Drunken driver heads to prison

Judge Susan Bieke-Neilson gave drunken driver Jerome Laurente 10-15 years for killing Canton teen Judy Rosin. "Mr. Larente's disrespect and scorn for the law is virtually immeasurable," she said.

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW

Jerome Maurice Larente, who drove the car that killed Canton teen Judy Rosin Nov. 16, was sentenced to 10-15 years in prison Thursday, April 25, by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Susan Bieke-Neilson.

With time off for good behavior and 153 days credit for the time he has spent in the Wayne County Jail since the accident, Larente could be released a little more than seven years from now. Bieke-Neilson gave Larente, who pleaded guilty to operating under the influence of liquor causing death, the maximum sentence allowed by law.

Larente, 39, of Walled Lake, has a nine-page driving record going back to 1986 that includes 14 court-ordered suspensions for unpaidtickets, 11 tickets for driving on a suspended license and four convictions for alcohol-related offenses. He has not had a valid license since 1988.

"Obviously, Mr. Larente's disrespect and scorn for the law is virtually immeasurable," Bieke-Neilson said. "And a review of his record brings me to the conclusion that it was not a question of whether he was going to kill anyone, but when and who."

Fatal accident

On the night of the accident, Larente was drinking at a Redford Township bar called Nightcap and the Redford Lanes bowling center before he left for home.

After a number of wrong turns, Larente wound up on Cherry Hill near Denton, where his Dodge Shadow crossed the center line and struck Rosin's Chevrolet Chevette at about 11 p.m. Larente's blood-alcohol level was 0.17 percent.

Rosin, 17, was eastbound on Cherry Hill, en route with 9-year-old sister Krystal Morgan to pick up her brother Andy at the Canton Meijer, where both worked.

She died two days later when doctors disconnected her from life support at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ypsilanti.

Rowe's days of painting in her kitchen are over. A few months ago, she packed up her brushes and easels and moved into her own studio. "I found I wasn't painting at home. I was painting on location. It was time to move."

She chose the upper floor of the old Fox Photo building on Davis Street in Plymouth for its artist sense of space. She painted the walls a soft yellow, tossed an oriental rug on the red tile floor, arranged some sturdy painting

Democrat challenges Whyman

Republican Deborah Whyman

Incumbent Republican State Rep. Deborah Whyman will 0have a Democratic opponent in the race for a two-year seat representing a majority of Canton Township.

Deborah Nesbit, 42, of Canton, was expected to file nominating petitions in Wayne County Friday to run in the 21st state House District race against Whyman.

"My opponent has very extreme views for the Canton area," said Nesbit, referring to one of her reasons for running against Whyman.

Whyman, 37, is seeking election to her third and last term _ allowed under term limit legislation _ in the state House. "I consider it an honor to represent the 21st district and look forward to doing it for another two years."

Whyman was first elected in 1992 and re-elected in 1994. She is a former data processing consultant. Whyman said she also volunteered with the local Big Brothers/Big Sisters programs and was a domestic violence counselor.

Nesbit, a 10-year Canton resident, is a social worker at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn. She has never run for political office before but will graduate from the Canton Chamber of Commerce Leadership Canton program in June.

Nesbit and her husband, James, have two daughters, one in 10th grade in the Plymouth-Canton schools and one at Eastern Michigan University. They also have a seven-month-old grandson.

Whyman said that she is thinking only of winning this year's race, not of seeking higher office in another two years. She is vice chair of the Power/cable outages plague residents

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Electricity outages and cable TV outages have plagued residents recently in the area bound by Ford, Koppernick, Morton Taylor and Haggerty roads.

Patricia Tanski, a resident of Carriage Hills, said her electricity failed three times in 12 days, and when the electricity wasn't out, the cable was.

She called Detroit Edison and Continental Cablevision to complain, but, "As a consumer you just feel kind of helpless."

On the cable TV, she said, "they blame it on the wind. They blame it on a lot of things. They don't ever say it's because they're working in the area."

Edison spokeswoman Mary Kay Bean said the area bound by the four local roads has experienced four outages since April 12, all attributable to downed wires.

"That particular circuit has been a good performer until just recently," she said.

The last downed wire (at press time) was on Lilley south of Ford and kept the road closed for about 40 minutes on Sunday, April 21.

Bean said line clearance crews last swept the area in 1994 looking for trees that need trimming and examining equipment with infrared cameras.

Some things will be done in the next month to increase reliability, she said, and other things will be done in eight to 12 weeks.

Still, Bean said, "there's no way I can guarantee 100-percent reliability."

A new power station to be opened next spring at Warren and Haggerty should increase reliability as well, Bean said.The cable outages can likely be attributed to a "bad piece of cable" that was discovered and replaced last week, said Bill Black of Continental Cablevision.

Electric power outages also affect cable operations, Black said, because back-up batteries in signal-booster stations last just a couple hours after the power goes off.

Mission Health facility plans move forward

By Ralph R. Echtinaw

Canton Township trustees gave unanimous approval Tuesday to the site plan for construction of a medical center at the corner of Canton Center and Summit Parkway.

Mission Health – a joint operating agreement of McAuley Health Centers (St. Joseph Mercy) and Providence Hospital – plans to break ground in mid July for a 78,000-square-foot, three-story building on a 14-acre site near the Summit community center. The project is expected to be finished in October 1997.

Project Manager Kathleen Kittle said the medical center will include urgent care services for adults and children, primary care doctors' offices, some specialist physicians' offices, community health education programs and equipment for occupational therapy, physical therapy, radiology, ultrasound and mammography.

The building will resemble, but be shorter than, the new Mission Health edifice on the corner of Seven Mile and Newburgh in Livonia.

The site will include a 450-car parking lot with entrances off Summit Parkway and Canton Center Road. The Summit Parkway access will not include an exit so as not to interfere with traffic from nearby homes, the Summit and Pheasant Run Golf Course, architect Richard Borrelli said.

The only exit from the parking lot will be on Canton Center Road, which will be widened at that point to include a left-turn lane.

Mission Health has tentative plans to expand the medical center, but will wait to see how much demand there is.

"We don't even know if phase II is going be part of the project," said Sally Bailey, Mission Health's Canton urgent care manager.

Mission Health bought the property from the township for $770,000 and agreed to pay up to $200,000 for extra landscaping and road work.

House Human Services Committee, as well as a member of the Public Utilities and Tax Policy committees.

Of her work in the state House, Whyman said she is most proud of her efforts to abolish the Detroit Recorder's Court, as well as changes state lawmakers have made in the Single Business Tax and Proposal A. "I think the changes we have made in the Department of Social Services have been positive as well."

Whyman said she believes the current legislative term has been marked by groundbreaking achievements, such as last year when 65 tax cut bills were signed into law, and a one-time $113 million refund to taxpayers. The House so far this year, she continued, has passed court and juvenile reform measures, reduced prisoners' perks and initiated legislation giving taxpayers a no-file tax return option.

The deadline for filing partisan and non-partisan nominating petitions is 4 p.m. May 14 for the Aug. 6 primary election.

Michigan Avenue reconstruction delayed

By Ralph R. Echtinaw
Staff Writer

The $6-million reconstruction of Michigan Avenue from Haggerty to Belleville roads, originally set to begin this year, has been delayed at least six months and may not be finished until late next year.

Plans are to rip up the existing road and replace it with asphalt from Haggerty to a point 1,000 feet west of Belleville Road.

There will be two lanes in each direction with an open shoulder on the inside (five feet of it paved) and a 10-foot paved shoulder on the outside complete with curb and gutter. Turnarounds will be added at intervals. From Haggerty to Lotz, Michigan Avenue will simply be resurfaced.

The reason for the construction delay is not clear. John Sanford, the Michigan Department of Transportation's resident engineer in Canton Township, said "major conflicts" with utility companies are to blame. "They want to make sure we're committed (to build) before they relocate," he said.

MDOT Project Manager Jack Rick said the delay is typical, considering the complexity of this job. "We've got a lot of issues we're trying to get resolved," he said. "I wouldn't say (the utilities) are the chief cause."

Rick said he hopes to seek bids on construction in the fall and begin construction in fall 1996 or in spring 1997. "It may take until the end of 1997 to complete it," he said.

Two of the utilities that must move their wires and pipes out of the way are Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and Ameritech.

MichCon spokesman Paul Ganz said that MDOT officials told MichCon officials that they didn't need the gas lines moved until fall 1996. "If there's a problem, they have not communicated it to me or to us," he said.

MichCon can't do anything until it receives a final set of plans from MDOT indicating what will be moved and when, Ganz said. "We need to know what everyone else is doing."

Ameritech spokeswoman Marcia Sayles said Ameritech personnel have worked since April 16 digging holes to verify the depth of underground wires.

"They want to run their conduit right through our facilities," she said, indicating that proposed storm sewer outlets intercept existing underground wires.

"It would be a disservice to Ameritech to say we are causing any kind of delay," Sayles said. "No one is dragging their feet at Ameritech."

ente. "Judy didn't lose her life. You killed her. You killed a bright spot in all of our lives. I wish they could stick you in jail forever. I also wish you had a conscience. I couldn't live with myself if I did what you did. The law can't give you what you deserve, so I pray the good Lord will."

Post also spoke directly to Larente. "What does it feel like to be hated by so many people?" he asked. "How does it feel to know so many good people hate you with a passion?"

Krystal Morgan explained that she's still haunted by the aftereffects of the accident. "I can't go to sleep," she said. "I think that what happened to Judy will happen to my family and that I will be all alone. It is so sad. I think I will never recover. I feel like I should be able to punch the guy who hit her. She was my best, best, best friend. I miss her a whole lot."

Jeanie Morgan said she "felt as if my heart was ripped out" when she heard Rosin was brain dead. "I can't describe the feeling of walking in there and seeing my baby with tubes in her nose, I.V.'s in her arm, machines everywhere and blood running down her beautiful face. I wish no one ever had to feel this kind of pain."

Larente speaks

Defense attorney Kevin Ernst turned to the Morgans and said, "Words cannot express the loss you must feel, and I'm sorry. Mr. Larente will have to live with that for the rest of his life, and I know he's tormented by the situation."

Ernst took issue with the family's assertion that Larente doesn't feel bad about what happened. "He's felt remorse from the first day I talked to him," Ernst said. "He was in tears on many occasions when I spoke to him in the jail. He wasn't crying about what was going to happen to him. He was crying about what happened to Judy Rosin."

Larente, said Ernst, is a fine man who happens to be an alcoholic. "He's a productive citizen. He's a bright, intelligent, articulate guy. He's likable. He's spent his entire adult life supporting himself, supporting his family. Other than that particular problem (alcoholism), there's nothing wrong with Mr. Larente."

Larente also spoke. "I tried to make the right decisions in my life," he said. "I tried to be productive in society. I've been steadily employed for the past 24 years, but my alcohol use has always been my downfall. I've struggled with alcoholism throughout my life."

Speaking to the family, Larente continued: "I wish I could redo what has happened, but I cannot. I know you relive her death every day. This is a terrible burden I've placed on you and I humbly apologize to you. I'm truly sorry. I will live with this for the rest of my life. I hope that Judy Rosin and her family will forgive me for what I've done."

The Morgan's attorney Bryan Amann, filed a suit against Larente, the Night Cap Lounge and Redford Lanes claiming they share liability in Rosin's death.

Break-in

A 58-year-old resident of Charterhouse Street told police April 24 that his house was broken into March 19.

The man said he and his wife were in Canada, but his son was home. The son found the front door kicked in, but discovered nothing missing.

The man said he found a bracelet worth $1,250, a necklace worth $600 and a ring worth $5,900 missing from a box in his bedroom when he returned from Canada, according to the police report.

Another break-in

The resident of a secluded house on Michigan Avenue told police April 23 that someone broke into his house that day and took 40 compact disks worth $600, a gold chain worth $100 and a hat worth $80.

Police found the rear door had been forced open. "Both bedrooms were ransacked (with) clothing and items thrown about," according to the police report.

Attempted fraud

A 72-year-old resident of Nassau Court told police April 23 that someone used his Social Security number to apply for credit cards from three banks.

The credit card applications are dated April 5, 8 and 17, according to the police report.

The suspect is using the date of birth of Feb. 12, 1954 on the applications, while the Canton man's date of birth is Feb. 12, 1924.

Stolen trailer

A 27-year-old Sterling Heights man told police April 22 that a construction trailer was stolen from Coves of Canton, which are being constructed on Lilly north of Warren.

The 1995 Dynaweld trailer was parked unhitched on the east side of the complex. The man said the trailer was stolen between April 20 and 22.

Shoplifting

Meijer security personnel told police April 23 that they caught a 28-year-old Canton woman stealing several items that day.

According to the police report, the woman put Tylenol Drops for Infants worth $7.19, blank cassette tapes worth $2.69, a greeting card worth $1.85 and fruit punch worth $1.99 into her purse.

She then concealed two Pop Tarts worth 78 cents in a jacket pocket, passed through the checkout line and purchased one other item.

'Crooner alert' at library May 3

The Friends of the Canton Public Library have issued a "crooner" alert.

