Kids put out fire prevention message

Canton elementary school students created posters to illustrate the fire prevention lessons they learned.

The theme of this year's contest sponsored by the Canton Chamber of Commerce and Canton Fire Department was "Keep your house fire safe, hunt for home hazards."

Judges had to choose from 580 posters.

And the winners were: Top row: Terra Kubert, Hulsing Elementary School second grader; Stephanie Butterfield, Hulsing fifth grader; Meredith Tims, Gallimore Elementary School fifth grader; Angela Space, Gallimore second grader.

Kristi Soash, Field Elementary third grader; Jason Chafin, Hulsing fifth grader; Danny Anderson, Gallimore first grader; Ken Szydlowski, Hulsing fourth grader; Katie Grand, Eriksson fourth grader.

The posters are on display at the Canton Adminstration building, 1150 South Canton Center Road, south of Cherry Hill.

Residents cut expenses as deficit looms

CUTTING THE DEFICIT

The Plymouth-Canton community is voicing a wait-and-see attitude toward measures proposed in Congress to trim the federal budget deficit.

While some economists predict that likely tax increases could spark a recession, local community and business leaders aren't as pessimistic.

Canton Township supervisor Tom Yack said the proposed 9 cents per gallon gas tax increase "probably would not have a chilling effect on the overall economy."

"The danger is more with the psychological impact a tax increase would have on people's attitudes," Yack said.

Echoing that, Plymouth realtor K.C Mueller said, "It all depends on what the so-called economists predict is going to happen. If they say doom and gloom, they're (home buyers) going to wait it out."

While Mueller said the housing market "has slowed down a little bit," she added, "Our area does things in spite of the economy. Real estate is always a good investment."

WILLIAM GRAHAM, finance director for the city of Plymouth, said, "Where it predominently affects us is in the availability of block grant money, there's less and less every year." That means there's less to spend on rehabilitation of Old Village and low income groups, as the federal government offers less grant money.

Also in times of federal budget cuts, "There's less federal money available for infrastructure (streets and sewers) improvements. Instead of sharing water and sewer costs, you do it yourself. There's more responsibility on the local government."

Maurice Breen, Plymouth Township supervisor, said federal budget cuts could affect a grant request put forward by the township and some nearby municipalities for up to $20 million in federal funds for water and sewer improvements.

"The greatest effect on every local economy is the financing problems people have in buying houses and maintaining their businesses, which all go to the basic lifeblood of a community," he said.

WAYNE DANIELS, owner of R.J. Liddy Moving and Transport Inc. in Plymouth, said the proposed gas tax increase is bad news for the trucking business. "We're already the most highly taxed industry in the country," he said, adding that some major carriers have gone out of business in recent years.

Hard times fuel fake auto insurance claim increase

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A slumping economy and surging gasoline prices are helping to fuel fake auto insurance claims.

"Since I came into auto theft four years ago, it was estimated that 10 to 15 percent of the claims were owner give ups," said state police Lt. Sandy Miller, commander of the Western Wayne Auto Theft Team, based in Canton.

"We feel it's higher — between 20 and 30 percent," she said.

COMPILING ACCURATE figures on how many people file fake claims is hard and one reason is that there's no profile of the type of person who would commit this crime, said state police Lt. Frank Deon, commander of the Eastern Auto Theft Unit.

"We've found that it's older people, younger people, businessmen, housewives — there's no set pattern," he said. "They do it because they can't keep up with a car payment, a divorce or they're in some economic bind."

Fraud is booming and an ailing economy gives drivers new incentives to make up stories and collect on insurance policies, according to a recent Wall Street Journal article.

The type of fraud that is filed, including arsons, giving the car away and changing the car's identification, is just as varied as the person who makes the claim, Deon said. The average cost of the stolen vehicle is $5,000 to $6,000.

"Generally when we find a car and nothing is taken off it we know something is fishy," Deon said.

Last year in Michigan there were 65,297 cars stolen, which is down 13.1 percent from 1985 when there were 75,123 cars stolen.

"That's happening, because there's a lot of people out there like Sandy Miller," said Frank Skinner, State Farm Insurance division claims superintendent. He also is state chair of the anti-theft committee and board chairman of the Automotive Theft Prevention Authority.

"They're thinking up new scams every day," he said. "It depends on the ingenuity of the person making the claims."

ARSON INVESTIGATIONS are extremely difficult, he said, because "you have to be careful not to accuse innocent people."

More people are getting caught, too, Miller said, because officers are identifying more fraud cases and prosecutors are more willing to take on the cases. Insurance holders pay a $1 fee and that money goes to fight car theft through the Auto Theft Prevention Authority.

Through September 1990, the Canton-based Western Wayne team investigated 228 fraud cases. Using the assumption that 25-30 percent were fake, 55 or 60 of all the claims were bogus. Through September the team helped to prosecute eight cases Proving that a car was stolen, is easy, Miller said. But proving someone made a fake claim is tough, because there isn't any concrete evidence.

ONE RECENT case involved more evidence than most. A Westland man last spring gave a 1986

Legislators forecast more school cutbacks

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

The news wasn't nearly as good as the food at Monday's Legislative Breakfast, hosted by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools at the Mayflower Hotel Round Table Club.

State Reps. James Kosteva, D-Canton, and Gerry Law, R-Plymouth, and state Sen. Bob Geake, R-Northville, gave school officials an informal State of the State update over coffee, muffins, eggs, ham and hash browns.

What their message boiled down to was: If you've been dissatisfied with the state's financing of schools lately, just wait. It's going to get worse.

TO MEET projected expenditure levels for 1990-91, across-the-board cuts of 5 to 6 percent will be necessary, predicted Kosteva, who likens the state's financial situation to "the little boy holding his finger in the dike.

"It will be extremely difficult. I think there will be tremendous reluctance to look at revenue increases. It will be doubly tough for the Legislature to make some of the tough choices."

Estimates are that the state's shortfall next year will be somewhere between $140 million and $900 million.

SUPERINTENDENT John Hoben lamented that the Headlee Amendment continues to hurt Plymouth-Canton schools. The Headlee Amendment lets school taxes go up no faster than the rate of inflation, unless residents vote to raise taxes even faster.

Law wasn't optimistic about a repeal of Headlee, which would require a vote of the people.

"We'll never get rid of it in our lifetime," Law said.

Hoben said he'd like to return to voters the 4 mills they approved in June 1989. The two-year levy has generated $4.1 million this year.

"We feel semi-obligated to return that 4 mills to voters," Hoben said.

That may prove difficult — given the anticipated cutbacks and a projected increase in the amount of categorical financial aid the state is expected to recapture.

"It will make it very difficult for us to come up with a balanced budget," Hoben said.

MONEY RECAPTURED from wealthier school districts is being distributed among poorer districts, to which Hoben objects.

"It dilutes the quality of education, instead of bringing the bottom up," he said.

ELECTION

STATE HOUSE

Challenger, incumbent debate issues at forum

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Just two weeks before election day, candidates for the 36th state House seat traded charges and addressed issues in a Tuesday candidates forum.

Dennis F. Shrewsbury challenged incumbent Rep. Gerald Law's pro-life stand on abortion. "It's time government got out of the bedroom and took care of balancing the budget and other things," the challenger said.

Law took a shot at Shrewsbury's voting record. "I'd like to congratulate my opponent," he said, adding that if Shrewsbury is concerned about issues facing local voters, "why in the last 10 years has he not voted in one school election, in not one city council election?"

Republican Law and Democrat Shrewsbury also explained their positions on issues affecting 36th district voters — the district includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township and north and east Canton — in a League of Women Voters-sponsored candidate forum at the Carriage Park senior apartments in Canton.

"There are going to be tough decisions to be made on social issues," said Shrewsbury, a Plymouth attorney. "The question is who do you want to make these decisions," he

Absentee ballot request deadline nears

By A. Giralt Bedford
staff writer

Time is running out for registered voters to request absentee ballots for the Nov. 6 election.

People interested in applying for one can obtain an application from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday from the clerk's office. Voters can fill out the ballot at the clerk's office on Saturday when offices will stay open until 2 p.m., said Judy Beeker, of the Canton Township clerk's office. Applications also may be filled out until 4 p.m. Monday, Nov. 5, at the administration building.

APPLICATIONS CAN be requested by mail, signed and returned. Once they reach the clerk's office, the absentee-ballot will be mailed to the voter's residence. But if done in person, registered voters can use their ballots the same day they sign the application.

Absentee ballots can be issued to:

- People who expect to be absent from their voting precincts for the whole election day,
- People unable to attend without other people's assistance,
- People unable to attend because of their religion,
- People who have been appointed election precinct inspectors of a precinct different from the one where they have to vote,
- People in jail waiting arraignment or trial, and,
- Anyone 60 years of age or older.

Beeker said Canton Township automatically mails applications to its older residents.

SO FAR, not many people have turned in their absentee ballots, Beeker said.

"Many people are just waiting to see how Congress and the Senate and the president are doing."

During the August primary, the number of absentee ballots was large, she said. Of a total of 3,024 votes, 1,431 were absentee, she said. The total figure represented 8.8 percent of the total registered voters, 34,134.

Schools pass auditor's fitness test

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

A clean bill of health for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools was issued Monday by the district's auditors, Plante & Moran, Certified Public Accountants.

Auditor John Gorzalski told board members that as of the end of the fiscal year, June 30, the schools have total assets of $9.9 million.

"You have a very liquid balance sheet, with $812,478 in cash," Gorzalski said.

Total liabilities are $5.3 million, and the total fund equity is $4.5 million, he said.

THE $4.5 MILLION fund balance, a significant portion of which is cash and investments, could get the district through 12-½ school days. Most school districts keep a fund balance of 9.3 percent on hand, Gorzalski said. Plymouth-Canton's fund equity is 7.4 percent.

The district's general fund revenue has grown from $52 million in 1989 to $62 million in 1990, due to a property tax increase to 57 mills from 45 mills.

The district received no unrestricted state aid this year because it is out-of-formula.

EXPENDITURES IN 1989-90 went up $6.3 million. Forty-one percent, or $25 million, went to support services, which includes central staff, administration, maintenance and operations, transportation and instruction.

A per-pupil analysis shows that more money was taken in than was spent per pupil. The excess represents $170 per student over and above expenditures.

For the second time, the school district received a certificate of excellence in financial reporting from the International Association of School Business Officials, said Plante & Moran auditor Lyle Algate.

"I think you can expect to be hit again," said Kosteva, who chairs the House colleges and universities committee and is a member of the education committee.

"I don't see how anyone can be considered a sacred cow, as education was this year."

The Middle East situation isn't helping Michigan, Kosteva said.

"Revenues are going flat. It just doesn't look good."

BRINGING MORE school districts back into formula isn't an answer, Geake said. Out-of-formula districts such as Plymouth-Canton receive no general membership state aid.

"We cannot afford to bring more schools back into formula. To do that would cost $1 billion, and there's no way we can afford it," Geake said.

There's a chance changes in the Legislature will bring an income tax increase or other revenue producers after the election, Kosteva said.

"But I see a underlying public skepticism of anything the Legislature might propose."

MICHIGAN IS watching closely as the federal government wrestles with its revenue problems, Geake said.

"If the federal government increases the gas tax, it will prevent Michigan from even looking at that."

Kosteva said the state may have to take "two steps back to take one step forward," not unlike many school districts that pass millages only after an initial millage proposal fails and drastic cuts are made.

"The general public has lost a great deal of connectedness between taxes paid and services rendered, and accountability for taxes paid and services rendered," Kosteva said.

Maybe two or three years down the road, after voters experience painful cuts in such things as Medicaid, special education and speech and language programs, things will turn around, he said.

LOBBYIST Gerald Dunn, executive secretary for the Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation, predicted "guerilla warfare for existing dollars for adult education.

"There's going to be a very heavy push on the part of community colleges to take over funding for adult ed. It's very crucial for districts including Plymouth-Canton," Dunn said. "It's an ongoing battle we will have to fight."

Geake's summation wasn't quite as gloomy.

"There are other options for balancing the budget. The social services budget still is the largest, and the Department of Corrections is a close second," said Geake, who serves on the Senate appropriations committee.

"In the coming months, we will re-examine these budgets to try and save money."

Fake insurance claims rise

Six months later the Westland man filed an insurance claim saying the car was stolen. Meanwhile he had continued paying on his insurance policy.

He was charged with obtaining more than $100 under false pretenses. The charge carries a 10 year penalty and the case is being prosecuted.

Estranged wife rams man's car

A 28-year-old Canton man, who was at a gas station with a woman, was attacked last weekend by his estranged wife who repeatedly rammed his car.

The Canton man and the 23-year-old woman were at the Speedway gas station on Lilley while his estranged wife watched him from another vehicle. After he pumped the gas and paid for it, his estranged wife started screaming at him and the woman he was with.

She aimed her car at him and drove his way. The man got into the car and she rammed it with her vehicle. The man and his girlfriend got out of the car from the passenger's door. His estranged wife began ramming that side of the car, too.

She drove away when police arrived. After she was pulled over, she reportedly told police that she didn't want to hurt her estranged husband — "she just wanted to scare him."

GARAGE BREAK-INS: A garage on Longwood was reportedly broken into Oct. 20. Two tool boxes, valued by the owner at $1,100, were reportedly stolen.

In another case, a garage on Cranberry was reportedly broken into the same night. Two golf bags, valued by the owner at $1,150, were reportedly stolen.

BAD JOB: The owner of a construction trailer on Michigan Avenue and Lilley Road reported a break-in and stolen equipment. The owner said the equipment was worth $10,000.

STORE EMBEZZLEMENT: A security person at Arbor Drug store reported that a clerk in the Canton store embezzled $59 in cash and $240 worth of merchandise that included lottery tickets.

The woman was reportedly filmed placing money in her pants pocket and putting merchandise in the cash register drawer.

These are only some of the incidents recently reported to Canton police. For police and fire emergencies, dial 9-1-1. For business calls, dial 397-3000.

Steam engine train enthusiasts and Plymouth residents turned out Saturday to view the 49-year-old 1225 locomotive on a stop in Plymouth.

Enthusiasts make tracks to see restored engine

A visitor from the past chugged into Plymouth on Saturday.

The restored 1225 steam-powered train engine pulled a line of 1940s freight cars into town Saturday morning, as part of preparations for the 1991 National Railway Historical Society convention in West Virginia.

"This test trip will ensure that there are no remaining undiscovered problems that would interfere with long, fast trips," said Members of the Michigan State Trust for Railway Preservation Inc., which publicized the trip.

The engine is pulling a freight train "approximating the weight of the passenger trains it will haul in West Virginia, between (the) Plymouth (railroad) yard and Wyoming (a community near Grand Rapids)," the railway preservation group said.

This engine, built 49 years ago, is the first steam-powered freight to travel over the Pere Marquette since 1951.

The train stopped Saturday on the tracks behind the Plymouth Cultural Center, where train enthusiasts gathered to see it.

CSX Transportation arranged for the test of the 1225 at high speed over several hundred miles of the locomotive's former home rails.

Former planning commissioner dies

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Robert Lynn Wilson, 62, was a main figure in Plymouth and Canton development.

As a brick mason, he pieced together many buildings in Plymouth, his wife Jean Wilson said. And as a Canton planning commissioner in the 1960s he was part of deciding what would be built and where the buildings would go in Canton.

Mr. Wilson died Oct. 18.

MR. WILSON was born and raised in Plymouth and lived in Canton for 30 years, his wife said.

He was appointed to sit on Canton's first planning commission in August of 1959. That commission replaced a three member zoning board, according to Dick Palmer, who for decades has been active in Canton.

"We were good friends we served together on that planning commission for quite a few years," Palmer said. "He was a real craftsman. He was just a real neat man. Sort of a gentle soul."

Palmer and Wilson also hunted together.

Jean Wilson described her husband as a "very vital person."

"Anybody who ever knew him loved him," she said. "He was really a sweet man."

Mr. Wilson was a member of the Mayflower Lt. Gamble VFW Post No. 6695 in Plymouth.

He served with the U.S. Navy in World War II in the South Pacific and he witnessed the first atomic bomb test in the Bikini Atoll in the Marshall Islands.

INCLUDING HIS wife, Mr. Wilson is survived by daughters, Linda Olson, of Plymouth and Vicky Wickering, of Ypsilanti; brother, Marvin Wilson of New Port Ricky, Fla. and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday, Oct. 20 at the Schrader Funeral Home with Sanford Burr officiating. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery, Plymouth.

Memorial contributions may be given to the arthritis foundation.

School bands on march to Plymouth

By A. Giralt Bedford
staff writer

More than 40 state high school marching bands will be heading to the Plymouth Centennial Education Park Saturday to compete for the state title.

The Michigan Competing Band Director Association State Show has been won by the PCEP marching band for the past five years, according to JoAnne Berg, vice president of the band boosters.

The event, at Joy and Canton Center, will be a full day of music with bands playing every 15 minutes. Some of the morning competitions will take place in Livonia since that school district is helping Plymouth host the medium-size bands, said Berg.

Local bands playing in Livonia will be Franklin, Southfield and West Bloomfield.

Playing in Plymouth will be Brother Rice, Troy Athens and the PCEP band at 3 p.m. The evening championships are scheduled to start at 7 p.m. The competition will be at the Plymouth-Canton football stadium and public is welcome. Tickets can be bought the same day, but their cost is not available yet, since it is determined by the MCBDA, said Berg.

Recently, the 186-member Plymouth Centennial Educational Park Marching Band brought home top honors when competing at the Jenison Marching Band Invitational near Battle Creek.

Receiving a score of 95.8 in its category, the band took first place finishing five points ahead of the second-place band.

Categories or flights are determined according to band size. To top that, the PCEP band received numerous awards for superior ratings in best music, best marching, best percussion and best color guard.

Does Canton need a recreation center?

Canton Township officials are discussing building a recreation center. The township has hired an architectural firm to study the question and is looking at different ways to pay for a center.

In 1988 voters rejected a special tax to raise $8 million for such a center. But times change.

We'd like to know what you think. Please tell us in 50 words or less if the township should build a center and how it should be paid for.

State House candidates express views at forum said, saying he was for senior citizens, working people, and a pro-choice candidate.

"I am, if you forgive this trite expression, the peoples' candidate and I ask for your vote," he said.

Law cited his eight years of experience in the state legislature, and experience in a variety of jobs including finance, and as a township trustee. That background, he said, prepares him "to deal with the problems coming before the state legislature."

"In the next year, we will be facing our own (state) budget problems," Law said. "We are not going to raise taxes," he said, adding cuts must be made. "If re-elected, I'm prepared to make those cuts and tough decisions."

Saying, "I'm a pro-life legislator," Law said government plays a role in protecting people most vulnerable, including senior citizens and the mentally and physically disabled.

"I also feel the unborn are very vulnerable and need government protection," Law said.

Besides having time to explain why they're seeking office, the candidates answered questions posed by an audience of about 40.

Responding to a question about the future of Mettetal Airport, Shrewsbury said, "It's a privately owned airport. It can stay privately owned, we don't need to buy it," adding a authority could run the airport if "the taxpayers tell their legislators" that money should be spent to buy it.

Law said the question of whether or not an authority should run the airport is "up to the local units of government."

One question posed to Shrewsbury challenged a campaign ad in which he maintained Law supported the purchase of Mettetal Airport to be run by an authority, to benefit "his rich friends."

Asked if he planned to retract the ad, Shrewsbury responded, "I don't think there are necessarily incorrect facts, I don't plan to retract anything."

Asked why he had resigned from the Canton chamber of commerce, Law said it had "become tough dueswise" to belong to several chambers, and continued to belong to the Plymouth chamber because he lives in Plymouth.

Area adopts wait- and-see attitude over federal deficit

Daniels is also chairman of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce government affairs committee. "People are afraid of doing anything — purchasing housing, an automobile, anything over $50," Daniels said, adding business people have been pulling back. "It's a wait-and-see kind of thing. Let's see what happens with the budget, let's see if the president signs it, let's see what happens in the Middle East."

Daniels said business owners he's talked to would rather see some action on the budget now rather than later. "I don't know if the economy can sustain a long wait," he said.

Carol Donnelly, Plymouth senior citizen coordinator, said low-income seniors are "extremly upset" about proposals to trim Medicare benefits and raise taxes.

"So many of them live on such a small income that taking away anything from them really hurts," she said.

Crowded field vies for state board of ed seats

Incumbents Rollie Hopgood and Barbara Roberts Mason, both Democrats, face GOP challengers Richard DeVos and Lowell Perry, as well as four third-party candidates, in this year's state board of education race.

Winners will receive an eight-year term. Voters will vote for two candidates and will be able to split their ticket.

Here are thumbnail sketches of each candidate:

● Hopgood, a Taylor resident, has been a board member since 1988, is currently treasurer of the state board. He is an administrative assistant with the Michgian Federation of Teachers, Detroit. Prior to that, he taught art, social studies and physical education in the Taylor Schools for 19 years, serving as president of the teachers union local from 1977-81.

● Mason, a board member since 1974, is a Lansing resident. She served as board president in 1979-80 and 1987-88, the only person to have served two terms in that capacity.

She is a consultant in the Michigan Education Association Office of Professional Development and Human Rights. Before that, she was a speech consultant in the Lansing Schools.

In 1987, she founded the Black Child and Family Institute, Lansing, to address concerns expressed in the state's "Black Child in Crisis" symposiums.

Mason holds a bachelor's in speech and audio pathology and a master's in educational psychology from Michigan State University and is working toward a doctorate in educational curriculum.

● DeVos is president and chief executive officer of The Windquest Group, Inc., a Grand Rapids-based investment company. Prior to that, he was international vice president of Amway Corp, of Ada, Mich.

He was co-chairman of the Michigan Republican party's 1990 Lake Michgian conference and on host committees for Michigan visits of President George Bush and Vice President Dan Quayle.

DeVos is also chairman of the Kent-Ottawa-Muskegon Foreign Trade Zone Board and a board member of the Mackinac Center, a market-oriented public policy research center based in Midland. He is a national advisory committee member of the American Family Society.

He is co-chairman of the state Democratic Party's education subcommittee and was elected "Boss of the Year" in 1989 by the American Business Women's Association, Star of Detroit chapter.

Hopgood holds a bachelor's in education from Western Michgian University and a master's in education leadership from Eastern Michigan Univeristy.

State Board of Education

State board of ed duties broad, varied

Just what is the state board of education anyway, and what does it do?

Those questions are asked every two years by voters who find board members' names on the ballot.

The state board, an eight-member body, supervises education in every public school district in the state. Chief among its duties is administering state financial aide to local districts and setting teacher certification standards.

The board directs policy of the state Department of Education — developing education programs for local districts, as well as overseeing their implementation.

Its other key duties include appointing the superintendent of public instruction, overseeing special education and coordinating education activities among Michigan's public school districts and its universities and community colleges.

Board members is a partisan post, members are nominated at party conventions. Two members of the board face re-election every two years. The current board includes four Democrats and four Republicans.

Those not up for re-election this year include: Dorothy Beardmore, Rochester; Cherry Jacobus, Grand Rapids; Annetta Miller, Huntington Woods; Gumecindo Salas, East Lansing; Barbara Dumouchelle, Grosse Ile and Marilyn Lundy, Grosse Pointe.

The governor serves as a non-voting member of the board.

In addition to overseeing the department of education, the board also oversees activites of numerous other boards including, the State Board for Public Community and Junior Colleges, the Career Education AdvisoryCommission, Michigan Council on Vocational Education, Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority, Michigan special Education Advisory Committee and State Treasure Commission.

Speaker shares merry-age tales

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Warren's answer to Mary Childs visited Plymouth recently, regaling the Elderberries of First Presbyterian Church with tales of the "Women I Have Married."

Retired Detroit Common Pleas Judge David Vokes, who estimates he's married more than 10,000 couples in his 85 years, sported a ceremonial style that differed from Childs'. The Plymouth City Commissioner marries couples with a flare uniquely Childesque — donning her black robes before bestowing brides and grooms with flowers and music.

Vokes, on the bench from 1929-1985, has married "a belly dancer, a cab driver, an actress, a can-can dancer, a stripper and a go-go-girl.

"I have married a barmaid, a gal who designed auto tires, many waitresses and secretaries. I have married a snake charmer and a lion tamer. If they are of the female sex I've married them, but in my official capacity as a judge," Vokes told his attentive audience after lunch in the church hall.

Vokes often officiated at his residence — "an old brick house out Gratiot. My brother, who was a doctor, had his office on the first floor. I lived upstairs, and I scheduled weddings in the former parlor. My brother's waiting room was my chapel," said Vokes.

Betty Black, the "blondest blonde I ever married," asked the judge to conduct her fourth wedding.

"She told me, 'It has to be at your house in front of the mantle, because that's my lucky mantle,'" recalled Vokes, who was accompanied by his longtime court reporter Dolores Bradway and friends Bill and Thelma Stokes.

ANOTHER BRIDE was insistent the marriage ceremony not take place at the judge's house.

"She told me I don't want to be married in a doctor's office. It'd smell like I'm getting a shot. Won't you please come over to the house?'

"I found out that that's when a lot of things happened," said Vokes. "I wondered how they'd have a big wedding in their tiny cottage. But they had a couple of big tents in the yard.

"It was a Polish-Italian wedding. The mothers were fighting over pots of kielbasa and spaghetti in the kitchen. They moved the furniture out of the house and put decorations up. The girls were going to be in the front bedroom. The bride and her father were to come through the front door. The groom and groomsmen were to come to come up from the basement.

"They moved me into the room with the girl and the bridesmaids. I was in there just a short time when I knew something was wrong. The bride was crying, weeping like she was in excruciating pain. All her girlfriends were poking and tugging at her.

"Finally the bride said, 'I'm going to tell him. His brother delivered me. I ought to be able to tell him.' Then she said, 'My skin is caught in my garter and it's going to drive me out of my mind.' I freed the skin from the garter, the music played and we had a very happy wedding."

ONCE, WHILE WORKING downtown, Vokes said he received a phone call asking him if he could marry a bartender right away.

The justice agreed, and "pretty soon the groom and the best man showed up. The bride and maid of honor were missing. After three-quarters of an hour, they came in with great big boxes saying they'd been to the dressmaker.

"They left the boxes on the couch and said, 'We're ready, go ahead.'

"When we were finished they asked whether I'd like to see what was in the boxes. I said yes, and they showed me two beautiful, exquisite gowns. I asked, 'Why didn't you wear them to be married?' The bride said, "What? Put these beautiful gowns on in a dump like this? We're wearing these to the saloon tonight.'" Vokes said he's performed "many midnight marriages for tax purposes. I've married people at 6 a.m. because someone had to go someplace. A number of weddings were televised.

"I've married a couple and then had the wife desert the husband on the way home. I had a basketball star kidnap the wife at the reception. And she wouldn't come back."

OLD MARRIAGE LICENSES were good until "you used them up. One day my clerk said 'There's someone here waiting to be married.'

"I said I'd be glad to accommodate them during a break. When we recessed, the wife was there, but the husband had left to go to the bathroom. He was gone for half an hour. We went to the men's room and called out, and no one answered.

"The bride gave up and went away. Two years later, a couple came in, gave me a license and asked me to marry them. I recognized it and said, 'You've been here before, haven't you? Are you the man who left to go to the bathroom ? He said yes. 'What happened?' I asked.

"He said, 'On my way to the bathroom the deputy sheriff marched in with all those prisoners in handcuffs and leg irons. When they passed me I suddenly remembered I had a wife in Kentucky I'd forgotten to divorce. That's where my wife found me. I'm divorced and we are now ready to be married.'"

One morning when Vokes arrived early to court, a couple was waiting outside his door. "I assumed they wanted an extra copy of their license. The man said, 'That's not why we're here. Do you still have our license?' I said yes. He said, 'Tear it up.'

"I said I couldn't do that, and asked what happened.

"'Well,' the man said, 'my wife had never been on a big boat before. On our honeymoon I went up to the purser and got the key to the state room.

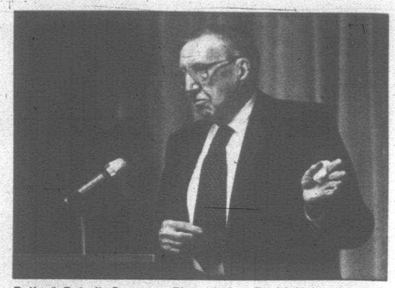
'We let ourselves in and it was a cute room with a washbowl. My wife said, 'This is lovely. Where is your room?' I said, 'Well, right here with you.' She didn't say a word about it. I said, 'Let's go down to dinner.'

"'I took her to the dining room, not to the cafe or diner. Then we went up on deck. We were sailing down the Detroit River and through Lake Erie. The moon was out and it was lovely. About 11:30 p.m. she got cold and said she needed her wrap. I offered to go up to the room and get it, but she said, 'No, I'll get it.' I never did get in that room.

"'So', he said, 'you'll do us a big favor if you just tear up the license.' I said I was sorry, they would have to have it annulled.'

VOKES' WIFE WAS FROM Yale, Mich. and "we spent a lot of time up there. I married a widow in Yale who was to take a boat to Buffalo and Niagara Falls on her honeymoon.

"The groom and I were busy talking when she told him, 'If you don't hurry up, we're going to miss the boat.' He said, 'Here, I'll give you the tickets now.'



Retired Detroit Common Pleas Judge David Vokes regales senior citizens at the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth with tales of some of the 10,000."Women I Have Married."

She said, 'You don't have to give them to me now.'

"'He said, 'Yes I do. I'm not going to Buffalo. I'm going home to take care of the cows.'"

Vokes had a 65-year romance of his own before his wife died in 1988. When his wife Marian became so ill she had to go to a nursing home, she had fears about going.

"So I went with her. They asked me what was wrong with me and I said, 'I'm old.'

"We lived there four or five months when she got well enough to come home. Eventually, she had to go back. That time she said, 'You don't have to come with me as long as you visit me.'

"I said, 'I'll be there every day, you can bank on that,' and I was. We celebrated my birthday there. They had a cake with my picture on it."

SO PLEASANT ARE his memories that Vokes has never once thought about looking up the belly dancer, the blonde, the can-can dancer or the snake charmer.

Real spider web adds to decoration on porch

Laura Kardel of Canton was hanging a make-believe spider web to decorate her front porch for Halloween when she noticed the real thing with its architect.

"She saw the spider and discontinued the project," said her husband, Dan Kardel. "He's about the biggest spider we've ever seen."

Instead of swishing him away, or sending him to an even worse fate, the family began feeding the arachnid that made a home on their front porch.

"The first day we saw that he had a wasp up there and was eating it, so we threw up an earth worm and he ate that, too," Dan Kardel said.

Dan Kardel lifts his son, Matt, 8, closer to the spider web as the younger Kardel offers the arachnid dinner.

The Benefits of Pre Planning Cemetery Arrangements

Wife and husband can decide together...where to select and how much to pay.
In your own home, united with your family, you will be able to decide what you need and how you can pay for it.
Secure in the knowledge that you have spared your family a trying future experience and a costly future expense.
Depending entirely on each other that you are making the right decision.
Opportunity to do together what must be done...it is not a question of if! It is only a question of when!
Money may be saved by purchaseing at today's lower prices. If you wait until later, more money is likely to be spent as a result of inflated prices. In addition, by purchasing now, you can pay the cost with small, monthly payments, rather than having to pay all cash at the time of need.

Schuette blasts Levin's record on Social Security

By Tim Richard
staff writer

U.S. Sen. Carl Levin did too vote four times to freeze Social Security cost of living allowances, said Republican challenger Bill Schuette.

"I don't think you should tamper, cut, freeeze or alter the Social Security trust fund," Schuette told 65 senior citizens in the Farmington Hills Inn nursing home last week.

The 36-year-old Midland congressman said Democrat Levin, seeking a third term in the Senate, wrongly charged him with distorting Levin's record on Social Security COLAs. Schuette said Levin voted:

- To cut COLA from a scheduled 4.2 percent to 2 percent in December of 1987.
- For a six-month freeze on COLA in May of 1985.
- For a one-year Social Security COLA freeze in May of 1984.
- To delay COLAs for federal retirees' benefits and veterans' compensaton in April of 1984.

Schuette added Levin voted twice in 1983 to delay COLA.

Meanwhile, Levin's campaign manager accused Schuette of "playing hooky" from the House Budget Committee to campaign for the Senate. The Levin spokesman said Schuette missed 15 roll call votes in two days.

"I've made 95 percent of the roll calls," Schuette replied. "It's the same old song of the Democrats: tax and spend."

