Plymouth opposes land sales

Plymouth Township has joined Canton in urging officials of the Plymouth-Canton Schools not to sell surplus land to developers. Township officals, who have requested a meeting with their counterparts from the school district, want to use the property as parkland.

BY M.B. DILLON

Like Canton Township, Plymouth Township is urging the school district not to sell selected surplus land to developers. Township officials and residents would like to see certain sites preserved as open space and for recreational use.

Plymouth Township officials, concerned about a partially wooded 17-acre site adjoining Plymouth Township Park that's up for sale, hope they're more successful than Canton was recently.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack requested that the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools sell to the township a parcel adjoining Field Elementary School so that it could be preserved as open space for nearby residents.

The township offered the school district what it originally paid for the site, plus an adjustment for inflation. That offer was turned down, and Canton officials have determined that paying the full market value of roughly $1.2 million isn't feasible.

The school district is entertaining an offer from The Selective Group, Inc. to purchase the 17 acres for $850,000. The Farmington Hills developer would like to build single family homes on at least 37 lots.

Canton sophomore joins pops orchestra

Delia Chien of Canton is only a sophomore, but she is putting "all of her ducks in a row" for the future.

The 15-year-old Plymouth-Canton High School student was one of just 20 area youth selected to perform in an all-area pops orchestra sponsored by Twelve Oaks Mall. Her selection to the group netted her a $1,000 college scholarship and an opportunity to perform under the direction of Goofy, of Disney fame.

"It should be a lot of fun," said Chien, who auditioned twice for her spot as a violinist. "We play all pop music and I'm used to classical."

"Pink Cadillac" is not exactly a tune the Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra would be expected to play. Chien is a part of that group, too.

The pops orchestra will actually be under the direction of a conductor from San Francisco which Chien finds to be rather impressive. Goofy will be standing in as a guest conductor during a performance Aug. 1 at the Novi mall.

Chien first began to play the violin when she was in second grade. She had already studied piano, but wanted to take up an instrument that was better suited for a group performance.

She chose violin. Her older brother plays the viola and her mother plays and teaches the piano.

Scrub the clubs

The Canton Chamber of Commerce Women's and Men's Golf Outing '92 is set for Tuesday, Aug. 4, at Fellows Creek Golf Club on Lotz Road in Canton. Proceeds will go to Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE). "We'd especially like to see more women golfers out this year," said committee chair Frank McMurray. "There are already twice as many signed up as last year."

The day's events will kick off with a continental breakfast at 7:30 a.m. The 18-hole, four-person scrambles tournament will begin at 8:30 a.m. with a shotgun start.

On the course, golfers will be treated to goodie bags, pop and beer. Also on tap are a buffet lunch, and gifts including a new Ford for the winner of the hole-in-one contest, and numerous trips to golf resorts.

There'll also be closest-to-the-pin; putting; longest drive; and best-dressed foursome contests as well as sponsorship opportunities.

To register, call the chamber at 453-4040.

Run to the border

A new Taco Bell restaurant opened Friday north of the border (Canton's that is) in Plymouth Township.

The restaurant is at 205 Ann Arbor Road, west of Lilley, between the Fox Hills Chrysler dealership and Evola Music.

The fast food chain closed its Plymouth store on S. Main Street Thursday night. That restaurant had limited parking and no accommodations for drive-through service. The new restaurant has more parking and a drive-through window.

Taco Bell now has one location in the city (at Main and Mill streets) and the new township restaurant.

The eatery celebrated the grand opening of its newest facility by placing a giant taco on the sidewalk in front of the building and inviting passers-by inside.

Red, white and yellow carnations were handed out to the ladies, and a clown made balloon animals for children.

Knife-wielding suspect arrested after argument

An argument at a local party store Sunday turned into a charge of felonious assault against a local teen.

A Canton Township police officer was driving past the Wilderberry Party Store on Ford Road when he saw four teens arguing in the parking lot.

The teens had been parked next to each other and when the driver of one car noticed the driver of the other car staring at him, he jumped out of the car and said he was going to "cut his f------ heart out."

The argument continued for some time, as witnesses reported the individual pulled out a knife with a four-inch blade.

The teen with the knife was arrested and charged with felonious assault.

Attempted break-in

Canton Township police report an attempted break-in at the Pizza Hut in Coventry Commons.

An officer was patrolling the area at 2:53 a.m. July 19 when he heard a fire alarm. He witnessed smoke coming from the Pizza Hut building. He contacted the fire department and attempted to gain entry into the restaurant.

Once the smoke was cleared, officers found the safe had been tampered with, but nothing was stolen. There was no sign of forced entry into the building. Damage was minimal.

Drunken driver

Police were called to an abandoned vehicle July 18 on Michigan Avenue near Belleville Road. When arriving at the scene officers found a car in the right lane with the lights on and engine stalled.

Upon closer examination, officers found an 18-month-old baby crawling around in the back seat and a man slumped over the front seat.

Officers administered sobriety tests and found the driver to be under the influence of alcohol. He was taken into custody and the child was turned over to the grandmother.

Motorist arrested

While making a routine traffic stop July 18 on North Haggerty, Canton officers arrested the motorist for carrying a concealed weapon.

While the driver reached into the glove compartment for his registration, officers noticed a box of ammunition. They asked if he had a weapon and the man said he had a pistol. Officers located a Smith & Wesson pistol loaded in a holster underneath the driver's seat.

The driver claimed to be a security guard and a reservist with the Detroit police, but he later changed his story, according to police.

most reasonable use of the property should be to incorporate it into the Township Park complex," said Plymouth Township Supervisor Gerald Law in a letter to the school board last week.

"The Plymouth Township Board is prepared to work with the school board to see that this happens in a manner that is in the best interest of the taxpayers of Plymouth Township and the Plymouth-Canton School District," said Law.

Jim Anulewicz, director of public services for the township, said a beech climax forest "of equal to, or slightly less, quality than the Miller Woods" covers eight of the 17 acres. "It's fabulous," he said of the woodland, home to immense hardwood trees, hawks, owls and wildflowers. "We could put two soccer fields in there (the open area) and have the woodlot area preserved with some nature trails and a small nature center."

Used by students

Anulewicz envisions "extensive use of that site by the schools. "Wouldn't it be great to incorporate use of that nature trail into science classes? You could have a controlled, protected area and staff on hand, assuring a worthwhile program."

School board president Roland Thomas says the board is willing to discuss the issue, but doesn't see a need to keep the land as open space.

"There's always merit in continuing discussions, and we can probably try to work something out with them," he said. "But we also have an agreement with The Selective Group and will have to take a look at it when Dr. Hoben gets back in town." Both Superintendent John Hoben and associate superintendent for business Ray Hoedel were unavailable for comment.

"We have no real educational need for that property," Thomas said. "The board has determined that it is surplus. We owe it to the taxpayers of both Plymouth and Canton to sell that property so that it can be used by somebody.

"What we hope to do is to take the money we raise and buy additional property in other parts of the community so we have a land bank where we can buy future schools. So money is going to be put back into school sites, or school site improvements," he said.

Yack sees the issue differently.

"I think when the school district purchased the parcels for possible school sites, they were basically working on behalf of the public, and all taxpayers in the school district participated in the purchase of the property.

"The fact that they are now seen as vacant parcels or surplus parcels implies that, well, they no longer need them. But maybe the public still would like to have them, but for a different use," he said. "And since the public has already paid for the properties once, it seems appropriate for the school district to offer them to the municipalities for what they paid for them, plus an adjustment for inflation so the original taxpayers could be made whole in terms of dollars they invested to preserve these as school sites."

Yack would like to see a public debate on the issue.

"The more opportunities we (the city and townships that make up the school district) have to debate the issue with school board members, the better, because we are all here to serve the same people. I don't know who said, 'No man is an island,' but that's the way the school board operates. They believe they are an island in a sea of taxpayers."

Preservation wanted

Joanne Lamar, president of the Glenview Homeowners' Association, has mobilized more than 80 residents to oppose the site's development.

"I'm not an isolationist, that's not the issue," said Lamar, adding that homeowners in neighboring Beacon Hill also oppose the development. Lamar said she was told by a school board member that the district is showing fiscal responsibility by selling the land.

"I understand the schools have financial trouble. But it seems to me that's an issue you take up with the state. I don't think you punish the people in the community. The last thing Plymouth Township needs is a new subdivision.

"The thousands of people in the community would be better served if there were a couple of soccer fields and nature paths, rather than 35 homes. It takes two weeks to put up a house. How long does it take to put up a forest like this?"

Chien's mother, Fumei, loves classical music and has always exposed her children to it, although she said she has never pushed it on them.

"Classical music they can listen to here (referring to the living room). Pop music they have to listen to in their rooms with the door closed," Fumei said.

Chien likes all types of music. She listens to rock music. She joined the Detroit Civic Orchestra to play classical tunes, and now she is being exposed to pop music through the all-area group.

Chien is torn between two possible professions to pursue. She would like to be a musician, but understands it is a difficult way to make a living.

Her other interest is medicine. She is learning more about that field this summer as well by volunteering at St. Joseph's Hospital in Ypsilanti and Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

"It has helped me learn what hospitals are like," Chien said.

She also is involved with the Science Olympiad team at Centennial Educational Park.

Chien was the only Canton student selected for the 20-piece pop orchestra. The group will perform at 11 a.m. July 30, 2 and 7 p.m. July 31 and Aug. 1, and 2 p.m. Aug. 2 at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi.

Youths train for police work

By Barbara Wilson
Staff Writer

They could be our future law enforcement officers, and they're getting a jump on their training through the Explorer program.

These people, some as young as 15, are learning all the ins and outs of being a police officer with the Canton Township Police Department.

"We try to make it as realistic as possible," said program leader Sgt. Joe Bippus. "Of course, we pay close attention to their safety and would never put them in potentially dangerous situations."

One Explorer participant dropped out of the program after witnessing a hanging victim when driving along with an officer on patrol. Bippus said leaving the program is nothing to be ashamed of, but it is good that the young people know what is involved before they invest valuable time in law enforcement training.

Explorers is a program offered through Boy Scouts of America for young men and women between the ages of 15 and 21. The program is offered through many companies and agencies to provide young people with a realistic look at careers.

Bippus currently supervises 13 youths in the Explorers Program at the Canton department. They meet once each week, listen to speakers, work on drills and participate in community events.

"I think it's important because I see something lacking in kids today," Bippus said. "I think it helps to build character in young people."

Most of the Explorers under his supervision would agree with him.

"I have some friends who could benefit from this type of discipline," said Ken Constantino, an 18-year-old Eagle Scout who just joined the group. "This is a fun way to learn about being a police officer and it's always better to work with police rather than run from them."

Bippus runs the program like a paramilitary group. Participants do drills and, when they act up, they drop to the ground for push-ups.

They wear military uniforms, march and exercise on a regular basis.

Residents may see the Explorers at community events like the Liberty Fest and the upcoming FLIP for DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) pancake breakfast. They operate finger-printing stations at area festivals to identify youngsters and they help to direct traffic.

"We want them to know the value of morals and understand the importance of being involved in their community," Bippus said.

In training: Explorer Post stands for inspection. Mike Ward's belt buckle was not properly shined — he was penalized 10 push-ups.

Taking it in: Jessica Smirno listens to details about the Pancake Breakfast where the Explorer Post will be working.

Each month, the Explorers are assigned an officer and they go along on patrol. They learn how to make traffic stops and are made aware of the boredom sometimes associated with patrol work.

If there is a situation that is potentially dangerous, the Explorer is dropped off and is then picked up by another officer.

The Canton group also recently returned from a weeklong police camp in Grayling organized by area police Explorers leaders.

At the camp, the Explorers work on the physical skills test that must be accomplished each month by police officers, as well as learn more about the profession.

"I can't believe the young people that can't do the skills test," Bippus said. "We have 40-year-old police officers that pass it all the time. These kids should be in better shape than we are."

Constantino, a John Glenn High School graduate, and other participants agree that the physical aspect of doing the job is important.

Candidate defends June win

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Money boosted — but didn't buy — his Wayne-Westland school board victory, first-place finisher Francis "Bud" Winter said.

The 63-year-old retired educator and Canton Township resident attributed his impressive win in the June 8 race to support from a cross-section of supporters that ranged from his former students to senior citizens.

"I believe my reputation for fairness, yet firmness, is really what got me elected," said Winter, who ended a 37½-year education career when he retired in 1989 as Wayne Memorial High School principal.

Winter spent $6,156 on his school board campaign, the Observer learned from newly available campaign expense reports at the Wayne County elections office. His spending made his candidacy one of the most expensive ever in the Wayne-Westland district.

The bulk of his money came from a fund-raiser that drew 350 supporters.

The money helped Winter pay for campaign literature that got across his message of wanting to return Wayne-Westland to the "lighthouse district" it once was. But he believes his tenure as an educator played a more important role.

"My record really speaks for itself," he said.

Both Winter and Richard LeBlanc, who won the other board seat at stake, also said they were seen by their supporters as independent-minded candidates who wouldn't come to the board carrying political baggage.

LeBlanc spent only $2,680, but won the second seat at stake in an election that saw the defeat of incumbent Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek, who spent $5,121.

LeBlanc, a Westland resident, said the money he raised helped him buy the campaign literature and signs that made his candidacy much more visible than his failed election bid in last year's race.

Although he spent 3¼ times more than he spent in 1991, LeBlanc also attributed his victory to harder work. He attended numerous community events, sent out mass mailings, courted absentee voters and spoke to groups of people that his supporters gathered at their homes.