Bing Crosby, as portrayed by Bob Pasch, will treat guests to an evening of songs and memories 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 3, in the Canton Library meeting room. Tickets are available at the reception desk or the door for $5 including refreshments.

Pasch first listened to Bing on Armed Forces radio while stationed in Korea. Soon friends began telling him that he sounded and looked like the famous crooner. In 1982, Bob attended the Butterfield Auction and acquired several personal items of Bing's. From this, the "Tribute to Bing Crosby" was born.

Over the years, Bob Pasch has performed for the Bing Crosby Historical Society, the Bing Crosby fan club and the Bingthings Society. Bob has met the entire Crosby family, as well as Bob Hope. Pasch has fostered a friendship with Bing's butler, Alan Fisher.

Bob's Tribute to Bing Crosby contains wonderful arrangements of the best of Bing's music. He presents a collection of Bing's tunes including such hits as "Blue of the Night," "True Love," and "Swinging on a Star" all the way to "White Christmas." Professionally written medleys allow Bob to present more than 40 tunes through your nostalgic journey.

Canton senior citizens honored for volunteerism

The Canton Township Senior Citizens Program honored 173 people Wednesday, April 24, who have done volunteer work over the last year.

"There are 173 people who I can count, and many of those people do many more than one or two things," said Senior Programs Coordinator Dianne Neihengen.

Parks and Recreation Supervisor Bob Dates thanked those who volunteered for last year's LibertyFest.

"It would not be the success it has turned out to be without you folks," he said.

Dates also plugged the next LibertyFest, which will occur on the dates June 20-23.

Kitchen Band Leader Bernice Russian named all the kitchen band members and noted that two have recently died: Ronald McDonald and Marguerite Hughes.

"Whenever we lose a member it makes our performance more meaningful because we dedicate it to them," she said.

Russian noted that 26 of 30 Kitchen Band musicians attended the ceremony Wednesday.

"They've been a great support to me because it's been a rough year for my health as well," she said.

Charlotte Schwartz, who writes a column entitled "Charlotte's Web" in the Senior Program's newsletter, took the microphone to thank everyone for their concern when she was ill recently.

As an April Fool's joke, Schwartz wrote in her March column that she would write no more. She intended to write in April that it had all been a joke.

However, Schwartz became seriously ill and nearly died.

"I want to thank everyone for their prayers, which God must have answered because I'm still here," she said.

No small task: Harold Mack (left) and Howard Medaugh received accolades for their contribution. They never miss a day of picking up doughnuts for seniors from Meijer.

HazMat team members respond to treatment site

By Ralph R. Echtinaw
Staff Writer

A broken air compressor belt sent the Western Wayne County Hazardous Materials Team speeding to the Western Townships Utilities Authority at Joy and Haggerty Friday morning.

Although the run turned out to be "nothing" in the words of Canton Fire Division Sgt. Jim Davison, the "HazMat" team responds with vigor to WTUA because of the chemicals stored there.

"They've got some nasty chemicals in there they use to treat the odor from the sewage," said Canton Fire Chief Michael Rorabacher. "We always have to deal with what potentially can be."

WTUA Director Delores Newell said the fire alarm sounded at about 9:30 a.m. and everyone but her evacuated the building. She discovered that the problem was in the "odor control room," where the odor of the sewage is treated so it smells better.

Newell felt the walls and looked into the windows, then opened the door. "I could smell rubber burning," she said. "I could see a slight haze."

She reported this to firefighters, who then called in the HazMat team, which is equipped to handle spills of dangerous chemicals.

Sgt. Davison donned his "Level B Response" gear and entered the odor control room. He carried an air quality monitor with him to detect hazardous vapors.

But all Davison found was an air compressor with a broken belt.

Rorabacher was proud of the quick response of the HazMat team, which is comprised of 60 individuals from 24 different agencies.

"This is as close as we're going to get in the foreseeable future to a countywide fire department," he said.

tables and turned on the classical music. After she hung her paintings, she named her new studio "Village Artists."

Currently, Rowe has six students who she instructs in transparent water color. She often starts with a basic color wheel. "I stick with a limited palette, but look what you can do with a few colors," she said, picking up a student's jewel-toned color wheel.

Rowe has a background in music. Her's is a family of musicians. Daughter Laura is a violinist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra; daughter Alicia, who is doing auditions, is a cellist; son David, 16, a hockey-loving black belt in karate, plays the baritone horn.

Rowe plays the clarinet in the Ann Arbor Symphony and husband Rick plays the baritone horn and travels with several Civil War ensembles.

When asked the similarities between music and painting, Rowe said, "They're both means of expressing yourself. I hope my paintings bring an emotional reaction to people similar to what music does."

As a painter, Rowe has three goals: "One, to be the best artist I can be.

Two, for my art to bring pleasure. Three, to pass on my skills to others."

Every week, Rowe's students make their way up the steep metal stairway in the back of the building to her studio door. Once inside, it's all about painting. "Artists can be lonely. You learn so much from other artists. We critique each other's work."

Rowe considers herself a colorist. "I feel it's a prominence in my painting. I like contrasts. I like a boldness, an impact in my paintings," she said. She points to one of her paintings, a lush tumble of green and red tomatoes. "See how the red and green intensify each other?"

Rowe often "borders" her paintings, much the way you border a wallpapered room. It seems to intensify the painting's theme, and adds a complimentary sub-text. Her favorite painting, an award-winner, is of an old wooden lobster trap surrounded by a border of smaller lobsters.

"It was my first real successful painting. When I was done I didn't look at it and see things wrong with it," she said.

When Rowe looks at her own life, she's content. She spends time with her family, gardens organically, raises chickens and llamas (which she and her husband take for walks along Ridge Road), plays her beloved music, and paints. "I'm doing all the things I love."

Rowe is interested in more students. Contact her at 455-1487 or 455-7221.

S'craft studies tuition hike

By Beth Sundrla Jachman
Staff Writer

Schoolcraft College trustees are reviewing a proposed $2 per credit hour tuition increase for in-state students in the 1996-1997 fiscal year.

For in-district students the tuition would increase from $48 to $50 per credit hour. For out-district students the tuition would increase from $71 to $73 per credit hour. Out-of-state tuition would increase from $105 to $109 per credit hour.

Trustees discussed the proposed tuition increase at a board meeting Wednesday. It is part of the proposed $36.8 million budget for the 1996-97 school year. Trustees are expected to vote on the budget at the regular meeting May 22.

The proposal is a 3.61 percent increase over the 1995-96 budget.

Schoolcraft College students have faced several tuition increases in recent years. Tuition increased $2 to $47 per credit hour in May 1995 and increased to $48 per credit hour in the winter 1996 term for resident students.

Tuition increased to $70 per credit hour in May 1995 and to $71 per credit hour in the winter 1996 term for non-resident students.

Trustee Steve Ragan said the proposed tuition increase concerns him. A tuition increase can mean students having to spread course work over a longer period of time and can also mean students getting frustrated and quitting, he said.

"I don't think there's any way we can not approve a tuition increase, but we need to look at what's driving this," Ragan said.

"The college is moving in a lot of directions that I think are necessary to stay competitive," Schoolcraft College President Richard McDowell said.

A "fairly rich" contract for faculty members and the increasing cost of updating technology are among the budget pressures, according to Adelard H. Raby III, vice president for business services.

Raby presented a tuition comparison with other local community colleges: Oakland Community College, which recently won a millage increase, is at $46 a credit hour; Wayne County Community College is proposing $54; Washtenaw Community College is proposing $52; Henry Ford Community College is proposing $49; and Macomb is at $51. That cost is still lower than at an area four-year university. Eastern Michigan University charges $91 a credit hour for 100 and 200 level courses for Michigan residents and $98.50 a credit hour for 300 level. Non-residents pay $237 a credit hour for 100 and 200 level and $253 a credit hour for 300 level and higher.

Tuition and fees play a larger part in the college's budget than they did 15 years ago, Raby said. He showed the board a chart of tuition and fees as part of the budget compared to state appropriations as part of the budget. In 1980-81, state appropriations were $4.8 million or 35.92 percent of the budget and in the 1996-97 budget they are projected to be $9.9 million or 26.89 percent of the budget. Tuition and fees, meanwhile, have gone from $3.48 million or 26.06 percent of the budget in 1980-81 to $11.9 million or 32.42 percent of the budget in 1996-97, Raby said.

Although enrollment increased 1.7 during the current school year, Raby said he expects enrollment to increase only 0.5 percent during the coming school year.

Property taxes made up 35.41 percent of the budget at $4.7 million in 1980-81 and are expected to make up 39.32 percent of the budget at $14.48 million in 1996-97. Raby said he expects the millage rate to stay at 1.8521, with .4179 of Schoolcraft's 2.27 millage not being levied because of the Headlee tax limit and Proposition A.

Several trustees wanted to see figures comparing how Schoolcraft is spending its money compared to other area community colleges.

But McDowell pointed out the college has invested in technology and other areas, when other colleges may not have. "People come here and drool at our equipment and our labs," he said. Visits to other local colleges may show that the buildings aren't in as good of repair as at Schoolcraft, he said.

The Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees meets the fourth Wednesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. in the Grote Administration Building on the Livonia campus, 18600 Haggerty Road, between Six and Seven Mile roads.

Dentistry in the 90s
by Herbert M. Gardner, D.D.S. & Martha P. Zinderman, R.N., D.D.S.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKELESS

If young people think that they can avoid the carcinogenic effect of cigarettes by switching to smokeless tobacco products, they are mistaken. While the habit of smoking cigarettes has declined in recent years, the use of "dip" (tobacco products that are inserted between the cheek and gums) has climbed 40 percent since 1980, mostly among men and boys. According to a study by researchers at the American Health Foundation, those brands of smokeless tobacco with the highest amounts of nicotine (which comprise 92% of the market share) have the highest levels of cancer-causing ingredients. Using two cans of this snuff a week exposes the user to at least twice as much of the carcinogenic nitrosamines as a pack-a-day smoker. According to U.S. health authorities, snuff causes oral cancers and gum ailments, and may raise the risk of cancer developing in other organs.

This is just another reason to quit or never start smoking or using snuff. At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, we feel a deep responsibility and commitment to provide the very best dental care with state-of-the-art technology at reasonable cost - a cost which will allow our patients to benefit from our years of experience in all phases of dentistry. Judge: Go regional on Rouge

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

A federal judge wants Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw counties to consider a regional approach to stopping non-point pollution of the Rouge River.

Judge John Feikens says they should look at Chapter 21 of the state Drain Code in setting up a watershed authority.

The approval of federal funds "favors the development of a regional approach to the remedial efforts in southeastern Michigan," Feikens said in a letter to area officials and lawyers.

So far Feikens has met once with top officials in his Detroit courtroom and has another hearing set for May 7.

"A lot of people feared a Chapter 21 (consortium) would be imposed, but the court can't impose it," James Murray, Wayne County public works director, told the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments April 26.

"(County Executive Ed) McNamara and (Detroit Mayor Dennis) Archer say the communities must support it," Murray said. He added that communities favor the watershed approach only for planning and monitoring water management. Communities would have to petition for a Chapter 21 consortium, he added.

Murray said the consensus is that management practices — "how you keep pollutants out of the system" — is a better approach than trying to clean up pollutants. Guilty forces are such non-point runoffs as herbicides and pesticides.

Feikens advocates a regional approach because: "The Rouge River Basin alone consists of 427 miles of watershed and 125 miles of river channel. It is the home of more than 1.5 million people located in 47 different municipal corporations.

"The price tag for CSO (combined sewer overflow) and storm water control in the Rouge Basin alone is estimated at up to $2.5 billion," he wrote.

Feikens also quoted federal law to show the U.S. Congress favors a regional approach to correcting CSO problems. Combined sewers mix sanitary sewage with storm water. In heavy rains, they become flooded and discharge their overflows into the Rouge.

To study the Chapter 21 watershed idea, Feikens has called in McNamara, Murray and counsel Thomas Neenan from Wayne County; Oakland Executive L. Brooks Patterson and Drain Commissioner George Kuhn; Washtenaw Drain Commissioner Janis Bobrin; Dr. Jonathan Bulkley, the court-appointed master in the Detroit sewage treatment plant case; and representatives of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and Michigan Department of Environmental Quality.

The Rouge case has been tacked onto an old case — the EPA's 1977 suit against Detroit's sewerage department. Feikens appointed then-Mayor Coleman Young as a virtual czar over the system. Result was billions of federal aid to improve the Detroit treatment plant, which serves more than 100 suburban communities.

Driver ed bill changed

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Michigan's effort to toughen teen driver training courses hit an ideological snag when Senate Republicans tacked a private school voucher system on.

"It provides further erosion of public school education in Michigan," said Democrat Henry Stallings of Detroit.

The Senate passed its version 19-17.

Voting yes were all area Republicans, including Loren Bennett of Canton and Robert Geake of Northville.

Voting no were 15 Democrats, including George Z. Hart of Dearborn and Alma Smith of Salem.

The bill goes back to the House, where sponsor Dan Gustafson, R-Williamston, hasn't decided whether he will agree to the Senate amendments.

