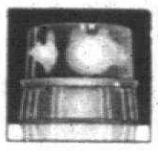
Board weighs police, fire costs



Canton Township residents will pay more for police and fire protection next yearif proposed increases are approved by the township board. It will cost the owner of a $120,000 home about $21.27 more per year.

Canton residents will be paying more for police and fire protection beginning in December if increases proposed by the Department of Public Safety are approved by the township board.

For the owner of a $120,000 home, the tax increase would amount to $21.27 a year. For the owner of a $160,000 house, the increase would be $28.36. Taxes would increase by $35.45 for a home valued at $200,000.

The .34 millage increase would raise Canton's total operating millage from 9.01 mills to 9.35.

In Plymouth, residents are taxed 10.47 mills for general operating expenses, police and fire. In Plymouth Township, the total millage levied is 3.81.

At a public hearing Tuesday, Canton residents voiced opposition to the rate hikes, expected to be adopted Sept. 27 with budget approval planned for Oct. 11.

Rand Bitter of Canton questioned why assessments are increasing when "I see large homes going up all over. I'm not sure that revenue has been captured. Maybe we have more police than we need," he added. "I'd hope we can maintain operations with current millage levels. Otherwise, maybe we're not being efficient."

Resident Bob Barrick, a former Ohio law enforcement officer, questioned the reasons for police overtime.

A resident who identified himself as a concerned citizen told the board, "I think it's nice residents gave you the authority to establish this millage, but it seems like you can talk in

Flying Pilgrims will take to the skies

BY JILL HALPIN

Dipping, twisting and turning aircraft traveling at speeds close to 200 miles per hour will fill the skies over southwest Canton next weekend.

Despite the high speeds, these aren't passenger-sized planes. These aircraft weigh nearly 18 pounds each and have a wing span of approximately 80 inches.

It's all part of the Flying Pilgrims Model Airplane club's "Fall Fly Out for Fun Phase out," a community event sponsored by the group. Scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 24-25, the event will draw close to 100 model airplane pilots from across the country.

"This is great fun. We've got something for everyone," said Burt Eisenberg, a club member who has been flying model airplanes for over 10 years.

Although the group holds many shows throughout the year, this year's event will hold special meaning for participants. The air show will be dedicated to a club member who passed away in August from prostate cancer.

"We will donate some of the proceeds to the Michigan Cancer Foundation in his honor," said Eisenberg, adding that he hopes to remane the annual event the "Mac McAtee Memorial."

This year's event will feature a wide variety of model airplanes, from tri- and bi-planes to the "Miss USA," an aircraft patterned after a national-award winning champion. An on-site concession stand will feature hot dogs, pop and chips for hungry spectators, and each day between 12 p.m. and 1 p.m. spectators will be allowed to take pictures of the aircraft and talk with pilots.

Eisenberg and other event organizers are hopeful that the show will

The Plymouth Rotary Club — which counts among its mottoes "Look Beyond Yourself" — on Friday honored the four men who acted quickly to pull four occupants from a small plane that crashed Sept. 3 near Mettetal Airport.

Rotary member and pilot Tom Kennedy said the four honorees — Darrell Perry, Steve Enders, Ron Steakley and Jim Pyda — "gave of themselves in a matter we all hope we could do."

His remarks came before nearly 100 Rotarians at the Mayflower Meeting House for a weekly lunch meeting.

The four were honored for spraying water and dry chemical extinguishers to hold back the flames, then pulling the four occupants from the small aircraft, which crash-landed in an industrial park area at General Court

Canton award

Canton Township will receive a state beautification award for its 1993 Sheldon Road Tree Planting project, according to Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc.

A "Distinguised Service Plaque" will be presented to Canton during an awards banquet at the state organization's Oct. 6-7 annual conference in Alpena. The award will also be promoted through the organization's fall "KMB News."

The Sheldon Road Tree planting program was done as part of Canton's Master Beautification Plan. The $74,000 cost was funded by a Small Business Administration/Natural Resources Development Program grant, with matching funds coming from the township. Ornamental and shade trees were planted along a four-mile stretch of Sheldon from Joy Road south in the Wayne County road right-of-way.

Nomination for the award was done through the Canton Landscape Architect's office at the request of Canton's Beautification Committee.

Officials meet

Republican Bruce Patterson, campaigning for the 11th District Wayne County Board of Commissioners seat, met Friday with state Secretary of Transportation Patrick Nowak and Canton officials to discuss needed repairs to I-275 and Michigan Avenue.

"I-275 is in terrible condition, largely because of the mode of construction," Patterson said. "It needs to be torn out and replaced, not just patched."

Doll dressing

The Canton Goodfellows are sponsoring a doll dressing contest in conjunction with its annual Christmas appeal. Goodfellows will provide the dolls and those interested can do the dressing.

The dolls will be distributed at Canton Township Hall 1-3 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 22. Those working on them must return them to the township hall by early December so they can be given to needy families.

Two men sought in Canton bank robbery, car-jacking

By M.B. Dillon
Staff Writer

Canton police and the FBI are seeking tips from anyone with information on a bank robbery shortly after 2 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 14 at the Standard Federal Bank, 44101 Ford Road just east of Sheldon.

No one was hurt in the incident in which an undisclosed amount of cash was taken. Two suspects escaped in a beige Mercury Sable which was car-jacked the same day in Westland.

Police recovered the abandoned Sable Thursday night at the Bedford Villa Apartments. Westland police reported the car-jacking of a beige Mercury Sable from the area of Wayne Road and Cherry Hill.

"We believe the car was stolen out of Westland about 1:30 p.m. and brought into Canton where the robbery occurred just after 2 p.m.," said Officer Tammie Colling.

According to witnesses, the car pulled up in front of the bank and a man entered the building waving a handgun and announcing the hold up. He is described as a black male, between 6 feet and 6-feet-4, dressed in black, with a black baseball cap, a gas mask and surgical gloves.

A second suspect then walked in.

"He grabbed the bank manager while armed with a long-barrel gun," said Colling. "The first suspect approached two separate tellers demanding money, which was placed in a dark garbage bag. The subjects ran outside, jumped into the Mercury and fled the scene."

Witnesses were unable to give police estimated ages of the suspects.

Colling said police believe the vehicle left the bank, went south on Elmhurst to Salta, and eastbound on Saltz to the Bedford Villa Apartments on Lilley south of Ford. The vehicle was found in the manager's parking spot.

"We are asking anyone in Bedford Villa or along that route that may have seen the vehicle to call us at 937-3000," Colling said.

Westland police said a 77-year-old woman was sitting in her Sable Wednesday afternoon in the Kmart parking lot at Wayne and Cherry Hill when a man "entered the passenger side of her car, which was not locked." He produced a handgun and ordered the Westland resident out of her car.

The suspect is described as a clean-cut black male, 19 years old, with a small build and short black hair.

This was the first bank robbery at Standard Federal. The last Canton bank robbery was four years ago.

Officials extol virtues of sewer system in community

By Kevin Brown
Staff Writer

Benefits to residents from the creation of the $91 million Western Townships Utilities Authority system are exceeding the expectations of member communities, Plymouth Township, Canton and Northville Township, officials said.

The WTUA system was conceived in the early 1980s as the townships had no control over rising costs charged through the Wayne County sewer system. It was completed last year.

And while costs to send sewage through the system, at 98 cents per 1,000 gallons, are higher than the 85 cents per 1,000 gallons charged by the county, officials say the time is approaching when the WTUA rate will be lower than that charged by the county.

Plymouth Township Supervisor Kathleen Keen McCarthy said officials had projected by this time to be paying 78 cents per 1,000 gallons to the county — which has raised rates 7 cents higher per 1,000 gallons than local officials had projected.

"We think the rates are going to cross in the next two or three years," McCarthy said.

To get the cost savings still offered by using the county system, Plymouth Township now sends about two thirds of its sewage to the county.

While Plymouth Township's contract with the county runs through 2011, McCarthy said that once rates become favorable for only using the WTUA system, the township could sell off its contracted sewage capacity with the county to another community seeking more capacity.

On Tuesday, the Plymouth township board of trustees approved a $15,175,201 TUA budget for the budget year beginning Oct. 1 and ending Sept. 30, 1995.

Some trustees questioned budgeted expenses for legislative relations or lobbying in Lansing, $36,000; and $170,000 for legal consultants.

"I always understand there's a need for legislative relations, but can you explain why there's a need for $36,000?" trustee K.C. Mueller asked auditor Joe Heffernan who made a report on the WTUA budget to trustees.

Heffernan said money budgeted for lobbying could save WTUA member communities from paying to help upgrade the Detroit system, in serious need of improvement as evidenced by sewage overrun in Lake Erie this summer.

"Someday the Detroit plant will have to pay for an upgrade," Heffernan said, adding Detroit will likely seek state aid. "If the three townships are sending sewage to Ypsilanti, they can try to make an argument, 'Do we still have to pay?'" he said.

Trustee Charles Curmi questioned budgeted spending for legal consultants. Heffernan said this was necessary for fees for attorneys negotiating with WTUA suppliers to make sure newly constructed facilities operate as they should.

Curmi suggested that technical personnel, whose services would cost less than attorneys, be used to save money.

While officials anticipate the day when the construction of the WTUA system will mean a cost savings for residents, consumers now pay a surcharge on water and sewer bills to pay off project bond debt.

How much a resident pays quarterly toward that debt depends on the size of their water service line. Two sizes are typically used in Plymouth Township, a five-eighths-inch line and a 1-inch line.

Residents with a five-eighths inch line pay $15.69 per quarter, while residents with a 1-inch line pay $39.21 per quarter, to pay off bond debt.

Plymouth Grange pioneer Helen Eckles remembered fondly

By M.B. Dillon
Staff Writer

Helen Melow Eckles — whose apple pies Plymouth Fall Festival goers enjoyed by the thousands for 33 years at the Plymouth Grange — died of cancer Sept. 14 in Plymouth, six weeks shy of her 89th birthday.

She was buried from Schrader-Howell Funeral Home Friday in Canton's historical Cherry Hill Cemetery.

Born Oct. 30, 1905, on her parents' orchard and farm in Plymouth Township, Eckles married the late Claude Eckles. The couple, who had no children, built a house on the Melow farm and never moved.

Plymouth builder Hoyt Mills met Eckles in 1975 when she was forced to build a new house after the state took over part of the family orchard to make way for the M-14 expressway.

After her hospitalization last year, Eckles was transferred to a nursing home. "She was a very determined lady," said Mills. "She checked herself out, and told people about it later," he said.

A lifelong member of the Plymouth Grange, Eckles graduated from Plymouth High School in 1922. She was a member of the Plymouth Historical Society and the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

Mills recalled that "after Claude died and Helen's help was petering out, she enlisted my wife Carol and I to give her a hand at the Grange." The Millses never joined the Grange, but "for four or five years, Carol rolled out the pie crust dough and I peeled apples," said Mills, who estimates he peeled eight to 10 bushels of apples.

Fellow Grangers Ruth Strebbing and Louise Tritten helped out with the baking operation, "but Helen was the boss," said Hoyt.

Strebbing honored Eckles at a Grange meeting in July, noting that her close friend baked 340 apple pies for the 1989 Fall Festival, the last year the Grangers occupied their building on Union.

Eckles quickly corrected her, saying, "it was 360. I enjoyed doing that," she added. "I wish I could continue doing that."

Despite her deteriorating health, Eckles continued to serve as treasurer of the farming fraternity, and to make lap quilts for the poor, another Grange activity. Eckles also donated her services, along with other Grangers, to the Michigan School for the Deaf in Flint.

"The Grange was important to her," said Strebbing, who called Eckles "her guiding star. Helen thought more of everyone else than she did of herself. Plymouth was number one to Helen, especially the Plymouth Grange."

Strebbing is establishing a Plymouth Grange educational fund in Eckles' name.

Dr. Charles Fisher seeks help in clearing name

By M.B. Dillon
Staff Writer

Charles Fisher is seeking help from the public in preparing for his upcoming retrial in connection with the 1984 murder of his wife, Ella Maria Mercado.

In a letter from the Saginaw Regional Correctional Facility, Fisher, who lived on Thornwood in Canton, said he'd appreciate anyone with information surrounding the homicide to come forward.

"My wife and I were the victims of a crime 10 years ago, in 1984," wrote Fisher. "Unfortunately, after a number of years, I was convicted on strictly circumstantial evidence and innuendo. After 10 years, trying to find evidence is almost impossible. I know some people were questioned, and I feel sure that someone has information critical to my case.

