're not interested in that."

Mol Triffid is interested in making loud music. Mol Triffid is also interested in writing dark commentaries on the human condition. Put together, Mol Triffid is an interesting band.

With that, a person is handed a copy of the band's recently released 7-inch single. The song title says it all — "I Wanna See Pretty People Doin' Things."

ACCORDING TO Serbus, he envisioned a man in his living room with the lights out watching pornography when writing the number. He creates the character in the song, screaming out in glee what transpires on his TV. The scenario is rather pathetic, but it rhymes.

Music is handled by drummer

John Westerman, Sahjidak and Ball. Lyrics are Serbus' territory. The aforementioned trio composes the hard driving, metallic sound, and hands a tape over to Serbus. Then, Serbus writes the lines.

Said Ball, "There's no way of knowing how it's going to be. He is responsive to the music."

Ball and Sahjidak sit at another table across from Serbus. When the subject of influences comes up, Sahjidak mentions Jimi Hendrix and then looks over for Serbus' approval.

Some have compared Mol Triffid to Metallica, which band members disdain. The band formed in February 1989. Westerman, Ball and Sahjidak jammed together and auditioned a lead singer. Things didn't work out with the first one, so they asked a friend to join Serbus was the frontman of choice.

Serbus' talent to rhyme in time is traced back to his elementary school days in Brighton.

"WHEN I was in elementary school, I wrote a lot of poems," said Serbus, who has a bachelor's in film and video from the University of Michigan. "My proudest moment was in the fifth grade when they changed the name of the school from West Elementary to Lindomb Elementary after our principal and they asked me to write a poem about him."

"(Trying to recite a verse) 'He kissed the knees of those that were scraped,' or something like that. That's all I remember."

Serbus doesn't connect emotionally with those characters he creates. He prefers style disguised as substance.

On stage, Mol Triffid's style is a buzz saw of sight and sound. Opening recently for the San Francisco-based outfit, The Melvins, the band lit the wick for an explosive display with the burning guitar piece "Quack, Quack."

After Ball fires up his guitar Serbus lets loose with torrent of guttural screams. He sounds as if his tortured vocal chords will need a vat of Listerine to soothe after the show.

The fact Serbus performed a 15-hour show the night before at Club Soda in Kalamazoo make this night's performance even more remarkable.

SERBUS is only part of Mol Triffid machine. Westerman on drums, Ball on guitar and Sahjidak on bass create a metal sound as loud as two garbage trucks scraping bumpers in a back alley.

The sound isn't accompanied by a look. Unlike many metal outfits, Mol Triffid is not a hair band and the only leather they have is probably their wallets.

Aesthetically, Mol Triffid has something to offer.

"We do have artistic intentions," Ball said. "We are out to make a well-crafted piece of music."

Mol Triffid will set out for an East Coast tour in June. The band's single is receiving considerable air play on Windsor's WAM-FM and the University of Michigan's WCBN-FM.

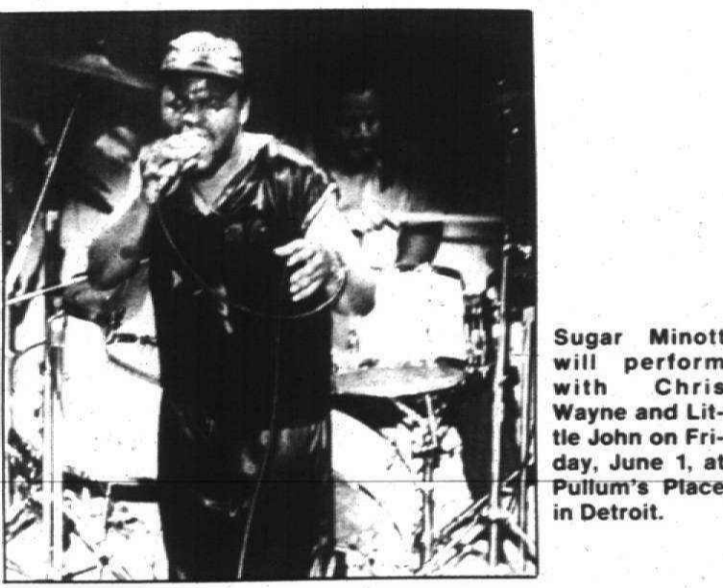

Like all bands, the No. 1 priority is to get to the top of the heap. Unlike many bands, though, its vision is not always a pretty one.

"We're not a gloom band," Sahjidak said. "We make music that makes you think and makes you laugh."

Mol Triffid will perform on Tuesday, May 22, at the Blind Pig, 208 S. First. Ann Arbor. For information, call 996-8555.

BASEBALL'S GREATEST HITS II

— various artists

It's a new season... and a new baseball compilation album from the folks at Rhino Records.

"Baseball's Greatest Hits: Let's Play It" is a follow-up to last year's popular baseball and music compilation. But as the 1985 Tigers could tell you, sequels can be disappointing.

The highlight in No. 2 is Thelma Houston's sassy "Steal on Home," the theme from the vastly underrated baseball film "Bingo Long's Travelling All Stars and Motor Kings."

This time, however, poems, interviews and spoken word recitations (none, thankfully, by George Will) share equal space with the music.

Tiger fans will be glad to hear the voice of beloved broadcaster Ernie Harwell on "The Game for All America," an essay he wrote for The Sporting News some 35 years ago. The voice of former Yankees manager Casey Stengel, captured on tape during a Senate hearing, reminds us where a certain white-haired wordsmith called Sparky got most of his material.

But most of the rest of the material here is fairly thin, with the exception of "Heart" from the "Damn Yankees" soundtrack and Peter Paul and Mary's "Right Field," written from a child's perspective, about the thrilling moment when the ball finally sticks in your glove.