The Senate 1) removed driver training as a public school mandate and 2) set up a $100 voucher system that students could use to attend a private driving school under certain conditions. One condition is that their public school failed to provide driver training; the other, that scheduling conflicts prevented their taking public school driver courses.

Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, praised the voucher option. "I believe this is another issue whereby school districts deserve more local control. The residents of each school district may appeal to their local school boards for how they wish the matter to be handled," Bennett said.

"This recognizes the fact that nearly 30 percent of students today get their driver training outside of their public school," said Senate majority leader Dick Poshumus, R-Alto.

"I think we took a U-turn for families," said Sen. Art Miller, D-Warren.

Saturday event returns to park

"Saturday in the Park" begins Saturday in Hines Park.

Starting Saturday, May 4, and continuing every Saturday to Sept. 28, six miles of Hines Drive will be closed to vehicular traffic so that the public can run, walk, cycle or skate safely.

"This is a great opportunity to bring the family out to enjoy the park," County Executive Edward H. McNamara said.

Hines Drive will be closed from Ann Arbor Trail to Outer Drive for the program.

Parking is available at Warrendale (Warren Avenue east of Telegraph); Merriman Hollow (Merriman Road and Hines) and Nankin Mills picnic areas (Hines Drive and Ann Arbor Trail).

"It's great to see people coming out to enjoy the park," said Hurley Coleman, director of Wayne County Parks.

Night to remember: Evening wear for teens mirrors the more adult styles but with lots more snap, crackle, pop!

Prom '96: Glitz for guys and gals

Prom night is the most fashionable milestone of a teen's young life because while dressing down is the day-to-day code, a glamorous prom night is the ultimate exception.

Cele Lalli, editor of Modern Bride and Your Prom magazines, characterizes this year's styles as "feminine and figure-flattering." Long dresses are making a comeback as most of last year's short, short models make an exit. Expect to see plenty of sophisticated sheaths with slits.

Halters, criss-cross backs and lots of back details top the list of trendy looks with beading and front details very important, too.

Black, white and red are as formal and flirty as ever, though jewel tones, royal blue and vivid yellow, are also popular. Pastels will shine in the short, mod looks some teens prefer.

Formal fabrics vary from velvet to crepe, georgette, satin and elegant satin trimming.

Try on a variety of styles and colors to discover the looks that most flatter you. Some elements play up your best features, but others can emphasize the ones that are bothersome. Shorter girls note: a higher hemline creates the vision of length and makes you appear taller.

If you can't seem to find the perfect dress right off the rack, consider a special-occasion dress from a bridal salon. Many have a huge selection. Best of all they can be altered to fit just right, or changed a little to suit your taste.

■ If you can't seem to find the perfect dress right off the rack, consider a special-occasion dress from a bridal salon. Many have a huge selection. Best of all they can be altered to fit just right, or changed a little to suit your taste.

Shoes are strappy, feminine high heels and pumps, that no dress can do without. Choose a neutral color, black or white, or have them dyed to match.

Accessories polish off a formal look. Glittering, even flashy rhinestones were never more appropriate for earrings, necklaces, even barrettes and fancy bobby pins.

Finally, a classy little handbag holds just the essentials. It should complements the dress or be dyed to match.

Boys To Men

Girls appreciate the rare opportunity to see their guys in full dress. So, boys, don't disappoint them. Start with a tux rental, add a little of your own personality, and you have a look to remember. If you make a weak effort, you might never live it down — all those prom-night photos will come back to haunt you!

Traditional tuxedos range from single- and double-breasted styles to cropped jackets and full tails. Some of this season's most stylish sport satin lapels.

Black is classic and white is ultraformal, but there is a range of other fun colors. President Tuxedo's Oakland Mall store manager Milton Neuman said the company has tye-dye tux jackets, $96, while they last. One safe bet is to go with basic black, white, or gray and then accessorize to complement your date's dress.

Accessories include bow ties, cummerbunds and vests in countless colors and even some novelty prints, metallics and interesting textures.

Since the whole idea is to have a good time, it's OK to take chances for the sake of fun. Replace the standard white shirt with a satin version, wear black boots instead of oxfords, or search out a tie and vest depicting your favorite team logo.

Women's Expo links shoppers/retailers

Rather than wait for customers to walk through their doors, modern retailers are bringing their stores to their shoppers in a series of fashion/fragrance events at 35 major U.S. women's expos. Michigan's takes place this week.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Taking the show on the road.

That's the plan behind both Crowley's and JCPenney's involvement with the Michigan International Women's Show, May 2-5 at the Novi Expo Center.

"Women's Expos are expected to increase in popularity because they offer busy women a variety of useful information in a centralized location," said Kim Jones, special events manager for JCPenney's Detroit District. "The concept of marketing to women in interactive environments has become a proven way to reach a target audience: those time-pressed professional women."

The Michigan Women's Expo features more than 350 exhibitor booths showcasing goods and topics of interest to women including fashion, cosmetics, health issues, career and family juggling, financial security, cooking, fitness demonstrations, and free samples.

At the expo, Crowley's poses the question "What makes you a strong woman of the '90s?" The retailer offers answers to the query with exhibits of dresses and suits, an assortment of clocks and a working salon offering makeovers and quick hair fixes.

The personal possessions of Crowley's own "Strong Women" employees could be the centerpiece of the exhibit area. Visitors to the Crowley's booth will receive discount merchandise coupons. When redeemed, the coupons automatically enter the customer in a drawing for a Crowley's shopping spree.

Crowley's will also present two children's fashion shows at noon, May 1 and 2.

The winners of Crowley's 25-word essay contest, "What makes you a strong woman of the '90s; the children's coloring contest and other drawings, take home the merchandise on display.

■ JCPenney will present "Fashion Solutions" a fully-choreographed, entertaining spring/summer runway show at 1 p.m. on May 4 and 2 p.m. on May 5. Attendees receive a complimentary 25-page color guide to dressing, "Solutions for Today's Working Women."

Designer believes in menswear traditions

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Fred Astaire had it. The Duke of Windsor had it. And menswear designer Alan Flusser believes you can have it, too.

"It's that bon vivant, well-dressed, Old World, custom-made, Saville Row look," he explained while fitting customers at Saks Fifth Avenue's Somerset Collection store in Troy, recently. "It's the right shirt-tie-jacket combination and nothing can substitute for it. It's hierarchical. It's dynamic."

And it all begins with a sport jacket or suit coat, custom-fitted at the shoulder to establish a personal silhouette. Under the jacket is a flared-collar dress shirt "because no other shirt presents a man's face in quite the same way . . . it's about power and status."

BEHIND THE LABEL

"The look transcends fashion," Flusser explained. "That's why I'm excited about our new process which offers a man a made-to-measure suit in 15-days for $650-$1,000. The suit starts with him, without the imposition of fashion. It's humanistic. It extends an opportunity to the customer to learn something about himself."

Flusser's new process is available exclusively at Saks Fifth Avenue through specially-trained tailors who suit the shopper in silhouette proportions most complimentary to each physique. Then, suit measurements are taken and fabric is selected from Italian wools imported through Canada.

"I've been in menswear for 25 years and I still don't understand the modern paradox," said Flusser. "Even though more men's clothing is sold than ever before, you're hard-pressed to come up with the names of men in politics, entertainment or business who are noted dressers. There just aren't any these days."

Flusser, 50, of New York, grew up in New Jersey, the elder of two sons. His father, of Austrian background, worked in real estate, and according to Flusser, appreciated well-tailored clothing.

"Dad married late in life and was a bit of a bon vivant," Flusser said with a smile. "He admired Fred Astaire and dressed similarly. Dad was very stylish and he more than anyone else is responsible for my career and interest in clothing."

Flusser scrapped plans for a golf career, "at 15 I was a one-handicap golfer." He attended the University of Pennsylvania where he earned a Bachelor of Arts. Forever finding himself in menswear shops for part-time jobs to pay for his custom-made clothes, Flusser decided to enter the clothing business.

His first job was designing boys shirts for Van Heusen. The next designing sportswear for Pierre Cardin in the 1970s.

In 1979, Flusser penned his first book at the urging of his younger brother, a writer. "Clothes and The Man" was all about where to shop for the best menswear in cities around the world," he said.

"However, I found on the book tour that people were more interested in how to select a tie, when to wear the different shirt collars and how to put looks together. In 1985, I wrote "Making The Man" a guide to menswear. I hoped to de-mystify the industry with this book. It immediately sold 90,000 copies. It was sold through GQ magazine which oversold 1,500 copies."

The books made Flusser an author and historian, a much-quoted spokesman in the menswear field. He was awarded fashion's COTY AWARD as the top menswear designer in America, and presented with Cutty Sark awards for his contributions to menswear literature.

Hollywood Calls

"In 1985, I opened a custom men's shop in New York City," Flusser said. "We outfitted Wall Street — the guys from Solomon Brothers and Goldman Sachs . . . I guess that's how Hollywood came to find me for the film Wall Street with Michael Douglas."

Flusser gained enduring notoriety for the "ensembles" he designed for Douglas' character Gordon Gekko, in the film.

"They spent $40,000 on that wardrobe," Flusser recalled. "They wanted a power wardrobe that went beyond Wall Street. The costume director eventually stepped aside and I went to work. I tried to capture the 1980's in a quintessential image of what that decade has come to mean."

In the summer of 1992, (and again this summer) Flusser's designs will be worn by sports announcer Bob Costas during his on-camera work for the Olympics. In September, Flusser will publish his third book, "Style and The Man: How and Where to Buy Quality Menswear."

Flusser explained that the menswear revolution began in the 1960s. In the 1970s, Armani changed the "sensibility of menswear forever" by bringing a casual air to suits best exemplified in the Armani wardrobe worn by Richard Gere in the movie "American Gigolo"

Flusser, is married and the father of two daughters. He occasioally creates women's clothing, but it's very tailored, "in the tradition of what Katherine Hepburn used to wear," he said.

Plymouth Canton students go high-tech

Students from Plymouth-Salem High School and robots "teamed up" to go straight into the winners circle on Saturday at Chrysler Technology Center in Auburn Hills.

They were all-star performers in a non-stop, action-packed competition the Tenth Annual student Robotics Automation contest. Activities began with judging at 12:30 p.m. and ending with the awards ceremony at 6:30 p.m.

This event challenged student teams from middle schools through university level to showcase their awareness and creativity of robotics. There was 60 students and teachers from 50 schools in 14 states who participated in the event sponsored by the Robotics International of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers (RI/SME).

Featured was a automated sundae maker that eliminates cold hands, slippery containers, or spills. If it's bomb disposal, medication dispensing, or just a good, one-on-one battle, robots performed. Robotic mice negotiated mazes, sumo robots tried to knock each other out of competition, and pick and place robots performed preprogrammed maneuvers.

There were 11 competitions taking place Saturday challenging the students' knowledge and creativity of robotics.

There were eight main contest categories ranging from robot design and construction to a lively sumo robot contest where two robots try to push each other out of an eight-foot circle.

"Chrysler Cirrus takes on the best in its class, the Accord, Contour and Altima and delivers more..."

*Motor Trend

In the last two years, Chrysler Cirrus has won the praises of some of the world's most reputable publications. Car and Driver bestowed its "Ten Best" on Cirrus two years in a row. AutoWeek (May '95) called Cirrus "Best of the Bunch." And perhaps most satisfying, using information gathered from Kiplinger's Personal Finance Magazine (Dec. '95), it is projected that Cirrus will have a higher resale value than the Lexus GS300 in two years. All of this praise makes sense, especially when you consider that the cab-forward designed Cirrus LX has more interior room and more standard features (like air and ABS) than Honda Accord DX, Ford Contour GL and Nissan Altima XE. Now's the time to get into the car that the critics are raving about.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

No beans about it, legumes are nutritious

Pick up any health-oriented magazine these days, and between stories about getting legendary "abs," and the importance of exercise, you'll probably read something about the benefits of beans.

European countries have long relied on the fabled legume. In the Middle East, people eat more beans than meat, fish and poultry combined. Even our government is implying the health benefits of more legumes via their updated food pyramid.

But for most of us, cooking beans at home probably evolves around opening a can of kidney beans and stirring them into a beef ladened chili. Let's face it, if we need to increase the amount of beans in our diet repertoire, we should know the basics.

Selecting beans

Let's begin at the market. In order to select good beans, you need to know they come in two versions: dried and canned. There are some types of frozen beans, but for the most part, they are inferior for use after defrosting.

When purchasing dried beans, inspect the package and look for firm, clean, whole beans of uniform size and color. My only criteria for purchasing dried beans is to know the store I'm buying from and expect a fairly good turnover. Canned beans are always acceptable, and their best attribute is their time-saving characteristics.

Some of the better tasting beans (like black beans) are a little more elusive and you'll only find them at upscale grocers. If you have a problem finding your favorite bean in dry or canned form, it might be because of the lack of demand for it in that store. Check out the bean selection at Papa Joe's, Vic's, Westborn and Strawberry Hills. Bulk purchases can be made in sizes ranging from a few ounces to a few pounds.