"The fact that they were questioned or read about it may have made them remember things they saw even to this day. I desperately want a fair hearing this time. That is all I have ever asked."

Fisher said he would provide both "a toll-free number or something of that type and an assurance of confidentiality."

Fisher was convicted in early June on one of two charges in connection with claims he tried to pay a prison inmate to confess to the murder. A jury of five men and seven women found Fisher guilty on one count of inciting perjury, a five-year felony. The jury found Fisher not guilty on one count of attempted obstruction of justice, a two and a half year felony.

Ella Maria Mercado Fisher, a nurse, was asphyxiated with duct tape in the living room of the Fisher home. Charles Fisher claims an intruder killed his wife.

A microbiologist, Fisher is hopeful his request will reach individuals who may know something. "Many people have moved away, so this is an attempt to have people mention it to them also," he wrote.

Fisher is considering circulating a flier "in an area from Ford Road to Ann Arbor Trail, and from Beck or Ridge Road to Napier or just beyond. That is the only area we are interested in, and it would be more likely to be seen and read.

"It is a fishing expedition that may yield nothing, but it could also clear me totally."

The Fishers' Thornwood residence was north of Warren and east of Napier.

Two juries found Fisher guilty of first-degree murder in his wife's death. The first trial was ruled in error based on a comment made by a prosecutor. In late 1991, the Michigan Supreme Court reversed a second conviction, ruling that a diary kept by Mercado should not have been admitted into evidence.

Fisher testified that his wife was ambushed by robbers, who wrapped her face with duct tape and left her for dead. Fisher said he was gagged and bound by the intruders. After he regained consciousness, he said he was able to free himself and attempted without success to revive his wife.

and General Drive in Plymouth Township.

The men were each presented with an inscribed plaque recognizing their heroism, by township Police Chief Carl Berry and Fire Chief Larry Groth.

Just seconds after the four occupants were pulled from the plane, two small gas explosions filled the cockpit with fire.

Pilot Larry Gillelan died from a blow to the chest in the crash, which occurred when the plane's engine shut off shortly after take-off from Mettetal Airport.

Surviving the crash were his wife, Pat Gillelan of Plymouth Township, and Lloyd and Delores Cochran of Ypsilanti.

"Our thoughts will include a fifth hero, pilot Larry Gillelan, who saved the lives of his three passengers by expertly guiding his disabled plane to a successful touchdown," Kennedy said.

Attending the ceremony were Perry, Enders and Pyda. Each took a turn telling the audience what happened.

"When it hit the ground flames were everywhere," said Perry.

"My first instinct was to get some help; I said, 'No, I'll go over there right now.'"

Perry was able to drag pilot Larry Gillelan from the plane and administered cardiopulmonary resuscitation, but his injuries were too extensive.

Enders said that after he grabbed one of the passengers, "I started running; I turned and could see the cockpit full of flames."

Pyda told the crowd, "This is not just about us; it's just about a human being helping somebody else out."

Pyda and Perry were treated for smoke inhalation after the rescue.

"We'll just be eternally grateful to them," Lloyd Cochran said. "If it hadn't been for them, some of these people would have been burned alive in the airplane."

The survivors, who were treated and released from the hospital following the crash, took turns after the presentation to hug the men who helped them to safety.

draw interested spectators into the hobby. So far, their efforts have been successful. Although national interest in model aircrafting is on the decline, it seems to be popular in the Plymouth and Canton area, according to Eisenberg, citing the over 200 area residents belonging to the Flying Pilgrims.

favor of it or against it, but it's going to pass anyway. I was very offended with the way this was worded. We're basically told this will happen in December."

It would be nice if the township ran more like a household and did without some things, he said.

John Spencer, the township's chief financial officer, said the millage rates are required to balance the 1995 budget.

"The fire and police fund are supported almost entirely by the special assessment millages that were approved by the voters in 1976 and 1977. These millage rates were reduced in 1988, 1989 and 1990 and have remained the same since 1990," he said.

Currently, Canton's charter millage is 1.11, its fire special assessment millage 2.94 and police special assessment millage 4.96 for a total of 9.01 mills. The proposed increases would see the fire millage go up by .15 and the police millage by .19. The .34-mill increase would bring the total levy to 9.35 mills.

John Santomauro, Canton director of public safety, said Canton determines its staffing levels "using a mathematical formula based on service residents want."

The proposed increase is based on projected salary increases and also the request of three additional personnel for 1995, he said.

"As the number of officers assigned to patrol increases due to increased demands for service, the number of cases requiring additional investigation by detectives also increases," Santomauro said.

A comparison with like communities shows Canton has one of the lowest ratios of command officers to patrol officers in metro Detroit, he said, adding that 84 percent of the work force is on the street at any given time. The vast majority of police overtime is incurred in court, Santomauro said.

Robbery nets 1-year jail term

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

A Canton Township man will spend a year in jail because he robbed a Westland pizza delivery worker of $14.

Andrew Glen Jamerson, who robbed the employee after being told he couldn't pay for an order with a personal check, also has been ordered to receive substance-abuse treatment. He was drunk during the July 31 robbery, police said.

Jamerson, 24, received the one-year jail term when he was sentenced Sept. 9 by Detroit Recorder's Judge Michael Sapala, a court clerk said. He could have been sent to prison for a maximum of 15 years.

Jamerson, a restaurant employee and father of one, also has been ordered by Sapala to receive substance-abuse treatment.

The robbery occurred in the 6100 block of Wildwood, following a series of events that began at 8:20 p.m. at Domino's Pizza, 6030 N. Wayne Road. Employees refused to accept a personal check for a walk-in order because Jamerson didn't have proper identification, police said.

Jamerson, accompanied by a male friend, left the pizzeria but then placed an order by phone, Westland Detective Sgt. Marc Stobbe said. When a 19-year-old delivery employee took the pizza to the Wildwood address, Jamerson again tried to pay for the $14.20 order with a $32.75 check, police said.

The worker refused him and walked away, but Jamerson followed him and asked for change for a $20, Stobbe said. The employee started to provide change when Jamerson hit him in the mouth and grabbed his money, which totaled $14, police said.

Jamerson's friend wasn't charged.

Shortly after the robbery, police spotted a suspect in a strip mall parking lot at Wayne Road and Hunter. Police took him to the pizzeria, where he was identified by the victim, Stobbe said.

No money was found on Jamerson, who confessed to police and signed a statement saying he committed the robbery, Stobbe said.

Defense attorney Robert Simmons said during an Aug. 11 court hearing that Jamerson was drunk when the robbery occurred and was "acting kind of out of context."

But assistant Wayne County prosecutor Thomas Trzcinski argued that Jamerson had a criminal history that includes two burglary convictions in Texas, in 1989 and in 1991. Jamerson also is known to have used several aliases and has given conflicting birthdates to authorities, Trzcinski said.

New Mexico artist visits area

Native West will present "Sculpture" by Brian Begay 7-10 p.m. Friday, Sept. 30, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 1, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 2.

As the Navajo people have expanded their creative talents, the art of carving alabaster sculptures has given these artists a new way of expressing themselves.

Begay is one of these artists who is voicing his creativity in this new medium. He is from Shiprock, N.M.

Begay's sculptures are very detailed. Because of this, he primarily uses alabaster from Utah. This type of alabaster is a harder medium and allows him to work with such detail. Having the means of transporting such material is one of the reasons why this never became a traditional form of art.

Begay was influenced by his uncle, Alvin Marshall, who has won numerous awards for his sculpting.

Madonna students are headed for 3-month study in England

Britain bound: Joell Nodge and Amy Howell, Madonna University students, are one their way to study in England for the fall semester.

Madonna University students Amy Howell and Joell Nodge will swap familiar territory on the Livonia campus for study in Great Britain this fall.

Through the Center for International Studies, which promotes exchanges for Madonna students and faculty, the two are headed for Edge Hill College in England.

"After traveling to eight countries last year, I decided to check into the international study programs in which Madonna is involved," said Howell. "I was delighted to learn of an exchange program with Edge Hill in England, one place I did not get to visit."

Both students feel that being a part of another country's culture even if just for three months will be a tremendous learning opportunity.

"Because of the close proximity of countries in Europe, colleges and universities have a large number of international students. American students who study in Europe have the advantage of meeting faculty and students with different backgrounds, standards, goals and principles," said Dr. J. Albert Bailey, director of the CIS and a Madonna history professor.

Nodge hopes to teach some day and is looking forward to learning the education system of another country.

"Since I'm an English major, one of the courses I'll be taking at Edge Hill is English literature," she said. "I think it will be far more meaningful especially since I will personally be able to visit many of the places with which, through my studies, I've become fascinated."

As a sociology major, Howell plans to take sociology courses in England "to see how the sociological perspective differs over there, if at all."

To assist them financially, the students received support from the Financial Aid for Travel and Education (FATE) program recently established at Madonna.

These awards range from $350 to $500 and are designed to help defer some of the travel costs associated with overseas study. They may also be applied to domestic travel related to a student's course of study. Students must apply and are selected by committee.

"I think new experiences are adventurous, and tend to help anyone view things a little differently," said Howell. "I realized upon my return last year that even in my hometown there were things I hadn't seen, and now I try not to take things for granted."

County board removes 1 mill for environment

By Mary Rodrique
Staff Writer

Wayne County voters will be spared at least one request for more tax dollars when they head to the polls Nov. 8.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners voted unanimously Thursday to scrap a 1 mill request for county parks maintenance and environmental cleanup because the ballot wording was misleading and not in accordance with state truth in taxation law.

If it passed, the mill would have generated about $29 million a year for 20 years. But that information was left off the ballot proposal.

"The election commission gave us 24 hours to adopt corrective language; we moved to rescind (the proposal)," said Wayne County Commissioner Bryan Amann, a Wayne Democrat whose district includes Canton Township.

"The environmental language was in question."

Amann and other commissioners said they felt pressured by a recent effort to speed the ballot certification process, supposedly to allow time for military personnel overseas to vote by absentee ballot. In the past, commissioners had until the end of September to finetune ballot language.

"Caught with a legal mistake, they did the only thing they could do," said Mike Duggan, deputy county executive.

Duggan said his office would not launch a similar proposal for parks and the environment in the forseeable future.

The millage request was a thorn in the side of western Wayne County commissioners since its hasty inception a few weeks ago.

Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, was especially vocal about his opposition, citing less than 50 percent return on his constituents investment had the proposal passed.

"I'm very pleased this issue is off the ballot," McCotter said Thursday. "I would never support it."

McCotter was in the minority of commissioners who voted to keep the proposal off the ballot when it was introduced Aug. 26.

Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, who also represents Redford Township, says the ballot proposal "came in so rushed" that it's no surprise it died the same way.

Amann called it a prime example of "haste makes waste."

"The (county) executive staff brought it to us at the last minute," Plawecki said. "It was very poorly organized on the executive side.

"The parks division is the most underfunded. That (proposal) could be brought back. But the environmental clean up is so controversial and so in-depth. How do you prioritize? How do you clean up? It's so vague.

"Voters deserve to have a healthy ballot proposal in front of them, that's the bottom line," Plawecki said. "This was not well thought out."

POINTS OF VIEW

Here's a wish list for all involved with education

Q: What are some wishes you have for the 1994 school year?

A: Following are some of the 1994 school year wishes I have for those in education or those impacted by education.

■ As a Board of Education member, I will daily remind myself that I am to be an advocate for children not a representative of any single issue group.

■ As a budding principal, I will remind myself that I am to be a facilitator for learning, not just a building manager more concerned with the daily lunch money count, etc. than the education of children.

■ As a parent, I will attend all teacher/parent conferences even if it means missing a golf match or a night on the bowling lanes.

■ As a teacher, I will remind myself that the most difficult children in my class are still the parent's most precious possession. That I'll work to reach all children tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow.

■ As a central office curriculum leader, I will remind myself that every time a new program is added some other programs should be compacted, downsized or reduced so that teachers don't "freak out" under a "curriculum overload."

■ As a Superintendent of Schools, I promise to say, "I'm getting out of this job" only 30 times in 1994.

■ As an Assistant Superintendent for Instruction, I vow to not jump on the "band wagon" for every new program that makes the scene because of some supposedly new "theory" that probably been around for years but just given a new title.

