12 file to seek 1 seat

■ A total of 12 attorneys had filed to run for a seat on the 35th District Court bench as of Tuesday's filing deadline. Judge James Garber is retiring.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

In local legal circles this spring, the joke was "What local attorneys aren't running for district judge?"

The answer: Not many.

By the candidate filing deadline Tuesday, 12 area attorneys had filed sufficient petition signatures to qualify to run for a lone seat on the 35th District bench.

The top two vote-getters surviving an Aug. 2 primary for the nonpartisan judgeship will face each other in the Nov. 8 general election.

The candidates are:

- Edward Zelmanski Jr. of Canton, managing attorney for UAW-GM-Ford Legal Services.
- Stephen Boak of Plymouth Township. He is a former assistant Wayne County prosecutor and a partner in the Sempliner, Thomas and Boak law firm in Plymouth.
- Maurice Breen of Plymouth Township. He is a former Plymouth Township supervisor, serving in that post from 1980-91, and former county commissioner, serving in 1991-92.
- Jacqueline George of Plymouth, who has a law firm with offices in Plymouth and Detroit.
- Michael Gerou of Plymouth, who has a Plymouth law practice and is a former staff attorney for the Legal Aid and Defender Association.
- Victoria Hariri of Northville.
- Carol Levitte of Plymouth Township, who has a Plymouth law practice and has served as a utility hearing officer for the Public Service Commission.
- Ron Lowe of Plymouth, Plymouth city attorney since 1985.
- Maria Petito of Northville, a Wayne County assistant prosecuting attorney.

Church members await home of their own

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

The nomadic Resurrection Catholic Church expects to have a home of its own in Canton Township by Easter 1995.

"We are a small parish," said the Rev. Richard Perfetto. "We have 200 families. We try to do things on a personal basis."

The church — the third Catholic church in Canton — expects to encompass far more families in the future. Within the parish boundaries, some 855 houses are under construction, with another 1,200 planned.

The parish serves families in an area bounded by the Canton Township line on the south, Napier Road on the west, Canton Center Road on the east, and on the north by Joy Road to Beck, and Powell to Napier.

No doubt, Perfetto said, Canton Township is considerably Catholic. "I've heard it's from 40-50 percent," said Perfetto, who was a pastor at Our Lady of Good Counsel, Plymouth, when boundaries were drawn for the new parish in July 1990.

The new facility, which will accommodate 350-400 people, will be built on 27 acres. The building will be used for worship on the weekends. "We'll use it during the week for whatever else is needed. It will eventually become our parish hall," Perfetto said.

Perfetto said Resurrection has no plans for a school on the acreage where the new church will be built. Parishioners have three youth groups for high school, middle school and elementary school children.

A permanent church will be the second step when the parish has raised enough money. Financial pledges from parishioners and loans from the Detroit Archdiocese will build the first facility.

Just before the recent groundbreaking, parishioners planted trees on the land for the future. "We asked people who participated in the township's seedling giveaway that if they were not going to use them could we use them," Perfetto said.

In its almost four years, Resurrection has had as many temporary homes. The first Mass was celebrated at Isbister Elementary School on Aug. 19, 1990. The next stop was Pioneer Middle School, where the parish membership increased to more than 100 families.

With a growing parish, Perfetto met with the Rev. Bill Myers, formerly of the Faith Community Church, to use the church for a second Mass on Saturday evenings.

May 19 marks Ford Road's day in the spotlight

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Ford Road will be the talk of the town Thursday, May 19.

A task force of township staff, which has been gathering information about problems along the commercial corridor, will go public at 6:30 p.m. in Canton Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

Before that meeting ground will be broken at 4 p.m. marking the official start of construction on the 10-year-old Downtown Development Authority's improvement project for a portion of the thoroughfare.

The Ford Road day actually begins even earlier at 7:30 a.m. with the monthly Third Thursday Update when the Canton Chamber of Commerce and township discuss the Ford Road task force at Palermo's Restaurant in Canton Landing.

More than 60 business and community representatives and residents have signed up for the 6:30 p.m. task force meeting during which participants will be asked to join one of four groups investigating issues pertinent to the corridor.

Issues and groups include aesthetics of the corridor; vehicle circulation, roadways and parking; retail and office uses; and financial resources.

Each of the four groups will be asked to look at Ford Road as it is now, as well as to identify improvements and how to make improvements a reality. Each group will work with township staff.

Recommendations from the groups, which are expected to meet throughout June and July, will be reviewed and refined before they are presented to the task force by September.

Anyone who wants to join the effort or attend the meeting are asked to call Voyles at 397-5472.

Township Supervisor Tom Yack identified a number of concerns with the corridor that is considered Canton's main street. He said the corridor

Police continue search for man

Canton police continue searching for a 73-year-old man with Alzheimer's disease who wandered away from his home a week ago.

Police have used all-terrain vehicles, dogs, and horses to search for Richard Edwin Huntley, who left the Crossing Apartments near I-275 and Joy the morning of Wednesday, May 4. He is a white male, 6-foot-4, 155 pounds, with gray hair and brown eyes.

"We have used air support, dog support and foot patrols. We have used it all," said Tammie Colling, Canton police community relations officer. Railways, hospitals and morgues also have been notified.

Huntley — who is in good health other than the Alzheimer's disease — had been talking about returning to New Jersey, where he previously lived, Colling said.

"We've gotten some calls from people who thought they saw him, but not many," Colling said. "At this point, foul play is not suspected."

Huntley wandered off twice before, on April 29 and again on May 2. "He was found in both those instances. We are rechecking some of the areas we have already checked," Colling said.

When last seen, Huntley was wearing a blue down jacket, possibly over a tan jacket, tan pants and tan shoes. He is not believed to have left with money or identification on him. He was last seen in the Ford Road/I-275 area, Colling said.

Anyone with information is asked to call the Canton police, 397-3350.

Officials weigh Miller Woods options

By M.B. Dillon
Staff Writer

The Plymouth-Canton school district is looking to unload Miller Woods, a 10-acre climax beech and maple forest that's used as an outdoor laboratory by the district as well as the University of Michigan.

Gracing Miller Woods — off Powell Road east of Beck on a 40-acre parcel — are trees and plant life that date back 500 years.

"It has become apparent we don't have the firepower to police it or keep it up to the standards we like to have it," said Superintendent John Hoben. "It should be preserved as a park. We need someone who will oversee it on a regular basis."

Hoben suggested deeding the woods to Plymouth Township.

Every spring, the district cleans up the forest, removing debris and old appliances dumped there despite the presence of a new fence. The schools also label the ferns, plants and trees. "As soon as we put them up, people tear them down," said Hoben.

There's sufficient space on the school-owned site surrounding the woods for an elementary or middle school.

Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business, said the woods' value is enhanced by the homes being built nearby. Some are selling for up to $500,000, he said.

Residents in the area are trying to get Powell Road paved from Beck to Ridge. The school district, which has deeded the 10-acre woods as a permanent nature preserve, would be assessed for its portion of the paving cost. "We'd be assessed a per-lot charge along with the subdivisions," Hoedel said.

Board president Roland Thomas also supported Hoben's plan. "It's clear we are not in the parks and recreation or forestry business. It's my feeling we should at least pursue it."

Trustee Dave Artley said the schools should explore getting rid of the woods, "but there needs to be in the deed something saying it will be restricted for its current use. Plymouth-Canton students should have access to it."

Trustee Sue Feiten said, "We should investigate what Carl is talking about. But what makes us think a developer could take care of it any better?"

"The value to homeowners is the fact the woods are there," said Battishill. "There might be some developer who would make it into a nature preserve."

Plymouth Township officials were unavailable for comment.

Police probe crash

A 20-year-old man was killed early Saturday morning when the car in which he was a passenger struck a tree near Michigan Avenue and Sheldon.

Brooks Franklin Murray, of unknown residence, was pronounced dead at Annapolis Hospital following the one-car accident, said Tammie Colling, Canton community relations police officer.

Three others, two men and a woman, were in the car at the time of the accident. The driver, Willie Leron Knight III, 20, of Wayne, was seriously injured and taken to St. Mary Hospital, Livonia. Two other passengers, Stanley Hill, 20, of Wayne, and Tamyra Michelle Jones, 18, of Wayne, were transported to St. Joseph Hospital, Ypsilanti.

A Canton officer was on patrol about 4:25 a.m. at Michigan and Sheldon when he saw an Eagle Premier driving fast east on Michigan Avenue. The officer saw the car go out of control, drive across a nearby mailbox and strike a tree. The left rear passenger side of the car, where Murray sat, hit the tree. The officer did not chase the car when he saw it speeding past, Colling said.

Police are investigating the accident.

Assistance sought for senior class party

The community's help is being sought by organizers of the 1994 Plymouth-Canton Educational Park Senior Class Party Sunday, June 12.

"An event of this magnitude requires the support and help of the entire community. We are soliciting donations from all business and community leaders to assist in ensuring a successful party," said Del Furmanek of the party committee.

"Cash donations will be used to help defray the expenses of the party. Gift donations will be awarded as prizes throughout the evening. Items for gift donations can be any item suitable for use by a high school graduate, such as small appliances, electronic equipment, jewelry, sporting goods, gift certificates, tickets and discount coupons."

The 1994 party will continue a CEP tradition in which parents throw an all-night party in a safe environment at the high schools.

About 1,000 graduates are expected to attend this year's party.

Donations should be made payable to the 1994 CEP Senior Class Party and sent to 7600 Kingsbridge, Canton 48187.

Sponsors will receive certificates and/or brightly colored stickers identifying them as CEP Senior Class Party sponsors. Sponsors' names will be prominently displayed at the party. Names will be published after the event.

For more information, call Furmanek at 455-1619, or Linda Grube at 459-8264.

has a lack of design consistency among the buildings, including landscaping and signs. There are also problems with the number of entrances and exits from the strip malls, as well as problems at the intersections.

The DDA project will brighten up a portion of the thoroughfare on both sides of Ford, between Sheldon and Morton Taylor, and north along part of the east side of Sheldon Road.

"It's primarily landscaping, berming, shrubs, decorative lighting and brick walls," said Angela Wolosiewicz, DDA project manager. Utilities will be put underground in the DDA district.

The $1.8 million project is expected to be completed by the end of September. "It's going to be intensive," Wolosiewicz said, referring to construction by Wayne Oakland Contracting Inc.

In late 1993, Perfetto was informed he couldn't use Pioneer anymore. Perfetto jumped into his car and set out on a search. The sisters of Our Lady of Providence, 16115 Beck Road, offered the use of their chapel for Sunday morning Mass. Saturday evening Mass is at 4:30 p.m., at the site of the former Faith Community Church, 46001 Warren Road, Canton.

For information about the parish, Perfetto can be reached at 451-0444.

Hoben roast puts 'chief' in hot seat

By M.B. Dillon
Staff Writer

Jim "Doc" Doyle set the tone for Dr. John Hoben's retirement dinner and roast at Salem High School Saturday night. As Hoben was announced and made his way to the head table, the notes of "Hail to the Chief" sounded and Doyle waved a placard bearing Hoben's image.

Doyle and Neil Van Riper, retired educators and friends of Hoben, co-chaired the event, which drew more than 200 people and raised $6,000 for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' Educational Excellence Foundation. The check would have been for more, but something had to be paid to get school board member/roaster Dave Artley off the stage, joked one of the organizers.

Joining Hoben at the head table were guests including his sister, Olga Hayward of Boca Raton, Fla., daughter Michele Hoben and son John Hoben Jr.

A five-course dinner preceded a student Park Players' adaptation of the recent "1940s Radio Hour" show before the gathering moved to the auditorium where roasters and toasters gave Hoben the business.

Hoben lauded

Former Salem principal Bill Brown praised Hoben for his commitment and stamina, but not before reminiscing about the days of modular scheduling. Parents were sent a notice that said "If you're going to have a heart attack, please don't have it until after 3 p.m., because we won't know where your kid is," said Brown.

Former school board president Carol Davis reminisced about Plymouth's chicken flying contest. It seems Hoben was in charge of purchasing the district's bird. "Hoben's Hero." "He bought a rooster, and it fell three feet behind the starting line. Roosters don't fly," said Davis.

Mike Flanagan, formerly Farmington superintendent now heading up the Wayne County intermediate school district, said Hoben taught him the best definition of a teacher. "It's someone who can drink four cups of coffee before 8 a.m. and hold it til 3:30," he said. Flanagan said he has such regard for Plymouth-Canton schools that he moved here with his wife and school-aged children before starting his new job.

Coaching days

Bob Atkins, University of Detroit Mercy baseball coach, played football for Hoben when he coached in Cheboygan. Atkins thanked Hoben for teaching him about commitment and about life. "He rubbed all the rough edges off in Cheboygan. Then he came here, and you reaped the benefits. This man is my second father," Atkins said.

Former assistant superintendent Mike Homes, now working in Wisconsin, recalled some of Hoben's favorite quotes, among them "being superintendent is like being a fire hydrant in a dog pound." He thanked Hoben for being a coach, leader, mentor, colleague, "and most of all a friend."

Van Riper introduced Hal Anderson, Brighton schools athletic director, who played football for the Plymouth Rocks under Coach Hoben. "The Rocks have held a few reunions; some of them at Jackson, and I don't mean the town," he joked.

Undefeated season

Anderson thanked Hoben for his guidance, enthusiasm and dedication, extended to him and other student-athletes when Hoben's wife was seriously ill. "I've patterned my life after this guy," said Anderson. "He took a disoriented bunch of players and guided us to an undefeated season. I've worked hard to give to kids like Mike Hoben did."

Former school board member E.J. McClendon shared one of Hoben's quotes. "Only the lead dog gets to see the changing scenery or smell the fresh air," he said.

The superintendents who came before Hoben laid the foundation for a great school district, "but Mike was the one who put the cream on the cake," said McClendon. "We are grateful. We will never forget you."

Dick Palmer praised his friend's cooking talents. "I had to spend one night down in his basement holding the circuit breaker so he could use the electric skillet," Palmer said. Palmer commended Hoben for "touching so many people, not just students. Thank you for just being a friend."

Esther Hulsing, former school board president, saluted Hoben for preparing the district for the use of technology in the schools.

Plymouth-Canton athletic director Paul Cummings reminisced about playing football for Hoben, recalling that his coach had a temper.

"Coach liked to pace the sidelines. Sometimes he'd pick up mud and make mudballs." At one point, Hoben heard just about enough from an irate dad in the stands and let a mudball fly. He hit his target.

School board president Roland Thomas said the district is witnessing the end of an era. He praised Hoben for being a "diplomat, a decision-maker, a politician, negotiator, confidante, friend, leader and mentor. He would give his shirt off his back to any person in this community. Dr. Hoben, I hope you remain our friend and our counselor."

Field fire reported near Gallimore

Listed below are some of the Canton police incidents, fire calls and court cases reported during the past week:

■ FIELD FIRE
Canton fire and police responded to a field fire behind Leshe Lane near Gallimore Elementary School, May 4.

A nearby resident reported the fire in a Forest Trails subdivision park. The resident also chased a youth east toward Gallimore. It's believed the youth jumped on a school bus and left. The camp fire was put out by the fire department.

■ LARCENIES/B&Es REPORTED
Four AT&T analog telephone switches valued at $10,000 were reported missing from near Home Depot, 39825 Ford Road, May 7.

A microwave and kitchen fan valued at $750 were reported stolen from a house under construction on Lothrup, May 5.

A lawn mower and weedwacker valued at $530 were reported stolen from the backyard of a house on Willard, May 4.

Tennis rackets, a leather coat and boots valued at $450 were reported stolen from a 1991 Ford on Bartlett. Damage to the car was estimated at $250.

A bicycle and binoculars valued at $400 were reported stolen from a house on Mott, May 7.

A kickerbox and amplifier valued at $364 were reported stolen from a 1985 Ford on Edinburgh, May 6.

A microwave, washer, dryer and telephone valued at $1,200 were reported stolen from a house under construction on Meadowcreek, May 7.

■ VANDALISM
At least six cars and trucks on Copeland Circle were reported damaged with graffiti, May 7. A house also was damaged. Graffiti also was found spray-painted on a car on Saltz. Tammie Colling, Canton police community relations officer, said the graffiti does not appear to be gang-related.

Representative plans meetings

State Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, is available to meet with constituents a half hour before the Canton Township Board meeting once a month.

Whyman said she is available to answer questions, listen to concerns and update residents on legislative issues in Sumpter, Van Buren and Canton townships. Whyman began using this format last fall.

Constituents can meet with Whyman half an hour before the:
■ 7 p.m. Canton Township Board meeting, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, every fourth Tuesday of the month.
■ 7 p.m. Sumpter Township Board meeting, 23480 Sumpter Road, every second Tuesday of the month.
■ 7:30 p.m. Van Buren Township Board meeting, 46425 Tyler Road, every third Tuesday of the month.

■ Dennis Shrewsbury of Plymouth, a Plymouth city commissioner and past president of the Suburban Bar Association.
■ Kevin Simowski of Plymouth, a Wayne County assistant prosecuting attorney.
■ Karen Dunne Woodside of Northville Township, a Wayne County assistant prosecuting attorney.

■ The top two vote-getters surviving an Aug. 2 primary for the nonpartisan judgeship will face each other in the Nov. 8 general election.

The candidates are seeking to succeed Judge James Garber, who has served nearly 16 years as 35th District judge.

The position pays an annual salary of nearly $100,000. The court, in Plymouth, serves greater Plymouth and Northville and Canton Township.

The candidates are vying for a four-year term on the bench.

SERVICE + QUALITY + VALUE = 100% CUSTOMER SATISFACTION

There will always be a place for quality. Styles change, and fashions today are barely out of the store before they are replaced by the next trend. At KICHLER we pride ourselves in staying at the leading edge of lighting design. For KICHLER, quality comes first. We begin with fine lead crystal, solid brass, Celadon porcelain, Italian marble, the finest materials in the world. Then we create contemporary or traditional designs to enhance the beauty of your home. We hope a place for KICHLER quality will always be in your home.

Voters will see newcomers on election ballot

Here are the candidates who filed for election Tuesday in the Observer coverage area. Candidates have until Friday to withdraw from a race and not have their name appear on the ballot. Some candidates filed in two different races and must decide by Friday which office, if any, they seek.

Candidates are:

U.S. Senate
The annual salary is $133,600. Term is for six years.

The Democratic candidates are former congressman and attorney William Brodhead of Bingham Farms, U.S. Rep. Bob Carr of East Lansing, Michigan State University trustee and Lansing businessman Joel Ferguson, state Sen. John Kelly of Grosse Pointe Woods, state Sen. Lana Pollack of Ann Arbor and Macomb County Prosecutor Carl Marlinga.

The Republican candidates for U.S. Senate are former state Republican party chairman E. Spencer Abraham of Auburn Hills and former radio talk show host Ronna Romney of Bloomfield Hills.

U.S. House
Annual salary is $133,600. Term is for two years.

In the 11th District, which includes Redford Township and part of Livonia, incumbent Republican Joe Knollenberg of Bloomfield Township is unopposed in the Aug. 2 primary, but faces Democrat Mike Breshgold of Farmington Hills in the general election.

In the 13th District, which includes Canton and Plymouth Townships, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City and the southeast quadrant of Livonia, incumbent Democrat William D. Ford is retiring. The Republican candidates are Cynthia Wilbanks of Ypsilanti, a former aide to former congressman Carl Pursell, John Schall of Ann Arbor (formerly of Livonia) who worked for former U.S. Labor Secretary Lynn Martin, Glen Kassel of Wayne and Dennis G. Fassett of Belleville.

The Democratic candidates are David Geiss of Wayne, a former aide to Ford, state Rep. Lynn Rivers of Ann Arbor and attorney Fulton B. Eaglin of Ypsilanti.

State Senate
Annual salary is $47,723. Term is for four years.

In the 6th District, which includes Garden City, incumbent Democrat George Z. Hart is unopposed in the primary.

The Republican candidates are Nancy Hubbard, Raymond L. Berry, Michael Hoban and Gregory Scott Cawthon, all of Dearborn.

In the 8th District, which includes Westland, incumbent Democrat William Faust is retiring. The Democratic candidates are former Wayne Mayor Patrick Norton, former Westland Mayor Charles "Trav" Griffin, Kenneth Warfield of Wayne and Van Buren Township Supervisor David Jacokes.

Canton Township clerk Loren Bennett is unopposed in the Republican primary.

In the 9th District, which includes Livonia, Plymouth and the townships of Plymouth, Redford and Canton, Republican incumbent R. Robert Geake of Northville Township is challenged by Republicans John P. McGraw Jr. of Canton Township and Richard Arlen of Plymouth.

The Democratic candidates are Patrick O'Neil of Livonia and Mary Haney of Redford Township.

State House
Term is for two years. Annual salary is $47,723.

In the 16th District, which includes the south half of Redford Township, incumbent Democrat Richard Young is retiring. Democrat Kevin Kelley, a former Wayne County commissioner, is unopposed in the primary.

Republican candidates are James R. Ryan of Redford Township and David C. Brunell of Dearborn Heights.

In the 17th District, which includes Garden City, Democrat Bill Keith is retiring. The Democratic candidates are Keith's son, David Keith of Garden City, Thomas H. Kelly of Wayne and Bennie Horne of Westland. The Republican candidate is Garden City Councilman Edward F. Juarez.

In the 18th District, which includes Westland and a small portion of Canton Township, incumbent Democrat Justine Barns is retiring. Democrats seeking the nomination are Eileen DeHart, Joseph Barrera, Patricia J. Petitpren, Charles "Trav" Griffin and Bob Stottlemyer, all of Westland.

The Republican candidates are Michael Novak and attorney Walter Warren, both of Westland.

In the 19th District, which includes most of Livonia and the north half of Redford, Republican incumbent Lyn Bankes is challenged by Republican Martin C. Hanson of Redford Township and Thomas Augustyn of Livonia.

The Democratic candidates are Thom Gillis, Eliane Miller and Lisa Morency, all of Livonia.

In the 20th District, which includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township and the northwest part of Livonia, incumbent Republican Jerry Vorva of Plymouth is being challenged by former Plymouth Township Supervisor Gerald Law.

The Democratic candidate is Carolyn A. Blanchard of Northville.

In the 21st District, which includes most of Canton Township, incumbent Republican Deborah Whyman is unopposed in the primary, but faces Democrat Donna F. Clark of Belleville in the November election.

County Commission
Term is for two years. Annual salary is $43,466.

In the 9th District, which includes Redford Township and and Livonia east of Middlebelt, incumbent Democrat Michelle A. Plawecki of Dearborn Heights is unopposed in the primary, but faces Republican Curt Charles Najarian of Redford Township in the general election.

In the 10th District, which includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Livonia west of Middlebelt, incumbent Republican Thaddeus G. McCotter of Livonia is unopposed in the Aug. 2 primary, but faces Democrat R. Karl Burnett of Livonia in the November election.

In the 11th District, which includes Canton Township, incumbent Democrat Bryan Amann is not running for re-election. Democrats seeking the nomination are Kenneth Warfield of Wayne and Len Straub of New Boston. Bruce Patterson of Canton Township is the lone Republican candidate.

In the 12th District, which includes Garden City and Westland, incumbent Democrat Kay Beard of Westland is opposed in the Aug. 2 primary by Democrat Christonna Carswell Campbell of Inkster. Bhagwan Dashairya of Westland is the only Republican candidate. He also ran against Beard two years ago.

County Executive
Term is for four years. Annual salary is $108,664.

Incumbent Democrat Edward H. McNamara of Livonia is seeking a third term, but faces Clyde Cleveland and Ron Griffin, both of Detroit, in the Aug. 2 primary.