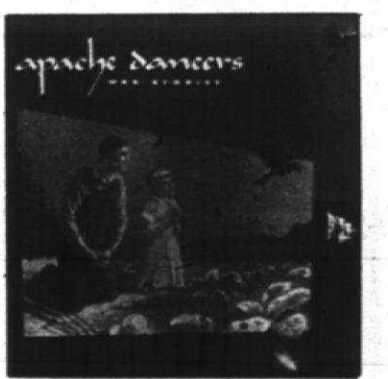

Still, there's room for improvement. Where's the theme from "The Natural," where's John Fogerty's "Centerfield," where, for that matter, is Chuck Berry's "Brown Eyed Handsome Man" (... rounding third and headed for home...)?

Oh well, wait'll next year.

WAR STORIES

— Apache Dancers

Tom Durbin and Bernadette Colomine are the most unlikely duet since Eddie Albert and Eva Gabor teamed up for "The Theme From Green Acres."

Actually, the Durbin-Colomine combo is like the Albert-Gabor combo in that it puts together a down home country boy with a glamorous woman from another land. Durbin sings with a heavy country and western drawl and Colomine sings mostly in a foreign language that seems to be French. "Il est souvent au lit" — that's French, right?

Remembering your high school French classes will come in handy interpreting many of the song lyrics and titles like "Je n'ai pas de personne on Harley Davidson" (I kissed a person on a Harley Davidson? I love a person on a Harley Davidson? I am a Harley Davidson? ... Your translations are welcome).

Durbin sounds like his hero, Hank Williams. He has that same sort of shaky-twangy-young-man-reaching-puberty indescribable Williams catch in his voice. Why folks, there's even a song on the album called "I Dreamed of Hank Williams."

Durbin's wailing fits strangely well with Colomine's mysterious French murmurings. The end result sounds something like Timbuk 3 — upbeat, fresh and full of jangly guitars.

The title "War Stories" refers to the little battles of living that each person faces. As Durbin puts it in the title track, "One more day, one more war."

Odd as it may sound, the strange French phrases will come in handy interpreting many of the song lyrics and titles like "Je n'ai pas de personne on Harley Davidson" (I kissed a person on a Harley Davidson? I love a person on a Harley Davidson? I am a Harley Davidson? ... Your translations are welcome).

SONGS FOR DRELLA

— Lou Reed and John Cale

Depending on the humor you are in, or the level to which your charity extends, this release contains the legendary Lou Reed and John Cale paying respects and tribute to the notorious, and late, Andy Warhol. Or alternatively it contains the legendary etc. etc. exercising their guilt about losing contact with the aforementioned Mr. Warhol before he died.

This work was commissioned by The Brooklyn Academy of Music to pay tribute to Andy Warhol and being that he was instrumental in the rise to fame/infamy of the Velvet Underground, there seemed nobody more suited to the cause than that band's founder-members, Cale and Reed.

What they present is a mish-mash of both role-playing songs, where the singer plays Warhol and discusses his feelings and observation songs where their comments about Warhol and his thoughts are revealed.

Musically, it is somewhat akin to Reed's fine 1989 "New York" album with Cale's atmospheric piano and violin thrown in for good measure. In this context the music does take a back seat, although there are some fine melodies, given the nature of the project, the lyrics must command more attention.

Here we find the strengths and/or weakness.

We listen to Cale/Reed's interpretation of the what was going through Warhol's mind at certain points in time and it takes on the fascination of a People magazine type inside scoop from those "who know." Enquiring minds, after all...

Whatever the drawbacks of the sometimes pretentious and sometimes overly sentimental "Songs for Drella" does hold a certain fascination for anybody with an interest in any of the involved.

Reed, Cale or Warhol.

FEAR & LOAFING

Water on the brain

Have you paved your lawn yet? Notice I didn't say "mow" your lawn or "fertilize" your lawn. That was what you used to do, back before the Great Drought of 1990.

What's that? You haven't heard of the drought yet? Listen, it's been so dry in southern California that residents of Santa Barbara have been forbidden to water their lawns since February.

Plenty. In desperation, city officials are proposing to import water from Canada in barges, or ship it in from Colorado by train. However, the most popular plan is to run a pipeline to Lake Michigan and siphon off the Great Lakes.

Now I know what you're thinking. You're thinking that selling our precious water supply to California would kill millions of fish and animals, destroy tourism, turn our farmlands into a giant dust bowl and make Michigan uninhabitable for humans.

But isn't that reaction a little selfish? PLEASE, CONSIDER what's at stake: Those folks with the year-round tans are in a desperate situation — their azalians are wilting! No wonder they are resorting to drastic measures.

According to authorities, hundreds of upset residents are actually spraying their brown lawns with green paint (I'm not making this up). Others have replaced their dearly departed grass with slabs of green concrete. Obviously, this is not the mellow, laid-back lifestyle they risk earthquakes for.

AS OUR WATER table is pumped dry to irrigate Disneyland, lawns will burn up under the hot sun. When the suburbs are nothing but strips of scorched earth, a green lawn will be the ultimate status symbol.

New pickup lines will be heard at the singles' bar. "Hey, good lookin', can I buy you a drink of water? How'd you like to run your fingers through my lush, thick lawn?"

Anyways, there is one bright side to the defoliation of the former Water Wonderland.

You won't have to drive all the way across the state to see the Sleepy Bear Dunes. They'll be right outside your door.

STREET SENSE

Don't let her 'sink or swim'

Dear Barbara, I never write these kind of letters, but my husband and I do disagree with each other on this issue. I need some objective input.

