Canton voters favor Bob Dole

Only 12.5 percent of Canton's registered voters turned out for Tuesday's presidential preference primary. But they followed the state trend Tuesday by choosing Republican presidential candidate Bob Dole.

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Canton Township voters were in the Dole-drums Tuesday as just 12.5 percent cast ballots in the Republican presidential preference primary that many considered to be over before it began.

Some 1,820 Cantonites voted for Bob Dole, giving the Kansas senator 40 percent of the local vote.

Placing second was former Nixon speechwriter Pat Buchanan with 1,216 Canton votes, or 26.7 percent of all votes cast.

Statewide, Dole beat Buchanan about 52 percent to 34 percent. Dole also won in Illinois, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Here's how the other candidates fared in Canton Township:

Publisher Steve Forbes got 401 votes (8.8 percent).

Alan Keyes got 126 votes (2.8 percent).

Former Tennessee Gov. Lamar Alexander got 112 votes (2.5 percent).

Texas Sen. Phil Gramm got 44 votes (1 percent).

Indiana Sen. Richard Lugar got 14 votes (0.3 percent).

See story, Page 7C

Michigan businessman Maurice Taylor got nine votes (0.2 percent).

And California Rep. Robert Dornan got eight votes (0.2 percent).

Of 37,584 registered voters in Canton, 4,694 participated in Tuesday's election. Of that number, 2,574 voted by absentee ballot.

Election workers blamed the low turnout on the near certainty that

Artist's efforts adorn middle school

BY M.B. DILLON

When the Fruit Loops cereal box was being designed, they should have called Canton's Paula Parimucha.

The tropical mural she created on a second-floor wall at Central Middle School in Plymouth looks almost alive with animal and plant life. She's painted colorful parrots and quetzales perched in palm trees; waterfalls and lush plant life, as well as life-sized turtles, alligators, chimpanzees, butterflies, dragonflies, and iguanas.

Parimucha, a retired commercial artist who volunteered for the job after learning of Central's need in the school newsletter, said many a student helped her out, including her daughter, eighth-grader Kimberly.

"Walls are kind of boring and they wanted a volunteer to help out. I thought, why not? The worst that could happen is that it would be a mess and they could paint over it. And believe me, we painted over it many times," said the artist.

"The amazing thing was that so many children would come in with magazines, books and things out of National Geographic for me to include in the mural. One of the boys had just done a report and wanted me to put a poison dart frog in, so I thought, right, we'll give it a shot."

Parimucha started the project early in the fall and has worked so hard "it's like she's been a full-time employee," said Nic Cooper, Central's assistant principal. "The kids have been respectful, and she's been delightful."

The mural is a hit with the students.

"I videotaped it for our library," said 12-year-old Mike Schmid, who volunteers as a library aide. "It's pretty cool. It's like a jungle, with lots of birds, some snakes, alligators and plants."

Eighth-grader Beth Lester, 13, said "It's interesting. It's just different."

Resident weary from roadside maintenance

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW

Bill Harrison is tired of clearing mud, leaves, bottles and dead animals from the ditches on Lotz Road between Ford and Cherry Hill.

"I'd like to retire that shovel," he said. "My wife would like me to stay out of the ditches. I'm 78 years old. It's time for me to put my shovel away."

Harrison and his wife, Edna, have lived in the same house on Lotz since 1938. And Harrison has used his spade almost as long to keep the ditches along the gravel road in some semblance of good repair, which isn't much semblance at all lately.

"I've been fighting Wayne County for the last 58 years about keeping the road in good condition," Harrison told the board of trustees March 12. "I'm 78 years old, but I still get out with the shovel, and I know how to do things."

Since 1938, Harrison said, Wayne County has cleaned the ditches on Lotz twice. Phil Petix, supervisor of the Wayne County Public Services Department's south yard, said the Lotz ditches were last trenched out in 1993.

After the snow melted last week the Lotz ditches contained water up to 2 feet deep. Theoretically, the water should drain from Lotzford north to Willow Creek just south of Ford and from Lotzford south to the Clark Drain north of Cherry Hill.

But debris, like leaves, tires, carpet, bottles and a raccoon corpse, litters the ditch. Driveways are collapsing onto the clogged drain tiles. And whole sections of ditch have been filled in. "It's a mess," Harrison said. "It's a disaster. I hate to have relatives come out here and see stuff like this."

Harrison began to see some relief last week when Canton Municipal Services Director Aaron Machnik and Public Works Director Jake Dingledey came to take in the scene. Harrison said a township crew later cleared the plugged drain tile that left standing water in his yard.

Commissioner says contributions don't buy influence

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson, R-Canton Township, raised and spent more than $24,000 in 1995, according to his campaign finance report.

Patterson raised an additional $3,375 through March 10 this year, according to his own records, but his campaign fund still owes him nearly $9,000.

Patterson is slowly paying himself back the $20,000 he put into his initial campaign for commissioner two years ago.

Political candidates must file campaign finance reports by July 26 for the Aug. 6 primary. Candidates who do not spend $1,000 for the primary and general election are asked to file a waiver.

The 49-year-old freshman commissioner said Friday he hasn't decided if he will run for re-election this year.

"It takes a lot out of you if you're trying to do a good job," he said. Patterson was concerned to hear that the Observer planned to publish a list of his campaign contributors.

"The reason I'm sensitive about it is that I think it takes us off the mark. The reason we talk about money is because somebody says it buys access, which is translated into influence, which is translated into outcome. And I don't believe that for a minute."

At least not in his own case. Regarding other officials, he said, "Maybe they're influenced by who's giving them what. I have my opinions on that. I know there are some officeholders for hire, and they'll go with whatever bid they get."

Voters shouldn't "leap to the conclusion that because somebody gave (me) dollars they bought a vote," Patterson said. "When you go through my fund-raising list, the vast majority (of contributors) know me, respect me, trust me to do the right thing. I get personal notes from these people saying, 'We think we finally found a politician who we can trust. We want you to be returned to office.'"

Referring to Ann Splane of Birmingham, who contributed $1,000 to his campaign last year, Patterson said, "She's 86 years old. I represented her for years (as an attorney). She loves me. She's never going to get anything from me except the satisfaction of believing that she's helping somebody who's involved in good government."

Patterson mentioned two instances where he voted against the interests of campaign contributors.

Michael Kelly of Grosse Ile, owner of Commuter Transportation, which has a contract with the county, gave Patterson $250 last year, but Patterson voted against renewing Commuter Transportation's contract. "Could I have rolled over and nobody would have ever known? Hell yes. It went through 13-2. My vote didn't even count. How stupid am I? I should have voted and gone along with it."

Jeff Searles of Detroit is president of ISS Cleaning Service, which also has a contract with the county. Searles gave $1,600 to Patterson last year. Yet Patterson voted against the ISS contract renewal.

Patterson went through his list and ticked off names: Charles O'Grady, owner of O'Grady Tool & Die and longtime Patterson friend, gave $300. "He's a multimillionaire who doesn't need anything from me."

Barry Green of Beverly Hills gave $125. "I used to play on the swings with Barry Green when we were 4-5 years old," Patterson said.

Ron Mack of Romulus gave Patterson $600. "I represented him when I was in practice," Patterson said.

By reporting campaign contribution, Patterson said the Observer is "paying attention to the trees. You're not looking at the big picture.

"(Officeholders) who are good are more sensitive to these things than people who are corrupt. If I don't have a good reputation, I have nothing to defend."

Patterson bristles to think that some might view him as an elitist politician. "I'm not a politician," he said. "I'm your neighbor. I went to public schools. I worked my way through college. I've got three kids. I've got a wife who works. I'm the most regular guy on the block. I've got a station wagon and another car."

Basement fire linked to careless smoking

A basement fire at Canton Commons Monday caused an estimated $12,000 in damage, said Canton Fire Chief Mike Rorabacher.

Firefighters responded to the fire after several 9-1-1 calls came in at 10:51 a.m., Rorabacher said.

The fire was burning in the basement of an apartment in the 100 block of Stacy when trucks arrived. Firefighters extinguished the blaze "nearly as soon as they got there," Rorabacher said.

A 28-year-old woman living in the apartment above the basement may have suffered from smoke inhalation, but she declined to be taken to the hospital, Rorabacher said.

Careless smoking is suspected to be the cause of the fire.

Canton Commons is an apartment complex near Haggerty and Palmer.

Auction winner event

They spent their money, rolled up their sleeves and hoped they would win.

Some guests at the Eighth Annual Canton Chamber of Commerce Dinner Auction Saturday got lucky, others went home empty-handed. But the majority of the 250 guests took a chance on raffles and live and silent auction items to raise money for the chamber's general operating expenses.

"I think it went really well," said Linda Shapona, chamber executive director. "It was very successful."

The silent auction boasted a table full of jewels, donated by GemStar in Dallas. Live auction items included a day trip to Atlantic City for two, donated by World Travel, a shih Tzu puppy, Easter baskets donated by Richardson's Super Drugs, and a Williamsburg plantation condo for six donated by the Friends of the Chamber.

The evening also provided fun and chance with $2, $5 and $10 auction items that were on display at a preview party before the dinner, auction and dance.

The evening was rounded out with a tribute to Shapona, who is leaving the chamber at the end of March for a similar position with the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

"Linda has been the vitality of the chamber for the last five years," said Janet Volante, chamber president, as she presented a surprised Shapona with a plaque.

"You are the premiere chamber and I hope you know that," Shapona told the evening's guests. "I just want to say thank you for all you do. You are the Chamber of Commerce. Your participation just amazes me."

The evening was sponsored by Blackwell Ford. Other sponsors included First of America Bank, Boyer's Meat Processing, Decorating Den, Fordham Green Apartments, Jack Demmer Ford, state Sen. Loren Bennett, Clark Block & Supply, McCabe Funeral Home, Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson, ProCoil Corp. and Prudential Prime Properties.

Fiegel students seek equipment

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

The Fiegel Elementary School PTO has written 285 letters to members of the community, hoping businesses and individuals will contribute to a fund to purchase new playground equipment for the school on Joy Road near I-275 in Plymouth Township.

Much of the current equipment is nearly 30 years old — the same age as the school. Other equipment has been removed because it has rotted or no longer meets safety standards.

Children as well as parents are donating their pennies.

"We've been collecting pennies since September, and we have close to $1,200 in pennies," said Fiegel principal Barbara Young.

A playscape is being mulled. An informal survey of Fiegel students turned up some other things on the wish list.

"I want to see more basketball hoops. We don't have enough," said fourth-grader Jessie Denton, with her friend Sarah DiMeglio.

"We need two more hoops. That way we can have one for the fifth-grade girls, and a hoop for the boys," said fourth-grader Ilene Hensley.

Fifth-grader Ryan Van Loozen also voted for basketball hoops.

His brother, second-grader Sean Van Loozen, said he thinks Fiegel's playground equipment "is nice. I liked playing on the log city," he said.

"We need a dance club," said Meaghan Kalinowski.

"I think we need more cement for basketball," said fifth-grader Tony Mroz, "and a pool and gym."

Even though the "log city" and all the slides were removed because of safety concerns, some students are content.

"We don't really need anything else. We got a lot," said second-grader Ryan Schley.

So far, contributions have been received from Blackwell Ford, Canton dentists Dr. Henry Pinkney and Joseph Greenbaum, Canton Top Value Muffler, and Century 21 broker Joseph A. Kollins.

Anyone interested in contributing may do so by writing a check payable to Fiegel PTO and sending it to: 39750 Joy Road, Plymouth Township, Mich., 48170.

Miller has new principal

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Peggy J. Brooks, Miller Elementary School's new principal, received a warm welcome at a tea hosted by the PTO recently. Brooks is the fourth person to fill the principal's post at the Canton school this year.

Sam Barresi left shortly after the school year began to accept an administrative job outside the district. Filling in were interim principals Nancy Allan, and for the last several months, Tom Workman.

Brooks joins the district from the East China School Distict in East China Township, located between Port Huron and St. Clair.

"Everyone has made me feel real welcome. They have been just wonderful," said Brooks, This is her first job as principal. From 1989 until now, Brooks was a sixth-grade teacher in an East China middle school.

Arriving mid-year isn't the easiest thing for a principal, or her charges.

"Things have been rolling and moving, and I'm just trying to slide right into that same tread," said Brooks. "In a way, it's good, but there are some drawbacks.

"I had to leave my sixth-graders, and their focus is, 'What about me?' "

Students at Miller are afraid to believe their new principal is here for good.

"Their first questions to me are, 'Are you going to stay?'" said Brooks. "I had a third-grader come up the other day and say, 'Oh, you're here again today.' "

Brooks said giving up her view of Lake Huron was worth it. "I'd forgotten how much fun elementary school is," she said. "The children are so warm. I've had kids do things like hand me food."

Parents are glad this round of musical chairs is over.

"We were fortunate to have Tom Workman, yet we still need definite leadership," said Kathy Horvath, PTO vice president.

The wait was worth it, said Pam Lincoln, one of Miller's most active parents. "Sometimes when you get the best, you don't mind," she said, adding that it will be sad to see the retired Workman go.

Among the others on hand to welcome Brooks were Pam Mack, Miller's activities chair, and PTO president, Lori Napoleon.

Brooks received degrees in education and physical education at Mayville State University in Mayville, N.D. She received advanced degrees in education from Oakland University in Rochester.

She's taken continuing education classes at the University of Alaska, California State University, Dominican State, Ottawa University, and Michigan State University.

In addition to sixth grade, Brooks has taught kindergarten, second grade and physical education.

As a substitute teacher, Brooks taught all subjects in kindergarten through eighth grade; gifted and talented students; special education; Chapter One Reading, itinerant art and music.

Brooks has taught at Our Lady of Immaculate Conception School in Anchorville; the Rio Linda School District in Sacramento, Calif; in Alaska's Anchorage School District; and in the states of Alabama, Texas, Utah, and North Dakota.

Young visitors from France light up life for local families

Detroit Metropolitan Airport was the scene of lots of excitement Monday evening, as Plymouth-Canton students greeted young visitors from the French towns of LeChesnay and Crepy-en-Valois.

The 50 students, ages 9-12, are attending classes at Fiegel and Eriksson elementary schools during their visit, which extends through April 4.

The family of Eric Altemus of Canton is hosting a 9-year-old from France named Natasha. "We all went to the airport last night to meet them, and we spotted Natasha right away," said Altemus, whose daughter Veronica, 10, will visit France in June as part of the Back-to-Back exchange program.

■ The 50 students, ages 9-12, are attending classes at Fiegel and Eriksson elementary schools during their visit, which extends through April 4.

"We bought Natasha a U.S. Olympic jacket. She really liked that," said Altemus while on playground duty at Fiegel Tuesday afternoon.

Altemus himself is benefiting from the program. "I've already doubled my vocabulary," he said. "I now know two French words."

Numerous parties and field trips are planned, including trips to the state Capitol, Ford Motor's Sheldon Road plant, Sugar Bush Farms, the Shrine Circus, Ann Arbor's Hands-On Museum, Fort Malden in Ontario, and the Skatin' Station.

Plymouth-Canton students have participated in the Back-to-Back program for 12 years, giving 300 students the opportunity to learn a foreign language, and to expose them to another culture.

The program is open to students in grades four to six who attend public or private school.

good; it's real colorful, with a lot of detail."

Central secretary Sandy Mueller said students were a big help to Parimucha, who graduated from Rochester High School and the Society of Arts and Crafts in Detroit, now the Center for Creative Studies. "The students would bring in books, and she'd incorporate their suggestions into the mural."

Next on the agenda is another mural, this one depicting marine life. "This will also be on the second floor," said Parimucha, whose daughter Christine and son Nicholas are graduates of Central and Plymouth-Canton Educational Park.

Parimucha worked with Michael Glick Advertising of Southfield before she began raising children.

"I haven't worked in 20 some years. For a first effort, this is wonderful, doing something I enjoy. I might not be getting paid with money, but I am with all the wonderful things everyone is saying about it. It's a great boost for my ego, and it sure beats cleaning house. It's great having a job you really love. How many people have that?"

■ Parimucha, a retired commercial artist who volunteered for the job after learning of Central's need in the school newsletter, said many a student helped her out, including her daughter, eighth-grader Kimberly.

Dole will win the nomination. "We haven't had many voters because it's already been broadcast on the media that Dole is going to be the winner," said Renee Reyer.

"Some people felt, 'What's the point?'" said Susan Schmitz.

An election worker who wouldn't give her name said, "Apathy is alive and well in our country."

Cliff Smith of Precinct 3 said, "If the weather hadn't turned bad, we would have gotten another 40 voters."

Workers also reported that many voters came to the wrong polling places, and others were disappointed to hear they couldn't vote on the Tiger Stadium proposal on the Detroit ballot.

People were really interested in that," Schmitz said. "They thought all of Wayne County should be allowed to vote."

New Canton residents Ken and Barbara Johnson were the last of 44 individuals to vote in Precinct 20. "We wanted to find out where it was because we just moved from Ohio," Ken Johnson said.

"They ought to make it more obvious what door to come in," Barbara Johnson said.

Resident Pete Peterson didn't vote. "I think the last time I voted was for Eisenhower," he said. "I haven't found one (candidate) since that I really cared about."

Clerk Terry Bennett was pleased with how smoothly her first election as clerk went. But it wasn't trouble-free.

A list of absentee-ballot voters distributed to each precinct erroneously contained names of voters who were mailed absentee-ballot applications, but had never received absentee ballots.

About 15 individuals voting early Tuesday morning were challenged by election workers because the faulty list indicated that they had been issued absentee ballots.

Bennett and staff solved the problem and distributed a correct list to all precincts by 9 a.m., she said.

Management and Information Services coordinator Brad Thompson later corrected the computer programming error that created the bogus list, Bennett said.

"He went in the computer guts and fixed it so it wouldn't happen again," she said.

Resident

Harrison was also contacted by Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson, R-Canton Township. Patterson got the tour Friday and agreed to "go to bat for" Harrison.

The county has neglected many ditches in western Wayne County, Patterson said. Some ditches haven't been cleaned in more than 50 years, he said.

"If (Harrison) has had them cleaned twice in 58 years, he's probably ahead of the game," Patterson said.

Petix visited Harrison Tuesday and agreed to "do some spot ditching, blowing some tubes out" this year.

"He's got a legitimate complaint," Petix said. "There's a little bit of cave in here and there, but no major catastrophe. Standing water he doesn't have a lot of. I measured two inches."

Petix, who will retire March 29, said he first met Harrison 12 years ago standing in a ditch with his shovel. "The reason why he's lived so long is that he's out doing this stuff," Petix said.

Student: U-M Dearborn great, but needs space

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Even the adjunct faculty are great, and being a commuter student isn't so bad either, a University of Michigan-Dearborn student told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

"I planned on transferring to Ann Arbor when I could afford the extra costs," said junior Alicia M. Kolar, a Redford Union High graduate. "But after a year at UM-Dearborn, I knew this was where I wanted to stay."

"Our student was a real powerhouse," said a UM-D spokesman after the March 8 budget hearing in Ypsilanti. Gov. John Engler is recommending $22.1 million — a hefty 11.6 percent hike — for UM-D though only 5 percent overall for the 15 public universities.

Kolar, a vice president of the student government who is majoring in history and political science, told lawmakers that students "are very thankful for the new buildings that are going up on campus now. They will give us much needed space for labs and lecture halls.

"But we need more space. The biggest problem a commuter student faces regarding on-campus facilities is space to study." Because of jobs and families at home, she said, students need group study space on campus.

Kolar touched a responsive chord with lawmakers when she talked about faculty quality. "I've had several classes with a history professor who is a nationally recognized expert on the Holocaust. One of my political science professors worked in the Carter Administration, and another is renowned for his knowledge of Middle Eastern affairs.

"Even the adjunct professors at UM-D have impressive credentials," she said, citing District Judge William Runco (a former legislator) and Supreme Court Justice Conrad Mallett Jr.

"We are cost-conscious," Kolar said of the student body. "I'm a full-time student, I have a part-time job, and I received some financial aid."

UM-D Chancellor James C. Renick said his growing campus has remained "student centered" and focused on teaching. He called Engler's budget recommendation "an investment in our capacity to continue to respond to those needs."

"Our enrollment has reached a historic peak (8,200)," he said.

"More than 25 percent of our students are enrolled in engineering, and more than 18 percent are pursuing graduate or professional degrees. Nearly 15 percent of the total credit hours generated on our campus are in natural sciences with significant laboratory components that raise the cost of instruction.

"We are committed to hold our tuition increase close to the inflation rate this fall."

Talented teens take to stage

The Plymouth Park Players, composed of students from Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools, will rollick on stage while performing "Babes in Arms," a 1930s musical comedy with music by Richard Rodgers and lyrics by Lorenz Hart.

The production will be performed at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday at Plymouth Salem High School auditorium. Tickets are $6 for reserved seating and $5 for general admission in the balcony.

The story centers on young actors who agree to work in a summer stock theater for free so they can be discovered and then paid. The producer has no intention of paying them, so the young actors figure out a way to do their own show.

The players recently received a first Division Rating Overall and second Place in Class A for the state for their performance of William Inge's "Picnic" in a state competition.

"The students were very comfortable and believable in their roles even though most of the characters were much older than they are," said Gloria Logan, the drama teacher and coach.

A STEAKHOUSE YOU MIGHT EXPECT TO FIND IN NEW YORK, San Francisco or Chicago is now here in Farmington Hills: Carvers.

Consider how each of your senses is rewarded by a visit to Carvers.

Imagine the setting if you will. Warm, fine wood interiors. Big comfortable chairs. The clinking of wine glasses. Aromatic smells of steak broiling. And finally, the taste of a perfectly seared and seasoned steak.

This is Carvers, a new restaurant based on a tradition that's authentic and uniquely American. The steakhouse. Classy, but never stuffy.

We're not about trends. We're all about food: steaks, prime rib and seafood.

And now you can experience Carvers for yourself, right here in Farminton Hills. Please call for dinner or lunch reservations to avoid any longer of a wait.

Long before you arrive, we begin preparing your steak. First with the careful selection of USDA Choice Midwestern corn fed beef. Hand selected and trimmed to exacting specifications. Once your steak is seasoned with our unique herb blend, it's finally ready to broil.

1. "Waiter, tell me the name of that vineyard again."
2. A good sense of smell. Absolutely essential at Carvers.
3. See our steak. Your mouth will water. A natural reaction.
4. You'll feel the quality. All the way down to the napkins.
5. Ten thousand taste buds. Each happy to be at Carvers.

McDowell keeps tabs on tuition tax credit

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Dr. Richard McDowell and 27 other community college presidents are watching the State Capitol closely for the fate of the tuition tax credit.

If the tax credit survives, McDowell's Schoolcraft College will get a state aid boost of 6.44 percent. Others will get hikes ranging from 2.5 to 11.4 percent.

If it's repealed, as Gov. John Engler proposes, Schoolcraft could get an 8.72 percent boost; others, 4.1 to 14.9 percent.

That's in a time when inflation, as measured by the consumer price index (CPI), is running around 3 percent.

"It's tough to repeal a tax credit," McDowell said last week after a meeting of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee on community colleges. The 1995 law — sponsored by Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton — gives a family an annual $250 tax credit for up to four years if the college holds tuition hikes to the rate of the CPI.

"Schoolcraft and most of the community colleges held the line on tuition increases," McDowell said. "We raised ours $1.25 last year."

All sources tied

McDowell is less than fond of the tuition tax credit. "It means all three sources of our income are limited to inflation," he said. Items:

- The tuition tax credit limits tuition hikes to the rate of CPI inflation.
- The Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution trims property tax rates when the tax base (assessments) grows faster than the CPI. Proposal A of 1994 caps assessment increases to the CPI or 5 percent, whichever is less.

IF YOU HAVE OSTEOPOROSIS, NOW THERE'S NEW HOPE.

NOW THERE'S FOSAMAX.

INTRODUCING THE FIRST HORMONE-FREE TREATMENT FOR OSTEOPOROSIS PROVEN TO REBUILD BONE IN WOMEN PAST MENOPAUSE.

It's true. New FOSAMAX has been proven to restore lost bone in many women past menopause. This is good news for the millions who have this bone-thinning disease.

Is this breakthrough new treatment right for you? Ask your doctor. It should be used with caution if you have certain stomach or digestive problems, and should not be used if you have severe kidney disease, low levels of calcium in your blood, or are pregnant or nursing.

And like any prescription drug, FOSAMAX may cause side effects, most commonly stomach and muscle/bone pain. But generally, the side effects are mild and usually have not stopped people from taking it.

New, hormone-free FOSAMAX. If you're like most women with osteoporosis, it could be an exciting new option for you. And a way to go from just hoping for stronger bones to actually having them.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR. OR CALL 1 800 363-9189 FOR MORE INFORMATION.

FOSAMAX® (alendronate sodium tablets)

Please read the Patient Information below and discuss it with your doctor.

FOSAMAX® (alendronate sodium tablets)
Patient Information about
FOSAMAX® (FOSS-uh-max) for Osteoporosis
Generic name: alendronate sodium
(a-LEN-dro-nate)

Please read this information before you start taking FOSAMAX. Also, read the Patient Information leaflet each time you renew your prescription, just in case anything has changed. Remember, the leaflet does not take the place of careful discussions with your doctor. You and your doctor should discuss FOSAMAX when you start taking your medication and at regular checkups.

What is FOSAMAX?

FOSAMAX is for the treatment of osteoporosis (thinning of bone) in women after menopause. You will find more information about osteoporosis at the end of the leaflet.

How does FOSAMAX work?

FOSAMAX works by:

- Reducing the activity of the cells that cause bone loss
- Decreasing the faster rate of bone loss that occurs after menopause
- Increasing the amount of bone in most patients

These effects are seen as soon as three months after therapy with FOSAMAX has begun. These effects continue as long as you keep taking FOSAMAX. The density of bone increases and the bone is less likely to fracture. Thus, FOSAMAX reverses the progression of osteoporosis.

How should I take FOSAMAX?

There are six important things you must do to help make sure you will benefit from FOSAMAX:

1. Take FOSAMAX once a day, every day.
2. Take FOSAMAX first thing in the morning with plain water only.
   Not mineral water
   Not coffee or tea
   Not juice
   FOSAMAX is effective only if taken when your stomach is empty.
3. Take FOSAMAX at least 30 minutes before your first meal, beverage, or any other medication, including antacids, calcium supplements, and vitamins.
   Waiting for less than 30 minutes or taking FOSAMAX with food, beverages other than plain water, or other medications will lessen the effect of FOSAMAX by interfering with its absorption into the body. Waiting longer than 30 minutes will improve the absorption of FOSAMAX.
4. Take 1 tablet with a full glass (6-8 oz.) of plain water. Do not lie down for at least 30 minutes after taking FOSAMAX.
   These actions will help the FOSAMAX tablet reach your stomach quickly and help avoid irritation of your esophagus (the tube that connects your mouth with your stomach).
5. It is important that you continue taking FOSAMAX for as long as your doctor prescribes it. FOSAMAX can treat your osteoporosis only if you continue to take it.
6. If you miss a dose do not take it later in the day. Continue your usual schedule of 1 tablet once a day the next morning.