The Republican candidates are Helen T. Gotowka of Dearborn Heights, Lawrence G. Schweiger of Livonia and Paul D. McMaster of Redford Township.

WE'RE INTERESTED IN MORE THAN WHALES.
A small fish in a big pond. That's how a lot of small businesses feel when they deal with a big accounting firm. And while that might be true of some firms, it's not the case at Arthur Andersen.
Arthur Andersen's Small Business Accounting Group is dedicated to helping small businesses by providing the benefits of a worldwide organization that specializes in services such as preparation of financial statements, client accounting, payroll services, tax returns and tax projection consulting.
And you'll be working with a hands on professional who understands the entrepreneur and what it takes to make your business prosper.
At Arthur Andersen, we don't succeed unless you succeed. That's why all our services are designed and priced to add value to your business—not subtract it.
So call Ann Black, Director of Small Business Accounting at 313-994-1288. Because there's nothing that says today's small fish can't be tomorrow's whale.

Radio station hosts fund-raising auction

The WSDP Radio Auction has compiled a list of items to be auctioned off, including an 11-item Dream Board that features some of the top items for bid.

The auction will air from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, May 14. Bids will be taken over the phone and all proceeds will benefit 88.1FM, the student radio station at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton High School.

New items will be available for bidding each half hour. The Dream Board will be open for bidding all day. Items on the Dream Board were selected based on their uniqueness and value. Items featured include:

A 1994 Senior Prom Package (including tickets to the 1994 PCEP Prom, hair care by A New Attitude Salon and Selimi's, dinner at Mountain Jacks, tux rental from Steve Potix and black onyx and gold tone stud and cuff link set); Caribbean cruise, Suncoast Travel; Toronto weekend adventure, Suncoast Travel; Lou Whitaker autographed jersey, The Old Ball Park; Cecil Fielder autographed jersey, The Old Ball Park; day at the Capitol with State Rep. Deborah Whyman, includes lunch and a $100 savings bond; Bulova watch, The Chrysler Corporation; 14-karat ring set with 6 mm. triangular amethyst, Crystal Diamond Setters; diamond earrings (14-karat yellow gold), O&D Bush Jewelers; oak secretary desk, Walker Buzenberg Furniture; cedar chest, Walker Buzenberg Furniture.

Items on the Dream Board will have minimum bids to ensure that a fair value is received. "We appreciate the generosity of all the businesses that contributed," said Bill Keith, station manager.

■ The auction will air from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, May 14. Bids will be taken over the phone and all proceeds will benefit 88.1 FM, the student radio station.

School receives accreditation

Samuel Barresi, principal of Miller Elementary School, announced recently that Miller has received accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

The school was formally admitted to membership on March 30, at the Association's annual meeting in Chicago. Miller Elementary was one of 100 schools in this state which this year became NCA members for the first time.

"Accreditation by the NCA means that the school has met the standards set for membership," said Barresi. "These standards signify that the school has the resources, personnel and leadership necessary for effective education."

Jobs plentiful for SC grads — Engler

By Ralph R. Echtinaw
Staff Writer

Some 350 Schoolcraft College students along with their families and friends turned out Saturday for commencement exercises featuring Gov. John Engler.

"This institution stands for a quality education," Engler said. "And today, the name Schoolcraft on a diploma is a mark of excellence."

Engler predicted a bright immediate future for the grads. "Over the last three years, private payrolls in Michigan have added nearly a half-million names. And your names are next. From here in Wayne County to Oakland County to Lansing and to Grand Rapids, employers are reporting shortages of skilled workers. They need you."

Engler noted that Schoolcraft College was the first community college in Michigan to establish a Business Development Center. He cited the Women's Resource Center as a "vital lifeline for single parents who want to get their lives together and get back into the workforce."

Engler singled out three grads for special mention, including Elizabeth Waldrup, who received an associate's degree in computer information systems Saturday. When Waldrup moved to Livonia in 1990, she was newly divorced, financially insecure and a single parent. She worked as a waitress while attending Schoolcraft and attributes her success to the help she received from the Women's Resource Center.

Also mentioned were Mary Cleary, a mother of four grown children who encouraged her children to attend college and went back to Schoolcraft to "complete a dream"; and Michelle Bedwell, a single mother with a young daughter who lost her job and enrolled in Schoolcraft to upgrade her skills.

The sole complaint during Engler's appearance came from a crying baby halfway up the bleachers.

There was some question about whether area teachers would picket Engler's appearance, but none did.

The governor, who has been called an enemy of education by teachers, told Schoolcraft professors that "the dedicated and professional teaching staff here at this college . . . will be a key source of ideas and expertise as we work together to make Michigan's public schools the very best in the world."

Out in the hallway behind the gym, Denise Fecso of Redford Township watched three little girls while her friend, Marlin Maghee of Farmington, graduat-Weiskopf, Strange, Lopez, Mallon, Jacobsen. See all 5 at the First of America Challenge.

First of America is opening the '94 season with a five-star first. It's the All-Tour Skins Game, with PGA champs Curtis Strange and Peter Jacobsen up against Sr. PGA legend Tom Weiskopf and LPGA greats Nancy Lopez and Meg Mallon. They'll be shooting it out on Memorial Day, May 30 at the Golden Fox Course at Fox Hills Country Club in Plymouth, Michigan. And the only place to get discounted advance tickets ($10 for adults, $4 for children 12 and under) is at participating First of America branches.

A special "Family Package" including two adult and two child's tickets is available for $25. A portion of the proceeds benefits Michigan Special Olympics and their heroic athletes.

But we've got a second Big Five offer, too. Our 5% loan interest rebate. Take out any fixed term loan before June 30, make all your payments on time, and we'll write you a check for 5% of the interest you paid.

So swing by your nearest First of America office today. With the 5% loan interest rebate, there's no better time to buy the things you really want. And with the Challenge coming up, there's no better time to save on tickets.

Exchange students need host families

Host families are being sought for foreign exchange students from Germany, France, Spain, Argentina, Brazil, Poland, Hungary, Russia and Hong Kong.

The students are 15 to 18 years old and will arrive in late August for stays of five or 10 months. All of them have studied English for at least three years, and have medical insurance and enough money to cover personal expenses.

For more information, call World Learning local representative Gideon Levenbach at 453-8562 or 453-6851.

Eight Mile group to host annual meeting

The Eight Mile Boulevard Association will hold its annual meeting 5-7 p.m. Monday, May 17, at Bonnie Brook Golf Club on Telegraph just south of Eight Mile.

At the meeting, association officials will report on the group's first-year progress and its plans for the future.

Anecdotes about memorable events on Eight Mile Road will be included. A display will include pictures of past and current Eight Mile landmarks.

Tickets are $25 for members, $35 for everyone else. Call (810) 559-8633 for tickets.

Madonna business master's program is one of a kind

To address the needs of physicians and dentists in performing the daily operations of private practice, Madonna University offers a business master's program that is the only one of its kind in the U.S.

The master of science in business administration for the medical and dental practice administration executive fellows program focuses exclusively on private practice leadership.

With classes held in the evenings and on weekends, the 30-semester hour program can be completed within 18 months. Courses begin in September. Call 591-5117.

Detroit Zoo open longer

The Detroit Zoo is ushering in the change of season and warm weather by opening its gates seven days a week all year long. Previously, the zoo was only open five days per week throughout the winter.

"We strongly believe that the community should be able to enjoy the zoo all the time," said Ron Kagan, director of the Detroit Zoological Parks.

"An added reason to visit the Detroit Zoo is Abigail, an 11-year-old chimp, and her new female baby Chiana. Both mother and baby are on exhibit for the first time since Chiana's birth in February," Kagan said. The new schedule began May 1. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Admission is $6 for ages 13 and older; $4 for senior citizens 62 years and older; $3 for ages 2 to 12; and free for children under 2.

The Detroit Zoo is at the northwest corner of the Woodward and 10 Mile Road intersection in Royal Oak, near the exit to I-696.

Conference set

The International Business Advisor Certification Conference will be held 8 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. June 6-10 in Madonna University's Executive Conference Room.

The conference is designed for people who advise small and medium-sized companies or who manage their company's growth. Participants will learn to broaden their knowledge of international markets and exporting.

The fee is $895. Call 591-5117.

Lawmakers seeking more money for racetracks

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Passing a law is one thing. Putting money into it is another.

Ask the state legislators who represent cities with horse race tracks.

"We passed a law on this years ago," said Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Redford. "We were only asking them to follow the law."

But the House of Representatives rejected an amendment by Reps. John Freeman, D-Hazel Park, Bankes and Republicans Willis Bullard of Milford and Jerry Vorva of Plymouth to restore state funds to cities with race tracks.

Instead, the state Agriculture Department budget will give $1.7 million to those cities instead of $3.35 million the four had proposed in an amendment.

The House rejected the Freeman amendment 53 in favor to 47 against, with 56 needed for passage.

Voting no: Republicans Penny Crissman of Rochester, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak, Greg Kaza of Rochester Hills and Deborah Whyman of Canton.

Bankes said the bill gives $450,000 apiece to Livonia, Northville and Hazel Park instead of the $900,000 they were getting in the early 1980s. The bill went to the Senate and then is likely to go to a joint House-Senate conference committee.

Bankes filed a formal protest for the House Journal: "I was not able to vote for the Agricultural budget bill because I believe it is in violation of the race code of 1980 which states that '27.5 percent of the revenue . . . shall be returned to the city or township in which the race track is located'."

Gov. John Engler would like to zero out entirely the subsidies to race track cities. He sees "no justification" for such a subsidy from state taxes on the tracks when they already have property taxes on hand.

Bankes said Democrat Freeman didn't help the cause among Republicans by holding a press conference "bashing the governor."

"Everywhere I went rounding up votes," Bankes added, "Shirley Johnson (R-Royal Oak) followed and asked them not to support this."

Horse race tracks take up large acreages that provide relatively little property taxes because they consist of grandstands, barns and parking lots.

Livonia's DRC track sits in the "golden mile" industrial belt south of Schoolcraft Road and next to a railroad. That city has insisted that if it were rid of the track, the parcel could be developed for heavy, tax-producing industry. Northville's track on Seven Mile Road backs up to the downtown shopping district.

The cities also argue that traffic from track patrons and crime run up their police bills, justifying their cut of state racing taxes.

Refer to House Bill 5254 when writing to your state senator, State Capitol, Lansing 48913.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on May 18, 1994, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. DST, at the Board Room, the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft College will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1994 of an estimated additional proposed millage rate of .0534 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Trustees has the complete authority to establish that 2.27 mills be levied in 1994 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1993 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by an estimated three and one-half percent (3.5%).

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the College District. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the Board of Trustees must hold another public hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Trustees may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by the Board of Trustees.

St. Mary Hospital celebrates
Where Miracles Happen Every Day
National Hospital Week
May 8-14
Thanks for the miracles! ...to the health care staff that makes them happen... and to our community for your support...
Pick a day—any day—in the life of a hospital. How many miracles do we see? Can we count them all? And just because we see them every day, are they any less miraculous?
Miracles are born of spirit and dedication, knowledge and perseverance, commitment and care. And we're fortunate, each of us, to be more than a witness to it — we are part of it.
One exceptional week a year we take the time to salute you—our health care staff who helps bring about the miracles we see at St. Mary Hospital every day.
And to the community we serve—the individuals, organizations, businesses and schools which provide a network through which we deliver health care.
We thank each of you for your devotion to our patients, our cause and our hospital.

ed. Fecso credits Maghee for encouraging her to become a Schoolcraft student.

Kristyn Mieski of Redford Township kept an eye on her gregarious toddler nephew, Robert Fox, while little Robert's father graduated. Robert worked the hallway like a little politician, intent upon meeting all the other children. "He's going to be a lady-killer," Mieski said.

Also among the graduates is Sandy Gelman, a 41-year-old mother of two who works for Schoolcraft in the Institutional Advancement office. Gelman's next goal is a bachelor's degree. "Hopefully I'll get that before I'm 80," she said.

Other area graduates include Jill and Brian Pelton of Canton Township, husband and wife, who earned their associate's degrees together as a result of teamwork and togetherness.

Jill has a bachelor's degree and is a teacher certified in industrial education. Looking for a career change, she pursued a nursing degree. Brian earned an associate's degree in science to help in his job in sales.

As part of the ceremony, honorary degrees were awarded to Engler, John M. Hoben, superintendent of Plymouth-Canton schools; and Plymouth Township resident Tom Bohlander, the owner of 10 car dealerships, including Sunshine Acura in Farmington Hills.

Hoben, who has dedicated most of his life to education, has been the superintendent of Plymouth-Canton since 1971.

After gaining experience as a teacher in Cheboygan and Plymouth schools, he was a counselor, director of guidance, principal, coordinator of Plymouth Community Schools Secondary Education, and assistant superintendent for instruction.

Hoben has served as president of the Plymouth Rotary Club, Plymouth Building Authority, and the Network of Outcome Based Schools; past director of the Michigan Association of School Administrators; and a board member of the United Fund and the YMCA.

Bohlander owns car dealerships in Michigan, Ohio and New Hampshire. He received the 1973 Time Magazine Quality Dealer Award, and he is the Michigan Honda Dealer Council Representative.

Bohlander is a member of the Schoolcraft College Foundation Board of Governors. He co-chaired the foundation's successful 10th Special Anniversary Golf Tournament - the most successful to date.

He also serves on the Greenhills School Board of Directors.

Volunteers are needed for Rouge Rescue June 4

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

The Friends of the Rouge organization is collecting volunteers now for the ninth annual Rouge Rescue cleanup on Saturday, June 4.

With 28 cleanup sites this year, the operation is more ambitious than ever before. To find out where the site nearest you is, call 961-4050.

Volunteers are urged to wear long pants, long-sleeved shirts and sturdy shoes or boots. Bring insect spray and tools, such as rakes, shovels, heavy rope and pruning shears.

Traditional Rouge cleanup activities, like clearing logjams and pulling tires from the river, will be performed. But other activities have been added:

- Preventing pollution by stenciling storm drains with warnings against dumping toxic substances such as oil, paint, anti-freeze and household chemicals into drains that flow directly into the river.
- Bringing additional wildlife back to the Rouge by building and placing nesting boxes for birds, wood ducks and brown bats (which are harmless and devour mosquitoes, reducing the need for toxic insecticide spraying).
- Planting trees at some sites to stabilize river banks and improve wildlife habitat.

Also new this year is the adopt-a-stream project called "Rouge RiverWatch." The Friends of the Rouge is signing up groups who wish to "adopt" segments of the Rouge and its tributaries. These groups will conduct quarterly litter cleanups and surveys of the river to spot potential problems. Volunteers who participate will also be given the option to monitor the water quality in the section of the Rouge they adopt.

Six groups have signed up so far, including Plymouth Salem High School (students are recruiting other groups from the Plymouth/Canton region), the Holliday Nature Preserve Association, the 17th District Court Alternative Work Program in Redford Township, Denise Henderson-Bills of Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the Students for Environmental Awareness at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

The Friends of the Rouge has 800 dues-paying members and 1,500 people on its mailing list. About 2,500 people usually turn out for the annual cleanups. Annual dues are $15 for individuals, $30 for families. Call 961-4050 to join.

Ex-teacher wins disability benefits

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

"Crazy old loony," said the defiant student at Detroit's Cooley High School after his art teacher told him to close the door.

"Crazy old loony, crazy old loony," chanted the rest of the class.

That was the end for Thomas Boyle of Garden City. On Jan. 4. 1984, he ended his increasingly unhappy, 30-year career with Detroit Public Schools. Boyle applied for mental disability benefits under the workers compensation law.

Ten years later, Boyle won those benefits in the Michigan Supeme Court. It said he must be compensated for a mental injury the same as for a physical injury.

The "crazy old loony" chant was the straw that broke him. Since the 1970s at Cooley, "student conduct had markedly declined, and his art class became a 'dumping ground' for problem students who were failing other subjects. He flunked 80 to 90 percent of his students in some classes because of high absenteeism or inattention," said Chief Justice Michael Cavanagh's majority opinion.

Students straggled in 30 or 40 minutes late. Boyle's advanced classes — "the bright spot of his day" — were canceled. His complaint that another teacher let students carve up tables and drip paint on furniture went unresolved. He considered it unprofessional conduct when other faculty had sex with students.

He drank heavily for several years and one day "destroyed his apartment and apparently attempted suicide," the high court said. He spent three weeks in a hospital for alcohol dependency and psychiatric counseling.

A work-related mental disability?

No, said the Workers Compensation Appeal Board. Those events were "general allegations of stress and anxiety," not "actual events" required by law to prove mental disability.

No, agreed the Court of Appeals.

Wrong, said a 5-2 majority of the Supreme Court last week. It sent Boyle's case back for determination of workers comp benefits.

In the same opinion, the court ruled in favor of a Flint school secretary and a Van Buren schools janitor who also claimed mental disability on the basis of events at work.

Dissenting were Justices Dorothy Comstock Riley and Robert Griffin. They said "the majority advocates a highly subjective standard for work-related mental disabilities," adding:

"The effect of the majority view would be to make employers the insurers of their workers' wage losses for mental disabilities without necessarily establishing an adequate causal link."

Justice James Brickley agreed with the majority on art teacher Boyle and the Van Buren janitor but would have ruled against the Flint secretary.

Veteran Detroit labor lawyer Theodore Sachs argued Boyle's case before the justices.

Cavanagh's majority opinion will send a message to school employees, in particular, that losing a finger in a machine is not the only kind of injury a worker can suffer. It said:

"We hold that to establish a compensable mental disability claim arising on or after Jan. 1, 1982, a claimant must prove: (1) a mental disability (2) arising out of the actual events of employment, not unfounded perceptions thereof; and that (3) those events contributed to, aggravated, or accelerated the mental disability to a significant manner."

Reconciling the Legislature's amendments with earlier case law, the high court added:

"Employers take employees as they find them. Allowing actual, if seemingly unimportant, events to form the basis of a compensable mental disability treats mental injuries the same as physical injuries."

Cavanagh was joined by Conrad Mallett Jr., Charles L. Levin and Patricia Boyle.

AROUND CANTON

Traffic meeting

The Canton Municipal Services Department will host a meeting at 7 tonight for residents in the Maben Road-Sunflower subdivision area who have concerns about construction traffic. The meeting is in Canton Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

Traffic circulation will be discussed for residents in an area bounded by Maben, Hanford, Beck and Canton Center roads. Residents have complained about construction traffic associated with the Sunflower 11 subdivision.

Rock 'N Bowl

The Canton Public Safety Department invites kids ages 9-15 to participate in the "For Kids Only - Rock 'N Bowl" 7-10 p.m. Friday, May 20, at Super Bowl, 45100 Ford Road.

The program, which will continue each Friday night throughout the summer, is designed to curb gang activity. As part of the program, Super Bowl will offer unlimited bowling, rental shoes and a live disc jockey for dancing.

With every $5 admission, the Super Bowl will make a donation to the Canton Police Community Youth Education Program. Parents are assured that the bowling center will be alcohol- and smoke-free. For more information contact officer Tammie Colling, 397-5344.

Travis cleanup

Cleanup of the historic Travis House will continue with volunteers 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, May 21. This is the second cleanup day planned through the Canton Historic District Commission. The first cleanup April 30 and May 1 drew more than 35 volunteers.

"We want to thank all of the volunteers who helped and urge others in the community to come out for our second event in May," said Terri Bennett, commission chairwoman.

Residents who want to help with the cleanup should call the Canton Resource Development office, 397-5417.

Aid to law enforcement recognized

Four people on Monday received Canton Public Safety awards and citations for helping law enforcement officers. One, the manager of a motel, recognized a man who was suspected of kidnapping a woman.

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

On April 7, Daniel Hays, manager of the Canton Ramada Inn, recognized a man to whom he had rented a room as a suspect seen on television who had kidnapped an ex-girlfriend from Dearborn Heights.

Hays called the Dearborn Heights police. The Canton police and other agencies arrived at the motel on Michigan Avenue where the man was arrested and the woman released and hospitalized.

Hays and three other citizens were honored with civilian citations at the eighth annual Canton Public Safety Awards and Citations Ceremony Monday night.

"During the 2½-hour operation, Mr. Hays cooperated with law enforcement to the fullest degree. He assisted in the evacuation of the building, and in developing information related to building floor plans and lay out. He also provided room space from which the operation proceeded," according to Canton Public Safety Director John Santomauro.

At the time, police believed that the kidnapper's intention was to kill his ex-girlfriend. "Mr. Hays' alert observation, quick action and complete cooperation with law enforcement in no small way assisted in the saving of a human life," Santomauro said.

William Dunmire was honored for helping a Canton officer on I-275 as he tried to arrest a man for driving under the influence of alcohol, Dec. 16, 1993. "Mr. Dunmire stopped his vehicle on the shoulder of the road and assisted in subduing the suspect so that the officer could handcuff him," Santomauro said. Dunmire also helped the officer place the man in the patrol car.

Kim Quinn, who worked as a crossing guard at Saltz and Lilley roads Jan. 26, 1993, was honored for providing police with information about a suspect who had robbed the Wilderberry Party Store at Ford and Lilley earlier that day.

Deana Lynn Tuczek was honored for also providing police with information about the man who robbed the Wilderberry Party Store. "Ms. Tuczek witnessed an armed robbery suspect sought by the Canton Police Department flee through her backyard on Oakview and drop the shotgun he was carrying," Santomauro said.

As a result of information provided by Quinn and Tuczek, Canton police recovered the loaded shotgun and apprehended the armed robber.

Also honored at the awards ceremony was public service officer Steve Moss, a police-fire dispatcher, who instructed a caller - who walked in after an armed robbery at Citgo gas station May 10, 1993, and found the cashier handcuffed in a back room - to place the phone by the cashier so he could obtain a description of the robbers.

"Due to PSO Moss' quick thinking and thoroughness in obtaining the description, the information was conveyed to other departments quickly," Santomauro said. "This resulted in three persons being apprehended for the armed robbery."

Two Michigan State Police troopers were recognized with certificates of merit for their work in connection with the armed robbery at the Citgo gas station at Ford and Haggerty roads.

After troopers James Wolf and Garth Burnside received information about a car driven by the robbers, they stationed their patrol car at Wayne Road and I-94 waiting for the suspects. A short time later the car drove by and the three robbers were arrested.

The arrests of the three robbers also solved a number of other crimes in which the three were apparently involved, Santomauro said.

Honoree helps fight gang problem

Brenda Plecha of Canton will be honored for her initiative in educating Wayne County communities, including Canton and Plymouth, about gangs.

Plecha, family life education program manager for Family Service Detroit and Wayne County, will receive the Arne A. Erickson Award May 18 at the Family Service Annual Meeting and 115th Anniversary Celebration.

"Brenda saw the need to educate Wayne County communities about gangs due to increased gang activity and she took action," said Les Bowman, Family Services board chairman.

The award, named after staff member Arne Erickson who was killed in a car accident while on assignment for the agency, recognizes the contribution of a staff member to innovations leading to enhanced services; creativity in clinical practice, staff training and development; and originality in developing new or existing programs.

Since June 1993, Plecha has coordinated "Keeping Our Community Gang-Free" community awareness panels for Canton, Plymouth, Livonia, Westland, Wayne, Redford and Dearborn. She has spoken about gangs from a business perspective for the Canton and Plymouth chambers of commerce. She also created a tip sheet to educate people about gangs: "A Parent's Guide to Kids and Gangs," and "Kids and Gangs - What Businesses Can Do."