As a general rule of thumb, especially when some recipes call for dry, some cooked, some canned and some soaked, you can roughly bet that a one pound package of dried beans equals about 2 cups dry and 5 cups soaked. Dry beans expand to about 2 1/2 times their original size when soaked. One 16 ounce can (drained) will equal about 1 2/3 cups cooked beans.

Dried beans can be stored for fairly long periods of time, especially when kept dry in a sealed container or canister. You can immediately tell if dried beans are old when you go to clean and soak them. Any beans that "float" after washing are probably old. Although beans go through a series of threshing, sifting and cleaning processes prior to packaging, none of these ordinarily include washing because the moisture could cause the beans to start sprouting. Hence, the need to wash prior to soaking and cooking.

Soaking

Perhaps no other factor in bean cookery is more controversial than whether beans should be soaked, and if so, for how long. Before beans can really cook and tenderize, they need to rehydrate. Dried beans contain only about 15 percent moisture in the dry form and rehydrate to 60 percent moisture when fully cooked. Another important factor about the soaking of dried beans suggests that by changing the soaking water before cooking, many of the indigestible soluble sugars in beans dissolve in the soak water and go down the drain. If you have a problem with gas, discarding the soaking water should alleviate it. If you are afraid of throwing away some valuable nutrients, don't be because scientists tell me that no significant amount of essential nutrients are lost.

The basic rule of thumb for soaking is 1 pound of dried beans to 10 cups of water. Hot water will do a "quick soak" that can be accomplished in 4 hours. Bringing the water to a boil, boiling water and beans for 3 minutes, then removing from heat can be done in one hour. Yours truly usually places the beans in a big pot with cold water and allows them to soak overnight for optimum results. Just a word of caution, use a big enough pot.

For plain boiled beans to serve as a hot vegetable or for use in a casserole, you can cover one pound of soaked beans with 6 cups of water and boil gently for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Of course, canned beans are always acceptable, but pound for pound and dollar for dollar, expect to pay about double for the convenience of using canned bean products compared to dry.

There's only one real trick that I learned about cooking beans — you should never add salt to the cooking beans until just before they are cooked. Salt added to the water during soaking and early cooking will toughen beans.

CRANBROOK REVS UP FOR Le Gala

BY KEELY WYGONIK • STAFF WRITER

Le Gala de Cuisine

When: 3-6 p.m. Sunday, May 5

Where: In the Eliel Saarinen-designed Quadrangle, Cranbrook Schools, 550 Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills.

Cost: $125 (friend), $150 (patron) and $200 (benefactor).

For ticket information, call (810) 540-3356. For general information, call (810) 645-3000.

The wheels are in motion at Cranbrook Schools where volunteers are gearing up for the 18th annual Le Gala de Cuisine, a May 5 celebration of "gas"-tronomic delights and vintage cars to benefit charity.

Event proceeds will benefit Horizons-Upward Bound, a program dedicating to providing at-risk students from economically disadvantaged areas with solid educational foundations; scholarship programs at Cranbrook and the Michigan Chefs de Cuisine Association; and restoration projects on the Cranbrook campus.

Last year's event proceeds totaled $64,000. This year's goal is $80,000 to $100,000.

Guests will be invited to sample hors d'oeuvres, entrees and desserts, and a variety of coffees and fine wines from over 50 metropolitan Detroit restaurants and food providers in the Eliel Saarinen-designed Quadrangle.

"Some of the area's best restaurants participate, and it's a beautiful setting," said Annette Mueller of Bloomfield Township who is co-chairing the event with Annette Arrington of Bloomfield Hills, and has been on the committee for four years. "We provide the cooking equipment, and the restaurants donate the food and staff. This year we're having a table decor contest that will be a feast for our guest's eyes. It will be judged by three Oakland County Judges — Edward Sosnick, David Breck, and Joan Young. The prize plaque is being underwritten by Marriott Education Services."

This year's Le Gala de Cuisine is also marking the 100th year of the automobile. Five vintage cars bearing a historical tie to the Cranbrook-founding Booth family will be on display including a 1948 Rolls Royce owned by Bengt and Elaine Swenson of Franklin, a 1906 Winton, 1929 Pierce-Arrow and a Duesenberg. The Swenson's were happy to show their car. "Anything for Cranbrook, it's a great institution," said Bengt Swenson who happily volunteered his car for our photo. It was raining that day, and I was concerned the photo might have to be moved indoors. "The show must go on," he told me. Lucky for us, the rain on Monday stopped when it was time to take the photo. The Swenson's 1948 Rolls Royce Silver Wraith five passenger Saloon Body by Hooper is a one-of-a-kind body design developed for the Maharaj of Mysore, India. The car has won national awards in shows across the country.

In between bites you can place bids in an automotive-related silent auction for the chance to win a variety of great prizes including a Goodyear Blimp ride; driving school tickets; original automotive art, tickets to a Meadow Brook Concourse d'Elegance black-tie dinner; auto memorabilia; and an Olympic package valued at $14,000 to the summer games in Atlanta, Ga.

"The winner of the Olympic package will spend five days at the Olympics," said Mueller, whose son Jay is a senior at Cranbrook. "The package includes airfare for two, accommodations, and tickets to the events."

Continuous entertainment will be provided by Cranbrook Kingswood musicians and dancers under the direction of Sarkis Halajian and Jessica Sinclair. Posters featuring student photo work juried by internationally acclaimed photographer Balthazar Korab will be on display.

"It adds a lovely accent to the day," said Annette Arrington whose daughter, Charlotte is a sophomore at Cranbrook's upper school. "Approximately 25 percent of the students at Cranbrook receive scholarships," said Arrington. "Horizons-Upward Bound supports 200 inner city high school kids. They make a commitment to work with a tutor on Saturdays, and attend Cranbrook each summer. Over 95 percent of the students who participate in the program go on to college."

Besides memories, guests will take home a cookbook featuring recipes from well-known metro Detroit chefs.

"We started the event with them 18 years ago when they were looking for someone to partner with," said Certified Executive Chef Kevin Enright of Troy, president of the Michigan Chefs de Cuisine Association, and a culinary arts instructor at Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills. "We help them organize chefs, and make recommendations. Cranbrook is a high quality school, and they have a following. It's a classy event that's held in a nice setting at a good time of year. It gives local chefs more exposure, and they do it for the Michigan Chefs de Cuisine Association because a portion of the proceeds is for scholarships."

Cranbrook students will also be a driving force behind the event's success. Besides entertaining guests, they will help set up, and provide helping hands where needed.

Easy entrees add fiesta flavor to Cinco de Mayo celebrations

Cinco de Mayo, the fifth of May, is a great time to gather friends for a fiesta. One of Mexico's most enthusiastically celebrated holidays, it commemorates a day-long battle in 1862 in which a poorly equipped Mexican army, outnumbered three to one, triumphed over Napoleon's toughest troops as they tried to take over the country. The day is celebrated much like our Fourth of July, with parades and parties, fun and feasting.

Cinco de Mayo falls on Sunday this year. Why not join in the spirit of the holiday with a weekend fiesta? These two recipes from San Antonio's pace Picante Sauce Test Kitchens will make party preparations fuss-free. Each recipe can be prepared pronto, without exotic ingredients or hard-to-handle chiles.

Camarones al Mojo de Ajo (Spicy Shrimp in Garlic Sauce) is a boldly seasoned mix of shrimp and tomatoes with garlic and a splash of lime juice. Serve it over rice.

In a single-skillet Arroz con Pollo Pronto (Quick Chicken and Rice), golden brown, boneless chicken breasts heat atop a savory mix of rice, black beans and corn seasoned with picante sauce and ground cumin, one of Mexico's favorite seasonings. A sprinkling of Cheddar cheese completes the dish.

Team either entree with a salad of tossed greens, avocados, ripe olives and red onions, add a favorite dessert and your dinner is ready in no time.

CAMARONES AL MOJO DE AJO

(SPICY SHRIMP IN GARLIC SAUCE)

- 1 pound medium shrimp, peeled and deveined
- 2 tablespoons lime juice
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 5 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 can (14 1/2 ounces) whole peeled tomatoes, cut up
- 1/2 cup picante sauce
- 2 teaspoons chili powder
- 4 cups hot cooked rice

Place shrimp in shallow nonmetallic dish. Pour lime juice over shrimp. Toss to coat. Set aside.

In medium skillet over medium heat, heat oil. Add garlic and cook until tender. Add tomatoes, picante sauce and chili powder. Heat to a boil. Reduce heat to low. Cover and cook 10 minutes.

Add shrimp mixture. Cook 5 minutes or until shrimp turn pink. Serve over rice. Serves 4.

Prep time: 10 minutes Cook time: 20 minutes.

Delicious soup, salad, and dip full of beans

See Chef Larry Janes' Taste Buds column on front. Chef Larry Janes is a free-lance writer for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Inc. You can leave him a voice mail message by calling (313) 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, mailbox 1886.

Soup and beans are made for each other, and many times, leftover beans can be just the ticket for adding protein to a soup stock or extending the meat called for in some recipes.

This soup recipe is a Janes Gang family favorite — you won't believe how easy it is to make — and it tastes better after a day or two in the refrigerator!

SIX BEAN SOUP

1/4 cup each dry baby limas, whites, blackeyes, garbanzos, pinks and kidney beans
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped carrot
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup minced parsley
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 envelopes (2 ounces each) chicken noodle soup mix
1 bay leaf
1 cup fresh or canned tomatoes, chopped
Grated Parmesan cheese for topping

Soak beans by preferred method. (To maintain color of beans, soak beans separately) Drain. Cook onion, celery, carrot, pepper, parsley and garlic in butter or margarine until tender, about 5-7 minutes.

Combine cooked vegetables with soup mix, 2 quarts water, bay leaf and soaked beans. Simmer, barely covered, about 1½ hours. Stir in diced tomato. Serve generously sprinkled with Parmesan cheese. Makes about 1 gallon, about 16 – 1 cup servings.

Chef's secret: You make this soup vegetarian by using a dry vegetable broth mix in place of the chicken soup

Here's a heart-healthy dish that can be served for lunch, brunch, dinner with guaranteed compliments!

CURRIED BEAN AND RICE SALAD

1 teaspoon curry powder
1 tablespoon margarine
3/4 cup chicken broth or bouillon
1/3 cup uncooked brown rice
1/4 cup celery, chopped
1 bunch green onions, chopped
1/2 green pepper, seeded and chopped
1 tablespoon lime juice
1½ cups drained canned beans (one 16 ounce can)
1/4 cup plain yogurt
2 tablespoons toasted slivered almonds (optional)
Salt and fresh ground pepper to taste
1 tomato, cut into wedges
1 hard-cooked egg, pressed through a sieve

Saute curry powder in margarine for several seconds to heighten its flavor. Stir in chicken broth; bring to a boil. Add rice; cover and simmer 20-30 minutes or until all liquid is absorbed.

Stir in celery, green onion, green pepper and lime juice. Toss to mix well and chill thoroughly. Stir in beans, yogurt, almonds and seasonings into rice mixture. Garnish with tomato and sieved hard-cooked eggs. Serves 4.

Chef's secret: This is delicious served with roast pork or chicken!

HUMMUS (GARBANZO BEAN DIP)

1/3 cup tahini (sesame seed paste)
1 – 16 ounce can garbanzo beans, drained
1/4 cup fresh squeezed lemon or lime juice
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
Pinch salt and a crackling of fresh ground pepper
2-3 tablespoons olive oil

In a blender or food processor, process tahini with beans until pureed. Add remaining ingredients and process until smooth. Serve with vegetable sticks or pita bread. Makes 1½ cups.

* Tahini can be found in most upscale grocery storesand Middle Eastern markets.

GRILLED SHRIMP

24-26 shrimp, peeled and deveined
6-8 wooden skewers, 4-inch
Marinade:
1 teaspoon ginger, freshly grated
1 tablespoon garlic
3 green onions, thinly sliced
1 jalapeno pepper, seeded and minced
1 cup vegetable oil
¼ cup tomato juice
1 tablespoon cumin
Prairie Salsa:
½ cup black beans, dried
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 teaspoon garlic, minced
1 small onion, diced
1 celery stalk, diced (including leaves)
1 Serrano chili, seeded and minced
3 cups chicken broth
1 medium tomato, peeled, seeded and diced
½ teaspoon cumin powder
1 cup corn, fresh and cut off of the cob
1 teaspoon basil, fresh
2 teaspoons cilantro, chopped
½ red pepper, sweet, diced
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lime juice

Put shrimp on wooden skewers. Mix all ingredients for marinade. Cover shrimp with marinade for 2 hours. Grill on medium heat until done.

Rinse and pick stones and dirt from black beans. Cover with cold water. Bring to a boil. Cover pot and steep for 10 minutes. Bring back to a simmer, cook gently until tender (about 1 hour).

Cook onions, celery and chilies in olive oil on medium heat in a large skillet until clear. Add corn and garlic, cook for 5 minutes. Add broth. Reduce by half.

Add cooked black beans to the corn mixture. Add basil, cumin, and cilantro. Season with salt.

