Police in spotlight

Bike registrations and crime prevention literature will be featured at a public safety display set up behind township hall both weekends of the Canton Challenge Fest, May 25, May 26, June 1 and June 2.

Bike registrations are $1 and will be available 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both Saturdays and noon to 5 p.m. both Sundays.

Literature about crime prevention, neighborhood watch programs and bike safety also will be available, said Pat Nemecek, police information officer.

Police cars, a fire safety house and police motorcycles will be on hand.

There also will be a display on house locks that are considered the most effective, Nemecek said.

Rouge rescue

The sixth annual Rouge Rescue, sponsored by Friends of the Rouge, is Saturday, June 1, behind the UAW Local 990, Michigan Avenue west of Newburgh in the city of Wayne.

Canton residents have been active in the program for five years. This year the location is in Wayne because Canton sites are relatively free of debris, Canton officials said.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. Volunteers 18 years old and younger must have written permission from a parent or guardian or must be accompanied by an adult. Anyone 13 and younger must be accompanied by an adult.

Participants should dress in long pants, long sleeves and sturdy shoes. Work gloves and mosquito repellent will be provided.

Workers will be supervised by Canton Department of Public Works employees. Volunteers will not be allowed to enter the water. A nurse will be available to treat minor injuries.

McDonald's, Dunkin' Donuts, Dawn Donuts and Meijer will provide refreshments.

To register before June 1, call 387-5417, or stop by Canton Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

Foundation scholarships

Seven Canton residents have been awarded grants from the Canton Community Foundation. A scholarship committee chose the recipients from a field of 37 applicants.

A $500 Charles W. Heidt Music Award was given to Jennifer E. Lesar and a $500 Chamber of Commerce/Business Award went to Craig Rice.

Holly Anderson, Christine Ford and Wesley Charles Shasko were awarded traditional college grants of $1,000 each; a $500 Mel Morris non-traditional grant was given to Karina K. Kidman and a $500 Mel Morris College grant was awarded to Cheryl Montgomery.

"We looked at a variety of things, scholastic effort, community involvement and need," said Cindy Burgess, who served on the foundation education committee.

"They were all good kids. It was really hard to make a decision."

The selection committee also included Gloria Banks, Tom Taitan, Susan Koptinski, Joe Van Esley, Keith Schut and Mike Gaubatz.

The recipients will be recognized at a reception 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 28, at Village Green Clubhouse that is open to the public.

Farewell greeting

First grade student Laura Ulmer said goodbye to Dr. William Pearson by offering him a cookie she was given during her birthday celebration. Meghan Moran, also a first grade student, looked on. For a story about Pearson and other school officials who are leaving the district, turn to Page 3A.

Home school preferred by board hopeful

Plymouth-Canton school board candidate Bobbie Cleary says she decided not to send her daughter, who recently turned 6, to Plymouth-Canton schools after researching the educational programs in place in the district.

Cleary's daughter Christine, who's been taught at home, can "understand multiplication, knows how to add and carry," and reads at a fourth grade level.

"I can't put her in a Plymouth-Canton school in a developmental class; she'll just goof around," said Cleary, a chemical engineer and a graduate of the University of Nevada, Reno. "Teachers won't be worried about it because she's so far ahead; at least that's my feeling."

THE DEVELOPMENTAL program emphasizes unstructured, learn-at-your-own-pace education and is in place in elementary grades throughout the district.

"I noticed Dr. (John) Hoben has his formula for student-teacher ratios. In elementary schools it's 23-to-1; in middle schools 22-1; and in high schools 21-1," said Cleary.

"That is way too high for a developmental program, and it will not work. The thing behind developmental education is individualized education. It's a more expensive way to go, and I don't see how they're going to do it right if they're cutting the budget."

Cleary says she knows of parents who think developmental education is wonderful, "but what they're talking about is all theoretical. They've been taught that it's wonderful. But they haven't used it or seen the results," she said.

Hoben testifies before Congress

Excerpts from Superintendent John Hoben's testimony, 3A

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Had you visited Capitol Hill Thursday, you would have seen not only the Queen of England addressing Congress, but Plymouth-Canton Supt. John Hoben as well.

Testifying before the House Labor, Health and Human Services, Education subcommittee, Hoben spoke of the need to introduce high technology into the classroom, and explained why Plymouth-Canton would make an excellent national demonstration site. He requested $20 million to $24 million of the subcommittee's $57 billion in discretionary funding to convert Plymouth-Canton's K-12 facilities to "classrooms of the future."

"An era of unsurpassed hands-on education is within our grasp if we will but reach for it," said Hoben, explaining how teleconferencing, computers, satellites, fiber optics, video and other innovations can give teachers and students instantaneous access to information all over the world.

Hoben addressed U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth — now the ranking minority member of the Labor, Health and Human Services, Education subcommittee — as well as Appropriations Committee members from Kentucky, Ohio and Minnesota. Hoben also met with chief assistants from the U.S. Secretary of Education's office to review his proposal and federal grant programs.

"There's no way to judge how it went," said Hoben by phone from Washington. "I think we got our message through to them. Hopefully, that will be helpful in some way. Congressman Pursell did an outstanding job of helping us get the door open."

"The members were very courteous and receptive. They have a massive job listening to many people from all over the country," added Hoben, who was preceded in the hearing by former First Lady Rosalynn Carter. Carter testified on the need for funding for mental health research.

Local doctor faces charges of sexually abusing his kids

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A 40-year-old Canton resident and practicing urologist in Dearborn faces 19 counts of criminal sexual conduct involving three of his children during 1989 and 1990.

He faces a preliminary examination at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday before Judge John MacDonald in 35th District Court.

A PLEA of not guilty was entered during his arraignment in January 1990 before MacDonald. The case was returned to district court from Wayne County Circuit Court after the doctor's attorney raised questions about some of the charges.

The doctor has been free on a $10,000 cash bond with the restriction that no contact would be made with the family, according to Canton police.

"We're not just talking about the presumption of innocence," said Tom Howard, the doctor's attorney.

"He states unequivocally he has done nothing wrong," Howard said. "He is not guilty of those charges. He has said: 'I have not done anything wrong.'"

THE DOCTOR'S children, at the time of the alleged attack, were: a 7-year-old girl, a 5-year-old girl and a 4-year-old boy.

The suspect's name is being withheld to protect the identity of the children.

The children are living with their mother in a community other than Canton, said Mary Diehl, assistant prosecuting attorney director of the child abuse unit.

Survey shows lots of empty storefronts

"By mid-summer we hope to have two-thirds of the area filled up," he said, adding that regional and national retailers have shown interest in the mall.

"The market is picking up," he said. "There're definite signs of strength in Canton."

Canton commercial space breaks down as follows:

- Ford Road is the largest commercial area with 702,275 square feet. Of that, 12.2 percent, or 85,850 square feet, is empty.
- Joy Road has 220,481 square feet of commercial area, and of that, 21 percent, or 46,320 square feet, is empty.
- Canton Center Road has 48,910 square feet of commercial space, 38 percent, or 17,125 square feet, is available.

Michigan Avenue has 16,950 square feet of commercial space and 37 percent, or 6,300 square feet, is available.

In other areas of the township, there are 104,150 square feet of commercial space. Of that, 23 percent, or 23,165 square feet, is available.

Costs in commercial centers average $8.88 per square foot, with a maximum cost of $13 per square foot and a minimum cost of $6 per square foot, according to the survey.

THE FORD Road and Canton Center Road areas are similar in price, the report said. Commercial space in the Joy Road and Michigan Avenue areas are comparable in cost, but lower than the Ford and Canton Center area.

Supervisor Tom Yack said Canton has too much commercial space.

Hoben makes pitch for technology

the department might fund Plymouth-Canton is difficult to predict. Frequently, grants go to districts with large numbers of disadvantaged students, Pursell said.

A plus for Plymouth-Canton is the fact that the high-technology educational package outlined by Hoben is the most comprehensive ever presented to Congress, said Pursell. "I'd say Plymouth-Canton can probably get some demonstration funding. We're certainly going to work toward that goal."

The decision will be based on "the merits of the programs proposed. It's a very professional review process, which is the way it should be. It shouldn't be based on personalities in Congress," said Pursell.

Pursell says he won't be a point man for the plan or usurp the district's staff and parents.

But he's told U.S. Secretary of Education Lamar Alexander that "it's going to be a gutsy fight, because these ideas aren't going to go down," Pursell said. "If we want our students to be up to speed, we have to give them the best information possible."

Democrats will continue to push for funding for costly, traditional programs, "but I think some of it needs to be moved around," he said.

Board hopeful schools daughter at home

Plymouth-Canton's "whole language approach" to reading also concerns Cleary. "The whole language approach is based on memorizing words, not sounding them out," she said.

"It also says you read for meaning; you don't learn to read just to read. You're taught different kinds of clues to guess what words are. You're not taught how to accurately decode English."

CLEARY SAYS she has friends whose children attend school in Livonia where such teaching methods have been used for several years.

"It took them years to figure out their kids really didn't know how to read," she said. "Some do fine, but I know friends who've wondered why their kids are staring at words."

Cleary said she's broken no law by keeping her daughter home. "She just turned 6 and by law I don't have to send her until this fall."

Cases pending in Michigan courts have clouded issues surrounding the legality of home schooling, she added.

Cleary doesn't know yet whether she'll continue home schooling or send her child to Plymouth Christian Academy, New Morning School or elsewhere.

High grades District praises departing staffers

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

September will bring a brain drain to the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools as three staffers begin retirement and a fourth accepts a new position.

Shirley Spaniel, executive director of elementary education, is retiring after a career in education that spans 22 years.

Beverly Marshall, principal of Bird Elementary, is retiring after 23 years, and Dallas Goss, a science teacher at Plymouth Canton High School, is stepping down after 32 years.

William Pearson, principal at Hoben Elementary, is leaving to become assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction in the South Lyon school district.

SUPERINTENDENT John Hoben and board of education members lamented the losses at Monday's board meeting. "This is going to be quite a drain on talent for us," said Hoben. "All have outstanding talent and will be sorely missed."

Hoben said Spaniel's retirement will be especially tough on the district.

"She is well thought of in terms of state associations, particularly the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, and has held numerous offices in that organization."

"She's made a significant contribution in her tenure in the district, as director of language arts reading and writing, principal of Miller School, and in her current position. The contributions Mrs. Spaniel has made are invaluable and she will be greatly missed. We wish her well in her retirement."

SPANIEL SAID the decision to retire was "a hard one to make. I kind of vacillated." Spaniel said she plans to visit family, travel and possibly do some consulting.

Marshall was lobster Elementary's first principal, and also worked as Tanger Elementary School principal. She spent several years on special assignment directing the district's instructional supervision program.

"Dr. Marshall has done an outstanding job in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, and has been actively involved in ASCD and other statewide organizations," Hoben said. "Her contribution to the district has been outstanding, and she will also be greatly missed."

Marshall said she is "very, very sad to leave the district. I have very mixed emotions." Marshall plans to travel abroad for the first time, spend time with friends and on the golf course, "and eventually get involved in volunteer work and probably consulting."

TRUSTEE Carl Battishill, who taught in the Plymouth-Canton schools, said he worked with Goss and found his "enthusiasm for science was contagious; it was very much recognized around the building. Dallas would jump up on the table to explain something if need be," he said. "We are going to miss one terrific science teacher."

Goss, like the others, leaves his job with mixed emotions. "I love it, and I'll miss it," he said in a letter to the superintendent, "but I'll especially miss those, like you, with whom I've worked these many years."

Hoben called Pearson "a motivated practitioner" who has done an outstanding job in teacher training and in the administration of a new school.

"I know he will be successful in his endeavor, and we wish him well as subscribers, and a region."

Pearson said he leaves with "very good memories of the students that I taught at Pioneer Middle School and Erikson Elementary."

"I'VE HAD the opportunity to work with many quality profeseducators and some very supportive parents throughout the years" at both East Middle School as assistant principal and Hoben Elementary as principal.

"I've been really fortunate to work in Plymouth-Canton schools; it's prepared me for this next endeavor in South Lyon," he said. "I'll be working real closely with Public Act 25 on school improvement planning and instructional strategies for the benefit of students. It's a very good opportunity and I'm looking very much forward to working in that school district."

Along with the departures comes a new arrival, that of Roy Anderson as the district's chief of security. Anderson replaces Jim Collins, who accepted a job in industry.

Anderson, who is retiring from the Michigan State Police, wasted no time getting started. He's on the committee organizing the seniors' upcoming all-night graduation party.

Above: Beverly Marshall, principal at Bird Elementary, says leaving is "very, very sad." At left: Shirley Spaniel, executive director for elementary education, says the decision to retire was a hard one.

Hoben makes his pitch

Here are excerpts from Superintendent John Hoben's testimony, presented Thursday to the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Labor, Health and Human Services, Education:

"Plymouth-Canton, the ninth-largest school district in Michigan, has been on the cutting edge of innovation for years. We have the only school district to have a secondary educational park with two high schools housing nearly 5,000 students on the same site. This was planned to keep from de facto segregations and to share expensive facilities with the consequent saving from economies of scale.

"We are an outcome-based school system. We believe and demonstrate that all students can learn and succeed." One Plymouth-Canton program provides a "contract between student and teacher which proposes that each student will master at least 75 percent of the course content, or will keep working until that minimum or better is achieved. This provides students with a second or third chance to achieve mastery of the subject matter. The results have been phenomenal. Not only have most students achieved well above what they thought possible, they have also developed enhanced self-esteem as a result of their success."