My daughter, who is a high school senior, had been dating the same boy exclusively for about a year. My husband and I both liked him. When he asked for a college recommendation to a school that my husband has some pull at, my husband wrote it.

The boy was quickly accepted. However, by the time he was accepted, he had broken up with my daughter. She is devastated. She was also accepted at the same school. However, she had not shown any eagerness for attending it until she knew he was going. Of the colleges my daughter was accepted to, this is the best one. It is a large school.

Now the difference of opinion! My husband says we should not allow our daughter to go to the college that her ex-boyfriend is at. He says this would make her first year away at school harder than it needs to be. She is immature and will need to concentrate to make grades. But I still say that we must let her go to the school that can offer her the best education. Of course, I wish now that that strong recommendation for the boy had not been written. But it was, and we are stuck with the consequences.

Due to my daughter's own problems, any college setting will be difficult situations. So she will have to attend the school that her ex-boyfriend is attending.

However, I do not agree that you should let her "sink or swim" on her own. Because of her liabilities, on which you and your husband agree, she needs therapeutic support. At the onset of this column, I stated a policy of not recommending psychological therapy. However, it was naive of me to think that I could keep that promise. I find that in some cases, it is the only responsible advice that can be given. That is true here. If the suggestion that best maximizes your daughter's chances for success.

You and your husband can also try to help your daughter with her problems. Explain to her that this love affair is "puppy love." Adolescents need to go through many, from happy beginning to sad end, as a normal part of their growth experience. She may be helped to put the experience into a normal reference by knowing that it is another part of the maturational process.

Sailing skippers find challenge in interlake racing

Last year, some 100 novice sailors completed land and water AYH instruction offered in the spring and fall at Livonia's Schoolcraft College and three additional locations. The program also maintains 11 boats at Kent Lake and another two at Stony Creek Lake in Rochester.

"We pretty much have our hands full," Pitts said of the program, the largest offered nationally by AYH.

"IT'S PURIST RACING," said Keith Helfrich in describing a typical interlake race. Helfrich, of Birmingham, has been racing two years as a crew member, one of three required on each boat. He holds a skipper rating but is not yet certified as a racing skipper.

"Starting, it's critical, or you're out from the beginning," he said. "Strategy, if you don't have strategy down, you're just reacting and at a disadvantage. The finishing leg. Very infrequently can you point to a spot and get directly there."

The race begins at an imaginary line, signaled by a flare a minute or so before the start. The race normally includes a course run twice around three buoys.

Each turn requires new strategy. Wind direction is essential in figuring the number of sails in order to maximize speed and when to tack. "I'm always amazed how extremely sensitive (the sloop) is to minor wind changes," Helfrich said. "A drop in wind or a slight change in direction changes everything."

Each race, he added, is a singularly intense experience. "You're very involved, from beginning to end," he said.

Golden, a veteran racer who won last year's seasonal competition, said it took nine years of racing "to fit everything" into a winning combination. "Winning is rewarding because a lot of sweat and work go into a race," he said. "It requires confidence."

His biggest reward, however, it teaching others and watching them derive pleasure from the experience.

Jim Wiggins: The '60s revisited

By Pat Schutte staff writer

Remember the '60s? The sights of Woodstock, demonstrations and long hair? The sounds of Hendrix, Joplin and Morrison? The smells of pot, incense and tear gas?

If so — or if not — "experience" Jim Wiggins at the Mainstreet Comedy Showcase in Ann Arbor this weekend. Wiggins, 48, who bills himself as "The Last Hippie in America," is a walking, joking, reflecting billboard of the era that brought us the Beatles, banned the bra, told us to make love, not war, and to "tune in, turn on, and drop out."

Chicago born and raised, during the '60s Wiggins was running an air conditioning and heating business, and having to deal with all of the Archie Bunkers of the world, "when he decided to join the movement."

Chicago born and raised, during the '60s Wiggins was running an air conditioning and heating business, and having to deal with all of the Archie Bunkers of the world, "when he decided to join the movement."

Wiggins hooked up with the Second City Comedy School in Chicago, and along with some school chums, formed an odd-choic troupe that represented the Chicago nightclub "Dirty Nellie's."

While touring the Midwest, Wiggins met his mentor, George Carlin. It was Carlin that convinced Wiggins to move to L.A.

"In 1976 we sold our company moved to L.A. bought an old burned out warehouse and converted it into a rooming house for comedians," said Wiggins, who is widowed with five children — four boys and one girl.

"All of 'em spent time at Wigg's Place on Whiteley in downtown Hollywood. You always knew that you could stop and get a meal, a joint, and a room."

SOME OF the more notable characters that spent the night at Wigg's Place include Richard Pryor, Robin Williams, Jay Leno and David Letterman. And Wiggins' daughter, according to her dad, "was conceived there and was also delivered there in front of 25 comedians."

Once based in Hollywood, Wiggins began to write comedy material for the television medium, which included "The Gong Show," "Captain and Tennille Show" and for David Letterman.

Then, in 1982, Wiggins decided that he and his family would trek across the country, from L.A. to Washington, D.C. in a Ford van, and collect questions from everyday people to give to then-president Ronald Reagan.

"Mr. Wiggins goes to Washington," joked Wiggins of his journey. "We gathered 1000 questions and messince I was 13," said Wiggins. "I've got seven headbands that match seven shirts, seven pairs of socks and seven pairs of underwear... one for each day of the week. I am who I say I am and I'm damn funny."

Wiggins is actually like a comedy time capsule. He's seen Lenny Bruce in his heyday, written with Carlin, ran comedy clubs when they first opened up in the 1970s, worked stand-up through the '80s, and has his own ideas on what will show up in the '90s.