Despite waging an expensive race, incumbent Kozorosky-Wiacek of Westland lost her re-election bid and blamed her defeat on a bitter mud-slinging campaign by her political enemies.

Her campaign committee has filed a complaint with the Secretary of State's office, claiming that three of her critics violated state elections laws by failing to include a disclaimer saying who paid for campaign fliers mailed to some voters.

The state is looking into the complaint, filed against William Ziemba, a former Westland City Council member; Carol Gillentine, a Wayne-Westland custodial employee, and Fredric Hagelthorn, who had earlier launched an unsuccessful recall attempt against Kozorosky-Wiacek.

Artists celebrate fair's success

By Linda Ann Chomin
Staff Writer

Canton Township's first Liberty Fest Fine Arts Fair in late June on the grounds of newly expanded Heritage Park was a rousing success.

Camaraderie thrived among the 43 fine artists exhibiting hundreds of paintings and works on papers including oils, acrylics, watercolors, pastels, graphite drawings, clay beads, and marbling during the two day event.

Crowds flocked through two lighted 60-by-90-foot tents to meet homegrown artists and watch them paint and draw. Members of the art community supported the show with their attendance. A limited edition of 200 T-shirts sold like hotcakes resulting in another 100 being re-ordered.

"I'm proud to be part of Liberty Fest 1992, the quality of art, we have in the community. We accomplished what we set out to do, give the people fine arts and a down home quality," said Sharon Dillenbeck, owner of D & M Art Studio and Gallery in Plymouth.

■ 'We accomplished what we set out to do, give the people fine arts and a down-home quality.'

Sharon Dillenbeck D & M Art Studio and Gallery

Dillenbeck and Julie Giordano of J. Giordano Studio in Northville jurored and produced the show cosponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department.

"The understanding and cooperation between the township and organizers," Dillenbeck said, "was the core of the festival's success."

Artists exhibiting from Canton Township included Dillenbeck, Joan Ther, Gwen Dietrich, Sherrie Moore, and painters from the Canton Senior Citizens Center on Michigan Avenue.

Plymouth artists Thomas LeGault, Bladen McClellan, Larry Clark and Florence Constable also joined Westland artist Carol McCreedy, Garden City's Norma McQueen, Northville's Giordano, Ann Arbor's Hugh and Liz Burley and Susan Argiroff, Theresa Willyard and Edward Allen of Livonia at the first ever celebration of fine arts in Canton Township.

"It was a large diversification of artists who supported each other and wanted to support and educated the community in the arts," said Dietrich, a graduate of Parsons School of Design in New York City.

Although Dietrich has exhibited her pastel paintings in one-person shows such as 'Dogs and Dames' at Nelson's Gallery in Livonia, this was her first outdoors art fair. It was made possible in part by Dillenbeck and the Burleys who loaned her exhibit panels.

"I think the Liberty Fest as a whole will grow, and the artist's market will continue to flourish in Canton Township," Dietrich said. "It really has strong potential."

Delonis: voters weary of taxes

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Election '92

Republican Richard Delonis supports efforts to overturn the landmark U.S. Supreme Court decision in Roe vs. Wade that protected abortion rights.

"It all comes back to my Catholic upbringing," said Delonis, a pro-life proponent who views the controversial court decision as "judicial activism."

Delonis, a 25-year-old law clerk, doesn't shy away from controversial issues in his quest to unseat longtime state Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, in the newly formed 18th District which includes most of Westland and three precints in the northeast corner of Canton Township.

Unopposed in the Aug. 4 primary, Barns is guaranteed a spot on the Nov. 3 ballot. To challenge her, however, Delonis must beat opponent Steven Cabrera in the contested GOP primary.

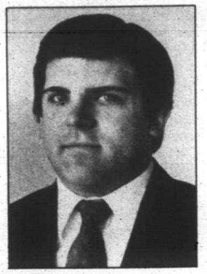
In separate interviews with the Observer, the Republican candidates last week responded to questions about abortion, school funding, property taxes, the economy and their chances of unseating Barns in the fiercely Democratic district.

Delonis believes he can defeat Barns because he's campaigning diligently to get his GOP platform across in a district that he says is incumbent-weary.

Unlike his GOP opponent, Delonis hasn't called for an end to the so-called "Robin Hood" method of correcting school funding inequities among districts. But, in shifting money from richer to poorer districts, Delonis stressed that it's important to minimize the negative impact on districts.

"I think we really need to listen to the citizens of all the districts," he said.

Delonis also supports the tax-base sharing plan that shifts money among districts, though he said legislators need to make it clear the money comes from industry — not from homeowner property taxes.



Richard Delonis

Delonis also favors Gov. John Engler's "cut-and-cap" plan to slash the school portion of property taxes by 30 percent and limit annual assessment increases to 3 percent or the rate of inflation.

In addition, Delonis suggested that property assessments could be based on the value of homes at the time they are resold.

As he has campaigned, Delonis has found taxes to be the top concern among voters. But he coupled that concern with the need to spur the economy and create more jobs in Michigan.

To that end, Delonis favors rolling back some governmental regulations and creating more incentives to lure business and industry to Michigan — and keep them here. He specifically called for efforts to ease restrictions on small business.

Delonis criticized Lansing incumbents who've failed in their efforts to stabilize the economy, and he predicted that an anti-incumbent fever at the state and national levels could boost his campaign.

"I'm not tied to politics," he said. "I'm a newcomer. I offer something fresh."

And he leaves voters with a question about solving problems: "What will the incumbent do in the next two years that she hasn't already done in the last 10 years?"

Cabrera endorsed by Right to Life

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Election '92

Republican legislative candidate Steven Cabrera's stance against abortion has won him the endorsement of the Michigan Right to Life organization.

"I believe the rights of the Constitution extend to the unborn," he said. "Those who have the most to lose in abortion don't have a voice."

Cabrera, 33, has been outspoken about his views in his campaign to unseat state Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, in the newly formed 18th District that includes most of Westland and three precincts in Canton Township.

His first mission, however, is to defeat rival Richard Delonis in the Aug. 4 GOP primary, in hope of winning Barns' House seat in the November general election. Barns is unchallenged in the primary.

Cabrera, an employee of Michigan National Bank's sales and real estate finance division, talked with the Observer last week about such issues as abortion, school funding, property taxes, the economy and his chances of unseating Barns.

Cabrera has made education his top priority. Although he supports increased spending, he has demanded more accountability for both students and teachers.

"Anybody who wants to do a good job in their heart has no problem with accountability," he said.

Unlike his GOP opponent, Cabrera doesn't favor the "Robin Hood" method of taking money from wealthier school districts and giving it to poorer ones. He believes schools of choice would create an incentive to improve school funding.

Schools that perform better would draw the attention of parents and students. "Dollars will follow the students," he said.

Noting that "money doesn't solve everything," Cabrera also suggested more school-business partnerships and parental involvement.

For taxpayers, Cabrera favors the governor's plan to cut the portion of taxes for schools by 30 percent and limit annual increases to 3 percent or the rate of inflation. He has adopted that stance "not just because I'm a Republican, but because it makes sense."

Wayne-Westland, among other districts, has a high tax rate but has declined in performance, Cabrera said, and that has made it difficult for citizens to support higher taxes.

"We're so spoiled by saying the only way to solve a problem is to throw more money at it," he said. While spending on education is important, it, alone, won't rescue schools, he said.

Like his opponent, Cabrera also supports efforts to create more incentives for business and industry in order to improve Michigan's economy. By creating more jobs, the state would have more workers who would be paying more taxes, he said.

Cabrera believes he can win the GOP primary and defeat Barns in November.

City blocks tax break

The Livonia City Council Wednesday denied a transfer of employment request for Olin Corp., pulling a tax break away from Olin's new landlord in Plymouth Township.

The chemical company moved a portion of its operations from Waco Court to the Plymouth Industrial Center on Eckles Road last December.

The council voted 4-3 to deny the request from Olin and Premier Realty, owner of the industrial park.

Councilman Ron Ochala said the state tax abatement policy, which gives tax breaks of up to 12 years for industrial development or expansion, "is bad law."

Incumbent faces tough battle in prosecutor's race

By Wayne Peal
Staff Writer

The Wayne County Prosecutor's race centers on:

- The incumbent's record in office.
- Union politics.
- City/suburban politics and, possibly, the hidden hand of Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.

In short, it's a typical Wayne County Democratic primary.

Incumbent John O'Hair, 62, and state Sen. Virgil Smith, 55, are fighting it out. Both are Detroit residents.

Though it's only a primary, the Aug. 4 election is decisive. No Republicans nor any third party challengers will appear on the fall ballot.

Smith, a state Legislator since 1976, is taking O'Hair to task over the office's conviction rate.

"There's a survey — and it's a county executive's office survey — that shows the conviction rate is 43.6 percent," Smith said. "One of his (O'Hair's) problems is that he's not screening cases properly."

O'Hair, however, said the report doesn't stem from executive's office but from a Detroit Recorder's Court consultant. (An executive's office spokesman confirmed the report came from the court, not the executive's office.)

"To tell you the truth, I don't know where their figures come from," he said.

In contrast, O'Hair offers a report of his own showing a conviction rate hovering around 92 percent for each of the past four years for all cases — including those settled through plea bargaining.

"We can't get everybody, but I'd say our record is pretty good," he said. "Criminals are being held accountable for their actions."

John O'Hair
Wayne County prosecutor

Smith has received heavy union backing — the UAW, AFL-CIO, AFSCME and the Michgian Education Association are in his camp — at a time when the contract with assistant county prosecutors is expiring.

Delays in settling a contract three years ago had a devastating effect on department morale, Smith said.

"You can't have good morale in a situation like that," he said.

O'Hair said he doubted the contract delays had the negative effect Smith claims, adding he became even more involved than usual in settling the contract.

"Normally, it's the county that settles the economic issues, the prosecutor who settles non-economic issues," O'Hair said. "But I did become involved in settling the contract."

Smith has also received backing from the Detroit-based 1st and 13th District party organizations.

O'Hair said he believes Coleman Young is the driving force behind his rival.

"Virgil Smith is Coleman Young's man," he said. "Coleman Young has been upset with our office since the prosecution of (ex-Detroit Police Chief) William Hart."

The mayor's office declined to return telephone calls on the subject.

O'Hair has received endorsement from suburban Democratic groups, including the 15th, 16th and 17th District organizations in western Wayne County.

He's also received backing from the Police Officers Association of Michigan, Wayne County Association of Police Chiefs and Wayne County deputies and commanders unions.

The incumbent is stressing his accomplishments.

"Our Probe Unit, focusing on the habitual criminal, and our child abuse unit have been particularly successful," O'Hair said.

Smith, who maintains a private law practice, is stressing his experience with judicial and law enforcement issues.

"I was the primary sponsor of Wayne County court re-organizing legislation," Smith said. "I've worked with judges, I've practiced in the courts."

O'Hair has been prosecutor since 1983. He had spent the previous 15 years as a Wayne County Circuit Judge and served three years as a judge in the old Detroit Common Pleas Court.

STREET SENSE

Readers question advice to Michelle

BARBARA SCHIFF

Dear readers:

I have never received such a barrage of high quality responses to a letter that was printed in this column. I am including two of them because they are so well-written and their message is loud and clear.

The issue involved is one of teenagers making insensitive to obnoxious phone calls at any time of the day or night. In my reply I had indicated that the girl who was making unwanted phone calls to a boy was in keeping with the norms of her peer group. Indeed, one of the letters you will read gives proof of this through her own experiences.

However, that is part of our cultural scene for this age group does not make it acceptable behavior for all other people. Unfortunately, at the adolescent age, being in favor in one's peer group is more important than the opinion of the best of parents.

A leading expert in the field defined adolescence as a time of psychosis (craziness) which fortunately most individuals outgrow (the problem for their parents is whether they are capable of enduring the behavior until it is outgrown).

I would like to close this response with thanks to the letter writers who have filled in the dimension of the problem which I left out. I am not pretending that I am humble, just stating that I have been humbled.

Many thanks.

Barbara

Dear Barbara:

In response to your July 6 Street Sense article about teenage girls obsessed with calling boys, I had to write to give my opinion. You headline your column with "What daughter did is acceptable today." I'd like to know acceptable to whom? Certainly not to the family of the boy. Michelle's daughter is calling constantly at all hours of the day and night. What about the rights of the family of the boy not to be harassed?

I'd like to tell you the other side of the story. As the mother of a 15-year-old boy, I am bothered by not one, but at least a half dozen girls calling here all the time.

I have to unplug my phone after 11 p.m. so as not to be awakened at all hours. Because of a modern invention "call waiting," I can't even carry on a decent conversation with anyone without being interrupted. I've had obscene messages left on my machine that would make a sailor blush. My son can't eat a meal, take a shower, or do his homework or paper route without multitudes of interruptions.

I'm not against a girl calling maybe once a day, but why 20 or 30 times? Why be a pest? When someone asks you to stop calling, you should honor their request.

Your advice to Michelle should have been a firm "stop calling this boy, period." Parents' role should be to guide their children and teach them right from wrong, and Michelle's daughter should be told it is wrong to harass anyone. And if she does not comply, her phone privileges should be taken away.

A phone is a marvelous thing, but good phone manners in something that should go along with the privilege of using it.