Plecha also was invited to join the Canton-Plymouth Gang Task Force in the summer of 1993. "As Family Service's family life education program manager, a Canton resident and expert on gangs, Brenda was uniquely suited to serv-

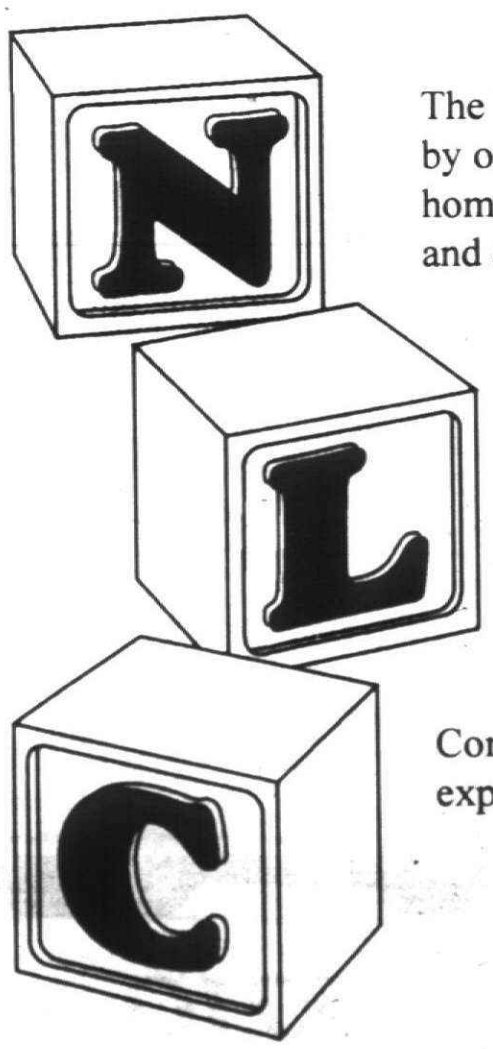
The New Life Center at Providence Park

Where families are born...close to home



The New Life Center at Providence Park thanks the many families who came by our open house on May 1. Hundreds of families toured the comfortable, home-like rooms, learned about family-centered care and enjoyed refreshments and entertainment.

You'll find the choices are many at Providence. From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. And think about being able to go home 24 hours after your baby is born. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. That's the kind of extra care, attention and education families receive from Providence.

If you are thinking of having a baby, call us for a tour at 1-800-806-BABY. Come see for yourself what the New Life Center at Providence Park has to offer expectant families.

Police officers and dispatchers were honored for their accomplishments at the eighth annual Canton Public Safety Awards and Citations Ceremony Monday night.

The following officers and dispatchers were honored:

■ Lt. Robin Cripe received a departmental commendation for serving as lead command officer of a consortium designed to respond to high-risk incidents. In 1991 and 1993, he served as a co-coordinator of the basic SWAT (Special Weapons and Tactics) School, which is now in Canton.

Cripe also received a departmental citation for rescuing a man from a smoke-filled home Oct. 9, 1993.

■ Officer Leonard Schemanske was honored with a departmental commendation for serving as the first D.A.R.E. officer when the program began in 1989.

■ Lt. Pat Nemecek received a departmental citation for coordinating search efforts of a man believed to have robbed the Wilderberry Party Store, Jan. 26, 1993.

■ Officer Daniel Traylor received a departmental commendation for pursuing a man driving a car with an altered license plate. When the man, who was a parolee, was caught he was found with a starter pistol and ammunition.

■ Sgt. Ernie Sayre received a departmental commendation for arresting suspects involved in a breaking and entering, March 5, 1993.

■ Officer Randolph Rankin received a lifesaving award for administering rescue breathing and CPR to a resident, Nov. 24, 1993.

■ Officer Ed Lang received a departmental citation for entering a smoke-filled house with another officer, Oct. 9, 1993, and rescuing an elderly man.

■ Officer Scott Hughesdon received a certificate of merit for apprehending three men in a stolen car, Jan. 23, 1993.

■ Officer Scott Hilden received a certificate of merit for apprehending a breaking and entering suspect, March 25, 1993.

■ Officers Matthew Jenkinson and Scott Hilden received certificates of merit for apprehending a breaking and entering suspect, Jan. 26, 1993.

■ Officers Robert Sidor and Jerry Hardesty received certificates of merit for tracking breaking and entering suspects, March 5, 1993.

A unit commendation award was given to 11 officers and two dispatchers in connection with the apprehension of a man who robbed the Wilderberry Party Store, Jan. 26. They are: Lt. William Lenaghan, Lt. Pat Nemecek, Officers David Boljesic, James Harrison, Scott Hilden, Matthew Jenkinson, Todd Koch, George Sharp, G. Lou Stevens, Derek Torolski, Kenneth Winkler, and dispatchers Constance Barber and Robin Bush.

ing on the task force," said Sue Voyles, Family Services communications manager, who nominated Plecha for the award.

In her role on the task force, Plecha participated in activities, such as parent awareness meetings, at mobile home parks and apartment complexes in Canton.

"Brenda's involvement on the task force has benefited Family Service by making Plymouth and Canton law enforcement, school and government officials aware of the agency's services and its commitment to helping Wayne County families," Voyles said.

Through Plecha's community awareness panels, she developed links with the communities. By involving local Youth Assistance Program staff she highlighted the merger between Family Service and Michigan Training & Resource Center. By asking local businesses to donate honorariums, she created a donor relationship between Family Service and local businesses, Voyles said.

"Brenda's recognition of an emerging community problem led her to take a proactive approach to help Wayne County families," Voyles said.

Plecha has a bachelor degree in behavioral psychology from Western Michigan University. She was appointed family life education program manager at Family Service in March 1993 when Family Service and Michigan Training and Resource Center merged. As a center staff member she provided training and education programs to community youth assistance programs.

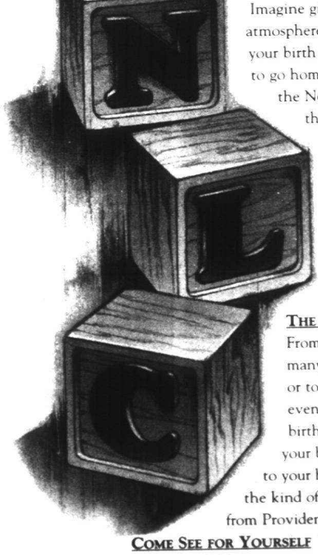
INTRODUCING
The New Life Center at Providence Park
Where families are born...close to home



A COMFORTABLE ATMOSPHERE
Imagine giving birth in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere where you make many of the decisions about your birth experience. And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.

A UNIQUE APPROACH
It's a new beginning. A new way of thinking. And an alternative to traditional hospital births*. The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.

THE CHOICES ARE MANY
From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or to have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. Because that's the kind of extra care, attention and education people expect from Providence.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF Visit our Open House on Sunday, May 1. Our staff will be available to answer questions from 1:00 to 4:00 pm. Plus, there are free gifts waiting for you. Or, if you have questions now, give us a call.

Hoben retires

Many contributions made

Plymouth Canton school superintendent John Hoben will be missed by the school district when he retires in June for his futuristic thought that brought computers into the classroom and for his loyalty to the school district.

Hoben's drive to turn classrooms into high-tech learning centers will give our children a jump on jobs well into the 21st century. And this wouldn't have been accomplished without Hoben's vision and determination.

Voter rejection of millages led cutbacks and more than once, the question was asked: Why are we doing this?

Hoben stayed on a steady course, much to the benefit of future generations.

While taking the schools into the 21st century, Hoben demonstrated a loyalty to the Plymouth-Canton area that is part of a past era. For that he deserves to be recognized. As a young man he started a career here as a teacher and football coach. He moved up the educational ladder, serving as principal of Plymouth High School, coordinators of secondary education, assistant superintendent for secondary education, and assistant superintendent for instruction before becoming superintendent.

He has dedicated the major portion of his life to the betterment of this school district. And it is indeed better because of him. He has demonstrated a vision when it comes to strategic planning. Years ago, he understood the impact that technology would have on education. He pushed ahead, and the district is a leader in this area.

Hoben has been loyal to this district and in turn the school board and taxpayers have returned this loyalty. For all the perceived problems that arise from year to year, the district has enjoyed stable leadership. Hoben and his team have guided the district on a sound course.

When it comes to planning, all the taxpayers of Plymouth and Canton owe Hoben a debt. The per pupil cost in the district is about $5,000, which is in the middle of the pack in western Wayne County, and looks good compared to the nearly $9,500 spent in Southfield.

This doesn't mean that students don't have good educational opportunities. Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem students are highly regarded. Students from both schools have always placed high in the Observer Academic All Star competition. This year's team included two students from both Plymouth-Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools.

Hoben should be remembered as a teacher/coach who worked his way up the educational ladder, saw into the future and computerized the schools. But all the while he didn't forget to be loyal to his school district.

Engler promise is bad policy

A nervous, desperate Gov. John Engler made a promise he shouldn't have in the Proposal A campaign. In order to win the Farm Bureau's support of the school finance plan, he promised farm property would be taxed at the same millage rate as homes (6 mills) instead of the business rate (24 mills).

It was an unfair tactic. The Legislature already had tied and wrapped up a package of more than a dozen bills and a constitutional amendment in its 30-hour session of Dec. 23-24.

Recently, the House of Representatives helped Engler keep his promise by adopting a bill to tax nearly all agricultural property at the homestead rate. It wasn't a partisan decision, for once. The vote was 61-39.

Among the 39 wisely voting no were Republicans Lyn Bankes of Redford and Democrats Justine Barns of Westland and Richard Young of Dearborn Heights.

Missing the vote were Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, and William Keith, D-Garden City. Their absence was the equivalent of a no vote, so we will give them the benefit of the doubt.

Voting yes, incorrectly, were Republicans Jerry Vorva of Plymouth and Deborah Whyman of Canton.

The House violated some basic principles with passage of House Bill 5329:

- Business property should have a higher property tax rate because it doesn't have an income tax or sales tax, the way individuals do, and business property owners weren't getting stuck with an increase in the single business tax rate increase.
- Individuals were entitled to a lower tax rate on their homesteads because they are paying a bigger sales tax rate, and they're getting only a tiny cut in the income tax. Moreover, the huge assessment hikes we've seen on suburban homes and the Great Lakes shoreline hadn't been felt by business and agribusiness.
- Non-residents weren't entitled to the 6-mill homestead rate on their Michigan homes, nor were Michiganians entitled to the lower rate on second homes.
- A farm is partly homestead but mostly agribusiness.

House Bill 5329 treats the business part of a farm like a homestead. It applies the 6-mill rate to noncontiguous and rented property, and it gives the lower rate to all but the largest corporate-owned farms and non-resident-owned farms.

At this writing, it appears the Senate will follow suit.

City and suburban lawmakers protested that the bill would give rural schools a whopping increase in state aid. Many farm-dominated districts had had only $3,200 per pupil under the old property-tax-oriented system. Under the new system, they will be gradually raised to $5,000 per pupil. That was very generous of Lansing. We have no argument with that. But why do farmers need a residential property tax rate, too?

Meanwhile, suburban and city districts will receive a mere 3-percent increase.

The agribusiness lobby's unearned bonanza is expected to cost schools $20 million in revenue. The money will come from somewhere else. Where? Will we deny growing suburban districts more local judges? Will we shut down more mental hospitals? Close down more campgrounds? Deploy fewer workplace safety inspectors?

Engler made an improper promise to the agribusiness lobby that will result in bad public policy. He will make suburbanites — the people who provided his 1990 victory margin — even more cynical about political promises.

We praise the legislators of both parties who had the courage to say no to his desperate promise to the Farm Bureau.

Teacher reaction

To R. Robert Geake, state senator:

These two educators have read your form letter of April 22.

It should be noted that I called your office prior to the vote, and I was informed that "Sen. Geake was leaning toward voting against the legislation because he did not want to interfere with the negotiation process between teachers and local Boards of Education." So much for your credibility in this matter.

We note in your form letter that you express "concern" for balance in the negotiating process. Yet, you immediately contradict yourself by outlining in detail all of the items that will be gutted by this bill, including so-called "illegal strikes." "Illegal" by what definition? By this bill? It's my understanding, though you fail to mention it, that if mediation fails, the teachers' association must accept the last offer from the local board of education. So much for your perception of "balance."

When you write in detail about your concerns for privatization, use of volunteers, school academics, contracting services, etc., you are most sympathetic to those citizens who, for whatever reasons, prefer private (parochial) schools and perhaps where you would like to direct more funding.

We are also familiar with the State's Administration (Governor Engler) attempts to divide educators (current employees vs. retirees) by promising retirees that "we won't bother the pension system currently, but there may be some serious problems for current and future teachers."

Finally, two other items: (1) sexist comments attributed to you were noted during the recent sessions which did not include hearings and (2) in your letter, you make a statement about the futility of confrontation; hiding behind "children," while attempting to destroy teacher associations, is certainly an excellent way to bring about confrontation, as you already know.

Softball flap

As a sports fan, taxpayer, parent and all-around citizen on this planet, I feel the need to comment on the "situation" across the creek. I refer to the mess on Canton High School's softball team.

If you read the Observer regularly, and I know you do, you have read about the six girls cut from the team. The coach says they were cut due to their lack of ability. If anyone out there believes this, I have a bridge I'd like to sell them. These girls were cut because they play slow pitch softball in the summer. Excuse me coach, don't let that stuff about this being a free country bother you.

Believe me dear reader, when I tell you that this is not a case of a bunch of parents whinning because "poor Susie didn't make the team." These girls could make the team if ability were the criterion. In this case it is not. These girls are being denied a chance to play. You don't have to understand the infield fly rule to understand the injustice here.

Is this the end of the world? Is the team's win/loss record going to suffer? Will these six girls' lives be destroyed? Probably not. Their tears will dry. But, if the point of high school athletics is to teach sportsmanship or fair play or honor, then I'd say someone missed the point.

Superintendent search

In response to the letter regarding the selection process of the next school superintendent:

All the candidates recommended by the consultant firm have excellent credentials and superior qualifications. How does Mr. Kilijanczyk suggest the board objectively determine "who will perform the job in an unconditional and dedicated manner?"

Should they put their names in a hat and draw one? The "clubby" interview sessions gave the committee and the board the opportunity to see the "human" side of each candidate.

Employers hire people based on more than just "skills and/or qualifications." They hire people who can work with others, who "fit in," people who can lead others, possibly in a different direction than they anticipated.

A new superintendent won't be an "outsider" for long, this community won't allow him to be uninformed. This community is the employer. That has been demonstrated by the selection committee.

I am not sure who the gentleman is more frustrated with, the news media, or the school board. I do not normally pat the board on the back, but in this circumstance they have tried to be objective.

They have listened to anyone who has chosen to given an opinion about the candidates. All the interviews were "open" and the community was invited to participate, including the parents at Gallimore, Bentley and Tonda schools.

Evidently, Mr. Kilijanczyk chose not to attend any of the interviews, he chose not to participate. If he had, he would have seen that there were some candidates that would not have met the needs of this community even though they appear to be "qualified."

Baffling idea

No matter how well-intentioned, favoritism equals folly

GUEST COLUMNIST

DOROTHY MATSU

■ I loathe women-only events with the equal annoyance associated with men-only activities.

I was hardly taken aback by the large corporation that chose not to indulge the well-intended but oddly sexist "Take Our Daughters to Work Day."

I was baffled that such a bogus, biased idea had gone thus far unchallenged. True, many feminists are fearsome creatures to question.

The head of the Ms. Foundation remarked that any grumblings were "drowned out by the joy." How long ago was it that women grumbling were drowned out by indifference? Two wrongs do not make a right, but three do?

A comic mused that one could never "catch up" on either sleep or sex. The talking heads of the media circuit dismiss the double standard by always having on hand a laudable fellow who takes his girls to work because now he simply must be a feminist to survive the onslaught of retaliatory efforts to somehow "catch up" on equal rights, particularly wages.

Guilt — the gift that keeps on giving. Recent evidence of favoritism in education and the resulting loss of self-esteem are disturbing issues to be dealt with, but must every aspect of life be reduced to a greeting-card occasion?

I'm still trying to figure why there must be separate days to honor one's parents. I can't help but think of the feelings of people this day excludes, besides boys. The unemployed, and those employed in less glamorous or outright questionable areas perhaps best left to the imagination, like morticians.

While this may seem a good idea for some, it may just shake the self-esteem of the parent who can't compete with their child's more professional peers.

I am reminded of a kind-hearted attempt by a neighbor to help my mother who was raising five girls alone. She brought me into a group called Bluebirds that would evolve into Camp Fire, or some such sorority.

I remember oafishly knocking the pitcher of Tang into the bowl of cheese tidbits at the first meeting. I recall everyone else wore these elaborately beaded vests, each bead representing some wholesome deed. And try as I might to forget, within the first and last month of "belonging," I remember a Kafkaesque occasion referred to as a Father-Daughter dinner.

I was assigned a scary stranger for an elementary school evening of awkward alienation replete with chicken cardboard blah, climaxing with the group spewing out "America the Beautiful" on soggy kazoos.

The grotesque affair still sends shivers up my spine and to my lips. Aside from the occasional loon, I have been treated fairly by men and remain undaunted from pursuing interests once considered male.

So, I loathe women-only events with the equal annoyance associated with men-only activities. No matter how well-meaning, any favoritism is folly.

Like the useless tokenism of the Susan B. Anthony coin, the attempt to nationalize such a one-sided occasion only serves to remind us not of how far we've come, but how far we all, men and women, sons and daughters, must go — together.

Ghost of Jefferson pales at new gun control laws

Moonlight glowed on his classical-style monument on the shore of the Tidal Basin. The rest of Washington, D.C., was asleep or partying. The man's ghost stood 6-foot-3 and had a reddish tint to the hair, but his visage was sad.

"My own party, my own party!" said Thomas Jefferson's spirit. "Passing gun controls — in the name of crime prevention!"

It was true. Each year Democrats hold "Jeff-Jack" banquets honoring Presidents Jefferson and Jackson, but last week the bulk of Democratic congressmen had supported a draconian gun measure.

Pointing to the newspapers, I whispered to him that the press was treating it as a defeat for the National Rifle Association.

"Pshaw!" said Jefferson's spirit. "The right to bear arms isn't about crime, or self-defense, or even hunting. It's about keeping government under control.

"Man is the only animal which devours its own kind, for I can apply no milder term to the governments of Europe, and to the general prey of the rich on the poor. I hold it that a little rebellion now and then is a good thing, and as necesssary in the political world as storms in the physical . . .

"Let them take arms," Jefferson said, warming up. "The tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time with the blood of patriots and tyrants."

"Didn't you witness the French Revolution of July 1789 when you were our envoy?" I asked.

"The people armed themselves with such weapons as they could find in armorers' shops and private houses, and with bludgeons," Jefferson's spirit recalled. "The next day, July 13, the Assembly pressed on the king to send away the troops, to permit the bourgeoisie of Paris to arm for the preservation of order in the city.

"I've been listening to Howard Simon of the American Civil Liberties Union," I replied. "He insists that 'this may come as a shock to people, but there is no Second Amendment right to own a handgun, a weapon or any gun.

TIM RICHARD

■ Last week the bulk of Democratic congressmen had supported a draconian gun measure.

The Supreme Court has said the Second Amendment refers to a commitment to states to be able to maintain their militias as a condition of joining the Union in the 18th Century'."

"What is the militia," said Jefferson, raising his head and glaring, "but the people? The Minutemen at Concord and Lexington provided their own arms. The Anglo-Saxon Chronicle of 605 said the militia 'was a local defense force, made up of the entire free male population, each member of which was charged with providing his own armament. The Stuart Restoration of 1662 hoped to do away with professional soldiers — no standing army — and substitute a militia.'"

"It looks as if our Bill of Rights, which you insisted on, has been eroded," I replied, "but in Michigan we still have a clear constitutional right: 'Every person has a right to keep and bear arms for the defense of himself and the state.'"

"Bless the states like Michigan and Vermont!" the spirit said. "Vermont allows any citizen who is not a felon or mental patient the right to carry a handgun. The Green Mountain people say 'an armed society is a polite society'," the spirit said.

Jefferson's spirit turned to me and urged me to keep writing about the Michigan Legislature's efforts to require that documents, meetings and lawsuit settlements be made public.

"The way to prevent these interpositions of the people is to give them full information of their affairs," the spirit said. "If once they become inattentive to the public affairs, Congress and Assemblies, judges and governors shall all become wolves."

Column inflames

I am writing in response to the column by Mr. Tim Richard on May 5, 1994. His opinions are clearly written as another attempt to inflame public passions in the continuing attack on Michigan educators and their unions.

He says he is sadly reporting the facts about educators. But what is truly sad is that what he is giving the public are the half-truths and innuendoes of mean-spirited, scared legislators reacting to the outcry against their own actions.

Where is the fact that Sen. Geake called a Michigan teacher a "man-hater" because she questioned the actions of the male governor and male Legislature?

Where is the fact that Rep. Lyn Bankes verbally attacked a Michigan Teacher of the Year who tried to ask her about her position on H.B. 5128?

Where is the fact that Sen. Geake has spent a handsome chunk of his new $9,500 public relations account, given to legislators by themselves from taxpayers' pockets in the name of "cost containment," on sending a personal letter to every teacher in his district, trying to explain to them why he voted for the bill that has severely curtailed their collective bargaining rights? Maybe he is just a little bit scared of re-election time?

And where are the facts that any teacher has been arrested and convicted for property damage or intimidation? Isn't it just possible that Sen. Bouchard's van could have had a flat tire because of a nail in the road or a faulty valve?

If Sen. Bouchard wants to complain about role models, what about elected public officials who are repeatedly arrested for drunken driving and financial misdealings, etc., or sports heroes who are arrested for drug dealings and shoplifting, etc.? I think we know who are the best role models for our children.

And why is the governor's campaign manager collecting pictures of people on a peaceable picket line? I thought we did away with this kind of political tactics in the 1950s?

It probably is true that some union members have overreacted to the continuing attacks on their professional integrity and livelihood, but who wouldn't, given the climate in this state for the past few years? And Mr. Richard, teachers do not have to read a copy of the bill handed to them in Lansing; we already know what it contains better than most. After all, it's our rights that are being trampled on.

But what is totally reprehensible and an outright attempt to smear the dedicated teachers of this state is his statement that the teachers in Lansing acted worse than the Ku Klux Klan did a few days later.

Mr. Richard, I personally joined thousands of other educators and their families, support workers, and other union members, who drove hundreds of miles, after teaching our children all day, to rally in Lansing. We listened to speeches, ate hot dogs, and walked to the Capitol Building to listen to our union leaders and the leaders of fellow unions from across Michigan.

There were no police in riot gear, no tear gas thrown into the crowd, no arrests, and in fact, I don't recall seeing any police, except those directing traffic. I take your comments as a personal insult.

The right to peaceably assemble and protest is a cornerstone of our democratic society, and teachers have just as much right to let their elected representatives know that we don't agree with the way they are voting as any citizen in Michigan.

If the Republicans want to continue to conduct our state government in such a fashion, with midnight votes on crucial issues, pushing bills to the floor of the Legislature without committee and public hearings, arm twisting and political blackmail from the governor, then they had better get used to the opposition voicing their opinions from the balconies, if that be the only way to be heard.

I suggest, Mr. Richard, that it is your image of the MEA that is tarnished. We are no longer the little old schoolmarms of the past, who taught and nurtured the children of our society, and were grateful for whatever crumbs the bureaucracy threw our way. We are highly educated, professional educators, most of us women, who have joined together in a professional union, and now have economic and political power of the highest level in our state.

