Inmate testifies against Fisher

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

A 36-year-old prison inmate testified Friday that Dr. Charles Fisher said he taped his wife's nose and mouth, then sat and watched her.

"When he knocked her out, he taped her up," said Ricardo Bush, an inmate who claims Fisher paid him several hundred dollars to take the rap for the 1984 murder of Fisher's wife, Ella Maria Mercado Fisher.

"She had woke back up. He said he sat there and watched her. His name was Dr. Fisher and I thought he knew she was dying," said Bush, who is serving a 10- to 15-year sentence for breaking and entering and as a habitual offender.

Fisher is charged with one count of inciting perjury, a five-year felony, and one count of attempted obstruction of justice, a 2½-year felony. He is also awaiting a retrial in the murder of his wife in their Thornwood home.

Bush told the court that he initially asked Fisher while both were in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson why he was in prison. "He just said a couple of black guys broke in and killed his wife," Bush testified.

Because detectives found money in a bedroom of the Fisher home, "that's why they kept pressing the issue (against Fisher)," Bush continued. "I told him he had to find someone in prison to take the weight for it."

Initially, Fisher did not respond to his suggestion, said Bush, who in exchange for his testimony will be recommended to earn good behavior credits, which effectively reduce his sentence by three years.

After Bush had been put in the prison's maximum security section, a plumber brought him a note from Fisher. "How can I get in touch with anyone who can take the weight for me?" Bush recalled the note asking.

Bush and Fisher spoke again. "He told me if I know anyone who would take $1,500 for the case." Bush responded: "I said I would do it for $1,500."

On continued questions from Doug Baker, Wayne County assistant prosecutor, Bush explained that Fisher paid him $30 in prison tokens every two weeks. When they met again, Fisher provided Bush with details of the murder, based on evidence police apparently had, Bush testified.

Bush spoke of beer cans in the Fisher house. "He said if I was to say that (about beer cans), no one would know that except me and the police," Bush continued.

All in all, Bush testified that he received $300 over seven to eight months from Fisher.

Two juries found Fisher guilty of first-degree murder in his wife's death. The first trial was ruled in error based on a comment by the prosecutor.

In late 1991, the Michigan Supreme Court reversed the second conviction, ruling that a diary kept by Mercado should not have been admitted into evidence because it was hearsay.

Filmmaker focuses on Indians

■ Pamela Conn hopes to film the story of the Indians on Montana's Fort Belknap reservation. One slight hurdle: raising some $400,000.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth's Oscar-winning documentary director Pamela Conn has a pressing story to tell.

But she needs $400,000 to film it — the story of the Indians on a Montana reservation and the threat to their lives posed by a mining company.

Conn recently had a chance to raise funds in Hollywood.

She was there Jan. 28, in the grand lobby of the Samuel Goldwyn Theater, with more than 75 other Oscar-winning women. They were gathered for a reception and group photo, to coincide with this year's 65th Academy Awards theme, "Oscar Celebrates Women and the Movies."

"Everybody had to dress in black and white. There was Whoopi Goldberg, Geena Davis, Shirley MacLaine, Ginger Rogers, Marlee Matlin . . . I went there hoping to find money," Conn said.

It was in August 1991 that Conn became aware of the plight of the natives living at the Fort Belknap Indian Reservation.

"I was there to shoot a film for the Detroit Institute of Arts on plains Indian art."

Working with her on that project was Sue Marx, with whom Conn won the 1988 Academy Award for best documentary short film for "Young at Heart."

While filming in Montana, she heard from crew members of the Indians' concern over strip mining on the south end of the reservation.

"They're taking down the mountains," she said, adding these are important to the natives as spiritual sites.

Also, the process used to mine gold involves use of cyanide which leaches into the ground water, threatening the health of the reservation's population of 3,500.

Conn has traveled to the reservation four times to hang out with the natives and earn their trust.

"This thing is so overwhelmingly important to me; this is a project that has to be done," she said.

"This is literally a life and death situation for these people; their lives are going down the toilet."

Conn said she's moved by the native Americans' way of looking at life.

"It's like going to a different planet. Their relationship with the earth is so profoundly different.

"The way they look at things, we are made in the image and likeness of God, but so is an ant. We are the same as the trees, rocks and earth.

"I think our money will come," Conn said. "But it could take another year; (meanwhile), the mountains are coming down."

To begin filming the documentary would take "about $200,000," she said.

Foundation opens house for questions

BY DIANE GALE
STAFF WRITER

The Canton Community Foundation will conduct an open house to allow the public to ask questions about its operation in the wake of allegations that it is not a fully credited non-profit group.

"We actually thought it was a great idea by the Canton Observer newspaper (in an editorial) to have a meeting to find out who we are and what we're doing," according to William Joyner, foundation executive director.

The foundation treasurer will be present to discuss how money is raised and spent.

"We continue to be an open community minded organization like we always are," Joyner said. "Anybody who ever has any questions about the foundation is free to call any day and we would be happy to talk to them."

■ 'We continue to be an open community minded organization like we always are.'

William Joyner
Executive Director

The Observer suggested that an open house would help answer questions about the foundation raised by Trustee Robert Shefferly at a recent board meeting.

Since then Shefferly was invited, by Joyner and Bill Myers, board member and past foundation president, to review foundation records.

Shefferly said his only remaining concern was that solicitations for money to the foundation should not imply that donations can be deducted on Michigan tax forms. However, donations to the foundation can be deducted on federal income tax forms.

"The Canton Community Foundation has never claimed the Canton Community Foundation qualified for a State of Michigan tax credit," Myers said.

Shefferly said he welcomed the open house, because it might help dispel rumors that were "flying around."

Shefferly said he started to question the foundation's state tax deduction eligibility, because "I figured it was up to me as an elected official to know more about it and whether they were a non-profit organization."

Initially, Shefferly said, he wanted to ensure the foundation accounting books were open and available to the public.

"It seems they're doing a lot of good in the community; I hate to see them be bad mouthed," Shefferly said.

The open house is from 5-8 p.m. Monday, March 1. Omnicom Cable will televise a portion of the open house, from 5:30-6:30 p.m., to give residents who don't attend access to some of the questions. Residents interested in attending may call 454-5427. Reservations are not necessary. Refreshments will be served.

Collection established

McCabe Funeral Home chairman L. David McCabe and chief executive officer Kevin McCabe will establish a bereavement collection at the Canton Public Library at a presentation scheduled for 2 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 11.

At that time, library director Jean Tabor will be presented with a $500 check. The presentation will be at the library, 1200 Canton Center Road, one-half mile south of Cherry Hill Road.

In the spring of 1993, the McCabe Funeral Home Canton Chapel is scheduled to open on Canton Center Road, between Saltz and Cherry Hills roads.

Resident joins corps

Jeremy Reed of Canton will soon become one of more than 5,000 Michiganians who have become Peace Corps volunteers in the last 30 years.

Reed, the son of Larry and Sue Reed, will be a health and nutrition specialist in Thailand. The Michigan State University graduate will join the nearly 130,000 Americans who have served in the Peace Corps since President John Kennedy created the program in 1961.

Reed will leave for Thailand on Feb. 21, after completing orientation sessions in the United States. He will then receive language and cultural training in the country before beginning his assignment.

Skate night planned

A special Family Skate Night has been planned for 7-9 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 11, at the Heritage Park ponds, weather permitting.

Sponsored by Canton Parks and Recreation, the event is free and open to families who want to come out and enjoy skating under the stars. Music and warm refreshments will be provided.

All of the ponds in Heritage Park, behind the Canton Administration Building, are available for open skating on a weather-permitting basis. Signs posted around the ponds provide information whether skating is possible on any given day.

On staff

Tracy Finkler of Canton is serving as the graphic designer and advertising representative for the "North Wind," the Northern Michigan University student newspaper.

Finkler is a graphic design major and a 1988 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School.

CANTON CONNECTION

Artley is lone candidate so far

BY DIANE GALE
STAFF WRITER

Longtime school board member Dave Artley is the only candidate, so far, who has announced he will run for one school board seat in June.

Many other likely candidates say they're aren't interested.

Anyone interested in running in the June 14 race has until 4 p.m. April 12 to file nominating petitions at the E.J. McClendon Educational Center. Petitions must have a minimum 34 valid signatures of registered voters in the district.

As of late last week, Artley was the only person who had pulled nominating petitions.

Artley, first elected to the board in July 1983, said he decided to run for re-election last spring when he chose not to run for a state House of Representatives seat.

"Kids have always been my priority," he said.

"As I looked where I can give back to a community that has always been supportive to myself and my family, I thought the school board was a place I wanted to invest my time," said Artley, adding that he hasn't missed a regular board meeting in the 10 years he has served on the board.

■ 'As I looked where I can give back to a community that has always been supportive to myself and my family, I thought the school board was a place I wanted to invest my time.'

Dave Artley
Plymouth-Canton School Board

"The school board is a real difficult position, because you represent a very broad cross-section of the community," Artley said, adding that school board members have to reach parents with kids in school, as well as constituents without children.

Artley says the district's biggest successes are academic and extracurricular achievements, as well as a strong force of people who are involved with the schools.

So far, Artley apparently doesn't have any competitors.

Carol Bollman, who ran unsuccessfully for a school board seat last year, said she doesn't expect "anyone will run against Dave Artley."

"He may be a jerk, but he's accessible," said Bollman, who supports Artley's campaign.

"People say he doesn't know what he's talking about. He does know if you talk to him after a meeting, but he won't commit political suicide."

Bollman said she doesn't think she will run this year.

"I don't think I want to commit my, life to that regimented circumstances," she said. "It's a lot, a lot of hours to run, as well as to be on that board. Every single Monday night of your life is gone. There's a contract coming up and it will be interesting to see."

Observers speculated other possible candidates include Marilyn Schwinn, who ran for the school board last year and served on the board from 1986 to 1991; James Mills, who also ran last year; Joan Noricks, school activist volunteering on a number of committees; and Patricia Liljestrand, past president of the Plymouth-Canton music boosters.

Schwinn said she isn't interested in running this year.

Noricks said: "I really have considered it, and currently I'm not campaigning. The door is not closed, but it's not open very widely."

Liljestrand said: "I'm not running for school board. I never had considered running."

Mills also said he didn't plan to run.

Nominating petitions are available, to registered residents of the district, at the educational center, 454 South Harvey Street, Plymouth.

The last day a candidate may withdraw from the ballot is 5 p.m. April 15. For more information, call 451-3135.

Local leaders to discuss sharing

The Canton Economic Club is already expecting quite a crowd for the local government roundtable at noon Wednesday, Feb. 17.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, Plymouth Mayor Bob Jones, and Plymouth Township Supervisor Kathleen Keen-McCarthy are expected to discuss shared services. Each official will be given time for an opening statement. Discussion of issues will follow. Bill Joyner, Canton Community Foundation executive director, will moderate the discussion.

A question and answer period will follow with Bruce Patterson, foundation vice president, as moderator.

The public is invited to the luncheon at the Geneva Presbyterian Church, 5835 Sheldon Road. Lunch is $12 per person. Reservations can be made by calling 454-5427.

Men steal gas, pull gun on clerk

■ COP CALLS

An unidentified man pointed a gun at a Canton gas station mechanic who chased after him and his friend when they didn't pay for gasoline pumped Feb. 1, according to police.

The mechanic saw two men in a black Mercury Cougar drive away without paying $21.64 for gas they pumped at a Shell station, 5640 Haggerty. He followed the pair down Ford Road to Morton Taylor. There he got behind the Cougar. When he motioned for the driver to pull over, the passenger in the back seat of the Cougar pulled out a small pistol. The mechanic drove away.

Plane too low

A school bus driver complained to police that as she was driving eastbound on Joy Road at Lilley by Mettetal Airport Feb. 2, an airplane approached the runway at such a low level she had to slam on the brakes, according to a police report.

Bins taken

Two homeowners, one on Oak Brook, the other on Canton Center, reported to police that their recycling bins, valued at $5 each, were stolen from in front of their houses. One of the incidents occurred Jan. 4, the other, Jan. 28, according to police reports.

Canton man revives Democratic Club

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

He was named after Robert Kennedy. And he was born the year before the senator was assassinated.

"I've listened to his speeches," said Rob Rowe of Canton. "For someone my age who grew up in the '80s, it's amazing to hear someone speak so romantically about society and where the country was going."

That inspiration, plus the fact that Rowe, 25, grew up in an Irish-Austrian-Catholic-Democratic family, told Rowe that he was a Democrat — and proud of it.

"As long as I've lived in Canton it was Democratic until it became more expansive. I don't like Canton being thought of as a Republican community. I think there's a lot of latent Democrats out there," Rowe said.

With that thought in mind, Rowe started working a year ago to reactivate the Canton Democratic Club, which disbanded about five years ago. Just last week, another five Democrats sent their club dues to Rowe, recently elected president of the fledgling group. That makes about 50-60 members.

The presidential election kept Rowe busy. In addition to working on Democratic U.S. Rep. Bill Ford's campaign, Rowe, a precinct delegate, worked to encourage other area Democrats to run for similar posts.

■ 'As long as I've lived in Canton it was Democratic until it became more expansive. I don't like Canton being thought of as a Republican community. I think there's a lot of latent Democrats out there.'

Rob Rowe
Canton Democratic Club

The first big get-together for the new club was the night before the presidential primary in August at Palermos in Canton. "That attracted a good number of people," Rowe said.

This past weekend Rowe and club members were at Cobo Hall for the state Democratic Convention to elect state and district party officers. "I felt Canton wasn't well-represented in the party. The upper middle class Democrats need to be more represented."

Rowe is still trying to draw Democrats out in the Canton area. With about 60 precinct seats open to Democrats, only about 25 are filled. "I have respect for people who say what they are. Don't lock yourself away because you feel you are surrounded by Republicans," Rowe said.

He's still trying to draw members to the club. It's a means of getting involved and belonging, he said: "I think involvement is essential. I've lived in Canton all my life. I feel so strongly about this place. If there's a strong sense of community, that's what it's all about."

If there are Democrats who are out there, Rowe would like to hear from them. They can contact him by writing to his home, 43710 Yorktown, Canton 48188. "I invite people to come and make the club what they want it to be."

Of course Rowe is thrilled with Bill Clinton's election and is hoping that will continue to draw out Democrats. But he's got his concerns, too. "People are feeling hopeful. But I'm a cautious person. I'm a cynical person. I truly hope the public doesn't fall back asleep. It's easy for people to say, 'I voted for him. Now it's his job.' "

Clinton can set a tone for the country. But Rowe believes it's up to the people — Republicans, Democrats or any political persuasion — to make the difference. "If enough people stay involved, it will be a good presidency," he added.

As far as Rowe is concerned, that's true for the Canton community. That's why the Democratic Club is important to him. Democrats should get involved in Canton, even if it's believed to be Republican-heavy, he said. "Regardless of your party, you've got to get involved."