Who should not take FOSAMAX?

Patients with:

- Low levels of calcium in their blood
- Severe kidney disease
- Allergy to FOSAMAX

Patients who are:

- Pregnant or Nursing

FOSAMAX is for use by women after menopause. If you are pregnant or nursing, you should not be taking FOSAMAX. Talk to your doctor.

What other medical problems should I discuss with my doctor?

Talk to your doctor about any:

- Problems with swallowing
- Stomach or digestive problems
- Other medical problems you have or have had in the past

What are the possible side effects of FOSAMAX?

Like all prescription drugs, FOSAMAX may cause side effects. Side effects usually have been mild. They generally have not caused patients to stop taking FOSAMAX.

Some patients treated with FOSAMAX in clinical studies experienced abdominal (stomach) pain, which was the most commonly reported side effect. Less frequently reported were other digestive disturbances such as:

Nausea, heartburn, irritation or pain of the esophagus (the tube that connects your mouth with your stomach), vomiting, difficulty swallowing, a full or bloated feeling in the stomach, constipation, diarrhea and gas.

Muscle/bone pain, headache, or an altered sense of taste were also experienced by some patients. Rarely, a rash has occurred.

Any time you have a medical problem you think may be related to FOSAMAX, talk to your doctor.

What should I know about osteoporosis?

Normally your bones are being rebuilt all the time. First, old bone is removed (resorbed). Then new bone is formed. This balanced process of resorbing and forming bone keeps your skeleton healthy and strong.

Osteoporosis is a thinning and weakening of the bones. It is common in women after menopause. Menopause happens when the ovaries stop producing the female hormone, estrogen, or are removed (which may occur, for example, at the time of a hysterectomy). After menopause, bone is removed faster than it is formed, so bone loss occurs and bones become weaker.

At the start osteoporosis usually has no symptoms, but it can result in fractures (broken bones). Fractures usually cause pain. Fractures of the bones of the spine may not be painful, but over time they cause height loss. Eventually the spine becomes curved and the body becomes bent over. Fractures may happen during normal, everyday activity, such as lifting, or from minor injury that would normally not cause bone to break. Fractures most often occur at the hip, spine, or wrist. This can lead to pain, severe disability, or loss of mobility.

How can osteoporosis in postmenopausal women be treated?

- Medication. Your doctor may prescribe FOSAMAX.
- Lifestyle changes. In addition to FOSAMAX, your doctor may recommend one or more of the following lifestyle changes:
  - Stop smoking. Smoking appears to increase the risk of osteoporosis.
  - Reduce the use of alcohol. Too much alcohol appears to increase the risk of osteoporosis and injuries that may cause fractures.
  - Exercise regularly. Like muscles, bones need exercise to stay strong and healthy. Exercise must be safe to prevent injuries including fractures. You should consult your doctor before you begin any exercise program.
  - Eat a balanced diet. Adequate dietary calcium is important to patients with osteoporosis. Your doctor can advise you whether you need to change your diet or take any dietary supplements such as calcium or vitamin D.

This medication is prescribed for a particular condition. Do not use it for another condition or give the drug to others. Keep FOSAMAX and all medicines out of the reach of children. If you suspect that more than the prescribed dose of this medicine has been taken, contact your local poison control center or emergency room immediately.

The Patient Information leaflet provides a summary of information about FOSAMAX. If you have any questions or concerns about either FOSAMAX or osteoporosis, talk to your doctor. In addition, talk to your pharmacist or other health care provider.

■ Until this year, state aid recommendations by three governors have been below or barely at the rate of inflation.

It means, said McDowell, that if there is a recession and one source of income drops drastically, the colleges have no way of making it up — except severe cuts.

Lawmakers are split in three camps on the tuition tax credit. Bennett wants to keep it and keep pressure on the colleges to cap tuition hikes. Supporting Engler, Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, has a bill to repeal it. Democrats want to expand tuition tax credits to all public colleges.

Meanwhile, state budget figures for the coming school year look good, according to an analysis of the House Fiscal Agency.

Engler found 3.3 percent more money, but with the closing of Highland Park Community College, the total increase becomes 5 percent.

Engler proposes to spread the additional 5 percent around by giving all 28 remaining colleges a 2.5 percent boost and spreading the other 2.5 percent based on a formula. That gives Schoolcraft a hike of 6.44 percent before the tuition tax credit money is considered.

In gross terms, Engler proposes $261 million for all colleges and $10.2 million for Schoolcraft. If the tuition tax credit is repealed, all colleges get an additional $5.2 million and Schoolcraft $230,000.

Other issues

Lawmakers are debating two other issues which would have a smaller impact on Schoolcraft.

One is more money for "at-risk" students — those who need developmental and college prep work. The other is the Indian tuition tax credit, which Engler wants to repeal in favor of aid to all poor students, regardless of tribal origin.

The bill to repeal the tuition tax credit is Senate Bill 887. Refer to that number when writing to your legislator, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

Society seeks car donations

The Society of St. Vincent De Paul accepts donations of used cars to fund important programs the society runs for the poor.

Donated cars will be sold generating additional income for the society's camps, food depots, and employment agency, services are designed to help the needy in six Southeastern Michigan counties.

To donate a used car to the society call (800) 309-AUTO or (313) 972-3100. All 1996 donations to the society, are tax deductible for the 1996 tax year.

Kennel club seeks essays that go to dogs

The Livonia Kennel Club Inc. is sponsoring an essay contest for high school students in grades 9-12.

The essay must be no fewer than 750 words and no more than 1,000 words on the subject: "What my dog means to me."

Deadline for entries is May 1 at midnight with no exceptions. All Wayne and Oakland county high school students are eligible.

The essay must contain the breed, name and age of the dog. The dog (or dogs) may be either a purebred or mixed breed.

The essay may describe the dog's history with the family and how having the pet has fulfilled the essay writer's life. Photographs of the pet are welcome. Photographs will be returned to all who include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The essays will be judged by a panel of Livonia Kennel Club members. Content, grammar and punctuation will be judged.

Each student must state his or her full name, grade, school with city and school phone number, along with an address that they can be reached at, should they win.

Grand prize for the best essay submitted will be $200 and a rosette, second prize is $100 and a rosette and third prize is $50 and a rosette.

In addition, there will be 15 honorable mention ribbons awarded with a $10 cash prize.

All prizes will be awarded at the Livonia Kennel Club Fall Dog Show at Schoolcraft College Livonia Campus, on Haggerty between Six and Seven Mile roads, at noon on Sept. 8. None of the prizes will be mailed. Show hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Send entries to LKC essay contest, 33551 Leona, Garden City, 48135.

OPINION

Goodbye
Shapona made an impression

It would be nice — for the benefit of Canton — if Linda Shapona, Canton Chamber of Commerce executive director, could be cloned.

That way the community would continue to benefit from the enthusiasm, creativity, honesty and commitment that she brought to her role at the helm of the Canton chamber for almost six years.

Unfortunately, Shapona is leaving for the executive director's post at the Westland Chamber of Commerce at the end of March.

To say she will be missed is an understatement. With her Shapona will take the spark that increased membership and programming in the chamber under her leadership. With her goes the insistence that the chamber stand up and take its role in improving the whole community — not just the business community. And with her goes the warmth and personality that she brought to a chamber of varied needs and goals.

It goes without saying that Shapona put the chamber on the Canton map. When considering the various institutions that make up the fabric of a community, the chamber always took a premier spot and stood up to its responsibilities under her leadership.

While she led the chamber down new roads, such as the Leadership Canton program, and the first Program of Work, Shapona accomplished her goals with skill, creativity and humor.

When asked, Shapona will say her greatest accomplishments were increasing membership and volunteer commitment, as well as getting the word out about the chamber.

That she did well and the community only need to ask the local media who took the first spot on the Rolodex. She would never hesitate to ask for help or hesitate to give it.

But Shapona did plenty more than that and with a certain aplomb you just don't find in many chamber managers. She is one of those rare individuals who lived in the public spotlight without getting blinded by it. She put not only all of her physical and mental energy into her job, but her heart as well.

It can't be forgotten that during her tenure she received a number of awards, including the prestigious Michigan Chamber of Commerce Executives Award, which is designed to recognize educational and professional achievement in the chamber management profession. The community also recognized her in 1991 with a Canton Community Achiever Award for increasing chamber membership and business vitality in Canton.

Though it's not possible to clone Shapona, the community can rest assured it is not losing out entirely. She will continue to serve Canton as a member of the Economic Development Corporation and the Canton Hall of Fame committee.

It should not have been a surprise to anyone that another chamber sought out Shapona's expertise and enthusiasm. She must be admired for seeking out new goals and challenges and for taking a step into the unknown. But that's not surprising for Shapona.

Thankfully, she's only a short distance down Ford Road and will remain a Canton resident. Her decision to leave understandably has not been easy. But that is Shapona's heart shining through. She knows what she will miss and yet knows what she will gain elsewhere.

The community can only hope that the chamber board of directors will find a new executive director with similar attributes. We could only be so lucky!

Prosecutor earns appreciation

Residents of Wayne County should feel grateful that we have been relieved of the spectacle of the Kevorkian "trial" that our neighbors in Oakland County have had to endure in recent weeks.

We have been spared the spectacle of trial by press conference, the shrill voices crying out for "justice," accusations of persecution, the races to and from the court of appeals, and invectives leveled against the prosecution by the defense and vice versa.

And we have been spared having to invest $1 million or so in public funds prosecuting a case that had little chance of success from the beginning. The trial became a stage occupied by actors more interested in being viewed by the public than in achieving justice.

For avoiding such embarrassment in our county the Observer Newspapers thank Prosecutor John D. O'Hair and his staff. Frankly, we would have been surprised and disappointed if the Kevorkian trial debacle had repeated itself south of Eight Mile.

Over the years, under L. Brooks Patterson and then protege Richard Thompson, the Oakland Prosecutor's Office has been more politicized than Wayne County and has more often sought the glare of television cameras. And if Oakland residents don't object, and keep re-electing that type of prosecutor, then that's fine.

Such examples, though, make us more appreciative of the style and professionalism of Prosecutor O'Hair.

The Observer Newspapers long has recognized O'Hair as a public servant. A key difference has to be O'Hair's experience of spending 15 years on the Wayne Circuit Court bench, performing in a way to earn the reputation of being one of the top circuit jurists of his time.

■ Beyond being a competent lawyer with judicial experience, O'Hair is a civil gentleman who tries to elevate the law above the political arena. He would not do anything deliberately that would put the law or justice in a bad light.

Beyond being a competent lawyer with judicial experience, O'Hair is a civil gentleman who tries to elevate the law above the political arena. He would not do anything deliberately that would put the law or justice in a bad light.

Wayne County has had two run-ins with Dr. Kevorkian. First was the Thomas Hyde case which O'Hair investigated and decided to prosecute — primarily because the doctor talked about his involvement in the death before television cameras.

O'Hair assigned an experienced and very able senior prosecutor, Tim Kenny, to the case. And the atmosphere of the trial was far different than the latest episode.

In the Hyde case, a jury acquitted Kevorkian. When the second Wayne County case in Redford Township came up, O'Hair decided not to go to trial because there was no reasonable cause to believe prosecution would be successful.

The difference in analysis and performance is striking. And the difference has not gone by unnoticed by the Observer, which hopes that our readers also appreciate the high quality public servant who serves our county as prosecutor.

Come on, already!

Anxious for spring: Jennifer Galda, of Roe Street in Plymouth, celebrated the first day of spring Wednesday the same way most of us did — by clearing away several inches of snow dumped by an overnight storm. Take heart, though — it will be no time at all before we're complaining about the heat.

LETTERS

It may be too late

Your recent article regarding the lower speed limit on Morton Taylor near Hulsing Elementary mentioned things being done by Canton Township which can be viewed as positive, but are merely a drop in the bucket for the following reasons:

First, the trailer with the radar equipment can only verify what the speeding motorist already knows, thanks to his or her speedometer. This trailer can't match the effectiveness of the same equipment in a police car.

Another concern is the lack of attention given to the streets near the school and Morton Taylor. I have requested additional patrols twice in the past two weeks. It is not uncommon to see motorists driving nearly double the posted speed limit, particularly on some of the long, straight side streets, such as Emerson, Kingsbridge, Versailles and Lombardy.

This is further complicated by too few speed limit signs, parked cars on the street, and the lack of crossing guards within the Windsor Park subdivision. It appears as though the township is not proactively addressing some of these problems. If and when they do, it may be too late.

Dan Huculak, Canton

Let them know

It is not just a cliche. Rather than fruitlessly protesting at planning commission meetings regarding the unnecessary and excessive development of our area, everybody can show their displeasure in a way that will sure get the attention of the new Kroger and Super Kmart developers. In Their Pocketbooks!

Boycotting all Kmart and Kroger stores in this area will reduce their profits (with all the competition for the same goods, it should not be a hardship to shop elsewhere). Perhaps then these companies will reconsider building these unnecessary (and probably soon-to-be vacant) monster stores.

There are already plenty of newly built and vacated stores in Westland and its environs for these businesses to take over. There needs to be some kind of disincentive when a company leaves a large building vacant.

Let's all let Kmart and Kroger know we mean business by taking our business elsewhere!

Cheryl Walker, Canton

Disappointed with coverage

I would like to take this time to comment on your coverage, or lack thereof, of an issue that I feel warranted a great deal more attention.

The issue I am referring to is that of the pending redistricting in the Plymouth-Canton schools. The proposal was presented at the school board meeting Monday, March 11. As part of this proposal, the committee has scheduled two public hearings to allow the community a chance to voice their opinions and concerns. The only coverage that was given to the issue in the Thursday edition of the Canton Observer was two paragraphs on the third page under a heading about budget meetings.

I subscribe to the paper to be advised on local issues and am very disappointed with this coverage.

I would recommend that you print more information in Monday's edition. In addition, attend these public hearings and cover them appropriately. You are doing a great disservice to your readers if you neglect to do this.

Suzanne Dershem, Canton

I'm disappointed

To Robert Shefferly, I was so very disappointed in you when you voted on the proposal for the disbandment of the Crickets program. I had thought that setting on a board for so many years with my husband, Richard Palmer, that some of his integrity would have rubbed off on you.

You should never have allowed yourself to vote on that issue. The conflict of interest was so great that I still can't believe you would involve yourself in that vote. The fact that your daughter, Patti Mundy, is so deeply involved and directly benefited from the Crickets program is more than enough reason for you to have abstained from the vote. I really am disappointed with your principles.

Joan Palmer, Canton

POINTS OF VIEW

Development issues call for honest discussion

When is it all going to stop? Canton Township, Tom Yack and his colleagues have continued to ignore the wishes of the people, thus we see continued development and denaturalization. The township board continues to claim innocence when in fact members must carry some authority when deciding what land should be used for what purpose. If their hands are truly tied (as Tom Yack puts it), then what is the purpose of "unanimous approval"? Why not just let the chips (wood chips) fall as they may?

■ The people, that's us (you may refer to us as residents), do not want continued development of the land that surrounds us.

■ The contractors and developers, that's them (you may refer to them as the organizations that provide money for your campaigns, etc., of course now that you are receiving donations, you have to lean in their favor), do not care if a shopping mall has 10 miles of asphalt, or all the trees are stripped down, because it is easier to build without them. They could care less about the traffic conditions, or semi-truck noise, or destruction of wetlands.

Why did Kmart receive the green light so quickly to build a superstore behind the Shell station at Ford and Haggerty, when they are nearly at Chapter 11 anyway, in addition to occupying a building that will soon be available down the street at Ford and Sheldon?

What is preventing them from using that building? If it's too small, why can't they destroy it and build a new one in its place? What we are going to end up with eventually are two empty buildings, with miles of empty parking lots and foreclosure signs posted on the windows. Also, we cannot forget that this is the same company that has continued to ignore the wishes of the community to lower its 30-foot-tall rusted advertisement (Sheldon and Ford store) to the new recommended lowered heighth, as every other company in the area has graciously complied with.

Why can't we learn from other communities such as Grosse Ile, and make attempts to purchase vacant land to prevent this overdevelopment? Contrary to popular belief, the people of Canton are fed up with this overdevelopment and are getting frustrated at being ignored by their elected officials.

GUEST COLUMNIST

JOHN WOHLETZ

So what if there are parcels of land in the area that do not have cement structures on them surrounded by 5 miles of asphalt? So what if we wish to see trees and natural surroundings, and not look at undeveloped land as if it were a big waste of money, and not a tax generator?

This word "developed," what does it truly mean? Does it mean that a parcel of land is not considered developed until it has established a practical use to generate tax revenue? Or does it mean "to go through a natural process of growth and differentiation, to become apparent"?

If Canton Township is so concerned about tree preservation, then why is it that we see trees with 3-foot diameters ground down to a 45-foot-high pile of chips southwest of Ford Road and Canton Center (December 1995)? Why is it we see large stretches of trees ground down in the winter time (destruction is less noticeable since the trees do not have leaves) just southeast of Lilley and Cherry Hill roads (December 1995)?

Now because of Kmart's expansion plans, we are going to see all the trees mowed down northwest of Ford and Haggerty.

Although Canton hired one person at $30,000 a year to keep an eye on developers and to keep the board informed of where trees are, etc., and if this person truly did what he is being paid to do, then how could this be happening? Isn't this person taking pictures and tagging trees to prevent such incidents? Why is it that whenever a developer has to appear before the board to explain why he accidentally mowed down all the trees, he is just slapped on the wrist and told that he has to replace each one? Aside from a little humiliation, it is actually cheaper for a developer to face the board and replace trees, than to have to work around them. Where is the incentive to prevent such occurrences? Why not impose some stiff fines?

Mr. Yack and his staff need to take a long hard look in the mirror and redefine the intended purpose of their jobs. That is to listen to the needs and wishes of the people, to make decisions on behalf of those recommendations, and if timing is not feasible to inform the public of some development event, for the board to call a recess and petition the people prior to further discussion about the subject.

John J. Wohletz is a Canton resident who has previously expressed concern about development in the township. If you would like to submit a guest column, contact Canton Observer editor Joanne Maliszewski, 459-2700.

Taxpayers shouldn't foot the bill for speeches

If you've ever channel surfed on cable television, chances are you've had the opportunity to watch special order speeches broadcast on C-SPAN.

Special order speeches are essentially an after-hours platform for members of the U.S. House of Representatives — a time when members can air our views and address in detail any issue that we believe is of concern to our constituents. During special order sessions, members can reserve time on the House floor to speak, and C-SPAN will provide coverage free of charge.

Free of charge to members, that is. Recently, several constituents asked me how much it cost to hold a special order session and who was paying for it. I was shocked to discover that this congressional "public service" actually costs taxpayers an estimated $5,000-$7,000 per hour; some 75-100 congressional employees have to work overtime to keep the House open and transcribe the speeches. In 1995 alone, the total bill for special orders came to an estimated $2 million — outlays above and beyond the $800,000 Representational Allowance that each member of Congress already receives to manage his or her offices and communicate with constituents, courtesy of the taxpayers.

Where I come from, $2 million dollars is a lot of money. As a Congresswoman dedicated to government ethics and reform, I believe that my colleagues and I have a responsibility to pick up the tab for this luxury, that we must put our money where our mouths are, so to speak.

And so I have introduced legislation, H.R. 263, to require members of Congress to pay for special order speeches out of our own Representational Allowances. These sums are more than enough to subsidize our own televised speeches. While an hour of time on C-SPAN may cost $5,000-$7,000, five minutes may cost less than $600, a price that any of us can certainly afford. As it is, we already receive one free minute of televised speech each day before a session convenes. And, as it is, I returned $250,000 from my own 1995 Representational Allowance to the U.S. Treasury. $800,000 is more than enough for members to cover the operating costs of our offices and still pay for C-Span time each week, if we want.

■ GUEST COLUMN

■ Where I come from, $2 million dollars is a lot of money. As a Congresswoman dedicated to government ethics and reform, I believe that my colleagues and I have a responsibility to pick up the tab for this luxury, that we must put our money where our mouths are, so to speak. And so I have introduced legislation, H.R. 263, to require members of Congress to pay for special order speeches out of our own Representational Allowances.

Opponents of my bill argue that it is an attempt to regulate speech and that it will hinder elected officials in communicating with our constituents. However, HR 263 does not in any way attempt to curtail, dictate, or censor what is said in special orders. It simply states that members must pay for our televised speeches using our office allowances — the same way we use our allowances to pay for particular mailings, telephone calls, radio recording sessions, TV taping services, and other methods of communication.

I believe strongly that the free exchange of ideas and an ongoing dialogue with the public is crucial to our democracy. At the same time, however, when the public trust in government is at an all-time low and government expenditures are high, I also believe it's reasonable to ask members of Congress to watch our own budgets the way most other Americans do. Free speech and government accountability should not be mutually exclusive. Congress has to make it clear to the people we serve that when we spend taxpayers' money, we do it as responsibly and carefully as possible.

As for what we say, that choice is — and must always remain — ours. However, if there's one thing I know that all our constituents would like to hear, it's that we're cheap with the public buck.

Congresswoman Lynn Rivers is a Democrat from Ann Arbor. She represents the 13th District, which includes part of Livonia, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Garden City and Westland.

Efforts, integrity draw praise for Honigman

Legislators typically gush praise when one of their number departs. But the rhetoric was unusually simple and deep last week when David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, announced his resignation from the state Senate at age 40 due to ill health. The praise was genuine, even if it came from lawmakers.

"When I was running for the Senate, he threw himself in body and soul and gave a piece of himself," said Sen. Mike Bouchard, R-Birmingham. "Our collective presence will be diminished."

"He was the only one who came out and helped me, even after I was nominated," Rep. Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, said in an interview.

"I think it has been good fortune to have served with you both in the House and Senate," said Democratic Senate leader John Cherry of Clio. "We haven't always agreed on issues, but I do know that you have always approached your responsibilities as a thoughtful individual; one who has taken the time to examine an issue, and you have not taken your positions lightly."

"You have always brought to this body a stern commitment in public service, a willingness to do your homework, and an ability to see through the facades that have been placed on issues . . . Your commitment to urban areas is one that I applaud," said Democratic Senate floor leader Virgil Smith, who praises a Republican about as often as hell freezes over.

"You have been most fair and compassionate. The next time I sing 'For He's a Jolly Good Fellow,' I will have you on my mind," said the singing senator, George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn.

"You are a person I truly admire," said Sen. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion. "I do believe you'll be back in public service."

"Every step of the way, you've dedicated yourself to issues," said Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus, R-Alto.

There was much more, but you have the flavor.

The public will miss Honigman, too, because in the entire Legislature there are only a fistful of champions of open government. Honigman was working on revisions to strengthen the Open Meetings Act and Freedom of Information Act, the two "sunshine laws." He had a bill called the "PAC Pulverizer," aimed at political action committees.

TIM RICHARD

■ Honigman is an attorney, but he doesn't talk legalese. Before studying law at the University of Michigan, he majored in philosophy at Yale. It showed.

Kaza is an avowed and vocal supporter of openness. Ditto with Rep. Laura Baird, D-Okemos, who keeps getting bashed on near-party line votes when she advocates strengthening FOIA.

Otherwise, Lansing is turning the sunshine laws into a dark fog, with one crippling amendment after another. Gov. Engler's handpicked Secchia Commission issued a report, "Toward a User-Friendly Government," that listed the Freedom of Information Act as a "counter-productive" law. That's the secretive, exclusionary mind set in the Capitol Building these days.

Honigman is an attorney, but he doesn't talk legalese. Before studying law at the University of Michigan, he majored in philosophy at Yale. It showed. Honigman searched for the big idea to improve society before working on the mechanics to put it into statute.

I rate him among the half-dozen finest I've ever covered, a category that includes Bill Milliken. As Mat Dunaskiss said, let us hope that in a few short years Honigman can return to public service.

Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events.

Are you a Compulsive Overeater?

	Yes	No
1. Do you eat when you're not hungry?
2. Do you go on eating binges for no apparent reason?
3. Do you have feelings of guilt and remorse after overeating?
4. Do you give too much time and thought to food?
5. Is your weight affecting the way you live your life?
6. Do you use fasting, strenuous exercise, vomiting or laxatives to control your weight?
7. Have you tried to diet for a week (or longer), only to fall short of your goal?

If you answer "yes" to three or more of these questions, you may be a compulsive overeater. You are not alone. Millions of Americans suffer from this disease.

Compulsive overeating is a painful, relentless illness that interferes with every aspect of life. It is a disease that gets progressively worse if left untreated.

Weight gain often accompanies this illness. But not always. Many compulsive overeaters maintain normal body weight by strict diets, fasting, strenuous exercise, vomiting, or excessive laxative use. These methods are ineffective and medically dangerous.

Weight is not the problem, and dieting is not the solution. The problem is the disease of compulsive overeating, and the solution is a program of treatment and recovery.

The Eating Disorders Clinic (EDC) of St. Mary Hospital offers an outpatient treatment program that leads to lasting recovery. Our approach is comprehensive. We help our patients make lifestyle changes that give them renewed confidence in themselves and more control over their lives. Gradually, the chronic binge/diet cycle is replaced by a healthy, more satisfying, and more productive way of life. With food in its proper place, weight normalizes.

At EDC, we work as a team -- psychiatrist, physician, nutritionist, and specially trained therapists -- to diagnose and treat eating disorders. This experienced staff provides treatment with understanding and sensitivity.

If compulsive overeating is a problem for you, or someone you love, take the first step toward recovery. Call us today at (313) 655-2936 or 1-800-494-1654. WE CAN HELP.

Karen Meier

Baby and me and local TV

An outlandish thing happened here a couple of weeks ago. It was a Tuesday, and usually Tuesdays are not at all outlandish. At least here. But this time, yikes.

It all started when my phone rang. It was late in the morning and I was still plowing through my morning housework. I know, that's bad. I should've been done, but I wasn't. I've recently learned that being a mother of five is a leading cause of messy and disorderly and chaotic looking houses, especially on Tuesday mornings.

Anyway, I was home with my three young sons that Tuesday. My two older children were at school, and my husband was at work. And even though the house was messy, life was good. So when the phone rang, I answered it with a cheery, "Hello."

"Hello," a woman said. "Is this Karen Meier?"

"Yes, it is," I replied.

"This is Paula Tutman," she said, "from Channel 4 News."

"Yeah, right," I was about to say. "And I'm Tom Brokaw." Fortunately, I kept my smarty-pants remark to myself.

And then she said she'd just read the "Family Room" column about my baby's arrival in the van en route to the hospital. She said something about her producer having seen it in the paper and thought it would make a good story for the

'Stepping Out': Zonta helps First Step

The Zonta Club of Farmington/Novi Area is counting on the four F's to attract people to Laurel Park Place's Parisian store March 24. That's when the retailer and club will host a benefit for First Step.

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

You can step into spring and at the same time help the victims of domestic violence when Parisian and the Zonta Club of Farmington/Novi Area present "First Step Is Stepping Out in Style."