Being independent and aggressive in the workplace has nothing to do with making a complete pest out of yourself. Michelle should make her daughter call this boy's mom and apologize for her behavior and promise not to bother them again.

B.L.

Dear Barbara:

I CANNOT BELIEVE your response to Michelle — the mother who is distressed about her seventh grade daughter's calling a boy "at all hours of the day, and night." (The boy has asked her to stop many times.)

Regardless of the fact that her daughter's behavior is within the normal limits of current teenage mores, this is UNACCEPTABLE behavior in ANY CASE.

A male relentlessly pursuing an uninterested female, of any age;

A woman visiting a neighbor several times a day and keeping her from her duties or other interests;

A mother calling her adult son repeatedly for no reason but to talk about nothing;

A wife bothering her husband at his office for every little question that comes to her mind.

ANY PERSON who makes a pest of him- or herself is obnoxious, and a mother certainly should teach her children to avoid such actions, just as she should help her children in many ways to become likable persons, and to respect other people's privacy and preferences.

You DO tell Michelle to talk it out with her daughter, but with no mention of the purpose of guidance, only acceptance.

PLEASE make it clear that consideration for other people's feeling is never out of date.

H.C.H.

Neophyte Nation: Chris Thornburg (from left), Derek Spiewak and Eric Schmidt hope people enjoy the mood the band's in musically instead of trying to analyze what they're trying to do.

A Nation to believe in musically

If Neophyte Nation had a constitution, one of the words that would appear in it most would be believe. This three-man band's philosophy of music is that you perform songs that "you believe in." And they hold to that philosophy. This group has finally honed its muscial blend , offering up some songs worth listening to. After all, they say, you can't perform unless you believe in your music.

BY LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER

Here's a Neophyte Nation nutshell: Musical dexterity, a vision of clarity and songs of disparity.

Why say more? Well, under closer examination, there's some blips on the radar screen when honing in on Neophyte Nation. All of which is by design, according to band members Chris Thornburg, Derek Spiewak and Eric Schmidt.

"We have this bad habit, tendency . . . whatever you want to call it," said Spiewak, the group's nimble fingered bassist. "We put a lot of space between ourselves and the people we're trying to reach."

Call it a lack of interpersonal communication, perhaps, but not a musical one. Neophyte Nation put forth a rain storm of thundering bass guitar, a cascade of acoustic strumming and an outpouring of gut emotion.

In "We Hate You," off the band's self-titled demo tape, there's a discernible Smiths'-inspired angst. Other numbers hint at the experimental pop yields this collection of jazz-influenced musicians seek to attain.

Band interplay is intricate, a delicate balance is found between the exploratory and the obtuse. The feelings Thornburg expresses in his lyrics, though, come across as real and direct, keeping in line with his heroes Pete Townshend and Neil Young.

"It (emotional validity) definitely comes from songs you believe in," said Thornburg, the band's guitarist and vocalist. "You can't perform them unless you believe in them."

Even the bile splattered indiscriminately in "We Hate You"?

"As a kid growing up I was treated very mean by the kids in my subdivision," Thornburg said. "I got over it, I guess.

"I'm way beyond that now. I'm going onto deeper things, things that are going on inside you."

At the present, the majority of Neophyte Nation's songs focus on relationships gone sour. The 1988

Derek Spiewak

Livonia Churchill graduate talks how he eventually wants to write about the radio inside us all, the one in which little voices tell us what we should and should not do.

All of a sudden, the signal on the screen begins to dissipate.

Band members then mention how "Elastic Girl," a cosmic swirl of voice, bass and guitar, actually has the rhythmic pulse to the number of pie.

A mere mention perhaps it's these transgressions that deem Neophyte Nation somewhat esoteric draws a quick response from the members.

"We're not too taxing on the brain," said Spiewak, adding that the little feature was purely for the band's own entertainment.

Added the band's drummer Eric Schmidt: "I'm not sure we're trying to associate with people through the music. . . . Hopefully, people will enjoy the mood we're in instead of trying to analyze what we're trying to do."

In the band's bio, there is mention how they "keep a distant social profile" and how they say "they play intelligent rock when actually they just play what sounds good." The word ambiguity comes into focus.

Neophyte Nation formed in February 1991, bringing together musical collaborators through mutual friends. Initially, the band was a four-piece and included keyboard player Mike Swanson. When he left, the Nation stayed with three members.

Neophyte Nation has recorded a four-song demo and hopes to have an LP out next year sometime. In the meantime, the group is playing a small number of shows. They're in it for the long haul, members say.

"If nothing else comes out of this, I've had so much fun playing this music," Spiewak said.

Classic films can relieve those summer movie blahs

JOHN MONAGHAN

TICKETS PLEASE

Summertime and the movies are sleazy. Only "The Unforgiven," Clint Eastwood's latest attempt at resurrecting the western, has any hopes of salvation for summer audiences who long for something more from a movie.

This summer also finds a wealth of classic films available on the big screen. Along with the biweekly program at the Redford Theatre, the State Wayne Theater in Wayne has been showing classic titles on three separate screens for just $2 ($1 for students and senior citizens).

Built in 1947, the theater existed as the local moviehouse until the late 1970s, when it was leased for country music concerts. It returned as a second-run movie theater for much of the 1980s, subdivided from its original 1,500 seat auditorium into two rooms.

The City of Wayne purchased the State Wayne in December 1990. A $1 million renovation (including the $320,000 purchase price) has turned it into a four-screen multiplex with seating capacities ranging from 125 to 350.

The flashing neon marquee has been restored as a downtown landmark. A mural of a fire-breathing dragon, originally painted in the early 1960s, has been reproduced in the fourth auditorium. It will be open soon, complete with a stage allowing community theater persentations, concerts and lectures.

The classic movie program has been going "moderately well," according to City Manager John Zech. During a visit to the State Wayne on a recent Thursday night, I found the combined audience total from the three theaters equalled less than 10.

Part of the problem, of course, lies with video. With American Movie Classics and other cable stations showing uncut classics 24 hours a day, moviegoers are less likely to venture from the couch to see "On the Waterfront" — for any price.

And it's a shame, too, because some films — especially those originally shot in CinemaScope — really do convey an entirely different feeling on the big screen. "Cool Hand Luke," which I caught during my visit last week, had an expansive look I had never experienced on the claustrophobic confines of the TV screen.

To complicate matters, the purchase agreement stipulated that the theater can't show movies unless they are at least two years old. The previous owner didn't want the State Wayne to compete with their other local theaters.

The titles have been a mixed bag, with routine westerns, war films and romantic comedies, sprinkled in with evergreens starring John Wayne, Cary Grant, and Katherine Hepburn. Loyal movie buffs have recognized this as a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to see obscure titles on the big screen.

Some of the more interesting movies pop up next weekend, Aug. 5-9 — the brilliantly bitter "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" with Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton and "Broken Arrow," one of the fascinating westerns James Stewart made in the 1950s.

Movie history doesn't begin and end with "Casablanca" and "Citizen Kane" at The Fox. A drive out to Wayne for lesser-known titles by the same actors and directors can sometimes be even more satisfying — and on the big screen much more rare.

SCREEN SCENE

■ DETROIT FILM THEATRE
Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call 832-2730 for information. ($5)

"Delicatessen (France — 1991), 7 and 9:30 p.m. July 31-Aug. 1, 4 and 7 p.m. Aug. 2. In this bizarre French comedy, set in the near future, the absence of cattle makes the local butcher go to extreme lengths for fresh meat.

■ FOX THEATRE
2211 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call 567-6000 for information. ($10)

"Casablanca" (USA — 1942), through Aug.2 (call for show times). Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman never looked better as Ilsa and Rick, lovers with a past in Paris, in this newly struck print.

■ MAPLE THEATRE
4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield. Call 855-9090 for information. ($5.50; $3.75 twilight)

"Howard's End" (Britain — 1992). A romantic tale of two families and the inheritance of a beloved ancestral home.

■ MICHIGAN THEATRE
603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Call 668-8397 for information. ($5; $4 students and senior citizens)

"A Zed and Two Noughts" (Britain — 1985), 9:15 p.m. July 27-28. In this typically difficult work from Peter Greenaway ("Prospero's Books"), three people compare their lives to caged animals in a zoo.

"All the Vermeers in New York" (USA — 1992), through Aug. 1 (call for show times). A woman looking at a painting by Vermeer and a man, unnoticed, looking at her and the start of their relationship is the focus of Jon Jost's latest.

"Incident at Ogala" (USA — 1992), 9:15 p.m. July 31. Produced by Robert Redford, this documentary sets out to uncover the wrongful arrest in the 1975 shooting of two FBI agents at the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota.

■ REDFORD THEATRE
17360 Lahser, Detroit. Call 537-1135 for information. ($2.50)

Westerns — "Hot Lead" (USA — 1957) and "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance" (USA — 1962), 8 p.m. July 31-Aug. 1 (organ overture with "Cowboy" Col. Jack Moelmann begins at 7:30 p.m.). Sam Fuller directed the first, with Rod Steiger as a Yankee-hating confederate soldier who, rather than surrender, joins a tribe of Sioux Indians. In John Ford's "Liberty Valance," a naive law man (James Stewart) becomes a hero for shooting a notorious lawman.

■ STATE WAYNE THEATER
35310 Michigan Ave., Wayne. All films play nightly Wednesday-Sunday. Call 326-4600 for show times. ($2; $1 students and senior citizens)

"Blood and Sand" (USA — 1941). Tyrone Power stars as a naive bullfighter who discards true love for temptress Rita Hayworth.

"Desk Set" (USA — 1957). One of the later Katherine Hepburn-Spencer Tracy pairings. He's an efficiency expert automating her department at a television station. "Indiscreet" (USA — 1958). Cary Grant is a playboy who can't forget his affair with actress Ingrid Bergman.

Dusbiber mourned

Plymouth Township Concerned Citizens mourn the loss of our founder, leader and mentor, Warren M. Dusbiber, who died July 11, 1992.

Warren taught us that you do not always have to shout to be heard and that knowledge and perseverance are powerful tools. He was never too busy to take on another task that had to be done or lend his expertise to help solve a problem.

A man of quiet dignity and strong convictions, Warren was always there for us — always watching over us. As Plymouth Township Concerned Citizens continue onward, somehow we know Warren is still watching.

Patty A. Schmidt, Plymouth

Bear wrestling OK

I'm writing to you about the article in Thursday's paper (July 16, 1992) about the bar bear wrestling. In my opinion, I see nothing wrong with this bear wrestling. The biggest man on this earth could not hurt this bear. The people protesting this event are idiots. I'm referring to the people associated with PETA "People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals."

I subscribe to a bowhunter's magazine published by Ted Nugent and I'm sending you a quote from the magazine. This quote is from Ingrid Newkirk, founder of PETA. Nugent refers to these people as "gomers." Read the quote and judge for yourself.

Gomer Quote: "Animal liberationists do not separate out the human animal, so there is no rational basis for saying that a human being has special rights. A rat is a pig is a dog is a boy. They're all mammals." (Vogue, Sept. 1989)

Puzzled by editorial

Regarding your endorsements for Canton trustees carried on the editorial page of your Thursday, July 16, editions . . .

It surprised me that my name was not among those the paper chose to endorse.

Normally I would say "so be it" and continue my campaign, but in this instance I don't understand your reasoning and admit to being very curious.

Just last Aug. 1, on your editorial page you ran another editorial entitled, "Good job . . . Residents win with Shefferly."

Among the compliments within the editorial were the following:

"And his investigations are apparent during board meetings with his thought-provoking comments."

"When Shefferly took office in 1988, he was a virtual newcomer to township politics. But since then, he's earned the respect of other trustees, even when they don't agree with him."

"Shefferly is known for his long-standing refusal to vote in favor of new developments that could add to the problem of flooding basements in Canton neighborhoods.

"The residents are the real winners for having voted Shefferly — a hard-working, dedicated trustee — into office."

If I was so good just last Aug. 1 as described in your editorial of that date, then where did I go wrong in such a short time?

Robert J. Shefferly, Canton

Staying neutral

Recently my picture and a quote commending the qualifications of Dan Calabrese appeared in his brochure as part of his campaign for State Representative. While I was happy to provide the quote and appear in the brochure, I would like to emphasize to the voters of the 21st District that I also consider Deborah Whyman to be well-qualified for this office and that I am officially neutral in this race and have made no endorsement of either candidate over the other.

I consider them both to be fine Republican candidates who would represent the 21st Distsrict very well.

R. Robert Geake, state senator

State failed to act

I read with great interest the Building Scene section of July 16, for I have recently had problems with a builder whom I hired to build a home in Canton. Briefly, my story goes like this.

The builder had a model home which he showed to me and which I later contracted with him to build. When the home was completed (June 25, 1991), I was dissatisfied with the house. Yet the local building inspector wasn't.

I refused to close on the home, and attempts to peaceably resolve the differences between the builder and me failed. He kept my down payment and sold the home to someone else. So I filed a lawsuit, which is still in the early stages as I write this.

The article entitled "Recourse available through state board" was especially interesting to me because I took that route shortly after filing my lawsuit. I spent much time and effort completing the complaint form, attaching all the required documentation (including pictures), and forwarding all to the Bureau of Commercial Services in Lansing as well as to the building code official in Canton. Naturally, I expected the Bureau of Commercial Services to swoop down on the home builder like a hawk on a mouse. That was not to be the case, however.

Mr. Frawley's article mentioned two courses of action a complaint could take once it has been filed — mediation or a hearing before the board of licensing and regulation. It failed to mention, however, a third course of action which a complaint can take — no action at all.