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools "warrant our diploma, guaranteeing that our graduates will have skills in reading, writing, language arts, computational skills and computer literacy. If an employer finds these skills lacking, we will provide additional training for the student at the point where teachers 'WE ARE LIVING in a time when mankind's body of knowledge is said to be doubling every 30 months. We have now passed the point when a teacher knows everything there is to know about a given subject. We have arrived at the point where teachers must be coaches, no longer the fountain of all information which stands in front of a class and pours forth that information on the assembled students."

In addition to a strong basic education, "we need to provide our students with the tools to access and use information by making certain they have reference skills, critical thinking skills and problem solving abilities."

"Large parts of this education can best be accomplished through the use of integrated technology. Moving from the agrarian age to the information age in education is an innovation of monumental proportions. To do this, I believe there are five imperatives we need to consider."

• Vision: "Without vision, education will neither flourish nor perform at an acceptable level. My personal vision is to have the current body of world knowledge electronically and instantaneously available to students everywhere in our nation. This means not only students in Plymouth-Canton, but also students in Paducah, Ky. and Presque Isle, Maine."

"The vision for technology must integrate educational goals, human resources and technology." Technology can work to solve such problems as teacher shortages in specific subjects, customized instruction, improved curriculum quality and increased productivity for both teacher and student.

• Technology recognition: "We need to recognize that there is now technology on the shelf which is capable of providing the services toward which our vision points."

"We have technology to, in essence, move the media center directly to the classroom. This technology will permit the teacher at the point of instruction to coordinate and control material from a videocassette recorder, floppy discs, films, slides, filmstrips, teleconferencing and technologies yet to be developed."

"Terminating in every classroom will give instructors control of a wealth of video, audio and data resources available at the touch of buttons. This can be done with the ease of operating a standard remote control key pad device. Schools and their students can interact with each other, with universities, state government departments, and business and industry. There are also a number of networks already in place and presently delivering programs and materials."

"Examples of such networks include the GMI Network which is available by satellite, the TI-IN Network which uses scrambled satellite signals for subscribers, and a region-wide network in Michigan called Community Television Network, which uses microwaves as its transportation vehicle. Michigan's M-Star Network is another example of a source which currently provides programming to schools throughout the state."

"While these networks are normally in one direction, with the addition of a phone or video feedback link they can become bi-directional and thereby provide total interactive communication."

"Such distance learning may be one of the most valuable resources which integrated technology can provide."

• Current technology, in the form of fiber optics, permits us to overcome some of the bandwidth limitations of wire and to send far larger quantities of material over a cable the same size as a wire cable used in the past."

• Teacher education: "When a teacher closes the door of a classroom, the teacher determines the level of technology use. In addition to simplifying the technology as much as possible, teacher training must accompany the introduction of integrated technology in order for the technology to have maximum utilization."

• Demonstration: "Given the state of finance in school districts throughout the nation, few districts can fund the integrated technology proposed. Local districts willing to invest in the future should be aided by grants to enable them to establish such demonstration centers."

After a "lot of soul searching," Dave Artley, vice president of the Plymouth-Canton school district, has decided to postpone his bid for the 36th District state representative seat.

Artley said his commitments to the school and the school district come first. Artley is executive director of Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis of Michigan, Inc.

"I feel a responsibility to the schools," he said. "There are some tasks that aren't done and some loose threads within the school system."

"I'm not there and on the job for some of those clients," he added, "it wouldn't be fair."

Artley said after talking to all the candidates, he'll decide who to support, "and I'll work for that person."

Artley said "I think a year from now, I'm going to run, because I already made that decision. I'm not irreplaceable, but I made some promises I have to fulfill and to run now would be unfair to the people depending on me."

points of view

Business, government are flawed in fairness

IT'S FASHIONABLE to say politicians are dumb and inefficient while business people are smart and efficient. So here are two unfashionable stories to the contrary. State government's budget is $1 billion out of whack, so Gov. John Engler is proposing to zero out arts subsidies, meanwhile freezing arts grants, right? In the case of several suburban symphony orchestras, the damage could reach more than $3,000 a year each. On the program cover for the most recent Livonia Symphony Orchestra concert was a sticker acknowledging a grant from Ford Motor Co. Only days before, Ford and General Motors had announced losses for the quarter — that's three months, not a full year — of $2 billion. As state government stopped its bleeding by reducing its spending, an auto giant maintained its flow. THE OTHER story was told by a West Bloomfield lady who read my account of state Sen. David Bonigman's bill to prohibit local governments from having residency requirements. About one-fourth of local units require employees to live within city, village or township boundaries. Only government, said Bonigman, R-West Bloomfield, would make a rule so obvious and oppressive to personal liberty. Not so, said my caller, who told of a relative working for a paper company in Louisiana. Executives are required to live in a rinky-dink burg where the company is located. They would prefer to live in a nicer town 20 miles away with better schools. Assuming the story is true, it suggests private business can be every bit as obnoxious as government is alleged to be. I HAVE a theory about groups of people. My idea is supported by an insurance claims adjuster friend. He says 85 percent of claimants just want to be made whole; they want their losses covered — no more, no less. Ten percent are shady. Five percent are cheaters. My theory is that 85 percent of any group — rabbis, nuns, fundamentalists, gringos, Orientals, blacks, plumbers, surgeons, bureaucrats — want to do an honest day's work for an honest day's wage, pay their fair share of taxes and live in peace. Ten percent are lazy or cut corners. Five percent are crooks. Our figures match. Neither business nor government has any monopoly on brains, fairness and efficiency. DID ANY of you receive the same mail solicitation I did from the Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts? Very slick. A lofty and noble case for one of the nation's great collections of painting and craftsmanship. But an interesting fact was omitted: DIA is the property of the city of Detroit. DIA is the responsibility of the city of Detroit. Any dollar you give for operations simply subsidizes the city of Detroit, which is free to use money like the commuter income tax elsewhere. Go ahead and write a check, but understand you're just subsidizing Detroit city government. We have a "truth in taxation" law for local government. We ought to have a truth in advertising law for civic-spirited souls in the Founders Society. SUZIE HEINTZ, in her new job as head of Gov. Engler's Detroit office, tells the story of an elderly man who came to see her with the offer of some stationery. Five boxes worth. "It's generic stationery — for the office of the lieutenant governor," he said. The stationery bears the lieutenant governor's title but no name. The donor was Hicks Griffiths, husband of former Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths. "We want Connie Binsfeld to have it," he said. "We like Connie."

Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events.

Sexist expressions show us conventional wisdoms

THERE ARE CERTAIN expressions that are slipping out of our vocabulary because they are sexist. For some, it's good riddance, but when it comes to others, we've tried to toss out some conventional wisdom that has been passed down to us. One of my favorites is "take it like a man." It says something. It reminds you to be stoic, uncomplaining and able to withstand some pain. It's just one of those expressions killed by the feminists because it can't be updated. "Take it like a person or take it like a woman" just don't work, for reasons known to many. But because schools and parents are substituting new, warm and fuzzy language for the old standbys, we're raising a generation of winners who say things that should be left unsaid, or who talk in that everything-is-wonderful language that nobody understands. Kids have swallowed so much of this talk that they don't even know how to have good gang fights anymore in the suburbs. ONE FRIEND of mine who coaches soccer says the kids have been so brainwashed by the "be nice and cooperate" language that they won't mix it up on the soccer field. They're afraid to take the ball away from the other kid because then they wouldn't be cooperating. I wasn't surprised by his woes. Let's face it, soccer is a fall game for wimps who don't have the guts to play football. It's a nice activity, but it really isn't a sport in America even though the soccer crowd keeps trying to push it. It's just too European. It's a bunch of guys running around in short pants and long socks kicking a ball. These days, henpecked has been transformed by the magic of politically correct-speak into "supportive husband." The wimpy, henpecked husband of the 1950s has been turned into the perfect man, er person, of the '90s. And all this happened because we didn't know how to take things like men. Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers.

It's just the sort of crowd you'd expect to "cooperate." They don't know how to take it like a man and play football. When you lose an expression from the language, you lose an idea, a tradition, a mode of behavior that helped carry our forefathers through the tough times. In the old days, when there was a death, you lost the farm or a war started, you were stoic about things. You took a bottle of whiskey out to the back 40 and howled at the moon for an evening. You took it like a man. THESE DAYS people join support groups that meet in church basements and drink coffee out of paper cups. There they talk about the pain of whatever they're experiencing. That's taking it like a woman. And while they call them support groups, they're basically nothing more than an updated version of a sewing circle or a ladies aid society. That was pretty apparent when a group of homosexuals got together and made a quilt with the names of AIDS victims on it. They should have taken their affliction like men, instead they took it like little old ladies in a sewing circle. Another word that's gone the way of the cigar is henpecked. It used to be applied to men who didn't stand up for themselves with their wives. When I think of henpecked, I think of the father in the movie "Rebel Without a Cause." There he was in a apron picking up stuff that had fallen on the floor. These days, henpecked has been transformed by the magic of politically correct-speak into "supportive husband." The wimpy, henpecked husband of the 1950s has been turned into the perfect man, er person, of the '90s. And all this happened because we didn't know how to take things like men. from our readers

Parenthood is learned

A letter in response to Jeff Counts' "Points of View" article titled "Dinners, child-care don't mix with men" in the May 6 Redford Observer Newspaper. I had to read your article twice. Once because I couldn't believe what I was reading. And a second time to give you the benefit of the doubt, and see if you were being sarcastic and funny. My husband even did the same. And the conclusions were identical. We couldn't believe it but we think you really meant what you wrote. And we were appalled. I feel sorry for your wife. Bonding is not a scam word and men who care for their children are proud. But it's not because they don't want to look stupid. Motherhood and fatherhood is a learned process. It may be stereotypically the woman who changes the diapers, but not all men are afraid to hold, diaper, burp, feed and care for a baby/child. For men and women these skills are learned. I found your list of "screw ups" disgusting. It's too bad you live in the dark ages. My wife is smart enough to counteract any bad influence you have over them so they don't grow up and marry and become a naive father like their own. In case you haven't noticed, in this day and age, the fact is that diapers, child-care do mix with men! Thank goodness for caring men, unlike yourself. More Rouge money

Federal grant will benefit area cities

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

The key numbers for Friends of the Rouge are 3,000 and $46 million. The volunteer agency is shooting for 3,000 participants at the sixth annual Rouge Rescue on Saturday, June 1.

Long range efforts to clean the heavily-polluted river were given a boost with announcement of an additional $46 million in federal money to continue Rouge cleanup efforts. The new federal allocation is expected to go into effect Oct. 1. It is expected to substantially improve Rouge water quality in Livonia, Westland, Plymouth, Canton, Redford and other communities in the Rouge River basin. The federal money was approved by a U.S. House Appropriations subcommittee. Though full committee and House votes are pending, Congressional staff members said approval was almost certain.

The money will go toward new sewers, improving waste water treatment plants and eliminating outmoded combined sewers. Combined sewers — a chief source of Rouge pollution — dump human waste into the river when heavy storms force other sewers to overflow.

It will also be used to finance investigations into commercial and industrial river pollution, as well as illegal sewer connections.

"ESSENTIALLY, this makes us a test project," James Murray, Wayne County Public Works Division director, said. "We hope to be a role model for other communities throughout the nation."

'Essentially, this makes us a test project. We hope to be a role model for other communities throughout the nation.'

— James Murray

The overall Rouge cleanup involves coordinated efforts of local communities and federal agencies, including the Environmental Protection Agency and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

"What's nice is how everyone's all come together on this," Murray said. An estimated $156 million in federal money has already gone toward Rouge projects.

The $46 million in additional federal money is tied in with money for cleanup of Boston Harbor and the Rio Grande in southern Texas, broadening its appeal in Congress.

Area Congressmen William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, have all announced support for Rouge projects.

Announcement of the new federal money was a highlight of the Rouge Rescue kickoff event held Friday at the Henry Ford Estate, Dearborn.

"It's definitely good news," Larry Coogan, Friends of the Rouge director, said. "It's going to go a long way toward helping with the CSOs (combined sewer overflows)."

At the same time, Friends of the Rouge members are promoting the annual June cleanup throughout many area communities.

"THINGS ARE hopping right along," Canton site coordinator Kim Scherschligt said.

With a goal of 3,000 volunteers, Friends of the Rouge seeks to make the 1991 Rouge Rescue its biggest ever.

Volunteers clear log jams and carry other debris from river banks to trash bins placed near the site. Items commonly pulled from the river include bicycles, large appliances and even an automobile or two.

Volunteers are encouraged to avoid direct contact with the river and to wear long sleeve shirts, long pants and boots for additional protection.

Information on Rouge Rescue sites in Canton, Livonia, Plymouth and Westland is available by calling Friends of the Rouge, 427-1234.

Aid to schools, municipalities will be delayed

State payments to local governments, schools and community colleges will be delayed, State Treasurer Douglas B. Roberts said.

He blamed the "deteriorating cash position of the state operating funds."

Kindergarten through 12th grade school aid payments of $343.9 million due June 3 will be paid 50 percent on June 3 and 50 percent on June 24. Community colleges will get half of their June payments on July 15.

"Because of the recent Court of Appeals decision on the single business tax (SBT) which reduced business taxes by $500 million and the fact that the Legislature has not taken action to rectify the statutory problem caused by that decision, the April 30 SBT estimated payments were $100 million less than expected," Roberts said.