Asked in an interview which of seven constitutional amendments he most strongly supported — a ban on abortion, equal rights for women, balanced budget, line-item veto, congressional term limitation, school prayer or a ban on flag burning — Schuette replied:

"Term limitation . . . I'm not going to make a lifetime of government . . . The liberal career politicians have their hands on the throttle of tax increases again."

Here's background on ed candidates:

for the Pittsburgh Steelers football team, Perry is also a former National Labor Relations Board attorney. A member of the Michigan Bar, a life member of the NAACP and a member of the Urban League, Perry also served as chairman off the U.s. Equal Opportunity Commission in 1975-76.

Perry holds an bachelor's from the University of Michigan, and is a member of the U-M Football Hall of Honor. He received his law degree from Detroit College of Law.

Other candidates in the race include Tisch Party candidates Robert Tisch of Laingsburg and Fayanne Kaufman of Huntington Woods, as well as Libertarian Party candidates Mary J. Ruwart of Kalamazoo and Gwendoline Stillwell of East Lansing.

Airport bill prompts concern

Wayne County Commissioner Susan Hubbard, D-Dearborn, announced plans for a telephone campaign to increase local control over airport noise.

Hubbard, chairwoman of the commission's Special Committee on Airport Noise, said a bill pending in Congress could take away local noise regulating authority.

She expressed fear that Senate Bill 3094, would be rushed through in the closing days of Congress as a hasty budget attachment.

Hubbard called on county residents concerned with airport noise to raise immediate objections by contacting their representatives in Washington through telephone or fax this week.

Conference focus on coping with cancer

An upcoming conference sponsored by the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan is designed to help patients and their families cope with cancer.

The foundation has offered several small conferences throughout the state, but none quite as large or as involved as "Coping with Cancer in the '90s."

The CLF, in cooperation with metro Detroit hospitals, the Michigan Cancer Foundation and the American Cancer Society, will present the conference 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 3, at the Livonia Civic Center Library, Five Mile east of Farmington Road, Livonia.

WDIV-TV meteorologist Paul Gross, a recovering cancer patient, will be the moderator. He will share the podium with Dr. Paul Pearsall of Franklin, a survivor of lymphoma who has undergone a successful bone marrow transplant.

The conference is the result of a needs assessment conducted by the University of Michigan Center for Research on Social Organization for the Children's Leukemia Foundation.

The center studied 500 leukemia patients and their families to determine current needs and gaps in services. The results of the needs assessment will be presented at the conference.

"We listened to the voices of the patients," said Mary Jane Johnson, CLF marketing and special events coordinator.

"This is an opportunity for the families of cancer patients to network with the families of other cancer patients, meet other people and share their experiences."

PEARSALL IS the author of four best selling books — "Super Immunity: Master Your Emotions and Improve Your Health," "Super Marital Sex: Loving for Life," "Super Joy: Learning to Celebrate Everyday Life" and "The Power of the Family: Strength, Comfort and Healing."

His conference topic will be "Making Miracles," his personal experiences while coping with cancer treatment.

"I think people like to see faces that are familiar to them and see that they are going through the same thing," Johnson said of Gross and Pearsall's participation.

Also speaking at the conference will be Dr. Mark Chesler of the U-M Center for Research on Social Organization, who will discuss helpful suggestions and needed services; Dr. Barbara Chesney of the University of Toledo, who will speak about coping with lifestyle changes brought on by cancer; and Dr. Bruce Redman of Harper-Grace Hospital, who will look at new treatment and research for cancer.

THE CONFERENCE will also feature six one-hour workshops offered during both the morning and afternoon sessions.

The workshops, led by social workers, nurses and psychologists, will focus on exploring issues of faith, meaning and optimism; managing the anxiety of cancer; improving family communication when a member has cancer; community services and how to make good use of them; how to talk to doctors and other medical staff; and dealing with children's fears about cancer.

"WE'VE TALKED about coping skills and life changes and particular needs of the patients, but we realize that the spouse and the children need to be treated as secondary patients," said Carole Singer of CLF.

"We're also finding that families, and not necessarily the patients, are signing up for these conferences."

There also will be display tables by the MCF and ACS, with books by the various speakers and other authors.

A box lunch, prepared by the culinary arts program at Schoolcraft Community College and underwritten by Mervyn's of Livonia, will be served at 12:15 p.m.

Hospitals participating in the conference are Beaumont in Royal Oak, Harper, Henry Ford, Children's and Sinai in Detroit, St. Mary in Livonia and St. Joseph Mercy in Ann Arbor.

THERE IS a $12.50 fee for the conference, and scholarships are available.

Early registration is recommended due to limited seating. The workshops can accommodate 125 participants, while auditorium seating for the guest speakers is 250, Singer said.

For more information or to register for the conference, call the CLF state office, (800) 825-2536.

Please Help A Neighbor's Child In Need!

In Third World countries, hundreds of thousands of children are in desperate need of food, clothing, medical care – the basics of life. These girls and boys are even denied the opportunity to attend school.

They are our neighbors in a world that grows smaller every day.

Through CCF, you can sponsor a neighbor's child. The cost is $18 a month – just 60¢ a day – to help a poor child in Asia, Africa or Latin America – a child who has virtually nothing.

Please pick up your phone now and dial the toll-free number below. Be a good neighbor by helping an innocent child.

Pets of the week

Teddy, a 1½-year-old Irish wolfhound mix, and Wheaty, a 1-year-old domestic male cat, need homes. Teddy (Control No. 304306) is a big dog with a sweet disposition. He is neutered and good with children. Wheaty (Control No. 304365), also described as very sweet, is housebroken and good with children. To adopt these pets, call the Westland Kindness Center of the Michgian Humane Society, 721-7300.

Teens are more likely to have auto accidents

A regional study says drinking teens are more likely to run off the road than older drivers.

"When alcohol is involved in a traffic crash, teens are four times more likely (than older drivers) to run off the road, and 21 percent more likely to hit objects such as trees or mailboxes," according to a 1989 study conducted by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

Project Graduation of Southeast Michigan presented a student leadership workshop Tuesday in Roma's of Livonia for more than 1,000 student leaders, teachers and faculty advisers from 100 high schools.

Housed and administered by WTVS, Channel 56, Project Graduation is sponsored by a coalition of more than 30 organizations comprised of volunteers, substance abuse professionals and the media.

Its premise is that teens pressure each other to use alcohol and drugs, so teens should serve as the primary agents for change.

Ex-governor to speak

Former Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson will speak on "Citizenship and the Bill of Rights," at the Blessings of Liberty Conference, Thursday, Nov. 8, at Mercy College, Detroit.

Swainson, governor from 1961-62, is a member of the Michigan Bicentennial Commission and president of the state Historical Commission.

Blessings of Liberty conferences are being held throughout the state through November, as part of the Bill of Rights 200th anniversary celebration.

The event is sponsored by the Michigan Commission on the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution, Michigan State Board of Education and Michigan Council for Social Studies.

Mercy College is at 8200 W. Outer Drive.

Additional information is available by calling 467-1341, or writing Dr. Phyllis Robinson, Wayne County Intermediate School District, 33500 Van Born, Wayne 48184, by Monday, Oct. 29.

New law extends parent responsibility past age 18

AP — There will be no more cutting off Junior from parental purse strings at age 18 if the young adult is still in high school.

A new law requires parents to maintain financial responsibility for their children until they finish high school if they're regularly attending classes, but not past the age of 19½.

The previous limit of age 18 would apply if the children had completed high school by then.

The legislation was prompted by a divided Michigan Supreme Court ruling in November that said divorced parents cannot be forced to pay child support once a child reaches 18, even if the child is disabled or still in high school. The court cited the Legislature's move in 1972 to lower the age of majority from 21 to 18.

Courts, as they had prior to the Supreme Court ruling, now can resume ordering child support for offspring who haven't finished school by the time they turn 18, through the age of 19 years and 6 months.

Old orders will be enforced unless they go beyond the constraints of the new law, and those that were modified since the court decision a year ago can be modified again to revert to 19½.

For the law to be pertinent, the young adult must be living in the home of the support recipient, be regularly attending high school and have a reasonable expectation of graduating.

The new law encompasses all parents because lawmakers argued it wouldn't be fair to require that extra responsibility just of parents who don't have custody of their children while not of parents who have custody or still are married.

The few scenarios where an intact family would be called upon by a court to pay support include when parents cut off a child and the child seeks state aid or sues the parents, or when a child is removed from the home by a probate judge but the parents are ordered to continue financial support.

Gov. James Blanchard signed the package of bills on Tuesday and it became effective Wednesday.

'Ghostbuster' coming to UM-D

A real-life "ghostbuster" will be the featured speaker during a special Halloween Eve program Tuesday, Oct. 30, at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Mark McPherson, a noted investigator of paranormal occurences, will discuss deliver a 90-minute talk and slide show, "Parapsychology: Ghostbusting for Real!", at 7 p.m. in the university's Recreation and Organizations Center.

The free event is open to the public.

McPherson describes himself as a "scholar adventurer" and has traveled widely to investigate allegedly supernatural incidents. He will discuss his findings, as well as Hollywood's treatment of the supernatural. In addition, he will offer evidence — both pro and con — about numerous phenomena.

The University of Michigan-Dearborn is on Evergreen between Ford Road and Michigan Avenue.

Additional information on the program is available by calling the UM-D Student Activities Office, 593-5390.

Local economy getting weak

Through the first three quarters of 1990, the Detroit economy has experienced its weakest performance since 1982, according to economists at Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit.

The Detroit Area Business Activity Index (DABAI) gained two points in September, rising to a level of 148, said economists David L. Littmann and David G. Sowerby.

But area business activity is operating 4.1 percent below the comparable nine months of 1989, after adjusting for inflation.

Five of the eight economic components which comprise the DABAI fell in September. The only notable exception: steel production.

However, Littmann added, over the past four months, steel production has been unusually erratic and will likely remain weak for the remainder of the year. Consequently, the DABAI should experience continued weakness in the fourth quarter.

Manufacturers Bank compiles the business activity index monthly from eight measures of activity which are seasonally adjusted and corrected for inflation. The index's base (100) year is 1982.

Commission

Milt Mack best choice in 11th

MILTON MACK's proven track record makes him the best-qualified candidate in the 11th District Wayne County Commission race.

Mack, D-Wayne, has represented the district — including Canton — since 1982. His GOP challenger, Canton planning commissioner Victor Gustafson, shows a fairly good grasp of county issues, but can't match Mack's broad and varied experience in regional government.

Chairman of the county's solid waste implementation committee, Mack has defended incineration, the bane of area environmentalists. Yet, to his credit, he also saw to it that the county solid waste plan included heavy incentives for recycling.

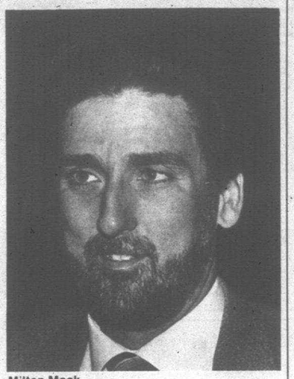
One of the commission's most thoughtful members, Mack has earned a reputation as a commissioner who does his homework on county issues.

He is also a strong supporter of county Executive Edward McNamara, especially on spending issues. In addition, he rarely participates in the in-fighting that, at times, has strained relations between the commission and executive.

A former chairman of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, Mack also brings a regional perspective to most issues.

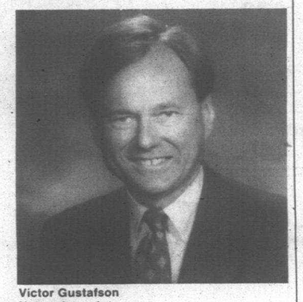
His SEMCOG contacts would appear to make Mack a natural liaison between the commission and its fellow bodies in Oakland and Macomb counties — and we urge commission members to use him as such.

We also urge Canton voters to re-elect Milton Mack to another two-year term as their county commissioner.



Milton Mack
Our choice

Chairman of the county's solid waste implementation committee, Mack has defended incineration, the bane of area environmentalists. Yet, to his credit, he also saw to it that the county solid waste plan included heavy incentives for recycling . . . A former chairman of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, Mack also brings a regional perspective to most issues.



Victor Gustafson
Not endorsed

McNamara

Exec's been good for county

ED McNAMARA doesn't need anyone's endorsement in his fall election bid — the Wayne County executive is running unopposed.

But no matter who turned up on the other side, it's a fair bet McNamara would have received our endorsement anyway. The Livonia resident completed an unusually strong first term as the county's chief elected official.

His accomplishments — balancing the county budget, securing a new county jail, reducing the county's burgeoning health care payments, to name but three — were achievements skeptics doubted would happen in four decades, let alone a mere four years.

McNamara's staff includes some of the best and brightest young minds the county has to offer — male and female, black and white. That's a major plus.

While hardly a liberal, McNamara nonetheless believes that government can improve the quality of life for its citizens. The county's Westland homeless shelter, scheduled to open late this year, represents that philosophy put into action.

But McNamara hasn't let political events of the past decade pass by unnoticed, either. He's fought with commissioners over spending and he's shown a willingness to use his budget ax.

Likewise, his promotion of private/public partnerships could point the way to a bright new future for the county's venerable parks system.

Enough backpatting. With a second term assured, on with the issues.

Economic growth, in part dependent upon the airport, ranks high on everyone's agenda.

We'd like to see the county and development-minded communities working even more closely in the next four years, especially in reaping the benefits of Canadian trade.

For its part, the county could begin an even more aggressive marketing campaign.

Whatever the outcome, one thing is clear. The people of Wayne County have been fortunate to have Ed McNamara as their county executive.

Experience

Campbell, Szymanski have it

EXPERIENCE SHOULD be the deciding factor in Wayne County's two actively contested probate court races.

Experience makes probate court administrator Patrica Campbell the best choice in the race for the eight-year probate seat.

It also makes attorney David J. Szymanski the best choice in the race for the six-year seat.

Probate court isn't glamorous. But its case load — including wills, estates, mental competency hearings, adoption, juvenile justice and other family-related matters — proves its importance. It also shows the importance of electing strong, well-qualified judges.

Campbell's 15-year legal experience, much of it in probate court, makes her clearly preferable to her less-experienced opponent. Campbell, a working mom who returned to college after raising her large, well-educated family, also boasts an impressive personal background. Because her opponent boasts a locally famous family name, it is particularly important for informed votes to cast their ballots for Campbell.

It's a slightly tougher call in the second race, where both candidates boast impressive backgrounds.

Szymanski, however, boasts the greatest legal experience. We're also impressed by his pledge to bring probate court to the people, working with service groups to raise awareness of the court and the cases it handles. We hope it is one campaign pledge that will be kept.

(Incumbents Martin T. Maher and Frances Pitts are running unopposed in other probate races.)

We're aware that probate court races will occupy the minds of few voters as they go the the polls Nov. 6. We're also aware that the probate candidates will appear near the end of a crowded ballot.

Nonetheless, we believe Patrica Campbell and David J. Szymanski are the best qualified candidates for an admittedly difficult job.

Look for their names. And vote for them.

Which way success? School law no guide

Defining what you want to do while at the same time declining to measure how you are doing assures us that nothing will happen in the effort to reform our schools.

Philip Power

I HATE writing columns like this. But here goes.

At long last, Michigan schools are moving toward defining what children are supposed to learn in class. That is what the state Department of Education means when it talks about "outcomes" that are to be the result of the new "core curriculum" adopted last year. That's the good news.

The bad news is that I cannot find anywhere in the blizzard of paper now drifting around the program any discussion of just how schools propose to define and measure what children are supposed to learn.

It's bad because defining what you want to do while at the same time declining to measure how you are doing assures us that nothing will happen in the effort to reform our schools.

ALL THIS comes about through passage last year of state Public Act 25. It required local school districts to "develop and deliver instruction to all students based on a model core curriculum . . . (to) articulate the broad outcomes to be achieved by all students as a result of their school experiences."

Great — an improvement over the old idea that 12 years of schooling guaranteed kids would learn something.

In carrying out this policy, the state Department of Education has described what a student who has undergone the core curriculum would be like: "competent and productive participant in society," "creative, sensitive and flexible," "capable of learning over a lifetime" and so forth.

And the department has set out the topic areas for the curriculum: arts, health and physical skills, language arts, science and math, and world studies. The department even makes a gesture toward the world of work by mentioning the academic, personal management and teamwork skills "necessary for a person to obtain, maintain and progress in a job."

So far, so good.

NOW COMES the problem.

When the department gets around to defining and assessing success, it gets mealy mouthed.

"Measurement of student attainment of the desired educational outcomes at the state, district and building level is an integral part of a good core curriculum model." OK, how?

"Appropriate assessment techniques should be used to accurately measure student attainment of the various content, process and skill outcomes."

Which techniques? They never say, neither in all the paper I've seen nor when asked orally in public or private. And I get very suspicious whenever somebody in government starts talking about "appropriate assessment techniques" without saying what those are.

My suspicion started to thicken into irritation when I read the detail about the skills outcomes.

In math, kindergarten through third-grade students will "add, subtract, multiply and divide using models and add, subtract and multiply using computational algorithms with numbers appropriate to the models." But will they know their tables down cold?

The writing outcomes are even more bewildering. Organized into areas of "prewriting, drafting, revising, proofreading, publishing," the discussion never seems to focus on the idea that children should learn to write clearly, logically and quickly.

A GREAT SHAME, because PA 25 represented a terrific start in reforming our schools.

Why have the State Board of Education and the department ignored the real point of any reform: measure of performance? They may be bureaucratic, but these people are neither knaves nor fools.

I believe they are responding to a political fear. They're scared to death they'll be accused of bringing in a set of statewide required courses, standards and examinations, thereby destroying our treasured local autonomy of schools.

In Washington, the story is that there's a reason nothing whatsoever has come out of the much-trumpeted "Education Summit" between the president and the nation's governors. The folks in the White House don't want anything to happen for fear President George Bush will be accused of destroying the sacred cow of local autonomy.

This is a legitimate political issue, one that ought to be debated just like how best to finance schools. But the debate ought to be out in the open, not disguised by mumbo jumbo about "appropriate assessment techniques."

Phil Power is chairman of the company that owns this newspaper. His award-winning column will appear periodically.

Open record laws eroding

Tim Richard

NATURE CAN teach you about politics.

One of my favorite natural areas is the string of sinkholes in Presque Isle and Montmorency counties in northeastern Michigan.

The sinkholes weren't dug by miners. Over the years, water percolated through the soil and dissolved the limestone below, creating a big hole.

Fifteen years ago, the state Legislature, in a rare orgy of righteousness, passed the Open Meetings Act (OMA) and the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA).

They were designed to keep governing boards' meetings and public records public.

Since then, it has been one crippling amendment after another.

In the last two years, the situation has deteriorated. House Speaker Lewis Dodak, D-Montrose, and Senate majority leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, have been scattering the bills throughout the committee structure so that it's hard to keep tabs on them.

- A bill to exempt the Public Service Commission from meeting in public has become law.
- A bill to exempt the state accident fund from FOIA is in the House Labor Committee.
- A bill to exempt "sensitive business information" given to universities from FOIA is in committee.
- One of the worst bills came from Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy. The bill would relieve prosecutors of the burden of doing legal research for convicts. It would close prosecutors' briefs to everyone. It belongs in the Senate Judiciary Committee, instead, it's in the Criminal Justice Committee.

SOME OF us who watchdog these games asked Dodak and Engler to refer all OMA and FOIA amendments to the Judiciary Committees.

Dodak didn't respond. Engler told me he considers the bills on a case by case basis. That is 180 degrees wrong. The sunshine laws are being eroded.

Lest this be taken as an attack on Engler's gubernatorial candidacy, let it be known that Gov. James Blanchard has signed every crippling amendment.

Gov. Bill Milliken, who signed the laws, vetoed crippling amendments.

NO POLITICIAN has the courage to attack the sunshine laws openly with one exception.

Dr. Fred Matthews, trustee of an outstate community college, is forthright. He would do most business behind closed doors and afterward tell you what he thinks you need to know.

It's like meeting a Druid. We know little about that ancient religion because they didn't write down their doctrine. They didn't build cathedrals, like the Christians, but worshipped at night in the forest.

No open records. No open meetings.

Modern Druids in the Michigan Legislature are doing much the same. But unlike the courageous pagans who attacked and sacked Rome, the modern Druids are eroding the limestone of government with one crippling amendment after another.

Violence against police hits home

By Jane Acciaioli
special writer

I CAN no longer remain silent on the Paul Vachher issue after reading the letter by Mr. Baidel in the Oct. 15 issue of the Canton Observer.

My sister's husband, John, was a police officer (detective) in the Upper Peninsula for 20 years. In September of this year he was involved in a similar incident. A man with whom he was familiar had blockaded himself in his basement after threatening to kill his parents with a knife.

The police attempted to "wait him out" for hours until he began to threaten to burn the house down. Since the houses in the neighborhood were very old and close together, a decision was made to enter the basement and to attempt to subdue him.

The man, who was a diagnosed schizophrenic, had been hospitalized in the past but was released based on the opinion of his psychiatrist (one who had taken Psychology 101, I'm sure). Free from any restraints, he decided to stop taking his medication. In the past, John had successfully convinced the man to not follow through on any similar threats.

FOR THIS reason he felt he should be the first one to enter the basement. As it turned out, John was stabbed with a 10-12-inch fish filet knife. It entered the orifice of the eye and continued down into the brain.

He was airlifted to Munson Hospital in Traverse City, where he remains in a coma. The brain swelled to an unacceptable level and it resulted in strokes and massive frontal lobe damage.

The doctors have given up hope. My sister is being forced to make the decision of sustaining his comatose life — the doctors predict that he will live approximately six to 12 months but will eventually die of pneumonia, bed sores or other complications — or removing all of the life support equipment. The decision will have to be made in the next two weeks.

I CANNOT describe the amount of grief that has resulted from this incident. My sister cries constantly and wonders how she can go on living without him.

Her children feel the same way. The rest of us cry daily also, but our grief, for the most part, is for Kathy, who lost her partner, lover and friend of 23 years.

It feels as if our hearts have been wrenched out of our bodies. I have another sister who is married to a police officer. Both she and her children cry and worry about the children and the safety of their own husband and father.

The parents of the man who stabbed John also grieve. They sent flowers and a wonderful letter. They suffer the undeserved guilt that all parents do when their children hurt innocent people. It is not their fault that a man is dying because he dedicated his life to protecting them.

Their son, who is now in a mental facility, also grieves. He returned to reality, asked if he had hurt anyone, and had to be restrained from taking his own life when he found out that John was dying.

THE POLICE are grieving. I watched grown men cry when the news of his condition was revealed. I watched them give up their days off in order to drive my sister 3½ hours to the hospital. I saw a police officer slip money into her hand and tell her to call him if she needed anything, anything at all.

I read the card on the flowers from the U.S. Custom agents, and I talked to the commander of the local state police post who offered transportation to any family members who needed to get to the hospital.

"We are all in this together," he said.

A former judge offered an apartment, free of charge, so that the family could stay close to the hospital. The support from the law enforcement agencies was beyond description. You could feel the very essence of the thoughts that they must have been thinking — "If it happens to me, who will be there for my family?"

SO, YES, it is unfortunate when a person "who is not accountable nor responsible for his actions" is wounded or loses his life when his family, bystanders or police are placed in a life-threatening situation, but all things must be taken in perspective.

The police officer puts his life on the line every day of his working life. He is the only thing that stands between the perpetrator of a violent crime and his potential victims.

Read the headlines. The world is no longer predictable. People butcher innocent people, even their own children. Children murder children with no remorse or conscience.

IF I AM compelled to make a choice, therefore, I choose to sustain the life of the giving, caring individual instead of the one who will wreak havoc on society. If I could replay the event that John was involved in, my preferences would be in this order:

1. The man could have been subdued without force.
2. The man could have been subdued with limited force.
3. The man could have been subdued with deadly force.

It is clear that I do not believe that the death of an officer is a viable option, even if the person is "not responsible for his actions."

People who are willing to sacrifice their lives for mine are too rare. I want all of them to live a long and prosperous life so that the rest of us can, too.

THAT IS what I had hoped for John and that is what I still hope for all law enforcement people. What is the epitome of irony is the fact that I had told John about the Vachher incident.

I also told him that I had heard somewhere that a person with a knife can run 21 feet in one second plus and stab a person repeatedly. I ended with a comment such as, "So, John, if you see a person with a knife and he is closer than 21 feet, please shoot to stop the threat."

Obviously, he believed that there was a better way. I still wonder if I was adamant enough.

SO, Mr. Baidel, I know that you sincerely believe that there is a better way to handle these situations. I wish you had been with John. Maybe he would not be among the living dead today.

If you know something that the police do not, I suggest that you volunteer your services the next time the Canton police encounter this type of situation. Maybe then the officers won't feel so compelled to protect themselves and the future of their families.

If you are unavailable, however, it is my recommendation that the police drive a tank to the next location. Either way, if successful, all of you will save many concerned from a lifetime of grief and anguish.

I ask any readers to please pray for John's healing, Kathy's decision and for the officers who go to work every day on your behalf.

Jane Acciaioli is a Canton resident.

Thanks for editorial

To the editor:

Thank you for your eloquent opinion article calling for Tolerance on Roe Street. I support your call for tolerance.

I have been sending all the articles written about our Light House Program to my mother and father, who now live in Florida. They, and all of their Michigan friends, have been reading and discussing the articles. They all loved your column.

They told me that in the St. Petersburg Times on Sunday, Oct. 21, on page 2D, Andrew Barnes, the editor of the paper, also wrote an editorial about intolerance to the disadvantaged. He said, "We might. . . see a renewal of the old American belief that the disadvantaged need our help, not our contempt."

We, at the Light House, recognize that addiction is simply the dark side of creativity. The addicted-disadvantaged become advantaged when they walk through their wall of addiction to discover their talents, innate gifts and true callings. When men and women are encouraged to use their God-given talents, creativity cancels their dependence on drugs and alcohol.

If the concentration of recovering addicts bothers the neighbors on Roe Street, they might feel better if they reconceptualized the concentration as a concentration of creative potential.

Law attacked for stand on Mettetal

To the editor:

It has been my understanding that an elected official's duty, regardless of his political party, is to represent all of his constituents and his community without prejudice.

On Oct. 3 I was petitioning near a local shopping mall in Plymouth Township when I was confronted by a man who seemed interested in what I was doing.

I petitioned this man and expressed my opposition to Mettetal Airport being municipally owned and supported by my tax dollars. In reply this man shouted very loud that my statement was a lie and everything I said was a lie and that I was deliberately lying to the people.

He created such a disturbance with his accusations and shouting that I walked away. I told him that he was too argumentative and I wanted no further discussion with him. His persistent demagoguery became too much for me so I asked him to lower his voice as he was creating a disturbance, and any attempt by me to petition the public was out of the question.

He introduced himself as Gerald Law. I couldn't believe what I was hearing, but then I recognized him from his photographs. This man was State Rep. Gerald H. Law who was making accusations that were totally untrue. I informed Mr. Law that I had supported him at each election since I moved to the area 11 years ago, but he had received his last vote from me.

After Mr. Law had regained his composure, he examined my petition, and of the seven points listed at the top he found (in his opinion) one questionable and one he did not agree with, but found no lies. I mentioned earlier unruly conduct and he agreed and apologized. In the discussion following, I found it difficult to extract an answer from him when I asked him pointed questions, such as, "Where does the money come from that is not funded by federal and state government grants?" since he stood firm that no taxpayer dollars would be used. He finally asserted that the Airport Authority would ask for a millage to be put on the ballot, and if approved, the local taxpayers would have to pay for it.

The proponents of Mettetal Airport are not being honest with the taxpayers when they say, "No local tax money will be used to acquire and support the airport." They prefer to call it "users fees." The Michigan Aeronautics Commission and the Federal Aviation Administration refer to it as a "users tax." A tax is defined as a compulsory payment of a percentage of income, property value, sales price, etc. Every single cent that is used to acquire and support Mettetal Airport is taxpayer money, local and otherwise.

So far the only point I can agree on with Supervisor Breen is his admission that the airport is not revenue producing and he does not expect it to be revenue producing. He further states that before he will allow local taxes to be used he would allow the airport to go into bankruptcy. My next question is, why then is he supporting purchase of the airport at all if he knows it is basically worthless as a revenue-producing endeavor? What Breen is doing is abusing municipal privileges by using Plymouth Township and his office to acquire an inflated price of $4,100,000 and pay it to the present owner who then walks away with a large profit on a bad investment.

There are many more questions to be answered and facts to be given regarding this matter. Hopefully Breen will give the people whose taxes are involved a chance to obtain these answers and hear these facts, and why he thinks the airport is a community asset when his own statements are contradictory.

Local U.S. reps split on revised budget plan

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending Oct. 19.

HOUSE:

To Reduce Deficit — By a vote of 227 for and 203 against, the House sent to conference with the Senate a Democratic-drafted budget reconciliation bill (HR 5835) that is the cornerstone of a plan to reduce deficits by $40 billion in fiscal 1991 and $500 billion between 1991 and 1995. Sponsors said they hoped the plan would cut annual deficits from the current $300 billion-plus range to double digits within a few years.

This bill accounts for nearly $200 billion of the targeted $500 billion, with the remainder to be achieved as individual committees make program cuts the legislation requires of them. Its major component is nearly $150 billion in new taxes (see next issue) that touch all income levels but hit hardest at the wealthy. Other key provisions are major spending restraints in medicare and farm subsidies. Milder curbs in a variety of other programs and lower interest payments that will result from the legislaion.

A yes vote was for the Democratic-drafted budget bill.

Voting yes were William Ford, D-Taylor and Sander Levin, D-Southfield. Voting no from Michigan were Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

The Democratic Fiscal Plan — By a vote of 238 for and 192 against, the House amended HR 5835 (above) to incorporate tax increases, Medicare cuts and other provisions drafted by the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee to form the heart of the $500 billion reconciliation bill.

Provisions aimed at the wealthy would increase top-bracket income tax rates from 28 to 33 percent, put a 10 percent surtax on taxable income above $1 million, levy a 10 percent luxury tax on certain expensive consumer goods and increase the alternative minimum tax utilized by many affluent taxpayers from 21 to 25 percent.

Among provisions that could affect most or all income levels, the measure delays for one year that adjustment of income tax brackets for inflation, raises taxes on cigarettes and alcoholic beverages, increases airline ticket taxes, and allows certain tax-free capital gains. To cushion the impact of higher sales taxes on the working poor, it increases the earned income tax credit.

Regarding the elderly, the measure increases monthly Medicare insurance premiums from $28.60 to $46.20 by 1995, raises from $51,300 to $100,000 the wage base for the 1.45 percent Medicare payroll tax and increases the Medicare deductible for doctors' bills from $75 to $100.

A yes vote supported the deficit-reducing amendments.

Voting yes were Hertel, William Ford and Levin. Voting no were Pursell and Broomfield.

Trade With China — The House voted 247 for and 174 against to end trade preferences for China. This approved measure (HJ 647) overturning President Bush's designation of China as a most-favored trading partner despite its restrictionson emigration by its citizens. Most-favored nations receive the lowest available tariff on their exports to America.

Roll Call Report

Sponsor Gerald Solomon, R-N.Y., said "we cannot stand by while thousands of Chinese are imprisoned and hundreds are executed every month just because they want to be free like you and I."

Bob Michel, R-Ill., the minority leader, said "if we stay in contact (with China); the cause of democracy will be strengthened."

A yes vote was to stop favored treatment of imports from China.

Voting yes were Pursell, Hertel and Levin. Voting no from Michigan were William Ford and Broomfield.

SENATE:

Fiscal Plan — By a vote of 54 for and 46 against, the Senate sent to conference with the House its version of the most massive deficit reduction ever attempted by Congress, a bill (S 3209) to reduce red ink by $500 billion between fiscal 1991-95.

One key difference between the House measure (above) the Senate bill is that the latter raises the federal gasoline tax, from 9 to 18.5 cents per gallon. Another is that the Senate does not raise the top-bracket tax rate, as the House does, but increases taxes on the wealthy by curbing their deductions. nor does the Senate go along with the House plan to delay for one year the adjustment of income tax brackets for inflation, a revenue-raiser that has drawn heavy Republican criticism. The Senate version achieves smaller Medicare savings than the House measure.

The bills are similar or identical in most other areas, including plans to put an income tax surcharge on the wealthy, raises in taxes, add a special excise tax on luxury purchases, raise taxes on airline tickets and impose new higher taxes or fees on scores of government services for veterans, students, boaters and other constituencies.

A yes vote supported the $500 billion deficit-reduction plan. Voting no were Sens. Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegle, D.

Gasoline Tax — The Senate refused, 40 for and 59 against, to take a crucial procedural step removing an increase in the federal gasoline tax from the budget reconcilation bill (2 3209; see preceding vote). This left intact language to raise the tax from 9 to 18.5 cents a gallon.