"Lenny Bruce said things in the '60s that people didn't agree with and he was arrested," said Wiggins. "Andrew Dice Clay says things in the '90s that people don't agree with and he's a millionaire. The '70s paved the way for the '80s, and the "Never own more than you can carry," said Wiggins. "I've got a suitcase and a shoulder bag, everything I need for the next 18 years."

Picture him Long, gray, stringy hair pulled back by a colored handkerchief, a watch with a crystal and no hands on it, bell-bottom jeans, a long john shirt, granny glasses, a rainbow-colored scarf that sits atop a leather vest, all standing atop a pair of cowboy boots.

Earth shoes yes, but cowboy boots? "I've been wearing these clothes

'80s gave us a bunch of show-off's that would do anything for a laugh."

"I SEE THE '90s going back to '60s style comedy. Good comedians will investigate politics, ecological matters, and race relations to relate to all humans."

The way in which Wiggins gathers his material for his show is unique in comparing him to other comedians. "After a show, I'll stand by the door and make friends with people from the audience," said Wiggins. "I'll come up with something new after every show."

Obviously, much of Wiggins' material is born from the '60s era. "If you want to know what the '60s were like," he said, "put on Pink Floyd's 'Dark Side of the Moon,' light up a joint and kick back with the headphones on."

The key element of the show, though, is Wiggins' observations on man and woman, or to Wiggins, "man and WOOAAH-MAN."

"The basis of my material is the absolute genius that's called woman," he said. "I think Bush listens to his wife and goes to work the next day and tells everybody how it will be. Women fascinate me... they're our greatest resource."

So what is a hippie these days? What does a hippie eat? What does a hippie stand for? "I eat yogurt, tuna and veggies and drink mineral water," said Wiggins. "And I drive a Ford Taurus."

A TAURUS? Aren't hippies supposed to drive Volkswagens micro-buses? "No micro-bus... they don't pass what a poop," he said.

As far as what a hippie stands for these days, Wiggins had this to say: "A hippie is someone who can make a difference... we stopped a war, fired a president, and liberated women. You have to be brave enough and stupid enough to do it."

Golfers, if you're going to play, play . . .

The Bear

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

If you're going to play The Bear, designed by Jack Nicklaus at Grand Traverse Village in Acme, better spend some time at the driving range.

That's because tee shots that stray from the terraced fairways end up in rough below on either side. From there, you could be hitting the ball from a nasty side hill, thanks to mounds scattered throughout the course.

The layout — 7,065 yards from the championship tees, 6,176 from the men's tees and 5,281 from the ladies' tees — also demands high, well-placed iron shots.

That's because several greens are guarded by lipped sand traps or water.

Come to think of it, The Bear also demands well-planned approach putts, as some of the large, slick greens are two-tiered.

The Bear can rear up and bite. But while Nicklaus' course design will challenge anybody, it's not so tough that an average golfer can't make a few pars.

Take the case of a humble writer, whose chip-in birdie attempt died on the lip of the cup on the 352-yard No. 1 hole, leaving a tap-in for a par 4.

Never mind what he shot the rest of the way.

It's one tough, varied golf course, and you better bring a lot of golf balls. But while your score will likely take a beating, the hazards and other design features are a treat to experience, not a chamber of horrors to endure.

The Bear will test your ability to judge the limits of your own game. And you'll be more entertained than beaten down.

LIKE THE Legend at nearby Shanty Creek, The Bear was opened for play in 1985. The Nicklaus course has attracted more tournament play to date, including the annual AAA Michigan Open and the Ameritech Senior Open, scheduled for July 16-22.

While The Legend — carved out of dense woods near Lake Bellaire — may edge out the The Bear for natural beauty, the Nicklaus course has a more varied topography. There are wooded holes, water holes and wide-open holes where the wind whips in off of Grand Traverse Bay.

"One of Nicklaus' ideas or trademarks are the mounds on the course," notes Roger Putman, one of the golf coordinators for the resort.

While some in golf course design favor a traditional approach that says don't mess with the natural lay of the land, Nicklaus is known for not being shy about using bulldozers to augment an interesting layout.

Some of the most striking holes on The Bear combine natural beauty with a little bulldozer action. Among the best examples of this approach is the par-3 No. 4, 143 yards from the men's tees.

Upon surveying the scene from an elevated tee, one notices maples and poplars bordering on the right and scrubby growth in a wetland that angles from left of the tee area to right of the green.

The wetland gives way to water just in front of the green, which suggests using one more club than normal.

"THIS IS the one the Michigan pros probably complain about the most, because of the narrowness of the green," Putman said.

And just behind that narrow, oblong green are bulldozer-created mounds. That means if the tee shot is strong, a tricky pitch or chip will be needed to save par.

Hit that shot too softly and you're still mired in mounds. Hit it too hard and you're in the water just off the front edge of the green.

A flat ball drop area sits just left of the putting surface. From there, the golfer who leaves a tee shot in the water or wetlands has a simple chip or pitch, and a good chance to make bogey.

This is a recent addition. "The course has been set up to be a little easier these days from the men's tees to accommodate the higher handicappers," Putman said.

No. 5, a 376-yard par-4 from the men's tees, is also bordered by wetlands to the right, and a stream on the left. That stream empties into a large pond which guards the front of the green. It's a medium-length par 4, but an accurate tee and fairway shot are required to avoid a splash.

To two-putt this green is also a challenge, because it's two-tiered.

BECAUSE THERE are 63 sand traps on The Bear, one tends not to think as much of the water — but there are 10 holes with water hazards.