Although the state borrowed $500 million in March, the projected cash deficit in the general and school aid funds would peak in early June without implementing the payment delays. "There is simply not enough money in the other usable funds to manage without delaying payments," Roberts said.

BATHING & ARTHRITIS

If you have arthritis, you may be unable to use a tub for bathing because of the difficulty of stepping in and out of the tub. In using a shower, keep in mind the following features. Even if your grip is impaired, you should have a shower head you can hold by hand. Then you can direct the water between the thighs and to the posterior thigh despite limits in your body movements.

If possible, have a walk-in shower; this type is easier to enter and exit than the tub-shower combination. Place a rubber mat on the shower floor and a bathchair in the shower itself to permit bathing in a seated position.

You should position 3 or more grip bars in the shower-bathroom area. The bars should be installed with you present so their placement will match the way you enter and exit the shower.

Use liquid soap. A bar is difficult to hold, and if it slips from your hand, the soap is a hazard for your step. Bending to retrieve the soap may bring on additional risks. In contrast, liquid soap comes in a plastic bottle that is easy to grasp or pick up and not a danger if on the shower floor.

If possible have someone nearby when you shower. Then you can call for assistance if despite the above precautions, you slip or fall.

No way to avoid crying

It was once said, "The only way to chop an onion is to give it to someone else."

Even with today's food processors, chopping an onion is still a teary-eyed job, especially when removing the lid of the processor after the chop. Short of having a chef-in-residence to do your cooking, one sure way to beat the tears of an onion chop is to always use the sharpest knife you can find.

Seems that when an onion is chopped by a dull knife, the onion juice is squished out of the onion more abundantly than through normal slicing. When the onion juice hits the air, it turns into obnoxious fumes that surely begin the old watering of the eyes.

I have heard rumors about being able to chop onions without tears. That's just what they are, rumors. The old adage about peeling the onion and leaving the skin intact with the roots, to prevent tears, isn't true.

Then there's the one about putting a toothpick in your mouth sideways so that the only pain you feel is in your cheeks. This is supposed to help you forget about the onion odor. It doesn't work. (As I write this, sucking ice cubes trying to stop the bleeding from using too long a toothpick.)

UNFORTUNATELY, for the weak of eye, this indispensable vegetable and flavoring agent is plentiful throughout the year. Generally speaking, the warmer the climate, the milder the onion. I can vouch for that because on a past trip to Georgia, the Vidalia capitol of North America, I peeled an onion and ate it like an apple. Grant you, it wasn't the tastiest morsel I've ever eaten, but for an onion it was surprisingly sweet and full flavored.

Onions come in two varieties, mainly dry (with the green tops removed) and green (with the tops still on and perishable).

When shopping for onions in the grocery store, you will notice various dry varieties. Seldom do fresh Vidalia onions appear in this area, but during harvesting, about the late spring and early summer months, they occasionally make their way to our local produce shelves.

They can be served raw on sandwiches and tossed into salads. They are outstanding baked and stuffed. Ditto for Bermuda onions, again found only during the spring and early summer months. Both varieties have a delicate flavor that is not overpowering and can accompany just about anything it is served with.

Frequently spotted on our grocery shelves are Spanish or Valencia Onions. Theirs is a long season, from August through April. They are noted for their full flavor, especially in soups, stews and casseroles and when served with roasts. The "just-about-do-anything onion" — this is it.

RED ITALIAN or Creole onions are stronger yet than the Bermuda or Spanish with a flavorful pungent flavor that invigorates many sandwiches and gutsy salad bowls. Also known as purple onions, these lend themselves to baking or just served thinly sliced on a sandwich or salad.

White or pearl onions are oval with pointed ends and flaky white to silver skin. The smallest pearls, so delectable in stews, are usually reserved for pickling and being served in martinis. The large variety, called voiling onions, are great in juicy casseroles, ragouts and fricasses.

Did you ever stop to realize that something so basic crosses paths in our kitchens so often and yet offers so many different flavors? Onions are great sliced, chopped, minced, fried, stewed, baked, broiled and even served on White Castles!

NOW THAT warm days are here, like many of you I enjoy being outside as much as possible.

However, during the work week that can be a little difficult. With assignments to finish and piles of files on desks to sort through, it just seems like there is never any time to enjoy the weather. A solution to this problem is to brown bag it to work.

Lunchtime is the perfect opportunity to head out for a quiet shady spot to relax and clear your mind. Just grab your lunch and head outdoors. Some office buildings provide picnic tables for workers and now is the time to take advantage of them.

Relax with your lunch in the park at the end of the street or wile away your lunch hour at a nearby pond and take extra bread to feed your feathered friends. No matter what the location, a bag lunch is an enjoyable way to take in what pleasures a warm-weather weekday has to offer.

The recipes in this article are versatile and easy to make. If you have the grill fired up for a backyard barbecue, try the Grilled Vegetable Salad the next day. Or if you have roast chicken one night, try the Chicken salad or Chicken Tortilla for lunch the next day. Many of the ingredients can be purchased at specialty shops. For instance, the chutney and pate. You also can use your favorite recipe for these items.

Here are 10 brown bag alternatives to add to your lunchtime enjoyment. All the recipes serve one unless otherwise stated.

A different kind of Salami Sandwich: Partly split open pita and line bread with 2 romaine lettuce leaves. Add thinly sliced salami, sliced tomato and red onion. Sprinkle one teaspoon of chopped black olives and crumbled feta into pita. Mix in a separate bowl ¼ cup olive oil, 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar, 1 medium garlic clove minced and 1 tablespoon minced basil. Add a desired amount of this vinaigrette to your sandwich when you are about to eat.

Lavosh Club: Place 1 lavosh (a large flour tortilla can replace this Armenian flat bread) on a surface. Spread softened cream cheese over bread. Arrange shredded lettuce over cream cheese at one end of bread. Top lettuce with desired amount of turkey, ham, sliced tomato and 1 slice of peeled cucumber cut lengthwise. Roll bread up tightly jelly roll fashion, starting at end with the filling. Cut roll in half diagonally and wrap tightly in plastic wrap.

Peanut butter with a twist: On a slice of zucchini bread spread a desired amount of peanut butter and top with another slice of the bread. (Any type of quick bread such as carrot or pumpkin may be used to add a unique flavor.)

Country Pate Sandwich: Slice a crusty whole grain roll lengthwise. Spread Dijon mustard or 1 tablespoon of chutney on one half of roll. Layer roll with a slice of your favorite country pate, thinly sliced red onion and a romaine leaf. Top sandwich with the other half of roll. Sweet midget gherkins are a great accompaniment for this sandwich.

Smoked Salmon Sandwich: Lightly toast a croissant that has been cut in half lengthwise. Spread each half with a garlic herbed cream cheese, such as Alouette cheese, and wrap tightly. Carry separately 2 slices of smoked salmon, 1 slice of red onion and a sliced hard-boiled egg and assemble sandwich just before eating. Olives and sweet midget gherkins go well with this sandwich.

Ham and Biscuit Sandwich: Slice a large biscuit lengthwise and layer a desired amount of thin sliced ham atop one half of biscuit. Top with thinly sliced cheddar cheese. Spread on top of the other half of biscuit a desired amount of fruited chutney and place on top of cheese.

Chicken Tortilla Sandwich: Process 1 cup cilantro, 2 cloves garlic, ¼ cup walnuts in a food processor. Add to running machine ½ cup olive oil in a thin stream. Blend ½ cup Parmesan cheese and salt to taste in mixture. Take 1 ½ tablespoons of pesto mixture and spread on top of 1 flour tortilla. Top with shredded lettuce, carrot, shredded cooked chicken, chopped scallion and chopped tomato. Roll in burrito fashion. Wrap in plastic wrap until ready to eat.

Grilled Vegetable Salad: Whisk in a small bowl ¼ cup olive oil, ½ cup plus 2 teaspoons white wine vinegar, 2 teaspoons dried basil and salt and pepper to taste. Set aside. Slice ½ red pepper, 2 small yellow squash, 3 zucchini and 2 baby elephant lengthwise. Brush with olive oil and grill until tender. Julienne cooked vegetables and place in bowl. Chop ½ small red onion and toss with vegetables. Drizzle vinaigrette over top. Marinate overnight. Serves 2.

Everybody loves pita bread, not just Middle Easterners

By Ariene Funke

Ten years ago, the Beirut Bakery served mostly Middle Eastern customers who grew up savoring the versatile pita bread.

"It wasn't as popular as it is now," said Iskandar "Alex" Wakim, one of the owners of the family-run bakery based in Redford.

Nowadays, people of all backgrounds enjoy the round, slightly chewy pita, which sometimes is called "pocket bread." Pita may be eaten plain, used as a food scooper or sliced open to form a pouch or pocket, then stuffed with meat or salad.

"As people became educated, the business expanded," said Wakim, who was born in Lebanon.

A visit to the bakery on Schoolcraft Road just east of Beech-Daly can mean a crash course in Middle Eastern and Mediterranean specialties.

There are stacks of the popular pita, so prevalent in Lebanese and Syrian cuisines. There are stuffed grape leaves and tangy tabbouleh, a salad which mixes bulgur cracked wheat, parsley, tomatoes and onions in a dressing of olive oil and lemon juice.

ALSO SOLD is the so-called Lebanese pizza, dough topped with ground lamb, onions, tomatoes and spices. And trays of the sweet, honey-and-nuts confection known as baklava.

The specialties are prepared fresh by members of the Wakim family, who emigrated from Beirut during the 1970s and came to Redford. Although they were trained for other jobs, they decided to open a bakery, "to keep everybody busy," said Iskandar's wife Hala.

"When we started the business nobody knew about bread," Hala Wakim said. "It took a lot of experimenting. This is a family business. It keeps us together."

The bakery opened in 1979 at Schoolcraft and Inkster roads. It moved to its present, larger facility around 1983.

Although Beirut Bakery's breads are available in many supermarkets, "Many people prefer to come here to buy it," Hala Wakim said.

One new customer came in just days after tasting pita for the first time.

"I was on a flight," he said, picking up several packages of bread. "The airline served us a sandwich on pita. It was good."

Pita is made with flour, water, yeast, salt and sugar. It contains no fats or preservatives.

The pocket is formed by steam which is generated during the baking.

The dough is shaped and rounded by machine. It is baked quickly, at very high heat, in a conveyor oven. The dough puffs into a ball. When it cools, the dough collapses, leaving a hollow center.

"IT COMES OUT puffed like a football," said Iskandar Wakim, formerly of Redford, now living in Northville. "The dough weakens in the middle. You cut it along the middle and it will open into a pocket."

Each pita is called a loaf. A large loaf, at 2 ¼ ounces, contains 185 calories. Party pita is somewhat smaller.

Pita is sold in packages of 10 loaves. A 1-pound, 9-ounce package sells for 85 cents in the bakery. Supermarket prices range from around $1 to $1.50 per package. Pita freezes well for six months.

Beirut Bakery is at 25706 Schoolcraft, just east of Beech-Daly, Redford, phone 533-4422. Open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday-Friday, and 8-3, Saturday.

How to pack a brown bag lunch

See related story, Page 1B.

By Jennifer L. Hill special writer

What goes into the making of a bag lunch? Anything and everything is the answer. A bag lunch is a picnic for one. This picnic isn't enjoyed high atop a mountain or deep in a valley near a stream but rather in a park around the corner or perhaps just at your desk in the office. Anywhere you have your bag lunch the same parts can be included, a main dish as the focal point and an assortment of side dishes comprised of items ranging from fruits and vegetables to cheeses and desserts.

Here are a few suggestions for side dishes in your bag lunch. • A thermos of cold soup, fruit or vegetable, is a delightful and refreshing alternative as a side dish. Lunch does not have to be a sandwich or a salad. Soups make a wonderful focal point for a bag lunch. Have you ever thought of cool, refreshing cherry soup when Michigan cherries are in season?

• Pack your bag with all that the season has to offer. Fruits and vegetables are common bag lunch fare but a little added enhancement makes them all the more interesting. • Celery sticks stuffed with cream cheese and peanut butter or fresh cut vegetable sticks and your favorite dip add crunch to any meal. • Relish packets made up of such ingredients as marinated roast beef, peppers, dill pickle spears, artichoke hearts and olives will attract a 1990s

- Fresh fruit goes well with either salads or sandwiches. It also can be a perfect ending to your meal.
- Fresh berries can be dipped into confectioners' sugar or a mixture of brown sugar and vanilla yogurt. This will add spice to any produce or conclusion of a lunch.
- Dried fruit, such as apricots, may be dipped in chocolate or dates, and prunes can be stuffed with cream cheese or nuts for your lunch.
- Take a trip to your neighborhood bakery to see what they have to offer. Bakeries and pastry shops have many wonderful items that pack perfectly in a bag lunch.
- Breads, such as croissants, baguettes and brioche, found in bakeries add a special touch to salads. These breads also are perfect if you plan to take cheeses with you.
- Pastries and baked goods are worth the temptation. Cookies, sliced cake, tarts and eclairs are all great to tote.
- You don't have to depend on bakeries for such treats. You can bake your favorite muffins, cookies or quick breads at home. Try adding your favorite herb to a biscuit mix to make an herb-studded biscuit to accompany a salad.
- Soups are an alternative to your basic biscuit.
- To add crunch to your lunch, try one of the following suggestions: bread sticks, matzo, Norwegian flat bread, pretzels, even bagel chips.
- Chocolates add a special touch to a bag lunch, especially if you are packing it for someone else.
- Let's not forget the beverages! With so many types of beverages to choose from — sparkling waters

Almonds add flavor to quick chicken stir fry

Imagine being a part of a family that has held annual reunions for 86 years, written its own family history book, published one cookbook filled with family recipes and planning to publish a second.

