Jewish community seeks identity

Congregation Bet Chaverim is establishing roots in the Plymouth-Canton area with at least 15 families. The fledgling congregation invites other Jewish families and intermarried Jewish families in western Wayne County to join.

Wendy Sadler, Amy Rose and Debra Beck are pretty certain there's a group of people in western Wayne County that want to feel connected and part of a larger family.

"I would look to see who didn't have Christmas tree lights up," said Sadler of Canton. "We knew there had to be other Jewish people out there — unconnected. We wanted to start connecting with these Jewish families."

The three women and their families are among approximately 15 families — in Canton, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City, Northville and Redford — who learned of each other and got together to form Congregation Bet Chaverim.

"We're going to work with the needs of the people. A lot of the people have nowhere to go. My family is out of state," said Rose, who has lived in Canton for seven years.

The families got together about six months ago. Sadler is a teacher at Stepping Stones, Southfield, which is an educational program for intermarried families who have been unaffiliated with Judaism. Beck's daughter, Sarah, attends the program.

"She came home and said, 'Guess what mom, there's another Jewish person in Canton,'" Beck said. Rose's daughter, Rachel, also

Forms create flurry of work

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

The homestead exemption forms are rolling into Canton Township Hall.

"This building probably hasn't seen as many people in and out," said Treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter, whose office staff is accepting the affidavits.

Canton has approximately 15,000 pieces of property with houses on them, plus any new construction. The treasurer's staff had already put information from more than 2,000 forms into the computers ready for future tax bills by the last week.

But not everyone is just dropping off their forms. Some residents have questions, others complaints. "We have various opinions as people come to the counter. The comments are interesting. Some are irate. Some are happy to be able to get a tax reduction," Kirchgatter said.

Under the school finance reform initiative, homeowners must file an affidavit with the township, declaring their primary residence. Otherwise, their property will be categorized as a second home or business and be assessed 24 mills. Without the exemption form, assessors cannot distinguish between homestead and non-homestead property.

The original March 1 deadline is being changed by executive order of Gov. John Engler to May 1. Legislators will follow with legislation, said state Rep. Deborah Whyman of Canton.

"Once tax bills go out in July (summer tax bills), those people who for whatever reason have failed to submit . . . our department is not going to be real popular folk. We all need to be prepared for that," Kirchgatter said.

Dedicated skaters are on the cutting edge

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

For some, a fascination with figure skating continues when the Winter Olympics are over.

"It's that striving to get something perfect. You're in continuous competition with yourself," said Theresa McKendry, who teaches skating at the Plymouth Cultural Center for the city and for the Plymouth Skating Club.

"It's a good way for kids to express themselves. A lot of these girls are very creative," McKendry said, adding about 80 percent of those into figure skating are female.

"It's something that becomes part of your life," said Barb Miller, another skating instructor.

Learning to be an accomplished figure skater starts with "working on a lot of the forward crossovers and backward crossovers," Miller said, adding the U.S. Figure Skating Association designs classes for varying levels of ability.

To progress further on, skaters "have to know their edges," she said.

The edges are the outside edge, on the side of the foot facing away from the skater, and the inside edge, facing toward the other foot.

The first and easiest jump to learn is the waltz jump. Moving forward, the skater pushes off the left outside edge, and jumps making a half turn in the air.

The skater lands on the right outside edge, now skating backward.

This single jump is one of eight. "Single jumps are easy, double jumps are harder," Miller said.

"It's a block building sport. It's like a pyramid, there are so many basics.

If that first single jump — the waltz jump — is doubled, it becomes an "Axel." Other jumps have names like "Salcaow" and "Lutz," as TV skate fans already know.

One major thing a skater must overcome is fear of falling after missing a jump. "When they hurt themselves on a particular jump, it's hard to go back," McKendry said, adding, "They've got to do it again."

"I think it's important for them to do it that session," Miller said.

"Good figure skaters are girls that are very self-driven and self-motivated, girls that tend to perform well under pressure," McKendry said.

Miller has been teaching 14 years; McKendry, 11. Compared with when they started teaching, "The sport is completely different," McKendry said.

"Many girls are doing triple jumps at a younger age," she said, as they

Absentee ballots

Absentee ballots are available for the March 15 election on Proposal A, the school finance measure, from the Canton Township clerk's office.

If you want an application for an absentee ballot and did not receive one automatically, contact the clerk's office, 397-5367, to have one mailed. Applications are available through Saturday, March 12, when the clerk's office will be open 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Absentee ballots are due back at the clerk's office by 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 15, election day.

The clerk's office has already mailed out approximately 3,000 ballots, said Loren Bennett, township clerk.

Economic club

The Canton Economic Club will meet one week early at noon Wednesday, March 9, at St. John Neumann Catholic Church, 44800 Warren, Canton.

CANTON CONNECTION

The club will sponsor the annual Roundtable Discussion with the leaders of Canton and Plymouth. The panel will include Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, Plymouth Mayor Doug Miller and Plymouth Township Supervisor Kathleen Keen McCarthy. Discussion will include shared services and other areas of mutual interest.

Ballot meeting

State Rep. Deborah Whyman is hosting an informational meeting 7 p.m. Monday to answer questions and clear up confusion about the special March 15 school finance election. The meeting is at Canton Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center. The public is invited.

Mettetal meeting

The Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport Advisory Board will meet at 6 p.m. Thursday, March 3, in the Mettetal terminal building.

At 6 p.m., the board will review the state's airport layout plan, which will be sent to the Federal Aviation Authority. The regular board meeting will follow at 7 p.m.

Engler to speak

Gov. John Engler will talk about Proposal A 2:30-4 p.m. Friday, March 4, at the Fellows Creek Golf Club on Lotz Road. The event is open to the public and is free of charge. Reservations are requested.

Engler will give a brief presentation on Proposal A, followed by a question and answer period.

Canton hires new workers

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Canton Township is hiring a couple new employees and a consulting engineer in the municipal services department and computer services.

"I believe we will be able to fund 100 percent of this through public and private work associated with Pheasant Run," said municipal services director Aaron Machnik, about hiring a consulting engineer to coordinate projects in the golf course/residential development.

The township board approved Machnik's request for the engineer with Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May at $42 per hour, not to exceed $87,360 for 12 months.

The construction engineer is expected to coordinate related projects such as the three private subdivisions surrounding the Pheasant Run Golf Course, the golf course with its clubhouse and maintenance facility and the nearby township-owned community center, called Summit on the Park, which will soon go out for construction bids.

"There is a substantial amount of effort to coordinate all those functions," Machnik said.

Financing the position, however, was the problem. Machnik admitted that the construction engineer position is more expensive than hiring a consultant, which involves a delay in hiring a firm. "We were able to negotiate a price advantageous to the community," Machnik said.

The construction engineer would work 20 hours for the township and the other 20 or more hours for private projects, such as inspections, within Pheasant Run.

"Right now, I'm assuming this is just a one-year commitment we're signing up for?" Canton Treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter asked.

Machnik said he would return to the board in a year during which time the position will be evaluated.

Municipal services is also hiring someone as a project coordinator for planning services, who will coordinate the Downtown Development Authority project on Ford Road, as well as help with plan reviews and project coordination with the engineering department, as an example. Other routine duties would be switched to this position to allow the existing planning staff to focus on long-range planning, Machnik said.

The salary and benefit package for the employee would be about $35,000, with approximately $30,000 from the DDA administration budget. It's expected that the general fund budget will not be affected by the position because of transfers from other sources, such as charges to the development community.

"In my opinion, I think the DDA benefits dramatically," said Township Supervisor Tom Yack. "It allows us to accomplish a lot of things. It's a good deal for everybody."

A third new position, a programmer analyst, will help with the overload in the management information services department, which is computerizing and updating computerization in the township. Right now, two outside computer consultants are being used to develop computer applications.

The position, at a minimum salary of $30,600, will provide someone to help the existing two-person department. While coordinator Brad Thompson finds himself more in a managerial position, a programmer analyst now on staff is doing programming, but more help is needed, including backup services, hardware and training assistance.

"There's just no programming capacity in our department," Thompson said, adding programming is done in-house to be make programs compatible with township needs and tasks.

Orchestra plans festival performance

After earning the highest rating at the District No. 12 Solo and Ensemble Festival last month, the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park Orchestra will perform in the State Solo and Ensemble Festival on Saturday, March 26.

The PCEP Chamber Orchestra received a first division rating at the district competition, which was held at Franklin High School in Livonia. This rating allowed the group to advance to the State Solo and Ensemble Festival, which will be held at Eastern Michigan University.

Under the direction of H. Michael Endres, the group performed the "Concerto in D Major" by G.P. Telemann. The selection was judged by David Reed of Bloomfield Hills.

Ninth- through 12th-graders from Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools make up the 12-member PCEP Chamber Orchestra. Playing the violin are Salem junior Amy Andrysiak, Canton senior Piyush Bharti, Canton junior Steve Chang, Salem senior Jim Bennett, Salem sophomore Jennifer Ferrell, Salem junior Tiffany Fritz and Canton freshman Mai Lam. Playing the viola are Salem sophomores Leslie De Shazor and Damien James. Salem junior Diane Kowalski plays cello, Canton junior Janie Egan plays bass and Salem senior Julie Noricks plays piano.

Five students earned first division ratings for individual performances at the district competition and also will participate in the State Solo and Ensemble Festival. Earning first division ratings for violin solos were Salem senior Christian Hebel and Canton senior Piyush Bharti. Salem sophomores Leslie De Shazor and Damien James earned first division ratings for solo and duet performances.

The festivals are sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

Reading promoted

Fourth- and fifth-grade students throughout the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are participating in the 14th annual Book Bowl competition.

From January to March, participating students are reading as many books as possible from a list of 12 books selected by school district media specialists. In mid-March, the students who have read at least six books from the Book Bowl reading list will be eligible to take a written test. Students who earn the highest scores on the test will earn a place on one of their school's Book Bowl teams.

During the Book Bowl team competition, students will continue reading and taking tests on the various books. Members of the winning team from each school, along with their parents, will be invited to attend a celebration at the Canton Public Library on Thursday, April 21.

Multiple copies of the 12 books on the Book Bowl list were purchased by the Canton Public Library and the school district for each elementary school. Books included in this year's Book Bowl reading list are: "Aldo Peanut Butter" by Hurwita; "Attaboy, Sam!" by Lowry; "Beetles, Lightly Toasted" by Naylor; "Night of the Twisters" by Ruckman; "Shoeshine Girl" by Bulla; and "Jeremy Thatcher, Dragon Hatcher" by Coville.

According to district media specialists, the purpose of the Book Bowl competition is to motivate students to read, expose students to a variety of literature and improve students' reading comprehension.

Piano lecture scheduled

What do Fats Waller, Scott Joplin, and Oscar Peterson have in common with John Work, George Walker, and William Grant Still?

On Wednesday, the Livonia Area Piano Teachers Forum will present Gail Davis-Barnes in a lecture-recital titled "Piano Music of Black Composers," in which the above question and many others will be answered.

The program will begin 9:30 a.m. in the Hammell Music Store, 15630 Middlebelt, Livonia. The lecture-recital is open to the public. For information call 427-1597.

Barnes, pianist and teacher in the Ann Arbor area, has lectured and performed the music of black composers for school and community groups.

Driver's education registration planned

Registration for the Plymouth-Canton Community School District's summer driver education program is 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, March 26, in the Canton High School cafeteria.

Registration is scheduled based on the student's birth date. Students whose birth dates fall between Aug. 10, 1976, and July 18, 1979, may register for driver education this summer. March 26 will be the only registration day for driver education.

Students cannot register before their scheduled time period. If the student or parent cannot register at the scheduled time period, someone else may register for the student. The following is a schedule of registration times according to student birth dates:

Registration time 8 a.m., birth date Aug. 10, 1976, to April 30, 1978; 8:45 a.m., May 1, 1978, to July 31, 1978; 9:30 a.m., Aug. 1, 1978, to Oct. 31, 1978; 10:15 a.m., Nov. 1, 1978, to Dec. 31, 1978; 11:30 a.m., Jan. 1, 1979, to March 31, 1979; and 12:30 p.m., April 1, 1979, to July 18, 1979.

Students should pick up a registration form in the general office of Canton or Salem High School. Forms must be returned when registering on March 26.

There is no charge for the program. Students are required to purchase a workbook for the course at a cost of $15.75. This fee is payable at the time of registration.

Session one of driver education will be held June 20 to July 14. Session two will be held July 18 to Aug. 10.

Canton clerk sets sights on Michigan Senate

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Less government and more common sense is the prescription Canton Township Clerk Loren Bennett wants to write for the state of Michigan.

"There will be no one in the state Senate who will be more frugal than me. That's not campaign rhetoric. That's my record," said Bennett, who announced his Republican candidacy for the Eighth District state Senate seat Wednesday morning at Canton Place.

Bennett is seeking election to the seat now held by Democratic incumbent state Sen. Bill Faust. The Eighth District includes part of Canton, south of Ford Road, between Canton Center and I-275, and south of Cherry Hill Road, west of Canton Center and east of I-275. The district also includes the southern portion of Westland, Wayne, Van Buren, Romulus, Belleville, Sumpter, Huron, Brownstown, Woodhaven, Flat Rock and Rockwood.

Bennett criticized Faust. "While I have an enormous amount of respect and admiration for Sen. Faust, I believe he is part of the problem. He has consistently supported more government, not less. He has all too often been willing to stick taxpayers with the tab for programs that don't work and often make Michigan's problems worse," said Bennett, who was first elected as clerk in 1988 and re-elected in November 1992.

Introductions: Canton Township Clerk Loren Bennett greets senior adults Gertrude Allen and Virgie Jackson at Canton Place where he announced his Republican candidacy for the state Senate.

The township clerk said he will oppose tax increases and support budgets that reduce spending. "As Canton Township clerk, I have been able to manage a strict, lean budget. In the past five years, we have kept the cost of government down. We've dealt with the explosive growth in our community without raising tax rates," Bennett said. "We've done it with common sense management."

Bennett told the gathering of senior adults and township leaders that he supports Proposal A on the March 15 ballot. "I believe there is a component of the argument that is not being talked about," he added.

That's the underground economy of legal activities - such as house cleaning services, paid for under-the-table - as well as illegal activities, such as drug trafficking. Neither of these groups pay income tax on their earnings. But they do pay sales tax for items purchased.

"When that occurs we're capturing that whole underground economy," said Bennett, a lifelong Canton and Wayne County resident.

Bennett said he learned his common sense management and budget trimming in the private sector when he worked as a manager for British Petroleum, a controller for the Plymouth Hilton and his own real estate business.

"I know the men and women who live, work and raise their families here want a government that provides for the help and service they need and allows them the opportunities to prosper and provide for themselves, without having to shoulder the burden of a bloated bureaucracy," Bennett said.

He was recently elected vice chairman of the Michigan Underground Storage Tank Financial Assurance Policy Board and is a member of the Wayne County Solid Waste Implementation Committee. Bennett also has served as co-chairman of the Police Reorganization Committee, arbitrator for union grievances and member of a farmland preservation group.

Bennett and his wife, Terri, have two daughters, Wendy, 15, and Cindy, 10. "They absolutely support me in this decision," he added.

Eriksson fair brings science to life

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

The Detroit Science Center has nothing over Eriksson Elementary School. Nearly 100 science displays, demonstrations and experiments - the creations of Eriksson fifth-graders - filled the gym, lobby and media centers.

Visitors, including fellow students, middle schoolers, parents and Plymouth-Canton Superintendent John Hoben, toured the exhibits Thursday until 7 p.m.

Fifth-grade teachers at Eriksson traditionally have staged a "state" fairs, "world" fairs and musicals, something to remember fifth-grade by. "Every year we try to look at the kids and decide what their strengths are," said fifth-grade techer Carol Biro. "It seemed the strength of this class was science."

For many, the science fair was a family affair. "We wanted to encourage parents to work with students together as a team," said fifth-grade teacher Donna Jeziorski.

Students spent 14 weeks preparing presentations on topics ranging from cryogenics to steam-powered vehicles and the Morse code.

"Students went to school and public libraries, landfills and community resources to do their research," said Biro. "Kids did interviews with people in the field. To do projects on the heart, bones and the brain they went to medical people."

Brandon McKennon said he learned in doing his project, entitled "The Near Planets," that "Mercury is the hottest, because it's closest to the sun. If you look at it in a telescope, you can burn your eyes." He finds astronomy so interesting that he's considering becoming an astronaut.

In researching his "Space Shuttle" project, Mike Laitila said the most interesting thing he learned was "how you live in space. Pizza has to be liquid or frozen," he said.

Dean Guzman studied the human skeleton. "When you are a baby, you have 800 bones, and after you're born, you have 450. By the time you're a kid, you have 206, because the cartilage gets harder."

Dean's father, Arthur Guzman, came to the science fair on crutches. He tore and detached three ligaments skiing, and afterward received a thorough diagnosis from his son.

