Tax plan piques voters' interest

The statewide vote on Gov. John Engler's school finance reform package is more than a month away, but today is the last day to register for that election. Meanwhile, absentee ballots are now available for the election.

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

It's still a month away, but Canton voters are thinking about going to the polls June 2 for Proposal A.

"We sent out absentee ballot applications last Friday. And they are coming back faster than I have ever seen them," said Canton clerk Loren Bennett. "That says to me people have their minds made up."

In case you aren't registered to vote in the June 2 election, today is the last day to register at the clerk's office, 1150 S. Canton Center Road. You must be registered in order to vote June 2.

As election day draws closer, Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack is working with officials in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Plymouth-Canton Community Schools to arrange a community forum at which officials, such as Republican state Rep. Deborah Whyman of Canton and others, can explain just what Proposal A is all about.

"I think we all share the same concern that correct information gets out," Yack said.

Canton trustees do not plan to take a public stand on the proposal. "This is between voters and the state as it relates to the state financing of schools," Yack said.

There's little doubt voters are con-

Subdivision denial sparks lawsuit

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Canton officials and representatives for a developer who wants to build a subdivision of moderate-priced houses in the township were expected to meet in court Friday.

"It is an effort by the township and by certain officials to control what they feel they want in there," said Bob Jacobs, attorney for developer Gary Sakwa, who wants to build 127 homes on 38.42 acres on the east side of Lilley Road, between Cherry Hill and Palmer roads.

Jacobs filed a multi-million-dollar suit against the township about 10 days ago, after the planning commission recommended denial of Sakwa's tentative preliminary plat for Covington Square subdivision on land that was once expected to be a school site.

Planning commissioners — with trustees following suit Tuesday — denied the plan because it did not have curvilinear streets, as required by ordinance. The plan, officials maintain, features a gridiron street pattern, rather than curved and u-shaped streets, and cul-de-sacs.

In the complaint, Jacobs asked Wayne County Circuit Judge Claudia House Morcom to order township officials to accept the preliminary plat as presented to commissioners and trustees, and to accept an earlier site plan presented under the township's cluster housing option, which allows smaller lots in lieu of open space.

Jacobs said plans for the subdivision began under the cluster option, which township officials deleted Jan. 10, 1993. Despite being encouraged to develop under that option, Sakwa was turned away when he submitted plans in December. A Canton police officer apparently returned the plans a half-hour after they were submitted, Jacobs said.

Again, plans were submitted under the cluster option in January 1993, and rejected. "They weren't told the option was repealed," Jacobs said.

"We were told the only thing allowed was a platted subdivision," said Bob Leighton, landscape architect for the project.

Deer goes to school, but class not in session

We've all heard about the lamb who followed Mary to school one day, but an especially motivated four-legged creature in Canton can top that.

A white-tailed deer made its way into Carvel Bentley Elementary, a new school on Sheldon Road near Proctor that isn't even finished yet.

Superintendent John Hoben reported at last week's board meeting that sometime the weekend of April 16, a deer jumped into the school through a window. "If someone cared to look around, they'd probably find some venison not too far away," Hoben said.

A construction worker named Jim Schultz was making a routine inspection of the construction site April 17 when he noticed a broken exterior window. When he entered the room, he realized a deer had jumped in, and was so startled it jumped through a second window to get out, breaking glass and damaging the window frame.

"He was just as anxious to get out as he was to get in," said Hoben.

Schultz found blood stains, feces and urine left by the deer. He estimated damage at about $1,000.

Mike Schlenke, project manager for Barton-Malow, which is building the school, informed the district about the incident. Barton-Malow's insurance will cover the damage.

Hoben said he went down to the school to take a look. "They cleaned up very well. Things look to be in pretty good shape."

Canton can!

A cornerstone of Canton's historic heritage is at the heart of a new fund-raising campaign led by the Canton Historic District Commission and the Canton Historic Society in conjunction with Michigan Historic Preservation Week.

The CANTON CAN! campaign seeks to raise money to continue restoration of the historic Bartlett-Travis House in the Cherry Hill Historic District. Once restored, the house will be the cornerstone of a 20-acre historic farmstead complex that will help educate residents about Canton's agricultural traditions.

To raise money for the restoration, elementary and middle school students are asked to collect recyclable beverage bottles and cans. The campaign is in partnership with the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Kids are asked to collect at least 50 bottles and cans. In return, students will receive a coupon for a free large sandwich at McDonald's.

The CANTON CAN! drive begins today through May 7 and again May 10-14. Once the cans are collected from the schools, they will be transferred to the historic Cherry Hill School. Non-profit groups who have used the schoolhouse will be asked to help sort the cans following collection.

Meijer in Canton has agreed to donate all of the collection containers and will provide receipts for the cans and bottles collected.

Donations from other residents in any value will be welcome throughout the drive. To donate or for more information call 397-5417.

CANTON CONNECTION

Community dialogue

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack is inviting residents to participate in a live and unrehearsed community dialogue with township officials 7-8:30 p.m. June 10 at a yet unnamed site.

The event will be cablecast on Omnicom at a later date as a special edition of "The Canton Contact."

Residents who wish to participate are asked to call Ken Voyles, administrative assistant, at 397-5472 with the questions they would like to ask.

Participants invited to the event will be chosen at random from the first 125 callers to the township hall.

Repairs drive township to seek buyer for its bus

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

If you're in the market for a motor coach bus, Canton Township has one — for sale.

"I've left it running on Canton Center with the keys in it," said Aaron Machnik, township municipal services director.

That means township officials want to get rid of the 1976 MCI 47-passenger motor coach because of high repair bills. When the bus was bought in 1988 for $55,000, it was expected repair and maintenace would cost about $3,000.

In 1991, those expenses topped more than $18,000, plus $15,800 last year.

The bus was bought with federal Community Development Block Grant money. If it's sold — officials hope for something close to $25,000 — the money would be returned to the block grant fund. The bus has been used primarily to transport senior adults and youths on special trips.

In place of the township bus, recreation officials plan to rent school buses, use township vans, or even rent coach buses from travel agencies.

Car crash injures 4 people

COP CALLS

Four people were injured Tuesday night in a two-car accident at the intersection of Ford and Beck roads that left one of the cars on its side with a driver pinned underneath.

The four, two in each car, were taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Ypsilanti. The Canton Fire Department transported three of the victims, while U-M Medflite transported the fourth, said Tammie Colling, Canton police community relations officer.

The accident occurred at about 8:30 p.m., when the driver of a 1988 Ford Mustang, traveling south on Beck, failed to stop and give an Oldsmobile Cutlass, traveling eastbound on Ford Road, the right-of-way. "They just didn't stop," Colling said of the Mustang.

The Cutlass struck the Mustang, which flipped onto its passenger side.

Kids turn on to the idea of turning off TV

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Turned off: Students spent a week without the tube. Surrounding the blank screen are: Vicki Morrison, Kristen Fazio, Sarah Wilkewitz, Sreelatha Ponnaluri, Laura Kelm, Robert Carroa, Bill Johnson and Jessie Wojciak.

Last week, students and staff at Fiegel Elementary went "cold turkey," agreeing not to watch TV for the entire week as part of the "Great TV Turn-Off." Part of the bargain was to give up watching programs on VCRs and playing games, Nintendo included.

The idea was Colleen Brown's, a Fiegel Elementary School PTO board member whose daughter Jonelle is a second grader at Fiegel.

Brown said she was inspired by the book "Unplugging the Plug-in Drug," given to her by her brother, a teacher in Royal Oak.

"I read the book and thought, 'This was something our school could do and the PTO could sponsor,'" she said. Brown presented the idea to the PTO president, Fiegel's principal, the librarian, and teachers, all of whom liked it. Almost 700 people, including staff and students' families, agreed to take part.

During the no-TV period, participants who signed a contract agreeing not to turn on the tube wore "No TV" buttons. They also kept a diary of the changes in their lives that occurred as a result of not watching TV. Families who survived the whole week without watching TV were entered in a drawing for a real cold turkey.

A "pizza and game night" was held at the school Friday evening as a way to reward students for their feat.

Brown said results were noticeable right away. "We've noticed there's less antagonistic play, fighting and bickering," she said. "This wasn't meant as an attack on TV. There is a lot of good TV, but there's also a lot of needless TV. I believe TV should be supervised. Programs that are perfectly fine for high school students or junior high aren't always understood completely by younger kids."

A group of Fiegel students got together Thursday to discuss TV withdrawal.

Bill Johnston, 8, of Canton, usually watches TV three to four hours a day. "It was really hard at first because I hardly had anything to do. But I'm not missing it as much as I thought I was going to," he said. "Mostly, I'm playing soccer and baseball with my friends."

Kristen Dillenbeck, 10, of Canton, said it was hard to give up "Full House" and "Hey Dude." But she managed last week without them.

"I studied more for tests and learned more about myself by playing piano and drawing," she said.

Sreelatha Ponnaluri, 8, of Canton, loves watching cartoons and the Disney Channel. But going cold turkey for her was "kind of easy," she said. "I've been playing with my sister and reading a lot of books. I enjoy it a lot."

Laura Kelm is a fourth grader from Canton. She said cutting TV out of her life has definitely brought some changes. "I'm riding my new bike and playing games with my friends. Now I'm doing my homework," she added. "I didn't used to do it."

Sarah Wilkewitz, 9, of Canton said, "If you don't watch that much TV, you can have more time to do other things like studying for certain tests and reading. It isn't boring."

Robert Carron, 10, of Canton, said he's using more energy now that he's not watching TV. "You can use up energy playing baseball. You use up energy you don't use watching TV."

Jessie Wojciak, 8, of Canton, said she's begun playing baseball with her parents. "I'm reading a lot more to my parents and to my friends. I'm reading Dr. Seuss to my brother, because he likes it a lot."

Vicki Morrison, 8, of Canton, said her mom and dad spent time during the week helping her with her space project. Kristen Favio, 6, of Canton, said she's writing letters to her aunts and uncles. "My parents are spending a lot of time with me and my brother. They're sitting down and cuddling with each other more, and on Mondays and Fridays we're going to the chiropractor," she said.

Robert said said his parents are taking him to the park and "we're going fishing a lot more."

Stephanie Topple, 7, said her family is playing more games and "ordering subs from Gino's. Gino's has the best pizza and subs," she said.

Most students said they'll watch TV next week, but not nearly as much. Instead, they'll play more with their friends.

Questions delay sewer district for Palmer Road

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Andrea Marcuccili wants to know what Canton Township is going to do to help with the wetlands on property she owns with others on Palmer Road.

"I need to know what Canton is prepared to do to help us develop the property. Can Canton help us with this wetland predicament?" she asked.

Marcuccili's concern dovetails into township plans to assess her, as well as others on Palmer, from Morton Taylor to Beck roads, to install sanitary sewers.

Faced with a $17,000 assessment in the special assessment district of which she is a part, Marcuccili asked what good sewers would do if she can't use the property because of wetlands.

Approximately three-quarters of the more than eight acres are considered wetlands. She is spending $4,000 to have the wetlands mapped. With wetlands on the eastern and western portions of the property, Marcuccili asked if they can be relocated near the Mott Drain to allow her to develop the property.

"Seventeen thousand dollars is a lot to pay for something you can't develop," she said.

Aaron Machnik, township municipal services director, agreed to take a look at the problem. "Unfortunately, I could not answer you based on the little knowledge I have of the circumstances."

The $1-million project is expected to begin in June. But township trustees delayed a final vote, pending clarification from yet another neighbor on Palmer who is part of the special assessment district. Property owner Ira Wilson informed township officials by letter that he was opposed to the costs. But officials received a more recent letter in which Wilson said he now has no objections. Wilson's portion would run almost $189,000, excluding interest.

The tabled vote will be rescheduled for a future meeting.

Initially, the assessment district — petitioned by more than 50 percent of the property owners — was to run along Palmer, from Morton Taylor to Canton Center, west to Beck Road, north on Beck to Proctor, and west on Proctor to just west of Denton, and south on Beck.

But township officials propose a reduction in the project to Beck Road, instead of Denton. Because of the district's original size, it would take another year to complete the design and construction.

Because of the proposed golf course complex, a reduction in the project will allow Palmer, from Morton Taylor to Beck, to be constructed within a reasonable time. It's also believed that reduction of the project will slow development west of Beck Road.

Retirees protest benefits cutoff

By Kevin Brown
Staff Writer

The announced cutoff of Unisys retirees' benefits drew more than 600 Thursday to the firm's Plymouth Township facility.

Lined along Plymouth Road, the retirees picketed the company and lamented the loss of benefits once promised them by their former employer.

"You give them your whole life and they kick you in the teeth," said Sarah McKenna of Northville. She retired from Unisys in 1987 after 34 years with the company.

She was among scores of age 60-plus retirees, many carrying green and white picket signs reading, "A broken promise — a broken commitment."

"I put in 30-some years — In three more years I don't get no insurance," said Dee Wajda, of Westland.

The company in November announced it would phase out post-retirement medical costs over a three-year period beginning this year and ending in 1996. "Without these actions, the long-term viability of the company would be in doubt and put more than 50,000 employees at risk," according to a statement Thursday from the Unisys Corp.

The retirees' protest coincided with the corporation's annual shareholders meeting Thursday at corporate headquarters in Pennsylvania.

Unisys chairman and chief executive officer James Unruh told shareholders Thursday, "This was the most difficult decision I had to make in my business career."

Unruh told shareholders that if the company was to continue paying post retirement medical benefits as it does now, "we would have had a continuing annual expense approaching $100 million," adding that costs continue to rise.

As the number of retirees congregating near the plant grew, by 11:30 a.m. Plymouth Township police closed off Plymouth Road from the district court house to Haggerty Road.

The company and retired workers are in court over the announced cutoff of medical benefits.

acknowledged the events. "Yes. They were turned away because they did not qualify. There are basic elements they have to meet. In Aaron's (Machnik, municipal services director) judgment, these elements were not there."

Township planner Jeff Goulet said curvilinear streets are designed to prevent uniforming or stacking of houses.

Goulet acknowledged that the ordinance doesn't provide a definition of curvilinear streets. "But if you look in a dictionary, it says what it is," Goulet said. "In the planning commission's estimation, he (Sakwa) provided a grid pattern."

At a March meeting when both sides tried to resolve their differences, Jacobs said he felt township officials inferred they don't want more moderate-priced houses.