This week's Winner Dinner Winner, Irene Sutter of Farmington, is a member of just such a family, the well-known Troutman family, whose heritage and history as one of North Carolina's founding families goes way back to 1752. The original family members came from Germany and founded a town near Charlotte which they named Troutman.

Sutter grew up in this town, but moved to Farmington when she got married. She and her husband, Elwood, are the parents of three grown children and now have five grandchildren.

Sutter has been a kindergarten teacher for 25 years at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Farmington. Last year, she had the pleasure of having one of her grandchildren in her class. ALTHOUGH SUTTER enjoys cooking, the demands of her job don't leave her with a lot of extra time in the kitchen. As a result, she likes to prepare meals that are quick and easy to put together.

Whether you have your meal on a park bench or under a tree, you want most of all to take an appetite and a relaxed attitude to prepare for the remainder of the work day.

Irene Sutter of Farmington and her grandson, Jacob Sutter, 5, with her Winner Dinner featuring Almond Chicken Stir Fry.

Submit your recipes, to be considered for publication in this column or elsewhere, to: Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3502, Birmingham 48012. All submissions become the property of the publisher. Each week's winner receives an apron with the words Winner Dinner Winner on it.

Recipes

ALMOND CHICKEN STIR FRY
Quick and easy, this dish can be made in advance up to the point where it is stir-fried.

1 pound boneless, skinless chicken breasts
2 egg whites
1 1/2 teaspoon salt, or to taste
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/4 cup cooking oil, reserving 2 tablespoons (if olive oil is used, use only a 1/2 cup, still reserving the 2 tablespoons)
1/4 cup unsalted sliced almonds
4 green onions, cut on the diagonal into 1-inch pieces
4 teaspoons dry sherry or white wine, optional
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1/2 pound fresh snow peas, stems removed, or 1 package frozen snow peas, thawed, 8-ounce size. Regular frozen green peas, thawed, can be used if snow peas are unavailable

Wash the chicken under hot water and pat dry. Cut the meat into 1/2-inch cubes. Mix the egg whites, salt and cornstarch. Add the chicken and toss well so that each piece is well-coated. Refrigerate, covered, for at least 20 to 30 minutes. The dish can be made in advance up to this point.

Heat the oil in a medium, deep-sided saute pan or wok. Add the chicken and quickly stir-fry it. Don't let the pieces stick together. Cook the meat for 3 minutes and use a slotted spoon to remove the chicken to a plate.

Use the reserved 2 tablespoons of oil and pour it into a clean pan or wok set over high heat. Add the sliced almonds and green onions. Stir-fry for 1 minute. Add the sherry, soy sauce and chicken to the pan and stir-fry it for 1 minute. Transfer the mixture to a heated platter and serve with rice.

SAUCY CARROTS WITH WALTER CHESTNUTS
These carrots will add a tasty blaze of color to the dinner plate, and are a wonderful accompaniment to the almond chicken stir fry.

1 pound carrots, peeled and sliced on the bias, 1/4-inch thick
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can water chestnuts, drained and thinly sliced, 8-ounce size
1/4 teaspoon dried thyme, crushed
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
3 tablespoons dry white wine, optional
1 tablespoon snipped, fresh parsley

In a covered saucepan, cook carrots in a small amount of boiling salted water for 15 to 20 minutes or just until crisp-tender. Drain and set the carrots aside.

In the saucepan, melt the butter or margarine; add the water chestnuts, thyme and ginger. Cook and stir for 2 minutes. Add the wine, parsley and cooked carrots. Cook and stir until heated through. Serves 6-8.

RED-TIPPED ROMAINE TOSSED SALAD
1 bunch red-tipped romaine, washed and dried in a towel, torn into bite sized pieces
1/2 cup celery, diced
1/2 cup golden raisins (dark ones can be used instead but the golden are better tasting)
1 can mandarin orange slices, drained, 11-ounce size

Combine the above ingredients and toss with a red wine vinaigrette dressing.

RASPBERRY APPLE DELIGHT
1 cup applesauce
1 package raspberry gelatin, 3-ounce size
1 bag frozen raspberries, 10-ounce size
Cool Whip

Place the applesauce in a pot and heat it until it is just boiling. Add the box of gelatin and stir to mix it well. Remove it from the heat and stir in the frozen raspberries. Spoon the mixture into individual sherbet glasses and top with a dollop of Cool Whip.

Phelps Vineyards expanding Side dish features the specialty rices

Spring Valley, a small fold in the hills east of St. Helena in California's famed Napa Valley, is home to Joseph Phelps Vineyards.

When the winery project started in the early 1970s, only 175 acres of a 670-acre ranch was planted to grape vines in order to preserve the natural beauty of Spring Valley.

In addition to the Spring Valley ranch, the winery owns a 50-acre parcel south of Yountville and a 30-acre plot in the Stag's Leap District planted to cabernet sauvignon. Additional cabernet sauvignon, merlot and cabernet franc are planted on 35 acres west of Rutherford. A 40-acre Carneros site has been planted with full chardonnay production expected in 1994.

Even these diverse holdings cannot satisfy the demands for Joseph Phelps Vineyards' wines, which include chardonnay, sauvignon blanc, gewurztraminer, johannisberg riesling, scheurebe, semillon, cabernet sauvignon, zinfandel and several native Rhone Valley varietals such as grenache, syrah and viognier sold under the Joseph Phelps/Vin du Mistral label.

Phelps Vineyards is known worldwide for the vineyard-designated cabernet sauvignons from the Backus and Eisele vineyards. Insignia is a blend of at least 50 percent cabernet sauvignon and, depending on the vintage, may contain 10 to 40 percent merlot and none to 30 percent cabernet franc. Insignia is considered one of the more exciting Bordeaux-styled wines produced in California. The 1987 Insignia carries a $45 price tag.

focus on wine
Eleanor and Ray Heald

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

1989 Vin du Mistral Grenache Rose produced by Joseph Phelps Vineyards ($12) is a blend containing five percent mourvedre, another Rhone varietal. The wine is pleasantly peppery and spicy and when we refer to a "think light and drink right" wine. Serve it well chilled with summertime lentil or bean salads.

1987 Vin du Mistral Syrah produced by Joseph Phelps Vineyards ($16) has distinguished toasted-barrel aromas with lively blackberry fruit character. Intense flavors mirror the aromas in a generous wine with good body, structure and finish. It will stand up nicely to barbecued red meat.

HOWEVER, WHEN you refer to most exciting at Phelps, the Rhone-styled wines are in the fore. Winemaker Craig Williams has a personal passion for these wines. He has been producing syrah under the Phelps label since 1974. Since 1986, the Vin du Mistral (a reference to the windy conditions of the Rhone Valley) has been used as the special brand for Phelps' Rhone-styled wines.

"Our work with syrah has been a journey of discovery," Williams maintains. "We've learned that if we employ production techniques similar to those for cabernet sauvignon or zinfandel, the wine is excessively tannic. We now imitate several Rhone vinification techniques including whole-berry fermentation, stem retention and gentle pressing to reduce tannin extracts."

Today, the wine is recognized as soft and approachable with heightened spicy flavors.

Tavel, a small Southern Rhone appellation, is famed worldwide for its grenache rose. With its recognizable color and fresh, lively, dry flavors, it is best consumed young and well chilled. The 1989 Vin du Mistral Grenache Rose produced from grapes grown in Monterey is a close rival of Tavel (see Wine Selections of the Week).

Condria, a small Northern Rhone appellation is the home of the celebrated white varietal viognier. In 1983, Joseph Phelps Vineyards obtained 10 viognier buds from the Experimental Fruit Testing Station in Geneva, N.Y. From those buds, they developed a "mother" block of two-dozen vines that has expanded into a 10-acre vineyard at the Spring Valley ranch. Currently, three acres are bearing and are the fruit source for a scant 200 cases of 1989 Vin du Mistral Viognier.

Production of Rhone-styled wines is minuscule compared to the wines bottled under the Joseph Phelps label, but it should be recognized as a milestone in California wine production. If Phelps and winemaker Williams are able to consistently pull off the exotic wildflower bouquet and delicate flavors of French viognier, we're in for a special treat in years to come.

Side dish features the specialty rices

AP - This flavorful, low-fat side dish shows off the nutty flavors of specialty rices such as basmati and popcorn rice. You will find these rices in specialty food shops and gourmet mail-order catalogs. In a pinch, you can make this pilaf with regular long-grain rice. To make up for the missing nut flavor, sprinkle each serving lightly with toasted chopped pecans or walnuts, but remember that nuts add fat as well as flavor.

RICE PILAF SUPREME

4 cup dried mushrooms
1 shallot, finely chopped
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
1 cup basmati, texmati, wild pecan or popcorn rice
1 1/2 cups chicken broth
1/4 cup dry white wine or apple juice
1/4 cup sliced celery
2 cups tora fresh spinach
One 2-ounce jar diced pimiento, drained

Soak the dried mushrooms in enough hot water to cover for 30 minutes. Drain; remove and discard stems. Chop the mushrooms.

In a 2-quart saucepan cook the shallot in hot margarine or butter until tender but not brown. Add the rice; cook and stir over medium heat about 2 minutes or until rice is light brown.

Carefully pour in the chicken broth and the wine or juice; add the chopped mushrooms and celery. Bring the mixture to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer for 20 to 25 minutes or until the rice is tender and the liquid is absorbed. Stir in the torn spinach and pimiento. Serve immediately. Makes 6 to 8 side-dish servings.

It's not really a meal without a cup of coffee

AP - For some folks, a meal isn't over until freshly-brewed coffee splashes into their cup. If you are one of those java lovers, then this dessert is for you. Stir a whisker of espresso instant coffee into both the filling and the sauce for a double-rich and creamy coffee-flavored dessert. And, yes, to make it even more delightful, serve it with a pot of steaming coffee.

CHEESECAKE AND COFFEE-PRALINE SAUCE
1 1/2 cups fine graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup finely chopped pecans
8-oz. margarine or butter, melted
Two 3-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
Three 3-ounce cartons dairy sour cream
2 1/2 teaspoons instant coffee crystals
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon margarine or butter

For crust, in a mixing bowl combine crumbs and 1/4 cup of the pecans; stir in the 1/2 cup melted margarine or butter. Reserve 1/4 cup of the crumb mixture.

Press remaining crumb mixture onto bottom and 2 1/4 inches up the sides of an 8-inch springform pan or 2 inches up the sides of a 9-inch springform-pan. Set aside.

In a medium mixing bowl combine cream cheese, sugar, vanilla and salt; beat with an electric mixer on low speed until smooth. Add eggs; beat just until combined; do not overbeat. In a separate bowl, stir together sour cream and 1 teaspoon of the coffee crystals; stir into the cheese mixture.

Turn the mixture into the prepared pan. Sprinkle reserved crumb mixture on top. Bake in a 375-degree oven for 50 to 55 minutes or until nearly set. (A 1-inch portion in the center will still jiggle slightly.) Cool on a wire rack. Cover and chill about 4 hours.

For sauce, in a saucepan combine brown sugar, cornstarch and reserved crumb mixture. Stir in water. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir for 2 minutes more. Add the 1 tablespoon margarine or butter; stir until melted. Stir in remaining pecans. Serve sauce warm over cheesecake. Makes 12 servings.

GREEK COOKING
Regarding the article on Greek cooking in Taste on April 29, Olga Lozon says the recipe for Triangle Spinach Pie should not include celery, which was listed as one of the ingredients. The Stuffed Grape Leaves recipe give 1 cup of vegetable oil as an ingredient; 1/4 cup oil can be added to the rice mixture, 1/4 cup oil when water is added. Lozon also says she is Greek Orthodox, not Catholic, as the article stated.

Chef Rocky demonstrates

Charles Douglas Rachwitz, executive chef for the Chuck Muser restaurant, presented the first of a series of cooking demonstrations at Jacobson's stores, when he appeared Thursday at the Kitchen Shop in Livonia.

A crowd of women shoppers (some with small children and babies in strollers), along with a few men, gathered to watch Chef Rocky, a Livonia resident, prepare, cook and serve tasty samples.

The convivial chef answered all kinds of questions about the dishes he was preparing and other foods, for the appreciative audience. Copies of the recipes were distributed.

Another cooking demonstration was presented Friday at Jacobson's Birmingham store. This week Chef Rocky will demonstrate 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Thursday, May 23, in Rochester.

Here is one of the recipes he offered.

2 tablespoons dried tarragon leaves
Dash salt

Raspberry Vinegar (yield 2 1/2 cups)
1 cup white wine vinegar
1 cup red wine vinegar
1/2 cup raspberries (fresh or frozen)

Canton golfers celebrate WLAA victory

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Canton golf coach Dan Riggs got a birthday card from his players Wednesday morning and a present that afternoon.

The Canton girls and Riggs had two reasons to celebrate when the Chiefs captured the Western Lakes Activities Association championship at Huron Meadows Golf Course in Brighton.

Canton was undefeated in dual meets and had 422 strokes to win the league tournament in the first year of WLAA girls golf. Northville was second (434), Livonia Stevenson third (454) and Plymouth Salem sixth (519) in the eight-team event.

