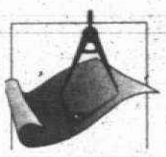
Parks, soccer fields planned



Soccer enthusiasts should be happy with Canton's plans for new fields, which are part of close to $1 million in recreation and parks improvements. A first step has been taken toward making it a reality.

BY CASEY HANS
STAFF WRITER

Major park improvements estimated at $975,000 are in the works for Canton, and the first step has been taken toward planning a multi-field soccer complex and building two new community parks with picnic sites, play areas and walkways.

"They may not get all this done this year, but we're going to try hard to get going," said Parks & Recreation Superintendent Mike Gouin. "We're doing everything we can to get started on these projects."

Canton trustees have approved $65,980 in architectural design fees to three firms to design the following proposed park areas. Actual costs for park development will be brought back to the board for approval. It is unknown at this time which township funds would finance development of the parks, Gouin said.

Cable studio planned for the Summit

Canton Township government plans to be running its own cable TV station by the end of the year.

Currently the township's limited programming is cablecast using Continental Cablevision's equipment in a building on Ronda Drive near Mettetal Airport.

But recently signed franchise agreements with Continental and Ameritech New Media Enterprises provide Canton government with a $325,000 grant to buy equipment and a 5-percent cut of the cable companies' gross revenue for the next 15 years.

The money will be used to build and staff a cable studio in the Summit center. The "studio" is presently no more than a large room with a dirt floor and cement-

Motorists are warned of seat belt enforcement

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Motorists plying Michigan Avenue and Ford Road through June 2 are advised to beware that Canton police are putting extra officers on the road to warn and punish people not wearing seat belts.

The additional enforcement is part of a federal government program whereby the Department of Transportation pays police departments for overtime expenses incurred while complying with the requirement to write a certain number of tickets and warnings.

The first enhanced enforcement period runs May 19 to June 2. The second period is June 27 to July 7.

Baseball teams want more playing area, too

As Canton officials prepare to upgrade the township's park system, organizers of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League are speaking up, saying they need more fields.

"Our concern now is the growth of the community and lack of playing fields," said Canton resident Milt Thackaberry, speaking at a recent Canton Township board of trustees meeting. He told trustees that his program competes with soccer: "our programs do overlap."

Thackaberry said his program has "imminent needs," not long-term ones for the program's 2,400 boys and girls age 7-16 who play from May through July. They currently use fields in Canton and Plymouth townships to practice and play games.

"Our field need is tremendous," he added. "we need it, like, yesterday."

The group presented petitions to the township board, signed by Canton and Plymouth residents, in support of their need. Thackaberry said his group will also approach Plymouth and Plymouth Township with their concerns.

Canton Parks & Recreation Superintendent Mike Gouin agreed that the community baseball program has needs, and he and his staff are talking with the baseball group. "We're going to do everything we can, just like we have with soccer, to take care of their problems and concerns," he added.

Thackaberry said basic needs would include eight lighted fields, which would allow night games. Field sizes would be 3 1/2 acres for older children, and 2.2 acres for younger players.

Trustee Melissa McLaughlin said her son is involved in the baseball program, and that she must drive him to Five Mile and Haggerty roads to practice. "The conditions of these fields are absolutely borderline dangerous," she added.

Beck Road being done by the Selective Group and Phoenix Development. The firm of Beckett and Raeder, Inc., was awarded this design project at a cost of $35,000, contingent on Canton receiving title to the property.

• Development of the 20-acre Sheldon/Palmer Park at the southwest corner of Sheldon and Palmer roads. Grissom/Metz, Inc. of Farmington Hills was awarded this design project at a cost of $20,300.

• Development of 9-acre Barchester Park, located on a vacant piece of property between Hanford and Barchester and Lilley and Morton Taylor. This was formerly owned by the Plymouth-Canton Schools. Carlisle/Wortman Associates, Inc. of Ann Arbor was awarded this design project at a cost of $10,680.

Other firms submitting proposals for the projects were Greiner, Inc. and Pollack Design.

Improvements to Heritage Park and Griffin Park-West are also planned this year, Gouin said, including some parking lot paving, pathways, pathway lighting and building storage in Heritage and general improvements in Griffin. Any Griffin Park improvements are tentatively on hold until site issues are resolved with a potential site for a new post office at Canton Center and Cherry Hill.

■ 'We want to be ready to go if and when a deal can be struck with the developer.'

Dan Durack
—director

Gouin said the park improvements follow up a community task force report done last fall, which called for more park space in the community.

The Soccer complex would be located at the corner of Denton and Proctor roads on a 40-acre site which would include up to 14 premier soccer fields, irrigation system, parking lot, playground and picnic areas, restoom/concessions at an estimated cost of $600,000.

Gouin said the proposed complex would "more than double" the current number of fields available within the Canton park system. If things move ahead as planned, he said, fields could be seeded by this fall and in use the following year.

Administrative and Community Services Director Dan Durack stressed that property must be titled to Canton before any work could commence. "No land – no plan," he said. "We want to be ready to go if and when a deal can be struck with the developer."

For the Barchester project, a playscape project, picnic area, asphalt walking paths and landscaping and parking areas would cost an estimated $125,000 to develop. "A passive neighborhood park is planned," Durack said. He added that the township would "be sure residents get input before the design is done."

Residents in the Sheldon/Palmer area will also have a design say in the park in their area. This project includes parking, landscaping, site work, picnic and playground area, walking paths, an open play area, and two practice soccer fields at a cost of $250,000. Durack said development of this park was an agreement made with adjoining neighbors several years ago.

For more information about project development, call Canton planning services, 397-5390; new subdivision and infrastructure projects, call Canton engineering services and public works, 397-5405; building and ordinance issues, call Canton building and inspection services, 397-5400.

■ Developers of Fellows Creek Estates subdivision have applied to Canton to construct the cluster development north of Ford Road, between Ridge and Beck. The subdivision would connect with Fox Run. The planning commission will consider rezoning the area to single-family residential (R-2, two units per acre) in July. Following rezoning approval, another public hearing is required for a special land use request.

■ Canton Glade Condominiums is proposed west of Haggerty Road, between Ford and Cherry Hill, just south of Bedford Villas. The site plan, which calls for 56 attached condominiums on 13. 5 acres, must obtain a variance for road length due to the location of wetlands on the site. The Department of Environmental Quality must grant a wetlands permit for the site before development may begin.

■ The site plan for the Centre Village Shopping Center will be presented to the Canton Board of Trustees at the May 28 meeting. Originally, the plan was scheduled for the board's May 14 meeting. Approval by the board is contingent on the successful rezoning of the project's Ford Road frontage, which is scheduled for discussion at the June 3 planning commission meeting. Centre Village will be on 20 acres, west of Canton Center, between Ford and Saltz. A new Kroger supermarket is part of the planned 160,000 square feet of retail space.

■ Weather permitting, construction is scheduled to begin may 13 on paving improvements in Canton Hills subdivision. North Drive, South Drive, Woodbrook Drive and Gold Arbor will receive driveway culvert repair, minor ditch work and street grading. The streets will be paved and the driveways will be tapered to meet the higher street grade. When the project is completed, any grass that is destroyed will be restored. Mailboxes will be relocated to the ends of the streets until construction is complete.

■ Auto One and Auto Lab on Canton Center Road, north of State Farm Insurance, is under construction. The shop backs up to the north branch of Fellows Creek.

■ The planning commission recommended approval of a rezoning request May 6 for a 100-acre parcel on both sides of Haggerty Road, north of Michigan Avenue and south of Palmer Road. The land is currently zoned mid-rise development. The developer request a change to research park. The developer addressed residents' concerns about aesthetics and berms. The township board will consider the rezoning June 11.

■ A planned development district for Echo Forest will be considered by the township board May 14. The project is on 28 acres south of Palmer and east of Lilley.

■ Planning commissioners May 6 recomended approval of a preliminary plan for the Woodcreek Planned Development District on 51 acres of land, west of Lilley, between Palmer Road and Michigan Avenue. The township board will consider the plan in the near future.

■ Planning commissioners also recommended approval of a site plan and special land use for Car Choice, a retail sales facility for used cars on 21 ares on the northeast corner of Ford and Lotz roads. The developer addressed concerns from the commission and resident about lighting, drive placement, exterior building color and landscaping and berms. The township board will consider the plan in the near future.

■ The Michigan Department of Transportation has closed two ramps onto I-275. They are on eastbound Ford Road to northbound Ford Road; and westbound Ford Road to southbound I-275. The ramps will be closed for approximately 30 days. Drivers heading east on Ford are directed to take I-275 south to Michigan Avenue, and then turn around to head north on I-275. Drivers heading west on Ford are directed to take I-275 north to Ann Arbor Road, and then turn around to head south on I-275. MDOT has set up detour signs indicating these alternate routes. The most advisable route is to avoid the area.

■ The paving of Beck Road, between Cherry Hill and Geddes roads, resumed May 15 and will likely continue into July.

■ The engineering plans for Wee Care For Kids, a daycare center, has been approved. Wee Care is a daycare center that will be on the northeast corner of Palmer and Sheldon roads. The project will now go to the township building division, where the necessary construction permits will be issued.

■ A reminder from the township building and inspection services: don't forget to get a permit before you build anything on your property. Call 397-5400 for more information.

■ The next scheduled planning commission meeting is 7 p.m. Monday, June 3.

Firm to relocate in Canton

STAFF P HOTO BY BILL BRESLER

A new beginning: Andrew Letvan and his wife, Diana, dig the first shovelfuls for their machine company that will relocate on Koppernick in Canton.

K&Y Screw Machine Corp. will relocate from Redford into a new and larger facility on Koppernick in Canton late this summer.

K&Y is a supplier to the automotive, marine and fire suppression industries. K&Y is no longer exclusively a screw machine contract manufacturer. K&Y's capabilities now include a wider range of processes, which include broaching, fabricating and grinding. By adding these services "in-house," K&Y maintains complete control over each job. This dramatically improves quality and delivery. As K&Y continues to widen its area of service, the company's name will change to K&Y Manufacturing Corp.

Les and Millie Yousey began K&Y aCs a critical component supplier in 1948 with U.S. Army pay that Millie saved during her husband's World War II tour of duty in Europe.

The couple built the company together over the next 30 years until Millie Yousey's death in 1978. Les Yousey continued working until his death in 1984. The Yousey's son-in-law, Andrew Istvan, joined K&Y in 1978 and has continued growth in the family manufacturing business. Istvan is a graduate of General Motors Institute with a degree in business administration. He and his wife, Diana, continue to work at the company.

The 28,000 square-foot building in Canton will allow space for K&Y's continued growth with room for more machinery and the continued development of technology. The new location will allow for building expansion, as well.

Trustees amend Summit budget by $500,000-plus to cover added costs

By Casey Hans
Staff Writer

The budget for the Summit on the Park has been increased by more than $500,000, but the chief administrator overseeing the new community center in Canton said he is confident that revenues will cover expenses for the year.

The budget was amended from $1.28 million to $1.82 million on May 14 by the Canton Township board.

Dan Durack, administrative and community services director for Canton Township, told the board that revenues have increased by more than 47 percent.

"We anticipate completing our first operational year with our revenues covering our operational expenses," he said in his report. "We exceeded our projected revenue for annual passes after the first month of operation."

Durack said the budget amendment was needed because the budget was done six months prior to the building opening, and they now have a better idea just how much operating the building will cost. Additional costs have included more part-time staff, especially during peak times, and a "substantial increase in contracted services," he said.

The cost of an independent contractor retained to market banquet and meeting services last fall was also not in the original budget, he said.

"We certainly were overwhelmed with the number of annual passes sold," Durack told the board. "We think things look pretty good for the rest of the year."

Prior to the board vote, Canton Township Treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter said: "this is not an expected adjustment."

Report: Aquatics most popular at Summit

By Ralph R. Echtinaw
Staff Writer

After three months of operation, the Summit center's most popular feature is the Aquatics Center, according to a first-quarter report.

In March alone, a Summit attendant counted more than 15,000 people entering the Aquatics Center. The highest use period for the pools was 4-8 p.m., when more than 6,700 people were counted during March.

Coming in second was the Fitness Center, where 8,053 persons were counted in March. Highest use came 5-8 p.m., when 2,031 people were counted.

The third most popular March attraction was the gymnasium, where 7,132 patrons were counted.

Overall, Summit personnel recorded 104,532 visits to the building in the first three months of 1996. That number, however, includes multiple visits.

In terms of individual people, a steady 1,800-1,900 adult residents per month bought daily passes in January, February and March.

The number of teens buying daily passes has dropped, however, from a peak of 3,097 in January to 1,977 in February and 1,642 in March.

Summit attendance is falling off a bit now as the weather improves, said Summit Manager Deborah Bilbrey-Honsowetz. "We're definitely seeing the break in the weather. In Michigan we have such a short summer. I don't blame people for wanting to get outside."

The Summit staff's inexperience in programming is apparent by looking at the attendance figures for various classes offered in the Aquatics Center and elsewhere.

