Court upholds home school rule

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

For Sandra and John Bennett of Canton — convicted in 35th District Court in 1987 of failure to send their children to school — life has been akin to existence on the heavy end of a yo-yo. Ordered by the Michigan Supreme Court to re-hear the Bennett case, the state Appeals Court upheld the Bennetts' conviction last week.

The action shocked the Bennetts, who were elated just one week before with a state appellate court ruling that struck down Department of Education rules that restrict home schooling. That decision tossed out procedures requiring parents to provide at least 180 days of education per year, teach specific courses and consult certified teachers.

In the Bennett decision, the court ruled that a state rule requiring home schoolers to use certified teachers does not violate parents' religious freedom or due process rights.

Judges Marilyn Kelly, Martin Doctoroff and Richard Maher ruled that, "the Bennetts objected to the regulation, solely on the grounds that it violated their 14th Amendment right to direct the education of their children.

"WE HAVE already concluded that the teacher certification requirement satisfies the strictest standard of review."

Assistant Attorney General Paul Zimmer lauded the latest ruling but admitted confusion.

"I guess the law continues to be a little unclear, at least the law as it is interpreted by the Court of Appeals," he told a Lansing paper.

"Even our attorney says he can't understand it," said Sandra Bennett. "Everyone is wondering. As he explained it, different judges decided the two cases. Two of the judges are very pro public schools, and pro teachers' union. So things were stacked against us.

"But we didn't expect them to reverse their own decision," said Bennett. "It's really uncommon for them to say, 'We made a mistake.' They leave it to someone else to get the ashes out of the ash can."

THE BENNETTS, who have six children, say they're again appealing to the Supreme Court.

"I am optimistic that somewhere along the line, someone is going to see the inconsistencies in the decisions and the error in the assumption that the least intrusive way of guaranteeing a child's education is to have certified teachers.

"They're saying the state has a

Old glory

A Canton man reported that three American flags were stolen from in front of his house during the past year.

"In the early morning hours of Sunday, April 13, you must have felt you received a bonus," said David J. Monteith mocking the thieves in an open letter to the Observer.

"This time you took the U.S. Marine Corp flag that has flown along side of Old Glory, night and day, seven days a week, for the last eight months."

Monteith explained that his son is expected to return soon from nine months in the Persian Gulf.

"I surely appreciate your waiting until we were assured his safe return," Monteith said. "I caution you though; those flags have represented the prayers and vigil watch maintained by this family's friends and neighbors over these past months.

"I caution you because I am certain that they contain a major dose of that which has made this nation great: hard work, hope, honesty, love of country and family pride, and I wouldn't want the proximity of something that represents these attributes, to contaminate your current life style.

"If you would like to return one of the flags you have stolen, I would be grateful. I had planned to have it flying when my son returned to Canton next month. I cannot find a U.S. Marine Corp flag, but I will purchase the Stars and Stripes again, for the fourth time.

"You can steal this one too, if you like. But you can never take away what these banners mean to me, and to the countless more Americans."

The accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand, Detroit was chosen Tuesday by Canton's Downtown Development Authority to conduct a market feasibility study the project.

Tax abatement

Procoil, the steel processing company on Haggerty Road north of Van Born, has applied for tax abatement on its recently initiated $10.3 million expansion. The plant was built in 1987 for $17.9 million and employs 75 people. The expansion will allow Procoil to add another 21 jobs.

The Canton Board of Trustees will consider the request at the May 14 public hearing. All tax abatements must be approved by the Michigan State Tax Commission, a division of the Department of Treasury.

Getting greener Earth Day puts down roots in area

The number of Earth Day activities in Plymouth-Canton just keeps growing.

For starters, the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will be a little greener come Earth Day, Sunday, April 21.

As part of Rotary International's Preserve Planet Earth program, Canton and Plymouth Rotary Clubs are donating a new Colorado Blue Spruce tree to every elementary school in the district.

Also, U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, is donating a tree to every middle school in the district.

The first Rotary planting is set for 9:30 a.m. this morning at Smith Elementary School. Members of the Rotary clubs also will stage tree-planting ceremonies at each of the other elementaries.

Rotarians are giving to all second graders in the district a potted Black Hills Spruce or a Colorado Blue Spruce.

THE IDEA IS to help teach children to "preserve planet earth," said Hal Cooper, chairman of the Plymouth Rotary Club.

Superintendent John Hoben said, "In preparing youngsters for the 21st century, we're responding to the need to preserve our planet by teaching sound ecological practices. This planting of trees serves to reinforce those teachings in a most practical way."

Under auspices of the Preserve Planet Earth program, President Bush will plant a tree at noon Friday, April 26 at the same time Rotary International President Paula Costa will be planting a tree in London, England.

From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 27, the Western Wayne County Conservation Association presents its second annual open house, featuring information on environmental-related topics, free tree seedlings and tours of a virgin wooded area near the association office on Napier between Five Mile and North Territorial roads.

"We had about 300 last year," said organizer Chuck Van Vleck, adding he expects more attending the family-oriented event this year.

AND IN THE spirit of Earth Day, CMMS Cleaning Co. president Sandy Anselm announced that her company on Thursday began recycling paper for Johnson Controls Inc. in Plymouth Township — a service she said she's willing to offer to other clients.

Anselm said Johnson Controls produces 50-60 garbage bags containing waste paper each day. "Hopefully now that we're recycling, we can eliminate that down to 15 or 20, if that," she said.

The recycling program was organized by Johnson Controls' Robert Crump, staff environmentalist.

Earth Day will be commemorated in a special way at East Middle School, where staffers pride themselves on being "big recyclers," said Principal Tom Workman.

Compliments of the City of Plymouth and Commissioner Mary Childs, a tree will be planted Monday in a courtyard that's being re-modeled at East.

"WE'LL BE integrating our curriculum for all the sixth graders, combining social studies, English and science classes," said East teacher Linda Palmisano.

"We're studying South America and the rain forests and are going to combine our Earth Day observa-

John Prenciczky will resign from the Canton Board of Trustees in June when he moves to a Northville condominium.

Prenciczky and his wife, Tommie, want to leave their four bedroom house that became too big for their needs once their sons, John, 26, and Tom, 24, moved out.

Prenciczky, 48, said it was hard to give up 18 years of living in Canton and six years as a trustee. His term expires November 1992.

"My wife, Tommie, and I have agonized for a long time," said Prenciczky adding that they had planned to move to a proposed Canton condominium that was never built.

"We found one we like even better," Prenciczky said.

Reaction in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools to a law requiring school districts to notify girls as young as 11 years old about how to obtain an abortion without parental permission ranges from disbelief to dismay, disgust, and resignation.

A two-page form to be distributed to students was drafted by a panel of educators, judges, parents, social workers and lawmakers in compliance with the state's new parental consent abortion law.

The legislation requires girls in sixth through 12th grade to receive a parent's permission before seeking an abortion, or in lieu of that, a

Trustee to quit township board

But it's especially hard to leave the board at a time when trustees are tackling a lot of exciting issues," he said. And the personality conflicts that tainted meetings in the past are gone.

"It's been so enjoyable working with (Supervisor) Tom Yack and the board that is there now," Prenckzy said. "As opposed to the last year of the previous board where there was so much conflict. You get so much done and so much accomplished now."

Prenckzy played an important role on the board, according to Trustee Bob Shefferly.

"John lent a lot to the board," Shefferly said. "He's done a good job, and I hate to see him go. He had a sense of humor to lend to the board, and it was appreciated by a lot of us when we were deep in thought or into a heavy discussion."

Of his work on the board, Prenckzy said he was most proud of the roads that have been paved and agreements made with landfill operators.

"Since the establishment of landfills in Canton was probably inevitable, the negotiations to get a substantial amount of revenues from the landfills made it easier to swallow," he said.

As a member of the Fellows Creek Golf Course committee, Prenckzy said he's also pleased with the improvements made at more compelling interest than parents do, which is horrendous. Any caring parent would argue that they care more for their children than the State of Michigan. There are other ways to see if a child is indeed being educated.

"How would they explain away the high illiteracy rate and the fact that so many are dropping out of school?"

"About the only thing we know for sure is that I'm not going anywhere, and neither is my husband. We're going to stay here, and we're going to continue to home school."

Superintendent John Hoben said the home schooling issue has to be resolved at the state level. "Whatever the decision is, we will abide by it," he said.

SCHOOL BOARD President Dean Swartzweiler said it's an issue for the Legislature to decide, adding he doesn't believe children who are home schooled receive "nearly as good an education as they'd get in school."

"I personally believe that a youngster will tend not to get as good an education at home as he or she would in a school environment."

"Without being exposed to advanced courses in math and other subjects, students might have a difficult time passing entrance exams into the tougher colleges and universities around the country. But I agree that a parental decision," Swartzweiler said.

Officials: Breen departure won't hurt ventures

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Maurice Breen

Joint Plymouth city and township projects won't be hurt by the departure of long-time township Supervisor Maurice Breen, officials say.

Breen, who resigned his post Sunday to take a seat today on the Wayne County Commission, is a strong backer of efforts to create a Plymouth city-township airport board to run Canton's Mettetal Airport.

Also, Breen and City Manager Gordon Jaeger had in recent weeks put together an outline of how city and township police and fire services could be joined.

But officials backing the joint airport and joint services efforts say that while a main organizer is leaving, the groundwork has been laid for success of those efforts.

"The talks are moving along at a regular pace," said Plymouth City Commissioner John Vos. Also a strong backer of joint airport operations and joint fire and police.

MEANWHILE, COMMUNITY government and business leaders praised Breen for his role in maintaining a high standard of developing in Plymouth Township during his tenure as supervisor.

Vos cited the "quality of development" attracted by township officials during Breen's tenure.

"He's been an excellent leader for Plymouth Township," he said.

LONGTIME TRUSTEE Smith Horton said Breen — who with Horton served as a planning commissioner in the 1960s — said, "I think he's done a very good job, a hell of a job."

"He's a very strong leader he has a lot of ideas," Horton said, adding Breen and other township planners wanted to maintain primarily a residential character to the township, while attracting industrial and commercial development.

"He took this community to where it is today," said township police Chief Carl Berry. "We aren't growing too fast, the taxes have been held well in check."

Several township employees said they were surprised by the announcement Tuesday that Breen would be leaving.

OF HIS accomplishments as supervisor from 1980 to present, Breen said, "The No. 1 thing is the organization itself, the revamping of it, the expansion of the service capabilities."

Among services started during his tenure were street sweeping, mandatory curbside recycling, creation of the township police and fire departments, expanded emergency medical services, and an expanded Hillside Golf Course.

Saying he doesn't think his departure as Supervisor will hurt the airport and joint services efforts, Breen added, "They were not Maurice Breen issues, they were township board issues."

The board voted 6-0 with one abstention to operate Mettetal Airport, and voted 7-0 to explore joint services with the city.

"I'm not going to disappear from the scene," Breen said, adding he will assist the airport operation and joint services efforts, if needed.

Students learn about travel

Students at Hoben Elementary celebrated "Transportation Day" last week, learning hands-on about semi-trailer trucks, sports cars, boats and buses. The vehicles were on site as part of lessons on travel by land, sea and air.

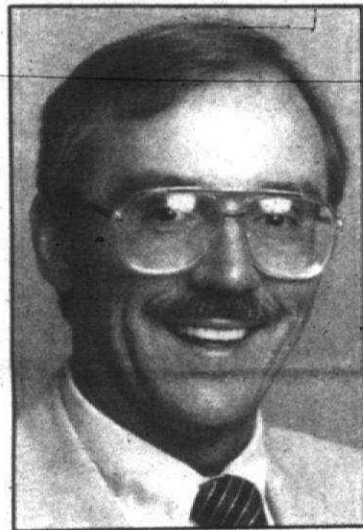

Students learned about pleasure vs. work vehicles, as well as about vehicles that carry cargo, people and freight.

Children created their own model airplane hangars, garages, boat docks, launching pads and elevated freeways. They also constructed model boats.

Teachers are taking students to the Ford Air Transport Hangar to see a private Ford plane. In May the students will travel by bus to Walled Lake to ride a 1917 vintage coach car train. The outing will take students from Walled Lake's industrial and commercial areas into West Bloomfield's bird sanctuary and wetlands.

Trustees say Law to be supervisor

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Gerald Law

State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, will be named Plymouth Township supervisor on Tuesday, say trustees responsible for that appointment.

"It's a done deal," said Trustee Smith Horton.

And the first candidate has announced his intention to seek Law's state House seat.

"This is something I was planning to do next year already," said Jerry Vorva, currently a Plymouth city commissioner planning to run as a Republican.

"I already have a committee set up, I plan on hitting the ground running," said Vorva, the highest vote-getter among commission candidates in the November 1989 election.

Law, who was unavailable for comment Friday, said Tuesday he'd "think about" the township supervisor job, should Breen resign.

On Friday Maurice Breen, Plymouth Township's supervisor who resigned to become Wayne County commissioner, said Law, a former township trustee, should replace him. "Gerry obviously has the experience as a state legislator and former township board member," Breen said.

William Joyner, a Democrat and former county commissioner, said, "I'm hoping there's a good candidate out there that is going to run," adding he would consider running if no be reached for comment.

Joyner criticized the outgoing Republican politicians for naming their successors. "Bypassing the electoral process with back-room politics is the height of arrogance," he said.

Horton said Law will be chosen Tuesday by trustees, adding no other strong candidate has come forward seeking the position.

Of Law's qualifications, Horton said, "He used to be a trustee. Of course, his connections with the state are fairly good."

Vorva said his main focus in a campaign for Law's 38th state House seat would be education, law and order, and taxes.

If Law, indeed resigns his seat, it would be up to Gov. John Engler to call a special election. Once called, a primary would be held 40 to 45 days after a state election commissioner said. A general election would follow 20 days later.

Law was elected to his fifth two-year term in November.

Rail workers back on job after strike

By Kevin Brown staff writer

A one-day nationwide railroad strike affecting about 75 local rail workers ended Thursday with a stroke of President George Bush's pen.

"It's good to be back," said George Muneo of Canton, a conductor and spokesman for the Plymouth local of the United Transportation Union.

The order signed by Bush ending the strike set a procedure for resolving collective bargaining issues that remain in dispute, according to a Bush spokesman.

Railroad officials praised Congress' quick work to end the shutdown. "We're gratified that the Congress moved so quickly to end the strike," said Mike Walsh, chairman of the Union Pacific Railroad Co. "Trains will be moving again very soon."

Most local railroad union members feel that Bush's action "favors management more than it favors labor," Muneo said.

"It gives management the chance to re-do some things, they can re-open contracts they had signed," he said, and possibly seek contract provisions less favorable to employees.

By the legislation, a three-person panel would be appointed to review some outstanding issues between carriers and workers, and would have 65 days to impose agreements.

At the end of 65 days, the emergency board report with any revisions by the new panel would go into effect.

Muneo said it was good that the three-person panel would be negotiating. "They were supposed to do something three years ago, negotiate a contract, but they (management) were just going through the motions," he said.

Labor-management relations here are good, Muneo said. "Management has worked hard to make the workplace a lot safer," he said.

Three of the striking railroad unions are represented in Plymouth: the transportation union representing brakemen and conductors; the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and a local representing maintenance workers.

Management has argued that railroad workers' salaries are now higher than wages earned by most other industrial employees. In a new contract, workers are seeking higher wages and concessions on work rules and health and welfare issues.

Probe continues into fatal shooting at area store lot

Michigan State Police expect to complete their investigation this week of Thursday's fatal shooting of a Westland man after a drug buy fell through.

The victim was Ronald John Melnyk, 33, who lived in the Wilderness Park Apartments, on Warren Road east of Newburgh. Melnyk was described by a police official as a "sizeable dealer for Nov."

Melnyk, who was unarmed, was shot by officers when he tried to drive away from a planned undercover drug buy before the buy was completed.

The incident took place in the crowded Northville Township Meijer Store parking lot on the southwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty. The store attracts shoppers from Plymouth Township, Farmington Hills and Livonia.

Melnyk was dead on arrival at Botsford General Hospital, Farmington Hills.

Enforcement Team, with help from the Western Wayne County Drug Task Force.

The shooting started when Melnyk started to flee in his 1989 Chrysler, striking two officers in the parking lot. The two suffered minor injuries.

Melnyk was the target of a narcotics sting conducted by federal, state and Wayne and Oakland county law enforcement teams, state police Detective Richard Dutler said.

UNDERCOVER OFFICERS were trying to buy seven ounces of cocaine from Melnyk when he suddenly mixed the deal, Dutler said.

"The undercover officer and the suspect had discussions, (but) the deal was never finalized."

When Melnyk tried to flee, he struck a 1991 Chrysler car being used by undercover officers.

Two officers fired at least six shots from their 9mm pistols.

Melnyk appeared unconscious before he struck the car driven by an undercover officer, witnesses told police.

OFFICERS HAD previously bought drugs from Melnyk within the past two months, a state police inspector said.

Officers were planning a "buy-bust" from Melnyk Thursday night in a move to arrest him immediately after the drugs were paid for.

Melnyk was a "sizeable dealer for Nov.," Lt. Dorothy McAleer of the Oakland NET unit said.

The arrangements between Melnyk and officers were that the planned drug buy was to be in Novi, she said.

Melnyk had an associate who was identified only as a Dearborn Heights party store owner, said investigator Joe Koenig of the state police criminal investigation division.

Warrants for Melnyk's arrest had been issued and were lacking a judge's signature. Koenig said Melnyk likely was part of a larger narcotics distribution system, Koenig said.

(Information for this story was reported by Northville Record staff members Mike Tyree, Scott Daniel, Cristina Ferrer and Rick Byrne, and written by Leonard Poger of the Observer Newspapers.)

waiver from probate court.

The American Civil Liberties Union of Michigan and the Planned Parenthood Affiliates of Michigan have filed a lawsuit challenging the act's constitutionality.

As it stands, the information has to be given to students by this counseling fall.

MARGO PANKO, a teacher at Central Middle School and the mother of a sixth-grader, says she's "appalled I'm going to have to do this. I'm having a really hard time with this. It's against my personal beliefs. To me, abortion is killing."

"I never thought in my whole teaching career I'd ever have to do something like this."

"I have a sixth-grader, and I'd be very upset if she came home with this kind of information. I want to know what I can do to repeal it."

the issue with students. My understanding is that it's sufficient to send the sheet home."