Anyway, different ideas are what Rowe likes. That's why he likes to read about Robert Kennedy and his speeches. "I'm disappointed with the quality of leadership today. Even with Republicans, I think there was a more intellectual, poetic and artistic approach years ago. I feel that's lacking today."

Valentine's party will entertain kids

Valentine's Day isn't just for adults.

Canton Parks and Recreation Services is making sure kids are remembered with a party and clown show 10-11 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 13, at the Canton Recreation Center at Michigan Avenue and Sheldon.

The party is for children ages 3-12. They will have games to play, a cartoon and special clown performance to watch, and refreshments.

Antique search leads to buying historic home

BY JANICE JONES
SPECIAL WRITER

In 1989, Carole Wassenaar of Salem went to an estate sale at a nearby farmhouse. She ended up buying the Victorian home on Napier Road.

"I was born and raised 1½ miles from here, so I'd always known of the house," Wassenaar said. "I went home from the estate sale and got my husband to take a look. At first he said, 'No way,' but he changed his mind." The Wassenaars had already restored two homes in Salem. They decided to do this one as an investment.

According to a monograph by the Salem Area Historical Society, the original land grant was purchased in 1828 by Lyman Corbin. It included 200 acres, part of which was in Washtenaw County and part in Wayne County.

In 1862, three of Corbin's sons were liable for service in the Civil War. At that time, the law allowed the hiring of a substitute for the sum of $300. To raise the needed money, Corbin took out two mortgages, one for $300 and one for $600.

After Corbin died in 1865, the property passed to Joseph Doane, who built the current house in 1881.

"We closed on the house and two acres in July 1989, and began work on the outside," Wassenaar said. "We did several weekends of bulldozer work, taking down a chicken coop and an old shed."

The shed appeared to have been built with some materials taken from the first house on the site. Wassenaar saved the original door and hardware.

When cold weather came, they worked inside. "We had to have an electrician come in and rewire the place," she said. Heating ducts had to be installed upstairs, which had been previously heated by allowing warm air to rise through open grills in the floor. A plumber helped gut and replace the downstairs bath and kitchen, and add a full bath upstairs.

"I packed my lunch in the mornings and was here seven days a week. Bill was here evenings and weekends," Wassenaar said. They stripped the walls and ceilings of at least six layers of wallpaper. They cleaned and stained the original trim and moldings, and painted the walls white with a hand-stenciled border.

The restoration took a year and the Wassenaars decided to move into their investment for a while. "We couldn't bear to have someone else reap the benefit of all that work," she said.

Decorated with antiques and family heirlooms, the interior of the home has a cozy, pioneer warmth, reminiscent of the early days of the township. The paneled front door lets visitors into a central sitting area furnished in red, white and blue. A braided rug, antique butter churn, and period rocking chair fit right in with the original wainscoting and a 10-foot-high, built-in cabinet.

The glass in one of the cabinet doors has a large crack running across it. "My husband wouldn't let me replace the glass, because of the unusual repair job someone did," Wassenaar said. She was referring to two large buttons, one on each side of the glass, sewn together with thread through the crack.

Next to the sitting area is a large parlor with trifold doors. On one wall was an unused door to the front porch. Wassenaar covered the entire wall with a quilt made by her great-grandmother. The other walls of the room feature portraits of Wassenaar's great-grandparents. A small table displays a porcelain doll whose hair once belonged to an ancestor.

In the library stands Wassenaar's grandfather's roll-top desk. "He was the Salem Township treasurer, and I can remember people coming to his house to pay for their dog licenses and such," she said.

In the dining room, the Wassenaars worked their way down through carpeting, linoleum, and a layer of hardwood to uncover the original wide plank floor. At one end of the room you can still see scars where an old stove once stood.

Upstairs, the house features an unusual curved hallway. On close examination, one can see where nicks were cut in the foot-high baseboards, allowing them to be bent to follow the shape of the wall.

Township to comply with disabilities act

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

Canton Township will spend more than $30,000 through 1995 to make changes in its public facilities to further accommodate the needs of people with disabilities.

"We will make every effort to do this in-house to keep actual costs down," said Dan Durack, administrative services director.

The changes, which will be phased in through 1995, are required under the Americans With Disabilities Act, which became law in 1990. The act defines who is considered disabled, as well as in what areas accommodations must be made for people with disabilities.

"It is a swooping change," said Dave Medley, township personnel analyst. "It is an educational process for everyone."

The arenas the ADA covers include employment, transportation, public accommodations and telecommunications. For example, if the township contracts for a bus service for its various programs, the bus must be able to accommodate people with disabilities, Medley said.

This year the township will spend $7,850 to make changes. In 1994, the bulk of improvements will be made when an estimated $17,250 will be spent. The phase-in period will be completed in 1995 when $8,250 will be spent.

The changes, which exceed current state standards, will be made at public facilities, such as Fellows Creek Golf Course, township hall, the public safety building, and the parks, including Heritage, Griffin and Fiodin.

An in-house committee reviewed the township's facilities to determine where and what type of improvements were needed to comply with the ADA.

"We had a number of residents who have contacted us," Durack said. One of the residents is a quadriplegic who expressed concern about some of the township's buildings. She may be asked to offer her opinions on some of the proposed changes, he added.

Some of the changes that will be made are in doors, parking locations, signs, public telephones that need equipment for the hearing-impaired, and the height of items, such as mirrors and paper towel dispensers, in bathrooms.

Doors also will be changed so a lesser amount of force is needed to open them. Where there are warning signals in buildings, changes must be made to make the alarms visible and audible.

"You almost feel like a pioneer as you work your way through it," said Tom Yack, township supervisor.

Changes scheduled for this year will be paid for within the township's existing budget, with some adjustments.

Township Clerk Loren Bennett said the township is leading the way in meeting ADA requirements. "We are in fact out in front on this one," he said. "Most organizations don't have a clue what to do on this one."

Plymouth gets new tastes

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The winter of the Plymouth business community's discontent is nearly over.

Last winter, closings of some prominent businesses caused some to wring their hands and bemoan the future of downtown Plymouth.

But this winter, some new food-related businesses are set to open and others plan to — quite a change from a year ago.

The Breadwinner bakery opened Jan. 27 at 448 Forest, in the former barbershop across from the former Cloverdale Dairy.

On a recent weekday morning, owner Eric Jaroch and two employees worked in a kitchen easily spotted from the store's glass front counter. There, traditional baked goods including scones, cinnamon buns and blueberry muffins shared counter space with cheddar-broccoli muffins and other creative varieties.

Jaroch's family founded the original Breadwinner bakery in Rochester. A demographics study suggested downtown Plymouth would be a prime spot to open another bakery.

"We specialize in breads," Jaroch said. "Our philosophy has been excellent. People are very friendly; a lot of the business owners have come in. A lot of people say, 'We've been waiting a long time for a bakery down here.'"

Opening Feb. 15 in the former A&W restaurant building on Ann Arbor Road is Boston Chicken, a Chicago-based chain with eight other restaurants in metro Detroit.

John Kilborn, a corporate employee, described the company product as "marinated fresh chicken slow roasted for two hours. We have a full complement of hot and cold side items," he said, including pasta.

Hours will be 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Downtown at the former Cloverdale Dairy building, Ann Arbor builder Attila Huth continues renovation work, to prepare for the opening in four months of a restaurant specializing in Chinese nouveau cuisine.

On work to renovate the former dairy, Huth said, "We've gutted it completely inside; basically all that's left is the four outside walls. There's new everything."

Ann Arbor restaurant owner Khee Kwok, who is opening the business, said featured fare will include pasta dishes with sea clam sauce and roast duck.

Also, the city building department reports that a Tubby's submarine shop is seeking approval this month from the city planning commission to locate in the Main Street building formerly occupied by Taco Bell.

Friends of the Library offer used romance books for sale

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

"Their fingers brushed and their eyes met as they both reached for the same book at the Friends of the Canton Public Library Used Book Sale . . ."

If that sentence brings romantic images to your mind, the Canton Public Library's used book sale is for you. And it's just in time for Valentine's Day.

For the first time ever, the Friends of the Canton Public Library is hosting a used romantic book sale from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 13. All books are 25 cents.

To add to the fanfare, participants will be asked to help the library write its own romance novel.

"We'll have a large roll of paper around the room. Each person who comes can add to that sentence," said Marcia Barker, library friends volunteer coordinator. Another library tried it successfully. The last line of that publicly written novel said, "She was alone in bed reading a good book," Barker said.

In case you're wondering, the romance writing effort is for adults only.

When the novel is done, it will be presented during a public reading or may even be published. "We'll just have to see how successful it will be," Barker said.

The friends of the library usually host two big books sales a year, one in the fall and one in the spring. But they have received such large donations of used romance novels — mostly paperback — that members decided to honor St. Valentine's Day with a sale.

"We found we were accumulating so many books," Barker said.

The friends have 100-120 banana crates full of romance novels for sale, ranging from the best-selling Danielle Steel books to the Harlequin love stories.

Barker suspects that some of the romance novels have seen a couple of the library's used book sales. People buy them and donate them back to the library for the next sale.

"I think our sale has the lowest prices," Barker said. "The sale is a goodwill gesture and it's good for the library."

Proceeds from the sale will help sponsor more library programs or buy additional items for the library. The last book sale helped buy computer equipment for the children's section.

Faxon eyes more school consolidation

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

"Did you read this article in your Observer about Clarenceville School District?" asked state Sen. Jack Faxon during a lull one day last week. "They may have to fold.

"We have hundreds of school districts with well under the numbers it takes to run a full program," said the Democrat from Farmington Hills.

Faxon had fresh ammunition for his favorite bill — to reduce the number of school districts in Michigan from 562 to about 250.

Clarenceville is a tiny district straddling Eight Mile and Inkster roads, serving corners of Farmington Hills, Livonia and Redford Township.

Superintendent David Kamish last week told the board that students test scores on state math, reading and science exams were embarrassing and disappointing.

Tenth graders scored a mere 15.4 percent on the math portion of the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP).

It led trustee Linda Brandemihl to warn that when MEAP exams become the basis for a state-endorsed high school diploma in 1994, "we will be out of business."

For 10 years Faxon has been introducing his bill calling for a nine-member state commission to redraw school district boundaries. "It has more bipartisan support and more popular support these days," Faxon said, pointing to a halfdozen sponsors.

"I think 2,000 should be the minimum number of students to have a comprehensive district. Below that, you have a very high plant and facilities cost per pupil.

"The commission could pull together the economics, make the districts compact and make them contiguous with municipal lines.

"There are great discrepancies in per pupil expenditures ($2,000 to $9,000 per pupil is the spread). Some of it is due to small districts enhanced by great industrial facilities. If we pooled resources, we could break down the great discrepancies.

"I think the commission could do it in less than a year. Then it would require a legislative act. We have all the demographics; all the data are collected. We could draw up a plan, then have hearings allowing for full public participation and review.

"We've had no reduction in the number of school districts in 30 years," he said.

Faxon was a Constitutional Convention delegate and freshman state representative from Detroit in the 1960s when the last great wave of school consolidations was peaking. The post-World War II baby boom was reaching high school age. Tiny elementary districts consolidated to form districts large enough to build new high schools to replace those built in the 1920s.

Since then, Faxon said, there has been an end to the baby boom and much population shifting. Districts with empty classrooms and under-utilized buildings sit next door to districts that are cramped for space.

Faxon floated such a bill two years ago with the co-sponsorship of Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek. Schwarz has many small rural districts in his central Michigan bailiwick, and they balked loudly at the notion of consolidation.

Faxon thinks now it may be different. The Michigan Education Association has lofted a plan for only 14 districts. Faxon said it makes his plan look conservative.

"Especially now, when everyone's talking about reform, the logic of this plan becomes even more compelling," he said.

Commissioners get committee assignments

The Wayne County Commission has announced the committee assignments for the current term, which expires Dec. 31, 1994.

The Ways and Means Committee, chaired by commissioner George Cushingberry, D-Detroit, includes commissioner Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, whose district includes Redford Township.

The Audit Committee, chaired by commissioner Susan Hubbard, D-Dearborn, includes commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

The Public Safety and Judiciary Committee, chaired by commissioner Otis Mathis, D-Detroit, includes McCotter and commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, whose district includes Canton Township. Amann is the vice chairman of the committee.

The Economic Development Committee, chaired by commissioner Ricardo Solomon, D-Detroit, includes McCotter.

The Health and Human Services Committee, chaired by commissioner Bernard Parker, D-Detroit, includes Plawecki.

The Roads, Airports and Public Services Committee, chaired by commissioner Jackie Currie, D-Detroit, includes Plawecki as vice chair, McCotter and Amann.

Utility chief says tax plan would damage state

Energy taxes being considered by the Clinton administration could add $1 billion a year to the cost of Michigan's energy-intensive manufactured products, the chairman of Consumers Power Co. warned.

Such taxes also could cost Michigan residential and commercial energy users another $1 billion, warned William T. McCormick Jr., chairman of the Jackson-based utility.

McCormick called both the proposed BTU (British thermal units) and carbon energy taxes "regressive and inequitable to energy-intensive manufacturing states such as Michigan."

The Clinton administration and Congress are considering new taxes on electricity, gasoline, natural gas and oil to raise $40 billion a year.

McCormick said such taxes "would have a severe and damaging impact on Michigan's and the nation's economy as well as burdening lower and middle income residential users with increased taxes on essential services such as heat and electricity."

In a letter to the Clinton and Michigan's congressional delegation, McCormick said Michigan is among the top 10 states in overall energy consumption in the nation due to the extensive manufacturing base in the state.

He said a $1 billion per year tax increase would "adversely affect employment in the state and would contribute to further erosion of both U.S. global competitiveness and our trade deficit situation since Michigan is the fourth largest foreign exporting state."

McCormick added that the proposed energy taxes would "work a real hardship on Michigan's low-income and elderly fixed-income gas and electricity customers who are the least able to pay such taxes for essential services. Many of these people are already confronting 'heat or eat' decisions."

More than 3,000 junior high instrumental students from Wayne, Washtenaw and Monroe counties descended on Livonia Franklin High last Saturday to take part in the 1993 Solo and Ensemble Festival.

Thirty-nine judges spent the entire day listening to the students perform solos, trios and duets in various classrooms in the school. It was their task to name the best players and award them blue or red ribbons.

"They were competing for a rating," said festival spokeswoman Lee Pipa. "They were judged on playing ability and performance."

For 15 years now, Franklin has hosted what is called the largest instrumental music festival in the state. Franklin students do all the work involved in putting together the event.

MEDICATION IN FIBROMYALGIA

You expect your physician to prescribe medication as part of your treatment. However, in certain rheumatologic disorders, such as fibromyalgia, the initial response of your doctor may be to avoid medication.