A yes vote was to move toward deleting the gasoline tax hike. Voting yes were Levin and Riegle.

Play's the thing

Troupe stages comedy

By Julie Brown
staff writer

PLAYGOERS AT the Plymouth Park Players production of "Black Comedy" won't see much during the first couple of minutes.

The stage will be dark during those opening minutes, and audience members will have to do a lot of listening. The challenge for cast members will also be considerable; when the lights come on, the actors must pretend it's suddenly dark.

"They have to act like they're blinded when they can really see," said Gloria Logan, director of the production.

The play, starring students from Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools, will be presented 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, Nov. 1-3. Performances will be in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School, 46181 Joy, west of Canton Center in Canton.

THE BRITISH farce was written by Peter Shaffer, who also wrote the more thought-provoking play "Equus."

"This show is so completely different," Logan said. "It's silly, silly, silly stuff, but great fun. This is not Ibsen."

The play tells the story of a young sculptor, Brindsley Miller, who has both his future father-in-law and a famous art critic coming to visit. A blown fuse causes a blackout at Brindsley's apartment.

Further complications arise when the sculptor's former girlfriend arrives unexpectedly.

"It's a real lark," Logan said of the play. "They can't seem to find any candles or matches or anything."

In the play, cast members act as if nothing's wrong when the lights are all out. When the lights come on, actors must behave as if it's totally dark.

Math and science aren't just for boys

By Julie Brown
staff writer

For many years, educator Barbara Church asked her students to draw a picture of a scientist. It was rare that anyone, boy or girl, drew a picture of a woman.

"Their picture of a scientist was male," said Church, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools curriculum coordinator for science, math and computer education. Those pictures almost without exception showed a man in a lab coat with a pocket protector "and usually funny hair."

Church knows that those perceptions limit options for girls.

"The problem is not enough girls are going into math and science," she told those at a meeting of the Plymouth branch, American Association of University Women.

CHURCH, A Plymouth Township resident, discussed gender equity in math and science at a Thursday, Oct. 18, AAUW meeting, held at Ernesto's in Plymouth.

"We encourage boys and girls to take everything possible." Girls are well-represented in biology classes at Centennial Educational Park, but are far less likely to take physics. Girls who plan to go to college generally take algebra and geometry, but are less likely to enroll in trigonometry or calculus.

"Is it only a local problem? No," said Church, who taught middle school math, science and computers for 11 years. "When girls don't choose these options, they limit their choices in college."

Some 75 percent of undergraduate programs at the University of Michigan require four years of high school science, she said. Young women who have ability and interest in science often don't consider a career in a scientific field.

The average female college graduate earns less than the average male high school graduate, Church told AAUW members and guests. Higher divorce rates these days mean a woman's more likely to end up supporting a family, making decent earning power even more important.

GENDER BIAS comes from a variety of sources, including the home. Parents tend to treat daughters differently; they may, for example, put a worm on the hook for a daughter during a fishing trip, but expect a son to do the job himself.

"It's a lot of little things," she said. Parents buy different toys for girls than for boys. Girls are taught to be neat, quiet and not aggressive or obsessive about reaching goals.

"All these things come together at some point," Church said. "It's a subliminal message that goes out to our girls."

TV programs on science and nature are rarely moderated by women. In the classroom, boys get more attention, both negative and positive, than girls do. Boys are more likely to call out answers, while girls tend to follow the rules and wait to be called on.

"There are differences in the way men and women perceive things," she said. "Girls like to see the big picture. They like discussion more than cut, right or wrong answers."

'When girls don't choose these options, they limit their choices in college.'

— Barbara Church local educator

ChemCom, or chemistry in the community, is being offered for the first time this year at CEP. In that college preparatory class, students explore such issues as acid rain. The issue-oriented class is particularly popular with girls, she said.

"We need to provide courses for kids that meet boys' and girls' needs."

The Plymouth-Canton schools formed a committee in 1988 on GEMS, gender equity in math and science. That committee's work includes having women science teachers talk to high school classes about course offerings.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS are compiling names for a speakers' list, and are providing resource material for teachers on women scientists and engineers.

"I had to really scrounge to find information on female scientists," said Church, who earned a bachelor's degree in biochemistry and physiology from McGill University.

Her background also includes a master's degree in library science from U-M and an educational specialist from Wayne State University in instructional technology.

Science: It's also a field for women

GEMS committee members are planning an inservice training program on gender equity for kindergarten through eighth grade teachers. A March 16, 1991, conference for seventh and eighth grade girls and their parents is also in the works. At that Saturday conference, families will learn about opportunities in math, science and engineering for young women.

"Parental encouragement is critical," said Church, the mother of two sons who can clean and cook. Many summer science programs are available for girls, and parents should encourage daughters to take advantage of those opportunities.

"If you have sons only, it's also really important that you talk to them about these issues," she said.

AAUW MEMBER Peg Britz, a Canton resident, enjoyed Church's presentation.

"I thought it was very enlightening," said Britz, a special education/resource room teacher at Fiegel Elementary School in Plymouth Township.

Britz has a son, 12, and a daughter, 14. Her daughter is interested in a career in science, possibly in a space program.

AAUW branch president Gail Conte, a Plymouth Township resident, enjoyed the program.

"I think she's been very persistent in looking for ways of making the school community realize the inadequacies," said Conte, who works in corporate training at Henry Ford Community College.

Conte has sons ages 9 and 11 and daughters ages 15 and 17, and her husband teaches chemistry and biology in the Southgate schools. Their oldest daughter can handle math and science, but Conte's seen her aversion to those subjects.

Plymouth AAUW members plan to provide financial and planning support for the March 16 program for middle school girls and their parents, Conte said.

"The whole concept of promoting education is what we're all about, particularly promoting education for women and girls."

Parents can help expand horizons

Parents can do a lot to encourage daughters to study science and math, according to Barbara Church.

Church is the curriculum coordinator for science, math and computer education for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. She offered these suggestions for parents during a recent meeting of the Plymouth branch, American Association of University Women:

- Encourage your son/daughter to collect things, handle things, take things apart and see how things work. They need to take bikes, clocks, flowers and other things apart.
- Don't be concerned about children getting things right. You need to be concerned if they aren't curious and wondering about things.
- Do you give your sons and daughters different kinds of toys? Do you encourage them to pursue different kinds of hobbies?

The kinds of toys we buy are similar for children up to age 3. After that, we tend to buy "girl" toys and "boy" toys. It's believed that one important reason boys do better in math than girls is because boys have grown up playing with more mathematical/scientific toys.

- Don't "overhelp" your daughter (a tendency of parents with daughters much more often than with sons). Instead, help her to become able to rely on her own judgment, develop independence and the ability to make her own decisions.
- Encourage children to read biographies and magazine articles that will help them find out about contemporary and historical figures whose lives involve work in fields that use math and science.
- Talk about career plans with your children. Point out that many occupations require a good math and science background, and that their career options will be limited if they do not continue to take those subjects. Set expectations early that they will take three to four years of high school math and science.
- Identify a role model who works in a technological field for your child to "job shadow" (spend a day on the job). If possible, have that professional look like your child — female for a girl, minority for a minority student.

The role model might be a relative, friend or neighbor. If you need to look farther, you might phone a company in your community or check with your child's school.

- Maintain open lines of communication with your children about the courses they choose in high school. Encourage them to enroll in calculus and physics. Foster intellectual risk-taking. Remember that higher level math and science courses increase your child's options later in life.
- Above all, remember not all children will have the interest, ability or desire to pursue careers in science or math. Try to expose your children to many different options while at the same time realizing that the final choice of careers, interests and plans of study must be theirs.

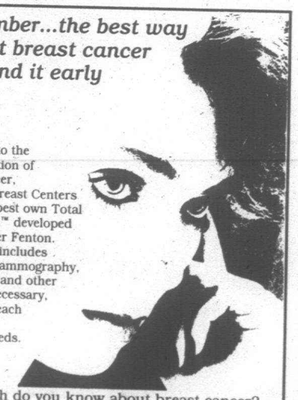
Remember...the best way to fight breast cancer is to find it early



Dedicated to the early detection of breast cancer, Women's Breast Centers offer their best own Total Breast Test™ developed by Dr. Roger Fenton. Evaluation includes low-dose mammography, ultrasound and other exams, if necessary, tailored to each individual patient's needs.

How much do you know about breast cancer? October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Many of the 150,000 American women who will develop breast cancer this year may not know a few simple facts about early detection. Early detection requires your active participation in the process. Canton librarian puts her best foot forward off the cuff

Claire McLaughlin, adult services librarian and grants coordinator at the Canton Public Library, opts for a professional look at work.

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Claire McLaughlin has certain ideas in mind when choosing clothes to wear to work at the Canton Public Library.

"I wear what I wear because of trying to shed the image of librarians as frumpy," said McLaughlin, adult services librarian and grants coordinator.

She knows that most librarians don't opt for a bun on the back of the head or orthopedic shoes.

"I have Reeboks," said McLaughlin, who's worked at the library in Canton for about 5½ years. "That's as close as I come."

Dressing in a more professional style helps to upgrade the status of library science as a profession, she said.

"We need to get closer to our users and have them see us as somewhat sophisticated." That's particularly important as libraries make greater use of computers and other high-tech equipment.

SHE WEARS some suits and dresses to work.

"I try to put a jacket on to dress it up, give a finished look." She has one white jacket she particularly likes.

"In fact, I have to watch that I don't wear it too often."

She's found that the right belt and jewelry can make an outfit look better. McLaughlin rarely wears scarves.

"I'm not very proficient at scarf tying and all of that."

She likes wearing bigger earrings, and has noticed that seems to be fashionable "although I don't pore over the fashion magazines either."

Comfort's important for McLaughlin when she's looking for clothes for work. She avoids extremely high heels. She prefers natural fibers, and wears sweaters, khaki pants and jeans away from work.

She occasionally shops at such department stores as Lord & Taylor or Hudson's, but doesn't find shopping all that enjoyable.

"It's lost its allure." She enjoyed shopping in her teenage days, but is now busy with family and work responsibilities.

SHE'S A NATIVE of Sandusky, Ohio, and did her undergraduate work in secondary education at Ohio State University. McLaughlin, an Ann Arbor resident, taught school in Ohio and Ann Arbor, and earned her master's degree in library science from the University of Michigan.

McLaughlin and her husband, Harry, have two sons, Donald, 14, and John, 8.

"We're usually busy with other things," she said. They have limited time for shopping, so McLaughlin uses Lands End and other mail order catalogs.

"It's very convenient. They're getting into career wear."

The catalogs have convenient 800 numbers to use for ordering, and many have also started to carry clothes for kids, she said.

"I think they're beginning to cater to the baby boomers."

At work, McLaughlin gets some comments from her colleagues about her clothes. Those comments are generally complimentary, and sometimes staffers suggest that she wear certain things together.

McLaughlin would recommend that a young woman just starting work as a librarian buy a couple of good jackets, dark skirts, classic shoes in such basic colors as navy blue and black, "and then add as you can."

Keeping a lookout for sales is a good idea.

"I rarely pay full price," she said.

Know someone in the Plymouth-Canton community who dresses with a certain sense of style and flair? Drop us a line at the Observer Newspapers, 744 Wing, Plymouth 48170. Please include your name and daytime telephone number, along with a brief description of why you think that person should be featured in "Off the Cuff."

Student actors Andy LeRoy (seated) and Jeff Zarosley rehearse a scene from "Black Comedy." LeRoy appears as Colonel Melkett and Zarosley as Harold Gorringe.

One of Brindsley's neighbors, Harold, is a rather fussy antiques dealer. Brindsley "borrows" his neighbor's antique furniture without permission in an effort to impress his visitors. Harold returns unexpectedly, and the others must try to replace the furniture "before the lights come back on or before he notices it."

Another neighbor, Miss Furnival, is also prim and proper. When the lights go out, she accidently drinks large quantities of gin rather than lemonade and begins to kick up her heels a bit.

THE PLAY was chosen "mainly because of the acting challenge in it," Logan said. The reversal of darkness and light on stage is a challenge.

The play provides roles that are fairly equal for the eight cast members. The play's set in London, so student actors are required to speak with British accents and, for one cast member, in German.

The students will have been rehearsing for about seven weeks when the show opens. They'll take "Black Comedy" on the road in January and February for Michigan Interscholastic Forensics Association competition.

Tickets for "Black Comedy," priced at $3.50, are available at the Salem auditorium. Tickets are also available at the Plymouth Antique Emporium, Main at Penniman in downtown Plymouth, and will be sold at the door performance evenings. For ticket information, call 459-3518.

The "Black Comedy" cast includes: Jeremy Rosenberg, appearing as Brindsley Miller; Melanie Farrow as Carol Melkett; Kim Baldwin as Miss Furnival; Andy LeRoy as Colonel Melkett; Jeff Zarosley as Harold Gorringe; Tom Swarthout as Schuppanzigh; Julie Prince as Clea; George McConnell as Georg Bamberger; Stacy Schaffer, Kendall understudy, George McConnell, understudy for Brindsley and Harold; Jason Krolicki, understudy for Colonel Melkett and Schuppanzigh.

His goal: foster understanding

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Rabbi Craig Allen hopped into his car and drove 1,500 miles from Houston, Texas, to Livonia. After a few fill-ups at the gas station, he arrived at Livonia Jewish Congregation to find out everything is just fine.

In fact, the congregation has been able to function without a rabbi for more than a year. Rabbi Martin Gordon left in August of last year for an assignment in Laredo, Texas.

Experienced lay people in the congregation helped out with the services. Other times, for weddings or funerals, a visiting rabbi pitched in.

All of which is quite remarkable, considering Livonia Jewish Congregation is one of only two synagogues in Wayne County and has 78 family members.

"There is some reason the synagogue has worked," said Allen, 43, who arrived last week. "I'll find that out and put my own personality into it . . . and seek out the advice of those around me."

SOME ADVICE might be needed. As leader of the only synagogue in northwest Wayne County, the rabbi is highly visible. Already, Allen will become a Livonia police chaplain and will be involved in Livonia's prayer breakfast.

Also, the face of the congregation has changed through the years. The Livonia Jewish Congregation bore the brunt of members moving to other communities. In the wake of the transitional period, a younger membership has emerged.

Such realizations don't bother Allen as much as intrigue him. After he explains his background, it's easy to understand why.

Allen was one of only 18 Jewish chaplains in the U.S. Army. He was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., where only 65 out of 30,000 soldiers were Jewish.

'We're not threatened by other religions. Our duty, in fact, is to strengthen other religions.'
— Rabbi Craig Allen

"It was a constant struggle," Allen said. "Jiminy Cricket was my role in that environment. I had to point violations of First Amendment rights — the lack of accommodating religious freedom. You continually had school prayer, training violations . . . latent or overt anti-Semitism and racism."

Though the Army is an unusual path for a rabbi, it was natural for Allen who served in the Vietnam War. He was a private with the Nha Thrang Signal Battalion in Dong Ba Thin in 1969.

ALLEN BEGAN studying books on Jewish philosophy during his year in Vietnam.

When he was discharged in 1970, Allen returned to his first love — composing music. He quickly found it was difficult to make a living writing musical pieces. He returned to service, this time to the Navy School of Music in Norfolk, Va.

Allen attended the seminary in order to become a rabbi, enrolling at the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York and later the Academy for Jewish Religion. Upon his ordination, he returned to the service to become a chaplain at Fort Benning.

While at Fort Benning, Allen organized the first Holocaust memorial service at the base. Also, he composed a piece of music using the poetry of children at a Nazi death camp as an inspiration.

"Hopefully, music will impact on my agenda here," Allen said.

Before accepting his new position in Livonia, Allen taught Hebrew at Rice University and worked with Hillel, an organization for college-age youths, at the University of Houston.

This area is not new to Allen. He grew up in Port Huron and his wife, Diane, has family in Southfield and Oak Park. The Allens have two children, Ian, 17, and Aaron, 13.

Allen talks of his preserving Jewish tradition andfostering better understanding between the synagogue and other people in the community.

With anti-Semitism reportedly on the rise, Allen believes generally ignorance about Judaism is the problem.

"We're not threatened by other religions," Allen said. "Our duty, in fact, is to strengthen other religions.

Rabbi Craig Allen is the new leader of the Livonia Jewish Congregation.

"The real problem is the inability to view religion as several different paths to God."

Racism within, around us tough to change

Rev. Robert Schaden

From time to time we hear things that make us wonder where we have been, and perhaps more importantly, where we are headed. This happened to me recently when I overheard a woman complaining that a black man had come into a store in her neighborhood "as if he had every right."

The woman was white. She went on to explain that she herself was not a racist because she had worked with black people and even eaten lunch with them on occasion. But she wondered aloud why they can't stay in their own place.

A short time after this, I had the privilege of meeting one of those people who make a difference even in the meeting. She is well-educated and does the human race proud. She was giving a workshop to a campus ministry group on the topic of racism.

This woman was black. She began our time together by inviting us (we were all white) to ask her anything we might want to ask a black person but had not for whatever reason. The result was a very memorable evening.

I WOULD like to believe that the woman who made the remark about black people staying in their place is as convinced of her sincerity as the leader of the workshop. She no doubt believed what she said when she claimed not to be a racist.

Attitudinal change comes with difficulty. But for starters we would do well to listen to ourselves talk, to monitor ourselves thinking, to check out our reactions.

Perhaps racism carries the same debit as other isms such as sexism, materialism and alcoholism. On careful scrutiny, they all represent addictive behavior.

More often than not, it takes a long time for an addict to admit to his or her addiction. Denial is very much a major ingredient. Those afflicted often remain convinced that the addiction is a problem other people have. Or perhaps it is seen as a problem I used to have.

Perhaps this is part of the reality that keeps racism alive in a world that should know better by now. There is a myth afloat that racism pretty much died out after the riots of the 1960s. And if it is still around it is among KKK types and neo-Nazis.

True, there are the unabashed racists, such as the man on the East Coast who recently left the Knights of Columbus because he was told that his KKK activity was at odds with what the Knights professed. Unfortunately, our professions do not always match our attitudes and our behaviors.

THE REAL problem, however, would seem to be those of us who cannot see or admit to the racism within us and around us. People are never motivated to change something they do not believe exists.

And even the admission is not enough. Attitudinal change comes with difficulty. But for starters, we would do well to listen to ourselves talk, to monitor ourselves thinking, to check out our reactions.

What do we do when we see a black in an otherwise white neighborhood? How do we react when we are told he or she is Arabic or Jewish or Japanese? What are our presumptions about people of color? How do we think on these things?

The answers may be only a beginning. But we do have to start somewhere if we are ever to know that all races do have their place and that is together in life.

What would you have asked the woman had you been to the workshop? Then if we could be as open to one another's answers as she was to our questions, perhaps we could discover that there is only meant to be one place and it belongs to all of us.

The Rev. Robert Schaden is with the Newman House campus ministry at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The church bulletin is published every Thursday in The Observer. Information must be received in the Livonia office by noon the Monday prior to publication.

● SINGLE POINT

Single Point Ministries of Ward Presbyterian Church hosts discussion on the second and fourth Friday of the month. There is a welcoming session for new participants at 7:15 p.m. and the program begins at 7:45 p.m. On Friday, Oct. 26, the topic will be recycling. Single Point Ministries is the adult ministry of Ward Presbyterian Church. The church is at the corner of Six Mile and Farmington roads in Livonia. For information, call 422-1854.

● TRICK OR TREAT

From 2-4:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 28, children of Newburg United Methodist Church in Livonia will be helping other kids by trick or treating for UNICEF in the neighborhood around the church. Those interested in participating may call 422-0149. A Halloween party will follow for children participating in the fund-raising event.

● VISITING MINISTER

The Rev. H. Syvelle Phillips will be ministering at the 6 p.m. service Sunday, Oct. 28, at Westland Full Gospel Church, 34033 Palmer. Phillips has spoken at many camp meetings, conventions and ministry institutes and has appeared as a guest on the "700 Club" and on other Christian media programs. He is the founder of Evangel Bible Translators, a missionary ministry dedicated to involving Full Gospel Charismatic people in Bible translation of the Word of God.

● GOSPEL SINGING

Redford Church of God, 26119 Southwestern, three blocks west of Beech Daly and one block north of Plymouth, will have gospel singing at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 28. For information, call 937-3135.

● STEROIDS

Guy Lotowica, an experienced body builder, will discuss the topic "No Shortcuts," the ills of steroids and drugs, 9:45-10:45 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 28, at Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church, 14175 Farmington, Livonia. The event is part of a six-week program offered at the church focusing on controversial health issues facing young people. For information, call 522-6830.

● MULTIPLYING MINISTRY

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will be starting a new program to expand its ministry. Church members Bonnie Habbersett, Andy Hindmarsh and Norm Skeirik attended a two-week leader's training course on the Stephen Series. The Stephen Series is a system for training and organizing lay people to do caring ministry in and around their congregation.

At the two weeks of intensive training, they were equipped with materials and knowledge to educate others in the art of Christian helping. They also learned a system for organizing and administering the work of lay caregivers.

Overall, there are more than 2,700 congregations, agencies and military base chapels across the U.S., Canada, Japan, Australia, Germany and the Middle East using the Stephen Series.

Anyone interested in learning more about the ministry can call 422-1470. For information on starting a ministry using the Stephen Series, call (314) 645-5511.

● CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Members of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Dearborn, will have a free lecture 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 30. Margarita Sandelmann Thatcher will discuss the topic "Finding God's Promise: Life Without Age." Thatcher is a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship and is a Christian Science teacher. Young children will be cared for in the nursery. The church is at 22000 Morley, Dearborn. For information, call 274-1833.

● WORLD COMMUNITY

Church Women United of Suburban Detroit will have "World Community Day" 12:45 p.m. Friday, Nov. 2, at Lola Valley United Methodist Church, 16175 Delaware, east of Inkster and four blocks north of Five Mile, Redford. Rosemary Hagerman McGhee from SOSAD (Save Our Sons and Daughters) will discuss "Women for Justice — Justice for Women." Baby-sitting will be available.

● BLOOD DRIVE

Good Shepherd Reformed Church, 6500 N. Wayne, Westland, will have its semi-annual Red Cross blood drive 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 3. Walk-in donors will be accepted. For information, call 421-9097.

● KNOW THE BIBLE

A "Walk Through the Bible" Old Testament seminar will take place 7-10 p.m. Friday, Nov. 2, and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 3, at the Fairlane Assembly Central, 22575 Ann Arbor Trail, Dearborn Heights. For information, call 561-3300.

● QUILT SHOW

Aldersgate United Methodist Church will have its fourth annual quilt show 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Nov. 2-3, at the church, 10000 Beech Daly, between Plymouth Road and West Chicago, Redford. More than 100 quilts will be displayed. A video and a demonstration of quilting will be among new features this year. Admission price is $1. For information, call 937-3170.

● FAITH SINGING

Dust and Ashes will perform 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 13, at Aldersgate United Methodist Church, 10000 Beech Daly, Redford. The Christian singing group has built a repertoire with a range of styles and content using guitars, bass and keyboard. The public may attend.

● LIFESTYLE SEMINAR

Berean Bible Church is sponsoring a "Reach Your Unreached Neighbors" seminar 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 3. Four sessions and a lunch are included. Price is $5 per person or $7 per couple. anniversaries

Couple marks 25th anniversary

John (Jack) and Donna Longridge of Canton are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. The celebration included a party for friends and relatives. The party was hosted by the couple's two sons, John and Bob.

John Longridge and Donna Brindley were married Oct. 22, 1965, at St. Joseph Catholic Church in Dearborn. They have lived in the Canton community for 19 years.

They have two sons, John Jr. of Westland and Robert of Canton.

The Longridges are members of St. John Neumann Parish in Canton. They met as 11th grade students at Fordson High School, began to date and were married five years later to the day.

new voices

Craig and Charisse Miller of Canton announce the birth of a daughter, Karie Lynn, Sept. 19 at Sinai Hospital in Detroit. Grandparents are Chuck and Catherine Miller of Plymouth and Ronald and Darlene Nagy of Canton. Karie has a sister, Janelle.

Michael and Martha Waddell of Canton announce the birth of a son, Adam Michael, Oct. 3, at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. Grandparents are Frances Kenney of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Robert and Donna Welton of Middleville, Mich.

Scott and Nancy Arlen of Plymouth announce the birth of a son, Andrew Cole Arlen, Aug. 11, at Sinai Hospital in Detroit. Grandparents are Roger and Margaret Cole of Plymouth and Dick and Alice Arlen of Plymouth.

You can announce births

The Observer publishes announcements of childbirths and adoptions for current and former Plymouth/Canton residents.

Birth announcements should include the child's full name and gender, date and place of birth (including city or township). The names and hometown of parents (including the mother's first name) should be included, along with the names and hometowns of living grandparents and great-grandparents.

First names and ages of older siblings in the family are also included in birth announcements. A similar format should be followed for adoption announcements, although the child's age rather than birthdate should be used in a case where an older child is adopted.

Written items should be sent to the Observer, 744 Wing, Plymouth, Mich. 48170. The newspaper publishes birth/adoption announcements in cases where grandparents are current or former Plymouth/Canton residents. A daytime phone number of a person who can verify information should be included; that number will not be published.

Salem, Mass. is the home of the infamous Salem Witch Trials of 1692, when more than 200 people were accused of being witches, 23 were convicted and 19 were hanged. This modeled witch trial is staged with mannequins. Here, the scene shows Rev. George Burrough's being hanged at Gallows Hill.

Witch trials haunt Salem for Halloween

Spooky tales bring chills to gothic town

By Phyllis Kreger Stillman
special writer

It's Halloween every day of the year in Salem, the "witch city" of Massachusetts, but the chills and thrills are at high pitch for the seven days between now and Halloween.

The whole city participates in the Halloween festivities, with costumed storytellers scaring the wits out of the kids with spooky tales, haunted houses and pirate walks.

A group of magicians will hold a seance, as they do every year, to try to make contact with the ghost of Harry Houdini, and this year they will do it at a secret location in Salem.

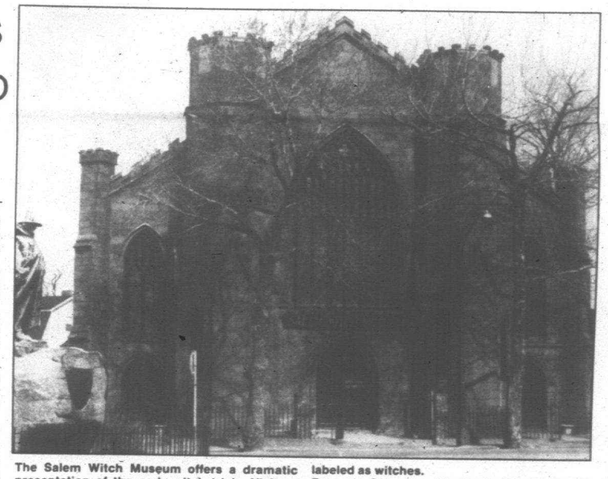
Salem is, after all, the home of the infamous Salem Witch Trials of 1692, when more than 200 people were accused of being witches, 23 were convicted and 19 were hanged. For years the town tried to live down its reputation; now they are living it up, especially on Halloween.

In 1689, the Reverend Samuel Parris moved to Salem with his family - his wife; a daughter, Elizabeth; a niece, Abigail Williams; and two slaves from the West Indies, John and his wife, Tituba. Few activities were acceptable for girls in the Puritan society, so Elizabeth and Abigail had very few outlets for their energies.

To alleviate some of their boredom, Tituba would tell them, and several of their friends, stories. Because of Tituba's background, many of these stories were based on voodoo.

Soon after the stories began, the girls started behaving oddly. They were subject to convulsive fits and constriction in their throats, and they often stared into space or cried out in what appeared to be hypnotic states.

A doctor who was brought in to examine the girls found nothing physically wrong with them. At this period in history, many people believed in witches and possession by the devil. Since he could find no other explanation for their affliction, the doctor concluded that the girls were under the spell of witchcraft.



The Salem Witch Museum offers a dramatic presentation of the early witch trials. Visitors are ushered into a darkened room as a narrator tells the story of the hysterical girls who lied and sent many innocent people to their death, labeled as witches.
For years Salem has tried to live down its reputation; now they are living it up the week of Halloween.

The girls were repeatedly questioned as to who was casting spells on them. Eventually, one of the girls broke under interrogation and accused three women, one of them Tituba, of being witches.

And that's how the infamous witch trials of Salem began - with the rantings of bored, repressed, hysterical girls. Years later, one of the girls asked for forgiveness in public, and confessed that most of what she and her friends said during the period was untrue and most of their symptoms were manufactured.

Two museums in Salem, The Salem Witch Museum and The Witch Dungeon Museum, graphically tell the story. A third attraction, The Witch House, is the restored home of one of the judges who served on the witch trials; he held pretrial hearings in his bed chambers.

The Salem Witch Museum offers a dramatic presentation of the story. Visitors are ushered into a darkened room. As a narrator tells the story of the hysterical girls and the inhumanity of the witchtrials, 13 different raised stage settings are illuminated in sequence.

The Witch Dungeon Museum, 16 Lynde Street, has its own horrors to offer. After briefly explaining the story, a Salem Witch Trial is reenacted by actresses portraying an accuser and the accused.

As the tour continues downstairs into the pitch dark dungeon, I had no trouble getting caught up in the spirit of the times. Mannequins are used to depict prisoners in cells.

Prisoners were treated in a sub-human manner. Forced to pay for their room and board, those who could not afford better accommodations were housed in telephone booth-size cells, so small that the prisoner was unable to sit or even kneel, but had to remain standing at all times. The food was rotten and stale, and the water was salted so that prisoners would be even more thirsty and would have to buy more water.

In this damp, dark dungeon, I could feel the despair the prisoners must have felt (even though this is not the actual dungeon but a recreation.) To be treated the way they were and to live in the darkness and discomfort must have sapped the strength and sanity of all but the very strong.

The Witch House, 310½ Essex Street, is, aside from its connection to the witch trials, an interesting place to visit. Built in the 1640's, Witch House is a good example of what the home of a wealthy person looked like during that period.

The Salem Witch Museum is open year round, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with presentations every half hour. Admission is $3.50 for adults, $3 for senior citizens, and $2 for children.

The Witch Dungeon Museum is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., May through early-November. Admission is $3.50 for adults, $3 for senior citizens, and $2 for children.

The Witch House is open through the end of November, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Admission is $3 for adults, $2.50 for senior citizens, and $1.50 for children.

Despite the dominance of the witch theme, Salem has many other attractions. Nathaniel Hawthorne was born and raised in Salem. The setting for his novel "The House of the Seven Gables" was based on the home of his cousin near the harbor in Salem. The home, with its hidden staircase used when it was a stop on the underground railroad, is open for tours year round.

Peabody Museum, East India Square, is the oldest continuously operating museum in the United States. It was formed by a group of mariners in 1799 who brought back curiosities from their voyages around the world. The museum now houses more than 300,000 objects, displayed in over 30 galleries.

Instructors meet at party to take fear out of diving

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

If scuba diving is an eerie idea that you have always wanted to explore, you should join John Burns and his fellow dive instructors at a Halloween party Oct. 30. The only thing you'll dive into is a glass of witch's brew, but it will be a good place to explore the underwater world.

John Burns, who grew up in Farmington and now lives in Novi, never expected to spend so much of his life underwater. He spent four years in the U.S. Navy but he didn't really discover scuba diving until he was back in Michigan, signed up as a student at Oakland Community College.

"I needed a few credits and decided to do a fun course," he said.

IT WAS so much fun that he soon assisted OCC dive instructor Tom Williams of Novi and started exploring the shipwrecks of the Great Lakes and the great barrier reefs that run between Belize and Cozumel. Burns says that this reef is second only to the Great Barrier Reef in Australia.

Burns is now the manager of Recreational Diving Systems Inc. of Royal Oak, which offers splash parties, scuba diving lessons and trips that range from overnight in the Bahamas to a cruise aboard the Tropical Princess to Bali.

Ghosts and goblins lurk at Toledo zoo

Iris Jones

If you are planning a day trip to the Toledo Museum of Art for the highly recommended exhibit "Impressionism: Selections From Five American Museums," take the kids along and have a little scary Halloween fun at the Toledo Zoo.

The Toledo chapter of the American Association of Zookeepers will once again host the Haunted House at the Zoo 6-10 p.m. Oct. 27 through 29. It's for kids 13 and older and costs $3 per person plus $2 to park.

Children of all ages will enjoy the Pumpkin Path, which returns to the Toledo Zoo for the fifth year. More than 500 carved pumpkins light the Zoo's pathways, leading costumed visitors to different decorated stations staffed by Zoo employees and volunteers. That's Wednesday Oct. 31 from 5 p.m to 8:30 p.m., admission $1. Kids must be accompanied by an adult.

