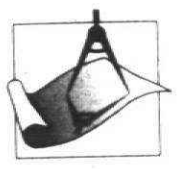
Preservation costs questioned



The move to preserve the historic Travis House in Canton Township is facing some opposition and some questions about the cost. Yet the township has approved spending money on the project, which could cost up to $240,000.

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

For Canton trustee Bob Shefferly, enough is enough when it comes to preservation of the historic Travis House.

"I have to back off and take a hard look at where our money is going," said Shefferly, who opposed hiring historic preservationist Rex Harvey of Plymouth to renovate the Travis House exterior this year.

The township board agreed to hire Harvey at $32.50 an hour, not to exceed $39,000, which doesn't include materials. Treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter questioned if Harvey could charge more if necessary because of an available $91,000 (which includes materials) for exterior renovation. The total renovation is expected to cost about $240,000, including site work.

"We have spent what I consider a large amount of grant money to have the house moved (several years ago)," Shefferly said. He said it's unknown just how much the total renovation will cost because other projects, such as Sheldon School and Cherry Hill Schoolhouse, were more costly because of unanticipated problems.

He expressed concern about spending money on the house when he's heard rumors of a possible township millage increase. "I have to back off and take a hard look at where our money is going," Shefferly said.

He also questioned the purpose of the Travis House on Ridge Road. "I would like to know how it is unique," Shefferly said. The Canton Historic District Commission is considering the house and its 20 acres as a farmstead and museum. He pointed to nearby similar facilities such as Greenmead and Greenfield Village.

Workplaces welcome sons and daughters

This going to work thing isn't all grim.

Sarah Cooper, 12, and her sister, Angie, 14 — along with Ryan Williams, 10 — laughed along with their parents when a rock band video popped up unexpectedly during a demonstration of a new video information system at West Middle School.

They were with their parents, Nic Cooper, a counselor at West, and Tom Williams, a sixth-grade teacher, who brought their kids to work Thursday.

Around Plymouth and Canton, and around the country, parents and kids participated Thursday in "Take Our Daughters to Work Day," or "Take Our Daughters and Sons to Work Day."

The event, which originated as a day to take daughters to work to observe the workplace, has expanded to include boys for some businesses and institutions.

The Plymouth-Canton schools put together a program for the day. Students who wanted to participate filled out forms, and school staffers

Magic Riders go the distance to help needy kids

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

This year's Magic Ride will offer the choice of bicycling or walking to raise money for the prevention of child abuse and neglect.

"If they are interested in walking or riding, they can register the day of the ride," said Sandra Murphy, executive director of the Child Abuse Prevention Council of Out-Wayne County.

Magic Ride is 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, May 7, at the Canton Township Recreation Complex, behind township hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road. Money for child abuse councils is raised from pledges taken by bicyclists and walkers, as well as participants' registration fees.

"All is returned to the child abuse council of where the walker or bicyclist is from," Murphy said.

Participants who have not registered in advance may sign up 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the recreation complex. Children younger than 12 years must be accompanied by an adult. Family activities such as games, music and crafts are planned for the day.

Registration fees the day of the event are $15 without a special Magic Ride T-shirt or $20 with T-shirt. The family rate (four members) is $50.

A highlight of the event is a celebrity ride with retired Detroit Pistons star Vinnie Johnson at 10 a.m. Johnson and community leaders will ride a one-mile police escorted route.

"I can't tell you how many people are excited about this," Murphy said, adding participants are welcome to join in the celebrity ride.

Walking loops and bike routes begin and end at Canton Township Recreation Complex. Walking loops are well-suited for strollers and children on tricycles and are eight-tenths of a mile long.

Bike routes are clearly marked with stakes and signs and follow scenic, paved country roads in Wayne and Washtenaw counties. If you are an average rider it will take you one hour to ride 10 miles. Routes are 4, 14, 25

Dress down

Twenty-nine Canton Public Library staff members and volunteers raised $211 for the Leukemia Society of America during their Dress Down Day April 20.

Staff and volunteers were able to wear blue jeans and T-shirts for the fund-raiser during National Library Week, said Marcia Barker, library friends and volunteers coordinator.

The society has special meaning for Barker, whose husband, Harvey, had leukemia five years ago. There are 15 types of leukemia. "The society helped by paying for the plan to take him to Seattle for treatment," Barker said.

Tree-planting program offered

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

If you want to beautify your subdivision, Canton Township has a tree-planting program for you.

"What a difference street trees make after 20 years. They soften it up," said Township Supervisor Tom Yack.

Subdivisions and residents are invited to participate in a tree-planting program in which the township will share costs. Residents or subdivisions pay only 50 percent of a tree. For example, a 1½-inch caliper tree would cost residents a maximum $75, a 2½-caliper, $150.

Contractors retained by the township plant, mulch and stake the trees, which have a one-year guarantee. "If it dies it will be replaced one time," said Paula Preston Bratto, township landscape architect.

The trees cannot be planted on private property but are targeted for rights-of-way between sidewalks and road curbs and for subdivision commons areas. "Whenever possible, we will try to accommodate their choice (of trees and location)," Preston Bratto said.

Residents or subdivisions interested in the program should call Preston Bratto, 397-5468, or stop by the township building department.

The township board approved a bid from B&P Landscaping of Canton for the 1994 tree planting program. Cherry Hill Orchards and Greenbrook subdivisions ordered trees for the spring program (Aug. 1-Jan. 31), which will be planted by May 31.

Subdivisions and residents who order trees now through July 31 will be part of the fall tree-planting program.

"Most of the new subdivisions have tree plans in place. If it can be followed (with types of trees and location), we would like to do that," Preston Bratto said.

Trees that will not be planted include silver maples, willows, elms, poplars and box elders. Evergreens and other ornamental trees also won't be planted because of Wayne County standards, Preston Bratto said.

"It is very convenient for residents. They don't have to worry about gas services or anything else (when planting)," said Aaron Machnik, municipal services director.

The township also participates in a builder-sponsored tree-planting program in which builders are required to plant trees or provide money to plant trees in subdivisions.

"I think you'll see some reduction in this program in the next few years," Machnick said. Builders, he added, want to take care of the program themselves.

School finalist visits district

The third semifinalist for Plymouth-Canton school superintendent is visiting the district today, Monday, May 2, and Tuesday, May 3.

A public reception will be from 8-9:30 p.m. today for Gary Hughes, superintendent of Durand public schools, at the E.J. McClendon Educational Center, 454 S. Harvey in Plymouth.

Durand is between Flint and Lansing. Hughes will be interviewed for a final time by the board 4-7 p.m. Tuesday. The board and administrators planned to have dinner with Hughes before the 8 p.m. reception.

A board subcommittee plans to visit the hometown of the finalist selected for the job before making a hiring decision May 16. The other two semifinalists are Dr. Charles Little of Frontier public schools near Buffalo, N.Y., and Dr. Robert Monson of the Westwood school district in suburban Boston, Mass.

Cancer fighter has friends

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

Meijer employees in Canton are continuing to do all they can to help a former co-worker who is fighting a rare form of cancer.

A series of fund-raisers has generated $5,144 to help Inkster resident Gale Peters, 20, pay medical bills. Peters has choriocarcinoma, a rare cancer that strikes 1 in 40,000 women. The cancer affects the liver, lungs and kidneys.

"She's due to go in for another treatment," said Rose Kaifish, a cashier, who with a number of other employees organized a quilt sale, raffles and a managers auction to raise money for Peters.

Sherray Peters, Gale's mother, has taken a leave from her Meijer job to care for her daughter.

The queen size quilt, made by employees, raised $836 when sold. Two raffles raised more than $1,500. The managers auction, which allowed employees to bid on managers to do their jobs, raised more than $1,000. Employees also had a baked goods and craft sale, which generated more than $700.

"This will help pay her medical bills. Blue Cross-Blue Shield dropped her because she is no longer a full-time student," Kaifish said.

Peters was in her first year of nursing school last year at Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., when she was stricken with severe stomach pains. After a number of tests, doctors diagnosed her illness as cancer.

"Her dream is to go back to school," Kaifish said. Peters is now back in Canton and is being treated at Hutzel Hospital, Detroit.

Employees are organizing another raffle that will involve donations from Meijer and other Canton businesses. They also are having a couple car washes, the next on Saturday, May 7, at John Rogin auto dealership in Wayne.

A committee of employees organized the fund-raisers. They are Kaifish, Judy Phelps, Gary Fett, Patty Sowels, Dan Gauley, Nina McKay, Joan Maynard and Steve Briske.

Used book sale provides food for thought

The Plymouth Branch, American Association of University Women, will hold its annual used book sale 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday, May 5-6, and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, May 7, at Starkweather Center, 550 N. Holbrook in Plymouth's Old Village.

"It all goes to scholarships, basically scholarships for women," said Carol Davis of Plymouth Township, book sale chairwoman. "It's been a phenomenal amount of money."

Scholarship support goes to students at Michigan State University, the University of Michigan, Schoolcraft College, Plymouth-Canton Community Education and others.

"We have all kinds of good books," Davis said. Many mysteries will be available at this year's sale, the 40th such event. There's a larger than usual number of children's books, some donated from school libraries.

AAUW members hold a mini-sale of paperbacks each September during Plymouth Fall Festival, and will continue that tradition this year.

Costs of state-mandated testing vex educators

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth-Canton school officials are wondering where they're going to get the money to pay for upgraded testing the state is mandating.

On Christmas Eve, the Legislature passed Public Acts 335 and 339 which require more in-depth testing of students.

"This is high stakes legislation," executive director for instruction Tom Tattan told the Board of Education Monday. "We'll need $85,000 plus staff development costs yearly."

"We will lose funding of 5 percent per year, per school that doesn't achieve the state formula," added Ellison Franklin, curriculum coordinator.

Students now take a standardized test called the Michigan Educational Assessment Program in fourth, fifth, seventh, eighth and 11th grades. Students will be tested differently and more frequently in the future.

They'll see exams requiring more writing and fewer multiple-choice responses. Districts will have to find retired teachers, or pay their own staff, to correct essays, said Franklin. "It's a very different way of assessment. We've never done anything like this before," she said.

There'll also be changes in early elementary education.

"We're absent some type of measuring device to show how children are progressing in the program," said Patrick O'Donnell, executive director for instruction. "The Early Childhood Advisory Committee is willing to explore multiple options, and wants to find something so staff and principals can say, 'This program is benefiting students.'"

State mandates also will mean added expense for textbooks and training. Plymouth-Canton currently teaches life, earth, and physical science. "They want us to be integrated under themes, such as energy," said Franklin. "If we change, our texts won't be applicable. And teachers will need extensive training in integrating disciplines."

Another change will give school districts 12 months to bring poor readers up to grade level. "These remediation issues are going to impact on costs," said Tattan.

"It's staggering, and it gets worse every time you turn around," said trustee Carl Battishill. "There are constantly more expectations from the state and fewer dollars. It's a vise."

Superintendent John Hoben said, "One thing that disturbs me is that they can lay all this on us, but somewhere along the line, they have to help. I don't think local districts can carry all this baggage."

Districts already are being required to do more. To receive state-endorsed diplomas, students must now pass the MEAP. In Plymouth-Canton, 900 students are retaking the state test. "We have to pay for that, and now we're talking about multiple re-tests," said Tattan.

Michigan has lots of company, said O'Donnell. "Assessment in the nation is changing radically," he said. "The MEAP alone is not tailored for what we need to do as a district to get a better, broader picture of the district. Testing has never done much for students at risk, or for students identified as handicapped."

Teacher gets high 'Marx'

A winner: Teacher Stu Raben said he owes his Extra Miler award to many people he works with, including teachers, secretaries, bus drivers and parents.

Stuart Raben knew he was going to be honored as the Plymouth-Canton school board's "Extra Miler," Monday, but something the Groucho Marx look-alike didn't expect was the sight of Marx doubles throughout the meeting room.

The teacher got a good laugh when he looked up and saw board members, staff, parents and students who'd suddenly donned dark-framed glasses, replete with bulbous plastic noses and bushy fake mustaches.

School board president Roland Thomas took his glasses off to read what Extra Miler nominators had to say about Raben. "I'm not wearing these, because I can't read what I wrote," said Thomas.

Thomas praised Raben not only for being an excellent teacher "who helps students live each day to the fullest," but also for being an "early leader in drug and alcohol rehabilitation. He's very patriotic and helps students strive for the American dream," Thomas said.

"One parent said he has a child with multiple problems who said he didn't need to go to a counselor because Mr. Raben always has time to talk to me," said Thomas.

Staffers and parents who nominated him said he "accepts all students equally and helps each one to develop self esteem."