"At the beginning of the season, I told the girls they were fully capable of winning the league and it would have to be the three seniors who led us to the title," Riggs said. "It's been the senior leadership all year that has kept the girls on task."

The Chiefs were led by senior Kerri Kittleson, who was second overall with a score of 100 behind medalist Megan Johnson of Stevenson, who shot 88.

CANTON SENIOR Sarah Beckman was fifth (106), sophomore Audrey Meissner seventh (107) and junior Katie Konovaliv eighth (109). The top 12 girls received medals. Canton's six scores included 114 by senior Melissa Vernon and 120 by junior Ann Vernon.

"Some of the coaches commented about the balance, and that's really what it was that won it," Riggs said. "It's super to have someone score 88, but it's the second, third and fourth scores that you count on. It takes four girls out of six to stay together and maintain that balance."

The Chiefs had to rally on the second nine holes to win the tournament. They trailed Stevenson by 10 strokes and Northville by five at the turn.

"When the scores started coming in after 18 holes, the seniors began to turn it around," Riggs said. "Then the underclassmen came in with outstanding scores and clinched it for us."

The four girls who eventually counted in the team scoring total lowered their scores on the back nine.

Beckman made the biggest improvement with an eight-stroke drop (57-49). Konovaliv dropped five strokes (57-52), Kittleson four (52-48) and Meissner three (55-52).

"THE GIRLS looked at the leader board when they came in (at the turn), saw what they had to do and went out and did it," Riggs said. "They worked hard all year and deserved it. When we beat Northville by three strokes in the dual meet, we knew we could do it."

Having coached the girls for so long — the seniors have played four years for Riggs and the others have been on the team since they were freshmen — Riggs said he could tell the girls had the resolve to win the tournament.

"I could see it in their eyes," he said. "You can't really coach them (during the meet) or say much to them, but you make eye contact. They looked up at the scoreboard and said 'OK, let's go play another nine. Let's do it.'"

The Chiefs and Salem previously played in the Great Lakes 8 League with Ann Arbor Pioneer, Ann Arbor Huron, Brighton, Saline, Howell and Pinckney. Facing some of the state's top teams on a regular basis helped prepare Canton for its success this year, Riggs said.

"It kinda toughened us up," he said. "Ultimately, it helped us. It was tough to go through but, like coaches in other sports say, you play tough competition to get tough, and it paid off this year. You're getting beat up but at the same time you're learning something."

The Chiefs had hoped to qualify for the state meet Friday in the regional tournament at Oak Pointe Golf Course, but Pioneer (374), Howell (400) and Northville (401) earned the right to advance. Stevenson's Johnson won a playoff against Pioneer's Susan Evashevski to win medalist honors. Both shot 80.

Canton girls capture 7th straight title

Plymouth Canton has extended its dual-meet reign in girls track and field for another year.

The Chiefs put the finishing touch on their seventh consecutive championship in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association Wednesday by defeating Walled Lake Western 73-55 at Canton.

"The tradition is great and I'm proud of our team," Canton coach George Przygodski said, "but sometimes it overshadows what the team did this year."

"It's a great accomplishment to win a dual-meet championship regardless of how many years you've done it."

The Chiefs, who are 34-0-1 in division dual meets the last seven years, were challenged by Western, which won nine of the 16 events.

CANTON OUTSCORED the Warriors 30-6 in the field events, swept the shot put, discus and 800-meter run; and captured third place in 11 of the 12 open events.

"We knew Walled Lake Western had talented athletes, and they ran exceptionally well," Przygodski said. "Western is a legitimate team. We ran good times; they just beat us to the punch in a number of events. The key was that we overpowered them in the field events."

Aleah Collier led a Canton sweep in the shot put and Ifeoma Okwumabua did likewise in the discus.

Collier threw the shot 34-3 1/2.

Okwumabua the discus 99-4. Selena Bastine was second in the discus and third in the shot, Okwumabua second in the shot and Dawn Kersten third in the discus.

Canton's Stephanie Gray jumped 5 feet to win the high jump and Heather Pastor had the best long jump at 15-7.

In her first time running the open 400, distance runner Amy Smith won the race with a 1:03.9 time, and Christie Saffron spearheaded the sweep in the 800 with a winning effort of 2:32.9. Kim Gudeth was second and Monica Pellow third.

GUDETH WAS on both of Canton's first-place relays, also. Angela Fountain, Karina Kilpelainen, Gudeth and Michelle Dean won the 800 in 1:54, and Gudeth, Saffron, Lana Boroditsch and Smith comprised the winning team in the 3,200. Their time was 10:06.8.

The Chiefs, who finish 5-0 in the division and 6-0 in all duals, also had a number of other second places in addition to those in events they swept.

Canton received two apiece from Ndu Okwumabua in the high jump and 200 dash and Kilpelainen in the Plymouth boxer to fight on home turf

Brett Lally, a Westland Glenn graduate, will fight Anthony "Hard Puncher" Ivory, Tuesday, June 11, at the Laurel Manor Conference Center in Livonia. Lally, the North American Boxing Federation's top junior-middleweight, hasn't appeared on an area card since 1983.

By Brad Emons

Boxer Brett Lally is a landscaper by trade, so it's only natural that the Westland native is returning to his home turf.

The North American Boxing Federation's newly crowned junior middleweight champion will be part of a seven-bout professional card on Tuesday, June 11, at the Laurel Manor Conference Center in Livonia. Lally, sporting a 28-5 record and 18 knockouts, will take on Chicagoan Anthony "Hard Puncher" Ivory (9-2) in a scheduled 10-round non-title bout.

The 1981 John Glenn High graduate, now residing in Plymouth, has literally fought all over the world — London, Johannesburg, Honolulu, Atlantic City and Las Vegas.

Lake Tahoe, Nev., was the site of his last conquest, a sixth-round KO against Willie "Montana" Hotchletter that gave him the NABF crown.

Lally last appeared on an area card back in November of 1983 (in Southfield) when he knocked out Charles Triplett in the third round of a junior welterweight bout.

"We wanted to bring boxing to the local fans of southwest Wayne County," said brother Bradd Lally, Brett's manager and trainer. "This is a nice set-up (the Laurel Manor). We'd like to attract a suburban crowd once or twice a month."

BRADD LALLY'S Golden Boys Productions, in cooperation with West Coast Productions of Pasadena, Calif., are promoting the fight.

Ringside tickets are $25 apiece (approximately 400) available with another 2,000 general admission seats will be offered at $15 each. (Call 462-0770 or 477-6959 for more ticket information.)

East Detroit matchmaker Lindy Lindell has lined up several boxers with area ties for the seven-bout card, including welterweight Jeff Styers (8-0), a 1984 Wayne Memorial grad, who will return to action after nearly a 2 1/2-year layoff.

Styers, now residing in Northville and a sales representative for a computer firm, dropped out of sight because of contract difficulties after the death of his manager Johnny "Ace" Smith, who was shot and killed in an apparent hit in Detroit.

"I have not signed a contract with anyone," Styers said. "I learned the boxing business is cut-throat and rough, but Bradd gave me an opportunity and there's a good matchmaker who I can trust."

Also scheduled to appear on the card is light-heavyweight Vince

"Blue Thunder" Hopper (14-4), a Livonia Franklin grad, and heavy-weight Kermit Fitzpatrick, a state trooper who trains out of the Livonia Boxing Club.

Lally, however, will be the main attraction.

"I've been landscaping eight to 10 hours per day and that keeps me in shape when I'm not training," Lally said. "Plus it gives me a good sun-tan. I'm looking forward to it. I've been training hard."

IVORY, Lally's next opponent, is coming off a loss at the Palace of Auburn Hills against undefeated Tim Dendy.

"Ivory is basically a boxer, he'll use the ring and wait for the other guy to come in so he can counter punch," Bradd Lally said. "He's an up-and-coming fighter. He has the opportunity to fight a ranked boxer. Usually you need 15 to 20 fights before you get to a real contender, but because Brett wanted to fight here, we're giving him (Ivory) a chance."

Lally is currently ranked No. 3 by the World Boxing Council, No. 7 by the International Boxing Federation and No. 10 by the World Boxing Association.

He is 11-1 as a junior middleweight since returning to the ring after laying off all of 1985 and '86.

"Brett deserves his shot, he's paid his dues," Bradd said. "We cried in the ring after nobody thought we could be Hotchletter. It was a long time coming."

Lally, who has posted four consecutive KOs since losing to Donald Curry on a second-round TKO in Dec. of 1989, has a contract in hand (waiting to be signed) for his next mandatory title defense, set for Aug. 8 in San Francisco against hometown favorite Pat Lawler. (The bout will be televised on USA Cable.)

"AFTER THE LAWLER fight we're going to be sitting by the phone," Bradd said. "Say what you want, but Brett has beaten good guys and paid his dues."

If Lally wins his next two fights, brother Bradd is hoping to set up a possible title shot against either WBA champ Gilbert DeLe of France or IBF champ Gianfranco Rossi of Italy.

"We'd like to Brett to stay as a junior middleweight," Bradd said. "He carries his 154 pounds well. I don't have to bug him about running. He's always in good condition and that goes all the way back to when he started out at the Livonia Boxing Club with Paul Soucy (the LBC director). And with the landscaping, it keeps his mind busy, and that's good for a fighter."

Video golf slices into airline

NEW YORK (AP) — International executives who wish they were on the golf course instead of being stuck on a stupefying 13-hour flight to Tokyo can now hit the links while they're airborne.

All Nippon Airways is betting that the allure of video games, noted for mesmerizing youngsters for hours, will help first- and business-class travelers kill time as they cross the Pacific.

The Japanese carrier claims to be the pioneer in offering the in-flight games, which are displayed on a television monitor connected to the armrest between seats.

"We realize that the trip either way is very long, and it's just trying to give them something to do, make them more comfortable, take their mind off the fact that they're in the air for this protracted time," said ANA spokeswoman Jan Still-Lindeman.

"It sounds pretty neat," said Tim Neale of the Air Transport Association, a trade group in Washington. "I know airlines are starting to order video screens in the seats and the armrests. It's the coming thing." The video Golf is one of six games offered by ANA and developed by Konami Industry Co. Ltd. and Sony Corp. Other available sports include road racing, in a game called Road Fighter, and baseball, in a game called Crashing Pennant Race 2.

In the Golf game, players have the choice of using two woods, eight irons, a pitching wedge, a sand wedge, or a putter as they knock the ball around a nine-hole course. Each club has a standard distance for how far it will send the ball, with the driver's range being 240 meters and the sand wedge's range being 80 meters.

The video screen provides a view from where the ball lies, with a layout of the course off to the right. The number of strokes, the par — even the wind direction and velocity — show up on the screen.

Knock the ball out of bounds, you're penalized two strokes. Shoot from a sand trap, and the distance the ball flies will be shorter for whatever club you're using.

Several major U.S. airlines acknowledged that ANA has beaten them to the punch by offering such in-flight amusements, although others are looking into similar setups. United Airlines, for one, hasn't been happy with the equipment it has seen so far.

A leading aircraft manufacturer, the Boeing Company, agreed there are bugs, particularly in where the screen should be set up.

But the airline videos have one big advantage over their counterparts in video parlors on the ground. There's no need for world travelers to stock up on quarters before they take off.

The games are free, once you've paid the price of a first- or business-class ticket.

Sea World seeking to import killer whale from Great Britain

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A permit seeking importation of a killer whale from a British marine park has been filed by Sea World Inc., which operates four theme parks in the United States.

The permit application, required under the Marine Mammal Protection Act, was filed with the National Marine Fisheries Service, said Dan LeBlanc, a Sea World spokesman in San Diego.

Sea World has 13 killer whales at four parks in San Diego, Orlando, Fla., San Antonio, Texas, and outside Cleveland, Ohio.

The company plans to acquire a 15-year-old female killer whale now housed at Windsor Safari Park near London.

LeBlanc said terms of the deal are confidential.

The company plans to acquire a 15-year-old female killer whale now housed at Windsor Safari Park near London.

Brad Andrews, Sea World's assistant zoological director, said the killer whale from Britain may wind up at any of the four American parks. He said the final decision would be based on where biologists feel the whale would best fit in with the groups of whales already on hand.

Andrews said Sea World plans to use the British whale in its captive breeding program as well as for performances. Sea World's captive breeding program has produced five calves, with the most recent occurring at the Orlando park in July 1989.

Review of the importation application is expected to take several months. Windsor Safari Park also must obtain an export permit from the United Kingdom Department of the Environment for the deal to go through.

The whale has been a part of the English park's marine mammal collection since 1978, when it was obtained from a dolphinarium in the Netherlands.

Colorado railroad bounces back after inferno

DURANGO, Colo. (AP) — On a chill, dark morning two years ago, grown men near tears stood in the snowy yard of the Durango & Silverton Narrow Gauge Railroad and watched fire destroy the historic roundhouse where all six engines were stored.

Since then, the railroad has literally risen from the ashes and aims for 250,000 riders this year.

There is a new $2 million roundhouse and machine shop where the acrid, charred smell of the fire has finally dissipated.

"It seemed hopeless when you looked in that burned-out skeleton," operations supervisor Dan McCall said. "We're just happy to be back in the shop."

The shop crew not only takes care of the Durango & Silverton maintenance, it does contract work for other railroads.

Engines from the Cumbres & Toole, the Grand Canyon and the Georgetown Loop railroads have been worked on in the Durango backshop this winter.

When the fire destroyed the roundhouse on Feb. 10, 1989, owner Charles Bradshaw was sleeping next door in the General Palmer Hotel.