Although most classes filled up, 42 were canceled because no one enrolled. For example, two swimming classes for individuals age 50 and older were offered, but no one signed up. Two fitness programs tailored for seniors also attracted no interest.

"We hope that's going to change when seniors get used to coming into the building, when they get used to going into the pool," Bilbrey-Honsowetz said.

No one enrolled either for Cartooning, Kids Cookie Club, Adult Drawing & Painting, Beginning Clogging, Tai Chi, Adult Ceramics, Cooling for Singles, Gourmet Cooking and Easter Egg Decorating.

Summit staff overestimated interest in all but one category of fitness classes. All told, 28 fitness classes were offered, but just 14 filled.

This can be attributed to the Summit's newness, Bilbrey-Honsowetz said. Staff are getting a feel for the types of programs residents want, while residents are getting used to the idea of taking classes at the Summit.

"Generally, we're very pleased with the response we've had," Bilbrey-Honsowetz said, adding that fewer classes have been canceled for the spring-summer period.

On the plus side, 820 people attended 41 birthday parties in the first quarter of 1996, 36 people joined a three-on-three basketball league, 42 kids were enrolled in three Jump & Shout classes.

Eight classes (64 kids) were filled in "Pre-school 1" swimming. Seven classes (63 people) were filled in "Hydro-Tone" swimming. Six classes (61 kids) were filled in "Pre-school 2" swimming.

All told, 512 residents and 15 non-residents enrolled in 58 aquatics classes. Some 1,210 residents and 12 non-residents attended 62 recreation classes. And 177 residents and 11 non-residents enrolled in 14 fitness classes.

It will probably take all year to figure out use patterns for the Summit, Bilbrey-Honsowetz said. "We don't know what summer will bring, or what fall will bring. We'll be in our learning curve until the end of the year."

Effort afoot for canine stamp

Marilyn Monroe has been honored with her own postage stamp. So has Elvis and Buddy Holly. There's even been a commemorative stamp for famous cartoon characters.

Now the Canton Pet Supplies "Plus" store is joining with a Vietnam veterans group in an effort to ensure that some all but forgotten American heroes will receive similar recognition.

As Memorial Day approaches, the 400-member Vietnam Dog Handlers Association is campaigning to have the U.S. Postal Service issue a commemorative stamp for the 30,000 canines that have served in the U.S. military from World War II to the present. A petition urging the postal service to honor America's Military Working Dogs with a special stamp is available to sign at Pet Supplies "Plus."

"Ours is the only major country that does not have a memorial or award for its military dogs," said author Michael Lemish, the official historian of the Vietnam Dog Handlers Association. "Many of these dogs made the ultimate sacrifice for their country. In Vietnam, they saved American lives by alerting troops to ambushes, locating booby traps, and searching for land mines. It's only right that we do something to honor their memory, so we'd like to see people come out and sign the commemorative stamp petition."

More than 3,000 military dogs served in Vietnam as sentries, scouts and trackers. During the course of the war, these dogs, mostly German shepherds and Labrador retrievers, were involved in over 84,000 missions. It has been estimated that these canines helped avert at least 10,000 American casualties, and were responsible for finding more than 2,000 Viet Cong bunkers and secret tunnels. In fact, Military Working Dogs proved to be so effective that the Viet Cong began putting a bounty on their lives.

It was common for military dogs and their human handlers to develop an extremely close bond in Vietnam and other conflicts. "War Dogs," a book recently written by Lemish, describes the story of Troubles, a scout dog who was separated from his handler after a firefight in the jungle. Given up for dead, Troubles surprised everyone three weeks later when he returned to his base camp, which was located miles from the battle site. Emaciated and weary, the dog walked up to his handler's cot, curled up and fell asleep.

Lemish, and other members of the Vietnam Dog Handlers Association are hoping that the creation of a special commemorative stamp will help ensure that the devoted and loyal dogs from Vietnam and other military conflicts receive the recognition they deserve. The Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee of the U.S. Postal Service receives 40,000 suggestions for commemorative stamps every year. Only about 40 or 50 ideas are chosen as stamps.

"It's important that we show the U.S. Postal Service that there are a lot of people who want to do something to honor these military dogs," said Lemish. "This is why we've launched our petition drive."

The commemorative stamp petition will be available to sign at the Pet Supplies "Plus" store at 43665 Ford Road between now and Veterans Day in November.

The third period is Aug. 26 to Sept. 8. Right now officers are concentrating on seat belt violations, said Sgt. Joe Bippus, but will focus on alcohol violations in the second period.

Officers who volunteer for the extra duty are scheduled to work in four-hour blocks on what would otherwise be their days off.

Federal guidelines require these officers to issue eight warnings and/or tickets for each four hours spent on the special detail. One-fourth of the warnings and/or tickets must be for seat belt violations.

Because the seat belt law is a "secondary violation," meaning police can't legally stop someone for that alone, Bippus said officers will "have to stop them for another reason. Basically, that's how it has to work."

Schoolcraft trustees approve tuition increase

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

A tuition increase was approved along with the 1996-97 budget Wednesday at Schoolcraft College.

"None of the trustees take tuition increases lightly," Trustee Mary Breen said before the vote by Schoolcraft College's Board of Trustees. "I'm going to vote for the tuition rate because I believe we have to do it."

The tuition increase means in-state students will pay $2 more per credit hour and out-of-state students will pay $4 more per credit hour. Schoolcraft College district residents will pay $50 per credit hour; non-resident students will pay $73 per credit hour; and out-of-state students will pay $109 per credit hour. The new rates were approved 6-0, with trustee John Walsh absent.

Schoolcraft students have seen tuition increase several times in the past year. Tuition increased $2 a credit hour in May 1995 and increased $1 a credit hour in January 1996.

Trustees also approved a $36.8 million budget, which is a 3.61 percent increase over last year. A tentative tax levy of $1.8521 per thousand dollars of taxable State Equalized Valuation was approved based on last year's figure, because the rate isn't expected to be certified by the State Tax Commission until May 28.

The rate is expected to be close to that this year, according to Adelard Raby III, vice president for business services.

The 1996-97 general fund budget includes $22 million or 60.04 percent of the budget for instruction; $3.7 million or 10.10 percent of the budget on student services; $6.97 million or 18.93 percent of the budget for business services; $2.4 million or 6.55 percent of the budget for general administration; and 1.6 million or 4.16 percent of the budget for the institutional contingency fund.

Revenue includes $14.48 million in property taxes, a 3 percent increase over last year; $9.9 million in state appropriations, a 5 percent increase over last year; $11.9 million in tuition and fees, a 3.34 percent increase over last year; and other income of $508,200, a 0.58 percent increase over last year.

SEV is expected to increase about 2.8 percent and grow about 0.2 percent, Raby said. An increase of a half percent in the number of credit hours taken is also expected, Raby said.

Schoolcraft's tuition rate is about average in comparison to nearby colleges: Oakland Community College, which recently won a millage increase is at $46 a credit hour; Wayne County Community College was proposing $54; Washtenaw Community College, $52; Henry Ford Community College, $49; and Macomb is at $51.

Eastern Michigan University charges $91 per credit hour for 100 and 200 level courses.

Tuition and fees play a larger part in the college's budget than they did 15 years ago, while state appropriations as a percentage have dropped, Raby said at the April meeting.

He also cited a "fairly rich" faculty union contract and the increasing cost of updating technology as budget pressures, but that was disputed by the faculty union president at Wednesday's meeting.

The budget still reflects the same relative rank in salaries (about fifth) in comparison to other community colleges, with $60,526 being the maximum salary, according to Bill Nickels, president of the Faculty Forum, the faculty union.

He called "fairly rich" a relative and comparative term. If it creates a budget pressure, then it would follow that it would take a bigger percentage of the budget, but that isn't the case, Nickels said.

He presented Michigan State Board of Education figures that showed a drop in the percentage of the general fund budget spent on instruction, while figures presented by the administration to the board at the April meeting showed an increase in the cost of instruction as a percentage of the budget.

Spending bill aids higher ed

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Liberal with money. Conservative on social policy.

That sums up the way the Michigan Legislature this year treated 15 state universities in a $1.5 billion appropriations bill. It's 5 percent higher than a year ago in a time when inflation is below 3 percent.

"It's about as good as you can do _ the best in 10 years," said Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, chair of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee on higher education.

"It brings some floors up," he added, referring to a 12 percent boost for U-M Dearborn and nearly 16 percent for Grand Valley and Saginaw Valley universities. They were brought up to a floor of $4,150 per student.

The Senate May 22 voted 33-3 to concur in two controversial House amendments to Senate Bill 850 and sent it to the governor's desk for signing. The amendments:

- A deduction for the University of Michigan and Wayne State University to the extent they provide benefits for unmarried "domestic partners."

The House failed May 21 to strip out that amendment by a 25-72 vote. Voting to knock it out were Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, and Republicans Barbara Dobb of Union Lake and Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills.

- A prohibition against funding abortions as a health benefit, and an order to university boards to negotiate an end to abortion funding in future union contracts.

That amendment, sponsored by Rep. David Jaye, R-Utica, was tacked on by a bare 56-44 vote with 10 members absent. Here is how area members voted:

YES _ Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, Jim Ryan, R-Redford, Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

NO _ Lyn Bankes, R-Redford, Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, Tom Kelly, D-Wayne.

Sen. Don Koivisto, D-Ironwood, praised the monetary increase because "the more we put into higher education, the less tuition students have to pay. We put a dent into the upward spiral of tuition."

Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith, D-Salem, whose district includes U-M and Eastern Michigan University, agreed on the money part but deplored the amendments. "I think it's unconstitutional," she said, referring to a section of the Michigan Constitution that gives U-M, Michigan State and Wayne State operating autonomy. "Universities will have to expend tax dollars to go to court."

Sen. Gary Peters, D-Bloomfield Township, joined Smith in voting no.

The budget bill includes $1.495 billion in state money and $5 million in federal financial aid _ a 2 percent cut in Washington's contribution.

Student aids _ including tuition grants, work-study, dental and allied health programs _ also are boosted about 5 percent.

Rouge site is canceled

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

The Canton Township part of this year's Rouge Rescue river cleanup has been canceled.

Mayfair Village resident David Thomas, a Washtenaw Community College geology teacher, planned to collect volunteers and pull logjams, tires, auto parts, barrels, conveyor belts and plastic sheeting from the Tonquish Creek west of Lilley and south of Joy on Saturday, June 1.

The plan was to work near the soccer fields at Hulsing Elementary.

School officials gave their blessing, but didn't realize that the school district doesn't own a 35-foot-wide strip of property adjacent to the Tonquish.

That property is owned by Canton resident John Schwartz, who has 10 acres there altogether, most of it on the Lilley Road side where Westland Greenhouse is.

Schwartz said he declined to allow the cleanup on his property because he could be sued. "If someone slips and falls in the creek, you could have a $500,000, $1 million suit," he said. "I'm all in favor of cleaning up the Rouge, but I'm concerned about liability. We just can't take a chance."

Friends of the Rouge Director Jim Graham, who will oversee the 11th annual Rouge Rescue, said most of the operation's cleanup sites are on public property.

Only in Southfield and in Farmington Hills, he said, do volunteers work on private property.

Although no one in the history of the Rouge Rescue has been seriously injured or taken ill, Graham said, he continues to stress safety.

And there is a lot of broken glass in the Tonquish at the point Thomas chose for the cleanup.

"Our concern is for the safety of the volunteers working around that much broken glass," Graham said.

COP CALLS

Rape

A 39-year-old Sherwood trailer park resident and her 14-year-old daughter told Canton police May 21 that the girl was allegedly raped April 6 in a trailer at West Point trailer park.

According to the police report, the girl said she and a friend, 14, were visiting a 20-22 year old man in West Point between 9:30 and 10:30 p.m. Saturday, April 6.

The girl said the man made advances, and she said "No." But he pulled her into the bedroom and raped her. The girl's friend was occupied at the time talking to another man.

The girl "said she didn't tell her mom (right away) because she thought her mom would be mad," according to the police report.

Break-in

A 24-year-old Crossings at Canton resident told police May 21 that her apartment was broken into that night and several things were missing.

The woman said she arrived home about 2 a.m. and noticed the lights on, the patio door open and marks on the front door.

The front door deadbolt had been unlocked when she left, but was locked when she got home.

Reported missing were a television set worth $600, a VCR worth $250, a bracelet worth $90, a gold chain worth $200 and a caller identification box worth $50.

The woman told police she suspects her best friend's brother, who has been bothering her for two to three weeks.

Break-in

The construction foreman of Organic Waste Technologies told police that someone broke into the company's facility on Van Born Road the night of May 18-19.

He said the chain holding the main gate shut had been cut, the power line was cut and the lock was cut off a trailer containing tools used for gas recovery at the landfill.

Reported missing were a laser level worth $10,000, a socket set worth $1,200 and a generator worth $5,500.

Trustee questions cablecast viewership

BY CASEY HANS
STAFF WRITER

Canton Trustee Robert Shefferly doesn't buy the idea that Canton residents watch government meetings on cable television.

And he doesn't want to pay for it.

As the township moves ahead to upgrade the board meeting room to accommodate newer technology, Shefferly is concerned that the township is not spending money wisely.