"Dean was showing me what part of my knee I injured, where the ligaments run and what their names are," he said.

Leigh Gladden researched and made her own crystals. "I've always admired crystals and their beauty, and wanted to learn about crystals, what they are, how they are made, and what we use them for," she said.

Leigh's exhibit included alum and diamond crystals, an amethyst geode, citrine crystals and rose quartz she made herself.

Other exhibits dealt with electricity, solar and lunar eclipses, artificial legs, insects, the solar system, assembly lines, plants, stalactites and stalagmites, the five senses and soils of the earth.

attends the program.

And that was the beginning.

The families meet once a month on a Friday for Shabbat or Sabbath services, rotating between each other's houses. They also meet usually on a Saturday once a month for social activities.

"It's almost like a co-op mentality. Everything we do is potluck. We rotate so everyone is a host and leads the services," Sadler said.

Rose, Beck and Sadler each speak of feeling unconnected before meeting each other. "I started looking (for other Jewish families) because of what is called the December Dilemma," Beck said, adding her son is the only Jewish boy in his class, which celebrates Christmas in one form or another.

The three families didn't want to live or belong to a congregation in Oakland County or Ann Arbor. Besides not being to afford living there, they want to form their own community where they enjoy living — western Wayne County.

"We want to let people know we are out here," Sadler said, encouraging other Jewish families and intermarried Jewish families to join the group. "It isn't a prerequisite (to be intermarried) or a criteria to join in. It just happens to be case for many of us. Spouses who are not Jewish also participate. We try to make them comfortable."

Anyone who is interested in joining the other families to continue forming the congregation should call Sadler on her beeper number, 630-8950.

"Besides religion, everyone gets along. We all enjoy each other," Rose said.

The families are getting ready for Passover during which they will have a Seder on March 27. The families will meet Saturday, March 12, to plan activites and conclude with a Havadallah, or closing of the Shabbat (Sabbath).

The congregation as of yet has no temple — they follow Reform Judaism — or a rabbi. So far, the congregation has formed a board of directors and is creating bylaws.

Probably the next step is Hebrew School for their children, particularly those approaching the bat mitzvah (for girls) and bar mitzvah (for boys) age of 13. "We have a group of kids who need a Jewish education," Sadler said. "Anyone who can read Hebrew can teach Hebrew. That's really the only criteria."

The families are also happy that their children get along so well. "It is wonderful to see the total interaction of all these kids. That is a good symbol — the warmth, the generosity," Sadler said.

are able to jump higher and get better rotation.

And after the 1992 Winter Olympics, the actual skating of figures on the ice surface was dropped from higher competition.

"There's more stress on being athletic," Miller said.

While a lean physique is considered good for skaters, "There's a lot that don't have that, but they excel in other areas," Miller said.

Figure skaters serious about competing progress from regional to Midwestern to national competition. The Plymouth Figure Skating Club has had members make it to national competition, including Jennifer Katulski of Livonia who placed eighth in the novice ladies category at the U.S. Figure Skating Association competition in January in Detroit.

Skating classes happen year round at the arena in eight-week sessions, with one 25-minute lesson per week.

They also offer private lessons with the Plymouth Figure Skating Club, which includes members from Canton, Northville and other neighboring suburbs.

Canton residents received their forms from the state. That means you must put your property identification number — listed on tax bills — on the affidavits. If you can't find that number, Kirchgatter suggests stopping by or calling her office, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, at 397-5371.

Despite the deadline extension, Kirchgatter urges residents to get their forms in as soon as possible because of the amount of work required to put the information into the township computer system. Already, the staff is working some overtime to keep up with the incoming affidavits, Kirchgatter said.

"It is one more example of the state mandating the locals to do something with no guidelines and little money to follow," Kirchgatter said.

Some residents have asked Kirchgatter for receipts when they drop off their forms. Receipts are not given. Refunds from a tax reduction also are not given. That likely will come through mortgage companies. Kirchgatter reminds residents that the tax reduction — to 6 or 12 mills — does not include the Plymouth-Canton school district's debt millage, which is just less than 3 mills.

"Try to bear with us. We are not the people responsible for this," Kirchgatter said, referring to confusion over the affidavits.

Volunteer nominated for award

Niles Beaugrand of Plymouth has been nominated for a Concerned Citizen of the Year award, sponsored by Citizens Insurance Co. of America.

"This year's nominees are inspirations to us all," said Sheila Wright of Citizens Insurance Co. "Thanks to their volunteer efforts, we all have better communities in which to live, and the awards program is our way of thanking them."

Proposal A

Government groups have little enthusiasm

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Only the Michigan Townships Association likes Proposal A, the school finance reform plan on the March 15 ballot.

The Michigan Municipal League, composed of 500 cities and villages, is opposed.

Neutral are the Michigan Association of School Boards and Michigan Association of Counties.

"MTA says everyone must play a part (in school reform). The townships will play a part by accepting a cap on assessments," MTA staffer Pat McAvoy told the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

She referred to Proposal A's 5-percent cap on growth in assessments, which actually will mean a smaller percentage growth in revenue, because business and farm property values haven't increased as fast as residential property.

"We're willing to take that cut in revenue to support school finance reform," McAvoy said.

"Proposal A provides guarantees that (new sales-tax) revenues will go into the school aid fund," McAvoy said, citing the MTA board's primary reason for endorsing the plan.

"School (property) taxes (under A) can't be increased without a three-fourths vote of the Legislature," she said, citing the second reason.

"For all the reasons MTA supported A, we opposed it," said John Niemala, lobbyist for the Michigan Municipal League. MML's statement said most municipalities would see service cuts "as local officials scramble to cope with reduced funds."

The assessment cap, Niemala said, "will require assessors to keep two sets of books — one with the assessed value and one with market value."

Niemala said Proposal A would amend the state constitution by removing language clearly guaranteeing 15 percent of the current 4-percent sales tax to cities, villages and townships.

MML also opposes Proposal A because it would "nearly eliminate" tax increment financing to pay for local industrial, commercial and downtown economic development. Proposal A will halt cities' "revenue capture" of school property taxes.

The Michigan Association of Counties hasn't taken a position because "there are not enough data to tell the fiscal impact," said MAC lobbyist Ron Wilson.

Lowering school property taxes from 35 mills to 24 mills or less will mean fewer tax delinquencies, Wilson said, and that will cost many mid-sized counties $250,000 a year in delinquency fees.

Linda Beers, lobbyist for the neutral Michigan Association of School Boards, said Proposal A doesn't fully protect school revenue.

"I've removed 'guarantees' from my vocabulary," said Beers. "Only the sales tax is earmarked constitutionally. Other taxes are only statutorily earmarked."

She said school districts no longer will be able to sell bonds to finance technology, re-equipping, and remodeling of buildings. And she deplored the "bidding war" state politicos are waging for the support of interest groups.

MASB has taken no position on Proposal A, she said.

Beers added that income-tax revenues have grown 102 percent in 10 years while sales-tax revenues have gone up 82 percent. Proposal A would raise the sales tax to 6 percent and lower the income tax to 4.4 percent. If voters reject Proposal A, the income tax will rise to 6 percent.

S'craft plans home improvement day

They couldn't get Tim Allen, but Schoolcraft College has forged ahead and will host the first annual "Home Improvement Seminar" from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, April 9.

No, this won't be an insightful analysis of the recurring comedy themes in Allen's television show, but rather a demonstration regarding minor construction work around the house.

The seminar consists of 10 90-minute, hands-on clinics revealing the mysteries of ceramic tile installation, glass block installation, kitchen design ideas, wallpapering, and toilet installation, each offered twice; plus one three-hour clinic on basic deck construction.

According to Kathy Simonelli, a program technician in Schoolcraft's Continuing Education Department, participants will be permitted to handle materials and perform some of the work like "wallpapering around tricky areas" and handling the glass blocks. "You could learn a whole lot in one day," she said.

Each person will get a 10-percent discount coupon from Handy Andy and a chance to win the 8-by-8-foot deck that will be assembled in the deck clinic. Handy Andy personnel will transport the deck to the winner's abode, but installation is up to the winner.

Handy Andy will provide all the instructors: regional training coordinators Rick Dobbert and Greg Smith, kitchen and bath coordinator Dan Philips, and in-store demonstrator Tom Tilney and Chris Sneddon.

Vendors in attendance will be Walker Williams Lumber, Tafco Glass Block, Norcraft Cabinets, Kraftmaid Cabinets, Starmark Cabinets and Contempo Laminates.

Simonelli, who moved into a Canton Township house a year ago, said she's a home improvement aficionado, too.

"I'm a real Handy Andy kind of person," she said. "I like to do this stuff."

The cost for all this is $30, of which Simonelli said, "I don't think you can beat the price." To register, call 462-4448.

Applications being accepted for scholarship

The Schoolcraft College Foundation is accepting applications for the 1994-95 Foundation Scholar Award.

The $1,100 scholarship covers tuition and fees.

To be eligible, candidates must be Schoolcraft students, have completed 30 credit hours by the end of the spring 1994 semester, have a minimum 3.0 grade point average, be enrolled as a full-time student carrying a minimum of 12 credit hours and plan to be a full-time Schoolcraft student in the fall 1994 and winter 1995 semesters.

Applications are available in the financial aid office. The deadline to submit applications is May 2. For more information, call 462-4433.

Spring picnic reservations go on sale at parks office

The Wayne County Parks System begins taking reservations for outdoor picnics beginning Tuesday, March 1.

Firm makes loans available to individuals with troubled credit

There are many reasons why millions of Americans fall victim to credit problems every year. From maxing out credit cards to more sobering causes including loss of employment, family growth, medical emergencies and poor training in personal and household financial management.

Fortunately, there is now a local company making consolidation and new purchase loans available to people in these situations. We asked Bill Cunnington, Vice President of Security Home Loan...

Who is eligible for one of these loans?
We will work with individuals who have equity in their homes and have had debt problems of one type or another.

How does the loan work?
We take people who are living from paycheck to paycheck and consolidate all of their obligations into one lower payment. In fact, the average person will save from 30 to 40 percent a month with a consolidation of this type.

How can someone apply for one of these loans?
At Security, we pre-approve people over the phone at no charge. At that time, we also give the person an idea of how much money we can save them.

Call Bill Cunnigton at Security Home Loan (810) 669-4334 if you are interested in having a payment anaylsis done.

Marking time with real style

It's about time I devoted a column to that which passes all too quickly. Yes, time flies and if you measure time by the face of your Seiko or Timex, you may be a bit out of synch with the newest trends in timepieces. The Swiss are once again the premier watchmakers of the world and to discover the companies that are household names to Europeans and astute collectors, you need only a brief visit with Dion Zaniewski, master horologist.

Zaniewski pursues the science of time measurement at his shop, Dion's World of Watches, in the Crosswinds Mall, 4301 Orchard Lake, West Bloomfield.

What's the newest trend in watches? Believe it or not, quartz is out and mechanical (you wind it) is in. "There's a certain tradition, nostalgia in mechanical watches," says Zaniewski. "You can hear it ticking, can see it working."

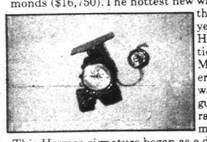
Zaniewski wears a Krieger mechanical chronograph ($3,000). It has what he calls a PhD, or certificate of accuracy, that attests to the superior quality of the instrument. It is also engraved with a serial number that identifies it as yours alone. Only the best Swiss companies offer this certification. They include Rolex, Chopard and Chronoswiss.

In praise of the mechanical watch, Heidi Kamber of Bloomfield Village has worn her distinctive manual-wind Cartier for the past 15 years. It still keeps perfect time, but she also secretly loves her daughter's bright-faced Swatch.

Tres chic

The most expensive watch that Zaniewski has sold in his shop was a handmade limited-edition Swiss Chopard ($35,000). The company made only 50 and four came to the United States. "The watch took over a year to produce and encased 650 hand-crafted parts.

The Chopard collection includes an 18 karat rose gold skeleton-back beauty ($4,500) and a lady's gold watch face surrounded by floating diamonds ($16,750).The hottest new watches to hit the U.S. this year are the Hermes creations. The Medor is a covered fashion watch distinguished by its raised gold pyramids ($1,100).



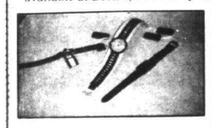
This Hermes signature began as a dog collar, evolved into a belt design and can now adorn your wrist.

The Kelly watch by Hermes is a replica of the famous Grace Kelly handbag with the characteristic padlock attached ($850-$900).

Sports watches

Sports watches are another skyrocketing market and the European leader is Sector. They sponsor No Limits athletes, those extremists who endeavor the world's most challenging feats. These rugged timepieces are Swiss made of Italian design and, according to Zaniewski, are the best value for your dollar ($198-$1,695).

Another one-of-a-kind watch design is that of Alain Silberstein, architect turned watchmaker. The industry loves his signature squiggly second hand and triangle-shaped hour hand. His limited-edition professional diver's watch ($6,500) is available at Dion's, one of only 100 in the U.S.Finally, my favorite, the vintage-look Chronoswiss rimmed in etched silver with hand-cut steel hands and a leather band. It has a classic turn-of-the-century dial ($4,950). But Americans still love Rolex, the best mass-produced watch on the market. Leon Landsberg and his wife of Farmington Hills, both own Rolexes and trust them to no one but Dion. "Dion's the greatest. He's honest and saves you money," gushed Landsberg.



When it's time to replace that Rolex, look to Chopard, Breguet, Vacheron Constantin, Piguet, the most respected names in Europe and the pride of Switzerland, the Land of Time.

Jake's bridal show glitters at the Fox

The highlight of Jacobson's first Bridal Fair was a fashion show that lasted almost two hours on stage at the Fox Theatre in Detroit.

Planning a wedding is both joy and jitter, so Jacobson's Bridal Fair, "The Making Of A Great Wedding" at the Fox Theater Tuesday night, sounded like a good idea to hundreds of metro-Detroit brides. The place was packed.

"I came to Jacobson's bridal show because I saw the ad on television, and I wanted to see Jacobson's selection of bridal gowns and get some ideas for my wedding," said Agnes Burke of Canton. Indicating her fiance, she added "He's here because I made him come."

Her fiance, Larry Niemi of Redford, laughed and added, "That's true, but we're both getting ideas for our August wedding."

The couple made their way through a thick crowd of brides-to-be, mothers, fiances and bridesmaids toward tables set with china, crystal, silver and flowers — all very glamorous and elegant under the light from flickering candles and sparkling chandeliers in the tri-level lobbies of the Fox Theatre.

Musicians played wedding tunes, vocalists sang selections from love songs, photographers displayed unusual wedding shots, and there were florists and bakeries to consult with.

Caterers served meatballs, chicken wings, fruit, cheese and vegetable dips. Drinks were available, and representatives from several homeware companies were on hand to discuss their products.

By all appearances, Jacobson's first bridal show — "The Making of a Great Wedding" — was a big success.

TV premiere

But the event goes beyond Feb. 22's festivities. Fox 50 television will turn it into a one-hour bridal special set for broadcast at 7 p.m. Saturday, March 19.

"In the past the print media — magazines and newspapers — have done the job of informing brides about trends, new products, bridal party and honeymoon fashions," said Debbie Carnago, of TV 50.

"This broadcast will use television as the medium to convey product information and fashion in a way that's both entertaining and informative. People at Waterford and Estee Lauder are very excited about bringing the retail industry into television."

Interspersed with live footage from the Fox Theatre fashion show will be segments about china patterns and cappuccino machines available at Jacobson's. There will also be opportunities for viewers to call in and win door prizes, just like the members of the audience did at the live bridal show.

The show will be produced by Toby Cunningham, who has worked Jacobson's on the event.

"Jacobson's is going after the younger customer, the 25-49-year-olds," said Carnago. "These people are very influenced by television."

Janice Hayes, spokeswoman for Jacobson's, said the company decided to host a first-class bridal fair this year to coincide with Jacobson's February debut of a computerized bridal and gift registry and the assignment of a gift registry coordinator at each

Bridal consultants can make a difference

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

According to the Association of Bridal Consultants based in New Milford, Conn., a recent survey by Brides Magazine revealed that 87 percent of Amercian brides knew about the services of professional bridal consultants, but only 7 percent used them.

Gerard Monaghan, president of the ABC, expects that figure will grow because brides and their mothers, the traditional wedding planners, now work outside the home and don't have the time it takes to listen to 16 bands, visit several florists to compare prices, or consult with dozens of bakeries about cake designs and deliver, dates.

Doris Carter of Livonia recently became a professional bridal consultant after years of working at the Golden Rings Wedding Chapel in Plymouth. She said brides should consider working with a bridal consultant for three reasons — a bridal pro can save a family time, money and aggravation.

"We do all the legwork after learning the bride's preferences and budget," Carter said. "We run around so she doesn't have to.

"Next, we can get discounts on flowers, bands, photographers, etc. because we bring these vendors repeat business.