The second annual benefit will feature the four F's — fun, food, fashions and festivities — 6-9 p.m. Sunday, March 24, at Parisian's Laurel Park Place store in Livonia.

A family-oriented event, there will be a formal runway fashion show featuring 15 children and grandchildren of Zonta members and six informal showings of men's, petite and women's career wear, including casual business, and some resort wear, said Beverlee McAllister, the benefit chairwoman.

Twenty area restaurants like Genitti's, Golden Mushroom, Country Epicure, Cozy Cafe, Macaroni Grill, Carlson Catering, Edward's, the Olive Garden in Novi and Villa de Roma will provide the supper, while Silver Sounds DJ and strolling musical groups will entertain patrons.

"We're trying to have the family involved and that's one reason we have children in the show," McAllister said. "Last year, the children had a good time. The DJ catered to the kids and they had a good time."

There also will be a caricaturist, along with an opportunity to make potpourri or caramel apples and pose for photographs with the Easter bunny.

Parisian will be closed to the general public, offering party goers private "after hours" shopping during the second week of the store's spring sale.

"According to the store manager, it's the best sale of the year," McAllister said. "And if you spend $150, Parisian will give you your $25 (ticket price) back."

Last year, 711 people turned out for the benefit, raising $20,000 for First Step, western Wayne County's project on domestic violence and sexual assault. The goal is $25,000 this year, and with donations from the community, the entire $25 ticket price is earmarked for the agency.

Founded in 1979 with state and local funds, First Step maintains a domestic violence program, a 24-hour help line, temporary emergency shelter, a 24-hour rape crisis response team, Sexual Assault CRE Program, violence intervention program, non-residential children's program and FLAP (First Step Legal Advocacy Program).

First Step depends on public and private sources for its funding and benefits like "Stepping Out in Style" are sorely needed at a time when public fundin; is being cut back.

The Zonta Club of Farmington/Novi Area supports First Step because it meets Zonta's goal to improve the legal, political, economic and professional status of women, McAllister noted.

Zonta International is a worldwide service organization for business women in various professions who devote time, talent and energy to assist women with their personal development, health, education and cultural needs.

Art festival benefits wildlife habitats

NATURE TRAILS

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

This weekend at the Southfield Civic Center, the Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation will sponsor its 13th annual Wildlife Art Festival. Fifty-eight artists will sell their works to help raise money for this innovative and productive organization. Thus far, this festival has raised more than $700,000 for wildlife habitat enhancement projects throughout Michigan.

The expertise of Dr. Patrick Rusz, in collaboration with several conservation organizations around the state, has reclaimed wetlands, improved streams, established prairies, created a model site and much more.

These projects use volunteers whe..ever possible, but equipment and materials still cost money. Much of that money comes from the sale of art at the show this weekend.

Not only will there be paintings, sculptures, wood carvings, scratchboard, photography and bronzes, there also will be a series of informative speakers. Topics such as Michigan's reptiles, conservation of moths and butterflies, prairie restoration, insects, birds and amphibians will be covered Saturday and Sunday.

The artwork represented will help you realize the variety of life forms present in natural environments as well as their beauty and form. Although an artist re-creates a small vignette of the natural world, it often elicits a feeling of awe and wonder.

Catherine McClung's featured painting, entitled "Meadowland Blues," makes you feel like you're in a field with a beautiful male eastern bluebird. Another local artist, Heiner Hertling of West Bloomfield, will display some of his interpretations of the American Landscape.

These two artists help us remember that the animal species we love need a habitat in which to live. Without a variety of habitats, our views of various wildlife would be restricted to a precious few species.

The Southfield Civic Center is on Evergreen Road between 10 Mile and 11 Mile roads in Southfield. Show hours are 4-9 p.m. Friday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $5 for adults; children under age 12 free.

I hope to see you there on Sunday.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia. If you have a question or comment for him, dial (313) 953-2047, mailbox 1874, on a touch-tone phone.

news.

At that point, I couldn't decide. Was I dreaming or having the mother of all nightmares? And then when she said she and a cameraman would be at my house in an hour (an HOUR?!?) I knew I had a full-fledged, hairy, scary, nightmare kind of thing going.

In one hour I'd have to build a new house (more feasible than cleaning up the toys and the general mess surrounding me right then), cut my hair, capture the dust bunnies hiding under the bench in the front hall, and shovel the front walk (this litigious society, you know).

And then there were my three little boys, dressed in oddly-matched clothes. Their attire that Tuesday morning was warm and clean, but television worthy? Not even close.

And I was still waiting for my clothes dryer to finish up in order for me to be completely supported and decently undergarmented. And as for my clothes, terrible dilemma. I was two weeks postpartum and still too fat for my skinny clothes and too not-pregnant for maternity clothes. Which left a sweater with a big snaggy hole right in front. It would have to do.

So I put my snaggy hole sweater on, shoveled the walk, and called my friend from a couple doors down. I wanted her to come over, if she wouldn't mind too much, and please pretend to be me for a little bit, at least while Channel 4 was in my house. My friend, though, was not around.

At high noon, my doorbell rang. I hid the last bunch of kitchen counter junk behind the toaster in the cupboard and stuffed a dust bunny in my pocket.

Paula Tutman and Jim the cameraman were very nice folks. But the unrelenting flashing red light on the TV camera was frightening. And that umbrella Jim hooked to the hot light on a tripod in my living room and then aimed at me was pretty scary. And then when Paula Tutman told me to just be myself, that was the most frightening of all. That just isn't a good piece of advice. For me, anyway.

I embarrassed myself. I couldn't string three words together that made any sense. I forgot to use verbs, and when I did, they didn't agree with their subjects. And when I broke into song at one point, I couldn't believe my ears. And then I divulged what really didn't need to be divulged. The part about mistaking the last moments of labor for a bad case of gas.

After the news crew left, I burst into tears and hoped against hope that some non-injury sort of disaster would occur in the Detroit area which would tie up the nightly news and let me off the hook.

That didn't happen and lo and behold, two days later, on the 11 o'clock news, there, in front of God and everybody, was the story of "Baby Born in Van" as Mom mistakes labor for gas pains. And there were my dust bunnies on TV, and mismatched clothes, and holey sweater, bad hair, a glimpse of my kitchen, living room, stairwell, the boys' bedroom, and the den.

If nothing else, here's what can be learned from this: Not only is it important to wear clean underwear because you never know when you may get in an accident and then what would the police think, but it's also very, very important to wear mended clothes, make all the beds, tame all hair, eradicate all dust bunnies, review all grammatical and etiquette rules (especially those concerning public discussions of gas), before noon on any given day, because you never know when Channel 4 will arrive on your front step.

If you have a question or comment for Karen Meier, a Plymouth resident, call her at 953-2047, mailbox number 1883, on a Touch-Tone phone, or write her at The Observer Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

for $20,000, it's a real kick for some people, especially when you know how desperately it's needed," McAllister said. "The community realizes that if you don't start working with kids, where are you going to break the cycle?"

While the fashion benefit is the club's major fund-raiser, members help First Step throughout the year. When the agency moved to new offices on Lilley Road in Canton, the club painted eight offices as part of Make a Difference Day.

Members also hosted a Halloween party for children from the First Step shelter and started a mentoring program to involve the women in their businesses and give them work experience.

"The whole club is committed to this (helping First Step)," said McAllister, who is very familiar with First Step. She signed on as a volunteer in 1979, serving six years as a volunteer advocate for victims of sexual assault. "The club is for women who live and work in Novi-Farmington, and a lot of our members could join other clubs, but join us because of our commitment to First Step.

"First Step fits the Zonta niche; it's near and dear to our hearts."

Tickets, priced at $25 each, can be ordered in advance (using MasterCard or Visa) by mail from Beverlee McAllister, 18314 Blue Heron Drive W., Northville 48167, by calling (313) 453-0822 or (313) 538-8043, or by fax at (313) 455-6125 or (313) 538-8440. Tickets also will be available at the door the evening of the benefit.

OFFICIAL NOTICE TO ELECTORS AND TAXPAYERS OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH OF INTENT TO ISSUE BONDS SECURED BY THE TAXING POWER OF THE CITY AND RIGHT OF REFERENDUM THEREON

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, County of Wayne, Michigan, intends to issue special assessment bonds of the City, in total principal amount of not to exceed $600,000 for the purpose of defraying part of special assessment districts' share of the cost of street and related improvements in the City. Said bonds shall mature serially in not to exceed twenty (20) annual installments with interest payable on the unpaid balance at a rate of not to exceed 9% per annum or such higher rate as may be permitted by law.

SOURCE OF PAYMENT OF BONDS

THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT BONDS shall be payable primarily from collections of an equal amount of special assessments and the bonds shall also pledge the limited tax full faith and credit of the City of Plymouth.

IN CASE OF THE INSUFFICIENCY OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS, THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ON SAID BONDS SHALL BE PAYABLE FROM THE GENERAL FUNDS OF THE CITY LAWFULLY AVAILABLE FOR SUCH PURPOSE.

RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

THE BONDS will be issued without vote of the electors unless a PETITION requesting an election on the question of issuing the bonds, signed by not less than 10% OF THE REGISTERED ELECTORS in the City, or 15,000, whichever is the lesser, is filed with the City by depositing the petition with the City Clerk WITHIN FORTY-FIVE (45) DAYS after publication of this notice. If such a petition is filed, the bonds affected cannot be issued without an approving vote by a majority of electors voting on the question.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Section 5(g) of Act 279, Public Acts of Michigan, 1909, as amended. Further information concerning the matters set out in this notice may be secured from the City Clerk's office.

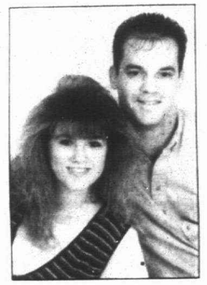
Baker-Droze



Pete and Judy Mallia of Wyandotte and Mike and Linda Baker of Belleville announce the engagement of their daughter, Sherry Lynn, to Todd Raymond Droze, the son of Jim and Sandy Droze of Westland.

The bride-to-be is a 1990 graduate of Wyandotte Roosevelt High School and is a nursing student at Henry Ford Community College. She is employed as a crew trainer for the Taco Bell Corp. in Riverview.

Her fiance is a 1988 graduate of Westland John Glenn High School and received his associate's degree from Henry Ford Community College. He is employed at the Chrysler Technical Center in Auburn Hills.

A July wedding is planned for Glenwood United Methodist Church in Wyandotte.

Maniaci-Smolinski

Angela R. Smolinski and Daniel H. Maniaci were married on Oct. 28 at St. Edith Catholic Church in Livonia. The Rev. James Schieck officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Katherine Smolinski of Livonia and the late Walter Smolinski. The groom is the son of Dorothy Maniaci of Garden Grove, Calif., and the late Nunzio Maniaci.

The bride is a graduate of Livonia Churchill High School. She is employed by Christopher & Associates in Santa Ana, Calif., as a marketing associate.

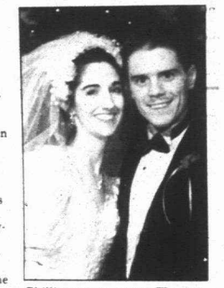
The groom is graduate of Fountain Valley High School. He is employed by Health Line Fitness Systems in Costa Mesa, Calif., as a buyer.

The bride asked Michelle Turczyn to serve as maid of honor with bridesmaids Kathleen Anderson and Cecilia Gallagher. She asked her uncle, Alex Mayernik, and her mother to escort her down the aisle.

The groom asked Michael Riel to serve as best man with groomsmen Kevin Rundel and Thomas Gallagher.

The newlyweds received guests at St. Edith Hall before leaving on a honeymoon trip to Moro Bay and Kings Canyon National Park in California. They are making their home in Costa Mesa.

Frank-Stewart



Angela Marie Stewart and James Richard Frank were married Nov. 18 in St. Raphael Church in Garden City. The Rev. Edward Prus officiated.

The bride is the daughter of John and Anna Stewart of Garden City. The groom is the son of James and Kathleen Frank, also of Garden City.

She is a 1992 graduate of Garden City High School, while he is a 1991 Garden City graduate.

The bride asked her sister, Alysia Criner, to serve as matron of honor with Adriana Stewart, Susan Gora, Jennifer Hanson and Sheri Vissers as bridesmaids. The flower girls were twins Melissa and Karissa Raboczkay.

The groom asked Brian Pilarski to serve as best man with Paul Frank, Matthew Kempainen, Matthew Pelto and Christopher Phillips as groomsmen. The ring bearer was John Richard Stewart III.

The newlyweds received guests at Bobbi's Country House in Livonia.

Van Swearingen-Apigian

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allan Van Swearingen of Louisville, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter, Tricia A., to Charles H. Apigian, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ardash Apigian of Canton.

The bride-to-be will graduate in May from Bowling Green State University. Her fiance is a graduate of Bowling Green State University and is employed with Concord Precision Inc. in Garden City.

A February 1997 wedding is planned at St. John's Armenian Church in Southfield.

$50 ticket offers chance at winning $150,000 prize

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

So, how would you like $150,000 to put down on a new home?

Yeah, right, you say, in your wildest dreams.

Well, it's not such a wild dream, especially if you're holding the winning ticket in a raffle that will benefit the University of Michigan Hospital Trauma Burn Center and several other charities.

It's billed as the New Home Raffle and is the brainchild of Frank and JoAnn Lucas of Brandon Township, son Scott of Farmington and their Helping Hands for Children Charity.

"This is the first time the family has taken on such a big project and we'd like to make it an annual thing," said Scott, who is a wrestling coach at Farmington High School and a volunteer coach in a program for kindergartners through eighth-graders. "My parents started the charity over a decade ago."

Scott helps people as a Westland firefighter. Seeing the aftermath of fires — destroyed homes and burned bodies — and hearing about people giving away cars or holding 50/50 raffles to raise money prompted Lucas to approach his parents and the burn center about a benefit.

The Lucases formed Helping Hands "years ago," after being exposed to "lots of children needing lots of things" at District Osteopathic Hospital where they took a sister for physical therapy. The charity started out collecting primarily clothing and toys, but needed money to do more. The raffle seemed like a good idea, but the Lucases were apprehensive about "going big," Scott said.

"I wanted to go slow," Frank said. "It's a great idea, but a substantial undertaking. There were a lot of unknowns, but we're learning things along the way."

The Lucases also had the help of attorney Bruce Haffey of the Troy law firm of Cox, Hodgeman and Giarmarco, who handled the legal aspects of the raffle pro bono.

Initially, the family had lined up builders who committed to a lot and home in one of their developments as the prize, but that was changed to a cash prize when the state informed the Lucases that they couldn't raffle off something they didn't own.

For its part, the burn center has been supportive of the effort. With much of its money coming from fund-raisers, the people there "were thrilled," said Scott, who graduated from Westland John Glenn High School.

"Donations like these are invaluable to the hospital's continuing leadership in trauma burn care," said Katie Barrett who works in the Injury Prevention office of the trauma burn center. "They support research in skin care, nurse education and sending young burn survivors to burn camp each summer. Without the generous support we've received from concerned community members over the years, none of this would be possible."

Simple idea

The idea is a simple one: sell 9,000 raffle tickets in time for a drawing at noon Friday, March 29, in the burn unit. Priced at $50 a ticket or 11 tickets for $500, the group needs to sell 6,000 tickets to cover the $150,000 prize. If less than 6,000 are sold, 50 percent of the ticket sales will be awarded in cash.

'I know people who buy a three-digit number in the Lottery every day and spend $20-30. And the odds are a 7 million-1 chance of winning. Ours is 9,000 to 1.'

Frank Lucas

"I know people who buy a three-digit number in the Lottery every day and spend $20-30," said Frank. "And the odds are a 7 million-1 chance of winning. Ours is 9,000 to 1."

In addition to a chance at winning $150,000, people who buy a ticket get a "free vacation certificate" that entitles them to a three days-two nights stay in hotels in such locales as Anaheim, Calif., Las Vegas, Nev., Branson, Mo., Gatlinburg, Tenn., South Padre Island, Texas, and such Florida destinations as Daytona Beach, Orlando, Clearwater and St. Petersburg.

"We wanted to include the free vacation certificate so that you get something even if you don't win the grand prize," Frank said.

A vast majority of the money raised will go to the burn center, but several others charities around the state will benefit from the raffle, including the Michigan State Firefighters Union, which will use the money to help set up a critical incident debriefing team.

The first of its kind in the state, the team will work with rescue workers in the aftermaths of major disasters like the crash of Flight 255 at Detroit Metropolitan Airport and the bombing of the federal building in Oklahoma City, Scott said.

Get your tickets

The tickets went on sale in February and no stone is being left unturned in an effort to sell all 9,000 of them. Information has been circulated around Ann Arbor with the help of posters at the burn center and Lucas's brother who works at the local newspaper. Helping Hands expects response to build when letters from the firefighters union reach members across the state.

The senior Lucases have been circulating tickets in their neck of the woods, so to speak. Helping Hands will even have a booth at the International Builders Home, Flower and Furniture Show at Cobo Hall March 16-24.

Ticket sales have been slow, but the Lucases aren't discouraged. Regardless of the outcome, they plan on having another raffle — "I think we'll do an auto raffle, like a classic car," Frank said.

Tickets can be ordered by sending your name, address and a check, made payable to Helping Hands for Children, to P.O. Box 7777, Ann Arbor 48107-7777 or to the Trauma Burn Center/New Home Raffle, 1500 E. Mecical Center Drive, UH1C43, Ann Arbor 48109-0033, or by calling Scott Lucas at (810) 471-4249.

Persons or groups interested in helping distribute tickets can call Frank Lucas at (810) 628-0846, or Katie Barrett at the University of Michigan Hospital, (313) 763-6556.

Struggling with Alcohol? Can't quit Drugs?

	Yes	No
1. Do you use alcohol or drugs to help you escape from problems?	☐	☐
2. Have you driven a car while under the influence of alcohol or drugs?	☐	☐
3. Have you been told you use alcohol or drugs too much?	☐	☐
4. Have alcohol or drugs caused problems in your life?	☐	☐
5. Have you borrowed or stolen money to get alcohol or drugs?	☐	☐
6. Do you ever worry about your alcohol or drug use?	☐	☐

If you answer "yes" to any of these questions, you may have an alcohol or drug problem. You are not alone. Millions of Americans suffer from these problems. Chemical Dependency is a painful and relentless illness that can interfere with every aspect of life; it can get progressively worse if left untreated: the solution is a program of treatment and recovery.

St. Mary Hospital offers Inpatient, Outpatient and Intensive Outpatient (IOP) treatment programs that lead to lasting recovery. Our comprehensive approach recognizes the individual needs of each patient and develops personalized treatment plans to meet these needs. We help our patients make lifestyle changes giving them renewed confidence in themselves and more control over their lives. The chronic cycle of abuse is replaced by a healthy, more satisfying, and more productive way of life.

At St. Mary Hospital, we work as a team--psychiatrist, physician, nutritionist, social worker and specially trained therapists--to diagnose and treat chemical dependency. Our experienced staff provides treatment with understanding and sensitivity.

If alcohol or drugs are causing a problem for you, or someone you love, take the first step toward recovery. Call us today at (313) 655-2936 or 1-800-494-1654. WE CAN HELP.

Church hosts Jews for Jesus' Harris

"Jews for Jesus is an organization which proclaims that Jesus is the Messiah of Israel and Savior of the world. What could be more Jewish than following the Messiah?"

So says Glenn Harris, the coordinator of the Jews for Jesus evangelistic activities in New Jersey, who will speak at the First United Methodist Church of Garden City at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 21.

Harris, who considers himself 100 percent Jewish and 100 percent Christian, was born and raised in the Los Angeles area. He has his grandfather to thank for most of his religious education.

"My grandfather saw to it that I was enrolled in a Hebrew school to prepare for my bar mitzvah," he said.

Between 1976 and 1979, Harris held various offices in the B'nai B'rith youth organization, yet his Jewish orientation did not teach him to turn to God for the answers to life's questions.

In 1981, he began attending church at a friend's invitation and came to believe that Jesus is the Jewish Messiah. Five years later, he joined the staff of Jews for Jesus as a member of The Liberating Wailing Wall, a mobile evangelistic team which presents "Jewish gospel music" and drama across the United States and abroad.

Following that tour, which included venues in Israel and England, Harris completed his biblical training at Northeastern Bible College in Essex Fells, N.J., graduating with a bachelor's degree in biblical literature in 1989.

He also participated in the Jews for Jesus Summer witnessing campaign in New York City in 1988 and was a team leader in the 1989 campaign.

After marrying, he and wife Alexandra moved to San Francisco where they worked at Jews for Jesus International headquarters for eight months before rejoining the Liberated Wailing Wall, with Harris as the group's leader.

The Harrises and son Ariel now live in central New Jersey, where he conducts weekly Bible studies and monthly fellowship meetings for Jewish people who believe in Jesus or are open to considering that he is the Messiah.

"We're reaching out at both Rutgers and Princeton universities where I hand out tracts and talk to students each week," Harris said. "But the most essential part of my ministry is the one-on-one visits with Jewish people of all ages who want to know more about Jesus.

"My wife, Alexandra, (who is not Jewish) and I have found that there are many Jewish people, who because of their mixed marriages, are eager to know how Jesus, the Jewish Messiah, can bring people together."

The Jews for Jesus organization was founded by Moishe Rosen, a Jew who has believed in Jesus for more than 35 years. The organization has permanent branches in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Toronto, Dallas, Boston, New York City, Washington, D.C., and south Florida as well as more than 70 chapters in 30 states and seven international branches.

Rosen is quick to point out that he did not "start" Jews for Jesus.

"Jews for Jesus began about 2,000 years ago, around 32 C.E., give or take a year," Rosen said. "Jesus' first disciples were Jewish, and there have been some Jewish people who have believed in him ever since."

To Harris and other Jews for Jesus, believing in Jesus makes sense in light of the Jewish Bible and in light of their experiences as "believers." For those who argue that Christianity contradicts the meaning of Judaism, Harris says there are answers which he will be happy to discuss after his presentation.

Who will hear your baby's cry?
A miracle is taking shape, there, just beneath your heart. Who will listen with you for the first sounds of life and welcome your baby safely to your arms?
From your very first visit with your Oakwood physician, you'll have someone to rely on for advice, someone to watch over you and your baby, someone to answer all your questions.
Your caring Oakwood staff will provide you with helpful information on nutrition and birthing options. To help you prepare for the many changes ahead, you can take advantage of specially developed classes on pregnancy, childbirth and baby care.
When baby arrives, you'll feel safe and secure with the experienced doctors and nurses at a nearby Oakwood Hospital. To help keep your baby healthy and strong, count on Oakwood's pediatricians and family practitioners. And our neonatologists and advanced neonatal units provide assistance for premature infants and other newborns who need special care.
Someday soon, you will feel the incredible joy of a new life. And we'll be right there beside you. Because even though we've delivered thousands of little ones, we're still touched by each tiny heartbeat. And the sound of a baby's first cry.
For the name of a physician, information on how to care for you and your baby, or for information on our very special offer for future moms, call 1-800-543-WELL.

ITEM 1 PUBLIC HEARING FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A PUBLIC ACT 198 INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT FOR MERICAN SCREW PRODUCTS LOCATED AT 5470 SHELDON ROAD.
Motion by Bennett, supported by Shefferly, to approve establishment of an Industrial Development District for Swiss American Screw Products. Motion carried unanimously.

RESOLUTION
Establishing Industrial Development Dist. For Swiss Amer. Screw Products
WHEREAS, pursuant to Act No. 198 of the Public Acts of 1974, as amended, the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Canton has the authority to establish an Industrial Development District within the Charter Township of Canton; and
WHEREAS, Swiss American Screw Products Inc., has petitioned this Board of Trustees to establish an Industrial Development District on its property located in Canton hereinafter described; and
WHEREAS, construction, acquisitions, alterations, or installation of a proposed facility has not commenced at the time of filing the request to establish this district; and
WHEREAS, written notice has been given by mail to all owners of real property located within the district, and to the public by newspaper advertisement in the Canton Observer and/or published posting of the hearing on the establishment of the district; and
WHEREAS, on March 12, 1996 a public hearing was held at which all of the owners of real property within the proposed Industrial Development District and all residents and taxpayers of Canton were afforded an opportunity to be heard thereon; and
WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees of Canton deems it to be in the public interest of the Charter Township of Canton to establish the Industrial Development District as proposed.
NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Canton that the following described parcel of land situated in the Charter Township of Canton, County of Wayne, State of Michigan, to wit:
the southern 259 feet of the east 429.00 feet of the south 759.00 feet of the southeast 1/4 of the southwest 1/4 of section 34, town 2 south, range 8 east, subject to the rights of public and any governmental unit in any part thereof taken, used or deeded for street, road or highway purposes.

be and here is established as an Industrial Development District pursuant to the provisions of Act 198 of the Public Acts of 1974, as amended, to be known as Swiss American Screw Products Industrial Development District.

PUBLIC HEARING:
ITEM #2 PUBLIC HEARING ON THE DUO-GUARD INDUSTRIES TAX ABATEMENT REQUEST
Motion by Bennett, supported by McLaughlin, to approve the request for a Tax Abatement for Duo-Guard Industries for 8 years.

RESOLUTION APPROVING APPLICATION OF DUO-GARD INDUSTRIES, INC. INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES EXEMPTION CERTIFICATE FOR REAL & PERSONAL PROPERTY
WHEREAS, pursuant to P.A. 198 of 1974, M.C.L. 207.551 et seq., after a duly noticed public hearing held on May 3, 1983 the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Canton by resolution established the Northeast Canton Industrial Development District; and
WHEREAS, Duo-Gard Industries Inc. has filed an application for an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate with respect to a new facility to be acquired and installed within the Northeast Canton Industrial Development District; and
WHEREAS, before acting on said application the Charter Township of Canton held a public hearing on March 12, 1996 at the Canton Township Administration Building, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, at 7 p.m., at which hearing the applicant, the Assessor and a representative of the affected taxing units were given written notice and were afforded an opportunity to be heard on said application; and
WHEREAS, construction of the facility and installation of new machinery and equipment had not begun earlier than six months before Jan. 17, 1995, the date of acceptance of the application for the Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate; and
WHEREAS, completion of the new facility is calculated to and will at the time of issuance of the certificate have the reasonable likelihood to retain, create or prevent the loss of employment in Canton Township; and
WHEREAS, the aggregate SEV of real and personal property exempt from ad valorem taxes within the Charter Township of Canton, after granting this certificate will not exceed 5 % of an amount equal to the sum of the SEV of the unit, plus the SEV of personal and real property thus exempted.
NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Canton that:

1. The Canton Board of Trustees finds and determines that the granting of the Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate considered together with the aggregate amount of certificates previously granted and currently in force under Act No. 198 of the Public Acts of 1974 and Act No. 255 of the Public Acts of 1978, shall not have the effect of substantially impeding the operation of Canton Township, or impairing the financial soundness of a taxing unit which levies ad valorem property taxes in Canton Township.