"As usual, I'm opposed to this," he said. "This might not be the best use of taxpayer money. Unless we have some evidence that residents are watching, . . . I can't see spending this kind of money so we're looking good on TV."

The trustees voted 5-1 on May 14 to waive the township's bidding process and hire Siegal/Tuomaala at a cost of $10,800 for architectural and design services to update the meeting room. The Administrative and Community Services Department is also proposing other upgrades be done to the room at the same time.

Shefferly voted "no;" Supervisor Tom Yack was absent; other trustees voted to approve the measure.

The cable franchise agreement recently negotiated with Continental Cablevision will provide the township with funding to purchase a cable video system, which will be operated by township staff instead of the cable company starting in November.

But the architects will also be charged with designing a reconfigured board room including lighting, seating and modification of the room's sound system. Shefferly is concerned that equipment will have to be updated in several years and cost the township money in the future.

Trustee Phil LaJoy took issue with Shefferly: "We're trying to do something to make it a lot better and . . . to do a lot more with our board meetings," he said. "(Residents) have experienced concern with the overall quality of viewing our meetings," LaJoy said. "To me this is a step in the right direction."

And, although she voted to approve the architectural fees, township Treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter said she was concerned about how any renovations would impact residents doing business on the busy first floor of township hall. Also, she said, she would have to be sold on the cost of any renovations.

"My vote tonight does not mean I will vote to expend large amounts of money to renovate this room," she added.

block walls, but is expected to be a state-of-the-art facility by early October.

Cable Coordinator Scott Zuchlewski hopes to enlist community groups like Project Arts, the Chamber of Commerce, Historic District Commission, Canton Community Foundation and others to create programs for cablecast on the township's channel.

The Summit's aerobics instructor, Kathy Fordell, has shown interest in creating an aerobics program similar to what is already done in Livonia. "That would be wonderful," she said. "I'm ready to do it whenever they want to."

Zuchlewski is also interested in recruiting senior citizens to create and produce a program in much the same way that Dearborn seniors produce cable programming there. "That will be exciting," said Canton Senior Programs Coordinator Dianne Neihengen. "It will be a lot of fun."

Canton Foundation Director Joan Noricks said she might put the foundation's annual scholarship reception on the channel. She also suggested that perhaps a program similar to former foundation director Bill Joyner's "Wednesday Report Live" could be produced by the current foundation staff.

■ 'We want to have as many people from the community involved in this facility as we can.'

Scott Zuchlewski
—cable coordinator

Zuchlewski said that Summit Cuisine, which provides food service to the Summit, might put on a cooking show.

"We want to have as many people from the community involved with this facility as we can," he said.

Zuchlewski will hire at least one part-time assistant and two interns, but volunteers will be needed, too. No experience is necessary, he said. "That's what me and my staff will be there for."

The studio area comprises about 2,000 square feet now in the form of one room with a dirt floor and cement-block walls. When complete, it will contain about seven rooms and be connected electronically to a number of other rooms in the Summit.

Remote connections for video cameras in other rooms will enable Zuchlewski and company to tape or instantly cablecast events throughout the Summit.

The studio architect, Siegal/Tuomaala Associates, Architects and Planners of Farmington Hills, is nearly finished with the design.

Engineers are working to make electrical and mechanical drawings to show the shape of the studio's infrastructure.

Officials have budgeted $150,000 of the cable TV franchise agreements revenue to pay for construction of the studio. Another $345,000 is on deck to pay for equipment.

No property tax money is planned to be used on the studio or its staff. Revenue from the cable franchise agreements with Continental and Ameritech is expected to cover all expenses.

the chief financial officer, Summit manager, Pheasant Run Golf Course manager and Parks & Rec seasonal staff from time to time.

The fly trap is standard equipment for the third floor of the township hall, as the building has long been plagued in warm weather by hordes of flies.

Zuchlewski doesn't expect fly problems once he moves to a new office in the Summit cable studio, due to be built this year and ready to occupy in September.

The 25-year-old Madonna University graduate has tended to Canton's cable TV needs for a year and a half, but has been full time just since May 6.

He was raised in Southfield, Livonia and Noblesville, Ind., but now resides in Novi.

After graduating from high school in 1989, Zuchlewski attended Oakland Community College and got an internship as a cable production specialist with Bloomfield Township that became a regular job.

While there he helped produce a children's program called "Daedal Doors," which is shown on Channel 56.

Zuchlewski worked five months as an intern at WDIV-TV Channel 4, getting a taste of what a TV reporter's job is like.

One of the most difficult things he was asked to do, he said, was interview the father of Malice Green.

Zuchlewski is also a Red Wings fan and said he sometimes can't sleep at night after the Wings lose.

Cable TV survey is under way

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Three members of Leadership Canton have received more than 100 answers to a government access cable TV survey they sent out with the Canton Focus newsletter.

Canton Resource Development Director Mike Ager said he joined with Leadership Canton colleagues Paul Denski Jr. and Deborah Nesbit to craft the survey.

"The endeavor aims to aid the township in developing cable programming people will watch.

"Let's find out from people what they want to see on the government station," Ager said.

'Get tough' bills attract criticism

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

More juveniles would be tried and punished as adults under a series of "get tough" bills passed by the Legislature and due for Gov. John Engler's signature.

A handful of Senate Democratic critics, however, protested that over-zealous prosecutors could ruin children with jail time instead of saving them.

"The House (amendment) has no (lower) age limit," said Sen. Virgil Smith, D-Detroit, who is running for Wayne County prosecutor in the Aug. 6 Democratic primary. "If you don't like 13, how about 10? Nine? Eight? . . . This will come back to haunt us."

Sen. William VanRegenmorter, R-Hudsonville, who steered the bills through the Judiciary Committee, defended the House's tougher version in which the Senate concurred May 23.

"It's a package that makes some fundamental changes. We added to the list of crimes for which a juvenile could be charged. We dropped the age from 15 to 14. The prosecutor could petition the juvenile to a juvenile court or adult court. The judge can move them into the juvenile system or youth prison," said VanRegenmorter.

As for sending kids under 14 to adult jails, VanRegenmorter said there are four procedural safeguards: "The prosecutor must request adult treatment; the judge must agree; the sheriff must agree to accept them; and there must be physical separation of facilities.

"For a 12-year-old who is into serious crime, there's an argument that a night in jail might be an attention-getter."

Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith, D-Salem, joined Virgil Smith (no kin) in blistering the bills. "The chair talks of frightening children with a day in jail. But the bill leaves an unlimited (young) age and leaves 25 years for a drug offense.

"Oh, we will save money by sending kids to the Department of Corrections, but we will not save children," she said.

"There's no question we have to deal with prevention," replied VanRegenmorter, "but there's an explosion of juvenile violence."

Most bills were adopted 36-0.

But Senate Bill 724, calling for certain juveniles to be held in adult jails while awaiting trial in adult court, won by a lesser margin of 25-11.

Among those voting against were area Democrats John Cherry of Clio, the two Smiths and George Z. Hart of Dearborn. All other area senators voted yes.

SB 682, expanding the list of crimes for which juveniles could be charged as adults, passed on a 29-8 vote, with Cherry, the two Smiths and Hart dissenting.

Alma Smith also cast a dissenting vote as the Senate gave final approval to a bill by Sen. Mike Rogers, R-Brighton, aimed at cracking down on escapees from Maxey boys training school in Livingston County and a dozen other institutions.

"We have created a four-year felony for escape from a juvenile facility," said Smith. "Until the Legislature fences the facility, I vote no," said Smith. The Senate concurred in the House's version on a 34-2 vote.

Currently, juveniles can be waived to adult courts when charged with first- and second-degree murder, attempted murder and rape. Under the new package, which becomes law as soon as the governor signs the bills, the list would be expanded to armed robbery, carjacking, kidnapping and arson.

■ Currently, juveniles can be waived to adult courts when charged with first- and second-degree murder, attempted murder and rape.

The Senate threw a scare into Sen. Mike Bouchard, R-Birmingham, sponsor of the bill to expand the list of crimes for which a juvenile can be tried as an adult. One portion allows the Family Independence Agency (formerly Department of Social Services) to place juveniles in out-of-state facilities.

Virgil Smith came a vote short with an amendment to require courts to consider options in Michigan, the comparative condition of out-of-state facilities and the role of parents. It lost 18-19.

Can and bottle drive helps Friends of the Rouge clean up

If your garage or basement is slowly filling up with returnable bottles and cans, the Rouge is coming to the rescue.

As part of their annual Rouge Rescue river cleanup June 1, the Friends of the Rouge will conduct a major can and bottle drive. Returnables brought to specific Rouge Rescue sites will be redeemed by the Friends of the Rouge to support their Education Project in local schools.

For the second year, Farmer Jack, Coca-Cola, Pepsi Cola, Tri-County Beverage Distributors, Imperial Sports, and WJBK-TV are teaming up with the Friends of the Rouge on the returnable drive.

Anyone may bring returnable bottles and cans to these collection sites from 8:30 a.m. to noon Saturday:

• Birmingham Ice Arena, Lincoln at Eton, Birmingham.
• Oakland Community College Orchard Ridge Campus, Orchard Lake Road at I-96, Farmington Hills.
• Beech Woods Park, Beech at Nine Mile, Southfield.
• The main collection site will be at Eliza Howell Park in Detroit. The collection site will be in the south section of the park, which is entered from Schoolcraft (the Jeffries Expressway service drive) east of Telegraph. The site will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Again this year, school students can compete for some terrific prizes. There will be a $500 U.S. Savings Bond for the most bottles and cans turned in by an individual student, plus sports equipment from Imperial Sports for teams of 10 students or less, and for the school that turns in the most bottles and cans.

Individuals may also redeem them at Farmer Jack stores and bring the redemption slips to the collection sites, or mail them to: Friends of the Rouge, 950 Michigan Building, 220 Bagley Ave., Detroit, Mich. 48226-1412.

Designation recognizes veterans

State officials want to honor the Disabled American Veterans' organization by renaming a portion of Interstate 275.

The Disabled American Veterans Memorial Highway runs north on I-275, beginning at the first Livonia exit.

Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, sponsored a measure to dedicate the highway. It was recently signed by Gov. John Engler.

"It's one small gift to those who have given so much," Law said. "We must never forget the sacrifices made to ensure the freedoms of every U.S. citizen. The DAV has a long history in Michigan. This memorial acts as a reminder to us all."

SHOPPING CENTERED

Garden spot: The bent willow creations of Michigan's own master furniture maker Bim Willow, are available at Four Seasons Garden Center, 14471 Eleven Mile in Oak Park.

Garden gifts will bloom with flowers

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

It's almost impossible to buy annuals and perennials these days without adding a cement rabbit, a box of wind chimes, or a miniature fountain to your shopping cart - not to mention a patio swing, a stone duck for the deck, or a ceramic garden marker. Wise retailers realize that nature lovers will go all out for the great outdoors and most purchases serve to delight season after season.

Bringing art into the garden is as ancient as Greece, and you'll find an impressive selection of unique, contemporary pieces of metal, wood and clay creations at Objects of Art, 6243 Orchard Lake, West Bloomfield. Through June 30, browse amid little wind petals and large scale sculptural compositions at the gallery's annual Spring Artscape exhibit.

Casual Concepts, 828 North Main in downtown Rochester introduces a Garden Gazebo filled with terra cotta, antiqued iron and resin planters, moss pots and bird feeders, and a sensational furniture collection for indoors or out.

"We have created this area as a refuge from busy, hectic lifestyles just for our shoppers to explore," said Mary Ann Chila, owner. "From copper wind chimes to imported French candles, all our garden elements will help you make your garden personalized."

And speaking of candles and lighting, M. T. Hunter stores on S. Woodward in Birmingham and 201 E. Main in Northville, have dozens of interesting, conversation-piece lanterns for the porch or patio, including pole stands with glass covers, $26.25; wrought iron wall hanging candles with glass covers $24.50; and hanging egg-lamp bulbs from $67.50.

Four Seasons Garden Center in Oak Park features unique bent willow furniture creations from $20, that will delight and charm garden visitors. Custom orders are available for benches, birdhouse poles, tables and trellises. Bent willow furniture was a familiar sight on the front porches of America until the late 1930s when modern furniture debuted.

The problem of placing a centerpiece on a table with an umbrella pole up the middle has been solved at English Gardens, West Bloomfield, Dearborn and Clinton Township. Wraparound planter boxes of terra cotta, ceramic or plastic fit snugly onto the pole base with room for plantings or silk arrangements inside, from $24.98.

McFarland's Florist and Garden Shop, 28915 Grand River, Farmington, has stone garden markers, gardening hats and skirts.

If you need more inspiration for your patio paradise, visit the 5th Annual Landscape and Garden Show at Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester Hills, June 7-9. Admission is $7 at the gate to view 21 picturesque gardens.

Setting the mood: European-style candles throughout the garden are replacing outdoor lighting, said Matt Twomey of M.T. Hunter in Birmingham and Northville.