"Finally, we know the vendors. We've done the research on their qualifications and dependability."

Carter said a bridal consultant will coordinate the entire wedding for a couple and arrive early the day of the wedding to make sure everyone does what he's supposed to do when he's supposed to do it. The bride and her family stay free of worry and responsibility to enjoy the day and their guests.

Her price? Ten to 15 percent of the total cost of the wedding. Carter refused to discuss the "average cost of a wedding," pointing out that it all depends on the size, the tastes of the bride, and the kind of reception planned. "Some cost $2,000, others can go as high as $100,000," she said.

"It's important the bride have the kind of wedding she wants for the money she has to spend," Carter said.

"I respect the gal who knows what she wants before she comes to see me. She's looked at a few bridal books, read a few articles on etiquette. Knows her flowers. Last year, one gal I worked with had her bridesmaids attired in the sharpest black suits

Jacobson's store. (Ann Massey has the title in the downtown Birmingham store; Melissa Champine is registry coordinator at the Rochester store at Great Oaks Mall, and Oresta Pierce heads the department at the Livonia store at Laurel Park Place.)

Mark Rosenfeld, CEO of Jacobson Stores Inc., told the audience in opening remarks before the fashion show that Jacobson's is "one-stop shopping" for all bridal needs, from wedding invitations through honeymoon attire, a marketing strategy he revealed to Observer & Eccentric readers in November in a Malls & Mainstreets story about the company's 125th anniversary.

Rosenfeld said the company will work hard to expand their bridal business in every department, from stationery to bridal attire to home furnishings.

Celina Hernandez and Tony Crites of Berkley plan to be married in July. They came to the Jacobson's bridal fair "to make some decisions about our wedding plans."

Did the event help? "Oh yes," Tony answered. "We saw some things we like and some things we wouldn't want. It's all becoming a little clearer."

Karen Kleinfelt, a member of Hudson's public relations staff and also a bride-to-be, was spotted in the crowd. "Just checking out the competition," she laughed. "I'm registered at Hudson's."

She compared Jacobson's Bridal Fair to the one Hudson's has been hosting for years each January at the Southfield Pavilion. "They did a good job, but it's just too crowded at all the bridal booths. They needed more room."

The bridal fashion show was expanded to include special-occasion attire for before-the-wedding parties and honeymoon resort wear for after the wedding vacations. The 90-minute show featured bridal party ensembles categorized by color and type of wedding. The set changed several times, adding a theaterical touch to the presentation. A guest performance by flutist Alexander Zonjic mid-show was a wonderful surprise.

Emcee Linda Carter was delightful in her duties, despite difficulties with a TelePrompTer that was hard to read. She made a brief ples for participation in Detroit's Race for the Cure, Saturday, April 9, at the Detroit Zoo. She reminded the audience a portion of the ticket price would be donated to the Susan G. Komen Foundation for breast cancer research and education. She asked that additional donations be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation at 1-313-833-0710.

"The only requirement was that they be knee-length. It really worked. The bride wore a white, floor-length gown and the party looked stunning — and saved themselves a fortune."

Carter works from her home in Livonia and welcomes inquiries at (313) 427-2122.

Marcia Masserman of Southfield has been coordinating weddings for 28 years. She said, "I've seen everything, I can work with anything," adding that she best serves her clients by directing their bridal budgets to "bring them the best for their money."

Masserman charges $35 for an initial consultation and refunds the fee if she is hired. Her fee then becomes $3 per guest in attendance.

"I do everything for the couple except help them with wedding attire. I even address and mail their invitations. They just show up on their big day and enjoy the festivities," she said.

In this age of second marriages, third marriages, mixed-religion marriages and mixed racial marriages, a bridal consultant must be flexible, yet know what etiquette is required, she said. So she extends this service to her clients.

"I can be as sophisticated as the next person, but there is still wedding protocol and courtesy that extends through all ethnic backgrounds," she said.

Masserman said common sense is usually the rule. Her forte is being creative as well as organized. She knows who to call to get things done right.

"Couples can really personalize their weddings through their table settings and the favors they give their guests," Masserman said. "There are a lot of options and choices out there these days." She also welcomes inquiries at her home (313) 557-8542.

Kroger's, teachers fill stomachs, hearts

JULIE BROWN

Nancy Spinelle knows her kindergartners at Tyler Elementary School in Livonia need a little help learning. She knows learning's tough to do on an empty stomach.

Spinelle, a Westland resident, is on the Livonia teachers union's board of directors, handling community relations efforts. She and her fellow educators were concerned about students who come to school hungry.

Those concerns led to a commendable effort, the Food To Share program. Union members work with Kroger staffers to provide food vouchers for needy families.

"We see kids come in, and they're not always getting food that's beneficial to them. If kids come to school hungry and don't receive proper nutrition, absolutely" they aren't able to learn, she said.

The Livonia program is operated with the assistance of St. Edith's, Holy Cross Lutheran and Ward Presbyterian churches. The program's been under way for about a year, and already $5,000 has been raised to help feed the hungry.

The idea's a simple one, and a good one. And it has spread to the Plymouth-Canton community, where more than 20 churches are working to have it in place by the spring, and to Farmington, where members of the Farmington teachers union are getting involved.

Educators, church members, store officials and others willing to get involved are to be commended for their efforts. It's all too easy to overlook the needs of the "working poor" in our communities, to pretend they don't exist or don't need our care and compassion. Food To Share partnerships help to overcome that perception and put food on tables where it's needed.

Kind-hearted shoppers at the grocery stores spend a certain amount over their own grocery bill, keeping the receipts for tax purposes. Kroger takes care of the accounting work; based on what's contributed the previous month, that amount is made available to needy residents the following month.

"I read a newspaper article last fall about a program going in Livonia," said the Rev. Bryan Smith of Canton, pastor of Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton. He contacted Spinelle and talked to her to get some ideas on how such a program could be set up in Canton and Plymouth.

Many churches, including Smith's, operate food banks. Geneva members alone distribute 30 bags of groceries each month. The problem is those facilities aren't able to provide fresh produce, meat and dairy products, which require refrigeration.

There's the question of dignity, too, organizers agree. Spinelle heard about one woman who was brought to tears and said, "What you've done for me is brought back my independence."

"That really made me feel great," Spinelle said. "We thought, 'Yes, it's working.' "

All the money raised has gone back into the program. Spinelle doesn't expect the Livonia program will come to an end — "as long as Kroger is willing to work with us, and they've been wonderful."

Help isn't limited to those with children in school or to members of certain churches, she emphasized.

The Livonia program began with the store at Eight Mile and Farmington roads and was expanded to include the other Kroger store at Five Mile near Merriman. The Plymouth-Canton program will include the store at Sheldon and Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township and on Sheldon north of Ford in Canton.

In Plymouth-Canton, the local Salvation Army will serve as a clearinghouse, making sure the help only goes to the truly needy. The three Livonia churches, which operate year-round food banks, provide a similar service, according to Spinelle. Vouchers given to the needy can't be redeemed for cigarettes or alcohol.

"We do want to be sure the money is being spent for food," said Tom Chrzanowski, president of the Farmington teachers union. He's pleased to see his union getting involved.

March 21 is the anticipated kickoff date in the Farmington community, said Chrzanowski, a math teacher at East Middle School in the Farmington district. Shoppers would begin to contribute on that date; following some time for accounting work, money would be made available to the needy.

Two Farmington district teachers, Rose Galvin and Dan Schneider, are coordinating the efforts at two Farmington-area Kroger stores, on Middlebelt just south of 11 Mile and on 12 Mile just west of Halsted. Each teacher is working with managers at each store.

Farmington teachers union members will depend on a local social service agency, perhaps Neighborhood House, to provide screening of eligible families and individuals.

Neighborhood House has a food pantry and can serve as a clearinghouse for the Food To Share program in the Farmington community, Chrzanowski said.

The Farmington district's southeastern corner has some lower-income residents who need such help, he said. Needy families are something of which local educators are aware.

Spinelle's heard the teachers union in the Redford Union district is beginning to organize a Food To Share effort.

All those individuals and organizations concerned about the health and well-being of their communities are to be commended for getting involved.

Perhaps this first-rate idea will spread to neighboring communities and to other organizations.

Private vs. public schools: Playing field differs

DOC DOYLE

QUESTION: We are considering taking our son out of public high school and putting him in a private, denominational school. He skips school and his study habits are poor even though his test scores are high. He is in trouble with his teachers and the principal all the time. I don't think the public school is doing the job with my son. Also, I've heard that private school teachers are more dedicated than public school teachers.

ANSWER: The private schools, such as Catholic Central, Lutheran West (and others), offer students an excellent education; no doubt about it. I know, I attended Catholic schools as a child.

The private, denominational school setting is safer, has fewer discipline problems and ha. many outstanding teachers. However, if we are going to compare the private and the public educational systems, let's determine if we are on a level playing field.

Let's start with something simple, a dress code, and look at the differences.

Private School Dress Code: Adolescents entering a private denominational school are handed a list of requirements, including the acceptable (not recommended) dress code. Ron Horwath, a teacher for years in a private Catholic high school before ending up a principal in Northville, says, "We told the students that being properly dressed makes them ready for the world of work. If they didn't dress properly, after a few warnings, we sent them back to the public school. No lawsuits . . . a done deal."

Public School Dress Code: Public school administrators fought the dress code battle for decades — an unbelievable amount of time and taxpayer's money was spent on lawsuits. It was taking too much time from what a public school administrator is supposed to be: an educational leader, not a surrogate parent. What is proper dress in the public schools is now open for discussion and for consultation with the adolescent and generally handled quietly to avoid court cases.

So from the very get-go, those entering the private school setting are literally told what they will wear before even getting into a class. And there is an old saying: Set the standard early, enforce the little issues and the big ones won't even arise.

I personally believe in a reasonable dress code, especially in this day and age of youth gangs. I also believe teachers, who are now being paid professional wages, should dress as a professional and set the tone. A few teachers I knew wouldn't be let in a restaurant dressed the way they come to school, and some are excellent teachers. But, hey, I guess I'm just old fashioned. I still consider teaching a professional occupation.

Student Behavior: As far as acceptable student behavior goes, the private schools have a great edge. Private schools are wonderful for those adolescents who are border line problems (possibly like your son) and can document thousands of success stories. However, those adolescents with severe behavioral problems are dumped right back on the public schools. Not that private schools don't care, but they don't have the money or resources (special ed) to deal with certain children. So it's simply not a level playing field when one compares private and public education.

Private schools generally select those students who have good grades and good test scores. They then set the rules, enforce the rules and send back those who don't wish to take advantage of the opportunity. Public educators set the rules, and then are told what they can and will do by lawyers and the courts.

Consider just one issue: Locker checks (for drugs, knives). At one time it was ruled public school administrators couldn't check lockers for drugs, knives and guns; this infringed upon a student's constitutional rights, his/her privacy. Do you think a private school principal cares what lawyers or the ACLU thinks? It simply is not a level playing field.

All this withstanding, if we set up a public vs. a private school olympics, the event being who are the brightest and the best put-together adolescents, it would be a draw.

Public education's top 20 percent students, in quality school districts, are as bright or brighter as any private school's product. And keep in mind, the private schools deal with the top 20 percent of the student population, while public education handles the other 80 percent, those who don't qualify for a private school setting.

As far as private school teachers being much more dedicated to teaching than public school teachers, I must have missed the boat. As a central office administrator, I continuously received telephone calls or letters from people who wanted me to help their wife, son or daughter who were presently teaching in a private school get a job in a public school setting. The obvious reason being the much better fringe and retirement benefits, a powerful teacher's contract and a salary sometimes triple what they could make in the private school setting. I guess money talks.

I suggest you keep a seat warm for your son in his present public school.

ST. MARY HOSPITAL

You share the same body, the same life-giving nutrients for nine months. Each of you affects the other in countless ways.

Why is it then that many hospitals treat you and your baby like completely unrelated people?

OUR NURSES SEE THEM AS STILL BEING ATTACHED

You stay in your room. Your baby stays in the nursery. And you're each cared for by a different nurse.

A better way

At St. Mary Hospital we offer a better way to begin. A personal nurse takes care of you and your baby together to encourage the best possible start. So your nurse can tell how your comfort level, moods and medication may be affecting your baby. And how your baby's behavior influences you. This new way of caring is called mother-baby nursing.

Mother-baby nurses

With mother-baby nurses, you can learn by watching the nurse care for your newborn at your bedside instead of out of your sight in a nursery. If you have a question about your baby, the nurse can answer it immediately. You won't have to wait for the "baby nurse."

The Miracle of Life Maternity Center at St. Mary Hospital has mother-baby nursing all the time. More support, more education. It's a better way of caring.

To learn more about the benefits of mother-baby nursing call 313-591-2882. Ask for a free brochure, tour, or physician referral.

"Really Rosie," a new musical by Maurice Sendak and Carole King, will open on stage in Livonia this weekend by Tinderbox Productions of Redford.

The play, first done in this area last summer, will begin at 7 p.m. Friday and at 3 p.m. Saturday in the auditorium of the Livonia Civic Center Library, Five Mile east of Farmington Road. All seats are $4. The musical is recommended for ages 5 through adult.

The presentation, sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission, is produced and directed by Nancy Florkowski of Redford, a drama teacher at Pierce Middle School. Reservations can be made or tickets obtained by calling Florkowski at 535-8962.

Cast members are Celia Keenan-Bolger as Rosie, Jenny Florkowski as Kathy, Maggie Keenan-Bolger as the alligator, Joe Garreffa as Johnny, Bradley Ellison as Pierre, Andrew Keenan-Bolger as chicken soup and the lion, and Caryle Schober as Rosie's accompanist.

Performers will dance, sing

The Plymouth-Canton Park Players will present the musical, "The 1940s Radio Hour," at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, March 18, 19, 25 and 26, in the Salem High School auditorium.

The play is set in the 1940s during the time "pre-television" audiences enjoyed radio shows. According to drama teacher Gloria Logan, who is directing and designing the set for the play, the stage will be set as the studio of a large radio station.

Jitterbug, tap and ballroom dances will be performed during this musical, which will feature a variety of big band and other tunes. Featured songs in this musical include "Five O'Clock Whistle," "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," "Have Yourself A Merry Little Christmas," "Blue Moon," and "Our Love is Here to Stay."

Tickets may be purchased in the Salem auditorium 7 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Monday through Friday or by calling 416-7723. Reserved seat tickets are $6 and general admission tickets are $5.

Yellow brick road leads to Penn

To kick off the spring season, the "I Care" Committee will present "The Wizard of Oz" at the Penn Theater in Plymouth at 2 p.m. Saturday, March 19.

Participants will see one of the world's best-loved classics on the Penn Theater's big screen.

Admission is $1 for persons of all ages. Tickets will be on sale at the door. The Penn Theater is located at 760 Penniman in Plymouth. The event is sponsored by the "I Care" Committee, a community-school involvement organization which supports the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Ensemble to appear at Canton church

The Christ Community Reformed Church of Canton will host a performance of the Northwestern College of Iowa Drama Ministries Ensemble at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 10.

Under the direction of Jeff Barker and Karen Bohm Barker, assistant professors of theater, the eight-member ensemble will perform "The Pottery Class."

Written by Jeff Barker, the play is drawn from the scriptural metaphor of the potter and the clay in Isaiah 64:8. The action centers on a pottery teacher who takes a short-term position in a homeless shelter. Searching for God's will, the teacher learns the most significant lesson of his life amid a blend of humorous and poignant moments.

Barker and his wife shared a 1991 teaching excellence award. Northwestern College is a Christian liberal arts college in Orange City, Iowa. Northwestern is affiliated with the Reformed Church in America.

Bills give police more tools to fight domestic violence

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

A suburban prosecutor praised a package of legislative bills aimed at curbing domestic violence but objected to strong police reporting requirements in one bill.

"Law enforcement is difficult because you have to wait for actual violence," Livingston County's David Morse told the Senate Judiciary Committee last week. "This (injunction procedure in one bill) allows us to head off violence."

But Morse objected that requiring police to give the domestic violence victim a copy of the report immediately "may inhibit the officer at the scene. You should allow 24 hours."

Morse also disliked the length of the required police report and the sanctions against police officers and departments who fail to write them and make them available.

But Sen. John Kelly, D-Grosse Pointe, said it's a good idea to require police to issue the victim an immediate report. "The husband can't just wait for the police officer to leave so he can finish what he started. It's helpful (to the victim, usually a woman) to have that piece of paper," Kelly told Morse.

'Not trying to duck'

Backing Morse was Ingham Prosecutor Don Martin, who objected to bills ordering prosecutors to prosecute for contempt those who violate court orders.

"It's not that we're trying to duck our duties. But if we're required to prosecute for criminal contempt, it may result in double jeopardy," Martin said. He said prosecutors should be given the choice of which offense to prosecute.

Sen. William VanRegenmorter, R-Jenison, said his panel would take up the bills again March 1 and possibly report them to the Senate floor.