First, no medicine works well. You may hear that many remedies are available, but the closer truth is that in fibromyalgia claims often have their source from the offices of Madison Avenue not from the pages of scientific journals. Furthermore, all medicines have potentially toxic side effects, and each prescription costs money. Someone pays if you do not.

Also, fibromyalgia runs in cycles. Each person develops a pattern of flare and resolution. If you likely will enter such a cycle without drugs, then the hazards and expense makes starting no medicine a reasonable option.

Finally, medical experience in fibromyalgia indicates that a judicious use of heat, rest, activity, and knowledge you will not become crippled, allows you to accept the condition into your way of life.

Thus in arthritic conditions like fibromyalgia, your doctor may defer from medication. His choice does not reflect a lack of knowledge but indicates he knows his business.

Commission laments lack of contracts for county firms

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Wayne County commissioners complained last week that too many contracts for goods and services are awarded to businesses located outside Wayne County.

"Charity begins at home, Mr. Chairman," said commission Vice Chair Kay Beard, D-Westland, suggesting that non-county businesses should be limited to contracts of one-year duration with Wayne County. Beard's district also includes Garden City.

Chairman Arthur Blackwell, D-Detroit, to whom Beard directed her remark, said a move like Beard suggested would invite lawsuits.

"When you start talking about specific protectionist stuff it's dangerous," he said.

The discussion began when commissioner Bernard Parker, D-Detroit, complained about a $190,000 contract to supply a chemical used in wastewater treatment plants that was recommended to be awarded to a Manistee company, the low bidder.

A Detroit company had also bid on the contract, Parker said, and faced layoffs if it didn't get the contract.

■ 'We rail about (contracts) a lot, especially when there are people in Wayne County that bid on this stuff. It breaks our hearts when it's a contract that we know people in Wayne County can do.'

Kay Beard
Vice Chair

"We rail about that a lot," Beard said, "especially when there are people in Wayne County that bid on this stuff.

"It breaks our hearts when it's a contract that we know people in Wayne County can do."

Even so, Wayne County would lay itself bare to lawsuits if it went too far in favoring area companies over others.

"If we violate our own ordinance process I know we'd be in trouble," said commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents the Plymouth and Northville areas.

Comprehensive statistics regarding past contract awards weren't available at press time, but of the 20 contracts the commission voted on Thursday, 12 were proposed to be awarded to businesses outside Wayne County.

In terms of money (excluding a $4.5 million contract with a Detroit firm), Wayne County companies got $1.4 million worth of contracts, while the other contracts (three of them out of state) add up to $1.8 million.

Legal requirements

Commissioners are concerned that the county economy suffers every time a county government contract isn't awarded to a county business.

They would like to give as many contracts to Wayne County companies as possible, but legal requirements for using the lowest bidder and the fact that many of the goods and services the county requires are often not available in Wayne County make that wish difficult, if not impossible, to bring to fruition.

Some say that part of the problem is that the county government, like many governments, has made it difficult for businesses to get contracts.

"It's not easy doing business with any level of government," Beard said, because of all the extra paperwork.

■ 'We've got to find out how close to the edge we can get without going over.'

Bryan Amann
Commissioner

Hometown companies

Parker suggested that the cost to county taxpayers when hometown companies don't get contracts and employees are laid off might easily exceed the savings to taxpayers by contracting with outstate companies when they underbid Wayne County companies.

Big bureaucracy

"The problem is that we've built up an incredible bureaucracy," said commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, who also represents Canton Township.

However, Amann added, "there's a great potential for fraud" in contracting out government work, particularly in a county like Wayne with an annual budget of $1.5 billion.

"That's why there's all those hoops," he said. "To make sure we're spending the money properly we have to put in all these checks and balances."

The trick is to find out just how much the county government can legally favor county companies when awarding contracts.

"We have to be careful that we don't cross a fine line between a reasonable policy and a protectionist policy that hurts Wayne County businesses that rely on business from other counties," McCotter said.

Already the county has an ordinance that says the bids of Wayne County companies can be reduced by 3 or 6 percent (depending on the dollar amount of the contract) for the purpose of comparing them to other bids for the same contracts.

In that way a county company can get county government work even though it isn't the lowest bidder on a contract.

McCotter said the commission's economic development committee will probably take another look at the problem and see if it can't fine tune the appropriate ordinance again to better favor county companies without endangering their business with other counties.

"It's a scale, and they're going to see if they can balance it any better than it already is," he said.

Blackwell agreed. "Everybody wants to help Wayne County businesses," he said. "We have to do something to get more businesses looking at Wayne County."

Seniors need chore help

Would you like to help an older adult with outdoor chores while earning some extra money? Area seniors need good workers to help with snow shoveling during the winter.

The Senior Alliance Chore Referral Program links seniors with workers who can do outdoor chores. Workers, who are asked to charge the seniors no more than $6/hour, must provide three references, including at least two work references.

Workers who meet the requirements will be put on the Alliance's referral list. Once a senior hires a worker, the senior sets up a work schedule and pays the worker.

Call 722-2830.

Harassment seminar set

Madonna University of Livonia has scheduled a seminar called "What Do You Do About Sexual Harassment?" 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 19.

The seminar will address issues such as understanding what sexual harassment is and what it isn't, establishing written policies condemning quid pro quo and hostile environment harassment, establishing procedures to report harassment and training managers and supervisors in regard to harassment.

The seminar will be conducted by Joseph Brown, who is a labor relations manager for an 11-state area. His work assignments include many harassment cases.

Cost is $75. Call 591-5188.

Select heart-felt gifts for Valentine's Day

"Romance is a state of being. It's about taking action on your feelings." Thus writes Gregory J.P. Godek in his best-selling sequel, "1001 More Ways to be Romantic." It would be fitting in this week before Valentine's Day to scan the pages of this book of love ($11.95 at Waldenbooks). Or you can follow the advice of Detroit Romeo, Mark Captain. Here is his love story.

Captain wanted to surprise his girlfriend, Sebrena McCullough, with a special birthday gift, something she would always remember. So he called Calla Victoria's Spa in Heidi's Salon at Fairlane Town Center. Calla Victoria Turner offers The Cleopatra Day of Pampering ($200) to her fortunate spa clientele, and Captain arranged to give Sebrena this ultimate gift.

"It was a total surprise," said McCullough. She was lured to the mall on the pretense of meeting someone and the next thing she knew, Mark wished her a happy birthday, kissed her goodbye in front of Heidi's and told her he'd see her much later.

"It was six hours of relaxation," she said. "Now I know how the stars live. I had never had a manicure and pedicure or a massage. The full-body paraffin mask was really nice, and I was served a delicious champagne lunch." McCullough gushed on about her makeover and hairstyle and looks forward to a next time. And she'll long remember the thoughtfulness of her boyfriend.

For men as well

Calla Victoria offers The King Tut Day of Relaxation for men which includes a facial, a moisturizing hand treatment, a body massage and paraffin mask, and a manicure ($150). For Valentine's Day she presents a special romantic hairstyle and makeover, facial and manicure for $100. How's that for a perfect way to say, "I love you?"

And now some more provocative and unusual Valentine ideas that are sure to make your heart dance.

For an enchanting keepsake, you must see the vintage-look jewelry at Kids Kloz, 6237 Orchard Lake Road in the Sugar Tree Shopping Center. These silver pins are attached to French silk embroidered ribbon from which dangle heart-shaped charms ($192-$262).

If you prefer the glitter of gold, you'll love the beaded Victorian heart charm necklaces at Marley's in The Townsend Hotel, Birmingham (from $65).

While at The Townsend Hotel, reserve a deluxe room for a romantic Valentine's evening. The Townsend Rendezvous package is $189 and includes a rose and champagne, confections on arrival and continental breakfast.

"A rose is a rose . . ." Not according to Nature Nook Florist, in eight major malls. Nature Nook introduces the flamboyant Madame Pompadour long-stemmed rose for $59.99 per dozen. Or choose a decorative heart-shaped topiary ($24.99).

You could spend Valentine's Day at home in front of a crackling fire with a bottle of wine, dozens of scented candles and soft music, or you could indulge in classic French cuisine in a dreamy setting at Chez Pierre, 543 N. Main in Rochester.

Romantic hideaway

Chez Pierre captures the essence of Valentine's Day with roses, chocolate-covered strawberries, champagne and crepes suzette flambe. "Chez Pierre is an unexpected treat," says Lorraine Shalvoy of Rochester Hills.

Sometimes it takes an intimate, personal gift to make cupid's arrows fly. The jewel compact by Yves Saint Laurent is just such a luxury. The bold heart shape centered with a dazzling ruby is a timeless remembrance, available at Saks Fifth Avenue at Fairlane.

Nothing is more intimate than the gift of intoxicating fragrance. Saks presents Gio, the fragrance launch of the decade. Gio is the signature creation of Giorgio Armani. It is sophisticated and feminine, comfortable for everyday, yet sensual for evening. A combination of hyacinth and mandarin lends a warm, exotic note. Your chance to give her an original Armani (1.7 oz. spray, $50).

May your love shine as bright as 19th century lyricist Rupert Brookes who wrote: "Love is a flame; we have beaconed the world's night . . ."

Shape up your wardrobe with a personal shopper

Personal shopping reaches new heights at Saks Fifth Avenue in Fairlane where wardrobes for busy clients are rushed to cabs, hotel rooms and the sets of television shows.

That personal touch: Barbara Willis (right) examines the dress her personal Saks Fifth Avenue shopper, Donna Linaras (left) has selected for her.

"When Linda Dano of Attitudes, the cable talk show for women, was in town we got a call for clothes and makeup and hurry," said personal shopper Donna Linaras of Saks Fifth Avenue.

"We brought her everything we thought she'd need, and it all worked out. That's why I love this job, you never know who you're going to meet or what you're going to be doing. I've helped actress Rita Moreno and a few local celebrities shop for clothing too."

Another Saks personal shopper, Dora Shaw Rowe, pointed to a row of black books on a shelf in her office, filled with the sizes, favorite colors and phone numbers of hundreds of clients spanning a 40-year career in personal shopping.

"You don't have to be rich and famous to have a personal shopper," Rowe said. "All our customers are special. Actually, it boils down to busy people who don't have time to shop calling for help. I have clients whom I never see, I just select things I think they'll like and send them off. The entire store is at our disposal. We do the legwork and accessorizing for them."

Barbara Simmons completes the trio of personal shoppers at the Fairlane Saks.

"Personal shopping seems to be the wave of the future," she said. "As lifestyles become more complicated and leisure time more priceless, shopping by phone becomes the way to go. This is expedited when we know a shopper personally and can select items in their colors and sizes to reserve for them."

Barbara Willis of Taylor stopped in to see the St. John suits selected for her by Linaras, her personal shopper for two years. Several garments were waiting for her in a corner of an elegant, private dressing room on the store's second floor.

"It makes me feel so special to have Donna call me with wardrobe ideas," she said. "I come to look whenever it's convenient, and it saves me time and money because I don't end up with pieces that don't work or wear well."

Glenn Plummer of TV 48 in Detroit praised Saks' personal shopper Simmons for her ability to deliver a professional clothier service to his talk show staff.

"Simmons brought garments out to the set to assure that our panelists did not clash and looked proper," he said. "The average person doesn't realize all the little extras that a professional clothier can arrange to make one look their best."

Cheryl Hall, fashion director at Saks, said personal shoppers have been part of the Saks experience since the stores opened.

Appointments to arrange for a personal shopper can be made by calling 336-3070.

Mall strikes chord with big band sound

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

The overwhelming success of the Fabulous '40s weekend at the Livonia Mall recently prompted mall management to book three more big bands this year and begin a series of dances in the community room starting in March.

"Wow, we done good!" laughed marketing director Bill Checks. "We must have received hundreds of letters and phone calls from attendees who said they had an extraordinarily good time at the Thursday night dance and then again at the Friday night Dorsey concert. The entertainment continued hours past the time it was supposed to end, and members of the crowd weren't all over-40, either!"

Tilly Sosnowski described the concert as "wonderful" and "great" and pointed out that the crowd sang along with the red-sequined vocalist, remembering every word of such favorites as "Sentimental Journey" and "Tangerine."

"Speaking on behalf of the people who attended the weekend events," she said, "I hope the mall knows how much we all appreciated the entertainment they provided for us."

Checks revealed his surprise that "kids in their 20s came up to us and shook our hands at the concert, saying, "Now this is real music." He said negotiations have begun to book the Lionel Hampton Band as well as the Glenn Miller Band for later in the year.

"We'll host another community room dance in March, too," he said. "We just had such a great response to this event."

Checks said 3,000 people took time during the weekend to fill out mailing cards to be notified of the next Fabulous '40s events.

Help group aiding those with MD in many ways

Late last year I wrote a column about a young man I met at a Christmas Eve party. The child, about 3 years old, couldn't walk; at the time, his parents were waiting to see if the diagnosis was a spinal problem or muscular dystrophy.

One point of the column was the parallel to Tiny Tim in Dickens' "A Christmas Story." It was Christmas Eve and here was a small child, unable to walk, happily playing with the host's dog and watching the lights on the tree.

Meanwhile, his parents were telling us that the little boy's present, that he had so been looking forward to — his first wheel chair — had failed to arrive in time for Christmas. His parents were kind of matter-of-fact about it, but the rest of us were seething that a company could be so insensitive to the needs of a little boy one day before Christmas.

A lot of you read that column and called to see if there was anything you could do. I put the question to the family about the same time they received the diagnosis for their son — he is afflicted with a type of muscular dystrophy.

At first, they seemed interested in letting us pursue the story by sending out a photographer and reporter. Then, they backed off, saying it was their responsibility and it would be shouldered by their family.

Then they changed their mind again. I received a call from the father, who said that while they now had the wheel chair, they still weren't as mobile as they might have liked to be, because the wheel chair would only fit in a specially equipped van. They didn't have one, and the price tag on a van outfitted with the necessary stuff hovers around $20,000.

And then I met with the boss of the little boy's father in Plymouth's Box Bar. I had come to visit with him and his wife, since they're great people, but

PHILIP SHERMAN

I'd also shown up to discuss how we could help the little boy's family.

Instead, the boss ordered the first of what would be many, many beers and handed me a letter. I stuffed it, unopened, in my wife's purse, a favorite carry-all for everything I don't wish to carry, and, since I really couldn't read anyway at that point in time, continued the evening.

The next morning, I opened the letter. "You mentioned that over 70 people were touched by the article and wondered what they might do to help," it said. "Though we need a used full-size van to transport our son and his electric wheel chair, in the interest of doing what's socially responsible, we suggest people make donations to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

"MDA will help us and many others purchase new braces, buy wheel chairs, and pay other necessary medical costs. To provide some perspective, our son's leg braces for 1993 will cost somewhere between $5,000 and $6,800." The little boy's wheel chair came in at $11,000, and the letter, from the father, notes that even if his insurance pays 80 percent of all this, and a few other costs, his out-of-pocket expenses will be at least $4,000, not including modifications to their home, a van, a wheel chair lift, and on and on."