"He is a strong, committed teacher whose focus is always on the children's well-being," said Field principal Larry Miller. "In today's world, it's unusual to find someone who can always make things better. Stu has that capacity, whether with students, staff or the community."

Raben has volunteered on the district's I Care Committee, the Substance Abuse Committee, the Mainstreaming Workshop Committee and the Administrative Intern Program.

Thomas received a certificate, a Flag of Learning and Libert pin, and a dining certificate for two donated by the Roman Forum in Canton.

Angry teen creates worries during incident at center

Listed below are some of the Canton police incidents, fire calls and court cases reported during the past week:

■ ATTEMPTED ROBBERY

Employees of Canton Fun Center, 45211 Michigan Ave., believed a customer had a gun under a shirt as he demanded the return of his money, April 27.

An employee told a 13-year-old boy he could not use the go-carts because he pulled a cable making one move faster. He told the boy he couldn't return his money but gave him a ticket for 10 free laps for another day.

The boy became upset and demanded his money. The employee, who declined, asked the boy to leave. Another employee saw the boy say to friends, "Give me the keys (to a car). I'm going to take care of this," according to a police report.

The boy apparently went to a Ford Thunderbird, reached into the trunk and put something under his shirt. An employee then called Canton police.

With one hand under his shirt the boy walked up to the register and demanded his money. The employee told police he believed the boy had a gun. The employee was behind a glass barrier and locked door. When he told the boy the police were on their way, the boy walked back to the car with his friends and left eastbound on Michigan Avenue.

The boy and his two friends were stopped by police near Canton Center Road. Police ordered the three youths out of the car at gunpoint. The 13-year-old boy told police he didn't have a gun. Police didn't find any weapons in the car. The three youths were identified and released.

■ LARCENIES AND B&ES

A radio valued at $300 and speakers of unknown value were reported stolen from a car parked on Saxony, April 25. Damage to the car was estimated at $100.

A watch, sunglasses and calculator valued at more than $400 plus cash were reported stolen from a house on Buckingham, April 24.

A stereo, television and VCR valued at more than $2,000 were reported stolen from a residence on Carriage Cove, April 26.

Thirty CDs and an AM/FM CD player valued at $900 were reported stolen from a car parked on Nectar, April 25. Damage to the car was estimated at $400.

An amplifier and radio/CD player valued at $700 were reported stolen from a car parked on Nectar, April 27. Damage to the car was estimated at $50.

Twelve CDs and a radio valued at $780 were reported stolen from a car parked on Cranberry, April 20. Damage to the car was estimated at $100.

A wallet from a 52-year-old man was reported stolen from his coat in a lounge at Plymouth Salem High School, April 14. Two suspects were apprehended at the Livonia Mall when they were discovered using the man's credit cards.

Wire wheels valued at $500 were reported stolen from a car parked on Edinburgh, April 26.

■ JUVENILE TRUANCY

Two teen-agers were taken to the Canton Police Department after they were found smoking cigarettes and eating outside the 7-Eleven convenience store, 7171 Canton Center Road, just before 9 a.m. April 25.

When police asked what the youths were doing, they said they were on a lunch break. They later admitted they were skipping school. They were taken to the police station where their parents were asked to return them to school.

and 50 miles long. "We do have maps of all the routes," Murphy said.

Magic Ride is designed to raise money and public awareness of child abuse prevention activities. It is co-sponsored by the child abuse councils of Oakland, Wayne, Washtenaw and Monroe counties in cooperation with Sen. Debbie Stabenow and the Magic Ride Michigan Bicycle Tour.

Prizes also will be given. The top pledge-getter will receive a grand prize of a gift certificate for a bike and helmet. Second, third and fourth prizes will be hotel or restaurant gift certificates. Pledge money must be turned in by June 3 to be eligible for prizes. Biker/walker numbers will be drawn for prizes throughout the day.

Magic Ride has raised more than $114,000 since the event was started in 1990. About 300 bikers and 100 volunteers generally participate.

Participants should bring pledges, water bottle, comfortable shoes, bright layered clothing and rain gear if necessary. Helmets are strongly encouraged and bikers should carry their identification when they ride.

were given a packet of information suggesting activities.

At West Middle School in Plymouth, principal Judy Stone said 250 students weren't at school on Thursday, as they had elected to participate with parents in the event.

The Business-Education Partnership Program, which includes the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, sponsored the program in district middle schools to increase career awareness.

"It's not only the career awareness, it's presenting the whole notion of the world of work," Stone said. "You hear them say, 'I didn't know my mother did all that, or my father.'"

"I brought my kids here last year too," said Cooper, adding, "They kind of get a feel for what I do."

In the lower level of Canton Township hall where the Canton Crickets day care program for 3- and 4-year-olds is housed, Judy Kubik brought her daughter, Kristy, 15, to work at the center.

Helping: Anna Huddleston, who works in the records department at Starkweather Center, brought granddaughter Rachel Cooper to work Thursday.

"I helped the kids put their paint shirts on," Kristy said, smiling, adding she also set out the paints and read to kids.

"I had fun because I like little kids," she said.

Adistra Corp. of Plymouth was one of several area businesses also participating in the program. Kathy Hincher of Adistra said the program there, "Take a Girl to Work Day," has grown in popularity. "There are 46 girls here today. There were 22 last year," she said.

Hincher said that weeks before the event was to take place, "We were getting questions as to whether we were going to do this again this year."

The company scheduled a whole series of activities for the girls, starting with breakfast. "We divided them in groups by ages and we're taking them on a minitour. They learn what we do and the opportunities here," she said.

The tour included some time in the electronic publishing division, where girls got a chance to use computers and create their own certificates showing participation in the event.

sured Shefferly and Kirchgatter that the township's purchasing policy requiring board approval of purchases greater than $5,000 will be followed.

"We put it there (Travis House on Ridge Road). We owe an obligation to finish it. I'll never vote for another one," Yack said.

Trustee John Burdziak expressed concern about Travis House costs but said money already has been spent and the project should be completed.

Trustee Melissa McLaughlin, also a historic district commissioner, said fund-raising for the house is continuing and the hope is to use volunteers to help with the renovation.

She defended the value of the Travis House. "We don't have any high-style architecture. What we have are all country homes. Even the best are simple," she said. "I don't think we should shun our history because we don't have a downtown."

Sheriff would sell guns to raise cash

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department wants to sell 400 guns to a Detroit gun dealer, but county commissioners objected to the plan when asked for permission last week.

The sheriff's department would rather not put more guns in the hands of the public, but the department needs the $37,000 such a sale would generate, said Nancy Mouradian, the chief of staff for Sheriff Robert Ficano.

Sheriff's department materials manager James Carmody appealed unsuccessfully to the county commission's public safety committee last week for permission to sell the guns.

"I understand Bob (Ficano) needs money, but this isn't the way to do it," said commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township. "Police take guns off the street, and government puts guns back on the street. This makes no sense to me."

Commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, who also represents Canton Township, said the guns should be destroyed. "We ought to just melt the damn things down."

The sale would finance the purchase of equipment for the department's tactical operations unit, Mouradian said. "We've been out front with handgun safety and keeping guns off the street for a long time," Mouradian said.

In December 1993 the sheriff's department bought 450 guns from the public. In a similar program just completed the department bought 100 guns.

Of the 400 guns Ficano wants to sell, more than 300 are .38-caliber revolvers, which have been replaced by semiautomatic pistols. And more than 300 of the guns are at least 20 years old, Mouradian said. The plan is to sell the guns to CMP Distributors of Detroit.

Mouradian agrees that putting guns in circulation is not the "best option," and it would be better to simply destroy the guns, but "we are definitely between a rock and a hard place. We have no other funding at our fingertips here. We just don't have monies available."

The next step is to appeal to the commission's ways and means committee, Mouradian said. The committee will be asked to come up with some more money for the sheriff's department to buy the equipment for the tactical operations unit, she said.

Job fair for military veterans set for May

Employers in search of well-qualified, skilled and disciplined employees need look no further than the Michigan Employment Security Commission's veterans job fairs.

The MESC, along with local veterans organizations, is seeking employers with upcoming job openings to participate in several veterans job fairs throughout the state.

Employ A Vet Expo '94, one of five fairs scheduled for this year, will be held Wednesday, May 18, in Detroit. Other veterans job fairs are scheduled this year for Flint, Kalamazoo, University Center and Wyoming.

Employ A Vet Expo '94, offered at no cost to employers or veterans, will be from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Light Guard Armory, 4400 Eight Mile in Detroit. Employers wishing to register for the fair should call Jane Darling of the Sterling Heights MESC office at (810) 939-9668. Preference will be given to those employers anticipating job openings within 90 days of the expo date.

This marks the third year the MESC has sponsored job fairs to help find jobs for veterans affected by the downsizing of the military. The MESC predicts that more than 18,000 veterans and their spouses will return to Michigan's work force in 1994. By 1995, that number will have reached 75,000.

Senate bills spur argument

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

The state Senate has passed two "truth in sentencing" bills amid warnings the election-year bills will drive up prison costs.

"Certain people who are currently allowed to be in corrections centers or half-way houses prior to parole would not be eligible for that until after parole," said Sen. Jack Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, one of two nay votes on the popular bills.

"People want to vote on being tough on prisoners and criminals on a big television day," Welborn said, "but I think it is a mistake to pass legislation that is going to undermine some of the alternative programs we put forth."

But the sponsor, Sen. William Van Regenmorter, R-Jenison, said the cost of letting prisoners go free too soon exceeds, immeasurably, the cost of keeping them behind bars until their minimum sentences have been served.

"The minute that 15-year person walks into the front door at Jackson prison," he said, "that sentence is going to be reduced to about 11.5 years for good time — it really doesn't matter whether you earn it or not."

Final passage came on a 34-2 vote. All area senators voted yes except David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, who was recuperating from surgery.

The bills would:

- Assure that felons who commit crimes of assault crimes would serve at least the minimum sentence in secure confinement. Currently some may be paroled or released to half-way houses.
- Eliminate "good time," which can reduce an inmate's sentence by seven days per month and replace it with "bad time" under which an inmate's sentence could be lengthened beyond the minimum for prison infractions.

According to various fiscal estimates, the bills could cost the state 9,000 additional prison beds (currently 36,000 felons are behind bars), a one-time construction cost of $90 million and annual operating costs of $98 million. This year the Corrections Department budget is $1.1 billion.

Support for the bills came from families of the victims of ex-convict Leslie Allen Williams, who left a trail of four brutally murdered young women in western Oakland and Livingston counties.

Van Regenmorter, chair of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said perpetrators of violent crimes should not be eligible for alternative programs until their minimum sentences have been served.

The Senate amended the bills to include carjacking among crimes to which the bills would apply.

Others are: first- or second-degree murder; kidnapping and hostage-taking; drunken driving or drunken boating that causes death or long-term injury; burning buildings or natural resources; assault; robbery, armed or unarmed robbery; bank robbery; disarming a police officer; breaking and entering an occupied house; and first-degree child abuse and sexually abusive activity.

House votes to give farmers a break on taxes

By Tim Richard
Staff Writer

Nearly all agricultural property will be taxed at the 6-mill homestead property tax rate under a controversial bill passed by the House of Representatives.

Business property and second homes will be taxed 24 mills under Proposal A, the school finance reform plan approved March 15 by voters.

"The bill defines farmland by its use," said the sponsor, Rep. Dan Gustafson, R-Williamston. "That is language tax assessors now use and that is understood at every level of government. That's the language used in this bill."

However, city and suburban lawmakers protested the bill would give an unfair property tax break to farmers while giving rural schools a whopping increase in state aid. But they were on the short end of a 61-39 vote.

Voting yes: Republicans Penny Crissman of Rochester, Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak, Jerry Vorva of Plymouth and Deborah Whyman of Canton.

Voting no: Republicans Lyn Bankes of Livonia, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township; and Democrats Justine Barns of Westland, Maxine Berman of Southfield, David Gubow of Huntington Woods and Richard Young of Dearborn Heights.

Missing the vote were Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills; Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills; and William Keith, D-Garden City. Kaza announced he would have voted yes had he been present.

The bill goes to the Senate, which is expected to pass it despite fiery debate. Gov. John Engler, during the Proposal A campaign, promised to support it in order to win the endorsement of the Farm Bureau.

Young, Democratic co-chair of the House Appropriations Committee, protested:

"Previously, a large number of farm districts were spending approximately $3,200 per child. Under the new state law, the amount will be increased to $5,000 per child.

"They (farmers) will be getting a 40 percent increase in state dollars expended on their children, and now we're going to lower the tax not only on their homesteads but on their economic enterprise, namely their farmland in excess of 100 acres.