Witch tales bring visitors to Salem

The Salem Maritime National Historic Site is a nine acre complex on the waterfront which has been restored and which illustrates Salem's illustrious past as a port - Salem was once the sixth largest port in the United States.

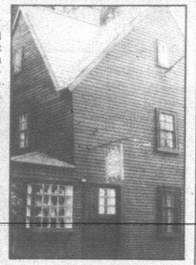
It is easy to tour most of Salem on foot. There is a booklet published by the Chamber of Commerce, available free at Chamber offices and at most attractions, which outlines a walking tour of the city. Paths are painted on the sidewalks, so you won't have to worry about getting lost.

For a copy of the booklet or more information about Salem, write the Salem Chamber of Commerce, Old Town Hall, 32 Derby Square, Salem, Mass. 01970, or call (508) 744-0004.

There are plenty of accommodations near the downtown area. We stayed outside of town at a bed and breakfast in Manchester, about eight miles from downtown Salem.

The Old Corner Inn was built in 1865, and at one time served as the Danish Summer Embassy. The inn, at 2 Harbour Street (State Route 127), is located in a quiet, residential neighborhood. Rates start at $50 and include a continental breakfast. Call (508) 526-4996.

Another bed and breakfast which looks lovely and has it's own stretch of private beach on the ocean is the White House Inn. The inn is located at 18 Norman Street, just off State Route 127, in Magnolia, a couple miles further out. Off season rates start at $60 and include a homemade breakfast. Call (508) 525-3642.



The house featured in Nathaniel Hawthorne's noval, "The House of the Seven Gables" sits near the harbor in Salem, Mass.

Here are some other Haunting Halloween Happenings:

In Saugatuck there is a Halloween Harvest Festival Oct. 26-27. For information call (616) 857-2300. From Oct. 26-28 enjoy a Haunted Halloween Walk in Trenton 675-7300. That same weekend East Tawas and Tawas City are hosting an Oktoberfest at the city docks. Call (800)-55-TAWAS for more information.

At Crossroads Village in Flint Ghosts and Goodies abound from Oct. 26-30. Call 736-7100 for more information.

Oct. 27 is a great day for scaring up some fun, with the following events featured: There will be a Halloween Scare Trail in the Dr. T. K. Lawless Park in Cassopolis (616) 445-8611.

Closer to home, the Detroit Historical Museum will host a Halloween Party. Get into the "spirit" of things at this costume party on the haunted streets of Old Detroit. For more information call 833-1419.

Experience Sloan's Spooky Saturday at the Sloan Museum in Flint, (313) 762-1169. A Halloween Parade and Party will take place at Midtown Mall in Iron Mountain (906) 774-0481.

If you enjoy magic, the Magic Show at the Houghton Lake Playhouse will be the place to go on the 27th. Call (517) 366-5644.

In Hastings, the Barry Country Expo Center will be the home of the Fiddler's Jamboree and Dance on the same day. For information call (313) 434-3442.

Visit Dracula's Dungeon from October 28-31 at the Gratiot Historical Barn in Ithaca, (517) 875-5043.

The Shanghai Acrobats and Imperial Warriors of Peking, featuring acrobats, magicians and jugglers of the Peking Opera, tour the state the last week of October. In Jackson they will be appearing at the Porter Center Music Hall at Jackson Community College on Oct. 27. Call (517) 789-1600.

They will also appear in Ann Arbor at U of M's Power Center on Oct. 28. Call 763-8587. From there they will go to Kalamazoo, where they will perform at the Miller Auditorium at Western Michigan Univeristy. For more information on their Kalamazoo appearance call (800) 228-9858.

Cranbrook Writers' Guild is auctioning off several Royal Viking cruises during its Literary Soiree and Auction Saturday Oct. 27, with proceeds to go to aspiring writers. The silent auction will be held at 8 p.m., live auction at 9 p.m., at Cranbrook House Library, 380 Lone Pine Rd., Bloomfield Hills. Tickets ar $25 per person.

The Guild holds regular events at Cranbrook to raise money for the annual Cranbrook Writer's Gui'd Summer Conference, which has been helping university-level aspiring writers for 23 years.

A seven-day cruise for two people to Bermuda on the Royal Viking Line, valued at $4,000 by the cruise line, is one of several cruises donated by Royal Viking and The Cruise Society of Bloomfield Hills.

If you want to evaluate this cruise, call Royal Viking (800) 422-8000. Their regular per person rates range from $1,260 in an inside room in the "basement" of the ship, to $3,500 for a penthouse. That $4,000 would buy two people one of the best cabins, suites are higher.

A number of other items will be auctioned, including a 1790 John Dryden book, a Ben Shahn graphic and numerous rare or unusual books. Call Frank Angelo at 646-6058 to make absentee bids or for more information.

Divers talk 'underwater' at party

Rec Dive is owned by Mike Kohut of Bloomfield Hills. It's a good place to learn about diving and to meet the instructors who lead their trips from shipwrecks to coral reefs worldwide.

YOU'LL FIND them all together at the Halloween Party which starts at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 30, at Pasquale's Restaurant in Royal Oak. Make your $10 reservation by calling Rec Dive, as the insiders call it, at 549-0303.

"Lots of people are intrigued by diving but they think it would be too difficult. It's not. I've taught basic skills in three or four hours, although we recommend the regular seven week course, which can often be done in the winter.

"The fear that most people must overcome is the fear of water itself. They may know how to swim but they are not sure about going underwater.

"PEOPLE WHO want to explore diving should sign up for a splash party. We go into three feet of water and that gives them a taste.

"We do the basic teaching in a pool and then graduate from that to open water. One of our open water sites is near Toledo."

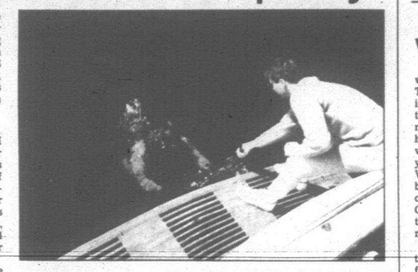
There are of course many dive shops in the area that offer all or some of these services, including Don's Dive Shop in Farmington Hills, Divers Inc. in Ann Arbor, US Scuba Center in Rochester Hills, Great Lakes Diving in Novi, Spud's Underwater Outfitters in Union Lake.

AS FOR diving under ice, I heard those stories from diver Steve Harrington, A Grand Rapids attorney who is the author of "Divers Guide to Michigan," a 300-page guide to the most popular dive destinations in the state. (It's available from Maritime Press, P.O. Box 275, Mason, Mich. 48854 or from your local dive shop or bookstore.)

Steve was telling me that people who put their diving equipment away as soon as the first leaves fall miss some of the best diving in Michigan.

"In fall, as less sunlight penetrates the water, some aquatic plants die, leaving the water clearer. Autumn visibility in inland lakes can approach 30 feet. In the Great Lakes, visibility can exceed 50 feet. And the water stays warm well into October.

"SOME PEOPLE even dive under the ice."



John Burns, manager of Recreational Diving Systems, Inc. of Royal Oak, conducts many of his scuba diving lessons in Isle Royal.

I was sure I didn't hear him right.

"It's true, some people dive right under the ice, using safety measures of course.

"You would have to be crazy to dive into those lakes when they're frozen," I objected.

"Nobody said that divers are a sane and sensible lot," Steve replied.

Tell you what. I love to get reader mail, so I'll stand by while you dive under the ice, using professional precautionary measures of course, and then you can write us a letter all about it. Sure.

Winter activities

Looking for things to do during the winter holiday season? The Michigan Travel Bureau has compiled a Michigan Holiday Activities fact sheet that provides a sampling of the many holiday activities and events held throughout the state during November and December. Where to cut your own tree, who has sleigh rides, Victorian-era Christmas bed and breakfast packages, a Hannukkah opera, highlights from the Winter Calendar of Events, as well as whom to contact, addresses and phone numbers are all included.

Activities range from train rides to a tree farm to sleigh rides, from a five-course dinner to sipping hot chocolate in front of a warm fire in a Victorian bed and breakfast.

Travelers needing more information may write or call the Michigan Travel Bureau, P.O. Box 30226, Lansing, 48909, (800) 5432-YES.

Rome and Athens tour

Dr. Wesolowski, an English teacher from Churchill High School and Madonna College in Livonia, has coordinated a 10-day tour of Rome and Athens.

The trip is scheduled for March 29 until April 6, 1991 but a deposit of $75 and a complete application must be mailed before Dec. 1, 1990 to reserve a spot. The trip is open to the public and is priced at $1,360.

The tour will give travelers an opportunity to visit historical cities that shaped Western Civilization.

For more information, call Dr. Wesolowski at 668-1026 or write to him at 3824 Bradford Square Dr., Ann Arbor, 48103.

Doctors study vitamin B as a stroke preventative

A metabolic defect that can lead to blood vessel disease and increase the risk of stroke may be corrected by treatment with vitamin B, according to a group of researchers from Oregon.

The metabolic defect, called mild hyperhomocysteinemia, results in slight to moderate elevations of homocysteine, an amino acid that circulates in the blood.

At normal levels, it is harmless, but new evidence suggests that mildly elevated levels can damage blood vessels and lead to atherosclerosis or "hardening of the arteries" and its related complications including stroke.

"Mild hyperhomocysteinemia may be a direct independent risk factor for atherosclerosis and an indirect risk factor for stroke," said Dr. Bruce Coull, co-author of a study published in "Stroke," an American Heart Association scientific journal. Coull is associate professor of neurology at the Oregon Health Sciences University in Portland.

Coull and his colleagues examined 130 individuals, 99 of whom had either acute stroke, transient ischemic attacks (TIA), temporary interruptions of blood flow to the brain, or were at high risk for stroke because they had two or more of its major risk factors, including high blood pressure, diabetes mellitus, smoking and atherosclerosis.

THEY FOUND that one-third of the subjects from each group had elevated levels of homocysteine. The levels were about 1½ times higher than those of a control group of 31 healthy volunteers who had no history of cardiovascular disease or stroke.

Homocysteine concentrations did not differ among patients with stroke, those with TIA, and those at risk for cerebral vascular disease, Coull said.

Most studies of hyperhomocysteinemia and heart attack have failed to show a link, but Coull suggests this could be due to their design.

Other researchers have shown that homocysteine, like cholesterol, damages blood vessels, leading to a form of atherosclerosis that is characterized by lesions on blood vessel walls. The lesions may be caused by hydrogen peroxide, a toxic chemical that is a byproduct of homocysteine metabolism, Coull said.

If a clot forms on the lesion and blocks blood flow to the heart or brain, it can trigger a heart attack or a stroke.

Coull suggested that this potentially deadly chain of events may be broken with supplements of various B vitamins (biotin, B6, B12) or folic acid, a closely related substance that acts similarly to vitamin B.

BY COMPENSATING for the metabolic error, B vitamins and folic acid allow homocysteine to be broken down in the body normally, avoiding a toxic buildup.

"By lowering the levels, we may be minimizing the ongoing damage to blood vessels and may even reverse atherosclerosis," Coull theorized.

To test this theory, the researcher has begun a long-term trial of folic acid therapy to treat 24 patients with mild hyperhomocysteinemia. Each takes a 2-milligram tablet every morning.

"Preliminary results indicate that it lowers the homocysteine in some patients," he said.

High performance liquid chromatography, an inexpensive 30-minute test that can separate chemicals from blood, is used to measure homocysteine levels. If long-term studies show that folic acid can halt the arterial insults caused by the elevations, the test could be useful as a screening tool, the scientists said.

Individuals whose atherosclerosis cannot be explained by high cholesterol levels would be likely suspects for mild hyperhomocysteinemia and thus good candidates for screening.

Once identified, those who had mild hyperhomocysteinemia could be treated with either vitamin B complex or folic acid. The folic acid works by encouraging homocysteine to undergo a chemical change that converts it into a harmless amino acid called methionine.

"Inexpensive means are at hand to detect and treat subjects with vascular disease," Coull said. "I think we have opened up new avenues of cardiovascular disease risk prevention."

Book offers items for disabled

A first-of-its-kind publication now gives disabled people the opportunity to identify products and services to help them live and work better with their disabilities.

"The Illustrated Directory of Handicapped Products" came into being as a result of one family's experience with a handicap and a resolve to help other disabled people.

The directory is a 192-page buying guide, with some 700 photographs and descriptions of products designed to aid the physically disabled. The products range from wheelchairs and other mobility products to daily living devices designed to make life easier and more enjoyable.

The products listings are organized into 16 categories and each listing includes a 50-75 word description. Manufacturer's addresses and phone numbers are included, as well as retail suppliers throughout the country.

"There hasn't been one convenient guidebook of products for the disabled until now," said Monte Mace, publisher of the book. "People have little knowledge of the many helpful products on the market. They often are forced to choose from a limited selection at list prices because dealers carry only a fraction of what's available. In rural areas, the situation is even worse."

Eleven years ago, Mace and his wife Joyce learned that their daughter Suzy had been born with Spina Bifida, a defect of the spine which causes varying degrees of muscle weakness and paralysis. Since that time, they have worked with Suzy to help her overcome and deal with the condition.

They came to realize that disabled people and their families are not always able to find the products and services they need and end up choosing from a limited number of products.

Trio Publications was created by the Maces to inform handicapped people about things that could help them and make their lives more independent. Three years ago, the company launched a card deck featuring products for the disabled which was mailed free of charge to more than 400,000 people.

The "Illustrated Directory of Handicapped Products" cost $12.95 (plus $2.50 for shipping). To order a copy, send your name and address to Trio Publications, 3600 W. Timber Ridge Ct., Lawrence, Kan. 66049.

In Vitro Fertilization

In vitro fertilization is one of several new treatments for infertility successfully being practiced at Oakwood today. This highly specialized procedure has enabled hundreds of Michigan couples, who otherwise would not have been able to conceive, to bear children. The procedure involves removal of eggs from the woman's ovaries, the addition of sperm to the eggs in the laboratory, and then placement of fertilized eggs into the uterus where the baby may develop. Physicians currently at Oakwood succeeded in developing the state's first in vitro fertilization pregnancy and have pioneered a number of new reproductive technologies.

At our state-of-the-art facility, couples undergo a comprehensive analysis process involving a team of highly skilled physicians, nurses and technicians. If you would like more information on in vitro fertilization or any of the advanced medicine we offer, your physician may refer you, or you may call the Center for Reproductive Medicine at Oakwood Hospital.

Oakwood Health Services is one of the largest health care systems in Michigan, with five hospitals, more than 30 local health care and specialty centers and more than 1,000 physicians in every major health care specialty and subspecialty. Oakwood will serve more than one-half million patients this year.

Halloween suppliers roll in dough

Demand for decorations, candy rises

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Children aren't the only ones who do well with Halloween.

Retailers who sell candy, costumes, decorations and party supplies find that the holiday can be quite lucrative, too.

"The average home visited in the suburban readership area is probably spending $7-10 for candy," said Fred Marx, a Bloomfield Hills retail consultant.

Multiply that by the number of houses with porch lights on Halloween and the dollars begin to total quickly.

Candy manufacturers and retailers don't reveal specific sales figures.

The gross margin for candy — the difference between what stores purchase wholesale then sell at retail — ranges from 20 to 35 percent, with net profits ranging from 1 to 5 percent, Marx said.

"Candy sales are significantly ahead at this time," said Dennis Wozniak, vice president of purchasing for Arbor Drugs headquartered in Troy. He declined to elaborate.

SOME ADULTS seem to enjoy Halloween as much as children.

"It's a big party time. It's gone beyond the trick-or-treat world," Wozniak said.

Andy Anusbigian, an owner of Windmill Fruit Market in Livonia, sells pumpkins, dried out corn stalks, Indian corn and gourds.

Anusbigian figures on selling some 70 tons of pumpkins this year at 15 cents per pound after paying farmers 8 to 10 cents a pound for the product. He prices decorative corn stalks at $2.99 after buying them wholesale for $1.99.

Adults do much of the carving and hold on to the stalks through Thanksgiving.

There's no doubt in Anusbigian's mind that Halloween is for adults as well as children.

Antitrust victory expected to have long-range effects

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

A Rochester Hills computer maintenance firm's legal victory will not only net the company damages nearing $30 million but will fundamentally affect how computer hardware and software suppliers do business and revitalize the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Virtual Maintenance Inc. sued Prime Computer Cos., a Massachusetts hardware and software supplier of computer-aided design/computer-aided manufacturing (CAD/CAM), for its practice of tying customer software revisions to hardware maintenance contracts.

Virtual Maintenance's attorney, Jamal John Hamood, of the law firm Moll Desenberg & Bayer, with Detroit and Southfield offices, said Prime Computer was trying to create a monopoly.

Companies that purchase software and hardware frequently require updates, he explained, because needs change. "What Prime was doing is saying we won't sell you software revisions unless you sign a maintenance contract with us," Hamood said.

"But customers were saying that if they could get (a third-party maintenance firm) to take over maintenance, they could save a lot money," he said. "Prime's contract wouldn't allow that."

HAMOOD SAID he fully expects the case will be appealed. "Any time you get an award of that size, you expect an appeal, he said. "Usually, you appeal to get a settlement."

If appealed, the case would be heard in the U.S. Sixth Appellate Court in Cincinnati.

Attorneys from Honigman Miller Schwartz and Cohn, who represented Prime Computer Companies, did not return phone calls.

Rodger Young, also of Moll Desenberg & Bayer, said the case is important for three reasons.

"First, the size of the verdict is one of the largest anti-trust cases handed down in recent memory," he said.

United States Federal District Court for the Eastern District in Michigan jury awarded Virtual Maintenance Inc. $8.5 million in damages — an award that is trebled under the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Attorney fees, court costs and interest, since the case was filed June 2, 1989, will result in a judgment of roughly $30 million.

Second, the case will have a significant impact on other computer companies that may have been considering similar unfair business practices, Young said.

OTHER COMPUTER companies have been considering tying maintenance and software revisions together, he said.

"Computer companies are having a hard time making profits (through the sale of equipment and software) so computer maintenance is a good way of increasing revenues."

Oil: An economic key

By By R.J. King
special writer

The invasion of Kuwait by Iraq has hit home in more ways than the obvious deployment of U.S. men and women to the Middle East.

"Sentiment among economists right now is 2-1 that we will be in a full-scale recession by the end of the year or early next," said Ronald L. Tracy, chairman of the economics department at Oakland University in Rochester.

"The severity of the winter will have a big impact on how bad the economy gets, and if it's really severe, the country could lose thousands of jobs along with billions of dollars in production."

In the minds of most economists, Tracy said the third oil recession since the early 1970s will cause price increases on everything from tires to tulips as businesses pass on higher production and transportation costs to consumers.

In turn, consumers will find their spending power diminished across the board as higher prices at the pump invariably means demand falls for everything else. As sales decline, businesses cut back investment in new equipment and limit their inventories, spreading the decline further.

And the inflationary impact is magnified as higher prices cause workers to offset their reduced spending power by calling for higher wages, putting further restraints on company ledgers.

IN A HOSTILE economic environment, what sectors of the local economy are likely to be affected by the run-up of oil prices? And how will they respond?

The list includes automotive manufacturers and suppliers, office buildings, schools, universities, shopping malls, grocery stores, and service outlets that deliver, to name a few.

"Actually I think we can survive this oil crisis a lot better than the last two (in 1973 and 1975)," said Frank Patak, manager of building systems for Kirco Realty & Development Ltd. in Troy, which owns and

Locking purchasers into maintenance programs, he said, is a good way of insuring a steady income. The problem, Young said, is it locks out competitors.

"This decision sends a clear signal that won't be tolerated," Young said.

Third, the award reinforces the basic tenets of the Sherman Antitrust Act, Young said.

"This is a harbinger in a very real sense of the word that antitrust laws are a viable tool in keeping the market open," he said. Enforcement of antitrust laws, he explained, has been lax in the past decade due in large part to its low priority for the presidential administrations during the 1980s.

There are some rare instances in which tying one aspect of a product with another was upheld by the courts, specifically when a company holds a patent on a product or when a company has done a great deal of research into a product, he said. and Prime Computers argued this was such an example.

'Computer companies are having a hard time making profits, so computer maintenance is a good way of increasing revenues.'
— Rodger Young

But Prime Computers neither invented CAD/CAM software nor computers, and was thus unable to argue its programs are unique to warrant excluding third-party hardware maintenance firms.

Hamood said the case sends a clear signal that unfair trade practices won't be tolerated. "The jury awarded us every single cent we asked for because it was such a clear-cut case of a company trying to prevent competition and carve out a monopoly," he said.

PRIME COMPUTERS contends its hardware and software is so unique that both hardware maintenance and software revisions are really one product and therefore they need to be performed by the same company, he said.

"That argument falls apart because no other computer companies make that claim, Prime was allowing (the Ford Motor Co.) to do its own maintenance, and Virtual Maintenance has already demonstrated it can do the computer maintenance," Hamood said.

"We say the two are distinctly different products," he said.

Rodgers said the case was made more complicated because the old antitrust laws are being applied to a new technology that is only now coming of age.

When the Sherman Antitrust Act was written in the early 1900s, there was no such thing as computers, let alone CAD/CAM, he said. It may be appropriate, he added, to change or update many of the country's older statutes to more accurately reflect the time.

Oil is key to future of U.S. economy manages several large office developments in metropolitan Detroit.

"We're so much more resilient than we were in the '70s. All our heating and cooling systems are computer-monitored, and we've made great strides by installing plenty of insulation and energy-efficient windows."

Asked if harsh conditions this winter would affect rent prices in his office buildings, Patak said the industry as a whole has achieved energy savings of 40 to 50 percent since the '70s, and rents would not likely be raised when leases come up for renewal.

'We can't readily pass on costs to our customers because we're locked into contracts. We have to ask for a surcharge and then back it up with receipts. The paperwork is mind-boggling.'
— James Lash purchasing agent United Paint

BUT THE SITUATION is much different at United Paint & Chemical Corp. in Southfield, which relies heavily on petroleum products to produce coatings for its automotive and industrial clients.

"We have to check prices daily from suppliers. There's no long-term planning anymore," said James Lash, purchasing agent for United Paint, which has seen prices from its suppliers jump 5 to 7 percent since August.

"We're also in a very touchy situation. We can't readily pass on costs to our customers because we're locked into contracts. We have to ask for a surcharge and then back it up with receipts. The paperwork is mind-boggling."

As a general rule, suppliers would try to absorb as much of the price increases as possible because of competition, Lash said.

"You don't want to lose customers now," he said.

MOVING UP the supply ladder to production, Vince Muniga, manager of product publicity for the Cadillac division of General Motors, said more expensive fuel today was not of overriding concern to customers.

"If availability becomes a problem and shortages cause long lines at the pump, then we'll see more people shift to fuel-efficient cars. But right now, it's not a problem."

Because automotive companies make more money from larger cars, Muniga said the industry has learned to insulate itself from sale shocks by producing cars that are lighter, more aerodynamic and more fuel efficient.

"We're better prepared today than we were in the late '70s for a jump in oil prices," he said. "Then one of the big cars would get eight miles to the gallon in the city. Today it gets twice that."

AS FOR THE SERVICE sector, small businesses that deliver everything from pizza to petunias are feeling an immediate pinch from higher fuel costs.

"In our local market, we've kept delivery costs at $3.95, and that's not likely to rise soon," said Gordon Reno, who with his wife, Linda, owns Wesley Berry of Plymouth Township, a florist shop.

"But we use a service to deliver further away, and they've added a 5-percent surcharge now, so we've had to add that to the cost of the purchase. We certainly don't like doing that."

Because flowers arrive daily from suppliers, Reno said rising transportation costs are bound to be added to wholesale costs, although prices have remained stable since August when the Middle East crisis began.

"I enjoy it as much as the kids do. When I'm in the house, I'm dressed up passing out candy. I get to a Halloween party every year," he said.

THE MONTH of October leading up to Halloween is crucial to the financial health of Century Novelty in Livonia.

"It's our profit picture for the year," said Kevin Madigan, who owns the business. "We'll struggle all year long without making a profit. It's a tough business, a hard business."

It's become even harder since major merchandisers like K mart and Target got into Halloween in a big way about a decade ago, Madigan added.

"We'll do a tremendous business, but not what we used to do," he said. "The difference between us and them is depth of merchandise line. They'll have basic items . . . but if you're looking for something unusual, you have to go to guys like us."

You can buy almost any knick-knack relating to Halloween in Madigan's store. A rubberized George Bush mask retails for $14.95, a generic pig mask for $7.95. Little pumpkin erasers go for 10 cents apiece, small plastic puzzles 19 cents.

A 55-INCH Frankenstein's monster cut-out sells for $2.98, smaller witch and pumpkin cut-outs for less than 50 cents.

"The lower the price of the item, generally the higher the mark-up," Madigan said, adding that masks and costumes usually retail for at least 100 percent of wholesale purchase price.

TAX DEDUCTION

Now our home equity loans are an even sweeter deal.

Get an interest credit of up to $50.
Put the equity you have in your home to work for you with a Comerica home equity loan.
The interest may be fully tax deductible* – and if you apply between September 17 and November 16, 1990, you'll receive an interest credit of up to $50. And Comerica gives you these four loans to choose from.

- IDEAL CREDIT LINE–A credit line ($5,000 to $20,000) accessed by check or IDEAL VISA® card.
- EQUITY LINE–A credit line ($20,000 to $200,000) you access by check.
- FIXED EQUITY INSTALLMENT LOAN–A fixed-payment, fixed-rate loan in amounts from $5,000 to $50,000.
- AUTO EQUITY LOAN–A fixed-rate loan to be used to purchase a car. You may borrow up to the maximum available equity you have in your home.

Use the money to consolidate other higher interest rate loans, make home improvements, pay for education expenses, or even buy that dream car. Whatever need you might have, a Comerica home equity loan makes a lot of sense. Because when it comes to borrowing money, there's no place like home.

Saturn's ladies must like porches in Tennessee

By Dan McCosh
special writer

Car advertising has been getting a little weird lately.

The straight-forward pitch, whereby you get a catchy jingle and a direct order to buy the car from the star of a major TV show, seems to have disappeared altogether. The counterculture approach, where you got a short, cute understatement about the virtues of a trendy import that left you feeling morally superior if you bought the car, likewise has faded.

Both these types of ads sold cars, but then somebody notices the jeans ads.

JEANS ADS are the advertising equivalent of the Wizard of Oz, since they start out with a pair of pants worth maybe about 12 bucks and star them in a surrealistic TV commercial filled with images that are supposed to make you feel that if you pay about 40 bucks for these pants, you will get to hang out on street corners and a person of the opposite sex will hang all over you.

It seemed inevitable that ads that sell a $12 pair of pants for $40 would drift over into the car business.

Image advertising got a jump start with the Heartbeat of America line at Chevrolet, a series of images (and a catchy jingle) that left you feeling as if you had been to the state fair, with cotton candy still stuck in your hair.

Dan McCosh

THIS SEEMED like a good idea, although you could wander down to your local Chevy dealer a little confused, since a lot of people now had little kids who expected to see elephants instead of a lot of dumb cars.

Then came Joe Isuzu, a series of ads that left you feeling that if you bought this car, you had just bought the Brooklyn Bridge at a considerable discount.

Things really got fuzzy when Volkswagen started singing an incomprehensible song about four Fig Newtons, which baffled even those in their third year of German lessons. Infiniti seemed to be making the statement that if you could afford this car, you really didn't need to drive, but you could sit on the edge of a cliff somewhere and look out over the ocean.

PART OF the trick to image advertising is to match the images with the potential customer's lifestyle.

The new Saturn ads are heavy on dogs, children and old guys on front porches in rural Tennessee. Not really so surprising when you consider that the agency that did them, Hal Riney, sold a lot of cheap wine with a couple of old guys sitting on the front steps of a grocery store, but a little strange when you consider that Saturn is supposed to appeal mainly to LA-type women in their early thirties, who up to now have been known to identify more with Navaho art, BMWs and West Coast shorelines than with rural Tennessee.

SINCE RINEY is from San Francisco, and up on the latest in West Coast trends, he must figure that LA-type women have changed their ways. If this is true, even now there must be a caravan of BMWs with "Shop Till You Drop" bumper stickers headed east in search of the simple life, dogs, children, old men on porches and Saturn cars.

I don't mind admitting I found it a lot simpler when the show ended and the blond lady said MMMMMMMMUUUWAAH! and told me to buy a Chevy.

Why our economy is heading down finances and you

Sid Mittra

Last week I argued that our economy is extremely sluggish and may be headed toward a recession. Today I will expand on that theme.

There is an old saying that fluctuations in the stock market parallel the economic trends. There is, of course, no such thing as "the stock market." However, we can make judgments about what is going on in the stock market by analyzing certain key factors.

Price-earnings ratio

This common ratio for evaluating whether an individual stock is cheap or expensive is also applied to the broader market. The current level of the market index, typically the Standard and Poor's 500-stock index, is divided by the past 12 months' pre-share earnings of the companies on the index.

A high market P-E means the stocks are highly priced relative to corporate earnings and, thus, are possibly fundamentally weak.

At the end of September, P-E for the S&P 500 was about 16. While that's still well below the P-E ratios of 20 or more that have often preceded major declines, it is above the long-term average of 13. And it is far higher than the P-Es of 7 or 8 that have often accompanied market troughs.

When the ratio exceeds 15, the stock market is starting to get fully priced. That's particularly true when corporate-earnings prospects are less than robust, as they are now.

Dividend yield

Another way analysts gauge the reasonableness of stock prices is by comparing prices to the dividend income stockholders receive. The key figure is the "dividend yield" of the S&P 500, the annualized dividend income provided by the underlying stocks as a percentage of the index level.

The current S&P yield is 3.4 percent. Like the market P-E, that's much closer to a sell signal than it is to a buy signal. Whenever it has gone below 3 percent, as was the case in October 1987, the market has invariably sold off.

The indicator has averaged about 4.5 percent over the past several decades. A dividend yield of 5 percent or 6 percent is generally considered a buying opportunity.

Market breadth

It is appropriate to call this factor as "Dow Jones Industrial Average vs. the rest of the 'stock-market' world." Various ways to measure "breadth" show that a climb in the 30-stock Dow Jones Industrial Average over the past year wasn't accompanied by a comparable advance in the broader stock market.

That lack of breadth is a classic warning sign, because the broad market generally pulls those selected winners down.

One of the easiest ways for investors to monitor breadth is to compare the percentage changes over time of various market indexes. While the Dow Jones Industrial Average has climbed 10 percent over the past 12 months, the S&P 500 has advanced just 3.6 percent, and the NASDAQ composite index of over-the-counter stocks has declined 3.3 percent.

Trading volume

Volume tells you the conviction behind a move. As the Dow climbed toward 3,000, volume was not convincing.

Analysts say that they would be more bullish about the Dow if the daily trading volume on the big board had remained consistently above 200 million shares as the average made its recent move from 2,900 toward 3,000. We had a couple of good volume days, but it was eventually not sustained.

So, the prognosis is clear: Despite recent gains the stock market also signals a troubled future. If this trend concerns you, then you should seek professional advice at the earliest possible opportunity.

Most small businesses can write better sales letters

Mary DiPaolo

As a freelance writer and marketing consultant, I am frequently asked to prepare company proposals, brochures and other written materials for organizations of all sizes. Regardless of the project, one question never fails to come up: "How can we write better sales letters?"

Unlike letters addressed to individuals, sales letters are designed to reach large numbers of current and potential customers at the same time. They must capture readers' attention and interest while further convincing them to do whatever it is you have asked. As a result, writing better sales letters requires much more than a unique writing style to be effective. The following guidelines will help those who want assistance in this area.

Before you start, put yourself in the right frame of mind. Anyone who receives promotional material expects to be sold on something and will throw your letter out if they have to waste time trying to discover what it is that you want. The purpose of any sales letter is to sell the audience — and to sell them right away.

Next, the opening of the letter can make or break its overall effect. It is at this point where recipients decide to keep on reading or file your letter into the wastebasket. Any opening remarks, headlines or introductory paragraphs must get attention and arouse interest if you want your audience to read one.

Little-known facts, "startling" statistics and quotable quotes that pertain directly to the point of your letter would be appropriate to use in this section. And whatever you do, don't start off your letter with salutations such as "Dear Loyal Customer," "Dear Neighbor," or another meaningless greeting. It's already obvious to the reader that a sales letter is not a personal letter.