And that's on one income — the father's.

"Your readers are already helping through their tax dollars and their donations to the various charities," the letter continued. "I can vouch that organizations like MDA put their money to good use. I can also assure them that more money is needed.

"And if you know a family with a disabled child, offer to babysit . . . they're great kids." His point was that many people feel uncomfortable babysitting for disabled children — but there's no need to feel awkward. They need help just like any other child.

The address of the MDA office to send contributions is 2200 Canton Center Road, Suite 170, Canton 48188, or, for additional information, please call 937-9123.

MEAP doesn't test a student's survival skills

Pity the poor schools. Every year about this time the dreaded MEAP scores come out to haunt teachers, school superintendents, parents and kids.

Parents show up at school board meetings with test scores in hand, wanting to know why their kids can't read or do math as well as in past years. The school administrators usually come up with some mumbo jumbo about how the tests were changed.

My own favorite is an administrator in the Plymouth Canton school district. When asked why girls don't do as well as boys in math and science, the administrator complained that a Barbie doll says "math is hard," when you pull the string.

The assumption here is that kids listen to every talking toy and then go act it out the remainder of their lives. If that were true, my own kids would be killing people with Star War style laser guns and I'd be shooting Indians from behind trees.

But the real trouble with MEAP scores isn't what they test, it's what they don't test. The mission of schools is packing programs with as many facts as possible and trying to get kids to remember them.

The problem with MEAP tests is that they don't test kids on the knowledge they really need to survive in the world, even though schools teach much of it by accident.

Here's a list of the things that schools teach without knowing it:

■ How to deal with tedium. Homework is boring, tedious and stupid much of the time. But then again so is the work done by most adults.

■ Nasty teachers. Most parents complain about them, but really they are as good as any other teacher. Let's face it, we all have to learn to deal with people we don't like.

■ Kissing up. When kids learn the pet subject or theory of a teacher and then tailor their work around it, they are kissing up. Such behavior will surely pay off in the future.

■ Breaking school rules. That's always good training. Not only do kids learn that breaking a few rules doesn't mean you're doomed for life, it's almost vocational training for government and law.

■ Subjects that don't exist. My kid came home from college one weekend and announced that he was taking a class in sociology and that outside of academic circles, the subject doesn't exist. "There's nothing you can do with a degree in sociology other than teach it," he said. A good lesson.

■ Keep it neat. Just remember, it doesn't matter what a kid has to say in an essay, just that it looks neat and has the correct margins. It's form over content. It's a lesson Bill Clinton learned well. Who says we're not training future leaders?

Mastering reading, math and science are all important, but the other things are, too. They're street skills. They teach you the ability to pick up a horse apple and see it for what it is, even though the subject never came up in school.

We should come up with a way to test for it.

Jeff Counts in the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers and mastered kissing up, but can't do algebra. He can be reached at 459-2700 or faxed at 459-4224.

Scholarship deadlines loom at UM-Dearborn

The University of Michigan-Dearborn offers a variety of scholarships for freshmen, upperclass, transfer and special-needs students enrolled at the University.

The following list includes information on campus-based and private scholarships.

Freshmen

■ Alumni Merit Scholarship — Selection criteria include class rank, grade-point average, standardized test scores (ACT and SAT), and recommendations based on the alumni interviews. Forty non-renewable $1,000 tuition awards are presented.

■ Chancellors Scholarship — Renewable full-tuition awards and partial-renewable tuition awards are offered to qualified high school seniors. Selection criteria include a minimum 3.6 grade-point average, SAT or ACT scores within the top 15 percent of national college-bound norms, and involvement in curricular or community service activities. Application materials are available from the Admissions Office. Deadline is Feb. 13.

■ Paul Douglas Teacher Scholarship — This federally funded program is made available through the Michigan Department of Education to encourage outstanding high school graduates to pursue teaching careers. Applicants must rank in the top 10 percent of their graduating class; be a U.S. citizen or national; and upon receipt of a scholarship enter into an agreement with the scholar's state that upon completing their degree program, the scholar will teach full-time for a period of not less than two years. Deadline information is available from the Michigan Department of Education.

Transfer students

■ Community College Transfer Scholarship — Eighteen tuition awards ($1,000 for full-time and $500 for part-time students) are offered to transfer students who have completed an associate degree or 60 hours of community college credit. Applications are available from the Admissions Office and must be submitted by June 15. Criteria include a 3.75 grade-point average, letters of recommendation, work experience and demonstrated community involvement.

Upperclass students

■ Basic criteria for the following awards include: enrollment in a degree-seeking program, completion of 12 undergraduate credit hours with a cumulative minimum 3.0 grade-point average or six graduate credit hours with a 6.0 cumulative grade-point average. All applicants must elect a minimum of six credit hours (undergraduate), or three credit hours (graduate) at UM-Dearborn during the term of application and during the term in which the award is to be used. Unless otherwise noted, deadline for the following scholarships is Feb. 15.

■ Academic Internship Tuition Scholarship — Through the award, the University recognizes academic achievements of UM-Dearborn students and supports, through tuition stipend, the participation in off-campus, non-paid academic internships. This scholarship is intended to support those program which are non-paid and which yield university credit.

■ American Association of University Women (AAUW) Scholarship — The AAUW provides incentive awards to degree-seeking women whose education has been interrupted. Applicants must be women who have at least a two-year interruption and are at least 25 years old.

■ Dr. George and Isabelle Elanjian Scholarship Fund — The scholarship was established to support students of Armenian descent. Recipients are expected to donate five hours per week to the Armenian Research Center. Applicants must be full-time students (12 or more credit hours) and have completed at least 24 credit hours at UM-Dearborn. Applicant must also submit a recommendation from a community leader and demonstrate voluntary leadership contributions to the community.

■ William and Alice Jenkins Memorial Scholarship — The scholarship is in honor of Dr. William Jenkins, second Chancellor of UM-Dearbom, and his wife Mrs. Alice Jenkins. The scholarship serves two functions: reward superior academic achievement and help reduce the financial burden of attending college. Applicants must have junior status. Current recipients of a full tuition remission scholarship are not eligible. Two scholarships are awarded annually, with one specifically earmarked for a qualified student belonging to one of the groups designated by the UM-Dearborn Diversity Plan.

■ McNamara Charity Fund — The charity fund is a non-profit corporation created by Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara to assist minority students with educational expenses.

■ Richard Reynolds Memorial Scholarship — The $500 tuition award honors the late Richard Reynolds, the former director of university relations who served UM-D for 17 years. The scholarship is awarded to UM-Dearborn students who demonstrate achievement in the fields of journalism, public relations, advertising and related areas of mass communications. Students must provide a written sample of this achievement.

■ Returning Woman Scholarship — The award assists women who have had at least a two-year interruption in their education and wish to return to college to complete a degree. There is no age requirement for this scholarship.

■ International Studies Tuition Scholarship — The scholarship supports programs which provide an academic experience in a foreign country. The scholarship money is applied toward tuition costs for all UM-D sponsored programs. Applicants must have achieved at least sophomore status and be enrolled in an approved international study program.

■ Joseph P. Schumpeter Scholarship in Economics — The scholarship rewards students for academic achievement in the field of economics. Two scholarships are awarded annually, one based on financial need and the other based on academic achievement. One of the scholarships is awarded to a woman or minority student. Applicants must have junior status with a concentration in economics, and have completed at least 12 credit hours at UM-D. Selection is based on academic record, personal statement, recommendations and demonstrated achievement in a field of study.

■ Velda D.Taylor Scholarship For Returning Women — The scholarship assists returning women students. Applicants must be at least 25, have at least a two-year interruption in their education, and committed to full-time study (12 or more credit hours). Preference is given to students majoring in a human service field.

■ Detroit Edison Scholarship — The scholarship is awarded annually to minorities and females in the University's electrical or mechanical engineering program, Criteria includes completion of 60 credit hours of coursework in mechanical or electrical engineering and a minimum 3.0 grade-point average. For deadline information, contact the UM-Dearborn School of Engineering Dean's Office, 593-5290.

■ Royal Maccabees Mutual Life Insurance Company Merit Scholarship — The scholarship recognizes outstanding scholastic achievement by upper level students at the University. Applications and deadline information is available by contacting the Office of Financial Aid, 591-5300.

BUILDING, BUYING OR REFINANCING...
Standard Federal has a money-saving mortgage that's right for you.

Last year, we helped over 46,000 customers with a variety of mortgages. Take a look at what we can offer you. You'll see why we're Michigan's leading mortgage lender.

If you're interested in lowering your house payments, you really owe it to yourself to talk to our mortgage specialists about our adjustable-rate mortgage. If you're refinancing, you may be able to save thousands of dollars over the life of your mortgage. You can build equity faster, or even pay off your home more quickly. And you have the option to convert to a fixed-rate mortgage at any time.

As for home buyers, your Realtor or Builder can show you how the current low rates can make your dollar go even further.

Our 5- and 7-year mortgages are great money-saving options because rates are even lower than they are for longer term loans.

Or, if you prefer, we offer a very competitive rate on our longer-term fixed-rate mortgages.

But no matter which mortgage you choose, it will have our unique Rate Lock feature which guarantees that while your Rate Lock is in effect, your loan will be closed at the rate that was available when you applied for the loan or, if lower, the rate in effect at the time of closing.

Call or visit your neighborhood Standard Federal Banking Center about any of our money-saving mortgage products. With rates this low, there's no better time to trim your operating expenses.

ADJUSTABLE RATE MORTGAGES 4.50% Annual Interest Rate 6.60% Annual Percentage Rate

The APRs shown above are based on an $80,000 loan with a 20% down payment, a 2% loan discount fee, a $250 non-refundable application fee, a $350 closing fee and 15 days of prepaid interest. The initial monthly principal and interest payments for the loans shown in this example would be $405.35 for the adjustable-rate loan, $486.09 for the 5/25 balloon loan, $512.23 for the 7/23 balloon loan, $724.66 for the 15-year loan and $566.23 for the 30-year loan. The estimated APR for the adjustable-rate loan is based on an index which is subject to change. The APR and the payments for the adjustable-rate loan are also subject to change on an annual basis after the loan is closed. The initial interest rate will be in effect for the first year and is not based on the formula set forth in the loan contract. The 5- and 7-year loans are balloon payment loans based on a 30-year amortization. Except under certain conditions, the Bank is under no obligation to refinance the 5- and 7-year loans at the time of maturity. CHEF LARRY JANES

Homemade yeast rolls melt in your mouth

Contrary to popular belief, it's very difficult to be a really good food writer, a good cook, and a good liar. You have to realize, in my business, tact is everything.

Of course I tell momma that I enjoyed her overcooked roast. It is also very difficult to say a soup is good when you know darned well it was made with bouillon cubes or that jarred soup base. I even had to nod in appreciation of the "homemade dinner rolls" my sister baked that everyone could tell came right from a "Poppin' Fresh" container. I am sure those rolls were one of the reasons God made butter.

My sister happens to be one of those people who allows yeast rolls to intimidate them. While I have attended gatherings that could have had the guests playing hockey with the rolls, there's really very little to be scared about when baking rolls.

Though any bread recipe can be baked as rolls, dinner rolls are usually enriched with some extra butter, eggs, sugar and sometimes sour cream and cheese.

Refrigerator rolls were originally devised to provide a week's worth of fresh rolls and bread from one batch of dough. The dough is held, covered and weighted to prevent rising in the refrigerator. It can be used as needed.

So a roll is a roll is a roll, you say? Basically, yes. In content, that is. Shape, however, is another story.

Parkerhouse rolls

One traditional shape is the Parkerhouse roll, named after Harvey D. Parker, owner of the well-known Boston hotel of the same name.

To make Parkerhouse rolls, roll once-risen dough on a lightly floured surface to about ⅓-inch thick. Cut into rounds using a biscuit or cookie cutter.

Yours truly thinks an old jelly glass with Wilma Flintstone on it works best, but they're hard to find.

Using a chopstick or the blunt end of a knife, make a deep indentation across the diameter of each roll and then fold one side over not even with the bottom. Brush with butter, allow to rise, then bake.

You know, after all the research I did for this article I was rather disappointed to learn that Harvey Parker got all this fame and adulation just because he folded his rolls a little different. I guess I expected more.

Cloverleaf roll

A cloverleaf roll is simply three small balls of dough cooked in a buttered muffin tin. Dip each 1-inch ball of dough into melted butter and place three balls in each muffin tin. Allow to rise and watch everyone go "oh, ah."

Now, fan-shaped rolls always impressed me. Even the ones in the grocery store always turned out perfect.

To this day, I never knew that all you did was roll out the dough to 1¼-inch thickness and then slice into 1-inch strips. Stack six layers deep and cut into 1½ inch squares.

Stack on end in a buttered muffin tin, brush with butter and allow to rise for pull-apart rolls that will simply melt in your mouth.

Crescent rolls are especially attractive, and because they are so small and dainty, I feel like I could eat 12 and not notice any were gone. To make crescents, roll out the dough into ¼-inch thickness, and cut with a sharp knife into triangular wedges.

Roll each wedge from the wide end — don't start at the point. Place on a backing sheet with the point underneath. Then bend ends toward each other to make a moon shape. Leave 2 inches between each and allow to rise.

Soft sided rolls, like the ones served in my favorite Chinese restaurant, are easily made in a cake or pie pan. Shape the dough into 2-inch balls, dip in melted butter, and place them, almost touching, in a butted cake pan or pie tin.

Glazing rolls

The best yeast rolls are glazed with a simple brush of melted butter which gives a fine, soft finish.

If you are looking for a clear shine, beat one egg yolk with 1 tablespoon of water and brush before baking.

For a slightly darker glaze, brush one egg yolk with 2 tablespoons of cream.

So if you really want to do somebody who brings Poppin' Fresh rolls to a party a favor this year, send them this column with the recipes in a plain, unmarked envelope.

Better yet, include a few samples. Bon Appetit!

In the Pink! Fruity bubbly is lover's wine

■ Romance is in the air on Valentine's Day. Toast the one you love, and let them know how special they are with pink champagne.

CHAMPAGNE HOUSE VEUVE CLICQUOT

Rose (row-zay') or pink champagnes are not new. The House of Veuve Clicquot is historically acknowledged as the first to have produced a pink champagne in 1777. In the past, popularity of pink champagne has ebbed and flowed with each generation. Recently, this has not proven true. It's in to stay.

Pink champagne is in vogue, as much for its distinctive color as for its superior match with food. Colors range from pale onion skin to salmon or copper color, and on to cherry red. This bubbly which is fruity, with more robust flavors and more tannin than golden bottlings, works well with appetizers, hearty entrees, fruit desserts and rich, tangy cheeses.

The major portion of rose champagne is consumed by the French and the English. Roughly 3 to 4 percent of all champagne imports to the United States are rose. Although quantities are small, virtually every well-known champagne house has one, and many have two. Some houses produce rose champagne only in vingtage years.