It appears that the political and media bureaucracy, mostly male dominated, is so threatened by us that they will stop at nothing to put us back in our place. The governor's attacks on our collective bargaining rights, guaranteed under a 30-year-old Michigan law, was just the spark that was needed to ignite this powerful union, and we are now standing tall, together with the other unions in our state.

Come November we will see just who shot themselves in the foot, Mr. Richard, the governor and the Republican legislators hiding in his back pocket, or the MEA, the MFT, the AFL-CIO, the UAW, and the Teamsters.

Midland champions

The Canton Flames, an under-12 premier girls soccer team, came out on top at the Midland Invitational last weekend. The title did not come easily; the Flames had to survive a difficult bracket by beating Livonia, Perrysburg and Vardar.

Having done so, they advanced to the semifinals, where they upended host Midland. In the finals, the Flames toppled the Birmingham Burners 3-0.

Team members are: Michele Baldori, Jessie Bucks, Pam West, Mandy Lentz, Andrea Schimmel, Jeannine Edwards, Jessica Palis, Lacey Catarino, Rachel Morrell, Robynn Morrell, Marianne Juarez, Suzi Towne, Amy Dorogi, Susannah Bryant, Julie Masters, Heather Thompson and Emily Wilkinson. The Flames are coached by John Schimmel, Ernie Bucks and Tom Masters.

The Plymouth Kicks under-11 boys team enjoyed equal success at the Midland Invitational, but the finish was far more dramatic — a double-overtime 2-0 triumph over the hometown Midland Strikers.

The Kicks advanced by posting a 3-0-1 record, outscoring their foes 10-2. The championship was their second-straight; they won the Dayco Soccer Tournament last fall.

Junior golf lessons

Canton Parks and Recreation, in conjunction with Mickeys Golf Range, will sponsor junior golf lessons for ages 7-to-17. Classes will be from 10-11 a.m. on four consecutive Saturdays beginning June 4 at Mickeys, located on Cherry Hill Road in Westland. Cost is $40, which includes a bucket of balls.

Among class objectives will be grip, aim, set-up and full swing, as well as golf etiquette and course management. For further information, call 397-5110.

Up and over: Canton's Ndu Okwumabua tied for first in the high jump Tuesday but placed second due to more misses. Okwumabua bounced back, however, finishing first in the 100-meter dash and anchoring the winning 400 and 800 relays.

Canton girls best at Mangan

At long last — revenge. For the past two years, Plymouth Canton's girls track team has languished in Plymouth Salem's shadow. The Rocks climbed into the state's elite last season, leaving Canton in their trail.

By C.J. Risak

It's been a goal since the season's start.

Plymouth Canton had not beaten Plymouth Salem in a girls track dual meet since 1991. The Chiefs' current seniors were freshmen then.

Ending their prep athletic careers the same way was not part of their plan. Since the pre-season, Canton coach George Przygodski figured he had a team capable of challenging Salem as the premier team in the area.

On Tuesday, the Chiefs proved their coach correct by claiming the Mangan Meet title, 78-50.

"We kept our intensity the whole meet," said Przygodski. "We got our share of firsts, but it was our seconds and thirds that did it. What I'm saying is, our depth came through."

The Chiefs took top honors in 10 of 16 events, including three of four relays. Lana Boroditsch was the distance champ for Canton, winning both the 1,600-meter (5:22.8) and 3,200-meter (11:21.3) runs. She was the only double-winner for the Chiefs.

Sarah Makins and Sarah Hamilton each won a pair of individual events for the Rocks. Makins was best in the long jump (15-feet, 9-inches) and 100 hurdles (15.6); Hamilton collected firsts in the 200 (27.2) and 400 (59.7).

NAIA DISTRICT 23 BASEBALL TOURNAMENT

- WHEN: Thursday through Saturday.
- WHERE: Grand Rapids.
- FORMAT: Double-elimination.
- FIRST ROUND: No. 2 seed Madonna (18-6) vs. No. 3 Siena Heights (16-8), noon Thursday at Valley Field; No. 1 Aquinas (21-3) vs. No. 4 Spring Arbor (14-10), noon Thursday at Kimball Field.
- SECOND ROUND: Winners, 3:30 p.m. Thursday; Losers, 3:30 p.m. Thursday (sites to be determined).
- SEMIFINALS: Noon Friday at Kimball.
- CHAMPIONSHIP: 3:30 p.m. Friday at Kimball; noon Saturday at Kimball (if necessary).
- AT STAKE: District playoff winner advances to the four-team NAIA Area Six Regional May 18-20 in Chicago. Regional champ qualifies for the NAIA World Series May 26-29 in Des Moines, Iowa.

The preseason test is over.

That's the only way to look at it. Sure, it was a long preseason — Madonna University's baseball team has already played 59 games — but it's finally done with.

Now the fun begins — the playoffs.

Which could last just two games. That's the beauty of tournament time; every play means something.

The Fighting Crusaders enter the four-team NAIA District 23 playoffs as the No. 2 seed. They were 18-6 during the district's regular season, behind Aquinas College (21-3). Siena Heights (16-8) was third and Spring Arbor (14-10) fourth.

Madonna meets Siena Heights in Thursday's opening round at Grand Rapids' Kimball Field, while Aquinas and Spring Arbor face one another; both games are at noon.

There's nothing Crusader coach Mike George would like more than a repeat of last year's tournament, which Madonna hosted. His team had bested Aquinas in three-of-four regular-season meetings, but in the tourney it was Aquinas that emerged with the title.

"They beat us three-of-four (in the regular season) this year, so maybe we can do the same to them," George said Monday.

There's no secret to advancing. The key element: "Pitching," George said. "We'll hit; we'll score our share of runs. Our defense is much-improved in the last couple of weeks.

"Now it's either step up or, as they say, go golfing."

Offense has been a Crusader strong point all season. The team batting average is .328; they have hit 56 home runs and 108 doubles, scoring 415 runs (seven per game) in their 59 games.

The pitching has been good, but not great. The team earned-run average is 4.15; opponents are hitting .257 against them.

The most consistent starter, however, is a freshman: Craig Benedict (from Plymouth Canton), who leads the Crusaders

Madonna just a step away

SOFTBALL

By C.J. Risak
Staff Writer

What to expect is the question.

It won't be easy for Madonna University's softball team to find that answer. The Lady Crusaders opponent in the NAIA Bi-District round — a best-of-three series that starts with a double-header at noon today and concludes at noon Friday (if necessary) at Massey Field in Plymouth — is Shawnee State, from Portsmouth, Ohio.

And there isn't much Madonna coach Jerry Abraham can say about the Bears, except what he's heard second-hand: "I understand where they're strong is pitching and up the middle," he said.

As any softball coach will tell you, that's a pretty good place to start.

More precise answers must be found before Madonna takes the field against the Bears. If those answers go undiscovered, the Crusaders could have problems surviving the Bi-District.

What Shawnee has is a very young team. There are just two seniors and two juniors, to go with two sophomores and eight freshmen. Coach Ralph Cole has used two pitchers almost equally. Heather Birmingham, a freshman, is 10-4 with a 2.10 earned run average, 35 strikeouts and 22 walks in 90 innings.

Kim White, another freshman, is 10-3 with a 1.23 ERA, 65 strikeouts and 13 walks in 97 innings.

Like Madonna (35-8 for the season), the Bears — who come in with a 27-8 record — certainly can hit. Their team batting average is .329; White's .459 average, three triples, four home runs and 34 runs batted in are all team bests.

Brandi Rose, a sophomore (.423, 41 runs, 12 doubles, three homers, 23 RBI); Jill Walters, a junior (.343, 11 doubles, 24 RBI); and Judy Shupert, a senior (.353, nine doubles, 21 RBI) add to the arsenal. And yet, despite those impressive offensive totals, another number is more important to Abraham: the Bears' team

■ PROFILE

A quick once-over of Madonna University's baseball statistics will provide all kinds of reasons for the team's 41-18 record and a berth in the NAIA District 23 playoffs.

■ Jim Solak and Craig Overaitis, a combined 22 home runs and 91 runs batted in;

■ A team batting average of .328;

■ An average of seven runs scored while surrendering four per game.

Then, of course, there's the freshmen.

They have not just plugged a couple of holes in the lineup, whenever and wherever needed. And it would be inaccurate to term their contributions as merely "a plus for the team."

Because it's been more than that. Coach Mike George sums up his freshmen like this: "It's been a tremendous recruiting class. They're the best we've ever had."

High praise, sure. But well-earned. Some of the bigger contributors: shortstop Dan Taylor, .376 average, 10 doubles, 24 runs batted in; first baseman Aaron Jones, .349, nine doubles, four triples, three home runs, 30 RBI; catcher Craig Peterson, .306, eight doubles, four homers, 22 RBI.

And then there's Craig Benedict.

The 6-foot-2, 205-pound Plymouth Canton graduate started the season with promise. So do all first-year pitchers.

But this right-hander didn't just meet expectations. He surpassed them.

As the Fighting Crusaders head to the district playoffs, Benedict leads them in wins. He has a 6-2 record; his 2.42 earned run average is second only to T.C. Raptis, who's 5-1 with a 1.41 ERA. In 41 innings, he has allowed just 30 hits and 11 walks. His most impressive performance — a no-hitter against Concordia.

Was this what George expected when he recruited Benedict? "I didn't," the Madonna coach said. "Lou (Pirronello, assistant coach) did. He made that comment in Florida at the beginning of the year. He said Benney would lead the team in wins."

What made Pirronello make such a prediction? "He has such a great command of his pitches," George's longtime assistant answered.

Which is what separates Benedict from other freshmen. A sort of maturity, if you will.

At the start of his first season, he had goals. But they didn't include leading the staff in victories. "I just wanted to get in (games), prove I could do it," he said simply. "I didn't expect to come in and do this well."

Technically, you could say Benedict is a power pitcher, although not in the traditional sense. He has three pitches: a fastball, a curve and a palm ball. But he's no flamethrower.

His power is in his command. "His mechanics are so good," said George. "He has tremendous location, tremendous control. He's not an overpowering pitcher, but he throws such good off-speed stuff that it makes his fastball that much more effective."

Benedict knows he will remain effective only as long as he can put his breaking balls — he learned to throw a palm ball between his junior and senior years at Canton, with the help of pitching coach Bill Stafford — over the plate.

"Throwing strikes," was his answer when asked what his strength was. "Staying ahead of the hitters."

But there's more to pitching than mechanics. "I try not to get down, I try to stay positive," Benedict said.

Good control, both mechanically and mentally. That's why Benedict is at the head of his class.

Splitting finish

Crusaders sweep Tri-State, then get swept by Xavier

■ BASEBALL

The district campaign ended well for Madonna University's baseball team, but the regular season did not. The Fighting Crusaders swept Tri-State University 7-3 and 7-6 Friday in Angola, Ind., but lost twice against non-district foe St. Xavier 9-7 and 10-9 Sunday in Chicago.

Madonna takes a 41-18 overall record into the NAIA District 23 playoffs, which begin Thursday in Grand Rapids. The Fighting Crusaders finish second in the district with an 18-6 mark.

In the opener at Tri-State Friday, Madonna rallied for five runs in the last two innings to win. Jeff Miller, who enjoyed a superb weekend (9-for-15, one homer, three doubles, 10 RBI in four games), had two hits and two RBI in the game.

Other standouts: Scott Anderson, with two hits; Craig Overaitis, with a run-scoring double in the seventh and two RBI; and Aaron Jones, with a pinch-hit RBI double in the sixth that tied the game at 3-3.

Louie McKaig (now 5-4) got the win, giving up two earned runs in five innings, striking out five.

Miller's 4-for-4 plate performance, with two RBI, ignited Madonna in the second game. Jones and Anderson had two hits apiece, Jones driving in two and Anderson one.

Eric Butler (3-2) was the winner, going the distance.

Madonna's pitchers were hit hard by St. Xavier Sunday, giving up 22 hits in the double-header. Craig Benedict (6-2) took the loss in the opener after giving up four runs (two earned) in two innings of relief of starter Ryan Grabetz (three innings, two runs). Jeff Kugelman was the loser in game No. 2, surrendering six runs (five earned) in 1⅓ innings of relief.

Miller contributed two hits, including a three-run homer, and four RBI in the first game. Anderson had three hits and scored three runs. In the second game, Jim Solak and Dan Taylor each had three hits, Solak knocking in a run, and Overaitis and Craig Peterson had two hits apiece. Anderson and Miller each had two RBI.

Madonna

with a 6-2 record and is second on the team in ERA (2.42).

Others have had their moments, to be sure. Senior Louie McKaig started the season abysmally, losing his first four starts before rebounding. He has won five-straight decisions and has lowered his ERA to a respectable 4.43. He leads the team in strikeouts with 38 in 61 innings.

Ryan Grabetz, a junior, and T.C. Raptis, a senior, have both been solid. Grabetz is 4-2 with a 3.12 ERA; Raptis is 5-1 with a team-best 1.41 ERA.

George is counting on those four as his starters entering the tournament. Plenty of others will see action, however. Sean Henkel (Livonia Stevenson), a junior, should be the closer; he is 4-0 with a 3.18 ERA and a school-record six saves. Henkel also had the best strikeout ratio on the team, fanning 37 in 28⅔ innings.

There's lots of pop on the offense, as George indicated. Craig Overaitis (Livonia Franklin), a senior, hit .337 with a team-high 50 runs batted in, and he tied Jim Solak for team leadership in home runs with 11. Solak (Redford/Dearborn Divine Child) batted .387 with 13 doubles and 41 RBI.

Then there's junior Scott Anderson (.369, 16 doubles, seven triples, eight homers, 35 RBI, 29-of-31 bases stolen); seniors Jeff Miller (.394, five homers, 22 RBI), George Leung (.337) and Jeff Pendell, from Livonia Churchill (.317, 36 RBI); and freshmen Dan Taylor (.376, 24 RBI) and Aaron Jones (.349, 30 RBI).

But the oldest of baseball's beliefs is that good pitching beats good hitting. That's where Madonna's future — and hopes for extending the season beyond district play — rests: on the mound.

Softball

ERA of 1.69.

"I imagine it will be a low-scoring pitcher's duel," said Abraham. That's a bit surprising, considering his team's offensive output is even greater than Shawnee's. Madonna had a .382 team batting average entering last weekend's NAIA District 23 Tournament.

It also focuses the spotlight more intensely on Dawn Terrasi. But the Crusaders' senior pitcher has thrived in pressure situations. For the season, she is 28-7 with a 1.94 ERA.

"I think what Dawn does best is she gets better in bigger games," said Abraham. "Like last week: Her third game against Aquinas was her best. She's really giving it all she has. She really wants to win."

But then again, Abraham says the same about his entire team. "I just think if we keep playing like we did last weekend, we'll do well," he said. "When we take the field, we plan to win this thing.

"We're getting good pitching and playing good defense. They're focused, they're disciplined. These kids believe they can win, that's all that matters."

If they do, the Crusaders will be headed to the NAIA Softball World Series, hosted by Columbia College in Columbia, Mo.

But first things first. "To win this weekend," said Abraham, "we're going to have to continue to get good pitching. And our leadoff people are going to have to get on base. If we get our early people on base, I think we'll get production."

A few runs could go a long way. All the way to Columbia . . .

Canton clubs Central

■ BASEBALL

This game was over quickly.

At least there was no doubt regarding the winner. Plymouth Canton scored 11 runs in the first two innings en route to a 17-2 five-inning mercy of Western Lakes Activities Association rival Northville Monday at Northville.

Both teams are 5-2 in the Western Division. Canton is 11-7-1 overall.

Scott Valimont was the winning pitcher. He went all five innings, surrendering three hits and one walk, with four strikeouts.

The offensive eruption of the Chiefs had 16 hits in the game — was something that has been a rarity. Ryan Oatsch's two-run home run in the first inning was the team's first over-the-fence homer of the season, according to Canton assistant coach Bill Boyd.

"It's been a slow year for the power," said Boyd. "We've been hitting terribly."

Not so against Northville. Ostach finished with three hits, four runs batted in and three runs scored. Joe Niemenski went 4-for-4 with three RBI and two runs scored; Eric Marcotte was 3-for-3 with three RBI and three runs scored; and Mark Biro had two hits, an RBI and two runs scored.

Chiefs put game together

■ SOFTBALL

Maybe it's beginning to jell for Plymouth Canton's softball team.

The Chiefs finished second in their rain-shortened Canton Classic Saturday, beating both Livonia Stevenson 17-7 and Carleton Airport 7-2. Ann Arbor Huron won the White Division by going 2-0, same as Birmingham Marian, then took the title on the tie-breaker — fewest runs allowed. Canton won the Red Division.

On Monday, the Chiefs followed up their Saturday performance by beating Northville 7-3 in a Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division game at Canton. The three wins improved their record to 11-9 overall, 4-3 in the division.

"We're starting to play ball," said coach Jim Arnold. "We're starting to come together. And it's a good time of year to do that.

"Our defense is better, we're starting to hit the ball better . . . But the biggest thing is we've cut our errors down. This is a young team, and they're starting to come together."

It was nothing like Canton's first game against the Mustangs — a 9-8, eight-inning triumph.

■ SALEM 16, W.L. CENTRAL 4: Once Plymouth Salem got rolling Monday at Walled Lake Central, victory was assured.

The Rocks, tied 1-1 after three innings, plated 15 runs in the last four (including seven in the seventh) to pull away from the Vikings. Dave Bol's bases-loaded single in the seventh brought home two runs.

Ahmonde Grimes had three of Salem's nine hits. Grimes scored twice and had two runs batted in. Salem capitalized on seven Central errors.

Nirav Kher was the winning pitcher, going all seven innings. None of the runs scored off him were earned. He allowed eight hits and a walk.

"It was pretty ugly," said Salem coach John Gravlin. "But we keep battling. It's good when you win on days like that."

Salem stayed unbeaten in the WLAA's Lakes Division at 7-0. The Rocks are 14-4 overall.

THE WORLD'S MOST CONTROVERSIAL TEACHING METHOD.

It's too simple to be believed. Too powerful to be ignored. It's the same method that famed golf coach Jimmy Ballard taught to Gary Player and Curtis Strange. Still, there are those who think it's impossible to improve your swing so easily. Jim Colbert isn't one of them. And he's got the 1993 Senior Players Championship to show for it. It'll take just four hours and $83 to decide for yourself. Space is limited, so call now. (313) 513-5344

GIRLS' TRACK

Salem wins at Stafford; Canton rules Stevenson

Four firsts and three seconds were the big reasons Plymouth Salem's girls track team was able to finish on top at the Stafford Relays Saturday at Walled Lake Western.

The field included 12 teams. Salem scored 88 points, followed by North Farmington with 75 and Northville with 60.

The victories came from Melissa Hopson, Nicole Van Hees and Kristin Kosik in the high jump relay (a combined 14-feet, 8-inches); Sarah Makins, Brooke Kilby, Van Hees and Kim Sheldon in the shuttle hurdle relay (1:12.6); Courtney Sheldon, Jessica Moyer, Marcia Parker and Sarah Hamilton in the 1,600-meter relay (4:17.1); and Kristie Giddings, Kelly Stankov, Courtney Sheldon and Lynda Sebestyen in the 3,200 relay (10:33.1).

Finishing second for the Rocks were Makins, Alysia Sofios and Tanya Zgraggen in the long jump relay (45-½); Sebestyen, Nicole Bolton, Stacey Moore and Karen Boudreau in the distance medley (13:52.1); and Boudreau, Stankov, Sebestyen and Kathy Jost in the four-kilometer medley (24:23.3).

Plymouth Canton

Perhaps it was just as well team scores weren't kept.

If they had been Saturday at the Livonia Stevenson Invitational, it would only have confirmed the obvious: Plymouth Canton is dominant.

Out of 16 events, the Chiefs finished first 11 times. Ndu Okwumabua and Lana Boroditsch each won twice individually to pace Canton. Okwumabua's victories came in the high jump (5-1) and the 100-meter dash (13.0); Boroditsch was first in the 1,600 (5:18.3) and the 3,200 (11:18.1).

Other individual wins for Canton went to Mary Anderson in the 300 hurdles (48.8); Olive Ikeh in the 200 (27.1); and Tracey Cavin in the 400 (1:00.4).

The Chiefs swept all four relays. Boroditsch, Brooke Larson, Meghan Barresi and Cavin teammed for a win in the 3,200 (10:02.5); Becky Bochstanz, Ikeh, Shawn Champlin and Okwumabua were first in both the 800 (1:51.6) and 400 (52.9); and Bochstanz, Nancy Hoffman, Cavin and Barresi were winners in the 1,600 (4:19.9).

Salem routs Canton at Mangan

■ BOYS TRACK

No, it wasn't what Bob Richardson expected.

As the Plymouth Canton boys track coach discovered, there seems no stopping the Plymouth Salem express now. The Rocks, already flying after their Observerland Relays triumph Saturday, kept right on going with a lopsided 91-37 victory over Canton Tuesday in the annual Mangan Meet.

The win ended Canton's streak of two-straight Mangan wins — convincingly.

"They have a quality team," said Canton coach Richardson. "No doubt about it."

Not that much existed. Richardson told his team prior to Tuesday's meet that "even if you run your best, you might not win."

He was right. Canton got season-best performances in four individual events and all four relays — and had just one first to show for it.

But it was the field events that got Salem going, according to coach Geoff Baker. "I don't know if we've ever gotten off to that fast a start in the field events," he said.

The Rocks, unbeaten through five dual meets, had a double-winner in Rocky Johnson in the shot put (47-feet, 10¼-inches) and discus (140-10). They also got firsts from Dirk Schmeidel in the high jump (5-8) and Ryan Edwards in the long jump (18-5½).

Only Canton's Jeff Keith, who collected wins in the 1,600-meter (4:34.6) and 800-meter (2:02.9) runs, and John Martin, a winner in the 300 hurdles (40.9), were able to derail Salem's dominance — if only temporarily.

"The guys really got going on the track," said Baker. "It's got to be frustrating when you run your best and the other team runs better."

Which is what the Rocks did throughout. They took top honors with Dan Miller in the 110 hurdles (15.5), Brian Herc in the 100 (11.5), Andy Coburn in the 200 (23.8), Adam Bakowski in the 400 (51.5) and Scott Pengelly in the 3,200 (9:59.4).

Marcus Zevalkink, Jay Casey, Coburn and Herc combined to win the 400 relay (45.2), and Zevalkink, Casey, Coburn and Bakowski were first in the 800 relay (1:33.7). Russ Polcyn, Cory Kingslein, Jason Barylski and Bakowski teammed in the 1,600 (3:32.9), and Polcyn, Dave Karman, Andy McDonald and Josh Stickney won the 3,200 (8:19.8) for Salem.

"All in all, it was a good meet," said Baker, then he cautioned: "There's no celebrating yet. We still have two meets to go."

One of those is Farmington today at Salem. It was the Falcons who ruined the Rocks' hopes of winning the Western Lakes Activities Association's Lakes Division title outright last year.

Even with the lopsided loss, Canton (3-2 overall) remains in the hunt for the WLAA's Western Division crown. But the Chiefs must defeat both Livonia Franklin today and Farmington Harrison Tuesday.

And they must put the Mangan Meet into the forgotten past.

Mangan

The performance of his distance runner impressed Przygodski. "Boroditsch had a lot of miles she ran today," he said. "She really stepped up as a leader for us."

But the Canton coach was just as impressed with Salem's Hamilton. "She had a tremendous meet, and she's a tremendous athlete."

There were other key events. Canton's Mary Anderson, a freshman, bettered her best time in the 300 hurdles by more than a second in taking first (47.5), beating a pair of Salem runners who also ran personal bests.