2. The application of Duo-Gard Industries Inc. for an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate with respect to a new facility to be acquired and installed on the following parcel of real property situated within the Northeast Canton Industrial Development District, to wit:
description of which is as follows:
a parcel of land located northly of Koppernick Rd. (66 feet wide) and easterly of Haggerty Rd. (66 feet wide), being part of the northeast 1/4 of the southwest 1/4, section 1, town 2 south, range 8 east, Canton Township, Wayne County, Michigan, being more particularly described as follows: beginning at the southwest corner of sation section 1, thence north 88 degrees 46 minutes 31 seconds east, along the south line of said section 1, a distance of 1,374.93 feet to a point on the centerline of Haggerty Rd.; thence north 2 degrees 15 minutes 12 seconds west along the centerline of Haggerty Rd., a distance of 1,324.26 feet to a point being the intersection of the centerline of Haggerty Rd. and the centerline of Koppernick Rd.; thence north 88 degrees 41 minutes 19 seconds east, along the centerline of Koppernick a distance of 970.06 feet to a point, thence at right angles to the centerline of Koppernick Rd. north 01 degrees 18 minutes 41 seconds west, a distance of 33.0 feet to a point which is the intersection of the north line of Koppernick Rd. and the easterly line of the I-275 freeway (375.00 feet wide) also being the point of beginning of the parcel herein described, thence north 88 degrees 41 minutes 19 seconds east, along the north line of Koppernick Rd. a distance of 405.82 feet to a point on the north-south 1/4 line of said section 1, thence north 02 degrees 07 minutes 13 seconds east along the north-south 1/4 line a distance of 71.52 feet to a point on the westerly line of the C & O Railroad right-of-way (100.00 feet wide), thence north 31 degrees 23 minutes 17 seconds west, along the westerly line of the C & O Railroad right-of-way a distance of 486.72 feet to a point said point being the intersection of the westerly line of the C & O Railroad right-of-way and the easterly line of the I-275 freeway, thence south 17 degrees 28 minutes 48 seconds west, along the easterly line of the I-275 freeway, a distance of 137.60 feet to a point, thence southwesterly on a curve to the left with a central angle of 1 degree 58 minutes 50 seconds a radius of 11,319.16 feet, along a chord of 380.72 feet which bears south 16 degrees 30 minutes 59 seconds west, an arc distance of 380.73 feet to the point of beginning of the parcel herein described, except the south 27 feet deeded to Michigan State Highway Commission recorded in Liber 19836, page 134 Wayne County records.

LORENE GREEN

Dear Ms. Green,
Hi! I read your column every week in the Canton Observer and I would like to have my handwriting analyzed.
I am 18 years old, right-handed, and a full-time student at the University of Michigan. I am currently a freshman and I plan to graduate with a dual degree in sociology and Spanish. Following graduation, I plan to move to California and attend law school.
I have many hobbies and interests. I am a dedicated ice hockey fan, and I also love to read, cook, listen to music, and play with my dog, Alex.
I consider myself to be a very solitary person. I enjoy being alone. I must also admit to being a perfectionist in every area of my life. I never settle for mediocrity. I am hardworking and passionate about any project I am involved in. Unfortunately, one of my biggest shortcomings is my tendency to procrastinate.
Hopefully, I have given you enough information to complete your analysis. Thank you for your time.
P.S. I never write in cursive. I always print.

A.M., Canton

Today's letter is almost a self-analysis and a very good one. There is precious little I can add except to help her understand how she became a perfectionist.

She closes her letter with the statement, "I never write in cursive, I always print." First of all I would like to say that rigid printing and spatial arrangement usually indicates a person who needs to be in control of her life in order to be at ease. She wants to control everything — herself, relationships and all other aspects — to assure safe passage through the risks and uncertainties of daily living.

She has a penchant for method, order, structure and organization. Everything has a place and must be in its rightful place for her to relax.

A strong desire to communicate on the intellectual level can be found here. She is interested mainly in the technical side of life. Her logical, well-organized mind deals best with facts, mechanics and validity. One of her main concerns is with data and figures that can be analyzed.

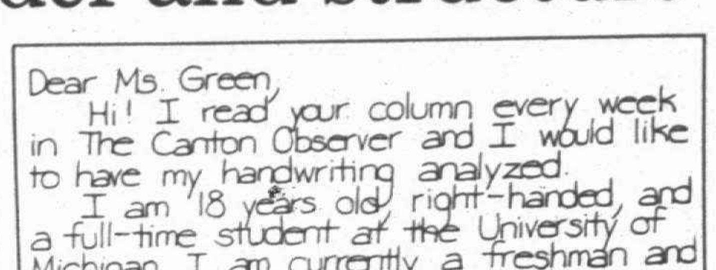
There are many wonderful personality characteristics found in this printing. She is hard-working and achievement-oriented. In all she does, she is meticulous and thorough.

This is a busy young woman. She probably makes lists of things she wishes to accomplish and finds pleasure in checking each one off as it is carefully completed.

The extreme regularity of her printing tells us her self-discipline does not allow for much flexibility. She appears to have an exaggerated sense of responsibility and an excessive need for perfection. A strong sense of duty and reliability follow her at all times.

Seemingly, she feels driven towards error-free performance to avoid criticism at all costs. She sets her standards very high, almost beyond reach and reason at times. Her own worth is measured entirely in terms of accomplishment and productivity.

I rather doubt that it takes a trained graphologist to recognize that this printing was done by a perfectionist. Approval is more than normally important to her. Such external pressure to succeed often originates from the expectations of parents or "significant others."



Dear Ms. Green,
Hi! I read your column every week in The Canton Observer and I would like to have my handwriting analyzed.
I am 18 years old right-handed, and a full-time student at the University of Michigan. I am currently a freshman and

Her feelings of self-esteem and self-worth are associated with the approval, recognition, admiration and happiness of others.

Inwardly, she is a fearful person. She does not improvise, play by ear, or otherwise, live spontaneously. Everything must be carefully planned and executed. She does not take too kindly to upsets or changes in these plans.

To quote another statement of hers, "One of my biggest shortcomings is my tendency to procrastinate." This is often the case with a perfectionist. I believe she fears putting herself to the test of action as she might find her performance less than perfect.

She feels that others will think less of her if she is not successful. She does not question this belief because it is so deeply ingrained, but perhaps she should. The really sad thing about a perfectionist is that she feels only if she is perfect can she be accepted by herself or others. Unfortunately, this attitude robs her of growth, adventure and the opportunity to live life to the fullest.

Her signature tells me she is a private person. She has closed herself off to the point that few people can get close to her.

Perfection has been called the impossible dream. Many helpful books have been written on the subject. Our printer is young, very bright and might find it helpful to understand what she can do to relax and enjoy more of life while still working toward her goals.

If you would like your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please write a few paragraphs about yourself, using a full sheet of white, unlined paper and writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and signature are all helpful. Due to the volume of mail, personal replies are not possible. However, objective feedback is welcome.

Registration accepted for Wish-A-Mile 300

The Make-A-Wish Foundation of Michigan is accepting registration for this year's Wish-A-Mile 300 Bicycle Tour Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 10-11.

The WAM 300 is a two-day, 200-mile bicycle tour designed to raise donations to help grant wishes to children who suffer with life-threatening illnesses.

The '96 tour will begin at Camp Dearborn in Milford and travel to historic Frankenmuth and back. Riders must pay a $50 entry fee and raise a minimum of $300 to participate.

Registration forms are available at bicycle shops statewide, and registration is limited to the first 350 cyclists.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation of Michigan grants wishes to ailing children in the state between ages 2½ and 17.

Persons interested in riding or volunteering for the WAM 300 should call 800-622-WISH.

Snapshot of success

Spotlight shines on The Verve Pipe's darker side

STORY BY CHRISTINA FUOCO • STAFF WRITER

Singer Brian Vander Ark's eyes are closed. His eyebrows dance up and down as if each movement draws a different note from the farthest reaches of his throat for the song "Photograph."

One thousand fans at Detroit's Majestic Theatre on New Year's Eve are singing along just as passionately as The Verve Pipe's lead singer and songwriter. Not just to the song "Photograph" but to the band's entire set.

The scene is a testament to The Verve Pipe's popularity. Sure, a demo version of the song found its way onto WHYT a few times last summer. But the only way fans would have known the words to "Photograph" would be by attending one Verve Pipe show after another.

Now, three months later, most pop radio listeners probably know all the words to "Photograph," a barebones pop song that opens with eerie keyboards compliments of Walled Lake Central High School graduate Doug Corella and erupts into a frenzy of guitars, drums and bass.

The first single from The Verve Pipe's major-label debut album "Villains" (due in stores Tuesday, March 26) has across-the-dial airplay not only in Detroit but in most major markets. The single was the song most added to U.S. radio station playlists for the week of Feb. 20. In Detroit, "Photograph" was the "People's Choice" winner on CIMX-FM (89X) for 12 nights in a row beating out new songs by Bad Religion and Candlebox.

Although naturally cynical, Vander Ark is thrilled to hear his song played on radio stations outside of Michigan, where, he said, listeners are less biased.

"I was driving with a friend of mine from Tallahassee to West Palm Beach. We rented a convertible just for fun, we figured we'd get a tan on the way down. We turn on the radio and 'Photograph' comes on. It was a pretty big station down there. It was just out of the blue," said Vander Ark, an East Lansing resident formerly of Royal Oak.

Guitarist/back-up singer A.J. Dunning calls his band, "a lucky bunch of rascals."

"Villains" is the band's third album; its first for RCA. The Verve Pipe's first two albums, "I've Suffered A Head Injury" and "Pop Smear," were released on the band's own label LMNOPop, and sold more than 30,000 copies combined.

The Verve Pipe lived on houseboats in Sausalito, Calif., from July 23-Oct. 11 while working on "Villains" at The Plant, Studio D, and Hun Sound studios. At the helm was producer and ex-Talking Heads member Jerry Harrison, who also credits include Live's "Throwing Copper."

Working with Harrison forced the band to try some things that maybe they wouldn't have otherwise. Some of the ideas worked, like Vander Ark's whispery "Picture this" in "Photograph." Others did not.

The three major differences between "Villains" and the two previous projects are the inclusion of bridges in some songs, a cutting down of layered vocals, and most notably the addition of keyboardist/percussionist Corella.

With Corella, the band "didn't have to rely so much on A.J. coming up with an interesting guitar part, or vocal harmony," said drummer/backup vocalist Donny Brown, adding that those are two things he missed.

That's not to say that Dunning isn't well represented on the album. His aggressive guitar playing spices up "Barely If At All," and the chaotic "Drive You Mild," while his quiet side leads Vander Ark's vocals in "Reverend Girl" and "Villains."

The album "Villains" shows a darker, moodier side of The Verve Pipe – lyrically and musically. The lighthearted Verve Pipe in songs like "Senator Speak" off "Pop Smear," or "Ark of the Envious" from "I've Suffered A Head Injury" went the way of overdone layered vocals.

Vander Ark purposely took a more serious approach while writing the songs for "Villains." He steered away from "the really silly kind of stories. I want to concentrate on a little more metaphoric (types of songwriting), and be known as more of a songwriting artist."

Unlike "I've Suffered A Head Injury" and "Pop Smear," Vander Ark wrote all of the songs on "Villains" except "Penny is Poison," a poignant ballad of a destructive relationship which was co-written with Dunning. The previous two records included songs written by Brown.

"Donny's more into love songs. Because I wrote 12 of the 13 basically it's the album that I wanted to make for a change. I'm thrilled that I got all that out of me," Vander Ark explained.

If there was such an award, Vander Ark would be named the poet laureate of the Michigan music scene and the new album is his showpiece for his visual lyrics.

"I turned the volume up this morning/ 'til it was ringing in my ears/ I haven't felt this good in years," Vander Ark sings in the title track. "Another villain on the cover/ of every major magazine/ The victims somewhere in between. See how they twist and shout. And as I'm searching for the story, subscription card falls to the floor. I'm losing interest more and more."

In "Myself," a sneaking bass and drums lead way to swirly guitar that builds into Vander Ark's philosophy: "You don't need another. You'll always be your own hero (you won't be disappointed)."

Besides the media hype of criminals, the album "Villains" explores, amongst other things, stalking from a man's point of view ("Ominous Man"), and a break-up ("The Freshmen," a variation of the song found on "I've Suffered A Head Injury").

Vander Ark's songwriting ability as well as the musicianship of the band, which also includes his brother bassist/backup singer Brad, is what drew RCA artist and repertoire representative Brian Malouf to the band.

"There aren't a lot of singers in clubs anymore – just a lot of guitars and usually one vocalist. The musicianship wasn't always as good as these guys were," said Malouf who also signed the Detroit band Hoarse to the label.

"I felt I recognized in Brian a person that people could really relate to and someone I really thought had star quality. I guess that's why I fell in love with them at first sight."

EXHIBITION

'Art in Bloom' at University of Michigan Museum

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

To illustrate the inspirational power of art, the University of Michigan Museum of Art in Ann Arbor will present an exhibition of floral arrangements based on works from their permanent collection March 28-31.

Paul Little, coordinator of the 1996 Ann Arbor Flower & Garden Show produced by U of M's Matthaei Botanical Gardens, came up with idea. Since "Art in Bloom" is the theme of the seventh annual horticultural event, Little invited local florists to interpret works ranging from Monet's "The Breakup of the Ice, Veheuil" to Juan de Valdes Leal's "The Annunciation." Little selected the art during a walk-through of the museum with a group of volunteers and docents.

"We like working collaboratively with the gardens," said museum administrator Janet Torno.

"Paul chose one or two objects from each gallery from Asian to Medieval to lure visitors through the entire museum."

The Arts in Bloom – A Floral Interpretation

When: Thursday through Sunday, March 28-31. Museum hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday- Saturday, until 9 p.m. Thursday, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Where: University of Michigan Museum of Art, 525 South State Street (at East University), Ann Arbor.

Cost: Admission is free. For more information call (313) 764-0395

Master designer Bob Simmons of Keller & Stein Florist & Greenhouses in Canton Township, will create a table top arrangement inspired by the museum's Japanese Theatrical Robe and silk hanging scroll "Courtesan Strolling Under a Blooming Cherry Tree" by Hosoda Eishi. Both works are from the Japanese Edo period of 1615 to 1868.

"This is a whole new adventure. It's the challenge of having to come up with something and have yours shine when others are trying to do the same," said Simmons who's won several honors including the People's Choice Award in the flower and garden show the last three years.

After the Detroit Institute of Arts, the University of Michigan Museum of Art houses the second largest art collection in the state of Michigan. From Italian Renaissance panel paintings to Han Dynasty tomb figures and 18th century textiles, the museum boasts more than 13,000 paintings, sculptures, prints, drawings, photographs, ceramics, and mixed media works.

Simmons' first step in creating the floral arrangement is to visit the artworks in the Japanese Gallery. Designed for a Kabuki performer, the silk embroidered and appliqued kimono features two peacocks boldly strutting across the front of the robe amidst peony blossoms. Gold threads enrich the overall design while diamond shaped checks on the lower

■ ART MEETING

Three Cities Art Club meets 7 p.m. Monday April 1 in the Plymouth Township office at Ann Arbor Road and Lilley.

Livonia artist Al Weber will critique art work brought to the meeting.

Also on the agenda is the club's annual spring art show to be held May 31-June 2 in the Canton Public Library.

For more information call Joan Baker, (313) 420-2874.

■ AWARD WINNER

Howard Dombrowski of Redford won an Honorable Mention in the annual Silver Medal Exhibition continuing through April 9 at The Scarab Club in Detroit. Livonia artist Jack Olds has a woodcut in the show.

■ ARTBEAT

Juror Ann Mikolowski of Ann Arbor selected 55 works of art from a group of 254 entries submitted by southeast Michigan artists. Detroit artist Jonathon McDuffie, an exhibitor in the Livonia Civic Center Library Fine Arts Gallery last year, won Best of Show ($500) for a pastel/charcoal portrait.

Exhibit hours are noon to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. The Scarab Club is at 217 Farnsworth across from the Detroit Institute of Arts. Call (313) 831-1250.

■ ATRIUM ART SHOW

The Livonia Artists Club presents its' 35th annual Spring Art Exhibit and Sale 1-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, April 13-14 in the atrium of the Livonia Civic Center Library. The public is invited. Admission is free.

"There will be demonstrations that are always fun," said Redford watercolorist Ruth Ann Platt who studied painting with Jim Gilbert in the adult education program at Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills. Gilbert's woven sculptures hang from the ceiling of the atrium.

According to Platt the 40 member club is growing fast for a number of reasons.

"There's a little more awareness of art and ita' value in everyday life. And people have a need to express themselves."

For more information on the upcoming show in the library's atrium call Platt, (313) 937-0188.

Helping Out: Michael Krizanek of Westland was one of 40 New Morning School students making tiles for a table to be auctioned March 23 at Laurel Manor in Livonia. Tickets for the 5 p.m. to midnight event benefitting the non-profit parent cooperative school in Plymouth are $50 per person. Call the school at (313) 420-3331.

hem, representing a marble floor, are hand-tinted with ink for emphasis.

Next to the robe hangs the silk panel depicting courtesans in full dress at a flower viewing festival. The Oiran or high-ranking geisha, shown in red, is trained in the practice of art and music. Her job was the entertainment of men. Born of a Samurai family and appointed to a high court rank, Eishi is known for his tall figures, flowing drapery, elegant line and bright colors. Simmons plans to build his interpretive design around cherry blossoms and spider mums using a palette of pastels and primary colors like red.

"In the Japanese art they use a lot of chrysanthemums. I want the arrangement to complement the art works not overwhelm them. The panel is very quiet and calm where the robe has two peacocks who look like they're going to fly off. I want the piece to be quiet looking, yet looking like it's going someplace," said Simmons.

Besides Keller & Stein, florists donating designs as well as labor and supplies include Chelsea Flowers, Fine Flowers, Lily's Garden Plants & Flowers, Nielsen's Flower Shop and Tom Thompson Flowers of Ann Arbor, and Hon Flowers of Ypsilanti.

A special exhibition of contemporary Japanese ceramics is an additional reason to visit the museum during the the floral interpretive show. The Museum of Art has a history of commitment to the collection and exhibition of Japanese art. According to museum director William J. Hennessey, "Modern Japanese Ceramics takes its place in a continuing series of exhibitions and programs designed to broaden and deepen public understanding and appreciation for the wonderfully rich art and culture of Japan."

Art auction helps AIDS group

Michigan artists bloom at Matthaei exhibit

ARTISTIC EXPRESSIONS

LINDA ANN CHOMIN

"It's a natural," said Livonia artist Barbara Demgen referring to "The Art of the Garden" exhibition continuing through April 5 in the auditorium at University of Michigan's Matthaei Bontanical Gardens, 1800 North Dixboro Road, Ann Arbor.

Admission to "Art of the Garden" is free. Hours are 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday and Thursday, 1-4 p.m. Friday, and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. Admission to the conservatory is $2 for adults, and $1 for students K-12. Pre-school, U-M students and Friends of the Matthaei Botanical Gardens are admitted free. The public is admitted free 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday and Saturday. For information call (313) 998-7061.

Demgen, Jim Isakson of Canton Township, Deborah Friedman of West Bloomfield and Marilyn Austin of Troy are among 20 artists displaying watercolor, acrylic, oil, and pastel paintings in the all floral show.

"I'm really excited about the exhibit. What better place to have it than where they grow," said Demgen, whose watercolor painting strikes a dramatic note with the placement of multi-colored pentunias and coleus against a black background.

"I think people who visit the gardens and appreciate unusual plants and flowers will enjoy the art."

Held in conjunction with the Ann Arbor Flower & Garden Show March 28-31 to benefit the U-M Matthaei Botanical Gardens, the art exhibit adjoins the conservatory where 1,500 different and sometimes exotic plants such as orchids, bamboo and guava grow. Situated along Fleming Creek, the botanical gardens' 600 acres include four nature trails, woodlands, wetlands, several ponds, a tall-grass prairie, and the conservatory containing tropical, temperate and arid plants.

"We sent 1,000 invitations to Michigan artists for the competition. From that 140 works were selected, and 29 were selected from that to exhibit," said Margaret Vergith, Matthaei Botanical Gardens' promotion coordinator.

"The reason we're hosting the exhibit is because we wanted to incorporate more of the community including area artists into this year's flower and garden show theme — Art in Bloom."

William J. Hennessey, director of the University of Michigan Museum of Art and Marsha Chamberlin, director of the Ann Arbor Art Association served as jurors for the competition.

Dyana Hesson's large scale "White Tulips" painting was selected for use as graphic art for 1996 Ann Arbor Flower & Garden Show promotional materials.

Bright yellow daffodils and orange poppies stand out in the foreground of Jim Isakson's acrylic painting "Spring Blooms." A graduate of Center for Creative Studies in Detroit, Isakson exhibited his work in the Canton Project Arts Show last December. By day, he works as a graphic artist on a Macintosh computer for an Auburn Hills' agency. By night in his studio, Isakson paints three dimension illusion in a two dimensional format, blending a variety of styles from Surrealism to Impressionism.

"Composition and color are something I deal with on a daily basis. In my own work, I'm mainly inspired by nature. I camp a lot always within natural surroundings," said the 31-year old Isakson.

Although influenced by the Impressionists, Isakson says his biggest inspiration was his older sister Christine Firestone, who died two weeks ago after a lengthy illness.

TRAVEL

Clip coupons and cut travel costs to Florida

BY JENNIFER MERIN
AP NEWSFEATURES

A fistful of discount coupons probably won't be a deciding factor in where, or if, you travel. But you might be wise to check out the dollars-off bargains once you pick a destination.

The Kissimmee-St. Cloud Convention and Visitors Bureau, for example, has coupons in its "Florida Vacation Guide" that may help ease the financial burden on families who want to visit pricey attractions.

The 80-page travel information brochure, free for a phone call, features coupons discounting tickets to popular places such as Sea World, $3 off each $39 ticket; Universal Studios, $2.50 off each $39 ticket; Busch Gardens, $4 off each $37 ticket; and Wild Bill's Dinner Theater, $4 off each $36 meal and western show.

Additionally, there are coupons for up to 30 percent off rack rates at more than 150 places to overnight and up to 15 percent off the tab at more than 100 restaurants. Coupons are valid from March 31 through August, when a new edition of the brochure offers new savings.

Similar discount coupon brochures, some published annually and others on a one-time basis, are available from a variety of travel destinations, wholesalers and retailers.

How to get the coupons? Once you decide on a destination, contact local government tourism offices. If they offer free discount coupon booklets, order them by phone before leaving home.

Toll-free numbers for many state tourism offices are available from (800) 555-1212. In Vermont, for example, the telephone number is (800) 837-6668, and a packet of 12 coupons offers gifts or free samplers at Dakin Farm and Vermont Canvas Products; 10 percent discounts at Sugarbush Farms, the Farmer's Daughter and other well-known Vermont emporia; plus the free "Vermont Winter Guide."

Tourist offices also are listed in many destination guide books. The Mobil Travel Guides, with seven regional editions and another for major cities, contain discount coupons for lodging, food, car rental and photo processing.

Additionally, visit tourist information centers at your destination. They may have short-term discount coupons. In Texas, the SAVE brochure, an acronym for San Antonio Vacation Experience, is free by mail and offers discount coupons for Fiesta Texas, Sea World, Ripley's Believe It Or Not and other attractions, plus more than 20 hotels and dozens of eateries. Other discount coupons, current dinner theater productions, for example, are available at airport information kiosks or the downtown information center on Alamo Plaza, across from the Alamo.

Ask your travel agent for any available discount coupons. Coupons often accompany frequent-flyer mileage statements. Look for them in advertising in travel publications, especially in-flight magazines; check with hotel registration and concierge desks and on racks in airports and bus and train stations.

Coupons may not pop out at you. For example, many Dollar Rent A Car locations hang discount coupons for local attractions and car upgrades from rear view mirrors. Don't toss them before you scan them.

Finally, ask friends in areas you plan to visit to collect discount coupons for you. In Denver, Colo., gasoline stations and grocery stores often offer discount coupons for ski lift tickets. In New York City, discount coupons for theater tickets are distributed to candy stores, banks and schools.

With all discount coupons, read the fine print for any blackout dates and other restrictions.

Here are some places to call for coupon information.

MUSIC

Plymouth, Redford Symphonies to present concerts

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and Redford Civic Symphony are both presenting concerts this weekend.

■ Redford Civic Symphony celebrates its 40th anniversary with a spring cabaret concert 3 p.m. Sunday, March 24 in the cafeteria at Thurston High School, 26255 Schoolcraft (between Inkster Road and Beech Daly).

There is no charge for this concert. For more information, call (313) 538-1652.

The program includes waltzes, show tunes, marches, rhapsodies and many others. Refreshments provided.

■ The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and several talented vocalists will join together in an unforgettable performance of the great Verdi Requiem, 8 p.m., Saturday, March 23 in the Novi High School Auditorium, 24062 Taft Road, near 10 Mile Road.

The performance is sponsored by Target, who donated $4,500 to the symphony, and by the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs. Tickets are $12 adults, $10 seniors and college students, $6 children. Call (313) 451-2112.

The concert will feature the Plymouth Oratorio Society and Eastern Michigan University Choir, as well as guest soloists Glenda Kirkland, Claritha Buggs, Paul Hartfield, Donald Conrad Hartman and youth artist winner, Anthony Cheung.

Kirkland, soprano, is a professor of voice at EMU and has performed with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the Michigan Opera Theatre. Buggs, mezzo-soprano, is a Detroit native who has performed with the MOT, Liaht Opera of Michigan and the DSO. She is currently an assistant professor of voice at Michigan State University.

Hartfield, tenor, is a professor of voice at MSU. He has performed Verdi's Requiem numerous times. Hartman, bass-baritone, is a member of the National Association of Teachers of Singing and is a member of the board of directors of the National Opera Association. He is presently an associate professor of voice at EMU.

Violist and 16-year-old, Anthony Cheung, the Symphony's youth artist winner will perform Bartok's Viola Concerto. Cheung currently studies viola with Yizhak Schotten, a professor at the University School of Michigan. Cheung is principal violist of the Michigan Youth Symphony Orchestra and is the 1996 Michigan ASTA Junior Division first place winner.

■ The Livonia Symphony Society will present "Cabaret '96," 7 p.m. Friday, March 29 at Burton Manor in Livonia. The Spring dance will feature Jack Brokensha Quartet, show tunes by Emcee ocalist Stephen King, and light popular music by the Livonia Symphony. The concert will be presented by the LSO's Conductor Emeritus, Francesco Di Blasi.

Hot and cold hors d'oeuvres will be served at 6:30 p.m.; the Cabaret will begin at 7 p.m. Tickets are $22 per person, or tables of 10 for $220. All tickets will be held at the door. To reserve, call Betty Jean Awrey (313) 522-1100 or the Symphony's 24-hour Hotline (313) 421-1111.