"We really haven't had a board discussion yet, but there are copies of this in their packets. I think they're asking schools to do something that should be done at home with parents. I'm not particularly in favor of it. But if it's a mandate of law, we will be in compliance with it."

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER Barbara Graham calls the law a "bug step toward intruding on the rights of families."

"I think our government is really starting to dictate how parents should be parents. I think we're going too far telling people what they can do and can't do with their children."

"I blame the fathers of sex education for the escalation of teenage pregnancy and the mess we are in."

Now the only answers the writers of those materials have is, 'To hell with their safety, to hell with parents, to hell with society.' We can't legislate morality, but we sure can leave the door open for immorality."

Putting such pressure on young people is a big disservice, Graham added.

"Kids can't be kids anymore. We keep telling them they are sexually active, and that's the norm — the way they're supposed to be."

"Who are we going to sue if one of these young girls dies? I think they should establish this right now so parents will know who to go for. They'd certainly be justified in a lawsuit."

"I've never seen anything put into such speedy action as this. We have people who desperately need to get into the courts to take care of things like child support, which is such terrible shape it boggles the mind. But in 48 hours, a sixth-grader has the right to go behind her parents back and get an abortion. And who is going to pay for this?"

"Let's go back to the days of Beaver Cleaver," said Graham. "That should be. If that's what it takes, let's do it."

BOARD PRESIDENT Dean Swartzwelder said teachers won't be required to counsel students on seeking an abortion.

"My understanding of it is you don't have to indicate anything other than just the facts. There is no other consultation or advice required." Students with questions should be referred to the state offices and courts, he said.

"I don't believe the law has many merits to it at all," added Swartzwelder. "School districts should not be a social services agency, and this is a social services item."

More and more, the schools of Michigan are being required to do all of the things that really relate to social service and not educational issues."

Parents, he predicts, soon will be voicing their opposition.

"My guess is there will be a lot of parents who will not be happy about this, and I will not blame them. All I'm going to do is give them the names of their state reps and senators."

East Middle School Principal Tom Workman said the law places a tremendous responsibility on the backs of educational institutions. Schools are being forced "to take a position on making information regarding abortion available, when in fact there still are laws on the books that keep us from talking about birth control."

Voters to decide to assessment cap

By Tim Richard staff writer

Neighbors with identical houses may find themselves paying vastly different property tax bills in a few years if voters approve a 1992 ballot proposal to cap assessments.

"People will lose the incentive to trade up," said state Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, one of the handful of legislators to raise a voice against last week's bipartisan compromise.

"It will have a horrible effect on building. Builders and Realtors ought to be going out of sight."

"It will pit low property tax payers against high property tax payers," Dillingham said. He predicted that longtime residents whose assessments had been capped might not mind voting for new local millage requests, but newcomers paying higher assessments would resist.

Taxpayers United, the group backing the Headlee II proposal to cut all property taxes 20 percent, objected that the plan would freeze assessments at high 1991 levels when, in fact, housing prices are declining because of the recession. "A freeze would be unconstitutional," said Bill McMaster, publicist for the anti-tax group.

HERE IS HOW neighbors with identical houses could wind up paying vastly different tax bills under the proposed constitutional amendments.

Take two $200,000 houses assessed this year at $100,000. Assume their assessments are capped at 5 percent over a 10-year period (the rate of CPI inflation during much of the '80s). Assume the real estate market inflates at the rate of 10 percent a year. At the end of 10 years, their assessments will be $155,133 (at 5 percent compounded).

At this point, Family A stays in its home, but Family B sells. House B is reassessed to the market rate (10 percent compounded) and is now valued at $235,795 — more than $80,000 higher than House A.

Dillingham said families will be discouraged from moving because of the hard hit they will take on property taxes as new owners.

Empty nesters whose children have grown would be discouraged from selling the four-bedroom colonial and moving into a one-bedroom retirement home because there would be little property tax benefit.

One result, Dillingham said, might be that families would sign lifetime leases on houses or concoct other devices to avoid an outright purchase with the resulting leap in assessments.

THE COMPROMISE was negotiated by House and Senate leaders of both parties and Gov. John Engler after weeks of fruitless battling over rival plans for a property tax cut.

A week earlier, the Senate passed a bill to freeze property taxes for two years, beginning in 1991.

But cities and school districts raised a firestorm of protests because they could have lost $233 million in property tax revenue, with no state reimbursement and no way to cut their budgets this late in the planning process.

The new plan emerged in two days of closed door negotiations as representatives milled around or passed routine resolutions of tribute.

AS PASSED, Senate Bill 19 may cost local units some revenue next year, said Rep. Lynn Bankes, R-Livonia.

In-formula school districts (those receiving state aid) would lose $97 million, out-of-formula, $163 million.

Counties would lose $50 million; cities and villages, $67 million; townships, $11 million; and community colleges, $4 million, for a total loss of nearly $400 million, according to a Senate Fiscal Agency analysis supplied by Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville. Total statewide property tax collections are $7 billion plus.

Bankes said there still is a chance in-formula schools might be reimbursed. Engler's budget has money for his proposed property tax cut, which has no chance of passage in the Democratic-controlled House.

"Engler got two-thirds of what he sought — a freeze and a limit on future growth," Bankes said. "The provisions are somewhat altered from Engler's. He had proposed a freeze every other year in assessments until a limitation was adopted."

Local units still could see new revenue in 1992 from new construction, estimated at $243 million, according to the Senat Fiscal Agency.

THERE STILL is no legislative agreement on a property tax cut.

Engler and Republicans want a 20 percent cut in school operating taxes for everyone and would pay for it by reducing state spending.

Democrats want to exempt property taxes on the first $15,000 of home assessments to benefit low-income families and pay for it by raising business taxes.

He's proud of having a part in starting Canton's first Alcoholics Anonymous chapter, which meets each Thursday at his church. Gruebel's first inroad into politics was working with Catherine McAuley Health System to get a satellite counseling service in Canton.

He's proud of what worshippers at his church have done to improve the quality of life in Canton.

"Everywhere you look, there are Genevans serving in this community."

The church has grown in size and membership during Gruebel's tenure, and has a memorial garden.

HE'S BEEN involved in the Canton Clergy Association, and has enjoyed working with clergymen and women of other denominations and traditions. Members meet monthly for lunch, work on the Oakwood chaplain program, and sponsor an annual ecumenical worship service.

"It's just been very valuable. I think this community has a marvelous diverse base of large churches and small churches. You can pretty much take your pick." The community has evangelistic churches, fundamentalist churches and many others for Christians from all walks of life.

In Florida, Gruebel plans to continue work on his doctor of ministry degree through Princeton Theological Seminary in New Jersey. He earned his master of divinity degree from Princeton, and has completed all but his doctoral thesis project.

Gruebel's wife, Sue, is a teacher and administrator at Bentley Center in Livonia and will look for a job in her field in Florida. Their son, David, will graduate from Plymouth Canton High School in June. Daughter Melissa is a fifth grader at Gall-more Elementary School in Canton.

"We will miss, obviously, the community and the friends we've made here."

Gruebel's successor won't be named right away. An interim pastor will serve and the congregation will elect a pastor nominating committee. It will take eight months to a year for the new pastor to be named, Gruebel said.

"The new person is going to have to be flexible." The congregation is highly diverse, he said.

"I'll come back when I'm invited." Gruebel's predecessor at Geneva bowed out graciously when the time came, and Gruebel plans to do the same.

"Someone else will need to fill that role."

ASEPTIC NECROSIS OF THE HIP

With the recent attention to the hip injury of Bo Jackson, many of you asked "What arthritis does he have and can it happen to me?"

It appears that Bo Jackson has "aseptic necrosis" of the femoral head. Like other medical terms, the sound is imposing, but each word taken separately makes sense. Aseptic means the condition is not caused by infection. Necrosis indicates that the bone involved is completely disintegrated, therefore the body cannot replace the loss.

The cause is a blockage of the artery to the head of the femur where the bone forms a ball into the socket of the pelvis.

In Bo Jackson's case, he likely took a blow to his hip that resulted in stretching and knitting of the artery with subsequent obstruction. Other reasons besides injury, for the artery to close off include high doses of steroids, swelling within the artery in diseases such as rheumatoid arthritis or systemic lupus erythematosus, and blood clots in the circulation which by chance lodge in the artery going to the head of the hip.

Even for athletes, aseptic necrosis is a rare event. For those of us not in contact sports the hazard is even less. Yet, as Bo Jackson's experience illustrates, the condition can occur to anyone.

Celebrate Polish Constitution

To the editor: The year 1991 marks the bicentennial year of the Polish constitution which is one of the world's great documents of freedom. The event occurred in 1791, being one of the oldest and finest documents of man. Like that of the Magna Carta, the Declaration of Rights of Man and the American Constitution, it was a masterpiece. It proclaimed that "All power in civil society is derived from the will of the people."

For a thousand years Poland had been a Christian nation and loyal in defense of western civilization. From the time of the Mongol invasion and the siege of Vienna to the Miracle at the Waila, Poland was always faithful, earning itself the title of "Semper Fidelis."

Since 1573 Poland has had religious toleration. The constitution related these principles as follows: "For us the same sacred faith enjoins us to love our neighbor; therefore, we should guarantee to all people peace in the faith and government protection — thus freedom to all rites and religions on Polish land according to law." The statesmen of England and France were loud in their praises of Poland's new decree. Sweden, Holland and the Pope sent messages of best wishes and praise. As a result of the adoption of this constitution, the state system took a form different from that of other European nations. The disproportion caused problems. Poland, with a system based on individual liberty, found herself surrounded by nations of absolute monarchy.

For the past two centuries Poland has been partitioned four times; ravaged, despoiled, persecuted and enslaved by greedy neighbors with imperialist aims. No nation can suffer so much without leaving a deep scar. National honor, integrity and fatherland are dear to every Pole. Two hundred long years of hardship, tears, prayers and songs of sadness have left deep imprints of memory.

For two hundred years Polish women and children were oppressed and enslaved while the men were either drafted, imprisoned, persecuted or shot. Two bitter centuries of cruel and inhuman treatment to a peaceful hard-working people by suppression and oppression, have instilled in every Polish heart a deep and sincere consciousness of national honor, integrity and love.

Poland's Third of May Constitution is rightly cherished, as a sister document to our own American Constitution. Its tradition of constitutionalism goes back to the 14th century. Poland's parliamentary system began at the turn of the 15th century, but a series of defensive wars, internal stresses, sorts of conspiracies, widespread permissiveness and excessive concern for the rights of dissent, brought Poland to the brink of disaster and anarchy during the 18th century.

Poland had previously been partitioned in 1772 by powerful greedy nations. She was, however, still the third largest nation in Europe when Poles proceeded to pass a constitution recognizing the equality of all men and religions. Poland had been referred to as the "Knight among nations."

Early in American history, about 1668, Capt. John Smith, who founded the early English colony of Jamestown, Va., recorded that of his group the most courageous and hardest workers were the Poles. The 400 Polish settlers raised the question of political liberty and equality in which they were successful during the first encounter of human rights on American soil, even before the arrival of the Mayflower.

The May 3, 1791, Polish Constitution was the first liberal document in Europe which resembled that of the United States. It consisted of three independent branches of government — executive, legislative and judiciary.

Post office should be on Penniman

To the editor: I understand the move of the Plymouth post office to the larger facilities, but if a "finance unit" (store front to sell postage, handle packages, mail boxes, etc.) is to be in Plymouth, why not in the existing location?

The rear warehouse can be easily separated from the front section and it could be sold or leased to a developer or handled by the post office. I envision it as a retail mall space with possible offices as well. The high traffic created by the post office would be attractive to retailers.

The existing "store front" of our post office has fine oak woodwork, brass mailboxes and a historic mural handpainted by students in the '30s. To relocate to a new leased or purchased storefront will cost substantial money. Remember, we "own" the existing building. It would have to be torn down or totally remodeled to make it usable to another tenant.

As a member of Plymouth's recently activated Historical District Study Committee, I urge all Plymouth residents to take a stand by our city politicians. We're lost enough of our heritage through careless development in this town. The post office belongs on Penniman. Adaptive re-use is the key here.

Earth Day brings out worst of environmental movement

LAST YEAR PRESIDENT George Bush celebrated Earth Day by going fishing. And because of that he took heat from so-called environmentalists.

Jeff Counts

This Earth Day I hope Bush goes fishing again. It's the best way I can think of to celebrate the preservation of our natural resources. And if trout season opened earlier than Saturday, I'd be out there too, floating a royal coachman on the Pigeon River in quest of brook trout.

Fishing on Earth Day is much better than agonizing over which kind of chemicals I'm putting on the lawn or feeling guilty because I don't have a brick in my toilet to save water. Trout can only live in the purest of water and to me are a symbol of what's good about our environment.

HOWEVER, the environmental groups who were critical of Bush would much rather have us feel guilty about the environment than to celebrate. I think it's partly because such groups as the Sierra Club and Greenpeace have themselves become bureaucrats whose salaries depend on a constant environmental crisis.

Such groups raise millions to lobby. And to me they should be viewed with as much suspicion as a lobbyist from Dow Chemical or Exxon. These paid environmental terrorists are the folks who get quoted in newspapers. They're the ones asked to react to Bush's fishing on Earth Day. And when they were asked, they made it sound akin to Nero fiddling while Rome burned.

Environmental groups have become the snake oil salesmen of the 20th century, selling cure-all medicine to a willing public that wants to be rid of pollution. But contributing money to environmental groups isn't the best way. Such groups have become the Chicken Littles of the 20th century with their chorus of the sky is falling because of global warming.

But that doesn't mean I trust Dow Chemical or Exxon to tell me the truth, either. I don't trust either side of an environmental issue. Dow Chemical will tell you that dioxin is a perfectly healthy thing to have around, while the Greenpeace folks will run around screaming like stuck pigs that we're doomed for eternity.

The result is I have to rely on my own internal B.S. detector system. It's not real scientific, but it's the best system I've got going. But I don't think I'm alone. A recent Associated Press story on Earth Day said, "The enthusiasm for environmental issues wasn't reflected at the ballot box, where most state environmental ballot initiatives were defeated in November."

The story said environmentalists blamed the Gulf War and lobbying by industry for those defeats. HOWEVER, the same story said 69 percent of adults polled by the Marist Institute for Public Opinion said they would pay higher taxes for an improved environment.

If environmentalists ever want to see any of their goals attained, they're going to have to learn to tap into the mainstream, which is willing to pay for cleanups and to even change the way they handle their trash. However, these mainstream folks won't buy into ballot initiatives like California's Big Green that would have basically taken California back to the 19th century.

Bush knows that and maybe that's the reason he chose to go fishing last Earth Day. I hope he makes that choice again. I know I am.

Tempers flare over jet flight test

By Wayne Peal staff writer

The roar of the crowd often drowned out the roar of overhead aircraft during Thursday's public hearing on Metro Airport noise reduction.

Jet take-off routes will be changed by June 1, with aircraft expected to be spread over a wider number of communities. Though part of a 180-day test, the new flight patterns could become permanent.

Flights over western Wayne communities are expected to decrease, however, and Livonia, Westland and Garden City residents said they couldn't wait for changes to begin.

"WE'RE GOING to be happy, but we're probably in the minority here," said Anthony Tropack of Livonia, looking out over a 225-member audience packed with residents of Sumpter and Huron townships, where jet noise is expected to increase.

"Does it mean that because we have fewer people, the county has less interest in us?" asked Huron Township Supervisor Christine Gambler.

Several speakers shouted at county and Federal Aviation Administration officials in protest over increased flights over their neighborhoods. Officials, however, urged caution.

County "noise czar" Bryan Amann said the altered routes put the greatest number of flights possible over open space, and away from heavily populated northern suburbs.

The county will establish a 24-hour airport noise hot line by next month, Amann said, allowing citizens to record complaints on the spot.

Amann was among the FAA and county officials on hand to listen to public comments. Though the county will monitor flights, Garden City homeowner Lynn Walker said he's put a video camera in his driveway to do some monitoring of his own.

One area homeowner said that he's considering moving if flights aren't shifted soon. "If it doesn't change this summer — I'm out of here," Tom Timmer said.

Commission taps Breen to fill Heintz seat

Maurice Breen is in — and out. Breen, the newest Wayne County commissioner, is expected to take office this week. He replaces Susan Heintz, who resigned from the board to head Gov. John Engler's regional office for southeastern Michigan.

In accepting the job, Breen announced his resignation as Plymouth Township supervisor. Breen, a Republican, will represent Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Livonia in the $41,396-a-year commission seat.

He played his swearing-in ceremonies to tender his resignation from his township post. Breen was appointed to the seat 10-0 by his fellow commissioners Thursday. He received the votes of Kay Beard, D-Inkster, Kevin Kelley, D-Redford and Shirley Poling, D-Canton. Commissioners Susan Hubbard, William O'Neil and Edward Boike, abstained from voting.

Breen will serve in an interim capacity until an election is scheduled. Though an election date hasn't been set, county officials said it would occur within 90 days of the June 10 school elections.

A GOP primary may precede the election, with Breen and former Livonia mayor candidate Joan Duggan already shaping up as prime candidates. Several Democratic challengers have also expressed interest in the post.

Heintz, who formally resigned from the board Monday, received a standing ovation from her fellow commissioners at Thursday's meeting.

The Northville Township Republican has served as a commissioner since 1987. The lone Republican on the board, Heintz served as commission vice chairwoman since 1989.

She was replaced in the latter post by David Cavanaugh. Cavanaugh represents the Grosse Pointes, Harper Woods and a section of eastern Detroit. He is the son of late Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanaugh.

Stadium plans draw praise, fire

By Wayne Peal staff writer

A proposal by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara to keep the Detroit Tigers downtown is "do-able," according to a regional planning agency.

But the Tiger Stadium Fan Club says the plan sells out area taxpayers.

Speculation is rampant that Tigers President Bo Schembechler will make at least a partial commitment to the McNamara plan today during an appearance before the Economic Club of Detroit.

The proposal would link new downtown development, including restaurants, shops and offices, to a new or renovated Tiger Stadium, deputy executive Michael Duggan said.

Schembechler isn't expected to announce a stadium site and Duggan wouldn't speculate on potential candidates. But the county is emphasizing the current Corktown site over others, including the State Fairgrounds.

The plan has drawn endorsement from the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), a regional planning agency for seven metropolitan counties.

"We're very excited about it," said SEMCOG deputy director Ed Huestoles. "We think it is a practical plan."