Puree ½ of the mixture in food processor. Return to the pan. Add red peppers, lime juice and tomatoes. Keep warm; serve under grilled shrimp. Serves 6-8.

Recipe from: Chef Kevin Enright, president of the Michigan Chefs de Cuisine Association, and a culinary arts instructor at Oakland Community College, Farmington Hills.

CHEF'S CHOICE

ORZO PASTA WITH WILD MUSHROOMS, ROASTED SWEET ONIONS AND FRESH HERBS

2 cups orzo pasta, cooked and drained
4 tablespoons olive oil
2 cups wild mushrooms, coarsely chopped
4 garlic cloves, minced
1 sweet onion, sliced
2 teaspoons olive oil
2 tablespoons Balsamic vinegar
¼ cup parsley, coarsely chopped
1 tablespoon fresh thyme, chopped
4 tablespoons Parmesan cheese, grated
Salt and pepper to taste

Place 4 tablespoons oil in a large skillet. Saute mushrooms on high heat until softened. Add garlic and cook until juices dry up and mushrooms begin to brown.

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Toss sliced onion with 2 teaspoons oil and Balsamic vinegar and place on cookie sheet and roast in oven until onions begin to caramelize but retain crispness.

Combine orzo, mushroom mixture, onions and remaining ingredients. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Place on a platter and garnish with lemon wedges and fresh thyme sprigs. Serves 4.

Recipe from Chef Timothy Tout, Peter's Palate Pleaser, Bloomfield Hills

FROZEN LEMON SOUFFLE

12 eggs
8 ounces sugar
4 lemons
4 ounces butter

Separate eggs. Cook yolks, sugar, lemon juice and rinds over double boiler until thick. Add butter in pieces. Let cool.

Warm egg whites, whip until stiff. Fold into yolk mixture.

Place in cups and freeze.

Festive chicken dish sure to please guests at Cinco de Mayo celebration

See related story on Taste front. Recipe from San Antonio's Pace Picante Sauce Test Kitchen.

ARROZ CON POLLO PRONTO (QUICK CHICKEN AND RICE)

2 tablespoons vegetable oil
4 skinless, boneless chicken breast halves (about 1 pound)
1 cup uncooked regular long-grain rice
1 can (14 1/2 ounces) chicken broth
1 cup picante sauce
1 teaspoon ground cumin
1 can (about 16 ounces) black beans, rinsed and drained
1 cup frozen whole kernel corn
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

In medium skillet over medium-high heat, heat half the oil. Add chicken and cook 10 minutes or until browned. Set chicken aside.

Reduce heat to medium. Add remaining oil. Add rice and cook until browned, stirring constantly. Stir in broth, picante sauce and cumin. Heat to a boil. Reduce heat to low. Cover and cook 15 minutes.

Add beans and corn. Return chicken to pan. Top chicken with cheese. Cover and cook 5 minutes more or until chicken and rice are done and most of liquid is absorbed. Serves 4.

Prep time: 5 minutes Cook time: 35 minutes

Keep bugs out of pantry

Have you ever found tiny bugs in your pancake mix or little black spots in the rice?

"If you are, you aren't alone," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Michigan State University Extension, Oakland County Food and Nutrition Hotline.

"We received numerous calls from concerned people each month on various kitchen pests."

"It is generally not poor housekeeping that causes the problem, so don't feel guilty," said Treitman. Some insects may even come packaged inside the food, so you can't assume an unopened package is pest free.

If you find pests in your pantry, here's what to do:

- Clear off all shelves, drawers and food storage areas.
- Look the food items over carefully and throw away all infested food.
- If you are in doubt about a food, you may freeze it to kill any larvae.
- Clean empty cupboards with a household detergent. Pay careful attention to crevices _ scrape out corners and edges carefully.
- Insecticides need careful handling around food _ use caution and follow manufacturers' directions. Keep food out of cupboards several days or longer after spraying, if recommended.

Prevent pantry pests by:

- Buying quantities of food that can be eaten in a relatively short time
- Storing foods, especially grains, in glass jars or containers with tight fitting lids.

Heavenly cakes worth the extra effort

BY LOIS M. THIELEKE
SPECIAL WRITER

Angel food, angel cake, yellow angel, sunshine, sponge or chiffon, whatever you call these heavenly cakes, they are all worth the effort.

C

They all loved for their sponge-like, delicate texture and versatility. Simple garnishes for these cakes are the best by using frozen or fresh fruit or better yet just a light dusting of powdered sugar will make a perfect ending to a meal.

Angel food, sunshine, yellow angel are sponge-like cakes that are leavened chiefly by the expansion of air incorporated in an egg foam. A large proportion of egg white with a corresponding quantity of cream tartar contribute to optimum volume, texture, tenderness and color in angel cake. Cream of tartar stabilizes the egg foam, tenderizes the structure and whitens flour pigments.

Tips for success

Success making an angel cake depends on the degree to which the egg whites are beaten, the lightness with which the sugar and flour mixture are incorporated, and the temperature the cake is baked. It's easier to separate whites from yolks if eggs are cold, but egg whites will yield a large volume if allowed to stand at room temperature before separating and beating. Use eggs that are at least three days old for best results. Since eggs vary in size, some recipes state cup measurements, for instance, angel food cake calls for cups of egg whites. Cake flour will make a high rising angel flour cake, while unbleached all purpose flour makes a cake with more body, but it doesn't rise as high, so the choice is yours.

Reasons for angel and sponge cake coarse texture are under beaten egg whites, insufficient blending of ingredients or too slow of an oven. A tough cake is a result of too hot-of an oven, not enough sugar or over mixing. Cracks in the crust come from over beaten egg white, too much sugar or too hot an oven. An undersized cake can be from under beaten or over beaten egg whites, over mixing, too large a pan or removal from the pan too quickly.

Use fine granulated sugar which dissolves more readily and makes a cake with a finer texture. One of the most important steps in making a sponge cake is to beat egg yolks until they're as thick as whipped cream and lemon colored. Always cool angel and sponge cakes in an inverted pan. If the cake falls from the inverted pan, it is probably because the pan had been greased at one time. Be very careful not to grease this pan, as the batter clings to the side and the tube as it rises so the cake stays high and light.

Careful measurement and careful grease-free preparation are essential to good results. To make an angel food cake in a jelly roll pan, use half a recipe. The only time it's recommended is to grease a pan for sponge-type cake is when using a jelly roll pan or making angel food or sponge cupcakes. There is no fat in the angel food cake, but there are calories, so you'll have to watch how much you eat.

Work quickly so that the air that has been incorporated will not be lost. Sponge cake depends on egg yolks and egg white for leavening, each beaten separately and added at different times during the mixing. Sponge cakes can be made with or without baking powder. The added baking powder does add volume.

Chiffon cake

Chiffon cake is a cross between a foam cake and a shortened cake. It uses oil instead of butter so it's moist and stores well. Fresh orange juice or lemon juice adds to its delicious light texture. Do not use olive oil in a chiffon cake, the flavor is too strong. There is a difference in mixing procedure so do not substitute oil for solid fat. Find a recipe that is proportioned correctly for oil. The egg whites in a chiffon cake must be beaten so stiff that they begin to lose their gloss.

Always use a serrated or bread knife or an electric knife to slice these cakes. Cut with a sawing motion and don't press down or you'll compress the cake. The only other bit of advice is as my grandmother always said, make these types of cakes on a sunny day with low humidity, the cake will be lighter and fluffier.

These cakes are difficult to make and certainly are a wonderful ending to a meal.

Poach fruits in a simmering bath of flavor

If you thought poaching was just for eggs, you're in for a real treat. This simple, low-fat cooking method brings out the natural, rich flavor and sweetness of fruit to make delicious desserts.

Poaching basically involves placing the fruit in a pan of simmering liquid and covering it with a tight-fitting lid. The steam that accumulates bastes the food, lending it the delicate flavor of the poaching liquid. Fruits are poached in sweetened water or fruit juices or in sweet white wine.

Use a two-to-one sugar to liquid ratio for poaching. The high sugar concentration causes the fruit to retain its shape while softening.

Additional flavorings can be added to the poaching liquid, including vanilla extract, grenadine syrup, cloves, ginger, anise seed or cinnamon.

Firm fruits, such as apples, pears, plums, peaches and nectarines, are best for poaching and it's important that the fruit be ripe but not overripe. Unripe fruit lacks flavor and overripe fruit won't keep its shape and texture.

While cooking times vary depending on the size of the fruit, the following list will give some guidance. Do not overcook – fruit is done when easily pierced with a fork.

- Apples (4), peeled and cored — 10 to 12 minutes
- Peaches (4), peeled, halved and pitted — 5 to 7 minutes
- Nectarines (4) peeled, halved and pitted — 5 to 7 minutes
- Pears (4 large), peeled, halved and cored — 10 to 12 minutes
- Plums (8 to 10), whole fruit, prick each with a fork — 7 to 10 minutes

Brush all fruits, except plums, with lemon juice to prevent browning.

Fruit can also be poached in a microwave oven. Use fruit or fruit pieces of approximately equal size and the same degree of ripeness. Poach fruit in a round dish, arranging it with the broadest ends toward the outside of the dish, and cover with a lid or vented plastic wrap. Cooking time will be slightly shorter than on the stovetop (be sure to test for doneness). The dish should be rotated and the fruit basted with liquid and turned over every few minutes. If you allow the fruit to stand after cooking, more of the flavorful liquid will be absorbed.

Sprinkle poached fruit with a little ground cinnamon, garnish with other fresh fruit such as raspberries or strawberries, or top with chocolate sauce.

Poached Pears with Chocolate Sauce

2 1/2 cups water
7 tablespoons granulated sugar
Grated rind and juice of 1 lemon
1 cinnamon stick
4 pears
4 tablespoons chocolate sauce

In a large saucepan, combine the water, sugar, lemon rind, lemon juice and cinnamon stick. Bring to a boil, stirring until the sugar is dissolved.

Peel, halve and core the pears. Add the pears to the boiling syrup. (Pears should be covered in liquid; if not, double the amount of poaching liquid or poach in batches). Reduce the heat to medium-low and simmer gently for 15 to 20 minutes or until pears are almost tender (pears will continue to cook while cooling). Remove from the heat and let pears cool in the liquid.

Drain the pears thoroughly and pat dry on paper towels. Arrange the pear halves on individual plates. Drizzle with chocolate sauce and serve at room temperature.

- Poaching is also a favorite way to cook chicken in many cuisines throughout the world, yet it is not common with American cooks. Poaching is a fat-free cooking method that's ideal for lean and healthful meals. Whether you poach in chicken stock, wine or water flavored with herbs and aromatic vegetables, poaching is an easy way to deliciously flavor the tender, moist meat.

The subtle flavor of poached chicken pairs well with zesty condiments. Swiss Chicken uses chicken broth and evaporated skim milk to achieve a rich, smooth sauce without excessive fat.

Swiss Chicken

6 boneless, skinless chicken breasts
3/4 cup chopped onion
3 cloves garlic, minced
1 1/2 to 2 cups chicken broth
1 cup evaporated skim milk
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
1/4 teaspoon pepper
4 tablespoons brandy
1 teaspoon dried tarragon (optional)

In a skillet, poach the chicken, onion, and garlic in chicken broth until the chicken is almost done, about 10 minutes. Drain the broth from the pan, and add the evaporated milk, mushrooms, pepper, brandy and tarragon. Simmer 5 minutes more. Each of the six servings contains 222 calories and 4 grams of fat.

Bake great breakfast breads with less fat

Home bakers can leave the high tech fat substitutes to the scientists who created them and still turn out leaner muffins, coffee cakes and other breakfast treats that taste terrific. How? By following a few, simple lower-fat baking how-tos.

- Cut back on the amount of fat (butter, margarine, shortening or oil) in a recipe, but don't eliminate it altogether. Baked goods made without any fat tend to be tough because fat is what makes baked goods tender. Depending on the recipe, applesauce and other fruit purees, canned pumpkin, and plain non-fat or low-fat yogurt can be substituted for part of the fat. While it's possible in many cases to reduce the amount of fat by as much as one-half, it's wise to eliminate a little less fat the first time to be sure you're happy with the flavor and texture.
- Measure ingredients accurately, especially the flour. To measure flour, stir first then lightly spoon into a dry nested measuring cup until overflowing. Level by sweeping a straight-edged spatula or knife across the rim of the cup. Use a glass measure with a pouring spout to measure liquid ingredients.
- Mix batters as little as possible. After adding the liquid ingredients to the dry ingredients, stir just until the dry ingredients are moistened. Overmixing develops the glutten in the flour, which can make muffins and other quick breads tough.
- Be sure not to overbake. Begin checking for doneness a minute or two before the time given in the recipe. When a wooden pick inserted in the center of muffins (and coffee cakes) comes out with a few moist crumbs clinging to it, the muffins are done.

Honey Lime Oat Muffins, developed in the Quaker Oatmeal Kitchens, weigh in at 200 calories and 3 grams of fat. For a flavor twist, substitute lemon or orange peel and juice for the lime.