■ The PSO celebrates its Golden Anniversary with "A Night in Casablanca" April 26 at the Fox Hills Country Club, Plymouth. The event is a major highlight of the PSO's Endowment 2000 campaign, which hopes to raise $250,000 to endow the Symphony by the year 2000.

Guests will be treated to a gourmet dinner, premium bar, and dancing to the music of the Matt Michaels orchestra. With a "Casablanca" theme the gala will take guests back to the 1940s when the PSO first began performing. Tickets are $100 per guest. Call (313) 451-2112 for details.

PREVIEW

Scottish heritage influences Robb Roy

CHRISTINA FUOCO

The phrase "back by popular demand" conjures up visions of something that probably wasn't really wanted in the first place. But for the one-time Livonia-based rock band Robb Roy, the saying rings true.

After a three-year hiatus, the Dearborn band reformed last year because fans said that Robb Roy's music was similar to what was making the Top 40 charts.

"I think a lot of it had to do with what was going on with the music that was getting played," said singer/songwriter Graham Strachan. "A lot of people that we'd run into said what they were hearing sounded an awful lot like what we were doing. Kevin (Pruett, bassist) and Mike (Kudreiko, guitarist/keyboardist) said the people kept saying the same thing to them. So we got back together."

The result of the reunion is the CD "Uh Oh! Here Comes Bob," a 10-song release that shows the maturation of Strachan's poetic songwriting ability.

"I've been able to say what's in my mind and get it out there into a song with words. Each song is like a little story. (Fans have said) that they know exactly what I'm trying to say. There's no gray area," Strachan said.

Born in Fraserburgh, Scotland, (near Aberdeen), Strachan added that his heritage influences his songwriting.

"When people ask me what my influences are, I say Scottish folk music. They say, 'I don't see the correlation.' Although we're working in the pop and rock sort of medium, I do the same thing as folk songs. My songs are little stories.

"My parents, they were really into American culture living back there. It was playland for them to move out here — the land of opportunity, that whole deal. I've kind of mixed the two things," said Strachan who moved here at age 3.

The CD release party Friday, March 22, at the Magic Bag in Ferndale will also reflect his Scottish heritage. His mother is making traditional Scottish food and a bagpiper is scheduled to perform. Skeleton Crew and See Dick Run are also on the bill. The free show is out of respect for fans, he said.

"This is a party. That's all it is to us. It's taken a long time to have our first record come out. I think it's kind of tacky to have people pay to go," he said.

The Magic Bag is at 22918 Woodward Ave., (north of Nine Mile Road). For more information, call (810) 544-3030.

■ Misc. notes: Collective Soul bassist Will Turpin said that his band will return to the studio this summer and will hopefully release the new album in October. Collective Soul played a sold-out show at the State Theatre in Detroit last Friday.

■ Best picks for the week: The Gandharvas, an electic Canadian band that blends jazz, pop, rock, and world beat, plays St. Andrew's Hall on Saturday, March 23 . . . Singer/songwriter Steve Earle turns to the stage on Sunday, March 24, to play the 7th House in Pontiac . . . Lou Reed performs at the State Theatre in Detroit on Monday, March 25, Angelique Kidjo is at the Majestic on Wednesday, March 27, and Frank Black and Jonny Polonsky at St. Andrew's Hall on Thursday, March 28.

If you have any questions or comments for Christina Fuoco, you can write to her care of The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia, MI 48150, or via E-mail at Cfuoco@aol.com, or by calling (313) 953-2047, ext. 2130.

Theatre Guild presents delightful one-act plays

The Theatre Guild presents "A Festival of One-Act Plays," 8 p.m. Friday & Saturday, March 22-23; 2 p.m. Sunday, March 24, 15138 Beech Daly Road, Redford. Tickets $9 adults, senior citizens/students $7. Call (313) 531-0554.

BY BOB WEIBEL
SPECIAL WRITER

The Theatre Guild is presenting something a little different this time around — "A Festival of One Act Plays." Original works and obscure one-acts always have a special appeal. Without any preconceived notions, it's always delightful to see what unfolds in terms of characters, plots and subject material. The current offering by The Theatre Guild at their playhouse on Beech Daly doesn't disappoint. The evening consists of five plays, two of which are originals. And on the whole, they are well presented. Nearly 30 performers are on stage.

The first, "Date With A Stranger," is directed by Kelly Boczek. It's about, shall we say, a sexually impetuous young lady, Corrie Boczek, who strikes up a conversation with a somewhat nerdy young man, Tim Campos, in a restaurant. There are plenty of comic moments as around and around they go, discussing each others sexual problems and foibles. At times, however, one wishes she were more coquettish, and his reactions a little less predictable.

Genevieve Teny directs the next play, "Overtones," which is the most interesting and fully developed show of the evening. It's about two women. Actually four women. The first pair speak conscious thoughts, while the second pair reveal their subconscious conceits. Madorie Wilhelmi, as Harriet, and Bridgett Bolton, as Hettie, are very good as alter egos who seemingly have wealth, culture and position, but are at war with themselves over unresolved loves and aspirations.

Gale Mesner, as Margaret, and Jody Jaroslaw, as Maggie, likewise turn in good performances as alter egos who have come up the hard way. When the two ladies (make that four ladies) get together for a little visit, it's most amusing as the "conscious" pair lie to each other as the "subconscious" pair fight it out with insults and putdowns.

Maggie Patton directs her original, "Workout," in which we see three women competing for who can get the fittest. Pam Cardell, is already thin. Catherine Cobleigh, actually wants to lose a few pounds. Robin Johnson, seems to exercises because it's the "in" thing. All are great fun as they work out their problems with each other and life in general.

"Middle Kingdom," directed by Ron Hutchins, is the shortest piece of the evening. Too bad it wasn't longer, because Bill McKenzie and Philemena Conti give the most polished performances as a husband and wife in a dither over household bills.

The final play is another original work, "A Little Piece of My Heart," directed by Del Johnston and Lynch Travis. Kurt Kinde does a commendable job in the role of a divorced dad searching for answers to a life gone awry. The flashbacks are an effective story telling technique, but the play becomes a little too preachy near the end.

Marie Majewski, as his ex-wife, is properly villainous (from his point of view). A trio of "other" women who just didn't work out add spice to the show. They are played by Renee Mavron, Ginger Albertson and Ariana Schrader.

Bob Weibel of Westland is a freelance writer, who has spent more than 25 years in community theater as a director, designer and performer.

REVIEW

Phyllis Perry of Ann Arbor is the grand prize winner of the Sisters contest sponsored by St. Dunstan's Theatre Guild of Cranbrook.

"The Sisters Rosensweig," runs 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, March 22-23 and March 29-30 at St. Dunstan's Playhouse, 400 Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills (between Woodward and Lahser). General admission is $10; students and senior citizens $8. For ticket information, call (810) 644-0527. Opening night is sold-out.

"I've never told anyone about this," said Perry who learned about the contest from her mother, Jane Perry of Birmingham. Perry won two tickets to St. Dunstan's production of "The Sisters Rosensweig," A St. Dunstan's T-shirt, Tea for Two at the Townsend Hotel in downtown Birmingham, a copy of the book "Sisters" by Carol Saline, from Borders Book Shop in Birmingham, and picture frame for your cherished memory from Orthogonality in Birmingham.

■ Second prize — two tickets to "The Sisters Rosensweig," and Tea for Two at the Townsend Hotel — was awarded to Julie Higgins-Penington of Beverly Hills.

■ Third prize — two tickets to "The Sisters Rosensweig," and a copy of the book "Sisters" — was awarded to Trudi Schreiber of Orchard Lake.

■ Fourth prize — two tickets to "The Sisters Rosensweig," and a picture frame from Orthogonality — was awarded to Virginia Winters of Clarkston.

Here's Perry's winning essay titled "Drip Dried":

All the kids in school had 'em. Levi's jeans were the rage if you were ten, hep, and in the know about fashion in the fifth grade. Only hitch was that they had to fit skin tight. In order to be really cool you had to look as if they were part of your appendage, not like you just ran out to Monkey Wards and grabbed a pair off the rack — horrors!

After securing a pair of these golden leggings, I had to make them fit right and look like the image they were meant to be. Levi's even had a special label attached telling how to achieve maximum shrinkage: sit in the bathtub for half an hour.

Easy enough. So after everyone went to bed I put my jeans on, crept into our only bathroom and carefully climbed into the tub to shrink. About 20 minutes later, I heard my big sister coming in from a date. I cringed, not wanting anyone to know what I was doing or how badly I wanted to "fit" in.

Where did she go first? Straight to the bathroom! She saw me sitting in the tub and asked incredulously, "What in the world are you doing?" Bothered that someone discovered my little mission yet trying to look cool, calm and collected I whispered, "Shh, I'm trying to shrink my jeans." Whereby, she burst into convulsive laughter and retorted, "You're supposed to fill the tub with water to do that, you idiot!"

Thirty years later, we're still laughing about this experience.

■ Levi's jeans were the rage . . . Only hitch was that they had to fit skin tight.

- CELEBRATION OF THE ARTS
Area residents are among the seven prominent Wayne State University alumni who will be honored at the Arts Achievement Awards program beginning 4 p.m. Thursday, March 21, in the McGregor Memorial Conference Center on campus. Artist John Glick of Farmington Hills and dancer/instructor Rose Marie Floyd of Troy will receive awards, along with artist Polly Hughes, who designed and installed many comprehensive art exhibits for the WSU Community Arts Gallery; Mark Fritz, Pulitzer Prize winning writer for the Associated Press; poet and playwright Deborah Tannen; mezzo-soprano Ollie McFarland; and actress Barbara Tarbuck. Arthur Johnson, recently retired vice president for university relations, will be given the 1995 Arts Advocate Award. Noted alumnus and local artist Sergio DeGiusti created a bronze sculpture of the botanical laurel, a symbol of honor and accomplishment, for presentation to each awardee. The program is part of WSU's Celebration of the Arts Tuesday-Friday, March 19-22, which showcases the wide variety of arts programs and events that are regular features at the university. Most events in the celebration are free and open to the public, and include displays of art, literature, music and dance. Honorees will participate in some of the events. Call Eileen Raider in WSU's Office of Community Affairs for more information.

JOHN MONAGHAN

If action movies were automobiles, "Executive Decision" wouldn't be some sporty red convertible negotiating hairpin turns. It would be a charcoal grey Buick, loaded with options, not exactly stylish, but solid and built to last.

It opens with mono-expressioned Steven Seagal leading a band of fatigue-wearing commandos into a heavily-guarded villa. After killing guards with steely slices across the throat and bloody gunshots to the chest, they realize that the crates of nerve gas they were supposed to retrieve are now gone.

Cut to a 747 in flight, over 400 people on board. A man enters the bathroom with a small bag, assembles a plastic gun, passes it to a mate. He in turn shoots his way into the cockpit, puts the gun to the pilots' heads and says the plane is now under their control.

The far-fetched yet fascinating premise behind "Executive Decision" has Seagal's commandos board a small stealth plane to link up with the 747 before it can reach Washington. They're joined by a think tank expert on Middle Eastern terrorism (Kurt Russell) who rightly believes that the missing gas is here, enough to knock out much of the Eastern Seaboard.

Perhaps the best thing about the movie is that Seagal is in so little of it. Could it be that the director ran out of clever ways of hiding his trademark ponytail from the camera? Or did they realize, like many of us, that the bland action hero is best in very small doses?

"Executive Decision" really belongs to Russell, thrust into a situation where he must meet his enemies face to face, not behind the safety of a computer screen. Hiding within the spacious crawl spaces above and below the cabin, he uses high-tech cameras to identify the terrorist leader, a man he knows only by voice.

Though not afraid to spill blood when necessary, the movie relies more on ingenuity and resourcefulness. Like the stranded astronauts on "Apollo 13," these guys use everything at their disposal to control the latest crisis. They must both dismantle the weapon and catch the heavily-guarded cabin by surprise.

After an early scene where Russell takes his last lesson as an amateur pilot, you know he's going to have to land the big bird. Surprisingly, with images of "Airport '75" (not to mention "Airplane") still fresh, the scene delivers some surprising thrills, the kind where you're practically shouting at the screen for the hero not to forget the landing gear.

An able supporting cast aids Russell in his task. Oliver Platt plays an engineer, another egghead who must carry out the mission he has helped design. John Leguizamo wants you to forget his spastic drag queen in "To Wong Foo, Thanks for Everything, Julie Newmar" with a career-calculated 360 as a macho man in fatigues.

The jury is still out on Halle Berry's acting ability. While her heroic flight attendant does keep the guys from blowing their cover, she looks far too good by film's end (especially seated next to the sweaty, battered Russell), as if she's just stepped away from a fashion shoot.

As an action director, Stuart Baird is no James Cameron or John Woo. There are few (if any) sequences that show any artistry behind the camera. But in terms of purely manipulative, nail-biting suspense, "Executive Decision" delivers the most thrills in a Hollywood movie since "Speed."

Kids can enter to win movie passes

Kids, send us a drawing of a solar car to win a T-shirt, and pass for two, to see "Race the Sun" opening at metro Detroit movie theaters this Friday.

Prizes will be awarded to the first 25 entries. The contest is open to children 12 and under. Send or fax entries by April 1 to: Keely Wygonik, Entertainment Editor, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Inc., 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150. To fax entries: call (313) 591-7279.

"Race the Sun" tells the story of a science teacher at Hawaii's Kona Pali High School who takes a bunch of bored and disillusioned kids and moves them to design and build their own solar car. What begins as a senior science project becomes an entry in the World Solar Car Challenge.

These low-income, multi-ethnic teenagers at Kona Pali High don't expect anything from themselves, because nobody else does, until the day the new science teacher arrives. For some reason Sandra Beecher is different from their other teachers — she actually things they can, and should, learn something in school.

With her encouragement, a handful of her students decide to build and race a very special car. Powered by the sun — and by new found pride that burns in the Kona Pali High students' hearts — the fragile vehicle will take them all the way across the Australian continent on a journey of wonder and self-discovery.

"Race the Sun" a TriStar Pictures presentation, stars Halle Berry and James Belushi. It is directed by Charles T. Kanganis, and rated PG (Parental Guidance Suggested).

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across metro Detroit as reviewed by John Monaghan

■ DETROIT FILM THEATRE
Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call (313) 833-2323 for information. ($5; $4 students)

"The Kingdom" (Denmark - 1994). 7, 9:30 p.m. March 22 (Part I); 7, 9:30 p.m. March 23 (Part II); 5, 7 p.m. March 24 (Parts I and II together). A giant Copenhagen hospital is the setting for this four-and-a-half hour drama from director Lars Von Trier. Your ticket to Part I will admit to you any screening of Part II.

"Chungking Express" (Hong Kong - 1994). 7 p.m. March 25. Another fine example of Hong Kong's cinematically stylized "New Wave," with two love stories merely subplots for some wild goings-on. Quentin Tarantino is behind the film's American release.

■ KINOTEK
Windsor Film Theatre, 2135 Wyandotte St. West, Windsor. Call (519) 254-FILM for information. ($4.50 Canadian; $4 US)

"Knife in the Water" (Poland - 1962). 9 p.m. March 25-26. In his mesmerizing feature film debut, director Roman Polanski turns a deceptively simple tale of three people in a boat into an absurdist drama of sexual rivalry.

■ MAGIC BAG THEATRE
22918 Woodward, Ferndale. Call (810) 544-3030 for information. ($6)

"When Night is Falling" (USA - 1995). 7:30, 9:30 p.m. March 24. The award-winning lesbian love story finally makes it to Detroit. Presented by Southeast Michigan Pride.

■ MAIN ART THEATRE
118 N. Main Street at 11 Mile, Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday, unless noted otherwise. Call (810) 542-0180 for information and showtimes. ($6.50; $4 students and matinee; $3 twilight)

"The Birdcage" (USA - 1995). Robin Williams and Nathan Lane are a gay couple who must play it straight when Williams' son wants to entertain his fiance and her conservative family. Mike Nichols' remake of the 1978 French farce "La Cage aux Folles" delivers big laughs.

"French Twist" (France - 1995). When Victoria Abril discovers that her realtor husband is cheating on her, she gets sweet revenge when a tenderhearted woman (played by the director, Josiane Balasko) has her van break down in front of the house.

"The City of Lost Children" (France - 1995). From Jeunet and Caro, the French directing team behind "Delicatessan" comes this outrageous fantasy about a group of tough, precocious young orphans who escape the world of adults through bizarre dreams.

"Shanghai Triad" (China - 1995). During the bloody opium wars of the 1930s, a young boy is assigned as servant to a mob boss' beautiful mistress (Gong Li). Another splendidly-filmed epic from "Raise the Red Lantern" director Zhang Yimou.

■ MAPLE THEATRE
4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield. All titles play through at least next Thursday, unless noted otherwise. Call (810) 855-9090 for information. ($6; $2.95 twilight)

"Angels and Insects" (USA - 1995). A gothic romance about a penniless biologist who marries into the family of an eccentric philanthropist, only to find himself trapped in a web of eroticism and deceit. Mark Rylance and Patsy Kensit star.

"The Birdcage" (USA - 1995). See Main Art Theatre listing above.

■ REDFORD THEATRE
13671 Lahser (at Grand River), Detroit. Call (313) 537-2560 for information. ($2.50)

"It Happens Every Spring" (USA - 1949). 8 p.m. March 22; 2, 8 p.m. March 23 (organ overture begins a half hour before showtime). In this clever comedy, Ray Milland plays a chemistry professor who discovers a mixture that turns the game of baseball upside down. When placed on a ball, it steers clear of any wooden surface, namely bats. Jean Peters and Paul Douglas co-star.

■ STAR JOHN R
John R at 14 Mile, Madison Heights. Call (810) 585-2070 ($6.50; $3.50 matinee/twilight)

"Fargo" (USA - 1995). In this sixth film from Joel and Ethan Coen, Frances McDormand plays a pregnant sheriff investigating a bizarre murder case in the Upper Minnesota snowbelt. Dryer and less satisfying than the Coens' other pictures ("Raising Arizona" and "The Hudsucker Proxy" among them) but still one of the most unique and uncompromising films of the year. Steve Buscemi co-stars.

"Bottle Rocket" (USA - 1995). A low-budget examination of three would-be thieves who learn the importance of friendship, honor, and duty as they ineptly pursue a life of crime.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Cruiser titlist

Ben Dzialo, a member of the Plymouth-Canton Cruisers Swim Club, won the state championship in the 9-10 year-old boys 50-yard (30.94) and 100-yard (1:10.45) butterfly at the U.S.S. Short Course State Championships, held in Rockford.

Dzialo also placed fourth in the 200 freestyle, fifth in the 50 free, sixth in the 200 individual medley, and eighth in both the 100 free and 100 IM.

Other Cruisers to score at the meet were Kyle Silbernagel, eighth in the 9-10 50 fly; and the 11-12 boys medley relay of Brad Nilson, Adam Sonnanstine, Garrett Stone and Brian Mertens, which placed 14th.

The Cruisers scored 122 points to finish 18th out of 45 teams.

Other Cruisers who qualified for the meet were Alicia Dotson in the 9-10 girls 50, 100 and 200 free and 100 backstroke; Amy Mertens in the 9-10 girls 100 fly; Nilson in the 11-12 boys 100 back, 50 breaststroke and 50 free; and Sonnanstine in the 11-12 boys 50 breast.

The U.S.S. Short Course State Championship meet is the highest level of competition for age-group swimmers in the state.

OU wins title

Nothing much changed in the last day of the NCAA Division II Swimming and Diving Championships, held at the Hyslop Sports Center in Grand Forks, N.D. Oakland University's men's team won its third-consecutive championship, and the OU women placed second to Air Force — their eighth straight top-three finish.

Among the OU men's team leaders were Karl Kozicki, a sophomore from North Farmington who was ninth in the 1,650-yard freestyle (16:26.89); Chris Knoche, a junior from North Farmington who was 13th in the 100 free (46.78); and Randy Teeters, a junior from Redford Catholic Central who was fourth in the 200 breaststroke (2:03.05).

Scoring for OU's women's team was Jill Mellis, a sophomore from Plymouth Canton who was ninth in the 200 breast (2:26.46).

WalkAmerica Kickoff

The first annual Detroit Sports and Rec WalkAmerica Kickoff is scheduled for 1-3 p.m. Saturday, March 30 at the Canton location of the Detroit Sports and Rec store (39453 Ford).

The Detroit Sports and Rec WalkAmerica is part of the March of Dimes WalkAmerica, a 12-mile national pledge walk which will be in 14 southeast Michigan communities, including Farmington Hills and Canton.

The event is expected to draw more than 17,000 walkers, 1,000 corporate teams and hundreds of volunteers to raise $1.5 million for the March of Dimes Campaign for Healthier Babies.

Each person who registers to walk the Detroit Sports and Rec team will receive a free T-shirt and will be eligible to win a $250 health and fitness prize package, to be given away at WalkAmerica on Sunday, April 28. Raffle prizes and other incentives and giveaways will be offered, too.

Dekhockey registration

The Michigan Dekhockey Center has openings in its spring leagues for all ages. A sport based upon street hockey, Dekhockey is played in both sneakers and on in-line skates on a 160 by 80 foot outdoor tiled rink.

Registration for leagues, both in-line skates and sneakers, are available through April 15. League play begins April 20, with a 13-game guarantee.

For more information, call 397-8900.

Benefit run

A five-mile race through the scenic countryside is what is offered in the No Frills, All Thrills Trail Run, scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Huron Meadows Metro Park, located two miles south of Brighton on Hammel Road.

Cost is $12, with a portion of the entry fee going to the Schoolcraft College women's cross country Scholarship Fund.

Prizes will be awarded to the top male and female finishers, as well as winners in various age groups. A pair of running socks will be given to the first 150 entrants.

The run is sponsored by the Brighton Area Road Striders. A Huron Clinton Metro Park vehicle pass is required to gain entrance to the park.

For more information, call (810) 496-1824.

Soccer tryouts

Michigan Madness men's soccer team will have open tryouts at 1 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, March 23-24, at Flodin Soccer Complex in Canton.

The Madness, formerly known as the Ann Arbor Elite, competes in the United States Inter-Regional Soccer League.

For more information call team owner Wayne Woroszat (313) 455-4011 or Raad Sana at (313) 421-7533.

Flodin Soccer Complex is located on Saltz Road between Sheldon and Lilley.

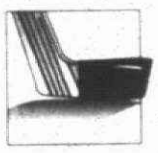
Smith's confident in Spartans

■ Michigan State has ended its regular season just the way every team wants to end it — with a continuation into post-season play. The Spartans host their NCAA West Regional, opening against University of Massachusetts-Lowell Saturday.

By C.J. Risak
Staff Writer



Right up until the final month of the regular season, the glass slipper — or perhaps it should be skate — fit perfectly.

Then came the gout, causing the slipper to crack.

Nothing much has gone right for Michigan State's hockey team in the last month of what had been a Cinderella season. Since the Spartans' 4-3 victory over highly-touted Lake Superior State Feb. 17, they have gone 2-5-1, including a 6-2 loss to Michigan in Saturday's Central Collegiate Hockey Association semifinal.

But no matter. Look at what happened before that: a 26-7-0 record. Considering how much MSU had lost from the previous year, it was incredible.

And in Chris Smith's mind, the Spartans' entire season deserves the same status. "If you had asked anybody in the preseason where we'd be right now, nobody would have thought we'd be where we are," said the senior defenseman from Canton.

Many doubted MSU would even make the CCHA playoffs, let alone challenge for the title. But several factors altered that.

"We're a young team," said Smith. "And the freshmen have really played well. They started contributing right from the start."

There was also a change in style. No more high flying, high scoring contests; MSU couldn't afford it. There just weren't enough proven scorers.

So defense was emphasized, more than ever. Smith is a perfect example: Last season, he collected 10 goals and 20 assists to tie for fifth in scoring among CCHA defensemen.

This season, he has one goal and five assists for six points.

"Last year, most of my points came on the power play," Smith explained. It's a role he's relinquished this season. "It's a change the coaching staff felt would benefit the team."

The "defense rules" approach has been successful for MSU. "I think maybe this year I am concentrating more on the defensive aspect of the game," admitted Smith. "The whole team has. When we win, it's not 8-7 or 7-6. It's 3-2 or 3-1."

The Spartans have also been able to do something else young teams aren't supposed to do: win close games. They are 10-2 in one-goal games.

To say MSU's 28-12-1 season, which has earned it a trip to the NCAA Tournament, is due to a strong freshmen class and a lot of luck is a mistake. Smith's attitude going into the playoffs proves the seniors provide a valued commodity.

Sure, the Spartans have been sliding. But you wouldn't know it in talking to Smith. "Everybody's feeling really good," he said. "We played a good game Saturday against Michigan, but they got the breaks they needed to win.

"Everybody's really excited about the tournament."

The "breaks" Michigan needed to beat MSU last Saturday resulted in a 6-2 loss. Still, Smith won't sell his team short.

"We have to play hard," he said. "It helps that we're at home. But we're going to have to play hard as a team and capitalize on our breaks, then let the chips fall where they may."

"Team" is the final factor Smith insists has had a major impact on the Spartans' season. "We haven't had to rely on one or two guys," he said. "We've been playing as a team, and I think that's been the reason (for our success)."

More than anything else, that's what's needed for a successful tournament run — an unwavering belief in the team.

EMU's Miller makes the most of change

By C.J. Risak
Staff Writer

■ GYMNASTICS

It hasn't been the kind of year Kim Miller thought it would be.

It's been much, much more.

When the gymnastics season began for Eastern Michigan University, Miller — a junior from Plymouth Salem — was figuring to do what she had done her first two seasons: compete in vault, balance beam and floor exercise.

But the Eagles had lost their best scorers on the uneven parallel bars to graduation. "We didn't even have (Miller) working on the bars at the beginning of the year," said EMU coach Steve Wilce. "But we felt we needed her."

With the consistently good scores Miller had posted in her other events, that made her a natural for the all-around. Of course, it was a challenge — something Miller relishes.

And responds to. She's posted all-around scores that put her among the best in the Mid-American Conference.

"Competing in the all-around was a big improvement for me," the former Plymouth Salem standout said.

Said her coach: "She's had a very good year . . . for somebody who didn't expect to be an all-arounder at the beginning of the season."

Her more recent efforts were rewarded when she was named MAC gymnast the week for her performance in EMU's 190.825-189.825 win over Central Michigan last Saturday. Miller won the bars with a career-best 9.75, and was second in the all-around with a career-best 38.125.

That is the third-best total ever posted at EMU.

"By the time she graduates, I think she'll have the school record," predicted Wilce.

Not that everything's come easily this season. What Miller probably won't make is the NCAA Regionals; to have qualified, she would have to

Facing considerable losses, Ocelots dig deep for recruits

By C.J. Risak

■ RECRUITING

There wasn't any time to lose. Van Dimitriou knew that.

The Schoolcraft College men's soccer coach was well aware that he would need to rebuild his team for next fall's season. He was losing his starting keeper, four of his top five defenders (with the possibility of one of those returning), five midfielders and his top two scoring forwards.