And in two field events, the Chiefs did better than Salem coach Mark Gregor thought they would. Becky Baigrie won the discus (99-1) to lead a Canton 1-2-3 sweep in the event; Gregor had hoped for a Salem second and/or third. And in the long jump, Salem's Makins was first but Canton took second and third.

"In some events we competed real hard, we had season-best efforts," said Gregor. "In others we didn't get done what we needed to."

Gregor had hoped the Rocks would win either the 400 or 800 relay, but poor exchanges prevented it. Canton's team of Becky Bockstanz, Nancy Hoffman, Shawn Champlin and Ndu Okwumabua finished first in both (51.4 in the 400, 1:49.0 in the 800).

The Chiefs' Boroditsch, Brooke Larson, Meghan Barresi and Tracey Cavin also won the 3,200 relay (9:51.2).

Other individual winners for Canton were Olive Ikeh in the shot put (32-4½); Okwumabua in the 100 (12.7); and Cavin in the 400 (2:27.0).

Salem got additional firsts from Melissa Hopson in the high jump (5-4) and Courtney Sheldon, Marcia Parker, Jessica Moyer and Hamilton in the 1,600 relay (4:11.7).

SOCCER

Canton blanks a pair

One step closer.

Plymouth Canton's girls soccer team has just one obstacle separating it from a berth in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship game — Monday's match at Northville. A victory or a tie against the Mustangs would give the Chiefs the Western Division title.

Canton improved its overall record to 11-2-1 with a pair of victories, 1-0 over Farmington Hills Mercy Saturday and 7-0 over Walled Lake Central Monday. Both matches were played at Canton.

Jenny Parviainen netted a pair of goals in the win over WLAA foe Central. She also had an assist. Alyson Noune, Britta Anderson, Angie Page, Julie Majewski and Becky Vachow added one goal apiece.

Assists went to Anderson, Mandy Salin, Robyn Vachow, Melissa Tomei, Kristie Drinkhahn and Dawn Koontz.

Sarah Warnke was in goal. She made one save. The Chiefs had 22 shots on goal.

In the win over Mercy, Canton got a quick goal on a counterattack, with Salin pushing a pass to Lynn Haines, who tucked it in just two minutes into the match. It proved to be the game's only goal.

"We played real well against Mercy," said Don Smith, Canton's coach. "They might have had the best of us in the first half with the wind, but we controlled play most of the second half.

"We played real solid. We're learning how to win the big ones. It's important knowing you can do it."

Warnke made six saves in earning the shutout. The defeat, combined with Monday's loss to Madison Heights Bishop Foley, dropped the Marlins to 7-2-2.

■ SALEM 1, NORTHVILLE 1: Just two weeks ago, Plymouth Salem's season seemed headed for disaster.

That was then. Times have changed. For the second time in five days, the Rocks managed to tie a team ranked in the state's top 10 Monday at Northville.

Or, to be more precise, it was the Mustangs who did the tying. Salem, which knotted Canton 2-2 the previous Wednesday, opened the scoring against Northville with a direct-kick goal from sweeper Jodee Wilsher six minutes into the second half.

But the Rocks could not preserve the win. Northville got the game-tying score with eight minutes to play.

"I thought we'd sneak out with a win," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "But it was a good tie for us. We lost four, then came back and tied two top-10 teams. I'm very happy with our team."

Salem is 5-4-3 overall. Northville is 9-2-1. Each team had 12 shots on goal.

GOLF

Rocks ruin Chiefs with balance

All four Rocks bunched their scores within six strokes of each in leading Plymouth Salem to a 218-283 victory over Plymouth Canton in a girls golf meet Tuesday at Brae-Burn Golf Course.

Salem improved its record to 4-1 with the triumph.

Katie Collins' 52 led the Rocks. Kelly Collins added a 53, with Becky Koehl shooting a 55 and Katie Murinas a 58.

Canton was led by Kim Stafford's 69. Stephanie Massuci shot 70, Karen Kelly had a 71 and Jenny Wilson a 73.

"It was a long course, with a lot of water and high winds," said Salem coach Jim Stevens. "For conditions as tough as they were, they were exceptionally good scores."

Anglers find surprises along Rouge banks

BILL PARKER

OUTDOOR INSIGHTS

The young, round face beamed with the brightness of a new halogen headlight.

Undaunted by the chilly drizzle which pestered the anglers lining the banks of the Rouge River Saturday afternoon, 8-year-old Matt Thomas glowed in satisfaction.

"Had any luck yet?" I asked, as I searched for a foothold on the soggy, muddy bank of the river just below Civic Center bridge.

"Yeah! I've got the biggest one. . ., well so far," said the Southfield youngster, a huge smile consuming his face as his white Abu Garcia fishing hat pushed down on his ears.

"Is that right?" I asked with skepticism.

"Yea! He's right over here. Want to see him?"

Before I had a chance to respond, the young angler raced to the shore of the river and hoisted his stringer from the water.

With raindrops dripping from the brim of his cap the young trout fisherman held up for my inspection a beautiful 15¾-inch rainbow.

"Wow! Nice fish," I exclaimed. I had expected to see a 10- or 12-incher.

As he carefully placed the fish back into the water and wiped his muddy hands on the side of his blue jeans we continued our conversation.

A marshmallow surprise

"When did ya catch him?"

"About 9:30 this morning. I was right down there on the corner," he explained as he pointed out his lucky fishing spot.

"Worms?" I asked.

"Nope. Marshmallows," he said emphatically. "Ya got any?"

"Nope." I said emphatically.

"Here, have some of mine," he offered, holding out a bag on miniatures.

Now I was truly impressed. Not only does this young man know how to catch fish, he's also a good sportsman. He wasn't interested in hording all the fish for himself. He'd have more fun by spreading the wealth.

Thomas was just one of some 400 anglers who braved wet, chilly conditions to participate in the 10th annual Southfield Fishing Derby Saturday on the Rouge River.

A half-mile section of the river running upstream from the Telegraph Road bridge is fenced off for a day each spring and 300 farm-raised rainbow trout are released into the river. Anglers are then allowed to fish for the trout. There is no fee, and no fishing license is required during the derby.

"What it's really geared for is the kids, but also to get people out to the Rouge River to spend some time," explained Bill Zikewich, Superintendent of Forestry and Environmental Programs for the city of Southfield Parks and Recreation. "When you get a young kid with a 14- or 15-inch trout on his line you can really see what it's all about."

Opportunity knocks

Livonia's Paul Vanderveldt was also on hand, but left his fishing equipment at home.

"I was visiting a friend here in Southfield, and I saw the derby in the paper," he said. "I love to fish, so I just wanted to see what it was all about."

Vanderveldt was impressed with what he saw.

"This is really great," he said, inspecting the paved walkway that runs along the bank of the Rouge, the open flow of water in the river and the fish that were being caught. "I'm coming back here tomorrow.

"I live in Livonia and there aren't a whole lot of places you can fish that are close to home. This is really a great idea. It gives people an opportunity to fish."

By 4 o'clock the derby had come to an end, and it was time to measure the biggest fish.

I was pleased to learn that Thomas' fish stacked up to the competition and took first-place honors. He won a 35mm camera for his efforts.

There was a tie for second place between Southfield residents J.R. LaPonsa (10 years old) and Mike Murray (16) and Highland's Rick Lacsamana (14) as each angler landed a 14-¾-inch rainbow. LaPonsa and Lacsamana each caught their fish on corn while Murphy was using worms.

Seven-year-old Deondre Gordon, of Southfield, won the casting contest and took home a new rod and reel.

Future plans

The derby has grown each year and has become such a success that the Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation and the city of Southfield have continued to invest time and money into improving the area.

Wing walls have been placed along the banks of the river to help reduce erosion and force the river to cut out some new holes. A paved sidewalk runs along the bank and there are several wooden benches along the way.

Plans are in the works to construct a handicap-accessible nature trail and a footbridge over the river, possibly as early as this summer.

At the urging of Zikewich, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources also began stocking small mouth bass in the area five years ago in hopes that they will begin reproducing naturally. The area is currently limited to catch-and-release only for smallies.

Local dancers shine in romantic ballet

Fairy tales came true for dancers in the Michigan Opera Theatre production of "Cinderella" at the Masonic Temple May 6-8. It was a spectacular show that featured 63 dancers and five supernumeraries. Ballet master Iacob Lascu of of West Bloomfield directed the cast that included dancers chosen locally from the Birmingham Dance Academy, Bunny Sanford Studio (Livonia), the Center for Creative Studies, Dance Detroit, Festival Dancers, Lascu School of Ballet, Madame Cadillac Dancers, Marygrove College and the Metropolitan Ballet Theatre.

Evelyn Cisneros of the San Francisco Ballet was beautiful as Cinderella, and Wolfgang Stollwitzer was very believable as Prince Charming.

There are many talented dancers in the Observer & Eccentric coverage area, two performances are scheduled this weekend. The Plymouth-Canton Ballet Company will present the ballet "Coppelia," 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 14, at Belleville High School Auditorium, 501 W. Columbia. Reserved seating tickets are $8 adults, $6 children and senior citizens. Call (313) 397-8828.

Cranbrook Kingswood's annual spring dance concert, featuring modern dance by the Cranbrook Kingswood Dancers, will be 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 12-14, at the Cranbrook Performing Arts Center, 550 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills. Tickets are $4 and available at the door. Call (810) 645-3441 for information.

■ If you didn't reserve tickets for the Ridgedale Player's current production of "The Foreigner," you're out of luck. They sold out. "We have an outstanding cast, and it's a very funny and well-known show," said director Jim Rink. The Ridgedale Players is at 206 W. Long Lake Road in Troy. The Junior Actors of Ridgedale will be presenting "Robin Hood" June 25-26. Stay tuned to Entertainment for details.

■ Alanna Hamill has been infatuated with the movies for as long as she can remember, said her father, Desmond Hamill of West Bloomfield. She worked in amateur productions at Mercy and University of Detroit high schools and Marygrove College. After performing for several years off-Broadway, she headed for her true love — Hollywood. She has been working there steadily ever since, but not as an actress. When acting parts weren't available, she, with partner Robert Pucci, wrote a screenplay about a precocious child actor.

Director Taylor Hackford bought it for New Vision Pictures, and they were on their way. They felt that high-budget action pictures were being overdone, so they concentrated on romantic comedy and suspense thrillers.

'Faust' seamstress is devil's advocate

MARY JANE DOERR

With "a stitch in time," University of Detroit fine arts graduate Mary Ellen Shindel of Rochester dresses opera singers to the "nines." Working with five other seamstresses in Michigan Opera Theatre's costume shop, the wardrobe mistress meticulously builds her creations, carefully reinforcing linings and allowing for alterations with large seams and long hems.

The latest artistic offerings from the shop in the old Packard plant in Detroit are the 16 costumes for leads of Saturday night's "Faust" production at Masonic Temple.

Shindel made the vest that goes with Mephistopheles' $3,000 wings, his $2,000 leather coat, horned top hat, and bodysuit that looks like a satyr (with a cloven hoof).

"It is the best costume I have ever worn," said Gabor Andrasy, who is singing the role of the devil.

"Faust" by Charles Gounod is a twist on the ancient story of a man who trades his soul for youth, a story immortalized by Johann Goethe. This current production, a joint effort by MOT and Opera Pacific, is the exotic conception of Ken Cazan with sets by Paul Steinberg based upon MOT's 1977 version of the opera.

Last fall when it opened in California, the costumes proved such a sensation, especially the six demon costumes, they were immediately rented to the Greater Miami Opera.

"You sew a dress, but you build a costume," said Shindel in a midnight interview after "Cinderella." "A costume is built for abuse."

Abuse is what the demon costumes got. After they were carefully constructed for a price of $25,000 according to costumer Constance Hoffman's designs, they were shredded in keeping with production director Ken Cazan's erotic ideas. These six demons (people from hell) come from different historical periods, and follow Mephistopheles throughout the show. The seven represent the seven evils.

"All of my life in the theater I have been an ingenue," said Wendy Shapero of West Bloomfield who is one of the demons, a seductress in a red dress with horns. "Now I have the chance to explore my darker side. In the show I am constantly licking my stiletto full of blood."

Shapero, a graduate of UD-Mercy in theater, has choreographed productions at the Birmingham Theatre, the Strand Theatre, and for Stevenson High School in Utica. She is studying voice with Rita Jury of Bloomfield Hills, who is in the "Faust" chorus.

"Even the poor people wear silk in the theater," said Shindel.

Mary Jane Doerr of Troy is a full-time teacher and freelance writer who specializes in opera and musical theater.

■ PREVIEW

VICTORIA DIAZ

BOOK BREAK

The Plymouth Theatre Guild is wrapping up its 1993-94 season with Wendy Wasserstein's contemporary comedy, "Isn't It Romantic." Too bad this talented group couldn't have wound up with a slightly bigger finish.

Wasserstein's set-in-Manhattan comedy — here directed by Francine Jo Hachem — centers on two single women of the 1990s, good friends Janie Blumberg and Harriet Cornwall. The problems they're beset with include eccentric parents, unpredictable careers, less-than-perfect lovers, and always-ticking clocks, biological and otherwise.

As Janie and Harriet, Susan Odom and Heidi Schuster are attractive actresses, and intriguing to watch as the play opens. But a funny thing happens on the way to the final curtain. While both display a certain appeal throughout this performance, they often tend to slip just outside their characters — as if they were somewhere else, observing their own performances. With these self-conscious slips, the production slips, too.

With a couple, of exceptions, the rest of the cast appears persistently self-conscious in one degree or another, and often uninspired. Little spark seems to exist even between the characters who are supposedly attracted to each other, making the relationships appear curiously flat, and often lacking in either emotional or physical force.

Julie Vorus and Jerry Salas, playing Janie Blumberg's over- eager (often overwrought) parents, Tasha and Simon, provide some definite bright spots. Dressed in electric colors and looking pretty much like a million bucks, Vorus injects laser-beam energy into each scene she plays. Imagine the 2st century version of the classic Jewish mother, dancing all the way to the future.

As her longtime husband and Janie's loving father, Jerry Salas succeeds, and is always a pleasure to watch, simply because he loses himself in his sometimes-bumbling, but always sympathetic character.

Oddly for PTG, sets and props appear to have been handled a little carelessly. In the first act, things are not romantic at all when a sofa bed threatens to collapse — with one of the unfortunate players still in it. In the second act, a tall coat rack crashes down, directly onto a hapless and very surprised performer.

The players' onstage recovery from this near-disaster provided one of the night's best moments, however, when Wendy Sielaff (playing Lillian Cornwall), spontaneously remarked to her onstage daughter, Harriet: "Didn't I tell you not to buy cheap furniture?"

As is usual for the Plymouth Theatre Guild, costumes are first-rate.

On May 12, the first of their movies to reach the screen will be on the USA Cable network. It is an original mystery entitled "The Spider and the Fly" set in the publishing world. The film stars Mel Harris, Ted Shakelford and Peggy Lipton. The writing team is working on a screenplay for the best-selling novel "Surprise Party" by William Katz for the Zanuck-Brown Co., producers of "Jaws."

Youth orchestra to host auditions

The Livonia Youth Philharmonic will hold auditions 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, May 14 for its 1994-95 concert season at Faith Lutheran Church, 5000 Five Mile Road, Livonia. For more information, and to schedule an audition, call Pamela Scott, (313) 261-5754.

Young string, wind, brass and percussion musicians are encouraged to audition. Membership is open to young musicians from the metropolitan Detroit area. Rehearsals are held Saturday mornings until May at Churchill High School

The Livonia Youth Philharmonic consists of four orchestras, and a flute choir. Students will be placed in the appropriate level of orchestra based upon their audition. The junior and advanced string orchestras accept students with at least six months of private lessons and provide introductory training under Melissa Gerber, a string specialist and doctoral candidate at the University of Michigan.

More experienced musicians may audition for the concert or philharmonic orchestras.

Noteworthy concerts feature variety of music

The 70-voice Farmington Community Chorus presents its annual spring concert 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, May 13-14 at Harrison High School on Twelve Mile Road between Orchard Lake Road and Middlebelt.

Tickets are $5 general, $4 seniors and students, $3 children ages 10 and under at the door. Advance tickets are available at the city's Dept. of Special Services, 31500 Eleven Mile Road.

Sponsored by the City of Farmington Hills Department of Special Services, the chorus will present a program of popular favorites and long forgotten numbers focusing on Jazz including "Lulu's Back in Town," "Jump Shout Boogie," "It Don't Mean a Thing," "Mood Indigo" and more.

■ The last regular concert of the 1993-94 Southfield Symphony season will feature Metropolitan Opera coloratura soprano Ruth Welting, 7 p.m. Sunday, May 15 in the Southfield Pavilion. Tickets are $9 in advance or $6 for students and seniors. Call 354-4717 or 851-7408.

Welting will perform Mozart arias including "The Marriage of Figaro." Also on the program will be selections by Mahler and Dvorak's "Carnival Overture, Op. 92." Guest conductor Marek Rachelsky will lead the symphony.

■ The Rochester Symhony holds its final concert of the season 8 p.m. Friday, May 20 at Varner Recital Hall on the campus of Oakland University. Program includes Beethoven's Symphony No. 8 in F Major, Op. 93, and "Three Cornered Hat" by de Falla. Tickets $11, children 12 and under $8. Call 651-4181.

■ Musica Viva! will present the Second Annual Michigan Flute Festival at Orchestra Hall in Detroit 3:30 p.m. Sunday, May 22. Over 400 flutists from more than 120 communities will participate. Tickets range from $10 to $30. Call 833-3700.

Don't miss 'Les Liaisons Dangereuses'

MARK S. CARLEY

■ REVIEW

Here, right now, is my one-time-only money-back guarantee to all you "professional" theater snobs who refuse to plunk down eight or 10 bucks for an amateur production. See Farmington Players' "Les Liaisons Dangereuses," and if you still think that community theater is just a showcase where frustrated high school actors perform in front of their friends, I'll pay for your ticket.

The Players have bitten off a lot with Christopher Hampton's dark tale of sex and deceit in 18th century France. They come away with a production which, from top to bottom, is the best I've seen them do.

"Les Liaison" presents us with La Marquise de Merteuil (Paula Myers) and Le Vicomte de Valmont (John DeMerell), two prerevolutionary aristocrats who make J.R. Ewing and Alexis Carrington look like Mr. Rogers and Mary Poppins. For no better reasons than boredom, and a sense of sport, they systematically destroy the reputations and ruin the lives of those around them.

As Valmont, DeMerell is stunning and chillingly effective. With viper-like instincts and charm to spare, he personifies amorality. His wit, drawing out every possible laugh at his victims' expense, makes him all the more fun to watch.

As Merteuil, Myers is Valmont's match and then some. Her performance is lusty, bitchy and conniving. Her flaming red hair adds just the right accent.

Jill Lamphere gives a heartrending performance as the victim of one of Valmont's conquests. As Madame de Tourvel she is a beautiful and frail flower, crushed in the end as much by her own innocence as by Valmont's cruelty.

Also outstanding are Elizabeth Racer as the virginal (for a little while anyway) Cecile and Alan Madeleine as Valmont's stooge-turned nemesis, Danceny.

Racer is all excitement and bewilderment at this new adventure called sex, and her almost Valley Girl delivery serves the part well. Madeleine turns his earnest innocence into murderous vengeance to give the play its tragic climax.

"Les Liaisons Dangereuse" is a big challenge for an amateur group, for it is what semi-literate clods refer to as a "talky" play. One has to listen carefully to follow the details of our two plotter's deceptions.

Director Nancy Harrower conquers this challenge using outstanding actors and vivid clarity in her staging. But there are also several juicy sex scenes, just in case you do lose your train of thought.

Mark S. Carley is active in local community theater, both onstage and behind the scenes. He is a member of the Birmingham Village Players and Ridgedale Players in Troy.

'Ten Little Indians' is entertaining

SALLY DUBATS

■ REVIEW

"Ten Little Indians" is perhaps Agatha Christie's best known mystery, and Standing Room Only Productions presents a fairly attractive rendering of her work.

"Ten Little Indians," exemplifies a classic mystery formula from which much subsequent entertainment still springs. Unsuspecting guests are invited to a country home on an island from which there is no escape. One of them is a murderer. With that backdrop, Christie employs the children's nursery rhyme by the same title to develop her plot.

Judie Rosati directs an artistically and technically solid production with one crucial exception; a standard tool of Christie mysteries is that each character should appear guilty (through gestures, glances, or delivery of lines) to create more dramatic tension and a greater sense of "whodunit" for the audience.

As all characters appear seemingly innocent by their interpretations (rather than reading at least a few lines as though they were lying), some audience mental sleuthing is missing from this production.

The remaining multi-faceted interpretations of the characters, however, are intact which does create mystique. Jitters, sarcasm, balderdash, prudish behavior and cunning create other character dimensions to round out SRO's production.

Guests gather and recount the reason for their visit to the gloomy estate. Joel Grossman does a splendid job as newly arrived Sir Lawrence Wargrave. Grossman possesses a fine sense of command as the self-appointed interpreter of various ghastly events.

Sarah Kamoo also performs well as the confident and pretty secretary Vera Claythorne who later cracks under pressure. Kamoo is paired well with Michael Megerian who plays the part of Philip Lombard, a wise-cracking playboy type make likable by a cunningly casual interpretation.

A terrific performance is turned in by Marc Rosati who plays William Blore, a strange policeman who obviously doesn't fit in with the upper crust crowd. Rosati's performance provides wonderfully witty comic relief, especially since snappy gestures and quirkly looks dominate Rosati's version of Blore.

Otto Canis portrays the nervous Dr. Armstrong, and plays him with an on-the-brink hysteria that is perfectly suited to the character. Canis' nervousness peaks when an unsuspecting guest dies as the result of a lethal injection from a hypodermic needle, making Dr. Armstrong the perfect suspect.

Jim Cave turns in an excellent characterization of house guest General Mackenzie. Displaying excellent ability, Cave fares well with the doddering General, although a bit too docile to create suspicion.

Ralph Rosati and Cheryl Glicker add a nice element of color to the production portraying the obligatory Christie domestic help.

As is customary for an SRO production, Bill Mandt's set is a terrific asset to the mood of the show.

With respectable performances by all (including nifty British dialects), SRO's "Ten Little Indians" is an entertaining Christie diversion.

Sally Dubats of Royal Oak is an an actress, director and teacher, who teaches at community theaters in the metropolitan area.

Problem tests marriage in drama

■ PREVIEW

Alice and Michael Green (Meg Ryan and Andy Garcia) have the most extraordinary romance in "When a Man Loves a Woman," opening Friday at metro Detroit movie theaters.

Their marriage is filled with genuine passion, caring and sharing, and together they are raising two beautiful daughters, Casey and Jess (Mae Whitman and Tina Majorino). They have created a picture-perfect family. However, beneath the surface of their loving relationship simmers a painful personal secret Alice has been keeping, not only from her loved ones, but also from herself.

Eventually this problem becomes an overwhelming crisis which tears at the fabric of their tightly knit family — and that fabric eventually rips wide open and shatters their idyllic world.

The crisis starts at the hardest point, when the tough work begins. These characters struggle with all their hearts to keep their family together, and that's what touched me so very deeply when I read the script."

Producer Jordan Kerner, who has championed several issue-oriented film and television projects, concurs. "Family in the '90s is really about the taking of responsibility for each other. And if someone in the family has a weakness of spirit, a dependency or an abuse of a substance, it shouldn't end in divorce or divisiveness — it should end in people loving each other and helping the other to get the kind of care they need."

"That's where this movie differs from so many others," producer Jon Avnet said. "It's about the hard work and the sacrifices these characters make to create a new family that evolves from the old, dysfunctional one."