Honey Lime Oat Muffins

Muffins:
1 cup oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
One 8-ounce container plain nonfat or low-fat yogurt
1/3 cup honey
1/4 cup skim milk
3 tablespoons margarine or butter, melted
2 teaspoons grated lime peel
2 egg whites, slightly beaten
1 1/3 cups all purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt (optional)
Glaze:
1/4 cup powdered sugar
4 teaspoons lime juice
1 teaspoon grated lime peel

Heat oven to 375 degrees F. Line 12 medium muffin cups with paper baking cups or spray bottoms only with no-stick cooking spray. In large bowl, combine oats with yogurt, honey, milk, margarine and lime peel. Let stand 10 minutes.

Stir in egg whites until blended. Add combined dry ingredients; mix just until dry ingredients are moistened. Fill muffin cups almost full. Bake 20 to 24 minutes or until light golden brown. Let muffins stand a few minutes; remove from pan. Cool slightly.

For glaze, combine powdered sugar, lime juice and peel; mix until smooth. Dip muffin tops in glaze.

Ginger Oat Crumb Cake

Topping:
1/3 cup oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 to 3 tablespoons finely chopped crystallized ginger or 1 teaspoon ground ginger
3 tablespoons butter or margarine chilled
Cake:
1/4 cups boiling water
1 cup oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
5 tablespoons margarine or butter, softened
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/4 cups all purpose flour
1 tablespoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/4 teaspoon salt (optional)

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Lightly grease and flour a 9-inch square or 11 by 7-inch baking pan. For topping, combine oats, flour, sugar and ginger; mix well. Cut in margarine until mixture is crumbly; set aside.

For cake, pour boiling water over oats; set aside. Beat sugars and margarine until well blended. Add egg whites and vanilla; mix well. Add oat mixture and combined remaining dry ingredients; mix just until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour batter into prepared pan. Sprinkle with topping mixture. Bake 50 to 60 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on wire rack. Serve warm or at room temperature. Serves 12.

Make time for '8 Seconds'

By LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

The life and career of the Oklahoma cowboy is the subject of a fairly standard biopic "8 Seconds" directed John Avildsen of "Rocky" fame.

From the time Lane Frost was a little kid, his life was tied up with the rodeo. His event was bull riding _ the same as his father, a retired rodeo champion himself. The film opens in 1968 with home movies of a little boy dressed in chaps and a cowboy hat riding on a sheep.

After competing in teen rodeos, Frost, played by Luke Perry, joins two buddies to start traveling the professional rodeo circuit. Frost is a nice guy. Unlike the other cowboys, he always stops to sign autographs and talk to the kids who hang around after competitions. "The rodeo isn't about money. It's about doing your best and helping others do their best," says Frost.

A nice performance by Perry helps Frost from becoming a parody of a clean living cowboy. He meets future wife Kellie , a champion barrel racer, at a rodeo. She isn't impressed with bull riders. "Little men, big egos," observes Kellie, played by Cynthia Geary.

Things are going pretty well for Frost after his marriage including his first national championship in 1987. A lifelong frustration and source of personal conflict has been his relationship with his father who can't ever seem to be satisfied with his son's accomplishments.

Success also takes its toll on the Frost marriage as Lane is driven to try and impress his father with greater glory on the rodeo circuit and through the related lucrative merchandising.

Kellie and Lane work out their problems and a kind of peace is reached with his father before the film ends in 1989 with Lane's death in a rodeo accident.

"8 Seconds," which take its title from the amount of a time a rider must stay on the bull to receive a score in competition, is a well-acted film.

The film avoids the stereotypical big event to culminate the film. To an extent that also works against the film. The film is tremendously low key, even when it comes to the rodeo competitions. But you have to give the film credit for presenting Frost is a realistic manner _ a basically level-headed guy who has to deal with some personal relationships like pretty everybody else.

The supporting cast is also good including Stephen Baldwin as Frost's buddy and fellow rodeo champion Tuff ß _ a rowdy mirror image of Frost.

MADD seeks funds

The Wayne County Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving is facing financial difficulties and hopes upcoming fundraisers will help keep the chapter open.

The local chapter of MADD is facing a financial strain that has threatened to close the local office, which is in Westland.

Chapter administrator Jenny Tomaszewski has left the chapter and the state office of MADD says the position cannot be filled because of a lack of funds, Bob Totten, vice president of the Wayne County MADD chapter, said in a letter to members.

Also Chuck Bigelow, the local victim advocate/volunteer coordinator who has been on medical leave because of car accident injuries, cannot return to his position, according to Totten.

"We are appealing to you to help us with two fund-raisers that will help to either make or break MADD, Wayne County," Totten said in a letter.

The first fundraiser is coming up. Fairlane Town Center will travel back in time to the 1950s from 8 p.m. to midnight on Saturday, May 4, as part of a fundraiser.

"Cruisin' the '50s" is a MADD fundraiser for victim programs in Wayne County. All food for the event is being donated by A&W in Fairlane Town Center and Snapple.

The Larados will provide the music for the evening. A hula hoop contest and a bubble gum bubble blowing contest are planned. Earth Angels, a teenage lip synch group from Westland will also perform.

A silent auction is scheduled to run throughout the evening; items to be auctioned include a week's stay at a beachfront condo in Florida.

Tickets for the event are $20 a person, $30 a couple. Tickets are available by calling (313) 721-8181 or at the door. The mission of Mothers Against Drunk Driving is to stop drunken driving and to support the victims.

As part of its 20th anniversary celebration, Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn has opened to 20, metro-area nonprofit organizations for fund-raising purposes. Each charity receives a $5,000 donation from Fairlane Town Center in addition to the use of the facility, free valet parking and coat check.

Another fundraiser is planned for June 15 when "Run From the Heart," a 5K run/walk will be held in Hines Park in honor of Caryn Casaz, who was killed by a drunken driver while jogging in Hines Park in Westland.

Send donations to the chapter at 515 N. Wayne Road, P.O. Box 85570, Westland, 48185-0570. Phone (313) 721-8181.

Run fights brain tumors

Detroit Lions linebacker Tracy Scroggins will serve as honorary chairman of the first annual "Wally's Walk and Fun Run" to benefit the American Brain Tumor Association on Saturday, May 4, at Merriman Hollow in Edward Hines Park in Westland.

Wally's Walk and Fun Run is organized by Donna Zalewski, a Detroit Edison employee whose father, Wally Regula, lost a battle with a cancerous brain tumor in 1993. "My father lost his life to a brain tumor, but his endless spirit brought encouragement to his family, doctors and fellow patients," Zalewski said. "This walk is not just in memory of my dad, but for all brain tumor patients and their families in hopes that a cure for this disease is found."

Entry fees are $10 a person before May 4 or $15 the day of the event. Registration is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. The event will feature a one-mile kids run at 10 a.m., a four-mile run at 10:30 and a 1-4 mile fun walk from 10:30 to 1 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded to the top 30 fundraisers with the grand prize being a weekend for two at Zehnders of Frankenmuth.

Detroit Edison's "Louie the Lightning Bug" and Little Caesar's "Pizza Pizza Man" will be on hand to entertain children.

For more information, call (313) 235-3730.

Auction aids scholarships

Madonna University raised $275,000 at its eighth annual "Around the World" scholarship dinner auction April 19 at Burton Manor in Livonia.

More than 500 attended.

Some of the items sold included: four tickets to a Notre Dame home game with accommodations, $4,500; ladies aquamarine and diamond ring, $3,000; a party at Laurel Manor, $2,300; digital piano, $2,250; four Red Wing playoff tickets, $1,100; and a morning on WOMC, $1,000.

Vacation destinations, donated by Northwest Airlines, included San Francisco, Europe, Honolulu, and Minneapolis.

All 500 tickets for the 1996 Cadillac Sedan DeVille, donated by Don Massey of Don Massey Cadillac, were sold, raising $100,000. Dennis Stark of Garden City won.

"We feel blessed each year to have so many people supporting our auction," said Sister Mary Lauriana, vice president for advancement. "The money raised will go to the endowed scholarship fund which will help Madonna students both now and in the future."

The official and royal sponsor for the scholarship auction are Don Massey Cadillac, Northwest Airlines and Kimcraft Printers Inc.

Tickets are still available for an afternoon at Ladbroke DRC May 11. A $50 donation to the fund is for admission, a buffet lunch beginning at noon and a daily racing program book.

Reserve tickets by Friday by calling (313) 432-5588.

NOTICE OF LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION OF THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE OAKLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT FOR THE ELECTION TO BE HELD ON MONDAY, JUNE 10, 1996

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE OAKLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the regular biennial election for the Oakland Community College district shall be held on Monday, June 10, 1996, in conjunction with the regular elections of component school districts.

Act 116, Public Acts of Michigan, 1954, as amended, provides in part as follows:

> The inspectors of election at an election or primary election in this state, or in a district, county, township, city or village in this state, shall not receive the vote of a person whose name is not registered in the registration book or listed on the computer registration precinct list of the township, ward, or precinct in which he offers to vote unless the person has met the requirements of section 507b.

The last day for receiving registrations for the election will be Monday, May 13, 1996. Persons residing in the Oakland Community College district registering after 5:00 p.m. on Monday, May 13, 1996 will not be eligible to vote at the election. Persons planning to register must determine when the city, township or village offices or Secretary of State drivers license bureau offices will be open for registration.

Only persons who have registered as general electors with the appropriate clerk of the city, township or village in which they reside, or through registration with a deputy registrar or at a Secretary of State drivers license bureau, are registered electors of the Oakland Community College district.

Please take further notice that only registered school electors residing in the Oakland Community College area of any component school district will be eligible to vote at the regular biennial election of Oakland Community College.

The regular biennial election for the Oakland Community College district shall be held on Monday, June 10, 1996 in conjunction with regular elections being held by component school districts. At this election, two trustees shall be elected to the Board of Trustees of Oakland Community College for regular 6-year terms beginning July 1, 1996 and ending June 30, 2002.

This Notice is given by the order of the Board of Trustees of Oakland Community College, State of Michigan.

Quest complete

The Canton Quest, an under-13 premier girls indoor soccer team, collected its division championship in the third indoor session at Total Soccer in Southfield.

Team members are Stephanie Altepeter, Rachel Berezak, Beth Burgess, Lacey Catarino, Jade Furuda, Liz Gizicki, Brandi Groves, Leslie Hogan, Stephanie Johnson, Katie Kelly, Emily Lambros, Amanda Lentz, Meghan Meier, Kellee Mullen, Sarah Pack, Danielle Portelli, Terry Schroeder and Ashley Williams.

The team is coached by Ellen Schroeder and Pat Hogan. Pat Hogan serves as team manager and John Boots is team trainer.

Joining up

Nothing like getting in on the ground floor.

That's what Rebecca Brown will be doing. The freshman at Pittsburgh from Plymouth Canton HS, was one of 17 current students who were selected as members of Pitts' new women's soccer team, which will begin intercollegiate play this fall.

Forty-three players tried out for the team and new coach Roland Sturk..

Team leader

The University of Detroit Mercy lost to Michigan State last week, 6-5, but junior first baseman Ed Gundry (from Plymouth Salem) continues to flourish for theTitans.

Gundry slammed a two-run double that helped U-DM overcome a 3-0 deficit and take a 5-4 lead. MSU tied it in the fifth and won in the ninth.

Gundry is hitting .364 with nine doubles, five home runs and 31 runs batted in.

Track times listed

Boys and girls track coaches from the Observerland area are urged to begin calling in their team's best performances.

Coaches may call in their top performances every Monday to sports editors Dan O'Meara (girls) and Steve Kowalski (boys). O'Meara may be reached at 953-2141; for Kowalski, the number is 953-2106.

If they are on their phones or away from their desks, callers may leave the information on their voice mail.

Also: Coaches may prefer to FAX their top listings to us. The Observer FAX number is 591-7279.

Hockey host

Eastern Michigan University has been named as the host school for the 1997 American Collegiate Hockey Association's National Tournament. EMU's home arena, the Ann Arbor Ice Cube, will be the site.

The tournament will be March 4-8 and will feature the ACHA's top-10 teams. the EMU Eagles were fourth in the tournament in '96; their best finish came in '94, when they were tournament runner-ups.

Baseball tournament

The Washtenaw Amateur Baseball Association will host a youth baseball tournament June 28-30 at the Canton Softball Center. There will be five age divisions, with a three-game guarantee. Division winners will advance to the playoffs.

Cost is $200 per team, which includes umpire fees. Age divisions are 9-10, 11, 12, 13 and 14. Teams from Indiana and Ohio are expected to compete.

For more information, call Mike Depuit at (313) 485-3753 or at his pager at (810) 617-8428.

Fishing Derby

The ninth-annual Kids Fishing Derby is slated for 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday, May 11 at Heritage Park ponds.

The ponds will be stocked with rainbow trout, with awards presented fo r largest fish caught. First prize is a $100 savings bond.

The derby is open to Canton-area boys and girls 15 years old and younger. Advanced registration, in person or by phone, is required. Registration cost is $1.

Registration ends May 9. Again, this competition is for Canton residents only. For more information, call 397-5110.