"Knowing this, I went out and tapped into all my sources," Dimitriou said.

The result: "This may be the best recruiting class we've ever had."

It all starts with defense. In goal, Joe McCarty — who shared time with Ari Mechlowicz to start last season — returns. He'll go into the season as the starter, with Travis Miller, a Detroit Catholic Central grad, and Ryan Scheid (Eastpointe) as his backups.

Joe Sisco (Plymouth Canton) is the lone returnee on defense (Matt Youngerman's status is uncertain due to family considerations), but Dimitriou has plenty to work with.

Like Chris Jaskolski, from state-champion Plymouth Salem. And Peter Varga, from Livonia Churchill. And Mohamed Salmassi, from Dearborn Fordson. And Matt Keller, from

Madonna pitching, defense improve

BASEBALL

Madonna University escaped Michigan's latest, and hopefully last, blast of winter by competing in the Bombs at the Beach Baseball Tournament in San Diego, Calif.

It may sound like a vacation, but the Fighting Crusaders had their hands full, taking on NAIA power and host Point Loma Nazarene College.

Madonna played well, splitting a doubleheader with the Crusaders. After winning the opener 2-0, Point Loma salvaged a split when Brady Bishop hit a two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh inning to score the only runs of the game.

In the opener, junior Eric Butler (2-1) scattered nine hits for the shutout. He struck out three and walked only one.

Madonna (6-9) scored all the runs it would need in the second inning. Delano Voletti singled with one out and Pete Quinn moved him to third with a double. Dan Taylor followed with an RBI single and Jeff Gutt then executed a suicide squeeze to score Quinn.

Taylor and Voletti had two hits apiece in the eight-hit Madonna attack.

The victory broke Point Loma's 10-game win streak and dropped the Crusaders to 14-10-1.

In the nightcap, Bishop's home run spoiled an excellent pitching performance by junior Joel Hillebrand (0-2). He allowed just six hits, while striking out five and walking one in the complete-game outing.

Madonna threatened in its half of the eighth when Eric Marcotte and Tim Kasubowski opened the inning with singles. But a force at third on a bunt attempt and a double play ended the rally.

Quinn and Kasubowski had two hits apiece for the Fighting Crusaders in a losing cause.

On Saturday, Madonna also split a doubleheader at Ohio Dominican. After winning the opener 8-3, the Fighting Crusaders dropped the second game, 2-0.

Aaron Shrewsbury paced the Madonna onslaught in the opener, going 3-for-3, with three RBI and two runs scored. Kasubowski went 2-for-4 with three runs scored and Kurt Wilczynski was 2-for-3 with one RBI.

Kasubowski and Shrewsbury ignited the Madonna win with back-to-back solo home runs in the first inning.

Junior Dan Pydyn (2-1) tossed the first six innings for the win. Freshman Joel Fabris retired the side in the seventh inning.

Ohio Dominican came back to earn the split after holding Madonna to just three hits.

Ohio did its damage in the third inning when it scored twice on four singles. Junior Craig Benedict (0-2) suffered the defeat.

The Fighting Crusaders have committed only one error in their past four games.

have an average score among the top six all-arounders in the region (based on two major meets, two away meets and two home meets).

Unfortunately, Miller competed in just two home meets, she missed the only other one because of a concussion she suffered the week before on a fall from the beam. One of her two home all-around scores was 36.65, which figures to be too low.

Still, there's little to lament in this season for Miller. "Right now, I'm just shooting for the MACs," she said, referring to the MAC Championships March 30 at Bowling Green State.

Her coach figures she could challenge for the league's all-around title. "If she gets out there and puts together a good meet, she's got a good chance," Wilce said.

One reason for the optimism is that attitude of hers. "I get a thrill out of competing," said Miller. "When I do well, I get a high off of it."

Her determined attitude was evident when she suffered that fall, at the Michigan Classic Feb. 4. Miller missed the beam completely, falling on her head on the mat. She got back on, finishing the event and the meet. She then missed two weeks due to a concussion.

If that cost her a shot at the NCAA Regionals, so be it. Miller will push herself that much harder at the MAC finals, then gear up for next season.

"She's really a fierce competitor," said Wilce, his team the top contender to Kent State, which won the MAC dual-meet championship with a 5-0 record (EMU was 4-1). "When you need her, she's there."

Which should be a major concern to any of her competitors in the MAC.

Rochester Adams. And Shaun Pratt, from Clawson. And Kent Geistler, from Royal Oak Dondero.

Pratt, Keller and Geistler all received some all-state consideration. "We'll probably have the best ball-handling defense we've ever had," predicted Dimitriou.

The newcomers at midfield are Peter Lechowicz, an all-Western Lakes Activities Association all-Lakes Division selection from Livonia Stevenson; Eric Kracht, a "very smart player" who's also physically solid, from Livonia Franklin; Mike Minicilli, another Stevenson grad who's "a good playmaker", Doug Spuck, a Plymouth Salem grad who didn't play his senior year; Kevin Fritz, from Brighton; David York, from Novi; Mike Preston, from Milford; and Igli Vokopola, a midfielder/forward from Royal Oak Kimball who's rated among the top 10 players in Oakland County.

The front line must find someone to replace Mo Hijazi, who set school scoring records last year.

The goal-scoring now falls to Mike Dean, a Dearborn Edsel Ford graduate who scored 30 goals and assisted on 14 others as a senior; Garrett Maki, a Dearborn Crestwood product who produced 36 goals in his junior and senior seasons and was honorable mention all-state; and Jamie Bennett, another honorable mention all-stater who netted 18 goals as a senior at Fordson.

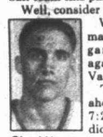
CC grad Varga stood out for struggling Pittsburgh team

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Want to know how much Detroit Catholic Central graduate Chad Varga meant to the University of Pittsburgh men's basketball team this past season?

Well, consider this.



Chad Varga

With 3:39 remaining in a home game Feb. 20 against Rutgers, Varga fouled out.

The Panthers, ahead by 18 with 7:23 remaining, didn't score a point in the last three minutes and lost 71-70.

Watching from the bench made the outcome especially agonizing as the Panthers dropped their sixth-straight game en route to a 10-17 final record.

"It was the story of our season," said Varga, a 6-foot-6, 215-pound junior forward who is a 1992 CC graduate. "We have a ton of talent, we're just not clicking."

To prove Varga's point, the Panthers defeated Georgetown, 75-56, on Jan. 10 and lost in overtime to Massachusetts, 79-71, on Jan. 23.

The Panthers lost 14 of their last 16 games.

Varga averaged 12.5 points and a team-high 6.3 rebounds per game, starting all 26 of the games he played.

As much as his teammates leaned on him, Varga has leagned to do the same at home with his wife, Kristie, and 19-month old son Cameron.

It helps him cope with losing.

"Kristie (whose maiden name is Shalley) is special, one of a kind," said Varga. "When you fall in love, you know it. Cameron is a blessing on top of it all. He's precious, the most unbelievable thing in the world."

An impressive stretch

Varga didn't receive any postseason honors in the Big East, but for a three-week stretch between late January and mid-February was arguably one of the league's best players.

He led the Panthers in scoring in five straight games, a stretch in which he averaged 21.0 points per game with a high of 26 in a 73-67 loss to No. 18 Syracuse on Feb. 7.

Varga also held his own rebounding against some of the giants in the Big East, recording 10 to go with 17 points in an 88-55 loss on Feb. 3 to Villanova.

Varga made 132-of-270 field goal attempts (.499), including 11-31 three-point shots.

"Being a scorer, the points will come," Varga said. "My main focus is rebounding, helping us win. Right now, unfortunately, we're not winning."

Varga met his wife at Vincennes Junior College in Indiana, where he spent his sophomore year after transferring from Richmond University. Varga was redshirted as a freshman because of a foot injury at Richmond before earning third-team All-America honors at Vincennes.

Kristie and Cameron are there for each home game, whether it be at Fitzgerald Field House on campus or the Pittsburgh Civic Arena. Varga looks in the crowd at both of them after each of his dunks.

Kristie has a degree in business from Indiana University. Her study habits must have rubbed off on Varga, who maintains a 3.3 grade point average and will graduate on time.

Cameron likes to take the court after Pitt games, playing with a smaller ball he brings from home. During a post-game radio interview following one of Pitt's games, the interviewer and coach Ralph Willard caught a glimpse of Cameron's moves on the court.

"I was doing a radio show the other night and Cameron goes on the floor after the game," said his proud father with a laugh. "I told him to follow through (with his shot) and coach commented that Cameron has a better follow through than me. All he does is want to play ball. He dribbles, shoots, sits at games and says 'Daddy, ball.' "

Willard's 1st recruit

While averaging 19.6 points and 9.5 rebounds at Vincennes in 1993-94, Varga was set to sign with Western Kentucky University. Willard, then the coach at WKU, resigned to take the same job at Pitt.

Varga went with him as his first recruit.

Varga was averaging 9.6 points and 6.5 rebounds per game during the 1994-95 season at Pitt before a wrist injury limited him to 10 games.

The new additions to his life have helped Varga become an all-around person, according to Willard.

"There's a higher level of maturity with Chad than before," Willard said. "Part of that is the family and just the difference as a result of growing up. He's a good example for all our players and all our players should know there are a lot of things out there more important than a basketball game.

"Families and growth as a person are much more important than basketball. Chad certainly knows that and shows that, but he works hard at basketball, too."

Varga credits much of his success to the regular workouts he has with strength and conditioning coach Gary Wateska and trainer Tony Salesi.

"Tony ran me to death last summer," Varga said. "I got down to 210 which is real good for me, and my strength coach is unreal."

Wateska remembers one night last summer when Varga improvised after finding out the doors to the weight room were locked.

"He called me one Sunday night and insisted on getting some lifting in," Wateska recalled. "I said 'All right, I'll meet you at the Field House in 15 minutes.' The building was closed so he did a manual resistance lift in the parking lot. His wife was there, laughing at us. It was a heck of a workout. In 20 minutes, he was beat."

A manual resistance lift is a push-up with someone applying extra weight to the person's back.

Varga said he has to improve his ball-handling and perimeter defense if he wants to make the National Basketball Association.

A more immediate goal is to help the Panthers earn an NCAA tournament bid next year, although he couldn't help but think that could be him while watching Sacramento Kings' rookie Brent Barry win the recent NBA slam-dunk contest.

"I joked about that when Brent Barry did it, saying 'I'm getting that (award) in two years,' " said Varga, whose vertical leap of 41.5 inches was second on the team. "You never know what you can achieve. I've been real humbled. Without the Lord, none of these things would have happened."

Zebras eliminate East Lansing, advance to Class A Final Four

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Nobody appears to be able to stop the Wayne Memorial express.

A talented and athletic Lansing Everett team tried its luck in Tuesday's Class A boys basketball quarterfinal, but the hot-shooting Zebras continued their state tournament run with a convincing 78-65 victory before 3,000 screaming fans in Lansing Eastern's fieldhouse.

Wayne becomes the first Observerland team since 1988 (Redford Bishop Borgess) to reach the boys Final Four.

The Zebras (23-2 overall) will next take on Southfield-Lathrup (22-3), a 50-47 quarterfinal winner Tuesday over Clarkston. The state semifinal matchup begins at 2:50 p.m. Friday at Michigan State's Breslin Center in East Lansing.

Wayne was not to be denied against Everett, which may have needed more than alum Earvin Johnson on this night.

"This is sweet," Wayne coach Chuck Henry said. "It's a long, tiring season, but it's a good, tired feeling.

"All the hard work has come to pass and now we're in the semis, where every team dreams to be."

Last year Wayne lost in overtime to Kalamazoo Central in the quarters at Lansing Eastern, but this was a more seasoned and wiser Zebra team.

Wayne's depth, team defense and balanced scoring attack were once again the key ingredients.

Senior forward Jameel Wooden was spectacular, leading the way with a team-high 20 points, including three 3-pointers.

"Jameel made big shots and he personifies the streaky shooter," Henry said. "When he's on, he can be very, very good."

Wooden made an acrobatic dunk with 1:28 remaining to put Wayne ahead by 17 points, 74-57.

Driving to the basket, the 6-foot Wooden threw a scoop pass to himself in mid-air and jammed it home two-handed.

"I thought I was going to miss it because I thought it slipped out of my hands," Wooden said. "I felt really good about my shot tonight. The last couple of games my shot was not as good. I like this gym. I had a good game here last year, but we lost. Coming back after that loss last year brought us back together as a team."

Mr. Team Player, 6-3 junior point-guard Lorenzo Guess played his steady all-around game, coming up with 16 points and six assists.

Roland Patterson had 12 and Richard Johnson chipped in with 10, while Rodney Hurst added eight.

The lead see-sawed throughout the opening quarter, but Wayne gained a 21-20 edge when Hurst converted a conventional three-point play with one second left.

In the second quarter, Wayne got on a roll, hitting 10 of 14 shots from the floor, including four treys, during a 26-13 run.

Deon Willis' free throw with 45 seconds left put Wayne ahead 47-31, but a basket by Everett's Dwayne Wallace with 25 seconds to go made it 47-33 at intermission.

"We didn't play well defensively, but Wayne had a whole lot to do with it," Everett coach Johnny Jones said. "I thought they shot the ball very well. It seemed like they didn't miss a shot in the first half and they hurt us on the glass."

Wayne won the battle of the boards, 31-15. Johnson and Guess led with eight each.

A full-court press helped Everett cut the deficit to 53-47 with 2:35 remaining in the third quarter. Eric Thompson, a 5-foot-10 senior guard who led all scorers with 29 points, ended a 10-0 run by Everett that made the deficit six.

"We had to handle the ball versus their press, but if we don't we might as well forget it," Henry said. "We moved Lorenzo from the middle to the wing. He was able to see over the press and it had a positive effect."

Wayne stemmed the tide and the deafening roar of the partisan Everett crowd as Patterson tipped in a missed shot with 1:34 left and Guess followed on an alley-oop off an out-of-bounds pass just before the horn.

"We just had to calm down," Guess said of the Everett run. "We'd been in this situation last year and we knew what to do because we have a year's experience.

Taking a 10-point lead into the final quarter, 57-47, Wooden came out and stuck a dagger in the Vikings' side with a pair of treys and a field goal sandwiched in between a Guess hoop.

With Guess firmly at the controls, Wayne spread the floor and deliberately worked the ball over the final three minutes. The Zebras put Everett away by making seven of eight free throws down the stretch.

Habitat protection beneficiary of Wildlife Art Festival

Habitat is defined as the region where a plant or animal naturally lives.

Often taken for granted, habitat is a critical ingredient in the continuation of thriving fish and wildlife populations.

Years ago, the Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation realized the need to protect and restore habitat. For the past 13 years, the Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation has been restoring fish and wildlife habitat at a pace unparalleled in our state. To date, the Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation has restored over 5,000 acres of wetlands, installed hundreds of fish structures and erosion control devices and completed endangered species projects and forest, urban and prairie habitat restoration.

OUTDOOR INSIGHTS

BILL PARKER

You can help support this effort by attending this weekend's Michigan Wildlife Art Festival at the Southfield Pavilion. This annual benefit is designed to raise public consciousness about the needs of wildlife by exhibiting the best wildlife and environmental art from across North America. This weekend, 58 of North America's premiere wildlife artists will exhibit hundreds of paintings, prints, carvings, etchings, bronzes, photographs and scratchboards. All the artwork will be for sale with a portion of the proceeds going towards wildlife restoration right here in Michigan.

Since 1984 the Michigan Wildlife Art Festival - widely regarded as the largest such festival in the Midwest - has raised more than $700,000 for wildlife restoration.

Catherine McClung, of Whitmore Lake, is the featured artist of the festival and West Bloomfield's Heiner Hertling will put on a special landscape art exhibit. Some of the other noted artists include Lee Kromschroeder, Ken Zylla, Kathleen Whitehead Brogan, Tim Callahan, 1996 Michigan Duck Stamp contest winner Rusty Frentner, Michigan wildlife photographer Carl Sams II and many, many more.

On top of the wildlife art there will also be a series of free seminars.

Farmington Hills naturalist Joe Derek, host of the popular radio program "Naturally Michigan Afield," kicks off the seminar schedule at 1 p.m. Saturday with a presentation entitled "Creating Your Own Backyard Habitat." Jim McGrath follows at 1 p.m. with "The Reptiles Of Michigan." Lepidopterist Lynda Thornburg presents "Conservation Of Butterflies And Moths" at 3 p.m. and Dr. Patrick Rusz, of MWHF, presents "Restoration Of Prairies In Michigan" at 5 p.m.

On Sunday, Gary Dunn of the Young Entomologists Society presents a program for children and adults entitled, "Insects: The Little Creatures That Run The World." Tim Nowicki, nature columnist for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and the naturalist at the Independence Oaks Nature Center in Clarkston takes the spotlight at 1 p.m. with "Birds Of The Great Lakes Area." McGrath wraps up the seminar schedule at 3 p.m. Sunday with a presentation on Amphibians Of Michigan.

Spolsky, Michalski earn 3-peat All-Area honors

BY DAN O'MEARA AND STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITERS

The 1996 All-Observer team is the final bow for a handful of outstanding wrestlers whose names have become synonymous with the sport in the last three years.

Foremost among them are seniors John Spolsky of Detroit Catholic Central and Matt Michalski of Farmington High.

Both are three-time members of the All-Observer first team, three-time champions at the Observerland Tournament and three-time medalists in the state tournament.

Spolsky distinguished himself this year as the lone state champion from Observerland, winning the 275-pound Division I title while posting a 55-0 record.

Other familiar names on the first team are Detroit CC senior Dario Ianni and Wayne Memorial junior Richard Watson. Both are repeat members of the All-Observer team.

Ianni, CC seniors David Gardner and Kevin Griffin and Plymouth Salem senior Jeremy Breithaupt also are three-time honorees, having made either the second or third teams the past two years.

Livonia Churchill senior Eugen Barbu might well have joined that group if he hadn't missed last season with a knee injury. He was a third-team pick as a sophomore, as was Griffin.

CC senior Dave O'Hara, Livonia Stevenson senior Dave Falzon, Griffin and Breithaupt were second-team members last year, Gardner third team.

The Observerland Coach of the Year is Wayne's Dave Davis, who guided the Zebras to the Mega Conference Blue Division title, their first district crown since 1984 and a runner-up finish in the regional team tournament. Wayne also had its first state qualifiers (two) in nearly a decade.

ALL-AREA TEAM

John Spolsky, 275, Redford CC: What more can be said about Spolsky, one of Observerland's most heralded athletes?

Only a few months after helping the CC football team win a Class AA state championship, he capped an undefeated season on the mats with another state title and a personal 55-0 record.

En route to the state championship, Spolsky earned first-place honors at the Plymouth Salem, Davison, CC, Observerland, Catholic League, district and regional tournaments.

Spolsky, who was seventh at the state meet as a sophomore and runner-up last year, finished with a 151-8 career record.

"John has an outstanding work ethic, which obviously paid off," CC coach Mike Rodriguez said. "It has been a joy to have worked with him over the past four years. I will always remember him as a gentle giant and Christian. We can all sleep well knowing he will be out there protecting this country at the U.S. Air Force Academy."

Dave O'Hara, 103, Detroit CC: O'Hara showed his mettle at the Catholic League meet, winning his weight class despite spending the half week leading to the competition in bed with the flu.

O'Hara was first at Plymouth Salem and Davison, second at the Jenison and CC invitationals.

O'Hara's career record was an impressive 84-10. He finished the 1996 season with a 33-4 record.

"He gets the job done thoroughly," Rodriguez said.

Matt Michalski, 112, Farmington: Michalski finished his career as the all-time leader in victories at Farmington High School. He was 43-6 this year and 130-24 during his career.

HONORABLE MENTION

Lutheran Westland: LaRoy Turner, Michael Faith, Joseph Kemp. Thurston: Lawrence Haddad, Chris Funke, Andy Raudszus, David Ivankovitsch, Charlie DuBois, Tony Narvaez, Mike Ivankovitsch, Alex Agbuis, Hazen Longthorne, Jeremy Rockwell, Ryan Perry, Tim Baron, Andy Garbacz, Jeremy Barnhart. Clarenceville: Dave Lemmon, Chris King, Eric Tondreau, Chris Lakhor, Craig Rose, Andy Moore. Stevenson: Dan Seider, Jeff Brach, Eric Reese, Eric O'Neil. Franklin: Aaron Had Bad, John Grist, Andy Hill, William Sari. N. Farmington: Dave LaBerge, Steve Acton, Joe Djonovic. Farmington: Charles Jaeger, Cory Perry, Sevan Sahner, Martin Spinks, Adam Tarvelsen. Harrison: Dave Eaton. Churchill: Nick McGowen, Nate Muchow, Ryan Palmer, Brian Panczyszyn, Joe Ramsaw. Salem: Dave Popeney, Craig Van Camp. Redford CC: Matt Petersen, Andy Lendrum, Ryan Zapiec, Aaron Rock, Jeff Bracken. Wayne: Jim Sikula, Pat Grzeca, William Learme. Canton: Tom Keeling. John Glenn: Marc Dugas, Tim Reeves, John Feduchak, Matt Biddinger. Redford Union: Mike Connolly.

He placed first at the Division II district and regional meets, and he was sixth in the state.

Michalski was a two-time Oakland County and Western Lakes Activities Association champion, as well as a two-time district and regional winner.

Michalski was a three-time Observerland champion and also placed first at the Salem Invitational this year.

"Matt is one of the most unselfish and giving persons I've known," Farmington coach Al Beyar said. "His extracurricular activities are too numerous to mention. Teamwise, to some he was a mentor, to others an inspiration. His loyalty, dedication and intensity to this sport have brought him much deserved recognition. Next year he'll be missed as a wrestling talent but more so as a person."

Dario Ianni, 119, Detroit CC: Ianni placed at the state meet for the third straight year, earning seventh this year. He was an Observerland and Catholic League champion, finished second at Salem, sixth at Davison and fourth at the CC Invitational.

"Dario is a real high-spirited young man, and I hope he will always remember the lessons he learned this year. Perseverance, it works," Rodriguez said.

Dave Falzon, 125, Stevenson: Falzon had a tremendous senior year, recording a 47-7 record after going 50-36 in the previous two seasons.

Falzon was the Trenton, Plymouth Salem, Observerland, WLAA and district champion. He placed third at the regional and WAS a state qualifier at 119 pounds.

He was a regional qualifier as a junior when he made the All-Observer second team.

Rich Watson, 130, Wayne: With one year of high school remaining, Watson already has a 72-19 career record after finishing this season 47-6.

He won six tournament championships and also was a district and regional winner before taking sixth at the state meet. Watson already holds the Wayne record for most dual-meet wins, most dual pins and most pins in a single tournament with four. He was an Observerland champion and co-MVP.

"Rich has progressed more than your average wrestler, learning moves and perfecting them in a short time," Wayne coach Dave Davis said. "From an 8-4 record as a freshman to a state placer with a 47-6 record is a great improvement and people know who he is. Rich is a wrestler any coach would be happy to have as a leader of a team. He's got a sense of humor to keep a good atmosphere around his teammates and coaches, but when it comes to wrestling he's all business."

Dan Christenson, 130, Stevenson: Christenson finished seventh at the state meet, second in the regional and first in the district.

He also placed first at the Trenton and Garden City tournaments, second at CC and Observerland, third at Plymouth Salem.

He finished his senior year with a 48-7 record and leaves Stevenson with a 127-38 career mark.

David Gardner, 135, Detroit CC: Gardner capped his career with a second-place finish at the state meet and a record of 164-22. He finished 50-4 as a senior, with championships coming at the Jenison, CC and Observerland tournaments, the district and regional.

The three-time state qualifier was second at Salem and Davison.

"Now that Dave knows the secret to success and how to reach the finals, I am sure he will be in many finals in future years," Rodriguez said.

Nick Petryk, 140, Stevenson: Petryk learned under the tutelage of former members of two strong Stevenson teams, and it paid off this year as he won 44 of his 56 matches. He was first at the district, Observerland, WLAA and Garden City tournaments.

Petryk, a junior, also was a state qualifier after placing third at the regional. He has a 54-22 career record with one year remaining.

"He's the future leader of the 1996-97 team, a hard worker who leads by example," Stevenson coach Don Berg said.

Kevin Griffin, 145, Detroit CC: Griffin was a stalwart at tournaments, taking first at the Jenison, Salem and Davison events. He was third at the CC and Observerland tournaments before taking first at the Catholic League and district.

Griffin was second at the regional and sixth at the state meet.

He had a 46-9 record as a senior, and his overall mark was 124-35.

"Kevin's work ethic has made him a role model for all the young men in the wrestling room," Rodriguez said. "I am certain he will be dynamic in whatever field of endeavor he pursues. Going to the state meet after four years of dedication and placing sixth is a personal accomplishment for him. I am very proud of Kevin."

David Garcia, 152, Detroit CC: Garcia was an Observerland and Catholic League champion who also placed at the Jenison, Salem and Davison tournaments.

He had a 40-15 record as a senior, 110-39 overall.

"Placing in the districts and regionals to make that trip to the state finals was never out of David's focus during his senior year," Rodriguez said. "I would anxiously wait for him to come on the mat to see him throw that awesome head lock of his. He pinned 28 men with that move."

Jeremy Breithaupt, 152, Salem: Breithaupt finished his career with a 101-28 record. He was 40-15 this year, a district champion, regional runner-up and eighth-place finisher at the state meet.

"Jeremy did a very good job at being a leader," Salem coach Ron Krueger said. "His performance on and off the mat was excellent. Jeremy worked very hard and in the end it paid off. We'll miss Jeremy. You always miss good people."

Chris Seder, 160, Churchill: For a guy who took up wrestling as stress relief from classes in accelerated math, science and computer programs, Seder did quite well.

He was first at the Trenton, Dearborn Fordson, Observerland and WLAA tournaments, second at the district and fourth at regional.

He also gained a second-place finish at the Berkley and Garden City tournaments. Seder finished his senior year with a 32-9 record and was 68-55 during his career.

"While maintaining a 3.88 GPA, he has also managed to become just as successful an athlete as a scholar," coach Brent Withington said. "Next year, I hope to see Chris back on our mat when he needs a break from pre-med studies at the University of Michigan."

Teono Wilson, 171, Salem: The sophomore placed in all the tournaments Salem competed in this year, and he was second in the WLAA meet. He finished fourth at the district and counts the win over the No. 1 seed from Temperance-Bedford among his highlights.

Wilson was 34-12 this season and has a 49-34 career record.

"Teono has come a long way in the past season," Krueger said. "He beat a lot of good wrestlers. We hope he continues to get better and better. He has two years to go, and I think he can do well in the state meet."

Eugen Barbu, 189, Churchill: If there were a Comeback Player of the Year Award, it would go to Barbu, who sat out the 1994-95 season with a knee injury.

Barbu finished fifth at the state meet after taking second at the regional and district. He was first at the Observerland and WLAA meets, as well as the Trenton, Garden City and Fordson tournaments.

Barbu, who also lettered as a sophomore, was 35-4 this year and finished with a 58-27 career record.