"By the time I had my pants on, I was thinking, if we have to run tracks in the parking lot under a circus tent, we'll get the trains going by May," Bradshaw said.

He was right. Eleven weeks later, three engines were repaired. The train season began right on schedule May 5, and by mid-summer all six engines were on track.

The plucky little engines carried a record 201,004 passengers by season's end.

Mechanics were still working six and seven days a week. But a year later, they moved into the new 35,000-square-foot roundhouse.

The roundhouse's design incorporates historic features and two original 1881 brick walls. It has 18 stalls for locomotives, three times the old roundhouse capacity.

"The shop's come a long way. It's never been better," said Larry Beam, the roundhouse foreman.

The railroad's ambitious goal of 250,000 passengers this year springs from a 17 percent increase in early reservations, Bradshaw said.

The 1991 season began this month, and the iron horses will pull coaches to Silverton through spectacular Animas River valleys through Oct. 27.

Despite industry fears that the recession could soften tourism, railroad officials are promoting the train at trade shows across the country.

"One thing's for sure," vice president Amos Cordova said. "I don't think the American public is going to be spayed out of a vacation."

Cordova said the railroad is offering promotions. And, for the first time, it is giving commissions to travel agents who attract riders.

McCall, meanwhile, believes the fiery cloud two years ago had a silver lining.

"The fire was a tragedy as far as historic purposes," he said. "For our purposes, it was great."

'It seemed hopeless when you looked in that burned-out skeleton.'

INDIAN ATTACK

The British will be there in their red coats. The Indians will attack as they always do. And the pioneers will shoot their muzzle-loaders, throw their knives and show off their fur fashions within the palisaded walls of Fort Michilimackinac. The Fort Michilimackinac Pageant, where 30,000 spectators help relive 18th-century life, will be May 25-27 at the Straits of Mackinac Peninsula. A re-enactment of the June 2, 1763 storming and capture of the fort during a baggataway match between the Indians and the British garrison will top off each day of the festival. Baggetaway was the forerunner of lacrosse. Restored Fort Michilimackinac, site of 18th century French and British garrisons, is now the subject of the longest ongoing archaeological dig in North America. Nearby is the 1892 Old Mackinac Point Lighthouse, now serving as the Mackinac Maritime Museum. For more information, write the Michigan Travel Bureau, P.O. Ohio's Maumee Bay Lodge shines on Lake Erie shore

THE COTTAGES are built on square foundations under squared shingled roofs, but what happens between roof and foundation is truly innovative architecture. Two corners have been cut away to create an open deck and a screened deck. Another small porch lies off the main bedroom.

We followed a long private drive to our parking area and walked across a small bridge to the door of our two-bedroom cottage. As you enter, you can go directly upstairs to a loft containing two single beds separated by a partial wall under skylights that open at your touch.

Or you can circle the stairs on the main floor, past a full bathroom, a bedroom with an upper and lower bunk bed, and a living-dining area with large table, living-room furniture and a gas fireplace.

The cottages are a good buy, especially for families or small groups. Lodge rooms cost $69 for one person, $79 for two, $109 for a loft room or a suite. The two-bedroom cottages are $89 a night, $425 a week. Four-bedroom cottages are $120 a night or $465 a week. Don't forget to add 12 percent state and local tax to those rates.

The management staff at the resort are trained, but the service staff is mostly new to the hospitality industry, so things were a bit slow during that first week. Untrained or not, we found the staff cheerful and helpful, ready to open any door or run any dining-room errand.

Bette Cassara of West Bloomfield, who visited the resort just after it opened, gave it high marks. "It's very accessible to people in the Detroit area. Families can get together and enjoy the facilities without spending too much money. The potential is greater than what's there now, because not everything is open yet.

"What I liked best about it was staying in a cottage, lighting the fireplace at night and falling asleep upstairs under the skylight with a sky full of stars overhead."

By midsummer, these greening fields will be busy with bicycles, T-shirts, ball caps, cars, golf carts and the other trappings of a summer resort. For this brief off-season month it is quiet, with hawks and seagulls spreading their wings wide against the sky as they fly over the resort and the lake.

Maumee Bay is just one of 10 Ohio state parks. For reservations or information, call toll-free (800) AT-A-PARK.

"We got a half-price special, so the rates were $40 per night on the weekend, $20 per night during the week. The hotel was decorated with gaudy, baroque-style decor."

"Meals in Las Vegas can be very inexpensive," she said. "You can find buffets at most hotels. We ate a pound of crab for only $9.95 one night. The shows are not cheap. David Copperfield was performing when we were there, but his show cost $55, so we passed on that one."

"The Excalibur, a new hotel and casino, offers a spectacular dinner and show for around $25. It's built like a medieval castle, with jousters in the spirit of King Arthur. If you're a guest, you get two tokens for the "Excalibur" machine, which is a rock with a sword as a handle. You pull on the sword for the jackpot."

Amidst the glitz and glamour, the magic turned to reality for Sue. Maybe it will for you too.

IRIS SANDERSON JONES

To celebrate 25th they want tropical

Sharon and Lawrence Churchfield will celebrate a quarter century of married life next fall, and they would like to do it in a nice warm place.

"We would like to take a trip somewhere different, possibly tropical. We have been to Hawaii. I am a little reluctant to go someplace tropical because of monsoons. Do you have any suggestions?"

The word "monsoons" startled me, because I associate it with childhood stories about the mysterious east. I looked the word up in my dictionary and read "the seasonal wind of the Indian Ocean and southern Asia, blowing from the southwest in summer and the northeast in winter."

Another definition was "any persistent wind established between water and adjoining land."

Look at it from that point of view and you get the word "storm" which quickly leads you to "hurricane," a very scary word indeed. Surprisingly, very very few travelers are ever caught in hurricanes, no matter how much their stormy paths dominate the evening news.

Some cruise ship lines will refund your money if you have the bad luck to sail during a storm. I talk to a lot of travelers, but only one or two have ever complained about bad weather in the Caribbean.

Where should you go?

My favorite island discovery of the last year is St. Lucia, a mountainous isle in the eastern Caribbean where you can stay at a variety of resorts and enjoy sand, sea, sun and too much good food. Definitely not for those who like casinos and evening entertainment.

My favorite place in Mexico is San Miguel de Allende, northwest of Mexico City. This was once the heart of Spanish colonial Mexico. You can stay in an old Spanish mansion converted into a small luxury hotel. You can shop, eat and tour the surrounding area. You cannot stretch out on the beach; no beach.

Your destination will depend a lot on what you enjoy, what you mean by "somewhere different." If you go early in October, and want to go that far, you will find something different on the Balearic islands of Majorca and Ibiza off the coast of Spain. That is where Europeans go in the fall.

I suggest you spend some time in your library and at a travel agency. Check out Margaret Zeller's guide book on the Caribbean. Her observations are very personal and reliable. Use the Reader's Guide to Periodicals or just browse through past magazines like Conde Nast Traveler and Travel & Leisure. Pick up handfuls of brochures at a travel agency.

Half the fun of travel is exploring the possibilities. When you have narrowed your choices down, write to me again and we'll refine your itinerary. Meantime, we invite other readers to send us their suggestions for a tropical celebration of a 25th anniversary.

It was three o'clock in the morning on the first day of her Las Vegas trip when Sue Leja of Milford saw the flashing lights on her slot machine. She had been playing the machines all night, so she almost didn't put that last quarter in the slot.

"The slot machine started flashing, blinking and beeping!" she said. When the excitement was over, Sue had won $2,500.

"The crowd looked on with envy. The security guard rushed over to inspect the machine. The next thing I knew, I had $2,500 cash in my hand. The guard walked me to a safety deposit box in our hotel."

Sue has visited Las Vegas before and learned that the only way to come home ahead is to budget your gambling money.

"Decide how much money to take each night and don't stray from that amount," she said. "I budget $100 a day."

"We like to go casino hopping. My favorites are the smaller casinos such as Barbary Coast and O'Shea's. We like to gamble from around noon to six or seven o'clock in the morning. The casinos are less crowded in the middle of the night."

"One advantage to playing the casinos is you drink free, but this can be dangerous as it is easy to spend money after a few drinks."

Sue likes to play the crap tables to build up her money. "I think that your money lasts longer at the crap tables."

"Then I usually head for the slot machines, which are my favorite. Beware though, it is easy to go through a lot of money at the slot machines!"

Sue stayed at the Imperial Palace, "very clean and inexpensive."

Ohio offers a nearby retreat Maumee Bay Lodge

MAUMEE BAY Lodge, Ohio's 10th state park resort, opened May 1 on the shore of Lake Erie 15 miles east of Toledo in Oregon. It has been getting rave reviews.

The lodge is a great close-to-home getaway for Michigan travelers, with fine resort facilities available at moderate prices. But you will have to book early to get what you want.

The 120 lodge rooms are available all year, but 20 cottages that rent only by the week during summer are already fully booked from Memorial Day to Labor Day, although cancellations are always possible.

The cottages were rented within three hours after reservations became available in January. The park will begin taking cottage reservations for 1992 on June 1.

YOU REACH Maumee Bay by the Highway 2 exit of I-280. Drive through the town of Oregon and turn left between farmhouses on Maumee Bay Park Road. Campers have used the adjacent campsites at Maumee Bay State Park for several years.

Maumee Bay Lodge appears ahead of you, a contemporary sprawl of sawed planks, stained fawn grey, rising in the center to weathered cedar-shingled roofs. The lodge, low on the ends and high in the middle, is set against the shore of Lake Erie, but you need not limit yourself to the sand beach (to be completed by July 4), or to the 1,500 feet of inland beach on the 57-acre sailing lake.

The lodge includes a large outdoor swimming pool; a heated indoor swimming pool with saunas; courts for racquetball, basketball and tennis; and a fitness center. All are available free to guests.

If you look to the right as you approach the lodge, you see contemporary cottages in the same grey planks, scattered in singles and doubles across the slightly rolling prairie landscape, tucked into groves of trees.

Most cottages are set on widely-separated knolls beside the golf course, which looks ready for play but is still digging its grass roots into the ground for a fall opening.

Sea World opens in Ohio

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

Sea World opened its summer season Saturday in Aurora, Ohio, near Cleveland. Shamu and Namu are back, but don't be surprised if they don't answer when you call them by name. Shamu and Namu are character names; this year's killer whales are new.

Sea World has been breeding whales for years and now has a pod of 13. When they have played around in Sea World pools long enough, they are put into the breeding program.

This year's "characters" are two females, 2 1/2 years old, born at Sea World parks in Texas and Florida, and they met for the first time three weeks ago. Shamu and Namu, and their friends the bottlenosed dolphins, are doing a new show in a renovated stadium this season.

The International High Dive Show is new this year. So is the Pirates of Pinneped, featuring a comical sea lion duo called Clyde and Seamore. You'll also find old favorites like the Penguin Encounter and the World of the Sea Aquarium.

Tickets are $18.50 if you're more than 12, $14.50 ages 3-11, children under 3 free. Season passes are roughly double those one-day prices, so they're worth considering if you plan to go more than once. Parking is free.

Sea World opens daily at 10 a.m. For information, call toll-free (800) 63-SHAMU.

OCEANS OF FUN in Kansas City opens May 25 with a new attraction called Crocodile Isle, a "sprayground" with a 2,000 square-foot kiddie pool, three water slides and other attractions, floating gators and hippos among them.

Crossroads Village and Huckleberry Railroad in Flint is open and bragging because AAA Michigan named it one of the top five family attractions in Michigan.

A rare 1910 Ferris wheel has been added to the Village this year, a nice companion for the 1912 Parker Carousel. The village also opened a 7,000 square-foot multi-purpose building, designed like a vintage railroad warehouse, to give better food and other services to groups.

The 50-foot 1910 Charles W. Parker "Superior Wheel" is the last remaining Ferris wheel of its type and had a colorful history before the Genesee County Parks and Recreation Commission bought it last year. It ran in two Pennsylvania amusement parks and was once owned by a fire

Madonna and Dice not nice

In "Truth or Dare" (R, R, 116 minutes) and "Dice Rules" (F, NC-17, 87 minutes) Madonna and Andrew Dice Clay pretend that they are artists discussing sexual power, the hostility of passion and the primacy of their own sex.

Not true, friends, for in reality they're both sadists out to torment their fans with 3 1/2 boring hours of obscenity, adolescent posturing and some of the worst film footage to be screened in years.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING 'Impromptu:' A triumph

In the mid-19th century, George Sand created a panic, even for Paris. The popular female writer not only carried on indiscrete affairs, but insisted on dressing in men's clothing. Frederic Chopin, while enjoying his own popularity as a pianist and composer, was plagued by a lung disorder that kept him from setting foot outdoors or even cracking a window. Composer Franz Liszt called him "The Polish Corpse."

Word has it this Merseyside outfit was not pleased with the final results of their debut release. After a listen, though, one wouldn't readily chalk this up as modesty. Did you know the energy saved from recycling one glass bottle will light a 100-watt bulb for four hours? Put organization and convenience into recycling aluminum, plastic and glass as well as newspapers. The triple recycling center comes with a 44- by 14- by 21- inch frame that holds reusable, washable, leakproof bags or, if you prefer, 15-gallon trash bags. Gardening is the most popular hobby of Americans today. And keeping your garden tools neat and close at hand makes your spring and summer outdoor tasks more enjoyable. The sturdy canvas tote bag will hold all your tools and accessories with many pockets both inside and out. A perfect tote for home repair tools as well. Priced at $25, from Jacobson's. One individual was absolutely enraged — way beyond indignation — and lambasted the "perpetrator" of this "abomination" (I believe that was the word she used). Some were confused/huffed and others were glad "because we need a party."