My original complaint was filed Nov. 18, 1991. On Jan. 4, 1992, I forwarded additional pictures to the Bureau of Commercial Services, and having never heard from them regarding the original complaint, I asked them for a status report. The letter I received shortly thereafter made me feel helpless and abandoned. It read in part, ". . . we can only investigate complaints and pursue licensing action on complaints which indicate a violation of licensing laws or rules. Your complaint does not address any such violation. Therefore, we are unable to pursue this matter."

I again wrote to the Bureau of Commercial services on Feb. 24, 1992 and all but begged them to reconsider my case and requested they have an investigator contact me so we could look at the model and my home first hand. They responded thusly, ". . . another attorney in our unit reviewed the matters which you submitted. it was her opinion that there is no violation of licensing rules or statutes."

Mr. Frawley's article leads readers to believe that the state government is always going to be there for those who are unhappy with their dream homes. On that point, I must disagree, for in my case, there was no mediation; there was no hearing; there were no formal charges. There was simply no action at all.

Thanks for coverage

The Canton Center Chiropractic Clinic would like to extend its appreciation to you and your staff, especially Nancy Pennington, for helping make the recent Fingerprint I.D. session at Hardee's such a well-received event. The front page exposure, which you graciously provided for our notice, was definitely instrumental in the great success of this community endeavor. This is another shining example of the Observer's value to our community.

A proud American

I am an American and proud to be one. I live in a country that has the greatest potential in the world. This is my country, born out of independence and free enterprise. My country has the constitutional capacity to ensure a standard of living beyond all other nations on the face of this earth.

Yet, I must stop and listen to the sounds of a tormented eagle. "Strong and Brave Bird — where did you go?" Did the polluted air and streams contaminate your existence? Has the hungry industrialist ignored your warning? For the past 40 years has the politician compromised your fate with empty promises? "Stong and Brave Bird, are you exhausted and over-taxed?"

Unfortunately, strong and brave eagles are a dying breed. They are choking to death on institutional and political bureaucracy.

George Duffouro, Redford

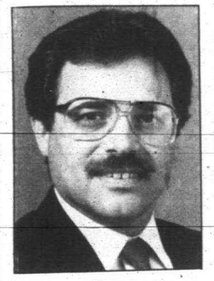
Dem candidates for sheriff address election issues

Democratic voters will select from among three candidates seeking the party's nomination for Wayne County Sheriff. Candidates are: incumbent Robert Ficano of Livonia, Wayne County Commissioner Kevin Kelley of Redford Township and Charles Nemeth of Dearborn. The winner of the Aug. 4 primary will face Republican Dennis Malin of Dearborn and Tisch candidate Daniel G. Tackett of Taylor in November.

The Democratic candidates were invited to submit biographical information, photographs and answer the following questions. Nemeth did not supply a photograph.



- Name: Robert A. Ficano
- Address: Livonia
- Age: 39
- Occupation: Sheriff of Wayne County
- Education: B.A. 1974 — Michigan State University; J.D., 1977 — University of Detroit Law School
- Professional Affiliations: Michigan Bar Association, Elections Law Committee — State Bar of Michigan, Livonia Bar Association, Governor's Correctional officers Training Council, Southeastern Chiefs of Police, Wayne County Chiefs of Police
- Civic Activities: Optimist Club, Livonia Jaycees, Metropolitan Crippled Children's Society — former president, Livonia Board of Education, Board of Canvassers, former member. Livonia Task Force on Declining Enrollment, Italian American Club of Livonia — General Counsel, St. Collette Church member.

1. What is the primary responsibility of the Wayne County Sheriff and what qualifications do you bring to the job?

The primary responsibility of the Wayne County Sheriff is to provide inmates with safe, secure and humane treatment. In addition, the sheriff's department provides security to: Detroit Wayne County Metropolitan Airport, county parks (park patrol), 142 square miles of waterway, secondary roads and court services.

Qualifications that I bring to the job are: nine years experience, legal background as an attorney, extensive community outreach, allowing me familiarity with countywide citizen needs and neighborhood concerns.

2. What cost-saving ideas can you offer taxpayers? Be specific.

Highlights of 1991 revenue generating programs:

- Executive division: $6,408.
- Court Service: $150,595.
- Contractual police officers: $4432,040.
- OUIL: $7,015.
- Drug enforcement: unit of 28 position is totally self-funded from narcotic forfeiture.
- Do Drugs, Do Time: anti-drug police task force, first-time offenders are offered drug treatment as opposed to prosecution. Service fee is $180.
- Airport Security: unit of 102 positions is funded by the airlines.
- FOC Enforcement: unit is totally self-funded by the state. Fees are paid for serving warrants and making arrests.

- Name: Kevin F. Kelley
- Hometown: Redford Township
- Age: 33
- Occupation: Wayne County Commissioner representing the 9th District (Redford Township and northwest Detroit).
- Education: B.A. from Central Michigan; M.A. (1986) in public administration from Western Michigan University.
- Professional Affiliations: American Society of Public Administration. Civic Activities: Redford Township Jaycees.

1. What is the primary responsibility of the Wayne County Sheriff and what qualifications do you bring to the job?

To administer the general operation and budget of the Department while providing the best available training and equipment for the officers to enhance their ability to enforce the law.

My education and government experience have sharpened my administrative skills and fiscally responsible attitude. I am prepared to revitalize the department.

2. What cost-saving ideas can you offer taxpayers? Be specific.

A balanced budget which provides effective spending for training and equipment is key. We need to reduce the present level of duplication of services. By increasing the level of municipal cooperation, the department would be recognized as a regional agency available to provide service and support.

- Name: Charles Nemeth
- Hometown: Dearborn
- Age: Not given
- Occupation: Self employed fee appraiser
- Education: Attended UCLA, University of Detroit, Henry Ford Community College
- Professional Affiliations: Director citizens action committee, 16th district Democrats; chairman, Dearborn Independent Citizens League.
- Civic Activities: Founders Society, Detroit Institute of the Arts; American Association of Retired Persons; Loyal Order of Moose; American Legion.

1. What is the primary responsibility of the Wayne County Sheriff and what qualifications do you bring to the job?

I have been involved in the policing process — public order, safety, prisoner detention and investigations. U.S. Army military police, private investigations, deputy sheriff Macomb County. Campaign manager for sheriff in Livingston County. I have managed large complexes, hotels, yacht clubs, golf courses. Worked with courts, pro-

Millage rebate sought

Local governments want jail tax money back

BY WAYNE PEAL
STAFF WRITER

Local cities and townships are lining up demanding a rebate from the county jail tax.

But county officials say it's all a misunderstanding.

A resolution demanding the county return the .1-mill collected annually for an as-yet unbuilt juvenile detention facility has been spreading like wildfire among local governments.

Canton passed it May 26. Since then, it's been passed by Redford, Garden City and Westland.

"This is money that should go back to local government," said Redford Trustee Garth Christie, a leader in the movement to have the money returned.

The resolution was also approved by municipal officials in Dearborn, Inkster, Romulus, as well as Sumpter and Van Buren townships.

■ 'You'd think this would be a big issue. But a lot of the voters I've talked to aren't really aware of it.'

Garth Christie
Redford trustee

County voters approved a 1-mill jail tax four years ago. Since, then the bulk of the money has gone to construction of the new county jail in Hamtramck, though local officials claim one-tenth of the levy was to have been set aside for youth.

Assistant county executive Dale Jurcisin, however, is urging municipalities to be patient.

"I think their whole premise is wrong," Jurcisin said. "We are working on a comprehensive plan."

The matter was tabled in Livonia, where Jurcisin is a city council member.

The issue, Jurcisin said, is that some communities receive county money for youth services programs; others do not.

The state recently announced its own plan, ultimately shifting youths from state institutions to community-based programs.

The new state program drew strong encouragement from the executive's office.

Return of money to the locals was expected to be an issue in several county commission races — Christie, who is running for a commission seat in Redford and eastern Livonia, said his involvement grew out of his candidacy.

But whether the issue will ever reach the commission or just go quietly away isn't certain.

"We're really waiting to see what other communities do," said Redford Clerk Marilyn Heldenbrand, who also supports the resolution.

"You'd thing this would be a big issue," Christie said. "But a lot of the voters I've talked to aren't really aware of it."

RESENTING ARTHRITIS
If you have arthritis and need fluid removed from your knee or other joint, you may undergo an unusual experience. When you undertake the procedure, you become tense and may feel light headed or nauseated.
Yet other times, when you are donating blood, or having laboratory tests drawn, you feel no such reaction.
Physicians are used to seeing these responses which represent more than the pain of the procedure itself. Often what you are expressing is resentment. In the case of joint aspiration you are revealing anger over your arthritis: that the condition isn't going away, that you can't control it without help, and that you have to spend time and money in a doctor's office. Worst still, you must take medicine daily and therefore are continuously reminded of your limits and impairment.
Don't be distressed by your reaction. Such feelings of frustration are natural. Moreover, your doctor can accept your outburst if that is the single way you rebel against your condition. Expressing resentment in the doctor's office is a far better airing of your feelings than if you stopped taking your medication or cancelled your office appointment.
Physicians realize you are revealing feelings not attitudes when you express bitter complaints over minor procedures.

Be brave: Experiment with exotic fresh fruit

Momma was never one to try something a little different. In all honesty though, 30 years ago Cinnamon's Produce Market in Wyandotte never really offered the more trendy upscale fruits and vegetables that are commonplace in many of today's markets.

Mangoes, caramboloas and Crenshaw melons were just beginning to be imported on the west coast. Their prices, as well as availability, were out of reach, especially to a family whose dad worked two jobs just to keep it afloat.

This is the season for fresh fruits, jams and jellies. To many, fresh fruit can be as simple as strawberries, blueberries and cantaloupe. But when it comes to enjoying a wide assortment, local produce markets are brimming with a multitude of selections.

In her book "Uncommon Fruits and Vegetables," Elizabeth Schneider offers a compendium of information on more exotic alternatives. From Atemoyas to Ugli fruit, unusual fruit selections abound and they taste equally as good sliced and eaten straight or made into delectable jams, jellies and sauces that could easily win an entry into an gourmet's cookbook.

Blood oranges

Blood oranges are gaining in popularity in the United States. Having long been a popular favorite in Europe, this huge, sweet orange with a scarlet interior makes for an inventive marmalade and can be interchanged with regular oranges with minor effort.

The membrane is a little tougher than a normal orange, but the blood orange is sure to enliven any fruit salad with shards of colorful beauty.

Another personal favorite is the gooseberry. Uncle Earl relished sister Rosie's homemade gooseberry pie. Resembling a small cherry tomato in size, its flesh is the same color and tastes somewhat like a cross between a tomato, strawberry and a grape. Gooseberrys are sweet with a slightly bitter aftertaste and, in addition to making a great pie, also make for an outstanding jam or jelly.

Aromatic guava

The guava is gaining in popularity, probably because of its juice, which frequently ends up in a blend of health food juice selections. The guava is very aromatic and its smell has been said to rival either the aroma of a sports locker or something from the Garden of Eden. The secret to choosing a good guava is to smell it.

The unripe versions will small downright zooish, while the riper ones accumulate almost a floral aroma. The flavor is that of tutti-fruity, with the texture being pleasantly gritty.

Kumquats have been around for a while, but still, most of us have yet to acquire a liking for their taste. Serve kumquats like you would grapes. The rind is deliciously sweet while the pulp is puckery sour. Tossed in a simple fruit salad, or made into jam, kumquats are very versatile and absolutely delicious when pureed and rubbed over a crown roast or served with roast duck.

One of the most revered Chinese fruits is the simple lychee. Having been enjoyed for over 2,000 years, the fruit is about the size of a ping-pong ball wrapped in a shell that resembles a bur without prickers.

The consistency and taste is similar to peeled grapes, but if there's one thing the lychee has in its favor, it's the aroma that makes for fine eating, whether tossed in a salad, made into jam, or smoothed into a velvety reduction sauce.

Magnificent mangoes

Mangoes are considerably better known than apples in more places around the globe, second only to the banana and coconut. There are many different varieties with the little Asian ones being tops in flavor and Keitt, and Palmers being more readily available. Their skins are smooth and the meat tastes like a silky custard when perfectly ripe.

The ripe mango will have the feel of a ripe avocado with the stem end emitting a mild, sweet aroma. Hearty enough to stand up to smoked or grilled foods, chunks of mango are wonderful additions to chicken salads.

I would be remiss in my duties if I failed to mention the papaya. Probably the most readily available of all the fruits listed above, the papaya can be green, orange, rose or yellow skinned and encompasses a smooth meat similar to a melon. But in all honesty, it's the black caviar like seeds that add the true flavor, crossing between nasturtium blossoms and peppers. Papaya can be eaten raw, pan-fried, pureed into a velvety sauce or cubed and tossed into a salad. It makes a great salad dressing, in addition to an aromatic chilled soup.

These are just a few of the exotic fruits to be found markets today. It's just the tip of the iceberg, so to speak, and there are many other fruits available. Ask your grocer for more information and start experimenting!

JAMMIN'

Homemade preserves make peachy gifts

Fire up the canning kettle to preserve fresh, juicy Michigan fruits. Making preserves is rewarding, and doesn't take a lot of time.