Nordstrom: New '90s retail niches

Nordstrom hopes to provide Detroit with style and substance. When the Seattle-based retailer opens its first store in Michigan on Aug. 16, shoppers will be treated to several new retail experiences.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

It's not your mother's department store. It's not even your department store, if you're used to shopping locally. The new Nordstrom at the Somerset Collection in Troy, will provide its customers with state-of-the-art retail amenities customized for '90s lifestyles.

First consider Nordstrom's opening black-tie dinner dance which features a designer runway show to benefit several local charities. Next, look at the store's fall lecture series which is bringing in names like Paula Zahn, Alexandra Stoddard and Elsa Klensch.

Where else in town will you enjoy the services of a body spa while your husband, a few feet away in the men's department, picks out a tie and then wanders into the adjoining pub for a sandwich and a peek at a televised ballgame?

The cafe on the third floor is certain to become a suburban hot spot with its wide windows overlooking Big Beaver and the pulsating cityscape below.

Throughout the store special accommodations for persons with disabilities include dual-level drinking fountains and telephones, automatic entrances, voice-activated elevators, and low trays at the register counters so wheelchair shoppers can see what they're signing.

Open drawer concepts in each department put cosmetics, apparel and fragrance within the customer's grasp. Strategically placed video screens show sporting events, music videos and cartoons. Family restrooms on each level have private nursing areas and diaper changing facilities along with two level sinks.

Shoppers who stop by the Concierge Desk will never hear, "You can't leave your packages." The parcel-laden can check coats, umbrellas and bundles, send a fax, book a restaurant reservation, call a cab, or borrow an umbrella, wheelchair or stroller.

In the men's department, a shoe shine shop, spiffs up footwear for $1.25 while you wait. A cup of Starbuck coffee in the any of the store's the restaurants is 25-cents, just drop a quarter in the can on the honor system.

But the best amenity, is the fact that Nordstrom will not be undersold. The store will match any other retailer's price at a customer's request.

Merchandise ranges from contemporary classics to couture. The value collection has the Nordstrom label, and the high end includes American and European couture. Last spring Nordstrom arranged to be the exclusive retailer of the Greta Garbo Collection. Pieces in the line are priced from $250, created according to the specifications of movie star's heirs.

Spokeswoman Carol Gasper said Nordstrom is the midst of an aggressive expansion campaign opening stores in Michigan, Pennsylvania, Texas, Illinois, Colorado and California this year, and Bellevue, Washington, Long Island New York, West Hartford, CT and Beachwood, Ohio in 1997. Seven more stores are planned for 1998.

In 1995, Nordstrom sales topped $4.1 billion from 80 stores in 16 states.

She credits the company's decentralized operating system for producing autonomous stores, each with unique merchandise that is tailored to the market.

"If a buyer finds a great product made in neighbor Sally's garage, that buyer can test market Sally's product line in a local store," she explained. "We've helped many minority-owned business get a start."

The gala to mark the opening, is expected to raise $250,000 for projects of The Junior League and Links, on Wednesday, Aug. 14 from 7-10 p.m. At $100 per person, tickets include a New York style runway fashion show, a buffet dinner by Opus One with full service bar on all levels, and dancing to the music of Peter Duchin and his orchestra. Local jazz musicians Taslimah Bey Quartet will also perform.

Fresh flower arrangements by Jerry Earles of Bloomfield Hills will decorate the store for opening events.

Nordstrom will also host a Women's Economic Club Membership Reception, Aug. 12 from 5:30-8:30 p.m. featuring company president Dan Nordstrom discussing "Retailing in the 90s" and future midwest expansion plans. Tickets are available by calling (313) 963-5088.

To celebrate the opening with the community, a "Lifestyles Breakfast Series" brings television journalist Paula Zahn to Troy on Sept. 21; author/designer Alexandra Stoddard on Oct. 19; and CNN Style correspondent Elsa Klensch on Nov. 9. Interested shoppers can make reservation at the Concierge Desk, when the store opens. Tickets are $10 for each 8 a.m. presentation, which includes breakfast and a fashion show.

Retail vistas: From the window of Nordstrom's third floor cafe, diners enjoy this view of a modern cityscape.

Parisian pair plans activities to boost awareness/sales

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Sandy Woodring, new manager of the two-year-old Parisian Department store at Laurel Park Place, in Livonia, said business is so good the store has made the company's Top Five list.

"We're doing very well," Woodring said. "One by one, metro Detroit shoppers are discovering that Parisian offers convenience, and the merchandise they want at a great price."

Woodring said her goal is to increase community awareness of the new store in town, so within five years a second store could be added locally. She replaced opening manager Elliot Marcus who transferred south to another store in the Birmingham, Alabama-based chain.

Woodring and her husband are building a home in Canton. When she first arrived in Livonia from managing the Parisian store in Cincinatti, Woodring said everyone seemed surprized that "One, I'm a woman, and Two, I'm so young."

"But, I'm no newcomer to retail. I've worked my way up through the company since a college internship. I have a degree in merchandising and business management. I report directly to the two vice-presidents and the owner, Donald Hess. I appreciate the freedom they've handed me to to my job, run my own business."

Assisting in the effort to market Parisian, is Jane Bassett, director of promotions. Bassett stretches her time between the Livonia and Dayton, Ohio stores. Part of her job is to establish links between the store and the community.

In just a year, she's worked with the March of Dimes, Livonia Symphony, Children's Hospital and United Way. She most enjoys creating and commentating the store's numerous fashion shows.

The next big store-wide event is Satuurday, June 29 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. There will be trunk shows in each department and pros from Oasis Golf Center sharing tips and analyzing swings. Refreshments will be served from 1-6 p.m.

Parisian's credit department reveals the local shopper base comes from Farmington Hills, Novi, Garden City, Plymouth and Westland Bloomfield. Parisian shares anchor duties with Jacobson's at Laurel Park Place, Six Mile and Newburgh roads.

Ideas for stylish dads

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

With Father's Day in view, (Sunday, June 16) it's a good time to help dad update his look with some well-chosen fashion gifts.

According to Stan Tucker, of Saks Fifth Avenue, this season's menswear has been influenced by the fashions from the 30s, 40s and 50s. Suits take on an elegant sartorial look. Jackets are nipped at the waist with broad shoulders and longer lengths. (Think Cary Grant or Fred Astaire.)

The look is finished off with a crisp, white shirt and a satin, solid, woven tie. The most stylish men will wear spectators, white or natural bucks, the updated penny loafer with a chunkier heel, sandals, and even Hush Puppies. Corporate Casual dressing has popularized the lug sole and bulkier shoe soles.

If you think dad needs a new shirt and tie, make it tonal. A blue tie on a blue shirt, or these ensembles, suggested by Tucker - a pair of putty linen trousers, a cotton tonal tee, a taupe light weight cashmere v-neck and suede bucks; or a gray suit with a pale gray dress shirt and solid tie in a darker gray.

If dad is a totally casual guy, lycra yarns are being used for fitted tees and straight leg pants with a touch of stretch to accentuate the body. Body conscious clothes and comfort are the by-products of stretch.

"The news in men's suits is all about shape and proportion giving a refined elegance to silhouettes," Tucker said. "The six on two button double breasted jacket has been reengineered to accentuate the waist and the new one button shaped silhouette is a beauty. The two and three button styles are still strong spring standards, however they have been updated with a revised, higher button stance."

Saks style: Searle nylon jacket with mesh lining in white and royal, $198; cotton polo, trousers from Victor/Victoria, $140.

The home you've always wanted doesn't have to be a high-flying dream.

Schoolcraft staffers OK contract

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

The Schoolcraft Board of Trustees and the college's union of office personnel have ratified a new contract.

In the new contract, Schoolcraft College Association of Office Personnel members received 2.5 percent pay increases, beginning June 1, plus a lump sum payment which will average $514 per person, according to Betty Gilbert, director of labor relations at Schoolcraft.

A change in the payment structure that union members receive for opting out of the health insurance program was increased to $75 per pay period, Gilbert said.

The board ratified the contract Wednesday. The union ratified it Tuesday.

It is a one-year contract from July 1,1995, through June 30,1996, for the 60-member union, which had worked for about 11 months without a contract. A three-year contract for the union expired June 30,1995.

Contract talks broke off in November, and the board of trustees decided not to offer retroactive pay raises to the union, Gilbert said. Union president Belinda Eleson came before the board earlier this year, in hopes of having talks resume. Talks resumed about three weeks ago, Eleson said.

"We just kept talking," Gilbert said. "I don't know in particular what did it."

Eleson called the agreement "bittersweet." "We lost more ground than we gained. But it was just a matter of closure," she said.

Contract talks will now begin for the next contract since this one ends June 30. Gilbert said she hopes contract talks won't drag on as long for the next contract, but "we do have some issues," she said. Eleson said the union is optimistic.

When talks broke off Eleson said the issue was money. The secretaries' union is always the last to settle, both sides say.

Last time the union went a year and a half without a contract, Eleson said last year.

The secretaries' salaries range from about $24,000 to $33,000.

County commissioner seeking re-election

Michelle A. Plawecki has announced her bid for re-election as Wayne County commissioner in District 9, which includes Redford Township and Livonia east of Middlebelt.

Plawecki

"This is an exciting time to be a part of Wayne County government. There are a number of projects that have been initiated during my tenure here and I would very much like to see them through," Plawecki said.

Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, had been approached but opted not to run for state representative against Rep. James Ryan and is seeking her third term on the county commission.

"I was overwhelmed by how many people contacted me and offered their support for the state representative seat, and for that I am sincerely grateful. For now, however, I am satisfied with my duties as a county commissioner and look forward to continuing to represent the citizens of district nine," she said.

She sees negotiations at Northwest and expansion at Metro Airport among the big issues coming up. "Everybody's looking to see what happens with negotiations with Northwest," she said.

Demolition and cleanup at the county-owned Northville Township property, in Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter's district, is also very important, she said.

Plawecki cited her vote in favor of the county's holiday light show, LightFest, as one of the more controversial issues she's voted on in her tenure, but one that has brought many complimentary letters.

She lists a plan to build a Corporate Family Picnic area in Bell Creek Park in Redford Township among her accomplishments. "It's rewarding to see that that project is finally coming," she said.

Other accomplishments she lists include, the commission's stand on road funding and an ordinance bringing stiffer fines for littering in Wayne County parks.

Plawecki is a graduate of St. Sabina's grade school and graduated from Mercy High School in 1984. She received a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in 1988 with a double major in political science and psychology and a master's degree from U-M in public administration.

Plawecki, 29, serves as chairperson of the committee on Roads, Airports and Public Services, which approves projects and services at Detroit Metro Airport and Willow Run as well as for county roads.

During her freshman term on the commission, Plawecki was appointed as the first chairperson of the Committee on Environment and Energy. Currently Plawecki is a member of Health and Human Services, Economic Development and Ways and Means committees.

Plawecki serves as vice chair of the board of directors for HealthChoice, a health-care program designed to provide insurance for individuals who live and work in Wayne County, but do not have insurance provided by their employer. Currently, 3,366 people are receiving benefits.

In addition to being appointed to the Wayne County Solid Waste Planning Committee by county Executive Edward H. McNamara, Plawecki also serves on the Wayne County Drainage Board.

Plawecki is chairperson of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments Aviation Task Force Committee. She is also a member of the advisory board at Madonna University.

Plawecki is a member of the League of Women Voters, the chambers of commerce in Dearborn Heights, Redford Township and Livonia, the Women's Economic Club, Michigan Association of Counties, Dearborn Heights Goodfellows, National Association of Counties, National Association for the Mentally Ill, Conference of Western Wayne, Detroit Institute of Arts Founder Society, Michigan Humane Society, University of Michigan Alumnae Association and Divine Child Parish.

■ She received a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in 1988.

Dentistry in the 90s
by Herbert M. Gardner, D.D.S. & Martha P. Zinderman, R.N., D.D.S.
SAVING GRACE
People entering their later years should not automatically assume that losing their teeth comes with the territory. In the past, the elderly had come to think that dentures were as inevitable as retirement; however, more aggressive preventive and restorative dentistry in recent years has enabled older Americans to keep their teeth longer. The fact is that the most recent survey indicates that only 10 percent of people between the ages of 10 and 74 are totally toothless, compared to 15 percent only 20 years before. As for the remaining 90 percent, they have retained, on average, 23.5 of their teeth. And, nearly one-third of all adults were found to keep all 28 of their teeth (not including wisdom teeth). All of this is not to say that we can afford to let our attention down. More than 40 percent of adults who have their teeth also have at least one tooth or tooth space in need of treatment. Quick attention to these matters saves teeth.
An important step in maintaining a healthy smile is to replace missing teeth. When teeth are missing, the remaining ones can change position, drifting into the surrounding space. At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES tooth replacement, root canals, fillings, crowns & bridges, partial or full dentures, cosmetic denistry, and extractions are just some of the services we offer. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road. Please call 478-2110 to schedule a convenient appointment. Smiles are our business. Hrs: Mon, Tue, Thu & Fri 8-5, Wed til 9 p.m.