Adding to the beauty of the course are several cherry trees and a shadowing effect caused by the mounds, terraced fairways and grass-sided bunkers.

Other standout holes include the par-3 No. 9, 142 yards from the men's tees and surrounded by water on three sides. Water also comes into play on 10 and 11, and on No. 12. Here, a pond sits 270 yards from the men's tee, then continues along the right side of the green on this 361-yard par four.

Water and sand guard the front of the 141-yard par-3 13th. It's an especially pretty hole, as the player hits to the T-shaped green from a tee area bordered by maple trees.

The 472-yard par-5 third hole of The Bear challenges golfers with a dogleg to the right.

The Legend

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Whoa!

That's a normal reaction to one's first look at The Legend golf course, nestled among the poplars, pines and evergreens at the Shanty Creek-Schuss Mountain resort just northwest of Traverse City in Bellaire, Mich.

You'll likely have the same reaction upon spotting the tree-lined fairways that follow. Many are viewed from some of the highest elevated tee areas in the state.

When Arnold Palmer was the toast of the PGA tour in the late '50s and early '60s, they called the legions of fans that followed him from hole to hole "Arnie's Army."

In contrast to the more solemn, business-like Jack Nicklaus, Palmer was known for his charging style — hitting a driver off the fairway to reach a par-five green in two, or boldly aiming for the flagstick with a long iron, ignoring disaster posed by a gaping bunker or water hazard.

The Legend, designed by Palmer at Shanty Creek and opened for play in 1985, embodies that touch of boldness Palmer is known for.

For sheer natural beauty, this 18-hole layout is hard to beat. From those elevated tees, golfers are treated to sweeping vistas of woodlands and the rich blue of Lake Bellaire.

And this is just in spring. This course must be a real knockout in autumn.

The second hole, a 303-yard par-4 from the blue tees, reverses the trend toward elevated tees. That's because a player must hit 200 yards over a scrubby, rocky chasm, to reach an elevated fairway.

THAT IS possibly the most demanding shot on the course. But occasional golfers should know that The Legend is well-suited to their games.

Compared to The Bear, there are fewer sand traps surrounding greens. And few of Palmer's traps are lipped, like those designed by Nicklaus at The Bear. This means that on several holes one can roll a ball onto the green from the fairway, whereas The Bear often demands that the player drop fairway or pitch shots directly on the green.

To get to the Legend from the pro shop, players must take carts down a winding path and through a tunnel under Shanty Creek road. Upon re-entering daylight, one spots a sloping hill to the left where "The Legend" logo is spelled out on a hillside.

Corny? Nah. It just heightens the expectation for what's to come.

The first hole is representative of the entire course. It has an elevated tee area — actually, four separate tee areas, black, blue, white and red. From the black tees, the course is 6,764 yards and rated at 73.5 (par is 72).

The blue and white tees are for golfers of more average ability. The course plays at 6,269 from the toughest blues, and 5,801 from the whites. The Legend is 4,953 from the red, or ladies' tees.

WHILE THE notion of plenty of trees may scare occasional golfers — 70s shooters too — know that fairways are generally wide, and flanked by several yards of not-too-deep rough, making The Legend playable for all.

Water doesn't come into play until the sixth hole, where a small pond sits in the right rough more than 200 yards from the blue tees on this 370-yard par-4.

Ah, but water comes more into play on No. 7. It's a par-5 dog-leg left, 474 yards from the blue tees. It's the No. 1 handicap hole, the toughest on the course.

A lake on the right encourages slicers to keep left on their tee shots. And the boulder-lined, swift running Shanty Creek gurgles about 20 yards from the seventh green. If your approach clears the creek, it can still end up in a sand trap that guards the front edge of the green.

The front nine is the most beautiful of The Legend's two nines. The earlier mentioned vista of woods and water come into play on the third tee and green, and the No. 4 green.

As a writer and photographer recently rhapsodized on the beauty of the course while leaving that green, they swung their cart through a wooded area to behold the most beautiful hole of all — No. 5, a 380-yard par-4, dog-leg left.

HERE, THE tee areas are carved into the upper reaches of a tall hill. It's possibly the highest elevated tee in Michigan.

They were moved to tee it up from the highest tee, the blacks, and both knocked drives about 330 yards out into the fairway below.

Never mind how they did the rest of the way.

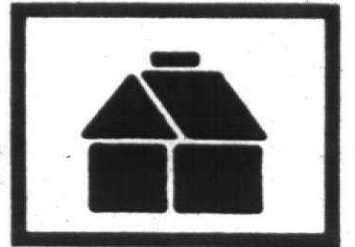

The back nine opens in grand fashion with the 370-yard (blues) par-4 No. 10. Here, the player hits from another high, elevated tee. The fairway is cut into a hill sloping down to the left — a little scary for those who hook the ball.

Boulders outline the terraced, elevated tee areas on No. 12, a 156-yard (blues) par-3, with a trap on the right, water and woods on the left, and the largest green on The Legend.

Number 13, a 529-yard par-5 (blues), takes three long shots to reach the green. And that third shot is uphill. The course closes with No. 18, a 461-yard (blues) par-5. It's a dog-leg left with more trees and some fairway traps.

Respect nets good animal shots

By Jill Hamilton
special writer

Photographers don't get intimate pictures of animals like the ones shown here by standing close to the animal.

Most professionals take wildlife photos from their cars or from a great distance away, said professional wildlife photographer Chuck Bartlebaugh of Bloomfield Hills.

To emphasize his point, he held up the lens he normally uses. It is a 400mm lens that weighs 18 pounds.

"This can get pretty heavy when you're climbing up in the mountains."

Heavy, but necessary.