"The farmers will receive a 40-percent increase in spending on education for their children while those in urban areas will receive only a 3-percent increase. The farmer will receive additional tax relief; the city dweller will not receive the additional relief," Young said.

The original law, approved by the Legislature on Christmas Eve, gave the 6-mill tax break to owner-occupied farms where the land was contiguous to the homestead. But it charged the 24-mill rate to rented land, non-contiguous land and corporate-owned land.

Gustafson, whose district includes eastern Ingham and western Livingston counties, said his bill will continue to tax commercial storage, processing, distributing, marketing and shipping operations at the 24-mill rate.

But it will make these changes:

- Allow corporations with a single business tax (SBT) liability of less than $20,000 to qualify for the lower rate.
- Allow family farm fruit and vegetable stands to be taxed at the lower rate.
- Apply to rented and discontiguous land.
- Cost schools $20 million in revenue.

Teens are busy buying for prom

Perplexed about what to wear to prom? It's a fantasy kind of night, but your dress should reflect your personality, not the stereotypical prom queen image. The choices are endless and there's a perfect prom look for everyone, from the free spirit to the romantic to the sophisticated glamour girl.

Short and long, black or white, tres expensive and budget boys. I checked them all out and you'll want to do the same. Here are some top picks.

Hannah Rose, 6622 Telegraph Road at Bloomfield Plaza in Bloomfield Hills, is a fun and trendy yet elegant boutique and they've gone all out for prom this year. Stop in 1-5 p.m on the next two Saturdays, May 7 and 14, and enjoy complimentary consultations from leading hair and makeup experts while you browse for your perfect dress.

Hannah Rose is collecting special occasion dresses to donate to Cass Technical High School in Detroit, so bring one in to trade for a 10-percent discount on your new prom frock. In addition, a representative from A.J. Bari will be on hand for a trunk showing on Friday, May 6, and Saturday, May 7, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Teen models

Birmingham Seaholm High School's recent "Fashion Splash" featured prom dresses from Hannah Rose. Included were a long stretch panne velvet with plunging back by Betsey Johnson, modeled by Lora Pomfret and a short, flirty red slip dress modeled by Kerry Taylor. Allison Schubert was stunning in a feminine tie-dye silk chiffon slip dress by Vivienne Tam, one of this year's hottest designers.

Simple spaghetti-strapped slip dresses and soft, flowing fit and flairs are the newest silhouettes, while popular fabrics include matte jersey, georgette and chiffon. Black is still the color of choice, although red, white and navy are gaining popularity. Missing this year are the bubbles, the ruffles and the all-over beading. Instead, you'll find beaded shoulders or necklines and sexy barebacks. Carole Friedman, a junior at Harrison High School in Farmington Hills and a model for Hannah Rose, was partial to a simple, straight red silk jersey dress with a gorgeous criss-cross cut-out back ($240). "I think a lot of girls will wear long this year and some will wear vintage looks," she said. Amanda Trivax of West Bloomfield High School adores the black lace slip dress shown here ($245). It's romantic, but classic enough that it can be worn again and again.

Hannah Rose dresses are priced from $120 to $300. For a funky, retro prom look, cheek out It's The Ritz, 193 W. Maple in Birmingham. Cotton gauze slip dresses with crepe sheathing come in long and short styles and great color combinations like slate blue with chocolate brown, lemon and lime, and lemon and pumpkin ($76 and $86). They can be knotted and tied for highly individual looks.

A more traditional prom gown can be found at Gantos in Oakland Mall. At a recent fashion show, Tonia Revere of Lutheran High School North modeled a short white brocade halter dress ($85) and her friend Jordan Roth wore a similar dress in black with a flirty crinoline peeking out from the hemline ($90). Both were fit and flair silhouettes.

Don't forget pearl or velvet chokers, vintage earrings, strappy platforms or mules and natural makeup. Do leave your ankle bracelet, shoulder pads, spike heels, can of hairspray and panty lines at home. And enjoy a night to remember!

Foundations expert offers ground rules

The sheer styles of spring and summer call for a new emphasis on what's underneath. Jacobson's Intimate Apparel guru Paula McManus provided a seminar on the latest undergarments to show shoppers what a difference the proper foundations can make.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

How many times have you opted for the ordinary because you didn't know what to wear underneath a sensational strapless sheath or a sheer poet's blouse?

The question was put to a dozen Rochester Hills women last week at an Intimate Apparel fashion show sponsored by Jacobson's at Great Oaks Mall.

The audience admitted their frustration; undergarments buyer Paula McManus told them to worry no more.

"There are so many different bras styles, underwear cuts, slip lengths and body suits available today that no woman should feel immodest or have her straps or underwear lines showing," she said. "It's all a matter of knowing what foundation is required for what look and where to find it."

McManus, who has been buying intimate apparel for Jacobson's stores for many years, said 85-percent of the company's undergarment business was in underwire bras. The newest underwire materials and designs are comfortable, flexible and provide the best support. They are a big improvement over the underwires available 10 years ago.

The miracle fabric, Lycra, with its memory yarns, can provide a seamless slimming silhouette when used in one-piece foundations or longline pants. These undergarments are a must when wearing form hugging knits, like St. John, she said.

The sheer blouses and vintage-look dresses on the runways this spring call for camisoles or body-tone liners to be worn underneath, according to McManus. Some body suits come in colors, others have small stripes or floral designs to add interest.

Skirts with a slit require slips with a slit, McManus insisted. Form-fitting tube skirts require form-fitting tube slips. Slips now come in lengths as short as 19 inches.

"The saying goes, 'Where the elastic ends the line begins,' " McManus said. "So never overlook the thong underpant. It is often worn by models to eliminate any pant line."

She said that french-cut underpants and girdles are often the most

Secretary looks over 52 years on the job

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Flashback: Christmas 1942.

St. Thomas Aquinas High School student Wanda Jazowski of Detroit applies for a part-time job as a holiday gift wrapper at J. L. Hudson's Department Store downtown. She enjoys the work, saves the cash and, after graduation, gets promoted to the retailer's secretarial staff.

Through the years, she moves up the ladder, reporting to executive after executive, including members of the Hudson family. She goes from typing through eight sheets of carbon paper and taking hours of dictation by hand, to copy machines, computer word processing and instantly faxing memos across the world.

"I can't imagine us getting any better or faster at communicating than we are right now," she said, laughing.

After 52 years on the job, she still wears her bright, shy, smile. From Hudson's corporate offices at Northland Center, she says she would do it all over again.

comfortable, although many women prefer more coverage around the thigh. Look for underwear with a tummy panel if that area is a problem.

Camibras, with higher coverage, are designed to be worn under summer suits and into the evening, according to McManus. The tops come in lace or with more tailored pleating to peak out from under the lapels of a suit.

"Never exercise or jog without wearing an athletic bra," McManus cautioned. "Besides being unsightly, it breaks down muscle support. Many of these bras are 100-percent cotton. These days women are buying cotton bras 12 months a year."

McManus suggested that women own a wardrobe of bras — athletic sports bras, three underwires for support, cotton bras for muggy summer weather, T-backs for cut-out blouses, backless and strapless bras for certain special occasion dresses, a formfit no-seam bra for outfits that require a smooth foundation.

Certain women require minimizer bras that have wider bands that flatten, other women like demi-bras with a slight push-up or bras with pockets for removable polyester pads. McManus reports that the latest rage is the "call for cleavage." She reported that Jacobson's sold 120 Wonderbras" the first weekend the bra was available.

"On the somber side," she said. "Since statistics say one in eight women will get breast cancer in their lifetime, Jacobson's sells breasts forms made by Amoena. The latest are quite remarkable, self-adhering — most natural looking."

To care for intimate apparel, (the finer products become costly,) McManus suggested laundering them in a nylon-zippered bag with all the hooks hooked closed. No dryer — the heat will destroy the fibers. Frequent washing is needed for Lycra fabrics because body oils break down the fabric.

"Jacobson sells a wonderful light cleaner with a whitener in crystal form," McManus said.

Jacobson's plans to offer another intimates seminar in the fall. Darlene Heilman of Rochester Hills said she wouldn't miss it. "It was very informative," she said afterward. "I never knew the design science behind all the different kinds of bras. I learned a lot that should come in handy."

Lingerie looks: A model wears a body suit from the intimate apparel shop at Jacobson's to complete a skirt and blouse effect without visible seam lines.

■ 'There are so many different bras styles, underwear cuts, slip lengths and body suits available today that no woman should feel immodest or have her straps or underwear lines showing.'

"It's been a wonderful career," she said. "And it's not over yet! I don't have any immediate plans to retire. I truly enjoy my work and I look forward to coming here every morning."

A resident of Harper Woods, Jazowski travels along Eight Mile Road each day to Hudson's Grand Central, where she is the secretary to the Design Studio, Shoe and Auditing Divisions. One of her bosses, Robert Ryan, of Shoes, said, "Wanda's response time and positive can-do attitude is catching. It rubs off on her office associates."

Co-worker Karen Kleinfelt, of the public relations staff, said Jazowski was an inspiration. "She always has candy on her desk for the rest of us. Wanda's love for her job is genuine."

Jazowski explained that her key to success is "liking what I do. That's my advice for anyone in the work force today. How can you do your best at a company or job that doesn't bring personal satisfaction and happiness?"

Never married, Jazowski said she enjoys the quiet life, reading, walking and visiting friends and family to relax.

After 52 years with Hudson's, she considers herself a goodwill ambassador for the retailer and never misses an opportunity to tell acquaintances about the latest sale or line of merchandise.

"After all," she said with a wink, "Hudson's is everyone's favorite department store."

POINTS OF VIEW

Superstars: an alchemy of mind, body and spirit

JOHN TELFORD

In the 1940s my father took me to see Detroit-born Sugar Ray Robinson box the super "Raging Bull" Jake LaMotta, the Tigers' super Hank Greenberg hit home runs and the Red Wings' super Gordie Howe blast pucks into the net. I also listened, mesmerized by hero worship, to broadcasts of super champ Joe Louis beating the entire world, and I pondered upon the sparkling status of superstardom. Reverently I studied these superstars, trying to determine what ephemeral virtue separated them from ordinary athletes.

In the 1950s I did this again more methodically than reverently when I raced against the greatest Olympic champions of my time — superstar speedsters like Charley Jenkins of Villanova, Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan, Glenn Davis of Ohio State, Mike Larrabee and Rex Cawley of Southern California, Ira Murchison of Western Michigan and George Rhoden of Jamaica. Unsurprisingly, some of them beat me even though I had dissected every step of their previous races in training films. I would scrutinize these films in a hand-cranked micro-viewer in my coach's office at Wayne State University, searching for some slight flaw in the swift superstars' style or strategy. This did pay off, because I managed to beat some of them, too.

In the 1970s I took my father to see Tommie Hearns power punch his way to welterweight superstardom. And in the 1980s I took him to a Pistons game where a diminutive wizard of slight-of-hand named Isiah Thomas outplayed much taller men, passing and faking and dribbling and shooting Detroit to a lopsided win. My dad — an ex-pro fighter — predicted that Hearns would win many titles and Thomas would lead the Pistons to more than one. Sadly, he didn't live to see it happen, but his ultimate correctness on both counts caused me once again to contemplate the traits that set a superstar apart from mere stars.

It isn't just technical virtuosity that produces superstars. It isn't brute speed or strength, either. Nor strategy. Nor is it coordination alone. Nor concentration. Nor even determination. What makes superstars super is the same thing that produces super poets or artists or violinists. And it's the same thing that produces super statesmen or generals. It's an inner sense of invincibility — the feeling that any rare loss was a pure accident. And it's charisma — an aura that John F. Kennedy and George S. Patton had, an aura that Jesse Owens had, an aura that Sugar Ray Robinson had, and an aura that Muhammed Ali above all had. It's an alchemy of mind and body and spirit that's greater than the sum of its parts.

It is facing and beating the best opponents, too — the kind that lend the combat a sense of drama — and a sense of history. It's Louis-Schmeling, Ali-Frazier, Hearns-Leonard, Michael Moorer-Evander Holyfield, Nancy Kerrigan-Oksana Baiul, and Ulysses S. Grant-Robert E. Lee. And it's Isiah Thomas-Magic Johnson and Isiah Thomas-Michael Jordan. Isiah has probably played his last game of professional basketball. My old Pershing High coaching colleague Will Robinson — now a Pistons official — often coaxed me to join him at the Palace for a game. I wish I had, because I missed my chance to see the Pistons' superstarriest star sparkle one final time.