The Corktown site neighborhood offers tremendous development potential, Huestoles said.

"We can see it from out (downtown) offices," he said. "We know there's a lot of open lots and abandoned buildings."

The Fairlane Town Center-style development proposed by the county, features ring roads leading to massive parking lots near the stadium, as well as an outer ring of restaurants and shops.

The plan could help spur development as far south as the Detroit Riverfront, Huestoles said.

High court ponders law license case

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The Michigan Supreme Court, for the next few months, will ponder whether to readmit Irving A. August, 60, into the brotherhood of attorneys.

"His misconduct undermined the conduct of the U.S. Bankruptcy Court," said Murray J. Muscat of Birmingham, associate counsel for the Attorney Grievance Commission. AGC opposes readmitting August.

"The issue is not permanent disbarment but whether the perception of the public is important to the administration of justice in this state," Muscat said.

"He has demonstrated, by fact and law, that he is fit to re-enter," countered E. Philip Colista, August's attorney. Colista blamed the AGC decision against his client on "amorphous notions or visceral reactions."

AUGUST, FORMER owner of Orchard Mall in West Bloomfield, had his law license revoked in 1983 when he was convicted in federal court on three counts: (1) conspiracy to manipulate the "blinddraw" system for picking bankruptcy judges, (2) obstruction of justice and (3) corruptly endeavoring to influence a court employee. Alleged purpose was to get his cases assigned to judges who would grant higher attorney's fees.

Sentenced to three concurrent terms of two years, the Oakland County attorney served 10 months in prison and was fined $20,000. He was disbarred.

The employee, Kathleen Bogoff, also served a brief term. August and Bogoff have since married and have a son, court records show.

Since his release, August has worked as a financial advisor for Burt Burseloff, owner of Household Specialties, a manufacturer of clocks and mirrors, and as a paralegal for Dr. Ira Snider. August has issued disclaimers that he is not an attorney.

IN 1988 August applied for reinstatement of his law license. A hearing panel in Wayne County voted 2-1 against him. On review, the Attorney Discipline Board voted 4-1 in his favor.

Muscat, on behalf of the Attorney Grievance Commission, appealed the review decision to the state's highest court, arguing that it shouldn't reinstate August.

"The court has issued a stay of his license," Muscat said after the hearing. The AGC filed its appeal Jan. 10, 1990. The Supreme Court agreed to hear it in December.

There's no guessing how long it will take the court to decide, but Muscat said, "We're hopeful it will be between now and October."

CENTRAL ISSUE, in Chief Justice Michael Cavanagh's mind, is, "What significance should the underlying offense have?"

Colista blamed the "amorphous" gut reactions of two members of the hearing panel for wanting to deny August a reinstatement. They are saying "the severity of the offense" is more important than the fact August has been rehabilitated, Colista said.

"You have rehabilitation. You have a lawyer who has done well," said Colista, noting August had waited the full five years before asking reinstatement.

"What is being asked is that you go beyond the rules" in denying reinstatement, he told the court.

MUSCAT, ASKED by Cavanagh if the AGC would ever agree to reinstate August, said he would continue to oppose it.

"The court rules have never said a suspended attorney will get his license back," Muscat said. "He does not have a right to reinstatement. It's a privilege."

Muscat went on, "The effect may be a permanent disbarment. Perhaps he never will (be reinstated)." Muscat said reinstatement would amount to saying August is "qualified and fit to be recommended to the public as fit to be trusted."

The State Bar Association filed an amicus (friend) brief on behalf of the AGC's appeal.

Hospice needs volunteers

Volunteers are needed at Hospice of Southeastern Michigan to help provide compassionate care to the dying in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties:

- Patient assistant volunteers help patients and their families by running errands, lending support and being a friend. Patient assistant volunteers go through a 30-hour training course offered at least eight times a year.

- Clinical hospice volunteers perform patient care tasks such as giving baths, transferring patients and changing linen. They must complete the patient assistance volunteer course and have additional training in clinical skills. Volunteers with nursing skills are particularly needed.

- Bereavement volunteers make followup telephone calls to bereaved families over the course of 13 months. They must complete the patient assistant volunteer course and have additional training in grief counseling.

- Office volunteers provide clerical support. Volunteers with computer operation or medical transcription skills are in great demand.

- Speakers Bureau volunteers tell the hospice story to groups in the community.

Anyone over the age of 16 is welcome to volunteer. Many assignments are for evening and weekend work, so students and people who work during the day shouldn't hesitate to volunteer.

Volunteers are asked to work at least two to four hours a week and to commit to working for a year.

For more information on hospice volunteer opportunities, call Hospice of Southeastern Michigan at 559-9209.

In spring work hard, cook easy

What magical potion does spring produce?

In the last three weeks, I painted the bedroom, cleaned the basement, planned a major kitchen remodeling job and cleaned the oven. I'm not pregnant. I'm not even expecting company. It never ceases to amaze me what I can accomplish during the annual Janes Gang spring housecleaning forage.

Then again, sometimes it frightens me when I move the stove only to find food-encrusted pennies, wooden spoons that grew fur and about 3/4 pound of raw spaghetti. I'm not that messy.

I could get so much more accomplished if I didn't have to cook. It's harder than you think trying to dig the Lean Cuisines out of the bottom of the cooler while you're trying to defrost the freezer.

But never fear. Here's the Janes Gang cooking survival guide for spring housecleaning 1991.

First off, never underestimate what you can do with a box of Kraft Macaroni and Cheese. I think of it as "Hot Dog Helper." I'm way too busy to cook hamburger, so by cooking up a box of macaroni, tossing in a few handfuls of nuked hot dogs and then stirring in real grated cheese and about 1/2 cup of barbecue sauce, I can call it, "Cassoulet Choid Chien."

FOR ADDED nutritional value, I stir in some frost-encrusted shriveled broccoli from a partially opened bag left too long in the freezer. If you happen to be on one of those nutritional kicks and are adverse to eating hot dogs, you can substitute chicken nuggets, smoked sausage, ham or yesterday's meatloaf. True gourmards add some sliced shitake mushrooms and a splash of decent chardonnay for added flavor and aroma.

Another favorite that the family goes bonkers over is my famous Chicken Tarragon. People ask me all the time where I get the time and energy to create the great recipes you see here. I don't have time. What little time I do have, I clean and cook.

The Chicken Tarragon recipe was stolen from "Joy of Cooking." That recipe used butter. I use margarine or whatever I have a coupon for. That recipe used fresh tarragon. I used dried, and ditto for the bottled lemon juice over fresh. The results, however, are strikingly similar. I serve this right from the non-stick skillet sitting next to Success boil-in-bag rice and some frost-encrusted green beans that were hidden next to the above-mentioned broccoli.

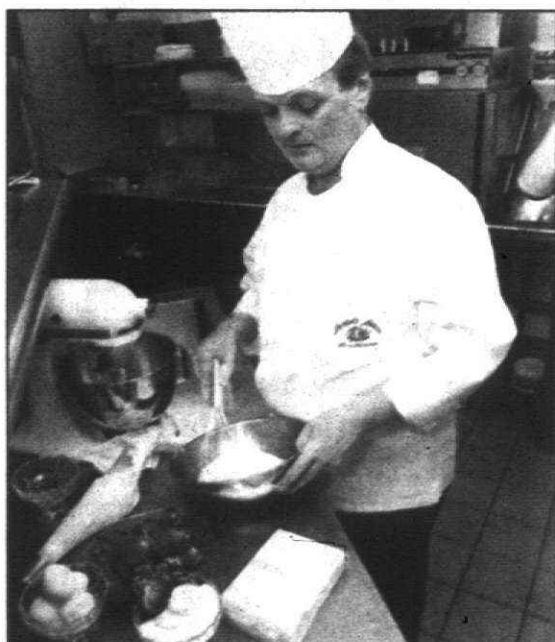

There is absolutely no time for glitzy kitchen gadgets while spring housecleaning. Forget the Cuisinart, the KitchenAid mixer, the pressure cooker and, unfortunately, the cappuccino maker. Instead, dust off the crockpot, electric wok and waffle. Yesterday, the crockpot was home for three packages of frozen mixed vegetables, four bouillon cubes and four cups of water. For heartier one-dish creations, beans, rice and/or cubed potatoes can be added. By this time, the cheap chardonnay is gone as a thirst quencher, and you find yourself relegated to using a few splashes of dry vermouth instead.

Lastly, never forget the difference between a good cook and a great cook is his or her chili recipe. Chili is a wonderful kitchen-cleaner-outer. If all else fails and you are planning some housecleaning the first weekend in May, you can check out the Great American Chili Cook-off out at the Saline Fairgrounds, benefiting the National Kidney Foundation. Bring the family for dinner.

Wedding cake is dreamy...

By Joan Boram
special writer

IMAGINE A WEDDING CAKE so exquisite that the caterer, the reception hall and the florist schedule their activities around it; a wedding cake so matchless that the bride and groom arrange their reception to accommodate it; a wedding cake so scrumptious that, on Monday morning, wedding guests are at the door of the bakery, waiting to order one for themselves. (And they're not even getting married!)

You've just imagined the white Alaskan mousse torte created at Monchelle Lamoure, an elegant French bakery, along with a restaurant in the atrium of a bank building at the corner of Long Lake Road and Woodward Avenue in Bloomfield Hills. The bakery and restaurant is owned and operated by Mike and Kathy Hagarty. Their 19-year-old son, Eric, is the pastry chef. "We supply at least 500 white Alaskan mousse tortes a year as wedding 'cakes,'" says the affable Mike Hagarty, "and I don't know how many raspberry tortes. So far this year, it's running 60/40 in favor of white."

"The Alaskan tortes are flavored with white chocolate from Switzerland. It's a Swiss recipe, very light, perfect after a heavy meal."

THE CAKES THEMSELVES look like embroidered clouds. Edges of the three layers are embellished with white flowers and florets, and the smaller top layer is adorned with real fresh flowers.

"The average wedding will require about 20 torte 'cakes,'" says Hagarty. "Our largest wedding took 36."

He makes it sound so simple. But a torte is a fragile concoction. You don't just take it out of the refrigerator, deliver it, and drive away, or at least you don't if you are Kathy and Mike Hagarty.

"We begin by making sure the bridal couple understand that tortes need pampering," says Kathy. "If they want their picture taken cutting the cake, we have to coordinate delivery with the ceremony, and with the photographer. The cake has to be kept cool. We have ice in our car (or cars: for a large wedding, it amounts to a convoy), and we whisk them to the refrigerator the moment we get there. Then, at the right time, we put them on the tables."

The Hagartys also make sure the hall is cool and that the florist provides the right flowers to show off the cake.

FOR RUN-OF-THE-MILL special occasions, there's a seductive selection of tortes available from Monchelle Lamoure on 24-hour notice: Lemon Hazelnut, Black Forest, Italian Rum, Raspberry Chocolate, and Cappuchino.

"The Linzer torte is extra special," says Mike Hagarty. "The base is hazelnut genois (cake), and it's made with fresh raspberries. Often, it has a lattice top. To assure that you get the full raspberry flavor, we cook it 90 percent, and give instructions for cooking the other 10 percent at home."

All of these tortes are made with a minimum amount of sugar. At least one is on the restaurant menu every day.

But man does not live by torte alone. Breakfast is served at Monchelle Lamoure starting at 7:30 a.m. The Hagartys provide traditional French chocolate croissants, "Danish," and several varieties of muffins, including blueberry for the die-hard American palate.

There's a regular crowd from the neighborhood that shows up on Thursday mornings for the carrot-zucchini muffins," says Kathy. "And people from the offices in the building come down just to smell the Macinac Island Fudge de-caf coffee."

CURRENT SCONES are everyone's favorite. Mike calls them "Portsmouth scones," because Portsmouth (England) is where he got the recipe.

Lunches at Monchelle Lamoure are simple, delicious and reasonably priced. Desserts are placed first in the cafeteria-style line, followed by entrees, which might include a low-cal Waldorf salad, a complete lunch based on a stuffed chicken breast and, of course, sandwiches.

English teas are a specialty of the house. The Hagartys cater them for groups as large as 100. The menu includes delicate finger sandwiches: egg and chive, cucumber and cream cheese, minced crab meat, and pineapple cream cheese. There are Portsmouth scones, fruit and cream, finger cookies, a selection of traditional English teas, and the richest truffles imaginable.

Monchelle Lamoure is in the atrium of the Bloomfield Center, 1533 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills. Hours are 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday-Friday, 647-4140.

Pavilion Cafe serves up light meals next door to hospital

By Ariene Funke
special writer

Pastrami sandwiches struck out at the Pavilion Cafe in Livonia.

But an interesting array of salads and flavor-of-the-day frozen yogurts have been hits. After eight months in operation, the restaurant is still developing new ideas to tempt its customers.

The Pavilion Cafe is in the Marian Professional Building, adjacent to St. Mary Hospital on Levan near Five Mile Road. The restaurant is open to the public as well as employees of the hospital and professional building.

While customers turned up their noses at pastrami, they took to the Thursday salad specials in a big way.

"WE PREPARE four different salads," said chief cook Wayne Stolt of Garden City. "We try to incorporate a new salad every time." Choices might include a hefty mauiice salad, with meats and cheese, or a fresh pasta with baby shrimp, mock crab, grated mozzarella cheese and vinaigrette dressing.

"I like the Greek salad with extra feta cheese," said Julie Sproul, director of community relations at St. Mary. Sproul, a Redford native now living in Livonia, is one of many hospital employees who regularly patronize the cafe.

Other regulars are Pat Durham and Marianne Kruse, both of Redford, and Valerie Chapman of Farmington Hills. All three work in the data processing department at St. Mary.

Kruse, enjoying a lunch of baked cod, rice pilaf and mixed vegetables with cheese sauce, praised the fast service and prices. Chapman likes the quiche.

The restaurant, which seats 100, is open from 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., weekdays. The cafe, operated by Cantalice Corp., a subsidiary of St. Mary Hospital, opened last August. The casual, contemporary cafe has replaced a small hospital coffee shop.

"WE REVAMPED the menu," said Pavilion Cafe manager Mike Blazewski of Redford. Blazewski has 15 years' service in food service. He managed the St. Mary coffee shop and previously worked at Crittenton Hospital in Rochester and Garden City Hospital.

A full breakfast is available all day, Blazewski said. Weekly breakfast specials may include omelets and crepes. Fresh muffins and other standard breakfast fare are served. Lunch includes several freshly made sandwich choices, soups, a quiche (typically chicken and spinach, or crabmeat and vegetables), salads and a hot entree.

Signature sandwiches include a club sandwich on a natural-grain bun with dressing, and the Widetrack, which combines turkey breast, corned beef, cole slaw, swiss cheese, tomato and lettuce, on pumpernickel with Russian dressing. Full or half-portions are available. The St. Mary Healthy Heart is a marinated chicken breast, spinach leaves and low-cal dressing on a natural-grain bun.

Customers get into line and place orders. Anything that requires preparation, such as sandwiches, is brought to the tables. Food is served on recyclable polystyrene plates.

The cafe serves around 1,500 customers per week, including hospital people and outpatients who come to the facility. Blazewski hopes to attract nearby business people and residents.

The Pavilion Cafe is in the Marian Professional Building adjoining St. Mary Hospital, on Levan south of Five Mile Road, Livonia Park in Levan lot. Go to Pavilion/Marian entrance. Cafe is off the lobby, across from the gift shop and pharmacy. For more information, call 464-4800, ext. 3018.

Chocolate decorations beautify dessert

AP - Enhance your best-loved dessert with a chocolate decoration make it even more lavish. Here's how to make six dazzling decorations:

CURLS
 For curls, use a bar of chocolate that's at room temperature. Carefully draw a vegetable peeler across the chocolate, making thin, curling strips.

For shaved chocolate, using a vegetable peeler, make short quick strokes across the surface of a room-temperature bar of chocolate to make thin, irregular pieces.

To grate, rub a cool, firm square of chocolate across a hand grater.

CUTOUTS
 Melt together 1 cup of semisweet chocolate pieces and 1 tablespoon shortening over low heat, stirring constantly. Or, to melt in the microwave oven, place chocolate and shortening in a 2-cup measure and cook on 100 percent power (high) for 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 minutes, stirring after every minute. Pour melted chocolate onto a waxed-paper-lined baking sheet, spreading 1/4 to 1/2-inch thick. Chill until almost set.

Firmly press hors d'oeuvre or tiny cookie cutters into chocolate. Chill.

At serving time, lift cutouts from baking sheet with spatula. Be careful not to touch the surface with your fingers; fingerprints show clearly and can't be removed.

TWO-CHOCOLATE LACE
 Melt together 1 cup chocolate pieces and 1 tablespoon shortening over low heat, stirring constantly.

Line a baking sheet with waxed paper or foil. Using a pastry bag fitted with a writing tip or a heavy-duty plastic bag with a small hole in one corner, randomly drizzle the white mixture on top of the chocolate design. Chill in freezer 5 minutes or until set.

Store in a dry, cool place (between 65 degrees and 75 degrees) until serving time.

LEAVES
 In a heavy saucepan, heat 2 ounces semisweet chocolate pieces over very low heat, stirring constantly until chocolate begins to melt. Remove from heat and stir until smooth.

With a small paintbrush, brush melted chocolate on the underside of non-toxic, pesticide-free fresh leaves such as rose, lemon or ivy. Carefully wipe off any chocolate that runs onto the front of the leaves.

Place leaves, chocolate side up, on a baking sheet lined with waxed paper; chill or freeze until set.

Just before using, carefully peel the fresh leaves away from the chocolate leaves, being careful not to touch the surfaces with your fingers.

Growing boys thrive on nutritious meals

After the birth of our third son, an old friend called me and said, "You know, Betsy, there is a special place in heaven reserved for mothers of all boys."

Of course, at that time, I had no idea, not even a clue, for what was in store for me.

But now, as our three boys are getting older and entering their teenage years and adolescence, I am beginning to understand what she meant.

I would hazard a guess that the special place in heaven she referred to is probably extremely well-padded.

THIS WEEK'S Winner Dinner Winner, Barbara Hanchin of Southfield, is also the mother of three boys. Her oldest son is in college. Her two younger boys are in high school and very sports-minded.

The boys are involved in water polo, cross country running and now baseball. Hanchin and her husband have actively supported their boys and cheered them on at the many games, meets and matches they have participated in throughout the years.