Purposes of the bills are to give law enforcement more tools to fight, and victims more power to seek relief from, domestic violence. A key technique is to require police and prosecutors to treat complaints more seriously.

For example, a bill by Rep. Shirley Johnson, R-Royal Oak, requires police agencies to establish a "preferred or pro-arrest" policy. A bill by Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake, provides for court orders to prohibit threats in cases of domestic violence. A bill by Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, sets up an exception for the "spousal communication privilege," allowing a wife to testify against her husband.

Shelters abused

A former Detroit policeman, however, raised a cry against the abuse of domestic violence procedures in divorce cases.

A five-page synopsis of the domestic violence bills is available from the Senate Judiciary Committee, (517) 373-6920.

Gang bill draws fire

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

A bill to make gang membership a felony is drawing fire from both conservatives and liberals on a House committee, where it raises the specter of "guilt by association."

"This would penalize membership in a gang," said sponsor Ilona Varga, D-Detroit. "They take pictures of themselves with automatic weapons and rifles. They document their activities, so it's easy for police to prove they're gang members. Police have pictures of them in uniform."

Varga's bill would penalize those who belong to and recruit for a "criminal organization," defined as one where "members commit crimes as a purpose of that organization."

"What bothers me," said Rep. Michael Nye, R-Litchfield, "is how to avoid labeling other organizations — for example, groups who lay down in front of a bulldozer to stop a nuclear landfill or a dump.

"I'm a Methodist. A Methodist bishop demonstrated against a power plant. I've put money in (the collection plate) every Sunday. That makes me an associate," said Nye, Republican co-chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

Rep. David Gubow, D-Huntington Woods, was worried about defining a gang. "None of these groups files articles of incorporation or holds receptions in the Capitol and gives lapel pins," he said.

Rep. Nelson Saunders, D-Detroit, asked, "How do you prove that committing crime is a purpose of the organization?" Saunders raised the specter of "guilt by association" and the name of the late J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Rep. Lynn Rivers, D-Ann Arbor, said a basic premise of law is that one is responsible for his own crimes, "but here you could be prosecuted for simply associating. What if a mother associates with her son who is a member of a gang?"

After counting speeches, Judiciary chairman Tom Mathieu, D-Grand Rapids, announced, "We don't have the votes to put it (the bill) out today (report it to the floor). I urge the sponsor to work with representatives who raised these concerns."

Supporting Varga's bill was the Michigan Interfaith Council on Alcohol Problems (MICAP). "We're disturbed," said the Rev. Allen B. Rice, executive director. "They (gangs) are drug-related and youth-related."

"Gang violence hits every school district in the state," added MICAP's education director, the Rev. Tod Clark. "Members of the Latin Kings from Pontiac went to the north part of the state with a 9 mm pistol to 'take care' of some people his gang leaders didn't like very well."

Clark, who has spoken to student groups across the state, urged lawmakers not to worry about definitions "because the body count is too high."

Under Varga's bill:

- Being a gang member is a misdemeanor punishable by 90 days in jail and a $100 fine.
- Committing a misdemeanor to "further the unlawful goals of the criminal organization" is worth a year in jail and a $500 fine — on top of any sentence for the misdemeanor itself.
- Committing a felony to further gang goals is worth four years in prison and a $2,500 fine on top of a sentence for the felony.

Refer to House Bill 4433 when writing to your state representative, State Capitol, Lansing 48909. The House Judiciary Committee meets Tuesday mornings in 428 Capitol Building.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Here are answers to your questions

Thanks for your kind comments about a recent column on getting ready for Lent and growing up in Wyandotte. It was fun reminiscing and hearing from readers especially those with roots Downriver.

Friday fish frys are still a big business in Wyandotte. If you know of a church or fraternal organization that makes for a great fish fry, we'd like to hear from you. Also, if your church or organization is preparing fish and other goodies with a healthy twist, please pass the word. This isn't a call for your favorite restaurant folks, just those places that prepare fish on Friday nights during Lent.

Speaking of healthy eating, Don Burski of Union Lake called to request information on a healthy cooking school.

Well Don, short of taking a course in nutrition and dietetics, I don't know of a cooking school that specializes in low-fat classes. Many communties offer healthy cooking classes as part of their adult education program. Another good source is your community hospital. St. Mary and Botsford Hospital offer healthy cooking demonstrations.

Yours truly is teaching a healthy cooking class at Kitchen Glamor shops. The next class is 6:30 p.m. Thursday, March 4, at the Kitchen Glamor store in Novi. Call 537-1300 for details.

Food allergies

In January's reader request column I mentioned Pauly Smorch of Farmington who was searching for recipes and information on gluten free cooking. Pauly was overjoyed when we passed along the name of the local Celiac Support Group whose 104 members all have allergies to gluten. They meet monthly. For information, contact Kathy Davis, President, TriCounty Celiac Sprue Support Group, 332-2938. Anyone else out there suffer from food allergies? Drop me a note or call. We're gathering information for a future column on food allergies.

Tanya Carney and Don Quackenbush invited me to Churchill High School's second annual wild game feast in Livonia. The staff of Churchill High School, under the supervision of Quackenbush, prepared over 50 different wild game recipes that included everything from a smoked venison ham to squirrel stew and muskrat. While the wild game was great, I just couldn't resist the wonderful breads from a relatively new bakery that opened in beautiful downtown Northville dubbed Great Harvest. If you love all natural, no preservatives earthy breads that not only taste good, but are good for you, check it out.

If your taste for great food lies a little closer to home, circle March 22 for the 1994 S.O.S. (Share our Strength) benefit at the Rattlesnake Club in Detroit. Yours truly will be loosening his belt buckle to taste the foods of Marshall Chin from Mon Jin Lau in Troy, Peter Goatley from The Palate Pleaser in West Bloomfield, Matt Prentice and Tim Cikra from Morels/Bruscetta et al, and the foods of Jimmy Schmidt, Pete Peterson, Brian Polcyn, Mary Brady, Vera Ambrose and Lorraine Platman, just to name a few from our area. All of the event proceeds fight hunger in our area. For tickets call Angie Bournias, 259-4950. I'll be there and you should be too!

Mark Fangianelli of Canton has requested a recipe for a great tasting homemade tomato sauce. Well Mark, this is the best. You can add mushrooms and cooked meats to make a heartier sauce.

Tomato Sauce

(Salsa Di Pomodoro)
1/4 cup extra virgin olive oil
1 small onion, minced
3 fresh cloves of garlic, minced
One 28 oz. can peeled Italian plum tomatoes, crushed
Several sprigs of parsley, bay leaves and celery leaves

Heat oil in saucepan and add onion and garlic and cook over moderate heat until the garlic turns golden but does not brown.

Add tomatoes and herbs. Simmer, uncovered for 30 minutes. Remove the herbs, season with salt and pepper.

'AMERICAN CONNOISSEUR' WINS GOURMET GAMBLE

Meet Peter Gikas and Dave Zilko who gambled on a gourmet product they believed in and won in our new series featuring the people behind products made in Michigan.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITTER

Blasting his stereo got Todd Rones more than he bargained for - an opportunity to own and operate his own restaurant - American Connoisseur in West Bloomfield.

The restaurant is just part of the suburban success story of Birmingham entrepreneurs Peter Gikas and Dave Zilko who launched the American Connoisseur line of gourmet marinades, salad dressings, vinaigrettes and dessert toppings two years ago with no food experience and a $2,500 credit card loan. In 1993 they doubled their sales, introduced five new products, and opened their first restaurant with the help of Rones who is the owner and operator.

"The first time I met Dave he complained my stereo was too loud," said Rones, 23. "Todd and I were living next door to each other," explained Zilko.

Once the stereo issue was resolved, the neighbors learned they had much in common. Both are graduates of Michigan State University, and share a passion for food.

"He told me about the marinades and I thought they were very high quality," said Rones a transplanted Manhattanite who recently earned a degree in hotel and restaurant management.

"I sent a box of the marinades to my mother Rona in New York. She was impressed and said I shouldn't pass up this opportunity."

On July 20, Rones' dream of

Defend yourself to fight fat temptation

LAURA LETOBAR

Sometimes eating healthy is a struggle no matter how much effort we put forth. Most of us start our day with good intentions of eating low fat. We start with a great breakfast and before we know it are bombarded with temptations.

A co-worker will bring in a box of doughnuts as a way of saying "thank you" for some project you helped them finish. Or, a friend will stop by with a great new casserole they just made and you feel obligated to eat it.

Nancy Hay of Livonia told me that one thing she needs to change to eat healthier is to have "more self-control when put in a position where sugary treats are available."

Hay, and her husband Keith, basically eat very low fat. They have made significant dietary changes such as no sugar desserts, no processed bakery items, and little or no red meat. But temptations do exist, so how do they avoid them?

Hay is an advocate of healthy living. Besides feeling better, she feels that "along with exercise (eating low fat) gives me more control over my health and mental well-being." Her number one defense against the fat temptation is the grocery store she shops at.

Hay shops at The Good Food Company, 42615 Ford Road in Canton. She visits this store for more than the obvious reason of buying gro-

SPINACH PIE

GRAMS OF FAT PER SERVING: 46.4 → 4.9

Original Recipe

6 eggs
2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen chopped spinach
1 bunch green onions, finely chopped
1/4 cup oil
1 cup cottage cheese
3/4 pound feta cheese, crumbled
1/2 pound butter, melted
12 sheets phyllo dough, defrosted

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Butter bottom of 9 by 13-inch pan. Fold each sheet of phyllo dough in half. Place six sheets of phyllo dough in pan, buttering between each sheet. Cook spinach according to package directions.
Drain and squeeze all excess liquid from spinach. Mix first six ingredients in a bowl. Place this mixture on top of phyllo dough in pan. Place remaining six sheets of dough on top of mixture, buttering between each layer.
Brush remaining butter on top of dough. Bake for 20-25 minutes uncovered. Cover with foil and continue baking for 35 minutes. Serves 8.

Reduced-Fat Recipe

Eggbeaters egg substitute equal to six eggs
2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen chopped spinach
1 bunch green onions, chopped
1/4 cup Campbell's Healthy Request low sodium, low fat chicken broth
1 cup 1 percent milkfat cottage cheese
15 ounces Sargento brand "lite" ricotta cheese
2 ounces feta cheese
12 sheets phyllo dough, defrosted
Vegetable cooking spray

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cook spinach according to package directions. Drain and remove all excess liquid from spinach. Fold six sheets of phyllo dough in half. Place each folded sheet in the bottom of a non-stick 9 by 13-inch pan.
Mix first seven ingredients in a medium bowl. Place mixture over phyllo dough. Fold remaining dough sheets in half. Place each sheet over mixture, very lightly spraying each sheet with vegetable cooking oil spray. Lightly spray top layer of dough. Bake uncovered for 20 to 25 minutes. Cover pan with foil and continue baking for 35 minutes. Serves 8.

owning his own restaurant came true when Zilko and Gikas made him a partner in the carry-out restaurant which showcases the American Connoisseur product line. The West Bloomfield restaurant at 4301 Orchard Lake Road in the Crosswinds Mall features salads, gourmet marinated hamburgers, char-broiled and rotisserie chicken. Eventually the partners hope to offer franchises.

"American Connoisseur is the only restaurant I know of to be designed around an existing line of gourmet food products," said Zilko.

The story of American Connoisseur begins in January 1992 when the company was started by Birmingham based commercial real estate brokers Peter Gikas, an attorney, and Dave Zilko, who has a master of business adminstration degree in marketing.

"We studied the gourmet food market and looked for niches where products weren't available," said Zilko. "We both like to cook, but had no food industry background. We wanted to make something that tasted great with powerful flavor, and didn't compromise on ingredients."

"We wanted to make it very tasty, and high quality. We found a niche for ourselves," adds Gikas.

They spent four months in their respective kitchens in Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills in the fall of 1991 developing their gourmet marinades. "We'd get together four to six nights a week," said Zilko. "We mixed the products up ourselves."

Six months after they were introduced, these marinades, now manufactured at a commissary in Sylvan Lake, were featured in Bloomingdale's, Marshall Field's, Macy's, Hudson's, Jacobson's, Woodward and Lothrop, Wanamaker's and Kaufmans.

Last spring, American Connoisseur became one of the few food companies to be featured on the upscale home shopping network, QVC which is shown nationally in 54 million homes. On their first appearance, they sold over $16,000 worth of product in 45 seconds. Since then they've been appearing on the show on a regular basis. They are also on the Prodigy computer network and will soon be on Compuserve.

American Connoisseur now offers three chicken marinades — Dijon, Honey Mustard, and Garlic and Herb. There is a hamburger marinade — Classic Burger Marinade with Marsala Wine, and three cooking oils — basil, garlic and oregano.

They also offer two salad dressings — Creamy Greek, Balsamic Italian, three vinaigrettes — peach, raspberry and strawberry, four dessert toppings — honey, peach, raspberry and strawberry, and plans to launch a candy division in April.

"The gourmet chicken marinades are all natural and canola oil-based," said Zilko. "Canola oil is 94 pecent saturated fat free — the highest percentage of any oil. The marinades are designed to be used with boneless, skinless chicken breasts. The honey mustard marinade is one third pure honey, canola oil, vinegar and mustard."

American Connoisseur products are also available at Meijer's and some Kroger stores in Oakland County. Prices for the gourmet marinades range from $3.99 to $7.50. The gourmet vinaigrettes range from $3.69 to $4.95 and the flavored cooking oils from $3.99 to $7.50. The dessert toppings range from $4.50 to $4.95.

Editor's note: Specialty food sampler is an occasional feature that introduces the people behind some of the made in Michigan products you purchase at the grocery store. Gourmet marinades make dinner easy

See related story on Taste front.

Here are some recipes featuring American Connoisseur marinades.

Crunchy Chicken Garden Salad

American Connoisseur Gourmet Garlic and Herb Marinade
4 boneless, skinless chicken breasts
1 head lettuce — your choice of iceberg, romaine, spinach
1 cucumber, sliced
2 tomatoes, quartered
1 medium red onion, chopped
Optional ingredients
Cheese — your choice of Parmesan, Muenster, Cheddar or Feta
Sunflower seeds
Nuts — your choice of almonds, walnuts, pecans or peanuts

Marinate chicken breasts in garlic and herb marinade in refrigerator overnight, or at least one hour before cooking, turning chicken once. Grill or broil chicken and cut into strips.

Toss with lettuce, vegetables and optional ingredients. Serves 4 to 6.

Honey Mustard Baked Chicken

1 fryer chicken, (3 to 4 pounds) cut up
American Connoisseur Gourmet Honey Mustard Marinade

At least 1 hour before baking, rinse chicken pieces, pat dry and place in a shallow baking dish.

Pour enough marinade into baking dish to cover chicken half-way up. Refrigerate 1 hour, turning once.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Cover baking dish and bake chicken 1 hour, or until tender. Baste chicken 2-3 times during baking.

Before serving, pour American Connoisseur Gourmet Honey Mustard marinade over chicken. Also use as a table sauce. Serves 4-6.

Shrimp Stir-fry

½ cup American Connoisseur Gourmet Classic Burger Marinade
1 pound shrimp, peeled and de-veined
2 teaspoons cooking oil
2 cloves minced garlic
1 medium onion, diced
2 teaspoons sesame seeds
1 cup chopped zucchini
½ cup green or red pepper, chopped
½ cup water chestnuts, sliced
1 (6 ounce) package frozen Chinese pea pods, thawed
½ cup bean sprouts
Rice

Marinate shrimp in American Connoisseur Gourmet Classic Burger Marinade.

Heat cooking oil in a skillet or wok on medium-high heat. Add garlic, onion and sesame seeds. Cook until onion is translucent. Add zucchini, pepper and water chestnuts. Saute 4 or 5 minutes.

Add marinated shrimp and cook 4-5 minutes. Just before serving, add bean sprouts and pea pods. Heat thoroughly. Serve stir-fry over rice. Serves 4.

Fight fat

ceries. Good Food Company also has a small restaurant that has an "amazing selection of prepared foods including soups, salads and entrees."

A few grocery items she regularly buys are non-fat fruit and fig bars, non-fat cereals such as Oatios, and Alta Dena, a non-fat European style yogurt. She also states convenience as being another plus of the Good Food Company. She can pick up groceries, vitamins and water in one store and have a great meal at the restaurant at the same time. This is a big plus for people who do not like to cook, eat out frequently, or do not like to cook for one person.

Hay asked for a "make over" of her spinach pie recipe. She was shocked to discover 46.4 grams of fat per serving were in the original recipe. By using a non-stick baking dish and cooking oil spray instead of butter, the total fat was reduced by 170 grams. We eliminated the butter and cut 1,530 calories. Also, this recipe is best when made a day ahead. The cheese and spinach flavors blend together nicely.

Also, note that no cooking spray was used between the bottom layers of phyllo dough. The moisture from the spinach mixture provides the liquid needed to cook the dough.