In response, Yack said township officials are not snobs. "The zoning there is fixed. To a large degree, the zoning will dictate development costs and the price of the houses. It won't be anything we do to produce a $250,000 home."

Tax plan

sidering the proposal. One day last week, Bennett's staff received 900 returned applications for absentee ballots for the June 2 election. Bennett is targeting Friday for a mass mailing of absentee ballots.

Bennett is predicting a 10,000-12,000 voter turnout for the tax proposal. That's about half the number of voters who turned out for the November 1992 presidential election. He expects more than 5,000 of the total votes to be absentee.

About 8,000 absentee ballots are expected to be mailed to voters for the June 2 election. Bennett automatically sends applications to voters 60 years and older, as well as those who have requested to be on the permanent list, and to those who have voted absentee in the last four elections.

If you're not on that permanent list, it's still not too late to vote absentee. First, you have to let the clerk know that's what you want to do. Send either a note, make a phone call or stop at the clerk's office in person. On the note tell the clerk the date of the election in which you want to vote absentee, the reason for voting absentee, and your signature.

Reasons for voting absentee include being out of town during the election, being physically unable to go to the polls, religious reasons, and waiting in jail for arraignment. Another reason is your age — 60 years and older.

In order for the clerk's office to send you an absentee ballot in time for the election, you must make your request before Saturday, May 29. Ballots for requests that come in on that day will not be mailed. They will be hand-delivered to your home.

The clerk's office will be open until 2 p.m., Saturday, May 29. Anyone who picks up an absentee ballot June 1 will be asked to vote in the clerk's office. "We start processing them at 9 a.m. on election day," Bennett said.

Proposal A would limit property tax assessment increases this year to a maximum 3 percent and limit future increases to 5 percent or the rate of inflation, whichever is less. It also would increase state sales tax from 4 to 6 percent and reduce school millage rates to between 18 and 27 mills, except for districts levying less than 18 mills.

CHONDROCALCINOSIS-WHAT SALT AND PEPPER MEANS
You may have aching knees, but examination reveals little information. Your physician orders x-rays: what can he expect to find not present on physical evaluation?
One discovery is chondrocalcinosis. Chondro means cartilage, and calcinosis refers to the laying down of calcium. The term states that particles of calcium are present in knee cartilage.
The salt and pepper mentioned above describe the appearance on x-ray of the knee in chondrocalcinosis. The white calcium is like salt and the dark areas, which is how cartilage looks on x-rays, remind one of pepper.
If this pattern appears on your knee x-ray, the physician can draw several conclusions. First, you likely had past injury to the knee. Second, you are at risk to develop attacks of arthritis that seem like gout, but really are not. Third, you may have impairments in your thyroid, parathyroid, or insulin producing cells that could explain increasing fatigue and loss of energy previously ascribed to "growing old."
Thus x-rays of normal appearing knees may be revealing about your present health and future wellbeing.

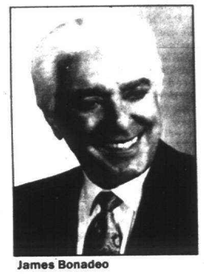
Area grads get special mention at Madonna ceremony

Madonna University will award degrees to more than 700 area residents at graduation ceremonies Saturday, May 8, in Calihan Hall at the University of Detroit-Mercy.

The Livonia-based Catholic university also plans to award three honorary degrees. The recipients are Mother Mary Cynthia Strzalkowski, superior general of the Felician Congregation; James Bonadeo, chairman of Bonadeo Builders, and the Rev. Eddie Edwards, co-founder of Joy of Jesus.

A 1958 Madonna graduate, Strzalkowski went on to get two master's degrees; one in music education from the University of Notre Dame and another in math education from Stanford University.

Sister Mary Cynthia



James Bonadeo

Eddie Edwards

After serving as high school principal for five years at St. Andrew in Detroit, she was elevated to provincial councilor and director of education for the Felicians. In those roles, she served as a corporate trustee of Madonna. She rose to the position of 16th provincial superior in 1982, which she held until 1988 when she was elected superior general. In this capacity, Strzalkowski serves as head of the Felician congregation with its 2,900 members, founded by Mary Angela Truszkowska 138 years ago in Warsaw.

Bonadeo is the chairman of Bonadeo Builders. The past president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, Bonadeo recently received the Professional Achievement Award from a magazine called Professional Builder and Remodeler, recognizing his business acumen. One example of his success is a subdivision in Detroit called Victoria Park. A member of the Madonna board of trustees since 1989, Bonadeo helped the university in its $10 million campaign for academic excellence in December. He also served as chairman of Madonna's 1992-93 corporate fund campaign.

Edwards, a life-long Detroit resident and ordained minister, has dedicated the past 17 years to providing support to inner-city youth. As one of the founders of Joy of Jesus, Edwards has given more than 14,000 kids the opportunity to benefit from the ministry's summer camp and year-round program. In 1986 Edwards developed a revitalization strategy to initiate change in the Ravendale community. This effort received national recognition culminating in a "Points of Light" award from former President George Bush.

Edwards' community involvement includes membership on the board of trustees of the Michigan Cancer Foundation and vice chairmanship of Cornerstone Schools.

Similarly honored will be 17 Madonna students who have been designated "outstanding graduates." Among them are:

- Peggy Haarz of Plymouth, who has earned a dual degree in social work and pastoral ministry and also holds a certificate of achievement in sign language studies. Currently working for the Archdiocese of Detroit in refugee settlement, the married mother of two also volunteers for the Wellness Network, answering the Michigan AIDS hot line and giving community talks on AIDS awareness.
- Paul DeNapoli, a Livonia resident and firefighter, will graduate with a master's in business administration, having completed a bachelor's in fire science at Madonna in 1984. He plans to work with the Michigan State Fire Fighters Union and the International Association of Fire Fighters in Washington, D.C. using his degree to advance the professionalism of fire science.
- Richard Chapman of Livonia has been attending college off and on for 23 years and will graduate this year with a bachelor's in business administration. His mother, who died in 1981, was one of the original players in the All-American Girl Professional Baseball League. The recent movie, "A League of Their Own," featured the league. Chapman has kept his mother's memory alive by attending all of the league's reunions since 1982 and meeting the film's director, Penny Marshall.
- Rose Mary Bagley of Livonia becomes one of the first two graduates of Madonna's hospice education program. She became interested in the benefits of hospice after her husband died. She is also a graduate of Madonna's nursing program. When she's not working with premature babies at Hutzel Hospital, Bagley assists at the Hospice of Western Wayne.
- David and Patricia Horgan, husband and wife of Livonia and parents to three children, have juggled careers, classes and homework while attending Madonna and will graduate together. David, who works at Saturn Corp., will get a bachelor's in applied science and plans to seek a master's degree. Patricia plans to use her degree in allied health management to open a day care business.
- Tim Leighton of Garden City has earned a bachelor's in social science with teacher certification. While attending classes, he was active in Psi Sigma Omega, Madonna's student political organization, which attempts to include all students in the democratic process. Upon completion of his student teaching assignment, Leighton will began a seventh-grade teaching job at Robichaud School in Dearborn Heights.
- Jennifer Sladewski of Livonia will get a bachelor's in math. While working and attending classes, she was on Madonna's volleyball team for four years. Currently working at Larsen's Fabrics, she's planning on studying toward a master's degree.

Students sail to stardom in original Columbus show

Fifth graders at Eriksson Elementary School gave their fellow students and parents a taste of Broadway performing their original musical, "In Quest of Columbus," Thursday.

Students took roles as Columbus and the men and boys who sailed on three ships, accompanying him on his journey to the New World. Others played the roles of modern-day young explorers trying to figure out which Caribbean island Columbus landed on first. Their trip was a trying adventure; they had to give up Nintendo.

Students who didn't have speaking parts sang in the choir or worked on the stage crew, helping classroom aides Patti Tomb and Jane Cutler, who created the tropical and nautical scenery.

Tomb said the students' hard work — they began rehearsing right after Christmas break — paid off.

Students who watched the musical "loved the music and the scenery," said Tomb. "We heard from a lot of parents that they were surprised at how well the children did, and how they had the nerve to do some of these things, singing solo and acting. They did marvelously."

The performers themselves, doing the school's first fifth grade musical, "were really excited," she said.

Students learned about the discoverer in the process. "People think he landed right in America. No one's sure exactly where he landed, but kids finally understand it probably was one of the Caribbean islands," she said.

"The experience gave students an idea of the kind of experience and adventure it must have been," said Tomb.

From Columbus' journal, students learned that his 74 sailors and 16 cabin boys were so upset about not seeing land for so long that they thought about throwing their captain overboard. For Columbus, land was spotted just in time.

They also learned some people in the 1400s thought the world was flat, and that the sailors might fall off the edge.

A song they sang described the people Columbus and his crew met in the West Indies.

"Gentle people, living side by side on these islands in the sea," they sang. "Gentle people, living in peace and harmony. When you saw these strangers arrive from far away, you welcomed them in friendship and in peace."

"In Quest of Columbus" went over well. "It was a definite success," said Tomb. It helped that so many of the fifth graders are hams at heart, she added.

Teachers who helped out include Carol Biro, Jim DeKiere, and Donna Jeziorski.

It's last day to register for elections

On Wednesday, June 2, a statewide special election will be held so voters can decide what to do with Proposal A.

Voters must register to vote no later than today to be eligible to cast ballots in the election.

If passed, Proposal A would raise the sales tax to 6 percent, limit property assessment increases to a maximum of 5 percent a year and guarantee school districts at least $4,800 per student per year.

Dems fall short on property tax freeze debate

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Senate Democrats, an often beaten minority, had an hour in the cable television sun last Tuesday to berate Gov. John Engler and his Proposal A school finance plan.

Republicans glowered, but let them talk.

The occasion was cable TV day in Lansing, when local companies descended on the State Capitol Building. Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Debbie Stabenow and her colleagues gave them a show.

"We have people watching today we don't ordinarily have," said a beaming Stabenow.

The irony was that Democrats lost the battle. They attempted to move for a debate on a property tax freeze bill (SB 146) that is supposed to be a companion to Proposal A on the June 2 ballot.

Engler, most Republicans and some Democrats are supporting A because it cuts school property taxes, replaces the lost revenue with a two-cent increase in the sales tax, raises school spending in poorer districts and places a constitutional cap on property assessments.

The full Senate rejected the Democratic attempt to stage a debate on SB 146 with 13 Democrats for and 19 Republicans against. So for an hour, Democrats asked Lt. Gov. Connie Binsfeld, the presiding officer, for "permission to make a statement."

"Without objection, it is so ordered," Binsfeld replied politely.

Democrats argued that SB 146 should be taken up prior to the June 2 public vote on Proposal A. SB 146 isn't scheduled for a vote until June 3.

SB 146 would freeze assessments this year and next, said the sponsor, Doug Carl, R-Utica. It differs from Proposal A, which would cap assessments at 5 percent or the rate of inflation, whichever is less.

The House passed its version of SB 146 at the same time (March 30) it voted to put Proposal A on the ballot. Senators approved A but not the amended SB 146.

"There's disagreement within the administration," said Democratic floor leader John Cherry of Clio.

"I'm amazed," said gubernatorial candidate Stabenow.

"There's confusion on whether there's a freeze," said Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor.

Replied Republican majority leader Dick Posthumus of Alto: "The only confusion is what some are trying to inject. This still is a companion bill. This will pass. We have the votes here. In the very unfortunate event A fails, this is needed for a taxpayers' bill of rights."

'I forgot!'

If Stabenow was campaigning hard on cable TV, colleague David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, wasn't.

"I forgot all about it," said Honigman, who wore faded jeans, track shoes and no tie.

Two casualties

As Democratic senators used the morning to bludgeon Engler, two area lawmakers' bills at the top of the calendar got no action at all.

One was a bill by Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, to allow courts to cut awards in traffic injury cases to passengers who failed to wear seat belts.

The other was the House-passed "potty parity" bill by Rep. Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills. It requires all municipalities to follow the Michigan construction code, rather than other nationally recognized codes, in regulating public buildings. The Michigan code requires more stalls in the women's restrooms than do other codes.

Bryant a maverick

The Republican State Committee, 104-member governing body of the Grand Old Party between conventions, unanimously endorsed Proposal A last weekend.

That failed to stop state Rep. William Bryant Jr., R-Grosse Pointe, from issuing a series of daily statements knocking Proposal A. Bryant, a former minority leader, represents an area like the western suburbs that will get little property tax relief from the ballot plan.

Bryant calls his bulletins "Bad News of the Day/for Supporters of A." Items:

April 22: "The figures used by the governor for 1993 net property tax cut are inflated by $94 million." Reason: Even without A, school tax rates will be cut back by the Headlee amendment to the constitution, which requires cutting rates when assessments go up faster than inflation.

April 26: "The governor's figures of claimed property tax relief for 1994 show a cut attributable to passage of House-passed SB 146." Along with Democrats, Bryant notes the Senate has yet to pass SB 146. "No bill, no 'cut' to count," he said.

April 26: It's untrue that districts don't lose local control. Engler's school aid plan still will penalize districts 5 percent of their state aid if they fail to publish annual reports to the public by Oct. 15, Bryant said.

Big Labor quiet

Good news for Engler is that the state AFL-CIO will sit out the fight over Proposal A.

The union federation's executive council has tabled the plan "after a lengthy discussion," its news release said.

AFL-CIO chief Frank Garrison interpreted that as "denying support to the proposal."

But later in the release, Garrison admitted labor won't oppose it either.

That's exactly what Engler is counting on, said Bill Ballenger, former legislator who publishes the Inside Michigan Politics (IMP) newsletter.

Proposal A at this point has 50 percent support in the polls, 34 percent opposition and 16 percent undecided. But pollsters say a proposal should start out with 65 percent approval in case opponents run a negative campaign late in the game.

That's why Engler is pleased at the lack of large group opposition to A.

Also sitting this one out: The League of Women Voters, which fronted the group fighting Engler's failed 1992 "Cut & Cap" proposal.

New footwear is fun and funky!

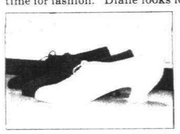
This is the season of the shoe. Anything goes as long as it has the relaxed, casual feeling of spring's newest fashions. To complement the fluid wide-leg trousers and longer hemlines, choose from platforms, espadrilles, clogs and wedges — the more substantive soles provide needed proportion to today's fresh, feminine look.