BY JOAN BORAM
SPECIAL WRITER

'Fess up! How many of us are closet jar savers, hoarding against the day when we're going to make jam, jelly or preserves? Who doesn't have a box of jars tucked under the sink, or boxes of jars in the garage, behind the bikes waiting to be filled with plum conserve or strawberry jam?

There's no time like the present. Stores and farmer's markets are loaded with Michigan fruits, fresh and juicy. Peaches and plums are ripening as we speak. Sugar is selling for half price at many area supermarkets. This is the Christmas to amaze and delight your friends with gifts of your very own preserves.

"Jam making really isn't a lot of work, and it doesn't take a lot of time," said Jean Noth of Redford. "I really enjoy the process of preserve-making. It's relaxing, and there's such a great feeling of accomplishment when you have six or eight jars of sparkling strawberry jam or currant jelly."

Noth also likes that she controls the ingredients when she makes the jam, and knows everything is natural and pure.

Strawberries have no natural pectin so preserves made without added pectin are likely to be thin. "But, if you add pectin, you need a lot more sugar. A thinner jam is versatile," said Noth. "It can be used over ice cream, as well as on toast or buttermilk scones."

A neighbor gave her some red currants a few years ago, and Noth made currant jelly out of necessity. "Taking all the little green things off the ends is rather time consuming. But the good thing is you can save the juice and make the jelly whenever you feel like it. I like to make it in the wintertime. It's such a cozy thing to do then.

She's jamming: Jean Noth crushes strawberries to make preserves. She enjoys the process of jam-making. "It's relaxing, and there's such a great feeling of accomplishment."

For Jan Winship, making her famous plum conserve and peach marmalade means Christmas in July. She's not even deterred by an imminent move from Novi to Farmington Hills. "Everything's packed but my jars, my canning kettle, and my wooden spoon," she said.

"Preserving keeps me out of the malls in December. While other people are fighting the crowds and making decisions, I'm putting together festive little ribbon-trimmed baskets of 'Jan's Jams.'

"If I feel like it, I might add a few homemade cookies. For one friend, I buy a special British 'shelter' magazine and box of salt-free crackers."

Winship always tries to buy Michigan fruit to make jam. "Maybe it's just my imagination, but it seems to have more flavor and juice, possibly because it's closer to home than California fruit."

When it's jam making time, Winship buys two or three kinds of plums — Italian plums, red plums, and a round chartreuse tart Japanese plum. Unlike peaches, plums don't have to be mashed. Just cut them off of the pits into pieces about the size of a nickel.

"An interesting side of recycling jars donated by your friends is that you find out alot about their eating habits," said Winship. "Turns out I have one friend who devours jars of olives while she watches TV. I never would have known that if she hadn't given me a big box of empty olive jars."

Winship's philosophy of cooking is never read a recipe that begins with the word "mince," but, for her peach marmalade, she'll go through the trouble fo peeling peaches.

When I open one of those jars in January, and the fresh peach aroma fills the kitchen, the little bit of effort is all worthwhile.

Serve hot chicken salad for special occasions

OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC
Winner Dinner Recipes

HOT CHICKEN SALAD

4 whole chicken breasts, cooked
3 hard-boiled eggs, sliced
½ can condensed cream of chicken soup
2 cups celery, finely chopped
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup sour cream
1 can water chestnuts, 8 ounce size, drained and chopped
1 can mushroom pieces, 4 ounce size, drained
½ cup slivered almonds
2 Tablespoons onions, minced
2 Tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 can fried onion rings, 3½ ounce size, slightly crushed

Discard skin and bones from chicken; cut into 1-inch pieces. In a large bowl, combine all the ingredients except for the cheese and onion rings. Pour the mixture into a 9 by 13-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with the cheese and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Sprinkle the onions over the casserole and bake for another 15 minutes. Serves 6-8.

EASY RICE PILAF

1 medium onion, diced
1 clove garlic, minced
1 stalk celery, diced
¼ cup long grain rice, uncooked
2 cups chicken broth
butter or margarine
salt
pepper

Saute the onion, garlic and celery in a small amount of butter or margarine until the onion is limp. Add the rice, stirring often until the rice is golden. Add the chicken broth, cover and simmer until the rice is tender, stirring occasionally. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

DELICIOUS RASPBERRY PIE

1 package raspberry gelatin, 3 ounce size
¼ cup granulated sugar
1¼ cups boiling water
1 package frozen raspberries, 10 ounce size
1 Tablespoon lemon juice
1 package cream cheese, softened, 3 ounce size
⅓ cup confectioner's sugar, softened
1 teaspoon vanilla
dash salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
9-inch baked pastry shell, cooled

Dissolve gelatin and granulated sugar in boiling water; add frozen berries and lemon juice. Stir until berries thaw, chill until partially set.

Blend the cream cheese, confectioner's sugar, vanilla and salt. Fold in small amount of whipped cream, then fold in remainder. Spread half of the white cream cheese mixture over the bottom of the pastry shell. Cover with half of the red gelatin mixture. Repeat the layers. Chill until set.

WINNER DINNER

BETSY BRETHEN

As summer continues to sail by, this week's Winner Dinner menu offers you a make-ahead meal that is perfect for those special occasions when the ubiquitous hamburger and hot dog dinner just doesn't cut the mustard.

Thanks to Gloria Bills of Plymouth for sharing her recipes for hot chicken salad, easy rice pilaf and raspberry pie. She loves this tasty menu and first served it when she hosted a baby shower.

Bills and her husband, Jim, are the proud parents of two young Korean children whom they adopted when each of the children was four months old. Delighted and thrilled, Bills exclaimed that adopting them was the best thing they have ever done.

Because she has worked as an executive secretary for 14 years at AAA Michigan, Bills considers herself fortunate indeed to have her mother, Catherine Vella, come to their home and take care of their children. A tremendous help to her daughter and son-in-law, Vella is much loved by her grandchildren.

Although Bills enjoys cooking, she makes an effort to plan and prepare her family's meals for the coming week on the weekend so that when she comes home from work she can spend time with her family. After all, she considers taking care of the three very special people in her life — her husband and two children her most important and rewarding job.

Thank you Gloria Bills, for sharing your recipes with us and congratulations on being selected this week's Winner dinner Winner. All the best to you, and until next time, I ecourage all of you to please jot down your family's favorite slimmer Winner Dinner and send it my way.

Submit recipes to be considered for publication to Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham, 48012.

All submissions become the property of the Observer and Eccentric newspapers. Each winner receives an apron with the words "Winner Dinner" on it.

Jean North's Buttermilk Scones

3 cups sifted flour
3 Tablespoons sugar
2 Tablespoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
½ cup currants or raisins
1 cup buttermilk

Mix dry ingredients, add ½ cup butter and blend in with pastry cutter. Add ½ cup currants or raisins. (Hint: if you bring raisins or currants to a boil and cool before adding to scones or cookies, they won't get hard).

Add 1 cup buttermilk, mix lightly with fork, and knead gently for about 1 minute. Dough should be crumbly. Roll out ½-inch thick on a floured surface. Cut into diamond, triangles or rounds. Place on greased baking sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 15-20 minutes, until tops are golden. Makes 24-36 depending on size.

Strawberry Jam

1 quart strawberries
4 cups sugar
juice of ½ lemon

Put stemmed berries in a 10-inch heavy cooking pot (not aluminum). Cut a few of the berries to release a little juice. Add four cups sugar (Noth uses ¾ cup sugar to 1 cup strawberries).

Stir the mixture very gently with a wooden spoon over low heat until it has "juiced up." When it is bubbling, cook for another 15 to 20 minutes over low heat. Stir occasionally to make sure the mixture isn't sticking to the bottom of the pan. Remove from heat, and sprinkle surface with juice of ½ lemon. Let set for a few minutes, spoon into jars and seal.

From "Joy of Cooking," Betty Crocker.

Jan Winship's Peach Marmalade

1 dozen medium peaches, 4 cups sliced
2 or 3 thin-skinned oranges
6 cups sugar
Boiling water
Dash of cinnamon

Pour boiling water over about a dozen medium peaches. Peaches should be a little firm, and not too ripe. (You want to end up with 4 cups of sliced peaches). After a few minutes, the skins will loosen and will slip right off the fruit with the help of a small paring knife.

While the peaches are soaking, quarter two or three thin-skinned oranges and remove the seeds. Grind the oranges, including the rinds, in a food processor. Put the ground oranges and 6 cups of sugar into a very heavy cooking pot (not aluminum), and bring to a boil. Turn the heat down, and simmer for about 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, skin the peaches and slice them. After the orange has cooked for 15 minutes, add the peaches, bring to a boil, and simmer for another 20 minutes.

Remove from the heat. At this point, you may add a tiny amound of ground cinnamon, if you prefer. Spoon into sterilized jars, add paraffin, or seal.

Try something different, experiment with exotic fruit

Seg Larry Janes' story on Taste front.

Blood Orange Jelly

Peel from 3 blood oranges, coarsely cut
3 cups water
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
¼ cup blood orange juice
1 ¼ cups sugar

Combine peel and water in heavy, non-reactive pot. Boil gently until peel is tender, about 40 minutes. Drain liquid and measure; there should be a little less than 1 cup. If there is more, boil to reduce. Discard solid rinds.

Return the liquid to the pot with lemon juice, blood orange juice and sugar. Bring to a boil, stirring frequently. Boil until mixture reaches a jelly stage, (large heavy bubbles that roll and pop).

Test as follows: Dip a clean metal spoon into the syrup. Move away from the steam, then tilt so jelly runs off. If it forms a steam or drops in two distinctive drops, continue boiling. If two drops travel slowly along the rim and edge, remove from heat, pour into sterilized jars, cool, cover and refrigerate.

Gooseberry And Apple Pie

2 prepared 9-inch pie crusts
1 ½ pounds, tart, firm apples, like Granny Smiths
1 pint gooseberries, cleaned
½-¾ cups sugar
1 Tablespoon cornstarch pinch salt
Topping:
1 egg white
1 Tablespoon rum or brandy (optional)
1 Tablespoon butter or margarine
2 teaspoons sugar

Quarter and peel the apples. Cut into slices and place in a bowl with gooseberries. Stir together sugar and cornstarch and toss with fruit. Allow to stand while preparing the pastry.

Place roasting pan or baking sheet in bottom of a preheated 450 degree oven. Place one prepared pie crust in the bottom of a 9-inch pie plate. Beat egg white with rum until foamy. Brush bottom crust with mixture.

Heap fruit into pastry. Top with butter bits and brush the rim with remaining egg white mixture. Lay top crust on, press lightly and seal ends with fork tine. Cut small vents on top. Set pie on baking sheet in the preheated oven. Lower heat to 375 degrees and bake for 35 minutes. Cool on a rack.

Have dinner at home, let ' Your Personal Gourmet' cook

KEELY WYGONIK

Now you can enjoy a gourmet meal, cooked by someone else, in the comfort of your very own home. Mark J. Moceri of Your Personal Gourmet will come to your house, cook dinner, serve, and even do the dishes.

"It's like having a restaurant in your house," said Moceri who just launched "Your Personal Gourmet, Inc."

Moceri is a kind of traveling restaurant. He likes to have a consultation with customers before the dinner to check out the kitchen and see what cookware he'll need to bring. Call (313) 641-0904 to make dinner arrangements.

Customers choose items from a menu that features a variety of gourmet items. Appetizer choices include, oyster pillows, Southwestern black bean cakes, and smoked salmon ravioli.

There are three gourmet pizzas, a variety of soups, including chilled cucumber cream with smoked salmon and roasted eggplant and garlic soup. Spectacular salad offerings include a Louisiana chicken and corn salad, and strawberry and spinach salad.

For entrees, diners have a choice of six pasta entrees, 10 seafood entrees, seven poultry entrees, five lamb entrees, six pork, veal and beef entrees. Adventuresome diners will like the three game offerings — Roast New Zealand Venison, Breast of squab and Loin of Venison, Woodland Style

Desserts are heavenly: Florida Sunshine Key Lime Pie or White Chocolate Mousse with dark chocolate sauce, for example.

Dinners are priced at $62.50 per person for full dinner and services. Dinner includes; choice of appetizer or gourmet pizza, soup, salad, entree with accompaniments and dessert, bread and butter, and non-alcholic beverage.

Services include; preparation and service of dinner and complete clean-up of kitchen, utensils and dinnerware.

Moceri will provide the cookware, and will try to accommodate customer requests for reduced calorie, nutritional or vegetarian selections.

"I want this to be the best meal people ever tasted," he said. "I don't want people disappointed."

He plans to offer gift certificates, a great idea for what to get the person who has everything.

Quench your thirst for beer knowledge

AP — Burgers and beer make a tasty team, but with the myriad of brews on the market, which beer wins the toss?

Beer has been brewed as far back as 6,000 B.C. So, before you pop the tab or flip the cap on your next beer, get to know a little bit more about this ancient thirst quencher.

Lager Beer: Most beers brewed in the United State today are lagers. Lager beers characteristically are pale colored, mellow tasting and light bodied. They range between 3.2 percent and 4 percent alcohol and average about 150 calories per 12 ounces. Lagers are bottom-fermented, which means the yeast sinks to the bottom of the vat during fermentation.

Light Beer: American brand "light" beers have fewer calories (70 to 130 per 12 ounces) than lager beers because they're made with a reduced amount of malt and grain. They usually have less alcohol, too. In Europe, the term "light" has a different meaning. It distinguishes pale lagers from dark lagers.

Ales: Unlike lagers, ales are fermented at high temperatures by yeasts that float. They're more full-bodied and hoppier tasting than lagers (hops is the grain used to make beer). They range in color from pale to deep amber.