"Eugen has matured over the last four years into a strong wrestler and a young gentleman," Withington said. "It is my hope that Eugen will pursue wrestling at the collegiate level. His desire for excellence will bring him much success in the future."

Aaron Smitt, 215, Garden City: Smitt placed eighth at the Division I state meet, which is a feat in itself. But it's even more impressive considering he owned a 34-46 career record before his senior year.

Smitt was the Garden City Christmas Tournament and Observerland champion, and he also took first place at the Mega Conference White Division meet.

He was second at the district and fourth at the regional, finishing his senior year with a 42-10 record.

"After three years of being a football player who wrestled — this year he became a wrestler who played football," coach Dave Chiola said. "Aaron has always had potential but has been held back by injuries every year. This year he decided to put all his energy into wrestling and it really paid off. He put on about 30 pounds of muscle and worked on his technique. I hope his performance shows our younger wrestlers if you want something bad enough you can have it."

Elizabeth Dole helps husband with campaign

JIM JAGDFELD/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Welcome: State Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, and daughter Cindy, 12, greet Elizabeth Dole.

■ U.S. Sen. Spencer Abraham, Secretary of State Candice Miller, U.S. Rep. Joe Knollenberg, state Sens. Loren Bennett of Canton Township and Michael Bouchard of Birmingham, state Reps. Gerald Law of Plymouth Township, Lyn Bankes of Redford Township, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township and Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey flanked Mrs. Dole as she talked about her husband, asked for voter support and outlined the issues.

Sen. Bob Dole won Michigan's GOP primary handily but even before his impressive win Tuesday, his Number One supporter and wife, Elizabeth Hanford Dole, was campaigning as if the nomination fight was over and the only opponent is Bill Clinton.

Mrs. Dole made two campaign stops in Livonia Sunday — the first at Ward Presbyterian Church and the second at a reception sponsored by the 11th District which attracted nearly 200 Dole supporters at Bobby's Country House.

The 11th District — dominated by Oakland County — includes part of Livonia and all of Redford Township in Wayne County.

Sunday's reception was an impressive show of leadership support for the Dole campaign. Mrs. Dole was greeted by state, county and local Republican leaders sporting "Dole for President" stickers.

U.S. Sen. Spencer Abraham, Secretary of State Candice Miller, U.S. Rep. Joe Knollenberg, state Sens. Loren Bennett of Canton Township and Michael Bouchard of Birmingham, state Reps. Gerald Law of Plymouth Township, Lyn Bankes of Redford Township, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township and Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey flanked Mrs. Dole as she talked about her husband, asked for voter support and outlined the issues.

Although only two days before the state GOP primary, Mrs. Dole made no mention of GOP rival Pat Buchanan, and instead focused her speech on her husband's strength of character, his vision for the country, his leadership experience and the need to defeat Bill Clinton in November.

Elizabeth Dole proved to be a popular political figure in her own right among local Republicans attending Sunday's event.

"She's a powerful spokesperson," said Diane Geverink of Livonia, who brought her 10-year-old daughter, Laura to the reception.

"I wanted to give my daughter the opportunity to hopefully see the next first lady," said Geverink.

Sen. Loren Bennett of Canton Township also brought his daughter Cindy, 12.

"She's fantastic," said Bennett after listening to Dole's stump speech which focused on the "need to unite and focus on Bill Clinton who is out there running a general election campaign."

Mrs. Dole said the upcoming election is a "defining moment in history."

"We are gathered here today on some very serious business — getting this country back on the right track," said Mrs. Dole, who has extensive political and policy credentials.

A graduate of Harvard Law School, Mrs. Dole has served as secretary of transportation and secretary of labor.

Mrs. Dole, who is on leave as president of the American Red Cross, said she plans to return to that position when her husband is elected president.

Mrs. Dole talked about her husband's generosity, honesty, integrity, and courage, his consistency in private and public life, and his experience which has been recognized by his GOP colleagues in the Senate.

"Six times they have elected him as their leader," said Mrs. Dole.

"His word is good. . . He knows what sacrifice, duty, honor and courage are all about.

"Bill Clinton promised so many things that he didn't fulfill - a balanced budget, welfare reform. You need to elect Bob Dole to fulfill Bill Clinton's promises," said Dole to the applause of the crowd.

She discussed her husband's vision which includes reining in government and returning power to state and local government, reconnecting with voters and exerting the United States' influence throughout the world.

"Just think what it would be like with a Republican president and Congress," said Dole, a tireless and enthusiastic campaigner.

"With your help we will veto Bill Clinton in November," said Dole, who received a standing ovation from the crowd and then held a receiving line and greeted nearly everyone in the room.

We'd like your opinion.

Teacher garners award

Jon Childs, a second-grade teacher at Miller Elementary School, was presented with the Extra Miler Award by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education March 11.

Parent Jacinta Larsen nominated Childs, saying that he "goes out of his way to make learning exciting and meaningful to his students."

Larsen cites the example of Childs taking on the persona of historical figures to make history come alive for his class. Childs also has headed the transformation of Miller's Media Center into a dazzling display each spring for the Young Authors extravaganza.

"Childs strives to create the best learning environment possible for students as a champion of lower class size," said Judy Evola, community relations director. "In addition, Childs is a leader in promoting the use of advanced technology at Miller School.

"As both an employee and product of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, Childs is a valuable resource and a cheerleader for the district," she added. "Child's own involvement with the community and his willingness for parental participation create a significant partnership between families and school."

According to Larsen, "It is obvious that Miller School is special to Jon Childs, and Miller School is special because of Jon Childs."

Childs received a certificate of recognition, a pin of the Flag of Liberty and Learning, and a gift certificate from the Roman Forum presented to him by board vice president Mark Horvath.

Mother, daughter own resale shop

Consigning Women is a new upscale resale shop owned and operated by the mother-daughter team of Helen Schwab and Lisa Brennan at 33475 Eight Mile in Livonia.

Schwab and Brennan's love of shopping and eye for fashion led them to the clothing business.

After searching for a location with plenty of parking, they designed and decorated the shop themselves. Brennan sponge painted the walls in gray and silver, creating a brightly-lit boutique with a contemporary flair. Upbeat music adds to the ambience.

The shop is well-stocked with name brands associated with quality and good design, such as Ann Taylor, Jones of New York, Liz Claiborne, Laura Ashley, and Anne Klein; and affordable designs in handbags, jewelry and accessories as well as more casual wear in jeans, sweaters, and blazers.

"People can get poorly made clothes at cheap prices anywhere," said Schwab. "For this reason we chose to focus on stocking our shop with good quality items. Wouldn't you like to have a classic Ann Taylor suit, worn once or twice, at a third of the original price and feel and look like a million dollars? You can wear and enjoy that suit again and again, and then take it back for resale. That can't happen if you buy poorly made clothes of cheap fabric."

"I realize that some people associate resale shops with old, outdated clothing," said Brennan. "That's not the case at all. We're very selective about what we take in. All of our clothing is clean, inspected, and we look for articles that show no signs of age or damage. We call them 'gently worn.' We also stock current fashions or transitional wear. We even have some brand-name clothes with tags still on, never worn."

Consigning makes good sense because it is doubly rewarding, Schwab said. "It is a way to clean out your closet and get rid of the good things you don't wear, and if you take them to a consignment shop you're rewarded the second time with cash.

"Let's face it, who doesn't get tired of wearing the same clothes to work every day? Also, how many times have you gone out and bought that 'on sale' item, only to get it home and find there's nothing to wear it with and it just hangs in the closet. So, get rid of it."

The shop also has selections of special occasion articles such as mother-of-the-bride, small weddings, prom, Easter, or a special night on the town.

Even when they are away from the shop, mother and daughter spend a lot of time surrounded by clothing. "We shop a lot to keep up with styles and prices in order to keep the shop current, and it's fun," Schwab said.

Benefit planned

"Looking Forward, Looking Back" is the theme for the Myasthenia Gravis Association's 20th annual luncheon and fashion show Saturday, March 30, in Livonia.

The program will be noon to 3 p.m. March 30 in Laurel Manor, on Schoolcraft, west of Newburgh.

The fashion show will be provided by Parisian and the guest speaker is Florine Mark, president and chief executive officer of the WW Group Inc., the largest franchise of Weight Watchers International.

"The fashion message for spring 1996 is all about luscious color and simple shapes emphasizing the old adage, 'less is more,'" said Jane Bassett, Parisian special events coordinator.

Deborah Kent, MGA executive director, said the fashion show is the group's largest fund-raiser, with attendance approaching 1,000 each year. Tickets at $35 each may be ordered by calling the MGA office at (810) 423-9700.

Mark established her first Weight Watchers franchise in Michigan in July 1966.

Proceeds will benefit myasthenia gravis research and patient service programs for the metro Detroit area. The association is a United Way affiliate.

Track campaign finance trail on Internet

EMORY DANIELS

Last week's column on Campaign '96 showed where to go on the Internet to find biographical and position information on candidates for U.S. president. Another important facet, unfortunately, to politics at any level is money spent on campaigns.

In short, big money is spent. And the problem, I believe, is not simply how much any one candidate spends to get elected but how much any non-candidate is willing to donate to court favor from the eventual winner.

Both aspects (spending and giving) of campaign finance are now being reported on the Internet by two quite diverse sources — U.S. News and World Report and Mother Jones.

U.S. News and World Report can be found at http://www.usnews.com. Beginning the week of March 5, this site added a new feature called "The Money Trail," which can be accessed directly at http://www.agnet.com/usnews/wash/fechigh.htm. "The Money Trail" is a comparison of U.S. presidential candidates' campaign spending, taken from their reports filled with the Federal Election Commission.

The importance of such information is discussed when you first arrive at "The Money Trail": "This year, the witch's brew of politics and money is more potent than ever. With 28 primaries and caucuses tumbled together in such a compressed schedule over the next few weeks, the field of GOP candidates is under unprecedented financial pressure."

The site claims USN & WR is the first news organization to analyze how presidential candidates spend the millions of dollars they raise. An early link on the page offers a table with comparisons of spending, broken down into 37 categories. Spending information is given on Alexander, Buchanan, Clinton, Dole, Forbes and Gramm. When I looked, Forbes had spent $18 million, Clinton about $10 million, Gramm about $8 million, Alexander $7 million, Dole $6 million and Buchanan about $4 million.

There also were links to two USN & WR articles, "Calculating the price of power" (Feb. 26, 1996) and "The greening of America" (Feb. 12, 1996).

Mother Jones magazine online has what it calls the MoJo 400 which is a list of American's biggest political donors and to whom they gave. Point to http://www.motherjones.com and look for MoJo 400 which is the "Coin-operated Congress" section of the MoJo Wire. Or use this direct link, http://www.motherjones.com/coinop—congress/mojo—400/mojo—400.html. (Note this URL's use of the "underscore" or "long dash"). When you arrive you will find a searchable database of the "Fat Cats" itemized contributions, a feature that first appeared in February 1995. The online version has a myriad of detail that cannot be found in the print version of Mother Jones.

The Mother Jones pitch is a bit different than USN & WR. "For years Americans have wondered whether a secret elite really runs the country. The Illuminati? The Establishment? The Mob? The answer is less glamorous and more troubling. In the 1990s, influence is available to any one who can spare, say, a hundred grand to underwrite a few political campaigns."

MoJo 400 identifies the nation's largest political contributors. You can check out the entire list, do some investigative work of your own by using the interactive, searchable database, or select the link for the top five fat donors. The MoJo 400 is based on an analysis of FEC records by the nonpartisan Center for Responsive Politics. In total, the 400 individuals have contributed nearly $40 million to parties, PACs, and candidates from January 1993 to June 1995.

Number one on the list is Fred Lennon, 90-year-old chairman of the Cleveland-based Crawford Fitting Co., with $524,450 in donations to the Republican Party and to conservative Republican candidates. In a 14-week period, Lennon pressured distributors to contribute an additional $234,000 to four hand-picked Republicans.

Number two on the list is San Diego trial lawyer William S. Lerach who gave $480,043 to Democrats. MoJo points out that President Clinton vetoed the Securities Litigation Reform Act which makes it difficult for shareholders to sue Silicon Valley companies they have stock in. Lerach is earning about $7 million a year by litigating such suits and he was a guest at a private White House dinner Dec. 15, four days before Clinton's veto.

What's the significance of the $40 million? Mother Jones answers: "The influence of the 400 is fundamentally at odds with the American ideal of popular government and sparked demands for reform. Reform initiatives have had success at the state level, but the Congress has done next to nothing when it comes to campaign reform. We here at the MoJo Wire hope that this feature will fuel the fire of those who want their votes to count as much as that of a New York investment banker. Or a camera-shy Cleveland billionaire."

TAX HELP

■ FORMS BY FAX

The Michigan Department of Treasury has announced that taxpayers can now order and receive Michigan tax forms by fax.

Callers must use a fax phone and may order up to six forms per call. This is an automated system that is available 24 hours per day. To obtain forms by fax, call (810) 754-0362.

Callers are provided with step-by-step instructions for using the fax system, including how to obtain a menu of the forms available by fax and how to select those forms. Callers should be aware that the transmission will begin immediately.

The fax service is available for forms only. Instructions can be ordered by calling 1-800-FORM-2-ME. The instructions will be sent within two weeks.

■ FORMS BY MAIL

Tax time is always a headache, especially now that two area IRS offices have closed.

Congresswoman Lynn Rivers is making tax forms available to constituents.

District residents can have tax forms mailed to them by calling Rivers' district offices in Ann Arbor at (313) 741-4210 or Wayne at (313) 722-1411.

The 1040 forms are available on a walk-in basis at several local post offices and libraries.

Because of the rules of the U.S. House of Representatives and Congressional Courtesy, this service is available only to residents of the 13th Congressional District.

Tax assistance questions should be directed to the IRS toll-free hot line at 1-800-829-1040. The best time to call this number is 3-4 p.m. Walk-in service is available at the IRS office in Detroit, in the McNamara Federal Building, 477 Michigan Ave., Detroit.

■ TAKE CREDIT

The Revenue Commissioner's Office of the Michigan Department of Treasury is asking taxpayers to be sure to take the Headlee Amendment Refund tax credit on their Michigan 1040 or Michigan 1040EZ income tax form. According to Department records, 7.5 percent of early filers have not taken this credit, which is available to every taxpayer.

When the Headlee Amendment Refund credit is not taken on an income tax return, the return is being "kicked out" of the system for further processing. "The return will be corrected within the department and will not require any additional information from the taxpayer," Revenue Commissioner Thomas Hoatlin said.

■ VENDOR OF YEAR

Black & Decker Corp., the Towson, Maryland-based power tool manufacturer, has selected Universal Self Care, a diabetes specialty pharmacy and pharmacy benefit management company, as a "1995 Vendor of the Year."

More than 40 vendors were evaluated and only a few are being honored with this designation, according to Raymond J. Brusca, vice president of benefits with Black & Decker.

Universal Self Care, through its Roanoke, Virginia-based managed care division, Healthcare Management Systems, began working with Black & Decker in 1993 to implement a specialized carve-out program to benefit employees, retirees, and dependents with diabetes. Through this program, Black & Decker employees get all their blood glucose monitors, diabetes supplies, and prescription drugs from Universal Self Care (USC). A USC customer service representative speaks to each employee with diabetes every 30 or 60 days.

"Our diabetes carve-out program is unique. We offer supply utilization management, plus free educational materials, regular contact with employees and utilization and outcome data," Ed Buchholz, president of Universal Self Care's Roanoke operation, said.

Universal Self Care has offices in Roanoke, Va., Livonia, and Van Nuys, Calif.

■ RELOCATION

J. Perire Intimate Apparel has moved to the first floor in the International Design Center in Greektown.

"Our first floor location provides easy access to Fishbone's patrons, increased traffic from building employees and improved street-level visibility on Beaubien Street," owner Jackie Floyd said.

■ LAUREL PARK OFFICE

The Kroger Co., a food and drug retailer, recently opened its Michigan Division office in the Laurel Park Place Office Building.

The Kroger Co. Michigan Division occupies 30,000 square feet of office space and employs about 150 people on site. The Michigan Division serves 79 stores in southeastern Michigan and is headed by its president, Don McGeorge.

At the close of 1995, Kroger was operating more than 1,300 supermarkets and 820 convenience stores. Kroger handles its own merchandise distribution and is a food manufacturer as well. Kroger employs more than 9,000 people in Michigan and 200,000 in the United States. The Kroger Co.'s corporate headquarters are in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Kroger Co. Michigan Division is in the west office building in Suite 400W. The address is 17390 Laurel Park Drive North, Livonia 48152.

Laurel Park Place is east of the I-275 expressway at West Six Mile and Newburgh roads in Livonia.

■ TRAINING GRANT

A western Wayne County business has received state grant funds to benefit its employees.

The Pro Coil Corporation of Canton will receive up to $118,351 from the Michigan Jobs Commission to upgrade the skills of 55 of its employees.

The grant will help train Pro Coil employees in such technical skills as blueprint reading, hydraulics and programmable logic controllers. Training sessions will be conducted through Schoolcraft College. This competitive grant comes from Michigan's $35 million Economic Development Job Training Program, one of the largest programs of its kind in the nation.

"Upgrading the skills of our workers to match available jobs is vital to our economic development efforts and helps Michigan businesses become more competitive in this global economy," said Doug Rothwell, CEO and department director of the Jobs Commission.

For more information concerning Pro Coil Corp., call Bob Brown, operations manager, at (313) 307-3700.

■ TRIPLE CROWN

Padgett Business Services of Livonia has been named to the "Triple Crown" of franchise rankings. Entrepreneur, Success, and Income Opportunities magazines publish annual lists of the top franchises in North America.

Not only was Padgett Business Services named the top in the Business Services category by each of the three magazines, but the company was the only financial reporting and tax service on all three lists this year.

Out of about 2,500 franchises, Entrepreneur ranked Padgett 74th in its "Franchise 500"; Success named the company 77th on the "Gold 100"; and Income Opportunities placed Padgett Business Services fifth on its "Platinum 200."

Padgett Business Services, a financial reporting and tax consulting franchise with offices across the United States and Canada, caters to the small business community and has been in operation since 1966. The company has a network of more than 340 offices throughout the United States and Canada.

"Padgett Business Services consistently wins these awards because of attention to client service and our commitment to this growing sector of the economy," said local owner James Miller.

Padgett offers monthly sales tax preparation, business consulting, and pickup and delivery of client financial information.

■ SEALING SYSTEMS

Three of the auto industry's top supplier organizations, Chicago Rawhide, McCord Payen and Southland Industries, have formed Performance Sealing Technologies.

The new company is providing original equipment manufacturers with engineered power-train sealing systems and components. The announcement was made by John Dannenhoffer, president, Southland Industries.

The new company has already secured a contract with a major North American vehicle manufacturer to deliver total sealing solutions for V6 and V8 engines destined for 1999 and 2000 model years.

Performance Sealing Technologies combines all current products and technologies of the three partner companies under one roof.

"We have brought together a group of proven companies that are already recognized by the automotive community for their track records of innovation and performance," said Denny Clark, president, Chicago Rawhide.

■ OFFICERS HONORED

Three officers of Triad Management Corp., Ron Duprey, president, William Cretney, treasurer, and Ken Barnhill, vice president, have been awarded the Professional Community Association Manager designation by the Community Association Institute.

It is the highest designation awarded by the institute. It is awarded based on demonstrated experience, industry service and the successful completion of course work dealing with the management of condominiums, homeowner associations and co-operatives.

Triad Management Corp. manages condominium associations, homeowners associations and co-operatives throughout Michigan with offices in Ann Arbor and West Bloomfield. Triad manages 85 associations with nearly 9,000 individual units.

The Community Association Institute offers educational classes and training for boards of directors, association managers, committee members and interested association homeowners. It distributes a bimonthly magazine called Common Ground, available to member associations and individuals.

■ ENVIRONMENTAL AWARD

Robert Mateja, superintendent at Fox Hills Country Club, has received an Environmental Steward Award.

The award is given out annually to those recognized for their outstanding contributions and efforts toward environmental excellence.

In 1995, Fox Hills Country Club, a 45-hole daily fee course, achieved designation as a "Certified Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary," a program of the Audubon Society of New York State. Only three golf courses in Michigan have received this honor. Fox Hills implemented a variety of projects including the planting of 15 additional acres of prairie grass, adopted a comprehensive pest management program and improved water conservation practices.

Mateja was recognized for his contributions and received a personalized plaque and a seal for the Fox Hills Clubhouse along with a donation in his name to the GCSAA Foundation from the sponsors of this award — Ciba Turf & Ornamental Products, Rain Bird, Jacobsen and Lebanon Turf Products — at the International Golf Course Conference and Show on Feb. 8 in Orlando, Fla.

"We're extremely pleased with the tireless efforts of Bob Mateja" said Kathleen Aznavorian, president. "Environmental concern is a top priority at Fox Hills. We want to be good corporate citizens who are good stewards of the land we manage."

■ TRIP PROMOTION

The Livonia Sir Speedy center owned by Tom Kenyon has announced the Sir Speedy Olympic Games Sweepstakes, a national promotion in which 20 trips for two will be awarded to this summer's Olympic Games in Atlanta.

The center is at 33599 Seven Mile.

"Tom is part of undoubtedly the biggest promotion ever staged by Sir Speedy," Don Lowe, president of Sir Speedy Inc., said. "Each trip for two is valued at almost $9,000."

The deadline for entries is April 12. Winners will be selected in random drawings on May 3. The trips are made possible through Xerox Olympic Games sponsorship. See the Livonia Sir Speedy center for details.

Each trip consists of round-trip airfare for two, hotel accommodations and Olympic event tickets including the closing ceremonies.

"In addition to the opportunity to win a trip to the Olympics," Kenyon said, "customers who visit our center will receive (while supplies last) an official Olympic commemorative pin — free with a $250 order; or a custom, limited edition, full-color Olympic poster — free with a $100 order. And, with any order, customers will receive a free Olympic calendar."

■ SUPER STORE

Plymouth Wayne Welding Supplies Inc. has opened a new 13,000 square foot welding supply "super" store in Warren.

At 21801 Groesbeck, just north of Eight Mile Road, the outlet offers deliveries to commercial businesses within 24 hours and over the counter sales of industrial and specialty gases and welding machines and supplies. The company will also design and install welding robot systems and provide technical assistance to production welding companies from its Warren location.

The phone number is 810-447-1400.

The store also has a customer education center where welding machines and their applications are demonstrated on site.

Plymouth Wayne Welding is based in Garden City. With more than 2,500 customers, the 35-year old company has a welding robotics division, called Advanced Robotic Concepts, and a welder's service team.

Store hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Robert Orlowski will serve as branch manager for the new operation.

Allen

Lucas Industries, the international automotive and aerospace systems supplier, has appointed Richard Allen as vice president and general manager, of the Americas for Lucas Braking Systems.

Allen will be located in Troy with responsibility for managing the braking systems business in the United States, Canada and Latin America, including joint venture interests with Sumitomo of Japan and with Varga, Brazil.

Prior to joining Lucas, Allen was with the Varity Corp. where he most recently held the position of president, Kelsey-Hayes Americas in Livonia.

Prior to this position, Allen was managing director, Perkins Engines (Peterborough) Ltd.

"Richard is a highly accomplished international business executive with an outstanding track record and he brings relevant market and manufacturing experience to Lucas," said Steve Lunn, managing director, Lucas Braking Systems. "We are extremely pleased he has joined us."

McCallum

David McCallum, a certified public accountant, has been promoted to audit associate at Plante & Moran, an accounting and management consulting firm.

McCallum joined the firm as an auditor in 1991. He is based in the firm's Southfield office and specializes in leasing, manufacturing and mortgage banking. McCallum received a bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Michigan — Dearborn. In 1991, he received the Elijah Watts Sells Award of high distinction for his performance on the uniform CPA exam. McCallum is a member of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

McCallum is a resident of Livonia.

Ansell

William Ansell Jr. has accepted the position of technical manager of air testing services at TolTest Inc.

Ansell has 7 years of experience in air quality testing, engineering, compliance, and project management. Ansell has developed testing programs for commercial, industrial, utility and government clients.

Smith

Creon Smith of Plymouth has recently become a member of the St. Vincent & Sarah Fisher Center's Advisory Board.

Smith is owner of the 156-year-old Botsford Inn of Farmington Hills. He was recently named one of the "Future 50 of Detroit" for increasing the inn's sales, enhancing the menu and entertainment, and preserving the inn's history.

Prior to the Botsford Inn, Smith was co-owner of the Mayflower Hotel of Plymouth for 25 years. Smith's affiliations include serving as a member of Madonna University's Development Committee, a member of the Farmington Police Advisory Council, and an appointment by Governor John Engler to the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

The St. Vincent & Sarah Fisher Center, in Farmington Hills, is a home for children in need.

Julie Tobin has been named Schoolcraft College's new director of enrollment management.

In this position, she oversees the office of admission and finance, focusing on recruitment and retention. She came to Schoolcraft from Oakland Community College, where she was director of financial assistance and scholarships.

Tobin earned a bachelor's degree at Wayne State University and a master's degree in administration from Central Michigan University. She is a resident of Novi.

Sherry Zylka, coordinator of continuing education services at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, has been selected to participate in a national leadership training program for women in higher education.

The "Leaders" program is designed to help women get ahead in higher education, and participants must complete a year-long project that will enhance their individual institution and further their own professional growth. Zylka's project, "Marketing 2000" will examine innovative approaches to marketing continuing education in the 21st century.

Candidates must have a master's degree, administrative experience and be nominated by a mentor. Zylka's mentor, Saundra P. Florek, dean of marketing and development, will continue to guide her progress throughout the year.

This June, Zylka will attend a week-long series of workshops in San Diego for programs in supervision, human relations, planning and budgeting, organizational transformation and issues confronting higher education during the next decade.

Zylka lives in Wixom with her husband, Tim Schmieding, and a daughter Elizabeth.

Sandi Smith of Livonia has been promoted to the position of director of procurement at Imperial Marketing Inc..

"Ms. Smith, in her new capacity, will oversee all corporate and branch office purchasing activities for the various incentive, recognition and marketing support programs created by Imperial Marketing" said Ken Olivier, vice president finance/operations.

Smith has more than 20 years of experience in purchasing, including employment at corporate procurement positions prior to joining the Imperial Marketing Team.

Crime stoppers: Active Neighborhood Watch programs deter crime, police say.

Watch builds strong neighborhoods

By Doug Funke
Staff Writer

Several factors combine to define a neighborhood.

Perhaps none is more important than personal security. It cuts across gender, age and economic lines.

It doesn't really matter what kind of deal you can get when buying a house, how good the schools are or what other amenities are available if you don't feel safe.

"Generally, people want to know, or assume, they're looking in a safe neighborhood," said Carole Glass, a Realtor with Century 21 Town & Country in Birmingham.

While it's difficult to precisely gauge the effectiveness of programs such as Neighborhood Watch and Mobile Patrol, they do take a bite out of crime, police professionals maintain.