Readers make time for more gourmet fare

Here I sit with an aching back, feeling good about how great the lawn looks, the fact that my garden is in, and the patio furniture is set up. All the while I'm thinking that my readers are not too busy to find the time to cook, not just good old comfort food, but surprisingly, far more gourmet fare.

I base my comments on the fact that after the tamale column ran last month, I received more than 30 calls about it. Some of the more interesting calls included.

■ A call from Chris Morris of Redford who said I missed the boat not mentioning Evie's Tamales, a restaurant in Mexicantown. Well, Chris, my sources claim that Evie's formerly owned the take-out tamaleria now occupied by Nuevo Leon; but if Evie still makes tamales like she used to, I stand corrected. Evie's is at 3454 Bagley (313) 843-5056.

■ Bonnie Kelly of Birmingham called about the tamale column, and said she wants to know more about Latino and Cuban food. One of my favorite books on the subject is "A Taste of Old Cuba," by Maria Josefa Lluria De O'Higgins (Harper Collins, 1994, $25). This book has more than 150 recipes highlighted by the author's reflections and memories. I really enjoyed this recipe as O'Higgins claimed her mother made it, and it was considered a real "comfort food" Cuban style!

PUDIN DE BONITO (TUNA PUDDING)

4 slices white bread, cut into pieces
½ cup milk
¼ cup olive oil
1 large onion, peeled and chopped
4 eggs, beaten
¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)
¼ teaspoon ground cumin
Two (6 ounce) cans tuna, drained and flaked
1 tablespoon butter

Place the bread in a mixing bowl and pour the milk over it. In a small skillet, warm the olive oil over medium heat and saute the onion until translucent, about 3 minutes. Stir the eggs into the bread mixture. Add the onion, pepper, salt, cumin and tuna and stir to combine.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Grease a 2-quart casserole with butter and fill with tuna mixture. Bake for 30 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serves 6.

■ I really love it when a local turns entrepreneur. The next time you're in any Kitchen Glamor store, or Kitchen Port in Ann Arbor, check out Westland's self-proclaimed Pizza Gourmet Chef Carl Oshinski and his new line of gourmet food products. P.G.'s flavored oils (the wild mushroom infused oil, my favorite) is stellar drizzled over cooked pasta and grilled portabello mushrooms. He also offers bread machine mixes, pizza doughs, pasta – all of the highest quality, and without a doubt, locally made. Oshinski said his products will be soon available at Best Buy as they are expanding into housewares.

■ An anonymous reader called to say she was curious about my rhubarb pie recipe. She wanted to know what a "prepared pie shell" was. A prepared pie shell is dough that has been made and rolled and fitted into a pie plate and as yet remains unbaked.

A prepared pie crust, on the other hand, is a prebaked crust. The reader also wanted to know if she could substitute sugar Twin for half the 2 cups recommended sugar. Unfortunately, even though it pours the same, I wouldn't recommend it because when artificial sweeteners warm to any temperature above 300 degrees F. their chemical make-up changes and they usually become bitter.

■ Fancy food lovers – have I got a hot one for you! I recently returned from the International Association of Culinary Professionals Conference in Philadelphia and tried a new product called Demi-Glace Gold. Made with no MSG, salt, sugar and in the classically made Old World Tradition as defined by Chef Master Escoffier, this product is just what gourmets need when preparing homemade sauces needed a veal or chicken stock that tastes almost as good as homemade. It's available locally at GFS (Gordon Food Services) in Canton and Rochester, and Novi or you can get other sources by calling 1-(800)-860-9385.

AMERICANS GRAB AND GO FOR

★ burgers

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

For a quick lunch or dinner, it's hard to beat a burger. They are the source of fond childhood memories, and harbingers of summer. Some of us mark our passage from childhood to adulthood with burgers.

We start out with a "Happy Meal" and graduate to a double cheeseburger, "Big Mac" or "Whopper."

A&W Root Beer was our family's favorite burger joint. We used to go there on summer nights when it was too hot for mom to cook, or when good report cards or deeds merited a treat. When we were little tykes, mom always ordered the "Baby Burger" for my brothers and I. Then as we, and our appetites grew, so did the size our burgers.

While most of us think of hamburgers as being as American as apple pie, they're not.

"It came from the Baltic provinces of Russia in the Middle Ages where various tribes of Tartary, who were rowdy, nomadic horsemen, developed a fondness for raw beef, known today as steak tartare," writes Jeffrey Tennyson author of "Hamburger Heaven," (Hyperion, 1993). "These Tartars introduced it to their German trading partners from the port city of Hamburg, who developed a taste for it fried and seasoned with onions – Hamburg Steak. When German immigrants arrived in the United States in the 1700s and 1800s, they brought the steak with them. The first documented American appearance of the Hamburg steak is on the menu at New York's fabled Delmonico's Restaurant in 1834."

According to some sources, Charlie Nagreen of Seymour, Wis., invented the American hamburger at the age of 15 when he delivered it from his ox-drawn concession stand at the Outagamie County Fair in 1885.

Other sources say a German, Frank Menches, introduced the sandwich at his food stall at the Summit County Fair in 1892 in Ohio when he ran out of bulk pork sausage for his sandwiches and substituted beef.

Another story credits Louis Lassen of New Haven, Conn., with creating the hamburger steak in 1900 as a means of using the trimmings from the steak sandwich he featured at his lunch wagon.

Hamburgers created a sensation at the 1904 World's Fair in St. Louis. Several authorities believe the vendor was Fletcher Davis who owned a lunch counter in Athens, Texas. In 1921, Walt Anderson and Billy Ingram founded White Castle in Wichita.

Today, burgers remain one of America's favorite foods. The Taste of America Survey conducted in 1994 by "Restaurants & Institutions" showed 86 percent of the population ordering them in the past year.

According to "The Great Food Almanac: A Feast of Facts from A to Z," by Irena Chalmers (Collins Publishers San Francisco, 1994) even the "King" himself , Elvis Presley, loved burgers. His favorite food was a hamburger burned to a crisp. He often send his back until it was what some people would call totally charred.

According to the National Cattlemen's Beef Association, the secret to moist, flavorful burgers is careful handling.

■ Shape ground beef gently; over handling can result in firm, compact burgers.

■ Don't overcook – Burgers should be cooked to medium (160 degrees F) doneness, or until no longer pink in the center. It's risky to eat rare or raw ground beef because any surface bacteria are transferred to the interior of the meat during grinding.

■ Use a spatula to turn burgers without pressing or flattening; flavorful juices can escape, resulting in a dry burger.

Burgers have come a long way from the basic burger on a sesame seed bun, with lettuce, tomato and mayo. For a change of pace, try a Mediterranean Burger. Season ground beef patties with lemon pepper, then grill to medium doneness. Instead of a traditional bun, serve the burgers with pita bread quarters. Garnish with tomato slices, red onion, and a sauce made from a blend of yogurt, chopped cucumber and lemon pepper.

For "Cooking With Three Ingredients: Flavorful Food Easy as 1, 2, 3" try "Buffalo Burgers made with ground beef, butter and hot pepper sauce."

"These are great" writes cookbook author Andrew Schloss. "The butter and hot sauce blend with the meat juices to make a truly extraordinary burger. If you feel the need to gild this lily, a crumbling of blue cheese will turn it into the most unusual and tastiest cheeseburger you've ever had."

Safety tips

■ To store ground beef in the refrigerator, place in the meat compartment or coldest part of the refrigerator. Use within two days.

■ Ground beef can be frozen in its original transparent packaging for up to 2 weeks. For longer storage, wrap ground beef tightly in heavy-duty aluminum foil, place in plastic freezer bags or wrap in freezer paper. Ground beef may be stored in the freezer for up to four months.

■ For convenience, ground beef patties can be frozen. Shape ground beef into patties and arrange in a single layer on a wax paper-lined tray or cookie sheet; freeze just until firm. Remove patties from tray and wrap tightly or place in freezer bags and freeze.

■ If you're pulling burgers out of the freezer, make sure they are completely defrosted before grilling. Otherwise, you could undercook them.

■ Use microwave for quick defrosting, or defrost in the refrigerator allowing approximately 24 hours to defrost a 1 to 1 1/2-inch package of ground beef. Do not defrost ground beef at room temperature.

■ Cook with medium-low temperature coals. When coals are ash-covered (in about 30 minutes), spread in single layer. Place ground beef patties on grid directly over ash-covered coats. Grill uncovered 11 to 15 minutes.

■ Brush brown sauces (like soy or teriyaki) on the cooked surface of the burger. When a sauce is mixed into raw ground beef, it's difficult to determine doneness.

■ Don't put cooked meat on a platter that's been used for raw meat without thoroughly washing the platter with warm, soapy water. Or, use two different platters for raw and cooked meats. Be sure to wash all grilling utensils too, and anything else that touches uncooked meat.

Author satisfies hunger for veggie burgers

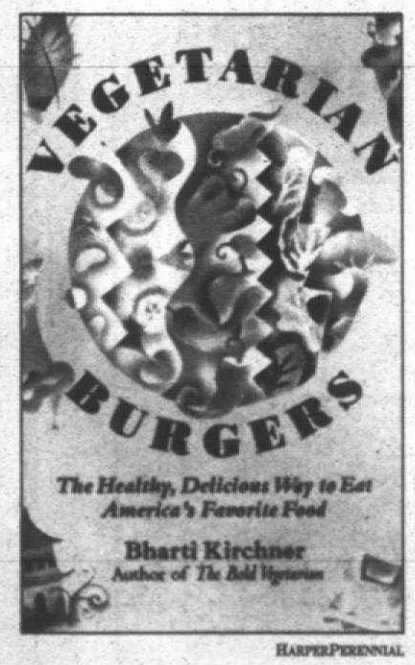
Cookbook author Bharti Kirchner was first introduced to vegetarian patties as a child in India, the land of her birth. In her newly published cookbook, "Vegetarian Burgers: The Healthy Way to Eat America's Favorite Food," (HarperPerennial; $12.50/trade paperback) she shares a bevy of burger ideas developed from her travels around the world.

Drawing from a wide variety of ethnic cuisines – Indian, Middle Eastern, Asian and European – she combines the rich flavors and unique textures of whole grains, legumes, vegetables, seeds, fresh herbs and spices to create burgers.

"Indian cooks prepare not only many sorts of ground meat patties, called kebabs, but they also do an equally varied set of vegetable patties, known as chop, patis, tikki, or bora," writes Kirchner. "These vegetarian delights are composed of legumes, grains, and various minced vegetables, laced with fresh chiles, herbs, and spices. Indian cooks roll them into balls or flatten them into oval shapes, then coat them with bread crumbs before frying or baking."

Many people are familiar with falafel and kibbe, the Middle Eastern version of vegetarian burger.

"All cultures have some sort of patty, but Americans have a unique way of serving it," Kirchner says in her book. Onion-filled Kibbes, with their creamy filling of cheese and sweet onion were inspired by the traditions of the Middle East, and her Falafel Burger is a low-fat variation on Near Eastern cookery.



HARPERPERENNIAL

Meal on a bun: Bharti Kirchner offers 50 delicious "meatless" recipes that turn an American classic into an international delight in "Vegetarian Burgers: The Healthy, Delicious Way to Eat America's Favorite Food."

The variety of her inspired recipes is evidenced by chapters on "Grain and Bean Burgers," "Vegetable Burgers," "Nut and Seed Burgers," "Tofu and Other Soy Burgers," and "Stuffed Burgers."

As for the "trimmings," Kirchner's book includes a chapter on healthful and satisfying salads, grains and vegetables. Her cumin and fresh chile-laced Double-Garlic Potatoes are a crusty, golden-brown alternative to oil-laden French fries.

In addition to using low-fat ingredients, Kirchner recommends practicing low-fat cooking methods like grilling, baking, and broiling, and offers a glossary of ingredients and step-by-step instructions for preparing and serving the most delicious vegetarian burgers you'll ever taste.

"Most of the recipes are simple and the majority of the ingredients are now available in supermarkets," writes Kirchner.

Kirchner is an accomplished vegetarian cook whose tempting interpretations of ethnic cuisine have been showcased in her previous books, "The Bold Vegetarian," "The Healthy Cuisine of India," and "Indian Inspired." She lives in Seattle, Washington.

Veggie Burger Basics

■ A food processor is a must for preparing vegetarian burgers. It helps blend the ingredients, creates the proper texture, and eliminates the need for eggs as a binding agent.

■ Prepare ingredients ahead of time. Form patties early on the day you intend to serve them or even a day ahead of time. If preparing them more than an hour in advance, refrigerate them, and then bring them to room temperature just prior to cooking.

■ For grilling burgers, a vegetable grid works best. You can also use a hinged basket, a two-sided hinged grill with long handles that encloses one or more patties, depending on size.

■ If using an outdoor charcoal grill, be sure to let the charcoal briquettes burn until they are covered with a thin layer of gray ash with a dull red glow underneath. It generally takes about 30 minutes to reach this stage. Grill burgers 3 to 5 inches from the heat source, otherwise they are likely to burn.

■ If broiling, do so also 3 to 5 inches from the heat.

■ If sauteeing burgers, use a nonstick skillet and nonstick spatula for turning the burgers.