Maintaining reader attention until the letter ends is a trickier proposition, yet it is possible when you make your point immediately, expand upon it and wrap it up. Don't waste words or include additional information that causes you to stray from your original point. If you want your material to promote a particular product or service of your business, don't confuse your readers by mentioning everything else that you offer. Your company brochure is meant to be used for this purpose, not your sales letters.

Also plan your letter so it will be written from the readers' point of view. Why should readers call you for an appointment, visit your shop or buy your product/service? What makes you any different (and better) than the competition? How reputable are you? The answer to these questions explaining the benefits of doing business with you ensures that your sales letters will be written from the proper perspective.

It's a challenge

STEPHEN CANTRELL/staff photographer

Jerry McCray and Becky MacIntyre rehearse a scene from the Bloomfield Players production of the musical "Hello, Dolly!"

By Cathie Breidenbach
special writer

DOES ANYBODY have artificial roast chicken to spare for two weekends, or a plastic salad guaranteed not to wilt under lights?

Margie Montross, director and choreographer, is scavenging for plastic food to ride atop trays carried by eight dancing waiters in "Hello, Dolly!" musical production staged by the new Bloomfield Players Community Theatre. Performances will be Thursday-Sunday, Oct. 26-28, and Friday-Sunday, Nov. 2-4, at the Lahser High School auditorium in Bloomfield Hills.

Montross' biggest challenge in casting the show was finding eight male dancers to play the waiters. "I begged for men," she says. Then she had to juggle rehearsal schedules so all eight could work on the split-second timing of routines.

Last week, as the cast prepared for opening night Friday, the waiters were perfecting their duel with shish-kebab skewers and practicing how to dance carrying trays rigged with elastic on the bottom:

THEATER THRIVES on illusion. The chickens may be plastic, plates of food may be glued so they can't slide and the waiters may have elastic handles so they can't drop the trays, but as long as they carry the trays horizontally, the illusion prevails of waiters deftly balancing heavy trays of piping-hot-food while they execute fancy footwork. "You're gonna love my waiters," says director Montross.

Finding fake-food chickens is one of the myriad details of launching a big musical production like "Dolly!" The show boasts a 19-piece orchestra led by Valerie Palmieri, who teaches orchestra at Lahser High School. The set crew built an elaborate, lighted runway designed by Bob Pullar, a retired architect in Mature Minglers, and Montross will fill the Lahser High School stage with 54h on stage and behind the scenes is the aim of the Bloomfield Players. June Hamilton, director of the Recreation and Community Services Division of the Bloomfield Hills School District, says, "We want children, teens, adults and seniors. Our objective is for people to have fun."

The community theater group is sponsored by the Bloomfield Hills School District. Hamilton hopes to get the word out that everybody is welcome, even those whose only stage experience was walk-on parts long ago but ever since have yearned to make their stage comeback.

"You don't have to come in with a resume of 40 productions to try out," Hamilton says. Bloomfield Players is so serious about involving many people in the fun and the family feeling of putting on a production that it has been known to invent street scenes to give more players a chance to bask in the warmth of stage lights and to take their bows at the final curtain.

AUDITIONS ARE open in Bloomfield Players productions, although the group strives to involve those in the Bloomfield Hills School District whenever possible. Margie Montross

Fall menu

The Livonia Historical Society will present its fifth annual Progressive Dinner on Saturday, Nov. 3. Featuring a special fall menu, the evening begins at 6 p.m. at the American House (former site of the Blue House), with hors d'oeuvres. Guests will proceed to a private home for soup and salad, then to another home for the entree and back to American House for desserts and entertainment until 11 p.m. Cost is $25, with proceeds to benefit the Alexander Blue House Restoration at Greenmead. Tickets may be purchased at the Office of Community Resources, fifth floor of Livonia City Hall, until Friday.

Winning chef

Charles D. Rachwitz was declared the winner in "The Best of Michigan . . . Nothing's As Good as a Michigan Meal" competition Wednesday, Oct. 17, at Morels, a Michigan Bistro in Bingham Farms.

"Rocky" Rachwitz is corporate executive chef for the C.A. Muer Corp. based in Detroit. He entered the contest representing Charley's Crab of Troy and was assisted by Carmen Vilican, a chef at Charley's Crab.

Rachwitz prepared a menu of Parsnip Pancakes with Northern Spy Apples, Sour Cream and Whitefish Caviar, Great Lakes Pickerel Baked with Walnuts and Chargrilled Roma Tomato-Basil Sauce with Grilled Sweet Corn Salsa, Cornucopia of Late Summer Peppered Fruits and Pear-Strawberry Sparkling Water.

Five other Michigan chefs competed including Tim Cikra of Morels.

The contest was sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, with assistance from the Michigan Grape and Wine Industry Council.

applauds the open auditions decision. "We want to encourage the Bloofield people, but if you close casting, you miss some great talent and the spark that comes with it. Open casting keeps it fresh, keeps it from becoming a stale group. This is the best of all worlds."

"We don't want to be elitist," says Hamilton, "so everyone can audition, but we want quality. I think we can be comparable to Stagecrafters and the (Birmingham) Village Players."

The new community theater group was launched last winter by a citizens advisory commission of the Bloomfield Hils Schools. Its January production of "The Music Man" starred local dentist Dr. Larry Miller as Harold Hill, and was well attended. Many who played in "The Music Man" have returned to be cast in "Dolly!" including Becky MacIntyre who plays the lead role of Dolly Levi.

The lineup of past and future shows attests to the popularity of musicals with audiences of all ages. Last winter the Bloomfield Players brought "The Music Man" to town; Dolly, the matchmaker, takes center stage this fall, and "South Pacific" and "Fiddler on the Roof" are the two shows for next year. The council points out that all future productions need not be musicals.

Hamilton says they chose to launch the new theater group with upbeat shows likely to bring box office success. "We wanted crowd pleasers although they're more expensive to produce because of royalties. People like musicals."

THE NEW volunteer group is working to build a reputation and sell enough tickets to cover production costs. "Our objective is to break even," says Hamilton, but for the first couple of years Bloomfield Schools plans to subsidize the group by offering a stipend to the producer, the director, the orchestra conductor and the vocal director. "Hopefully that won't continue after we develop our own cadre of people," she says.

Executive producer Hamilton hires the artistic and management people from resumes and interviews. Once she hires the staff, she lets them handle the creative decisions of putting on a show and stays only peripherally involved in productions.

Seed money for the new group comes from the Bloomfield Hills millage which voters renewed last June. "We want to offer both passive and active reaction options," Hamilton explains. Nobody implies that the rigors of acting or building sets is passive, but compared to run-around sports like soccer, a broader segment of the community can take part in a musical production than can play in youth sports.

The citizens advisory commission wanted to diversify offerings of the Recreation and Community Services Division in part because, "Most residents don't have children in schools." Hamilton says that they wanted programs supported by millage money to address the needs of the whole population of the district.

The commission focused on theater arts as a rich field for community involvement. The department now offers three youth theater groups, the Candy Apple Players for pre-schoolers through second grade, the Knapsack Players for grades three through five and the Rising Stars for grades six through eight.

THE GROUPS take their shows on tour to at least two schools in the district. Junior thespians trained by these groups appeared in "The Music Man," and the hope is the classes will feed young talent to the Bloomfield Players. To encourage older performers, Bloomfield Hills runs a series of workshops on acting, dancing; and how to audition and be successful in a show like "Dolly!"

Montross casts a show according to her own version rather than by studying previous successful productions. "I don't like to see the movie before I direct a show and I don't read stage directions," she says. "I do what I feel. I don't like to see a carbon copy of everybody else's show."

As clearly as she knows that she doesn't want to mimic other productions, Montross knows she likes to make audiences feel part of the action of the show. It's part of her directing style.

"I like to break the barriers" (between players and audience), she says. In "Dolly!" the players parade down the aisles from the back of the house and the vivacious Dolly stops along her route to pass out business cards and greet people in the audience. And what do audience members say as she smiles her irrestible smile and shakes their hands? What else but — "Hello, Dolly!"

Performances of "Hello, Dolly!" are at 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday, from Oct. 26 to Nov. 4, at the Lahser High School Theater, 3456 Lahser Road, Bloomfield Hills. For ticket information, or for membership information, call the Bloomfield Hills Recreation Department at 433-0885.

Season's opener a new beginning

Performances of "Arms and the Man" continue through Saturday, Nov. 10, at the Trinity House Theatre in Livonia. For ticket information, call 464-6302.

By Victoria Diaz
special writer

The Trinity House Theatre opened its 10th season Friday night with "Arms and the Man," George Bernard Shaw's incisive, classic comedy about the follies of war and romantic love.

The production, directed by Trinity's new artistic director, Peter Senkbeil, represents a promising start of the season for the Livonia-based group, which plans to expand to professional theater within the next five years.

In "Arms and the Man," Serbian officer Captain Bluntschli, fleeing Bulgarian forces during the Serbian-Bulgarian war, takes refuge in the bedroom of a young Bulgarian lady, Raina Petkoff.

What results from this temporary sanctuary is a treat for play-goers. It is also typically Shavian — often perfectly serious at the same time that it is uproariously comic.

AS THE good-humored Serbian officer with a weakness for chocolate creams and an intolerance for the romantic glorification of war, Jeff Hedeen turns in a highly engaging performance.

His stage presence, sense of comedic timing and remarkable way with Shaw's memorable lines make him a pleasure to watch and listen to.

As the rather silly and saccharine Raina, Julie Cullen does a good job in an often unappealing role that calls for a lot of fluttering eyelashes, pouty looks, empty-headed smiles and oh,-I'm-so-mad-I'm-going-to-stamp-my-pretty-little-foot-again histrionics.

In the role of Raina's laughably insufferable fiance, Sergius, Jim Lisoski has his moments, as do Art McCoy playing her blustery, bewildered father; Linda Parolini as the spirited household servant, Luoka; R. Edward Anderson as Nicola, another servant; and Maggie Hineman as Raina's overwrought mother (although one wonders why, in this small theater Hineman persists in shouting so many of her lines).

Gary Brda as a frustrated Russian officer searching for the elusive Bluntschli does a lot with a small comedic role.

Victoria Diaz is a Livonia-based freelancer, who specializes in arts and entertainment articles in the metro area.

Prepaid funeral contracts gain in popularity

Renee Mahler

Q. My wife and I are thinking of purchasing a prepaid funeral contract but we are afraid of being "taken." How can we tell if the contract we are considering is legitimate?

A. There seems to be a national growing trend, by consumers, to plan and prepay funeral costs. Anyone thinking of buying a prepaid or preneed funeral contract should understand completely what this contract does or does not provide and the responsibilities of the seller and the purchaser.

As any other legal agreement, the prepaid or preneed funeral contract is a binding document between the buyer and the seller. It should state that funeral goods and services brought and paid for before death will be delivered at the time of death. Funeral goods are items such as urns, caskets and burial clothing. Services are such things as collection, preparation and viewing of the body and the use of a hearse. Purchasers should have the goods and services itemized and described in detail in the written contract. Cemetery plots however must be purchased in separate transactions.

Anyone registered with the Department of Licensing & Regulation may sell prepaid contracts. To make certain you are working with a legitimate salesperson you should ask for the seller's registration number. The seller may also charge a commission of up to 10 percent of the contract price that is nonrefundable. You may find that the seller is not the same person that will deliver the goods and services stipulated in the contract. In this instance, the person who does supply what has been ordered is known as the provider. The provider must be identified by name in the written contract.

Monies received as payment for prepaid funeral contract, with the exception of the commission, are put into escrow. That is the funds must be deposited in a bank, credit union or other insured financial institution or, if the buyer agrees and signs a separate paragraph in the contract, with a cemetery or mortician's association of 250 or more members. The escrow agents are the only parties who may invest or disburse the escrowed money. Buyers must be provided the name and address of the escrow agent and notified of any change in that agent.

There are two different types of prepaid contracts and the contract must indicate, in writing, the type you are buying. There is a guaranteed price contract which allows the buyer to select the exact goods and services wanted and pay for them at the time of purchase. The goods and services must be delivered as ordered at the time of death regardless of whether costs have increased. If the contracted goods and services are no longer available, then items of equal quality must be substituted. If there is any money left in the escrow account after the goods and services have been delivered, then the remainder goes to the provider. A nonguaranteed price contract allows the buyer to choose the goods and services desired and pay an amount toward their purchase. If at the time of death the escrowed purchase money, plus any income it has generated, is equal to, or more than the cost of the goods and services, they will be supplied. If the amount is less than the quantity or quality of the goods and services will be reduced unless additional money is provided by the family or other sources.

Prepaid contracts may be cancelled. To cancel before the death of the beneficiary, the buyer must send a written 30-day notice to the seller of a nonguaranteed price contract or to the provider of a guaranteed price contract. Contract may be cancelled after the death of the beneficiary upon notice to the seller of a nonguaranteed price contract or the provider of a guaranteed price contract by the person who bought the contract, the deceased's heirs or the person legally entitled to make arrangements. Contract sellers or providers may cancel prepaid funeral contracts only if a contract being paid for in installments is ninety days oro more in default or if the buyer has violated the terms of the prepaid agreement.

The Michigan Legislature, in order to protect the citizens of our state, enacted the "Prepaid Funeral Contract Funding Act of 1986." This law applies to all prepaid funeral contracts signed on or after July 1, 1987 and is administered by the Michigan Department of Licensing & Regulation. It is this department's job to make certain that all the regulations mentioned in this article are complied with by the sellers of prepaid or preneed funeral contracts.

Please Help A Neighbor's Child In Need!

In Third World countries, hundreds of thousands of children are in desperate need of food, clothing, medical care – the basics of life. These girls and boys are even denied the opportunity to attend school.
They are our neighbors in a world that grows smaller every day.
Through CCF, you can sponsor a neighbor's child. The cost is $18 a month – just 60¢ a day – to help a poor child in Asia, Africa or Latin America – a child who has virtually nothing.
Please pick up your phone now and dial the toll-free number below. Be a good neighbor by helping an innocent child.

Here's some health facts

Barry Franklin

Did you know that. . .

- A patient's severe allergic reaction to Heartwise cereal was recently reported in the medical literature. This incident prompted the Kellogg Co. to put a "health warning" on boxes of the psyllium-based cereal.
- Fire fighting, one of the most dangerous and demanding occupations, is associated with a considerable number of fatalities each year. Many of these deaths are due to heart attacks.
- Heart-lung fitness, as measured by the maximal oxygen consumption, generally decreases by about one percent per year. Since an exercise program will generally increase this variable by about 20 percent, the physically trained 60-year old may actually achieve the same fitness level as the inactive 40-year old (figure). In other words, regular exercise can lead to a 20-year functional rejuvenation in this respect!
- Fast-food hamburger restaurants have now moved into several hospitals across the nation. Needless to say, these restaurants are strongly promoting their "healthy" menu items like salads and broiled chicken sandwiches.
- At the Cleveland Clinic, the average age of heart surgery patients has increased by 10 years over the past decade. This is attributed, at least in part, to the fact that surgical techniques for treating heart disease in older patients have vastly improved.
- A just-published study showed that comprehensive lifestyle changes can actually reverse heart disease, without the use of cholesterol-lowering drugs. Patients in the experimental group agreed to make major lifestlye changes that included a low-fat vegetarian diet, stopping smoking, stress management training, and moderate exercise. Overall, 82 percent of the people who made these changes showed some reduction in their coronary blockage after only one year.

Barry A. Franklin is director of Cardiac Rehabilitation and Exercise Laboratories, William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, and associate professor of physiology, Wayne State University School of Medicine.

NEED A HAND?
THE HOUSE OF YOUR DREAMS IS WITHIN YOUR REACH AT HERITAGE BANK.
Finding a house that's special enough to call home is a big job. The last thing you need to worry about is paperwork. That's why Heritage Federal Savings Bank has a Home Mortgage Loan Program designed to help you obtain a home mortgage loan faster, easier and smoother, with full explanations and no unanswered questions.
For over 55 years, Heritage has been helping people move into their dream homes. We're eager to lend a hand; so you can have peace of mind. Just as neighbors look out for each other's houses while they're out of town, you can be sure that someone at Heritage is looking out for your home mortgage.
Come in and talk to us about how we can help you finance your dream home.

WHAT'S GOOD FOR THE EARTH IS GOOD FOR YOUR HEALTH.

How to save a bundle.

Each one of us throws out almost 1200 pounds of trash every year, and America is running out of places to put it. Much of this trash, over 40%, is paper — one of the easiest materials to recycle.

For many households, saving old newspapers is an easy way to begin the recycling habit. Simply: (1) Separate your newspapers from the other trash. (2) Sort out hard-to-recycle slick inserts and magazines. (3) Bundle the newspapers and take them to your local recycling center.

To learn more about recycling and other everyday things you can do to help keep the environment safe and clean, stop by your neighborhood M-CARE Health Center now through October 29th for a free copy of our new booklet, Earth Care: What's good for the Earth is good for your health.

And while you're here, pick up a free, reusable, string shopping bag. Because if every shopper took just one less paper bag each week, we could save hundreds of millions of bags each year.

Salem midfielder Brad Fisch controls the ball in Monday's first-round district soccer game with Plymouth Canton. Defending is Mike Wdowiak. The Rocks escaped with a 4-3 victory. See Page 4D for story on that game.

Chargers, Vella oust Salem, 2-1

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Livonia Churchill forward Dominic Vella found a crack in Plymouth Salem's vaunted "Iron Curtain" defense Wednesday, scoring both goals in the host Chargers' emotion-filled 2-1 victory in a key Class A district semifinal matchup.

Churchill, now 12-1-2 overall, moves on to Saturday's district championship game against Dearborn Edsel Ford. (Game time is 1 p.m. at Redford Union's Kraft Field.)

Both of Vella's goals occurred during the first half of action.

The junior scored on a header from linemate Dario Rauker just three minutes and 24 seconds into the game. Tom Baker then tied it for Salem on a header off a corner kick from Joe Nunez with 24:36 left in the half, but Vella scored what proved to be the game-winner with 10:58 remaining until halftime on a cross from Mike Gentile, who had stolen the ball away from a stunned Salem defender.

It was only two days ago, in Monday's 6-0 district-opening win over city rival Franklin, that Churchill coach Mark Mason revamped his lineup, moving Rauker and Gentile up front from their midfield postions to complement Vella.

"THIS GAME I got a lot of help from those two guys and they played great," said Vella. "This is only our second game with this set-up, but we worked well together.

"Dario and Michael are both attacking midfielders, but with them on my right and left wings, I've got more freedom to get the ball. Before I had to work more to get goals, but because of them and the way our keeper (Jeff Cassar) played, everything turned out great."

Stevenson in district finals

Matt Grodzicki, on an assist from Jeff Thomas, scored 12 minutes into sudden-death overtime to give Livonia Stevenson a 1-0 Class A boys district soccer win Wednesday at Northville.

It was Grodzicki's fifth goal of the playoffs.

The Spartans, now 13-1-3 overall, will meet Birmingham Groves, a 4-2 semifinal winner over Farmington, in Saturday's final (1 p.m. at Northville).

Stevenson held a wide margin in shots on goal (25-4) and corner kicks (18-2), but had trouble beating Northville goalie Larry Osiecki. Meanwhile, Scott Plagenhoef recorded the shutout for Stevenson.

"It was a great defensive effort by Northville. They deserve a lot of credit," said first-year Stevenson coach Walt Barrett.

It was more than a four-man show, however, for the Chargers.

Nobody could argue that Churchill's defense — led by Scott Lamphear, Tim Riley, Laun Johnson and Jeremy Banks — rose to the occasion.

They shut down Salem's dangerous restart schemes, particularly in the second half after Gentile missed the final 41 minutes of play with a deep contusion on his thigh.

"Salem likes a high aerial attack," said Mason. "Sometimes we're not tall enough to handle them. I held my breath every time they had a corner kick.

"But our defense played well and our midfielders, Aaron Sawicky and Eric Shamberger — who we moved up from defense because he likes to rush the ball up anyway — did a fantastic job. They deserve some credit."

SALEM APPLIED heavy pressure most of the second half, missing a golden opportunity to tie it when Phil LaJoy's shot hit the crossbar with 10:39 remaining.

"The ball bobbed all around their goalie, but we couldn't quite get it up in there," said Salem coach Ken Johnson, whose team bowed out with a 16-2-1 overall record. "I thought Cassar saved them in the first half. Their keeper made some key saves and that's one of the differences in a game like this. On any given day we're so close with Churchill. We had a tough time each time we played them. They marked up well and Vella was tough on us. He collected the ball very well."

It was the third meeting between the two teams — all held at Churchill — in a span of three weeks. The first meeting (Oct. 3) ended in a 1-1 tie. And only seven days ago, Salem claimed its first-ever Western Lakes Activities Association crown with a 2-0 win over the Chargers.

"I think we were up and we played a good game, but Churchill is a tough team and now I think they go to the finals," said Johnson, who led the Rocks to last year's Class A final before losing to Troy Athens.

Meanwhile, for Mason the win provided a big sigh of relief.

"Now we're over a big hurdle I think we can relax a little bit," said Mason. "But I know we've got some tough games ahead."

Canton-Salem clash has big-game appeal

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Thinking about this year's Canton-Salem football game is like a deja vu experience.

The circumstances are nearly identical to those preceding the 1989 contest, which generated the most pre-game interest of any previous meeting between the traditional rivals.

And the 1990 game holds no less suspense and anticipation in the hours leading to Friday's 7:30 p.m. kickoff at Centennial Educational Park.

As was the situation last year, both teams enter the season finale with fine won-loss records, as runners-up in their divisions of the Western Lakes Activities Association and with post-season play a possibility for both. All of which adds to the pride factor that will be at stake.

Unlike last year, when each had only one loss, Canton is one game ahead of Salem at 7-1 overall. The Rocks are 6-2.

"IT WOULD be a heckuva ballgame even if there weren't so many things riding on it," Canton coach Bob Khoenle said. "It just enhances everything."

If the pre-game similarities are striking, the teams hope the results are not entirely the same as last year.

The Chiefs, ahead in the playoff ratings, most likely would have qualified but were knocked out when Salem rolled to a 25-6 victory. Despite making up a lot of ground on the last weekend, the Rocks failed to qualify by a narrow margin.

Canton is No. 5 in Class AA Region II this week and, with a win and a little help, could be among the four teams that qualify. Like last year, Salem is down the line at No. 8 and would need a win and plenty of help, but last year showed it's not outside the realm of possibility.

But first things first, and that means neither team is thinking beyond Friday night.

"All we have to do is take care of what we can," Khoenle said, "and that is to play the game and win it. Everything else will take care of itself. You can't worry about all the other things. You'll go crazy."

SALEM COACH Tom Moshimer, whose ballclub trails the fourth-place team in the region, Redford Catholic Central, by 12⅓ points, believes the same.

"Our attitude is it's the last game on the schedule," he said. "If something happens beyond that, great. For us, it's a matter of playing the last game and, obviously, we'd like to beat them as much as anybody else."

If Canton was expected to be in this position at the end of the season, with a winning record and on the verge of making the playoffs, Salem was not.

With talented and experienced players back, it was assumed the Chiefs would have a strong team. But the Rocks, who were 8-1 with a senior team last year, producing another fine season is one of the remarkable achievements in the 1990 campaign.

"I think Salem is coming on and peaking at the right time," Khoenle said. "The Salem staff has done a tremendous job with a young team. Considering all the people they lost, look where they're at. They're here and that's a credit to Tom and his staff."

The Rocks started 1-2, losing consecutive games to Northville and Westland John Glenn. But they've won five straight, including a return match with Northville last week.

"WE WERE young and inexperienced, and we didn't know how fast we'd come around," Moshimer said. "We probably improved more than anyone because we were a young team — and we did that. We're a very good team now.

"(The Chiefs) started out knowing they'd be a good team, and they've improved every week, too. They're a different team than the one that played Farmington Harrison early in the year."

A reason the Chiefs were expected to be good was quarterback Karl Wukie, who has passed for 946 yards and 11 touchdowns while completing 54 of 112 passes. He is also the team's leading rusher with 525 yards and 10 touchdowns on 63 carries.

Fullback Chris James (493 yards and four TDs) and tailback Jason Riggs (350 yards and five TDs, including two passing) are also talented players. Brett Howell has become a big-play threat at wide receiver, too. He's caught 28 passes for 614 yards and nine TDs.

"I think we have enough weapons they have to be concerned," Khoenle said, "and not just with Wukie, James and Riggs but the Howell factor, throwing to him.

"The big difference is the offensive line, which is a credit to coach (Ernie) Krumm. We've got kids in there playing their first year and others who moved from other positions. They're doing a great job and, of course, we've had great play from the skill people."

JUNIOR TAILBACK Leon Hister is the offensive star for Salem, having rushed for school records of 968 yards and 18 touchdowns on 133 carries. Rich Hewlett had 904 yards and 15 TDs in 1978.

Suspense surrounds final week of season

By by Dan O'Meara and Brad Emons staff writers

THE 1990 HIGH school football season is going down to the wire on two fronts.

The last weekend of the regular season holds the key for area teams hoping to make the post-season playoffs.

But undoubtedly of greater interest to fans and readers alike, Week No. 9 will determine this year's prognostication — not to be confused with procrastination — champion. Which sports editor will have office bragging rights for the next year — Brad Emons or Dan O'Meara?

Five of the 12 games involving Observerland teams this week have playoff implications.

Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial, Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Farmington Hills Harrison, Redford Bishop Borgess and Redford Catholic Central are either headed for post-season play, can clinch a playoff berth or greatly enhance their chances by winning the last game.

Glenn and Wayne play each other, and Canton and Salem meet in their annual season finale. So two area teams will benefit at the expense of other area squads.

Harrison will probably still qualify in the unlikely event of an upset by host Standish-Sterling, a 3-5 team.

Borgess and CC have uphill battles Sunday against Birmingham Brother Rice and Detroit DePorres, respectively, in the Catholic League's annual Prep Bowl at the Pontiac Silverdome.

On the prediction scene, O'Meara enters the final weekend with a two-game lead over Emons.

O'Meara went 13-2 last week while Emons was 11-4, breaking the previous stalemate. For the season, O'Meara is 97-23 and Emons 95-25.

After a poor showing in September, O'Meara has rallied in October. Surely, it must have been the mid-season vacation that cleared the cobwebs from the crystal ball (or should we say the brain).

Perhaps he really did return from the Auld Sod with an unfair advantage, the leprechauns acceding to his pleas for help in his bid to unseat defending champion Emons.

O'Meara figures he can't lose now, not with the mothers of the Harrison football players rooting for him. Emons is a formidable opponent, however, and at least two thirds of this week's games can be considered toss-ups.

For a closer look at who's favored and who's not this week, read on:

FRIDAY'S GAMES
(all games at 7:30 p.m.)

Red. Thurston at Liv. Clarenceville: The host Trojans (4-4) finished fifth in the eight-team Metro Conference (3-4) and Thurston sixth in the Tri-River League (2-5). The Eagles are 2-6 for the season. Clarenceville lost 18-6 to Lutheran East last week, while Thurston is coming off a 14-6 loss to Crestwood. PICK: Kendrick Harrington leads the Trojans to a winning season, according to O'Meara, but Emons likes Thurston's chances.

Liv. Churchill at Liv. Stevenson: The Spartans also hope to finish above .500 after edging Walled Lake Western 14-11 last week and improving to 4-4. Churchill has one last chance to register its first victory. Farmington did that last week when it beat the Chargers 21-13. PICK: Stevenson isn't too sympathetic to Churchill's plight, both agree.

Liv. Franklin at Garden City: The Patriots have won two in a row, including a 21-6 win over Walled Lake Central last week, and would like to end the year at 4-5. Garden City was shut out by Clarkston 45-0, falling to 3-5. PICK: Ben would be proud of Franklin's finish, both agree.

Wayne Memorial at Westland Glenn: The Rockets (7-1) were stunned by Harrison in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship game Saturday (29-0) and don't want to lose back-to-back games. Furthermore, the Rockets have the playoffs for motivation, but so does Wayne. The Zebras (6-2) were third in Class AA Region II but dropped after losing to Monroe. They're in a must-win situation and must have help in addition. Glenn was No. 1 in the same region but stands a good chance if it wins. Everybody in the region has two losses except for Glenn, Canton, Battle Creek Central and Ypsilanti — all once-beaten teams. PICK: Both see the Rockets finishing 8-1.

Farmington at Redford Union: Farmington (1-7) got its first win for first-year coach Bernie Call last week and could make it two straight to end the season. The Panthers (2-6) were beaten 27-6 by Waterford Mott, but they still count a victory over Dearborn Edsel Ford among their successes. PICK: RU takes a turn at winning, both agree.

Ply. Canton at Ply. Salem: A win almost certainly puts Canton (7-1) in the playoffs. Even with a loss, the Chiefs might qualify, but they'd be pressing their luck. The Rocks (6-2) have an outside chance at making the playoffs, but a victory is absolutely necessary. The situation entering this game parallels that of a year ago. Both teams were 7-1, but Canton was higher in the playoff ratings. In that game, Salem rocked the Chiefs 25-6 and barely missed making the playoffs itself. PICK: Both cast a vote for Canton.

N. Farmington at South Lyon: This game is one of those toss-ups. At least, that's the way it appears on paper. North has lost to Salem and Canton the last two weeks and slipped to 4-4. The Lions also are 4-4 but upset Novi 23-14 a week ago and dealt the Wildcats' Class A playoff hopes a possible fatal blow. South Lyon ended up 3-3 in the Kensington Valley Conference. PICK: Emons goes with the Raiders, O'Meara takes his chances with the Lions.

W.L. Western at W.L. Central: The home team has scored first and won each of the last three meetings between these two teams. The Vikings have the better record at 2-6. But the Warriors (1-7) have the edge in talent with Jeff Kubik and Chad Pifer leading the charge. PICK: It's unanimous. The home streak is snapped as the Warriors pull it out.

grid predictions

More football, 5-7D

SATURDAY'S GAMES

Det. Lutheran West at Luth. Westland, 1 p.m.: Lutheran West (6-2) crushed Cranbrook 42-6 last week to finish third in the Metro Conference. The host Warriors (5-3) pummeled North Branch Wesleyan last week. Lutheran Westland will have to stop running back Damon Butler, who rushed for 183 yards and two TDs in West's victory. PICK: The Leopards win this match between fellow Lutherans, both agree.

Farm. Harrison at Standish-Sterling, 4 p.m.: The Hawks (7-1) caused a lot of people to believe in them again after their impressive win over Glenn. Standish is a Class B school with an enrollment of 580. The Panthers defeated Saginaw Buena Vista 31-20 last week but are only 3-5 for the year. Standish played other tough teams, losing to Chesaning and Pinconning, both unbeaten teams in Class BB Region I. PICK: O'Meara and Emons agree: It's Harrison hands down.

Red. St. Agatha vs. Det. Holy Redeemer, 7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Field: It's been a tough year for St. Agatha, which dropped to 1-7 in letting Dearborn St. Alphonsus have its first win last week, 14-13. Holy Redeemer (1-7) is still trying to build a program after not playing football for some years. The Lions lost to Wyandotte Mount Carmel 13-6 last week and defeated Cardinal Mooney for their only win. PICK: The Aggies still have enough to beat Holy Redeemer, both agree.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

Red. Bishop Borgess vs. Birm. Brother Rice, 1 p.m. at the Silverdome: It will be a bit like old times when the Spartans (6-2) meet Rice (6-2). Borgess, a former Central Division member now in the Tri-Sectional, was tri-champion with Saginaw Nouvel and Orchard Lake St. Mary's but got the playoff nod because of a better point differential. The Warriors have lost only to Ypsilanti and CC. The playoffs enter the picture here, too. Rice was fourth in its region last week and should qualify in Class A if it wins. Borgess, seventh in Class B Region IV a week ago, definitely needs a victory and could jump considerably by beating a Class A team with six wins. PICK: Rice goes to the playoffs instead.

Red. Catholic Central vs. Det. DePorres, 7 p.m. at the Silverdome: The Catholic League championship is at stake in this game, a rematch of an earlier meeting this season. DePorres (8-0) won that game 8-0. The Eagles, who are in the Class CC playoffs, have enough points to qualify as a AA team in some regions. The Shamrocks (6-2) definitely need a win to qualify in Class AA Region II, but they'll need some help from other teams if they do. PICK: Emons predicts CC to avenge its loss to DePorres. The Eagles' speed on the carpet will be too hard to stop, says O'Meara.

Rocks need OT to beat Franklin

By Ray Setlock
staff writer

Plymouth Salem guard Christy Parimucha and Livonia Franklin guard Dawn Warner angrily starred into each other's eyes, looking more like a couple of boxers than basketball players.

This scenario was typical of Tuesday's Western Lakes Activities Association showdown between unbeaten Salem and host Franklin.