Holowicki cage camps

Registration is on for Bernie Holowicki's All-Star basketball camps (four different sessions) this summer.

Boys camps will be from from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, June 17-21 and 24-28 (cost $99 each) at Madonna University.

The girls camp will be 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Saturday, July 1-6 (cost $99) followed by the coed shooting camp, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, July 8-12, both at St. Robert Bellarmine School in Redford.

The camp includes contests, prizes, T-Shirts, awards, guest speakers and and tournaments.

Salem spills North; Hawks rip Canton

Plymouth Salem boys track coach Geoff Baker had expected a lot more from his team when it competed in a pair of relay events April 19-20. On Thursday against visiting North Farmington, he got it.

The Rocks ran their dual-meet record to 3-0 overall and to 2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Lakes Division with a 91 1/2-46 1/2 trouncing of the Raiders.

Salem had a pair of double-winners in the field events: Dave Hester in the shot put (41-feet, 3 1/2 -inches) and discus (112-4), and Andres Lopez in the high jump (5-6) and long jump (18-10).

The Rocks also won six of eight individual track events, and three of four relays. In the individual events, winners were Dan Johnson in the 110-meter hurdles (15.5); Rob Hawley in the 300 hurdles (42.6); Chris Mason in the 100 (11.5); Jason Barylski in the 400 (50.6); Scott Pengelly in the 800 (1:58.7); and Ken Blankertz in the 3,200 (11:07.0).

Lawrence Nunn, Kevin Conte, Johnson and Scott Kingslien teammed for a win in the 800 relay(1:35.6); Pengelly, Jared Biniecki, Scott Loewe and Barylski combined in the 1,600 (3:37.2); and Andy Briggs, Pengelly, Charlie Schmidt and Biniecki were first in the 3,200 (8:16.3).

Plymouth Canton

Sure, Plymouth Canton is improved. But the Chiefs aren't quite ready to move up into Farmington Harrison's bracket.

On Thursday, the Hawks pulled away from Canton for a 79-58 trimph at Harrison. The loss left Canton with a 1-2 overall dual-meet record, 1-1 in the WLAA's Western Division.

As anticipated, the Hawks dominated the field events, the hurdles and the sprints. Canton's strength came in the mid-distance and distance events. The two teams split the relays.

Chiefs still rule in WLAA

Perhaps it really isn't much of a surprise. Canton and Salem have always fielded the WLAA's best girls track teams. This year, a showdown is looming.

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR

Well, now it apparently is down to a two-team race. And they're separated by just a few yards of parking lot.

In the pre-season, Plymouth Canton girls track coach George Przygodski predicted that his Chiefs' reign as rulers of the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division could end. That their position as the conference's best team was definitely in jeopardy.

The team he selected to mount the biggest challenge was Farmington Harrison. Plymouth Salem, Przygodski said, was right there with the Hawks, with his Canton team trailing both.

On Thursday, in what was supposed to be a key divisional dual meet, the Chiefs didn't trail anybody. They ran visiting Harrison right back to Farmington, downing the Hawks 90-38.

So much for Przygodski's future as a psychic on a track hotline.

In regards to Harrison, he was right about one thing: Devron Kennedy, whom he called the best individual talent in the WLAA. She did account for one of Harrison's two individual firsts, winning the 200-meters (27.5).

It was close for a while, Przygodski insisted. Going into the 400 relay, Canton's lead (34-21) wasn't insurmountable.

"The meet was relatively close at that point," the Canton coach said. "Then four events later, it was 66-21."

The Chiefs collected every point available in the 400 relay, the 400, the 300 hurdles and the 800.

Nkechi Okwumabua and Becky Wolfrom paced Canton with two individual wins each. Okwumabua won the long jump (16-feet, 5-inches) and the 100 (13.0); Wolfrom was first in the 1,600 (5:52.6) and the 3,200 (12:43.8).

Mary Anderson won the 100 hurdles (16.5) and Nancy Hoffman was first in the 300 hurdles (49.4). The Chiefs other winners in the field events were Brandy Bernard in the discus (97-9) and Kelly Smith in the high jump (4-10).

Becky Uryga won the 400 (1:02.1) and Angkana Roy was first in the 800 (2:38.1). Alina Boyden, Tiffany Williams, Kim Robertson and Okwumabua combined to capture the 400 relay (52.3), and Brooke Larson, Amy Klim, Roy and Uryga teammed for a first in the 3,200 (10:40.0).

So: Is Harrison that short of those pre-season expectations? Przygodski wouldn't say that, necessarily. "I think the score was indicative of how strong our team is," he said.

There are all sorts of reasons Canton has been so dominant - 11 straight divisional titles to its cred-

Wrestling return

After long layoff, teacher proves he's still a mat master

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK
STAFF WRITER

John Demsick teaches physical educcation in the Plymouth-Canton school system at Flossie B. Tonda and Nellie E. Bird elementaries.

He teaches lessons about life on wrestling mats, in the gym and on the track.

And one of the biggest lessons youngster should learn from Demsick's example is that age might eventually slow you down -- but it doesn't have to stop you.

"Working with young ones," Demsick said, "they need someone who has a lot of energy. I started with a lot of energy, and I've been able to stay with it."

For a certainty.

Demsick, 43, recently went to Tulsa, Okla., and struck oil. Okay, it was more like gold.

He won the national Folk Style wrestling tournament in the 126-pound category for men age 40 and above.

Not a bad feat, but not quite enough for Demsick.

He also wrestled in the age 30-and-up category -- and finished second.

"In some ways I'm prouder of the second accomplishment," said the father of four wrestling sons. "I'm a Christian and He honored me by allowing me to have a chance to do that."

Next year Demsick is toying with the idea of trying opponents in the 135-pound weight category, the 5-foot-7 teacher's everyday weight.

Folk Style wrestling is what used to be called

it. Here's another, courtesy of the Chiefs' coach:

"We focus our team on racing," he explained. "We never emphasize times and then race from that standpoint. We emphasize racing more.

"We tell them to learn to race and the times will come."

They have. And so have the championships. The only team that apparently can pose a threat to the Chiefs' dominance in the WLAA is Salem.

By the way: The Mangan Meet is next Tuesday (May 7).

Plymouth Salem

Track teams, like the kids who run for them, should have good finishing kicks.

Plymouth Salem's team ran over North Farmington, 78-50, Thursday night, raising its record to 2-0 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association and 3-0 overall.

"We're coming off four meets in seven days," coach Mark Gregory said. "We came through them real strong. We finished up stronger than we started last April 18."

Kimberly Sheldon and Kristie Giddings were in on three firsts for the Rocks while "Jessica Ash was outstanding in the shot put," Gregory said. She won with a 35-9 1/2 effort.

"Giddings had an excellent meet for us and Sheldon was outstanding," he said.

Sheldon won the 100-meter hurdles in 18.1 and also took the 300, in 51.9. She ran the third leg of Salem's 4:26.9 winner in the 1,600 relay. Giddings, Sara Vida and Katie Bonner also participated.

"What really helped us," Gregory said, "was that we swept the shot put and both hurdle races.

"In the shot, Angie Smith was second in 33-4 and Lisa Smith third, a skinny half-inch behind. Van Hees and Hannah Watts ran 2-3 in both hurdle events."

Giddings also led off the winning 3,200 relay, where Evelyn Rahhal, Kathy Jost and Jennifer Burke contributed to a first-place time of 10:56.4. Giddings won the 800 with a 2:28.5 clocking. The Rocks got a first from Kristin Kosik in the high jump, where she beat teammate Nicole Van Hees at 5-0 on fewer misses.

Salem's Ellen Stemmer was an individual winner, too, taking the 1,600 in 5:40.3, while Nicole Bolton captured the 3,200 in 13:04.

"I'm real pleased with the progress of our team right now," Gregory said. "We're improving, becoming more competitive."

events came in the discus, from Kevin Keil (110-8). Ian Bedford was masterful in the distances, winning both the 1,600-meters (4:39.0) and the 3,200 (10:30.0).

Evan Crocket was 1st in the 800 (2:12.2) and Jon Page finished on top in the 400 (54.2).

Canton's distance relays were also best: the 1,600 team of Crocket, Ben Nelson, Jason Falardeau and Page (3:42.4) and the 3,200 team of Crocket, Craig Brunskole, Jason Rutter, and Page (9:30.0).

Collegiate, different than the Freestyle and Greco-Roman wrestling you see in the Olympics (if you have ESPN IV).

Demsick got into wrestling by accident, left it for dance, then returned to the sport as a father when his sons showed an interest in it.

"Once my boys got the interest, I said, 'Okay, it's time to stir this up again. Time to start doing it with them."

He lives in Pittsfield Township and coached his two oldest sons, John-Peter and Robert, while they were at St. Paul's Lutheran school. He now helps out with the varsity at Ann Arbor Huron, where his sons are enrolled.

A lot of his help is wrestling the wrestlers, advancing their technique and keeping himself in shape.

"I said to myself, 'I'm in great shape. It would be fun to (participate in a tournament).' In my day, there were maybe four tournaments a year. Now there's a tournament every weekend."

"I figured that after about a year, my kids would probably have more medals and trophies than I did."

So Demsick entered a statewide Folk Style tournament in Olivet.

"I thought there was a Master's Division," he said, "but four days into training I found out there wasn't. When I got there, I wrestled all 20- and 21-year-old guys.

"I wrestled an Olivet (College) varsity guy for third place, and pinned him in the third period. I was one year older than his dad. That was an achievement for me."

John-Peter, a sophomore and an All-City wrestler, accompanied his father to the Tulsa event.

"We wrestled over Easter break," Demsick said. "We wrestled on Good Friday, then on Saturday night into Easter. John-Peter and I had part of our eastern celebration right there."

It took cross-country to get Demsick, a 1971 graduate of Dearborn High, into wrestling.

"I was always very small," he said. "When I got to high school, I went out for cross-country. There were 33 guys on the team -- and I was 33rd.

"Eventually, I beat three of them -- and all three of them quit. 'When you beat me,' they said, 'it's time to quit.'

"Well, when cross-country quit, I immediately went into wrestling the next day. To my shock, I was able to compete against guys my size. By the end of my first year, I was on the varsity.

"My second year there were just two of us juniors. They gave me the 'Most Guts' award. I was captain and had a chance to beat a few state champions my senior year."

Demsick was injured and had to miss the state championship meet as a senior but he did get a scholarship offer from Wayne State. Which he turned down.

He walked on at Michigan and wrestled on the junior varsity for one season. Then he quit to get into dance, where he was offered a scholarship. "To me, it was just another active challenge.

"I felt bad. Because I'd beaten four different state champions (two from Ohio, one from Michigan and one from Delaware) and never really got something to show for it. I never got a chance to complete my wrestling."

He has now. But he also fits wrestling into a lifestyle that you could not call hectic only if you could say there is no wood in a forest.

He handles a jump rope team that tours schools and uses its skills to show students that what looks extraordinarily difficult can be attainable with diligence.

He works out with weights twice a week, does a seven-mile run once a week and plays racquet ball once a week.

"I've been teaching elementary physical education for 19 years," Demsick said. "I jump rope, run, do warmup exercizes with each group. Six classes a day.

"I always feel you need to be, whatever you do for a living, you need to be in shape. Otherwise, you drag through your work."

You can't accuse Demsick of dragging himself through his work. Through his life, either.

Salem, Canton post victories; now face major tests

There's been a lull in the schedule for both Plymouth Salem's and Plymouth Canton's soccer teams.

Not that they haven't been playing. They have. It's just that the competition hasn't been all that tough.

Last Monday, Salem routed North Farmington 8-0 while Canton handled Farmington 5-0. On Wednesday, it was more of the same, although the names were changed: Salem bested Farmington Harrison 3-0, while Canton clobbered Livonia Franklin 10-0.

"It wasn't very nice," admitted Canton coach Don Smith after his team's lopsided win, the Chiefs' sixth straight. Franklin, Smith insisted, wasn't that bad. There were just, well, extenuating cirmcumstances.

"I was pushing our girls pretty hard," he explained. "We've got three tough games coming up next week."

Indeed the Chiefs do. And Salem's schedule is nearly as imposing.

The Rocks went up against state-ranked Troy Athens last Saturday. They have Franklin today and Adrian Saturday, hardly among the most difficult on their schedule. But in between, on Wednesday, it's the annual Canton-Salem matchup.

Besides Salem, the Chiefs must face Livonia Churchill at 7 p.m. tonight at Canton in a match they must win to keep their hopes alive for a berth in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship final.

And to wind the week down, the Chiefs go against state-ranked Troy Friday.

So any lull in the past week or so has officially ended.

Against Harrison Wednesday, Salem gained its seventh win in eight matches, getting two goals in the first half - one from Leah Retherford, with an assist from Janel Davis, and another from Mia Sarkesian. Mari Hoff got the final goal, assisted by MIssy Simons.

Julie Buczek got the shutout in goal for Salem. Sara Kloosterman turned in a solid performance for Harrison in the nets.

The Rocks had an easier time with North last Monday, running up a 5-0 lead by halftime. Jodi Coyle scored three times and Hoff had two, with Jenny Storm, Meg Jenkins and Sarkesian each scoring one apiece.