DOC DOYLE

■ As a parent of a high school student who is getting C's and D's, I promise I will check with his teachers when he/she says my teacher doesn't give homework.

■ As a teacher union leader, I promise to consider my professional obligation to children, parents and education as much as I recognize my responsibility to improving the working condition for my members.

■ In 1994 all educators agree to count the number of positive newspaper column inches given to their district's programs over a given school year. That they note those positive newspaper column inches for children's school plays, musicals, sports and honors programs far exceeds the number of column inches given to addressing some controversial issue of timely concern.

■ As a parent, I will recognize that board of education members invest an enormous amount of time, thought and energy for the welfare of children and education in the community . . . for literally no pay.

■ An a educational columnist, I, Doc Doyle, vow not to assume I have all the answers but hope to continue writing from a balanced view . . . And let all those in or impacted by our educational system vow that our decisions will always be made based on what is in the best interest of our children . . . our future and our most precious possession.

LETTERS

Adopt-a-Road effective

I was surprised to see your Aug. 18 editorial criticizing the Adopt-A-Road program, recently started in Wayne County. What surprised me about the criticism was the timing. Similar programs have been operating throughout the state of Michigan — in fact, the country — for years, to great reviews and with positive results. Not to mention the fact that in 1989 the Observer & Eccentric ran an editorial supporting the state's Adopt-A-Freeway concept.

Nonetheless, I will try to answer the questions you posed in your more recent editorial.

Why do we want volunteers to clean roadsides? The more accurate question might be, why do they want us? The idea for Wayne County's Adopt-A-Road program came from residents who had approached our roads division, looking for opportunities to volunteer. The thousands of people around the state who have participated in these types of programs recognize that picking up litter is a community issue — not a government responsibility.

Your second question asked, "Isn't that what we pay taxes for?" Yes and no. You do pay taxes for government to fix roads and mow roadsides, and we should be expected to do so. But recent M-DOT numbers show the cost of litter pick up by the state alone to be about $5.5 million a year. It is our belief that the money saved by not picking up litter can be used as it is intended — to fix roads.

Lastly, you ask if your taxes will be reduced if there is enough participation in the program. Since Michigan already ranks last in the nation in the amount it invests in fixing its roads and bridges, we need every available resource. Road taxes will not be reduced as a result of litter pick-tip programs. It is important to point out here that the money used for all road work is collected through gas taxes and motor vehicle registration. It is a user fee. The more you use the roads, the more you put back into them. No property taxes are used to fund county road work.

Finally, I hope the Observer will look again at the spirit of the Adopt-A-Road program. Ultimately, it is our hope that the Adopt-A-Road program will foster the same kind of public concern for roads as the Rouge Rescue has done for the Rouge River. We feel that government and taxpayers are at their best when they are working with, not against, each other.

Expecting government to do everything just encourages more government. And government thinking it must do everything causes it to lose site of why it exists: to provide services that can't be performed or funded within the community framework. Adopt-A-Road is a small, but effective, tool in forging a lasting government/citizen partnership that benefits the community and the environment.

If anyone, including the Observer newspaper, is interested in adopting one mile of Wayne County road, please call 942-9920.

Russell Gronevelt,
Director of Public Services

Voters ignored

I saw a bumper sticker the other day. It said "I love my country but fear my government."

I didn't used to agree with that, but after I saw what happened to the proposed auto insurance reform, I may. I mean in 1992 we, the people of Michigan defeated the flimsy auto insurance reform ballot proposal.

It asked us to pay temporarily lower premiums for permanently fewer benefits. And after six short months, insurance companies could and would raise their rates back, ensuring that they maintained their status as the most profitable auto-inurance companies in the nation.

So we defeated it in 1992, right? Well, apparently, we have to talk to our government the way we talk to pets — repeating the simple command of "No!"

Soon after, the Legislature tried to pass an almost identical reform, further restricting the medical care of the 1.1 million uninsured in Michigan, not to mention the underinsured. But lawmakers were going to do what the insurance lobbyists asked, even though we clearly told them what we wanted (democracy is the will of the people?)

Fortunately, accident survivor organizations, consumer groups, and, yes, trial lawyers, banded together and gathered enough petition signatures to put this issue on the ballot — again.

But beware, insurance companies are going to spend millions of your premium dollars on advertisements trying to paint this as a needless lawsuit issue, but that is a small part of the picture. Unfortunately, lawyers are the only ones with the financial means to tell the people the other side of the story (I can only afford to write letters to the editor).

And beware: They are going to try to paint this as a partisan issue. But if passed, this proposal will put into the state constitution mandated limits on medical care benefits for all. It would take a vote by ⅔ of Congress to change any mistake that we make, and how likely is that?

Jennifer Zaft, Detroit

"I LIVED IN FEAR"

"Most of the time I lived in fear. I was afraid to drive on freeways, ride in elevators and never went out at night. I tried all the regular methods to help me overcome this problem but nothing worked. My first visit with Leslie Miller was so productive.

The program was successful and now I can go everywhere and do everything. Thank you for saving my life."

LINDA BACHRACK

At last! Couture for larger sizes

Ten years ago, women who sought plus-size fashions were offered little more than a tiny selection of matronly, budget-priced poly pull-ons hidden in obscure corners of a few department stores. The choices were nil and the styles, dismal.

But in 1983, Llama was organized. The Large Ladies Apparel Merchandising Associates Group helped to revolutionize the industry and to communicate the needs of full-figured women to the country's top fashion designers.

Today, women who wear size 16-plus select trend-setting fashion forward clothing from the collections of Elisabeth (a Liz Claiborne company), Ellen Tracy, Dana Buchman, Andrea Jovine, Jones New York, Tomatsu and Carole Little. Department stores, like Hudson's and Saks Fifth Avenue, are making space for this previously overlooked market. Pictured is an emerald V-neck blazer, skirt and silk shell by Jones New York at Hudson's. "If we provide a good selection of sophisticated, comfortable fashion for this discriminating customer, she will come to us," says Doreen Carstens, manager of Elisabeth at Twelve Oaks Mall, Novi. "Our customers are competent, active women who want a professional look and expect the same quality, details and colors that are available in a size 4," she adds.

New proportions

Elisabeth was one of the first companies to offer "large-size petites." This growing segment of the market proportions its silhouettes for shorter women. "The clothing is scaled down," says Carstens. "The shoulders are narrower and the sleeves, shorter."

Carstens sees a trend toward more feminine, romantic dressing for fall and the holiday season. Soft tunics over fluid pants are great for entertaining, while silk and wool-knit dresses augment the more tailored suits for day.

Doeskin suede shirt-jackets in caramel, wine, rust and wheat ($98) coordinate with a rich leaf-patterned rayon challis shirt ($68) and corduroy pants ($58) for cool autumn days. A simple black knitsheath with a jeweled V-neck and cuffs ($158) takes you out to dinner and the theatre, while soft washed silks combine paisleys and solid colors in skirts, pants and tunics for the office or the committee meeting ($108-$115). In addition, Elisabeth offers a complete line of accessories and shoes.

Perfect fit

At Valentina in Applegate Square, Southfield, the attentive customer service extends to custom-made clothing and custom fitting. Local designer Cynthia DeWolfe of Farmington Hills is nationally known for developing a highly specialized look for individual clients. Valentina presented her fall line at a recent fashion show and the room was abuzz with comments from her dedicated clientele.

"Cynthia's fit makes me feel good and confident," raved Maureen Carey, a global sales representative for AT&T. "Her clothes move with me." Maureen continued to praise DeWolfe's timeless designs and luxe fabrications.

Valentine's customers appreciate the opportunity to acquire a hand-made, hand-finished suit in wool gabardine or crepe, silk tweeds and silk linens. For fall, DeWolfe offers softer suit silhouettes with straight or flared jackets and raglan or dolman sleeves. Shawl collars, buttonless cardigans and swing jackets are part of the collection. She often dresses her suits and coats with antique buttons, jet beads and pearls. Pictured is a four-button notch-collar jacket with set-in sleeve, French cuffs and four gore skirt. Ethan Allen opens shop at Twelve Oaks

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO

Creating a full-service furniture/design showroom within a store at the mall is a new idea for the country's oldest home furnishing manufacturer, Ethan Allen.

But "the chance to reach a new generation of Ethan Allen customers," through their shopping trips to Twelve Oaks mall, was a chance too good to pass up, according to M. Farooq Kathwari, chairman and president of Ethan Allen. The population boom expected along the corridors from Novi to Ann Arbor and Lansing makes the regional mall location a very smart business decision.

The 4,500-square-foot mall store complements five other Ethan Allen showrooms in Michigan in Livonia, Utica, Ann Arbor, Grand Blanc and Lansing. It features lamps, pillows and other decorating accessories to buy and take-with you, as well as the services of interior designers who can help customers place larger orders for home delivery.

The store has natural wood floors, lots of visibilty through the glass walls that encompass the entrance, and coordinated room vignettes and accessory groupings that catch many a shopper's eye.

"I just had to stop in and see what they have to offer," said Jennie Laurence of Farmington Hills. "I'm always looking for home accessories because a new toss pillow or a new candlestick is an inexpensive way to change a room, and it keeps life interesting."

The Ethan Allen store at Twelve Oaks mall features the company's new, contemporary Radius Collection, as well as pieces from the Concept 6 Home Theater, and Office@Home Collections. Each is merchandised in a distinctive area of the store.

Store manager Kevin Dowd said the store carries the company's four home style categories — Casual Contemporary, American Country, Classic Elegance and Formal. For a limited time, new customers who open a charge card through Ethan Allen's Easier Payment Plan, will receive a free gift. The mall store offers complimentary home delivery in the local area.

Neiman's Holiday Book is a story all by itself

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

When the Neiman Marcus Christmas Book comes out, can the holidays be far behind?

There are 95 shopping days until December 25 — 69 days until Hanukkah. And while many shoppers savor the excitement of shopping during the season, others plan early and start socking away gift purchases now.

Trendy, toney Neiman Marcus truly sets the standards with gifts like an electric gondola $7,400; a kilo of Beluga caviar $1,680; a New Year's Eve in Buenos Aires, $5,995; and a 300-gallon aquarium inside a 5-foot tall acrylic elephant sculpture with gold leaf tusks and toes $120,000. (The filter pump and electrical hookups are concealed in a gold-leafed house that sits atop the pachyderm's back adding another five-feet to the sculpture — and that's a lot of wrapping paper, baby.)

The most expensive item is a $200,000 18-karat gold teddy bear who sits perched on a turret 6¼ inches high, studded with 200 diamonds, two sapphires, 36 rubies and 20 emeralds.

MALLS & MAINSTREETS

"And that's exactly the way we want it," insisted Bernie Moray, Gorman's president. "This is a store for the year 2000. Gorman's brings the cutting edge, the latest concepts in the furniture industry right here to metro Detroit. Come in and play. Imagine the possibilities in putting together your own home's spaces."

Gone are the back-of-the-shop cubicles where interior designers are usually found in furniture stores amid huge, clumsy fabric books and stale coffee. Gone are the showroom walls that separate furniture collections in rigid, period-piece vignettes. Gone are the dark colors and dim lighting that cast a somber tone on the serious act of shopping for home furniture.

This 50,000-square-foot concept store is the first of its kind in the nation. It features gigantic windows for lots of natural light, moveable architectural elements that guide a shopper through a wide-open floor plan, columned pathways, floor-to-ceiling wood samples, information super graphics, inspiring wall texts, a Great Wall of Chairs, and a central Design Center that is backed by a wall of 1,300 fabric samples that can be perused in one sweeping glance.

And if that's not enough, a mini kitchen in the center of the store has an oven to bake fresh cookies for shoppers as they sit at custom made work tables and counters to plan their home interiors with or without the help of a staff designer. Fresh coffee with real cream from the nearby refrigerator completes the cozy setting, reaffirming German's belief that this store will serve the consumer of the '90s and beyond.

Gorman's new store is the creation of Drexel Heritage working with the international store image and design firm, Cato Gobe, to change the way consumers shop for home furnishings. Its features and design elements were based on a six-month study of furniture shoppers across the nation who discussed their needs and opinions about shopping for home furnishings in focus groups monitored by Drexel Heritage officials. Gorman's purchase of the former Dobbs Furniture building at the southeast corner of Twelve Mile and Novi Roads provided the company with the ideal spot and burgeoning population demographics to test their new prototype.