For Kerner, who knows the impact a film that deals directly and honestly with tough social issues can have on the public, "When a Man Loves a Woman" provides an opportunity to tell a story that elevates the audience without lecturing.

"We're hoping people will see this film, feel for Alice and Michael and the kids, and see changes in their own lives or in the lives of loved ones. If we can do that, affect in any small way someone's heart or mind, and show that there are avenues for help, then all of us will have done something very important."

"When a Man Loves a Woman," is rated R (Restricted, under 18 requires an accompanying parent or guardian.)

Tell us what you think about this movie. Call (313) 953-2105 to leave comments. Be sure to include your name and hometown."

See the stars at gala premiere for 'Beverly Hills Cop III'

"Beverly Hills Cop III" starring Eddie Murphy, the third in a series of Axel Foley adventures, will have a gala Michigan Premiere to benefit the Metropolitan Detroit Youth Foundation and the NAACP Scholarship Fund 8 p.m. Monday, May 23, at the Fox Theatre.

The event will be hosted by Detroit City Councilman Gil Hill, who once again reprises his role as Inspector Todd, the police supervisor of Detroit detective Axel Foley, played by Eddie Murphy.

Tickets for the Premiere screening only are now available at all TicketMaster outlets for $50. Additional ticket information is available from the Metropolitan Detroit Youth Foundation at (313) 863-9394.

Expected to attend are several principals from the movie along with a bevy of Detroit's most notable stars including Anita Baker, Aretha Franklin, Mayor Dennis Archer and many others. Scheduled to attend the event from Hollywood are director John Landis, co-star Hector Elizond and producer Bob Rehme. An official response is still forthcoming from co-star Judge Reinhold

The Fox Theatre will become Hollywood East as red carpet, spotlights, and palm trees will engulf the theatre on Woodward Avenue while outside across the street will be the Mumford High School Marching Band playing selections from the original movie's soundtrack.

The beneficiaries of the proceeds, the Metropolitan Detroit Youth Foundation and the NAACP Scholarship Fund are two prominent non-profit organizatons, both of which Councilman Hill sits on the board.

The premiere screening is the anchor of what will be a three-part fundraising effort that night as two additional celebrations will be held immediately following the movie — a Premiere Patron After-Glow at The Second City, and a Premiere Jam at the State Theatre, each located on opposite sides of the Fox Theatre.

Tickets to the afterglow at Second City are $100 per person, and tickets for the Premiere Jam at State Theatre are $15 per person.

Co-starring with Eddie Murphy in "Beverly Hills Cop III" are Judge Reinhold, Hector Elizondo and Theresa Randle. The film was directed by John Landis from a screenplay written by Steven E. de Souza, based on characters created by Danilo Bach and Daniel Petrie, Jr. Mace Neufeld and Robert REhme are the producers, Mark Lipsky is the executive producer and Leslie Belzberg is the co-producer.

UPCOMING MOVIES

Opening Friday, May 13

■ "Crooklyn" — A touching and often hilarious view of life in a Brooklyn family during the 1970s and the 10-year-old daughter who must make sense of the chaos around her. Directed by Spike Lee.

■ "The Crow" — Based on Detroit James O'Barr's popular underground comic book, the story of a hero who arises out of the urban music scene and an ordinary guitar player who becomes a ray of superhuman hope in a city of fear.

Opening Friday, May 20

■ "The Judas Project" — In a time of madness, a man of true greatness gives his life to save humanity. The man was the Son of God.

■ "Even Cowgirls Get the Blues" — Adapted from Tom Robbins' novel, this film is a psychedelic journey of a "born freak" on a quest for a place in the world.

Opening Friday, May 25

■ "Maverick" — A western adventure about a charming con man and soldier of fortune whose fate becomes entangled with a spirited young woman and an enigmatic lawman as each of them plans to attend a high-stakes poker championship and win. Stars Mel Gibson, James Garner and Jodie Foster.

Opening Wednesday, May 25

■ "Beverly Hills Cop III" — Detroit detective Axel Foley heads back to Beverly Hills after a series of clues in a murder investigation lead him to an unlikely setting for a crime — a popular California amusement park.

Opening Friday, June 3

■ "The Princess and the Goblin" — A magical fable of mystery, excitement and innocent romance. An animated feature based on the book by George MacDonald.

Opening Friday, June 10

■ "City Slickers II" — The city dudes are getting into the saddle again in search of a lost treasure and along the way must overcome many obstacles.

■ "Speed" — A thriller about a cop who must remove a bomb planted beneath a bus and is set to explode when the speed of the bus drops below 50 miles per hour. Stars Jeff Daniels.

Opening Friday, June 17

■ "Wolf" — A romantic thriller about a book editor who is bitten by a wolf he was trying to help. From that moment on, nothing, not his job, his marriage or any part of his life will ever be the same.

■ "Bridge on the River Kwai," will be shown Wednesday, May 18 in the Livonia Civic Center Library, 32777 Five Mile. The showing will be preceded by a short annual meeting and election of officers of the Friends of the Livonia Library at 7 p.m. Admission is by membership. Friends membership is $5 a year, and can be paid at the door.

Star Theatres to start popping with canola oil

In response to customer concerns over the fat content of movie theater popcorn, Star Theatres will start using canola oil to pop popcorn.

The announcement was made by Barrie and Jim Loeks, chairmen of Star Theatres which operates 74 screens in eight locations in Michigan.

"Our goal is to provide our patrons with a healthier choice at our concession stands," said Barrie Loeks. "The change to canola oil is in keeping with our customer service policy of making the movie-going experience enjoyable for every patron of Star Theatres."

Based on the recently released Center for Science in the Public Interest food test, the saturated fat content of popcorn popped in canola oil is only 7 percent compared to 86 percent for corn popped in coconut oil. The change to canola oil will be in effect by Friday, May 13.

Enter our contest

You have until Monday, May 16 to tell us about the "Bad Girls" you know — women who faced life challenges with a positive "I'll fight back and win," attitude.

Here's your chance to something nice for the "Bad Girls" you know. The first 15 entries will receive a "Bad Girls" T-shirt, and there will be three grand prize winners.

The women you nominate as unsung heros can be married, divorced, widowed or single.

Include the "Bad Girl's" name, address, phone number, and a brief description of why they are deserving of this award.

Send contest entries to: Keely Wygonik, Taste/Entertainment editor, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Inc., 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150. Call (313) 953-2105 if you have any questions.

"Bad Girls" is a movie about four women of the old west who become gunfighters to win back their money, their rights, and their dignity. It's now playing at metro Detroit movie theaters.

Special song characterizes rose-breasted grosbeaks

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

Within the last four weeks we have been able to add two new birds to our yard list. We had never seen a wood duck in our yard until just a few weeks ago, and then more recently we spotted a male rose-breasted grosbeak.

As the name grosbeak suggests, it has a large cone-shaped bill, similar to that of a cardinal. Their cone-shapped bill is designed for opening seeds. We have seen this process in action as it feeds on the black-oiler sunflower seeds in our feeder.

In order to get to our feeder it perches on the magnolia tree to search for danger. While he is perched we get a chance to see his striking colors. Right in the middle of the chest is a rose colored patch. Surrounding the patch from below is the white of the belly. Above the rosy patch is the black of the head. Viewing it's striking colors amid the pink and white blossoms of the magnolia is a picture perfect portrait.

Though the colors of a male are very bold, it is sometimes hard to see them. It is easier to identify them by their song, as I did. After I heard the bird singing, I looked up and saw it among the leafless branches. To many, the song of a rose-breasted grosbeak's song is faster and higher pitched than that of the robin.

Males arrive here first from their wintering grounds in Central America and begin singing to establish a nesting territory. Females arrive later and will select a suitable territory with its resident male. Forests and the edge of forests are the typical areas for nesting. Though we do not have a forest, we do have some bushes near tall trees that would provide suitable nest sites.

Both male and female will participate in building a loose nest made primarily of twigs about 10 feet off the ground. After egg laying, both adults will incubate the eggs and care for the young after they hatch. Female rose-breasted grosbeaks can also be heard singing, a characteristic not common among birds.

I hope this male finds a mate. It would be nice to watch them at our feeders all summer long.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia. You may leave him a message using a Touch-Tone phone at 953-2047, mailbox 1874.

FAMILY LIFE

EARTHA DEYAMPERT

When kids cry

The thought of someone being abusive to another human being is indeed appalling. Every case of abuse and gross neglect I hear about, read about in the newspapers or watch on the news can cause a sick feeling to surface. Like most people, it hurts me to know that there are so many individuals who exploit and harm others - especially children. While we continue to be horrified, disgusted and angered about the serious problem of child abuse and neglect, children are still being victimized daily . . . hourly.

"It shouldn't hurt to be a child." A familiar statement that can be found on child abuse prevention brochures and advertisements, it says it best. Childhood supposedly is a carefree, trusting period of life. However, more and more innocent children in Michigan are being mistreated and preyed upon by strangers, by people they know and by people they trust and love.

Because children are so vulnerable, they're easy prey in the minds of a disturbed abuser. In many cases, abuse and neglect takes on a control form where the acts occur on a regular basis, subjecting the child to the abuser's will and command. As we know, this abuse and neglect can go undetected or ignored for years because the child feels helpless and afraid to tell.

Child abuse and neglect demoralizes and inflicts shame as well as punishes children for the inability of others to have self-control and effective coping skills. It knows no color or ethnic group, social or economic status, or geographic boundary. It is estimated that approximately two million cases are reported each year. More

Sudden death, shattered dreams

■ Joye and Rick Megges had a happy home life until one day in February when their infant son was found dead in his crib. Now the couple and their two surviving children are trying to understand what sudden infant death syndrome is.

BY SUE MASON

JIM JAGDFELD/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

At a loss: Joye Megges is joined by husband Rick, daughter Alexis, 3 (left), and son Ricky, 2 (right), in showing a picture of Dylon, 4 months, who died of SIDS.

It was supposed to be a fun day for the Megges family. Joye, husband Rick and children Alexis, 3, Ricky, 2, and Dylon, 4½ months, were going to the circus.

The family never made it there. A day of fun quickly turned into a day of grief, when the Westland couple found their young son dead in his crib.

"I believed Dylon was sleeping in; his favorite blanket was draped over his head," Joye Megges recalled. "Rick pulled the blanket off and jokingly said, 'Hey, Dylon, are you dead?' Then he grabbed me and told me not to look."

She did look and saw her son - his ashen complexion and blue lips and fluid coming out of his nose and mouth. Sometime between 8 a.m. and noon Feb. 6, he had died of sudden infant death syndrome.

SIDS is the sudden and unexpected death of an apparently healthy infant. It is the number-one cause of death among infants age 1 week to 1 year. Commonly known as "crib death," it claims 6,000-7,000 babies each year in the United States; a majority of the victims are between 2 and 4 months of age.

Born Sept. 18, 1993, Dylon was Rick and Joye's second child. Alexis is Rick's daughter by a previous marriage. Dylon's delivery was an easy one for his mother, just two hours. There were no problems, no complications. He tipped the scale at 6 pounds, 8 ounces.

When he died, he was a healthy 15 pounds, a happy baby who didn't cry. He was, his mother said, "a perfect angel."

Dylon had awakened at 7 a.m. Joye fed him a four-ounce bottle and a jar of baby food. She put him in his crib at 8 a.m. and laid down in a nearby bed. An hour later, according to the autopsy report, the infant died.

At first, Joye feared her son had choked to death or was suffocated by his blanket. She told her husband she should have stayed awake that morning.

"It's really hard to accept because they can't tell me why it happened to a healthy baby," Joye said. "My husband says he could have died in my arms; if SIDS is going to take over, it's going to take over.

"I still blame myself in a way, and I think I always will."

A distraught Joye took Ricky and Alexis and went to the home of her parents, the Clarks, in Redford after firefighters determined there was nothing that could be done for the infant, while Rick went to tell his parents. The next day they moved out of the home they had been renting and in with the Clarks. They have sinced moved into a new home in Taylor. Rick, in venting his grief and anger, destroyed Dylon's crib and blankets, Joye said.

'Don't understand'

"A lot of parents don't understand," she said, citing information she obtained from the Michigan Sudden Infant Death Syndrome

Attorney vies for state Young Careerist honor

When professional women from throughout the state gather in Flint May 20-22, Ina Otto will be there.

She will be at the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs 76th annual state convention in hopes of becoming the 1994 Michigan Young Careerist.

The 32-year-old Livonia resident earned the right to compete for the state honor after being selected Young Careerist for the by the Suburban West BPW Club and for District IX.

"BPW is a wonderful assortment of women of all ages and careers," said Otto. "It's here that you can meet a lot of interesting people. I like that as a women's group, the BPW promotes issues specific to women, for instance health care for women and legislation to stop domestic abuse against women."

A 1982 graduate of Livonia Stevenson High School, Otto attended Michigan State University in East Lansing, where she earned a bachelor of arts degree in business administration in 1985. She went on to study law at Thomas M. Cooley Law School in Lansing, receiving her law degree in 1988. She also received a master of business administration degree from Wayne State University in Detroit in 1991.

She worked for the Legal Aid and Defender Association of Detroit where she was a staff attorney, representing indigent defendants charged with felonies in Wayne County, before becoming a corporate attorney with OLDE Discount Corp. in Detroit. Her duties include representing the firm in litigation and arbitration, drafting and reviewing contracts and providing general legal representation.

Otto sees her most significant career or professional accomplishments "other than starting the practice of law at age 23" as the "victories I achieved on behalf of my clients in the Defender's Office."

"Getting an acquittal for a falsely accused person, or getting a reduced charge for my clients made a big difference and was of great importance in their lives," said Otto, a member of both the Michigan and Florida State Bar. "It meant not only the difference between freedom and confinement (prison), but also the opportunity to change their lives for the better.

"A felony record closes a lot of doors of opportunity and can almost guarantee failure. By allowing the doors to remain open, that individual is limited only by his interests and ability."

In addition to helping her clients locate training and educational programs, drug and alcohol rehabilitation programs and employment opportunities, Otto also spent time talking to senior citizens and school groups about the legal system and how it works and participated in Law Day activities in several communities.

She also provided pro bono services to people who needed legal services or assistance but lack the resources to hire an attorney. She serves as a volunteer treasurer for a condominium association, one of only a few self-managed complexes in the state. While it "requires great effort" because the complex is run by a board of directors without the assistance of a management company, "it means the rewards are also greater," Otto said.

Young Careerist: Ina Otto of Livonia.

A member of the Suburban West BPW, Otto prefers to be proficient in a few select areas rather than know a little about a larger number of legal specialties. That's one reason why she would like to spend the next 10 years mastering securities law and eventually become an industry arbitrator for larger arbitration organizations like the National Association of Securities Dealers Inc., the New York Stock Exchange Inc. and the American Arbitration Association.

A supporter of the BPW's national legislative platform, Otto believes that economic self-sufficiency is of greatest importance to women and a major concern for herself.

"As long as women have to work longer hours for the same pay, or have to 'make due' with less, they will never have the time, resources or clout to make changes addressed in the other platform issues or which affect their lives," she said. "Without the ability to make a change, change will not occur. In today's society money is power, and women need to possess power equal with men."

Founded in 1919, BPW is a national organization with a mission of promoting full participation, equity and economic self-sufficiency for working women. The Young Careerist Program was started in 1964 as a way of recognizing the accomplishments of successful young women age 21-35 while introducing them to the ideals and standards of the national organization.

Faith Lutheran bids Godspeed to longtime pastor

Faith Lutheran Church in Livonia called a young man to a music ministry in 1979. On April 17, members of the congregation bid farewell and Godspeed to him and his wife, the director of parish education.

The Rev. Martin Seltz, who became the lead pastor in 1984, is heading for a position directing the music at the publishing house of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. He reported for his new position in Minneapolis at the end of April. He is responsible for developing forms of worship that open up new avenues of worship.

Seltz was originally called as a minister of music and education at Faith in October 1979. He has continued to maintain an interest in music throughout his ministry. He led the plans for worship for the installation of the first bishop in the newly formed ELCA in 1988.

Over the years, he has been responsible for several hymn fests, featuring Paul Manz; led a joint effort of the Detroit Symphony Choir and other groups; and brought many innovations to the music ministry of the congregation.

"I am thankful for the experience Faith has given me; I look forward to sharing those gifts with the larger church body," Seltz told the congregation during the program. "The Easter message encourages us to open ourselves to a time of change as a tremendous opportunity.

"Faith church can take that opportunity and continue to share a caring and loving gospel."

Seltz, who arrived to work in a joint ministry with the Rev. Roger Schleef and the Rev. Paul Jaster, was ordained and installed at Faith in January 1980. He oversaw the addition of Building Block Preschool in 1982.

In 1986 his wife Joann began working as minister of parish education, including responsibilities as director and teacher in the program. As an associate in ministry for the congregation, she has been responsible for the preschool, Weekday School, Sunday School and parish life.

During Seltz's tenure, the congregation, at the time a member of the Association of Evangelical Lutheran Churches (AELC), took part in the formation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA), the largest of the Lutheran bodies.

"Faith Church has tremendous opportunities to share with others. Its music ministry and worship opens up new doors," Seltz said.

During the special worship service and parish dinner to honor Seltz, Charleen Lamphear, president of the congregation, thanked the Seltzes for the gifts they had shared with the members.

Most likely, the church will evaluate its needs before moving to find successors to the couple, but Seltz has great confidence in the ability of the people to move through the transition period and change in a vital way.

While Seltz has moved to Minneapolis, his wife is remaining in Livonia with their son and daughter until the end of the school year in June.

The Rev. Martin Seltz

Roots and wings

MORAL PERSPECTIVES

REV. KATE THORESEN

Dear Mama,

I used to hate those heart-to-heart talks when I was a kid growing up. I'd do anything to avoid them. But I've been thinking so much about you lately, maybe because it's around Mother's Day and maybe because now that I'm a mother, I can better appreciate what a strong, gutsy lady you were.

I wish we had a word that values you and all that you did for us. When you'd put down "housewife" as your occupation on those IRS forms or whatever, it just doesn't begin to capture the significant, rich contributions you've made to people.

Could we call you a feminist? You did embody so many of those characteristics that we know as "feminine." You worked hard and creatively to provide us with harmony, beauty, nourishing meals, regular routines, stretching a dollar, handmade articles, a safe environment, nurturing stories and an ongoing sense of your presence. But I think you'd wince at some of the connotations associated with feminism today.

What word is there that even begins to value the way that you made us kids your "career"?

You taught us so many things! There is an old saying that goes, "There are two lasting bequests we can give our children. One is roots; the other is wings." You gave roots that anchor us to this day. And you gave us wings to try and soar to wherever our dreams would take us. And you did that in such simple, everyday, seemingly ordinary ways.

We learned to simply ENJOY the people we are with through the rituals we had growing up. Birthdays were a big deal. You'd make us our favorite meals, and we could order ANY birthday cake we wanted! You'd serve it up with all the fanfare directed at us.

Christmas and Easter were highlights of the year. I'll never know how you did our Sunday dinners every week — with the silver and china spread out on the starched, freshly ironed, hand-embroidered tablecloths stitched by you or your own mother.

You VALUED us, your family. Your energies, your creativity, your presence, your love and your laughter were centered on us and our well-being. Because you were always there, I think I took you for granted — and all the breakfasts ready for us in the morning, the chicken noodle soup lunches at noon and the dinners at 6 o'clock nearly every day throughout each year. On a "job appraisal" form, that one task would translate out to three meals a day for more than 40 years, totaling approximately 43,800 meals. And I won't even begin to calculate the hours you spent in planning, shopping, preparation, growing and canning vegetables, presentation, mealtimes themselves and final cleanup.

You OPENED the world for us. In our home movies, you and one of the grandkids are both concentrating on a particular tree. You were telling her the name of it and holding her hand to touch the rough leaves — just as you did 20 million times for your own children in our formative years. How many places did you carry us — and later lead us — to teach us about this amazing world and the names for what we discover in it?

You also LISTENED. You were there as we first started to put words together to read. You were there through the long agonizing hours of piano practice and clarinet lessons. You listened to all of that. You listened with your heart and knew when our days were going well or pretty rough. In your quiet way, you'd sometimes respond and say your words of wisdom that are with me still. You listened to our stories and sometimes rolled your eyes as you laughed at our jokes.

LORENE GREEN

Dear Ms. Green,

I have followed your column for quite some time and am fascinated by your work. You had a letter recently from a writer, such as myself, who does not write in longhand, which I found interesting. I have decided to submit a sample of my writing in the hope that you will consider it for a future column.

I am 33 three years of age, an office administrator and right handed. Some of my hobbies are golf, bowling and calligraphy. I would welcome any comments or additional insight on what my handwriting might tell you further about me.

I thank you for your time and consideration and, as always, I look forward to your next article.

K.K., Westland

First we learn to write according to our classroom instruction. However, people with a strong need to express their individuality often change to a style that fits their personality. Today's writing is more printing or printscript, which is a combination of printing and writing. This style is usually preferred by strong-minded, independent people.

If the printing is not work-related, it probably presents a stylized facade, useful in achieving anonymity. Block printing can hide many feelings. She may seem both perceptive and insensitive at the same time.

Her extremely heavy pressure coupled with the large size registers willpower and tells us she is determined to overcome obstacles. Whatever she does, she does with a passion. She does not allow herself to be dominated.

This young woman places a great deal of importance on the events of her daily life. She wants to be in the center of things and is somewhat self-involved.

Heavy-pressured writers can usually find release in physical activity. So her golf and bowling should provide a good outlet for her.

Female influence from the formative years appears to be more pronounced than the male influence. Seemingly, she feels some emotional deprivation. There are many things which she wants. They may represent love to her.

Our writer tends to control her reactions. Hasty decisions are not for her. She wants to obtain all the facts before committing herself. "What can this situation do for me?" is a question she often poses to herself. Her considered responses can make her appear aloof.

Making a good first impression is important. And she may come on a little strong in her effort to do so.

Her wider right margin than left hints at some reluctance to face the people or an event in the future.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and full signature are all helpful, and objective feedback is always welcomed.

Mama, I wish I realized all these things long ago. I would have been able to engage in more of those heart-to-heart talks. I'd let you know how I struggle with words that begin to adequately describe what you mean to me. But in that 20/20 vision of hindsight, I am finding some of the incredible gifts you gave us over and over again — enjoyment, values, openness and listening.

And looking backwards, I discover that the first letters of your characteristics spell out E.V.O.L. That's looking at L.O.V.E. in reverse! And finally, we have a word that begins to capture what you have meant to us, and how you are cherished beyond time.

Thank you, Mama, for the roots you gave us as a creatively loving woman. And thank you for the wings of steadfast confidence you had in each one of us. You enabled us to soar to new adventures.

Family Service marks 115th year

Family Service Detroit and Wayne County will celebrate its 115th anniversary when supporters gather for its annual meeting Wednesday, May 18, at the International Conference Center in Detroit.

Trudy DunCombe Archer, 36th District Court judge and wife of Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer, will be the keynote speaker. She will address how the strength of families can prevent children from becoming delinquent. Archer will also discuss her recent appointment by Gov. John Engler to help lead Michigan's participation in celebrating 1994 as the International Year of the Child, as proclaimed by the United Nations.

"We are pleased to have an advocate for families and children, Trudy Archer, join us for our anniversary celebration," said Family Service president William Bishop.

Family Service is one of the area's oldest human service agencies. In 1993, Family Service helped more than 6,000 individuals and families in Wayne County at its 10 offices in Canton, Dearborn, Detroit, Livonia, Trenton and Westland.

A United Way agency, its mission is to build strong families for the community through counseling, education, advocacy and training from a family-focused perspective.