I suggest making two pies at a time, baking one, and freezing one for future use. This recipe is wonderful to serve to guests. It is a very satisfying meal when served with a large garden salad.

How to pick tasty wines

AP — After studying long and hard to become a pedigreed wine expert, Doug Frost has some advice for other people who would try it: Don't.

"It's impractical for most people to become wine experts," he said. "I'm here to tell you it costs a lot of money, money I didn't have. And it certainly takes a lot of time."

So how does the casual wine drinker make the right choices?

■ Find a good retailer who knows your taste. When you get a wine you dislike, tell the retailer and ask him to recommend something else. "Once you find a little niche, try to expand it," Frost said. "If you like this particular grape, find out where else that grape is grown. Keep exploring with the assistance of a smart retailer. If you do it by yourself you're wasting your time, you're going to blow a lot of money on lousy wines."

■ Read wine magazines. However, Frost warned, they use an "arcane lingo," and there's no substitute for actual tasting of new wines.

Readers who enjoy cruising the open waters and enjoying great food will appreciate a berth through the land of the midnight sun when Executive Chef de Cuisine Peter Loren of Detroit's 1993 "Restaurant of the Year" Opus One sets sail with the Royal Viking Line on a 16 day trip.

Chef Loren will prepare two special dinners and will be your host for folks on board from metro Detroit. For more information, contact Carson Travel at 313-885-3100.

Arnie Metras of Troy called to say that he loves anchovies, especially in a Caesar Salad but always has leftovers.

You can keep them in a covered container for up to 1 month in their oil, or you can make this recipe that is absolutely wonderful when brushed over fish before, during and after cooking.

Anchovy Butter

2 sticks butter or margarine, cut into pieces
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon fresh ground black pepper
1 (2 ounce can anchovies, drained)

Using a food processor or a blender, add all the ingredients and process until smooth. Will keep tightly covered in the refrigerator for up to 1 week. Makes 1¼ cups.

Cara Smiley of Rochester was looking for an easy recipe for pretzels that she can make with her two kids, Kara, 5 and Kevin, 8.

This a recipe for a soft and chewy pretzel that can be twisted into a traditional shape or simply baked in circles or sticks for great eating.

Soft Pretzels

1 cup warm water (105-115 degrees F.)
1 package active dry yeast
About 3 cups sifted all purpose flour, divided
2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg, (optional)

Combine in a mixer bowl the warm water and the yeast. When dissolved, add and beat 1½ cups flour, butter, salt and sugar. Mix for three minutes.

Pour onto a board and knead in remaining flour in small quantities just until the dough loses its stickiness. Allow to rise in a covered bowl until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours. Punch down and divide into 12 pieces for pretzels or 36 strips for sticks.

With the palms of your hands, roll into lengths about the thickness of a pencil. Twist and shape, if desired into pretzels. Preheat oven to 475 degrees.

Brush with a beaten egg and sprinkle with coarse salt, if desired. Bake until golden brown and crispy, about 12 minutes for pretzels and about 8 minutes for the sticks.

Seminar features top chefs

An impressive slate of award-winning chefs will share their talents at a seminar hosted by Schoolcraft College. The sixth annual Chef's Seminar, March 7, will be just like "buying a cookbook," according to a spokesman for the college.

Class size is limited although open to anyone. The seminar will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 4:30 p.m. The fee for the seminar is $150 per person. To register call (313) 462-4400.

Participants will be offered tastes of the dishes prepared at the seminar.

Cookbook is for people with 'A Passion for Potatoes'

AP — Some potato recipes from Lydie Marshall's "A Passion for Potatoes," published by Harper Perennial.

An Elegant Potato Salad

1½ pounds unpeeled small Red La Rouge, Ruby Crescent, Peruvian Blue, or Yukon Gold potatoes
½ cup white wine
Salt
Freshly ground pepper
1 teaspoon minced fresh tarragon
1 ounce (1 cup) dry morels
2 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 small head radicchio, cut into fine julienne (2 cups)
1 small fennel bulb, cut into fine julienne (2 cups)
4½ ounces Gruyere cheese, cut into fine julienne (1 cup)
½ cup vinaigrette dressing (see recipe below)
4 cups watercress, stems removed
4 cups arugula, stems removed
1 tablespoon walnut oil
tablespoon vinegar

Pour about 1 inch of water in a large pan. Bring to a boil, fit the steamer into the pan, put in the potatoes, cover and steam for 15 to 20 minutes, depending on the size of the potatoes (Peruvian Blues will take longer to cook).

Peel the hot potatoes and cut into ½-inch slices, or quarter them if they are very small. Pour the wine over them and sprinkle with salt, freshly ground pepper and tarragon.

Meanwhile, soak the morels in 1 cup of water for half an hour. Drain through paper towels and reserve the liquid.

Quarter the morels only if they are more than 1 inch long. Heat 2 tablespoons butter and saute the morels for a minute, then gradually add the morel liquid over high heat and boil it down until 2 or3 tablespoons remain. Season with salt and pepper and toss morels and the reduced liquid with the potatoes.

Stack the leaves of the radicchio and roll up like a cigarette. Cut crosswise into very thin strips. You should have about 2 cups.

Toss the radicchio, fennel and cheese into the potato salad and mix in the vinaigrette dressing. Taste and add more salt and pepper if necessary.

Decorate each plate with watercress and arugula, sprinkle oil and vinegar over the greens, and fill the center with potato salad. Serves 10.

Vinaigrette Dressing

1 teaspoon salt
Freshly ground pepper
1 teaspoon prepared Dijon-style mustard
1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
¼ cup olive or sunflower oil
2 tablespoon walnut oil

Place salt and pepper in a mixing bowl. Add the mustard and mix in the vinegar. Add the oils and whisk vigorously. Taste and correct seasoning. Makes ½ cup.

Garlic Mashed Potatoes With Olive Oil

2 pounds russet or Yukon Gold potatoes
8 large unpeeled garlic cloves
1½ teaspoon salt
Freshly ground pepper
¼ cup extra virgin olive oil

Cover the potatoes and garlic cloves with cold, salted water. Bring to a boil, partially cover, and cook for 30 minutes, or until tender.

Drain the potatoes and garlic. Boil the potato water and reduce to ½ cup.

Peel the potatoes and the garlic. Mash them in the cooking pot with a potato masher, a ricer, or through a strainer. Turn on the heat and whisk in enough potato water to bring the potatoes to a thick, creamy consistency. Season with salt and freshly ground pepper.

Heat the olive oil. At the table, pour 1 tablespoon of hot oil on each portion. Serves 4.

New Potatoes Braised With Thyme

¼ cup virgin olive oil
1½ pounds Red La Soda or La Rouge potatoes, quartered
1 sprig fresh thyme
1 teaspoon salt
Freshly ground pepper

Heat the olive oil in a large non-stick skillet and stir-fry the potatoes for 8 minutes, shaking the pan once in a while to prevent scorching. Add the thyme and season with salt and freshly ground pepper. Cover and cook for 20 minutes over low heat, checking once in a while and letting the water gathered on the underside of the lid fall back into the potatoes.

Uncover, raise the heat, and brown the potatoes, shaking the pan. Serve right away. Serves 2.

Produce pointers

Here are some answers to your produce questions from the Produce Marketing Association.

How can I speed up the ripening of my kiwifruit?

Kiwifruit, like some other fruits, give off ethylene gas, which helps promote ripening. To speed the process, store unripe kiwifruit near other ethylenee sources such as apples, bananas, citrus, pears, and avocados.

If, on the other hand, you do not want to speed up ripening, keep kiwifruit away from other ethylene-producing items.

How can I tell whether cantaloupes are ripe?

A ripe cantaloupe should have a distinct cantaloupe aroma. The blossom end shoul ' also give slightly to gentle pressure.

SOY GOOD FOR YOU
When investigators tried to isolate the reason that Japanese women report fewer hot flashes and other menopausal symptoms than American women, their research began to center on the soybean. Japanese women consume about twice the amount of soybean products as do American women. This differential may well be a factor in countering the symptoms of menopause when one comes to realize that soybeans contain large amounts of isoflavonoids, a weak form of estrogen. Beyond that, another isoflavonoid is soybeans (genistein) has been found to slow the growth of breast and prostate cancers in the test tube. This may also explain why Oriental women have lower rates of breast cancer and Oriental men experience less prostate cancer than their American counterparts.
The GOOD FOOD CO., a natural food supermarket, offers a tremendous variety of quality natural foods, organic produce, and even natural cometics. We also have a variety of delicious ways you could easily add soybean products to your diet. Our staff always is willing to answer any questions you may have about a given product. Please call us at 981-8100. We are conveniently located at 42815 Ford Rd. Hours are Monday-Saturday 9-9, and Sunday 10-6. Give us a try — we offer great food at a great price!

Szechwan sauce makes chicken

AP — One bite of this spunky stir-fry and you'll think you're in your favorite Chinese restaurant. The good news is you don't have to leave home. Take advantage of a ready-made sauce when you're in a hurry for dinner.

This delicious stir-fry gets its spiciness from bottled Szechwan sauce, an ingredient available in the Oriental section of most supermarkets.

SZECHWAN-STYLE CHICKEN

1 pound skinless, boneless chicken breasts
6-ounce package frozen pea pods
⅓ cup teriyaki sauce
3 tablespoons Szechwan spicy stir-fry sauce
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
3 cups chopped bok choy
2 to 3 tablespoons cooking oil
1 cup broccoli flowerets
1 red sweet pepper, cut into strips
14-ounce can baby corn, drained and halved crosswise
7-ounce jar whole straw mushrooms, drained
Hot cooked rice (optional)

Cut chicken into bite-size strips. Thaw pea pods. In a small bowl stir together teriyaki sauce, stir-fry sauce and cornstarch. Set aside.

In a wok or large skillet stir-fry onion and bok choy in 1 tablespoon of the hot oil for 2 minutes. Add broccoli and red pepper; stir-fry for 2 minutes. Remove from wok.

Stir-fry chicken, half at a time, in 1 tablespoon oil for 2 minutes, adding more oil, if necessary. Return all chicken to wok. Stir sauce mixture; add to wok. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir for 2 minutes more. Return cooked vegetables to wok; add corn and mushrooms. Heat through. Serve over hot rice, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Nutrition information per serving: 228 cal., 8 g fat, 48 mg chol., 24 g pro., 17 g carbo., 5 g dietary fiber, 992 mg sodium.

Satisfy your sweet tooth with fruity low-fat desserts

The emphasis on healthy, low-fat eating is here to stay, but so is the urge to reach for the luscious chocolate cake on the kitchen counter or the chocolate chip cookies calling your name from the cookie jar.

However, there is a way to satisfy these cravings conveniently, while maintaining healthy eating habits — make easy, low-fat yet indulgent desserts using canned fruits. Everyone will enjoy them, even those watching their waistlines.

Here are some recipes from the Canned Food Information Council.

APPLE PRALINE BUNDT CAKE

1 can (20 ounces) sliced apples, drained
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup packed light brown sugar
1 cup vegetable oil
4 eggs
1½ cups all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1½ teaspoons dried mint leaves
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¾ cup chopped walnuts
Praline Sauce (recipe follows)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Finely chop 1½ cups of apples; combine with sugars and oil in large bowl. Mix in eggs, one at a time. Mix in combined flour, baking powder, baking soda and spices. Mix in ½ cup walnuts.

Spoon batter into greased and floured 12-cup fluted cake pan. Bake 50 minutes or until cake begins to pull away from side of pan. Cool cake in pan on wire rack 10 minutes; remove from pan and cool on wire rack.

Pierce warm cake with long-tined fork; spoon half the Praline Sauce over the cake. Arrange remaining apple slices on top of cake; spoon remaining Praline Sauce over apples and sprinkle with remaining ¼ cup walnuts. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

PRALINE SAUCE

6 tablespoons margarine or butter
¾ cup packed light brown sugar
¼ cup brandy or apple juice

Heat margarine in small saucepan until melted; stir in brown sugar and brandy. Heat to boiling; reduce heat and simmer until sauce is thickened to the consistency of honey, 5 to 8 minutes. Makes about ⅓ cup.

STREUSEL TOPPED BLUEBERRY BRUNCH CAKE

4 tablespoons margarine, softened
1 cup packed light brown sugar
2 eggs
2 egg whites
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ cup buttermilk
1 can (15 ounces) blueberries, drained
Streusel Topping (recipe follows)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Beat margarine until fluffy in large bowl; beat in sugar. Beat in eggs and egg whites. Mix in combined dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Gently fold in blueberries.

Spoon mixture into greased and floured 8¼-inch springform pan; sprinkle with Streusel Topping.

Bake cake in oven until top springs back when touched lightly. Serve warm. Makes 12 servings.

STREUSEL TOPPING

3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons packed light brown sugar
2 tablespoons cold margarine, cut into pieces

Mix flour and sugar in small bowl; cut in margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

Use cooking spray to cut fat in pork and apple stir-fry

AP — Cooking spray cuts the oil in this stir-fry by at least a couple of tablespoons, saving about 28 grams of fat overall.

PORK AND APPLE TORTILLA CUPS

1 pound pork tenderloin
Four 6-inch flour tortillas
1 large red apple, chopped
1 green onion, finely chopped
2 tablespoons snipped cilantro
1 clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon finely shredded lime peel
1 teaspoon lime juice
Nonstick spray coating
¼ cup chicken broth
½ teaspoon cornstarch
2 teaspoons cooking oil
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup plain nonfat yogurt
Cilantro (optional)

Partially freeze pork; cut across the grain into thin slices, then into 1-inch-long strips.

For tortilla cups, wrap tortillas in foil; heat in a 350-degree F oven for 5 to 10 minutes or until warm. Spray four 10-ounce custard cups with nonstick coating. Place each tortilla in a cup, pressing to fit.

Bake in a 350-degree F oven 10 to 12 minutes or until crisp. Remove from cups; cool.

For filling, in a small cup stir together broth and cornstarch. Spray a cold large skillet or wok with nonstick coating. Preheat pan over medium-high heat. Stir-fry half of the pork in the pan for 2 minutes or until no longer pink; remove from pan. Add cooking oil; repeat with remaining pork.

Return all pork to pan. Stir in apple, green onion, snipped cilantro, garlic, lime peel, lime juice, salt and pepper. Cook and stir for 1 minute. Add cornstarch mixture to pan. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir for 2 minutes more. Fill tortilla cups with filling. Dollop with yogurt. If desired, garnish with additional cilantro. Makes 4 servings.

Good laugh: Pam Stone has found success as a stand-up comic and on ABC's "Coach."

Pam Stone has own gold medal dream

BY BOB SADLER
SPECIAL WRITER

With the 1994 Winter Olympic Games over in Norway, the attention shifts to Atlanta, where the world will gather again in 1996. At the risk of revving up the hype machine a bit too early, here's a preview . . .

One of the country's top stand-ups may be there to compete. In her hometown, no less.

No, telling jokes in front of brick walls has not been made an exhibition sport for the '96 Games (actually, it's one of the few pastimes that hasn't when you think about it!). Pam Stone, known for her recurring role as Judy Watkins in ABC's "Coach," is seriously training to go for the gold as an equestrian.

Underline the word S-E-R-I-O-U-S-L-Y. This is not a joke. Stone only appears on six episodes of "Coach" per season and hits the stand-up trail two weekends each month. That leaves plenty of time for what she readily admits is her true passion.

"I prefer to be working with my horse, actually," said Stone last week before heading to the "Coach" set for the day's rehearsing. "It works out

AT THE MIKE

"Opera Man World Tour 1994". . . His comedy album "they're all gonna laugh at you" isn't exactly a huge hit, but Adam Sandler is one of the hottest comic talents around today. You'll find his characters on "Saturday Night Live," like Cajun Man and Opera Man represent his best work. On stage, he mixes some good parody songs with a lot of sophomoric, anatomical stuff. Perhaps that's why, Sandler chose to appear at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor on Saturday, March 5, as part of the University of Michigan's Greek Week activities. Show time is 8 p.m., and tickets are available at the Michigan Union and all Ticketmaster outlets, or by charge by calling 763-TKTS.

Green Beer and Belly Laughs. . . You don't have a chance to see Kevin Pollak in comedy clubs much anymore. He's been too busy starring in films like "A Few Good Men," "Indian Summer" and "Wayne's World 2" (He did a cameo as the guy with the weird eyes at the City of Aurora Parks Department.). His act is loaded with great material and dead-on impressions. His "Star Trek" bit in which he recasts major celebrities as the crew, is worth the price of admission alone. Catch Kevin at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle March 17-19. Call (810) 542-9900 for reservations.

P.S. Sources close to The Second City-Detroit indicate that the troupe's second revue, the follow-up to "Power to the People Mover," will premiere around mid-March. Watch for more details.