On the home front, Hanchin has learned that growing boys need to eat - her sons are more than 6 feet tall - and as a result has strived to prepare meals that are nourishing and easy to make, keep well and can be reheated.

She recently submitted a menu for Oven Swiss Steak, served over rice, noodles or mashed potatoes; Cole Slaw and Apple Crisp that is a guaranteed winner with her family.

Barbara Hanchin of Southfield fixes a hearty meal featuring Oven Swiss Steak.

Southfield, Hanchin sings in the choir and has co-chaired various committees and intercity outreach efforts undertaken by her church, including helping to provide, prepare and serve meals to the needy at St. Patrick's Church in Detroit.

In her spare time, she enjoys knitting and reading, and is looking forward to going to Manistee Lake this summer with seven other families and their children.

THANK YOU, Barbara Hanchin, for sharing your great-tasting menu with us, and congratulations on being this week's Winner Dinner Winner.

Until next week, all the best and, please, keep those Winner Dinners rolling in. I am especially looking for recipes for heart-healthy stir fry dinners.

OVEN SWISS STEAK

This dish can be quickly and easily assembled in advance and refrigerated. As another option, if your oven is equipped with a "Time Bake" feature, place the dish in the oven and adjust the timer so that when you return home from work or errands your dinner will be bubbling away and ready to eat. It can easily be reheated for those who return home after the dinner hour.

If you prefer to have your vegetables less cooked, simply cook the meat by itself for 1 hour and then add the remaining ingredients.

Prepare either noodles, rice or mashed potatoes to go with this entree. This recipe serves 4-6.

COLE SLAW

Finely slice some fresh cabbage. Add grated carrot, green pepper and onion, if desired. About 10 minutes before serving, add as much of the following dressing as desired.

4 tablespoons sugar
 2 tablespoons salt
 6 tablespoons vinegar
 4 tablespoons oil

Combine the above ingredients in a jar with a lid. Shake the jar well and keep the dressing stored in the jar.

APPLE CRISP

This dessert is always good, regardless of the season.

Peel and slice the apples and place them in a greased 7-by-9-inch pan. Tart apples are best to use. Fill the pan so that it is half-filled with the apples. Add 1/2 cup water to the apples.

Large piece of heavy-duty aluminum foil (20-inch width)

1/2 cup margarine
 1/4 cup flour
 2-3 teaspoons cinnamon
 1/2 cup sugar

Bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes.

Shopping List

Piedmont winery changes name in 35th year

Unless you are a wine buff extraordinaire, you've probably never heard of Piedmont wines produced by Michele Chiarlo.

That's just fine, because you're in our company. We just recently discovered these wine gems from Italy's famed Piedmont region.

focus on wine
Eleanor and Ray Heald

ed in 1956 by Chiarlo, the son of seven generations of esteemed grape growers. To celebrate 35 years of winemaking dedication, the name of the winery has been changed to Michele Chiarlo, reflecting the producer's personal pride in presenting top-quality wines.

"It has always been my philosophy and overriding passion to rigorously select grapes from the most reputable growers in the most-favored vineyard areas," Chiarlo said. "For our estate vineyards, only hillside locations with unique soils and microclimates have been chosen."

THE CERQUEO vineyards in Barolo have long been renowned for their exceptional wines. Here, Chiarlo owns the Antico Podere Averame, one of the finest nebbiolo vineyards for Barolo production. To ensure excellence at the time of harvest, the estate Cannubi vineyard, with its 38 oak ovals or small French oak barrels. The coverage selected is determined by repeated tasting and depends on the vintage and varietal.

"If there is a single finest vineyard in Barolo, and the consensus is that there is, that vineyard is Cannubi," said the Italian wine authority Sheldon Wasserman in his book "Italy's Noble Red Wines."

In the vineyard, Chiarlo practices severe pruning during the winter dormant period and cluster thinning in mid-summer to limit the crop, and uses organic fertilizers.

operates wineries in three different locations to ensure that the harvested grapes reach the processing location in the shortest time possible. Once at the winery, the grapes are crushed and pressed, in the case of white varietals. Temperature-controlled fermentation with natural yeast is used for both red and white grapes.

After fermentation, the new red wines are racked into Yugoslavian oak ovals or small French oak barrels. The coverage selected is determined by repeated tasting and depends on the vintage and varietal.

THE WHITE WINES are kept in refrigerated tanks to maintain their fresh, fruity grape aromas until bottling.

In Italy's Piedmont, Chiarlo is respected by his winemaking peers for his work in improving standards in Italian winemaking, having introduced procedures in the 1950s, which were eventually codified by the DOC laws governing Italian winemaking practices.

He has created a trademarked wine, in limited supply, known as "Barlot," which is a distinctive blend of 60 percent barbera and 40 percent nebbiolo.

Italy is among the world's leaders in fashion. Producers, like Chiarlo, are designing wines that are at the cutting edge of consumers' taste preferences. The exceptional vineyard sites and extra care taken to maintain vine and wine quality are expensive. These factors are reflected in the price of wines from Italy's finest producers. Chiarlo is among them.

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

The following wines of Michele Chiarlo from Italy's Piedmont are uniquely styled.

1989 Flor de Rovere Gavi ($23.50) is an artful presentation of the Cortese di Gavi grape from the tiny Rovereto di Gavi area. Produced from 35- to 40-year-old vines, it is an attractive wine with pear-like fruit impressions, lengthy finish and balanced acidity. It will complement poultry or fish dishes with rich sauces.

1985 Barolo ($25.50) is a handsome wine now but portends the aging potential of another 10 years. The lively red fruit, with cocoa and tobacco nuances, finishes smooth and velvety.

1982 Barolo Riserva ($29.25) is a rich wine deserving the designation "Riserva." It mirrors the character of the 1985 Barolo described above, but additional age has enhanced it to full maturity.

WINE BULLETIN BOARD
Tasting Premium California

Wines will be the topic of a five-week wine course 7:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, May 8 to June 3, at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills. For more information telephone OCC, 471-7561.

Detroit's Rattlesnake Club has initiated an ongoing attraction for wine buffs called the "Wednesday Wine Bar." According to Sommelier Madeline Trifon, each week's tasting will feature five to six wines and several of Chef Jimmy Schmidt's tasty appetizers. The cost, inclusive of wine, appetizers, tax and gratuity, is $15 at the door. Come casual any time between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m.; no reservations are needed. Trifon will be in attendance, as well as a winemaker or supplier. For more information regarding wine themes, call the Rattlesnake at 567-4843.

Chiefs, Salem take one-sided victories

Two of the top Western Lakes Activities Association girls track teams from a year ago sprinted out of the blocks Thursday and began the 1991 dual-meet season with victories.

Plymouth Canton, which is going after its seventh consecutive Western Division title in the WLAA, whipped host Livonia Franklin 92-35, and Plymouth Salem, runner-up in the Lakes Division to Livonia Stevenson last year, trounced visiting Farmington 75-48.

Ndo Okwumabua was a three-event winner for the Canton girls, taking the 100-meter dash (13.9) and 200 dash (28.6) and teaming with Alicia King, Karina Kilpelainen and Ifoema Okwumabua to capture the 400 relay (55.0).

"Ndo had a real good day," Canton coach George Przygodski said. "It was kind of cold out there today, but we ran real well. We were pleased with the way we competed."

Angela Fountain won both hurdles in 16.7 and the intermediates in 51.3. Kim Gudeth won the 800 run in 2:34.1 and teamed with Amy Smith, Christie Saffron and Lana Boroditsch to take the 3,200 relay in 10:48.7. Smith also took first place in the 1,600 run (5:52.8).

Canton's Alison Haremski, King, Kilpelainen and Michelle Dean combined to win the 800 relay in 1:58.7, and teammate Jill Barnes won the 3,200 run in 13:05.9.

The Chiefs also fared well in the field events, winning three of four the events. Stephanie Gray was first in the high jump (4-10), Aleah Collier the shot put (36-2) and Ifoema Okwumabua the discus (102-7).

BEHIND THREE-event winners Tonya Wheeler and Stacey Witthoff, Salem was able to best Farmington's effort.

In individual events, Wheeler won the high jump (4-8) and the 400 dash (1:02.4). She also teamed with Witthoff, Theresa Giachero and Cyndi Platter to win the 1,600 relay (4:30.1). Witthoff won the 1,600 run (5:55.0) and the 800 run (2:37.3).

Giachero also captured the 300 hurdles (51.0). Salem's Dana Driscoll jumped 15-1½ to take the long jump, and Emily Farrell won the 3,200 run in 12:31.3.

The team of Driscoll, Andrea Kinnelly, Tracey Livermore and Alysa Sofios won the 400 relay in 54.5.

Kay Rogers won two dash events — the 100 (13.5) and the 200 (28.0) — for the Falcons. Farmington's other winners included Deanna Curcio in the discus (88-6), Becky Washnock in the shot put (32-2½) and Shelli Gaul in the high hurdles (16.4).

Rocks roast Falcons

Plymouth Salem demonstrated its all-round ability in boys track and field Thursday by starting the Lakes Division dual-meet season with a 98-39 victory over visiting Farmington.

The Rocks (1-0) won seven individual events and swept the relays. Salem's Andy Rojeski was a triple winner, and Rob Casler had two first places.

The Falcons, two-time city champions in Farmington, had double winners in Joe Miller and Ben Goba.

"I think our kids did a great job," Salem coach Gary Balconi said. "We feel pretty confident, up and down the lineup, that we don't have any weaknesses. We lost to some good kids (Goba and Miller), but we were close behind."

Rojeski won the 200-meter dash in 23.6 and the 400 run in 52.9, and he also anchored the 800 relay team, which included Joe Nunez, Jake Baker and Mike Richards. The Rocks had a 1:36 time.

Casler led a Salem sweep in the shot put and the discus. He threw the shot 47-5 and the discus 137-8. Steve Balog was second in both events and Brian Schumacher third.

Salem's Leon Hister won the long jump at 20-4 and also was the leadoff runner on the 400 relay. Matt Perron was first in the 100 dash in 11.4 and was the anchor-man on the 400 relay.

John Thomas broke the tape at the end of the 800 run and started Salem on its way to a victory in the 3,200 relay.

Todd Forbes and Jim Ramsay combined with Hister and Perron for a 46.0 time in the 400 relay, and Joe Pawluszka, Derek Cudini and Mike Patterson followed Thomas in the 3,200 with the Rocks finishing in 8:49.5.

Nunez also took the lead on the 1,600 relay with Baker, Pawluszka and Jamie Miller following him. Salem had a 3:42.2 time.

Farmington's Miller ran 14.9 in the high hurdles and 42.7 in the intermediate hurdles. Salem's Ramsay was second in the 110s and Don Johnson third, and that order was reversed in the 300s.

Goba won the 1,600 run with a 4:41.6 time and the 3,200 run with a 10:28.4 time. Steve Boudreau of Salem was second in the 1,600 at 4:42.6.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN evened its dual meet boys track mark at 1-1 Thursday with an 86-51 triumph at Plymouth Canton. The Chiefs are 0-1 in dual meets.

Steve Clemmons paced the Patriots with victories in the 100- and 200-meter dashes, recording times of 11.3 and 23.5, respectively.

Clemmons, a senior, also anchored the victorious 400- and 800 relay squads.

Canton pitcher tosses no-hitter

Sophomore pitcher Kelly Holmes hurled a no-hitter Thursday as Plymouth Canton shut down visiting Livonia Churchill 7-0 in softball.

Holmes struck out nine and walked the same number in seven innings. Marcy Kneiding of Churchill also issued nine free passes, gave up five hits and was the loser.

Julie Nicastrri knocked in two runs for the Chiefs, and Kris Ford, Danielle Mortiere and Renee Dory had one RBI apiece.

Nicastrri (first base), Dory (catcher) and Esther Buzuvis (center field) played good defense, according to Canton coach Jim Arnold. Dory threw out two runners at second base, and Buzuvis saved the no-hitter with a running catch in the bottom of the seventh inning.

"I was real satisfied with Kelly's performance, but she needs to cut down on the walks," Arnold said. "We're very happy with the no-hitter."

LIVONIA STEVENSON scored six runs in the bottom of the third inning Thursday to tie Plymouth Salem 8-8, and the Spartans pulled away to a 19-9 softball victory.

Lori Shingledecker was the winning pitcher and Andrea Welling the loser. Both went the seven-inning distance.

Stevenson sophomore Rachel Allor was 4-for-4 and scored four runs, and Cari Palmisano went 4-for-6 and drove in three runs.

Gayle Richardson had two hits, two RBIs and three runs scored. Shingledecker also scored four runs.

Salem's Emily Giuliani was 3-for-4 with two RBIs, Welling 2-for-4 with two RBIs and Eileen Lyons 2-for-3.

Stevenson is 1-0 in the Lakes Division and 2-1 overall. Salem is 0-1 in the Lakes and 1-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Rodgers does it again for Salem

Senior right-hander Scott Rodgers continued his impressive start to the 1991 baseball season Thursday, pitching a one-hitter as Plymouth Salem crushed host Livonia Stevenson 10-2.

Rodgers, who boosted his pitching record to 3-0, worked four innings, struck out six and walked three. Chris Tomas, a junior right-hander, was equally as impressive in relief. He held the Spartans hitless for three innings, struck out three and issued no walks.

Salem remains unbeaten as 1-0 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association and 4-0 overall.

The Rocks scored three first-inning runs on three doubles and could have had more had they not stranded three runners. Salem built a 10-1 lead after four innings.

Salem collected 17 hits and knocked Stevenson starting pitcher Rob Sudz out of the game after only two innings.

Rodgers also helped himself at the plate, going 2-for-4 with a pair of doubles and one RBI. He also scored two runs.

Senior catcher Scott Niemiec was Phil Woods collected the only Stevenson hit.

PLYMOUTH CANTON scored two runs in three consecutive innings (4-5-6) Thursday to erase a 1-0 deficit and defeat Livonia Churchill 6-2.

The Chiefs are 1-0 in the Western Division of the WLAA and 2-2 overall.

Brian Tiel's pinch-hit single sparked a two-run Canton uprising in the fourth. His pinch-hit single drove in junior Todd Pniewski with the go-ahead run in that inning.

Canton got only two hits off Mike Thomas, but took advantage of four errors to hand Churchill its third straight defeat without a victory.

Frank Learned pitched the first 3½ innings for Canton, allowing one run before giving way to Scott Kennedy, who finished up to earn the win.

Mark Rutherford, a sophomore shortstop, went 3-for-4 in a losing cause. Mike Brooks and Bob Coppola each doubled.

DEARBORN GAVE Redford

Catholic Central its third straight loss Thursday, 4-1. Dennis Pirronello doubled in CC's lone run in the third inning.

The Shamrocks left three runners stranded each in the fifth and sixth innings. CC is 5-3 overall.

Dan Gusoff, who pitched the first four innings before giving way to Brett Walters, took the loss.

On Wednesday, host Birmingham Brother Rice sent CC reeling, sweeping a Catholic League Central Division double-header, 7-5 and 3-2.

Bob Kummer went 3½ innings for the Shamrocks in the opener. Rice scored four times in the fourth inning to win it.

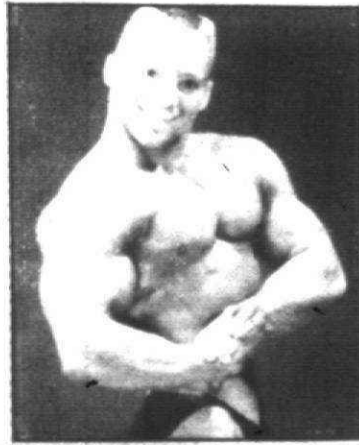

Joe Vondracek went 2-for-3 and knocked in a run for the losers. Teammate Dan Gusoff added a two-run double in the fifth, but it wasn't enough.

In the nightcap, junior Scott Kapla pitched seven strong innings. He struck out eight, walked three and scattered six hits.

Vondracek had two hits and George Charnley contributed a two-run single.

The loss drops CC to 4-2 in division play.

Dedication pays with title for area bodybuilder

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Brad Gerard celebrated last week, so it's back to business this week.

The Farmington Hills man achieved his first success as a bodybuilder when he won the Mid-Michigan Natural Bodybuilding Contest in Flint's Whiting Auditorium April 6.

That victory was the culmination of months, even years, of dedication and hard work on the part of the 21-year-old Gerard, a 1987 graduate of Harrison High School.

But even serious bodybuilders like Gerard allow for a brief respite from the daily regimen of training and dieting following a competition.

"For a week, I'll eat anything I have a desire for," he said. "Everyone craves pizza after a contest and, of course, beer. But that only lasts a couple days, and then you want to start dieting again."

BUT IT wasn't that kind of eating habit or attitude that got Gerard to where he is in his sport.

"Your contest is won in the gym," he said. "Whether it's won or lost is determined by the work you do in the gym and your faithfulness to your diet."

"I think my perseverance to my diet and knowledge I accumulated from other contests (paved the way for his triumph). There's a very precise science to getting ready on a particular day, or even for a few hours. To do that, it takes many attempts to learn what works for you and your physique."

Gerard, who trains at Powerhouse Gym in Farmington Hills, began working with weights seven years ago to enhance his wrestling career at Harrison and has been competing as a bodybuilder for two years.

The 5-foot-6 Gerard, who competes at 176½ pounds, was judged the best of eight men in the middleweight class, and he then won the overall competition as the best among all bodybuilders, which included the winners of the bantam, lightweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight classes.

"That was the biggest thrill in the world, one of the happiest moments of my life," Gerard said. "As far as competing goes, it's the thrill of hearing the crowd when you go out there and pose, when you know you've dieted hard and look well. I think that's why we all do it."

HE ALSO has the satisfaction of knowing he did it the right way. Gerard said he has never used steroids, though they are prevalent in the sport, and is proud of his clean record.

A natural contest means the competitors are tested for drugs, and Gerard has been tested three times, including the latest show. The International Olympic Committee did the testing in Flint.

A skeptic might wonder how anyone can compete against others who use steroids to get ahead. That's where Gerard's long-term commitment plays an important role.

"I've trained very hard for a long time (seven years) and, during that period of time, the longest break I've taken from working out was two weeks," he said. "I believe I can accomplish anything in this world if I put my mind to it."

Salem romps; Canton rebounds

Erin Harvey scored three second-half goals Wednesday as Plymouth romped to a 3-0 victory without a loss in girls soccer.
Harvey also had an assist, bringing her season scoring total to 19 points, in Salem's 5-0 defeat of Livonia Franklin.