Fact and fancy

In an earlier time, the pink color became associated with frivolity and even a symbol of wild and dissolute living. To us, pink champagne is a lovers' wine and Valentine's Day is the perfect time to share it with the love of your life.

Dine at a table with a pink tablecloth, pink flowers and pink candles. Prepare or order a lobster entree and end the meal with strawberries or a red berry tart.

According to one legend, rose champagne was created for an important wedding when the bride requested a wine to match the satin slippers and long dresses chosen for her bridesmaids. Another popular version relates that pink champagne was blended to honor the coronation of a young queen. It was loved by the Victorians and Edwardians. In the 19th century, pink champagne was commonly named oeil de perdrix (eye of the partridge) for its distinctive color, distinguishing it from its golden-colored relative.

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

Most likely, pink champagne was an accident of nature during an unusually sunny and warm growing season in the Champagne district. That year, the red champagne grapes, pinot noir and pinot meunier, had darker pigmentation. During pressing, this color entered the juice and a pink tinge resulted in the wine.

Thinking pink

Rose champagne is difficult to produce. By French law, three methods are permitted, two of them risky and requiring skillful winemaking practices.

The older, more difficult method, allows the skins of pinot noir grapes to remain in contact with the juice after pressing. The second method employs the addition of a portion of still red pinot noir wine from the villages of Bouzy of Ambonnay to the blend prior to the second fermentation in the bottle.

The third and least desirable practice in terms of a lasting pink color, adds a small amount of red pinot noir wine to the bottle before it is corked.

Because color results are unpredictable, producers make rose champagne less frequently than they do golden bottlings. Since quantities are limited and greater production care is required, rose champagne is more expensive than the golden. You can expect to pay between $40 and $95 for these special bottlings.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

- 1986 Louis Roederer Brut Rose is toasty with hints of raspberries and cherries. It's light, delicate, finesseful and delicious.
- Non-vintage Taittinger Cuvee Prestige Rose is highlighted by pinot noir cherry fruit and toasty, bread-dough aromas. It's delicate and finesseful on the palate with hints of vanilla in the finish.
- 1986 Perrier-Jouet Fleur de Champagne Rose showcases rich pinot noir cherry-like fruit and fullness. Older vintages of this wine are excellent with roast lamb.
- 1985 G. H. Mumm Brut Rose Millesime sports a heady mousse with rich, full flavors and lengthy aftertaste.
- 1985 Pol Roger Rose shows its early attractiveness with a bright copper color. Aromas of pinot noir cherry fruit are accented by sourdough bread and vanilla. A generous mouthfeel completes a superlative, ageable rendition.
- 1985 Veuve Clicquot-Ponsardin Rose Reserve offers full aromas and flavors. Its spicy, toasty, bread-dough and rich fruit notes make it a lush, generous wine to accompany a broad spectrum of foods.
- 1986 Taittinger Comtes de Champagne Rose is an amazing harmony of rich fruit and sourdough toast aromas. While big and full on the palate, it finishes superbly elegant.

Service tips

Always serve champagne well chilled. Place the bottle in a bucket filled with half ice and half cold water for about 30 minutes.

Use caution when opening the bottle. Remove the wire cage with the bottle facing away from you. Using a towel, slowly rotate the bottle while easing the cork from the neck, releasing it with a soft sigh, not a loud pop.

Serve in flutes or tulip-shaped glasses. A tall, slender glass allows the refined bottles to rise without disappearing quickly. Six glasses per bottle is a generous pour.

"Give the sustenance and fuel that true passion requires," Casanova said. Nothing does it better than harmonizing rose champagne with the proper foods. For starters, canapes called amuse bouche (mouth pleasers) in French are always delicious and festive.

Pink smoked salmon and Boursin cheese spread on heart-shaped bread make attractive finger sandwiches. St. Andre cheese with fresh strawberries is colorful. Individual Barquettes au Boursin (Boat-shaped tartelettes) are unique and easily prepared.

Job demands keep dancer on her toes

WINNER DINNER

BETSY BRETHEN

Dinner and dancing is a regular routine with this week's Winner Dinner Winner, Deborah Chase-Cargill of Westland.

A ballet teacher for over 20 years, Chase-Cargill has 125 students that she takes through their paces every week. Job demands have kept her on her toes in more ways than one.

She begins teaching in the afternoon and continues until 9 p.m. four days a week. To accommodate her teaching schedule, Chase-Cargill prepares and freezes the upcoming week's meals on the weekend. That way they are ready to be reheated and eaten by her husband and two sons.

Chase-Cargill and her family are vegetarians, and she openly admits that she is very picky about what she feeds her family. After-school snacks include fresh cut-up fruit skewered with toothpicks, low-fat crackers or popcorn in lieu of pop, candy or junk food. Her sons' favorite dinner is this week's featured menu. It is easy to make, tasty and low in fat.

Chase-Cargill began studying ballet when she was 7 years old. She shares her passion for dancing with others outside the classroom by choreographing many plays and musicals for local high school and theater groups. She keeps physically fit by regular aerobic workouts, hour-long walks, and eating a low-fat diet.

OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC
Winner Dinner Recipes

SPINACH CREPES

Filling:
- 10 ounces frozen chopped spinach (thawed and well drained)
- 1 four ounce can mushrooms (or ½ cup fresh)
- ⅔ cup fat free mayonnaise
- 3 eggs or (¾ cup Egg Beaters)
- 3 tablespoons flour

Crepes:
- 3 eggs (or ¾ cup Egg Beaters)
- 1 cup low fat milk
- ⅔ cup flour (unbleached or whole wheat)
- ½ teaspoon salt

Mix filling ingredients together in a bowl. Mix crepe ingredients together in another bowl. Pour crepe mixture into a hot lightly oiled fry pan to make a 4-inch pancake. Place lightly browned crepe over a muffin tin hole (sprayed with non-stick spray) and spoon enough filling to fill level with top of muffin tin. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Makes 12 crepes.

You can prepare a double batch and freeze 12 for another meal. They can also be cooked, frozen and then heated in the microwave.

ORZO SALAD

- 8 ounces orzo (tiny rice-shaped pasta), cooked according to package instructions
- 1 medium tomato, diced
- 1 bunch scallions, green part only, chopped
- 3 ounces feta cheese, crumbled
- ¼ cup olive oil
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons fresh dill, finely chopped
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- ½ cucumber, (seeds removed) chopped
- pinch of salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

Combine orzo, vegetables and feta cheese in a medium bowl. Whisk together remaining ingredients in a small bowl. Toss with orzo mixture.

For dessert, serve a fruit salad. Mix together any combination of available fruits. If desired, top with a little low-fat vanilla yogurt.

SMOKED SALMON AND BOURSIN CANAPES

5 ounces (one package) Boursin, softened at room temperature
6 slices white bread of choice
¼ pound finely sliced smoked salmon

Cut 12 heart shapes from the bread, using a heart-shaped cookie cutter. Spread Boursin on the hearts and top with the smoked salmon formed into rosettes.

BARQUETTES AU BOURSIN

5 ounce (one package) Boursin, softened at room temperature
2 large eggs
½ cup heavy cream
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon kosher salt
Freshly ground black pepper and nutmeg to taste
Prepared pie crust pastry of choice

Place 12 individual tartelette pans on a cookie sheet. Line the pans with the prepared pie crust. Weight crust with waxed paper and pastry weights or beans to keep bases flat and smooth. Bake the pie crust in lower part of the oven at 350 degrees until just cooked (about 15-20 minutes). Remove paper and weights.

Mix the softened Boursin with the eggs, milk and seasonings. Beat well with whisk. Pour into the baked shells. Place in oven at 350 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes or until golden brown. Serve. Makes 12 tartelettes.

This recipe can be used for two individual 3-inch tarts baked 25 to 30 minutes.

HEALD'S BOURSIN SUBSTITUTE

1 garlic clove cut in half
¼ pound chilled unsalted butter cut in 8 pieces
¼ teaspoon each of thyme, marjoram, dill, basil, salt and lemon pepper
8 ounces softened cream cheese cut in 4 pieces

Using the steel blade of a food processor, process the garlic, butter and spices. Add the cream cheese and process again. Refrigerate. Before using or serving, allow the Boursin substitute to come to room temperature approximately 45 minutes.

Pink from page 1B

Imported Boursin is available in all specialty cheese shops or in the gourmet cheese section of upscale supermarkets. Our homemade substitute (see recipe above) has never failed.

For fix-in-a-minute appetizers to accompany pink champagne, wrap thin slices of prosciutto or Parma ham around the top ½ of a slender breadstick. Buy herbed chevre, mix it with minced red bell pepper and use the mixture to stuff mushroom caps. Bake these in a hot 400 degree oven until the mushrooms just begin to darken and the cheese melts. Serve warm.

Roasted red bell peppers lightly filmed with extra-virgin olive oil topped with a grind of black pepper and salt to taste, black Italian olives brings out unusual flavors in a pink champagne. Toss bite-size pieces of Alaskan King crabmeat in a light, lemon vinaigrette and garnish with red radishes.

If the thought of a lobster entree for Valentine's Day does not appeal, then consider any veal, chicken or rabbit preparation with a wine and cream sauce. It will harmonize with the robust flavors, yet creamy texture of a pink champagne. As long as the sauce is not distinctly sweet or overly hot and spicy, it will work. Pork tenderloin is the current flavorful bargain white meat. Grill or roast it using the same advice about saucing.

The higher tannins of rose champagne pair it handsomely to grilled beef or lamb or these meats with light sauces. Older, well-cellared rose champagnes (1979 vintage perhaps) are especially wonderful with lamb entrees.

Fondues are back. Dust off your old one and prepare chocolate fondue with strawberries for a Valentine's dessert. Since pink champagnes pair harmoniously with strawberries and chocolate, this is a two-for-the-price-of-one treat.

Skillet dessert quick

AP — Fruit desserts cook a whole lot faster when you skip the baking step. This 10-minute, crisp-in-a-skillet lets you do just that. Sizzle some saucy canned fruit on the stove, then sprinkle with crunchy granola. For serving tableside, grab a potholder and some ice cream.

SKILLET FRUIT DESSERT

1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
16-ounce can pear slices (juice pack), drained
16-ounce can peach slices (juice pack)
¾ cup granola with cinnamon and raisins
Vanilla ice cream or whipped cream (optional)

In a medium skillet stir together brown sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir in the pear slices and undrained peach slices. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir for 2 minutes more.

Sprinkle granola over fruit mixture in skillet. If desired, top each serving with ice cream or whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

STANDARD YEAST ROLLS

1 package active dry yeast
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons lukewarm water
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
2½ to 3 cups flour
1½ teaspoons salt

In a small cup, dissolve yeast and sugar in water. Let stand until foamy, about 10 minutes. In a saucepan, heat milk with butter until melted. Cool to lukewarm. In a mixing bowl, combine yeast mixture with milk mixture and add 1½ cups of the flour. Beat vigorously until well-combined.

Cover with a towel and allow the sponge to rise for 1 hour. Stir down the sponge and stir in the salt. Add 1 cup additional flour to make soft dough. Turn onto a floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes.

Butter a large bowl, turn dough in the bowl to butter the top, cover with a towel and allow to rise for 1 hour. Punch down, make favorite roll shape and allow to rise, then bake in a 400 degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until golden. Makes 16 rolls.

REFRIGERATOR ROLLS

⅔ cup milk
3½ tablespoons sugar
1 packet active dry yeast
1 egg
3½ tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup lukewarm water
3 to 3¼ cups flour

In a saucepan, heat milk with butter until melted. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in sugar and salt. In a mixing bowl, dissolve yeast in water, let stand 5 minutes. Beat egg and milk mixture into yeast. Beat in 3 cups flour. Beat well.

Place dough in a well-greased bowl. Turn dough to cover, then wrap with plastic wrap and place a plate with a weight on it on top of it in the refrigerator for up to 5 days.

To use: remove as much dough as needed and prepare the rolls and allow to rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Preheat oven to 425 degrees, glaze rolls as desired and bake for 12 to 15 minutes or until golden. Makes 16 rolls.

Apple pie tastes down-home good

Thumb through any old cookbook, and you'll find those wonderful homey dishes — cobblers and crisps, pandowdies and crumbles, shortcakes, deep-dish pies and upside-down cake. These are the kind of the desserts we turn to when we need comforting or nostalgic taste of the past.

In great-grandma's day, most of these down-home desserts were made with whatever fruit was in season combined with ingredients that happened to be on hand. Neither precise measurements nor sophisticated cooking skills were needed.

The "recipes" were passed down from mother to daughter, usually by word of mouth.

Today, many of these old-fashioned favorites are again popular, and for good reason. All are relatively easy to make and a delicious excuse to pair ripe seasonal fruits with wholesome grains like oats.

Oats are a natural ingredient for baking. They're inexpensive, a tasty source of vitamins, minerals and fiber, and even easier to measure than flour. When combined with brown sugar and butter or margarine, oats provide the "crust" in an apple or cherry crisp. They add texture and flavor to batters for cobblers, pandowdies and cakes, and oats can replace some of the flour in pie crusts, too.

Easy Apple Custard Pie, developed in the Quaker Kitchens, uses a pat-in-the-pan oat crust that's very simple to make and tastes just like an oatmeal cookie. There's no top crust to roll either. An oat streusel topping is sprinkled over the apples before baking. Choose a sweet-tart cooking apple like Granny Smith or Jonathan, and if you happen to be watching fat and cholesterol, light sour cream and egg whites can be used in the filling. Use either quick or old fashioned oats. The old fashioned oats will provide more texture.

EASY APPLE CUSTARD PIE

1¼ cups all purpose flour
¾ cup oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt (optional)
½ cup (1 stick) margarine or butter, melted
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon vanilla
Filling:
One 8-ounce carton lite sour cream or sour cream
⅔ cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ cup all-purpose flour
4 egg whites or 2 eggs, slightly beaten
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg
4 cups peeled, thinly sliced apples
Topping:
¼ cup oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ cup all-purpose flour
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine or butter

Heat oven to 375 degrees. For crust, combine dry ingredients. Add margarine, water and vanilla; mix well. Press firmly onto bottom and sides of a 9-inch glass pie plate, forming ¼-inch rim around edges. Bake 12 to 15 minutes or until light golden brown. Cool.

For filling, combine sour cream, brown sugar, flour, eggs, cinnamon and nutmeg; toss with apples. Arrange in crust.

For topping, combine dry ingredients; cut in margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Sprinkle over filling. Bake 50 to 60 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm or chilled; refrigerate leftovers. Serves 8.