New tunes: Beyond the 'biggies'

■ When thumbing through those music-store bins, you have to get past plenty of national acts before you stumble on the lesser-known groups. But once you do, you can find some good — and some not-so-good — regional sounds.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Albums by regional bands are generally overlooked when national acts like Alice in Chains, Pearl Jam and Guns 'N Roses have new albums.

So, for those of you wondering what's new, here's a look at a few of those releases:

"Hearts and Bones and Voices," Pet Engine: The overriding theme on "Hearts and Bones and Voices" is being something that you're not. What Pet Engine is is a gold mine waiting to be discovered. Fans of Best Kissers in the World, The Posies or The Replacements will dig this Milwaukee band, formerly known as Blackfish. Matthew Schroeder's guitar assault drives the 10-song CD along with vocalist and fellow axman Stephen Ziel.

Lyrically, the quartet — which also includes bassist Clem Blanding and drummer Daniel Andera — isn't afraid to tell it like it is: "My knuckles bleed as I knock on the wood of the cross that you carry like a bulb that's planted. A bulb that never grew."

The album closes on a tender note with the acoustic ballad "Universe" during which Ziel is joined vocally by The Posies' Ken Stringfellow. Get this record and tell all your friends you had it before they were "big."

"Hearts and Bones and Voices" is available through Don't Records, P.O. Box 11513, Milwaukee, WI, 53211, (414) 224-9023.

"The Emma Peel Sessions," The Pretty Green: The followup to "Panachecake" doesn't stray far from the Warren-based band's influences of British pop and pure American rhythm guitar rock.

The band doesn't waste time with flowery lyrics, instead opting to be honest and to the point. In "Virtue" lead singer Dave Goulette asks for relief from emotional pain: "Let's pray the world will end today or something that will make me feel OK." The four-song EP ends with a live recording of "It Stands to Reason."

The cassette version of "The Emma Peel Sessions" includes The Pretty Green's cover of the Goo Goo Dolls' "There You Are." Both live recordings are rough but it captures the essence of The Pretty Green's live show.

"The Emma Peel Sessions," recorded at Soundcamp Studios in Macomb County, is available on cassette and vinyl through Lemon Jellow Records, 11515 Hanford Drive, Warren, MI 48093, or by calling (810) 588-9617.

"Swollen" Yardboss: Lead singer Marty Conselyea's choppy lyrical phrases sometimes makes it difficult to follow the lengthy songs. But his throaty growl on top of thundering guitars by Nick Sokolowski and Greg Savela and Rico Grazioli's powerful drumming carry this CD above others by local rockers. Bassist Todd Pocobello brings his musicianship to the forefront with the song "Sticks & Stones," the obvious hit on "Swollen."

'Higher' ground: The Rochester Hills-based band Higher — Tom Leach (from left), Michael Alexander, Randy Martin and Michael Falzon — recently released a self-titled debut EP.

STREET BEATS

The CD, recorded at Studio A in Dearborn Heights, is available at most independent record stores or through Hole in Your Heart Productions, P.O. Box 371, Dexter, MI 48130.

"Drain-O," Mr. X: "Drain-O" is a highly underrated fast-rocking record by Mr. X, a.k.a. the Junk Monkeys' Glynn Scanlan, and his band Drain-O. Filled with more hooks than a fisherman's tackle box, "Drain-O" tears through 10 songs recorded at the Tempermill studios in Ferndale. It also features guests like The Exceptions' horns section ("Toledo"), and fellow Junk Monkeys David Bierman ("Pain" and "Hyper") and Dave Boutette ("Toledo"). A bonus track on the cassette is a live recording of "Suburban Life," a song by Mr. X's former band The Idiots.

Don't let this one slip by. "Drain-O" is available by calling Bam Boom Graphics in Dearborn at (313) 563-2897.

Forehead Stew "Water"/"React": Forehead Stew calls itself a "disruptive rock band producing anti-social music of little value." There's plenty of value in this single, especially in the A-side "Water." Jeff Fowlkes's booming drums and Matt McGuire's hypnotic guitars kick off "Water" followed by Al Sutton's gut-wrenching, over-compressed vocals. With bass lines by Andy Sutton topping off the song, speed metal fans should rank Forehead Stew high on their priority list.

On the flipside, Al Sutton's vocals are so convincing that it's easy to feel his frustration in "React:" " . . . I step out of line, but you push me back in place. Frustration and anger let me out. It's always the same. All the games they play. Let me out. Let me out."

Many bands in this genre, fall victim to hookless songs. However, Forehead Stew listeners will be helplessly drawn in with "Water" and "React," which was featured in John Freeman's snowboarding video "Demented Chowder Pilots."

The vinyl-only single is available through Rust Belt Records, 1145 Griswold St., Detroit, MI 48226.

"The Nothing Like Vaudeville Show" The Nothing Like Vaudeville Show: This 10-song concept album tells the story of a "strangely deformed boy" who runs away from home. The bumpy road, on which he is introduced to drugs and a short-lived love affair, eventually leads him to an evil Ringmaster's Freakshow where the child is one of the top attractions.

The song "Mr. Hyde" explicitly describes the boy's newfound friend: "Lurking in the shadows, don't need a disguise. Evil's in my blood. Evil's in my eyes. Step into my parlor; I'll take you for a ride. No, I'm not the doctor. Call me Mr. Hyde." His parents find their son and when confronted about his job he says, "The Ringmaster told me that God made me a Freak for everyone to enjoy."

Abrasive guitars and eerie keyboards lace "The Nothing Like Vaudeville Show," which is one of the few concept albums that works. "The Nothing Like Vaudeville Show" is also an appropriate vehicle for lead vocalist Michael Jones to prove he has a tremendously versatile voice. Imagine Pantera meeting The Who's "Tommy" and that's what "The Nothing Like Vaudeville Show" is all about.

The 10-song cassette is available by reaching the band at 6282 Mill Road, Broadview Heights, Ohio, 44147.

"Bermuda Mohawk" Bermuda Mohawk: This five-song debut concentrates on the raw side of Bermuda Mohawk. Recorded primarily at PR Music in Detroit, the self-titled cassette intertwines the band's blues, country and rock influences with Sal D'Agnillo's raspy voice.

The cassette is available through Whirled Records, 627 Lloyd Ave., Royal Oak, MI 48073.

"Higher," Higher: The band's self-titled effort doesn't take rock to new heights. The six-song EP, however, does serve as an adequate introduction to the Rochester Hills-based band's bass heavy, straightforward rock'n'roll.

Although the lyrics are predominantly simple, the song "Rise" possibly offers insight into the quartet's outlook of their musical future: "We've got to rise (higher) one way or another." For starters, the band recorded at the prestigious Pearl Sound Studio in Canton Township, and is discussing future plans with LA record producers.

While it seems as if lead vocalist/guitarist Michael Alexander is uncomfortable in the recording studio, the glossy album has laid a nice foundation for future releases.

The album is available at most independent record stores or through Genre Productions, 123 Canterbury Trail, Rochester Hills, MI 48309, or by calling (810) 375-0202.

"Electrip," HAL: These winners of the 1993 Modern Rock Jam at Detroit's State Theatre take listeners on a trip through the band's mind with its debut release "Electrip." Produced by Dave Feeny at Ferndale's Tempermill studio, "Electrip" blends elements of metal, guitar-driven rock, and industrial dance music to create HAL's slick sound.

The cassette opens with the Nine Inch Nails-esque "Pincushion" which sticks it to a former love, ("Sticking pins in my mind, a psychological voodoo doll."). Each of the remaining three songs — "Blown," "What Is This," and "Alien Eyes" — brings the band a step closer to patenting its sound. "Electrip" is also one of the few recent studio products that is as electric as the band's live show.

The cassette is available by contacting HAL at 1040 Larson Court, Rochester Hills, MI 48307, or by calling (810) 651-5859.

Items should be submitted two weeks in advance to: Christina Fuoco, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150, or by fax at (313) 591-7279.

Sharing, talking helped answer son's questions

STREET SENSE

BARBARA SCHIFF

Voice Mail Message:

This call is regarding the column on Playboy subscriptions for teenagers. I have a 17-year-old who goes to a private high school, makes straight A's, and is going to college next year. At 14, he expressed a similar interest and so I went out and bought "Playboy," "Penthouse" and "Hustler." Then I looked then over myself and went up to his room with them.

I showed him all of the magazines and what they had to offer ("Playboy" being the better option). We talked over the cartoons, the articles, the letters. I told him that the letters from "Hustler" clearly were not from real women; I told him that women would have to be psychotic to want to be hurt the way that these women said they wanted to be.

I pointed out that these were not pictures of real women; they were "perfect" — airbrushed, no blemishes or bruises. We talked about the importance of love and about sex and hormones. We talked for about two hours.

I gave him the magazines and told him he could share them with his friends, if he wished, as long as they were locked up (I have a younger son also). He is not allowed to have these magazines on a subscription basis. He may still look at them when I'm not around.

On his 16th birthday, I rented an X-rated movie, "Deep Throat," the only one I'd ever seen. I told him about mechanical sex, loving sex and what marriage meant or should mean. I then left him to watch the movie alone. I think this is a private thing, and I didn't want him watching me for my reaction.

Then we discussed pornography again, and I let him know that he was not to watch these movies in the house. After watching the movie he said that he became bored with it and felt he didn't have to sit through it a second time.

From the start, my husband supported me in all that I did. He was not, however, comfortable taking part in my talks with my son. I don't know if that's the best way to handle it. This might not be for everybody, but it's what worked for us.

Dear Caller,

Yours is the sixth response to the question of pornography for teenagers. What is so interesting is to see the wide range of different approaches to the same problem. We do not know everything yet to say this one is right or this one is wrong.

As discussed in the reply to the original caller, what might be right for one family might be the wrong thing for another. What I have to applaud is the good intentions of the parents who put themselves out in order to help their children solve a problem in their growth and development.

Also, I was impressed by the husband and wife working together for the benefit of the children rather than being at odds with one another.

I would like to use my response to your letter as an opportunity to thank all of my readers who are willing to share their experiences with others. I would think that there may be many readers who have opinions about the issues that are printed in this column, but who do not report them to us. May I sway you to overcome your reluctance and help us to learn from your experiences?

Barbara

LIVE REVIEW

St. Andrew's Hall

James closed their 1½-hour show at St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit on Saturday, Feb. 19, by telling the audience not to expect so much the next time they perform. Singer Tim Booth perhaps thought his fans had their hopes up too high.

The show featured James' stripped-down sound that is evident on their latest release "Laid." The near capacity audience milled around for most of the show but let loose a little energy when James performed "Laid," followed by the "alternapop" hits "Born of Frustration" and "Sit Down." Violinist Saul Davies, previously a predominant feature of James shows, kept a low profile occasionally strapping on a guitar.

Fans of the British band didn't seem ready to accept James' au naturel sound at The Palace of Auburn Hills January show either. Booth's whirling dervish style of dancing is still entertaining to everyone, nonetheless.

Angel epic goes way of all sequels

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

MOVIES

Like most sequels, "Faraway, So Close" stretches a great idea way too thin. Stunningly photographed and engagingly acted, this story of angels in modern-day Berlin walks a fine line between poetry and pretentiousness.

You might say that German director Wim Wenders has earned the right to be so self-indulgent. Actually, he's been that way all along.

A major international director since the early 1980s, Wenders made his biggest splash with "Wings of Desire" in 1988. Bruno Ganz starred as an angel who longs for an earthly life with a beguiling trapeze artist.

Ganz appears in "Faraway, So Close" (playing at the AMC Woods after a recent run at the Detroit Film Theatre), but the focus here is on "Desire's" right hand man, Cassiel (Otto Sander). Leaning closer to a mortal so that he can hear better, the angel listens in not only on conversations but inner thoughts as well.

Usually, he's joined by fellow traveler Nastassja Kinski. Now sporting long blonde hair (remember her in Wenders' "Paris, Texas"?), she nurtures the troubled souls she watches over with a caring, often pained expression.

Black-and-white photography backs scenes in the angels' domain while ultra-bright colors accent the world of humans. Turning mortal so that he can save one of his charges, Cassiel has a bout with alcoholism before entering the lives of those he used to protect.

He also looks up old friend Ganz, a pizzeria owner still married to the trapeze artist. They have a beautiful daughter together, who has her father's angelic personality and her mother's passion for the high wire.

Wenders' films cleverly mix European sensibilities with stunning international casts. Aside from the welcomed return of Kinski, there's a great supporting role for Willem Dafoe as a cynical angel whose loyalties and motives remain clearly ambiguous.

You'll also find Lou Reed, Peter Falk and even Mikhail Gorbachev as themselves. Falk was hilarious and poignant in "Desire," given the superhuman ability to feel the presence of the angels. Here, he's simply along for a gag or two, including a misfire bit where he cons a pair of security guards who, like everyone else in Europe, are big "Columbo" fans.

Several different melodramas unreel at once in "Faraway, So Close," perhaps the most interesting of which involves a gangster/bootleg video exporter (Horst Buchholz) in search of his long-lost sister. They were separated as children during the last minutes of World War II.

Wenders also employs a modern-rock soundtrack, featuring U2's current hit "Stay" and a live performance by Reed. But even this device, a staple in all of the director's recent films, grows too self-consciously "hip" after while.

The movie, which runs almost 2½ hours, looks like it has been edited, though I'm not sure if it was too much or not enough. There are enough loose ends here to support two other movies, especially in the climactic scene aboard a barge loaded down with weapons.

At times an engaging meditation on the earthly and the ethereal, "Faraway, So Close" truly reflects the contrasts of its title.

SCREEN SCENE

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across metro Detroit as reviewed by John Monaghan.

■ DETROIT FILM THEATRE
Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call 833-2323 for information. ($5)

"Naked" (Britain — 1993), 7 and 9:30 p.m. March 4-5; 4, 7 p.m. March 6. Mike Leigh, the director of "Life Is Sweet" and "High Hopes," takes a walk on the wild side in this contemporary portrait of anti-social behavior.

■ KINOTEK
Capitol Theatre and Arts Centre, 121 University, Windsor. Call (519) 971-5160 for information. ($4.50)

"Tristana" (Spain — 1970), 9 p.m. March 5-7. In Luis Bunuel's very dark comedy, a pretty young woman (Catherine Deneuve) is seduced by her guardian, loses a leg, marries the old man and lives to inherit his money. One of the director's finest works.

■ MAGIC BAG THEATRE
22918 Woodward, Ferndale. Call 544-3030 for information. ($4)

"Dazed and Confused" (USA — 1993), 8 p.m. March 3. It's the last day of school in 1976 as teenagers ponder the bigger issues in life, such as who will drive to get the Aerosmith tickets. Richard "Slacker" Linklater directs this subversive and entertaining comedy.

■ MAIN ART THEATRE
118 N. Main St. at 11 Mile, Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday. Call 542-0180 for information and show times. ($6.50; $4 students; $3 twilight/matinee)

"Schindler's List" (USA — 1993). Stephen Spielberg may finally get his Academy Award for this story of Oskar Schindler (Liam Neeson), a war profiteer and Nazi crony who saved the lives of more than 1,000 Jews during the Holocaust.

"Six Degrees of Separation" (USA — 1994). Based on John Guare's award-winning play, a savvy young man (Will Smith) poses as Sidney Poitier's son to cajole his way into the home of a Fifth Avenue couple (Donald Sutherland and Stockard Channing).

"The War Room" (USA — 1993). A behind-the-scenes look at the 1992 Clinton campaign focuses not on the candidate but on his team of election advisors, led by the charismatic James Carvell and George Stephanopolous. Veteran documentary filmmakers D.A. Pennebaker ("Don't Look Back") and Chris Hegedus direct.

■ MAPLE THEATER
4135 W. Maple Road, Bloomfield. Call 855-9090 for information. ($5.75; $3.95 matinee; $2.95 twilight)

"Body Snatchers" (USA — 1994). The third version of Jack Finney's paranoid novel finds people replaced by alien replicas. Abel Ferrara directs.

"In the Name of the Father" (Britain — 1994). In this true story, Daniel Day-Lewis plays an Irishman falsely accused of bombing a pub near London in 1975. The brilliant story of miscarriage of justice is co-written and directed by Jim Sheridan, who teamed with Day-Lewis on "My Left Foot."

"Schindler's List." See Main Art Theatre listing.

■ REDFORD THEATER
17360 Lahser, Detroit. Call 537-1560 for information. ($2.50)

"Tin Pan Alley" (USA — 1940), 8 p.m. March 4; 2 and 8 p.m. March 5 (organ overture begins a half hour before show time). Alice Faye, Betty Grable, and Jack Oakie star in this musical about songwriters trying to sell their wares. The colorful musical numbers include "Sheik of Araby."

really well because it's a lot less demanding to do a recurring role. I could work every weekend doing stand-up if I wanted to, but I'm competing on the indoor circuit this winter. I'm trying not to work that hard so I have more time to train.

"I've done this (riding) my whole life. I often say that I do the acting and the comedy to support my equestrian stuff. I'll be working for rent when I come to town (March 11-12 at Miss Kitty's Comedy Club in Oxford)."