"New classics raised to new heights," is one description of the '93 footwear season as envisioned by shoe designer Joan Helpern, the Joan of Joan & David in the Somerset Collection. Reminiscent of the 1940s, the solid platform and artform heel of the Joan & David suede slingback ($245) are understated, yet fun.

"Don't be afraid of platforms," advises Alicia Mathog of Joan & David. "There are business looks and fun looks and ultimately you have to be comfortable in your shoes." A store regular agreed. Though she loves classic styling, she consented that modified platforms are perfect for certain hemlines.

Diane Siebrasse of Birmingham shook her head in the negative. "I really hate the '60s look and platforms," she said. "It was such an ugly time for fashion." Diane looks for lasting style.



But though opinion is mixed, retro designs are hot sellers even within the bastions of traditional footwear emporiums like Joan & David. If your taste runs toward less chunky silhouettes, look for menswear-inspired oxfords, always-popular loafers, cork-heeled slings or the updated spectator pictured in suede with a low sculptured heel ($150).

Don't worry about seeming too trendy if you opt for a newer wedge platform or wood-soled sandal. "The fun pieces are artistic, not dated," says Mathog. Buy what you like and what fits your lifestyle."

If you want to experience shoe shopping in a charged, party-like atmosphere, check out Precis, newly opened at Twelve Oaks Mall. This hip European-styled boutique beckons shoppers with its opulent curved-front window vignettes and blaring overhead music videos.

Music draws shoe lovers

"The louder the music, the busier we get," says store manager Cheryl Pierce. As cherubs float through the clouds on the hand-painted ceiling, shoe lovers are treated to an ever-changing display of the hottest new styles.

"I've sent three of my friends and my mother to Precis," says Kathy Allan of Livonia. She describes the shoes as fun and not too expensive. "It's so hard to find fun, fashion-forward shoes," she said.

Though Kathy loves the new platforms and clogs, her boyfriend hates them. So on this trip, she's trying jeweled sandals and thongs. Her mom bought half-boots which, according to Pierce, are still popular to wear with shorts this summer.

I spoke to Angela and Tanya, up from Ohio on a day-long shopping trip and inquired as to the contents of their many shoe boxes. "I love shoes," said Angela. "You should see my closet." She was going home with four new pairs, including back suede mega-platforms from Precis. "I look for style and high fashion. Shoes should make a statement," she added.

Her friend Tanya was still looking for platforms. "Definitely getting some," she said. Her shoe purchase was the new white mule by Keds ($22).

Lots of looks

Precis has a look for every individual taste from grunge to sophisticate. For casual summer outfits, the Converse plaid lowtop is hot, as is the Birkenstock-look priced at a low $24. But the choices are endless. Leather and suede clogs on wood or cork platforms are popular, as are classic spectator lace-ups ($49), granny-style boots and canvas slips-ons by Diesse ($24).

For a dressier look, you may want a crochet sling-back ($34) or a rhinestone embellished pump. "Satin shoes for proms and weddings are blowing out of here right now," says Pierce. And the shop can dye your shoes to match your dress.

Cleaning a mall is job for the experts

Heavy equipment and round-the-clock crews are getting the malls ready for spring. But you know the old saying . . . a housekeeper's work is never done.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

If you think spring cleaning your house is tough, try spring cleaning a mall.

"You bet it's a big job," said Peter Thompson, operations director at Westland Center. "It takes our midnight crew three weeks to strip, scrub, clean and refinish 300,000 square feet of terrazzo and cement floor. We also hand scrub around all the entrances to remove the salt left over from winter."

Next they bring out the heavy artillery.

"Our high-pressure steamers steam the sidewalks, removing the gum and oil we couldn't get to over the winter," Thompson continued. "We've got to re-sod the areas where the grass was killed by salt and rake all around the property, trimming the trees, too."

Mom's Day cards change with the times

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Mother's Day is Sunday, and the card shops that dot our malls and mainstreets are waiting for you with the lights on.

Mom's Day is the fourth biggest card-sending holiday of the year, according to Betsy Helgager, a spokeswoman for Hallmark Greetings in Kansas City, Mo. "Mother's Day follows Christmas, Valentine's Day and Easter in the number of cards sent," she said. "Last year, 150,000 million Mother's Day cards were purchased in the United States. The first cards were sent in the early 1920s."

Mother's Day was proclaimed an official holiday by President Woodrow Wilson in 1914 when he signed a joint Congressional resolution calling mothers "the greatest source of the country's strength and inspiration."

Hallmark Cards, and its Ambassador Greetings division, have 1,200 different Mother's Day card designs to choose from this year. You can select a Mother's Day card that makes a confession, offers psychological advice, is printed on recycled paper, or one so artful it becomes a treasured heirloom.

"Our cards reflect the changing dynamics of the American family," Helgager explained. "They vary from lighthearted to sentimental. The messages acknowledge the reality of relationships that have experienced good and difficult times. "More than half of all American mothers work," she continued, "and about 35 percent of all American children now live in blended families. These trends must be reflected in our Mother's Day cards."

Non-traditional cards

In addition to "traditional" mom greetings, there are cards honoring stepmothers, child-care providers, friends, teachers and "other" moms.

The "other" mom category is a big one, lots of different designs for special women who have played a part in someone's life. One of these cards reads: "The world is kinder, warmer, lovelier . . . because of women like you."

A new selection of blank Mother's Day cards are available for those who prefer to write their own message.

Hallmark has tripled its business in cultural heritage cards since its Mahogany line, aimed at blacks, was introduced in 1988, according to Helgager.

Hallmark would like you to consider this 1993 offering, from its Shoebox line: A funny-looking character grins out at mom saying, "Since it's Mother's Day, I have a confession to make. You know how you used to make me eat cooked carrots?"

Inside the card: "Well, put it this way, the dog probably had really good eyesight."

What about this one from the Murray's Law line, by Leslie Moak Murray, for the Design Cards Company, available in specialty shops: A smiling mom is pictured, wearing a halo and carrying an apple pie under the heading: "Mom, you're so kind and generous, always thinking of others, never complaining . . ."

Inside the card: "That is sick!"

Or why not send mom this observation on life, again from Shoebox.

A silly-looking man grins out at mom: "Mom, for Mother's Day I wanted to wish you the happiest day you've ever had."

Inside the card: "But I guess there's no topping the day I was born!"

Brenda Wilson of Plymouth selected two Mother's Day Dolls from an exclusive card collection at the Sideways Shop in downtown Plymouth. The $3 glossy cardboard cutouts are suitable for framing. Each is a color photograph of a costumed woman at a different stage of life.

Maggie Chubb, a sales consultant at the gift shop, said another unique line of greetings, Elephantz Cards, are a must for children just learning to read to give to mom.

"They are bright and colorful and simple," she said. "At $1.50 per card, they won't break your pocketbook. We carry several unique lines of greeting cards — something for everyone."

Three-dimensional cards

At Concourse Hallmark in Bloomfield Plaza, owner Elaine Schram suggested a special three-dimensional card that mom can perch on a desk or dressing table. These cards cost $3.50 to $4.

The card shops all have unique Mother's Day gift displays up front, tempting you to buy mom more than just a card.

The Livonia Mall is undergoing a "monumental" spring cleaning, according to Jeanne Hildebrant, manager.

"Inside and out, everything's being cleaned, polished and repainted where needed," she said. "It will take our midnight crew about two weeks to completely redo the mall floors, but after this long winter, the floor really needs it."

She looks forward to the end of May, when colorful annuals are planted along the Seven Mile side of the shopping center.

The Westland Center won a Keep Michigan Beautiful Award two years in a row for its landscaped entrances. The mall plans to enter the contest again this year, offering its bricked flower beds and scrub-covered corners as examples of its community pride.

Here are 'sure fixes' for state's school system

JOHN TELFORD

Want to know some sure fire ways to fix Michigan's schools? Since many of them are "politically incorrect" or "economically unfeasible," it's unlikely that anyone from Lansing or universities or school boards will buy them all. Many ordinary taxpayers may shy away from some as well. But for anyone who really wants to fix things, here's how:

1.Teach all kids to read and reason. Competent readers/reasoners can learn anything.

2.Pay for all public schools with income and luxury sales taxes and then fund according to need, with each school getting at least $7,000 per student, and many with disadvantaged populations getting more. All community colleges become tuition-free, and no private school gets subsidized.

3. Combine education with social services (health, recreation, child care) under one administrative umbrella and house them in the schools.

4. Cut administrative costs by radically reducing the number of school districts, and then establish qualifications for local boards and pay them to serve.

5. Create exchange programs for the best public school and university staff to teach, administrate and do research at each others' levels. Set up similar staff exchange and student exchange programs between more and less socio-economically advantaged districts.

6. Enable teachers to retain their seniority if they transfer from one district or institution to another, and standardize inter-district salary scales.

7. Establish cross-district magnet schools to address special interests, such as talented and gifted, alternative education, creative arts, science and technical education.

8. Recruit more able teaching and administrative candidates — including minority candidates — and train them longer and better before and after hiring them.

9. Devise career ladders for K-12 teachers which compare favorably with administrative salaries, and require all administrators to teach periodically. Also pay substitute teachers a decent wage.

10. Retain retired educators' teaching, counseling and administrative services on a part-time basis.

11. Decriminalize adult use of drugs and divert those police and prison dollars to beef up education and treatment programs. (Even the mayor of Detroit is saying this now.)

12. Evaluate educators more stringently. Lengthen probationary periods for new teachers and make it legally easier to remove incompetent tenured ones.

If we do these things, the next generation will flourish. If we don't, it won't, but that's what my solutions will counter just as soon as we muster the moral strength to implement them.

John Telford, a Rochester Hills resident, was an assistant superintendent in the Rochester School District. He previously was executive director for secondary education in the Plymouth Canton district. To leave a message for Telford from a touchtone phone, dial 953-2047 mailbox 1879.

Society, not education, to blame for our woes

DOC DOYLE

QUESTION: You say there will be no support and little sympathy from the public for teachers who strike with people losing their jobs, taxes at an all time high, etc. However, as a teacher, I take great exception when these same people blame public school teachers, administrators and boards of education for everything wrong in our society, from low test scores to drugs in the schools, to encouraging active sexual behavior. Do you support those parental attitudes?

ANSWER: I take great exception to the attitude that it is a failing school system that has caused the problem of supposedly low test scores, drug use and other societal problems.

Schools and what goes on in schools is a reflection of the family values students bring with them when they enter the school building each morning. Values are taught and caught at home.

We don't teach open sex or violence as the means to solve issues as shown in the movies and on TV, nor drugs as an enhancer for a high or to solve problems.

Low test scores and poor student achievement is more a direct fault of the home and those parents who have placed all responsibility for learning on teachers, administrators and boards of education. We have plenty of evidence to support this position.

Dr. Nathan Caplan, University of Michigan professor emeritus (and others) recently completed a major Institute of Social Research study.

Dr. Caplan and his colleagues set out to determine why children of Southeast Asian boat people have done so well in our school system. How could children, most non-English speaking when they arrived, out score our own students on standardized tests and in grade point averages?

Indeed, I'll always remember the Vietnamese girl at one graduation being introduced as valedictorian, a girl who could not speak English when she arrived in the seventh grade.

Without going into detail, Dr. Caplan's study concluded that the U.S. educational crisis is far more a societal problem than a school or academic problem.

Consider some of the finds of the Asian student study and compare them with what many teachers are faced with everyday in our liberated society.

■ The Asian parent refugees made education the priority. They endorsed the value of working in a disciplined manner with their child's own energy being the key factor in learning and in attaining high grades and high test scores.

Teachers and administrators and boards of education have too often become the scapegoat in our present society, a society where parental authority and responsibility have taken a vacation.

■ The family of Asian refugees is the central institution by tradition; parents and children honor a mutual collective obligation to one another. Divorce is rare. Asian parents attended all parent/teacher conferences.

But for others, the divorce rate is at an all time high. Teachers daily face numerous children from one parent homes, too often a woman works two jobs. And only 30 percent turnout at high school teacher/parent conferences.

■ High school children of Asian boat people spent an average of three hours a night on homework; junior high students spent 2½ hours; and grade schools spent two hours.

Parents requiring homework in our society, however, are a joke. Probably less than 30 percent are on top of homework.

Other factors were evident in Caplan's study such as the Asian parents reading aloud to their young elementary children every night. Children pay attention and follow rules.

Caplan points out other examples. Jewish immigrants from Eastern Europe excelled in our school system. A 1961 study by Judith Kramer and Seymour Leventman of the University of Pennsylvania reported that nearly 90 percent of the Eastern European Jewish immigrants' third generation attended college, despite the fact that the first generation had little or no education when they arrived in the United States.

The emphasis on family and culture was found to be instrumental in their amazing success.

In another study, the Japanese, after World War II, also thrived academically. Their success was attributed to cultural and family values and parental influence.

So to what do we attribute our supposedly lower test scores and achievement? Is it the teacher, is it the educational system or is our society going down the drain?

We have a society where, according to the Sourcebook of Criminal Justice Statistics, forcible rape has gone up 10.5 percent over the past 20 years; where women are afraid to go to a mall alone at night; where aggravated assault has increased 206 percent; where murder has increased 50 percent; and where violent crimes have increased 145 percent.

We have a severe breakdown in family and societal values in this country. History shows every great country held the crown for about 250 years before its decline. We are at year 217 since the Constitution of 1776.

Parents, let's get a clue! Take some leadership in the home and quit blaming teachers, administrators and the educational system. The non-English speaking Asian boat families have shown the way.

Reaction to rape crimes tests our belief systems

BILL COUTANT

Rape is a crime that tests our judicial system, the news media and some of our most basic beliefs about civilized behavior. We have by most accounts regrettably failed all of those tests.

A recent workshop for journalists on sexual assault addressed most of the issues reporters and editors face when covering the crime, but a discussion about revealing the victim's name never really materialized.

That is a shame, because that question is not only one of journalistic ethics, but one that exposes the problems we all have in dealing with rape and other violent crimes.

This particular workshop, sponsored by the University of Michigan Sexual Assault Prevention and Awareness Center, addressed many of the dilemmas journalists face in covering the crime.

Although there were representatives of both TV and print media, law enforcement, rape counseling and victims of rape and parents of a rape/murder victim, what was not addressed could shed more light on why sexual assault has not diminished despite tougher laws, more enlightened prosecutors and judges, and many workshops and seminars.