"I can't tell you how many problems oil changes and tire changes have prevented because you took those measures," said Officer Robert Carter of Troy's crime prevention bureau. "Neighborhood Watch is the same thing."

"I don't have any statistics, but obviously it works," added Officer Lew Stevens, who coordinates Neighborhood Watch for the Canton police.

"If people look out for each other, if they're not afraid to call the police department and report suspicious activity . . . it does deter crime," Stevens said.

Different communities offer different programs. All that's generally required to get something going is an interest and a small investment in time.

Start by contacting your local police department. Specially trained officers will set up a meeting and provide educational materials.

A lot of what they teach is common sense.

"We strongly recommend residents get to know people by name on both sides of their house, across the street and behind them," said Lt. Daniel Raths, who heads the crime prevention bureau for the Southfield police.

"It lets you become more familiar with people. You develop a trust. It encourages a bond. You're more aware of what's going on," Raths said.

"Neighborhood Watch is only one thing – a philosophy, an attitude," Carter said. "We think the best thing a neighborhood can have to maintain a quality of life would be a Neighborhood Watch philosophy.

"It's an indication that people are aware that even in good areas, bad things happen," Carter said. "And people are willing to get involved.

"That's what Neighborhood Watch is all about – responding to what you see. Neighborhood Watch encourages action not tomorrow or next week but right now," Carter said.

A good percentage of property crimes – breaking and entering, theft, vandalism – are committed by juveniles who do the deed in their own neighborhoods, police say.

"If kids are aware that people are close-knit, look out for each other, they may say, 'I'm going somewhere else,'" Stevens said.

"They're more inclined to go to areas where people don't seem to care," Raths added.

Richard Johnson, a block captain for Neighborhood Watch in Redford, sees value in the program even though he's been involved just a short time.

"Obviously, police can't be everywhere all the time," Johnson said. "If something happens, captains are alerted so they can pass information along."

But Harold Alexander, a long-time block captain in Redford, is discouraged about apathy on his block and low turnout at periodic meetings.

"I don't get much response from neighbors," he said.

"Whether they have other activities, television, they don't seem to be interested.

"I attend meetings," Alexander said. "They're quite informative. You find out what's going on."

Therese Zigman, a block coordinator in Garden City, said she believes Neighborhood Watch and her involvement make a difference in the quality of life on her street. She personally visits people who move in to pitch the program.

"We want them to feel welcome, that we're a caring area. You kind of explain we look out for one another," Zigman said.

What you can do:

Here are three simple steps you can take to make things a little more secure around your house. Start now, and encourage your neighbors to get involved, too.

- Turn on your porch light.

Remember how nice the neighborhood looked on Halloween as the kids went from house to house? It can be like that every night. Light illuminates, and would-be intruders don't like to be recognized.

- Get your cars off the street and into the garage.

Garages were originally built to house cars, not accumulated household goods. This spring, get rid of some junk and make room for at least one vehicle.

If you can't or don't want to use the garage, park cars in the backyard or driveway overnight. And lock the doors.

- Keep your front door locked.

It's amazing how many people will putter around the yard or basement and leave the front door open to anyone who may step up to the porch and turn the knob.

Get the legal service your board is paying for

REAL ESTATE QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

Q. Our condominium board is divided on whether to keep our present attorney who we have had for 6-7 years. We hired him because he was recommended by the management company and was, frankly, substantially below the cost of other condominium attorneys. However, over the last 6-7 years, he has increased his fees at the rate of $10 per hour each year, which was approximately 50% of his original fee. I suspect that now that he has garnered a sufficient number of condominium associations coming in under market, that he is now raising his rates to a "captive audience." However, because he is so busy, he never returns our phone calls in a timely fashion, and usually delegates our work to someone else in his office who charges the same rate. We just fired the management company that recommended him as they were too large and unresponsive, and the attorney strongly objects to it. What should the board do?

A. In the 1990s, it is becoming increasingly more difficult for law firms to raise their hourly rates in proportion to the increased costs of doing business. Some firms have even lowered their rates to become more competitive. In your situation, the marketing plan of the attorney apparently was to obtain, in effect, a captive audience and then raise the hourly rates to achieve a higher return on the attorney's time. That was, of course, a very prudent marketing plan.

The attendant problem is whether the attorney can then service the client adequately with relatively limited resources based upon the limited return received by the attorney for his time in the past. A 50-percent increase in the hourly rates over a 5-6 year period is indeed substantial, but what is even more important is the fact that the condominium association is apparently not getting the benefit of its bargain with the attorney. As with any other professional, the association deserves to have the very best service it can reasonably obtain for a fair stipend and may wish to evaluate what other attorneys can provide.

The board should also be questioning why the attorney was so outspoken, apparently, about the dismissal of the management firm to determine whether in fact that opinion had anything to do with the fact that the management firm had apparently recommended the attorney in the first instance. As previously stated, generally, you get what you pay for.

The amount you mortgage can affect your rate

DAVID C. MULLY

THIS WEEK'S HOME MORTGAGE SHOPPING TIP:

Area lenders may charge different rates depending on your loan amount.

If you're new to the home buying process, you may not know that several mortgage lenders set the interest rate according to the size of the loan. Even experienced homeowner's may not realize this. Obviously, it is important to consider this when mortgage shopping because it could cost you hundreds or even thousands of dollars.

For example, for consumers borrowing less than $60,000, some lenders will raise the interest rate in order to make the same profit they would if the loan was $80,000. The main reason this is done is to help cover the cost of originating and processing the loan. Lower loan amounts don't provide as much revenue as higher loan amounts and profit margins in today's market have become very thin for lenders.

Lenders determine the price to adjust rates at based on various tiers. Loans in the range of $20,000 to $60,000 may be candidates for upward adjustment of rates, points or fees. Not every lender does this, so make sure to ask if the rate you're being quoted changes with the loan amount. Consider that there are times when it may be better to pay the higher rate or fees to get excellent service. A lower rate means nothing if you cannot get your mortgage approved within the allotted time frame.

On the other hand, rates and fees can improve for loan amounts from $60,000 or $70,000, to $207,000. (These loan amounts are generally considered conforming loans.) Above $207,000, most lenders start to raise their rates at certain loan increments up to $2 million. (These loan amounts are normally referred to as non-conforming loans or jumbos.) Not all lenders will raise rates on loans over $207,000. Some may not raise rates until loan amounts of $500,000 to $650,000. Then, they will begin to add to the rate up to the $2 million noted above. The reason most lenders raise rates beginning at $207,000 is that, as you can imagine, they are taking on a much greater risk of the loan going into foreclosure, etc. There are lenders who do not increase rates or fees between $207,000 and $650,000 loan amounts. These lenders are generally structured differently than others, which may allow for greater risk taking without additional charges.

In most cases, rate add-ons can be as much as one half percent. This could translate into significant dollars and, therefore, bears watching.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION:

Q. I am close to purchasing a home and have begun the process of shopping for a mortgage. The last home I purchased was about 7 years ago. At that time, I remember choosing the lender who was referred by my real estate agent without even shopping around. It worked out well and I received a competitive rate and good service. I have found this time that it is very confusing comparing lenders because they all seem to have different terms for their fees and rates. It all seems a bit overwhelming and sales people are very aggressive. Do you have any advice?

A. You're not alone. It has become increasingly difficult to read between the lines and decide which lender offers the best deal. Choosing a mortgage is one of the more important decisions in one's life because loan amounts have increased just as the sale price of homes has. While the difference between lenders today is often only one quarter of one percent, that difference in your interest rate can mean a lot in the amount you pay over the term of the mortgage. Closing costs can differ from $200-$500 between lenders. My advice is to do your homework and get written estimates from each lender. Check them daily to see how their rates fluctuate. Meanwhile, you'll start to feel comfortable with a lender to deal with. It is also a good idea to enlist the advice of your real estate agent once again. It may be a tiresome process, but there is too much money at stake to rush a decision.

Real estate program set

A free real estate resource program for seniors will be held 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at the Mature Minglers Senior Center, 7273 Wing Lake Road, Birmingham (formerly Booth Elementary School).

Topics will include reverse mortgages, senior living alternatives and new real estate laws. Eccentric columnist Robert Meisner will discuss condominium association rules. The program is designed to showcase the wide range of housing options available to seniors, from condominiums and apartments to retirement communities, assisted living and nursing facilities.

The program is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

■ ETKIN WINS CONTRACT

A.J. Etkin Construction of Farmington Hills has won a contract to build a 170,000-square-foot ice arena in Plymouth for Compuware Sports LLC and TNT Systems.

The 4,000-seat arena, on Beck between Five Mile and M-14, will be the new home of the Detroit Jr. Whalers and will contain both an NHL-size rink and an Olympic-size rink.

■ SATELLITE OFFICE

The Lockwood Group, a Bingham Farms-based residential developer, has opened an office in Detroit's Renaissance Center — Suite 1855 in the Tower 100 Building.

"We have a lot of confidence in Mayor Archer and his plans to revitalize the city, and we want to be part of those plans," said Rodney M. Lockwood Jr., partner in the Lockwood Group. "It's our belief that Detroit needs new downtown residential development to kick start the city's economy."

The Lockwood Group's most significant proposed development in Detroit is Isle Village, 150 luxury townhouses at the former Uniroyal site on Jefferson. The Archer Administration has the proposal under consideration.

■ PRUDENTIAL ACQUISITION

Prudential Great Lakes Realty brokers Dan Stiehl and Jerome M. Baranski have announced expansion of the company's business operations with the acquisition of Dowsett Realtors in Davison.

"The company's presence in the Davison market is another element in our overall extension plans," Stiehl said. "It's a strong community and the area is experience a growth period."

The existing office building at 1040 S. State Road will be renovated, the sales force expanded. Former owner Jim Dowsett has been named vice president and will concentrate on commercial real estate.

■ CENTURY 21 ROW

Century 21 Row in Livonia has been recognized as a 1995 Top Service Award winner for achieving top customer satisfaction ratings.

"It's evident that Century 21 Row's entire organization understands the value of providing excellence service to their customers," said Bill McCullen, regional director of the Century 21 Great Lakes Region.

"It takes a team effort to obtain this honor," said David C. Reault, broker/owner of Century 21 Row.

■ ARCHITECTURAL AWARD

The Michigan Chapter of the American Institute of Architects has received an award from the national association for outstanding work in government affairs initiatives.

AIA Michigan last fall conducted a statewide public opinion poll measuring public attitudes on building safety. The poll also was used to impact state legislation.

Andrew Vazzano, AIA, a Rochester resident, was in the delegation that accepted the award.

High tech food storage

Food preservation reaches new horizons of efficiency and style with the Kitchen Aid Superba side-by-side refrigerators featuring the best temperature management system in its class.

Called the ExtendFresh System, the temperature control maintains interior temperature of the refrigerator to within one degree of the desired setting, and within 1.5 degrees in the freezer compartment. It's available on all Superba series side-by-side models, including the 25 cubic-foot capacity model.

The entire KitchenAid refrigeration line features WhisperQuiet operation, with operating noise minimized through the use of redesigned fans, compressors and a full back cover panel. Elegant styling is also a hallmark of the line ... crispers, shelves, the ice-and-water dispenser ... all bear a distinctive soft-faceted design element, a signature of KitchenAid style.

For additional information about the line of KitchenAid refrigerators, or any of the full line of KitchenAid major appliances, visit your local KitchenAid dealer, or call, toll-free 1-800-422-1230.

Tree maintenance increases property value

Ask a Realtor, and you'll find that mature, healthy trees can add as much as 20 percent to the worth of a residential property. But even if a homeowner isn't planning to sell, there are good reasons to plant and maintain trees.

Aside from the obvious aesthetic value, mature trees provide shade during warm months, which helps keep a house cool naturally and drives down the cost of air conditioning. Likewise, trees provide a wind break during winter and help keep a house warm.

But trees usually grow so slowly that it can be many years before there is any effect on a house's value. There are steps, however, that can help young trees pick up the pace.

Be sure to provide routine maintenance, particularly in urban areas, where trees are often stressed. Compacted soil and air pollution can choke a tree, and an adequate water supply can be lost if surrounding grass and weeds prevent moisture from reaching the root system.

The experts say trees should be fertilized, either by the homeowner or a professional, to help ensure their health and vitality. It is important to properly identify a tree's needs and use proper methods and materials at appropriate times, says Brian Barnard of the National Arborist Association. The NAA, based in Amherst, N.H., is an association of professional tree care experts.

Barnard notes that lawn care and landscaping pros, including arborists, often take soil samples to determine what nutrients, if any, should be added to the soil. They then inject liquid or granular fertilizer into the soil near a tree's roots or even directly into the tree to get the most benefit for the tree.

Another way to improve a tree's vigor, Barnard says, is to create a ring of bare ground several feet in diameter around the bottom of the tree, then cover the ring with mulch. The ring eliminates much of the tree's competition from grass and weeds for water and nutrients.

Scientific studies have shown that mulch rings can as much as double the rate of tree growth over a period of years. But be careful creating the ring. Lawn mowers and string trimmers don't mix with trees, Barnard warns. A whirling string or a bump from a lawn mower can tear open the bark, creating a path into the tree for insects and disease.

Many professionals remove the lawn around the trunk with a non-selective herbicide such as Roundup, which is also available to homeowners, because of the product's effectiveness and favorable environmental characteristics. After the grass dies out, the bareground ring is covered with mulch or stones to help prevent the return of weeds and grass, to hold moisture in the ground, and to improve the appearance of the ring.

Pruning also should be a part of routine maintenance. Start at the top of the tree and work down, never removing more than a quarter of the tree's crown in a single growing season, Barnard says. Taking off too many branches removes too many leaves, which the tree needs to collect sunlight. Also, remove limbs and branches that cross one another, and strive for a balanced overall appearance. Be sure to cut a limb or branch where it joins with another one. This eliminates unnatural branch stubs, and the tree will have an easier time healing the exposed cuts.

When pruning a mature tree that has never been trimmed, look for weak and dead limbs toward the center of the crown. Often, leaves inside the crown do not get sufficient light to sustain the inner branches, but the inner deterioration is hidden by the outer limbs.

The pruning of mature trees is best left to professionals because falling out of the tree, being hit by falling limbs, and dropping limbs onto power lines are very real risks. The pros rely on experience and specialized equipment to minimize the danger. To find an arborist, look in the Yellow Pages under the "tree" heading. Many may charge a small fee to visit and assess the trees, but some might do it for free in the hope of landing more business.

When selecting a contractor, check for affiliations with trade organizations that promote continuing education and customer satisfaction. Barnard points to the NAA or the International Society of Arboriculture. Other organizations include the Professional Lawn Care Association of America (PLCAA), the Associated Landscape Contractors of America (ALCA) and the Professional Grounds Management Society (PGMS). Be certain the contractor is insured, and ask for past customer references.

Another possibility is getting advice from a tree specialist at the nearest Cooperative Extension Service office. The extension service is a nationwide network of experts in horticulture, agriculture and other fields. The network is organized through the state university systems. Look in the phone book for the County Cooperative Extension Service.

Speakers key to stereo sound

Perhaps some of the most important pieces of equipment in any stereo system are the speakers. They are the end of the line for the hundreds of dollars of electronics that you have purchased and are, in effect, the instrument through which the sounds can be heard. You can have top-of-the-line equipment, yet it can sound like AM radio if your speakers are not good enough to accurately image (transcribe or translate) detailed signals of subtle texture and dynamic range from your CD player into sound.

There's not much relationship between price, size and number of drivers (speaker cones and domes). A two-way system, featuring a woofer (low-frequency driver) and a tweeter (high-frequency driver), can cost more and sound better than a three-way system, which includes a mid-drange driver. However, the opposite also can be true. Some designs will use two woofers and one tweeter.

Speaker design can influence greatly the quality of the sound. Cabinet materials and design, as well ducted ports (tune the lowest bass notes to sound deeper and richer, but may sound "boomy" if not done well), are examples of some features that affect sound.

Without getting into the actual materials used, the real proof of quality is how each pair of speakers sounds to your ears, and only testing them with your favorite CDs can give you the best idea of what to buy.

Keep in mind that when you compare different pairs of speakers, the sound level should be the same. An inferior pair of speakers often will sound superior to better speakers played at lower volumes.

You also may want to consider the room you will be using the speakers in. An abundance of soft things — rugs, couches, beds and drapes will dampen the high-frequency sounds, making your speakers sound dull. An empty room with wood floors, on the other hand, tends to bounce sound waves off the walls too much, making the sound echo. The ideal room for listening has a balance between soft and hard items. You may want to consider speakers that sound "brighter" if you have a room full of pillows. Speakers and receivers need to be compatible in power (watts) and impedance (ohms). A low-impeda speaker of 6 ohms needs more power for the drivers than a high-impeda speaker of 8 ohms. Some receivers simply don't work well with low impedance speakers. Check with a salesperson to make sure you have the right match.

NEW HOMES

Terrain attracts builders to picturesque Bloomfield Pines

The gently rolling terrain. The nature preserves. The wetlands. The mature trees. The winding streets.

Bloomfield Pines, a picturesque, 72-acre parcel off Maple east of Haggerty in West Bloomfield, is no ordinary piece of land.

That's why two custom builders – Bing of Bloomfield Hills and Millcreek of Troy – have gobbled up more than 40 lots between them in the initial phase of the platted residential subdivision developed by Biltmore of Troy.

"Basically, what attracted us is . . . the privacy, natural-park atmosphere that pervades here," said Mark Miller, a Bing vice president. "It's kind of inspiring. When you walk in here, you don't really see anything else bordering the subdivision."

"It's like a site up north," said Michael Patrick Guerra, a vice president with Millcreek.

Architectural guidelines developed by Biltmore, including minimum square footage for houses and no vinyl or aluminum siding, intend to foster an Old-World, traditional look, the builders said.

Bing offers seven floor plans ranging from a story-and-a-half of 3,000 square feet with four bedrooms and 2 1/2 baths priced at $400,000 to a colonial of 4,200 square feet with four bedrooms and 3 1/2 baths at $459,000.

Millcreek presents five plans ranging from a colonial of about 3,400 square feet with four bedrooms and 2 1/2 baths for just under $400,000 to a colonial of 4,300 square feet with four bedrooms, three full baths and two half baths for $459,000.

Those prices include a base lot. With upgrades, landscaping and premium lot prices, Guerra figures the typical buyer in Bloomfield Pines will spend upwards of half a million dollars to build.

Both builders offer the same standard features on their models. Those include three-car garage, fireplace, air conditioning, first-floor laundry, whirlpool tub, cooktop, oven, microwave, dishwasher and basement.

"We both envision a lot of custom plans," Miller said.

The typical buyers will be professionals, executives, business owners, some dual-income couples who likely have built before, with children or intending to have kids, the two agree.

TAMMIE GRAVES/STAFF ARTIST

Greenwich: Millcreek is making good progress on its model, a 4,300-square-foot colonial.

"I think it's a step-up buyer who may live in the area, where they have some equity in a house and want to move out farther with some trees and topography," Guerra said. "I can't imagine too many empty nesters here."

Millcreek's model, under construction, is the Greenwich, the colonial with 4,300 square feet.

The first floor features a living room with fireplace, family room with sloped ceiling and fireplace, library, formal dining room with butler's pantry, kitchen/eating nook, mud room with half bath between a side entrance and garage entrance, and a second half bath.

All four bedrooms are upstairs.

The master has a pan ceiling, two walk-in closets, separate tub and shower and dual sink vanity. A second bedroom has its own full bath and the other two bedrooms share a jack-and-jill bath.

A May completion date is anticipated.

Bing also intends to build as its model its largest house, Worthington II, the 4,200-square-foot colonial.

Plans show a main floor with living room and dining room, family room with fireplace and two-story ceiling, kitchen/eating nook, study, and two half baths – one, like Millcreek, between the laundry and garage.

Bing has a computer program developed by Media Lab of Bloomfield Hills at its Bloomfield Pines sales office where buyers can "walk-through" floor plans and mix and match colors for brick, shingles and trim.

The land at Bloomfield Pines sold Marie Wilson and fiance Ron Barringer.

"It wasn't our first choice only because we weren't aware of it," Wilson said. "The whole key . . . is it's a woodsy setting. The lot we selected is wetlands and woods behind so no one can ever build behind us."

The couple is making some modifications to one of Bing's basic plans with the master on the main floor and three bedrooms upstairs.

Ray and Paula Rudoni, both doctors, plan to have Millcreek build them a custom split-level house.

"The land out there is gorgeous," Ray said. "It's a quiet area, a calm area. There's a lot of natural streams there, ponds. We've seen wildlife back there."

Bloomfield Pines is within the Walled Lake school boundaries. It's serviced by city water and sewers and will have sidewalks.

The property tax rate in Bloomfield Pines is $28.31 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value. That means the owners of a $450,000 house there would pay about $6,400 the first year.

An annual association fee to maintain common areas is projected at $300.

Bing's sales office at Bloomfield Pines, (810) 926-1965, is open noon to 5 p.m., closed Thursdays. Millcreek can be reached at (810) 528-3454.

January new house sales take unexpected 4.2% jump

By JOHN D MCCLAIN
AP NEWSFEATURES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sales of new homes unexpectedly jumped 4.2 percent in January despite the blizzard and bitter cold in parts of the country and consumer concerns over the economy. It was the secondstraight advance.

But the picture was mixed, with sales rising in the Midwest, South and West while suffering the steepest plunge in nine years in the Northeast where the blizzard was concentrated.

The Commerce Department said today that sales of single-family homes totaled 693,000 at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, after rising 0.5 percent in December to 665,000. Many analysts had expectedsales to drop to about 6 7,000 in January.

The report combined the data for December and January. The data had been delayed by the blizzard and partial government shutdown earlier in the year.

Until December, sales had fallen for four straight months as prospective home buyers worried about slow job and income growth and high levels of debt, offsetting the attractiveness of falling interest rates.

Thirty-year, fixed-rate mortgages averaged 7.03 percent in January 1996, down from more than 9 percent a year earlier.

The monthly payment on a $100,000 mortgage with a 7 percent interest rate is $665, while the payment on the same loan with a 9 percent rate is $805 — a difference of $140.

For all of 1995, sales were down 0.9 percent to 664,000, from 670,000 in 1994. It was the lowest level since 610,00 new home were sold in 1992 as the economy was emerging from the recession.

The latest report means the seasonally adjusted estimate of new houses for sale at the end of January was 381,000, representing a supply of 6.7 months at the current sales rate, largest since a 390,000 backlog in January 1980.

The median price of a new home was $128,900, down from $136,000 in December but above the $127,900 price a year earlier. The median is the midpoint, meaning half of the homes cost more and half costless.

Regionally, sales fell 40.5 percent in the Northeast to a 47,000 annual rate, the steepest drop since a 50.7 percent decline in December 1987. They had nearly doubled in December to 79,000, highest since 102,000 homes were sold in April 1993.

But they shot up 18.1 percent in the Midwest to a 150,000-rate after dipping 0.8 percent in December to 127,000. The January gain was the largest since sales jumped 25.2 percent in October 1994.

They rose 11.6 percent in the West to 193,000, recovering from a 10.4 percent drop a month earlier, to 173,000.

Sales advanced 5.9 percent in the South to 304,000, also erasing a 5 percent decline the previous month, to 287,000.

The Loita: An attractive exterior and innovative plan (below) distinguish this 3421-square-foot house.

Interior has all the amenities

For a study kit of the LOLITA (403-50), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. BOX 2307-OE48, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number.) For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular house plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.

The solid brick exterior of the Lolita indicates a durability that is the desire of any potential homeowner. While the attractive style of this 3421-square-foot beauty is certainly an excellent selling point, the innovative interior design has all the amenities for comfortable living.

A welcoming skylit entry leads directly into a huge great room. This central gathering spot gives you plenty of space for entertaining friends and family. A fireplace, with a shelf on either side,warms the entire area. The rear of the great room is designated for dining. The convenience of the adjacent kitchen is a design feature that the cook in the family will appreciate. The kitchen includes a small breakfast nook with a built-in desk. A sliding glass door opens from the nook into a wide screened-in porch.

The master suite not only has a spacious sleeping area, it boasts a large walk-in closet with pull-down steps to the attic and a private bathroom with spa tub. There is also a private deck that abuts a common sun room.

The family theater is one room that will see a lot of use. A built-in entertainment center will provide hours of fun. A handy storage closet is included. Next to the theater is a modest den with built-in bookshelves. This is a good site to savor some quiet time.

Completing the lower level is a good-sized utility room that can also be entered from the two-car garage. In addition to being a safety factor this configuration allows you to stay dry while unloading groceries. A row of handsome semi-circular planters graces the right side of the Lolita.

Planning makes moving a less painful experience

While you are in the process of purchasing your new house, you need to be thinking ahead to the process of moving. With a little planning ahead and organizing, you can make your move go more smoothly.

The thought of moving into your new house will be an exciting experience for you, so hold on to some of that adrenaline for packing. For the task of packing, these items will be a necessity: boxes, packing paper, heavy sealing tape, scissors and a felt-tipped pen.

If you are planning to hire a professional moving company, select one which has a good track record. The moving company can give you an estimate of what the cost will be, but the actual cost of the move is determined by weighing your furniture after it has been loaded into the truck. There are usually additional charges for packing, insurance and other services. If you are planning to get a group of your friends to help, figure out in advance exactly how much you have to move, where you're going to put items, and if anything requires special attention.

Start collecting boxes and cartons early. You can obtain cartons from your local grocery or liquor stores, or you can purchase them from your mover. Cartons are a good choice because they can be flattened to minimize the amount of storage space they take up then opened and resealed with tape when you are ready to use them.

Pack on a room-by-room basis and label boxes accordingly. This will save time and make unpacking easier. If possible, start packing early. By just packing a couple of boxes a day, at the end of a month, you could have 60 boxes packed. Start in areas that you don't use much, such as the cellar, attic, garage or closet shelves.

You may have to purchase specialized cartons from your mover and have your mover do some of your packing for you. The movers can furnish cartons for items such as mattresses, large mirrors and tall lamps. They also have wardrobe cartons for suits, dresses and coats that can save you the trouble of having your garments cleaned and pressed later.

Dresser drawers usually do not need to be empty, but be sure to check with your mover if your household goods are going to be stored for a limited time. Movers usually move chest of drawers with the contents of the drawers intact, but it would be a good idea to remove any breakable items from the drawers. Be sure the contents don't make the drawer too heavy since too much weight in the drawer could damage it during the move.

When you are packing fragile items, select a sturdy, medium-sized carton and line the bottom of the carton with several layers of packing paper or a blanket for extra padding. Pack the heaviest objects toward the bottom of the carton, and the more delicate items closer to the top of the carton.

Be sure to label the outside of the box "Fragile!" Be sure to wrap all fragile items in packing paper for extra protection. Newspaper is a good inexpensive tool to use, but be aware that the ink never thoroughly dries, and items wrapped in it may require cleaning after unpacking. Packing paper and special china and crystal cartons can be purchased from the mover.

Better Homes. Better Schools. Better Location. Better See.