Stir up some beef

PEPPERY BEEF STIR-FRY

12 ounces boneless beef top sirloin or top round steak
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon dried thyme, crushed
¼ teaspoon black pepper
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ to ¼ teaspoon ground red pepper
⅔ cup beef broth
2 tablespoons tomato paste
2 teaspoons cornstarch
Nonstick spray coating
2 cups broccoli florets
1 medium carrot, bias sliced
2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
½ cup bias-sliced green onions
8-ounce package frozen baby corn, thawed
2 tablespoons beef broth
Hot cooked rice

Trim separable fat from beef; partially freeze meat. Cut meat across the grain into thin bite-size strips.

In a medium mixing bowl stir together paprika, garlic powder, thyme, black pepper, salt and red pepper. Add beef strips; toss to coat.

In a small mixing bowl stir together the ⅔ cup beef broth, tomato paste and cornstarch. Set aside.

Spray a cool wok or 12-inch skillet with nonstick coating. Preheat wok or skillet over medium heat. Stir-fry broccoli and carrot for 3 minutes. Add mushrooms and green onions. Stir-fry for 2 minutes more. Add corn; stir-fry for 2 minutes more. Remove vegetables from wok. Carefully add the 2 tablespoons broth to wok. Add meat; stir-fry for 2 to 3 minutes or until desired doneness.

Push meat from center of wok. Stir broth-cornstarch mixture; add to center of wok. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir for 2 minutes more. Return vegetables to wok. Heat through. Serve over rice. Makes 4 servings.

ART ON THE EDGE

STAFF PHOTOS BY BILL BRESLER

Art of Tattooing: Dan Collins lays in an outline for a tattoo on Dean Haworth's back.

Skin serves as his canvas

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

From Pegasus the winged horse of Greek mythology to American eagles, beautiful women and dragons, artist "Tatu Dan" Collins has captured them all on skin.

"If you can imagine it, it can be illustrated on skin," Collins said. "Death figures, butterflies, nipples on male burn victims, I've done them all. I've even done permanent eyeliners and lips."

Now in his second decade of tattooing Collins, who has no formal art training except for high school art classes, estimates he has done more than 50,000 tattoos. He creates his own designs in four basic styles: tribalism, traditional, American and Japanese.

"I prefer American fine line, black and gray work; it's more detailed," the Canton Township resident said. "You get a lot more realism out of it."

The art of tattooing hails back to the Egyptian times. Tattoos found on mummies date back to around 2000 B.C. Polynesians used tattoos to denote social standing and for purposes, erotic and decorative. For New Guinea women, tattoos were a sign of beauty.

Doctors, lawyers, officers of the law, musicians, bikers, burn victims, and even dermatologists have walked away with body art by Collins. Many are repeat customers. Some of them are new customers, needing cover-ups of bad designs done by other tattoo artists.

"Half of all the collectors I tattoo are women," he said. "I think women wear them to be sexy. Men wear them to be macho.

"You could ask a thousand different people and get a thousand answers. They're all art collectors. It's a need to express themselves. It's often been called the signature of the soul."

Collins said his mother knew he'd eventually become an artist, when he began drawing at two years old. At age 13, Collins created his first tattoo in Eskimo fashion on himself using string, thread and India ink. By 15, he had his first professional tattoo. After serving in the U.S. Marine Corps, he lived for 5½ years in Hawaii learning the art and practicing it.

"There's no Gemini School of Tattooing," he said. "You learn by apprenticing and picking the artist's brain whose doing it."

Collins has worked at several area tattoo parlors and for two years had his own shop, "Tattoos by Tatu Dan" in Taylor.

Collins' work: Pen and ink on paper.

"It's the most personal art form there is, to have your canvas smile back at you and say thanks; it looks great," he said. "A sculptor doesn't get that, an airbrush artist doesn't."

Collins has created a collage of beautiful women running the entire length of Dean Haworth's left arm. There's even a portrait of Haworth's mother.

"I like the way it looks on my body," said the Allen Park resident who got his first tattoo in 1986. "I'm into the art of it. I'm into the beauty of it. I have it on my walls, but I have it on my body, too."

Haworth says his tattoos serve as a good indicator of the types of people he meets.

"People have a different attitude when you have tattoos," he said. "There's a stigmatism attached or bigotry against people with tattoos."

In the last six months, Collins' art has taken on a new format — that of ink and colored pencil on paper. In November his works on paper were exhibited as part of a group show at Nelson's Gallery in Livonia. Viking girls once found only on skin, now smile back from behind glass. Many of the works are takeoffs on tattoos he designed after woodblock prints by Japanese artist Utagawa Kuniyoshi (1797-1861) for the epic novel "The Water Margin Heroes."

"The detailing he puts in, you just don't see this art every day. There is history behind it. It's been around hundreds of years," said gallery director Laura Hardy.

Collins said he's grateful to Hardy for the opportunities she's given him and his art.

Live performance is the 'cure'

■ There was a time when The Incurables played at any place that would let them, when they were labeled as playing hard rock and oldies. Times have changed and the group has carved out a niche for its high energy sounds.

BY KYLE GREEN
SPECIAL WRITER

STREET BEATS

The Incurables they are, immortals they are not.

The four-member group which prides itself on its high energy performances, usually obtains wounds as a result.

"We've acquired a number of bodily injuries just from adrenaline and running into walls," said Pat Kelly, guitarist/vocalist.

"I jumped off stage, I miscalculated . . . and I ran into a mirrored wall . . . I came up with two permanently scarred knees," bassist Ray Lawson said with a laugh. "I hit a ceiling before, I misjumped one time and kind of hit it."

"I don't want to give you the impression we are slammers or anything or we smash our equipment type stuff," said Kelly. "It's all just internal adrenalin, opposed to externally produced, this is all self induced-produced."

The power they generate when performing has been captured onto a seven-single cassette, "The Incurables," which is being sold independently.

The group will be hosting a release party at Reiser's Keyboard Lounge, 1870 S. Wayne Road, Westland, Saturday, Feb. 13.

The idea for their second release is to solely capture their live performance strength for their fans to enjoy at home.

"We're very energetic on stage," said Ray. "We like to move around and like to get into the music."

"The music actually gets into us, that's how it has always been," Kelly added. "We have been real true to our music and that's what we do: that's where our energy is. We go deep inside of our music and it explodes back out of us."

"The Incurables" follows their first release, "Look in Your Mind," by two years. The latter has found itself on local radio stations' playlists. The latest release took eight months to record at the Tempermill in Ferndale and will launch the group onto a new rock'n'roll highway.

"We didn't get to the point that all songs had the same sounds," said drummer Darrin Lawson. "This is aimed at the younger audience, the college audience. The first one was more poppier and it appealed to a number of people."

The group has been schooled in students' dislikes and likes by playing fraternity parties. The group feels that such crowds are more open to their performances, which include cover tunes and original songs, and get as consumed into the music and performances as the band does, said rhythm guitarist Chuck Byberg.

"We have played without our pants and people took off their pants," Byberg said.

"It's a great feeling when you look out and see the crowd mouth the words to songs even I can't remember," Kelly added.

Playing fraternity parties and bars is a long way from the conception of the group when Kelly and Ray Lawson started playing when they were students at Wayne Memorial High School.

"We would play any place that would let us — a lot of benefits and a lot of hotel lounges," Kelly said. "We did a lot of audition night-type things. We'd play until we found a song they liked and then play it over and over."

"We started playing oldies," Ray Lawson said. " '13th Floor Elevator,' 'Mr. Magoo' — a lot of alternative oldies."

"There wasn't much classification at the time," Kelly said. "You were either heavy metal, you were country or you were this oldies music they called it. Some how they stuck us with these guys and we'd have a lot of trouble because with playing these bars and places they would go 'You guys are hard rock,' and we'd go to clubs that played hard rock and they'd go 'You guys are playing oldies.'

"Fortunately music changed and we pretty much stuck with our roots and stuck with our music and the world caught up with us."

The Incurables have had more member changes than diseases cured this century, but Ray's cousin Darrin joined the group five years ago, followed three years later by Byberg to create today's line-up and sound.

"I would have to say if you have to classify our music into a style we now would be alternative-pop with a hard edge," Ray said.

Friendship is the key to their existence.

"It's like we are married," Darrin said.

"I'd consider this a marriage with these guys in the band. A more solid and stable and honest marriage then my previous one," Ray said. "We are committed to a goal. We would like to have a major record contract, but we are not going to be blinded by that. We are going to have fun in the mean time."

Fun means playing roughly four gigs per month this winter and spring, going back into the studio in the fall and having a new release by winter, but still maintaining a focus on their music.

"It's a need . . . You can be a good musician and play in your basement all your life until you're dead. We want more than that," Kelly said.

"We're looking to make the most out of all we are doing now," Darrin added.

■ 'We have been real true to our music and that's what we do: that's where our energy is. We go deep inside of our music and it explodes back out of us.'

Rembrandts master art of acoustic play

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

The Rembrandts hope to storm into Detroit for their show on Saturday, Feb. 13, at St. Andrew's Hall. Hopefully Mother Nature won't take the pop band's intentions too seriously this time.

"We were supposed to have this huge show last time but there was a big snow storm," said member Phil Solem who along with Danny Wilde makes up the Rembrandts. "We managed to show up. Only about 50 people showed up. I couldn't blame the (other) people for not coming though."

For this show, the Rembrandts are planning a "humongous, variety, action-packed show."

"We decided to go all the way . . . spend all the cash."

That includes hiring an eight-piece band including two cellists, and an accordion player, Michael Ramos, who has played with the Bo Deans. Solem said carting along a large band is the result of "acoustic show overkill."

"It's probably a knee-jerk reaction to the fact that we've been doing so many acoustic gigs. Once you do an acoustic show, everybody lines up to get you to do one," Solem said in an interview from his Golden Valley, Minn., home. "We've done about 18 quadzillion acoustic gigs. You won't soon hear us a cappella."

This "plugged-in" tour, promoting their artistically named album "Untitled," will take the Rembrandts throughout the United States and possibly to Europe. Solem said it doesn't really matter where the band plays because they can't go sight-seeing anyway.

"When you actually get into the thick of it, all you see are the insides of hotel rooms and sitting in a room doing interviews for 12 hours," Solem said. "The most amazing things in the world are at your fingertips, but you aren't allowed to touch them."

One thing the duo almost did get to see was a Rembrandt exhibit at a Detroit-area art museum.

"We passed by this museum that had a Rembrandt exhibit. One of our reps said, 'Oh, I want to take pictures of you around the signs.' He pulls over and he got out the camera and stuff. Got us posing around the museum and the entrance hall," Solem said.

"The (guard) wouldn't let us into the exhibit. He didn't seem to care that we were the Rembrandts.

"It turned out he didn't have any film in the camera."

The Rembrandts perform Saturday, Feb. 13, at St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit. Doors open at 9 p.m. Must be 18 or older to enter. Call 961-MELT for more information.

CLARIFICATION

In the Feb. 1 issue of Street Scene, the lead singer for the rock band RingLeader should have been identified as Dave Genik.

Also in that issue, information was reversed in the Street Seen column. The photograph of the heart-shaped box related to a special Valentine cake from Home Bakery in downtown Rochester, while the collection of cupid pins were the work of sisters Cathy and Mary Adams.

Grier may be funny, but he's not a 'comic'

at the mike...

■ Don't ask her for wallcovering tips ... You may know her better as "Norma for Knoppow's" but Norma Zager is a local comic of high repute. Catch her observations of the world at the South of the Border stage of Chaplin's Windsor Feb. 17-20. Call (519) 252-5220.

■ Making mo' money ... Damon Wayans isn't the only one of the funny Wayans clan to depart "In Living Color." The creator of Homey the Clown, Handi-Boy and a plethora of other characters brings his live act to the the Fox Theatre Feb. 20. Tickets from TicketMaster outlets or call 396-7600 for more information.

■ Does anybody remember "Make Me Laugh" ... Gallagher, Howie Mandel and Bruce Baum were just a few of the hilarious stable of comics that made the syndicated game show "Make Me Laugh" funny over a decade ago. Another alum of that show, Vic Dunlop, appears at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle in Royal Oak Feb. 23-27. Call 542-9900 for reservations and information about purchasing Vic's "hot buttered eyeballs."

■ A benefit ... Kenny Rehab, a Rochester non-profit organization dedicated to maximizing the potential of people with disabilities, presents comic Geri Jewell for a special benefit performance at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle in Royal Oak Sunday, Feb. 28. Jewell, born with cerebral palsy, looks at the lighter side of having a disability and has appeared on NBC's "Facts of Life" and Fox's "21 Jump Street." Call 852-5252 for more information.

BY BOB SADLER
SPECIAL WRITER

Comedy has made David Alan Grier famous but don't call this native Detroiter a comic.

"I consider myself an actor," says Grier unequivocally.

And an actor he most certainly is. Grier graduated from the University of Michigan and proceeded on to the Yale School of Drama where he played serious roles. After receiving a master's degree from Yale, Grier headed for Broadway and a critically acclaimed role in "The First," a musical based on the life of baseball's color barrier breaker Jackie Robinson. His portrayal of the legendary Robinson earned him a Tony nomination in 1981.

A couple of years later, Grier starred with a little known actor named Denzel Washington in an off-Broadway production of "A Soldier's Play," which led to his big screen debut in the movie version, "A Soldier's Story."

With an acting resume like that, how did Grier take a left turn and end up doing comedy, both on the live stage and as part of the phenomenally successful television ensemble on Fox's "In Living Color?" It was certainly not something he ever yearned for or expected.

"Never," said Grier when asked if he had even thought about life in comedy during his student days.

"I wanted to be a Shakespearean actor," he said. "I wanted to play Othello. I never thought I'd play the Apollo, let alone play it as a comedy act."

Grier admitted that he did do something resembling comedy on a stage in Connecticut during his Yale days, but did nothing else with it. However, he did meet an actor named Robert Townsend during the filming of "A Soldier's Story," and Townsend later went on to success on the comedy stage and with the film spoof "Hollywood Shuffle."

Not a comic: David Alan Grier has a knack for making people laugh, but the one thing he doesn't want to be called is a comic.

COMEDY

It was Townsend who dared Grier to try his hand at stand-up, which caught the attention of Keenan Ivory Wayans. As a result, Grier was cast in Wayans' film "I'm Gonna Get You Sucka" and later his television project that was being proposed for the then fledgling Fox network.

"In Living Color" became one of Fox's biggest hits, an edgy ensemble show with an incredible array of characters who quickly became household words. Among Grier's notable characters on the show are blues singer Calhoun Tubbs and Antoine Merriweather of the "Men on . . ." sketches.

"I never imagined a character like Antoine would get so big," Grier said of the overtly gay character. "We were amazed it cleared the censors. With a sketch show like ours, there's a fine line between edgy and crude."

Lately, the show has fallen into a state of internal disarray. Keenan Ivory Wayans, the show's creator and executive producer, quit the show in December over a dispute with Fox. Damon Wayans, Keenan's brother and a star in his own right in films like "Mo' Money" and "The Last Boy Scout," made only a few guest appearances this season and has also left.