Will Sharp, marketing director for Drexel Heritage, which is now owned by Taylor-based Masco Corporation, said the store gives shoppers "the tools they need to make decisions for homes that suit their individual lifestyles and dreams."

"We hope the store inspires you to do something in your own home," he said. We hope shoppers get the message that Drexel Heritage has the tradition if you want it, but also the relaxed, less formal styles if that's your lifestyle. We have a whole, new twist to our furnishings and we're presenting them in this unique, surprising, and very comfortable store. Hopefully, one you'll stop into frequently, because it will always have something new to inspire you."

Sharp said customers can come, look around and say, "I like that style, but I want that finish and I need it this big," and have custom cabinets for electronics and home entertainment equipment. Customers can also grab fabrics samples from the design wall and carry them around the showroom to drape over different couches and chairs. If they select a chair frame, ceiling high wood panels show off the various finishes in samples large enough to truly reveal the finish's properties.

Designer Susan Nicolson of Cato Gobe, explained that the new Gorman's Drexel Heritage store offers a very sensory-oriented shopping experience. By combining the scent of fresh-baked cookies, the airiness of the store's sunlight windows, the rough and smooth feel of the furniture textures, the shopper experiences the merchandise for themselves and can consider it for their own needs.

"Consumers today decorate their homes very differently than in the past," she said. "There is greater individuality coming through as they mix and match their grandmother's couch with something they bought from Drexel Heritage with something they refinished from a garage sale. It's as much about the cost of home furnishings as it is about lifestyle. So in this store, we've eliminated the walls, created a dynamic environment and broke up collections to inspire new ways to put a room together."

Marie Kush of West Bloomfield stopped into the store for the first time, seeing the sign from the road.

"The store is so light and airy," she said. "I've just started shopping for a bedroom dresser and it's obvious to me that this store has high quality furniture. It's very nice to shop here."

De-mystifying the home decorating process is what it's all about at the new Gorman's. And that goes for pricetags, too, according to Moray. He said anyone shopping for a couch expects to pay at least $800. Gorman's has Drexel Heritage couches that start at $799 and run up to $2,500. Chairs range between $399 to $1,499. Dining tables $799 to $3,000. Entertainment centers $2,000-$6,000.

Grman's was founded in 1940 and has six other locations: the Southfield Contemporary Gallery, Southfield Clearance Center, Troy, Dearborn and Grand Rapids. Earlier this year, Moray, was named 1994 Retailer of the Year by the National Home Furnishings Association. Through the years German's has raised more than $1 million dollars for local charities. Through his new-concept Novi store Moray remains an avid spokesman for the industry and a leader among his competition.

Gorman's Novi store is the only furniture store in the U.S. to carry Drexel Heritage's new Collector's Mahogany Line. Other styles include French, European and American Country; 18th Century Traditional; and Transitional which approaches Contemporary. Ninety-five percent of Drexel Heritage's products are made in North Carolina of solid wood construction for all structural parts. Five-ply veneers and finishes enhance natural wood grain and improve durability.

The store's grand opening will be Wednesday, Sept. 21, 7-10 p.m. a benefit to fund the continuation of HAVEN'S Novi office. Tickets are $50 and will include refreshments and food samples donated by area chefs, a piano serenade, a showing of the priceless Masco Art Collection (which includes paintings, western sculptures and Native American artifacts) funspirited consultations with psychics, palm and tarot card readers, and a drawing for a $10,000 dream room of furnishings. Tickets at the door, or in advance by calling (313) 832-2210.

Mall manager Philip Morosco said it's no surprise that Ethan Allen wanted to be part of Twelve Oaks mall since the shopping center serves as the heart of several surrounding communities and their fast-growing outskirts.

In the immediate area around Twelve Oaks mall, there are now nine home furnishings stores: Eddie Bauer for the Home, This End Up, The Bombay Company (all in the mall) Gorman's, Newton's, Lazy Boy, Scott Scuptrine, Art Van furniture, and Baby N' Teens furniture.

The bear holds a quartz pocket watch that chimes every hour. "Westminster Bear" was created by British jeweler Jonathan Ralston who spent 850 hours to make it.

Of course, you can leave it to the press to hype up the N.M.C.B. According to spokespeople at Neiman Marcus, in the 1960s, Edward R. Morrow and his assistant Walter Cronkite would call Stanley Marcus directly every September to get the scoop on what the His and Hers gifts in the catalog would be. The first His and Hers gift was the brainstorm of Marcus and his brother Stanley. In 1959, they came up with the idea of offering a Black Angus steer, delivered on the hoof or in steaks, complete with a silver-plated outdoor cooker. How very Dallas.

This year the N.M.C.B.'s His and Hers gift is a pair of Bellaqua Breathing Observation Bubbles, (aka BOB'S) which allows passengers to cruise through underwater depths up to 40-feet in an upright, seated position with an attached Plexiglass Bubble dome supplying a constant airflow around the rider's head and shoulders $7,500. BOB can be equipped with an optional built-in communication system for use between BOBs for $1,500. His comes in bright yellow, Hers in perky pink. How very Palm Beach.

The more conventional gifts include men's and woman's apparel, jewelry, leather goods, children's wear and toys. The "$25 and Under Pages" feature faux fur cuffed slipper socks, snakeskin coin purses, silk-covered eyeglass cases, and a Neiman Marcus tote bag to take to the market.

But for some, the catalog itself is the treasure. Two office workers in Troy, who begged to remain anonymous, said they wait for the catalog to arrive in their boss's mailbox each September. They remove it for a day or two so they can enjoy the extravagance and whimsy of the big ticket items during coffee breaks.

"Of course, we put it back when we've had enough," one joked. "On our salaries it's just one big wish book. But it's fun."

CHEF LARRY JANES

Bid summer farewell with flavorful scallops

Scallops symbolize indulgence to anyone within reach of the North Atlantic. Creamy and almost translucent, scallops offer the most complex flavors and enjoyable textures of any mollusk. They have been praised since the Middle Ages, but at no time has the scallop been more in demand than it is today.

Nor has it ever been cooked with more care, knowledge, or ingenuity. Any restaurant with an educated kitchen staff knows that scallops should be simply pan seared or grilled for no more than a few minutes. They can hold their own in anything from a simple tomato sauce to a scathing curry.

I can remember days gone by when a scallop wasn't really a scallop, but instead possibly a chopped up version of manta ray. Fortunately, with truth in advertising, and a good relationship with my local fish monger, scallops are as easy to come by as any other fish or shellfish.

Bay scallops

Notice the generic term "scallops." There are big differences. But when you get to the fish market dreaming about that rich taste you enjoyed on a summer vacation in Nantucket last year, you inadvertently notice the signage declaring these scallops are sea worthy, and not the bays you had hoped for. Are bay scallops really better than sea scallops?

Bay scallops are in very limited supply and have a tendency to be somewhat expensive. Real bay scallops are cork shaped and average about 60-75 per pound and have a distinct nuttiness. They are generally considered the sweetest, richest and most flavorful scallops. The fishing boundary for this scallop is primarily the area around Nantucket. My sources in the fishing world inform me that if you're lucky enough to find real bay scallops under $12 per pound, they're not the real bays, but calicos, a second cousin twice removed, to the real bay scallop.

Sea scallops

What you see on a restaurant menu here in metro Detroit probably would be considered sea scallops that average about 10-30 per pound. The lesser quality (and price) scallops hail from the warmer waters off Labrador and all the way up to the mid-Atlantic. The better quality sea scallops come from colder waters off New England and southern Canada. Unlike their bay cousins, these scallops are more briney, tender, have a lighter, slightly sweeter taste, and are generally available year round.

My sources indicate that anything under $6 per pound is from warmer waters while you can still get a good quality cold water scallop in the $9 per pound range.

Then we have the calico scallop or what we are probably used to in our region. The scallops you see on special for $4.99 per pound are probably calico scallops. Unfortunately, because they are even smaller than bay scallops and average anywhere from 150-200 per pound, their diminutive size makes them an easy candidate to overcook, which in turn, makes them tough, chewy and even more unfortunately, tasteless. If you see or hear the term "southern bays" realize that these scallops hail from the warm waters off Florida and the Gulf of Mexico. Don't waste your time or your money an these creatures which in this writer's opinion, have never had their sea legs.

When you buy scallops and the purveyor scoops them into those sterile white cottage cheese container cups, ask for a sniff before the lid goes on. As with any fresh fish or shellfish, good scallops do not have a fishy, foul or strong odor. They should indeed smell fresh, watery with a hint of brininess. They should be used as soon as possible, and never stored in their airtight container but instead be allowed to breathe uncovered, lingering in their sweet juices in a crisper drawer in the refrigerator.

There's still plenty of time to grill a good batch of scallops but remember they cook fast and should be basted almost constantly with anything from butter to oil to white wine to a good fish stock. After piquing my interests with the seviche, I couldn't wait to rush out and purchase some good sea scallops, lightly dust them with flour, heat a tablespoon of butter and oil in a good frypan with a hint of garlic and just sear them into oblivion in a matter of 2-3 minutes.

It's time for apples, cider & doughnuts

As the leaves change from green to shades of red, orange and yellow, families everywhere prepare to make their annual fall pilgrimage to apple orchards and cider mills. Michigan is one of the top apple producers in the country.

BY RENEE SKOGLUND
SPECIAL WRITER

The average apple has 80 calories. Tuck it into a nice bed of pastry, and you have a whopping 450! But harvest time isn't calorie-counting time, as local orchards and cider mills are dishing up a fall menu that features honey, cider, doughnuts and lots of juicy apples.

Franklin Cider Mill on the corner of Franklin and 14 Mile Road in Franklin carries almost 50 different varieties of apples during the season, including the less commercially known Red Free, Ginger Gold, Golden Spy and Graham Spy.

The Graham Spy left my lips a pleasant pucker, a sure sign it would make great pies. The Ginger Gold was exceptional - crisp, juicy, and sweet, with a slight spicy bite. But old standbys have their dedicated following.

"Everyone's favorite is the MacIntosh," said Susan Perry, the mill's manager. Perry beds down her Macs in a crust made with Franklin's own cider vinegar. "It's the best pie crust you'll ever have because of the vinegar. It makes it flakier."

Originally build as a grist mill in 1837, the Franklin Cider Mill has been producing great cider since the 1890s. "When we make cider here, it tastes different every day because of the blend of apples. The sweetest cider is at the end of the season. The cider is best in November, and we're very picky about the apples we use. All are hand-picked. Absolutely no drops," said Perry (Drops are apples that have fallen to the ground).

Early in the season, fresh cider can be stored in the refrigerator three to five days. Later, it will last seven to 10 days. It freezes indefinitely, and once thawed it will last two to three weeks.

Frank Rea, a Birmingham retiree, thought the doughnuts at the Franklin Cider Mill were perfect. "They're heavenly, just delightful," he said. "Also their cider and apples." At heart, Rea is an apple-loving man who uses Macs, Romes, and Ida Reds for his famous "spiral cut" apple pie. While he gestured with his hands and searched for words to describe how he makes his pie, his wife, Ida (yes, just like the apple!), intervened. "They're really beautiful. All the apples are stacked. He makes seven or eight at a time," she said.

Apple trees cover 55 of the 100 acres that make up Plymouth Orchards and Cider Mill on Warren Road, just west of Napier Road in Plymouth Township. Owner Mary Emmett harvests nine varieties: Paula Red, McIntosh, Jonamac, Empire, Rome, Northern Spy, Jonathan, Red Delicious and Golden Delicious. "Once they come in, people just bee-line to the Jonathans," she said of her customers' apple preference.

Michigander prospering in Napa Valley

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

What do you discover when you drive into the mountains overlooking St. Helena in the center of the Napa Valley? Can you believe it? - A Yooper and his family making wine!

Escanaba, Mich., native Gus Anderson, his wife Phyllis, their son Todd and his wife Dana founded Andersons' Conn Valley Vineyards in 1983. The multi-talented Gus, who serves as winemaker, vineyardist and jack-of-all trades, was for 35 years a successful orthodontist.

"In Michigan, my family was always involved in some type of farming," he said. "I believe that's where I gained an appreciation and love for agriculture. Ninety percent of my efforts are in the vineyard."

It was more than appreciation because in 1981, Gus retired from orthodonic practice and enrolled in the University of California at Davis in the Viticulture and Enology master's program. He and Phyllis searched the California wine regions looking for suitable vineyard property. After extensive negotiations, they were able to purchase a 40-acre parcel in Conn Valley and give birth to their agricultural, vineyard and winery dreams.