John Telford, is a former assistant superintendent in the Rochester School Distirct. He also was executive director of secondary education in the Plymouth Canton school district.

Child care benefits

As a follow-up to my participation in Job Shadow Day, sponsored by the Michigan Worthy Wage Coalition, I would like to provide additional information concerning employer-supported child care.

With the cost of child care averaging $4,500 per child per year, parents cannot afford to pay any more for child care expenses. One way to divert the cost from parents is to encourage employers to offer child care benefits.

I won't get into the optimum benefits that some employers offer, only the basic benefits such as flexible benefit packages, pre-tax spending accounts and flexible work schedules.

■ Flexible benefits: Flexible benefit plans are employer-sponsored benefit packages that offer employees a choice between taking cash or certain employer-provided benefits. The employer allows employees to decide which benefits they want and how much money they will spend on those benefits according to their needs. For example, if a husband and wife are both working, one may choose to be part of the other's benefits. Thus one can opt to take the cash value established by the employer instead of the benefit.

■ Pre-tax spending accounts: This is an excellent, low-cost option that an employer can provide to employees. Workers deposit pre-tax dollars from their gross income into a spending account which can be used to pay child care expenses. Essentially, employees are decreasing their gross income, thus they are paying less in Social Security, federal, state and local taxes. If the employee is paying less Social Security, then the employer is also paying less. This is how the employer is able to cover the costs associated with the administrative fee.

If employees choose to use the dollars saved from opting out of their flexible benefits package and put them into a pre-tax spending account, then they would have maximized their dollars to pay for safe, quality child care.

Also, there are pre-tax spending accounts for medical services. Those who have high medical expenses may want to consider such an account because it could save the employee money.

■ Flexible work schedules: In order to offer the benefit of flexible work schedules, employers must identify the workload and product that needs to be accomplished in a given week or month. Employers should then ask their employees to identify how the work can be accomplished and the goals achieved. The employer must be flexible in allowing employees to meet the needs of their family lives without interfering with work.

As chair of the House Republican Task Force on Child Care, I learned that many parents took off at least five work days per youngster each year to care for their children. Unfortunately, this disrupts the work product and creates tension between employee and employer. If employers allowed those employees flexibility in their schedules, then those days could have been made up with no loss of productivity.

These are all benefits an employer can offer an employee at very little or no cost. I want to stress the point to employers that it takes a "family friendly attitude," not necessarily money.

Since I began holding the annual Child Care Challenge awards competition, I have yet to meet a business that regretted offering these benefits. I believe this is the very least that employers should do for their workers.

Plan affects suburbs

As you know, Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer recently endorsed a conceptual plan presented by Tigers' owner Mike Ilitch for a new Tiger Stadium in Detroit. In declaring his advocacy for the so-called "Foxtown Plan," Archer made it clear that there is no money in Detroit's budget for such an endeavor.

Indeed, it is illegal for the city to subsidize a new stadium based on a March 17, 1992 vote in which 63 percent of Detroit voters said they did not wish to pay for a new stadium. Thus the debate moves to the state Capitol, where the House Oversight and Ethics Committee is considering House Bill 5135, also known as the State Preservation Empowerment and Enterprise Development Authorities bill, to provide state money from Indian gaming for some costs associated with the construction of a new stadium. The debate over the fate of Tiger Stadium and the SPEEDA bill have been the focus of media attention for weeks.

On March 23, state Sen. John Kelly, D-Grosse Pointe, introduced a substitute version of SPEEDA that has a direct impact on your readers. Kelly's version of SPEEDA would spread the revenue received from Indian gaming so that all Michigan residents could benefit. Instead of limiting coverage to Detroit and Grand Rapids (which is also seeking state funds for a new arena), Kelly's SPEEDA includes the largest 75 cities in the state, providing no-interest loans to rebuild those communities.

Readers might be interested to learn that there is an alternative to simply giving money away for sports stadiums. I urge you to contact the legislators representing your area and find out which version of SPEEDA they plan to support.

Governor to make speech at Schoolcraft graduation

Gov. John Engler will be the keynote speaker for Schoolcraft College's Spring Commencement Exercise on Saturday, May 7, when 937 graduates receive their diplomas.

Engler was elected the 46th governor of Michigan in November 1990. Engler's main objective has been to improve Michigan's economy. He points to Michigan's rate of job growth, which is three times the national average, with 330,000 jobs created since August 1991. As a result, Michigan's unemployment rate has fallen below the national average for the first time in 15 years.

Engler is a Michigan native who earned his bachelor's degree in agricultural economics from Michigan State University and a law degree from the Thomas M. Cooley Law School.

Teachers promise to behave

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Schoolcraft College teachers have agreed to participate in commencement exercises Saturday, May 7, "in spite of the governor's appearance, not because of it," according to Faculty Forum president William Nickels.

The Schoolcraft teachers are part of the Michigan Education Association teachers union that is mad at Gov. John Engler for a new law that makes it impossible for teachers to strike and takes away some of the things that used to be bargained in contracts.

Engler is scheduled to deliver Schoolcraft's commencement address at graduation ceremonies Saturday.

In light of the recent vehemence on the part of teachers around the state in protesting Engler's policy, Nickels wrote a letter to Schoolcraft Board of Trustees chairman Steve Ragan.

"I have been directed by the Senate of the Faculty Forum at its meeting of April 20 to express our unhappiness and disappointment because of (Engler's) presence at the college's commencement activities. The governor has demonstrated in word and deed that he is no friend of teachers or of education.

"However, we will not permit our feelings to interfere with the commencement exercises. Therefore, the union and its officers will participate in the ceremony out of respect for our college and student graduates and their parents, friends and relatives. We do not wish to embarrass either them or our college."

Ragan said that the Schoolcraft teachers "have been under a lot of pressure to exploit this opportunity." He commends the teachers for saying they won't protest Engler's appearance. "My real concern is that this be a day for the students."

Schoolcraft President Richard McDowell said "we're expecting the focus to be on student accomplishment and graduation, and we're appreciative of the faculty efforts to support the students."

However, there's no telling if other area Michigan Education Association affiliates are planning protests, or if individual teachers will picket Engler's appearance.

Chuck Portelli, the Plymouth-Canton Education Association president, said no organized protest will be launched from his MEA affiliate. "If individuals choose to go, they can, but we're not organizing anything," he said.

Redford Union Education Association president Larry Digon said he's not organizing a protest either, but individual teachers are free to picket if they choose.

The presidents of MEA affiliates representing teachers in Livonia and Wayne-Westland schools did not return the Observer's phone calls by press time.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Walk your way to good food in 'City by the Bay'

Having experienced my first "red-eye" flight from San Francisco to Detroit, I sit at my word processor slugging down the fourth in a series of mugs of coffee from the highly touted Starbucks fame.

Now I know why they call it "Starbucks." My wallet was "starbuck" naked after the purchase. San Francisco is a coffee town, and coffee shops abound, but without a doubt, good fresh coffee with aroma, coffee that wakes and then says "good night," is readily available here. I like the house blend from The Coffee Beanery.

The "City by the Bay" hosted the International Association of Culinary Professionals conference, and the 16th annual Julia Child Cookbook Awards. Unfortunately, it was sunny and beautiful the five days we were holed up at the Fairmont Hotel. Mother Nature decided to give the drought-stricken area a good dose of rain on the two days fellow foodies and I decided to check out the city and wine valley.

Cookbook awards

The Best Cookbook of the Year Award went to Darra Goldstein's "The Georgian Feast: The Vibrant Culture and Savory Food of the Republic of Georgia" (Harper-Collins $27.50.)

The book also claimed the Silver Whisk Award for best international cookbook. Other winner's included Steven Raichlen's "Miami Spice" (Workman Publishing $22.95), Daniel Leader & Judith Blahnik's "Bread Alone" (William Morrow, $25.00) and, for all our vegan friends, Anne Summerville's "Field of Greens" (Bantam Books, $26.95) took top honors in the general competition.

All these books should be marked with a silver seal as winners in your local gourmet shop or cookbook store and are worth having on hand.

San Francisco by far surpasses any other city in our nation in accessible restaurants. I say accessible because with a great mass transit system or a good pair of shoes, you can walk just about anywhere and get great food. They do things a little different in the city known for fog and hills than they do here in metro Detroit.

Flavorful flowers

First off, folks on the West Coast must certainly love flowers. I sampled a deep-fried flower of unknown origin for an appetizer at LuLu's, sipped flower tea at the Pearl City dim sum palace in Chinatown, downed a salad with fresh sage flowers at Simi Vinyards in Sonoma, and cooled my palate with rose flower ice cream from the China Moon.

When I mentioned to momma that one salad I sampled was smothered with lilac blossoms, she rolled her eyes and muttered something about having your rollers too tight.

Then there were the restaurants. What kind of food do you like? was the big question. In addition to our dim sum visits, we sampled steamed chicken feet at a Hakkan style restaurant in North Beach, Tuscan cuisine from a trattoria in Little Italy and the cuisines of Singapore, Malasia, Yugoslavia, Switzerland, Sweden, Vietnam, Australia and Hawaii, to name just a few. We ate with everything except our feet.

On a suprising note, we sampled the updated airline food on the flight via Northwest Airlines.

Northwest Airlines gathered a gaggle of chefs from around the country including chef Brian Polcyn of Acadia and Chimayo to try to update and upgrade the quality of airline food.

Now there are two words seldom seen in the same line - quality and airline food.

Northwest's dinner buffet offered a choice of an Oriental salad that was mediocre (but better than an unidentifiable sandwich) or a gourmet lasagna with sausage, imported mushrooms and noodles that were superior to anything boxed.

A locally produced ice cream bar stuffed with Mackinaw Island Fudge was dessert, and I must say that the group was impressed.

I know we're rushing the season here a bit, but Denny Wright and the friendly folks at Wright's Hardware in Livonia are presenting an outdoor grilling clinic 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, May 7. Wright's Hardware is on Five Mile, just east of Middlebelt. Call (313) 422-2210 for more info.

Royal Treatment

GIVE MOM THE

Pampering mom on Mother's Day is a tradition in four Oakland County families. While the men and children cook and clean up, the women relax.

BY SANDRA DALKA-PRYSBY
SPECIAL WRITER

On Mother's Day, four Oakland County dads, including Michael Battersby of Beverly Hills, cook and clean and do other nice things for the women in their lives.

Battersby rounds up his three daughters to help him treat his wife and their mother, Trish, to a Mother's Day brunch. Oftentimes other Battersbys, including his mom and dad, Chris and Helen of Farmington Hills, and his five brothers and two sisters and their families, are invited to participate in the celebration.

"It's nice to be treated like a queen," said Trish. "It's also special when the whole family is included. It gives my daughters the opportunity to tell their grandmother and aunts how much they are appreciated."

Michael, who is no stranger to the kitchen, decides the menu, does the shopping, prepares the food, serves it and cleans up afterward, all with the help of Margaret, 13, Katie, 11, and Clare, 9.

"This is fun for me because I like cooking and I enjoy working with the girls," said Mike.

They're anticipating a big celebration this year, and everyone will bring a dish to pass. "Otherwise I'd be in the kitchen for a long time," said Mike.

While the youngest Battersby, Clare, believes that "every day should be Mother's Day," Margaret can't understand why there isn't a "Kid's Day."

However, these two sisters agree that having a special day for mothers gives them a chance to let their mother know how much they appreciate her.

While the Battersby clan is enjoying brunch, three other south Oakland County men will be busy cleaning the patio, dragging out lawn furniture, checking the grill and preparing food for a late afternoon barbecue for their wives.

"We've done this for the past five years," said Stuart McCracken of Southfield. The work detail includes his father-in-law, William Littlejohn also of Southfield, and Paul Cullis of Bloomfield Township. The recipients of their labor are Vivienne McCracken, Margaret Littlejohn and Anne Cullis. All the couples are transplants from Great Britain.

According to the Littlejohns, Mother's Day is similar to an English tradition - "Mothering Sunday," which is celebrated in March.

"This day is celebrated simply. Children present their mothers with a flower, such as a daffodil, and maybe a small box of chocolates in church," said Margaret.

She added that she has the good fortune of being recognized as a mother twice a year. "My son in London sends me flowers in March, and my daughter honors me at the barbecue in May."

The traditional barbecue is a welcome treat for Vivienne, whose sons Jonathan, 11, and Alister, 7, help their father with preparations. "A mother of two active boys should be waited on at least one day a year," she said.

"Any mother deserves special treatment once in a while, and the men do a pretty good job of pampering us," said Anne, who also has a son, Jonathan, 8, and daughter, Emma, 5.