■ You can make a large batch of burgers by doubling or tripling the recipes and freezing the surplus. Wrap uncooked patties individually in plastic wrap. To thaw, transfer them to the refrigerator a day in advance.

■ To reheat, place burgers in a 325 degree F. oven for up to 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Overbaking makes them dry.

BUFFALO BURGERS

1 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons mild hot pepper sauce, such as Durkee Red Hot

Mix the ground beef with 3 tablespoons water, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and 1/8 teaspoon pepper. Form into 4 burgers about 1/2 inch thick.

Grill over a hot fire or broil 4 inches from the heat to desired doneness, 8 to 15 minutes, depending upon heat source and taste preferences.

Meanwhile, in a small saucepan, melt the butter over medium-low heat. Remove from the heat and mix in the hot sauce. Brush the sauce all over the cooked burgers. Serves 4.

POTATO CHIP BURGERS WITH GRILLED ONIONS

1 1/3 pounds ground round (85 percent lean)
1 cup crushed no-salt potato chips (about 4 ounces)
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 large onions sliced 1/2 inch thick
2 tablespoons olive oil
4 hamburger buns or kaiser rolls
Optional: Mayonnaise, ketchup, mustard, tomato slices, shredded lettuce

Prepare a hot fire in a grill or adjust broiler rack about 4 inches from source of heat and preheat broiler. In a medium bowl, working as quickly and gently as possible, mix ground round with crushed potato chips, salt, and pepper. Lightly form into 4 burgers about 1 inch thick.

Brush onion slices with olive oil and place on an oiled grill set 4 to 6 inches from coals or place in broiler. Cook, turning once, until lightly browned and tender, 5 to 7 minutes. As onions cook, transfer to a plate cover with foil to keep warm.

Place burgers on grill or broiler and cook turning once until done.

Meanwhile, split open buns and toast on sides of grill or under broiler until warm and lightly browned. Placed cooked burgers in buns and top with grilled onions. Let everyone choose their own fixings. Serves 4.

■ I'm still receiving calls from readers requesting more Crock Pot recipes. Her's a recipe I found in my recipe box that best describes Crock Pot cooking from 20 or 30 years ago. I've made this once, I've made it a hundred times!

CROCK POT POT ROAST

1 (2.2 ounce) box beef onion soup mix (dry)
1 (3 1/2 pound) beef rump roast, trimmed of fat
3 large carrots, peeled and sliced thick
2 ribs celery, sliced thick
3 cloves garlic, minced
2 teaspoons dried thyme
1 bay leaf
1 1/2 cups dry red wine
1 (14 1/2 ounce) can beef broth
1/4 cup all purpose flour

Rub or pat the dry soup mix all over the roast beef. Place vegetables and seasonings in a slow cooker. Mix 1 cup each of wine and broth and pour over vegetables and seasonings. Add the roast and scrape any dry soup mix left on dish into Crock Pot. Cover and cook on the low heat setting for 9 hours or until meat is tender. Remove meat.

Remove and discard bay leaf. Scoop out the vegetables with a slotted spoon and reserve. Pour juices from Crock Pot into a medium saucepan. Bring to a boil. Whisk together remaining 1/2 cup wine and flour until well blended. Stir into the simmering juices and cook, stirring constantly until the gravy is thickened, about 3-4 minutes. Pour gravy over meat and vegetables and enjoy. Serves 6-8.

■ Shirley Clark of Plymouth called requesting a recipe for White Chili. Well Shirley, not only did I find a winning recipe, it's actually low fat, but can be easily fattening by frying all the vegetables first, and of course, by adding the cooked chicken or turkey. I think you'll agree it's a hit.

WHITE BEAN CHILI

1 can (14 1/2 ounces) fat-free chicken or vegetable broth
1 large onion, chopped (about 1 cup)
1 medium yellow pepper, chopped
2 jalapeno chile peppers, seeded and chopped
2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
1 1/2 cups water
1 teaspoon grated lime peel
1 teaspoon cumin seed
1/2 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
1/2 teaspoon ground coriander
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 can (15 ounces) great Northern beans, rinsed and drained
1 can (15 ounces) butter beans, drained and rinsed
1 can (15 ounces) black eyed peas, drained and rinsed

Heat half of the broth to boiling in a large Dutch oven. Cook onion, pepper, chiles and garlic in broth, stirring frequently until tender. Stir in remaining ingredients and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer uncovered for 20 minutes. Serve with salsa, if desired.

Serves 6. Each serving contains 250 calories with 3 grams fat, 0 cholesterol.

Exchange for diet groups: each serving is 3 starch/bread exchanges and 1 vegetable exchange.

For a change of pace, try veggie burgers

FALAFEL BURGERS

1 tablespoon olive oil
1 cup diced onion
1 tablespoon minced garlic
1 jalapeno pepper or other green chile of choice, cored, seeded, and minced (or to taste)
1 1/2 cups cooked or 1 (15 ounce) can chick-peas, drained (measured after draining)
1 cup cooked basmati rice or other long-grain white rice
1 tablespoon freshly squeezed lime juice
1 3/4 cups bread crumbs
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
Ground pasilla or red (or cayenne) pepper to taste

Heat the olive oil in a small skillet until sizzling. Cook the onion and garlic until the onion is wilted and the garlic is golden. Add the jalapeno and stir several times. Remove from heat and allow to cool.

Place the onion mixture, drained chick peas, and rice in the container of a food processor. Pulse on and off several times until the mixture becomes a smooth puree. Transfer to a large bowl. Add the lime juice and 1 cup of the bread crumbs. Season to taste with salt, black pepper, and red pepper. Mix with a large spoon, or even better, with your hands, until all ingredients are thoroughly combined.

Shape into 3-inch patties 1/2 inch thick, adding extra bread crumbs if the patties don't hold their shape. They will be slightly sticky.

Prepare a grill or preheat the broiler. If broiling, place the patties on a broiler pan or large cookie sheet lined with a lightly oiled piece of aluminum foil. Grill or broil 3 to 5 inches from the heat, 4 to 7 minutes per side or until lightly browned. (When one side is done, turn the patties carefully with a spatula). Check often to prevent burning. Makes 7 to 8 patties, 3 to 4 servings.

Serving suggestions: Tuck these falafels into warmed pita pockets along with shredded lettuce, tomato slices, onion slices, or alfalfa sprouts.

DOUBLE-GARLIC POTATOES

1 1/2 tablespoons mustard oil or canola oil
1/2 teaspoon asafetida powder (available in health and specialty food stores)
2 to 3 garlic cloves, minced
1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
1 1/2 pounds boiling potatoes peeled or unpeeled, cut into 1 1/2-inch cubes
1 jalapeno pepper or other green chile of choice, cored, seeded, and minced (or to taste)
Salt
Garnish:
Finely chopped chives or scallions

Heat the mustard or canola oil in a large skillet over moderate heat. Sprinkle the asafetida over the oil. Add the garlic, cumin, potatoes, and jalapeno. Cook, uncovered, until the potatoes turn brown in places, 5 to 8 minutes, stirring often.

Reduce heat, add 3 tablespoons of water, and cook, covered until the potatoes can be pierced easily with a toothpick, another 10 to 15 minutes. Season to taste with salt. Best served immediately, garnish with chives, but can also be served at room temperature. Serves 4 side dish servings.

TRIPLE MUSHROOM BURGERS

1 tablespoon canola oil
1 cup diced onion
1 tablespoon minced garlic
1 jalapeno or other green chile of choice, cored, seeded and chopped or to taste
1 red bell pepper, cored, seeded, and coarsely chopped
1 pound fresh mushrooms (a mixture of shiitake, chanterelle, portobello, or others or the standard supermarket cultivated variety), sliced 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick, touch stems removed if necessary
2 tablespoons hoisin sauce
1 cup cooked white basamati rice, preferably (or other long-grain white rice)
1/4 cup pecans, toasted and ground to a coarse powder in a spice/coffee grinder
1 1/2 cups bread crumbs
Salt to taste

Heat the oil in a large skillet over moderate heat.

Cook the onions and the garlic until the onion turns brown at the edges and the garlic is golden. Add the jalapeno, bell pepper, and mushrooms. Reduce heat. Cover and cook until the vegetables are tender, 10 to 15 minutes. Uncover occasionally and check to see if the mixture is sticking. if so, stir in up to a tablespoon of water. Add the hoisin sauce and mix well. With a slotted spoon, remove the vegetables and place them in a large bowl.

Reduce the sauce remaining in the skillet by placing over medium heat. Cook, uncovered, stirring often, until the sauce is very thick, 5 to 10 minutes. Pour sauce over the onion-mushroom mixture.

Place the onion-mushroom mixture and the rice in a food processor. Pulse on and off several times until the ingredients are thoroughly blended. Transfer to a large bowl and add the ground pecans and 1 1/4 cups of the bread crumbs. Season to taste with salt. Mix with a large spoon, or even better, with your hands, until all ingredients are thoroughly combined. Form into patties 3 inches in diameter and 1/2 inch thick, mixing in extra bread crumbs if the patties don't hold their shape. They will be delicate, so handle them gently.

Prepare a grill or the preheat the broiler. Grill or broil 3 to 5 inches from the heat, 5 to 7 minutes per side or until lightly browned. If broiling, place the patties on the broiler pan or a large cookie sheet lined with a lightly oiled piece of aluminum foil. Check often to prevent burning. Makes 12 burgers, 6 servings.

Serving suggestion: These burgers are best served on toasted garlic rolls or bread of your choice.

Celebrate warmer weather with spring vegetables

BY DANIEL TURGEON
THE CULINARY INSTITUTE OF AMERICA

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) _ Spring is a glorious season that can awaken our senses to the simpler things in life. Our taste buds seem to come out of hibernation as we anticipate one of life's great pleasures, fresh spring vegetables.

This time of year my mind immediately goes to work thinking of ways to combine local produce with other new harvests from around the country, like sweet Vidalia onions from Georgia, globe artichokes from California or earthy wild mushrooms from Virginia.

Although these vegetables can always stand on their own, blending their flavors together can be a pleasure for the palate.

A multitude of cooking methods can enhance the flavor of these tender vegetables, but their nutrients, color and texture are preserved if they are cooked in the quickest manner.

The recipes that follow are a few ways to prepare these seasonal vegetables at home.

FRESH ASPARAGUS SALAD

1 pound fresh asparagus
2 tablespoons balsamic vinegar
1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard
1/2 teaspoon shallots, minced
6 tablespoons olive oil
1 teaspoon Italian parsley, chopped
Salt and black pepper, to taste
1 red pepper, roasted, peeled and finely diced
2 tablespoons capers, drained
4 tablespoons pine nuts, lightly toasted
2 ounces Parmesan cheese, grated

Cut the fibrous root end off the asparagus and peel the lower portion of the stem.

Bring a large pot of salted water to a rolling boil. Add the asparagus and cook for about 2 minutes, or until tender. Drain in a colander and rinse with cold water until the asparagus is cooled.

To make the vinaigrette, mix together the balsamic vinegar, Dijon mustard and shallots. While whisking slowly, add the olive oil and season with the parsley, salt, and pepper.

Place the asparagus on a plate and sprinkle with the roasted red pepper, capers, pine nuts and Parmesan cheese. Drizzle the vinaigrette over the asparagus and serve. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SAUTEED SPINACH WITH VIDALIA ONIONS AND MUSHROOMS

1 1/2 tablespoons unsalted butter
1-3rd cup Vidalia onions, finely diced
1 cup shiitake mushrooms, stemmed and cut into thin strips
1 pound fresh spinach leaves, stemmed, washed and drained
Salt and black pepper, to taste

Melt butter in a skillet over low heat and add the onions. Sweat the onions for 2 minutes.

Add the mushrooms and continue to sweat for an additional 3 minutes or until the mushrooms are tender.

Increase the heat to medium and add the spinach leaves, a few handfuls at a time, allowing each batch to wilt before adding more. Season with salt and pepper, and serve. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Fans of 'Friends' will enjoy Schwimmer in 'The Pallbearer'

BY DOLORES BARCLAY
AP ARTS EDITOR

BARRY WETCHER/MIRAMAX FILMS

Comedy: Gwyneth Paltrow and David Schwimmer in Matt Reeves' "The Pallbearer."

NEW YORK (AP) _ Meet Tom Thompson, a dull, nerdy-looking guy who lives with his mother and can't seem to find a job. Actually, you probably won't want to meet Tom _ he's that boring.

But at least one character in Matt Reeves' "The Pallbearer" finds him simply scintillating and that's the vamp queen Ruth Abernathy (Barbara Hershey), whose son has just died.

Ruth asks Tom (David Schwimmer), who she thinks was her son's good friend, to be a pallbearer and to otherwise "help out" _ a request that takes on interesting ramifications as the movie progresses.

But there's one big problem: Tom doesn't have even the slightest glimmer of an idea who the guy was.

His friends, played by Michael Rapaport, Toni Collette, Bitty Schram and Michael Vartan, think he's nuts when he agrees to carry out the mother's wishes. And they're no help, either: They also have no idea who the dead kid was. When Tom checks the yearbook for clues, across from the guy's name is just a blank square.