Conn Valley is not exactly a household location even to the most savvy California wine drinker. It is situated where Conn Creek flows out of Howell Mountain on the east side of the Napa Valley. Conn Valley is separated from the Napa Valley floor by a ridge running north and south. The well-known Heitz Wine Cellars and Joseph Phelps Vineyards are on the west side of the ridge while the Andersons' property is on the east.

Unusual for a mountain site at about 400-feet elevation, the soils are deep gravelly clay loam, similar to the Rutherford area along the Napa Valley floor. Vines tend to be too vigorous in such soils and must be carefully trained in order to produce a balanced crop. The Andersons have done this for their cabernet sauvignon, the principal grape varietal planted. Not wishing to place all their grapes in one basket, they have planted multiple clonal selections of cabernet to maximize blending opportunities.

Once vines are mature, they go unirrigated, a common practice on mountain sites, that develops small berries with complex flavors. The first vintage for Conn Valley Vineyards was 1987 when 487 cases were produced. Current production is about 4,500 cases, but the potential exists for growth to 7,000-9,000 cases.

Emmett processes about 12,000 bushels of apples a season, with much of the yield going into cider. "Your October cider is the best," she said. "Once you get your Macs in then you add the sweetness. Each variety adds flavor to the cider. The Macs give body and sweetness. The Jonathans give a tangy flavor. The Red and Gold Delicious are really sweet. It's a good blend, nice and robust."

There's an old saying among apple growers that goes, "You can take the girl out of the orchard, but you can't take the orchard out of the girl." Emmett knows it's true. By request, she recently shipped a box of apples to her daughter Jody, a sophomore at the University of Colorado. Emmett's other daughter, Kelly, 17, a senior at Plymouth Canton High School, seldom gets to leave the orchard during cider season. She's the resident caramel apple-maker, and one busy Sunday she produced a record 1,200 of the gooey delights. "It was pretty intense," she said.

Kevin Roughley, 8 of Garden City managed to resist a caramel apple when he visited Plymouth Orchards with his parents, Gloria and Dennis. In fact, he even resisted gorging on doughnuts, an incredible feat at his age. When asked how many he had eaten, he said "one." What about the taste? "It was good," he replied with remarkable restraint. However, the cider proved to be his weakness, and he admitted to having "three or four glasses."

Apple producers are frequently asked about the best way to store apples. Emmett offered a few pointers.

"For early varieties (like Paula Reds), the only way to keep them crispy is to keep them refrigerated. Later varieties, the harder ones like Rome and Spy, can be stored in a really cool, fairly dry place. Not dessert dry. They need some humidity, but if you have too much, mold can develop." In cold weather (not freezing), she suggested storing apples in a plastic foam-lined bin in the garage.

A fall pilgrimage to the local cider mill or apple orchard is a must for most people. Just ask Louis Cartier, 76, of Redford Township. His annual treks to the Franklin Cider Mill began 60 years ago, when he was a member of the Detroit News Hikers.

Franklin Cider Mill is open daily 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Plymouth Orchards and Cider Mill is open daily 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. in September and October, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in November. U-pick apple hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

Todd's background as a geophysicist was utilized to some extent when he dug the winery's water reservoir and consulted with engineers who dug the winery's caves. Together, father and son built the small winery with offices and Gus' home on the property.

Presently, the wine is 100 percent cabernet sauvignon, but small plantings of the other Bordeaux varietals; merlot, cabernet franc, malbec and petit verdot have also been made as possible blending opportunities for the future. Gus is carefully monitoring 250 vines of Sangiovese to determine their potential on the property. The winery's very limited quantity of pinot noir is unfortunately not available in Michigan, but if you visit (and you're a Yooper!), you might be able to buy one of Napa Valley's best.

The cabernet sauvignon is aged in 25 to 35-percent new French oak chateau barrels because the thinner staves of these barrels offer greater potential for interaction between wine and oak. Wines are bottled unfined and unfiltered, so expect a sediment if the wine is aged.

Only one wine, a 100-case allocation, from this special, small production winery is available for the state. It is the 1991 Andersons' Conn Valley Vineyards Estate Cabernet Sauvignon ($30). Our tasting notes read: intense black cherry, blackberry and cassis aromas with structured, streamlined and well-managed tannins in the mouth. A big fruit statement with considerable length. Well worth the price. It is available in most larger wine shops and select restaurants with a depthful wine list.

Honey of an autumn festival begins Sept. 25 at Cranbrook

By RENEE SKOGLUND
Special Writer

Visitors will get a "bee's eye" view of honey-making at the Cranbrook Institute of Science Honey & Apple Festival, scheduled for two consecutive weekends 1-4:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 25-26 and Oct. 2-3.

They'll peer through glass-encased hives, watch honey being extracted from combs, and enjoy a taste of natures's most versatile sweetener. They'll also sample cider hot off a 100-year-old press and relish the first hints of fall colors along the Institute's many nature trails.

All festival activities are included in the museum price, which is $5 for adults and $4 for children (ages 3-17) and senior citizens (65 and older). Cranbrook Institute of Science is at 1221 N. Woodward Ave. in Bloomfield Hills. Call (810) 645-3230 for information.

Honey is the festival's main focus. Apples are part of the event, not only because they taste delicious dunked in a little honey, but because they represent the end product of pollination. Volunteer instructors and beekeepers will explain all aspects of honey retrieval and production. Visitors also will have an opportunity for some "hands on" cider making.

According to Jonathan De Nike, coordinator of nature programs for Cranbrook Institute of Science and the festival's organizer, bee stings are not part of the scheduled activities.

"These bees are pretty docile, very mellow," he said as he pointed to several stacks of hives standing in a courtyard just outside the institute. "I could probably walk outside without any clothes on and not get stung."

Visitors will not have their bravery or modesty tested, however. The glass-encased hives are inside, where thousands of bees can be safely observed doing what they do best: constructing combs and depositing honey.

Treat yourself to savory scallops

See Larry Janes' Taste Buds column on Taste front.

SCALLOP SEVICHE

6-8 medium sea scallops (about 7-8 ounces)
1 medium lemon
¼ cup good quality olive oil
Salt and fresh ground pepper to taste
2 tablespoons fresh chopped basil
2 tablespoons fresh chopped cilantro

Chop scallops into medium cubes and place on a glass plate. Squeeze lemon juice over diced scallops and toss to coat. Brush lightly with olive oil. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper and top with chopped basil and cilantro.

Serve with toasted bread. Makes 4 appetizer servings.

SCALLOPS ALA LARRY

1 pound sea scallops
¼ cup flour
1 tablespoon seasoned salt
3 tablespoons butter, divided
3 tablespoons olive oil, divided
1 teaspoon finely chopped garlic
½ cup dry white wine

Dredge scallops in a mixture of flour and seasoned salt. Heat 1¼ tablespoons of butter and olive oil in a medium skillet until hot. Add half the scallops and continue cooking over medium high heat for 1 minute.

Add half the garlic and continue cooking until scallops are golden and firm to the touch, about 3 minutes total cooking time. Remove scallops from skillet and return skillet to medium high heat. Add wine and scrape the bottom of the skillet to release any bits of food. Cook for 15 seconds, pour over scallops and enjoy. Repeat with remaining scallops and ingredients. Serves 4-6.

GRILLED SCALLOPS WITH A DIJON MUSTARD BUTTER

1 pound sea scallops
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
¼ cup Dijon styled mustard

Grill scallops either on skewers or on a screen over white coals or medium high gas grill. Combine butter and mustard and mix well. Continuously brush scallops with the butter/mustard mixture while cooking until scallops are firm and opaque. Serves 4-6

Pick up some apples for fall treat

See related story on Taste front.

OLD-FASHIONED EMPIRE APPLE PIE

2 cups all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup shortening
5 tablespoons cold milk
Filling:
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
6 cups sliced, peeled Michigan Empire apples
1 tablespoon margarine
1 teaspoon sugar

Combine the 2 cups flour and salt. Using pastry blender, cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add all milk at one time, stirring with fork only until combined. With hands, gather dough into ball and let rest in bowl 10 minutes while preparing filling.

In large bowl, combine the 1 cup sugar, the 3 tablespoons flour and spices. Add apples and toss until evenly coated; set aside.

On floured surface or pastry cloth, roll half of dough into 12-inch circle. Ease pastry into pie plate. Fill pastry with prepared apple filling. Cut margarine into small pieces and place over filling. Repeat rolling of remaining dough; cut slits in top. Lightly moisten edge of bottom pastry with water. Place top pastry over filling and cut off excess pastry leaving ½ inch overhang. Turn top crust under bottom crust to seal; crimp. Sprinkle with remaining 1 teaspoon sugar.

Bake in 375 degree F. oven about 1 hour 10 minutes or until golden brown and apples are tender, covering edges with foil to prevent over browning, if necessary. Serve warm or cold. Yield 8 servings.

Other varieties of Michigan apples that can be used are Gala, Jonagold, Golden Delicious, Ida Red, Jonathan, McIntosh, or Rome; or 2 cans (20 ounces each) Michigan apple slices, undrained.

Recipe from the Michigan Apple Committee.

PLYMOUTH ORCHARD LAYERED APPLESAUCE

8 medium apples, softer variety (McIntosh)
2 medium apples, harder variety (Granny Smith, Spies)
½ to 1 cup white sugar, depending upon tartness of apples (or little or no sugar if you prefer)
¼ teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ to 1 cup apple cider

Peel, core and quarter softer apples. Place in 10-quart pot and add sugar, spices and cider. Cook until very soft, mashing down apples with a wooden spoon. Peel, core and cut harder apples into little chunks. Add to sauce, and cook 2-3 minutes. Serve warm or chilled.

Recipe compliments of Mary Emmett.

APPLESAUCE HONEY ROLLS

2 loaves (1 pound each) frozen bread dough
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup honey
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
½ cup applesauce
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ cup raisins

Allow dough to thaw in plastic bag. Let rise until doubled in bulk.

Mix brown sugar, honey and butter. Sprinkle mixture over the bottom of a 13 by 9-inch baking pan.

Place dough on a lightly floured pastry board and roll or pat into a 14 by 12-inch rectangle. Combine 4 tablespoons butter, applesauce, 2 tablespoons brown sugar and raisins; spread evenly over dough. Roll and seal. Cut into slices about ½ to 1-inch thick. Places slices on honey mixture in pan.

Bake in 350 degree F. oven 30 minutes or until golden rown. Cool slightly and turn over onto a plate or tray. Makes 12 rolls.

THAT OTHER MINERAL

Researchers are coming to understand that magnesium is as important to health as calcium and other better known minerals. Numerous studies point to the fact that magnesium deficiency may contribute to heart disease, high blood pressure and possibly diabetes. Getting sufficient amounts of magnesium into the diet may help stave off these conditions. Indeed, magnesium supplements may one day be given to treat heart attack victims. What researchers do know is that magnesium helps to build bones, manufacture proteins, and release energy from muscle storage. Most people, however, have some degree of magnesium deficiency. According to a survey by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, half of all women get less than 70 percent of the recommended dietary allowance (300 mg. daily vs. 350 mg. for men).

Some minerals work in combination with others. For example, if your body is out of balance with magnesium and zinc you may experience muscle and joint pain; taking these supplements in combination over time can reduce the pain and bring your body back into balance. When it comes to vitamins, minerals and supplements, you won't find an assortment any larger or better priced than our stock at the GOOD FOOD CO. We are Michigan's largest discount natural food supermarket. Please call us at 981-6100 or just come on in. We are located at 42615 Ford Rd. and we are open Monday through Saturday from 9-8 and Sunday from 10-6.

P.S. Animal studies suggest that chronic magnesium deficiency speeds up blood vessel damage and contributes to heart disease.

If your home doesn't measure up. . .

Sometimes when we take a hard look around we decide that some things have gotten a little. . .well, not exactly shabby, but they could use a little help.

Perhaps a coat of paint, maybe a new flower bed where those weeds love to grow. Or maybe a bit of new wallpaper here or a spot of carpet there. Little things that will spruce up the place and lift your spirits as well. Or maybe you have a full-scale renovation in mind.

Whatever you decide, we can help:

Turn to our Classified section's business directory and find dozens of people who will be glad to help you with whatever it is you want to do.