The men also get good reviews for their cooking. Each year the main dish changes, but Paul's "Key Lime Pie" is a consistent favorite. "I'm just a 'sometimes cook,' so I like to stick with something I know," he said.

William cooks on a regular basis and likes to try new dishes. "It's usually my job to select the menu," he said. This year the menu calls for marinated flank steak, a dish assigned to Stuart.

The nicest part of our Mother's Day tradition, according to the three women, is that they don't have to clean up. "It's such a treat to get out of washing dishes and putting things away," Vivienne added.

Since one good turn deserves another, will the three women give the royal treatment to their husbands on Father's Day?

"Do we have to?" they asked. Then, with smiles on their faces, they said that they always try to make Father's Day as nice for their husbands as the men have done for them.

Refreshing Cru Beaujolais a spring arrival

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

Wine consumers think of Beaujolais just before Thanksgiving when the Beaujolais Nouveau is released as the first wine bottled after harvest. It is young, very grapey and barley wine. Cru Beaujolais arrives in the spring. It has more complexity, it is real wine, and, when slightly chilled, can satisfy a red wine drinker on a warm day.

Beaujolais is made from the gamay grape and grown in the southern Burgundy region of the same name. Technically, Beaujolais is Burgundy, but it is a fruity wine without the depth or longevity of red Burgundies made in the Cote d'Or from the more aristocratic pinot noir grape.

Cru Beaujolais, arriving in local wine shops now, is from the 1993 harvest. It was very successful in Beaujolais because the gamay grapes were picked before rains that began Sept. 20. These rains made 1993 a dismal year for the rest of Burgundy.

Didier Mommessin represents the fourth generation in his family to make wine in Burgundy and Beaujolais.

"The wines of Beaujolais represent a brilliant exception to the rest of the 1993 vintage," he said. Mommessin recommends the 1993 Cru Beaujolais, wines grown in 10 specially designated regions where they develop increased roundness and flavor depth. Of the 10 Beaujolais "crus," Mommessin divides them into two groups.

The first five are light with good fruit and early attractiveness. They are Brouilly, Chenas, Chiroubles, Cote de Brouilly and Regnie.

The second five "crus" have increased complexity, fullness and longevity. They are Morgon, Julienas, St. Amour, Fleurie and Moulin-A-Vent.

We found the 1993 Mommessin Brouilly ($10) showing fresh cherry and raspberry aromas and flavors in a light refreshing style. Serve it chilled below room temperature to enhance the fruitiness. The 1993 Mommessin Fleurie ($10) has exuberant fruit, good depth, with a slight spritz in a very appealing style. The 1993 Mommessin Moulin-A-Vent ($10) is smooth with more subtle fruit, generous mouthfeel and the most promising future. Moulin-A-Vent are generally most tannic and frequently most age-worthy, although aged Beaujolais is almost self-defeating since one of their great attributes is the fresh fruit character.

Pinot Noir

The Mommessin family is sole owner of the Grand Cru vineyard Clos de Tart in the Burgundy commune of Morey St-Denis. Because Mommessin is the sole owner of Clos de Tart, it is known as a monopole — rare in Burgundy since most vineyards have multiple owners. Historical records indicate that Clos de Tart was planted in 1140 by the monks of a Cistercian monastery. The vineyard was bought by Mommessin in 1932 during the world depression.

The 1990 Mommessin Clos de Tart ($100) showcases berry-cherry aromas with a suggestion of grilled meat. It is full and supple with requisite strength and structure, yet elegant on the palate. The wine was aged 18-20 months in all new oak barrels. Monsieur Mommessin suggests that in the best years Clos de Tart will gracefully age for 15-25 years without a problem.

Mommessin explains three evolutionary stages of red Burgundy. "In the first, the young wine shows red fruit characters of cherries, raspberries, strawberries and currants, which fade away within a few years of bottling," he said. "The second stage highlights aromas of roses and violets along with those of strawberry and raspberry preserves. The third stage focuses principally on non-fruit attributes that include soil, wood, nuts, prunes, mushrooms and leather." He explains that oxidation of the wine accounts for the first two stages and reduction reactions produce the third generation of aromas.

Mommessin is sensitive to the criticism of some British wine critics who have suggested that his Clos de Tart should be fuller and more robust. To appease his critics, Mommessin hired Guy Accad, a controversial winemaker, to make a portion of the Clos de Tart. Accad's method includes a weeklong cold-soak of the grapes in their own juice prior to fermentation to extract color, embellish tannins and enhance richness. Mommessin admits that when young, Accad's wine is harsh, inelegant and herbaceous, while the same wine produced by the traditional method is gentle and more appealing. He is hopeful that with a few years bottle age the new-method wine will develop the elegance of the traditional wine with added depth and longevity. He also hopes that this effort will appease his critics.

The lesson here is that an ugly, young wine does not always grow up to be a handsome rendition. More frequently than not, the wine that is balanced and flavorful in youth is balanced and flavorful when mature.

Toss up a healthier salad

Here are some salad tips from Karen Collins, a registered dietitian for the American Institute for Cancer Research.

■ If you like something crunchy on your salads, reach for croutons or chow mein noodles. A quarter cup of croutons or two tablespoons of chow mein noodles will add a bit over one gram of fat to your salad.

■ On the other hand, two tablespoons of bacon bits adds over three grams of fat to your salad, while the same amount of sunflower seeds adds about 14 grams of fat.

■ Remember that crunchy raw vegetables like carrots, broccoli, and cauliflower add crunch without fat.

■ Watch the dressing.

Low-fat pasta with beef supreme

Pasta supreme: Toss beef and noodles together in a creamy low-fat mushroom and white wine sauce for a quick and nutritious dinner.

■ QUICK, EASY

Not too long ago, pasta suffered from a bad reputation. It was considered fattening and full of starch, not at all substantial or nutritious. Now we know that pasta itself provides important fiber and complex carbohydrates, while most of the fat and calories come from the rich sauces, cheese and sausage that are added to the pasta. In fact, according to the American Institute for Cancer Research, pasta itself provides a substantial amount of protein, as well as iron, riboflavin, niacin and thiamin.

Pasta is as quick, economical and versatile as it is wholesome. Pasta dishes fit into almost every part of a meal, as soups, side dishes, salads, main dishes or desserts. And pasta can be deliciously combined with nearly any type of meat, poultry, seafood, plus vegetables or even fruit to provide a complete and nutritious meal.

Pasta comes in scores of shapes and sizes, and the varied shapes serve different functions as well as provide visual appeal. Although capellini (angel hair), vermicelli, linguine and fettuccine all resemble spaghetti, they are meant to be sauced differently. Thin, delicate capellini and vermicelli require a light sauce, such as simple chopped tomatoes, herbs, and a little olive oil. The sturdier linguine and fettuccine do well with thick, strongly flavored sauces.

Tubular shapes, like penne, seem to go best with a sauce that will cling inside and out. Envelope shapes, like shells, seem made for a sauce with bits of meat or fish to be caught in the spaces. And a chewy twist of rotini pasta is just right for a cold pasta salad with a light vinaigrette.

Broad, flat noodles are popular in main dish casseroles and offer many exciting ways to stretch the meat in meals. By reducing the amount of meat in the dish and replacing it with these hearty noodles, you can cut fat while you increase complex carbohydrates, a very healthy trade-off.

Beef and Noodles Supreme uses a lean cut of top round with noodles in a creamy low-fat mushroom and white wine sauce. Serve it with your choice of colorful steamed vegetables.

Beef And Noodles Supreme

1 pound top round cut lean beef
3 cups uncooked noodles
2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
1 teaspoon margarine
½ cup white wine
½ cup water
½ teaspoon instant beef bouillon granules
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)
pepper to taste
8 ounces plain non-fat yogurt
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Put the water on to boil separately for the noodles. While it is heating, slice the beef into thin strips. Melt the margarine in a skillet or wok, using a pastry brush to coat the skillet.

Brown half of the beef strips at a time for three to four minutes, and set the beef aside in a bowl.

Saute the mushrooms in the skillet until they are tender. Set them aside with the beef and add the wine, water and bouillon to the skillet. Bring the mixture to a boil and boil gently for three minutes.

When the water for the noodles is boiling, add the noodles. While they are cooking, stir the flour, sugar, salt and pepper into the yogurt, then stir the yogurt mixture into the liquid in the skillet. Add the beef and the mushrooms, cook and stir over low heat until the mixture is thick and hot. When the noodles are done, drain them and divide into four equal portions. Serve the beef over the noodles, sprinkled with parsley, if desired.

Each of the four servings contains 345 calories and 8 grams of fat.

Pick up some fresh Michigan asparagus

KEELY WYGONIK

Spring is finally here, and one of the first Michigan crops — asparagus — is ripe for picking.

"It's fabulous this year," said Rose Timbers of Wiard's Orchards in Ypsilanti. "We just started picking it."

■ Girard's Produce Farm has fresh hand-picked asparagus. To get there take I-94 to Exit 187, Rawsonville Road. Go south one mile to West Huron River Drive, turn left, farm is 1½ miles on the right. For information, call (313) 697-1685.

■ Wiard's Orchard's is offering u-pick and hand-picked asparagus. To get there take I-94 to Huron Street (exit 183) at Ypsilanti, then south four miles. For information, call (313) 482-7744.

If your farm is offering fresh asparagus either fresh hand-picked or u-pick, call me (313) 953-2105. We'll update the list every week.

There are lots of good reasons to "pick" asparagus for your family. According to the Michigan Asparagus Advisory Board, asparagus is a good source of potassium, fiber, vitamin B6, vitamins A and C, thiamin and folacin which is necessary for blood cell formation and growth and for prevention of liver disease. Asparagus has more folacin than any other vegetable. Asparagus has no fat, contains no cholesterol and is low in sodium.

Here's a recipe to try.

Spring Asparagus And Biscuits

2 cups (8 ounces) cut, trimmed, fresh asparagus or 2 cups (10 ounces) frozen, cut asparagus
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons packaged buttermilk biscuit mix
⅓ cup milk
3 tablespoons margarine
3 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
2 cups milk
2 teaspoons instant chicken bouillon
½ cup cooked, sliced carrots
1 cup diced, cooked chicken
⅓ cup Parmesan cheese
¼ cup toasted, slivered almonds, optional

Cook asparagus in small amount of water until crips-tender; drain. Set aside. Using biscuit mix and ½ cup milk, prepare biscuits according to package directions. Cut biscuits with 2½-inch cutter. Bake according to package directions.

Meanwhile, in 2-quart saucepan, mix together margarine, flour and pepper. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture starts to bubble.

Add milk and bouillon. Continue cooking and stirring until mixture boils. Cook and stir 1 minute longer. Add remaining ingredients except almonds. Cook about 3 minutes longer or until thoroughly heated, stirring frequently. Serve over hot biscuits. Garnish with almonds. Serves 4.

WASH BEFORE EATING?

The findings of the National Academy of Science's "Pesticides in the Diets of Infants and Children" report are in, and they are not encouraging. According to the report by the 14-member panel, children are more vulnerable to carcinogenic and neurotoxic pesticides than adults are. In addition, because the FDA sets legal residues (the amounts of pesticides allowed to remain in food) with only adults in mind, children can eat permissible levels of pesticides only to find that their risk for cancer is hundreds of times what the FDA deems acceptable. If these findings confirm the suspicions that many of us have had all along, it gives us one more reason to purchase healthy organic produce.

Now that we know that rinsing vegetables that have been repeatedly subjected to pesticides does not remove these toxic chemicals, isn't it time to stop eating them? Why risk your health and the health of your children? Eating organic foods simply makes good sense. At the GOOD FOOD CO., we offer a superb selection of quality natural foods, organic vegetables, free range chicken and beef, and an array of vitamins and supplements. We are Michigan's largest discount natural food supermarket. For more information, please call us at 961-8100. We are located at 42615 Ford Rd. We are open Mon.-Sat. 9-9 and Sundays from 10-6. Happy Mother's Day!

P.S. Kids are more sensitive to pesticides because these chemicals can initiate themselves more readily in children's rapidly dividing cells.

Tips for grilling better burgers

When all is said and done, a juicy, grilled burger paired with terrific toppings is hard to beat when it comes to barbecue fare.

What's the secret to a juicy burger? Simple. It's in the handling and cooking. When shaping burgers, do so gently; don't overmix the ground beef while you're shaping it into patties. Shape ground beef into ½-inch thick patties, and grill over medium coals just until no longer pink inside.

Medium coals (covered with gray ash) ensure that the inside of the burger will be cooked through. When coals are too hot, the burgers tend to be charred no the outside and not thoroughly cooked inside. Cooking past medium doneness also can cause burgers to be dry.