Tommy Davidson, another founding cast member, is reportedly on hiatus. The remaining cast members and a few newer players, most notably Jamie Foxx, are continuing to tape new shows with the show's trio of head writer's now promoted to co-executive producers.

"Everywhere I go, people ask if we're still on the air," Grier said of the sticky situation. "There is a perception that our show is already over. Fox needs to tell the public that we're still alive and functioning.

"From a business standpoint, they need our show. Fox has launched 15 new shows this year and all of them have bombed except for 'Martin.'"

Grier is sorry to see Keenan leave, but knows he has plenty to fall back on if "In Living Color" does not continue. Contractually obligated to one more season of "Color," he has a movie script being written for him that Eddie Murphy wants to produce — paybacks for last summer's "Boomerang," a film in which Murphy, Grier and Martin Lawrence of "Martin" starred.

He also is in the process of developing a television pilot and spends a number of days on the stand-up trail, playing large theatres (he came home to The Fox on New Year's Day). And, finally, if time permits, he'd like to do a serious role again.

"I would love to do a play," Grier said, "but I don't want to do a remake of 'On the Waterfront.'"

STREET SENSE

BARBARA SCHIFF

This is from voice mail:

Barbara,

The following is not so much a question as it is a comment, an angry comment at that. Zoe Baird withdrew from consideration as attorney general of the United States because of the public outcry she provoked by hiring undocumented workers to care for her child and her home. Some years ago when both my children and I were younger, I had the same problem and I solved it the same way.

I am a professional woman as is Zoe Baird; I have been listening to self-righteous anger all around me and now I need to express some myself.

When I chose the woman who cares for my children I did it because it was obvious that she could love my children better than anyone else I interviewed. I hated breaking a law, but I valued my children's welfare more than any other consideration. I was not in a position to take off a month or two to find another person that would fit all the qualifications, and so I did what was best for my children at that time.

The woman without the green card stayed with me for some time. Sometimes, because of guilt, I would think of finding someone else, but my children really loved her, and so I felt I couldn't disrupt their security. All of this time I was suffering from the added guilt of knowing that I was not home with my children myself.

I cannot be sure of Zoe Baird's motivation in this matter, but I do know there are many out there like me struggle to make good choices in a tough world where sometimes none exist.

Working Mom

Dear Working Mom,

Thank you for your comments; I am happy to print them. I hope you will think about this response although you may not like it. The controversy over whether or not to hire illegal workers when it is the very best care you can find for your children is many faceted. I'll address only the morality issue and not the political or legal ones.

Let's say we accept Zoe Baird's claim that she is "acting as a mother" when she hired undocumented workers. By that behavior she implies that her moral responsibility to her child was greater than her moral responsibility to uphold the law. Do not misunderstand, there is no way to know if her defense was the truth. I am using this as the premise because it is what you felt the need to do, put your children's needs above the law.

Since the fallout from the feminist movement began to define our gender differences there has been research on the differences in morality between men and women. In some of these studies, men have been seen as more moral than women because they were more likely to base their moral choices on rules and on universal principles than were women.

Women were more likely to base their moral choices on caring for others and on responsibility in relationships. Men are seen as being worried about interfering with each others'rights while women worry about not helping others when they could have.

It is an oversimplification but still true to say that the reason given for this is that because women bear children they are more concerned with closeness than with independence. The conclusion of these research studies is that we shouldn't think of one kind of morality, adherence to rules, as being better than another kind of morality, responsibility in relationships. The studies say that yes, they are different, but that one is not better than the other.

It is a tribute to women that the opposition to Zoe Baird didn't divide by gender. As many women were outraged by her behavior as were men. They were saying that what is right for the gander is right for the goose, too. They don't want special consideration because of the added responsibility of bearing children.

Morality by its very definition is not what we do because it fits the situation at the time but what we do because it is correct or right no matter how hard it is. What do we teach our children when we break the law so that their lives can be easier?

That does not mean that even honest men and women will not continue to make pragmatic decisions that will break the law. It does mean that we cannot take the moral highground when we do so. It also means that we must necessarily take the consequences for our behavior. It was appropriate that Zoe Bajrd wasn't given the role of top law enforcer in our land.

American remake of 'The Vanishing' retains dark spirit

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

■ MOVIES

I wasn't the only one to place "The Vanishing" on my list of 1991's 10 best releases. The obscure Dutch thriller, which screened locally at the Detroit Film Theatre, was unanimously hailed as a clever, uncompromisingly dark film that delivered one of the screen's most chilling final images.

Hollywood has now remade "The Vanishing," importing director George Sluizer and retaining much of the same spirit that made the original so captivating.

Of course, there have been compromises. Given a budget probably 100 times larger than the original's, Sluizer has softened both the message and the ending for American consumption. It still provides ample intelligence, wit and psychological horror.

Both movies stick to the same intriguing premise. Jeff and Diane, young lovers on vacation in Washington state, pull over at a roadside rest stop. She goes inside to use the bathroom, and when she doesn't return a half hour later, Jeff is suspicious. As night falls, he's downright frantic. Three years later, his job lost and sanity in question, he still searches for clues to her whereabouts.

By this time, Jeff hardly cares whether Diane is alive or dead. His obsession lies solely in learning the truth. "Instead of a chance that she's alive somewhere without me knowing it," he says in anguish, "I'd rather have her dead and discover what happened to her."

Where Sluizer's original kept us guessing along with Jeff, the remake introduces the madman responsible during the opening credits. The message is no longer that the most normal-looking family man might have, for no reason at all, swiped your girlfriend.

Barney, played here by Jeff Bridges, now becomes a run-of-the-mill American psycho, a chemistry professor who spooks his teenaged daughter with a picnic basket full of spiders and drops flies into chemical-filled petri dishes. With locks of long, curly hair falling into his face, Bridges plays him overly affected and eccentric.

Kiefer Sutherland, however, makes a convincing man obsessed. He tries to start a new life with a new love, Rita (Nancy Travis), but the relationship is haunted by reminders of Diane (Sandra Bullock). Just when he thinks the demons of the past have been exorcised, Jeff receives a message from Barney offering him a chance to find out exactly what happened to his love, but with one little catch.

For his more exciting, though contrived, climax Sluizer inserts some of Hitchock's red herrings. We know the loaded gun Jeff keeps hidden in his apartment will surface again. Other bits of information are introduced but never mentioned, such as Rita's comment that she knew Jeff in high school.

The best thing about Sluizer's handling of "The Vanishing" is the sparseness of style. After some shakey camerawork to accentuate Jeff's panic early on, he sticks to the ordinary and natural in subtly stylized compositions. Most importantly, he realizes that horror doesn't always rely on graphic special effects. True horror exists in the imagination.

■ Traditional high school wrestling power Redford Catholic Central was in the familiar role of champion in the Observerland tournament.

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Redford Catholic Central regained some of its old glory and returned to wrestling prominence Saturday in the second annual Observer Tournament.

The Shamrocks, following a couple of down years, put six wrestlers in the championship round and were assured of winning the team title before the finals were contested.

CC, which placed fifth in the first tournament, scored 204 points to finish ahead of Westland John Glenn, Livonia Stevenson, Plymouth Salem and host Garden City.

"We decided we would win one instead of getting beat on all the time," CC coach Mike Rodriguez said. "We needed one. We've had a lot of injuries, and we're just starting to get the team back to where it should be.

"The seniors are finally starting to get ahold of what it's all about. This is the kind of senior power we've had over the years, that we didn't have at the beginning of the year."

CC senior Jason Krueger (171), sophomore Bill Lamb (103) and senior Steve Borke (130) took first place. Seniors Marc Braken (189), Todd Lackey (275) and Mike Madden (140) and junior Liam O'Donohue (152) finished second.

"Our team did a great job today," Krueger said. "We lost to Salem and were fifth in the (area) rankings earlier in the year. It's nice to come in here and prove we're a good team and we deserve to be on top."

Krueger and Garden City senior heavyweight Jason Peterson were the only returning champions and both are two-time winners. Peterson, Glenn senior Mike Reeves and Plymouth Canton senior Nick Spano shared the most valuable wrestler award.

Peterson pinned his first three opponents in the first period and stopped Lackey midway in the second, boosting his record to 31-2.

"There's nothing better than winning a tournament once but, if you're lucky to win it twice, the second time is just as good as the first," Peterson said. "I thought I'd do well, but I didn't think I would pin all the way through it. The last one was the toughest; he's a good kid."

Krueger (31-1) defeated Wayne's Verlon McLendon 10-1 in the final but had a tough match with the taller opponent. He led 5-0 after two periods.

"He looked like he was wrestling well before that, so he didn't look like any slouch. I expected a good match," Krueger said.

Reeves (24-0) won the 160 title, resulting in a better experience for him. He was disqualified last year for using an illegal move that resulted in injury to his opponent and was removed from the tournament by coach Dave Hill.

"I wanted to come here and show everyone I didn't have to hurt anyone, be a better sport," Reeves said. "It was something I felt I had to do, come back here and do it with a little class."

Reeves wrestled North Farmington's Jared Lawrence for the first time and, though he was ahead all the way, had a tough match despite the eventual 15-8 score.

Spano (30-0), who was third at 130 last year, won three bouts on pins before defeating Farmington's Mike Prough 8-2 in the final.

"I was mad last year because I had a bad call against me in the semifinals," he said. "I should have been in the finals today. I was pretty confident this time. This year I pretty much knew I was going to win it."

Stevenson had three winners — Scott Goldman (140), Chris Mullett (145) and Craig Martin (189) — and all three are sophomores.

The future looks good for the Spartans "as long as we have sports," coach Don Berg said. "It's probably our best day at Stevenson as far as the team is concerned."

Goldman and CC's Madden had one of the best matches. Goldman got an escape and a takedown late in the third period for an 11-9 lead and held on to win 11-10.

The other winners were Glenn's Anthony Underwood (112) and Gerry Simoneau (152), Redford Thurston's Lueiy Haddad (119) and North's Dave Orow (125).

COLLEGE SPORTS SCENE

SC stuns Mott CC

At least once every season, it happens. It was Mott CC's turn this time.

The Bears probably came into Wednesday's men's basketball game at Schoolcraft College with confidence. After all, they were atop the Eastern Conference; SC was at the bottom.

Add to that their superior depth — Mott had 10 players, SC six — and SC's recent struggles (five straight losses, most by lopsided margins), and the outlook for a rout seemed bright.

Surprise! The Ocelots pulled off a shocking upset in dramatic fashion, 85-83, on a three-pointer at the buzzer by Mohammed Abdrabboh Wednesday at SC.

The defeat dropped Mott (16-6 overall, 9-3 in the conference) into a virtual tie for first with Oakland CC and Macomb CC, all with three losses. SC is 2-10 in the conference, 6-16 overall.

The game's final seconds were as improbable as SC's being in the game at all. After all, the Ocelots had been blown out by 40 points by OCC four days earlier.

But they had Jarvis Murray back, an all-conference center last season. Murray missed seven straight games because he had to rewrite an English assignment to complete a first-semester class. SC was 1-6 without him.

Shawn Branum was missing, though, after suffering a broken nose against OCC and having surgery Tuesday. Branum is expected back for Wednesday's game at Alpena CC.

The Murray-led Ocelots built a 43-33 lead by halftime and increased it to 19 points with just under 11 minutes left in the game.

That's when the Bears rediscovered their shooting touch, hitting five straight three-point shots in a 15-4 run. Ron Thompson had three of those; he scored 16 points.

A Kevin Polite triple trimmed SC's lead to 82-81 with less than a minute left. The Ocelots were struggling; they were 0-for-6 from the free throw line in the last two minutes. Steve Whitlow missed two with 12 seconds left.

Then Abdrabboh fouled Kevin Preteet, the conference's leading scorer (SC held him to 12 points). With eight seconds left, Preteet sank both free throws to put Mott ahead, 83-82, its first lead since early in game.

SC got the ball to half-court and called timeout with four seconds left to set up a play with Murray as the first option. "We just wanted to get the ball inbounds, drive to the basket and get fouled or something," said coach Dave Bogataj.

But Abdrabboh couldn't inbounds the ball. In desperation he tossed it to Whitlow, who was barely able to keep from going out of bounds before passing back to Abdrabboh. Abdrabboh's long shot banked off the glass and went in — the win belonged to SC.

Murray sparkled in his return engagement, scoring 29 points and grabbing 11 rebounds. Abdrabboh had 22 points, and Whitlow and LaMonte Fondren scored 15 apiece. Fondren had 10 boards, and Whitlow dished out six assists. Vince Turner had nine assists.

Polite's 18 points was best for Mott. Jeremy Trent had 11 and Derrick Wyatt scored 10.

It was another in a long line of upsets for SC, which two years ago knocked Macomb out of first.

How many more wins can SC muster? Impossible to tell, but few will be this surprising.

SC women peaking

When they needed it most, the Lady Ocelots got a superior performance from point guard Becky Piotruchowski.

Trailing by a basket with 25 seconds left in regulation, Piotruchowski nailed a jumper to tie Wednesday's game at Mott CC at 69-all and send it into overtime. She then scored all eight of the Lady Ocelots' OT points to lift them to a 79-77 victory.

It was SC's second-straight Eastern Conference win, improving its record to 3-8 (9-10 overall). Mott fell into a tie with SC for the conference's final playoff spot at 3-8.

"We're peaking at the right time," said Lady Ocelot coach Jack Grenan. "We had to have this."

They got it, thanks to Piotruchowski's 23 points, 21 more from Dana Hudson and 18 from 5-10 freshman center Alisa Wechter, who played all 45 minutes. Mott got 21 points from Amy Fabat.

SC, which led 42-34 at the half, didn't help itself at the free throw line, converting just 4-of-13 to Mott's 14-of-22. But the Lady Ocelot defense was tough enough — they twice forced five-second calls in the last five minutes of regulation.

Record run

Going into last weekend's games, at home against Michigan and Michigan State, Illinois senior point guard Jill Estey (from Plymouth Salem) was nine short of the school career record for assists. Estey is averaging 5.7 assists per game this season and has 498 for her career. The Illinois record is 507, held by Jenny Johnson.

One reason for Estey's record-setting performance is her durability. Although only 5-4, she's started 91 consecutive games for the Fighting Illini. She's also averaging 9.4 points and a team-best 2.3 steals. Estey already holds the Illini career record for steals with 229.

Illinois was 7-10 overall and 2-6 in the Big Ten going into the weekend's games. Before her career ends, Estey could move up as high as sixth on the Big Ten's career assist list.

Chief star returns to Whittle away deficit

Bryan Whittle's return to active service provided the Plymouth Canton basketball team with a needed boost Friday night.

Whittle, who missed several games with a leg injury, scored seven of his nine points in the fourth quarter as the host Chiefs rallied to defeat Walled Lake Western 61-58.