Studies show that one of three women and one in 10 men in this country will be sexually abused in his or her lifetime. That should be an alarming statistic. But only when several rapes are reported, or a particularly violent rape occurs, does the crime receive much attention. It often is reported in cycles, leading to greater public awareness for a period of time.

Although the names of rape victims are public record, unlike other violent crimes, including murder, they are not treated as such. News organizations, with few exceptions, have treated rape differently, with the aim of protecting the victim from the additional pain of reliving the crime and the public humiliation that would be sure to follow.

But recent cases, most notably the highly publicized William Kennedy Smith case in Florida in 1991, have brought forth the issue of whether to identify the woman who brought the charge.

In that case, one television network, NBC, identified the woman on the grounds that if Smith was being named although he was presumed innocent, his accuser should also be named. Articles denouncing NBC's decision followed, but surprisingly, many women who had either been raped or had counseled someone who had been raped, said the victim's name should be public.

Their reason is quite a different one: In order for rape to be taken seriously, it had to be reported like other crimes — with sensitivity to the accused and accuser but without kid gloves.

Knowing that some newspapers do print victim's names could give a victim second thoughts about reporting the crime.

Hopefully, newspapers will print the names of victims who ask to be identified and tell their story, but not those of victims who don't want the publicity.

Often, even when newspapers don't identify the victim, other facts of the case point to the victim, or to someone else. And because the rapist is named, he will sometimes get to air his side of the story, while the victim is shrouded in desperate silence.

One victim said she read a story where her attacker wanted "to put this all behind him and get on with his life."

The stakes are high. Since so few rapes are already reported, the chances are that a rapist will get away with the crime and repeat it. The man whose daughter was raped and then murdered later found out that the killer had attempted the same crime two other times. Once he had been pulled off the victim. The other time the victim survived, but her father sought to keep the crime quiet because he thought the publicity would hurt his community standing.

It's not likely that if his daughter had been robbed, injured by a hit-and-run driver, or murdered that the man would have tried to keep it quiet. But somehow, to many people rape implies some complicity by the victim. The terms "date rape" and "acquaintance rape," used to describe the vast majority of sexual assaults where the rapist and victim know each other, trivialize the crime. As one victim at the workshop said, "I knew him, but I wouldn't hardly describe this as a date. All I asked for was for him to stop."

Journalists need to try and expose this problem and the underlying hypocrisy that allows rapists to prey on us all. And people have to do some soul searching as to why this crime punishes the victim.

S'craft graduation

Geake, Schiller to accept honorary degrees

Schoolcraft College will award degrees to nearly 900 area residents at graduation ceremonies Saturday, May 8, on the Livonia campus.

The college will give honorary degrees to state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, a former Schoolcraft board member, and Robert Schiller, state superintendent of public instruction. Schiller will also deliver the Schoolcraft commencement address.

As state senator, Geake represents the communities of Canton, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth and Redford. Geake is a graduate of the University of Michigan, where he received a bachelor's, master's and doctorate. He's a life member of the National Education Association and a member of the American and Michigan psychological associations. Geake has also been a school psychologist in Greenfield Village Schools of Dearborn and held three positions at the Plymouth State Home and Training School in Northville. He was chairman of Schoolcraft's board of trustees in 1971 and 1972.

Schiller is a graduate of Upsala College in New Jersey. He also got a master's in English literature from the University of Mississippi, a master's in curriculum and instruction from the University of Pennsylvania and a doctorate in education from Penn. Schiller has served as deputy state superintendent of education for Delaware and Louisiana, as superintendent of three school districts in New Jersey, as an assistant school superintendent, high school principal and a teacher.

Schoolcraft will also pay tribute to two "distinguished alums," — James Key and Raymond Dreyfus.

Key graduated from Schoolcraft in 1979 with degrees in applied science and culinary arts. Last year he got Schoolcraft degrees in marketing and applied management.

Currently an account manager for Digital Equipment of Novi, Key has also worked for the Digital Services Group, Rupp and Bowman Co. and Airborne Graphics.

Dreyfus graduated from Schoolcraft in 1969 and is now a media executive for Chrysler Corp. He has held a number of marketing and advertising positions with Chrysler over the last nine years, including a three-year stint as marketing manager in California. Dreyfus started his career in the advertising industry and later became vice president of media at the J. Walter Thompson Agency, a Ford division. Dreyfus has a master's in business administration from the advanced management program at Michigan State University.

Schoolcraft has also singled out two students for special honors. Dawn Powers and Larry Beggs Jr., the president and vice president of Phi Theta Kappa, respectively, will lead graduates in and out of the ceremony.

In other news, the college is incorporating two prayers into the graduation occasion, which is surprising because late last year college officials were thinking about eliminating prayer because the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that prayers are banned from high school graduations.

President Richard McDowell said the college trustees were informally polled and agreed to continue with the prayer part of the ceremony.

■ State Sen. R. Robert Geake was the chairman of Schoolcraft's board of trustees in 1971 and 1972. He receive an honorary degree from the college Saturday.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Get your nets ready for spring smelt run

It will happen soon.

The phone will ring.

The time and date will be set.

We rendezvous at midnight — sharp! The orgy begins.

Before you know it, thousands of folks living in the vicinity of the Great Lakes will begin their yearly ritual — the smelt search.

I can still remember the days we visited my folks' summer cottage just off Pointe Pelee in Ontario.

We would descend upon the still frigid beaches complete with our Coleman lanterns, Eddie Bauer waders, Mort Neff seine nets and cases of Labatts Blue.

It was a private beach just west of the point, but during the smelt run, the bonfires lighted up the blackened sky like klieg lights at a Hollywood premiere.

First pass

We drew straws to see who would be the first to "make a pass." It was always the guy with the deepest waders. The guy with the high galoshes stood on the shore.

No one really wanted to make the first pass because if a smelt was netted, the catcher would have the ceremonious duty of biting off and swallowing the head of the doomed creature. God, we were so macho then!

I can remember filling 5-gallon garbage bags with just one sweep. We would try and pass them off to customs agents at the border. When we got home we'd begin the relatively easy cleaning process!

Only about 5 percent of the catch would make it to the fridge. The remaining 95 percent ended up as garden fertilizer.

Freezing smelt

If you are lucky enough to get some, they do freeze easily. You can freeze them individually on a baking sheet and then drop them into freezer bags.

Or you can do what the Janeses do — fill a plastic milk jug with smelts and then top off the jug with water and freeze.

For the uninitiated, smelt look like giant minnows. They can be anywhere from 5 to 8 inches long. However, any good smelt fisherperson will swear that the smaller ones are the best eating!

Smelt found in the Great Lakes region are really immigrants that were originally transplanted here from New England coastal waters. Eastern smelt, as they like to be called, are migrating saltwater fish.

The finest smelt in the world are rumored to be had in the Columbia River. This might be true to folks who like saltwater smelt, but yours truly has tried them and compared. There's nothing that beats a fresh mess of beer-battered smelts from Pointe Pelee.

Eastern saltwater smelts are somewhat fatter and have a higher oil content than freshwater Great Lakes smelt.

Did you know that Columbia River smelt have an oil content so high, and were so plentiful, that Indians used to dry them in large quantities and then burn them for light?

Good eating

If you're lucky enough to net some of these beauties or must rely on the local fishmonger, figure on about 14 to a pound if they are dressed, and about 11 per pound whole.

The smaller smelts can be prepared for cooking by pinching off the heads directly behind the gills and exerting light pressure on the belly cavity to expell a relatively small amount of innards. There is no need to bone them because the bones soften when cooked and can be eaten.

Some smelt aficionados swear the removal of the head and innards is a sacrilege and prefer to batter fry them whole.

Call me a wimp, but I prefer them headless and gutless, however, I do enjoy the crunchiness of the tail.

Get ready folks, all we need is a few more warm days and equally warm rains to make the little suckers swarm, and I do mean swarm.

But be prepared, as fast as they come, so they shall leave, never again to appear for another 345 days.

Smelt are usually prepared batter or pan fried in a light seasoned bread crumb coating but they also can be baked and broiled for the diet conscious. A splash of lemon or slathering of tartar sauce is all that is needed to enjoy. Bon Appetit!

■ Treat yourself and someone special to a leisurely afternoon of good food and conversation. Catch up over cups of tea served in china cups.

Tea seems to draw mothers and daughters and friends together. "It's a nice thing to do in the afternoon," said Julia Hoglen of Plymouth. "It's time off, a chance to reflect and enjoy each other's company before making dinner."

Hoglen remembers going shopping with her mother, grandmother and great grandmother and having tea afterward.

"They would go over their lists and purchases. It was like a reward. They'd have cakes with their tea."

Hoglen will celebrate Mother's Day with her daughters, mother, grandmother and great grandmother.

"My grandmother is from Canada. In my family, especially during the holidays, you get to choose the china cup to your liking for tea. Everyone has a favorite cup. We reminisce over tea."

Afternoon tea became a national pastime during Queen Victoria's reign in the 1840s.

"I always think of tea as a comfort drink," said Carol Avery of Livonia who was enjoying a cup with some friends at Sweet Afton Tea Room in Plymouth. "It's usually served in a dainty fashion."

Sweet Afton , which seats 32 people, is peaceful. The pink flowered wallpaper, crocheted table coverings, lace curtains, fine china cups and soothing music create an elegant yet soothing atmosphere. A 100-year-old cash register rings up in English pence.

Recently, a troop of Brownies visited Sweet Afton to earn their etiquette badge. "I've always fussed over children. I like to see them have a good time," said Sylvia Thacker who opened the tea room five years ago. She's hoping to offer basic cooking classes this fall.

"I like people to be happy. Over the years over 60,000 people from all over the world have visited the tea room. A

Home economist pioneer for working moms

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Being recognized by your peers is the highest honor anyone can achieve. Even now, two months after she was named Outstanding Home Economist of the Year by the Michigan Home Economists Association, Irene Cameron gets goose bumps talking about it.

"It's one of the most exciting experiences I've had since getting married and having children," said Cameron who serves on the cable commission in Livionia and hosts "In Good Taste," which airs on City Channel 8 in Livonia, 7:30 p.m. Thursdays.

"She was totally surprised," said her longtime friend Pat Albright, coordinator adult program for the Dairy Council of Michigan. "I've known Irene for 32 years. She's dynamic, the truest friend I've ever had."

Collecting Cameron's credentials to nominate her for Oustanding Home Economist of the Year was not easy. To be nominated you need three letters of recommendation from members of the Michigan Home Economists Association, and three letters of recommendation from people outside the association. You also have to explain why that person is deserving of the award.

Albright called Cameron's daughter Wendy Gregor who is a dietitian and lives in Omaha with her husband Clark, a dentist, and daughter Hailey, 18 months.

When they visited during Thanksgiving, Wendy asked her mom to write down her work experience so when Hailey grows up she'll know everything her grandma did. Gregor put the information in resume form and sent it to Albright.

"I couldn't believe it. My own daughter was in cahoots with them. Never in my wildest dreams did I think I would get the award," said Cameron. "I wasn't planning to attend the state convention. A friend said you've got to go. I had to change an eye appointment."

Reflecting on her career, Cameron, who moved to Livonia 31 years ago with her husband David, said she remembers being criticized for working outside the home. Wendy was six months old when the family moved to Livonia. Son Scott, is an emergency medicine doctor in Sacramento.

"I always worked one or two days a week since I graduated from college. Not full time. I never had a job that didn't utilize my skills. I was a pioneer. Now it's accepted. Couples share household tasks, but if the home isn't neat, the blame is laid at the women's feet.

"I strongly think women should work. I don't think children are faring bad because their mothers are working. There are good moms and bad moms. You can be a bad mother whether you spend your day in the home or out."

Cameron said she told both of her children that they must get saleable degrees in college.

Her practical outlook was fostered early when she had to make a career choice that changed her life. She was a member of a synchronized swim team in her teens, and dreamed of being a swimming teacher.

"It was 1946, and I found out there were very few schools with swimming pools. I wasn't interested in other sports. My high school economics teacher suggested home economics. I have never been sorry I got the degree, it's always served me very well."

After graduating from Pennsylvania State University, Cameron went to work as a home economist at Pennsylvania Power Co. in Sharon, Pa. Throughout the years she's used her skills in a variety of ways. She worked for McCall's Pattern Co. and traveled across the state presenting programs to junior and senior high students. Topics included "Creating Line and Design," and "Coordinating Your Wardrobe."

She was a fashion coordinator at Hudson's, freelance food stylist, and managed consumer affairs for all kitchen appliances, and provided demonstrations in Consumer's Power Cooking Schools. She was coordinator of communications and media relations for the Dairy Council of Michigan/United Dairy Industry of Michigan for 20 years.

8 teaspoons strawberry tea (available in specialty shops, natural-food stores)
½ cup sugar
Juice of 1 lemon
About 4 strawberries, sliced

In a large saucepan, bring the water to a full boil. Add the tea and sugar, cover, and let stand for 5 minutes.

Strain the tea into a large pot or pan. Stir in the lemon juice, and let the tea cool to room temperature.

Serve the tea over ice, garnished with the sliced strawberries. Yield 6 to 8 servings.

ORANGE-SPICE TEA

Whole cloves

Warm a teapot and teacups with hot water. Drain and dry them.

Put the tea leaves in the teapot. Add the boiling water. Cover with a tea towel or tea cozy and steep for 5 minutes.

Stir and strain the tea into the hot cups and serve. Yield 4 servings.

lot of people are lonely, tired and stressed out. They come here to relax, and enjoy good food. That's my joy, seeing people again and again."

Thacker, who grew up across the street from the Marigold Tea Room in Canada, said she's always adored making party food.

"Creation is the fun part for me. I read cookbooks like some people read novels."

Thacker's daughter, romance novelist Shelly Thacker, and daughter-in-law, Kat Thacker, an illustrator, remember when Sylvia came home and told them she'd signed a lease for the tea room. The family pitched in to help.

"It's soothing and relaxing in here," said Kat Thacker. "You aren't stressed out, it's like auntie's parlor. People come here and stay here."

"It evokes the Victoria times when you had more leisure time. This is a place people come to escape and get away."

Sylvia proudly displays Kat's illustrations, and is anxiously awaiting the greeting cards and note cards that will carry her designs. Shelly's books are displayed next to the tins, tea cups and other British giftware for sale.

Thacker said running a tea room is like constantly getting ready for a big party.