It took a pair of Emily Giuliani free throws in overtime, to give Salem its 50-46 win.

"Anytime you play Plymouth Salem, you have to expect a physical game," Franklin coach Dan Freeman said. "I was pleased with the way our girls responded to the physical nature of the game."

Franklin led 44-43 with just over a minute to play in regulation time when Giuliani sank one of her two free throws to tie the score at 44 and send the game into overtime.

Then, with 1:13 left in overtime and the game deadlocked at 46, Giuliani knocked down a pair of free throws to give Salem a 48-46 lead. Parimucha added two from the charity stripe with 35 seconds remaining to secure the win.

"WE HAD SOME close games in our non-league schedule and I think that helped us to pull this one out," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "We knew Franklin was going to be ready for us coming in and I like the way we responded to that."

Salem improves its record to 14-2 overall and 10-0 in the WLAA. The Patriots are 12-3, 7-3.

"Salem has a lot of experience in pulling those games out," Freeman said. "They knew what they had to do."

One of Franklin's biggest problems was containing Salem center Darcie Miller, who seemed to slip by the defense for easy layups. She finished the game with a team-high 15 points.

"We didn't confront her like we should have on defense," Freeman said. "A lot of our post players are playing for the first time this year — they'll learn. I definitely didn't like the way she was getting open all the time."

SALEM WAS forced to overcome the loss of senior guard Sarah Ruete throughout much of the second half. With 2:21 remaining in the third quarter, Ruete took a hard fall to the floor, resulting in a head and arm injury.

"This team knows how to tackle adversity and they did that in the second half tonight," Thomann said. "Sarah was a big loss for us, especially in a close game like this."

The game was close from the beginning with Franklin taking a slim 29-24 lead at halftime. The game had tie scores of 32, 39, 41 and 44 in the second half.

Sophomore guard Yolanda Jackson contributed nine points to the Salem offense, five of which came in the first half.

Warner paced the Patriots with 15 points and six rebounds. Senior forward Julianne Stesiak chipped in with 12 points, while senior center Jenny Mayle had 10 points and eight rebounds.

Chiefs strike quickly, rout Glenn girls basketball

The first quarter told the story Tuesday for the Plymouth Canton girls basketball team, which used a 21-11 start to record a 70-48 triumph over visiting Westland John Glenn.

"We got out in the first quarter and got some easy shots," said Canton coach Bob Blohm, whose team improved to 10-5 overall, 7-2 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. "They closed in in the second, but we had a great third quarter. We did a good job of getting the ball down in the post."

Stephanie Gray was the power in the post for Canton, which increased its 10-point lead after one quarter to 14-(35-21) at the half and to 20 (53-33) entering the final period. Gray, a sophomore, poured in 27 points; Julie Niscarzi added 14.

Glenn, which fell to 5-11 overall and to 3-8 in the WLAA, got a solid scoring performance from Cathy Mruk, who netted 20 points. Carrie Rachwal added 12.

MERCY 56, DIVINE CHILD 42: A 17-4 third-quarter outburst supplied Farmington Hills Mercy with a 20-point cushion entering the final quarter, and the Marlins maintained it Tuesday at Dearborn Divine Child.

Laure DeMattia's 19 points fueled the Mercy attack. Carrie Walton added 12. Divine Child got 12 points from Rhonda McAllester.

The win boosted Mercy's record to 12-4 overall, 5-3 in the Catholic League's Central Division. Divine Child slipped to 0-8 in the division, 6-10 overall.

PLY. CHRISTIAN 32, BETHESDA 31: Tamara Tilly collected 13 points and 14 rebounds to lift Plymouth Christian past Warren Bethesda Tuesday in Warren.

The Eagles (10-3 overall, 4-2 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference) overcame a 28-24 deficit after three quarters with an 8-3 fourth-quarter advantage. Amy Hergender's eight points was best for Bethesda (4-2 in the MIAC).

STEVENSON 50, HARRISON 32: Livonia Stevenson limited Farmington Harrison to eight first-half points, a big reason why the visiting Spartans were able to run their record to 10-5 overall, 7-3 in the WLAA Tuesday.

Stevenson had a 22-8 lead at the half and was never threatened. "We weren't in trouble, we played decent defense," said coach Chuck Hebestreit. "But we'll have our hands full at Walled Lake Central Thursday."

All nine Spartans scored, for the first time this season. Karen Groulx led the assault with 11 points; Laura Zatorski had 10 and Kelly Cotter eight.

Katie McAskin's 13 points — nine coming in the fourth quarter — paced Harrison, which slipped to 3-13 overall, 1-9 in the WLAA. Heather Hopkins added nine.

N. FARMINGTON 44, CHURCHILL 40: Eve Claar again provided the offense for North Farmington, canning four three-pointers en route to a 25-point performance Tuesday at Livonia Churchill.

North (6-9 overall, 3-7 in the WLAA) trailed the Chargers 25-23 at the half but, with Churchill's defensive efforts aimed at containing Claar, others stepped forward and hit key shots. Dana Botwick got seven fourth-quarter points, and Karen Seremet scored six of her eight points in the second half.

Chrissy Daly's 16 points was best for Churchill (7-8 overall, 4-6 in the WLAA); Christina Garry notched 13.

HARPER WOODS 39, CLARENCEVILLE 35: A poor scoring first half doomed Livonia Clarenceville to defeat in its Metro Conference meeting with Harper Woods Tuesday at Clarenceville.

The Trojans (2-9 in the Metro, 2-11 overall) trailed 11-4 after one quarter and 18-9 at the half. They outscored Harper Woods — which defeated them 43-16 earlier this season — 26-21 in the second half, but couldn't catch up.

Rhonda Saunders triggered the Trojan attack with 16 points. Leandra Hoffman chipped in with nine. Kelly Pitz had 11 points for Harper Woods (7-3 in the Metro, 8-7 overall).

REGINA 53, LADYWOOD 38: Trailing 31-24 at the half, Livonia Ladywood conceded in the third quarter, allowing Harper Woods Regina to roll to a 16-3 scoring advantage in the period Monday at Redford Catholic Central.

Three double-figure scorers ignited Regina (12-3 overall, 6-2 in the Catholic League's Central Division): Jill Johnston with 12 and Kristen Francis and Anne Marie Valentine with 10 each. Leslie Catanzarite scored 11 and Rebecca Willey had 10 for the Blazers (5-10 overall, 2-6 in the division).

Davidson wins Class B crown

By Dan O'Meara

tennis

Winning her second straight state singles championship was a bittersweet experience for Farmington Hills Harrison senior Kori Davidson.

Actually, it was more sweet than bitter.

The thrill of defending her Class B title was "awesome," but it also signaled the end of Davidson's illustrious high school career.

"I was so happy but I was so sad, because it was my last high school match," said Davidson, who defeated Sarah Akhtar of Bloomfield Hills Kingswood 6-1, 6-0 in the final Saturday at Holland Christian High School.

"I was up 40-love and thinking about the last point. It went to deuce, and I couldn't decide if I wanted it to end or not. But it was too cold to stay out there any longer."

DAVIDSON, WHO led the Hawks to a fifth-place finish in team competition, breezed through the tournament, winning eight sets and losing just six games.

More difficult than actually repeating as state champion was the mental challenge of living up to others' expectations. Having won as a junior, Davidson was the odds-on favorite all year to win again.

"The competition was easier, but the pressure was a lot harder," she said. "It was probably the best I've played all year.

"My serve was better than it's ever been. It's been the worst part of my game, but it was the best it's been in the last seven years.

"It was close during some games," she said. "It just didn't show in the score, because I played well on some key points."

Davidson started her bid for a repeat by blanking Imlay City's Vesha Pollack 6-0, 6-0. She whipped Wendy Miller of St. Joseph 6-2, 6-0 and Mo Bertsch of East Grand Rapids 6-1, 6-2 to reach the final.

"SHE'S AMAZING," Harrison coach Bernie Goldstein said. "She just played incredibly good tennis, and there was no competition for her. These other girls are good tennis players, too. She beat the Kingswood girl 6-1, 6-0, and she was the second-best player there."

Goldstein didn't hesitate in saying Davidson is the all-time best tennis player he's coached at Harrison — boy or girl.

"I used to think we had a couple boys in the past who could play with her, but they couldn't beat her," he said.

"The only difference between her and the top-ranked boys is their serve. They can get more power on the serve. Otherwise, she hits as hard as they do baseline to baseline."

The Hawks, ranked No. 3 in Class B most of the year, finished fifth for the second consecutive year.

Kingswood repeated as state champ with 25 points. Sturgis (21), Battle Creek Lakeview (20), East Grand Rapids (19) and Harrison (18) rounded out the top five.

"I THOUGHT we could have done better, but fifth in the state is pretty good," Goldstein said. "There was more balance this year. We scored three more points than we did last year and finished in the same place."

Harrison's Jill Barringer reached the semifinals at No. 4 singles but lost 6-3, 6-2 to Emanuelle Leif of Lakeview, an exchange student from France.

All the other Harrison players — Merrilyn Onisko and Lisa Tomle in singles; Julie Heist, Jodie Whitehead, Melissa Prendergast, Kristie Cornwell, Jill Rosenthal and Julie Gibbs in doubles — got to the quarterfinals.

"That's why we finished fifth," Goldstein said. "We got points out of everybody. It was definitely a team effort."

Davidson, Onisko, Rosenthal and Gibbs are the only seniors on this year's team.

CC advances to district final

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Redford Catholic Central soccer coach John Boots won't make any bold predictions about the state playoffs, but he has a strong opinion on another subject.

"Kerry Zavagnin is the best midfielder in the state," said Boots, shortly after CC beat visiting Royal Oak Dondero, 3-1, in a district semifinal game Wednesday at Bell Creek. "His vision and skill level are outstanding and he's very tenacious. There are not many players who want the ball in pressure situations like him. He was toying with these guys."

Zavagnin scored the tie-breaking goal with about 15 minutes left and later assisted on Adam Borchert's goal that put the Oaks away for good.

CC and Dondero were tied 1-1 at halftime, but the Shamrocks dominated the second half to improve their overall record to 11-5-2. CC plays the winner of Troy-Troy Athens in the district final at 1 p.m. Saturday at Royal Oak Kimball.

"The key is to get yourself into the game mentally and the whole trick is to see what the other team is doing and counter that," said Zavagnin, who has 20 goals. "Mr. Boots has keyed the whole year on the state playoffs. To him, the season doesn't start until the Catholic League playoffs."

Dondero ended its season at 6-10-2 overall. The Oaks, who finished eighth in the Metro Suburban Activities Association standings, took an early 1-0 lead on a free kick by Ben Craft minutes into the game.

Then came the inevitable for the Oaks, who have lost five games this year by one goal. Goalkeeper Ben Bancroft did all he could for Dondero, but he didn't get enough support against the talented Shamrocks.

"I don't get used to them (close losses), I never get used to them," coach Jim Miller said. "I would have taken overtime, but I wanted to win the game in regulation. It just wasn't meant to be."

CC tied the game at 1-1 later in the first half on a goal by Anthony Verrino. Zavagnin helped set up the score, passing a free kick to Wayne Worosz, who deflected the ball to Verrino.

CC didn't score again until late in the second half when Zavagnin pushed a shot to the left of Bancroft for a 2-1 lead. Minutes later, Zavagnin made a nifty crossing pass to Borchert, who leaped high in the air and headed the ball in for CC's final tally.

Boots was relieved to see the final score, and pleased with the performance of goalkeeper Jeff Sawicki. He also had praise for defenders Worosz and Matt McIntosh.

"Sawicki came up midway through the season from junior varsity and has done very, very well," Boots said. "This was a garbage game. With the way the field is (muddy) and the way Dondero plays with nine guys in the penalty box, it made it tough to pass. We had to wait for our breaks."

CC coasts in opener

Redford Union knocked Garden City out of the Class A boys soccer district playoffs Monday with a 2-1 win over the host Cougars.

RU, which lost to Garden City the week prior in a Northwest Suburban League game, got a pair of goals from Mark Payment, a senior captain. Payment's goal with 27 minutes remaining broke a 1-1 tie and moved the Panthers into Wednesday's district semifinal.

Garden City finished its second season under coach Scott Steiner at 2-10 overall. The Cougars could never get untracked this year after losing both Steve Taulbee (knee) and Dan Horvath (concussion) to injuries midway through the season.

Scott Kendrick, on an assist from Jason Lilnangi, recorded Garden City's only goal against RU.

"It hurt a lot, not having two of our starters — two of our better players who played center midfield and center forward," Steiner said of the injuries to Taulbee and Horvath. "You hate to miss two seniors who play up the middle. It was a good game today, But they capitalized on their chances, and we didn't."

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL 5, U-D-JESUIT 0: The host Shamrocks scored four goals Monday in the second half to pull away for the district victory.

The Shamrocks improved to 11-4-2.

Salem rally overcomes Chiefs

'To go out in the first round would have been horrible. We're ranked second in the state and, to lose to an unranked team, would have been a disgrace.'
— Ryan Fitzpatrick
Salem soccer co-captain

Plymouth Salem's soccer team breathed a collective sigh of relief so loud Monday night it could be heard all the way to Bloomfield Hills.

The No. 2-ranked Rocks began post-season play with hopes of reaching the state final at Andover High School winning the state title that narrowly escaped them last year.

But they almost didn't survive the first round of district play, needing a three-goal second half to subdue unranked Plymouth Canton and avoid a major upset, 4-3.

"In the first half, we played horrible," Salem co-captain Ryan Fitzpatrick said. The Rocks trailed Canton, a team they had beaten twice, 3-1 at halftime.

"Everybody on our team thought we were going to blow out Canton. I've got to congratulate Canton, because they played a lot better than any of us thought they could."

THE ROCKS, who took a 16-1-1 record into the second round Wednesday against Livonia Churchill, hope to have learned a valuable lesson about tournament play while avoiding disaster.

"Oh, yeah, we've got to come out and play everybody the same right from the start," said Salem co-captain Andy Cosenza, who scored the winning goal with five minutes left in the game.

"I think it might help us play better in the rest of the games," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "We can't play like this."

Canton, behind an outstanding, three-goal effort by senior Mike Presley, dug a hole for the Rocks in the first half, and Salem was fortunate to wiggle out in the last 40 minutes.

"We played that well in the last three or four games," Canton coach Don Smith said. "Our intensity was very high, and that's what it was going to take. I couldn't ask for more."

With the upset apparently in the making, Salem began its comeback with Jake Baker's goal midway in the second half. John Truskowski lifted the ball toward the Canton goal, and Baker was there to knock it in.

THE MOMENTUM changed when sophomore Joe Perron scored the tying goal with Presley and Chris Hayes out of the game temporarily. Cosenza passed through to Perron, who fired a crossing shot to make it 3-3.

"We were hoping for the tie, because we knew we could go into overtime," Cosenza said.

Salem didn't need overtime when Cosenza scored his 19th goal of the season to make Salem's comeback complete.

Tom Baker brought the ball across and made a short, through pass to Cosenza, who was about 25 yards away. Cosenza pivoted and sent the ball on its fateful flight.

"Once I took the turn and saw nobody there, I hit it as hard as I could," Cosenza said. "I didn't even see where the goalie was."

Presley came close to scoring a fourth goal and possibly forcing an overtime, but Salem goalkeeper Derek Olson made a leaping, save in front of the Canton forward, pulling the descending ball out of the air.

"HE HAD THE game of his life," said Smith of Presley, who left the game again briefly after that when he twisted an ankle. "That was really a good game he played."

The second half was a marked contrast with the first as the Rocks pressed the attack consistently, forcing Canton goalie Jim Bradley to make some key saves, and played sharper defense.

"The defense tightened up and the offense got it going," Fitzpatrick said. "Being a senior, it could have been my last game for Salem. I didn't want to go out losing to Canton.

"To go out in the first round would have been horrible. We're ranked second in the state and, to lose to an unranked team, would have been a disgrace."

The Salem defenders cleared the ball quicker in the second half, which they didn't do in the first, resulting in too much dribbling and errors the Chiefs seized upon.

"After all the goof-ups, when Jake got the second goal, from the 60th minute to the 75th, that was probably the best we've played all year," Johnson said.

"WE OUTPLAYED them in the second half, but they jumped on our mistakes. In the first half, they took us out of our stride with their spirit and speed."

The Chiefs wasted not time doing that. Presley scored on Canton's first possession in the opening minute. His corner throw was tipped by Olson and was ruled a goal after a momentary delay.

"The linesman called it in, but he almost let it go without (the referee) calling it," Smith said. "He should have let the referee know right away."

Presley put added pressure on the Rocks when he lifted a shot from 25 yards that was too high for Olson. Tom Baker gave Salem some hope with a goal that made it 2-1, but Presley restored Canton's two-goal lead after taking a pass from teammate Craig Miller.

Salem had more chances in the first half, but the Chiefs got outstanding defense from Owen Crosby, who used his height to head the ball away numerous times, Todd Kearney, Miller, Gary Wiebe and Chris Hayes.

While the Rocks seemed to press and press and get nothing for the effort, Canton capitalized on its fewer chances, rushing in and twisting about the defenders for a quick goal.

"PUTTING THREE forwards up there spread their defense and made more opportunities to score," Smith said. "We hadn't scored on them in two games, and the first goal proved to us that we could.

"That's the way we had to play it, because they're quick. You play with them too much, they're going to run you down and get the ball.

"We didn't lose our intensity (in the second half); they picked it up a couple notches," he added. "They knew they had something on their hands and had to play a good second half."

More than CEP pride on line

"Leon is a great athlete and has done a lot of great things for us," Moshimer said.

"He's worth keeping an eye on," Khoenle said.

Moshimer has a special place in his heart, however, for quarterback Chris Tebben, who has 380 yards rushing and three TDs and has completed 20 of 56 passes for 216 yards and four TDs.

"The most unsung player on our team is Chris Tebben," Moshimer said. "He's an intelligent quarterback, is almost flawless on audibles and has made some great runs.

"Because he's an option quarterback and doesn't throw the ball that much, he'll never get the recognition he deserves. Nobody is going to realize how good he is except us."

Salem has been able to find capable replacements for injured players, too. Wingback Jeff Thursby (Matt Kuzawinski), fullback Dan Burke (Rob Shepley), tight end John Flynn (Al Hysko)and defensive tackles Jim Rodriguez and Boyd Rudy (Pat Vensaugh) have stepped in and done well, Moshimer said.

SALEM IS THE only team Canton plays that uses the wishbone, and that creates special problems for the defense, according to Khoenle.

The Chiefs have a high-profile offense, but the defense has been very good, too. Canton has scored 78 points more than Salem and is allowing 11 per game. Linebackers Liam Rentz and Josh Walaskay are the top tacklers with 81 and 83, and tackle Dean Benedict has been outstanding, too. Joe Hutko has been the noseguard all season but is a doubtful starter because of injury.

"We have to put them in a position they have to do things they don't want to do," Khoenle said.

"We have to ask ourselves 'How much do we want to change to confront them.' If we change too much we hurt ourselves. 'How many different things do we want to add, or are we going to confuse ourselves more than them?' "

Moshimer expects the Chiefs to blitz a lot and open the door for some big plays as occurred last year when fullback Pat Bowie rushed for 183 yards and scored on runs of 69 and 94 yards.

Salem has always had a reputation for good defense. While the Rocks average 22 points a game, they're giving up only 9½ — less than six during their winning streak.

Outside linebacker Steve Balog is the leading tackler with 41. Fellow linebackers Kevin Craggs and Jake Dempsey, lineman Allen August and the defensive backs have been key players, too.

"They hang in there and don't make mistakes," Khoenle said. "The defense they play is their forte, their strength. They get field position and go from there."

Both teams will be going full tilt Friday night, it being the last game pitting arch rivals in what should be a classic matchup.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Salem quarterback Chris Tebben, according to coach Tom Moshimer, is an underrated performer for the Rocks, who hope to beat Canton and finish 7-2. The Chiefs took their only victory over Salem in 1988, but the Rocks won 25-6 last year.

CC victory sets up rematch

Redford Catholic Central doubled its pleasure Saturday, clinching the Central Division football title coupled with gaining a rematch with unbeaten Detroit DePorres for the Catholic League's A-B Division crown (7 p.m. Sunday at the Pontiac Silverdome).

The Shamrocks downed Harper Woods Notre Dame, 21-7, in a game played at Livonia Clarenceville.

CC is now 6-2 overall and finished 4-0 in the Central. Meanwhile, DePorres (8-0, 4-0), the AA-Division champs and the state's top-ranked team Class CC, will try and duplicate their 8-0 victory over the Shamrocks of three weeks ago.

Senior fullback Jon Barbara, who led CC rushers with 69 yards in 18 carries, scored on a pair of 1-yard runs in the first and second quarters, capping drives of 61 yards in 11 plays (all runs) and 59 yards in 14 plays, respectively.

Kerry Zavagnin kicked both extra points to give CC a 14-0 halftime lead.

But Notre Dame (5-3, 2-2) cut the lead to 14-7 in the third quarter on a 1-yard run by Paul Carta, culminating a drive of 80 yards in 13 plays. (Eugene Gunnery's PAT was good with 5:28 left in the period.)

But CC put the game away in the fourth quarter on a 55-yard punt return by Frank Yoakam, who had a big day on special teams. He also returned a pair of kicks for 55 yards.

The Shamrocks held a slight edge in total yardage over Notre Dame in total yardage, 190-186. The Irish had 146 on the ground, led by Survell Bass, who rushed for 68 yards in 12 carries.

CC's defense was led by tackle Gary Gurgold, who recorded three solo tackles and 11 assists. Defensive end Bryan Chaney had three sacks and six assists.

FRANKLIN 21, W.L. CENTRAL 6: On Saturday, Livonia Franklin (3-5) won its second straight with a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover win over visiting Walled Lake Central (2-6).

All three Patriots touchdowns came via the air.

After a scoreless first quarter, Franklin's Mike Krompatic threw, a 64-yard halfback pass to Steve Clemmons.

Later in the period, after Scott Olson blocked a punt, Franklin quarterback Mike Gieger hit Rahul Jadia with an 8-yard TD pass. Bobby Johnson booted his second straight extra point to make it 14-0 at intermission.

The Patriots increased their lead to 21 points in the third quarter when Gieger hooked up with J.J. Drabicki on another 8-yard scoring pass.

Gieger completed seven of 14 passes for 75 yards. The Patriots had 186 yards total offense, but only 47 on the ground.

"They shut down our running game with an eight-man front, we couldn't get outside," said Franklin coach Armand Vigna. "We had to rely on the pass, even that halfback pass."

Franklin held Central to a fourth-quarter TD, à 1-yard run by Gary Kurvers. The Vikings had just 95 yards total offense.

Defensively, brothers Jason, a sophomore linebacker, and Tony, a senior cornerback, combined for 21 assisted tackles. Johnson added two sacks, six assists and a solo tackle.

Tony Facione and Clemmons intercepted passes. Jason Facione blocked a Central extra point and Drabicki recovered a fumble.

LUTH. WESTLAND 34, N. BRANCH WESLEYAN 8: Bill Wargo enjoyed a big day rushing, racking up 133 yards and two TDs Saturday as host Lutheran Westland (5-3) upended North Branch Wesleyan.

Wargo scored on a 66-yard run in the opening quarter and came back with a 48-yard TD run in the second quarter. (Dan Hoeft's two-point conversion run gave the Warriors a 14-0 advantage.)

But the Eagles cut the deficit to six just before the half on an 11-yard run by Tony Weldy, who also ran in for the two-point conversion.

In the third period, Lutheran Westland struck for three TDs.

Quarterback Jason Zielinski connected with Matt Grams on scoring passes of 86- and 20 yards; while Jason Leimbach added a 13-yard run. (Leimbach also ran in for the two-pointer.)

Lutheran Westland outgained the Eagles in total yardage, 370-147.

Of the Warriors' 370 total yards, 252 came on the ground. Hoeft added 66 yards in 12 carries.

Defensively, Ben Maton led Lutheran Westland with 14 tackles. Paul Seltz had an interception and John Castle recovered a fumble.

Final week determines playoff-bound teams

By Brad Emons
staff writer

IT'S THE WEEK THAT WAS, the moment of truth for area high school state playoff contenders.

The ninth and final week of the prep football season serves as a magical and yet mystical unveiling of who and who doesn't go to the 128-team dance.

Last year, 64 schools qualified for post-season berths in four different classes (A, B, C and D), but this year the field has been expanded, eight divisions of 16 teams, split into four regions per class (AA, A, BB, B, CC, C, DD and D).

Sounds complicated enough, but as far as Observerland teams go, this is the story. Here's a look at the three regions concerning area schools. Remember, the top four teams in each region qualify for the sweet 16, which begins Nov. 2-3.

CLASS AA
(Region II)

Inside track: 1. Westland John Glenn (7-1), 94.750 points — The Rockets, despite a loss last week to Farmington Harrison, still lead. A victory over city rival Wayne, with a 6-2 record, makes them a shoo-in. Glenn has been to the playoffs four of the past five years. The only year the Rockets failed to make it, Wayne pulled off the upset (1987).

2. Battle Creek Central (7-1), 92.625 points: If the Bearcats, coached by former Wayne standout Al Slammer, get by rival Lakeview (5-3), they'll be in. But remember, Lakeview is seeking revenge after a 3-5 Central team last year ruined its playoff hopes.

3. Ypsilanti (7-1), 92.625 points — The Braves will be a cinch with a victory over Lake Orion (7-1), but that's no gimmee.

Too close to call: 4. Redford Catholic Central (6-2), 89.893 points — The Shamrocks get a rematch with the state's No. 1 ranked team in Class CC, Detroit DePorres, which handed the Shamrocks one of their two losses. A CC victory is far from a lock and playing a Class CC hurts.

5. Plymouth Canton (7-1), 88.750 points — The Chiefs are right on CC's heels and a victory over rival Plymouth Salem (6-2) would vault them past the Shamrocks. Salem, however, ruined Canton's playoff chances last year.

Longshots: 6. Wayne (6-2), 82.000 points — The Zebras killed themselves with a loss last week to Monroe, but a victory over Glenn would give them a fighting chance. They also need Central, Ypsi, Canton and CC to lose.

7. Ann Arbor Pioneer (6-2), 81.667 points — The perennial state playoff qualifier needs a miracle. The Pioneers should beat rival Huron (3-5), but their schedule has been weak. Pioneer needs victories from Wayne, Lakeview, Lake Orion, DePorres and Salem to have a remote chance.

8. Plymouth Salem (6-2), 77.250 points — The Rocks have too much ground to make up, but could upset the apple cart with a win over Canton.

CLASS BB
(Region IV)

Inside track: 1. Mount Clemens Clintondale (8-0), 102.000 points — Even a loss to unbeaten Monroe Catholic Central won't keep the Dragons out.

2. Allen Park (8-0), 96.000 points — The Jaguars need a victory over 7-1 Riverview and a Clintondale loss to Monroe CC to climb into the No. 1 position, thus avoiding Farmington Harrison the first round.

3. Farmington Harrison (7-1), 95.857 points — The Hawks, defending two-time state champs, play 3-5 Standish-Sterling in their season finale. Harrison hopes to move into the No. 1 or No. 2 spot to gain home field advantage in the first round.

4. Auburn Hills Avondale (8-0), 83.000 points — Despite a weak schedule and a weak season-ending opponent, 0-8 Ortonville-Brandon, it shouldn't keep the Yellow Jackets from missing the post-season festivities.

Longshots: 5. Dearborn Divine Child (6-2), 73.500 points — The Falcons need a victory over Class A foe Harper Woods Notre Dame (5-3) to have any kind of hope. DC is just too far behind to make up ground. They need a miracle.

6. Warren (6-2), 70.250 points — The Orioles need Jim Palmer, Frank Robinson and Boog Powell to overtake the top five teams. A win over Clawson (6-2) is not an automatic either.

CLASS B
(Region IV)

Inside track: 1. Riverview (7-1), 74.875 points — The Pirates, despite a 37-7 loss last week to Monroe CC, still sail the high seas. A win over unbeaten Allen Park would make them a shoo-in.

2. Dearborn Heights Robichaud (7-1), 70.429 points — The Bulldogs and sensation Tyrone Wheatley can make the playoffs with a win at Muskegon Heights.

Too close to call: 3. Marine City (6-2), 67.542 points — Will the Mariners drown or sail smoothly to a playoff berth? They need to beat region rival Yale (5-3) to put themselves in prime position.

4. Clawson (6-2), 67.000 points — The Trojans can make a run for one of the four spots with a victory over BB foe Warren, a team with a 6-2 record (see above).

5. Marysville (6-2), 66.250 points — Old Walt Braun may coach this team into the post-season parade with a victory over Class A foe Port Huron (3-5). Bonus points will determine if they can make the top four.

Lions win, lose and tie

The Plymouth Lions came away with a win, a loss and a tie Sunday against the Westland Comets.

The varsity defeated the Comets 12-6 as Jeremy Eaton and T.J. Johnson scored touchdowns. Eaton scored in the second quarter on a pass from quarterback Kevin Kovachevich, and Johnson assured the win in the third quarter.

Outstanding players were Leo Tykowski, Steve Donahee, Eaton, Rich Giddings, Shawn Petras and Kevin Grimmet. Tykowski blocked a punt, with Donahee and Eaton earning quarterback sacks.

The junior varsity tied 7-7 as Ed Krzeminski recovered a fumbled punt in the end zone for a Lions' touchdown. Brandon Curvin caught the conversion pass.

The defense dominated the game as Romeo Cairo, David Heid and Styles collected interceptions. Styles' interception locked up the win with 50 seconds remaining. Krzeminski also broke up a touchdown pass. Curvin, Butler and Larson also played well.

The freshman team lost 27-0. Sunday's games will start at 1 p.m.

Steelers victorious

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers JV and freshmen football teams defeated the Ann Arbor West Wildcats last weekend.

In the JV's 12-6 victory, Robert Johnson scored a touchdown on a 1-yard run, and Jason Hoban scored on a 55-yard kickoff return.

Defensive standouts were Johnson, Ian Bedford, Matt Moran and James Chapman. Johnson had three interceptions. Bedford and Chapman recovered fumbles, and Moran also had an interception.

The freshmen shut out the Wildcats 14-0 with Ian Searcy and Kevin Salla scoring on runs of 1 and 32 yards. Both also converted extra points.

The defense was led by Jeff McKians who had an interception. Other standouts were Brent Mellis, Ben Herman, Joe Kanaan and Salla.

The varsity lost 33-14. Lenny Gardners scored on runs of 4 and 5 yards and added a pair of conversions. Kevin Grim, Tom Rezabek and Mark Wesner led the defense.

SC clinches share of crown

The immediate fate of Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team is now in the hands of Macomb CC.

The Ocelots have done their share. Their 7-2 trouncing of Lakeland CC Saturday at SC confirmed their share of the Region 12 title. They finished the region season with a 7-1 mark.

Macomb has one regional game remaining, Saturday at Lakeland. A win and the the Monarchs and SC would meet for the regional championship 3 p.m. Tuesday at Eastern Michigan University. The winner of that match advances to the Inter-regional Tournament Nov. 3-4 in Chicago.

"We did our job," was how SC coach Van Dimitriou summed up his team's performance against Lakeland. "The guys went out and played their best game of the year. They understood they had to win, no ifs, ands or buts about it."

It didn't take the Ocelots long to assure themselves of at least a playoff against Macomb. One minute into the game, Phil Todino got a crossing pass from John Cortese and buried it for a 1-0 SC lead.

The Ocelots continued to pressure, getting superb performances from Todino; Jerry Stassel, who had a goal and three assists; Jeff Vandermergel, who contributed two goals; midfielder Jeff Saylor; outside defender Billy Joker; and Khaled Zeidgn, who ignited the offense with three goals and two assists.

Chris Crawford added two assists for SC, which led 5-1 at halftime.

Combined with last Wednesday's (Oct. 17) 2-0 blanking of Toledo, SC has raised its overall record to 10-2-1. It won't mean anything, however, if the regional title escapes.

"Our season will not be made until we accomplish our goal, and that's to win the league title," vowed Dimitriou.

In the win over Toledo, SC misfired on several first-half scoring opportunities, including a penalty kick. But the Ocelots finally connected, with Zeidan scoring 15 minutes into the second half (Stassel assisting). Todino iced the win, converting a pass from Dave Dinglie.

SC WOMEN'S SOCCER: Nikki Johnson triggered the Lady Ocelots' assault with three goals and an assist in Saturday's 9-0 thumping of Oakland University's club team in Rochester.

Bonnie Boyle added two goals and three assists, Sarah Hayes had two goals, Cindy Bowman netted a goal and three assists, and Amy Zanetti scored her first collegiate goal.