And remember to support your local merchants when you buy your home improvement supplies—there are a lot of specials in today's paper. Check them out!

We'd like to show you this child's face, but it would break your heart.

Child abuse is not a pretty subject. But it happens. And right here in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. Through your donation to the United Way, over 14,700 victims of domestic violence and abuse receive shelter and family counseling.

The United Way supports some 140 agencies that help the homeless, the illiterate, the elderly and many more. And because nearly 90 cents of every dollar you contribute goes directly to those in need, you can be sure your donation will make a difference.

So please give to the United Way. You can help make sure there are fewer broken hearts this year.

Touch a Life. The United Way.

Canton stopped

Farmington Harrison improved its dual-meet record to 4-1 — and to 2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division — by easily handling Plymouth Canton 209-226 in a boys golf match Wednesday at San Marino.

Medalist honors went to Harrison's Kevin Horton, who shot 39. Other Hawk scores: Sean Frith, 40; Kris Jovan, 42; Brian Atkinson, 43; and Jason Baldwin, 45.

Canton was led by Chris Wilson's 42. Albert Hamood shot 43, Kevin Carlson had a 44, Adam Allen finished with 47 and Miles Meibers carded a 50.

Lady Crusaders roll

Madonna University's volleyball team had no problem with Siena Heights Thursday, trouncing the visitors 15-4, 15-6, 15-1 at Madonna.

"The competition wasn't as good as what we've been facing, but we played well," said coach Jerry Abraham. "We hit the ball hard, we were well-synchronized."

Julie Martin (from Livonia Stevenson) led the Lady Crusaders with 11 kills. Mo Paulin (Livonia/Farmington Hills Mercy) had nine and 12 digs, Heather Steinhelper had eight kills and four digs, Kelly McCausland (Redford Union) had seven kills and eight digs, and Erin Gregory had four kills and 11 digs. Laura Fisher collected 27 assists-to-kills (9.0 per game).

The win improved Madonna's record to 6-2. The Crusaders host Concordia College Thursday, then travel to the Saginaw Valley State tournament next weekend. They play Saginaw Valley Friday and Indiana University-Purdue University-Indianapolis Saturday. Madonna's match against Wayne State, scheduled for Tuesday, has been cancelled.

Low net

Madonna Nadeau, from Canton, posted the best low net score in second flight at the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association's weekly tournament at Bogie Lake in White Lake last Monday.

Nadeau's actual score was 92; her low net total was 67. Best low gross score was Phyllis Gromacki's 86.

In the Women's Suburban Golf Association tournament at Oak Lane Friday, a pair of Plymouth residents recorded best low net scores in their respective flights.

Sharon Laskowski had the best low net in first flight, with a 69. In second flight, that honor went to Dolly Vettese with a 68.

Big win

The University of Detroit-Mercy men's soccer team recorded its first victory of the season, and it couldn't have come against a better foe.

The Titans handed Michigan State its first loss of the season, 2-0 Wednesday at UDM. Goals were scored in each half, sophomore Vince Iacozza netting one before the match was two minutes old, assisted by sophomore Tim Blackwell.

The second was scored in the 58th minute by sophomore Dominic Vella (from Livonia Churchill), assisted by sophomore Mike Giese (Farmington).

Sophomore Kal Kaliszewski (Churchill) was in goal for the shutout, which raised UDM's record to 1-2-1. Others with local backgrounds that played a role in the victory are sophomore John Truskowski (Plymouth Salem), sophomore Jeff Thomas (Livonia Stevenson), junior Dario Rauker (Churchill) and sophomore Adam Pichler (Stevenson).

The loss left MSU at 4-1.

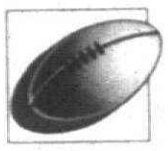
Falcons power pass Salem



If a team is going to be a winner, it must take full advantage of any opportunity presented to it. Plymouth Salem slipped to 1-2 because it failed to do so Saturday at Farmington.

By C.J. Risak
Staff Writer

In the past, this was always a game for statistics. Which meant that Plymouth Salem's offensive stars would fatten up their numbers at Farmington's expense.

Saturday's game illustrated just how far that "tradition" has reversed itself. Oh, the Rocks had their chances — plenty of them, in fact. But Farmington's defense refused to buckle — the Falcons bent a bit, but when push came to shove, it was the Rocks who were rolled.

The final score — 13-6, favoring Farmington — was evidence that the guard in the Western Lakes Activities Association is changing. Salem slipped to 1-2; Farmington is off to its best start in memory at 3-0.

"We have nobody to blame but ourselves," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer. "We had our opportunities, we just didn't cash in on them.

"Last week, we could bounce the ball outside, but not on this team. They're physical — and physically, we didn't match up very well."

Field position belonged to Salem throughout the first half. And after forcing the Falcons to punt from their own 11-yard line, the Rocks quickly moved in for a score.

Taking possession at the Farmington 36, Salem needed just four plays to reach the end zone, with quarterback Brad Lear breaking free from a busted option play, spinning and racing up the middle 26 yards for a touchdown with eight minutes left in the first quarter.

The Rocks, however, were without placekicker Mike Kley (he was with the soccer team), and the extra point attempt by Jeff McClure was botched, leaving it at 6-0.

That only seemed to anger the Falcons. Again, they were pushed way back on their next possession, to their own 13. Didn't matter this time — they marched 87 yards in 12 plays for the TD. Keys to the drive: Two pass completions on short post patterns from quarterback Tim Streit to Tim Wheelis, for 19 and 22 yards.

Tailback Jake Siskosky did the rest, gaining 44 yards on eight carries — including the last 10 yards on a sweep to the right that ended with a dive into the end zone. Sean Noble kicked the extra point and with 1:16 left in the first quarter, Farmington led 7-6.

The Rocks drove to Farmington's 33 with its ensuing possession, but after tailback Mike Brannan was dumped for a 12-yard loss on first down, Lear's pass was picked off by Phil Carson at the Falcon nine.

It took just eight plays to go the distance for Farmington. Ryan Lewis did a lot of the damage, rambling 49 yards on a trap play to Salem's 40. Nick Latra then bounced through the Rocks' defense for gains of 17 and 13, moving it to the 10. On second down, Streit faked into the line and rolled to the left, taking it in for the touchdown and a 13-6 lead.

On all four of its possessions in the second half, Salem had the ball in Farmington territory — reaching the Falcon 25, 13, 20 and 45. But the Rocks couldn't put points on the board, three times losing the ball on downs and the fourth on Latra's interception in the game's closing seconds.

"I told our kids early in the week that I believe we're a better football team," Farmington coach Lauri Niskanen said. The Falcons showed it — and Siskosky led the way, gaining 96 yards on 24 attempts. Streit completed 2-of-4 passes for 41 yards, and Latra gained 74 yards on 11 tries.

"You've got a loaded gun, you've got to fire it," said Niskanen of Siskosky. "I'm not saying he's the best player in the league, but if there's one better, I'd like to see him."

Wrestled down: The Rocks had some success throwing the ball against Farmington, gaining 85 yards passing — Kirk Craggs catching one here before being dragged to the turf by a Falcon defender.

Siskosky, who gained more than 450 yards rushing in Farmington's first two wins, knew Salem would be gunning for him. Still, he got his yards. And more important, the Falcons got their win.

"It's great," he said when asked how it felt to be 3-0. "I knew we had a great team, but . . . it just feels great."

Offense clicks; Canton gets 1st win

By Neal Zipser
Staff Writer

Talk about taking out your frustration.

After losing each of its first two games by three points, Plymouth Canton let off some steam Friday with a 44-13 victory over visiting Livonia Franklin.

"We could easily be 3-0," Canton coach Bob Khoenle said.

What kind of night was it for the Chiefs? Canton scored on a 75-yard run, a 60-yard punt return, a safety, and a flea-flicker.

"It's about time we won," said Canton quarterback Brett Elledge. "We've been losing by three points, and I knew we'd win this one."

On the other side of the coin was the young Franklin team that fell to 0-3 while dropping its eighth straight game.

"The only thing I could tell the team was that we have to keep the faith," said Franklin coach Rick Lee. "We're doing some good things on the field. They are working hard, and if they keep doing that, we should be OK."

The Patriots took advantage of an early muffed punt. On the first play after taking the ball on the Canton 38, Mike Aubuchon connected with tight end David Erickson on a 35-yard bomb. Two plays later, the same two connected on a 6-yard touchdown play, and Aaron Smith's extra point gave the Patriots a 7-0 lead.

Aubuchon completed eight of 16 passes for 99 yards, but was sacked twice, threw two interceptions and was under constant pressure all night.

The Canton defense stifled Franklin's offense after the initial score by blitzing on nearly every play.

"I thought we could blitz them because they have a one-back offense and I thought we could have success getting to the quarterback," Khoenle said.

"We knew they would blitz about every play," Lee said. "They just kept coming. We're a young team with two sophomores starting on the line, and it was good experience to block against the blitz."

Adams is Hoops champ

By Dan O'Meara
Staff Writer

In just 48 seconds of basketball Saturday, Rochester Adams went from being a likely runner-up to champion of the Mercy Hoops Classic.

The Highlanders rallied from a seven-point deficit in the last minute to overtake host Farmington Hills Mercy, 49-48.

Senior Courtney Ruffing's free throws with four seconds remaining clinched the victory and most valuable player honors.

"I got up there and knew it was for the game, and I really wanted to win it," said Ruffing, who finished with 21 points.

"All the way through, I thought we were going to win. It really came from our hearts."

Adams sophomore Mari McClure scored 13 points and also made the all-tournament team along with Mercy senior Holly Taylor, Plymouth Canton senior Amicie Crayton and Plymouth Salem junior Shellye Sills.

Taylor led the Marlins (4-2) with 13 points. Piper Metz added nine, Carrie Schwagle six, Felicia Brooks and Amanda Northcross five apiece.

Mercy scored six unanswered points, getting a three-point play from Taylor and taking a 47-40 lead with 56 seconds left after a Northcross free throw.

■ BASKETBALL

Ruffing started the rally with two free throws after a three-shot foul. Kelli Milliken sank a triple and Ruffing two free throws to tie with :29 on the clock.

Julie Angell gave Mercy a 48-47 lead, but a lane violation precluded her from shooting the second free throw. Ruffing was fouled in the back court and converted the one-and-one.

"I'll sleep well at night," Mercy coach Larry Baker said. "We were playing to win the game, and our mistakes came off aggressive play.

"We might give up some bragging rights, but this game is going to really help us through the season. I feel we've grown up a lot in two weeks."

■ CANTON 57, SALEM 48: The Chiefs sank 26 of 30 free throws Saturday to win the consolation game of the Mercy Hoops Classic.

Amicie Crayton scored 14 points to lead Canton (2-2). Kristi Fiorenzi and Sarah Warnke added 13 apiece, Melissa Marzolf and Becky Vachow six each.

Crayton sank eight of 10 free throws, Warnke seven of eight, Marzolf five of six and Fiorenzi all three chances.

Salem's Shellye Sills scored a game-high 17 points. The Rocks (2-2) made 11 of 15 free throws, including five of nine by Sills. Liz Erickson added nine points, Kelly Lukasik and Amanda Abraham six apiece.

Salem regains form quickly, rips Western

■ SOCCER

The 1-0 loss to Livonia Churchill last Monday bothered Plymouth Salem's soccer team, but it didn't hurt the Rocks two days later.

On Wednesday, a school record-tying performance by Scott Buczek ignited Salem in a 6-1 victory over visiting Walled Lake Western. The win boosted the Rocks' record to 4-1 overall, 2-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Western is 4-3 overall, 0-2-1 in the WLAA.

"We came back after the disappointment at Churchill in a good mood and we played well," said Salem coach Ken Johnson.

Indeed the Rocks did, thanks to Buczek's offense. A senior midfielder, he tied a Salem record first set 11 years ago by the coach's son, Randy Johnson, by netting five goals. Randy Balconi also tied the single-game goal-scoring record by getting the same number in '86.

Buczek also assisted on Doug Herriman's goal. Herriman also had an assist; Ronny Mashni had three assists and Drew Drummond got one.

Anthony Cosenza was in goal for the first half; Brian Bacyinski played the second. Salem had a 4-0 lead at the half.

The Rocks were without several key players, who missed the match due to illness or injury. Mark MacInnis has an injured ankle, Matt Simmons hurt his knee, and John Larson has mononucleusis. Also Paul Dood, who's been out for two weeks with an irregular heart beat, returned to practice Friday.