"PEOPLE SEE these pictures and think they can get close."

Not so. Often an amateur photographer getting too close is what causes an animal, such as a bear, to attack.

Attacks are not caused by vicious bears, but by humans who don't know the rules of the forest.

"Bears basically leave people alone. I know of no unprovoked attacks. Most are caused by animals defending their young or food source. People have got to remember that they are intruding in a bear's 'house.'"

BARTLEBAUGH FEELS so strongly about teaching would-be wildlife photographers that he formed the Center for Wildlife Information, a group dedicated to teaching photo ethics.

"We're not here to tell people what not to do, we tell them what to do. We want to teach people how to teach others."

The group formed officially in 1988 when a group of animal photographers met in a rustic bar in Montana. They decided to research how people made mistakes when dealing with animals.

FOR THIS, they developed an "unorthodox, unapproved and unofficial" research team in which members went out to national parks and observed how humans interacted with animals.

Their fears were confirmed — they found the humans to be full of misconceptions about how to interact with animals.

"They were nice people. They appeared to have an above average income, some were members of the Sierra Club, they seemed to be college educated."

But not educated in how to deal with animals.

"Some of the guys tried to be macho and get as close as possible to the animals. We saw people trying to put their kids on a buffalo."

Not smart. Contrary to popular belief, the most dangerous animal isn't the bear, it's the buffalo.

TO CLEAR up this sort of misconception, Bartlebaugh is trying several tactics to educate the public. He recently spoke at the University of Montana's International Wildlife Film Festival.

The center has developed all types of promotional material — everything from slide shows and bumper stickers to placemats designed to teach others how to photograph animals.

Bears frolic in the cool water in this picture taken by wildlife photographer Chuck Bartlebaugh.

Close up and personal with a bear.

But, perhaps his most effective teaching method is the sticker about photo ethics that he attaches to the back of each of his pictures.

It says, in part, "All of us share the responsibility for our own safety and for that of the animals when we observe them."

In a time when photographers proportionally outnumber the animal subjects, this is sage advice indeed.

For more information, write to the Center for Wildlife Information, P.O. Box 885, Bloomfield Hills 48303, or call 338-2924.

organizing
Dorothy Lehmkuhl

Unsightly stacks can be organized

Q: Two weeks ago you wrote about putting papers in binders, but that's too complicated. I still don't like filing papers, though. Isn't there a way to organize my stacks?

A: While I don't recommend them, there are several ways to organize piles effectively. If you have large flat areas you can designate spots for specific types of papers. Action items might be piled on the corner of a desk, pending items in a stack next to those, etc. You will find this gobbles up lots of space and collects dust in a hurry, however, and unless you're careful, it looks messy.

For piles of single papers, introduce file folders gradually into the piles. If you have several similar papers — say article clippings — label a folder "Articles" (with a category such as Health or Organizing, if possible) and slip those into the folder as you look for other things. Most of your stack will at least become grouped into topics.

Horizontal slots might help you. You can buy expensive desktop organizers with horizontal spaces that will provide four to 24 blocks to hold different sizes of papers. An inexpensive version of the same idea would be nine-compartment cardboard shoe organizers, which hold letter size papers nicely and can be stacked.

Each slot can be labeled for categories of papers. These would be the same subjects as would use for vertical files such as bills to pay, current events, decisions to be made, copies to make, seminars to attend, etc. One or more slots could be designated for stationery or other supplies.

Frequently used papers can be kept in slots at your work station, with less frequently used items in a more remote location. Tax returns from years past should not be retained in the same place as current financial papers, for instance. Dividers may also be placed in different locations according to where work is done. One set might be kept near a computer and others in an adjoining office, while work done regularly at home could be kept there. Remember to purge outdated papers regularly.

While certainly not ideal, the advantages of this system will appeal to certain people. It is informal, unpretentious, visible and unimposing. Storage is instant with no "laborious" steps to follow such as opening file drawers, finding appropriate files, etc. Most importantly, it allows horizontal piling — in an organized manner.

You can order Dorothy Lehmkuhl's "Organizing — Volume No. 1" booklet of her first 52 columns by sending a long self-addressed envelope with 65 cents postage and a $5 check to Organizing Techniques, 6165 Worthington, Birmingham 48010.

Safety rules for animal photography

The Center for Wildlife Information says the following bears are the most dangerous: Cute, friendly bears that appear to be completely disinterested in you; a sow with cubs; a bear with fresh kill; and a bear habituated to human food and no longer able to feed itself naturally.

How do professional photographers get such great photos? The Center for Wildlife Information says: By using captive and conditioned animals; photographing in specially controlled areas; traveling into the back country; and using a very strong telephoto lens and patience.

The Center for Wildlife Information offers the following tips for photographing animals:

- Remain alert to potential danger in spite of your attempt for the perfect photo;
- Maintain a distance of no less than 500 to 1,000 feet to avoid provocation;
- Never surprise a bear or other animal, retreat at any sign of stress or danger;
- Use a 400 mm or longer lens. Avoid direct contact with animals, even through the lens;
- Don't crouch or take a stance that may resemble an aggressive animal;
- Don't follow or chase an animal;
- Don't make animal sounds or walls to attract an animal's attention;
- Don't crowd or surround an animal;

- Stay out of dense brush;
- Don't approach or walk in the direction of an animal, this may be interpreted as aggressive behavior and the animal may respond by charging.

Benefit staged for homeless at Villa Fantasia

There are luxury houses, then there are luxury houses.

James D. Compo, a Farmington Hills builder, has constructed a house in the Pheasant Hills Subdivision of Northville with features most of us wouldn't dream of.