Whittle also scored the deciding points, sinking a basket and adding a free throw to give Canton a 61-58 lead with 13 seconds left. The Warriors missed a three-point attempt at the buzzer.

Brad Paskievitch scored a game-high 23 points to lead the Chiefs, and Al Hollingsworth was next with 11. Paskievitch made four of his six triples in the first quarter to help Canton take a 23-16 lead.

Western rallied to go ahead 34-33 at halftime and was up 49-43 after three periods. The Warriors were up 10 points with five minutes remaining when Canton began its winning rally.

Brent Mackowiak, who had four triples overall and nine of his team's 15 points in the third quarter, scored 23 points, and Ryan Bolton had 10 for the Warriors.

The Chiefs are 4-3 in the Western Lakes Activities Association, Western 2-5. Both teams are 5-8 overall.

■ ROEPER 75, PCA 53: Plymouth Christian Academy was outscored 41-28 in the second half Friday of its Michigan Independent Athletic Conference game at Lowell Middle School.

The Eagles kept pace in the first quarter, trailing 21-19, but fell behind 34-25 at halftime. Roeper turned an 11-point lead after three quarters into a runaway victory with a 21-10 margin in the finale.

Senior center Jason Neil sank 20 points and pulled down nine rebounds for the Eagles. He also had four steals.

Sophomore guard Ryan Thomason had 10 points, five rebounds and 10 steals for Plymouth Christian, and freshman forward Jamie Neil picked off six rebounds.

The "Mac Attack" was right on track.

Senior forward Adam McCarthy and senior center Chris McFarlane combined for 38 points Friday as Walled Lake Central kept its unbeaten streak intact with a thrilling 77-75 victory over visiting Plymouth Salem in Western Lakes Activities Association basketball play.

The Vikings held off a gallant 27-point fourth-quarter rally by the Rocks to post their 13th victory of the season before a standing-room-only crowd at Walled Lake.

The Vikings are 7-0 in the WLAA. Salem fell to 11-2 overall and 5-2 in the league.

"We had some kids step up tonight," said Central coach Steve Emert. "This is a great win for us.

"The kids are really excited here at the school. They're starting to believe in us. I think we're an exciting ball club to watch. That's our style of play. We have to push it up the floor and see what happens."

Central pulled away from a 35-33 halftime lead with a 24-15 advantage in the third. The Vikings built the lead to 14 points, 66-52, midway through the fourth quarter and appeared ready to put the game away before the Rocks came rolling back.

James Head sparked Salem on a 12-2 run by scoring six of his 10 points in a three-minute span in the fourth. Head followed a triple by teammate Seth Sanj with a slam dunk with 3:09 remaining in the game to pull Salem to within four points, 68-64.

McFarlane, who scored 10 of his 14 points in the fourth quarter before fouling out with 1:21 left to play, finally found the basket for Central when he returned an offensive rebound to the net, drew a foul and converted the free throw for a 71-64 Central lead.

"I think we all needed to step up," said McFarlane, who grabbed 12 rebounds to go along with his 14 points. "This win really means a lot to us because they were ranked ahead of us, even though we beat them twice last year, and we had to prove we deserved to be up there."

Head hit a triple with 55 seconds remaining on the clock to pull the

Salem wrestlers clinch Lakes tie

Plymouth Salem clinched a tie for the Lakes Division wrestling championship Thursday by defeating North Farmington 48-18.

The Rocks finish 4-1 in their half of the Western Lakes Activities Association with the same record at Westland John Glenn and Livonia Stevenson. Salem is 5-3 overall.

Salem wrestlers pinned their first three opponents and started with an 18-0 lead. Romeo Cairo (103) pinned Matt Singer (5:03), Scott Hughes (112) pinned Larry Yaffa (1:51) and Brian Harreld (119) pinned Raja Sil (2:26).

North won four of the next five bouts, but all four victories were minor decisions, preventing the Raiders from catching Salem.

Steve Hughes (140) pinned Jordan Souffin (1:30), and the Rocks still had a 24-12 lead following the 145 contest.

Salem picked up three more pins in the five remaining bouts. John Svec (152) pinned Nick Grant (1:58), Wade Langdon (171) pinned John Lessway (1:48) and heavyweight Ryan Giuliani pinned Mike Poissant (1:03). Salem's Phil Haynes (189) won by forfeit.

■ PLYMOUTH CANTON

The Chiefs won their first WLAA Western Division dual meet Thursday, 45-24 over host Livonia Churchill.

Canton is 1-4 in the division and is 2-9 overall.

The Chiefs led 18-6 after receiving forfeit wins at three weights. Brian Logan (103), Frank Toarmina (112) and Rob Gumber (125) earned six free points each.

Four consecutive victories boosted the Canton lead to 39-12. David Cline (135) pinned Chris Seder (0:58), Nick Spano (140) won by void, Dave Smith (145) edged Scott Doerr 10-9 and Bill Buslepp (152) pinned Oliver Smith (2:30).

Churchill won the next two bouts with pins, but both teams voided at 189 and the Chargers also voided the heavyweight match, giving Canton's Matt Remmy a walkover win.

Rocks struggle in loss to Vikes

Plymouth Salem suffered its first loss in Western Lakes Activities Association volleyball play Wednesday when it lost in four games at Walled Lake Central.

The Vikings won the first, third and fourth games (13-5-12), Salem the second (9).

The loss left the Rocks at 5-1 in the WLAA and tied for first place with Central, Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Churchill.

The deadlock lasted only one day, however, until Stevenson defeated Northville in a makeup match to take a half-game lead over the others.

Salem (21-9-3) let the Vikings get ahead 7-0 in the first game, 6-0 in the second and 5-0 in the third.

"The fourth was the only time we had an early lead," Salem coach Allie Suffety said. "We couldn't get any momentum. We were always coming from behind."

Salem's Cyndi Platter had just nine kills (40 attacks) and six blocks.

"They were digging us up everywhere," Suffety said. "We were not passing as much, and we weren't able to use Cyndi as much.

"And when you don't use the middle, you don't get to use the outside as much. If we get to use the middle, that causes other teams to delay, and (Jamie) Viau and (Jenny) Garvey can beat the block instead of having to hit over it."

Viau added five kills, Paula Dombrowski four and Garvey three. Caryn Tatterton had 11 assists and Viau four aces.

Rocks to within one, 74-73. But the Vikings nailed three of four free throws in the closing seconds of the game, including a pair by McCarthy with 19 seconds remaining, to secure the win.

"We didn't get a couple shots to fall underneath and they knocked down the free throws late in the game, which is what you have to do if you want to win," said Salem coach Bob Brodie. "We wanted to control their threes, and I thought we did a pretty good job of that. But they can hurt you so many ways it's hard to defend them for everything the whole game."

The game was a rematch of last year's WLAA championship game (which Central won 74-64) and it started out with all the intensity and excitement of another title tilt.

Central scored the game's first five points, but Salem responded with a seven-point run to take an early two-point lead. The lead exchanged hands five times in the quarter before the stanza ended with Central holding a 14-13 lead.

Central's swarming full court defense bothered the Rocks early in the second as the Vikings pulled ahead by 12, 27-19, midway through the quarter. McCarthy led the Vikings in the period by scoring 10 of his game-high 24 points.

"Adam McCarthy really stepped up for us," said Emert. "He never stops amazing me. He has such a great work ethic."

Salem's Adam Hammons dumped in six of his 10 points in the final minute of the second quarter enabling Salem to close the gap to a basket, 35-33, by halftime.

Viking Ron Thompson (16 points, seven rebounds) sandwiched a pair of three-pointers around a basket by Salem's Brian Jensen at the start of the third quarter. Moments later, Viking Mike Gluski found the net from three-point range and McCarthy hit a pair of triples of his own late in the quarter as Central's lead blossomed to 59-48 by the end of the third.

For Salem, Brandon Slone scored 15 points, grabbed six rebounds and four steals. Mike Slone added 12 pounds, Brian Jensen scored 10, and Harold Shanks contributed seven points, eight rebounds and three blocked shots.

The Eagles, 3-5 in the MIAC and 4-11 overall, dressed only eight players and were missing three because of injury and illness. Roeper is 6-1 and 11-3.

■ REDFORD CC 52, RICE 51: Maybe the alarm clock just went off late. At least it did go off, much to Redford Catholic Central's relief.

The Shamrocks were facing a home-court defeat Friday, courtesy of Brother Rice, a loss that would undo all their upset win over the University of Detroit-Jesuit had accomplished three days earlier.

But the bell did go off, and CC answered, outscoring Rice 24-10 in the last quarter to pull out the win.

Andy Kummer turned in the game-winning play. With less than 30 seconds left and CC trailing by a point, Kummer stole the ball from D.J. MacAloon. MacAloon fouled him, sending Kummer to the line for a one-and-one. He sank both to provide the Shamrocks with the winning margin.

Rice got off two shots in the closing seconds, but missed both and fell to 3-5 in the Catholic League Central Division, 6-7 overall.

Orris paces Chiefs

Plymouth Canton senior Mike Orris hasn't let personal misfortune stand in the way of a successful swim season.

Orris, who missed 1½ months of practice and competition when he was sick with acute mononucleosis, won two events with state-qualifying times Thursday.

He also helped the Chiefs win the 400-yard freestyle relay in their victory over visiting Farmington Hills Harrison, 114-72.

Orris swam the 200 freestyle in 1:48.82 and the 500 in 4:55.29. Orris led the relay team, which included David Berger, Ben Nelson and John Mogelnicki and had a 3:50.24 time.

"He was real limited when he came back," Canton coach Hooker Wellman said. "Do that to most good swimmers and their season is pretty much fried."

In discussing the situation with Orris, Wellman told him maybe he should point toward next season since he is only a junior and would have another chance to compete in the state meet. Orris would have none of that, however.

"His approach was 'No, I'm going to make it yet. I just have to get back in the groove,'" Wellman said. "He went through a barrier tonight and feels much better about it.

"I'm pleased and happy things are working out for him. His training and work ethic are just fantastic.

"He's also a good backstroker, and I think he'll get the state cut in the backstroke yet, too."

State qualifier: Mike Orris made the state-qualifying cuts in the 200- and 500-yard freestyle events Thursday while leading Plymouth Canton to a dual-meet victory over Harrison.

Craig Steshetz also had two individual wins for the Chiefs, taking first in the 50 freestyle (23.3) and the breaststroke (1:04.91).

Canton's Jason Fowler and Harrison's Mark Stromaier tied for first place in diving with 201.6 points apiece.

Paul Montressor won the individual medley (2:21.17) and Joe Foster the butterfly (58.74) for the Chiefs, 2-1 in the Western Division and 3-4 overall.

Harrison won the medley relay (1:54.38) with Roger Stadler, Steve Swartz, Dixon Metz and Craig Dixon. Dixon, Matt Canvasser, Jason Weiss and Mark Springer combined to win the 200 freestyle relay (1:40.63).

Stadler also won the backstroke (1:04.89) and Dixon the 100 freestyle (54.87).

■ PLYMOUTH SALEM

The Rocks extended their dual-meet win streak to six Thursday with a 133-52 defeat of visiting Westland John Glenn.

Salem, 2-0 in the Lakes Division and 6-1 overall, won every event except the two in which Glenn standout Matt Martin was entered.

Martin, one of the top swimmers in the state, won the 200 freestyle (1:45.24) and later the 100 freestyle (48.18).

Scott Wiklund was a double winner for the Rocks, taking first in the butterfly (59.80) and backstroke (1:02.61).

Alex Beard, Chris Lynn and Joe Ervin had two wins apiece as members of relay teams. Scott Helmstadter, Beard, Lynn and Marc Levitt won the medley relay (1:45.68).

Ervin was the lead swimmer on the freestyle teams. Beard, Lynn and Don Satwicz comprised the rest of the 200 unit (1:38.26), and Matt Erickson, David Bracht and Fred Locke rounded out the 400 foursome (3:25.95).

CC shuts out Rice on ice

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

If Birmingham Brother Rice forward Dale Rominski went home Friday night with a migraine, he can blame a guy named Ronayne.

Redford Catholic Central beat Rice 3-0 as goalie Jamie Ronayne stopped all 38 of the shots he faced, including a pair of easy scoring opportunities by Rominski, before a big crowd at Oak Park Compuware Ice Arena.

With CC leading 2-0 in the third period, Ronayne made an incredible glove save against Rominski while lying on his back in the Shamrocks' goal crease. Rominski had Ronayne down and a wide open net but lifted the puck right into Ronayne's mitt.

Ronayne also stopped Rominski on a breakaway in the second period but the save everyone was talking about was the one in the third.

"The puck came from the point, I thought he (Rominski) was going to tip it, so I went into the butterfly position (on the ground)," Ronayne said. "He stopped the puck, brought it around, I dived over and good things happen . . . I couldn't act surprised. I had to make it look routine, at least try to."

CC defenseman Brian Ronayne, Jamie's cousin, said the save left Rice's players shaking their heads.

"That was the most incredible thing I've ever seen," Brian Ronayne said. "(Rice forward Mike) Jalaba skated up to me and said this is outrageous."

The victory improved CC to 4-2 in the Michigan Metro Hockey League, 10-2-3 overall. Rice fell to 5-4 in the Metro, 9-6 overall.

Rice outshot CC, 38-13, including 15-5 in the first period.

CC scored the only goal of the first period as Jason Bellinger beat Rice goalie Kris Arthur at 3:59 after a scramble in front of the net.

Rice coach Mike Brown thought the Warriors scored in the second period when one of the Warriors hit the post and the puck appeared to have trickled behind the goal line. But the referees did not count the goal.

It was typical of the way the night went.

"We had our chances but when you don't put the puck in the back of the net, that's the way it goes," Brown said. "We ran into a hot goalie. He's the only reason they were still in the game. You hate for it to happen against CC. We've got them there (at Redford Ice Arena) in two weeks, and we'll be there."

CC scored power play goals in the second and third periods to add to their lead.

With Rice's Steve Jones in the penalty box for roughing, CC's Jon Heady took the puck out of the corner and fired the puck on a 45-degree angle past Arthur for a 2-0 lead at 8:40 of the second period.

The Shamrocks added an insurance goal at 11:03 of the third period when Justin Ronayne scored while Rowinski was serving a two-minute minor for high sticking.

Ken Lauer and Heady had one assist each Friday and Frank Novock collected a pair of assists.

Buying a Used Car Can Be Risky.
Blackwell Ford can help minimize the risk you take when purchasing a used vehicle. Every used vehicle sold by Blackwell Ford undergoes extensive reconditioning and safety inspection before it is offered for sale. If the vehicle does not meet our high standards, it will never be displayed on our lot. In the unlikely event that something does go wrong with your vehicle during the first 30 days or 2,000 miles, whichever occurs first, we will stand behind it 100% and repair it free of charge. It's that simple. We offer new car peace of mind with your used vehicle purchase. Stop in today to see our large selection of quality used vehicles, all priced to sell. And please remember...