But Tom's mind veers away from matters funereal when his pals throw a party and invite Julie DeMarco (Gwyneth Paltrow), his high school crush.

Tom and Julie get together, of course, in what has got to be one of the most awkward date scenes on film. And it's somewhat sweet to watch two adults tip-toe around a man's apartment because they don't want to awaken his eccentric mother (Carol Kane).

Meanwhile, Ruth ups the ante: Tom now must give the eulogy. This turns out to be one of the highlights of the movie, a rib-cracking laughfest. Then Ruth drops the other shoe _ and the other shoe, and her dress and everything else. Yes, you get the picture.

Dimwit that he is, Tom goes along with the seduction, jeopardizing his budding romance with Julie.

Reeves, who wrote "The Pallbearer" with Jason Katims, has crafted a bunch of characters we don't really care much about. They're nice, but they're all fairly vapid.

But the screenwriters make up for it with Ruth Abernathy, and Hershey certainly steals the show as Ruth. Paltrow is lovely and lithe, but still gives off such a waifish air that doesn't give you much to hold onto. It would be interesting to see what this young actress could do with a well-developed, meaty role.

Rapaport, a dynamic young actor, is wasted in this movie. He's miles above Schwimmer and Vartan, but has little to do. Collette, fresh from the very wonderful "Muriel's Wedding," also isn't allowed to stretch.

Schwimmer, who shot to TV stardom in the sitcom "Friends," holds little fascination. He's perfectly cast for the role of Tom, but hardly a compelling presence.

"The Pallbearer" makes a perfect date movie for TV fans, and probably will perform smashingly when it hits video stores. It was produced by Jeffrey Abrams and Paul Webster.

Officials' mistake ends up hurting everyone involved

Not to make light of a serious matter, but a sports season wouldn't be complete without some kind of MHSAA screwup.

Remember last fall, when Plymouth Salem's basketball team had to wait and wait and wait for its first regional game because of a court injunction filed on behalf of three Oak Park players who had been ruled ineligible?

And then there was the first-ever cancellation and eventual rescheduling of a state championship soccer match, also involving Salem.

The list, if not endless, is indeed lengthy. The point is, why not one more?

And so here it is, courtesy of officials who used the wrong rule book.

The beneficiary: Plymouth Canton, which advanced to last Saturday's Class A soccer district final against Plymouth Salem.

The loser: Livonia Churchill's girls team, which has experienced nothing but bad luck when battling the Chiefs at Canton.

A point of clarity is necessary regarding the latter, however. Because when officials make mistakes, everyone loses.

And the district semifinal between Canton and Churchill deserved better, because it was high-volume, fast-paced drama from start to finish.

Of course, where that finish finally ended up was the controversy. Seems the officiating crew - referee Saba Kayj and sideline judges Tom Montroy and Joe Trachy - went by the wrong rulebook for the overtime format.

They said it would be two 10-minute sessions (not sudden death) followed by a five-minute sudden death period, then a penalty kick shootout.

Wrong ruling

That would be correct, if high school state tournament games followed the National Federation guidelines. However, the Michigan High School Athletic Association (the previously-mentioned MHSAA), with support from the state soccer coaches' association, opted two years ago to have two 15-minute sudden death periods, followed by a penalty kick shootout.

(Note: Except in the state final. Teams play only two 15-minute sudden death periods; if the score is still tied, the teams are declared co-champions. There is no shootout.)

Now if Canton had just scored first, there would never had been a problem. But the Chiefs didn't; Churchill got a goal from Marie Spaccarotella early in the first OT.

End it there? By MHSAA rules, it should have. But the officials, with the previous acknowledgement of both coaches, had already ruled otherwise. Canton subsequently tied it, then won it in the second OT.

Churchill coach Nick O'Shea, contrary to what the officials later said, did challenge their OT format interpretation at the end of regulation. But he didn't do so vehemently enough, and when all three officials in unison told him what the format would be, well, what could he do?

"If the officials don't know, who does?" O'Shea questioned.

A lot of people wondered about it. But it didn't come to the officials' attention until an hour after the game had ended.

Churchill people, quite understandably, were incensed. It isn't the first time they feel they were cheated by officials while playing Canton at Canton.

History repeats

Two years ago, in a game that eventually decided the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division champion, the referee allowed play to continue past the time on the scoreboard clock. When O'Shea told him the scoreboard, by state rules, had to be the official clock, he was waved away and, later, yellow-carded.

Canton scored in that extra time to win the game, which allowed the Chiefs to play Livonia Stevenson in the WLAA title game (they tied).

And the protest? The MHSAA agreed the official was wrong; however, as stated in the rule book, official's rulings (or mis-rulings) can not be disputed or reversed.

In other words, his word is law. End of story.

Same thing happened to Churchill this time. Yes, a mistake was made. The officials are sorry. But the result - a 3-2 Canton win - stands. That's the MHSAA's ruling (as of Thursday).

Churchill players feel cheated. Canton players feel fortunate - but was it because they were just lucky? Is that what got them to the district final? Luck?

You see what I mean. Nobody wins, not really. And a game as good as this one was deserves a better epitaph.

Chiefs' depth major factor in victory

There weren't a lot of individual wins to propel Plymouth Canton to another WLAA girls track championship. But there was more than enough depth to keep the Chiefs on top.

BY NEAL ZIPSER
STAFF WRITER

For the past five years, the Western Lakes Activities Association girls track championship has rested with either Plymouth Canton or Plymouth Salem.

And it was a battle again between the two intra-city rivals which went down to the wire before Salem faded and the Chiefs won the title for the third year in a row and for the fourth time in the past six years.

Canton accomplished the feat the hard way, with only one first-place finish. Ironically, Livonia Ladywood recorded only one first when the Blazers won the Catholic League title Tuesday. The Chiefs did, however, place in 15 of the 16 events.

Canton scored 88.5 points in the victory. Second went to Livonia Stevenson, with 73. Livonia Churchill was third (72.5), with Salem dropping to fourth (72).

"We knew we were the favorite but we knew the competition would be intense," said Canton coach George Przygodski, who picked up his fifth title in his 11 years.

"As coaches, we had to work harder and coach more this year than in the previous years we won," Przygodski said. "In past years, we've have the prime time athletes, but we didn't this year and only one first place shows that."

The lone win for Canton was from Angkana Roy, who ran a season-best 2:26.1 in the 800-meter run. Roy had plenty of help, including second places by Marisa Kovach in the high

Chiefs reign

2 late goals carry Canton to triumph over Salem

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR

To say the game was an even struggle to the end wouldn't be right.

It wouldn't be fair.

There's little doubt the best scoring opportunities went to Plymouth Salem. But it was Plymouth Canton, befind some spectacular goalkeeping from Sarah Warnke, that made better use of its chances to record a 2-0 triumph in the Class A district final at Livonia Ladywood Saturday.

The victory puts the Chiefs, now 14-4, into the state regional tournament hosted by Walled Lake Western. They'll play Ann Arbor Pioneer at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday; the winner advances to Friday's regional final against the Livonia Stevenson-Brighton winner.

Both Canton goals came in the final three minutes of play. Kelly Connell retrieved a deflected pass and knocked a shot past Salem keeper Julie Buczek with three minutes left to stun the Rocks.

Melissa Marzolf finished them off with 30 seconds remaining, angling a drive from the corner of the box into the far end of the net.

"We should have put it away before then," said a disappointed Doug Landefeld, Salem's coach, his team's season ended with a 15-4 record. "It was a great effort, but not great finishing."

Historically speaking, the Canton win isn't surprising. Salem had destroyed the Chiefs 3-0 during the regular season, but that rarely supplies any sort of mental edge. Last year, Salem lost twice to Canton during the regular season, then beat the Chiefs in the district and advanced all the way to the state final.

Canton coach Don Smith felt certain the Rocks lacked respect for his team. "I think they felt they could take us anytime," he said. "But winning twice in a row is tough to do in this rivalry."

Still, it wasn't so much what the Chiefs did that stopped Salem. It was unfriendly goal posts and crossbars - four shots by the Rocks drew iron - and Warnke. If Salem star Mari Hoff has any nightmares about this game, Warnke no doubt will dominate them.

STAFF PHOTOS BY BILL BRESLER

The winning touch: Canton keeper Sarah Warnke (right) supplied it throughout the game; then Melissa Marzolf (above, center) scored to make it 2-0 in the final minute, and Canton had reason to celebrate.

Hoff had one shot bend just wide of the net, two others hit the crossbar and Warnke grab another - all in the first half. She ended up hitting the post again in the second half.

Warnke made two other diving saves in the first half. "I just felt that nothing was getting by," the four-year starter said.

And what about that first meeting, when Salem put two in the back of the net in the first few minutes? "That game was over with," Warnke replied. "I put it behind us."

In this meeting, nothing got behind her. Despite the marking efforts of Kristie Drinkhahn on Hoff - "I thought Kristie did a nice job on her. She made her distribute the ball more than she wanted to," said Smith - there were plenty of opportunities.

"One player cannot mark Mari Hoff," said Landefeld. "She's the best player in the state.

"We played as well today I thought as we did before (in the 3-0 win). We had as many good (scoring) chances.

"The ball just bounced all their way."

Smith and all the Canton followers don't mind that.

Medalist

Salem's Collins collects top honors

Who ended up on top when the final scores were tallied at Thursday's Western Lakes Activities Association championship golf tournament wasn't so surprising.

The margin of victory at Huron Meadows in Brighton, however, was astounding.

Livonia Stevenson cruised through the WLAA regular season, posting a 7-0 dual-meet record. So, quite obviously, the Spartans were heavy favorites.

And they came through, by a wide, wide margin. Stevenson's team score was 368; runner-up Walled Lake Western was 50 strokes behind at 418.

After that, the results got closer. Plymouth Salem was right behind Western at 420, with Livonia Churchill fourth (432), Walled Lake Central fifth (437), Northville (441), Plymouth Canton (449) and Livonia Franklin (586).

(See statistical summary, 2C).

"We've had just a fantastic season," said Stevenson coach John Wagner. "We had just a wonderful year. We're still in shock, to be honest."

All four Spartan scorers were among the top eight finishers. Overall medalist honors, however, went to Salem's Katie Collins, who shot an 84.

"It was very sweet for her because she didn't qualify for state (at the regionals) last week," said Salem coach Rick Wilson.

Stevenson's Mara Mazzoni was second (85), with Salem's Katie Murinas third (88), Northville's Monica Prasad fourth (89) and Stevenson's Andrea Khoury fifth (91). All five were named to the all-WLAA team.

The Spartans' next two scorers were Kelly Kristy and Kristin Bartholomew, both with a 96. They were each named to the all-division team.

Western's leader was Becky Vollmer (101). Churchill's top scorer was Emily Bischoff (92). Canton's best was Anne Alioto (109), Central's was Amy Emerine (106), and Franklin's was Beth Parnell (117).

Weather contributed to the scores, to be sure, particularly on the back nine holes, according to Salem's Wilson. Collins' ability to handle the changing conditions was a main reason she earned medalist honors; she shot 41-43 for her 84.

All that remains on the golf schedule is the state finals, May 31-June 1 at Forest Akers West Golf Course in East Lansing.

Al Harrison Bowling

Delicious . . . that was the best way to describe the month of May, as there were so many bowling banquets to attend.

Of course there's a lot more to the dinners than just good food. There are the awards and the renewal of friendships, but the tradition of the game dictates these banquets be tributes to those who performed exceptionally well on and off the lanes.

The very first banquet in May was the Ladies All-Stars, combined Monday and Wednesday night leagues. Highlighted awards included 800 series recognition for Karen Hagen, Cheryl Daniels, Aleta Sill and Charlyne Gervase-Kruliski. There were also awards for 300 games.

The "Contour Power Grips" took championships in both leagues, a rare feat but not unexpected from this team captained by West Bloomfield's Kathy Haislip with a little help from Daniels, Sill, Carmen Allen, Lisa Bishop, Jodi Monday and Jeanne Gebbia of Garden City.

The night will be remembered mostly because Rose Marsh and Dorothy Thompson, secretary and President of the D.W.B.A. respectively, actually kicked up their heels and put on a song and dance act for the attendees.

The next banquet was my own "Greenfield Mixed League," where a nice buffet was followed by point money and awards. Team No. 2 (Tim Hettinger, Lil Vandervennet, Sherry McMahan and Bill Weed) took first place honors, Dan Wright had league high game of 296 for Men while Sue Addy and Barbara Turner shared ladies high game at 255 each.

The Wayne Westland Bowling association was next with a top-notch buffet (I am gaining weight by now) and featuring the retirement of long-time (23 years) Secretary-Treasurer Doug Uhl. He deserved his standing ovation for a job well done.

The association had several 800's from members including Pat Kline with 832, Chuck O'Rourke with 803 (twice) in the FoMoCo league at Westland Bowl, Gregory Smith with 816, Dick Lang at 802, Scott Barker 842 with 300 and 298 at Town'n Country Lanes and Jason Johnson with 804 in the Sunday Sleepers at Westland Bowl. Among the many 300's in the league, the perfect game by 70-year-old Ed Szmansky had to be the outstanding performance.