Johnson is hoping all four will be ready to play when Salem travels to Livonia Stevenson for a 7 p.m. match today.

Canton can't match Mercy

■ BASKETBALL

The circumstances were reversed this year, and the Marlins took full advantage Thursday to reach the final of the Mercy Hoops Classic.

The Marlins were blown out by a more experienced Canton team last year, but Mercy had the veteran team this time and capitalized, posting a 46-25 win in the tournament's opening round.

"Experience was a factor," Canton coach Bob Blohm said, adding the Chiefs start a sophomore and a freshman. "It's going to take these girls time to get it done against a team like that."

With the help of a pressing defense, the Marlins scored the last eight points of the first quarter to lead 17-4.

Mercy's shooting fell off in the second quarter (2-of-14) and Canton got within 23-13 at halftime and 29-21 after three periods.

But the Marlins turned up the defense and shooting in the final quarter to secure the victory.

Mercy hit seven of nine shots in the last period and outscored Canton 17-4 again. The Chiefs were within nine (32-23) with 6:13 remaining when Mercy began a 12-0 run that put the issue to rest.

"I thought we had a little lack of intensity in the second quarter, and I can't believe the way we punched it back up in the second half," Mercy coach Larry Baker said.

"Canton is always a good pass-and-catch team and to push them out and keep them away from the post was a real fine defensive effort."

Baker cited the depth and athleticism of the Mercy bench, including the play of Mary Jane Valade, who rebounded well and scored all six of her points in the fourth quarter.

Carrie Schwagle scored a game-high 11 points for the Marlins. Julie Angell netted eight and Piper Metz seven. Canton's Amicie Crayton scored eight, Sarah Warnke seven and Jackie Nicastri six.

Mercy defeated the No. 3-ranked Chiefs without senior point guard Glenda Lee, who left the team for reasons unrelated to basketball.

"We lost a player and agreed everyone would have to handle the ball," Baker said. "The one who Amicie didn't pick up was the one who was going to handle it. Metz, Schwagle and (Jena) Kluska handled the ball and kept our turnovers down to a reasonable level."

The turnovers were nearly even — 19 for Mercy, 22 for Canton — but the Chiefs committed 10 in the first quarter.

Canton never shot better than 28 percent in any one quarter and finished the game at .275 (11-40).

Mercy had the same number of attempts but 7-of-10 shooting in the first period and 7-of-9 in the last carried the Marlins to .475 overall (19-40).

"Mercy's defense forced us to play pretty fast in the first half," Blohm said. "We got a little worn down and had trouble running the offense in the second half."

■ ADAMS 54, SALEM 49: No. 10-rated Rochester Adams gave the No. 5 Rocks their first loss after two season-opening victories Thursday in the first round of the Mercy Hoops Classic.

Salem stayed within six to 10 points the whole game but couldn't overtake the Highlanders, who led 12-7 early, 23-15 at halftime and 39-34 after three period.

Shellye Sills scored 14 points for the Rocks, Liz Erickson netted 12, and Kelly Lukasik and Karen Gundry got six apiece.

The leading scorer for Adams (3-2) was Mari McClure with 17 points. Kelli Milliken had 12, with North Farmington transfer Shannon McCoy and Courtney Ruffing adding nine each.

An ironic twist: Public school loses a Catholic transfer

BRAD EMONS

Transfer moves often undergo close scrutiny, especially when it involves a talented basketball player like Yolanda Holt.

As a freshman, Holt was a member of Redford Bishop Borgess' state Class C championship team, but decided over the summer to move over to Wayne Memorial High.

During her stint at Borgess, Holt lived with her sister in Detroit because the commute was easier than it was from her parent's home in Westland.

Under Michigan High School Athletic Association rules, Holt was told she'd have to sit out a semester unless she moved.

Initially, Holt was not eligible, according to Wayne coach Chuck Henry, but later became eligible for the Zebras' third game of the year against Romulus. (She scored 15 points, grabbed eight rebounds and had seven assists in a lopsided win.)

Wayne athletic director Bill Hawley, who looked into the matter, received clearance from the MHSAA. He was told Holt was eligible to play.

"She was OK from the information that we were given," Hawley said. "She met the criteria. We received a letter from the MHSAA."

Transfer questioned

But after discovering that Holt had played, Borgess coach Dave Mann made a call to Catholic League office to question her eligibility.

Tom Rashid, Catholic League director, then communicated with Hawley and Henry. Mann contended that all of Holt's school records and correspondence were sent to Westland, her legal address.

Upon further review, Hawley told MHSAA assistant director Jerry Cvengros that Holt, in effect, had a dual living arrangement.

"We want to do everything in our power to follow the rules," Hawley said. "Jerry felt, from the information we later presented, that she was not eligible. A dual living arrangement does not meet the criteria. We'd love to have her play. It's unfortunate for the young lady."

Holt, a sophomore, must now forfeit her sophomore year of basketball.

The big question is: What was Mann's motive for calling Rashid, who is also a member of the MHSAA's Representative Council?

Mann told me by phone Thursday night that there was no animosity toward Holt or does not believe Wayne used undo influence, but "whatever the transfer rule is, we all should abide by it."

Diplomatic approach

Rashid, meanwhile, continues to walk on egg shells when it comes to dealing with transfers. He is sensitive to the issue, even going as far as trying to persuade Dearborn Divine Child school officials last winter from taking transfer Tara Overaitis, an All-State basketball player from Livonia Ladywood.

Rashid is trying to eliminate the perception that the Catholic League raids middle schools and public schools for top athletic talent.

"Just as if I had a concern about another school outside our league, I would hope other schools would communicate with me if there was a concern about one of our schools," Rashid said. "We need to work together on these things. Bill Hawley and Chuck Henry have been very up-front with me."

But everybody isn't on the same page.

The MHSAA's member schools are left to police their own rules violators. If there's a dispute, then Lansing is called in to deliberate.

We all know individual school districts, public or private, interpret MHSAA rules in their own manner and get away with quite a few things. Academic scholarships are often disguised as athletic grants.

Whistle blower?

First, I'd suggest to Mann that he look closely into his own league to determine whether everybody is following the MHSAA rules to the letter before venturing out and beyond.

If there's a problem with somebody like Farmington Hills Mercy or Livonia Ladywood, will he be as vigilant in making the call?

His intentions may have been honorable and noble given the fact that Holt is the fourth transfer who's left Borgess during the past three years.

"I've lost four good athletes to public schools and I've never had a transfer," said Mann, who once coached at Redford Thurston, a public school.

But if you ever wonder why public schools get upset with private schools, this is a prime case.

Don't forget, private schools can pick and choose who they accept through their doors. Public schools don't have that luxury.

Let's remember, too, that private schools and public schools aren't playing on a level field come MHSAA tournament time.

Public schools are restricted to boundary areas, while private schools are not. Recruiting and undo influence is not the issue.

I guess what bugs me is that somebody questioned Yolanda Holt's boundary area.

Who's boundary is it anyway?

The Chiefs struck back on their ensuing possession by marching 62 yards in eight plays. The drive was capped by a 10-yard run off left guard by tailback Len Gardner. The first of six extra points by Jeff Flass tied the score at 7-7.

The game remained tied until Aubuchon, under heavy pressure by senior linebacker Mike Marsh, was picked off by Rob Johnson. Canton took the lead for good three plays later when Elledge hit Andy Bahrou on a slant pattern from 14 yards.

"After they scored on us, it really got us pumped up," Marsh said. "The defense began blitzing with off-tackle fires instead of coming inside. Our nose guard, Shaun Dyer, was doing a great job inside and giving the linebackers room to fire."

On the second play of the second half, Elledge kept the ball on an option and rambled 75 yards for a touchdown.

"It was a 46-naked option, and once I got around the corner, I knew I was gone," said Elledge, who rushed for 81 yards and completed nine of 15 passes for 146 yards. The Chiefs gained a total of 339 yards on offense.

Canton scored on its next possession while moving the ball at will against the Franklin defense. The touchdown took place when Elledge completed an out pattern to David Gay. He pitched the ball to a trailing Gardner, who went untouched into the end zone. The 21-yard play made it 28-7.

"We've had that play in our system for years, but that's the first time we've executed it right," Khoenle said.

The rout was on when Sam Epley burst through a huge hole from 12 yards capping a three-play, 34-yard drive with 1:24 remaining in the third quarter.

The Canton defense greeted new quarterback David McMullen with consecutive sacks. The second sack resulted in a safety as Dan Kanaan and Paul Fromm combined on the tackle. Kanaan finished with nine tackles and an interception.

Junior Ron Hunter returned a Franklin punt 60 yards for a touchdown midway through the fourth quarter for the Chiefs' final score.

The Patriots, who were held to 103 yards of offense heading into its final possession, drove 79 yards on seven plays and scored on an 11-yard run by Chad Glaza.

■ HARRISON 36, CHURCHILL 0: Senior quarterback Jake Lawson passed for three touchdowns Friday to lead Harrison over the host Chargers.

Junior tailback Jason Granger started the scoring with a 55-yard run. Lawson then passed 37 yards to Kevin Bryant, 23 to Granger, and 40 to fullback Nick Williams for a 26-0 halftime lead.

In addition to three extra points, Kyle Vessell kicked a 27-yard field goal in the third quarter. Junior halfback Jeff Aschoff finished the scoring with a 28-yard run.

Granger rushed for 109 yards on seven carries, Aschoff 83 on 10, and Williams 47 on eight.

Top rollers can fill baseball gap

TEN-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

Hey there, baseball people!

Have you ever heard of bowlers going out on strike? Not very likely, except that all bowlers like throwing strikes of a different kind.

Now that the baseball season is called off, many ideas are being offered to take up the slack. It has even been suggested that the All-Star bowlers get up teams from the major league cities and compete with each other under the regular or perhaps the Baker System.

Might seem like a good idea, but it has been tried back about the time the Thunderbowl Arena was first built. Maybe times were different, but the backers lost about $2,000,000 on the venture, the program died and nobody is about to resurrect it.

Whether you are a bowler or nonbowler, you can get your fill of great competition by going out to any of the local bowling centers where the All-Stars and Classic leagues compete.

It's well worth watching these highly talented men and women from our own hometowns as they show what real bowling skills are about.

Remember, admission is free, parking is free, the snack bar prices are always reasonable and every bowling center will make you feel welcome.

The Ansara's Big Boy Classic League at Drakeshire Lanes in Farmington Hills has some real top-notch talent on Monday nights. Cloverlanes in Livonia hosts the All-Star Bowlerettes, also on Mondays. Thunderbowl has the Les Stanford All-Stars on Tuesdays and the Arena Pro Shop ladies on Wednesday nights. The Wonderland Classic at Wonderland Lanes in Livonia has lots of big scores on Wednesday nights.

Silver Lanes in Garden City is now worth a Monday night visit to see many of the area's top guns in action in a 12 man match play league which will finish the season by going to Pro Style finals. There are many more excellent senior house leagues at almost every bowling center with something to offer for the spectator.

So all you die-hard baseball fans, don't despair, come out and watch some of the best bowling talent as they take to the lanes throughout our communities.

■ Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan will be hosting its "Ninth Annual Bowling Classic" fund-raiser to provide 40,000 kindergarten through 12th grade students with business, economic and life-skill education. Supported by over 50 local businesses, the bowling classic offers fun for both experienced and first time bowlers 18 years of age and older.

Teams, consisting of five bowlers, are needed to generate tax-deductible donations enabling JA to provide program materials to local schools. Teams and individuals will be awarded prizes for their participation (shopping sprees, travel certificates, door prizes, mystery drawings, etc. . .).

The events will take place at 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 23 at Troy-Lanes. And at 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22 and 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 23 at Cloverlanes. For more information, contact Cora Masseth at (313) 255-3900.

BASKETBALL

PCA opener is a winner

A strong first half was all Plymouth Christian Academy needed to dispose of Southfield Franklin Road Friday, 47-28, in the first girls basketball game played at PCA's new gymnasium.

The Eagles, who improved to 4-1, outscored Franklin 13-3 in the first quarter and increased their lead to 22-7 by halftime. Although Franklin's offense was more productive in the second half, PCA still had a 25-21 advantage.

Karin Reed led the attack with 20 points and five assists. Lisa Erickson and Sarah Sumner contributed six apiece. Amy Jeffries topped the rebounders with nine.