Lindy Tatale was in goal for the first half; Bowman and Johnson split time in the nets in the second. Starting keeper LeAnn Adle and midfielder Donna O'Brien both missed the match due to two-game disciplinary suspensions. Both will return for this weekend's trip to North Carolina, where SC will play Brevard and Lees McRae.

CAMP SUN DEER
We Need Volunteers Who Love Happy Campers!

Sun Deer® campers are happy campers and it's no wonder because most severely asthmatic kids are forced to spend their summers indoors. At Camp Sun Deer® asthmatic kids ages 9-12 participate in a variety of outdoor activities, but they can't do it without your help. The limitations and doubts they face can be diminished by a volunteer who cares. Your participation at Camp Sun Deer® can make all the difference in an asthmatic child's summer.

Watch storing, disposal of home chemicals

Many commonly used household products — automotive oil, household cleaners, solvents, paints, lawn and garden chemicals — are potentially hazardous if used, stored, handled or disposed of improperly.

If thrown out with household trash, these materials will eventually form a leachate or leak out of the landfill contributing to the underlying groundwater contamination. 17 percent of all known groundwater contamination in Michigan is the result of landfill leachate.

Not all commercially available cleaning agents are toxic, but determining whether a household product is hazardous can be difficult. Manufacturers are not required to list ingredients of their products and in many cases health effects of products are not fully known because they have not been adequately tested.

Federal regulations state the toxicity of a product must be indicated by one of the following words:

CAUTION: Suggests that the product should be used with care.

WARNING: Implies the presence of a stronger hazard than with caution. Use additional care.

DANGER: Signals that exposure or unsafe use may cause injury, illness, or death.

Other key words that indicate a toxic substance are poison, flammable, volatile, caustic and corrosive. Many labels are misleading because federal rules regulating labeling are vague.

While small household sources of hazardous substances are not regulated the same way as industrial substances, the combined effect of individual household sources becomes considerable.

Many non-hazardous alternatives for these hazardous products exist and can be used safely to achieve the same results. Some of these cleaners are baking soda, white vinegar, salt and lemon juice. Try some of these solutions in your home:

- Bathtub, sink toilet bowl cleaners
  A paste of baking soda and water cleans bathtubs and sinks without being abrasive.
  For mildew in tile grout or on shower curtains, use white vinegar or lemon juice. Commercial products labeled "non-chlorine" are less toxic than other brands.
- Drain openers
  Pour a handful of baking soda down the drain followed by one-half cup of white vinegar. Cover the drain tightly for one minute, then rinse with boiling water. Or, use one-half cup salt and one-half cup baking soda, followed by lots of hot water.
- Oven cleaners
  Scrub with baking soda, or soak with a mixture of baking soda and water.
- Window and glass cleaners
  Use a mixture of one tablespoon vinegar in one quart water.
- Furniture polish
  Use mineral oil, mayonnaise, or two parts olive or vegetable oil and one part lemon juice.

Someone Is Taking Lots Of Money Out Of Your Checking Account.

Your Bank.

At Standard Federal, we think that you — not your bank — should take money out of your checking account. So we have low minimum balance requirements and no checkwriting fees, no matter how many checks you write.

As the chart shows, our minimum balance requirement for free Regular Checking is just $250.00. That's lower than the average of five other major area banks. They also charge you more — and we save you more — if you dip below the minimum. And we offer you a variety of other ways to enjoy free checking, too.

The bottom line: The most you can pay annually for Standard Federal Regular Checking is $36.00. Our five competitors' average fees are $177.60. What more can we say?

Plenty. We offer free ATM use at over 150 locations including select Standard Federal branch offices and participating 7-Eleven stores. And right now, we'll pay you up to $10.00 for your unused checks from another bank when you open any checking account with us — Regular, Interest-Bearing or Money Market.

Start getting your money's worth from your checking account. Switch to Standard Federal today.

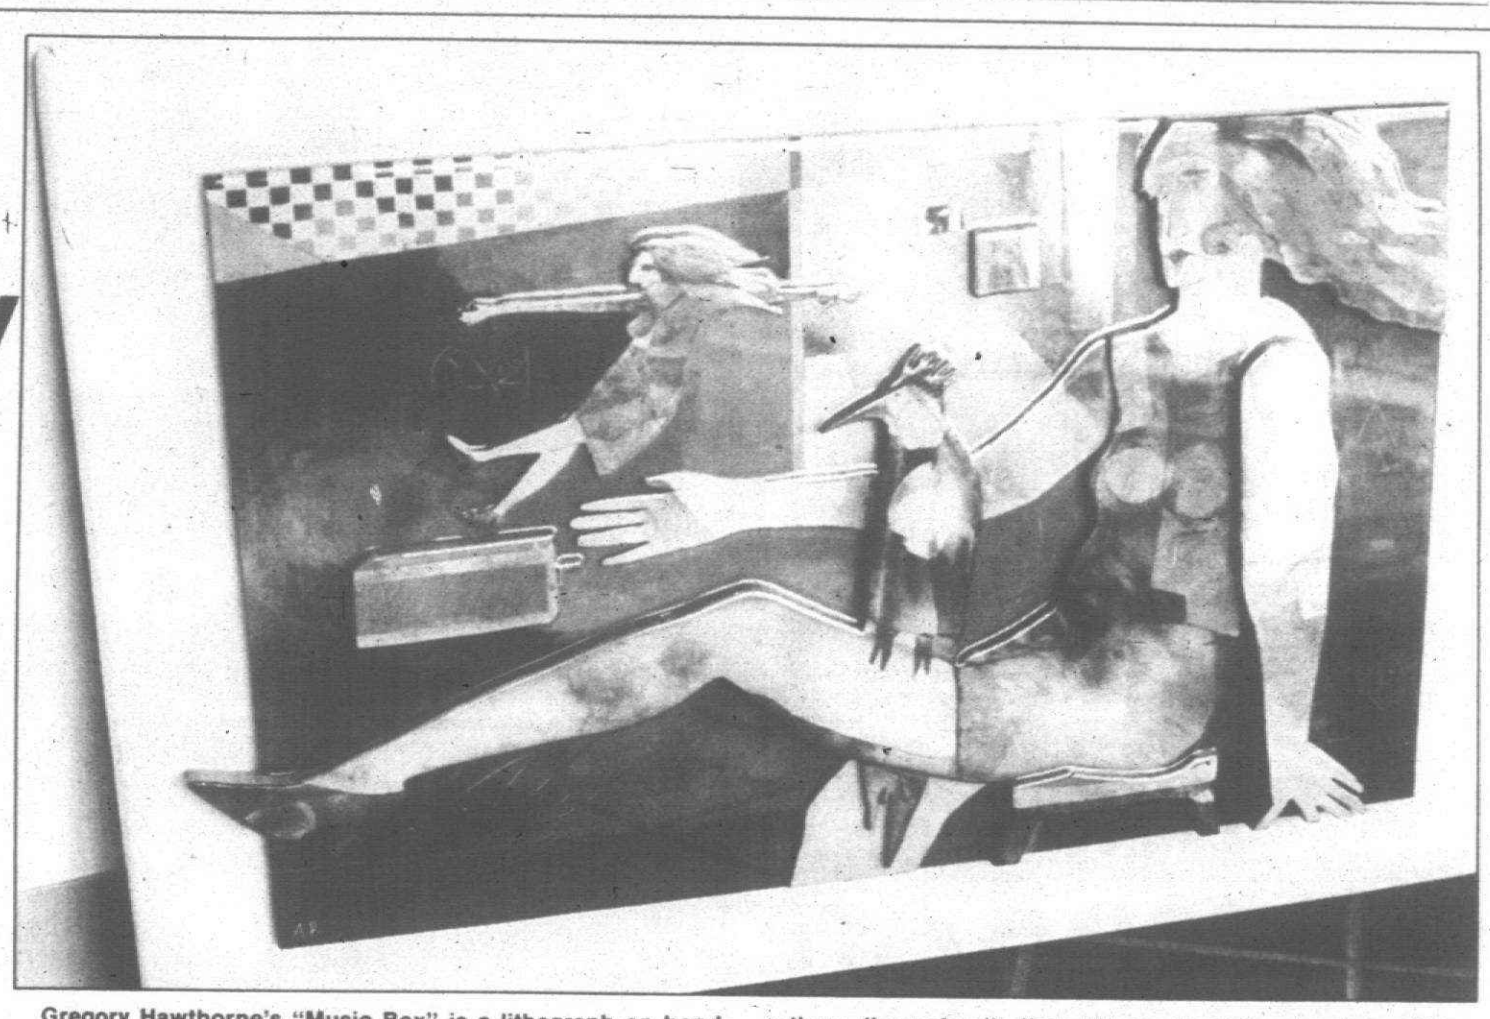
Hawthorne's epoxygraphs are on display



Gregory Hawthorne's "Music Box" is a lithograph on hand-cut wood relief, with epoxy resin applied by hand, then baked. When the epoxy dries over the wood relief, it creates a three-dimensional effect. "Music Box," in a black or white lacquer frame, is priced at $2,500 and $12,500, depending on the size.

By Linda Ann Chomin
special writer

'To give the gallery more appeal, we try to offer a full range of mediums and techniques.'

Madeline Posner gallery co-owner

GREGORY HAWTHORNE refers to his three-dimensional lithograph wall sculptures as epoxygraphs. His innovative lithographs, created in the futuristic medium of epoxy with figures in relief, are on exhibit at Posner Gallery in Farmington Hills.

"Hawthorne recently had a one-man show in Tokyo," said Karen Posner during an interview in her gallery.

Karen, of Farmington Hills, and her mother, Madeline, of West Bloomfield, co-own Posner Gallery. Originally in the Prudential Town Center in Southfield for four years, the Posners moved to Northwestern Highway in Farmington Hills one year ago.

Gregory Hawthorne describes his multi-faceted constructions as lithographs on hand-cut wood relief, with epoxy applied by hand, then baked. According to Hawthorne, there is no casting. The pieces are hand assembled, one at a time.

Once Hawthorne applies the epoxy resin over the relief, then bakes it, the surface forms a strong, hard, resistant enamel finish, like polymer.

Hawthorne's "Music Box" is composed of one central female figure in relief with a bird perched on her extended leg as she reaches for the crank of a music box. A similar, but smaller surrealistic figure floats in the background. Ultramarine blue floods the background while light crimson colors the main figure.

The "Music Box" is available in two sizes, 37½ by 31 inches at $2,500, and 4 by 6 feet at $12,500. Both include the choice of a white or black lacquer frame.

IN HAWTHORNE'S "River's Inn," the male figure in relief is harlequin-like with drink in hand. The female figure in the foreground has two faces, one frontal-view imposed over a profile, cocktail with olive in hand.

"Little People" by Hawthorne has two character figures in relief, one male, one female. The female figure holds a miniature man in the palm of her hand. To her right on a pedestal, stands a leprechaun-size female.

In the composition, colored in violet and hot pink, Hawthorne uses lack Matisse-like lines to outline figures and objects. "Little People" retails for $1,700.

Although he now lives in California, Hawthorne originally is from Michigan. His epoxygraphs are in the collections of the Impression 5 Museum in Lansing, Michigan State University, Dow-Corning, and the Singer Corp. in Chicago.

Madeline Posner said the gallery staff prides itself on being "very contemporary, as opposed to traditional." The fine arts gallery leans toward abstraction with a vast array of three-dimensional wall sculptures, along with epoxygraphs by Gregory Hawthorne.

CALIFORNIAN BUCK Levine's circular wall sculpture is made from enameled aluminum. Geometrically cut pieces are interconnected, forming a metal collage of color in three dimensions. Levine's wall sculpture is priced at $2,850.

New Yorker David Gerstein's one-dimensional, freestanding cats parade across the gallery floor. The cats, serigraphs on aluminum, are entitled "Braque/Van Gogh," "Early Miro ate Miro" and "Kadinsky/Lichenstein." The floor cats are $475 apiece.

"To give the gallery more appeal, we try to offer a full range of mediums and techniques," Madeline Posner said. "Clients are asking for wall art, paintings. We have a lot of requests for canvases instead of paper, and also more representational art."

Dale Techner Sparage of West Bloomfield works in oil on canvas. She's creating a series of nudes entitled "Naked Bride."

"I, II, and III" from the series show a progression in color from dark to light, as well as a tendency to total abstraction. From burgundy and black, the nudes brighten to white, gray and flesh tones with tinges of pink in the skin. Sparage is working on a masters degree in art therapy at Wayne State University. Her nudes retail at $1,200 each.

JOAN WENZEL of Florida creates wall-size, three-dimensional wall sculptures from acrylic modeling paste over metal on wood. Her "Three Frames" uses positive and negative forms of squares, rectangles and spheres interposed on an open frame background, texturally painted in impressionistic style. The geometric piece, "Three Frames," is priced at $7,700.

One male and one female figure compose the central theme of Gregory Hawthorne's "Little People." Black Matisse-like lines outline his figures. Violet colors the composition, as does hot pink. "Little People" is priced at $1,700.

Musicmaker's roots run deep

By Janice Tigar-Kramer
special writer

Little of Karen Nixon's musical career has been planned, yet the accomplished musician-turned-conductor couldn't be more content with the way things have turned out.

The 39-year-old musician-conductor, who originally played accordion, started playing the French horn during her sophomore year at Livonia's Franklin High for two reasons: she wanted to be in the marching band and the school needed another horn player.

"The accordion just isn't a marching band instrument," Nixon said, laughing. "So I took the horn home with a fingering chart and joined the band."

Since she already could read scores and was a gifted musician, Nixon was a natural on the instrument. She soon took a place in the school's symphonic band and orchestra.

Beside being a talented musician, Nixon was smart enough to earn a math scholarship to Lawrence Tech-

Enjoy brunch with dulcimer music

By Linda Ann Chomin
special writer

If you enjoy the music of medieval stringed instruments along with your Sunday brunch, circle Nov. 4 on your calendar.

That's when the Livonia Arts Commission will host a buffet-style brunch with dulcimer music by the Felicity Strings in the Atrium of the Livonia Civic Center Library Auditorium, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

The musical brunch runs from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Cost is $7 per person.

The brunch is a trial music event that "could quite possibly turn into a series like the Detroit Institute of Arts' Brunch with Bach," said Livonia arts commissioner Geroge LaForge.

THE DULCIMER group, Felicity Strings, consists of a hammered dulcimer, recorder, string bass, glockenspiel and folk harp.

Jim and Patricia Tait of Redford Township and Patricia Mallie of Livonia compose the musical ensemble specializing in dulcimer music. The group has been performing together for five years, most recently at Plymouth's Old Village Applefest in September.

Selections, which will be represented by the dulcimer gorup at the Sunday brunch, include the seasonal music of Christmas and traditional folk music.

THE DULCIMER, which appeared in Western Europe in the 12th century, originated in the Orient. The instrument is strung with wires that are struck with wooden hammers.

Dulcimer strings do not have dampers. When a note is struck, it continues to vibrate as the next note rings out, creating a note upon note effect.

The sweet melody of the dulcimer sounding through the Livonia Civic Center Library's bright and airy Atirum is sure to enchant the audience. "There are only 200 tickets available," LaForge said.

Tickets are available at the Livonia Civic Center Library Gift Shop; through Livonia City Hall Community Resources, 421-2000, Ext. 351; and by calling the Livonia Arts Hotline: 425-2327.

Balustrade, brunch, Baker House: all very special

Bob Sklar

'ROUND TOWN:

● Going up — Gov. Fred Warner, Farmington's favorite son at the turn of the century, would be proud if he were alive today.

Thanks to a major grant secured by the Quakertown Questers, a balustrade once again will adorn the front-proch overhang at the Farmington Historical Museum in downtown Farmington.

Adding a new wood railing will make the 123-year-old, two-story mansion appear the way it did in 1910, when Gov. Fred Warner, Michigan's first three-term governor, called it home.

The home's architecture is an example of Victorian Italianate. And balustrades are a Victorian feature.

The Quakertown Questers, dedicated to historic restoration and preservation, landed a $6,000 grant from the International Organization of Questers to add the railing. The local chapter will chip in $50 to meet the $6,050 cost.

Says Dick Carvell, the museum's tireless curator, "It makes me feel good when someone or some group steps forward on the museum's behalf."

Me, too.

A Farmington Historical Society member, I join Carvell in applauding the Questers for taking the reins of a significant historical restoration effort.

Thanks to the Questers' initiative, the Farmington City Council last week earmarked $4,400 from the museum budget to improve the porch's roof and cornices to accommodate the balustrade, which should be up by December.

Community plaudits also are appropriate for Farmington architect Carl Gaiser, who donated his professional services and found a qualified contractor.

The Questers, incidentally, aren't strangers to the mansion. They provide not only museum docents but also steady contributions.

With $6,700 in other exterior improvements nearly done, the Farmington Historical Museum indeed should, as Carvell put it, "look slick as a whistle" by the holidays.

Ironically, the TLC given to the museum is reflective of the era when the balustrade first went up. That's when Gov. Warner, the English-born foster child of Rhoda Botsford Warner and P.D. Warner, "resumed life in Farmington with the affection and interest with which he always bore his hometown."

● Music watch — Thinking big.

That's what I like about the Livonia Arts Commission's latest endeavor: a brunch with dulcimer music.

The buffet brunch, with duclimer music by the Felicity Strings in the Livonia Civic Center Library Atrium, is billed a trial event that could become another Brunch with Bach a la the DIA.

The sweet sounds of the dulcimer, a medieval stringed instrument, will provide the perfect melody for the trailblazing musical journey.

The price is right, $7 per person. And the setting, the Atrium, is a fitting backdrop for the chamber music-style program.

For tickets, call the Livonia arts hotline: 425-2327.

● Historic gem — I can't help but admire how dashing the historic Baker House in downtown Plymouth looks.

The Italianate-style house, built in 1875, is the centerpiece of a picture-postcard setting at 233 S. Main.

"It's a great example of adaptive re-use, restoring an old house for use as a business but keeping the historic character intact," says Beth Stewart, Plymouth Historical Museum director.

The state and national historic site is the former home of Henry Baker, founder of the Plymouth Iron Windmill Co., which later became Daisy Manufacturing, famous maker of BB guns.

Attorney David Frost, whose law offices are inside, deserves a salute for not only restoring the site in 1982, but also maintaining the original design: the peaking roof, bay windows, small porch and decorative friezes.

Bob Sklar is the O&E's assistant managing editor for special projects.

Colors not easy to choose; men's style change

Helen Diane Vincent

● COLOR MARKETING

Q: It seems to me that I'm seeing greater uniformity in color selections offered by retailers, both in fashion and home furnishings. For all the color around, I rarely see a gold, orange, greens other than the teals, or persimmon, a red that used to be popular years ago. The same uniformity becomes apparant in showcase houses and most magazine advertisements. Why, on the one hand, are we all encouraged to be ourselves, yet pressured to conform to trends? Help me sort this out.

A: You've touched upon a major social trend of our times. It is called by sociologists, discontinuity, which means we are living in an age with strong contradictory forces as our society shifts its entire economic focus and its place in the international scheme of things.

In this setting, certain individuals are becoming more aware of their needs and wants while many manufacturers are concerned with avoiding costly risks in bringing products to the consumer market. The more elements that can be controlled or anticipated, the more comfortable the manufacturer or retailer feels.

Color, more than style or design, has been recognized as a nearly controllable element in the marketplace. Nearly every large manufacturer tries to read trends by monitoring sales and researching the marketplace. Fewer color decisions are made by creative individuals.

Instead color decisions are worked out by fashion coordinators, buyers, suppliers and merchandise managers. It is the coordinators, in particular, who nearly all belong to the same trade and professional organizations, subscribe to the same color forecast services and attend the same exhibits or events that remotely might influence color.

In the past few years, this tendency has accelerated. So it's no wonder they all appear to walk in locked step!

When you add to this the coordination, or packaging of product lines, you can understand that color has to fall into suitable categories of color to be coordinated.

There's also a further irony in color marketing. The sources being monitored for possible trends fall into contradictory areas: the very high-style expressions of mostly highly civilized French designers or the off-beat, alternate life-style statements by a variety of rebels in almost any field or profession. Of course, only few companies are willing to take risks on new color ideas. But those who do manage to become style leaders as far as the business community is concerned.

Until these discontinuities are reconciled, there are two ways you can achieve your individualized look in your home: take full advantage of customizing services offered by paint companies and certain smaller manufacturers. Trade up into more expensive and usually imported products, if you can afford it. Also consider hiring a knowledgeable interior designer who knows how to get the most out of resources and coordinate them to suit your taste.

In fashion, it's quite another matter, other than getting a skilled dressmaker or tailor.

● ADVENTUROUS MENSWEAR

Q: My husband, who is 28 years old and has reddish blond hair, insists on wearing the newer more flamboyant styles in colorful, double-breasted sports coats and the draped, pleated trouser. It's a terrific look and acceptable among our friends. But I'm concerned how he'll come across in the business environment, even though the suits themselves are expensive. He's an insurance salesman and so far, doing quite well.

A: Menswear styles, which have gradually evolved from their beginnings in the 1980s Edwardian era, are about to make the biggest change ever seen before. But the shift in generally accepting the new styles hasn't been completed yet.

Until then, one should proceed with some caution before wearing the new look in a business environment. It can be more acceptable if the coloring is subtle. But I wouldn't even risk that much due to the unspoken dress code exercised in most serious business environments.

Until these fashion innovations are fully accepted, I would suggest for business going along with the more conventional look, even buying as expensive a quality as possible.

I would reserve the newer styles for private life. There's not much point in sacrificing potential business advances for a pleat or a color.

Symphony's fare a dramatic show

By Linda Ann Chomin
special writer

review

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, under Russell Reed's direction, began its 45th anniversary season Friday, Oct. 12, with a dramatic evening of Beethoven.

The 90-member orchestra opened the program with the Coriolan Overture, Op. 62, written in 1807. The overture to a stage play by H.J. Collins rang through the Plymouth-Salem High School auditorium, filling the air with clean, bright sound.

Guest artists, the St. Clair Trio, showcased their musical talents in Beethoven's Triple Concerto. The trio consists of violinist Emmanuelle Boisveret, Detroit Symphony Orchestra concertmaster; critically acclaimed pianist Pauline Martin; and Marcy Chanteaux, DSO assistant principal cellist.

During the concerto, cellist Chanteaux, pianist Martin and violinist Boisvert each took turns demonstrating their musical expertise in a display of precision, matching note for note flawlessly.

After intermission, the Plymouth Symphony returned to the stage along with DSO cellist Chanteaux. Before beginning Beethoven's Symphony No. 5, conductor Reed briefly addressed the audience. He said the first four notes of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony were "four of the most famous notes in all of symphonic literature."

The Plymouth Symphony began the most popular of all symphonies, Beethoven's Fifth in C minor, op. 67, with stirring dark undertones, which were later countered by dynamic, triumphant crescendos, and emotionally moving contrasts between soft and loud.

As Russell Reed related at the beginning of the program, the evening began in the key of C and ended triumphantly in the key of C. The four movements of the Fifth flew by quickly.

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra ended the Beethoven evening in an emotionally moving, powerful upsurge.

You've shopped extensively and finally chosen your new home. The time to secure financing has arrived. Yet, most borrowers shop for their mortgage by telephone! Ask yourself. Did I shop for my home by phone? Did I shop for my automobile, or even my appliances by phone? You are preparing to enter into a probable 30 year relationship with your lender. You will benefit greatly through a no obligation appointment with a professional loan officer. We should discuss such topics as:
• Which of our numerous programs best suit your needs?
• Why should you pay the "standard" 2 points at closing?
• Our $500.00 refinance option
• Our low fees and competitive interest rates
• Lender funded buydowns
Appointments are available at your convenience evenings and weekends.

nological University, in Southfield, in 1968. There, she studied for a semester before transferring to Schoolcraft College in Livonia to major in music. But she didn't begin organized, intense French horn lessons until attending the University of Michigan in her junior year.

NIXON GRADUATED with a music degree in 1972, only to have the hard-earned diploma revoked six months later when a professor claimed the straight-A student failed to take the final exam in music history. She was forced to accept an "incomplete."

"I was furious," Nixon said. "But it was his word against mine."

Too proud to repeat the class, Nixon worked as a free-lance musician. She also began playing principal horn with the Michigan Opera Theatre.

She worked as a gauge designer for a Livonia firm before returning to the University of Michigan in 1984 to take the class needed to finish her degree. Ironically, waiting 12 years to repeat the class put her in the right place at the right time.

Being a performance major, the musician had to join the orchestra when she re-entered the university. Shortly after the semester began, she became enthralled with Professor Gustav Meirer, conductor of the university's orchestra and opera. Coincidentally, the professor also turned up at the Michigan Opera Theatre that semester as the conductor for "The Magic Flute," an opera by Mozart.

"He inspired me," Nixon said. "He didn't just beat time. Through his body, I could see everything that was happening in the orchestra. Watching him, I decided I had to get out of the orchestra to study scores."

NIXON NOT only studied the music of classical composers, but she also started work on her master's degree in horn simply to study with Professor Meier. She even begged the Swiss-born professor to allow her in his conducting class.

And when she finally took the class shortly before earning her master's in 1986, she was convinced the remainder of her career would be in front of the orchestra. "I knew that I was never going to be satisfied playing just one line of music again," Nixon said.

The professor soon became her friend and mentor. And for the past three years, Nixon has assisted him with the editing and graphics of a textbook on conducting.

While working on the book, Nixon continually asks questions. The professor always supplies answers with grand examples that often turn into conducting lessons.

"I learned the craft of conducting long before standing in front of an orchestra," Nixon said. "The professor is enlightening."

AS A conductor, Nixon has trained herself to listen to the whole orchestra instead of only the horn section. When she plays in the orchestra today, she often misses her cues because she's listening for the high notes of the bassoon or violin.

"When you conduct, you feel like you're playing all of the instruments," Nixon said. "What's really thrilling is when you believe you're conducting the way Beethoven or Mozart wanted it."

Nixon's dream is to teach Professor Meier's method of conducting through private lessons or at the college level. But for now, she's busy with Group du jour, a 45-piece orchestra that she assembled and for which she conducts.

The group includes graduate students and friends from other orchestras. Like its name, Group du jour changes from time to time, playing everything from the classics to jazz. What won't change is its conductor.

Group du jour premieres at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 28, at the Marquis Theatre in Northville. Tickets are available at the theater (349-8110) or at Beitner's Jewelry in Plymouth for $10 ($5 for students and seniors). The concert includes the music of Beethoven, Wagner, Rossini and Vivaldi. It will be Nixon's third public appearance as a conductor.

BESIDES CONDUCTING her own group, the Farmington Hills musician-conductor plays principal horn with the Detroit Concert Band and the Detroit Concert Brass, a quintet she organized.

Her husband, Bill Lane, and her brother-in-law also play trombone in the group. Even her sister, Arlene, fills in on French horn when Nixon is conducting.

Nixon earned a specialists in music degree from the University of Michigan last year. This summer, she was invited to the Pierre Monteux Conducting School in Maine.

"I'm doing what I was intended to do," she said. "I'm convinced that I never made it to the symphony because I was meant to be a conductor."

stead of paper, and also more representational art."

Dale Techner Sparage of West Bloomfield works in oil on canvas. She's creating a series of nudes entitled "Naked Bride."

"I, II, and III" from the series show a progression in color from dark to light, as well as a tendency to total abstraction. From burgundy and black, the nudes brighten to white, gray and flesh tones with tinges of pink in the skin. Sparage is working on a masters degree in art therapy at Wayne State University. Her nudes retail at $1,200 each.

JOAN WENZEL of Florida creates wall-size, three-dimensional wall sculptures from acrylic modeling paste over metal on wood. Her "Three Frames" uses positive and negative forms of squares, rectangles and spheres interposed on an open frame background, texturally painted in impressionistic style. The geometric piece, "Three Frames," is priced at $7,700.

In 1958, Fred Myers discovered the ancient petroglyphs and pictographs in Utah. Since that experience, he has sought to preserve the ancient drawings and paintings through his art.

Myers creates metal sculptures from Cor-ten steel, virtually indestructible, giving renewed life to the timeless art. His floor-standing sculptures of petroglyph figures range in height from 3 feet to almost 6 feet. Myers, who recently died, was from Colorado.

Posner Gallery is at 32407 Northwestern Highway, Farmington Hills.Hours are Tuesday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; closed Monday.

Recital planned

The Madonna College Music Department and Cultural Affairs Committee will sponsor a piano recital by Thomas Linde at 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 9, at Kresge Hall on the Livonia campus, I-96 at Levan.

Tickets are $4 for adults, $3 for students and children.

Those attending Madonna's holiday craft showcase Nov. 3-4 or open house Nov. 3 will receive a complimentary recital ticket.

Call 591-5177.

Benefit slated

The Livonia Historical Society will present its fifth annual progressive dinner on Saturday, Nov. 3.

Featuring a special fall menu, the evening will begin at 6 p.m. at the American House, former site of the Blue House, at 14625 Middlebelt, with hors d'oeuvres.

From there, guests will proceed to a private home for soup and salad, then to another residence for the entree and back to American House for desserts and entertainment until 11 p.m.

Cost is $25 per person. All proceeds will benefit restoration of the Alexander Blue House at Livonia's Greenmead Historical Village.

Tickets are available at the Office of Community Resources, fifth floor of the Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road at Five Mile, until Oct. 26.

Students offer ways to 'Save Our Earth'

By Linda Ann Chomin
special writer

Last spring, young artists and writers struggled with their imaginations to create artworks and essays to help increase public awareness of environmental destruction.

"Save Our Earth" was the name of the contest sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. Students from Plymouth and Canton elementary, middle and senior high schools competed to design art posters and write short prose conveying the message that the Earth needs help and that each of us must begin to change our frivolous habits.

Amy Sullivan, a Plymouth Salem High School senior, was one of six poster winners with her entry, "Earthwatcher." Winners were recently announced.

Sullivan's art statement is made from handmade paper. "I used all recycled materials," she said.

She collected "lots of dryer lint and cat fur," put it into a blender, added pottery dyes, poured it over a screen and then let it dry.

After drying the recycled handmade paper, Sullivan "sculpted it over" what appears to be a death mask of a Native American.

Mike Piontek, an eighth grader at West Middle School, won with his creative art poster, "The Future Is In Our Hands." He included in his poster a symbolic hand, holding a whole Earth. Alongside, he placed an identical hand crushing the globe, shattering it into pieces.

Piontek plans to pursue a career in art.

JESSIE LOBENHERZ, a third grader at Farrand Elementary, said she created her artwork because she "thought (it would) help the Earth and the atmosphere."

Jessie is a very aware 8-year-old. The message of her poster is "help save the Earth and the rain forests." Jessie said her mother told her about the destruction of the Earth's rain forests.

The three other poster winners were:

- eighth grader Steve Reger for his clever "Be Nice, The Earth Isn't Well" poster, in which he has drawn a well with purple water.
- sixth grader Tiffany Williams for her "Save The Earth For Our Kids-It's Our Future" poster.
- eighth grader Debbie Kearney for her wonderfully executed, impressionistic artwork, "Keep Our World Beautiful."

The six poster winners won matting and framing to preserve the meaningful art creations. Framing was done by Frameworks on Penniman in Plymouth.

The six poster winners, paired with six winning essays were made into notecards printed on recycled paper, and wrapped in biodegradable packaging.

Inside one of the "Save Our Earth" notecards is this poignant message from seventh grader Tina Deukmaji:

"The World is our home; together we must work to solve its problems. Everyday people set fire to rain forests, they pollute our water, and kill animals for no reason. We must do something to help solve these problems."

The notecards are available at Little Professor On The Park in downtown Plymouth and at the Plymouth Community Arts Council office, 332 S. Main, across from Kellogg Park.

Creative college sets open house

The Center for Creative Studies-College of Art and Design will host an open house from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

This annual event provides arts enthusiasts and their families the chance to explore and experience center offerings.

Visitors can enjoy demonstrations, sit in on working classes, take part in workshops, and view original student works in crafts, fine arts, graphic communication, industrial design and photography.

The event provides a chance to meet and talk with faculty, students, alumni and staff. Information will be provided on portfolio preparation, degree concentrations, non-degree programs and financial aid.

Highlighted this year is the unveiling of the center's new super computer design system.

"We're very proud to provide our students with the same tools and techniques used by industry today," said Jerome Grove, college president. "Our students not only develop their creative abilities on the most sophisticated, super computer design system available, but also obtain skills that make them marketable upon graduation."

Demonstrations will be provided throughout the day in computer labs.

OTHER ACTIVITIES on campus will include: a bronze pouring (1 p.m. in the foundry); papermaking, printmaking, ceramics and glass-blowing demonstrations; a fine arts exhibit and transportation design, clay modeling, drawing, painting and photo studio demonstrations.