Crusaders maintain lead

Solo shots by Jeremy Krol and Bowling upped Madonna's lead to 8-0 after two innings. Bowling knocked in the final run with a single, scoring Kevin O'Connor, who had doubled.

Bodybuilder has reward

"The secret to anything is perseverance. You can't quit if you don't accomplish something on the first try. People who look at steroids for success aren't people who persevere. They want a championship body overnight, and those people aren't going to last in the sport. I'm a rarity, said to say."

Going to Goa: quite an inexpensive vacation

Even peak-season prices in Goa are a bargain. Off-season rates during the hot rainy months of June through September run as low as $50 per person per day including three full meals. Peak-season rates are 50 percent higher December 20 through February when the weather is perfect.

Self-drive rental cars are not available anywhere in India, but in Goa you can rent a "tourist taxi," with driver, from the government tourism office for $25 per eight hours. One of these taxis, or a $3 bus tour, are good ways to visit the ancient Indian temples, 16th-century Portuguese churches and old forts, or to go shopping in the small capital city of Panaji.

This coastal area was part of the Hindu kingdom of Vijayanagar before Portuguese explorers came in 1510. A plague wiped out most of Old Goa in 1738, so the survivors moved their capital seven miles west to Panaji. After 451 years as a Portuguese colony, Goa was "repossessed" by India in 1961 and became the country's 25th state.

This Portuguese heritage gives Goa a strong European influence that reduces the cultural shock of India. Almost everyone speaks English. The economic base is fishing, agriculture and tourism, with very little manufacturing. Some Panaji shops sell only cashew nuts, which are a major crop and a good buy for tourists.

Travelers see areas lush with coconut palms, rice paddies and jungle. On the main roads, farmers use shallow baskets to toss grain high into the air. As it falls to the paved highway, a light breeze blows the chaff away and the grain is piled and bagged.

Another common sight is of water buffalo taking a mud bath. They waddle into deep pools of red mud until it is over their heads. When they emerge, they don't look anything like the team of clean white oxen pulling two-wheeled wooden carts down the road, loaded with lumber, coconuts, groceries, auto parts or almost any kind of cargo. Their huge wooden wheels are at least six feet in diameter.

Stop at the roadside stands selling souvénirs and handicrafts such as purses, jewelry, wood carvings and silk saris. These shopkeepers won't pressure you to buy, and you can negotiate sizable reductions in prices.

As in most of India, cows have a special status and are free to roam wherever they choose. Fortunately, there are not very many of them in Goa, although we did encounter one brown bessie on a popular public beach.

There are a great many ornate Hindu temples that welcome tourists any time, but especially during festivals. Several were built prior to the arrival of the Portuguese.

In the area known as Old Goa, you can visit the magnificent Basilica of Bom Jesus wherein the mortal remains of St. Francis Xavier repose in an ornate casket. Across the road is the imposing Se Cathedral, containing a bell said to be one of the biggest and best in the world.

An early morning spectacle on many of the wide sandy beaches near the resort hotels is the return of the fishermen. Dozens of long, black, butrigger boats are greeted each morning between 7 and 9 o'clock by wives and children who help drag heavy, fish-laden nets from the sea. Old women fill bushel-sized wicker baskets with small silvery fish.

A team of 30 or 40 people work for 20 minutes to drag each net ashore. The two ends of the net, which must be nearly a quarter-mile long, are pulled in simultaneously, creating an ever-diminishing semicircle. The last few yards to be pulled from the sea contain up to 200 pounds of fish.

The beach resorts are somewhat isolated, so rates often include meals, which means most dining is in-house. Many resorts offer a choice of two or three restaurants plus two or three bars. Food is good and varied with plenty of fish.

Spicy Indian dishes, vegetarian buffets and Portuguese cuisine as well as cheeseburgers and french fries are readily available in most hotels. Some dining rooms are air-conditioned. Many are not. Outdoor patios are popular for breakfast and casual dinners.

It's always warm in Goa, so light cotton clothing, sun hats and sunscreen are a must.

For more information, contact your travel agency or the Government of India Tourist Office, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, Suite 15, North Mezzanine, New York, NY 10112, (212) 586-4901.

I was recently quoted $1,713 for a round-trip fare Detroit to Bombay by Jaya Travel and Tours of Southfield. I also contacted India Tours Inc., toll-free in Chicago (800) 55-INDIA for a brochure.

Your travel agent might also check Air India, Pan American, Northwest and Singapore airlines, who offer various prices and discounts according to the season.

Showboat Week set to invade Chesaning

Jamie enjoyed the audition. "It was both fun and exciting. I was nervous when I went on stage, but then I got into my act and it was really exciting. The (best) part was watching the other people perform and seeing what they did with their acts."

Jamie will be there again this May. "This year LaDonna has choreographed an act for Arnie and John Smith from Laingsburg," said Melody.

"I'm more excited than nervous," Jamie said. "It's a challenge to do it. I just do the best I can and hope I make it."

Melody, naturally enough, hopes Jamie makes it, too. "It's quite an honor for them to be chosen because so many try out. The groups that are chosen are really good."

Jamie wants to attend the festival for more than just her Showboat performance. She really likes the town. "Chesaning was really neat. There were a bunch of old houses that you could go through and a lot of unique shops."

Chesaning does have a lot to offer. The village is blessed with many well-preserved, turn-of-the-century houses on quiet, tree-lined streets, and is a lovely place to visit any time of year.

A number of these Victorian houses have been turned into shops. Some feature Victorian-accented merchandise and gifts; things like stuffed bears and collectors' porcelain dolls dressed in Victorian costume, lace and ruffle covered pillows, boxes, wall hangings and ornate music boxes.

There are also antique shops with oak furniture, Tiffany lamps, garnet necklaces and earrings, cameos and watches.

During Showboat Week, the focus of the festivities is Showboat Park, where the showboats come sailing down the river every evening. During the day and right up to showtime, the park hosts a large arts-and-crafts show along with food concessions run by local service groups and youth organizations.

Local merchants have sidewalk sales during Showboat Week. Churches and service groups serve home-cooked dinners (reservations recommended), and horse-drawn carriage rides are available.

For more information about the Showboat auditions, call (517) 845-3055. If you'd rather just watch, you can order tickets by phone, (517) 845-3056. Prices range from $8 to $14.

By the way, seating is not actually on the showboat. The showboat transports the main acts to the stage area, which is surrounded by bleachers where the audience sits. Ask for information about dinner with one of the local groups when ordering tickets for Showboat Week.

Dutchmen fill streets of Holland at tulip festival

The Holland tulip festival, a.k.a. Tulip Time '91, runs from Wednesday, May 8 through Saturday, May 18 in Holland, Mich. Just 35 percent of the town's residents are of Dutch descent, but Dutch heritage dominates this Lake Michigan town for 10 days every spring.

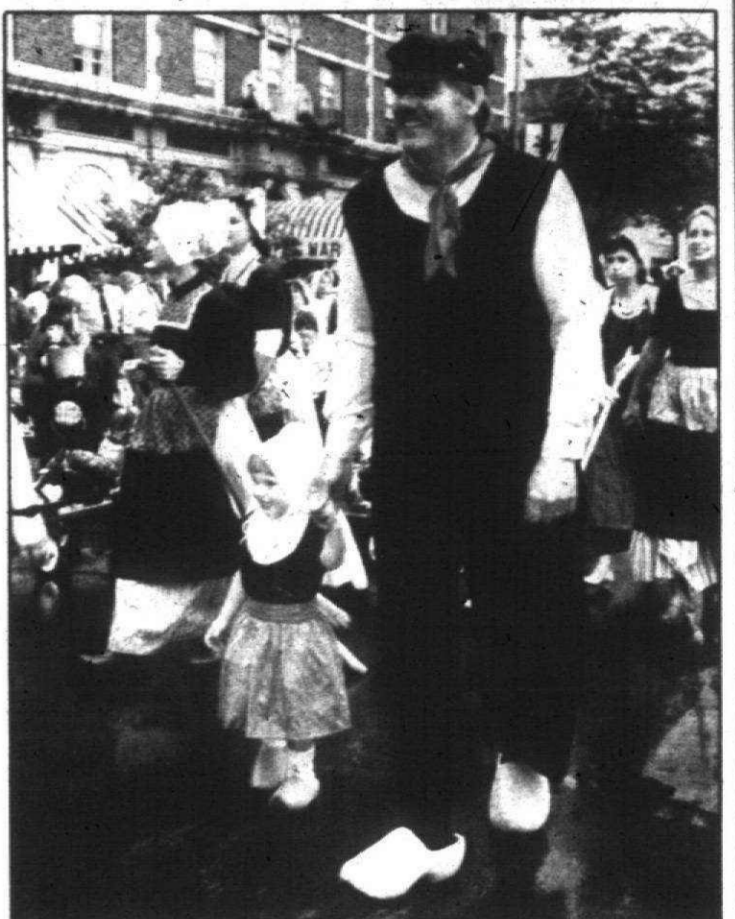

You will find 1,600 "multi-national" Dutchmen performing the Klompen dance several times a day in various parts of town. All 5,000-plus elementary students, grades one through five, march in the Children's Parade May 9. About 6,000 more scrub the streets during the Volksparade on Opening Day May 8.

More than half a million visitors attend the parade every year. They come to see the tulips, the windmill, the gardens, the shoe factory, the Dutch village and all the other attractions for which this town is famous.

The 110 teen-aged Living End Singers will perform "The Power and the Glory" May 15, 16 and 18 at Central Wesleyan Auditorium. Taffetas, a cabaret celebration of the 1950s, is presented 14 times during the festival. Victor Herbert's Red Mill dinner show is also popular.

The Show Stoppers, a senior citizen vaudeville review, is new this year. Barbershop on Parade goes into action 7 p.m. May 17. Other shows include the Tulip Time Salmusale "My Kind of Towns" and parades, bands, costumes and other attractions.

For information telephone toll-free (800) 822-2770.

More than half a million visitors watch the Holland tulip festival parade every May on the west coast of Michigan. Residents like these get all duded up in period costumes for the celebration.

There's good economic news for the wallets of Michiganders visiting Canada.

The 7 percent Goods and Service Tax charged in Canada since Jan. 1 is rebatable on some items to non-residents of that country. AAA Travel Agency reports.

"Americans and other non-residents of Canada can receive full rebates on hotel accommodations and most consumer goods purchased in the 10 provinces and two territories of Canada," said AAA Travel Agency vice-president Diane Willard.

The GST is not rebated for meals and entertainment in Canada, according to Revenue Canada officials.

Here's how the rebate works. An American buys $2,000 worth of goods in Canada. At the border crossing, the tourist may stop at the Duty Free Shop on the Canada side and complete a rebate form. The $140 GST that was paid is immediately refunded in Canadian dollars. If the GST rebate is more than $500, it will be refunded by mail.

There are four border crossings with Duty Free Shops linking Michigan and Ontario — two in Windsor and one each in Sarnia and Sault Ste. Marie.

A person crossing the border from Canada by private boat or ferry at an entry point where there is no Duty Free Shop can get a rebate form from customs and mail it to Revenue Canada for a refund.

People crossing between Canada and the U.S. should also be aware that tightened security prevails at the border since the Persian Gulf war.

Customs officials are enforcing the requirement that those traveling between countries show either picture identification and a birth certificate, voter's registration card or passport to customs officials. Without I.D., travelers can be significantly delayed at the border. AAA Travel Agency suggests that regular visitors to Canada obtain a passport for convenience. Customers can get a passport photo for $10 at any AAA Travel Agency office.

O&E MONDAY, APRIL 22, 1991

(F,L,P,C-8C) ★★ 6C

IRIS SANDERSON JONES

Vacation 101: Do your homework

Last week, Dee Head of Farmington asked me where to go for a spring weekend with a budget of $200. Several weeks ago, Sandy Pennington of Novi and Jane Bibeau of Bloomfield asked what they should do with two weeks in China. This week, Sharon Churchfield of Plymouth wants to know where to go to celebrate a 25th wedding anniversary.

All these people are really asking the same questions. Where should I go? What should I do when I get there? How do I get the information I need to plan a great vacation?

The answer in almost every case is ask for the facts, ask for help and ask somebody who has been there. The essential word is "ask."

If you don't know where you want to go, you should probably start by talking to friends and co-workers and by spending some time in your local library.

The downtown Detroit Public Library has a huge travel department. Almost every local library has at least a few shelves of travel information. Ask the reference librarian to show you where the maps are. You can spend a rewarding afternoon just browsing through maps of your area of interest.

Step two is to contact the government tourist bureau of the city, state or country that interests you. Three steps: Call the Detroit Public Library travel desk for an address. Call telephone information for the capital city of the state or province that interests you. Call telephone information in New York City, where most foreign travel offices are based.

Tell the operator what government tourist office you're looking for and chances are she will find you a number.

These governments spend millions of dollars creating literature for travelers. All you have to do is ask for it. That works almost all the time, although I still haven't heard from the China National Tourist Office in California, which must have received my letter almost four months ago.

Jane Bibeau and Sandy Pennington couldn't wait for that, because Jane's daughter Renee will only be in China until midsummer. They had already done their basic library research so they took the next step. They asked me, and through me, my readers, for advice.

Several of you wrote to me with good information. Virginia Hayward of Ann Arbor "had a most successful trip — 21 days, six provinces — because I picked the brains of my friends who went the year previous." She asked somebody who had been there.

Kathryn Briggs of Farmington has been to China three times and appeared on a public television program, "Travel With Kay." She learned how to ask her Chinese guide about attractions that had special interest to her, like a little-known royal garden.

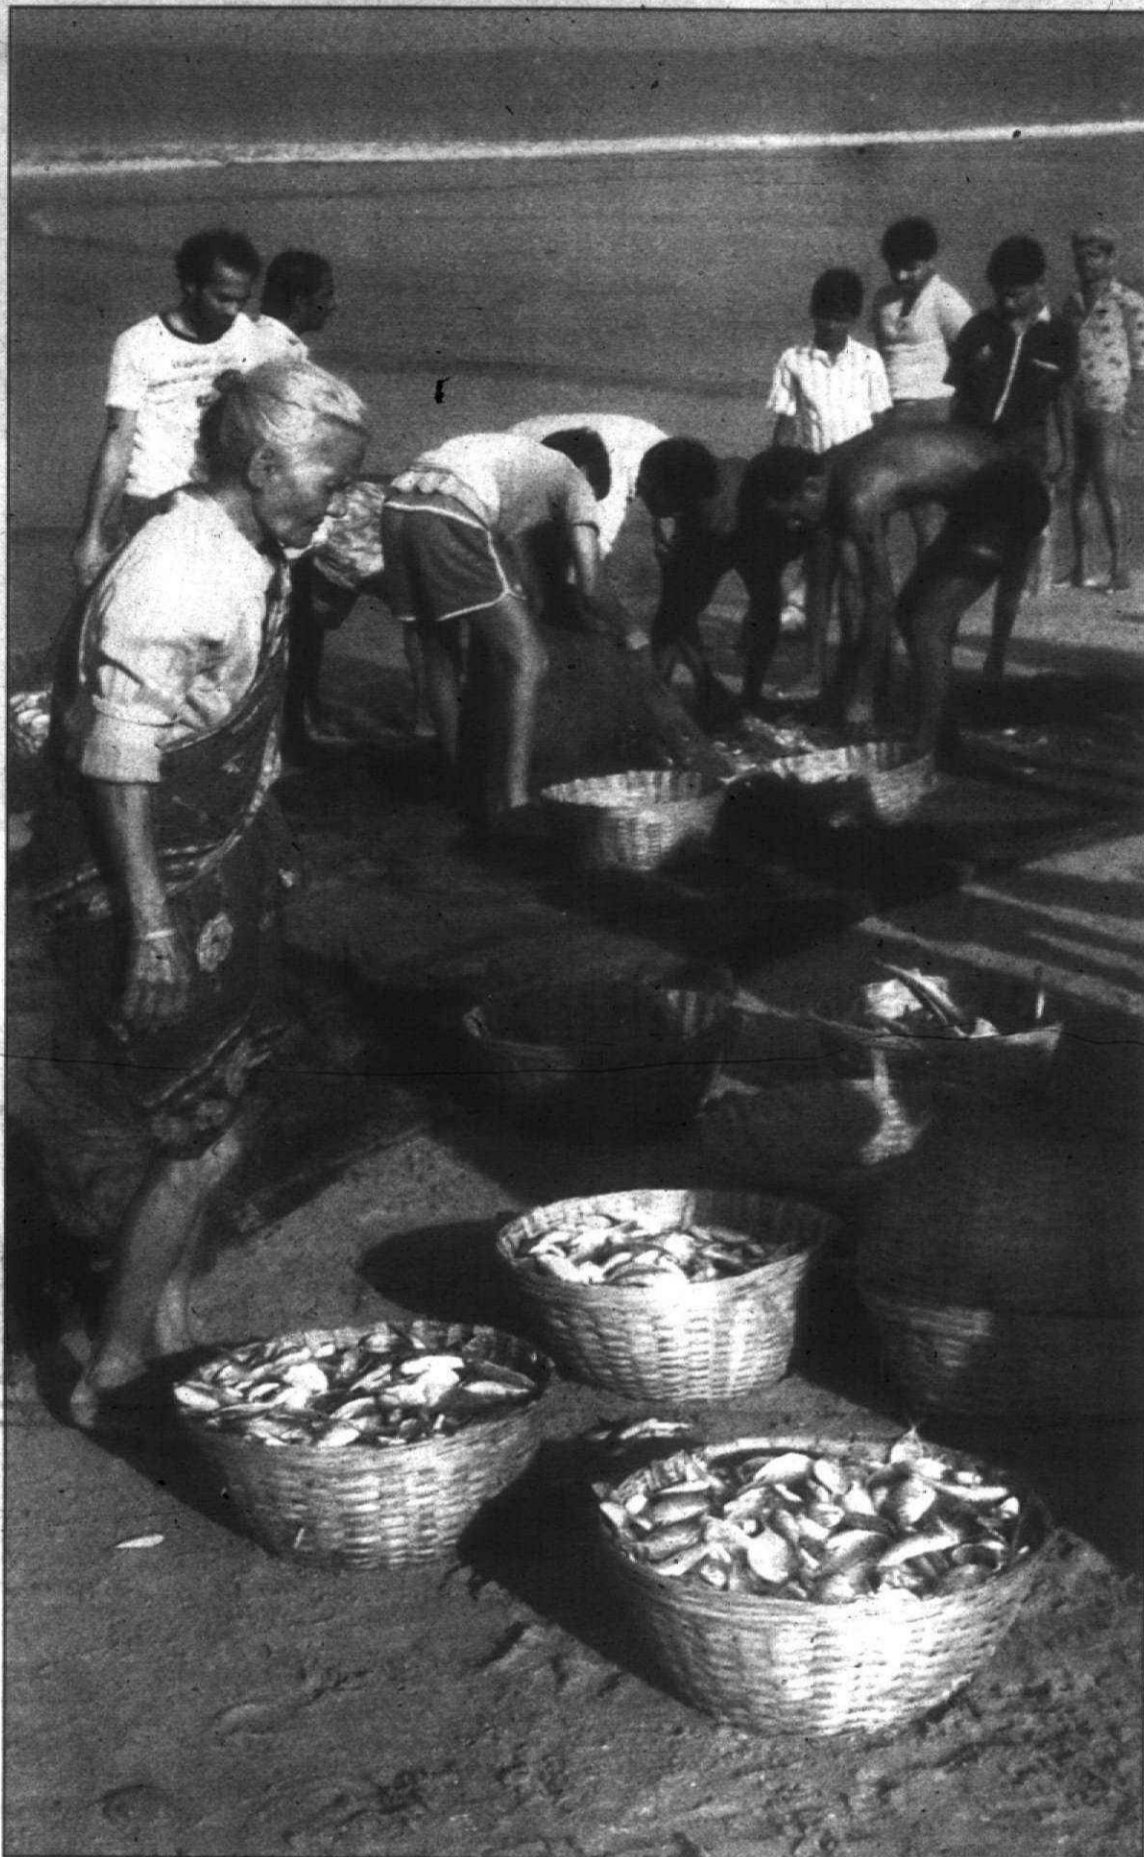

Barbara Swanson of Canton Township requested and eventually visited the ancient observatory in Beijing and the site of the discovery of Peking Man. All of these people know how to ask questions, and I will share their letters with you in coming weeks.