Youth bowlers had their day in May as the Y.A.B.A. held fort at the Polish Century Club, which featured its famous kielbasa and kraut plus those incredible pork chops and chicken.

This year's crop of young bowlers was as strong as ever. Betty Heider presided, and scads of trophies were handed out, too numerous to even start to list here.

The event was highlighted by the surprise presentation of "Coach of The Year" honors to Eleanor Hill of Redford. She was in charge of the youth program at Mayflower Lanes and instigated the successful "Senior/Youth Challenge," which will be rerun next season.

My own Inter-Lodge league held its banquet and meeting at Perrysburg, Ohio. It featured a three-day stay at the Holiday Inn, a night at the harness races Friday, the annual golf outing, then the banquet.

After that, many of the attendees went to the Toledo Mud Hens' game Sunday before returning home. Bill Vida was awarded a ring for his 300 game -- but it was during our "no-tap" doubles and was a huge 'ruby' purchased for $1.50 at Gags and Games.

The final banquet (help, my clothes are shrinking) was May 21 at the St. Mary's Cultural Center in Livonia. This one was for the Men's All Star teams, in both the "Les Stanford Chevrolet Hall of Fame Classic," which bowls at Thunderbowl on Tuesdays, and The "Lew Ansara All-Star Traveling Classic."

It took 30 minutes to hand out all of the 300 game awards, but the greatest honor went to veteran Tony Lindeman. He received the "Raymond Kowalski Memorial Award" for his lifetime commitment to bowling.

Tony is a living legend, a link from the old "Glory Days" when the great Stroh's Beer teams of Detroit were a dominant force in the nation. Tony can still bowl pretty good, as his 300 last year was a record setter for his age.

There were some very nice momentos for both of the major sponsors, and Lew Ansara left with so many placques and awards, they should have supplied him with a wheelbarrow.

In the Les Stanford league it was team No. 18, CloverLanes/Wish U Well Tavern, winning the Winter Season. The No. 4 Team, Red Robin Restaurants, won the Spring Championship.

An amazing statistic, the individual high average was by Windsorite Scotty Laughland, who at age 65 led everybody with a 238.20 average and led his team to the winter season championship.

Scotty easily took the honors as "Bowler of the Year," and he might have used Lew's wheelbarrow to take home his many awards.

If I had a wheelbarrow, I might have taken home some of that great roast beef they served up at this delightful dinner.

But the banquet season is over. Now it's "back to the old diet" again.

(5-feet-0) and Mary Anderson in the 100 hurdles (16.1), and third-place finishes by Becky Uryga in the 400 dash (1:00.8) and Nancy Hoffman in the 300 hurdles (48.9).

Roy edged out Farmington's Kate Adams and Livonia Stevenson's Kelly McNeilance.

"Some of the other girls in the race had already run a couple races and Roy had only run in one, and it really made a difference in the last 200 meters," Przygodski said.

The Rocks, who scored in 14 of the events, had only one first also. That came from Kristin Kosik in the high jump (5-feet-2).

Salem coach Mark Gregor was happy with his team's performance, but believed his squad had a chance to pull the upset at the end.

"I thought we had a chance to make it interesting toward the end of the meet," Gregor said. "The meet was there for us to make close but we couldn't take advantage."

Gregor was referring to the 800-meter run, where the Rocks were ranked first and the 1600 relay, where they were ranked second. Salem even caught a break when Canton's Mary Anderson got hurt and had to sit out the 1600 relay. One of Salem's top runners in the 1600, Christie Giddings, also got injured and couldn't run in the relay, however.

Turning in a strong meet was Harrison's Devron Kennedy, who won the 100 dash (12.7) and the 200 dash (26.1). In each event, she edged out Churchill's Becky Couyoumjian by less than a second.

Kennedy also teamed with Cierra Colbert, Emily Mayberry and Mahogany Fletcher on the Hawks' winning 400 relay team (51.8).

In the field events, winners included Livonia Franklin's Danielle Wensing in the shot put (36-feet-7 1/4), Westland John Glenn's Nicolette Jarrett in the long jump (personal best 17-8) and Farmington's Kim Washnock in the discus (117-10).

Other winners were Walled Lake Western's Tessie Harfoot in the 100 hurdles (15.7), Farmington's Ann Grimaldi in the 1,600 run (personal best 5:22.8), North Farmington's Heather Burcar in the 400 dash (1:00.2) and Churchill's Laura Gauci in the 300 hurdles (48.2).

In the 3200 relay, Stevenson's Jeannette Stojcevski, Danielle Harris, Kelly McNeilance and Kelly Travis took first in 9:54.

According to Przygodski, Churchill's performance was one of the more impressive outcomes of the meet.

"I think what was surprising was Churchill's third place finish," the Canton coach said. "(Churchill coach) Kelly Graham did a great job preparing her team and they ran a great meet."

Przygodski also noted the performances of Canton's Nkechi Okwumabua, Mary Anderson, and team captain Sara Israel, who took fourth in the discus (104-11).

"When you only win by 14 points, those type of points are big," Przygodski said.

And don't expect too many things to change for next season. The Chiefs graduate only three key seniors, while Salem only graduates two seniors and return a total of 60 runners.

Gilles sisters can still dominate

It's been awhile since Plymouth Salem grads Chris and Wendy Gilles took to the tennis courts for a national tournament, but the sisters proved last weekend they still have the winning touch.

In the 25-and-over U.S. Tennis Association National Indoor championships, the University of Wisconsin products came away with both the women's singles and doubles titles.

It was the Gilles's first major tournament together since their collegiate days in Madison.

Wendy, 28, and now residing in Farmington Hills, won the singles title with a 7-5, 6-1 triumph over Ashlee Ashba of Sacramento, Calif. at the Homewood (Ill.) Racquet Club.

Ironically, the 1986 Salem grad defeated Chris, 29, in the semifinals, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Chris, an '84 Rock now living in Lake of the Hills, Ill., bounced back to win the consolation final for third place against Karen Fox of Oaklawn, Ill., 5-7, 7-5, 6-1.

In doubles, the Gilles sisters won the championship with a 7-5, 6-1 victory over Karen O'Sullivan (Naperville, Ill.) and Donna Yurite (Palos Hills, Ill.). The former Salem All-Staters and prep All-Americans eliminated Julie Sierkas (Lake Bluff, Ill.) and Beth Thompson (Lake Forest, Ill.), 5-7, 6-3, 6-1, in the semifinals.

At Wisconsin, the Gilles sisters earned several accolades including captaincy and MVP honors. They also made All-Big Ten four years in a row and competed in four straight NCAA championships.

In 1992-93, the two were named to the All-Big Ten Decade Team.

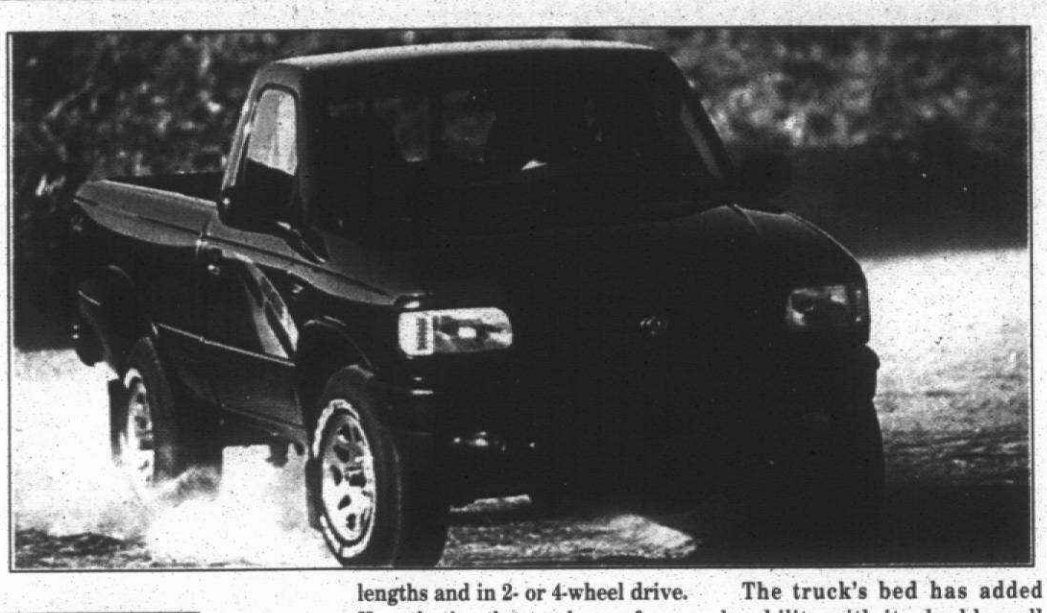
Mazda pickup offers something for everyone

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures



ROAD TEST By Anne Fracassa

Here's a no-nonsense truck that's perfect for a single guy or gal, a couple with small children or a contractor.

This may sound trite, but It's got something for everybody. Really.

The Mazda B4000 4x4 Cab Plus pickup is so versatile it can handle towing, taking the family to dinner or hauling a kitchen dinette set across town. It's high off the ground for anyone who loves four-wheeling in a field full of mud and muck.

Best of all, it's a comfortable pickup. My two little girls loved to sit in the rear jump seats. My 4-year-old told me the seats were perfect for her. She and her sister could easily see out of the truck and the belts fit around them perfectly. I even stuck the booster car seat in there for my 3-year-old (very awkward) and it fit decently.

Up front there's a split bench seat, which makes getting a passenger into the back very easy. The bench seat can also accommodate three adults, and there are belts for each. That means you can seat five without a lot of problems.

This year, a driver's-side airbag is standard on all B-Series trucks and a passenger-side airbag is available on SE and LE models. Also standard this year are anti-lock brakes.

Assembled in Edison, N.J., alongside the Ford Ranger pickup, Mazda's B-Series trucks are offered in three trim levels, with two cab configurations, two bed lengths and in 2- or 4-wheel drive. Hey, that's a lot to choose from, and prices start at just $9,925.

There are engine choices as well. The B2300 has a 112-horsepower 2.3-liter 4-cylinder engine, while the B3000 is powered by a 145-horsepower 3.0-liter V6.

I tested the B4000 4-wheel drive Cab Plus SE model. This baby has one of the largest and most powerful powerplants in its class — a 160-horsepower 4.0-liter V6. That translates into fun four-wheeling and easy towing of anything under 5,900 pounds.

The suspension is outfitted with an independent twin traction beam with stabilizer bar, and the ride is smooth for a pickup. You're not going to get a luxury-type ride, but it doesn't knock you around the cab like a lot of other manufacturers' trucks.

Sporty body-side graphics add some color and give the truck a special look.

The truck's bed has added durability with its double wall construction and stake pockets. It can be outfitted with a bed liner for around $275, a great value if your plan to haul stuff.

The standard privacy glass, located on the quarter and rear windows, is there to reduce ultra-violet rays and heat damage and offers a bit of security for important packages stored in the rear cab.

I haven't seen many vehicles outfitted with a key-activated switch for the passenger airbag.

Someone asked me why anyone would turn the passenger airbag off. Well, if you've got an infant, you've got to turn it off to protect that baby. Industry studies have found that when an airbag deploys and a rear-facing infant car seat is in the front seat, significant injury or death can occur. The rear jump seats can't accommodate an infant car seat, so the switch is there. Great idea.

The shift-on-the-fly capability allows you to simply switch into 2- or 4-wheel-drive from the driver's seat. The switch, located right of the steering wheel on the dash, locks the front hubs automatically. That means you don't have to exit the truck to manually lock the hubs.

The base price of the B4000 is $19,460, which looks like a steep pricetag. In reality, this truck has a standard equipment list that'll poke your eyes out it's so good.

Take a look: Full gauge group (including a tachometer), headlights-on warning chime, 4-wheel anti-lock brakes, 2-speed transfer case with shift-on-the-fly, power assisted steering, power assisted brakes, 72-amp heavy-duty battery, heavy-duty shock absorbers, underbody skid plates, front and rear mud guards, all-terrain 15-inch tires, a high-mount stop light, cargo box light, engine compartment light, map light, intermittent windshield wipers, dual mirrors, an AM/FM cassette stereo, tinted glass and fold-down center armrest with storage.

The B4000 tested had a lot more equipment on it, like air conditioning, a premium cassette stereo, sliding rear window, keyless entry, towing package, anti-theft system, privacy glass, power window/locks/mirrors and cruise control. With all that equipment, it pumped up the price to just a hair under $25,000.

For that price, you won't expect this pickup to be easily dismissed by people on the street. It isn't. One woman driving a late-model pickup rolled down her window to get information about my test truck after chasing after me for four traffic lights. And a stockboy at an office supply store who lugged a 5-foot-long table into the flatbed for me said "that's so COOOOL" when he first laid eyes on the truck.

Performance the B4000's got. You wouldn't expect it to be so, but the 4-speed automatic transmission performed well. It's not even sluggish when traversing steep inclines.

All in all, this is a pickup that measures up 100 percent to give you good value, versatility, durability and comfort. Can you really ask for anything more?