Entertainment will be by the Stage Band of Detroit Central High School, Archer's alma mater. Partial underwriting for the band has been provided by the Mel Farr Automotive Group Inc.

The luncheon meeting will be 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Greektown conference center. Tickets are $25 for individuals; table sponsorships are available for $250.

For reservations or information, contact Sue Voyles at Family Service at (313) 961-1584.

Girl Scout Council offers adventures

Calling all girls interested in English horseback riding. Room is still available in "Saddle Up," a week-long program in English riding, sponsored by the Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council.

"Saddle Up" will take place from July 11-15 at CJM Farms in Northville. The girls will arrive at 9 a.m. and return home each afternoon at 4 p.m. Some of the activities include daily English riding lessons, horse care, horse-related activities and much more.

The program is open to all girls 9-14 years of age. The cost is $171 per girl ($165 for registered Girl Scouts). Bus transportation will be available from two locations — Jane Addams Elementary School in Redford and the Civic Center Library in Livonia.

The "Saddle Up" western riding program will take place from Aug. 8-12 and 15-19 at Camp Innisfree near Howell. The classes will be 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and include western riding lessons, horse care and horse-related activities.

It also is open to all girls 9-14 years of age and costs $171 per girl ($165 for registered scouts). Bus transportation for the first session (Aug. 8-12) is available from Garden City High School in Garden City, Jane Addams Elementary School in Redford, the Civic Center Library in Livonia and The Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council office in Detroit.

For information about the riding classes, call the Metro Girl Scout Council at 964-4475, Ext. 282.

The council also is offering a week-long program to help scouts ages 6-14 earn their scout badges.

"Wear It Proud," will take place Aug. 8-12 at Bell Creek Park in Redford. The girls will arrive at 9 a.m. and return home each afternoon at 3:30 p.m. Some of the activities include learning and working with other girls and planning which badges to work on. The girls also will have a chance to make new friends.

Badge work will be certified and recorded, so that documentation can be given at the end of the week. Scouts will have a chance to purchase the badges at that time.

"Wear It Proud" is open to all girls ages 6-14 years. The cost is $76 per girl ($70 for registered Girl Scouts).

For more information about "Wear It Proud," call 964-4475, Ext. 255.

The council is also accepting enrollment for a summer sampler, "Around the Worlds." The program is open to girls ages 6-14 years.

The week-long program will let girls experience many aspects of Girl Scouting. "Around the Worlds" will be July 25-29 at Beverly Park in Beverly Hills.

Girls will arrive at 9 a.m. and return home each afternoon at 3:30 p.m. Activities will include outdoor skills, hobbies, painting, wacky science experiments and much more.

The cost is $76 per girl ($70 for registered Girl Scouts). To register or for information, call 964-4475, Ext. 282.

Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council is the fourth-largest council in the United States and provides leadership, cultural, and personal development opportunities for more than 31,000 girls in Wayne and southern Oakland counties.

'Friends' to benefit

Athena Productions will present an original vignette show, "Friends, Children & Others," at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, May 13-14, at the Henry Ford Centennial Library on Michigan Avenue in Dearborn.

A portion of the proceeds will benefit the Child Abuse Prevention Council of Out-Wayne County.

Tickets are $8. Contributors of $25 or more will become an Athena Angel and receive an angel pin, a special CAPCO folder and be invited to a special opening night reception at the Dearborn Historical Museum Ross McFadden House.

For more information, call the Child Abuse Prevention Council at 721-5901.

The Child Abuse Prevention Council of Out-Wayne County is an affiliate of the Michigan Chapter of the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse.

Your spiritual blessings are "because the Lord loved you." Deut. 7:7-8. God's love is NOT His WISH to see ALL men SAVED. God's love is always a SOVEREIGN SAVING LOVE. It is impossible for God to love and be unable to save the one loved. God said, "I have loved thee with an EVERLASTING love. THEREFORE, with loving kindness have I drawn thee." Jeremiah 31:3.

Alliance." "It's a very confusing thing to go through. It's hard to lose a child, and SIDS doesn't care who you are. It can happen to anybody."

Joye takes small comfort in the fact that Dylon "didn't suffer." According to the alliance, SIDS is considered to be an "instantaneous event." The babies don't cry out and often show no signs of having been disturbed in their sleep.

And while parents like Joye and Rick Megges wonder if there might have been something they could have done to prevent their baby's death, there is still no way to determine which infants will die of SIDS. SIDS has no specific symptoms and likewise no known specific causes. There is no certain way anyone can prevent the death nor is the death predictable.

What is known is that it is not caused by child abuse or immunization, it's not contagious or hereditary, and it occurs in families at all social and economic levels.

"It's every parent's worst nightmare," said Carol Facca, co-chair of the Michigan Alliance's family service committee. "There's no signs, no symptoms, no warning. It's just such a mystery and that intensifies the shock factor."

According to the Rochester Hills resident, SIDS is more common than people think. More babies die of SIDS than from AIDS, cystic fibrosis, childhood cancer, child abuse, pneumonia and childhood heart disease combined.

In Michigan, close to 300 babies a year — almost one a day — are victims of SIDS.

"SIDS is described as the sudden and unexpected death of an apparently healthy infant; the death remains unexplained after the performance of an adequate autopsy," Facca said. "It's the definition of exclusion. When they can't find anything, they label it as SIDS."

Facca's son Blake died of SIDS in 1987, and after 1½ years of attending support group meetings, she started attending the business meetings. Working with a committee of 10, Facca works to provide parents grief-stricken parents with as much information and support as possible.

She also facilitates a support group that meets the third Wednesday of the month at Beaumont Medical Office Building in Troy. Similar meetings are offered the first Wednesday of the month at the Providence Medical Building in Southfield and the fourth Monday of the month at Seaway Hospital in Trenton.

'Getting harder'

Joye Megges is dealing with a variety of emotions. She is angry and depressed that her son was taken from her, and fearful. She is up every 15 minutes to check on her other children, fearful something may happen to them. She takes each day one at a time, but admits the "days are getting longer, the nights are getting longer, and it's getting harder as each day goes by."

"I love my children; my children are my world," she said. "But when Dylon died, my world crumbled."

Rick, although he smashed the crib, has handled it somewhat better, according to Joye. He is confused and feels bad because his work left little time to spend with the infant. He did go out with his buddies a month or so after Dylon's death "and let it all lose."

The tragedy is also confusing for the children. Ricky knows his baby brother is gone and Alexis won't talk about it.

"She has rebelled very badly and is very mean," Joye said. "I think she thinks that 'they took my brother and he was good, so if I'm mean, they won't take me.'"

Contacting Facca has helped Joye Megges and has provided her with a mission. She has found emotional support and is attending the support group at Seaway Hospital, although she would like to get a similar group started out of her new home. She'd also like to get some kind of a fund-raiser started to help find a cause and even a cure for SIDS.

Such plans and carrying for her children help keep her busy, but the void left by Dylon's death remains.

"He was a perfect angel and that's what God got, but he shouldn't have taken him," she said. "The one thing I hate to hear is that he's in heaven; he's with God. But I don't want him there; I want him here with me."

than 40 percent of those reported are confirmed with 50 percent of that number neglect cases, 25 percent physical abuse, 15 percent sexual abuse and 10 percent emotional abuse.

Child abuse and neglect is a growing problem. Michigan laws require that physicians, medical examiners, dentists, nurses, audiologists, certified social workers, school administrators, counselors, child care providers and law enforcement officials report cases of suspected child abuse and neglect immediately. The Child Protection Law of 1975 states that within 72 hours after making an oral report, the person must also file a written report and that a person who, "acting in good faith," makes the report will be immune from civil or criminal liability.

Concerned citizens should also take responsibility for reporting suspected child abuse or neglect. It's a people problem not just your neighbor's or an acquaintance's. According to Child Abuse Prevention Services Inc. of Lansing, indications of physical abuse include:

■ Child's appearances — bruises and welts on the face, lips or mouth or on large areas of the torso; burns caused by cigars or cigarettes, ropes or immersion in a hot liquid; fracture or multiple fractures of the skull, jaw, nasal or long (arm and leg) bones, in various stages of healing or any fracture of a child under age 2; lacerations and abrasions or human bite marks.

■ Child's behavior — wary of physical contact with adults; apprehensive when other children cry; demonstrates extremes in behavior like extreme aggressiveness or withdrawal; seems frightened of parents; or reports injury by parents.

■ Caretaker's behavior — has history of child abuse; uses harsh discipline inappropriate to child's age; offers illogical, unconvincing, contradictory or no explanation of child's injury; seems unconcerned about child; significantly misperceives child (sees him as bad, evil, a monster); misuses alcohol or other drugs; or attempts to conceal child's injury or to protect identity of person responsible.

Indications of neglect include:

■ Child's appearance — consistently dirty, unwashed, hungry or inappropriately dressed; without supervision for extended periods of time or when engaged in dangerous activities; consistently tired or listless; has unattended physical problems or lacks routine medical care; is exploited, overworked, or kept from attending school; or has been abandoned.

■ Child's behavior — engages in delinquent acts (vandalism, drinking, prostitution, drugs, etc.); begging or stealing food; or rarely attends school.

■ Caretaker's behavior — misuses alcohol or other drugs; maintains chaotic home life; shows evidence of apathy or futility; has long-term chronic illness; or has a history of neglect as a child.

It's true that "It shouldn't hurt to be a child," and you can help make the hurt stop by volunteering to work the hotline at a crisis center, by being a foster parent, by donating money for services and research of child abuse and neglect, by planning neighborhood programs to discuss and make people aware of the problem and the ways to prevent it, and by organizing support groups for families who are at risk. And most of all, by reporting suspected child abuse and neglect to the proper authorities.

Volunteers needed for research study

Manic Depressive Illness has been described as an emotional roller coaster. Typical symptoms include excessively "high" moods, overconfidence, irritability, racing thoughts, feelings of emptiness, decreased energy, sleep disturbances, difficulty concentrating and feelings of worthlessness.

Wayne State University/Detroit Medical Center is looking for people 18 years and older to participate in a research study of a new investigational drug for the treatment of Manic Depressive Illness.

Participants must be at least 18 years of age, be in good health and have a diagnosis of Manic Depressive Illness. Free and confidential treatment of those volunteering for the study will be provided on an outpatient basis at Comprehensive Psychiatric Services in Farmington Hills.

For more information about Manic Depressive Illness or the research program, contact Linda Gurevich or Rita Hench, study coordinators, at (810) 932-1905 or (810) 932-2500 between 9 a.m. and noon Monday through Friday.

GARDEN SPOT

MARTY FIGLEY

Gardening questions are answered here

Question: When can I prune spring flowering shrubs?

Answer: Forsythia, lilacs and deutzia produce flower-bearing branches in the previous growing season and need to be pruned immediately after flowering so new growth can develop before winter.

Forsythia adds a bright note to the garden and reminds us that spring has arrived. The undemanding plants like to retain their naturally graceful form. It won't hurt the plant to take a few branches for forcing indoors several weeks earlier, when the blossoms are formed.

Lilacs (Syringa) will reward you with larger clusters of flowers the next year if faded flowers are pruned off. Some Syringas produce suckers. Don't prune them all away, rather cut out the older stems so that the plant is constantly renewed. Buy only lilacs that are grown on their own roots, not grafted ones.

Deutzia plants naturally are left with dead limbs, which will be noticeable when they start to grow as the weather warms up. Prune them out to keep the shrub clean and neat each year.

If any of these plants become crowded, up to one-fourth of the old flowering stems can be removed without harming the plants. In the fall, remove weak growth and awkward branches to keep the plants in good form. When planting, cut out weak or damaged stems and cut back the tips (about six inches) on the main shoots to a strong pair of buds.

Q: How do I care for lavender plants?

A: This question is often asked when I lecture about herbs. Lavendulas can become sprawly and get heavy, unsightly branches and become bare at the base if they aren't kept in shape from the first planting. They won't rejuvenate from bare wood.

The first year prune hard for strong, bushy growth - remove about one-third of the plant. Then each subsequent spring remove old flower spikes and one to two inches of growth made the previous season. In the fall, leave the dead flower spikes (that you haven't used for cooking or crafts) over the winter to provide protection for the plants. Propagate existing lavender plants this summer by layering, then start anew when they are severed from the mother plant.

Q: Do you have any suggestions about planting clematis?

A: I checked with Dick Donahue, owner of Donahue's Clematis Specialists (P.O. Box 366, Faribault, Minn. 55021).

ART EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Variety reigns

VAAL shows a blend of artistictalent

Visual Arts Association of Livonia brings a broad mix of fine art to the Livonia City Hall lobby for the group's 20th annual spring show during May.

BY JANICE TIGAR-KRAMER
SPECIAL WRITER

If there's a theme for this year's spring show presented by Visual Arts Association of Livonia (VAAL), it's diversity.

"It's a strong show and so diverse in terms of subject matter, artists and talent. These artists aren't just a group of ladies who paint flowers, though I happen to like flowers," said Livonia's Audrey Harkins, a watercolorist and VAAL exhibit chairwoman.

The 20th annual spring show, sponsored by Livonia Cultural League, the City of Livonia and Livonia Arts Commission, runs 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday, through May 27, in the Livonia City Hall lobby, at Five Mile and Farmington Road, Livonia. Admission to the show is free.

Awards go to Best of Show, first through third place in all categories and honorable mention. Also presented were the Grumbacher Award, for best use of color, and a cash prize for the Livonia Arts Commission's favorite entry.

Show-goers will see about 70 pieces of fine art, including oils, acrylics, watercolors and mixed media, representing a range of styles and subjects. Most are priced from $50 to around $600. Some works from the artists' personal collection are not offered for sale.

Lathrup Village artist Nancy Thayer, who's taught art at the University of Michigan, Center for Creative Studies in Detroit, Detroit Institute of Arts and Cranbrook Academy in Bloomfield Hills, juried the entries.

"If you liked the Livonia Artists Club show (April 9-10), you'll enjoy this one more," said VAAL president Eileen Bibby, a Livonia watercolorist. "This event includes more artists and has more variety and diversity. It's fun to stroll through even if you don't buy."

The show is the biggest yearly event for the 90-member group, whose membership comes from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. Members say VAAL's biggest draw, bringing artists from Ann Arbor, Dearborn and downriver, is the art classes it runs through the year at Livonia's Jefferson Center.

"This will be a beautiful show," said Stephanie Skaggs, Livonia Arts Commission vice chairwoman. "Our committee was impressed with the quality of the work. We'd like to have given several awards because it was hard to narrow our choice down to just one."

Bibby's watercolor, "Lacy Kale," an interpretative painting of a leafy, flowering cabbage, picked up the Livonia Arts Commission award.

"I was so excited. I couldn't believe it," said Bibby, who's also won awards this year from the Milford Fine Arts Club and Dearborn Arts & Crafts Club. "Lacy Kale" also won the Grumbacher Award at the Livonia Artists Club show.

Floral artistry to adorn Plymouth cooperative

The Michigan Art Exchange will present "Floral Extravaganza" Friday-Sunday, May 13-15, at the Plymouth gallery, 470 Forest, in Forest Place Mall.

Co-sponsors are Heide's Flowers & Gifts, Silk Flowers & Things, Wesley Berry Flowers of Plymouth and the Flower Garden, which will fill the gallery with fresh, silk and dried flower arrangements.

The event will feature oil and watercolor paintings by members of the artists cooperative. Artists include Andrea Dezell, Janis Madias, Judy Mouhot, Terri Jurewicz, Diane Tasselmyer, Nancy Dendy, Joyce Tinkham and Marie Tuthill.

The event will be held in conjunction with the grand opening of the Michigan Art Exchange. A ribbon cutting ceremony with the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce takes place at 5 p.m. Friday, May 13.

"We're having a May floral gala. It's going to be colorful. All the artists are getting together all their floral paintings and prints. The florists, what they're going to try to do, is put flowers next to the work," said Plymouth resident Frank Kuszak, MAE co-director.

Exhibiting artists include Andrea DeZell of Plymouth, Judy Mouhot and Nancy Dendy of Redford Township; Diane Tasselmyer, Westland; Terri Wilva Jurewicz, Dexter; Janis Madias and Joyce Tinkham, Superior Township; and Marie Tuthill, Livonia.

A sense of tranquility flows through the viewers of Tuthill's oil and watercolor landscape paintings. A new work by the 30-year painter features a still life bouquet of lilacs and snowballs with a landscape in the background.

"It sounds exciting. I like the people running the gallery. They seem like they're really trying to help the artists," said Tuthill, who was one of the original Livonia arts commissioners.

"I sold two large paintings the

■ VAAL PROGRAMS
Visual Arts Association of Livonia adult and youth summer courses start June 1 at Jefferson Center, Room 24, 9501 Henry Ruff, Livonia.

Adult classes and workshops include: independent study, handmade paper, perception in oil, watercolor monotypes, landscape with flowers, watercolor, composition and color in watercolor, and still life in watercolor. Call Marge Masek: (313) 464-6772.

Youth classes include pop art connections (ages 10-12), rain forest connections (ages 7-9), painting and drawing exploration (ages 12 and older), connections: art and ancient worlds (ages 10-12). Cal Kris Broderick: (313) 464-3616.

The teaching staff is made up of local art professionals. VAAL memberships cost $20 a year and include reduced class tuition, the VAAL newsletter and reduced exhibit entry fees. Call Masek for more information.

VAAL is dedicated to advancing the knowledge and appreciation of the creative arts by offering studio classes and twice-yearly exhibits. VAAL is supported in part by the Livonia Arts Commission, city of Livonia and Livonia Cultural League.

■ COUNTRY MEETING
The Garden City Fine Arts Association held its monthly club meeting at a different location May 4 - the home of local businessman Bob Sheridan, also a club member. The four-acre grounds - replete with trees, a pond, ducks and azaleas - provided a picturesque setting for the artists to sketch.

The Sheridans treated the 25 artists to a cookout.

The next club meeting is June 1 at Maplewood Center.

Q: When can I divide daylilies?

A: Now is a good time to increase your stock. When the sprouts are up and it is easy to get a few fans and plenty of roots on each division. If time gets away from you, division can be done later in the summer or early fall. These ever-blooming flowers are almost carefree and are so pretty.

Q: Can you tell me how to harvest and preserve my herbs?

A: Several people have told me they need more information about this subject. I will devote a column next month to herbs.

Interest is growing in our High Hopes Sunflower Contest. Prizes will be awarded for the tallest plant and for the largest seed head. The seeds for outdoor sowing can stand a little cold in the ground and should be planted!

Q: When do I divide peonies?

A: Wait until fall (although some authorities prefer spring; take your pick) to divide these plants IF they really have to be moved. They don't like their roots disturbed. New plants can be put in either spring or fall, with fall preferred. Dig the beds deeply and enrich with compost. They need good drainage and full sun for a half day or longer. Position the "eyes" no deeper than two to three inches to ensure that the plants will bloom.

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS

■ Paint the nozzle end of your hose a bright color so it will be easy to find when it is coiled up or laying in the yard.

■ Plant your favorite annual (petunias, maybe?) in a tube pan to circle the umbrella on your patio table.

■ Remove only the flower-heads of daffodils after they have faded. The stem and foliage work together to strengthen the bulb. Cut down after they have completely withered.

■ It is best to wait until after May 15 to plant annuals and perennials in the garden. The last frost date in this area is the middle of the month.

■ To control gypsy moth larvae, secure a four-inch-wide band of tape to the tree trunk, then coat it with Tanglefoot. Replace the bands when they are covered with the larvae, then remove them altogether in August.

■ In the vegetable garden, sow seeds of beans, corn, cucumbers and squash.

last summer and brought it in to paint in November. I stored it in the refrigerator so long the color disappeared, but I managed to remember. I did a lot of thinking to make the leaves appear they were moving. I never thought I'd finish."

The Best of Show award and first place for oil/acrylic went to "Red Box," a large, vibrantly colored painting by Dearborn Heights artist Olga Pawlowski. The acrylic painting of her daughter's three dolls, randomly placed in a red box, took about two years to finish and is part of a series.

"Dolls always get an emotional response from me. They're good models and most like people. These colors are very powerful but, depending on the way I feel, the next painting could be very subtle," said Pawlowski, a former Dearborn school art teacher.

Pawlowski compares her painting style to a drawing technique. She likes leaving wide brush strokes in her work because they are "part of the struggle."

Evelyn Henry of Redford Township won first place in mixed media for "Nature Walk," a detailed pastel that resembles a child's book illustration. The subtly colored work of her grandchildren in the woods near Lewiston, Mich., is filled with trees and foliage.

"I like doing sky, water and reflections, but my favorite subject is children, not posing, but doing something natural," said Henry, a retired graphic designer for Campbell Ewald, Detroit.

Henry also works in acrylic and has exhibited at the Scarab Club, Detroit. She's had several paintings reproduced for the cover of Michigan Bar Journal.

Here's the rundown of award winners:

■ Oil/acrylic: first place, Olga Pawlowski, Dearborn Heights; second place, Evelyn Henry, Redford Township; third place, Isabelle Renaud, Dearborn.

■ Watercolor: first place, Al Weber, Livonia; second place, Toni Stevens, Plymouth; third place, Olga Pawlowski, Dearborn Heights.

■ Mixed media: first place, Evelyn Henry, Redford Township; second place, Judy Granata, Livonia; third place, Gale Smith, Inkster.

■ Honorable mention: oil — Isabelle Renaud, Dearborn; Sharon Morganti, Livonia. Watercolor — Al Weber, Livonia; Marge Masek, Livonia; Jean Weber, Plymouth. Mixed media — Edna Chester, Livonia; Olga Pawlowski, Dearborn Heights; Toni Stevens, Plymouth.

■ Grumbacher Award: Toni Stevens.

■ 'This will be a beautiful show. Our committee was impressed with the quality of the work. We'd like to have given several awards because it was hard to narrow our choice down to just one.'

Plymouth artist wins best of show

■ Stevens became the first club member to win the traveling winner's plaque three years in a row for her watercolor, 'Brendan with Blanket.'

For the third straight year, Plymouth Township artist Toni Stevens has won the Mattie Robson Award in the Palette and Brush Club's "Point of View" exhibition.

The 1994 show runs to May 31 in the Oakland County Galleria in the Executive Office Building, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Stevens became the first club member to win the traveling winner's plaque three years in a row for her watercolor, "Brendan with Blanket."

"It drew me in with his soulful expression, intensified by the planal modeling of the head and drapery with transparent primary colors," said juror Lucille Procter Nawara, an artist, lecturer, juror, gallery owner and curator on the Detroit art scene for 25 years. She has taught at Cranbrook Educational Community in Bloomfield Hills and Wayne State University.

Stevens' work, Nawara added, "rings with clarity and though the space is compact, there is a strong exaggeration of three-dimensional form in space with the nose and shirt — he's popping out with illusionalistic shadows and reflected light."

"When a juror with her qualifications, who does not know me personally, approves of my art work, it is particularly gratifying and rewarding," says Stevens. "Her encouragement will keep me going for a long time to come."

The 59-year-old Palette and Brush Club consists of 125 artists throughout the Detroit area.

Spring photo ideas are blossoming

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

MONTE NAGLER

It's often said in spring that "a young man's fancy turns to love." Springtime is also an opportune time for your fancy to turn to photography. It's a refreshing and exciting time of the year for capturing good images on film. No more aching backs from shoveling and no more frozen fingertips. Warmer weather is all the incentive you should need to get your camera out of winter hibernation.

First make sure your battery is fresh and that you brush up on your knowledge of all camera controls. Think about enrolling in a springtime photography class at one of the many facilities near your hometown.