"I feel like I was led to it," she said. "It's brought me a lot of joy. There's a woman who comes in here with her son. What beautiful memories they're making."

Home from page 1B

In 1951, while working as a district home economist for Westinghouse Electric in Pittsburgh, Cameron used one of the first microwave ovens. "It cost $1,500, and we didn't know if it would take off," she said.

"Irene has the ability to please every customer or client she works with, she gives them full service, and information," said Albright. "You can count on her. She's reliable, professional."

Cameron dabbled in television as host of the "Home Cooking" show in Youngstown, Ohio, early in her career, and has developed her talent as host of "In Good Taste."

In 1985 she was appointed to the cable commission in Livonia, and started "In Good Taste," in 1988.

"She really goes with the flow," said Paul Pyrik Scott, municipal production coordinator for City Channel 8 who has worked with Cameron for four years. "We bring all of our equipment to her house to tape the show. She's very flexible. We're there from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. every other month. She's taken an interest in TV, even the production details. She's very encouraging to the staff."

Helpful cooking tips to use, share

Here are some cooking tips from Betty Crocker to use or share with a friend.

■ Radiatore, shaped like car radiators, is a ruffly little pasta perfect for salads. The delicate flavors of the salad dressing get caught in the ruffles, giving the salad lots of flavor in every bite.

■ Dried pasta will keep indefinitely. Store it at room temperature in the original package. Fresh pasta is stored in the refrigerator and keeps for three to five days.

■ For most quick breads, fill pans no matter what the size, slightly over half to three-fourths full.

■ You can buy pasta both fresh and dried. Look for pasta either prepackaged or in bulk bins. Fresh pasta is found in the refrigerated section of the supermarket.

■ Cake lends itself to innovation. Pipe flavored whipped cream (found in pressurized cans in the dairy case) onto the top of an unfrosted angel food or pound cake. Then, drizzle with pureed, thawed frozen fruit and top with shaved chocolate. Fruit chutney with whipped cream tastes good too.

Battered, deep-fried, or broiled, smelt are delicious

See Larry Janes column Taste Buds on Taste front.

HOMEMADE BATTER FOR SMELT

2 egg yolks
⅔ cup milk or buttermilk
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 cup all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon seasoned bread crumbs
2 egg whites beaten until stiff

Beat together the egg yolks, milk and melted butter until smooth. Mix flour, salt and seasoned bread crumbs and mix with a whisk until a batter is formed.

Wash and pat dry smelt. Just before frying, fold in beaten egg whites. Dip smelt in batter and deep fry or pan fry in 375 degree oil until golden, about 2 to 3 minutes. Drain on paper towel.

BROILED SMELT

2 pounds smelt, dressed
1 stick butter or margarine, melted
½ cup seasoned bread crumbs
¼ cup cream

Coat cleaned smelt in melted butter or margarine, place on waxed paper and refrigerate until butter or margarine has solidified and coated the fish. Remove from fridge, dip in cream, then roll in seasoned bread crumbs to coat. Place on a lightly greased broiler pan and broil until golden, about 3 to 4 minutes.

DEEP FRIED SMELT

2 pounds smelt, dressed
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup seasoned bread crumbs mixed with ¼ cup flour
oil for deep-frying

Preheat oil in deep-fryer to about 370 degrees. Dip the cleaned smelt in crumbs, then in beaten egg, then in crumbs again. Fry in small batches, being careful not to crowd the fryer for 3 minutes.

Drain on paper towel.

BAKED SMELT AU GRATIN

3 tablespoons olive oil
½ cup chopped carrot
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
2 pounds smelt, dressed
½ cup cheap dry white wine
½ cup seasoned bread crumbs mixed with ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Lightly grease low baking dish with olive oil. Combine and spread chopped vegetables on the bottom of the dish. Place smelt on top. Sprinkle with all the wine. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Remove from the oven, sprinkle with bread crumb and cheese mixture and pop under the broiler for 4 minutes or until nicely golden brown.

BEER BATTER

½ teaspoon baking soda
2 eggs
2 cups cold beer
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
flour to coat

Stir baking soda into the eggs. Stir in beer. Mix well. Stir liquid mixture into the sifted flour and mix well using a wire whisk. Lightly dip smelt in flour to coat, then dip in beer batter and fry in oil heated to 375 degrees. Do not crowd the fryer. Makes enough batter for 2¼ pounds of smelt.

Chef's note: Beer can be omitted and water can be used. For a different taste try white wine or apple juice.

LEMON, LIME OR PARSLEY BUTTER

2 sticks butter, melted
the juice from 2 lemons or limes or ¼ cup finely chopped parsley

Using a wire whisk, whip ingredients into the butter, place in a small plastic tub and refrigerate 1 hour or until firm.

Chef's suggestion: Before deep-frying your smelt, dip a bunch of parsley in the hot fat and fry for about 2 minutes or until crisp for an unforgettable taste sensation!

TARTAR SAUCE

2 tablespoons finely chopped dill pickle or 2 tablespoons dill pickle relish
12 tablespoons finely minced onion
1 tablespoon finely minced parsley
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Makes 1½ cups.

Treat mom to special breakfast

AP — Attention kids (and dad)! What mom would really like this Mother's Day is a late wake-up call, followed by a special breakfast.

Since most moms are pretty easy to please, you can keep the menu simple. One idea: Canadian-style bacon on cinnamon-raisin bread, served with fresh berries. Serve with a well-chilled glass of orange juice and freshly brewed coffee.

Look for Canadian-style bacon in the supermarket deli. Because the bacon is already cooked, this dish requires only a brief heating in the microwave oven.

CANADIAN-STYLE BACON BREAKFAST SANDWICHES

4 slices cinnamon-raisin bread
3 tablespoons soft cream cheese
2 teaspoons packed light brown sugar
16 thin apple slices
8 slices Canadian-style bacon, about 5 ounces
2 tablespoons apple jelly
Assorted fresh fruit and berries

Toast bread until crisp; cool. Spread each slice of toast with an equal amount of cream cheese; sprinkle with an equal amount of brown sugar. Top each slice of toast with four apple slices and two slices of Canadian-style bacon. Carefully spread equal amounts of apple jelly over bacon. Place open-face sandwiches on a 12-inch microwave-safe plate. Cook, uncovered, on high (100 percent power), for 3 to 4 minutes, or until bacon is hot, rotating plate a quarter turn after 1½ minutes. Garnish with fresh fruit and berries. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Recipe was tested in a 650-watt microwave oven. If your oven has a different wattage, adjust times accordingly.

KAHLUA TORTE

1 cup milk
½ cup kahlua
1 large container frozen whipped dairy topping, thawed
1 large package Chips Ahoy chocolate chip cookies
Maraschino cherries, winter-green candy and shaved chocolate for garnish

Mix milk and kahlua. Dipping cookies in the milk mixture for 3 to 5 seconds, use them to line an 8-inch springform pan. Spoon a layer of thawed whipped topping over cookies. Continue to make 3 to 5 layers. Freeze. After removing torte from pan, garnish with additional whipped topping and cherries, candy and/or chocolate.

Tips for brewing tasty tea

Syliva Thacker of Sweet Afton Tea Room offers these tips for brewing a delicious cup of tea.

"At Sweet Afton, we brew tea in the British manner," said Thacker.

"First, we heat fresh, cold water in a kettle. When the water is hot, a small amount is swirled in the china teapot to heat it thoroughly.

"Next, loosely pack a mesh tea infuser with the tea of your choice, and place it in the pot while waiting for the kettle to come to a rolling boil. Take the teapot to the kettle — never the kettle to the pot.

"Pour the boiling water into the pot, and allow the tea to steep three to five minutes. Stir the mixture and remove the infuser."

Julia Hoglen's secret is using loose tea. She wraps it in cheesecloth before putting it in the pot. "The looser the tea, the better the flavor," she said. "I prefer a china pot."

Paris restaurants

Everyone's trip to French wine regions should begin or at least terminate with a stay in Paris. Deals for Paris accommodations abound, starting with the airlines, usually accompanied by bonus frequent-flyer miles.

If you want to meet Parisians and not other tourists stay on the Left Bank. With this recommendation, we're answering one of your most frequent questions about where to eat and drink wine well, but inexpensively in Paris — on the Left Bank:

Chez Toutoune, 5 rue de Pontoise; Le Petit Zinc, 11 rue St. Benoit. This restaurant is pricier than others recommended here, but is outstanding. Waiters are uncommonly friendly to English-speaking patrons.

Restaurant Polidor, 41 rue M. le Prince, is very casual, but with first-rate escargots from Burgundy among other regional specialties. Chez Maitre Paul, 12 rue M. le Prince; Restaurant des Beaux Arts (across from Ecole des Beaux Arts) is good for lunch and Allard, 41 rue St.-Andre-des-Arts will not disappoint.

On nearby Ile St. Louis, Au Gourmet de Lisle, 42 rue Saint-Louis-en-Ile has a fixed-price four-course daily offering with a choice of 10 entrees for 110 French Francs. Just don't let them seat you in the basement dining room! For a special, fine-dining experience, we highly recommend the one-star Michelin restaurant Le Dome, 108 Blvd du Montparnasse (14th Arr). Try sensational seafood in an historic setting with a classic zinc bar. If you have time to investigate an open-air food market, the most colorful stalls are along the rue de Buci and adjacent side streets.

Exploring California vineyards

First-time California wine explorations can begin in Napa Valley. The following are recommendations for wineries with exceptional tours, a different twist or sufficiently small to offer a one-on-one experience.

Starting in the north, visit — Clos Pegase if you like art in addition to wine. A few hundred yards south is Sterling Vineyards with a self-guided tour and superior tasting room. Continuing south, drop in at Freemark Abbey and Beringer. Flora Springs, with a much smaller production, doesn't attract crowds of tourists, but has a cozy tasting room.

St. Supery's tasting room is the most unique while Robert Mondavi Winery still offers the best guided tour. Domaine Chandon's the place to learn about sparkling wine production and the winery's restaurant offers the best dining experience in the Valley. Advance restaurant reservations for either lunch or dinner are advised. Pine Ridge Winery's new caves give you the idea of California high-tech aging facilities.

If you're experienced with touring in the Napa Valley and have not visited in the much larger Sonoma Valley, then consider Ferrari-Carano, Preston, Dry Creek, Domaine Michel and Quivira north of Santa Rosa. South of Santa Rosa, call on Chateau St. Jean, Kenwood, Ravenswood (especially if you like Zinfandel), Buena Vista and Gundlach-Bundschu. Also visit the newly-opened Sonoma County Wine & Visitors Center open (10 a.m. to 6 p.m.), 5000 Roberts Lake Road in Rohnert Park (seven miles south of Santa Rosa). At the center you can find information on wine tours special events, lodging, restaurants and maps.

Hip fashions

Don't forget clean underwear this season. Thanks to hip-hop artist Marky Mark and MTV, it's socially acceptable these days to show off your shorts — your other shorts.

These belted denims by Steel Jeans come with a big waistband and roomy boxers inside. Sure, you can rig up your own outfit as long as the undies have a recognizable logo from the likes of Calvin Klein, Joe Boxer or another fashion notable.

You'll either like the look, or you'll hate it, say fashion experts, who report that the Marky Mark look is embraced by both sexes. Steel Jean shorts ($40) at Jacobson's Miss J Department.

Just for laughs

If the decorating guru's are right, every room needs a touch of whimsy. Bloomfield Hills Tricia Wein couldn't agree more.

The artist came up with the idea for her colorful caricature paintings last year, after earning a fine arts degree from the Center for Creative Studies. The bright acrylic portraits always get chuckles, but Wein takes her subjects seriously. For authenticity, she adorns each one with pearls, chains, glasses, denim jeans or a hairy chest.

Besides caricatures like "Reservations," Wein does group, family and single portraits on commission ($100 to $400). Her work is displayed at Karma in Orchard Mall, West Bloomfield. For information, call 626-4410.

Transparent Red: A 'free' song

■ They've felt the pain of drug abuse and they use drug-inspired fliers to promote their shows. But the message Transparent Red offers in its music is drug-free. The former is used to heighten interest in the music.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

'Free' message: Transparent Red members — bassist Joby Brown of Birmingham, guitarist John Sullens of Fraser, vocalist Gary Guzialek of West Bloomfield and drummer J.P. Faiella of West Bloomfield — offer a drug-free message in their music.

Transparent Red's drug-inspired fliers promoting its shows have lifted the eyebrows of various venues' management.

But for members of the group who have felt the pains of drug abuse, it's disappointing that sometimes the misunderstanding gets in the way of the drug-free message. For example, administrators at an area college took down fliers that negatively mentioned drugs.

"I did it (the flier) because I like exciting people; I love controversy," said drummer J.P. Faiella of West Bloomfield. "That's how things get out in the open."

The group would like to get its views — specifically Faiella's — on drugs in the open. A few years ago, he escaped the rampant drug use in New York by moving in with his sister in Berkley.

"I just didn't think it was a good idea for myself personally to be around other musicians. Heroin's such a big thing in New York and I just didn't want to be surrounded by it anymore."

That's only part of Faiella's problems as a youth. He also survived a bout with non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, during which he was given six months to live. He's been cancer-free for six years.

The last thing Transparent Red wants, however, is sympathy. They want their fans to see that there's hope in every scenario.

"Our first song that we wrote, 'Sweet Seven,' is just about nothing's that bad," Faiella said. "Everybody in this band has been through so much . . . I've been through cancer and rehab. It's just about (someone saying) 'I have nothing.' You have yourself. You can still go on."

Faiella prides his band on having intelligent lyrics.

"Our lyrics are very intelligent. I don't want people listening to 'Hey, baby, baby, backseat of the car.' I want somebody to listen to our lyrics a couple times to actually think about it," Faiella said.

Lightening up the mood, bassist Joby Brown of Birmingham added, "They listen to it a couple times just to figure out what he's saying."

The hopeful message of Transparent Red — which also includes guitarist John Sullens of Fraser — even spilled over into its search for a lead singer. Gary Guzialek of West Bloomfield was eventually hired for the job.

"Gary has a big heart; he's a really good person," Faiella said. "He's just a beautiful person. He's very spiritual. The main point that our band is trying to get across is hope . . . That just shined out (in him)."

On the lighter side, Guzialek is the true standout of the band — literally. During a recent show in the State Theatre lobby, Guzialek, with his eyes closed, walked across the barrier along the landing at the top of the stairs. Bassist Brown said that's the norm for Transparent Red shows.