In Canton's win over Franklin Wednesday, Melissa Marzolf notched three goals and added one assist and Kristie Drinkhahn got two goals and two assists. Emile Mejer and Lisa Tomasso each accounted for a goal and an assist, with Jennell Cobor and Beth Knight scoring one goal apiece.

Winning two matches by a 15-0 margin last week was no way to get ready for this week, Smith figured. Churchill will be Canton's first test since its opening loss to Northville.

"That's a big one for us," the Chiefs' coach said. "We've got to win that beat Salem two days later."

A tougher stretch of games won't come around until the end of the season, with the WLAA final followed by the state tournament.

Canton 3, Ladywood 0: Seven-straight wins. Seven-straight shutouts.

Since the Chiefs lost their opener to Northville, opponents have posted nothing but 0s against them. Friday's match with visiting Livonia Ladywood was no different: Canton led 1-0 at the half and frustrated the Blazer offense.

"They were a scrappy team," Canton coach Don Smith said of Ladywood. "They played a good ball game, and we needed that."

Beth Knight got the only goal of the first half, on an assist from Liza Reissenweber. The Chiefs got second-half goals from Jennell Cobor, on an assist from Melissa Marzolf, and from Dawn Koontz, with Marzolf again assisting.

Canton clips Falcons

It was a win, but it didn't come easily, and it sure wasn't pretty.

Plymouth Canton's softball team let Farmington build a three-run lead through 5 1/2 innings before rallying for an 8-7 victory Wednesday at Canton. The win evened the Chiefs' record at 3-3 overall; they're 1-2 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

A four-run fourth, followed by a single run in the fifth and two more in the sixth, allowed the Falcons to go up 7-4 going into the bottom of the sixth. Canton rallied to tie it in its half of the inning, then got the game-winner in the seventh on a bases-loaded walk to Shanna Bidwell.

Still, the Chiefs made it dramatic down to the end. They opened the seventh with singles by Tara Biro, Nicole Kovachevich and Angela Litwin to load the bases with no one out. But consecutive pop outs brought Bidwell to the plate with extra innings looming.

Fortunately for Canton, it didn't come to that. Six players had two hits apiece for the Chiefs: Litwin, Kovachevich, Biro, Jenny Sikora, Gretchen Hudson and Amy Lagrow. Bidwell scored two runs.

Hudson started and went six innings, allowing three hits and four walks with eight strikeouts. Sarah Carson relieved and pitched a scoreless seventh to get the victory.

"We didn't get the timely hits when we needed to, with runners on base," said Canton coach Jim Arnold. His team left 12 runners on base, and "that's a lot, too many," he added.

With his team's defense also a bit ragged - "They ran a lot on us, especially when runners were on first and third, we just weren't executing correctly" - it seemed fortunate the Chiefs escaped with the win.

Salem 12, W.L. Western 1: Plymouth Salem's four-run sixth invoked the 10-run mercy rule, keeping the Rocks' WLAA slate perfect at 3-0. They're 6-4 overall.

The sophomore battery of Jenny Trott and Stephanie Volpe again provided the difference. Trott tossed a five-hitter, walking four and striking out three in six innings.

Volpe went 4-for-4, including a two-run double to highlight a four-run first; she had six runs batted in in the game. Teri Walters added a hit and two RBI, and both Trott and Karen Prosyk collected two RBI apiece on a pair of bases-loaded walks.

"They're working great together," said Salem coach Bonnie Southerland of Trott and Volpe. "They're both very good competitors and heads-up ballplayers."

And they're keeping the Rocks in the hunt for the WLAA crown.

Canton 13, Northville 7: The Chiefs spotted Northville a 4-0 advantage in the first inning before turning it around to win their first Western Division game Friday at Northville, evening their record at 1-1. They are 4-3 overall.

Sarah Carson got the win, working the first six innings and giving up six runs.

Jenny Sikora paced the attack with three hits and an RBI. Nicole Kovachevich and Shanna Bidwell each had two hits, with Bidwell knocking in two runs and Kovachevich one. Tara Biro also had two RBI. Gretchen Hudson contributed a triple which led to a run.

Northville fell to 2-5 with the defeat.

PCA 14-19, Agape 4-4: Plymouth Christian Academy ripped Plymouth Agape Christian in a doubleheader Thursday.

Lisa LaRew pitched a three-hitter, struck out eight and walked seven to win the first game. Lisa Erickson went 3-for-3 and drove in three runs with a pair of doubles and a triple.

Carrie Whitaker drove in three runs in a three-hit game while Kim Rinzema went 2-for-4 and had two RBI.

PCA, which had 11 hits, broke through with six runs in the bottom of the fifth to reach the mercy level.

Erickson pitched the second-game win, permitting four hits while walking seven and striking out seven. She also contributed a two-run triple to her team's 3-2 record.

Rebekah Pugno went 3-for-4 and drove in a run, Rinzema went 3-for-3 with an RBI while Whitaker had two hits to drive in two runs.

PCA scored eight in the first and pounded out 12 hits.

Big inning leads to PCA triumph; Salem, Canton fall to WLAA foes

Plymouth Chrisitian Academy poured in 10 runs in the third inning, then had to hold on to beat Plymouth Agape Christian 13-11 in a baseball game Thursday at Griffin Park.

The win allowed the Eagles to improve their overall record to 3-5.

PCA's 10-run third, during which it sent 13 batters to the plate, allowed it to overcome a 3-2 deficit and go up 12-3. However, the Eagles managed just one more run, and Agape closed the gap to 13-11 with a six-run sixth.

PCA was paced by John Pugno and James Jones, who had two hits, two runs scored and two runs batted in apiece. Jones also pitched the final 1 2/3 innings to get the save, surrendering just one hit.

Nathan Bryan was the winning pitcher for the Eagles, going four innings and giving up three runs on three hits and three walks, with seven strikeouts.

BASEBALL

PCA also had a distinctive edge on the basepaths, stealing 16 bases, with Jones swiping home.

W.L. Western 9, Salem 0: Walled Lake Western's Andy Evans scattered six hits and walked just one while striking out eight in defeating Plymouth Salem Wednesday at Salem.

The loss went to Tom DeMetsenare (now 2-1), who gave up just one earned run in seven innings. He allowed eight hits and two walks.

The Warriors (7-5 overall) took advantage of four Salem errors. Western was errorless.

Dave Barker had two hits, one a double, for the Rocks. Justin Hulett had one, also a double.

"Evans got some of our inexperienced guys to strike out, but he certainly wasn't overpowering," said Salem coach Dale Rumberger. "We had some poor at-bats against him. We were flat. And our inexperience continues to hurt us defensively."

Farmington 8, Canton 4: Plymouth Canton let a 4-1 lead after three innings get away from it, falling victim to a four-run Farmington sixth Wednesday at Farmington.

The victory kept the Falcons unbeaten in the WLAA - until Friday, when they fell to Livonia Stevenson.

Marc Hazzard took the loss for Canton. Nick Latra won for Farmington, improving to 3-0.

Jason Bricker led the Chiefs with two hits. Chuck Archambeau had three hits and three RBI, with Latra adding two hits and three RBI. Latra's two-run single, Archambeau's one-run single and a wild pitch accounted for Farmington's runs in the sixth.

Where else could you get a $100,000 bonus for just doing a good job?

That's right– a $100,000 bonus for taking on one of the most challenging jobs in the brokerage business. It involves intensive training, brains, backbone, high energy, and a passionate interest in investing.

As a Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant, you'll need an ability to listen carefully, understand a client's needs, and then suggest appropriate investments. You're not selling, you're consulting. And it demands that you give your best effort–every day, all day.

Do you have what it takes to be a Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant? If you do, we'll make a major investment in you that includes a good salary, extensive support systems, and top-ranked research. And, if you're just getting into our business, we'll send you to our Financial Consultants' Professional Development Program, one of the toughest training courses in the financial community. We expect you to be very good. If you measure up to all our requirements, including best legal practices and sustained results over a ten-year period, we'll give you a bonus that could be worth $100,000.

If this sounds like an interesting job, sit down and write us a letter: Why you'd like to be a Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant. Enclose your resume, and if it looks like a good fit, you'll hear from us promptly.

The difference is Merrill Lynch.

Durable, fun-to-drive Jimmy is no sport brute

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures

When you look at sport utility vehicles, you generally think big.

Here's a smaller sport ute that can easily fit the person who has an active lifestyle and needs a fun-to-drive multi-purpose vehicle.

The 1996 GMC Jimmy, kissin' cousin to the Chevrolet Blazer, looks small on the outside, but is really a lot larger than you'd imagine. It's roomy even for the larger person. The best part is that it combines a high level of comfort and convenience features with a solid ride usually found in the larger luxury (read that high-priced) sport utilities.

The Jimmy tested was a 4-door all-wheel-drive model outfitted with the new Vortec 4300 engine. This 4.3-liter V6 has been around for awhile in the Jimmy and Blazer, but it's been heavily tinkered with this year.

The fuel injection system has been upgraded. The intake manifold is half cast aluminum and half composite material, which cut weight and improved insulation of the intake air. Other improvements include a stiffer cylinder block, a cast-aluminum oil pan, long-life coolant, low-distance spark-plug wires, platinum-tipped spark plugs and a new starter motor that's smaller, lighter and more durable.

ROAD TEST By Anne Fracassa

Sorry to get technical, but all that translates into a stronger, more reliable and more durable engine that measures up to a truck you can count on years down the road.

It's not uncommon to see people hold on to their vehicles for more than eight years. Car manufacturers are taking steps to allow you to keep them even longer.

As with all 1996 vehicles, the Jimmy is in full compliance with federal law and has OBD II — second generation on-board diagnostics. OBD II, simply, is a newfangled (yet sophisticated) way for your car or truck to tell you if something just isn't right.

OBD II constantly monitors fuel delivery and the evaporative storage system, catalytic converter, oxygen sensors, exhaust gas recirculation valve, manifold air temperature sensor, crankshaft and camshaft position sensors, air pump and ignition system. If any of those systems malfunction in any way, a "SERVICE ENGINE SOON" warning light illuminates on your instrument panel.

For example, if your oxygen sensor loses function, the light will go on. Before, there was no way to tell it wasn't working right. Untreated, your car would suffer premature wear on the catalytic converter. Ultimately, you would have to replace the converter, costing you a lot of money.

With all 1996 vehicles, all you do is take your vehicle to the dealer and a service technician, through computer diagnostics attached to your vehicle, will know exactly what's wrong without ever removing a part.

What that means for you and me is that the new 1996 vehicles have the lowest emissions ever, the car will last even longer than before and you'll have quicker first-time and lower cost on repairs of your engine-related problems. We all win.

Back to the Jimmy.

There are four models to choose from: The SL, SLS, SLE and SLT, in both 2-door and 4-door, ranging in price from $19,573 to $23,504. A 4-speed electronic automatic transmission with overdrive is standard on all Jimmys this year. Optional on the Jimmy 2-door is a 5-speed manual with overdrive.

The Jimmy is also available in four suspension packages. The "smooth-ride" suspension is suited to paved and improved roads, has a good cargo capacity and gives a smooth ride. The "Euro-ride" suspension is for paved and improved roads, has good cargo capacity and provides a touring or sporty ride.

The "off-road" suspension has traction control, is for rough and unimproved off-roading and has a firm ride. And the "Highrider" suspension has all that and is used primarily for recreational purposes. All suspensions allow for heavy-duty trailering. All are available on the 2-door Jimmy.

On the 4-door Jimmy, you can choose from smooth-ride, Euro-ride or luxury-ride suspensions. The luxury ride is for paved roads, provides good cargo capacity, allows heavy trailering and has a premium ride.

The Jimmy is comfortable and easy to get into and out of. Instrumentation is smartly arranged and easy to operate. Daytime running lights and dual air bags are standard on all Jimmys, as is brake/transmission shift interlock (you have to apply the brake to shift from park).

This is a solid vehicle for anyone interested in an upscale, sporty truck that's a pleasure to drive. It's versatile for anyone with an active lifestyle and it's functional for anyone from an at-home mom to a guy who likes a small, comfortable multi-purpose vehicle for work. For 20 grand, it's a bargain as well.

1996 GMC Jimmy

Vehicle class:
Compact sport utility vehicle.

Engine:
4.3 liter V6 (Vortec 4300).

Mileage:
17 mpg city / 22 mpg highway.

Where built:
Moraine, Ohio, and Linden, N.J.

Base price:
$19,573.

How Many Fluids?

(CCC) – How many fluids can be checked on a typical car? Four? Six? Ten? If you guessed ten, you're right. They're found in the:

1. Engine
2. Transmission
3. Braking System
4. Battery
5. Windshield Washers
6. Power Steering
7. Cooling System (antifreeze)
8. CV Joints/Rear Axle
9. Gas Tank
10. Air Conditioner

If you'd like to see a particular model tested or if you have a car question, send Anne Fracassa a message at AVANTI 1054, Avanti's America Online mailbox... Or comment through the Internet at AVANTI1054@aol.com