Does she have an honest chance of making the U.S. equestrian team in two years? Her trainer has already qualified, and Stone is doing her best to follow suit. Regardless of the result, Stone appears to have matters in perspective.

"The great thing about equestrian events is that the horses don't care who you are," said Stone, who gets recognized frequently when she competes. "They'll dump anybody on their butt. And, of course, you're still shoveling manure in the morning, just like everybody else."

A legitimate six-footer, Stone lends immediate credibility to her role on "Coach" as Judy Watkins, head women's basketball coach for the Minnesota State Screamin' Eagles. Judy has proven to be a formidable foe for Craig T. Nelson's lead character, football coach Hayden Fox. Before season's end in May, you can also expect Judy and Dauber, Hayden's second assistant (played by Bill Fagerbakke), to finally tie the knot.

"In the episode we're shooting this week (to air sometime later in March), an old flame of Dauber's shows up, and Dauber almost falls for her again," Stone said. "But the marriage will definitely happen."

In addition to her work on the small screen, Stone will make her big screen debut later this year as well. The film, entitled "Radioland Murders," is produced by George "Star Wars" Lucas and is slated to be in theaters for the all-important holiday movie-going season.

And don't forget, watch for those Olympic equestrian events on NBC in 1996. Pam Stone could be there.

Pam Stone will appear March 11-12 at Miss Kitty's Comedy Club in the Long Branch Saloon, 595 N. Lapeer Road, Oxford. Call (810) 628-6502 for reservations and show times.

FREE SEMINAR

How to Buy a Home

How much home can you afford? What are your financing options? Do you know the basic steps in the home buying process? You will need the answers to these common questions if you are considering one of the most important purchases of your life - buying a home.

This free seminar is provided to you as a public service of the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of REALTORS®. No individual REALTORS® or real estate companies will be promoted, as this is a strictly informational program. You will receive an excellent packet of information and your questions will be fielded by the panel of speakers. Make your reservation today.

Canned good donations for the Salvation Army will be accepted at the door.

Salem sinks WLAA rivals

The format Plymouth Salem followed to its eighth Western Lakes Activities Association swimming championship was tried and tested. The Rocks finished first in one event — not what one would call dominating. But their depth was the difference.

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

The meet was over and, for many of the swimmers, the three-day affair ended the season, too. But long before North Farmington's 400-yard freestyle relay squad overtook its counterpart from Farmington to win the final event, the outcome was known.

Plymouth Salem, meet host and defending champion in the Western Lakes Activities Association, had won once again.

This was old stuff to coach Chuck Olson, who had guided the Rocks to seven previous championships. So the traditional post-meet dunking was out of the question, certainly.

"Nah, not anymore," Olson agreed. "I'm too old for that."

Less than five minutes later, the Salem coach was bobbing in the pool — which bolsters the belief that while Olson rates among the state's best swimming coaches, he should steer away from career aspirations in the dial-a-psychic business.

Remember, it was Olson who predicted prior to the season that whichever team won the WLAA Relays to open the season usually ended up winning the league at the end. Well, Farmington collected the Relays title, but the Falcons could not keep pace with a very deep Salem squad.

"Our depth and our speed was the difference," Olson said while toweling off. "The guys worked hard to fill every event."

As proof, Olson offered this: The Rocks had 36 individuals entered in the WLAA meet. Thirty-three of them finished among the top 18, scoring points.

Salem totaled 496 points, easily outdistancing Farmington's second-place 418. North's strong performance in the 400 free relay narrowed the gap between second and third; the Raiders had 410.5, followed by Northville (357), Plymouth Canton (294), Livonia Stevenson (293), Livonia Churchill (223), Farmington Harrison (140), Westland John Glenn (116), Walled Lake (112.5) and Livonia Franklin (99).

The Rocks' only win came in the 200 free relay, with the foursome of Dave Bracht, Joe Ervin, Eric Seidelman and Fred Locke clocking a

Shay Murphy, from Canton, turned in an outstanding performance for the Blake Gymnastics Center's Acronauts team at the International Classic Cup, hosted by the Rochester Training Center Feb. 12-13.

Murphy, competing in the Level 10-Elite Senior Division, placed fourth in the all-around preliminaries with a score of 35.20 points to qualify for the finals.

She ended up third in the all-around with a score of 35.775. In the event finals, Murphy finished first in the uneven parallel bars with a 9.05. She was also second in balance beam (9.275), third in floor exercise (8.90) and fourth in vault (8.95).

Murphy has signed a scholarship to attend the University of Alabama.

Madonna stumbles

The story, according to Madonna University men's basketball coach Bill Sharpe, is the same: "We dig a hole for ourselves and can't get out."

It happened again Wednesday at Siena Heights. The Fighting Crusaders fell behind by 18 at the half and never made it close, losing 128-95.

The loss dropped Madonna to 2-29. The Crusaders played their final game of the season last Saturday at Spring Arbor.

Siena Heights (24-7 overall) simply outperformed Madonna in every phase of the game. Thirteen Saints got into the game, and they all scored.

Best indicator of how one-sided the game went: shooting percentages. Siena hit 59.5 percent of its first-half shots, 60 percent in the second; the Crusaders managed to make 51.2 percent in the first half, but just 39.5 in the second. Siena also converted 14-of-28 three-point shots (50 percent) to Madonna's 7-of-23 (30.4 percent).

The Saints were led in scoring by Brent Tucker with 26 points. Aaron Downs added 23. Combined, they were 20-of-27 from the floor (74 percent). Chuck Foster scored 18 and JoJo Boggan 16.

Madonna got 26 points from Kurt Carlos, 15 from Brandon Slone, 12 from both Jay Dimes and Jason McNab, and 11 from Dan Dombrow and Mike Slone.

Head honored

Plymouth Salem standout James Head has been nominated for the McDonald's All-American High School Basketball Team. Head is one of 1,400 prep stars from all over the nation so honored.

A committee of nationally prominent experts will choose 20 players for the team, which will be announced Sunday during halftime of the St. John's-vs.-Syracuse game on CBS. The 1994 all-star game will be April 3 in New York, and will be broadcast by CBS.

Head, a 6-foot-6 forward who has already signed with Iowa, is averaging 20 points and 14 rebounds per game. He has already been selected to play in the McDonald's Kentucky Derby All-Star Game April 30 in Louisville.

Strong swim

Amy Homan, a freshman at Calvin College from Plymouth Salem, completed her first swim season for the Saints by placing sixth in the 200-yard breast stroke at the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship meet.

Homan was clocked at 2:45.71. She had the second-fastest time this season for Calvin in the event, going 2:43.20 in a dual meet against Alma. Homan also took eighth in the 100 breast at the MIAA finals.

Calvin placed third, behind league champ Hope and Alma. The Saints were second in dual-meet competition with a 4-1 record.

Rec offerings

Adult softball registrations begin Tuesday for the Canton Parks and Recreation leagues. Teams returning in the mens and coed divisions can register through March 11; new teams in each can register from March 14-25. Womens teams can register Tuesday through April 8.

Cost: mens, $260 per team (four nonresident maximum); womens, $340 (includes a $50 refundable forfeit fee; six nonresident maximum); coed, $340 ($50 refundable forfeit fee; six nonresident maximum).

For more information, call 397-5110.

Beginning cheerleading for girls classes start March 9 and continue every Wednesday for 12 weeks (no class on April 20). Cost is $30 per person. There will be two classes, from 5-5:30 p.m. for 5- to 7-year-olds and from 5:30-6 p.m. for 8- to 12-year-olds.

For more information, call 397-5110.

Corktown races

Early registration for the 12th annual Corktown Races closes Friday. Cost is $10; final registration is $14, opening at 11 a.m. the day of the race, which is Sunday, March 13.

Races consist of a 4-mile run, a 1½-mile walk and a quarter-mile run/walk for kids 12 and under. All start at Tiger Stadium, the first two at 1 p.m. and the kids' run at 12:30 p.m.

Defense delivers win to Chiefs

BASKETBALL

The only thing missing was Nolan Richardson, Todd Day and Lee Maybury.

Plymouth Canton turned to its "Razorback" style of basketball Friday to gain an 87-69 victory over visiting Livonia Franklin in the first round of the Western Lakes Activities Association boys basketball playoffs.

It was the Chiefs' second victory over Franklin in as many tries. On Tuesday, Canton beat the Patriots, 68-59.

Using a high-paced offense, coupled with a hounding defense, the Chiefs improved to 12-6 overall.

"A team that makes a tournament run usually plays great defense," Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner said. "We knew playing Franklin a second time would be tough. The kids like to call our pressure defense our Arkansas defense. I think it paid off tonight."

Matt Paupore, a 6-foot-3 senior guard, scorched the nets to lead the Chiefs. He scored 19 of his of game-high 29 points in the opening half as Canton bolted out to a 49-34 advantage.

Paupore hit 12 of 20 shots from the floor, including three 3-pointers.

"I felt so good out there," said Paupore, who is being recruited by Wayne State and Northern Michigan. "The last two games I came out tight, so tonight I just tried to relax. I felt every shot was going to go in.

"I usually shoot in streaks, but tonight was my most consistent. I went through my normal pregame routine, although I didn't wear my lucky shorts. I left them in the wash."

At times the speedy Chiefs left Franklin gasping for air and hanging out to dry.

Paupore had plenty of help.

Ron Hunter, a 6-2 sophomore, came off the bench to contribute 23 points. Rob Radney and Tadarius Rachal added 11 and 10, respectively.

"They play harder I think than anybody in our league," said Franklin coach Larry Jackson, whose team slipped to 10-8 overall. "They're after you all the time. We tried and ran every press-breaker we had in our arsenal."

Canton came out cold to open the second half and Franklin took advantage by cutting the deficit to seven, 52-45, on Mark Baluk's rebound basket with 2:51 left in the period.

"When they made their run we didn't execute our offense," Van Wagoner said. "Also, the first five or six minutes we stopped guarding people."

The Patriots had their chances to cut into the lead even further, but Greg Maple had a shot blocked underneath and four consecutive missed free throws sent the Chiefs off and running again.

Radney's three-point play to end the third gave Canton a 61-49 advantage.

The Chiefs went on to outscore Franklin 26-20 in the final quarter.

For the night, Canton hit 36 of 79 shots for 45 percent, while Franklin made 39 of 64 (39 percent).

Franklin committed 24 turnovers to Canton's 18.

"The talk for us all year and our main goal is to be there on championship Friday (at Northville)," Van Wagoner said. "But tonight this was only step one. But our guys are really focused right now."

Jason Maschke, a 6-3 senior forward, led Franklin with 22 points. Maple and Baluk chipped in with 15 and 14, respectively, while Clem Herrera added 11.

Canton will go on the road Tuesday in a semifinal matchup against Saturday's first-round winner between Plymouth Salem and North Farmington (postponed Friday because of snow).

Franklin, meanwhile, will face the loser away, also on Tuesday.

Rocks stroll to a rematch with Canton

There was, quite apparently, an additional motivational force aiding Plymouth Salem's basketball team in its Western Lakes Activities Association tournament opener against North Farmington Saturday.

The Rocks were without coach Bob Brodie. His absence resulted from a serious accident suffered by his 14-year-old son Joe while skiing Thursday evening at Riverview Highlands.

There were no eyewitnesses to the accident, but it seemed Joe plowed through a retaining fence and ended up in a creek, where he was discovered some time later. He was hospitalized in critical condition with undetermined spinal injuries.

According to Salem assistant coach Rick Wilson, whose wife is a nurse attending to Joe Brodie, there was some movement in his fingers and toes — a promising sign.

With the plight of both their

Tiebreaking formula takes Salem out early

So much for seeding.

Nothing followed form at Saturday's Western Lakes Activities Association volleyball championships at Livonia Churchill — except that the champion is used to that designation.

The same two teams — Livonia's Stevenson and Churchill — met in last year's final, with Stevenson winning. It wasn't supposed to be that way this time.

Indeed, according to the seeding, those two teams should never have made it to the finals. But they did, with Churchill — winner of six previous WLAA titles — prevailing over Stevenson 15-10, 15-7.

So, even though this was old stuff to Charger coach Mike Hughes, was this title special? "Unquestionably," he answered, "because we were definitely the underdogs."

Which prompts the obvious question: Where the heck were the favorites?

No. 1 seed Plymouth Salem, which breezed through the league season unbeaten through 11 matches, and No. 2 Walled Lake Central failed to survive pool play.

Salem's loss was particularly painful. The Rocks, Farmington Harrison and upstart Livonia Franklin all posted 4-2 records in pool play. All three of them split their two-game sets with each other. That brought the next tie-breaker into play — point differential in games against each other.

Franklin took the top spot in the pool (the first two advanced) with a plus-five. Harrison was a minus-two in its four games against Franklin and Salem; the Rocks were a minus-three.

The Hawks advanced by a single point scored in those four games.

"It was partially the format," admitted Salem co-coach Allie Suffety. "But we had some lapses during play. That's what happens with a young team."

Stevenson had a young team, too, after losing its coach and starting

Salem rules WLAA again

In the final analysis, Plymouth Salem's loss Feb. 21 to Plymouth Canton in its dual-meet finale may have been a turning point for the Rocks.

They had been performing well, it's true, but they didn't quite seem up to defending their Class A gymnastics championship. And time was running low, with the Western Lakes Activities Association meet Thursday and the regional and state finals all that remained.

The Chiefs' 136.4-135.6 upset victory may have shaken Salem up just enough. No, the Rocks did not put their best lineup out against Canton, but they still could have, and probably should have, won.

There were no such mistakes repeated in Thursday's WLAA meet at Westland John Glenn. Salem simply dominated, posting the state's best score this season in romping to its fifth-straight league title.

The Rocks finished with 142.75 points, more than a point better than their previous best this season. Canton placed second (again — the Chiefs' fourth consecutive year as runners-up) with a team season-best score of 139.75.

Host John Glenn was third (131.45), followed by North Farmington (125.40), Farmington (117.75) and Walled Lake (111.90).

"I'm very happy," said a glowing Johanna Anderson, Salem's coach. Anderson felt personally responsible for the loss to Canton and said so; she didn't put her best team up against the Chiefs, and it ended up costing them.

Kristen Kosik (Salem), 34.35; 7. Brie Wall (Canton), 34.25; 8. Zoe Yockey (Salem) and Shelley Underwood (Glenn), 33.55.

If their confidence had been shaken, the Rocks didn't show it Thursday. "They're really excited now for regionals and state because they know they can win it again."

The depth of their talent makes the Rocks a formidable foe. There are five Division I-level gymnasts on the team: Melissa Hopson, Sarah Makins, Alysia Sofios, Kristen Kosik and Zoe Yockey. By comparison, Canton has one.

But she's a good one — freshman Katey Gilles. Gilles extended her unbeaten streak in the all-around (she has yet to lose in high school competition) and set a new Canton school record in the process, breaking her own mark of 37.60 with a 37.75.

Gilles was first in the vault (9.5), balance beam (9.4) and floor exercise (9.6) and second in the uneven parallel bars (9.25).

Salem's Hopson was second in the all-around with a 36.30, followed by teammates Sofios (35.95) and Makins (35.85). North Farmington's Michelle Tsai took fifth (34.55), with Salem's Kosik (34.35) sixth, Canton's Brie Wall (34.25) seventh and, tied for eighth, Shelly Underwood of John Glenn and Salem's Yockey (33.55).

"We had an excellent meet," said John Cunningham, Canton's coach, noting his team's three-point improvement in its final score. "(Salem) had to do a little work (to win)."

The difference, he thought, was Sofios, who joined the team late because of her time spent on the Salem cheerleading squad. She did not compete against Canton last Monday.

"She has some work to do, but she's the one who will elevate them," predicted Cunningham of Sofios.

As for his own team, the performances of Wall, Kim Nowak and Adrienne Brenner gave him confidence going into the regional and state meets. "This is what the kids have to do," he said, noting the personal bests posted by several Chiefs in several events. "And they know what they have to do."

Nowak took a third in the floor (9.4) and a seventh in the bars (8.5); Brenner was seventh in the beam (8.4). Wall's scores: 8.6 in the beam (fifth), 8.8 in the floor, 8.7 in the bars and 8.15 in the vault. Kari Jackson added a fifth in the vault (8.7).

For Salem, Makins finished first in the bar (9.3), fourth in the beam (8.95) and floor (9.25), and sixth in the vault (8.35). Hopson was second in both the beam (9.35) and floor (9.50), third in the bar (9.1) and tied Makins for sixth in the vault (8.35).

Sofios took third in the beam (9.2), fourth in the vault (8.85), tied for fourth in the floor (9.25) and sixth in the bar (8.65). Kosik was third in the vault (8.95) and tied for fourth in the floor (9.25), and Yockey was eighth in the vault (8.3).