Everyone loves flowers, especially in spring, so let's begin here. Most important rule for impact: Move in close! If you don't have a macro lens, you'll need a set of closeup filters to do the job. They're an inexpensive investment that will pay off handsomely with great flower shots.

Use a tripod to steady your camera and remember the closer you get to your subject, the more you'll lose depth-of-field. This means you'll need to use a smaller aperture.

A common problem in photographing flowers is a distracting background. Use a piece of black cardboard or cloth behind the flowers and you'll be amazed at the difference in your results.

For overall spring scenic shots, shoot in the early morning or late afternoon to get maximum texture and detail in foliage. Be on the lookout for trees silhouetted against a receding storm cloud as emerging sunbeams highlight the branches.

Springtime is always marked by changeable weather, which will reward you with many strong pictures if you stay alert. It can be raining one minute, then suddenly the sky will clear and the sun will burst through. These instances are magical for you and your camera: reflections in wet pavement, water droplets clinging to a flower, raindrops trickling down a window, or even a rainbow itself.

Don't overlook other springtime photographic opportunities. Festivals and celebrations are under way. People become more active both at work and leisure, so look for picture potential here. And don't forget your local zoo. You'll be awarded with many fine shots of our animal friends.

Short shot

Monte Nagler will be conducting his annual traveling photography workshop July 6-17 at Glacier National Park in Montana and Banff National Park in Alberta. Don't miss this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to photograph in one of the world's most beautiful places. Space is limited. Call Nagler at 661-0826 for more information.

Monte Nagler is a fine art photographer based in Farmington Hills. You can leave him a message by dialing (313) 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, then his mailbox number, 1873. His fax number is (810) 644-1314.

Artist unmasks Native American art

■ Thielen, also known as South Eagle Woman, produces art with harmony and balance of ancient and contemporary ideas. She molds the raku porcelain masks on the faces of Chippewa Indians.

Chippewa mask artist Sally Thielen will make a personal appearance 7-9 p.m. Friday, May 13, at Native West, 863 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Creator of dolls, beadwork and haunting raku porcelain masks, Thielen will exhibit her art through May 28 at the gallery.

Thielen, also known as South Eagle Woman, produces art with harmony and balance of ancient and contemporary ideas. She molds the raku porcelain masks on the faces of Chippewa Indians.

The concept behind the masks is spiritual, says Thielen. The masks are portraits of Native American people. They are meant to represent "the people."

Looking at the masks, they seem alive with the spirit of an ancient culture. The vacant eyes haunt with untold tales of ancient warriors.

Thielen studied pottery and sculpture at the Flint Institute of Art four years. The internationally recognized artist has been creating the masks for 15 years.

She has exhibited throughout the U.S. as well as in Moscow and St. Petersburg, Russia. Her work is in the collections of the Museum of Natural History in Denver; Jessie Besser Museum, Alpena; Museum of Mann, San Diego; and Museum of Folk Art and Museum of Craft, Moscow.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday to Wednesday and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday-Friday, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Call (313) 455-8838.

Listings features news and notes about suburban real estate. To list an announcement, write: Listings, Real Estate Editor, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Our fax number is (313) 591-7279.

■ TOP SELLER

Sanford Norman, an associate broker at Century 21 Town & Country in Birmingham and a Ten Million Dollar Club member, was honored at the Century 21 international convention in New Orleans.

Norman has sold more than $50 million worth of real estate in the Birmingham/Bloomfield area in the past five years. He was a featured speaker at the convention on the subject of power prospecting.

Norman

Century 21 Town & Country, with which Norman is associated, sells more houses than any other Century 21 firm in the world.

■ BUYERS AGENT

Kole Property, a buyers agent, has opened real estate offices in Laurel Park Place, 17370 N. Laurel Park Place, four doors west of the AMC Theatre, Livonia. The telephone number is 953-KOLE.

Traditionally, real estate agents have been legally bound to represent the interests of the seller even though many prospective house buyers labored under the misconception the real estate agent they were working with was working for them, says Dennis Koltunchik, Kole president and a former practicing attorney.

Recent legislation requiring real estate agents to disclose their agency, however, hopefully will encourage buyers to seek out agents who will work with their interests in mind, not the sellers, Koltunchik said.

Dennis Koltunchik and vice president Walter Koltunchik have a total of 50 years' experience in real estate and real estate-related services.

■ GRI DESIGNATION

Paddy Kutchey, a Realtor associate at Chamberlain Realtors Birmingham, has achieved the Michigan Association of Realtors GRI designation.

This designation, like a college degree or professional designation, shows that the 30-year sales veteran has the highest quality real estate credentials and training.

She also recently attended a seminar sponsored by Republic Bancorp Mortgage Inc. on "How to Stay on the Cutting Edge . . . Without Losing Your Balance."

Century 21 Sakmar & Associates, a full-service real estate firm, has moved from the historic train depot to the newly newly renovated fire hall in downtown Rochester.

In five months, Depot Plaza Properties Inc. partners Andy Sakmar (of Century 21 Sakmar & Associates) and Larry Smith (of Rochester Elevator) renovated and remodeled the fire hall. Move-in was April 15.

Century 21 Sakmar & Associates' new home in The Depot Plaza also sports a new name: the Ann Building. "The Ann Building is now one of the finest architectural jewels in downtown Rochester," Sakmar said.

"We tried to bring the building to its original state," he added. "In the 1920s, it was a car dealership."

The Rochester architectural firm of Gerald J. Yurk & Associates met the challenge through a distinctive architectural design.

Sakmar also was determined to accentuate the original wood barrel roof and the bow string trusses. They are now refinished and the focal point of the main office area.

"The 5,300-square-foot building, of which we will occupy 4,300 square feet, will triple our current space," Sakmar said.

"This additional space will allow us to expand our business and enable us to continue to provide the most professional and up-to-date real estate services our community has come to expect from Century 21 Sakmar & Associates."

A licensed Realtor for 21 years, Sakmar is past president of the Rochester Board of Realtors. The Greater Rochester Chamber of Commerce member is on the Crittention Hospital Business and Development Committee.

Sellers — know what disclosure means

CONDO QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

Q. Is there anything I can do as a seller under the law in providing the purchaser with a seller's disclosure statement?

A. Yes. In lieu of providing the seller's disclosure statement, the seller can provide a prospective purchaser with a report prepared by a licensed contractor, if the report is provided upon the request of a prospective purchaser.

However, this exemption will not help the seller if the seller had knowledge of a known defect or condition that contradicts the report provided by the licensed expert. In other words, if your inspector misses a leaking roof and the seller is aware of the problem from inhabiting the property, the seller would still be required to disclose the problem to the prospective purchaser.

Moreover, the seller's disclosure statement must be provided to a prospective purchaser before the time the seller accepts an offer made by the prospective purchaser.

If the seller's disclosure statement is not provided to the prospective purchaser until after a purchase agreement has been signed by the seller, then upon receipt of the seller's disclosure statement, the purchaser is provided 72 hours in the case of personal delivery, and 120 hours in the case of delivery by registered mail, to rescind the transaction.

Q. Under the seller's disclosure law, how detailed does the seller have to be in terms of inspecting the property in order to make a disclosure?

A. Under the seller's disclosure law, the seller is only required to disclose what they have learned about the property from living on the property.

Unless the seller is advised by someone, the seller is not held to have any expertise in construction, architecture or any other area specifically related to construction or the condition of the improvements on the property.

In addition, the seller's disclosure statement required by the statute provides that the seller would not have conducted any inspection of inaccessible areas such as the foundation or the roof.

Further, the seller's disclosure statement specifically provides that the representations made by the seller in the statement are not warranties of any kind and are not a substitute for any inspections the purchasers should continue to obtain.

It was apparently the intent of the Legislature to provide for legislation to be filled out by unknowledgeable people and not to attempt to grade the quality or condition of the particular amenities of the property.

For example, the sellers may be required to indicate whether the roofs leak or don't leak but are not required to attempt to describe either the source of the leak or the cost of repairing the leak.

Ultimately, the courts will be called upon to answer some of the ambiguities created by the new legislation.

Q.I live in a homeowner association-PUD where the board has, in my opinion, illegally raised the assessment without getting the requisite number of owners to approve it and by using proxies illegally at a meeting. The board put a lien on a unit, utilizing an attorney who is on the board. I want to get the lien extinguished, but I wonder if I have any other recourse against the association?

A. A lien that was improperly filed against a co-owner could be deemed slander of title, for which you would be entitled to additional damages. Also, you could have a claim against the association for mismanagement and could conceivably start a class-action suit in behalf of the other members who have wrongfully been assessed by the association.

Also, for the board to utilize an attorney who is also on the board may well be deemed to be not only poor business management, but a potential conflict for that board member who is acting as an attorney, particularly if the work is not done properly or is otherwise illegal. It may well be worth your while to consult with an attorney, particularly because this abuse by the association, if not abated, could become worse.

DeMattia leases office space

The R.A. DeMattia Co., a Plymouth-based design/build construction and land development firm, has leased additional space to two growing businesses in its Plymouth Oaks Business Center, reports Robert DeMattia, company president.

AVNET Electronics, a New York-based computer and electronics firm, has added 3,128 square feet to its existing 4,620-square-foot office. Tol-Test Inc., a Toledo-based environmental engineering company, has expanded into a 5,388-square-foot suite.

Developed by R.A. DeMattia Co., the 50,000-square-foot Plymouth Oaks Business Center, at M-14 and Sheldon, is now 97 percent occupied.

Airy feeling: A liberal use of sloped ceilings and attention to window placements give a feeling of spaciousness to models at Hunt Club.

Affordability marks Hunt Club homes

More and more builders who traditionally construct houses at the higher end of the price spectrum are taking a second look at the rest of that spectrum. Some are even taking the plunge and offering what most people would consider more affordable models.

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Satisfied customers tend to do repeat business.

That's partly why Scott R. Jacobson, a Bingham Farms builder who usually constructs custom, higher-end houses, decided to erect a more affordable line in his most recent venture, Hunt Club in Auburn Hills.

Prices go from $140,500 for a 1,300-square-foot ranch to $146,500 for a colonial of 1,600 square feet to $147,000 for a nearly 2,000-square-foot bi-level.

"We build at this price, $180,000, $250,000 and $350,000," Jacobson said. "We're hoping they'll be happy with us and will move up to the next step, look at other prices, later."

But potential future business isn't the only reason Jacobson switched gears at Hunt Club, located off South Boulevard, just west of Squirrel Road.

"It seems like there's a strong market for more affordable," he said. "That's why we stepped up to the plate and bought all 110 lots here."

The three models are small by conventional "new" standards but seem larger with high ceilings and creative placement of windows and doorwalls.

"Because of the square footage situation, that (sloped ceilings) significantly tends to create the impression of more space through trusses," Jacobson said. "We tried to use as much glass as possible but still keep it where we can sell at an affordable price point."

To keep basic prices as low as possible, air conditioning and fireplaces are options. Exteriors consist of vinyl siding and wood trim all the way around. Lots are 50 feet wide. Master suites have showers instead of a tub/shower combination or separates.

But that isn't to say that the models look chintzy.

The Shelburne, a bi-level, has a living room, a large country kitchen with breakfast nook, and three bedrooms, all with sloped ceilings, on the upper level. The lower level, when finished, contains a family room, an optional den or extra bedroom and laundry.

The Foxborough, a colonial, shows a separate dining room, kitchen/nook, living room, powder room and laundry on the first floor, three bedrooms and two baths upstairs. Again, all the bedrooms have sloped ceilings.

The Danbury, a ranch, has sloped ceilings in all the rooms - living rooms, dining room/kitchen, master, and the two smaller bedrooms, one of which can easily be turned into a den. The laundry is in the basement.

Standard features in all models include two-car garage; range, dishwasher and garbage disposal;

Need to grow spurs industry merger

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

There are a few basic ways for a business to grow. Increase sales/ slash expenses. Find new investors/ stock offerings. Mergers.

Macauley's Office Products, a family-owned firm with a 125-year history, and Business Resources, founded in 1980, headquartered in Canton and one of the largest companies owned by women in southeast Michigan, have decided to marry and become Macauley's Business Resources.

"We started meeting in late July last year to discuss the possibility of merging," said Jack Macauley, a Bloomfield Township resident who will serve as president/chief executive officer of the joint operation. "After a long series of meetings, here we are today with a letter of intent signed."

A target date of June 1 has been set to complete the arrangement.

It hasn't yet been determined whether Macauley's Business Resources will expand and establish headquarters at Macauley's Oak Park site, Business Resources' Canton location or somewhere in between.

Ann Wray and Bonnie Crooks, who nurtured Business Resources, will serve as vice president of finance/chief operating officer and vice president of marketing, respectively.

Following are edited excerpts from a recent interview with Macauley, Wray and Crooks:

Why merge?

Macauley: One reason for merger is future survival. That's not to say we'd go out of business tomorrow. But if we didn't grow, the possibility and carpeting in all bedrooms. A basement is standard in the ranch and colonial models.

Sidewalks will be installed.

Elements adding warmth and charm to what Jacobson termed a "new traditionalism" exterior look include lap siding, shutters, curved windows and covered porches.

"I think the selling point is the fact we build quality product at an affordable price in a superb location," he said. "We build the same quality here as $300,000 models."

Singh Development of Birmingham developed the property. Coponen Architects of Northville designed the models.

The subdivision is serviced by city water and sewers. An annual association fee of about $100 for each house is contemplated to maintain common grounds.

Hunt Club is in the Avondale School District.

The current property tax rate for municipal, school and county services is about $36 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value. That means the owner of a $146,000 house in Hunt Club would pay about $2,600 annually in property taxes.

Ninety percent of the buyers in Hunt Club are first-time house buyers of any kind, new or existing, Jacobson said.

"They're coming out of rentals. They're young professionals — teachers, pharmacists, engineers, physical therapists. Thirty percent are single."

Margie Skannal will move from a condominium in Troy to a ranch in Hunt Club. The Danbury is her first new house.

"To me, it's so small and cozy, perfect for one person or a small family," she said. "It's supposed to be in an up-and-coming area. I think the value will go up."

Skannal selected a few upgrades including fireplace and a full tub in the master suite.

Art and Elaine Peralta and their two children will move from a townhouse into a colonial, also their first new house.

"I think it was the model with the best square footage for us," Elaine said. "I liked the floor plan. The rooms were a good size. We basically liked the kitchen and formal dining room."

It was also important to the family to remain in the Avondale School District, Elaine said.

The Hunt Club sales office, 852-3110, is open noon to 6 p.m. seven days a week.

of going out of business at the turn of the century was very great.

Wray: With the industry changing the last few years, we realized we had to get bigger to survive.

We looked at their (Macauley's) customers, and they were similar to ours. We looked at their company philosophy, and it was similar to ours. We looked at their service, and it was similar to ours.

Macauley: Competitive factors in the marketplace that had been forcing (profit) margin erosion, coupled with the entry of superstores with the perception they're the lowest-price place to buy, made us feel by joining forces, we'd have a win/win situation and become the best office products distributor in Michigan stressing customer service.

What is the scope of your business?

Wray: Business Resources this fiscal year will finish with about $20 million in gross sales. Last year it was about the same. It's been pretty flat.

Macauley: It's ironic. We're within $100,000 in total sales. We intend to get it to $50 million in a couple of years. That's our whole thrust.

How do you propose to get there?

Crooks: In general, by implementing some new programs we're working on together . . . in marketing ideas or service ideas.

Now, we're in southeast Michigan and Toledo. Gradually, we would like to expand out from that area and gradually increase national account participation.

Macauley: We will be putting combined 45 sales people on the road. We'll be doing things like corporate video, consumer shows, bringing people in to see new products.

Wray: We have sales people on the street looking for new construction, growth areas. Knocking on doors. And of course, word of mouth.

We all do some advertising. Trade magazines.

How do you expect that your business will shake out?

Wray: About 25 percent furniture.

Macauley: Seventy percent office supplies or word processing information supplies. Five percent office machines.

What kind of office supplies?

Crooks: Everything from paper and pens to laser toner cartridges for computer printers.

Wray: And suckers to banks for kids that come in.

How many employees do you have now and what do you expect when the merger is complete?

Wray: We have 110.

Macauley: We have 160, including 35 in our six retail stores.

Wray: Cutbacks? Very few. We hope any reduction comes through attrition or from people who can't physically make the move wherever we end up. We figured there's a very small number of duplication. The hope is where we have duplication, we'll be able to use those employees elsewhere.

What did each of you see in the other as a merger partner?

Macauley: Business Resources has a really good computer-aided design department for furniture design, layout, color coordination.

Crooks: Macauley's is part of a very large national network of independent dealers across the U.S. and Canada.

How do you feel about giving up your independence and some control?

Macauley: We realize we'll give up the family business structure and not operate it as a family any more. We hope it will be a brand new family. It will be Macauley's Business Resources family with the new business.

I still will have a son directly involved in commercial sales and a daughter with furniture sales.

Americans are tired of having to shop for their dream home in a bland sea of look-alikes, according to a recent Builder Magazine focus group study.

The study showed that while different ages and occupations lead to a diverse list of requirements for homes and townhouses, several specific features made the top of the list in every group. Natural light and scenic views were two areas the groups were not willing to compromise on.

Natural light equates spaciousness and warmth while landscaped views through well-positioned windows reflect quality, says Paul Martin, territory sales manager, Pella Window & Door Co., a local distributor of Pella Wood Windows and Doors.

"More home buyers are expecting their desire for abundant light and views to be addressed at the blueprint stage," Martin said.

"Even do-it-yourself remodelers are working to add these features to their homes with custom wood windows. In addition to aesthetics, larger or uniquely shaped windows can add the light and views that make older homes more attractive to new buyers."

Among the Builder Magazine singles and couples focus group, 80 percent expect bay windows to be standard, topped only by a fireplace and high ceiling. Also, skylights were considered a standard feature by 68 percent of the group.

"The traditional family symbols, like spacious kitchens, are still a priority, but they are being combined more frequently with these stylish features," said Martin. "Homebuyers and homeowners have more choices than ever to reflect their own needs and personalities. More windows in a home make careful selection even more important in terms of quality, performance and durability."

For a free informational package about selecting windows and doors for the home, call 1-800-847-3552.

■ NEW OFFICE

Dane P. Gussin, a licensed insurance counselor and financial planner, opened Combined Insurance Resources, at 5600 W. Maple, Suite D-405, West Bloomfield, on May 1. The phone number is (810) 851-2150.

He handles life, health, disability and group insurance, as well as mutual funds and retirement plans.

Gussin had been an agent with A.L. Fine & Associates, Southfield, for 24 years.

■ EXPAND OFFICE

Associates Creative, Southfield, a producer of electronic presentations and training programs, has expanded its facility at 24471 W. 10 Mile, from 4,600 square feet to more than 8,000 square feet.

The company said additional manufacturing space was needed to fill orders from automotive customers for a new electronic classroom system called ARIS.

■ NEW HEADQUARTERS

National Truck Equipment Association (NTEA) has moved from Livonia to new headquarters at 37400 Hills Tech Drive, Farmington Hills. The phone number is (810) 489-7090.

The 30-year-old NTEA relocated to the Detroit area from Cincinnati in 1978 to work more closely with major truck manufacturers. The association rented office space in Oak Park and Livonia before purchasing the 13,000-square-foot facility along I-96 near 12 Mile and Halsted roads in northwest Farmington Hills.

NTEA's 11 full-time staff members will occupy the first floor. The association said it plans to lease the lower level.

NTEA also has a government relations office in Washington, D.C.

■ PR FIRMS CHOSEN

Southfield-based Hedge & Co. has been selected by 3M Automotive of St. Paul, Minn., to handle public relations and was chosen by Magna International of Toronto to develop a corporate identity program.

Stewart Wilson (left) points out 19 parts made by Allmand for a Ford tractor. Allmand, a privately owned company founded in 1969, employs about 175 and reports annual sales at upwards of $17 million.*

Both companies are major automotive suppliers with operations in the Detroit area.

■ NEW AGENCY

The Clarkston Insurance Agency, a subsidiary of 43-year-old Poyle Associates, Farmington Hills, has opened at 39 S. Main in downtown Clarkston. The phone number is (810) 620-1220.

Dianne Pullan, a Poyle account executive for three years, will head the new office. The Clarkston resident was promoted from account executive to vice president of sales. Lana Sioma, a lifelong Clarkston/Waterford resident, is the new agency's account executive.

■ FREE SALARY SURVEY

The results of a 1993 survey by management consultant Grant Thornton on the compensation and benefit practices of exempt companies in southeastern Michigan are available at no charge.

Southeastern Michigan-Exempt Organization Salary Survey was distributed to 300 organizations. The 46-page booklet provides budget information and summarizes data about current compensation-benefit levels of these firms.

For a copy of survey results, or to participate in the 1994 survey, write Janee O'Neil, 26911 Northwestern, Suite 400, Southfield, MI 48034, or fax requests to (810) 350- 3581.

■ HEALTH CARE BRANCH

New York-based HealthForce, a national health care provider specializing in home health care and supplemental staffing, said it will open a new facility in Southfield. It will be the second HealthForce location in Michigan.

Fred Rueger, president of Townsend and Bottum Services Group, a temporary employment service for engineers and technicians, and president of Health-Force in Ann Arbor, will operate the Southfield branch. The new office will service Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Cheryl Nowak, a registered nurse and director of operations for the Ann Arbor branch, will service the new office. Lorie O'Connell, medical coordinator in Ann Arbor, will manage the Southfield branch. Shawn Kuretich will be medical coordinator for the new office.

The company said both offices have job openings for qualified health care providers who want additional income or need to work around schedules that make full-time employment difficult. There are openings for registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, home health care aides, companions and special medical technical personnel.

■ REACH AGREEMENT

Southfield-based Bonal International, Inc. has signed a joint sales agreement with Hailun Vibration Stress Relief Equipment Factory in China to sell equipment manufactured by Hailun worldwide under the Meta-Lax name. Bonal provides sub-harmonic vibrational stress relief technology and manufactures Meta-Lax stress relieving equipment.

The agreement came after a 10-day visit by Hailun representatives to Bonal's Southfield facility at 21179 Bridge. A Bonal representative visited Hailun in September 1993.

■ NEW WINDSHIELD REPAIR

Ray Giancecchi has opened a SuperGlass Windshield Repair franchise servicing Oakland County. SuperGlass, headquartered in Norcross, Ga., uses a resin injection system to repair damaged windshields instead of replacing the window.

Giancecchi makes service calls at your home or office. For information, call (313) 381-5770.

■ NOTE ADDRESS

A story that appeared in the April 14 Building & Business section included an incorrect address for Slavik, Butcher & Baecker Construction Co. The new address, as of January 1993, is 3885 Industrial Drive, Rochester Hills.

We interrupt this newspaper to talk about television.

You probably gave it a lot of thought before you ordered cable television, after all, it is an added household expense.

Or maybe you were so excited when cable came to town, you signed up without a second thought. Either way, now you have it, so why not enjoy it even more by using our free Cable/TV Weekly book? The one that arrives every Monday with your Observer & Eccentric Newspaper*.

Take a look at what's in there. You'll find interesting features and the usual network listings, but those cable numbers are what we really want you to examine. You see, they match your cable numbers and that makes your cable service more valuable! You'll find all the numbers the cable company is using in your city! "More for your money" takes on new meaning as you discover that not only are the regular cable channels there, but your local channels are listed for you, too.

Cable/TV Weekly advertisers are local business people who are also helping you save money with specials and sales.

So try it. You'll get the most for your cable money when you use the easy-to-find listings and you'll save money by shopping the Cable/TV Weekly ads—all with our free cable book.