Now there's nothing wrong with ketchup, mustard and onion for adorning a burger, but for a change of pace, take advantage of the season's bounty of fresh fruits and vegetables. Assorted rolls are fun too — try onion, herb, rye or wheat.

PERFECT GRILLED BURGERS

1½ pounds lean ground beef
Salt and pepper to taste
6 hamburger buns, split

Shape ground beef into 6½-inch thick patties. Place patties on grid over medium coals. Grill 7 to 9 minutes or until no longer pink and juices run clear, turning once. Season with salt and pepper, if desired, after turning.

Serve grilled burgers on buns.

Cook's tip: To check the temperature of the coals, cautiously hold your hand, palm side down, at cooking height (just above the grid). Count the number of seconds you can hold your hand in that position before the heat is uncomfortable and you have to pull it away: 4 seconds for medium coals.

BASIL MARINATED TOMATOES

6 tomato slices, ¼-inch thick
6 thin red onion slices
1 tablespoon thinly sliced fresh basil
1 tablespoon olive oil
2 teaspoons red wine vinegar
½ teaspoon sugar

Place tomato slices in a shallow dish; top each with one onion slice.

Combine remaining ingredients; mix until well blended. Drizzle over tomato and onion. Cover; refrigerate up to 1 hour.

CRISP AND SPICY CABBAGE RELISH

1½ cups packaged coleslaw mix
¼ cup chopped red onion
¼ cup chopped green or red bell pepper

Dressing:

1½ teaspoons dark sesame oil
½ to 1 jalapeno pepper, seeded, finely chopped
1 clove garlic, crushed
⅛ to ¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons white wine vinegar

In medium bowl, combine coleslaw mix, onion and bell pepper. In small saucepan, heat oil over medium-low heat until hot. Add sugar and vinegar; cook and stir 30 seconds or until sugar is dissolved.

Pour hot dressing over cabbage mixture; toss to coat. Cover; refrigerate 1 hour or overnight, if desired.

MANGO SALSA

2 pounds fresh mangoes, peeled, seeded
2 tablespoons chopped green onion
1 tablespoon fresh lime juice
1 tablespoon chopped fresh cilantro
1 serrano or jalapeno pepper, seeded, finely chopped

Coarsely chop mangoes to make 1½ cups. In medium bowl, combine mangoes with remaining ingredients; mix lightly. Serve immediately or cover and refrigerate.

Burgers: Top grilled burgers with Basil Marinated Tomatoes, Crisp & Spicy Cabbage Relish or Mango Salsa for a change of pace.

Bake a savory tart

AP — Flecked with spinach and fresh oregano, this quiche-like tart delivers a fresh taste of spring to brunch. It's even prettier when topped with colorful peppers, feta cheese and fresh herbs. To cut down on last-minute preparation, bake the pastry shell ahead, then finishr the tart the morning of your brunch.

SPINACH-FETA TART

Pastry for Single-Crust Pie (recipe below)
2 eggs
1 cup chopped fresh spinach
1 cup ricotta cheese
½ cup crumbled feta cheese
¼ cup milk
2 teaspoons snipped fresh oregano or ¾ teaspoon dried oregano, crushed
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
Red sweet pepper (optional)
Yellow sweet pepper (optional)
Crumbled feta cheese (optional)
Fresh herbs (optional)

Prepare pastry dough. On a lightly floured surface, flatten dough with hands. Roll from center to edge, forming a 12-inch circle. Loosely wrap pastry around a rolling pin. Unroll onto a 10-inch tart pan with a removable bottom, easing into the pan. Trim pastry even with rim of pan. Do not prick. Line pastry with a double thickness of heavy-duty foil. Bake in a 450-degree oven for 8 minutes. Remove foil. Bake for 5 to 7 minutes more or until golden. Remove from oven. Reduce oven temperature to 325 degrees.

Meanwhile, in a medium mixing bowl, beat eggs slightly. Stir in spinach, ricotta, the ½ cup feta, milk and oregano. Sprinkle pastry with Parmesan; top with egg mixture. Bake in a 325-degree oven about 20 minutes or until a knife inserted near the center comes out clean.

Let the tart stand about 5 minutes. If desired, top with red pepper rings, chopped yellow pepper, feta and herbs. Makes 8 servings.

Pastry for Single-Crust Pie: In a mixing bowl stir together 1 ¼ cups all-purpose flour and ¼ teaspoon salt. Cut in ⅓ cup shortening until pieces are the size of small peas. Sprinkle 1 tablespoon of cold water over part of the mixture; gently toss with a fork. Push to the side of the bowl. Repeat with 2 to 3 tablespoons more cold water until all is moistened. Form dough into a ball.

MUSIC NOTES

CHRISTINA FUOCO

Marilyn Manson wanted to capture a live feel when they recorded their debut album so they took matters into their own hands — they mimicked a live show in the studio.

"I was singing with a mic and I took the mic stand and smashed it in the studio," said lead singer Mr. Manson.

The band, who will release its album in June, is set to bring its live show to the State Theatre in Detroit on Sunday, May 8, to open for Nine Inch Nails. (The show is sold out.)

NIN lead singer Trent Reznor produced the band's debut for his Nothing Records label so he's pretty confident that NIN fans will embrace Marilyn Manson, too.

"Nine Inch Nails fans will be interested in anything that Trent Reznor is involved in it."

Besides that, Mr. Manson said that he and Reznor have a lot in common. "Trent and I are (ticked) off for our own reasons." Reznor, he theorized, is "unsatisfied" with his current situation. He, on the other hand, is "basically comin' at the world with a shotgun, shooting everyone in my way."

As for the bizarre name, it's a combination of Marilyn Monroe and Charles Manson's names.

"People always need flashy names to get attention (in the entertainment industry). I'm making a mockery of that."

Collective Soul has had a whirlwind courtship with the music industry since it signed with Atlantic Records in early February. A snippet of their video for the single "Shine" shows up sandwiched between videos by Alice in Chains and Ice Cube in an MTV commercial.

"Shine" is also frequently played on alternative and rock stations while the album "Hints, Allegations & Things Left Unsaid" is selling more than 3,000 copies per week.

Now the band is in the midst of its first major headlining tour. That's not bad for a band that's officially been together for less than a year. Has the band's heads stopped spinning yet?

"It still is," said lead singer Ed Roland. "It hasn't slowed since."

The band will bring its hook-laden blues-inspired rock to The Ritz, 10½ and Gratiot, Roseville, on Friday, May 6. Call (810) 778-6404 for more information.

For trivia nuts, the phrase "Collective Soul" is how Ayn Rand describes mankind in her novel "The Fountainhead."

Congratulations to Shawn Grimes of Rochester Hills, who won two tickets to the Paw concert last Thursday at St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit. Kimberly Garrett of Westland, Tony Gagnon of Detroit, Sue Tollafield of Ferndale, Jim Hofer of Harper Woods, Tony Barragan of Lincoln Park, Cathy Sanchez of Lake Orion, Todd Bolton of Monroe, Mark Phillips of Wayne, and Steve Mohr of Westland, can look forward to receiving Paw CDs, posters and singles in the mail.

To leave a message for Christina Fuoco, dial (313) 953-2047, mailbox number 2130, on a Touch-Tone phone, or write her at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

STREET SOUNDS

McFly — Spanking Bozo

On their new album, "McFly," the Detroit based band Spanking Bozo use the same funky pop formula that made many bands rich.

Most of the album walks that familiar street looking for a different route to take and finding nothing new, but there are a few tracks that are welcome exceptions. "Wipe Off That Page" takes the funkiness to another wonderfully eccentric level. "J.B.I.A. (James Brown Is Alive)" is a response to the L.A. Style hit "James Brown Is Dead."

Proclaiming "Electronic disco music by sensitive white boys from England is dead but . . . James Brown is alive," Spanking Bozo shows that the funk James Brown brought to the world is also alive.

Their only obstacle is that there has been so much done with funky pop music that it is difficult to carve a distinctive niche. "McFly" shows a band with the ability to take the funk to their own level once they find their space.

Harris, the Snakes? Charming

Mimi Harris has proven she's a musical storyteller, crafting songs filled with sublime imagery. She also has proven she can sing with power of Janis Joplin and the bluesy style od Bonnie Raitt.

BY MARK E. GALLO
SPECIAL WRITER

That Mimi Harris comes from a theatrical family seems obvious. There's an inherent sense of drama that threads its way through every song she sings, a sort of bare-boned theatricality.

A story teller of sublime imagery, she is one of the premier songwriters in the area, yet she is equally adept at bringing a musically astute, discerning and sympathetic voice to the songs of heroes and peers.

There is a fervor that informs every performance, and it's the direct result of that fever for the stage instilled in the Grand Rapids native as a child. A couple of years of honing her musical chops on local coffeehouse stages, when she was barely eligible for enrollment in high school, completed the one-two punch that sent her on her path.

There was never any doubt that Mimi Harris was meant to be a performer, and it was as a seasoned vet that she first hit the Detroit area music scene some 17 years ago. She's been a powerhouse presence ever since.

Although she was a staple early on at venerated venues like the Blind Pig and Mr. Flood's Party in Ann Arbor, there were also the bread-and-butter days of what she calls "the Dry Dock and Mountain Jack scene," as a "human juke box five or six nights a week." Those are the gigs that get her through the transitional times.

Such is the life of the singer/songwriter. In Harris' case, though, there came the revelation that a little electricity and a rockin' little combo had a much broader appeal.

The first band, an R&B outfit that she formed with the Rockets' John Fraga, was born in 1979 as Mimi & the Midniters. A couple of years later came the Intruders, with Jim McCarty of Mitch Ryder/Rockets/Detroit Blues Band fame.

Somewhere in the mid-1980s, she even sang with the Sun Messengers, an experience she calls valuable, if only for the opportunity to sing with a big band.

Through it all, her reputation grew steadily among a constantly growing legion of fans. Then, she took a couple of years off "to be a mom."

With the formation four years ago of the Snakes — Greg Calder (drums), Mike Marshall (bass), Bill Cooper (lead guitar) and the just added keyboards of Jimmy Bones — Harris has the kind of band every musician dreams about.

As intuitive as they are chops smart, they're the band that helped Mimi Harris land a recording contract with Blues Factory Records. Sometime this June or July, she and the band will record 10 original compositions for the label that's had so much to do with putting Detroit back on the musical map. She's already excitedly planning a CD release party for December.

Often compared to Janis Joplin (for her power) and Bonnie Raitt (for her slinky bluesy style), like any performer worth her royalty check, Mimi Harris rises above easy comparisons.

In the apples and oranges mileau that is the Detroit music scene, it may be beyond reason to call anyone the best at anything, but Mimi Harris is certainly in that category of one of the best reasons in town to actually get out there and experience the magic of live music.

Mimi Harris will play a rare solo show at the Disc Cafe in downtown Pontiac (333-2233) May 5.

Smart move: Mimi Harris has landed a recording contract with Blues Factory Records with the help of The Snakes, and together, they'll record 10 original compositions later this year.

SCREEN SCENE

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across metro Detroit as reviewed by John Monaghan.

■ DETROIT FILM THEATER
Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call (313) 833-2323 for information. ($5)

"Thirty-Two Short Films by Glenn Gould" (Canada — 1993), 7 and 9:30 p.m. May 6-7; 4 and 7 p.m. May 8. Colm Feore stars in this acclaimed Canadian portrait of pianist Glenn Gould, whose extraordinary life is captured in 32 cleverly executed vignettes.

■ MAGIC BAG THEATER
22918 Woodward, Ferndale. Call (810) 544-3030 for information. ($5)

"Return of the Three Stooges," 7:30 p.m. May 5-7. Five classic shorts from Larry, Moe and Curly. Among the titles: "Higher Than a Kite," "Pop Goes the Easel" and "They Stooge to Conga," often called the most violent Stooge short. Also included a repeat performance of the Max Fleischer cartoon, "Koko's Earth Control."

■ MAIN ART THEATER
118 N. Main St. at 11 Mile Road, Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday. Call (810) 542-0180 for information and show times. ($6.50; $4 students; $3 twilight/matinee)

"Bitter Moon" (Britain — 1994). The long-awaited new film from director Roman Polanski stars Hugh Grant as part of two couples who meet on a cruise and discuss the most intimate details of their lives.

"Back Beat" (Britain — 1994). Stu Sutcliffe used to be just a bit of Beatles trivia: the guy that decided to leave the band early on. He gets his due in this new film about the early, early years of the band.

"Four Weddings and a Funeral" (Britain — 1994). From Mike Newell, the director of "Enchanted April," an engaging story about a confirmed bachelor who runs across the same woman at the numerous weddings he attends. Hugh Grant and Andie MacDowell star.