Other top scorers: North's Tsai, second in the vault (9.0) and fourth in both the bar (9.0) and floor (9.25); Glenn's Underwood, eighth in the beam (8.35) and floor (9.2), and Sara Coombs, sixth in the beam (8.5); and Farmington's Carrie Smolenski, eighth in the beam (8.35).

The regional will be Thursday at Canton. The state final is scheduled for March 11-12 at Glenn.

Shamrocks win league

By Steve Kowalski
Staff Writer

A going away present?

Bernie Holowicki still shrugs when asked if he'll return next year as the Redford Catholic Central boys basketball coach but if he doesn't, he'll at least have a Catholic League championship to remember his last season by.

The Shamrocks continued their glorious season with a surprisingly easy, 69-45 victory over Detroit St. Martin DePorres in the championship game Sunday at the University of Detroit-Mercy's Calihan Hall.

The win, which improved CC to 14-4 overall, was the first Catholic League title for the Shamrocks since 1989 and the seventh in Holowicki's 23 years at the school. Holowicki has never lost a Catholic League championship game.

"Winning never gets old," said Holowicki, 62, rumored to be in his last year as coach. "My theory is you win with good people and you lose with good people. We have real good people here and it makes it fun. They're just a bunch of blue-collar kids who work hard."

Although Holowicki has said it is up to CC whether he returns, athletic director Bob Santello said after the victory he had no comment about the issue.

The Shamrocks play Detroit Public School League champion Murray Wright in the Operation Friendship game at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Calihan Hall.

Of the five players who scored for CC, four are seniors. Senior guard Andy Slankster scored a career-high 24 points and had a game-high 10 rebounds, senior center Joe Daly had 16 points and eight rebounds and guard Anthony Hesano had 13 points.

The Shamrocks have won seven games in a row.

"The whole thing this year is to 'make it a memory' — coach's 600th victory, the Catholic League championship," said Hesano, who had the hustle play of the day, crashing into the scorer's table for a loose ball in the fourth quarter. "Us five seniors knew what we had to do. We had a talk one day at practice, said 'playoff time,' is 'senior time.' We knew it was our 13 guys on our own. Kids at school jumped on us (early) when we lost and then jumped on the bandwagon when we won."

DePorres, No. 1 ranked in Class C, made only 16-of-59 shots from the floor (27 percent) and was outrebounded, 36-29.

DePorres, 16-2 overall, forced seven CC turnovers in the first quarter to lead 15-11 but a 13-0 run in the second quarter by the Shamrocks changed the momentum.

The Shamrocks committed only eight turnovers after the first quarter and led 28-21 at halftime and 44-33 after three quarters.

The frustration got to the Eagles with 2:04 left in the fourth quarter when Keifer Oliver was assessed with an intentional foul. The bench received a technical foul and coach Derrick Owens after a meeting with the official.

1:30.23. Salem was fourth in both the 200 medley and 400 free relays.

"Our relays swam well," said Olson. But did anyone in particular, in any event, look particularly good? "Just pick a name out," he answered.

OK, here's a prime example. In the 100 breaststroke, Salem's Scott Allen was seeded 17th after Thursday's preliminaries with a 1:09.26. In the best swim of his Salem career, he finished 13th in 1:08.34.

"He's a four-year swimmer who really stepped up," said Olson. "That's what our team is all about."

North's Karl Kozicki and Jon Kershaw and Northville's Jeff Sieving all enjoyed outstanding finals. Each won two individual events.

Kozicki's firsts came in the 200 individual medley (1:57.12) and the 500 free (4:41.18 — breaking his own league record of 4:42.62, set last year). Kershaw won the 200 free (1:44.16) and the 100 free (47.80), outdueling sprinters Locke from Salem and Jeff Clark from Canton in the latter.

Sieving, a sophomore, was a bit of a surprise, collecting firsts in the 100 butterfly (55.07) and the 100 breast (1:00.85). Sieving was seeded sixth in the 100 breast going into the final, but beat highly-regarded Falk Roading of Stevenson and Randy Cobb of Franklin.

Canton's Clark did get a win in his specialty, the 50 free (21.72 — a league record, topping Jeff Seifert of Walled Lake Central's 21.88 set in 1988). Other individual wins went to Northville's Jason Fisher in the 100 backstroke (54.14) and Canton's Jason Fowler in the diving (442 points).

In the 200 medley relay, Northville's Fisher, Peter Anthony, Sieving and Jason Lennig were winners (1:38.32 — a league record, bettering North's '92 mark of 1:38.72), and in the 400 free relay, North's Kershaw, Kozicki, Drew Sopha and Jason Speer took first (3:17.19).

One first, two seconds (Locke in the 50 free, 22.19, and Aaron Berlin in the 100 fly, 55.48) and two thirds (Locke in the 100 free, 48.56, and Bracht in the 50 free, 22.67) — hardly sounds like championship material.

But as Olson summed up: "It was because everybody did their job. We just didn't have a bad event."

coach and his son in mind, the Salem players taped the initials "JB" to their jerseys for Saturday's game — then quickly took complete command.

The Rocks outscored North 22-12 in the first quarter and led 42-27 by halftime. The gap just kept growing in the second half — it was 65-42 entering the final period.

Four Rocks reached double figures in scoring: Sanj Seth (17 points), James Head and Justin Marcis (13 each) and Harold Shanks (10). Adam Hammons added nine.

lineup from its championship team of a year ago. But the Spartans advanced with a 4-2 pool record, beating both Plymouth Canton (15-11, 15-5) and North Farmington (15-7, 15-11) but losing to Churchill (15-13, 15-9).

They knocked off Northville in the quarterfinals (15-6, 15-7) and Franklin in the semis (15-12, 15-2) to set up the rematch with Churchill.

The Chargers were 6-0 in pool play, also besting Canton (15-7, 15-1) and North (15-2, 15-7). In the quarters, they ousted Harrison (15-11, 15-1), and in the semis, they defeated Westland John Glenn (15-2, 15-8).

In the third pool, Glenn advanced with a 6-0 mark, topping Northville (15-3, 15-4), Farmington (15-3, 15-10) and Central (15-11, 15-12). Northville advanced by edging Central on a tie-breaker. Both were 3-3 and split with each other, but the Mustangs advanced on point differential.

"A lot of teams went home early," noted first-year Stevenson coach Kelly Graham. "We played probably the best we've played all year. They moved and hit the ball hard.

"But the last two games (against Churchill) they looked tired. They just didn't have it in them."

Churchill did, as Hughes noticed. Tradition played a part, to be sure; before Stevenson beat the Chargers last year, they had won five straight WLAA championships.

The difference this time, according to Hughes, was "we served tough, which makes it difficult for the other teams to get the ball to their big hitters."

Hughes had tinkered with his lineup throughout the season, one reason for Churchill's 7-4 conference record and No. 3 seeding in the tournament (Stevenson was No. 4).

"We had been playing very inconsistently," he said. "Just last week, we started playing more consistently. And we've been real tough on defense."

And they also have a strong setter in Amy Cousino. "She was absolutely outstanding today," he said. "We use a 5-1 lineup, which means she has to do all the setting, and I know she had to be exhausted."

Cousino finished with 70 assists to kills in the tournament. Sarah Fabirkiewicz led Churchill with 39 kills, including four against Stevenson in the final. Renee Tomlinson had five kills to lead the Chargers against Stevenson.

Candice Ribar led the Chargers' strong serving contingent, serving for 40 tournament points.

Both Churchill, with a 21-8-7 overall record, and Stevenson, with an 18-15-9 mark, will take a lot of momentum into Saturday's Class A districts.

Don't delay: U.S. Open already drawing lots of entries

TEN-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

Things are heating up at Bowl One Lanes in Troy, getting ready for the big one — the U.S. Open Pro Bowlers Tour in April.

The pro-am squads are filling up, so anyone interested in participating should not delay. Get the entries in right away, as all Saturday squads are now filled. The remaining openings are Friday night or Sunday afternoon. Check with Bowl One at 588-4850 for squad times still available.

The entrants receive a new Rhino RE bowling ball by Brunswick, and the pro-am winners get a trip for two to Hawaii and $2,000 in cash.

Most of the top names in bowling will be on hand for this event, including Walter Ray Williams, Marshall Holman, Pete Weber, Brian Voss, Del Ballard, John Mazza and Harry Sullins. Nelson Burton will also be bowling in this one.

The Press Party will be Monday, March 7, with several pros on hand for interviews along with the current president of the B.P.A.A. John La Spina, proprietor of Gil Hodges Lanes in Brooklyn, N.Y.

■ As reported in this column a few weeks ago, Tom Baranski set an all-time ABC record for longest interval between 300 games: 24 years.

It is now likely the previous record holder was a local bowler — Archie Fiorenzi, now 81 years old and living in Allen Park.

His son, Jim, informed me the first 300 was on Dec. 5, 1937, at the old Fort Park Recreation in Detroit. Twenty-two years later Archie fired his second perfect game on Feb. 8, 1960, at the old Highland Park Recreation with a 754 series.

Archie Fiorenzi was a very good bowler in those days, averaging near 200 and competing with the likes of Ed Lubanski, Therm Gibson and Spider King. He bowled actively until last year when leg injuries forced him to give up the game. Fiorenzi had retired from driving a beer truck for Don Lee distributors.

■ Have you seen the promos for the movie "Greedy?" It looks like a very funny and entertaining movie, featuring Michael J. Fox as a pro bowler. Gotta see it!

How about the TV commercials shown during the Winter Olympics, one with a pick-up truck going "truck bowling" and another from a pain reliever in which the "painee" says "I even went bowling last night!"

BROADCASTING SALES
Q95 FM
DO YOU LOVE TO SELL?
... and do you have the creativity and the marketing smarts to develop highly profitable ad campaigns?
• Can you be direct and convincing when you know it's right for the client?
• Do you naturally earn trust with the people you meet?
• Do you always live up to your commitments, even if it requires going the extra mile?
• Do you consistently out produce others with whom you work?
Q95FM (WKQI) has two key sales openings right now...
Account Manager (marketing specialist)
Account Manager (consumer products specialist)
Both positions require bright, resourceful, highly motivated and commited players who will venture out into the market to create high-dollar-potential prospects and to develop profitable new opportunities for both advertiser and station.
Q95 is owned by Broadcasting Partners, Inc., a company that proves its commitment to its people by providing a culture focused on excellence, the industry's finest training, the marketing resources you need to get the job done, and unlimited earning potential.
If you have marketing knowhow...and the burning desire to keep selling...take the first step now...

HOROSCOPE

By C. C. Clark

Aries (March 21 - April 20)
If you're sitting around waiting for something to happen, it won't. Get out and take charge of your life. You know how to play the game.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)
You may have to walk away from a situation you have wanted for a long time because the timing isn't right. Is it possible the real problem is fear?

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)
The depression and anxiety you have been suffering will soon give way to a feeling of rebirth. Breathe deeply and plunge back into life.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)
There is a greedy man in your future, and he does not have your best interests at heart. Take a good look at all financial dealings.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)
You must take responsibility for your own actions and deal with the consequences. Look out for someone with a hidden agenda.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)
The wheel of fortune is spinning your way, and who knows where it might land? Big changes are definitely in your future.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
There are generous people who want to help you, but you may have trouble trusting them. A love relationship will be heightened.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)
You are ready to take on whatever or whoever may head your way. Be strong in your beliefs and rely on your instincts.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)
Your world will seem to slow down, and there will not be so many different things vying for your attention. Relax and enjoy some downtime.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)
Weigh your options carefully and do what you know is right. This is not a good time to lend money to someone close to you.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
You may feel as though your world will never be as wonderful as you would like, but that may not be true. It takes time to accomplish goals.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)
A message about something important will keep you occupied for a while. You must take another person's welfare into consideration.

'David's Mother' is not just a disease-of-the-week film

By Ted Kusio

Too many television movies deal with diseases or illnesses. And since they never seem to go beyond melodrama or pity, there's no real reason to watch a new one.

Or is there?

"David's Mother," which airs Sunday, March 6, on CBS, breaks free of the dull mold. Granted, it features a single mother struggling to raise her autistic son, but it's not the same old thing.

"It was written pretty well," explains Michael Goorjian, who plays the autistic David at age 17. "It wasn't a disease-of-the-week story."

Instead of centering on the tragedy of autism, or the difficulties surrounding the upbringing of an autistic child, "David's Mother" is more subtle. It's about a woman who is struggling with more basic aspects of life, and an autistic son is part of her life. The story is then realized with believable portrayals of complex characters by a terrific cast.

Kirstie Alley stars as Sally Goodson, a witty and charismatic yet troubled woman who devotes all of her time and energy to raising her autistic son, David. Steve Ivany, who is autistic, portrays the young David, along with Goorjian.

But Sally's unconditional commitment to David leads to divorce and alienates her daughter. Her sister, played by Stockard Channing, offers support, but a social worker (Phylicia Rashad) awakens concern that David may need more than just his mother's love. Sally's new romantic relationship with a successful salesman (Sam Waterston) strengthens those concerns.

Alley, Channing and Waterston all shine in the foreground of "David's Mother," but it's Goorjian's portrayal of David that truly breathes life into the film. Part of this should be attributed to his understanding of autism.

"With autistics it's not kind of a general thing," Goorjian says. "Each individual has their specific things that they do, and routines."

Because of this, Goorjian made sure he would portray David as an individual, not just a person with autism.

"For the most part it was just imagination," he says. "I did a lot of research."

His research included observing autistic people at schools in Los Angeles and Toronto, where "David's Mother" was filmed. He also worked closely with Andrea Rifkin, who was technical consultant for the film. Rifkin works with autistic childrn in Toronto and is a pioneer in the development of alternative communication technigues for people with autism.

To further flesh out his research and the technical aspects of autism, Goorjian applied some first-hand experience.

"I grew up near a kid who was autistic; a lot of what I did was based on my memories of him."

During filming Goorjian immersed himself in the part.

"I would get reading in the morning and then pretty much stay in character most of the day. I think to give justice to the part it kind of required that. I think it would be tremendously difficult to do that, and then go in and out of character all day long."

His method was taxing, and it dod put a bit of distance between him and his co-stars, but it was also beneficial.

"I think I gained something more, as opposed to going crazy. To be able to spend all that time focusing on something else normally you don't focus on, to try to be completely detached to everything, opposed to constantly being connected to what's going on, there's a lot of things that I noticed, a lot of things that you don't normally look at. I was fortunate enough to be in a situation where I was sort of forced to focus in on those things."

Goorjian's effort and dedication to his role pays off with a wonderful peformance in a film that manages to avoid cliches.

And by skipping the manipulative desire to generate pity, "David's Mother" may actually create some understanding for people with autism. Perhaps it will even help viewers realize their humanity.

HIGHLIGHTS

Host David Suchet examines some lesser-known British royal ceremonies in "Days of Majesty," airing on PBS Monday, Feb. 28 (check local listings).

Suchet takes viewers on a journey behind the scenes at such notable royal events as the traditional hostage-taking of a member of Parliament and the ritual capture of swans on the Thames, known as "swan upping."

The program also includes archival footage of Queen Elizabeth's coronation in 1953.

HIGHLIGHTS

Garry Shandling makes his fourth appearance as host of the recording industry's most prestigious ceremony in the 36th annual "Grammy Awards" on CBS, Tuesday, March 1.

Musician-composer Sting scored big this year with six Grammy nominations including record, album and song of the year.

R.E.M., Whitney Houston and Billy Joel received four nominations each. Composer Alan Menken and producer David Foster each garnered five nominations.

SOAP WORLD

Glynnis O'Connor leaving 'ATWT'

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Dear Candace: A friend of mine told me that the actress who plays Margo on "As the World Turns" has been fired. I can't believe it! I thought she really was talented. Can you tell me if this is true? –Rosemary in Michigan.

Dear Reader: Glynnis O'Connor took on the popular role of Margo on "As the World Turns" a year ago and even then was having second thoughts about it. "Margo is really one of the most difficult characters I have ever had to play," she says. "She is really my opposite and is a very aggressive person. It takes a great deal out of me each day to get that across."

O'Connor was looking forward to the day when she didn't have to work so many hours and could spend more time with her daughter, Lindsay. Unfortunately that never happened. The actress was leaving before her daughter woke up and coming home after Lindsay had gone to bed.

The actress said she actually was grateful when she and executive producer Laurence Caso recently decided she was not right for the part. O'Connor was technically fired, but she was very happy about it.

There have been several rumors about who will replace O'Connor. In fact, three of the actresses who have previously played the role of Margo may be available.

Hillary B. Smith is on "One Life to Live" as Nora, but her contract is up in June. Smith was a fan favorite in the role, and she has said on several occasions that she would never say never to playing Margo again.

Ellen Dolan has been doing some guest spots in prime time in California, but she might not want to return to the East Coast.

Margaret Colin, who is married to Justin Deas (Buzz, "Guiding Light"), is in town, but it is doubtful she will return to the daytime scene.

There is also a good chance the show's executives will try to find a new actress to portray the character.