There will be displays regarding center involvement in two special projects: interior design concepts for the neighboring children's museum and a display of the soon-to-be published book documenting Detroit's historical churches.

Volunteer students and directional signage will be on hand to guide you to various locations and activities.

Concurrent with Open House '90, the Center Galleries, at Kirby and Woodward, will host "The Original Art" exhibition featuring artist faculty of the center's crafts department.

This exhibition features the glass, metals, fiber, ceramics and woodworking disciplines of the center crafts department. An exhibition of selected work by students enrolled in the crafts department will be on view in the U245 Student Gallery, housed within the Center Galleries.

Free parking is available in the college's Brush Street parking lot. Additional paid parking is available in University Cultural Center parking facilities near the campus.

THE COLLEGE of Art and Design grants the bachelor of fine arts degree in the areas of crafts, fine arts, graphic communication, industrial design and photography. It offers continuing education services through its Offices of Extension Programs.

The Center for Creative Studies-College of Art and Design is in the heart of Detroit's University Cultural Center, directly behind the Detroit Institute of Arts, at 245 E. Kirby.

For more information or a copy of the college's recruitment video, call Janice Bergstrom, admissions dean, at 872-3118.

Juried sale

Arts and crafts show Saturday

More than 100 artisans from across the state as well as out of state will show off their finest works at The Community Center Farmington/Farmington Hills 18th Annual Arts and Crafts Show.

The day-long show will be Saturday, Oct. 27 at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus, Building H, Orchard Lake Road at I-696.

The juried arts and crafts show is one of the mainstay fundraisers for The Community Center, an independent, non-profit organization. The growth and success of the previous shows enabled the need for an off-site facility.

"Based on the caliber of artists

The juried arts and crafts show is one of the mainstay fundraisers for The Community Center of Farmington-Farmington Hills, an independent, non-profit organization.

the committee of jurors has selected, we expect the largest attendance ever," said a Community Center spokesperson.

The show will have a widety of new and returning artisans. Favorite items will include an assortment of jewelry, colorful quiltings and weavings, handsome woodworkings as well as fiber and fabric art. Look for Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday pieces to be available too.

The event will take place at Oakland Community College's H Building, the gymnasium, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 27.

The admission charge will be $1 per person and parking is free. Light refreshments will be sold at the show.

For more information, call The Community Center at 477-8404.

Garden talk

Plant spring flowering bulbs now down to earth

Marty Figley

To force paper-white narcissus for an early taste of spring, you'll need a brushed clay pot or other shallow container. It is important to have the bulbs at the right level to ensure their successful bloom.

Other bulbs that store so much food all they need is water to bloom include hyacinths, muscari (grape hyacinths) and crocus. These latter three are often suspended in jars made especially for this purpose.

Other narcissus that are fine for forcing — enticing may be a better word — include varieties of N. tazetta, Chinese sacred lilies and "Soleil D'or."

Paper-whites from Israel are reported to be very good quality. The Carmel brand (Ziva and Galil cultivars) will produce good results.

Many mail-order companies carry these bulbs, but don't forget local nurseries, which offer bulbs of all descriptions at this time of year.

A very simple way to entice narcissus into early bloom is to place gravel (add a bit of activated charcoal to keep the water sweet) in the shallow container.

ENTICED BULBS make excellent gifts and their "show" can be timed simply by advance planning.

If you begin the process at the end of this month and plant in two- to three-week intervals, a succession of blooms will result. Paper-whites for Christmas should be started about the middle of November. The gift can be presented (with instructions) right after you planted or when growth has begun.

A very simple way to entice narcissus into early bloom is to place gravel (add a bit of activated charcoal to keep the water sweet) in the shallow container.

Use plenty of gravel to support the roots and add water until it just touches the bottom of the bulbs.

Next, set the pot in a cool (40-50 degrees) dark area. When roots start to grow, bring the pot to a sunny, cool spot. In about three weeks, the blooms will appear.

Bulbs grown in water should also be kept in a cool, dark place until roots are well developed and top growth is developing.

When the buds on crocus are about 2 inches tall and when hyacinth and muscari are about 4 inches tall (with flower buds showing through leaf sheath), bring them into the light so their cycle can continue to produce flowering.

DIRECTIONS FOR planting bulbs in the garden are generally included in the packaging, but sometimes it is difficult to decide just where to plant them for the best effect.

When deciding upon the location of the bulbs, remember that the foliage must remain and turn yellow before it is removed, so that it can nourish the bulb for another season's bloom.

The bulb can be removed and stored for another year, annuals can be planted over the bulbs, or they can be planted as undergrowth for taller plants.

In my bed of vinca minor (with blue flowers), I have planted "Violet Pearl," purple-violet hyacinths, around the sundial since I want to keep that area one color. When the foliage dies, it will be camouflaged by the vinca.

An alternative idea would be to scatter crocus, perhaps "Princess Beatrix" (blue with a yellow heart), and then put tall narcissus "quail" in a focal spot, with mini-trumpet narcissi "Little Gem" cascading their yellow blooms from the taller flowers.

Many new bulbs are on the market, so spend some time in the decision-making.

MANY PEOPLE like a variety of color in their gardens, and this can make a very striking display.

I would advise you to read the labels as to bloom time, height and color so that one doesn't clash with another and the flowering time can be prolonged, since all bulbs don't bloom in the same month.

It is best to plant bulbs close together so that the color is continuous rather than a dot here and a dot there.

I like the look of naturalizing the smaller bulbs, such as snow-drops and scilla, through the grass to make a pretty carpet under a tree as spring arrives.

Bulbs can be planted in containers and moved around to catch the sun at different times of the season or to make a pretty display at an entrance, patio, balcony or desk, perhaps for a special occasion.

Now is the time to plant spring flowering bulbs and help the Dutch flower bulb industry celebrate its 400th anniversary.

Artists series opens Nov. 4

The opening concert of the American Artists Series' 21st season presents Detroit Symphony Orchestra members Theodore Oien, clarinet, and Eugene Wade, French horn, performing with the AAS Chamber Players in two sextets.

The concert is at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 4, at Kingswood Auditorium on the Cranbrook campus, 500 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills.

A sextet by Lennox Berkeley for clarinet, horn, and string quartet opens the program. A second sextet features clarinet, horn, violin, viola, cello and piano in a work by Ernst von Dohnanyi. The concert includes a trio for violin, cello and piano, by Ernst Chausson.

Regular participants in the AAS Chamber Players include Detroit Symphony orchestra members Linda Snedden-Smith and Ronald Fischer, violins; Hart Hollman, viola, and John Thurman, cello. Joann Freeman, piano, is the founder and artistic director of the American Artists Series.

An informal reception with the artists follows the concert. Information and tickets, at $10, may be obtained by calling 851-5044.

Black and white photos present special appeal

Monte Nagler

A question frequently asked during my recent exhibit was why I photograph in black and white. This is something that deserves a thoughtful answer.

What black and white lacks in color, it gains in dramatic impact. Color, of course, is beautiful and appeals to our senses. It has a ring of familiarity and makes us feel at home in our world. People are comfortable with color photographs because they reflect what is seen and encountered in their daily lives.

But while the intensity and variety of color can complicate the appearance of a scene, black and white has a graphic simplicity. It has an ability to convey mood, form and pattern in tones of light and dark that color just can't do.

But while the intensity and variety of color can complicate the appearance of a scene, black and white has a graphic simplicity. It has an ability to convey mood, form and pattern in tones of light and dark that color just can't do.

BLACK AND white is a step removed from the real world. With color eliminated you can more easily concentrate on the other ingredients that comprise a photograph.

Black and white photographs present more of a challenge to the photographer than color.

More controls and image manipulation are available to the black and white photographers both in the field and in the darkroom, giving him greater creative freedom. You might say that color will take care of itself while you have to take care of black and white.

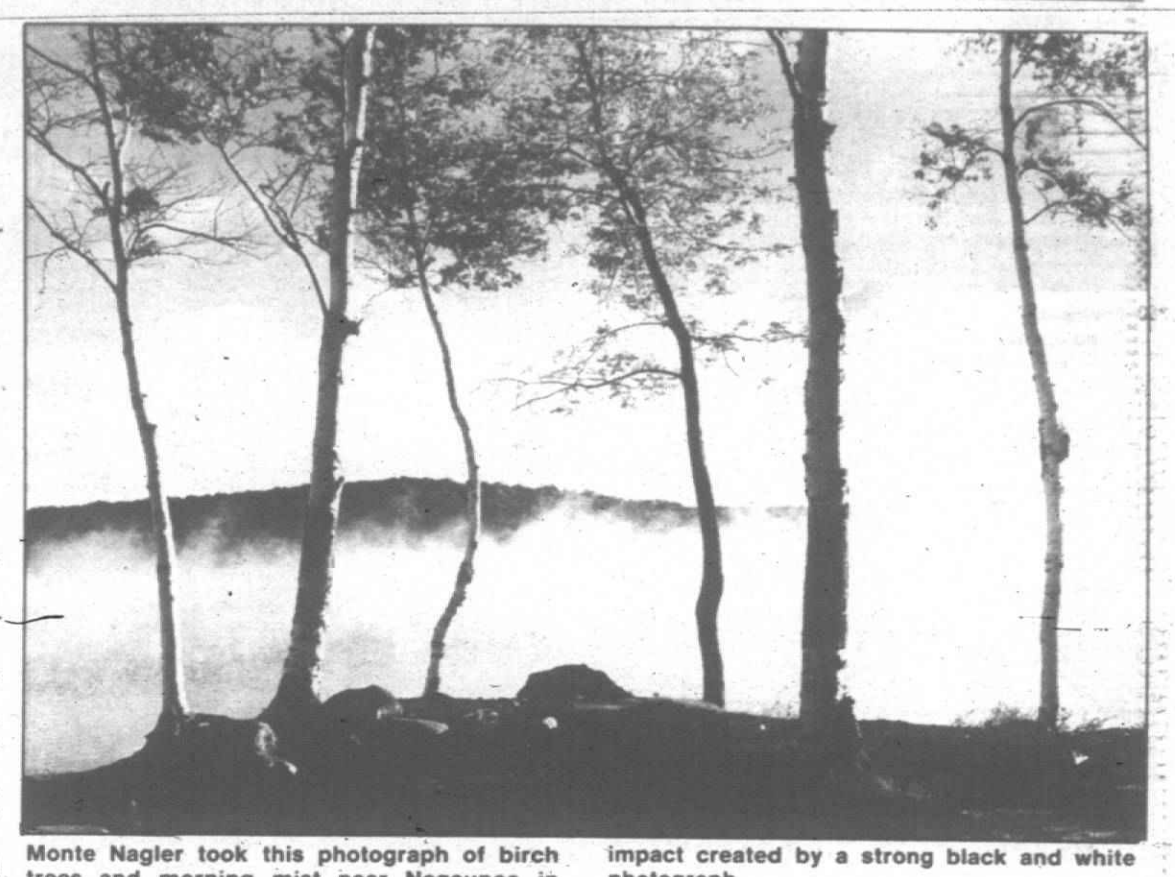
Most serious photographers prefer working in black and white because they feel they can best express themselves in this form. And a perceptive viewer can better get the photographer's message by the subtleties found in a good black and white print.l

ONE'S IMAGINATION is more stimulated by a black and white photograph, analogous to digesting a good book rather then seeing the movie.

These are then some of the reasons why I photograph primarily in black and white.

Light, a vital element in any photograph, can have a profound effect on a black and white photograph.

Black and white pictures have a quality that is more interpretive and less rooted in the real world.



Monte Nagler took this photograph of birch trees and morning mist near Negaunee in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. It illustrates the impact created by a strong black and white photograph.

● BOOK FAIR

The Midwest Antiquarian & Collectible Book Fair will run 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Oct. 26-27, at the Detroit Public Library, 5201 Woodward. Admission is free.

Sponsor is Friends of the Detroit Public Library. The fair caters to the collector, nostalgia buff, generalist, specialist and ordinary reader.

Twenty-five Midwest book dealers will exhibit and offer their wares for sale.

● JAZZ SERIES

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra Hall 1990-91 Michigan Bell Just Jazz Series will open at 8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 28, with jazz greats George Shearing on piano, vocalist Joe Williams and guitarist Joe Pass in "A Gathering of Friends."

For tickets, call 833-3700.

● DSO IN CONCERT

Newly appointed Detroit Symphony music director Neeme Jarvi will lead the orchestra in his second of three weeks of performances, highlighted by the first DSO performances of Mrs. H.H.A. Beach's Symphony in E minor since 1918.

Pianist Horacio Gutierrez will join Jarvi and the orchestra for Prokofiev's Piano Concert No. 2 in G minor. Tchaikovsky's Francesca da Rimini completes the program.

Performances will take place at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 1, 10:45 a.m. Friday, Nov. 2, and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 3, at Orchestra Hall.

Call the box office: 833-3700.

● GLASS SHOW

The Michigan Depression Glass Society presents its 18th annual All Depression Era Glass Show and Sale 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday-Sunday, Nov. 3-4, at the Dearborn Civic Center, 15801 Michigan Avenue.

Thirty dealers from many states will exhibit American-made glassware dating from the early 1900s through 1950.

In addition to the colorful machine-made glassware made during the Depression, finer handmade glassware made by Fostoria, Cambridge, Heisey, Imperial, Fenton and Duncan Miller also will be featured.

Special guests will be Gene Florence, author of books on Depression glass, Teri Steele, editor and publisher of The Depression Glass Daze newspaper, and Bill and Phyllis Smith, Cambridge glass specialists.

Richard Heldenbrand will repair damaged glassware during show hours.

A donation of $2 will be requested at the door. It will provide admittance for both days. Food service will be available.

The Michigan Depression Glass Society was founded in 1972. It is devoted solely to the preservation of Depression era glass.

Meetings are the first Monday of each month at the Livonia Senior Citizens Building, 15206 Farmington Road, Livonia.

Call Wanda Britton, show chair, 421-3098.

● ON STAGE

Redford Township vocalist Julie Rose will take part in a Friends of the Opera of Michigan grand concert at 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 4, in the Warren Woods Middle School Auditorium, 12 Mile and Schoenherr, Warren.

The concert is a massive tribute to the most beloved composer of Italian opera, Giuseppe Verdi.

Joining forces for this major music event are Italian tenor Giuseppe Costanzo of Milan, the Macomb Symphony Orchestra under conductor Thomas Cook, the 50-voice Detroit Cantata Academy, several Michigan vocalists and pianist Bernard Katz.

Concert tickets are $15. Call 582-0997.

● GREAT MASTERS

"The 'Seventh Age' of the Artist: Great Masters in their Late Works" will be the subject of Professor Marvin Eisenberg's slide presentation at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 7, in the Liberal Arts Theater at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

Eisenberg, professor emeritus, taught for 40 years at the University of Michigan, nine as chairman of the History of Art Department.

He has long studied the works of Titian, Michelangelo, Leonardo, Rembrandt, Degas, Cezanne, Beethoven, Verdi, Stravinsky, Shakespeare, Goethe and modern American and British poets.

He has found that they all share certain aspects of style and expression in the masterpieces they created late in their lives.

His free presentation is sponsored by the Schoolcraft College Committee to Promote the Arts. An informal reception with refreshments will follow.

● AUTHOR ON HAND

Renowned children's book illustrator Jan Brett will sign copies of her newest book, "The Wild Christmas Reindeer," 6:30-7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 9, at Borders Book Shop, Novi Town Center.

Brett wrote and illustrated this book as well as several others: "The First Dog," "Annie and the Wild Animals," "Fritz and the Beautiful Horses."

● PHOTO SHOW

The 21st annual Michigan Photography Exhibition will be Oct. 25 to Nov. 19 at the Scarab Club, 217 Farnsworth, Detroit.

Opening reception and awards presentation will be at 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 28. Jurors critique will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 7.

In addition to the Best of Show award, three medals will be awarded in both color and black and white.

● PAPER SNOWFLAKES

A special exhibition of intricate paper snowflakes by artist Thomas Clark will be on display Nov. 20 to Jan. 20 at the Ann Arbor Hands-On Museum, 219 E. Huron.

Snowflakes are cut in the shapes of dinosaurs, plants, insects and butterflies. Simple instructions, paper and scissors will be provided for those who would like to try their own.

A floating, curved stairway is not only functional but distinctive. It was designed by the Farmington Hills architectural firm Erdstein, Bryce and Pallazola. Below, an open staircase placed in the middle of a room adds openness. It was designed by Janet Compo of James D. Compo Inc. in Farmington Hills.

Stare-case

More than just functional, stairways act as focal points

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

Few architectural elements offer as much of a chance for drama as the staircase.

Staircases don't just give access to upper or lower floors; they rise, they curve, they roll, they ascend.

And it beats climbing a rope.

Janet Compo, a designer and builder with the Farmington Hills-based James D. Compo Inc., said stairways can be focal points as well as functional.

For example, in the Parkview model home designed by Compo at the Builders Association of Southeast Michigan Homearama in Brighton, the stairway ascends from the entryway in a gentle curve before straightening out and rising to the upper floor. Open on both sides, the stairway looks over the foyer, dining and great rooms.

"We wanted to have it as a focal point where you walk in the door and it presents itself," she said.

Architect Robert Bryce, president of Erdstein, Bryce and Palazolla in Farmington Hills, said since staircases are almost exclusively placed near a home's entrance, they generally need dressing up.

"It's almost a given that a stairway will be introduced into the foyer — it's the most practical place to put it. So since it's practical, why not make it beautiful."

ERDSTEIN, BRYCE and Palazolla designed the staircase in the Dynasty home built by Koch Development of Troy.

"We try to make staircases both a focal point and a work of art," he said.

But not every staircase is a work of art, he said. What separates an average staircase from an outstanding one are its characteristics.

Placement of the stairway — whether it's in the middle of an open space, situated in a corner or enclosed along a wall — has a drastic impact on a staircase's influence on a home, he said.

How the stairway is built also changes a staircase's impact.

An open stairway is more dramatic, an enclosed stairway is less so, and a stairway along a wall is more functional than dramatic. "If we float the stairway, we can see through it — the visual line beyond the stairway frames it — and it gives a sense of openness."

A closed stairway or a stairway with a supporting walls depends less on its surroundings and more on the stairway itself for its appeal, he said. A truly impressive stairway becomes part of its surrounding and has intrinsic appeal, he added.

The stairway's shape, from a simple straight row of steps to a gentle curve, also affects a staircase's impact on a home.

"A curved stairway is much more sensual than a straight one. A straight staircase is more utilitarian," he said.

A SPIRAL, U-shaped or L-shaped staircase, offers a different appeal. A U-shaped and L-shaped staircase offers a landing or rest area halfway up; a spiral staircases usually gives a home a contemporary feel. "But spiral staircases are usually not the primary stairway — we try to use them only as a last possible solution because they're uncomfortable and more difficult."

'It's almost a given that a stairway will be introduced into the foyer — it's the most practical place to put it. So since it's practical, why not make it beautiful.'

— Robert Bryce architect

Finally, a stairway's intrinsic appeal comes from the material it's made of, the craftsmanship of the work and even its shape.

For a wood staircase, the appeal often comes from the wood. Oaks, cherry and maple woods, for example, all have different attributes that change the appearance of a stairway, he said.

Metal staircases give a more contemporary feel, and for a truly contemporary feel, glass panels or tubes and special lighting can be added, Bryce said.

"Contemporary is sleek, crisp, clean and uncluttered — what says that more than glass?"

The intricacies of the pieces — the newels, balustrades, spindles and footings and rails — also make a big difference in a stairway's appeal, Bryce said. "In the better staircase, pieces are custom milled so that the spindles and railings are unique."

Compo said even in lower end homes the staircase has taken on an increased importance — even if the stairway is against the wall and out of the way. "In most cases people want their stairways to look good no matter where they are.

"What's important is the stairway should be designed to fit the home," Compo said.

ANOTHER CHARACTERISTIC that's largely forgotten when designing a stair, Compo said, is safety. "Let's face it, you spend a lot of time going up and down a stairway," she said.

"In the more expensive homes, people are putting emphasis on looks; in the less expensive homes, the staircases have to look nice, but the greater emphasis is on safety," she said.

Which is not to say that more expensive staircases are unsafe — all should be equally safe — just that the predominant factor is safety, she said.

It almost goes without saying that a stairway must be secure so it doesn't rock or sway, she said, and each type of stairway poses different problems.

Floating stairways, naturally, are going to require a different type of engineering than a straight staircase built into a wall, she said.

But as important as the engineering is, Compo said, the way the stairs climb may be just as important. "It must be a comfortable rise and tread.

"Older stairways were almost always too steep," she said, adding stairways should have a suggested riser of eight inches and a minimum tread of nine inches.

A staircase's width should be no less than three feet, she added. "Anything less can be a 'tripper.' "

A staircase can add significantly to the price of a home, Compo continued. "It's not uncommon for someone to spend $3,000 to $5,000 more for a nicer stairway — really nice ones can cost an additional $5,000 to $30,000."

Trerice Tosto new name of Birmingham firm

Byron W. Trerice Co. of Birmingham has been renamed Trerice Tosto.

Structure and organization will remain unchanged, with Byron W. Trerice serving as chairman and chief executive officer. Leo R. Tosto, who has been with the company for 16 years as president and chief operating office, will continue those duties.

"Our name change recognizes Leo R. Tosto's contributions and is a symbol of our commitment to the associates who are moving this company into the future," Trerice said.

The company deals in commercial, office and industrial real estate sales and leasing.

Gibbs Planning, a site planning and landscape architecture firm in Bloomfield Hills, has named Mary Lynn Brett and Chris Cahill assistant planners. Brett is responsible for site planning and landscape architecture. Cahill is responsible for landscape architecture and urban design.

Clarence G. Johnson has been appointed sales associate in the industrial sales and investment divisions of Trerice Tosto. He specializes in the Dearborn, Detroit and downriver markets.

Gabe A. Carrillo of Farmington has been appointed executive vice president and manager of operations at Campbell Development of Southfield. He has been a consultant to the company and was a partner in charge of design and product and quality assurance at Strengs/Fugleberg/Koch/Carillo, architects and engineers in Dallas.

Custom Facilities of Indianaoplis was selected as general contractor for the Saturn dealership in Troy, a 15,000-square-foot facility owned by David Fisher.

Three area men have been named to the Homearama committee in connection with the display of idea houses that closes on Sunday in the Brighton area. They are Dennis P. Dickstein of West Bloomfield, committee chairman, who is chairman and CEO of Ralph Manuel Realtors, Troy; Jack Ray of Birmingham, builder-developer liaison and senior vice president with Standard Federal Bank, Troy; and Robert Katzman, president of Abbey Homes, Birmingham, developer of the Homearama site.

E. Edward Williams of Edwards Glass Co., Livonia, and James Vogelsberg of American Glass & Metals Corp., Plymouth, have been elected directors of the Glazing Cntractors Association for 1990-91.

Residential construction activity in both Oakland and Wayne counties dipped in August compared to July figures, but both counties are still reporting building increases for the first eight months of the year compared with 1989.

In Wayne, building units dropped from 552 in July to 511 in August for a drop of 7.4 percent. In Oakland, 630 units were reported in August compared to 665 in July for a drop of 5.3 percent.

Year-to-date figures show a 30-percent increase in number of units in Wayne — 2,969 up from 2,283 in 1989. But the value of the construction shows an increase of just 5.5 percent — $230 million compared to $218 million.

In Oakland, year-to-date figures are up 1.5 percent to 5,433 units from 5,351 in 1989. Value of the units is up 0.7 percent to $484.6 million from $481.2 million.

Figures were provided by the Michigan Association of Home Builders.

Improvements translate to sales

Installing quality items in a new house can pay dividends when it comes time to sell. Likewise retrofitting an older house with such things as energy-efficient windows and doors, extra insulation or an attic fan could cost $3,000 to $4,000. But such a project should give you a dollar-for-dollar return, not to mention lower utility bills.

(AP) — Nothing sells a house faster than a hot market. Just ask anyone who sold in the sizzling '70s, a decade during which prices for existing homes soared 170 percent — 27 points higher than inflation.

Now we're facing the '90s, when house prices are not expected to skyrocket. Whether you plan to sell your home in six months or six years, you face the challenge of getting top dollar in a slow market.

Making your house stand out can be as simple as laying on a new coat of paint or as ambitious as knocking down walls to enlarge a kitchen. If your house is in need of real repairs, attend to those first. Before you pick a project, check out what your neighbors are doing and what features are popular with buyers of new homes in your area. Above all, make only those changes that please you.

Adding a third or fourth bedroom or a second bath is likely to be a good investment. However, changing lifestyles indicate that extra rooms may be used as home offices, exercise rooms, home entertainment centers or separate apartments for parents or returning children.

OVERALL, DON'T spend more than 20 percent of the value of the house on remodeling and upgrading, recommends Carole Eichen, of Carole Eichen Interiors, in Santa Ana, Calif. The cost and payback for individual projects will vary widely, depending on your market. Here's what to expect:

- Kitchens: Buyer interest in modern kitchens is high. If your kitchen is 15 to 20 years old, a makeover can pay off handsomely. Remodeling newer kitchens may improve salability but won't pay back as well. Your return can vary from under 40 to over 100 percent, depending on your market, the age of the kitchen and the size of the house, according to Remodeling and Qualified Remodeler trade publications. Estimated cost: $10,000 to $24,000.
- Bathrooms: Adding a second bath is a big selling point, particularly if you have three bedrooms or are adding a third or fourth bedroom. Sometimes, an additional bath may even increase your home's value by nearly twice the cost of the addition. The return from a third bathroom isn't as great. Estimated cost: $3,500 to $11,000.
- Master bedroom suites: Sometimes a combination of two smaller rooms, these may include a Jacuzzi, exercise room, home entertainment center or kitchenette. The expected payback is about 80 percent. Estimated cost: $21,000.

Retrofitting an older house with such things as energy-efficient windows and doors, extra insulation or an attic fan could cost $3,000 to $4,000. But such a project should give you a dollar-for-dollar return, not to mention lower utility bills and a potential selling point for buyers who could qualify through federal mortgage programs for a break on financing.

INCREASING STORAGE space or making the most of existing space-by adding a closet organizing system, for example-may cost only a few hundred dollars and will pay back 100 percent. Ceiling fans are another inexpensive upgrade that make your home and your utility bills look better. A fireplace is riskier; the return could be as low as 50 percent.

If you have less than $5,000 to spend, consider adding a deck or enclosing a porch for year-round use. The return on a deck is around 50 percent.

If you're considering a landscaping project, start with a budget that's 3 to 5 percent of your home's cost, recommends Joe Skelton, president of Lifescapes in Canton, Ga. Staying within that range improves your chances of getting a dollar-for-dollar return when you sell. (Pools are an exception; you'll recoup only about 50 percent of your cost.)

Shop around for a builder, not just a house

By Loren K. Swanson
special writer

When you are ready to begin shopping for your new house, you should begin shopping for your builder, too. Whether you are buying a condominium, townhouse, in a subdivision or a custom-built house, the quality of your house will be determined by the quality of the builder.

Start your builder-search process by calling your local house builders association. It can give you the names of reputable builders in your area.

The real estate section of your local newspaper is also a good source. Ask friends and relatives about builders they have dealt with directly, or ask them for the names of acquaintances who have recently dealt with a builder.

Once you have developed a list of builders, find out about their reputations and the quality of their work. The best way is to visit houses they have built and talk to the owners.

Ask the builders on your list for addresses of their recently completed houses, subdivisions, townhouses or condominium complexes. At the very least, drive by and see if the houses are visually appealing.

Look at houses that are the same style as you plan to buy. A good time to visit is on a weekend morning when people are outside doing chores or errands. Just introduce yourself and explain that you are considering buying a house from the same builder who built theirs.

QUESTION THEIR satisfaction with the house and ask if the builder delivered what was promised in a timely manner. People will generally tell you if they are happy.

When examining a house, look at the quality of the construction features: cabinetry, carpeting, trim work and paint.

In viewing each builder's houses, you must determine whether they lend themselves to the type of lifestyle you want to lead. Look at the amount of interior living space and how efficiently the space is used. Find out if the builder is using modern energy efficiency features, both in appliances and insulation.

A house is primarily a place to live, but it is also an important investment. Consider the appreciation potential of any house you may buy. Be concerned with the value you are getting for your money regarding location, housing supply and demand and other local market factors.

One of the most important criteria for selecting a builder is the warranty protection provided on the house.

Ask for a copy of the builder's warranty. Read the document thoroughly and be sure you understand what protection would be provided to you. If you have any questions about the coverage, be sure to clarify it with the builder before buying.

Almost all builders offer some form of written warranty. Many builders back their own warranties on workmanship and materials, typically for one year. Other builders offer warranties backed by an insurance company.

To get an insured warranty, you must buy a house from a builder who belongs to a warranty program.

WHILE YOU ARE shopping for your builder, find out from each one you interview what you can expect regarding service after the sale. Typically a builder will make two service calls during the first year after you move in. These calls are to make repairs on non-emergency problems covered by your warranty.

The first call is usually 30 to 120 days after you move in, and the second is around the 11th month, right before any one-year warranties on workmanship and materials would expire. For emergencies, the builder should send someone right away.

When selecting a builder, be thorough and ask a lot of questions. Get as many specifics as possible. If you receive the answers verbally, take notes.

Loren K. Swanson is the past president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders, based in Lansing.

Whether you are buying a condominium, townhouse, in a subdivision or a custom-built house, the quality of your home will be determined by the quality of the builder.

Plenty of hard work uncovers hardwood floor

(AP) We would like to refinish the hardwood floor that's under the linoleum in our kitchen. Is there an easy way to remove the linoleum?

Unfortunately, there is no easy way. If the hardwood floor consists of oak strips and was originally smooth, then the linoleum was probably glued directly to the floor. Begin by cutting the linoleum into 12-inch strips with a utility knife. Be careful to set the blade depth so you don't cut into the wood. Use a long-edged trowel to pry up the linoleum strips. A heat gun will help to soften the adhesive as you go. Eventually, you'll remove all the linoleum and some of the adhesive. Portions of the linoleum's felt backing, however, will stick to the adhesive that remains.

If your hardwood floor had open joints or crevices, it was probably leveled with a quick-setting, plaster-like compound before the linoleum was applied. In this case, prior to lifting the strips, pound on the linoleum with a flat object to crumble the leveling compound and facilitate lifting.

After removing the linoleum, you'll have to sand the floor. Be aware that up until about five years ago, the felt backing of linoleum contained asbestos. Have a sample analyzed. If asbestos is present, the fibers will become airborne when the floor is sanded. In this case, you'd be better off covering your floor with new linoleum.

We installed redwood siding 26 years ago, and painted it with the best exterior oil paint. Every spring since, the paint blisters and red stains appear. We've sanded the siding and applied latex paint over the best undercoat available. But we still have the same blistering, peeling and red stain problem. Any ideas?

I believe interior room moisture (vapor) is passing through your walls and popping the paint. You need to treat the interior walls so warm, moist air won't pass through to the outside.

Apply an interior paint designed to minimize the flow of moisture, or place a polyethylene vapor barrier between the studs and the drywall. Once you've corrected the moisture problem, scrape off the blistered paint and sand the wood bare. Prime the blistered area with an oil-base primer, then repaint the entire area. Note: Primers containing zinc are sensitive to water and should not be used on redwood.

Latex or other water-base primers should not be used on woods containing water-soluble extractives (natural moisture which can be drawn out), such as redwood or cedar. The water in the primer base will cause bleeding stains. Latex top coats may be applied over an oil primer.

The concrete walls in our old home were originally poured in small batches. Now the walls are spalling (chipping and breaking up) at these joints, and a white powdery substance forms during the decomposition process. A previous owner mortared over these areas, but that's flaking off, too. I'd like to chip out the bad spots, remortar and apply a sealer. Should I seal or remortar first, and what kind of sealer is best?

Your condition is a moisture problem occurring at the nonbonded joints (cold joints) between the pours. Moisture has let water-soluble salts, a concrete byproduct, leach out. This is known as efflorescence.

Using a bricklayer's hammer and a cold chisel, chip the spalled joints clean and chisel the edges in a dove-tail shape (undercut on the inside) at least 3½ inch wide by with a compound such as Waterplug, then apply two coats of Thoro-seal waterproof coating to prevent any further moisture problems.

A support column in my basement is right in the way of my new pool table. Is there any way to remove that column without causing a sag in the floor above?

As your drawing shows a girder joint over the column in question, I believe that removing the column would cause total collapse. Your problem can be corrected, but to make absolutely certain you should seek the services of a professional engineer.