For openers, there's 6,350 square feet of living space. And a fully insulated 4 1/2-car garage.

But that's just the basics. Other elements include:

- A swimming pool and spa in an indoor garden room.
- A lower-level media room with stereo surround sound, a separate recreation room and an additional workout room/sauna with ballet bar.
- A kitchen with an octagonal cathedral nook and three ovens including a micro-convection unit.
- An oak paneled library.
- Four bedrooms including a master suite of nearly 700 square feet.
- Five full bathrooms.
- Five fireplaces.

DREAM about such luxury? You can see it Tuesday through Thursday in a benefit Compo is sponsoring to aid the homeless in metro Detroit.

Tickets for the semi-formal parties, 7-10 p.m. each evening, are $30 per person and include a tour, hors d'oeuvres, non-alcoholic punch and musical entertainment.

Proceeds will be distributed to the Pontiac Area Transitional Housing program.

Janet Compo, chief executive officer of the family building company, planned on the benefit long before the Villa Fantasia model was finished.

"I've been concerned about the homelessness issue all along," she said. "We wanted to get involved through the builder's association, but on a personal basis as well."

PATH IS renovating an apartment building to provide temporary housing for single mothers with children, Compo said. Child care will be available so the adults can learn job skills and, after a couple of years, move to more permanent housing.

Rent will be charged, but subsidies might be available, Compo said. The opening is targeted for fall.

There's another educational purpose to the PATH program more directly related to housing.

"So much of public housing has deteriorated because people are moving in without any idea how to care for it," Compo said.

Compo's benefit will supplement other efforts to assist the homeless.

"They got a tremendous amount of volunteer labor and material, to help keep the program going, but they need more (money) for job training and administration," she said.

THE VILLA FANTASIA model probably will sell in the range of $850,000 to $900,000, Compo said. A couple of potential purchasers already have expressed interest.

Who would buy such a large, expensive house?

"A top-line executive in a company," Compo said. "In Pheasant Hills, we have a lot of people who own their own business. It's surprising what some people can afford. I'm always amazed."

Compo said she's especially proud of the energy features of the model including a 97-percent efficient furnace, R-27 insulation in walls on the main floor, R-35 on lower level walls, R-38 in cathedral ceilings and R-44 everywhere else.

The higher the R factor, the more energy efficient the house.

Compo cited other extras in the house she finds especially attractive, including an oak paneled telephone booth with a leaded glass door, window and separate stereo system.