Porters and Stouts: These beers are variations of ales. Porters are dark brown, full-bodied and less hoppy tasting than ales. Well-roasted barley gives these brews a bittersweet flavor.

Stout: Stout is also flavored and colored by roasted barley. It has a darker color and more intense, bitter hop taste than porter with a dense, almost syrupy body.

Bock: German-made bock beer was originally made during the winter months for drinking in the spring, though it's now produced year-round. Dark brown in color, bock beer generally tastes sweeter than lager, and is full-bodied, with a sharp, strong aroma. The alcohol content may be more than double that of lager beers.

Malt Liquor: Malt liquor is another lager-type beer, usually with a higher alcohol content. A malt liquor is marked by a darker color, more bitter flavor and more robust aroma than lager.

Storing Beer

High temperatures — over 70 degrees F — break down beer's natural ingredients. For best taste, store your favorite brew on the bottom shelf of your refrigerator or in the soft drink storage area, where the temperature is between 40 degrees F and 50 degrees F.

Most bottled beer comes in protective green or brown bottles plus cardboard packaging to help screen out light, which damages beer's taste. But it's still wise to keep your beer out of the bright indoor light or sunlight.

Unlike wines, beer doesn't improve with age. Brewers maintain strict quality control and stock rotation procedures to ensure the freshest product possible. At home, store beer no longer than a year for the best flavor.

How to Serve Beer

Although many people enjoy their beer ice cold, low temperatures numb the taste buds. To better appreciate the true aroma and taste of beer, serve it at 45 degrees F for lagers and lighter beers, or 50 degrees F to 60 degrees F for ales, porters and stouts. That means storing your lager and lighter beers in the refrigerator or a cooler and your ales in a cool, dark place, such as a basement.

Lemon turkey stir-fry delicious

"You are what you eat," said Matt Mchargue, 15, of Richmond, Ky., winner of the "National Turkey Lovers' Recipe Contest for Teens." His Lemon Turkey Stir-Fry with Pasta is made from turkey breast cutlets, fresh spinach and a variety of flavorings such as soy sauce, lemon pepper and white wine vinegar.

Here's the winning recipe.

Lemon Turkey Stir-fry With Pasta

1 ½ pounds turkey cutlets or slices, cut into ½-inch strips
1 Tablespoon soy sauce
1 Tablespoon white wine vinegar
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon lemon pepper
2 Tablespoons olive oil
6 medium green onions, sliced
1 medium fresh lemon, cut into 10 thin slices and finely slivered
1 clove garlic, finely minced
1 bag (10 ounces) fresh spinach, washed, drained and chopped
1 pound linguine, prepared according to package directions, and drained parsley for garnish

In self-closing plastic bag combine turkey, soy sauce, vinegar, cornstarch, and lemon pepper; shake bag to coat turkey thoroughly. Refrigerate 30 minues to allow flavors to blend.

In large skillet, over medium heat, saute turkey and marinade in oil 2 to 3 minutes or until turkey is no longer pink. Add onions, lemon slivers and garlic; continue to cook until onions are translucent. Stir in spinach and cook until just wilted.

To serve, combine turkey mixture with hot linguine and garnish with parsley and lemon slices, if desired. Serves 6.

Healthy dish: Lemon Turkey Stir-Fry with Pasta uses turkey breast cutlets, fresh spinach and lemons creating a refreshing, elegant meal that's easy to prepare.

Use condensed milk in desserts

AP — Even though they both come in cans, evaporated milk and sweetened condensed milk are as different as black and white. If you're tempted to substitute one for the other, don't. Here's why:

Evaporated milk, available in whole, low-fat, or skim form, is simply milk from which the water has been removed. Unlike condensed milk, it contains no sugar. Nutrients, such as vitamins A and D, may be added. When mixed with an equal amount of water, evaporated milk is equivalent to whole or skim milk.

Sweetened condensed milk is a concentrated blend of whole milk and sugar. It is condensed by a special vacuum cooking process.

You can use sweetened condensed milk as a base for many desserts, such as caramelizing it into silky golden topping to pour over cake or ice cream.

To caramelize, simply pour one can of sweetened condensed milk into the top of a double boiler. (Never heat an unopened can because it can burst.) Place the pan over boiling water. Over low heat, simmer for 60 to 90 minutes or until thick and caramel colored, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and beat, with a wire whisk until smooth.

Pour the caramelized milk over cake or ice cream. Or, for a creamy, rich dessert, fold whipped cream or whipped topping into the caramelized milk. Spoon it into cream puffs or layer it in parfaits with fruit.

You can also use sweetened condensed milk for desserts without caramelizing it first. Try these easy ideas:

Chocolate sauce: Heat sweetened condensed milk with some chocolate pieces and a few dashes of vanilla extract. Drizzle it over chunks of fresh fruit, angel food cake, or marshmallows. Or, pour it into a fondue pot and use the fruit, cake and marshmallows as dippers.

Pie fillings and puddings: Add acidic ingredients, such as bottled lemon juice or orange juice concentrate, to condensed milk. Then, watch it thicken without any cooking, just like magic.

Surprise guests at your next cookout with 'food on a stick'

LOIS THIELEKE

Surprise your friends and family at the next backyard get-together and serve "food on a stick." Fire up the grill, grab your chef's hat, your skewers and some food, and you're ready to make kabobs.

Kabobs are a do-ahead meal with finger-food appeal. I am not just talking about roasting marshmallows on a stick, but appetizers or the main entree, the vegetables and desserts, the entire meal. Think of this as a stir-fry on a stick or a new twist to fondue. Kabobs are hands-on fun and healthy for the diet conscious

Grilling is one of the oldest methods of cooking and by taking the heat out of the kitchen everyone will enjoy the summertime meal.

Clean grill

Forget the foil for the vegetables, cook them directly on the grill rack above the coals. Vegetables directly on the grill have a wonderful smoky flavor that enhances their natural taste so the old standby potato or onion take on new character.

Make sure the grill rack is clean, remove the grill rack and spray with a vegetable cooking spray so the food won't stick. Do not spray rack over hot coals, the spray could cause a flame.

When grilling small or fragile food such as seafood, place a wire cake rack parallel to the grill rods, this will prevent food from falling through and on the coals.

Choosing skewers

Choose skewers that are long and sturdy, that are either square or oval so that when the food softens during cooking, it will not fall off. Metal, wood or bamboo skewers work fine. Soak the bamboo and wood skewers in water several hours before using so they do not burn.

For a backyard cocktail party, make the appetizers on a stick, they are easy to handle for guests. These can be all fruit, all vegetables or a combination with a meat. Choose foods items that cook, at the same rate, not some large pieces and some tiny, keep them uniform in size.

Try bananas, kiwi fruit, pineapple, watermelon, strawberries or fresh peaches on a stick. For a marinade to brush over grilled fruit use, orange juice, lime juice or a maple syrup or honey glaze. Use just enough so the fruit does not dry out. Fruit just needs to be heated, not cooked mushy.

Seafood appetizers such as one or two shrimp with fruit are fun for dipping in sauce or melted butter.

On a hot day and you don't want to stand over the grill, let people thread their own skewer and cook the kabobs themselves. Set out fruits, vegetables, meat, seafood and the skewers, everyone can select what they like.

Grilling vegetables

Vegetables are simple to grill and require little treatment beyond cleaning. Almost any vegetable can be cooked on the grill, but you may need to parboil some vegetables that require a longer cooking time. Tomatoes and mushrooms skewered together with chunks of meat cook too quickly and tend to fall off before the meat is cooked.

Skewer soft vegetables separately and add to the grill just a couple minutes before the meat is done. Good vegetables to put on a stick are zucchini, asparagus, carrots, eggplant, snowpeas, sweet potatoes, green onions, squash, leeks and bell peppers.

Generously brush the vegetables with melted margarine, butter or olive oil for flavor and to prevent sticking Cook directly over medium hot coals until fork tender and slightly charred. (A little char is tasty, but a lot of char is nasty).

Place food on the skewers, leaving space between each piece to allow for heat penetration and thorough basting.

Meat kabobs are generally marinated to help tenderize. The acids in vinegar, wine, fruit juice or commercial marinades break down the protein in the meat to make them more tender. Marinate the meat, (always in the refrigerator) precook any vegetables that need it then chill everything overnight or until you're ready to grill.

Do not use leftover marinade that the meat has been setting in for last minute basting or sauce.

Walnut dressing tops showy garden salad

AP — Whether your "garden" is just outside your back door or in your local supermarket, you and your family will delight in this showy salad.

Gardener's-Choice Salad

1 cup shelled peas
1 tablespoon chopped red onion
1 recipe Walnut Vinaigrette
1½ cups sugar snap peas or pea pods
1½ cups broccoli flowerets
6 cups torn mixed salad greens
¼ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
4 ounces scamorze or mozzarella cheese, sliced
4 ounces smoked turkey breast, sliced

In a small saucepan bring ½ cup lightly salted water to boiling. Add peas; return to boiling. Drain peas in a colander; cool under cold running water. In a small mixing bowl combine peas, the tablespoon of chopped red onion and 1 to 2 tablespoons of Walnut Vinaigrette. Cover and chill for 2 to 24 hours.

Remove strings from snap peas. Cook snap peas and broccoli in lightly salted boiling water for 3 minutes. Drain in a colander; cool under cold running water.

Line a serving platter with salad greens. Add walnuts to the chilled pea mixture. Arrange pea mixture, snap peas, broccoli, cheese and turkey on greens. If desired, garnish with dill, onion slices and edible flowers. Serve with additional dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Walnut Vinaigrette: In a screw-top jar combine ½ cup walnut oil, ¼ cup white-wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons water, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 tablespoon snipped fresh chives, 1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Cover and shake well to mix. Chill. Shake before serving. Makes about 1 cup.

Nutrition information per serving with 2 tablespoons dressing: 288 calories.

Step around the heart of it

NYC doesn't sleep during summer

BY TERRY TRUCCO
NEW YORK TIMES SYNDICATE

For some New Yorkers it's almost a reflex action to leave the city in the summer. But for those who stay — and those who visit — summer in Manhattan has a distinctive set of charms.

Even with big events such as the Democratic National Convention, summertime Manhattan has a little less bustle, a little less hassle. And this summer, in particular, New York City has lots to offer, including a dazzling lineup of plays on Broadway.

Manhattan is looking good at the moment. The frenzied building of the late '80s has slowed considerably.

Instead, the city is upgrading what it's got. Familiar museums, notably the Guggenheim and the Morgan Library, have enlarged their premises and restored old buildings with splendid results.

And in the past two years more than a dozen old hotels, including Beekman Towers, the Drake and the Plaza, have been renovated top to toe, often with stunning results. A number of pleasant, modestly priced hotels have sprouted up as well.

Manhattan is also trying hard to please its guests. Times Square recently unveiled two portable information kiosks. Each is an outsize steamer trunk on wheels with a multilingual concierge inside who hands out maps, brochures and advice.

Manhattan can be intimidating, of course. One way to make it manageable is to concentrate on what's new. This guide, while hardly comprehensive, will give a hint of the intriguing sights, shops and entertainments that may not have existed on your last visit.

Sightseeing

A happy addition to Central Park last month was the 90-minute guided trolley tour. Air-conditioned and painted a jaunty red, the trolley holds 32 passengers, costs $12.50 and departs weekdays at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. from Grand Army Plaza at Fifth Avenue and 59th Street. Information: (212) 360-2727.

Bryant Park, the elegantly landscaped square behind the New York Public Library at 42nd Street and Fifth Avenue, isn't exactly new. But it was officially rededicated in May after an $8.9 million restoration and looks terrific, with cleaned statues, mended wrought-iron fences and 2,000 perennials in the garden.

The stately new Garden Court at the Morgan Library, 29 East 36th St., (212) 685-0008, is a glass-enclosed conservatory where visitors can admire the gingko tree and ficus- and bougainvillea-covered wall year round.

Opened in October, the conservatory is a pleasing bridge between the neoclassical library and Morgan House, the adjoining 45-room Victorian brownstone. Open Tuesday to Saturday, 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. There is a suggested contribution of $5.

The Guggenheim Museum, Fifth Avenue at 88th Street, (212) 423-3500, reopened last week after two years of renovations, with new galleries, a smart cafe and an expanded shop. An architectural highlight is Frank Lloyd Wright's sky lit small rotunda, previously closed to the public. "Masterpieces From the Guggenheim Collection" is on view to Aug. 27. Open daily except Thursday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Admission: $7.

Opening on the same day was the Guggenheim's new SoHo branch, 575 Broadway, near Prince Street, currently showing "From Brancusi to Bourgeois," modern and contemporary works from the collection, to Aug. 27. Open Sunday, Monday and Wednesday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., Thursday to Saturday 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Admission $5.

A new Broadway theater season is under way with a full house of recent hits, including "Falsettos" at the John Golden Theater, 252 West 45th St., "Jelly's Last Jam," at the Virginia Theater, 245 West 52nd St., and the megahit revival of "Guys and Dolls" at the Martin Beck Theater, 302 West 45th St. Tickets, $45 to $65, can be bought by phone at (212) 239-6200.

For movie buffs Lincoln Center's Walter Reade Theater, 165 West 65th St., at plaza level, (212) 875-5626, opened in December, offering vintage and international films. Screenings start at 2 p.m. Admission is $7.