■ MAPLE THEATER
4135 W. Maple Road, Bloomfield. Films play through at least Thursday. Call (810) 855-9090 for information. ($5.75; $3.95 matinee; $2.95 twilight)

"Belle'Epoque" (Spain — 1992). In this year's Oscar winner for best foreign film, a young army deserter tests the limits of his friend's liberal philosophy by pursuing each of the old man's beautiful daughters.

"Sirens" (Britain — 1994). John Duigan ("Flirting") directs this story of a young Englishwoman's sexual awakening when she visits the eccentric and bohemian household of a controversial painter. Sam Neill, Tara Fitzgerald and Hugh Grant star.

"Four Weddings and a Funeral." (See Main Art Theatre listing above.)

■ STATE THEATER
2115 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call (313) 961-5450. ($1)

"The Fugitive" (USA — 1993), 9 p.m. May 2. Innocent man on the run Harrison Ford continues to evade the authorities in last year's action hit.

Stu gets his due in new Beatle film

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

■ MOVIES

Up until now, Stu Sutcliffe was just a piece of pop music trivia. He was the "fifth Beatle" who helped launch the band but then chucked it all for an art career and a relationship with a German photographer. He died from a brain hemorrhage even before the band invaded the States.

Stu gets his due in "Back Beat," a clever new chronicle of the Beatles early days performing in seedy clubs in Hamburg. Full of great music and finely modulated performances, it may well be the best dramatic account of the band yet put on film.

Although John Lennon and Paul McCartney are best-known for their prolific collaborations in the '60s, the film shows Lennon and Sutcliffe as the heart of the Beatles. McCartney and George Harrison stay pretty much in the background. Original drummer Pete Best (soon replaced by Ringo Starr) barely speaks a word.

The most vivid scenes occur in the Hamburg club where the boys are given their first break. As a house band in between strippers, they are a far cry from the adulation that came later, when you could barely hear the music over the screams of young female fans.

Here are the Beatles cutting their musical teeth on rock'n'roll standards like "Kansas City," "Twist and Shout" and even "Love Me Tender." You can see the evolution of lead singer Lennon, who tentatively introduces the cuts with caustic remarks and whose vocal range becomes harsher and grittier from constant use.

In "Back Beat," the lead actors weren't picked for their exact resemblance to the Beatles, but they successfully capture the essence of the group.

It's Ian Hart's performance as the acerbic Lennon that really stands out. He has all the qualities we expect: the biting wit, the difficult personality, the explosive temper and the drive to get to the top of the pops.

Lennon's alleged bi-sexuality also comes into play, but subtly and far from exploitative. His passionate bond with Sutcliffe (Stephen Dorff) is both convincing and touching as Lennon tries to keep his friend in the band despite his interests elsewhere.

You want to slap Sutcliffe for not taking the Beatles more seriously, but you also see his passion for modern art and Astrid Kirchherr (Sheryl Lee), a beautiful, talented photographer who introduces him to the mod, mod world of German bohemia.

The movie, on screen exclusively at the Main Art Theatre in Royal Oak, captures the other band members' unflinching belief in themselves. They will make it big someday, despite playing what seems like eight days a week in German dives.

Just being away from home is an adventure for the boys from Liverpool, who aren't even out of their teens. George (played here by Chris O'Neill) wasn't even 18 when he left for Hamburg, a technicality that eventually got the band deported.

Former Detroiter Don Was produced a soundtrack that both replicates the early Beatles sound and adds something new and almost inexplicable. He has assembled some of modern rock's most respected musicians (R.E.M.'s Mike Mills, Afghan Whigs' Greg Dulli) for the live tracks, which stand as a worthwhile recording even outside of the film.

If you have a comment for John Monaghan, call him at 953-2047, mailbox 1866; on a Touch-Tone phone, or write to him care of Street Scene, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150.

Request for magazine draws more comments

STREET SENSE

BARBARA SCHIFF

Barbara:

I strongly disagree with the mothers who responded to their son's requests for "Playboy" by buying the magazine for them and then even going so far that they read them together with their sons. As you said, we don't know all the answers yet, and what is right for one family may not be right for another, but in my home pornography is in bad taste. Buying it for one's son is, at the least, very poor manners.

I agree that many teenage boys want to look at pornographic pictures. For them, it is age-appropriate behavior. But when parents show approval for this behavior they are denying their children an adult role model, a person who knows the difference between wrong and right.

When I was confronted with the same problem, I wanted my son to know that I disapproved. To me, it was better for him to sneak to read pornography than it was for me to imply my approval by allowing him to do it at home. I wanted him to feel guilty, and to know that I disapproved.

Parents who give away their authority are cheating their children from having an ideal they can look up to. All of this is enough reason not to, and there is much more, not the least of which is that sex is private.

Barbara:

I'm responding to your column where someone wrote in about pornography. I think this parent's intentions are very misguided, however, good. I do not believe that you need visual aids, such as the ones she described. I feel that she's giving her child mixed messages, that even though she doesn't approve of this material, she will let him have it as long as he locks it up.

I think that a parent can have frank discussions with a child about this type of material without the help of visual aids. I feel that in a home where you do not approve of it, that type of material should not be allowed. A child will be exposed in his own good time, I suppose, but she can certainly warn him about that material, talk to him about it, and tell him that as a family they do not approve.

I think this woman should not be commended for her good intentions, and I think her husband shirked his duty because he was too afraid to discuss it, so he said it was OK for his wife. I don't feel that this was a combined effort between these parents and I feel that it was very inappropriate.

Dear Callers,

Thank you for your astute comments on this difficult problem. As I replied to a recent letter with the same theme, I understand your criticism of my guarded response to the caller who bought her son "Hustler," "Penthouse" and "Playboy," and also rented an X-rated movie for him.

I am truly delighted that they called and wrote, and that those of you who do not agree with them also shared your opinions. All of this correspondence was prompted by the mother who asked for advice on getting her 11-year-old son a subscription to "Playboy." She called this week to say her son has forgotten the subject. She will not get him a subscription.

Another call came this week from a mother who comments that if her son requests pornography when he gets older she will take him to the art museum to see beautiful, not exploitive, pictures of love. In this way, she hopes to instill in him respect for himself and others.

Barbara

Golf update

The Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton girls golf teams took their sticks to Livonia last week to battle Livonia Churchill at Idyl Wyld Golf Course: Salem prevailed, Canton fell.

Salem (2-0)played on Monday and won 239-241. Katie Collins (55 for nine holes), Kelly Collins (59) and Katie Murinas (62) led the Rocks.

Canton played on Wednesday and lost 233-293. Jenny Wilson (64), Kim Stafford (73) and Karen Kelly (74) were the Chiefs low scorers.

Churchill's Erin Murfey was the medalist in both matches, shooting a 54 on Monday and a 50 on Wednesday.

On Friday, Salem placed 14th in the 22-team Brighton Invitational at Oak Pointe Golf Course. It was the team's best finish there in five years. Katie Collins (104 for 18 holes), Kelly Collins (108), Jenny Massey (120) and Katie Murinas (124) were Salem's scorers. Jaskson Lumen-Christi won the match, shooting 369.

Fishing derby

Registration has begun for the seventh annual Canton Parks and Rec Kids Fishing Derby at Heritage Park Ponds. The event will take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, May 14. Champs again

The Canton Flames U-12 premier girls soccer team won the first division indoor title at Total Soccer in Southfield for the second straight season. The team went unbeaten in the division and won titles at Canton and two other tournaments. The Flames, coached by John Schimmel with assistance from Ernie Bucks, Tom Masters and Rocco Mitkov, are: Michele Baldori, Susannah Bryant, Jessie Bucks, Lacey Catarino, Amy Dorogi, Jeannine Edwards, Marianne Juarez, Amanda Lentz, Julie Masters, Rachel Morrell, Robynn Morrell, Jessica Palis, Suzi Towne, Andrea Schimmel, Heather Thompson, Pam West and Emily Wilkinson.

MacKinnon signs

Livonia Stevenson track and cross country standout Bridget MacKinnon will become a DePaul University (Ill.) Blue Demon after signing a national letter-of-intent on April 23.

Last fall, MacKinnon finished third in the 3,000-meter state Class A individual cross country race with a time of 19:01.

This season, MacKinnon clocked an 11:25.5 in the 3,200 run at the Lady Chief Relays.

Plymouth Canton standout Lana Boroditsch has narrowed her choices down to two of the best: University of Michigan and University of California-Berkley.

Livonian wins 10K

Susan Tatigian won the 10-kilometer race April 24 at the 17th annual Briarwood Run in Ann Arbor.

Tatigian's first-place time was 38:08. She was the Briarwood Run 20K winner in 1992 and finished second in the 10K in 1991.

Livonian Bridget MacKinnon was third in 39:40.

Rochester's Laura Murphy took the 20K event in 1:17:30.

Chippewas sign pair

Two All-Observer players recently signed national letters-of-intent to play men's soccer for Central Michigan University.

Coach Rick Trainor has added seven recruits, including Livonia Franklin striker Victor Rodopolous, who scored 51 career goals and added 24 assists.

Rodopolous will join Livonia Stevenson midfielder Chris Grodzicki, who helped the Spartans reach the state Class A final. He was also a member of Stevenson's 1991 state championship team along with brother Matt, who also attends CMU.

The Chippewas are coming off a 2-11 season.

"I was real impressed with their recruiting class," said Grodzicki, who also considered walking on at Miami of Ohio. "They're bringing in seven All-State caliber players. It's a good group of recruits."

Other signees include Tom Grasso and Steve Phelps, both of Grand Blanc; Ken Perlin of state Class A champion Warren DeLaSalle; Ryan Maxey, Brighton; and Rob Roney, Swartz Creek.

Cage assistant sought

Madonna University is seeking a men's assistant basketball coach. Those interested should send a resume to: Etta Barbee, Department of Athletics, Madonna University, 36600 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia, MI 48150-1173.

Goal drought plagues Rock kickers

The Plymouth Salem soccer team has hit a mid-season lull.

After a frustrating 2-2 tie at Livonia Franklin on Wednesday, the Rocks were crushed by No. 3 Troy Athens Friday, 4-0. The tie and loss drop the Rocks to an uncharacteristic 3-4-2.

■ 'We really don't have any go-to people right now. We (just) have a lot of really hard-working players.'

Ken Johnson
Salem coach

"We really don't have any go-to people right now," Coach Ken Johnson said after the Franklin game Wednesday. "We have a lot of really hard-working players. But somebody has to step up and start scoring goals."

Athens (8-1) was dominant on Friday. Susie Anderson scored twice. Karen Melcher and Shannan Beal each scored one. Goalies Gina Belardi and Kristi Balyeat were far from overworked.

On Wednesday, Alexis Marinos and Colleen Kirby each scored first-half goals to stake the Rocks to a 2-0 lead. Elizabeth Pelter and Leah Rutherford notched assists.

"We should have had more," Johnson said. "We had the wind at our backs and we missed some real good chances."

Franklin tied the game in the second half on goals by Lisa DeShano and Sarah Ouellette.

The Rocks have one victory in their last six matches.

Salem 9 pull plug on Rockets

■ Mike Marsella shackled the Rocket bats and Plymouth Salem scratched out just enough hits to post a thrilling 3-1 victory in a key Western Lakes contest.

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

The state finals are still six weeks off, but the way the Plymouth Salem baseball team celebrated its 3-1 win Friday at Westland John Glenn, it might as well have been the World Series.

Hats and gloves filled the air, as Salem's Mike Marsella certainly had the look of Mr. October. The senior right-hander out-dueled Glenn ace Bryan Besco in a battle of Lakes Division leaders in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"Emotion just took over," said Marsella, who scattered four hits and only one walk over seven innings against the powerful Rockets. "I was not thinking about it, just pitching. I had lost my last two decisions against Glenn. I lost to them in the regional finals last year. All I was thinking was 'I just want to win.'"

Salem is now 9-4 overall and 3-0 in the Lakes.

"This puts us in the driver's seat now in our division," Salem coach John Gravlin said. "The kids know that you don't win anything until you get by John Glenn. This is a huge step."

Glenn, which dropped its second straight, fell to 7-3 overall and 2-1 in the division. The Rockets have dropped three of six since being ranked No. 21 in the nation by USA Today.

Besco, the senior left-hander bound for Michigan, certainly had the attention of the four major league scouts in attendance, particularly over the first five innings.

He clubbed a wind-blown triple to center field in the first, but was left stranded on third when twin brother Derek Besco, relegated to designated hitter status because of a sore back, was fanned by Marsella to end the inning.