Sarah Rattai scored 10 for Franklin. Nicole McIntosh had nine.

■ LADYWOOD 66, DEPORRES 38: Unbeaten Livonia Ladywood jumped out to a 36-12 halftime advantage en route to a convincing non-league triumph Thursday at Detroit DePorres.

Senior guard Becky Bilicki paced a balanced Ladywood attack with 14 points, five steals and three assists.

Erin LeSage and Stacey Judd added nine and eight points, respectively. Judd also grabbed eight rebounds.

Shari Hall of DePorres led all scorers with 18 points, but scored only two in the opening half.

"We got up early with the press and were able to play all our players early," said Ladywood first-year coach Lisa McPhee, whose team is 4-0 overall. "It was very hot in the gym."

It should get even warmer this Thursday as Ladywood opens Catholic League Central Division action at defending Class C state champion Redford Bishop Borgess.

■ AGAPE 46, LIVINGSTON CHRIST. 10: Livingston Christian was no match for Plymouth Agape Christian, falling behind 13-2 after one quarter and 23-4 by halftime Friday at Agape Christian.

A pair of juniors paced the Agape attack. Guard Jaci Ther netted 21 points and center Gretchen Baisch had nine points and 10 rebounds.

Livingston got seven of its points from Naomi Nitz.

The win boosted Agape to 2-1 overall, 2-0 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

Due South a witty gift from our neighbor to the north

By John Crook

America, you have been warned: Due South producer Paul Haggis has every intention of using his show as a vehicle for insidious Canadian dogma.

The comedy-drama about an idealistic Mountie (Paul Gross) and his partner, a streetwise Chicago cop (David Marciano), airs Thursdays on CBS.

"Oh, absolutely," says the producer. "That's what we do in every show. What I found in the pilot was that I loved making fun of Americans just a little bit more than I loved making fun of Canadians. The thing I find about Americans is, for the most part, they love to laugh at themselves - or, more precisely, at other Americans.

"For Americans, I tried to set up, 'Oh, look at this buffoon, look at this stupid Canadian. Aren't we superior?' And then, all at once, the 'stupid Canadian' starts to make sense and to solve crimes. And it's annoying that he's doing that."

The critically acclaimed series initially weathered some chilly response in Haggis' native country, especially among TV critics who apparently did not grasp the tongue-in-cheek humor. "Actually, I think most of the Canadians that I talked to just on the street loved it," he says. "It was the press that was rough on us. I think we were called 'an abomination' by the (Toronto) Globe and Mail. I think they believed, rather than that I was having fun with the image of the Canadian Mountie and all those stereotypes, that I was sort of presenting it seriously.

"The RCMP initially hated the show, to the extent that at first they said they wouldn't cooperate with the show unless we changed - oh, I think they had 22 pages of notes, single-spaced, and they hinted at legal action if we used the uniform. So we went and changed the uniform - not the script at all, actually - so it wouldn't infringe on their so-called copyright. And then, of course, they complained that we changed the uniform! 'Look, what they're doing! They didn't even get the uniform right!'

"What finally happened is that the pilot aired, and the (RCMP) higher-ups saw it and, I guess, liked it. And the new public relations guy supposedly now wants to help us any way he can. So now we've changed the uniform (back) to make it absolutely correct."

"I have a punishing schedule," says Gross, who appears in almost every scene. "The hours are just...long. And we move fast. It's difficult. I'm adjusting to it. The pace of television is quite strange to me. You have to keep going. But I think we'll all get used to it."

The actor says he has been disconcerted and frustrated by reporters who try to read too much into his character of Mountie Benton Fraser.

"I've been asked these completely loony questions, mostly by Canadian press people," he says. "'Do you think this is a fair representation of the Canadian character? How do you feel about this morally, playing this part?'

"This guy (Fraser) is not typical of the Canadian character. Furthermore, if he is representative of the Canadian character, what more could we ask for? He's moral, upstanding, capable, efficient, heroic and generous. Hey - not bad! On the other hand, the American character is presented as inefficient, bumbling, overworked, disoriented and gun-happy. It's not a sociological treatise. It's a light entertainment."

Both Haggis and Gross say they are trying to be realistic about the chances of Due South being successful in a dicey time slot (opposite NBC's Mad About You, among other shows).

"It's death," Haggis says. "We fully expect to be on for four, then off. But we're going to have fun with the four episodes that we're on with.

"I hope I don't give you the impression that we're slamming Canadians, because we're putting in a lot of jokes that only Canadians understand. We love the fact that Americans know nothing about Canada. Like the fact that the dog is named Diefenbaker, after one of our famous prime ministers...So we just keep doing things like this and just not making anything out of it at all, and never explaining it, so Canadians will be able to have a good laugh and Americans just - won't care."

"I think it's our strength, that we can slip in and undermine your entire political and social situation," Gross laughs. "You don't even notice us. It's a great weapon."

Reeling in the years with ESPN's Berman

BY JEFF PLASS

This month marks the 15th anniversary of one of the nation's cornerstones of sports entertainment, ESPN.

A part of the ESPN machine since practically the beginning, the Fred Flintstone-faced, gravelly voiced Chris Berman reflects on the passage of time on the network.

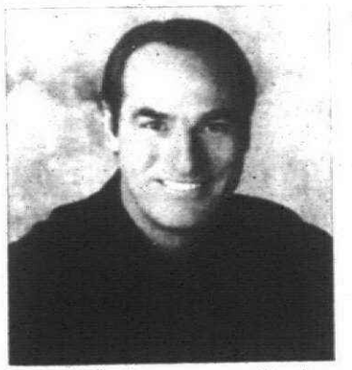
"Old," Berman exclaims. "I feel old. I came here as a young man; I was 24 years old. I had long hair and a Luis Tiant moustache. I worked at 2:30 in the morning.

"Now I'm almost 40 – I'm 39. I'm viewed by some as the statesman of the place. I don't know if that's true, but it's kind of like, 'Where did all the time go?' "

Both Berman and the network have undergone radical changes over the years, both growing older, wiser and more successful.

"I came here a young man, single," Berman relates, "now I'm married with an 8- and a 7-year-old. I'm doing the job I've always dreamed about doing. The place has become a part of American culture. You know, 15 years is a lot of time, but in TV, it's not.

"It's hard to imagine. You know, there were 70 of us here in 1979, and there's over 1,000 now. We were happy to have running water in 1979, and in 1994, we have an ESPN office in Hong Kong. So if you think about it, it's amazing."



Craig T. Nelson stars as Hayden Fox in the seventh season of Coach, Mondays on ABC.

Martin's impossible mission; White plays Tyson ... any way he wants to Tom Cruise may be set to film Mission Impossible this fall, but he has nothing on Steve Martin, who will begin work next month on two movies: Sgt. Bilko and Father of the Bride 2. At least they are both being shot in Los Angeles.

After an exhaustive search, HBO has selected Michael Jai White to star in its upcoming drama Tyson, about the life of former heavyweight boxing champ Mike Tyson. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., White is six feet tall and weighs 205 pounds. He holds black belts in five martial arts. Production on the film begins this month.

True Blue: Fox's Cops is nearing the end of a six-week assignment with the New York Police Department. Crews from the Saturday night reality series have been riding with the NYPD since mid-August. "We are especially pleased to be the first show allowed to film the NYPD at work," says executive producer John Langley. The shows should air later this fall.

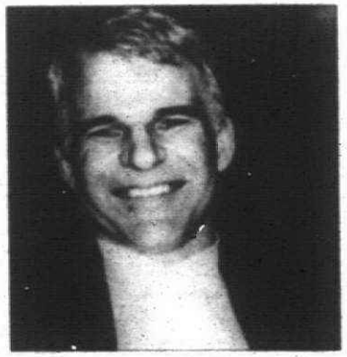
Led Zeppelin's Robert Plant and Jimmy Page are being reunited for an MTV special to air in October. Unledded will feature new arrangements of Led Zeppelin songs, plus new material being performed for the first time. The performances will be both acoustic and electric. Taping is being done in a London studio and locations in Morocco and Wales.



Steve Martin

In the premiere episode of Madman of the People, airing Thursday, Sept. 22, on NBC, son Dylan (MTV's John Ales) presents his father (Dabney Coleman) with a Best of Ren & Stimpy videotape on the occasion of the older man's 30th wedding anniversary. Though his dad seems less than thrilled by the gift, Daryl enthusiastically offers to "keep it in my room with the Super Nintendo I bought you for Christmas." Now, thanks to Sony Wonder home video, Dylan can begin shopping for Christmas 1994. The label has just released Ren & Stimpy: Classics II, Ren & Stimpy: Have Yourself a Stinky Little Christmas and Ren & Stimpy's Crock O' Christmas. Happy happy, joy joy, eh, dad?

Paul Gross plays a Canadian Mountie in the premiere of Due South, Thursday on CBS.

William Daniels and Ben Savage star in the season premiere of Boy Meets World, Friday on ABC.

Jane Seymour stars in the season debut of Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman, Saturday on CBS.

HOME BIJOU

New doesn't necessarily mean improved: a night of great old movies for the Home Bijou

BY STEVEN ALAN MCGAW

Columns such as this one tend to focus, week after week, on the newest releases on video vendor shelves. But viewers would often find a better evening's entertainment looking beyond the new release section.

Here, in no particular order, are tried-and-true gems for a memorable evening at the Home Bijou.

The Bride Wore Black (1968)

Francois Truffaut meant this film as his heartfelt homage to Alfred Hitchcock, and it's one of the few such efforts to be worthy of such an audacious tribute.

Jeanne Moreau gives a riveting performance as a shell-shocked woman determined to find – and exact her revenge upon – the five men who killed her fiance on their wedding day.

Based on a novel by Cornell Woolrich, the film echoes the Master of Suspense from the fast-paced storytelling to the evocative score by Bernard Herrmann. Claude Rich, Jean-Claude Brialy and Michel Bouquet turn in fine supporting performances.

The Other (1972)

Robert Mulligan (To Kill a Mockingbird, Man in the Moon) skillfully directed this chilling, faithful version of Thomas Tryon's best-selling novel.

Twins Chris and Martin Udvarnoky star as Niles and Holland Perry, two apple-cheeked Connecticut youths who seemed to embody the polarities of Good and Evil. Or is it that simple?

Renowned acting teacher Uta Hagen makes an onscreen performing appearance, and Diana Muldaur is touching as the terrible twins' mentally incapacitated mother.

Desk Set (1957)

Perhaps the lesser of all the Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn films, but still a delight.

She's the chatty, unfailingly effective head of the research department at a major magazine; he's the efficiency expert who thinks the whole bunch can be replaced by a computer.

Guess what happens next? Gig Young and Joan Blondell also star.

SOAP WORLD

Taylor's return causing trouble on B&B

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Dear Candace: I am really disgusted with the fact that The Bold and the Beautiful has brought back Taylor (Hunter Tylo) from the dead. She is the one who wanted to leave the show in the first place. The writers and producers should have let Taylor rest in peace.

Now that she is back it can only mean trouble for Brooke and Ridge, two people who really belong together.

I hope that Taylor finds out about Ridge and Brooke, and then Ridge and Taylor get a divorce. James will be there to pick up the pieces for Taylor. -Hoping they divorce, New Market, Tenn.

Dear Reader: B&B is now saying that they left the door open for Tylo to return after she filmed a miniseries in India. There will be trouble for Brooke and Ridge, but since Taylor doesn't remember anything about her past, who knows what might happen? Omar, who has supposedly taken care of Taylor all these months, may also be a factor.

Dear Candace: I am absolutely in love with Tomas on Another World. He is so gorgeous. My only complaint is that he makes some really stupid mistakes. Anyone who can be duped by that little tramp Angela needs his or her head examined. Could you please tell me the name of the actor who plays Tomas and an address where I can write to him?

Also, I don't care what other people think about Carl. I have always lusted after this bad guy. I really think he is trying to turn his life around, but his past keeps catching up with him. Rachel is crazy if she doesn't hold on to this one. She hasn't always been an angel herself. -Fan in Wisconsin.

Dear Reader: You may write to Diego Serrano (Tomas) in care of Another World, NBC-TV, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10112.

Dear Candace: Would you please tell me who portrays Pete on As the World Turns? I would also like his address. -Amie Dolo in Minnesota.

Dear Reader: Jason Biggs plays Pete. You may write to him in care of As the World Turns, CBS-TV, 51 W. 52nd St., New York, N.Y. 10019.