"During one of our songs J.P. was like drumming along and Gary had pulled up this chair. He got up and did this Jesus Christ pose. He's (also) been known to crawl around on the ground," Brown said.

"He just gets into this frame of mind on stage," Faiella added.

Although that behavior comes naturally to Guzialek, it's subconsciously part of a marketing ploy to garner attention for Transparent Red and its drug-free message.

"I'm glad I went through it. I got it out of the way. I think I've got an understanding that it's a dead-end street. It's artificial joy," Faiella said.

Swimwear for 1993 goes Hollywood

BY JANICE TIGAR-KRAMER
SPECIAL WRITER

What you'll need to fill out this season's daring and dramatic swimwear is a svelte body and a mega dose of attitude. No, you don't have to look like a "Sports Illustrated" icon to feel comfortable in a swimsuit this year, but it definitely won't hurt.

If the illusive search for a bathing suit wasn't tough enough, prepare to scrutinize yourself in suits that promise tan lines where the sun generally doesn't shine. Like spring and summer fashions, swimwear is bare, sleek and feminine.

Swimwear '93 borrows here and there from several decades: the sophisticated '40s, the fabulous '50s and the frivolous '70s. Wherever the inspiration comes from, suits are bold and beautiful, say local fashion experts.

One can only guess if chlorine will be kind to suits fashioned from shiny gold and silver Lycra, Lycra velvet and crocheted cottons with sheer or net inserts and touches of metallic everywhere.

Colorwise, we'll see fun Tarzan and Jane prints, African motifs and a slew of ethnic prints. There are ditsy florals (borrowed from the '70s), hot fluorescents and lots of black and navy, especially for nautical designs.

The basic tank suit, by designers like Gottex, is still around — this year much sexier in flashy fabrications with sheer or net inserts that start below the bust and end at the pelvis.

On the conservative side, there's Ralph Lauren's tank with capped sleeves, Jantzen's metallic print tank and Lisa Lomas' long-sleeved leopard print tank that resembles a body suit.

Bikinis and monokinis by Darling Rio and Gottex have cutouts so daring some have coordinating net T-shirts and sheer full-body cover-ups to . . . well . . . cover up. Suits with deep cutouts by Malia Mills and Kiko feature long sleeves or higher necklines; some double for high-fashion exercise wear.

Highly stylized suits made of flashy Lycras and spandex prints with underwire bras come from Calvin Klein, LaBlanca and other designers.

"There's a major trend toward the glamorous looks of the '40s and '50s," said Cheryl Hall, Sak's Fifth Avenue fashion director. "This season's swimwear has a real screen goddess appearance."

But you don't have to look like a goddess to dress like one, assures Hall. She says many swimsuits have plenty of built-in structure, molded bras and lots of wrapping and draping around the torso. Some suits even have longer legs (the "poor boy" look). Gottex's shiny skirted suit resembles a dance costume.

"Don't judge a suit by how it looks on a hanger; you might think you can't wear anything skirted, but that depends on where you carry weight," Hall said. "The torso-wrapped look is feminine and very flattering to most figures."

She predicts that women who'd never buy animal prints for a regular wardrobe piece will opt for jungle prints in swimwear — "A swimsuit is for fun and it's not a major investment. You'll look back on the suit and say 'I wore it to death one summer.'"

Janice Hayes, Jacobson's public relations director, sums up swimwear '93 in two words — sophisticated and sexy.

'Boy's Life' relives writer's fear

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

■ MOVIES

"This Boy's Life," based on the autobiography by Tobias Wolff, twists the traditional Boy Scout virtues of honesty, thrift, and obedience into a living hell for a teenager growing up in the 1950s.

The mountain vistas and a playful Sinatra singalong (not to mention the film's evocative title) hint at a happy-go-lucky romp with mother and son in a clunky old Nash. Then the narrator says, "When my mom got beat up by her boyfriend, we lit out for the uranium fields of Utah" and we know we're in for a rocky ride.

After a year of trying their luck in Salt Lake City, Toby (Leonard DeCaprio) and his mother Caroline (Ellen Barkin) hop a bus for Seattle and yet another in a series of new horizons. When Caroline eventually ends up in the middle of nowhere married to an abusive mechanic named Dwight (Robert DeNiro), she admits, "I've run out of fresh starts."

The movie might use a bit of literary license when Caroline stretches her independence by getting involved with the Kennedy campaign, but the always-watchable Barkin plays a believable woman who tries desperately to keep her sunny side up. When it comes to clashes between Toby and Dwight, she "won't play referee."

While DiCaprio is also quite convincing as the troubled teenager, the movie revolves around DeNiro's rock-solid performance. This is no "Cape Fear" and his Dwight no ordinary psycho. He's cloddilycharming at first, wooing Caroline with flowers and compliments.

And at first you might think he's doing right by Toby, who does lack discipline and is well on the way to becoming a juvenile delinquent.

He gets Toby a paper route and enlists him in the Scouts, complete with a subscription to a "Boy's Life"-type magazine. He insists that the teenager attend both church and school regularly and learn how to protect himself in a fight.

But Dwight also keeps the money Toby earns (he's saving it for something important when Toby really needs it) and beats the boy to a pulp for minor offenses like failing to scrape the sides of an empty mustard jar. Dwight grows violently jealous when he thinks someone has shown him up, which Toby does when he dreams of a life beyond Cement, Wash.

The movie is not all doom and gloom. Some of it's quite funny. The terminally square Dwight tells stupid jokes and uses irritating phrases like "shut your pie hole." He's a lousy father, lover, saxophone player, sharpshooter, and mechanic. His pigheaded inability to realize this makes him strangely sympathetic.

The only simple nostalgic pleasure comes through the soundtrack, which resurrects gutsy rock 'n' roll classics like "Real Wild Child," "Summertime Blues," and "I'm Not a Juvenile Delinquent."

Michael Caton-Jones, the Scottish-born director of "Scandal" and "Doc Hollywood," and scriptwriter Robert Getchell have reportedly retained the flavor of Wolff's 1989 novel. The use of wide screen, though not incredibly inventive here, does contrast nicely with the confines of Dwight's dumpy and oppressive house.

■ The movie revolves around Robert De-Niro's rock-solid performance. This is no "Cape Fear" and his Dwight no ordinary psycho.

The darkness behind "This Boy's Life" will make it unpopular with some. Heartfelt and uncompromising, it's a kick in the teeth to the mindless nostalgia usually packaged for Baby Boomers.

Swimwear

"There's a tremendous interest in belly buttons and midriff this year," says Hayes. "If you don't like all the exposure, many suits have optional cover-ups like a scarf wrap."

Since some swimwear looks too good to get wet, fashion experts say throw on a sheer skirt, an over-sized scarf or jeans and walk to town. For a high-glamour look, Hayes suggests coordinating your suit with new modified platform shoes or mules and a straw hat.

Thanks to a body-conscious society, the bikini and two-piece suits are back in a big way, says Marilyn Conner for Neiman Marcus.

"There are lots of options and interesting new silhouettes for swimwear," said Conner. "The look is definitely sophisticated but fun, too."

If you want to improve your own silhouette, Hot Coles new suit, Top Secret, has a small pump concealed in the underwire bra — just inflate it to the fullness of your choice.

Since shopping for swimwear is likened to hunting for wallpaper, Sak's Cheryl Hall offers tips to make the search easier:

■ Plan a shopping trip strictly to purchase a suit and be determined to buy.
■ Take a friend only if she's as serious about the mission as you are.
■ Wear pantyhose without underwear so you can easily slip on suits; the hose also give legs a tanned look.
■ Try on several styles in a couple of sizes.
■ Befriend a salesperson and let her run to the racks for you.

Plan now for Christmas, group asks

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

■ In the first week of December, the historical society annually holds its fund-raiser to support the Canton Historical Museum. The Christmas sale includes tree ornaments, pillows, dolls, cross-stitch items, for example.

It may be only May, but it's never too early to think about Christmas, especially if it's for a worthy cause.

Goodfellows board member Cathy Johnson is igniting the Christmas spirit by calling all creative people to think about toys and gifts — making them, that is.

"The men always seem to be excluded," Johnson said, referring to the Goodfellows' annual doll contest.

Every year, community women make or buy clothes to dress dolls that will be put in Christmas baskets for needy children. Johnson wants men in the community to be just as involved by making wood toys.

The toys can be anything, such as trucks, airplanes, wood blocks, or even toy cradles for the dolls. Men and women may participate in either the dolls or the wooden toys projects.

In 1992, the Goodfellows distributed more than 70 baskets for needy families. The families also received food for a holiday dinner, including a turkey and two chickens.

The woodcrafts will be judged at a contest just as the dolls are every year. When the toys are finished, Johnson asks that you drop off your handiwork at the clerk's office in township hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

Johnson also has an idea for senior adults who want to get involved by making decorative pieces, such as a wooden shelf for adults. "We've never really given gifts to the parents of the kids," she said.

And while you have your creativity in gear, the Canton Historical Society also needs some help.

In the first week of December, the society annually holds its fund-raiser to support the Canton Historical Museum. The Christmas sale includes tree ornaments, pillows, dolls, cross-stitch items, for example.

Johnson is asking those who are about to spring clean to include their sewing boxes, for example, and donate materials, yarns and trims. These items can also be dropped off at the township clerk's office.

If you have any questions about the Goodfellows project, contact chairman Art Winkel at 397-5348.

Library gets 2 grants

The Canton Public Library has received two grants awarded by the Library of Michigan.

The grants include one for $15,759 allowing the library to work with the Community Literacy Council. The grant will help the library pay for materials, tutor training, and some administration.

"It establishes the library as an official literacy site," said Canton Library Director Jean Tabor.

The second grant of $24,998 will be used to expand the library's reference services with the purchase of CD-ROM products. The library will be able to buy CDs that feature articles of critical issues and newspaper indexes, for example. The money also will be used to buy four personal computers, and cabling to install a local area network.

Crusaders finish 2nd

Coach Tim DeBeliso's 18-and-under Crusader Junior AAU volleyball team finished second last weekend at the Aquinas College Tournament with a 5-1 record.

East Kentwood beat the Crusader Juniors, 15-9, 15-11, in the championship match. In the semifinals, Crusader defeated Genessee, 15-8, 15-3.

Members of the weekend tournament team included Patty Diamond and Julie Martin, both of Livonia Stevenson; Daune Koester, Redford Thurston; Kelly McCausland, Redford Union; Debbie Schroeder, Farmington, Toby Cain, Wayne Memorial, Jill Smith, Westland John Glenn; Amanda Baranski, Birmingham Marian; Jennifer Lower, Northville; and Therese Strunk, Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher.

Other Crusader members, unable to attend, the tournament tournament, include Stephanie Storen, Marian; Larisa Grinbergs, West Bloomfield; and Karen Merritt, Troy.

Sting '77 victorious

Sting '77, an under 16½ Little Caesars (Ilitch Division) Premier League boys soccer team, recently won the Dogwood (Tenn.) Tournament with a 4-0 triumph over Lexington (Ky.) United in the championship final.

Sting '77, coached by Chris Morgan, outscored their opponents, 17-1.

Members of Sting '77 include: Joe Dapkus, Andy Gignac, Brandon Pizzuti, Matthew Todaro, Anthony Vettraino, Craig Wimmer and Joe Brach, all of Livonia;

Other team members include James Bossieux and Keith Gniewek, both of Canton; Chris Emerine, West Bloomfield; Ryan Friedrichs and Brian Spaly, Ann Arbor; Jason McIver, Northville; Paul Graves, Milford; Kade Rickets, Ypsilanti; Sean Schroeder, Dearborn Heights; and David York, Novi.

Madonna hoop recruits

Madonna University men's basketball coach Bill Sharpe moved a step closer to completing the team he plans to start the season with by signing Ken Taylor, a 6-foot-7 forward from Westland John Glenn, and Eric Furlott, a 6-8 center from Utica Eisenhower.

That brings the total number of recruits to 17 for Madonna's first men's basketball team in four years. Sharpe has one more player that may yet sign: 5-11 guard Mike McAndrews of Marine City Cardinal Mooney.

Now all that remains is positioning the players he has committed into a team capable of challenging in the NAIA's District 23.

Taylor, according to Sharpe, is "a quiet kid, but he's real strong. If you get him the ball inside, he's going to score. He can rebound and he can score inside. He's just so strong he's going to keep teams off the boards."

The biggest problem facing Taylor is conditioning. "What he really needs is to get in shape," Sharpe said.

Furlotte lacks Taylor's bulk, but he, too, is an effective rebounder. "He positions real well for offensive rebounds," said Sharpe. "And he's a real sensible kid o the basketball court.

"He's a shot-blocker. And he can score."

Sharpe doesn't plan to add anyone else to his team. Indeed, he figures he'll have to redshirt two or three players. He does plan to hold an open tryout in the fall for whoever's on campus. "I'm doing that because you just never know," he explained.

But he's happy with what he's got. "I'm happy and my assistants are happy," Sharpe said. "I haven't talked to one recruit who doesn't believe I'm the smartest coach in the world because I recruited the best guard or forward or center around, whatever they happen to be."

Sharpe, ever the optimist, believes the nucleus is there to take Madonna to the NAIA Tournament.

Chiefs declaw Hawks on diamond

Senior Mike Stafford led the way with his pitching and hitting Thursday as the Plymouth Canton baseball team defeated Farmington Hills Harrison 9-0 in a Western Division game.

Mike Stafford continued the fine start to his senior year of baseball Thursday, pitching Plymouth Canton to a 9-0 shutout of Farmington Hills Harrison.

He threw a three-hitter and struck out 12 in the Western Division contest at Canton. He walked just two.

"Michael Stafford pitched a beautiful game," Canton coach Mark LaPointe said. "He's had an unbelievable five days of baseball, starting with the (Monroe) tournament.

Stafford tossed a no-hitter against Allen Park and hit a pair of home runs, helping the Chiefs to a runner-up finish April 24.

He hit two more homers Thursday, putting his season total at four. Stafford smacked a two-run homer and a solo blast, giving him 15 RBI overall.

Ryan Ostach, who hit a tape-measure shot at Central Middle School in an earlier game, crushed a 310-foot leadoff homer in the first inning. The Chiefs have eight dingers overall.

"We've hit more home runs at this point than we have in the last three years," LaPointe said.