Shopping

The past two years have been rough ones for many Manhattan merchants as an alarming number of vacant stores, large and small, attest. But SoHo, now a hip shopper's haven, is thriving.

All fixed up: The Guggenheim Museum reopened recently after two years of renovations, displaying new galleries, a smart cafe and an expanded gift shop.

The right binoculars can bring a vacation into focus

Good view: A good pair of binoculars is a much-underrated travel accessory

BY EVERETT POTTER
SPECIAL WRITER

Shopping Around

A good pair of binoculars is a highly underrated travel accessory.

Some weigh less than 8 ounces and can be carried in a shirt pocket or tucked into a knapsack.

Binoculars can add to the pleasure of a cruise — for observing sea birds, whales and dolphins, watching port activities or identifying ships on the horizon.

Vacationers can take binoculars hiking, cycling, cross-country skiing, to the racetrack or the opera.

They can make an avid birdwatcher out of travelers who don't know a heron from a bluejay.

And costs vary to suit a range of budgets that is nearly as great as the available ranges of magnification.

An inexpensive pair of binoculars may cost as little as $85; a pair with more sophisticated optics can easily reach $500 and up.

But price is not everything. An inexpensive pair of binoculars may cause undue eyestrain or "eye fatigue." An expensive pair may be more state-of-the-art than the casual buyer ever will need.

Before buying any pair of binoculars, it's important to understand how they differ.

First of all, binocular models are identified by two numbers, such as "7 x 35" or "8 x 20." The first number indicates the degree of magnification. For example, "7 x" means the image is magnified seven times its normal size; "8 x" means eight times.

As with camera lenses, the larger the magnification, the more important it is to hold the binoculars steady. Otherwise, the image will blur and shake. Usually, any lens greater than "10 x" calls for a tripod to keep the image steady.

The second number refers to the millimeter size on the front, or objective, lens. The larger that lens is, the more light it can gather — and the larger and heavier the binoculars will be.

Binoculars come with various fields of view: the width of the image area. The wider the field of view, the easier it is to track moving objects, such as birds or racehorses.

The binoculars should be comfortable. Those who wear eyeglasses and find binoculars difficult to use may need to look for models with rubber eyecups that can reduce the distance between the eyes and the lenses.

Finally, binoculars should be easy to focus. The distance between eyepieces should be adjustable for maximum comfort.

Most of today's models offer central focusing, usually by turning a wheel between the eyepieces. Many also come with "diopter correction" on the right eyepiece. This allows the right eyepiece to focus separately to accommodate eyesight variations.

In terms of models on the market, probably the most significant and sophisticated new binoculars have been introduced by Carl Zeiss Optical Inc., the famed German manufacturer.

For the first time, the company has applied its advanced optics technology to compact travel binoculars in a line called the Zeiss Design Selection, with "8 x 20" and "10 x 25" binoculars, each weighing a mere 6.5 ounces.

Zeiss also uses "phase-shift multicoating" to cut down on glare. The glasses can be used for long periods of time without causing eye fatigue.

They fit comfortably into the palm of one's hand and fold into a lightweight, hard-shell case for protection. But the quality has a healthy price tag: the "8 x 20" lists at $530; the "10 x 25" is $575.

Many dealers will discount these prices, but it's best to think of Zeiss as the BMW of binoculars. For information contact Carl Zeiss Optical Inc., 1015 Commerce St., Petersburg, Va. 23803 or call (800) 33-2984.

Minolta Autofocusing Binoculars use the same technology that's found in Minolta Maxxum SLR cameras.

The "8 x 22" model, which retails for $302, automatically focuses on images at distances from 6.6 feet away infinity. The sleekly designed "10 x 25," at $342, is good for images at a distance of 9.2 feet to infinity.

For information contact Minolta Corp., 101 Williams Drive Ramsey, N.J. 07446.

Nikon offers a wide range of binoculars for travel. Their new Sportstar series is affordably priced. The all-purpose binoculars fit into a pocket or purse.

Donahue hopes to coach again

I suppose this is a fear harbored by all, which is why it's usually confined to the deepest recesses of our minds. And there it remains for most of us, a fear that fortunately is never realized.

Losing your job — for whatever reason — is horrifying.

But imagine losing it after enjoying what could only be termed as an unqualified successful year? How would you feel if, after breaking all company sales records, and doing it without violating any company rules, you came in one day and found out you were sacked?

Obviously, your first question would be Why? The answer given: Financial problems.

How do you argue with that? You can try, insisting that what you did generated more revenue than it cost. You could provide all sorts of supporting data, but if the decision by the people in charge has already been made, it won't do any good.

It's too late. You're through.

Glen Donahue has faced all this in the last three months. Last winter he coached St. Mary's College's men's basketball team to a single-season school-record for victories, guiding them to their second-straight NAIA District 23 championship and the ensuing NAIA National Tournament.

In five years, he took a program on the brink of collapse (former coach Rick Zalenski left just a few weeks before school opened in 1987, leaving an opening which Donahue filled) to one of the best in the nation.

Success isn't enough

And, unlike others (Zalenski, who left to coach Bristol College in Tennessee, put that program on probation a year later), Donahue did it while following the rules. Of the 15 players he coached and were eligible to graduate, 11 got their degrees; two others are expected to in December.

St. Mary's had never been so successful in basketball. And with the possible return of Joachim Jerichow, a native of the Netherlands who was a standout as a freshman at St. Mary's in 1989-90, combined with six returning seniors (including All-American Jimmy Bolden, from Detroit Country Day), it seemed the team would be even better.

Then came that fateful April announcement, one that shocked everyone and completely upended Donahue's world: Due to financial restrictions, St. Mary's basketball program was canceled. Immediately.

Now what? Here he was, a 57-year-old retired school teacher, without a job in a market with precious few openings. "I've looked at everything," Donahue said Tuesday in the office at St. Mary's he still works out of, running summer basketball camps.

"I'll consider a high school job, but I don't want to do it unfairly. I don't want to take a high school job for a year and then leave for a college job. And I've been coaching college for so long, I'd be like a duck out of water (in high school)."

Always a coach

But, Donahue added: "I want to coach. Always, in my life, I planned on coaching until I was 70-plus."

Considering he has nearly 600 career wins in his 31 years, including more than 500 college wins in 24 seasons, one might think he could find a job easily. But the late date in which he started searching combined with such a small market has left him still looking, still hoping.

It's the mark of the man that his first concern was for his players and coaches. Amazingly, nearly everyone on the roster has a place lined up to play and finish their schooling. Bolden, easily the district's best talent, has committed to NCAA Division I Wichita State.

It will be Bolden's third college. He played a year at NCAA I South Florida, didn't like it and transferred to St. Mary's. It's a credit to both Bolden and Donahue's program that his final choice was based more on academics than basketball: More of his credits transferred, so Bolden could complete his degree faster.

Finding a place for a senior to play for only a year is not easy, but Donahue managed. Terrance Hughes is bound for Georgia Southwestern; Jeff Szczepanski, Spring Arbor; Fred Russell is considering Biola College in La Mirada, Calif.; and Kevin Karafa, a redshirt senior (junior eligibility), Northwood Institute.

Only Marvin Morrison, a senior bothered by knee problems last season, is considering coming back to finish his education at St. Mary's (all scholarships will be honored, according to the administration).

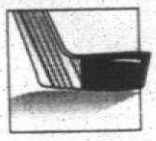
Kings win regular-season title



The Kings finished as the only unbeaten team in the Metro Summer Hockey League during the regular season. Now the quest for the post-season tournament championship is under way.

On the final night of the regular season, the Kings won a showdown Wednesday with the Wolves to capture first place in the Metro Summer Hockey League.

Larry Pilut scored five goals to pace the Kings in their 13-8 victory. Jim Mitchell and Joe Sellers added two goals and four assists apiece.

Tim Osborn was the game's top scorer, however, with five goals and three assists for the Wolves. Joe Burton added a goal and four assists.

In another game Wednesday, the Spartans defeated the Bulldogs 7-4 behind a two-goal, two-assist performance by Dave Weaver. Brian Lindstrom and Vic Decina scored two goals each for the Bulldogs.

The final regular-season standings are as follows: 1. Kings (8-0-1), 2. Wolves (6-1-2), 3. Broncos (6-3), 4. Spartans (5-4), 5. Canadiens (4-3-2), 6. Huskies (3-3-3), 7. Falcons (4-4-1), 8. Lakers (2-6-1), 9. Bulldogs (1-7-1), 10. Wildcats (0-8-1).

The top five teams qualify for the Bakes Division round-robin playoffs, the bottom five for the Windy City Division games. That schedule will continue through Tuesday, Aug. 4.

The top two teams in each division then will play for their respective championships — the Windy City at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 5, at the Westland arena and the Bakes at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 6, at the Plymouth arena.

On the first night of the divisional playoffs Thursday, the Kings stayed unbeaten with an 8-6 victory over the Spartans.

The score was tied 4-4 after two periods and 6-6 late in the game when Mitchell got the winning goal with 1:54 remaining. Chris Smith added an empty-net goal with 29 seconds left.

Smith finished with three goals, Mitchell and Pilut two apiece. Paul Pachkevitch and Josh Wiegand tallied two goals each for the Spartans.

In another Bakes game, the Broncos posted a mild upset when they defeated the Wolves 11-7 Thursday for their seventh consecutive win.

Mario Muzzuca scored once and set up teammates four other times. Brian Wiseman and Jon Bowen chipped in two goals each.

Joe Burton had two goals and one assist for the Wolves, Lou Tallerico one goal and two assists.

Hines Park in playoffs despite loss

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

All the running Dave Wood has done this summer to keep in shape has helped Walter's Appliance stay in the race for a Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoff berth.

Wood, who has shed 15 pounds since last year and now weighs 205, improved to 5-0 as a pitcher with a complete-game 7-1 victory over Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury at Livonia's Ford Field.

The win gave Walter's third place in the final standings with an 18-10-2 record and 38 points. Hines Park was in fourth place at 16-13 (32 points) with one game remaining. Each team earned a berth in the four-team playoffs that begin Tuesday at Ford Field.

Wood, a right-hander from Berkley and Henry Ford Community College, allowed four hits, struck out six and walked two. Hines Park's only run came in the sixth inning after Scott Rodgers (Plymouth Salem) and Jason Riggs (Plymouth Canton) had consecutive singles and Rodgers came home from second on a throwing error.

"Last year, I liked to work out (with weights) so much I put on weight," Wood said. "I started running a lot more and not lifting as much and I like it."

Walter's will likely play second-place Delwal in Tuesday's first playoff game at 8 p.m. Hines Park, which finished the regular season Sunday against Tecumseh, will likely meet Livonia Little Caesars (the first place team prior to Friday) at 5:30 p.m.

Hines Park lost four of its last six games and in that stretch scored only 12 runs. Jeff Paluk (Plymouth Salem) suffered the loss after allowing four runs in the first and two more in the fourth before leaving.

Paluk, 4-4 overall, allowed only three hits but walked five and hit a batter.

"Right now, Rodgers is our only guy stepping out in the middle of the diamond and taking charge," Hines Park coach Dave Carroll said. "We've quit scoring runs and that puts pressure on the pitchers and defense."

Walter's scored four runs in the first on four walks, a Hines Park error and a double by Craig Overaitis (Livonia Franklin). Joe Brusseau (Borgess), Jeff Pendell (Churchill), Overaitis and Paul Pirronello (Catholic Central) scored.

Lou McKaig was safe on a fielder's choice in the fourth and later came home on a single by Overaitis. Kevin Young (Farmington) made the score 6-0 with a sacrifice fly scoring Brusseau, who was hit by a pitch. Brusseau walked to lead off the sixth and scored the final run on another sacrifice fly by Young.

"We're in the playoffs and that was one of our goals," Walter's coach Mike Keller said. "We'll be here Tuesday, ready to play ball."

Caesars rallies

Little Caesars used its final at-bat well, staging a seventh-inning rally to edge Walter's Appliance 3-2 Wednesday at Ford Field.

Caesars prior to Friday was 19-9 (38 points) with two games against Tecumseh remaining.

Jerry Shippe's bases-loaded single in the bottom of the seventh won it for Caesars, breaking a 2-all tie.

Walter's pitcher Bryan Pfeifer loaded the bases with one out in the seventh and Keller summoned former Redford Catholic Central righthander Steve Ross from the bullpen.

Ross immediately yielded the base hit to Shippe, which scored pinch-runner Larry Gagne.

Dave Roman went the distance and earned the win for Caesars. Walter's had five hits, including two from Jeff Pendell.

Wirebaugh goes 6-1

Derek Wirebaugh won his sixth game Wednesday, pitching Delwal to a 5-4 win over Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury at Ford Field.

Wirebaugh went six innings, striking out six, walking one and allowing 10 hits.

Delwal had eight hits, including three from Chad Chapman. Jason Valente chipped in two hits, one RBI and four stolen bases.

Concealed Security reaches tourney final

The Concealed Security Connie Mack baseball team reached the championship game of the Macomb district over the weekend at Kyte Monroe Field in St. Clair Shores.

Concealed (25-13-1 overall) won two of its first three games in the double elimination tournament and played the Macomb Riggers in Saturday's title game.

Some of the most anxious moments came Friday afternoon when Concealed beat Tecumseh (Canada) 2-1 in eight innings. Concealed received a third-round bye before playing Tecumseh.