In an attempt (and it's feeble, at best) to make this somewhat clearer, the party is being given to cheer up/bring the spirits up of the honoree. She has been having some family and other problems, but the main reason for the party (originally) was to be a "grandmother" shower and then turned into this. (Don't ask me; it isn't getting any better.)

I have mixed feelings about this affair. On one hand, I think it's a wonderful gesture and wish someone would do something like that for me when I'm on that out-of-control roller coaster. But on the other hand, I say, "So what. You've brought this mess on yourself and I don't have time to feel sorry for you and don't feel I have to coddle you so you'll feel better because nothing's going to change."

If you don't like the woman, don't be a hypocrite. Don't go. Any present that you guess might put a smile on her face is appropriate. How about lottery tickets or a Bill Cosby recording on families.

than for her writing, admits that Chopin is an "eternal" who will exist long after she and her trendy cronies pass on.

As a doctor of philosophy to live downtown with Jazzie and work at the post office.

The film is not for the weak-minded. Rubin described it appropriately and quite succinctly as "the dark side of 'Ghost'" and many of its images reflect the bleak and hopeless depths of human despair.

Adrian Lyne's direction, the entire cast's performance, editing, photography, writing — all the crafts of filmmaking reach heights of excellence in this production — but the greatest attraction of "Jacob's Ladder" is its mystery.

No, I'm not going to give it away because a good deal of the pleasure in such a film is figuring it out for yourself. One hint plus the consolation prize: There is an excellent, short French film, "Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge" (1962). It's a Civil War story and has the same structural concept as "Jacob's Ladder."

Everybody's consolation prize, Variety's reviewer didn't understand what was going on in "Jacob's Ladder."

Zeppelin: Airborne parodies

Jah Paul Jo said the band has patched up any misunderstandings with members of The Estate, showing them the lyrics and artwork of latest release "3,000,000." With the saturation of Elvis impersonators, though, Dread Zeppelin antics would seem to be singled out.

"I think it's a touchy thing. I guess they frown upon it when you're actually making money off his image."

ACTUALLY, ROBERT Plant and Jimmy Page might have more of a gripe. Their Led Zeppelin collaborations, most notably "The Song Remains the Same" and "Stairway to Heaven," are parodied to hilarious lengths on "3,000,000."

"Stairway to Heaven" features a stirring duet between the Caribbean-flavored vocals of Ed Zeppelin and the Tupelo soul of Tortelvis. (Unfortunately, WRIP-FM and WLLZ-FM haven't thought to put this on heavy rotation.)

One of the highlights, though, is the reggae treatment laid on "Train Kept A-Rollin'" — a tune made famous by Aerosmith.

Such numbers are interspersed with Dread Zeppelin's own material, including a rather curious reggae-free techno-mix called "Forgetting About Business Part I."

Only a monumental ego could have convinced Madonna that all this pretentious drivel means anything, has any significance or is worth watching. Two hours of pompous pronouncements on artistic integrity, human emotion, life and her personal whims are totally irrelevant and very annoying.

But at least Madonna has a certain rhythmic sexual attraction and her musical numbers are entertaining. Not so for Clay's crass and offensive blithering.

Star Theatres John R announced an exclusive summer series which opened Friday with Carlos Saura's "Ay Carmela" (A, no rating, 185 minutes). It's a sensational film about a traveling theatrical troupe, Carmela (Carmen Maura), her husband, Paulino (Andres Pajares) and their helper, Gustavete (Gabino Diego) who are entertaining Republican troops in 1938 during the Span-

"Ay Carmela" entertains with its comic satire about human conduct and with its music hall routines. Much of its appeal, as well, comes from its atmosphere, reminiscent of

"Cinema Paradiso" and of the very best of Fellini and Truffaut.

Rich Hall: You know his face, but how about his name?

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Van Morrison's music plays in the background while Rich Hall talks on the phone from his Montana home. Somewhere in the conversation, the comedian is asked what Morrison record is playing.

"No, he's (Morrison) here," says Hall earnestly. The tilted imaginative mind of Rich Hall, "Van the Man" is probably there strumming "Brown-Eyed Girl" in his living room. After all, Hall has a knack for making up things.

This is the fellow who gave us the Sniglet, words that somehow escaped Webster's book like "prememblamentation," which is a term for double checking to make sure a letter went down into the mailbox. He can also take a piece of Plexiglas and turn the object into a visual comedy bit about driving.

Hall is an Emmy-winning writer. He has three books to his credit and was recently honored by the Museum of Broadcasting in New York.

His sometimes frumpy-looking face is certainly recognizable to most.

Yet obscurity is still the main mailing address for Rich Hall, whose string of television credits include ABC-TV's "Fridays," HBO's "Not Necessarily the News," NBC-TV's "Saturday Night Live" and, currently, Comedy Channel's "Onion World."

PERHAPS THE closest Hall has come to prime-time exposure were those Pizza Hut commercials, where he trekked around in a pepperoni-inspired odyssey around the country. He's been in several TV pilots, but a majority of them remained dormant.

"In a way, I've sort have followed that natural pattern where you do enough late night stuff they try to fit you into prime time," Hall says. "I've sort have been resisting that and still trying to find a way to still work in that period."

"I know I don't have a conventional style of humor. There's not that many unconventional places to do comedy."

Hall is not bitter. Instead, he feels better off than some of his comedic contemporaries who've found a place during the family viewing hour.

"Kevin Meany is a really funny guy and they stuck him in a really stupid show ('Uncle Buck')," Hall says. "Same with Bob Saget: He's a really funny guy. I'm not going to do that. I don't care if I'm not on at 9 o'clock in front of the nuclear family."

In the meantime, Hall is content to make his new show "Onion World" a go. The program features his slightly-off-center humor along with cutting edge bands such as Jazz Butcher, Del Amiri and Camper Van Beethoven.

Also, Hall will be in a soon-to-be aired CBS-TV show "Say What?" The show focuses on how wordy the world has become, no doubt destined to find a place with a prime-time audience.

"CBS tested it in front of a busload of tourists," Hall says, "and they hated it."

STAND-UP COMEDY provides solace. Hall worked his way up the circuit, opening in front of rock'n'roll audiences.

And sometimes things could get ugly. He relates opening for a band that featured former members of The Band at some converted bowling alley on Long Island on St. Patrick's Day. After 17 minutes, Hall was left to slink off stage as the drunken crowd howled.

Hall's wry observational humor still managed to find a receptive audience.

"I was kind of different because at that time I worked with a lot of props," Hall says, "which worked out well because I had a lot of bright and shiny objects to keep the drunks' attention a little bit longer."

His keen eye for the peculiar stems to a childhood of growing up in Charlotte, N.C., in the shadow of a K mart. He would often write short stories. He later went on to major in creative writing at the University of Washington. After graduating, Hall worked as a street performer for awhile before turning to stand-up comedy.

David Letterman recognized Hall's talents, catching his act at the improvisation in New York. Letterman hired him as a writer for his ill-fated morning show. Though the program was canceled, Hall earned an Emmy for his writing.

FROM THERE, Hall's sojourn into network television began. ABC-TV's "Fridays," an anemic attempt to compete with "Saturday Night Live," provided his introduction. Hall contends he doesn't remember. "I went to a Blackstone show and I was hypnotized for three years," Hall says. "During that time people said I did 'Fridays.'"

"HBO's Not Necessarily the News" later allowed a better showcase for Hall's off-beat observational humor.

The show also produced the first Sniglet, "fien" — the crusty residue on top of a ketchup bottle. (For the record, Hall's favorite Sniglet is "pleilibrium" — a term for when the crust of a pie slice outweighs the filling and it tips upward.)

"Saturday Night Live" was another short lived late-night forum for Hall.

There was a lot of frustration there because nobody liked our producer Dick Ebersol, who was about as funny as a stick," Hall says. "After a year, we said 'that's it' and everyone quit."

On "Onion World," Hall has a free rein. The show travels around the world, so Hall can fix his eye on "technological and environmental buffoonery."

But there's nothing like perform-

Rich Hall will perform 8:30 p.m. Thursday, May 23, at the Redondo Heritage Center, 17201 Northline Road, Southgate. Tickets are $12. For information, call 283-4400. He will also appear Friday and Saturday, May 24-25, at MainStreet Comedy Showcase, 314 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Tickets are $15 reserved, $13 general admission. How to win at the numbers game.

The game is newspaper advertising — and the rules are changing. Rates are up in the Detroit News and Free Press. Suburban circulation is down. And all around town, advertisers are wondering what numbers to trust — and where to place their media dollars. What should you do?

Beware of smoke and mirrors.

Right now, the News and Free Press circulation is unstable at best. On the other hand, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers delivers to more than 500,000 households — and that's a real number.

How do we know? All SPRING newspapers are audited. Every year, the circulation figures for each SPRING newspaper are verified by either CAC or ABC — two of the industry's most highly-respected independent auditors.

No slippery stuff here. SPRING's numbers are tested, tried, and true.

Place your bet on SPRING.

Once you've studied the numbers, we're sure you'll agree: SPRING is a sure winner.

SPRING's circulation is solid and stable. It's audited. And it represents more than one million readers who have the means to buy what you sell.

No matter how you figure it — those are very good odds, indeed.

Eat away for your special BIRTHDAY

By Joanne Sobczak
special writer

THE NEXT TIME YOU think there isn't such a thing as a "free lunch," you might want to talk to Kaye Pearl, Jeff Schmidt, Bob Vargo or Kevin Downey. They'll tell you there's an exception to the rule — your birthday.

Accord to Pearl, assistant service manager at the Southfield Bill Knapp's Restaurant, several months ago her staff served a woman who had turned 101 years old. And at Bill Knapp's, that makes her special.

Birthdays are indeed special at Bill Knapp's, which has grown from one location in Battle Creek in 1948 to 48 restaurants in five states today.

Right from the start, founder Clinton Knapp made sure children's birthdays were an exciting event at his restaurant. "Little Knappers," as children 1 through 10 are called, are treated to a free chocolate cake. Plus everyone (a maximum of 10) at their birthday party receives a free dish of French vanilla ice cream.

"Big Knappers," 11 years and older, not only get a chocolate cake, but with identification, the cashier will discount the birthday boy's or girl's meal a percentage equal to his or her age.

When someone celebrates his or her 101st birthday at the restaurant, not only is the person's meal free, but the patron is also reimbursed a calculated percentage of the guest check, based on how many years passed 100 the person is celebrating.

SO IF YOU'RE 100 or older, there is such a thing as a free lunch or dinner. The company has had about 250 people who, in the last 20 years, have passed the 100-year milestone and who have received checks from Bill Knapp's. None of them have yet to cash their refund checks.

"They seem to keep the check as a souvenir or memento," Pearl said.

"They are very accommodating about how they prepare the food," said Marjorie Naftaly who has been coming to Bill Knapp's for 20 years to enjoy family birthdays. That night she and husband Roland were quietly toasting his birthday.

"I save money and the food is very good," the Oak Park CPA said while waiting for the waitress to pack his free cake. "I pick out what I want."

At least 65 cakes leave the Southfield Bill Knapp's daily and 80 percent of them are for birthdays. The other 20 percent are white cakes, used for anniversary celebrations. The company produces about one million cakes annually for businesses for the birthday/anniversary celebrations.

Alicia Auth stared with wonder at the excitement going on at the table next to hers. Wilayne Van Devender of Romulus sat between her two "best" friends while a half dozen staff members at Charlie's Wayne Roadhouse sang a jazzed-up version of "Happy Birthday" to her.

THE THREE-year-old's eyes widened even more at the sight of a lit candle on top of a huge chocolate sundae presented to Van Devender.

Van Devender noticed the youngster's interest and stretched between the tables to offer Alicia a chance to blow out the candle. Alicia definitely assisted.

With the candle extinguished, Alicia eyed the sundae. Van Devender didn't have to worry, Alicia's father made certain the waitress brought the youngster one.

Well, he had to pay for Alicia's sundae, but Van Devender didn't have to pay for hers. The dessert was part of her birthday gift from the Wayne restaurant. The other part was a free dinner.

Jeff Schmidt, manager of the Roadhouse, said birthday celebrating customers who inform their waitress of the special occasion and show identification, enjoy a complimentary sundae and the restaurant's "free meal" policy.

"With proper identification, unless it's a little tyke, we cut the bill in half, if you come in with another guest," he said. "It's basically a one entree off type policy."

THE BIRTHDAY freebie has only been offered since the establishment came under the ownership of Fred Ferguson who also bought the Uptown in Madison Heights. Both restaurants were formerly part of the Chuck Muer seafood chain.

"Sometimes people come in and they don't know we have the policy," said Schmidt, a Novi resident. "They will be treating a friend to dinner and drinks and then they'll find out (from the waitress) that the friend will be getting a free birthday dinner."

So it was for Van Devender.

"What a riot," she laughed, referring to the staff's new version of "Happy Birthday." The University of Michigan administrative assistant had no idea what her friends Barbara Breeding of Romulus and Linda Gardner of Canton had in mind. Although the two co-workers had eaten at the Roadhouse before, neither was sure about the details of the restaurant's festivities.

Beau Jacks in Birmingham created its birthday give-away system about four years ago. The restaurant uses a computer. Customers fill out postcards and return them to the restaurant, according to manager Bob Vargo.