By now, you have probably contacted a travel agent, maybe more than one. Remember, it doesn't cost you a penny to work with an agent. Commissions from the travel industry pay the agent's rent. Go to your local agent, check out the nearest AAA World Travel office or find an agent that specializes in the area that interests you.

When Micky Jones wrote this week's article on Goa, he followed all of the above rules, even though he had already visited Goa. He took guide books out of the library. He contacted the Government of India Tourist Office in New York for information. He called an Indian associate he met long ago through his office, and was directed to two specific agencies.

At his friend's suggestion, Micky visited Jaya Travel and Tours in Southfield, because it specializes in trips to India. At the Jaya agent's suggestion, he contacted India Tours Inc., of Chicago at a toll-free number, (800) 55-INDIA.

You'll find my reply to Sharon Churchfield's questions on this page soon.

Going, going... Goa

By Micky Jones
special writer

A guided tour of India's exotic cities is fascinating, but not relaxing. The cultural shock of extreme wealth, poverty, history, filth, religion, noises, costumes, smells, beggars, languages, animals, customs and foods is hard for many westerners to absorb.

After two weeks touring areas north of Bombay, we flew into the tiny west-coast state of Goa for a few days of relaxation at a luxurious beach resort. The round-trip flight from Bombay to Goa costs $92, and a four-day, three-night stay at the luxurious Major-da Beach Resort, where I stayed, is still just $160 per person including three meals a day.

It took less than an hour for our Indian Airlines plane to make the 250-mile trip south from Bombay. Goa can also be reached by train or bus, but we didn't hear good things about the 400-mile ride from Bombay that can take 24 hours or more.

Goa, which is roughly 65 by 40 miles, has 60 miles of uncrowded beaches on the Arabian Sea. Europeans, especially Germans, fly in by the thousands on inexpensive charter aircraft for two weeks of relaxation at one of several large beach resorts.

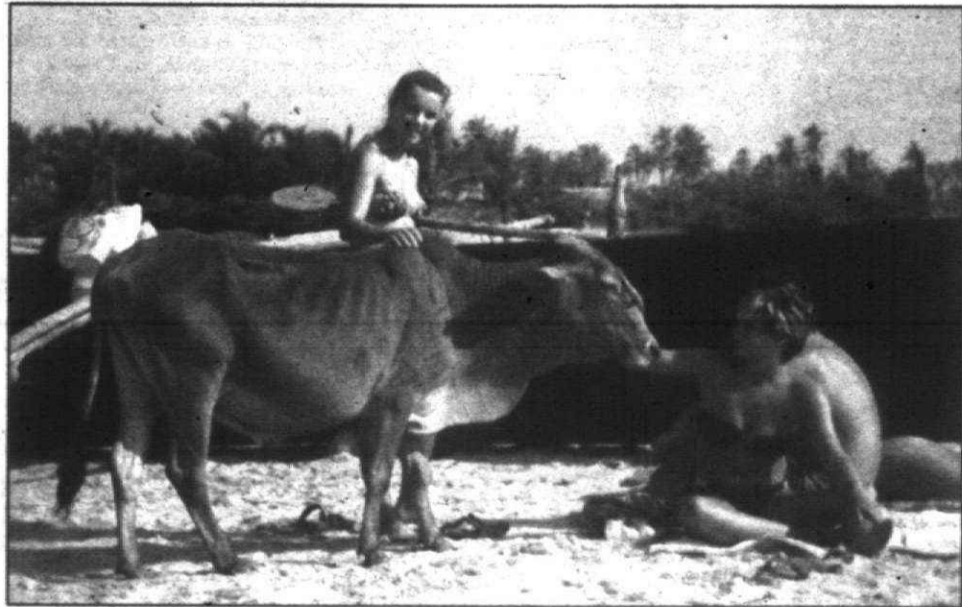

At one, The Aguada Hermitage, you can rent the one-bedroom villa occupied by Maggie Thatcher or the two-bedroom unit occupied by Indira Gandhi during a 1983 Commonwealth Conference.

Showboat Week set to invade Chesaning

By Phyllis Kroger Stillman
special writer

In the old days, when transportation was difficult, isolated small towns situated along a river looked forward to a special time of the year — showboat season, when the outside world came to visit.

Chesaning recreates those magic times every July during Showboat Week. And if you're a frustrated (but talented) performer, you could be part of the magic.

Chesaning has long been known as Michigan's showboat city. Every year since 1937, Chesaning has dusted off its old showboat, the Shiawassee Queen, invited a big-name performer (like Tennessee Ernie Ford, Debbie Boone, Steve Allen, or Mickey Gilley) and hosted a week-long party. This year, Polish Prince Bobby Vinton will be the featured performer during Showboat Week, July 10-15.

For many Michigan residents, though, the famous performers are not the best entertainment during Showboat Week. Each evening's performance features six amateur acts from all over Michigan, selected at an audition in May.

This year's audition is May 3-4, and everyone is invited. All you have to do is show up at Chesaning Middle School at 6:30 p.m. either night. They'll give you a number, and then you'll wait for your chance to perform for the judges.

Be prepared to wait a while. People really do come from all over for a chance to be part of the festivities. Howell High School freshman Amie Sawallich, 15, went last year with her mother, Cindy. "It was very long. Amie was one of the last ones to audition. We didn't get out of there until almost 11 p.m.," said Cindy.

Amie said it wasn't a bad experience. "I was a little nervous, but it was fun. The auditions were a little long, but they were well organized."

Amie was selected to appear in the Showboat, and sang "Wind Beneath My Wings" last year. "I had a really good time that night. There were a lot of people there, and I like a big audience."

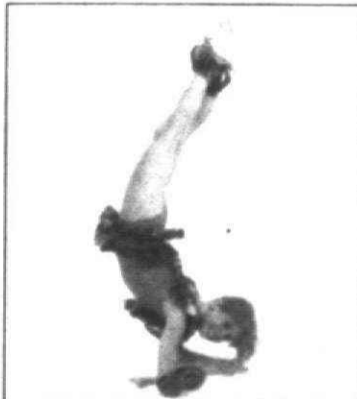

If people like Amie are any indication, competition is tough. Amie has been singing since she was 5, and performed with various community theater groups, including Ann Arbor Civic Theatre (playing Gretl in "The Sound of Music") and in vaudeville shows with Howell's community theater. She also performs at weddings.

Jamie Kus, 13, a seventh grader at Hays Middle School in Grand Ledge, is another committed performer. "Jamie is very serious about this kind of thing," said Jamie's mom, Melody. "She's been doing gymnastics since she was in first grade. She's hoping to get a scholarship and maybe even make a career of it."

Like many performers, Jamie heard about the audition through classes. She attends LaDonna School of Dance in Grand Ledge, operated by LaDonna Fair. Last year, though, Jamie tried out on her own. "Jamie just decided to choreograph her own routine and try out," said Melody.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE:

Lynette Winkle-Snauwaert believes having a fulfilling career is very important. As a nurse at Detroit Receiving Hospital, her way of thinking is reflective of students of the '80s who have placed financial success ahead of personal fulfillment. # MOVING PICTURES

Joyce Kilgus (Glenn Headly) and Cynthia Kelly (Demi Moore) find their friendship put to the test in the suspense drama, "Mortal Thoughts."

Excellent performances save 'Mortal Thoughts'

"Mortal Thoughts" (B, R, 104 minutes) is one of those films that entertain in spite of itself — and the enjoyment flows from excellent performances, certainly not from the transparent plot and the nagging questions it raises.

Why does Cynthia Kelly (Demi Moore) voluntarily appear at the local police station to be videotaped confessing she was an accessory after the fact in murdering James Urbansky (Bruce Willis), the abusive husband of her best friend, Joyce (Glenn Headly)?

Why does Cynthia refuse legal counsel and allow Detective John Woods (Harvey Keitel) to badger her as she provides a great deal of damaging information about her best friend?

There aren't a lot of options in answering those questions but "Mortal Thoughts" is still well worth everyone's viewing time because the performances by Moore, Headly and Willis are compelling as Cynthia recounts — in flashback — the doomed Urbansky marriage.

FROM THEIR very first moments, the Urbanskys squabbled as James tormented his bride, even at their wedding feast which had a nice generic, ethnic touch. Willis is a later-day Stanley Kowalski even though that role is now clichéd and "Mortal Thoughts" is a long-way from the filmic achievement of "A Streetcar Named Desire."

The girls in the beauty shop, however, are the very best. Moore and Headly are simply excellent in their portrayal of two street-smart cookies, tough but loving, if only given a chance.

Cynthia has what she wants, two children and a decent, faithful man, even though her husband Arthur is somewhat of a nerd and always so busy working that Cynthia's out on the town getting in trouble. She exhibits all too well that inherent will to fail so many of us possess.

The urge to play and the looming, throbbing force of man's worst features, ably represented by Willis' Urbansky, are the seeds of tragedy that blossom all too obviously amidst "Mortal Thoughts."

"Resurrection" (PG-13) has a screenplay by Harold Pinter to recommend it as well as an important topic: this time of year when Holocaust Memorial Day reminds the world not only of the awful crimes Nazis committed against Jews but about the crimes regularly committed against all humanity. Ask the Kurds.

Jason Robards is featured in this story of two schoolboys — one Christian, one Jewish — and what happens to their friendship in Hitler's Germany of the 1930s.

The terrible toll of prejudice and racism is also the subject of "Up Against the Wall" (*), a story of Black teenage life.

STILL PLAYING:

"Awakenings" (B, PG-13, 121 minutes).

Robin Williams and Robert De Niro as doctor and catatonic patient call to mind too many other films. The doctor's special care and sensitivity lead to temporary recovery but film lacks spark expected from these talented actors.

"Career Opportunities" (*, PG-13). The night-shift at a Target Store is Jim's last chance. Whoopie!

"Chameleon Street" (*, R). True story of Detroit's William Street who was an impersonator of doctors and other folks.

Vegas lounge pianist (John Goodman) is in line for British humor in delightful comedy.

Robert De Niro plays Hollywood director David Merrill and Annette Bening is his wife, Ruth, in "Guilty by Suspicion," a film about the anti-communist hysteria inflicted on Hollywood in the '50s.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

'Cry:' Powerful, preachy

By John Monaghan special writer

"China Cry" is in some ways a true-life remake of "1984," told through the eyes of a woman. And while the grueling story of Sung Neng Yee's nightmare during Communist China in the 1950s shares Orwell's totalitarian fears, its powers are muted by preachiness.

The new film, which plays exclusively at the Star Theatre in Madison Heights, opens in 1941, as the Japanese march in to Shanghai. Sung's pampered childhood is destroyed by long-flying fighter planes and storm troopers who toss her family onto the street.

Sung grows to believe the promises of the Communist government, which frees China from the marauders. Yet the bright, attractive and friendly teenager also desires nylon stockings and the attention of a handsome fellow student who wears Western clothing.

HER FREE spirit and questioning nature don't sit well with the Communists, who subject her to intense interrogation and torture throughout her 20s. They want her to denounce her early Christian teachings, but she only grows stronger in her faith. Her love for her husband is constantly in jeopardy.

"Love is a bourgeois deceit," barks a female interrogator, in between beating the pregnant Sung.

The majority of the album is blistering, raw rock 'n' roll, driven by speed guitar and percussion work. It's no wonder that these guys have been compared to those Motor City icons, Iggy and the Stooges.

STREET BEATS

The Detroit Blues Band has made a name for itself as a gritty, urban blues outfit primarily by performing in the tri-county area.

Blues band burns with 'Real Life'

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Rather than letting his dissatisfaction turn to bitterness and sullenness, McCarty turned to the style of music where honesty and introspection burn passionately.

"Real Life," the Detroit Blues Band's first release, documents McCarty's transformation from the plasticity and facade of rock 'n' roll excess to the soulful renderings of the blues. The release confirms this blues thing is not just a passing fancy for McCarty.

But while McCarty has found creative solitude, "Real Life" marks a turning point for the Detroit Blues Band itself, whose time has finally come. The band originally formed in 1976.

CURRENT MEMBERS, guitarist/vocalist Emanuel X. Garza and drummer Thomas "T-Bone" Wagner, were in the first incarnation of Detroit Blues Band. William "Billy" Landless plays bass in the band.

Both have seen bandmates come and go in 15 years, including a harp player who left three years ago.

Detroit Blues Band has always had an unsullied reputation as a gritty, urban blues outfit. The band was chosen as the Best Blues Band in 1987, 1988 and 1989 in the annual Metro Times Music Poll.

Yet word of the group's musical talents never filtered beyond the Motor City. Part of the problem was the band hardly traveled outside the tri-county area to perform, except for a brief excursion to Texas.

More than anything, though, the immobility stemmed from not having a product. "Real Life" is the band's first release after 15 years of performing.

Understandably, band members are quite proud of the release.

"The fact it's our stuff," said Garza, who composed "Go Down-town" and "Scandalous Behavior" on "Real Life." "Years ago, we would have done all cover stuff. Except for the Muddy Waters cover, this is all original stuff."

"It's got a little of everything in it. It's not totally a blues album and it's not totally a rock album."

Some blues aficionados might grumble about the release's rock stylings while rock 'n' roll purists might "Real Life" to be too busy.

"The ones that just take the CD for what it is enjoy it the most," McCarty said.

INITIALLY, the band didn't enjoy recording of "Real Life." McCarty said what should have been a month's worth of work was turned into six because the project was recorded in a small studio. Producer Gary Spanola did the final mixing at Sella Sound, giving the CD an undeniable professional gleam.

Firehose douses notion of sell-out

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Bill Wyman, John Entwistle, Adam Clayton and Sid Vicious — definitely bass players by Mike Watt's definition.

Sting? No, the blond zen leader of The Police is too cool, sort of the anti-bassist.

"Think of the kazoo man," said Firehose bassist Watt, summing up a just-completed dissertation on the instrument and its place in rock 'n' roll history. "It's funny. It's where you put the lame guys."

Frustrated guitar players, Watt calls them. The lot of them are finger-picking dweebs who were the afterthought in most bands, according to the Firehose leader.

Not women bassists, though. People like Kim Gordon of Sonic Youth are all right in Watt's book.

This rhetoric from Watt could be misconstrued as an indictment against those who perform on the four-string instrument.

ASIDE FROM bassist's revenge, Firehose's latest release "Flyin' the Flame" marks a radical change for the California-based three-piece. The product is the band's first on a major label, Columbia.

This development — more precisely an mention of a sell-out — turns Watt just a tad defensive. He's quick to point out the brilliant 16-song effort was paid for with the band's own money, recorded before the band even landed a deal with the Sony-owned label.

"I haven't changed in any way," said Watt in a telephone interview from Providence, R.I. "Have you listened to it yet? Does it sound much different than our other albums?"

Watt said he's been asking others, who are quick to bring up the band's switch to a major label, that question. The main reason for going from SST to Columbia was better distribution.

"Hopefully, it gets in the chain stores," Watt said.

The thought of Firehose perhaps being featured in a window display at a giant record store in some strip mall is a bit much to fathom. This band's meld of melodic and edgy music has been something of a tucked-away treasure, shared discreetly only with those who deserved to be enlightened.

ASIDE FROM the three-prong attack of Ed "From Ohio" Crawford's gnawing guitar, George Hurley's syncopated drumming and Watt's groove-infused bass, there's a refreshing exuberance to Firehose. Such enthusiasm has sustained this band whereas a lot of other groups would have long since been rendered to historical footnotes.

Formed in 1986, Firehose was formed by the surviving members of acoustic guitar interlude that adds a new dimension to "The Generals' sound (not to mention clearing up any misconceptions about their guitar playing versatility).

"You Weren't Much of a Lady" is another bluesy favorite worth mentioning by itself due to its classic chorus. "You weren't much of a lady, but now you're making one helluva song. You weren't much of a woman, but I'm gonna play you all night long."

A ballad called "The Road" closes the album with a nifty harmonica intro by lead vocalist Tony Cole.

All in all, The Generals are a local band worth watching.

SOUL HITS OF THE '70S

— various artists

They're at it again — hot on the heels of "Have a Nice Day," a 15-volume compilation enshrining 1970s pop hits, the folks at Rhino Records are now mining the vaults for '70s soul classics.

The first five volumes of "Didn't It Blow Your Mind" center on the years 1969-71, just as Motown was ebbing and just before Philly International caught fire.

In retrospect, it was a rich time for black popular music. Groups and soloists jockeyed for chart position in a surprising variety of styles.