Concealed got excellent pitching from starter Dan Gusoff and reliever Dan Scutchfield. Gusoff allowed three hits, one run and walked four before leaving with a 1-1 tie after 6⅓ innings. Scutchfield earned the win, pitching hitless relief over the last 1⅔ innings.

Tecumseh scored the first run in the fourth before Concealed tied the score in the bottom of the sixth with two outs. Matt Green walked with two outs, stole second base and came home on Craig Petersen's single. Concealed broke the tie in the eighth.

Paul Kuhn singled and went to second on a bunt by Todd Piniewski. Cuba Gregory was safe on a bunt to put runners on first and third and after an intentional walk to Mark D'Antonio, Green singled to bring Kuhn home.

Concealed started the tourney with a 6-3 loss on Thursday afternoon against Riggers. D'Antonio was the losing pitcher, 11 hits and three walks.

D'Antonio had two hits and an RBI and Gusoff had a two-run single in the third that gave Concealed a 3-2 lead. Riggers took the lead for good in the fifth with two runs.

Concealed won for the first time, 13-1, over Rochester in a game played Thursday afternoon. Chad Zann was the winning pitcher in the five-inning mercy game, allowing only two hits.

Concealed scored nine runs in the first inning on six hits, two walks and a hit batter. D'Antonio was 3-for-4 with five RBI. Lee Gardner and Green each had two hits and an RBI.

Bowling should be Olympic sport

10-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

OK sports fans, now that you're nestled on the couch enjoying the Olympics, let's see if any bowling flashes on the screen.

During the last Olympic games, bowling was run as a demonstration sport. This time around, golf and women's softball will replace bowling.

I want you to know there has been a major effort put forth to make bowling a medal sport.

More than 110 million people in 80 countries bowl at least one game per year. Around the globe, approximately 12 million people compete in organized leagues.

Bowling rules are universal and so is the equipment used. Now, could someone please tell me why bowling is not part of the Olympics?

It's one of the oldest sports in the world, dating back to 5,200 B.C. Worldwide, 7 million games are bowled each day — and still no Olympics. Why?

Well, sports fans (bowling fans in particular), I have great news. Bowling will be present in Barcelona. We just came in through the side door, that's all.

Thanks to the resourcefulness of the American Bowling Congress, the Bowling Proprieters Association of America, the Women's International Bowling Congress and the Brunswick Corp., bowling will be in full bloom in Olympic Village.

Brunswick is an official supplier in Spain and has installed a state-of-the-art bowling and billiards facility there. The facility will give the sport of bowling an opportunity to support the Olympic movement by providing an important form of recreation for athletes from around the world.

In addition, there will be clinics and daily bowling exhibitions, demonstrating to people from all over the world the merits of the game.

This bowling center will include 16 Bowlervision lanes for the free use of some 15,000 athletes from 170 nations.

The center will close for two weeks right after the Olympics and then reopen for the Paralympic Games, which run from Aug. 29 to Sept. 17 for handicapped athletes.

The total cost of this facility will be in excess of 1 million dollars. The expense and effort were deemed worthwhile by Don Hillman, chairman of the BPAA's Olympic Committee.

"We really need a presence in Barcelona," Hillman said.

Together with Brunswick, the BPAA, ABC and WIBC all felt it was vital to include bowling somehow during these Olympics to keep its momentum going for the future and hopefully making it a medal sport.

Actually, bowling would be great for the Olympics. The sport is scored objectively, much of the world bowls, and men and women compete according to identical rules and with similar ability.

Then there's the historical angle: Bowling, in its present form, began in 1895 — within a few months of the first modern Olympics.

■ SUPERSTARS RESULTS

Canton Parks and Recreation Services had its annual Youth Superstars contest July 18 at Griffin Park. More than 50 youths tested their skills in the 50-yard dash, Frisbee toss, soccer, baseball, golf and basketball. Following are the winners according to age group.

Olive Ikeh was the girls 13-15 winner with perfect 10s in all events.

The girls 10-12 division had a tie between Amy Dorogi and Meaghan Nolan with 51 points apiece. Dorogi scored 10s in basketball, Frisbee and golf, Nolan in soccer, running and baseball.

Jacqueline Slebodnick won the girls 9-and-under competition, scoring 10 in all six events for 60 points. Leslie Ziegler was second (41) and Angela Scott third (31).

In the boys competition, Howard Gearns was the 13-15 winner with 43 points, including a 10 in Frisbee. Adam Cunningham and Justin Marcis shared second place with 36 points apiece.

Andy Power won the 10-12 age group with the help of 10s in basketball and running. Robert Willoughby was second and Teono Wilson third.

Adam Forbes edged Ryan Cunningham for first place in the 9-and-under group, 42-41. Forbes scored 10s in basketball and running, Cunningham in golf and baseball. Eric Covert was third.

■ DAVIS MAKES PLAY

Brian Davis of Canton, a member of the Royals baseball team in the Wayne/Westland Youth Athletic Association, single-handedly executed a triple play earlier this month.

Davis, who was playing center field, caught a flyball on the run and subsequently stepped on second base to double off a runner who had left for third. Then he tagged another runner going from first to second.

Despite the brilliant effort by Davis in that inning, the Royals lost the game to the Mets. Davis, a fourth grader at Walker School, would like to be a Major League player when he gets older.

■ TENNIS RESULTS

The Canton Singles and Doubles Tennis Tournament was played July 11-12. Following are the results of the age-group finals.

Boys 10-12 singles: Vinnie Ikeh defeated Gagan Palrecha (6-4, 7-6); boys 13-15: Matt Potter defeated Steve Shumard (6-3, 6-0); men's 20-29: Gerry Chang def. Theo Ulinfun (6-1, 6-7, 6-2); men's 40-over: Randy Whately def. Jeff Holmquist (6-3, 6-3); girls singles: Olive Ikeh def. Shazia Ahmed (7-5, 6-3); women's singles: U.K. Ikeh def. Kathy Stellema (2-6, 6-3, 7-5); boys 15-under doubles: Matt Potter/Gagan Palrecha def. Riley Whately/Vinnie Ikeh (6-1, 6-3); men's doubles: Jason Grimm/Kevin Laber def. Chris Bray/Eric Baden (default).

■ SOCCER TRYOUTS

• The under-19½ Canton Juventus state champion soccer team will have open tryouts 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday, Aug. 1, at Centennial Educational Park, corner of Joy and Canton Center in Canton. For information, call Wolfgang Henkel (451-0786) or Jerry Parent (455-5139).

• Tryouts for the Northville Sting, a 1977 boys Ilitch Division, Little Caesars premier soccer team, will be at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at Northville Soccer Field, off Sheldon between Five Mile and Six Mile. The tryouts are open to boys 15½ and younger, from all areas.

For more information, call Bob Pizzuti at 476-1883.

A place for all — but one

Other squad members and their new schools: junior Brian Koscielski (Wayne State); redshirt sophomore Jason Shafer (St. Clair Community College); sophomore Chris Delaney (Brock University in St. Catherine's, Ontario); and redshirt junior Marc Eversley (considering Georgia Soutwestern and Cumberland College, Ky.). Junior Brian Smith is undecided.

Even Jerichow has found somewhere else to go. He will attend NCAA II Hawaii-Chaminade. Donahue's assistant coaches are taken care of, too — son Kevin will coach St. Clair Shores South Lake, and Denny Butcher will coach the Milford-Lakeland girls team.

But what about the head man?

"I've applied throughout the U.S.," he said. He's also in consideration for a couple of coaching jobs at Canadian colleges.

But time is running out. He knows it; Donahue is facing a winter without coaching for the first time in 31 years.

He is left to sit in his office, wondering how this happened. "I don't know how they can justify it," he says when pondering the decision made by St. Mary's Board of Trustees. "I'm still in shock. In no way do I know of any reason why they dropped it."

What about a lack of finances? "That's easily used as a reason," he answers in disbelief. "The more I think of it, the more confused I get. This was an ideal situation. They were all achieving academically."

He used to love his job at St. Mary's. He was up early and in the office by 8 a.m., often staying until the evening hours. Unless it was a game day, of course — then he might not get home until nearly midnight.

It's different now. "This has been a very, very devastating experience for me," Donahue said. "I'm still not over it.

"We have a father-son basketball camp coming up in mid-August (21-23) and another camp Aug. 9-13. I'd like to clear out of here after that first camp.

"I want to get out of here. It's a traumatic experience for me just to come in every day. I'd like to find another job and just . . ."

He waves good-bye. After giving so much, it's no wonder he feels betrayed.

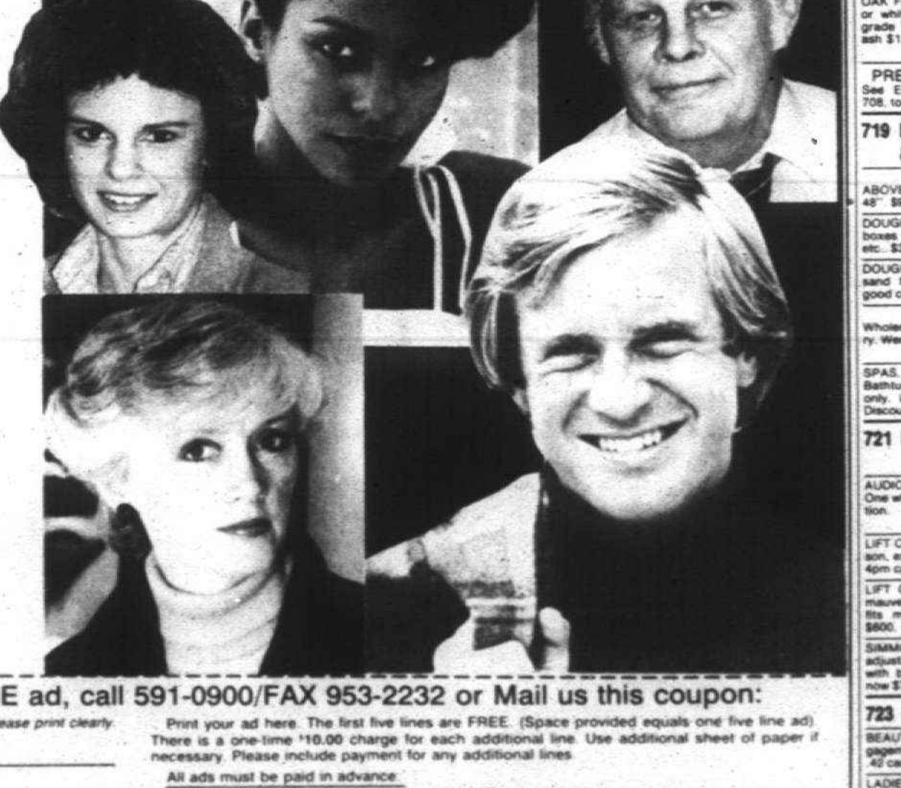
Looking for someone special?

A bowling partner, a travel companion or someone to share your life?



Every Monday and Thursday your Observer & Eccentric Newspapers will publish a PERSONAL SCENE directory—listings of people who are looking for people.

PERSONAL SCENE has five classifications—men seeking women, women seeking men, people who want to share sports interests, seniors who need companionship and people who need someone with whom to travel.

PERSONAL SCENE also takes advantage of our electronic age. When you've composed your five-line listing, which will run free for eight issues, call 591-0900 and our ad takers will be happy to help you record your message so that it can be heard by people who are interested in what you've said in your ad. You will never receive unwanted calls at your home; all responses will be recorded and left in your electronic PERSONAL SCENE message center. Note: It will cost $1.49 per minute to check the responses to your listing.

Readers who wish to respond to a listing in our PERSONAL SCENE directory, may use a touch-tone telephone to call 1-900-454-8088 and the special number which will appear in each ad. The cost to do this is also $1.49 per minute.

To place your own PERSONAL SCENE ad, call 591-0900/FAX 953-2232 or Mail us this coupon:

Time Never Runs Out!

NOW...
You can place an Observer & Eccentric classified ad 24 hours a day!

Here's how it works:
First, you must have a touch-tone telephone.
Then, all you do is call us – remember, it doesn't make any difference if we're not here – to place an ad, cancel one or change something on one you've placed earlier.
Let's say it's eight o'clock at night and you've just realized that the cupid on the clock you're selling plays a tin whistle. It's a good selling point, so you punch up our classified number and wait for the operator to guide you through the steps for changing your ad. Have in mind the exact information you want to give us, speak clearly and a bit slower than you usually do. And that's it.
If it's after 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday, your changes will be made for the next Monday paper. Or, if it's after 5:00 p.m. on a Friday or the weekend, your changes will hit the Thursday papers.
Pretty neat, huh?
Of course, our Classified Ad Takers are here every Monday throught Friday from 8:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. But now, if you miss them, you can still do something about your ad – at your convenience.

JETTA GL $179 PER MONTH 48 MOS.

Jetta GL

If the idea of getting a low lease rate while still getting all the car you want sounds appealing, Volkswagen would like you to meet the Jetta and the Passat.

The Jetta is a European designed touring sedan that comes with impressive options like air conditioning, automatic transmission and AM/FM stereo cassette. And does so at an affordable $179* per month.

If European driving and a roomy interior fit your lifestyle, there's the Passat GL. Its list of equipment includes air conditioning, AM/FM stereo cassette and power sunroof. All this and more for only $249* per month.

Plus both are famous for their distinctive driving pleasure known as Fahrvergnügen.

So visit your Volkswagen dealer today while you can get a lease with more for less.

PASSAT GL $249 PER MONTH 48 MOS.