THE PATRONS write their birth date and address on the postcards and the information is entered into the computer. Every month the restaurant sends out 450-550 gift certificates inviting them to celebrate at Beau Jacks at 20 percent off. The discount is applied to the entire bill no matter how many are in the party.

Vargo said 60-65 percent take the restaurant up on its offer that includes a complimentary birthday cake as part of the offer. There is no specific expiration date on the coupon.

At Beau Jacks, the pub-like ambiance is for those who prefer-casual dining. The popular food choices are the half-pound burger, followed by the Caesar salad.

If money is no object and you really would like to do it up, the elegant Fox and Hounds in Bloomfield Hills has embarked on giving birthday presents.

Owner Kevin Downey and manager Lori Grubba created the "Celebration Club," using a computer to register their patron's birthdays in a fashion similar to Beau Jacks.

"The customers fill out a registration card which is presented with the guest check," Downey said. "It requests information about the patron's birthday and anniversary dates. During the month of their special date, a personal letter and a $10 gift certificate (good any time during the month) is mailed out."

ABOUT 3,000 customers are enrolled in the club "and it's growing," Downey said. About 20-40 cards are filled out daily and the establishment is experiencing a 20 percent return. Downey hopes to build the registry to 1,500 customers a month.

In addition to the gift certificate, there's also a birthday cake — a chocolate cake with chocolate mousse and chocolate shavings or white cake with white mousse and white butter cream frosting.

You also get a discount on another house original — the Birthday Package. For 10 bucks, the staff will decorate your table with a happy birthday banner and helium balloons. And, of course, the staff sings — Birthday Package or not.

Don Nelson and his wife Bernice of Howell were having a great time with their friends Frank and Mary Macartney of Rochester Hills at the Fox and Hounds. The latter arranged for the surprise celebration, complete with the banner and balloons.

Nelson, a retired corporate pilot who was celebrating his 66th birthday, joked that after 33,000 hours of accident free flying, he was going to take the balloons home and consider becoming "a balloonist."

"I think 90 percent of our society celebrates birthdays and anniversaries," Downey said. "It's a festive situation. You are only wishing someone well."

Birds calling student creations home

By Linda Ann Chomin
special writer

FOR THE second year in a row, Michigan birds and habitat will benefit from the Best Birdhouse Builder Contest.

Besides the birds, Jennifer Henson and Eleanor MacDonald are happy about the way the contest ended. From 460 entries by 520 students at 20 schools in Wayne and Oakland counties, the girls took top honors, and won $150 gift certificates, for their birdhouses in separate categories for the seventh and eighth grades.

Contest sponsors were the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan and the Department of Natural Resources.

MacDonald, an eighth grader at Academy of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills, built a birdhouse for an American Kestrel to roost in, while Henson, a seventh grader at Pierce Middle School in Redford, built a wood duck house.

Birdhouses were built for eight species of birds: house wren, bluebird, wood duck, barred owl, great crested flycatcher, American kestrel, American robin and tree swallow.

Student birdhouses were judged for creativity, design, workmanship, materials and accuracy in meeting the size specifications for the different species. Exterior design, smooth edges and tight-fitting joints to ensure absence of drafts, were a few of the categories on which judges rated each birdhouse.

CONTEST WINNERS were picked at the International Builders Home, Flower Furniture Show in March at Detroit's Cobo Center.

Robert Knittle's Industrial Arts students at Pierce Middle School in Redford learned through group cooperation and reclamation to provide an alternative existence for birds when their natural habitat is destroyed.

Knittle sought donations of materials from local businesses, such as Wildwings Gallery in Plymouth and Auto Pallets & Box in Lathrup Village. The businesses otherwise would discard out-of-date or damaged merchandise.

"I decided when we began the project, I would try to use as many recyclables and donations as possible," Knittle said. "Discontinued stain and used wood pallets were reclaimed by the students."

Knittle had 79 students take part in groups of seven, one of whom was first-place winner Jennifer Henson.

"Some people were planners, others rendered the material to recover the wood, while others known as providers helped take the nails out," Knittle said.

"They learned about the different types of birds and their nesting habits," he said, referring to the project initiated by the contest. "They learned the wood duck doesn't gather their own nesting material, and you have to have ventilation, and drainage holes in the bottoms of the birdhouse."

STUDENTS LEARNED to help birds. In return, the birds can help rid back yards with birdhouses of bugs. In one day, certain species of birds consume 2,000 mosquitoes as well as other garden-loving insects.

With the rapid growth of land developments, the destruction of wildlife habitat increases, hitting nesting and feeding sites. With the installation of a birdhouse and feeder, a back yard becomes an island refuge for birds.

Henson said she "wanted the wood duck house to look natural." From the exterior, both Henson's and MacDonald's winning birdhouses fit perfectly into a back yard, or forested patch of land.

This is the first year in which the schools of the top winners participated in the Best Birdhouse

Builder Contest.

Nancy Garcia is the teacher behind Academy of the Sacred Heart's first-place winner, Eleanor MacDonald.

Garcia, a math and science teacher at the Bloomfield Hills school, said the contest taught her 19 students the art of woodworking.

"Basically, what I wanted was a hands-on learning experience to learn about birds and woodworking," she said.

THE WORK involved with building the birdhouse entries was done in the basement of Garcia's home with husband, Alex leading groups of students in woodworking instruction.

There were several reasons why MacDonald liked the birdhouse building contest.

"I liked it because we got to work with the wood which we don't get to do here at school, and I like learning about the birds," MacDonald said. "I worked with my father, and I like working with him. It's fun."

Garcia said she felt "it was a very worthy project for next year. It sure will be a lot easier next year. Being an all-girls school, some of them never even held a hammer before. It was an out-of-school learning experience for all of us."

For information about next year's Best Birdhouse Builder Contest, call Rose Swed of Stone & Simons Advertising, Southfield, 358-4800. Seventh and eighth graders in the O&E circulation area are eligible.

HOROSCOPE

May 19 through May 25

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Things are happening quickly for you these days, and it is important you make the right decisions for yourself. Trust what is in your heart.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Steer clear of those who bring you trouble this week. You don't need, nor do you deserve, the problems they drag along with them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Take a close look at finances, and you may be surprised at just how well you are doing. Money will play a big role in a decision you must make.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
At times it might seem impossible, but you must keep a positive outlook on life. Things really are better than you might think.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
Keep an open mind when dealing with family members and try to avoid arguments when possible. Pay close attention to details this week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
This week will seem crazy at times, but you can keep it all together by playing calm. It may be necessary to change your point of view.

By C.C. Clark

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
Your words could come back to haunt you. There's no need to be paranoid, just don't say anything you aren't comfortable with.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
A friend or family member needs your undivided attention this week. You may be really busy, but you must find a way to make time for them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Health matters should be highest on your priority list this week. If rest is part of the prescription, set-aside time and make yourself comply.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
Take charge this week and show everyone just what you can do. Proving yourself reliable in the toughest situations will move you forward.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Friends and family will surprise you with some very innovative ideas about entertainment this week. Go along with the fun and just enjoy yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Authority figures could put you on the spot this week. Make sure you have your facts straight before confronting them.

ABC to present 75th running of Indianapolis 500

Speeds set at trials already topping records

By Steve Paschal

If the speeds posted during the time trials are any indication of things to come, this year's Indianapolis 500 promises to be one of the fastest and most competitive in the race's 75-year history.

Records began falling on the first day of practice for the biggest single-day event in racing, which will be televised live on ABC Sunday, May 26, when three-time champion Ricky Mears shattered Emerson Fittipaldi's qualifying record with a sizzling four-lap average of 227 mph. In fact, five other drivers were clocked at speeds in excess of the 223.8 mph record, including defending champion Arie Luyendyk, 1989 winner Fittipaldi, Gary Bettenhausen, Mario Andretti and son Michael Andretti.

Those showings are a far cry from the inaugural race in 1911 when Ray Harroun piloted his Marmon Wasp the 200 laps around the fabled Brickyard with an average speed of 74.6 mph. It wasn't until 1930 that Billy Arnold crashed the 100 mph barrier, and it was another 35 years before Jim Clark exceeded 150 mph in his Lotus Ford. Last year Luyendyk smashed the old record set by Bobby Rahal in 1986 by over 15 mph with an average clocking of 185.9 mph.

The sentimental flavor created by the presence of such longtime veterans as Fittipaldi and Darrell Waltrip intensified earlier this month with living-legend A.J. Foyt passed his mandatory physical exam and was cleared by doctors to drive in his 34th Indy, which he has indicated will be his last. The 56-year-old Foyt, sidelined since he suffered extensive injuries to his arms and legs in a crash last September, is racing's all-time winningest driver with 67 victories on the CART circuit. His four Memorial weekend victories tie him for first place with Al Unser atop the list of Indy champions.

Mears, a three-time winner who finished first in 1979, 1984 and 1988, will be looking to join that elite group of two after almost accomplishing that feat in 1989. That year a clutch problem sent him to the pits as he battled Fittipaldi and Al Unser Jr. for the lead. Fittipaldi, one of this year's favorites along with Mears, Unser and Luyendyk, survived a tire-bumping incident less than two laps from the finish line that sent the junior Unser into the wall and out of the race as Fittipaldi took the checkered flag.

More than 300,000 racing fans are expected to converge on Indianapolis to watch the field of 33 drivers burn rubber for more than $4.5 million in prize money. Millions more will be tuning in to ABC for live race coverage complete with commentary by three-time Indy winner Bobby Unser and racing experts Paul Page, Sam Posey and Jack Whitaker.

This will be the sixth consecutive year that ABC Sports, which has earned four Emmys for its Indy specials, has presented live coverage of auto racing's most prestigious event. From 1971 through 1985, ABC provided exclusive same-day network coverage, and prior to that the race was carried on a delayed basis on "ABC's Wide World of Sports." This year ABC will be in the pits, the hospital area and garage to bring up-to-the-minute reports in addition to the telecast of the race.

ABC Sports televises the 75th Indianapolis 500, the greatest auto race in the world, Monday. Defending champ Arie Luyendyk heads a field of 33 drivers.

FAMILY FAIRE

Talking car gets the week rolling

By Mary Ann Townsend
Beginning with the crime-fighting capabilities of a talking car, specials for the whole family are featured this week.

NBC starts off the week with the return of David Hasselhoff in his role as Michael Knight in Knight Rider 2000 on Sunday, May 19. It's the beginning of the 21st century and Knight must stop a gun-running ring. But first he needs to rebuild his partner in crime-fighting: his talking, thinking car, KITT.

ABC on Monday, May 20, offers The Best of Disney: 50 Years of Magic. The two-hour special celebrates the Disney films, characters and entertainment specials that have become part of the fabric of American life. The special stars Dick Van Dyke, Neil Patrick Harris, Harry Connick Jr. and Shelley Long, among others. Rare behind-the-scenes footage from Disney classics will be featured.

On cable, HBO continues its popular Babar series with "Never Cry Alien," premiering Tuesday, May 21. Based on the classic children's books of Jean and Laurent de Brunhoff.

TRIVIA, ETC.

From film to stage and back again...

By Steven Alan McGaw

Questions:

1. Ava Gardner played the leading female role in the movie. Bette Davis, among others, starred in the stage version. What is the name of the property?

2. Audrey Hepburn starred, of course, in the film version of My Fair Lady. Identify the actress who was slighted by not being asked to repeat her Broadway success.

3. Philip Anglim originated the role. Mark Hamill played the part for a while. Name the show and the rock star who critics generally agreed was the best of the actors to take turns at the lead.

4. The Tommy Tune-staged musical was called Nine. The show was based on what film by what director?

5. Stephen Sondheim's A Little Night Music was also based on a film. (You know what I'm asking!)

Answers:

1. Night of the Iguana
2. Julie Andrews
3. The play is The Elephant Man; the actor/singer in question is David Bowie.
4. The film is 8-1/2, directed by Federico Fellini.
5. Sondheim based his lovely musical on the Ingmar Bergman film Smiles of a Summer Night.

Hard work paying off for Donna Pescow

By Lisa Otoupal

Donna Pescow's career is swinging from a star as she successfully takes on the role of a single mother raising her extraterrestrial teenage daughter in Out of This World.

Born and raised in Brooklyn, N.Y., Pescow's career sprang into action after attending the American Academy of Dramatic Arts on a scholarship. Just three months after graduating a director offered her a job touring in Ab Wilderness. After the show closed, she studied with Lee Strasberg, again on a scholarship, and continued to audition for theater and TV roles.

All the hard work paid off when Pescow was asked to audition for the role of Annette in Saturday Night Fever. After gaining back the Brooklyn accent she had worked so hard to lose and auditioning for two different directors, Pescow got the part. She was voted one of the top three supporting actresses by the New York Film Critics Circle in 1977 for her performance, and Hollywood's interest in her grew. She co-starred in telefilms and then met with Garry (Happy Days) Marshall, who cast her for the series Angie.

After Angie was canceled, Pescow appeared in popular television series, telefilms and miniseries. She also appeared on stage in starring roles in Guys and Dolls, Isn't It Romantic and A My Name Is Alice before going on

Dr. Menzies wants Dr. Newberry transferred on ABC's STAT, Tuesday.

Back Pain Now History!

"As a manufacturers rep, I'm constantly on the run lugging and lifting computers. My neck and back were a disaster area. I didn't want to take drugs, and couldn't afford time off. Dr. Gover gently removed the nerve pressure. I'm back on line again, and I feel great."