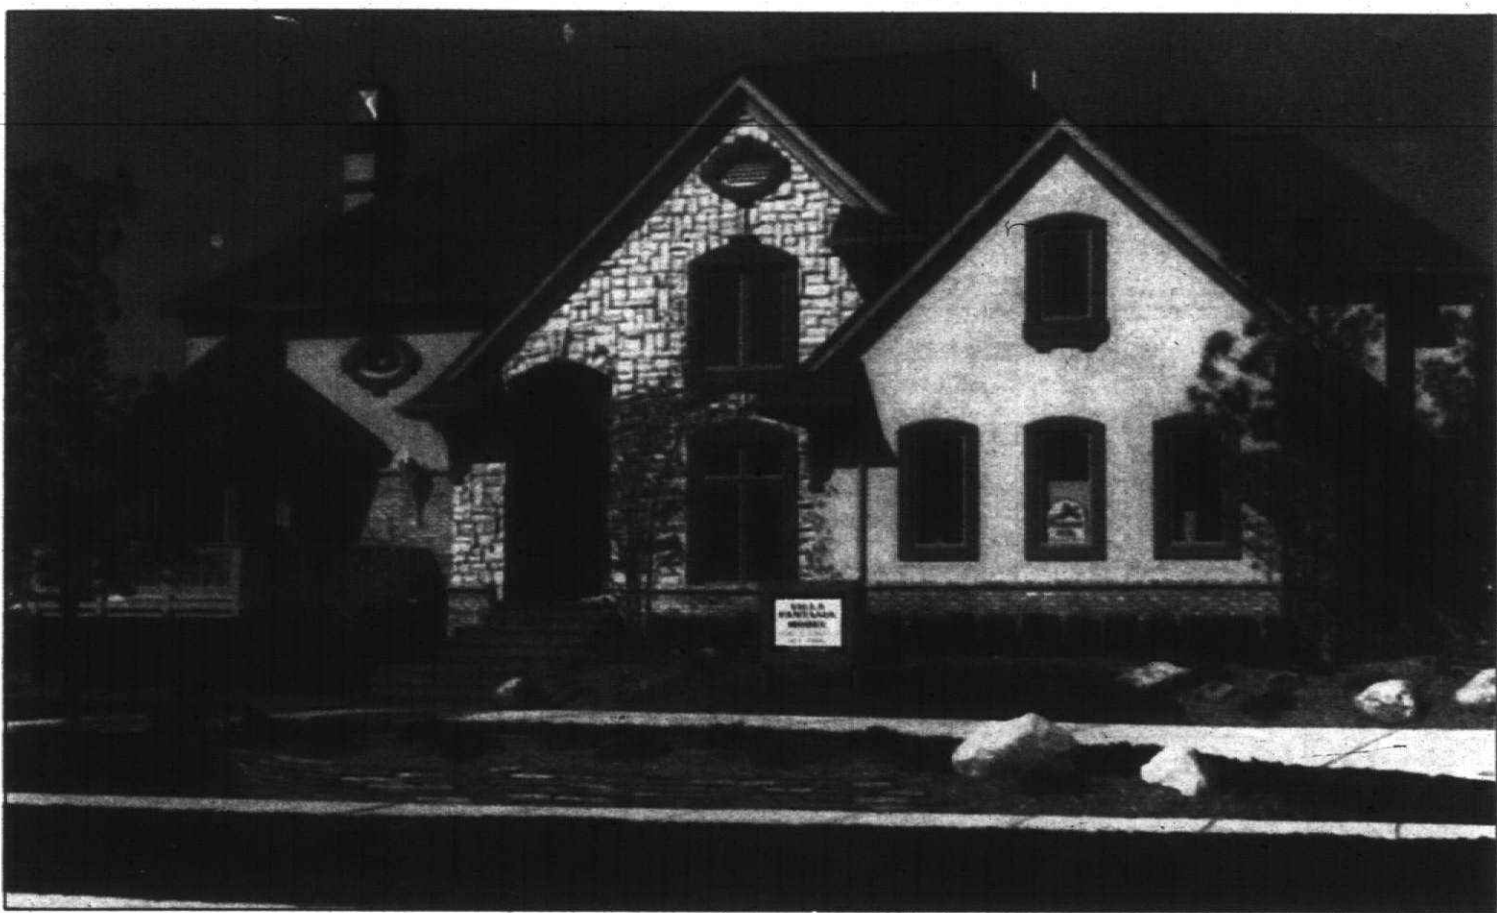

"My son, Chris, had a lot to do with it," she said. "When you have teenagers in the home, they can tuck themselves in — so can mom and dad — and use the phone without interruption."

"We have an aquarium built into the wall in the lower level. That was an interest expressed by customers."

"You just have to see them," Compo said of other extras. "That's why it's called Villa Fantasia."

Tickets for the semi-formal parties are available at the model in the Pheasant Hills Subdivision north of Andover, north of Eight Mile just west of Taft.

Tours of the model also will be offered 1-5 p.m. weekdays and 1-7 p.m. weekends through the month of June. The $5 per person admission fee also will be directed to PATH.

Villa Fantasia, a 6,350-square-foot house with an indoor pool, sauna, library, recreation room, four bedrooms, five baths and five fireplaces, will be open for semi-formal parties and public tours to raise funds for a homeless housing program.

Revise documents now or pay later

We are interviewing a prospective management company who promises that the principal of the management firm will be at the site to attend all of our meetings of the board. Is there anyway that I can guarantee that promise since I have had experiences in the past where that has not worked.

condo queries

Robert M. Meisner

Simply put, merely provide a provision in the management agreement between the association and the agent to the effect that the principal of the management company must appear at the meetings of the board of directors as a condition precedent to the continuation of the management agreement, except in the case of emergencies and/or excusable circumstances. That will insure that the management company will have a legal incentive to comply with its obligations as promised to you. In fact, any extraordinary promises exacted from the management company should be confirmed in writing in the management agreement.

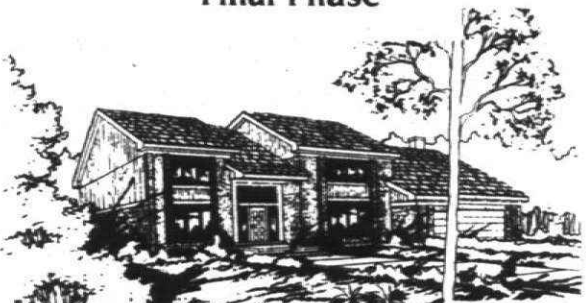

We are a small condominium project that does not have a current set of condominium documents and has not really had any problems. One of the board members, however, thinks that we should get a new set of condominium documents because we always seem to have one malcontent who doesn't pay their assessments timely. How can I convince the rest of the board to get the documents amended?

Tell the board that their failure to amend the condominium documents may result in them spending literally thousands of dollars in legal fees trying to establish their right to collect assessments, attorney fees and costs under the condominium documents which were inartfully drafted 20 years ago. This may help to convince miniums, by writing Robert M. Meisner, 30200 Telegraph Road, Suite 467, Birmingham 48010.

Prospective buyers state preferences

Professional Builder magazine polled 814 people nationwide who plan to buy new houses in the next six months and asked what they require in their next dwelling. Here's what they said:

- Increase the size of the family areas, like the kitchen and family room, and add closet space.
- Of those polled, 42.8 percent favor single-level homes; 29.7 percent give the nod to two-story houses.
- Detached houses are favored by 85 percent. Those favoring attached housing favor townhouses.
- Energy-saving features and quality of construction ranks tops in concern, and buyers want formal guarantees.

- Houses with three or more bedrooms are preferred.
- Two-car garages are preferred by 61.1 percent.
- Buyers want at least two bathrooms, regardless the house's price range.
- Traditional architectural style is the top selection: Regionally, West Coast and New England house buyers lean toward contemporary style.
- Most buyers want to eat in a separate dining room, but they also want eating space in the kitchen.
- Brick is the overall favorite exterior finish. Regionally, New Englanders like wood shakes; the West Coast likes stucco.

- Most buyers would trade lot size for upgraded amenities.
- When the choice is size or amenities, buyers of detached houses want more size. Condo buyers want amenities.

A Note from Herman Frankel

After 39 years of building homes, I've learned that it is impossible to forecast when any particular home will sell, but I've seen many disappointed people who missed the home that they thought would be there when they were ready.

Simsbury's first phase is now almost complete. This is the last time we will be able to offer all of our most popular models because we are down to 1 availability on several of them. We are also offering a special builder package including a jacuzzi whirlpool tub.

Please come visit us and see why I'm so proud of our award winning Simsbury Condominium Community. I hope to see you there.

REITALEAD

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise—is as easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and read the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall tires and won't take the time to figure them out). A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available! Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. You will not get results if you people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.