While the Chilites and DeLificos delivered the sweetest of sweet soul music, Tina Turner tore it up with her sass, southern style.

While Friends of Distinction politely delivered their brand of L.A. pop soul, Flaming Ember offered Sly Stone-derived funk.

Turner aside, none of these artists managed any kind of lasting stardom. But there were some magnificent ones — "O-o-h Child" by the Five Starsteps, the Edwin Hawkins Singers' "Oh Happy Day" and Jean Knight's "Mr. Big Stuff" among them.

Several of the songs are drawn from Invictus Hot Wax — post-Motown labels founded by ace Motor City songwriters Lamont Dozier and

Men discover their sexuality sooner than women

Dear Barbara,
Why is it when I talk to gay men they say they have known that they were gay their whole life. But when I talk to gay women, they say they didn't figure out the problem until young adulthood. Are men more in touch with their sexuality?
George

Dear George,
Before answering your excellent question, we have to recognize that as of this date, we do not know the genetic contribution to homosexuality and lesbianism. The genetic factor might come out earlier in men and later in women.
It may turn out that the expression of the genetic code for men is at an earlier age than it is for women. If you and I have this in the back of our mind, I can then respond psychologically.

Psychologically, the roles of men and women growing up are different. For both, the original bond is to the mother. A man has an easier job — for him the love object remains a woman.

For the woman, the task is more difficult. She must change her love object to a man and this happens at a later date. It might not happen until she gets married and then finds out she is not enjoying it.

Adolescent girls often have crushes on teachers or classmates who are women. When all goes ac-ording to cultural expectations, they then outgrow these crushes and make the difficult change to the man as a love object.

Some cannot make this change and remain attracted to women. If she is a lesbian, then it is about this point that she will realize it. It will come into consciousness after trying to make the culturally acceptable switch and not being able to.

Why do men, who have the easier task, switch to another man as a love object rather than remaining bonded to women? (Of course, I still recognize the pressing contribution of genes in these choices.) In a psychological explanation, the baby boy felt panic in his relationship with his mother and so he pursued with a

He became frightened and felt weak and helpless in this relationship. When this happens, the mother as a love object has to be avoided. He then seeks strength from his father and later on from other men.

Developmentally, this switch was motivated to occur at a younger age than the girl's switch. Because the demands on men and women are different, he found out earlier that he was not going to comply with cultural expectations.

It is also possible that in our culture, women can hide their sexual preference even from themselves longer than men can. Sexually, the physical demands on men and women are different and so women might be able to defend themselves against acknowledging the reality of their sexual preference for a longer time. A woman can be passive and still seem adequate. A man cannot hide the lack of an erection.

This is a complicated topic. I am sure that many readers have additional thoughts on this subject that I have left out. Any letters which contribute understanding to this problem will be welcomed.

VIDEO VIEWING

Violence galore, so all can comfortably displace their aggressions via Seagal's antics. Certainly, a $43 million box office can't be wrong.

"Marked for Death" debuted on videocassette April 18 and on the same day, a different kind of violence, from another era, appeared on home video for the first time.

Peyton Place (1957, 157 minutes) and Return to Peyton Place (1961, 123 minutes) were pretty violent and shocking stories of life, love, sex and passion behind closed doors in a small New England town.

THE FIRST starred Lana Turner and was nominated for nine Oscars while Carol Lynley was featured in the second. Both will seem tame by today's standards but lovers of soapy melodrama, as well as everyone tripping out on nostalgia, will enjoy this dual pack. Where else can you get almost five hours of other people's lives for just pennies a minute?

While we're on this love affair with old-time hate and passion, MGM/UA Home Video is releasing 10 detective stories Wednesday, each for under $20, starring a host of famous Hollywood names — Tony Randall, Robert Morley, Anita Ekberg, Elliot Gould, James Garner, Steve McQueen and Faye Dunaway, among others.

Four of these films feature Margaret Rutherford as Miss Marple in the Agatha Christie series — Murder at the Gallop (1963, 81 minutes), Murder Most Foil (1965, 90 minutes) and Murder, She Said (87 minutes). The last, in 1962, was Rutherford's first appearance as Miss Marple. All are in black and white and unrated but suitable for family viewing.

The Alphabet Murders (1966, black and white, 90 minutes) has Rutherford in a guest appearance with Tony Randall starring as Hercule Poirot, another Agatha Christie favorite.

ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER makes an unbillied appearance in The Long Goodbye (1973, color, 112 minutes), Robert Altman's updated spoof of the old Raymond Chandler private-eye story.

Other titles in this orgy of old detective stories include The Thomas Crown Affair (1968, color, 102 minutes), Kiss Me Deadly (1955, black-and-white, 105 minutes).

"There's no place for it in the new China."
The story is true, according to the introduction, even the supernatural scene where she's saved from a firing squad by a blinding light, which some interpret as a lightning bolt from heaven.

Anger and outrage fuel "China Cry," which was written and directed by James Collier, apparently on a mission from God. I can't remember a film in the past few decades that so openly wears its Christianity on its sleeve.

The occasional charm of "China Cry" comes from actress Julia Nickson-Soul, who, like the other actors, delivers her lines in English. The one-dimensional supporting characters, from her brooding husband to the stone-faced Communists, drag the film down.

THE DIALOGUE is loaded with clichés, not just party slogans ("The era of pure Communism is the prize of the future"), but from Sung, who tells her husband, "They bend us like saplings in the wind."

While there are moments of suspense and power, this is not an especially hard-hitting drama.

Band plays blues its way on 'Life'

Despite not being enamored with the rock'n'roll lifestyle, McCarty wants to go on the road with the Detroit Blues Band and reach a wider audience. He's tasted success on several levels.

Though he played with Billy Lee and the Riverias, who later became Mitch Ryder and The Detroit Wheels, some of McCarty's best rock'n'roll tracks were laid with The Rockets. Johnny "Be" Badanjek formed the band in 1973, recording six LPs, including one on Capitol.

McCarty also contributed guitar pieces for Bob Seger's "Seger VII" album and Jimi Hendrix's "Nine to the Universe."

But in those 20 years, McCarty also worked with The Siegel-Schwail Band and The Buddy Miles Express.

There's no edge. Like a TV movie with a message, it can be digested and leaves you with the required amount of outrage.

Overall, "China Cry" should warrant high praise from the review staff at The Christian Science Monitor. After witnessing the anti-Communist, pro-Christian and American values espoused here, you may think the Monitor had a hand in producing it.

the hardcore group. The Minutemen, who lost from a D. Boon in a van crash. As the story goes, one of The Minutemen's biggest fans in Ohio heard, quite mistakenly, that the band was auditioning new guitarists.

Ed Crawford promptly quit his job and headed to San Pedro, Calif., to try out. Upon hearing The Minutemen were finished, Crawford remained undaunted. The young guitarist continually called Watt, who was still grieving the death of D. Boon.

"He had a lot of (guts) coming out to California like that," said Watt, who has taken a teacher-pupil role with the young guitarist. "In 4 1/2 years, he's been on 10 tours. (I laugh him) how to do Vaudeville. I give him a lot of credit. He's got a lot of drive."

That energy is something Watt wanted to rekindle on "Flyin' Flannel."

"I thought I played conservative bass on the last album ("ROMOHIO")." Watt said and added later, "I've written 250 ditties over the years, if you want to call them that. To make them fresh, it still has to have that same intensity."

For Gary Thison, there's no better job than comedy

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Gary Thison remembers watching Dick Van Dyke and Red Skelton's TV shows when he was a child. He thought they were funny.

These days, Thison's making them laugh during his own performances as a stand-up comic. Thison, 37, has been doing comedy for "a long time. Right out of high school, pretty much, so we're going on 20 years."

"It's been fun so far. There's just no better job than this. I don't have to know what I'm talking about."

Making them laugh is what matters in Thison's line of work.

He grew up on the east side, graduating from Harper Woods High School. Thison, a Clinton Township resident, has lived on the east side most of his life. He studied theater at Wayne State University.

He'll appear later this month at Joey's Comedy Club in Livonia. "It's a fun room."

THISON PERFORMS at comedy clubs and does corporate shows. His repertoire includes after-dinner banquet shows combining magic and comedy. They're similar to his club performances but cleaner.

He studied magic for years and has continued to incorporate magic into his performances.

"Everything always had a comedic twist to it. I pull out some genuine magic props, but I bastardize them. Things just don't quite work out."

Some of the tricks flop, intentionally, but Thison also does some real magic tricks that vary show.

"It's a comedy-variety show." Within two minutes of arriving on stage, Thison likes to have audience members feel as if they're relaxing in his basement. "I'm pretty confident that I can get almost any crowd to like me."

THISON'S WORK isn't all in the Detroit area. He has performed in such cities as Sarasota, Fla., and Chattanooga, Tenn.

"It's the best place because more people know me," he said of his time spent in metro Detroit.

Thison finds it easier to get more work in this area because of his contacts, but also enjoys his work elsewhere.

"Kansas City is like a dream. They just love every show. It's a sophisticated audience."

He likes performing in other large cities and in such college towns as Madison, Wis.

THISON FINDS a variety of sources of inspiration when writing material.

"There's really a non-stop influx of material because anything can be funny."

He and other comics tend to exaggerate things that happen in real life. Thison was sleeping in his car by the side of the road a while back when he was approached by the police.

"They were very nice." He wasn't drunk, and didn't get a ticket. That brief, polite exchange found its way into his act.

THISON UPDATES his material regularly. He can throw something new in for as short time. He did that when the pope came to Michigan a few years ago and that visit was covered extensively on TV.

"It was very funny for a couple weeks." After that, he dropped the pope material. Thison also revises his material slightly depending on where he's performing.

He has written in the past for other people, including Soupy Sales.

"I wrote for a lot of radio personalities."

He has continued to write for other comedians.

"It has to be a certain kind of act." Thison does some writing now for a comedian-ventriloquist. He writes material that can't be used in his own performances.

THISON APPEARED on WDIV-TV/Channel 4 earlier this year for the annual Easter Seal Telethon. He has performed at fund-raising benefits for United Way and other non-profit groups.

"You try to give it back when you can."

He has done some other TV work, including local talk shows such as "Kelly and Co."

"No HBO special yet."

IN HIS free time, Thison enjoys being with his wife and children. He collects baseball cards and has bought Operation Desert Storm and Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle cards.

"So that's something I like to do." His work keeps him busy.

"It's just a non-stop, constantly promoting yourself."

Down the road, he'd like to do more writing. Thison may just try to write the great American novel at some point.

Gary Thison will be at Joey's in Livonia/Stoyan's Inn, 36071 Plymouth Road in Livonia, April 24-27. Showtimes will be 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, 8 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. For reservations or more information, call 261-0555.

As a child comedians like Dick Van Dyke and Red Skelton made him laugh. Now, Gary Thison is the one making people laugh as a stand-up comic.

Making it in the 1990s

By William Coutant
staff writer

With all that has been written and said about the recent emphasis on personal wealth, the emergence of the "yuppies" and the self-serving as the dominant role models of the late 1980s, you might wonder what's next — or what the next generation of professionals will be like.

If you're looking for a return to the idealism of the '60s, don't hold your breath. But that doesn't mean the current crop of students and recent grads are all about money and status, either.

Judging the results of a questionnaire on life goals given to incoming college freshmen, achieving financial success is one of the most important goals, while developing a meaningful philosophy of life is a low priority for most.

That represents nearly a complete reversal from student attitudes in the early 1960s.

BUT TALKING to college seniors and those who've recently graduated, a different picture emerges.

Yes, being "comfortable" is a goal for most, but having a fulfilling career and personal life, and helping others are also important.

Connie Majewski, a recent Oakland University graduate working on her master's in physical therapy, is looking for a career that combines some degree of financial success and job security in a way that will help others.

"Physical therapy is something I've always wanted to do," the New Baltimore resident said. "I can see the impact I have on patients. There is a lot of job satisfaction because I can make a difference."

"WORKING WITH people" is an important consideration, said Khyla Conde, a psychology major at OU.

Conde, who will graduate in June, is an intern for the probate court in Royal Oak.

Financial success is not a high priority for the Ferndale resident; helping prevent drug and alcohol abuse, and making life better for youngsters is important.

"I know that I'm not going to do this and make a lot of money," she said.

HAVING A fulfilling career is very important, said Lynette Winkle-Snauwaert, an MSU and OU graduate. She works as a nurse in the "surgical intensive care" unit of Detroit Receiving Hospital.

"They trained me real well at OU," she said. "But I never thought I could do what I'm doing now. You get a real good feeling when you come home and know that you've changed somebody's life."

And earning an advanced degree is a likely possibility, the OU 1990 nursing graduate said.

"There are so many possibilities in the nursing field, it's wide open."

Lisa Taylor, a December graduate in communications, would like to work for the government doing something she would like to see — saving tax dollars.

"Finances are important, but being happy is number one," Taylor said. "I've never had a problem. I know I'll have enough money."

For Taylor, marriage and a family, making an impact on the political structure and living by her religious convictions are top priorities.

AND ALTHOUGH many said they plan to marry at some time, for most, it is a future consideration.

"Far down the road," and "maybe in five years or so, when I'm established in my career" are typical responses of several students and recent graduates interviewed.

Establishing a career, and in many cases, returning to college for an advanced degree are factors that will keep many from the wedding altar for some time.

Lisa Bamberger, a 1988 Eastern Michigan University graduate, expects to return to school to earn a master's in toxicology, she said.

"I think you need that extra education," she said. "It seems that in the hierarchy of this field, most people have some advanced degree in the field."

The Ypsilanti Township resident said she loves her job, which involves testing the quality of drinking water.

"It's real-world chemistry," she said.

AFSANEH "SONYA" Nematollahi, a systems engineer for General Motors, would encourage anyone who can to continue straight through college and earn an advanced degree, she said.

Sound training and the ability to work with people are keys in any field, she said.

Afsaneh "Sonya" Nematollahi, a systems engineer for General Motors, believes young people should go straight through college and earn an advanced degree.

While Keith Kreager has solid credentials — an undergraduate degree from Michigan State University and soon-to-be master's degree from Oakland University — he has yet to land the type of job he wants.

"You can't be isolated," she said. "Problem solving isn't enough. You've got to be able to work with people."

THE ROCHESTER HILLS resident came to the United States from Iran. The United States is the best country in which to pursue a career, she said.

"I don't think people who live here understand how much freedom and opportunity we have here," she said.

Nickalee Niedzielski, a 1989 Eastern Michigan University graduate in public administration, is working toward a master's degree at Wayne State University.

"I didn't need to get my M.A.," the South Lyon resident said. "It allows you to study more in your specialty."

Marriage and family are "down the road," said Keith Kreager, a Michigan State University graduate. He will earn his master's degree in business administration this spring from OU.

And even though Kreager will have solid credentials, he still hasn't landed the type of job he wants. For Kreager, the recession has already hit home.

"I'm a little worried," the Rochester native said. "I've had some interviews, but they're mostly writing back to say 'Thanks, but no thanks.'"

SOME STUDENTS cited concerns beyond their immediate career goals. The environment, race relations, politics and the homeless are among those concerns.

Rosemary Harp, a University of Michigan sophomore, said many of her friends "are more economically oriented," than she is. But that doesn't worry the Birmingham native.

"You have to do what's going to make you happy," Harp said.

Harp, who is leaning toward a creative writing major, said she not only considers it important to follow a career path based on other than financial motives, but to be involved in politics and social issues.

She has worked for political candidates and for environmental issues, but doesn't see that as a campus trend.

"A lot of students here are apathetic," she said. "Most aren't even registered to vote."

PERHAPS MICHAEL Jahr, a senior majoring in journalism at EMU, has found a happy medium to the puzzle of why students have become more concerned with their careers, but not necessarily personal wealth.

"I don't want to sit in an office from 9 to 5," he said. "It's (journalism) a job that I'm excited about."

"But I've grown up in an era and in a city (Flint) where layoffs have become common. Companies like GM would grow and boom. Then a recession comes and they layoff."

"I don't think people are as idealistic as in the '60s, but they're not as money-conscious as the yuppies."

Idealism takes back seat to financial success

Attitudes mirror economics

By William Coutant
staff writer

The trend over the past 24 years to pursue careers that offer higher financial rewards will probably continue, but some market forces and a changing employment picture could alter some current paths to success.

Data gathered by the American Council on Education suggests that the desire to achieve financial goals has replaced other, less material pursuits.

According to a questionnaire given to incoming college freshmen at Oakland University, "being financially well off" has replaced "developing a meaningful philosophy of life" as an essential or very important goal.

"It's a complete reversal from 1966," said Georgia B. Aktan, director of institutional research at Oakland University.

In 1966, 90 percent of incoming OU freshmen rated developing a meaningful philosophy of life as a top priority, Aktan said. In 1989, that had dropped to 35 percent.

During the same period, being well off financially climbed from a low of 34 percent in 1966 to 80 percent in 1989.

THAT CHANGE may not just reflect a shift from altruism to selfishness.

"I think then (in 1966), you knew you were going to find a job," Aktan said. "The economy has changed."

Aktan said OU fits the national profile of most public American universities, so the findings probably hold true throughout the country.

And, not surprisingly, business careers have continued to be the biggest draw over the past 10 years, with between 20 and 21 percent of Michigan college students choosing a business major, she said.

BUT THE quest for financial security and solid money-making careers has put a drain on other fields where expertise is at a premium.

"There is a tremendous demand in the sciences," said Raymond E. Hill, a professor of management at Eastern Michigan University.

"There is a demand for two to three times the number of Ph.D.s that we now have."

THE LONG-TERM commitment necessary for a student to earn a doctorate, the difficulty in making a living while pursuing an advanced degree and the money that can be made in the private sector by a talented scientist all work against the advanced educational system and research positions, he said.

Public misconceptions about science and technology are also a contributing factor to a lack of status for researchers, Hill said.

"People have a lot of mixed feelings about technology and sciences," he said. "Science literacy among the public is lagging."

SO DOES the brain drain from other academic fields and the large number of business graduates translate to a stronger business community in the United States? Probably not, one economist said.

"We need people with a good liberal arts background and some business training," said David Littmann, senior economist with Manufacturers Bank in Detroit.

"Communication skills are highly prized. The ability to write and speak clearly is really important."

Littmann is concerned that most people new to the business world are looking for financial rewards ahead of job satisfaction.

And a thin background in courses other than business can hamper a business professional's ability to change with the times, he said.