Adam Gilles and Stafford had two hits and scored two runs each, and Matt Paupore and Sam Brannock also had two hits apiece.

Eric Marcotte (sacrifice), Matt Horn (single) and Brannock had one RBI each. Paupore had a two-run double in the first inning.

"We played very business-like baseball," LaPointe said. "We knew we couldn't go 0-2 in the division and hope to contend.

"We know we're a good baseball team and we played like it today. When we play well, nobody is going to get us."

Both teams are 1-1 in the division. Canton is 8-5 overall, Harrison 3-2.

The Hawks got single hits from Jeff Cislo, Dave Butcher and Matt Woolf. Keye Smith pitched five innings, gave up seven runs on eight hits, one walk and two errors and suffered the loss.

■ SALEM 8, FARMING. 1: Junior Nirav Kher's first pitching start was a success Thursday as he scattered five hits and guided Plymouth Salem to the win at Farmington.

Kher was pitching a no-hitter until Mark Drummond got a hit in the fifth inning.

"We've been looking for a second starter, and we might have found him," Salem coach John Gravlin said. "We're getting decent pitching; we're just making a lot of mistakes. Today we played almost perfect defense for us."

The Rocks made two errors and Farmington four. Matt Williams went 5⅓ innings for the Falcons, allowing eight runs on six hits and six walks.

Jamie Owens had two hits and scored two runs for Salem, and Charlie Winstell had a triple, sacrifice fly and two RBI. David Knight had one RBI.

Salem is 1-1 in the Lakes Division and 5-6 overall, Farmington 0-2 and 3-9.

■ BASEBALL

Mike Stafford has ambitions in the game of baseball, and he believes he'll be in the perfect place to pursue his goals after high school.

The Plymouth Canton senior signed a national letter of intent to play his college ball at Ohio State University.

"They've won the Big Ten the last two years, so that's the place to go and the team to beat in the Big Ten;" Stafford said.

"They have a young team, and the coach (Bob Todd) said he thinks they have a good chance of going to the College World Series in the next two years."

Stafford will play the same position he does for the Chiefs (first base) and be given the opportunity to win the starting job as a freshman, he said. He might pitch in special situations, too.

"I have to get a little stronger and gain some weight," he said. "I'll work hard at anything I do. Hopefully, I'll start and be successful."

Stafford, the son of former Major League pitcher Bill Stafford, hopes his experiences at OSU will be a springboard to a professional career. His father played on four World Series champion teams with the New York Yankees and serves as the Canton pitching coach.

"That's been on my mind," Stafford said. "My dad always pushed me because he wants the best from me. He thinks I have Major League potential. I want to get there, and I think Ohio State is a step closer to it."

Fred Crissey, who retired last year after 19 seasons as the only Canton head coach, knows Todd and put him on to Stafford when the latter was a freshman.

"Coach Crissey likes the way they run their program and thought it would be a good place to play," Stafford said.

Canton coach Mark LaPointe predicted Stafford's decision to sign as the season got under way would be beneficial. The results to date have supported that claim.

"Michael Stafford is not going to have any pressure on him to perform," he said. "If a player is as good as Michael, scouts are constantly on the fence with their guns and checking him out.

"I've seen a difference already. Michael Stafford is going to have one of the best years a Canton baseball player has had in a long time."

In 13 games this year, Stafford is hitting over .500, has half of the team's eight home runs and has driven in 15 runs. As a pitcher, he is 3-0 with a no-hitter and a pair of three-hitters.

"Michael Stafford's attributes are his knowledge of the game and his passion for the game," LaPointe said.

"I've never known him not to come to play, and I've had Michael for four years. He's going to be successful at Ohio State. He'll be a fine first baseman for them."

Stage set for Canton-Salem girls track

Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem are undefeated in dual meets going into the annual Mangan Meet Tuesday.

Both teams improved to 3-0 overall and 2-0 in their respective divisions with victories Thursday.

Canton posted an impressive 93-35 victory over visiting Walled Lake Western as Selena Bastine won the shot put (34-9) and discus (119-3) with season bests.

Ndu Okwumabua tied her season best of 5-2 in the high jump and won the 100-meter dash in 13.4.

Lana Boroditsch finished first in the 3,200 run (11:44.5) with another season best and anchored the 3,200 relay, which also had a season best (10:16).

Christie Saffron won the 800 run (2:31.8) and also was part of the 3,200 relay, which included Jennifer Warnke and Melissa Bastine.

Karina Kilpelainen was a double winner in the hurdles, running 16.8 in the highs and 49.8 in the intermediates.

Becky Bockstanz and Olive Ikeh started the 400 relay, and Okwumabua and Kilpelainen finished it with a Canton victory (52.2). Angela Fountain, Bockstanz, Teri Scott and Shawn Champlin won the 800 relay (1:53.7).

■ PLYMOUTH SALEM

Sarah Makins and Katheryn Ryan were double winners for the Rocks in their 124-4 rout of host Walled Lake Central Thursday.

Ryan won the shot put (29-2) and discus (105-5), Makins the long jump (15-3) and the high hurdles (17.3).

Vanessa Benning, Sarah Hamilton, Courtney Sheldon and Stacy Witthoff won individual events and also contributed to relay victories.

Benning was first in the 100 dash (13.8), Tonya Wheeler the 200 dash (27.7), Hamilton the 400 dash (1:00.5), Witthoff the 800 run (2:33.7) and Nicole Van Hees the high jump (4-9).

Salem's other winners were Karen Boudreau in the 1,600 run (5:52.2) and Emily Farrell in the 3,200 run (12:26.4).

Dana Driscoll and Marcia Parker combined with Benning and Melissa Hopson to win the 400 relay (55.7), Hamilton and Wheeler the 800 (1:52).

Sheldon and Lynda Sebestyen teamed with Van Hees and Wheeler to win the 1,600 (4:29.9), Kelly Stankov and Witthoff the 3,200 (10:27).

Murphy prepares for USGF nationals

BY DAN O'MEARA

■ GYMNASTICS

It will be a wiser, more confident and successful Shay Murphy who competes against the best club gymnasts in the country this year.

The 16-year-old Murphy hopes her added experience produces a good result at the United States Gymnastic Federation national championships May 15-17 in Baltimore.

Murphy, who qualified for the first time last year, earned a return trip to the big meet by winning state and regional titles earlier this month.

"There are new compulsories this year, so it will be new for everybody," said Murphy, a junior at Plymouth Canton High School.

"Last year was the fourth year for the same compulsories. Everyone had them down pat, and it was my first year."

Level 10, which includes Murphy, and elite gymnasts are the only ones required to perform both optionals and compulsories, the latter of which change every four years.

Murphy doesn't need another first-place finish for the nationals to be a success. A place among the top 10 will earn her a spot on the U.S. Junior Olympic team.

"First place would be unbelievable," Murphy said. "I'll try as hard I can, and that's all you can ask of someone."

Murphy made the jump from Level 9 to elite and stayed there for three years until deciding she was more suited for Level 10 last year — a move that has made the sport more enjoyable for her.

"The compulsories in elite are really hard," she said. "A lot of people told me I'd have a great time (at Level 10) because they knew I wasn't having fun. I never scored the scores I'm getting now."

Murphy, who competes for Blakes School of Gymnastics in West Bloomfield, was second in the state and 14th in the regional last year but did much better in 1993, especially in the latter meet.

She scored 73.60 all-around, which includes compulsory and optional

Canton, Salem post easy wins

SOCCER

Perhaps Plymouth Canton deserved a break after Monday's gritty 0-0 soccer deadlock against Plymouth Salem in the rain and mud.

The Chiefs followed that with a couple breathers, both shutout victories led by Leah Hutko.

Canton routed visiting Farmington Hills Harrison 7-0 Thursday. The Chiefs jumped out to 5-0 and never looked back.

The offensive attack was led by Hutko, who recorded a hat trick. Alyson Noune added two goals and an assist.

Julie Majewski and Angie Page also notched one goal each, while Majewski, Amy Westerhold, Mandy Salin and Melissa Tomei had assists.

"It was nice to play on a dry field for once," Canton coach Don Smith said.

The Chiefs were coming off a 4-0 win at Walled Lake Western on Wednesday in which Canton outshot the Warriors 41-1.

Hutko broke open a scoreless game with four minutes left in the first half, scoring after stealing a pass from a Western defender as she tried to pass it back to her goalie.

Four minutes into the second half, Hutko scored off a cross from Noune. Page made it 3-0 with an assist from Kara Moylan.

The final Canton goal was scored by Tomei with six minutes left. Salin recorded an assist on Tomei's goal.

"We had a lot of good shots, but they made the plays and their goalie made several good saves," Smith said.

■ PLYMOUTH SALEM

Senior forward Caryn Tatterton scored four goals Wednesday in Salem's 8-0 thrashing of host Walled Lake Central.

Kelly Lukasik, who had three assists, scored the first goal 14 seconds into the game, and the Rocks coasted from there.

Kris Goff notched a pair of goals and assisted on two others. Mari Hoff had one goal and one assist, Alexis Marinos and Julie Pond one assist each.

Mesha Chicon and Mandy Blumberg played a half each in goal for Salem, 1-1 in the Lakes Division and 3-1-2 overall. Central is 0-2 and 0-5.

Salem defender Michelle Cronan suffered a bruised foot in the Canton game and didn't play Wednesday.

Senior halfback Charu Sinha, who missed last season after having knee surgery, re-injured the knee and might have to miss the rest of the season, according to coach Ken Johnson.

Crusaders move step closer to capturing district crown

BASEBALL

Double-header sweeps of Tri-State University Thursday and Grand Rapids Baptist Friday moved Madonna University's baseball team one step closer to its coveted goal — an NAIA District 23 championship.

The Fighting Crusaders topped Tri-State 5-4 and 8-1 at Madonna University Park, then clubbed Baptist 10-1 and 10-0 in Grand Rapids to improve their district record to 18-4 — one loss behind leader Aquinas College. The Crusaders are 31-16 overall; they lost 16-13 in a non-district game at University of Toledo Wednesday.

The sweep of the Comets Friday wasn't too difficult. Joe Jentzer evened his pitching record at 2-2 with a seven-hitter, walking one and striking out seven. Marty Schramm was the loser for Baptist.

Jeff Pendell plagued the Comets throughout the twinbill. He went 3-for-5 with four runs batted in in the opener; he added three more hits and four more RBI in the nightcap, giving him a 6-for-9, eight RBI day.

Craig Overaitis slugged a two-run homer, one of his two hits, in the seventh inning of the opening game. T.C. Raptis got Madonna on the board in the first game with a two-run single in the second inning.

Pendell's two-run singles in the second and fifth innings sparked the Crusaders in game No. 2. Tad Dennis' pitching also excelled: In raising his record to 2-0, Dennis hurled a five-inning one-hitter, walking two and striking out two.

The game was stopped in the fifth by the 10-run mercy rule.

Matt Deja started and took the loss for Baptist, allowing six runs in four innings.

Joe Brusseau added two hits and an RBI, Rich Roy had a hit and two RBI and Scott Anderson had a hit and scored three runs.

Taking two

A comeback win over Tri-State in Thursday's first game got Madonna rolling. Trailing 4-2 going into the bottom of the seventh, Anderson got the Crusaders started with an infield single. Brusseau, Pendell and Raptis followed with walks, forcing in one run and summoning Kerry Snyder from the bullpen to relieve Tri-State starter Duane Gaerte.

Snyder threw one pitch to Roy, and he singled up the middle to score the tying and winning runs. Roy finished with two hits and three runs batted — he doubled in Madonna's first run in the third. Shaun Hayward also had two hits.

Louie McKaig ran his record to 6-1 with the victory. He went all seven innings, allowing four runs on five hits and four walks, striking out three.

The nightcap belonged to Madonna and pitcher Ryan Grabetz, who improved to 4-1 with a six-hitter. He walked two and struck out four, allowing one run on a wild pitch in the fourth inning.

Madonna scored four times in the fifth on an RBI single by Brusseau, a sacrifice fly by Pendell, Roy's run-scoring double and Hayward's RBI single. The Crusaders added four more in the seventh on Roy's two-run homer, George Leung's run-producing single, and an error.

Ken Hartsough took the loss for Tri-State, which fell to 6-11 in the district. Hayward had three hits and two RBI for Madonna, while Roy had two hits, two runs scored and three RBI, and Pendell and Brusseau each collected two hits and an RBI.

Madonna had a 9-1 lead going into the fifth inning at Toledo Wednesday, but Mike Coleman — who was working on a two-hitter through four innings — gave up six runs in the inning. The Rockets eventually won the game in the ninth on Trent Clark's one-out grand slam homer.

Madonna scored twice in the first on Hayward's two-run double; got three more in the third; added a pair in the fourth on Jeff Miller's two-run double; got back-to-back solo homers from Hayward and Overaitis in the fifth; and then got two-run homers from Pendell in the seventh and Roy in the ninth.

Hayward had four hits, scored twice and knocked in four runs; Roy had two hits and three RBI, scoring three times; and Overaitis and Pendell each added two hits and two RBI.

Brusseau had one hit and scored two runs. The hit was the 161st of his Madonna career.

scores, at the regional. She placed first on vault (18.725) and balance beam (18.225), second on floor exercise (18.25) and fourth on bars (18.40).

Murphy was first in every event at the state meet, scoring 19.0 on vault, 17.95 on bars, 18.2 on beam and 17.95 on floor and all-around total of 73.1.

"I think I was more prepared this year (for the regional) than I was last year," said Murphy, who has received letters from national champion Georgia, Alabama, Utah and Nebraska.

"After winning the state meet, I went into that meet feeling a lot better about myself, and I knew more of what to expect from the other girls."

Murphy chose not to do her difficult routines at the regional because of nagging knee and ankle problems. But her events were clean, and she had only two minor falls in eight routines.

"I decided not to do the higher-level tricks before nationals," she said. "I wanted to do clean routines and make sure I made it to nationals.

"I still have a few more weeks and time to concentrate on my routines and get the higher level in there.

"It also depends if I make them. If I do the higher-level tricks and fall, it's like I didn't do them. I have to make sure I hit my routines with the tricks in them."

Area bowlers have reason to be proud

The results are in and the winners of the 80th annual City Tournament are now official.

The Lewis Five team, captained by Westland's Paul Grauzer, won the Classic Division Actual with a record-seting score of 1,258, 1,148 and 1,161/3,567. Other members of the team are Redford's Jon Reed, Dick Beattie, Greg Lewis and Doug Evans.