Bryan Besco, meanwhile, mowed down 15 of the first 16 batters he faced, including seven strikeouts. The only runner to reach base was eventual game hero Dave Knight, who singled up the middle in the fourth.

Marsella's only glaring mistake came in the fourth when Bryan Besco ripped a shot over the right field fence for a 1-0 Glenn advantage.

"The home run was my mistake," Gravlin said. "I call all the pitches and that was supposed by be a split-finger, but it was a breaking ball.

"But he didn't let the home run bother him."

The Salem pitcher got himself out of a pickle in the fifth after back-to-back singles by Jamie Hagelthorn and Brian Morrison.

Matt Howton popped out and Marsella fanned Jeromey Cosby to end the threat.

In the top of the sixth, Salem's Billy Styles hit a liner to right, but Hagelthorn was handcuffed by the sun, the ball glancing off his chest.

With Styles reaching second on the error, Sam LaGrow followed with a bunt single.

Styles scored to make it 1-1 on Kaz Kurisu's soft chopper that Morrison couldn't handle at third.

Matt Abbott then bunted the runners over and Knight followed with a clutch two-run single to right,

Madonna slugger has that old-time look

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Madonna University left fielder Craig Overaitis is a throwback to the old days of baseball.

He's part Hack Wilson. Part Babe Ruth. Lots of RBI. Lots of home runs.

In contemporary times he resembles the stubby and lovable first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies: John Kruk.

"I just love his style of play; we call him 'Baby (John) Kruk,'" Madonna coach Mike George said. "He plays the game the same way. He's hard-nosed. He doesn't look like he should be a player when you look at him. You wouldn't say he's in the best of shape. He's very unassuming.

"But he never quits. He runs out every ball."

The senior from Livonia Franklin, who bats from the left side, packs a surprising wallop in his 5-foot-10, 187-pound frame.

During one stretch (April 18-24), the senior batted .410 (16 for 39) with seven homers and 18 RBI. He scored 15 runs, had three doubles and a triple.

It was enough to be named District 23 Player of the Week — as well as the top player in the country during the same period, by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

"I was just seeing the ball better and I became more confident at the plate," Overaitis said. "I was spraying the ball a lot and I was turning on the inside pitches."

Overaitis is a good bet to surpass Ernie Bowling's school RBI record of 52.

As of April 28, Overaitis had 11 homers, only five shy of Bowling's season mark of 16. His batting average is hovering around .360.

"Craig got off somewhat to a slow start, but ever since he's been on fire," George said. "He uses the whole ballpark. Three of his home runs came on the road in straightaway center field.

"When Craig gets hot, he can carry a ballclub. And he hits in the clutch, too. He proved that when he went to Johnstown (Pa.) a couple of years ago."

Playing for Walter's Appliance of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League in 1992, Overaitis hit a dramatic two-out, three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth to beat New Orleans, 8-7, in the semifinals of the prestigious All-American Amateur Baseball Association Tournament.

Overaitis not only does the job at the plate, but has also put a smile on George's face with his play in left scoring two runs.

Marsella, who is leaning toward Henry Ford Community College, then closed the book on Glenn for the victory, retiring six of the next seven batters he faced. He allowed only a lead-off walk to Mike Bint in the seventh.

"Salem seemed to get confidence after that fly ball (by Styles)," Glenn coach Norm Hoenes said. "That's a tough place to play because there is a lot of sun.

"Give them credit. We gave them a crack in the door and it gave them confidence. They're always well prepared and they have good athletes. What's bad is that we wasted a good pitching performance. They made all the plays and that was the difference."

Marsella, who struck out six, was never better, according to Gravlin.

"He had all the right stuff, all the levers pulled," the Salem coach said. "He had a no-hitter in the district last year, but this was his best game by far. He showed he could battle in tough situations. I think he was behind only two hitters all day long."

■ SALEM 12, HARRISON 2: The bats were booming Wednesday and pitcher Justin Marcis flirted with a perfect game.

Marcis was perfect through four and had seven strikeouts. But he was touched for three hits and two runs in the fifth and final inning.

Kaz Kurisu had two hits including a three-run double. Eric Kida had two hits and Marsella a two-run single for the Rocks.

Chiefs lose 10-inning thriller to Pats

As high school baseball goes, it rarely gets any better than this.

It took 10 innings, several key defensive plays and several gutsy coaching decisions but Livonia Franklin finally edged host Plymouth Canton, 3-2, on Friday to move into a first-place tie with the Chiefs in the Western Division of the Western Lakes.

"It was a great game," said Franklin coach Jim Karoub. "Really a shame somebody had to lose."

The Patriots (2-1 in the conference, 7-4 overall) scratched out the winning run in the top of the 10th. Dennis Madden singled and stole second. Mike Aubuchon, who had three of Franklin's five hits, walked. Then, in a daring move, the two executed a double steal.

"It was a hit and run," Karoub said. "We weren't hitting, so I felt like we had to make something happen. Turns out, the ball wasn't hit and we stole the bases anyway."

Rod Risner's grounder to a pulled-in infield scored Madden.

Franklin starter Brian Crumley (4-1) pitched nine strong innings for the win. He walked the leadoff man in the bottom of the 10th, but Abuchon came on to get three straight outs for the save.

Canton (2-1) had several chances to win the game. The Chiefs loaded the bases with one out in the eighth and couldn't score. They got a runner to second in the ninth and left him there.

The Chiefs will also be kicking themselves for enabling the Pats to tie the game in the fifth. Both runs scored on overthrows of bunted balls.

Ryan Ostach had a triple and two singles for the Chiefs.

On Wednesday, Canton pounded North Farmington, 15-4. Kevin Kovachevich had a single and three RBI. Mike Byro had a hit, walk and two RBI. Anthony Pastor pitched the victory.

Canton is 9-4 on the season.

Freshman's homer leads Canton comeback

After enduring an 11-5 bruising from North Farmington on Wednesday, the Plymouth Canton softball team salved some wounds Friday with a 9-5 win at Livonia Franklin.

The game turned on freshman Nicole Covachevich's three-run home run in the fifth inning. It triggered a five-run inning that turned a 5-2 deficit into a 7-5 lead.

Amy Price, Kerri Jackson and Heather Schafer each had two hits for the Chiefs. Laura Logston contributed a two-run single.

■ SOFTBALL

Jackie Nicastri earned the victory on the mound. She gave up three hits, struck out six and walked 10.

In the loss Wednesday, captain Heather LaGrow wrapped a pair of doubles with two RBI.

The Chiefs are 6-5 on the season, 4-2 in the Western Lakes.

■ SALEM 12, JOHN GLENN 2: Denise Krolczyk is not an overpowering pitcher. But if you don't adjust to her off-speed pitches, you won't hit her. Just ask Westland John Glenn, who managed just five hits on Friday.

Krolczyk struck out four and walked two.

Offensively, nine of Salem's 10 starters got hits. Kara Best got two, including an RBI triple.

The Rocks are now 2-1 in the Western Lakes. Glenn, 6-5 overall, falls to 1-2.

Overaitis

with only one error.

"He's an excellent outfielder," said the Madonna coach. "Originally the plan was to play T.C. Raptis (now at second base) in left and use Craig as the designated hitter. But Craig never gave us a reason to move him out because he makes all the plays. He doesn't have the greatest arm, but he's solid defensively."

Overaitis is also one of the team's top bunters and occasionally steals a base.

"He does our delayed steal play better than anybody," George said. "He's got about eight or nine this year just because he's so smart."

At Franklin, Overaitis stood out in baseball, basketball and soccer.

After graduating from high school, Overaitis played two years under Stu Rose at Henry Ford Community College before moving to Madonna, where his father, Joe, is employed.

A sociology major, Overaitis is becoming serious about academics.

His younger sister, Tara, an All-State basketball player who recently transferred from Livonia Ladywood to Dearborn Divine Child, is a 4.0 student who has become a model for achievement.

"It's tough trying to keep up with her, but I think because of my age, I finally grew up," Craig said. "I had to get more involved. Once I graduate (sometime next year) I want to find something in my field, and I'd like to coach, too."

With his final season winding down and Madonna (36-13 overall) vying for first place in District 23, Overaitis is savoring every moment of his collegiate career.

He's dedicated the season to his grandfather, Alexander Kaczmarczyk, who is recovering from a stroke.

■ 'He's hard-nosed. He doesn't look like he should be a player when you look at him. You wouldn't say he's in the best of shape. He's very unassuming.'

Mike George
Madonna coach

"He comes to the games, but he has to sit in the car," Overaitis said. "He just loves the game. I'm on a mission because of him."

The outfielder, however, cautions that he may not enjoy another stretch like the one he had when he was chosen national player of the week.

"I don't think that would happen again," Overaitis said. "I just hope I can continue to help the team. As long as we keep winning, I'll be happy.

"It will be sad to see it end. I'll miss it a lot because I like the camaraderie."

George said the loss will leave a void.

"Craig's not a rah-rah type guy, but he knows when to shake things up in the dugout," the Madonna coach said. "I don't know anybody on our team who dislikes 'Ove,' but when he puts on the uniform, he hates to lose. Just like the rest of our seniors."

Mohacsi gets call to Hall of Fame

TEN-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

Livonia's own Mary Mohacsi was inducted into the WIBC National Hall of Fame at Salt Lake City in ceremonies that took place at the Delta Center during the WIBC convention.

Mary was one of three selected for "superior performance" and is only the 10th from the Detroit area so honored. The last was Doris Knechtes in 1983.

Other Hall-of-Famers present at the ceremony, which took place in front of 4,000 delegates from all over the U.S., were Anita Cantaline, Elvira Toepfer and Marion Ladewig from Michigan.

Mohacsi was accompanied on the trip by her husband, Ted, and daughter, Sandi. Mary received a Hall of Fame medallion and a copy of her portrait which will hang in the Bowling Hall of Fame in St. Louis.

She earned her place in the Hall of Fame through her many accomplishments on the lanes in local, national and international competition.

Mary has also received a lot of previous recognition, having been named to the Greater Detroit Hall of Fame (1978), the Michigan Women's Hall of Fame in 1978 and the Michigan Amateur Sports Hall of Fame.

That's FOUR — count 'em — halls of fame based on 30-plus great years of superior performance on the bowling scene, during which time she averaged between 190 and 208.

"Oh, what a moment this is," Mohacsi said during the induction. "This is the greatest bowling achievement in my life."

To elaborate on her many accomplishments would take more space than this column will allow, however, Mary Mohacsi has the distinction of having earned the honor of "Queen" of Detroit Women Bowlers 10 times. That's a record, and one that might never be broken. Mary and son, Mark, operate "The Right Approach" bowling pro shops located in Merri Bowl and Taylor lanes.

UDM baseball snares 2 from Catholic Central

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

University of Detroit-Mercy baseball coach Bob Miller wouldn't need a recruiting budget if all high school players were as easy to reach as Dave Susalla.

No long-distance phone calls, no extended recruiting trips.

Heck, recruiting Susalla was as easy as a walk through the neighborhood.

Susalla, a left-handed pitcher from Redford Catholic Central, has signed a national letter of intent with the Titans. The Titans also have received a letter of intent from CC catcher Juan Sanchez and are waiting to hear from CC pitcher Andy Kummer, who has not yet committed.

Susalla lives two blocks away from Miller in the Redford Township subdivision near Six Mile and Beech Daly roads. He hand-delivered the letter of intent to Miller's home.

"I saw his car in the street and I knew he was home," said Susalla, who has a 4.2 grade point average and scored 27 on the ACT test. "I stopped by, went in, and he said, 'Congratulations, you're a U of D Titan now.' He was all happy and I'm happy too."

Susalla, 6-foot, 180 pounds, has been the Shamrocks' steadiest pitcher this year with a 4-0 record. He has a 2.42 earned run average in 26 innings pitched.

There's also a chance Susalla could play in the outfield at U-D Mercy. When not pitching, Susalla plays center field and he bats No. 3 in the CC lineup.

"Coach Miller said he's not just looking at me as a pitcher. He says I'm a pretty good hitter and I think I'm a pretty good hitter," Susalla said.

Sanchez, 5-10, 185 pounds, is known for his defensive abilities and strong arm.

"It's a big advantage for me because we've played together since we were 16, and in summer ball, and he knows what I can and can't throw," Susalla said.

Simple, honest, straightforward. How else would you expect to lease a Saturn?

By now, you've probably heard about the Saturn buying experience. No hassles, no pressure, no fuss, just common courtesy, along with a pretty great car.

Well, the way we see it, your experience shouldn't be any different if you want to lease a Saturn. After all, what could we possibly gain by making things any less straightforward than they have to be?