"You need to be more of a whole person, because things will change, and you have to adapt."

MORE THAN ever, ability in a foreign language, especially Japanese, German, French and Spanish, is a big plus in business, he said.

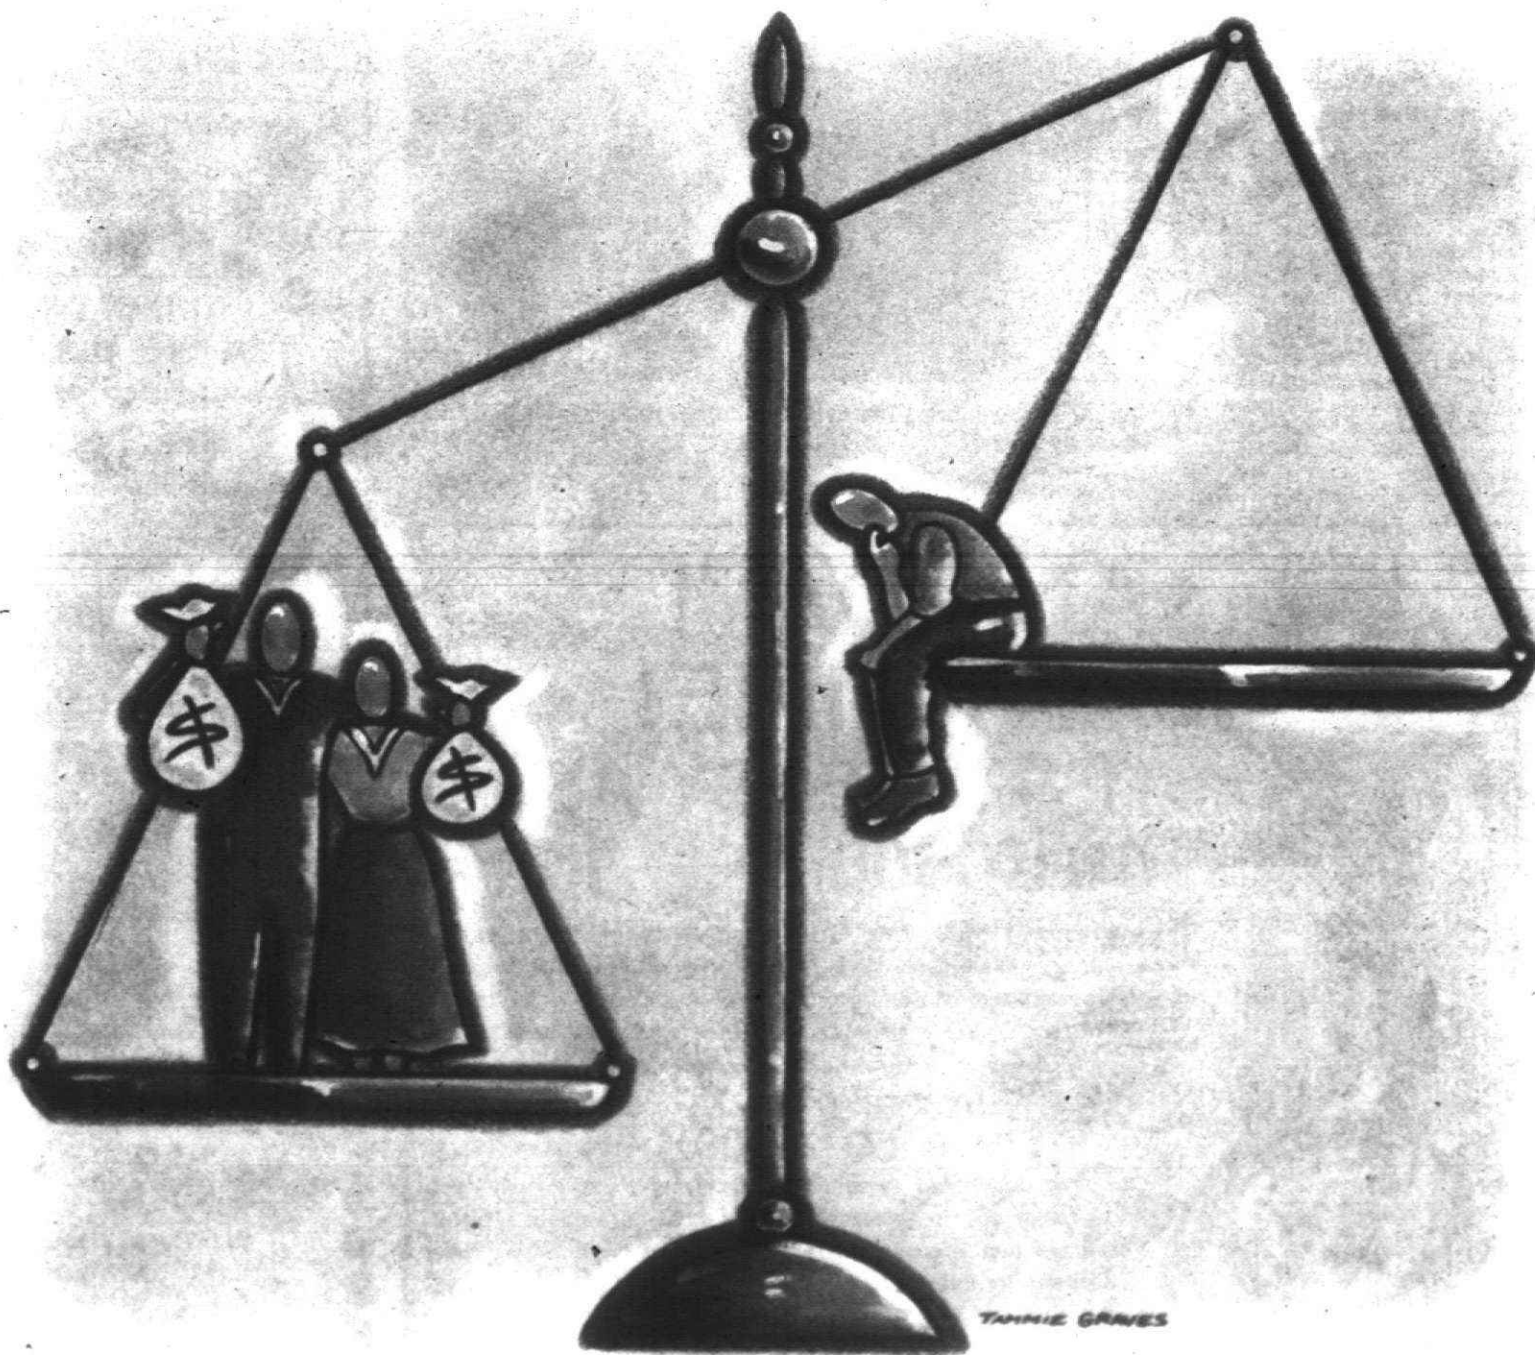

And along with a good undergraduate degree, a master's in business administration is highly valued in the business community, Littmann said.

"The demand for MBAs, especially in accounting, is increasing," he said.

With an uncertain economy and the ups and downs in demand for many fields, such as engineering, business careers show no sign of lagging in popularity.

"The second most popular field last year (in Michigan public colleges) was communications," Aktan said.

"Five years ago it was engineering. Ten years ago it was social sciences. But business has been number one during all those years."

Colors: They help shade moods

A peek into feelings

WATER COLORS or brights, air or fire shades, the enthusiasm in dressing this season focuses on color.

Buying a color that becomes you is important, but choosing a color to wear on a certain day to compensate for the way you feel also is significant.

Studies have shown the color of our clothes affects our state of mind. Here are some properties of individual colors:

- Red being the warmest of all colors increases vitality, energy and warmth. It will stimulate the senses that include seeing, hearing, smelling and feeling. The color of love, fire and passion.

- Green is a calming and quieting color, the color of nature. Green encourages stability.

- Yellow is associated with sunshine. Yellow is warming and brings happiness. It has been noted to wear yellow when asking for a raise, it's hard to say no to yellow.

- Like the blue of the sky and the ocean, blue has been linked with soothing properties. Blue is an excellent tranquilizer, as well as being cooling and relaxing.

Preview planned

Village Antique Show draws national dealers

The treasures of past generations will be on view for prospective new owners May 10-12 at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village's seventh annual Village Antiques Show. A special preview will be May 9.

The museum's Lovett Hall will provide an intimate setting for 47 dealers from across the nation. Each will present a distinctive selection of antique merchandise.

"Each participating dealer has a reputation that is as distinguished as the antiques being presented," said J. Jordan Humberstone, Village Antiques show manager.

Complementing the show is The Katherine B. Hagler Memorial Mini Forum, a free lecture series designed for the private collector.

On Friday, May 10, John Zolomij, director of the Raymond E. Holland Automotive Art Collection, will discuss "The Motor Car in Art" from his book of the same title.

On Saturday, May 11, David Lindquist, dealer in 18th- and 19th-century English and country French antiques, will present "Antique Furniture: What to Know Before You Buy."

Both talks are free with Village Antiques Show admission.

A GALA preview night party on Thursday, May 9 will offer an advance opportunity to survey and buy antiques before the public opening on May 10. Preview ticket prices range from $100 to $300.

Proceeds from the Village Antiques Show support all aspects of Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, including educational experiences such as one-room schoolhouse classes and preservation of Thomas Edison's Menlo Park laboratory and dozens of other historic buildings in the village.

Tickets for the Village Antiques Show are $5 in advance, $6 at the door. They are separate from regular museum or village admission. A single ticket purchase is good for all three days of the show.

Lovett Hall is adjacent to Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, at Oakwood Boulevard and Village Road in Dearborn, just west of the Southfield Freeway and south of Michigan Avenue.

College glass art to grab spotlight

Center for Creative Studies-College of Art and Design students, faculty and alumni are playing a key role in April for Michigan Glass Month.

From 1-4 p.m. Saturday, April 27, glass department faculty Herb Babcock, Max Davis and Albert Young, along with student Chris Nordin, will have a special demonstration of glass sculpture and blowing techniques.

The demonstration will be on campus in the glass studios in the Yamasaki Building, 245 E. Kirby.

Michigan Glass Month helps introduce Michigan artists who are using glass as the material for their artistic expression.

The 11th annual celebration is designed to promote public awareness of varied kinds of glass and its use in industry and the home as art.

THE CENTER for Creative Studies' committee for Michigan Glass Month 1991 is co-chaired by Herb Babcock, glass department chairman, and renowned alumna Sylvia Viglietti.

Functional and decorative glass works by students, faculty and alumni will be exhibited at nine galleries throughout the Detroit area. Their glass artworks range from functional vessels, platters, jewelry and paperweights to abstract sculptures.

Michigan has been a leader in promoting glass as a contemporary art form and in helping enrich the public's appreciation of the beauty of this art form.

STUDENTS INVOLVED in the study of glass are taught many different techniques including hot-blown glass, stained glass, cast glass, pate de Verre, sand blasting, grinding and polishing glass.

Center for Creative Studies is a four-year, fully accredited college and one of the 10 largest visual arts colleges at the undergraduate level in the United States.

The college grants the bachelor of fine arts degree in 17 areas of concentration in crafts, fine arts, graphic communication, industrial design and photography.

It's at 201 E. Kirby, directly behind the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Hallmark undertakes tough task in topping Hitchcock

'Shadow of a Doubt' remake for network TV

Amy Schmidt

Actor Mark Harmon, who played Ted Bundy in the TV miniseries "Deliberate Stranger," will once again play a seemingly guileless figure intent on cloaking his devious dark side in CBS' "Shadow of a Doubt." The Hallmark Hall of Fame Presentation, a remake of Alfred Hitchcock's 1943 classic, will broadcast Sunday, April 28, on CBS.

Co-starring with Harmon in the nail biter are Margaret Welsh ("Mr. and Mrs. Bridge") and Oscar-nominee Diane Ladd ("Wild at Heart"). Two-time Hitchcock star Tippi Hedren ("The Birds" and "Marnie") makes a special appearance in the telefilm. Joseph Cotten, Teresa Wright and Patricia Collinge first starred in the original film 48 years ago.

"Shadow of a Doubt" is the suspenseful tale about a much-loved Uncle who moves to California to live with her sister's family. Ironically, Uncle Charlie's favorite young niece, who is also his namesake, begins to suspect her uncle is not all he appears to be.

The film is said to be Hitchcock's favorite because it deals with evil impinging on the lives of ordinary people. The director took care to choose the details of his films very closely, and in "Shadow of a Doubt," this meant things like arranging for black smoke to billow from the train upon which Uncle Charlie makes his fateful ride into town. Notwithstanding, the celluloid genius never won an Oscar for his directing efforts.

Why attempt to remake a classic? That's what Diane Ladd wondered when she was first offered her role. The actress says she wasn't interested in the project until she discovered an opportunity to work with director Karen Arthur. Harmon, on the other hand, loved the idea. "I loved it then, and I love it now," he says.

This is not the first time "Shadow of a Doubt" has been remade. A less successful version of the film titled "Step Down to Terror" was released in 1958.

Hallmark, with its impressive 40-year film track record, could conceivably work wonders with the new film. The difference between the 1943 and the 1991 versions? For one, the remake is done in color and in a setting 10 years later than the original. "I wanted to give the picture a different look," says executive producer Norman Rosemont. "Also, Hitchcock shot in black and white, and we're filming in color so it was important we set the picture in a more colorful era." Another difference is that in the remake, Harmon's character is portrayed as seemingly less evil, and deceptively more amiable. "Uncle Charlie is really a charmer. He fits into this town," says director Arthur. Similarities include the fact that both movies were filmed on the same street, McDonald Ave., in Santa Rosa, Calif.

An interesting footnote on the film is that Hitchcock refused to attend its premiere in Santa Rosa. "He sent me instead," says his daughter Patricia O'Connell. "And I soon learned why. The theater was jammed, and I couldn't hear a word of dialogue. Everybody kept pointing at the screen and yelling, 'There I am. That's me!'"

With any luck, the new version of the film will spur viewers who haven't seen the original "Shadow of a Doubt" to do so — whether they're from Santa Rosa or not.

would be possible for him to return at a later date. He is, at present, pursuing other acting interests and was supposed to be getting married soon. Unlike others pursuing careers in prime-time television, Knight has decided to stay in New York rather than moving out to Los Angeles.

'Chernobyl' explodes on TNT

By Christy Bergslien

Oscar-winner Jon Voight makes his TV movie debut Monday, April 22, when he stars in Chernobyl: The Final Incident on TNT. The telefilm dramatizes the worst nuclear accident in history as seen through the eyes of one Ukraine family. More than 130,000 people are evacuated from the contaminated zone and nearly three million acres of farmland are unusable. Jason Robards co-stars.

Why would a man kill only women in red dresses? Why would a burglar use a square knot to tie up his hostages? These are the kinds of questions FBI investigators try to answer in order to establish a psychological profile of a criminal. Hollywood has developed a fascination with this work as evidenced by this year's blockbuster Silence of the Lambs. Now Lifetime has come up with its own brand of profile thriller. In The Killing Mind, debuting Tuesday, April 23, Stephanie Zimbalist plays a police sergeant in the dogged pursuit of a killer.

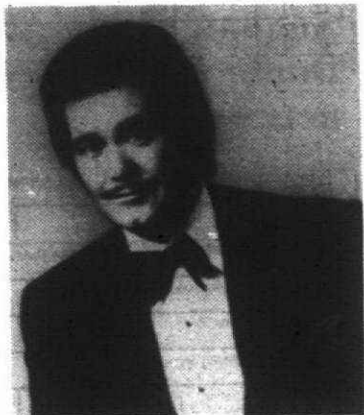

Three women gang up on a man who they discover has betrayed them all in Ring of Scorpio, a two-part miniseries airing on the USA Network. Jack Scalia and Catherine Oxenberg co-star Wednesday and Thursday, April 24 and 25.

Live sports action this week includes: The Mets vs. Montreal Sunday on ESPN and WJAF action on USA Monday, as the Sacramento Surge face the New York Knights.

Wayne Newton hit the jackpot with Las Vegas performing deal

By Polly Vonetes

Q: This is the second time I've written. Could you please give me some information on Wayne Newton? Do you have an address where I might write to him? I have been a fan of his for many years. —S.P. Thomson, Ash Flat, Ark.

Wayne Newton

A: Wayne Newton was born in Norfolk, Va., on April 3, 1942. He started taking music lessons when he was 6, and by the time he was 16 he had become a regular on the Jackie Gleason, Jack Benny and Ed Sullivan television shows. His first hit single, "Danke Schön," produced by his good friend Bobby Darin, made him a household name. Subsequent million-sellers included "Red Roses for a Blue Lady," "Summer Wind," "Dreams of the Everyday Housewife" and "Daddy Don't You Walk So Fast." Ultimately he snagged the biggest performing contract in Las Vegas history, where he earns approximately $10 million or more annually. His marriage in 1968 to Elaine Okamura, an airline stewardess, produced his daughter Erin in 1977. The couple was divorced in 1985. He spends his leisure time breeding Arabian horses, flying his jet helicopter and performing for a variety of charities. Write to him at: 6000 S. Eastern Ave., Ste. 7B, Las Vegas, NV 89119.

BITS AND PIECES

Jerry Lewis teams up with actors Faye Dunaway, Johnny Depp in film

Jerry Lewis

Comedian Jerry Lewis is on location in the Arizona desert, working on his latest film. The film, Arrow-Tooth Waltz, also stars Faye Dunaway and Johnny Depp. Lewis has appeared in 53 films since making his movie debut in My Friend Irma with Dean Martin 42 years ago.

In some ways the "Indian War" is still being fought. Tom Mauchachty-Ware, an Indian dance champion and musician, was hired to provide the authentic melody played throughout the ABC miniseries Son of the Morning Star. Mauchachty-Ware claims he composed 26 original pieces, which he played on the Indian flute, for a minimal sum, hoping to gain recognition. But when the film aired and the credits rolled, Ware's name was not listed anywhere. An entertainment attorney hired by Mauchachty-Ware's manager is looking into the matter.

Production has begun in Austin, Texas, on a film starring Dolly Parton and Ray Benson, singer and leader of the Grammy-winning country western band Asleep at the Wheel. The NBC World Premiere movie, as yet untitled, is about a singer whose chance at stardom is smashed when she is suspected of murdering her abusive lover.

Steven Williams stars in Disney Presents the 100 Lives of Black Jack Savage, Fridays on NBC.