In the Classic Division Handicap, the Otter's Bums squad, led by Dan Ottman of Troy, won the title with scores of 984-1,200-1,137(plus-360)/3,681.

Redford's Larry Franz teamed with Bob Chamberlain of Auburn Hills to take honors in the Doubles Actual event.

It's pretty clear that the Observer and Eccentric cities can lay claim to having the greatest number of good bowlers to be found in any one particular area. Since we are considered the bowling capital of the world, it is also evident that our bowlers are truly world class.

■ The Greater Detroit Young American Bowling Alliance (YABA) will hold its annual awards banquet on Thursday, May 20, at the Polish Century Club.

The event recognizes the many fine youth bowlers who have had success on the lanes this season. These all stars of tomorrow are the main building blocks for the future of the sport in this area.

For more information on YABA, call Lois Yost at 791-9230.

■ Who said newspaper people can't bowl? The Livonia office of the Observer and Eccentric sent a squad of 24 bowlers to the Saturday Night No-Tap Tournament at Westland Bowl.

No-tap bowling seems like it would be easy since nine pins toppled on the first ball counts as a strike, but it doesn't always work out that way. The "better" bowlers usually get their natural strikes and, if they miss, they invariably wind up with eight pins and settle for attempting to get a spare.

Jim Jimmerson, the Observer's production manager, happens to be an excellent kegler as well, scoring a 300 in his third game. A perfect no-tap game doesn't get the usual ABC recognition, but all the excitement is there just the same.

Jim and Clara Jimmerson bowl in the Greenfield Mixed League at Country Lanes. Jody and Bonnie Shaw had a combined total of 1,475 to take the fifth place prize money, while Jimmerson pocketed the third game jackpot.

Baker produces Canton victory

SOFTBALL

Plymouth Canton has more than one pitcher as senior Colleen Baker proved Thursday.

Baker struck out nine, walked one and scattered four hits to lead the Chiefs to a 10-3 victory over host Farmington Hills Harrison.

Canton is 2-0 in the Western Division and 5-1 overall, the Hawks 0-2 and 1-4.

Senior Kelly Holmes is Canton's No. 1 pitcher, but coach Jim Arnold has opted to use Baker several times early in the season.

"We're trying to get Colleen some work," he said. "She's an excellent picher. Many high schools would love to have her. I'm fortunate to have two good pitchers."

Harrison coach Mike Teachman was not surprised to see Baker on the mound instead of Holmes.

"(Holmes) has pitched so many innings; they should have her strong for the tournament," he said. "You have your short-range plans and your long-range plans."

Harrison pitcher Amy Geary also allowed only four hits but issued 15 walks.

Despite the loss, the game represented progress for the Hawks, who often were mercied and made more errors than just one Thursday in past years when they played Canton.

"We set different goals for this game and met almost every one of them," Teachman said. "They had to do with team play, not being intimidated and going seven innings. It was a good game for us."

Baker helped her cause with two hits and an RBI. Dani Mortiere also had two hits, including a two-run triple, and Tina Schafer had two RBI with a double.

Jenny Myslinski had two hits and scored two runs for Harrison, and Kelly Lacosse's sacrifice bunt produced an RBI.

■ PLYMOUTH CHRISTIAN

The Eagles won their 11th straight league game Thursday, 15-0 over visiting Huron Valley Lutheran.

PCA is 2-0 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference and 3-1 overall. The Eagles have outscored two league opponents 36-0.

Kristina Tilly pitched a three-hitter, struck out nine and walked seven.

Nancy Kobernick was 3-for-4 with two RBI, six steals and two runs. Jill Adams had two hits and two RBI with a double.

Lisa Erickson had a three-run double and two runs. Karin Reed (three runs) and Erickson (two runs) had five stolen bases each.

"The whole team ran the bases well," PCA coach Steve Ritchie said. "They had a weakness there and we took advantage of it. When we needed the girls to make a big play, they made it."

■ PLYMOUTH SALEM

Amanda Tubaugh and Amber Trombetta had three hits each in Salem's 10-3 win over visiting Farmington Thursday.

Tubaugh had two doubles, a triple, two RBI and scored two runs. Trombetta scored three runs.

Jenny Garvey was the winning pitcher, giving up eight hits but only three walks. She struck out one. Suzanne Carlson was the loser, allowing nine hits and seven walks.

Nicole Bingamen and Jenny Sever had two hits apiece for the Falcons. Bingamen, Dina Aon and Jenny Rush contributed one RBI each.

The Rocks are 1-1 in the Lakes Division and 1-3 in the league, Farmington 1-1 and 2-2 overall.

■ LIVONIA LADYWOOD

Mary Jo Kelly pitched a pair of victories Thursday, including a one-hitter in the nightcap, as host Livonia Ladywood swept a doubleheader from the Marlins, 10-2 and 4-1.

Kelly allowed only three hits in the first game, striking out 13 and walking four. She fanned 20 and walked seven overall.

Mindy Mrsan was the losing pitcher in the opener, giving up 11 walks. Debbie Dziekan took the second loss, striking out eight and walking six.

Kelly helped her cause with two hits and three RBI in the first game. Tara Wasiak also had two hits and one RBI, Lisa Rozum one hit and two RBI. Katie Heffernan had two hits and two RBI for Mercy.

Kelly Stokes (two runs), Lisa Donnelly (one RBI) and Christie Soter had one hit each for the Blazers in the nightcap. Glenda Lee had the lone Mercy hit, a slap bunt down the third-base line.

The Marlins are 1-3 in the Central Division and 1-4 overall, Ladywood 6-0 and 7-4.

Warriors edge Chiefs; Rocks crush Vikings

The Plymouth Canton boys track team takes a 2-1 dual-meet record into its matchup Tuesday against undefeated Salem (3-0) at CEP.

The annual Mangan Meet begins at 4 p.m.

The Chiefs fell to 1-1 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association with a 67-61 loss at Walled Lake Western Thursday.

Trailing by 10 points, Canton needed to finish one-two in the second-to-last event, the 3,200 meter run, to overtake Western. But the best Canton could do was a second-place finish by Dave Yack (10:30) and a third from Shawn McNamara (10:36.8).

"Yack ran an excellent race but couldn't hold on at the end," Canton coach Bob Richardson said. "We knew going in it would be close, by 10 points either way."

The Chiefs' 3,200 relay team of Justin McClain, Matt Demey, Kevin Gudeth and Jeff Keith placed first (8:35) to make the final 67-61.

Tom Raven was the Chiefs' only double winner, taking both the shot put (44-11) and discus (139-11) honors. His discus toss was a season best.

Damon Collier was Canton's other field-event winner, taking first place in the long jump (19-¼).

Gudeth won the 800 meters (2:05.1) and Keith was first in the 1,600 run (4:54).

The Chiefs' 1,600 relay team of Marques Nelson, Mike Erickson, Gudeth and Martin also took first (3:41.7).

Richardson is optimistic about Canton's chance against Salem.

"I think it'll be close again," Richardson said. "We have two or three guys who have nagging injuries and aren't running at full strength. But, hopefully, they'll be back at full strength."

■ PLYMOUTH SALEM

The Johnson and Johnson tandem led Plymouth Salem to its third dual-meet win Thursday.

The Rocks gained momentum for Tuesday's meet against Canton by sweeping the relays and winning every individual event but one in a 104-24 victory over visiting Walled Lake Central.

"This was a good meet for us," Salem coach Geoff Baker said. "Nothing against Walled Lake Central but we try to use it as a work meet. We double, triple and quadruple guys so they can get extra work.

"The times are dropping, and I think the Salem-Canton meet will be a dogfight."

Don Johnson was a triple winner, taking first place with a long jump of 20-7½ and first in both the 110 hurdles (15.3) and 300 hurdles (41.9).

Jeff Schumacher had Salem's other win in the field events, taking first in the shot put (43-10).

Derek Cudini was a double winner for the Rocks, crossing the tape first in the 1,600 (4:40) and 3,200 (10:16).

Other individual winners for Salem included Norm Alexander, 100 dash (12.1); Marcus Zevalkink, 200 dash (23.8); Russ Polcyn, 400 run (54.3); and Josh Stickney, 800 run (2:02).

The relay team of Zevalkink, Steve Schumacher, Adam Bakowski and Jay Casey won a pair of events: the 400 (46.2) and 800 relays (1:34.9).

Bakowski, Polcyn, Steve Schumacher and Mike Redmond won the 1,600 relay (3:45); Polcyn, Dave Karmann, Justin Richardson and Andy McDonald won the 3,200 relay (8:53.3).

CANCER (June 21 – July 22)

Thanks for the memories: Bob Hope turns 90 on NBC

By Dan Rice

NBC celebrates the 90th birthday of its longest-shining star in the three-hour gala Bob Hope: The First Ninety Years, airing Friday, May 14. The special features clips from Hope's 69-year show business career, dozens of guest stars and hosts Jay Leno, Walter Cronkite, Roseanne and Tom Arnold, Angela Lansbury, Paul Reiser, Garry Shandling, Tom Selleck and Betty White.

A veteran of more than 500 TV shows, Hope can and does draw up a birthday guest list the likes of which is seldom seen. Film co-stars Jane Russell, Phyllis Diller and Roy Rogers make appearances, along with Dale Evans, Johnny Carson, Candice Bergen, Donald O'Connor, Carol Burnett; John Forsythe, Garth Brooks, Colin Powell, Jack Klugman and Tony Randall. Also extending their regards are all six living American presidents: Clinton, Bush, Reagan, Carter, Ford and Nixon. Les Brown and his Band of Renown supply the tunes, and An Jilian, Rosemary Clooney, Whoopi Goldberg, Lucie Arnaz, Michael Richards and Dave Thomas perform. And just so Hope will have an elder with whom to swap quips, 97-year-old George Burns will be on hand.

Born Leslie Townes Hope on May 29, 1903, in Elthen, England, the perennial performer holds the distinction of being successful in every modern medium of entertainment; vaudeville, Broadway, radio, films and television. Hope even amused crowds in his short career as boxer Packy East. From his 1924 show business debut in a dancing act for the Fatty Arbuckle Revue to his string of Road pictures with Bing Crosby and his annual Christmas specials on TV, Hope has brought a smile to more faces than perhaps any other comedian. No doubt his most appreciative audiences have been those he journeyed around the world to reach—American servicemen.

"March Field, 1941: They asked me if I would come down there and do a show," Hope recalls of the beginning of his relationship with the military. "I said, 'Yes sir.' I went down, and the audience was so damned good I said, 'Wait a minute, how long has this been going on?' And I started doing bases around different places. Then, of course, World War II started, and I went all over the world."

Three-hour special a star-studded gala

organization and success of the United Service Organization (USO), Hope continued to take his act to the front lines throughout World War II, the Korean War, the Vietnam War and Operation Desert Shield, with "peacetime" jaunts to Beirut and the dismantled Berlin Wall thrown in for good measure.

Hope's genuine compassion for U.S. servicemen is well known, through few may be aware of the fact that in 1971 he applied for a visa to Hanoi, intending to offer the North Vietnamese government $10 million dollars for the release of American prisoners. Still, reports that U.S. servicemen were required to attend his performances in Vietnam and the idea that his presence seemed to sanctify the controversial conflict with portions of the public gave rise to the perception that he supported the war. Hope claims politics was not on his agenda.

"It didn't make any difference about the war," Hope says. "In Vietnam, we had thousands and thousands of American kids over there, and they needed entertainment. And whether the war was right or wrong, they needed entertainment, and they got a big kick out of it."

LET'S TALK

Foster caught on film many times before 'Accused'

By Taylor Michaels

Q: My friend and I have a bet, and we need your help. My friend says that when Jodie Foster starred in the movie* The Accused, *it was only her second or third major role. I say that she has had numerous roles in movies. Which of us is right? –Timothy Andrew Cannon, Sacramento, Calif.

A: You are. Born in 1962, Foster made her screen debut at the age of 10 with a starring role in Disney's Napoleon and Samantha. (She had been doing TV commercials and print ads since she was 3, including posing as the Coppertone child.) Foster played Becky Thatcher in 1973's Tom Sawyer, and as a teen had leading roles in Taxi Driver (1976), Bugsy Malone (1976), Freaky Friday (1977), Candleshoe (1977) and Foxes (1980). After taking time out for a Yale education, Foster returned to film work in adult roles.

Q: I saw a great picture years ago but can't remember its name. Leslie Caron played the daughter of Charles Boyer, who owned a bar. Caron fell in love with Horst Buchholz, who left to go to sea, and she found out she was pregnant when he was gone and married Maurice Chevalier. Can you tell me what the title is? –Ernestine Murphy, Sedona, Ariz.

A: The name of that film is Fanny, a 1961 feature which delighted audience members with lush photography and fine performances that were worthy of several Oscar nominations. Incidentally, the home video version of this film includes an animated short and previews of "coming attractions" Splendor in the Grass and The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone to simulate a night at the movies during that period.

Q: In regard to Lorenzo Lamas, now playing in the* Renegade *series, who is his real mother and is she still alive? –Ms. Daniel Bonillas, Soulsbyville, Calif.

Jodie Foster

A: Lamas is the fortunate son of actress Arlene Dahl (Jamaica Run, Kisses for My President), who is 64 years old, and actor Fernando Lamas, who has passed away. Lamas was once rumored to have told his mom, "Mother, I want to be a star ... I mean an actor," to which she replied, "I heard you the first time." Needless to say, Lamas' entertainment in-roads opened quite a few doors, the most notable of which was one leading to his starring role on Falcon Crest.

STAR NOTES

Eden believes in living life to the fullest

By Dan Rice

The star of the NBC movie Visions of Murder is one actress who found success at the bottom of a bottle – a genie's bottle, that is. Barbara Eden, who earned her place in TV history as the fantasy object of I Dream of Jeannie, portrays a psychotherapist experiencing frightening premonitions in the NBC thriller airing Friday, May 7.

Since completing Visions of Murder, Eden has joined the road company of Neil Simon's Last of the Red Hot Lovers, starring opposite Don Knotts. Stage work is not only fulfilling, but essential in her eyes.

"I think that actors are healthier if they do different types of media," Eden says. "If you do all film work or all stage work you become stale. [Variety] keeps you quick on your feet."

An accomplished singer, Eden has also starred in musicals including Woman of the Year and South Pacific, and has performed for more intimate audiences in her nightclub act.
